MORE CLASHES IN PALESTINE; HEAVY LOSSES

Situation Throughout Holy Land Extremely Grave Today—Additional British Troops on Scene.

Jerusalem, Sept. 6.—The situation throughout Palestine remained grave in the extreme today, with bloody clashes being reported between British troops and nomadic Arab bands in various localities.

Other Outbreaks In the meantime, outbreaks were also reported in the vicinity of Beersheba, where British detachments are engaged with mounted Arab tribesmen.

DARING SWINDLER GETS HALF MILLION

By Series of Check Negotiations He Buncoes Six Big New York Banks.

Telluride, Col., Sept. 6.—The bank of Telluride failed to open its doors this morning and was turned over to the state bank commissioner.

New York, Sept. 6.—Detectives of more than a dozen cities throughout the United States were searching today for C. D. Waggoner, president of the Telluride bank of Telluride, Colorado, or an impostor who posed as the bank executive as the result of what is characterized by police as one of the most daring swindles perpetrated in years.

Mysterious Deals In a series of check negotiations partially shrouded in mystery but betraying a financial wizardry rarely equaled, six New York banks were ordered by teleg. from Denver, Colorado, to set up a pool of credit for the alleged swindler at the Wall street office of the Chase National bank here.

Nation-Wide Search The New York police, the American Bankers Association and the Burns Detective Agency are co-operating in search for the man who was accepted by the Central Hanover bank as its correspondent, Waggoner, according to the bank.

So far as bankers have been able to determine, the disbursement of the $500,000 remains a credit transaction. Although the banks involved have been swindled out of half a million dollars in paper, it appears they have not lost a cent in cash.

JURY TRYING SIXTEEN IN GASTONIA STRIKE MURDER

It took nine days to select this jury which will try the sixteen Gastonia, N. C., strikers and strike organizers who are charged with killing Chief of Police O. F. Aderholt last June. A total of 386 men were examined before these twelve were agreed upon.

TOWN DEPOSIT FUNDS NOT WISELY MANAGED

State Tax Commissioner Finds That 123 Communities Have Not Obeyed the Law in This Matter.

Hartford, Sept. 6.—The question of town deposit funds has been brought to the attention of the public in the annual report of municipal indebtedness, receipts and expenditures, just issued here by William H. Blodgett, state tax commissioner, who declares that no fewer than 123 towns in the state have either lost their town funds altogether or have invested those funds in securities or notes not authorized by the General Assembly.

Mr. Blodgett reports: "Included in the interest-bearing debt in the annual report is $519,539.54 borrowed by municipalities on their notes or orders from the town deposit fund. In all to many municipalities this fund has not been properly cared for. In some cases the fund has totally disappeared."

WILLEBRANDT'S POST FOR HUGH M. ALCORN (?)

Senator Walcott to Discuss Matter With Senator Bingham—Well Fitted for Post.

Norfolk, Sept. 6.—Frederic C. Walcott, junior United States Senator from Connecticut, is going to Washington next week to discuss with his colleague, Hiram Bingham, of New Haven, the question of the appointment of Hugh M. Alcorn, state's attorney for Hartford county, to the prohibition enforcement post once held by Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt.

GASTONIA TRIAL WELL UNDER WAY

Dramatic Details of Bloody Conflict Between Police and Strikers Being Told.

Charlotte, N. C., Sept. 6.—Dramatic details of the bloody conflict between striking textile workers and the police of Gastonia, N. C., which resulted in the death of Police Chief O. F. Aderholt were being unfolded to the jury in the tiny court house here today as the state continued its task of proving sixteen Radical strikers and Communists guilty of murder and conspiracy.

Who Fired Shot? The state, which is trying Fred Erwin Bell, leader of the Gastonia strike and his fifteen "class war" co-defendants for murder and conspiracy, has not yet attempted to prove which one of the defendants fired the fatal shot in a melee which followed a raid by the chief and five other officers on the local union headquarters.

MACHINES SET UP FOR VOTERS' PRACTICE

Complicated List of Candidates Makes It Available to See Demonstration.

Of two voting machines to be demonstrated at the Municipal Building tomorrow one shows the setup of the Republican primary and the other for the Democratic primary. The names of so many candidates figure in the Republican primary nominations that the setup is a crowded one and unless voters familiarize themselves with it in advance they are liable to find themselves at a disadvantage when they undertake to vote on primary day, which will be next Tuesday. The numerous G. O. P. nominees fill up one entire line on the machine and four spaces on the line above. The Democratic candidates' names are just enough to fill up one line. There are 28 spaces to the line on the Manchester machines. Incidentally this is the first time that a voting machine demonstration has been regarded as necessary before primary day. It is rendered so by the numerous contests.

3 LOCAL KIWANIAN AT INTER-CLUB MEETING

The local Kiwanians Clarence P. Quimby, Dr. D. C. Y. Moore and G. H. Wilcox, attended the inter-club night held in Stamford last night with 250 Kiwanians and their wives present including Elmer Spear of Everett, Mass., governor of the New England District.

The Manchester members attended with the express idea of finding out what chance there was of getting C. P. Quimby elected as lieutenant governor of the district. According to G. H. Wilcox the prospects are very favorable as only one other candidate is out for the position and the local men feel they have the upper hand. The issue will not be decided until the meeting at Poland Springs, Me., September 23, 24, 25. The feature of the evening was the appearance of Lloyd F. Garrett, leading man of the "Student Prince," who with his associates presented parts of the play. Mrs. Garrett sang.

Rev. James Lee Ellenwood of Brooklyn, N. Y., was the principle speaker and gave a very intelligible account of the troubles in Jerusalem.

The meeting was held in the Gas-electric company auditorium.

ASSESSOR CANDIDATE IS WELL KNOWN

Seeks Office for First Time Although He Was Born and Brought Up Here.

Thomas J. Lewis, whose advertisement of his candidacy for the Republican nomination as assessor appears in today's Herald, has never before sought election to any office. Ever since being made a voter here Mr. Lewis has been a registered Republican. He seeks the assessorship on the strength of his knowledge of property values here. For 16 years he followed the occupation of carpenter, and for the past nine years he has been employed by the Manchester Lumber Company. He has recently left that concern.

Mr. Lewis resides at 1052 East Middle Turnpike and is a native of Manchester. He attended the public schools here and owns his home in the Manchester Green section. He is well known in Manchester and a member of several fraternal organizations. Leading Republicans have endorsed Mr. Lewis and are aiding his campaign for the nomination.

existence" and declared that "the objectivity of post-mortem existence is established by none of three factors: imagination, wish, and experience." Those factors, he said, "supply the three-fold basis of belief in post-mortem existence."

India's chief psychologist described the "three-fold basis." He pointed out that "ancient thought imagined the persistence of the recent dead as separate personalities near the homestead or in tombs. When contemplated with fear these became ghosts; when reverently regarded they became gods. The persistence of wish-fulfillment either negatively describes heaven as painless, changeless, etc., or positively characterizes it as eternal and blissful."

ABOUT TOWN

Treasurer Lewis H. Sipe of the Home Bank and Trust company leaves today for a two weeks' auto-trip to Maine and Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Thompson of Nelson place, have returned from their week's vacation spent with relatives in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Jean, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Lamprecht of 29 Charter Oak street was committed in the East cemetery this morning by Adjutant Joseph Heard of the Salvation Army. Deep sympathy is felt for the parents and especially for the mother who is undergoing a very serious and critical illness in the Memorial hospital, also for the grandmother, Mrs. Joseph Morrison, for whom it is a most anxious period.

Rev. Robert A. Colpitts and Mrs. Colpitts returned home today from New Brunswick.

A 9-pound son, Glenn Austin, was born this afternoon to Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Blythe of 3 Ridgewood street. Mrs. Blythe prior to her marriage was Miss Miriam McAdams of Griswold street. The baby was born at Mrs. Howe's Maternity Home.

Mrs. James M. Shearer of Hilliard street left today for a week's stay at her cottage at Grove Beach Point, accompanied by Mrs. Fred Harvey of Cambridge street and her children.

Fred Brousseau of 357 Woodbridge street has succeeded James Moriarty as manager of the Texaco Filling Station on Center street near the Gospel Hall.

west, were reported unmolested. With the recurrence of active fighting, towns and villages throughout the Holy Land have been reduced again to state of panic. Shops are closed, and Jewish buyers are boycotting Arab tradesmen, who are suffering severely through this move.

The losses sustained by British troops at Gaza are reported to be the heaviest since the military took the situation in hand.

OFFICIAL REPORT

London, Sept. 6.—The colonial office here has issued a statement regarding the fighting between Arabs and British troops in the vicinity of Gaza, Palestine. It reads as follows:

"Troops have repulsed a party of raiding Arabs at El Mesha, east of Mount Tabor. Twenty-six casualties were inflicted on the raiders, while one soldier was slightly wounded.

"The French authorities in Syria have posted detachments on the Palestine frontier north of Safed, in order to prevent the incursion of Arabs into our territory."

