

RIVERA QUILTS; MINOR RIOTS FOLLOW NEWS

Nearly 200 Students Arrested as They Celebrate Resignation of Dictator; Gen. Berenguer Succeeds Him.

Madrid, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Spanish police battled until a late hour this morning with crowds of students boisterously celebrating in the streets of the capital the resignation of General Primo De Rivera as Spanish premier and dictator.

Almost 200 students were arrested. Several were wounded seriously and many suffered injuries of minor nature.

Sabres were used to force back the manifestations in some downtown streets. There were many fist fights between the officers and students, who shouted "Viva Rey; muera Primo," "Long live the king; death to Primo." Police quickly suppressed shouts of "Viva Republica" or "Long live the Republic."

Meanwhile General Primo De Rivera, whose resignation was accepted by King Alfonso effective as of 10:15 p. m., last night, conferred with his successor—and perennial enemy—General Damsco Berenguer, chief of King Alfonso XIII's military household and former commander in Morocco.

Farewell to King.

General Primo De Rivera, bidding farewell to King Alfonso and to the country as head of the government, issued an official note: "And now to rest a little to recover my health. Two thousand, three hundred and twenty-six days have been filled with inquietude, responsibility and labor. But rested then if God will. I shall return to serve Spain until I die."

He then expressed the belief that the government should have some sort of dictatorship.

He pledged his personal loyalty to King Alfonso and declared he welcomed the incoming government.

Pleased With Successor.

Of his successor General Primo De Rivera said: "The King entrusted formation of the new government to General Damsco Berenguer. I was very highly pleased with his designation, for he is a man of great serenity of judgment, possessed of much discretion and deeply beloved throughout the country. I re-peat I am highly pleased with the selection for there is no better man for the place."

Later the new premier announced the Duke of Alba, one of the foremost nobles of Spain, had accepted the portfolio of public education. The selection is likely to be popular. In 1928 the duke divided his estates among 400 tenants in order to set a democratic example.

Madrid newspaper finally after more than six years of censorship, found so much to say regarding the Cabinet crisis that their

NINTH ACCEPTS LIBRARY TRUST FROM CHENEYS

Small Meeting Hears Deed of Trust from Local Firm and Accepts Gift With Thanks.

The Ninth school district last night voted to accept the offer of $50,000 by Cheney Brothers for library purposes as a trust fund. Barely a legal quorum of voters was present at the special meeting held in the High school building.

Resolution.

Howell Cheney was named chairman of the meeting and Charles R. Hathaway clerk. Mr. Hathaway read the offer made by Cheney Brothers to the district as well as the deed of trust conveying the sum of $50,000 to the district through the Manchester Trust Company. The resolution offered by Mr. Hathaway accepting the deed of trust was voted and then several other motions were passed certifying the acceptance of the Cheney offer, releasing Cheney Brothers from further liability and allowing the firm the right to examine and criticize plans for any proposed library building, and lastly a resolution expressing the gratitude of the district to Cheney Brothers for the generous gift.

Those present at the meeting were Howell Cheney, Charles R. Hathaway, William C. Chafford D. Cheney, Rev. P. J. O'Connell, Miss Marjory Cheney, Miss Mary Cheney, Harold C. Alvord, Charles J. Huber, Mrs. Charles J. Huber, Warren I. Keith, Watson Woodruff, Emil L. G. Hohenbucher, Jr., Chester F. Robinson, Mrs. Chesler F. Robinson, J. B. O'Hanlon and Ronald H. Ferguson.

A copy of the offer made by Cheney Brothers and a second copy of the deed of trust follow:

January 21, 1930.

"Ninth School District of Manchester

South Manchester, Conn.

Gentlemen:

"Under date of August 26, 1929 we made an offer to the Ninth School District of Manchester in regard to the purchase of certain school properties and the discharge of our obligations to the Ninth School District in regard to providing certain library facilities.

"The Ninth School District has completed its part of this proposal by the purchase of the Central School Building as of October 8, 1929.

"As a fulfillment and discharge of all of our library obligations incurred under said agreement, we offer the following:

"A check is enclosed herewith for $1,458.33, being seven-twelfths of the amount of $2500.00 which we have been obligated to pay annually to the Ninth School District under our agreement with them of November 12, 1913 and July 13, 1923, until we have provided suitable library facilities.

