

DAUGHERTY BREAKS HIS YEARS SILENCE

Former Attorney General
Defends His Own Career and That of Late President Harding.

Sarasota, Fla., March 19.—Harry M. Daugherty, attorney-general in the Cabinet of the late President Warren G. Harding, broke his long silence here today in an exclusive interview with International News Service at his winter home in Hotel Elvernona defended not only his own public career but that of President Harding whom he termed "a great man and a great president." Daugherty decried the publication of a book, the characters in which, he said, sought to inferentially portray himself, President Harding and others in the Harding Cabinet in a detrimental light as "a volume built on a foundation of falsehood." "President Harding was a greatly maligned man," Daugherty said with feeling in his voice. "It is bad enough to attack a man when he is alive but it is a terrible thing to attack him when he is dead. They waited until he was dead."

Harry M. Daugherty

P. J. GRIBBON JOINS LUMBER COMPANY

Becomes Financially Interested in Concern—Is Former Local Man.

Patrick J. Gribbon, a former resident of Manchester, today became interested in the Manchester Lumber Company to the extent of over $50,000, according to an announcement made by N. B. Richards, treasurer of the concern. Mr. Gribbon will join the Lumber Company in an executive capacity April 1.

Started Work Here
Mr. Gribbon started in the lumber business as a young boy being employed by C. A. Atkins, Jr., who was conducting a small lumber yard on the north side of the railroad tracks, opposite the Don Ami factory. In the north end. With the passing of this organization Mr. Gribbon became a lumber salesman and later took over the management of a retail and wholesale Boston lumber company.

His ability as a manager and his complete knowledge of the lumber business recalled him from the road as a salesman to the management of different lumber companies. He has shown marked success in every such position, among them being with a lumber company in New Britain and later with the Waterbury Lumber Company of Waterbury.

Returns to Town
Having brought the Waterbury Company to a successful business he disposed of his interests and retired, but the call of the trade still held him and for a short time he again sold lumber. Mrs. Gribbon wished him to locate in a permanent position and like a story from fiction he came to Manchester, walked into the office of the Manchester Lumber Company and made his proposition. No introduction was necessary as all through the trade his ability is known. The conference was short and he is today in an important position with a large money investment—back in his home town where he started work as a window glazier.

HERE ARE HIGHLIGHTS OF DAUGHERTY STORY.

Striking statements from interview with Daugherty. "President Harding was a greatly maligned man." "I never knew anything about that Teapot Dome transaction." "It was never in it (that little green house on K street) and I never heard of any member of the Harding Cabinet being in it." "In my opinion it was a high honor to be a member of the Harding Cabinet."

BOTTLE HURLED AT SEN. HEFLIN

Misses Him and Hits Policeman; Portland, Me., Refuses Use of Its Hall.

Brockton, Mass., March 19.—Police Sergeant Stephen J. Bryan today was nursing an ugly gash on the side of his head made by a pop bottle thrown in the direction of U. S. Senator J. Thomas Hefflin, of Alabama.

While the Senator was delivering his second Ku Klux Klan lecture in two days here last night and dodging a small crowd outside at its conclusion, the city council of Portland, Me., was voting to refuse the use of the Portland city hall auditorium "to any individual or organization for the purpose of a speech" by Senator Hefflin, on the ground that it was the council's duty, as one speaker expressed it, "to avoid any possible breach of the peace or public disturbance."

Another hall, it was stated, will be found for the Senator when he goes to Portland on March 20th.

Bottle Thrown.
The Alabama Senator, who had been the target of pebbles, small stones and pieces of frozen mud following his St. Patrick's day address, was hooted and jeered by a crowd of from two to three hundred men and boys outside Vasa hall, Campello, as he concluded his second lecture. Except for a few pebbles, the only missile thrown was the pop bottle which missed the senator as he was seated in his limousine. It struck Police Sergeant Bryan, one of a score of police officers on duty about the Hefflin automobile.

500 Klansmen Present.
About 500 Klansmen and their friends heard Senator Hefflin talk for 2 1/2 hours. He said he had more than 200 letters threatening his life. He advocated standardization of education in the nation's public school system with a secretary of education at Washington as part of a fortification against the Catholic church's parochial school organization. He declared that only a quarter of the press of the country remained uncontrolled by corrupt interests. "The defeat of intolerant public officials," he declared, "we've put a crimp" in what he termed the plans of the "Catholic political machine" to make America a Catholic country through immigration.

JURISTS DISAGREE ON HURST'S STAND

Briton Wants Dominion Judge to Sit on Cases Before World Court.

Geneva, March 19.—The committee of jurists which has been considering revision of the constitution of the World Court today declared themselves incompetent to pass upon the proposal of Sir Cecil Hurst that a judge representing British dominion should be upon the bench when a case is under consideration involving that dominion. Sir Cecil suggested that any dominion involved in such a case should have a formula which nationality upon the bench in addition to the regular British judge. The jurists have already accepted the Root formula for admission of the United States to the World Court, although the formula was slightly revised by Sir Cecil Hurst. The report of the committee passing upon America's request for admission to the court will be taken up by the League of Nations Council when it meets in Madrid in June.

FEDERALS SEE REVOLT'S END IN FEW DAYS

Rebels Give Up Torreon Without a Fight; Are Now Fleeing in the Direction of Escalon.

The Mexican revolution was virtually at an end today, according to the Mexican government.

Following the occupation of Torreon by Federal troops, the rebel generals in the northern Mexican states, headed by Gen. Marcelo Caraveo, sued for peace.

It is believed that all the rebel leaders who surrender will face trial by court martial, which is virtually tantamount to death. Gen. Jose Escobar, leader of the rebels that fled from Torreon, retired to Escalon, about 100 miles north of Torreon. It is not expected that the rebels will put up a fight against the advance of the Federals under Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles. Gen. Juan Andre Almazan and Gen. Ortiz. Gen. Calles has demanded the unconditional surrender of any insurgents that want to give themselves up.

Shortest in History.

The resolution which is now subsiding was one of the shortest and least deadly in the history of the republic.

It was engineered by a group of army officers who evidently hoped to consolidate forces with the liberators or religious rebels in Jalisco. In this they were disappointed.

Former President Calles was called to the war ministry and took the field at the head of an army variously estimated at from 10,000 to 21,000 men. The uprising also brought to the fore one of the most brilliant army officers in the modern history of Mexico—Gen. Almazan, who is known as the "modern Napoleon of Mexico."

About half a dozen generals have been executed, but the losses in skirmishing between rebels and Federals have been very slight.

POLICEMAN KILLED IN GANGSTERS WAR

Was Off Duty at Time and Accidentally Got in Line of Fire.

New York, March 19.—One policeman was killed and two civilians wounded in a gang-war flare-up in Brooklyn early today. The gun battle lasted several minutes, fifty or sixty shots being fired. Eleven revolvers and three sawed off shotguns were found in the gutters when the battle was over.

The police believe that the outbreak was the result of a clash in bootlegging traffic. They have arrested Charles "Vanille" Higgins, whom they say they captured while he was fleeing the scene of the shooting. Higgins is reported to own a fleet of taxicabs, the fast motorboat "Cigarette" said to be used in run-runs, and to operate a speakeasy both in this city and in Baltimore.

Was Off Duty

The slain patrolman, Daniel Maloney, was off duty and in plain clothes at the time he was killed. He was shot through the heart, police report. It is believed that he walked innocently into the battle and was not associated with either of the gangs in the battle.

The two wounded men are Thomas Connell, 21, and Harold Richards, 41, both of Brooklyn. Connell received a bullet in the left leg; Richards was shot in the left shoulder. Both were removed to Norwegian hospital. Investigation revealed that Patrolman Maloney was strolling along with Connell, a close friend, when the opposing faction of gunmen slipped from the shadows of surrounding doorways and opened fire. Maloney had time to fire but one shot before he was killed. More than 25 bullets were dug from the walls of buildings in front of which Connell and Maloney was passing at the time of the attack. Police were at a loss to explain the presence of Connell's henchmen who returned the fire of the opposing gang.

FIRST PICTURE OF FLOOD RESCUE

A relief airplane bringing food to marooned flood victims nearly caused the death of one of the people it was trying to save, when a package of food, dropped from the plane, struck one of a group of men on a roof at Elba and injured him severely. This picture, taken from a boat that came alongside the building later, shows the injured man helped down a ladder and taken into the boat for medical attention, while the roof is still lined with people awaiting rescue.

Swedish Princess Given Big Welcome In Norway

Oslo, Norway, March 19.—Princess Mirthe of Sweden was given a tumultuous greeting when she arrived here for her marriage to Crown Prince Olaf, of Norway. The train bearing the princess reached here at 11:20 a. m. The princess arrived from Stockholm to be met by an enormous crowd that not only filled the streets around the railway station, but lined the thoroughfare to the palace. Prince Olaf met the Princess at the station with a coach drawn by four horses. They drove through cheering lanes of people, escorted by a squadron of cavalry. This city is brilliantly decorated for the wedding. Pillars of ice capped by golden domes and illuminated from within are being erected for a full mile along the main street. Among the numerous members of royal families here for the ceremony are the Duke and Duchess of York, representing King George and Queen Mary of England. The duke will act as best man at the wedding.

E. L. G. HOENTHAL JACKSON FRIEND DIES SUDDENLY

ESTATE $57,422.86

Inventory Completed and Presented to Probate Court Here Today.

E. L. G. Hohenthal, late prohibition worker of this town, left an estate inventoried at $57,422.86, according to the report returned to Judge of Probate W. S. Hyde, of Manchester. Robert Reid and Robert J. Smith were the appraisers. Mr. Hohenthal had left no will when he was stricken aboard a train while on a speaking trip. He was removed from the train and died last December in Indianapolis.

Stocks and Bonds.
The Manchester Trust Company was appointed administrator of the estate soon after his death and because about $37,000 of the estate was in stocks and bonds. There was a delay in getting the inventory completed. The real estate holdings as shown in the report were all in Manchester and consisted of the home where he lived on Center street and an additional piece of land in the same vicinity that was inventoried by the appraisers at $14,000. There is a long list of stocks, mostly fire and other insurance stocks and stocks and bonds of the higher classes.

Savings Accounts.
There was about $300 in cash on hand most of which was in his pocket when stricken. In addition to these items there was cash in different savings banks amounting to about $5,500, one of the larger deposits being in an out of town bank. Interests in small mortgages, both first and second, and stock in finance acceptance corporations made up the total to $57,422.86.

HOUSE REJECTS BILL FAVORED BY THE SENATE

For the First Time This Season Branches of State Legislature Disagree; Cigarette Tax Rejected.

Harris, March 19.—The Lower House of the State Legislature today upset for the first time this season a report from one of its committees. The Senate had passed and transmitted to the House a bill concerning the regulation of slaughter houses by boards of health in cities, towns and boroughs. The House committee which received the bill reported favorably. But Representative Hungerford, of Watertown, desired an amendment, inserting a word that would have nullified the entire bill.

When Mr. Hungerford had revealed his views on the subject, Miss Cheney, of Manchester, offered a formal amendment worded to suit Mr. Hungerford's idea. House Leader Johnson, of Manchester, and Representative Peck of Bristol, fought the amendment and it was lost. Then the original bill went to the floor and was defeated by a vote of 37 to 90.

To Die in Committee

With disagreeing action between House and Senate occurring for the first time this year, it was generally believed the bill would be followed to die in committee. Meanwhile the Senate was having another roll call vote. Democratic members of the Senate had sponsored a bill calling for a commission to investigate the condition of aged poor people in the state. The bill was unfavorably reported out of committee. Minority Leader Bergh, of New Haven, then appealed to Republican Senators to drop party lines for once, and aid the Democrats. The Republican members refused to do so, and the vote resulted 22 to 12 in favor of the committee report and rejection of the bill.

The House followed the expected procedure and rejected a bill that would have put a tax of one per cent on each ten cigarettes sold in.

10,000 MILE TRIP BY STATISTICIAN

Dr. Hoffman to Inspect All Routes to Gather Report Material.

New York, March 19.—Statistics regarding every phase of commercial airplane flying will be sought by Dr. Frederick L. Hoffman, 65-year-old aviation expert, in a 10,000 mile inspection flight through the United States and Central America, it was announced today.

Dr. Hoffman is the statistician and research director of the newly organized Aviation Business Bureau, Inc., and the flight will be made under the organization's auspices in standard equipment of the Pan-American Airways Company.

Present plans call for Dr. Hoffman to leave New York on April 13 and fly to Memphis, Tenn. From Memphis, he will visit in the order named Winona, Minn.; Madison, Miss.; New Orleans, Jacksonville, Fla.; Miami, Fla.; Havana, Santiago, Cuba, Port-au-Prince, San Juan and return to New York.

Detailed Report
According to Commander Payne of the Aviation Bureau, Dr. Hoffman will make a thorough inspection of all air lines through which he travels and upon his return to New York will make a detailed report on meteorological conditions, equipment, safety factors, expansion possibilities, personnel and cargoes.

All of the statistics gathered by Dr. Hoffman on his flight, Commander Payne said, will be used for the advancement of commercial aviation and will be available to the entire industry. Dr. Hoffman, despite his age, is a veteran flyer. He has flown between 20,000 and 30,000 miles and is at present inspecting air lines between Pittsburgh, Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland and New York.

JURY DISAGREES IN THAW'S SUIT

Returns Sealed Verdict; Showgirl Plaintiff to Ask for a New Trial.

New York, March 19.—The jury in the $100,000 damage suit brought by Marcia Estardus against Harry K. Thaw for alleged injuries inflicted by him at a New Year's Eve party, two years ago, failed to reach a decision, it was revealed this morning when a sealed verdict returned last night was opened.

The jury discontinued its deliberations at 8 o'clock last night and returned the sealed verdict to Justice Schmuck. Justice Schmuck fixed this morning for the reading, it could not be learned whether the majority of the jurymen favored the plaintiff or the defendant.

Asks New Trial
Miss Estardus announced immediately after the jury was discharged by Justice Schmuck that she would ask for a new trial. The new hearing will be held during the May term of court.

The show girl was especially disappointed over the outcome of the case, but expressed confidence in the result of the next trial. Miss Estardus, who is known in private life as Mae O'Neill charged in her complaint that Thaw bit and beat her with a hairbrush during the party in his apartment.

She said that she had suffered deep humiliation by his actions and felt she should be "vindicated." Thaw entered a blanket denial of all the young woman's charges.

NO VACATION HOME FOR THE PRESIDENT

No Summer White House Planned—To Pick Out His Own Recreational Spots.

Washington, March 19.—President Hoover will not carry out the Coolidge plan of establishing a Summer White House at Mount Weather, Virginia, it became known today.

Instead, the new president is looking around for his own summer recreational spots and has already centered upon two of them in near-by Virginia and Maryland.

