

EDUCATOR LOSES WAY TO HARTFORD

Southerner Evidently Had Thought Our Capital Was Suburb of N. Y. City.

Hartford, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Supt. of Schools Lloyd H. Bugbee of West Hartford opening the Hartford division of the Connecticut State Teachers' Convention at the Capitol theater declared Dr. William A. Sutton, superintendent of schools in Atlanta, "does not know his New England geography as he should."

Dr. Sutton arrived in New York at 7 o'clock, thinking he could hop a subway into Hartford. Mr. Bugbee continued, "with the result that he will probably not be here until this session is over."

Dr. Sutton was to have been the principal speaker at the general session of the convention which was dispatched to Norwich as soon as an address he was to make there at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Dr. Sutton's place on the local program was assumed by Professor Jesse H. Newton, director of the Experimental School of Teachers' College, Columbia University.

IN BRIDGEPORT Bridgeport, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Bridgeport played host to over 500 school teachers from Connecticut who gathered here today for the annual fall meeting of the State Teachers' Association.

The morning session was devoted to assemblies in three of the city's schools. Among the speakers were William H. Russell, Ph.D., of Columbia University; Julia Hahn, of San Francisco; Dr. Thomas Alexander, of Columbia University; Charles J. Pieper of N. Y. U., and Dr. J. MacE. Aldred of Boston University.

In the afternoon all teachers will assemble at the high school for a general meeting where Dr. Russell of Columbia will make the principal address.

RATES ON GAS RAISED BY SENATE

Washington, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The Senate today approved an increase of from 40 to 45 cents a gallon on the tax on transparent cellulose sheets used in the manufacture of safety glass for windshields.

The finance committee had proposed to raise the duty to fifty cents a pound. The vote was 48 to 30.

Forty five cents was the rate fixed in the House tariff bill. A higher rate on the product, asserting it was a new one being made in this country and that it had to face severe competition with Germany.

The Massachusetts Senator said it was the first time he had favored a higher tariff on an industrial product but that in this instance it was necessary if an American industry was to be maintained.

Others in Favor Edge, Republican, New Jersey, also favored the increase, but tariff commission figures he gave to support his contentions were challenged by LaFollette, Republican, Wisconsin and Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi.

Harrison said he would not accept the soundness of the statistics if they came from a man like William Burgess, of New Jersey, a former member of the commission, who he charged was a "tool of the ceramics industry" and had sought to "corrupt" the commission.

Copeland, Democrat, New York, a physician, opposed the increase, saying he would not vote for a tariff which would lessen the use of this "life saving glass."

FALL FOUND GUILTY OF ACCEPTING BRIBE

of conspiracy to defraud the government of the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve. It was brought to trial in 1927 but resulted in a mistrial when Burns detectives hired by Sinclair were found shadowing the jury.

Subsequently Sinclair stood trial alone and was acquitted and because of this it has been expected the charge against Fall would be dismissed.

The other charge against Fall was that of conspiring with Doherty to defraud in the Elk Hills lease. Both were acquitted.

Mrs. Doherty sat with dry eyes. She slowly fanned herself. Her husband sat next to Fall with little apparent motion. He clasped his hand over his ear as the court reviewed the case.

The courtroom was crowded to its capacity. Defense counsel served notice immediately of a motion for new trial. Defense counsel also announced an effort for the arrest of judgment would be made.

Frank J. Hogan, chief of the defense, said Fall was innocent of his crime and trial by justice.

"He was robbed of his constitutional rights by the judge's charge," the lawyer said.

Doherty burst out: "Shakes Fiat 'It's that dam court.' He shouted as he shook his fist. The verdict is regarded by government prosecutors as a meaning that Doherty will be placed on trial. Mark D. Young, Fall's personal attorney, collapsed in court a few minutes after the verdict was rendered. He has suffered from heart trouble for some time. Weeping, he donned his coat and slumped to the floor.

Mrs. Chase cried hysterically as did Mrs. Elliott but Fall's wife, weeping, pushed her way through the crowd to her husband's side. She sat in the big easy chair beside him and they threw their arms around each other and sobbed on each other's shoulders.

WALSH'S COMMENT. Washington, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, who led the Senate investigation into the naval oil leases, said today on hearing of Fall's conviction: "Every right minded person ought to be gratified that this large measure of justice has been done."

"I can't help but feel the sympathy for Fall, which his serious illness and weakened physical condition must excite in the breasts of everyone," he continued. "Nevertheless, it is gratifying that the jury did its obvious duty notwithstanding that condition."

"Senator F. Merene and Mr. Roberts are entitled to unstinted praise for the courage and persistence they have exhibited and for the high talent which they displayed in the litigation."

The Senate generally, however, received the news in silence.

THE PENALTY. Washington, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The offense of bribery on which Albert B. Fall was convicted today provided a maximum penalty of a fine and imprisonment for not more than three years. The statute in part reads: "The defendant shall be fined not more than three times the amount of money or value of the thing so bribed, accepted or received, and imprisoned not more than three years; and shall, moreover, forfeit his office or place, and thereafter be forever disqualified from holding any office of honor, trust, or profit under the government of the United States."

Since Fall's bribe was $100,000, the maximum fine would be $300,000.

DOHERTY NEXT. Washington, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Owen J. Roberts, special government counsel in the oil scandals cases, announced today that the government would move to bring E. L. Doherty to trial on a charge of giving a bribe of $100,000 to A. B. Fall soon after the first of the year.

USES A SHOTGUN TO KILL HIMSELF

Body of Missing East Hampton Man Is Found in Woods Near Home.

East Hampton, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The body of Lawrence House, 34, one side of the head blown off by gunshot was found today 100 feet north of the air line division of the New Haven railroad.

Near the body and resting against a tree was a shotgun.

Milton Hale, of Middle Haddam, one of 100 men who had searched for House since early this morning, came into town to tell Mrs. House that her husband's body had been found. Mrs. House said she believed her husband had committed suicide as he had been in poor health and had had business worries.

House disappeared yesterday when he left to go into the woods to recover from a feeling of indisposition, as he told his family. It was assumed he had gone hunting as he took his shotgun.

When he failed to return home, a searching party was organized. Deputy Sheriff Ray Young heading it in the party were the Rev. Edwin Steele of the Congregational church and one of House's daughters.

ITALIAN-AMERICAN LADIES MASQUE

Ball to Be Held in Sub-Alpine Club Tomorrow Night; Prize Dances.

Italian-American Ladies Aid members have their plans practically completed for their annual masquerade ball tomorrow evening at the Sub-Alpine club on Eldridge street, the proceeds to be used in community charitable work.

While there will be prizes for costumes, the affair will be unique in that after every dance a number will be drawn and the lucky holder will receive a prize. Prizes will be given to the best dressed girl and to the best dressed man and to the person wearing the funniest costume. Music will be provided by the Flying Cloud orchestra.

The committee which is bending every effort to make the dance a success consists of Mrs. Mary Scagliotti, chairman; Mrs. J. W. Farr, Miss Mary Garibaldi, Mrs. Anne DeLaferra, Mrs. Nellie Sylvester, Mrs. Cecilia Danlungo, Miss Mary Spagnola, Miss Mary Farr, Mrs. Anna Lanlungo, Mrs. Mary Beletti, Mrs. Rocco Farr, Mrs. Teresa Maeri, Mrs. Delphina Pola.

NEW DEVICE MEASURES AUTO RIDING QUALITY

Iowa City.—(AP)—Measuring the riding qualities of automobiles with an instrument known as the gyro-accelerator soon may become practical, asserts Prof. Merritt L. Foster of the University of Iowa.

The instrument, capable of recording the reactions of an automobile going over a bump, was developed at the university. A standard test, consisting of driving a car over a bump at various speeds and plotting curves of the resulting angular acceleration quantities as shown by the gyro-accelerator, was devised. The results of the tests, Prof. Foster said, indicate a close relationship between the riding quality and the angular acceleration, or speed of motion around a point in the car.

This relationship, he said, evaluates riding quality to be determined numerically so that cars of different makes, tested at different times and localities, can be rated as to riding quality without making a direct comparison.

SAFETY IN AIR SUBJECT OF WORLD CONFERENCE. Paris.—(AP)—World-wide cooperation among the nations for the reduction of aeronautic accidents is to be sought by the French Committee for Aeronautic Propaganda through an international congress on aerial safety here next year.

The French committee would have the congress place on an international basis the program outlined for France in 1928.

This includes the improvement of the safety of gliders by avoiding losses in flying speed, which are said to be responsible for 60 per cent of glider accidents and to prevent breakages in the air which are held responsible for five or six per cent of the accidents; assuring the safety of engines by reducing the number of breakages and fire risks; the rendering of airways more safe by improving signal systems and knowledge of investigation of accidents in an endeavor to lessen their harmfulness by use of parachutes and radio.

FAVOR CHURCH MERGER. Piqua, Ohio, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Approval of the plan advanced by the National Council of Congregational churches for a merger with the general church was recommended to the president today by its president, Frank G. Coffin, of Columbus, and other members of a commission which studied the proposal.

Presentation of the commission's report at a business session of the general convention today, preceded a formal vote on the question.

Members of the Mount Everest expedition encountered birds and fishes at great heights which previously had been thought impossible of sustaining life.

TEACHERS' CONVENTION. New Haven, Oct. 25.—(AP)—This was the day when public school teachers of the state went to conventions to listen to subjects akin to pedagogy and their erstwhile charges by the tens of thousands had a day off.

The Connecticut State Teachers Association had its meetings for general class room and departmental lectures and instruction at Bridgeport, New Haven, Hartford and Norwich. As a whole, the programs were on identical lines; with interchange of speakers where distances were not too great.

STOLE SILVERWARE. Meriden, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Victor St. Laurent, 24, of 49 Park street, was sentenced to four months in jail by Judge A. E. Aubrey when he was arraigned in police court today on a charge of theft of silverware from the International Silver Company, which he was employed. Yesterday a search of St. Laurent's locker at the factory resulted in a piece of silverware being found. The police then went to the man's home where they found a quantity of articles, including a quantity of pens, pens, cigarette lighters, match box holders, salt shakers, measuring cups and a quantity of pencils and clips. The warrant in the case charged theft of silverware and other goods valued at $68.75 but an agreement of counsel the amount was reduced to $50.

HOLD SUSPECTS. Stamford, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Grant Stoner, 29, of 619 Welland avenue and Edward B. Wynn, 37, of 1015 Central avenue, both of Stamford, Conn., are held with a Polish citizen, Peter Dlugokenski, by the Stamford police on suspicion of having aided the alien in entering this country from Canada illegally. They were picked up on suspicion by Stamford motorcycle police this morning.

SOCCER GAME. Middletown, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The Wesleyan football team will offer an altered lineup against Amherst tomorrow in the first drive for the title. Coach McCurdy hopes he has a winning combination.

ARREST DYNAMITERS. Torrington, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Three men accused of dynamiting the residence of Thomas J. Walsh, City Court, in the early morning of March 18, 1925, have been arrested by the state police and were scheduled to be arraigned late this afternoon. The three men are Joseph Costa and Frank Cosco, of Torrington, and Patsy Bruno, of Stamford. The allegation is that Costa, who had been heavily fined for violation of the liquor law, paid the other two $5 apiece to blow up the prosecutor's house. A fourth man, alleged to have been involved in the crime, was killed in New Jersey about a year ago, according to the police.

ARGUMENTS SUBMITTED IN THE TUNNEY CASE

Bridgeport, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Oral arguments, submitted by written briefs, were submitted to Judge Carl Foster in Superior Court today upon the motion of Judge Frank L. Wilder, counsel for M. S. Katherine King Fogarty in her suit against James J. (Gene) Tunney, of Torrington, Westchester, of the world.

Mrs. Fogarty, a resident of Post Worth, Texas, and now believed in New York City, brings a $500,000 suit against Tunney upon an allegation that he failed to keep his promise to marry her after she divorced her husband, John S. Fogarty.

In reply to this counsel for Tunney, former States Attorney Homer S. Cummings, filed an answer and cross complaint in which it is alleged that the suit was a holdup and brought to blacken the ex-chancellor's character.

Judge Wilder, in today's motion asked that some twenty paragraphs of this answer be removed by order of the court as irrelevant, immaterial and evidential nature. The motion is protested by Tunney's attorneys.

NOON STOCKS

New York, Oct. 25.—(AP)—An early buying movement which carried prominent stocks up 6 to 13 points had virtually spent itself in the forenoon today and the leaders turned downward, some of them going below the previous close.

Trading was again at a rapid pace and at noon the ticker was more than 50 minutes late.

Assurances of bankers and brokers that there was nothing fundamentally wrong in the situation that led to yesterday's collapse of values resulted in a restoration of confidence at the opening, but there was short selling and profit taking on the advance and losses of 1 to 3 points were numerous toward noon.

General Electric, which had been up 3, sold 3 points below the Thursday close. American Telephone turned a 3 3/4 point gain into a 2 point decline; and U. S. Steel, up 1-2, was quoted 1-2 lower. Canadian Pacific, which had soared 12 5/8, lost several points of that rise in the early advance.

Included American Bank Note, up 13; American Tobacco B, up 7; Goodyear, up 7 1/2; Air Reduction up 11; Western Union up 6 1/2; American Express, up 6 1/2; United Drug and National Biscuit, up 6 each.

Call money renewed at 6 per cent.

TO ATTEND FUNERAL. New Britain, Oct. 25.—(AP)—John and Florence (Trumbull) Colledge of New Haven will attend the funeral of Mrs. Lemira Goodhue, the former's grandmother, at Northampton, it was learned today.

Governor and Mrs. Trumbull do not expect to attend the services.

DOG SAVES LIFE OF AGED WOMAN

His Barking Rouses Neighbors—Dies When the Police Arrive.

Revere, Mass., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Teddy, an Irish terrier, the pet of Mrs. Alice Goulding, 88, a widow, today was accorded a place in the animal kingdom mythical Hall of Fame—one of those places occupied only by dogs who give up their lives for their masters.

Neighbors of Mrs. Goulding, who lived alone, were awakened today by continued barking of Teddy. Fearful for the woman's safety, they notified police who forced an entrance and found her close to death in a gas-filled room. At her side, barking weakly in an appeal for help, was Teddy.

His greeting to the police was a glance of satisfaction and then he lay down and died—the victim of exhaustion and gas.

After four hours application of artificial respiration methods, Mrs. Goulding revived and taken to a hospital. Gas was found escaping from a kitchen range burner which apparently had been extinguished as the woman prepared her breakfast.

CHENEY BROS. EARLY USERS OF INCANDESCENT

Had Arc Lights in 1881 and Mills Were Equipped With Bulbs During 1883.

One of the developments brought out during the Golden Jubilee of Light Week is the fact that the mills of Cheney Brothers were one of the earliest industrial plants in the country to employ the then new electrical system of lighting. According to Frank Cheney, Jr., who for many years was at the head of the company's electrical department, the first electric light installed at the plant was one of the arc variety which was used in the dressing mill.

Though it was not until 1879 that the incandescent light was perfected by Thomas Edison, it was within four years of that time, in 1883, that the mills were generally equipped with this type of light. Most of the lamps used were those manufactured here and known as the Perkins lamp.

Previous to this the mills had been lighted by illuminating gas manufactured at the plant. The gasous standing part of the so-called "mud mill" or carpentry shop.

