LANDRY SILENT WHEN GRILLED BY DETECTIVES

Hickey Aids Florida Officials In Search for Escaped Convicts—Another Sus- pect is Held by Police.

Jacksonville, Fla., Jan. 23.—(AP)—With the arrest of W. R. Hunt, of this city, police believe they have discovered where Roland G. Malone and Watson Moulthrop secured the pistol with which their comrade in escape, Leo Landry, claims they killed one detective and wounded another here last week. Police say Hunt traded a pistol with Moulthrop for two diamond rings stolen in a local home. H. L. Irwin and Charles B. Davis, arrested in Orlando are said by the authorities to have been with the Connecticut trio shortly before the two detectives were shot and killed. The police are looking for the escaped convicts were being sought at the time of their gun duel.

Landry Keeps Silent

Lengthy examination of Landry has so far failed to draw any information that might lead to the capture of Malone and Moulthrop. Nor have Hunt, Irwin or Davis thrown any light on their whereabouts. Ten minutes after the shooting police quote Hunt as saying, Moulthrop came out of the city. Hunt claims he replied "There are numerous ways" but denies he assisted in the escape of the convicts. Local police are being aided in the probe by George H. Bradley, parole officer of the Connecticut State Prison and County Detective Edward J. Hickey, special investigator for the State's attorneys at Hartford, Conn.

ICE BLOCKS SHIP ON WAY TO BYRD

State Dept. Asks Aid of Whalers in Antarctic Waters to Help Relief Ships.

New York, Jan. 23.—(AP)—With ice blocking passage of Admiral Richard Byrd's flagship to his base at Little America, an appeal has been made through the State Department for the aid of Norwegian whalers to help save the Byrd Expedition from spending another year on the Antarctic ice barrier. The New York Times which with associated newspapers is sponsoring the expedition said today that an announcement that the flagship City of New York had reached Little America is contradicted by Captain H. H. Railey, manager of the expedition and Admiral Byrd's personal representative in New York. The announcement originated with an amateur radio operator in Washington, Ohio.

Blocked by Ice

"On the contrary" Capt. Raleigh said "The City of New York has reached only the edge of the ice pack in the Ross Sea, a very different matter. And owing to the unprecedented condition of the ice pack, the New York and the Eleanor Bolling may not succeed in negotiating the southward passage to Admiral Byrd's base—at least not without the aid of larger vessels.

Critical Time

"This is a critical time. The Eleanor Bolling will join the City of New York on the northern edge of the ice pack about Jan. 26. If the ice is sufficiently open by that time both vessels will proceed south to present no indication that the ice pack will be sufficiently open.

TO OPERATE IN NEWFOUNDLAND

New York, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The Atlantic Coast Fisheries Co. is negotiating with the government of Newfoundland for fishing concessions. F. W. Bryce, president of the company, said today. He did not reveal what concessions are sought. Information regarding the negotiations must be kept confidential, said Squires, premier of Newfoundland, he said.

It was indicated however that the company would be allowed to erect plants and operate trawlers along the coast of Newfoundland.

SKIPPER IS FINED FOR SAVING SHIP

Rushes Into Port For New Tow Ropes And Does Not Declare Them At Customs House.

Brest, France, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Because he was in too much of a hurry to bother with Customs regulations while hastening to the rescue of a ship in distress, Skipper Malbert of the salvage tug Iroise was fined twenty dollars today for violation of rules at the port. Malbert's tug had already saved a number of vessels, but having broken all his tow-ropes he put into Brest for new ones. Customs formalities required that these be properly declared, but Malbert hearing the call of other distressed craft threw the rules to the wind and hurried out to the rescue. Customs officers complained, and the court held today that despite the humanitarian mission, Captain Malbert must pay for the violation of the laws.

KING DENIES USING CHECK SENT BY METZ

Utah Senator Says He Tore Up One from New York Dye Importer—Never Heard of Other Checks.

Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Senator King, Democrat, Utah, denied today that he had accepted any contributions from H. A. Metz, New York dye importer, either in 1922 or 1928.

Questioned by newspapermen after testimony had been heard by the Senate Lobby committee that Metz had contributed $1,000 to King's campaign funds in 1922 and had sent him a check for the same amount in 1928, Senator King denied emphatically that he accepted any money from the importer.

Never Used Check

He said, however, that Metz had sent him a $1,000 check in 1928 which was never used because "I didn't want to receive money from my friends and be under obligations to anyone." He produced a part of the check which bore Metz's signature as evidence that it had been destroyed.

Questioned about testimony by Samuel Russell, his mother's secretary, that Metz had contributed $1,000 in 1922 King said:

"I never heard of it." The Senator added that Metz passed through Utah in 1928 and asked if he could contribute any money to the general Democratic campaign. King said he told Metz he could not receive any money.

Later, he said, he received a $1,000 check from Metz which was destroyed unintentionally. After the campaign the Senator said he was cleaning out his correspondence and threw the check in the waste basket.

Happening to see it he added, he tore off the signature to show in case any one doubted that the check had been destroyed. He said Metz used and that the check had been destroyed.

King also denied Russell's testimony that the former secretary had aided in preparing a speech on the "dye trust" which the Senator delivered in the Senate.

GERMANY IS FLOODED WITH BAD U. S. NOTES

European Counterfeiters Specializing on American Bills; Many Are Distributed in Switzerland.

Berlin, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The American embassy today associated itself with a German police investigation of a European counterfeit ring that has been specializing in American notes.

Alfred Killeth, second secretary, conferred with the chief of the counterfeit section at the Reichsbank and with the chief of the city detective bureau at police headquarters. Though no information was given out after the conference, the embassy said that Killeth had been sent to obtain a full report on the police investigation of the counterfeiters.

Reports have been received in Berlin that additional batches of counterfeit dollars have been found in Switzerland. The German press is devoting a large amount of space to the investigation in an effort to put German banks and the public on their guard. The banks have been informed of the characteristic marks of the forged bills.

NEW ARCHBISHOP

Vatican City, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Pope Pius today appointed the Rt. Rev. Francis J. L. Beckman, now bishop of Lincoln, Nebraska, to be archbishop of Dubuque.

FIRST PICTURE OF BUS CRASH

Grim evidence of tragedy, this picture shows the almost complete demolition of the large school bus in which nine children and the driver were killed in a collision with a fast train at Berea, O., near Cleveland. The bus was struck squarely in the center as it crossed the railroad tracks, the driver's vision obstructed by mist on the windshield. Here you see the rear part of the bus chassis, and on it are some of the school desks and lunch pails of the occupants. Most of the victims were small children attending the first to sixth grades.

EAST HAMPTON BANKER IS REPORTED MISSING

Warrant Out for Clarke W. Burnham Accused of Ob- taining Money by False Pretences.

East Hampton, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Clarke W. Burnham, resigned executive vice-president of the East Hampton Bank & Trust, who is accused of obtaining money from the bank by false pretenses, was missing from his home here today.

He has been sought since last night when warrants were sworn out for him and Earle S. Stevens, former treasurer who was arrested and released under $10,000 bonds. It was believed Burnham had gone to his former home in Williamstown.

The men were forced to resign from the bank when irregularities of $70,000 came to light. Bank officials said that more serious charges would be brought against them later.

Stevens on Bonds.

After his arrest last night Stevens was freed in $10,000 bonds. It is said Burnham's auto was in his garage last night but this morning it was missing. He was an assistant cashier in the Williamstown Trust Company before he became an official of the East Hampton institution.

His mother lives in that city. Deputy Sheriff Ray Youngs made several attempts to serve the warrant on the former executive vice-president last night at his home but was told that the man was there. Meanwhile a justice of the peace waited in expectation that the arrest would be made. The alleged shortage came to light last Friday in a statement issued by the bank which said that the loss amounted to approximately $70,000 fully protected by surety.

ERECT A MEMORIAL TO MAN WHO CAUSED WORLD WAR

New York, Jan. 23.—(AP)—A dispatch to the N. Y. Times today said that the world's first statute to an assassin was to be erected at Sarajevo commemorating Ferdinand Gavrilo Princip, the Bosnian student who killed Archduke Francis Ferdinand of Austria and his consort June 28, 1914.

During the war the Austrians erected at the corner of the bridge over the river Miljaca, where the shots were fired, a memorial to the murdered Archduke and Archduchess which was destroyed when Sarajevo became a part of Yugoslavia.

SENATORS BACK CUSTOMS HEAD UNDER CHARGES

Indignant Over Raid on Col. Foran's Lodge in New Jersey—Foran Says It's a Religious Plot.

Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Over the protest of the Anti-Saloon League, Senators Kean and Baird, Republicans, New Jersey, today joined in recommending the appointment of Colonel Arthur F. Foran to the post of comptroller of customs at the Port of New York.

The two New Jersey Senators forwarded their recommendation to President Hoover today after a conference here with Col. Foran.

Both Senators were indignant over a recent raid on Foran's hunting lodge at Mount Airy, N. J., and Senator Baird described the incident as an "outrage."

Religious Plot.

Colonel Foran, who is a Catholic, described the raid on his lodge as a "political and religious plot." The united support of the two Republican Senators from New Jersey is regarded as giving Foran an advantage in the contest that has developed over his reappointment. His term expires January 31.

The Charges.

The recommendations today came in the midst of investigation of charges made yesterday by the Anti-Saloon League of New Jersey that Col. Foran had been lax in enforcement of the prohibition law at the Port of New York and was personally unsympathetic to the law.

The recommendation came quickly after Foran had called first upon Assistant Secretary Lowman and Senators Kean and Baird, local delegates of the Anti-Saloon League that Foran was remiss in his duties were sent to the Treasury Department by President Hoover.

