NOTHING TO HIDE SAYS PRESIDENT

Declares Conversations With MacDonald Are Being Carried on With Absolute Frankness.

Washington, Oct. 8.—(AP)—President Hoover said today the conversations with Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald were being carried on in an atmosphere of absolute frankness, and that "neither of us has anything to reserve."

The president's statement said: "There is nothing that I can report at the present moment on the conversations with the prime minister. These conversations are continuing in the most friendly of atmospheres. We fortunately have no controversies between our countries to be settled. We are, therefore, able to discuss our mutual problems in the long distance view and solely in the broad aspect of human welfare in the largest sense."

"Moreover, we are able to carry our conversations without circumspection and in absolute frankness with recognition of the point of view of both sides. Neither of us has anything to reserve. We have to search only for those things that will promote the increase of good will and moral solidarity between the two countries. The prime minister possesses a wealth of Scotch humor which lubricates any discussion."

"More important than all is the great evidence shown by the press and the American people of genuine friendliness to the prime minister of Great Britain and to his people. The demonstration that is in progress in itself of more importance than any incidental conclusions that we and I might come to on matters concerning our two nations."

DETROIT IS VOTING AT CITY PRIMARY

Three Cornered Race for Nomination of Mayor Is on—Little Campaigning.

Detroit, Oct. 8.—(AP)—A three-cornered contest for two nominations as mayoralty candidates on a non-partisan ticket furnishes what little interest has been shown in today's biennial city primary election. Out of a total voter registration of 428,000, the most optimistic of election officials predict a total vote of not more than 135,000.

Mayor John C. Lodge, who two years ago was elected on the platform that a candidate should not seek the office, but wait until he was called upon to serve, is opposed for renomination by former Mayor John W. Smith and Charles Bowles, who resigned a six year position on the Recorder's court bench to make the primary race.

In addition to mayoralty candidates a full city ticket also will be nominated.

Little Campaigning

What little campaigning has been done in the days preceding the balloting was confined entirely to Smith and Bowles, Mayor Lodge adhering to his policy of declining to make a speech or send out a campaign circular.

In the campaigning two years ago Mayor Lodge was regarded as the candidate of dry interests, while former Mayor Smith was credited with the backing of wet organizations. Mr. Bowles was a mayoralty candidate four years ago and at that time was declared to have the backing of a secret organization which at the time was credited with much influence in local politics.

Two charter amendments are being voted upon. One would authorize the re-districting of the city into 14 wards and the election of representatives from each of these wards to the City Council with one member at large. There now are nine members of the council chosen at large. The second charter amendment would provide for the establishment of a traffic court.

CIGARETTE PRICES GO UP

New York, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Following the price advances last week several manufacturers of popular brands of cigarettes, the United Cigar Stores Co., announced today that its cigarettes it had been selling at two packages for 25 cents, would now sell for 15 cents a package.

Announcement also was made by Philip Morris and Company, Ltd., that it had advanced the price of one of its brands from $8 to $8.40 a hundred, and another brand from $13.25 to $13.75 a thousand.

G. O. P. IN STATE STILL IN POWER

Scattered Upsets in Town Elections Do Not Change Old Situation.

By Associated Press
It was apparent today, as results of the elections held in 153 towns and three cities came in that Republicans retained the solid control they have had in most of the municipalities in this state.

Here and there administrations changed, Republican strongholds falling before the Democrats and Democrats succumbing to Republican onslaught. In only one place did the third party, the Citizens' gain control—in Bloomfield. This same party won a minority place in Wethersfield and in West Haven finished third in a vigorous three-cornered fight won by the Republicans.

For the most part the towns returned incumbent officials to office. In two of the city elections, Torrington and Norwalk went Republican, while Bristol, with a non-partisan election, returned Mayor W. Raymond Crumb. In connection with the city election, Bristol had referenda on two questions, defeating both—the question of purchase of a municipal airport and school district consolidation.

In Norwalk
In Norwalk Mayor Anson F. Keeler, Republican, opposed by Oscar P. Schultze, a Republican running on the Democratic ticket, won by the largest margin ever accorded a candidate in that city, the vote being 4,793 to 3,129.

Lieut. Colonel Ernest E. Novey, Republican, won the election of Torrington, with a vote of 3,075, against Timothy J. Lyons, Democrat endorsed by the Citizens Party, who received 2,698. The Citizens Party polled 400 votes here.

Upset in Windsor Locks
Windsor Locks Mayor Frank E. Healy, hitherto the banner Democratic town of Hartford county went Republican, due chiefly to a Democratic caucus contest.

East Hampton, hitherto Republican went Democratic. It was reported that the contest was won from the polls owing to the disappearance of Tax Collector Herbert D. Watrous, who failed of renomination at the G. O. P. caucus.

In Durham, Independent Republicans united with the Democrats and took control of that town from the Republicans.

The big question in Hartford county—the proposed Metropolitan district charter—came through, with four of the five towns which held referenda on it voting for it. West Hartford, which held a special election on the question, voted against it. The plan will be carried if Hartford approves it at the city election November 5.

Today Waterbury is holding its elections, T. Frank Hayes, Democrat, opposing Theobald E. Conway, Republican for mayor.

LINDY DISCOVERS HONDURAN RUINS

His Operator Says Party Is Over Maya Ruins Never Before Seen.

Miami, Fla., Oct. 8.—(AP)—Discovery of Maya ruins, believed never before seen by white man, was reported by the radio operator aboard Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh's plane flying in the vicinity of Lake Yaxha, British Honduras, in a message to Pan American Airways base here today.

Sends Message
After reporting the take-off from Belize on the third trip of the joint Carnegie Institution, Pan American Airways Scientific Expedition and a landing and take-off at Lake Yaxha, Radio Operator William Ehmer broke his routine message with: "Flash—We have discovered ruins—We were here yesterday night. Circling them. Scientists all set up." Ehmer promised details.

BRITISH ENVOY TAKES LEAVE OF THE WHITE HOUSE

Premier MacDonald and Daughter Go Back to Em- bassy—Leave for New York Thursday.

Washington, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and his daughter Isabel, took leave today of the President and Mrs. Hoover whose guests they have been since Saturday.

From the White House the British statesman and Miss MacDonald returned to the British Embassy, which will be their home until they leave for Philadelphia and New York Thursday en route to Canada. The President and the prime minister parted soon after breakfast. Mr. Hoover went to his office for an early conference with Secretary Stimson regarding the reply to the British invitation to attend the naval limitation conference at London in January.

After reaching the Embassy, Mr. MacDonald conferred with British officials who accompanied him to the United States and attended to an accumulation of official business. Miss MacDonald drove to the Library of Congress for an inspection of that magnificent building.

Another Conference
Before the President and premier separated, however, they had another conference. This took place after breakfast in the study on the second floor, and was a continuation of discussions of the best means of promoting world peace.

It was understood they would have a final talk tomorrow on the eve of the prime minister's departure.

No Medicine Ball
This morning Mr. Hoover omitted his usual medicine ball game on the south lawn. He and Mr. MacDonald breakfasted at an early hour.

The prime minister in an informal talk with a group of correspondents said he had "never felt fitter." He thanked the newspaper men for the way they had written about his trip and said their efforts so far had been toward the attainment of complete success for his visit.

The chief executive said since there were no controversies between the United States and Great Britain he settled at this time it was possible to carry on the talks with a prospective of the future in a broad sense.

Th two, he added, were searching for those things that would promote a good feeling between the American and British peoples.

Mr. Hoover asserted that more important than the conversations themselves was the reaction of the American people and the great friendliness they had shown to the prime minister and through him to the British people.

This evidence, the President said, also was more important than any conclusion that he and Mr. MacDonald might reach.

BLAMES AUTO DRIVER FOR HIS OWN DEATH

Evidence Showed That New London Man Was Drunk at Time of Accident.

Norwich, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Coroner E. G. McKay in a finding today held Santo Dolce, 30, of New London, who was killed when the car he was operating crashed into a bridge at Jewett City, July 4, responsible for his own death.

The coroner's report said that Dolce, under the influence of liquor was driving recklessly. Four passengers were seriously injured in the accident.

The report said that testimony showed Dolce had drunk heavily before entering the car and that the passengers had remonstrated with him because of his driving.

DIVERS SEEK BODIES

Oswego, N. Y., Oct. 8.—(AP)—Divers will be sent down to the Oswego river today in an effort to release the bodies of a man and his wife, who were believed to have been drowned when their automobile plunged from the road near lock Number 6, yesterday. Grapplers have located the machine.

Those believed to have been drowned, Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Crisafulli, left here yesterday for Syracuse and when they failed to return, search was started for them. Investigation revealed one Frank Makowski, a fisherman, had seen an automobile plunge into the river, but neglected to report the accident to police.

JAPANESE GROUP SEES SILK PLANT

Oriental in U. S. for Silk Conference Here as Guests of Cheney Bros.

Cheney Brothers' plant is being visited today by a group of twenty Japanese men who are here to attend the Second International Technical Raw Silk Conference, which will be held at the Hotel Astor beginning Tuesday, October 15th and through to Friday, November 8th. This conference will consider problems involving the production, use, grading and classification of raw silk. Delegates from Japan, China, Great Britain, Italy and this country will take part in this trade conference. Invitations have also been sent out to other technical men. The CG-212 is located and resulted in the CG-212 being put in darkness. Despite the severity of the impact and the subsequent darkness below all of the five men aboard scrambled safely to the deck. Three of the crew were thrown off their feet but escaped injury.

Towed to Pier
The CG-289 took the CG-212 in tow and brought her here, beaching her alongside the state pier just as the CG-212 sank. Personal belongings of the CG-212 crew were all lost.

Captain H. H. Wolf, commander of destroyer force and in command of the section base here today ordered an investigation of the accident. In the meantime efforts were being made to pump the water out of the CG-212 and make a temporary patch to avoid further damage to engines and equipment.

WATERBURY VOTING

Waterbury, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Early indications were for an average vote in the city election here today. T. Frank Hayes heads the Democratic ticket and Attorney Theobald E. Conway the Republican. Whereas the vote was light compared to the total in the presidential election of last year, at 10:30 this morning the figures compared favorably with those of city election of two years ago. The Republican campaign has been based on the charge that the present Democratic administration has carried the city into debt. Mayor Guilfoile, present Democratic mayor, stepped aside in favor of Mr. Hayes as the Democratic candidate.

SHORT SESSION OF VOTERS DOES BIG BUSINESS

Less Than a Hundred at An- nual Meeting as All of Se- lectmen's Recommendations Are Passed.

Business aggregating nearly one million dollars was transacted in town meeting here last night by 74 voters in 25 minutes. Exactly 53 motions were put to vote by Chairman William J. Shea without a dissenting voice responding to his call for "contrary minds." Appropriations for the town's expenses totaling about $926,000 were made as recommended by the Board of Selectmen.

Efficiently Done
The meeting was called to order by Chairman Shea who had been appointed by Election Moderator Christopher S. McFale. It opened at exactly 8:03 p. m. The 53 motions which followed were all made by Chairman John H. Hyde of the Board of Selectmen, seconded by someone sitting in a front row seat, put by Chairman Shea and voted by the voters in clocklike precision.

Howard I. Taylor was re-elected Manchester's representative on the Connecticut River Bridge Commission and the Selectmen were authorized to avail themselves of State Aid road funds. The reports of the town's officers printed in the annual town report were accepted.

The following appropriations, recommended by the Selectmen were voted: Charities, $23,000; Highways, $75,000; Oiling, $2,700; Concrete Gutters, $6,000; Walks and Curbing, $6,000; Storm Sewers, $15,000; New Bridges, $2,000; Cemeteries, $5,000; Garbage Collection, $17,000; Parks, $13,500; Str. Lights, $25,500; Police, $38,000; Schools, $390,000; Memorial Day, $750; Board of Health, $5,500; Building Inspector, $1,200; County Taxes, $13,500; State Tax, $22,500; Military Tax, $5,000.

Also District 2 stock tax $275; District 3 $175; District 4, $50; District 5, $19; District 7, $204; District 8, $700; District 9, $2500; S. M. Fire district stock tax, $2,500; Child Welfare, $2,000; Truck and Tractor, $5,000; Trade School, $4,000; Administration $11,000; Advertising and Printing, $2,000; Election Expenses, $2,000; Assessments and Collections, $11,000; Municipal and Court Building, $5,500; Miscellaneous, $4,000; Bond payment, $81,000; Interest, $90,000; Dog Tax, $2,200; Library, $2,000; Town, $2,000; $8,900; State Orders, $25.

Other Business
Seventeen policemen, the same number as last year, was authorized this year. It was voted to adjourn town meeting after the transaction of business until March 8, 1930 for the levying of a tax. The following cemetery sextons were named: East, Alexander Duncan; West, John Tresch; Northwest, Martin Kessler. The Selectmen were authorized to borrow not over $850,000 for current expenses. Two new streets, Tanner and Putnam, were accepted by the meeting. Adjournment was voted at 8:28 p. m.

DEMS. CELEBRATION WAS A BIT TOO EARLY

New Haven Election Ends in Blaze of Red Fire—Then Mistake Is Found.

West Haven, Oct. 8.—(AP)—This town in which the past few years politics have been an all year game town meeting day yesterday proved to be about as lively an occasion as old timers could recall, and it ended in a blaze of red fire, prematurely started by Democrats under impression that they had won the office of first selectmen. But some one counting the figures had given Curtis Thompson, Democratic nominee 200 more votes than he had and when Moderator Arthur B. O'Keefe had questioned the returns from the Allingtown section the error was corrected and John W. Curran, Republican, was found to have won by 174 votes.

The campaign for weeks was the most intense the town has known, and for a time many party members were unable to decide how they would line up. Frank Alling, former first selectman, ran on a citizens ticket but he was 700 votes behind Thompson.

This is the home town of John F. Lynch, several times member of the House and House chairman of the committee on cities and boroughs.

EHMKE OPPOSES ROOT ON MOUND

Mack Upsets Dope of Experts by Failing to Name Earnshaw, Grove or Quinn for Opening Assignment; Crowd of Over 50,000 Jams Wrigley Field; Root Fans Haas and Simmons in First Inning.

BY ALLAN J. GOULD

Wrigley Field, Chicago, Oct. 8.—(AP)—In weather more suited to football than baseball, with a cold breeze whipping through the park, the Cubs and Athletics battled today in the first game of the 1929 world series.

The home field of the National League champions was filled to its estimated capacity of 50,000 fans bundled in furs and overcoats for the opening struggle between two of the most colorful clubs in baseball.

It was a duel of right handers at the gateway, but the veteran Connie Mack sprung a surprise by selecting his 35-year-old veteran, Howard Ehmke, to oppose Charley Root. Joe McCarthy's choice.

