BOMBING, FIRES, ODD ACCIDENTS, 4TH'S FEATURES

Town Is Unusually Quiet,
However—Night Before
Doesn't Produce Usual
Disturbances.

Although the celebration on the night before the Fourth was the quietest in many years, more than a score of persons were injured, some seriously, here yesterday. Six persons were arrested for premature discharging of fireworks and there were six fires none of which did any material damage. The most seriously injured person is Miss Violet McGrath of 489 Main street who was struck by the top of a large maple tree which was snapped off by a heavy southern gale which swept over town yesterday afternoon. She was taken to the Memorial hospital with a ten-inch scalp laceration but her condition is not regarded as serious.

Other Accidents.
Joseph Gorris, 19 years old, of Burnside street, East Hartford, was badly injured in an automobile accident near Weston's tobacco farm in Vernon at 3 o'clock yesterday morning and taken to the Memorial hospital. The driver of the car, Victor Chermakans, 18 years old, of Lindsley avenue, East Hartford, escaped serious injury and was arrested by State Police from Stafford barracks on a charge of drunken driving.

The two young men were said to have been on their way home from a dance at Crystal Lake and to have been drinking. Gorris lost control of his car and it careened off a telephone pole into an open lot and overturned. Chermakans escaped with slight injuries. He pleaded not guilty to drunken driving in Rockville Court this morning and had his case continued until Monday morning under bonds of $400 furnished by his sister. The outcome of Gorris's injuries are awaited.

The residence of Prosecuting Attorney Charles R. Hathaway at 63 Laurel street was "bombed" about 8 o'clock yesterday morning by persons using a home made bomb. The front porch window was shattered but no other damage done.

A half dozen men were arrested for Fourth of July violations and one man was arrested for drunken automobile driving. The Fourth cases will be in police court here tomorrow.

The cold weather no doubt had a lot to do with the comparatively small number of "bombs" on Main street after midnight Wednesday. Another fact which kept a large number of young men away was the dance at Crystal Lake which lasted until 3 o'clock yesterday morning.

List of Accidents.
A list of some of the mishaps reported by local physicians follows:
1—Frank Schaub, 23 years old, of 180 Hillstreet road, had two fractures.

SAFEST, SANEST
FOURTH IN YEARS
Less Than Score Killed and
200 Injured in Nation; No
New England Deaths.

The United States observed its "safest and sanest" Fourth of July in history, this year, according to an International News Service checkup today which revealed the death and accident toll from the use of fireworks considerably less than that reported in 1928 and earlier years.

TO CROSS ATLANTIC
IN 16 FOOT BOAT
Boston, July 5.—With equipment consisting of a compass, a pair of oars and the ability to speak French, David G. Turner, 23-year-old Boston youth who plans a trans-Atlantic voyage to Paris in a 16-foot open boat, today was well on his way to St. Johns, Newfoundland, the first port of call where additional supplies will be taken aboard. Turner plans to sleep by day, while the boat drifts, and to push forward at night.

CONSERVATIVES WILL SUPPORT
DISARMAMENT
Leaders of That Party Tells
House of Commons That He Favors Yardstick Suggestion Made by U. S.

London, July 5.—Conservative party support was given today to the naval reduction proposal of Premier Ramsay MacDonald, head of the new Labor government. Sir Joseph Austen Chamberlain, one of the leaders of the Conservative Party, addressing the House of Commons, said that the new "naval yardstick suggestion" of the United States "seems to us to be full of hope and a good augury for the future." He added:

"We earnestly desire that the negotiations in which the premier is now engaged shall come to a successful conclusion."
The suggestion has been made that an actual disarmament conference should be preceded by a meeting of statesmen, presumably in London, after the naval technicians would meet to apply the "yardstick" of equivalent naval values.

While Sir Austen approved the disarmament policy of the MacDonald government, he opposed the government's intention of signing the optional clause of the statute of the permanent court of international justice.

HENDRYX'S DEATH MAY BE MURDER
Coroner Asks New Haven
Police to Question Man Who Found Body.

New Haven, July 5.—A man named Marshall today entered into the coroner's investigation of the death of Nathan W. Hendryx, prominent man-facturer and clubman whose body was found off Stony Creek Wednesday night.

Pending his investigation the coroner refused to issue any statement concerning the Hendryx affair. When Dr. A. S. McQueen, Branford medical examiner, reported the death as accidental drowning, the coroner ordered the body held at a local undertaker's rooms. Then he had Dr. V. A. Kowalewski, acting local medical examiner, perform an autopsy. That was done last evening, but the coroner withheld the results.

How London Honored Late General Booth

General Bramwell Booth, founder of the Salvation Army, led his people for the last time when thousands followed his body through the streets of London to its last resting place. Here you see the scene at one of the city's busiest corners as the cortege passed, led by the General's own automobile bearing his body. At the head of the marchers are the widow and Adjutant Pritchard.

CAPONE GANGSTERS ARRESTED IN PARIS

Paris, July 5.—Two alleged members of the "Scar Face Al" Capone's Chicago gang, were arrested here today by the United States Secret Service.

According to the officials the two prisoners admitted that they were making preparations to attempt to sell worthless American stock in an alleged securities swindle.

The men were booked as William MacCherry, aged 50, and Victor Lustig, aged 39, alias Robert Miller. They were arrested in a fashionable hotel in the Champs Elysees.

It is assumed the alleged gangsters came to France from America when it became "too hot" for them in Chicago, following the arrest and sentencing of Capone himself in Philadelphia.

Capone is now serving time in a Pennsylvania prison, having been found guilty of carrying concealed weapons.

AGED COUPLE DIE TOGETHER

Wife Decides to Accompany
Sick Husband Into Next
World—Suffocated by Gas.

East Orange, N. J., July 5.—Frederick Sutter and his wife, Mrs. Malvena Sutter, were regarded by all their friends and neighbors as "a fine old couple." They were devoted to each other. He would have been 79 years old today, and she was 65.

Their declining days would have been extremely happy but for one thing. That was Mr. Sutter's illness. He had been an invalid for years. Of late he had not been feeling at all well. His gray-haired, kind-faced wife noticed it. And she was worried.

Financially, the old couple did not seem to have any worries. They had a good home with their nephew, George A. Sutter, and in a savings bank they had to their credit $10,000.

Late last night George Sutter returned home from an automobile ride. He found the old couple dead. They were seated side by side, Sutter in his wheelchair. Mrs. Sutter on another chair, with a blanket over her head and over a gas range, which had been turned on.

FALLING BRANCH INJURES WOMAN

Miss Violet McGrath Knocked Down When Heavy
Tree Top Breaks Off.

Miss Violet M. McGrath, 32 years old, was badly injured late yesterday afternoon when struck by the top of a large maple tree snapped off by an unusually heavy southerly gale which swept over the town. She was taken to the Memorial hospital where it was at first believed that her condition was serious. However, this morning it was stated that there is no indication of a fracture.

Was at Cemetery
Miss McGrath was injured in front of the home of Newton H. Snow at 148 East Center street. She was on her way home from the East cemetery where she had been visiting the grave of her mother who died last December. A heavy gale was blowing at the time and it swept between the houses in that vicinity with particular force snapping off the top of the tree just above a point where it had been repaired with cement.

The section of the tree which weighed nearly a ton struck Miss McGrath a glancing blow on the top of the head knocking her down. She did not lose consciousness, however, and was helped into the home of George H. Allen at 142 East Center street where she was given first aid treatment before being removed to the Memorial hospital in William P. Quish's ambulance.

Deep Gash
Examination revealed that she had suffered a deep gash nearly 10 inches in length extending from the front of the head at the hair line clear around to the back. Miss McGrath lives alone in Odd Fellows Building and is employed at Cheney Brothers. She is known to many local people as Mrs. Violet Hasselbrock but assumed her maiden name following her divorce a few years ago.

DELAYS MAY JEOPARDIZE TARIFF BILL

Unless Democrats Offer Unusual Co-operation It Will Not Be Ready Until September.

Washington, July 5.—The administration's new tariff bill, designed to replace the act which poured $600,000,000 into the Federal Treasury last year, may not be ready for the Senate when it reconvenes August 19, it was learned today—a delay that may jeopardize final enactment of the measure.

Administration leaders reported a fear that the Senate finance committee will run into serious delays when it takes up the free list and administrative features. Unless the Democratic minority offers unusual co-operation, it was said, the bill may not be ready for the Senate before the end of August.

Public hearings on the bill will be concluded, so far as rates are concerned, on July 10. After that, the committee must consider articles on the free list and finally, the administrative features. These tasks may consume two more weeks, with the committee starting its rate-fixing duties about the last of July. This program would allow about three weeks for fixing all schedules, if the bill is to be ready by August 1.

Fears Delay
"I hope the bill will be ready August 19," observed Senator Smoot (R) of Utah, chairman of the committee. "I doubt it though. It all depends on the length of time it takes to consider the free list and administrative features. And we will need unusual co-operation from the Democrats."

Administration leaders particularly desired to start Senate debate on the bill August 19, in view of their program to enact it into law by November 1. When the present vacation was taken, they insisted upon the Senate returning August 19—mustered their forces twice to defeat later dates. The insurgents, known to oppose any and all tariff increase except those applying to agricultural products, fought to lengthen the recess into September.

Rumors were current at the time that this delay was desired in order to facilitate a filibuster against final passage of the bill.

Autos in Free List
On subject alone may delay the free list hearings—the tentative proposal to place automobiles on the free list. Henry Ford, Alfred P. Sloan, president of General Motors, Alvan Macaulay, head of the Packard company and president of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, have been invited, with other automobile executives, to confer with the committee.

The lifting of the automobile tariff now 25 per cent and for a round of entertainments this afternoon, to be followed by a gala theater performance tonight.

ducting Own Investigation

Mineola, N. Y., July 5.—Dr. Alexander O. Gettler, New York City toxicologist, reported to Assistant District Attorney Phillip Huntington today that his examination of the organs of Wilmer Stultz indicated that the famous flyer was intoxicated when his plane crashed, killing Stultz and two others near Roosevelt Field last Monday.

Huntington, in revealing this information, said he is considering starting an investigation to learn who sold Stultz the liquor and whether any air official was responsible for permitting him to fly with two passengers under such conditions.

"The public is asked and urged to support aviation," said Huntington. "It is asked to become alarmed. If there is any bad spot, the public is entitled to know the truth and the force of public opinion should have great weight in correcting any such evils."

Doctor's Report
Dr. Gettler, in his report to the assistant district attorney, said: "The amount of alcohol in the brain indicates that the deceased was in an intoxicated condition at the time of death."

The brain, the doctor's report stated, showed 0.42 per cent alcohol. The alcohol was ethyl (grain) alcohol. A large amount of alcohol was found in the stomach, the report added, "some alcohol" in the heart, and a "large amount of alcohol" in the lungs.

Examination of Stultz's vital organs was made upon an order signed by County Judge Lewis J. Smith.

WERE READY TO SELL WORTH- LESS AMERICAN SECURITIES WHEN NABBED AT HOTEL

Paris, July 5.—Two alleged members of the "Scar Face Al" Capone's Chicago gang, were arrested here today by the United States Secret Service.

According to the officials the two prisoners admitted that they were making preparations to attempt to sell worthless American stock in an alleged securities swindle.

FEAR NOT DEATH, DOYLE ADVISES

Noted Author Says He Is Sure There Is a Personal Survival After Death.

London, July 5.—Announcing his belief that he is about to die, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, famous creator of Sherlock Holmes, and now a leading spiritualist, in a message to his "own generation" urges them not to fear death. He said he is convinced there is a "personal survival after death."

"We are about to die—you and I," says an extract from his remarkable message. He adds:

"My age is just 70, and I suppose the actuary would give me five more years. It may be only one. Who can say? But you and I are suffering from a wasting and incurable disease called old age and there is but one end to it."

The author admitted that there were times when doubt crept into his mind impelling him to go over all the ground again.

