Medical Examiner Takes Up Case of Fred Teichert, Injured November 7.

On learning this morning of the death last night at the Manchester Memorial hospital of Fred Teichert of Ocleot street, taken to the hospital on November 7, following an accident on Center street near Edgerton street, Chief of Police Gordon reported the fact to Medical Examiner Tinker, who instructed his deputy, Dr. LeVere Holmes, to investigate the cause of the death. Inquiry was started at once.

Dr. Holmes was at the police station at 9:15 this morning and took the report of the accident made on the day that it occurred, by Chief Gordon and those of various investigations made since, including calls at the hospital in efforts to get further information from the injured man, who was unconscious or semi-conscious most of the time. On Thursday of this week when he last visited him the police chief found Teichert unable to talk at all.

The accident at the time was reported to the prosecuting attorney and the determination of the charge, if any, to be brought against Thomas Graham, driver has awaited the outcome of Teichert's injuries.

According to Chief Gordon's investigation the accident occurred at 9:40 in the morning and resulted in the shooting of Teichert's horse.

The report shows that Teichert, a small market and tobacco farmer, living on Ocleot street, was driving a horse with a light business wagon attached going east on Center street. The Graham car was going west on Center street, coming down the hill.

Teichert tried to cross the road from the north to turn into Edgerton street when he was struck by Graham, who he said, tried to avoid the accident by turning to his left.

The horse, with a broken leg, was found lying about thirty feet from where the crash took place.

Mr. Teichert was taken to Memorial hospital and was found to be badly bruised and suffering from an injury to his head. He did not fully regain consciousness at any time and has been growing weaker each day until his death at 11:30 last night.

Mr. Teichert was 69 years old. He was born in Germany but had been a resident of Manchester for over thirty years. He was at first employed in the silk mills but about twenty years ago bought land on Ocleot street where he built a home and went into the garden trucking business. His wife, who survives him, was in an automobile accident in about the same spot eight years ago. He is also survived by two daughters and a son.

LIKENS MUSIC HISTORY TO MANCHESTER'S MAP

Miss Dorward Gives Interesting Talk to the Cosmopolitan Club.

Cosmopolitan Club members held their regular meeting yesterday afternoon at Center church parlors, with Mrs. L. N. Heebner, hostess.

The speaker of the afternoon was Miss Marion Dorward, supervisor of music in the schools of the Ninth District.

Miss Dorward's talk on the history of music was not only extremely interesting but in the nature of a lecture, she explained its conception. She compared the progress of music through all its developments to the physical layout of Manchester. Beginning with the primitive inspiration to music in the beauties and sounds of nature, she charted the growth of the music as well as the development of musical notation and changes in musical notation and the slow and gradual development of the various forms of musical composition, making the cause of each step and form clear to even the non-technical mind.

The lecture, for such it was in effect, was declared by many of the Cosmopolitan's members to have provided one of the most illuminating sessions that the club has ever held. Tea and a social period followed.

Elizabeth McGill executed a ballet and Marion Rippl burlesqued it. Shadow stunts and representations of famous men were given and the young folks guessed their identity. A history of dancing was given in shadow from the dance of the caveman to the modern "Varsity drag." Games and refreshments were followed by general dancing, with music by Edward J. Moore's orchestra. The committee in charge included Marjorie Behrend, Gertrude Gerard, Lucille Murphey, Charlotte Rubinow, Richard McCormick and Warren Markham.

OBITUARY

FUNERALS

Mrs. Ellen Hayes
The funeral of Mrs. Ellen Hayes was held this morning with prayers at the home, 43 South Main street, and service at St. James' church. The bearers were Raymond, James and Francis Hayes of Hartford, Cornelius Crean of Chicopee and Francis and Edwin Murphy of Manchester, all of them grandchildren. Burial was in Calvary cemetery in Chicopee.

WAPPING

Mrs. Elizabeth (Brennan) Trombley of East Windsor, widow of Joseph Trombley, passed away at her home recently. Her funeral was held at St. Catherine's church, Broad Brook and the burial was in St. Catherine's cemetery.

Mrs. Emma J. Skinner is sick with bronchitis and under the care of Dr. Higgins of Manchester at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frank House, here. She is improving now.

The Wood Memorial Library recently received from an overseas man a copy of the history of the 102nd Field Artillery, a regiment in the Twenty-sixth or Yankee Division in France. The volume is handsomely illustrated and has many maps. It is of particular interest to World War men in South Windsor.

The Federated Workers furnish a chicken pie supper for about thirty young people from South Manchester on Thursday evening at the Wapping school hall.

The director of the Wapping Creamery Association held a meeting at the creamery, Friday afternoon.

The three children of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Frink are confined to their home with severe colds and coughs, and Mrs. Frink has an ulcerated tooth also.

The Christian Endeavor Society will hold their meeting next Sunday evening at 6:30 at the Federated church. The subject will be, "Remember God!" the references are found in Eccl. 12:1, and Psalms, 103:1-5, and the leader will be Raymond Durgin.

At the regular church service at 7 o'clock, the G Clef Glee Club of the Swedish Lutheran church will sing several selections at the Federated church here. About forty young ladies are in the club, which has an enviable reputation for excellent music. This will be Rev. Truman H. Woodward's farewell service in Wapping, before leaving to become pastor of the East Hartford Congregational church. He will preach Sunday evening on "Our Religion in the Days to Be. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

The Samy Springs dance which was given under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. or Blue Triangle club, proved to be a very enjoyable affair. The hall was tastefully decorated for the occasion and a very pleasant evening was enjoyed.

About forty were present at the dedication of the Y. M. C. A. club room, on the Methodist parsonage grounds, last Thursday evening. Among those who spoke words of greeting were, Charles Holman of Manchester, the president; Lawrence Case of Highland Park, a member of the Board of Directors; Elmer T. Thienes, Hartford County "Y" director and Mr. Tomkins, assistant "Y" director in charge of Friendly Indians and Pioneer work.

A news reel and a two reel comedy were furnished and shown by Mr. Case, on his motion picture projector, and lantern slide songs were used several times during the program.

The Pioneers and the Friendly Indians had a brief dedication ceremony under the leadership of Rev. Truman H. Woodward. The subscription is attractively painted in cream and brown. Its equipment includes a built in motion picture screen, a wall black board, a chest set, paracheise board, dominoes, and three checker boards. It will be used weekly by the Friendly Indians, the Pioneers, the Senior Y. M. C. A. and "Y" Sunday school class. Other organizations may secure its use for a nominal sum.

Mrs. Helen Skinner has been ill with bronchitis and under the care of Dr. Higgins of Manchester. She is at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Walter Nevers.

GRANDSTANDS BURNED IN WILLIMANTIC PARK

Willimantic, Conn., Nov. 24.—First unknown origin today destroyed the grandstands at Recreation park, owned by the American Thread Company. Playground equipment donated to the city by the company was stored in the stands and was destroyed also. The loss is estimated at upward of $40,000.

Recreation park is well known to Manchester people as it was at this park that Manchester and Willimantic played baseball and it was in this park, says Hank Goudy, catcher for Willimantic, and Scott pitching for Manchester, that Manchester won the deciding game in the series between these two teams a number of years ago. Over 500 automobiles were driven from Manchester to Willimantic when that game was played.

There was a large playing surface for baseball and grounds for other sports, but the grandstand was not of any great size.

ABOUT TOWN

Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Blish, who left Monday for Florida, driving over the road, are expected to reach their destination tomorrow, according to the visitors and. Mrs. Blish's father, A. W. Hollister, will spend the winter in Florida, but Mr. Blish expects to return in a short time as does Mrs. Blish.

Mrs. Jessie Smith, who recently moved from Main street to Horan street where she opened a maternity hospital, is still confined to her bed at her home under the care of her cousin, Miss Anna Raymond of Waterbury, a trained nurse. Mrs. Smith was shopping in a market when a meat cleaver fell from the block and struck her, cutting an artery in her foot. A blood clot has formed and a slight operation may be necessary, which will make it several more weeks before she is able to get around.

Mrs. Mary Sullivan of 20 Terryville street is in Memorial hospital with a fractured right leg which she suffered in a fall from a box on which she was standing in the cellar of her home.

