

MASON 40 YEARS WALSH HONORED BY LOCAL LODGE

Past Master and Coach of Many Candidates Given
Surprise at Osano's; Presented With Gold Watch.

Fifty-six members of Manchester Lodge of Masons went to Bolton Saturday evening where they gave William Walsh of Linden street a surprise party on the occasion of his 40th anniversary as a Mason. The affair took place at Osano's cottage where the well known caterer put on one of his roast beef suppers. Most of those who were in attendance assembled at the Masonic Temple at the Center and shortly after six o'clock started for Bolton. On November 28, 1889, Mr. Walsh was raised in Masonry.

and it was because of this fact that the large delegation met for the purpose of helping Mr. Walsh observe his fortieth year as a member of Manchester Lodge. The party included most of the Past Masters of the Lodge, as well as the Fellowcraft Degree team and friends of Mr. Walsh. It was a complete surprise, as Mr. Walsh was induced to go to Bolton with the idea of attending a small party of the members of the Fellowcraft degree team.

Hyde Toastmaster
Following the serving of the dinner Judge William S. Hyde acting as toastmaster announced that owing to the extreme cold weather the after dinner speechmaking would be curtailed and said that he intended to call on just about half a dozen men who had been directly associated with the guest of honor in the past. The first man called on was Roy Norris, who is captain of the Fellowcraft degree team. Then followed Harold Preston the present head of the lodge, R. LaMotte Russell one of the Trustees, William Ferguson who was the oldest Mason present, Willard B. Rogers, who in behalf of the gathering presented to Mr. Walsh a set of resolutions which

COLD WAVE HITS WESTERN STATES

Many Snow Storms and Sub-
Zero Weather Reported;
Traffic Blocked.

Denver, Colo., Dec. 2.—(AP)—The entire western half of the nation, with the exception of a few isolated spots, shivered and huddled down into its coat collars as it went about its business this morning while the thermometer skidded dizzily downward to new season lows for many points.

Blanketed by another of the abnormally numerous snowfalls which have visited the eastern slope of the Rocky mountains in the last six weeks, virtually every state between the Continental Divide and the Mississippi was suffering from the cold, which hampered all activities.

McDONALD SETS NAVAL PARLEY DATE, JAN. 21

Prime Minister Also Names
British Delegates; Opening Session to Be Held in Westminster Palace.

London, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Prime Minister MacDonald announced in the House of Commons today that the British government delegates to the naval conference in January would be himself, Foreign Secretary Henderson, A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, and Wedgwood Benn, Secretary of State for India.

The prime minister said that the date for the opening of the naval conference had been definitely fixed for January 21, despite the possible conflict with the January session of the League of Nations council.

Invites Others.
The prime minister added that the governments in Canada, Australia, New Zealand, the Union of South Africa, the Irish Free State, and the government of India had been invited to nominate delegates. "I am not in a position to make any statement as to names," he said. "I also am not yet in a position to give the names of the naval advisers, but these will include the chief and deputy chief of the naval staff."

Mr. MacDonald added that the King had given his "gracious permission for use of the royal gallery of the Palace at Westminster for the opening plenary session and St. James' palace for subsequent meetings of the conference.

DEER SEASON OPENS IN THE BAY STATE

Over 2,000 Hunters in the Berkshires; Plenty Game
In the Woods.

Boston, Dec. 2 (AP)—Deer became the prey of the nimrods of Massachusetts at sunrise today. With the exception of the one week open season in Plymouth county, the animals may be shot until sunset of December 14 elsewhere.

Hunters over the state last year killed 2,024 deer, 55 more than in 1927, with the best shooting in Berkshire county. Five hundred and sixty were taken there in 1928. Game wardens reported several inches of snow on the ground in the Berkshires hills last night and expected 2,000 hunters in the woods in that section today.

Restrictions placed by the state division of fisheries and game permit one deer to a hunter and require a written report to the State House within 24 hours of the killing. The right to buy or sell any part of a deer, and prohibit the use of hunting dogs, artificial lights or any shooting weapon besides a shot gun.

Damage by deer to orchards and crops required the payment of nearly $12,000 in claims last year, mostly in the five western counties. Approval of all claims henceforth must be given by Director William C. Adams of the fisheries and game division. Revenue from sporting and trapping licenses has been the source of payment.

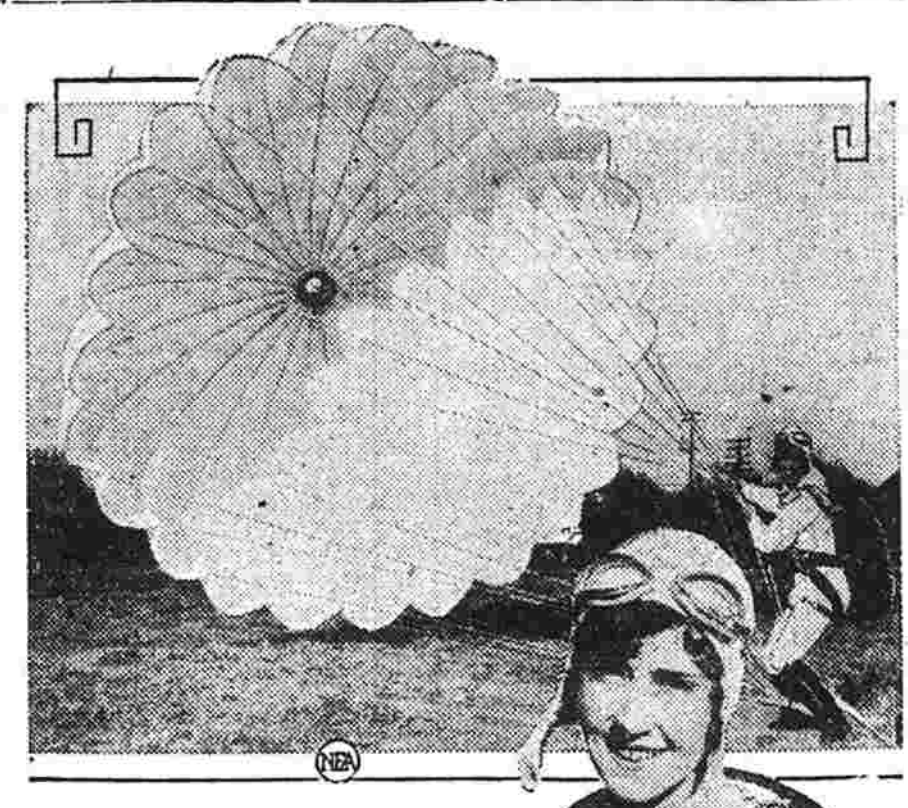

Many Deer In Woods
Eventual examination of deer in the state was called improbable by Game Warden Fred R. Zeigler of Pittsfield yesterday. "During the next fortnight," he said, "hundreds of deer will take refuge in the game sanctuaries. The jungle is so dense that few hunters can explore its depths."

He predicted good hunting in the Berkshires. "Berkshire has more than the average crop of deer, ready for the harvest," he said.

TO OPPOSE MORROW

Atlantic City, N. J., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Undismayed by the prospect of finding himself opposed by Ambassador Dwight Morrow and a powerful organization, Joseph S. Frelinghuysen expressed his determination to continue in the race for U. S. Senator from New Jersey.

She'll Leap 15,000 Feet to Fame

A leap into space at an altitude of 15,000 feet! That's the daring feat to be attempted soon by Miss Billie Brown of El Monte, Calif., to set a new world's record for women parachute jumpers. Miss Brown has already surpassed the present record of 8235 feet in unofficial tests, and will carry a sealed barograph on her next attempt over Callies airport at El Monte. Aware of the danger if her parachute fails to open, Miss Brown makes it a point always to test her own chute, which she is doing in the upper picture. REDS ARREST PRINCESS FOR READING THE BIBLE

Member of British Royalty
Thrown Into Prison in Moscow for Teaching
Workmen's Children.

London, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Reading the bible to children of Soviet workers was said by the Daily Mail today to have caused arrest and imprisonment in Moscow, of Princess Sophie Lieven, sister-in-law of Sir Kynaston Studd, who was lord mayor of London last year.

A Riga, Latvia, dispatch to the mail said the Soviet political police took her and lodged her in the Ljubanka jail on general charges of Christian missionary activities. Her family here had no word of the arrest but said they had not had regular direct correspondence recently with the Princess Sophie. Sir Kynaston married as his second wife in 1924 the Princess Alexandra Lieven, the princesses are the daughters of the late Prince Paul Lieven, grand master of ceremonies at the Russian Imperial Court.

Sister Anxious.
Lady Studd was anxiously awaiting word today about what had happened to the Princess Sophie. "I have absolutely no news," Lady Studd declared. "I have not seen my sister since I left Russia in 1917, at the time of the revolution. She has devoted herself to helping the poor people around her."

"I know she has loyally abided by the Bolshevik regime since its initiation." The Princess Sophie did not leave Russia at the time her sister did, though it is reported that she had made several unsuccessful attempts to do so since 1920.

WATER DIVERSION IS IN HIGH COURT

Special Master to Be Appointed to Take Testimony in Our State's Case.

Washington, Dec. 2.—(AP)—The Supreme Court today announced a special master would be appointed to take testimony and make a report in the suit brought by Connecticut to prevent Massachusetts from diverting water from the headwaters of the Connecticut river for use in the Boston metropolitan district.

Contending the present natural flow of the Connecticut river was necessary for sanitary, agricultural and navigation purposes, Connecticut complained that Massachusetts was contracting to divert the Swift, Warren and Miller rivers, now flowing into the Connecticut, and later proposed to also divert the Deerfield, Westfield and Quabog rivers.

Connecticut's Claim
Connecticut claimed such diversion would reduce the flow of the Connecticut river until there would remain little if any water in the

BRITAIN JOINS U. S. FOR PEACE IN MANCHURIA

To Call Attention of Russia and China to Their Obligations Under Kellogg Pact; Dr. Wang to Resign

London, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Foreign Secretary Henderson announced in the House of Commons today that at the instance of the United States, the government of Great Britain has agreed to joint Anglo-American representations to Russia and China calling their attention to their obligations under the Kellogg pact in view of the disturbed situation in Manchuria.

Not At War
"As to the question of a state of war, I can only state that as far as I know, neither the Chinese nor the Soviet governments have informed any other government that they consider themselves at war," Mr. Henderson said.

The Chinese government has taken no definite step to bring the dispute before the League of Nations, I put on November 28 the Chinese minister informed me that his government contemplated such an appeal and asked for my view.

"I pointed out that there was a difficulty because the Soviet union was not a member of the League, and I informed him of the action of the United States government."

Mr. Henderson's statement was elicited by a series of Parliamentary questions.

He said arrangements had been made with the American government for the simultaneous issuing of a statement to the press by the British and American governments tomorrow morning.

DR. WANG TO RESIGN

London, Dec. 2.—(AP)—A Reuter's dispatch from Shanghai says Dr. C. T. Wang, Nationalist foreign minister, has intimated privately that he would resign at the end of this month.

Dr. Wang was quoted as stating he was disheartened by the public criticism regarding negotiations for settlement of the Chinese Eastern Railway dispute.

It was reported in Shanghai as well as certain that Dr. Wang would make such intimation in view of the difficulty in which the Nanking government has been placed in consequence of the separate negotiations between Moscow and Mukden.

In addition the extraterritoriality problem which threatens to become acute by the end of the month, is likely to prove highly embarrassing for any foreign minister.

The dispatch added that pressure undoubtedly was being exercised in the various quarters to induce Dr. Wang to reconsider his decision.

NOTE DELIVERED

Berlin, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Jacob Gould Schurman, American ambassador to Germany, today presented to Foreign Minister Curtius a copy of the note sent by the American government to Soviet Russia by way of France, and to China, calling attention to their obligations under the Kellogg renunciation of war pact.

With the text, Ambassador Schurman presented a verbal note giving the reasons why the American government took the step it did, and expressing hope that the German government will join the United States in a similar action.

DEMURRER FILED IN TUNNEY'S SUIT

This Sets at Rest Rumor
That Action Against Ex-
Champ Has Been Dropped

Bridgeport, Conn., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Judge Frank L. Wilder of this city today set at rest rumors of withdrawal of a $500,000 breach of promise suit brought by Katherine King Fogarty of New York city and Forth Worth, Texas, against James J. (Gene) Tunney, retired heavyweight boxing champion when he filed a demurrer in the Superior Court in behalf of his client.

Judge Wilder demurs to a cross complaint of malicious prosecution entered in behalf of counsel for Tunney. The cross complaint against Mrs. Fogarty's suit is based upon allegations that she at one time signed releases for any claims she might have against Tunney and that in bringing the present action she is violating the terms of these releases.

In the demurrer filed today it is stated that counsel for Tunney have adequate remedy at law for any injuries he might have incurred as alleged in the cross complaint. The further stated the great part of the cross complaint is unnecessary, there being sufficient defense in

NEW CONGRESS BEGINS WORK AT THE CAPITOL

Cut In Income Tax First Bill In House

Washington, Dec. 2.—(AP)—The thump of his mallet had rung administrations proposal for a $160,000,000 tax reduction, to be effected by a one per cent cut in the rates on individual and corporation incomes, today was presented to the new session of Congress before it was a minute old.

Chairman Hawley of the House ways and means committee actually presented a resolution to provide for the reduction before Speaker Longworth has called the house to order. It, however, could not be classed as an official measure until the thump of his mallet had rung a throughout the chamber.

Under customary procedure the resolution was referred back to the ways and means committee for consideration. This committee first must pass on all revenue legislation as the constitution provides that the House alone can initiate such proposals.

Hawley has announced he hopes to have it approved by the committee called up in the House for action before the week-end. Democrats have indicated they will cooperate.

ITALIAN YOUTH SLAIN BECAUSE HE 'SQUEALED'

Police Say Dominick Zito, of Bridgeport Turned State's Evidence Against His Own
Counterfeiters Gang.

New Haven, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Youth playing for high stakes paid the supreme price for its folly, in the killing of Dominick Zito, 19, found dead in a field in Chestnut Ridge, Orange, Saturday night according to rapidly developing theories in police circles here today.

Zito died a "squealer" the betrayer of his own band of counterfeiters and bootleggers and the freedom he won for turning states evidence was short lived.

City police, attaches of the coroner's office and state authorities this afternoon declared that the theory of killing over a girl already is in the discard and that bigger game by far than that of counterfeiting and liquor running will be found at the bottom of the slaying.

Search for Prey
The police conceded that for the moment they were at a standstill in the solution of the mystery but that they would give much to get hold of Prete, the only member of the trio to escape arrest in the recent Hartford arrest for passing counterfeit money. They declared the arrest of Prete might furnish a quick solution of the killing.

Zito, sleek, a flashy dresser of the pronounced "shlek" type, always appeared to have plenty of money and yet never worked, the investigators found. His whereabouts often puzzled even his family to whom he never explained his manner of living.

Was In National Guard
He spent much time recently in the Naugatuck Valley. He missed drills at Meadow street armory where he was a member of the 102d Regiment. Late last summer he was captured in a Capen street, Hartford, barber shop by Detective Sergeant Gavin and Charles Daley, after having passed a bogus $5 bill, with two companions, in the store of Dominick De Esopo, 13 Florence street. Zito was grilled by the police. He afterward told friends here:

"I went in with the goods on me; I came out clean."

Just what he meant was not admitted entirely by Assistant Attorney General George E. Cohen, but when the "other" man went to serve a term, Zito emerged on a probationary sentence.

Body Discovered
It was then that friends of Zito, police said, circulated the story that Zito had bartered the names of his then unknown companions for freedom and that according to the investigators, is why Zito was slain, more than two weeks ago, in a lonely spot near New Haven, where only Saturday night, a chance passerby, Mrs. Stella Fajowski, discovered his bullet-ridden body.

John Arrick, a pal of Zito's, has been under arrest several times, the last one Nov. 11, when with Frank Maltese, 28, of Minor street and Joseph Roginsky, 30, he was held for breach of the peace and recognized in court by Detective Charles Gill. Deputy Marshal Joseph Park immediately served a Federal bench warrant committing him to jail where he has been ever since. Today he refused to answer any questions put to him.

