DEATH, PERIL FOLLOW BLAST ON OIL TANKER

One Killed, 7 Badly Injured by Explosion at Bayonne; Standard Oil Co.'s Tanks Endangered.

Bayonne, N. J., Aug. 9.—One man was killed and seven others seriously injured in a series of explosions which occurred aboard the Standard Oil Tanker William E. Rockefeller at Pier 6, here today.

The explosions were followed by fire in the forward hold of the vessel. A dozen tons took hold of the ship and pulled it out, and away from the oil tanks and vessels in the river.

The dead man, John Ward, was a watchman for the E. H. Waldron Shipping Protective Association. His body was found floating in the water and it is believed to have been blown from the ship into the water by the first blast.

Burned, Bones Broken.

The injured all suffered burns and some broken bones. They were taken by tug and ambulance to the Staten Island hospital where first aid was administered.

The force of the blast was felt in downtown New York skyscrapers, windows were shattered and the New Brighton, Staten Island, waterfront and sent hundreds of persons living on the north shore of the island to their telephones in a panic.

Tugs and the New York City fireboat Zophar Mills were called to the scene by the screaming of the tanker's siren. They loosed its moorings and nosed it out into the Kill Van Kull, finally beaching it on the St. George flats.

Thousands of persons gathered to watch the fireboats fight the blaze. The explosion occurred shortly after 7 a. m.

The fire was started, according to members of the crew, by oil flowing from a leak in one of the tanks, permitted the oil to get to the boilers. Members of the crew were ordered to the pumps just before the explosion occurred in an effort to keep it away.

CANNON ANSWERS TINKHAM'S QUERY

Says He Got Money for Anti-Smith Drive on His Own Personal Credit.

Washington, Aug. 9.—Another round was fought today in the Epistolary warfare between Bishop James Cannon, Jr., and Rep. George Holden Tinkham (R) of Massachusetts, over the financing of the anti-Smith campaign in the South last fall.

Tinkham has called upon Attorney-General Mitchell to investigate and prosecute the Methodist Board of Temperance and Social Service, of which Bishop Cannon is chairman, because of failure to report campaign expenditures as required by law from organizations engaged in political activity.

In his latest statement, Bishop Cannon stated that he personally had handled the financing in the most practical way. This way, he explained, was to advance money to the anti-Smith committee from his own personal funds, later being reimbursed as contributions to "the cause" came in.

Replying to Tinkham's question as to where he got "the money" which he advanced, Bishop's statement said, "I advanced the money from my own personal funds."

"That Bishop Cannon had sufficient credit to borrow personally $25,000 in the state-wide prohibition fight in 1914; that he managed to furnish $50,000 toward the financing of the Richmond Virginia, and furthermore Tinkham can get a list of Virginia banks with which Bishop Cannon has done business for years and find out from them whether they think Bishop Cannon would have any difficulty in arranging a credit of 10, 15 or 20 thousand dollars for a period of six months."

"Bishop Cannon handled the financing of the anti-Smith Democrats in what he thought to be the most practical way," continued his statement. "He did not hesitate to use his own money and credit to accomplish his purpose and his confidence was amply repaid, for not only were his loans repaid, but Virginia and all but six Southern States, Massachusetts and Rhode Island repudiated the wet, Tammany candidate, Alfred E. Smith, for which doubtless many of Mr. Tinkham's wily Roman Catholic Boston constituency voted, although claiming to be Republicans."

KILLS GRAVEDIGGER IN CEMETERY RIOT

Strikebreaker Held for Shooting Picket at Entrance to Calvary.

New York, Aug. 9.—A clash between striking gravediggers and strikebreakers at the gates of Calvary cemetery, in Queens, ended in a killing today.

Stanley Zasadzinski, 40, a strikebreaker, was shot and killed when he fired into a crowd of the picketing workers.

Police have arrested Philip Nunziato, 32, Brooklyn, who is alleged to have shot the strikebreaker.

The strikers contend that they receive but $25 a week and ask an increase in pay and better working conditions. A sympathy strike by union chauffeurs employed in funeral processions is said to be imminent.

BLISS CARMEN'S ASHES TO GO TO NATIVE TOWN

Remains of Poet to Be Moved from New Canaan to Fredrickton, New Brunswick.

New Canaan, Aug. 9.—The ashes of Bliss Carmen, poet, will be taken to Fredrickton, New Brunswick, a week hence and interred in a cemetery there in the course of a Canadian national memorial service, according to announcement here today.

Mrs. Mary Perry King, executrix of Carmen's estate, will take the ashes to his native town in New Brunswick with the services set for August 20. No funeral services are to be held there, officials having decided that the services held here after the cremation of the poet's body early in the summer were sufficient.

VOTE OWEN D. YOUNG "BEST BUSINESS MAN."

Cambridge, Mass., Aug. 9.—By vote of 200 prominent business executives studying at Harvard University Business School, representing 27 states and three foreign countries, Owen D. Young, former Boston lawyer, who formulated the latest German reparations agreement, stood today as "the greatest business man in America." Young received 53 votes. Henry Ford was second with 42, Secretary of Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, third with 16, President Hoover fourth, with 10, and J. P. Morgan and George F. Baker were tied at fifth with four votes each.

SURVEY DISCLOSES $150,000 LOSS HERE

Manchester Farmers Hard Hit; Banks Will Go the Limit to Help Them.

Although emphasizing the point that it is next to impossible to accurately estimate the loss to Manchester tobacco growers from the recent hail storm, Harold C. Alvord, head of the survey being conducted here, said today that $150,000 was probably a conservative figure. There are approximately 100 farmers in Manchester who raise tobacco. The majority grow only a small crop. The storm totally destroyed practically all of the crops here, there being a few exceptions in Lyallville. This information has been revealed through an official survey of the situation which was completed late today.

Practically all of the tobacco growers here are willingly filling out the questionnaires being handed them by the four men doing the canvassing, Louis C. Runce, William H. Cowles, Edward D. Lynch, Jr., and Harry H. Cowles. They realize that it is for their own good.

Bank to Help

Mr. Alvord said that the Manchester Trust Company would do all within its power to lend assistance to the stricken farmers. "We will give every bit of legitimate help possible and be as lenient as advisable, but of course we can't gamble with farmers who do not have any equity. It is not our money and we naturally must have security," Mr. Alvord declared.

What ever financial aid, if any, can be given the farmers, is not yet known. The Federal government will decide this. No other organization has proper funds for such a situation. Many of the farmers regard the devastation in Connecticut similar to the Mississippi and Vermont floods.

Farmers, however, will be given advice whether or not to grow a crop next year. In some cases, crops have been grown inefficiently or on unsuitable land with the result that the harvest has made little or no profit, being lucky to break even.

WILLIAMSTOWN COMMENT.

Williamstown, Mass., Aug. 9.—Commenting today at the Institute of Politics on the British attitude at the Hague conference, Prof. Jacob Viner of the University of Chicago, declared that the most significant part of the attitude of Philip Snowden, British chancellor of the exchequer, was that it indicated a break on the part of Great Britain with the policy of following France and showed that Britain intended to embark upon a policy of her own.

The speaker maintained that there was real, though hidden, connection in the Young plan between German reparations and allied debt payments in the first place was determined largely by the amounts due from various Allies to the United States. Furthermore, he said, Germany gets a pledge of two-thirds benefit of any debt reduction.

SNOWDEN MAY LEAVE HAGUE AT ANY TIME

Rumored MacDonald Is Ex- pected to Rush to Holland to Save Young Plan Con- ference.

London, Aug. 9.—Philip Snowden, British chancellor of the exchequer, who outlined Britain's demands at the Hague conference, thus precipitating a deadlock, has prepared to return to London immediately unless the demands are satisfied, according to a Central News dispatch from the Hague this afternoon.

NO DEADLOCK LOOSENING

The Hague, Aug. 9.—Attempts to break the deadlock in the Hague conference failed today, remained adamant today.

Philip Snowden, British chancellor of the exchequer, who precipitated the tie-up by his "ultimatum speech" made yesterday, when he declared the British delegation would stand firm in their demands, remained adamant today.

M. Franquill, of Belgium, one of the experts who helped draw up the Young plan, took the lead in trying to break the deadlock. He conferred with other delegates to the Hague conference most of the night.

Following a long consultation with German minister of finance Hilfford, the two called upon Snowden to try to persuade him to make concessions.

Great Britain demands revision of the Young plan. France, Belgium and Italy want the Young plan to go into effect the first of next month in the form in which it was drafted by the experts in Paris last spring.

The Rhineland evacuation question has been pushed into the background by the dispute over the reparations issue.

Great Britain threatens to "reopen the whole reparations question" making another conference necessary.

Snowden has a double threat hanging over the conference. He declares that Britain may not only repudiate the Young plan, but may revise upward the war debt agreement with allied powers owing money to England.

Delegates from the continental powers are hopeful that a complete collapse of the conference can be averted. But it is pointed out that such a crisis comes to pass, the Dawes plan would still remain in force to control Germany's reparations course.

The situation remained unchanged here throughout the morning and in the afternoon it resulted in the verdict that death showed no signs of relenting.

The conference, which was designed to solve the remaining problems growing out of the great war, was thrown into consternation. Glowing references to peace, amity and tranquility which featured the opening session have been overshadowed by the dissensions over reparations apportionments.

GERMANS SARCASTIC.

Berlin, Aug. 9.—German newspapers commented today in the most sarcastic terms upon Allied "sacrifice walls" in the Hague conference. They declared that "Germany, who has to pay the whole bill, is the only one that is not whining."

The Lokalanzeiger asks what sacrifices countries like Portugal made that entered the war "merely to steal German ships."

Even the usually pacifist Press pointed out that Italy, Japan and Rumania declared war "because they were offered a bigger price to do so."

TO QUIZ BROKER

Chicago, Aug. 9.—J. B. Greenfield, head of the brokerage firm bearing his name, surrendered himself today to the state's attorney here to be questioned as to the whereabouts of $750,000 worth of undervalued trustee Standard Oil stocks.

When This Royal Pair Are Wedded The Pope May Perform the Ceremony

The newest royal romance in Europe looms in the reported engagement of Crown Prince Humbert of Italy, right, to Princess Marie Jose, left, daughter of King Albert of Belgium. Rumors that Pope Pius XI will officiate at their wedding also are current in Rome. Crown Prince Humbert, who is 24, and the Belgian princess, 22, met when the latter was studying in Italy.

Scotland Yard Stumped By Poisoning Of Three

Government Official and 2 Women Relatives, Dead Within Year, Known to Be Arsenic Victims.

London, Aug. 9.—The best brains of Scotland Yard, the world's greatest police organization, are engaged today in attempting to solve the most baffling and cunning triple-murder mystery of modern times in Great Britain.

This crime, as mystifying as any ever tackled by Sherlock Holmes, removed three members of the same family within a year. They are supposed to have been arsenic victims. They are:

Edmund Creighton Duff, former British High Commissioner to Nigeria, who died at his home in Croydton, just outside of London, on April 28, 1928.

Miss Vera Sidney, aged 40, sister-in-law of Duff, who died at her home on February 14, 1929; and Mrs. Violet Emelia Sidney, aged 69, mother-in-law of Duff, who died the first of March last.

Blamed Potomac

Duff's death was attributed to pleurisy or food poisoning, Miss Sidney's to "natural causes" and Mrs. Sidney's ailment was diagnosed as "stomach trouble."

Some time elapsed before suspicion arose, but gossip concerning the similarity of circumstances passed to an official inquiry. Examination of the bodies revealed arsenical poisoning, but there is not the slightest clue to the murderer. The coroner has cleared the other members of the family.

An inquest held on Tuesday resulted in the verdict that death was due to arsenic administered by unknown persons.

Dr. Binning, the family physician, testified that a small bottle of arsenic had been found in a medicine cabinet in Mrs. Sidney's home, but this gave the detectives a scant basis to work upon.

It was ascertained that the arsenic was administered to the three victims separately when they were suffering from some slight illness.

In the sister-in-law's case there was reason to believe the poison was in soup she was accustomed to taking. Mrs. Sidney is believed to have had the arsenic administered in a medicine. There is a theory that Duff received the poison in beer and whiskey.

Suspect Mania's Work

Following an earlier inquiry the coroner summed up the mystery by saying:

"The absence of adequate motive is not conclusive proof that a person did not commit a crime. You cannot dive into the mind of a human being. There are people, apparently sane, who have been known to take a devilish delight in killing others without any motive."

This gave some basis for the nebulous theory that some one close to the family is a maniac and that this person was responsible for the three deaths.

Scotland Yard sleuths are following this theory along with others, but without tangible result. So far no arrests have been made.

GIRL "COMPLAINANT" IN KANGAROO COURT

Boston, Aug. 9.—The unidentified woman present at the "kangaroo court" at Camp Devens had preferred the "charges" against the "accused," according to testimony on record today.

Master Sergeant McLaughlin declared that while the mysterious "Miss X" was present she stayed only a short time. The testimony was made during the second session of the court martial of Captain Samuel Murray, former commander of the 26th Tank Corps, Massachusetts National Guard, charged with beat three enlisted men.

According to McLaughlin, the charges against the "accused" at the burlesque court were "stealing grapefruit" and "accosting a young woman in Ayer."

The next session of the court martial will be held at the State House Monday night.

TARIFF BATTLE POSTPONED BY 2-PARTY PACT

Senate Won't Tackle Actual Debate Till September 3; Borah Sees Sliding Scales' Fated.

Washington, Aug. 9.—The tariff war in the Senate, over the amount of Republican protection to be given American industry and agriculture, will open September 3, instead of August 19.

Republican members of the Senate finance committee will complete their new schedules of tariff duties by August 19, but the Senate, spotting its summer vacation on that day, will take three-day recesses until September 3, when debate will be started on the new bill. This has been arranged by a gentlemen's agreement between the leaders of the two major parties.

The new rates, adopted by the Senate Republicans, will be made public in entirety on August 19, but the schedules are handed over to the Democrats. Then, while the Democrats prepare attacks upon the Republican schedules and the Senate is recessed over three-day periods, the Republican members of the finance committee will complete the administrative features of the bill.

Fast Week's Work.

In order to maintain this schedule, the Senate Republicans must reach a decision on the highly controversial sugar schedule and draft a series of duties on wool and woolen manufactures, books and papers and a long list of sundries, including some leather goods, boots and shoes, with in the next week.

After that, the Republicans will have two weeks in which to agree upon a compromise schedule, including a decision on the method of computing valuations of imported goods.

This subject alone has aroused much controversy between three groups, the present foreign valuations, United States valuations, and American valuations.

The sugar controversy" meanwhile reached a sort of stalemate.

Embroiderers, Hemstitchers Go Out Today, Others to Follow in Short Time.

New York, Aug. 9.—An immediate strike of 7,000 workers in the embroidery and hemstitching trades here today will open a series of strikes in the women's garment industry throughout the United States and Canada, according to Jacob Halpern, vice-president of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union.

Decision to call the strike was made by the General Executive Board of the International Garment Workers' Union now in session here.

It is the result of requests of leaders to call 13 strikes in various cities to protest the sweatshop conditions in the needle trades.

Three strikes were approved immediately. The embroiderers and hemstitchers are to go out today; the dressmakers, numbering 45,000, to strike December 1 and a general strike of 1,800 cloakmakers is to be called soon.

TAKEN FOR A RIDE.

New York, Aug. 9.—The body of a man who police believe was "taken for a ride" was found at the Conaway street entrance to Evergreen cemetery, Brooklyn, today. He had been shot several times in the back of the head. He was about 26, 5 feet 8 inches in height, weighed 150 pounds and wore a brown mixture suit.

Later he was identified as Albert Lieberau, 30, of Brooklyn.

GRAF IS MORE THAN HALF WAY TO HOME PORT

Reported in Fog Area But Expected to Get to Fried- richshafen Tomorrow Afternoon.

Favored by good weather, the Graf Zeppelin had completed more than half of her trans-Atlantic journey from Lakehurst, N. J., to Germany, this afternoon.

Based on the latest position of the air liner, wireless to land by Commander Hugo Eckener, it was estimated this afternoon that the Graf had travelled more than 2,400 miles since her departure from Lakehurst at midnight Wednesday night. This was an average of more than 62 land miles an hour.

The Zeppelin is expected to reach Friedrichshafen tomorrow afternoon or early evening, unless held up by headwinds or mechanical trouble. It is anticipated that the ship's progress will be slowed down after she gets over continental Europe due to the cross winds that invariably prevail north and west of the Alps.

1,900 Miles First Day

Following a course far south of the regular European shipping lanes and aided by favorable following winds, the Zeppelin maintained an average speed of 69 miles an hour on her first day out.

Shortly after midnight, almost 24 hours since leaving Lakehurst, N. J., at 12:40 a. m. (Eastern Daylight Time) yesterday, on her flight to Friedrichshafen, Germany, the first mile-post in her world flight, the Zeppelin sent out a wireless message giving her position as latitude 41 degrees, 20 minutes north, longitude 45 degrees, 5 minutes west.

At this position she was about 1,600 miles east of New York and 800 miles northwest of the Azores. At her present rate of speed she should pass near or over the Azores at about noon today.

Whether or not Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the air liner, would head over the Azores was problematical, entirely depending on weather conditions.

If he continued along the parallel of latitude given in the midnight message from the Graf's radio operator, the Zeppelin would not fly over these mid-ocean islands but would pass about 150 miles to the north of them.

Encountering Fog

Along the then present course of the Graf, there was an area of fog with probable drifting squalls, according to Dr. James H. Kimball, meteorologist of the New York Weather Bureau.

Should the squalls prove too violent, or if he were unable to fly above or below the fog banks, it was probable that Dr. Eckener would take a northerly course which would bring him nearer the shipping lanes, or a southeasterly course which would take him over, or south of, the Azores.

Dr. Eckener, in choosing his course yesterday, indicated that he would change his ship's direction whenever he thought he could find better going by doing so. He started out with the intention of following the "Great Circle" route, but soon veered to a more southerly course to avoid fog banks off Newfoundland.

Messages received here from those aboard the airship indicated that the 22 passengers were enjoying the de-luxe service, smooth riding and speed of the air liner immensely.

HEATH SURRENDERS TO DETROIT POLICE

Held for Death of Special Dry Agent Sandlands; Writ for Wife Denied.

Detroit, Aug. 9.—John M. Heath, 27, sought in connection with the death of Special Agent Richard Sandlands, was taken into custody by federal authorities today. He returned voluntarily from Chicago, where he had been in hiding, and was arrested by special treasury agents as he stepped off a train.

He was taken at once to the U. S. district attorney's office for questioning. Meantime Federal Judge Edward J. Molnet had dismissed a writ of habeas corpus for Heath's wife, Maxine, 29.

Sandlands was drowned just a week ago after he had boarded Heath's small motor cruiser in the Detroit river to take charge of it for an alleged violation of navigation rules.

Heath's wife, Maxine, who was also on the boat at the time, asserts that Sandlands refused to show his credentials and that her husband, fearing robbery, scuffled with him. Both men fell overboard. The safe company operator managed to swim back to the boat.

NEW POWER CONCERN ENTERS NEW ENGLAND

Corporation With Prominent Boston Names Organized by Pittsburgh's Koppers Co.

Boston, Aug. 9.—Formation of a "force in the power and light field in New England, to be known as the Eastern Gas and Fuel Associates, and organized by the Koppers Company of Pittsburgh, became known through papers on file today at the State House. The Koppers Company operates gas, fuel, and ore properties in various states.

Two Boston men, Charles A. Coolidge, Jr., and Paul C. Cabot, are among the trustees of the proposed concern, which according to the papers voluntarily filed, is to have its headquarters in this city.

In addition to including the usual investment trust purposes, the declaration provides the associates with power to operate in gas, coke, oil, tar, chemicals, iron, steel and other metals.