NO WORD RECEIVED YET FROM TRIBUNE PLANE

Berlin Bound Plane Thought
Safe and Now Flying Over
Wild Parts of Canada.

Chicago, July 5.—The "Untin" Bowler, Berlin-bound Pathfinding plane of the Chicago Tribune, was believed today to be near Rupert House, at the lower tip of St. James bay, or in the wild country of Canada.

Parker D. Cramer, co-pilot, who is in charge of the Bowler's radio sending apparatus, has been picked up since 3:10 p. m. yesterday. Col. Robert R. McCormick, who is sponsoring the flight, said he was certain the flyers were safe.

The area over which the plane flew yesterday and was scheduled to pass over today is the most remote from good communication of the entire route.

DAILY EXECUTIONS IN SOVIET RUSSIA

150 Death Sentences Imposed Each Month on Anti-Soviet Plotters.

Moscow, July 5.—Death sentences are being imposed upon Anti-Soviet plotters at the rate of 150 a month.

Never since the turbulent days of the revolution has the class drive against the Bourgeoisie been pushed to the limit as now.

Official reports to the newspapers show that at least five persons are executed daily. The actual number is probably greater.

Not all of the executions arise from class conflict. For instance, two drunken men were condemned and shot at Barabinsk, Siberia, for wrecking the railroad station during their destructive bout of intoxication. They pulled a switch and sent a freight train crashing into a siding, wrecking six new locomotives.

SPAIN FETES FLYERS

Madrid, July 5.—Fetes in honor of Major Ramon Franco and his three companions of the hydroplane Numancia continued unabated today.

Following luncheon with Queen Victoria at the royal palace, the airmen were scheduled for a round of entertainments this afternoon, to be followed by a gala theater performance tonight.

In the early hours of this morning, the airmen, accompanied by the officers of H. M. S. Eagle, the British aircraft-carrier which rescued them after they had floated for a week near the Azores, visited the popular Rosales cabaret to sup and dance. They were wildly cheered by the merry-makers, and dined with requests from the guests for the honor of a dance.

Officers of the Eagle are returning to Gibraltar today.

LOG ROLLING CONTEST
Berlin, N. H., July 5.—River supremacy was the goal today of the most unusual "championship boat" on record.

SHIP'S CREW SAVED

Surf, Cal. July 5.—Her crew of twenty-five rescued, the steam schooner Anne Hanly, on the rocks at Point Honda, was being pounded to pieces today by violent seas.

Capt. J. Zoddart and his men abandoned the lumber carrier after she commenced breaking up. Some who leaped overboard were picked up by Coast Guardsmen in lifeboats.

All were taken aboard two ships which stood by the wrecked vessel. As it was impossible to bring them ashore through the tumultuous surf.

OUR WOMEN BEAUTIFUL SAYS PARIS AUTHORITY
Paris, July 5.—"One sees more beautiful women walking down Fifth avenue in New York City than along the Rue de La Paix in Paris," says the French painter Gustave Brissard, a noted authority on beauty. But the artist hastily added that this refers to quantity not quality.

M. Brissard went to the United States to find out why American girls always captured the prizes in beauty contests. He has just returned home and even yet he cannot understand it. He says that, while American girls are beautiful enough, they are not any more beautiful than French girls.

It is 212 feet above sea level and will be a center of interest during Lynn's tercentenary celebration June 30 to July 3.

ly or started from fireworks. There was no damage. Some young men watching the fire hurried firecrackers at the firemen.

Later in the night the pile of wood started burning and this time was allowed to complete the job. The other two fires extinguished by the South Manchester department were for grass fires in the Old Golf Links which was the scene of a similar blaze a few days ago. They were believed to have been started by children playing with fireworks. The other was more serious though the damage was not so great. A skyrocket landed on the roof of the home of Albert Larson at 25 Clinton street. Fred Mounhouse and Paul Strange who saw the fire turned in the alarm. The Larson family was not at home. Hose Companies No. 3 and 4 answered the call on still alarm and put the fire out before much damage had been done.

WATCH AND WARD AGENT IS HELD AS A SUSPECT

Cambridge, Mass., July 5.—Prosecuting his innocence, Joseph A. Farrell, of Newton, formerly an agent for the Watch and Ward Society, brought back from Newport News, Va., to stand trial under a Grand Jury indictment charging criminal assault upon two young women in Weston, was being held today for arraignment in Middlesex Superior Criminal Court.

Farrell, an automobile salesman, was alleged to have taken a Cambridge school teacher on "blind date" and fondly kissing her. He was charged with pouring gasoline over her clothing and with tossing a lighted match in her direction. The indictment also charged that Farrell took a crippled girl for a ride, while posing as a Yale law school student, and attacked her.

All were residents of Grand Rapids, Mich., except the Ticuliks, brothers, whose home was in Detroit. They and Roboss were swept out at the same time and died together. The Fifield girl was washed from a pier by a mountainous wave.

Dozens of rescuers were made by life guards and Coast Guard crews.

BREAKS HEIGHT MARK

Albany, N. Y., July 5.—Lieutenant F. O. Dice, Army flyer today forwarded his healed barograph to the Federal Bureau of Standards after establishing last night what is believed to have been a new world's altitude record for light aircraft.

Dice climbed 19,900 feet above the Albany Airport, 400 feet higher than the former record, set by Captain De Havilland of the Royal Air Force.

The Army aviator waited throughout the day for a break in the murky weather and took off at 7 o'clock in his D. H. Moth. He was in the air for an hour and a half.

Lieutenant Dice said the temperature was 12 degrees below zero at 19,900 feet. He turned on his oxygen supply at 15,000 feet as a precautionary measure.

"I think I have set a new mark," he said after the climb, and already have claimed the world's record. I felt no ill effects.

Mrs. Rice and the aviators two children were spectators of the flight. Dice is here on a furlough.

HELEN WILLS WINS WIMBLEDON TITLE

Conquers Helen Jacobs, 6-1, 6-2 In All-American Finish In England.

By F. A. WRAY.

Wimbledon, Eng., July 5.—Playing in true championship style, Miss Helen Wills successfully defended her singles title in the Wimbledon championships today with ease by defeating her fellow Californian, Helen Jacobs, 6-1, 6-2, in a stirring match.

Although Miss Jacobs, who made the first All-American final in Wimbledon's history possible, gave the world's premier women player a glorious battle, it was all in vain.

"Queen Helen" was unbeatable today. She was superb in every department of the game. She used every stroke in her versatile bag with deadly effectiveness to prevent "Helen the second" from becoming "Helen the first."

Helen got off to a good start. She took the first set 6-1, completely outclassing "Helen the second" the only player conceded even the slightest chance of beating her.

Gollins and Fry, of England, advanced to the semi-finals of the mixed doubles today by defeating the combination of Henri Cochet, of France, and Eileen Bennett also put on a brilliant exhibition but Cochet appeared to be saving his energy for the singles final tomorrow in which he will face Jean Borotra. He was frequently guilty of costly double-faults.

heavy, jagged scar upon his face. It was this scar which led to his identification.

The Parisian detectives who aided keeping the American gangsters under surveillance were warned to be especially on the lookout for any shooting. The Chicago racketeers had been preceded by their reputation for strong arm stuff and their aptitude with the automatic pistol, the sawed off shot gun and the machine gun.

Their apartments were closely examined for any such weapons after the arrests were made.

MacCherry and Lustig had mingled with other American tourists since their arrival here without attracting any notices. They seemed to be well supplied with money and spent freely in the dance halls and night clubs.

They were disagreeably surprised by their arrest as they said they had been "having the time of their lives" in Paris.

Mrs. Haefs had been brought to the hospital in evening and was given a blood transfusion at seven o'clock last night. Besides her husband Mrs. Haefs leaves one daughter, Olga, age 17 and one son, Henry, Jr., age 11. Her father, Paul A. Diekow, lives in Stamford, as do two sisters, Mrs. Gertrude Manning, Miss Margaret Diekow, and two brothers, Paul and Fred Diekow. Mrs. Haefs attended St. Mary's Episcopal church. MISS BOYLE IN CHARGE OF GREEN ATHLETICS

Local Girl Named Supervisor of Playground Work in the Second District.

Miss Margaret Boyle of 22 Vernon street, and a Junior at the Arnold College for Hygiene and Physical Education of New Haven, has been appointed supervisor of the Manchester Green playgrounds for the second year. It was announced by Walter J. Buckley, chairman of the committee of the Second School District today.

Miss Boyle has already reorganized the Manchester Green girls' baseball team and is now seeking games with girls' teams throughout the state. The club will open its season at the Green Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, playing the South Manchester Boys' club.

The playgrounds will open on Monday and will close Labor Day. The grounds are in fine condition and the school committee hopes that parents will see fit to allow their children to enjoy its many privileges. At the annual meeting of the district $300 was donated by the Manchester Green Community Club to use in purchasing added equipment, which will be done next week.

On week days the playgrounds will be under Miss Boyle's supervision from 10 o'clock in the morning until 11:45 o'clock in the afternoon from 2 o'clock until 4:30. In the evening from 6:30 until 8:30. On Saturdays the hours will be from 10 o'clock to 11:45 a. m.

POLICE COURT

Four cases were before the Manchester police court this morning, all of which had to do with liquor. Three of the men were charged with being drunk and the fourth for driving while under the influence of liquor. Of the quartet only one belonged in Manchester.

W. Graudmont with A. Tardiff and A. Lausier were picked up on Center street by Sergeant John Crockett. Graudmont was driving the car and the other two were with him. All were drunk in police court this morning. Graudmont was fined $10 and costs and the other two $10 and costs.

William Thompson of this town was fined $10 and costs for intoxication. Arthur Tardiff was the only man of the party who had any money and all he had was $15.00. However, between the four of them they were able to raise enough to pay his fine. He went to Hartford to raise money enough to get the other two men out but up 2 o'clock this afternoon he had failed to return. Thompson's wife was making an effort to raise the money but so far she also has been unsuccessful.

On the docket tomorrow morning there will be at least six cases on being charged with premature discharge of fireworks. They are Robert Bateson, Fred Minicucci, 19; Charles Morgan, 19; William Ruebin, 23; Raymond Donahue, 19; Herbert Wright, 19. The latter was throwing firecrackers from an automobile.

WOMAN IS LICENSED TO FLY PRIVATE PLANE.
Boston, July 5.—Mrs. Jona Fay of Woods Hole has the distinction of being the first woman licensed to fly a private plane in Massachusetts.

The license was given her today by Lieutenant Robert L. O'Brien, supervisor of aviation of the motor registry division, after she successfully completed a flying test. She is about 25 years old.

Mary Brian Gives Mouth Deft Care

Mary Brian

By MABEL DUKE.

Next to the eyes, the mouth is the most outstanding feature of the face. Being generally rouged into brilliance, it is often the focus of our companions' gaze, especially when we talk.

"There is more to making up the mouth than merely running a lipstick over the lips," Mary Brian explains. "Because of the vivid shades of most lip rouges, one must be careful to blend the color skilfully to avoid a harsh outline.

"Before beginning to make up the mouth, be sure the lips are soft and smooth. Nothing is uglier than rough, chapped lips. A white lipstick is soothing to chapped lips and, if used consistently, will not only cure but prevent chapping.

BUT 16 HOURS BEHIND THE ENDURANCE MARK

Cleveland Airport, July 5.—Emerging triumphant from a night replete with discouragements which at times spelled almost certain failure for them, Pilots Bryon K. Newcomb and Ray L. Mitchell, in the monoplane "City of Cleveland," passed the 150-hour mark at 6:35 a. m. (E. S. T.) today in their attempt to set a new world endurance flyer's record.

The were only 16 hours behind the old records of 172 hours, 31 minutes, 20 seconds at that hour. If they can keep the big blue Stinson-Detroler aloft until 12:11:21 a. m. tonight, or one hour longer than the present record, they will be credited with setting a new endurance record.

If they succeed in setting a new endurance record, the "City of Cleveland" pilots hope to remain in the air until they have passed the 200-hour mark and possibly longer, depending upon the condition of their plane at the time.