"I don't know a thing. I won't talk," were his only replies.

Several other men have been questioned, including Louis Peppe, of Ansonia but no arrests had been made up to midday.

330 ON STRIKE

Bradford, R. I., Dec. 2.—(AP)—After a mass meeting at which they appointed a strike and picket committee, 330 employes of the Bradford Dyeing Association went on strike here today.

It was reported that Donald Ashbrook, manager of the plant refused to recognize the workers union.

Faces Task of Passing on President's First Full Leg- islative Program to Be Placed Before It Tomor- row in Annual Message;

Many Big Issues Up for Discussion.

Washington, Dec. 2.—(AP)—A new session of Congress began at noon today facing the task of passing on President Hoover's first full legislative program which will be placed before it tomorrow in a 12,000 word message dealing with almost every national and international activity of the Federal government.

Although it was a new session, it was not a new Congress for its members had been engaged in work of the special session through the hot months of a Washington summer. But in going to the capitol today the members had to travel over sleet covered slippery pavement to reach their seats.

Although the work today consisted largely of formalities and a preparation for the days ahead Chairman Hawley of the House ways and means committee found opportunity to place in the little basket on the desk of Speaker Longworth a resolution to carry out the Treasury plan for a one per cent reduction in the tax rate on individual and corporation incomes—estimated to effect a total tax cut of $160,000,000.

Big Issues.
Another of the big issues to be faced, that of the tariff, was already before the new session, a legacy from the special session which argued over it for months.

Both Houses convened at noon, Vice President Curtis called order in the Senate and Speaker Longworth wielding the gavel in the House. Despite the weather the usual opening day session was in the galleries of both chambers. In the Senate gallery, Mrs. Dolly Curtis Gann, sister and official hostess of the vice president, and several friends were among the visitors as was Mrs. Jean Large, sister of Mrs. Hoover. She also was accompanied by friends.

Nearly a full membership of both houses also were in their seats before the opening prayers by the chaplains.

The Senate session lasted only nine minutes.

Before and after the meeting the members, still none too rested from the months of tariff debate, conversed in groups on the floor. There were many handshakings as some members who have been away recently again returned to their seats.

A motion picture showing Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader, who returned to the chamber after an absence of three weeks in quest of rest. He was the center of a circle of well wishers.

Sixty-Four Present
The Rev. E. B. Phillips, chaplain of the Senate, offered prayer and then Vice President Curtis ordered the secretary to call the roll.

The Senate roll call showed sixty-four members present.

Watson offered a resolution to notify the House that the Senate was in session and to authorize appointment of a committee to advise President Hoover that Congress was in session.

Vice-President Curtis appointed Watson and Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, as Senate members of the committee to wait upon the Chief Executive.

Senator Fess of Ohio, Republican whip, offered a resolution to set the daily meeting hour at noon.

Robinson, of Arkansas, then proposed a resolution expressing the Senate's sorrow at the recent death of Senator Warren, of Wyoming. He moved an adjournment as a mark of respect to Warren and the west meeting of the regular session, was ended by the Senate.

In the House
In the House chamber, as at the other end of the Capitol, immediately preceding the meeting the House members went about shaking hands. This was resumed after Rev. J. Shera Montgomery, the chaplain, had offered prayer.

A score of motion picture and news service photographs snapped pictures as the members were bathed in flood lights.

Speaker Longworth had to call the House to order repeatedly, during the roll call in order for the clerk's voice to be heard above the din.

Long after the Senate had adjourned, the House clerk still was calling the long roll of 435 names.

Veteran Present
Among those who braved the inclement weather for the Representative Stedman, Democrat, North Carolina, a major in the Confederate Army and the only survivor of the Civil War in Congress.

The only negro member, representative Oscar De Priest, Republican, was also present.

G CLEFS CONCERT TOMORROW NIGHT

Local Glee Club to Appear at High School in Second Annual.

Hailed as one of the outstanding events in local musical circles the second annual concert of the G Clef Glee Club will be presented at the High School Auditorium at 8:15 tomorrow evening with Harold Branch, National Broadcasting Company tenor, and Emil Heimberger's ensemble as the assisting artists.

Varied enough to suit all tastes the program ranges from folk songs such as "Robin Adair" and "Long, Long Ago" to one of Mrs. H. A. Beach's cantatas "Rose of Avon-town" which have given her the reputation of being the foremost woman composer in the world today.

Other numbers familiar to those musically inclined are "The Musical" from "The Nutcracker Suite" by Tchaikovsky, and a beautiful Swedish number sung in the native language "When I Was Seventeen," a favorite amongst the Swedish element and bound to prove popular with all who hear it, because of its musical arrangement.

CONVICT IS MURDERED WHILE IN SING SING

Stabbed to Death While He Stood in Line With 1,729 Other Prisoners.

Ossining, N. Y., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Four inmates of Sing Sing prison were in solitary confinement today while prison authorities sought the slayer of a young convict who was stabbed to death as he stood in line with 1,729 of his fellows.

Rubin Kaminsky, 17 years, old, of Brooklyn, serving seven and one-half to 15 years for robbery, fell with four stab wounds near his heart yesterday. The inmates had lined up in the old prison yard at the end of the recreational period and were about to be marched to the new prison to witness a performance of the annual Sing Sing play "Good News."

Warden Lewis E. Lawes ordered Jacob Burakoff, also 17 and three other prisoners placed in solitary confinement for questioning. Burakoff was confined in the same holdup for which Kaminsky was in prison. Warden Lawes said Burakoff was captured and convicted on information furnished by Kaminsky.

NEW BRITAIN MAN KEPT XMAS FUNDS

New Britain, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Harry C. Luff, 47, and Miss Daga C. Carlson, 28, both of this city, were arrested in Washington, D. C., this morning, according to information received by local police and will be returned to this city where the former will answer to a charge of embezzling $1,200 from fellow employees at the plant of the Corbin Cabinet Lock Company. Formal charge has been booked against the woman.

Luff, a trusted employe at the Corbin factory for years, acted as banker for many of his associates, receiving their deposits for Christmas clubs conducted by banks here. It is alleged that he failed to deposit all the money entrusted to him but his alleged embezzlement was not discovered until last week when the employes received their checks from the banks. Many of them learned for the first time, the police say, that only part of their savings were deposited. As Luff had possession of their bank books they were not aware that he was keeping part of the money entrusted to him.

TINKHAM ASKS PROBE OF TEMPERANCE BOARD

Bay State Congressman Will Be Given Opportunity to Speak, Says Chairman Caraway.

Washington, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Chairman Caraway said today an opportunity would be given Representative Tinkham, Republican, Mass., to appear before the Senate lobby committee to testify in regard to his request that the committee investigate the Board of Temperance which the Methodist Episcopal church and the Federal Council of Churches.

Caraway expects to call Tinkham in the near future. The Massachusetts member in a letter to Caraway asked that the committee "authorize the indeferent political activities" of the two organizations. Tinkham in the communication asserted the organizations had attempted to influence legislation and the actions of government departments which he said "would inevitably lead to the destruction of religion with its beneficent-inhibitions upon human conduct and therefore must result in lawlessness and crime in social chaos and ultimately in revolution."

TREATENS WIFE HERE, JAILED ON NON-SUPPORT

Comes to Town Looking for Fight With Wife, But Lands in Jail.

Alleged to have threatened his wife, living on Wells street, Ben Macri, a resident of Providence, R. I., is in arrest on a charge of non-support. He was brought in by Officer David Galligan who was sent out to look him up and succeeded in nabbing Macri just as he was starting away in a car.

Officer Galligan later returned with a knife which police say had been used to threaten his wife with.

can of Illinois, shook hands with many of his colleagues. All the eight members were present chatting with their friends. It was 1:05 p. m. before the House decided to quit. A part of the time had been used by Chairman Hawley to explain plans for expediting the tax resolution. He obtained consent to have the committee report Wednesday night, although the House is not expected to be in session at that time it will enable the measure to be sent to the printers and placed in shape for consideration Thursday.

Speaker Longworth appointed Representative Tilson, of Connecticut, the Republican leader; Representative Garner of Texas, the Democratic leader, and Hawley as members of the House committee to call at the White House and notify the President it was ready for business.

The roll call showed 392 members present. A committee also was appointed to notify the Senate the House had organized for business.

SECTION GANG IS CUT; FREIGHT WORK HEAVY

With the laying off of another employe in the Manchester railroad section gang, the total number now employed is decreased to four, two workmen and a truck walker, and is the smallest number to be employed at one time in over thirty years.

On the freight end, however, incoming freight for local distribution is exceptionally heavy. The assignment to South Manchester made necessary two trips today instead of the usual one. This increased amount of freight business has resulted in a new clerk being assigned to the Manchester freight station, coming here from New Haven, to assist John Dwyer.

State Briefs

STATE OIL LAW Hartford, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Administration of the lubricating oil act passed by the 1929 Legislature will be the subject of a discussion here Dec. 9 by Connecticut wholesale distributors of motor oil. Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoekel has called the meeting and will outline the policy of the department.

The Act prohibits the sale of any lubricating oil in a manner designed to deceive the purchaser. REV. C. M. HALL'S FUNERAL Bridgeport, Dec. 2.—(AP)—The Rev. C. B. Brewster, retired, the Right Rev. E. Campion Acheson, bishop of the diocese of Connecticut, and a large group of Episcopal clergymen, assisted in the funeral services this morning of Rev. Charles Merzer Hall, who for years has been rector of Trinity Episcopal church here. Practically all members of the congregation attended.

Following the services the body was taken to Kingston, N. Y., for burial. OLD PUBLISHER DIES. New Haven, Dec. 2.—(AP)—The funeral of Leo Remy Hammond, former publisher and owner of the New Haven Palladium, who died Saturday night from acute indigestion will be held tomorrow afternoon from an undertaker's parlors.

Mr. Hammond was well known among the elder newspaper men of the state and the publishers, as in the days of the old Connecticut Associated Press prior to 1897, he served as correspondent for the old New England Associated Press and also the Associated Press and the United Press of the early 90's.

ARSON PROBE Hartford, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Important disclosures in the investigation of the arson plot which resulted in a $10,000 fire in a Main street tenement early Saturday were promised through the identification of a mysterious green truck seen delivering gasoline at the house, two weeks before the fire, according to police today. Detectives are confident they will be able to identify the truck through information now in their possession, though the two men under arrest in connection with the crime have continued their denials through a week-end of grilling. The cases were continued until Saturday.

LITTLE BOY KILLED New Britain, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Bernard La Priest, 7, of 14 Broad street was instantly killed this afternoon when he was pinned against a fence at the corner of Broad and Beaver streets by an automobile driven by Paul Cookish of 86 Sexton street. His sister, aged 8, was injured.

XMAS PARADE MAY START OVER NORTH

Depot Square Group to Join South Enders in Lighting-Up Arrangements.

The North End lighting committee will join with the South End in providing the special Christmas decorations along Main street and Depot Square, Secretary E. J. McCabe of the Chamber of Commerce announced today, and as a result it is probable that the parade on Saturday evening will begin at the North End.

Arrangements for the celebration of the Christmas shopping season during which Main street will present a spectacle of multicolored lights are going ahead. Three bands have signified their intention to march and seven troops of Scouts, numbering 80, will be in line. The Girl Scouts of the Salvation Army will also march and it is expected that the other Girl Scout troops of Manchester will accept the invitation. It has been arranged so that the parade will carry either a red or a green flare torch.

An invitation was mailed today to each minister in town today to enter a car in the parade with a black and white placard bearing the name of the church fastened in the rear.

L. N. Heebner of the Manchester Electric Company has figured out how much electricity will be used from the battery in stringing lights on the inside or outside of a car. Anyone who plans to enter the parade should get in touch with Mr. Heebner as he will be glad to impart such information to anyone interested.

ABOUT TOWN

The present series of setback matches was concluded at the Masonic Temple Saturday night with J. Ben Carlson winning the grand prize, an electric toaster. In Saturday night's sitting of the new tables. The scores: Plerson-McQuill, 3070; Scott-Hultgren, 1040; Quish-Brock, 1038; Snickens-Frey, 1035; Anderson-Tierney, 997; McCaughey-Lamprecht, 965; Withrell-McCormick, 949; Hope-McCann, 889.

George H. Wilcox will be the speaker at the meeting of the Lions Club at the Rainbow Inn, Bolton, at 8:15 o'clock tonight.

The Woman's Home League of the Salvation Army will have a special meeting tomorrow afternoon at 2:00 o'clock in the citadel. All members are asked to be present to review plans for the Christmas sale to be held Dec. 11 and 12.

Manchester Camp 2640 will hold its regular meeting this evening in Tinker hall. Mrs. Rubianna Koelgel, the district deputy, and several of the members of the Hartford lodge are expected. Light refreshments will be served and a large attendance is hoped for. Mrs. Rachel Munsie, chairman of the Hope Chest committee wishes all who can possibly do so to make returns of tickets sold at the meeting this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gardner of Cambridge street returned today after a visit of several weeks with the family of their daughter in Huron, South Dakota, where they remained to spend Thanksgiving. Mr. Gardner estimates that between their trip by rail and automobile tours while in Dakota, they have covered more than 5,000 miles. They returned by way of the Michigan Central railroad and encountered no snow until they reached Michigan. They made a stop with friends in Buffalo and for the first time saw Niagara Falls in winter grandeur.

Manchester Grange will meet Wednesday evening in Tinker hall. The business will begin at 7:30 to allow time for a public whist to follow, in charge of Mrs. Robert Marten. The local Grange will visit the office now held by Mayor Charles A. Gates who is retiring after a long service in the public office. King has been public officer, alderman and now is a member of the school board. His opponent is now an alderman at large.

Rockville voters will express their choice between Mayor George Foster, Democrat, seeking re-election and Albert E. Waite, Republican. Mayor Charles A. Richards, was unopposed in Putnam. He is a Republican and has held office two years.

SIX DAY RACE New York, Dec. 2.—(AP)—The Italian team of Bindo and Lina led the field in the 47th six-day bike race at Madison Square Garden by a single lap at 2 p. m., end of the 17th hour of riding. The pace was slow, the riders resting for the sprint series of the late afternoon and evening.

The teams of Georgetti and Debaets, and Letourner and Brocard were tied for second place with four other pairs grouped another lap back.

OBITUARY

DEATHS

Michael Malley, formerly a resident on Lydall street, Manchester, died at the home of his son-in-law, Daniel Buckley in New York City early Saturday morning. He is survived by a son, James, whose address is unknown. Funeral will be held tomorrow at 8:30 from the W. P. Quish funeral parlors and at 9:00 from St. Bridget's church. Burial will be in St. Bridget's cemetery.

FUNERALS

Andrew Zwick. The funeral of Andrew Zwick, who died at the Manchester Memorial hospital Saturday morning will be held at the home of his nephew, John Zwick of 104 Church street at 2 o'clock Tuesday. The delay in the funeral is due to a telegram from a son who is in Canada and who will be unable to reach Manchester until Tuesday. The services, which will be private, will be in charge of Rev. H. O. Weber, pastor of the German Lutheran Concordia church with interment in the East cemetery.

Mrs. Mary J. Leggett. The funeral of Mrs. Mary J. Leggett was held yesterday afternoon at the Spruce street home and at the Salvation Army citadel. Adjutant Joseph Heald officiated. The Salvation Army male quartet composed of David Addy, Harold Turkington, Fred Clough and Howard Leggett, sang "He Is Always There." William Wright gave a brief address and Thomas Wright offered prayer. Thomas Wells sang "Rock of Ages," the Salvation Songsters sang "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" and the male quartet offered, "I Shall See Him." The Army band played, "Promoted to Glory."

Burial was in the East cemetery. The bearers were Thomas Hopper, Ralph Jones, Edward Elliot, Samuel Richardson, Thomas Smith and William Ferrett.

LOCAL CHINAMAN ORDERED DEPORTED

Ung Gok Gim, Birch Street Laundryman Lived in U. S. Illegally.

Hartford, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Ung Gok Gim, 24, of 12 Birch street, South Manchester, was ordered deported on charges of unlawful residence by United States Commissioner Charles J. McLaughlin at a hearing in the Federal building today.

