

FALL GETS A YEAR; MUST PAY $100,000

Court May Suspend Jail Sentence Because of Poor Health of Former Member of Cabinet.

Washington, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Albert B. Fall, former cabinet officer convicted of receiving a $100,000 bribe, today was sentenced to one year in jail and fined $100,000 after a motion for a new trial had been denied by Justice Hitz in the District of Columbia Supreme Court. Fall, found guilty last week of receiving a bribe from Edward Doheny, oil operator, was granted bond pending appeal.

Maximum Sentence.
Under the law the maximum sentence that could have been given the former cabinet member was three times the amount he received or a $300,000 fine and three years in a Federal prison.

The defense attorneys made a brief and formal motion at the opening of court and the proceedings were over in a few minutes. Justice Hitz said had Fall been in good physical condition, he would have imposed full sentence, but that in view of his health he would suspend sentence if it were to take effect at once.

May Suspend Sentence.
The court let defense counsel understand that if the appeal were dropped he would suspend sentence as long as Fall's physical condition was such as it is now.

After the court had given Fall the bribe in return for a lease on the Navy's Elk Hills, California, oil reserve, was not in court when the former secretary of the interior was sentenced. And in contrast to the tumbling scene in court when Fall was found guilty, there was no demonstration today.

Fall showed no signs of emotion.

BALDWIN DENIES INDIA STATEMENT

Tells Parliament He Said Nothing About the End of British Rule There.

London, Nov. 1.—(AP)—While the hardy military cheered, Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader and former premier, rose in his own defense today in Parliament to deny published assertions he had fathered expressions of vicerey action in India regarding the published views on eventual dominion status for India.

An article in the Daily Mail had vehemently attacked the Conservative leader, and alleged he was responsible for the vicerey's action in India. Some newspapers have accused M. Daladier of wrecking M. Clemenceau's attempt yesterday by insisting on receiving the portfolio of the interior. This ministry, which holds the key to the internal politics of the nation in France, was abandoned by the Radical only after a very bitter fight. M. Tardieu himself.

His Remarks.
Asking the indulgence of the House to make an observation the former premier said:
"An article had been brought to my notice which appeared in today's Daily Mail. It is sufficient for me at the moment to say that every statement of fact and every implication of fact contained in that article is untrue and in my opinion gravely injurious to public interest not only in this country, but throughout the empire."

He added he would take an early occasion to make a more complete statement on this matter.

Wedge Wood Benn, secretary of state for India, previously in answering a question by David Lloyd George, Liberal leader, had stated the Simon commission for Indian statutory reform had not been consulted with reference to the passage in the vicerey's statement relating to the constitutional status of India in the empire.

Britain's Goal.
This passage, the India secretary said, was "intended to set out the goal of British policy as stated in the declaration of August, 1917. In view of doubts which have been expressed both in Great Britain and India regarding interpretation to be placed upon the intentions of the British government in enacting the statute of 1919 the vicerey was authorized on behalf of His Majesty's government to state clearly that in their judgment it was implicit in the declaration of 1917 that the national issue of India's constitutional progress is the attainment of dominion status."

Benn explained that questions of policy "involving changes either in substance or in time" could not be considered until the reports of the Simon commission and the India central commission were submitted. Then the government must consider these matters in consultation with the Indian government, in the light of available material, and after the meeting of the conference which it is intended to summon.

TARDIEU WILL TRY TO FORM CABINET

To Pick Out Men Regardless of Party Lines He Tells President Doumergue.

Paris, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Confident he would be able to form a stable government for the weeks of crucial international negotiations which face France until well into the new year, Andre Tardieu today formally accepted President Doumergue's invitation to form a new ministry.

He boldly announced he would handle his problem, which observers agree is a very difficult one, by selecting individuals capable of maintaining a solid republican government, rather than by consulting political parties.

Not Interested in Parties.
"If the persons I consult have any scruples of conscience, they can confer with their parties. I have no objection, but I am not interested in the decisions of the parties and have unequivocally declared to refrain from seeing any party leaders," M. Tardieu said as he was leaving the presidential palace.

M. Tardieu's attempt to end the French cabinet crisis, which former Premier Briand said last night had lasted too long and was causing harm to France abroad, means that President Doumergue, confronted with the bewildering patchwork of parties in the Chamber, has decided to try for a government with its center of gravity further to the right than anything proposed since the days of M. Tardieu's first act after agreeing to try to form a ministry to go to the bedside of M. Poincare. He sought counsel of the veteran of so many political combinations.

Meanwhile, he has received support from M. Briand, who has agreed to accept the ministry of foreign affairs. M. Briand sincerely prefers to drop the premiership, but he had been mentioned for the post since his eleven cabinet was overthrown October 22. He would like, however, to continue at the Quai d'Orsay in order to continue the political policies which he has planned with respect to the evacuation of the Rhineland, and the application of the Young plan, and the question of naval limitation.

"Tiger's" Mouthpiece.
M. Tardieu, who was the disciple and mouthpiece in the Chamber of the tiger, Clemenceau, seems to be borrowing some of his master's thunder in his summary dismissal of political parties from the considerations which will weigh with him in forming a Cabinet.

Any government which faces the French Chamber is obliged to a government of parties. M. Daladier, M. Clemenceau failed to establish a government based on the Left and Left Center of the Chamber. M. Tardieu is now attempting to form one on the Right and Right Center. Some newspapers have accused M. Daladier of wrecking M. Clemenceau's attempt yesterday by insisting on receiving the portfolio of the interior. This ministry, which holds the key to the internal politics of the nation in France, was abandoned by the Radical only after a very bitter fight. M. Tardieu himself.

AS COAST GUARDS CHEATED DEATH ON LAKE

This graphic picture, snapped at the height of rescue work by U. S. coast guards, shows the first boatload of survivors of the ill-fated Great Lakes steamer Wisconsin being brought ashore at Kenosha, Wis. Notice that all are wearing life preservers, many of them having been picked up from the water. The 40-year-old ship went down in a storm on Lake Michigan.

Part Of Mexico's Navy Held For Repair Bill

San Diego, Cal., Nov. 1.—(AP)—The Mexican government has filed suit in Superior Court here to recover possession of the patrol boat S. A. F. No. 2, formerly the Teate, which constitutes half of Mexico's west coast navy.

The craft, launched about three months ago, recently was returned to the ways of the Peter Rask shipyard here and work on its hull started. It supposedly is held for a repair bill. In the complaint the boat is valued at $26,000 and the Mexican government asks judgment of that amount if it is not delivered, plus $2,500 damages. Rask's bill against the Mexican government for repairs is said to approximate $12,000.

Rask said there had been a misunderstanding which would be straightened out soon.

SOUTH NEEDS TARIFF LOBBY PROBES TOLD

Members of Association Advised to Send Only Men to Congress Who Will Vote for Protection.

Washington, Nov. 1.—(AP)—J. A. Arnold, vice president and general manager of the Southern Tariff Association, testified before the senate lobby committee today that the organization had suggested that "men be sent to Congress" to vote for a protective tariff.

Under questioning, Arnold said this was the only way to obtain protection.

"Do you help elect, or try to elect Congressmen in any districts?" asked Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana.

"I can't say that we have," the witness answered.

Spoke to Senators.
Arnold testified members of the tariff association had discussed the pending tariff bill with some senators.

"What did you do?" asked Walsh.

"I spoke to the Florida Senators and we presented a memorial to Senator Watson of Indiana (the Senate Republican Leader)," he replied, adding, a committee of which he was a member talked with Senators Connally of Texas, Black of Alabama and Harris of Georgia, all Democrats.

Walsh produced a letter written to Brown White of San Benito, Texas, by Arnold, October 9 which referred to "whispering friends."

"Who was referred to?" Walsh inquired.

"I suppose it referred to Congressman Garner of Texas," Arnold said.

Garner is House Democratic leader.

"Whispering Johnny."
Another letter read by Walsh written by White to Arnold referred "to our friend, whispering Johnny" which Arnold said also referred to Garner.

Walsh read again from White's letter which said he was glad C. R. Belcher of Del Rio, Texas, was running for Congress.

"Is he a Democrat or Republican?" Walsh asked.

"I don't know," Arnold previously had testified it made no difference to him what party a man belonged to.

TRUCE DECLARED BY POLISH DIET

Speaker Refuses to Open Meeting of Parliament in Army Officers Presence.

Warsaw, Poland, Nov. 1.—(AP)—A three-day truce in the controversy between Marshal Pilsudski, minister of war, and Ignace Daszynski, Speaker of the Diet, appeared in sight today as President Moscicki, who is seeking to compose the differences, planned to leave Warsaw for a week end at his country residence.

M. Daszynski yesterday refused to open the scheduled fall session of the Diet, because of the presence of seventy or more armed Army officers who had appeared "to salute" their chief, Marshal Pilsudski.

Meanwhile the government has clamped a censorship on the opposition press, suppressing today's early editions for their comment on yesterday's incident.

Lack of Confidence.
Last night government deputies, numbering 125 in the total of 444, held a conference and decided to present a motion of lack of confidence in the Speaker for his refusal to open the Diet and for offending Marshal Pilsudski as the representative of the Army.

A statement issued by the government.

In Burnt Cork of Hallowe'en Eight Year Old Aldred Fatscher Is Run Down Amid Caperings.

The Hallowe'en revelries of Aldred Fatscher, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fatscher of 210 School street, were brought to a tragic end at 8:50 o'clock last night when an automobile driven by Leon Dwir, 17, of 56 Starkweather street, struck and fatally injured him as he drove along with reckless abandon in front of the Army and Navy Club. The boy died six hours later at Manchester Memorial hospital. His skull had been fractured.

In police court this morning Dwir was charged with reckless driving and his case was continued until Saturday, November 16, when his father had posted a bond of $100.

BRITISH PREMIER REACHES LONDON

Big Crowd at Station Cheers Him as He Steps from Railroad Coach.

London, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Prime Minister MacDonald, returning from his peace mission to the United States, arrived in London early this afternoon and received an enthusiastic reception from a crowd on the station platform as he stepped out of his car.

A majority of members of the Laborite Cabinet, including Arthur Henderson, foreign secretary, were at the station to greet their chief.

Looking Well.
The premier was looking remarkably well and seemed much more animated than before his departure. His daughter Isabel shared in the enthusiastic reception.

The prime minister obligingly stopped to give the cameramen an opportunity to record his arrival and then went on. As he and his party emerged into the street there was a great cheer from a throng gathered in the neighborhood of the station some of whom had been waiting for hours to greet the head of the government.

"Hello Arthur."
The prime minister's greeting to Secretary Henderson.

"Hello Tom, smiling as ever" was his remark to his confidante, Tom Shaw, war secretary.

Then there was a rush of other friends to shake hands before the prime minister could make his way to his motor car.

A big luncheon hour crowd in the neighborhood of Downing street cheered the returning premier when he arrived there, where he was welcomed by Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, and other members of the Cabinet.

MARKETS CLOSED TODAY, TOMORROW

Brokers Trying to Catch Up On Biggest 4 Days' Business in Street's History.

New York, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The Stock Market was closed today while brokers strove to catch up with the greatest volume of business ever transacted in four days in the history of Wall street.

The Stock Exchange and the Curb Market ended their week yesterday a three hour session in which a flood of buying, stimulated by constructive financial news, recouped much of the loss in quoted values suffered in the record breaking collapse of Monday and Tuesday.

Prices on the Stock Exchange showed net gains ranging from 2 to 30 points for the day and the maximum gain on the Curb was 55 1/2.

Brokers Loans.
Another feature of the day was the reduction of brokers' loans for the week of $1,096,000,000, the greatest drop in history. Bank loans for the day set a record with $3,853,000,000. During the three hour session on the Stock Exchange 7-149,390 shares changed hands, a figure far in excess of the average for a normal five hour day.

The Stock Exchange and Curb market will be closed until Monday to give brokers a respite after the ordeal of the biggest week in security trading history and to afford an opportunity for clerical staffs to bring their books up date.

NORRIS' CENSURE OF SEN. BINGHAM AGAIN HELD UP

League Plans International Tariff Truce

Geneva, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The economic committee of the League of Nations today published its proposals for an international tariff truce, which had been widely discussed at the Geneva Assembly of the League in connection with Premier Briand's idea of a European confederation.

The proposals, which are to be the basis for negotiations between countries, are in the form of a report to the League Council, with a draft convention setting forth the provisions for the agreement on the tariff truce attached as an annex.

The first article of the convention provides that signatories undertake to refrain from increasing their customs duties "upon products of other high contracting parties," for the duration of the truce.

This is of particular interest to American observers. Lucius Eastman, American member of the committee, recently said that the movement for a tariff truce was a problem for Europe, in which the United States could hardly be expected to participate as a contracting party.

The understandings to be given by the states accepting it are described in the draft convention as the maintenance without modification of the system now in force, between them by stabilization of import and export duties and exchange of effectual agreements regarding internal taxes, prohibitions, and all barriers to trade.

No Date Chosen.
The opening date for this stabilization is not fixed, nor is the duration of the agreement defined. These decisions will rest with the conference of powers.

The economic committee also refrained from making recommendations about action at the end of the truce. It is announced, however, that the truce is only a preliminary stage of concerted action in which the contributing states will bind themselves to take part later.

LEAGUE PLANS INTERNATIONAL TARIFF TRUCE

American Member of Committee Declares United States Cannot Be Expected to Sign Such a Contract

Washington, Nov. 1.—(AP)—A resolution asking condemnation of Senator Bingham, Republican, Connecticut, was introduced in the Senate today by Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, but at the request of Senator Fess of Ohio, the Republican whip, its consideration was deferred.

Senator Norris called attention that the resolution was privileged but said he was glad to lay it aside temporarily if any one requested.

When Fess asked that it be put aside, the Nebraska quickly consented.

Bingham Silent.
Although Bingham so far has made no move it has been indicated he will do so after the Senate acts on the resolution.

His friends have told him it has a chance of being adopted.

He has refused, however, to discuss Norris' action.

Norris, in offering the resolution, said as chairman of the judiciary committee he had named the lobby committee which inquired into Bingham's relations with the Connecticut Manufacturers' Association. He asserted the facts about Bingham's use of Charles L. Eyanson, an employee of the association to assist him in his work as a member of the finance committee drafting the tariff bill were "undisputed" as reported by the lobby committee.

"Later," he continued, "the Senator from Connecticut in language which seemed to me discourteous, assailed the committee and the chairman of the judiciary committee who appointed the lobby committee while not denying but rather admitting all the material facts reported by the committee."

Later, Bingham informed his friends that after giving the matter considerable thought he had concluded he had "nothing to apologize for."

Norris also gave notice that tomorrow he intended to call up the resolution but would consent to delay until Monday if it were requested.

Senator Moses of New Hampshire, the president pro tempore of the Senate, ruled the resolution privileged. As a result it may be called up at any time.

MEN NOW IN JAIL MURDER SUSPECTS

Bullets Found in Victim's Body Came from Guns Found on Prisoners.

Detroit, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Microscopic examinations of three of the bullets taken from the body of David Cass, 23, kidnaping victim, have satisfied police as to the identity of the young man's slayers.

The bullets were found to have been fired from .32 and .38 caliber revolvers, the same revolvers, police say, that were owned by Frank Hohfer and Edward Wiles, now serving terms in the Michigan branch prison at Marquette of from 35 to 50 years each for the kidnaping of Matthew Holdreith, Jr.

Authorities will decide today whether the two and two other men suspected of participation in a series of kidnaping plots here during the past nine months, would be returned to face a homicide charge.

The ballistics and pistol experts who examined the bullets were unceremoniously given the gun from which the fourth bullet was fired.