James K. Shields, state superintendent for New Jersey, said under investigation and promised a statement today.

CHAMPAGNE SHUGGLED IN

New York, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The Evening World today quoted Philip Elting, Collector of the Port of New York, as saying that prohibition agents last summer asked him to issue a customs seizure warrant for a quantity of liquor they charged to Herbert L. Pratt, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Company of New York, had brought into this country illegally.

Mr. Pratt, the Evening World said, is the man the Anti-Saloon League of New Jersey charged in an affidavit sent to President Hoover, brought $25,000 worth of champagne into this country last spring. They said the importation was discovered and he surrendered a few wine, but had never been fined or

ALBANIAN REVOLT, OFFICIALS KILLED

Native Chiefs Start Insurrec- tion Against the Reign of King Zog.

Athens, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Twenty Albanian government officials were said in reports reaching Salonika today, to have been killed at Dibra in an insurrection which broke out there against the reign of King Zog.

An assembly of the chiefs of the various clans, including the Mirdites, held at Episkopi proclaimed the dethronement of King Zog despite the efforts of an Italian officer to pacify the chiefs by offers of money and despite the arguments of the chief of gendarmerie.

Several Albanian political refugees have returned to the insurgent districts from Yugoslavia. They are the insurgent clans were reported to have killed King Zog's local partisans, notable among them Rusten Bairam Ghani.

The territory known as Albania was made up of the old Turkish provinces of Scutari and of Yanina and of the parts of the Ottoman Vilayets of Kosovo and Monastir which bordered upon those provinces. Albanian independence was proclaimed and agreed to in the latter part of 1912 and a European prince, William of Wied, was sent to govern the country.

With the outbreak of the European war in 1914 the prince fled to the country and it fell into a state of anarchy out of which, in the latter days of the war, grew the republic which continued until 1928, when King Zog, president of the republic since January 31, 1925, was proclaimed king. He abbreviated his name to Zog.

Recent reports have said his health was very bad and have mentioned various movements against his authority. The capital of Albania is Tirana.

NAVAL DELEGATES OUTLINE PROGRAM AT PARLEY TODAY

Present Their National View- points Briefly at First Working Session; France Again Claims Greater Place in Naval World and Italy Wants to Have Equal Power With Her.

London, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Meeting in a friendly and helpful atmosphere, the delegates to the five power naval conference outlined national viewpoints briefly at the first working session today and then resumed their private conversations seeking solutions of the various outstanding problems before them.

France and Italy shared the spotlight at today's session, which was held in the quiet Anne's drawing room of St. James's Palace with the public excluded.

The conferees exchanged national viewpoints with the unsettled details of Anglo-American rivalry, and many other vital topics thrust into the background, while France outlined again her claim to a greater place in the naval world and Italy repeated her aspirations for parity with her French neighbor.

The representatives of all the participating governments, including the British dominions, spoke briefly.

Stimson Speaks

Henry L. Stimson, American secretary of State, said he would not expand at the present time upon American naval needs, as it was well understood that the United States was looking to the conference for as much actual reduction of armaments as possible. "I do not think that to do so would particularly assist our deliberations. These requirements are well understood. They have been cheerfully recognized by the nation which is our host, which has through its prime minister agreed with us that equality in naval power between us is the basis upon which we can best promote the beneficent purposes of this conference."

"We also believe that the requirements for national defense on the part of the various nations of the world are necessarily largely relative on the general condition of the world, and therefore that this conference can find a way by which general reduction can be secured, our own navy can likewise be reduced."

"While this is our attitude, we shall gladly listen to any statements which may be made by others as we are anxious fully and cordially to understand the difficulties and problems which may confront our sister nations and for ourselves, I shall not make any statement."

Prime Minister MacDonald, who acted as chairman, opened with a short, general statement and said afterward that the whole proceeding was most friendly. The session also completed its permanent organization and chose Sir Maurice Hankey as secretary-general. The session lasted but two hours.

"The meeting was most interesting, most informing and most friendly," said Prime Minister MacDonald later. "There was evident no hostile desire whatever on the part of the delegations to question one another."

Private Parleys.

The delegates went immediately from the palace to resumption of their many-sided conversations, one of the most interesting of which was a meeting late this afternoon between the British, French and Italian. No date was set for the next full session, but apparently none was planned this week.

Interest centered around the French and Italian addresses because of the emphasis placed on their viewpoints in a crisis-cross of personal conferences recently. Premier Tardieu's address repeated several points made in the French memorandum of last December, but in what was felt to be a hopeful and conciliatory spirit. He repeated France's need for a navy in view of her colonial expansion and touched by inference on the long held French desire for some international accord for security.

Italy's Position.

The address of Dino Grandi, Italian foreign minister, was a virtual repetition of what he had said at the opening session on Tuesday. The Italians held many conferences during the last two days including a long conversation between Foreign Minister Grandi and Foreign Minister Briand of France but there was no indication that they had brought the two governments nearer together.

John H. Cheney Narrowly Misses Death in Crossing Crash This Morning.

Norwalk, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Sadie Boyce, 15, last night was the victim of the season's most unusual coasting accident when a dog turned upon her after he had been struck by her sled. The collision with the girl's sled broke the canine's leg. It became enraged and turned upon her, biting a piece out of her nose. While a crowd surrounded the howling dog the girl ran unattended to the nearby office of a physician.

The trolley car was running late as it was due at Depot Square at 11:07. It was 11:10 when the accident occurred. Just how fast the car was going Officer Rudolph Wirtalla, who was called to investigate, was unable to learn.

"ARTICHOKE KING" FREED BY COURT

Witnesses Fail to Identify Him as One of Gangster At Vitale Dinner.

New York, Jan. 23.—Ciro Terranova, the one time artichoke king, who was arrested by police on charges of complicity in the holdup of a dinner for Magistrate Albert Vitale, was freed in Magistrate's Court today when 18 witnesses of the robbery failed to identify him as one of the seven holdup men.

Terranova had been charged by police with engineering the holdup of the dinner for the magistrate, to obtain a "murder contract" from a Chicago gangster, who, for a certain amount, had killed Frankie Yale and Frank Marlow for the former produce merchant.

They said the Chicago guest had been paid only $5,000 of the $20,000 promised him and had threatened to turn the matter over to police if Terranova didn't pay off.

banks have already instituted the service charge upon all accounts having less than the average $100 balance during the month. The checking account has long since become an established institution in American life, both to the business man and the individual. It does, however, create a real problem for the banks as it applies to the small accounts. The service charge is the solution to this problem and enables the banks to continue to carry the small account which has become so necessary and practical and which so many times heretofore has been a burden upon the bank's income.

Bank accounts with small balances demand the same care and attention as accounts with larger balances. The cost of all items which enter into the expense of handling accounts has greatly increased in the past years but the normal return to the bank on money loaned, has not changed during this period. It costs a bank as much to handle an account with a balance of $10 as it does one of $10,000, depending, of course, on the activity of the account, the term activity meaning the frequency of deposits and withdrawals.

"Banks have two fundamental tasks," it was stated, "to perform for the localities in which they operate. One is to receive and safeguard money for its depositors; the other to lend money for business or legitimate kind. They derive their profit largely by loaning money and most money deposited in banks—except in savings banks or savings departments—is subject to withdrawal by check. It is the average balance of each account which provides the funds available for a bank to loan to its customers.

LOOKING FOR SAND NEARLY GOT LEAD

State Theater Puts on Midnight Drama But Audience Is All Home in Bed.

"Halt! Don't move or I'll shoot." This command pierced the silence in the State theater at midnight last night and the figure on the stage halted. Owing to the lateness of hour, no audience was present to witness the drama, due, it developed later, to a case of German measles. Police Sergeant John Crockett was the man with the finger on the trigger and John Sullivan, manager of the City Taxi Company, was the gentleman on the stage. The officer had been notified that the doors of the State theater, found locked at 11 o'clock by Patrolman Arthur Seymour, were open an hour later when Patrolman Harold Heffron made his check. Further police investigation added to the mystery when Paul Johnson, driver for the City Taxi and brother of Carl Johnson, State theater janitor, was discovered in the cellar beneath the theater stage. Dissatisfied with the explanation given by the two young men, Officer Crockett took the pair to Police Headquarters where they were detained for two hours. Carl Johnson is ill at his home with German measles, Carl's brother, Paul offered to do a "two-in-one" and take care of the janitor duties and run his taxi between times. He found it a difficult task and had to give up to himself. The result was that at midnight last night, Paul decided to stand the sidewalk in front of the State theater so that no one would be injured. They were looking for the sand when the police entered. The officer, however, decided not to take any chances with their explanation of the matter as better excuses had been hatched on the spur of the moment before. Further investigation, though, proved their innocence and brought out their good intentions.

NAVAL DELEGATES OUTLINE PROGRAM

This like the question of Anglo-American parity, was being kept momentarily submerged. To Hold Open Sessions. Prime Minister MacDonald, after the adjournment was asked by newspaper men if there would be open sessions. He replied promptly in the affirmative and then, after a short hesitation, continued: "I will tell you what I told them in there: I said let us have open conferences whenever possible. We must consider the needs of the press." Amid much laughter, the conference chairman parried a successive question to the details of the conference plan and would be taken up, he said: "There is first the question of fleets on the sea, second the question of fleets laid down, and third fleets provided for by various parts of Parliament. We are here to find agreement for the lowest possible level of strength at sea compatible with the security of the five sea powers. Then we want to prepare the way for general disarmament."