DETROIT AXE DEATHS STILL PUZZLE POLICE

Detroit, July 5.—Detectives investigating the hatchet murders of Benjamin Evangelist and his wife and four children were working today on a theory that the family may have been victims of a crazed parent whose child Evangelist, who professed to be a faith healer, had failed to cure.

Discovery of a photograph of the body of a girl of 4 or 5 years, lying in a basket, offered a possible clue and police were endeavoring to identify the picture.

Also regarded as significant was the finding of lingerie and women's nightgowns in the desk at which Evangelist had been working when he was decapitated by the slayer. Detectives pointed out that in the practice of "voodooism" the m. d. um sometimes obtains a garment worn next to the skin of a sick person and holds weird rites over the article of dress.

THREE ALARM FIRE

Marblehead, Mass., July 5.—Three alarms were sounded and aid was summoned from Lynn and Swampscott today during a fire, believed to have been caused by a boys' bonfire, which swept two large mansions in Surf street here. Firemen were hampered in battling the flames by scarcity of water, because a hydrant nearby was out of order.

ENGINEER KILLED

Owosso, Mich., July 5.—William Garvin, 46, engineer, and C. Crawford, 34, fireman, are dead today and Franklin Ross, 33, a brakeman, is so severely scalded he is not expected to live as a result of a train wreck near here.

A culvert without caissons the engine to turn over on its side and twenty freight cars to pile up behind it. Garvin was found lifeless, his hand still grasping the throttle. Crawford died five hours later.

ONE DEAD, ONE DYING, AFTER A LIQUOR RAID

Oklahoma City, Okla., July 5.—Federal prohibition enforcement guns have barked again and today James Harris was dead and his brother-in-law, Oscar Lowry, lay probably fatally wounded.

Shooting of the men occurred during a liquor raid near Tecumseh, Okla., late yesterday. Because of conflicting statements by principals in the affair, a clear understanding of events preceding the shooting was impossible today.

No report of the shooting had been received here by Bee Demonbrum, deputy in charge of Federal prohibition enforcement for Oklahoma, from W. W. Thomas, enforcement officers for Seminole and Pottawatomie counties. While refusing to comment on the case, Demonbrum said an investigation would probably be made after a report has been received from Thomas.

Pottawatomie county officials were not sure today what course they would follow in the case.

HARTFORD KIWANIANS TO PLAY GOLF HERE

At least 15 Hartford Kiwanians are expected as guests at the meeting of the Manchester Kiwanis club Monday at the Country Clubhouse. They are coming out with the idea of attending the luncheon and playing golf. The officers of the local club are therefore urging not only a large attendance at the meeting Monday but a full turnout of the golf enthusiasts so that the visitors may return with a good impression of the players as well as the course. The attendance prize will be furnished by L. M. Heebner.

By no means the least of the attractions Monday will be the reports by President Arthur Koehn and ex-president G. P. Quimby, both of whom attended the Kiwanis international convention at Milwaukee last week.

AUTO ACCIDENT

An automobile accident occurred at 5:30 Wednesday afternoon at the intersection of Adams and Hilliard streets but no one was injured. Mr. and Mrs. William Kinne and their two children of 38 Adams street were riding in their Ford touring car.

Allan Machle of Hilliard street was driving the other machine, a Ford roadster. He was going west on Hilliard street and Mrs. Kinne north on Adams. According to Mrs. Kinne, Machle was driving at a reckless rate of speed. The occupants of the cars were bruised a bit and badly shaken up. The Kinne car was badly damaged.

GERMANY MUST PAY OR FRANCE CANNOT

French Expert Says Young Plan Does Not Guarantee Old Rival Will Pay Up.

Paris, July 5.—The United States consider their promises as little acts of politeness and we French take their politeness for promises.

"In a nutshell," explains the Frenchman, "Germany owes France money and France owes some of it to America. We could pay our debt with the money Germany owes us, provided, of course, that Germany pays."

The new Young plan established what Germany ought to pay, but does not guarantee that she will do it.

"Now, if we are not paid, we have the intention not to pay the United States debt and we are trying to persuade them that this will be just, equitable, logical and decent. But, the United States does not seem to feel this way about it. Americans feel they have done enough by exhorting Germany to pay us."

Debt Must Be Paid "Americans want us to pay the United States debt with German marks or French francs. They don't care which—but they want to be paid."

Speaking of the proposed measure in the Chamber of Deputies to ratify the Mellon-Berenger funding agreement, M. Audiat says that France would not hesitate to ratify if the French were persuaded that, if Germany stops her payments, the United States would allow France to cancel her debt.

The French expert continued: "The United States would be satisfied if Americans were certain that France would pay up even though Germany did not keep her word. In short, it is all just a simple misunderstanding. Politeness seems to have been mistaken for promises."

NOON STOCKS

New York, July 5.—Wall Street over with enthusiasm. Bulling bulls returned to the Stock Market today to find an enormous accumulation of buying orders for their favorite stocks. During the closing of American markets bid today, London speculators bid up New York Central, U. S. Steel and other American shares sky high, and it was expected that scarcity of stocks would necessitate bidding of fancy prices on the American exchanges.

After the first hour of trading, in which more than a million shares changed hands, prices of the speculative favorites showed new advances of from 2 to 7 points over Wednesday's close. U. S. Steel finally joined the 200-club, a block of 7700 shares selling at $200 a share. But an avalanche of selling orders crowded the market at that point and "big steel" fell back to 193 1/4.

New peaks established today included a 7-point jump in General Electric to 360; a 7-point rise in National Biscuit to 206 1/2; a 4-point jump in New York Central to 221 1/2; a rise of 5 points in Union Carbide to 205; a 16-point jump in Auburn Motors to 330. American Can finally topped 160 and Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad passed 235 for the first time this year. Westinghouse jumped 6 points to 204 1/2.

The come-back of the motor stocks, started last week, was continued under the lead of Chrysler, which forged ahead 3 points to 78 in active trading. Large blocks of Willlys Overland passed through the market at 23, and General Motors moved up about a point to 75 1/2. Wall street rumors centered about the possible merger of important utility and airplane companies. Columbia Gas was linked up in these rumors with Cities Service and United Aircraft with Sikorsky. Actual and prospective earnings of American Corporations, as officially reported or conjectured in the financial district, showed increase of all the way from 5 to 50 per cent over last year. The May railroad net earnings are running about 15 percent above last year.

Stocks were more freely sold in the second hour on the theory that the rise in values had been too swift for comfort and that in any basis of reckoning the market was entitled to a reaction. Waves of profit taking broke over the whole market in the period, blocking the move to higher prices in many sections of the list.

Call money was in good supply around 7 per cent, with little prospect of an advance. Trading was in large volume, with the ticker 8 minutes late around noon.

STRIKERS IN RIOTS

New Orleans, La., July 5.—Comparative quiet prevailed here today after a night of rioting and stoning of non-union workers the biggest outbreak of violence since 11,000 street-car employees went out on strike early in the week.

A laborer was shot and seriously wounded when 600 union men attacked an almost equal number of strikebreakers. Many shots were fired, and several were injured slightly. Automobiles carrying strikebreakers were stoned.

Eight union men were arrested. Fist fights, club fights and free-falls were frequent during the night.

FORMER LOCAL MAN WEDS IN CALIFORNIA

Verner S. Anderson Marries Miss Ellen Atkinson at Carpinteria, Calif.

Verner S. Anderson formerly of this town, and now of Santa Barbara, California, and Miss Ellen Atkinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Atkinson of Carpinteria, California, were married Saturday June 29 at the home of the bride's parents.

Harry P. Anderson, also formerly of Manchester, and now of Pomona, California, was his brother's best man.

MELLON TO RESIGN RUMOR IS UP AGAIN

Itly stated at the office of secretary Mellon that there had been no consideration so far of tax reduction at the next Congress. The following day at the White House, it was declared definitely that reductions in rates were being discussed, although there might be factors operating against such relief to the tax payers.

Another Complaint. The President felt called upon to take personal action in Mr. Mellon's department on the question of a propaganda campaign for prohibition in the public schools. While there was no indication that Secretary Mellon had any idea of such a drive, nevertheless Mr. Hoover advised that the impression that such a plan was to be carried out should be corrected definitely and immediately.

When the new administration took office it was the supposition that Mellon would remain about a year and that he would then be succeeded by Ogden L. Mills, the under secretary. Other names recently have been mentioned as Mellon's successor should he resign.

Mellon has served under three presidents, Harding, Coolidge and Hoover, a distinction enjoyed by no other man. He entered the Cabinet from a long and extremely retired life, devoted to banking, manufacturing and other big business, and assumed the obligation of reconstruction of the tangled post-war finances.

There was an enormous public debt, billions in war debts owed the United States, oppressive income tax rates, inadequate housing facilities for government offices located throughout the country, and the job of enforcing prohibition in normal times yet unsoled, facing his administration.

All of the problems have been completed, or at least well under way, except prohibition.

The Call of the Open Road is, too often, "Say! Where the heck do you think you're going?"

COLUMBIA CREW IS ELIMINATED

Hope of U. S. Falls Before Trinity College In Henley Regatta.

Henley-On-Thames, Eng., July 5.—Columbia University's powerful 150-oar crew was eliminated from the Thames challenge cup event in the classic Royal Henley Regatta today when it was defeated by the Trinity Boat Club eight by four-lengths in a quarter-finals race.

The Blue and white's defeat was the first it had suffered since coming to England. Trinity's victory was not entirely unexpected. Its crew was rated as one of the best on the river.

The crew of the Bronwe and Nichols School, of Cambridge, Mass., which defeated the Sidney and Sussex College crew, of Cambridge, Eng., earlier in the day, will meet Trinity in the semi-finals.

Although the weather was sunny, there was a half-squall blowing which whipped the surface of the Thames into a choppy sea and hampered both crews.

Trinity's time for the one mile, 550 yards, was eight minutes 28 seconds.

Parents object when the younger generation begins to do things they used to do.

DAILY EXECUTIONS IN SOVIET RUSSIA

must prove the "crime" was of a counter-revolutionary nature, because mere murder is not punishable by death in Soviet Russia. The number of arrests runs into thousands monthly for crimes varying from inefficiency to negligence. In addition to cleaning out the undesirable elements from the government and business institutions the movement is putting thousands out of work. In Moscow alone the Communist party purposed to fire 80,000 lesser non-Communist officials.

Breakfast—Baked stuffed apple, with milk or cream.

Lunch—Corn on the cob, buttered beets, lettuce.

Dinner—Broiled fillet of sole, cooked cucumbers, string beans, salad of sliced tomatoes with parsley, pineapple gelatin, no cream.

Saturday
Breakfast—8-ounce glass of orange juice 30 minutes before breakfast, poached eggs on re-toasted cereal biscuit, stewed raisins.

Lunch—Cantaloup as desired.

Dinner—Cottage cheese, cooked lettuce, steamed carrots with parsley, celery and toasted nut salad, raspberry whip.

Broiled Steak: First remove all fat from the steak, as the fat sputtering upon the lean part during broiling will toughen it against the digestive juices. Place under flame for about 15 seconds then turn quickly. Continue turning every few minutes until cooked as desired.

The object of this quick turning at the start is to get both sides of the steak seared as soon as possible and thus avoid losing the juice which would otherwise run away immediately if the underside of the steak became hot before being seared.

Steak may be eaten rare, medium, or well-done, as preferred, for digestion is aided by a greater flow of gastric juice when meat is cooked to the degree most relished by the individual.

Steak broiled on account of its tenderness, is generally used for broiling, although round steak may be broiled under the flame if it is properly hammered beforehand so that the connective tissue is well broken down.

Sirloin steak, on account of its tenderness, is generally used for broiling, although round steak may be broiled under the flame if it is properly hammered beforehand so that the connective tissue is well broken down.

Questions and Answers

Hay Fever
Question—Mrs. D. G. H. writes: "I have been very much interested in your health talks and am asking you for advice about hay fever, as my father has it so bad. Sometimes it lasts for two or three months."