Fast Ball Star
Root is the National League's leading finger, but Ehmke has not been among the A's regular writers at any stage of the season, acting mostly in a relief role and pitching only about a half dozen complete games. He was chosen in preference to George Earnshaw and Lefty Grove, fast ball stars who had been figured as likely to get the call.

Mack crossed up the experts still further by sending Rube Walberg, big southpaw, to the bull pen for a warm-up and possible call to the rescue.

Both teams put their full strength on the field for the first battle, Al Miller starting for the A's in spite of a heavy cold.

There was a big contrast in the rival pitching styles as they warmed up. Ehmke tried both side-arm and underhand stuff while Root confined himself to the more orthodox overhand delivery. The vast crowd thronged with bared heads as the national anthem was played, the field cleared for action.

With a mighty roar the first game got under way.

First Inning.

ATHLETICS—Bishop up; Strike one. Foul, strike two. Ball one. Ball two. Bishop grounded to Grimm and was out at first, unassisted. Haas up—Ball one. Foul, strike one. Ball two. Strike two. Haas swung hard but missed by a wide margin. Strike three. Haas struck out on a curved ball over the inside corner. Cochrane up—Strike one. It was a fast ball through the center of the plate. Ball one. Ball two. It was a curve ball outside. Foul, strike two. Cochrane swung hard and just tipped the ball. Ball three. It was a low pitch over the bat. The fourth pitch was low and outside. Simmons up—Strike one, called. Root threw to first. He threw again. Ball one, outside. Strike two, called. It was over the outside corner. Strike three. Simmons struck out, swinging at the third strike. No runs, no hits, no errors, one left on base.

CUBS—McMillan up; Ball one, inside. Strike one, called. Ball two, outside. Ehmke was using a slow curve. Foul, strike two. The ball went into the stands. McMillan fouled out to Cochrane, who caught the ball half way to third base. English up—Strike one, called. It was an outcurve. Ball one, outside. Ball two, inside and low. English beat out a hit to short, which was deflected by Ehmke's glove. Boley threw, but too late. Hornsby up—Ehmke threw a couple of balls before pitching to Hornsby to see if his hand had been hurt. Strike one, called. Hornsby filed to Miller near the right field stands. Wilson up—He filed to Miller in short right field. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left on base.

Before the Cloude
Crisp, somewhat cloudy autumn weather, a brass band and those perennial baseball comedians, Nick Altrock and Al Schacht, greeted the crowd that poured into Wrigley Field for the opening game of the world's series.

After semi-riotous conditions outside the park for several hours, the bleacher section was opened up and nearly filled to their limits of 15,000 inside an hour. By 11:30 o'clock, two hours before the game, all of the dollar space was filled. There seemed no doubt the park would be occupied to its limits of about 50,000.

MACK'S CHOICE

Howard Ehmke

From Drowning, At Sea," with Al spouting like a whale as he "swam" across center field to the aid of the helpless Nick.

The fans needed some diversion to help keep them warm. The weather was cool enough for overcoats and furs, better suited for drop kicks than base hits.

There was no shift in the Cub's choice of Charley Root to pitch the opening game, but secrecy still veiled the starting moundman of the Athletics.

Al Miller, the A's veteran right fielder and one of the heaviest stickers was still suffering from a heavy cold.

His condition was not improved over night, apparently, but the early prospect was that he would hold down his regular post nevertheless.

Pitching Question
The late dope from the Philadelphia feed box that Howard Ehmke, the lean right hander might be a last minute pitching choice, instead of either George Earnshaw, Lefty Grove or Jack Quinn, the box man most frequently mentioned in the big guessing contest.

"It all depends on how they look warming up," said one of the A's coaches before the game started.

Although they had nothing to worry about, several hundreds of reserved or box seat ticket holders in the grand stand were on their feet by noon. All the standing room in the stands, confined to the rear aisles, was sold to the extent of about 3,000 customers an hour and a half before the game.

Cubs Take Field
The Cubs, led by their silver haired coach, Jimmy Burke, came on the field at 11:45. The bleachers roared a welcome to their favorites and the photographers massed for immediate action.

The National League Champions were attired in bright new uniforms. The monogram on the shirt was changed to show a cub figure inside the "C". Just as it used to be in the days of "peerless" Frank Chance's team.

This uniform, however, was not enough to frighten the A's of 19 years ago and there was no manifestation of alarm today among Connie Mack's charges, who remained faithful for the series.

The Bruins were full of pepper and fidgety as they warmed up. Hack Wilson and Rogers Hornsby, two of the big guns, showed that hitting was the main thing on their minds by grabbing bats at once and indulging in bunting practice.

The first sign of the A's was when the bat boy brought out their war clubs to be lined up in front of the dugout by way of sending greetings cards to the Cubs.

The crowd let out a yell when Norman McMillan, lead off man, cracked one against the left field wall on the first ball pitched to him by Mike Cvetengro, little southpaw, in batting practice. The Cubs were taking no chances of not having their eyes sharpened.

Rommel Faces A's
The Cubs spent a half hour altogether batting against Cvetengro and then switched to an attack on the right handed Hank Gramp, king of the bull pen boys.

George H. Ruth, well known "reporter," appeared in the Athletics dugout attired in natty brown suit and immediately drew attention away from the rival players.

The babe expressed regret at not being able to go into action after participating in six of the last eight series. He cast an American League ballot for the A's.

WARNED NOT TO USE 4321 UNDUPLY

Fire Chief Explains Why Emergency Call Should Be Reserved for Alarms.

Dial 4321—or if the number slips your work call the operator—when, in your judgment a fire is small enough to be handled by one company. But remember, don't use the emergency call for anything but fires.

Such was the gist of the talk given by Chief Albert Foy of the South Manchester Fire Department before the Lions Club at the Hotel Sheridan last night. He also recited the history of the department from its beginning until now and told about the alarm system and work of the companies.

Chief Foy said that too much stress can not be laid on the educating of the town's citizens in the proper use of the fire alarm boxes and the still alarm.

Use Wire Neatly With the inauguration of the dial system a special sort of trouble has developed. People insist on using the emergency call, which rings a special bell, even to talk on the most commonplace of matters.

On the other hand when there is a fire they call on the regular hose company telephone and, what's more, call the company with which some one of their acquaintance is connected, no matter how far from the scene of the fire this company is located.

The advice given as to calling 4321 does not involve abandoning the use of the fire alarm boxes.

Chief Foy cited one of many instances where the still alarm call was improperly made: A telephone call to Hose Company No. 1, notified them of a fire. This call was made on the hose company's own line.

Before responding Hose Company No. 1 had to make the emergency call, notifying the other companies that it was answering. If the emergency number, 4321, had been given in the first place it would have saved a great deal of time, and time is the prime factor in the curbing of all fires.

Advantage of System The advantage of the special emergency system is that four companies are connected with it. If a call is sent through for, say, No. 1, and No. 1 is known to be out on a fire, another company will take the call.

There is a space on the latest telephone book where the fire emergency call may be placed to insure a quick call. Should some obstacle arise, the call may be put through by dialing "operator" who will give the emergency call.

Chief Foy will speak to the pupils of the Green school at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and at the high school assembly on Thursday afternoon, in conjunction with Fire Prevention Week. His subject will be "Know Your Fire Department."

C. N. G. SOLDIERS GET NEW UNIFORMS TONIGHT

Issue to Howitzer Company Will Begin at 6:30—Standing Collar Disappears.

The Howitzer company, 169th Infantry, C. N. G., is going to look like a million dollars any time it turns out after 6:30 this evening, for at that hour the issue of new uniforms to its members will begin at the State Armory. Incidentally this is pay check night.

Naturally the company is due for full ranks tonight. The new uniform, conforming to the change in United States army models, possesses one characteristic altogether revolutionary—the historic standing collar is done away with. Instead, the blouse is fitted with a rolling collar. The color of the uniform is olive drab and the material is a good grade of melton.

The tailoring is much better than that in the uniforms used in recent years, which have been a surplus with stock the way of things in a war time. The ensignia, heretofore worn on the standing collar, is now attached to the lapel.

The first appearance of the Manchester companies in the new dress will probably be on Armistice day.

PUBLIC RECORDS

There was little time lost in getting the sale of the schools by Cheney Brothers to the town on the records of the town of Manchester as at 11:15 this morning they were received and stamped.

DeMOLAY CHAPTER INSTALLS OFFICERS

Sherwood House Given Past Master's Jewel—Rockville Boy Heads Chapter.

Installation of the newly elected officers of John Mather Chapter, Masonic Temple, last night with George Nelson, past master counselor; Sherwood House, past marshal; and William "Dad" Walsh, as the installing officers.

A past masters jewel was presented to Sherwood House by "Dad" Walsh on behalf of the chapter. A ways and means committee was appointed consisting of William Davis, John Thomson, James Wilson, Fred Tilden, and Charles Morgan. Sherwood House was named Masonic secretary and James Wilson publicity manager.

The officers installed were Carlton Walters of Rockville, master counselor; Russell Moore, senior counselor; Charles Morgan, senior deacon; Warren Markham, junior deacon; Wesley Leroy Warnock, senior steward; Robert Davies, sentinel; Thomas Corder, chaplain; Leonard Bjorkman, standard bearer; Bruce Fuller, orator; David McConkey, almoner; Carle Cubberly, John Thomson, George Potterton, William Davis, Roger Markham, James Coles, H. Brown.

The meeting was formally closed by the newly installed master counselor.

TWO STEAM SHOVELS STALLED AT BOLTON

The New Haven Construction Company, which is building the new state road from Manchester to Bolton, is having plenty of difficulty. Not only did a blast of dynamite jar loose a big section of rock ledge and disrupt train traffic for several hours yesterday, but two large steam shovels were also temporarily put out of action.

One became mired in the mud when it left the road to turn around just east of the concrete bridge at the North. The other toppled over in climbing the steep unused old roadway north of the cut through which the railroad tracks run. The shovel had been brought to this precarious position in effort to remove the tons of rock which slid off the ledge into the gully onto the tracks.

The crew worked last evening in getting all of the rock off the rails but efforts to get the shovels out of the position into which they had slid was without results at dark last night. This morning the struggle was still on, still another steam shovel being employed.

BRITISH ACTORS PLAN A UNION ORGANIZATION

London, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Hundreds of British actors and actresses from the highest paid stars to the least important back row hoofers got together today and passed a resolution in favor of an efficient and powerful actors' organization for England, based on the principles of the American Actors' Equity Association.

After a speech by John Emerson, president of Equity, who described how his organization protected actors in America, the crowd cheered lustily. The British thespians offered their thanks when Emerson showered his services and Equity's influence form the British organization.

Suggestions were made by leaders of the Stage Guild and of the Actor's Association, which are now separate and conflicting groups, to abandon both these organizations and start all over again with a British Equity founded on the American Equity as a model.

A joint meeting of the councils of the guild and of the association, together with delegates from the rank and file of actors, was proposed.

BRING MANY CHARGES AGAINST AN ACTRESS

Hartford, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Edith Wright, 20, who does specialty numbers in Earl Carroll's "Vantiles," now playing at Parsons theater here, was arrested this forenoon by Policeman Walter Abel after an automobile chase through the city's business section. The young actress, who says she is the wife of Sydney Kraus of New Haven, publicity director of an automatic traffic signal corporation, is held on charges of passing an automatic signal, operating an automobile without a license, failing to have the car properly registered, evading responsibility and having a loaded revolver in her possession without a permit.

She was held under bonds of $100, the bail being furnished by a member of her company. Her automobile, an expensive coupe, was taken from her and will probably be held until her case is disposed of in Police Court tomorrow.

MRS. LONGWORTH VISITS CAPITAL

Washington, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, whose absence from the capital during the visit of Prime Minister MacDonald has prompted some comment in social circles, was in Washington today for what she described as a very short visit.

She said she returned "in the middle of last night" and would leave "probably today or tomorrow." She said she did not intend to take part in any social entertainments, explaining her home here was not open. To further questioning she replied: "I never give interviews."

REMODEL PURNELL BLOCK FOR GROCERY

Economy Company Leases Space from G. E. Keith; To Buy from Cheneys.

George E. Keith, owner of the Purnell block at Main street and Purnell Place, today announced plans for remodeling of the block to provide a large store for the Economy Grocery Company. The present tenants of the block, Alfred Grezel and G. E. Keith Furniture Company branch store, will leave the block as soon as the work of reconstruction begins.

New Plans. An architect is at present completing the plans for the remodeling and work will be started as soon as the plans are ready. The present stairway to the second floor of the block will be removed and a new one constructed at the south side along Purnell Place. A large 30 foot front store will be built to provide space for the new Economy store. This will leave an 18 foot front store available for rent.

Grezel to Move. Alfred Grezel, whose lease has expired and who could not renew it because of the Economy store plans, will move his business to the warehouse on Purnell Place owned by the Keith Company. This warehouse will be refitted to meet the needs of the Grezel store. The G. E. Keith Company's branch furniture store will be merged with the main store at Main and School streets.

To Buy Cheney Building. Mr. Keith also announced today that he has completed arrangements for the purchase of the block in which the main store of the Keith company is now located at Main and School streets. This building is owned by Cheney Brothers and the Keith Company lease expires in 1931. The purchase of the building by Keith's will be completed within a few days.

ABOUT TOWN

Mrs. Joseph Sullivan of Fairview street was surprised yesterday afternoon by a party of her friends, in honor of her birthday. The ladies brought with them the requisites for a dainty luncheon and pretty gifts for Mrs. Sullivan.

St. Margaret's Circle, Daughters of Isabella will hold its regular meeting in the K. of C. clubroom in the State theater building this evening at 8 o'clock. A large turnout of the members is hoped for as among other important business matters, the election of officers for the coming year will take place.

Manchester Camp, Royal Neighbors, followed its meeting in the hall with a setback party at which the winners of first prizes were Mrs. Daniel Griffin and Daniel Wright, second, Mrs. Jolly and Fred Trobridge, consolation, Mrs. William Schindler and James Murphy. A drawing for the gold piece was held and the lucky number was 01071, Mr. Dillon, 114 Maple street. At the close of the games, doughnuts, sandwiches and coffee were served. It was announced last night that the neighbors will fill a hope chest, to be drawn December 16th.

State police are making things unhappy for those Bolton persons who are reputed to be selling liquor. They are popping around more often than usual with search warrants and coming at unannounced times. Saturday night when they took occasion to make evening calls on several residents whom they have met before but this time none of the visits disclosed proof of liquor selling.

Mrs. Margaret J. Berry of 18 Knox street is leaving Manchester on Thursday and will make her home with her daughter, Mrs. Samuel McKee in North Adams, Mass.

Mrs. William Ferrett of 62 Russell street and daughter, Mrs. Helen F. Graham and granddaughter Ruth of 1115 Main street, returned Sunday night from a three months' visit with relatives in Scotland.