Hohfer and Wiles were sentenced to Marquette, Oct. 7 after they had been caught in a stolen taxicab with part of the ransom money they had received from Matthew Holdreith, Sr., and the younger Holdreith had been rescued from an apartment where he had been chained to a bed for six days. A third man, William Cardinal, aka Murphy, who is believed to have been wounded in the gun battle between police and the trio, while officers were seeking the stolen taxi, escaped. He is being sought in connection with the Holdreith and other kidnapings.

Other suspected members of the kidnap gang include: Joseph Laman, now serving a two year sentence for extortion in connection with the Cass kidnaping ransom transaction; and Andrew Germon, now serving 30 to 50 years for shooting a Birmingham, Michigan, policeman.

Whether Henry Andrews, sentenced yesterday to from 35 to 50 years for kidnaping Fred Begegan, retired drawn into the Cass case, was not definitely known today.

Allen asking a pardon for the condemned man. The petition will be referred to Frank A. Brooks, chairman of the State Board of Parole, for investigation. No date was set for a hearing on the request.

Trippi is scheduled to die in the electric chair in the week of November 17. Pfleger was killed during an attempted escape by Trippi, Nov. 11, 1928.

ELECTION CLAIMS

New York, Nov. 1.—(AP)—New York's municipal campaign today reached the stage where John F. Curry, Tammany leader, claimed a 550,000 plurality for Mayor James J. Walker on Nov. 5, and Congressman F. H. La Guardia, Republican-Fusion candidate, said, "He's crazy."

"Tammany knows that estimate is not true," La Guardia said, "and anyone familiar with Tammany methods knows they are in despair and beaten."

La Guardia has predicted he will win by 150,000.

If he goes too far to the left, which would be against his own affiliations, the Center will withdraw its support, even by attacking M. Briand, he will go too far to the right, he will antagonize the Radical Socialists and lack sufficient votes to command the Chamber.

HIGH TARIFF HITS LABOR—SEN. SMITH

Washington, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Two southern Democrats, Ransdell of Louisiana, and Smith of South Carolina, held the center of tariff debate in the Senate today, the Louisiana appealing to rally to the support of the tariff bill and save it. Ransdell urged the minority to heed the words of Alfred E. Smith, party standard bearer in the last campaign, that: "I am opposed to politics in tariff making."

His views, first set forth in a statement, later were voiced on the Senate floor. After he had concluded, Senator Smith traced the growth of machine manufacturing and asked how labor expected to benefit through a higher tariff.

Youth In Mosquito Plane Flying Around The World

Dallas, Tex., Nov. 1.—(AP)—A 21-year-old boy and a wee "mosquito" airplane that weighs only 560 pounds when fully loaded are pausing in Dallas for a few days in the midst of a remarkable flight around the world.

The boy is Baron F. K. Koenig Warthausen of Berlin, who left his home 13 months ago on a pleasure flight and liked it so well that he hasn't been home since. He is flying a two-cylinder, 20-horsepower Mercedes-Benz of the glider type, unbelievably small and unbelievably safe. It costs $1800 in Germany, has a maximum speed of 70 miles an hour and uses 50 miles on a gallon of gas.

Just at present the baron and the plane are pausing. Landings on a dark and muddy field at Sweetwater, Tex., the other day, the baron crashed up and damaged a wing. Unable to fix it there, he put the little plane on a truck and brought it to Dallas for repairs. In a few days he will take off again, but 17 hours of solo flying when he began his world tour. From Berlin he flew to Moscow. Thence he followed his nose through the orient, Bankok, Singapore, Hongkong, Shanghai, Kobe, Tokio and Yokohama. At the latter city he put his plane on a liner and came to the United States, debarking at San Francisco. From San Francisco he came down through the southwest in easy stages.

Injured—In Auto Crash. In all of this flying in his tiny plane Warthausen has only had one mishap, aside from the affair at Sweetwater. That was at El Paso a couple of months ago, when a taxicab in which he was riding from the airport to a hotel hit another car and threw him through the windshield. His face was badly cut, and he spent six weeks in a hospital. Now he is eager to get back home.

"I only planned to be gone for a year," he says. "I'd have made it easy if it hadn't been for damages. I have some money, but I think I'd like to have something coming to me—my hospital and doctor bills were $1500."

From here Baron Warthausen plans to fly to Tulsa, St. Louis, Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Washington and New York. He thought some of attempting a trans-Atlantic flight, but finally reconsidered and decided to "cross" like a Siamese cat, as he says—by ocean liner to Cherbourg, from which point he will fly to his home in Berlin.

He carries with him a letter of introduction to Henry Ford, whom he is very anxious to meet. His companion on his trip thus far has been a blooded Siamese cat, given him by the king of Siam. In El Paso he added two more passengers—a pair of Texas horned toads. Otherwise he carries no cargo, except for of huge can of castor oil. This, however, is for the engine. "It is the ideal lubricant for a small motor," he says. "And it can be bought in any place in the world."

His trip has been devoid of any narrow escapes or spectacular thrills. Only once was he nervous. That was when he soared over 500 miles of uninhabited jungle in southern Asia. He admits that thoughts of a forced landing kept coming into his head while he was on that flight, but nothing happened and he got through in safety.

Richard was pinned under the block and died instantly. McInerney was struck a glancing blow which crushed his chest. He was taken to St. John's hospital, Lowe 1.

6 FAMILIES RESCUED. Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Three men returning from a Halloween party early today aroused six sleeping families and assisted them to safety from a four-story apartment block in which a fire was raging. From the apartment building the fire spread to a furniture warehouse causing damage estimated at $25,000.

The rescuers were James Nichols and Roger Quinlan, both of Cambridge, and Richard Westland, of Brighton.

Many boys are taking up the study of housekeeping, some say a statistical bulletin. Somebody has to open the cans.

The annual convention of the Association voted to decline an invitation extended by Thomas F. McMahon, of New York, president of the United Textile Workers.

Mr. McMahon in a telegram to the association said it had been suggested that the union assist in readjustment of wage schedules and hours in the industry.

The association in its telegraphed reply besides stating: "We never discuss wages or labor," concluded: "The records of your activities and accomplishments during the past 20 years have not been such as to inspire confidence in you."

MERRYMAKING CHILD IS KILLED BY AUTOMOBILE

son of the accident he was proceeding south on Main street, at between 15 and 20 miles an hour, in a Ford touring car owned by Raymond Starkweather of 32 Starkweather street. The night was foggy and a slight mist was falling. As he passed Forest street twice said he felt a bump but thought nothing of it. He said he hadn't seen the boy at all. A scream from the sidewalk attracted his attention. He stopped and turned back.

Michael J. McDonnell, a witness of the tragedy, went to the victim's aid and carried him upstairs to Dr. A. B. Moran's office. The doctor, Thomas Wilcox, who like Mr. McDonnell is employed at the Manchester Motor Sales Company took the boy to the hospital. He was conscious and he cried for his mother as he lay in Mr. McDonnell's arms. On reaching the hospital he lapsed into unconsciousness and died without rallying.

Aldred, with his face blackened in the usual Halloween manner, was one of the boys who were celebrating with childish pranks. They came down Eldridge street in a laughing, shouting crowd, stopping on the trolley tracks to await the passing of two automobiles. One of the cars swung in a U-turn into the east curbing and the second Dwyer's car continued south. Witnesses say that three boys started to run across the street, Aldred in front of the car, the others behind it.

Sergeant John Crockett and Officer Cassels investigated and covered a number of persons who claimed to have witnessed the accident. They included Nicholas Blanchard of Fairfield street, John Marshall of Moore street, Mrs. McPartland of Eldridge and Main street and Edna Mordant of Lynch street. Miss Jennie Kose of Cooper street and Roger Winton of Woodbridge and North Elm streets were riding in the car with Dwyer.

There was some difficulty in identifying the falscher boy because of the mask of burnt cork that covered his face. However his companions soon supplied his name and John Gunipero went to the parents' home to notify them of the accident. The father rushed immediately to the hospital. After he had returned home the police called him again to the bedside but the boy died before he arrived.

Starkweather carried full insurance. Second to be killed. This is the second of five children born to Mr. and Mrs. Falscher to meet with a violent death. Another son, Alexander, was drowned in Case's Pond at Highland Park on July 21, 1926. He was six years old. There are three brothers living, Warfahde, aged 11, Louis, age 8 and William, age five months. The funeral will be held from the funeral home of William P. Quish on Sunday afternoon. Rev. H. O. Weber of the Concordia Lutheran church will officiate. Burial will be in the East cemetery.

OCCUPANTS REMAIN AS HOUSE IS MOVED

The family at 40 Maple street was given a free ride this morning when the house owned by Aime Demars of 40 East Hartford was moved back 40 feet, half the distance to the rear line of the lot. The job is being done by H. H. Hollister, house mover, of Manchester.

It is understood that the house was moved to the rear of the lot to make room for new construction soon to be begun on the front by the owner. There are a few inconveniences possible as a result of this day's journey over the blocks some 80 feet to the back line of the lot such as discontinuance of electric power, sewer service and furnace heating but the family of Frank L. Chastellat seems content on their journey towards the Trade school.

APPOINT PROSECUTOR

Ansonia, Nov. 1.—(AP)—On the agreement that another man take office January 1, Judge Milton C. Isbell has concurred with Judge Carlos H. Storrs of City Court here in the appointment. Attorney Jacob H. Bellin as prosecutor. Bellin has agreed to resign from the post before Jan. 1 and both judges have agreed upon Maurice Kornblut of this city as his successor. Kornblut's law offices are in Bridgeport.

The agreement was reached in New Haven at a conference advised by Judge Christopher L. Avery in Superior Court, to which was appointed by Judge Storrs last June was brought. Although the principals in the controversy are satisfied they have not learned whether the charter can be interpreted as making obligatory an approval by Judge Isbell of an appointment by Judge Storrs before the appointee can take office.

N. Y. REGISTRATION Albany, N. Y., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Total registration for New York State was announced today by Edward J. Flynn, secretary of state, as $4,600,222, a decrease of $19,054 from last year when 4,885,276 voters registered for the presidential election.

TEACHERS' HALL SCENE OF HALLOWE'EN PARTY

Residents There Enjoy Frolic In Cleverly Transformed Music Room.

The vigilance committee of Teachers' Hall acted as host at a Halloween Frolic last evening. The music room was cleverly decorated and produced an eerie trysting place where the ghosts stalked, the goblins chattered, and the haggard witches muttered their direful incantations. The merry-making was ushered in by a grand march in which the gaily attired guests appeared in their weird and gala costumes. At the third stroke of the bewitched clock everyone removed his mask. Dancing and novelties under the direction of Robert Cushman made the evening roll by all too quickly. The festive board with its barrels of cider, dozens of doughnuts, and its bushels of apples added not little to the enjoyment of the party. Mrs. Hayward was chaperon and Miss Morgan guest of honor. William Kraih with his "Phantom Orchestra" furnished the music.

RAZE OLD CHURCH

New Hartford, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The long abandoned Congregational church on town hill is being razed. It was built in 1829 and had not been used for services since the Civil War. The structure had looked of late as if about to collapse and demolition is due to that fact. A stone arch over the church bell will be erected on the site. Some years ago the steeple was blown over and the apex penetrated the roof and so it remained for a long time as there was no one interested enough in the structure to repair the damage or to remove the steeple.

TO SURVEY NORTH END ON BANK PROPOSITION

Committee Decides to Canvas Business Men to Learn Possibilities. The committee appointed by north end business men at their meeting last month to investigate the proposition of a bank in that section of the town, held a meeting this noon at the Manchester Community club for further discussion of the project. The committee was composed of several members of the north end business community who have received advice from various sources. It was the consensus at the committee meeting this noon that the best way to go about the proposition is to first obtain a survey of the business situation in that part of the town. This will show just how much money can be depended upon, and the firms and individuals who are willing to take stock in a new bank, and the approximate support that will be forthcoming. The committee will recommend at the meeting next Thursday evening at the Community clubhouse the advisability of conducting such a survey. The persons who will be consulted are as follows: W. W. Robertson, C. E. Burr, William Foulds, Jr., Scott Simon, Fayette B. Clarke and Thomas Ferguson.

Musical numbers will be included in the program. The committee consists of Alexander Berggren, chairman; Carl Noren, John Leander, Otto Johnson and August Caspersen.

FALL GETS A YEAR; MUST PAY $100,000

(Continued from Page One.) Mrs. Fall sat beside him and his two daughters were among the spectators. Mrs. Fall leaned forward over her husband's right shoulder and talked with him and patted him on the left shoulder. Fall said he had no statement to make at this time. He waited for fifteen minutes for his new bond of $5,000 to be prepared for his signature. It was signed by the National Surety Company. While he was waiting, his daughters, Mrs. C. C. Chase and Mrs. J. J. Elliott, stepped to his side and Mrs. Chase, sitting on the arm of his chair threw her arms around his shoulders. His Lawyers Present Fall's three attorneys were present, including Mark Thompson, who collapsed in the courtroom when the jury rendered its verdict. Defense counsel, headed by Frank Hogan, based their plea for a new trial largely on the fact that the trial was held in the courtroom when the jury rendered its verdict. Hogan in his plea for a new trial merely outlined the grounds on which he based his motion and they were overruled without government counsel having to make a reply. Just before sentence was pronounced Thomas E. Norris, foreman of the jury which convicted Fall, and Miss Virginia Copper, 23-year-old stenographer, a jury member, took seats in the audience. As soon as his bond had been signed, Fall, accompanied by his physician and members of his family returned to his hotel. Notwithstanding Justice Hitz's offer of leniency, in the event the appeal was granted, Fall's counsel said they would continue their efforts on his behalf through the higher courts. Should the District of Columbia court of appeals rule against them the Supreme Court would be their next and final resort. In the civil cases to recover the naval reserves the highest court already has termed Fall a faithless public officer. This characterization was said by friends to have been

WADDELL TO TELL LIONS ABOUT TOWN

Town Treasurer to Speak to Local Club Men at Meeting Monday Night. George Waddell, town treasurer, will speak to the Lions club on the subject of town affairs and town management at the Country club at 6:15 o'clock Monday evening. Clarence H. Anderson, Dr. Walter Oliver and Lincoln Carter comprise the committee in charge, the first named being chairman. Mr. Waddell is eminently well qualified to speak on Manchester's government in that he is known as the "town manager" through handling the financial end. He is thoroughly at home with the ins and outs of the local government and can answer practically all questions pertaining to it. Members of the Lions are expected to turn out in great numbers to hear Mr. Waddell. The force at the Waranoke Hotel will cater. An orchestra will provide dinner music.

one of the impulses behind the former secretary's determination to contest the case to a finish. Fall's conviction was the first in the series of criminal trials growing out of the oil scandals of his administration as head of the interior department. He is the first man to have been sentenced for a felony and that came after he had once been found not guilty of conspiring with Doherty to defraud the government in the Elk Hills lease. The former secretary still has pending against him a charge that he conspired with Sinclair to defraud the government in the lease of the Teapot Dome reserve which he granted to Sinclair's Mammoth Oil Company but it was regarded as unlikely that the charge ever would be pressed because Sinclair was acquitted of a similar allegation. Sinclair who was alleged to have given Fall $269,500, is serving six months in jail for contempt of court growing out of his employment of detectives to shadow a juror during conspiracy charges against him.

AFTER LAKE STEAMER SANK

Fifteen lives were believed lost when the steamer Wisconsin bound north from Chicago with passengers and freight, foundered off Kenosha, Wis., in a heavy Lake Michigan storm. The upper photo shows the crowd that gathered at the Kenosha coastguard station when survivors were being brought ashore; at the right are Nurse Hilja Halgrave of St. Catherine's hospital, Kenosha, with Seaman Jack McGlugejun of Boston, a rescued member of the crew of the Wisconsin.

When Count Kato died in March, 1926, Wakatsuki inherited the premiership along with the presidency of his party. The Minseitō.

