

INCINERATOR NEEDED HERE IN TWO YEARS

Selectmen Find That Open Dump Will Not Be Avail- able Much Longer—Two Hearings.

Manchester faces the construction of an incineration plant, or the adoption of some equally efficient means of garbage and rubbish disposal within the next two years. The Board of Selectmen learned at their regular monthly meeting last night that it was pointed out to the Board that the present disposal area at the end of School street will be exhausted within two years and possibly within one year. It is highly improbable that an open dump such as that now existing in the Heights section would be tolerated again within the confines of the town.

Situation Acute

Cities and towns throughout the country facing the same disposal problem have found that incineration plants are the most economical and most satisfactory means of solution. A disposal plant large enough to meet Manchester's needs would cost at least $60,000. So acute has the problem become that the town's garbage disposal department must sort out the refuse it collects and deposit what it can in places other than the open dump on School street. As much of the material as possible is burned.

Members of the Board of Selectmen are planning a trip to Yonkers, N. Y., soon to inspect a new incineration plant being installed there. This plant is said to be of the type that is most adaptable to Manchester's needs and the most economical to build and operate.

Sore Spot

The School street dump has long been a sore spot among residents of the east side of Manchester. Its location has seriously affected property values in that section. Once it was considered a long distance from the residential center of Manchester but property has developed on all sides of it so that it now stands as a hindrance to development of otherwise most desirable property. The Selectmen have considered every known means of disposing of garbage having even given consideration to the purchase of land at some distance from the town for dumping purposes. Here, however, the cost of cartage enters into the problem. In the long run it is ascertained that an incineration plant as centrally located as possible is the most economic means of the disposal of garbage and rubbish.

Last night's meeting heard two petitions from property owners. The first dealt with the acceptance of Cumberland street. This street is in the north end of the town running north from Hilliard street to Loomis street. Property owners appearing and favoring the acceptance of Cumberland street. Here, however, the cost of cartage enters into the problem. In the long run it is ascertained that an incineration plant as centrally located as possible is the most economic means of the disposal of garbage and rubbish.

Sidewalks Hearing

The second hearing was on the proposal of property owners that sidewalks be constructed on the north side of Middle Turnpike West from Main street to Congress

ATTEMPT TO STEAL $86,000 A FIZZLE

Six Guards Tied Up But Band- its Could Not Open Up Navy Safe.

New York, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Eight men, carrying pistols, drove up in an automobile to the United States Navy supply building in Brooklyn at 1 a. m. today, overpowered the officer of the day and his guards and worked for nearly five hours in an unsuccessful attempt to force the safe, said to contain $86,000.

Failing in their object, the men fled in their car. A preliminary check said nothing of value was taken from the building, which is in Third avenue and 29th street.

Carefully Planned

The hold-up men, police said, evidently had made a careful plan of attack and had an intimate knowledge of the building. Lieutenant Clinton Thro, officer of the day, was covered by pistols and had no chance to resist before he was seized. His five guards were overpowered, one by one, and all six were tied up with bed sheets. They were then thrown into the "brig."

Entering building No. 1, the men went directly to the eighth floor where the big safe is located. With the approach of daylight, the men gave up the attempt and escaped.

Good Under Knife; Condition Serious

Washington, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Secretary Good underwent a difficult operation for gangrenous, perforating appendicitis at Walter Reed hospital today and his condition was described as extremely serious. The operation lasted more than an hour.

Surgeons on the Walter Reed hospital staff performed the operation, which was determined upon after the war secretary was stricken suddenly last night.

Difficult Operation

The surgeons found the appendix in an exceptionally dangerous condition, situated very low in the pelvis, making the operation unusually difficult. After the operation physicians said they did not minimize the danger of his condition. They added, however, that Mr. Good was in as good condition as could be expected under the circumstances.

The information regarding his condition was made public at the White House where secretaries of President Hoover kept in constant communication with Walter Reed, the Army hospital, so that the President could be apprised of any turn in the situation.

Secretary Good is 62 years old. He had not been in the best of health recently but his friends were

State Prevents Removal Of Prehistoric Tracks

Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 13.—(AP)—Under gubernatorial orders to prevent the removal of dinosaur tracks from the state, deputy sheriffs from Flagstaff today were enroute to the camp of a scientific expedition near Tuba City, 76 miles away, to enforce the embargo.

The scientific party, headed by Gilbert C. Gable of Philadelphia and Hollywood, was said to have arrived at Tuba City, near Dinosaur canyon in the Navajo Indian reservation, yesterday.

Governor Phillips last night telegraphed a protest to Secretary of the Interior Wilbur regarding proposed excavation of the tracks, discovered last year by Gable. The governor told Secretary Wilbur that the tracks are on Indian lands, and under the jurisdiction of the Federal government. Pending a reply from the secretary, Governor Phillips instructed the sheriff of Coconino county to take steps to prevent removal of the prehistoric footprints from the state.

SHINGLES TO REMAIN FREE, SENATE DECIDES

House Had Proposed 25 Per Cent Duty—Pacific Coast Senators Wage a Losing Fight.

Washington, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Retention of shingles on the free list was voted today by the Senate.

The vote was 45 to 30. The Senate in so acting sustained the recommendation of its finance committee. The House had proposed a 25 per cent duty.

A vigorous contest was waged on the Senate floor by members from the Pacific northwest to obtain a duty on the product. They contended it was necessary to meet important competition principally from Canada. It was further agreed it would regulate the lumber industry so that it would assist conservation of forests by permitting the working out of a reforestation program.

Washington, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Content over the proposed tariff on shingles was renewed in the Senate today with Senator Nye, Republican, Independent, North Dakota, leading a drive to uphold the action of the finance committee majority in wiping out the 25 per cent duty carried in a House bill.

Answering arguments by Senators Jones, Republican, and Dill, Democrat, both of Washington, who favor a shingle levy, Nye said the closing down of shingle mills in the northwest was not due to lack of a tariff but to many other causes.

Decreasing Demand

He gave these as a decreasing demand for the type of shingle produced in Washington and Oregon; city ordinances prohibiting the use of wood shingles because of fire hazards, and depression on the American farm.

Another reason why a duty should not be levied, Nye said, was shown in tariff commission findings that production costs in Washington and Oregon were lower than those in British Columbia, across the northern border.

Answering Nye, Senator Dill said figures on production costs were the former were "misleading," adding that 30 per cent of the shingles used in this country came from Canada.

Nye then said he was struck by the fact that almost all of the Washington mills had been losing money, attributing this in part to salaries paid officers, asserting that in one instance they amounted to 13 per cent of wages paid workmen. Timber owners would be the only beneficiaries of a shingle tariff, Nye asserted, adding that eight or nine operators in Washington and Oregon

WAS PAID $5 TO PUT BOMB NEAR HOUSE

So Says Witness at Winsted Trial; Home of Prosecut- ing Attorney Is Wrecked by Dynamite.

Winsted, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Joseph Costa of Torrington charged with dynamiting the home of Thomas J. Wall, former Torrington prosecuting attorney, went on trial today in Superior Court before Judge Edwin C. Dickinson.

Frank Rocco of Torrington and Pasquale Bruni of Stamford who had previously pleaded guilty to the same charge were in court when the trial opened. They were brought over from the Litchfield county jail.

First Witness

Mr. Wall was the first witness called by the state. He described the explosion which occurred at 2:20 a. m. on March 18 shortly after he and his wife had returned from a St. Patrick's Day party at the Elks' Home. Their three children and Mr. and Mrs. L. Robert Hoffman, Mrs. Wall's parents were in the house besides Mr. and Mrs. Wall at the time. The explosion wrecked the front porch and smashed windows in the house.

Mr. Wall testified that on March 4, 1925 he had prosecuted Costa in the Torrington Borough Court for illegal sale of liquor. Costa was fined $400 on the charge.

Threatened Wall

Patrolman Emil Elsensohn, the second witness, testified that following the liquor case he had met Costa and the latter had threatened to kill Wall.

Six other witnesses were called by the State before the noon recess, among them Bruni, who testified relative to his relations with Costa.

Bruni said on the day before the explosion Costa had pointed out the Wall residence to him. Later he and Costa met Rocco, and James Putt who was killed in New Jersey after the explosion, discussed the plot at a coffee house in Torrington.

Bruni testified that he, Rocco and Putt got the bomb from the rear of Costa's home and then went to the Wall home. A few days later Bruni continued, he met Costa who gave him $5.

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 13.—(AP)—Stock Market losses said to aggregate a million dollars were blamed for the suicide of Robert M. Searle, president of the Rochester Gas and Electric Corporation, today.

He was found on a bathroom floor at his home in Brunswick street by Herman Russell, vice-president of the company, shortly before 11 a. m. A gas jet was open and asphyxiation was given as the cause of death. Coroner Richard A. Leonard issued a certificate of death by suicide during temporary mental derangement.

Accused Child Slayer Threatened by Mob

"Lynch her! . . . We'll show her how to treat babies! . . ." How angry mobs of women swarmed about Gladys Parks Baker as the former night club hostess led police to the spot in National Park, N. J., where she buried the body of 2-year-old Timothy Rogers, whom she is accused of killing, is pictured above. At the top you see her pointing out the improvised grave to Prosecutor V. Baldwin, right, and below she is shown surrounded by the threatening mob which fought detectives in an effort to lynch her. Inset is a close-up of Mrs. Baker, who authorities say killed Timothy and his 4-year-old sister, Dorothy, after using them to blackmail wealthy men.

MOVIE CHIEF PRAISES STANDING OF INDUSTRY

Will H. Hays Tells Board of Trade Movies Are Posi- tive and Vigorous Deter- rents of Crime.

New York, Nov. 13.—(AP)—William H. Hays, chief of the motion picture industry, told a luncheon of New York Board of Trade today that the industry, "if it did not cherish more the privilege of sharing leadership" in business, "might claim the right to a high seat at this or any other board by virtue of material progress and service alone."

Although Hays did not refer to the matter, Don C. Seitz, associate editor of the Outlook said in a recent address that "the attempts to raise the morals of the films" have been "merely camouflage" for the purpose of "the filling of seats in every theater."

Crime Preventative

Hays, however, declared that "in the care of the quality of pictures, the motion picture industry has taken such elaborate cognizance of the medium's attitude-forming power that scientists of repute are agreed that the American motion picture, produced under the safeguards now in effect at Hollywood, constitutes a positive and vigorous deterrent to crime."

"We have within the past year increased the weekly aggregate motion picture audience in the United States by 10,000,000," Hays said, "meaning an increase each week of that many direct stimuli toward possession of comforts and conveniences available to the American family."

Helps Business

"The direct service to business is incalculable," he asserted, reviewing the investment of the industry, its huge consumption of commodities necessary for picture making and the wide scope of advertising for sales of films.

Speaking on "Motion Pictures and Business," the speaker accepted "on behalf of motion pictures and those countless industries of which we are an ally," the designation of modern American life as a "business civilization."

"Cynics and poseurs flying the phrase as an epithet," he said, "We accept it, with pride, as an inspiration to keep our faces forward on the road we are climbing."

TREASURY BALANCE

WILHELM'S SISTER DIES PENNILESS

Grandchild of Queen Vic- toria Who Married Rus- sian, Passes Away.

Bonne, Prussia, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Frau Alexander Zubkoff, 63, who was Princess Victoria Von Prussia, sister of the former German Emperor Wilhelm, and grandchild of Queen Victoria of Great Britain, died today in her modest residence here, ending one of the strangest romances written into the records of European royalty.

Death came while she slept at 7:30 a. m. and followed a brief illness which began last week shortly after her husband, Alexander Zubkoff, Russian adventurer who was 34 years her junior, was served with divorce papers on her behalf.