Fifty members of the Swedish Lutheran League of Cromwell and Portland furnished the entertainment at the meeting of the Manchester League held in the Swedish Lutheran church last night. Two short sketches were presented in an exceedingly capable piano and vocal numbers were given. A short address was made by Rev. Ephraim Cedar, Portland pastor. Supper was provided by the members of the local League.

Turkeys will be the prizes awarded at the West Side Recreation Center this evening. The turkey prizes will be for first winners and groceries will be given to those finishing second.

S. P. Gilbert who has recently joined The Rogers Paper Mfg. Co.'s organization in an executive capacity, will occupy the new English house on Ocleot Drive, Pine Forest, with his family. This house is easily one of the most attractive houses in Pine Forest or South Manchester. Chas. Ray, the owner of The Rogers Paper Mfg. Co., has taken possession of the attractive Colonial house at Pine Forest, on Center street. At the present time, every house owned by The Pine Forest Realty Co., is occupied, and no new houses will be available until the November and December sale are completed, which will be early in the spring.

Miss Myrtle Fryer of Center street and Miss Gertrude Carrier of Cambridge street motored down to Norwich Thursday to attend the sessions of the State Sunday school convention, to hear Miss Margaret Slattery, widely known lecturer and attended the banquet in the evening. Miss Carrier has charge of primary work at Center Congregational church. Fryer is superintendent of the South Methodist church school and attendee, as a delegate from the Hartford County Council of Religious Education in which she has charge of children's activities.

Fathers and sons in Highland Park will gather this evening at the Community clubhouse for the annual banquet, in charge of the social and entertainment committees. The supper will be served at 7 o'clock and the toastmaster will be Elmer T. Thienes. Robert Purinton will speak for the fathers and Richard Nichols for the sons. George Goss of Hartford and others will speak and special music will be provided. The usual Saturday evening dance will follow.

Mrs. John Wood of Manchester Green won the special prize of a $250 gold piece at the Community club's whist last evening. Mrs. Wood and Alice Wilson were tied for first honors, both had equally high scores for the entire five whists. Cards were cut and the prize went to Mrs. Wood. Miss Wilson received a basket of fine red cards. Mrs. Ned Nelson and John Wood won first prizes, Mrs. H. R. Trotter and Fred Trowbridge, second and George Baldwin and Mrs. Flora McKee consolation. Twelve tables were filled with players and cake, sandwiches and coffee were served. The new series of five card parties under management of the same committee will begin Friday evening, November 30.

A TRAVELLER'S MEMORIES OF A WHOLE WORLD AT PRAYER

The International Sunday School Lesson for November 25 is, "The Prayers of Paul"—Acts 20:36-38; Ephesians 1:15, 16; 3:14-21.

To the traveller who is not a tourist, but a leisurely student of the many-sidened life around the globe, the memories which mean most to him do not with places and things, but with people. The superficial spectator in strange lands remarks only the curious customs and costumes and the unfamiliar sights. But the thoughtful man observes the vast and fundamental human unities, which mortal men share in common. Nothing is more significant to a traveller than the evidence that the whole world prays. Here is a stupendous truth. Beneath and within all faiths, in all lands, the heart of man turns in supplication and in adoration to the Supreme Being. Primitive paganism, and the invocation on way-side cairns, and the rags to sacred trees and tombs; how many myriads of these dumb prayers I have seen all over Asia!

I have watched ten thousand Moslem men praying in concert in the Great Mosque of Damascus, and I have seen the agonized supplication of a homesick ruler in the faces of Jews who were fervently kissing the stones of the foundations of Solomon's Temple, at the Wailing Place in Jerusalem. I have stood for hours, until daylight began to dawn, with the Greek monks at prayer in the Chapel of the Burning Bush on Mt Sinai; and I have worshipped, in sympathetic reverence, with an American Catholic priest who was celebrating mass in the ancient crypt under St. Peter's in Rome. I have watched, with compassionate tenderness, the Hindu pilgrims at Benares, praying before many shrines, and in the sacred Moslem city of Kerbela, off in the desert, I have seen and heard a company of weeping, waiting women commemorating the death of Hussein. At many a shrine in Japan, especially at Ise, I have waited respectfully while eager and devoted pilgrims made their prayers; and in remote Buddhist monasteries I have seen the priests go through their elaborate devotions. In the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, in Jerusalem, I have beheld passionate pilgrims kissing the cold stones in devotion and in supplication; and on the face of an Afghan mullah, in St. Sophia, Constantinople, I have seen written the excess of the agony of contrition and prayer. With countless companies of native Christians in many missions lands, I have fellowshiped in prayer to our common Father and Saviour.

Bringing the Ages
Truly it is true that man is a praying spirit. Humanity is most completely one when on its knees. "Behold, he prayeth!" is the supreme fact about mortal. When one looks over a book of ancient collects, as I have been doing this morning the ages are bridged; time is telescoped, and the human heart is seen to be forever and everywhere one, in its hunger for heaven and for God. "Men ought always to pray, and not to faint."
Our present-day craze for newness and modernity seems pitifully small and stupid when we realize that the deepest aspirations of the universal human heart have been expressed in the Hebrew literature written more than two thousand years ago. What has our automobile-riding, jazz-loving, luxurious-living generation got in common with the lonely barren shepherd life of Syria and Arabia, the herd life of the Caucasus and the Palms, or the most vital and varied moods and experiences of the heart of man more accurately than any literature produced today. When souls kneel or lie prostrate before their Maker, or the trappings of time and place slip away, and they are simply children turning to their Father for the fulfillment of their old and changeless needs.
An Active Life's Secret Springs
Said an oriental teacher, "God quickly faces out of the life that forgets to pray." An old saying puts the same truth on a lower, more material plane, "He who ceases to pray, ceases to prosper." Magazines and books abound in discussions of present problems of religion; yet the one comprehensive problem is how to bring back the reality of God to the overcrowded lives of this generation. If the Church were to turn to pray, the world would find itself at the same time turning to peace and purity and power. The old missionary slogan might well resound, "With prayer, or not at all!" The armies of God can advance only on their knees. Often we bewail our day's lack of great preachers; but a greater shortage is of secret pray-ers. Burning hunger of heart, which seeks satisfaction in the earnestness of prayer, is religion's first need.
When we turn, as the International Uniform Lesson invariably turns us, week by week, to the Bible itself for light on life, we find that Paul, like his Master, Jesus, was a man of prayer. To him prayer was more of a reality than the mobs or judges or storms or adventures of labor that he encountered. For an explanation of the Paul prayed in adversity; every one does that. "My God!" is the instinctive cry of even the irreligious in a moment of calamity. But Paul also prayed rejoicingly. To read only his prayers of thankfulness, one might suppose that his life was a bed of roses; a thing of tranquillity, with never a wish denied. The darker his days—the brighter his praise. The Golden Text of this Lesson is significant of his mood: to the Christians at Thessalonica he sandwiched one exhortation to pray in between two pleas for praise: "Rejoice always; pray without ceasing; in everything give thanks"; it was this triumphant, joyful prayer-life that kept Paul's spirit serene in dungeon, danger, storm and strife. His heart's attitude was perpetually directed Godward; for, as the hymn says,

"Prayer is the soul's sincere desire,
Uttered or unexpressed."
This saint of the soul is perpetual prayer, though it be unconscious. "Even silence itself has its prayers; and its language," says the Italian proverb. So "Laborare est orare." "To labor is to pray." Pauline prayer was not merely a stated "saying his prayers"—though statedness is essential to a real prayer life—but it was an all-permeating spirit of prayer. He fulfilled the poet's exhortation to "Work, as though work alone thy
But pray to God as though all work were vain."

EDITORIAL EXPERIMENT

The Boston Traveler, afternoon little sister of the Boston Herald, has just tried out to a conclusion an experiment about which plenty of newspapers have had occasional thoughts but which few have ever had the courage to make—the abandonment of editorial comment.

There was a prompt response from the public in the form of material, and the innovation proved interesting. But immediately a very large number of Traveler readers protested. They missed the daily editorial interpretations of the current news to which they had been accustomed. And they frankly, even strenuously said so.

The result is—that the Traveler has now gone back to the time honored policy of editorial comment on current events. It has gained by the experiment, however, through an accession of a number of volunteer contributors of opinion whose letters it continues to print on the editorial page, supplementary to the writings of its own editorial staff.