TURKISH EDITOR SPEAKS HIS PIECE

If There Is to Be U. S. of Europe Turkey Wants to Join, He Says.

Angora, Turkey.—(AP)—If there ever is to be a United States of Europe, Turkey wants to be in it, even though her capital city is beyond the geographic borders of Europe, far out in Asia Minor.

These desires of the young republic of Mustapha Kemal have been made audible by an outstanding official spokesman, Mahmoud Bey, deputy, intimate friend of Kemal, and editor-in-chief of the official newspaper "Milliet."

Returning from Athens where he represented Turkey at the recent peace congress, Mahmoud Bey has been devoting columns in his paper to Turkey's stand on the questions of peace and of the United States of Europe.

His Comments
"We Turks applaud the idea of the federation of people," he writes, "a federation which will unite all the nations of Europe on a perfect basis of equality, and which will suppress the hatreds and conflicting interests which now divide them. Turkey will participate eagerly in the forthcoming congress of all the Balkan states agreed upon by the recent peace congress at Athens, and she hopes that this Balkan conference may bring into actuality a United States of the Balkans which may serve as a prelude and an example to a greater subsequent United States of Europe."

Not Asiatic
"Turkey is not 'Asiatic.' It would be unjust to exclude from the European family a Turkey which is applying with remarkable decision and profound sincerity a fundamental program of reforms which have crowned with success her political, moral, and social revolution. The fact that Turkey maintains friendly relations with certain Oriental powers does not mean that she herself should be considered as one with those powers. She also has established friendly relations of even vaster import."

Does Not Lack Faith
Mahmoud Bey goes on to explain that Turkey's non-participation to date in the League of Nations is not due to any prohibitory contractual engagements nor a lack of faith in the League itself, but to the fact that she has not yet been offered a role therein satisfactory to her desires.

Japan's Experts AS NAVAL ENVOYS
Delegation to London Parley Are Brightest Men in Respective Fields.

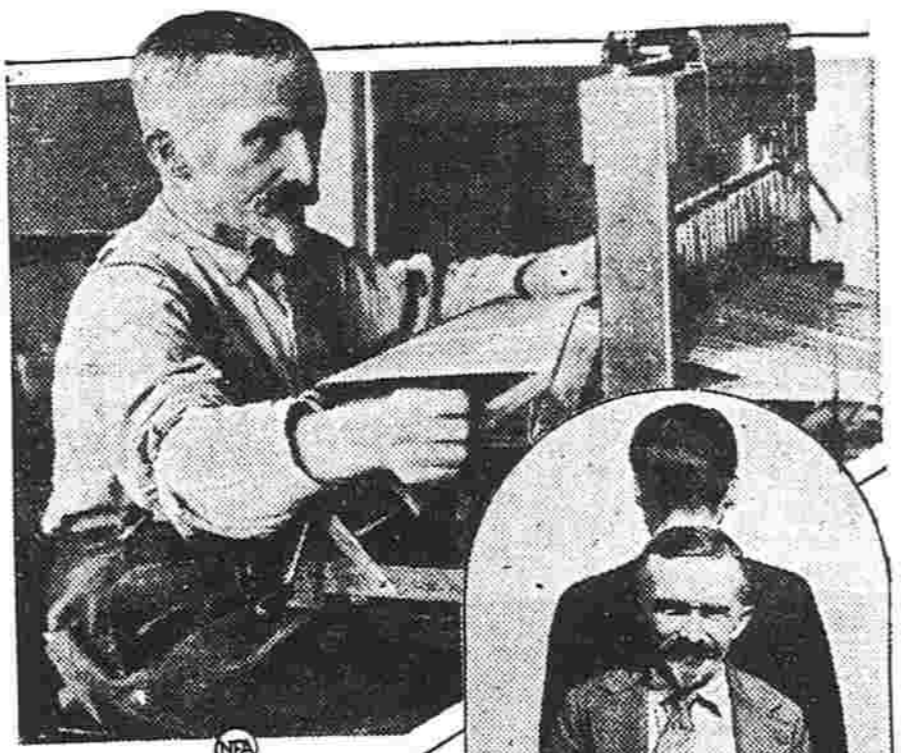

Tokyo.—(AP)—An expert in aircraft and economics, an authority on naval affairs and an artist in the ways and means of international intercourse and agreement will make up Japan's delegation to the London naval conference.

All three of Japan's delegates have lived in England and have some knowledge of English, but Matsudaira is the only one that is at home in that tongue.

FINANCIER DIES
Pasadena, Cal., Nov. 1.—(AP)—William Liston Brown, former Chicago shipbuilding magnate and financier died at his home here today. He was 87 years old.

Measuring only 18 inches in length, the wrasse, a fish found in British waters, has such strong teeth that it can crack the shell of a large crab.

California War Veteran Grows Shorter Each Day

Los Angeles.—One man in twenty-five million.
That's what physicians say of Joseph E. Mayott, 56, who has shrunk nine inches in height in the last eight years. He is afflicted with a strange malady known as Paget's disease or osteitis deformans. In 1921, Mayott was five feet seven inches and weighed 170 pounds. In 1929, he is four feet ten inches and weighs 140 pounds.

Mayott is confined to the United States Veterans' Hospital at Sawtelle where he has been under the care of physicians for the last three years. He has been the subject of intensive study by many prominent physicians in the west, because of the rarity of the disease. It is estimated that there are not over three or four cases known in the United States at present.

Bones Are Shrinking
All of the bones in his body, with the exception of the skull, are shrinking, causing him to lose about one inch per year in height. Oddly enough, the skull is increasing in size, and while his trousers have been shortened from 32 to 27 inches, his hat has increased from 6 1/2 to 7 1/2.

ITALY TO CONNECT CITIES BY A CANAL

To Be 1,000 Miles Long; Most of the Digging Is Already Done.

Udine, Italy.—(AP)—The Italian government is now considering a project to construct a canal along the old shell-town Austro-Italian front during the war that will link her new possessions of Fiume and Trieste on the eastern side of the Adriatic with Venice on the west.

It will be a canal of more than a thousand miles in length—but fortunately most of the digging is already done in the form of other canals now functioning. The major portion of the project will consist in uniting these canals and constructing a new section in Trieste itself as far as Montefalcone. This will reduce the total cost to something like $150,000 and means that only 550,000 cubic meters of earth must be excavated.

Will Revive Memories
The building of the canal will revive many memories of the World War. For not only were some of the fiercest battles of the Italo-Austrian conflict fought where the canal is run, but portions of the canal itself were dug just before Italy went into the war, in order that supplies and troops might be transported more easily.

FEW TROOPS NOW SURROUND PARIS
Once 25,000 Men Protected City—Now But 2,500 Soldiers There.

Paris.—(AP)—Paris, the goal of many an invading army since the time of Caesar, has not only done away with the three rings of fortifications that encircled her before the Great War, but has greatly decreased the troops that once were on constant peace-time duty within her walls.

Before the war, the garrison of Paris counted twenty thousand bayonets and four thousand sabres, with the artillery, the engineers and supplementary services bringing the number of men above 25,000. Today only 2,500 soldiers are on duty in the capital.

Bring in Troops
Twice this year the army has brought battalions to Paris from the country to be ready to aid the police. The first occasion was on May Day, when trouble from the Communists was feared. The second time was August 1, for exactly the same reason. Nothing happened on either day.

AFGHAN'S NEW KING IS OF ROYAL FAMILY
Is 49 Years Old and Has Spent Most of Life as a Military Leader.

BLIND STUDENT PLANS JOURNALISTIC CAREER

Batrou Rouge, La.—(AP)—An 18-year-old blind girl has joined the army of 2,000 students at Louisiana university, imbued with a determination to pursue a field of endeavor that always has regarded vision as a requisite.

The field of journalism is the chosen life work of Shirley Delesdernier, petite and pretty, who matriculated this fall at the university.
"I never let my blindness interfere with anything I want to do," she says, looking at you with clear, blue, sightless eyes, and shaking a head alive with golden curls.

OUT OF WHACK

We are trying to capture a fugitive thought and are unable to quite land it, though its tail has slipped through our fingers several times. It has something to do with Saunders MacLane.

Saunders MacLane lives in Norwalk. When a Connecticut young man attains to distinction such as this one has earned it is up to all hands to cheer, of course. Our trouble is to formulate the proper yell.

Saunders has just been pronounced by Dean Mendell of Yale College to have been the prize student of Yale for all time—that is, since its beginnings in 1701. I know no record in the history of the college that approaches his.

MacLane's average in all studies for three years, computed on a scale of 100, was 96 1-2. Now the vagrant thought, whatever it is, that we have been pursuing in connection with this youth is suggested not only by the fact that Saunders is an amazing student, but by the important circumstance that there has not been a MacLane generation since 1730 which has not produced an honor graduate from Yale.

And by the further fact that the present MacLane is working his way through college. We feel sure there is something, somewhere, highly significant in the knowledge that successive generations of one family have developed this same strain of superior intellect and learning for scholarship. It must have an important bearing on the theory of heredity—at which some very clever people scoff utterly. But for us there is another suggestion, positive if lacking in definite outline, and it is born of the singular condition of five or six successive generations of unusual intellect and rare capacity for application arriving, in the end, at the state where the scion of such a descent must work his way through school.

Perhaps the elusive idea has something to do with the utter detachment existing between superior brains and material success in so very many instances. They have justly convicted of a nasty sort of crime, at Hollywood, a foreign born individual who talks such wretched English that the jury could barely understand him and whose intellect would more nearly compare with that of a guinea pig than with that of a Saunders MacLane—and they say he is worth twenty-five or fifty millions.

Somewhere, somehow, hidden in this situation, is a definite conception. Perhaps we are not alone in groping fruitlessly after it. Perhaps when it is grasped by a strong and understanding hand, and reduced to a scientific formula, not only will many things become clear but many things will be changed.

BAY STATE'S WAY. Massachusetts is conducting an experiment in the interest of highway safety that deserves the close attention of her neighbor states. Instead of waiting until the reckless automobile driver kills somebody and then proceeding against him on a criminal charge, the state, through its Automobile Registry, has adopted the method of spotting the unfit driver and preventing him from doing damage by the exceedingly simple device of taking his license away from him or of canceling the registration of his car if it is found to be in a dangerous condition.

Drivers who like to speed and to take every advantage on the road are falling into a most uncomfortable state of mind, not to say of indignation, because they are given no chance to argue the matter. The Registry has its inspectors out on the highways. When one of them sees a driver flagrantly transgressing the rules of safety he simply makes a note of the registration number and the circumstances and turns it in. The Registry does the rest by canceling the driver's license.

If the driving of an automobile were an inherent right, this would be, perhaps, a high handed way of revoking it. Instead of a right, however, it is a privilege. Massachusetts chooses to place the superintendence of the granting of that privilege with its Registrar of Motor Vehicles. The Registrar has the power to determine what person is fit and what person unfit to drive an automobile on the public thoroughfares. In the present instance that official doesn't think a person who will pass another vehicle on a curve or a blind hill is fit to drive.

That's how one of the Bay State's congressmen, G. R. Stobbs of Worcester, comes to be afoot. A highly indignant person is Mr. Stobbs—but he is not driving. He is not going to crash.

It is very interesting, this Massachusetts experiment, because it seems to be conducted by persons very much in earnest—and because it is well nigh imbecile to take it for granted that there is no way of bringing about reform of the motoring peril.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS

School Consolidation, perennial issue in the city of Hartford, has vigorous opponents, as it always has had in every town and city where the district system has continued to appeal to the instinct of neighborhood solidarity long after its usefulness was outworn. But we never before heard quite such high virtue attributed to it as was cited by the superintendent of the Washington School district, Michael Davitt Fox, who is quoted as telling a group of school teachers, in the course of a speech against consolidation, that "The district system has kept bread and butter on our tables for 101 years."

One could wish that Mr. Fox had been more extensively quoted. It would be interesting to know whether he meant that the entire economic life of the district depended on its separateness—and if so, just how the keeping up of schools can support a community—or whether he just meant that it had provided a living for the teachers and himself and their predecessors.

In the latter event there would seem to be some slight misconception of the purposes of schools. If it is the Washington district idea that the schools are maintained solely or principally to provide jobs for teachers and superintendents, then it might be suggested that, though Mr. Fox appears to be in a general way in sympathy with the well-known Meredith theory of educational activities, the abolition of the district and his own job would work no lasting injury.

However, this is as good an example as any of the basic idea underlying the district system. It is always more in the interest of somebody else than in that of either the pupil or the taxpayer.

IT NEVER REPEATS

An active New York cop caught three men transporting thirteen gallons of excellent grain alcohol, five gallons to the can, in an automobile and arrested them. The cans of alcohol were placed under the lieutenant's desk at the precinct station house. The arresting officer, under orders of the lieutenant, took samples from the whole thirteen cans to the City Bureau of Standards and had them analyzed. It was alkyl, alk right—good alkyl.

Next day the cans were sent to a government warehouse, and there discovered to contain nothing but water. The arresting patrolman remembered that the cans which went to the warehouse had corks in them, while those he had captured had metal caps.

An inspector and Commissioner Whalen personally interested themselves in the case. The desk lieutenant and the office cop on duty during the important interim have been transferred. But the big point is that nobody has found the alcohol.

OUR CRIMESTER

And now it is "discovered" that the bad Mr. Bingham is the mouthpiece for a great lobby which represents a gigantic "air trust" that is gobbling up all government contracts, monopolizing the field of invention, quashing independent development of aircraft and generally conducting itself like a fiery dragon with an extra large mouth and the digestion of a stone crusher. Complete and unquestionable proof of this is found to lie in the sinister fact that Senator Bingham is president of the National Aeronautic Association. Anyone who would be president of the National Aeronautic Association must just naturally be worse than Al Babi, General Feng and the Al Capone gang rolled into one.

All that now remains to finish off the Connecticut senator is for some keen soul to dig up the fact which everybody ought to have known long ago, that it was Bingham who committed the Elwell murder and that it was his well manicured fist that struck Billy Patterson.

SALT WATER

Dispatches from Oklahoma assert that it has been discovered that salt water, perennial bugaboo of oil operators, may contain chemicals with a value comparable to that of the oil it frequently adulterates. A chemical engineer out there has erected a plant to recover valuable ingredients from the salt water rejected from the oil fields.

Now what do they mean, salt water? If, as indicated, the principal values to be recovered from the Oklahoma variety are salt, magnetism, iodine and the like, the establishment of recapture laboratories in Oklahoma is about like going into strawberry culture on the shores of Hudson Bay, Maine, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut Boards of Trade, arouse ye!

IN NEW YORK

New York, Nov. 1.—Peacock Alley, swiftdom's parade ground in another generation, has exchanged its phaetons for rattling cumber-some trucks.

As the old Waldorf finally crumbles to bits under the machinery of the wreckers, lumbering caravans cross the sidewalks and drive into corridors which once were gay with fashionably dressed men and women.

The despoliation, held up for many months by litigation, produces a series of incongruous pictures in which motors chug alongside marble stairways and rude, boarded tunnelways afford alleys in which trucks can come and go; the sidewalks are cluttered with engine and apparatus of destruction and tress alike on historic flooring and elevators which carried kings and princes to their rooms rattle under the bombardment of air pressure hammers.

Each scene of former elegance is framed in debris and dirt. Meanwhile, where the new Waldorf will some day stand, incredible feats of engineering mark the birth of the new as the old history dies. In preparing for the foundation, the proximity of Grand Central station presented a number of extremely difficult problems. One of these was the almost complete rearrangement of the huge Grand Central heating system, which was accomplished without anyone in the millions who daily go through the terminal buildings being aware of the operations.

Vanity's a funny thing. Particularly that form of it to be found among people who like to have their names announced in night clubs or mentioned in current plays or banded about in gags. Which brings me to a very odd little story.

