

MRS. KNAPP APPEALS 30 DAYS' SENTENCE

Ex-Secretary of State of New York Calm When Court Sentences Her; Stole Census Money.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 4.—Former Secretary of State Florence E. S. Knapp today was sentenced to thirty days in Albany county jail for stealing census money.

The first woman ever elected to high office in New York state received the sentence with hardly a quiver of the lip.

Supreme Justice Stephen Callaghan of Brooklyn, sentenced Mrs. Knapp to jail after her counsel, P. C. Dugan and Attorney General Albert Ottinger through his special deputy, George Z. Medalle, had appealed for leniency.

Mrs. Knapp would have been last May of grand larceny but sentence was not passed by the court at that time because of her health.

She was tried twice. The first time the jury disagreed after deliberating eight hours. The second time a verdict of guilty was returned after the jury had been out less than four hours.

The specific indictment upon which Mrs. Knapp was tried charged her with the stealing of $2,875 of the $1,200,000 1925 state census fund. It was alleged by the prosecution, however, that she had defrauded the state out of upwards of $15,000 by placing her relatives on the census payroll and then pocketing their checks.

After sentence had been pronounced, counsel for Mrs. Knapp announced that she would take an immediate appeal. In the meantime, however, the Albany sheriff was making arrangements to take Mrs. Knapp to jail.

Women friends of the former state official rushed over and threw their arms around her, and kissed her a moment after sentence had been pronounced. Instead of breaking down and weeping as had been expected, Mrs. Knapp smiled at them. She seemed to be the coolest woman in the courtroom.

Mrs. Knapp was far more nervous on the night last May when the jury pronounced her guilty than she appeared to be when she heard Justice Callaghan announce that she would have to spend the next thirty days in the Albany jail.

In announcing sentence, Justice Callaghan declared Mrs. Knapp not only was guilty of grand larceny but also of perjury.

"It is apparent to all who have followed the proceedings that

SOVIETS SEEKING U. S. TRADE PACT

America Now Second With Exports to Russia—Reds Buy Machinery.

Moscow, Sept. 4.—A United States-Soviet Russian trade accord developing into de facto recognition of the Soviets by America in a few years, is generally believed to be impending as a result of the increasing commercial relations between the two countries. It was helped along, according to opinion here, by the Soviet's decision to accept the Kellogg-Briand anti-war treaty with reservations. Slight hope is held out, however, for actual diplomatic recognition.

American business in the past year penetrated the Russian market to such an extent that the United States is now the world's greatest exporter to Soviet Russia. At the present rate of growth, Soviet imports from the United States will exceed last year by 54 per cent. In the first eight months of this year American firms exported $77,650,000 worth of goods, principally raw materials and machinery to Russia. The total for the whole of last year was $75,000,000.

The United States is now a close second to Germany in the total amount of trade with Russia. Last year it was a bad third. In addition, the Soviets this year will pay American engineers and experts close to $500,000 for technical advice in the construction and management of industrial projects.

Trade with the Soviets depend largely upon credits since capital is scarce and with a monopoly of foreign trade, a close check is kept upon exports and imports. It is hoped that some formula will be found for promoting business on long term credits without diplomatic recognition.

HOOVER TURNS ATTENTION TO NEW ENGLAND

Believes a Smashing Victory in Maine Will Swing Other States in Section into Line.

Washington, Sept. 4.—Despite reports of Democratic defections in the south, Herbert Hoover today turned his attention to the initiation of the Republican campaign in New England.

Hoover expected to confer with Hubert Work, Republican national chairman, just returned from opening the campaign in Maine. Work was to report to the Republican nominee on conditions all through New England, a territory that Hoover looks upon as a part of the big battleground for November's election.

The Republicans will send some of their best known orators into Maine this week, including Senator Charles Curtis, the vice presidential nominee, Senator Reed Smoot, of Utah, Senator James E. Watson, of Indiana, and Assistant Secretary of Treasury Ogden Mills. Their duty will be to instill the fighting spirit into Maine's Republican organization so that the state will return its usual Republican majority in the state elections this month.

Would Aid G. O. P.
A smashing Republican victory in Maine, it was felt at Hoover headquarters, would help to stop Democratic gains in the rest of New England. It also was thought a real old-fashioned Maine victory would act as a tonic to the Republican organizations in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut where Democratic hopes for victory are high. In other presidential years, incidentally, it has been said that "as Maine goes, so goes the nation"—which furnishes an additional reason for the Republican activity in that direction.

Southern Situation
Hoover was said to look upon the southern situation as one to be handled by local Republican leaders. It was his belief that any concerted effort by national Republican headquarters to take command of the campaign in southern states might react against his cause, due

PHILLIE'S RUM RING SCARED BY PROBERS

Speakeasies and Vice Dens Closed—Seize Safety Deposit Box with Records.

Philadelphia, Sept. 4.—The contents of a safety deposit box said to contain secret records of the rum ring operating here held the attention of Philadelphia today as the Special Grand Jury resumed its probe into the activities of the underworld.

Announcement by District Attorney John M. Donohue that he would make public the name of at least one of the chief grafters among the politicians and police officials embroiled in the underworld gangs also served to increase the interest in the probe. At least six new witnesses will face the jury today as will Max "Boo Boo" Hoff, youthful millionaire manager of prize fighters, who has been termed the "King of the Racketeers" by a former chauffeur.

Speakeasies Closed
The city's speakeasies and vice dens were closed today as a result of Mayor Harry A. Mackey's fiery instructions to his police heads to close every place of lawlessness within 24 hours yesterday when he learned Monahan had charged the police were not cooperating with him in his attempt to rid the city of criminals. The police heads also were due to offer their services to Monahan in person today as instructed by the mayor. A few raids were staged following the mayor's demands but it was reported nearly all violators had been "lipped off" and few arrests were made.

The report box that was the center of much speculation today was seized and sealed by the district attorney's investigators and will be opened by the jurors some time today. Monahan charges it contains even more startling information than the books and records seized a few days ago which revealed enormous sums had been paid to police and police officials in bribes.

HASSELL AND CRAMER SAFE IN GREENLAND

Rockford to Sweden Flyers Forced Down, Make Way to Base Camp—Whole World Rejoices.

Rockford, Ill., Sept. 4.—With the first frenzy of excitement over the rescue of Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer, Arctic flyers, quieted down, Rockford today was soberly planning a gigantic celebration on the occasion of their return home.

When the aviators, who were lost for two weeks in the barren Arctic region of Mt. Evans, Greenland, while attempting a flight from Rockford to Sweden, are returned to this city they will be accorded the greatest ovation in Rockford's history.

Just when that will be, no one can say. The future plans of the flyers have not been announced. For the present they are resting and recovering from their hardships at the base camp in Mt. Evans. Their plane was undamaged in the emergency landing, but had to be abandoned temporarily. Whether Hassell and Cramer will seek to recover the plane and continue their interrupted flight to Sweden or return to Rockford, has not been determined.

May Start Again
Friends here believe the flyers will on their way out their "Greater Rockford" plane, refueling and starting out again "to go back where they'd go."

But when they get back, according to Mayor Bert Allen, the world will know about it. The day will be proclaimed a public holiday and citizens from all over the state will be expected to assist in the general "whoopie."

Yesterday was like Armistice Day in Rockford. The town was crazy with excitement. It was the hysterical sort of happiness and rejoicing that can only follow a period of deepest gloom. Although members of the flyers' families were here, after all, the majority of their fellow townsmen had begun to despair that "Bert and Parker" would ever be found alive.

IN GOOD HEALTH.
New York, Sept. 4.—American aviators Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer, pilots of the plane Greater Rockford, are uninjured and in the best of health at Mount Evans, Greenland, despite the hardships they underwent when they were forced down on the Greenland coast and wandered through the wilderness for two weeks, according to additional details received by radio from Greenland today.

They are the guests of Professor William H. Hobbs and his staff at Camp Lloyd. It is expected that an effort will be made to salvage their plane at Sukkertoppen, on the rim of the Arctic circle. If it has escaped damage in the storms which have been prevailing off the Greenland coast.

It is expected that Hassell and Cramer will go from Mount Evans

REINARTZ MADE RESCUE RADIO

Set Which Informed World That Hassell Was Safe Constructed Here.

A Manchester man was, to a great degree, responsible in getting the news to the world at large that Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer of the plane, Greater Rockford, were safe in Greenland. The radio transmitter which delivered the message "Hassell Safe" Sunday night was made by John L. Reinartz, of Wadsworth street, head of Cheney Brothers electrical department, incidentally, Mr. Reinartz was the first radio operator to penetrate the Far North with any kind of apparatus, and it was his knowledge of short wave transmission with particular regard to the northern areas which made possible the receiving of the message.

The information that Hassell and Cramer had been located after 14 days of wandering through icy wastes was received at the short wave station of the New York Times. The message and story of the rescue were written by Professor W. H. Hobbs, leader of the University of Michigan Greenland expedition. Professor Hobbs has visited on several occasions with Mr. Reinartz at his home here. Before leaving for Mount Evans Professor Hobbs came to Manchester to get all the information he could on radio transmission from Greenland. Mr. Reinartz has been with one of the MacMillan expeditions and had succeeded in getting messages through to the United States from far within the Arctic Circle.