Renounces Titles

Frau Zubkoff when she married late in 1927 renounced her rights as princess and accepted estrangement from her family. Members here today at her death were her "baby" sister Marguerite, Princess Von Hesse, and her husband, Prince Frederic Charles, and their two sons, Christof and Richard.

Although her fatal illness came upon her only a few days ago the last months in the life of the princess were far from happy, and were spent in most modest quarters here in loneliness, poverty and disquiet. Just a month ago she was forced to auction off heirlooms of great value to pay the debts of her adventurer husband, but she succeeded in raising only a small amount. Bankruptcy proceedings previously had been instituted against her when she failed to meet obligations contracted by Zubkoff. At one time she was wealthy in her own name.

Frau Zubkoff's first husband was Prince Adolphe-William-Victor of Schaumburg-Lippe who died in 1916.

The princess entered St. Francis hospital last Thursday suffering from inflammation of the lungs. For some time her condition varied but on Monday a relapse set in when inflammation spread to both lobes. She weakened rapidly yesterday and death came this morning.

Princess Marguerite, her sister, and the latter's husband, Prince Frederic Charles, came to Bonn but the doctors forbade visitors. Princess Marguerite hurried to the bedside early this morning in response to a telephone call but did not see her sister alive. She will be taken to Princess Marguerite's castle, in Cronenberg for burial.

"BAD BOY" GILLIS AGAIN NOMINATED

"Bossy" Carries Every Ward In Newburyport; Results of Other Primaries.

Boston, Nov. 13.—(AP)—The historic city of Newburyport has again nominated its "bad boy" mayor, Andrew J. "Bossy" Gillis, for the office in primaries held yesterday. Marlborough, Brockton and Taunton also named mayoralty candidates.

Gillis carried every ward and received 2,338 votes in the heaviest balloting ever recorded in a municipal election there. Ex-Mayor Michael Cashman was given 1,612 ballots and will be the other candidate on election day, December 3. Two others were eliminated.

In Marlboro

President Amedeo A. Martel of the Marlboro City Council and William N. Davenport were nominated there in a non-partisan contest. Martel received 2,270 and Davenport 1,345 votes.

In Brockton, the Republicans renominated Mayor Harold E. Bent without a contest, giving him 3,557 votes, and the Democrats named William H. Power, unopposed, with 1,523 votes. Power will open the campaign on his 55th birthday today.

In the voting at Taunton which did not officially eliminate any candidate, Mayor Andrew J. McGraw received 4,522 votes, Willis K. Hodgeman, 3,372, W. Thompson L. Baker, 2,647, and Dr. John P. Howard, 128.

New York, Nov. 13.—(AP)—The Stock Market closed practically at the bottom of the year after another storm of distress liquidation had carried scores of leading issues down $1 to $20 a share.

New York, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Stock prices crumbled to new low levels again today when the brisk rally which followed the opening decline failed to hold. It was apparent that the market was still confronted with a large volume of distress liquidation. The battle on the floor of the Exchange centered around the stock of U. S. Steel common is traded in, that stock breaking to a new low for the year at $151.75 a share after having sold today as high as $159.75.

J. $52.50, off $1.62; General Motors $38, off $1; Bethlehem Steel $80.50, off $1.

Wall street also has heard stories of relentless "bear" attacks on the market by a group of powerful operators, but Jesse Livermore, who is reported to have been one of the leaders of a "bear" group active a couple of weeks ago, was quoted today as stating that "leading stocks with good dividend records and a certain future are on the bargain counter."

Directors of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation today omitted the usual extra dividend of 25 cents, declaring only the regular quarterly payment of 50 cents. Noon prices of some of the leaders were:

WATKINS LECTURE SERIES IS OPENED Interior Decorations Expert Addresses Gathering at Local Store.

Interior decorating, a subject every woman and every man is becoming more and more interested in, drew a large attendance at Watkins Brothers' lecture room last evening for the first of a series of practical lectures on decoration, color, fabric design and weaving; styles of furniture and its arrangements, which the firm has arranged for during the next few months.

Mrs. Faraday spoke on "General Principles of Decoration," and the outset of her talk explained that in the short time allotted to her, it would be impossible to touch on a few of the high spots of this topic of great importance and great interest to every one who has a home.

The lecturer illustrated her point by giving a number of her actual experiences as a professional decorator, all of which were enlightening as well as interesting. There are certain rules which must be followed to build up a beautiful interior, but they need not take away one's own personality or preferences. The interior is part of the exterior and full to a certain degree the promise of the exterior.

Mind Better But Health Worse On Diet Of Raw Vegetables Only

Charlottenburg, Germany—(AP)—A diet exclusively of raw vegetables has failed to sustain health in a remarkable series of experiments, just disclosed by Dr. E. Susskind of this city.

Dr. Susskind concludes that undernourishment often may be beneficial in disposing of useless substances in the body, but that a healthy adult thrives best on a balanced diet of cooked non-vegetable food with raw foods added in the form of fresh fruits, vegetables and salads.

GRAVE OF A YOUNG PRIEST IS A SHRINE FOR THOUSANDS WHO SEEK CURES FROM "MIRACLE"

Here's a typical scene at the "miracle" shrine in Holy Cross Cemetery, Malden, Mass. Afflicted persons come here in an endless procession to pray at the grave of a young priest and to anoint themselves with water from the stone chalice on the headstone.

Malden, Mass.—A strange procession is traveling the road to Holy Cross Cemetery. Old women and little children; richly dressed folk in limousines; shabbily clothed persons who trudge along on foot; patriarchs leaning on the arms of helpers.

The pine moves through the big gate, and over to the grave of an obscure young priest, the Rev. Patrick J. Powers, who died 60 years ago. The simple headstone marking his last resting place has become a healing shrine, a symbol of hope for the afflicted.

Thousands visit shrine. Thousands have come to kneel there and pray. In biting winds, sunshine or rain, the pilgrimage goes on. In fact, the crowd is larger on rainy days, for then they know there will be more water in the stone chalice on the headstone of the tomb. It is with this water that they anoint themselves, hoping thus to share in the miracles of healing which are being reported daily.

No one seems to be quite sure how the shrine happened to be discovered the other day. Very little is known of the priest whose grave has become such a sanctified place that it may rival the miracle shrines of Lourdes and Saint Anne de Beaupre. The Rev. Saint Anne de Beaupre, of Springfield, Mass., died at the age of 25, just one year after his ordination to the priesthood. In all the three score years since then, there have been no similar pilgrimages to his grave.

The Rev. Patrick Walsh, pastor of St. Joseph's Church here, is seeking more information of the young priest. Meanwhile, he has announced to his congregation the reports of marvelous cures to which afflicted persons have testified.

Many testify to Miracles. And there have been many of these tales. Hundreds of the lame, the deaf, the blind, and sick—from Boston and smaller cities—come to pray and to seek a few drops of the holy water from the chalice.

One child and one old man are said to have abandoned their crutches at the shrine and walked away without assistance. Scores have vouchered for their own improvement. The blind have said that light is breaking through. Some visitors have taken away a little of the water to send to afflicted friends in other parts of the country.

HEFLIN DELAYS PROBE.

Washington, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Senator Heflin, Democrat, Alabama, today deferred an attempt to obtain immediate adoption of his resolution to investigate the New York, Chicago and New Orleans cotton and changes on assurance that the resolution would be reported from committee for action tomorrow.

He told the Senate yesterday he would move today for discharge of the audit committee from further consideration of the resolution and that he would ask immediate action by the Senate.

The investigation would determine whether the cotton exchanges have had a depressing influence on the price of cotton and what effect transactions on the New York Stock Exchange have had on cotton trading.

DRY WAR IS ON.

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 13.—(AP)—Federal prohibition agents, two of whose boats were bombed in the harbor here early Monday by rum-runners seized and destroyed approximately 1300 gallons of liquor late last night, confiscated five automobiles and placed six men under arrest.

"If it's war the moonshiners want its war that they'll get," said Finnis E. Wilson, district enforcement administrator.

REDS GATHER GOLD.

Kiev, Russia, Nov. 13.—(AP)—In order to help the government fulfill its huge five-year industrialization plan, a movement has been started among workers in Kiev and other districts to establish a people's national gold fund which will be turned over to the state.

Members of the population have been invited to contribute personal or other articles made of gold, platinum, silver or other precious metals to the fund.

ENGLAND FOLLOWS PRINCE INTO AIR

Croyden.—(AP)—Young England, which always pays rather close attention to what the prince of Wales does and wears, has noted his enthusiasm for flying and is following him into the air.

That is one explanation of the boom in flying clubs throughout the land. In the past few months, during which the prince was more than usually active in the air and finally bought a private plane and learned to fly it, the flying clubs and schools of England enjoyed a rapid increase in membership.

Approximately 5,000 men and women now belong to these clubs or instruction groups.

FIND MISSING BOYS

Boston, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Two Winthrop boys, who gave their families cause for disquiet when they dropped out of sight after leaving for a duck hunt, were back home again today, thanks to John Millman, newsboy.

Millman was asked by one of the boys for a nickel to telephone home and, when upon inquiry, he learned the circumstances, put through a call himself and held the boys until the father of one came to get the pair.

The children were George F. O'Donnell, Jr., 11, and Douglas Robinson. The boys left home yesterday and were later seen in a rowboat by Coast Guardsmen. When they failed to return to the Coast Guard and harbor police instituted a search. The next heard of the two was when a telephone call was received late last night but efforts then to locate the pair were futile because they were unable to describe their surroundings accurately enough to guide searchers.

HOOVER VISITORS

Washington, Nov. 13.—(AP)—An early morning visit was made to the White House today by Secretary Mellon, Under Secretary Mills, and a third person believed to be Governor Young of the Federal Reserve Board.

The three went to President Hoover's private office by the rear door of the executive offices, the entrance customarily used by Secretary Mellon. Governor Young declined to say whether he was in the party. Persons at the executive office were unable to identify him definitely.

HOLD LONG SESSION.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—(AP)—The House of Commons adjourned at 8:20 a. m. today after a 17½ hour session, its first all night meeting since the new Labor government came into being.

The occasion of the session was consideration of details of the widows and orphans pension bill, which the opposition fought but with little effect. The Liberals gave generous support to the government, whose majority ranged from 100 to 150 in the balloting.

BIG ESTATE SHRINKS.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—(AP)—The estate of J. Ogden Armour, once valued at $200,000,000 was closed yesterday in probate court with a $200,000 loss to family creditors.

It was the World War with its attendant demands for feeding the millions that made the millionaire packer high among the multimillionaires. Then peace—and the government cancelled a mountain of orders with the Armour company.

The hunting season is at hand. Have you noticed how the ladies crowd around the shop windows containing fur coats?

DR. MOORE TELLS LIONS ABOUT MAYO CLINIC

Dr. D. C. Y. Moore spoke to the Lions Club at the Hillside Inn in Bolton last night telling of the Mayo Foundation at Rochester, Minn., to which he recently paid a visit.

George Gagley, William Sperber and Arthur St. John were appointed as the committee in charge of the meeting next week.

In his talk Dr. Moore spoke glowingly of the wonderful clinic, painting a word picture of its growth on the prairie from 1883 up to now, when it has the reputation of being the largest clinic in the world.

In 1883 a great disaster took place on the prairie and the father of the Mayo brothers erected a temporary relief hospital. The Sisters of Mary, situated there, then offered to build a $75,000 hospital if the elder Mayo would take charge, which he agreed to do. This was the nucleus of the now famous Mayo clinic.

Dr. Moore attributed the success of the clinic to the loyalty of the Mayo brothers to humanity by placing ever in the foreground the humanitarian and not the monetary side of their work.