A few weeks ago a short-lived drama of the crook world was playing on Broadway. The word went round and a number of the sharpest and racketeers and crooks of the Broadway belt began to drop in on the performances. One night a card sharp, whose name is known to many a police bureau, arrived with a party of cronies.

It was "his party" and he wanted to impress his bunch that he was "quite a guy." Before the curtain rose he went backstage and re-quested of the leading man that in a certain scene, where shady dealing was discussed, his name be mentioned. This, he felt, would give him heavy standing in his shadowy circles.

The actor consented and the name was used. For this moment's satisfaction of a peculiar vanity, the fellow risked his liberty. The police were looking for him, and his name would have been a tip-off had there been a detective in the crowd.

Manhattan turns up at least one miser or hermit per annum—riches reduce living within the gates of the great city, their bank books fat with entries, yet starving themselves and denying themselves to any form of life.

Just the other day an elderly woman who died in the cheapest of rooming houses was found to have bank entries amounting to almost half a million. She was living in direst poverty and often not paying her rent. Those about her often bought her bits of food, thinking her to be in great need.

Police have never cleared up the mystery, which faced them last winter, of the old fellow who lived in a dingy cellar room and who one afternoon was found tied, gagged and murdered. His fortune was well over the hundred thousand mark, yet he had dwelt for years in a rat-infested room. GILBERT SWAN.

CHEWING GUM

The original chewing gum industry is said to have begun on a capital of $55.00. Now, every month in the United States, more than $7,000,000.00 is spent for chewing gum alone. In 1927 we exported over $1,500,000.00 worth of gum to foreign countries. This is one of the unlooked for results of war, since the American doughboy spread the habit to other soldiers who took it home with them and, thus, in a roundabout way caused the modern chewing gum manufacturer to have his labels printed in eighteen different languages.

The first chewing gum was spruce gum. After that came the paraffin wax, and then the chiclé gum which is now chewed from Greenland's icy mountains to India's coral strand. Chiclé is the sap drawn from the bark of the sapodilla tree in Mexico and Central America are the chief sources. The trees are tapped during the rainy season by slashing the bark in great crisscross patterns. After once being tapped, the tree does not yield again for five years. If the tapping is continued up into the branches, the tree will be destroyed.

When the milky juice runs down the crisscross channels, it is gathered into a canvas sack hung at the bottom. The bag is taken to camp where the milk juice is boiled down until the milkiness disappears. What is left is a brownish cream-colored, and is molded into the large brown blocks of crude chiclé used commercially.

In this crude form it is loaded in to ships and brought to America where the chewing gum factories where the blocks are ground up into meal. It is reduced to syrup, refined and sterilized and is then ready for sweetening and flavoring. Many flavors such as mint, double mint, peppermint, grape, licorice, etc., are added. It is also sometimes medicated as a laxative.

After being flavored the gum is rolled into large sheets and then cut into stick size and sold to little Johnny's Mama, who would rather buy him gum than allow him to eat too much candy.

The moderate use of chewing gum stimulates secretion of the saliva and also tends to cleanse the teeth. It is also used to relieve nervous tension and sometimes as an aid to giving up chewing tobacco. In small amounts it is an aid to stimulating the digestive juices, especially after a meal, and is used by ball players and men working in steel foundries over red-hot metals as a preventive of excessive thirst.

I sometimes allow fasting patients to chew a small amount, as this re-

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

What Foods After Operation

Question: Mrs. N. J. writes:—"I have recently undergone an operation for the removal of a stone in the bladder. Would be grateful if you would advise me as to a diet to guard against a recurrence of this trouble."

Answer:—No special diet is needed except to cut down the quantity of food, use good combinations, and then exercise enough so the body will use up the food elements.

Ice Plant

Question: T. R. writes:—"I am sending you a sample of ice plant which grows profusely in this section and is said to be valuable for greens, as containing iodine, fer goitre, etc. Would be pleased, if you are familiar with the weed, to know if it could be used commercially on the market, as it seems to be very palatable."

Answer:—The sample of ice plant leaves which you mailed to me appear to be what is known botanically as Meibomia. It is sometimes used medicinally as a stimulant of the kidneys, the most active principle being iodine. I would be glad to determine the actual iodine content without rather expensive laboratory experiment, and I do not know of anyone who has previously made this experiment with the ice plant. The leaves are edible and can be used either raw as lettuce leaves or cooked as spinach greens.

Pus in Ear

Question: W. R. G. writes:—"A severe sore throat developed into a mastoiditis in the left ear. A specialist lanced my ear drum, and now for four months that ear has been draining pus. I have taken two orange juice fasts, and although I feel fine, this drainage has not stopped."

Answer:—Do not be discouraged if the pus from your ear does not stop draining immediately, as many times in such cases it is necessary to repeat the fast two or three times. As this seems necessary in your case I would suggest that you take another fast of ten days, then be careful to adhere to the diet as outlined in the article I am sending you. If you are persistent in your effort, I feel sure you will have satisfactory results. Local ultra violet light treatments applied to the ear will often produce immediate and startlingly good results because of the sterilizing effect of the light rays.

The Panama Canal from August 15, 1914 until the close of business, June 30, 1928, transited 46,835 commercial toll-paying vessels on which a total of $198,307,728 in tolls was paid.

Questions and Answers
Ankylosis
Question: K. D. W. writes: "I am suffering from ankylosis in the hip. It is on the ball joint that goes into the body. I have had x-rays taken, and all kinds of medicine and rubbing. I have been getting worse for five years, until now I can hardly walk. Some doctors advise an operation by scraping the bone. I am 50 years old."

Answer:—It is difficult to advise you about your condition without first having the opportunity of making a personal examination. The treatment I employ is by fasting and dieting to remove the toxins which may have accumulated around the joint. I also advise the application of a deep therapy lamp. This regime should be continued until all inflammation has subsided, after which time osteopathy or other manipulative treatments usually prove advantageous.

Gastritis or Cancer
Question: Mrs. A. W. writes: "At present I am being treated for gastritis. Am getting some relief from gas, but I seem to have a dull ache in the stomach continually. No sharp pains to amount to anything and no vomiting. Have had this for me think there might be something beside gas, perhaps cancer."

Answer:—It would be impossible to diagnose cancer of the stomach, yourself. This is sometimes difficult for a trained physician, and it would be necessary to have a number of x-rays taken as well as a physical examination of the stomach contents. A continual dull ache in the stomach with gas would likely indicate gastritis. Sometimes this requires a long time to cure, but you should be persistent in following strict fasting and dieting instructions which I will be glad to send you upon request. If you did have cancer or ulcer it is likely that you would have sharp pains and vomiting unless of course they were in the incipient stage which would be very difficult to diagnose.

TRACES FOUND OF MAN 1,250,000 YEARS AGO
New York—(AP)—Traces of prehistoric men in England believed to date back 1,250,000 years are described by Dr. Henry Fairfield Osborn, director of the American Museum of Natural History.

They are found in Red Crag beds of East Anglia near Foxhall, a hamlet on the east coast not far from Norwich. They are stone implements, roughly shaped, including pieces of flint fashioned apparently by scraping.

PRINCE IN QUARREL

Munich, Germany, Nov. 1.—An ultimatum addressed to former Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria by Adolf Hitler, leader of the extreme Nationalists, has become the topic of the day here.

The prince was reported to have refused to subscribe his name to lists demanding a referendum on the Nationalists bill against "enslavement of the German nation"—aimed at the treaty of Versailles and the Young plan.

Herr Hitler's representative is said to have telephoned the prince's secretary demanding that he issue denial of a newspaper story concerning his attitude toward the Young plan or Hitler would oppose the prince and the monarchial idea in the press and elsewhere.

Prince Rupprecht answered that he refused to be bullied into making any statement.

An automobile manufacturer says touring will be done at 100 miles an hour in 10 years. Drivers apparently are going to slow down a little.

NEAR BLIND YOUTH LIVES BY CARVING

Newkirk, Okla.—(AP)—Near blindness is no barrier to art. For Clyde Rozell, 20-year-old sheep herder, dexterous finger tips have done what eyes never could do. His wood carvings have brought unstinted praise from critics. A boyhood pastime of whittling has become bread and butter to this youth who studies the Bible through a magnifying glass. Biblical characters are the principal subjects of his carvings. Indian scenes, also favorites, have brought many sales to wealthy redmen. Life held little promise for Clyde after a dynamite explosion blinded him at the age of eight. Soon, however, he discovered his whittling talent would bring spending money. Fulton Graham, a prosperous ranchman, saw real art in what Clyde's neighbors called shiftlessness. He furnished the boy soft pine wood needed in carving and bought better instruments for him. Now he is fully equipped with a pocket knife, two chisels and sandpaper. He has regained the partial use of one eye, but can see nothing more than a yard away.

SENTENCE DELAYED

Los Angeles, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Sentencing of Alexander Pantages, theatrical magnate convicted of a statutory offense against Eunice Pringle, youthful dancer, was delayed automatically today by the filing of a motion for a new trial. Superior Judge Charles Fricke set November 9 for the hearing of arguments.

AGAINST HOLIDAY

Springfield, Mass., Nov. 1.—(AP)—The Merchants Bureau, actuated, it is said, by prevailing economic conditions and the already large number of legal holidays voted unanimously today to keep stores open on Armistice Day, World War veteran organizations are expected to protest. Patent offices report that the Swiss are the world's greatest inventors. And not the least of that reputation was built upon the cheesiest kind of work.

LEWIS AND CLARK MARKERS PLANNED

Lewiston, Idaho.—(AP)—Lewis and Clark are to be honored here on their campsite of a century and a quarter ago. The Lewis and Clark Memorial association plans to celebrate their historic achievement by inaugurating a project to provide markers and monuments on a concrete highway from St. Louis to Astoria, Ore., over the trail traversed by the explorers. These will remind the swiftly moving automobile tourists of the toilsome journey of the pioneers, who in 1804-1806 did the first great work toward replacing the flag of old England with the banner of new America.

Capt. Meriwether Lewis and Capt. William Clark, with 40 men, were sent to explore the Oregon country, which embraced Oregon, Washington, Idaho and parts of Montana and Wyoming. President Jefferson ordered the expedition after he had negotiated the purchase of Louisiana from France, and the party accomplished a journey believed by many to be impossible.

HEADS TRADE SCHOOL
Stamford, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Frank R. Lane, of Middletown today succeeded Charles H. Remkus, resigned, as director of the State Trade school here. He was formerly instructor in the Bridgeport state school and Winchester Repeating Arms Co. school.

A Frenchman recently wrote 23,000 words on a single postcard.

KING'S VISIT TO POPE TO TAKE PLACE DEC. 5

Vatican City, Nov. 1 (AP).—Usually good authority said today the visit of King Victor Emmanuel to the Pope, long awaited since signing of the Lateran Treaty last February, probably would take place Dec. 5, or thereabout. The ceremony will follow that adopted for the reception of the King of the Belgians shortly after Plus XI was elevated to the pontificate.
Albert of Belgium was the first Catholic sovereign to visit the Pontiff since 1870. The forthcoming ceremony will be less formal than that accorded King Alfonso of Spain, however, who, as "His Most Catholic Majesty" was entitled to special solemnities. The Pope was surrounded by all the cardinals then in Rome at this reception.

It was said also it was extremely unlikely Pope Plus would return personally the King's visit, since it would create a precedent which would be neither useful nor opportune in the future. The visit therefore probably will be returned by Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state, on behalf of the Pope. This has been the case with other reigning monarchs, both Catholic and non-Catholic.

The food of oysters consists chiefly of microscopic plants which are carried to them by the currents of water.

19 PERSONS SHOT

Seaford, Del., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Nineteen persons, among them the six-year-old granddaughter of former State Senator J. P. Dutton, were struck by shot in the accidental discharge of both barrels of a shotgun during the annual Hallowe'en parade last night.
The accident occurred when Thomas Dose, negro, 18, dropped the gun as it was handed to him by Allan Stack, a state trooper, who had been firing at a stuffed raccoon in a tree on a float. The shot scattered through the crowd. Among those slightly wounded were seven members of the Milford High school boys' band.
Dose was arrested and is being held pending an investigation.

POLICE COURT

Eight more men were fined $2.00 without costs in the Manchester police court this morning for violations of the parking laws of the town. Their cars were tagged for parking against traffic in different streets, for parking over time and in restricted districts.
As has been stated in The Herald repeatedly, the police department is making an effort to force automobile owners to live up to the parking rules of the town. This campaign will be continued until the violations cease.

George S. Lynne of Middle Turnpike East was before the town court this morning charged with obstructing traffic. He was arrested by Patrolman David Galligan at the Green shortly after midnight last night. According to the testimony of the young man he was on his way home when he ran out of gas. The filling station in that neighborhood was closed back about a mile to get some gasoline. In the meantime the patrolman saw his car and when he returned placed him under arrest. Deputy Judge Thomas Ferguson who was on the bench believed the story told by Lynne and suspended judgment.

We read that a Mr. Onion of Troy, N. Y., has applied for a change of name. This should not be granted. How will the people of Troy ever know their Onions?

You never tasted fresh coffee
Do so!

A startling statement but true—unless you have had coffee fresh from the roasting ovens—or else kept oven-fresh in vacuum—the only way known to preserve all the oven-fresh strength—flavor—aroma. Boscul Coffee is packed warmly fragrant one hour from the ovens in a practically perfect vacuum in an absolutely airtight can. It is quality coffee really fresh.

NOT TO ASK LIBERTY FOR THEATRICAL MAN

Los Angeles, Nov. 1.—(AP)—A declaration by District Attorney Burton Fitts that it would be "unsafe" to release Alexander Pantages under bond pending motion for a new trial on charges of attacking Eunice Pringle, dancer, was followed by an announcement today from defense attorneys that they would not seek temporary freedom for the multi-millionaire theater man.

Fitts stated yesterday that his investigators had learned of a plan of the wealthy theater man to flee to Mexico by airplane while his trial was in progress here. The district attorney asserted a plane had been made ready at San Diego and that his investigators had learned this before the case reached the final arguments last week.

Is In Jail Now

Pantages, who was at liberty under bail of $25,000 during the taking of testimony, was remanded to the custody of deputy sheriffs near the close of the trial and sent to jail as soon as the jury convicted him.

Jerry Geisler, attorney for the vaudeville magnate, later announced he would make no effort to obtain Pantages' release on bond but would press his motion for a new trial, appearing in court today for that purpose. He said a new trial would be asked on allegations of irregularities on the part of the jury during deliberation and certain actions on the part of the court and prosecution during the trial.

Pantages was to have been given a sentence today of one to fifty years in prison but the definite announcement that defense attorney would ask a new trial indicated it would be postponed.

JAPAN PROTESTS CHINESE BOYCOTT

Kyoto, Japan, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Japanese indignation at Chinese boycotting was voiced today in round table discussion of the Institute of Pacific Relations meeting here.

Masunusuke Odagiri, director of the Yokohama specie bank, presented a statement insisting the employment of the boycott "as an instrument of national policy" should be banned by a pact similar to the Kellogg-Briand peace pact.

Some Chinese delegates to the institute admitted the probable use of the boycott to enforce Chinese demands for the abolition of extra territoriality, but other Chinese disagreed that this threat impended.

The issue led to further discussion of extra territoriality, with general agreement the broad principle eventually must be abandoned, the sooner the better, although some Chinese pointed the weaknesses of present Chinese judicial arrangements.

Plans presented by Dr. James T. Shotwell, American professor at Columbia University, for supervision of judiciary administration by the Hague tribunal or a substitute brought widespread approval among the delegates. A Chinese spokesman, however, stressed that any new system must be free from any suspicion of having been imposed by the powers.