PAY TRIBUTE TO DEAD

London, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The American delegation to the five-power naval conference led by Secretary Stimson, paid homage to the British war dead this afternoon by laying a wreath on the cenotaph in Whitehall. Accompanied by all the delegates and two Marines bearing a wreath set with yellow lilies, Secretary Stimson walked from the British home office, just opposite the cenotaph, to the middle of Whitehall and placed the wreath at the foot of the simple monument erected by the British to the memory of their soldiers who died in the war. The Union Jack and the flags of the Dominions fluttered in a drizzling rain while Secretary Stimson, Ambassador Davies and the other members of the delegation silently stood with bowed heads before the cenotaph. Traffic was stopped during the ceremony. The Americans, with their experts, navy advisors, admirals and military aides returned to the home office, where they had gathered, afterwards.

She was also remembered with messages by mail, flowers and other gifts, and apparently had a very happy birthday. Her health is good for a person of her advanced age, better than it was a few years ago, and she takes a lively interest in all that is going on. Mrs. Charter divides her time between her three daughters, Mrs. Strickland, Mrs. Lothrop and Mrs. Louis Fitch of Waterbury. She is the widow of Henry W. Charter and has lived in Manchester for more than half a century, coming here from Vernon.

This was announced today by E. CHAMBER OF COMMERCE VOTES FEE INCREASE

All Changes in By-Laws That Committee Recommended Are Accepted.

All amendments to the by-laws and rules of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce as presented by the revision committee headed by A. N. Potter, were voted on and adopted at a meeting of the membership following the Get-Together supper at the State Army last night in connection with the 9th annual Poultry Show. Most of the changes were of a minor character involving the number of officers and the meetings of the Chamber. The principal revision was the increase in dues from $10 to $15 a year, voted after a great deal of discussion by the 35 or so members present. In 1929 a membership of 165 paid $10 a year dues, totaling $1,650, with 875 sustaining members contributing $900, making a grand total of $3,650. This year if the membership remains at 165 the dues will total $2,475 and $480 is expected to be contributed by the sustaining membership. This will make a grand total of $2,955. The budget for this year amounts to practically $10,000 but E. L. G. Hohenthal, Jr., president of the Chamber, said that in all probability the budget could be pared to meet the income. Also of importance is the amendment establishing that membership meetings shall be held the third Monday in every month with the exception of June, July and August.

BROPHY'S HEARING CONTINUED TODAY

(Continued from Page 1) and Kenneth Gallagher of this city. They are all in Hartford county jail on technical charges of breach of the peace for which they have been unable to secure $25,000 bail each. None of the youths were in court this morning. Attorney John F. Tobin of Waterbury represented Brophy. Police yesterday announced that canned goods valued at $250, stolen in December from stores owned by Leo Landry and Steve Sczypinski in Bristol had been found in the home of Kenneth Gallagher who is also alleged to have sold a pistol to Brophy the day preceding the killing. Police think Gallagher may have shared the loot with other members of the gang.

Worcester is regarded as one of the best Salvation Army centers in the New England states, in addition to the splendid English speaking corps which is commanded by the visiting officers, there are three Swedish corps in the city. Ensign and Mrs. Sparks are excellent young officers, both children of officer parents.

GET PHOTO OF BAR IN FORAN'S LODGE

Anti-Saloon League Head Accuses Comptroller of Customs at New York.

Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—A description of the New Jersey hunting lodge of Arthur F. Foran, comptroller of customs at New York, in which he is charged by James K. Shields, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of New Jersey, with serving liquor is contained in what Mr. Shields made public today as an affidavit by Harold Nade, private investigator. The document was accompanied by pictures said to have been taken at Foran's hunting lodge at Mt. Airy, showing what were set out in the affidavit to be a bar, gambling machines and bottles. Reason for Raid. Shields, who yesterday filed with President Hoover blanket charges that the New York customs force is not effective in preventing liquor smuggling and that Foran is opposed to the prohibition law, made the affidavit and pictures public, he said, "in order to charge the raid of Foran's shack was made without reason." The raid was made Tuesday on the allegation that a slot machine was in the lodge, but no illegal devices were found.

TROLLEY CRUSHES AUTO; DRIVER SAFE

(Continued from Page 1.) turn south. The automobile was closed in by curtains. Just as Mr. Cheney was in the center of the rails the car was struck. The contact was squarely in the center of the automobile and it was turned completely around so that it was headed north. Mr. Cheney did not appear to be injured to any great extent and when examined by Dr. G. A. F. Lumborg, the most serious injury seemed to be a cut on his leg. He was taken away in the doctor's car for further attention. The trolley cars were thrown off schedule and a bus was sent out from Hartford to carry passengers to their destinations. It took considerable time to get the automobile jacked up to allow the trolley to pass, delaying service on the Rockville line.

WIFE LEAVES HOME

HUSBAND KILLS SELF

New Britain, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Dependent because his wife had left home, taking their baby with her, Thomas Murtha, 22, of 330 East Main street, drank a poison potion yesterday afternoon and died a short time later at New Britain General Hospital, Medical Examiner John B. Purney today listed the death as suicide.

Mrs. Murtha left home with the child, aged two years, Monday night and Murtha, who, it is said, had been drinking, spent the greater part of the night searching for her.

Returning home yesterday afternoon, he was criticized by his mother, Mrs. Deborah Murtha, for his drinking habits. A short time later she heard him fall and, going to his side, heard him say "I took it." The police found an empty bottle which had contained poison in the house and a drinking glass in which there were traces of poison.

The medical examiner reported that Murtha and his wife were involved in domestic disagreements.

STOMACH UPSET

Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets help arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, people rarely suffer from indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Try Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. All druggists, 15c, 50c and 60c. Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like.

Now Frigidaire gives you the HYDRATOR

The Hydrator is a marvelous new moist air compartment that makes vegetables and salad materials delightfully fresh and tender. See it demonstrated today.

Now, with the development of the Hydrator, Frigidaire offers a new service to users... a special compartment for vegetables and foods that need added moisture.

You can put even wilted celery in the Hydrator and make it crisp and fresh again. You can make lettuce tender and brittle. You can quickly restore the firmness of radishes, tomatoes and other vegetables.

Today every household Frigidaire is equipped with the Hydrator. It is part of the surplus value offered by Frigidaire. So, too, is the famous "Cold Control" which enables you to speed the freezing of ice cubes and desserts. And to make Frigidaire still more practical and more strikingly beautiful, every household cabinet is now rust-proof Porcelain-on-steel inside and out. See a complete demonstration at our showroom—now.

"NATURE NEVER HINTS in vain"

(John Greenleaf Whittier, 1807-1892)

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence, if you would maintain the modern figure of fashion

The bewitching charm of soft, flattering curves... the lure of a graceful, modern figure... don't spoil it by permitting your eyes to be bigger than your stomach. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. Eat healthfully but not immoderately. Over-indulgence is not commended—when tempted to over-indulge, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, reach for a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain that modern, enchantingly-rounded figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

"Coming events cast their shadows before"

"It's toasted"

*Be Moderate!... Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

TUNE IN—The Lucky Strike Dance Orchestra, every Saturday night, over a coast-to-coast network of the N. B. C.

GERMANY WATCHING PARLEY AT LONDON

One Reporter Says Sec. Stimson's Speech Was Most Important One.

Berlin, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Although a non-participant in the naval conference, Germany nevertheless is closely watching developments at London and German correspondents in the British capital sent extensive reports on their impressions of the opening ceremonies.

A London dispatch to the Vossische Zeitung expresses belief that Secretary of State Stimson will be the peacemaker of the conference while the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung story declares that "the only important speech was Secretary Stimson's." The correspondent of the latter newspaper said that Mr. Stimson's speech, which could be interpreted as mainly directed against France, made a great hit. One cannot resist the impression," he said "that here marches an American idea that will be pursued with tenacity."

Speeches All Alike
The Tageblatt somewhat sarcastically remarks that the tenor of all the speeches was so much alike that one wondered where the great differences come in that make the conference necessary.

The Morgan Post, discussing Prime Minister MacDonald's address, expresses the opinion that Great Britain, because of developments in submarines and aircraft, has lost her isolation and accordingly is anxious to hold down such naval armaments as constitute a chief danger to herself especially. The paper predicts that the powers will assuredly retain sufficient naval armaments anyway to start a war when it comes, and as soon as it has been started will speed up armament construction.

The Lokal-Anzeiger makes the gloomy forecast that "in the background lurks, invisible but threatening, the menace of the next war."

COLD WAVE GRIPS WEST, SOUTHWEST

Chicago, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Winter held merciless vigil over the land today.
From the cotton fields of Dixie to the northwest territory stretched a sheet of ice, blinding under a cold sun. Zero weather stung the southwest as it struggled against the fetters of deep snow, and worse than zero weather visited death and misery upon the populace of the central and western prairies.
An ice-bound river fended off the rescuers that sought to bring food and fuel to the little town of Cathlamet, isolated four days by snow and ice on the north bank of the Columbia in Washington.

Many Sufferers
Sixteen hundred families in southeast Missouri and western Arkansas were sufferers from the cold and flood, 200 of them marooned by the spilled waters of the Big Lake, Ark. region and 260 more in highland tent and box car camps. The levees of the St. Francis and White rivers were weakening under the pressure of rising waters. Snow and sleet yesterday added to the misery and today ten below zero temperatures reached over into southwestern Missouri.

A menacing ice gorge spanned the Wabash River at River-ton, Indiana, aviators were to survey the situation today to determine whether dynamite were necessary. Citizens of Mt. Carmel, Ill., and Vincennes, Ind., protested against the blasting yesterday in fear of the flood that might be loosed upon them.

PAROLE RECOMMENDED FOR ARCTIC EXPLORER

Dr. Frederick A. Cook is Now Serving 14 Years Sentence at Leavenworth Prison.