NAME NEWTOWN TRACT AS SITE OF NEW ASYLUM

Mile Hill Farms to Be Taken for Six Million Dollar Hos- pital to Be Erected by the State.

Redding, Aug. 9.—Connecticut's new hospital for insane is to be located in the Mile Hill district of Newtown, a site originally examined by the special commission that will build the institution, was once rejected for lack of water supply, and finally selected. The choice state commission, under Samuel A. Statecommissioner, under Samuel A. Eddy, of North Canaan, chairman, met at Ridgewood Inn, Redding Ridge, and voted unanimously to take the Mile Hill site.

Options At Once

Once the vote was passed, Chairman Eddy ordered the sub-committee in charge of sites to secure options at once. The site consists of 700 acres and will cost the state about $300,000. On this site will be erected a group of buildings estimated to cost almost $6,000,000.

Mile Hill lies east of the main road between Bridgeport and Newtown, toward the north. The site to be assembled consists of many separate parcels of small farm holdings, all of which, it is expected, will be assembled without great difficulty under the authority given the special commission by the General Assembly of 1929.

TONG MURDERERS CHOSEN BY LOT

Boston, Aug. 9.—Lots were drawn at a secret tong banquet attended by eight Chinese to decide the two men who were to kill a member of the opposing tong marked for death.

According to District Attorney William A. Foley today, three Chinese under arrest as suspicious persons confessed to him that they had been present at the secret tong meeting and gave details of it.

Following receipt of the information, this being one of the few times on record that a Chinaman wished to talk against his own people, police arrested Lem Poy at an accessory.

Police charged that Lem was the "brains" of the group that engineered the slaying of Yee Wah, one of two Chinese slain on Monday night in Yee Sing's room. Lem had been indicted for the murder and held without bail.

The district attorney said that the information concerning the "death banquet" was received from three Chinese brothers who were taken into custody as material witnesses during a raid in Chinatown.

HYLAN QUITS RACE, SUPPORTS TAMMANY

New York, Aug. 9.—Within twenty-four hours after his organization leaders had declared he would remain in the Mayoralty race to the finish, John F. Hyland, independent Democratic candidate, suddenly departed for Saratoga Springs yesterday, leaving behind an announcement of the withdrawal of his candidacy.

While Mr. Hyland's departure from the scene of battle was not a complete surprise, a whole-hearted endorsement of Tammany Hall by him was an unexpected political Jack-in-the-box. The one man suspected of knowing in advance what was going to happen was John F. Curry, the new leader of the Wigwag. That suspicion extended to the point of somewhat convincing reports that Mr. Curry himself was responsible for Mr. Hyland's precipitate dash back to the arms of his political mother.

Representative Fiorello H. La Guardia, the Republican-Fusion Mayorality designee, was the major sufferer from the Hyland flop to Tammany. He said he was not discouraged and conceded to Mr. Hyland the privilege of doing what he pleased with such strength as he possessed.

Mr. La Guardia refused to discuss Mr. Hyland's statement that he had the Republicans placed him at the head of the Fusion ticket. Major La Guardia would have been willing to accept a designation as candidate for president of the Board of Aldermen. It was deductible, however, that there had been no such understanding on Mr. La Guardia's part.

Pittsburgh Women Adopt All Habits Of Men Except Smoking Of Stogies

Pittsburgh.—Women have entered the stock market frenzy in this city, cutting their hair man-fashion, some of them, scalping points like veterans and generally conducting themselves as their male prototypes, except that none have been seen smoking a Pittsburgh stogie.

"Don't let anybody tell you that women haven't the nerve to be market operators," was Mrs. Werner's advice. "They've got just as much as the men. They know when to take their profits and when to hold on for a few extra points. They've learned quickly.

JACK MCGURN'S WEDDING BELLS PUZZLE COURTS

Chicago.—The state couldn't make up its mind. Was "Machine Gun" Jack McGurn married to pretty Louise Rolfe or was it just something else again?

And because the state couldn't make up its mind, Jack and Louise are now roving the streets a free man and woman in one of the most unusual cases ever presented to a Chicago court.

McGurn, which isn't his real name at all—his Italian but once was a fighter and adopted the name of McGurn—was an excellent machine gunner during the World War. Since then, the state charges Jack has been donating his talents to "Scarface Al" Capone, who admittedly caters to the "wants" of Chicago when he isn't in jail.

Seven members of George "Bugs" Moran's gang were killed here St. Valentine's Day, McGurn, among many others, was accused of the murder. He was indicted. When arrested McGurn was found registered at a hotel with Louise.

"My wife," said McGurn and desired the state to prove otherwise. "She was with me when the gangsters were slain and she's going to be a hell of a good alibi.

Rather disgruntled, so it would appear, the state, failing to get anything but cosmic evidence against the gangster, placed a statutory charge against McGurn and Louise and after many contingencies they were brought to trial before Judge Francis Borrelli, one of the greatest criminal law experts in Chicago.

The state tried to prove that McGurn and Louise were not married. "When a couple is living together, it is commonly assumed they are married," ruled Judge Borrelli.

"When your next door neighbor moves in, you don't rush over and ask to examine his marriage certificate. The state has not proved this couple is not married. Therefore I am forced to discharge them.

The state, taken aback, immediately launched the thesis that Jack and Louise were married. "Why now, do you contend they were married when a few minutes ago you were so anxious to prove they were not?" asked the judge.

Not So Dumb "Well," the state's attorney said. "Since you rule that they are married and you have not been living as common law man and wife, the state agrees they are married."

"Am I discharged, judge?" piped up "Dapper Jack." "Yes, officially," said Judge Borrelli.

"Why is that?" said Judge Borrelli curiously. "If Louise isn't my wife, then she can testify in my behalf when I'm tried for the Moran murders," said Jack, and strolled from the courtroom.

"Well, then, I defy the state to prove that I am married," said Jack with an air of smug satisfaction.

"Why is that?" said Judge Borrelli curiously. "If Louise isn't my wife, then she can testify in my behalf when I'm tried for the Moran murders," said Jack, and strolled from the courtroom.

Out in the corridors of the court, Jack turned to his admirers. "Not so dumb, am I?" And they agreed he wasn't.

OBITUARY

DEATHS

James F. Daley. James F. Daley, aged 66, of 41 Pine street, Forestville, Conn., passed away Thursday morning at the home of E. S. Soranton, 307 Spruce street, South Manchester, following a lingering illness.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Clifton J. Lamb of Meriden and Mrs. Frank H. Anderson of South Manchester; two sons, Sarle E. Daley and Joseph B. Daley of Waterbury; eight grandchildren, two sisters, Mrs. Arthur Rockwell of Bolton and Mrs. James H. Quinn of South Manchester.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at two o'clock at Watkins Brothers, 11 Oak street, South Manchester; two sons, Earle at the Center cemetery in East Hartford. Rev. Robert A. Colpitts of the South Methodist church will officiate.

FUNERALS

Mrs. Abbie L. Daley The funeral of Mrs. Abbie L. Daley of 66 Summer street was held this afternoon at the home.

Rev. A. C. Anderson of the Nazarene church in Hartford, officiated. The bearers were Frank Lewis of Boston, Samuel Lewis of Tolland, Oliver Neff of Rockville, three nephews, and Edward Ciechowski, Charles Lutz and Ernest Lutz from Rockville. Robert Gordon sang two selections, "Lead Kindly Light" and "Face to Face." Burial was in the Grove Hill cemetery in Rockville.

HUCKLEBERRIES SCARCE BECAUSE OF DRY SPELL

Practically No Supply; Imported Fruit Brings 35 Cents Quart at Local Stores.

The recent hail storm caused thousands of dollars of damage to crops and property in Manchester but the dry spell that preceded it also inflicted a heavy toll. Reports from farmers in the outskirts of Manchester today indicate that the huckleberry crop this year is practically a total loss.

Merchants here, who in former years were supplied by native berries, say that they have to depend upon imported berries this season. These are selling for about 35 cents a quart wholesale. Cultivated blueberries are also available for those who wish to pay 75 cents a quart wholesale.

The imported berries are coming from Pennsylvania mainly but there are also many from Nova Scotia. In fields here where the average yield for the season would be many bushels, there are either no berries at all, or at the most a scant showing of dry, shriveled ones the size and almost the hardness of shot.

The loss of this crop is felt by the farmers and others, quite a harvest being reaped annually under normal conditions from the sale of these berries. They are also used in canning, cooking, and fresh for table use.

LAW NOT IMMUNE

Erie, Pa.—Even brawny guardians of the law are not passed up when thieves get to stealing automobiles. During a recent epidemic of thieving here J. B. Hagerty, city detective, parked his car while he was doing a little work. After four hours he returned to find his car was stolen. Thieves had broken the lock and made away with his car.

London.—The girls, gentlemen, are more cultured nowadays than members of your sex. Should you doubt this ask Dr. John Oldfield, eminent physician of London. "Boys are too often satisfied to be louts," he says. "Girls are always anxious to be ladies."

NIGHT CLUB HOSTS

Hugh McCaull Frank L. Pinney's Crystal Lake Night Club is open for diners and dancers each night except Mondays and many local people are patronizing it. Hugh McCaull, formerly of Club Worthy Hills and an experienced restaurateur, is in charge of service and Lionel J. Kennedy's orchestra furnishes the music.

Lionel J. Kennedy The relationship of the rediscout rate to the movement of stocks was a bit vague, if not pure Greek, to the average amateur out-of-town speculator.

WEST WILL GET CLEARING HOUSE FOR PROBLEMS

Denver.—A "clearing house" for information on subjects vital to the progress and development of the west will be opened in Salt Lake City when the governors and other public officials of the so-called copper belt states gather on Aug. 26 and 27 next.

States expected to be represented are California, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, Utah, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Nevada and Arizona. Governor Frank C. Emerson of Wyoming, who will be joint secretary of the conference with Governor H. C. Baldrige, of Idaho, told International News Service here that the meeting will be of outstanding importance, as there "is certainly need of the western states uniting in a defense alliance against certain developments that seem to seriously threaten the progress and prosperity of this section."

Subjects to be considered, Governor Emerson said, will include public land policies with particular reference to the recent utterance of Secretary of the Interior Wilbur concerning the proposal to cede vacant and unappropriated public lands to the states, reserving the mineral rights to the United States Government, and reclamation of arid lands, with special attention to means of combating the unfair propaganda that is now being disseminated throughout the country against federal reclamation.

The tentative agenda, according to the Wyoming governor, also will include discussion of legislation to provide additional federal funds for the construction of highways across lands owned by the federal government; the oil policies of the Hoover administration and legislation which the secretary of the Interior has proposed in relation to aeronautics.

A spirit of revolt has been manifested on the part of western states recently against what is characterized as the usurpation of states' rights by the federal government, and the asserted interference by numerous government bureaus in the activities of individual states.

This spirit was much in evidence during the Hoover oil conference at Colorado Springs early in June when the order of Secretary of the Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur, withdrawing oil and gas permit s on public lands was the subject of severe criticism.

Only recently in a radio address from Washington, United States Senator King of Utah, urged a "renaissance of the spirit of states' rights" and a "revolt against federal usurpation," declaring a strong determination was necessary to resist the forces that are "drawing the states within the swirling maelstrom of a new federalism."

Senator King said a "powerful bureaucracy" is being established in the United States with almost unlimited power. More than 800,000 persons clothed with federal authority constitute this colossal bureaucracy, he declared.

SHANGHAI RUMOR

London, Aug. 9.—Ministers of the foreign powers at Peking (Peking) have prepared identical notes to be sent to the Nanking (Chinese Nationalist) government stating that their countries refuse to surrender extraterritorial rights under present conditions, said a Shanghai dispatch to the Daily Telegraph, today.

REDISCOUNT BOOST HITS THE AMATEURS

Many Dabblers Wiped Out In Break of Stocks from 5 to 15 Points.

New York, Aug. 9.—The butcher, baker and candlestick maker who have been playing house in the stock market today received one of those jolts. The parading downward of the market for an average drop of ten points among the headlines wiped out thousands of the recent army of new financiers.

The break was mainly due to the general advance in the rediscout rate anticipated from the raising of the rate from five to six per cent by the Federal Reserve Bank in the New York district.

The relationship of the rediscout rate to the movement of stocks was a bit vague, if not pure Greek, to the average amateur out-of-town speculator. A prominent banker furthered the education of the writer with a school boy explanation of the matter. All member banks in the Federal Reserve System borrow their money from the Central Bank. The rediscout rate means that they will have to pay six per cent instead of five per cent for these advances.

"This will mean that money to be used for stock market purposes will be that much harder to get," he said. The banker, however, pointed out that the effect on the market was largely psychological as the banks, generally speaking, had plenty of money available for loans.

Col. Leonard P. Ayres, vice president of the Cleveland Trust Co., believes there will be no serious results from the increase in the New York rediscout rate.

"This was a belated action that was expected some time ago," he said. "It bears out the policy of the Federal Reserve System to keep the rediscout rate between the commercial paper rate and that for acceptances."

It seems likely that this move will have a tendency to stabilize the various rates and may reduce the cost of call money. High call rates are main reasons for attracting gold to this country and with the changes favorable that call rates will not go higher and may be reduced the probability of an increase in gold from England is decreased.

The drop in the financial barometer was more than local. Markets throughout the country and in Europe reported a slipping in prices. In London, Berlin and Paris the exchanges recorded drops of from 1 to 3 points. Aside from reflecting the rediscout action, the gloomy outlook for a settlement of the reparations situation was held responsible for the weakness of the lists.

The New York market showed surprising resistance to the threatened advance of selling orders and many of the stocks which had broken earlier in the day bounced back at least half-way by noon.

The market was said to be in an excellent condition to withstand any shock due to the policy lately to demand margins of from thirty to sixty per cent.

The formation of approximately 200 investment trusts which buy their securities outright was another element interpreted as a bulwark to market strength. Industrial stocks broke badly today on the jacking up of the rediscout rate, rallied feebly around the noon period, and dipped in the early afternoon to the lowest prices of the day.

The big bulls came to the rescue of their favorite stocks as the first heavy wave of selling dashed over the market, and moderate rallies took place; but when speculators who had bought for a turn dumped their shares on the market, panic-sellings broke loose and stocks tumbled with little show of support.

A 20-point drop in General Electric to 367 1/2 and losses of 15 points in A. T. & T., 10 points in Goodyear, 5 points in I. T. & T., 5 1/2 points in U. S. Steel, 7 1/2 in American Can; 5 in Anaconda; Copper; 6 in New York Central; 6 in Montgomery Ward and 12 3/4 in American and Foreign Power mark the widest break in prices since the May 37 collapse. In the meantime the big market leaders had moved upward all the way from 25 to 100 points and today's losses are small by comparison with their spectacular advances.

NO MORE RIFLES FOR DRY AGENTS

Doran Forbids Their Use in Settled Country; Will Protect Sleuths However.

Washington, Aug. 9.—Two important moves were taken today by prohibition Commissioner James M. Doran, the first to reduce killings by prohibition agents, and the second to adopt a more aggressive attitude for the protection of federal operatives.

Doran will soon issue a warning to all dry administrators that except in isolated mountain districts or wild, little populated flat country, the rifle must be abandoned as a means of enforcement and pistols used exclusively.

As a result of the killing of Richard Sandlands, a dry agent attached to the customs service at Detroit, Doran declared the treatment would take additional precautions in the future to protect its operatives. No agent will be asked to lay down his life or take chances in operating against border smugglers, who were characterized as desperate characters.

As to the elimination of rifles, Doran said: "There appears to be no necessity of prohibition agents carrying rifles when working in settled communities. The rifle is essentially an offensive weapon and the prohibition service does not bear arms for offensive purposes. In these communities pistols must be used exclusively, since agents are armed for purposes of defense of their own lives."

"However, in mountain country or on the little-settled plains where long range defense of an agent's life may be necessary, rifles will be permitted. Frequently in mountain moonshine raids officers are sniped at over ranges of 300 yards or more. The same probably would be true of the open plains."

Doran's statement relative to rifles followed the killing of Tom Chandler, of Potet, Texas, by Charles Stevens, a federal dry agent. The report in this case held the shooting accidental, Stevens, according to witnesses, having fallen, resulting in the discharge of his rifle and the death of Chandler. It was pointed out that the discharge of a rifle in a settled community might endanger the lives of others than the person fired upon.

The range of a pistol, being short, made that weapon appear safer for defensive purposes.

Doran declared that no prohibition agent was armed with a machine gun or automatic rifle.

FOUR DIE OF SMOKE IN ST. ALBANS FIRE

Mother Saves Three But Father and Trio of Children Are Suffocated.

St. Albans, Vt., Aug. 9.—Four persons, three of them small children, were suffocated today, and more than a dozen families were forced into the street, when fire broke out in a two-story wooden tenement building on Lake street here.

Otis Longway, 47, a textile operative, and his three small children were dead when firemen arrived. His wife, Mrs. Margaret Longway, awakened by smoke and flames, led three other children to safety downstairs.

The fire was confined to the second floor of the building. The second floor was given over to residences, while stores occupied the ground floor.

WILD POLICE CHIEF SHOT DEAD BY A COP

Terrorized Roadhouse Patrons, Aimed Gun at Trooper, Who Fired First.

Chicago, Aug. 9.—Chief of Police Theodore Schutte, 45, of Elmwood Park, was shot and killed today as he waved a revolver and terrorized a room full of patrons in San Souel roadhouse in Merton Grove, near here. County Highway Collectorman Fred Bryant shot Schutte, he said, after the chief had aimed his revolver at Bryant and threatened to fire.

William Lescum, proprietor of the resort, said Schutte was a frequent visitor and often entered the place intoxicated and boisterous. Lescum corroborated Bryant's story and asserted that before Schutte was shot he had fired a bullet in the floor and frightened 25 customers, about half of them women.

Schutte was head of the Elmwood Park police force for about five years. He was married and the father of five children.

UXORICIDE HANGED; HIS CHILD IGNORES HIM

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 9.—John Crestes Marsh, 52-year-old Carroll County farmer, shortly after midnight today paid the penalty on the gallows at the Maryland State Penitentiary for killing his young wife April 9 last after a heavy drinking bout last April. Marsh chased his wife, 28 years old, with a shotgun and as she entered a barn seeking safety, he fired and killed her instantly.

Two children were left motherless, and the oldest, Pauline, 10, refused to have anything to do with her father. Yesterday when asked if she wanted to see him, she refused.

POLICE COMMISSIONERS PREPARING REPORTS

The police commission at its meeting last night took up matters that will be included in the annual report for the year, which closes on August 15. There was no action taken as far as present matters were concerned, but with the advent of the buses on the Manchester Green and Crosstown line they decided to take up with the Selectmen, through Chief Samuel G. Gordon and with Manager N. J. Scott of the Connecticut Company the question of the parking of the buses at the terminus of each line.

A survey has been made of the different stopping places for the bus at present and this will be submitted in the report for changes in parking laws that will be sent to both the selectmen and the Connecticut Company. They are anxious to get this underway at once that it might be included in their report.

Another question that was considered by the board last night was the proper marking of the state of curves and grades on state road in or leading into Manchester, which are now found to be in a bad condition, they learned. In this respect they ask that special attention be given to the intersection of streets.

$9,740,000 FOR HOME FOR U. S. SUPREME COURT

Washington.—After long consideration, the supreme court building commission headed by Chief Justice William Howard Taft recommended the housing of the nation's highest law tribunal in a new building to be erected at a cost of $9,740,000.

Since Congress has already provided a site, it is expected that plans for the new building will be carried forward rapidly, and for the first time since the nation was formed the legislative, executive and judicial branches of the government will be physically separated.

The erection of a separate building for the supreme court and abandonment of the court's present offices in the capitol building has long been advocated by Chief Justice Taft.