TAILLESS AIRPLANES

Berlin, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Pilots Espenlaub and Groenhoff today flew at a speed of 75 miles an hour over Tempelhof Airfield in two completely tailless 490-pound two-seater planes.

It is believed that wind resistance is greatly decreased by the removal of the tail and that the position of the wings which are joined to the body on a 35-degree angle backward from the nose will necessitate less horse power. A 10-horsepower motor is used and the propeller, placed behind the fuselage, the steering is done by means of small vertical and horizontal rudder planes attached to the wing tips. These also act as brakes.

The planes were developed by two constructors named Soltenhoff and Lippich and were manufactured at the Espenlaub Airplane Works in Duesseldorf.

General Thaksgiving. Prefects everywhere issued proclamations of thanksgiving, stigmatizing the act of the assassin, Di Rosa, and concluding with expressions of loyalty to the House of Ssayoy.

The assassin, Fernando Di Rosa, was revealed by investigations in Milan, to have been an adopted orphan, taking that name in later life.

He appeared to have been a student at the University of Turin, and to have been of pronounced anti-fascist tendencies.

He was warned several times by Fascist groups of the university, and was alleged by the authorities to have signed a renunciation from all political activities.

Numerous editorials protested leniency of the French toward the anti-Fascist groups in Paris, which one paper called a "veritable school of regicides."

Life Of A Turkey Short, But He Makes Most Of It

Raising Large Flock No Sinecure, Learns Karl Marks, Who, With Daughters, Is Raising 1700 of Them.

By Herald Staff Writer

Turkeys—and more turkeys—1,700 of them, ready for the oven three weeks hence, are today roaming the hills of Vernon unconscious of their impending doom. They are the property of a remarkable family corporation, Karl Marks and daughters, Minnie and Edith, of 136 Summer street and the success of the enterprise is in no small measure due to the energy and labor of the latter two. The story of the record-breaking achievement of this Summer street poultryman and his two capable daughters is seasonal and worth the telling.

Last spring, after earnest and continued urging, the father decided to enter the turkey game in a big way. The task seemed too big but the daughters, Minnie and Edith, with considerable faith and persistence as a foundation for their faith carried the day. Consequently an order was placed with one of the largest producers of bronze turkey poulters in Virginia and the four months' race was on!

Hard Work

Shipments of young chicks arrived in lots of 500 as soon as the necessary equipment to handle them was perfected. They came at intervals of a week or so and were received in fine condition, with very small losses. Each the night and day work began, father, mother and daughters entering into the work with a zest and power that can only come to those of vision.

Feeding, watching, and again feeding and watching—all day and night long—this has been the sacrifice to obtain Manchester's record turkey crop, and the end is not yet. When the big brood was sufficiently grown to warrant a transfer to the freedom of Vernon's hills, they were taken from their electrically heated brooders and transferred over the road to a leased field, 30 acres in extent, and were given their freedom to roam at will.

Big Undertaking

Their present home is a huge inclosure, surrounded on all sides by six-foot wire fencing with the rooting pens and feeding troughs in the center. Here they were put under the day control of Edgar Henry of Vernon, ably assisted by four dogs, Rock, Rover, Jiggs and Roamer and at night under the care of Mr. Marks and the dogs. Daughters Minnie and Edith filled in between. A visit to Vernon was necessary to grasp the immensity of the undertaking.

When we approached the inclosure, a short distance from Vernon Center we were greeted by the avalanche of turkeys, gobbling in every conceivable tempo. Turkeys to the right of us—turkeys to the left of us babbling away—and pecking away at every bright object on our shoes and clothing. 1,700 of them and every one of them trying to "talk turkey" to us at the same time. Enough to grace the Thanksgiving tables of a good-sized town.

Half Ton of Grain Daily

Statistics of the daily consumption of grain, green stuff and drink are interesting. They stow away a half ton of grain per day besides another half ton of green stuff, and get thirsty to the extent of 260 gallons of water and 400 quarts of sour milk daily. Some healthy feeders this bunch of gobblers.

"Turkeys are funny birds," explained Mr. Marks between jabs of a monster gobber weighing nearly twenty pounds. "They are fairly contented during the day but during the night they are restless. The bark of a fox or the hoot of an owl from a distant tree will cause them to become restless on the roosts. They have good reason to fear the owls, for a single owl can cause terrible destruction in a pen of turkeys. Airplanes flying overhead will cause them to run to cover in a dangerous huddle of heavy birds. That is the reason they must be watched so closely."

Like Shoestrings

"When we came out here with the flock, grasshoppers were here in thousands. They were gobbled up in short order. One hundred of them got out the other day and ate up half a cabbage patch before they were captured and returned to the fold of shoestrings and will tear them to pieces if allowed."

"To be convinced on this point a hand was offered a nearby bird. A ten inch stab at the ring finger, likened to the blow of a tack-hammer was sufficiently convincing. Small wonder the cabbage field nearby was cabbageless!

And how they fight! How persistently. Here's their method. First the cause—and in this flock there is plenty of cause as the gobblers outnumber the hens 80 per cent. One gobber has a grievance against his brother and shows it—and his tail feathers running alongside his enemy, declared to the world and the rest of the flock that he must do battle. If the cause is of sufficient import to warrant a battle they square away and what a battle! If the accused does not have courage enough to face the issue, or if it is not considered worthy, the fight is off after about a mile of argument, travelling at top speed. It is ludicrously funny.

Able Dog Guards

The four dogs fit in nicely as protectors of this army of Thanksgiving dinners. They are trained to the minute and was to the night prowler who would gather his big dinner free gratis. It just can't be done—that's all.

Soon, it will be all over and 1,700 birds will sacrifice their four-months' existence to satisfy the appetites of Manchester's Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners. As yet, the turkeys are not worrying about their principal concern is getting their next meal—and one more crack at that neighboring cabbage-field!

CHINA PLACES ORDER FOR 12 WAR PLANES

Shanghai, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The Nationalist government today placed a rush order for twelve Vought-Corsair military air planes for possible use in the civil war it is waging against the rebellion Kuomintang or "People's Army."

The planes are to be shipped from New York at the earliest possible date. The order totals $400,000 gold.

Earl Baskey of St. Louis, a representative of the manufacturers, said this was the largest single order of American planes ever sold in China.

SOUTH END'S MAIL ROUTES EXTENDED

Great Many Homes to Get Better Delivery Service Under the Plan.

More than 300 persons at the south end of the town who have been receiving their mail in rather inconvenient ways, will have it delivered to their homes starting next Monday morning. Postmaster Oliver F. Toop said today in announcing one of the largest extensions of the service that has been made in a long time. Some 150 homes are effected which means that the number of persons benefited may run considerably higher than that figure.

In order to bring about the extension it has been necessary to revise the entire carrier delivery system making changes in all of the ten routes. One additional carrier has been added. This work will be taken care of by Wesley Bula, sub-carrier, who will no doubt be made a regular carrier before long.

The new homes affected by the change now receive their mail in one of three different manners, by rural free delivery, general delivery or through a box office.

Naturally the change will be far more convenient, speedy and efficient.

It was planned to have the service extension put into effect previously but the huge amount of red tape and work necessary to satisfy government officials in making such a change, caused an unforeseen delay.

The new territory to receive the carriers' service includes the following: West Center street, Cooper to McKee street, McKee, West Center street to Summer street, Dougherty street, Victoria Road, Proctor Road, Henderson street, Comstock Road, Arvins Place, Cone street, Girard street, Stephen street, Fairview street.

Postmaster Toop said that the alterations to the entire system would result in many persons having their mail delivered by a different carrier. For a day or two, he added, there may be a bit of confusion and delay, but if the patrons will be patient and cooperate by installing proper mail receptacles, everything will be running smoothly again in short order. It is obligatory that all persons receiving carriers' service have receptacles.

The new territory was canvassed again yesterday to get the names and house numbers on the various streets.

Paraphernalia for the contract station at the Crosby Drug Store at 444 Center street near the Blue-Add office will begin functioning. Harold L. Crosby has been named clerk. The contract station takes care of about everything that can be handled at the post office except international money orders and postal savings.

REC NOTES

Starting Tuesday, October 29th bridge will be played rather than whist at the afternoon card parties at the West Side Rec.

We are hoping to see many women there.

There has been a change in the schedule. The women's gym class has been changed from Thursday evening to Wednesday evening at 7:00 o'clock. The period on Monday evening is made up of wholly of exercises, followed by a game. Wednesday night class, part time is given to apparatus.

Handicraft is being taught at the West Side Rec on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock and Friday at 7:30. The class has started in on yarn pocket-books. These will be followed by novelty ideas of the winter and work on hooked rugs.

Children's dancing is on Wednesday, for advanced and Thursday for beginners.

Thursday afternoon at the East Side Rec. The first prize of the ladies whist party went to Mrs. Wm. Dowd of Maple street, second to Mrs. Gordon of 689 Main street.

A ladies clog dancing class is being held on Wednesday night at 7:45. Ballroom dancing is held on Monday at 8:00 o'clock.

SCOTT WEAKER.

New Haven, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The condition of Warden H. K. W. Scott at St. Raphael's hospital today was again extremely weak.

The season is almost at hand for juvenile conduct to be improving. And let's see, how many more shopping days?

STATE MASTER PAINTERS IN CONVENTION HERE

Monthly Gathering Held at Country Club—Local Persons Entertain Visitors.

State officers of the Master Painter's Association were present at the monthly meeting of the Manchester chapter at the Country Club last night. They were G. A. Beach, with, president, of New London; Frederick Peach, vice president, of Hartford; M. A. Clark, secretary, of Meriden; and Harry Thompson, past president, of New Britain.

They were accompanied by their wives as were the local members, the party numbering 45. A meeting of the executive board was held prior to the chicken supper served by the Country Club force.

John Tynan, president of the Manchester chapter acted as master of ceremonies and introduced the guests, each of whom gave short talks.

Miss Helen Berggren opened the program with solos followed by numbers by G. Albert and Helge Pearson. William Halsted of the local telephone exchange spoke on the telephone system and entertained with feats of sleight of hand and other magical tricks, to prove himself the hit of the evening. John I. Olson led the singing of songs by the diners.

An experienced motorist is a man who can't understand how, as a small boy, he ever cherished a desire to be a policeman.

HUNT MISSING MAN

East Hampton, Oct. 25.—(AP)—A searching party was out in the woods of the West Chester section this morning to find Lawrence House, 34, who went hunting yesterday. He came home and said he was not feeling well and thought if he went out into the woods he might feel better. He had suffered from heart trouble, members of the family said and fear was entertained when he did not return last night that he had become exhausted or had a heart attack.

30 CANDIDATES TO BE MADE MOOSE SUNDAY

Full Degree Team Under Frank Montie to Work in Special Meeting at Tinker Hall.

Thirty candidates will be initiated in full form into Manchester Lodge, No. 1477, Loyal Order of Moose by the full degree team led by Frank Montie, past senior dictator, at a special meeting of the lodge in Tinker Hall at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Answering an appeal for increased membership issued by the supreme dictator of the world the Manchester Lodge is doing its bit and will boast a membership of 350 after Sunday's initiation. Following the ceremony in Tinker Hall the meeting will adjourn to the Home Club on Brainerd Place for a supper and entertainment.

Representatives are expected from Bristol, Wallingford, Middletown and Hartford.

FIRST REALTY AUCTION NEAR CENTER IN YEARS

Will Be Held Tomorrow as Late W. H. Wright Property on East Center Street Goes On Sale.

For the first time in many years a public auction of real estate situated near the center of the town will be held when property of the late William H. Wright at 128 East Center street goes under the hammer of Robert M. Reid & Son, auctioneers, at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Unusual interest is attached to the sale of the property in that it lies close to the business district of Manchester on a main state highway. It consists of a modern frame house of six rooms and an extra corner lot bounded on the easterly side by Foster street.

At an auction by the Reid's held at the property of Axel Hansson on Munro street yesterday a crowd of 200 was present. Which incidentally demonstrates the drawing power of Herald advertising, this newspaper being the only medium through which the auction was announced.

The water is so clear in the floods of Norway that objects an inch and a half in diameter can be seen distinctly at a depth of 150 feet.

GOVERNMENT SEEKS $16,000,000 TAXES

Sends Representatives to London to Interview Heirs of Astor Estate.

New York, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Samuel C. Coleman, an assistant to U. S. Attorney Charles H. Tuttle, will sail for Europe tomorrow to take the testimony of Lord Astor, Major John Jacob Astor, Mrs. H. Spencer-Clay and other witnesses who cannot attend the forthcoming trial here of the William Waldorf Astor Trust Estate's suit to recover $16,000,000 from the United States government. The suit is based on the government's $11,000,000 inheritance tax assessment against the trust estate at the time of Baron Astor's death in 1919. The Farmers Loan & Trust Company, as trustee, is asking for an additional $5,000,000 interest, bringing the total up to $16,000,000. Made British Subject.

William Waldorf Astor, who left the United States in 1893 and subsequently became the first Baron Astor, a British subject, established a trust for his children by bequeathing to the Farmers Loan & Trust Company, as trustee, all of his property in New York City. The estate was at that time worth $50,000,000. Mr. Coleman said today it is now "probably worth about $100,000,000."

Holding that Baron Astor had created the trust in anticipation of his death, the government insisted that the heirs pay inheritance tax on it. The Farmers Loan & Trust Company paid under protest and is now seeking to recover the money.

FIND SEVEN BODIES

Milwaukee, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Seven bodies today marked the resting place of a lake Michigan steamer and revealed the fate of her crew of 54.

Each encased in a lifebelt, they floated among wreckage from their ill-fated ship, the Grand Trunk car ferry Milwaukee on the lake 16 miles southeast of Kenosha, Wis.

A half dozen boats were detailed to steam to the scene and complete the work of salvage today. Last night, searchers recovered seven bodies and bits of wreckage which told how the Milwaukee plunged to the bottom when she was unable to breast the battering waves of Tuesday night's storm and make port at Grand Haven.

HOLLYWOOD LOSSES LESS THAN $2,000,000

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 25.—(AP)—

Losses incidental to the destruction of the laboratory here of the Consolidated Film Industries were tentatively fixed today at less than $2,000,000. It was found that several of the valuable screen productions stored in the building were not damaged. Company officials said the exact loss could not be determined until an accounting had been made. One man was killed but fifty other employees fled to safety before the fire gutted the structure yesterday. Films Safe. Fears that the six vaults in the building might have been penetrated by heat sufficiently to damage master films known to be inside were allayed, at least partially, by the opening of one of the rooms last night. The films were found in perfect condition. The remaining vaults were to be opened today. A million feet of film, most of which was believed to have been positive, was burned, company executives estimated. Positives can be reproduced from the original or master, film. Prior to 1825 all women's shoes were made without heels.

"THE FOUR FEATHERS"
MARVELOUS DRAMA

At State Theater Today and Tomorrow; No Dialogue But Extremely Exciting.

Action-plus adventure, terror and perils of such convincing bigness that audiences who behold it are swept into transports of excitement, aptly describes "The Four Feathers" which opens a two day engagement at the State today. Here is "a" picture—and not a word of dialogue in it. This alone in a day when talkers are rapidly establishing a new show world, is ample recommendation for seeing it twice. It is a big picture—one which is too big even for dialogue. But it should be said right here that it has one of the best musical scores of any picture that has yet reached the screen. The story is based on the famous novel of British soldier life in the Sudan, and is often referred to as the "British Bible of Courage." Richard Arlen, a young officer, is branded as a coward by his comrades. He swears he will come back, and he does.