It's "Sax Appeal" That John Coolidge Has!

While President Coolidge longs for his son John to settle down to some such pursuit as international banking or railroad, John keeps himself amused by attending pajama parties, singing and dancing and something himself altogether like any other young college man of his years would. John toots a mean saxophone, at which the president looks askance, and also plays the piano and sings popular songs during dance intermissions. The young man is said to have received an offer from a Broadway musical comedy producer that ran into five figures. Meantime a special secret service man is always at John's side to see that his "sax appeal" doesn't carry him away.

BIG AIRPLANE RACE TO START AT DAWN

39 Machines in First Division—26 in Next—Then Big Planes.

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., Sept. 4.—Pilots and mechanics are making final mechanical adjustments and putting their planes through last tests today in preparation for the start of the transcontinental air races to Los Angeles.

Thirty-nine planes, comprising Class A of the National Air Derby, are scheduled to hop off at one minute intervals at dawn tomorrow with Mines Field, Los Angeles as their goal. The winner will receive a $5,000 prize. Five other prizes ranging from $2,500 to $500 will be awarded to the runners-up.

The planes will make sixteen stops in their flight across the country with overnight stops at Columbus, Ohio; Kansas City, Mo.; Fort Worth, Texas; El Paso, Texas; and Yuma, Ariz.

The entrance certificates, licenses and loads of the planes entered were to be examined by officials today.

The Next Batch.
The twenty-one planes entered in the Class C race are to leave over the same route on Thursday. The big planes, which compose the non-stop brigade, will take off on September 12.

Along the surprise entries in the Class C race is Clarence Chamberlin, transcontinental flyer, who was expected to arrive at Roosevelt Field today. Chamberlin will pilot his rebuilt Sperry Messenger, driven by a Cirrus motor.

The favorite in the race is an American Moth, with a Warner Scarab motor, to be piloted by Robert Duke and Theodore Tansley, of Pittsburgh.

SEN. WALSH INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Has Narrow Escape From Serious Hurt, But Has to Cancel His Engagements.

Clinton, Mass., Sept. 4.—U. S. Senator David I. Walsh, except for a few unsightly bandages, was none the worse today for his exciting experience and narrow escape from possible serious injury when his automobile was struck by a skidding car yesterday in Seekonk.

FRENCH FLYERS START ON TRIP TO NEW YORK

Lenine's Tomb Again Reopened To Public

Moscow, Sept. 4.—Lenine's tomb along the Kremlin wall in the Red Square was reopened to the public today as quietly as it was closed for "repairs" 12 weeks ago. This tomb is the mecca for Reds the world over and hundreds were disappointed who came here during the summer not knowing it had been closed.

Five thousand persons waited in line for the opening at sunset to pay homage to the great apostle of Marxism, whose portrait hangs in virtually every public building and every office throughout Soviet Russia.

Hundreds of "worshippers" came too late and were turned away for another day. The tomb closes in when darkness falls and only the sentries remain.

The body, lying as it sleep on a red plush couch in a glass enclosed bier, is generally believed to have been re-embalmed for the last time. No official confirmation of just what has been done to the body in all these weeks is forthcoming.

There are few visible changes in the tomb itself. Four of the walnut staked upright planks of one side were removed and replaced. The body itself was not taken out.

The closing of the tomb for the summer was a keen disappointment to more than 10,000 foreign visitors. Next to the interior of the Kremlin itself, the tomb is what every tourist wants to see. None has seen the tomb and few have been allowed in the sacred Kremlin.

Plan to Stop at Azores for Fuel; Confident They Can Make Ocean Hop—Big Crowd Cheers Them as They Start From Paris.

FORCED DOWN.

Paris, Sept. 4.—The two young French flyers, Adjutant Jean Assolant and Sergeant Rene Lefevre, who hopped off at Le Bourget Field at 7:04 o'clock this morning to fly to America were compelled to land at Casablanca on the Moroccan coast at 4:40 this afternoon, French time. They were forced down by a leaking oil pipe.

Casablanca is 1,200 miles from Paris.

Paris, Sept. 4.—Bound for the Azores on the first leg of a trans-Atlantic flight attempt to New York, two youthful French airmen, Adjutant Jean Assolant and Sergeant Rene Lefevre, hopped off from Le Bourget Flying Field at 7:04 a. m. (3:04 a. m. New York Daylight Time) today.

Although their single-motored Bernard monoplane "Yellow Canary" carried a capacity load of fuel, it left the ground without difficulty. After circling within a few minutes was lost to view in the early morning mists. Assolant was at the controls at the start.

"We are making this flight for the glory of French aviation and the glory of our squadron" were Lefevre's last words before entering the plane.

Big Crowd Present.
A great crowd was at the field at the take-off. Police and cavalrymen formed a circle around the plane to keep the curious away. Friends of the flyers feared that at some point the plane would be damaged because of ill-feling arising from their false start yesterday. On that attempt, the flyers forgot to open the valves to the main gas tanks and as a result the motor died before the plane could get into the air.

There was much talk of a mysterious passenger secreted in the plane's cabin. One rumor had it that the man said to be aboard was a banker. According to another he was the son of a wealthy Paris hotel keeper.

The flyers hope to reach New York in less than fifty hours. Their plane has a cruising speed of 125 miles an hour and a theoretical flying radius of about 5,600 miles. Its fuel tanks hold 1,125 gallons. Power is furnished by an 850 horse power Hispano motor.

TWO SOLDIERS SHOT BY DETROIT POLICE

Cops Say They Mistook Them for Hijackers Whom They Were Watching.

Detroit, Sept. 4.—A double-barreled investigation was under way today into the shooting at the Selfridge field sergeants by two Detroit patrolmen as the soldiers sought entrance into one of the suites in the Vicksburg apartments.

Sergeant Edwin Olson, 23, Cadillac, Mich., was slain with two bullet holes in his chest. Sergeant Glenn Moran, 22, Dayton, Ohio, in a critical condition, was shot in the chest and leg.

The first investigation was launched by the prosecutor, the second by the police department. The two patrolmen said they had fired after ordering the soldiers three times to put up their hands and when one of them acted as if he was reaching for a revolver. The soldiers deny this and say they were looking for two girl friends.

The two patrolmen were hiding in the apartment, acting on information that the place was a rendezvous for hijackers. Police had taken four girls from the apartment over the week-end. A telegram addressed to "Miss E. Gray, care of B. Nugent" was found in the apartment, police say, stating that James Cousamano, alleged gangster and hijacker, was wounded and arrested in Erie, Pa., and asking that arrangements be made to secure his release on bond.

HANDS GET $3,500
Chicago, Sept. 4.—Three bandits secured $3,500 in a holdup on the fringe of the downtown section here today.

The men walked into the offices of a concessionary's supply company, held up Fred Finger, Abe Hassen and Harry Hellman, and escaped with the contents of the open safe.

A few minutes later bandits operating on the other side of the Loop obtained $1,000 in a robbery held up Fred Finger, Abe Hassen and Harry Hellman, and escaped with the contents of the open safe.

MRS. LILLIENDAHL, BEACH, MAKE APPEAL FOR PAROLE

Serving Ten Years on Man- slaughter Charge—Their Lawyer Says He Has New Evidence.

LEADING STORES OPEN TOMORROW

Half-Holiday Weekly Suspend- ed—Most South End Merchants Join.

Trenton, N. J., Sept. 4.—Application for parole for Mrs. Margaret L. Lillendahl and Willis Beach, Vineland poultryman, serving ten years for manslaughter in connection with the slaying of Mrs. Lillendahl's aged husband, Dr. A. William Lillendahl, was to be heard here today by the New Jersey Board of Pardons.

Application in behalf of the couple was filed by Charles M. Phillips, of Hammonton, Mrs. Lillendahl's counsel.

Beach, who is fifty-seven, and Mrs. Lillendahl, forty-two, began service of their sentence at the penitentiary less than nine months ago after a spectacular trial in which a jury threw out indictments of murder against them and found them guilty of the lesser charge of manslaughter.

The Murder
Dr. Lillendahl, who was seventy, was shot and killed while automobile riding with his wife as the car traversed a lonely lane in a cranberry bog, near Vineland.

It was intimated that Phillips would appear before the pardon board and offer new evidence to show that Mrs. Lillendahl and Beach did not commit the crime. It was also expected to be shown that Beach's physical condition will be greatly impaired if he is kept in the prison. He has heart disease.

SMITH HAS HOPE OF CARRYING PA.

Friends Say He Has An Even Chance Because of Wet Issue.

KING ZOGU, CROWNED RULER OF ALBANIANS

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 4.—While it may seem almost incredible to Republican leaders, Gov. Al Smith has high hope of carrying Pennsylvania in the coming presidential election, his close friends revealed today.

So confident is the Democratic nominee that he has at least an even chance of winning Pennsylvania's 38 electoral votes that he is planning to deliver two and possibly three of the major speeches of his campaign in that state.

Smith is said to feel that his stand on the prohibition question will win him thousands of normal Republican votes in that state. A report has reached the governor within the last week, it was said, that Republican leaders in Philadelphia will not make any special effort to keep their followers from voting for him because of his out and out opposition to prohibition. The Democratic managers privately have expressed the opinion that Smith will pull a heavy vote among the steel workers and the miners.