Leavenworth, Kas., Jan. 23.—(AP)—The Leavenworth Times says today that a parole has been recommended for Dr. Frederick A. Cook, Arctic explorer and oil promoter, who is serving a sentence of 14 years and nine months in the Federal prison here for using the mails to defraud. Members of the parole board would not confirm the report, but it is known that no opposition was offered to Dr. Cook's release.

THE GERICK CASE
The case of the little Gerick girl who last October shot her father in the head as the culmination of a long series of family disturbances, has been a puzzling one. Its final disposition by the sentence of the girl to a year in Tolland jail would appear to be a long way from being the worst that could have been made.

GOOD OLD STRATEGY
Some time ago a professional reformer from Fairfield county sought to have the Public Utilities Commission unseated for neglect of duty in failing to compel the New Haven railroad to eliminate grade crossings as provided by law.

THIS WINTER
We arise to remark that this has been considerable of a winter so far. It might even be fairly safe to suggest that if it should turn warm and balmy tomorrow, and stay that way; if the crocuses should appear and the robins come out of the back pasture cedar bush and the bluebirds move north; if the phenomenon of a February spring should occur and the furnaces could be let out either at the end of this month or right now—it could still be contended with a fair show of accuracy that the winter of 1929-30 wasn't such a slouch of a winter at that.

places. One of the places where they did this is a dangerous crossing in Norwich where the view of the tracks from the intersecting highway is obscured by buildings. And three times in ten days, according to the Norwich Bulletin, the signal has been out of business. Now the unlucky public, which surely is a contemptible creature without any rights whatever in the view of the Public Utilities Commission, has the privilege of fighting tooth and nail to get back the gates and the crossing tenders in the place of the miserably inefficient automatic signals. That will keep the said public good and busy and it will forget all about agitating for grade crossing elimination. Keep the ball in enemy territory and he will score no touchdown on you, holds just as good in the conflict between service corporations and the public as it is on the football field.

There have been more spectacular winters than this; winters with bigger snows and lower thermometer records, to be sure; but for a winter that got on the job early and attended right to its knitting and dug into the coal bins with unremitting industry and stretches far back in memory and looms endless in prospect, this here winter is the berries. Perhaps there isn't anything we can do about it, but we can speak our mind about it. Also we warn any person who may be prompted, next June, to remark, "The seasons is changin', sure; look at the open winter we had last winter," would do better to do his remarking somewhere else besides in this office.

Says Rothstein Proposed Once Every Week to Her

New York, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Months after meeting Rothstein in 1928 or about five months before his death he turned the policy over to her. She said their relations had been Platonic but that they planned to obtain divorces and marry. Until a month before she met Rothstein she said she lived with her husband, Miles Rieser, with whom she has a ten-year-old son. Questioned on the number of times Rothstein proposed marriage, she said, "I'd say once a week." "A dozen times in all?" she was asked. "Yes." "Three dozen?" "Perhaps."

TEN YEARS WORK ON DISARMAMENT

London, Jan. 23.—(AP)—High spots during the past ten years in the movement for disarmament:

1919—The peace treaties provided for abolition of compulsory military service and armament limitation in Germany, Austria, Bulgaria and Hungary and provided for establishment of the League of Nations.

1920—A permanent advisory commission was set up by the League of Nations to examine the advice of the Council of the League upon technical problems involved in limitation of armaments.

1922—The Washington conference was held at which the United States, Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy limited the tonnage of their capital ships and set up the famous 5-5-3 ratio for capital ships of the first three naval powers.

1923—A draft treaty of mutual assistance and a definition of aggression were submitted to the Third Assembly of the League and their adoption was recommended by the Assembly.

1924—The draft treaty met opposition as being too vague in some of its provisions and was rejected. An agreement was eventually reached in the fifth Assembly and the "Geneva protocol" was adopted renouncing war and recognizing the principle of compulsory jurisdiction of the World Court in certain defined cases. Eighty states signed the treaty immediately and other signatures followed.

1925—The protocol was rejected by the big powers but was soon followed by the famous Locarno treaties drawn to create a feeling of security among European nations. Rejection of the protocol also was followed by the creation of the preparatory disarmament commission of the League to prepare for a general disarmament conference.

1927—The preparatory commission, while failing to establish a text to serve as a basis for further discussion at a conference, reached unanimity on certain points.

During this year the tripartite naval conference took place at Geneva on the invitation of President Coolidge. The United States, Great Britain and Japan were represented by delegates while France and Italy declined the invitation but were represented by observers. The conference failed to reach an agreement on cruisers, destroyers and submarines and "adjourned" to give the powers opportunity for further study.

1928—The preparatory commission continued its efforts in behalf of disarmament, but deferred action on a Soviet scheme for universal disarmament. Later the Russians proposed a plan for partial disarmament. Action again was postponed.

The Kellogg-Briand renunciation of war pact was signed at Paris on August 27.

1929—Great Britain invited the United States, Japan, France and Italy to a naval conference in London. The invitation was issued while Prime Minister MacDonald was in the United States on a visit to President Hoover to discuss naval disarmament. All the powers accepted and it is that conference which is now on.

POPULATION OF NATION IS 121,951,856 TODAY

Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The population of the United States today was estimated by the Census Bureau at 121,951,856.

In the course of the immigration committee's hearing on the Johnson and Box bills to restrict western hemisphere immigration, Chairman Johnson found a need for exact figures on the country's present population. He dispatched a message to the Immigration Bureau and obtained this information:

One birth every 13 seconds.
One death every 23 seconds.
One immigrant entering the country every 1 1/2 minutes.
One immigrant leaving the country every five minutes.

The average increase in the country's population as based on these figures was placed at one every 33 seconds, with the excess of births over deaths estimated at 900,000 annually, and the above total estimated.

SUSPICIOUS BLAZE

Bridgeport, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Paul Brignolo, photographer with studios at 1430 Main street, is being detained by police today on suspicion he may know something of the circumstances of the fire which started in his studio early today and caused damage estimated at $1,000.

Police and firemen believe the fire was of incendiary origin. A trail of wrapping paper was found in and out among the furnishings of three studio rooms. The paper and most of the furniture had been soaked with turpentine after a preliminary investigation.

SAYS HARTFORD GIRL LEFT HER STRANDED

Springfield Girl Loses $90 of Her Own and a Big Unpaid Hotel Bill.

New York, January 23.—(AP)—Miss Barbara Wolfram, 21, of 25 Belmont avenue, Springfield, Mass., was remanded to Jefferson Market prison today while the police investigated her story that a girl schoolmate invited her to New York and then disappeared, leaving her with a hotel bill and no money.

Miss Wolfram was arrested yesterday at the New York hotel for non-payment of a $60.15 bill, run up since January 13.

She said Eileen Haraby, of 35 Capitol avenue, Hartford, Conn., invited her to New York and then, after they had spent several days in the hotel together, vanished, bag and baggage—and also with $90 of Miss Wolfram's money.

Magistrate William Farrell in Jefferson Market court remanded the girl until Friday.

YEAR'S DEAD LETTERS GIVE U. S. $250,000

Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—More than 23,000,000 undeliverable letters were buried in 1929 in the dead letter departments of the post office and $250,000 thereby reverted to the United States treasury.

That amount represented money received in mail coming to the offices, and the proceeds from the sale of undeliverable articles of value.

An odd assortment of articles found their way to the dead letter offices. Narcotics were secreted in magazines and papers; silk hose and lingerie essayed travel under encircling periodicals.

An infernal machine, revolvers peering cautiously from the lids of best sellers, a human skull suggestive of a Borneo head hunter, and an arsenal of arms were among the "dead letters."

Letters usually reach the dead letter offices after they have been held in other post offices two weeks. They are opened here with a lightning cutter, capable of handling 50,000 pieces of mail a day.

Money is held for a year, and then, if delivery cannot be made, goes to the treasury.

COUSINS GET ESTATE

Brookton, Mass., Jan. 23.—(AP) The fight for the $2,000,000 estate of Edward J. Boyle, late Boston clothing merchant, was settled today when 24 second cousins withdrew from the contest and the claims of three first cousins were allowed. Boyle died without leaving a will.

Those who will share the estate are James M. Boyle of Blackstone; Thomas F. Boyle of McDonoughsville, La., and William A. Boyle of Bangor, Me.

Two women made an unprofitable trip from their homes in England to their claims.

Judge Loyed E. Chamberlain announced after withdrawal of the second cousins that he had heard sufficient evidence and that he would order a partial division of the estate in a few days.

TRAIN IS SIDE-SWIPPED

Lyonville, Va., Jan. 23.—(AP)—A fast freight train side-swiped a passenger train on the Canadian Pacific railway at Folsom Siding, three miles north of this place, today.

Wesley Colby, fireman of the passenger train was injured and the passengers shaken up. Several cars of both trains were badly damaged.

He Coughed For Two Years SWORE OFF

After coughing for two years almost continuously a man of considerable means got thin and tired and worn out, made his will, and was ready to quit the big game of life.

A friend spoke to him about Broncholine Emulsion and now life to him is very sweet indeed.

That's the kind of cough that is put out of business with amazing speed when the cougher is wise to Broncholine Emulsion.

Tough old coughs—persistent coughs—coughs that hang on and rob people of their sleep—those are the kind of coughs Broncholine likes to tackle.

Many times such coughs linger after the Grippe or a heavy cold, and if you have one or know of anyone who has one keep Broncholine Emulsion in mind.

It isn't just a cheap sweet cough syrup—it's the best cough remedy—and the best is never cheap. North End Pharmacy, Manchester; Mag-nell Drug Co., So. Manchester, and dealers everywhere can supply you. —Adv.

ARMY ENGINEERS NEED MUSIC TO REST NERVES

Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Soft strains of music are sought by members of the Army engineer battalion which is now distributed deep in Nicaragua engaged in surveying the route for the proposed new canal, and any effort to wish them "harsh, squeaky" records will be resisted.