ABOUT TOWN

Contractor Aime Demars has staked out the site for a duplex residence to be occupied by the Misses Tooby of William street and their sister, Mrs. Edward Dwyer and daughter. The house will be built on the north side of Strickland street, on property recently owned by John S. Wolcott of Hollister street, having a frontage on Strickland street of 100 feet.

Group 2 of the Memorial Hospital Linen auxiliary will have its first sewing meeting of the season Monday afternoon at the School street Recreation Center.

Robert Olsen, 10-year-old son of Mrs. Thomas Elliott, of 39 Chestnut street, has left town to reside with his grandmother, at Myrtle Beach, Milford. He was a pupil at the Lincoln school, and has been transferred to the new school at Walnut Beach, Milford.

DRAWING UP LINES FOR TARIFF FIGHT

ate committee, with possible battle for further increases in some farm product rates.

The strategy of the Democratic-Inaugural leaders was apparent. They feared the outcome and effect of a direct move now to eliminate all industrial increases. The original Borah proposal, limiting tariff revision to the agricultural schedule and "related subjects," was defeated last June by a single-vote margin. Since then the doors were thrown wide open to a general tariff revision and many rates, affecting Democratic communities, were increased. It appeared certain that the Senate now would reject the Borah proposal by an even greater margin than before, and chiefly by heavier Democratic opposition than on the first vote.

Change Plans. Consequently, the coalition's strategists adopted a different course. The battle for the present will be drawn upon issues that the general public can understand. The fight will be against giving the President any power to change tariff rates and against the Reed plan for using domestic values for ascertaining rates. With this administrative battle out of the way, the coalition will concentrate its fire against a few industrial rates—like steel, dyes, shoes, bricks and cement. Then, if the public has responded favorably to their contentions, an effort may be made to eliminate all industrial increases.

And, if the coalition's war has found little public sympathy, the assault against industry will die in a pigeonhole.

The Senate will face a lengthy tariff war. After a conference with minority tariff leaders, Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, announced he could not predict a date for final enactment of the bill. He said the bill would pass the Senate initially "sometime in October" but that would leave the even more important battle over the conference report to the future. He expressed a doubt that the bill would become a law at the special session, which ends the first week in December.

The Republican chiefains meanwhile cheerfully accepted announcement of the coalition's plans. They appeared confident of rallying enough votes in the Senate to retain all the administrative features, new and old, and then to safeguard the new higher level of industrial rates. The only question disturbing administration leaders concerned the date for final enactment of the bill. Some feared a filibuster by the coalition to defeat the measure; others were hopeful the bill would become a law by New Year's Day.

FEDERAL DEPT. WILL SURVEY NEW ENGLAND

New England, through President George H. Hanauer of the Boston & Maine railroad as chairman of their committee, reported to the Council the facts and facilities of the New England lines. Hanauer made known for the first time that the expenditures by New England railroads for improvements in 1929 will aggregate approximately $90,000,000 instead of the $45,000,000 figure previously estimated, adding that "this improvement work is in a large measure responsible for the improved service."

THREE MEN INJURED IN NEWINGTON CRASH

Hartford, Sept. 6.—Three men were sent to Hartford hospital today after an automobile collision on the Berlin Turnpike at Robbins Road, Newington, when a machine operated by Harry Roberts, of West Haven upset a car operated by Dr. C. W. Vivian, of 205 West Main street, New Britain.

The injured are: Roberts, who has a badly injured chest and jaw; John P. Jameson, of New York, who has serious lacerations of head and face; and Kenneth Davis, of Hartford, who is suffering from shock. Dr. Vivian was unhurt.

State police here announced they would arrest Roberts for careless driving as soon as he is able to leave the hospital.

TOWN DEPOSIT FUNDS NOT WISELY MANAGED

the town itself is very common. On July 1, the principal of the fund was found to be $771,025.27. Of that amount more than two-thirds, or $519,539.54, had been borrowed by the towns themselves in unsecured promissory notes or orders.

Mr. Blodgett finds that since a Supreme Court decision in 1926, a few of the towns have re-established their own deposit fund and are now investing in accord with law.

The towns with the fun are under law compelled to make good any deficiency within one year after such a forfeiture to the state of a sum equal to the amount thereof.

"It cannot be too strongly urged that care be taken to see that the fund is re-established and managed in every respect as provided by law," the commissioner recommends.

EXTRA CROSS TOWN BUS IMPROVES SERVICE HERE

Connecticut Company May Keep Spare Automobile in Operation All the Time.

The Connecticut Company's experimentation in the running of extra bus trips on the Manchester local lines, while it has resulted so far in the production of only a tentative schedule, has produced a marked improvement in the situation and at the same time has demonstrated the necessity of the practically continuous use of one extra bus here. This addition to the equipment, it is understood, has practically been decided on as a permanency by the company.

The schedule of operation drawn up by Inspector John McKenna had not, this morning, been submitted to the Hartford offices of the company for approval but it was expected that it would be passed upon during the day.

Mrs. Willebrandt blames politics for the status of prohibition enforcement. You simply can't keep anything from the ladies.

MOTHER BURNS INFANT; ON TRIAL FOR INSANITY

Adjudged Insane She Will Be Sent to Asylum—Had Dizzy Spells

Los Angeles, Sept. 6.—Two defense alienists today had testified that Mrs. Josephine Valenti, 19, convicted of having burned her eight-month-old baby to death in his perambulator was insane. The young mother is on trial for sanity before the same jury that found her guilty of murder. She had pleaded "not guilty" and "not guilty by reason of insanity" as allowed under the California special statute. "Low grade imbecile" and "very low grade mentality" were terms used by Doctors Cecil Reynolds and Arthur Gorton in testifying to the results of their examinations of her. Mrs. Valenti herself swore that she was subject to dizzy spells, loss of memory and rages during which she attacked the husband, to spite whom she was charged with immolating her baby while small children of the neighborhood looked on. Two alienists called by the state sought to confute defense experts with declarations that Mrs. Valenti had shown evidences of normal mentality. If she is adjudged insane, she will be committed to a state institution until such time as she is cured when she will be forced to serve a life term for murder.

MCKINLEY ASSASSINATED

William McKinley, 25th president of the United States, was fatally shot by an assassin while attending an exposition in Buffalo, N. Y., on Sept. 6, 1901. McKinley held a public reception in the temple of music, in the exposition grounds, on the afternoon of the 6th and it was then that the shooting took place. The one fatal bullet of the two fired was found to have passed through both walls of his stomach, but due to the president's sound constitution it was at first believed he would recover. But he suddenly underwent a change for the worse and died Sept. 14. The assassin was identified as Leon Czolozeg, a Pole, having reputable parents in Cleveland, O., but who had come under the anarchist influence and been taught to believe that all heads of government were enemies of the people and ought to be killed. The assassin was arraigned in county court Sept. 17 and on the 28th was sentenced to be executed in the state prison at Auburn, within the week beginning Oct. 28. Walter Camp, Jr., says his new bride, Ruth Elder, isn't going to make any more professional fights. Well, well, is that so?

4 MINERS ENTOMBED

Angels Camp, Cal., Sept. 6.—Rescuers were today fighting their way through muck and rock in an effort to save four men entombed by a cave-in at the Calaveras copper mine at Copperopolis. After drilling their way through debris, and once having their progress suddenly checked by a second cave-in, rescuers succeeded in reaching and extricating Jose Mendez, who had been trapped under a huge boulder by the first avalanche of rock which caught five of his companions in the mine. Earlier in the day, Ompré Valle, still in the mine, are believed to have been killed by the cave-in.

VALUABLE RUBBISH

Paris.—Rubbish, which has always been considered a nuisance, is now utilized as a source of revenue in Paris where 800,000 tons are collected daily. Most of this waste is incinerated and the gases given off are used to produce electricity.

DAILY RADIO PROGRAM

Friday, September 6.

A spirited concert program, interwoven with bright hits by today's song writers will be heard when a thirty-piece orchestra, a mixed chorus of eighteen voices and a trio under the direction of Josef Koeniger, will broadcast over WJZ and WJZ-TV at 10:30 Friday night. Among the favorites of the program will be "Almighty Lord," "Cavalier," "Rhapsody," and "Low Down Rhythm" from "Hollywood Revue." The advent of "Casey Jones," the capable railroad man, will be told by music during the Columbia choral presentation of "The Great Escape" at 8 o'clock. Other programs to be heard at the same time will be "The Gleaner" and "Folly Lady." A new series of weekly programs called "Stars of Melody" featuring Erva, Gilles, soprano, Judaea House, tenor, and an orchestra, will have its premier broadcast over the WJZ-TV network at 10:30.

Wave lengths in meters on left of station title, kilocycles on the right. Times are Eastern Daylight Saving and Eastern Standard. Black face type indicate best features.