Much Enthusiasm
Reports which the governor has received from Democratic leaders in Pennsylvania are to the effect that never before has there been so much enthusiasm for a Democratic to Copenhagen by steamer. Whether they will sail for New York to Copenhagen or some other European port is not yet decided. In any event it is believed that both will be back in Rockford by the middle of October. A great deal depends upon how soon they can leave Greenland.

FLYERS GRATEFUL. Copenhagen, Sept. 4.—Bert Hassell, pilot of the plane, Greater Rockford, and Parker Cramer, copilot, who are safe in Greenland after a wild adventure that nearly cost them their lives, today sent a wireless message to the Danish government thanking it for the thorough search made for the airman while they were missing.

This message, which was signed by both Hassell and Cramer, was addressed to the Greenland State Department.

"We wish to express some measure of our appreciation for the generous action of the Danish government, and also, your own department, for the vigor and thoroughness with which the search was prosecuted for us while we were missing. We hope to express our obligation personally later on."

The message indicated that the two airmen were coming to Copenhagen from Mount Evans, Greenland, where they are at present.

It follows: "We wish to express some measure of our appreciation for the generous action of the Danish government, and also, your own department, for the vigor and thoroughness with which the search was prosecuted for us while we were missing. We hope to express our obligation personally later on."

At the same time the Greenland State Department received a wireless message from the operator of the radio station at Julianahavn, formally announcing the arrival of the flyers on Sunday night.

The men were forced down on the coast at Sukkertoppen on August 19 and wandered through the wilderness for a fortnight before being seen by Eskimos.

Fortunately the men had a small supply of food and matches so they were able to build fires to keep warm.

Hassell and Cramer reported that their plane was damaged, but in late afternoon they were deserted by the two pilots is not known. Danish experts regard it as unlikely that Hassell and Cramer will continue their flight to Stockholm. It is believed that they will come here from Mount Evans upon the steamer Disko.

NEW YORK REJOICES OVER HUGHES' OFFER

To Take Stump to Aid Hoover; Sloan Endorses Republican Ticket.

New York, Sept. 4.—Republican presidential campaign forces in New York are elated today following the cable offer of Charles Evans Hughes to take the stump for Herbert Hoover and the endorsement of the Hoover candidacy by Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of the General Motors Corporation.

An itinerary will be arranged for Hughes, to include several addresses in New York for which there is expected to be a wide radio hookup.

Hughes has been an important figure in New York politics since he was elected governor in 1907. In his race for the presidency in 1916 he carried the east, including his own state.

Sloan's announcement of his support of Hoover is given added interest through the fact that Pierre S. Dupont, chairman of the board of directors of General Motors, and John J. Raskob, who was chairman of the corporation, have come out strongly for Governor Smith, Raskob now being Democratic national chairman.

COOLIDGE TO START FOR HOME NEXT WEEK

Superior, Wis., Sept. 4.—President and Mrs. Coolidge will leave their Summer White House on the Erie the first of next week and return to Washington. It was learned reliably today.

The exact date of departure was withheld, but it was learned the executive would be back at his desk in the capital by the middle of the week.

Col. E. D. Ainslie, assistant general passenger agent of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, who arranges presidential train schedules, arrived in Superior this morning to prepare for the eastern journey.

Mr. Coolidge probably will remain in Washington a week or ten days and then go to Plymouth, Vermont, for a week's stay at his boyhood home there.

MILKMAN INJURED.

Willimantic, Sept. 4.—Robert W. Gardiner, 28, milk truck operator was critically injured here today when he ran into a machine operated by Wallace G. Stoddard, of 134 Main street, West Hartford.

Gardiner was delivering milk on foot when the accident occurred. He received a fractured skull and other injuries according to attendants at St. Joseph's hospital where he was taken for treatment.

Stoddard was held at the police station pending a report from the hospital.

TO ATTEND FAIR

Superior, Wis., Sept. 4.—President Coolidge announced today he would attend the Tri-State fair here tomorrow.

"Are you going to deliver a speech?" the executive was asked.

"Oh, no, I'm going as an exhibit," was the reply.

Mr. Coolidge explained that from boyhood fairs had always held a great attraction for him.

KIWANIANS HEAR MORE ABOUT GOLDEN WEST

Secretary Wilcox Continues Account of His Trip to Convention in Seattle.

C. H. Wilcox, secretary of the Manchester Kiwanis club, who attended the Kiwanis convention in Seattle this summer, gave a detailed account of his visit to Yellowstone Park, Colorado Springs and other points of interest at the meeting of the club at the Country Club headquarters this noon. Snapshots of the various conditions that maintain at the wonderful park were taken at that time and were passed around today.

Fayette B. Clarke, who was chairman of the Hebron camp committee today made a report of the work that was carried on this summer at the camp. A chart was displayed that contained the list of the children attending and showed the amount each child gained in weight during the two weeks at the camp. The amount gained in each case was from one to as high as four pounds. The fact that in all the three years the camp has been conducted not a single case of serious illness has developed, speaks well for the healthiness of the site.

Herbert House furnished the attendance prize today and eight members contended for it in a putting contest on the eighteenth green. W. A. Knoffa was the successful man.

HEBRON

Many people here noticed the light from the fire which burned to the ground a house known as the Root Place in Wells Woods, Columbia, Thursday evening. The fire was caused by a defective chimney which had been on fire in the day and had been put out as it was supposed, but which broke out later.

Dr. Austin Warren made a short visit at the Pendleton home this week. He is on his return from a visit to Williamsburg, Va., where he visited his friend, Professor White, at the college of William and Mary. He also visited Richmond, Yorktown, Jamestown, and Washington, and was the guest of his cousin, Edward Flint in Philadelphia for a short time.

State Highway Commissioner John McDonald met the selectmen and some of the people interested on Thursday at the town hall, to talk over plans for the improvement of the appearance of Hebron Green. Plans will be submitted later for the approval of the townspeople.

An improvement has been made in the placing of signboards along the center. As first placed some of these signs were misleading, from being placed too far from the turns designated, so that many mistakes were made, automobilists driving into private driveways or making other wrong turns. The signs have now been placed at the center.

The Rev. J. S. Neill who has spent his four week's vacation at his country home on Meeting-House Lane, returns this week to his duties as rector of St. Mary's Episcopal church in Manchester. ### SANDINO NOT FOUND.

Managua, Nicaragua, Sept. 4.—Despite a double search by United States Marines and National Guardsmen (native troops) no trace can be found of Gen. Sandino, the rebel leader, who disappeared some weeks ago.

Marine officers are divided in opinion as to whether he has fled the country or is in hiding in some inaccessible mountain retreat in the middle of the Segovia jungles.

presidential candidate in that state. While the leaders frankly admit that Smith's denunciation of prohibition is largely responsible, they also say that the many measures in the interest of organized labor which have been enacted in New York during the eight years that he has been governor, are a contributing factor.

Smith realizes that if he carries Pennsylvania it would be a political miracle but he is said to feel that almost anything may happen on election day with prohibition as the major issue of the campaign.

to local pride. Hoover's knowledge of southern conditions forced him to the conclusion, it was said, that any effort to stage a Republican invasion of the south from a northern headquarters would lead only to Democratic success. For this reason, he will adopt a "watchful waiting" policy toward the south for the present while the national Republican headquarters will limit its activities to financial contributions and advice.

The Republican nominee hoped to go fishing later this week. He planned a trip to Chesapeake Bay for some salt-water fishing, a trip he has undertaken every year in the early autumn. He may be forced to postpone it until next week, due to activities at his headquarters here but he hopes to get away this week for a few days. With this exception, the nominee will remain here for the next two weeks, conferring with leaders and lieutenants before making his next move in the drive for the presidency.

JACK DEMPSEY REFUSES TO DISCUSS COMEBACK

Says He Has No Plans for Future; Is Now Taking Part In Show.

Philadelphia, Sept. 4.—Faced with a battery of interviewers who invaded the great man's privacy because of the understanding that he was to make a statement on his future intentions toward the sport of boxing, Jack Dempsey once again declined to commit himself definitely today on the question open to the future, declaring that he had no concrete plans at this time.

Reminded that he had been quoted as saying that he would issue a statement on the matter today, Dempsey replied that he had decided against going on record at this time either one way or the other.

"The public is tired of being bunked," he said. "If I ever have anything to say that will change my repeated statements of retirement, I will say it at the proper time and stick to it. If I say that I am definitely through now and then, for some reason, change my mind later, the public will think I have been kidding all along. If I say that I am going to fight again and then fail to do it when the time comes, people will think I am just talking to boost my show. On the whole, I think I am wise in refusing to add anything right now to what I have already said on the subject."

Dempsey's show, in which his wife, Estelle Taylor, is co-starred, opened here last night.

MRS. KNAPP APPEALS 30 DAYS' SENTENCE

there was not the slightest question of her guilt," Justice Callaghan said in pronouncing sentence.

"The records furnish indisputable proof that funds amounting to $27,604.18 were improperly paid by the state or false certifications by the defendant, of that sum at least $17,408.03 was wrongfully received by the defendant and probably a total of $24,175.82 is traceable directly or indirectly to her. Although the Grand Jury returned but twelve indictments there was ample evidence to justify at least thirty. The Grand Jury, however, in its wisdom, evidently felt that no good purpose would be served by finding other indictments.