The engineers have reported to the War Department that seven camps had been established and duly named after outstanding men. Some have electric lights. Three have radio, all have purified running water, but the important

TARIFF ON HIDES UP FOR DEBATE

Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Opening debate on tariff bill provisions affecting hides, leathers and shoes, Senator Oddie, Republican, Nevada, today advocated passage of his amendment which would levy six cents a pound on green hides and ten cents on dried hides.

All three items are now on the free list, but the pending bill provides duties of 10 per cent ad valorem on hides, from 12 1-2 to 20 per cent on leathers and 20 per cent on shoes.

Oddie asserted that the 10 per cent ad valorem proposal would give a minimum of less than one cent

G. O. P. Leader Says Dry Can Be Nominated for Senate But Will Lose.

Washington, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Prohibition will be a dominant issue in the election of a Senator to succeed Frederick H. Gillett of Massachusetts, in the opinion of Louis K. Liggett, Republican national committee man of that state.

Liggett was in conference with President Hoover and the full Republican membership of the Massachusetts Congressional delegation yesterday before leaving for Boston.

He issued the following statement: "The problem confronting the Republican Party in Massachusetts in the election of a senator to succeed Frederick H. Gillett is this: Under our primary system it will be easy enough to nominate a dry but difficult to elect one when you recall the majority of more than 284,000 recorded in favor of the repeal of the 18th amendment by the 1928 referendum in Massachusetts.

Can Nominate Dry. "About 25 per cent of our Republicans vote at the primary and this is principally a dry vote made up of those who properly take their duties of citizenship seriously and who vote when they have the opportunity.

"So as I say it ought to be obvious that it will be easy enough to nominate a dry but when you come to the election then you have a different situation altogether if the 1928 referendum vote is taken into consideration. And this makes it clear, it appears to me, that it will be difficult to elect a dry."

Liggett declared he was unable to say who would be the candidates for the Republican nomination, but that he believed there would be at least three and probably four. He said that he never had given serious consideration to the possibility of the candidacy of Calvin Coolidge.

LOAN SHARKS BUSY

Is Life and Death Problem for Nation, He Tells the Delegates.

Chicago, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Chicago and Cook county officials took steps today to prevent thousands of city and county workers from becoming victims of a certain type of loan agencies, some of which already have made efforts to capitalize on the fact that the workers are being forced to go without their pay checks.

The city, county and school board are in debt to 40,122 employees, hundreds of whom have reported being approached by representatives of loan agencies offering to tide them over the payless paydays, but demanding interest ranging from 3 1/2 to 10 per cent a month.

Robert M. Sweitzer, county clerk, and Sheriff John Traeger, announced they would refuse to approve any loan shark salary assignments made by their employees.

Numerous legitimate loan institutions have had many requests for financial aid from city workers, the Tribune said today.

A citizens' committee, headed by Silas Strawn, is co-operating with city and county officials in an effort to solve the immediate need for cash to meet payrolls and current bills.

RECOGNIZE NAVY, MACDONALD PLEA

Is Life and Death Problem for Nation, He Tells the Delegates.

London, Jan. 23.—(AP)—Prime Minister MacDonald's statement for Great Britain at the naval session this morning was a renewal of the plea for recognition of Great Britain's special position as a sea power.

"The Navy is us," he repeated this sentence from his inaugural address of Tuesday and pictured Great Britain as small islands twenty miles from Europe.

Great Britain, he said, feels that she must have access to the whole world—this is a life and death problem. A navy that satisfied Great Britain's "will to live," this is a fundamental point of Britain's position.

Kept Divided. He told how the British navy must be kept divided in three large groups over the world and concluding, spoke of the psychological aspects of the problem in connection with Britain's feeling that, without the sea, Great Britain would starve.

In opening his statement he declared that one of the difficulties of

SUGGESTS WORN VALVE GUIDES

Fussing with the carburetor when the engine will not idle smoothly may be courted an assortment of additional troubles. There are other things besides incorrect mixture that can cause uneven idling.

One of the most important of these is a leaky valve guide. Where valve stems or their guides are worn air is sucked into the cylinders through these channels. Because only a little air can leak through in this fashion the driver cannot detect any difference in the running of his engine when going at normal speeds, but in idling the air leaks serve to lean out the gas mixture to a point where firing is irregular.

Because only one or two valve guides are leaking air only one or two cylinders are receiving the extra lean mixture. Just as in the case of uneven compression this causes uneven idling.

CRAMPS THE CLOCK HANDS. Now that so many motorists drive by the clock instead of by the speedometer, it is not surprising that a source of constant annoyance. It seems to be pretty well established by experience, however, that clock failure often is the result of a surprisingly simple cause.

The owner discovered this for himself when he removed the clock from his car and studied it carefully. It wasn't long before he noticed that the crystal was too tight, thus preventing the hands from moving.

ROLL THEM ANOTHER WAY. "Don't," reads the old rule, "reverse the direction of rotation of tires if you want to get the most mileage from them."

But times change, and rules change with them. Today the Bureau of Standards suggests that it may be desirable to change the direction of rotation of tires occasionally in order to reduce the wear through "scuffing."

The old theory was that when a tire's tread had become accustomed to taking a strain in the one direction it was best to let it go along in the same old rut throughout its entire life. When the garage man changed a tire many car owners were careful to see that the tire went back on the wheel in such a way as to roll in its accustomed direction.

TIRES OFFER A REMEDY. Tire pressure offers a means of compensating for wear in the universal joints, pinion gear and rear end assembly. This point should be kept in mind for future reference if your car is of the Hotchkiss drive variety.

IN THIS type of car the forward pushing force of the wheels is imparted to the frame and body through the springs instead of through torque rods, tubes or braces. Naturally as the rear end becomes worn there is apt to be "sticking," or a sort of unstable, jerky action of the rear end. Here, then, is where it is a good plan to consider

PORTUGUESE CABINET PLANS MANY REFORMS

Lisbon, Portugal, Jan. 23.—(AP)—The new Portuguese Cabinet of General Domingos Oliveira enumerated a series of widespread political, economic and financial reforms in its first statement of policy today.

"Our chief aim is to prepare the foundation for a new constitutional order in which past errors will be avoided, guaranteeing the continuation and consolidation of work on the principle of an established dictatorship.

"Once the constitutional project has been drawn up, it will be submitted for approval to the nation."

There are many items on the financial side of the program, including maintenance of budget equilibrium, the settlement of old accounts, the progressive reduction and voluntary consolidation of the floating debt, conversion of the internal debt, currency reform and consequent stabilization of the escudo, general reform of the credit situation, and free circulation of capital.

All the newspapers today praise Premier Oliveira and commended the reforms.

The new government has a marked military aspect, most of the new ministers being army officers of high rank.

ALL POTENTIAL SALES. With 28,000,000 automobiles now travelling American highways, it is estimated that 3,000,000 of them will wear out during 1930, offering that number of replacement sales.

EXTENSIVE ROAD PLAN. Total expenditures planned in California on state and county roads, 1930 are estimated at $88,080,000.

Rash Romance

BEGIN HERE TODAY
JUDITH CAMERON marries ARTHUR KNIGHT, executive of a New York publishing house which she is employed. They sail for a six-week honeymoon in Bermuda. Knight is a widower with an 18-year-old daughter, TONY, who is in Europe, and a son, JUNIOR, who is at school. In his infatuation he overlooks the fact that Judith is not communicative about her past life. A cablegram arrives announcing that Tony Knight is coming home. Arthur tells Judith they must return at once to meet her. Since neither the girl or boy knows of the father's remarriage, Judith is skeptical of her welcome.

Arthur and Judith reach the Long Island hotel one day before Tony's boat docks. Next morning Knight meets his daughter but when they arrive at the house Tony ignores Judith and rushes to her own room. Late that night she comes to her stepmother and exclaims: "You're going to get out!" Knight entering the house to overhear this, compels Tony to apologize. Later in the evening she leaves for a round-trip to a club with MICKY, a blonde amusement-seeker whom Tony met in Paris.

As days pass a state of armed neutrality exists between Tony and her stepmother. Arthur meanwhile makes plans for the holidays. The boy treats Judith with aloof, cold politeness. Christmas Eve Judith and Arthur trim a gorgeous tree but next morning neither of the children appear to receive their gifts.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XVI
 Arthur and Judith Knight faced each other at the breakfast table at 10 minutes of 11 o'clock on Christmas morning.

"Tony usually does sleep late," said Judith. "I'll send up to see if she's nearly ready."

Five minutes later the maid reported that Miss Tony had a severe headache and would not be down for breakfast.

Arthur Knight threw up his hands in a gesture of mock helplessness.

"Very well, then. There's no need for you and me to starve, Judith."

Harriet brought in the fruit and then cereal. If a good breakfast and they ate it, but it was hardly a cheery prelude for Christmas. The maid told them that Junior had left the house at an early hour. He must have stopped at an eating place for food because he had not been served at home.

"When the meal was finished Knight got up and looked indecisively at his wife."

"What about the presents?" he asked.

Judith was eager to see what he had brought for her and equally anxious to know how her own gift for Arthur should be received. But going into the living room they had dressed so carefully the night before seemed sacrilege. She knew Knight had done it all for the children.

So she overruled his suggestion. "It's a beautiful morning," she suggested. "Perhaps if we drive a while Junior will be back and Tony may feel well enough to come down. Besides, I'm stifling for fresh air."

Eert was instructed to bring the car around and for an hour and a half thereafter they viewed the Long Island landscape. Knight grumbled because he had not thought to arrange to pick up Junior at the aviation field and bring him home.