Henry L. Berry, of 18 Knox street and Miss Margaret Kroeger of Hudson, Mass., will be married on Thursday in the Little Church Around the Corner, New York. After their return from a honeymoon to be spent in Washington, D. C., they will make their home in the Central Apartments. The prospective bride and bridegroom are both employed by Cheney Brothers.

Temple Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star will meet tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock for its usual business session in the Masonic Temple.

Members of the Ladies Aid Society of the South Methodist church are arranging for a rummage sale to be conducted at the store at 810 Main street on October 31.

Teachers of the intermediate department of the South Methodist Sunday school under the leadership of Mrs. Rossa Brookings will serve the supper tonight for the Sunday school board meeting this evening at both Methodist churches. A moderate charge will be made and the meal will be ready at 6:30. Rev. Oliver Bell will speak on the intermediate and senior department work, Mrs. Bell, the junior and Miss Walker beginners and primary department.

The Connecticut Council of Congregational women will meet in the Asylum Avenue Congregational church, Hartford, Thursday. Sessions will begin at 10:30 a. m. and the meetings will be open to all women of this denomination.

WIRTALLAS TO OPEN SCHOOL ON SATURDAY

Dancing Classes in Orange Hall Begin This Week; Latest Steps.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Wirtalla have mailed announcements today to their patrons, to the effect that the Wirtalla School of Dancing will open Saturday for its eighth consecutive season. The children's entertainment resumed at Orange hall on Saturday from 1:30 to 5:30 p. m. Both beginners and the advanced classes in aesthetic, toe and ballroom dancing will receive instruction during the afternoon. Those desiring private lessons may arrange for them by dialing 5287.

Mr. and Mrs. Wirtalla keep up to the minute with the latest stage and ball room hits for children and adults. New fox-trots this year include the Breakaway and Kidy Vallee fox-trot.

BUCKLAND P. T. A. IN FIRST MEETING

The first fall business meeting of the Buckland Parent-Teacher association held last night at the school assembly hall was well attended. It was voted to hold a Christmas sale and Mrs. Andrew Healy was appointed general chairman of a committee which will work in conjunction with the standing Ways and Means committee. It was also decided to resume the regular fortnightly public whists, the first one to be held Monday evening, and to purchase a new supply of chairs, tables and cards for these socials. Entertainment numbers were provided by Eunice and Neal Case who sang duets and solos; Warren and Beaton Case who played saxophone and cornet duets, Joseph Quish and John Johnson also gave solos, with Mr. Quish at the piano. The standing social committee served homemade cake and punch at the close of the program.

GREAT BRITAIN INVITES JAPAN TO PEACE PARLEY

Tokio, Oct. 3.—(AP)—The British invitation to Japan to participate in a five-power naval conference was published here tonight after its receipt by the foreign office. The invitation, which is approximately a thousand words in length, reviews the Anglo-American conversations in which it was stated agreement had been reached on the following:

- (1) The Kellogg pact is the starting point of the agreement.
(2) Anglo-American parity of all naval categories shall be reached by the end of 1936.
(3) The desirability to reconsider the battleship replacement program of the Washington treaty of 1922 with a view to diminishing the amount of replacement construction therein implied.
(4) Total abolition of submarines subject to conference with other naval powers.

BRITISH BOOZE PROBE

London, Oct. 3.—(AP)—After appointment of the royal commission to investigate the liquor question in England, a similar commission has been appointed for Scotland. The liquor laws of the two countries vary. Scotland already has a measure of local option.

The Scottish commission, under chairmanship of Lord Mackay, one of the Senators of the College of Justice in Scotland, will operate on much the same lines as the English commission. The personnel consists of divergent callings and presumably of equally divergent views on the questions to be considered.

John Dewar, for instance, is a director of a famous distillery; Rev. John Harry Miller is a former moderator of the United Free Church and Mrs. Forrester-Paton is a daughter of the famous jurist, Lord Shaw.

CENSUS BUREAU REPORT

Washington, Oct. 3.—(AP)—The Census Bureau announced today 5,905,650 running bales of cotton of the growth of 1929, including 169,507 round bales, counted as half bales, had been ginned prior to Oct. 1.

DON'T MISS EVANS' SERIES ANALYSIS

Former Major League Umpire to Write Articles on Games of World Series.

In addition to the complete and detailed Associated Press coverage of the World Series, The Herald will furnish its readers with articles by Billy Evans, former Major League umpire, who is still very active in the baseball world, being general manager of the Cleveland American League club. His advance stories on the series have appeared daily in The Herald during the past week or more and no doubt his opinions on the games will be eagerly sought by many Manchester readers. No man connected with baseball is better qualified to analyze the chances of the opposing teams or to give the "inside dope" on each game. Evans has written the Athletics to win but he is not the kind of a man to be prejudiced by a prediction.

NAZARENE REVIVALS TO START TONIGHT

A series of revival services will begin this evening at the Church of the Nazarene, with Rev. A. E. Carey of Beacon, N. Y., as the evangelist. The meeting will continue for two weeks, and will be held every evening at 7:30 except Saturday.

Rev. Carey comes to the local church for the first time, highly recommended. He has spent ten years in evangelistic work, a portion of that time with the Salvation Army. He has been recalled to New Haven for the third time, Everett, Mass., and other places.

A cordial invitation is extended by Pastor E. T. French and the officials of the Nazarene church to all interested to attend these revival services.

OPENING STOCKS

New York, Oct. 3.—(AP)—Irregularity cropped out at the opening of the Stock Market today, but price trends generally continued upward.

Johns Manville was a strong spot, selling up 2 3/4 points, while Motor products gained 2. Issues mounting 1 to 1 1/2 point included Dupont, Studebaker, American Water Works, Purity Bakersies, May Department Stores and Hudson Manhattan.

Irregularity became more pronounced as the morning wore on. Profit taking on yesterday's advances was marked. Uncertainty as to the Federal Reserve brokerage loan showing tomorrow, despite hopes and indications of a substantial reduction at last, and uneasiness over the possibility that a huge amount of support stock bought last week may be hanging over the market, facilitated bullish operations against leading issues.

Such stock as United States Steel, General Motors, General Electric, North American Co., Columbia Gas, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Simmons, International Nickel, and American and foreign Power lost from one 1/2 to 2 points during the first half hour. Montgomery Ward dropped 3 1/2 points.

Bullish operations in some of yesterday's favorites were pressed forward, however. Air reduction opened 12 3/4 points higher, and Eastman Kodak, National Biscuit, and Ingersoll Rand mounted a point or so to new high ground. U. S. Industrial Alcohol, Loose Wiles and Worthington Pump mounted 2 points or more, and gains of a point or so were recorded by New York Central, Rock Island, Paramount, Warner Brothers, General American Tank, Pullman, International Harvester, United Aircraft and Otis and Ludlum Steels.

Foreign exchanges opened barely steady, with sterling cables a shade lower at 44.85 3/16.

D. A. R. MEMBERS GOING TO NORWICH

Orford Parish Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution has received an invitation from Fifth Trumbull Chapter of Norwich, to attend the 36th annual state meeting of the Connecticut Daughters on Thursday, October 17. The meeting will take place in the Masonic Temple, corner of Washington and Sachem streets. The morning session will open at 11 o'clock with the formal entry of the national and state officers and guests. The afternoon session will convene at 2:15 after which the officers, guests and speakers will receive informally. Tea will be served by the hostess chapter.

Orford Parish members who desire tickets are urged to notify the regent, Mrs. Lucius Foster, or Mrs. Gertrude Purnell before October 12. It is hoped a large number will go as Norwich is accessible by bus, auto or train. Luncheon for all those who attend will be served in the banquet room at the temple at a reasonable cover charge.

Mr. Carr, a student from Berkeley Divinity School, New Haven, officiated at the morning service at St. Peter's Episcopal church on Sunday. He made the trip to and from New Haven by motor. At the last meeting of the Young Women's Club, held at the home of Miss Helen Rathbun, the following officers were chosen for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Claude W. Jones; vice-president, Miss Clara Ellis; secretary, Mrs. Carroll Hutchison; treasurer, Mrs. Edmund Hurd. The business meeting took all the time usually given to a program. Twenty members were present. Mrs. Ina Pratt has returned from her visit of several weeks in Vermont. She is spending a few days this week at her country place here after which she will close it for the winter and return to Waterbury with her daughter, Mrs. Earl Cross. Mrs. Francis H. Waldo is recovering from a severe cold which kept her in bed for several days. Mrs. Louise Blume is spending some time in New York as the guest of friends. Miss Clarissa Lord and several of her friends from Storrs College attended the Storrs-Wesleyan football game on Saturday at Wesleyan. There was no school at Hebron Center on Monday, as the teachers took their visiting day at that time. Frank Porter of Amston will give a dance at Amston hall Friday evening. This will be the first dance in the hall since the building containing the hall and the Amston store was moved from its place near the railroad station over to the main road. Miss Thelma Cummings was leader of the Christian Endeavor meeting Sunday evening at Hebron Center, with the topic, "Ideals Worth Living For." There was the usual consecration meeting roll call. Professors at the school claim that they are immune to such advances. "All our co-eds are beautiful, so no one has a better chance than others," one professor is said to have remarked.

NEW EXPERIMENT BY UNIVERSITY

Johns Hopkins to Dedicate Chair of Chemistry on Friday. By OSCAR LEIDING. Baltimore, Oct. 8-(AP)-An unprecedented five-year experiment of national scope, the schooling of nine "Ambassadors of progress in Chemistry" will begin officially Friday at Johns Hopkins University. The experiment is attributed to the importance chemistry has attained since the beginning of the century as a science that is creating a new world of industry.

To the nine, first of a group of 19 to be selected for scholarship, personality, and enthusiastic curiosity for the mysteries of chemistry, four years of training will be given to equip them as leaders in chemical progress. The fellowships were given by 11 industrial concerns, two foundations, and three individuals. Each appointee will receive $1,000 a year throughout the training period and will be free at the end to enter upon a teaching or industrial career. To Dedicate Chair. Friday's event will be marked by the dedication of the Francis P. Garvan chair of chemical education, established to provide for the new fellowship project which ultimately may reach every state in the union. Invited leaders in the rapidly ex-

MOST AUTO ACCIDENTS "FRONT-SIDE" TYPE

State Motor Vehicle Department Reveals Statistics About Crashes Today. One in every four automobile accidents is the result of the collision of the front of one vehicle with the side of another, a study made by the State Motor Vehicle Department reveals. The total of "front-against-side" accidents is almost as great as the combined totals of head-on, rear-end, side-swipe and backing accidents.

More than one fourth of the motor vehicle accidents in 1928 of all kinds, were of the front-against-side type. In a study of 18,000 accidents, which were all purely collisions of one moving motor vehicle with another and with no other object directly involved, it was found that 7,935, or almost half were front-against-side. There were 1,278 head-on collisions, 4,734 rear-end, 1,868 side-swipes, and 639 caused by careless backing. Three fourths of the crashes in which the sides of cars figured, other than in sideswiping accidents, were at street or road intersections. About five-sixths occurred in clear weather. Less than half were at night or during the hours of darkness. A total of 2,912 persons were injured in these 7,935 accidents. The recklessness of one or more of the operators involved was the chief cause of most of the accidents. This recklessness took many forms, the survey shows. There were many cases of intoxication, driving too fast for conditions, cutting in, cutting corners, failure to grant right of way, inattention, following too

WHEN A CHILD IS FEVERISH, CROSS, UPSET

Colic, gas, sour belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, in babies and children, generally show food is soured in the little digestive tract. When these symptoms appear, give Baby a teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Add it to the first bottle of food in the morning. Older children should be given a tablespoonful in a glass of water. This will comfort the child-make his stomach and bowels easy. In five minutes he will be comfortable, happy. It will sweep the bowels free of all sour, indigestible food. It opens the bowels in constipation, colic, children's ailments. Children take it readily because it is palatable, pleasant-tasting. Learn its many uses for mother and child. Write for the interesting book, "Useful Information" Address: The Phillips Co., 117 Hudson St., N. Y. It will be sent FREE. In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co. and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875.

WOULD NULLIFY ACT

Washington, Oct. 8-(P)-The move to make liquor purchasers liable to prosecution as prohibition violators, was described today by the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment as one which would "nullify" the Eighteenth Amendment. That view set forth in a statement by Henry H. Curran, president of the association, commenting on the bill introduced by Senator Shepard, Democrat, Texas, to declare buyers equally guilty with manufacturers or sellers of liquor. "The place to put a prohibition of purchase is in the Eighteenth Amendment, after which it will be time enough to talk about putting it into the Volstead Act," Curran asserted. "Congress left it out of the Eighteenth Amendment deliberately. Congress cannot put it into the Volstead Act now without nullifying the amendment on which the Volstead Act is based."

That Brutal Overseer Roasts in Hades! AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED. Wise legislation has halted the ancient prejudice that dictated the exploitation of child labor for selfish gain. Guided by AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE it has routed greed. No longer are little children forced into slavery.

"toasting did it" - Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes - Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos. YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended - "It's Toasted." "TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way. Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING" - LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process - removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women. "It's toasted" - the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos - the Cream of the Crop - are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260° - maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

TODAY IS THE ANNIVERSARY

CHICAGO'S GREAT FIRE. On October 8, 1871, Mrs. O'Leary's cow kicked over the kerosene lamp that started Chicago's great fire. The cow barn in which the fire originated was on De Koven street, near the corner of Jefferson, on the west side of the river. This region was composed largely of shanties and the fire spread rapidly very soon crossing the river to the south side and fastening on that part of the city which contained nearly all the leading business houses. Fanned by a gale, the fire raged uncontrolled for two days and nights, sweeping over 2100 acres, destroying 17,450 buildings and causing 200 deaths. The amount of the total property loss was estimated at $200,000,000. Of this vast sum about half was covered by insurance, but under the tremendous losses many of the insurance companies were forced to the wall, and the victims of the conflagration recovered only about one-fifth of their aggregate losses.

HERE IS FULL TEXT OF PREMIER'S SPEECH

Washington, Oct. 8.—(AP)—The text of Premier MacDonald's address made to the senate yesterday follows:

"Mr. President, and Senators: I cannot say that these walls are familiar to me. I have been here before, but when I sat in one of those galleries, having been brought here under the wing of the late Senator Hoar, destiny never whispered to me that one day, before I ceased from troubling, should stand as I stand here and now facing you and receiving your good will and honor.

"I do not know what I can say, Mr. President, but you are overburdening me with your kind and your good wishes. The only thing that I feel is who have I been so long in coming over.

"There are two functions that the Prime Minister of Great Britain fills. The first, he is the leader of his party, and he is the head of a party government. But there is a second function, far more important than that.

Represents Nation
"He represents his nation. He leads not only his party but the House of Commons itself. In the second capacity, Mr. President, I have come here in the second capacity because deep down in my heart there is a conviction that nothing will ever remove that many misunderstandings, small but so deplorably effective, that have been growing up and existing between us do not belong to the substance of things, but belong to the appearance of substance; and I have come, full of faith, to try to reduce misunderstandings to substance, because I know when that can be done the misunderstandings will be completely chased away.