In this connection the Manchester Herald is frankly at a loss to account for the infrequency with which the people of this town write, for publication, their opinions on public questions, excepting on those comparatively rare occasions when somebody's ire is aroused over something.

Reasoned, temperate discussion is the lifeblood of civilization. We wish more of our readers would avail themselves of the space freely offered to them in the Open Forum. It would aid in the further development of civic interest and in mutual understanding.

NOT WAR ON MACHINES

We have never felt that the American Federation of Labor was perfect instrument for the betterment of the worker and sometimes have felt that it wasn't always even a fairly intelligent one, but the organization has its merits as well as its demerits and, as led by the late Mr. Gompers and the present Mr. Green, is entitled to credit for a fair amount of common sense. Hence we do not see the advantage, to anyone, in pretending that President Green's utterances in New Orleans, on the subject of labor saving devices was a return to the old war against machinery conducted by the British labor unions three quarters of a century ago.

When Green shouted, rather flamboyantly and altogether unnecessarily, that "The American Federation of Labor will ever permit a human scrap heap to be created in America" he did not, necessarily, declare opposition to improvement in manufacturing methods. We don't believe he meant any such thing. What he did mean, beyond any question, was that the reduction in labor expenditure in the production of a commodity through improved machinery and methods should be made to advert to the benefit of the worker in the way of shorter hours, higher wages and an easier time, all around, instead of operating to bring profits to the employer.

It was quite a grand flourish for Mr. Green to make; but it didn't mean such a lot, after all, because the benefit from increased productivity that he so noisily demands is just what the workers are getting now, and nobody has the remotest idea of trying to take it away from them.

Just the same it is unfair to twist Green's utterances into a war on labor saving machinery. Organized labor is no longer opposed to methods of making production easier. On the contrary it is perhaps unduly anxious to do as little work as possible and hence in a mood to welcome every possible saving of labor. Its present slant has to do entirely with getting as much pay as it can for a minimum of toll.

TOO ACCURATE

What will strike many persons as the most important point advanced in the Vestris hearing before Supervising Inspector Dickenson in New York is the flat contradiction by the Vestris carpenter of the sworn statement by United States steamboat inspectors that when they went over the Vestris the starboard coal door was properly fitted with a rubber gasket. Wohlid, the carpenter, testified that the door had no rubber gasket at all and that he packed it with spun-yarn and white lead, that this caulking came out in the sea way and that he re-caulked it several times.

The ship's carpenter is the person whose business it is to look after such matters as the closing of the coal door. Wohlid's testimony can be accepted as the truth, not only because of the matter being naturally and properly within his knowledge but because the gasket of spun-yarn and grease caulking is the usual thing for making coal doors tight against the sea.

And if the inspectors specifically declared that the door was supplied with a well-fitting rubber gasket when it had no gasket at all until one was caulked in by the carpenter, then the whole report of their inspection explodes, and we begin to get somewhere. As a matter of fact profound suspicion has lain against the testimony of the steamboat inspectors. They found conditions altogether too excellent, their testimony was too meticulous, they were too sure about too many very minor matters. Their whole contribution to the befuddlement of the Vestris' mystery is suggestive of the hint of Lago that "the lady doth protest too much."

THE SEWAGE SYSTEM

The announcement in this issue that the free sewer service enjoyed by householders in the south end for many years is to terminate is one that, naturally, will not be received with very special rejoicing by most property owners. Nevertheless it is a step in line with the determination of Cheney Brothers to abandon gradually the position of foster parent to the entire community, and that determination is, when all is said and done, a laudable one.

Manchester has grown up. It is a well developed American community. And it does not make for the very best of citizenship when a community exists as a paternalistic charge upon the care, the wisdom and the strength of any corporate or private entity, no matter how generous or intelligent an entity it may be.

This town is big enough and sufficiently well-to-do to stand on its own feet. Its people are independent enough in spirit to be entirely willing to dispense with private bounty, be it in the form of schools, entertainment, bread and butter or the use of a sewage system.

It is our belief that the announcement will be received in the same spirit in which an honest debtor receives a bill for goods he has bought. He has had the goods and he expects to pay. We have had the use of this sewage system—and we are not even asked to pay for that, but only to be prepared to pay for its use in the future. Fair enough.

CAN'T CHANGE FACT

Foreseeing that the ratification of the Kellogg-Brand pact may meet with a stumbling block in the form of fear that it would involve recognition of Russia, the Waterbury Republican says: "We have no sympathy with communism, to be sure; but do we disapprove the present Russian government any more strongly than we disapproved of the Czar's government?"

While it is to be suspected that there is a considerable class of Americans who disapprove of communism about a hundred times as bitterly as they disapproved of the Czar's government—who probably never disapproved of carism at all—it is our opinion that the Republican's inquiry is beside the main question.

When did it become the business of the United States to officially approve or disapprove of the character of the government of any country of the Eastern hemisphere? Our concern lies only with whether the regime in power in any country is a de facto government. Our original refusal to recognize the Russian Soviet Union was justified by lack of evidence that a de facto government had been firmly established. That is no longer an element. The Soviet Union is, beyond cavil, the Russian government.

All sincere Christians for many centuries disapproved very heartily of the devil, but they recognized him. What would they have thought of anyone whom they heard saying: "I do not like the devil so there is no devil."

It is very much to be doubted whether the theory that we ought to persist in looking out of the window when the Soviet Union tries to pay us a business call will continue much longer to be held at Washington.

SOME CLASS!

Every newspaper headline writer can hang his diminished head and crawl out into the garden to get worms after beholding the lofty achievement of some dictionary fan on the Hartford Courant who has set a pace that the hardest boiled of them can never hope to equal.

"Court Lachrymal Scene at Filler's Acquittal," wrote the Courant genius, meaning "Everybody Blubbers as Son Killer is Freed." Hall, champion of Connecticut newspaper erudition and class! No more can the Boston Transcript lay claim to all the high-brow scholarship and exquisite taste in New England journalism. You put some crimp in the Hub blokes, fellah!

IN NEW YORK

New York, Nov. 24.—This is, if you don't mind, the success story of a flea.

But for the grace of Professor Heckler, the flea trainer, La Castilina might have perished on a lady's stocking from a single blow of a delicate palm. But for the patience of Professor Heckler, the flea trainer, La Castilina might now be a mere member of his flea ensemble, instead of the stellar attraction she happens to be. It is just possible that La Castilina possesses that subtle something denied to most fleas. She may have possessed a hidden talent for what they are pleased to call "the terpsichorean art."

At any rate there is no attraction on Broadway attracting so many quarters as La Castilina. No slange bright star has more avid fans.

La Castilina is one might say, mistress of the ballet at the "flea circus" in Hubert's museum. She is, if she happens to be a she, a Spanish dancer who Spanish dances as only a flea can Spanish dance. And how a flea can Spanish dance is nobody's business!

All of the fleas are in San Francisco, still and notwithstanding, Professor Heckler is firm—La Castilina is a Spanish flea—and none other. He will tell you that he found her in an inn that was somewhat less than humdrum. Had it been otherwise there would have been no fleas there—and La Castilina would never have had her chance.

Professor Heckler will not admit, as will so many other Broadway producers, that he immediately recognized latent talent. Ask George White, ask Flo Ziegfeld, ask Earl Carroll—and they'll all admit, unblushingly, that they have seen talent where all others were blind. With Professor Heckler it was different. This was, so far as he was concerned, just another flea. But another flea to flea trainer is always a potentiality. And he had still to learn what latent talents may be found in a Spanish flea. So La Castilina came to Broadway!

There she found, already, incased in their glass arena, such products of the San Francisco dunes as Red Grange, who kicks a microscopic football; Henry, who juggles something that might be dust grains; Marcus, the charlatan, and Waterloo, who shoots a midge cannon. The show had long needed sex appeal. And this, if you believe the professor, she provided.

It was not long before La Castilina was queen of her own parterre; she was, the ballerina of fleas; the box office attraction of Hubert's museum. Today her name looms in bright lights and her more-or-less photograph adorns the advertisements. La Castilina is a hit!

Health and Diet Advice

Dr. McCoy will gladly answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him, care of The Herald. Enclose stamped, addressed, large envelope for reply.