Answer—The cure of hay fever depends entirely upon curing by irritation from an extra acid stomach extends to many of the mucous membranes, including the nose and throat. When the gastric irritation is removed the hay fever disappears like magic. Then, dust from hay or pollen from plants cannot bring on an attack.

Bread
Question—R. S. asks: (1) "Is bran bread, made of whole rye, a starchy food?" (2) "Can brown bread be used with acid fruit?" (3) "Can toasted bread be used with acid fruit?" (4) "Is the combination of milk and bread a good one?"

Answer—(1) Yes. (2) No. (3) Yes. (4) No.

Cataract Question—C. W. S. asks: "Will you please tell me what is the cause of a cataract on the left eye? Haven't had it long. Would like to know if there is an absolute cure with out an operation. Am 55 years old."

Answer—A cataract can sometimes be stopped by the fasting cure and the wearing of properly fitted glasses. Most cataracts would never start if the afflicted one did not wait too long to put on glasses. Continued eye strain brings about an inflammation of the eye which is the first cause of cataract. After that, injudicious living feeds the trouble, and if proper treatment is not taken in time, an operation is the only thing that will restore the sight.

The town man looks forward to the day when he can retire to a farm and get plenty of exercise and the farmer looks forward to the day when he can retire to town and get a good set'n down job.

A story from Australia says a man can't drive there while drunk. He can't here either, but nobody keeps him from trying.

Thin, Run-down Mother Quickly Gains 5 lbs.

"I gained 5 lbs. while taking Ironized Yeast," writes Mrs. George Decker. "That means quite a bit, as my folks are both thin. What I prize most is the difference in the way I feel and the pep I have. Before I took Ironized Yeast I had to hire a girl to help me with any hard work. But now I do all my house-cleaning alone."

People who had tried everything else in vain write how they gained 5 to 15 pounds in a few weeks. Skinny limbs quickly round into chubby curves. Pimply skin clears up. Tired feeling vanishes.

Only when Yeast is Ironized is it more effective—for Iron is needed to bring out the weight-building and strengthening values of Yeast. Pleasant tablets. Never cause gas or bloating, safe—no harmful drugs.

Go to any druggist today and get a full size treatment of Ironized Yeast. If after this generous trial you are not delighted, money back from druggist or manufacturer.

SALVATION ARMY

On July 5, 1865, General William Booth founded the Salvation Army. The Army was first started in the east end of London as the Christian Mission. Thirteen years later, Christmas, 1878, it received the name of the Salvation Army.

It was organized along military principles with a view to reaching the non-church going masses of the world. Its growth has been phenomenal throughout the world.

General Booth was assisted by his wife, Catherine Booth, who was known as the "Mother of the Salvation Army." She was regarded as a powerful and most eloquent woman-speaker in the country and opened the way for women to preach the gospel.

The absolute equality of women as leaders, officeholders and preachers became one of the Army's cardinal planks. Its headquarters is in London and its 30,000 employees operate 14,719 posts in 82 countries. Eighty-two periodicals are published by the army. It operates working men's hotels, nurseries and various types of industrial homes throughout the world.

A THOUGHT

Thou hypocrite, first cast out the beam of thine own eye; and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote out of thy brother's eye.—St. Matthew 7:5.

The only vice that cannot be forgiven is hypocrisy. The repentance of a hypocrite is itself hypocrisy.—Hailitt.

During the Summer months motoring is a popular form of diversion—some employ it for pastime; some for pleasure—some as a "cooling off" process but in any case it does not reach the peak of attainment unless the evening is "topped off" with a dish of delicious Ice Cream in some form. LAST OF CHURCH SHEDS ARE BEING RAZED

Second Congregationalists Order Wooden Shelters Removed—Adds to Appearance.

Practically the last of the sheds in the rear of Manchester's churches will disappear with those of Second Congregational church, the raising of which has just been started under direction of Scott Simon, chairman of the business committee. At the annual church meeting in January it was voted to allow the Boy Scouts of Troops 1 and 9 which are affiliated with the church, to tear down the sheds and use all or any part of the best lumber in constructing a camp. Frank V. Williams at that meeting agreed to do the trucking to the site.

Either the boys or their scoutmasters are lukewarm on the subject of a shack or they are not eager for the work, for Mr. Simon has been unable to get any team co-operation and the business committee has employed men to do the work. The land in the rear of the church building has been regraded and the general appearance of that portion of the church property has been vastly improved.

The sheds were built in 1851 when the old white church which stood on the site of the present church at the corner of North Main and North streets was set apart from the parent church, the first Congregational at the Center. At the time of Henry Slater's death, which occurred in May of 1928, at the age of 85, the Herald recorded the fact that Mr. Slater when a small boy helped his father, who was a farmer, draw the lumber to build the sheds with his team of oxen. Mr. Slater's mother was a charter member of the new church and the Slaters were deacons, clerks and staunch supporters of the church while their health permitted.

A newspaper account of a near drowning states that the victim was "kept afloat by her skirt." Just another reporter listening to a rumor.

DID YOU KNOW THAT?
Harry Abramson, one of the biggest layers on the metropolitan tracks, was requested politely to stay away from the Aqueduct track. . . . And he offered 50 grand to anyone who could show they had anything on him. . . . Freddy Lindstrom says with the new rabbit ball in the National League you can't do any fielding. . . . All you can do is duck. . . . And Eddie Roush says the ball is so hot he hit one on the handle of his bat and it went over the right field in Philadelphia. . . . Tommy Loughran, they say, will have to kill himself making the weight. . . . And Jimmy Braddock will have a swell chance to cop him.

An Announcement of Particular Interest to Subscribers who have Dial Four Party Line Telephones

A NEW FORM of four party line telephone service for dial subscribers becomes effective in the Manchester exchange area on Saturday night, July 13, at midnight. Its chief advantage is that, although there may be four subscribers on the line, each subscriber will hear only two numbers rung on his line:—ring one and ring two.

Therefore, each dial party line subscriber must know which ring to answer after midnight on Saturday, July 13. This information has already been furnished to each subscriber affected; it appears on the lower part of the card in the center of the dial four party line telephone instrument.

With the introduction of this improved party line service will also become effective an improved method of ringing. The bells on dial party line telephones will be rung by means of a machine which will give fixed intervals between rings. This machine will automatically ring the bell at the called telephone—if the line is not busy—until it is answered, or until the calling party hangs up.

In "Ring 1," the bell rings for two seconds followed by an interval of silence lasting four seconds, after which the ringing is repeated.

In "Ring 2," the bell rings for only one second, and the ring is repeated after a one second interval. The pause following the completion of the second ring is three seconds long, after which the cycle of rings and intervals is repeated.

The desirability of a four party line service where each subscriber hears only one call on the line in addition to his own, and in which the ringing is done automatically with fixed intervals, is obvious. The introduction of this improved form of dial party line service is a part of our extensive program of development to give Manchester exchange subscribers the best and most satisfactory telephone service available.

The CORRECT OIL
for your car . . . and for today's faster driving speeds

THE speed at which you operate your car has a very direct bearing on oil consumption—and consequently on the grade of oil you should use.

More than ever do you require an oil that combines high viscosity with low volatility . . . an oil that will neither thin down nor evaporate appreciably at high speeds.

Used in the correct grade, ATLANTIC Paraffine Base MOTOR OIL is the most amazingly slow-consuming oil your motor has ever known. Slow consumption means longer efficiency—and, of course, less oil to buy.

Consider these things when choosing a motor oil—especially in the light of who makes it. Experience is the most important ingredient in it. The Atlantic Refining Company puts sixty years of experience into ATLANTIC Paraffine Base MOTOR OIL.

CRIME AS SICKNESS

A Dr. Charles M. Jacobs of Springfield has written to the Union of that city a long letter in which he insists that crime is a disease and should be so treated.

Dr. Jacobs would probably be much surprised to find how many of those thinking persons who still adhere to the notion that criminals should be punished nevertheless do not at all disagree with his belief that crime is a disease.

The point of departure between the reasoning of Dr. Jacobs and the reasoning of the average citizen who still believes in jails and gallows does not occur when the former decides that crime is a disease, but on the question of whether the cure should be sought for the criminal or for society at large.

Dr. Jacobs, if he were called to treat a patient whose arm was far gone with gangrene, would undoubtedly decide instantly that the arm must be amputated in order to save the patient.

Perhaps, some day, methods will be found of preventing the development of perverted children into adult criminals; perhaps some day science will accomplish the breeding of a race in which there shall be no perverts at all.

PLAYED OUT

Once again what should be the greatest of American holidays has been so celebrated in Manchester that its termination was gladly welcomed by everybody except a good many children and that handful of their exuberant elders whose spiritual beings are attuned to sheer noise.

Hartford's list of gunpowder injuries was out to a fifth of its size in previous years, though it is obvious that the interdiction on explosives was defied by a not inconsiderable number of the lawless.

works wherever it has been employed. There are, in fact, numberless towns and cities in the country which have succeeded in completely eliminating the crass and perilous aspects of their Fourth of July celebrations by forbidding the sale and use of noise-making powder devices—and resolutely enforcing such law.

There are considerably more than twenty thousand persons in Manchester. Not more than a few hundred of these were engaged on Wednesday night in disturbing the rest and comfort of the remainder.

It is very much to be hoped that the Manchester Board of Selectmen, following the civilized tendency of progressive communities everywhere, will again make an effort to put an end to the Fourth of July nuisance by submitting to the voters at the annual town meeting a by-law prohibiting the sale or use of detonative devices of any kind.

AIRPORT GAMBLING

There may be more to this airport business than is apparent at a present day glance. Almost every large municipality that does not already possess an adequate airport is more or less nervous lest it may be left economically far in the rear by rival cities well provided with air transport terminal facilities.

New Haven is fussed up over a bond issue amounting to $325,000, the proceeds of which it is planned to devote to the mere beginnings of a big airport. What the eventual expenditure may be nobody can guess with any degree of certainty.

It is this matter of probable aircraft development that so beclouds and complicates the airport situation everywhere. It is all a question of how long it is to be before some mechanical genius solves the problem of vertical ascent and descent for planes.

On the other hand, it may be a long time before the "straight up and down" plane is perfected, and the community that delays providing itself with air terminal facilities may become a heavy loser through its caution.

MEN'S CLOTHES

Ever since the men of Western Europe and America passed definitely out of the "dandy" period, the date of which emergence may be set down as about 1850, it had been the prerogative of the masculine sex, until very recent years, to ridicule the fussiness of women's clothes.

Not unnaturally there has been, among the men, an almost unanimous silence on this subject. But that doesn't mean that they haven't been keeping up a dickens of a thinking.

There is, therefore, no certainty that a movement just launched in London, looking to the simplification of men's attire, will be met with any such derision and scorn as would have been its certain fate a dozen years ago. The group of cultists inaugurating the movement would sweep away all superfluities, particularly in the line of buttons. They would scrap the separate collar and wear their soft shirts open at the throat.

More power to them. Maybe in a hundred years they will succeed in making it possible for the men to catch up to the women in the rationalism of their dress.

SOBER TIME

The Herald, always skeptical as to the effectiveness of prohibition yet perpetually to be fair, hastens to call attention to the fact that never before, in all probability, in any Fourth of July period, have there been so few obvious drunks in evidence in Manchester as was the case over the holiday just passed.

We do not pretend to be able to account for the phenomenon of a sober Fourth of July—a remarkably sober one—unless perhaps the lawbreaking instinct abiding in so many free souls was finding ample expression, for the time being, in exploding things in violation of the law in such cases made and provided. And even that explanation wouldn't apply to the Fourth itself, after 4 in the morning.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK MCCOY

MALIGNANT TUMORS.

Any unnatural enlargements of tissues within the body is known as a tumor. Some of them do no damage other than might be caused by pressure upon neighboring organs; others tend to injure the general health, invade neighboring tissues, recur after removal, and produce death by toxic poisoning.