The other men, brought before the commissioner on similar charges today were discharged. They were Fong Yee, 28, of 98 Elm street and Fong Soon, a Chinese laundryman of this city. All three were represented at the hearing by Hon. Edward P. Barry, former lieutenant governor of Massachusetts. Assistant United States District Attorney George H. Cohen presented the cases for the government.

WARD CO. DISPLAYS BIG ELECTRIC SIGN

The fact that Montgomery Ward company's department store is located on the west side of Main street should not make it hard for Christmas shoppers to locate it in that a new sign, nearly a hundred feet long, has been erected along the north side of the building in front.

The sign is electrically illuminated and runs down two-thirds the side of the building spelling out the name of Montgomery Ward and company. At night it can be seen from a great distance from either the north or south.

DEFENDS VOLSTEAD LAW AT KIWANIS

Hartford Man Presents Arguments for Eighteenth Amendment Today.

The weekly meeting of the Manchester Kiwanis club was held today in Tinker hall. The proprietors of the Winaroke Hotel furnished a turkey dinner that pleased everybody. The speaker was G. T. Bochman, field secretary of the Connecticut Temperance Union.

Mr. Bochman preceded his talk by giving a short description of the organization, which came into existence during the Civil War when William Buckingham was governor of Connecticut. The idea was to educate the young soldiers who were returning from the front and who had become addicted to the use of liquor during the conflict. He said it was not to be expected that everybody would agree with his view of the temperance question—they had a right to their opinions and he to his.

Speaking for the practical side of the Eighteenth Amendment he contended during the Civil War when it had done more for the average workman than any other law on the statute books. It came in as a war measure. The temperance people of the country had planned to bring it about through education. They had up to that time secured the sanction of the majority of the states of the union for their cause and it was only a matter of time when all the states would endorse prohibition.

When the Volstead law was being discussed, the Senate committee gave a hearing to a committee representing the Brewers' association of the U. S. and they sanctioned the law. If it was not endorsed by the majority of the states, 7 years it was to be dropped. They were positive it could not be brought about in the seven years allowed and endorsed it. The fact is, that it was brought about inside of a year, and sanctioned by a majority of the states.

The speaker claimed that prohibition had increased industry, that it had brought to the workman more luxuries, better homes. There were fewer absences in the factories on a Monday morning. The workmen began to realize they were spending money foolishly when they spent it for liquor instead of shoes and clothing. It has resulted in better schools as well as better homes and more conveniences. It had directly helped the building business in the United States. As for the automobile business, Mr. Bochman submitted figures to show that this country had nine times more automobiles than all the other nations put together. While he did not attribute all this prosperity to prohibition, it had helped materially.

The attendance prize today was won by Lewis Sipe. It was an autobiography of Calvin Coolidge, given by Elbert Shelton.

The meeting of the board of directors will be held Thursday noon of this week. This will be the last directors' meeting of the year.

Automobiles driven by two out of town women came together here at the Center this noon when Mrs. Helen Kihanus of 25 School street, Burlington came up from that direction and rounding the dummy cop to head north was struck by a car driven by Mrs. Flora Lamoreux of 159 Whitney street, Hartford. Seeing the Whitney car approaching Mrs. Kihanus stopped and Mrs. Whitney, unable to do the same, crashed into her. Two passengers in the former's car were shaken up as were the drivers, but no serious injuries were suffered. The Hudson car, owned by the Burnside woman, was badly damaged and had to be towed away. Officer Wirtalla investigated but made no arrests.

NEW WITNESS SAW GAMBLER IN HALLWAY

Elevator Man Says He Saw Rothstein Holding His Stomach and He Cried "I'm Shot."

Criminal Courts Building, New York, Dec. 2.—(AP)—A witness for the state in the murder trial of George A. McManus testified today that on the night of November 4, 1928, he saw a man in the first floor hallway of the Park Central hotel who said "I'm shot" and held his stomach as though in pain.

The man, the state says, was Arnold Rothstein making his painful way from Room 349 where McManus allegedly had shot him over a gambling game to the street where he was found by police and taken to a hospital where he died two days later.

The witness was given by Vincent Kelly, a Park Central electrician who was running a service elevator in the hotel that Sunday night and around 11 o'clock was waiting in the ground floor service hallway beside his car for a call.

Kelly said that although he didn't know the man at the time he later learned the wounded man was Rothstein.

He had followed to the stand Mrs. Marian A. Putnam, a grey-haired widow of Asheville, N. C., who had testified Friday she saw a man resembling Rothstein staggering down a third floor hallway the night of November 4, a "terrible" look on his face and his hands clasped to his abdomen.

She, however, was unable to identify the man she saw as Broadway's gambling king.

Severe Cross Examination
Mrs. Putnam was subjected to a grueling cross-examination today by James D. C. Murray, defense counsel, who was attempting to doubt her credibility as a witness.

Near the end of his probing into her life Mrs. Putnam lost her composure for a moment, her voice quivered and tears came to her eyes as she turned to Judge Charles C. Nott, Jr., and said:

"I have never been arrested in my life, never found guilty or innocent of any crime."

The judge, who had appeared to squirm nervously in his chair as Murray plied his verbal whip, then ruled that any further questions as to the witness' past life were out of order and Murray excused her, although saying he might have further questions to ask later.

Criminal Courts Building, New York, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Mrs. Marian A. Putnam, of Asheville, N. C., "star" state witness, was back on the stand today at the opening of the third week of the trial of George McManus for the murder of Arnold Rothstein, for cross-examination by James D. C. Murray, defense counsel.

She was still being examined by Mr. Murray, who was seeking to destroy her credibility as a witness, when court adjourned Friday over the week-end.

She had testified for the state that on November 4, 1928, the night the state contends McManus lured Rothstein to the Park Central hotel and shot him in an argument over a poker game, that she heard loud voices near the room McManus occupied, a "crash" and then saw a man of Rothstein's general description staggering down the hall.

Registered With Man
Murray in his question had brought out that Mrs. Putnam, although a widow, was registered at the Park Central with a man and also had first told a state investigator that she knew nothing about the case.

Mrs. Putnam, a slight, grey-haired woman, was dressed again in a black dress, a small black hat and wearing a grey fur coat.

Murray's first question was what color hat the man she saw staggering down the hall wore.

BODY OF WEALTHY INDIAN MISSING

Charging Hawk Dies Worth Two Millions; Another Indian Takes Body Away.

Chicago, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Charging Hawk, a Sioux chieftain with holdings of nearly $2,000,000 in Oklahoma oil lands, is dead at the age of 72, and today there was concern as to what had happened to his body.

The aged Indian, a ward of the government, died at the Cook county hospital where he had been since October. His 18-year-old daughter, Inez, named in his will as heiress to half his fortune, is an inmate of the House of the Good Shepherd, where she is held as a delinquent. His white wife, known as Ethel Gumbo, is also said to be living somewhere in Chicago. She is bequeathed half the estate, although she has been estranged from Charging Hawk for many years.

Indian Claimed Body.
The oil lands of the Indian have been held in trust for him. The property was inherited from Charging Hawk's parents to whom it had been allotted by the government.

The Indian's body was claimed by a man known as Silver Bear who represented himself as next of kin. Friends of Charging Hawk notified his attorney, saying Silver Bear was no blood relative.

Charging Hawk served with the United States Army and also as a police officer at the Rosebud, S. D., reservation. His wife, Ethel, lived with him there, but was ostracized by the Indians and finally returned to Chicago.

Wall Street
New York, Dec. 2.—The New York Stock Exchange, Curb and other leading security markets of the country resumed their normal five-hour trading sessions today from Monday to Friday, having been closed since last Wednesday. The regular two-hour session will be held next week Saturday.

The banking pool, formed during the recent crisis in the securities markets by a group of leading New York Bankers, has not yet liquidated its holdings, according to the monthly economic survey of the National City Bank. It is not expected that the loss, if any, will be large, when the stocks held are finally sold.

Construction of 24 theaters on the Pacific coast at a cost of $15,000,000 is planned by Fox Theaters as part of its 1930 expansion program.

Bids on new equipment to cost more than $10,000,000 will soon be asked by the Reindig company.

November sales of Montgomery Ward & Co., mounted to $29,951,303, an increase of 17.3 per cent. over Nov. 1928. Sales for the 11 months aggregated $255,731,305, an increase of 27.6 per cent. over the corresponding period of last year. November sales were greater than for any similar month in the company's history.

Water Diversion
IS IN HIGH COURT
riverbed between Springfield, Mass., and Saybrook, Conn.

Connecticut insisted Massachusetts had no right to divert water from one watershed to another, or to impair navigation on the Connecticut river.

Massachusetts asserted the apprehensions of Connecticut were not well founded, contending the proposed diversion would not impair navigation, and insisting it had the right to withdraw water from the headwaters of the Connecticut river within Massachusetts for municipal and sanitary purposes.

The court granted Connecticut permission to file a motion to strike from the record the answer made by Massachusetts, and that state was permitted to amend its answer.

The court added that whether Massachusetts' answer would be stricken would be decided after the court heard oral arguments of the two states on January 6.

Demurrer Filed
IN TUNNEY'S SUIT
that part that specifies the alleged releases were given.

The filing of the demurrer follows on the action of Judge Carl Foster in dismissing a motion filed by Judge Wilder to strike out some 20 paragraphs of the cross complaint upon the allegation they held purely evidential matter and that they were immaterial and without weight.

It is expected that a hearing will be had later on the motion made today.

MASON 40 YEARS WALSH HONORED BY LOCAL LODGE

Demurrer Filed IN TUNNEY'S SUIT

was signed by every man present, and F. A. Verplanck.

Past Grand Master F. A. Verplanck spoke with great feeling of the good work that had been carried on by William Walsh during his forty years as a Mason.

For nine years Mr. Walsh had served the lodge as tyler. He arose to be master of the lodge. Mr. Verplanck said that "Bill" Walsh was one of the outstanding members of the lodge. He had done constructive work, was a father, guide and good counselor to a host of the members. The Followcraft degree team was his conception. In closing his remarks Mr. Verplanck presented to Mr. Walsh in behalf of those present a handsome gold Hamilton watch which was suitably inscribed. He told Mr. Walsh that he was beloved and respected by every member of Manchester Lodge of Masons.

Response
Mr. Walsh thanked the party for the many kind expressions of good will and for their thoughtfulness in remembering him on this occasion. He said it was a complete surprise and the fact that so many of his friends would come out to Bolton on such a bitter cold night to honor him in this way was indeed very gratifying.

In reviewing some of his work in the lodge Mr. Walsh said that he was raised in the lodge by George Ferris, whose illness kept him from being present. In looking over the party he could discover but two men who were present the night he was raised. They were William Ferguson and Benjamin Cadman. Mr. Walsh assured the party that he would always retain his interest in Manchester Lodge as long as he lived.

It was brought out in the speech making that Mr. Walsh had coached more candidates than any other living member. His interest in the local lodge had been of great value to Masonry in general. The party broke up after everyone had congratulated Mr. Walsh on the occasion.

Guests
Following is the list of those present, in addition to Mr. Walsh: F. A. Verplanck, A. T. Dewey, R. W. Goslee, Millard W. Park, Jas. A. McCaw, William Ferguson, Geo. W. Strant, John E. Hyde, Geo. Murdock, Alfred A. Schiebel, John J. Dowd, Ed. J. Holl, Geo. H. Vetch, Fred Johnson, Herbert L. Tenney.

POPE'S COMPLAINT.
Vatican City, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Pope Pius' speech to parish priests in Rome yesterday which will be published in tonight's Osservatore Romano, is understood to complain that Catholic newspapers in Italy, no matter how mild in tone, are not allowed to comment on or discuss the agreement between the Church and State and its application.

Police Headquarters
Offer $1,000 Reward
Mike Ross, Murderer of 6-Year-Old Child, Believed to Be Hiding in Manchester.

Police headquarters today offered $1,000 for the capture of Mike Ross wanted for the murder of the 6-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Dean, of 429 East 165 street, N. Y.

Detectives on his trail are at present in Manchester, Conn., where they already uncovered sufficient clues to convince them that he is hiding in that city. The people of that city have been warned of the presence of this criminal and all precautions are being taken to protect them. All are asked to bear in mind that Ross is a killer and not to take any chances should they accidentally find his hide out but report the matter immediately to the detectives.

His capture is expected at the gathering of the clans of the underworld to be held in Cheney Hall in that city on Dec. 4. The public is warned that on that evening plenty of gun play and excitement will shake the foundations of this popular hall. Fear not as a gang of so-called Square Crooks will protect all curiosity seekers who care to attend this meeting of the criminal world.—Adv.

BOYS' CLUBHOUSE BURNS,
THREATENS WOODS HERE
Occupants Disappear When
Firemen Answer Still Alarm
Yesterday.

The old pirate's den, a rendezvous for the boys in the woods off Charter Oak street is no more. Hose Co. No. 3 responded to a still alarm at 2 p. m. yesterday when the clubhouse became ignited from the overheated oil-barrel furnace, and the whole place went up in smoke. Undoubtedly, club members, faced with the possibility of explanations, faded when the clubhouse appeared to be doomed, leaving the woods prey to the uncontrolled flames. After an hour's hard work Hose Co. No. 3 succeeded in beating out the flames that had gained headway in the dry undergrowth. No material damage is reported.

The Polytechnic Institute of Zurich has a clock which needs no winding. Its power is provided by mechanism set in motion by every change of two degrees in temperature.

Further selling broke out in the amusement group, presumably as a result of the anti-trust suits brought against two of the large producers. Fox Film broke nearly 6 1/2 points before the end of the first half hour. Loew's dropped 5 and Warner Bros. 1 1/2. Heaviness also cropped out in Electric Auto Lite, U. S. Freight, International Harvester and Lambert.

J. I. Case jumped 5 points and Houston Oil, Allied Chemical and North American Co., extended their gains to 2 points or more. American Tobacco B and American & Foreign Power were among the many issues to advance a point or more. Foreign exchanges opened steady, with Sterling Cables unchanged at $4.87 29-32.

Further selling broke out in the amusement group, presumably as a result of the anti-trust suits brought against two of the large producers. Fox Film broke nearly 6 1/2 points before the end of the first half hour. Loew's dropped 5 and Warner Bros. 1 1/2. Heaviness also cropped out in Electric Auto Lite, U. S. Freight, International Harvester and Lambert.

J. I. Case jumped 5 points and Houston Oil, Allied Chemical and North American Co., extended their gains to 2 points or more. American Tobacco B and American & Foreign Power were among the many issues to advance a point or more. Foreign exchanges opened steady, with Sterling Cables unchanged at $4.87 29-32.

Newark, N. J., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Sixty-nine children, ranging in age from 4 months to 15 years, all patients at the hospital and home for crippled children were safely removed from the old section today when fire was discovered in the X-Ray film storage room.

Although deadly fumes from the burning films filled the corridors of the building, none of the children, attendants or firemen was affected.

Except for a further decline of $37,000,000 in Federal Reserve brokers' loans reported on Friday, there was little business or financial news over the extended Thanksgiving holiday to influence price movement. A crash in prices on the Paris Bourse last week apparently had no appreciable effect here.

Although irregularity continued throughout the early trading, the general tendency appeared to be upward with a good demand noted for several of the eastern roads. Delaware & Hudson quickly ran up 3 1/2 points, Chesapeake & Ohio 2 points, New York Central 1 1/2. Pennsylvania, which announced a new stock offering last week, eased a point.

or private affairs which, in Connecticut, is fast approaching the regulatory policies of Mussolini and the Russian Bolsheviks. It is high time the people woke up to the fact that their Legislature is being used to manufacture fetters for them.

PREPOSTEROUS

One of the most amazing proposals ever seriously advanced by a presumably sane and responsible man of affairs is that made by Edward N. Hurley, former chairman of the United States Shipping Board, who sets forth the declaration that a little group of business men of various nations could make war impossible by withholding from belligerent use the world's supply of iron ore, coal, rubber, manganese and six or eight other commodities without which, it is to be assumed, warfare could not be conducted. So impressed is Mr. Hurley with the efficacy of his plan that he is asking to have it included in the next agenda of the International Chamber of Commerce.