MR. FORD REPLIES

Almost a month ago Borough President Harvey of Queens, New York City, wrote to Henry Ford suggesting that inasmuch as the latter was the largest contributor to the problem of the abandoned cars it was up to him to bear part of the responsibility of a proper disposition of the junk vehicles which are becoming an intolerable nuisance in the neighborhood of all large cities. Two days ago Mr. Harvey received a reply. It is rather surprisingly lacking in helpfulness as it merely suggests that in Detroit the police collect the abandoned cars and take them to the mill, where they are broken up by the prisoners and the parts sold. Mr. Ford also went so far as to say that he would have some Eastern representative of the company call on Mr. Harvey and talk the matter over. There is, so far, no indication of any intention on the part of the manufacturer to participate very actively in the solving of the problem, though, regardless of any responsibility in the matter, it would appear to be a proposition exactly in line with his peculiar genius. Quite independently of Mr. Ford, comes a suggestion in this connection from a Wisconsin man, who advocates the dumping of deserted cars along a couple of rivers in that state which have a habit of overflowing their banks in serious inundation of the surrounding country. The junk cars, he points out, would make a practicable basis for levees.

Which suggests that old automobiles might be used in enormous numbers to serve at mattresses in the very extensive levee construction on the Mississippi. Possibly the saving effected by such a use in place of especially fabricated mattresses might offset the cost of transporting them over long distances to the region of the river. Certainly the subject is one that demands solution. And to attain to solution it must first receive the serious consideration of just such engineering minds as that of Mr. Ford. Perhaps the "Eastern representative" he has in his thoughts will serve just as well. Perhaps not.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

The words "insurgent" and "insurgency" have come, in recent years, to convey a meaning somewhat different from their original ones. Once upon a time when one spoke of an insurgent he merely meant a rebel and the rightness or wrongness of his rebellion was in no slightest degree reflected in the bare term itself. He might be a good rebel insuring against a bad government or a bad rebel insuring against a good government—you got no clue from the word alone.

But latterly so many American citizens have, with high pride, described themselves as "insurgents" against this or that political machine that there has been established in the public mind a quite general impression that to be a political insurgent is to be something rather heroic. One gets a picture of saintly souls in shining armor marching to an Armageddon to do battle against the forces of evil—represented in many cases by municipal governments made up of abject creatures of some ruthless boss or selfish private interest.

We now have in Manchester an "insurgent" body within the Republican party—so self described. The Herald sees no reason why anybody should object to citizens of independent leanings going in for political office irrespective of organization approval or disapproval. It is merely the exercise of their inalienable prerogative—and a laudable ambition into the bargain even if, as it sometimes is, a trifle mistaken. But in Manchester we fall to find anything to dramatically insurge against. So we are not entirely in sympathy with the "insurgent" appellation taken unto themselves by some of this year's crop of independent candidates.

It would seem to imply that even in this good town there are spirits of devils—politically speaking and meaning organized forces of corruption or oppression or something else that's bad—which these saintly warriors must cast out for the salvation of the community. And we really don't quite like that sort of implication, even in the theateric make-believe of election time; because somebody outside of Manchester might hear it and, not knowing about the kind of a town we are, might imagine that it might possibly be so. Of course nobody here would—not even the play insurgents themselves.

If there were a "gang" in Manchester it would have to be, of course, the Board of Selectmen. If there were a boss it would have to be somebody who could order the selectmen around. And to imagine our selectmen a gang, or being ordered around by anybody would require the eating of hashish, or at least pigs' knuckles and hot mince pie just before going to bed.

Manchester's Board of Selectmen are a decidedly mixed lot. They came into public office through about as many avenues and from about as many directions as there are individuals among them. They were picked by no one hand or group of hands. They owe no common allegiance except to their community. They are of as many minds as memberships. They have no one boss either in politics, business or social life. They are, in a word, a highly individual group who have been shouldered into the public service by self-evident reasons of fitness, of good citizenship, of willingness to do the people's work because somebody has to do it and not everybody is exactly equipped to do it.

Organizing an "insurrection" against that kind of a board of Town Fathers is, if we may say so, just a little bit funny.

FACTS, ASSUMPTION

In a Massachusetts liquor case a witness testified that he had asked for whiskey and had been served with a liquor which he "presumed" was intoxicating. Defense counsel set up the claim that it had not been proven that intoxicating liquor had been sold. Whereupon the government prosecutor declared that "under recent Supreme Court decisions," it was a fair presumption for any court that when a customer in a speakeasy asks for intoxicating liquor and is served with what purports to be such liquor then the liquor served is intoxicating. The court adopted his view.

That would seem to be a perfectly reasonable assumption though we can't recall the recent decision that the prosecutor vaguely cited. At the same time it might quite well be in contradiction to the actual facts in the case. Some years ago a "club" proprietor in the Roaring Forties in New York did a tremendous business for a while in what his patrons declared to be the best Scotch in New York served only in highballs at a dollar a smash. Finally he was raided. His attorney insisted on an official analysis of the "Scotch"—and it turned out to be a smokily flavored and lightly etherized mixture containing no alcohol at all, let alone more than half of one per cent. He got off. We wonder if the Supreme Court or the Massachusetts prosecutor ever heard of that case.

CHOOSE YOUR GUIDE

Roger Babson predicts a Wall street crash comparable to the collapse of the Florida boom. Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale emphatically denies that there is any danger of such a catastrophe. Roger Babson is the most celebrated authority on business statistics in the United States. He has built up the largest privately owned statistical organization in the world. His contacts with the largest kind of business interests are extraordinarily intimate and at first hand. Prof. Fisher is a college professor whose entire stock in trade is theory. His theories are based on what somebody tells him. Incidentally he has been extremely interesting to watch for many years, owing to his frequent shifts in fads and fancies.

Mr. Babson bases his calculations of the divergence between actual values of securities and their selling prices in the stock gambling rooms upon his knowledge of facts. Prof. Fisher bases his conviction that stock values are not too high upon the bulls' ballyhoo about future earning powers.

Anyone is at liberty to select from these two the guide he best likes.

A Massachusetts woman called the fire department when her husband celebrated his birthday by quarreling. Maybe she feared the firemen would start a blaze.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
(Rose Apple)
Question: J. H. D. asks—"What is the rose apple, and where grown?"

Answer—"The rose apple is the fruit of an East Indian tree that is grown in California for its foliage. The fruit, although very fragrant, is insipid and of no food value. It is used in the tropics for making jelly and preserves.

COLUMBIA

The first meeting of the local Grange after the summer was held Wednesday evening in the Town Hall. The general subject of the Lecturer's program was "Vacations." Each gave a short description of an interesting thing seen this summer and there were several readings. The closing number was a shadow picture "Fishing on Sunday" by Clayton E. Hunt and Clayton E. Hunt, Jr., with music by Mrs. Elsie Collins and Miss Harie Field. It is hoped that the next meeting will be Neighbors' Night. Little Lucy Derofia was eight years old Tuesday and celebrated by a birthday party last Saturday at her home. Six children in the neighborhood were present, as was also her cousin, Bessie Hardy of Mansfield Depot. A large birthday cake with 8 candles pleased the children. Lucy got many pretty birthday presents from her guests. Mrs. Mize spent the day Monday the guest of her cousins the Misses Ellsworth, at Hillcrest where they are staying. Mrs. George Hardy, Jr., of Mansfield Depot spent the week-end with her sister, Mrs. Evelina Desoria. With Labor Day the summer season at the lake closes, most of the cottagers leaving during the week in preparation for school. Some of the cottages will be open for some time yet, and others will be open for week-ends. The lake continues, to get lower every day as the Thread Company is drawing heavily on it. The island in the middle which is several feet under water when the lake is full is of quite large proportions, and some enterprising young men have pitched a tent there and are camping. There used to be a house and barn here before the region was flooded and the cellars are still plainly visible from the shore. The stretch of road between Andover and the Columbia Green is practically completed in the road bed, although of course the shoulders are still incomplete. Mr. and Mrs. Chester Winsor and daughter, Helen, of Johnston, R. I., spent the day Monday at the home of Mrs. Winsor's sister, Mrs. Clayton Hunt. Their son, Lauriston returned home with them after spending several days in Columbia. The traffic over the week-end was very heavy, becoming especially so just at night Monday. There was a steady stream of cars going both ways on the main road, so that cars coming from the lake had to wait some time for a chance to break into the line of cars passing. It becomes increasingly evident that when the Jonathan Trumbull Highway is opened for through traffic, that the intersection of two

JUDGES PRAISE FLOWER SHOW

Comment on Quality of Blooms Entered in Big Local Exhibit.

Judges for the Manchester Garden club's autumn flower show now being held in the banquet hall of the Masonic Temple, commented favorably yesterday on the quality of the flowers and the beauty of the general arrangement. They were Mrs. John R. Larus of Hartford, prominent member of the Hartford Garden club; Miss Amy Pratt of Glastonbury and Raymond E. Newell, secretary of the Connecticut Horticultural society. Because of the excellence of the exhibits their task was not an easy one.

J. W. Galavin of Tolland, past vice president of the local Garden club and a prize winner in many of the classes at the present show, has been awarded the first class certificate of the Horticultural society for the most meritorious exhibit at the show—a low bush of Cyano aster, delphiniums and snapdragons. In addition to the items mentioned in yesterday's Herald on which Mr. Galavin was awarded prizes, he has arranged a basket of beautiful velvety salpiglossis, one of the most difficult annuals to raise. The flowers are combined with graceful brown helenium. He is also showing a splendid basket of Le Marechal Foch pink gladiolus with pink snapdragons.