A presidential fishing ground is to be established in Madison county, Virginia, at the headquarters of the Rapidan river, which lies within the confines of the new Shenandoah National Park.

A deal has been consummated, also, for the purchase by Lawrence Richey, one of Mr. Hoover's secretaries, of what is known as the Catoctin Furnace tract, near Hagerstown, Md. It comprises some 1,500 acres. Richey is purchasing the property for himself and not for Mr. Hoover, although it is expected the place will be fitted up for presidential occupancy on occasion.

MEXICAN REBELS PLAN TO CROSS U. S. BORDER

(In the Field with General Almazan's Mexican Federal Army)

Torreon, Mexico, March 19.—Gen. Jose Escobar's rebel army that evacuated this city, leaving the way open to Federal occupation without a shot being fired, may flee into the United States as the Federal garrison did at Juarez, according to opinions expressed by observers today.

The rebels, who retired from Torreon to Escalon, were understood to be falling back in the direction of Juarez and El Paso. The theater of war presented a serious spectacle during the past 36 hours with rebel and Federal troops making their way along the highways in heavy numbers while hangers and peons went about their labors in the fields without paying any attention to the soldiers.

TORCH MURDER

New Orleans, La., March 19.—A "torch murder" was committed here today. Firemen revealed the crime when they responded to an alarm sounded for a burning automobile.

A human body had perished in the tonneau of the machine. Hairpins and jewelry were found in the ashes and caused police to believe the victim was a woman. License plates of the car had been issued to Mrs. J. H. Baker, boarding house keeper. She left home in her automobile last night, her boarders said. Police are confident the woman had been murdered; that her clothes and the interior of the automobile had been saturated with oil and then ignited. The car was of a sedan model, and all the doors were locked.

his office. He said the investigation was inspired by his enemies. He said he never saw and never inside the "mythical little green house in K street," in Washington and that President Harding was never in it. Daugherty added that he is preparing to "unwind this ball yarn" and that shortly there will be written for him a book or magazine articles that will "tell the truth."

Out of Public Life

"I am not in public life, as you know," he said. "I have refrained from talking for publication and I really do not want to do so now. I have always been opposed to making anything that could be construed as a defensive statement. I am used to being attacked, and I guess I can stand it. I don't know that I never will be in public life again. I am taking it easy, receiving a few old friends here, and taking care of my health."

2 DISTRICTS JOIN TO BUCK REVISION

Seventh and Eighth Committees Unite and Draw Up War Plans.

The Seventh and Eighth districts of Manchester, the only section of the town where opposition to the consolidation of the school districts here has developed to any degree, will join hands to wage a fight against the new charter proposals on special election day, March 30. The special committees of both districts met together last night, drafted a battle schedule, agreed on arguments and then decided to hold a public protest meeting Friday night.

Both special committees are basing their opposition to school consolidation upon false assumptions and straggling built-up arguments. They believe that the figures which Howell Cheney presented to them in special meetings for the discussion of the proposals are those that will be finally used in settling the financial obligations of the districts in event consolidation is approved. Mr. Cheney specifically stated that the figures are constantly changing due to changes in valuations and the districts' grand lists.

When the first proposal for consolidation was submitted it was clearly stated that the figures contained therein were used merely to show how consolidation could be accomplished; the procedure that was necessary to bring about the completion of the plan. The different school districts have been shown a plan whereby no one of them will bear a greater burden under consolidation than under the present district system.

Two different meetings have been held to acquaint all the school districts with all the facts regarding consolidation. At neither of these meetings were the details of the proposals laid out. The greater part of the time spent with her brother Robert at West Palm Beach, whose permanent home is there. They report a most enjoyable stay, with visits to Miami, St. Petersburg and other places of interest.

Why his administration was a wonderful success. It needs no apology. His plans and policies, having been carried out, have made the country happy and prosperous.

COMES TO INAUGURATE OLD TIME REVIVAL

Rev. Gilbert M. Laite Heralded As Evangelist; To Conduct Spiritual Drive for S. A.

"There is little doubt that Manchester needs a revival of real old time religion. There is self-satisfied, complacent contentment abroad that is a grave danger. To smugly cry, 'Peace! Peace!' when there is no peace is great folly, and the spiritually minded forces of the community are heartily invited to join in this great revival campaign and push the old Gospel of Christ over the top to victory."

Rev. Gilbert M. Laite.

Mass., who will open the ten day special revival campaign at the Salvation Army Citadel on Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock of this week comes to Manchester with credentials as an able and earnest evangelist, especially successful among the young folks. He has just finished a Union Revival meeting in Kingsfield, Me., in which several churches united.

SCRIBE DISCOVERS LINDY HAS SISTER

Says She Hates Publicity and Does Not Want the Fact Mentioned.

Red Lake Falls, Minn., March 19.—The secret's out. Colonel Charles Lindbergh has a sister. In this little one street town of less than 2,000 souls, Mrs. Eva Lindbergh Christie, half-sister of the famous "Lone Eagle," lives happily with her husband, George West Christie, editor of the town's one newspaper, and her two children. But outside of this town with its hitherto posts, and its weekly paper, few have ever known or even suspected that Col. Charles Lindbergh had a sister.

Woman Upset Mrs. Christie seemed upset. "I did hope it wouldn't happen," she said. "I've just prayed constantly they'd never find out that Charlie is my brother. You see, I hate publicity and all that sort of thing. And I'd really prefer that you wouldn't even mention it now."

Why, when Charlie flew across the Atlantic and arrived safely in Paris, there was plenty in all the papers. But do you know how much space they gave to me in that story? Just one line.

ABOUT TOWN

Miss Annie Clarke of Porter street and her brother, George Clark, arrived home today from a vacation spent in Florida. They report a most enjoyable stay, with visits to Miami, St. Petersburg and other places of interest.

FEDERALS SEE REVOLT'S END IN FEW DAYS

reat, retired northward when the vanguard of Gen. Juan Andreu Almazan's forces entered that city last night. Escalon is 106 miles northwest of Torreon by rail but only forty miles away on a beeline. Gomez Palacio is about 30 miles north of Torreon by rail, but similarly less than ten miles away on a straight line.

Planes to Drop Bombs. Taking advantage of the comparatively small distance now separating Escobedo's forces from the main body of Federals holding Torreon under War Minister's orders, Federal aviators left at dawn on bombing expeditions to hamper the rebels in their retreat northward.

Unconditional Surrender. Gen. Calles also advised the president of the capture of Torreon and later stated that Gen. Almazan had entered Gomez Palacio and established his headquarters there. The president made it understood that no terms except unconditional surrender would be granted rebel commanders seeking peace.

Cavalry units in the vanguard of the federal drive will attempt to cut off rebel retreat and force the rebels into battle before they can reach Chihuahua where their forces will be augmented by Gen. Caraveo's troops.

The Federal army is now estimated at 28,000. The highest estimates only give Gen. Escobedo's army a total of 9,000 men.

PLANE SHOT DOWN. El Paso, Texas, March 19.—A report was current in rebel circles in Juarez today that a Mexican federal airplane shot down late Monday while approaching Juarez. According to the rebel leaders the plane was shot down a short distance south of the United States border.

Mexican Consul General Liekens said he had received word that peace negotiations were under way.

NOON STOCKS

New York, March 19.—The scramble for profits in the industrial stocks carried prices of many of the market leaders down a point or two at the beginning of trading today, but there were enough advances in the list to make the market extremely irregular in the first hour.

As long as the big banking heads continue to discuss the money situation and the pros and cons of higher or lower discount rates, the "street" will be kept in a state of nervous tension. The banks are feeling the effects of the income tax payments, but this week should wind up their work in this particular service and money show itself in larger quantities. Wall street looks for no increase in the New York bank's discount rate this week.

Prices of the market leaders dropped back in the first period, with losses of 1 to 3 points. Radio New at 96 showed a loss of 3 1/2 points from yesterday's close and 13 points from the peak of the move. Anaconda slipped off a point at 157. Buying orders were ready to pick up the active stocks at the low levels, and the second period produced moderate recoveries. Baldwin Locomotive carried its advance to 258 on slip-up rumors. Stock prices in the first half-hour were slightly below 600,000 shares.

RATS CAUSE BREAK IN CITY PAVEMENT. Swampscott, Mass., March 19.—A newspaper found in a rat nest under the pavement here recently indicates that the holes were tunneled by the rodents more than a year ago.

Workers who investigated a rut in the pavement found a 75-foot tunnel leading to the nest. It was a break in this pavement which caused the pavement to give way. Two grown rats and a brood of eight were removed from the strange home.

OPENING STOCKS

New York, March 19.—The market was irregular at the opening today with narrow price changes. Radio New stock sold down 1 1/2 at 90 1/2. Chrysler motor was up a point at 112 3/8. U. S. Steel down 1/2 at 186 1/8. General Electric down 1/2 at 238. Briggs Mfg. up 1/4 at 48 1/2. International Nickel down 3/8 at 59 1/2. Standard Oil of Calif. up 1/4 at 74 7/8. Amecaconda Can Down 3/8 at 120 1/8. Anaconda up 1/8 at 63.

SET NEW STANDARD FOR C. OF C. DINNER

Preparations Completed Far In Advance of Date; Fine Speaker Secured.

The first official announcement of the date, place, and program of the annual dinner of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce is being mailed to members today. This dinner has for many years been held just prior to the beginning of Lent, but this year the directors decided to make it a post-Lenten affair. Monday, April 8th is the date selected and it will be held as usual, at Cheney Hall. Several other places were discussed, but nowhere can the facilities for handling a large dinner company be had such as Cheney Hall affords.

Remarkable speaker. A remarkable speaker has been secured by the committee in the person of Dr. David D. Vaughan, professor of Social Economics at Boston University. Dr. Vaughan is a professional speaker of the highest type.

Dr. David D. Vaughan.

While he has never spoken in Manchester, he has spoken repeatedly in Hartford and is well known to many local people. The subject on which he proposes to speak is "American Ideals." Dr. Vaughan advises the committee that this same talk under various titles and slight modifications has been delivered more than 1,400 times and that he has been invited to do the third return engagement and deliver the same talk.

All Prepared. In preparation for anything, this year's dinner should set a new standard. Ordinarily there are many loose ends and unsettled details at this period in the arrangements. This year finds everything in a state of complete readiness, including speaker, an entertainer of unusual merit and versatility, toastmaster, a song leader, musical features, the menu, souvenirs, decorations, in fact everything is decided upon. Several organizations have even made their table reservations.

Special stress is being made in the letter going out today to the necessity for making up table parties and making their reservations early.

COMMUNITY CLUB NOTES

Mrs. Marion Rowe, home economics expert with the Manchester Electric Company, who was to have given a lecture demonstration at the White House tomorrow afternoon, will be obliged to postpone her talk until Wednesday afternoon, when she will be obliged to postpone Rowe will prepare and tell about "An Oven Dinner."

Tuesday evening, March 26 a same dinner will be served under the direction of Miss Christine Mason between the hours of 5:30 and 7:30. The dinner will be given under auspices of the Manchester Rabbit club. The members will furnish the rabbits. Chicken will also be on the menu for those who prefer it to the game. It is probable that something in the way of entertainment will follow the meal, but the details have not been worked out. Tickets will be secured from J. D. Lapp or at the Manchester Community Clubhouse.

Under the direction of Miss Olea Sands of the Farm Bureau very serviceable tea-wagons were made by a number of the women a short time ago, and since that time others have expressed the wish that opportunity might be given them to do so. Miss Mason has therefore arranged with Miss Sands to have another demonstration early in April and all interested in making these tea-wagons under her instruction, should get in touch with the director as to the particulars.

TO DRY UP CAPITAL

Washington, March 19.—Having watched the padlock policy tried elsewhere for several years, with more or less success, the national capital is now going to have a try at it. Chief of Police Hesse has ordered every police precinct captain to turn in a detailed report on the places in his district where violations of the prohibition law now occur or have occurred in the past. It is a part of the plan to dry up the capital, and make it a model prohibition enforcement city. If the order is literally interpreted and literally carried out, the Pennsylvania avenue wags observe that there may be padlocks put on some of our best known government buildings.

FAILURE OF MOTOR CAUSED 14 DEATHS

Pilot Unable to Clear Train of Cars Because of His Heavy Load.

Newark, N. J., March 19.—Pilot Lou Foote, only survivor of Sunday's airplane crash which took fourteen lives, may let live to tell his story of the catastrophe. Doctors at St. James hospital today said that Foote was "just about holding his own" and that if he pulled through today he would have a chance of recovery.

With five corps of investigators digging into every detail of the ill-fated flight of the eight-seater plane which crashed here late Sunday afternoon with a death toll of 14, it was expected today that the cause of the catastrophe would soon be agreed upon. The death of Delmont Parsons of Pilot Lou Foote at the time of the crash, left only the pilot alive. Foote gasped out the disjointed story of his awful experience to his wife in a hospital here and she gave her husband's version of the events preceding the crash as follows:

Bucking Heavy Wind. "My right motor cut out suddenly. I was bucking a heavy wind with a full load of passengers, about 1,000 feet up. I had turned back to the landing field we would have gone into a tail spin.

"My only chance was to keep going straight ahead. The two other motors could not keep me up in that wind. The plane was loaded to capacity and kept dropping. "I tried to make a 'sit down' landing when I was over the marsh. I tried to drop in there, but the wind wouldn't let me.

"I tried to clear the cars, but the load was too heavy and the wind was too strong. I guess the plane was a 'washout'."

Parsons, in a moment of consciousness yesterday nimbled, "the right motor failed. Then we came right down."

Mayor Jerome T. Congleton today said that apparently every possible measure to safeguard the passengers had been taken. "The city authorities have checked carefully the record of the company, the plane and the pilot involved and there is nothing so far to indicate that any detail was overlooked," Mayor Congleton said.

Adam Turkowski, mechanic of the Ford, said that when the plane went up on its last flight the motors were working as well as they ever had. He stated that he could not submit the records of his inspectors as they were contained in the log book aboard the plane and that all these records were found to have been taken from the wreckage.

ABOUT TOWN

Milton J. Turkington, superintendent of the group department of the Aetna Life Insurance company left today for Kansas City, where he will attend a convention of special agents of the Aetna from the middle west and the Pacific Coast. He will visit the St. Louis and Chicago offices of the Aetna.

Mrs. A. L. Crowell of Highland Park left yesterday for New York City and is expected home at the end of the week.

The B. U. Sewing club composed of ten girls, gave a surprise miscellaneous shower last night in honor of Miss Esther Noren of Middlefield street, who is a member. The party was given at the home of Miss Helen D. Berggren of Linden street. Miss Berggren's home was beautifully decorated in a spring-time effect with crepe paper streamers of yellow and green. The table was gay with flowers, favors and candles in these colors. The girls enjoyed the dainty luncheon prepared by the hostess and the social time which followed. Miss Noren, whose engagement was recently announced to Ernest Johnson of Clinton street, received a number of useful gifts.