QUOTATIONS

"We cannot settle it (prohibition) by trying to standardize human conduct."
—Governor Ritchie of Maryland. (Outlook and Independent.)

"This myth of prosperity, if believed, will lead to inevitable catastrophe. America's prosperity is for only 24 per cent of the people, and this per cent owns all the wealth of the country."
—Mrs. Daisy Worthington Worcester,

University of California lecturer.

"It is rapidly becoming more and more uncommon for any but college men to be chosen for the highest positions in American industry, business and finance."
—B. C. Forbes. (Forbes Magazine.)

"Not the game itself, but the fact that it reaches and teaches the sporting idealism of the American people, is what has made football our great national pastime."
—John R. Tunis. (Harper's.)

"There seems to be something about prairie fundamentalism that tends to produce chorus men."
—Elsie McCormick.

"My order is that an Italian citizen must remain an Italian citizen, no matter in what land he lives, even to the seventh generation."

—Benito Mussolini.

Mystic Cult in France Fulfills Its Own Dire Prophecies of Trouble "GREAT AWAKENING" HAS COME

All the world was going to be destroyed, except this little bake shop in a Paris suburb, according to messages received by Charles Hardy, the baker, and his daughter. But so far only his business has suffered.

BY MINOT SAUNDERS
Paris.—Mystic spirits descended upon Fontenay-sous-Bois, once peaceful suburb of Paris, and predicted world-wide revolution, catastrophe and a great awakening. None would be spared except enlightened members of a cult who gathered and worshipped in the little bake shop of M. Charles Hardy.

That was two and a half years ago, and much of it has come to pass—at least so far as the village is concerned. There is revolution among the hitherto faithful and M. Hardy has told the local police that he proposes to shoot the next person who mentions the subject to him. This may bring catastrophe because everybody wants information, and in the meantime the great awakening has come among those who contributed funds for food supplies during the revolt and are disillusioned because of the delay.

Superstition Not Dead
In this way the village has provided a remarkable example of spiritualistic fervor which has caused Maurice Garçon, eminent lawyer whose hobby is investigating such manifestations, to declare that: "It is a great mistake to think that science has ended popular superstition or magical practices in France. Just because people are taught to read in school does not change their minds, burdened with ancestral superstitions. Fear of a new deluge, fear of a second destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah, is common."

Hardy, the baker, was happy with his wife and daughter, Mlle. Charlotte, until he came across a book on spiritualism. Then he got a ouija board and held demonstrations. One evening, Charlotte, 27, fell into a trance and made strange predictions. She was hailed as a medium and neighbors who dropped in were deeply impressed and formed a village sect. Charlotte had many trances after that. "The revolution is near," she cried. "Fire, massacre, upheavals of government are written in letters of blood and fire. But the people of our sect will be spared if they join together and rest under the same roof. All Paris will fall, but not this bakery."

All in Readiness
That seemed to have been very impressive and plans were laid for the revolution. One of the most ardent of the sect was M. Henri Granger, 74, a distinguished hatter of the village.

"During the six months that followed," he said, "the same prediction was repeated a hundred times by various spirits. We fortified the house of Hardy, prepared beds for all the group and collected food-stuffs so that we could survive the terrible weeks of destruction. It cost me personally 4000 francs ($160). We worked with great fervor and without ceasing astonishing trances. We waited and, alas, we are still waiting."

A Minor Catastrophe
The long wait for the catastrophe has caused a little trouble now. Granger asked Hardy to return his share of the supplies. When this was refused he brought suit, bringing the spirits into court. At least the village knows something about revolution. There are faithful and unfaithful of the sect and with the Paris papers front-paging Fontenay nobody in the village knows what kind of a catastrophe to expect. To the doomed outsiders Hardy refuses to say a word, except that his baking business is being ruined. Madame and Made-moiselle Hardy remain in a trance, so far as public messages are concerned.

MONTREAL SECOND TO PARIS IN FRENCH Americans Go for Week- End Revelry There But Do It In Private.

By RICHARD MASSOCK
New York.—Montreal's reputation as a genial civic host to the thirsty has spread far, if not wide. Every week-end train-loads are transported to that island in the St. Lawrence. And although railroad officials especially those of Canada, like to think that excursionists are attracted by the foreign flavor of the northern city, it is scarcely a secret that many who go sober return ebullient. Hence this investigator, setting out the other Friday to spy upon his fellow citizens abroad, expected to report scenes of revelry. Alas, he failed to find a single revel. Several years ago it was customary for the more leisured Montrealers to make periodic trips to New York to throw, as they still say in the Canadian city, their parties. Now the situation has been reversed and New Yorkers go to Montreal for the same purpose. For this purpose, a number of wealthy Americans lease apartments at the foot of Mount Royal, to which they journey from time to time with their friends. Those who make less frequent visits stop at the hotels. And there, behind private doors, is confined the merry-making. The restaurants, it is true, announce on bold placards that beer and wine are served with their meals and this applies even to luncheonette confectioneries. But the lines that form at the provincial liquor stores soon after the train arrives apparently take their purchases into privacy. That perhaps accounts for the filling of every available inn by Saturday. The numerous taverns which serve only brews were peopled, it seemed, with a preponderance of Canadians, quietly if earnestly drinking at tables and talking as much French as English. For 80 per cent of Montreal's million population, the natives say, is French, making it second only to Paris as the largest French speaking city. The bi-lingual status is evident in every sign. "Defense de Stationner" warns the motorist against parking in a certain block where Dolores Costello at George O'Brien may be seen in the cinema "L'Arche de Noe Uth Vie Paris et Chantee," which you already may have seen as "Noah's Ark." The height of translation is reached in the signs "Public Telephone," under which, in equally large letters, is "Telephone Public." In appearance Montreal is partly foreign, partly American. Modern apartment houses are wedged among quaint old residential blocks with mansard roofs, decorated with wrought iron tiaras, and windows that jut out of the sloped slopes. The buildings are all low, seldom rising above 10 stories, except in the case of two skyscraper obelisks, standing high above the city like twin monuments. St. Catherine is Montreal's Main street and its Broadway. A long, bright thoroughfare, about as narrow as a New York street, its department stores, theaters and cabarets resemble those of any large American city. But for the royal likeness on stamps and money, and the traffic cops—courtious Britons of heroic size—there is little to mark this sprawling city as subject to George the Fifth.

FARMERS TO SUPPORT COOPERATIVE POLICY

Washington.—(AP)—Convinced that its best work can be done only when American farmers become "cooperative conscious," the federal farm board has initiated steps to educate the nation to a definite national policy. Federal and state extension forces and land grant colleges and universities have been brought into the program. They will support the educational movement by training men in sound cooperative marketing leadership. Through the college extension army of county agents, the proper information can be carried to the farmers, to aid them in organizing new associations and in improving old ones so that their program of marketing will fit into the national commodity-selling plan. Experiment station experts will be used to make studies in marketing just as has been done in improving production. Leaders believe that competing cooperatives should get together and eliminate the features that keep colleges from actively supporting them. They say the country needs a national agricultural policy to guide colleges in their efforts to aid farmers through cooperative marketing instruction.

HALLOWE'EN TOLL THIS YEAR GREAT Youngster Loses Life Celebrating—Much Property Damage Reported.

Manchester's Halloween accident and damage toll yesterday was the heaviest in years. One person was killed, two were arrested and there was considerable property damage not to mention a great deal of annoyance to people in general. Aldred Falscher, eight-year-old School street boy, died from the result of an automobile accident while crossing Main street with a group of other children.

Stanley Lounasky, 45, of Oakland street was arrested last night on North Main street by Patrolman Winfield Martin and charged in court this morning with intoxication. He was found guilty and fined ten dollars and costs which amounted to $19.42. When arrested, Lounasky, a bachelor, was dressed as a woman and was having the time of his life bothering the boys and girls on the street. He became a bit too rough and Officer Martin's attention was attracted.

Only One Glass
Lounasky insisted that he had only celebrated the occasion with one glass of cider but the court was of the opinion that if one glass was the limit, certainly cider wasn't the drink. Lounasky, who speaks indifferent English admitted that he had been acting in an improper manner. He is employed in the picking room at the E. E. Hilliard Company plant in Hilliardville.

Businessmen at both the north and south ends of the town were put to added expense and bother this morning to clean the display windows of their stores. At the south end, especially the hoodlums had caused much inconvenience. The window panes were streaked with what appeared at first glimpse to be chalk marks. Those who were assigned to the task of washing them, however, found that instead of chalk it was candle wax. It required no small amount of scrubbing with soap and hot water to remove the stains. The children had put them on by pressing the stub of a candle against the windows as they scurried past. The work was done for the most part by young boys and girls who thought it a great joke. They were just too foxy enough to do the stunt when no police were watching.

Dump Ashes
Over at the west side of the town a group of older boys took window blinds from houses and hung them on street signs where they were found this morning. This stunt was most popular in the Pleasant street section. Ash cans that had been set in front of houses for removal this morning were found spread all over front lawns and in the street in some instances.

There was the usual amount of ringing door bells. In many cases people were wise enough to disconnect or muffle their door bells. Although real estate men are supposed to transact a good share of their business in the daytime, judging from the number of signs in front of houses a new record was set for property transfers. For sale signs were found in front of many houses. This was especially so at some of the Cheney houses. The Army a Navy Club was also marked for sale. Scores of clotheslines were cut or broken down.

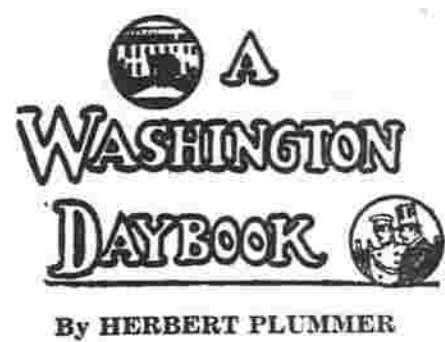

Open Hydrant's
No false fire alarms were turned in but two water hydrants were turned on, one on Glenwood street and the other on Benton street. These were shut off again before any serious washout had developed. This is a dangerous practice, however, since the hydrant valves are very easily broken and a serious conflagration might result.

One group at the north end thought it a big joke to pile a lot of old gates, fence posts and other rubbish in the middle of the road on Woodbridge street. Local autoists narrowly averted having accidents there last night. One woman driver just managed to turn out in time to prevent a collision. Another group found a lot of fun in getting two old hot-water tanks, the kind used in kitchens, and rolling them down opposite inclines to let them crash at the bottom. The impact was unbelievably loud and sounded as if two cars had crashed together head-on. The stunt served to bring people out of doors to see the "accident."

AGRICULTURE IMPROVES

Washington, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The Department of Agriculture announced today that its November reports showed agriculture to be in a stronger position this year than a year ago, largely on account of lower production and higher prices. Since early summer, the department said, prices of practically all groups of farm commodities with the exception of meat animals, had increased. The total output of principal food and feed crops this year, it continued, would be somewhat below that of last year although the acreage harvested would be about the same. Hay was listed as the only important crop which substantially exceeds production of last year. Notwithstanding favorable weather in September, the department added, crops of grain, potatoes, sweet potatoes and tree fruits would be smaller than last season and it now seemed probable that yields per acre of all crops combined would average 7 per cent below yields last year and 4 per cent below the preceding ten years.

Officers Re-Elected
Constantinople, Nov. 1.—(AP)—President Mustapha Kemal opened the third regular sessions of the present National Assembly today. The various officers of the Chamber were re-elected unanimously.

By HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington.—Senatorial colleagues of Dave Reed of Pennsylvania, in taking stock of his ability to represent this country in the forthcoming naval disarmament conference, probably secretly hope that the senator will keep a close check on his sometimes unruly tongue. Reed's impatience has caused him grief on several occasions in the Senate. Acknowledge one of the leaders of that body, nevertheless his epigrammatic lunges made during periods of irritation have brought him merciless panning at the hands of his colleagues. His attack on the press, in which he referred to "the so-called ethics of a so-called profession," during the recent flareup on secrecy surrounding executive sessions of the Senate, will not soon be forgotten. And there are other similar instances. But perhaps the most striking example of how Reed's tongue gets him in hot water occurred just the other day. The instance is referred to now as the "$5.50 de .te."

Acid Debate
Senators had talked loud and long on an amendment to the tariff bill to reduce the rate on tannic acid 2 cents. There are only 275 pounds of the acid imported on the average in a year and it is used for medicinal purposes. Democrats were insistent that the reduction be made. Republicans were adamant in their stand that the rate as fixed in committee should prevail. After considerable wrangling a standing vote was ordered. Pat Harrison insisted on a roll call. The delay in first having a quorum call and then a roll call was too much for Reed. Impatiently he jumped to his feet. Either way only $5.50 in revenue was involved, he said. What a farce! Hundreds of dollars worth of time being spent at the expense of the United States on a question of $5.50. And yet Democrats insist that there was no filibuster being conducted. It was the signal for attack. The Pennsylvanian had laid himself wide open.

Young Bob La Follette was the first to thrust. He wanted to know why, if Reed was so anxious to save time, the proposed reduction was not accepted in the first place. And when Reed replied "for the very good reason we think the rate is a reasonable one," Borah jumped to his feet, and shaking his finger reminded Reed that "we are just as well justified in insisting upon our position." They were out for the Pennsylvanian, and gloves were thrown in the discard. Barkley of Kentucky caustically reminded that it was not the $5.50, but the principle involved, and that he hoped the time would never come when in order to save money by reducing the pages in the congressional record senators would remain silent.

A situation of this kind is made to order for Pat Harrison. Never does he hit harder, get more sarcastic or lunge deeper than on such occasions. Rising to his feet he faced Reed. "I do not blame the senator for becoming irritated and impatient, for lecturing those of us who are less significant and less important, but more humble than he. . . . But he, too, wears our patience, and ruffles our sensibilities. . . . Referring to Reed's appointment on the disarmament delegation, Harrison said with withering sarcasm: "—it has gone to his head. There's the whole trouble." Norris and Blaine chimed in with facetious remarks aimed to add to the Pennsylvanian's discomfiture.

PLEADS GUILTY
Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 1.—(AP)—George McGourty, 20, who was on trial for the murder of his father Owen D. McGourty at their home in Woburn, today pleaded guilty to manslaughter. Judge Frederick Fosdick sentenced the youth to the Concord reformatory. The defense had contended the father was accidentally shot while intoxicated when the son attempted to take a revolver from him.

"ILLUSION" OPENS TODAY AT THE STATE THEATER

"Illusion," the all-talking, singing picture which will be shown at the State today and Saturday, was adopted from the famous novel written by Arthur Train. The story deals with the fortunes of a young magician who becomes the lion of society circles in which he practices his art as a professional entertainer. He finds himself drawn by two worlds—the world of bedizened dowagers and haughty sophisticates—and the world of roustabouts, show-people, his own kind.

Buddy Rogers plays the role of the young magician, Nancy Carroll is co-featured in the role of the dancing-singing vaudeville performer with whom he falls in love. There are several thrilling sequences in the picture induced by the natural plot suspense and by the dangers of legerman which Rogers practices.

A cast of eminent actors, many of

IMMIGRATION OFFICE
PROBES SHIP SINKING

New London, Conn., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Immigration officials were investigating today into the sinking of the Long Island coast of the British vessel James B., after her stern had been cut off Wednesday night by the Coast Guard patrol boat Cahoon.
Customs and Coast Guard officials, following a conference last night said they would take no action against the vessel's crew of eight men but they would hold them for the immigration authorities. The names of the crew remain a closely guarded secret.
Although they had the James B. on their list as a suspected rum-runner, Coast Guard officials said last night that the sinking of the ship left them without evidence upon which to base action. The James B., according to boatswain A. M. Haynes, commander of the Cahoon, was running without lights, 30 miles off the coast and was struck after she had crossed the patrol boat's bow. The crew of the James B. got into their dories before the vessel sank and soon were picked up by the patrol boat.