Moment in History
"I have come in consequence of one great event that I believe will stand up like a monument in history. The event was the signing of the pact of peace in Paris—the pact of peace which the construction of which America played such a magnificent and such an honorable part.

"America united with France, Mr. Kellogg alongside of M. Briand, gave the world that renewed hope and renewed energy, which is encouraging us to gird our loins together with more determination than ever before and pursue the path of peace.

"Where do I find the great difference that the signature of that pact has made? It is this: you signed it; we signed it; other nations signed it. Did they mean, when they put their names, or the names of their representatives, at the bottom of that pact—did they mean it to be merely an expression on paper, or did they mean it to be a guiding idea in policy? We mean it to be a guiding idea in policy.

"Speakers in our country and speakers in your country innumerable, have said that war between the United States and Great Britain is unthinkable. My friends—excuse the lapse; Senators: (I saw in a paper the other day that an enthusiastic Senator had also forgotten how precisely to address a committee in the same way that I have done). What has happened, and what has made the great change in the prospects of peace, is this—that up to now a proclamation has never been made solemnly, with all the dignity, with all the authority and with all the backing that can be given when governments and the representatives of two governments made it. I think, Senators of the United States, that declaration can now be made.

"There can be no war; nay, more: it is absolutely impossible, if you and we do our duty in making the peace pact effective, that any section of our arms, whether land or sea or air, can ever again come into hostile conflict.

"Think upon that when we face many of our own problems—problems of jealousy, problems of fear, problems that the young and rising and successful generation put into the hearts of the old generation. They all disappear and in their place the fact they have disappeared we have met together, and we have said, 'what is all this bother about parity?' Parity? take it, without reserve, heaped up and flowing over. That was the only condition under which competitive armaments could be stopped, and we could create a public psychology which could pursue the fruitful and successful avenues of peaceful cooperation.

PLEASANT RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION
Shoulders droop under weight of years. Young, yet beauty has fled. Cheeks are sallow and drawn. Unpleasant pimples. Keep your system clean and you keep the beauty of youth in its energy. Its irresistible charm. Then life is not a failure. Clogged bowels and inactive liver cause poisons to seep through the system. Health vanished and with it beauty and energy. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets will help save you from this dark hour. For 20 years they have been prescribed in place of calomel to men and women seeking health and freedom from constipation. They act easily and smoothly. No dangerous gripping. Take nightly before retiring. Results will amaze you.

Thousands of men and women would never be without Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, a vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color. 15c 30c and 60c. All druggists.

Results of Visit
"That is one of the results of this visit. Another result of the visit is that we have come to understand each other. Ah, senators! as long as you conduct your negotiations by correspondence over thousands of miles of sea, you will never understand each other at all. In these democratic days, when heart speaks to heart as deep speaks to deep, and silence talks to silence, personality, personal contact, exchange of views by the lip, sitting at two sides of a fireplace, is it my great privilege to do this week end with your President—these things are to be as important as anything else in laying the foundation of an enduring peace all over the world.

"I did not mean, really to deliver you a speech. I am afraid that my remarks are rather developing into that. I really wanted to thank you—to thank you as the representative Senators of this great country and this wonderful people—for your kindness and for your hospitality. But I must say that building up of those ideas you and I, meeting together here today, must remember the tremendous contributions that have been made by other people. We are not out for any exclusive alliance. You would reject it. So should I.

"In the old days, when two peoples used to talk together, all the other peoples used to put their hands up to their ears and say 'What are they saying?' They must be conspiring against us.' That was the spirit of war, and that spirit must be extirpated. In these days, when two nations talk together, it ought to give hope and confidence to the other nations of the world, especially when neither of those nations—neither you nor we—will form any exclusive alliances directed against the existence or the interests of any other nations or group of nations on the face of the earth.

"Our idea is the free, open, intellectually and spiritually attracted cooperation of friends. We are not a criminal conspiracy to protect each other against policemen.

Union of Cooperation
"We are a union of cooperation, a body—I doubt if there is the exact word in our English language—a cooperation, at any rate, of nations coming together, discussing together, discussing together, living the open life, in order that their exchange of views, their common action, sometimes they conflict opinion—why not? Conflict of opinion is a cooperar in the cause of peace when sane and honest men express contrary opinions, in order that that sort of combination, that sort of cooperation—I do not like the word 'combination'—that sort of cooperation, that sort of free, heroic man, that might be established not only between you and myself, not only between your country and my country, and all the other civilized and honest countries under the face of the sun.

Praises Briand
"And we must pay our tribute to two great men who have helped on this work: first of all, M. Briand, that gay, general, happy, humorous, eloquent man whose whole life has been devoted to the promotion of the cause of peace; and another, an old friend of mine, to praise whom, alas, at this moment is to lay a wreath upon his tomb—Gustav Stresemann.

"Many a story could I tell you, many a picture could I paint to you, standing surrounded by emity, not only abroad, but at home, determined to play a perfectly straight game, determined to carry into practice the proverb that he who does not respect himself is respected by nobody else.

"I would think I might, here on this platform of the Senate, in this way, paying my tribute to my dear friend, regard it as laying a wreath on his tomb.

"Thank you—thank you very much indeed—for the hearty reception you have given me, and the patient way in which you have listened to me."

My Favorite Bible Passage

Today's Choice by ARTHUR CLAPPER U. S. Senator From Kansas

THE BEATTITUDES
Blessed are the poor in spirit: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted. Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth. Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness; for they shall be filled. Blessed are the merciful: for they shall obtain mercy. Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God. Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God. Blessed are they which are per-

A THOUGHT

If an offense come out of the truth, better is it that the offense come, than the truth to be concealed.—St. Jerome.

I therefore beseech you that you walk.....with all lowliness and meekness, with long suffering.

scuted for righteousness' sake: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven. Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely for My sake.

Rejoice, and be exceeding glad: for great is your reward in heaven: for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you.—Matthew 5:3-13.

THE LORD'S PRAYER
Our Father which art in heaven, hallowed by Thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done, as in heaven, so on earth. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our sins; for we also forgive every one that is indebted to us. And lead us not into temptation; but deliver us from evil.—Luke 11:1-4.

MYSTICISM
 With surprising frequency the words "mystic" and "mysticism" have appeared, within the last few days, in press comment both here and abroad concerning Ramsay MacDonald and his American visit. There is nothing derogatory about these expressions, necessarily, but there is the possible seed of considerable misunderstanding.

If to have an inner feeling that one is a part of the vast power of creation as well as a product of that power, and thus to experience at all times a peculiar sense of responsibility toward existence, be mysticism, then it is probable enough that Ramsay MacDonald can quite properly be described as a mystic. What man, or woman worth his or her salt can not?

But some of the writers who are so freely using these terms seem to have a hazy impression that the quality of mysticism in a statesman must necessarily indicate some measure of futility, some factor of weakness. From the way some of them employ the terms in connection with MacDonald one might almost suppose that they carried the implication that he was a "bit soft" for all his gifts of political genius.

Self-identification with the universal mastership and the universal responsibility which some call God and some call Destiny has been characteristic in greater or less degree of almost every really great leader of men that the world has ever known. It is what makes individuals like Hoover and MacDonald seek earnestly for world peace. The lack of it is what makes brainy individuals like Shearer seek for money profit even at the risk of international slaughter.

Of course MacDonald is something of a mystic. He couldn't even be a whole man, let alone a great one, otherwise.

THE BLIND WEEK
 When will European sovereigns, prime ministers and tip-top celebrities of all sorts learn that there is a closed season for excitement over them in the United States and to time their visits so that they will not be utterly drenched, squashed and otherwise obliterated by a World Series?

'To be sure, Mr. MacDonald beat the opening date under the wire by a neck, so to speak, and had the privilege of a few days of public attention. But if he had led all the European premiers and half a dozen kings and queens down the dog-plank today hardly anybody would have noticed the procession.

This is the toughest week in the year for anything to happen and get itself known about. Nothing counts but McCarthy's Cubs and Mack's Athletics. Every newspaper staff in the country works under the curse of a grouch, knowing full well that battle, murder and sudden death are as futile in commanding the interest of their readers as a reprint of last year's almanac. Excepting of course the sports department.

A past masters jewel was presented to Sherwood House by "Dad" Walsh on behalf of the chapter. A ways and means committee was appointed consisting of William Davis, John Thomson, James Wilson, Fred Tilden, and Charles Morgan. Sherwood House was named financial secretary and James Wilson publicity manager.

The officers installed were Carlton Walthers of Rockville, master counselor; Russell Moore, senior counselor; Charles Morgan, senior deacon; Warren Markham, junior deacon; Wesley Leroy Warnock, senior steward; Robert Davies, sentinel; Thomas Cordner, chaplain; Leonard Bjorkman, standard bearer; Bruce Johnson, financial secretary.

When a group of men undertake to shut off the food supply of a huge city and its environs as a lever with which to gain certain advantages to themselves they engage in an attack on the entire population for which it is difficult to find the slightest excuse.

We know absolutely nothing about the justice of the truck drivers' claim for shorter hours and more pay for overtime and it doesn't seem to us as though the justice or injustice of their demands had much to do with the main question at issue. That question seems to be whether, under any conceivable circumstances, the handlers of the people's food supply have any right to conspire together to withhold it. We don't believe they have such a right, morally, even in the slightest degree. This kind of a strike is as heartless and as wicked as aggressive war.

SUPPORT DILIGENCE
 It seems a little odd that in the annual election in a town of considerably more than 20,000 people the only contest that furnishes material for speculation after it is over should be one for the office of constable, but the fact that Constable James Duffy ran far ahead of his Democratic ticket presents just such a case. It indicates very truly the tendency on the part of Manchester voters as a whole to recognize diligence and capacity in public office, whether the job be a big one or a small one. Because he has been diligent Mr. Duffy has made a good many political enemies who set out to punish him for his efficiency. Quite a determined effort was made among his own party to defeat him, and there is no question that a good many Democrats cut him at the polls. However, the raid became known and excited the interest of enough Republican voters so that the votes they gave him not only compensated for the cuts but landed him high at the top among the Democratic candidates.

The significance of this lies in the readiness of voters here to give their support to officials who do their job well and faithfully.

IN NEW YORK
 New York, Oct. 8.—Manhattan's "rags to riches" romances would fill several libraries and involve more plots than the late Mr. Alger could ever have dreamed.

To rectify even a fraction of those who chinned themselves out of poverty and obscurity, would be to publish a cross section of America's "who's who." Just take, for instance—

Charley Schwab, the steel magnate, was working in Andy Carnegie's stables once upon a time.

John J. Raskob, who has gone rather far with the DuPonts, was a $7.50 stenographer, supporting a widowed mother just before he took the job which headed him for millions.

Samuel Segal, the lock king, was a policeman who got the bright idea for his invention by noting how easy it was for a burglar to pick the old-fashioned locks.

Heinz of "57 varieties" fame, was struggling along when one day, while dabbling along with a mixture, he spilled some sugar on pickles and thus started the sweet pickle vogue.

Irin Cobb was 16 years old when the Cobb family fortune was wiped out and, instead of the legal education he had expected, the humorist had to go to work, as a comic artist on a home town paper in Kentucky.

William C. Durant was a poor country lad in Michigan, who got his first job in a mill in Coldwater when a passing ruralite gave him a lift.

Or, to get closer to the big men of Manhattan—David Saranoff, head of Radio Corporation, was an immigrant lad from Russia whose father died when he was 15, leaving him with a mother to support. His first job was that of a messenger at $5 a week.

It was this messenger's job that first steered the Saranoff interest in the direction of telegraph machines.

William Fox ran a five-cent theater in the Broadway belt. His father acted as ticket taker and old-timers can remember both of them sitting at the theater front bewailing the bad business.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUCHER
 Washington, Oct. 8.—Two new American labor movements have emerged out of the past summer.

One is the Conference for Progressive Labor Action and the other is the Trade Union Unity League. Each represents a movement of protest against the present conservative tendencies of the American Federation of Labor, but while the Conference for Progressive Labor Action is a group of labor progressives who say they desire to revitalize the American labor movement, the T. U. U. L. is a more radical trade union federation under the leadership of William Z. Foster.

Both groups accuse the A. F. of L. of failing to meet the machine age problems of labor, such as technological unemployment, the speed-up system, old age unemployment and various bad labor conditions which have become intensified in certain industries.

Seeks a Five-Day Week
 The Unity League, which convened recently at Cleveland with 700 delegates and a new Department of Justice operatives on hand, will work militantly for a seven-hour day and a five-day week, according to Foster. There is nothing quite new or especially radical in this program and it is interesting to note that labor leaders are seeking these shorter working weeks and days so that there may be enough leisure to go around rather than for the reason that labor wants more leisure. For the same reason, the T. U. U. L. announces its aim of slowing down speed-up systems everywhere, so that more workers may be employed in attaining the required production.

There are supposed to be 200,000 more coal miners than the industry can economically support, but the Unity League would keep them in the industry and provide work and wages for them.

Aggressive organizing campaigns are planned for the automobile, shoe, steel, packing, railroad, rubber and metal industries.

However, one may view the chances of success of any new labor movement led by Foster, the Communist, the work of the Conference for Progressive Labor Action has been attracting widespread and thoughtful interest. This group stands somewhere between labor's left wing and the right wing A. F. of L. chairman is A. J. Muste, head of the Brookwood Labor College, who has announced sweeping plans to fight the "new capitalism."

The C. P. L. A. hopes that bold, energetic organization work will win over millions of workers to trade unionism and it looks forward to a new solidarity and idealism among the labor class. Speakers at its recent four-day session at Brookwood outlined their aims along with their plaint against the A. F. of L.

It was charged that the southern textile field, the best testing place for militant labor action, had found the A. F. of L. completely unprepared to deal with its challenge. The A. F. of L. speakers, had lacked program, funds or willingness to provide adequate funds, and had had to turn over the task of strike leading to persons with no official position in the labor movement.

Muste sees a definite trend toward progress action in the ranks of labor.

"No progress has been made in organization basic industries," he says. "In politics, due to failure to organize a Labor Party, the unions are without a Labor Militant Again."

"But we have reached a turning point. The post-war period marked by brutal attacks upon labor by open shoppers, subtle undermining of organized labor by company union and welfare schemes, and the rate ranks of organized labor itself by internal conflict, stagnation, repression, and defeatism is being liquidated."

WATKINS BROTHERS' 55th ANNIVERSARY

The COTTAGE
 refurnished for the event.

HUNDREDS each year journey to Watkins Brothers to visit the model home, "The Cottage." These model rooms, one of the first groups to be built into a store anywhere, excepting in a few of the largest New York and Chicago stores, constantly presents the latest ideas in home decorating. It is part of Watkins Service.