Hose Company No. 1 was called out at 9:45 this morning to put out a grass fire at the rear of 217 Keeney street.

Miss Irma Falot of Ridge street, a student at the Connecticut Business College, has been ill for the past two weeks and her doctor advises a complete rest before resuming her course.

Miss Esther Smachetti of Bigelow street, a recent graduate of the Connecticut Business College, is now with Danhill's, the newly opened clothing store in the Johnson block.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Quimby of Benton street will attend the International Kiwanis Convention at Milwaukee in June. They will accompany the New England delegation.

WITHDRAWS LABEL SUIT. Chicago, March 19.—William McAndrew, former superintendent of Chicago schools, today withdrew his $250,000 label suit against Mayor William Hale Thompson after Judge Harry A. Lewis overruled a demurrer to the answer filed by the mayor.

Leave to reinstate the case, perhaps next week, was granted, however, to McAndrew's attorney.

St. James's Lenten Speaker Tonight

Rev. James Timmins, associate editor of the Catholic Transcript and former assistant pastor of St. James' church will be the Lenten speaker at St. James' church tonight. Rev. Father Timmins was exceptionally well liked by the members of St. James' parish and the largest attendance at the Lenten season is expected tonight.

LATEST STOCKS

New York, March 19.—The tide of speculation today fell in a confused and bewildered jumble in Wall street today, carrying prices of the market's "blue chips" violently backward and forward over a fairly wide range. Forced down in the first two hours by a wave of profit-taking, the industrial favorites snapped back aggressively in the early afternoon under a heavy turnover, with Radio flashing across the tape at the rate of 110,000 shares an hour.

Wall street expressed a certain degree of timidity over money supplies as the Reserve Bank heads and big city bankers continued to discuss the probabilities of a rise in the rediscount rate here. The banks were hitting the tight on call money today and the rate started off at 8 per cent but the next day or two should see an end of the effects of tax collections on the banks in all the financial centers.

Radio sold off 13 points from the peak of the move when the stock declined to 98, partly as the result of the challenge to the company by the head of the Western Union system who declared that the competition for communications' business would be very keen. The stock was eagerly snapped up at the low prices of the early afternoon and recovered in a violent movement up to 100 1/2. The old stock sold at 490, down 55 points from the peak, but little attention was paid to it as it is to disappear from the board Friday.

Higher prices for Copper and Lead spurred the active stocks in the metal group to the highest prices on the move when Joseph Lead performed spectacularly with a new move up to 87 1/2, and Anaconda breezed along to 164.

The steel stock list was strong and active from the start. U. S. Steel moved up from its early low to 185 to about 188, in company with the advance in the important independent steels, including American Steel Foundries and Bethlehem. The trade news from the steel industry continues the very best from every standpoint.

Baldwin Locomotive and National Cash Register took the plum for the best market performance in the specialties. Baldwin stock at four-forty-one has brought to life a famous speculative factor that has been dormant for a year or more, and Baldwin shot up another nine points to 265. National Cash Register sold today above 143, an advance of 13 points above Monday's low price, on buying demand from powerful Wall street sources.

The bull steam roller encountered plenty of opposition in the early afternoon, but the strong support given to the bankers' puts, including American Can and Chrysler Motor was a powerful factor in turning the tide of prices upward. Stock sales in the first three hours were at the rate of $50,000 shares an hour, of which Radio and a few pool stocks furnished nearly a third. The Railroad stocks were again on the inactive list, with New York Central and Baltimore & Ohio up two points each.

CRASH VICTIMS FUNERAL. Stamford, March 19.—Funeral services for Andrew and Stephen Hagmas, and Joseph Bauer, local victims of the Newark, N. J., air crash of last Sunday, will be held here tomorrow afternoon. Services for the three youths are to take place in the chapel of St. Luke's church, with Rev. Joseph Urban, of Fairfield, and Rev. Gabriel Bokus, of Norwalk, officiating. The Fairfield minister is related to the Hagmas boys by marriage. Prayers will be held in the two homes before the church services.

The Hagmas boys were veterans of the National Guard while Bauer had served in the naval militia. Buglers will attend the burials in Woodland cemetery.

SAVES 12 LIVES. New York, March 19.—The quick thinking of John Ross, elevator operator in an office building here today had saved twelve persons from possible serious injury. When he found that his car was out of control and shooting at the bottom of the shaft he warned his passengers to stand on their toes. They did and this saved them from the terrific jolt as the car struck the springs in the pit.

a photographer's flashlight powder caused a blast outside the hall but the Senator calmed his audience.

HEFLIN ASSAILED. Boston, March 19.—United States Senator John A. Barkley of Kentucky, was on record today as declaring the United States was the most lawless of all nations, and that if this nation is wrecked it will be inside enemies who invoke religious intolerance.

The Senator made the declaration in an address last night before the Charitable Irish Society at its 192nd anniversary dinner.

"There are some things in our history which make us blush with shame," he said. "It serves as a constant humiliation to realize that the United States with all its proud achievements is the most lawless of all nations—all laws, not any particular laws, considered."

"If our national life is wrecked in the future by any force, it will not be by an outside enemy. "It will be the noxious enemies within, that try to tell the people of the country what religion they shall profess and thus invoke religious intolerance."

Former Mayor James Curley, in addressing members of the South Boston Citizen's association branded Senator J. Thomas Hefflin of Alabama as the "Brainless bigot from Alabama" in his bitter attack against the so-called national origins act.

DAILY RADIO PROGRAM

Tuesday, March 19.

The "Be Kind to Apples Week Club" of Treadwell, Me., and a mammy song sent Jeremy Scott from the center of the spinach industry to Broadway. There he puts over his song and wins the gal. How it all happened is a riotous tale of nonsense to be broadcast over the WTIC chain at 9 o'clock Tuesday night. Jeremy will sing "The Day White Was" like a plunging ballad, only to be thrown for a loss. His song was a world beater in Treadwell but its just another song around Times Square. Then the beautiful Helen Gordon lifts him over the hurdle by having a big producer jazz up the selection. The song is a hit and the curtain drops with Helen and Jeremy in a real love's knot. The star of the revue, which is called "The Local Day Makes Good" is Don Egan. He will be supported by Rosaline Green and Nathaniel Shilkret's orchestra. Just how the renowned Queen of the Nile got that way will be explained in a burlesque skit entitled "Cleopatra's Royal Court" over the WTIC chain at 9. Mabel Zoetker, soprano, a popular music trio and orchestral selections will be featured attractions of the period. Still another highlight for WTIC will be a tune in from WABC and the Columbia stations. At this time Paul Whitman and his famous band have arranged for presentation a recital which will include several of the latest musical hits and two medleys. The old favorites including "California Here I Come" and "Sweet Lady."

WOMEN JURY SERVICE HEARING TOMORROW

To Be Held in Hall of the House in Capitol at Two O'Clock in Afternoon.

Hartford, March 19—Only one question is to be given its public hearing by the Judiciary Committee tomorrow. The committee's usual program of fifteen to twenty hearings has been narrowed to two, both relating to jury service for women. The Hall of the House of Representatives has been assigned for the first time this session by this committee to accommodate the crowds that are expected. Senator Mary B. Weaver of New Milford, Connecticut's only woman senator, introduced the bill which was sponsored by the Connecticut League of Women Voters, and endorsed by the Federation of Women's Clubs. She is expected to speak at the hearing, which is set for two o'clock. This bill, S. B. 36, would make women eligible and liable for jury service on the same terms as men with exemptions for nurses in active practice and for women having the care of children under sixteen. Twenty-one states, the District of Columbia, Alaska and six foreign countries now use women on their juries. In nine states in which jury service did not go with the suffrage, women are working this year for laws which would make them eligible. Testimony in the form of letters from judges, lawyers and others connected with jury work in other states has been received by the Connecticut League of Women Voters. They are agreed that the system is working well. Copies of a number of these letters have been presented to members of the Judiciary Committee.

Many auto owners have shovels among their tools as they try to make their way on the dirt roads. William Zola has taken up his work again after a week's illness. Mr. Zola runs a 150-mile milk collection route through Gilead, Andover and Windham County, through Hampton and adjoining towns. Albert D. Blish drove his truck while he was ill. The milk is delivered to the Highland Dairy company of Hartford. Leila I. Tenner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Tenner, died last Wednesday. She was nearly 20 years of age and had been a cripple since she was fifteen months old, the result of spinal meningitis. The funeral was held Saturday at the house on Hebron avenue. Interment was in the Buckingham cemetery. Rev. Julius G. Appleton of the Buckingham Congregational church officiated assisted by Rev. F. A. Fate of the Glastonbury Congregational church. R. H. Endress, forest fire warden of District No. 55 in Glastonbury, has appointed two deputy wardens for the year—August Spanish Main, Captain Kidd and shiny, yellow pieces of eight, has suddenly appeared in the window of M. H. Strickland, 832 Main street, distributors of General Electric Refrigerators. "Just what it contains is known to a very few and there has been much speculation as to its contents," stated Mr. Strickland. "To the curious, we can only say that the chest will be opened for all to see on Friday, March 22, and that it contains something of paramount interest to everyone who is interested in good health and convenience for themselves and their families."

TREASURE CHEST AROUSES INTEREST

Mystery Surrounds Big Box in M. H. Strickland's Window at 832 Main Street.

A large, iron bound chest, carrying with it the suggestion of mystery or getting, and so little in terms of giving? In Paul's thought of prayer the deepest thing was gratitude—the note of thankfulness for what God had done. So it was that he burst out into such exultations as, "Thanks be unto God for His unspeakable gift." Or in admonishing the Christians to be "careful for nothing," urged them "with thanksgiving" to let their requests be made known to God. It makes a very great difference in which spirit we pray. The spirit of those who think only of receiving, or the spirit of those who have discovered that it is more blessed to give than to receive. For these people becomes a means of real communion with God and a sharing of God's loving purposes. The selfish thought of prayer is that of the spoiled child demanding things from a reluctant and grudging parent. Christian thought of prayer is that of one who thinks of God as a Father of love, willing to bestow everything that is good. The purpose of those who pray in the latter spirit is not to get things for themselves, but to share in the plans and purposes that God has for all. We can never get the best that God intends for us without drawing near to the Father who intends the best for all. Tchaikowsky's "Nutteracker" suite, excerpts of which will be played by the Electra Ensemble from the studios of Station WTIC at 8 o'clock this evening, was one of the last works of this remarkable Russian composer. Oddly enough, the young man destined to become one of the greatest musicians of his country, trained himself to be a lawyer. His career in music, undertaken because of his interest in the New Russian group of the 60's, was beset with reverses. He was almost 50 years old before he won recognition. His music is replete with contrasting moods—gayety and despair, baroque abandon and polished sanity. The ensemble has also included in its program a fantasy on "The Old Folks at Home" as it would be played in many lands. I Excerpts from "The Nutteracker Suite" . . . . . Tchaikowsky a. CAMPAIGN FOR HOME REMEDIES IS STARTED

Chicago March 19—The Good Samaritan figures in the 1929 "First Aid—Home Remedy Week" and is designated as the "First First Aid." This annual merchandising festival, arrived with St. Patrick's Day, continues March 17—23 and marks the eighth anniversary of the plan dedicated to Drugdom by Sterling Products, Incorporated, in 1922 and immediately sponsored by the National Association of Retail Druggists. Seeing the great advertising and sales possibilities in the plan and its helpfulness to humanity, the National Wholesale Druggists' Association has swung behind it with the enthusiastic suggestion that druggists use local newspapers, and providing them with suggestive advertising copy tied to the national slogan, "Fill That Medicine Chest Now!"

IN BANKRUPTCY

New Haven, Haven 19—W. Burton Dysora, Waterbury, who describes himself as a laborer, today filed a petition for bankruptcy in United States District Court here showing liabilities of $13,632 and estimating his assets at $4,000. The petition was filed by J. W. Brittain, once running a road side restaurant in Torrington, also sought bankruptcy, showing debts of $8,000 and setting his assets at $6,102. Henry C. Bailey, a New Britain ice dealer, owes $2,301 and has assets estimated at $904. Cooldige is out of the limelight now, back in Northampton, but think of how pleasant his breakfasts must be, with buckwheats and sausages and no senators.

Rockville

Boys Sent to Reformatory

The two Rockville youths, who were involved in the theft of four automobiles, two in Rockville and one each in Hartford and New Haven, were before Judge John E. Fisk in the Rockville City Court on Monday morning. They were brought in on a joint warrant charged with stealing an automobile. The younger of the two being only 15 years of age was transferred to the juvenile court. Walter Koelsch, 17, the older boy, pleaded guilty, and according to confessions signed by the two, Koelsch was involved in three of the thefts and his companion in four cases. The younger boy was due to appear in the Juvenile Court Saturday morning for the theft of $3 from a milk bottle. But the day previous, he stole a car which was parked on Prospect street and started for Rhode Island. The car ran out of gas at Plainfield and that night he returned to Rockville where he met Koelsch and the two of them took a car belonging to the Armour Company which was parked in the center of the city. They traveled as far as Bloomfield in this but were obliged to abandon the car when it became stuck in the mud. That night they spent in a barn. Saturday morning they walked to Hartford and found a car near the Capitol with a key in it, so they drove to New Haven. At New Haven they took another car and were caught in Milford. Police Captain Tobin went to Milford for the two and presented their signed confessions to the court. Both boys have been in previous trouble. Judge Fisk sentenced Koelsch to the reformatory for an indefinite period. The other boy was tried in the Juvenile Court immediately following the City Court and was sentenced to the school for boys in Meriden.

THE POUTING MEMBER

The International Commission of Jurists having accepted the Root amendments to the World Court protocol, the new device for getting the United States into that tribunal starts on its rocky road toward the goal of effectiveness. It is commonly taken for granted that in the course of time the amended or substitute protocol will be ratified by the United States Senate. But the trouble is that any one of forty signatory countries can and possibly will enter objection, which would dump the apple cart.

There would seem to be no real reason why any of the foreign signatories should object to the new protocol save this—that it creates an enormous amount of fuss for which there is no apparent excuse than that the vanity of the United States—we are referring to the way it will strike the other fellow—must be catered to.

The United States refused to adhere to the World Court protocol of 1920 unless assured that the Court would not render any advisory opinion on any subject in which the United States claimed an interest without the consent of the latter. Inasmuch as the United States might claim an interest in any or every conceivable subject coming before the Court, the signatory nations naturally declined to accept such a reservation. Now Mr. Root's proposition amounts to very little more than an agreement that if the United States does enter the Court, then at any time objects to an advisory opinion on the ground of interest, and its objection is not sustained by the other nations, this country will be privileged to withdraw from the Court without any hard feelings on anybody's part.