Lack of Space. He has not only complained of lack of space for the court and the habit of Congress in taking office space away from it, but has maintained that since the constitution sets up the legislative, executive and judicial branches of the government as separate and equal, the court should have its own building.

The proposed new building, already mentioned by an architect would face the capitol, seat of the legislative machinery of the government, with a park intervening. The model calls for a temple of justice in the approved architecture of old Greece, with great marble columns, and a marble and stone exterior.

Provides More Room. The proposed new building provides a court room 50 per cent larger than the one now used, which is declared highly satisfactory. The present courtroom at one time was the Senate chamber of the capitol.

The new courtroom, however, would accommodate but 300 people.

Nine suites would be provided for the nine justices of the court, most of whom now maintain their offices in their homes because of lack of space in the capitol. The building would include a kitchen, in which lunches of the justices would be prepared, a robing room, conference rooms, Clerk's rooms and a vast library space.

The building plans call for a law library to house 80,000 to 100,000 volumes. At the present time there are about 50,000 books in the court's library.

SUGGEST GAS REMEDY. London.—England, too, is complaining about the escaping carbon-monoxide gas from its buses and automobiles and several suggestions have been offered to remedy it. The most practical method of eliminating this gas evil suggested so far is to extend the exhaust to the top of the car, expelling the gas above the heads of pedestrians. The gas is lighter than air and would not settle.

HAWAIIAN OPEN IN NOVEMBER

Honolulu, T. H.—Some of the leading professional golfers in the United States will compete here for the Hawaiian Open Golf purse of $6,000 to be played at the Wai'alae course here November 15, 16 and 17.

The transportation to and from the mainland will be furnished them and they will be guests of a Hawaiian hotel during their stay.

TARIFF BATTLE POSTPONED BY PACT

With Senator Reed Smoot (R) of Utah, author of a "sliding scale," awaiting the computation of a new scale by tariff experts. His new scale will apply the sliding rates, 30 cents to $2.40 per hundred pounds on Cuban imports, to raw sugar instead of upon refined sugar as in his first scale. Smoot said he did not know when he would ask the committee Republicans to pass upon his substitute proposition.

Senator Borah (R) of Idaho, who is studying the potential effects of a bounty for sugar producers plus a tariff on sugar for revenue only, predicted the defeat in the Senate of all sliding scales. Borah indicated he thought the Senate would preserve the existing rate, $1.76 per hundred pounds on Cuban imports, unless some better plan than any yet suggested is brought forward when the Senate debates sugar duties. He even indicated he was not certain a bounty would be approved by the Senate.

The extension of the Senate's recess was announced by Senator James E. Watson (R) of Ind., the majority floor leader. He said the agreement had been reached to postpone debate on the bill until Sept. 3 in the belief that it would hasten final enactment of the measure. The intervening fortnight, he explained, would give the Democrats time to prepare their stand on the bill and thus permit a start on debate as soon as the Senate meets September 3.

TO COMPLETE CHURCH ADDITION BY JULY 1

Manchester Construction Company Wins Contract With Low Bid of $114,755.

It is expected that the new Sunday school building, an addition to the Center Congregational church, will be ready for use about the first of next July. The Manchester Construction Company which was awarded the contract yesterday afternoon estimates it will complete the work in about 200 working days.

The Construction Company's winning bid was $114,755 which was $1,700 less than that of Gustave Schreiber & Sons of Manchester who were second. The highest bidder asked nearly $135,000. Work will be started Monday morning. The present Sunday school building will be demolished and whatever material is salvaged will be placed on sale.

The new structure will be two stories high with a basement and will be 126 feet long by 45 feet wide with a connecting link to the church proper 45 feet by 53 feet. The exterior will be brick with limestone granite trim and hollow tile backing. The roof will be slate with copper lined gutters.

Located in the basement in addition to the boiler and cold storage rooms will be the parish hall, lobby, kitchen and rest rooms. On the first floor will be the two main entrances to the building, ladies' parlor, general purpose room, beginners' and women's rest room and toilets, also the pastor's study and lobby entrance to the church.

On the second floor will be located the primary, junior, intermediate and six-class rooms, lobby, future organ space and choir room. The plans call for wrecking all buildings on the property north of the church proper in order to make room for the addition. A large telephone and electric light pole will also have to be removed. The new boiler will be ready for use Nov. 1.

HOLD OWNERS FOR FIRE IN BOWERY THEATER

Four Men and Boy Arrested When 3,000 Wax Tapers Are Found in Structure.

New York, Aug. 9.—Four men and a boy were arrested last night as the result of Chief Fire Marshal Thomas P. Brophy's investigation of the fire which early yesterday wrecked Miner's Bowery theater. No. 155 Bowery, the cradle of burlesque, and menaced tenements in the rear of the structure.

The prisoners are Anthony Ferrarri, 26, of the Hotel Brevoort, and Ferrarri, 30, of No. 3508 Canal avenue, Coney Island, owners of the theater and adjoining loft building at No. 169 Bowery; Joseph Svedlo, thirty-five, superintendent of the building; Leon Ferranti, fifteen, son of Ferrarri, and James Matricardi, twenty-five, night watchman of the building.

Ferrarri, Ferranti and Svedlo were charged with arson. The others were held as material witnesses. The blaze partly destroyed the theater and the upper floor of the loft building.

Mr. Brophy said the arrests were based on discovery of 3,000 or more wax tapers in the theater and on the floor of the loft building and that gasoline and oil-soaked newspapers had been stuffed in holes in the wooden stairways of the loft building.

BARNYARD GOLF IN ESSEX ON SUNDAY

Essex, Aug. 9.—Essex, which dates from 1820, when it was founded as a parish of Old Saybrook, is to have barnyard golf on Sunday afternoon. Town officials have given A. E. Lord, the horse-shoe pitching magnate of the village, permission to pit his team against all-comers on any Sunday afternoon the pleasure starts on August 11. Eventually, it is expected, the village will have Sunday baseball but so far barnyard golf is the only sport permitted on that day, excepting automobile riding and boating on the river.

HOLLYWOOD ACTORS HELD FOR ASSAULT

Beating of Goddard, One Time Pugilist, Result of Equity Row, It is Hinted.

Hollywood, Calif., Aug. 9.—After a street brawl in front of a film studio, Harvey G. Parry, 27, and George E. Wilson, 35, actors, were held in jail here today charged with beating Francis Goddard, screen player and former heavy-weight boxing champion of England.

Goddard had been attacked as he went to a friend, Harry Dean, known in pictures as Harry Deck, who was set upon by four men in an apparent attempt to kidnap him. Goddard was removed to a hospital where he was reported in a serious condition from internal injuries.

Later Parry and Wilson were arrested on suspicion of being two of the assault.

Dean said the fight was the outgrowth of a controversy between the Actors' Equity Association, from which he resigned a month ago, and film producers.

Dr. Eugene Chase motored out from his vacation home in Middletown on Wednesday, calling on friends here and making some explorations about the town.

The meeting of the local League of Women Voters was postponed from Wednesday, Aug. 7, to a week from date.

The prolonged drought is being felt more and more by dairy farmers here. Some of them have already found that their pastures are giving out and have had to begin feeding hay to their stock. The water supply in some places is also a problem, as brooks are drying up and springs running low.

Professor Charles H. Burnside of Columbia University, Mrs. Burnside and Miss Marion Burnside were visitors this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mark H. W. Hills.

SEIZE 10,000 OF ALE

New York, Aug. 9.—Ten thousand bottles of ale were seized today by customs inspectors in the Mott Haven yards of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad. It had come down from Canada, consigned to a local "grain dealer," as hay, and had crossed the border, St. Albans, Vt. After the seizure a mournful procession set out from the custom house, a caravan of trucks which carried the ale to the barge office.

GILEAD
Representatives Foote and Porter attended the special session of the Legislature held at the Capitol Tuesday.
Walter Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown of South Manchester is spending this week at Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Lyman's. Mrs. Clara Hanneke spent Tuesday in Hartford and Wethersfield.
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Owen spent Monday at Storrs and attended the annual poultry banquet in the evening.
Mr. and Mrs. Louis Twining of Hartford spent Monday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Post.
The "Gay Gilead Girls" furnished the literary program at the Grange Tuesday evening, which was followed by games, songs and a dog rest.
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Owen attended the meeting and banquet of the Federal Poultry Association in Springfield, Mass., Wednesday. The drought is seriously affecting the dairy business, pasturelands are bare and the corn crop is withering and sun-parched. At the low price paid the farmer for milk with the high cost of grain, the problem of milk at a profit is a question.
Governor Roosevelt says he is not a candidate for President. That's the first intimation we've had, anyway, that the Democrat might nominate again.

These boys thought they were getting off on a new tack when they decided to break all motorcycle endurance records. And they were. For their neighbors at Carle Place, Long Island, kept awake by the noise of their engine, sprinkled tacks along their route. But the motorcyclists endured even that, and here you see Max Heller, preparing to refuel on the run, taking a can of gasoline from his team-mate, Ben Krinsky. The record run finally ended in a collision with an automobile.

JAPAN SENDING STUDENT GROUP TO STUDY HERE

Tokyo.—Plans for sending a number of Japanese students to the United States for study under the Bancroft Memorial Fund have been materializing and the committee in charge is about to name two young Japanese who will leave in time to begin their work this fall. It is announced.

The fund was created by the brother and sister of the late Edgar A. Bancroft, American Ambassador to Japan, who died while in the field of duty here.

Mr. Bancroft came to Japan at a time when feeling against the United States was rather high because of the recent passage of the immigration act. He soon became convinced that the only way relations between the two countries could be improved was to establish a strong personal bond between their respective peoples.

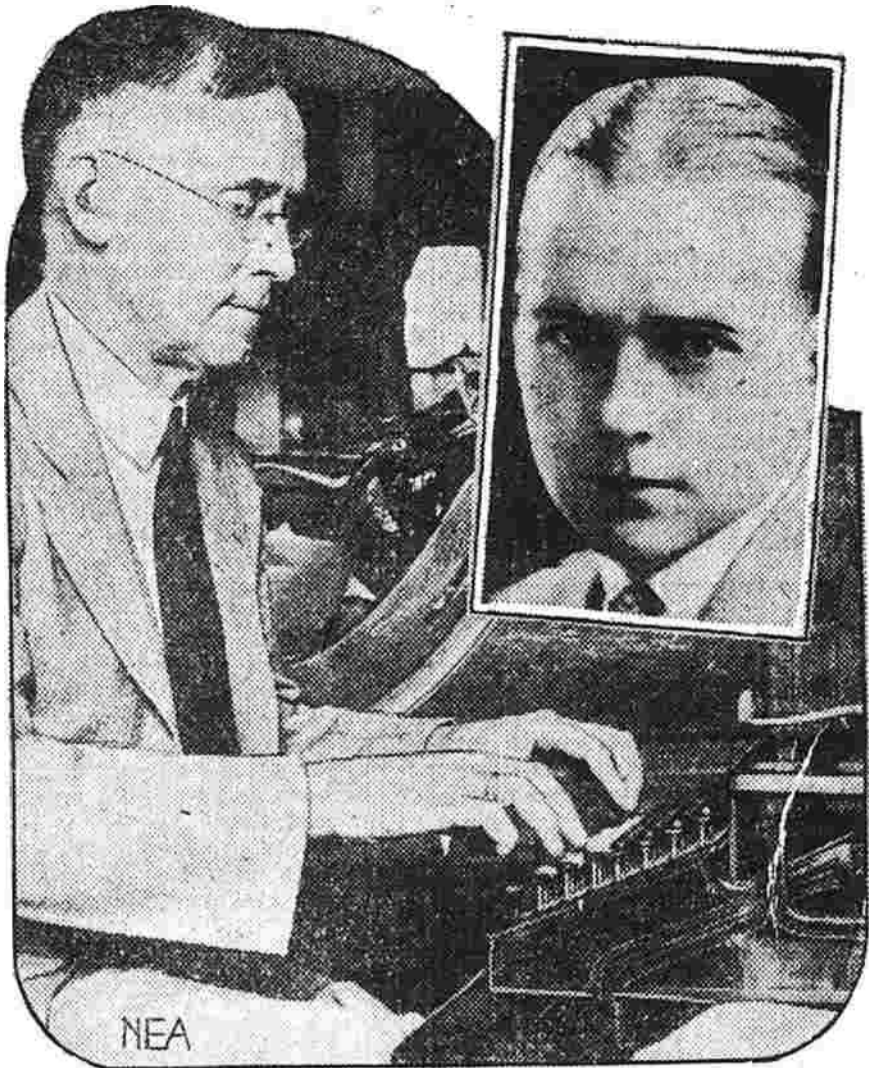

Because it was not feasible to have many American students come to Japan he thought that Japanese young men should go to the United States. His death cut short his plans along this line but his relatives joined in making the fund possible because they knew it was according to his wishes.

Japanese who go to America under the Bancroft Fund will be encouraged by entering small American colleges where they will be the only Japanese.

The first of these students, who will leave this summer, may go to Knox College, at Galesburg, Illinois, because that was Ambassador Bancroft's alma mater.

The Bancroft Fund now amounts to about $100,000 and will be in-

GERMAN ROYALISTS REMAIN POWERFUL

Old State Church of Prussia Is Convinced Monarchistic; Colleges Are, Too.

By MILTON BRONNER
London.—One of the things against which the young German republic has constantly to struggle is the fact that many of the preachers of the Lutheran Church—the old state church of Prussia—as well as most of the Judges of the high courts and most of the professors in the greater universities, are all convinced monarchists.

Their loyalty goes first and always to the old Kaiser crew and, in many instances, never to the government which now rules by the will of the mass of the people of the Reich.

A striking example of this feeling has just been made manifest in Germany. Some of the independent students in a big university asked the permission of the institution's governing body for an assembly on the campus. Some students at a Socialist high school wanted to hold a meeting in honor of the German constitution—the charter of the republic—and were to be addressed by a teacher in the school.

The desired permission was sharply refused on the ground that as opinion was now bitterly divided in the student body, such a meeting would serve only to make things worse.

The great German newspaper, the Berliner Tageblatt, sarcastically observes that this decision is rather strange. It recalls that not long ago the Nationalist students in this university, without going to the trouble to ask permission, held a meeting on the campus at which they demonstrated against the Treaty of Versailles. Being Nationalists, they, of course, took a slam at the government.

Not only did the governing authorities of the university fail to see that this might cause feeling among the republican students, but one of the faculty went out of his way to attend the meeting and ostentatiously shake the hand of the speaker of the day.

The lesson of the incident seems to be that when the young sprigs of the Junker class want to attack the government no obstacles are placed in their way. But when students, who come from republican families, want to make counter-demonstrations in favor of the republic, the good old monarchist "Verboten" comes into full play.

BOSTON DRY AGENTS TO HAVE CHAUFFEURS

Boston.—Prohibition enforcement agents who drink in line of duty and then operate an automobile, will have their driving license revoked, according to Captain George A. Parker, registrar of motor vehicles for Massachusetts.