This Fall our New York stylists advise us that Georgia, Queen Anne, Provincial and Tudor periods are in most demand throughout the country. So our decorators have evolved a scheme of decorating which includes a living room of Georgian pieces, a Queen Anne dining room, and bedrooms in Provincial and Tudor periods!

An inspection of "The Cottage" alone would well reward a visit to Watkins Brothers during the 55th Anniversary Celebration, but the special Anniversary values, available throughout the store make a visit now doubly worth while!

Dial 4321—or if the number slips your mind call the operator—when in your judgment a fire is small enough to be handled by one company. But remember, don't use the emergency call for anything but fires.

Such was the gist of the talk given by Chief Albert Foy of the South Manchester Fire Department before the Lions Club at the Hotel Sheridan last night. He also recounted the history of the department from its beginning until now and told about the alarm system and work of the companies.

Chief Foy said that too much stress can not be laid on the educating of the town's citizens in the proper use of the fire alarm boxes and how to make his presence unobtrusively felt. He is a terrible bully, a furious fighter, and would drive out the native game birds or kill them off—so the gunners say and it is probably quite true.

So there is little to find fault with in the sport of the pheasant hunter. He and his wife dog tramp the woods and the fields, drink in the fine fall air, feed their souls—both of them—on the beauties and odors and magic stillness of the distant places. And maybe, between the two of them they'll bring home a cock pheasant, possibly two—no more, for that is the law. They will have destroyed nothing that the gunner didn't, in effect, create. They will be utilizing one of nature's gifts to the sustenance of mankind—for a roast pheasant is something to shut your eyes and cry tears of joy over.

George E. Keith, owner of the Purnell block at Main street and Purnell Place, today announced plans for remodeling of the block to provide a large store for the Economy Grocery Company. The present tenants of the block, Alfred Grezel and G. E. Keith Furniture Company branch store, will leave the block as soon as the work of reconstruction begins.

New Plans.
 An architect is at present completing the plans for the remodeling and work will be started as soon as the plans are ready. The present stairway to the second floor of the block will be removed and a new one constructed at the south side along Purnell Place. A large 30 foot front porch will be erected on the east side.

Not so many years ago Samuel Goldwyn was Samuel Goldfish. He was associated with Selwyn. To get a trade name for their industry they combined the two surnames and made it Goldwyn. When Samuel reached Hollywood he took the name. Selwyn is said to have protested somewhat.

Whereupon Goldwyn turned to him and said: "Well, Ed, if you want you can take what's left of the name. I took the Gold and the Wyn. You can have the Sel and the Fish."

Which, as you will note, would have made selfish.

 Vine Poisoning
 Question: Mrs. H. writes: "I have read in newspapers that being subject to Ivy poison was merely a matter of diet, and with the proper diet, immunity from this poison could be brought about. Is this true, and if so where could I learn this diet?"

Answer:—Live on a diet free from bad food combinations and you will be able to build up your blood carbonate reserve so as to resist the invasion of the vine poison. The weekly menus published in this column should be sufficient to accomplish this for the average person.

Baby's Diet
 Question: Mrs. I. O. J. asks: "Is oatmeal a sufficient food for a baby one year old? If not, what is a good diet without milk?"

Answer:—A baby one year of age should have only milk and oatmeal. Cereals should not be added to the milk should be cooked, leafy vegetables, finally the milk and vegetables being used at some of the meals, and proteins to the greens at other times when the milk should be left out.

HOLLAND MAY GET SETTLEMENTS BANK

European Institute to Go to Neutral Nation—Britain Seeks It.

Baden-Baden, Germany, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Two of the seven countries participating in the conference on the Bank for International Settlements have thrown their hats into the ring for bringing the bank to their respective capitals—Great Britain and the Netherlands.

Swedish in Field. Yesterday's arrival of Ivan Ruth, director of the Swedish State bank, started rumors that he was bidding for Stockholm, but he has denied this.

Germany's Hopes. It is understood that the German delegation in Berlin will not be suggested in case of a deadlock for although favoring the widest possible activities for the new bank, they do not believe it should be domiciled in Germany, fearing that German public opinion would regard the bank as a foreign control measure perpetuating supervision of her economic affairs.

However, it is stated that no country as yet has officially invited the conference to establish the bank within its confines.

TOLLAND

An organ recital and dedication of the new electric organ was held Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Federated church. The dedicatory remarks were fittingly presented by Rev. William C. LOCAL PEOPLE SEE STRICKLAND PLAY

"Thunder in the Air," Directed by F. Cowles Strickland of This Town Seen by TAYLORS.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Taylor of Henry street and sons, Allan and Russell, have returned after an eight-day motor tour to Atlantic City, Washington, D. C., and other places of interest. While in Atlantic City they attended the initial performance there of "Thunder in the Air," the new three-act drama by Robins Miller. This war play was one of the most successful of the series staged by F. Cowles Strickland in this town the past season at the Berkshire Playhouse in Stockbridge, Mass., and was chosen for a run in New York City this winter. Cecilia Loftus, celebrated actress, plays a prominent part. Miss Loftus was given an ovation when she appeared on the stage of the Apollo theater. Jeannette Sherwin, and a strong cast of rising actors and actresses fill the other roles. The local people had an opportunity to congratulate Mr. Strickland on the artistic performance. He explained that the Atlantic City presentation was under auspices of the Dramatic League of Chicago and that the cast would play Chicago before opening up in New York. Mr. Strickland's name appeared in large type on the billboards as well as on the programs, and press notices of the play in Atlantic City papers were complimentary. The Taylors also renewed acquaintance with Miss Rachel Miller, who with her mother and sister, Miss Catherine Miller, all formerly of this place, have been residing in Atlantic City for several years.

Athletics Enter The World Series Slight Favorites

Plitt Leads Bon Ami Team With 403 Mark

Town Champions Batted .310; Nine Players Over .300; Team Won 16 of 23 Games.

The Bon Ami town baseball champions, won 16 of its 23 games during the 1929 season which came to a close last Sunday with the first defeat the team had suffered in 19 days. After winning the first game of its schedule, the soap makers dropped the next three, after which they rode roughshod over all opposition until the final game of the season—a record of which any team could feel proud. The Bon Ami is planning a banquet for a week from Saturday.

Emil Plitt, third baseman, led the town champions at the bat, with an average of over 400. Jack Godek, the pitching ace of the team, Captain Jack Hunt, the shortstop and Charlie Kebart, outfielder, were next in line. Exactly nine members of the team managed to stay in the 300 class and the team's average was 310. Godek led in extra base hits with four home runs, two triples and four doubles. The batting averages, leaders in extra base hits, sacrifice hits and the team record follows:

HIS SPEECH RETURNS

Durham, England.—James Richardson, who lost his voice in the World War, had it restored to him in an odd way. He was walking across the street when a motorcycle bore down on him. He jumped and at the same time cried, "That was a close one." He thus found his voice and proceeded to sing all his favorite songs to convince himself.

WATER TRAFFIC COP

Berlin. On Wamsee, a famous lake near here, a traffic cop rules steamers and pleasure boats that ply its waters. He is dressed in a rubber suit, inflated belt and propels himself to his station in the water with paddles. He also uses his paddles to give signals.

SPEEDY CUYLER IS SERIES ASSET

Kiki Cuyler is easily the speed merchant of the Cubs as well as the rest of the National League. At the opening of the season he set his stolen base mark at 35. He passed that figure and has stolen three times as many bases as any other member of the Chicago club.

While stolen bases do not play as important a part as in the days of the less lively ball, still in a world series they often are a deciding factor. Safety first ball is usually the rule in the seven-game series and the steal or sacrifice is invariably resorted to in an effort to get a one-run edge. In the 1925 series Max Carey's speed on the bases was one of the chief factors why the Pirates beat Washington for the title. This will be the third world series in which Cuyler has shared.

LOOK TO MALONE AND EARNSHAW

It is the consensus of the experts that Pat Malone of Chicago and George Earnshaw of the Athletics have the best chances of being the pitching heroes of the approaching series. Malone, a big right-hander, with a sweeping side arm delivery, is a pitcher of almost exactly the same style as George Fippas of the Yankees. All summer Pigras has been poison to the Mackmen. Earnshaw, on the other hand, is a near replica of "Dazzy" Vance, who has usually made the Cubs look ridiculous with his dazzling speed and sharp breaking curve. If the series goes the limit, it wouldn't surprise if Earnshaw started three games for Philadelphia. He has a reputation to do it, being a glutton for work.

Hero or Goat?

Hack Wilson Has Much to Live Down in World Series

It is doubtful if any player in the 1929 series will be the cynosure of more eyes than Hack Wilson of the Chicago Cubs, easily the most colorful athlete in the lineup of either team. True, Lefty Grove will come in for a lot of consideration, as will Rogers Hornsby, Jimmy Fox, Al Simmons and Kiki Cuyler, but the player whom the fans will want pointed out more than all others, will be the irrefragable Hack.

This year, aside from making home runs in a pinch, he was as much in the limelight through his pugilistic punch, as the one he totes with his bat. For further information on this subject, please confer with either Ray Kolp or Pat Donohue of the Cincinnati Reds. Both were knocked out in one punch by Hack without even the formality of a count.

Will Hack Wilson rise to the occasion and be the hero of the series? His last world series experience was not too pleasant. As a matter of fact he came mighty close to being the goat of the 1924 event. His batting average in the seven games of the 1924 clash between the Giants and Washington was only .233. He was the most struck-out man of the entire series, whiffing no less than nine times.

Walter Johnson made Wilson look bad in that series, using a fast ball, letter high, on the inside of the plate. His only extra base hit of the series was a double. Hack has much to live down.

Henry Ford and Gene Tunney wrote pieces for the new encyclopedia. Both have pronounced views about peace.

Intimate Sketches

CONNIE MACK.

After 15 years, the patience of Connie Mack has finally been rewarded with a pennant. . . . Winning the world championship for the Chicago Cubs would leave nothing to be desired. . . . Back in 1914, Mack led one of the greatest teams of all time to an American League championship. . . . Pitted against the Boston Braves in the world series, his team was a heavy favorite. . . . Many of the critics picked the Mackmen to take the title in four straight games. . . . That year provided the greatest upset in the history of world series play. . . . Instead of the Mackmen winning in four straight games, it was the Braves who turned the trick. . . . It was a great blow to Mack, as on form there was no comparison between the two clubs. . . . Mack decided his team of stars had been together too long and decided to break up his pennant winning combination. . . . No manager ever did such a thing but Mack had the courage of his convictions. . . . He sold most of his stars and started to build over again. . . . It has been a long trail over the 15 years of experimenting necessary to get together his present champs. . . . Mack is a manager of the different type for he is like a father to his boys. . . . Never leaves the bench but slides all over it during the progress of a close game. . . . Directs most of the strategy from the dugout and uses his score card as the medium through which he wigs wags his signals. . . . Rumor has it he will retire if successful in beating the Cubs. . . . Eddie Collins is certain to be his successor.

JOE MCCARTHY.

Joe McCarthy, resourceful manager of the Chicago Cubs, has done in four years what many managers would fail to accomplish during a lifetime. . . . Came to the majors from the minors, where he had always been indefinitely very successful. . . . Didn't have much of a team left him and started immediately to rebuild by getting rid of the dead wood and supplementing it with new timber. . . . Early in his career was called upon to make a drastic decision that many thought might abruptly end his career. . . . His star pitcher was Grover Cleveland Alexander. . . . It seems that McCarthy soon discovered that Alexander didn't take his orders seriously and was rather lax as to training. . . . One day the wires carried the story that Alexander had been indefinitely suspended. . . . It took nerve for a bush leaguer to give the gate to the star of his team. . . . However, that is just the kind of a manager McCarthy is. . . . He later announced that he and Alexander didn't fit on the same team and that either one would have to go. . . . Alexander was later sent to St. Louis and McCarthy stayed. . . . That act established McCarthy with his players, for they realized he was going to run the team and brook no opposition. . . . Is a fighter of the old school, never knows when he is licked and has inspired his club with the same spirit. . . . You can give much of the credit for the Cubs' great showing to Joe McCarthy and not be far from being absolutely correct.

AGREE ON SPECIAL RULES FOR SERIES

Chicago, Oct. 8.—(AP)—All questions of baseball rules interpretation were resolved on Monday before the start of play in the first game of the World Series today and instructions issued to govern the umpires. There will be no "quick returns" by pitchers and umpires will discontinue the balls before putting them in play, both in Chicago and Philadelphia.

Conditions in the two playing fields cause one change. At Chicago if a pitched ball strikes the backstop or screen in front of the stand a base runner will be permitted to advance only one base. In Philadelphia if such a ball strikes the backstop or screen in front of the stand and remains within the field of play, a base runner may advance as many bases as he can make.

A ball going into the stands or a dugout when thrown to first or third by a pitcher in an effort to catch a base runner, is not to be considered a foul ball. If a fairly batted ball bounds into a stand on foul territory it will be a two base hit.

The rules as to interference with batted balls by spectators also were clarified.

She uses a brush clamped between her teeth to create beautiful figures on scarfs, canvas, and dresses. She does this work in spite of the fact that there is no hope for her recovery.

OVER 2,000 FANS BRAVE THE NIGHT STANDING IN LINE

Baseball's Bread Line Formed Early Yesterday; Cots and Boxes Sell High.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Weary-eyed, weary-legged fans—some certain of success, others merely hopeful, approximately 2,000 baseball fans today awoke and stretched, or happily insisted that a chemical analysis of Duco would prove that there was nothing injurious about its contents, but Dwyer said he was from Missouri. He let it be known that the North End had learned long ago that it never paid to take the work of the South End in football—and vice-versa, for that matter.

But Pete was so sure that Mr. Duco was entirely innocent and that he wouldn't harm anybody for the world, he offered to let a doctor slit his arm and Jack could dab the cut with as much Duco as he saw fit. Dwyer discarded this solution as being any proof, claiming that Pete's 100 per cent proof blood was the experiment tried on some other member of his club and when objection was again raised, offered to scrape the paint for the town series.

Dwyer, however, contended that it would be impossible to remove enough of the Duco to entirely eliminate the danger. It was at this stage of the argument that Pete decided to play his ace. He had been guilty of re-nigging (Hose Henshaw's experiment) long that he realized it was about time he took the spotlight.

"I'll tell you, Jack," Pete said as a smile broke from all points on his globe, "we're not worrying much about the Majors and don't expect about the Majors and don't expect anything, so long as you are really afraid of our green shoes and head-gears, we'll wear tassel caps and sneaks."

The waiting line for the first game provided the usual opportunities for enterprising business minds. Boxes were sold for $1 each while the rental fee for cots was as high as $5 for the night. Vendors of food and coffee, did business in a big way, and hoped for fair weather and another harvest tonight.