At one o'clock they returned. Harriet reported that Arthur Junior had not come in. Miss Tony had had her breakfast tray and presumably would be down shortly.

Arthur Knight went to his study and came striding back again. He moved restlessly. Finally called upstairs.

"Oh—Tony!"

A muffled reply came down to him.

"Yes, Darling?"

"Tony, we're going to have the Christmas tree now."

"I'll be right down."

She came in 15 minutes, the click of tiny spurs on the stair steps announcing her descent. Then Tony appeared in the hallway. She wore a formal afternoon frock of black velvet which Judith thought much too old for the child. A black turban pulled down over her head. Tony was carrying her wrap of gray fur over her arm. Faint fragrances of cosmetics lingered about her. Her lips were flaming and she had the look like the victim of a severe headache. Tony dropped her coat upon a chair and offered her father a casual kiss.

cried. "Oh, it's just too wonderful! I'm simply crazy about the bracelet! Tony's arms went around her father's neck. She kissed him extravagantly. Knight held her close to him.

"Not such a bad old father after all!" he said in a low voice.

"Best father in the world!" She sprang away again. She held up the arm with its splendid flashing gems so Judith could see it. Delighted with her new plaything, Tony moved her wrist back and forth so that the stones caught new highlights. Suddenly she slipped the cuff of her frock back and glanced at a narrow platinum watch.

"Good night!" she cried. "Got to fly. Leave the rest of my presence right in that chair, will you? I'll open them later. Bye-bye, everybody—and Merry Christmas!"

Tony's sudden exit was the end of the pretended Yuletide cheer in that household. Junior did not come home until evening. He telephoned at 2:30 to say he was staying out on the field and would pick up something to eat at a restaurant.

Judith's gift from Arthur Knight was a strand of perfect pearls long enough to circle the throat and drop an inch or so in front. She wore them truthfully they were the loveliest jewels she had ever seen. Arthur clasped them about her neck and she wore them the rest of the day. Over and over she told him he was the most thoughtful of husbands, much too generous.

But she knew, though Knight smiled at her and was tender, it was the boy and girl who were not at home that he was thinking of.

Judith had given her husband a small gray photograph of herself mounted in a silver frame. It was a very good likeness and he praised it highly.

By curious coincidence Tony's gift to her father was also a portrait. It was a miniature of the girl in her gayest, most provocative mood, printed by a French artist. The contrast between the elegant gold-mounted miniature and the gray photograph was marked.

Junior's offering for his father was a volume on aviation which was humorous gifts which Knight had bought to add merriment to the day were not even opened. They were still gathered together at the foot of the tree in tissue paper and red ribbon.

"Better send that off to some orphanage or children's hospital," Arthur said, nodding toward the toys.

Judith agreed. She was miserable because her husband's Christmas had been ruined. She had mas had to hard to manage it all tactfully—and blundered utterly.

A lengthy formal dinner intended for four and served for two is rather depressing affair. Judith felt she could never have welcomed her father's results if the girl had been present.

"Arthur," she said desperately at seven o'clock. "Let's go somewhere! A theater, movies anywhere! I'm afraid I'm getting mopey."

"I'll see what I can do," he said. "Worst time in the world to get tickets, though."

Judith and Arthur Knight spent the rest of that Christmas evening craning their necks about a post, striving to see the action of a second-rate play which was really not so very diverting from a good seat.

Each time the girl stole a side-long glance at her husband she saw his face was grim and set. The children, of course! He had bought the entire day together (and it was the first spent this year) was Tony and Junior who were on his mind. They had been all day long.

Was it her fault, Judith wondered, that the boy and girl had deserted her? They left their home? She was distressingly conscious that the answer to these questions seemed to be "yes."

Two or three times she had come upon Knight and his son deep in conversation and noticed that if she remained anywhere near, Arthur Junior was sure to disappear.

Why did the boy avoid her? The explanation came three days later. Judith, passing through the downstairs hallway, happened to catch sight of the roses which Mrs. Wheeler kept always on the table. They were lovely blossoms but in the vase which Judith had spotted as an eyesore the first morning she entered the house.

Evidently the housekeeper thought large beautiful Judith the victim of severe headache. Tony dropped her coat upon a chair and offered her father a casual kiss.

"All right, Santa Claus. Bring on the trinkets. I've got to scoot in ten minutes!"

"You mean—you're not going to be here for dinner?" asked Judith. "Couldn't possibly manage," drawled Tony. "I've had this date kept."

Knight pushed back the living room door to reveal the gorgeous tree.

"Since we must keep the pace of modern youth," he said, "we'd better not lose any time."

THERE'S A BALL UP AND A KICK IN THIS EXERCISE

Carol Cotton Illustrates the Medicine-Ball Kicking Exercise

By JAC AUER

Reducing exercises should be enjoyable. But there must be some work in them or they will fail to give one that sense of zest that comes from a good work-out.

I have said before that to be perfectly healthy, I think everyone should exercise hard enough to perspire freely at least twice a week. The most efficacious exercise for this is the medicine ball kick.

It reduces all along the line. Hips, thigh, abdomen, calf and ankle all come in for their share of work-out. And the muscles of the back are strengthened and the blood is sent circulating through the body renewed by having thrown off its waste matter.

Three Steps to Health
 There are three steps in learning how to kick the medicine ball so that it thoroughly exercises the entire body. Do it in the following manner:

1. Stretch out on the floor on your back, hands under head, feet together.

2. Draw your knees up to your chest, and as the medicine ball is thrown to you, kick it with both feet, vigorously, so that you feel your leg and back muscles stretch.

3. Then, keeping a hand on the floor, draw stretched out on the floor, draw the medicine ball with the left foot only.

4. Change feet, stretching out the left, kicking with the right. The culmination of several minutes of limbering up, rather than the starting point of reducing to round the 1930 curves. Start with only a few kicks the first day, increase the number until you have a ten or fifteen minute period. You will be surprised with the invigorating effect of this exercise.

TEN MILLION RADIO SETS IN U. S. HOMES

Washington, Jan. 23. — (AP)—An estimated increase in the number of homes equipped with radio receiving sets from 60,000 in 1922 to at least 10,000,000 at the present time, was reported by W. D. Terhune, chief of the radio division of the Department of Commerce in hearings on the department's annual supply bill.

The audience in 1922, he told a House sub-committee, was estimated at 75,000, while the audience this year is estimated at more than 40,000,000.

"The total radio sales covering mostly receiving sets, and accessories for the fiscal year 1922 amounted to $60,000,000," he said, "while in 1928 the figures were given as $650,550,000. The exports amounted to $2,800,000 and in 1928 to $10,907,000."

"It is estimated that there are 19,000,000 homes without radios. The Radio Manufacturers Association states that although $2,500,000,000 in radio products have been manufactured since 1922 there was no saturation point in sight."

"The Department of Commerce estimated that during the first three quarters of 1929 sales of radio equipment reached a total of $260,897,207, with the heaviest quarter yet to be heard from."

On Jan. 23, 1845, Congress designated the present national election day as Tuesday after the first Monday in November.

The Continental Congress appointed the first Wednesday in January 1789, as the day for choosing the first electors; the first Wednesday in February as the day for the electors to give their votes, and the first Wednesday in March as the day for the new government to go into operation.

In 1792 Congress enacted that the appointment of electors should be made within 34 days preceding the first Wednesday of December, every fourth year; and this rule continued in force until 1845, when Congress made the day uniform throughout the Union—the Tuesday next after the first Monday in November.

The first Wednesday in March, 1789, was the fourth day of that month. Congress enacted in 1792 that the term of four years of the president and vice president begin on March 4, and amendment XII makes this day a part of the Constitution itself.

Surely the scientist who says there are 21,000 causes of annoyance never has met her relatives.

The WOMAN'S DAY

I am interested in the way the American girls who accompanied Secretary Timson to London to do stenographic work, during the disarming conference, appealed to a woman writer on the Evening Standard. She wrote:

"Nearly all the typists were beautiful fur coats. In England it is only actresses who look so smart and striking."

"One girl wore a black seal skin coat, lined with clipped rabbit. Her small hat and high-heeled suede shoes were black, too, and her stockings of the sheerest silk. The English working typists would probably stride through them in half an hour."

"All the girls wore scarfs swathed gracefully inside their coats. English girls would have tied them into fussy knots. Thus far, the English girls have suffered by comparison."

"I admit we are less smart, less well groomed, and less sure of ourselves than these attractive Americans. But I will say that we still have our complexions. Every American typist I saw was made up as though for the stage. It was well done and it suited their amazingly chic clothes, but it looked startling on the Paddington Station platform."

On the whole, our girls proved to be ambassadors of chic and style, even if they took second place on their complexions. And though the practice was not wholly endorsed, I think they passed their entrance exams very creditably.

Fat Hopes
 If you are built on more ample lines than the current type in femininity, and you don't seem able to do anything about it, read with pleasure the statement of Madame Alda, the opera singer.

"There never was a great singer who was not fat. Shm me a singer, thin, narrow, and meager, and I will show you one who is no good. If you sing you must have fat to have the power of lung expansion, and the physical vitality. I'd rather sing if I have fat than if I have no fat."

Another remark of hers one might ponder over is this: "I don't believe that God ever made a woman with a great voice, a beautiful face, and a perfect body. Then, think that when we get a great voice, we ought to take it and be thankful and not worry about the rest."

Beauty on Tap
 In the olden days, before cosmetics were so generally manufactured and so highly exploited, beauty was considered a gift from the gods, not something within every woman's grasp, and a divine figure belonged in the same category.