How the youth conquers the stigma of cowardice forms the theme for the story which carries him and his three comrades, Clive Brook, William Powell and Theodore von Eltz through the kind of human adventures we have all seen in "Beau Geste", and then some. It would be an idle waste of words to try to describe "The Four Feathers" in detail. It can only be said that there is one of the most magnificent, one of the most thrilling adventure pictures of all time. The surrounding program will include a all talking comedy, "Snapping Sneezers," the latest news events, and two Vitaphone vaudeville acts, Walter Kelley, the Virginia Judge, and Green Flapperettes.

LOST PLANE ARRIVES

Le Bourget, Oct. 25.—(AP.)—The missing airplane "Knight of the Grail" which was supposed to put in here yesterday enroute from Croydon, England, to Nairobi, Kenya colony, Africa, arrived at 9:45 a. m. today. Five passengers were aboard.

TODAY IS THE ANNIVERSARY

JOHN HANCOCK HONORED

On Oct. 25, 1780, John Hancock was chosen first governor of Massachusetts under the new Constitution. Election to the governorship was only one of honors conferred upon Hancock during his many years of service to the state. Hancock was born in Braintree, Mass., in 1737, and graduated from Harvard in 1754. He was for several years one of the selectmen of Boston and after 1766 was repeatedly elected to the Massachusetts General Court. After the "Boston Massacre" in 1770, he was a member of the committee appointed to demand the removal of British troops from the city. He represented Massachusetts in the first Continental Congress and in May, 1775, was elected president of that body. He was a member of the Massachusetts constitution convention in 1780 and upon adoption of the Constitution there framed was elected governor, and was retained in annual re-elections until 1785. He was again governor from 1787 until his death in 1793.

BIG RAIN HEADED OFF GRASS FIRE EPIDEMIC

According to Chief Albert Foy of the South Manchester Fire Department, the heavy rain of Tuesday night came just in the nick of time to relieve the firemen of a lot of work. Conditions had become exactly right, with the combination of dried grass and fallen leaves without trace of moisture in them, for procession of the grass and brush fires which occur frequently in the fall. As most of these fires start in parts of the town where there is no piped water supply, they put the firemen to a great deal of labor in extinguishing them. The drenching rain this week, however, removed the grass fire danger in large degree and probably for some little time.

Judging by recent captures, the rum industry seems to have been educated correctly to the Wall Street merger idea.

This Changing Age—

LONDON NOT HIT

BY PRICE SLUMP

London, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Trans-Atlantic stocks showed a better tendency at the opening of the Stock Exchange today. Wall street's final rally being responsible for recoveries from the lowest touched in the street here last night. A good deal of profit-taking took place on speculative issues recently and it was believed losses on yesterday's slump would not be severe. A feature of the market today was the strength of investment and gilt-edged stocks on the rise of the sterling exchange rate. It was of the opinion that a return of further money to London also would bring American balances, while the improving New York Exchange rate which is nearing the gold point appears to envisage gold shipments from New York to Europe, paving the way for a reduction of the bank rate.

HOLY LAND RIOTERS

RECEIVE SENTENCES

Jerusalem, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Sentence of two years imprisonment and fine of £50 ($242), plus trial costs, was passed yesterday on Sheik Taleb Markah after conviction in Jerusalem District Court on charges of instigating the recent Semitic Moslem disorders at Hebron. Sixty Jews were killed in the disturbances and scores injured. The trial which began October 17 was considered the key case in the trials growing out of the outbreaks. At Haifa, Ahmed Scharifa and Ahmed Selma Zamil were both sentenced to death by Chief Justice Sir Michael MacDonnalle, sitting with Judge Litt, for the death of Hannah Kohen, wife of Raphael Kohen, during the outbreak at Safed, August 28. Two other Arabs found guilty of complicity in the murder were sentenced to prison terms of ten years.

WARNER BROS. RE-OPEN

CIRCLE THEATER HERE

Double Feature Program to Start Week-End Bill at Oak Street House.

The Circle Theater, which has been closed during the summer months, will re-open Saturday and Sunday of each week, starting tomorrow, under the direction of Warner Bros., who now operate the State in this city. The same high-class type of entertainment as is being presented at the State will be shown at the Circle, the Warner Bros. being very jealous of their reputation as theater operators. The feature programs, with each picture carefully selected in order that the program may be properly balanced. The opening program will be composed of "Tim McCoy in the fast and intensely interesting story of western frontier life, "The Overland Telegraph." It is a story replete with thrills, fast riding and no little romance, in the days when telegraph lines were following across the country on the heels of the procession of covered wagons. The story is based on historical episodes of these stirring days and is sure to please all lovers of outdoor action pictures. The co-feature presents Robert Elliott, Dorothy Burgess and Paul Fage in the exciting story of newspaper life, "Production." Drama, comedy, thrilling action, love, romance, vigorous character work, and above all, the suggested moral, that evil cannot prosper, are the ingredients from which this picture is born. The king of racketeers backed by the prestige of a gang of crooked politicians, and a hard-boiled newspaper editor who refuses to be intimidated either with bribes or machine guns, are the opposing factions of this exciting tale.

If the population of South Africa goes on increasing within the next 50 years at the present ratio, the white population will increase to 4,000,000, and the blacks to 27,000,000.

WAPPING

The Golden Wedding Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Dewey was observed at the Dewey home last Wednesday afternoon and evening. The house was tastefully decorated for the occasion. One hundred eighteen of their relatives and friends gathered to help make the occasion a gala day. There were guests present from Manchester, Warehouse Point, Windsor Locks, East Hartford, Suffield, Hartford, Norfolk, New Britain, Glastonbury, Broad Brook, West Simsbury, Thompsonville, Ashford, Springfield and Florence, Mass., and Wapping. Mr. and Mrs. Dewey were presented with $150.00 in gold of which $60.00 was a gift of the friends and neighbors of the community in which Mr. and Mrs. Dewey have lived for the last 40 years, where he has taken an active part in church work and town affairs. There were many other gifts including china, flowers and a beautiful bridge lamp, and a very lovely large basket of yellow chrysanthemums. The day was gorgeous, and even the trees seemed to be dressed in gold for the occasion. A most enjoyable time was had by everyone present. There were also 51 golden wedding cards sent by relatives and friends who were unable to be present. The Federated Workers will give their annual chicken-pie supper in the Wapping school hall, on Friday evening, November 1. The supper will be served from 6 to 8 o'clock, for $1.00 a plate. The menu is as follows: fruit cocktail, chicken pie, mashed potato, turnips, salads, mince, Mrs. Augusta Burger is chairman of the supper committee, with Mrs. C. Vinton Benjamin, Mrs. Hattie Lane, Mrs. Bertina Nevins, Mrs. Robert Valentine, Mrs. Hattie Chandler as assistants. There will also be a sale of aprons, comfortable and fancy articles as well as home-made food and candy. Mrs. George C. West will have charge of the food sale. The Christian Endeavor society will hold their regular meeting at the Federated church next Sunday evening at 8:30 o'clock. The topic will be "What is Worship?" Miss Ellen J. Foster and Raymond Burger will be the leaders. The regular church service will follow at 7:30 o'clock. Rev. Francis Fate of Glastonbury, preached at the First Congregational church at South Windsor, last Sunday morning.

TWELVE YEAR OLD BOY STRANGLES OLD WOMAN

New York, Oct. 25.—(AP)—A 12-year-old boy was held on a charge of homicide today for strangling a 78-year-old widow who detected him stealing $3 from her dresser. Mrs. Clara Hewes, bed-ridden widow of "Hewes the Magician," awoke just as Edward Moran, the janitor's son in the West 17th street apartment in which she lived, was leaving. "Edward," the boy quoted her as saying, "you put that back where you got it." "So," said Edward in his confession to the police, "we got rasslin' and she tried to take the money away from me. But I got my hands around her neck and gave her a shove, and she fell right back on the bed. She was so stiff I got scared. I then threw a brick through the transom window to make everybody think it was robbers and went back to school." Three hours after Edward had taken the money he had lost $2.50 of it in a game of dice and had spent the remaining fifty cents for candy. Although Mrs. Hewes lived on charity and small sums she obtained by telling fortunes, she was found to have $15,000 in banks.

HALF OF ARMY NOW IN NEW QUARTERS

Progress Shown in War Department Report — 37 Millions Appropriated.

Washington, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Progress in getting the Army out of temporary, and into permanent living quarters, is shown in figures compiled at the War Department. Although the problem, which first became acute in the latter part of the Harding administration, is still recognized as urgent, gratification is expressed at the relief already obtained under the ten-year housing program authorized by Congress three years ago.

Whether the Army economy study being conducted at the direction of President Hoover will affect the program to a great extent has not been indicated. During Congressional consideration of the project it was estimated to call for an expenditure of about $110,000,000, however, and because of the large sum involved it is undoubtedly being given close attention in the new study of Army costs.

Half Housed.
Provisions already have been made for permanent quarters for more than half of the 40,000 officers and enlisted men who were living five years ago in tents or flimsy wooden structures thrown together during the war for only four or five years of service. A large number still live in temporary quarters but the Army authorities are gaining hope that permanent, sanitary, comfortable buildings will be provided for all before the end of the ten year period.

Congress has appropriated more than $37,000,000 for new Army post living quarters in the last few years. Some have been completed and others are still in the planning stage. Altogether the funds thus far made available are expected to pay for permanent quarters of 717 officers, 23,384 non-commissioned officers, 23,384 enlisted men, and 1,777 patients. Other appropriations have been authorized but not actually made.

New Quarters.
Since the fiscal year 1927, when the program went into effect, new permanent living quarters have been constructed for almost five thousand officers and enlisted men. In the same period it has been found possible to transfer more than 5,000 from posts where they could not be satisfactorily housed to others where better shelter was available.

During the Congressional discussion of the housing problem while it was in its most acute stage, much thought was given to a plan under which the regular Army would be concentrated in fewer and larger posts at strategic points. No serious attempt, however, was made to put it into effect despite the cost of garrison overhead by elimination of a great number of small scattered posts with their separate supply, medical and other administrative staffs and provide better training facilities for a modern army. The cost of putting such a project into effect, it was estimated, would be very high. Further objection was found in the unwillingness of many communities to lose Army posts on which they are more or less dependent for their existence, and various military complications were foreseen, which also helped to offset the expected advantages.

RECORD ATTENDANCE AT RED CROSS SESSION

Registration Shows 307 Delegates Here—Called Most Successful in Years.

With a registered attendance of 307 delegates, and about fifty present that did not register, the 1929 state conference of the American Red Cross held at the South Methodist Church yesterday goes down on the records as the most phenomenal successful in point of attendance and interest gained at any conference held in recent years.

Of the number present 73 were juniors, that is members of the Junior Red Cross. Ranging in ages from 12 to 18, they came from schools throughout the state and spoke of their experiences in Red Cross work at the round table discussion in charge of Miss Edith Peckham.

Following luncheon the conference resumed with round table discussions lasting until four o'clock when the meeting adjourned.

The largest attendance discussion was the Junior Red Cross with nearly 120 taking part. The Manchester members, 13 in number, all dressed in costume representing a foreign nation, put a sketch in which was told the work of the Red Cross across the seas.

Exhibit of sewing, art, portfolios, dolls, and magazines by both students of foreign countries and students of the United States were laid out on tables about the room and were objects of much interest.

The various round table discussions were as follows: Home Health in Nursing and Home Health in Nursing and Home Health in Nursing; charge of Miss Sarah R. Addison; Disaster Organization, James T. Nicholson; Roll Call, Douglas Griesemer; Post War Service, Thomas J. Kehoe; First Aid and Life Saving, William E. Longfellow.

SCHECTMAN ARRESTED IN VERNON ACCIDENT

Hartford Driver to Be Tried in Rockville Court on Reckless Driving Charge.

Maurice Schectman of 346 Vine street, Hartford, driver of one of the automobiles which was involved in the accident at Vernon, Center two weeks ago when six people were injured, has been placed under arrest on a charge of reckless driving.

It will be recalled that he was returning from the Stafford Springs Fair with a group of members of the Governor's Foot Guard Band when he clashed with two other automobiles, which was the result of two people being sent to the Rockville hospital and two to the Manchester hospital. Schectman was treated at the Hartford hospital. He has retained the law firm of Schatz & Schatz.

The case will be tried in the Rockville City Court in a few weeks or as soon as the girls who were injured are able to appear in court.

U. S. IS INTERESTED IN THE DAWES PLAN

Berlin, Oct. 25.—(AP)—It was authoritatively stated today that negotiations now going on between Jacob Gould Schurman, American ambassador, and the German foreign office regarding American reparations settlements involve only the specific manner of the transfers of American payments under the Young plan and in no wise jeopardize American co-operation in the Young plan itself.

The negotiations, it was stated, also are not to be regarded as an indication that the United States disassociates itself from the plan.

America's Part.
It was pointed out in official circles that American participation in the Dawes plan and Young plan always has been unofficial in character through non-governmental representatives and when the Dawes plan was drawn up negotiations also were carried on through the Embassy here solely for the purpose of establishing the technical method of American payment.

Other governments also are drawing up plans for transfer methods. Continuation of American participation in the Young plan conferences through American bankers was expected here to continue wholly unaltered.

MAXIM GORKY ILL.

Moscow, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Because of the poor condition of his health Maxim Gorky, who has spent the past six months studying Soviet conditions in Russia and visiting his old home, left for Sorrento, Italy, today.

Many high officials including Alexey Rykoff, Clemence Voroshiloff and A. Mikoyan were at the railroad station to bid him farewell.

The famous writer said he hoped to return to Moscow next spring.

HIGHLAND PARK CLUB PLANS A MASQUERADE

To Be Held Tomorrow Night at Clubhouse—Mrs. Robert Dougan, Chairman.

The annual masquerade and dance will be held tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock at the Highland Park Community club. A large turnout of members and friends is hoped for, as well as those who at any time in the past were connected with the club. The clubhouse has been decorated in true Halloween fashion by the social committee, Mrs. Robert Dougan, chairman, and the HOUSE COMMITTEE, FRANK E. BENTLEY, CHAIRMAN.

It is hoped that just as many as can possibly do so will make and come in costume. Cash prizes will be given for the best dressed lady, the second best, and to the man wearing the most comical rig. The grand march will begin promptly at 9 o'clock.

The children will be welcome to come and have a part in the jollity, and games especially for the little ones will be in charge of Miss Evelyn Beer. Cash prizes will be given to the best dressed boy and girl and the funniest dressed boy. Both modern and old-fashion dances will be on the program, with a five-piece orchestra and Oscar String to prompt. Mrs. Dougan and her associates on the social committee will see to refreshments for everyone.

HOLD SEVEN PERSONS IN KIDNAPING PLOT

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Seven persons were in custody today in connection with the kidnaping of 5-year-old Jackie Thompson and police were searching the city for two others suspected of participating in the plot.

The child was discovered in an east side house Wednesday night by police shortly after the father, Henry S. Thompson, had paid a ransom reported to have been $25,000.

Those held today are James Fernando, 39; his wife, Anna, 23; Emil Saove, 23; Anthony Duguanno, 28; his wife, Mary, 19; Anthony ABRUZZESE, 32, AND JOSEPH DE GEORGE, 42.

Fernando, Saove and Duguanno are charged with kidnaping. Thompson is said to have identified Fernando as one of the gang who kidnaped his son Sept. 30. The remainder of the prisoners are held for investigation.