Walter Williams acted as accompanist during the group singing.

AMARANTH TO MEET AT 5 P. M. ON FRIDAY

Chapman Court, Order of Amaranth, will hold its regular meeting on Friday at 5 o'clock instead of the usual time and notices to that effect have been mailed to the members. A number of the local Amaranth members are planning to attend the supper at 6:30 and the meeting to follow, which will be held in Old Fellows hall, Hartford, Royal Matron Adelaide Shelton urges all the officers to be present at the meeting in the Masonic Temple here at 5 o'clock on Friday.

RIOTS IN AUSTRIA

Kazelsdorf, Styria, Austria, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Women Fascists armed with rubber clubs fighting by the side of men was the feature of a collision between Social-Democratic workmen and the Fascist Heimwehr during yesterday's anniversary of the republic. A Fascist named Johann Vokitch was accused of shooting and killing a workman, H. Bernhard.

Police reported that the Heimwehr were found to be armed with revolvers while the women members had loaded sticks and rubber clubs.

Senator Torroja has been working on a plan whereby Spain will assist in the scientific investigation that an international group of scientists will conduct on the Arctic regions from aboard the dirigible. Honolulu, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Myies Yutaka Fukunaga, 19, slayer of G. Jamieson, 10, son of a prominent Honolulu banker, must hang Tuesday, Governor Lawrence M. Judd decreed in signing the death warrant for the Japanese. Governor Judd characterized the kidnaping and subsequent killing on September, 1928, as "a dastardly crime, well planned and executed with exceptional brutality." YOUR COLD GARAGE

WILL WRECK YOUR CAR

WHEN you start your stiff motor in the morning, the bearings which are shrunken with cold, grip the shafts like a vice. The oil, being thick cannot lubricate, hence the bearings are slowly but surely ruined.

The tremendous overload is hard on the starting mechanism and the frigid half-charged batteries. The gasoline vapor-condenses in the icy cylinders, drains into the crankcase, killing the oil. Thus the cylinders become scored, carbon deposits accumulate, the motor becomes inefficient, loses power, wastes gasoline and oil, boils off alcohol and then that expensive motor freeze-up may come.

These are but a small part of the havoc of cold garage housing. To warm your garage with a Scientific Safety Garage Heater, automatically controlled, costs but a fraction of the damage prevented, preserves the smoothness and power of your motor, gives you comfort and peace of mind.

May we lay all the facts before you?

Now Millions More Stop "Dosing" Colds Better External Treatment Wins New Users All Over the World

Every year since the introduction of Vicks Vaporub, more and more people have given up the old-fashioned way of "dosing" their colds and have turned to the modern method of treating them externally. Today, the whole trend of medical practice is away from needless "dosing."

plaster, "drawing out" tightness and soreness; at the same time, it gives off medicated vapors which are inhaled direct to the inflamed air-passages. Demand Increases Each Year. As more and more people appreciate this better method of treating colds, the demand for Vicks increases year after year. Only a short time ago the famous slogan, "Over 17 Million Jars Used Yearly," was raised to "21 Million" to keep step with this demand. These figures, too, have been outgrown, as there are now "Over 26 Million Jars Used Yearly"—a jar for every family in the United States.

REAL PREPAREDNESS

If most of the rant about "preparedness" against war leaves the thinking man or woman cold it is because they perceive in what pretends to be (and often mistakenly believes itself to be) patriotism is nothing in the world but the age-old curse of fear; fear that leads to a burden of arms and the inevitable goal of war.

Commander Bodenhamer of the American Legion made not a plea but a demand for preparedness against war which should echo and re-echo throughout America till it has borne itself upon the consciousness of every soul in this land as the very essence of sanity and righteousness.

Passionately defending the principle of preparedness against the theory and criticism of internationalist pacifists, Commander Bodenhamer yet voiced no hackneyed demand for a big navy, for a great army, for huge armadas of the air.

When, with the coming of war, there automatically arrives the end of all opportunity for private profit out of war; when, with the mobilization of the nation there ends all possibility of slacking and putting off the burden of suffering on someone else; when with complete regimentation of the civil life of the nation under the stern discipline of the mailed fist there comes surrender of individual aspiration and individual opportunity, this nation will be so inherently strong militarily and economically that it will be impregnable to assault—and in all its wide expanse there will not exist one single jungo. There would be no sabre rattlers, no American junkies, then. But everywhere a sincere and eager desire for peace—a peace that always, because of the portent of our mammoth unified power, would be had with honor.

Commander Bodenhamer has propounded a test. Will those who by preparedness mean a few more ships, a few more cannons, a few more planes, a few more soldiers trained, subscribe to this infinitely more far-reaching plan of preparedness—or will they stall and stutter and confess at last that what they really want is preparedness not against war but for war?

RECURRING INSANITY. In view of the not infrequent recurrence of a type of criminal incident such as developed at Stonington yesterday there is a not unnatural disposition on the part of some persons to criticize the authorities of our insane asylums for the discharge of patients who after ward develop dangerous tendencies. In the Stonington case a man, released from the asylum at Preston only a month ago, shot his wife and a neighbor in an apparently causeless fit of rage.

As this is only one of a number of incidents where persons discharged as "cured" from insane hospitals have within a more or less short time committed crimes of violence, a superficial view might be that the asylum authorities are over anxious to get rid of present patients in order to make room for new candidates for admission. We fail to see that there is any proof of such a condition.

It is difficult to discover any advantage to the asylum administration in swapping an old patient for a new one—and there is never, under present conditions, the slightest chance of diminishing the population of an insane hospital in this state by discharging one or a dozen inmates; there are always others waiting for their room.

It is only fair to the asylum authorities to assume that they are at all times doing the best they can in this matter of released patients. One of the last things they or anyone else wants is to keep in confinement a patient who has been insane but is insane no longer—and there are any number of such cases. Science has not, however, attained to the point where it is always possible to know positively whether cures or recoveries in certain mental cases are to be permanent. A degree of chance has to be taken. When the apparently recovered patient does, now and then, develop a fresh attack of his trouble, it is fair to assume that the hospital people have made a mistake in a field where, at best, a good deal of guessing has to be done and in which a greater or less percentage of error is inevitable.

It is easy to rail at the administration of the insane hospitals when such a thing happens. But there would be less fault finding, perhaps, if the public realized the difficulties under which the insane asylum authorities labor. You can't weigh the probabilities of recurrence of mental disorders, apparently cured, with any such exactitude as you can a pound of sugar.

THE MIDGET CAR

This writer yesterday beheld, waiting on Main street for a trolley car bound for Hartford, a citizen who has driven an automobile so long that when he starts to go upstairs to bed he instinctively goes through the motion of shifting gears with his right hand.

"How come?" asked the writer. "I'm all done driving into Hartford," said the motorist. And he elucidated. All about the crawling traffic, the dearth of parking spaces, the inconvenience, the delay. "The automobile has licked itself, so far as city use goes," he concluded.

Within an hour thereafter we ran across an account of an automobile built by a Hartford man. It is six feet long. It accelerates to 50 per within a hundred feet of its start. It will climb the steepest hill without shifting gears. It will go fifty miles on a gallon of gas. In traffic it will get the jump on cars of four times its power. It will start from a dead stop on a steep hill and gain full speed in a few yards. You can park it anywhere a big dog could lie down.

A little while ago a cinema news reel showed the chief of the Paris fire department going to a fire in an automobile the size of a baby carriage—and keeping at the head of the procession. It showed him at the fire, skipping about over curbstones, among ladders, in the tiny car.

If the time has come when a full sized automobile is a nuisance to its driver in city traffic, even when he is a confirmed automobile addict like our local friend, and if at the same time the tiny car has been developed as indicated, the query is how long will it be before the midget automobile is the only one of recognized practicability for city traffic—and how long before big cars will be ruled off the streets?

RELIEVED FEELINGS

Senator Brookhart may or may not be a marvel as a senator; that's a matter of opinion; but he's at least a wonderful rifle shot, having headed the world's championship team in 1912. Senator Reed is likewise a cracker-jack with the rifle, having captured the championship in 1916. Perhaps that is one reason why, having abused each other quite heartily in debate, they are now planning to shoot a target match at the Marine post at Quantico. If they were terribly bad shots, like some of those European statesmen who now and then sally forth to the duelling ground to settle things, possibly they might be eager to shoot at each other instead of at a target. Under the circumstances, however, that sort of a contest is automatically "out."

However it is suggested that they might use two mannikin targets

Brookhart's labeled "Reed" and Reed's labeled "Brookhart." Then at least, they could enthusiastically swear at the objective, true soldier fashion.

PROFESSOR FISHER

Professor Irving Fisher of Yale, who confidently contradicted Roger Babson's prediction of a collapse of the stock market a month or so ago and who assured friend and foe alike that they need not fear a Wall Street crash, is the same Professor Fisher whose assertion that "not over 16 per cent and probably not over ten per cent as much alcohol is being consumed as before prohibition" is accepted by extreme dries as the basis for many of their arguments. Whether Professor Fisher is worse on prohibition than he is on the stock market, or worse on the stock market than he is on prohibition we should hesitate to guess. As an authority on either he is just terrible.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Writer

Washington, Nov. 13.—Senator Robinson of Arkansas piles the blame for the stock market crash on President Hoover and Secretary Mellon, and Senator Robinson of Indiana traces it to John J. Raskob.

You take your choice in case you don't know any better. Otherwise, you just laugh at the spectacles of the Senators Robinson indulging in the ancient practice of blaming the other party for all the country's business and financial troubles. You wonder how the politicians in either party can continue to get away with blaming each other for panics and slumps, if your memory is good on historical facts.

The panic of 1857 occurred in the James Buchanan administration when the Democrats had both the White House and Congress. Of course, it was quite a help to the Republicans in the Lincoln campaign of 1860.

Bad Times Under Grant

But the depression of 1872-77, which occurred in the Republican Grant administration, was considerably worse because the national business fabric had grown a great deal since the Civil War.

The worst year was 1873. This bad period was fine for business for the Democrats in the Tilden campaign of 1876.

The Democrats were in power with Cleveland when the big panic of 1893 came on, depressing the country for three years and giving the Republicans a grand talking point to aid in achieving their victory of 1896.

A smaller edition occurred in the famous panic of 1907 during the Roosevelt administration. The next period of hard times, accompanied by a serious unemployment problem, developed in the early days of the first Wilson administration. Republicans pointed at conditions and said: "We told you so!" A common opinion is that more serious distress was averted only by the outbreak of the European War, which made us the world's workshop.

Everyone remembers the 1921-22 deflation and hard times under Harding. The newly elected Republican. And now hundreds of thousands of persons have their shirts in the stock market following the Hoover inauguration. The truth seems to be that such unhappy visitations as these come regardless of party vicissitudes, as comes the boll weevil or the zard. And if the Republican had things happen in Republican administrations and forgetting that there aren't any other administrations for things to happen in. People are like that.

If Senator Nye gets his proposed investigation of stock speculation started the committee probably won't find out who, if anyone, plotted the recent market crash and it won't pin the blame on Hoover or Mellon or Raskob. But it might decide for itself what might have been done beforehand to head the thing off. The sins of commission are Wall Street's but the sins of omission are Washington's.

Less than two years ago young Mr. LaFollette of Wisconsin put in a resolution calling on the Federal Reserve Board to reduce speculative loans. The board opposed it, but after hearings the Senate Banking and Currency Committee reported favorably on the resolution. However, the resolution could only come up under unanimous consent and the Senate never voted on it.

"The board has the power of bringing about gradual reduction of broker's loans and if it had begun then before the inflation reached its peak the reduction could have been brought about with serious injury to anyone." LaFollette remarked the other day. There is a common feeling that the board has been too timorous. Apparently it didn't dare go through with its efforts.