ATHLETES LIVE LONGER

A short time ago some medical articles appeared which attempted to show that the use of athletics would shorten life. A few instances were cited as a proof of the assertion. While many people were probably misled by these articles, a few earnest investigators took the trouble of compiling statistics, not of special cases, but of large numbers of average cases. By taking the average age at death of the athletes who graduated from several of the larger colleges, they discovered a longer average length of life than that of the average insured person. When we consider that insurance companies do not accept people who are suffering from any serious disease, these figures are even more important.

The death rate of football men at the age of sixty was only 21.5 per thousand, while the average insured was 25.2 per thousand. The least number of deaths occurred among those classes of athletes who used exercises that are repeated a great many times. The best exercise appears to be roadwork, since the track men or runners had a death rate of 15.1 per thousand, and at the age of sixty compared with the average insured man's rate of 26.2.

When one thinks of physical culture exercises, the usual picture brought to mind is of an athlete with bulging muscles engaged in some feat of strength. Outside of a few professional strong men, it is generally recognized that large muscles are not as important as endurance. This is especially true for one seeking health. Longevity depends upon the acquisition of the ability of sustained effort.

Of special importance to the health seeker is the development of strong and internal organs in position, and strong spinal muscles for the support of the head, neck and vertebrae in their proper relation. It matters little from what disorder you are suffering, a training and strengthening of your muscles will help you in overcoming disease and assist your materiality in promoting health. Physical exercise also assists in attaining a wholesome appearance, and who is not desirous of a comeliness of face and symmetry of form?

I believe that everyone should endeavor to become interested in systematic exercises. Only systematic exercises can build vigor and vitality. An hour a day given over to physical exercises will add many years to one's life and bring in daily returns of health and endurance. One of the best forms of exercise is hiking or walking. Those who are not accustomed to long walks will do well to start with a fifteen minute walk a day and gradually increase the time and distance each succeeding day. If you seem to get run down, a daily walk and exercising regime will build up your strength in a short time.

I have prepared a short series of standing and lying down exercises in chart form which I will be pleased to send to any of my readers who are interested if they will write to me in care of this newspaper and enclose a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Petit Mal Question: Mother writes: "My 12-year-old daughter is very forgetful. I have noticed her start to do things and would forget what she was going to do, sometimes standing in a blank condition for a few seconds with her eyes staring. On one occasion she stood partly stooped putting something to the floor, until she came to her senses again. Upon questioning her she said she didn't even know where she was. Also, she does not seem to comprehend reality. She is overweight, but her flesh is solid."

Answer: Your child is undoubtedly suffering from a mild form of epilepsy which is called Petit Mal. My opinion is that this condition is definitely brought about through excessive toxic poisoning from the colon. In most cases the colon will be found in a paralyzed and kinked condition. Suitable dietetic treatment with manipulative treatment to the abdomen will usually bring about a complete cure.

Malarial Treatment Question: M. K. writes: "I read in the paper this morning about malaria treatment for typhus. Do you think it is a dangerous treatment?"

Answer: The malarial treatment for different diseases has been used with indifferent success in various hospitals and clinics in this country and Europe. Some good results have been reported in the treatment of various forms of paralysis and in cases of paresis. The treatment is given by injecting malarial serum into the patient which brings about a violent reaction, including fever and rigors, followed by death. If the patient recovers from the treatment it is often found that the system has succeeded in throwing out both malarial infection and other toxins, and in this case the patient's condition is improved. It seems foolish to attempt to get these results in such a round-about way when fasting, dieting, enemas and exercise will do far a oars in the expulsion of toxic wastes with no danger of making the patient worse.

An electric power-shovel with a dipper that will gouge out nearly 24 tons of earth in one bite is to be used in the open pit mining of coal in Illinois.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER.

Washington—It is a common theory that the converts of Socialism in America are confined to a relatively small group of intellectuals and a larger group of rank and file workers situated principally in the larger centers of population. Apparently this conception is far from the truth. Apparently the Socialists of the nation are really the most powerful political group of all. Apparently the size of the Socialist vote is no indication whatever of the real strength of Socialism in this country.

Apparently, that is, if one takes the precious word of the estimable and eminent Samuel O. Dunn, editor of the Railway Age. If what Mr. Dunn says in the article in the last issue of the Nation's Business may be depended upon, then Mr. Dunn has made the biggest political scoop in history and was poor Washington correspondents are all left soundly sleeping at the post.

Mr. Dunn says that the business men are really the practical Socialists of the nation. The others—that is, those who openly confess Socialism by voting for its candidates for office—are only what Mr. Dunn calls the "theoretical Socialists" and are so few as not to count. It's the practical Socialists, says he, who are the dangerous ones.

It is hard at first to tell whether the distinguished editor is trying to establish himself as the superbabbit of all time or merely to have a little fun with other conservative business men. However, he quotes Mr. Rodney A. Eward, a Kansas farmer, as follows: "Paternalistic schemes of government are agitated, not at farmers' meetings, but in business men's organizations. I have heard more Socialism preached at meetings of commercial bodies than in Socialist gatherings."

Mr. Dunn says he has come to the same conclusion and proceeds to develop it. Business men, says he, are responsible for practically every increase in taxes and for nearly every form of government interference with business. Far more so, he explains with snug satisfaction, because: "Business men are the most influential class in the country. They never had so much influence in any other country as they have here, and never so much influence here as they have now. Most politicians do not disregard what business men want."

Hence, says the Honorable Mr. Dunn, business men are always asking politicians for something, and nearly always getting it. Few business men, he holds, are not now engaged in effectively promoting governmental action of one kind or another in violation of the principle of non-intervention and non-competition with business the business man, it is the Honorable Mr. Dunn's sad duty to relate, is all too willing to favor government expenditure of taxpayers' money in his own community or territory and to favor a form of government interference in other business which he would oppose if applied to his own.

Mr. Dunn, the high priest of conservatism, finally winds up right in his own field. It turns out that what is really biting him is that the United States government, through the Inland Waterways Corporation, is operating a large service on the Mississippi River system. Business men have been so enthusiastic over this that Congress was persuaded at its last session to treble the corporation's capital in order that it might correspondingly increase its service.

And these brave lines, Mr. Dunn insists with an angry glance at the nation's powerful array of "practical Socialists," are competing with the railroads. In other words, business men and politicians are co-operating to tread on the toes of High Priest, Dunn and his friends.

FUR BECOMING SCARCER AROUND HUDSON BAY PIONEER TRADER SAYS

The Pas, Man.—Fur is becoming scarcer and scarcer around Hudson Bay. The old-time trapper ground of trappers, according to Luke Clemmens, pioneer trader of Port Nelson, and transportation king of the north.

Luke, who claims to be a nephew of Mark Twain, the famous writer, came to this frontier town a few days ago on one of his periodic business trips.

White fox is disappearing at a rapid rate, he declares, while caribou are now rare in the area south of Port Churchill. Ten years ago caribou were plentiful and they were killed for dog meat.

Canadian lawyers say they are surprised by the latitude given the press in court matters in this country. Perhaps the Canadian editors aren't much given to the use of the word "alleged."

DIVERS FAIL TO FIND $2,000,000 IN DIAMONDS ON SHIP SUNK IN WAR

Nantes.—Two million dollars worth of diamonds which were thought to be in the captain's cabin of the Belgian liner "Elisabethville" when it was torpedoed by a German submarine eleven years ago, cannot be found. Early in August, divers from the Italian salvage steamer, "Artiglio," after very great efforts, managed to bring the liner's safe to the surface of the water, but it was found to contain only documents. The diamond treasures were apparently placed elsewhere by the captain who went down with his ship. The divers have abandoned the search for the moment, after recovering a large quantity of valuable ivory from the wreck.

MUNICH'S TAXI RATES NOW MUCH CHEAPER

Munich.—By doing away with the distinction between "large" and "small" taxis, Munich has made this mode of travel still cheaper. The first mile now costs about 25 cents, and each additional mile 15 cents. The corresponding night prices—after midnight—are rounded 35 and 30 cents.

Interesting Interviews With Local Folks

Talks with Manchester Business and Professional Men and Women—Intimate Word Pictures of Persons You See Day After Day.