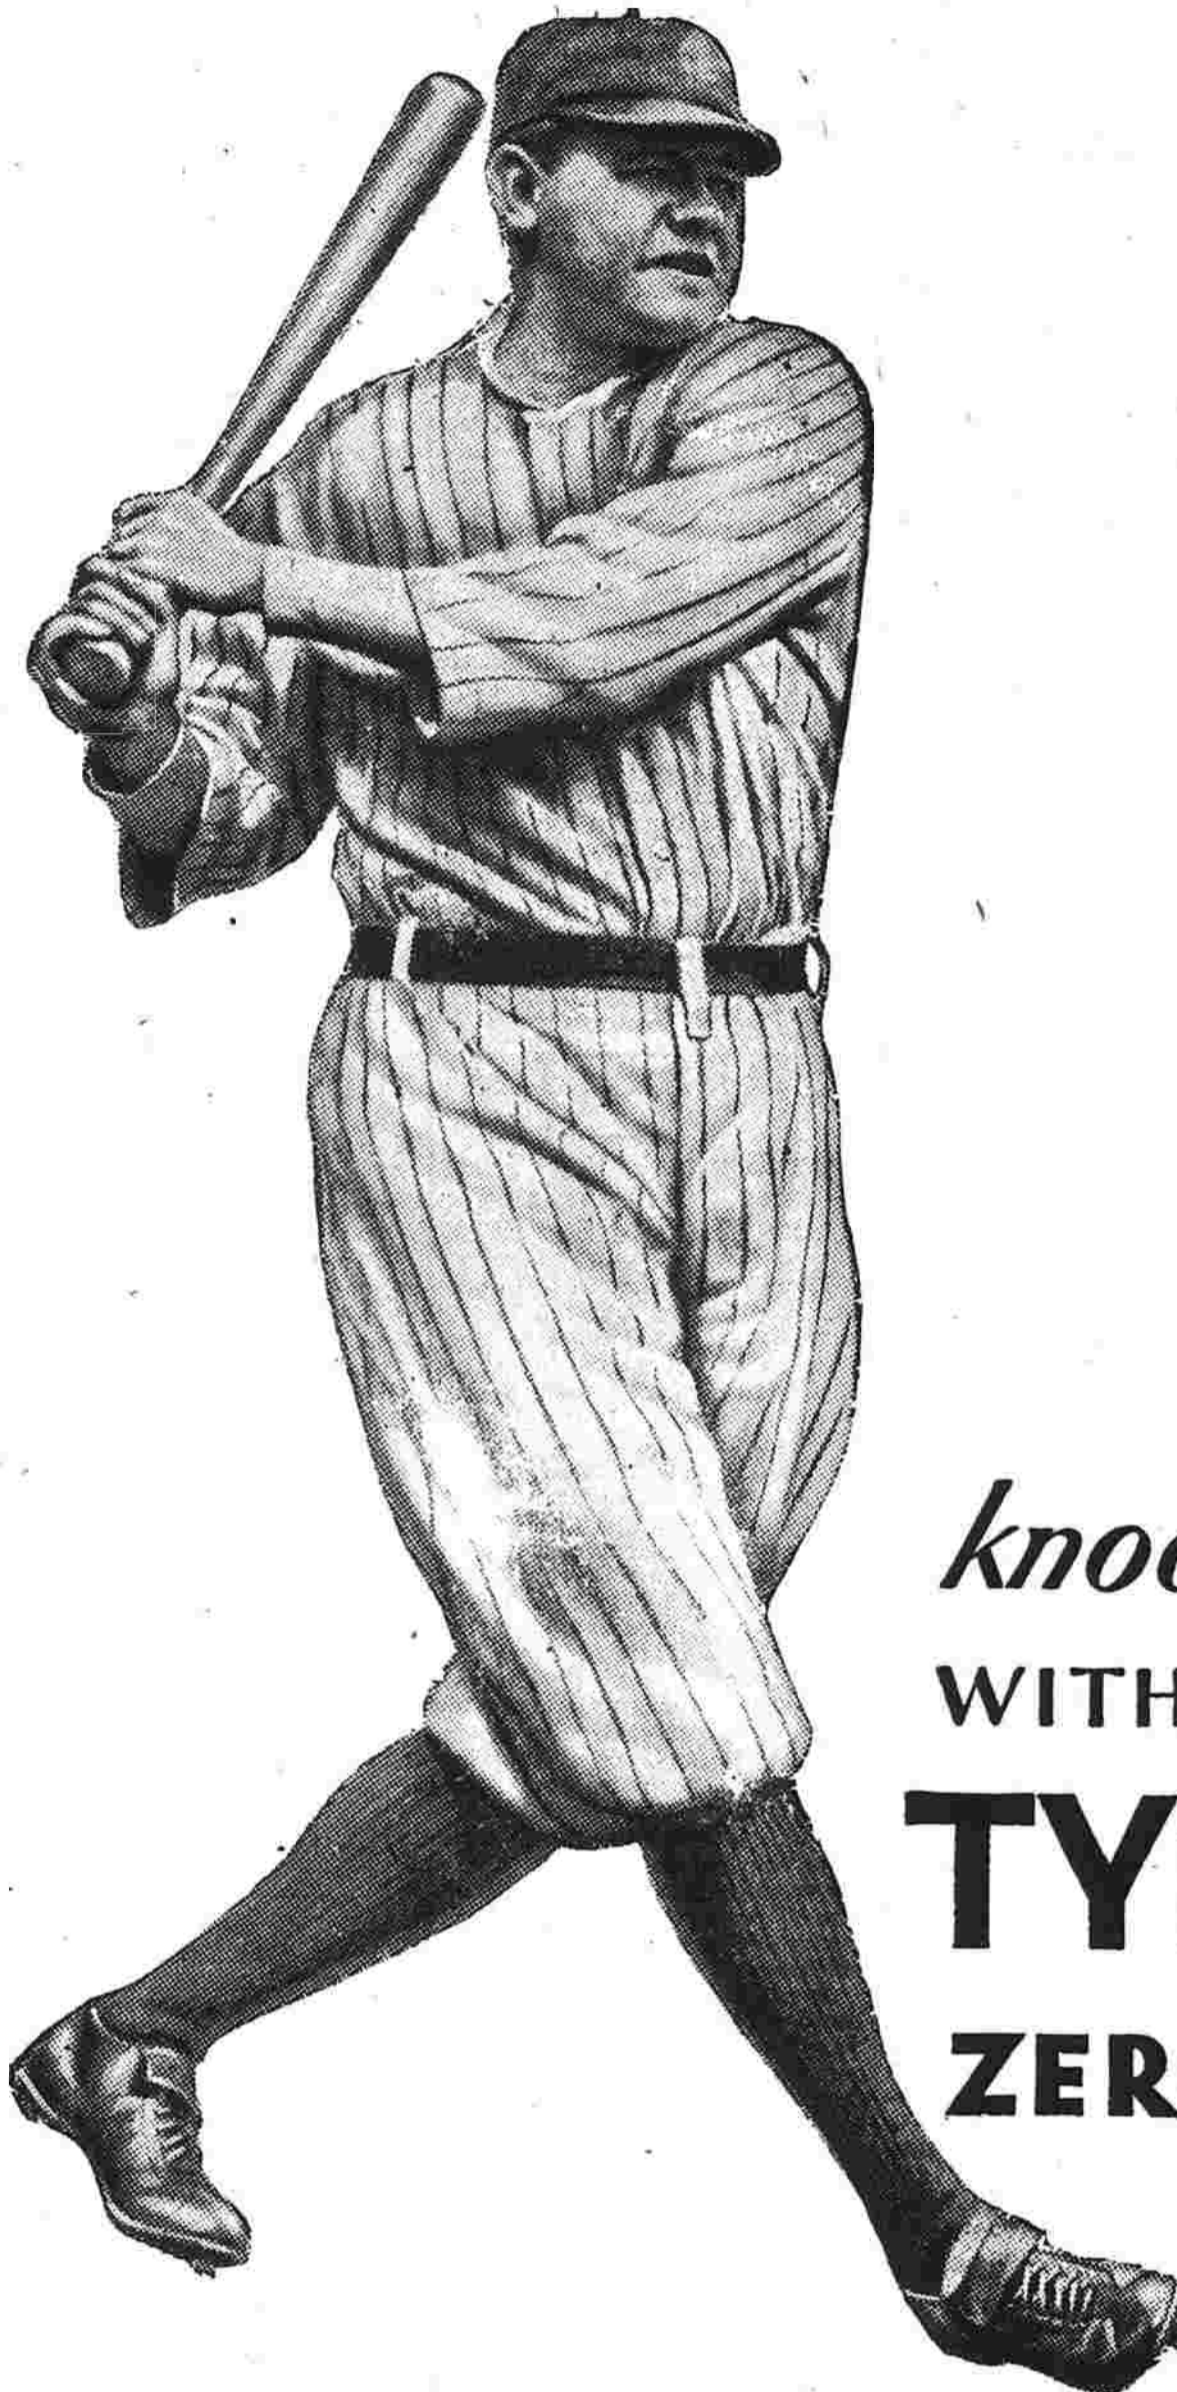

The statement was made in connection with the alleged admission of Marcus F. Jacobson, of Cambridge, a Watch and Ward Agent and investigator who was a government witness in a liquor trial, that he had driven an automobile after drinking two glasses of beer and a fifty-cent glass of whiskey following a raid made by him and another investigator.

When Capt. Parker's ruling was called to the attention of Major Henry I. Goodnough, director of prohibition enforcement in New England he declared that "a prohibition agent out for buys or sales in line of duty never goes alone and that the man who operates the automobile, when one is used, does that job and none other."

Babe Ruth

knocks out that knock

WITH

ZERO KNOCK RATING GASOLINE

"There are lots of noises I like. I'd be dumb if I didn't like to hear the fans shouting. I like the crack of the ball when it connects with the bat. I like the sizzle of a steak in a frying-pan. But the one noise I don't like is the knock in my motor. That drives me wild. Not only does it take all the pleasure out of motoring, but it costs a fortune in repair bills. Since I've been using the new TYDOL ETHYL I haven't heard a single knock."

Babe Ruth

The Babe knocks the well-known pill out to the far corner of the lot, and the fans go wild.

But when the Babe's motor starts this knocking business, then the Babe goes wild.

But not for long... because he knocked out that knock in his motor with more ease than he knocks out a homer on the diamond... knocked it out to the far corners of nowhere... with TYDOL ETHYL. This super-fuel is a combination of Hi-test TYDOL with its power, liveliness, instant starting, and ETHYL, with its anti-knock feature. All the dash of one... all the quiet of the other... together. And its knock rating is ZERO! Absolute ZERO!

Stop at the nearest TYDOL

ETHYL pump, and stop these destructive, dangerous motor knocks—instantly. TYDOL ETHYL in the tank means money in your pocket. It costs but 3c more per gallon, and saves your car from the pound, pound, pound of the sledge-hammer knocks in the cylinders.

Knock out the knocks before they knock out the motor.

Make a Ten-Gallon Test

Even if it were a gamble you wouldn't be taking much of a chance... when only 30c is at stake. But it's an absolute "sure thing," a "set-up"—that TYDOL ETHYL will stop the knocks. Pay 3c more a gallon and make this ten-gallon test and find out the answer for yourself.

Road conditions and detours in the State of Connecticut made necessary by highway construction. Repairs and Oiling announced by the Connecticut State Highway Department, as of August 7th, 1929 are as follows:
Route No. 1
Milford-Post road, shoulders being oiled.

In K. of C. Meet

When Knights of Columbus meet in annual convention August 20-22, inclusive, at Milwaukee, these three men will figure prominently. Robert Wittig, above, of Milwaukee, is general chairman of the convention.

Willington road is under construction. Traffic can pass.
Barkhamsted, Pleasant Valley road is under construction. No alternate route.
Beacon Falls, Pine Bridge is under construction. Will be opened in about a week.

TODAY IS THE ANNIVERSARY

TREATY WITH ENGLAND.

Eighty seven years ago today, on Aug. 9, 1842, the famous Webster, Ashburton treaty with England was signed in Washington.

By the cruising convention clause, which the president himself had a conspicuous part in arranging, the delicate point of "right of search" was avoided and each nation bound itself to do its full duty by keeping a sufficient squadron on the African coast for suppression of the slave trade.

NEEDLE STRIKE VOTED.
New York, Aug. 8—A general strike in the dress-making industry involving 45,000 workers, was authorized today by the general executive board of the International Ladies' Garment Union to take effect December 1, unless the manufacturers meet their demands for higher wages and better working conditions.

BOBBED BANDITS GIVE ALL LOOT TO CHARITY

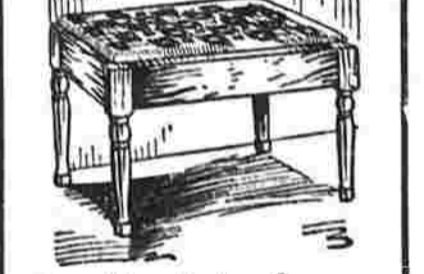

Indianapolis.—Two local bobbed-haired bandits rob for the thrill alone and give their loot to charity, according to a letter they sent to Police Chief Claude M. Worley. The missive said: "We crave some excitement and therefore we choose crime as a means to make whoopee."

ing our loot to charitable organizations. We are doing these rash acts for the fun of it and not because we're hard up. "Hoping that in the future parents will allow their girls more excitement. "Two Bobbed-Hair Bandits. "B. and T. Chief Worley was somewhat mystified, for there has been only one holdup reported by a bobbed-hair bandit in months. He believes some of the victims have failed to tell the police they were robbed.

DAILY RADIO PROGRAM

Friday, August 9.

Quiet life among the peasants on the steppes of Russia will be pictured in song and music over WOR and the Columbia network at 10:30 Monday night. Together with the exotic music of Russian folk-song, handed down from years gone by, will be a special arrangement by Salama of "Song of the Volga Boatmen" and the "Kamarinsky Dance." The Red Saraf and "Hills Under the Cherry Tree," Mme. Valentines' solos, are in strong contrast to the "Three Huntsmen" and "Oh, Winter, Winter," two songs by the male quartet. Peter Billo and his balalaika orchestra will also be heard in old Russian airs. The first act of "Blossom Time," a musical comedy in three acts, will be sung by Muriel Wilson, soprano, and Colia O'Mara, tenor, over WJZ and allied broadcasters at 9:30. At 11 this same group of stations will present the Shumet hour which will be heard a musical melange interpreting the moods of music, folk lore and legend. The program is directed by Ludwig Laurier.

Wave lengths in meters on left of station title, kilocycles on the right. Times are Eastern Daylight Saving and Eastern Standard. Black face type indicates best features.

LUTHER SESSIONS TO BE IN MERIDEN

District Convention Opens There on Saturday, Aug. 31—Runs to Labor Day.

The Manchester Luther League expects to send a large delegation of members to the annual convention of the Hartford District Luther League which opens in Meriden on Saturday, August 31 and concludes Labor Day afternoon with an athletic meet.

Practice for the track meet, in which there is much rivalry, is being held Monday of every week at the West Side playgrounds at 7 o'clock so that Manchester may start a winning team on the field. Both boys and girls compete in this contest.

On Saturday registration of delegates and others are to be made between 3 and 6 o'clock at the Augustana Lutheran church on Center street. At 7:30 o'clock a banquet will be held in the Y. M. C. A. on West Main street.

Morning communion services will be held on Sunday at 10 o'clock at the First Methodist Episcopal church. In the afternoon at 5:30 o'clock a luncheon will be served at the Augustana church. In the evening a rally meeting at the Methodist church concludes the day's program.

On Monday, Labor Day, the business meeting opens at 9 o'clock with dinner at noon. The athletic meet is scheduled for 2:30 o'clock. The place has not yet been designated.

Because of the close proximity of Meriden to Manchester local Leaguers, aside from the delegates, are not encouraged to stay overnight as every available room is needed for the large number of delegates.

Bus and private cars will take the Manchester delegation to the convention providing there are enough who signify their intention of going to make hiring a bus advisable.

Made the Others Look Sick

Well, Well! She certainly is well! In fact, she's the healthiest girl in all North Carolina. And nothing was ailing the judges, either, when they chose blond, 18-year-old Ruth Coleman, above, to be Queen of Health at a state-wide meeting of 4-H clubs in Raleigh, N. C. Twenty thousand girls competed for the honor, but this pretty miss scored 97.9 points out of a possible 100 to beat them all.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH GROWING IN JAPAN

Tokyo.—Japanese Christians of registered church membership in Japan now number 154,521, an increase of 5,237, over last year, according to an investigation made recently by the National Christian Council. It is reported that actual number of church members is far greater than this.

The Presbyterian church leads the list with 49,866 members. The Methodist church is the next largest denomination with 32,783 members. The members of Congregational church total 27,837 and the Episcopal church has 22,235 members. The other Protestant churches, 19 in number, have members ranging from 100 to 4,217.

STIRRING DRAMA IN "THE PAGAN"

Ramon Novarro Tops Fine Cast in Filming of Famous Novel.

Tropic scenes of wonderful beauty, thrilling such as a battle under water with a deep sea shark, and other vivid details of life in the tropics, embellish a romantic love story in "The Pagan." Ramon Novarro's latest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, now playing at the State theater as a sound synchronized film with singing sequences which introduce Novarro's rich tenor voice to the motion picture public. He gives several renditions of "Pagan Love Song," the theme song of the production. "The Pagan," adapted from the famous novel by John Russell, was directed by W. S. Van Dyke, who directed "White Shadows in the South Seas." The cast includes Renee Adoree, Donald Crisp, Dorothy Janis, and others of note, and the picture was made in its entirety in the islands. The company passed weeks in Tahiti and in the jungles to film this dramatic romance of tropical life.

WHERE TH' MONEY GOES

New York.—It has been estimated that the average American woman spends $50 a year on her face. U. S. Department of Commerce figures report that the average woman's expenditure goes one-sixth for powder and rouge; one-sixth for creams; one-sixth for perfumes, toilet waters and talcum; one-sixth for dentifrice; one-sixth for hair tonics and the remainder for beauty treatments.

SHOCKING TO FISH

London.—Experimenting with electricity in killing fish, a Munster, Westphalia, electrical firm dragged through a well-stocked pool a copper wire carrying an alternating current of 220 volts. After a short time 300 pounds or more of carp, and 50 pounds of pike rose to the surface unconscious.

PARLIAMENT TO ACT ON CABINET "RAISE"

London.—A definite move to increase Ministerial salaries in Britain is being made at last, with the approval of the parties.

The reason is that, on their official salaries of $25,000, the chief ministers are heavily out of pocket at the end of their term. At the expiration of Ramsey MacDonald's term of eight months of office in 1924 he had exhausted practically the savings of a lifetime.

The salary of the Prime Minister, after income tax has been deducted at the source, is $17,500. Out of this he has to entertain incessantly, and expected to contribute extensively to various funds and charities.

A Parliamentary Committee which investigated the matter in 1921 recommended that the minimum salary of the Premier would be $40,000. Giving evidence before this committee the late Lord Oxford and Asquith said "I confess I think the Prime Minister is underpaid. After eleven continuous years in office I was a much poorer man than when I entered."

"The office of Prime Minister, unless a man has private means, cannot be properly discharged on $25,000. He has a number of duties, if he is to perform his office properly, of entertaining and offering hospitality to all sorts and conditions of people both at home and abroad, which under present arrangements, he has to defray entirely at his own expense."

Premier Baldwin also stated that during his term he lived on his capital.

A House of Commons Committee is expected to take the matter in hand and recommend that the increases be voted.

CRIMINALS FREED IN TOKYO ARSON CASES

Tokyo.—Of the 19 cases of arson so far tried under the jury system in Japan, seven were tried in or near Tokyo and all brought acquittals, while only one acquittal was brought from the 12 trials in other parts of Japan. The judicial authorities of Tokyo and its vicinity are deeply perplexed and worried over this state of affairs.

Prosecutors are now carrying on a study of the records of all these cases in an attempt to decide whether it was due to over-sympathetic juries or to over-hand people who made arrests on insufficient evidence. They are greatly worried by the moral effect on potential criminals or so many acquittals, some of which must certainly have been errors of justice.

Under the old trial system the police depended largely upon the confession of the accused, other evidence in arson cases being usually of slight value. The prosecutors are long been notorious. Consequently, there is reported to be a growing aversion on the part of police officers to have anything to do with arson cases. The prosecutors believe that the minds of the juries are rendered unconsciously sympathetic.

A'S MAY CRACK ON TRIP WEST

At Least Yankee Followers Think They Will After Yesterday's Game.

What a whale of a difference one game makes, or even half a game. Yesterday the Yankees and the Pirates are just a couple of second place ball clubs. Today, to their admirers at least, they are a couple of red-hot contenders for the flag.

All because the former whipped the Athletics in the rubber game of their series and shipped one notch of that 11 1/2 game lead and the latter trimmed St. Louis to pick up half a game on the idle Cubs.

The Yanks' win strengthened the belief of their followers that the Philadelphia machine is pretty well fired out and ready to be taken for a ride on their western trip that begins tomorrow. Pirate devotees insist that it's just a matter of time until Warner & Co. ease by the Cubs.

Outstanding in the New York's victory was Cy Moore's heroic work as relief pitcher and the brilliant performance turned in by Sam Byrd, subbing for Combs in center field. Byrd collected three hits, one homer.

The Pirates in trimming St. Louis ran their string of victories to that club to eleven and foiled Alexander's attempt to set a new national league record for games won. Poor support was the ruin of the old man, Gelbert's wild leave in the fourth, alone paving the way for four of the five runs. Washington whipped the Red Sox 3 to 2.

Chicago spent a profitable afternoon, turning back the ambitious Browns in both contests, and the double-header. Bill Cissell was the big noise of the eleven inning first game getting a homer, double, two singles and a sacrifice.

Detroit staged a four-run rally in the ninth to turn in a 9 to 5 win over Cleveland. Hellmuth's double with the bases loaded was the big punch of the winning attack.

Today finds only one game. St. Louis at Chicago, scheduled for the American. The Yanks and Athletics will devote the day to exhibition games.

WAR WIDOWS OF FRANCE ASKING FOR SUFFRAGE

Paris.—The feminine vote may steal into France in widow's weeds. War widows are making the most serious efforts to obtain the vote. They sacrificed their men for their country in war time, they claim. And they demand the vote in return. "We have been left the heads of our families," they say, "with all the responsibilities and work that entails. And yet have not the right to protect or even represent ourselves by the smallest voice in our government."

MENUS For Good Health

Friday Breakfast—Toasted breakfast food with cream (no sugar) ripe figs. Lunch—Cooked string beans. Spinach and rice en casserole. Dinner—Broiled white fish, spinach, cooked tomatoes, salad of raw asparagus tips eaten as celery, Jello or Jell-whip (no cream). Saturday Breakfast—Crisp waffle, 2 or 3 slices of well cooked bacon, baked apple. Lunch—Ice cream, with one kind of fresh fruit, except bananas. Dinner—Salisbury steak, mushrooms en casserole, baked ground beets, salad of diced celery, cooking string beans and parsley and peach whip. Sunday Breakfast—Spinach and rice en casserole. Measure a half cupful of rice and wash thoroughly. Let soak in the last water for an hour or more, drain, and cook until tender in about a quart of boiling water. Then

Seek Eternal Youth by Fasting

Abstention from food tends to eternal youth and truth—that's the theory of these Chicagoans who started out to fast in the mountains of Colorado. Dissection disrupted their ranks, however, and now one party is under the leadership of Dr. George Huntley Aron, and the other under Rev. Herman Arndt, Presbyterian minister. Left to right are W. R. Benson, Peter Zankus, Edward Quartillo, Dr. Aron, Mrs. Elizabeth Klebe, Mrs. Zella Evers, Rev. Arndt and Mrs. Mary Stephan.

threw the rice into a colander and rinse in cold water. This washes away the sticky liquid, and separates the grains of rice. There will be about two cupfuls of the cooked rice, to which add one cupful of cooked mashed spinach. Mix together thoroughly, put into a casserole, and bake for fifteen or twenty minutes tightly covered. Remove cover and place under broiler flame until slightly crisped on top. Serve each portion with a lump of butter.

the use of potatoes because they do not combine well with tomatoes. Butter and cream may be used with the soup. Cancer Question: S. F. writes:—"I am to begin working in a family where one of the members has cancer. I am to do no washing, only ironing. I have heard that cancer is contagious, and I am doubtful whether it is wise for me to become employed here."

Answer:—The exact cause of cancer is unknown, but doctors are practically all of the opinion that it is not contagious, and I do not believe there will be any danger in your taking over the household work in the family you write about. There is not much danger of a person contracting cancer, if he lives upon the correct diet and uses enough exercises to maintain good health.