The James B. was believed to be registered at Halifax, N. S. Coast Guard officials said and was seized off the New Jersey coast a year ago.

'QUAKE DESTROYS LISBON

On Nov. 1, 1775, an earthquake destroyed the city of Lisbon the capital of Portugal, killed between 30,000 and 40,000 persons and damaged property to the value of $100,000,000.
For many centuries the city had suffered from earthquakes but without serious consequences until the one in 1755 reduced the greater part of it almost in an instant to a heap of ruins.
A tidal wave at the same time broke over the quays and wrecked shipping in the Tagus river. Fire completed the work of destruction. The district surrounding an old Moorish castle in the center of the city was the only part not destroyed.

The shock was felt from Scotland to Asia Minor.
The rapid recovery of the city from the disaster was due largely to the energetic work of the prime minister, the Marquis of Pombal. The city soon became prosperous again, but at the beginning of the 19th century the French invasion, the Peninsular war, the loss of Brazil and dynastic troubles resulted in the decadence of Lisbon, from which it did not recover until after 1850.

HARTFORD STREET TO BE OPENED IN BIG CELEBRATION

Four Day Program to Observe Completion of Upper End of Main Street; Valuable Free Prizes.

Manchester residents are heartily invited to attend the monster celebration which will open the widened and reconstructed Main street in Hartford between Windsor and Ann streets," stated Israel Gruber, chairman of the general committee, today to a Herald correspondent.

"We will give away $5,000 in prizes in addition to remarkable values. We believe Manchester men and women will find it to their advantage to attend the affair which starts on Wednesday night, November 6 and extends through and including Saturday, November 9," continued Mr. Gruber.

The celebration marks the opening of a thoroughfare which has been widened and reconstructed with modern buildings costing more than $2,000,000. Entertainment will be provided for the visitors including a clown band, concerts, boomrang throwers, souvenirs of the occasion, orchestras and other features which will more than entertain those coming to the celebration.

Among the gifts to be given to the visitors, at no cost whatsoever, are bedroom sets, living room sets, breakfast sets, bridge sets and more than 100 other prizes ranging in value from $5.00 to $400. The only requirements consist of a deposit of a ticket given at no cost whatsoever. The visitor comes to any store on the thoroughfare and receives a ticket, signs his name and deposits the stub in boxes located at convenient places. On Saturday night city aldermen will draw the numbers and awards will be made in the order in which the tickets are pulled from the box.

At the banquet to be held in the Bond Hotel starting at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening, city officials, including members of the Board of Aldermen, Street Department heads, and others, will attend in a body when Mayor Batterson will press a button opening to the City of Hartford a widened thoroughfare which was completed at a cost of more than $2,000,000.

Each day a new band will offer concerts from a huge stand which will be erected at Goodman Place and Main street. Among the bands retained for the three gala days are the 169th Regiment Band, the City Band and others to be announced later.

The executive committee headed by Sydney Syme of Stone's Furniture store and including Israel Gruber, chairman ex-officio; T. T. Duffy, P. D. Martocci, Harry Cohen and David Weinstein has announced that there will be no cost attached to the awarding of prizes. Tickets will be distributed in every store participating in the celebration and every man and woman may have them upon request to the merchant without buying an article.

City Officials to Draw Tickets. These tickets after being filled out with the name and address of the recipient will be deposited in boxes placed near the doors of the stores. On the night of the drawings the tickets will be deposited in a huge receptacle and the tickets drawn by city officials including Alderman Rocco D. Pallotti of the Second Ward and Alderman Claffy of the Sixth Ward, the districts in which the thoroughfare is located.

TRAWLER AGROUND. Boston, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The steam trawler Boston College of this port went aground in the harbor today on the southeast side of Gallup's island as she was outward bound for the fishing grounds. The trawler was able to get off again under her own power on the incoming tide, apparently undamaged. Shipping here was not seriously affected by the fog, although the New York boat was an hour late in arriving.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, Nov. 1.—Although the New York Stock Market was in session only three and a half days this week, total sales reached 43,499,540 shares, or more than the largest full week on record. Bond sales also ran high, amounting to $91,775,000 in the abbreviated trading week.

Reports from the Youngstown district say timplite operations are at their year's minimums and that prices on sheet are being lowered a trifle at some plants.

Securities offered to the public in October totaled $610,082,000 compared with $611,656,000 in September. Bond offerings exceeded the quotation of new share issues for the first time in three months, amounting for $379,261,000 of the total.

Wall street hears that the Cities Service Co., may soon offer a bond issue through cancellation of the recent issue of rights because of the severe drop in the stock during the recent market depression. Another report says the company, which had sought $110,000,000 through the sale of additional shares at $45, may make another offering of rights early next year instead of resorting to a bond flotation.

The New York Stock Exchange firm of Block, Maloney & Co., one of the oldest partnerships, is to be dissolved on Jan. 1. Peter J. Maloney and his son, Peter J. Maloney, Jr., are to retire and the business will be carried on by Benjamin Block and associates.

October sales of Montgomery Ward and Co. showed an increase of 21.05 per cent over the same month of last year. The total $32,181,217, compared with $26,584,787 in October, 1928.

New bond offerings fell off sharply this week, totaling only $2,292,500 against $74,439,300 last week and $99,395,000 a year ago.

CRUSHED TO DEATH BY TON OF STONE

Drops 34 Stories to Kill Man Walking in Street; Dead Man City Official.

Chicago, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Henry A. Berger, trustee of the Sanitary District of Chicago, was killed today when a load of stone weighing a ton toppled from the 34th story of the new One North LaSalle street building in the heart of the Loop and crushed him.

Berger was walking to his office a block away when the stone dropped to the sidewalk of LaSalle street. The building, a skyscraper of 48 stories, is under construction at Madison and LaSalle streets. The body, first thought to be that of a driver of a light delivery truck that was crushed in the street, was identified at the Troquois hospital by Berger's law partner, Benjamin F. Goldstein.

STOCK MARKET UPSET BETTERS CONDITIONS

London, Nov. 1.—(AP)—John William Beaumont Pease, chairman of Lloyd's bank and a financial authority, believes that the recent upset in Wall street will eventually have good results both for the United States and the rest of the world.

In a statement to the Associated Press today Mr. Pease said: "To my mind the break in the New York Stock Exchange was necessary to put an end to the artificial undesirable state of things which affected not only America but also the rest of the world."

"America, a great creditor nation possessing three-quarters of the world's gold, was attracting balances, owing to the higher rates offered, from other countries, not for the purpose of trade but in order to assist in the extensive speculation in stock shares which was taking place. This was prejudicing other countries by the effects it had upon their exchanges and the harm it was doing their industries owing to the higher rates for money, while on the other hand it was of no service to America for her own legitimate trade purposes."

"Now that the break has come good should result and some of these anomalies have already begun to disappear. I am not in a position to visualize with any accuracy on the internal condition of America but I feel that she is rich enough and prosperous enough to withstand any difficulty a drop in the prices of securities and I believe that cessation of the recent wild speculation should be productive of good both to herself and the rest of the world by stabilizing the internal financial situation generally."

My Favorite Bible Passage

Today's Choice by Irene Castle McLaughlin
Dancer and Friend of Animals

For that which befallth the sons of man befallth beasts; the every one thing befallth them: as the one dieth so dieth the other; yea, they have all one breath; so that a man hath no pre-eminence above a beast; for all is vanity. All go unto one place; all are of the dust, and all turn to dust again. Who knoweth the spirit of man that goeth upward, and the spirit of the beast that goeth downward to the earth?—Ecclesiastes 3:19-21.

ASKS DEMOCRATS TO SAVE TARIFF

Senator Ransdell Declares There Should Be No Party Lines Drawn.

Washington, Nov. 1.—(AP)—An appeal to Senate Democrats to "put aside political differences" and save the pending tariff bill was made in a statement issued today by Senator Ransdell, a Louisiana Democrat.

Addressing his announcement to his Democratic colleagues, he urged that they heed the words of Alfred E. Smith, the party standard bearer in the last campaign, that: "I am opposed to politics in tariff making."

"I appeal to Democratic Senators," the Louisiana said. "To view the situation with the same breadth of vision which characterized our early founders."

No Party Prejudice.

"There should be no sectional animosity, no party prejudice, the north and south, east and west, Democrats and Republicans alike, need this great American protective policy, the first child of the first congress, the ablest assistant in the building of the earth's mightiest republic."

Quoting from the tariff plank in the Houston platform, Ransdell said it called for adequate protection for American agriculture and industry alike.

"It was a happy day," he added, "for those of us who had been fighting the battle of protection within the ranks of the party almost single-handedly to know that once more our party has returned to the building of its first forty years, after nearly a century of adherence to the policy of free trade and tariff for revenue only."

STATE SEED LAWS NOW IN EFFECT

Farmers Urged to Insure Their Crops by Purchasing Only Pure Seed Properly Tagged.

For the first time in the history of Connecticut, farmers and seedmen are being notified by the State Department of Agriculture that the agricultural seed law is now in effect. This new seed law authorizes the Commissioner of Agriculture to adopt necessary measures to uphold the purity and tagging requirements of all seeds sold in Connecticut.

Commissioner of Agriculture S. McLean Buckingham, in sending out the notices, urges Connecticut farmers to insure their crops by purchasing seeds that bear the required identification tag. The operation of the seedmen is sought in order that inspection and certification work may be carried on as rapidly as is consistent and that prosecutions for violations may be minimized.

To comply with the law, all seeds included in the act, sold, offered or exposed for sale shall have a label attached stating: Common name, per cent. of purity, per cent. of weed seeds, amount of noxious weed seeds, per ounce, per cent. of germination, date of test, name and address of seller. Mixtures of seeds and seed mixtures require a label giving more complete information as to the contents of the package.

Vegetable and flower seeds are not included in the seed law. A Step in the Right Direction!

WARDER KNEW NOTHING OF CITY BANK'S FUNDS

New York, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Frank H. Warder, resigned state banking superintendent, went back on the witness stand today at the reopening of his trial on charges of accepting bribes to neglect examination of the defunct City Trust Company. His 26-year-old daughter, Virginia, who was a defense witness Wednesday, was a spectator today.

Warder reiterated under direct examination the statement he had made on the stand Wednesday that George W. Egbert, chief examiner, and Reginald Pauling, third deputy superintendent, were responsible for correction of the illegal transactions that sent the City Trust to the wall with a $5,000,000 loss last February.

Warder said he knew nothing of forged notes in the City Trust Company.

"Do you know they amounted to $1,000,000?" asked James I. Cuff, defense counsel.

"No, I knew of it in no way, manner or form," said Warder. "It was not until the morning of February 12, 1929, that the fourth deputy superintendent, Thomas O'Connell, came to me and told me of the notes and of fictitious accounts."

MAC WHITE BETTER

Washington, Nov. 1.—(AP)—President Hoover inquired today about the condition of Michael MacWhite, Irish Free State minister, who was struck by a hit and run driver last night and painfully injured.

Mr. MacWhite was reported at a hospital today as "resting easily." He sustained scalp lacerations and bruises about the body.

The President inquired about the minister's health to William J. E. Macaulay, the first secretary of the Legation after the latter called at the White House to present Desmond Fitzgerald, the Irish minister of defense. MacWhite was to have presented the minister.

The President expressed the hope the minister's condition would not prove serious and his deep regret that the accident had occurred.

There are almost 1000 miles of canals in Holland.

FEW REQUESTS ARE MADE UNDER NEW AUTO LAW

Hartford, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Though the law providing for such action has been in force for four months, only six requests have been made to the state motor vehicle department for suspensions of driving licenses because of unpaid judgments in damage suits for negligence.

Motor Vehicle Commissioner Robbin B. Stoekel said today, that reports were made on five other cases but these involved accidents occurring before July 1, the date the law went into effect, and the attorney general has ruled the law could not be regarded as retroactive. The law provides that judgments shall be unpaid for sixty days after the court decision and that no appeal shall have been filed at the time the request for license suspension is made.

BELFAST PREACHER AT GOSPEL HALL

James McCullagh, formerly of Belfast, Ireland, will conduct a series of meetings at next week, beginning Sunday and continuing through Friday evening, at the Gospel hall, 415 Cooper street.

Mr. McCullagh is no stranger to Manchester audiences, he has been here on several previous occasions and is always welcomed on his return. Those who have heard him know him to be an earnest, forceful preacher of the gospel. A cordial invitation is extended to all to come and hear him at any of these meetings.

Sunday afternoon the service will be at 3 o'clock, and in the evening at 7. Every evening during the week following Mr. McCullagh will preach at meetings beginning at 7:45. There will be no service on Saturday evening, November 9.

HANDS OFF POLICY.

Washington, Nov. 1.—(AP)—President Hoover will adhere strictly to his hands-off policy in the matter of the selection of successor to the late Senator Theodore E. Burton of Ohio.

Inquiry today at the White House brought the response that Gov. Cooper of Ohio had not communicated with the chief executive regarding the appointment, expected to be made shortly.

In the formal discussions in Washington the name of Postmaster General Walter F. Brown has been mentioned along with several others for the post.

TO LIBERATE CREW

New London, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The crew of the British vessel James B., which sank off Long Island Wednesday night after her stern had been cut off by the Coast Guard patrol boat Cahoon, will probably be turned loose and given the usual sixty days to leave the country according to Coast Guard officials here who are detaining the men only pending the arrival of immigration officers from Hartford. The immigration men were expected to arrive here late today to interview the British subjects.

Following a conference between Coast Guard officials, local custom officers and special Federal agents at Coast Guard headquarters here last night it was definitely decided that no action would be taken against the crew of the James B. because of the lack of any definite evidence. The vessel had been under suspicion as a run-runner for some time.

MYSTERIOUS MURDER

Detroit, Nov. 1.—(AP)—A small white poodle dog and a can of condensed milk, are the sole clues police had today in connection with the slaying of William Parody, 22, last night.

Parody was shot and killed as he was playing a game of solitaire in the apartment of three friends. The three friends, brothers, are Alfred, Phillip and Herbert Shanow. They are held as witnesses.

Parody was to have spent the night with them. Alfred Shanow, returning from escorting a girl companion to a theater, found Parody's body. The other brothers, sleeping in an adjoining room, said they did not hear the shot.

The dog and the milk were found in the apartment, but all three of the men disclaimed ownership of them.

Police are searching for the girl Alfred said he escorted to the theater.

THINK SEVEN DIED WHEN STEAMER SINKS

Milwaukee, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Six persons, one a woman, were missing, probably drowned, and the body of a seventh had been recovered today as officials inquired into the most recent of Lake Michigan's tragedies—the sinking of the freighter Senator.

Feeling her way through thick fog, the Senator was rammed amidships yesterday by the Marquette and sank 20 miles off Port Washington, Wis. The Marquette herself was saved from foundering by rescue tugs and was towed here last night.

Twenty-one persons were saved from the Senator. Among the missing was her captain, George Finch. The missing woman was Mrs. Minnie Gormley, wife of the steward, her husband was rescued.

HE WAS LIFELESS AND DESPONDENT

But ALL-BRAN made him wide-awake and well — doctor prescribed it

CONSTIPATION ruins hopes, saps strength. Yr thousands of sufferers have found the way to relieve and prevent this disease. Read how this man rid his system of constipation.

"During the three years before ALL-BRAN cured me, I experienced more embarrassing moments than I care to tell of. Being lifeless, dull, laggard and despondent, I could not keep my job. My friends didn't want my company and I was tired of being asked 'What in the world is the matter with you?'"

"After spending much money for treatment, I finally found a doctor who advised me to eat ALL-BRAN three times a day. I did this for three months and I didn't need to be told that I looked better. I felt better and acted better. I am still using ALL-BRAN every morning and have no trouble now whatsoever." (Name and address upon request.)