Now, the general feeling is that every woman has only herself to blame if she hasn't the face of a Helen, or isn't built like a Diana. I'm inclined to believe, with the ancients, that beauty is not within everyone's grasp, and that if you have a great talent, you got your share in the general distribution. And that those who got beauty may be slighted on the gray matter—if anyone must be.

YOUR CHILDREN

by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON
 BY DR. MORRIS FISHER

Life is a serious business, but I think there is such a thing as taking it too seriously.

Not long ago I spent the day in a home that I was glad to escape from for this very reason: the father and mother were so serious-minded, so analytical, so critical of every little thing that happened, that I wondered how the children ever would develop into normal happy beings in such an atmosphere.

Now I don't mean that their parents were critical in the scolding sense. Almost the opposite—they were kindly, and constructively critical—but they dissected everything the children did, took it apart, turned it over, talked about it, dissertated on the motive behind it, and, generally speaking, made such mountains out of every little molehill of careless behavior, that I, for one, became terribly depressed.

Allow for Emotions
 Goodness me! Children are quick, impulsive, spontaneous creatures who act first and think afterwards. The English working typists would probably stride through them in half an hour.

"I believe that this man and woman are entirely unconscious of the extremes to which they are going in this matter. They started out to take their children seriously—good enough—and I know how they devoted themselves to the study of child behavior and child training when the first boy was a baby. They had the idea, and the right one, of making confidants of their children and talking things over."

They Can't Be Machines
 But it was just a case of too much of a good thing. They made the mistake of leaving out the fun, too, and the other mistake of discounting human nature. They tried to make perfect machines, out of their children, forgetting the emotional side of the human creature that needs more than mere talking and analysis to carry it to completion.

They talk not only of the mistakes of their own family, but also outside the family. Now, as nearly as I could make out, they wait with minds like traps ready to seize on anything that offered—no matter how trivial it may seem—to turn the most casual word or act on the part of outsiders, into something sinister and ulterior.

This attitude of perpetual discipline toward humanity in general and children in particular is not normal. Children will rebel in time and grow sour. We parents might take ourselves in hand and see if we are in danger of becoming too serious. It is as bad for us as it is for the children.

HEALTH

MALAY "RUNNING AMUCK" IS SIMPLY A VICTIM OF ILLNESS
 By DR. MORRIS FISHER

Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Few people realize where the term "running amuck" comes from, although the phrase is not uncommon with American and English-speaking peoples. The term is really derived from the Malay language, the Malay word being "amog."

The disease as it occurs among men of the Malay tribe is called "amog," whereas among women it is called "latah." Natives suffering from infectious disease, which is usually malaria, develop the idea that they are threatened with some danger, either a tiger or an enemy with a weapon, and begin to run without having any idea where they are running or for what purpose.

The disease "latah" as it occurs among Malay women begins with a shriek, after which the woman is likely to imitate everything that is said and done in her presence and to shriek at her employer. Similar symptoms have been noted in American cooks not definitely affected with anything but meanness. The Malay character is emotional and the response to infection is what might be expected from a race steeped to mysticism and magic and easily suggestible.

The Dutch physician Van Loon, who has studied the reaction of the Malay to these infections is what might be expected from people with the Malay psychology.

In their surveys of disease, physicians are constantly compelled to remember that human beings differ in their reactions because they are differently constituted. Each of us is the sum of all of his ancestors and of the reactions to the environment in which he has been reared.

When infections act upon us, our responses vary according to our natures.

End Bunion Pain Forever

No Need To Suffer Another Day Those Agonizing Torturing Pains.

There is one simple yet inexpensive way to reduce inflamed, swollen toe joints and get them down to normal, and that is to apply Moone's Emerald Oil night and morning, and people who suffer from such enlargements would be wise to reduce them before they reach a more or less chronic stage.

Ask any first class druggist for an original two-ounce bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil (full strength), and refuse to accept anything in its place. It is such a highly concentrated preparation that two ounces last a long time, and furthermore it gives you complete satisfaction you can have your money refunded.

Special note: People who want to avoid swollen or varicose veins should get a bottle of Emerald Oil at once. By applying night and morning as directed they will quickly notice an improvement which will continue until the veins and bunions are reduced to normal.—Adv.

Noted Olympic Champion Now Sells Canned Goods

Johnny Hayes Talks About Marathon He Won In London 22 Years Ago This Summer.

By TED VOSBURGH Sports Writer

New York, Jan. 23.—(AP)—A cheerful little man with lean features and bright gray eyes hunched over a desk in his office on 42nd street and scrawled down an order for canned fruit.

About him there was nothing to indicate he was the hero of the most dramatic event in all Olympic history, but hanging over the desk was a faded photograph of a great stadium in London where 22 years ago this summer, a pint sized New York department store clerk by the name of Johnny Hayes won the classic marathon as the Italian Dorando fainted, fell and was helped across the line.

The years have dealt kindly with Johnny Hayes and filled him with a fine philosophy. "I like it," he said, "I went into business instead of taking up coaching because I wanted to prove it isn't so that a good athlete does not make a good business man, as some people think."

"I don't have time to do very much running any more but I have kept in good condition. In the 22 years I have put on just 22 pounds. I still can step and occasionally I run to and from the ferryboat on which I commute to my home in Woodcliff, N. J."

"The other day a doctor was looking me over, and that I needed it, but I guess because he wanted to see what made me go."

"He told me I had a six footer's heart and it only has to work half the time because in a little fellow like me it doesn't have so far to pump the blood."

"That he told me is the reason I was able to run so far and so fast. When I won the London Olympic race at 22, I weighed 118 pounds and my height of course was the same as now, 5 feet, 3-1/2 inches."

"But from all this some people get the idea that marathon running is all physical. It isn't. Its a great mental test too, this job of spreading your strength and speed evenly over a distance of more than 26 miles."

"As it is, I think most marathon runners are not so fast as pace right about the 14th to the 21st mile. Then with the cool of the evening your powers return and you can go bustling along with new energy if you have gauged your pace right."

"I don't see how that Dorando ever got anywhere near the finish line. He must have followed the English runners when they shot out in front at an unheard of pace soon after the start only to sprawl by the wayside before they had covered fifteen miles. But Dorando kept going and at 20 miles he was still up ahead of me somewhere and not far behind him was the Irish policeman from South Africa."

"I could hear the crowd yelling 'Look at this Yank as fresh as a daisy. He will go on and 'cat-h them sure' and before long I did pass Heffron. He was running straight up and down in his tracks with the look of a dead man on his face."

"You know how Dorando dragged himself into the stadium and fell five times before two officials helped him across the finish line. He was game but even injections of drugs which were given to keep his heart going could carry him across under his power and I was declared the winner."

"I will never forget the cheer that went up from the American stands as I trotted into the stadium. It sort of bucked me up and carried me along to the finish like a breeze."

"Far from hurting me, I think the effort of that and other marathon races built up a reserve of stamina for me to draw upon in these quieter days when my athletic around to sell canned goods. Life is largely business now but I like to keep that picture there."

The Young Men's Community Club basketball team lost to the Hartford Dormites 26 to 19 at the Harding gym here last night. The team was tied at 19-all at the end of the regular playing time and a five minute overtime period brought the locals no points and Hartford Seven. The summary:

SMITH, ESPINOSA LEAD GOLF FIELD

Have Single Stroke Advantage With 18 to Play for Richest Stakes in World.

BY PAUL ZIMMERMAN, A. P. Sports Writer.

Agua Caliente, Lower Calif., Jan. 23.—(AP)—The stubborn, subtle Agua Caliente course which through 54 holes of play held its par barrier of 71 strokes unbroken, today stretched out in menacing fashion before 58 prospectors for the world's largest golf treasure as they faced the final round of the $25,000 classic.

With the $10,000 first place prize almost within their grasp, two pace-makers, Horton Smith and Al Espinosa, clung to a meagre one stroke advantage as they turned to the final 18 holes, already 11 strokes over perfect figures. Their score for the three days of play stood at 224.

A dozen or more contenders pressed closely behind. The nearest of these were Al Watrous, Charles Guest and Olin Dutra, just a strike behind Smith and Espinosa. Two strokes away was Johnny Farwell, the strongest eastern threat.

White Mortie Dutra, MacDonald Smith and Gene Sarazen held close to the front with 227.

Cards of 238 put Henry Cuici, Ed Dudley and George Von Elm, a leading amateur among the front rank contenders. Thirty-one players were clustered within ten strokes of the lead, all of them potential money winners, with 20 cash prizes offered.

There are many interesting stories about the savagery of "Mysterious Billy" Smith. Smith at times was really ferocious and had to be held back by main strength when he went into the ring. Marquis of Queensbury rules cramped his style somewhat.

Each fighter told the world he'd cripple the other.

At the gong, both leaped to the center of the ring, and crashed. You could hear teeth snap as well as gloves thud. Gallagher hit Smith's shoulder. Smith jerked loose, back-heeled Gallagher, and threw him so hard his head bounced on the floor.

In those days, a fighter had to go to his own—not a neutral—corner, when an opponent was down. Gallagher lay between Smith and his corner.

Instead of walking around him, Mysterious Billy stepped on Oakland Billy's face and stomach as he strode to his corner. The fight ended there, Referee Sullivan calling it "no contest."

After the fight, they met in a cafe, and it was necessary to throw hot water on the pair to separate them, so vicious was their rough-and-tumble on the cafe floor.

FROM THE TIMBERLANDS OF ARKANSAS

Presenting "The Queen and Ladies of the Basketball Court," or several reasons why Sparkman, Ark., is on the map. Above are the Sparkman Sparklers, high school girls, who form one of the best basketball teams of the country. Left (below) is the queen herself, Miss Quinnie Hamm, most dazzling of the Sparklers. Lower right shows four of the girls who rate All-America ranking: Left to right, Irene Hamm, Marjorie Leonard, Cosie Pite and "The Queen."