Fair enough; but it is not certain that forty nations can be brought into agreement that it is necessary to halfway turn the world upside down in order to give the United States a privilege that it could take, anyhow, even if it went into the court like the rest. There is always somebody ready to give the raspberry to the pouting and reluctant member who has to be dragged in out of the back hall to take part in the kissing games.

SHARKS

A New York man named Chadbourne having been bitten by a shark while swimming in Florida, at once the discussion is resumed as to whether or not a shark will bite a man. It is an endless one. Every time somebody loses a leg or an arm and it is reported that the arm or leg is now in possession of a shark, the skeptics lift up their voices in chorus and cry: "Show us the shark! Show us the leg! We want to see the arm in the shark's mouth! Applause!"

We have never yet heard a deep water sailor or fisherman assert that a shark will not bite a human being. The shark unbelievers seem to be confined very largely to bathing beach concessionaires, seashore hotel keepers and persons similiary interested in giving the shark a reputation for shyness, timidity and good nature quite out of accord with the arrangement of his teeth.

It is true that it is very infrequently that it is possible to convict the shark who makes a meal from a swimmer's leg, because there is not, as a rule, a submarine moving picture operator on the scene to photograph the incident. And the sharks are perverse enough not to come up on the land and stage their enterprises in mayhem in the open sunlight and in full view of a lot of eye-witnesses. All you have a chance to see is the cutwater of a shark, a sub-surface swirl and a shrieking victim struggling in water that is turning pink. Or perhaps nothing so good as this, even, in the way of evidence—merely a swimmer, far out, throwing up his hands and disappearing forever.

The skeptics may attribute the absence of the shorn limb to minnows and the vanishing of the swimmer to a cramp, but when there are fifteen foot sharks around a few believers in Santa Claus will still retain their suspicion that it wasn't the edge of a blade of seaweed that cut off the arm, the leg or the swimmer.

Also we'll hazard the guess that nineteen out of twenty of the skeptics can't tell the difference between a true shark and a dogfish when they see them—and we can do that much ourself.

JOSHUA OUT OF LUCK
 Joshua had a long day's work on hand in the smiting of the hosts of five separate kings so that they would stay smitten. He was not to be blamed for calling on the sun to stand still so he might have daylight to finish the job while he had them on the run, even though it maybe seemed a foolish thing to expect. But he was incredibly lucky to have the sun obey him, and it was a tough outcome for the Amorites and the kings.

Joshua got away with his plea for a suspension of the laws of nature, but it hasn't been done often. Yet he has had a lot of imitators—has a lot of them right now. Among them are 150 Morse telegraph operators who went on strike in New York because the brokerage firm for which they worked refused to turn over to them the operation of the telegraph printing machines it is installing. The Morse operators have been drawing $70 to $85 a week. The machine tenders get $47.50 a week. The Morse operators don't pretend that they can operate the machines any better than the $47.50 tenders, but they say the machines are going to displace Morse telegraph work, so they ought to get the new jobs at the old price. It isn't likely they are going to have the old kind of Joshua luck.

"Stand thou still, Progress," is the command of the individual who tries to prevent the adoption of newer and cheaper ways of doing the world's work. "It doesn't interest me that the saving of labor makes life easier for the whole world, and broader and ampler—I am interested only in not having to change my job. Let the other fellow change his and I will enjoy the benefit of cheaper production of what he has been making—but somehow I and my pay envelope must go undisturbed."

The Morse telegraph operator who insists that he must be guaranteed his place in the sun learned an art that synchronizes with the octant, the twelve-hour factory day, the nine-dollar-a-week pay envelope and canal boat freighting. He has as much chance of blocking the coming of the telegraph printer as the canal boatman had of stopping the laying of railroad iron.

MEXICAN REVOLT

The evacuation of Torreón by the rebel forces without risking in that vicinity the decisive action that had been anticipated, would seem to indicate that the present Mexican revolt is about all over except the mopping up. With Torreón in the hands of the federal forces the rebels have lost by far the most important strategic point in northern Mexico and apparently must confine themselves to trying to maintain an army in being in the northwest corner of the country, the two states of Chihuahua and Sonora.

Just how such an operation would have any effect toward insuring a successful revolution it isn't easy to see, even if successful for a while. On the other hand, if the insurgents could not maintain themselves at Torreón there wouldn't seem to be any reason to expect them to be able to do so further north and if they lost Chihuahua City as they have lost Torreón there will be little left but surrender, dispersal among the Sonora mountain fastnesses or flight over the border for sanctuary.

From present indications there is likely to be a considerable number of interned Mexican generals added to the populations of Texas, Arizona and New Mexico border-towns in the next few days.

HEFLIN AND THE FLOOD

While Alabama's flood waters are hewing out a stage setting for a big relief drive for money, most of which as usual will come out of the North, Alabama's picturesque Senator Heflin is dodging whiskey bottles and other concrete remonstrances to his attacks on Catholics and Mussolini in New England centers of Catholicism and Italian colonization.

Inasmuch as Catholics and Italian drives as anybody else, ordinarily, the excellence of Senator Heflin's judgment in abusing potential givers of Alabama flood relief, just at this time, may possibly be questioned by the people of his home state.

It is rather to be doubted whether the Alabama voter just now perched in the top of a Coffee county tree and looking forward to some months of free lunches provided by Northern cash—if he ever gets out of the tree alive—would be as enthusiastic at his star senator's activities at this moment as he might have been a couple of weeks ago.

But perhaps Senator Tom has been so busy keeping the Pope from sweeping away American institutions that he hasn't yet heard about the waters that are sweeping a good part of Southern Alabama's possessions into the Gulf.

INEXPERIENCE
 Mrs. Margaret E. Rich thinks the Herald is all right as long as it exactly agrees with her views as to women jurors but absurd as soon as it departs from that complete agreement. The Herald does not think Mrs. Rich is absurd. It merely thinks that, in her discussion of the jury room as a proper place for women, from a purely physical standpoint, she doesn't know what she is talking about. If she ever has the misfortune to be cooped up with one of those 50-hour juries she may know more.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY ROONEY DUTCHER

Washington, March 19.—Unquestionably the foreign diplomat in Washington who has had the most difficult and delicate task during the last ten years is Don Manuel C. Tellez, the ambassador from Mexico.

If he had not proved himself nearly a super-diplomat he probably would not still be here. If his foot had slipped there were innumerable politicians in Mexico who hungered for his job.

Probably his most harrowing days came during 1926 and 1927 when the State Department anonymously released the story that the Mexican government had sold out to the Bolsheviks and when hot notes were being exchanged between the two capitals by the score.

MEXICAN AMBASSADOR MANUEL TELLEZ WEARS A WRIST WATCH

These are busy and possibly worried days for Tellez, too, but now the United States is openly on the side of the Mexican government as it undertakes to put down a military insurrection and his load is not as heavy.

It was when Mexican-American relations were at their very worst that Don Manuel began to build a doll house. It was built upon a billiard table in the embassy and required a year for the making. In his most harried moments, between receipt or dispatch of vital coded telegrams and important visits to the State Department, Tellez found succor from his worries as he labored patiently and skillfully in the billiard room.

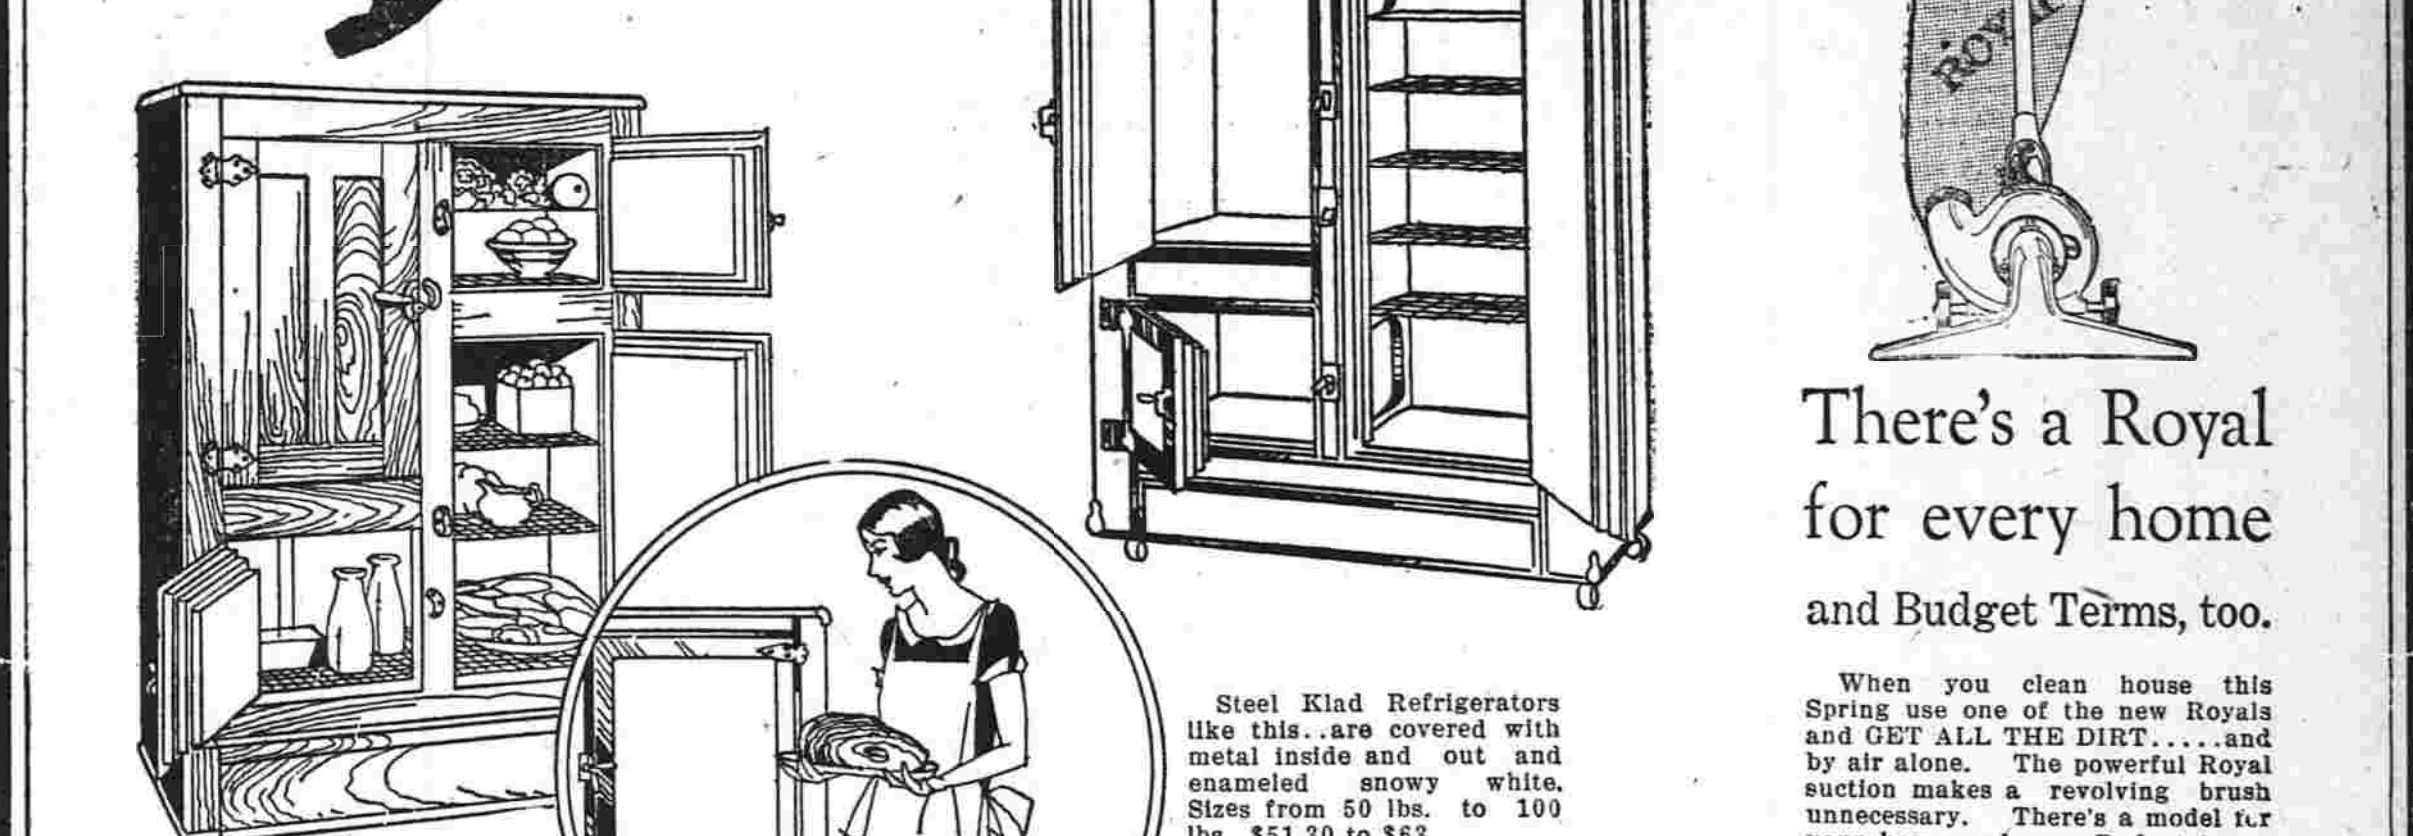

Today the three Tellez children, all born in the United States, play with the doll house, which is as large as a small automobile. It is an embassy among doll houses, with special furniture—even period furniture, a tasteful little bathroom with tub and showers for the dollies and other household items, all constructed by Don Manuel. It can be taken apart and stowed compactly.

The Tellez hobbies are children and books. He keeps up with his social obligations, but his life is very simple and he often works on warm days in his shirt-sleeves. His complete lack of "front," his failure to put on any dog except when obviously required, is one of the impressive things about the ambassador.

He is a rare combination of practicality and artistic ability and his endowment with the latter attribute is shown annually when he stages his famous children's party at the embassy. All the children of diplomats here come to these parties. They receive hand-drawn invitations designed and executed by Don Manuel himself. At these parties the children are garbed as characters in fairy tales used as themes for the occasions. The ambassador, of course, is assisted by Mme. Tellez, a charming, highly cultivated and

IN NEW YORK

New York, March 19.—Glancing through a morning newspaper, I came upon a single phrase, which seemed fairly to leap out of the page. . . . "And when his stage engagements became scarce he returned to New York with his last $15. When he was gone he collapsed from undernourishment in his rooming house. . . ."