In addition to the exhibit of the Murphy Gladiolus farm, another commercial display of gladioli by Mrs. Charles Hevenor of Pinecrest Gardens, Wapping, is attracting much attention. Mrs. Hevenor's gardens were so severely bombarded in the spair of August 1 that she despaired of having anything for exhibition purposes.

There is much to interest the visitor at this season's show, and it will well repay those who have not already viewed the exhibit to do so this evening before the closing hour, 9 o'clock.

At the last show of the Garden club an attempt was made to arrange still life flower groups, and as an inducement to the members to compete the most valuable prize was assigned to this class, five dollars' worth of seeds, bulbs or roots from the fall or spring catalogue of Henry A. Dreer, Philadelphia. There were only four contestants—Mrs. Clifford Cheney, winner of the Dreer prize; William E. Buckley, second prize winner; Miss Helen Chapman, third or honorable mention, and L. J. Robertson, Jr. Mrs. Cheney's exhibit made use of the beautiful brown, copy heleniums and gladiolus against a background of rich brocade in the same tints, orange-tinted candles in artistic holders flank the flowers, the three objects being placed on a most artistic console table.

Mr. Buckley's picture is also arranged on a small table. A piece of white statuary and a bowl of yellow marigolds shows to advantage against soft green hangings. Miss Helen Chapman chose for her working base a handsome patterned wall paper; rose hangings accentuate the colors in the paper. On a small stand in the center of a hooked rug worked in floral design is placed a bouquet of flowers in harmonizing pastel shades. Mr. Robertson's exhibit features the old-fashioned china, flowers and art objects in connection with hand-woven table spread and wall hanging.

PANTAGES CASE ON

Los Angeles, Sept. 6.—As the work of selecting a jury for the murder trial of Mrs. Alexander Pantages went ahead today it was learned that the defendant is being closely watched by alienists for the prosecution.

At the instruction of District Attorney Byron Fitts, Mrs. Pantages has been watched by three famous alienists who have had her under observation since the fatal automobile crash in which Joe Rokumoto, a Japanese, was killed.

The district attorney's office, it was learned last night, ordered the secret observation so that the state may be prepared to thwart a "last resort" defense of the Pantages lawyers.

Defense Plans
A possible defense, the state fears, might be that Mrs. Pantages, wife of the millionaire theater man, who himself faces trial on the charges of 17-year-old Eunice Pringle, is in such a mental condition, closely paralleling insanity, that she is not responsible for her actions—at least at times of excitement.

This mental condition, it is expected to be contended if necessary to save her from conviction, is due to her physical condition and her age.

Defense lawyers are ready to call a number of physicians to testify not alone to her physical condition, but the state of her mind, it has been ascertained.

NEW AIR RAIL ROUTE

New York, Sept. 6.—Announcement was made today by the aviation company of the formation of a daily air-rail service connecting New York and Mexico City. The service will be inaugurated next Sunday.

The present plan calls for the New York Central and the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroads to handle the rail traffic and two airline subsidiaries of the aviation company to take care of the air travel.

The combination system is expected to shorten by more than fifty hours the travelling time between the two cities.

HAVE GOOD CANDIDATE, PLANNING TO CUT HIM

Democrats Hope to Defeat Constable James Duffy, Livest. Man in Party in Years.

A somewhat peculiar situation, to say the least, has arisen in the ranks of the Democratic party in Manchester as the date for the annual town primaries next Tuesday draws nearer. It is very apparent that the Democrats are making a determined attempt to "freeze" Constable James Duffy of their own party out of office for the ensuing year.

The Democrats have eight nominees for the office of constable and it is understood that there is a definite movement underfoot to bid-pend the name of Duffy. The latter, however, is making a determined fight to prevent elimination.

Town officials connected with both parties speak highly in regard to Duffy's ability. They claim that he has been not only the most active but also the most efficient man the Democrats have ever named for constable. His percentage of collections of bills far outclasses that of any other constable in town engaged in similar work.

NOON STOCKS

New York, Sept. 6.—Wall street pulled itself together and put an end to panicky selling of stocks as the gong sounded for the beginning of another day's trading on the big board today. The bears who hoped for another "killing" were surprised to see the active stocks soar from 3 to 8 points as the first blocks of industrial shares went over from seller to buyer, and the word was passed around the "street" that the investment trusts and powerful bankers were solidly behind their favorites.

Opening gains of 3 to 8 points were stretched a point or two as traders on the "bull side" jumped in to buy their favorites. Loose Wiles Biscuit, which moved up nearly 5 points in yesterday's demoralized market, jumped more than 8 points to 84 on sale of only 5,000 shares. Radio was whipped back to 106 for a 3-point gain and International Tel. and Tel. easily recovered 6 points.

American Waterworks and Standard Gas, which have been linked together in persistent merger rumors, lost no time in resuming their sensational upward move. Waterworks jumped about 8 points to 131 and Standard Gas 10 points to the same price, strengthening the forecasts of a share-for-share merger of the two powerful companies. American and Foreign Power started the day 5 points higher and American Power and Light sold up about 5 points.

In bullish market circles, Mr. Babson's forecast of a terrific break was ignored with other factors, such as the $137,000,000 increase in brokers' loans, which were relied on by the bears to break prices of the favorite shares. Simmons Company shot ahead in another break-neck dash to 156 1/2, up 8 points to a new high record price and most of the rails sold at higher price levels.

The United States imports 3,000,000,000 pounds of bananas a year.

MARKET PRICES TODAY ARE SWINGING UPWARD

New York, Sept. 6.—The Stock Market price pendulum, which dipped so sharply late yesterday, swung upward with almost equal vigor at the opening of Wall street activities today.

Thousands of traders, both large and small and both men and women, who had been on needles overnight regarding a possible continuation of the price decline, breathed a sigh of relief when the stock quotation ticker began to tap out its ping of higher prices at the opening of the market.

Investment trusts, powerful interests and millionaire "margin hunters" took advantage of the break in prices to buy vigorously at the opening of the market. The result was that prices bounced upward from three to eight points and the sunshine of bullish enthusiasm once again drove the bears to cover.

Anasconda Copper, American Can, Radio, Loose Wiles Biscuit, General Electric, International Tel. and Tel., and Industrial Alcohol were among the stocks that rose upon opening transactions.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER.

Washington, Sept. 6.—General opinion around here is that the Hoover-Wilbur suggestion of turning the public lands over to the states will not get very far.

Some kind of scandal has arisen on virtually every occasion when Congress has monkeyed with public lands and there will be plenty of instinctive opposition to the idea on that basis alone. The government now has nearly 200,000,000 acres of unreserved or "free" land, and the value of it was once estimated as high as $26,000,000,000.

Thus far no one seems to be very enthusiastic over the idea—either over the Secretary of the Interior Wilbur's apparent thought of giving away the national forests and everything else or over the president's revised proposal to give the public lands states control of surface rights, but not the mineral rights.

States May Not Want It.

Undoubtedly there will be western politicians, both here and at home, who will whoop for the proposition. But there is also opposition on the ground that unless the federal government concedes mineral rights along with the surface rights, it will be unloading a white elephant on the states affected. In fact, opposition has been voiced on all kinds of grounds, some of them diametrically opposite in theory.

The old-school conservationists declare that the plan is "baked" and that it undoes the Roosevelt conservation policies which were designed to save the last remnant of national resources from selfish exploitation.

They deny Mr. Hoover's contention that the states are more competent to handle such lands. They recall that various states have in the past blithely turned over to large corporations millions of acres of the most valuable land in the world. States legislatures have been notoriously weak when corporation lobbyists came around with grasping hands.

That sort of thing went on for a century. States obtained school land and other land grants from Congress and then vied with the federal government to see which could unload the most valuable land to railroad, mining and other corporations in the fastest time. The Montana legislature enriched the Anaconda Copper Company with school lands. The Mesabie range, where the U. S. Steel Corporation has the world's largest iron mines, was once part of a grant given to the state of Minnesota for school purposes.

The existing public lands are said to be fit for nothing but grazing, but the conservationists say that tens of millions of acres have never even been surveyed and that no one knows just how good they are. Most of the 193,000,000 acres is grazing land, but the public domain includes all types of acreage.

Conservationists of the Roosevelt school thought their fight was all over when the repeated attempts to legislate the public lands to the states, between 1905 and 1910, finally came to an end as the result of vigorous opposition from both Roosevelt and Taft. They are not now content to see such a program effected, regardless of what strings the government might put on mineral resources.

There Are Two Sides.

Although Senator Borah described the original Wilbur proposal as a "nightmare" and other western senators have joined with editorial writers in a general snort, there are arguments on the other side. It is pointed out that about 75 per cent. of Nevada, 50 per cent. of Utah, 30 per cent. of Wyoming and 20 per cent. of California and Oregon are now under federal control. No one is surprised at objections from these states to such a state of affairs.