Optimist who came to Chicago hoping that money could help them to obtain tickets were out of luck, for the scalpers had sold what few tickets they could locate.

The A's still were the money favorites, although little wagering was being done. Connie Mack's American League champions were quoted at 11 to 10.

Herald Bowling League Forms With Ten Teams

Play Starts Next Monday Night at Farr's, Bronke's and Conran's; Eight on Team.

Final plans were perfected last night for the fourth annual Herald Bowling League which swings into action next Monday evening. Eight teams have definitely entered and two more are expected to fall in line during the hectic world series week.

Teams already entered are the Nighthawks, Majors, Herald, Senators, West Sides, Charter Oaks, Center Church and British Americans with the Knofia Brothers and Keiths planning to fall in line.

It was voted last night to roll the matches on three different alley establishments, namely Bronke's, Farr's and Conran's. Four teams will roll at each of the first two named and two at the latter. The schedule for next Monday finds the Center Church and British-Americans and the Senators and Night Hawks meeting at Bronke's; the Majors and Herald, and Keiths and Knofias at Farr's; with the Charter Oaks and West Sides clashing at Conran's.

It was voted that a man must roll at least 70 per cent of the games to be eligible for a prize and that he must roll the last two nights. Eight team captains are to report their lists to Secretary Joe Canale together with the ten dollar forfeit fee next Monday night.

CUBS' HOT DOG BOSS ARRESTED

Jealous of Independent "Barkers," Lewis Tries to Give Them "Bum's Rush."

Chicago, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Bob Lewis, traveling secretary of the Chicago Cubs, spent half an hour in jail early today all on account of hot dogs.

Lewis and Ray Kneip, hot dog concessionaire at Wrigley Field, were arrested by a policeman who asserted they were threatening independent hot dog "barkers" vending the invigorating frankfurters to the thousands of persons lined up outside the ball park waiting for bleacher seats.

Lewis and Kneip were booked for disorderly conduct and released on their own $25 bonds.

Ernest Cashman, said to be a club employe, was arrested for striking one of the independent vendors with a baseball bat and released on $25 bail.

Local Sport Chatter

Here goes for better or worse — we like the chances of the Athletics in the World Series. And if we're wrong, well, it won't be the first time.

Don't forget that Manchester High opens its home football season at Bristol High at the West Side gridiron next Saturday afternoon.

A letter from our old friend Elmo Mantelli is at hand. He says he enjoys Holy Cross very much. Adds that he wouldn't be surprised if O'Connell, star halfback on the Holy Cross team, rates All-America this season.

The C. B. Girls' A. A. bowling leagues—senior and junior divisions—swing into action this evening at Bronke's and Farr's alleys. Con Connelley's outfit also swings into action tonight.

The Cubs meet the Wallingford Eagles at Mt. Nebo next Sunday while the Majors tackle the Irish-Americans of Springfield at Hickey's Grove.

It wouldn't be a bad idea if the managers of the Cubs and Majors would get together and make arrangements for their annual series so that John Public can jot down the dates and plan his daily schedule accordingly.

There is some talk in the Cubs' camp to the effect that it will be winner-take-all this year or nothing, but this idea will no doubt fade into one with more common sense as the weeks of the season pass on.

The fans don't care a darn what the terms are, so long as the series is played. The town championship football struggle has become an annual classic here that attracts thousands of fans. It would be a shame to see it fall by the boards through the arguments of the managers. Furthermore, it would just about ruin the sport in Manchester.

McKENNIE WITH BRAVES

Chicago, Oct. 8.—(AP)—William "Fighting Bill" McKennie transferred to the St. Louis Cardinals to accept a four year managerial contract with the Boston Braves.

Desiring more of a settled managerial career in the "Big Show," McKennie turned down a one-year renewal of his present contract with the Cardinals to take the helm of the Boston club.

TRADITIONAL GAMES DUE NEXT SATURDAY

New York, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Three rivalries, dating back to 1904 or earlier will be renewed this Saturday for the edification of eastern college football fans.

What the Syracuse-Nebraska and Navy-Notre Dame will take a major share of general public interest there will be plenty left for Pittsburgh's tangle with West Virginia; Princeton's duel with Brown; and N. Y. U.'s battle with Fordham.

There are a number of other inter-sectional games of less import on the program with Yale traveling south to play Georgia; Swarthmore meeting Virginia; Michigan State meeting Penna.; Davidson taking the field against Army and St. Louis playing Georgetown.

Close games are in prospect in the meetings of Rutgers and Holy Cross and Villa Nova and Boston College.

SERIES ENTRIES MATCHED AT BAT

Seldom in the history of the world series have two hard-hitting aggregations like the Cubs and Athletics met in a world style of play of the two clubs is almost identical in every department.

Each club will go into the series with a healthy average hovering around the 300 mark. This means the pitchers will have their work cut out for them. On the whole, the slugging of the Athletics appears a trifle more sustained. Four players on the Chicago club, Wilson, Stephenson, Cuyler and Hornsby, carry the burden, while six of the Athletics are mighty dangerous with a hot bat.

Frank Chance Has Passed Away With Others and Collins Is Only Player of Previous Series Back In Togs.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—(AP)—Connie Mack, a bit grayer, as lean as ever, younger and even more tactician, today came back to Chicago 19 years to take up a baseball quarrel with Cubs where he left it 1910. On his second world series visit, the manager of Philadelphia's Athletics brought a new club, with an exception, only Eddie Collins surviving the change of the years. Today he found a lot of strange Cubs to oppose his invasion of the west.

When Connie Mack last led his White Elephants into the stronghold of the Cubs, Joe McCarthy, the pleasant visaged manager of the current edition of the Chicago National was young man of 22, playing utility roles in the minors. For that matter, the crafty Connie was then a mere stripling of 48.

Time has taken its toll of ball players. Today there are no world series in Chicago. Frank Chance, the "peerless leader," the big bear of the Cubs of 1910, is dead, as are several of the stars of the Cubs and Athletics of that day.

Even the ball game is changed. The Athletics made their bid 19 years ago on the West Side. Now their base hits must be made on the North Side.

Eddie Collins, a star of the former series, in this one, his seventh, but he will use his mental equipment more than the physical. The best captain of the A's can hope for in the way of a personal appearance is of pinch hitter.

On his renewal of the ancient baseball feud, the 67 year old leader of the A's finds foemen worthy of his steel. Then he was able to subdue the Cub in "four out of five" in the early afternoon, not willing to suggest and support their convictions with their money, that this series will be in full force after five games have been played.

Although the Athletics entered the series slightly favorites there seemed at the last minute little to choose between them. Champions both, they were eager and ready and no suggestion arose as to the course of the game.

Charley Grimm, disabled captain of the Cubs, had returned to the battlefield and was pronounced fit. Bing Miller, swarthy rightfielder of the A's was a minor casualty, suffering from a cold, but he was ready to play.

All the "big shots" and the dark horses too awaited only the opportunity to go out and justify the faith of their wildly excited fan following.

The Cubs put a fine edge on their batting eyes with an extended drill yesterday afternoon. The A's, reaching the scene of the opening battle in the early afternoon, did not go near Wrigley Field.

There was unanimous agreement on the Cubs' pitching selection. Charlie Root was elected by acclamation. Root, a fastball pitcher with a heavy arm, is something of a bellwether among the Cub fingers. His name was at the top of his league this year.

More mystery shrouded the Philadelphia choice. Only one man knew and he would not talk. Connie Mack remained firm in a previous announcement that the nominee and the world would know about the same time when he says "just before the game time to one of his stars," "you're it."

In the rifle speculation three names names figured. George Earnshaw, big fellow with a world of speed and good curve, leading pitcher of the club in the game; Jack Quinn, veteran of veterans, somewhere in the neighborhood of 50 years of age, an artist whose repertoire includes a splitter and slow ball and Bob Grove, a left-handed pitcher with a fast ball.

YOUNG BURGLARS SHOT BY OFFICER

Surprises Them as They Try to Rob Apartment House; One May Die.

New York, Oct. 8.—(AP)—A Brooklyn policeman, Theby Feltenstein, caught three youthful burglars early today after a battle in which he had to shoot two of them. One perhaps mortally.

He noticed the trio loitering about an apartment and trailed them to a house and store in Saratoga avenue, which two of them entered, leaving a lookout outside. Feltenstein surprised the sentry, Victor Berlin, aged 16, and turned him over to a special officer who happened to be passing. Giving the unarmed special officer his nightstick, Feltenstein slipped into the house and crawled up the airshaft just as the pair were tearing off an iron bar to a window.

Hurl Bar At Top
The bar was hurled at him, narrowly missing his head.

Feltenstein then opened fire and his shots felled both. Harry Becker, aged 17, will probably die. The other prisoner, Nathan Solomon, 18 years old, was struck twice in the body.

WAPPING

The three act comedy drama, entitled "Nancy Anna Brown's Folks," which was presented by the Burrill Grange Dramatic Club, of New Britain, under the auspices of the Wapping Grange Fair, proved to be exceptionally good. Every one of the fourteen actors doing their part perfectly well. There was a very large audience, and everyone spoke very highly of the players. Homemade candy, ice cream and soda were sold and dancing was enjoyed after the play.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Geer and baby were guests at the home of their parents here Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Geers, last week for a few days, and also of Mr. and Mrs. Walter N. Batten.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Oakes and children, who have been living in the lower tenement of Fred Drakes house, moved last Friday afternoon to the tenement of Will Felts on Felts Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Payne have moved away from the place also.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Strong and children of Hartford; were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Collins.

NEW GOLD RUSH ON

Wallace, Idaho, Oct. 8.—(AP)—A gold rush that had all the color and glamor of the early day stampedes into the wealthy Couer D'Alene region, was in progress to new "diggings" in this region today.

The announcement of an old sourdough, John Stout one of the first to "get in" 35 years ago, that he had discovered outcroppings which assayed more than $2,500 a ton in gold, $211 in silver and $3.8m copper, started the stampede to the North Fork river country, over which thousands of men trekked in the earlier rush. The "bonanza" was believed to be about 25 miles north of Prichard.

NINE FEED ON EGG
Nashua, N. H.—Benson's Wild Animal Farm recently fed nine employees on a single egg. But the egg wasn't the product of a hen.

It was an ostrich egg which measures between six and seven inches in diameter. It was received from the Detroit Zoo and was served as an omelet.

EACH TEAM HAS 3 SLAB ACES

It has been an accepted belief in baseball that if a team has three pitchers capable of winning 20 games each, that club has a mighty good look-in for the pennant. The twirling staffs of the Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia Athletics have lived up to that tradition this year. Mack's three aces, Grove, Walberg and Earnshaw, have won more than 60 games for the Athletics while Malone, Root and Bush have turned practically the same trick for the Cubs. Ninety or more wins usually make any team a strong contender. While winning better than 60 games, the Cub and Athletic trio have turned in quite a strikeout performance. Mack's twirlers have struck out close to 400 men in that time while the Cubs' three have whiffed a few better than 300.

LOS ANGELES IS OFF ON TRAINING FLIGHT

U. S. Navy Dirigible to Cruise Over New York City and Philadelphia.

Lakehurst, N. J., Oct. 8.—(AP)—The U. S. Navy dirigible Los Angeles took off from the naval air station here at 8:30 a. m., today on the second of a series of training flights.

Lieutenant Commander H. V. Wiley, master of the airship, announced his intention of cruising over New York City and Philadelphia and returning to the station at sundown.

Aboard the ship were 12 officers, 31 crew, eight student officers and four passengers including R. D. Horn of New York; Dr. T. E. Eldridge, president of the Aero Club of Pennsylvania and S. A. Oyen of the Dollar Steamship Company.

The Los Angeles returned from an eight hour flight at 6:10 and as soon as the members of the crew had eaten breakfast went aloft again.

COPPED THE PRIZE
A crowd was telling tales. They were becoming more and more incredible, and at last only two racers were left.

Said one of them: "When I left New York last month, a fellow dived in off the harbor and followed the liner all the way over, arriving at Southampton five minutes ahead of us."

And the last man said, with a nod: "He's right. It was me."—Tit-Bits.

"COCONUTS" ENDS RUN AT THE STATE TONIGHT

"The Last of Mrs. Cheyney" on Double Feature Program Starting Tomorrow.

Today affords the last opportunity of seeing those funny Marx Brothers in the laugh riot "The Cocoanuts." Few pictures ever shown in the city have struck such a responsive chord as has "The Cocoanuts." Be sure and see it tonight, as it positively closes at the State tonight.

In line with the new season's policy of showing only the biggest and best pictures the market produces, the management announces an all talking double-feature program for Wednesday and Thursday that is the same of art and entertainment in perfect blend. Norma Shearer will be seen and heard in a screen adaptation of Frederick Lonsdale's famous stage play "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney." In the title role, Miss Shearer clinches her hold on stellar talking screen honors. When she made her vocal debut in "The Trial of Mary Dugan" she convinced critics that she more than merited the laudatory prophesies voiced by her producers, in this, her second dialogue appearance, she amply retains her confidence and Miss Shearer is ably supported by an excellent cast which includes Basil Rathbone, Cyril Chadwick, Hedda Hopper and Moon Carroll.

The co-feature presents Edward Everett Horton in the funniest story of the race-track ever written, "The Hottentot." Sam Harrington feared horses. Peggy Fairfax talked, dreamed and played horses. She did everything but eat them. Sam loved Peggy, so they compromised. Sam rode the Hottentot, four-legged dynamite, and then the real fun begins. Horton is supported by a marvelous cast headed by Patzy Ruth Miller and Edmund Breeze.

Germany during the period of occupation and has had Salvation Army duties to exact in England, Ireland, Scotland and Canada.

Mr. McCabe last year built a new house on Russell street which he now occupies. His wife was Miss Annie Turkington before their marriage. She is a sister of the famous Turkington Sisters who made doughnuts for the doughboys overseas. They have two boys attending the Lincoln school here. Mr. McCabe was born and brought up here, is a graduate of the local schools and the Connecticut Business College and his work since that time has been in the general secretarial field. He will assume his new office here on November 1.

OIL MEN MUST DIG 10,000 FOOT WELLS

Deeper Drilling Necessary Say Engineers at Petroleum Convention Today.

Tulsa, Okla., Oct. 8.—(AP)—As deeper into the earth goes the search for the liquid gold of petroleum, engineering problems multiply. Already faced with the prospect of 10,000 foot wells, the oil industry is giving close attention at the Sixth Annual International Petroleum Exposition and Congress here, to the scientific aspects of deeper drilling, with particular emphasis on straight hole drilling.

New inventions. New developments in oil field equipment, designed to solve these problems, are exhibited at the exposition, which swung into its fourth day, and new practices in deep drilling are in the forefront of discussions at technical sessions of the division of development and production engineering of the American Petroleum Institute, mid-continent district.