Only part of the $25,000 ransom paid by Thompson has been recovered, police said. It is thought the two men still at large have the balance of the money. The ransom consisted of $17,000 cash and $8,000 in notes.

BANK RAISES RATES

MADAME CURIE ON WAY TO DEDICATE BUILDING

Vanhornesville, N. Y., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Madame Marie Curie, woman scientist, left here today for Canton, N. Y., where she will visit St. Lawrence University and on Saturday dedicate a laboratory building there. She was accompanied on the motor trip by Owen Young, chairman of the board of directors of the General Electric Company, and her host wife in this country.

Madame Curie left Schenectady remaining at the Young home over night. While here, she was a guest at a dinner given by Mr. Young.

FRANKNESS VS. SLYNES

A reader of this newspaper has sent to us the following cutting from a speech of President Butterworth at the mid-year conference of the United States Chamber of Commerce:

Business must understand that, as such, it has no sacred privileges which the public is bound to respect. It must realize that if it is to retain its legitimate liberty, it must win and keep public confidence; and the only way to win confidence is to deserve it.

extraordinary in the higher grade ready-made shops. Similarly, the $15 topcoat of the 1904 period is sadly overplayed. It was a garment such as few of even Capper's present readers would be willing to be found wearing at a dog fight. As for the Tux at $25—fiddle! you can buy 'em for that today. While the $2 trousers never were either genuine worsted or cheviot, but shoddy and basted together.

HARLEM NEGROES

We trust we shall not be misunderstood when we confess to some confusion of mind over the starting of a movement in New York city for the improvement of health conditions among the Harlem Negroes. We are perfectly sincere in saying that there seems to us to be an almost grotesque degree of irony in the establishment of prenatal and well-baby clinics for the purpose of decreasing infant mortality among a race which, after it shall have been rescued from death in childhood, is to be abandoned to a completely hopeless struggle after a supportably decent existence.

New York has never taken a single tentative step of any sort toward solving the problem of its enormously increasing Negro population. It has never even gone so far as to definitely recognize that it has any such problem. Its government and its people are not only utterly inept in this relationship, but their minds are obviously blank toward it.

If nearly a quarter of a million human beings, compressed into, an area which 50,000 would comfortably crowd, are to be left indefinitely to the alternative of wretched destitution or chronic criminalism, then the more of them that are released through the natural processes of disintegration, and the earlier in life, the happier their lot.

We do not question the humanity of the persons who are interesting themselves in the improvement of Negroes' health in Harlem. But seriously we doubt if they are doing the subjects of the movement any real kindness in the circumstances.

"ASSISTED ATHLETES"

The revelations of the Carnegie Foundation's survey concerning the de facto professionalism of many college athletes, particularly football players, though they seem to be very generally accredited with extraordinary news value, are actually of importance rather from the degree of authenticity that attaches to them than from the freshness of the information they convey. That the practice of "assisting" exceptional athletes is usual and the recruiting of football cases almost grotesque in its effrontery are matters of common knowledge and have been for a long time.

Nevertheless the very people who should know about a thing are frequently the last to find it out—particularly when they are disposed to close their ears to rumor. And so it is likely that the Foundation's disclosures will come with some little shock to that minor group of American parents who are making all sorts of sacrifices to send their sons to college, not so much for the material advantages to be expected nor yet because it is "the thing to do," but because they have an idealistic notion that university life is, on the whole, ennobling and encouraging to the highest standards of honor.

There really are such people, lots of them. They hope that their sons will emerge from college with a lofty code of ethics if nothing else. And to them it must be profoundly distressing to be told, on such impeccable authority, that the methods of the race track and the prize ring are quite as noble and ennobling as the conduct of athletics in the great majority of American colleges.

CAN SPOT 'EM

Dr. Noguchi, Japanese scientist, thinks he is well started on the road to biological achievements whereby he can make a white person out of a Negro or Mongolian, a beauty out of an ugly duckling or a giant out of a dwarf. No doubt William Randolph Hearst is already having prepared for his newspaper special articles sounding a wild alarm against the time when myriad Japs, successfully masquerading as Swedes or Aberdeen Scots, shall bootleg themselves into the United States, take possession of it and turn our glorious old America into a province of Nippon, like Korea. Mr. Hearst should calm his fears. Dr. Noguchi hasn't laid claim to capacity for changing anything but the physical attributes of a human being, and so long as the Nipponese are unable to get rid of their universal trait of so speaking all foreign languages that it sounds like the hissing of a flock of geese they will always be infallibly identifiable, even if they have red heads, blue eyes and Vermont whiskers.

TOO BAD

From all accounts Urban F. Diteman, latest victim of a passion to fly the Atlantic, was a rather unusually likable man. It is a pity that he, in the early prime of life and a husband and father, should have yielded to a form of desire for adventure which it is difficult to differentiate from mental disease.

IN NEW YORK

New York, Oct. 25.—Almost anything can happen in the lower Bowery.

Including an announcement that the hoboes of America will get out their own "literary organ."

With my own ears, I heard the preliminary statement made by one who answered the nonde-bobo of "Rex."

Rex, one learns, is the "Shakespeare of the tramps." When he announces a magazine, a periodical or whatever it is going to be, it becomes a "literary organ" or a "spokesman" or something like that. Rex unfortunately didn't explain just how a wanderer could keep up with his subscription. A gentleman on the move from Salt Lake to California or from Kansas to some southwest town isn't likely to ask the sheriff to forward his mail.

Addressing a hobo magazine, so it seems to me, would be one of the most difficult jobs. Even the efficient American postoffice system could not be expected to send a postman to the "third freight car from the end." Nor would "Jungle" just out of Kalamazoo" seem an address.

At least the magazine is expected—so I gathered from Rex—to keep the "hobo" out of many small town jails. One of the most prevalent charges against the army of Nomads has been that of vagrancy. But a "bo" who wishes to have a visible means of support can carry a few magazines in his bundle and claim to be a magazine salesman. Furthermore, he can change the tune of his old panhandle.

Since there is now a hobo college in Chicago, and another anticipated for New York, he can give the familiar line of "helping a worthy young man from college."

When the farmer suggests that he cut a little wood for his "hand-out," the "bo" can now sit down and talk about life and art. Or trade a half-year's subscription for some hotcakes.

"Rex," whose real name is Daniel O'Brien, is slender and wiry and white of hair. He has the further epithet of "King of the hobos."

The "highbrow" hoboes of the Bowery belt are one of its more recent manifestations. They can discuss economics, philosophical notions and humanitarian tendencies with considerable vigor and grace.

The hall in lower Fourth Street wherein they meet is, ironically enough, equipped with chairs that occupy the chairs are typical floating Boweryites, whose own tattered limbs seem strangely out of place in the presence of gilt and upholstery.

The hoboes, it seems, are divided into classifications which include seasonal and sporadic workers, intellectual vagabonds, wandering unskilled laborers, out-and-out dyed-in-the-wool bindle stiffs and down-and-outs. They deny any relationship with mere panhandlers, beggars and such.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Editor's Note: This is the fifth of a series of stories by Rodney Dutcher presenting historical phases of lobbying in Washington.

By RODNEY DUTCHER.

Washington.—The history books make no record of the first lovely lady lobbyist who appeared here to prey on susceptible members of Congress, but there is no reason to doubt that she was contemporaneous with Washington and Hamilton and Jefferson.

The outbreak of the Civil War found a battalion of them employed here, for they had been found effective. Some of them earned the title of "spider lobbyists" and were possessed of more charm than virtuous reputation.

While the two houses of Congress were convulsed by sectional strife, says one writer who had observed them in action, "there was no cessation in the presentation of jobs, some of which were disgraceful schemes for plundering the treasury."

From All Classes.—"The most active advocates of these swindles, and some more meritorious legislation which they were paid to advocate, were the lady lobbyists. Some of them were the widows of officers of the army or navy, others the daughters of congressmen, and others had drifted in from home localities where they had found themselves the subjects of scandalous comments.

The parlors of some of these dames were exquisitely furnished with works of art and bric-a-brac, donated by admirers. Every evening they received, and in the winter their blazing wood fires were surrounded by a distinguished circle.

"Some would treat favored guests to a game of euchre, and as mid-adornment to the dining room, where a choice supper was served, a cold duck, a venison pie, broiled oysters or some other exquisitely cooked dish with salads and cheese, generally constituted the repast, with iced champagne or Burgundy at blood-heat. Who could blame the congressman for leaving the bad cooking of his hotel of boarding-house, with an absence of all home comforts, to walk into the parlor web which the adroit spider lobbyist had cunningly woven for him?"

A favorite method of the old-time lady lobbyist was to hire or acquire a husband merely to point out to congressmen as the man who understood her.

Back in the Van Buren administration came a lovely lady from Europe who did some heavy lobbying on her account. She called herself America Vespucci and with considerable vigor and grace.

The hall in lower Fourth Street wherein they meet is, ironically enough, equipped with chairs that occupy the chairs are typical floating Boweryites, whose own tattered limbs seem strangely out of place in the presence of gilt and upholstery.

The hoboes, it seems, are divided into classifications which include seasonal and sporadic workers, intellectual vagabonds, wandering unskilled laborers, out-and-out dyed-in-the-wool bindle stiffs and down-and-outs. They deny any relationship with mere panhandlers, beggars and such.

Missions and social workers have attempted to uplift many of them for many a year.

Mid-winter finds the lower Bowery most amenable in a mission and can get a hand-out of coffee and beans.

Ford says women won't figure in industry much longer because they don't think. But do they have to think when they have the figures?

Moore, Carlyle, the two Disraelis, Hallam, Southey, Bulwer-Lytton and many other British authors and poets in 1837 joined in a petition to the Senate for protection against piracy of their works by American book interests. They pointed to the tremendous American popularity of Sir Walter Scott, who never received a cent, and said that an "equitable remuneration might have saved his life."

Colorful living room groupings are smart this Fall. The Lawson type sofa, above, comes in two grades, $107 and $170, in denim. To left, a New England wing chair, covered with figured tapetes, $53. A Queen Anne occasional chair, left, upholstered in moquette velour, $53. The occasional chair to right, is covered with frize and mohair $19.80. Roomy Coxwell chairs, sketched above, in combinations of tapetries and velours, $49.50. The roll-arm sofa, sketched below, is a luxurious, comfortable piece, $141.30 in figured tapete. Semiformal Queen Anne arm chairs, shown above, in mohair-tapestry combinations, $32.40. WATKINS BROTHERS, Inc. 55 YEARS AT SOUTH MANCHESTER. MANCHESTER DUO-DOLLAR STORE

one copyright law and now they had the petition consigned to the archives. The piracy went on. . . . Tweed Put One Over. William M. Tweed, then a New York congressman, got a relative a contract to supply the House with summer chairs which turned out to be worthless. . . . Horace H. Day, owner of the Chaffee crude rubber macerating patent, headed a band of lobbyists here for two seasons, trying to force extension of his patent. His lobby labored expensively and he always carried in his pocket a list of "Chaffee congressmen," but he lost when many of them turned out to be missing on the day of the vote.

In the Buchanan administration Laurence, Stone & Co. paid $58,000 to a Colonel Wolcott, who came here to lobby for Massachusetts manufacturers. When Wolcott got into trouble everyone believed that some congressman had been bribed, but the suspects loudly proclaimed that Wolcott must have pocketed all the money. Wolcott kept quiet.

Tomorrow: Lobbying in the time of Lincoln and Grant.

DOODY GETS CHAIR

Chicago, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Wesley Willie Doody, called the "Baby Face Killer," was found guilty today of murder, and sentenced to die in the electric chair.

Doody was tried for the slaying of Charles Levy, chief of Police of Berlin, who was shot dead last May when he attempted to arrest two men in a stolen automobile. The conviction was one of the few in recent years which have brought a death sentence against defendants classified as gangster-runners.

The Doody bravado, which had been noticeable throughout the trial, vanished when the jury foreman announced the verdict. The short-statured, "Baby Face" Doody dropped when it seemed he would collapse. He was led away with two bailiffs holding him up.

FAMIR CROSSED BY PLANE. Samarkand, Russian Turkistan, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The great Pamir mountain range which has faced the Russian Bear whenever he may have looked longingly in the direction of the rich plains of Russia has been crossed for the first time by airplane. Peter Baranoff, a commander in the Soviet Union air force, hopped over the barrier yesterday.

THE BEST STARCHES. The average person uses an excessive amount of starchy food in his daily diet. Further harm is caused by using this kind of food in wrong combinations with other food. Excess fermentation is thus set in the stomach and intestines and is productive of causes which lead to so many diseases.

In today's lesson I will explain 14 per cent. to 20 per cent. of starch. The best way to prepare potatoes is to cook them with their skin on, as this retains the valuable salts lying just under the skin. Baking destroys these salts, but potatoes prepared in this manner have a good flavor and the starch is partially converted into dextrin.

Fresh Green Corn is a good starch to use in season, while during the winter canned corn may be used in limited quantities. Macaroni, Spaghetti, Vermicelli, and Noodles, should be cooked in plain water and served with butter or cream. No onions, garlic, tomatoes or cheese should be used at the same time.

Hubbard Squash is a starchy gourd available during the winter months and provides a pleasing change from the starchy grains. Whole Rice is the best rice to use, as the valuable vitamins and proteins have not been removed. Prepare rice by soaking in plain water overnight and boil for at least an hour. Serve with butter or cream. Never add sugar to rice as this will induce excessive fermentation.

Cornmeal is a wholesome starchy food and may be made into muffins or cornbread. Do not mix with white flour. Wholewheat Muffins should be made out of the pure wholewheat flour which you can obtain in any Health Food Store.

Wholewheat Grain makes an excellent breakfast food if soaked overnight and cooked for at least an hour. This makes the best breakfast cereal you can obtain in any of the so-called breakfast foods.

Carrots, Turnips, Parsnips and Beets are medium starchy vegetables which contain about 12 per cent. starch when fully grown. These vegetables should always be prepared without removing their skins, which contain excellent blood-building and tissue-building material.

HEALTH & DIET ADVICE Dr. Frank McCoy. "The Best Way to Health". QUESTIONS IN REGARD TO HEALTH & DIET WILL BE ANSWERED BY DR. MCCOY WHO CAN BE REACHED IN CARE OF THIS PAPER. ENCLOSE STAMPED ADDRESS ENVELOPE FOR REPLY. DR. FRANK MCCOY, HEALTH STORE, 100 N. WASHINGTON ST., MANCHESTER, N. H.

Answer:—Poppy Oil, extracted from the poppy seed, is seeds that may be used as a salad oil, and is it a good food?

Question: H. J. asks:—"Is there an oil made from poppy popular in parts of Europe as a table oil. It is a pale yellow color, practically odorless, and has a very pleasing flavor. The interior grades are used in soap making and like products. As far as its food value is concerned, it has no special merit."

Developing Paralyzed Arm. Question: Mrs. M. writes:—"Three years ago my little girl had infantile paralysis which left her right arm quite useless. She can, with a struggle, move from poppy popular in parts of Europe as a table oil. It is a pale yellow color, practically odorless, and has a very pleasing flavor. The interior grades are used in soap making and like products. As far as its food value is concerned, it has no special merit."

Answer:—Your child's arm can be developed through proper treatment with electrotherapy. Certain currents can be applied to the arm muscles which will bring about a normal development. She has all of the muscle cells which are necessary to move the arm if they are only developed. This treatment is far superior to any surgical attempt to graft to another muscle.