BRITANNIA STILL LEADS SHIPPING LONDON CLAIMS

London.—Despite all the talk about America's greatness, Britannia still rules the waves. Under the blaring headlines, "America Beaten in Shipping Race," the Daily Express is the latest to inform the world that not only has Great Britain the greatest navy in the world, but also the greatest mercantile marine. This journal tends to give the impression that during the post-war years America and Britain have engaged in a competitive construction race, and that the latest statistics on world tonnage show Britannia has won.

Rules in Commerce. The British Merchant Navy, battered during the war almost to a derelict fleet, once more rules the waves of commerce, and the story of how it has regained its supremacy forms one of the greatest chapters in the history of the seas, proudly proclaims the Express, which proceeds to tell how it all happened.

"In 1919," the journal continues, "the world's shipping tonnage totaled 51,000,000, out of which British claimed 16,500,000 tons and America, her nearest rival,

PRODUCING POTASH IN MOHAVE DESERT

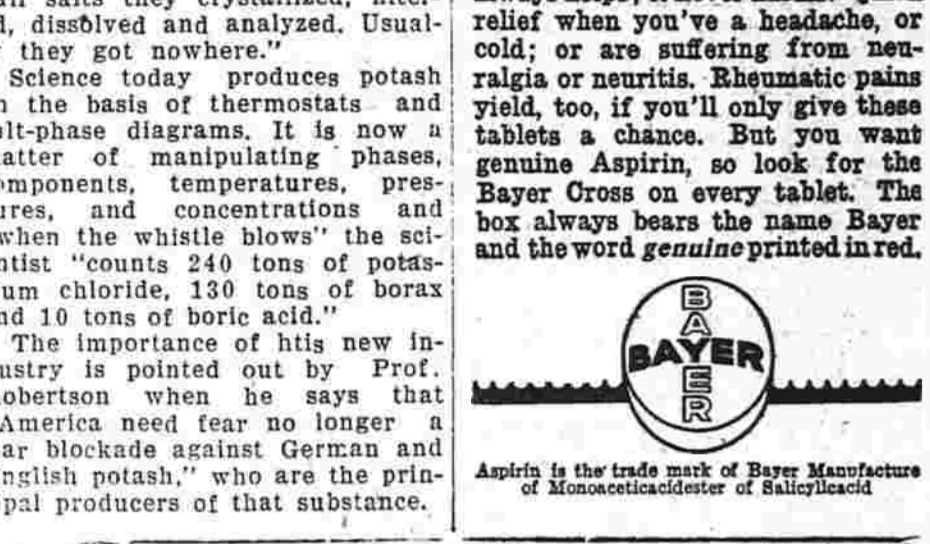

New York.—A ten-year struggle between science and nature at Searles Lake, California has produced a new industry in America—potash. The useful salts, amounting to 400 tons are being produced in the recovery of the Mohave Desert alkalis. Professor G. Ross Robertson of the University of California describes the new American industry in "Industrial and Engineering Chemistry."

Science today produces potash on the basis of thermostats and salt-phase diagrams. It is now a matter of manipulating phases, components, temperatures, pressures, and concentrations and "when the whistle blows" the scientist "counts 240 tons of potassium chloride, 150 tons of borax and 10 tons of boric acid."

The importance of this new industry is pointed out by Prof. Robertson when he says that "America need fear no longer a war blockade against German and English potash," who are the principal producers of that substance.

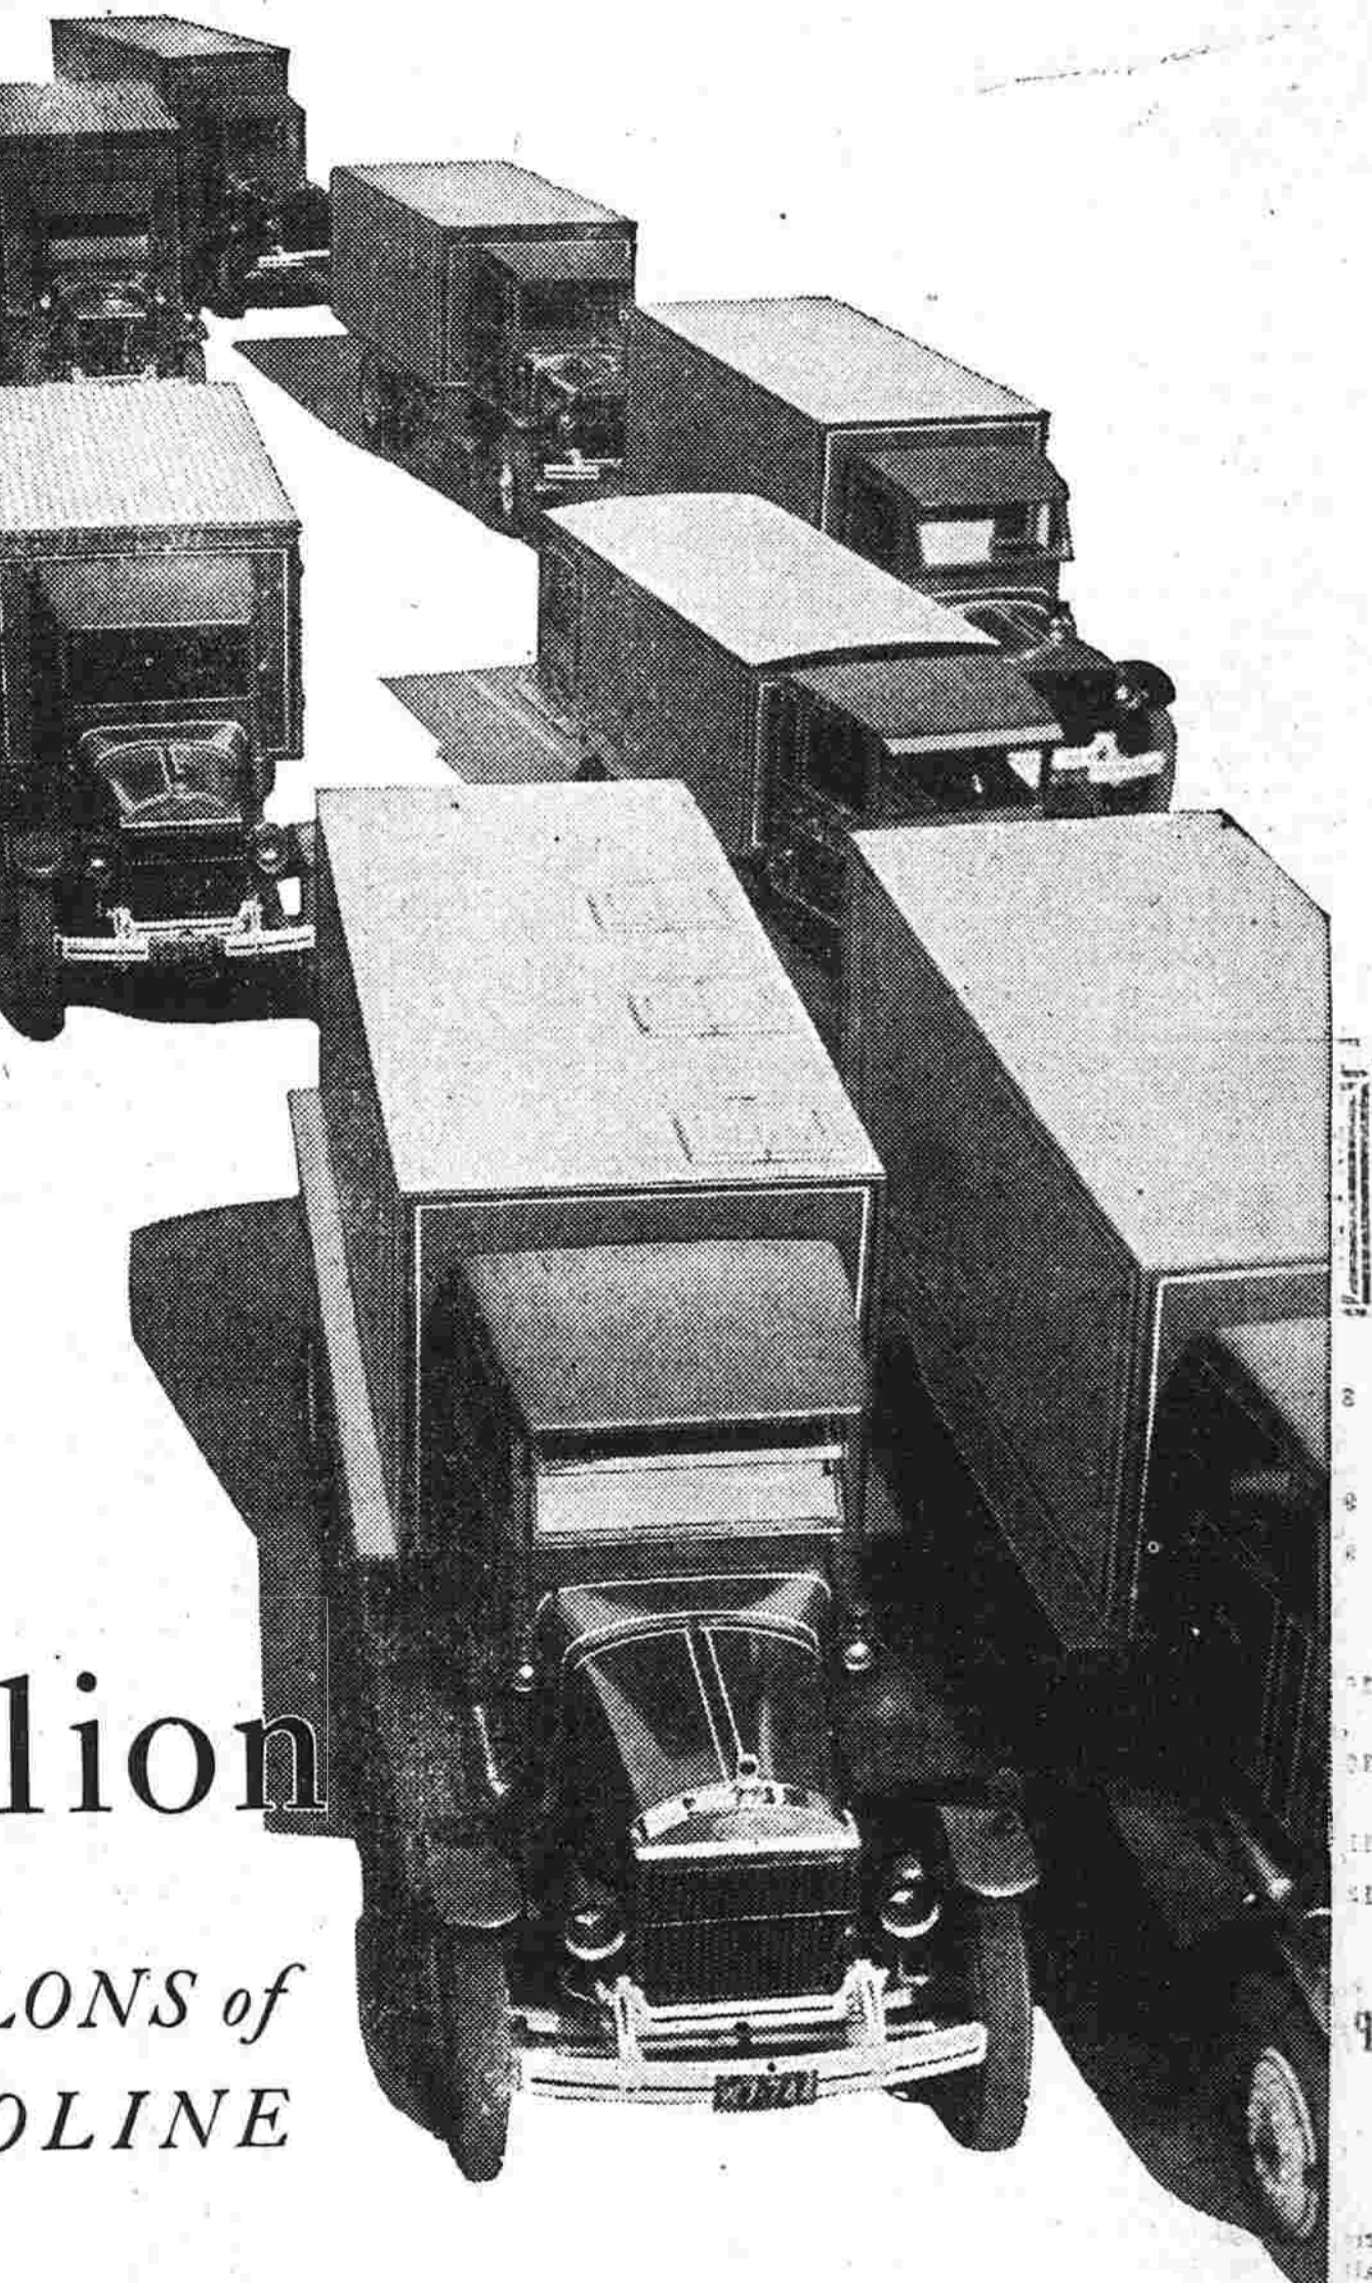

To Identify Genuine Aspirin

THE increasing use of Bayer Aspirin every year is proof that it has no ill effects. It is the accepted antidote for pain. It always helps; it never harms. Quick relief when you've a headache, or cold; or are suffering from neuralgia or neuritis. Rheumatic pains yield, too, if you'll only give these tablets a chance. But you want genuine Aspirin, so look for the Bayer Cross on every tablet. The box always bears the name Bayer and the word genuine printed in red.

IF YOU NEEDED Half A Million GALLONS of GASOLINE

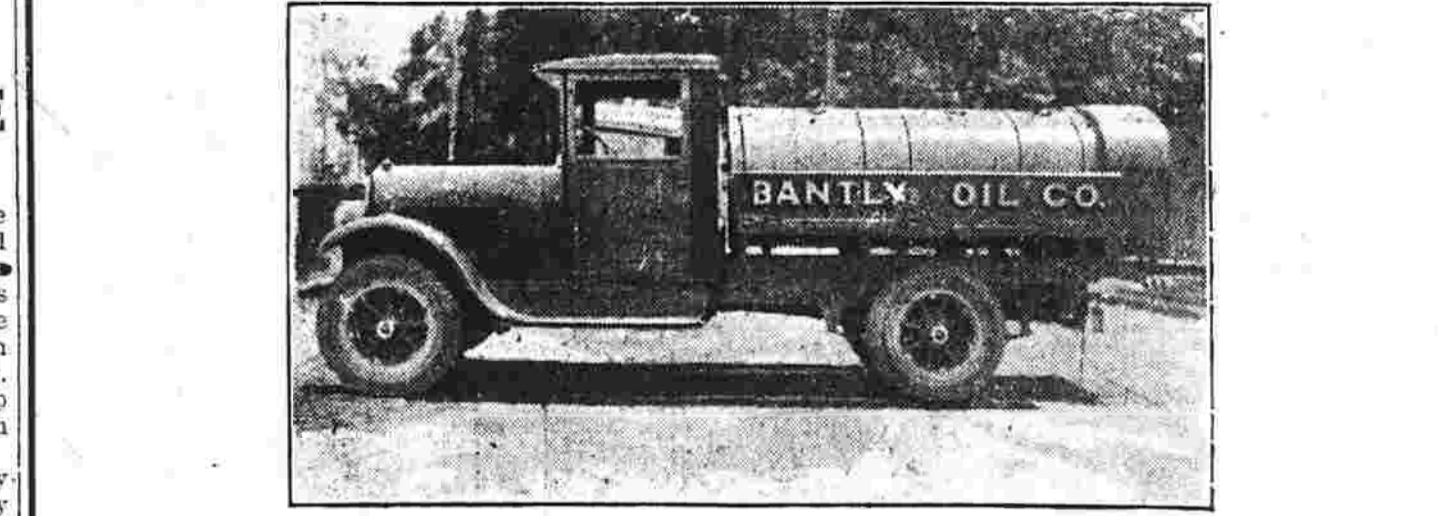

... You'd think twice before placing your orders, wouldn't you? You'd investigate—the same as other large users of gasoline do. You'd insist on knowing how much value your gasoline money is going to buy—not only in the power and mileage it is able to deliver, but in all the other respects in which gasoline has to do with efficiency and economy in the operation of motor-cars. Proof of performance—unmistakable evidence of high all-round efficiency—not simply claims—would finally govern your choice. On such a basis that choice would be the new-type, extra-powered ATLANTIC GASOLINE—just as it is the choice of practically every large user who insists on getting the facts.

MAGPIE MODELS PUT OTHERS IN THE SHADE

Paris.—Black and white magpie models are putting other colors and combinations on the shade this summer, in spite of special efforts of the dressmaker to popularize the new capricious shades ranging from palest corn through lime, lemon, daffodil, buttercup and deep orange, with pale yellowish-green on the side. Chic French women say they feel better in black because they know they look better. This season they have constructed to jazz it up with white or palest pink. Nothing is smarter than a frock of black and white printed crepe de chine or chiffon when worn with a coat of plain black silk crepe. A charming one seen at Baktelle recently had a white background with a design of fine black lines, the skirt arranged in points piped on the seams with a narrow line of black and with a deep cuff and triangular bit of white hanging from the outer edge. Another frock of printed white crepe de chine is made with an interesting skirt in diagonal lines, with ties low at the front. An original magpie ensemble comes with a touch of yellow in it, the skirt cut in two diagonal tiers which fall in a loose jacket at the back of the bodice which carries out the same diagonal effect. Evening gowns also come in the popular magpie combination, one of tulle with tulle, with a quaint shirred bodice and full skirt of the tulle and a wide band of the tulle and applique of tulle motifs which is most original and distinctive.

HOW COME, ISSUE?

can't for the life of us see how a political issue can be manufactured by Connecticut Democrats out of tests of the constitutionality of the validating action taken by the Legislature on the 1500 belatedly signed laws. The statement of James J. Walsh of the Democratic State Central Committee that his party would seek Supreme Court decision on the validity of the six validating acts looks like a rather grandiloquent gesture and nothing more.

Nobody can be absolutely sure, of course, that the healing of the questioned laws will be regarded by the Supreme Court as complete. It is not, perhaps some other way will have to be found of accomplishing the vitally necessary remedy—and it may prove to be a tedious and expensive way. On the other hand the court may entirely approve of the course of the Legislature.

As a matter of fact, whether the validation sticks or whether it flits, at the end, both parties in this state are committed to it by the record of the votes in both House and Senate. There's nothing in it for Mr. Walsh.

THE VIRGINIA SITUATION
It is no doubt true that very few Northerners understand Southern political psychology very well. The problem presented by the Virginia primaries is rather mixed up in the minds of people in this section. It is, for instance, rather difficult for a Northerner to take the fact of the victory of Mr. Pollard in the "regular" Democratic primary the other day and gather from any of its circumstances any conclusion as to the probability of the "regular" candidate for governor beating the candidate of the fused "bolting Democrats" and Republicans, Mr. Brown, the fusionists being led by Bishop Cannon.

The statement of James J. Walsh of the Democratic State Central Committee that his party would seek Supreme Court decision on the validity of the six validating acts looks like a rather grandiloquent gesture and nothing more.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER.

Washington.—A few foreign nations may be planning reprisals in case they are affected by the next tariff law, but there will be some surprise around here in case any such reprisals are carried out. Virtually all of them try so hard to impress this government as to how nice and important they are that any such course would be a reversal of policy.

The best evidence of the anxiety of other governments to stand in with Uncle Sam, who is so important himself and who has so much money, is to be seen in the career of diplomats who are sent to Washington and frequently the continual process of building bigger and better embassies and legations. Most of them send their very best men to represent them here and often they house these men in mansions whose size and expense is well out of proportion to their national wealth.