The astonishing thing about this proposal is not its originality nor yet its simplicity, nor the relative certainty that if it could be made to work it would make the conduct of modern war impossible, but the utterly infantile outlook that it proves.

It is next to incredible that any human being over ten years of age could entertain such notions as those held by Mr. Hurley, and yet here you are—he has advanced them with evident earnestness, and we must credit the evidence of our own senses.

Of course any rational person of reasoning age knows, even without having to think the thing out for more than ten seconds, that if it were a case of war and war necessities, and if Henry Ford, for example, were to declare that his factories would make no automobiles for war use, those factories would straightway be taken away from him and used to make war automobiles precisely as if he had no existence. If Mr. Teagle or Mr. Rockefeller were to give notice that no petroleum would be produced for war purposes, Mr. Teagle or Mr. Rockefeller would be brushed aside and the petroleum produced.

Mr. Hurley is evidently one of those rare souls who actually believe that Mr. Teagle brings the oil out of the ground, that the president of the United States Steel Corporation produces the steel and that without Pierre Du Pont, Dr. Bosch, Lord Melchett and Donat Agache there could be no high explosives and no poison gases.

Mr. Hurley has prepared a list of the individuals who, because in peace time they direct the manufacture of commodities that happen to be essential to the conduct of war, could be agreeing to refuse to permit such production make it impossible for the hundreds of millions of people comprising the nations to enter upon international conflicts, as a matter of fact, is of the remotest importance to the emergent conduct of the industry with which he is connected. It is quite true, no doubt, that most of them have a great deal to do with the degree of profit at which their industries operate—but that is a matter with which war does not concern itself. If every one of the industrial chieftains cited were to be clapped into jail, the thousands upon thousands of actual workers who do the producing would still remain and the manufacture of war materials could and would proceed without either their let or their hindrance.

It is a strange and completely naive conception of our civilization that permits the existence of a belief that any human being can continue in possession of anything except by consent of the mass of his fellows. That a few individuals would ever be allowed to retain control of the production of war material, to the point of withholding it, by a nation which felt itself in danger, is one of the most ridiculous propositions we have ever seen laid down with a straight face.

CONGRESS AGAIN

When the extraordinary session of the Seventy-first Congress adjourned it was to the accompaniment of denunciation of the most stupendous fizzle of a session that any Congress had ever indulged in. As the same Congress enters today upon its regular term, quite sure to continue until well into next summer, there is a feeling throughout the country that perhaps, after all, that extra session was not the useless thing it appeared to be.

An enormous amount of folly sprouted, grew to maturity and went to seed—it will not have to be encountered anew. A very important lesson has been taught—that will not have to be learned at the regular session. Certain highly important effects have been achieved, if no legislation, and they will be of the utmost value in preparing the way for effective action at this term.

Congress can enter upon the duties of the regular session freed of one serious misconception at least. It has learned that it is no longer possible for a majority party to limit its vision to any one or two sections of this country and continue to be a majority party. It must embrace within the field of its contemplation all sections and all classes. It took a tremendous amount of quarelling and a great deal of valuable time to develop this fact in the extra session—but it was probably worth the trouble.

There is every reason to believe that, in the new session, there will be more of tolerance, better efforts for mutual understanding, a more serious intention to promote the well being of the United States of America and less fighting for the advantage of the conflicting groups, than has been the case in a long time in Congress.

IN NEW YORK

New York, Dec. 1.—The "country girl" who hits New York today is no Sis Hopkins.

She doesn't "toe-in," nor does she bring a bird cage for comedy relief. There are no sunbonnets in her wardrobe, nor are there any cotton stockings.

The fact is, so I'm told by those agencies which look into such matters, that the simple country maid is quite at home when she gets to the big city. My statistics are from a department of the Y.W.C.A., which for two years has made a study of small-town girls who arrive in Manhattan.

Thanks to the movies, they recognize the streets almost as soon as they leave the trains. Grand Central and Pennsylvania terminals having been pictured to them from many angles, they are far from lost.

In sophistication, the country arrival can give cards and spreads to the maidens who have been born and reared in Flatbush or the Bronx, for instance. She knows the "city ways" far better than many of the lassies who have been reared within a five-cent fare of Broadway.

All the little ruralites seem to need is a job and a place to stay. If they've had sense enough to bring along sufficient money to tide them over the job-hunting period, they get along very well. In fact, the girls from all over the outlying sections seem to get along a little bit faster than their city sisters, from all statistics.

Letters of introduction, to be sure give the new arrivals a slight advantage. New York being what it is—made up of the ingredients of all the world—most strangers are met at the train by friends from the old home town, or at least they have a note from one friend to another. This tides them over the freshman period and leads to immediate introductions into a wide circle of friends.

For instance, just about a year ago I formed the acquaintance of a youngster from Texas who was storming the gates of the advertising business. The first few weeks were filled with misgivings and hints of loneliness. She had, however, the usual notes to Texans in New York.

A couple of nights ago, she asked me over to a "housewarming party" and it was like walking in on a Texas society reunion.

We New York columnists, by the way, have not been without our part in the change. It seems we have given every man, woman and girl who cares to read some fairly accurate and close-up pictures of "the big city," so that they may get into town fairly well informed.

If one-tenth of the New Yorkers knew one-half as much about the rest of the country, many national problems would be far clearer.

The story goes of one country girl who, seeking employment in one of the larger hotels, found herself placed in charge of the information department within a week after she took the job.

She seemed so well acquainted with the goings-on that she had no trouble passing as an "old-timer." Which means that within seven days of her arrival she was telling New Yorkers how to get around their own town.

MONROE DOCTRINE

One hundred and six years ago today, on Dec. 2, 1823, the annual message of the president to Congress set forth the Monroe Doctrine.

The term, the Monroe Doctrine, is applied to the policy of the United States regarding foreign interference in American affairs. It is properly considered the corollary of the Washington and Jefferson policy of neutrality toward all European affairs.

The policy is based upon two passages in President Monroe's message and has a two-fold relation—a non-colonization and a non-intervention feature.

In modern conception, it is the policy of the United States to regard any attempt on the part of an European power to gain a foothold in this hemisphere by conquest, or to acquire any new establishments in North or South America, by whatever means, as an act hostile to the United States.

HOW TO USE COCONUTS

People who live in tropical regions call the coconut the most valuable tree in the world, since it furnishes them with food and drink, the lumber for their huts, the thatching for their roofs, and the sap is used for making wine or vinegar. The tender shoots may be cooked as asparagus or cabbage, and the young buds used for salads.

From the dried coconut or copra is pressed an oil or edible fat, which can be used as substitute for butter, or be made into soap, face cream and other products. In England the oil is used, too, in the preparation of a type of powdered milk.

In the Philippines a brown sugar is distilled from the sap of the unopened flower of the palm. The coconut is also used for sugar in Java. The South Sea maidens use the oil as a beauty oil and dress their hair and bodies with it. In fact, maidens throughout the world use coconut oil as a beauty preparation, since it is the basis of many cold creams.

The coconut, protected by its floating sheath, has been carried by wind and wave to every tropical land and island where it will grow. Since the shell is impervious to salt water the growing qualities of the seed were not destroyed. Although the tree grows best near the seashore, it requires fresh water.

In America the dried grated coconut is frequently used as a garnish for salads, in making macaroons, and in candy and cake making. Prohibition has indirectly stimulated the coconut industry, since it has brought about an increased consumption of candy, and tons of coconuts are used in candy manufacturing. The oil pressed out of the dried copra can be separated into an oil and a solid fat. The solid part is known as coco-steering, being available for candles. The oil is extensively used in marine soaps, since it will lather in salt water. It is also used in face creams, lotions, shaving creams, shampoo, toilet soap, etc.

One of the most important uses of the coconut oil is the making of butter substitutes or margarines. The coconut when new contains a refreshing milky liquid which may be used fresh or fermented. In the tropics it is used to make a sweet ice cream. When the coconut is green, the fleshy part has not become hard and may be eaten with a teaspoon. It makes a very satisfactory meal, in most of the coconuts obtainable in America, the flesh has become hardened and is very tough to chew, but is good for strengthening the gums and increasing the circulation about the teeth.

The flesh contains 51-2 per cent water, 6 per cent protein, 57 1-2 per cent fats, 31 1-2 percent carbohydrates, and 1-2 per cent of mineral matter. The mineral matter contains a large amount of chlorine. When used in the raw starchy form, coconut is not as easily digested as in the soft condition, but it may be made more easily assimilated when boiled or baked. Coconut must be cooked a long time to thoroughly soften the tough fibres, when it may be used as the starchy food in place of potatoes, macaroni, rice or other starchy food, but should not be used in addition to them.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
(Effect of Fever)

Question:—H. C. M. asks: "Will you kindly recommend a remedy for fallen hair resulting from a recent scarlet fever case? Will I gain back the natural thickness of my hair?"

Answer:—The hair will always come out easily after a fever, but if you build up your general health and strength and eat the proper alkaline foods you will soon grow back another good crop of hair.

(Cancers and Cans)

Question:—M. W. writes: "The doctors say they don't know where all these cancers come from. Don't you think they come from the tinned foods? Why can't everything be canned in glass? I should think the Pure Food Law would see to that."

Answer:—I really do not believe the cause of cancer will ever be found from cans, but your suggestion about canning things in glass is a good one, although the methods used by the modern canner make it almost as safe to use the tinned foods as those put up in glass. The canners themselves have improved their methods a great deal in the past few years so that there is now little poisoning from canned foods.

(Good Circulation)

Question:—J. W. B. writes: "Every bit of blood I have seems to run to my hands and feet as though they were burning. My hands are always red unless holding them in an upright position. I am in the early forties, but this has always been so. Am well and work hard."

Answer:—It is likely that you have a very good circulation of blood and that your blood is rich in hemoglobin and red cells. The average person complains of a poor circulation and, in fact, most people would give a good deal to have what you complain of.

Daily WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

Washington, Dec. 1.—Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams, descendant of a long line of ever-distinguished Adamses, now trails every day at lunch time in a long line of clerks, lieutenants, stenographers, captains and other Navy Department employes in the big Navy Department cafeteria.

The secretary carries his own tray and picks out his own food all by himself. There is no precedence in the cafeteria and the lines are frequently long and slow in progress. But it's a fine cafeteria, this one of the Navy's and probably serves the most inexpensive good meals in Washington.

Citizens of Washington are not permitted to vote, but do have civic pride.

Charles W. Darr, president of the Washington Chamber of Commerce, moaned publicly in a speech the other night as follows:

"The fair name of our city is our proudest possession. Help us keep it. The stories have gone from Washington over telegraph, radio and by telephone to the press of the country, painting a picture of blood running on Pennsylvania avenue as freely as water does in the Potomac river and of the crooks in great gatherings in the capital, have wrought thousands of dollars' damage to the business of the city. Who will think of investing their money here as long as they are presented such a picture of Washington? Just as thousands of tourists have been diverted from the capital by the stories published some time ago describing the traffic conditions here as chaotic, so has investors' money been diverted by stories built upon unsupported and unverified charges against our city officials."

"Stand by our public officials, our police department and the other departments of our city government!"

History may attach considerable importance to the magnifying glass wielded by Senator Furnifold McLendel Simmons of North Carolina, ranking minority member of the Senate Finance Committee and

Mechanical Eye Detects Poison Gas In Tunnels

New York, Dec. 2.—(AP)—A smaller, alongside this electric eye is a lens projecting the beam above traffic and parallel to it up near the tunnel roof. One hundred and fifty feet away a mirror catches this beam and reflects it back, not to the lens, but directly into the round eye. Haze or other impurities, and particularly warm exhaust gases that rise to the roof pass through the beam. In passing they shade the volume of light, and although the shadow may be virtually infinitesimal, the sensitive mechanical eye detects it and transforms it into electrical energy.

ROCKVILLE

Noted Dancer Dead. William P. Marley, 59, head of the dancing Marleys, died suddenly at his home at 157 East Main street on Saturday evening about 7 o'clock. He had not been feeling well since Thanksgiving Day, complaining of pains and chills, but was able to be about the house. Death came while he was sitting at a table reading a newspaper, and just previous to his death said everything looked very bright.

Mr. Marley was born in Taunton, Mass., the son of Patrick and Mary (Murray) Marley, coming to Rockville about 25 years ago. For twenty years he was overseer in the finishing department of the Rock Mill, until it closed down a few years ago. For one year he was overseer in the finishing department of the American Mill of the Hockanum Mills Co., and for the past year was employed at the Hilliard Manufacturing Co., at Hilliardville.

Break Attempted. Some unknown person or persons attempted to break into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood C. Cummings of 10 Ellington avenue on Saturday night. The family went out for an automobile ride after supper, returning home to find that a down stairs window had been pried open. There were marks to indicate that a strong instrument was used in prying open the window. Evidently the would-be burglar was frightened away by the arrival of the family or someone else in the vicinity, as there was nothing taken from the home.

Baptist Pastor Accepts Call. Rev. Edward N. Hill, pastor of the Baptist church at Montville, Conn., has accepted the call of the Rockville Baptist church to become its pastor. The call was extended to Mr. Hill following a congregational meeting held Sunday, November 17. He will commence his duties in Rockville on January 1, a letter being received to that effect by the church clerk, Reginald Kent, on Saturday.

Going to Manchester. The noble grand, Mrs. Helen Quinn, and vice noble grand of Mayflower Rebekah Lodge of this city have been invited to attend the thirty-fifth anniversary celebration of Sunset Rebekah Lodge of Manchester this evening. It is expected that several grand officers will be present.

Lodge of Sorrows. Rockville Lodge, No. 1359, B. P. O. Elks, in common with every Elks Lodge in the country, numbering over 1,500, honored the memory of deceased brothers on Sunday afternoon. The service was held at the Elks' home, corner of Prospect street and Ellington avenue, commencing at 3 o'clock. H. O. Clough, esteemed leading knight was chairman in charge. Those present included members of the Elks and their families, members of the Elks Club and several out of towners.

ONE DEAD, 5 LOST IN LAKE ACCIDENT

Eighteen Rescued When Steamer Goes Aground; Captain and Four Missing

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Dec. 2.—(AP)—A gamble by the freighter Kiowa with the treacherous seas of Lake Superior has ended on an isolated shore of the lake with five of her crew missing, one dead and 18 rescued after severe exposure. Groping through the storm and trying to hug the south shore line, the Kiowa went aground Saturday night on a reef ten miles west of the Village of Grand Marais, Mich.

Through the night she listed and Sunday morning, while the storm continued, Captain Alex Young of Duluth decided to chance launching a life boat to get ashore. Radio reports said the little craft capsized and the crew was scattered. A search for them.

POLICE BREAK UP BIG CRIME RING

Chicago, Dec. 2.—(AP)—The smashing of a ring specializing in stolen goods in New York and Chicago was believed by police to be imminent today. Five men were arrested yesterday after the seizure of a shipment of linens valued at $65,000 being delivered to a storage place owned by Ralph Nakutin. The linens were recently stolen in New York, police said.

They confessed to throwing off goods on their run between Chicago and Cairo, Ill., and estimated the amount stolen in this way to be $100,000. These shipments, they said, were picked up by an accomplice and delivered to Nakutin. Nakutin was still at liberty but police were holding his 89-year-old father, Adam Nakutin, found in charge of one of the stores, pending the son's arrest. Stolen goods valued at $200,000 was recovered yesterday in the two storerooms.

MID WEST BIDDING FOR WAR SEC. POST

Washington, Dec. 2.—Members of Congress from Mississippi, Ohio and Missouri river valley states are keenly interested in the successor to the late James W. Good, secretary of war, and some of them have informed President Hoover they consider the attitude of the man to be named toward inland waterway development as the outstanding question entering into the selection.

Representative Dickinson, of Iowa, whose state lies between the Mississippi and the Missouri and who is a Republican member of the appropriations subcommittee, which has charge of Army appropriations, called at the White House today. Dickinson said he had expressed the hope to the president that he would again go into the area comprising the Mississippi, Missouri and Ohio valley basin for a successor to Mr. Good. The Iowa representative said he did not make any specific recommendations.