Was Guilty. It is apparent to all who have followed the proceedings that there was not the slightest question of her guilt. Even her friends who Dugan made a strong plea for mercy for Mrs. Knapp.

"This is a case," he told Justice Callaghan, "that should appeal to the court for mercy and leniency. She is at that age now which you should take into consideration in pronouncing sentence. Her health is not good and it has not been for some time.

Her whole life, up to the time these charges were made against her, was an honorable one. The finger of suspicion never had been pointed against her. Her character was as pure and clean as one could wish."

Attorney General Ottinger made it plain in the statement which was read for him by Special Prosecutor Medalla, that he was not appealing to the court for leniency for Mrs. Knapp because he did not believe she was guilty but rather because he felt she had been sufficiently punished.

OBITUARY

DEATHS

Walter A. DeVarney

Walter A. DeVarney, well-known north end resident, who for the past eleven years has been cashier and chief clerk at the local freight office of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, died of acute indigestion at his home at 12 Doane street at 3:50 Sunday morning. He was 37 years old.

Mr. DeVarney had been working at one of the booths at the Moose Carnival Saturday night and returned home about midnight, his wife said. He retired for the night apparently in good health. At 3:30 in the morning, he was awakened by severe pains in his stomach. A doctor was summoned, but meanwhile he had become unconscious. He lived but twenty minutes after being stricken. Before going into the coma, however, DeVarney told his wife that he believed his sudden illness was due to three frankfurters which he had eaten before leaving the carnival.

Mr. DeVarney's death at such a comparatively early age of his life, came as a distinct shock to the community, especially to those who had chatted with him at the carnival such a short time before his death. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Sarah DeVarney, three young daughters, Frances, Ella and Helen, and two sisters, Mrs. Friend Weller of East Haven and Mrs. George H. Priest of New York city.

Mr. DeVarney was born in Rockville and came to Manchester nearly twelve years ago. He had been employed by the railroad company ever since the completion of his schooling, seventeen years ago. His first employment was at Rockville and when he removed to Manchester, he entered the employ of the company here.

He was a member of the following churches: Second Congregational church, the Brotherhood of Railroad Clerks, Manchester Lodge, No. 1,477, I. O. O. M., King David Lodge, No. 31, Korun Sanctorum Oriental, I. O. O. F., Damon Lodge of the Rockville Knights of Pythias, Memorial Temple, No. 33, Pythias Sisters and the Manchester Community club.

The funeral was held at the late home on Doane street at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Rev. Frederick C. Allen, pastor of the Second Congregational church, officiated and burial was in the East Cemetery. The funeral service was largely attended and there were many floral tributes.

The bearers were John Limberick and William Warnock, representing the Moose Lodge, Sedrick Straughan, from the Odd Fellows, Joseph Rollason, Pythian Sisters, Henry Brooks, Brotherhood of Railroad Clerks, and Charles Francis, Rockville Knights of Pythias.

OPEN FORUM

'THE CLERK'S VIEW' The following conversation happened in the store. No more half holidays from now on, is there? I answered 'Well, I don't know, it seems so, I wouldn't mind losing the half-holiday so much if they would only close at night, too.' 'I don't see why they can't close at night, they do it in Hartford,' was the answer I received. This was not only from one customer, but from many more favoring the clerks to secure a half holiday or to shut the stores at night.

NOTICE

By closing at night the merchants might say, but if they can do it in a city like Hartford, why not here in Manchester. I think they are too much one-sided on the subject. In one of their meetings it was agreed that Manchester merchants could no longer afford to withdraw from the field of competition with the stores of neighboring communities for one afternoon of each week. Nothing was said of Manchester stores being open when the stores of neighboring communities were shut.

New Haven, Sept. 4.—"All indications point to a record movement of trains" New Haven road officials announced today, following a busy week-end period devoted to transporting returning vacationists over the railroad lines. Exact figures of the traffic are now being compiled, a task that will take somewhat more than twenty-four hours. The traffic was moved without an accident and without a delay, railroad officials said.

SHAMELESS

If there is any doubt as to what constitutes the real issue in this campaign—and there still seems to be such doubt in the minds of some Republican speakers and newspapermen—perhaps that doubt will be in part at least dispelled by the perusal of campaign material now being issued by the Democratic National Committee.

Here are several consecutive paragraphs from a "release" sent out by that committee for the use of Sunday's newspapers under New York date of September 1:

"The various racial groups of foreign origin in this country will be more completely organized this year in the interest of Governor Alfred E. Smith and Senator Joe J. Robinson than in any Presidential campaign heretofore.

"For the first time in political history every racial group in the country will be organized. Directors of nearly thirty such groups already have been appointed and by Tuesday, Sept. 4, will be at work in Democratic national headquarters, 1775 Broadway, New York, under the direction of Dr. Rieg.

"There never has been a national election which has aroused such intense interest in that part of the population which is of foreign birth," said Dr. Rieg. "Party lines have been forgotten in this campaign insofar as the so-called foreign vote is concerned.

"What does Smith offer in the way of special attraction to the foreign-born? Is it his proposal to reorganize government bureaus? We doubt if the imported vote is deeply concerned there. Is it the declaration in his platform that ignorance is the enemy of freedom? Not quite likely. Is it his promise to conserve the natural resources of the country? Not quite all the foreign vote has a keen understanding of that subject.

"As a matter of fact, of course, Smith's appeal to the foreign vote is his position on immigration. He addressed himself to the hyphen vote, he bid for the support of the recently arrived, when he so briefly but so significantly declared himself in opposition to the present quotas and confessed himself the ally of the foreign lobbies that for years have been battering at Congress in the interest of the polyglot hordes of eastern Europe and western Asia.

Not in any single way does the Democratic party appeal to the newly naturalized vote as an American vote. Its appeal is to that vote as a foreign vote. It frankly and shamelessly addresses itself to a mass of unassimilated people and urges them to cast their ballots, not as Americans but as foreigners.

country as is made by this official press notice issued by the Democratic National Committee. And there are still Republicans blind enough to think that the issue in this campaign is something to drink.

ABSURD

Philadelphia's mayor has ordered the police to close up every speakeasy in the city within 24 hours. Also every gambling house and resort of racketeers and vice panders. (Cheers from the cohorts of reform.)

Now the mayor himself says there are 13,000 of the speakeasies. That means that the police must close them up at the rate of something more than 500 an hour, or more than eight a minute. It is submitted that the Quaker City executive is looking for some action.

Also, suppose the bootleggers decline to close up. Suppose they have to be arrested. Certainly it takes at least one person to run each speakeasy. If the police are required to arrest the gin-slingers, 13,000 of them, all on the same day, whereabouts in Philadelphia does the mayor propose to store the prisoners? And how does he propose to legally hold them, in the face of their legal right to an immediate hearing and in the face of the ubiquitous habeas corpus writ? Certainly the local courts of Philadelphia cannot attend to 13,000 cases in a day—probably not in a year.

Nor can the city of Philadelphia station a cop at every speakeasy to see that it doesn't open again. It hasn't enough cops to go round even if it took them all away from traffic and other duties.

And if it is a physical impossibility to close up the 13,000 blind pigs alone, how about the other places, the gambling resorts, crooks' dens, etc.?

We know next to nothing about Philadelphia's Mayor Mackey. But judging from his arm-waving gesture we should guess that was just a mite light for the headship of so big a town. Especially one so run-to-seed that it has 13,000 speakeasies within the knowledge of its mayor.

This kind of reform may start enthusiastic reactions in the minds of nitwits. All others know that it is meaningless. No mayor who really intended to clean up a city like Philadelphia would issue any such order.

HOLOCAUST

Five killed, fifty-seven injured, no arrests. That's given as the summing up of the week-end holiday casualties on the roads of Connecticut. Thirty-nine separate accidents contributed to the fatalities and injuries. How many more accidents happened, unaccompanied by injuries serious enough to attract the attention of the authorities, is a matter to be guessed at. Probably not one in five was reported.

There is only one deduction to be drawn from the appalling growth of fatal and otherwise injurious accidents on the highways. That is that the state of Connecticut has practically abandoned all pretense of safeguarding life where automobile operation is concerned.

It is an insult to the intelligence of the people of this commonwealth for the State Police to pretend that where more than sixty persons are killed or wounded in thirty-nine accidents no one was to blame in any single case. As a matter of fact someone was to blame in every one of these thirty-nine crashes saving the exception that a steering gear may have gone wrong or a tire blown at a critical moment—and no such case is mentioned.

Flagrant cut-outs obviously caused some of the accidents. Over-speeding on wet roads caused a dozen. Yet there were no arrests. Several persons are injured, one of them fatally, in a head-on crash. No arrest—no one to blame. Yet every person in this state, above the age of ten and not absolutely idiotic, knows that one or the other machine in a head-on crash on the road is where it has no conceivable excuse for being.

The conclusion is forced that in Connecticut, so far as automobile operation is concerned, the lid is off. What's the idea? Is it despair on the part of the police, or is it in pursuit of a fixed policy, calculated to produce as much mileage as possible on the roads of this state, in the interest of the automobile manufacturers, in the interest of the big oil companies, or in the interest of the gasoline tax?