KIRBY VS. GALENTO IN THE STAR BOUT ON HARTFORD CARD

Star bout: Tony Galento, Orange, N. J., vs Tom Kirby, Boston, 10 rounds.

Semi-Final: Eddie Reed, Hartford, vs. Romeo Dubois, New Haven, eight rounds.

Other bouts: Joe Zoller, New Britain, vs Billy Knocker, Boston, six rounds; Vin LaBella, Middletown, vs Al Gauthier, Springfield, four rounds; Sal Carta, Middletown, vs Joe Oliver, New Haven, four rounds; Battling Goup, Hartford, vs Don Duquette, Pittsfield, four rounds.

Tom Kirby of Boston, formerly Olympic champion, will meet Tony Galento of Orange, N. J., in the star bout at Foot Guard hall in Hartford tonight. This bout is down for ten rounds. Galento was winner over George Hoffman of New York last summer in the star bout at Waterbury.

A village of 900 farmers and lumbermen in the central part of the state is privileged to claim the girl wonders. From "backwoods" riddles and bloomers of grammar school days they have jumped to the last word in chic, abbreviated trunks and jerseys and to national prominence through remarkable deeds on the basketball court.

All-America Rating: Queen of the Sparklers who have set their hearts on winning the national championship is Quinnie Hamm, 20-year-old forward and acknowledged leader of the group. Quinnie, by the way, has All-America rating as a forward while her sister, Irene, and Cosie Pite and Marjorie Leonard likewise have earned that honor at guard, center and forward, respectively.

Quinnie was introduced at the Wichita event last year as the "greatest girl basketball player of all time." Her performances entitle her to such recognition.

53 Goals in Game. In one contest that her team won by a score of 164 to 9, the "Queen" looped 53 field goals and three additional foul tosses for a total of 109 points. On another she snared 61 points in just two quarters. The largest score ever recorded by a single performer in national tournament competition, 16 field goals for 32 points, also went to Quinnie. A total of 1,245 points in 29 games last year made her average a fraction under 43 points per game. Through eight games this season she accounted for an average of 42 points a contest.

Dallas Their Jinx. Twice have the Sparklers entered national tournament competition but both times they fell victim to Dallas, Tex., girls. They lost to the Dallas Cyclones, 16 to 14, in the semi-finals of the Dallas event. Scheppe, Aces of Dallas doused the Sparklers 27 to 24 last winter. And there, kind readers, are the only defeats in the lives of the "Queen" and ladies of her court.

Aggressive, but not to the extent of illegal tactics, the girls "simply adore" mixing it with opponents. Seldom, however, is one expelled from the court on personal fouls.

J. R. North, general manager of a Sparkman lumber company, "discovered" the girls and launched them on the road to national prominence. Through his own activity in collegiate athletics, North readily recognized ability in the girls as they administered a decisive trimming to another girls' team on an outdoor court. He sought the coach, Maiss Brown, graduate of Hand-

GROVE CITY BEATS CARNEGIE, 57 TO 46

Stavitsky Gets Five Buckets Although Put Out on Personal Fouls.

Grove City College defeated Carnegie Tech 57-46 in a free scoring battle at the Tech floor, Saturday evening.

Tech started fine, getting a seven point lead. Grove City came back and rolled up the score only to find Carnegie rally and end the half 26-23 for Grove City.

In the last half the Crimson pulled away again and came home with victory. They were forced to play the last few minutes with only four squad. Captain Ryan, Fegley and Stavitsky were banished on personal fouls.

Twenty-three field goals were made by the Thorn men, Stavitsky, Reeves and Replnovic each getting five. Nease was the chief gunner for Tech with 18 points. Score: Carnegie (46) B. F. P. KING VISITS SWITZERLAND

Brussels, Jan. 23.—(AP)—King Albert and Queen Elizabeth left Wednesday evening for Switzerland where Queen Elizabeth will enjoy a short rest cure at Murren and the king will indulge in bob-skiing—his favorite sport.

Shortly after their return in February the monarch will prepare for an official visit to King Fuad of Egypt.

Former Champion Averages Nearly 120 and Finishes Strong; Only One of 20 Games Below Hundred.

Johnny "Yasko" Sasela is the new town bowling champion. He took the title away from Howard Murphy in a ten game match before a large gallery at Gamba Brothers' alley last night.

The youthful Sasela finished 71 pins ahead of the former titleholder and came within one pin of averaging an even 127 for ten games. His opponent was two pins shy of averaging 120. Bowling of such a caliber speaks for itself and needs no detail commendation.

Sasela was in top form and now once hit below the 112 in the ten games which is some bowling. Murphy went below the figure four times with scores of 108, 106, 103 and 93. The latter was the only two-number score of an evening that saw the large crowd of fans treated to a splendid exhibition.

The statistics for the match reveal that Sasela had 33 spares, nine strikes, 321 pins on fillers, missed 6 spare breaks and totaled 1,269 pins against Murphy's record of 29 spares, 7 strikes, 254 pins on fillers, 10 missed spare breaks and 1,195 for a total pinfall.

In justice to Murphy, however, it should be mentioned again that he has not been bowling anywhere nearly as much as Sasela who heads the Herald Bowling League averages as will be noticed in another column on this page. And with this fact in mind, his 119.8 average compared to Sasela's 126.9 was deserving of praise.

The high game of the evening came in the single of the evening when Sasela hit 152 to offset Murphy's 137 and to erase the 148 which Murphy had set as high single in the third game against 142 for Sasela. In the final game "Yasko" made a spare, two strikes and two more spares in succession. Sasela lead from start to finish.

Presented With Jewels

More than one hundred members of Damon Lodge Knights of Pythias and other lodges about the state were present at the 40th anniversary of the local lodge held in Forester's hall last evening. The meeting was called to order by Chancellor Commander Eldred Doyle shortly after 8 o'clock. Following the business session, thirty members of the lodge were presented with veteran's jewels, former Mayor Frederick G. Hartenstein acting as master of ceremonies. Grand Keeper of Records and Seal and the Grand Chancellor of the state organization were present, and each gave a very interesting address.

Refreshments and a smoker followed the ceremonies.

FILIPINOS FLOGGED BY WHITES ON COAST

Watsonville, Cal., Jan. 23.—(AP)—A score of Filipinos were being guarded from possible violence in the City Hall here today after a disturbance in which a mob of approximately 600 whites, armed with clubs, whips and firearms wrecked the interiors of several Filipino residences and severely beat their occupants.

All available police, sheriffs, deputies, state traffic officers and city firemen were called out to disperse the mob and rescue its victims.

Bitter feeling which had its inception in labor problems flamed into action at the use of white girls as dancing partners in Filipino social clubs at Palm Beach, across the Pajaro river from here.

At least twelve Filipinos were badly beaten and flogged by the mob while others fled to rooftops and cellars in terror.

POLICE COURT

Henry W. Gledhill, 23, of 210 North Oxford street, Hartford, was before the Manchester town court this morning, charged with evading responsibility. On January 14 Gledhill who drives a truck for the Hartford News Company, parked his car on Main street near Metter's Smoke Shop while he delivered a couple of packages. While backing out from the curb the truck struck a car owned by Mrs. Bertha Griswold of Bolton. Gledhill failed to stop and ascertain the extent of the damage he caused. Mrs. Griswold did not see the accident. She complained to the police, however, who learned that it was the News Company's truck that did the damage. Chief Gordon called the News Company and later Gledhill came to Manchester to see him. He admitted having struck the car in question and claimed he jumped off the truck, looked at the car, could see no damage and went about his business.

Gledhill was represented in court by Attorney William J. Whelan of Hartford. The state introduced three witnesses, two of them testified they saw the accident. Judge R. A. Johnson found Gledhill guilty and imposed a fine of $50 and costs, then remitted $25 of the fine. From this decision an appeal was taken and the young man's mother furnished a real estate bond of $100 for his appearance in the Superior Court.

Otto F. Miller, 24, of Oakland street, who was arrested for driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor, was granted a continuance of his case until next Monday. His attorney, Judge W. S. Hyde, was unable to be in court this morning. Miller was arrested on Deming street late last night by Patrolman John Cavagnaro.

POP BOTTLES BROKEN IN TRUCK ACCIDENT

Oakland Street Strewn With Glass When Automobile Skids Into Curb.

Broken soda bottles lay strewn all over Oakland street in front of Chester Brunner's gasoline filling station yesterday noon to give all the appearances of a possible pop-bottle battle. Inquiry, however, brought the information that a Reo truck from the Stafford Springs bottling works had skidded into the curb when the driver tried to avoid a Ford coupe which was coming out of the driveway into Burr Nursery. The automobiles did not collide but about half of the soda cargo 40 cases, was dumped into the street. Most of the bottles were broken. The truck was not damaged to much extent.

PHONES Pinehurst "GOOD THINGS TO EAT"

THOSE POULTRY SHOW EGGS

Nothing on earth in the food line is too good for Pinehurst's customers. Therefore Pinehurst is one of the officially listed Connecticut retailers of CONNECTICUT NEWLAI D FANCY EGGS, state-authorized brand adopted by the State Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Markets, which can only be used by producers complying with the most exacting requirements as to production conditions.

Packed in official cartons bearing the name, registry number and address of the producer, these eggs are the result of certain feeding requirements and specified poultry yard conditions; they must weigh 24 ounces to the dozen and be uniform in size and color into the bargain.

Pinehurst is selling these eggs, now being demonstrated at the POULTRY SHOW, at 69 cents a dozen. Other strictly fresh eggs, local, not quite official in weight, coming in sealed cartons, are 59 cents.

We shall continue to have other local eggs in addition to the above.