They Rate Very High. Socially, at least, Washington responds cordially to these obvious overtures. Perhaps Washington society, based so much as it is on the official rank of federal jobholders, is easily dazzled. At any rate, whereas diplomats in other capitals keep comparatively to themselves, are most often surrounded by their own countrymen and frequently abide in second-rate quarters, in Washington they are virtually the first social layer. Social activity appears to revolve around them.

Still and all, the pungent odor of copra, in from the south seas, still clings to the docks. And there is the fragrance of spices from the Orient, of coffee from South America and sandalwood and raw tobacco. And viewed from a ferry boat, through a night fog mist, an eerie, through the theatrical covers the crescent-shaped vistas. From a point off Alcatraz the city lies like some huge amphitheater, dancing with lights. The signal lamps of small craft bob about, like tinted fireflies and, bit by bit, the hulking black outlines of liners lying in berth are revealed. The vaguely mysterious s-ems close at hand, with sudden recollections of Shanghai days.

This is the San Francisco of yesterday—the San Francisco that seemed never to die—that has planted something in the blood of all who have been close to it, like myself. Nob Hill has been for more than half a century the city's social center. Here are the swankier hotels and the elaborately now skyscraper apartments. It is to the west what Fifth avenue is to New York. Here you will find the smartly dressed and beautiful women, with a certain flair that distinguishes them from women in any part of the world. In fact, San Francisco has created certain types, native to itself. Sections of the Mission district, for instance, have a linguistic argot as distinctive as the famous Brooklynese "tong" and "Urb". There is a certain worldliness in the appearance of hundreds of its women. You'd recognize them anywhere—and do.

ROOSTER PECKS OUT EYE OF KANSAS CITY BABE. Kansas City, Kas.—A small boy here may lose the sight of his left eye as a result of an attack on him by a large rooster in the yard of his home here recently.

By the way, what ever became of those two fellows who were getting so much publicity a while back? Weren't their names Capone and Sincelar or something like that?

Felix Albertson, Jr., 2 years old, was saved from further injuries when his mother, hearing his screams rushed out and drove the rooster away. The rooster was killed.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
(Celesty)
Question: H. F. G. asks—"Is celery good for young children and very old people?"
Answer:—Well bleached celery is good for everyone. It never creates any digestive disturbances, and can be used by anyone who is able to take any kind of food at all. Be sure to get the kind that is well bleached, as this bleaching removes certain volatile oils that are irritating to the digestive organs. (Skin Has Darkened)
Question: Jane asks—"Do you know of anything that would cause one's skin to turn from a white to a dark color? In two years my skin has become a dark brown, and I do not mean the popular sun-tanned shade. What can I do to get back a white skin?"
Answer:—If you are not tanned from the sun, your dark skin is probably caused by some form of liver derangement. If this is so, take a fruit fast and then live on a careful diet. Take special exercises to stimulate your liver. Supplement these exercises by some kind of manipulative treatment over the gall-bladder and liver area.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

MOLLY BURNHAM, in the midst of a turbulent career, goes alone to Italy. Her adventures are many and exciting. From Naples, she travels to Rome, and then to Venice.

Later she goes to Florence, and buys her sweetheart, JACK WELLS, a fascinating ring from an old silver smith on Ponte Vecchio. Returning, happily, to the pension where she is staying, she receives a cable. Tearing it open rather fearfully, Molly falls at the feet of SIGNORINA BENVENUTI, mistress of the pension. For the first time in her life, she has fainted.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXVII

Servants came running when Signorina Benvenuti called. Signorina chafed Molly with her hands and pressed brandy between her lips. And, when she could not be revived, they carried her to a divan in the living room; and the concierge went on his bicycle for a doctor.

Then Signorina Benvenuti retrieved the cable that had fluttered from Molly's stiff fingers.

"RITA DEAD," it read. "INSISTED DURING CONSCIOUSNESS THAT YOU BE NOTIFIED IMMEDIATELY. BOB."

Tears came to the Italian lady's eyes. Her sympathetic Latin nature responded readily to the grief of any living thing, and for the little American girl traveling alone she wept sincerely.

Molly stirred, and her eyelids fluttered.

"I have great sorrow for you, Signorina," murmured the mistress of the pension. "I read your message, and weep my grief."

Molly started with unseeing eyes. The concierge had returned with the doctor. And the murmur of anxious voices penetrated her consciousness. She raised her head, her elbow. Everything was clear now. She remembered the cable, and realized she had fainted.

"My best friend is dead," she said, "and I must go home immediately, to take care of her. I hope she didn't frighten you. It was a dreadful shock."

Signorina nodded understandingly.

"To be sure," she murmured. "A dreadful shock. I shed tears myself."

She wiped her eyes.

"The bambino?" she asked. "You will be mama to the little bambino?"

"I promised my friend," exclaimed Molly, "that if she died, I would take her little girl. She was ill then. But I never realized the end was so near. She did not seem very sick. I broke down..."

"Sometimes it is better," consoled the older woman, "when death comes quickly. God knows best. May He have mercy on her soul."

Molly wouldn't have wanted to suffer and be ill. I know that. "She was content, maybe, to die, when she knew you would be mama to the little bambino," declared Signorina. "If you will have a glass of my wine..."

She proffered a goblet of purple liquid. The sun, slanting through the shutters, filled it with light, so that it was amethyst and ruby, like the sweet grapes from which it came.

"It will revive you," she said.

Molly drank it gratefully.

"I feel better already," she declared. "I'm sorry I was weak and silly. I must have frightened you. Do you know, Signorina, when there is a boat for the States?"

Signorina did not know, but soon the concierge was busy with stalling and steering the tracts. The Conte Grande was sailing from Naples on Thursday. He would arrange immediately for reservation. Did Signorina wish to send a cable? Molly dictated a message of sympathy to Bob. It was good to have someone do her thinking for her. Bob's answer was delivered the next day—the day of Rita's funeral. Whatever Rita desired, he said, should be done. Molly was very kind. He would meet her in New York and they should talk things over. Thank God, he added, little Rita was too young for grieving.

Jack called too. Bob had told him that Molly knew of Rita's death, and that she had offered to take the baby. He sent his sympathy, and commended her for her generosity. But there was not a word of love, or any expression of that he might see her in New York. When Molly read it, she vacillated decided to give the Borgia ring to Red Flynn.

Red had been wonderful about writing. Molly fancied that, between the lines, she could read a great many loving expressions. But the letters themselves were chatty and gossipish. She should commercialize her fame, he advised. Maybe she could do some short stories. She was still the child wonder of Broadway. The ingenue prodigy. The red-haired baby-girl who could call the tricks any old day.

"They're eating out of your hand—the dear public," wrote Red. "Keep 'em, while you got 'em—and ride 'em for a flock of suckers. Can't you dish up another order of Crime, with a little Sex on the side? And give it to 'em hot, fresh. Hot and medium raw. And make 'em love it!"

Reading a letter from Red was like talking to him. He had good ideas too. His insistence upon holding the public, when she had them. Now was the time, she knew, to keep her place in the sun. She had a reputation, and she must keep it. Before she would be forgotten. And, after that, she would have to start all over again.

Mr. Durbin had written, urging that she begin work on another play. "The Death of Delphine Darrows" had proved the sustained hit of the season. He seemed willing to take a chance on almost anything. Molly might write.

"But don't turn sweetie-pie on me," he warned. "The public has you tagged as a girl who knows her crime. You can't pull any love-among-the-daisies stuff on them. How about a nice, juicy murder?"

Molly had torn up his letter impatiently. She did not want to be tagged as a girl who knew her crime. Better love among-the-daisies than a "nice juicy murder!"

Now, crushed with grief by Rita's death, confronted with the prospect of a long and unbearably lonely voyage, she decided to devote the entire trip to the task of writing another play. For some time she had revolved in her mind the dramatic possibilities of a tragedy of young love—the sympathetic study of a modern thrill-seeker.

Life had furnished all the characters. The tragedy had taken place while Molly was in college. In real life, the inglorious hero had been murdered.

For the purposes of a play, she would have him commit suicide—in a sacrifice to honor and chivalry. But, until the last moment, the audience must believe him murdered. Even the defendants, and his sweetheart, must believe him murdered.

The plot should revolve about the love of mother and daughter—each ready to give her life, to save the other—each believing the other guilty of murder.

A freshman in college had fallen in love with a man whom her parents considered unworthy. Learning of the romance, her father had gone to the boy.

The boy's stormy session, during which the youth declared that the girl was pursuing him, that she had thrown herself at his head, and that whatever happened was her own fault.

She had told the mother of the girl bought a revolver. Two days later the boy's body was found. He had gone to a grove, presumably to keep a tryst with the girl. There was a bullet through his head, and near his head was the revolver purchased by the girl's mother.

Both parents were subsequently arrested, and tried for murder. There was a tremendous furor, with the press screaming for conviction.

Molly's sympathies were with the parents. She saw them as two wretched creatures, with hearts broken and minds crazed, condemned to witness the inevitable disgrace and misery of their cherished child.

But the press saw only two unrelenting, misunderstanding parents, determined to sacrifice love's young dream on the altar of their selfish ambition for the child. Two-finds with no conception of the idyll of romance.

Molly knew better. The man was an utterly unamoral person. And the girl a susceptible and willing creature. She could quite understand how the agonized mother had been tormented beyond reason.

It was, of course, a sensational case. Eventually the mother was committed to an asylum, and the father to prison, convicted of "knowledge before and after the crime."

Molly decided to introduce her play with a courtroom scene. The courtroom action in "The Death of Delphine Darrows" had been an outstanding success. It might be well to pattern a bit on that.

She could open with the joint trial of the parents. And, in the witness box, she would place the girl, grieving for the death of her sweetheart, ready to give testimony against her mother.

A prosecuting attorney would ask his damning questions quietly. Suddenly the girl would shatter the breathless quiet of the courtroom.

Thumping her chest with her clenched fists, she would cry, "I did it! I. I. I!"

And then—the dramatic scene formed itself in Molly's mind—the mother, in the prisoner's cage, would rise to her feet. And she would turn to the jury, and implore them:

"Don't believe her! It's not the truth. She's lying. It was I, her mother."

That, Molly decided, was as good as anything in Delphine Darrows. The curtain would come down on the mother's denial. That would get the play off on a note of mystery. The following acts would have great possibilities. She was sure of that. Greater even than "The Death of Delphine Darrows."

Molly worked every day, and half the nights. It was only by keeping terrifically busy, that she could forget the haunting tragedy of Rita's death. Only by becoming physically and mentally exhausted, could she sleep at all. Utterly weary, she would throw herself across her bed at two or three o'clock in the morning. At daylight, the deck hands, when they came to swab the decks, would wake her. Then she would get to work again. To keep her mind active, she drank a great quantity of black coffee.

When the Conte Grande reached New York, the new play was unfinished. And Molly was an utter wreck. She had lost 10 pounds in as many days, and looked 10 years older. But the play, neatly typed, lay in her traveling case. She would send it, by messenger, from the pier to Mr. Durbin. He could get in touch with her later, in Boston.

Red, exercising the privileges of the press, boarded the steamer with the doctors at quarantine. He had heard, in the peculiar fashion of newspaper men, of Rita's death, and had called on Bob, to express his sympathy. From Bob he learned of Molly's promise to care for little Rita, and learned also that Molly was returning on the Conte Grande. He greeted her in characteristic fashion.

"Woman, what you been doing to yourself? You look like hell."

"That's the way I feel," she told him. "Wasn't it dreadful about Rita?"

"Tough," he sympathized. "Awful tough. What's this I hear about you taking the kid?"

"I promised Rita," she explained. "I saw her. A awful cute kid. You didn't agree to take on the rest of the family, did you?"

Molly smiled faintly.

"Bob?" she asked. "Poor Bob! How is he, Red?"

"Bearing up," drawled Red. "Bearing up pretty well. I should say he's got a frowsy little dame to keep him company."

"Red!"

"Sure thing," he insisted. "She's taking care of the kid. That's the stall."

"Why, that's outrageous!"

"It's rotten," he affirmed.

The big boat docked before Red finished with his story. He had secured courtesy of the port for Molly, and the both of customs was expedited.

They were standing together, waiting for an inspector to affix his seals to her luggage, when Molly saw Bob outside the gate. She had complained a moment before of feeling faint, and Red's arm was about her shoulders.

"Look!" she exclaimed. "There's Bob now. Lordy, Red, I don't know what to say to him!"

"Oh, just act natural," he advised. "The poor sap's got trouble enough. That other thing will straighten itself out."

"Bob!" she called.

He came toward them, looking back over his shoulder. In a perplexed sort of fashion. He wore a mourning band on the sleeve of his gray suit, and a black tie.

He took her hand in both of his. And she saw that there were tears in his big blue eyes. Despite the frowsy lady—despite whatever he might have done—she felt overwhelmingly sorry for him.

"It's strange," he stammered. "Very strange. Jack was here a moment ago. He seems to have disappeared."

(To Be Continued)

INCLUDE CHARM IN YOUR BEAUTY MAKE-UP

By MABEL DUKE.

Charm is the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow. It is the elusive will-o'-the-wisp which women, in their search for beauty, are trying to obtain, believes Corrine Griffith.

And, when once the physical attributes of beauty—including fair complexion, sparkling eyes, glossy hair and the rest—are acquired, it is well to give a thought to the "other things" which contribute to charm.

"Many beautiful women lack that elusive quality, while many women of great personal magnetism could not be rated as great beauties," explains Miss Griffith. "But even though her features are irregular, the woman of charm is pleasant to look upon for she has mastered the qualities of perfect

grooming and has made the most of her good features.

Ingredients of Charm.

The next thought for charm is the development of the "soul," we might say, for lack of a better word. The charming woman is interested in everything and everybody. She has vitality and a pleasant disposition. Reading the newspapers, the latest books and keeping up with current events makes her a good conversationalist and her interest in and understanding of people give her a magnetism that draws everyone to her. She is willing to listen to the other person talk as well as express her own ideas.

"Kindliness and cheerfulness, sweetness, graciousness. These are the qualities by which a charming woman endears herself to others. And the motivating factor of those is thoughtfulness."

Dame Fashion Hasn't Anything Up Her Sleeve These Summer Days

Bare-Arm Mode Brings Intricate Cut and "Dressmaker" Looks to Frocks.

New is the spiral panel of hand-hemstitching which decorates a white crepe "dressmaker" frock. The belt is attached and the panel becomes bands below the hips. The little beige sleeveless blouse of a mustard colored jersey suit has hand-sewn pleating making a yoke and a belt. Mustard socks are worn with beige sport shoes and a beige felt hat turns up in front. A white crepe de chine hand-made frock emphasizes its natural waistline by horizontal bandings around the hips and a jaunty white, orange and brown suede belt at normal waistline.

YOUR CHILDREN

by Olive Roberts Barton © 1928 BY NEA Service, Inc.

People are going to a lot of trouble and expense this summer to relieve the "little mothers" of some of their burdens and responsibility and giving them a chance to play.

Every social society is concentrating on this particular branch of its work during the summer months, for it is during this time that the vast army of little girl baby-minders is recruited.

Mothers have to work—sometimes outside the home, as well as in it. Big families, small incomes, too much to do! So it devolves on the oldest girl, sometimes not much older than a baby herself, to look after the littlest one.

So now we have all sorts of nurseries and kindergartens or play-homes that take care, not only of the babies, but their small nurses as well.

A Commendable Work.

I think that heaven will hold special surprise for those women who are giving their time through the hot months to this work. This comparatively small regiment of women who devote their energy to the alleviation of all sorts of suffering among the poor deserve the highest tribute.

But to go back to the little mothers—they are not always indignant to the very poor. We find them everywhere among the people who should know better.

Before I go on record as saying that older children should not help with the younger ones, let me remark that it is with my entire consent that older sisters do help ones—for A PART OF EACH DAY! That's all right, perfectly.

But not for hours on end. That is decidedly wrong. Little girls should not be saddled with the care of a baby morning, noon and night.

They are not physically fit for it to begin with. And besides they have a right to some free time to play.

They're Overworked.

I've seen little girls of families "comfortably fixed" caring for heavy babies week in and week out, and doing as hard if not harder work than that ruled-out children in our child-labor laws.

I have in mind one mother who turned the baby over to her little nine-year-old girl because she herself was "overworked" and contentedly self was "picked out" the things she wanted to do herself, and taking care of the baby wasn't one of them. One day the little girl let the carriage turn over and the poor child was too unhappy to eat. Of course she got the blame—at home. But the neighbors knew better.

Unless it cannot be helped I do not approve of the all-day, all-summer "little mother." Decidedly not.

The WOMAN'S DAY

by ALLENE SWAN IVER

That women are still women and not people is demonstrated by all the to-do and hurrah-boys made over the few, women who sailed westward in the Graf Zeppelin. No one thought of offering some yellow lucre to some man to tell his experiences, for the plain reason that he was a man. But several of the passengers of the female persuasion had nice assignments to write of their thrill at taking the trip.

Women won't be really people till this sort of thing has stopped.

WHY, GLORIA!

Here's a gasper. None less than Gloria Swanson advising parents not to let their children attend movies! She says that the movies contain too much sex for immature minds.

The seeming paradox of an actress knocking her own trade in the name of much money is explained by the fact that the actress is also a mother, has always been considered a very good mother, too, to her little daughter. When professions clash, the maternal one generally comes out on top.

FUNNY TALES

Speaking of girls will be girls and boys will be boys, or going back to the old assumption that each sex is always traditionally its own sex, here's blond Virginia Mercereau who showed a Chicago judge just how she felled with her hefty right and left a masher who tried to pick her up in the street.

He'd complained that she did it; the judge, looking at the girl and looking at the stalwart masher, couldn't believe it, so Virginia showed him.

And here's the other side of the picture. Ellen Tomlinson of Lancaster, Pa., went under the name of Bob Gochenauer, 28, and for over ten years had posed as a man, singing tenor in the church choir, and being quite romantic with the ladies. The church choir dismissed its first tenor when the deception was discovered.

BRAVE MAN

Thomas A. Edison is a brave man. Think of all the hopeful letters he will receive from the mothers and fathers and aunts and uncles and cousins and brothers and sisters and grandmothers and grandfathers of boys who are suspects of having some scientific talent!

And nothing is so fraught with peril as any sort of child contest. Parents will never believe that their child isn't the best.

REYNOLDS' CASE

Richard J. Reynolds, heir to the tobacco millions, is serving five months in a London prison on a conviction of manslaughter after his auto killed a motorcycle.

It is interesting to note that the heir is an American one. It would be interesting to know how the case would have been disposed of if he had been a rich English heir, just as it would be interesting to note how the same case would have been disposed of in America.

In other words, in which nation is there most apt to be one justice for the rich and another for the poor?

HEALTH

This is the last of six articles by Dr. Morris Fishbein, America's foremost writer on health subjects, telling how the reducing diets now so popular look in the eyes of medical science.

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN.

Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine.

Here is a diet that contains about 1016 calories and which provides all of the important ingredients necessary to sustain life in health. Of this diet a person will lose from two to three pounds per week, perhaps more, if he keeps up his ordinary work. Good authorities do not believe it is safe to lose weight more rapidly.

BREAKFAST.

One half grapefruit.

One tablespoon cream.

One egg.

One slice bread.

One medium serving puffed rice, or similar cereal.

One slice thin toast and one small square butter.

LUNCHEON OR DINNER.

One cup plain broth.

One broiled trout or other fish.

Three heaping tablespoons spinach.

Three heaping tablespoons new peas.

Salad containing one tomato and two leaves lettuce with vinegar or lemon.

One half cantaloupe or grapefruit.

One glass skim milk.

One cup clear tea or coffee.

SUPPER.

Three slices white meat of chicken.

Three slices of egg plant.

Three heaping tablespoons cream squash.

Four stalks celery hearts.