So died that grand old trouper John Thompson, at the age of 85. . . . Just a hop-skip-and-jump from old friends who would have helped had they only known. But old John didn't give them the "cue" . . . Nothing to eat. . . . No money for food. . . . Starvation coming slowly on the stage ready to ring down the curtain.

And scores of rich friends who rushed up when it was too late! After all, how were they to know!

Old Chelsea, which sits primly in the mid-Twenties like a nice old-fashioned lady with her knitting, will be the next to perish from the Manhattan picture.

And then there will be few places one may wander in the hope of recalling the days of lavender and old lace.

Chelsea Village they have come to call this quaint and quiet slice of New York, which juts back from the street with neat and tiny green lawn and rows of hedge. Going westward, toward the river on Twenty-eighth street, it is possible to step into a neighborhood which has undergone but slight architectural change since the Civil War times. All about the spirit of change has breathed against the skyline. But here one still can see oil lamps and "stoops," and balconies shadowed in heavy Spanish grillwork, and flower pots in windows and be-laced curtains and strangely built stairways.

Chelsea has been physically untouched by time!

Back in 1845, it was the "finest suburban development" . . . manipulated by early real estate and made eminently fashionable. A few years ago it was a zone of old boarding houses. Then some of the Greenwich Villagers, discontented with the steady rise in rentals, began to look about for a new quarter. They pounced upon the reasonable rates of Chelsea Village, hammered out walls of the old rooming houses and soon had turned them into apartments. Fearing that this "great find" would be noised around, a strict silence was maintained. Even a few celebrities had come and gone. Raymond Hitchcock, the comedian, took one of the houses. And when he left, Henry Hadley, the great musician, moved in. So did Boardman Robinson, the artist, and a great assortment of poets, novelists and stage folk.

With the spring, Chelsea Village will pass to the wreckers.

WOOD-ALCOHOL BLINDNESS

Polishing from wood-alcohol is one of the most vicious afflictions that the American people are now experiencing. Owing to its cheapness, wood-alcohol has come into extensive use, replacing ethyl-alcohol. Since the adoption of the National Prohibition Amendment in the United States, there has been a marked increase in the number of cases of blindness from this agent. Unscrupulous persons go about the country, selling poisonous liquors in containers bearing counterfeit labels and revenue stamps.

When taken by the mouth, or absorbed through the skin, or when inhaled, wood-alcohol often causes rapid, severe, and permanent damage to the vision. The menace of wood-alcohol poisoning has been increased by three fatal factors, namely—its refinement from a nauseous, vile smelling compound, to one which is as clear and palatable as ethyl-alcohol, secondly, its cheapness which has resulted from increased output and improved methods of manufacture; thirdly, its unusual solvent power, which has greatly encouraged its use in the arts.

Methyl (wood-alcohol) impurities have been found in bay rum, lilac and violet waters, different hair tonics, which hazel, paregoric, Jamaica ginger, and liniments for veterinary purposes. The so-called "anti-freeze" mixtures which have been sold so freely for use in engines of automobiles, are almost wholly composed of wood-alcohol. Often these mixtures have been stolen by employees and sold to unwary victims.

This poison is manufactured in enormous quantities, and constitutes a menace to the eyes and lives of the community.

In the great majority of cases of wood-alcohol poisoning, the agent has been taken by the mouth. When ingested, it acts quickly. A single teaspoonful of pure wood-alcohol can cause blindness, an ounce can cause death. Also inhalation of the fumes can cause blindness.

The poisonous action of methyl alcohol is manifested by headache, nausea, vomiting, dizziness, a cold, leaky skin, a slow and weak pulse, weakness of muscles, delirium, stupor, and death.

The eye symptoms include loss of vision, which may be sudden and complete, widely dilated pupils, pain in the eyeballs, and occasionally paralysis of one or more eye muscles which results in the person seeing double.

Early and persistent vomiting favors the preservation of life and partial recovery of vision. Likewise, prompt treatment may prevent blindness.

In acute wood-alcohol poisoning, the outcome is always grave. Of the few who do not die, many remain blind for life.

Dr. McCoy will gladly answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him, care of The Herald. Enclose stamped, addressed, large envelope for reply.

Questions and Answers

Question: H. G. F. asks: "Is there any chance for a person with locomotor ataxia to be cured with diet?"

Answer: A great deal of good can be accomplished in the cure of locomotor ataxia through fasting and dieting. Various physiotherapy treatments are also helpful, including the re-education of the muscles through the use of what is known as the Frenkel movement cure.

Question: Mrs. K. J. asks: "Has the Spanish Bayonet so frequently found in our western states any food value?"

Answer: The Indians frequently used the Spanish bayonet or yucca for food. The immature flower stalk when baked and dried has a sweetish pleasing flavor. The seed pods while still green may also be cooked similar to apple recipes.

Question: H. H. G. asks: "What is the advantage of milk of magnesia over dry magnesia. And what is the advantage of magnesia over soda to relieve gas?"

Answer: The hydrochloric acid of the stomach is counteracted by the use of alkalies. If this treatment seems advisable, either soda, dry magnesia or milk of magnesia would accomplish this purpose. The preference of one alkali over the other would depend upon the individual case and had best be determined by your consulting physician.

Question: Miss I. W. writes: "I have a craving for the inside of the egg-shell. Some people say it is harmful to eat, but I don't seem to suffer any ill effects. So what would make me crave it and is it harmful?"

Answer: There is nothing in any way harmful about eating the skin which lines an eggshell, but it occurs to me that you had better consult a psychologist.

GRANT'S FIRST MOVES.

Sixty-five years ago today the Federal offensive, under General U. S. Grant, who had just assumed command of the Union forces, took the form which ultimately resulted in victory for the Union cause.

Roughly, this date, in 1864, saw the taking of the first step in the historic "march through Georgia," for on that day General William Tecumseh Sherman assumed command of the Federal army of the Mississippi, who took personal charge a few days later of the army of the Potomac.

Sherman had been in charge of forces in Tennessee when Grant was placed in chief command. It was at his own request that Grant gave him the larger commission. McPherson succeeded to Sherman's

EDNA RABBE
It's Growing!

The shoulder-length bob is taking a real place among fashions of the hour for the younger set. In many high schools and colleges, more than half the girls are letting their hair grow to the new length. This style as worn by New York City girls is shown in the above photograph of Miss Edna Rabbe, 1925 Avenue G, Brooklyn.

Miss Rabbe says: "I am certainly delighted that I let my hair grow to the new length now that I have found a way to keep it easily manageable and attractive. My hair is ever so much fluffier and more vigorous than it has been for a long time. And it is free from all traces of dandruff, now. I attribute its improvement to the method I am using to care for it. It's so popular among the girls in my set. All we do is put a little Danderine on our brushes whenever we use them. This makes my hair so easy to dress any way I want it and holds it in place as I arrange it. Danderine soothes my scalp and keeps it and my hair so clean. I don't need to shampoo more than twice a month, now. And all my friends admire the way it makes my hair so bright and sparkling."

Danderine does more to bring out the natural color, the gleam and lustre of your hair, than shampoos or brillantines. It removes that oily film from it, gives it new life and lustre. It cleanses and invigorates the scalp; helps overcome dandruff. Danderine is delightfully fragrant; isn't oily, doesn't show. All drug stores have the generous 25c bottles.

old post and Logan was given McPherson's command. These changes were quickly made and a united drive against the south began. The strategy was simple. Grant's various armies were scattered fan-like on what was roughly the border of the south, and he planned to bring them all toward a common center.

Kebart Gets 18 Pin Lead Over Sasila In First 10

North End Man Wins Six Games; Averages 110.1; Hits 138; Finish Match Tomorrow.

Charlie Kebart of the north end took a 18 pin lead over John "Yask" Sasila of the south end in the first ten games of their home and home 20 game match rolled last night before a good sized crowd at Murphy's Alley.

Kebart got away to a good start and had a lead of over 80 pins at one time. This was cut almost to the core as the match continued and they were practically even as the eighth game commenced. The boys split the last two games and Kebart got the edge in doing so. A side bet of $200 is said to be at stake.

Kebart's 138 was his high single of the match. His average was 110.1 against 108.3 for Sasila, the match will be finished Wednesday night over north. Here are the scores for last night.

Table with 2 columns: Player Name, Score. Rows include Sasila 128, 123, 105, 105, 97, 110, 106, 99, 108, 138, 99, 110.

Sasila Also Loses Match to Phillips

Joe Phillips, a Rockville boy who was wearing rompers when the call to arms came in 1917, battled his way to victory by 91 targets over "Yask" Sasila by the accurate tossing of his hand grenade at the Brooklyn-Quang, nec. Murphy bowling alleys last night.

Joe hopped into the lead against "Yask" in the first stanza of the seven set game by 16 Indian clubs aided by one hit for three bases and two, two baggers while "Yask" did his best effort in this chapter was two spares.

"Yask" came back in the second to capture the lead by two pins, but that was the last time for the boy from Rockville took a 39 point lead in the third.

The pink checked boy from Rockville kept right on climbing and when the gong sounded at the end of the seventh, he was out ahead by 91 pins. His average was 121 L. Here are the scores:

BOSTON COLLEGE HAS BASEBALL PROGRAM

Al Weston to Play First With Creedon at Second; Season's Prospects.

Boston College, the only undefeated college on the gridiron last fall, appears to be headed in the same direction on the diamond this spring. A wealth of veteran material, with only one position unfilled makes the Maroon and Gold the strongest collegiate aggregation on paper in the pre-season figuring.

The infield of the team from the Heights is well taken care of, with the exception of short stop. But a merry scramble for the position has developed. Around talent is also galore and plenty of outfielders are available.

Captain Al Weston, famous gridiron star who took part in the East vs West football game, will hold down first base. Pat Creedon another "war horse" of the football field, has been scooped into the outfield, and is covering the keyhole position.

Foremost among the twirlers are Hughie McNulty, mainstay of the pitching staff during the past two seasons, and Shaker O'Connor, star southpaw from last year's freshman team, who is reported to have turned down more than one big league contract.

Local Sport Clatter

"Mayor" Sam Prentiss, Manchester Green's race jockey and baseball pilot, has called a special re-organization meeting of the Manchester Green baseball team to be held next Monday night at his home.

The DeMolay basketball team will practice tonight at the Rec at 7:30.

And, by the way, don't forget that the Rec Five is playing the Hartford Dixies here in the third and deciding game Friday night of this week.

Pinkey Kauffman's two round technical knockout victory over King Tut will boost the Hartford boys' stock sky high. Tut had a big reputation and Kauffman supposedly went out of his class to meet him.

Bill Lee, Hartford Courant sports writer who "covered" the Yale tournament picks his Yale All Star team as follows: Roberts of Bristol and MacPadden of Bristol, forwards, White of Bristol, center, Hurley of Central and Dwyer of Wilby, guards.

Gildea, New Haven Hillhouse center, made ten baskets in the tournament, scoring in all three games, and did not allow any of his opponents a single basket.

Training Camp F-l-a-s-h-e-s

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 19.—Manager Huggins of the Yankees intends to take his entire squad of 35 players north with him, with the possible exception of two rookies as yet unidentified.

The world's champions resumed their series with the Boston Braves today. Tony Lazzeri, with a mark of .600, has compiled the best batting average in exhibition contests to date.

Clearwater, Fla.—Observers at the Brooklyn camp agree that the four rookies who stand the best chance of making the grade with the Robins this season are outfielders Nick Cullop and Johnny Frederick and Pitches Oslie Dudley and Jim Richardson. Dudley, however, "telegraphs his curve ball by grunting every time he throws a hook, and is practicing self-control to remedy the weakness.

Ernie Wingard, former member of the St. Louis Browns and Milwaukee brewers, who was declared a free agent by Judge Landis, said he would like to sign with the Dodgers, but manager Robinson indicated the pitcher wants too much money.

San Antonio, Texas, March 19.—The New York Giants were back in San Antonio today and will stay here until they break camp on the 29th. The Giants chalked up their seventh straight win yesterday by trouncing Beaumont, 8 to 3. Pitcher Carl Hubbell and infielder Eddie Marshall, former members of the Beaumont club, were in the New York line-up.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—The Braves resume their war with the proud and powerful Yankees today. The Braves, getting consistently good pitching, is ahead of any club in the South in the matter of box strength so shortcomings in other departments do not make so much difference now. It is apparent daily, however, that the tribe's outfield must be bolstered.

Avon Park, Fla., March 19.—Ira Flagstead, the old reliable, will make his first appearance of the season in the Red Sox line-up in the game against the St. Louis Cardinals, here, this afternoon. Sickness forced Flagg to be a week late in reporting.

His presence in the garden will make the Sox a lot stronger facing the Cards today than they were when the National League champions trimmed them in Bradenton last Wednesday.

The most unusual role of the turf world, that of an owner riding his own horses, will be enacted at Bowie, Md., this spring when Earl Sande, one of the greatest jockeys of all time, will ride his own thoroughbred racers.

With the recent announcement that Sande had entered three of his horses in the Preknack, race followers are enthusing over the dramatic possibilities in coming Maryland meetings.

Sande's three entries for the big event are Safety Pin, Near By, and Hermitage.

Dempsey May Buck Garden By Detroit Promotions, Walsh

New York, March 19.—Jack Dempsey, the rising young producer, informed the writer today that much of his personal fortune, estimated at $2,000,000 by those who probably don't know, will be poured into the melting pot of promotion from which is brewed only one of two possible products: a two-syllable word, bullion, or a one-syllable word, meaning the cow's husband.

It also may be said that John has several things in mind and that both of them are himself. His ear is with Fugazy, but his eyes are on my own efforts and on my own money," said he.

Several Upsets Feature Boston Boxing Tourney Last Night Fights

Boston, March 19.—Of some 135 original entries in the New England Amateur Boxing Tournament, only 32 remained today, to compete in the semi-finals and finals at the Boston arena tonight.

At New York—George Courtney, Oklahoma Cowboy, lost to Nando Tanti, Italian light-heavyweight, on foul, 3.

Having won 17 games and lost only two this season, the Butler University basketball team was awarded the state title in Indiana.

At Philadelphia—Maxie Rosenbloom, New York, won decision over Leo Lomski, Aberdeen, Wash., light heavyweight, 10.