Cancer hardly ever occurs before middle age, the most frequent cases occurring between the ages of fifty or sixty. Sometimes those who appear quite healthy while young are affected when they grow older, but this is only an illusion.

When cancers begin to ulcerate, a general body poisoning or cachexia results. In its action, cancer seems to resemble the chronic inflammations, such as lupus and erysipelas rather than simple tumors.

"Ready-to-Wear One-Third Off!"

Daily WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER.

Washington, July 5.—One thing the special session of Congress has demonstrated is that the women members are standing more and more on their own feet.

Observation of these ladies in action leads inescapably to the conclusion that the number of congresswomen will increase gradually and that it is no great jump for prominent women already actually engaged in public life.

Before the "Three Ruths" came here there was but one congresswoman whose husband had not preceded her in the House. That was Mrs. Mary Norton of New Jersey, who for years before her election had served actively in Democratic state politics and whose husband is a business man.

The widows of Congress, of course, have given satisfaction to their constituents and seem likely to remain here indefinitely, except for Mrs. Pearl Oldfield, who is understood to plan to retire.

Of the "Three Ruths," Mrs. Pratt is the only one whose husband or father did not make a name for himself in national politics. Mrs. Pratt turned to politics on her own.

and I have not seen very good results from x-ray or radium treatments, or from surgery, especially when the cancer was large enough to make diagnosis certain.

served with distinction and her voice was heard frequently. In the few short weeks wherein she has had an opportunity to show her stuff in Washington, the New York Ruth has distinguished herself principally by her fight against the increase in the sugar tariff as proposed in the bill passed by the House.

The sugar industry in this country cannot possibly expand to a point where it can even begin to supply our needs," she says.

Both are capable of long before they ran for Congress. Now each is standing on her own feet and neither is known first of all as the daughter of Hanna or Bryan.

The prestige and ability of both these women is best indicated by Mrs. McCormick's candidacy for the Senate and the persistent and undebated report that Mrs. Owen is going to announce her own when the time comes.

Mrs. McCormick's fight comes first. Mrs. Owen can't run until 1932, which is when the term of Senator Duncan U. Fletcher of Florida, expires.

Mrs. McCormick has a real battle on her hands, but she has already achieved more in political struggle than any other woman because she is the only congresswoman-at-large, which means that her constituency went before the whole state of Illinois instead of only a single congressional district.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Alfalfa Tea. Question—E. J. L. asks: "What do you think of alfalfa as a drink? What food value has it? I am drinking it three times a day with my meals in place of tea or coffee. I like it, and it seems to agree with me."

Answer—There is little food value in alfalfa tea or any other similar hot drink with meals. I do not advise my patients to take these drinks, but I am sure the alfalfa tea is an improvement over the drinks used.

Motorists tell us the shafter-proof windshield is here. Now if we can get rubber telephones poles the worst will be over.

Mayor George Foster showed his ability as a bowler at the official opening of the new bowling alleys of the Rockville Fire Department, which was held at the Prospect street house on Wednesday evening, when he won the two opening games from former Mayor John P. Cameron and R. J. Murphy. He beat the former mayor by two pins and R. J. Murphy by 17 pins.

Dr. T. F. O'Loughlin, department physician and Fire Policeman Geo. Dunn were no match for Fire Chiefs George B. Milne and William Conrady, the latter team winning by 30 pins.

Fred Cooley, known as the champ of Rockville bowlers received a good trimming from H. Walker, a member of the Fitch Co., which was a surprise to the spectators. Walker won a name for himself against Cooley in two games. The first game he won by 65 pins and the second game by 2 pins.

The game by the Councilmen and Aldermen proved quite exciting, with A. E. Waite, T. Larkin and R. J. Murphy of the Aldermen team and William Dowling, Bruno Doss and A. H. Newell on the Councilmen's team. The Aldermen won by 68 pins. With A. E. Waite as the star for the winning team, some very good shots were made. Nearly every member of the department and city fathers were present and it is expected there will be many more get-togethers during the season.

Refreshments were served during the evening by the committee in charge.

RIVAL WIVES

THIS HAS HAPPENED

IRIS MORGAN deserts her husband, JOHN CURTIS MORGAN, sloping with BERT CHAMBERLAIN, a family friend, for a lawyer, a lawyer, has recently won an acquittal. Morgan does not suspect Crawford. Nan Carroll, Morgan's secretary is deeply in love with him. Seeing him in utter despair at the desertion of Iris, the cleverly forces him into his work.

For six months she acts as long-distance housekeeper for him, winning the love of his child, little six-year-old CURTIS MORGAN. Nan passes her bar examinations and Morgan takes her into the firm as junior partner. He breaks the news to her he is divorcing Iris. Stressing his and little Curtis' need for her, he begs her to marry him. She consents.

Their farcical marriage continues three months. Nan decides she must leave and begins packing. The next morning, she feigns illness in an effort to bring Morgan to his knees. Determined to fight, Nan has the doctor remove Iris to a hospital. Morgan tells Nan he must make provision for Iris and proposes a monthly allowance. Iris, who is a monthly allowance, is a monthly allowance. Iris, who is a monthly allowance, is a monthly allowance.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXI

For once, at least, Nan's justly famed woman's wit played her false. She was so sure that the telegram just delivered into her husband's hands was from his former wife, making some new, insolent demand upon his time, purse, or love, that she was turning sharply away.

"What rotten luck!" Morgan exclaimed disgustedly. "The wife from the capital. By a shift in the supreme court calendar, that Bradley case comes up Friday. If I can't be ready with my witnesses by then, I don't like to ask for another adjournment, because I'd like to get the Bradley case off my hands before the Blackhall trial reopens in January. But with the kid sick and all—"

His hesitation and the dark flush which accompanied it told Nan that the "and all" referred to Iris and all the complications which her unexpected return had brought into her husband's life.

"Curtis isn't dangerously ill," Nan reminded him coldly. "I think it's really quite lucky that you can dispose of the Bradley case before you have to go back into the Blackhall trial. You know you can trust me to take good care of Curtis—"

"Of course, dear," he interrupted quickly, as if she had reminded him that what was not she, but Iris, who had made the child ill by stuffing him with chocolates and candied fruits. "I suppose there's nothing for it but to go. I'll have to put in a hectic two days getting hold of my witnesses. I wonder if you'd mind very much if I put in two or three hours at the office today? I'll have to go over the transcript of the first trial pretty thoroughly—"

"Of course you will," Nan agreed, still in that unnaturally cold voice. She wanted to act as if nothing stood between them, to give her usual warm, eager assistance, but Iris was between them now; there was no possibility of thinking of that fact. Iris Morgan himself had bashed her. . . . But Nan forced herself to add, as cheerfully as possible: "I'll be glad to help, if you want to bring the records home."

She felt that Morgan's eyes, still fixed upon the telegram, were liberally avoiding hers. His flush deepened. "I don't think that will be necessary, Nan. You'll have your hands full with the boy. . . . What time are we to have dinner?"

"It was planned for two. But that Curtis might safely eat as much as he pleased, but now that he's ill, I can set the hour ahead to six, if you like."

Her jealous eyes told her that he was relieved. "Fine! That will give me several hours of good, hard work. Of course, if Curtis gets worse, or calls for me, I'll cut the work short and hurry home."

"I shan't telephone unless you're really needed," Nan promised. If he wanted the child to sleep in a Christmas Day visit with Iris, let him have it. She had always done everything in her power to make him happy. Why stop now?

When her husband was gone, Nan wandered into the drawing room where the neglected Christmas tree still offered all its treasures. Morgan, obviously, had forgotten the tree. The seals were broken on the packages which contained hers and Curtis' gifts for him.

Her steps, made very slow by the weariness of despair, Nan walked about the tree, untying the gold and silver cord which bound the tissue-wrapped parcels tagged with her stepson's name. They made quite a formidable little pile, exclusive of the big toy automobile and the well-stocked tool chest. "For Curtis from Estelle"; "For Curtis from Maudie and Big Pat"; "For Curtis from his Father." High up on the tree, just below the big silver Star of Bethlehem, Nan found a parcel she had not seen before. This time her intuition did not play her false. The card, which bore a highly colored picture of the Madonna and Child, was inscribed: "For my little lover, from his adoring Mother."

"John slipped down here last night after I was asleep and put it here," Nan told herself with the furious detachment of despair.

Without being conscious of any proximity to what the small box contained, Nan added it to the pile of gifts she would carry upstairs to the sick child. Then she walked slowly about the tree again, her eyes dully taking in her own name, written on half a dozen tags. A gift from each of the servants, even from the Pat's Sweet of whom, dear to them to spend their money on her. But Nan felt no uplifting of the heart. What would it avail her if she gained the love of the whole world and lost that of the one man she could ever love?

She had resolutely ignored the package which she knew contained his gift to her. She did not have the courage to look at the tag. If it said merely, "For Nan, from John," she could not bear it. Better uncertainty than that.

"Am I losing my nerve completely?" Nan whispered up and down against herself. "Look at it, you idiot! Better to know the worst than to kid yourself."

With a quick, resolute jerk she tore the package from a branch of the gaily decked tree, wounding it so that the pungent odor of its bears filled her nostrils. She watched the pine needles sift to the floor, then forced her eyes to read the card.

"Oh!" she cried. The card was inscribed in the handwriting she knew so well: "For my dear wife, from John."

With gentle fingers, which must have soothed the hurt feelings of the little fir tree, Nan retied the parcel, still unopened. She and John would open their gifts to each other when he came back. Christmas was a heavenly time, after all. Gathering Curtis' gifts into her arms, Nan ran from the room up the stairs. Just before reaching the child's door, her clear, untrained but true voice lifted in joyous song:

"I came upon the midnight clear,
That glorious song of old—
As she opened the door, still carrying softly an insistent query pushed its way through her exultation: "I wonder how he addressed Iris' gifts—For my former wife, from Jack?" How she had hated to hear Iris call him "Jack," making him small and trivial by the simple device of using a nickname which was a gross misfit! Then shame and contrition flooded Nan's heart, for the words her lips were singing were:

"Peace on the earth,
Good will to men,
From Heaven's All-gracious King."
"That's a Christmas carol," Curtis called weakly from his bed. "We learned two Christmas carols to sing at school last Friday. Can you sing 'Little Town of Bethlehem,' Nan? Can you?"

"Of course I can! But look who I am! Santa Claus! And there are some big presents downstairs for you, as soon as you're well enough to play with them," Nan answered. The next hour was almost pure happiness, heightened, Nan was half-ashamed later to realize, by the casual way in which Curtis inspected and laid aside the exquisite miniature of herself which Iris had sent to her son. In later years he might—undoubtedly would—treasure it, take it with him everywhere, build untrue, poetic legends about the woman whose beauty it immortalized; but now he was only a greedy, feverish little boy, tearing open packages to find treasure more suited to his taste. Poor Iris! Nan forced herself to say, but immediately came the strong suspicion that the miniature had been really intended for the father, not the son.

"Wouldn't you like to write a note to your mother at the hospital and thank her for her gift?" Nan suggested. In her new happiness, she could afford to be generous, had an urgent need to be generous toward that mother who, in later years, seemed, was to be vanquished. "For my dear wife," her heart sang, over and over.

"Huh? At the hospital?" Curtis repeated, with childish scorn for Nan's ignorance of the "sin"—I mean, isn't at the hospital, any more. She went to the Wellington Arms yesterday. Father and I took her. She's got a swell room. 'At's a hotel. Why don't they call it Wellington Hotel, Nan? Silly, calling a hotel an Arms.' He lay back upon his pillows, looking suddenly tired and peevish. "Sing to me, Nan. You sing pretty."

Before Nan, whose voice was a little husky with unshed tears, could finish the carol, he had opened his forehead told her that, despite the excitement of receiving so many gifts, his temperature was perceptibly lower.

Twice, during the long afternoon, Nan was sorely tempted to call the office. It would make her even more happy to be absolutely sure that he was there, working on the Bradley case. But each time she refrained. Was she degenerating into one of those jealous, suspicious wives who can't trust their husbands out of their sight, who resort to low tricks to catch them in lies and deceit?