It's perfectly evident that we need some kind of legislation to make the Federal Reserve Board function as it should and as it was meant to function. The Federal Reserve measure was originally offered as a remedy to the old situation where credit could be sucked into the speculative centers, curtailing better uses for it. But the situation has developed again in the last two years and the remedy was not applied.

LaFollette's resolution contained the provision that if the Reserve

IN NEW YORK

New York, Nov. 13.—Sullen, puffy-eyed, pasty-hued Harry Thaw still walks the night lanes of Manhattan like some feverish ghost. In all the strange array of midnight sons, none is more eccentric, more restless, more consistent.

Year after year he haunts the cabarets. The routine of night-club going, which falls upon even the most hardened, seems, somehow, to leave him untouched. His name heads the list of any night club roster. Trilled by his shadow-like bodyguard he slips in and out of the flood lights of those table cluttered rectangles which, in their infinite variety, come to life after the clock strikes twelve.

And as the seasons pass, with perverse monotony Thaw reappears at the ringsides, his eyes seeming always to be about to bulge from their sockets; his interest roused only on occasion; his seemingly listless gaze wandering up and down the ranks of pretty chorines who caper and strut and stink.

If one appears to strike his fancy, he is planted for the evening. And his demand for an encore is seldom overlooked. For if he cares to do some spending, he's an excellent cash customer.

As each year goes by, his name is linked in whispers and in table gossip with this lovely girl and with that. At certain intervals the name again leaps the walls of the cabarets and gets into the courts and the papers. Then the world learns that a certain diamond bracelet was a present from Thaw. Or, more recently heavy damages as the result of a most unpleasant nocturnal encounter.

What is even more surprising—at the end of the most recent of Thaw's court adventures, a bevy of good-looking flappers circled about the man whose name has been dragged through so much mud and mire.

But whatever happens to him; whatever may be the unpleasant picture left in the public eye, Harry Thaw bounces resiliantly back. If he gives a hang for public opinion, if he is even slightly affected by the whisperings going on all about or by the finger pointings—one would never guess it.

He is aloof—alone! A puffy-eyed wreath of the night world.

One of the most daring literary experiments of the year is, strangely enough, not some super-modernistic effort, but the republication after all these years of "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Whether or not this historic work can find followers in this day and age, is something which I, for one, will watch with interest.

This vogue for digging back into the literary past of the nation is growing. Another experiment of more than passing interest is the reproduction in modern jacket and type of the first "dime novel" printed in America, "Beadle's Dime Library" and was titled, "Malaska; or the Indian Wife." The author was one Mrs. Ann Stephens. The original, I am told, rests in the library of Dr. Frank O'Brien, who has one of the most famous collections of Americana. Mrs. Stephens was an Englishwoman, settled in Connecticut.

Old Erastus Beadle, the originator of the "paper backs," had, by the way, one of the most scholarly editors hereabouts—Orville Victor, and the original group of writers—before the Diamond Dick and Nick Carter period, usually wrote of early Indian adventures in which they themselves, or members of their families had figured. Generally speaking, the stories and backgrounds were true.

Handling Stars Is Tricky Job, Says Director

Hollywood, Calif.—One of the most important factors in making a motion picture, from a director's standpoint, is thoroughly understanding his people, according to William Seiter, well-known megaphone wielder of our studio hamlet.

William A. Seiter . . . he knows the stars.

she is not handled in the right manner. "Colleen Moore, Corinne Griffith and Dorothy Mackall are the three stars I have directed most recently and I found that I had to work differently with each of them. All were easy to direct after I once understood them, but I had to study each one carefully before starting production on their pictures. What proved to be proper direction for one was all wrong for either of the others."

Seiter is one of the men who are proving to the movie industry that experience on the legitimate stage isn't necessary to qualify as a successful director of speaking films. He has made five talkies to date and while he has not considered any of them particularly good, all have been received well by Mr. and Mrs. Public.

Bill came to Hollywood about 15 years ago after making an unsuccessful attempt to "double" for a cowboy in a comedy riding stunt for an eastern film company. Not deterred by his failure in New York, he was determined to break into the picture racket here. For a long time he worked as an extra—when he could get a job—and slept in the back seats of automobiles in a public garage in order to save his small earnings for much needed food.

AIRPORT MANAGEMENT NEEDS GOOD EXECUTIVE

Washington (AP)—A high order of executive ability, plus a basic knowledge of aviation, is necessary for proper airport management, says a bulletin by the department of commerce.

"There is no consideration more vital than safety," the bulletin said in discussing municipal airports, "and there is no better guarantee of safety than good management. Federal regulations, local field rules, and local ordinances must be enforced so that a maximum of safety can be expected by those flying and by the ground public and in the vicinity of the airport.

PLAN INDOOR CIRCUS AT NORTH METHODIST

Mess Tent of This One, However, Won't Be Just for the Performer Folk.

Leon Holmes is general chairman of the committee in charge of the Indoor Circus which the various organizations of the North Methodist church plan to arrange for the evenings of Thursday and Friday, December 4 and 5. This unique entertainment and sale will be held in lieu of the annual bazaar given at this church for the past few seasons. While there will be gift articles for sale, this feature will be secondary to the items offered for consumption on the "grounds," and ways in evidence at a circus, such as cream cones, all-hot and other eatables. There will be amusing stunts by the clowns and side shows galore, not to mention a parade of the animals which will delight young and old.

Unlike the regulation circus, the dishes prepared in the mess hall will be for the delectation of the onlookers and not for the performers alone. In other words the women of the church will serve a substantial supper each evening in the junior school room. Miss Beatrice Lydall will have charge of this department of the indoor circus.

IF WOMAN REBELS SHE IS INTROVERT

Hamilton, N. Y.—(AP)—If a woman works intermittently at tasks during the day, rebels at discipline and commands, dislikes to sell things and meets the obligations of conscience promptly, she has a tendency toward introversion. This condition and its opposite, extroversion, are recent subjects of study by psychologists. All persons are both introvert and extrovert in some degree, but tend to divide into two classes.

Extroversion means interest in things outside of self and introversion means retirement into self, but the two classes of traits are not necessarily connected with selfishness. The observation about women is made by Dr. Roswell H. Whitman, now of the University of Chicago, in describing some of his research at the Colgate psychological laboratory.

SURFACED FARM ROADS INCREASING YEARLY

Washington (AP)—The farmers are getting out of the mud more every year, reports to the United States bureau of public roads indicate. Each year is showing an increasing percentage of surfaced county and local roads and a decreasing percentage of the graded and drained type.

Reports to the bureau show 45,531 miles of county and local roads, exclusive of those in state systems, were improved in 1928, a total of 29,888 miles or 66 per cent being surfaced roads. The mileage improved in 1927 was 59,732 of which 33,852 miles, or 57 per cent, were surfaced. In 1926, the bureau said, only 41 per cent of the mileage improved comprised surfaced roads.

GERMANS GIVEN LEAD IN AVIATION RECORDS

Berlin (AP)—Germany leads the world in aviation with 33 to 86 world flying records, according to the latest official returns of the International Aeronautical Federation. Of these records, 35 are for regular planes, 37 for seaplanes and 14 for baby planes. Germany holds 11, 20 and two in these successive categories. France comes second with 21 records, and the United States third with 17—three for planes, 13 for seaplanes and one for baby planes.

STURDY NORRIS STAYS BY GUNS IN OWN COURSE

Washington (AP)—A quarter century and more ago, a kindly faced, mild mannered chap from Nebraska came to take his seat in the house from the fifth district. He was George William Norris by name "Republican, of McCook, Neb.," as the reference books set it out.

GEORGE W. NORRIS

they would have known that an actor around whom far-reaching events would turn had stepped up on the national political stage. For this son of an Ohio farmer was to figure almost at once in intra-party strife. He was to brand Speaker "Uncle Joe" Cannon as the "iron duke" of the house almost before he had settled in his house seat. He was to lead in a revolt that swept his party out of power.

And from that hour on Norris was to be his own kind of a Republican; to be a moving spirit in the making of the rift in party ranks in the senate as he was in the house; to guide the coalition forces in the tariff battle to the moment when by more than two-thirds majority the senate voted censure on Bingham of Connecticut, an old guard stalwart.

Every president since Roosevelt has felt the lash of Norris' tongue. Republican or Democrat they have fared alike at his hands where his views clashed with those of the White House. But no senate colleague, however opposed in view, ever has questioned Norris' sincerity of purpose. Perhaps, that is the secret of his long unshaken hold upon the voters of Nebraska.

As We Grow Older We Should Keep Careful Watch of our Kidneys.

KIDNEY disorders are too serious to ignore. It pays to heed the early signals. Scanty, burning or too frequent kidney excretions; a drowsy, listless feeling; lameness, stiffness and constant backache are timely warnings.

To promote normal kidney action and assist your kidneys in cleansing your blood of poisonous wastes, use Doan's Pills. Used and recommended the world over. Sold by good dealers everywhere.

Mrs. Alice Guntha, 3440 Harrison Ave., Detroit, Mich., says: "I suffered with a dull ache across my back that bothered me a great deal when I was doing my housework. When stooping, my back pained so that it was a task to straighten up again. My kidneys acted very irregularly, but after taking Doan's Pills I felt fine again and the backache left me. Queer Twists In Day's News

New York.—An airplane has been given a horse laugh. Richard F. Hoyt, chairman of the Curtiss-Wright Corporation, had to come from Warrenton, Pa., by automobile, abandoning a disabled plane. His party left the plane in a pasture for the night. In the morning they found so much of the fabric eaten from the tail that the plane could not be used. A horse which was nearby with stray threads of wing fabric hanging from his teeth.

Washington.—"Macaviator" is the Army's name for a device that automatically pilots planes. It comes from mechanical aviator. New Haven.—Somebody is planning a $5,000,000 transoceanic plane that will carry 500 passengers and a crew of 104. If Harry R. Westcott, an engineer, has things straight. He says he has seen drawings and his firm has been asked to bid on some phases of the construction.

San Juan.—Mrs. Alice Hoffman, aunt of Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, is glad she broke a yow never to leave the ground. She flew from Miami to visit the wife of the governor of Porto Rico and found the trip magnificent.

Basel, Switzerland.—There is a serious objection to the selection of this city as the site of the International bank. No golf course seems to be handy. "That is a great drawback to directors' meetings," said M. A. Traylor of Chicago after he came from Brussels and looked over things.

New York.—One of the football coaches at New York University dictates a running story of every game into a recording device. The transcription runs to about 25 pages. The idea is to have complete information as to the team's errors of commission and omission.

Princeton, N. J.—A great boon to alumni and other football nuts seems possible. A contributor to the Princeton alumni weekly has a simple method by which everybody at a game can have as good a seat as anybody else. It is to build a stadium on a track and have it revolve during the game.

Atlanta.—Having worn his Sunday pants when arrested in a Sunday raid on a still John Birchfield has won from the court of appeals a retrial of his conviction on a liquor charge. It was argued that his clothing indicated he was not working at the still.

New York.—Princess Estelle de Broglie of Paris has gone (and left

ENGINEER SEES CITIES DRAWN TO AIRPORTS

Cleveland (AP)—Instead of the cities drawing airports near their hearts, Wilfred J. Austin, a builder of airplane stations, sees the remote aviation fields pulling sections of the city their way.

Austin, a leading designer of landing fields and stations, is basing his new designs on this belief. "In five or ten years planes of a wing spread of 100 feet likely will be making coast to coast non-stop flights," said Austin. "They'll need room. Hangars must have large clear roof spans with larger floor areas unobstructed by pillars.