JOE'S JOB

Senator Joe Robinson is welcome to his job. He has to go about the Southern country telling the voters of the Democratic party down there that Governor Smith is talking through his hat when he proposes to bring about modification of prohibition and, at the same time convince them that the Governor is a mighty smart and strong man who can be depended on to run the government without yielding to influences which are the abhorrence of the South.

On the whole, Senator Joe's position seems to be more difficult than the prospective reward justifies. In the first place, the glory of being Vice-President of the United States is not the most refulgent imaginable. And in the second place Joe's chance of attaining to it seems to be fading daily.

It is all very well for the top man on the Democratic ticket to make his speeches in New York and New Jersey, in Boston and in other wet northern cities where, regardless of how the election may go, he is sure of being greeted by throngs of partisans and of talking to friendly audiences, but poor Uncle Joe has got to carry the brunt of the campaign in the "enemy's country" and boost for a wet Tammany candidate in the very citadel of the dries.

Governor Smith can have a pretty good time out of this campaign—until the returns come in on election night. But his running mate is in for a depressing couple of months.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER.

Washington, Sept. 4.—What a grand show it would be if President Coolidge and Secretary Andy Mellon were to set out on horse back at the head of a body of troops to enforce the liquor laws in some wet city like Chicago!

That was exactly what President George Washington and Secretary of the Treasury Alexander Hamilton did in 1784 while the nation was engaged for the first time in grappling the prohibition problem.

In one form or another, the demon rum has been so long a national issue as to lend color to the idea sometimes expressed that it will be with us unto the end of time. The Indians became prohibition's first victims when white colonists, deciding that they were too uncivilized to carry their fire-water like gentlemen, cut off their supply. A temperance society was organized in Connecticut as early as 1789.

Liquor became a real national issue in 1791. Then, for the first time, the moral question involved was argued on the floors of Congress and many of the arguments of this campaign year were there given birth.

The occasion was the imposition of Hamilton's excise tax of nine cents a gallon on spirituous liquors. This was the first federal internal revenue liquor law. Hamilton's main purpose was to raise money, but he initiated the federal tendency to pick on intoxicating beverages for revenue and friends of the measure were soon promising in its behalf that it would "curb excessive drinking." And the wets were demanding, "Why deprive 'the masses of the only luxury they enjoy'?"

A modification measure was introduced after a while and on April 30, 1792, a New Jersey congressman was insisting that the government was disgraced fully committed to enforcing an unenforceable law that "a sense of national honor demands that it be totally repealed."

Federal tax collectors were as unpopular in distillery territory as federal prohibition agents in wet sections today. One in western Pennsylvania was tarred and feathered; others were mistreated. There were moonshiners, of course, and owners of secret stills who evaded the tax were herded by the type of citizens who today regards the bootleggers as public benefactors.

"It deprives citizens of an inalienable right," one senator complained, raising the national liberty issue. Newspapers claimed that an aristocratic minority was oppressing the people. Everywhere there were complaints about widespread disrespect for the law.

The government has enough to do without regulating people's appetites," wrote "Sidney" in the National Gazette of Philadelphia. He complained that the law would require, for enforcement, "exercise of force, arbitrary restrictions and excessive penalties," and insisted that Congress had been "surprised into the measure."

Apparently the south wasn't very dry in the seventeenth-nineties. The leather-junged Congressman James Jackson of Georgia, fiery, Jeffersonian, called the tax "odious, unequal, unpopular and oppressive, particularly in the south." In his section he explained, hot weather made liquor a necessity.

Congressman Josiah Parker of Virginia predicted the reign of "a swarm of harpies, who, under the domination of revenue officers, will range through the country, prying into every man's house and affairs."

The southern people universally condemned the tax, it was claimed, and it was either charged or boasted that the people of North Carolina, for instance, consumed ten times the amount of spiritous liquors in Connecticut.

The southern people universally condemned the tax, it was claimed, and it was either charged or boasted that the people of North Carolina, for instance, consumed ten times the amount of spiritous liquors in Connecticut.

Distilleries lobbied for the bill of course. James Madison helped it when he announced that a tax on liquor seemed least objectionable. Thomas Jefferson apparently didn't oppose it. It was passed after much debate, including frequent references to state rights.

Those hardest hit were the frontiersmen, particularly in western Pennsylvania, who had to make whiskey from their grain because there was no market for it as such. They went in for nullification. The issue crossed party lines, as prohibition does today. The Federalists called the Jeffersonians "nullificationists" or some such term and claimed that the anti-tax disorders. But the Jeffersonian party stood out strongly for strict enforcement.

The actions of mobs in western Pennsylvania became known as the "Whiskey Rebellion" and it was this time that the army of Washington and Hamilton was army set out to quell. The Whiskey Boys immediately broke up with the army's approach, but a number were arrested and taken back to Philadelphia where they were brutally treated and marched through the streets by their triumphant captors. Nearly everyone was acquitted, but two were found guilty of treason and pardoned by Washington.

SUN BATHING

When you are contemplating a sunbath, either in the nude or on the beach, it is well to keep in mind the fact that an overdose of the sun's rays is always injurious.

I find that many people suffer from the mistaken belief that if a little sunbathing is good, a great deal is better. Extreme sunbathing is often very dangerous, as the skin becomes so swollen and injured by the burn that the proper elimination of the poisons which are normally discharged through the pores, cannot take place. This has a disastrous effect upon the kidneys.

Even a faint glow of sunburn on the skin affects the body in a proportionate manner, and is injurious as long as it lasts. It is much better to measure one's sunbath over several exposures and receive an increasing tan each time, than to try to become burnt through the effects of only one or two sunburns.

One whose skin is well tanned has benefited by the ultra-violet rays of the sun which are needed to produce such a dark color. However, the mere darkening of the skin is of no benefit but must be considered only as a necessary change which occurs to the skin as a protection against too much sunlight.

In taking your sunbaths, remember that the sunlight must strike the body directly without the obstruction of clothing or even glasses, which would divert the ultra-violet rays. Heating the body with sunlight through clothing is of no more benefit than heating from a stove.

It is well to time your self at first so that you do not take an overdose of this valuable remedy and increase the time of treatment as your skin gradually tans.

When taking a sunbath, one should avoid overheating, which is indicated by a quickening of the pulse. When this occurs, quietly rest in the shade for a time before finishing your regular time of exposure.

Sometimes people bathing on a cloudy day because they do not feel the ultra-violet rays which produced the burn do not warm the skin, but do penetrate through the clouds and moist air. If you wish to stay on the beach for a long time without being sunburned, it is wise for you to expose your body to the sun for only a short time, and for the remaining period keep it covered with a blanket or robe. In this way many hours can be spent on the beach so that one can benefit from and enjoy the inhalation of the clean, fresh, moist, salt air.

Nude sunbathing is now being recognized by all physicians for diseases such as anemia, tuberculosis, rickets, asthma, catarrh, chronic tonsillitis, and disorders of metabolism, such as nephritis and diabetes. There is a German proverb that states that the hearse calls twice as often on the shady side of the street as on that which is more favored by the sunshine.

The modern bathing suit has taught us to cultivate bodies more beautiful and pleasing to the eye. Even in ordinary street clothes, the women of today have adopted such practical styles that the air circulates over the whole body, giving the skin a continuous air bath for which it has been hungry for several generations. For some reason, men have been more conservative about reforming their style of dress. However, the lighter under-clothing adopted by both sexes allows a freer circulation of air and undoubtedly contributes to the increased longevity of the human race.

Take advantage of the waning summertime so that you can avail yourself of this most valuable health force—a simple and inexpensive treatment for which there is no better substitute in the physician's pharmacopoeia.

SUN BATHING

When you are contemplating a sunbath, either in the nude or on the beach, it is well to keep in mind the fact that an overdose of the sun's rays is always injurious.

I find that many people suffer from the mistaken belief that if a little sunbathing is good, a great deal is better. Extreme sunbathing is often very dangerous, as the skin becomes so swollen and injured by the burn that the proper elimination of the poisons which are normally discharged through the pores, cannot take place. This has a disastrous effect upon the kidneys.

Even a faint glow of sunburn on the skin affects the body in a proportionate manner, and is injurious as long as it lasts. It is much better to measure one's sunbath over several exposures and receive an increasing tan each time, than to try to become burnt through the effects of only one or two sunburns.

One whose skin is well tanned has benefited by the ultra-violet rays of the sun which are needed to produce such a dark color. However, the mere darkening of the skin is of no benefit but must be considered only as a necessary change which occurs to the skin as a protection against too much sunlight.

In taking your sunbaths, remember that the sunlight must strike the body directly without the obstruction of clothing or even glasses, which would divert the ultra-violet rays. Heating the body with sunlight through clothing is of no more benefit than heating from a stove.

It is well to time your self at first so that you do not take an overdose of this valuable remedy and increase the time of treatment as your skin gradually tans.

QUESTION AND ANSWERS

Question: Ruth asks: "What would you think best to do for sciatic rheumatism? The party in question has been in bed close to four years with it. He is on a milk diet now?"