Gaining Weight. Question: Miss H. K. writes:—"I enjoy reading your articles; they are interesting as well as helpful. I have been drinking milk to gain weight, a pint for breakfast, a pint at ten o'clock, at three o'clock, and before retiring. Have been drinking it this way for two months but do not seem to gain much. Do I drink enough? Do I drink it at the right hours?"

Answer:—If you take your milk along with other foods you will only bring on some disorder because of this over-feeding. If you want to try to gain weight through taking the milk diet it is necessary to give up all other foods. Then take a glass of milk every half hour during the day which will give you about six quarts daily. If you can drink this much you are bound to gain weight, but it might not be good weight, and may leave you after you have stopped taking the milk as fast as you put it on during the milk diet.

Belgian Congo has coal deposits of more than 1,000,000,000 tons.

There's Something in the Air!

Now it is a fact, of course, that men's clothes cost more for the same quality than they did in 1904. It is, however, simply untrue to assert that business suits of the best woolen material could be bought for $15 in that year. Woolen suits could, to be sure—but they were far from being of the "best" material. It took from $5 to $10 more than the Capper Weekly's figures to buy, in 1904, a suit of clothes in any way comparable to the "best," while $35 and $40 suits were not

The angel of the Lord encampeth round them that fear Him and delivereth them. For He shall give His angels charge over thee, to keep thee in all thy ways. They shall bear thee up in their hands, lest thou dash thy foot against a stone.—Psalm 91:11-12.

Comment
"I have lived 60 years and the most unexplainable thing in my life is, why I am still alive. From the severely injured, poisoned or dead many years ago. I am always comforted by these verses from the Bible, the only explanation I can offer for my present earthly existence."

MENUS For Good Health

A Week's Supply Recommended By Dr. Frank B. McCoy

Dr. McCoy's menus suggested for the week beginning Sunday, October 27th:

Breakfast—Coddled eggs, waffle (browned through), stewed pears.
Lunch—Asparagus, steamed carrots, lettuce.

Dinner—Tomato consomme, baked chicken or rabbit, parsnips, combination salad of cold cooked string beans, cucumbers and lettuce, peach whip.

Monday
Breakfast—Cottage cheese, sliced pineapple.
Lunch—Baked rice, cooked string beans, raw celery.

Dinner—Broiled steak, spinach, salad of grated raw carrots and diced celery, cold minced prunes, with whipped cream.

Tuesday
Breakfast—French omelet, Melba toast, stewed figs.
Lunch—Vegetables with whole-wheat noodles.

Dinner—Roast pork, cooked turnips, okra, salad of raw spinach leaves, baked apple.

Wednesday
Breakfast—Wholewheat muffins with peanut butter, Pear sauce.
Lunch—Baked squash, cooked lettuce, cucumbers.

Dinner—Mushroom soup, broiled lamb chops, steamed carrots, McCoy salad, apricot whip.

Thursday
Breakfast—Baked eggs, Melba toast, stewed raisins.
Lunch—Buttered noodles, cooked turnips, celery.

Dinner—Roast beef, cooked string beans, salad of tomatoes, spinach and asparagus, pineapple sponge.

Friday
Breakfast—Coddled eggs, broiled ham, waffle, applesauce.
Lunch—Sandwiches of real wholewheat bread and peanut butter, shredded lettuce.

Dinner—Baked halibut, stewed tomatoes, spinach, McCoy salad, no dessert.

Saturday
Breakfast—Cottage cheese, stewed peaches.
Lunch—Carrot loaf, cooked lettuce and parsley, celery.

Dinner—Vegetable soup, Salsbury steak, buttered vegetables consisting of carrots, turnips and beets cooked separately and diced together when tender, head lettuce with olive oil, ice cream.

*Vegetables with wholewheat noodles: Cook together for about twenty minutes in a heavy, tightly covered pan (without water) the desired amounts of fresh spinach, chopped cucumbers and celery. Cover the bottom of a baking dish with cooked wholewheat noodles, add a layer of the vegetables, including half of a small can of bean sprouts. Continue until the dish is filled, covering all with the noodles. Each layer may be seasoned with a little salt if desired. Bake until slightly browned on top and serve with butter.

A THOUGHT

For the needy shall not always be forgotten: the expectation of the poor shall not perish forever.—Psalms 9:18.

We may cover a multitude of sins with the white robe of charity.—Beecher.

A Chicago woman says her husband gave her a dime a day on which to run the house. She didn't tell how much she saved out of it, however.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Dry Hands
Question: Miss H. C. asks:—"Will you please tell me what causes my hands to be exceedingly dry—so dry they often wrinkle in the palms? This is mostly at night. Also, I have a craving for fresh fruit and cool tart drinks—anything cold and juicy. I have been this way for several years."

Answer:—Satisfy your craving for fresh fruit by eating nothing else for a few days. This treatment will help to correct the dryness of your skin. For temporary relief rub cocobutter on the skin. Use a small amount over the body each night before you retire.

Protein is Necessary
Question:—Reader asks:—"What do you consider as really the most important food elements?"

Answer:—Protein is the most important substance used in the building of the body. An ample amount in the daily fare is of the utmost importance in order to effect repairs in the cell structure and muscles, and to bring about the necessary changes in the cells, themselves. These cells cannot be replaced or built up with any other substance any more than the worn out parts of an engine can be replaced with gasoline.

Bowlegs
Question: J. K. asks:—"Is there any possible cure for bowlegs at the age of eighteen?"

Answer:—Bowlegs may be straightened to some extent if you are only eighteen years old. Rigid dieting is necessary, for you must supply the blood with plenty of bone-building elements. Next in importance is to take all kinds of physical culture exercises to strengthen the entire body. Spinal treatments are also helpful in increasing the circulation of blood to the legs.

Crude hammocks on poles, carried by natives, are the only means of transportation offered in many places on the island of Madagascar.

WOMEN'S GROUP TO STUDY NAVAL BUILDING PROGRAM

Washington—(AP)—The ship building program of the United States will be one of the chief topics of discussion at the women's patriotic conference for national defense here January 29-30-31.

Views on the pending naval situation are incorporated in the call to the conference, to be sent out within the next few weeks. These views are outlined by the advisory board which consists of 40 representatives of national women's organizations cooperating with the D. A. R. and the American Legion auxiliary. Mrs. Lowell Fletcher Hobart, president general of the D. A. R., will preside at the conference.

BEWARE OF DIETS WITHOUT BULK

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Will Protect You

People are more careful than ever before about diet. They diet to clear complexions. They avoid certain foods to stay thin. They eat others to get fat. But many are running a serious danger because they are missing the "roughage" or "bulk" foods that every person must have to keep well.

As a result, constipation gets in its deadly work. Headaches, listlessness, circled eyes are only the first symptoms. In the end, constipation ruins health, wrecks beauty and may cause serious disease.

Don't neglect your daily roughage. That is nature's rule. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN will supply it. A healthful cereal to eat each day. To use in cooked dishes or to serve with milk or cream. To mix with other cereals.

ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation—to prevent it. Two tablespoonsful daily—chronic cases, with every meal. It is 100% bran. Doctors recommend it. Your grocer sells it. Served by hotels, restaurants, dining cars. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Queer Twists In Day's News

New York.—At the Knickerbocker Whist club bridge players say "challenge" instead of "double" when seeking a bid from partner. The club has given formal approval of the abolition of the informatory double because of confusion with the business double, which is made with the hope of setting opponents. The club hopes that "challenge" will come into general use.
Nice.—Sundry town fathers along the Riviera are kicking about the rakeoff from Baccarat. They want a percentage of Casinos' winnings instead of a fixed sum per game. The Republic now gets a 13 per cent of winnings; the municipalities receive sums ranging from $8 up from the banker's roll when he wins.
New York.—James Branch Cabell in his latest book, as he expresses it in an epilogue, graduates from and takes eternal leave of the younger generation alike in life and letters. "After 45 or thereabouts it is inevitable that a writer should cease to develop as a writer, just as he ceases to develop as a mammal." Cabell is 50.
Berlin.—Paper which, it is claimed, cannot be torn up and will not catch fire has been devised by a chemist named Schoop. Pulp is coated with liquid metal. Banknotes of the new paper are predicted.
New York.—The new edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica says the chief industry of South Bend Ind., is the manufacture of wagons and carriages. The publishers, stirred by criticism in the South Bend Tribune, are investigating to determine why no mention was made of automobiles.
Frankfort, Germany.—Professor Kessler of Leipzig University has an idea for payment of reparations. It is to abolish alcohol. Such a step, he told the German Temperance Society, would save double the amount payable under the Young plan.
New York.—A spurious manuscript has been sold to a publishing house as the work of Colonel Lindbergh. "We Fly" it was called. The revelation came when the colonel's publishers asked him why he had changed to another firm. The impostor failed to get anything but a royalty contract.
West Orange, N. J.—Thomas A. Edison is back from Dearborn full of pep. On arrival he slapped the engineer and fireman of the train on the back, nudged a photographer in the ribs, posed for a picture and spoke into a mike: "I had a good trip—a very, very good trip. Henry Ford is all right."
New York.—Mayor Bees has returned to Berlin with letters written by notables in the American musical world to Lilli Lehmann, noted soprano. They were to have been presented to her personally on her 81st birthday Nov. 24. She died last May. They will be placed in the Prussian state library.

SATURDAY'S GAME.

Cheshire, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Roxbury school football team will play the Dartmouth frosh at Hanover Saturday, offering a team which has been hardened by two weeks of scrimmage against a Yale team of substitutes. Roxbury's first game last Saturday brought it a seventy to nothing score against Connecticut Junior College.

REC FIVES WILL BE ORGANIZED AGAIN FOR 1929-30 SEASON

Yale, Harvard, Princeton All May Lose Tomorrow

Over 120,000 Persons to Watch "Big Three" in Action; Eyes Focused on Cagle and Marsters.

New York, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Football awaits the most important week-end of the season to date with its three oldest representatives embattled for an upset to pull through what promises to be the most colorful October Saturday in the history of the sport. It is no new thing for Yale, Harvard or Princeton to enter an October game in the role of underdog but it is seldom that all three elect to be found on the run together.

Some 120,000 enthusiasts will be present at Soldiers Field, the Yale Bowl and Palmer Stadium tomorrow. The Yale-Army game at New Haven tops the card for sectional and general interest but the meeting of Dartmouth and Harvard at Cambridge will command attention both because of its historic background and because the Crimson will be fighting to keep its head above water, the last remaining undefeated member of the big three.

The Princeton-Navy game in Palmer Stadium carries a particular appeal to Alumni of both institutions and so does the Dartmouth-Orange and Black eleven faces its last chance to save something from its eastern preliminary season but the odds rest with Bill Ingram's fine team.

The Elis will deploy against the Cadets in the Bowl with the slaying Warner offense only half mastered and depending upon an air attack to turn in a possible upset. With Cagle as a threat at the flanks and through the air, with Hurrell to send pounding and the Eli midriff, the Cadets may look to the game with something approaching complacency.

Even with Ben Ticknor absent from his post at center, Harvard will present a favored Dartmouth seven far more of a problem than Columbia was able to offer last week. Reports that the flashy Marsters is not in the best of physical condition, leads Cambridge to hope that the Crimson may yet save the day.

Outside the big three, Carnegie Tech will attempt to make it three straight over a great Notre Dame eleven at Pittsburgh, with the Irish favored to break Red Satch's jinx.

The historic little three series will open at Amherst with the fine Lord Jeff eleven again favored to triumph over Wesleyan. Williams will risk and probably lose its undefeated status in a game against Columbia in this city. Connecticut Aggies entertain the Coast Guard Academy.

Cornell has an open date, and Pennsylvania expects no more than a workout against Lehigh. Syracuse invades Providence favored to win from Brown.

New York will also have New York University against Butler of Indiana and Fordham against Davis & Elkins. Colgate, Pittsburgh and Georgetown face breathing spells but Rutgers may have trouble with Catholic and the clash of Penn State and Lafayette seems to be either's game. Holy Cross faces a test in Marquette from Milwaukee and Duke's Blue Devils may invade Villa Nova. Washington and Jefferson has no easy afternoon ahead with Temple.

Football Briefs

Princeton.—Ed Witmer, Princeton's outstanding back, is going to try a new position against the Navy. He practiced at quarterback yesterday and will make his first start in that post this Saturday.

West Point.—Army intends to score against Yale if nothing else. The final home practice for the Cadets was devoted almost entirely to offensive work.

Providence.—Brown is having a hard time mustering a backfield for the Syracuse game. With Fogarty derelict but it is seldom that all three elect to be found on the run together.

New Haven.—Yale is having a hard time keeping its secret practice secret. More than 100 spectators crashed the gates before the drill yesterday and were permitted to remain in the stands.

Cambridge.—Harvard's injured players are rapidly coming back to the fray. Art Higuely who was hurt in the Army game reported yesterday and may get into the Dartmouth game.

The Nut Cracker

After the defeat of the Cubs this year there has been quite a bit of talk about American League superiority. Maybe there's something in it, after all, with Lew Fonseca, National League castoff, leading the American League in hitting for the season.

LOOKING AROUND AT A FEW OF THE CROWDS FOOTBALL HAS BEEN DRAWING, TEX RICKARD WAS IN THE WRONG BUSINESS.

However, to judge by the number of bottles found under the stands after the games, there aren't so many "nice people" at the football contests as Tex used to entertain at his fights.

Once there was a spectator so well versed in the new rules that he not only knew when to applaud,

SPORT SLANTS

Alan J. Gould

The Army has contributed as much color and talent to the gridiron as any outfit over a considerable span of years, with such stars to recall as Bunker, Daly, Oliphant, Merrill, McEwan, Garbisch, "Light Horse Harry" Wilson, among others. But it will be some time before the "Key-lets" forget the combination of Jones and Cagle—Captain "Bliff", the coach, and Chris the redhead.

These two wind up a glamorous four years at West Point this season, Jones to take another post in the regular course of Army events and Cagle to seek his career. In no other period of Army football has its teams reached such heights of popularity or attracted such nation-wide attention as it has during the reign of Jones. Although it robbed the football world of one of its great spectacles for the time being, the break with the Navy cost West Point nothing in prestige. Rather it served to enhance the Army's reputation on the gridiron, for the Cadets sought and met opponents covering a wider range than ever before as a direct result of the split with the midshipmen.

Nevertheless it would have suited Messrs. Jones and Cagle better if the famous breach between the two academies had been avoided or healed quicker than has been possible. Jones introduced Cagle as a running mate for Wilson in 1926 when the academies played their celebrated 21-21 tie at Chicago. The same pair starred in the Army's 14-9 victory over the Navy in the last service classic, in 1927 at the Polo Grounds. No midshipman has sought to lay a hand on the redhead since then, and from the Annapolis point of view that may have been all for the best.

HERR MAX OFFERED PURSE OF $250,000

New York, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The lure of a $250,000 purse may cause Max Schmeling, Teuton heavyweight, to hasten his return from Germany to the shores that gave him a rather better than small fortune during the past year.

Herman Taylor and Bob Gunnis of Philadelphia and Bob Duffy, New York manager, have offered Schmeling a quarter of a million dollars for a fifteen-round match at Convention Hall, Atlantic City, N. J., against the "best available opponent" in January.

With the announcement that Jack Dempsey would not be selected to face the Teuton may give the promoters a headache or two. Jack Sharkey is believed under exclusive contract to Madison Square Garden. Tommy Loughran or Young Stribling might be called upon despite the fact that both have been beaten by Sharkey.