This is just the kind of a story to read these chilly nights.

LELAND T. WOOD

tells about ice that's very cold and ice that is not cold at all.

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the sixteenth of a series of new local Saturday features, a different one appearing each week. As will be noted, the person interviewed this week is off the main thoroughfares. An attempt will be made for the next few weeks to visit business and professional men and women not on Main street.

WHEN the summer's sun makes the pavements radiate with heat and the mercury boils dangerously near the top of the glass, who in town has not welcomed the flaming red wagons that bring relief in the shape of cooling cakes of ice? And who in town does not know the well known LT. Wood?

Curious thing about the first part of that name and more curious still the explanation of the explanation.

Said a sign painter busily engaged in lettering the trucks one spring day:

"You notice how I have put those first two initials together? It is a case of necessity. There are not enough panels to get in the name so I place the first two initials together so that the public reads the name 'Lieutenant Wood.' It really stands for Leland T. Wood."

More Explanations. "Well," said Mr. Wood this week in the soft drawl that is characteristic of his mode of speech, "I've heard about that often. Still it is not a misstatement for during the World War I just happened to be a 'looney.' But of course I never meant to advertise the fact. The sign painter told the truth when he said there were not panels enough to get the letters on the trucks."

Mr. Wood was found at his place of business on Bissell street, supervising a gang of men who were sawing lumber to make ready the big ice houses that are used to store Manchester's ice supply. The business is far larger than the ordinary citizen realizes for in the summer Mr. Wood keeps fifty men busy and during the harvesting season many more. In ordinary times twenty men are kept on the payroll.

Keeps 10 Horses. Seven auto trucks and fifteen horses are used to scurry about the streets of the town during summer days. One could hardly call the men day workers as they start on their tasks at two and three o'clock in the morning before the real heat of the day begins.

Since the number of horses surprised the reporter, Mr. Wood was asked why he stuck to the old-fashioned horse drawn vehicles.

"It's not a matter of sentiment," he said, "it is a business. These horses know the routes. While the men are delivering ice the horses walk slowly from house to house and in this way the work is really expedited. It could not be done as quickly by starting and stopping motors. We tried out both systems and the horses work better."

HOW TOWN IS SUPPLIED WITH ICE

IN talking about his method of supplying the town with ice, Mr. Wood said the smaller wagons never come to headquarters. They keep delivering all day in their various areas. As soon as their supply gives out they telephone in to the office and a fast auto truck supplies them with a new load.

The ice harvest last winter was a poor one, it was explained. There was but a half crop but the local dealer has hopes that this winter will be more normal. He has been out of ice since August 10th and has been buying ice ever since to supply the demand.

Four Ice Houses. There are four ponds that supply Manchester with ice. They are Folly Brook which gives the Wood company its name, Globe Hollow, Salter's Pond at Lyndville and the so-called Lake Hubbard at Bolton Notch. Houses are maintained at each of these places with the following capacity in tons: Globe Hollow, 8,000; Folly Brook, 1,500; Lyndville, 1,500 and Bolton Notch 2,500. Then some 500 tons are stored outside the houses for immediate use which makes Manchester consume some 12,000 tons of ice each year.

With these statistics disposed of, Mr. Wood was induced to tell a little about himself. He said he came to Manchester in February 1916 so he has been a local resident for about 12 years. And here is something new at all known to his friends, it was dropped accidentally, in the course of the conversation. Said "Mr. Wood:

College Graduate

"When I left Sheffield and then stopped. It meant, as was later learned, that the local ice dealer was graduated from the Sheffield Scientific School at Yale. When asked about it he laughed as he said:

"They gave me a degree but I'm blessed if I ever could find it after I brought it home." Mr. Wood came here from Chester, this state, and bought out the ice business owned by Carl Seaman. Mr. Wood's father was in the ice business before him so it came natural to him to engage in the same business in this town.

"The business just grew with the town" is the way he explained its growth. Asked if the modern electric refrigerators were hurting the natural ice business he answered:

"It is queer, but they have not. I remember when they first were put on the market we were scared to death. It was predicted that we'd be out of business within ten years. My trade paper tells me that throughout the country the machines have cut into the natural ice only about five per cent. It's the same here. People want natural ice and, do you know why? Natural ice is colder."

Surprising Fact. "It may surprise many to know that ice is not ice just because it is water that freezes when the temperature drops to 32 degrees. The faster ice melts the colder it is. That is why they use salt to make ice cream freeze. Natural ice has air bubbles in it and causes it to melt faster. If anyone could invent those air bubbles the natural ice business would be hard hit. I believe, but they've been trying to do it for years and have not yet succeeded so I guess we are safe for a while yet."

JACK HOLT AT THE CIRCLE TODAY

Is Starred in "Avalanche," a Zane Grey Story—Pola Negri in Co-Feature.

Another Zane Grey story, featuring Jack Holt, is scheduled to open to a smashing success at the Circle Theater today. "Avalanche" is its title, and it has been booked for a special two days engagement. "Avalanche" is a story of the early days of the West, when Indians roamed the prairie in the efforts to destroy the white man.

Holt is given able support by Doris Hill and Baclanova, two famous screen beauties, in addition to such stars as Buck Connors, Duke R. Lee and Clarke Comstock. "The Loves of an Actress," Pola Negri's latest Paramount picture, is the companion feature at the Circle for today and Sunday. Tense dramatic moments and beautiful love interest are the sequences in this startling drama of an actress who toys with men's hearts, only to find that she has made the big mistake of her life.

The Circle Short Subjects include the current chapter of "The Haunted Island" and a novelty reel. Free checking of bundles is in vogue during the Saturday night shopping periods.

PORTER ST. SCHOOL TOTS IN PROGRAM

Tiny tots from 4 to 5 1/2 years of age from the Kindergarten department furnished a pleasing program at the Porter street school assembly yesterday.

Six little girls executed a clog dance and one of them who was dressed in Puritan costume recited a little poem. The most ambitious number on the program was a dramatization of Little Black Sambo, the children appropriately dressed for their parts.

Miss Kathryn Bosson, kindergarten teacher of the school, and Miss Myrtle Fryer, supervisor, took turns in playing the piano accompaniments.

VICTIMS OF SOUTHERN CRASH IMPROVING

Friends in town have received a letter from Frederick H. Jones of Woodbridge street, stating that Mrs. Jones who is in the general hospital in Sanford, North Carolina, following an automobile accident is now making good progress toward recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones left Manchester by automobile on November 7, the day after election, with Northern Pines as their destination. While on a visit to their daughter, a student at the North Carolina College for women at Greensboro, 80 miles from Northern Pines, they were sidetracked by another automobile and their car, a Durant purchased last summer by Miss Jones, was turned over and wrecked. Mrs. Jones suffered a fractured shoulder and other wounds and Mr. Jones minor injuries. As soon as he was able to do so last week he acquainted friends here of the accident at Sanford.

ABOUT TOWN

GILBERT SCORES IN SUPERB ROLE

Star Seen in Best Screen Romance Since "The Big Parade."

John Gilbert hopes that the motion picture public will remember him as an artist of characterization rather than as a screen lover. In his new starring picture, however, "The Masks of the Devil," a Metro-Goldwyn Production which comes Sunday to the State Theater for a two day engagement, Gilbert excels in both types of role, the love scenes are as intense as the famous ones of "Flesh and the Devil," while in his characterization of the conscienceless scientist who comes to see in his own features the lineaments of the devil, Gilbert does the best work of his career.

He plays the role of a young Viennese aristocrat who dissects souls with as much ease as though they were chemicals. All his leisure hours are spent in a series of passionate love affairs. Finally he meets the one woman he wants that he cannot have. Through suffering and sacrifice his own soul is born.

The picture serves also to announce the return of Theodore Roberts to the screen and to introduce Eva Von Berne, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's newest screen find. Victor Seastrom directs, while the cast includes Ralph Forbes, Alma Rubens and Frank Reicher. Frances Marion adapted the scenario from Jakob Wassermann's novel.

On the same program the State Theater will present the latest Paramount comedy, "Goofy Ghosts" also the Spot Light of The World M. G. M. News.

A Roll Call of Misery A Roll Call of Mercy

Tragedy stalked in the wake of the West Indies Hurricane, writing in terms of terror, this fearful roll call....