One cup clear tea.

One glass skim milk.

One banana.

There is, by the way, another appeal in the Hollywood or 18-day diet that might be mentioned. For years human beings have sought some magical potion, or pill, or powder, or charm, or lotion, to accomplish what they desired in achieving success in love, or in money matters, or in religion. Or simple minds like to have some single substance or object to which we may pin our hopes and faiths and aspirations.

In the case of the 18-day or Hollywood diet that thing is grapefruit. But really there is nothing magical about a grapefruit. It contains vitamins B and C in considerable amounts, but not much of the other vitamins; it has one part of protein to five of carbohydrate; it has less than one-tenth of one percent of sodium chloride or common salt; its reaction in the body is alkaline; one half grapefruit provides from 50 to 100 calories; it runs a little better than do oranges.

As may be seen, there is nothing magical about its virtues. One is reminded of the chemist whose wife burst into tears. He looked at her calmly. "Your tears may to some people," he said, "but to me they are merely NaCl and H2O."

Brennan's Timely Hitting Earns Bon Ami Tie Game

Locals Take Early Lead But Rockville Almost Gets Victory in Last Inning.

The Bon Ami and All-Rockville baseball teams battled to a 4-4 tie at Hickey's Grove last evening in a close and exciting battle that was called on account of darkness by Umpire Bill Brennan at the completion of the seventh inning.

The soap makers took a two run lead in the second, Kelley drawing a pass, Plitt doubling and Boggini singling. Rockville knotted the count in its half of the third but the Bon Ami forged ahead in the same stanza when Keeney walked, stole second and came home on one of "Hook" Brennan's three singles.

Things looked bad for the locals in the seventh, there being no further scoring until that point. Rockville put over two more runs taking the lead 4 to 3 but the Allen-Rand combine tied the score when Keeney was safe on an error by the visiting short stop and scored on Brennan's third hit of the evening.

The Bon Ami will not play again until a week from tomorrow when another Y league game is scheduled. Last night's summary:

LOCAL GOLF TEAM FINISHES SECOND

Middletown Is Winner In State Match; Ross Tops Reid.

The Manchester Country Club golf team finished second in the state team match at Farmington yesterday afternoon, being topped by Middletown which was led by "Bud" Geoghegan with J. W. Parker, W. P. Spears, R. F. Jones, A. R. Wright and Andrew Pierson.

Middletown had 13 points against nine for Manchester, eight for Stafford and two for Southington. Manchester's chances were crippled when Johnny Lamenzo, sixth man of the local team, took French leave because of a previous engagement which left Manchester without a substitute and resulted in forfeiting a point to Middletown. Stafford did likewise, so Middletown's earned margin was only two points.

John P. Cheney Jr., won one match and lost two; John Hyde won three, lost none; Charlie Hutzfeldt won two, lost one; J. P. Cheney Sr., won two, tied one and Earl Ballisepier won one and lost two. Manchester missed Doug Cheney, Ted Hanson and Doug Burgessor. They might have reversed the result.

Frank D. Ross of Wampanoag nosed out Ken Reid state golf champion on his own course to win the one day individual honors with an aggregate of 154, one stroke better than Reid could make. Several Manchester golfers took part. The scores follow:

CUBS TAKE LEAD BEATING SENATORS

The Cubs went into the junior playground baseball league leadership yesterday morning with a 6 to 2 victory over the Senators. Errors played an important part in deciding the issue. Each team made three hits but the losers accounted for all three misplays.

United States Is Picked To Win Back Net Trophy

The reason for this is so that players may attempt to arrange matches for tomorrow and Sunday. Due to the present congestion on the courts, it is important that some of the matches be played immediately. And for that reason, anyone entered in either tournament may learn how he or she is paired in the first round without waiting until the complete pairings are announced tomorrow noon.

Players are requested to waste no time getting in touch with each other and arranging their matches because a men's doubles and mixed doubles will be started as soon as the singles tourneys have been given sufficient head start to insure completion. Nine teams have already entered the men's doubles and two are in the mixed. Names should be sent in at once to the sports editor as these tournaments will probably be underway in another week. They will be started as soon as there are sufficient entries and the singles have gotten underway, so send in names without delay.

Present indications are that there will be an even 32 players in the men's singles and 16 in the women's. If so, this will be exactly the same number which competed last year when Ty Holland and Ruth Behrend won the high honors. Both are defending their titles. New entries received last night were Sherwood Bissell, Herman Yules, Albert deNevill, Donald Jesanis, Margaret Boyle, Stella Lincoln and Gladys Wilkinson. This makes a total of 30 in the men's and 13 in the women's.

LARGEST ENTRY LIST IN YEARS TENDS TO ASSURE BIG SUCCESS

The annual town championship swimming meet at Globe Hollow pond tomorrow afternoon promises to be the biggest success in recent years. At least the entry list is the largest and the program has more than thirty events. The first will be staged promptly at 2:30. Weather permitting, the crowd may run as high as two thousand, possibly more.

Much keener competition is expected this year than ever before due to the somewhat novel arrangement by which the boys and girls are classified. Lifeguard Frank C. Busch says the majority of the races would develop into a one-sided farce if age was considered above all other qualifications. Instead, Busch is assigning the entrants by ability first, age second, size third.

All of those who are competing are known by Busch and have been assigned to their proper classes. A list of the entrants for the various events was published in The Herald last night. Any others wishing to compete will be given a brief, yet thorough tryout by Busch at the pond before the races and placed in the proper class.

United States Is Picked To Win Back Net Trophy

Mrs. Watson in another and Miss Cross and Mrs. Michell in a third. In the doubles, Miss Jacobs and Mrs. Hazel H. Wightman, donor of the cup, will play Mrs. E. C. Covell and Mrs. D. Shepherd-Barron.

The Americans, therefore, are staking their all on a two-girl tryout for Miss Cross and Mrs. Wightman hardly will be prominent, the former because she has yet to reach her best, the latter because she did so long since, incidentally, it is an all-California team, for it was as Hazel Hotchkiss, of the coast, that Mrs. Wightman first knew fame as the winner of four national championships in singles. Furthermore, it is a very sound American team and probably will have to be.

Two Helens Will Bear Brunt of Offense In Wightman Cup Play Starting Today.

New York, Aug. 9.—Queen Helen the first, nee Willis, recently received at the court of St. James, will hold a levee of her own today and tomorrow on a portion of the domain over which she rules, Forest Hills-on-the-Boulevard, preliminary to the official opening of her "court" at the national championship singles, starting August 19. The present occasion will be the Wightman Cup matches and the queen and her consort will receive a number of Queen Mary's subjects with very monarchical firmness. She means to tolerate no familiarities with her position, for America is her court.

The queen will engage, with a splendid display of energy, in two singles and a doubles match before the affair is ended. So will the Crown Princess Helen, nee Jacobs, the crown princess, vs. Miss Betty Nuthall. America hopes to regain possession of the cup which went to England last year at Wimbledon. Queen Helen should win her pair of singles engagements with customary aplomb. Crown Princess Helen ought to account for at least one victory in the singles, thus making it necessary for America to pull out one of two doubles matches scheduled to take over the trophy again. The series stands three all in victories at the moment.

Schedule of today's matches follows:
 3:30 p. m.—Helen Willis, the queen, vs. Mrs. Michael Watson.
 4:30 p. m.—Helen Jacobs, the crown princess, vs. Miss Betty Nuthall.
 5:30 p. m.—Miss Willis and Miss Edith Cross vs. Mrs. Watson and Mrs. L. R. C. Michell.

The final matches tomorrow will pair the No. 1 players of both teams, Miss Willis and Miss Nuthall, in one singles; Miss Jacobs and J. Caulkins, Farmington 97 87 184
 E. Ballisepier, Manchester 96 100 186
 R. H. Pinney, Stafford 97 91 183
 C. M. French, Race Brook 90 99 189
 W. W. Dulliver, Wetherfield 94 99 193
 D. Soccoli, Goodwin Park 93 105 193
 M. J. Morrissy, Farmington 104 97 201
 D. H. Cannon, West Hartford 105 97 202
 W. S. Lines, Williamstic 104 101 205
 H. O. Converse, Sequin 111 106 217

AL DOWD WINNER OVER EDDIE MOOR

(Special to The Herald) Bridgeport, Aug. 9.—Al Dowd, promising Manchester featherweight, scored a clean-cut four-round decision over Eddie Moor, former New Hampshire state boxer but now of this city, in one of the preliminary bouts to the O'Brien-Lown scrap at the Eastern League baseball park here last night before a large crowd.

There wasn't a murmur of protest when Referee Palmer of Waterbury raised the Silk City boy's right hand in token of victory at the close of the bout. However, the bout was far from one-sided. The first two rounds were fairly even with Dowd taking the last two and showing the better boxing skill and also possessing the stiffer punch. A left jab in Moor's face was a constant hindrance to Moor.

DON'T DELAY NET MATCHES

The reason for this is so that players may attempt to arrange matches for tomorrow and Sunday. Due to the present congestion on the courts, it is important that some of the matches be played immediately. And for that reason, anyone entered in either tournament may learn how he or she is paired in the first round without waiting until the complete pairings are announced tomorrow noon.

Green And Rockville Play For $100 Side Bet

Echoes of yesteryear come with the announcement of a "blood and thunder" baseball series between Manchester and Rockville in which a side-bet of $100 is at stake.

Manchester will be represented in the "best out of five" series by Manager Sam Prentice's Colts from the Green. The Windy City tribe will be known as the All-Rockville nine. It will be a strengthened team which deadlocked with the Bon Ami last night.

Considering the long standing rivalry between the two towns, this series should be unusually exciting, especially considering the purse at stake. Hundred dollar bills certainly don't grow on huckleberry bushes here and Rockville is probably as fruitless.

The first game of the series will be played over at the West Side field Sunday afternoon. The second will be in Rockville, probably on the following Sabbath.

The Green players are asked to report at the Center at 12:30 tomorrow for the Tartville trip.

LOTT WRITES ABOUT BACKCOURT PLAYING

By GEORGE LOTT, JR. The only leading player in the world that plays almost entirely in the backcourts is Rene Lacoste.

Lacoste and Tilden. One reason that Lacoste will beat Tilden the majority of matches is that he is steeper than Tilden from the backcourt and that Tilden is not a good enough net player.

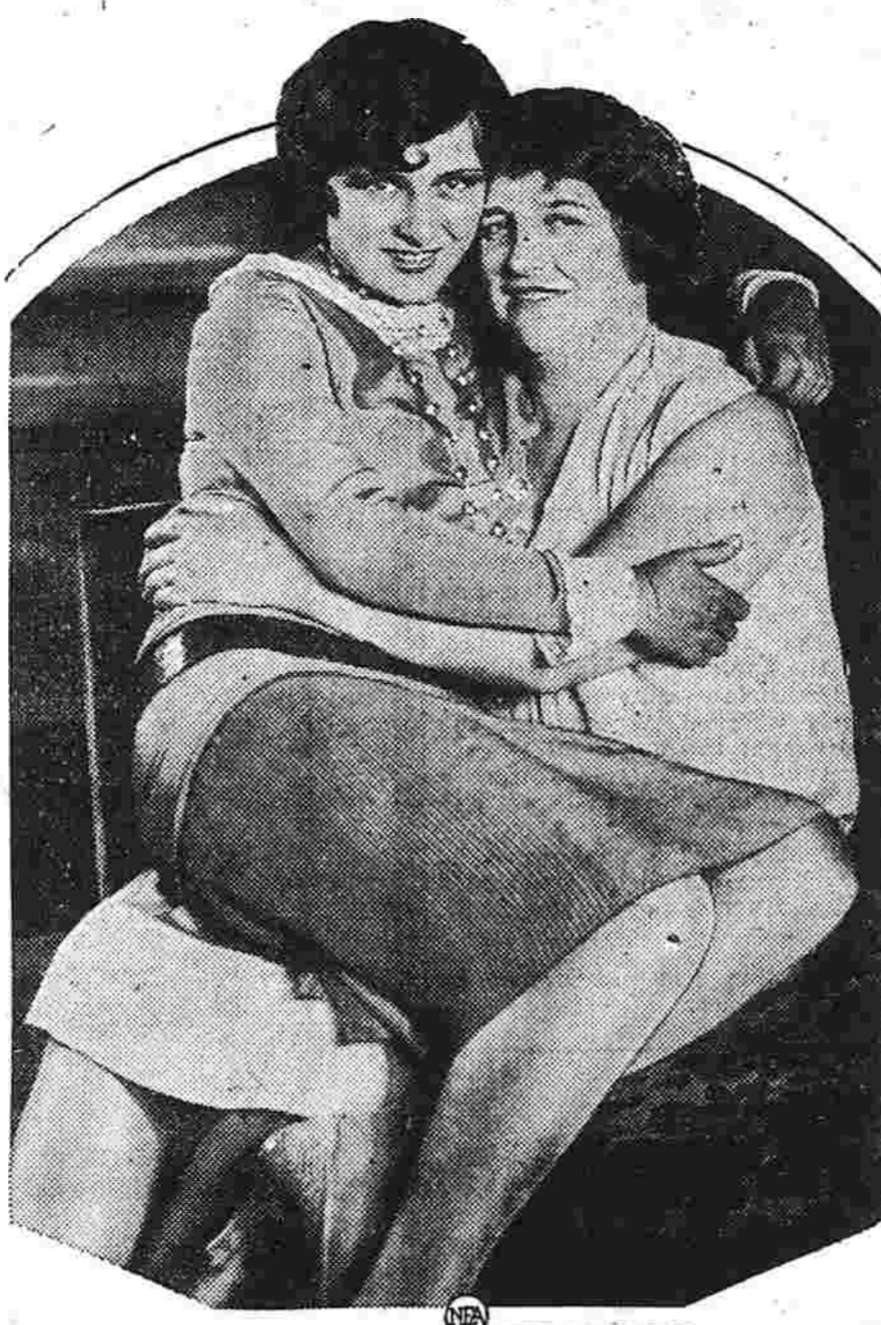

However, there is only one Lacoste every decade or so. It requires great concentration and ability to reach great heights with a baseline game.

It is much easier to keep your volleys under control than your ground strokes because the stroke is not so long and there is less chance of error.

SANDY BEACH DANCES

It is everybody that enjoys dancing to perfect music by an orchestra that has made a name for itself and stands out with well earned distinction.

Such is the reputation of John Sullivan, who is the conductor for Sandy Beach Ballroom tomorrow evening and on Wednesday the 14th are so meritorious that practice and the young law student musician and director who brings his Arcadia ballroom band of New York to Sandy Beach tomorrow evening.

These eleven college bred musicians have well earned and deserve the reputation they now enjoy and their appearance tomorrow evening will mark the first appearance of this distinguished band in eastern Connecticut.

Sandy Beach Ballroom is not offering his splendid attraction as a regular Saturday evening feature, but will also supplement the extra fine program with a grand prize fox-trot for which the winner will be awarded a purse of gold.

Wednesday evening, August 14th will prove a big night at Sandy Beach as many plan to attend the carnival and Mardi Gras that is to be held with the Champion Commanders providing a program of latest dance hits, used for the first time at Riverside Park ballroom at Springfield where the Commanders played to large and appreciative crowds this week.

This band has made an inevitable record in a very short space of time that is carrying them on a wave of popularity the likes of which is seldom seen. They will be heard at Sandy Beach twice next week playing for the Mardi Gras Carnival Wednesday evening and in a grand battle of music for a purse of $250 on Saturday evening the 17th.

200 YACHTS SAIL OUT OF NEW HAVEN HARBOR

New Haven, Aug. 9 — A few more than 200 yachts, the pick of the country's pleasure craft, sailed out of the harbor here today, laying a course for Greenport, Long Island.

The occasion of the fleet's gathering here was the start of the New York Yacht club's annual cruise, which this year was assigned to New Haven rather than Gloucester, across the sound.

The yachts lay for the night at a line from a point near the Yale boathouse on the Quinnipiac river to the ancient Lighthouse that serves as an adornment to the City's one shore-side park.

For hours their owners and guests converged upon the city, the air roaring with planes, the roads leading to the yacht club humming with machines, and railroad trains bringing many.

The attraction of the yachts was not alone for those who were to go upon the cruise. Thousands of citizens and summer residents traveled to "Lighthouse" and the Yacht Club to take in a maritime sight that approached parental proportions.

Vincent Astor, commodore of the visiting fleet, led the line outbound, with the Nourmahal as his flagship. Commodore Astor had a reception at the Yacht Club last evening and followed it with another aboard his yacht.

The starting signal barked across the waters of the harbor at 9, and the fleet went.

MOVIE PLAYERS NOW BEGIN TO LEARN ACTING

Hollywood, Cal.—Film players are at least learning how to act, according to Betty Compton, who lays the emancipation on the table.

"For the first time in history of motion pictures," the blonde star declares, "picture players are finding out what acting means. For the first time they are dropping their own personalities and getting into the character of the role they are supposed to play."

"In the regime of the silent picture, the star maintained the same personality, her natural one, in every picture she made. Never did she change her own character. It was not altogether her fault. She reported to work at the studio at nine o'clock. At ten o'clock she walked in front of the camera and was told to do this and that, and look so and so."

"She had no idea of the character she was playing, and little idea of what the story was about. Naturally, her own character dominated in all her roles. She had no chance to be creative in her work."

"Now, however, with weeks of rehearsal before shooting, the player must get a full conception of the story, study her character, and, in the reading of lines during rehearsals, get the spirit of her role. She has to think bits of business to do as she reads her lines and she tries to think what the story character would do under the circumstances."

"If the talkies have done nothing else, they have made us stop playing ourselves and begin to try and act the roles we are assigned," the actress concluded.

Varick Frizzell, Yale graduate and explorer, is assembling a crew of camera men and actors for the filming of his picture, "Viking of the Ice Fields," which, he declares, is to be a record of scenes and sounds of the frozen north.

Rosemond Pinchot, daughter of former Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania, may be cast in the leading role, Frizzell said.

The undertaking is being financed in part by the government of Newfoundland and one of the seal fishing concerns of St. John's, N. B., according to the producer. Frizzell was with expeditions into Newfoundland and Labrador in 1928 and 1927.

On the last trip he photographed "The Great Arctic Seal Hunt." He plans to leave St. John's with his new company on March 5, 1930, on one of the regular sealings ships of the North.

Reports to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer offices here from Nairobi, British East Africa, state that W. S. Dyke and his "Trader Horn" company have left the last outpost of civilization in that section of the Dark Continent and plunged into uncharted jungles, with their huge caravan of equipment, players and workers.

Nearly a hundred trucks and automobiles are in the company, carrying players, camp and camera equipment, a complete laboratory and sound recording plant. Native "safari" cut roads before them into the jungles as they move into the wilderness, filming as they go.

The costume department out at Warner Brothers was surprised the other day to learn that around $2,000 had appeared in public without one or two petticoats.

A thousand of the old-fashioned garments had to be made for a "roster" day picture and issued to extras, who were provided with printed instructions as to their use and the method of wearing them.

ROCKVILLE

Students Have Bad Luck Again

A short time ago the colored students who arrived here earlier in the season had the misfortune of having the truck in which they were riding over turned, badly damaging it. Now they have suffered another loss by losing the roof which stored them on the Max Lavitt tobacco plantation also all their savings and personal belongings. The fire started before 8 o'clock yesterday morning while the men were at work about the farm and wasn't noticed until too late. The Ellington volunteer fire department responded to a call but owing to the headway the fire had made, were unable to salvage anything in the building and only by mere luck were able to save other nearby buildings. Clothing and money which the boys, students of a southern college, had earned to pay for tuition this coming year was lost. It is understood that the loss was estimated at about $1500 and the building, owned by Max Lavitt, was not insured. It was known as "The Beehive". The loss to the boys is greatly felt as the time was approaching for them to begin their 1000 mile return trip back to the Southland.