Schmeling and his American manager Joe Jacobs, both are under suspension in New York state, but no sanction has been taken in New Jersey.

Contracts for the bout will be taken by Jacobs to Germany. The contracts provide that Schmeling's opponent shall be named forty days before the fight.

Jockey Active at 78. La Crosse, Kas.—(AP)—At the age of 78, Levi Burlingame still competes with jockeys one-fourth his years. His son, Charlie who rode "big time" circuits a few years ago, was forced to retire when he exceeded the weight limit.

Poison to Stars

Reputed to be a jinx to the stars, Sidney Wood, 17-year-old Pasadena tennis player, added to his reputation by defeating H. W. "Bunny" Austin, British Davis Cup leader and seeded No. 1 among the foreign entries in the recent Pacific Southwest Championships at Los Angeles. The Pasadena youth won in straight sets, 9-7 and 6-3. Other winners credited to Wood were the defeat of Fritz Mercur at Seabright, a victory over Junior Coen and the taking of five games from Rene Lacoste at Wimbledon when the Frenchman was champion and the Pasadena boy but 14 years old.

Warner Brothers Donate $100 Cup To Grid Winner

Announcement was made today by Manager Hugh J. Campbell of the State theater that Warner Brothers, new owners of the theater, will present a beautiful silver loving trophy worth nearly $100 to the winner of the town football championship between the Cubs and the Majors next month.

On November 15 and 16, the Friday and Saturday prior to the opening of the series, Manager Campbell will have a first class football picture to be shown at the State and on the opening night members of both teams will be the guests of the management. At the conclusion of the series, it is Mgr. Campbell's plan to have the winning team on the stage one night during which the trophy will be presented.

Mr. Campbell came to Manchester only a short time ago, replacing Benjamin Von Fildki who was transferred elsewhere, but he has wasted little time in discovering the huge amount of interest Manchester takes in the annual gridiron scrap between the north and the south. Although the State theater is located at the south end of the town, Mgr. Campbell wants it understood that he is "sitting on the fence" when it comes to taking sides in the forthcoming controversy.

Confidences Were Broken By Carnegie Foundation In Gaining Information

Probe Fails of Startling Revelations; Some Varsity Officials Indignant; Public Seems Apathetic.

New York, Oct. 25.—College athletic authorities in this and other vicinity centers today greeted the long awaited Carnegie Foundation report with mixed feelings which ran from tolerance to indignation and even charges of broken faith. It was said that colleges had placed their books and records at the disposal of the Foundation with the understanding that no colleges would be picked out and named if abuses, as the Foundation saw them, were discovered.

The general public took the attitude that the report had listed things which already was not known. It felt that there was nothing startling in the discovery that colleges went after good football players; that stadium games meant huge receipts; that some athletes got big salaries; that some athletes had since around the campus; that teams were transported in first class Pullmans; that they got first class food and training attention; that college sport was big business and was handled in a big-business way.

College officials felt that the Carnegie Foundation had spent so much time investigating the British varsity sport system and had become so enamored of that small, compact and undeveloped proposition that they had lost the sense of perspective American college athletic structure. The Foundation went into the probe from the British angle and makes suggestion which have a British angle.

That college sport was not blameless and not without certain abuses, the plan conceded. But to those in the know the whitewashing of certain institutions known to be flagrant offenders of the code set up by the Foundation put the stamp of possible inaccuracy on the entire document consisting of 400 pages.

Receipts and Paid Coaches. The Foundation would scrap the paid coach, the gate receipts, training tables and all considerable financial outlays upon athletics. It would end the recruiting system, subsidizing of athletes; stiff sports publicity; cut the time spent in training and wipe out devices whereby the athlete who happens to be a poor scholar is aided in his examinations. And it would make intercollegiate competition a mere inexpensive incidental to intramural sports.

In reaching that conclusion the Foundation devotes some 300 pages of its 383-page report to a recital of the abuses which have developed and which persist in American college football. It recites in which those colleges that threw their books and admitted Foundation investigators to the innermost secrets of their conduct are dealt a devastating blow, while those which seem to have been less open or where the investigators were less penetrating get off "Scott" free in some instances or are hesitatingly or apologetically included among the minor violators.

Hopes For Fairness. It may have been this latter condition—so clearly apparent when the full work is considered—that caused Dr. Howard J. Savage, head of the investigation, to express the hope, when he released his report, that the investigation would be accepted as a fair and honest one.

Of the more than 100 colleges visited, clean bills of athletic health—or relatively clean bills—are given only to Yale, Army and Cornell among the largest Eastern institutions, and to Chicago and Illinois among the largest institutions elsewhere. It is because their walls may be acquainted with conditions that the investigators failed to discover—Navy, in the case of Army; Harvard and Princeton, in the case of Yale, etc.—the listing of their names among the "pure" is likely to uncover a wave of whisperings which will make the positions anything but enviable.

About 75 high schools are competing for the state football championship of Montana this season.

Ben Clune Again Named As Coach And Manager

Return of Faulkner and Farr to Help Offset Loss of McCann and Stavitsky; Open Thanksgiving Night

By TOM STOWE

Manchester basketball fans are assured of another attractive season of their favorite indoor sport inasmuch as the Rec Five is to be organized again along with the Rec Girls. Ben Clune, popular coach and manager, will again be in full charge and this in itself is more of an assurance that the 1929-30 season will be a successful one. Clune is the sort of a fellow who invariably makes a success out of whatever he undertakes.

Questioned today regarding the season's prospects and other details, Manager Clune announced that he had been retained as manager and coach of both teams and that the season would be officially opened on Thanksgiving Day evening. The opening teams have not yet been selected but a good attraction for the season's opener is a foregone conclusion. Thereafter, all home games will be played on Tuesday evenings. Clune has already booked games with such top notch attractions as Olson's Terrible Swedes and the Philadelphia Colored Giants. The latter team plays here in December and the Swedes in January.

Two Stars Return

While the Rec Five will naturally be weakened somewhat by the loss of George Stavitsky and Henry McCann, two of the stars of last year's season, this will be offset to a great extent by the return to the fold of "Ding" Farr and Tommy Faulkner. The former was at college last season while Faulkner was on the sick list a greater part of the season. For a while it was feared he might not live. Incidentally, Faulkner is one of the fastest and most accurate forwards Manchester has boasted in many a season.

Among the old favorites who will return to the ranks are "Hap" Madden, "Roy" Norris, "Ty" Holland and "Gyp" Gustafson. The latter showed a great deal of promise last year. Nichols, the Willimantic flash, may also be back. Others expected to try for a berth on the 1929-30 edition are Johnny Boyle, Jimmy Gulsh, Alphonse Boggio, Ross Shroyer and Pete Conroy, the latter hailing from East Hartford, a member of the Cubs football team at present. Conroy was with Windsor Locks last season. Manager Clune made it plain that anyone in town is welcome to try for a berth on the team and that the best players will get the choice, no discrimination whatever being shown. The first practice will be held on November 5.

Peggy is Out

The personnel of the Rec Girls will probably be about the same unless some unforeseen candidates crop up who are able to nose one of last year's regulars out of a job. Peggy McLaughlin, one of the best defensive guards on the team last season, will not be in the lineup this year.

EX-CHAMP'S CULTURE IMPRESSES BRITISH

London.—(AP)—British sporting writers found Fidel LaBarba a "quiet, cultured young man who speaks English with scarcely a trace of American accent," when the former flyweight champion visited London on his European tour.

LaBarba showed enthusiasm for the monuments of English history and displayed particular interest in the Tower of London, where Henry VIII won his famous ax decision over Anne Boleyn.

"I've just been reading a book about Henry VIII," he explained.

BERTHOLD-SASILA MATCH IS TONIGHT

The Berthold-Sasila 20-game bowling match which was supposed to get under way Wednesday night at Farr's but postponed at the last minute by one of the contestants, will start tonight at Bronke's alleys at 8 o'clock. The final ten games will be rolled Saturday night at Farr's. A purse of $100 is at stake. Considerable interest has developed in connection with the match and a good sized gallery is expected both tonight and tomorrow.

owing to ill health. Anne Scranlon and Viola Shearer, the inseparable companions from God's Country, will be back again, as will the famous Welles sisters, Miriam and Margaret. Estelle Jackson, Martha Blatter, Etta Culow, Miss Buckland and Elizabeth Washiewicz, will also report at the first practice session to be held November 6. Efforts are also being made to induce Alleen McHale to don a uniform again.

"I hope to arrange a strong schedule," Manager Clune said, "that will be composed of only head-line attractions so that our fans may at all times be well-pleased. To do this, it will be essential to have the support of the fans and to expect their support, I must put on a winning team."

ATHLETES PAID IN 81 OUT OF 112 COLLEGES.

The statistics on responsibility for subsidizing offered by the Carnegie Foundation report show the following:

The investigators found evidence of subsidizing in 81 of the 112 colleges investigated.

At 20 of the single agencies were responsible for the practice.

At 50 the athletic department athletic association or the athletic staff were parties to the subsidizing.

In the 81 cases alumni were concerned in only 28, while the institution itself subsidized athletes in 19 cases and townspeople did the subsidizing in 11 others.

BLAMES TAILSPINS FOR PLANE WRECKS

Navy Report Says Half Are Caused by This—Other Causes of Accidents.

Washington, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The Navy Department has just completed an analysis of accidents in its air service which, it says, "inconspicuously shows that the predominant responsibility for crashes rests on the pilot."

Fifty two per cent of all crashes during the eight-year period covered were attributed to errors of pilots, against 31 per cent caused by either structural or power plant failures; nine per cent caused by condition of the airport, and various smaller proportions attributed to miscellaneous causes.

"It is interesting to note," the report said, "that during the first eight years naval aviation history shows only one case where a fatal accident was traceable solely to engine failure. In all others at least a portion of the responsibility developed upon the pilot."

The Bureau concluded from the study that greater elements of safety must be introduced into construction of planes to reduce demands on the "necessarily fallible human element," and that the inexperienced pilot should be strictly supervised, especially when he has about 200 flying hours to his credit.

"It is at this time that he starts his involved maneuvers; he is flushed with over-confidence which far outweighs his experience, and the result is often fatal."

The errors of pilots were ascribed principally to faulty flying technique which was blamed for 63 per cent of the accidents credited to error. Faulty judgment, carelessness, and violation of safety regulations followed in the order of causes.

The report also pointed out that while the pilot is responsible for less than half of the crashes, the injury is sustained, three-fourths of the fatal ones were attributed to the human element.

"An accident may prove unavoidable," the report concluded, "but the good pilot will avoid serious consequences through his greater skill and ability."

Other findings given included the statement that a pilot quadrupling his frequency of flying reduces his accident hazard to almost a half; that the records of pilots who have had fatal accidents shows they have had almost two and a half as many accidents as those who never figure in catastrophes; that one half of the fatal accidents result from a tail spin, 84 per cent of these occurring without engine failure, and 80 per cent from an altitude of 200 feet or less.

"The answer in military aviation where high maneuverability is essential is not immediately apparent," the report said, "however, it would appear that in commercial aviation, unhampered by this particular requirement, the aircraft of the future must be so designed that it cannot be spun. When this is done, and present developments indicate its possibility, fatal accidents will be tremendously reduced."

LEGIIONNAIRES FACE SEVERAL ACTIVITIES

Plan to Parade for Red Cross, Attend County Meeting and Elect Their Officers.

Dilworth-Cornell Post, No. 102, American Legion, is looking forward to numerous activities during the next few days.

On Friday evening, November 1st, the Five, Drum and Bugle Corps will lead the members of the Post in a parade to announce the opening of the annual Red Cross membership drive. The veterans were quick to recognize their obligation to the Red Cross and anticipated having a full corps and a large representative number of Legionnaires in line. The parade will leave the Armory at 7:15 p. m. proceeding to Depot Square, back to Park street and thence to the Municipal Building where the colors will be planted. The formal opening exercises will be carried through by a committee of prominent citizens. All Legionnaires and ex-service men are requested to arrange to be at the State Armory at 6:45 p. m.

The County meeting will be held at Glastonbury, Sunday October 27th, at 3 p. m. The newly elected county officers for the year of 1930 will be installed at this meeting. Any Legionnaires desiring to attend and wishing transportation, can obtain same by calling Commander Lorch.

The annual meeting of the Post will be held Monday evening, October 28th, when the officers for the ensuing year will be elected. Changes in the by-laws considered at report of the dance committee heard and discussed. The attendance prize is still unclaimed and the Legionnaires are talking of being on hand for the meeting. All signs point to this being one of the largest and most active meetings in the history of the local post.

The Legionnaires have obtained Jack Morey and his broadcasting orchestra for the dance on Saturday, November 9th, at the Armory and promise their friends one of the best times ever had in town. The committee is doing everything to make this a grand success.

PAPER CO. TRIAL

Columbia, S. C., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Attorneys today continued their arguments on a defense motion to dismiss service proceedings in the $2,500,000 damage suit of William Lavarre against the International Paper Company and the International Paper and Power Company.

Federal Judge J. Lyles Glenn, conducting the hearing, said after arguments heard Wednesday that he believed attachment against indebtedness of Lavarre to the deendants was legal, but that he did not believe subsidiaries could be attached in action directed against the head of the trust chain.

Lavarre, who with money procured through the International companies has gained part control of the Columbia Record, the Spartanburg Herald and Journal and the Augusta, (Ga.) Chronicle, claims that his plans for operation west have been curbed because of the companies' failure to provide him with additional cash which he alleged was promised to him.

It takes eight and one-half minutes for the light of the sun to reach the earth.

EX-PREMIER ON TRIAL

Valencia, Spain, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Former Premier Sanchez Guerra, charged with attempting to incite a military rebellion in Valencia went on trial today before a court-martial here. Twenty-two other defendants were accused of implication, including the former premier's son, Rafael.

Father and son entered the courtroom together, both appearing calm.

The prosecution presented formal charges that Sanchez Guerra, then living in France, came to Valencia by ship and attempted to incite the local garrison to rebel.

The trial room on the second floor of the military barracks "Almirante" was crowded, while numerous spectators outside tried to gain admittance.

EPIDEMIC OVER.—Madrid, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The Spanish health authorities today declared that a so-called epidemic of infantile paralysis appears to be decreasing, there being very few new cases.

The authorities ordered the continuation of strict measures to prevent spread of the disease, but denied there was justification for alarm.

CHAPTER I

"Well, my lad, if it's work you're wanting, Lieut. Strawn here is the man to see that you get your fill of it," said Police Commissioner O'Brien, his blue eyes twinkling at the tall young man who sat across the desk from him. "Jawn—" he turned slightly in his swivel chair and drooped a sandy-lashed lid in a significant wink—"this young fellow happens by the grace of God to be my nephew. Do you think that the taxpayers will rise in their wrath and defeat me at the next election if I give him a job under you on the homicide squad? Of course you're a leech, but if he's no good as a sleuth. But if he's half as good as finding out who a fellow would give his right arm to have found out as his mother-in-law, why, Nora, bless her heart, I know when I was a boy, I'd have before I had tumbled to it myself."

"And what might his name be, Commissioner?" John Strawn, lieutenant of the Hamilton homicide squad, interrupted, his gray eyes narrowing speculatively upon the smiling young man who had risen and was holding out a hand.