"The psychology of safety is an important consideration in airplane travel, and with the larger and safer planes must be constructed airports that give passengers greater assurance.

"One of Austin's new station designs is for a city, like Cleveland, on water, and air routes. A runway extending from lake wharfs, across rail lines and automobile roadways to the airport, would enable passengers to transfer between any of the transportation branches without inconvenience or discomfort.

South Carolina secedes. On Nov. 1860 the South Carolina legislature called a convention to consider secession from the Union as a result of President Lincoln's election.

The convention met on Dec. 20 and immediately passed an ordinance of secession. When the attack on Fort Sumter precipitated the Civil War the following April, South Carolina furnished 60,000 soldiers to the Confederate armies, although her voting population was only about 47,000.

A provisional governor was appointed in South Carolina at the close of the war and a new constitution adopted. On the refusal of the state to ratify the 14th amendment, a military government was established.

In 1868, another constitution allowing negro suffrage was adopted and the state was re-admitted June 25 of that year.

Today is also the anniversary of John Drew, famous American actor, the son of John Drew and Louisa Lane Drew. Young Drew began his theatrical career under his mother's management in Philadelphia in 1873.

New York society flat. She failed to appear at Mrs. Vincent Astor's charity fashion show at which she was to wear a yellow diaphanous gown. Sponsors said it was because she had not received enough publicity; that her picture had not been provided to the New York papers. "I have had an infected tooth," explained the princess.

Offers Gold Footballs To Manchester Eleven

Hartford Jeweler to Reward Members of Herald's All-Star Team Selected by Stowe; Whole Season Considered.

Gold footballs will be presented to the eleven first string members of The Herald's annual All-Manchester selections by Savitt, Inc., well known Hartford jewelry company. The offer was made today by William Savitt, head of the firm.

The selections for the team, purely mythical in existence, will be made solely by Thomas W. Stowe, sports editor for this newspaper. Fans and players as well should bear in mind that such a selection naturally cannot meet with everyone's approval. Stowe, however, has either played with or against most of the players on both teams.

Last year the Herald sports editor named a squad of 17 players, ten from the ranks of the Cubs and seven from the Cloverleaves, place three men at end, three at tackle, three at guard, one at center, four in the backfield with three reserve backs.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Dr. John M. Thomas, president of Rutgers, can't wear a cane until Rutgers wins from Lafayette. He promised the students in 1928 that he'd put the stick away until Rutgers won that game. You couldn't get sore at Vanderbilt's coach, Dan McGugin, if the Vandies beat your favorite team. Dan says so many lovely things about the teams his boys play. Harry Stuhldreher, former Horseman, calls his Villanova team this year his greatest. Ray Caldwell, the former Cleveland pitcher, couldn't make the grade in the Central League (Class B) last spring. He went to Birmingham and helped the Class A team there to win a pennant. The older pitchers like it warm.

Town Series Grid Talk

BY TOM STOWE.

Exactly 2,677 persons paid $1.38.50 to see the first game of the town series between the Cubs and Majors last year at Mt. Nebo. The receipts for the second game were a bit smaller, 2,231 persons paying $1,115.50. The Cubs share of the series melon was $1,292.60 while the Cloverleaves received $861.60.

Albert "Frenchy" Merrer, chunky Cub guard, is beginning his annual lingo about this being his last year. He says he will probably have gray whiskers when he actually does retire. That Merrer isn't slipping any is shown by the fact that Coach Kelley invariably has him in the starting lineup.

The Cubs will have a decided edge in the kicking art. Both Ding Farr and Jack Stratton are good punters not to mention Jack Cheney and Tommy Happeney in case of an emergency. The bulk of the work will no doubt fall on the good right foot of Mr. Farr. Although a trifle slow in getting away with his boots, Farr's efforts carry high and far once they are under way.

The Cloverleaves can blame poor kicking as the reason for losing the initial game of the series last year. It was a 14 yard punt from the north end's 11 yard line that paved the way for the Cubs' first touchdown. Walter Moske was the guilty man. The other south end score came when "Whitey" Lullien, line-man made into a backfield man over night, so to speak, fumbled and the alert Johnny Groman recovered and dashed 67 yards for the score.

BOWLING

POST MORTEM

Team No. 1 took three straight from No. 3 in the House No. 1 bowling league last night. Evidently the write-up of last week's upset Team No. 3 since they did not get going until after the third game. The spaghetti-fund gained a good many feet. Martin Schildze had high single of 116 while H. Bidwell had three string of 312.

Thursday night Teams 2 and 4 clash and Team 2 says they will start then.

Table with 3 columns: Team No., Score 1, Score 2. Rows include Bidwell, Smith, Lester, G. Hunt Jr., Montie, Mahoney, McCormack, Behrend, M. Schildze, Gibbons.

"WASHED UP"

Here is a new picture of Al Marsden, "all washed up." After playing a whale of a game this season, leading the point-scorers in the east, Al was hurt in the Dartmouth-Yale game and will be out the rest of the season. As this is the Arlington Antelope's senior year, his football career has been ended by the injury.

An idea of the inconsistency in the punting of the north end players may be gleaned from the series of last year. Brumig Moske, the north end's main hope, got away a 71 yard kick from behind his own punting line in the first game and then in the second battle proceeded to boot one over his head that traveled only 3 yards before crossing the sidelines. What a contrast!

The Cubs made 9 first downs in winning the first game of the series a year ago compared to 12 for the Cloverleaves. In the second game the Cubs made 9 more while the losers had to be content with six. The Cubs were penalized 70 yards against 50 for the Cloverleaves in the first game and each was set back an even sixty in the second.

All that is needed to make the opening of the 1929 town series a gala affair is good weather. Last Sunday would surely have been an ideal day for the opening.

Jay Merriman of the Kingswood school in West Hartford who has been selected as head-linesman for the series, was umpire when the Cubs and Cloverleaves battled last November. Clyde Waters of Bristol was the referee on that occasion with Charlie Holm of Hartford as head-linesman. Herb Bissell and Jake Moske were the linesmen.

San Jose, Cal. Nov. 13.—(AP)—Henry Luoma, star guard of the University of Santa Clara football team, died here today, after an operation for appendicitis a week ago. Last year Luoma won honorable mention from several experts in All-American selections.

LEWIS-SONNENBERG TO CLASH TONIGHT

World's Title at Stake in Los Angeles; Champ Almost Lost Previous Bout.

Los Angeles, Nov. 13.—(AP)—Ed "Strangler" Lewis, former heavyweight wrestling champion, again will seek to regain his lost laurels in the ring here tonight in a bout with Gus Sonnenberg, titleholder. The match, with the championship going to the winner of two out of three falls, follows one staged here several weeks ago when Sonnenberg won the deciding fall after seconds for both grapplers had jumped into the ring. The dispute which followed brought about the re-match.

Los Angeles, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Sentenced to serve 30 days in jail for battery on Gus Sonnenberg, heavyweight wrestling champion, Pete Ladjone, promoter was free today under $1,000 bail. Sonnenberg testified that Ladjone telephoned him October 22 for a conference on proposed wrestling matches. He met Ladjone on a downtown street corner. The jury deliberated ten minutes.

Kellyites Clash With Callahan's Crew at West Side Saturday; Schools Have Met Five Times on Grid.

Manchester High and Windham High, traditional schoolboy football rivals, have met on the gridiron five times with the Thread City team holding a slight advantage. Willimantic won the first three years by scores of 14 to 0, 7 to 0 and 12 to 0. Two years ago Manchester took the Callahanites into camp 19 to 6 at the McKee street stadium and last year repeated with a 12 to 0 triumph at Willimantic.

One more win for Manchester and the two schools will be on an even basis. The chances are that this is precisely what will happen for Manchester will enter the game a slight favorite to win. Manchester played a scoreless tie with Bristol which took Windham's measure 12 to 0 last Saturday.

Manchester High has won four games, lost two and tied one so far this season. Only the Willimantic and Alumni games remain on the schedule. Coach Kelley's outfit is favored to win both.

CUBS HAVE SLIGHT EDGE OVER RIVALS IN SERIES' GAMES

The Cubs and Cloverleaves (now known as the Majors with practically the same personnel plus a few younger stars) have met six times on the gridiron with the town championship at stake. Three times the Cubs have been victorious against once for the Cloverleaves. Two games ended in scoreless ties. A compilation reveals that the Cubs have made only one more point!

Princeton Never Lost More Than Three Games

Does That Mean Tigers Will Upset Yale Again Saturday? Pitt is Favored Over Carnegie.

By WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN.

New York, Nov. 13.—(AP)—In three of the five games involving major football rivalries of long standing next Saturday, victory now seems to be headed toward the standards of the eleven which won last year, Pennsylvania, Colgate and Dartmouth—but in the other two Yale and Pittsburgh apparently have a fine chance to avenge defeats. Yale remains a slight favorite over a Princeton eleven which has at last gained a momentum and the Pittsburgh Panther expects to win from Carnegie Tech.

Princeton once more depends upon the magic of Bill Roper's voice to fire the Tigers to a supreme effort but the coach's words have some substantial backing in the blocking of Barfield and the running of Ed Wittmer. Roper sent the Bengais through a hard scrimmage yesterday but held Wittmer back from any rough work. Yale also had a scrimmage.

The Tigers will be fighting to maintain one tradition and break another Saturday. No Orange and Black eleven ever lost more than three games in a season, the number now charged against which has team. And also Princeton which has won three of its last four games with Yale never was able to take four out of five.

To maintain its place among the undefeated and untied, Pittsburgh must turn its strong offensive into high gear against Carnegie Tech on Saturday. Columbia will present a battered front to Pennsylvania which expects practically to duplicate its 34 of 7 last season. Without Al Marsters, Dartmouth doubtless will be unable to repeat last year's 28 to 9 walkaway against Cornell but the team is chosen to spoil the Red eleven's perfect record of six victories.

Harvard will be up against a tough proposition in Holy Cross. The Crimson should break last year's scoreless deadlock but cannot take the game under any reason to hope for another victory over Syracuse. Williams is favored to repeat last year's success against Amherst to take the little three tie, and Lehigh seems strong enough to rout Rutgers in the middle three semi-final.

Penn State expects to pay back Bucknell for a six to nothing reverse in the 1928 campaign but Georgetown's fine defense should enable the Hilltoppers to win again from West Virginia.

Missouri will be favored over N. Y. U. in the renewal of their intercollegiate strife at the Yankee Stadium and Marquette may have a shade over Boston College in another east-west affair.

U. S. C. CONFIDENT OF HALTING ROCKNE

Trojans Anxious to Prove That Defeat by California Was Out of Order.

BY ALLAN J. GOULD

New York, Nov. 13.—(AP)—On the already well established theory that they do come back even if it takes a trip of two thousand miles for the purpose, Southern California's Trojans figure to be the next to stop Notre Dame's rush next Saturday before some 120,000 spectators at Soldier Field Chicago. On the also well established fact that Notre Dame, even with Knute Rockne able to direct them only part time basis, has turned out the greatest Hoosier array since the "Four Horsemen" the unbeaten South Bend Cyclone figures to sweep over the Trojans and on toward a national championship.

Those who like the chances of Southern California see the Trojans bounding across the country to atone for their unexpected setback at the hands of California. U. S. C. has finished its big game schedule on the coast and "can shoot the works" against Notre Dame, whereas the Hoosiers still have Northwestern and the Army to worry about.

Notre Dame on the other hand has taken its last two games "in stride" to beat the peak of Southern California. For the first time since his illness, Battling Rockne will be on the scene. This fact alone will be a big stimulant to the Hoosiers.

WOULD ISSUE BONDS.