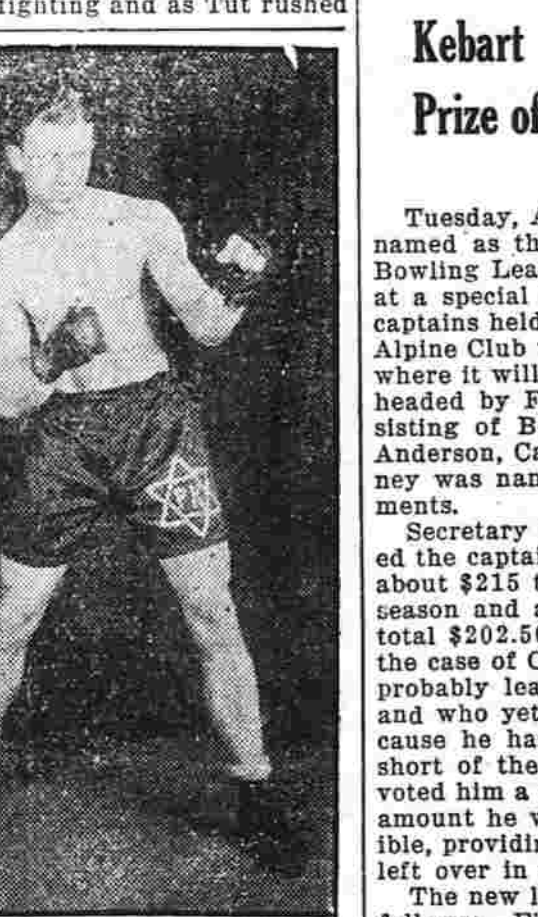

The heavyweight titles provided much excitement. Al Dean, of Boston, after taking a bad beating in the first round of his contest with Salvatore Andracchio, of East Boston, came back to put over the give for non-appearance in an A. U. event is that he "can't find any pleasure in it."

The winners of titles will compete in the junior national championships at Chicago, while finalists will be allowed to compete in the national "simon pure" tourney here in April.

KAUFMAN KAYOES KING TUT AFTER TAKING 9 COUNT

Philadelphia, March 19.—Pinky Kaufman, former Hartford amateur, battered his way into the top flight of the junior welterweights last night by stopping King Tut, the veteran battler from Minneapolis, in two rounds of a scheduled 10-rounder at the arena last night.

in to finish the bout Pinky nailed him with a right cross.

Kaufman lost no time in the second. With both hands flying he mauled Tut in a clinch and then tore loose to drive home two heavy body blows. Kaufman backed Tut to the ropes and bit him with both hands. Tut's arms fell by his side and he was helpless. The crowd urged the referee to stop the bout. Before the referee stepped in, he saved Tut from being knocked stiff.

PHILLIES WON'T BE A JOKE CLUB STATES SHOTTEN

Predicts Team Will Climb Out of Last Place; Tells His Probable Lineup In Interview.

By JAMES T. KILGALLEN

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 19.—Burt Shotten, the hustling gray-haired manager of the lowly Phillies, chronic tail enders in the National League pennant races, predicted in an interview today that his club will move up out of last place this season.

"This won't be a tall end club," said Shotten. "It's bound to rise. I've got a good infield, a good outfield and a pretty fair catching staff. The weak spot of the team is the pitching staff but I hope to line that up before the season opens.

"You can say for me that this will be no joke club. We'll play good enough ball to get out of the cellar, and I'm hoping to do even better than that."

Shotten outlined for International News Service what he thought would be the line-up of the club when the season opens. He said the bulk of the catching would be done by Davis, Lorian and Stacey.

"My infield, which I think is of real major league calibre, will be made up of Don Hurst on first, Fresno Thompson at second, Thevonen at short and Whitney at third. Hurst is a fine hitter and so is Whitney. I'm going to put Whitney in fourth position in the batting order as he is a good clean-up man.

He was second in the league last year in driving in runs. He batted .305. Everybody knows Thompson is a star, and now that Thevonen's broken leg has completely mended he is bound to do us a great deal of good.

"I intend to play Chuck Klein in right field, Peel in center and Lefty O'Doul in left. That outfield looks pretty good to me. Klein is a real slugger. He hit .367 for us last year and half a dozen clubs were after him. I was pleasantly surprised at the way young Peel, a rookie up from Houston, Texas, performed in our spring training workout, and he has the call for center. O'Doul in left is good enough for any big league outfield."

Shotten frankly admitted that his pitching staff is not all it should be. His pitchers are giving him more worry than any other part of his ball club. He has, however, some pretty fair pitching material. He said he would place his main dependence on Benge, Willoughby, Ferguson and Roy, right handers, and Wheatland, a southpaw. He said several of the rookie pitchers look pretty good, especially John Milligan, left hander, a young Cornell alumnaus, and Phil Collins, a former southern leaguer.

Carney Springs Surprise Defeating Heron, 100-96

DID YOU KNOW THAT—The Cubs won to Los Angeles for an exhibition game and craved excitement . . . and Joe McCarthy fussed with the ump's and the taxis were almost marooned by a deluge of rain . . . and most of the players got sea-sick on the boat . . . One of the rookies with the Cubs is named Horne . . . and they call him Trainer . . . Werber, the crack basketball star at North Carolina State, is a short-stop . . . and the Yankees already have him . . . Bruce Harrington and Jack Hill are rookies with the Reds . . . and they learned their baseball under Carl Lundgren and Hill at California under Carl Zamloch . . . Cancell, the new Dartmouth coach, was head coach there once before . . . for a year after Spears left Hanover.

CRITZ VERSUS HORNSBY The Cubs, the Giants and the Reds are going to be the toughest clubs in the National League pennant race this year, in the opinion of Manager Jack Hendricks. The handler of the Cincinnati club named his Reds first on the list of the 1929 contenders but we are trying to make him look modest.

"The Cubs are mighty strong, and not because they have Hornsby," he says. "Hornsby may be a star, and now that Thevonen's broken leg has completely mended he is bound to do us a great deal of good."

"I intend to play Chuck Klein in right field, Peel in center and Lefty O'Doul in left. That outfield looks pretty good to me. Klein is a real slugger. ### Men Tied at 92 Each in Close and Loosely Played Match; Lloyd and McMenemy Meet Tonight at 7:30

John "Blink" Carney sprung a big surprise in the opening match of the second annual town championship pocket billiards tournament at the School Street Rec last evening when he eliminated Sam Heron, one of the favorites to at least get well toward the finals. The score was 100 to 96.

The tournament will continue its progress tonight when John McMenemy and Lewis Lloyd meet at 7:30. It is possible that Joe Borowski and Bill Brennan also may play this evening. It all depends upon the amount of time the first match requires. Only one will be played at a time. Other players are requested to get in touch with the writer regarding the time of their matches.

The Carney-Heron match was marked by a neck-and-neck race at the finish. The men were tied at 92 balls each when the final rack got under way but Carney got the opportunity and ran out. After trailing the first two racks, Carney jumped into the lead and was never headed again until in the early minutes. Carney's biggest lead was 17 balls. Both men missed a lot of shots which they make as a rule. Heron, especially, was not up to the standard of play of which he is capable. At times Heron played excellent position.

Carney was the steadier of the two last night and deserved to win. Perhaps the fact that Heron didn't have his rabbit's foot with him had something to do with his defeat. Neither man had played on the table since last year.

Here is the rack by rack score: Carney Heron 6 ..... 5 10 ..... 15 21 ..... 20 23 ..... 18 40 ..... 31 46 ..... 39 51 ..... 31 57 ..... 43 64 ..... 49 70 ..... 55 74 ..... 55 79 ..... 72 83 ..... 80 89 ..... 82 92 ..... 92

HAYSTACK BLOCKS PATH OF O'BRIEN

Johnny Haystack, the "Binghamton, N. Y. Windmill," has signed to fight Frankie O'Brien, Hartford, middleweight, in the star bout at Foot Guard hall in Hartford, Thursday night.

O'Brien has waded through all opposition this winter without much trouble, but Haystack shapes as a batter in the semi-final, a lot of trouble. The Binghamton boy has twice fought Harry Ebbets, O'Brien's chief rival; the first time, Haystack floored Ebbets three times in the first round but then was knocked out himself in the second round. On the next occasion, which was on the Queensboro Stadium last summer, Haystack won to even the score.

He has been in the professional end of the game four years, starting when he was 19; he will have his 23rd birthday on March 31. Johnny is a stiff puncher and O'Brien certainly is so there will be two hard hitters in the ring as this ten-round gets under way at Foot Guard hall Thursday night.

Nick Christy, the Bristol sensation who has won every fight he has had as a pro and most of them on knockouts, will fight Jimmy Garcia of Worcester in the semi-final, which is on the books for six rounds. They were tumbled to meet last week, but Nick developed a heel injury. They did fight some two months ago when Garcia, after flooring Christy early in the fight, went down to a knockout defeat before the flailing fists of the Bristol boy.

MAY GET JOB AT GEORGIA TECH. Mike Miles, former Princeton basketball star, is said to have been offered a job as backfield coach at Georgia Tech to succeed Don Miller.

Conn. Mother Tells Story

Nature controls all the functions of our digestive organs except one. We have control over that, and it's the function that causes the most trouble.

See that your children form regular bowel habits, and at the first sign of bad breath, coated tongue, biliousness or constipation, give them a little California Fig Syrup. It regulates the bowels and stomach and gives these organs tone and strength so they continue to act as Nature intends them to. It helps build up and strengthen pale, listless, underweight children. Children love its rich, fruity taste and it's purely vegetable, so you can give it as often as your child's appetite lags or he seems feverish, cross or fretful.

Leading physicians have endorsed it for 50 years, and its overwhelming sales record of over four million bottles a year shows how mothers depend on it. A Connecticut mother, Mrs. C. W. Blaney, 83 Capitol Ave., Hartford, says: "Arthur was terribly pulled down by constipation. He got weak, fretful and cross, had no appetite or energy and food seemed to sour in his stomach. California Fig Syrup had him romping and playing again in just a few days, and soon he was back to normal, looking better than he had looked in months." Protect your child from imitations of California Fig Syrup. The mark of the genuine is the word "California" on the carton.

RICH GIRL—POOR GIRL

Are hearts always trumps in the game of love? Aren't there times when the "Queen of Diamonds" takes the winning trick? When the girl with money--and the things that money will buy--has an unfair advantage over the girl whose party dress is last year's made over? Ruth Dewey Groves, one of America's most widely read serial story writers, has written a modern answer to this age-old problem in her latest serial, "Rich Girl—Poor Girl."

THIS HAS HAPPENED
On Monday morning RUTH LESTER, secretary, finds the body of her employer, HANDBORNE HARRY BORDEN, sprawled beneath the airshaft window of his private office.

McMANN, detective sergeant, questions the following suspects: MRS. WORDEN, Borden's estranged wife and mother of his two children; RITA DUBOIS, night club dancer, with whom Borden was infatuated; and JACK HAYWARD, Ruth's fiancé, whose office is across the narrow airshaft from Borden's.

Jack's guilt seems emphasized by McMANN's discovery that Jack's pistol is missing from his desk; by Jack's admission that he returned to the seventh floor Saturday afternoon, and by the testimony of JIMMY MORAN and OTTO PFLEGER, elevator boys. BILL COWAN, Jack's friend, unwillingly admits having heard Jack threaten Borden's life Saturday morning.

McMANN questions BENNY SMITH, Borden's office boy; ASHE, his manservant; MINNIE CASIDY and LETTY MILLER, seventh floor scrubwomen, and CLEO GILMAN, Borden's discarded mistress.

MARTHA HANNING, mother of Borden's illegitimate son, is questioned. She says she last saw Borden Friday night in his office after his bodyguard, JAKE BAILEY, had left him, and that her incriminating fingerprints were made there.

Martha says she did not call Saturday afternoon but telephoned Borden. McMANN pointblank accuses her of the murder and Martha challenges him to bring forward anyone who saw her in the building Saturday.

Benny Smith bursts in upon them crying, "I've come to give myself up. I shot Mr. Borden."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XLII
Ruth Lester was miserably ashamed. Later to remember that her first emotion upon hearing Benny Smith say he had shot Borden was one of relief. Jack Hayward was saved! But that emotion was almost instantly submerged in pity. And she was glad later to remember that she was conscious of a horrified shrinking as she ran to put her arms about the unsteadily swaying body who has just confessed to murder.

"Here! Let me help!" McMANN firmly commanded the girl, and with as much ease as if he were lifting a baby the giant detective lifted the boy in his arms and carried him to the big, overstuffed leather chair from which the murderer had manipulated his two days had served the detective in charge of the investigation into his murder as a vantage point from which to heckle, harass, bully and confound a suspect.

When the boy was lying back weakly in the big chair, McMANN whirled one of the straight-backed visitors' chairs to the desk and commanded Ruth Lester to take down the confession. Her eyes were now so blinded with tears that she could hardly find her notebook and pencils—pencils upon which Benny himself had put such a fine brave edge just Saturday night.

"Ready, Miss Lester?" All right, Benny. Tell us all about it now," the detective commanded, almost gently. A glass of cold water from the tap in the outer office had been fetched by the detective himself and stood beside Benny's right hand.

"Well, sir," Benny began, after a strange, wistful look at Ruth Lester, who waited with poised pencil. "I lied yesterday when I said I didn't come back. I did come back, but nobody didn't see me, 'cause I walked up."

"Why did you walk up, Benny?" McMANN interrupted.

"'Cause I was sore at Mr. Borden. I—I wanted to have it out with him." Benny answered, his adolescent voice going suddenly soprano on the last word.

"What were you sore about?" "Cause he—he bowed me down," Benny cried, rolling his head from side to side against the brown leather back of the chair.

"Isn't it true that you were more sore at him because he'd got fresh with Miss Lester Saturday morning?" the detective suggested.

"You keep Ruth's name outa this!" Benny protested shrilly. "I tell you—I was sore at Mr. Borden 'cause he was always pickin' on me. 'n Saturday he talked to me like a dog, 'n he wanted to borrow Ruth's pistol for target practice."

"Then you were also lying when you said the pistol was not in Miss Lester's desk when you returned the first time—at half-past one?" McMANN asked.

"'Naw—it wasn't there. 'n say, I didn't come back up the second time to kill him—"

"But you walked up six flights of stairs so you would not be seen entering the building," McMANN pointed out grimly. "Listen, Benny, now that you're confessing, make a clean breast of everything. Your actions prove you premeditated murder."

"No, I didn't!" Benny denied, his head rolling wildly against the chair back.

"Well—go on," McMANN directed resignedly. "I come back, like I said, and opened the door with my key," Benny began rapidly, and was again interrupted by McMANN.

"At just what time?" "I—I don't know—exactly. 'Bout two o'clock, I reckon—"

"Then—" McMANN said parenthetically and triumphantly. "I'm 'nery that Rita Dubois robbed the body is correct." Then remembering the mysterious telephone call, a fragment of which Bill Cowan had said he overheard when he had called Jack Hayward's number at 2:10 and was plugged in on a busy line, and Rita's corroborating story of Borden's line being busy from 2:05 to 2:15, the detective asked: "Have you any way of fixing the exact time of your second return, Benny?"