NEED RESERVE OFFICERS. Washington, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Organization of the reserve officers training corps association of the United States to promote and foster the R. O. T. C. in educational institutions, was announced here by the selection of Major General Amos A. Fries, retired, as president. Fries said reserve officers of the future must come almost entirely from the R. O. T. C. units in colleges and high schools and "as there are many organizations having for their purpose the elimination of military training in our schools, it has become necessary that the patriotic citizens of the land organize themselves to assist in the encouragement and defense, if need be, of the R. O. T. C. in our high schools and colleges."

KILLED FOR DEER. Carlisle, Pa., Dec. 2.—(AP)—The first accident in this vicinity of the Pennsylvania big game season, which opened today, occurred at dawn when William T. Naylor, of Mechanicsburg, lost his life hunting for deer. He was hunting near Brandtville in the South mountain section when he was shot and died while being brought to Carlisle hospital.

Southern England Swept By Gales And Floods

London, Dec. 2.—(AP)—A heavy gale was raging over southern England today, forcing channel ships to take shelter in Dover and causing flood conditions on many rivers in the Thames. Service to the Orkney islands was interrupted, while Plymouth had a deluge of rain making the fall there the heaviest in sixty years. Weather conditions at Howden, Yorkshire, were unfavorable for the launching of the giant dirigible R-100. The crew and handling party were kept waiting for more settled conditions.

BYRD'S COMPANION TURNS UP ALIVE

R. G. Brophy Found Working on Copy Desk of a Nebraska Newspaper.

Omaha, Neb. 2.—(AP)—Richard G. Brophy, business manager for the Byrd Antarctic expedition who resigned suddenly in New Zealand last spring and later disappeared from New York leaving a suicide note, has been found alive working on the copy desk of the Omaha Bee-News.

The Bee-News said in a copyrighted story today that Brophy's identity was learned from a photograph showing him with Commander Richard Byrd. Brophy who has been working here as "C. Manning Mitchell" admitted his identity and said at once for New York saying he intended to straighten out his affairs there.

HEMENWAY NEW EDITOR OF THE HARFORD TIMES

Hartford, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Announcement was made today of the appointment of John F. Rolfe as publisher, and Charles C. Hemeway as editor of the Hartford Times.

Mr. Rolfe has been general manager of the paper and personal representative of Frank E. Gannett since the latter purchased the Times in January, 1928. He is a former newspaper executive of Corning, N. Y., and gained his earlier newspaper experience in Elmira, N. Y.

Mr. Hemeway, a member of the State Senate in 1917 and 1918, came to the Times in 1920 as editorial writer and has been associate editor for two years. Previous he had been editor of the Hartford Post and he had earlier service on New London, Worcester and Brockton papers.

Both Mr. Rolfe and Mr. Hemeway have been active in Connecticut and Hartford public affairs. Clifton L. Sherman, editor of the Times since 1921 retired Saturday.

CATCH LONE BANDIT

Pawnee, Okla., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Tom Vernon, erstwhile cowboy rodeo rider and fireman, and five times a convict, awaited in jail here today the outcome of efforts of Wyoming and California to claim him for interrogation about the wrecking and robbing of two passenger trains.

Officers from both states declared passengers of the Portland Limited of the Union Pacific, derailed and robbed near Cheyenne, Wyo., last Monday night and of the Pacific Coast Limited of the Southern Pacific Railroad, similarly derailed near Saugus, California, Nov. 10, had identified Vernon's photographs as those of the man who singlehanded, lined them up, in accord with early western traditions and then took their money. Approximately $400 was taken in California and $239 in Wyoming.

NINE DIE IN WRECK

Onley, Va., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Salvage crews early today were recovering the last of the wrecked northbound Pennsylvania railroad train from Cape Charles, Va., that left the rails here early yesterday, piling up eight coaches, with a death toll of nine persons and an injured list of 24.

Five of the dead were white persons and the remaining four were negroes. Three bodies were still unidentified at the morgue. Six of the injured were retained at Accomac Memorial hospital at Nassadox. Several were reported in critical condition. Eight were dismissed from the hospital after first aid treatment and allowed to return to their homes.

11 HURT IN CRASH

Stratford, N. J., Dec. 2.—(AP)—Eleven persons were injured, five seriously, in an automobile collision on the White Horse pike near here early today.

Three seriously injured were removed to Cooper hospital, Camden for further treatment. They are William R. Stewart, 25, and Charles F. Schram, 25, both of Woodlynne, N. J., fractured skulls; and Abraham D. Resnick, 47, severed nose; Mrs. Sarah Resnick, 45, severe cuts, and Mary Gerwin, 19, possible fractured skull, of Philadelphia.

1 Minute Only and Stomach Gas Goes

The instant you take Gasets, terrible gas pains, heartburn, belching, nausea, disappear almost like magic! Gasets give amazing aid in digesting hard-to-digest foods, because of the carica papaya, wonderful extract of tropical fruit, and other digestive, corrective and antacid ingredients in this scientific prescription. Don't wait—take Gasets when first symptoms of dangerous acute indigestion appear. Relief guaranteed in 1 minute—or no cost! At all druggists.

CHILDREN LIKE THIS SAFE PRESCRIPTION

Coughs and Sore Throat Relieved Almost Instantly. Stop children's coughs and sore throats before these ailments lead to dangerous illness. Thoxine, a doctor's prescription, now assures relief within 15 minutes to children, as well as adults without the danger in the use of patent medicines containing harmful drugs.

Thoxine works on a different principle, goes direct to the source of trouble and relieves the irritation which causes the coughing and sore throat. Ideal for children because it is safe and does not have the usual "nasty-medicine" taste. No gagging. Just ask for Thoxine, put up ready for use in 35c, 60c, and $1.00 bottles. Money back if not relieved. Sold by Murphy's Drug Store and all other good drug stores.—Adv.

Hartford Giants Smack Cubs 19--6 In Grid Finale

Four Teams Have Equal Claim To National Title

1929 Season Ends With No Single Outstanding College Team; Indiana Contributes Notre Dame and Purdue.

New York, Dec. 2.—(AP)—The football frenzy is over for 1929 except for a few remaining matches in the south and far west but the picture of a campaign of sparkling individual achievements still is vivid and the argument over championship claims yet is far from settled.

The season that was brought to a climax Saturday at the expense of the gallant Army team, was in many respects the most remarkable in the history of the great American college sport.

For sheer drama, Yale and Notre Dame topped the list under circumstances of the most extraordinary variety. Trampled by Georgia early in the season, the Ell came back and whipped Brown, Army, and Dartmouth in successive Saturdays with Abbie Booth cutting capers across the historic turf of the Yale Bowl such as has not been seen in a blue moon.

Indiana's Two Votes
Knut Rockne of a sick bed most of the season as a result of an infected leg furnished the inspiration for one of Notre Dame's greatest teams, the first unbeaten Irish array since the famous four horsemen dismounted in 1924.

Three others in the major flight—Tennessee, Christian and St. Mary's of California—showed only a single tie to mar otherwise perfect records.

Judged by the strength of their finish, Andy Kerr's powerful Colgate machine ranked with the best in the country, having a clean slate back at the hands of Wisconsin.

Summing Up Situation
Here's how the situation may be summed up in the major areas:

East:—Pittsburgh, only major team unbeaten, untied, but with Colgate also showing a clean slate against eastern opposition.

BOYD, HUB TIGER, CAGES PUCK MOST

New Haven Plays at Springfield Saturday; Bruins Still Top American League.

Boston, Dec. 2.—(AP)—"Yank" Boyd, the Boston Tigers' native right-winger, today had a wide lead on the rest of the Canadian-American Hockey League puck-chasers for high scoring honors.

Trailing three points behind was another Tiger, the veteran Deacon Waite, with 12, and Chapman, the Providence star, with third with 10 points.

The league's fourth week opened last night when Philadelphia played at New Haven. The other games on this week's light schedule are Providence at Philadelphia on Wednesday, New Haven at Boston on Thursday, and New Haven at Springfield Saturday.

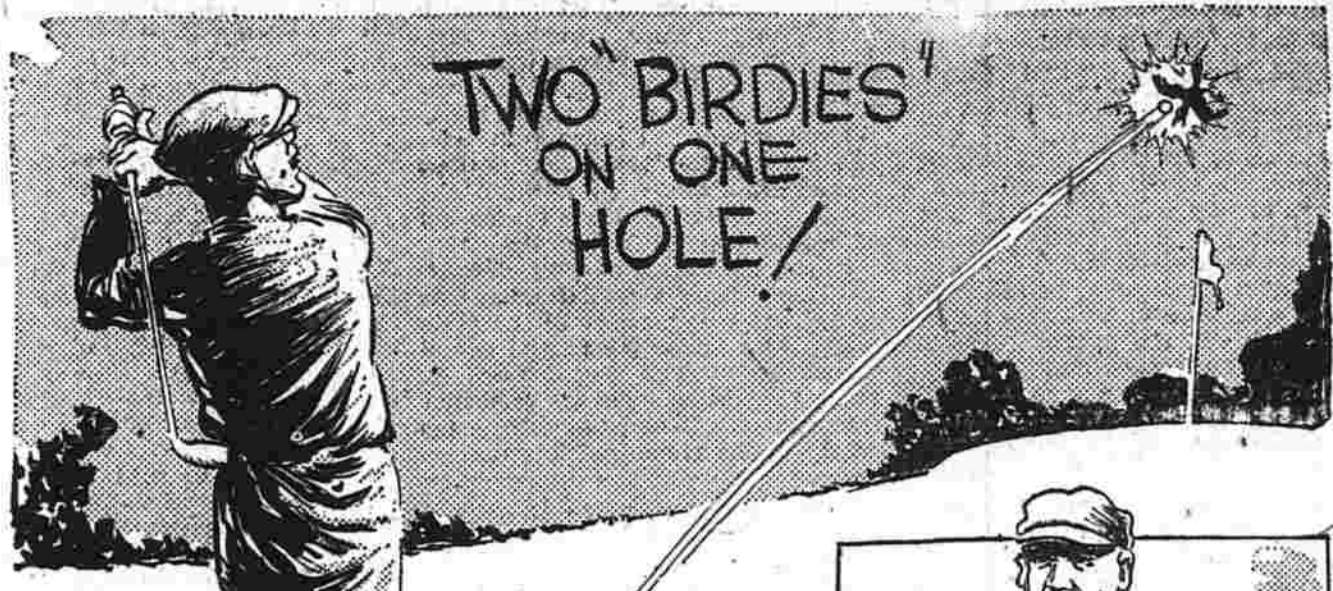

BRUINS STILL LEAD

Chicago, Dec. 2.—(AP)—The Boston Bruins, World hockey champions, remained at the top of the American Division of the National Hockey League today, despite a 3 to 1 beating by the Blackhawks here last night.

The Bruins have 10 points in the standing and the New York Rangers, who were beaten at Detroit last night, nine.

Los Angeles, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Sixty-seven wanderers of the national fairways today cast their hopes into the whirlpool of 36 hole medal play, troubled by the knowledge that only 32 will come out of the test with the privilege of entering match competition tomorrow for the national pro championship.

Local Sport Chatter

Don't forget that the Rec Five is playing its second game of the season tomorrow night when the American Legion team of Wallertown come to town.

The Chrysler Red Heads of Bridgeport who were originally booked for tomorrow night cancelled their game. The Rec Five will practice tonight at 8:30. The Rec Girls will meet the Falco Girls of Holyoke in the preliminary game tomorrow.

And, by the way, the Rec Five shapes up as a pretty good team, one that will likely attract quite a bit of comment before the season is completed.

The Herald's All-Manchester football team selected from the ranks of the Cubs and Majors will be announced tomorrow night.

The members of the High school team will be considered inasmuch as they have not faced opposition of an equal caliber. Roger Spencer, Ted Lupien on the line and Ernie Dowd in the backfield stand out the most conspicuously.

The Herald bowling league convenes tonight for another of its weekly sessions. At 8:30, the Night Hawks entertain the Construction and the British-Americans take on the West Sides.

At Farr's, the Centers and Majors mingle with the Herald and Shell Gas clashing on the other two alleys. Over at Conran's the Charter Oaks and Pirates will meet.

The Night Hawks sport a one point lead over the Majors with the Centers bringing up in third place and going strong. Obviously, the match between the Majors and Centers is the cream of this evening's entertainment.

The Cubs did not cut the Giant's guarantee yesterday over the failure of Johnny Smith to appear. The fact that all of the other men were on hand and that Harry Herbert climbed into his togs influenced the Cubs to give them the $260.

Close to 3,000 persons saw the game yesterday but the official gross receipts were only $655.40.

Manager Ben Cluna has decided to have individual pictures taken of all members of the Rec five basketball team for newspaper use.

Fisher, Herbert, Smith Help Hand Cubs First Beating In Two Years

Meikle Scores Touchdown on Forward Pass in Final Period; Visitors Make Twice as Many First Downs But Meet Strong Opposition Most of Way; Defeat No Disgrace to Local Town Champions.

Everybody can't be a Lindbergh or every good team a champion above its own class. That is why the Cubs are back in their old stall again today after a fruitless expedition in search of added glory.

The Giants didn't outclass the Cubs badly but the 19 to 6 margin left no doubt as to the proper height to which the Cubs can scale. Playing together for the first time in several weeks and minus a few of their best players, principally Johnny Smith, All-America guard from Notre Dame, the Hartford contingent swept its way to a decisive victory.

Herbert Goes In
With the lone exception of Johnny Smith, the Giants brought every man they promised. They could not help it that Smith was not present. The former Notre Dame star had promised only the day before that he would be here but something happened and he remained in New York over the week-end after watching the Army game.

Herbert is the chap who nearly lost his life with a broken neck he suffered in a game with Colgate about seven years ago. Herbert has been coaching the remodeled Giants and has played only in a few instances. Nevertheless, he was a big gun in the Giants' offense yesterday.

Leo Fisher, ex-Conn. Aggie star who greatly resembles Yale's Abbie Booth, contributed the most sensational play. On the first play following the kickoff on the second half, the bare-headed, feet-footed little Giant back, raced ninety yards for a touchdown starting out off right end and cutting back sharply out to the left side of the field and down along a side line squirming under a grasp of two or three tacklers and making several others miss him completely. It was easily the gem of the game from a sensational viewpoint.

Fisher also got away for a few good gains around the end at other times and was a danger kind of a punter as well as a high standard. Herbert, however, was the spark plug of the Giant attack while he was a quarterback. Outside of taking no chances on receiving punts for rumbucks, his only play on which he nearly lost his life, Herbert was a constant thorn in the side of the Cubs' hopes. He showed a world of pep in addition to good generalship.

The ground was pretty hard yesterday and both teams were lucky not to have suffered more injuries. Unless there is a drastic change in the climate, the earth will be still harder next week, December 8, is rather late to play football in the East, you know.

Only 17 seconds remained to be played in the first half when the Giants scored and their second touchdown came before another minute of play had elapsed. It was Fisher's 90 yard run after the kickoff which opened the second half. The other Hartford score followed a steady march from midfield which culminated at the six yard line only to be repeated successfully after Farr had kicked out from behind his own goal line. Len Smith picked up fifteen yards around right end and Herbert broke through center for two first downs in a row. Ziegler finally crashed over from the two yard line. Pentore blocked the try for extra point.

The Cubs were not as badly outclassed as the score indicated at the point. They had held the Giants well in check until the last part of the final period when the Hartford eleven unleashed its two goalward marches. The first downs were 14 to 7. The defeat was no disgrace to the Cubs. The simply lost to a better team. The Cubs fought gamely from start to finish and their efforts were at least partially rewarded with a touchdown in the final period.

A forward pass to "Cody" Donnelly good for a first down and a fifteen yard penalty against the Giants gave Manchester the ball on the Giants' 25 yard line. A few moments later, Ding Farr dropped way back which Herbert dropped. Tommy Meikle who grabbed ball just over the line of scrimmage, twisted out of the grasps of two Hartford players and ran for a touchdown. A poor pass spotted Farr's team from dropkick. The Cubs were weak defensively at end with Stamonds and Skoneski both regular wingmen out with injuries. Cheney, however, caught

Former Grocery Clerk May Head World Bank

MELVIN A. TRAYLOR

STUDIED LAW AT NIGHT SCHOOL AFTER ATTENDING PUBLIC SCHOOL.