Washington, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Authority to issue $3,690,000 of 4 1/2 per cent. equipment-trust certificates was asked of the Interstate Commerce Commission today by the Southern Railway.

BOOTLEG FOOTBALLS NOT IN EXISTENCE

New York, Nov. 13.—(AP)—The bootleg football, bane of the life of gridiron officials the latter part of last season, apparently has vanished from the earth as a result of vigorous activity against it, reports E. K. Hall, chairman of the National Football Rules Committee.

"Not a single instance of use of the bootleg football has come to my attention this year" said Hall.

"The illegal balls that made their appearance in considerable numbers last season were designed primarily to aid in passing," he said.

Local Sport Chatter

There will be a special meeting of the captains of all teams in the Herald Bowling League at Joe Parr's Charter Oak alleys next Monday night. It is important that all members be on hand.

The two man bowling match featuring Charlie Kebart and Vincent Werlowsky against Art Bertold and Augie Borowsky set for tonight has been put off a week at the request of the Rockville lad.

Knute Rockne seems to have some more horsemen out at Notre Dame this year. But up to date the opposition has been unable to figure out whether it's horses they ride, motorcycles or airplanes. Most of their riding, however, is done in the pullmans.

Down in Pennsylvania a man claims to have discovered the correct age of Jack Quinn (44) which means that in a few years the famous moundsman will be eligible to play football at West Point—unless the Army and Navy come to terms.

The Rec Girls will practice basketball tomorrow night from 7 until 8 and the Rec Five will work out from 8 to 9 on Friday night. Coach Ben Clune will be in charge.

Alice Leister holds the high single record in the junior bowling league run by the Cheney Girls A. A. with a score of 112.

The Cubs went through a strenuous workout last night behind closed doors at the School Street Rec, but the boys neglected to bear in mind that sound travels and even in garages in the air ventilating shafts.

They ought to investigate that Tennessee team which hasn't lost a game in something like three years. Looks as though they surely must be using a lively ball.

TRAIN DERAILED.

Danville, Ill., Nov. 13.—(AP)—Seven cars of the mail and express section of the Dixie Flyer, south bound train on the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad, left the rails and turned over near Gessio, Ind., 15 miles southeast of here at 12:55 a. m. today. The locomotive remained on the track. No passengers were aboard, and an express messenger was the only person hurt, suffering injuries.

SPORTORIALS

WHY NOT PAY THEM?

No true philosopher, of course, could possibly be disturbed by anything that might develop in connection with college football; so it is hardly surprising to find the eminent Will Durant greeting the recent Carnegie Foundation report with an amused, "Well, what of it?"

Dr. Durant, far from being shocked by the disclosures in that now famous report, remarks that he can see no reason on earth why a college should not pay a star football player.

To begin with, Dr. Durant asserts bluntly that intercollegiate football is quite as apt to teach its participants something as the average course of study in classrooms.

"It is too bad," he says, "that there is a general feeling that those who indulge in college sports are wasting their time, because, really, athletics require quite as much gray matter, and often more, than the most involved academic course."

"When a football player weaves his way through a field of opponents for a touchdown his mind has not been a blank."

ALL-AMERICA BACKS.

Back in 1889 Walter Camp sat down with a roster of the Yale, Harvard and Princeton football teams and picked his first All-America eleven. Quite a few of the boys now are beginning to wish he had never done it.

This year the selection of an All-America backfield is going to be about as silly a business as an expert could attempt—and the experts have pulled plenty of stunts this year that were funny enough, there's no denying that.

Over the country roams a whole battalion of brilliant backfield men, in profusion this year as never before. You can get off the train almost any Saturday at any old spot and a couple of All-America candidates will bob up to say howdy. Out of this vast array, an expert is supposed to pick four who are better than the others. Quick Watson, the needle!

Elimination.

Trying to choose by means of elimination is as difficult a process as any other. Thus, if you pick Lom, the California triple-threat back in preference to Pug Parkinson, the Pitt plunger, what reasons are you going to advance for Lom's being better than Pug? To be sure, Lom ran through a field for the touchdown that beat the Trojans, but down at Pitt whenever they need four yards for a first down they hand the leather to Parkey and he starts it off.

Al Marsters was injured, but it appears he can't be ruled off for that reason, even if you wish he could. Booth of Yale is there if any back ever was. Now you have two more places—in which to place Cagle, Lom, Nagurski, Fleischacker, McEver, Thompson, Masters (of Pennsylvania), Uansa, Parkinson, Brill, Carideo, Mullins, Elder, Banker, Welch, Sloan, Eisan, Murrell, Wittmer, Pharnier and 11 others. Just how are you going to do that?

William Evers Up.

Back in 1911, those mortal grid enemies, Ohio and Michigan, were battling 0 to 0. After 20 minutes of play, Sam William, Ohio back, was taken out of the game with his right leg twisted out of shape. Deprived of the noble chance every Ohio player cherishes—to help beat Michigan—William turned in rage and howled at the crowd in the Ann Arbor stadium.

"I'll be back some day!" "This year Mr. William is coach of the Ohio State team, and the other day he did go back. The score was Ohio 7, Michigan 0. Mr. William apparently wasn't fooling."

Football Briefs

New Haven.—Yale has hopes that Princeton's varsity is not as good on a defense against forward passes as the Yale scrubs were yesterday. The scrubs stopped two varsity drives down the field by intercepting forward passes. Later, however, the varsity scored, Miller going over on a two-yard plunge through the line.

Ithaca.—Cornell will take three teams to Dartmouth's lair at Hanover, N. H. Thirty-three players will make the trip.

Easton, Pa.—All Coach McCracken needs to be satisfied with his Lafayette team is a whole new backfield. Teller, Woodfin, Socolow and Sullivan are all on the injured.

The Karolyis finally have been admitted to this country. That was the reason, of course, for the recent market crash.

Hammers Toll War Finale At Scapa Flow

Rosyth, Scotland.—(AP)—While the world was preparing to celebrate another armistice day, this British naval base was writing the noisy final chapter of the World War on one sea.

The last of the scuttled German warships of Scapa Flow has been towed in, bottomside up, from its parking place on the floor of the ocean.

Ten years of barnacles have been scraped from the hull, and amid the clang of sledgehammers and the hissing of torches, this one great ship is being reduced to junk.

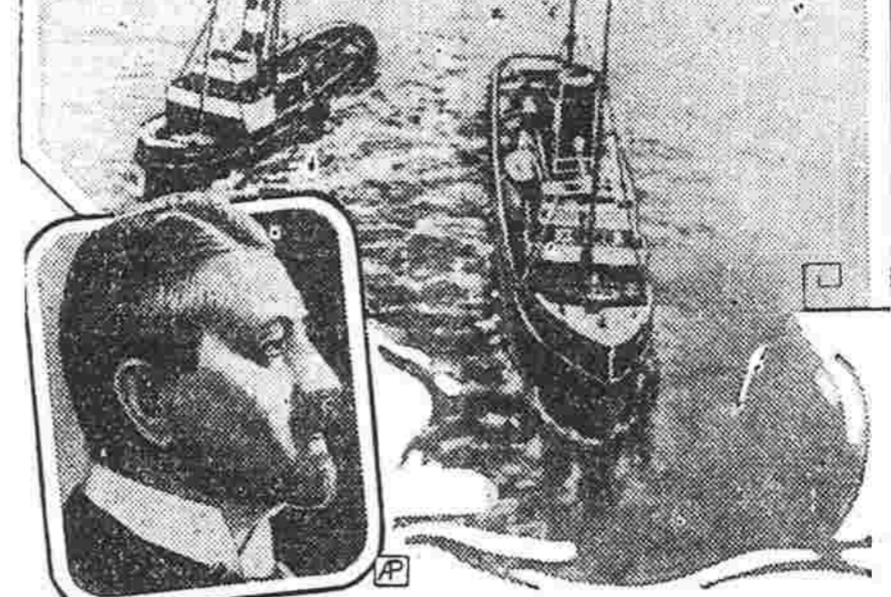

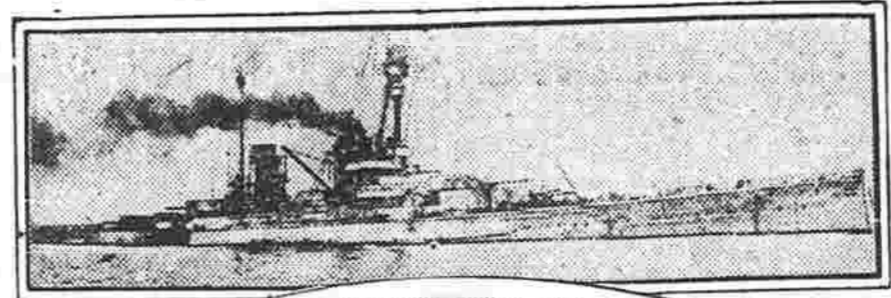

Oddly, perhaps significantly, this final reduction of a proud fleet to junk metal is being completed at a time when statesmen are concentrating as never before on the problem of reduction of navies, and at a time when evacuation of the Rhine-land is ringing down an asbestos upon the land.

When the sailors of the surrendered German fleet opened the sea-cocks of their ships at Scapa Flow June 21, 1919, they created a problem in salvage that taxed to the almost the ingenuity of modern engineers.

Only three light cruisers and some smaller vessels were successfully beached by British crews that day; the other scuttled warships went to the bottom. One by one, however, they were pumped full of air and floated down from the Orkneys to the dockyards here.

The first to be brought to the surface was the destroyer V-70, a big ship of the 80 class which had sunk in 20 fathoms in the center of the Flow. That left 28 destroyers, 10 battleships and five battle cruisers still to be salvaged—a long job.

After five years of laborious operations it is finished. Even the 25,000-ton Hindenburg, 700 feet long, the last word in German naval construction at the time it was surrendered, has been towed in and delivered to the junking crews.

A little more than 10 years ago, the surrendered German fleet under command of Rear Adm. H. Von Reuter, (inset) was scuttled by its sailors and went to the bottom at Scapa Flow. Above is the Hindenburg, the largest vessel sunk. Below is a view of the larger ships. The one at the top is the Seydlitz, upside down.

Thus the most sluggish bowels are started and bad breath, headaches, biliousness, feverishness, or no energy, poor appetite, etc., are relieved by Dr. Caldwell's prescription, it became necessary to put it up ready for use.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

MRS. EMMA HOGARTH, said to keep a board of money in her room on the second floor of Mrs. Rhodes' boarding house, is strangled to death. BONNIE DUNDEE, "cub" detective, assistant SHERMAN in the investigation. Suspicion at once falls on EMIL SEVIER, former boarder whom Mrs. Hogarth accused of trying to rob her.

Dundee, behind a screen, takes notes as Strawn quizzes the boarders. HENRY DOWN, newcomer out of work, insists he was in his room all evening and heard nothing but the squawking of CAP'N. Mrs. Hogarth's parrot, CORA BARKER, theater assistant, suspected of having been an affair with Sevier, tells of her date with another boarder, BERT MAGNUS, amateur scenario writer, of his failure to appear, and her return to the house to hear him typing in his room at 12:30. She frantically denies being Sevier's accomplice.

NORMA PAIGE, latest hiree under Mrs. Hogarth's frequently altered will, confesses calling on the old lady late that night. Norma admits of her engagement to WALTER STYLES, also a boarder.

Styles corroborates Norma's admission that she came to his room to tell him the result of the interrogation. He spoke to Magnus through the porch window. Magnus, under quizzing, says he typed all evening until 12:15. A sweet, worthless husband, DUSTY, is brought in and a green parrot's feather is found in the lining. Mrs. Rhodes recalls having seen it last in the hall chest. Sevier was searching for his rubber. The parrot startles the group by yelling "Bad Penny!"