The One Place Where It Pays to Play with Fire

They'll build you a huge fire at a certain place in Chicago—they'll heat a door or wall red-hot and turn a hose on it—they'll do all sorts of striking and ingenious things to see how long a certain device will stand up under punishment or how soon it will burn up or blow up or break.

It's a dramatic place—the great buildings of Underwriters' Laboratories—where they "play with fire" in testing building materials, electrical devices, gases, chemicals, hose, extinguishers, home utilities, and endless other things—all for the purpose of safeguarding your life, protecting your property, and reducing the cost of your insurance.

Symbols of Safety

Here is the largest testing laboratory operated by any business or profession. Everywhere its exhaustive tests are accepted as authoritative and its labels of approval recognized as Symbols of Safety.

This invaluable and unique engineering service is one of the great contributions by the Stock Fire Insurance companies to the protection of life and property in the home, in the factory, and wherever you may be in town, city or country.

Service... Not Profit...

is the underlying purpose of this work. The comprehensive equipment maintained by the Laboratories, and its corps of experienced engineers afford unequalled facilities.

Educators, engineers, scientists, underwriters and others journey far to study the equipment and the unusual tests that are always under way. The public is always welcome at Underwriters' Laboratories.

Recognized Standards

The long experience of the Laboratories in this work, and the methods employed for keeping in touch with manufacturers, users, and all other sources of information, have resulted in a general recognition of its standards and recommendations.

This work for the conservation of life and property is but one of the many contributions for the benefit of the American public made by Stock Fire Insurance companies which transact the great bulk of the fire insurance business of this country.

A Thrilling Mystery—

"The Avenging Parrot"

by Anne Austin

MURDER in a boarding house starts off this fascinating new story of mystery and romance by Anne Austin, who wrote "The Black Pigeon," one of the outstanding detective novels of the year.

"The Avenging Parrot" introduces a new and "different" detective character in "Bonnie" Dundee, who is as likeable as he is clever; and a fiendishly talented murderer is outwitted by the apparently insignificant utterance of a parrot. Here is a great story. It will hold you to the very end.

BEGINS FRIDAY
OCTOBER 25 in THE MANCHESTER EVENING HERALD

The Innocent Cheat

By Ruth Dewey Groves
AUTHOR OF "RICH GIRL—POOR GIRL," ETC.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

HELEN PAGE feels hopelessly in love with her guardian, LEONARD BRENT. A chance meeting with a dying beggar, CHARLES NELLIN, causes Brent to change his plans for Helen's future. Soon after he tells her that she is the only grandchild of a millionaire, CYRIL K. CUNNINGHAM. Brent takes her to Cunningham and offers proofs which the lonely old man accepts. Hoping to make up for the injustice done her mother, Cunningham showers the girl with affection and gifts.

Among Helen's new friends are EVA ENNIS and her brother, ERIC, who falls in love with her. Brent finds another locket like the one he had taken from Nellin to prove Helen as the heiress. He also becomes jealous of Bob and plots to secure Helen for himself quickly. Hearing the doctor say that Helen is shocked by the old man, Brent gets the servants out of the way and rushes into the sick room shouting wildly that Helen has been killed. His plan works and when the attendant returns, Cunningham is dead. Then Brent appears as friend and former guardian of Helen and takes charge of arrangements.

Brent tries to break off a love affair with Eva without arousing Helen's suspicions. Meanwhile, a chance meeting between Helen and Bob reveals the love for each other, but she tells him she has promised herself to another. Next day Helen goes to Brent's apartment to ask him to release her and finds CARMEL SEGRE there acting very much at home. When Brent returns, Carmel throws herself into his arms before he sees Helen.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXX

Carmel was in Brent's arms. She had flung herself there before he could stop her. But he was used to her impulsive demonstrations and generally accepted them without fuss.

Now she went a bit farther than usual. She twined her arms around his neck, forcing his head down until she could press her lips to his in a lingering caress.

Something of the fascination she had always held for him stole over Brent and he embraced her with a touch of gusto that silenced the heart of the watching girl with loathing for the whole situation.

Carmel made the most of her opportunity and did not let him go until she knew it would be too late for him to explain the scene away as just a little greeting between old friends.

Then he saw Helen.

Carmel had released him and stepped aside to allow him to enter the living room. On her face was the famous smile of the sunny-faded cat.

For a moment, when Brent's eyes took in the erect figure of the girl whose eyes blazed at him with scorn, he too stood still, silent in his consternation.

Helen made the first move. She flung out a hand toward him, danger, and started toward him to pass through the doorway where he stood to get to the outer door.

Brent caught her by the shoulders and held her with a grip that hurt. Behind him he could hear Carmel's soft laughter as she vanished down the hall to another room.

"Helen," he cried, "wait, dear, wait!"

Helen looked at him with an expression that would have shriveled his pride had he had any of the kind that could be shriveled.

"I won't let you go until you hear me," Brent went on, and Helen knew that truth lay behind his words. She could, of course, wrench herself away by force and rush from the apartment without giving him a chance to offer a defense of his conduct, but her conscience forbade it.

After all, she too had kissed someone else. And while she had still been engaged to Leonard. Her sense of fairness compelled her to curb her outraged pride and try to become calm enough to listen to him.

A thought that he might be in a position similar to her own came to her, bringing an immensely quieting effect. How simple that would be—if he were in love with this other woman!

Brent was somewhat dazed by the smile she turned upon him. The chameleon-like change in her confused him. But his hands did not slip from her shoulders until she said that they had best have a talk and turned back to the living room. He let her go then and followed, to take a seat beside her on the pale green leather divan. He let her start the conversation.

"I'm sorry, I intruded upon a date," she said, a little stiffly; "but you probably won't have any trouble fixing it up."

She opened her bag and brought out the engagement ring that he had given her. "This will convince her that there's nothing between us any more," she added, holding out the ring to Brent.

He took her hand instead and curled her fingers over the flashing gem. "Let me explain," he begged; "you mustn't judge me unheard."

Helen drew her hand away and laid the ring on the stand beside Carmel's cigarette holder.

"It wouldn't do any good to explain, even if you could," she said quietly; "for I came here to ask you to release me from our engagement."

"Why?" Brent exclaimed, his fear of having lost her growing upon him with alarming conviction.

"Because I love someone else," Helen answered, feeling she had a right to be direct with him. The necessity for softening the blow was gone as she saw it and she was glad that it was so.

Brent did not shrink from it as he would have done had he loved her, but he was dissembler enough to force a good imitation of pain into his expression.

Helen waited, but he said nothing.

ing. There was only an intake of breath in a series of pants gasps to tell how her words had hurt.

"I'm sorry," she said suddenly, "that we made such a mistake, but we can be thankful for the rest of our lives that we discovered in time that it is a mistake."

Brent answered now, with great feeling. "I haven't made a mistake," he declared. "I love you Helen, and you alone in all the world."

"Please, please, Leonard. Remember what I saw!"

"Oh, my dear, if you only understood!" Brent cried, with the helplessness in his voice that one would feel in facing the necessity of explaining an impossible situation to a child. "You must hear me."

"I'd rather not," Helen replied coldly. "Besides, it is useless."

"You can't break off with me this way," Brent told her firmly. He got to his feet and stood looking down at her as though he weighed the risk he would take in what he meant to do next. Dared he leave her alone for a moment?

"Will you wait here until I ask Miss Segro to leave us alone?" he said with such dejection and wretchedness in his voice that Helen was unable to refuse his request.

She nodded her head in assent, wishing she could have been harder toward him.

He did not waste time. In a moment he had joined Carmel. "Get out," he said without preliminary courtesies.

She laughed at him, "Much damage," she mocked.

"You will pay for it if it is irreparable," Brent threatened.

"That little sap?" Carmel sneered.

"Hurry," Brent told her. Carmel was convinced that he was in earnest.

"Get rid of her soon," she compromised. "I'll be back."

Brent surveyed her from under lowered lids. "Can't you get it over dig out of me is a little money, Carmel? And that's off when you carry things too far."

"Well, what do you mean by starting something with a high hat like that?" Carmel came back. She was still smarting over her failure to upset Helen's poise.

"That's my affair," Brent replied with a finality that closed the argument for the time being.

Carmel left him and stalked into the living room to get her things. Helen did not look at her, although she tried for a chance to sneer at the girl.

When the front door closed behind her Brent came back to Helen and seated himself beside her once more.

"Now my dear," he said patiently, "I must talk to you with a frankness that I deplore but which is absolutely necessary."

Helen's eyes asked him why.

"Because you don't know anything about the world you are living in," he said, answering their unspoken question. "You are dear and sweet and straightforward; without the complications that are bothering most members of your sex today, but your difference has unfitness to judge a modern man."

"Don't preach to me," Helen protested. She realized that she had given him an advantage in consenting to listen to him but had no intention of letting him make unfair use of it. "You should have thought what I am before you did something you must have known you never could explain to me."

"Explain!" Brent answered impatiently. "My dear girl that is the crux of the whole matter. I can't explain—not to a girl like you. I can only beg you to forgive me. I am a man, Helen, not a callow kid. I've had affairs, yes, but all that is over and done with. What you saw didn't mean a thing. A woman I've known for years she kissed me just as readily at Times Square."

Helen smiled, thinking, but not caring enough to say it aloud, that the caress had not been too casual to inspire response. Brent seemed to catch her thought.

"Certainly I kissed her," he admitted hastily. "But it was just a gesture, of the kind any man of the world makes. I knew so well how little it mattered either to Carmel or to me. It is only you youngsters who attach undue importance to such things."

Helen half moved to rise. Brent pressed her back with a hand upon her arm.

"Can't you see? Nothing I might do could have any effect upon my love for you. It's simply that life has made it possible for me to take things as they come. I don't try to stop the sun from rising just because I'm in love. But I keep you apart, dear, in my mind. It is as though you were in a different world. These things might be for me but they do not touch my feeling for you."

Helen did not care for what he said. She thought it pretty cheap. She'd been blind, she told herself, not to see long ago that his life would have crusted him with a layer of sordid insensitiveness.

"It doesn't matter," she said coldly. "I've told you that I love someone else. I can't marry you now."

Brent retorted, a touch of his real self showing through the role he had assumed for the occasion.

Helen's startled glance sought his face for an answer to his unexpected warning.

"Some raw kid has attracted you," Brent went on, letting his feelings ride him a bit, "and you think you're in love."

Helen's anger flared up in return. "It's better than thinking I am in love with a man like you," she cried hotly.

Brent recovered himself and smiled. That smile, cut through Helen's new-found sense of freedom like a knife, destroying it almost instantly. She knew that behind it lay his determination to hold her to her promise at any cost.

Hints On How To Keep Well

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBÉIN
Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

It has long been understood that the infant mortality rate of the community could be taken as a fairly good measure of its healthfulness.

The American Child Health Association regularly reports on more than 700 cities of the United States as to their rates of deaths for infants within the first year of life. There was a time when some cities had rates as high as 200 or more per thousand; in other words, at least 200 babies out of every 1000 were one year old.

The latest studies by the Child Health Association show that the rate for 719 cities in 1928 was 89.2, as compared with the rate 68.9 during 1927. The rate for 1928 is therefore slightly over three points higher than that for 1927, but is still the second lowest infant death rate ever recorded in this country.

There are, of course, many factors which may influence the death rate badly or favorably in some cases. Obviously a city located like Seattle or Portland is more healthful than one with a climate like that of many of the cities in the south or southeastern portions of the United States. For years the rates of the cities in the northwest have been low.

In 1928, Seattle and Portland had rates of 43, and San Francisco a rate of 46. In 1927, Seattle was first with 41, and Portland and Minneapolis tied with 47. Among cities of over 100,000 to 250,000, Oakland, California, led with 47, followed by Spokane, Washington, with 48.

Of cities between 50,000 and 100,000, Berkeley was first with 31 and Union City, New Jersey, second with 32. Among cities of 25,000 to 50,000, Alameda, California, was first with 25; Medford, Massachusetts, second with 30, and Oak Park, Illinois, and Everett, Massachusetts, third with 31. In the smallest population group, Holland, Michigan, was low, with 21, then Braintree, Massachusetts, with 22, and Stonington, Connecticut, with 24.

Of the largest cities in the United States, that of the rate of Los Angeles fell in ten years from 69 to 66; Cleveland in ten years from 109 to 60, and Baltimore from 122 to 62.

The states with the highest infant mortality rates during recent years have been Arizona, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Tennessee, Alabama, Virginia and Mississippi. Obviously the health work in our large southern communities is badly influenced by the large numbers of negro population and by similar factors.

TWEED FROCK

Smart and comfortable looking is a rust and beige tweed frock with flared skirt below a fitted hip yoke with high waistline and a yoked tuck-in blouse with a stock collar of the tweed.

Fire Prevention Day ought to be observed at least by enrolling the boss.

Sister Mary's Kitchen

BY SISTER MARY

Every woman feels her reputation as a hostess is more or less made by the coffee she serves her guests, and the everyday brew for the family is no less important.

There is no luck or magic about good coffee. However, there are a few important principles to keep in mind. Blend method of procedure and accuracy are of first consideration.

When purchasing coffee, the roast and the grind as well as the blend effects chemical changes which give the distinguishing coffee flavor and fragrance. Careless handling at home often greatly injures these qualities which have been so painstakingly developed. Coffee bought in quantity should be stored in airtight containers in a dry place.

Grinding Coffee at Home

If coffee is ground at home, it should always be ground just before using. The grinding breaks the coat of the berry. This coat is its natural protection against loss of flavor.

Commercially ground and packed coffee has many advantages. Almost any blend, roast or grind is obtainable, packed in packages which prevent any deterioration until opened in the home. After opening, careful storage is essential.

Through washing, scalding and airing of all parts of the coffee pot or percolator is imperative.

One and one-half tablespoons of ground coffee for each cup of water makes a coffee of medium strength agreeable to the average taste if the percolating or filtering methods are used.

Two tablespoons of coffee for each cup of water is a good proportion if the boiling method is preferred. The term "boiling" is misleading, for the brew reaches the active boiling point only to be checked and kept just below the boiling point for eight or ten minutes.

Children under eighteen years of age should never be allowed to drink coffee.

MEDICINE STAINS.

Silver stained with medicine should be rubbed with methylated spirit. Afterwards wash the silver in warm, soapy water and polish with a dry cloth.

BLACK UNDIES.

When laundering black crepe de chine or nylon lingerie, as a little liquid ammonia in the water. This prevents its turning greenish.

The right way to redye Finest Silks

TEXTILE manufacturers always use special dyes for silk or wool. They know that is the only way to secure the most perfect results. The makers of Diamond Dyes are the first to enable home users to follow this plan.

Next time you want to dye some of your more valuable articles of pure silk or wool, try the special Diamond Dyes in the white package. They will give you materials clearer, more brilliant colors, with greater depth and permanence than any "all purpose" dye.