Answer: What is called "sciatic rheumatism" may be due to an inflammation of the sciatic nerve and caused by rheumatic toxins; or the nerve may be pinched some place between where its branches emerge from the lower spine. An osteopath or chiropractor could quickly correct the trouble if it is caused by pinched nerves, and a diet to cure "rheumatism" would bring about a cure of the trouble if it is caused by the rheumatic toxins.

COLUMBIA Miss Marion Holms is staying at Crescent Beach for two weeks. This week she is accompanied by Mrs. Lyman and Mrs. Gates and the Misses Gertrude Gates and Rachel Buell of Hartford. Mrs. Sanderson of Highland Park is the guest of her son Robert Sanderson. Miss Harriet Fuller is staying with Miss Eliza Hutchins for a short while during the vacation of the regular nurse. Mrs. Hutchinson who has been staying at the home of Mrs. June Squires during the summer is spending a few days in Bridgeport. Several auto loads went. Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Hunt and family motored to Rehoboth, Mass., Thursday to attend the 68th annual reunion of the Goff family, of which Mrs. Hunt is a member. A clam bake was served to over 300 persons at noon. Mrs. Hunt's mother, Mrs. Louise Goff returned with them at night and will spend the next few months in Columbia. The Christian Endeavor society held a hot dog roast at the dam Thursday evening, quite a few young people being present. The dogs and marshmallows were roasted and eaten just in time, the severe thunder shower which came up in the evening preventing further activities, and the first few drops sent all scurrying for shelter. The oppressive heat of Wednesday and Thursday was broken by a hard shower Thursday evening. Friday was a beautiful clear, cool day, with strong hints of the coming fall. The following delegates were appointed at the Republican caucus held Monday evening: State, L. E. Winter, C. A. Robinson; Congressional, H. B. Hutchins, William Wolf; Senatorial, C. A. Adams, J. H. Lafeur, Lucius Robinson, Charles Palmer; Probate, Howard Sauter, Charles Seelye, Conrad Schriever, Howard Rice. An auction of farm implements and household goods was held at the residence of Henry Burr on Saturday. Many townspeople attending. Mr. and Mrs. Burr are moving back to Long Island, from which place they came to Columbia several years ago. The Burr farm has been purchased by Benton Overman of Caldwell, N. J., who will use it for a summer home. Mr. Overman is a nephew of Mr. Benton, who lives across the road, just over the Andover town line. Recent guests at Top Lodge comprise the following: Miss Mildred Haddaway, Miss Mary Travers, Miss Margaret Englar, Miss Elizabeth Kellum, Miss Freddie Iglehart, Miss Mary Footnagle, Miss Grace Picking, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Snyder, Dr. and Mrs. Edwin Frederick, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Adams, all of Baltimore, Md. Top Lodge closed Saturday night after a very successful season, and the proprietors, Miss McDonnell and Miss Lane left on Sunday morning for Baltimore, Md., where they teach during the winter. Quite a good many local people are attending the Elks Fair, being held in Williamette. Madison Woodward of Merrythought Farm is exhibiting gladiolus, and C. L. Robinson of Post Hill has a large and varied display of fruit. Mrs. Amy Brown has returned to take care of Miss Eliza Hutchins after a vacation of several weeks. During the heavy thunder shower Thursday evening, a fire was visible to the south west. It was reported as being various places, but it now develops that it was what is known as the Ralph Road place in Wells Woods, the house and most of its contents being destroyed. It is thought the fire was caused by a defective chimney, and was evidently smoldering for some hours before the discovery. The house was occupied by a Polish family. The excessive heat of last week has been followed by very cool weather, the thermometer going below 50 on Sunday morning. The cool weather and the near approach of the opening of schools has caused a general exodus of the lake people back to the cities from whence they came. A few families without children of school age will stay longer. At the pasture it is reported that most of the guests will leave within the next few days, a few more coming later that prefer to visit the lake after the season is practically over. It was reported as being various places, but it now develops that it was what is known as the Ralph Road place in Wells Woods, the house and most of its contents being destroyed. It is thought the fire was caused by a defective chimney, and was evidently smoldering for some hours before the discovery. The house was occupied by a Polish family. # Announcing the OPENING on Wednesday Afternoons of South Manchester's Leading Stores

STARTING tomorrow, the South Manchester stores will be open every Wednesday afternoon until 6:00 p. m. This makes the week's schedule as follows: Open Thursday night and Saturday night until 9:00 p. m. Open other business days until 6:00 p. m.

Although it has been customary, for a number of years, for the stores in this vicinity to close an afternoon a week all the year round, it has been recognized that this plan was not satisfactory to the great bulk of the trading public. It was extremely difficult to arrive at uniformity of action especially where so many different lines of business were involved. The present plan represents the majority opinion and was voted and agreed to at a meeting of the Merchants' Association held last Spring.

Postponed Water Meet Set For This Evening

Lack of Entrants Saturday Caused Continuation Until 4 and 6 p. m. Today; Program of Events.

The annual swimming meet scheduled for Globe Hollow Pond did not materialize Saturday afternoon because an insufficient number of entrants were on hand. However, it will be held this afternoon and evening.

LOTS OF INTEREST IN TRACK PROGRAM

Three Hundred Children Take Part in Events at North End Playgrounds Close.

The track and field meet program at the Community Club playgrounds Saturday afternoon attracted a crowd of 300 children and many adults. It was a most fitting finale to the playground summer season and a credit to Director Jerry Fay and Miss Beatrice Coughlin, who was a playground instructor. They, in turn, wish to publicly thank the north end residents and business men who made possible the donation of the prizes and the distributing of free refreshments.

Following are the results of the various events: Sack race: William Branneck, first, Arthur Korch, second, George Martin, third.

Wicket walk: Branneck, first, John Vogick, second, Henrietta Voncek, third.

Three-legged race: Arthur Korch and Raymond Merz, first, John Burke and Walter Smith, second, William Branneck and Thomas Laboc, third.

Obstacle race: William Branneck, first, Stella Kaminsky, second, Helen Olosky, third.

Boys' running broad jump: William Branneck, first, 13-8, Arthur Korch, second, 13-4, John Korch, third, 13-2 1/2.

Seventy-five yard dash for boys: Thomas Laboc, first, Arthur Korch, second, William Branneck, third.

GARAGE AND GREEN TO PLAY THURSDAY

Prentice Says Game Will Start at 6 O'Clock or Won't Be Played at All.

LEAGUE STANDING
	Won	Lost
Gibson's	3	1
Green	2	2
Height's	2	2
Bon Ami	1	4

GAMES TO PLAY
Gibson's at Green.
Heights at Bon Ami.

Manchester Green gets its final chance to "go or die" against Gibson's Garage next Thursday night when these two teams hokk-up at Woodbridge field in a contest that will have an important bearing upon the championship of the Community Club Twilight League.

A victory for the Garage would give the auto repairers the championship of the second half of the league and entitle them to meet the Green in a play-off for the league title. Should the garage win, the league title, it will have a right to challenge the Community Club in an event that team beats the Green in its present series.

Bitter rivalry exists between these two teams, the Green and the Garage. They have met twice before in this half of the schedule and both games have ended unsatisfactorily. The Garage won both times, 3 to 1 and 1 to 0. The first victory was disallowed because of a protest against ineligible players. The second time, the Garage walked off the field in the seventh inning with Green runners on second and third and no outs and after fifteen minutes of arguing convinced the umpire that it was too dark to continue.

It goes without saying that there will be a bumper crowd at the game Thursday night. There always is when these two teams get together. Ralph Russell and Wallace Nelson will be the umpires.

The game was not settled until Managers Sam Prentice and Bert Gibson had had another verbal tilt. Prentice wanted to put the game off until Saturday because of a dark night, but Gibson, who is almost impossible to play a real ball game any more evenings, Gibson, however, wasn't sure of all of his players for Saturday and insisted the game be played according to schedule.

Manager Prentice informed the Herald yesterday that he had given in to Manager Gibson's demand to a certain extent. The game, if there is one, will be played Thursday night, but Manager Prentice says that the team must be ready to start play at 5:45. "My team will be ready and if the Garage isn't on the field ready to play by 6 o'clock at the very latest, then there'll be no game. I'm not going to take the chances of becoming mixed up in another argument. It's up to the Garage, they can take it or leave it," concluded the Green pilot.

Heights still have a chance to tie the Garage for the title in the second half of the league. They have two games to play, one with the Bon Ami and the other with the Garage. Victories in both of them would give the Heights a tie for first place with the league schedule completed. The Bon Ami is out of the running. There is a possibility that the Heights and Bon Ami may play Thursday night at Hickey's Grove. The managers of both teams should get in touch with each other to make arrangements.

WOMEN'S TENNIS CHAMPION HARD TO TELL AHEAD

Mrs. Mallory or Mrs. Van Ness Seen as Possible Winners; Former Beats Marjorie Smith, 6-2, 6-4.

Considerable speculation exists as to whom will be the winner of the women's tennis championship of Manchester. Interest is growing in leaps and bounds as the elimination goes forward, but the field is apparently so evenly balanced that it is difficult to predict the ultimate winner.

It would not be at all surprising to see either Mrs. Fred VanNess or Mrs. Henry Mallory take the title this year, but the mustn't underestimate the ability of such talent as Alleen McHale, last year's finalist, Ruth Behrend, Allee or Carolyn Cheney, for they, too, are liable to win the coveted honor.