Guard against constipation by eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to prevent constipation to relieve it. Just eat two tablespoons daily—chronic cases, with every meal. Far better than habit-forming drugs and pills.

ALL-BRAN is 100% effective. Doctors recommend it because it promotes natural elimination. Serve it with milk or cream. Use it in cooking—muffins, bread, etc. Delicious recipes on the package. Grocers sell it. Restaurants, hotels, dining-cars service it. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Middletown, N. Y.—Congressman Hamilton Fish, Jr., who is quite a tall fellow himself and was adept at picking forward passes out of the air for Harvard, has set his constituents right on tall presidents. Lincoln was the tallest, 6 feet 4. Washington was 6 feet 2. Madison was the shortest 5 feet 4. Folk the leanest, Cleveland the stoutest, Van Buren the tallest and Taylor the most careless in dress.

Camden, N. J.—Thomas Haigh 84, of Middletown, Pa., is a remarkable man. Judge Shaly said so when Haigh was testifying in a contest over a friend's will, and Haigh admitted it was true. "I am a remarkable man," he said. "I have always tried to make myself useful and I am still able to ply my trade as wood carver."

New York—Evidently the girls like a Diogenes. Oscar Strobel, El Paso artist, who on his way to Berlin found securities valued at $250,000 in a suitcase and returned them, has received many proposals of marriage by mail. Every letter referred to his unusual honesty.

Ada-Pezar, Turkey—Thousands of pigs have run wild since Greeks and Armenians were driven from Anatolia and the district became 100 per cent Moslem. The number of animals is estimated at as high as 10,000,000. M. Auguste Sabatier, "King of the butchers" of Paris, is dicker with the government in a scheme to supply France with pork.

Dallas—As balm for a beating given him by a woman who changed her mind after starting to get a divorce a local lawyer is to send a couple a bill. The husband was holding him and the wife was walloping him with a slipper when the police came to the rescue. After a reconciliation wrath developed at allegations in the divorce petition.

Washington—Divorces increased 2 per cent last year, marriages decreased 1.5 per cent. The totals were 195,936 divorces and 1,182,497 marriages.

Cheshire, N. Y.—Having realized her ambition to live 100 years Mrs. Frances S. Beeman is dead. Falling for two months she said she would die happy if she reached the century mark. The end came 23 hours after she had attained her wish.

Manila—Street cleaners are wearing bright red pads. The city engineer decided that so garbed they would be less likely to be hit by automobiles.

London—Folks here soon will see a Moslem priest standing atop a mosque calling faithful Mohammedans to prayers. A $100,000 mosque is being built in the west Kingston district.

COURT BARS PAPERS FROM PRINTING NEWS

Lubbock, Tex. Nov. 1.—(AP)—All papers in Lubbock county were restrained from printing any testimony in the habeas corpus hearing today of Clay Lester, indicted for wife murder, in an order signed in District Court by Judge Cleark M. Mulligan.

The move is understood to be an attempt to prevent a change of venue when Lester comes to trial, probably Monday.

The order specifically names the Lubbock morning avalanche and the Daily Journal, but embraces all newspapers in the county.

Judge Mulligan said outside papers would be barred from Lubbock county if they carried any of the testimony, although he had no way of prohibiting them from publishing elsewhere.

The order was issued following refusal of Lubbock papers to repress the testimony.

Charles A. Guy, managing editor of the Avalanche-Journal publication in Lubbock, said his papers would abide by the order.

Mickey Flahive Meets Georgie Day In Opener

Hartford and New Haven Boxers to Clash at Foot Guard; Donahue Gives Out Figures.

Mickey Flahive and Georgie Day have been matched to meet in a ten-round bout next Thursday night at Foot Guard Hall in Hartford. This will mark the opening of the indoor season as mapped out by Promoter Ed Hurley. Flahive hails from Atlanta, Ga., but has been making his home in Hartford. He has fought on many Hartford cards and is very popular. Day is the New Haven lad who has fought, among others, no less a topnotcher than Kid Kaplan. Hurley has been working on this bout for two weeks. He could not persuade Lou Brown, manager of the New Haven boy, to agree to box Flahive here. Brown did not think that Foot Guard Hall was big enough to handle the crowd which should turn out to see his whirlwind in action and if the crowd could not get in Brown believed his charge would not be paid enough. It took Hurley some time to overcome this and he did it by injecting a flat guarantee for Day's services into the contract as well as giving him a percentage. Day is a rushing, buff-bang type of a fighter and says he will make Flahive jump out of the ring when he meets him.

Whitely Lloyd, star back of the Navy last year, is still in school. He is ineligible for football, although captain of the track team. Special Delivery Al Marster intimates at Dartmouth call him "Sis." But only in the same spirit that they call a tall guy weighing 300 pounds, "Tiny" or a diminutive chap, "Big Boy." Dartmouth offered to let the Navy out of its game if the Middies wanted to play the Army that day and Dartmouth would take on Notre Dame the same day. PRINCETON PICKED TO BEAT CHICAGO; PITT IS FAVORITE

New York, Nov. 1.—(AP)—With many strange levers from far football lands already upon the scene in the east, Atlantic seaboard forces faced a final tuning up today in preparation for tomorrow's warfare.

Chicago's invasion of Princeton after eight years and Ohio State's visit to Pittsburgh held most of the intersectional interest while the Yale-Dartmouth clash at New Haven dominated the strictly eastern card.

Amos Alonzo Stagg, the grand old man of the midway coaching via 38th Chicago eleven, is in Princeton with a somewhat subnormal squad, fighting a Tiger who is closing the season with a rush.

The gait struck by Princeton against the Navy should be enough to register an Orange and Black victory but Prof. Stagg has been known to win in the past with inferior material.

Injuries to star Florida players have established Harvard as something of a favorite in the southern invasion at Cambridge, however, the Crimson itself will be weakened by missing stars.

Pittsburgh's great eleven remains a favorite to win from an Ohio State squad which has yet to distinguish itself except in a defensive way. Here again, however, the under-dog retains a chance because the Buckeyes have more incentive to win than have their opponents.

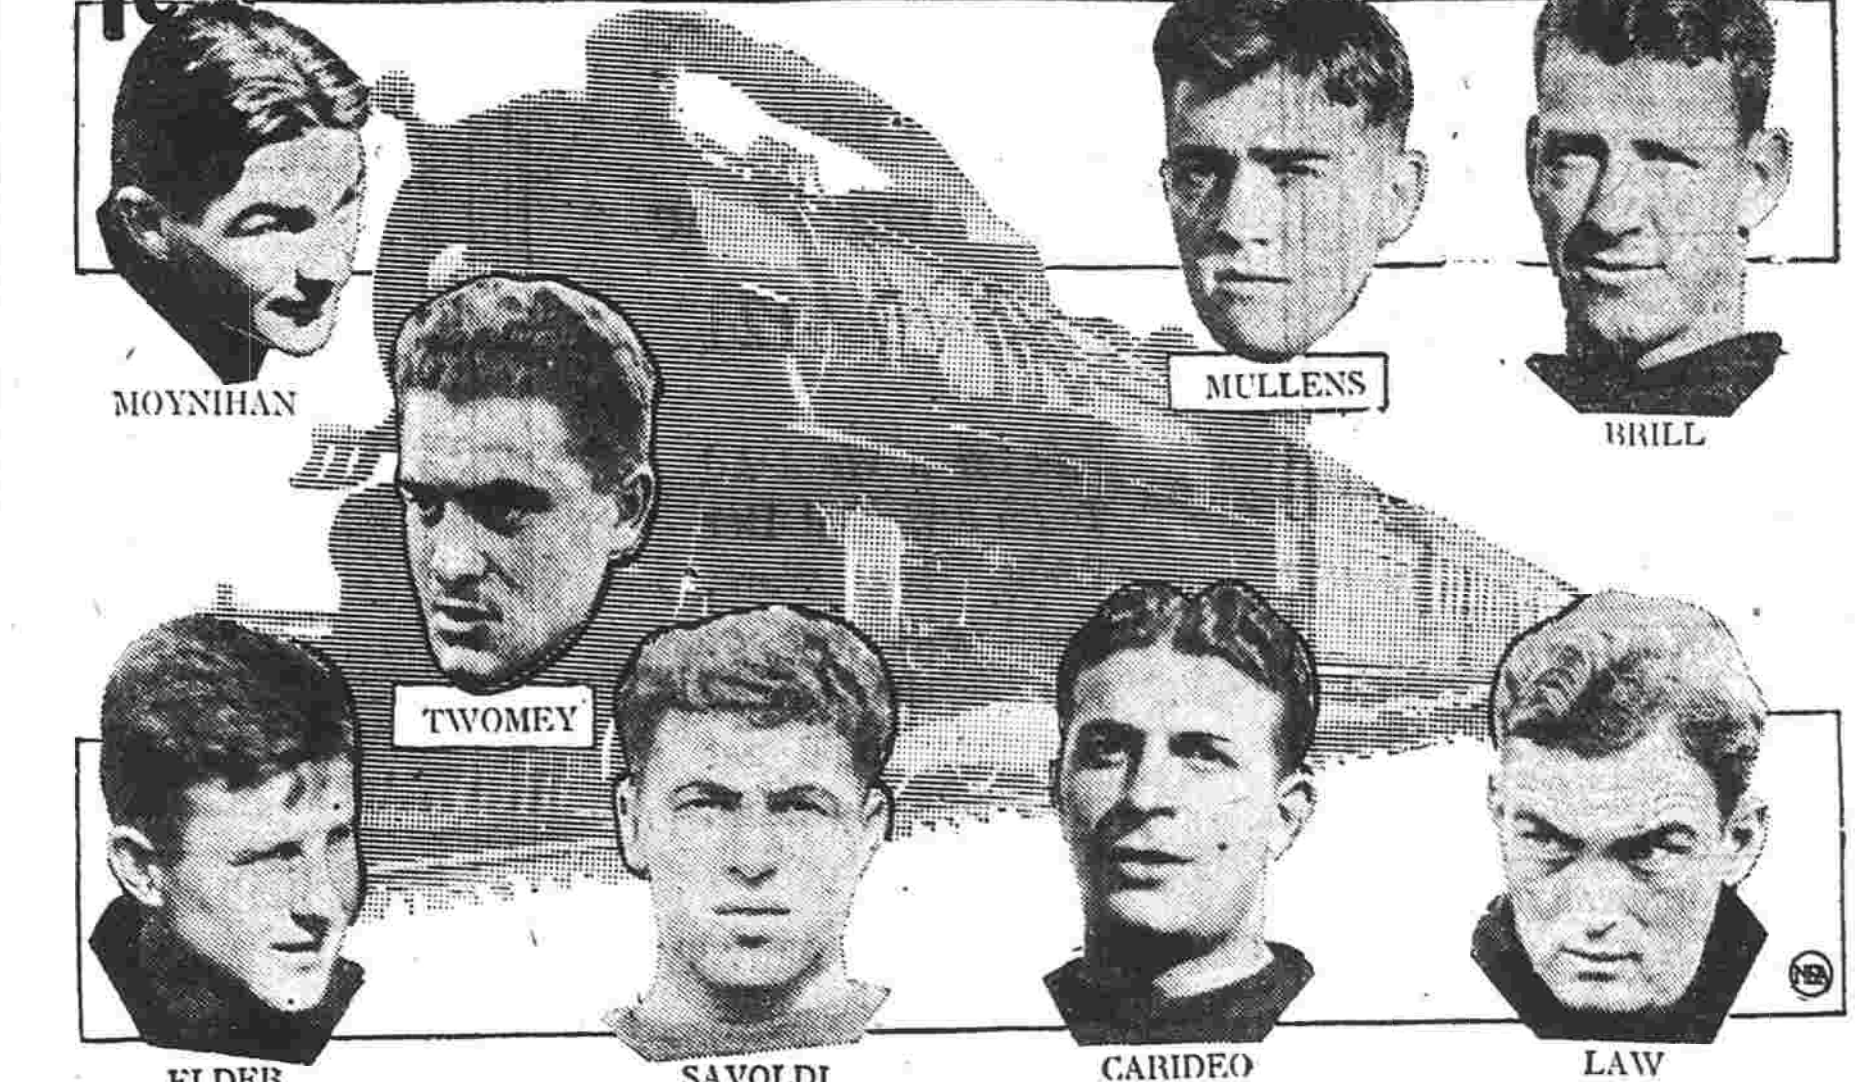

Other leading games on the eastern card are close with little or no choice between the various pairs of rivals. Syracuse is favored to shade Penn State and Brown and Holy Cross seem to be equal all along the line.

Cornell is favored over Columbia, largely because the big Red team rolled back Princeton two weeks ago, but the Blue and White have come along rapidly since its crushing defeat by Dartmouth on October 19. Lafayette and W. & J. take the field on equal terms, as do Bucknell and Temple. Any edge that may exist seems to lie with W. & J. and Bucknell.

No little three competition is scheduled this week-end, but Williams, Amherst and Wesleyan will go into action against outsiders with all three favored to win.

NEXT STOP, GEORGIA TECH!

ROCKNE'S RAMBLERS

By WM. M. BRAUCHER.

Notre Dame's 1929 Ramblers may turn out to be just another football team. But it is a team that should go through the season undefeated except for a possible upset at the hands of Howard Jones' Southern California big boys.

The showing of the Rockne gang against Carnegie Tech was disappointing to those who expected a big score against the Tartans. But the margin of a single touchdown does not tell the story of Connie Mack, "the team won when it had to," and in doing so displayed a wonderful defensive strength.

A simple offense was used against the Tartans. It worked for one touchdown and nearly brought another. Time prevented the Notre Dame gang from scoring in the second period. Once the Irish had a nice chance to try a dropkick, but Carideo ordained to kick out of bounds on the ten-yard line instead, indicating a hankering to play defensively at that point.

Elder, the Notre Dame track flash, broke away for one brilliant run. But time upon time he went off tackle to be nailed by a narrow margin. Of course, a tackle is a tackle, but Carnegie Tech moved swiftly to stop Elder, who is not only fast but shifty.

Savoldi showed raw power in hitting the Carnegie line. After his great open-field running performance against Wisconsin, this factor in his all-round ability was somewhat of a revelation. The Tech secondary defense proved practically impregnable.

Writers who saw the game disagreed on Notre Dame's strength. Some declared the team's strength wraps up its apparent desire to play defensively might indicate. But before that touchdown was scored, the team showed flashes of offensive power reminiscent of the old Four Horsemen days.

Others expressed the opinion that the team was working at its best against the Tartans. If that opinion holds, then Notre Dame has just another football team—but one that should lose not more than one game, and that one to Southern California.

SPORT SLANTS

Alan J. Gould

Football coaches like to scoff at the "one-man team" idea on the theory that it is headline stuff, ignoring the fundamental facts of team work.

"Eleven men have a job to do on every play," says Bill Roper. "The flashiest ball-carrier cannot get away often if he does not have blocking and interference."

Nevertheless the evidence is at hand, plenty of it, to illustrate the remarkable influence of one youth upon a whole team—for instance, 144-pound Albie Booth of Yale, who has stepped into the key spot of the Eli lineup as a sophomore just as though it had been made for him. Perhaps it was for Albie grew up and learned his football within the shadow of the Yale Bowl.

Not even Red Grange, who made the All-America team as a sophomore, stepped out to any fancier start than Booth, who has proved himself the slipperiest carrier of his weight and inches in the East, if not in the whole country. Yale looks like a different team the moment bare-legged Albie trots out on the field. Booth has the same electric effect upon the Blue charge that Grange had upon Illinois, Wilson or Cagle upon the Army, Clark on Colorado College, Marsters on Dartmouth and the late George Cipp upon Notre Dame. For want of a better word it can be labeled "football it."