The Outstanding Chevrolet of Chevrolet History

- a Six in the price range of the four!

The Chevrolet Motor Company announces The Outstanding Chevrolet of Chevrolet History... a Six in the price range of the four!

Spectacular as Chevrolet's achievements have been in the past... notable as its engineering triumphs have proved themselves to be—this remarkable new car dwarfs every previous Chevrolet accomplishment. Not only does it introduce into the low-priced field an entirely new measure of performance, comfort, beauty and style—but it is sold at prices so low as to alter every previous conception of motor car value.

The new six-cylinder valve-in-head engine—developed from more than a hundred motors designed especially for this sensational car—stands out as an engineering masterpiece. With a power increase of approximately 32% over the previous Chevrolet motor, with sensationally greater speed and faster acceleration—it offers a type of performance that is literally astounding... even to those who have been driving cars costing hundreds of dollars more.

Throughout the entire speed range, it performs with a smoothness and quietness of operation that have never before been approached in a low-priced automobile. At the slower speeds of city traffic it idles along with wonderful silence and ease. On boulevards and country roads it responds with an eagerness that is a constant delight. It takes the longest and steepest hills with an abundant reserve of power that is a source of pride to the driver. And its economy of operation averages better than 20 miles to the gallon of gasoline!

This revolutionary performance has been achieved as a result of the greatest array of engineering advancements that Chevrolet has ever announced. A high compression, non-detonating cylinder head... a new heavier crankshaft, statically and dynamically balanced... automatic lubrication of the entire rocker arm mechanism... semi-automatic spark control... hot-spot manifold... gasoline pump and filter... new and larger carburetor, with automatic acceleration pump and improved venturi choke... fabric camshaft gear... heavier driving gears... improved crankcase breathing system... improved lubrication... new 4-wheel brakes that are powerful, safe and quiet under all conditions—these indicate the importance of a group of engineering advancements that embrace every major unit of the entire chassis.

In appearance, this Outstanding Chevrolet is destined to become an automotive sensation—so smart, so stylish and so distinctively appointed that it rivals the costliest custom creations. The new Fisher bodies are longer, lower and roomier with adjustable driver's seat in all closed models—and reveal the matchless artistry of Fisher designers. With their modish new colors, their smart dual mouldings and their distinctive concave pillars, they achieve a degree of original beauty that has seldom been equalled in motor car design.

You are cordially invited to visit our showroom and secure complete and detailed information on this sensational new car which will be ready for delivery beginning January 1st.

CLOVERLEAVES EXPECT TO EVEN SERIES Butkus-White Combination Too Much For Locals

NAUGATUCK DRUBS MANCHESTER, 46 TO 0

M. H. S. Outclassed in One-Sided Game; Naugy Better Than Warren Harding; Season Ended Here; Success Despite Defeat.

By TOM STOWE

Whatever visions Manchester High had of laying claim to the state football championship yesterday are but a faded dream today. Naugatuck's powerful machine, which hasn't lost a game in eight starts, completely annihilated the local schoolboys yesterday afternoon at the West Side playgrounds by the overwhelming margin of 46 to 0. Naugatuck thoroughly outplayed Manchester in every department of the game, there being no comparison whatsoever between the ability of the two teams.

Naugatuck had possession of the ball nine times and on seven occasions made long marches which each time ended in a touchdown. Only once did Manchester hold Naugatuck on downs. The other time was the end of the game when Naugatuck was in the midst of another touchdown parade despite the presence of a generous sprinkling of substitutes in its lineup.

Manchester has no ally to offer for the lazing it took. Even the presence of Ernie Dowd, star quarterback who was out with injuries would have made little or no difference. Naugatuck's powerful backfield ripped the heavy Manchester line to shreds and its highly-touted aerial game came up to expectations and then some. Naugatuck exhibited the prettiest passing attack in the history of schoolboy eleven ever flashed in the Silk City.

All Right in Class While the local team did not put up the showing expected of it, seeming to lose all heart after Naugy's first two touchdowns in the opening quarter, Naugatuck deserves more credit than that. Other than the brilliant Gardner and Grey championship which is coached by the veteran Peter J. Foley, Warren Harding High of Bridgeport is understood to claim the title, but in this writer's opinion, at least, there is no question as to which is the better team. The Presidents beat Manchester on their own grid 24 to 6 in a downpour of rain and truthfully were not a bit more than two touchdowns better. Naugatuck walloped Manchester on its own field and deserved every one of the seven touchdowns it registered.

Butkus to Carroll The great Naugatuck team is built about two of the best school boy players seen in this part of the state in many years. They are Captain Eddie Butkus, their quarterback, and Johnny White, their brilliant fullback. Both are triple threat men of the highest class. The exhibition they gave yesterday was decidedly impressive, not to mention spectacular and thrilling. It was the "Butkus to White" combination that spelled doom for Manchester soon after the game had commenced. White crossed Manchester's goal line no less than four times yesterday. Butkus, Hobbs and Carroll were the other visitors to perform the trick.

21-5 in First An idea of how badly Manchester was outclassed may be seen from the statistics which reveal that Naugatuck made 21 first downs compared to five for Manchester. Butkus tossed 13 forward passes into the ozone and seven of them fell safely into the hands of a Gardner and Grey class warrior. Manchester completed two out of seven. Naugatuck was penalized five times for a total of 45 yards while Manchester's lone violation cost 15 yards. Naugatuck scored in every period, making two touchdowns in each of the first three and one in the final.

Manchester's only rally came in the closing minutes of the fourth period when two first downs were recorded in succession, but the Naugy boys soon put a stop to this business. The first score of the game came soon after play started. Following a kick to midfield, Naugatuck marched straight over the Manchester goal, White circling right and for a ten yard gain which placed the ball on the three for

Score by periods: Naugatuck 12 13 14 7-46

Substitutions for Naugatuck: Garland for Striewski, Nauges for Daly, Sambrowski for Nauges, Squires for Sambrowski, Wolson for Squires, Goggin for Anderson, Kennedy for Goggin, Garrick for Stapleton, Goodwin for Garrick, Bersley for Goodwin, Scally for Triano, Hermonat for Scully, Hobbs for Rozint, Brosnan for Hobbs, Evans for Brosnan, Scally for White, Soderlosky.

Substitutions for Manchester: W. Davis for Healey, Lesser for Spencer, Pottarion for Robinson, McCluskey for Mercer, George for Johnston, Taylor for Cheney, H. Moriarty for Luplen, Johnson for Happeny, Nicola for Johnson, Happeny for Treat.

Touchdowns: White 4, Butkus, Carroll, Hobbs. Points after touchdown: Butkus 2 (one by placekick and other by drop-kick), White (by placekick), Hobbs (by rush on fake kick). Referee: E. W. French, Meriden. Umpire: Wilfred Hall, Meriden. Head-linesman: Johnny McGrath, East Hartford. Time of periods: 12-10-12-10.

Butkus to take over. White's drop-kick for the extra point went wide. A twenty yard runback of a punt and Butkus to White forward pass which was good for 30 yards, netted the next score and Butkus place-kicked the point that brought the score to 13-0 at the end of the first period. Nicola went in at quarter for Manchester and immediately hurled a pass to Johnson for a first down and a moment later when Luplen punted, Squatrito fell on the ball when Butkus fumbled in being tackled hard. Another first down followed but Manchester again punted.

Carroll's milt forward pass by inches that have been a sure touchdown. Butkus passed to White for 35 yards and duplicated the stunt for another score, from the twenty yard line. Butkus missed the point. Luplen had two punts and another one on the third down and another on the fourth, both by Bieracki and then White circled right end for 20 yards and another score. This ended the scoring the first half.

The second half was a repetition of the first. After Manchester had failed to punt, Naugatuck marched sixty yards for another score, negotiating the distance by long gains through the line and timely, well-placed forwards. Butkus made the score and Hobbs the extra point on a line plunge. A fake kick formation. A fifty yard pass from White to Stapleton on a lateral pass brought Naugatuck to the ten yard line again and White scooted around the end for the score and then missed the extra point. The last touchdown followed a long punt runback to the twenty yard line from where White again skirted end for 20 yards and a score. Butkus ended the scoring with a drop-kick for the extra point.