At five Dr. Black came. When he had completed his examination of the sick child, he drew Nan with him out into the hall. As the door closed his jovial grin faded instantly, and was replaced by a grave frown.

"Is anything serious, doctor?" Nan asked in a terrified whisper, as they descended the stairs.

The doctor did not answer until they reached the front hall. "I can't be sure. Children are pesky patients. Scare you to death one day, and provoke you to spanking them the next by their high spirits. To be frank, Nan, it looks a little like appendicitis. . . . Hey, hold on to yourself, girl! Nothing to hit the ceiling about if it is. And it may not be of course, or, at least, a very mild attack, which may never be repeated, if you watch his diet. . . . That woman! That woman!" he added savagely.

"I have been very careful, Dr.

Black." Nan said bleakly. Not for her to utter accusations against the boy's mother.

"Don't I know that?" Dr. Black blustered. "Believe me, I gave Iris Morgan a piece of my mind today."

"You saw her?" Nan cried. "But Curtis told me she had left the hospital."

"Right! But the hotel manager called me this afternoon. All excited. Said Mrs. Morgan was in a terrible state. I went, of course, thought I was pretty sure what ailed her. Having hysterics because John and the boy hadn't come to see her on Christmas Day. With the kid now, Christmas Day. . . ."

"Then—Nan's hand went to her throat, for she felt that her heart was leaping from it with joy—"he didn't go? He didn't see her today?"

"No. That was the trouble. He telephoned her at the Wellington Arms this afternoon. Not able to go out and that, of course, he couldn't see her, either. John's no fool, Nan. He's not entirely superior to convention. No man in the public eye, like John Curtis Morgan, can afford to be seen with a chaplain and as an excuse for the call, a remarried man may call on his divorced wife without creating a scandal, but without that excuse—Well, Iris simply had a fit. Damned little just sort of drifted home, because there wasn't anything else to do and determined to make the best of him as a husband until she could find another man more to her liking. But finding you installed in her place and making a success of it, she'd always fallen down on and finally chucked—well, she's simply gone berserk, my girl, and God only knows what she'll do to get even. She said to me today, 'I'll get him back and put that girl in her place if it's the last thing I do on earth!' And she meant it, Nan."

"But—Nan felt that she was strangling. "But, Dr. Black, what can she do? If John—"

"Whatever she does, fight her till you lick her, girl! My money's on you, Nan!"

The WOMAN'S DAY

by ALLENE SUMNER

A new slant on this "modern woman" question, especially from the viewpoint of every woman insisting on a job, whether she needs the money or not, is revealed by a current magazine writer.

She reminds us that such a thing as personal culture has quite gone by the boards. That the woman who once upon a time might have used her time to know all there was to know about pottery or lace or cathedrals or birds or botany or early Anglo-Saxon verse is now concerned only with getting and keeping a job which combines the qualities of being remunerative and also permitting her expression of the talent and capability within her.

She reminds us that all the women who stay at home, instead of giving thanks that they have time for the life cultural, and making the most of their opportunity to read and study and work, even without pay, at the thing which interests them, spend all their time and energy bemoaning their lot.

Occasionally, she reminds us, some successful woman, a bit more sensible than the rest, sits herself down to ask just what she gets out of this wage-earning treadmill.

WHAT PRICE CAREER?

First of all, there is her old original argument, for going to work at all—namely, the interest of it; housework was boring; the necessity of giving the world any latent gifts, etc.

She may remind herself that she assumed more work because she wanted more money; and now after months or years of it she takes stock and asks "what price work outside the home?"

She may look with envy upon her home-staying neighbor who, true, has no income of her own and may, at times, feel that she isn't "doing all that I could do," but who has time for such things as a try-out of that new recipe for nut macaroons, or to make a rose jar; who can go to the sorority luncheon in a pretty floured afternoon frock, and not have to dash from the office in blue twill, who can breeze off on a hot afternoon to the beach with a cold supper in the picnic basket; who can do new embroidery stitch on a new luncheon set, who can settle down to an afternoon's session with a new book, or dash out to the college club group of lectures.

TOO "FEMALEISH?"

To be sure, most of these mentioned diversions are too purely "femaleish" for the woman who has insisted on scope for her own talents. She will remind you that she is not the domestic sort—that baking cookies or trying out a new stitch or paying calls do not satisfy her. But if she is equally truthful, she will admit that her neighbors' opportunity for many things—even if she does not use the opportunity—appeals to her strongly.

The authoress says that conversation suffers because women no longer have time to read and study; and that any dialogue with members of the feminine sex or with them and the other sex is nothing but an account of the doing in the little sphere of each.

But, at that, conversation should be as sparkling as in a day when they had no spheres and could only talk of what they had read in a book.

Her complete contention is that women are not interesting, amiable, comforting, sympathetic, interesting, good companions as they once were before this age of individualism.

BRIDES! MEN PREFER PIE!

HERE'S WAY TO MAKE IT

By SISTER MARY

These suggestions are for the summer bride!

Most men prefer pie to any other kind of dessert and pies are really easy to bake.

There are several rules for mixing pie dough but the simplest one for plain pastry is used for fresh fruit pies.

When making a two-crust pie, allow more dough for the upper crust than the under and never try to stretch dough to make it fit. Pastry shrinks in baking, so both the under and top crusts should be filled loosely.

The shortening can be cut into the flour and the water added last or it can be combined with water and both shortening and water cut into the flour at once. The first method makes a flakier crust, but the second is shorter.

Pastry flour makes the best pastry, less shortening being needed to make a flaky crust, but all-round flour can be used.

The shortening can be lard, butter or any one of the innumerable butters and lard substitutes on the market.

Quick work and a light touch are two necessary ingredients for a good pie.

One and one-fourth cups flour, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 5 tablespoons shortening, 2 tablespoons water.

The bowl in which the paste is to be mixed should be cold, the shortening and water should be chilled and work done quickly to prevent the mixture from becoming warm enough to show any tendency to melt.

Mix and sift flour and salt into mixing bowl. Measure shortening and add. Mix lightly and quickly with tips of fingers, knives or pastry mixer. The aim is to coat the fat with flour and while the fat must be broken into particles, they must not be crushed or melted. The addition of water is the most important. Just enough water must be used to make the flour coated fat particles stick together. Add water a little at a time, first one side and then in another dry place. Toss with a fork to mix. When the mixture sticks together if pressed gently, enough water has been used. If it falls apart a bit more water is needed. The dough should be neither sticky nor crumbly.

Divide into two parts and shape into a flat disc with the hands. Put on a lightly floured molding board and roll into a sheet about one-fourth inch thick. Lift the rolling pin at the edge of the dough each time and bring it back to its starting place. Do not roll back. Turn the sheet one-quarter way round after each rolling to keep round. Make about two inches larger than the outside diameter of the pie pan. Double over in the middle and lay inside the pan with the fold through the center. Open out to cover pan and lift and pat with fingers to prevent air spaces between the pastry and the pan. Add filling, and roll top crust just as under crust was

HEALTH

IF ICE CREAM ISN'T SANITARY IT CAN CAUSE SERIOUS DISEASE

By Dr. MORRIS FISHBEN
Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine.

The popularity of ice cream in the United States needs no explanation to American people. It is no longer considered a confection or luxury but a standard dessert. It is estimated by F. W. Fabian that the production of ice cream in the United States in 1921 was almost 350,000,000 gallons, or almost three gallons for every person in the country. In 1910 less than one-third this amount was consumed.

In the manufacture of ice cream, the substances used are milk, cream, condensed and evaporated milk, milk powder and butter. From the point of view of sanitation the question of bacteriologic control involves the control of these substances. The other constituents, such as gelatine, sugar and flavoring extracts, do not contribute bacteria to the product. It is therefore necessary in the manufacture of good ice cream to begin with good milk and milk products.

For some time attempts have been made to secure by law pasteurization of ice cream mixes which includes the substances before freezing. According to a recent report, two states and one province require that ice cream mixes be pasteurized and 11 states and the District of Columbia require the milk and cream used in ice cream to be pasteurized.

Some states require that all milk be obtained from tuberculin tested cows; some states require certificates of health for those employed in the ice cream industry. Obviously there is a wide variety of regulations where there should be research and standardization.

Some people may be inclined to doubt the possibility that epidemics may arise from ice cream, but the actual fact is that typhoid fever, septic sore throat, diphtheria, scarlet fever, dysentery and various other intestinal diseases following the eating of ice cream was due to metallic substances from the cans. Later people were inclined to blame ptomaine.

Now it is definitely understood that in practically every instance when a considerable number of cases of disease follow the eating of ice cream, they are due to bacteria that has been allowed to persist in the milk and which have in this way come into the bodies of the people who have eaten the material.

rolled. Cut small gashes in the center to allow the steam to escape while the pie is baking. Fold over. Brush edge of lower crust with water and fit top crust over and trim off extra paste. "Crimp" with fingers or pastry jagger and bake in a hot oven.

The oven should be very hot—450 degrees F.—for the first ten minutes of baking in order to bake the pastry. Then reduce the heat to 350 degrees F.—and bake in a moderate oven until the fruit is tender and the crust a healthy "suntan." It will take from 40 to 60 minutes to bake a pie.

SALADS FROZEN IN MORNING SAVE NIGHT RUSH

By Sister Mary

Whenever it's possible the fore-hand housekeeper prepares her salad in the cool of the morning and keeps it in the icebox until wanted.

A frozen salad can be left almost indefinitely in the drawer of an electric refrigerator or can be kept in ice and salt for five or six hours.

The lettuce can be washed and kept in an air-tight container until wanted. If these things are done in the morning the actual work at dinner time is merely a matter of serving.

Jellied salads usually requires at least two hours to become firm and

YOUR CHILDREN

by Olive Roberts Barton

©1928 by NEA Service, Inc.

All round us were flowers and trees and grass and lovely things. Far below in the distance lay the river, a silvery brown ribbon in the twilight. Two steamboats brightly lit, pushing their way to some mystic destination, looked like fairy boats; the little town on the opposite slope, suddenly blinking myriad streetlights, looked like a fairy village.

There was a new moon and the air was heavy with honeysuckle and roses.

It was bedtime and the little girl knew it, but in honor of the company she was allowed another fifteen minutes. She was five years old.

"I should like to live here," she confided to her, "with all these pretty things to look at. Do the birds sing to you in the morning?"

"Yes, they do." She turned her big eyes directly on me. And she added suddenly, "I don't like flowers. I like it when it snows. I like it when Santa Claus comes."

Happy Memories.

I wondered how much snow and how many Christmas trees she could remember. Not more than one, surely—perhaps two. But evidently what she did remember was a fixed and happy experience.

"It will be a long time till snow comes," I told her. She was sitting beside me with her hands folded in her lap like a little old lady. Her eyes continued to be very serious.

"I wish he was coming tomorrow," she ran on. "I think about it every day, and every day and every day. Those lights—" she pointed to the hill across the river—"look like a great big Christmas tree. I look out from my bedroom every night."

Her mother laughed as she caught part of our conversation about the snow. "I guess you're just talking, Norrie. Come on. It's bed time, now. You can go and dream of Santa Claus." Later she told me Norrie was always talking about the winter.

What Imagination Does.

As she is only five, I too, think Norrie was just talking—she is a sensitive high-strung little girl with a wild imagination.

But there are so many children of her type—who can't enjoy the things around them because they dwell in a dream world of their own creation—that I wonder if it isn't time we paid more attention to causes. Unhappy children, it is well known, seek relief in thinking things entirely removed from their actual environment. They pretend to exist in a place built up purely of imagination. But Norrie isn't unhappy. She's a happy child with a happy home and fine parents.

THE ANSWER

Here is the answer to the Letter Golf puzzle on the comic page—TURN, TURK, TUCK, TACK, BACK.

Hush money probably talks loud.