Nevertheless, the general lack of support for the Hoover-Wilbur plan seems to indicate that nothing will be done about it in the near future, regardless of the recommendations of President Hoover's proposed commission which would try to work out a solution.

MILL STRIKE ENDS

Marion, N. C., Sept. 6.—The strike of textile workers at the Clinchfield Manufacturing Company here "is over and the mill is working on a full day shift, employing as many workers as are needed," B. M. Hart, president of the company, declared in a statement today.

Hart declared in the statement he saw no necessity for further negotiations with the strikers.

Militiamen continue to guard mill properties.

Theaters

AT THE STATE.

"Flying Fool." Vitaphone Vodvil.

"The Flying Fool," William Boyd's latest starring vehicle for Pathe, now being shown at the State theater, is regarded by leading motion picture authorities to be, without any question of doubt, one of the finest pictures of its kind that has yet reached "the screen since" the elevation of "talkies."

After making such a prominent name for himself in "The Leatherneck" which was his first dialogue production, Boyd was given the chance that millions of movie fans have been waiting for—that of appearing in a 100 per cent all-talking picture.

"The Flying Fool" is an all-talking picture, recorded on the RCA Photophone. It presents Boyd in the kind of a character-type that he has already made famous—that of a wise-cracking, devil-may-care youth who is already for a fight or frolic. Only this time he appears in the role of a daredevil stunt aviator, who wins love and triumph through his bravery in the clouds.

The film is replete with hair-raising thrills and dramatic action. Now and then, to offset these highlights, the audience is heard to fairly rock the theater with hearty laughter. Supporting the star in this 100 per cent talkie are such talented favorites as Marie Prevost, Tom O'Brien, Cupie Winters and William Gleason.

Two selected acts of Vitaphone vaudeville, the current installment of "The Diamond Master" starring Hayden Stevenson and the State News Events, will complete the program.

On Sunday, Monday and Tuesday the State will present Charles (Buddy) Rogers in his first 100 per cent all-talking Paramount picture, "River of Romance."

IN NEW YORK

New York, Sept. 6.—If you can remember that far back—there was, once upon a time, the dancing team of Vernon and Irene Castle, and no better ballroom steppers have whirled about a floor since their day.

Irene it was who started the entire countryside by appearing with bobbed hair. And Vernon is dead these many years.

And the other day I found myself on the spot where it all began—it was called Castles-by-the-Sea, a snappy, polite and swanky little beach resort where, upon hot days, they made a mean Tom Collins out of something beside the sturt that's carried in hip flasks.

Today a mile of private bathing beach is cluttered with the varicolored umbrellas and bathing costumes of a very ultra-ultra resort. The clubhouse itself is a shrine to the gargantuan growth of bathing places hereabouts. It looms like 20 country clubs rolled into one.

While in the unrestricted sections where the hot pools are allowed to roam the more public strands, there is a sudden rush of hot-dog stands, the drone of barker and the cheap allure of catch-penny rackets.

And Castles-by-the-Sea is a memory only to a few of the old-timers.

Speaking of barriers, I am told that there are but a very few of the grand old gents with thick beards, white vests and muf-fled vocabulary to be found in the Coney Island belt where once they thrived.

The spicers of the old school have been replaced with youngsters who know little of the ancient art of balmy hooch which grew out of the Barmy days. These tyros are capable of little more than a casual banging of a gong and a listless shouting of out-worn phrases. Only one or two carry on the old tradition of the circus "spiel"—which was indeed an art, and a lot of fun besides.

A check on the summer trade along Broadway reveals that those trick air-cooling plants have driven thousands of the heavy-wear from streets, and homes into the larger theaters.

Whereas in many a season, theaters showed a marked falling off in business during the heat-wave periods, this year record for attendance have been broken. For 50 cents, or thereabouts, thousands could escape into the cool and comfortable surroundings of the entertainment palaces. The Roxy, for instance, reports long lines waiting out in the hot sun-patiently seeking a chance to cool off. The crowds gather at an early hour of the day, and many stick around until the late afternoon.

The next little sales stimulant will be known as the record-of-the-month club. One of the major recording outfits has retained a group of judges, headed by such well-known musicians as Walter Damrosch and Deems Taylor, who will put their seal on the best bit of ramed music produced in a four-week period. And distribution will be undertaken after the fashion of the book club concern.

on the verge of retuning to speak to each other, have biased and made up. A score of publishers who had refused to submit books to the clubs have changed their minds, and book-sellers who were on the border of revolt have, I am told, been allowed a special discount rate on the selections on the assurance that they will press sales of them. So they all lived happily until the next fight.

To Identify Genuine Aspirin

THE increasing use of Bayer Aspirin every year is proof that it has no ill effects. It is the accepted antidote for pain. It always helps; it never harms. Quick relief when you've a headache, or cold; or are suffering from neuralgia or neuritis. Rheumatic pains yield, too, if you'll only give these tablets a chance. But you want genuine Aspirin, so look for the Bayer Cross on every tablet. The box always bears the name Bayer and the word genuine printed in red.

Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacturers of Koenigsberg, Germany.

MORE than extra-powered

NEW-TYPE Atlantic is a distinctly extra-powered gasoline—without extra cost. It combines brawn and smoothness to the highest degree ever attained in an all-petroleum motor fuel.

But Atlantic superiority doesn't end there. In this day's scramble for "more power," motor fuels easily become poorly balanced. Conspicuous in some one feature, they are often deficient in other qualities which are equally important for meeting the widely varying conditions under which a motor fuel must operate.

With extra power, Atlantic gives you amazingly easy starting and quick pick-up. With smooth, accurately timed combustion, it is so thoroughly clean- and complete-burning that motor-sludging carbon, impaired valve action and oil dilution are definitely out of the picture.

ATLANTIC Paraffine Base MOTOR OIL will not only demonstrate its first-cost economy by giving you the most miles per dollar, but it will prove itself the surest protection against motor wear of any oil you can find.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

HELEN BRENT feels unhappy when the girls at the Spann boarding school tease her about being Miss Simplicity just to please her handsome guardian. LEONARD BRENT, who supplies her with ample funds and smart frocks which are brought from Paris for her by a woman friend whom Helen has never met.

But she dares not question his reasons even when her roommate, SHALIMAH MORRIS, accuses her of being in love with Brent and calls her a fool for giving up dancing and parties for him.

Helen begs her guardian to tell her about her parentage, but he refuses until after the graduation. Realizing her infatuation for him, he exacts her promise to "do anything I ask you to" after leaving school.

One day Brent sees a hungry beggar fall in an allyway and curiosity tempts him to listen to his muttering. He hears something about "Evangeline—money—dishonored" and as he bends over the old man spies a gold locket with a diamond. He takes the locket and tries to question the dazed man.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER IV
Holding the half-conscious man at arm's length, Brent shook him violently. The weak lids lifted over the watery eyes, the muttering ceased.

"Look here, old fellow, come out of it," Brent said briskly. The other stared at him, dazed and uncomprehending. Brent's impatience grew. "Sit up," he said sharply. "What's the matter with you? Drunk?"

"Evangeline," the poor dretzel whispered, struggling to raise himself. Then louder: "She doesn't need the money now. It's been a long time. The joke's on him. Let him rot in his riches. It's all the same to her. She's been dead for years, years. I tell you years! What does she care about his money? She's got streets of gold, streets of it!"

Brent bent closer, no longer trying to rouse the speaker to more rational utterance. Plainly his mind was wandering, but his words were interesting. "Yes," Brent said encouragingly. "Evangeline—who was she?"

Somehow that name on his lips did what he had been unable to do by conscious effort. It brought the old man to at least a partial realization of his situation.

Brent watched while he made a supreme effort to sit erect. "Don't call the police," he begged, the shadow of experienced degradation cutting through the fog in his brain and filling him with dread.

But the moment of lucidity did not last. He fell instantly to raving of "Evangeline" again, forgetful of Brent's presence, though, strangely, he seemed to sense him there as an immaterial audience. Brent guessed that he live more in the past than in the present, and that he probably vocalized his story to all who would listen, or, when there was no one, to his own ears.

One of those pitiful, wandering tragedies, making of the borderline between life and death a wide space. Still, guessing this, understanding it, there was nothing in Brent's heart of pity; only disgust and contempt. But he could not tear himself away. He was held by the scent of quarry, a rich old man, who didn't know that his hard-heartedness was hurting only himself—that the daughter he had disinherited was dead. This much Brent gathered before the shrunken, prematurely aged wreck of a man quit his babbling and a quiet, his head drooping on a slumping shoulder.

Quickly Brent stepped to the street, where the light was better, and took the locket out of his pocket. He opened it and disclosed the likeness of a beautiful young woman dressed in the style of 20 years ago. On the opposite side of the locket was engraved a name "Evangeline Cunningham."

Brent thrust it back into his pocket and glanced furtively up and down the street. A coffee house caught his eye and solved his problem. He'd been at a loss to know where to take the old man and pump the rest of the story out of him. Certainly he couldn't take him to his own quarters.

He wheeled back and again leaned over the beggar. This time he put aside his distaste for physical contact with the other's person and lifted him to his feet. Again he shook him, roughly, thoroughly.