Should Be Remembered. While it is true that one can't heap more glory on a team that is defeated to the extent Manchester was yesterday, the fact should be borne in mind that Naugatuck has been turning out football teams for many years while this is the fifth year Manchester's O. C. has had a team. Some of the fathers of the Naugatuck players used to play on Naugatuck High school grid eleven. Coach Foley has 44 players on his squad—four full teams—while Coach Kelley is doing well if he scrapes two teams together.

There is no getting around the fact that Manchester's season has been a big success, regardless of the outcome of the Warren Harding and Naugatuck games which simply served to totally eliminate it from any possible state title recognition. Winning the O. C. L. title in straight victories and defeating Windham High were features of Manchester's successful season. Coach Tom Kelley and the members of the team are to be congratulated regardless of yesterday's outcome.

At San Francisco—Fidel La Barba, former flyweight champion, stopped Ray Raviani, San Francisco, 8. At Buffalo, N. Y.—Johnny Dundee, former featherweight champion, drew with Billy Kidwalk, of Luckawanna, 6.

This Smacks Of Afternoon Grange Humiliated Michigan

Charleston, S. C., Nov. 24.—Shades of Red Grange and that Illinois-Michigan game a few years ago when Grange went on that famous touchdown rampage. In a game more recently between freshmen of Citadel and Presbyterian College, "Red" Whittington, a Citadel back, handed the ball ten times and gained 420 yards, eight of his attempts going for touchdowns. He is from Savannah, Ga.

The first touchdown of the game was the result of a pass and 55-yard run by Whittington. His other nine plays of the game resulted like this: Second, touchdown after 65-yard run from scrimmage. Third, touchdown after 70-yard run from scrimmage. Fourth, touchdown after 30-yard run after catching a pass. Fifth, touchdown after 36-yard run from scrimmage. Sixth, touchdown after 40-yard run after catching a pass. Seventh, touchdown after 50-yard run from scrimmage. Eighth, touchdown after 45-yard run from scrimmage. Ninth, only 15 yards. Tenth, only 15 yards.

YALE AND HARVARD GAME A TOSS UP AS TO WINNER

Anything May Happen When These Traditional Rivals Meet—Expect Attendance of 80,000

By DAVIS J. WALSH

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 24.—Romance hasn't died yet, even in an age gone completely concrete from field box to upper tier, and Harvard and Yale will prove it this afternoon by playing a football game that has lived on through the ages and is romantic itself must acknowledge a tradition as its master. Ghosts of the eighties, when the tall hat and the little-ho were the background of football, will stir uneasily beneath the head stoves; immortals of the past, their noses glued to the gridiron and manny plees, might well stare at the scene with eyes agape; professional old timers may loudly declaim that they are outlanders of their own campus. But they will be wrong. It is the glamor of those bruising days when a knight in his armor might have trod the gridiron without occasioning particular comment, that gave Harvard-Yale football the great thing better teams often lack. Romance, background, tradition, glamor.

Without its great past, the game today would be nothing. With it, the meeting automatically becomes a major matter, a national institution with an appeal that is distinctly its own. Yale, defeated by Army, Maryland and Princeton, is not even a minor contender in its own section. Harvard, having lost to Army and Pennsylvania, is almost equally obscure but America as a nation of romantics and its own. Yale, defeated by Army, Maryland and Princeton, is not even a minor contender in its own section. Harvard, having lost to Army and Pennsylvania, is almost equally obscure but America as a nation of romantics and its own. Yale, defeated by Army, Maryland and Princeton, is not even a minor contender in its own section.

Expect Fierce Battle They figure to witness quite a brannigan, too. Seldom in their long series of meetings has this pair stepped on the field with more uncertainty as to their comparative abilities. Yale would have been a prohibitive favorite a month ago but the blue is down to Harvard's level today and many, indeed, are looking for a Harvard victory.

Otherwise, Yale, a pretty fair football team that never quite got around to proving it, would be the single flare up in the Dartmouth game, Harvard has done nothing with marked success all season. Both are teams that seem to have little idea of what a forward pass defense should do, so it ought to be one of those carefree occasions where anything goes.

One thing that must go is pre-game form. That always can be thrown out with the potato chips any time Yale and Harvard play football.

The probable line-up: Yale Pos. Harvard Walker, lb. O'Connell Martins, lb. Clark Barrett, lb. Green, lb. B. Ticknor Palmer, rg. Trainer Eddy, rt. W. Ticknor McEwen, re. Pickard Hobbs, lb. E. Putnam Hubbard, rb. French Miller, fb. Harpe

At San Francisco—Fidel La Barba, former flyweight champion, stopped Ray Raviani, San Francisco, 8. At Buffalo, N. Y.—Johnny Dundee, former featherweight champion, drew with Billy Kidwalk, of Luckawanna, 6.

At New York—Harry Ebbets, of Freeport, N. Y., won from K. O. Phil Kaplan, New York middleweight, on foul. 4; Arthur De Kuh, Italian heavyweight, knocked out Johnny Wild, of Sweden, 3.

At Halifax, N. S.—Cyclone Jack Humbeck, Belgian heavyweight, drew with Roy Mitchell, of Halifax, 10.

NOUGY'S SLIDES BY HENRY L. BIRRELL

TOUGH, OH, MY YES!

It has been a tough season for those experts who Saturday after Saturday seek to name the football winners. Not a Saturday has passed by but what one or more teams upset the dope bucket.

It is getting tougher and tougher to pick the winners in football, and this situation is not over for the year yet. One has a chance of going wrong five times in five guesses for games to be played Nov. 24. Anyone who comes to the front with the right ones on the Army-Notre Dame, Yale-Harvard, Illinois-Ohio State, California-Stanford and Northwestern-Dartmouth games ought to get a reward of some kind.

Then there are two other games that are going to tax the guessing apparatus of the experts. Those games are the Army-Stanford and Southern California-Notre Dame that follow later.

Big Help to Cause. Notre Dame victory over Army was an indirect boost to the football teams at Wisconsin and Georgia Tech, a reader from Chicago points out in a letter.

He says: "Army has been boosted all the year as the best team in the country and the one deserving of the national honors. If it managed to escape defeat the entire season. "They barely trimmed S. M. U. by a 14-13 score, and Notre Dame, beaten by Wisconsin and Georgia Tech, tripped them. Without going deep into anything but the scores of these games, it seems that the football teams at Georgia Tech and Wisconsin deserve a bit more ranking nationally because of this, especially if they end their seasons without losing any game."

So We're Heard. The fallback of the University of California football team is Charlie Schmidt—remember the name?

A hard-hitting, courageous fighter, this Schmidt is, and that is what one expects of him if they are to be any good. He is the former Detroit catcher, of 20 years ago. He has an uncle, Walter, who caught for Seattle in 1927 and 1928 and also served his time in the majors. Schmidt is said to be one of the best fullbacks California has had in years. Incidentally, he's the catcher for the California baseball team and has shown possibilities of reaching the big leagues some day.

When Do We Meet? Ohio State recently announced its football schedule for the 1929 campaign and for an institution with no coach signed for the season so far, it seems quite an ambitious one. Certainly it is one that will put a new coach, if Dr. Willis doesn't stay, to the test in his first year.

The Buckeyes have one real soft spot. That's the first Saturday in October, and they haven't filled it yet. It may turn out to be another tough game.

The schedule shows games with Iowa, Michigan, Indiana, Pittsburgh, Northwestern, Navy and Illinois on successive Saturdays. That's the kind of a schedule that only the most foolhardy will expect to see completed without a defeat or two stuck in some place.

BOWLING AVERAGES IN HERALD LEAGUE

Billy Wiganoweth of the Manchester Construction Company continues to lead the individual bowling average in The Herald League in the high-tee list including Thursday night's games. It was announced last night by League Secretary Frank Cervini. Tommy Conran is close on his trail. The list follows: G. P. P. Ave. Wiganowski 9 1051 116.7 Conran 9 1040 115.5 F. Anderson 9 1008 112.4 Gloagetti 9 999 111.0 Beletti 9 995 110.5 Canada 9 982 109.1 H. Murphy 9 977 108.5 Sargent 9 968 107.5 Suhle 9 965 107.2 Wilkie 9 961 106.7

There was one mistake in points and one team omitted in the league standings published last night. Here is the correct standing and the games for December 6.