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XVII

"Grim—blast you!" Lieutenant Strawn growled at his young assistant on the Hogarth case, but the sudden triumph in Bonnie Dundee's blue eyes was not so easily dampened.

"Mrs. Rhodes, did you ever hear Cap'n say those words before?" "Bad penny?" Bonnie asked eagerly.

"No. You could have knocked me down with one of Cap'n's little feathers," the landlady answered. "That bird does not pick up new words like he does—but he never would repeat anything but what he heard poor old Mrs. Hogarth say."

"You're sure those words have never been a part of his vocabulary before?" Dundee persisted, strangely excited.

"Of course I'm sure!" Mrs. Rhodes snapped. "I've set with Mrs. Hogarth every evening of the five years she's been here, and she'd have picked me up about Cap'n picking up those words if he'd ever said them before. Of course I wasn't the last one to see her alive this evening. Norma paid her visit after I left you know, and it may be that Mrs. Hogarth made some remark with 'Bad Penny' in it while she was talking to Norma."

"Well, I'll soon find out," Strawn said abruptly, starting for the door. "By the way, Mrs. Rhodes, when I first came this evening, you said you weren't sure as to whether Daisy Shepherd was in her room or not."

"Well, that Detective Payne and I found she was, when we went up to tell her that Mrs. Hogarth was dead. But she wasn't in it at five minutes after 12, or if she was, she was so sound asleep she didn't hear me knocking and calling to her."

"What's this?" Strawn demanded sharply. "Why haven't you mentioned this before?"

"Reckon you haven't given me much chance, Mrs. Rhodes reminded him grimly. "About two minutes after 12 after I'd gone to bed, the telephone rang. It was a long distance call for Daisy, and I went up to her room on the third floor by the back stairs, to call her. She didn't answer and I went down and told long distance she was out. I didn't see her come in, because I went back to bed."

When he had dismissed Mrs. Rhodes, Strawn called in Detective Payne, heard his report that so far no hidden sum of money had been found in any of the rooms, and instructed him to be on hand if Daisy Shepherd for questioning.

"Back in a minute, Dundee," Strawn called, as he himself was about to leave the room. "I'm going to ask the Paige girl if she knows anything about this 'Bad Penny' business—not that I think it's worth wasting a minute's time on."

Dundee grinned, then again seated himself behind the screen. Mrs. Hogarth's diary in his hands. Before beginning to read it from the first entry he rifled the leaves, to dislodge any memo, letter or card that might have been thrust into the book. In doing so he made a discovery which caused him to purse his lips in a low whistle of surprise. A page from the diary had been torn out—the entry for May 19. May 19? Dundee very carefully examined the fuzzy edge of the remainder of the torn-out sheet. There was no doubt that the leaf was a recent one. Had the sheet been removed that very night? And had the entry been such that it incriminated the one whom it concerned? Sevier and Cora Barker: After all, why look further for the old woman's murderer, when she herself had believed those two to be in a conspiracy to rob her? But Cora Barker had not returned to the house until 10 minutes after 12. Or so she said. And it was scarcely likely that she would have named the theater manager as a corroborator of her alibi if she had not been sure that he would uphold her story.

But Sevier and Cora Barker had talked together at the theater that evening. Had the final details of the plot been agreed upon then? But if so, how had Cora Barker helped Emil Sevier, without being on the scene of the crime while it was being committed?

"Bad penny," the parrot croaked sleepily. Dundee was startled for a moment, then he grinned. "Thanks for reminding me, Cap'n," he called softly.

"Have you gone so crazy over this case that you're talking to yourself?" Strawn asked, returning at that moment. "Well, boy, you're right—not that I think it amounts to a hill of beans. The Paige girl says she is positive the words 'Bad Penny' didn't come up in her conversation with the old lady, and that the parrot had never spoken them before, or Mrs. Hogarth would have told her. But you've gone nuts from the heat if you think that bird—Come in!"

Daisy Shepherd, escorted by Detective Payne, who immediately withdrew, stifled a very good looking yawn as she took the chair beside Mrs. Hogarth's desk. Her big, healthy body was clad in nightgown and kimono.

"Excuse me," she smiled at the chief of detectives. "I went to sleep waiting for you to call for me."

"Sorry to disturb you," Strawn apologized brusquely. "Where were you at 12 o'clock this evening, Miss Shepherd? To save time, I may as well tell you that there was a long distance call for you at two minutes after 12, and that Mrs. Rhodes was not able to find you to answer it."

"A long distance call?" Daisy Shepherd started wide awake. "Where was it from? Did Mrs. Rhodes say?"

"No. Were you expecting such a call?"

"I was not! I haven't the least idea who could be calling me long distance."

"Where were you at 12 o'clock and a few minutes afterward?" Strawn pressed.

"Well, the big young woman knows anything about this 'Bad Penny' business?" "I guess this'll teach me a lesson. If you've got to know, Lieutenant Strawn, I was down in the kitchen raiding the ice box. My appetite is something fierce, and I'd been lying in bed since half past 10 reading a book that was simply full of descriptions of swell dinners in Paris. I've been boarding here long enough to make myself pretty much at home, and I knew Mrs. Rhodes wouldn't begrudge me a midnight supper, so I sneaked down the back stairs to the kitchen."

"Pardon me, Miss Shepherd," Strawn interrupted. He strode to the door, closed it behind him, and returned looking well pleased with himself.

"All right, Miss Shepherd. Please go on there. I brought the sandwich and the raspberries out of the ice box, and I'd been lying in bed since half past 10 reading a book that was simply full of descriptions of swell dinners in Paris. I've been boarding here long enough to make myself pretty much at home, and I knew Mrs. Rhodes wouldn't begrudge me a midnight supper, so I sneaked down the back stairs to the kitchen."

The WOMAN'S DAY

I wonder where women get this reputation for being bad losers and poor gamblers. Checking up, rather hastily, over the events that have led up to the present, it strikes me that we have always taken chances—and taken it in the neck—without quibbling. What started this line of thought, or perhaps it would be more exact to say this line of conjecture, was the fact that so many men are giving the women a great big hand for taking their recent losses in the stock market so well. Not to become hysterical or suicidal was apparently highly unexpected. This patronizing attitude makes me wonder what basis there is for such an attitude. It seems to me women have been represented in most of the ventures that have made our history.

When the Mayflower landed on Plymouth Rock, there were women as well as men stepping off the gangplank—and there was a gamble for you, if there ever was one. And they settled down in that cold New England territory and stuck during those first comfortless years without soliciting laurels.

In Realm of Adventure When the covered wagons rolled across the plains, there were women in funny little bonnets, sharing the hazards of the expedition. When the Forty-Niners were digging gold out of the California rocks, there were women along keeping their cabins tidy, and washing their shirts, just as there were women in the bleaker Klondike region, half a century later—all taking their chances.

One of the big adventures of this age, flying across the ocean, is a gamble which women as well as men have taken. Among the list of those who have lost, as well as those who have won, are women. They venture into forbidden cities. The stock market is not the only place where they gamble. And when it comes to gambling, and buying wildcat stock, consider the chances they take in love, which you have been told no less than a million times is the greatest of all lotteries.

Where is the woman who will not draw to an inside straight when her emotions are involved. Women go on long trips, and she has on one turn of the wheel? She will throw down a good job, a good home, good parents, and sometimes a good husband—all for love—regardless of the fact that the percentages are against her.

The Gambling Sex A woman is a born gambler. That's why she is intuitive. That's why she believes in luck and in take or leave. If she hadn't learned to take her losses and go on, there wouldn't be any human race to write about.

Speaking of good gamblers, was there ever a better one than our Mother Eve? She wasn't afraid to take a chance on Eden Apple stock, and she sold Adam on the idea too.

And when she lost her happy home, didn't she pay up and get out just as creditably as Adam did? If there is any doubt in your mind, consult Genesis for the details of the panic that ensued.

It's all very well and fine to give us a hand when we deserve it, but why act as if it were necessary to applaud us for being good losers when we've been doing it for centuries?

Since the beginning of time, we've been taking chances, and paying or pocketing our winnings. And we're still gambling. We always will.

RAID NIGHT CLUB Chicago, Nov. 13.—(AP)—A "great big hand," but not the one Texas Guinan is always talking about, hung over her Club Royale and other Chicago night clubs today. It was the hand of prohibition law enforcement.

The Club Royale was raided Sunday, as were Kelly's Stables and the Beau Monde Club. Laverne Norris, Federal attorney, announced that steps would be taken immediately to have all three closed under the prohibition law.

E. C. Yellowley, prohibition administrator, said this would be only the first step toward keeping big and little Chicago cabarets bonc dry.

LIGHTED MATCH TURNS ELECTRIC LIGHT ON New York.—(AP)—Presaging perhaps the time when the burglar's flashlight will turn on the house illumination to spoil his job, there is an electric light in New York that lights with a match.

Any kind of lighted match held about an inch beneath this fixture turns on the electricity. A pocket flash will turn it on with equal dispatch.

The light is installed in one of the rooms of the Westinghouse Lighting Institute in Grand Central palace.

It burns only as long as the match or other light is held beneath, for it is operated by a photoelectric cell, sensitized to light, and set to turnoff again as soon as the light below is removed.

HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETICS OFTEN SET TO SEVERE A PACE EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third of four articles by Dr. Morris Fishbein on the Hygiene of athletics.

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

In the Carnegie Foundation report on American college athletics, the charge is made that athletic directors and teachers have been chosen rather because of their ability to make the athletics, especially football, yield profits than for their interest in the health and bodily welfare of the students.

It is said that the physical health of about one-third of the student bodies is little if at all affected by the athletic programs. It is pointed out that when a man once demonstrates athletic ability, he is encouraged to take part in all of the sports and that only in two institutions of those studied was there any limitation to participation of athletes in a maximum of more than two major sports per year.

The evils that affect the college athletes are in many instances much greater when they concern the high school. It is stated that the high school athletic associations of Texas, South Carolina, California and Illinois practically ignore the necessity of safeguarding student health in athletic programs.

In very few places is there any requirement that a physician shall be in attendance in final or semifinal contests in which serious injuries to health may be sustained. Physical examination prerequisite to participation in high school athletics is not given or is hurried and inadequate.

Thus it was found that in a number of schools the entire football squad was examined in one hour previous to an important contest. As a result of this drive in high school athletics, many of the boys came to college burned out and unable to begin to duplicate the feats they performed in high school. Certain forms of athletics are especially unsuited to the high school boy and the joint committee of the National Education Association and the American Medical Association has expressed the conviction that endurance runs and rowing races are contra-indicated at high school age.

The private schools of the country have been found in general superior to the public high schools in their handling of athletics.

YOUR CHILDREN

by Olive Roberts Barton ©1928 by NEA Service, Inc.

A child specialist addressing a group of parents said: "The big word to carry through with you in this puzzling problem of bringing up children is 'Don't.'"

Of course his audience looked up in surprise, for to all intents and purposes that had been the very word they were told to use.

But he added quickly: "Oh, no, not for the children—but for yourselves. As a matter of fact, child training is not child training at all, but parent training or parent restraint."

And then he enumerated about 20 "don't's" for parents. "Don't scold, don't discourage, don't suggest fear, don't give him the idea that he's no good, don't set wrong examples," and on down through a familiar list that probably fitted a good many of the parents present.

And then he wound up with, "Don't insult your children." "Can Children Be Insulted?" A good many stiffened at this. Wasn't he going a bit far? Who insulted their children? What was he talking about?