The limp figure stiffened, the wobbly head held firmer and the wanderer came back from the borderland. He blinked at Brent and began to whimper like a child. "I'm starving," he said several times. "Come along," Brent urged, supporting him with a shoulder. "There's a place to eat just across the street. Pull yourself together and don't let go again. Do you hear?" he added, raising his voice as the figure against him began to relax. "Hang on to yourself," he went on sharply. "There's food—FOOD—and hot coffee!"

It was slow progress they made getting across the street but Brent managed it. At the last he was practically carrying his burden but once at the door of the coffee house he was able to get assistance.

"Drunk," he said laconically to waiter who came to help him. "An old beggar I'm used to seeing on the street. Rather hate the thought of having an officer run him in. Get him over to that table back there in the corner where he'll be out of the way, and bring some strong coffee immediately."

The waiter was impressed with Brent's appearance and manner. He hastened to obey. "I'll just stop a bit until the rain ceases and then I'll come back with a cup of coffee at the table with the man he had brought in. 'Bring me a pot of coffee, without cream.'"

The waiter grinned. Obviously his guest was unused to coffee houses of this order. A pot of coffee indeed! A thick white mug at the best.

"No individual pots, sir," he apologized, using an address that was unfamiliar in the place. But this man, in his better days had seen better places.

"Never mind," Brent instructed him. "Attend to this poor wretch at once. You have some hot soup, I suppose?"

"Yes, sir." "Then fetch it after the coffee." The strong black beverage, held to the blue lips by Brent himself revived his companion to a partake of the thick hot soup.

Brent sat opposite and watched silently while he dipped the large cheap spoon up and down, up and down, with the speed demanded by wolfish hunger.

The busy waiter had gone about his duties. Brent had indicated that he did not want attention directed to his table and the man had accepted his wishes without comment. He was used to turning his back on queer affairs. And this affair was queer, unless the toff in the evening clothes really didn't know a drunken guy from a bum just one jump ahead of the undertaker.

Well, it was none of his business. Like enough he'd get a good first bit out of it. Soft-hearted gink, probably, bit of a fool.

While he went on about his business Brent waited until the soup was finished and then began to ply the old man with questions. But the old man with a cigarette for him, astutely surmising that it was the first, other than butts, that he'd smoked in years.

But even so, in spite of the coffee, the soup and the tobacco, it was the past that he lived in, and that he probably vocalized his story to all who would listen, or, when there was no one, to his own ears.

A name here, a date there. Brent had to keep continuously on the alert; aware that the burden of the tale—the vein the teller couldn't get away from—was his satisfaction, his gloating enjoyment, of the empty revenge the rich old father might have learned nothing.

"Whose father? Evangeline's?" Brent pressed, "Cunningham. What Cunningham?"

"Why, alone in his big house quit his babbling and a quiet, his head drooping on a slumping shoulder. I serves him right. It serves him right. Think he's going to leave his money away from my wife. . . cheat me. . . the poor fool. . . inheritance she'll never get—money I wouldn't touch. . . Money my little girl will never touch. . . all these years alone in that empty old house the kid's gone. . . pretty thing. . . mother's eyes. . . hopes Evangeline will come back and beg. . . angels don't have to beg. . . the little girl was a pretty kid. . . He lifted a torn, soiled sleeve to his dripping eyes and sniffled. Then he began again. Brent, listening patiently, lost not a word. They sat there at the table for an hour. The bowl of small crackers was empty, the ash tray full of expensive ashes. The story was told.

At least Brent concluded that he would learn no more of it from Charles Nellin. That was the vagrant's name. Charles Owens Nellin. He mustn't forget. Charles Owens Nellin.

All that came now was repetition. But he had learned a great deal. He knew that Charles Nellin had been Evangeline Cunningham's music teacher. Knew her father had not seen her since her elopement with Nellin. Knew that she had died a few years after their marriage. Knew that they had a daughter. She'd been named for her mother—Evangeline. Where she was or what had become of her he could not learn.

Nellin had slipped away from all his questions about her without answering. Brent could not tell whether by intention or the vagary of his mind. He seemed scarcely to be aware of the fact that was being led along—but he did make it plain that the girl's grandfather was not likely to find her. Oh, yes, he admitted, Cunningham knew of her existence. Evangeline had written to him of the child's birth. His reply—Nellin didn't say in so many words what it was, but Brent understood that it had been caustic.

He seemed, suddenly, to suspect that his listener might misjudge his cleverness. "Listen," he blurted. "I'll tell you what I've done. . . how I've cheated him!"

YOUR CHILDREN

by Olive Roberts Barton
©1928 by NEA Service, Inc.

"When I get low in spirits, I buy me a new hat," said a young business woman recently.

"Lucky child! I don't have the price usually," laughed another. "But I'll tell you how I do my whisking when I get low in spirits. I get a hair cut. Get a manicure and a hair cut. Nothing gives me so much courage as to be well-groomed."

I often think children must feel the same way. Perhaps they don't get as low in their spirits as we older people, but most children instinctively like to be clean.

They might fuss about taking their baths and getting their heads washed and their nails trimmed, but after it's all over almost heads washed and their nails trimmed purry-puss look that goes with a clean skin and clean clothes every time.

Recipe for Self-Respect
Nothing keeps up self-respect as much as cleanliness. I suppose that's what originated the saying of cleanliness being next to godliness.

I really believe it is. If a child is going to be a little gentleman for only one minute out of the whole day, it's going to be that minute just after he's had his bath and been brushed and dressed and sent downstairs smelling of soap and water and fresh linen.

Children can learn to do so many things for themselves, it is only fair to busy mothers that they be taught early. A few minutes a day spent teaching them how may save whole days later.

A boy or girl of six cannot only take his own bath, but learn to shampoo his own head thoroughly, rinse it twice in warm, then cooler water, and dry it himself.

He can also learn to take care of his own nails. It isn't difficult with the complete compact manicure sets one can buy now for a song.

Caring for His Nails
Show him how to use the little emery-board to file his nails into a nice even curve, and how he must soak his hands in a little warm soap-suds for about three minutes, and while his hands are still moist to push back the cuticle at the base of the nail with a bit of orangewood stick. After that a dust of nail powder on the chamois skin buffer and a few swift strokes to polish. He can learn all that easily.

Every once in a while it would be a good idea to let him have a regular manicure. Nice nails are as important as nice teeth. We must get over thinking it feminine for boys to have good nails.

FAVORITE SCHOOL FROCK

The straightline wool jersey is favorite with school girls of 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14 years.

The Style No. 673 sketched is especially attractive with plaited insets at either side of skirt at front topped by patch pockets which employ printed jersey in gay dot motifs. The printed jersey appears again in belt that marks normal waistline, pockets above waistline and collar and front applied band with button trim.

It is in seal brown shade with matching jersey printed in beige. The cost to copy it exactly is very small.

Bright red wool crepe trimmed with navy blue is very French and so unusual. Hunter's green in wool jersey with green and beige checked woolen contrast is sportive and so different.

Sports weight linen in nautical blue with white linen printed cotton broadcloth in green and white tones in geometric motifs with plain blending green broadcloth, gingham check in brown and white with plain brown and plaided gingham in yellow and brown tones with plain yellow smart combination.

Pattern price 15 cents in stamps or coin (coin is preferred), wrap coin carefully.

We suggest that when you send for pattern, you enclose 10 cents additional for a copy of our new Fall and Winter Fashion Magazine.

MENTAL HYGIENE PROGRAM PROVES HELPFUL TO COLLEGE STUDENTS.
By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN.

Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine.

Mental hygiene work among college students is an interesting new development described by Dr. Winifred Richmond, of Washington, D. C., at a recent meeting of the American Medical Association.

The mental hygiene movement has grown out of the psychological testing methods used in the army during the World War. As the enormous increase in students after the war brought problems that had not existed before, colleges began to find that mental tests and rating scales were useful in advising students about their education and their vocational adjustment.

The departments handling this personnel research uncovered many problems they had not anticipated and the psychiatrist gradually came into the picture. Dartmouth, Vassar and California were among the first to employ psychiatrists, but by 1927 the movement had progressed so rapidly that at the New England conference on mental hygiene in schools and colleges held in Boston in the spring of 1927 more than twenty colleges and secondary schools maintaining psychiatric services were represented.

In the five years since the work began at Vassar 185 girls and six teachers have been referred to the psychiatrist. Forty-four girls were found to be suffering from severe nervous disturbances; 18 were quite ill with "real" depressions; four had serious sex difficulties; four had definite suicidal tendencies and a few minor difficulties that might have led to serious trouble if they had not been taken in time.

The difficulties that beset college students are practically the same everywhere. Emotional maladjustments, sex difficulties, actual mental and nervous illness and various types of disciplinary problems are the principal troubles found by the psychiatrist.

College suicides, of which so much has been heard in recent years, may usually be traced to depressions resulting from fear and anxiety. Suicidal trends, discovered in time, put the psychiatrist on the qui vive and he may be able to avert a tragedy.