BECAME CASHIER OF TEXAS BANK IN 1907.

ONE OF WORLD'S MOST FAMOUS BANK EXPERTS.

It would be rather trite to say that Melvin A. Traylor has had "a career like that of a Horatio Alger hero," but nothing could be closer to the truth. He worked as a grocery clerk by day and studied law at night—and now he's president of one of the ten largest banks in the United States and prospective president of the "world bank" to be set up in Europe to handle the German reparations payments.

BY BRUCE CATTON.

Chicago.—A former country boy who spent his days behind the counter in a little grocery store in Texas and meanwhile burned the midnight oil to study law at night school that he might prepare himself for the future, now stands in a fair way to become head of a worldwide banking organization.

He is Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National Bank of Chicago, who, his friends here believe, is soon to be named president of the Bank of International Settlements, that vast financial organization to be set up in Europe to handle Germany's war reparations payments to the world. Traylor is now in Europe and it is recalled that Owen D. Young, author of the plan and his close personal friend, visited Chicago last summer, supposedly to persuade Traylor to accept the office.

The "Young Plan" for the settlement of reparations, put into a form acceptable to all parties at the recent Hague conference, includes a project for the International Bank, capitalized at $100,000,000. The institution's purpose is to take the reparations had a typically American career, question out of politics, put it on a sound business basis, collect the payments made by Germany and distribute them among the creditor nations.

World-Wide Influence. It is to collect approximately a half billion dollars a year in annuities and hold it in time, to become one of the most powerful financial organizations in the world through its influence on foreign exchange.

The man whom Chicago feels certain will be chosen as the head of this gigantic institution has working his own way up the ladder of success.

Born near the little town of Breeding, Ky., 51 years ago, Traylor still has the trace of the south in his speech and there is a Kentucky angularity about his wiry and muscular figure. Golf has kept him in the pink of physical trim. There were not enough books to go around in the little country school that Traylor attended, so the pupils exchanged them. When classes were finished, there were the chores at home to do.

When 20, Traylor went to Hillsboro, Tex., and became a clerk in a grocery store. He decided to become a lawyer and at night he studied law books by the aid of a kerosene lamp. In three years he was able to pass the bar examination.

Clients were few, but the struggling young attorney fortunately got a job as city clerk. Three years later he was appointed country attorney. Then, in 1907, destiny stepped in and turned his career to banking. He became cashier of the Bank of Malone, Texas, and two years later when it was merged with the Citizens' National Bank of Ballinger he became president of the combined institutions.

This lasted only two years. The National Stock Yards Bank of East St. Louis, Ill., with which the Ballinger bank had dealings, soon saw he was a young man of energy and ability. So they brought him to East St. Louis and made him vice president. Three years later, in 1914, he went to Chicago as vice president of the Live Stock Exchange National Bank. Later he became its president.

Heads Big Chicago Bank. In 1916 Traylor left the stock yards district for the loop to become president of the First Trust and Savings Bank. Not long ago the First National Bank acquired this bank and the Union Trust as well. This brought about a $600,000,000 institution and one of the ten biggest banks in the United States. And, naturally enough, Melvin A. Traylor was made president of the consolidated institution.

Just about the time he was leaving Hillsboro to go to Malone to begin his banking career, Traylor met and married Miss Dorothy Arnold Yerby. They have three children, Nancy, Frances and Melvin A. Jr., whose pictures hang over his desk in the First National Bank here.

During the World War he contributed his services as director of sales for the U. S. Treasury Department's Certificates of Indebtedness in the Seventh Federal Reserve District. He is a member of numerous Chicago clubs and a director in many big corporations, including the General Electric Company and the National Broadcasting company.

He is a former president of the United States Golf association, having been elected to that office in 1928, although he had never played a game of golf in his life until 1923.

GOVERNMENT TO TEACH CHILDREN ON RESERVATIONS

Washington, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Uncle Sam is ready to take on the task of playing schoolmaster to children cut off from civilization.

The annual report of the secretary of the interior, issued today, tells of a new correspondence course for children living on Army, Navy, light-house, or other Federal reservations where schooling facilities are not available.

"If desired by school officials of states, it is intended that such courses will be made available for the instruction of children in isolated communities, especially in communities where the small number of children makes it inadvisable to establish regular schools, the report said.

Plans are not strictly furniture but could be used as such to advantage in some homes.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By Herbert Plummer.

Washington.—There was a vast difference in the attitude of the senate and house when the long special session of congress finally was ended.

Representatives were in a rare mood. A gay spirit prevailed during the last few minutes of the session which was in marked contrast to the situation on the other side. Laughter and applause punctuated the remarks of each man who arose to speak.

For more than three months they had been idle while senators wrestled with the tariff. Farm relief and the tariff bill had been disposed of in quick fashion, thanks to the strict house rules.

Earnest John Tilson, the majority leader, arose to propose that they adjourn sine die. Beaming on his colleagues, he said: "Mr. Speaker, I wish to thank the members on both sides of the aisle for the spirit of co-operation shown by them in transacting business during the extra session of this congress."

Jocosity.

Republicans smiled. Democrats grinned broadly. Nice words, both probably thought. Short, blond, peppery John Rankin of Mississippi arose and said with much feeling: "Thank God, there is no gag rule in the senate."

Majority Leader Tilson beamed again: "I hope for all of you that your Thanksgiving turkey may be fine, that you will not partake of it too freely for your own good, and that you will all return the first Monday in December in good condition to tackle the arduous work of the regular session."

At the other end of the capitol a world and harassed handful of men sat listening to a dull debate on the wool schedule of the tariff bill. Smoot, Norris and Bingham were the principals. No one but the three seemed interested.

Fuss in Senate.

Finally Copeland arose and said that he was about to suggest that the senate adjourn until 9:45 o'clock that evening unless someone offered a good reason why he should not. Smoot attempted to, but failed to satisfy Copeland. Norris remarked that it was the same old story—once let the senate pass a resolution to adjourn and everyone quit work.

Someone suggested a quorum call to make sure, and after repeated calls the roll enough senators were gotten together to transact business. But immediately thereafter most of them disappeared from the chamber.

Tired Senator Smoot gave in and proposed adjournment until that evening at 9:55 o'clock. Hefflin objected—thought it should be 9:30 instead. They argued for a few minutes and he was adamant, and asked for unanimous consent that they meet again at 9:30. Couzens promptly arose and roared, "I object."

"Everybody is loafing. . . . I move we recess until 9:45 tonight." It was agreed to. Only eleven were present for the final 15-minute session.

IN NEW YORK THEATERS

By DEMING SEYMOUR

New York — Romain Rolland's "The Game of Love and Death," one of a dozen plays which that Gallic champion of liberalism has written or projected, is the Theater Guild's second offering of the season to its New York clientele.

It has to do with that revolutionary period when the radicals, riding the more moderate middle wing in French politics, the Girondists, who advocated reform but balked at terrorism.

Jerome de Courvoisier, distinguished mathematician and elder statesman, dissents from extremism when he knows dissent means death. His younger wife, Sophie, is talented and loyal, but her love belongs to Claude Vallee, young Girondist who is marked for the guillotine.

She hides Vallee in her house. Her husband, acquiescing, sees they love each other. Carnot, of the Committee, comes to the home, not to find Vallee but to warn Courvoisier to join the radicals or quit the country before he himself is sentenced to die. Courvoisier, as a matter of conviction and to free his wife, starts his ground and Carnot, in the name of their old friendship, the classic portraits of the theater. Courvoisier, two passports with which he and his wife may flee.

The old statesman offers the passports to his wife and Vallee. Sophie tears hers up, and elects to stay at her husband's side. Vallee takes the other and flees, and when the mob comes to take Courvoisier, he and his young wife, who gave up love for loyalty, are waiting side by side to die together.

Alice Brady is Sophie, Otto Kruger is Vallee and Frank Conroy is Courvoisier, but the highest moment in the drama is provided by a fourth player, Claude Rains, in his role of Carnot.

Watson, The Bay Leaves!

William Gillette is playing "Sherlock Holmes" again, for the last time.

No more need be said to those who know how completely the popular picture of Conan Doyle's shrewd sleuth is a picture of Gillette. He helped Doyle fashion the play, he enacted it first here in 1899, and he even posed for the pictures of Sherlock Holmes which illustrate Doyle's published stories.

Gillette is in his seventies now, but his characterization remains a landmark of the American stage, if only to remind play-goers of one of "The Patriarch" is Abner Gaunt; he and his illustrious family were a tradition of the Alleghenies, and far from the centers of man-made justice he dispenses equity and punishment according to the mandates of his God. When passion breaks through human restraints the patriarch makes judgment and executes his own law for the murder of a brother.

William Courpleigh plays the patriarch's role in this first drama by Boyd Smith—one which shows power and promise. Cecilia Loftus portrays a role of high emotion with admirable restraint, as Abner's wife and mother of the two youths about whose death the action revolves.

A Jewish Comedy

"Mendel, Inc.," by David Freedman, carries the carefree, work-dealing inventor Mendel from his east side home to the estate of a harassed and unhappy but always philosophic plutocrat. Though Mendel has his unhappy moments during the journey, his vociferous family and his plotting and blundering relatives and neighbors provide continuous comedy for the audience.

"YOUNG GUARD" AT REST AFTER TESTING WINGS

By FRANK I. WELLER (AP Feature Service Writer)

Washington —(AP)—How will it soar during the regular session, that fledgling "young guard" bloc of senate republicans which flew solo shortly after it left its nest?

It hatched almost overnight in the special session, blending the voices of its 24 members against the plans of the republican wheel horses to adjourn the special session of congress without passing a tariff bill.

The flight threw the senate into night sessions, the "old guard" into apprehension, and the urgent-democratic coalition into oratory. Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi was the most audible. Intermittently calling them "junior leaguers," "brush leaguers," and "Boy Scouts" he charged the "young guard" with bolting their party leadership in an effort to get out from under responsibility for failure of the tariff bill.

Responding for his colleagues, Senator Henry J. Allen, the new member from Kansas, said the contact with the "old guard" is never admitted and as rarely concealed, declared they wished only to keep the administration's pledge to agriculture and stand by Mr. Hoover.

"We saw a raw deal for the 'old guard' without secret organization, dark plot or ulterior motive in this group, so misunderstood in its motive, voted to block adjournment in the hope that a bill including the industrial rate level of the Fordney-McCumber law and increased agricultural schedules would be passed.

To the "old guard" Senator Allen said that the new alignment of the republican majority did not question the leadership of Senator James E. Watson, Indiana, senator floor leader. Senator George H. Moses, New Hampshire, chairman of the republican senatorial campaign committee, or any of the party wheel horses.

The new element, he assured them, expects to be back in the nest in all things except abandonment of tariff legislation.

However, the new bird soared high on its first flight and while it hovers near the "old guard" its wings are not folded. Its strutting about leaves some question as to where it will perch or what it will turn out to be.

It feels it has the support of the President, and that may be inducement for the spurs and thick feathers of a game cock.

Breweries Uneasy As British Plan Probe Of Liquor Trade

London —(AP)—A noticeable slump in brewery shares and a slight rise in the temperature of discussions on the drink question have been manifest here.

And the uneasiness follows the point of a royal commission for the investigation of the liquor traffic.

There is little fear that the commission will be "packed with prohibitionists," and it is assumed both sides will have an opportunity to present their case.

A good many people feel Great Britain has gone far enough in the matter of drink regulation.

Among them is Lord Dewar, one of Britain's wealthiest distillers, who discussed the question at some length during a meeting of distillery company stockholders.

Addressing his hearers as "sister and brother shareholders," Lord Dewar pointed out that the consumption of distilled alcoholic beverages has decreased in Great Britain to about a third of what it was before the war.

"When we talk of commissions to investigate this industry," he continued, "people forget that in some districts the arrests for drunkenness have been reduced by two thirds, while in prohibitionist counties arrests for drunkenness have doubled. In distillery land—the Glenlivet district of Scotland—perhaps you have observed that the chief constable in his report stated that last year, not one case of drunkenness was discovered in that district."

The results of the Balfour act of 1904, which up to the present time has enabled licensing magistrates to abolish 24,000 licenses in England and Wales, have not been generally appreciated, argued Lord Dewar, except by the licensed trade for this shrinkage.

No one has been so optimistic (or pessimistic, as the case may be) as to predict that the royal commission will culminate its investigation with a recommendation of prohibition for Great Britain.

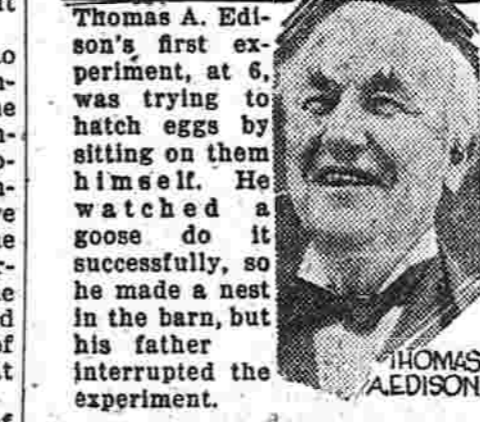

The following, however, have been discussed as being within the realm of probability: The commission may recommend a continuance of the present system of regulation, with some modifications in the regulations as to hours of serving drinks or a still further increase in the tax on alcoholic beverages.

It may advocate the introduction of local option, permitting each community to decide for itself whether it wants to be wet or dry.

It may recommend the taking over of the whole industry by the government—nationalization for the purpose of more effective regulation.

It is the last possibility that worries Britain's beer barons far more than any talk about absolute prohibition.

ORGANIZING OF UNIONS PREVENTED BY MARINES

Washington, Dec. 2.—(AP)—Professor John Dewey, president of the People's lobby, has announced that the organization will seek an investigation by the secretary of state into charges that the marines have been used in Nicaragua "to prevent organization of labor unions."

Contending "the use of United States marines in Nicaragua to prevent organization of labor unions is a logical sequence to the illegal use of those marines to make Nicaragua safe for American exploitation." Professor Dewey said the recent deportation from there of a labor organizer "by United States marines" had "served the useful purpose of making the object of American intervention clear to all central and South American countries."

Seaman De La Selva, the labor organizer to whom Dewey referred, was deported for alleged complicity in a plot to assassinate the president of Nicaragua.

The Avenging Parrot

THIS HAS HAPPENED.

Mrs. Emma Hogarth, said to keep a money hoard in her room on the second floor of Mrs. Rhodes' boarding house, is strangled to death by Bonnie Dundee, "cub" detective, assistant Lieut. Strawn in the investigation. Suspicion falls on Emil Sevier, former boarder whom Mrs. Hogarth accused of trying to rob her and who has disappeared.

Cora Barker, theater pianist, thought to have had an affair with Sevier, is arrested as a material witness against him. Other boarders under suspicion are: Henry Dowd, Norma Paige, Walter Styles, near bankrupt, who had quarreled with Mrs. Hogarth; Bert Magnus, amateur scenario writer who the Sally garth once a month is her daughter and the "D." mentioned in her diary is Dan Griffin, son-in-law of her diary, of whose "turning up" she lives in dread.

Recalling the mysterious details of Sally's murder in New York month previous Dundee believes Dan murdered both women and turns his attention to Dowd and Magnus, newcomers in the Rhodes' house. Dowd's information about himself proves false. In bags containing the waste paper for the month, Bonnie finds an old envelope which had contained a railroad ticket with Dowd's name on it showing he left New York June 3, the day of Sally's murder.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXXIII

Bonnie Dundee sprang to his feet and held the crumpled sheet of pale blue notepaper close to the ceiling of the basement. But his eyes, in the dimmer light of the corner where the trash bags were kept, had not deceived him. He read it again: "The Rhodes House, Sunday, June 22. 'I have asked you repeatedly not to bother me. I have no intention of doing what you ask and it will be useless to call me or write me again.'"

"Now who—?" he frowned, and then so simple an explanation occurred to him that he could have kicked himself for his stupidity. "Cora of course! Warning Emil Sevier to lay off, that she wouldn't have anything to do with his plot to rob Mrs. Hogarth."