"It might be O'Halloran, if that willful sister of mine hadn't lost her heart to a Scotchman by the name of Dundee," O'Brien chuckled. "Irish he is, Jawn, as you can see by the black hair and the blue eyes of him, but Scotch he is, too, by the name his father pinned on him. Jimmie Dundee his name is, Jawn, or if you're wanting his alias, you might write him down in your books as 'Bonnie' Dundee. A sorry name for a six-footer like Jimmie here, but Bonnie he's been since a sentimental lass he lost his heart to in high school found a poem called 'Bonnie Dundee' and made him a present of the nickname. So 'Bonnie' he is, and 'Bonnie' he'll be till he dies, I suppose. But what do you think, Jawn? Could you overlook the handicap and give the lad a trial at the detective business?"

"Anything you say goes, Commissioner," Strawn agreed grudgingly, at last taking the firm young hand that was still thrust toward him.

"Of course, he'll have to take the regular examination," Bonnie Dundee flashed a wide, disarming smile at the four man who was to be his chief. "And thanks much, Lieut. Strawn. I hope you'll forget, Lieut. Strawn, that I worked up to get this job."

"Full, is it?" his uncle interrupted. "I'd have you know, lad, that I've got the interest of Hamilton at heart—not yours! It's this case, mister Jessup's true, Strawn is going to be glad to have you. Just look at this, Jawn!" O'Brien drew an official-looking letter from a desk drawer and passed it to the police lieutenant.

"Hmm," Strawn remarked non-committally, as he read the three or four paragraphs. "So you've worked in Scotland Yard, have you, Dundee?"

"Yes—six months, sir, but only in a very minor capacity. I was under Inspector Jessup in the Department of Records. I did not actually go on cases, but I did manage to learn something of British police methods."

Strawn thawed visibly. "College, I suppose?" he grunted, everything on criminology that I could lay my hands on. I don't think I'm overburdened with an education, sir."

"Hmm! A story-book detective, Lieut. Strawn commented, but there was a glint of not unkindly humor in his gray eyes. "I'm afraid you're going to be disappointed in Hamilton as a crime center, Dundee. Of hand, I can't recall a single case where a rich old man was found dead in his library, a carved dagger in his heart, and doors and windows barred. And so far as I know, there's not a single house in all Hamilton with a secret passage."

O'Brien chuckled. "You're right, Jawn. I'm ashamed of our murderer. Not an ounce of originality in a jailful of 'em! Just old-fashioned killers, the lot of 'em—shooting off 32's, carving their wives or sweethearts with razors or butcher knives. Sometimes the ladies serve ersatz sandwiches at their tea parties, but on the whole, my boy, they give us a pretty dull time of it, leaving so many clues lying around that sometimes Jawn Strawn here is almost ashamed to take the taxpayers' money."

"Excuse me, Mr. O'Brien," a girl's voice spoke from the doorway, "but here's a special delivery letter for you, marked 'Personal.'"

"Oh, all right. . . . No, you needn't wait, Miss Crane," the police commissioner said rather pointedly, as he saw his secretary's eyes lingering upon the handsome face of his nephew.

"As the girl—not a very pretty one, but striking by make-up arts to appear so—left the room, the police commissioner slit the envelope, drew out three sheets of cheap, blue-lined tablet paper, and began to read.

"Another nut," he muttered as he finished, and tossed the letter across the desk to Strawn. "Poor old lady—bored—trying to kick up a little excitement," he added to Dundee, hundreds of nut letters in the course of a year. Some of the writers are plain crazy, some trying to cause trouble for their private enemies, some out to kid the police."

"And what kind of nut is this?" Bonnie Dundee asked interestedly.

"The commonest of all," O'Brien chuckled, shaking his head of frost-touched red hair at his eager nephew. "Nothing here to interest an old lady who's got a bug in her ears that all her fellow-boarders are plotting to kill her. What's that "Another nut," he muttered, and tossed the letter across the desk to Strawn.

high-falutin' name you college boys have for it?"

"Persecution complex," Bonnie grinned. "Pardon—may I see the letter?"

Strawn, who had made no comment on the letter as he read it, beyond a disgusted snort, passed the sheets to the young man.

Dundee's bright blue eyes traveled swiftly down the first page of small, precise handwriting in green ink; then his audience of two saw him frown, as he began to re-read the sheet.

O'Brien winked at Strawn, and the police lieutenant returned the pleasant smile with great solemnity.

But Dundee's attention was concentrated on the letter:

"The Rhodes House,
511 Chestnut Ave.,
June 29, 1929.

Police Commissioner,
Patrick C. O'Brien,
City Hall,
Hamilton.

Dear Sir:

I read one of your speeches in the paper when you were running for reelection. You said something like this: 'My aim, as police commissioner of Hamilton, has been and will be to decrease crime by sound and logical methods of prevention.' In my opinion, crime prevention is of even greater importance than crime fighting. There's been a lot more to it, of course, but I thought then you were a mighty sensible man."

Well, Mr. Commissioner, I was glad you were re-elected, although I couldn't get out to vote for you because I haven't been able to walk down a flight of stairs for more than two years. I weigh over 300 pounds, and I have what the doctors call fatty degeneration of the heart."

But now I want to remind you of what you said in those election speeches—ask you to prevent my murder. You said you were a good man, and I'm not crazy, and you do know for certain that my life is in danger. It's because of my money, though I haven't got as much as those who would like to see me dead. Everything I have in the world is in my room, on the second floor of the Rhodes House, which is a boarding house, as you probably know. First, and last, and by one way or another, I've made a good way of my money during the five years I've been here, and all because of the money."

There's a nurse writing me a letter, telling me to put my money in a bank, so I won't be murdered for it. I have good reasons for putting no faith in banks, and my bad heart would keep me from going to the bank to get any of it when I needed it."

What I want to do is to send a plainclothes detective to talk to me, and to protect me from the fate that I am sure is hanging over me. I'll name no names now, but when your detective comes, I'll have plenty to tell him—enough to convince him that I'm not the silly old fool you're thinking me now."

If you want to prevent the murder of an old woman who has never done anything worse in her life than to arouse in her fellow-boarders the passion of greed, you will do as I ask.

Respectfully yours,
(MRS. EMMA HOGARTH.

P. S.—Please tell your detective not to let on to anyone, not even to Mrs. Rhodes, my landlady, that he is a detective. E. H.

"Well, Bonnie," O'Brien challenged, when Dundee had finished reading the letter. "Looks like a big case, doesn't it?" and he winked again at Lieut. Strawn. "What do you deduce?"

"Bonnie Dundee saw the wink, understood very well that his uncle was 'riding' him good-naturedly, but felt no resentment. When a man is only 25 he does not expect to be taken very seriously by his elders."

"I deduce that Mrs. Emma Hogarth writes a very logical, lucid letter for a 'nut,'" he answered, grinning. "What are you going to do about it, Uncle Pat? She does put it up to you rather strongly, I'd say—My aim, as police commissioner of Hamilton, has been and will be to decrease crime by sound and logical methods of prevention," he quoted, his blue eyes sparkling with mirth. "Who wrote that speech for you, Uncle Pat?"

"I wrote it myself, your young whippersnapper!" his uncle retorted. "And just to prove I meant every word of it, I'll send somebody around to talk to the old dame—"

"Who seems to be quite an admirer of yours," Dundee interrupted, smiling broadly. "She knows how to get what she wants out of the Irish, doesn't she? . . . Say, Uncle Pat, how about letting me have a powwow with this streetwise old miser?"

"Blithering old nut, you mean," Strawn commented sourly. "As the commissioner told Dundee, we've got hundreds of letters like that on file, and not one of the writers has been robbed or murdered yet."

"Somehow," Dundee said, "I feel that this case is a little different from those hundreds of others. I think I'll see if there's a vacant room at the Rhodes House."

"If you're to believe this case, it's more likely to be a Rogues' House," O'Brien chuckled. Then his smile faded, as he realized the significance of his nephew's remark.

"Listen, boy, you're not going to leave your Aunt Mary and me flat, are you? Isn't our guest room good enough for you?"

"Too good, since I can't pay for it," his nephew answered seriously. "It's good of you and Aunt Mary to want me, and I've immensely enjoyed this week of being a pampered guest, but now that I've landed a job I'd like to scout around for a boarding house. I'm glad Mrs. Hogarth's letter came while I was here. She at least makes the Rhodes House sound—well, interesting."

Lieut. Strawn rose, knocked the ashes from his pipe into the police commissioner's big brass cuspidor, and reached for his uniform cap.

"Well, Commissioner, I'll be ambling on over to headquarters. Glad to have met you, Dundee. This being Saturday, guess you won't be ready to report till Monday?"

"I may be ready to report this evening, Lieutenant," Dundee answered. "That is, if you and uncle Pat are willing for me to look into this Hogarth letter. It seems to me that I might as well protect the old lady, as she requests, and get a good boarding house at the same time. It's a decent place, I suppose?"

"One of the best," Strawn admitted. "Aside from its fascinating criminal prospects, as outlined in that letter to the Rhodes House is convenient to headquarters and the business district. One of those old mansions deserted by their owners when the business district began to spread west. Chestnut avenue used to be Hamilton's Park avenue, in the good old days. Now the old houses are coming down and filling stations, garages and apartment houses are going up in their places. If you really want to find a good boarding house, I suppose you might do worse than the Rhodes House. But I hope you won't be too disappointed when you find that Mrs. Emma Hogarth is just another letter-writing nut."

"I'll try to bear up," Dundee promised, laughing. Then seriously: "But if I should think her story important enough to pass on to you, could I reach you tonight?"

Strawn shrugged. "Sure! I seldom leave headquarters before midday. Glad to have you drop around any time and tell me all about Scotland Yard."

When the detective had left, a slight smile on his big, square face, back in his swivel chair and regarded his nephew with fond, smiling eyes.

"Well, boy, I think we put it over," Strawn's one of the finest, you know, but I had to handle him with kid gloves to keep him from getting sore for slipping a man into his department over his head. He likes you, all right."

"He conceals it admirably," Dundee laughed. "I may as well add that I like him, too."

"John Strawn has been on the force for more than 25 years," O'Brien went on. "He's a splendid route detective—thoroughgoing, tireless, relentless."

"But I'm imaginative?" Dundee suggested, blushing.

"You'd better park your imagination outside Police Headquarters, Monday morning, young feller me lad," his uncle warned him. "Hold on! I'm going to call it a day. We'll go home to lunch and break the news to your Aunt Mary, that you prefer a private apartment boarding house to her honeydewed-melon-and-waffles brand of hospitality. Poor Mary! It's a lonely woman she'll be—"

Bonnie Dundee laid an affectionate arm about his uncle's shoulder. "Suppose you give your brogue a rest when you're talking to me alone, Uncle Pat," he laughed. "I know it goes over swell with the cops and the voters, but—"

"You're an impudent rascal," his uncle charged, but his eyes were twinkling.

man, wearing a well-fitting suit of blue serge whose Bond Street label he had rather regretfully removed, turned up the cement walk leading from Chestnut Avenue to the front porch of the Rhodes House.

The big lawn needed cutting rather badly, but after the months he had spent in London and, more recently, in New York, even a neglected lawn looked heavenly. Flowers, and below the porch, which extended the whole width of the house and, apparently, along the entire east side of it. Red rambler roses on a trellis which closed off the west end of the porch. A driveway, which hugged that side of the house. But the greenhouse on the west lawn, about 15 feet from the gravelled greenhouse, probably yielded few flowers now, for of its hundreds of little glass panes only a few remained unbroken.

On the east lawn there was a big garden swing, glistening from a recent coat of green paint. And in the swing a pretty girl sat rocking idly.

"I know I'm going to like this place," Dundee told himself jubilantly. She was a very pretty girl, with the late afternoon sun slanting golden beams through the coppery brown of her unbobbed hair.

He flicked his eyes away, for he had stared just a moment too long. The house was jolly old thing. No, he corrected himself swiftly, "It must not lapse into those English phrases he had picked up unconsciously. But it was a fine old place. Three stories, the top one many-gabled, in the fashion of a by-gone architecture."

The wide porch, supported by many slender posts, was duplicated on the second floor, and over this double-deck porch extended an abruptly sloping roof from the level of the third story. Certainly a hospitable, comfortable-looking house, in spite of the shabbiness of the ancient white paint, and its air of decayed gentility.

Later, Bonnie Dundee was to feel a curious sympathy for the fine old house, when pictures of it appeared in newspapers, with the caption, "Murder Mansion."

A big, pompous, middle-aged man in a freshly laundered suit of white duck rose from a porch chair and boomed a friendly greeting. "How do you do, sir? Do you wish to see the landlady, Mrs. Rhodes? I'm Mr. Sharp—Mr. Lawrence Sharp."

Bonnie Dundee set down his heavy suitcase and extended a hand as friendly as the graying. "Nice folks, these middle-westerners!"

"Glad to know you, Mr. Sharp. My name is Dundee—a stranger to Hamilton. I'd like very much to get board and room here."

"You picked a good town, Mr. Dundee!" Mr. Sharp boomed heartily. "Fastest growing city in the middle west. Yes, sree! One hundred thousand by 1930 is our slogan, Mr. Dundee—Oh, here's Mrs. Rhodes. . . . Mrs. Rhodes, I'd like to make you acquainted with a newcomer to our fair city—Mr. Dundee, of—where did you say you're from, Mr. Dundee?"

Bonnie hesitated for only a moment. Then, "New York City," he smiled, stating the exact truth, for he had come from New York to Hamilton, though he had no home since his father's death the year before.

Until he saw her smile, Bonnie was afraid that his prospective landlady was a formidable one—the kind he particularly detested. Tall, her big bones well covered with flesh which, however, did not give the impression of fat; a high sternly corseted bosom; an olive-shaded face, crowned with ornate hair in an old-fashioned, intricate coiffure. He was about to put her age tentatively at 50, when she smiled—a smile that drove the anxiety out of her face and made her large brown eyes sparkle like a girl's. Bonnie had no kimmermer of the fact that it was his own fresh, boyish good looks that had worked the minor miracle.

"Were you looking for a place to board, Mr. Dundee?" Mrs. Rhodes asked hospitably.

Ten minutes later, the preliminary negotiations concluded, Bonnie Dundee and his landlady stood in a little room on the third floor, charming with its sloping ceiling, faded but pretty wall paper, crisply laundered Swiss curtains in the little gable windows.

"I'm sorry I haven't a room on the second floor, as you wanted," Mrs. Rhodes worried, "but I think you'll find this room very comfortable. Mr. Dundee. Quiet, too, if you like quiet. There are only two other rooms occupied on this floor at present. Miss Jewel Briggs, who has the room across the hall from you, is away visiting her family over the weekend, and Tilda, the chambermaid, has the little room at the rear. I'm sorry there's only one bath on this floor—"

"Oh, I'm going to be luxurious up here," Dundee assured her.

"Dinner's at six," she told him. "I know that's rather early for you, summatime, but my guests are always so hungry after their long days at the office. I hope you'll be happy here. I have a nice little crowd of guests—more like a family than just boarders."

Freshly tubbed, Dundee descended the stairs at exactly six o'clock. Somewhere below a deep-toned gong was summoning the boarders—rather unnecessary formality, he thought for when he entered the dining room the tables were almost filled.

Mrs. Rhodes was waiting for him and escorted him to the long table in the center of the room.

"This is the house guests' table, Mr. Dundee. The little tables are for 'mealers'—transients, you know, who come in only for dinner." With her hand on his arm, she performed the introductions.