The boy looked at the detective suspiciously, even fearfully, Ruth thought—though what could his fear now, after confessing "Naw, I don't know, I tell you, but it was 'bout two o'clock. 'At's all I know. I unlocked the door and come in, and Mr. Borden was settin' at his desk, 'n I—I come right in here, 'n we—we quarreled—"

"'Bout what?" the detective interrupted sharply.

"'Aw—just about him pickin' on me, 'n—everything! 'N he picked up a—his favever eyes roved over the desk and lighted upon the glass ink bottle, 'n he said, 'Benny, I had use of its contents with which to take Martha Manning's fingerprints—'that there ink well and started to throw it at me, 'n I grabbed Ruth's gun—"

"Wait! Just where was this gun?" McMANN cut in.

"'Layin' on the desk," Benny answered. "Right—right here!" and he laid his hands in the center of the big green blotter. "The big stiff tried to beat me to it—'n I thought he was goin' to shoot me—"

"After hitting 'you with the ink well?" McMANN asked mildly.

"'He—he put the ink well down," Benny amended desperately. "'N I—I pulled the tripper, 'thout knowin' what I was doin', 'n—'n the gun went off—'n 'at's all, 'n—'n the glass fell on the floor for a long draught of the cold water."

"So you shot Borden while he sat at his desk," McMANN said slowly. "That right?"

"'Yeah, 'at's right!" Benny retorted defiantly. "How do you account for the fact that his body was found away over there under the airshaft window?" McMANN demanded.

"I—I forgot that," Benny confessed. "'But—say, don't you go askin' me 'bout that, 'n I'll kill him—'cause I did!—I—I did it in self-defense," he added, obviously a little proud of his use of a legal phrase. "After I shot him, he got up and walked over there and fell down—'at's how it happened!"

The detective extracted an official-looking, typed document from his pocket. As he unfolded it, Ruth caught a glimpse of the wording of the printed letterhead: "Office of the Chief Medical Examiner, Department of Police."

McMANN studied the detailed report in silence, then folded it slowly and returned it to his pocket.

"Now, Benny, you know it can't make any difference in the long run whether you shot Borden while he was seated at his desk, or while he was standing at that window. Come, now—just where was Borden when you shot him?"

"Settin' at his desk!" Benny repeated stubbornly, and began to cry, like a small boy, and not at all like the 17-year-old young man, man-about-town that he fancied himself to be.

"And Benny?" McMANN's voice was very gentle now—"Low many times did you shoot Borden? How many bullets were fired?"

"Just one!—I—I sorta come to wive it mean what I done, 'n I dropped the gun 'n beat it—"

Just one bullet! Ruth repeated to herself. And two bullets had been fired on Saturday, one imbedding itself in Borden's chest, and the other scarring a brick beside Jack Hayward's office window.

"So you dropped the gun, eh, Benny?" McMANN asked gently. "Odd we didn't find it—"

"I—I picked it up agoin' 'n stuck it in my overcoat pocket, 'n then I beat it down the stairs," Benny confessed, rolling his eyes shrilly. "'I—gosh, I was scared!—I—I wrapped the gun in a newspaper what I—I found on the stairs—'n I mean in one of them big sacks in the hall what the cleaning women use to dump wastebaskets in—'n I chucked the gun in a—big trash can on the sidewalk—"

"Where?" McMANN interrupted.

"I—I don't remember. Aw, gee, Mister, what does all them things matter now, 'n I told you I dropped the gun 'n beat it?" the boy pleaded, wiping his eyes on the sleeve of his coat.

"Benny, after you'd—shot Borden, did you go around to Mr. Hayward's office for any reason whatsoever?" Ruth interrupted with a question of her own.

The boy stared at her, frankly puzzled. "'Naw—why should I?" "I thought so! Oh, Benny! Why are you doing all this?" For my sake Benny, the girl cried, her voice shaking. Jumping up from her chair at the desk, she abandoned her notebook and pencil and ran to the boy. "I know you're just making it all up, Benny darling! Why, why?"

"'Naw—it wasn't there. 'n say, I didn't come back up the second time to kill him—"

"But you walked up six flights of stairs so you would not be seen entering the building," McMANN pointed out grimly. "Listen, Benny, now that you're confessing, make a clean breast of everything. Your actions prove you premeditated murder."

"No, I didn't!" Benny denied, his head rolling wildly against the chair back.

"Well—go on," McMANN directed resignedly. "I come back, like I said, and opened the door with my key," Benny began rapidly, and was again interrupted by McMANN.

This And That In Feminine Lore

Novel Idea for a Patchwork Quilt.
For a colonial type of bed every woman wants a patchwork quilt, but most of us neither care to pay the price of one or take the time to make it. If you want a filling job one of the ready to cover sheets of cotton bats the proper size which entail less work in piecing. Decide on your lining and quilt material, white sateen or unbleached cotton. Then make a trip through the drapery departments or the counters where cretonnes and similar fabrics are sold. Cut flowers from the cretonne you select and try them about on the white background, taking care not to overload the quilt with decoration or to produce a "spotty" look. If the cretonne has a pattern showing a vine this would be extremely nice run all around the border of your quilt. Care must be taken to apply the cretonne flowers and vines evenly and neatly.

Maple butter is delicious with waffles and is easily made. Use 1 cup of good syrup (it need not be pure maple but may be flavored) and cook until it forms a soft ball in cold water. Add 1/2 of a cup of butter and beat with a rotary egg beater until thick and creamy. Serve warm on waffles, hot biscuits, muffins, griddle cakes or gingerbread. This makes 1 1/2 cups of maple butter. It may be heated but it hardly pays to do so.

Easter eggs have gone the way of everything else and are modernized in their coloring and design. The old-fashioned eggs with dots, dashes, broken checks, plaids and all manner of things modern. Children will love to decorate their own Easter Eggs this year if given the chance to be original. Hard-boiled eggs are a more practical than blown eggs. The children can use ordinary crayons on them while they are still hot. Give them some pictures or designs to copy and they will love this part of the preparation for the Easter party. Appropriate prizes for the winners of egg-gathering contests might include huge decorated chocolate eggs or some other article that carries out the Easter idea. At each place at the party table should be some basket or bag for the little ones to put the eggs they gather into. If one wants to take the trouble bunnies caps with long ears lined with pink will delight the children.

The WTIC broadcast "Little Journey" transported the hearers to the Golden Goose Inn in historic Old Greenwich. The recipes given were for cocount custard cream pie and cream of tomato soup, both which are featured dishes at the inn.

Plant milk, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons sugar, 2 eggs (yolks only), 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 1/4 cup cocount, 1 teaspoon vanilla extract.

Mix dry ingredients. Pour boiling milk over them and cook five minutes in double boiler. Remove from fire, add beaten yolks of eggs and cook again until thick. Let cool, add cocount and vanilla. Pour into pie crust previously baked. Cover with meringue made with 2 eggs whites, 4 teaspoons sugar and 1 teaspoon lemon.

The Golden Goose chef's recipe for the delicious cream of tomato soup follows:

1 can tomatoes, 1 bay leaf, 1/4 teaspoon onion extract, 1/2 pint water, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 1 tablespoon butter, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1/4 teaspoon soda, 1 pint milk, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper.

Heat milk in double boiler, add tomato mixture to milk; heat but do not boil, and serve decorated with minced parsley.

Tomato mixture: Boil a few minutes, tomato, bay leaf, water parsley and onion extract. Strain through colander. Blend cornstarch and butter with little milk, add to boiling soup. When smooth add soda, pepper and sugar.

I have had a number of good reports from housewives who tried the "Angel" gingerbread, the recipe for which came from WTIC through Miss Floral Bowring, and which we printed in this column recently.

YOUR CHILDREN

"Mother, I think I'll wear my new red silk dress to school this afternoon, if you don't mind."

Jane's mother looked startled for an instant, but quickly recovered and answered readily enough, "Very well; I don't mind. Is something special going on?"

"No, I just want to wear it." Jane went upstairs and in ten minutes she came down looking like a Kentucky cardinal.

"You look very nice, dear," said her mother proudly. "That is such a lovely shade of red. You look like a cherry." But she was still surprised when Jane, without any further comment, put on her gossamer and slicker, kissed her good-bye and closed the door.

By and by Grandma came downstairs. Did Jane change her clothes? Her blue serge lying on her bed. Does it need mending?

"I don't know. I think not, though. She wanted to wear her red dress and I let her. She didn't say 'why let her? What for? I declare, Ellen, you are the queerest mother I ever saw! Every time that child takes a notion to do something queer you fall for it. Such a day! She'll be ruined."

"No, you see, Mother, I don't pry into every little reason Jane has for doing things. She had some reason, I'm sure, and a good one. She didn't tell me because she's well, maybe she didn't know exactly herself. We don't always—you know."

Jane came home at four, went directly to her room and took off the red dress.

"I was very careful, Mother. It's a beautiful bit, wiped off my desk and seat before I sat down. I feel lots better. This morning was dreadful—I kept saying over and over to myself, 'I can't come to school this afternoon; I can't come to school this afternoon.' I can't! I hate this old place."

"Then I thought, if I had something to cheer me up, I'd feel better. And my red dress popped in to my head. I don't think I could have gone to school without it."

Children are like the rest of us, more or less temperamental and sensitive to surroundings. Who doesn't get stale on the daily routine and need a fillip of morale in the way of something different?

I think that Jane's mother was a very wise woman in more ways than one.

Fingernail tints to harmonize with the costume are to be the vogue this spring. Guess father will have to buy another black suit.

Hints On How To Keep Well by World Famed Authority

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, and the Health Magazine.

The advertising of mouth washes has made the word halitosis significant to everyone.

The presence of foul breath is an indication of diseases of the mouth, of the stomach, of the lungs, of the nose and throat, or of some other tissue adjacent to the mouth cavity.

Halitosis is not a disease with a single cause, but is a symptom resulting from many possible causes. The first step in the control of halitosis is detection of the cause.

Among the most frequent causes of halitosis is decay of the teeth. This can be determined only by regular dental inspection. Lack of cleanliness of the teeth will cause a mild degree of halitosis.

Infections and pus pockets around the teeth will cause much more severe halitosis. Sometimes the odor does not come from the teeth, but from an infected throat.

The tonsils become filled with infectious matter, even with decaying particles of food, and these material gives off a definite odor with each breath. It is possible for a physician to squeeze out these crypts and then to clean the surface with antiseptic solutions.

Gargles are sometimes effective in washing out the surface, but many people do not know how to gargle correctly. Furthermore, such measures are only temporary.

If the tonsils are severely infected, and if there is a very bad odor from an infected throat, surgical removal of the tonsils is necessary to a cure.

Infections in the nose with crusting and particularly in the spaces behind the nose are the most prominent causes of foul breath. The diagnosis and treatment of such a condition is a problem for a specialist. Anyone can, however, with cleansing solutions, clear out deposits of secretions and crusts after these things are formed.

Simple solutions, such as a teaspoonful of common salt in a glass of warm water, is satisfactory for most purposes. Occasionally small amounts of boric acid or other mild antiseptics may be added.

It is important to know that washing of the nose and the cavity behind is a delicate matter and that serious results may follow the forcing of infectious matter into the sinuses which lead from the nasal cavity to the ear.

Among the freight carried by the airplane which inaugurated the airmail service between Quebec Province and New York State was a live black bear cub.

WHEN A CHILD IS FEVERISH, CROSS, UPSET

Colic, gas, sour belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness in babies and children, generally show food is souring in the little digestive tract.

When these symptoms appear, give Baby a teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Add it to the first bottle of food in the morning. Older children should be given a tablespoonful in a glass of water. This will comfort the child—relieve his stomach and bowels easy. In five minutes he is comfortable, happy. It will sweep the bowels free of all sour, indigestible food. It opens the bowels in constipation, colds, children's ailments. Children take it readily because it is palatable, pleasant-tasting.

Learn its many uses for mother and child. Write for the interesting book, "Useful Information," Address The Phillips Co., 117 Hudson St., New York, N. Y. It will be sent FREE.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875.

The WOMAN'S DAY

The Federal Council of Churches, "alarmed by the rebellion of the younger generation against conventional sex standards," appointed a committee which recently issued its first report on "Ideals of Love and Marriage."

"The Christian ideal of marriage can make no compromise with lax sex relations."

"The chief danger of companionate marriage is that it puts sex desire first."

"The free woman on the basis of equality and self-respect can be the life-mate of one man only."

"Divorce, even when allowed by the church, must be looked upon as a tragic and humiliating failure."

DECISION QUESTIONED.
The magazine, "The Nation," makes the following pertinent comment:

"Such sweeping generalizations naturally evoke questions. What, precisely, are 'lax sex relations'?"

"The churchmen set up strictly institutional and legal standards for judging marriage, what justification and body of facts can they bring to the support of their standards? Certainly unless they can supply something more than declarations of principle, the younger generation will say that they are begging the whole question of sexual conduct."

"Solomon had 700 wives and 300 concubines, but by the church standards of his own time he was not guilty of 'lax sex relations.' The Koran allowed a man to take four wives, and the Hindu law books do not prohibit polygamy."

"The Churchmen's generalization on divorce also arouses questions. Must all divorces be looked upon as tragic and humiliating? What of the many reasonable and innocent men and women who go into marriage to find themselves misled, agree to part in friendly fashion, and try again? Must they feel tragic and humiliated because they have made a common mistake of youth?"

FREEDOM?
"And why must the free woman be 'the life mate of one man only' if she is to maintain equality and self-respect? Why not leave the choice as to the number of gentlemen to the lady herself if she is really free?"

"We are living in that particular part of the Western Hemisphere which in the early twentieth century is dominated by a set of religious and social traditions"

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS

There's plenty of scandal power in some light conversation.

SENSE and NONSENSE

You don't have to make a better mouse trap now. Just neglect to pay your installments on time, and see the path that gets beaten to your door.

"Charley, Charley," whispered my wife, poking me in the ribs. "Wake up, Charley; there are burglars in the pantry, and they're eating all my pies."

Sadie Sorethroat writes from her sick bed! A girl will wear skirts that hardly come to her knees, and then insist that the barber leave her hair long enough to cover her ears.

The Married Cat—Why, you haven't brains to cook a dinner. The Gold Digger—Perhaps not, but I have brains enough to get one without having to cook it.

Gladys—"My ears burn; someone must be talking about me!" Clarice—"Probably; your old flames."

Even His Teeth Are "Tight." Doc—"That tooth must come out and the charge will be three dollars."

What's Wrong With This Picture. "Waiter, why is it that there is a trouser button in my soup?" "Do you darling, sir. We employ only female help."

I call my sweetie "Pittsburgh"—she soots me.