But when he had finished they understood. "You're a dirty little pig. Look at your hands!" "Don't be so mean! I wouldn't be as mean as you are for anything!" "You're lazy!" "You're stupid!" "You're a liar!" "I saw you sneek that apple!" We wouldn't talk to grownups that way, or if we did we'd do it as the "Virginian" impressed his enemy with, "When you say that, smile."

But better still, as the specialist suggested. "Don't say it at all."

If we see where our children need correction, it's better to go about doing it without prefacing it with an insult.

What happens if we tell Johnny that he is dumb or lazy or dirty or greedy or a coward? He'll stoutly deny it. "I'm not dumb," or "Don't you say that I'm dumb," or "I'm not a mean boy."

Exchange of Insults One day in school a teacher told a boy he was too stupid to learn. "I'm not any more stupid than you are!" he retorted, "or you could teach me."

"Go to the office," she said sternly. "I don't permit boys in my room to insult me. You are impudent."

"You insulted me first," he remarked, "and I have feelings the same as you."

Oh, no, we parents can't be Chesterfields to our children and set up a set of superficial manners in place of honest-to-goodness training. When a child needs telling he needs telling, that's all, but judgment and tact are far better than an epithet that is both unfair and not always true. Go after him, but go after him right. And if he defends himself by saying, "I'm no so-and-so," he isn't being impudent. He has a right to defense.

BETWEEN WAVELNGTHS

BY C. E. BUTTERFIELD. Radio Editor. (Associated Press Feature Service.)

A radio controversy has involved New York's two crooning orchestra leaders, Rudy Vallee and Will Osborn. The argument, started before the microphones of WEAF, an NBC key station, and WABC, key of CBS, deals with who holds the priority to a particular type of popular music presentation.

My Favorite Bible Passage

Today's Choice by HAROLD BELL WRIGHT. Novelist. H. B. Wright. Inasmuch as ye did it unto one of these My brethren, even these least, ye did it unto Me.—Matthew 25:40.

And behold, a certain lawyer stood up and made trial of Him, saying, Teacher, what shall I do to inherit eternal life? And He said unto him, What is written in the law? How readest thou? And he answering said, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind; and thy neighbor as thyself. And He said unto him, Thou hast answered right: this do, and thou shalt live.—Luke 10:25-28.

Comment. "To me, this sentence expresses what—with no irreverence—I like to think of as the earthly philosophy of Jesus. As a single grain of wheat holds a germ of life which is capable of producing all the bread the world will ever need, this saying holds the vital germ of all that Jesus taught concerning man's right living on earth." (Compiled by the Bible Guild)

ALL WOMAN JURY

Washington, Nov. 13.—(AP)—A jury of twelve women has been chosen to sit in a case now in progress in the District of Columbia Supreme Court. It is the first all-woman jury to be selected for duty in a Washington court.

Court house attaches said the selection of the twelve women came quite by chance, and pointed out that in the case just before it, the jury consisted entirely of men. The women were called on to consider the evidence against a negro charged with assault with a dangerous weapon. Justice William Hitz, who presided in the recent Fall trial, is on the bench in the present case.

Osborn fixes his first broadcast from WMCA, New York, some time in December, 1929, or January, 1927.

MEXICANS TO OBSERVE AMERICAN EVACUATION

Vera Cruz, Mex., Nov. 13.—(AP)—The Legislature of this state has decreed a holiday and state-wide fiestas for November 23, the fifteenth anniversary of evacuation of Vera Cruz by the American invaders of 1914.

Vera Cruz was occupied by American naval forces in 1914 after a long train of controversy between the United States and the government of Victoriano Huerta, then president of Mexico. The occupation was specifically to seize a quantity of arms and ammunition to prevent its falling into the hands of the Huerta men and was the climax of a long series of incidents including the arrest of American sailors and a demand for a salute to the American flag which was refused by the Mexicans.

SENSE and NONSENSE

Back Seat Driving.
Before we take an auto ride, says Pa to Ma, "My dear, now just remember I don't need suggestions from the rear. If you will just sit still back there, and hold in check your fright, I'll take you where you want to go and bring you back all right. Remember that my hearing is good and also I'm not blind, and I can drive this car without suggestions from behind."

Ma promises that she will keep still, then off we gaily start. But soon she notices ahead a peddler and his cart. "You better foot your horn," says she, "to let him know we're near." He might turn out!" and Pa replies: "Just shriek at him, my dear."

And then he adds: "Some day, some day, I'll make a lot of dough putting horns on tonneau seats for women folks to blow."

A little farther on Ma cries: "He signalled for a turn!" And Pa says: "Did he" in a tone that's not enough to burn. "Oh, there's a boy on roller skates!" cries Ma. "Now do go slow. I'm sure he doesn't see our car." And Pa says: "I dunno. I think I don't need glasses yet, or really it may be."

That I am blind and cannot see what's right in front of me!"

If Pa should speed the car a bit some rig to hurry past Ma whispers: "Do be careful now. You're driving much too fast."

And all the time she's pointing out the danger of the street and keeps him posted on the road where trolley cars he'll meet. Last night when we got safely home, Pa signed and said: "My dear."

I'm sure we've all enjoyed the drive you gave us from the rear!"

Humorous, but true—To every person comes his day, an caution wait your chance. Pedestrians have the right-of-way when in an ambulance.

A Manchester motorist stopped at a highway intersection and waved a farmer, driving a team of horses hitched to a heavily laden wagon, across. His companion laughed. The explanation he got was: "You see, this car starts easily. It makes no difference to the engine how many times it has to set the car in motion. But it makes a whale of a lot of difference to those horses how many times they have to start the wagon."

There's a parking space farther out, of course; but rats! nobody can see your new car out there.

Mr. Jones: "I hear your son is a marvelous success in business." Mr. Smith: "Yes, indeed! He manufactures 'No Parking' signs for growing cities."

Even in these prosperous times there are many people so poor they own two automobiles.

Hi: "That hired man of yours is cure an accessory hound, Si." Si: "Yep, now he's rigged up a spotlight for his wheelbarrow."

Mr. Bragger: "Yes, I was driving along in Sicily when robbers came and took everything—money, watch and even my car." Mr. Native: "But, I thought that you had a revolver on you?" Mr. Bragger: "Yes, I had, but they did not find that."

It's all right to hitch your wagon to a star but who wants to ride in a wagon nowadays?

Native: "Be ye tourists?" Weary Tourist: "No—detourists."

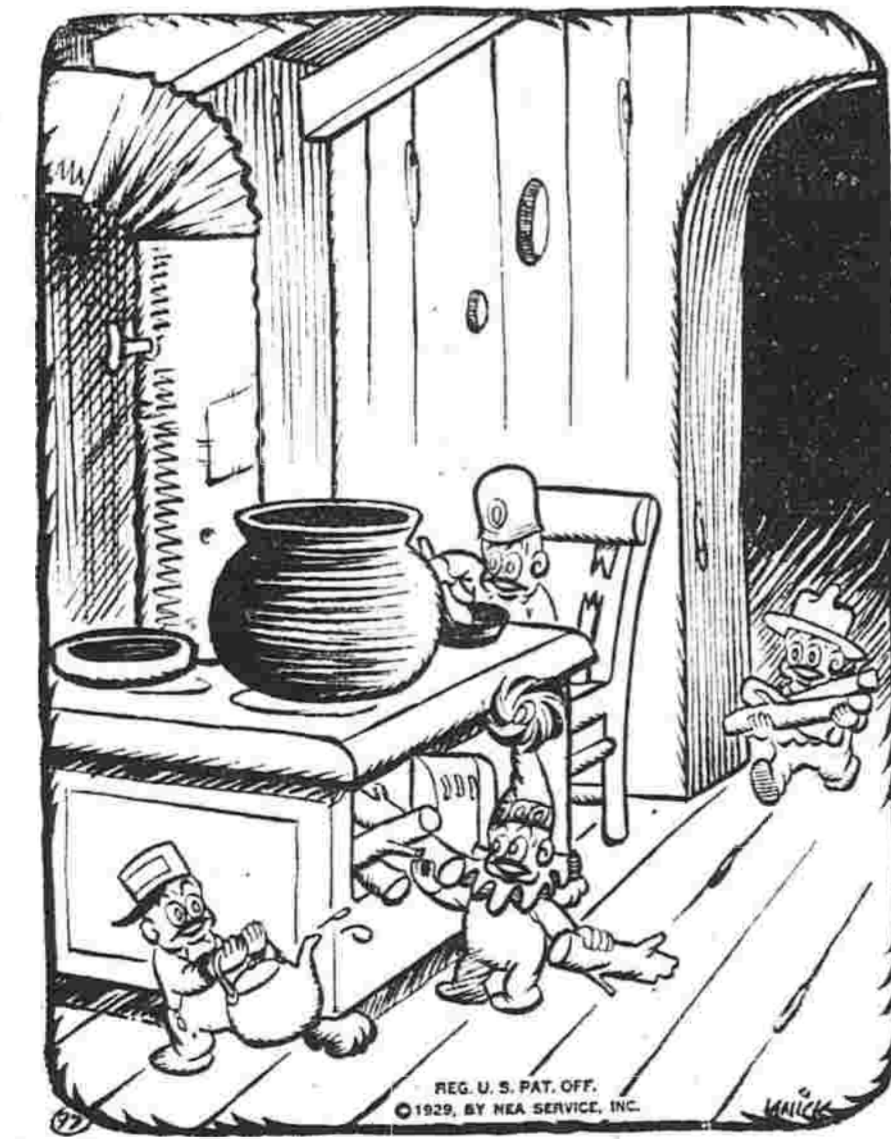

Bill: "Not a bad looking car you have there, Jim. How's the pick-up?" Jim: "Don't know." Bill: "How come?" Jim: "My wife's always along."

Carl: "You have a different suit from the one you were wearing an hour ago. Why did you change attire?" Bob: "Yes." Carl: "Yes, what?" Bob: "Yes, I had to change a tire."

THE TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The big man held the Tinties tight, but didn't squeeze with all his might. He knew that that would hurt them and he wasn't really mean. A real good scare would do them good and so he scared as best he could by shouting very loudly and creating quite a scene.

His voice then broke out, very strong, as he exclaimed, "If I'm not wrong, you little fellows ate the food that I had for my lunch. I saw you when you jumped right out of my pail. There's not a doubt that you had planned your little trick. It was a naughty lunch."

"Now, what am I to do with you? You must admit that it is true that you deserve some punishment. I guess I'll spank you now. And then again you're pretty small. That wouldn't seem quite fair at all. I'm much too big to do it and I hardly think I should."

Then Scouty spoke up with a plea. "Oh, Mister Big Man, can't you see that we are very sorry and we'll never do it again? You see, we're only little boys who like to play and make much noise. All little fellows seem to get in trouble now and then."

"Ah, ha, I have it," said the man. "I've thought of quite a clever plan. I'll take you all right to my but and put you all to work. You took my lunch, so very quick you'll cook another meal real slick. I will not harm a one of you unless you start to shriek."

So, to the little but they went and about a half an hour was spent in getting good things ready for the great big man to eat. Around the stove one Tiny hopped. They all worked till they almost dropped. The big man watched them. Then he said, "This ought to be a treat."

CONE CRASH OCCURRED ON 25TH WEDDING DAY

Was Bound for Home for Celebration When Car Crashed in Silver Lane Saturday.

It has been learned that on Saturday, the night that Ralph A. Cone, of East Center street, was badly injured in an auto accident on Silver Lane, he was on his way home a little earlier than usual as it was the twenty-fifth anniversary of his marriage. His wife, who was Miss Martha Gilmore before her marriage, had prepared for the observance of the twenty-fifth year of their marriage, which was to be combined to a few members of the family and friends. Everything was in readiness when word of the accident reached her.