Third Round Drawings.
The drawings for the third round matches in the women's tournament were made Sunday evening in the sports department of The Herald, sponsors of the tournament. Robert E. Carney drew the overturned slips of paper bearing the names of the five survivors of the second round. The bye goes to the Ruth Behrend-Ruth Smith winner, their second round match not having been played yet.

The pairings match Mrs. Mallory, who eliminated Marjorie Smith Sunday morning, with Alice Cheney and Mrs. Fred VanNess against the Carolyn Cheney-Alleen McHale winner. The winners of these two matches will draw to see who plays the Behrend-Smith winner in the semi-finals and the lucky one will meet the winner in the finals.

Mrs. Mallory over herself a better player than Marjorie Smith in their match at the Country Club court although she was forced to play smart tennis to win. As it was, Miss Smith almost took the second set. It was superior stroking that won for Mrs. Mallory who plays a driving game. Both profited on the other's errors, but each scored several points on placements. Mrs. Mallory took the first set with comparative ease, 6 to 2, by in the second Miss Smith had a 4 to 2 lead and looked like the winner.

However, Mrs. Mallory steadied herself and, managed to hit aces, played short and Burke third. Hewitt played short for the Green in the absence of Bobby Boye. Lamprecht was not in Community uniform, Kelly doing the catching. A rather small crowd watched the first of the five-game series.

The Green's 8 to 5 lead was obtained by a three run rally in the sixth. Singles by Sullivan, Linnell, Walleit and Brennan coupled with Ben Branneck's hits, Massey and the sackaded chased in the runs. Previous to that inning both teams had batted in five runs by timely hitting. It was the first time this season that Burkhardt has been unable to last the route against the Green. Twice before he has pitched Gibson's Garage to victories over the Green holding them to a very limited number of bingles.

The next game of the series will be played at Hickey's Grove next Sunday.

Bluebirds Beat Owls for Title

The Bluebirds defeated the Owls for the junior championship of the South Side playgrounds Saturday morning. Neubauer pitched a no hit game for the Bluebirds.

Jack May played a great game for the winners at first base, taking care of some very difficult throws. Rauterberg pitched good ball for the Owls but was given very poor support by his teammates. The box score:

4-RUN 9th INNING RALLY BEATS GREEN BY ONE RUN

Community Wins Slugging Bee 9-8; Teams Handle 91 Chances With 3 Errors; Burkhardt Kayoed; Next Game Sunday.

The first game of the town championship baseball series between the Community Club and Manchester Green was a genuine slugfest from start to finish. The Community won by a 9 to 8 but in order to do so, had to score four runs in the last inning to erase a three-run lead which seemed destined to lead the Green to victory. It re-proved the old saying that "It's never too late."

Both starting pitchers, "Big Jack" Burkhardt and Joe Prentice were belted hard and often. A total of 31 base hits were recorded among which were five doubles and two triples. The Green made one more hit—but one less run. Prentice went the route, but Burkhardt gave Walter "Butsy" Webber of Rockville in the last three innings. It was Webber who practically saved the day for the Community, for he held on to the title to "Cap" Bissell last year in very thrilling series. Macdonald is matched with Ben Cheney.

Walter Dunn and Johnny Boyle will clash at the High school courts at 5:15 this afternoon. The winners of these two matches will probably meet in their delayed second round match tomorrow night, the ultimate winner of this quartet meets Aldo Gatti and the winner of this match will meet either Ty Holland or Earle Bissell for the right to play in the finals.

How They're Paired.
So much for the bottom bracket of the field of 32 players who started the elimination fight for the title, now for the first half. Fred VanNess and Francis O'Brien are slated for tomorrow afternoon at 5:30 at the Community Club courts and the winner meets Champion "Cap" Bissell. The winner of this match will meet either Henry McCann or Paul Jansen for the right to play in the finals. So there you have the dope on the first half of the draw near.

McCann won his second round match from Jim Quish by the scores of 6 to 1 and 6 to 1 at the High school courts Sunday morning. Quish gave McCann better opposition than the scores indicate, but the question is whether the better player won. McCann was superior in the rallying and his accuracy was much better. Quish had a bullet serve that was pretty to watch, but it was minus a cut which made it easier to return.

McLaughlin, let of hard luck on his slashing return, some hitting just very top of the net and others just going out of bounds by inches. The Jansen-McCann match is expected to be one of the best of the tournament, but for that matter, the Holland-Bissell match, should be fully as good.

With the quarter-finals now about to be played, it is expected that larger galleries will be on hand to watch the players in their final dash to the top. Considerable speculation has developed as to whether or not Bissell will retain his title this year. The field is admittedly stronger than last year, but Bissell is also an improved player. His experience gained under Hobe Hyde on the Trinity College team last season was a big help. It is hoped to perfect his plays in more ways than one.

MERIDEN MAULS COMMUNITY 18-1

The Community Club took an 18 to 1 shellacking in Meriden Sunday afternoon in its final state league contest of the year. The Silver Sox, managed by Ed Massey, were the victors in a game which was a real slugfest.

Meriden batted the offerings of Dick Edgar, Joe Burke and Red Thornton hard and scored in all but two of the eight innings it batted. The Community made but four hits off Kilne.

MCCANN DEFEATS QUISH, 6-1, 6-1

Macdonald-Ben Cheney, Dunn-Boyle Matches Set For Tonight; Interest Grows.

Three players who have been away for two weeks on vacations will swing into action tonight in the men's town championship tournament. One is Mac Macdonald, who holds the title to "Cap" Bissell last year in very thrilling series. Macdonald is matched with Ben Cheney.

Walter Dunn and Johnny Boyle will clash at the High school courts at 5:15 this afternoon. ## Famous Brooklyn Royal Giants Oppose Community At West Side In Season's Biggest Attraction

Local Sport Chatter

Some of the fans at the Green-Community game Saturday afternoon were talking about alliteration, so we offer this one for consideration: "Peppy Pelton Pelts Prentice Properly." The Community left-fielder nailed Joe for three hits and was passed twice in the game.

A tennis tournament has been formed among some of the clerical workers at the white weaving mill in Cheney Brothers. They are George Harrison, Paul Cervini, Harry Russell, Bennie Schubert, Leon Cone, John Ritchie, Frank Cervini and Crombie Donaldson. Each player meets the other once in three sets, each counting a point. The one with the most points, will be the winner.

Everybody's going to the west side playgrounds tomorrow night to see the Brooklyn Colored Giants play. Just follow the crowd. This team guarantees fun for all with its comedian capers, and at the same time is a crackerjack ball club.

Jerry Fay says he doesn't know whether the Community club is going to take part in any playoff series for the state league title. Manchester won the first round, but the second and either Windsor Locks or Meriden the third. Fay says the league officials have not notified him concerning a playoff and intimates that there may not be any.

Brownie Tucker meets Del Poitout of New Britain in the feature bout at the Hartford Velodrome Thursday night. This ought to be a bout well worth watching.

If the Yankees and Athletics continue neck and neck this week, the series between the two clubs which starts with a double-header Sunday in New York ought to be fully as interesting, if not better, than the forthcoming world's series. It's just like a boxing card, the semi-final being better than the final.

The Cloverleaves will practice football at the Golf Links at 6 o'clock tonight. Manager Ed Coughlin stated that there will be an important meeting at the State Armory afterward and that all members are requested to be present.

James "Dodger" Dowd left last night for Amsterdam, N. Y., where he will be temporarily employed by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. Tom Weir is expected to carry out the duties of the town championship horsehoe pitching tournament.

South End Nine Beats North 9-5

The South End All Stars defeated the North End All Stars Sunday afternoon at the West Side playgrounds by the score of 9 to 5 in the first of a three game series.

Dahlquist pitched good ball for the South End team although a little wild at times. Jolly was the star of the game making some very difficult stops and getting his man at first by a couple of wonderful throws. Markham also made a pretty stop of a hard hit ball over second.

Next Sunday these two teams will meet again at Hickey's grove at 3 o'clock. Sunday's summary:

TO START SERVING TAX

WARRANTS TOMORROW

Pay Up or Go to Jail, Is Choice Extended to Personal Delinquents.

Tax bills accompanied by warrants, 100 in number, will be given to Constables James Foley, Gerald Risley and James Duffy by Tax Collector G. H. Howe this afternoon and tomorrow they will start collecting the unpaid personal taxes. For each unpaid personal tax, which amounts to $2 if paid on time, an additional charge of $1 is made. To this is added $2 for the writ fee, also the mileage of the officers and the fee for collection, a total of about $6 extra to those who failed to pay on time. Unpaid personal tax cases are no longer brought before the town court. The warrant that is now issued gives the delinquent the choice between paying the bill and going to jail to work out the tax and the cost.

HIT AND RUN DRIVER

CRASHES VACATION CAR

Manchester Young Men Have Close Call After Trip to Canada.

Three Manchester young men returning from an automobile trip to Canada had a narrow escape early yesterday morning when they were struck by a hit-and-run motorist four miles outside of Pittsfield, Mass.