Teacher—"Why did Washington cross the Delaware?" New Pupil—"For the same reason that the hen crossed the road, and you can't catch me on them riddles."

Doctor—Are you sure you take your cup of hot water every morning?" Patient—I do, doctor, but my wife calls it coffee.

Clarice—"I don't see you out with Gladys any more, Jerry?" Jerry—"The doctor told me to give up sweets!"

"Make it short and snappy," cried the city editor. "Boil it down." And when they handed the new reporter the Ten Commandments to try him out, he wrote: "Don't."

Father: "Say, that kiss lasted 10 minutes. I timed it!" Sutor: "Well, you see sir, your daughter's lips stick!"

"Mummy," said little Grace seriously, "I want to marry Bobby." "Do you darling, and why?" "Cos his uncle's just given him a $5 gold piece."

It's grand to love But oh, how bitter. To love a gal And then not glitter.

The Champion Kicker. It is easy enough to be grouchy when things aren't coming your way, but the prize old growl is the man who will howl when everything's going O. K.

LETTER GOLF

BOTH OF US YOUR puzzle and MINE is a par seven. Here is proof and the solution, which you may be able to beat on another page:

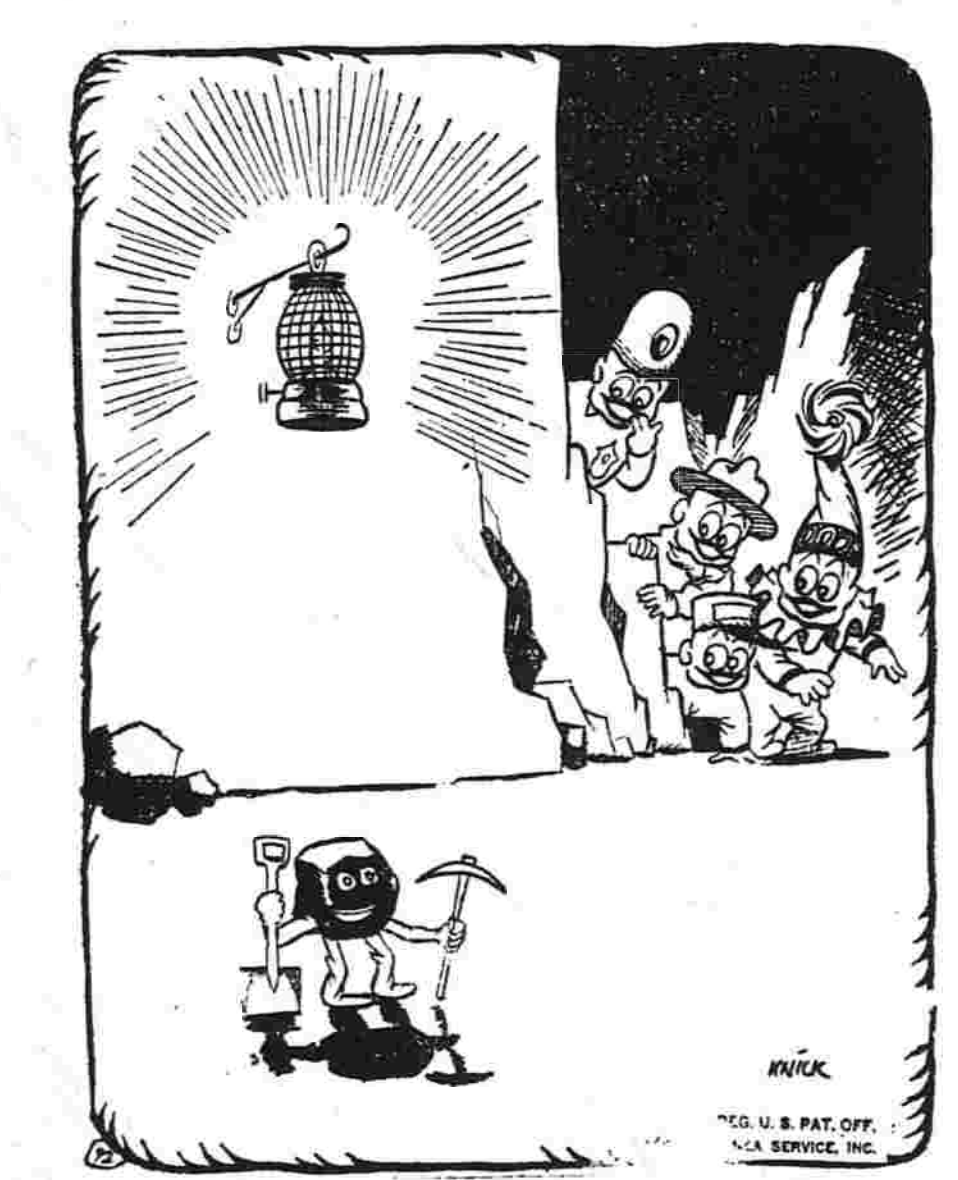

Letter Golf grid with words 'YOUR' and 'MINE' filled in.

THE RULES.

- 1—The idea of Letter Golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to HEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.

She said, "You can kiss me on either cheek." "And hurry"—"don't you see them?" "I did, but then I took my time hesitatingly—between them."

THE ANYMITES

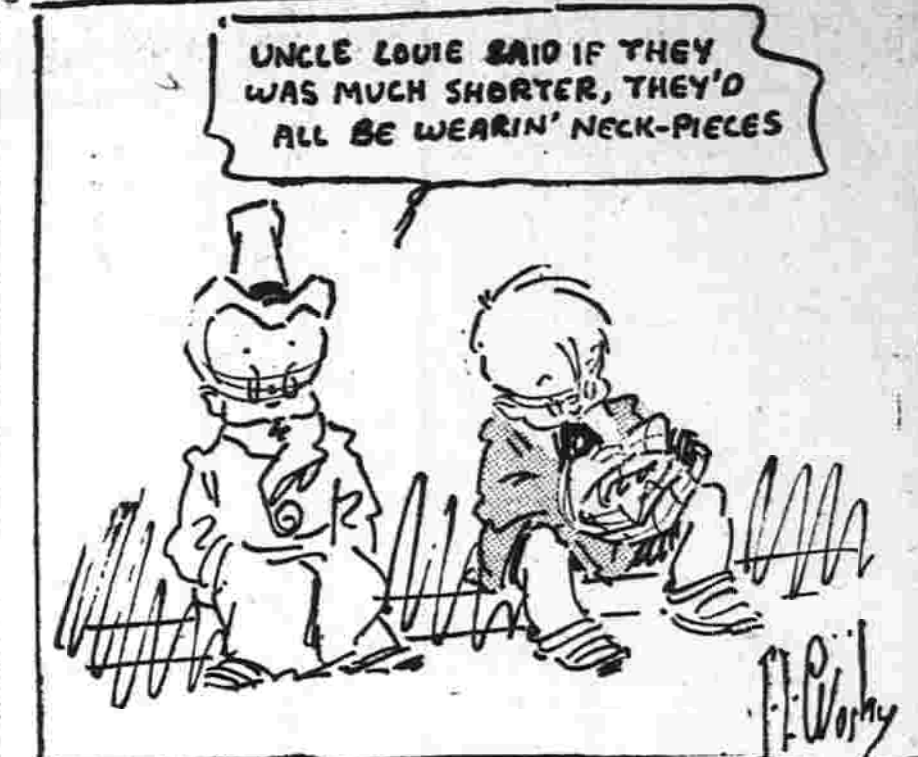

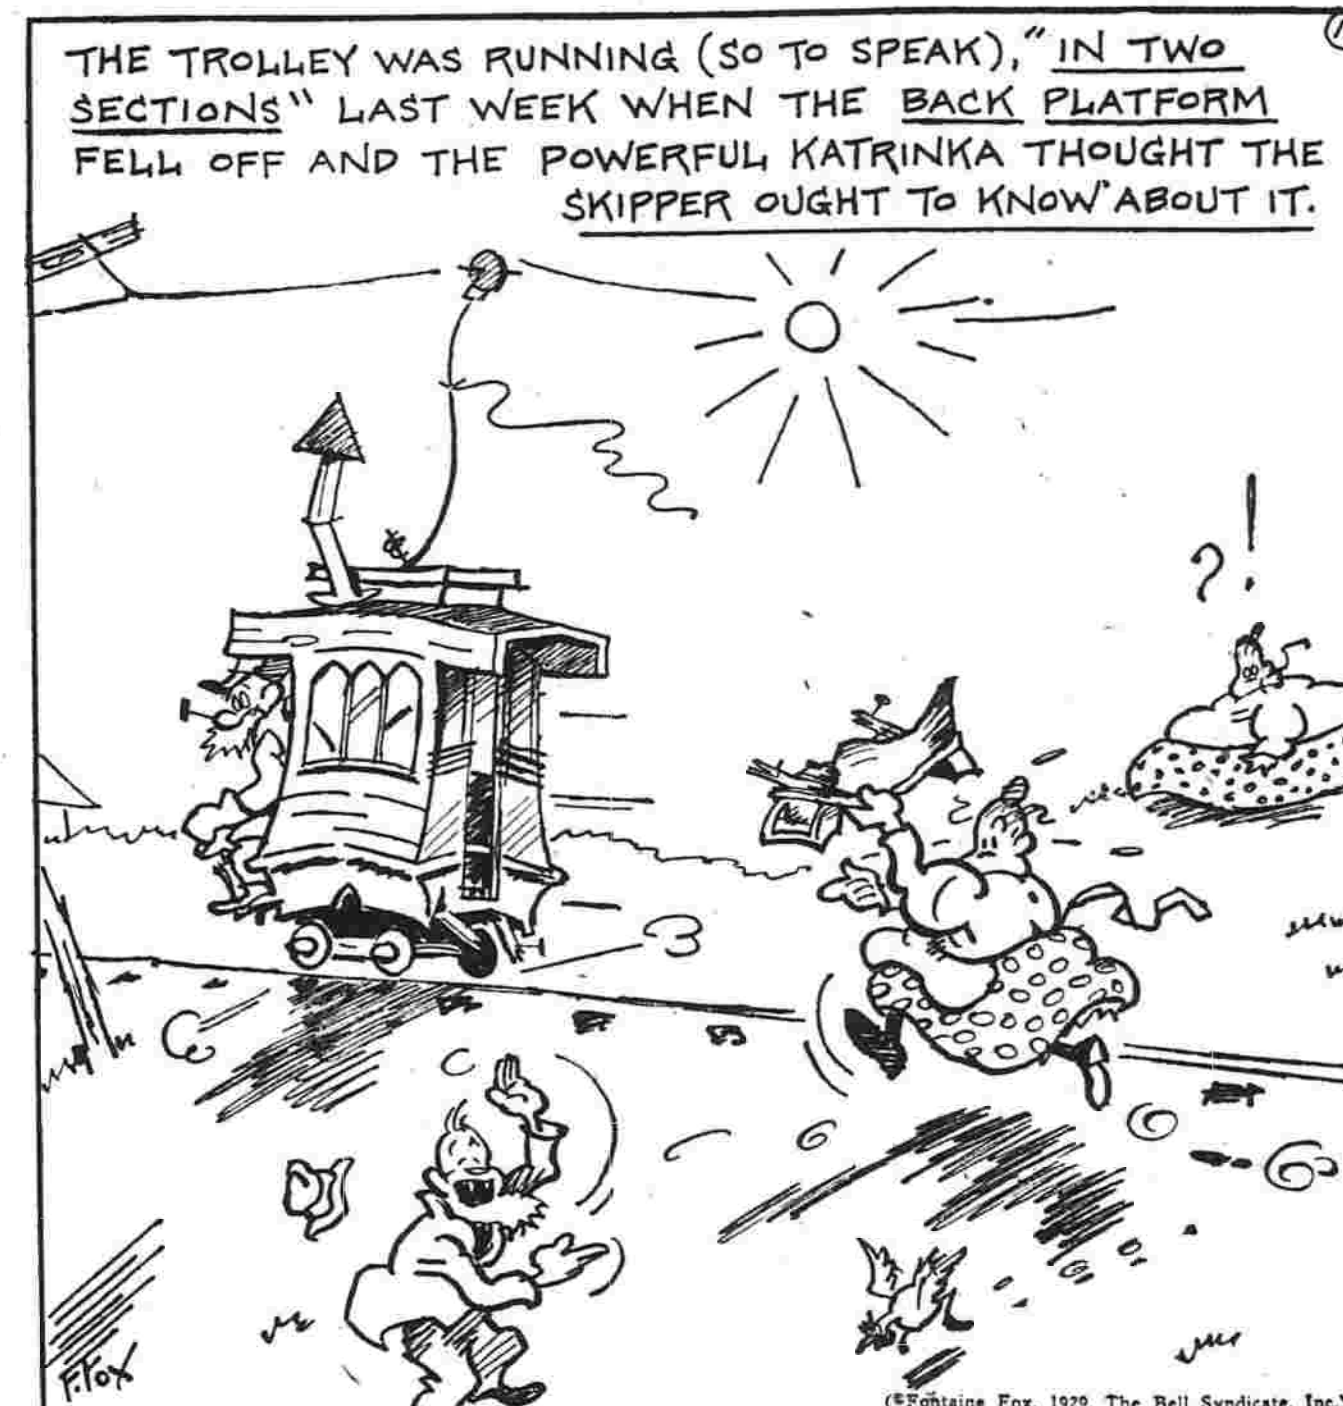

"Oh, my," cried Scouty, "we are glad to welcome you, wee Clowny lad. We all were very scared. We thought you might be gone for good. Why, ever since the day you went into the cave, our time's been spent in searching for you far and wide. We've done the best we could."

PHONES Pinehurst "GOOD THINGS TO EAT"

NOW YOU ASK ONE.

Quick, now! Right off the bat! Where did Corned Beef get its name? How does the word "Corn" get into the Beef Brines? "Oh, little boy, the only way corned beef could give you corns would be that if you were a long, long way from any corned beef and you really and truly got a corned beef craving on you, you might, not improbably, start and walk so far and so fast that it would give you corns. But that's rather far-fetched.

Corned beef got its name from being prepared with salt in granules, or "corns" as all granules used to be commonly called. Pretty easy—what? But the corning of beef has advanced from the point where it was merely sprinkled with salt "corns" haphazard, till now it's quite a science. And Pinehurst prides itself on knowing a thing or two about that science. It doesn't however, think it knows enough to make good Corned Beef out of any old chunks. The first thing to learn about corning beef is to put good beef into the brine. The next thing is to have the right brine and the right vats—after that to know when to take it out again.

Pinehurst is offering today as fine a selection of Corned Beef as Manchester people ever saw. Call us up, Phone 2000, tell us your favorite cut and let us send it to you. Wonderful fresh vegetables to go with it.