FOUR PARTY LINE IS DIAL FEATURE

But Two Numbers Will Be Heard on One Phone Under New System.

An improved form of four-party line telephone service for dial subscribers will go into effect at midnight, Saturday, July 13, at the time of the change from manual to the dial system in this exchange. Its advantage over the present form of service is that while there may be four subscribers on the same party line each subscriber will hear only one number in addition to his own. Formerly, if four parties were on the line, each subscriber heard all numbers, from two to five, when they were run. This change will be a welcome one to party line subscribers. Ring One and Two Beginning at midnight next Saturday night each party line subscriber, as stated, will hear but two ring numbers, his own and one other. The ring numbers will be one and two and since most subscribers will hear a different ring number after the new service is placed in operation it is essential that they know which ring number to answer. This has been well taken care of by The Telephone Company in a letter telling each party line subscriber what ring number to answer after Saturday night. A permanent reminder of this information will be found on a card on the lower part of the number plate on the dial telephone in the subscriber's home. On the card in the center of the dial it is plainly shown that the user of that party line telephone should "Answer Ring One" or "Answer Ring Two" as the case may be. Follow Instructions The directions are plain and simple and doubtless will cause no confusion among party line subscribers. However, Manager Healed stated today that subscribers who have been answering the telephone when the bell rang either three or five will, after Saturday night, answer when the bell rings one. Those who have been answering when the bell rang two or four will answer when the bell rings two. In other words, the party line subscriber's ring number is to be either one or two and all has to do is look at the printed card on his dial telephone and that will tell him which of these rings to answer. It is important that each subscriber answers only his own ring. To answer a call for another party on the same line will cause annoyance and will probably interfere with the service.

Special Call
For a subscriber to call another on the same party line it is necessary for the calling subscriber to dial a special number. The names and special numbers assigned to subscribers on each party line will be furnished on a printed card which will be mailed to all party line subscribers. This card should be kept for reference and the special number used and not the number assigned in the directory. This applies only when subscriber is calling another subscriber on the same line.

Big Improvement
The telephone Company is furnishing party line subscribers this improvement in their service coincident with the adoption here of the dial system. The desirability of a party line service where the subscriber will hear but one call on the line other than his own is obvious. Subscribers on party lines, in addition to making sure of their own ring number, should carefully read the pamphlet sent to them some time ago by the Telephone Company. This contains full directions for the use of the party line telephone.

AUTO EDITORIAL WATCH THE GYPS

Despite the undoubted respectability of the automobile business in general, there are still certain parasites who depend on this for receiving the unsuspecting motorist. A case in point is the irresponsible tire dealer who, asked to replace a worn tire and tube with new material, will take advantage of the fact that at least the tube cannot be inspected after his work is done and so install a poor tube, a "second" or even a patched up piece of rubber. Many a motorist, attracted by the lower prices or blaring front of such a tire dealer, has persistently rued his indiscretion while he had to repair a supposedly new inner tube on the road. In one particular case a driver discovered that the man from whom he had bought his automobile had filled the spare tire with a patched-up tube. Of course that dealer has lost a customer, and so do the "gypps" who make it a business to sell inferior material as "firsts." They expect to make their profits from the transients who, even if satisfied, wouldn't have an opportunity to return. The profits are much bigger than those of the respectable dealers, and so they can afford to make this their principle. The loser is not the "gyp" dealer but the "gypped" motorist—unless he as a body learns to patronize only responsible dealers or, if he has no way of telling one from the other, to see that what he gets is what he has ordered. When an inner tube, or any other hidden part is wanted, it should be picked out, inspected carefully and watched while it is being installed in order to be certain that no inferior material is substituted.

"The free trade theory has cursed America. The protective theory has blessed America. If the free trade theory were now put into operation it would bankrupt America."

—Donald E. Laird. (Forbes Magazine.)
"The country has grown to such an extent that, relative to total wealth, the present amount of security issues and the present volume of speculative credit may be less serious burden than half the corresponding amounts a few years ago."
—Henry Hall. (The Nation.)
"Knowledge is a fine thing, but if it goes toward making an intellectual snob it defeats its purpose."
—Booth Tarkington.
"The talkies, even at their best, fall between two stools. On the one hand, they are not the scenic and pantomimic shadow movies of the past and, on the other, they are not the flesh and blood of the theater."
—George Jean Nathan. (The American Mercury.)
The way these collegiate shells are sinking in the big races these days, maybe we ought to have Captain Fried come over and superintend the affairs.

FRIGIDAIRE EXHIBIT CALLED BIG SUCCESS

Popularity of the "Millan Model" Frigidaire, twenty-eighth member of this famous line of household electric refrigerators, has been assured, Paul Hillery the local dealer declared today, with the close of a cold control demonstration week in commemoration of Frigidaire's entrance into the million users class.
 "The celebration was a great success. Crowds of both men and women visited our show room daily and voiced their admiration of this new model. Its beauty, compactness, quiet operation and the revolutionary Frigidaire cold control, for faster, more efficient freezing of desserts, salads and ice cubes appealed to the women. The men were impressed with its economy of operation, symmetrical design and non-mechanical appearance," the dealer said.

FACTS about... RIVERSIDES

Study these points!
 ...they are your protection in knowing the Quality of tires you buy

The Whole Story Is This...

MOST well-known tire manufacturers in America sell at least three different qualities of tires.

So does Montgomery Ward & Co.

Most well-known tire manufacturers in America charge three different prices for the three different qualities of tires.

So does Montgomery Ward & Co.

Most manufacturers or dealers do not admit that they sell three different qualities of tires.

But Montgomery Ward & Co. does!

Our Super Service RIVERSIDE, unconditionally guaranteed for 30,000 miles, is our VERY BEST or Super Quality, and, in our opinion, the finest tire ever built. Compare it with any super quality tire made no matter how high the price.

Our Standard RIVERSIDE, guaranteed for 16,000 miles, is our FIRST QUALITY tire, and is equal in quality of materials, workmanship, appearance and service to other first quality tires made by leading manufacturers. It should never be compared with any "second line" brand—no matter what name the tire bears.

Our WARDWEAR tire, guaranteed for 10,000 miles, is our SECOND QUALITY tire, and equals any other second quality tire. It sells at an extremely low price and is only to be compared with low-priced "second-line" tires produced by leading manufacturers—regardless of any claims to the contrary.

Montgomery Ward & Co. believes in "calling a spade a spade" and letting the purchaser know exactly what we are selling him. It is distinctly against our policy to create the impression that our WARDWEAR quality is to be compared with first quality tires of leading manufacturers. Common sense should tell you that when any company produces three different articles to sell at three different prices, there must be a difference in the quality.

All RIVERSIDE and WARDWEAR tires are made by manufacturers who are noted for the excellence of their products. Ward's economical distribution methods create short-cuts and economies which are directly reflected in the prices of our tires and, regardless of whether you purchase RIVERSIDES or WARDWEARS, we guarantee that you will save money as compared with the prices charged by others for the same identical qualities. In addition, at Ward's you pay for Guaranteed Mileage, which in itself is a definite measure of value.

DAILY RADIO PROGRAM

Friday, July 5. An old Russian bridal song entitled "The Chimes of Novgorod" will be the feature of the program "In a Russian Village" to be broadcast over WOP and the Columbia chain at 10 o'clock Friday night. The song tells the tale of Olympia, a beautiful young girl who rings the chimes in Novgorod, Leka, a young Russian, rides by and is entranced by the sound of her chimes. He searches her out and is fascinated by her beauty. The Russian male quartet will sing this song and will also be heard in "Flax," "The Field" and "Fire, Two, Three, Four." When the Mississippi show boat starts on her trip at 5 o'clock through the WIZ chain, she will carry two passengers whose spirits are so exhilarated by the sights and sounds about them that they feel moved to song. The pair is Billy Jones and Ernie Hare, and they will sing "Here Comes the Show Boat," "Old Man River," "Sing a Little Song" and "Borrowed." The melody in "Borrowed" is written by General Charles G. Dames, ambassador to the Court of St. James, will be played as a violin solo by Sascha Fiedelman in the hour that the WEAF chain will broadcast at 8.

YANKEE OARSMEN WIN AT HENLEY

New England Crew Has Now Reached Semi-Finals; Led from Start.

Henley, Eng., July 5.—The rowing eight of Brown and Nichols school, of Cambridge, Mass., defeated Sidney and Sussex college, of Cambridge, Eng., this afternoon in the third round of the Thames cup race in the Henley Regatta.

The race was rowed in a gale and the Americans made good time considering the conditions.

The Americans won by four boat lengths, completing the one mile 530 yard course in eight minutes 33 seconds. Browne and Nichols now enter the semi-finals.

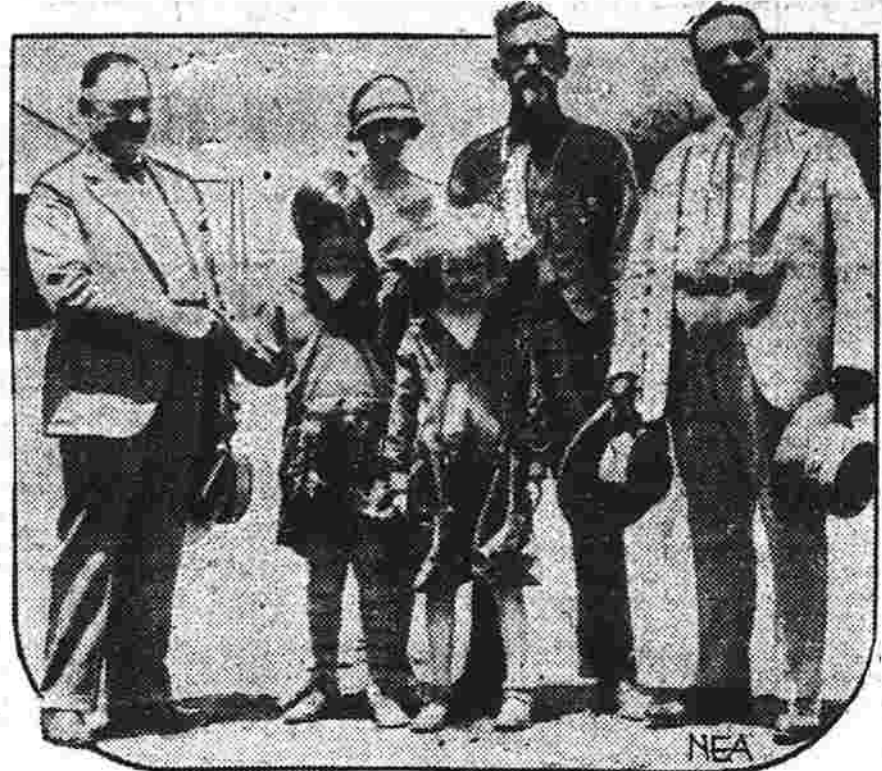

Led From Start
The New England eight led from the start, having a lead of three quarters of a boat length at the quarter mile post. This lead had been increased to one and one-quarter lengths when half the distance had been covered.

Eventually the Americans strengthened their lead and drew away from their English opponents winning easily.

American sight seers along the banks of the Thames gave vent to exuberant yells of glee when it was seen that a Yankee victory was certain.

The 150 pound Columbia University crew, which defeated the Kingston Rowing Club in the second round yesterday, was pitted against Trinity Boat Club in the third round.

Jack Dalton and His Bride

Memories of 40 years ago when the notorious Dalton brothers and their outlaw band terrorized the southwest were revived when Jack Dalton, 60, nephew of Emmett Dalton, the sole survivor of the band, married a woman said to be "Cattle Annie" Burke in an airplane ceremony above Albuquerque, N. M. Jack Dalton said he was not a member of the gang, but that his wife, a childhood sweetheart, is the "Cattle Annie" Burke who carried food to the Dalton brothers while they were hiding out. Pictured here, left to right, are Judge C. L. Ritt, who performed the ceremony in the clouds, the Daltons, and Mayor Clyde Tingley and the two children of Mrs. Dalton by a former marriage.