He added the note to his little pile of possibly important "clues" to be kept not exactly what, but rummaging as he went through the trash bag when his self-respect reared its biased head and demanded audience with his brain.

"Why should Cora Barker have to write to Emil Sevier, when they worked side by side at the movie theater? Why couldn't she simply tell him to lay off? And why should she see Cora using baby-blue stationery. Orchid or cream paper—yes; but baby-blue? No!"

Then he temporarily dismissed the unfinished letter from his mind, for he had made another discovery. Not much of a find, certainly, but at least it gave him an excellent specimen of Emil Sevier's handwriting, if such a thing should ever be needed.

The thing Dundee held in his hand was a Little Queen Theater program, for the week of June 13. The double sheet had been folded back and forth, and again, in "accidental pleating," but before nervous or absent-minded fingers had done the pleating, they had written all over the white margins: "Emil Sevier, Emil Sevier, Emil Sevier, E. S. Sevier." It was a scrawling signature, one ornamented with many fancy flourishes. It was easy for Dundee to picture the man who was now a fugitive from justice, brooding in his room, and absentmindedly scribbling his name upon the program of the theater which he had frequented with his services as violinist.

"Join your little friends, Emil, but don't contaminate them," Dundee chuckled, as he laid the pleated theater program beside his other finds.

And back to the messy task he went. Lord, what a lot of junk accumulated in a boarding house! Empty face powder and candy boxes; silk stockings hopelessly "laddered"; wrapping paper and twine, advertising circulars; cigar stubs—ugh! And then he found still another sheet of paper which made him pause and speculate with narrowed eyes.

It was a billhead of "The Gentleman's Shop," owned by Walter Styles. There was one long column of figures, which added to a four figure total, and another short column whose sum was considerably smaller. The liabilities and the assets of "The Gentleman's Shop?" More than likely, Dundee concluded. Scrawled across the two columns were the words: "Oh, God! What's the use?" And he scurried across the bottom of the sheet he found:

"20,000? $15,000? $10,000?"

"My dear Walter, I do believe you were speculating upon the amount of money poor old Mrs. Hogarth had cashed away in her room, and which you were temporarily an heir to! Or were these interesting calculations and speculations made after you were disinherited, and just before you proposed to Norma Paige the new heiress?"

My dear Walter, one might say offhand that you were a fairly desperate young man when you did this bit of figuring."

CHOCOLATE FROSTING

One of the most delicious things in the world is a good home-made custard or cream pie frosted with chocolate.

In his hands was a program of the Little Queen Theater, folded in accordion pleating, exactly like the program he had found that afternoon in the trash bag. And white tweed-like cotton print, the same program was not lavishly autographed by Emil Sevier, there could be little doubt that the same nervous hands had folded both.

Twenty minutes later Dundee was making Sergeant Turner, his nominal chief during Lieutenant Strawn's absence, a present of his two finds.

"I've checked them both," he admitted, with admirable grace, for he was keenly disappointed to find that he had apparently been on the wrong track all along. "This is the brand of cigar that Sevier smoked, according to Mrs. Rhodes. None of the other smokers in the house could stand them, always refused when Sevier offered them. The flower pot in which I found it is directly under a broken pane in the roof. It rained early Saturday morning, and hasn't rained a drop since. If the stub had been there before Saturday, it would have been soaked. You can see that it hasn't been rained on."

"And the theater program? What does that prove, beyond the fact that Sevier probably folded it?"

"The program is for the current week at the Little Queen, that is, for the week beginning last Sunday. But I telephoned the manager and he told me that the new programs are distributed in the theater on Saturday. Sevier was at the Little Queen Saturday night, as we know. Undoubtedly he picked up one then, and while waiting for a chance in the clubhouse, absentmindedly pleated it in his characteristic fashion, then carelessly dropped it."

"They always leave some clue," Sergeant Turner commented tritely. "Well, congratulations, my boy! We've got Sevier sewed up—if we ever find him!"

But Dundee was not quite so happy as Sergeant Turner. It is hard to give up a pet theory.

The WOMAN'S DAY

"No," said the pretty young stenographer. "I won't consider that job. My boss would be a woman, and that's something I can't stand. I'll wait till something better turns up"—meaning a job where she can take dictation from a man.

"My dear, I've no objections to women being lawyers if they want to be, though I don't see why they should. They must be just as good, but when I have any legal business to be attended to, give me a man," said the woman who was in search of a lawyer.

"I'm quite sure women doctors are all right—but when I am ill, I want a man and not a woman tending to my case. I have more confidence in a man, somehow—the speaker was a woman."

Women vs. Woman

How often you hear similar remarks—hear them from women who believe in feminism, who believe women should be emancipated from the home and from masculine domination, who believe that they should be given men's jobs, and who believe they are progressive in every respect.

And how little they realize that they are effectively holding back women's progress, because they are voicing the opinions of the large number of people who make up "the public"—the dear public which must be pleased, if possible, I was complaining once to a telephone official, because of all the women employed to say "Number, please," in their most dulcet tones, only a few ever got any important executive positions.

He admitted this was true, but absolved the company from blame.

Women are Barred

Have you ever noticed many women floor walkers in stores? You have not. There is a field women have not craved. When there is a check to be o.k.'d, or something to be straightened out, it is always "Mr. Somebody" who is summoned. Stores would just as soon have women floor walkers. They would probably be just as efficient and work just as hard. But store officials know their women shoppers too well to give these jobs to women. They know, given equal tact and equal courtesy, women will prefer to have a man floor walker direct them to the toy department, or listen to their grievance against a clerk, than a woman do it.

The antagonism of woman against woman is old as time. It is something women do not realize they have, and yet it is reflected in the modern commercial age, as clearly as it was in the days of the cavemen. It seems incongruous with our advanced concepts of freedom, but it is there.

HEALTH

DISEASES OF MIDDLE AGE GAIN AS MORE PEOPLE LIVE LONGER.

By DR. MORRISH FISHBEN.

Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine.

In an address before the American Public Health Association, Dr. L. J. Dublin emphasized the difference between the expectation of life and the span of life in order that people might have a more clear understanding of what science has accomplished in improving the former without changing the latter.

The great gains that have been made in increasing life expectancy have been made by overcoming infant mortality, the infectious diseases of youth and the great plagues.

People do not live to more extreme old age than they used to, but a great many more people live to middle age and beyond, so that the average length of life is lengthened.

According to Dublin, there are about 5,000 people in the United States out of a total of 110,000,000 who claim the distinction of being one hundred years old or over, but he says, as most statisticians think, there is a good deal of poetical license in this claim. Raymond Pearl found 30 people out of 3,000,000 lived to the age of 100, and of these, 20 were women.

Since 1921 the death rates for heart disease and cancer have been definitely on the increase in people past middle life. This is significant, because cancer is essentially a disease of middle age or beyond and the reason there is more cancer is people are living longer to have cancer.

Another increase emphasized by Dublin is that in diabetes. This increase may also be associated with the fact that more people are living longer and that the span of life has greatly increased in recent years. The human system has a definite part to play in determining the length of life. When the machine has lost its power of repair and recuperation, the less effort and stress placed upon it, the more likely it is to survive for a longer period of time.

POLES SOLVE DEATH OF 1812 DIPLOMATS

Warsaw.—(AP)—The grave of Joel Barlow, one of the first American diplomatic representatives to Europe—he was minister to the government of Napoleon in 1812—has been found in a deserted little country church by the Polish Society for the Protection of Graves of War Heroes.

Barlow accompanied the French emperor on his Moscow campaign in 1812, and after the defeat of Napoleon tried to make his way through Eastern Europe by sleigh. He contracted the typhoid that was ravaging the defeated army and died somewhere in Poland. But the details of his death or the whereabouts of his grave have remained a mystery until the discovery by the Graves Society.

The records of the little church in Zarnowiec in the county of Krakow revealed that the minister died December 26, 1812. The death certificate in the church archives states that two witnesses, Jan Blask, postmaster, and Idzi Bojerkiewicz, owner of a small farm, made depositions that Barlow "died in house number one while passing through Zarnowiec on his way to Warsaw."

The witnesses were unaware of the names of his parents but knew that he was the husband of Margaret Baldwin and resident of an American town named Ridgfield.

Sister Mary's Kitchen

When eggs are high in price, many of us hesitate to use them extravagantly in our everyday desserts. The part the dessert must play in the meal determines whether an eggless pudding can take the place of one rich with eggs.

The pudding that is wanted to furnish bulk and sugar to a menu rich in concentrated protein is quite satisfactory if made without eggs. However, if the most course is light, with meat used chiefly for "flavor," a pudding made with eggs is necessary to build up the meal and make up the lacking protein.

This thought must be uppermost when meals are planned if a balanced diet is maintained.

Fuddings Are Varied

There are various types of puddings that are exceedingly palatable even if they are made without eggs. Hot, cold, steamed and baked, the cooks' choice is wide.

Eggless suet puddings are especially good in cold weather. Their spicy aroma is appetizing and welcoming, while the suet itself has the virtue of being an easily digested fat as well as a cheap one.

Tapicos pudding made with raisins, citron, nuts and currant jelly is delicately spiced to make it pleasingly piquant. This pudding is chilled before serving and is suitable to serve with pork.

Cumberland pudding is made with vegetables and suet and is as delicious as it is inexpensive.

Cumberland Pudding

One cup grated raw carrot, 1 cup grated raw potato, 1 cup brown sugar, 1/2 cup currants, 1/2 cup seeded raisins, 1/2 cup sliced and shredded citron, two tablespoons minced cardus, lemon peel, 1 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon cloves, 1/2 cup milk.

The vegetables can be put through the fine knife of the food chopper if grating is not convenient. Mix and sift one cup of flour with spices, soda and salt. Sift remaining flour over fruit. Mix vegetables, suet and sugar. Mix thoroughly ingredients. Blend thoroughly and floured fruit. Mix well and turn into a buttered mold. Cover and steam three and one-half hours. Serve warm with hard sauce.

STATUS OF BOYS IS ROME-PARIS PUZZLE

Vintimille, Franco-Italian Border.—(AP)—Many years ago Edward Everett Hale showed the dilemma of The Man Without A Country in one short volume. However, he had but one man and one country to deal with.

Mussolini and the French Ministry for Foreign Affairs are faced with a more difficult problem. They have fifty-eight children with two countries each to deal with. Undoubtedly many volumes will be written before the children are classified.

This city is in Italian territory, and the puzzle started shortly after the armistice when a French family, the husband being employed in the local French customs office, welcomed an heir. Fifty-seven similar incidents took place in other French families.

Now Mussolini has announced that all the heirs are Italian since they were born in Italy and have lived here for ten years. The children are not complaining, but the parental moans have reached Paris. The result is problematical, but the fifty-eight youngsters have eight years before they have to serve apprenticeship in any army.

LOVER'S KNOT

"DON'T YOU REMEMBER?"

AND NOW

"NOW DON'T FORGET!"

YOUR CHILDREN

by Olive Roberts Barton
©1928 by NEA Service, Inc.

Don't allow the children to deplore everything they do. Old advice, but still good and, I'm afraid, not often enough taken. For children who belittle their own efforts, are on the direct road to failure by a very power of their own suggestion.

One time an artist painted a picture. It was the fourth time he had attempted it—the other three canvases he had destroyed because there was that elusive "Something" that he couldn't quite get. He spent a hectic winter working, getting up sometimes in the middle of the night and working until daylight. He didn't eat, he didn't sleep, he grew haggard and thin. At last he finished the picture and it was a great work. It went up for sale and a prospective buyer asked to meet the great artist. He came to the gallery and they were introduced.

Now, like a good many people who can do worthwhile things, the artist had an inferiority complex. It made a bad combination with his nervous, impulsive temperament. When the gentleman asked him to give his interpretation of the picture, he stood a moment, then smiled deprecatingly, and said in an off-hand way, "Really, I don't know what I mean exactly. It really isn't worth looking at."

Minus Self-Respect

The purchaser just looked at him a moment and left. The manager of the gallery who had heard the conversation asked the artist to have the picture removed. Refusing ever again to act as either agent or exhibitor. "If you have no faith in your own work, you'll find no one else has either," he declared. "You don't need to learn to paint—you need to learn self-respect."

Children are impatient. They can't see their own progress. They compare their attempts with those of older people and notice the difference. "I can't do it right; I'm not smart enough," is the way they jump at conclusions.

We'll have to keep on explaining then that no one expects it to be perfect, that we don't expect grown-up standards from children. Teach them not to appreciate results, but to appreciate their own efforts, to respect the thought, and time, and energy, and trouble they put into things.

Teach Children Pride

I can't bear to see children so painfully embarrassed over things they have done and done well, or even tried to do well. We should teach them to take real joy in earnest praise if we possibly can. Don't let a boy who has carved a lovely ship say, "Oh, it's no good. I did it just for fun." You know how earnest he was about it—how hard he worked to get it right. He ought to stick by his product more proudly. A girl who has timidly turned in a story to the school magazine, a story on which she has put days of work and energy, should be stopped instantly when she begins to tell around that "it is simply awful. If they publish it I think I'll die of shame."

The power of self-suggestion is an enormous thing, greater, I believe than an outside suggestion. Children learn to do by doing, but they learn to do better by sticking to their colors and not running their efforts down to the ground. Encouragement comes from within as well as without.

VARIETY AT HOME

Just for the sake of the stimulation variety gives one, why not rearrange your home this winter, placing each room's furniture differently, experimenting with lighting and so on? Even if you go back to your present arrangement, it will have been interesting.

RAINY DAYS

If your children grow tired of this or that toy or game, collect these into one big box in the attic or cellar and reserve them for rainy days. They forget them when they are put away, and will take new interest in them.

WINTER SALADS

The main thing about winter salads is to keep them interesting. Cans and bottles of decorative things like pimentos, green cherries, stuffed olives and so on do much to tease the appetite.

LOST JEWELS

It is an excellent plan to take your jewels regularly to a reliable store to make sure the settings are safe. Many a valuable stone would not have been lost if this had been done.

BIG CROWDS WITNESS "VIRGINIAN" HERE

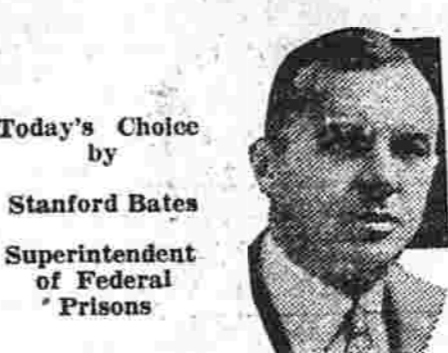

Ideal Stage for Talkies—Four Stars Take Leading Character Parts.

Crowded houses saw and heard "The Virginian" at the State last night and everyone left the theater astounded and delighted.

Photographed and "miked" in the open spaces of the western cattle country, the film presents to the eye and ear of the beholder every thrilling detail of this thrilling story. You hear the howling of a thousand head of cattle, you hear the shouts of the cowboys as they drive the stampeding herd through the swift flowing current of a river, you hear the cowboys round the crackling campfire chanting their typical ditties, you hear Gary Cooper, the hero, barking those immortal words "Er you want to call me that?"

The cast is headed by four stars who by all rights are entitled to star alone in any picture. Gary Cooper is seen and heard in the title role. Walter Huston delivers his best screen performance as "Tompa," as hard boiled a cattle rustler as ever roamed the plains. Richard Arlen is seen in the role of "Steve" and beautiful Mary Brian supplies the romance in the role of a "school marm" just arrived from Vermont. "The Virginian" is based on the novel of the same name written by Owen Wister in the '80's and known to this day as one of the greatest of America's literary classics.

My Favorite Bible Passage

Today's Choice by Stanford Bates Superintendent of Federal Prisons

Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in me.—John 14:1. He hath sheweth thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?—Micah 6:8.

Parable of the Prodigal Son.—Luke 15:11-32. The woman taken in sin.—John 8:3-11.

The final sublime example of forgiveness from the New Testament. (Compiled by the Bible Guild.) Tuesday: Lillian M. Gilbreth, successful consulting engineer.