Night Hawks	8	1	11
Sons of Italy	7	2	10
High Park	6	3	7
Man. Green	5	4	7
Bon Ami	4	4	7
Beethoven	4	4	5
Construction	4	4	5
Charter Oaks	4	4	4
West Sides	3	4	4
Center Church	0	0	0

At Murphy's Beethoven vs. Green. At West Sides vs. Construction. Center Church vs. Sons of Italy.

At Farr's High Park vs. Charter Oaks. Bon Ami vs. Night Hawks.

CUBS DETERMINED TO WIN, THUS RETAINING THE TITLE

NAUGATUCK FANS OUTNUMBER THOSE FROM MANCHESTER

They Also Pay Better According to Reports; Over $200 Profit is Realized.

More than 500 persons watched Manchester High and Naugatuck play yesterday afternoon at the West Side field and more than half of that number came from Naugy which doesn't speak any too well for the support Manchester fans gave the local team.

The Naugatuck rooters displayed fine spirit at the game cheering vociferously for their team but giving the local boys a yell occasionally. What's more, the Naugy supporters, almost to the person, bought tickets and according to local officials that is more than many Manchester fans who attended the game can say.

The "gate" yesterday resulted in a profit of more than $200 which is the largest of the season. This despite the handicap of playing on a week day. A Saturday would have drawn much larger but the game could not be arranged for that date.

PRINCETON FAVORITE IN GAME WITH NAVY

Philadelphia, Nov. 24.—Princeton was a slight favorite to defeat Navy today as the two eleven's clashed at Franklin Field in what was the final game of the season for both teams.

The two teams were renewing a rivalry begun in 1892. Since then Princeton has conquered the midshipmen ten times, was defeated in three games and tied in three others.

The Tigers have yet to encounter defeat this season, but were tied by Virginia and Ohio State. Navy, after a wretched start, beat Penn and tied Michigan.

The coaches of both teams announced they would start the eleven's which won the greatest triumphs of the season. The same Navy team that beat Penn was to start today, and the Princeton line-up was to be the same as the one that beat Yale.

Princeton was to rely upon its famed aerial game and two star backs, Witmer and Bennett. Navy had two complete sets of backs all about equal in worth.

Tie Score Gives South End Championship; Cloverleaves Must Win; Money on Champions Reported Scarce; Big Throng Expected; Same Officials; Kick-off Promptly at 2 O'Clock.

By TOM STOWE

ARMY VS. NEBRASKA ON THE GRID TODAY

West Point, N. Y., Nov. 24.—Army and the University of Nebraska inaugurated a new inter-sectional gridiron rivalry here today before a notable assemblage including Vice-President Charles G. Dawes. A capacity crowd of 25,000, the largest ever to witness a football contest on the plains, was expected to be in the stands by game time.

Although Army's otherwise impressive record is marred by its defeat at the hands of Notre Dame, and Nebraska lost prestige when held to a scoreless tie by Pittsburg last Saturday, both teams are still in the running for national honors. The team that wins today has a grade A claim to the mythical title if the undefeated leaders of the sack should fall by the wayside today.

Army has rolled up 202 points while holding its opponents to 50. The eleven's which have felt the kick of the Cadet mule include Southern Methodist, Harvard and Yale. While Nebraska has rolled up but 133 points, only three touchdowns have been scored against the Cornhuskers and their victims include Iowa State, Syracuse, Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma.

The soldiers, with a lighter team, planned to put on a fast overhand attack. Their reserve linemen have been drilled all week and will be available if the bone-crushing attack of the Cornhuskers incapacitates the Cadet's first string fellows.

vincing victory tomorrow. But even if the Cubs only succeed in forcing a deadlock, it will have been admitted that they have the better team of the two. Failure to win one of the two games would serve as sufficient grounds for declaring the Cloverleaves eliminated.

As stated yesterday, it is not expected that there will be any radical changes in the line-ups of either team. It isn't plain to see just how any one team would advantage. There may be a few minor shifts, but nothing to speak about, or else we miss our guess. It does seem probable that the Cloverleaves will not be as successful with their aerial game as they were in the first game because the Cubs will be on the alert this time and will probably intercept a few of them instead of playing volleyball.

If the weather is fair, no doubt the attendance will be even larger than it was last Sunday when 2,377 persons paid $1,338.50 to see the two teams in action. Interest has grown in leaps and bounds since the conclusion of the opening clash which has been replayed a thousand and one times by the members of the "U Club." Play will start promptly at 2 o'clock so that the hilly slope on the western side of the field will not hide Old Sol early enough to cast dark shadows across the gridiron in the final quarter, a period which, incidentally, often decides a game.

SOCCER GAME

The Hartford United and Waterbury soccer teams play at Hamden Park, New Haven tomorrow. The kickoff will be at 2:30 and Andy York will referee.

Waterbury is undefeated this season, while the United, although a little shaky at the start of the season, has been making great progress during the past few weeks. Both teams are having special training this week.

Justin Lathrop of Rockville, taken to the Manchester Memorial hospital early in the week when he was injured by falling off a haymow, has been discharged. His injuries did not prove as serious as at first expected.

That Christmas is fast approaching is indicated in the signs that are now being displayed in the post office to "Start Your Christmas Packages Early."

Manchester probably has as few stock market speculators as any town of its size in the state, yet it has been noticeable in the last week or two that the big bull market in Wall street is becoming a topic of conversation among sidewalk groups, which now are usually talking about the price of stocks when they're not talking about football.

The E. Z. T. C. bridge club met last night at the home of Mrs. Robert Dower of Haynes street. There were ten tables. The affair was given in honor of the first anniversary of the advent of "Pussycats," a Mainecoon, cat into the Dower household. First prize, a plaque, went to Mrs. George Graziadio of 264 North Main street, the second to Mrs. William Anderson; third to Mrs. Robert Dower and the consolation to Mrs. J. Lutz.

American Legion auxiliary members are reminded of the meeting of the Hartford County Association, at the Williams Memorial building, Glastonbury, tomorrow at 3 o'clock.

All members of the Manchester Waller League are urged to attend the rally this evening in Cheney hall under auspices of the Zion Lutheran church. Delegations are expected from several towns in this and other states. The program will consist of addresses by district officers and a play by local and Rockville talent.

Twenty-seven tables were filled with whist players and many came just for the dancing. The winners of the Thanksgiving turkeys were Mrs. Frank Smith of Buckland and Henry Bengston. Only first and consolation prizes were given, and the latter fell to Miss Edna Scranton and Otto Hansen. Mrs. Smith and Mr. Bengston received orders for 10-pound turkeys. The committee on refreshments, Mrs. William Montie, Mrs. Jemima Smith and Mrs. Wallace Palmer served homemade cake, sandwiches and coffee. Frederick Corbett of 95 Cedar street, truck-driver, at Cheney Brothers, is the winner of the ton of Old Company's Lehigh Coal offered by G. E.  "GOOD THINGS TO EAT"

THE PERSONAL FACTOR.

Get the personal element out of business and you have left a pretty cold blooded proposition. Business then becomes a ruthless thing and ruthlessness adds nothing to the joy of life. There is the same difference between doing business on a basis of friendship, and trading on the ice-and-steel foundation, that there is between sitting down to a Thanksgiving dinner with your loved ones and going into a huge city restaurant to eat that Thanksgiving dinner alone.

Pinehurst's system of business is the personal understanding one. We make it our duty to learn our customer's every want and taste, and to gratify it. We strive to instill in him complete confidence that we are always seeking his content and satisfaction. We serve him as a friend and endeavor to earn his friendship in return.

And reverting to the Thanksgiving dinner thought—why not let us have your Thanksgiving bird order right now—over the phone? We are pretty glad to know that hundreds of Pinehurst customers know that that is exactly as safe a way to order even Mr. Turkey as if you made a personal inspection of every bird in the store.

And, by the way, these turkeys of ours will be all fine creatures, both the native Coventry birds and the outside ones, and they'll cost us plenty in proportion to the selling price—there's no fat profit in them. So that if customers will order now they can help us not to overstock—for a few left-over birds might easily spell a loss on the whole turkey trade.

You see we know we're talking to friends.