HE COULD HAVE AN ALIBI

After winning the national open championship by a margin of 23 strokes, Bob Jones certainly needs no alibi. He wouldn't have offered an alibi if he had lost. He is that kind of a sportsman.

But if he had failed to win the title without the play of round he could have blamed it on the rain. The rain storm ruined his game in the final round and forced him into a play off around with Al Espinosa when it was a 100-to-1 shot that the amateur king would be a mile ahead of the field.

He Doesn't Cry
Last year the unruly conduct of the gallery cost him a shot. He hit a spectator and that stroke forced him into a play off round with John Farrell and Farrell won. And Jones didn't whimper. He never whimpers.

There is another fellow who doesn't whimper. He is Walter Hagen. He sometimes talks out of turn as he did in England several years ago when he made some remarks about the lazy British professionals. But he never alibis.

Neither Does the Hag
He was way up in front at Olympia Fields in the open last year and was going good on the course when he was caught in a terrific rain storm. His game went to pieces and any chance he had for the title was blown.

He didn't make any complaint. And neither did Jones when he came in from the drenching round that seemed to have cost him the championship this year.

Here's a Swell Hand
Perhaps the finest professional tribute that could be paid to the golf of Bob Jones was voiced by Espinosa, the pro, he annihilated in the play-off for the title.

"By good fortune in the final round," Espinosa said, "I came within one stroke of being the open champion and the next day I couldn't come within 24 shots of the most valuable title a professional can own. The only answer is Bob Jones, the greatest golfer who ever lived, in my estimation. He is a champion and a look like a duffer but when Jones is on his game he'll make anyone look like a sap."

Bob Bows Back
Jones, beloved of the temperamental crowd that caused him crack clubs in tow on a tree in his very young days, said he had played the best golf of his career. But he didn't boast about it. Bob isn't the kind that boasts.

"The score I made," he said, "wasn't due so much to superior golf as it was to the fact that Al was shooting way below his game. He just had one of those off days that we all have. He was having his worst day and I was having my best. That's all there is to it."

Pros Don't Like It
The pros are lamenting that a pro couldn't have won the title because a professional can cash in at about $100,000 a year on the title. But the young Jones fellow will not use it for financial purposes. He will not suffer by the possession of the title, of course, but a lot of the pros will suffer by the loss of revenue they might have fallen into.

Plans State Sale of Medicinal Rum

Liquor for medicinal purposes. No doctor's permit necessary. A state dispensary—no federal supervision. Just an affidavit that the liquor is to be used as a remedy. That's the plan. W. TOLAN NEW CHAMPION AT THE CENTURY MARK

Denver, Colo., July 5.—Eddie Tolan, little bespectacled negro from the University of Michigan, today was the new National A. A. U. senior 100-yard champion by virtue of his triumph over a brilliant field of sprinters in the A. A. U. championships here.

Bucking a stiff wind, Tolan raced the century in ten seconds, defeating Claude Breyer of Rice institute and Russell Sweet of Pacific coast champion, by several inches.

A few minutes later Tolan returned to win the 220-yard dash in 21.9 seconds.

Four A. A. U. records toppled in other events.

A justice of the New York Supreme Court seemed surprised that a man actually believed his wife had bewitched him into marriage. O, but they do, judge!

"NOAH'S ARK" AT THE STATE TODAY

Is Greatest of the Talkies. Mal Hallet's Band Also Featured

Vitaphone having thrilled the world in a series of sensational talking pictures finds its most magnificent demonstration in "Noah's Ark," the mammoth Warner Brothers talking film epic, which comes to the State theater today and Saturday.

Touching the ends of the rainbowspan of fifty centuries, "Noah's Ark" includes in its cast more than ten thousand characters, and was more than three years in the making. Darryl Francis Zanuck wrote the story and Michael Curtis, who produced many spectacular successes, directed. The sets covered more than a square mile and the cast is one of the most impressive ever assembled.

Dolores Costello is starred with George O'Brien playing opposite her. In the supporting company are Noah Berry, Louis Fazenda, Guinn Williams, Paul McAllister, Myrna Loy, Nigel de Bruiler, Anders Randolf, Otto Hoffman and William V. Mong.

Vast and thronging are the scenes and situations of "Noah's Ark." The love story that runs through it is glamorous and moving. Characters wrecked on a continental train, find themselves in Paris at the opening of the World War. Passing through the soul-stirring time they find themselves waited back fifty centuries to the days preceding the Flood—actors in scenes of heathen worship, debauchery, slavery—and in the idyllic life of the family of the "one just man," Noah.

Miriam, handmaiden in the household of the patriarch, is captured by the heathen soldiers. Her lover, Jepheth, son of Noah, in trying to rescue her, is captured and sent to exile. Then comes the terrible, yet gracious Hand of God—the Flood!

Vitaphone adds to the reality of this colossal film production. Play-ers are heard from time to time speaking their parts and all of the music and sound effects have been recorded in a thrilling manner. "Noah's Ark" is easily the greatest talking picture ever produced.

Mal Hallet Band
On the same program the State is offering a splendid variety of shorter subjects, including two selected Vitaphone vaudeville acts. Featured in the main act is Mal Hallet and his famous Columbia Recording Orchestra. This band, which is made up of twelve versatile artists in the field of dance music, is one of the most popular in the New England states. Their personal appearances at various ballrooms in this section have served to give them a great amount of publicity in Manchester and surrounding towns.

In their Vitaphone offering, Hallet and his orchestra present a symphonic jazz potpourri of new and up-to-date dance rhythms, played in the "collegiate" style that pleases.

Fred Ardith, well known comedian, is featured in the second Vitaphone act, which is a riotous comedy affair.

The State News Events and another chapter of "The Mystery Rider" will also be shown.

Miss Francis Hall has returned home after spending a week at Pachaug, Conn., with her sister, Mrs. Chas. Campbell.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Hill and family spent the holiday with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Campbell.

During the celebration at Autumn View Farm Thursday, Walter James sprang to reach a limb of a tree while passing. The limb broke and he fell flat on his back, breaking a rib. Dr. G. Sloan of Manchester was called and strapped Mr. James to make him more comfortable.

Comedian Plans "Comeback"

Perhaps, Frank Tinney, above, will disprove the theory that "they never come back." The famous minstrel of Broadway, who has been away from the stage virtually voiceless by a speech defect will shortly essay a return. Tinney was the central figure two years ago in a sensational case in which his wife divorced him and Imogene Wilson, "the other woman," left him.

THE TINYMITES

"Well, boys, that's the end. One big skyrocket. I will keep, 'cause it will bring you all a heap of fun, when morning comes again! On that you can depend."

"I now suggest you go to bed. Come on there, every sleepy head, and find a comfy place to sleep. Let's find a big shade tree, once again the sun shines bright, 'till shelter you from brilliant light! Take my advice and all flop down, and happy you will be."

"They found a great big oak tree near and Copy shouted, 'Hey, right here!' So down they dropped to take a trip far into slumberland. The fireworks man thought, 'I've a hunch I'd better guard this happy bunch. But he soon dozed away. He was so tired he couldn't stand."

"It wasn't long till came the break of dawn. The bunch were wide awake. 'And now,' exclaimed we Clowry, 'we are ready for our treat.' The fireworks man laughed right out loud and said, 'You're sure a peppy crowd. Come on, we'll get my rocket and we'll pull a stunt that's neat.' They found the rocket. My 'twas big, and Carry almost danced a jig. 'Oh, it will be a heap of fun,' said he, 'to watch it rise.' 'You bet it will,' the queer man said. 'It's going to shoot right o'er my head. But all of you are going to go with it up to the skies!'"

"He then told them to grab hold tight, and promised things would be all right. 'When you are 'way up high,' said he, 'some queer things you will find. In just a moment—Zip! The shoot straight up, all scared, as like as not. The poor old scarecrow looked real sad, 'cause he was left behind. (The skyrocket punctures a cloud in the next story.)"

RECORD PERFORMANCE

A winning streak by the New York Giants that started on Sept. 7, 1916, and ended Sept. 30 in the second game of a double-header with Boston is a record. There were 26 victories in a row, 10 of them shutouts.

A little fellow of our acquaintance wants to know why vitamins were put in splanck and cod liver oil instead of cake and candy.

BIG BUYING CRAZE

HITS THE MARKET

Over Two Million Shares Dealt in by Noon; England Starts to Buy Feverishly.

New York, July 5.—Financial America celebrated the fifth of July today by sliding wide, the purse strings and letting fly at the Stock Market.

With more than two million shares dealt in by noon today, it appeared as if the money bags of the public were bulging.

An advance occurred over a diversified stock area, including particular strength in railroad, industrial and utility holdings. The motors also came in for their share of the upward push.

While the country was resting or exercising on the Fourth of July, England was displaying a financial amiability toward America in contrast to their attitude in 1917. They were buying American stocks feverishly and bid up U. S. Steel to 202 1-2 for a new international high. Today U. S. Steel reached 200 here for a new high.

The buying habit was attributed to several factors—the day-after-a-holiday desire to catch up on buying orders, the decrease of the 15 per cent call money of last week to seven per cent, and the favorable reaction from the completion of the mid-year financing program.

The government's June short-term notes have been floated and the regular July interest and dividend disbursements have been completed. Also, the taking up of almost a billion dollars' worth of new industrial stock for "rights" issued to stockholders, has been finished.

MANY MISUNDERSTAND BACK TAX WARRANTS

Only Personal Property and Poll Tax Delinquents Are Being Served by Constables

Some Manchester persons who have fallen foul of the system of collecting taxes through the service of warrants have fallen into the error of believing that they are being discriminated against and complain that there is no reason why they should receive a call from a constable, armed with a warrant, while no such measure is adopted in the case of persons who have failed to pay taxes on real estate. They declare that what is sauce for the goose should be sauce for the gander and that delinquents on real estate taxes should receive the same treatment as personal tax and personal property tax delinquents.

The reason for the apparent discrimination is that the real estate tax is secured by the property on which it is due, while there is no such security for the personal property tax or the so-called personal tax.

As between the two latter classes there is no discrimination at all. It just happens that the authorities are attending to the personal property tax first. There are a great many of these lists, many of them containing only an automobile, others stocks of goods, etc. At present the collection of back taxes of this class through the warrant system is going forward. When it is completed the personal tax delinquents are to be attended to in the same way.

The system with relation to real estate is to place liens on the property on which taxes remain unpaid. Such a lien takes precedence over any mortgage. In due course the system is to bring foreclosure proceedings in the Superior Court, have the property sold and out of the proceeds the town's claim comes first.

This year there have been no foreclosures as yet, but Judge W. S. Hyde, who is representing the town in tax suits, is preparing to bring several such actions when the court opens in September.

HOOPER WILL SPEND WEEK-END FISHING

Goes to His Camp in Virginia This Afternoon—Wife and Son Accompany Him.

Washington July 5.—President Hoover will go to his fishing camp at the headwaters of the river in the Shenandoah National Park, Virginia, this afternoon and will not return to the White House until Monday. With him will go Mrs. Hoover and their son, Herbert, Jr., who came on from California last week.

The President spent the Fourth at the White House and last night witnessed from the south porch the sham battle in the air over maneuvering ground troops at the monument grounds.

HAGEN ON AN OFF DAY

The best of golfers have their off days. In Birmingham Hagen missed a one-yard putt on the first hole, but he sank a 10-footer on the second.

Still, every driver who doesn't take to the ditch seems to be a road hog to the timid driver.

Trophy Model

She is America's "Symbol of Flight." And, as such, Loretta Bollinger, above, pretty Cleveland, O., girl, will serve as the model for the measure for the trophy to be awarded the winner of the women's air derby from Santa Monica, Calif., to Cleveland, O., during the National Air Races in August. Miss Bollinger is studying to be a pilot.

TIME, FOR INSTANCE It's easy to TURN BACK times in letter golf. Par is four and one solution is on another page.

THE RULES

- 1-The idea of Letter Golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to HEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.