Carnival Next Week

The Rockville Fire and Drum Corps will hold their annual carnival next week at Burke's lot on Windsor avenue. Coleman Bros. show will furnish the attractions. The money will be used for sending the corps to Field Days in this state and Massachusetts and to establish the possibility of having a Fire and Drum Corps Field Day here each year.

Where Seven Died When Oil Barge Exploded

The wreckage in the foreground is all that remained of an oil barge on the Ohio river near Kosmosdale, Ky., after an explosion which killed seven men. One of the bodies was thrown upon the derrick, at right, by the blast.

nile Court, F. of A. will leave at 8:45 a. m. Sunday morning by bus for Savin Rock. There will be about 25 who will attend.

To Attend Insurance Convention

Harry C. Dowling, agent of the Glen Falls Indemnity Company of Glen Falls, N. Y., has received word from the company that owing to the fine amount of business which he has procured since starting out in April, would be entitled to be a guest of the company at the 2nd Annual Convention of Agents at Glen Falls, September 5, 6, and 7. The contest was for a period of from January 1 to July. All expenses will be paid by the company for the trip etc.

RED ARMY TROOPS WILL BE LINGUISTS

Moscow.—Red army soldiers are urged to study foreign languages in a special decree of the Revolutionary Military Council, signed by Assistant Commissar of War Unshlicht.

If the plan of the Council succeeds the majority of the troopers will be able to write and speak at least one language in addition to their native Russian. As a special inducement to the men, the Council created the rank of "military interpreter," divided into three grades. An interpreter of the first grade must have complete mastery of a language. An interpreter of the second grade must be able to translate Russian into a foreign language and one of the third grade must be able to translate a foreign language into Russian.

Ranking interpreters will receive additions of 25 rubles ($13) a month to their pay. Second grade interpreters will get 15 rubles more and third grade 10 rubles. The Council said it considers the ability to speak foreign languages an invaluable asset in time of war.

We're getting kind of lonesome for a picture of Charley Curtis. Managers of the race tracks seem to be overlooking some splendid publicity opportunities.

COLLAR, BAG AND GLOVES —ALL NEW

These discs of precious wood mounted on gold make up the original collar shown above. It's by Jean Patou... A smart set of gloves and bag for summer wear is offered by Alexandrine. Both gloves and bag are in soft suede in delicate shade of pinkish mauve and are trimmed with fancy leather in a matching shade.

COCKTAILS BEST WAY TO SUICIDE PROFESSOR SAYS

Paris.—Pistols, shot-guns, knives and gas are all antiquated methods of committing suicide. According to Professor Guilmann, of the University of Paris, the modern despondent drinks himself to death with cocktails.

Andre de Fouquieres, Paris' arbiter of fashion and authority on what's "Being Done In Society," does not agree with the Professor. "All chic apartments of today," says de Fouquieres, "have an 'American Bar.' That is only another of the hundreds of customs the 'Yankees have brought over to us. The private bar at home was brought on by prohibition—and although we haven't prohibition in France we certainly did fall heir to the parlor bar."

But even so the germ 'Americano-horococoque' contained in the cocktail is, in my opinion, far from deadly."

The Great /rbitr believes that Professor Guilmann is merely trying to "scare" the younger set into moderation.

"I certainly do not believe in excess—not only as to cocktails—but in everything else, and I am sure that the Professor means excess when he speaks of death in the cocktail glass."

"If you have a little bar in your home," says de Fouquieres, "resolve right now not to open the bar except between the hours of 12.30 and 1.00 o'clock at noon and from 7.30 'till 8.00 in the evening."

"The young of today are, I'll admit, inclined to take too many cocktails before meals—but that again I think is a gift from America and will in time wear off."

"With age comes moderation," concluded de Fouquieres with a smile. "I myself am over fifty."

President Doumergue is reported to have thrown a bucket of icy water on the first attempt to boom him for a second term.

The popularity of France's amiable chief executive was epitomized by Deputy Auguste Sabatier who referred to him as "our beloved president" during a parliamentary debate.

This term of affection, recorded in the Official Journal, has never before been bestowed on a president of France in legislature.

While lobbies were filled with gossip over the first bid for a second term President Doumergue was credited with the following declaration in a political weekly:

"Am I going to run again? Watch me closely. Have you ever seen a liberated prisoner ask to be locked up again? I would rather escape. No more politics for me. I will remain aloof from all parties."

The expert testimony of an eminent Paris physician that not all people die with their eyes open, won an acquittal for M. Charles Jeziorski, on trial for wife murder. Jeziorski had surprised his wife with infidelity, and he killed her in her bedroom.

At the trial, the husband denied that he had premeditated the murder. He also denied that he had killed her while she was peacefully asleep. A violent quarrel preceded the murder, he maintained, and he killed his wife in a fit of passion.

The presiding judge emphasized that Madame Jeziorski had been found with her eyes closed, indicating that she was asleep. "It has been proved," countered the police physician, Dr. Paul, "that not all people die with their eyes open. About eighteen percent die with their eyes closed."

Since the testimony of the police physician bore out Jeziorski's story, the jury acquitted him.

BROADCASTING PHOTOS NEW JAPANESE PLAN

Tokyo.—Experts of the Japan Broadcasting Society are studying the process of photo radio with a view to broadcasting photos and pictures at an early date.

More practicable and less expensive than television, the photo radio, is expected to win great popularity among radio fans. A photo radio receiving set may be obtained for about $30 on the market, according to experts.

ROAD DISPUTE SETTLED FOR TABLE ROCK DAM

Springfield, Mo.—A maximum sum of $350,000 will be spent by the Empire District Electric company for the relocation of roads and bridges, according to a contract signed here recently which settled the differences between Stone county and the company over construction of the $35,000,000 Table Rock dam.

JAPAN DENIES MINORS RIDES IN AIRPLANES

Tokyo.—The Ministry of Communications has decided that minors will not be allowed to ride in passenger airplanes in this country unless they have a statement signed by a parent or guardian giving them specific permission to do so. Air insurance will also be inaugurated shortly, it is reported.

Henry Ford had his 66th birthday the other day without much flourish. But then a man can't expect much notice until he's around 90.

LAKE LOW, HOTEL NEAR WINSTED BURNS DOWN

Big Pump at Highland Lake Useless, So Hiawatha Lodge Is Destroyed by Fire.

Winsted, Aug. 9.—Fire starting from an overheated stove pipe near the dining room today completely destroyed the thirty-room Hiawatha Lodge, the only hotel at Highland Lake. Upward of twenty guests saved all their possessions as firemen from Winsted held the flames within the partitions for an hour or more. The loss is estimated at upward of $15,000, with partial insurance.

Winsted firemen, summoned by telephone found Highland Lake so low that the great motor pump could not be put into service, and fought the flames with chemicals until the supply was exhausted. Then the flames broke through and raged until the frame building was entirely wrecked. Woods near the hotel caught fire but a forest conflagration was averted after a fight. A cottage near the hotel was saved.

Hiawatha Lodge was owned by Mrs. Margaret Sjelde, of New York, and her daughter, Margaret.

Vaccination was discovered in 1786 by Jenner.

REDISCOUNT RATE GOES UP TO 6 P. C.

N. Y. Federal Reserve Bank Acts to Curb Speculation by Sharp Advance.

Washington, Aug. 9.—The rediscount rate on Federal Reserve Bank of New York was increased from 5 to 6 per cent, effective today, the Federal Reserve Board announced late yesterday.
 The statement followed meetings of two days' duration attended by the governors of the regional banks in the Federal Reserve System and, it was believed, presaged a change in rediscount rates in other districts, although members of the board declined to discuss this possibility.
 The board's formal announcement read:
 "The Federal Reserve Board announces that the Federal Reserve Bank of New York has established a rediscount rate of 6 per cent on all classes of paper of all maturities, effective Aug. 9, 1929.
 "Peculiar Conditions"
 The board's action was not made public until 3 o'clock, when the New York Stock Exchange had closed. The only statement concerning the meetings was made at the same time by Governor Roy A. Young, who said:
 "The Federal Reserve Board and the governors of the Federal Reserve Banks have been in conference for two days and have considered the resources of the Federal Reserve System might best be conserved and made available to meet Autumn requirements."
 "The problem has presented difficulties because of certain peculiar conditions. A mutually satisfactory plan has been developed."
 Mr. Young declined to extend his statement into an explanation of what was meant by the "certain peculiar conditions" to which he referred.
 The board, simultaneously with its announcement of the rise in rate, had made public a statement showing a further heavy increase in loans to brokers through the New York bank, the rise being $60,000,000 in the past week, bringing the total of such loans to $52,000,000.
 Crop Movement Factor
 This increase was in line with the steady advance in such loans for the past four weeks.
 The need for funds with which to move the crops and to supply the requirements of industry in several sections of the country was believed to have been one of the factors considered by the board in its meetings. If it is found necessary to change the rediscount rates elsewhere, it is expected to be a matter for consideration of the regional banks, some of which are said to have asked for permission to increase their rates also.
 The New York rate went up to 5 per cent on July 13, 1928, and previously had been 4 1/2 per cent. The rate of 6 per cent will be the highest since post-war reconstruction period.

LUTHER LEAGUE GOING TO MIDDLETOWN ON BOAT

The second annual boat ride to Middletown of the Luther League of the Swedish Lutheran church will be held Wednesday, August 28, leaving Hartford at 5 o'clock sharp in the afternoon. On arrival in Middletown the local League will be the guests of the League there and will present the evening's program. The return home will be made by bus.
 All who intend to make the trip should notify Ernest Benson, chairman, or any other member of the committee in charge before Sunday, August 25. Mildred Noren, Sylvia Casperson, Evon Nyquist and Carl Noren are the other members of the social committee.

SENSE and NONSENSE

Expensive Experiments. A man rocked a boat to see if it would tip. It did. A laborer stepped on a nail to see if it would go through his shoe. It did. A man looked into a gun to see if it was loaded. It was. A woman looked into a patent medicine booklet to see if she was sick. She was. A helper smelled escaping gas and lighted a match to find the leak. He found it. A man allowed his life insurance to lapse, paying no attention to the protest of his wife. He died.

WORD GOLF

A HOLLYWOOD PUZZLE.

A temperamental MOVIE STAR is the principal character in today's changeable drama in six parts. One solution is an another page.

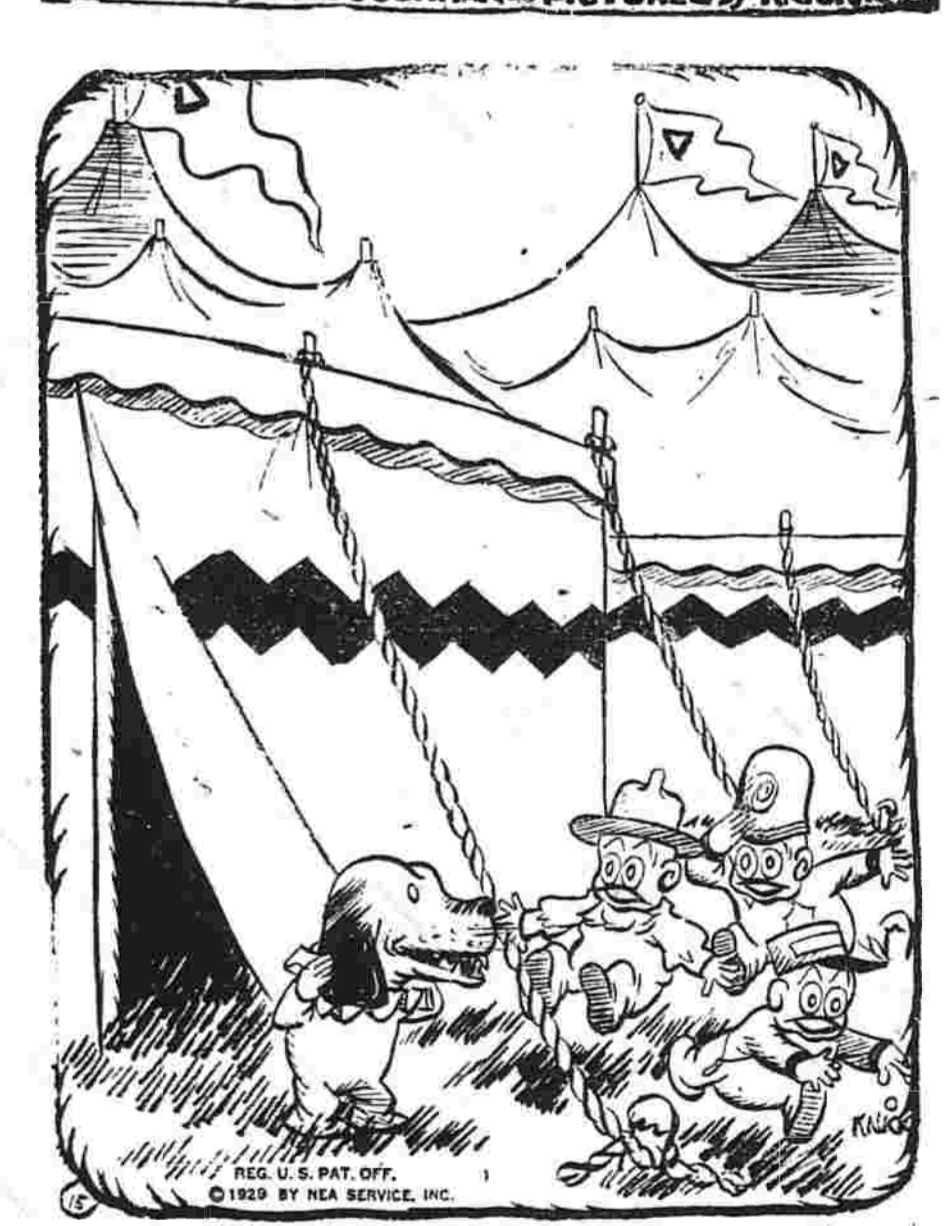

Word puzzle grid with letters F, I, L, M, S, T, A, R.

STAR THE RULES.

- 1-The idea of Letter Golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to HEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN. 2-You change only one letter at a time. 3-You must have a complete word, of common usage, for each jump. Slang words and abbreviations don't count. 4-The order of letters cannot be changed.

"Does she approve of colors in the kitchen?" "I should say she did! Her cook is as black as coal."

THE THYMILES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE) Before the Thymiles could speak the little train brake ceased to squeak and they were all surprised to find their car was standing still. Then Scouty shouted, "Just thank me. I've saved your lives, as you can see. The brake I turned saved all of us from tumbling down the hill." "You're right," cried Copy. "You are brave. I knew you'd find a way to save us all from sad destruction. Three grand cheers for Scouty boy!" For miles around the folks could hear the Thymes very loudly cheer. The fact that they were safe and sound filled all the bunch with cheer. The main train then swung into sight. Their car was hooked back on all right and off they slowly started toward the next town where they'd show. Soon night time came. The moon rose high and Clowny whispered, with a sigh, "Thank goodness, we can sleep now. Say, I wonder where we'll go." The bunch arose at break of day and Copy shortly yelled, "Hurray! We've landed in a town and they have raised the big tent high. Let's all get dressed and hurry out and find what it is all about. I'd like to have a breakfast of some coffee and some pie." At breakfast 'bout an hour was spent and then they reached the big main tent. The circus boss put them to work. They had to do their share. All of a sudden Scouty cried, "I'll bet that Clowny's trying to hide. He always dodges work and I can't see him anywhere." Before they had a chance to search an object came forth, with a lurch, from under the dressing tent. Then Copy quickly said, "Oh, look! It's Clowny, full of fun. Just see the crazy stunt he's done." The Thymes looked and saw he had a dog face on his head. (Copy does some high jumping in the next story.)

ABOUT TOWN

The annual picnic of Zion Lutheran Sunday School will be held at Elizabeth Park tomorrow.

Manchester people who are interested in the nature and conservation exhibit which the Litchfield Garden club is now conducting for a week at the Center school in that town, are reminded that it will close on the 13th, and is now open every day including Sunday from 2 to 6 p. m.

Letters have been received from several of the local people who are spending the summer in Ireland, telling of pleasant visits they have had with the Rev. David Kelly, rector of the Episcopal church in Donegal, who is now spending his vacation on the continent.

The Mooseheart Legion will hold its annual outing at Jarvis Grove on Sunday, August 25. They have engaged the grove and the dance pavilion for the day and in addition to the dinner that will be served a committee has been named to arrange for a day's entertainment program.

A letter received by The Herald today from Rev. Marvin S. Stocking conveys the news that he and Mrs. Stocking arrived safely at their destination, Topeka, Kansas, Tuesday afternoon. Their daughter, Mrs. L. Theron French and her husband came to Columbia, Missouri to meet them. Rev. Mr. Stocking says they had a most interesting trip.

Herbert Mitchell and Irving Keeney are in charge of the benefit whist and dance which will be given this evening at the City View dance hall. Six prizes will be given and refreshments served. Dancing will follow.

The Center Flute band will leave by bus tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock sharp to attend the annual convention and field day of the Connecticut Fifers and Drummers' association at Torrington. This band has been a member of the association since 1903 and always looks forward to this event. It has brought back a number of cups and prizes at previous meets and hopes to be so favored tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Potter of Lily street have returned home after a vacation of ten days at Bay View, Maine.

Patrolman Arthur P. Seymour motored up to Leominster, Mass., yesterday and returned today with Mrs. Seymour and their son Herbert who have been spending their vacation at Lake Sunapee and with relatives at Leominster. Yesterday was Herbert's birthday and a party was given in his honor by a cousin of Mr. Seymour.

Mrs. Charles Buckley and daughter Charlotte of Ridgewood, N. J., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Strickland of Main street.

Rev. E. T. French, pastor of the Nazarene church who has been spending his vacation with his parents at Wadhams, N. Y., is expected home this evening.

Miss Arline Wilkie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wilkie of 160 Oak Grove street, received a pleasant surprise last evening when about 15 of her friends called to assist her in celebrating her birthday. The usual merry pastimes were indulged in and a buffet lunch served. Miss Wilkie was generously remembered with gifts. She is to return in September for her senior year at the New Britain Normal school.

The Silk City Flute Band will take part in the competitions at Torrington tomorrow in connection with the Connecticut Fifers and Drummers' Association meeting. The members are requested to meet at the Lincoln school at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. The trip will be made by bus.

Elbert M. Shelton and wife have sold a building lot on Brookfield street to Alice F. Helm of T. D. Faulkner and Company. The transfer was made by Bert E. Judd, local real estate agent.

Three local men are employed as watchmen and direction men on the new state road job between Manchester and Bolton. Charles A. Sweet is at work nights on the job and David McCann and Paul Clune are employed days.

A girls' trio composed of Miss Olive Smith, Miss Martha Kissman and Miss Rosanna McGill will assist with the musical program at the North Methodist church Sunday morning. Their selections will include Handel's Largo and the Londonderry air.

Miss Margaret Cadman of the Midland apartments will spend the remainder of the month at Canaan.

George H. Vietch of 24 Church street is going to the Surf Hotel, Block Island tomorrow, for a week's vacation. The following week he will spend at Astoria, L. I., the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Patton.

Miss Loretta Olds of Church street was surprised yesterday afternoon on the occasion of her eleventh birthday by about a dozen of her little girl friends. They passed the time playing games and enjoying a variety of good things to eat. Loretta was remembered with many pretty gifts.

The supply of ice in Manchester has just about reached the limit for this year. Already the Starkweather supply in the north end is down so low that he is carting ice in from Starford and keeping back what small amount he has in his ice house to take care of local trade. At the Hollbrook house in Bolton, L. T. Wood has 2,000 tons and there is only one section left in the Globe Hollow ice house that contains about the same amount. This supply will last until about October 1, with the present kind of weather, but should there be a sudden hot spell it will of course go much faster.