These special Diamond Dyes are just as easy to use as ordinary dyes. Like the white package Diamond Dyes, they contain the highest quality anilines money can buy. That's what makes them go on so smoothly and makes them without spotting or streaking. That's the secret of their brilliance; their resistance to sunlight, wear, and washing.

The white package of Diamond Dyes is the highest quality dye prepared for general use. It will dye, or tint, silk, wool, cotton, linen, rayon (artificial silk), or any mixture of materials. The blue package is a special dye for silk or wool only, with it you can dye your valuable articles of pure silk or wool with results equal to the finest professional work. When you buy—remember this. The blue package dyes silk or wool only. The white package dyes all kinds of goods, including silk or wool. Your dealer has both packages.

YOUR CHILDREN

Charles M. Schwab told in a recent speech some of the things he learned from Andrew Carnegie when he was a young man getting his start in the Carnegie mills.

One of the finest pieces of advice he got from the old steel-master, Mr. Schwab said, was about worry. "When you go through the mill, you'll see a hundred things every day to worry you, things you don't like, but that you can't help. The best thing to do is to forget it." Mr. Carnegie warned him, "Never worry about things you can't help."

It's good advice for everybody and it's particularly good for children that is for some children—the kind of every conscientious, too earnest, too serious children who can't enjoy life for worrying over things that go wrong.

Take the child with an inferiority complex. How he suffers for makes his made! Things he simply can't forget. He broods for days and tosses sleeplessly night after night about some little thing that everyone else in the world has forgotten but himself.

It's really tragic to think that a boy will pack a whole ton of misery and shame in his sensitive heart for weeks because he could not kick a goal and lost the game for the home team. Or that a girl won't walk up a certain street any more and still get hot and cold all over when she thinks of the way she tripped and fell and broke a dozen eggs where a hundred people could see her!

It isn't always things they do themselves that make and make the long night hours hideous for these poor children.

The boy's chum may have gyped him to go to the movies with someone else.

The girl may have been deliberately snubbed by the new neighbor across the street when she was trying to be friendly.

Worries of School

Sometimes it is school. Failure to lead a class, or a mark half a point below that of a rival.

All worry we can't avoid, but some worry we can. And there is no question about getting the habit. It grows with age, too. Once a worrier, always a worrier! No worrier can take big responsibility, either, or be a leader.

The way not to learn to forget and teach children to forget, too, all the miserable little things that life holds for everyone?

DISPLAYS SPANISH NOI

A captivating new model that is gaining more and more popularity every day in petunia purple canton crepe. The scarf tie that falls nonchalantly over shoulder shows smart trimming in sheer velvet in three blending shades of same color, which appears again in deep cuff treatment.

The surplice closing bodice terminates at left hip caught with huge crystal buckle, creating a swathed flare of skirt, placed low at back, so as to retain flat hips, with draped treatment at left-side front, provides fluttering fullness when wearer moves.

Style No. 714 is designed in sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust.

This slenderizing dress with modified Princess lines is easily made—the saving enormous.

It's very effective and serviceable in black crepe satin, canton crepe in bottle green with matching sheer velvet trim, rayon crepe in dark brown background printed in capricious tones, claret red flat silk crepe, army blue crepe de chine with white crepe scarf tie, black sheer velvet and printed sheer velvet in burgundy tones.

The WOMAN'S DAY

When Isabel MacDonald became a hostess for her father at Number 10 Downing street, in London, there were those who thought that this very natural, unaffected person, with her disregard for clothes and formality, might find her new position difficult.

Some of the dowagers of the British diplomatic set, decided to help her out about clothes, and tell her what to do, and how to go about being the second lady of the land. She listened attentively, I'm told, then said:

"I believe I can get along very well, thank you."

And she has.

MOTHER'S DAUGHTER

But when you read that very remarkable tribute which J. Ramsay MacDonald wrote about his wife, a volume called "Margaret Ethel MacDonald," you realize that Isabel's mother had prepared her very well for her present position, and that she is but repeating her mother's success.

"For society as such, she (meaning Isabel's mother) had great distaste. It bored her. Nobody enjoyed more thoroughly than she did a frolicsome time. She could play with the dowdiest and joke with the most facetious. But she chose her companions for such occasions."

"I do not require to change my friends when I change my interests," she said. "We can all change together. If I can work one day, and make merry the next, so can my friends. It is a great mistake to arrange your life so that one set of friends should always see you on committees and another always see you wasting your time."

ORIGIN OF "SALON"

He explained how the "salon" started, which gives another illuminating picture of her character: "Once every three weeks or so for some ten years our rooms were crowded with men and women busy in the service of labor and Socialism. The shy recruit just arrived in London came to see those of whom he had heard so much; the stranger from the ends of the earth, black, yellow, or white in color, came as a guest; meetings were fixed up and plots may have been hatched.

"Amidst her guests she moved, chatting, cheering, introducing; for her wonderful memory for names and faces and her vigilant sympathy made her a perfect hostess for a great crowd."

Times Have Changed and So Has Ice Cream

Not so many years ago it was a summertime proposition. It was not of uniform quality and consistency. Today it is a year round food dessert that is growing in popularity daily. Its uniform quality has been perfected by modern methods while the price has been reduced to such a reasonable one that it is in universal demand.

Queer Twists In Day's News

New York—Claire Windsor of the screen is wearing a big diamond on the forefinger of her left hand and Anthony J. Tsalikis, wealthy lawyer of Alexandria, Egypt, is visiting her. Engaged? Claire, arraigned and "Tony" recently attended a dance and had a nice chat with Bert Lytell, her former husband, and his fiancée, Grace Monken.

Trenton, N. J.—Charles Malinski has retired from saloon-keeping and intends to live on a farm with his mother-in-law. He said so in court. "That," remarked United States Attorney Foreman, "would seem to be punishment enough." Judge Clark concurred.

Berlin—There were 7,592 divorces in Berlin last year.

London—The number of divorces here last year was 4,018, the highest on record. Evidently restriction on publication of testimony was a factor.

Reno—A Buffalo mother and daughter have taken the "cure" together here. Mrs. Ella W. Still obtained a divorce from Seymour E. Still. Her daughter divorced Richard Henry Means and forthwith married George F. Deby.

Vienna—What are regarded as the oldest cigars in the world are on view in the tobacco museum. A box made in 1844 was found in Linz among old records of the tobacco monopoly.

Leningrad—Arrests for drunkenness at times total as high as 900 a night.

Sofia, Bulgaria—The fez is more popular than ever notwithstanding Mustafa Kemal's suppression of it. There are 650,000 Turkes in Bulgaria. Even their deputies in Parliament wear it. And Turkish women retain the yashmak.

Serajevo, Jugoslavia—Where the war started Moslem women are warring on modernization as instituted in Turkey. Only a few girls students go unveiled.

Washington—A machine has just completed 20 years of service in calculating tides for the coast and geodetic survey. Two years in advance it figures out high and low water at principal seaports to the minute and tenth of a foot.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, Oct. 8.—Reports from London bullion brokers today said that of the approximately $4,000,000 in gold available in the open market there, the Bank of England obtained about $2,250,000 and the balance was taken by India and trade demands. About $5,000,000 is due to arrive from South Africa on Oct. 15.

Fabricating steel interests are reported to be maintaining high production schedules. The Trucon Steel company is operating at a higher rate than a year ago. General Fireproofing is understood to be on a broader basis and the Youngstown Pressed Steel Company running a better schedule.

Sales of the Kroger Grocery and Baking company for the four weeks ending Sept. 28 amounted to $21,419,793, compared with $16,343,395, or an increase of $1.05 per cent.

Public offering soon will be made of 20,000 shares of cumulative convertible Class "A" stock and 10,000 shares of Common stock of the Kaybee Stores, Inc., a chain store system, selling clothing, shoes, dry goods and other merchandise.

W. T. Grant Company's sales for September totaled $4,776,599 as against $4,707,762 in the same month last year, an increase of 1.4 per cent.

AUTOMOBILE STOLEN FROM BRAINARD PLACE

Theft of an Oldsmobile Sedan owned by Fred Sobole, manager of the Manchester Bottling Works, was reported to the police at 10 o'clock last night.

The automobile was standing in front of a fraternal society house on Brainard place while the owner was inside. For a time Mr. Sobole thought the car might have been taken by mistake, but soon changed his mind. The police sent out an alarm to other departments but this morning it had not been recovered.

GAS BUGGIES—The Harmony Duet

ERRORGRAMS

There are at least four mistakes in the above picture. They may pertain to grammar, history, etiquette, drawing or whatnot. See if you can find them. Then look at the scrambled word below and unscramble it, by switching the letters around. Grade yourself 20 for each of the mistakes you find, and 20 for the word if you unscramble it.

CORRECTIONS
(1) The man on the dock should say let me, instead of "leave me."
(2) The man at the oars should be facing the back of the boat, to row.
(3) In the carman's conversation, the apostrophe in aren't should be between the N and the T. (4) The man in the rear of the boat should not be casting, when fishing for carp. (5) The scrambled word is ALF ALFA.

SENSE and NONSENSE

Didn't Have to Worry. An old colored man was burning grass when a "wise guy" stopped and said: "You're foolish. o do that Uncle Eb; it will make the meadow as black as you are."

Opening Day!

What Luck!

Well, What are ya loarin' here for?

Just waitin' fer Hack Wilson to plaster a four-baser so I can ketch it an' get in the opening game free-cinch, huh?

Well, it would be a lot easier if you'd go over by th' Cubs park - this is th' White Sox field!

Opening Day! The world series is on!

Ya never ketch me missin' an opening game! All I gotta do is find a nice porch near th' ball park, sit down an' wait fer Hack to smack one!

And Sam is happy because Hack Wilson, Cub slugger, promised that if one of his homers goes over the fence and Sam gets it, and takes it to the main gate, he can get in for nuthin'!

And they landed, safe and sound. As soon as they were on the ground, we Copy cried, "Oh, look! I see some berries. This is luck! They're nice and red. Oh what a treat! We'll gather all that we can eat. The branches are all thorny. Let's be careful we're not stuck."

ABOUT TOWN

Miss Annie E. Cheney and Miss Elizabeth Smith left Monday for a two months visit in Tennessee.

Memorial Lodge, No. 38, Knights of Pythias will hold its regular business meeting in the Birch and Brown lodge hall tomorrow evening.

Miss Emma Borowski, teacher at the Washington school who was severely injured in an automobile accident at Wapping early in the summer, and has been confined to her bed in the Memorial hospital since that time, is now able to sit up a little each day.

The Lindy Social club will hold a business meeting tomorrow evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Murphy of 72 Birch street.

All members of the Junior Choir of St. Mary's church are requested to attend the rehearsal next Monday evening at 6:30 in the parish house. This rehearsal will precede the monthly devotional service of the Girls Friendly Society, at which the Junior Choir will sing. A full attendance is desired. The Junior Choir has been taken over by Associate Dorothy Russell and she will be assisted in this work by Associate Helen Crawford.

The Sewing Circle of the Highland Park Community club will meet for the first time this fall tomorrow afternoon at 2:30, at the clubhouse.

Ever Ready Circle of Kings Daughters will hold its October meeting this evening with Mrs. Scott Simon of 124 Henry street. Miss Thomas of the Children's Aid society will be the speaker.

Emblem Club members will meet at the Elks home in Rockville tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 for their regular monthly business session. Election of delegates to the national convention in Boston later in the month will take place, and all local members are urged to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus G. Tyler and family have moved from Chapel street to the Parker homestead at Vernon, which they purchased recently.

The Ladies Aid society of the North Methodist church will meet tomorrow afternoon with Mrs. Thomas McAdams of 228 Woodbridge street. Mrs. T. J. Shaw, Mrs. Arthur Starkweather and Mrs. Moore will assist the hostess.

The W. B. A. Guard club will have its monthly meeting on Friday evening of this week at the home of Mrs. Robert Coleman, 358 Woodbridge street. Mrs. Paul Hussey will assist the hostess. The next regular W. B. A. meeting in Odd Fellows hall will be Tuesday evening, October 15 instead of tonight.

Women of Mooseheart Legion will meet for business at 8 o'clock tonight at the home clubhouse on Brainard place.

Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Fisher of 153 Porter street, are registered today at The Roosevelt, New York City.

Manchester lodge of Masons will hold a regular communication at 7:30 tonight in the Temple here. The Master Mason degree will be conferred upon a group of candidates. This is the first time this fall that the Master Mason degree has been worked.

Kings Heralds of the South Methodist church will have their annual Halloween party in the banquet hall Friday of this week at 4:30. The children are requested to appear in costume and prizes will be given for the prettiest as well as the funniest getup. The refreshment committee is as follows: Margaret Wilson, Doris Gibson, Roberta Porterfield, Dorothy Wood, Dorothy McGuire. The committee in charge of games is made up of Miss Ethyl Lytle, Virginia Whitehouse, Florence Corder, Ora Squires.

ST. MARY'S GIRLS HEAR OF NEW CHURCH PLANS

Girls' Friendly Society in Weekly Meeting Show Enthusiasm Over Project.

The regular weekly meeting of the Girls' Friendly Society of St. Mary's church was held last evening in the parish house. The meeting, opened with the usual devotional service. Due to the absence of Associate Evaline Pentland who is in charge of the meetings during October, the service was under the direction of Violet Madden. The scripture lesson for the evening was read by Ariene McCabe.

Plans were discussed for attending the annual conference to be held October 18 and 19 at Trinity church, New Haven. It was voted to send a delegate from St. Mary's branch to this conference. The Provincial conference will be held November 7, 8 and 9 and will be at Providence, R. I. Final plans for attending this conference have not yet been fully decided upon.

After the devotional service the rector, Rev. James S. Neill gave a short address to the members in regards to the new church. This was of great interest to all present, and the society is very enthusiastic in its desire to be of service in this particular cause. Miss Evelyn Robinson then took charge of instructing the girls in the art class, and the meeting was closed at 9:30. Next Monday evening the society will hold its regular monthly devotional service in the church at 7:30. The Junior Choir will sing at this service. Following the devotional service the class in Bible study will be conducted by the rector, Rev. James S. Neill in the parish house. This class is open to all members who are desirous of studying the Bible, and was very successful last year.

CHORAL CLUB DECIDES TO REMAIN INACTIVE

Festival Program in Spring Will Require Attention of Club Members—No Concerts Planned.

At a meeting of the Men's Choral Club held last night, Director Archibald Sessions discussed with the members plans for the coming season. In view of a large festival program of mixed voices for the spring, in which the club will be featured, it was decided that the club remain inactive during the present season. This means that the two regular choral club concerts will be omitted. The treasurers report indicated that the organization had closed the past season with a small surplus. The old board of officers was unanimously re-elected. The officers are: Fred Bendall, president; Robert Von Deck, vice-president; Robert Purinton, secretary and treasurer; Charles Robbins, librarian; Archibald Sessions, director.