The trio, Nicholas Angelo of 50 Pine street, Peter Kleitcha of 9 Lilac street and Edward Powers of 1 Walnut street, were riding in a Ford coupe when it was struck by another automobile at a cross-road in Landborough. The impact hurled their car against a stone wall on the edge of a thirty-foot embankment and back against a telephone pole, Angelo said.

The driver of the other car did not stop to learn whether or not anyone had been killed or injured, but stopped on the accelerator, Angelo said that the Ford had to be towed to a garage and that it cost $30 to repair it for the completion of the journey.

NEW LIENS BALANCE

OLD ONES PAID OFF

The drive to collect on back tax liens did not result in fattening the town's treasury, but it did clear old records. With the work almost completed it has been found that the town collected about $11,000 in back liens, but nevertheless the tax arrears stand just about where it was before the drive started. Instead of clearing up all back taxes it is found necessary to place new liens for last year's taxes in amount to balance the old ones paid off. They amount to about $11,000, or just about the same sum as was collected on the old liens.

ERNEST WILLIAMS GOING

TO SOUTH AMERICA

Ernest Williams of Maplewood, N. J., was a guest of his parents, J. M. and Mrs. Williams over the week end. He was accompanied by his niece, Miss Mabel Williams.

This was a farewell visit for Ernest, as he will sail Saturday on the S. S. American Legion. Munson Line, for Buenos Aires, Argentina, where his brother, R. C. Williams, is located, as executive assistant of the Regional Director of Exports of the General Motors Company in South America. The first stop of the steamship after leaving New York will be Rio de Janeiro, fourteen days out. Although Ernest has leave of absence for two months from the Bell Telephone Laboratories, New York, he will have but a few days to spend with his brother as the sail of 6,000 miles between New York and Buenos Aires requires nineteen days each way.

Ernest intends to visit Trinidad, and Barbados on the return trip, arriving in New York, about Nov. 1.

NOTICE

My wife, Mrs. Arnold Nora Reinartz, having left my bed and board, I will not be responsible for any bills contracted by her, on and after this date.

Now that we've made up our minds to beat it, Alec, I'm curious to know exactly what part of our past old snoop dug up for hem's benefit!

It doesn't matter, only I hate to skip after reforming. You're not leaving, my dear Mr. Smart! Your Polish business is going so well, I thought...

Can the chatter, kid, give us our bill! Yeh! Make it snappy!

If you hadn't given our car, we wouldn't be handing out all that dough!

Two tickets to the end of the line? Get out to the Pacific coast?? Gee! I hate to pull out of this burg! We had a nice Polish business under way, and were just making a few friends... I figured I'd made one real friend for life. Say, our train isn't due for an hour yet. I'd have time to run up and say goodbye to Viola!

PITKIN-COOK

Miss Jennie M. Cook, daughter of Mrs. Jennie L. Cook of Manchester Green and the late Arthur Cook was married Saturday noon to Wells W. Pitkin, son of Mrs. Susan Pitkin of Pitkin street. Lanphear is a brother of Mrs. Mabel Lanphear, principal at the Manchester Green school.

The bride was dressed in powder blue chiffon. Immediately after the ceremony a dinner was served at the General Lyon Inn.

In the afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Pitkin left for a trip to Cape Cod and the northern New England states, the bride wearing a traveling costume of blue georgette.

Mrs. Pitkin was graduated from the public school at the high school here and has been a teacher in the Eighth District for the past five years. The bridegroom is a war veteran, serving overseas in the Engineer Corps. He is now affiliated with the Norfolk Lumber Company, Norwalk, Conn.

THE BOOK OF KNOWLEDGE:

(382) Our Presidents Sketches by Bessey; Synopsis by Braucher

During the first twenty-five years of our government, New England threatened to leave the Union several times. During Madison's administration, in 1814, a number of leaders met in Hartford and advocated dissolving of the Union. They were opposed to the War of 1812 because it stopped profits of shipbuilding and trading.

Ernest Williams of Maplewood, N. J., was a guest of his parents, J. M. and Mrs. Williams over the week end. He was accompanied by his niece, Miss Mabel Williams.

This was a farewell visit for Ernest, as he will sail Saturday on the S. S. American Legion. Munson Line, for Buenos Aires, Argentina, where his brother, R. C. Williams, is located, as executive assistant of the Regional Director of Exports of the General Motors Company in South America. The first stop of the steamship after leaving New York will be Rio de Janeiro, fourteen days out. Although Ernest has leave of absence for two months from the Bell Telephone Laboratories, New York, he will have but a few days to spend with his brother as the sail of 6,000 miles between New York and Buenos Aires requires nineteen days each way.

Ernest intends to visit Trinidad, and Barbados on the return trip, arriving in New York, about Nov. 1.

My wife, Mrs. Arnold Nora Reinartz, having left my bed and board, I will not be responsible for any bills contracted by her, on and after this date.

(Signed) Arnold Reinartz, Sept. 4th, 1928.

Madison proved himself one of the ablest and best men who served as president. During his two terms the War of 1812 was successfully fought, a new Bank of the United States was chartered, the New England discontent was diplomatically adjusted and the new America began to have more confidence in itself. A great stream of settlers began pouring westward.

NEW MEIGHAN PICTURE

PLAYS AT STATE TODAY

Success of Star Repeated in "The Mating Call."

Thomas Meighan offers once again, this time in "The Mating Call," one of the most entertaining pictures of the season. "The Mating Call" opened today at the State theatre.

Unlike his last film, "The Racket," in which he made a nationwide hit, "The Mating Call" packs a powerful heart-punch. It has all the elements of suspense and thrills which "The Racket," carried, possessing in addition an abundance of love-interest which stamps it as another Meighan bell-ringer.

In "The Mating Call," which was produced by The Caddo Company and is based on the popular novel by Rex Becht, Meighan is presented in a virile romantic impersonation. He is supported by two leading women, Evelyn Brent and Renee Adoree.

Miss Brent is lovely as the blase and fashionable society girl. She wears a dazzling array of gowns and negligee which must delight the feminine patrons. Miss Adoree is a comely Russian immigrant girl and she gives one of the best performances in her screen experience.

There are many "big moments" in this latest Meighan production. The climatic sequence is a daring reproduction of the night-raiding activities of a band of hooded terrorists.

Also a comedy and novelty reel will be shown. And tonight is Merchants and State Theater Gift night. Don't forget that!

SCHOOL DAYS ARE HERE!

It's time to start thinking about CLASS ROOMS again—especially if you want to par today's job. Par is six and one solution on another page.

Word search grid with words like CLASS, ROOMS, and THE RULES.

THE RULES

- 1-The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to KEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, KEN, HEN.

"The happiest homes," says a philosopher, "are those in which the husband wipes the dishes after dinner." Less happy homes are those in which the husband washes and wipes the dishes after dinner.

We believe it is fairly safe to estimate that fully 85% of the happy families eat breakfast in the kitchen.

SENSE and NONSENSE

The old lady came out of a half doze as the train approached a station. "Where are we, Bobby?" she asked. "I don't know, Grandma." "But didn't the conductor call out something just now?" "No, grandma; he just stuck his head inside the door and sneezed."

Abe was troubled with a pain in his foot and upon the advice of his son he saw a dentist and had his teeth extracted. The pain continued and his son then insisted that he see a doctor and have his tonsils taken out. The doctor advised that this be done. A few weeks later the son returned to the city from a business trip and greeted his dad with "How's the foot, father?" "Oh its fine! Would you believe it, just yesterday I found a nail in my shoe!"

Tourist (in park, looking at boulder) "And just where did you say the rock came from?" Guide: "A glacier brought it down."

Tourist: "Where did the glacier go?" Guide: "Oh, it went back after another rock."

Our idea of the latest "meanest man" is the guy who swiped the parachute of an aviator to sell to the mourners at the flyer's funeral. It sometimes seems to us as some attach too much importance to mere outward appearances and we have known some very beautiful souls that had dandruff.

"Anything besides collars, shirts and handkerchiefs, sir? How about some pajamas?" "I ain't no social worker, young feller, I don't join any big parades; when night comes, I go to bed."

She was only a poultryman's daughter, but I learned about chickens from her.

"Poor man!" ejaculated the prison visitor. "I wish I could do something to get you out of here." "Well, mum," suggested the convict hopefully, "if you wouldn't mind changing clothes wit' me when de guard ain't lookin', I could do de rest."

There are fakers who pretend to teach you how to get what you want but none so brazen as to pretend to teach you how to keep on wanting it after you get it.

Who ever expected to see the day when a man would scold his wife for dropping ashes on his office floor?

"You marry my daughter? Why you couldn't dress her?" "Who wants to dress her?"

Here rest the bones Of Emily Bright;

She put out her left hand And turned to the right, "Well," sighed the job hunter as he surveyed the six foot questionnaire he was handed to fill out, "the trainer certainly expects a lot of applications."

"Hey, there goes Carpy," some one cried. "The balloons are giving him a ride. It seems that he was far too light to hold them to the ground." And this was right. It came to pass that all the balloons were filled with gas. And that's why Carpy floated up and slowly drifted round. Then Carpy shouted, very loud, and motioned to the Tiny crowd. "Hey, someone try to rescue me. I'll soon rise out of sight. Don't stand down there and merely grin. If you are going to help, begin. I cannot stop this air trip, and I'm in an awful plight!"