"This is Mr. Dundee, folks. And Mr. Dundee, this is Mrs. Sharp. You've already met Mr. Sharp. And this is Miss Barker, Miss Shepherd, Mr. Styles, Miss Paige, Mr. Magnus, and Mr. Dowd."

There was a chorus of friendly greetings, and as Dundee took his seat directly opposite the very pretty girl who was Miss Paige, he reflected:

"Nice, friendly people. Just folks! I suppose Lieut. Strawn and Uncle Pat are right and that I'm as big a nut as that poor old woman upstairs."

But just then there came from above, a raucous screaming of words, in a voice that was so strangely horrible that Dundee's hair rose on his scalp.

"Help! Murder! Police!"

The young detective sprang to his feet, his face paper-white.

ARMY TO STUDY CAUSES OF FORCED LANDINGS

Wright Field, Ohio.—(AP)—Forced landings, regarded by the army air corps as more annoying than serious, and heretofore not reported to headquarters unless serious damage or injury resulted, are to receive close scrutiny with a view to their elimination.

Air corps officials feel that there have been too many forced landings and that only a close study of causes will bring about their elimination.

Orders have been issued to air corps aviators that all forced landings, due to any cause, must be reported to air corps headquarters in Washington, with an analysis of the cause. The reports will be assembled by the inspection division and studied in an effort to find a way to eliminate the causes.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, Oct. 25.—The New York Federal Reserve Bank has lowered its buying rate for bankers' acceptances from 5 1/2 per cent. to 5 per cent. The bank lowered the rate from 5 1/4 to 5 1/2 per cent. on August 9, when it increased the rate from 5 per cent. to 6 per cent. This latest reduction is regarded as reflecting the huge surplus of credit liberated by the unprecedented liquidations of stocks.

Based on present operations at leading tire manufacturing centers in the country, crude rubber consumption during October will total approximately 34,500 tons, it has been estimated by members of the Rubber Exchange of New York. September consumption totaled 34,363 tons, while 40,857 tons were used in Oct. 1928.

Commercial building contracts let throughout the country in the past week indicated a continued high rate of activity in this class of heavy construction and engineering operations, but the money value awards for all groups recorded a slight drop from the previous week, Engineering News-Record reports. The total for the week came to $55,992,000, compared with $60,748,000 in the previous week, and $90,882,000 in the corresponding week last year.

Leading midwest steel-makers report improved specifications developing for November shipments. October has been the low point of the year and operations at about 70 per cent.

OPENING STOCKS

New York, Oct. 25.—(AP.)—Stock prices staged a broad rally at the opening of the market today, and trading quieted down to more reasonable proportions; few large blocks changing hands.

Canadian Pacific was a high flier, jumping 12 5/8 points. Eastman Kodak gained 5 1/4. United Aircraft 3 3/4. Radio 2 3/4. Consolidated Gas 2 1/2. New York Central 1 3/4. Paramount 1 1/2. U. S. Steel, American Telephone and Anaconda each one.

The only large block in the initial transactions to appear on the tape was one of 10,000 shares of Westinghouse, up 3 points.

The reassuring advices of several leading bankers published both yesterday and this morning, together with optimistic statements by several steel company heads and the decline of $167,000,000 in brokers' loans appeared to have bolstered up speculative confidence in remarkable fashion. A little more distress selling appeared during the early trading, on the part of weak holders whose accounts did not get cleared out yesterday, but this was readily absorbed.

Trading was at much less hectic and confused pace than at yesterday's opening. But the volume swelled as the session progressed, more than 1,200,000 shares changing hands in the first half hour.

Eastman Kodak soon increased its gain to 1 1/4, and A. M. Byers jumped 19 points. Industrial Alcohol and Standard Gas moved up 7, Republic Steel 6, and Johns Manville, Norfolk and Western, American Power and Light, American and Foreign Power, National Cash Register, General Electric, Radio and others 3 to 4 points. U. S. Steel, however, after selling up 1 1/2 points, lost its gain, and American Can slipped back a couple of points.

A few isolated weak spots were uncovered. Fox film dropped 6 points, and First National Stores 4 1/2, while Crucible Steel, Webster Eisenlohr, Industrial Rayon and Southern Railway lost 2 to 3. Foreign exchanges opened firm, with sterling cables at $4.88, a shade lower.

JEW ACQUITTED

Jaffa, Oct. 25.—(Jewish Telegraphic Agency)—Isaac Abbadis, Jewish fishmonger of Jaffa, has been acquitted of the charge of wounding with intent to murder several Arabs on the day of the recent riots. Abbadis was acquitted by Judge Plunkett, sitting in the Jaffa court.

Declining to hear the summing up of the case by the prosecution and the defense, the judge declared that the prosecution's witnesses' testimony was conflicting and unreliable. This is the first case of a Jew having been tried for an attempted murder in the trials growing out of the recent Palestine outbreak.

MOSES RETAINS SEAT

Plymouth, Eng., Oct. 25.—(AP.)—After a seven-day trial of a petition to deprive J. J. Moses of his seat as Labor member of Parliament on the ground of alleged corrupt practices and bribery by his agents, the court today declared the petition had failed, and must be dismissed. Mr. Moses was elected to Parliament from the Drake division of Plymouth in the last general election.

The Library of Congress was established in 1800. Its collection is the largest in the western hemisphere at present, being composed of more than 3,500,000 books and pamphlets.

NEWSPAPER SUED

New York, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Lee B. Wood, managing editor of the New York Telegram, today was under summons in a civil suit for libel, brought by Fiorello H. La Guardia, Republican fusion candidate for mayor. The suit is based on a headline in the paper saying La Guardia was conceding defeat. La Guardia said he was not suing the Telegram "for $1,000,000, or any other sum. I do not want any money; I simply want established that they maliciously and viciously made a misstatement in their headline, and stop that kind of practice in political campaigns." "There was nothing in the statement I made and nothing in the article to justify the headline," La Guardia said. "La Guardia does not concede denying; La Guardia admits he is winning. To put words like that in the mouth of a candidate is a very serious thing." Ravens mate for life, and use the same next year after year.

NEW ENGLAND PARLEY

Boston, Oct. 25.—(AP)—A committee of thirty will be appointed by the governors of the New England states to examine all phases of New England's transportation requirements, the New England Council announced today. The future status of New England's railroads will also be the major topic of discussion at the fifth New England conference here November 21 and 22. All New England governors will attend the conference together with about 1,800 business men, representing the business organizations of the six states.

THREE MEN INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Agawam, Mass., Oct. 25.—(AP)—Three men were injured, one critically, when their auto taking them to work on the Cobble Mountain dam project, collided with a parked truck early today. All three were brought to a hospital here.

Anthony Larrello of Boston, driver of a truck owned by the Carroll Dunn Trucking company of Torrington, Conn., loaded with groceries had been driving all night and parked his truck at the roadside while he snatched a few minutes sleep. The truck was seen by Herman F. Johnson driver of the sedan in time to avoid a head-on crash but one side of the car was torn away.

Johnson claimed there were no lights on the truck. This was denied by the driver. Those injured were Amelion Grandiceno, Arthur Dubonto, and Harry Ekinovitz.

LUTHER LEAGUE HEAR MIDDLETOWN GUESTS

A delegation of 55 Luther Leaguers of the Swedish Lutheran church were guests of the Middletown League in that city last night, and presented a splendidly received program.

Sherwood Anderson, president of the Manchester League spoke a few words of appreciation for the invitation and hospitality extended this league. An octette from the Beech-hoven Glee Club comprised of Egan Nyquist, Clarence Anderson, Sherwood Anderson, Arthur Anderson, Carl Gustafson, Filmors Gustafson, William Johnson and Fred Sodaberg, sang "Morning" and responded to two encores with "The Bulldog on the Bank" and "In the Garden of Roses." A musical play "The Truth, Polon" was given by Evelyn Anderson, Beatrice Johnson, Elsa Berggren, and Norma Sodaberg. Miss Eva M. Johnson was the accompanist.

MEXICAN ACE LOST

Mexico City, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Captain Florencio Flores of the Mexican air force is attempting to inaugurate a direct air line between Mexico City and La Paz, Lower California, was reported missing today. He was last reported on his takeoff from Los Mochis, Sinaloa, yesterday morning on his final hop to La Paz. The flight normally would take 2 1/2 hours.

SENSE and NONSENSE

A Business Change
Scraggs had a fine stenographer, a lady blonde and fair. With eyes as blue as violets, and sunny golden hair. A face and form like Venus, but not so "bare" as she. For this one wore silk stockings rolled down below the knee.

A flapper skirt of gauzy weave, a waist—twas décolleté— And Scraggs stuck close to business, he never missed a day. Dictation to this Steno was in honeyed tones expressed. Till Mrs. Scraggs dropped in one day—I hate to tell the rest.

She grabbed Scraggs by the collar— she smote him "hip and thigh." The Steno grabbed her bonnet, nor stopped to say "goodbye." And now a male stenographer usurps the lady's place. And Scraggs dictates to a squint-eyed man with pock marks on his face.

A Few Needed Inventions
A berry box which will prevent all the best berries from staying at the top.
A telephone ring that will tell you who is on the other end of the wire before we answer it.
A golf ball with a gramophone attachment that will sing out, "Here I am."
An adjustable ring that will fit the usual number of girls you become engaged to during the summer.
An angler's scales which will corroborate the fisherman's story.
A piano that will sound the same to the girl playing it as it does to the neighbors.

"A Few Reasons Why I Love Her"
Because she doesn't take her pleasures too seriously.
Because of the way she says "Good-Bye."
Because she never makes a scene.
Because she is at her loveliest by moonlight.
Because her tears are like tiny rain drops of nectar.
Because she does not display photographs of other men.
Because her smile is like spring-time.
Because she never answers a question with "Because."

Now the outsiders are trying to sell silk stockings by long-distance

PEARLS COME FROM MONSTERS AND DIAMONDS FROM FISH.

THE TINYMALES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Tinies and the Weeones ran and close behind the farmer man came tearing. "Oh, I'll catch you," he exclaimed in voice real loud. "A good old spanking you will get. You'll be sorry, you can bet, that you played a naughty crowd. You're a naughty, naughty crowd."

Between breaths Clowdy shouted, "Say, I guess we're in for it today. I'm sorry that the Weeones ever took the farmer's corn. That made the scarecrow come to us and that's what started all the fuss. No wonder Mister Farmer looks on all of us with scorn."

"Aw, don't start crossing bridges yet," said Copsy. "There'll be time to fret when we are really caught. The thing to do right now is run! Let's find some place where we can hide. How glad I would crawl inside a cave if there was one near home. But, shucks, there's not a one."

Although the Tinies ran real fast methods, like the necktie people, but the thing to do is to send them back. The necktie racket must have proven profitable for many are entering it. Remember you are under no obligation to buy the merchandise that is sent you unsolicited.

Two spinsters were discussing men. "Which would you prefer in your husband, wealth, ability, or appearance?" asked one. "Appearance," replied the other. "And the sooner, the better."

No, Maudie; a Doctor of Laws doesn't make his living treating bad laws.

Romiet! "So we shall elope at midnight?"

Julia: "Yes, darling."

Romiet: "And you will have your suit case all ready when I sneak up to the door?"

Julio: "Sure. Mother is packing it for me now."

Algernon (reading joke): "Fancy this Percy: 'A chap he thinks that a football coach has four wheels'."

Percy: "Hiaw, Hiaw! And how many wheels has he bally thing?"

The farmer and his wife probably work harder and longer for less pay than any other workers.

HALLOWE'EN NOVELTY DANCE

Saturday Night Green School Hall Bill Waddell's Orch.—Adm. 50c.

ABOUT TOWN

Though the public schools in Manchester are closed today because of the convention of teachers in Hartford, St. James's school is in session as usual. There will be no session at this school on Friday of next week, however, it being All Saints' Day.

Louis F. Butler, of Hartford, president of the Travelers Insurance Company, who died on Wednesday, spent part of his younger life in Manchester. His father was an army officer and lived while a resident of Manchester on North Main street just west of Union. He was a pupil under Miss S. Annie Starkweather in the Eighth District school and long afterward was among those present at a reception given to Miss Starkweather when she retired from teaching in Manchester.

Police here are earnest in their determination to enforce the automobile parking restriction ordinance. Four more violators of this law were today fined two dollars without costs. This makes more than a score who have been arrested within the past week. Patrolmen on Main street duty at the south end continue to chalk the front "curb tire" on parked automobiles as a time check against would-be violators.

Mrs. Marion Pierce, principal of the Buckland school, and Miss Irene Buckland, one of the teachers, will be in charge of the Parent-Teacher Halloween social at the school hall, Monday evening. They will award $2.50 gold pieces for first prizes. Refreshments will be served and dancing will follow the card games.

Loyal Circle of Kings Daughters, which is affiliated with the church, are making plans to conduct a rummage sale in November, for the furtherance of their charitable work.

The Center church young folks who are going to New Britain tomorrow afternoon with the Cyp club, are requested to meet at 1:45 in front of the Masonic Temple. It is expected that a number will attend from the Second and the Swedish Congregational churches. Saturday afternoon and evening the meetings of the New England Regional conference will be given over to the young people.

J. J. Dwyer, agent of the New Haven railroad, returned to his office at the freight station yesterday after an absence of about two months. Mr. Dwyer had an attack of appendicitis in September and as soon as he was able to travel went to Atlantic City for several weeks to recuperate.

Teachers and officers of the Junior department of Center church Sunday school will be in charge of the Halloween social for the children this evening at 7 o'clock at the Franklin school.

Mrs. Leslie Hardy and Mrs. Gertrude Furnell are the delegates from Center Congregational church who will attend the regional conference of Congregationalists at New Britain, tomorrow, Sunday and Monday.

Is the date of the confirmation of a large class of children at St. Bridget's church.

Group No. 4 of the Memorial Hospital Linen Auxiliary will meet for sewing at the School street Recreation Center on Monday afternoon.

Miss Laura House, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert B. House of East Center street left for Boston today to spend the week-end with her brother and sister, and to attend the Harvard-Dartmouth game.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Wilcox are in Middletown today for the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Mattesett Dramatic club, to be held at St. John's Lyceum hall this evening.

Center Church Women's Federation announce a food sale to be held at Watkins Brothers store Wednesday afternoon of next week at 2:30.

Whist and dancing, gold pieces for first prizes and harvest fruits and vegetables for other prizes will attract many to the Manchester Green school this evening, when the Community club will run a Halloween social.

Mrs. Abby Fay of Pearl street returned home yesterday afternoon from St. Francis hospital where she has been for the past four weeks receiving treatment for an infected hand.

The Sunday school teachers of the Swedish Lutheran church will meet tonight at the parsonage with Rev. P. J. O. Cornell. It is important that every one be present.

Mrs. Thomas Ferguson of Main street and Mrs. Frank Hastings of Hartford left for New Haven today to spend the week-end with their sister, Mrs. W. P. Wilson.

The following young men from South Manchester are enrolled as students at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N. Y.: John J. Cervini, 218 Oak street; Elliott W. Knight, 145 Pine street; Russell L. Remig, 87 Pine street.

Harold W. Garrity of this town has been chosen class representative to the Student Council of the Boston University School of Law.

Contractor Edwin C. Bunce invites the people of Manchester to inspect his newly finished English style house at 118 Prospect street, Sunday, October 27 from 1 to 4 p. m.—Adv.