October has shaken up the gridiron dope. Harvard looked to be headed for another good year, after sweeping Yale as a climax last fall, but the Elis have no cause to be pessimistic as they look forward to the renewal of the ancient classic at Cambridge. On the same day that Booth was leading the victorious Blue charge against Army, the Crimson was being overwhelmed by the Green horde from Dartmouth.

Washington and Michigan were at the peak just a few years ago, yet each finished the October route with three successive defeats. In two seasons the Wolverines have lost more games than they usually drop in a half dozen years.

Princeton failed to win a single major game in October. To show how swiftly the mighty tumble, Georgia Tech has been beaten twice and eliminated from the Southern Conference race after holding the championship two years in a row.

Where consistency is a rare virtue Tennessee and Detroit possess two of the most noteworthy winning streaks now existing in college ranks. Major Bob Neyland's Volunteers haven't been beaten since they dropped a decision to Vanderbilt late in the 1926 campaign. For 25 successive games, they show 23 victories and a brace of ties, one with Vanderbilt and the other with Kentucky. And nothing has bobbed up so far this season to check Tennessee's 1/2 g parade.

Detroit, coached by Gus Dorais, old Notre Dame star and famous as a team-mate of Kirtie Rockne, has run through 19 straight games unbeaten in a row. Detroit lost two battles, one to Army and Notre Dame, early in 1927 but hasn't been defeated since, showing one of the few clean slates in the whole country last year.

Caruso And Black Majesty Pimlico Futurity Favorites

Baltimore, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The Pimlico Futurity and its purse of $40,000 added, attracted a high class field of juveniles today.

Seventeen two-year-olds were nominated but there was a possibility that post time would find the field cut down to a dozen or less.

Local Sport Chatter

The Thompsonville Greys who play the Cubs at Mt. Nebo Sunday have lost only five games in 40 played during the last five years and hold victories over some of the best teams in this section of the state as well as Massachusetts.

A letter from George Stavinsky is at hand telling us that both he and "Hank" McCann enjoy Grove City College very much. The season opens at Pittsburgh on December 21. Practice has already begun and sessions are held twice a week. Workouts consist mostly of deceptive passing, taking the ball out of bounds, faking, dribbling and blocking. Coach Bob Thorn lectures on the fundamentals and then asks questions. All candidates are known as "Thorn's Raiders" because of his driving system in practice. George was modest in referring to the chances he and McCann have of making the team simply referring to that by writing, "So far Thorn seems well pleased with both Mack and me."

Grove City is having a good football season, George writes. Four victories have been won and one game tied. Latest victory was a 34 to 0 conquest of Geneva, the team that beat Harvard 3 to 0 a few years back. Grove City has a mighty good chance of being crowned champions of the Tri-State League again this season.

Our assistant sports writer would like to inquire why the Cubs have quotation marks put around their name on posters printed for the games.

The battle between the Night Hawks and the Charter Oaks in the Herald Bowling League at Farr's alleys next Monday night ought to be a treat for sore eyes. The Night Hawks are leading the league at present but Joe Farr says his boys are all set to take a few falls out of the tribe Murphy has banded.

Jack Dwyer and Cliff Chartier, coach and quarterback of the Majors, are planning to travel to New Haven tomorrow to steal a few pointers from the Yale-Dartmouth game to spring on the Cubs a couple of weeks later.

Jack Stratton and "Lefty" St. John, injured members of the Cubs, are planning to spy on the Majors next Sunday to pick up whatever information Dwyer is unable to conceal from their alert eyes.

Have you heard the latest one? It is reported that Coach Kelley has had a scout watching the Majors in every game and that he did the same last season. May not be true but it sounds mighty interesting at least. Said scout is said to be a member of the team.

Oshkosh, Wis.—Guy Mauro, St. Paul, outpointed Marty Galivo, Milwaukee, eight.

Sixty Grid Players Eligible For Series

SELECT OFFICIALS FOR TOWN SERIES

Dwyer and Kelley, Rival Coaches, Pick Meskell, Keane, Merriman for Job.

The officials for the town football series between the Cubs and Majors have been selected by the two coaches, Tom Kelley and Jack Dwyer, it was learned today.

Pat Meskell of New London will referee with Bert Keane, sports editor of The Hartford Courant as umpire and Jay Merriman of the Kingswood school in West Hartford as head-linesman.

Meskell is the only one of the three who is a member of the Connecticut Board of Football Officials but the other two are members of the newly organized Hartford county board. All three are highly capable men and can be counted upon to give both teams a fair and square deal at all times.

Meskell, a man who has lost the sight of one eye through an accident, was the choice of Dwyer for referee. He is said to be able to detect more violations with his one good eye than the average official can with two. Kelley was in favor of Merriman for head-linesman and this was also agreed upon.

Dwyer suggested A. W. Keane for umpire. The latter has also had considerable experience in handling college, schoolboy and professional games. Keane, Merriman and Kelley are all members of the Hartford county football officials organization.

Nearly Six Full Teams Raring to Go; Majors Out-number Cubs 36 to 24; The Lists of Both.

The eligibility list for the town championship football series between the Cubs and the Majors is the largest in the history of the classic north-south gridiron combats. A total of sixty names have been submitted by the two teams for participation in the coming games November 17 and November 24. In addition there are a few players who are eligible but for one reason or another their names have not been submitted so that in all there are nearly six full teams all set and raring to go at time's command.

The Majors are throwing 36 players into the series against 24 of the Cubs. For the benefit of those few who don't know a thing about the game let it be explained that this is not an advantage for the Majors; that only eleven men can play on a side at one time. Some close followers of the game argue that too many players are often a hindrance but just what effect this fact will have on the town series remains to be seen.

ERRORGRAMS

Illustration of a man and a woman sitting at a table with a puzzle board, part of the 'Errorgrams' puzzle.

There are at least four mistakes in the above picture. They may pertain to grammar, history, etiquette, drawing or whatnot. See if you can find them. Then look at the scrambled word below—and unscramble it, by switching the letters around. Grade yourself 20 for each of the mistakes you find, and 20 for the word if you unscramble it.

CORRECTIONS (1) More than thirteen cards, for the man at the left, would be a wrong bridge hand. (2) The man at the right dealt, so should bid first, instead of his partner. (3) Two hearts cannot be bid after a two-no-trump bid. (4) No cards should be face-up on the table when the bidding is going on. (5) The scrambled word is FEATHERS.

SENSE and NONSENSE

We fear that we missed out on a peck of fun in our day in the Hal- loween season. We had to bob for apples or play post office. Now the idea seems to be to stretch wires across streets so that automobiles may be broken up or to let all of the air out of the tires so that the backs of the owners may be nearly broken next morning.

Prosperous times are those in which almost everybody has a few thousand dollars to lose bucking Wall Street.

Banker: "To what do you owe your extra-ordinary success as a house-to-house salesman?"

Salesman: "To the first five words I utter when a woman opens the door—'Miss, is your mother in?'"

"Say, do you know anything but Golf-Golf-Golf?" asked the irate wife. "Why, if you spent one Sunday at home, I think the shock would kill me!"

"It don't do you any good to talk like that," returned the husband calmly. "I refuse to be bribed."

It was about 2:30 in the morning; the man had obviously been drinking, for he floundered around the door looking for the keyhole. When he finally got in, his wife called out sweetly:

"Is that you, John?"

"It better be, dammit, or I'll get a divorce," answered the husband, who was not used to miming words.

"Are you information?" asked the young woman, coming up to the information desk at the depot.

"That depends," said the blonde gentleman in alpaca. "If you're looking for a handsome man with a carnation, I haven't seen him."

"I'm not," said the young woman. "Sorry," said the clerk. "Most women are."

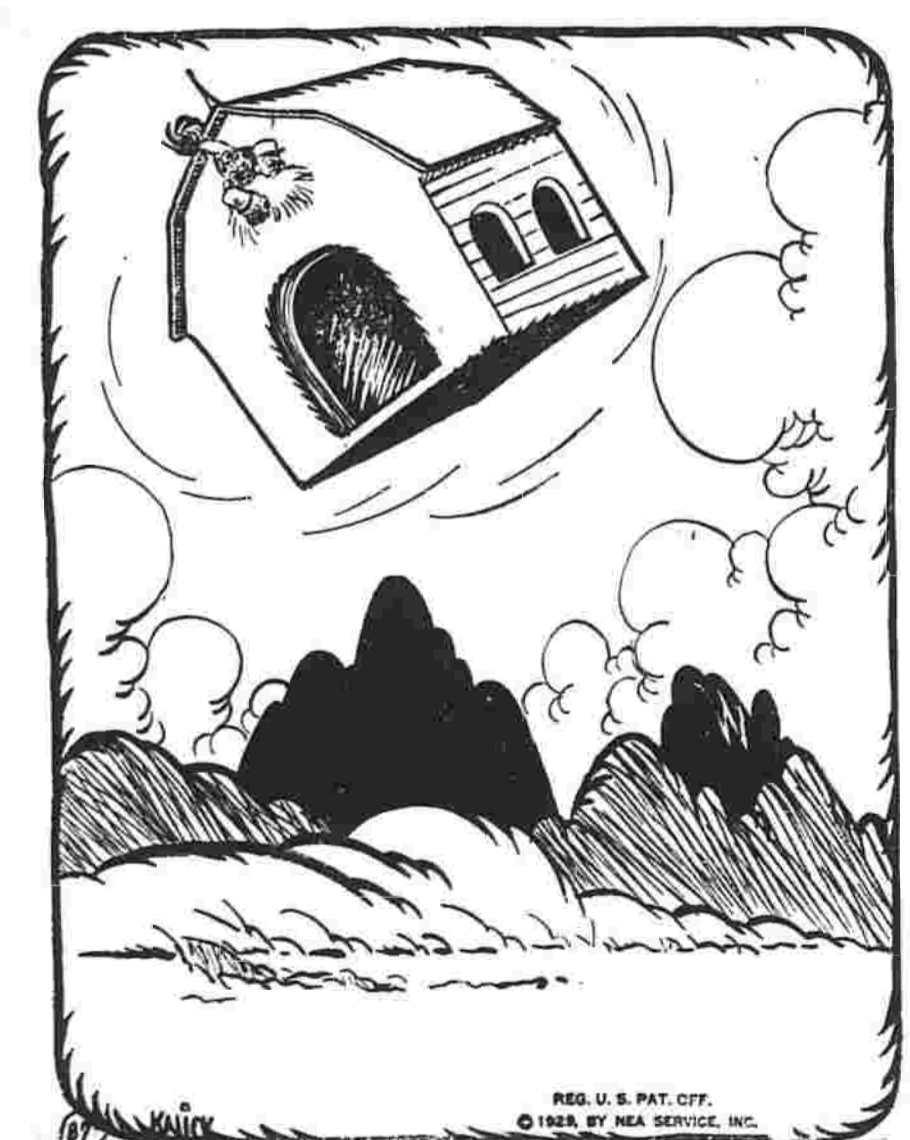

"I want a train," said the young woman sweetly.

THE TINYTALES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

You couldn't blame the cackling hen for chasing frightened Clowny when the careless lad had stepped upon a nest of thirteen eggs. Across the piles of hay they flew. The next thing that wee Clowny knew he toppled flat because he couldn't stand upon his legs.

The hen then lit upon his head and pecked until poor Clowny said, "Hey, get away. That hurts. My head is not made out of wood. I promise I will never again disturb a peaceful, setting hen. Let me alone and after this I always will be good."

By this time all the others woke and what they saw seemed quite a joke. Then Scouty scampered 'cross the hay and waved his arms in air. "Get out of here," he loudly cried. "Go on there, chicken, fly outside. You've paid wee Clowny back by giving him an awful scare."

Of course this scared the flapping hen. She cackled very loud and then flew straightway out a window and soon disappeared from sight. Poor Clowny sat and rubbed his head and then he very meekly, said, "I thought that was my finish, boys, but now I feel all right."

"Shucks," said Carpy, "just when we were sleeping soundly as could be, you had to start a rumpus. Now we all are wide awake. Just then they heard a whistling sound and all the Tines looked around. "That was the wind," said Copy. "See? The barn's begun to shake."

And he was right. The wind blew strong and whistled quite a wild-like song. And then the barn creaked loudly, giving everyone a scare. The barn then slowly left the ground and seemed to almost turn around. In just about a moment it was floating through the air.

(The barn lands in a field in the next story.)

aids digestion. That's why so few Washington correspondents have stomach trouble.

The following announcement was recently made in a small country church near Manchester by the head of the Ladies' Aid:

ANOTHER STATION HITS CLEAR CHANNEL SYSTEM

Washington — (AP) — Another broadcasting station has attacked the federal radio commission's system of single station operation on cleared channels.

WRNY, New York, asks full time operation on the 970 kilocycle channel now used exclusively by KJR, Seattle, during the evening. WCFL, Chicago, uses the same frequency in daylight hours only. The New York station also requests an increase in power from 500 to 5,000 watts.

Capt. Robert H. Marriott, radio engineer and a former member of the commission's engineering staff, gives expert testimony in behalf of the application. He says that the Seattle station is so walled in by mountains that its transmission would not interfere with WCFL or WRNY.

WOMEN VOTERS TO TALK ON ADULT EDUCATION

The first day of the annual convention of the Connecticut League of Women Voters to be held in Hartford, November 13, 14, will have as its key-note the subject of adult education. Edward C. Lindeman, professor of social philosophy at the New York School of Social Work, will speak on the "Significance of Adult Education." Mr. Lindeman is the author of several articles and books on social and economic questions. The dinner will be open to the public. HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The first issue of "Somanhis" for the present school year has been distributed. It contains several innovations. The name of the publication has been changed from "Somanhis Events" to "Somanhis." The various issues will no longer be called "Freshman," "Sophomore," "Junior," "Alumni" and "Commencement" issues but "Spring," "Christmas," "Carnival" and "Annual" issues. The new cover design by James Wilson '29, with the exception of the nameplate, identical with that used for the commencement issue last June. Miss Avis C. Walsh, a newcomer to H. S. faculty, is the faculty adviser for the Somanhis and is largely responsible for the numerous improvements. The editorial staff is: Editor-in-chief, Muriel Tomlinson; assistant editors, Charlotte Rubinow and Austin Johnson; exchange editor, Lovina Foote; alumni editor, Theodore Lupien; school notes editor, Elizabeth Carlson; athletic editors, Ernest Dowd and Edward Hansen; jokes editor, Harry Howland.

Due to illness, Elsie Robinson will not be able to take the part of "Nora Mullet" in the Sock and Buskin production "The Lucky Break," and Gertrude Gerad will take her place in the cast. The part originally chosen for Miss Gerad will be played by Elena Burr. Miss Burr is also the assistant instructor of the production. Due to an error Evelyn Beers instead of Elena Burr was announced as the assistant instructor in last week's High School Notes Column.

The freshman class social will be held tonight in High school hall. The entertainment will be in the form of stunts presented by each home room. Dancing will follow the entertainment. Room 25 in the Franklin Building has been awarded a scholarship banner for the first marking period.

Reports have been made on five cases which were decided before that date, but an opinion given by the Attorney General says the law is not retroactive and its provisions do not affect earlier cases. This law provides that "upon complaint to the commissioner of motor vehicles by any prevailing party or his attorney in an act of negligence arising out of the use of a motor vehicle that a judgment for a sum other than costs or nominal damages has remained unpaid more than sixty days, without the filing of an appeal, the commissioner shall suspend the operator's license of the

Another opinion of the Attorney-General's outlines the procedure which the motor vehicle department should follow before suspending licenses or registrations in unpaid judgment cases. It will also be necessary that the certification show that execution has been issued as of a certain date and returned either unsatisfied or partially satisfied. The department will also require