Perhaps the greatest hindrance to the development of a mental hygiene program has been a hostile attitude on the part of faculty members of colleges, according to Dr. Richmond. The psychiatric department must "sell itself" to both faculty and students. This it has been able to do so successfully that in the institutions where the psychiatric department has been longest established the faculty has almost invariably become enthusiastic and co-operative.

Favor Ouimet And Egan To Win Matches Today

Pitted Against Johnson and Willing in Semi-Final Round of Amateur Golf Championship.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

Pebble Beach, Del. Monte, Cal., Sept. 6.—Two men who were champions and two who are willing to be, were left all alone, the remnant of a once great field of 140, when the semi-final round of the national amateur golf championship was called to a point of order this morning.

The two ex-champions, human vintage of other and better days, Francis Ouimet and H. Chandler Egan, were on opposite sides of the semi-final bracket and an emotional populace, ever on the alert for that evanescent thing called drama, was hoping that fate would decree that they live to meet in the final round tomorrow.

This was reckoned to be the only circumstance that would save the final round for emotionalists, still very much dazed over the fact that a man by the name of Jones had left the tournament flat and I don't mean convex.

Today's Matches. Now for facts. Egan, old enough to be Dr. O. F. Willing, that grim, sour figure from the northwest, in one of the 36 hole matches. In the other, Ouimet, his face lined with fatigue, will play Harrison Jimmy Johnston, who, likeable and bristling with health, if this quartet was "handicapped" on its shot-making, Ouimet probably would be placed No. 1 in the ranking list and Egan at No. 2. And all too probably they are destined to be the two losers.

Willing beat Egan the last time they met and, if form is served the match must go to the man with virile, fighting strength to carry his pace over a distance. Johnston, by exactly the same token, must go to the mark as the odds-on choice over Ouimet. In fact, this Viking blonde from the Minnesota twin-cities shaped up today as the most plausible champion-to-be among the four survivors.

Johnston Tournament. Yes, according to the best minds hereabouts, this is to be what is known as "Johnston's tournament." But by a great mental effort, I seek to recall that this was to be a Jones tournament. And when it wasn't, it became a Tolley tournament and finally a Voigt tournament. Still, even the best minds can't be mistaken indefinitely. Johnston, by most of the rules of the game, would seem to be a "natural." Jimmy has fighting heart. So has Ouimet. Jimmy has the endurance that is the endowment of youth. Ouimet is old beyond his years. He can play more golf than Johnston but not often enough. One faces the necessity of playing it all day long at the 36-hole game and, for Ouimet, the necessity may be a bit painful.

Is Still Young. Francis merely is in his mid-thirties, yet he really is the "father of American golf" on the head of his immortal victory over Vardon and Ray at Brookline all the way back in 1913 when Harrison Jimmy Johnston was staying after school to catch up with his home work. Ouimet won the amateur the next year and never since has acquired a major title and not since 1920 has he advanced within bowing distance of the semi-final. It is a great fellow that he is, Francis Ouimet, happens to be a grandpapa veteran who is making a last, desperate gesture to reclaim the honors that once were his and destiny has drawn him out of the hat with a very unfavorable omen.

What, then, of Egan? He won his last championship in a day when Francis Ouimet was riding his tricycle over the paths adjacent to Brookline and idly wondering whether the golfers were playing a game or planting mushrooms. He finally decided it must be mushrooms. Egan won the championship in 1906 and not since 1921 has he taken either national championships or himself seriously.

He will be serious today because it would be the act of a chump to do otherwise. Further, he has played more consistently than any man now left in the tournament. But he is giving away too much as to willing to much natural, God-given strength.

This undoubtedly would be a better championship if the two grand veterans, Ouimet and Egan, fought for it on the last, dramatic day. Words-pulsing, sobbing words—would be spilled over the circumstance with great profusion and emotionalism would go for a very thorough airing. It may happen, at that. Certainly Ouimet and Egan are temperamentally capable of anything that a golf course has known. Physically, they may be something else entirely; in fact, if either or both of them win today, it will be in spite of odds and not because of them.

TENNIS FINALISTS TO GET RACQUETS

Finals for Town Title Tomorrow Afternoon at H. S. Courts at 1 and 3 O'Clock

All four finalists in the town title tennis tournaments being conducted by The Manchester Evening Herald sports department will receive tennis racquets for their efforts. In addition, the winners will receive handsome silver loving trophy from The Herald.

The tennis racquets have been donated by the four stores at the south end which deal with tennis supplies, Manchester Plumbing & Supply, Montgomery Ward Company, F. T. Elish Hardware Company and C. E. House & Son. In addition, the losers will receive a billfold and box of writing paper donated by the Dewey-Richman Company.

All companies admitted that this has been the biggest year in tennis here, business surpassing any other year and they believed this due in a large way to the town tournaments which stimulate interest and help build up the sport. More tennis has been played in Manchester this summer than ever before and it is beginning to reach a point where more courts are needed.

Director Lewis Lloyd of the Recreation Centers is busy getting the south court at the High school in first class condition for the finals. The entire surface is being planed off level and it will be thoroughly watered and rolled. The finals, as you probably know, bring together Miss Ruth Behrend and Miss Elizabeth Washkewich at 1 o'clock with Ty Holland and Paul Jesanis taking the courts at 3 o'clock or shortly before, depending upon what time the women's finals is completed.

Culotta Offers To Play Green, Bon Ami For $100

GATTI-FRAHER TEAM WINS TENNIS MATCH

Cops First Round Contest 6-3, 6-1; Finals Postponed a Week; Matches in Men's Doubles.

One match was played in the mixed tennis doubles tournament last night. Aldo Gatti and Miss Catherine Fraher captured their first round contest by eliminating Tom Stowe and Miss Stella Lincoln at the Country club courts in straight sets at 6-3, 6-1. The first set was stubbornly contested but the winners took the second easily. They will meet Bob Smith and his sister, Marjorie, in the semi-final match either tonight or tomorrow.

In the other half, Eddie Markley and Ruth Behrend meet the winner of the match between Ty Holland and Mildred Holland and Jim O'Leary and Mary Fraher.

The finals of the mixed and men's doubles have been postponed a week. All first round matches have been played in the men's doubles and one second round contest. Fred Mack and Eddie Bateson are to meet the Dexter brothers, Franklin and Allen, Ross Shirer and Tom Hawley clash with Earl Bissell and Burt Dawson and Paul Jesanis and Albert de Nivelle meet Tom Faulkner and Paul Cervini. Bob de Nivelle and Don Jesanis have won their way through the second round.

Company G Team Demands Recognition in Town Title Series; Willing to Play Winner-Take-All, Too.

Manager Charles Culotta of the Company G baseball team is much put out because his team has been frozen out of the town championship series arranged between the Green and Bon Ami to start Sunday.

The national guard mentor came into The Herald office this morning with a statement that he stood willing to back his team against either the Green or Bon Ami for a side bet of $100 and on a winner-take-all basis.

It was his contention that Company G beat Highland Park when the latter's lineup consisted principally of Manchester Green players. Meanwhile the Green and Bon Ami are going forward with their plans for the opening game of the town series Sunday at the West Side at 3 o'clock.

PUBLIC STAMPEDES FOR DUO DOLLARS

Up Until Noon Today Over $66,000 Worth Had Been Sold by the Banks.

Duo Dollar Dementia. That is probably what an alienist would call the stampede staged by the public in Manchester last night for the coupons that are being given away by the thirty odd merchants in the new trade promotion scheme. In every store the prize merchandise was on display. Over $5,000 in merchandise will be given away free each month for the next four months. These prizes were the center of attraction all over the business section.

Although the Duo Dollar plan was to have started on Tuesday, last night was the first real test. A delay in getting the currency held it over a day.

Popular Plan. But if anyone doubts that the plan would not meet the public favor he thought otherwise if he had been on the streets last evening. More than the usual big shopping crowd was on hand and the Duo Dollars were handed out right and left. Some of the stores ran out of "money" early and had to send to the bank for more. You know the banks sell this "money."

The clerks at first found some difficulty in handling the Duos but now they have become so accustomed to the task that they hand out the various denominations mechanically. In the State theater lobby is the box in which the bids for the merchandise will be deposited. Remember you do not put in your Duos. You just mention the item by number for which you want to bid, your name and address and the amount of your bid. On the day of the auction if you happen to bid the highest you pay with Duos. If your bid does not win you still have your Duos to bid on other things. There are hundreds of these articles on display at the various stores.

To give one an idea of how much this Duo money is now either in the hands of customers or in storekeepers hands, a visit was made to two local banks today to get some figures. Up until noon today the Manchester Trust Co. had sold $6,550 worth and the Home Bank and Trust Co., $20,000.

TO SEPARATE SEXES.

Hoboken, N. J., Sept. 6.—Boys and girls of junior high school age here will no longer be taught in mixed classes, Dr. Daniel S. Kealey, superintendent of school, announced today.

WERNER TO RESUME CLASSES IN MUSIC

Fred E. Werner, one of the town's best known musicians, announces in another column that he will resume teaching the piano and organ Monday, September 9, at his studios in Kemp's Music House, and at his home, 128 West street. Werner is organist at the Concordia Lutheran church and of the State theater. Since his graduation from the local high school with the class of 1924 he has devoted his entire time to music, and is entering upon his sixth season as a teacher.