Helpful Automobile Hint: The motor should be well-lubricated, but keep the driver dry.

Needless Pain! Some folks take pain for granted. They let a cold "run its course." They wait for their headaches to "wear off." If suffering from neuralgia or from neuritis, they rely on feeling better in the morning. Meantime, they suffer unnecessary pain. Unnecessary, because there is an antidote. Bayer Aspirin always offers immediate relief from various aches and pains we once had to endure. If pain persists, consult your doctor as to its cause. Save yourself a lot of pain and discomfort through the many uses of Bayer Aspirin. Protect yourself by buying the genuine. Bayer is safe. Always the same. All drugstores.

Weekly Cable Review

By Associated Press

After five months of raids and watchful waiting that threatened many times to break into war, Soviet Russia and the Manchurian government last week began what seemed to be serious negotiations to settle their dispute about the Chinese Eastern railway. Plenipotentiaries were to meet at Khabarovsk, Siberia, to discuss terms. Reports affirmed that the Nationalist government had approved the direct contact between Moscow and Mukden. Mukden was said to have accepted two of the three Russian conditions, but opposed reinstatement of the Russian manager and vice-manager. The negotiations followed a large scale punitive raid into Manchuria by Russian troops, who captured thousands of Chinese soldiers and drove the Manchurian armies in flight before them. The Russians later withdrew. The big powers that signed the Kellogg-Briand pact, suitably began to consider the most effective means of intervening and bringing peace, but the announcement of the negotiations between Moscow and Mukden forestalled them. Nanking had talked of appealing to the League of Nations if the Russian invasion continued. Meanwhile the Nationalists had trouble enough at home. President Chang Kai-Shek persuaded the Kuomintang to withdraw by using bullets of silver. But as soon as the fighting stopped north of Hankow, he was obliged to hurry to the

3,000 GALS. OF ALKIE FOR AUTO CONSUMPTION

This Town Uses Up Big Quantity of Anti-Freeze Material Over Week End. Reports from a greater part of the garages and filling stations in town indicate that during the sudden cold snap of Friday, Saturday and Sunday nearly 3,000 gallons of radiator alcohol were sold, the great bulk of it on Friday and Saturday. This is exclusive of the sales of other anti-freeze mixtures. Very nearly 500 cases of run down batteries, the result of long continued difficulty in starting cold cars, are also reported. About half of the causing substitutions of fresh batteries by the service stations were made at points distant from the garages.

EPWORTH LEAGUE NOTES

The Prohibition Essay Contest which the third department sponsored closed on November 15. Prizes were awarded to the following: Bernice Harrison, first prize, for her essay on "Why the U. S. Prohibits the Use of Alcoholic Liquors"; and Catherine Corder, second prize, for her essay on "Prohibition." The judges of the essays were Stephen Klein, Florence Lewis and the assistant minister, James E. Greer. Those in charge of the contest were Gladys Harrison, chairman; Thomas Corder and Florence Lewis. The League is to have charge of a grab-bag at the South Methodist church bazaar which is to be held at the church on Wednesday, December 4. Among the young people of the South Methodist church who were home from school and work for the Thanksgiving holiday were: Samuel Crockett from Wesleyan University, Myron Burr from Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Francis Burr from Wesleyan University, Kathryn Purinton from Barnard College, Elsie Harrison from Boston University, Alice Harrison from Boston University, Gay Amy, Dorothy Curran from Boston School of Domestic Science, Albert Holman who works in New York state and Elizabeth Vennard from Elmira College.

Freighter Aground

Oswego, N. Y., Dec. 2.—(AP)—The steamer Franladoc, Canadian registry, was aground today on Main Duck Island, 26 miles from here in Lake Ontario, with heavy seas sweeping her. The freighter, loaded with 2,100 tons of grain and carrying a crew of about 18 men went ashore in a northwest gale yesterday. The freighter Valley Camp of Cleveland, was reported standing by. Coast Guardsmen were on the scene this morning, but the heavy surf and rough water prevented them going to the freighter. Attempts also were made to reach a salvage and wrecking steamer at Kingston, Ont. The Franladoc is owned by James Clayfair and Company, of Sarnia, Ont., one of a fleet of 56 freighters operated by the company.

Old Uncle Clo says: "When a woman goes up in de air she mos' usually lands on her husband." An old colored woman came into the office of the estate for which she worked to receive her wages. As she could not write, she always received with the customary cross.

On the particular occasion of which we are telling, she made a circle instead of a cross, and the man in charge, noticing it, remarked to her about it. "Well," the old negress explained, "Ah done got married yesterday an' changed mah name."

One morning a negro sauntered lazily into the office of a white friend. "Good mawnin' Mr. Withrow. Kin I use yo' 'fone a minute," he asked. "Why, certainly, Sambo."

Sambo called his number, and after a few minutes wait, said, "Is dis Missus Whiteside? Well, Ah seed in de papah whar yo' all wanted a good

Poor Clowny! He was scared to death. The captain made him catch his breath and start to run like everything. It was a funny sight. The other Tines felt real sad to think the captain was so mad. Then Scouty shouted, very loudly, "Scout with all your might." But Clowny didn't need to be told of his plight. He knew that he was in for quite a spanking if he didn't get away. You can't imagine how it feels to have a big man at your heels who's very, very mad at you. It's mighty far from play. The captain cried, "I'll catch you soon and then you'll sing another tune. A lad who takes my cookies cannot stay upon this ship. Out in a boat we'll turn you free and you can drift around at sea. The other little Tines can continue on our trip." Of course the captain didn't know that what he charged was far from so. The cookies were not stolen, but were given by the cook. And Clowny wouldn't tell the boss 'cause that would be the poor cook's loss. 'Twas certain he'd be blamed for every bit of food he took. So on poor, frightened Clowny ran. He thought, gee, if I only can find some nice place to hide in, I'll be thankful as can be. I know that I am in real wrong and Mister Captain looks real strong. Whence once he lays his hands on me, he'll turn me o'er his knee. Just then he reached the big ship's side and o'er the railing took a slide. The captain didn't see him as he disappeared from sight. An anchor big hung right near-by and Clowny grabbed it with a sigh. Thought he, I've dodged the captain and I guess that I'm all right. (The anchor is let down into the sea in the next story.)

ABOUT TOWN
Mr. and Mrs. James C. Robinson of Greenhill street have returned from a motor trip to Barre, Vt., where they were guests for Thanksgiving and the week-end of Mr. and Mrs. William Newman, formerly of this town. Mr. Newman is manager for the Metropolitan Insurance company, by whom Mr. Robinson is also employed. Saturday evening, following a meeting of agents in Burlington, a complimentary dinner was tendered Mr. Robinson in Barre and twelve of the men were present.

Mrs. Edward Fahey, Sr., who has been undergoing treatment for the past month at the Manchester Memorial hospital, has left that institution and is now at the home of her daughter in Enfield.

Miss Ruth Marlow has resumed her studies at New York University after spending the Thanksgiving recess with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Marlow of Holl street.

A number of local people will appear before the judge of the Superior Court in Hartford Wednesday to complete requirements for citizenship in this country.

Women of Mooseheart Legion will hold their regular meeting tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock at the home clubhouse on Brainerd place.

Rev. W. D. Woodward, Hollister street, was called to his former parish at Staffordville Friday afternoon to officiate at the funeral of Elwyn E. Phelps, 76, who passed away on the 27th. A large company of relatives and friends filled the house. A trio from Stafford rendered appropriate hymns.

Miss Ethel V. Woodward, of Storrs, and Rev. Truman Woodworth and family, of East Hartford, were Thanksgiving guests of their parents, Rev. and Mrs. W. D. Woodward, Hollister street.

The first card party of the season will be held at the White house, 79 North Main street, tonight, at 8 o'clock by the Manchester Community Club. Both straight whist and bridge whist will be played with prizes in each section. Miss Christine Mason, recreational director who is in charge is hoping for a large turnout of card players from all over town.

Sunset Rebekah Lodge will initiate a class of nine candidates at its meeting this evening in Odd Fellows hall, which will be in celebration of the thirty-fifth anniversary of the organization of the lodge here, combined with grand officers' night.

Mystic Review Women's Benefit association will hold its regular business meeting in Odd Fellows hall tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. The regional district deputy Miss Roas Miller of Pawtucket, R. I., will be present and a large attendance of the members is hoped for. The officers and guards will wear white.

Mrs. Rose Kronick of Wilrose Dress shop is in New York on a buying trip.

Cadets Jessie Larder and Rachel Lyons came home from the Salvation Army Training school yesterday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Mary J. Leggett. They will return to New York this evening.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Brozowski, of Lockwood street and a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zilewitz of 8 Legend street yesterday at the Memorial hospital.

Manchester Lodge, No. 1477, Loyal Order of Moose will meet at the Home Club on Brainerd Place at 8 o'clock tonight.

The children's choir of the Swedish Lutheran Church will meet at 6:30 o'clock tonight.

Sunset Council, No. 45, Degree of Pochontas, will meet in Tinker Hall at 8 o'clock tonight. Whist will be played following the meeting.

The Beethoven Glee Club will rehearse at the Swedish Lutheran Church at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

The G Clef Glee Club will rehearse with Emil Heimberger's ensemble at the Swedish Lutheran Church at 9 o'clock tonight in preparation for the second annual concert tomorrow evening at the High School.

Wadsworth McKinney, son of Mr. and Mrs. William McKinney of Arch street, who recently underwent an operation at the Memorial hospital is progressing favorably and is expected home in a few days.

Miss Sadie Morrow who is leaving tomorrow to spend the winter in California, is the guest of honor at a farewell surprise party held Saturday evening at the home of her sister, Mrs. Charles Bronkie of Center street. About thirty relatives and friends of Miss Morrow were present, and the time was spent pleasantly with games, dancing and instrumental music. Kenneth Graham sang several songs. A buffet lunch was served by the hostess. Her friends remembered Miss Morrow with a handsome traveling bag and a gold piece. She will spend the greater part of her time in Los Angeles with her niece, Miss Margaret Bronkie.

Jim Schaub, Fred Soboleo and Fred McCormick report that the fish were having an off day yesterday. Owing to a late start and timidity over ice conditions, only four pickers were taken. The members of the party found the ice to be four inches thick and perfectly safe for ice fishing.

SNOW STORM BREAKS COLD WAVE LOCALLY

Mercury Goes Up as Flakes Start Falling Just Before Noon Today.

Snow and warmer weather came as a big relief to Manchester today to replace the sub-zero weather of the past few days which brought many deaths throughout the country. The intensity of the cold wave began to lessen early yesterday and afternoon found the biting wind which had caused people to imagine a much lower recording of the thermometer, died away almost completely. The average mercury report Saturday night was between five and ten degrees above zero. This morning it had risen approximately thirty points. The snow began falling at 11:30. The flakes were large and the ground was covered in less than a half an hour. But the snow and warm weather was a decided comfort in comparison to the biting, stinging, cutting wind of Saturday.

Further proof of the change in the weather yesterday is seen in the fact that nearly 3,000 persons turned out to watch a football game at Mt. Nebo. The day before, the same attraction wouldn't have drawn 1,000. The Connecticut River was frozen over as far as Middletown for the first time in years but not enough to disrupt boat traffic.

DRIVING VIOLATIONS COURT CASES TODAY

Three Speeders and Two Without Registrations—All But One from Out of Town.

Five cases having to do with violations of the motor vehicle law were before the Manchester Town Court this morning. Three pleaded guilty to speeding and two others for operating with improper registration.

Frank F. Moring of 6 Elliott place, Hartford, paid a fine of $10 and costs for speeding. He was arrested on Center street Sunday morning by Sergeant John Crockett.

Andrew R. Madden of Talcottville paid a fine of $10 and costs for speeding. He was arrested by Traffic Officer Wirtalla on Main street yesterday afternoon.

Bartholomew Mullins of Stafford Springs was fined $10 and costs for driving his car with improper registration. In this case the judge remitted the fine on Mullins' explanation that he had borrowed the car from a friend.

Stephen A. Golon of West Sufield had two charges against him, one for operating without the proper registration and the other without a license. He was driving a Stutz with Essex registration. He pleaded guilty to the latter charge but not guilty to driving without a license. He maintained that the man he had with him on the front seat had a license. Judge Johnson suspended judgment on the charge of driving without a license, and fined him $10 and costs for driving with improper registration.

Seven more Manchester men paid fines of $2.00 without costs for improper parking. All of these cars were tagged on Saturday night.

THANKSGIVING DINNER AT THE ALMSHOUSE

Oh, Mr. Turkey nice and brown
Oh, how we relished you,
I surely thought that we'd be sick
by the time we finished you.
White potatoes, sweet potatoes, turnips our delight,
Cranberries, celery, dressing just right,
Mince pie, pumpkin pie, cider, oh my!
Dainties piled in dishes we had to set aside.
For I think that we did justice to the spread before our eyes,
So for this good and tasty feast,
dear God our thanks shall never cease.
A Member of the Home.

fit
HIGH arch and narrow heel...a difficult combination to fit, ordinarily. But Wilbur Coon Shoes fit like a new glove...the famous 5-point fit.
No matter how hard your foot is to fit, bring it here. Over 200 sizes...1 to 12, AAAA to EEE. Fine style in every pair.

The Proof
It is the final test that makes one truly appreciative of the real value of insurance.
An economically sound insurance program, made to embrace your complete requirements, is essential to the stability of your business and the safety of your credit.
Some of these requirements may not be easily recognized—nor may some forms of urgently required insurance be understood.

BURKE-HOLLISTER

At two o'clock Saturday afternoon a quiet wedding took place at the home of the officiating minister, Rev. W. D. Woodward, 121 Hollister street, when Miss Pearl Irene Hollister, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Hollister, 48 Hollister street, became the bride of Charles J. Burke. They were accompanied by the bride's brother, Frank W. Hollister, as best man, and Miss Emily M. Pillard, of Lyness street, as bridesmaid. The bride was becomingly attired in a pea-green silk dress trimmed with white chautilly lace. The bridesmaid wore a suit of dark green silk. After a short bridal tour the young couple are to occupy a suite of rooms in the house of Sidney L. Wheaton, 23 Autumn street.

DUCKS RETURN HOME AFTER TRIP UP NORTH

North Ender Loses His Poultry Early in Summer Only to Get Them in Cold Weather.

Charles Kusik, who conducts a bakery on Kerry street is sure that ducks come back to roost just as chickens are said to do. Until the early part of this summer he was the owner of two ducks who spent their sporting time in Union pond, the north part of his property abutting the pond. Then came a day when a number of other ducks put in their appearance, rested for a time on the water and then flew north. That night the Kusik ducks were missing and have been away from their regular roosts since.

Wednesday night a number of ducks were reported heading south and they flew over the Union pond. Two of them alighted on the water, which was not at that time frozen. They remained off shore about 150 yards. Efforts were made to get them in by throwing corn and bread upon the banks. Thursday night it was mighty cold. All of the Union pond was coated over with the exception of a circle about twelve feet in diameter, which the ducks kept open by swimming around. It was cold all day Friday and Saturday morning it was noticed that the ducks' "swimming" pool had gone down to about five feet.

Boys started to go out on the ice after the ducks, but the ice was too thin to hold their weight. It remained for Walter Yavorski a boy living at 17 Kerry street to make the final try.

FORMER RESIDENT HERE DIES IN WHITE PLAINS

Edward Boyle and his son, John F. Boyle, of 23 Vernon street, Manchester Green, are expected home from White Plains, N. Y., tonight. They have been attending the funeral of Mr. Boyle's brother, John Boyle, about 60, who died at 4:30 Saturday afternoon following a four month's illness.

Mr. Boyle was unmarried and left two brothers, Edward of Manchester Green and Terrence of Chicago. About 15 years ago he moved in Manchester being employed at a time at the Warano when James O'Brien was manager. He had been to Manchester and on for visits.

The bank young Yavorski crawled out and succeeded in getting one of the ducks as he went by. He laid in wait and soon caught the other, bringing both back to shore. They were allowed to enter their old coop with the exception of one duck, which may have a frozen leg, they seem to be in good condition.

The boy was given 50 cents for his venture.