MISS ETHEL M. FISH'S PRIVATE INSTITUTION HAS MANY ADVANTAGES FOR PUPILS.

Sunnyside Private School, Miss Ethel M. Fish's institution for the education of children of grammar school age, opens on Monday for its second year. The school has been completely refurbished during the summer months although Miss Fish has had a complete re-arrangement of the whole vacation period. This school, which Miss Fish conducts is not, as many have previously believed, for the aid of backward students. Adversely it is specifically planned for those boys and girls who have the ability to learn more quickly than the average youth and could advance in a private school under personal tutoring much more quickly than in the public schools. Backward pupils, however, are welcomed to the Sunnyside school and without a doubt would prove to be not backward in such an institution. Children even from the earliest age, before they are permitted to attend public school, are accepted in Miss Fish's school. This is a new feature and has been adopted by Miss Fish at the suggestion of parents who are desirous of having their children prepared for school work before being of school age. These pre-kindergarten classes will, no doubt, be a popular feature at Sunnyside. Miss Fish has had years of experience as a grammar school teacher. She has come in contact with many model institutions and has written several treatises on the psychology of teaching. She has trained herself particularly to study a youth's emotions and then apply the proper teaching method to get the most out of that youth. Her system of teaching has been given approval by many leading educational authorities. The school is located on North Elm street near the junction of Hollister street. It may be easily reached by going east on Hollister street. The school is at the end of a piece of ground and is virtually a country location just a stone's throw from Main street. The school is conducted within Miss Fish's home. Large pleasant verandas surround the house and the spacious grounds are admirably adapted for outside study. The nearby meadows and woodlands are frequently made use of by Miss Fish's pupils for nature study. Three large, light and airy rooms are devoted to the school. Miss Fish has room for twenty pupils and fifteen will be at the school Monday when the fall term begins. Individual work desks and chairs are furnished and the school rooms have been outfitted to give the pupils all the advantages of a public school but they lack many of the disadvantages. A complete set of all the necessary books and supplies are a part of the equipment. The school day at Sunnyside Private School runs from 8:30 to 12:30. Advanced pupils are given a long study period and then return for a short time in the afternoon for recitation periods. Thus Miss Fish can give personal attention to the older students who seem to have more ability than the average pupil. Miss Fish would be glad to give parents interested an opportunity to inspect her school.

WITNESS ASKS PROTECTION.

Los Angeles, Sept. 6.—Declaring that four men in a curtained sedan attempted to stop him on a highway, Tom Harlyn, prospective defense witness in the Alexander Pantages attack case today appeared to the district attorney's office for protection. Harlyn told Deputy District Attorney James P. Costello that he recognized one of the four men in the car as a former employe of Pantages. He said the quartet tried to stop him at midnight as he was driving home.

LAKELAND DEVELOPMENT TO BE OPEN TOMORROW

Nestling at the foot of Great Hill in Portland lies Great Hill Lake a natural spring lake of eighty acres in area. This lake is unaffected by this season's drought and affords good fishing, boating and bathing. Great Hill is a State Park and just north of it is the Mesomasic State forest of 4,000 acres. The Noyes Camp of New York maintain a physical culture camp on the north end of the lake. Robert M. Reid and Son of this town are the sales managers of a new development called Lakeland located on the west side of the lake frontage, all with an excellent elevation being high and dry and on a natural slope so that each lot overlooks the water. Lakeland is easily reached, being only 3 1/2 miles from Middletown. To drive there persons should take the Portland-East Hampton highway and at Cobalt follow the direction signs to the lake. Saturday and Sunday of this week will be Inspection Days at Lakeland.

She has come in contact with many model institutions and has written several treatises on the psychology of teaching. She has trained herself particularly to study a youth's emotions and then apply the proper teaching method to get the most out of that youth. Her system of teaching has been given approval by many leading educational authorities. The school is located on North Elm street near the junction of Hollister street. It may be easily reached by going east on Hollister street. The school is at the end of a piece of ground and is virtually a country location just a stone's throw from Main street. The school is conducted within Miss Fish's home. Large pleasant verandas surround the house and the spacious grounds are admirably adapted for outside study. The nearby meadows and woodlands are frequently made use of by Miss Fish's pupils for nature study. Three large, light and airy rooms are devoted to the school. Miss Fish has room for twenty pupils and fifteen will be at the school Monday when the fall term begins. Individual work desks and chairs are furnished and the school rooms have been outfitted to give the pupils all the advantages of a public school but they lack many of the disadvantages. A complete set of all the necessary books and supplies are a part of the equipment. The school day at Sunnyside Private School runs from 8:30 to 12:30. Advanced pupils are given a long study period and then return for a short time in the afternoon for recitation periods. Thus Miss Fish can give personal attention to the older students who seem to have more ability than the average pupil. Miss Fish would be glad to give parents interested an opportunity to inspect her school.

WITNESS ASKS PROTECTION.

Los Angeles, Sept. 6.—Declaring that four men in a curtained sedan attempted to stop him on a highway, Tom Harlyn, prospective defense witness in the Alexander Pantages attack case today appeared to the district attorney's office for protection. Harlyn told Deputy District Attorney James P. Costello that he recognized one of the four men in the car as a former employe of Pantages. He said the quartet tried to stop him at midnight as he was driving home.

LAKELAND DEVELOPMENT TO BE OPEN TOMORROW

Nestling at the foot of Great Hill in Portland lies Great Hill Lake a natural spring lake of eighty acres in area. This lake is unaffected by this season's drought and affords good fishing, boating and bathing. Great Hill is a State Park and just north of it is the Mesomasic State forest of 4,000 acres. The Noyes Camp of New York maintain a physical culture camp on the north end of the lake. Robert M. Reid and Son of this town are the sales managers of a new development called Lakeland located on the west side of the lake frontage, all with an excellent elevation being high and dry and on a natural slope so that each lot overlooks the water. Lakeland is easily reached, being only 3 1/2 miles from Middletown. To drive there persons should take the Portland-East Hampton highway and at Cobalt follow the direction signs to the lake. Saturday and Sunday of this week will be Inspection Days at Lakeland.

O. K.'S ROOT PLAN

Washington, Sept. 6.—The plan conceived by Ellhu Root for American adherence to the World Court received the administration's stamp of approval today, and Secretary of State Stimson announced it would be submitted to the Senate after the fifty-odd nations that are members of the court have approved it formally.

The Root plan, Secretary Stimson said, fully meets the objections contained in the Senate's conditions: adherence more than a year ago and protects the United States against the "advisory opinions" against which the Senate protested.

It is not likely, however, there will be any Senate action for more than a year, due to the delays that will be encountered in having the plan approved by the fifty-odd other adherents to the court.

MAY SMOKE IN BED.

Union City, N. J., Sept. 6.—It is a man's sacred right to smoke a pipe while lying in bed, according to Police Judge Alfred Modarelli. He issued a ruling to this effect today when Mrs. Congetta Rizso had her husband, John, hauled before him on a charge of nocturnal bedroom puffing.

Even the vacation failed to help

WHEN they went on their vacation, they thought the rest and change would restore their health and vigor. Yet, when they returned, they were no better off than before they went away. Listlessly he went back to his business. And she wondered if she would ever regain her youthful beauty and health.

What a pity they didn't know that constipation was the cause of their unhappiness. Headaches, fatigue, bad complexions are a few of the symptoms. If allowed to continue, serious illness often occurs.

Yet there is a prompt and effective way to banish this evil. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve and prevent constipation safely.

Only ALL-BRAN gives maximum results. It is bulk that relieves constipation. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies bulk in generous quantity. In a part-bran product the amount of bulk is usually too small to be completely effective. That's why doctors recommend ALL-BRAN.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is totally different from dangerous drugs and pills whose dose must be constantly increased to be effective. It works as nature works.

A pleasant cereal. Serve with milk or cream. Delicious with fruits or honey added. Use it in cooking too. Mix it with other cereals. Try it in soups. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal. The health of the entire family can be maintained by serving ALL-BRAN in some form every day.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is sold by all grocers. Served at hotels, restaurants. On diners. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Guaranteed! Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is sold with this definite guarantee: Eat it according to directions. If it does not relieve constipation safely, we will refund the purchase price.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS!

When dresses are high, it is usually a matter of over head.

SENSE and NONSENSE

SEPTEMBER
O Blessed month, you make us glad,
You bring us many a prayed-for blessing—
You don't know what a time we've had;
This summer has been most distressing.

THE COURTEOUS CLERK
A young lady who wanted to keep up with the latest styles went into a dry goods store and called for a pair of rolled hose.

METER GOLF

A POLO GAME isn't usually played on a golf links, but it can be in letter golf.

Table with columns for P, O, L, O and rows for G, A, M, E.

THE RULES.
1—The idea of Letter Golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes.

Few men ever made much money by dealing with their friends or relatives.
The reason some ideas die quickly in some heads is because they can't stand solitary confinement.