"The school year dates from July 14 and we are therefore obligated to pay towards the year's current maintenance of a library that proportion of the length of the school year which has elapsed since July 14 and January 22, the date of our execution of a deed of trust referred to below, or for a period of six months and one week. In order, however, to give you time to be assured of the receipt of an income

U. S. DELEGATES VISIT MACDONALD

Anglo-American accord, important to the success of the London naval conference, was furthered at this meeting which United States delegates held with Premier Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain soon after their arrival in the British capital. Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, shown sitting at the right, presented his colleagues to the English government head, seated next to him in this picture. At the extreme left, seated, is Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams, and beside him is Ambassador Charles G. Dawes. Standing, left to right, are Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow, Senator David A. Reed of Pennsylvania, Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, and Ambassador Hug H. Gibson.

SAYS HE CONTRIBUTED TO THE KING CAMPAIGN

President of Dye Corporation Declares He Gave $1,000 Check to Senator's Secretary in 1922.

Washington, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Testimony that he gave a campaign contribution of $1,000 for Senator King, Democrat, Utah, in 1922 to Samuel Russell, King's secretary, was given before the Senate lobby committee today by Herman A. Metz, president of the General Dye's Corporation of New York.

Metz was recalled today to relate details of two campaign contributions of $1,000, each reported to have been made to King and agreed with statements by the Utah Senator that the donation made during the presidential campaign in 1922 was not used. He said, however, he gave $1,000 in 1922 after Russell had visited him and had said that things looked "pretty bad" for his employer.

Denied by Senator.

Russell, who quit King's employ in 1928 after a quarrel, had testified at a previous hearing that Metz had made two contributions of $1,000 each, but the Utah

DESTINN IS DEAD; GRAND OPERA STAR

Famous Soprano Passes Away In Czecho-Slovakia; Was 51 Years of Age.

Berlin, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The Prima Donna, Emmy Destinn, prima donna, died today at Budweis, Czecho-Slovakia. She was 51 years old.

Mme. Destinn became one of the most famous figures of European opera of the first quarter of the century. She was born at Prague, Bohemia, Feb. 20, 1878, the daughter of Emanuel Kittel, and began her musical career as a violin student under Lachner.

RACE TROUBLE ON COAST NOW UP IN SENATE

Tydings Says Filipinos Should Get Independence to Save United States from More Serious Riots.

Washington, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Recent labor riots on the west coast involving Filipinos were said in the Senate today by Senator Tydings, Democrat, Maryland, to present ample grounds for the granting of Philippine independence in the near future.

Conceding that Filipinos have a perfect right to come to the United States, Tydings said this country already had race questions on its hands, and Philippine immigration would make the problem more difficult as long as freedom of the islands was postponed.

The immigration policy under which Japanese and Chinese are excluded and Filipinos are permitted entrance into this country, was described as "absolutely illogical" by the Marylander.

Press accounts, Tydings said, show the relation between the Filipinos and whites on the Pacific coast are far from cordial. Citing the recent trouble at Watsonville, Calif., he asserted if an American workman was shot in a similar dispute in the Philippines the American government would send the Army and Navy there to preserve order.

WOMAN PROTESTS PRESENT DRY LAW

Sister of Harvard's President Advocates "Starting All Over Again."

Boston, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Assertion that the people of Massachusetts have established a definite policy against prohibition was made by Alexander Lincoln, former assistant attorney general, in opening arguments before the legislative committee on legal affairs today on the initiative petition for repeal of the state enforcement act.

The petition was sponsored by Charles S. Rackemann, president of the Constitutional Liberty League and others.

Mrs. William Lowell Putnam, sister of President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard, was one of several women who appeared to support the anti-prohibition petition. She said harm and blame incalculable have been and will be visited upon the women who appear to support the prohibition. "Women are more deadly than the male," she said, and follow a conclusion to the very end.

Mrs. Putnam charged the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Massachusetts with incapacity for leadership and cited that organization's responsibility for the present prohibition law for saloons in pre-prohibition days as an example. The closing law, she said, prevented young men from getting an "innocent drink before they went home at night and sent boys to brothels for a bottle."

HOUSE TO CONSIDER MEASURE TO REPEAL THE 18th AMENDMENT

Hearings to Begin Feb. 12; Will Be First Time Such Course Has Been Taken Since the Enactment of Prohibition Law.

Washington, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Chairman Graham of the House judiciary committee announced today that hearings would begin before his group February 12, on seven measures for the repeal of the 18th amendment.

This will be the first time since the enactment of the Eighteenth Amendment that such a course has been taken by the judiciary committee.

Many efforts have been made by the Wet Bloc in the House to have hearings opened on measures to repeal the amendment, but heretofore they have failed.

TOWN LOSES SUIT ON OAK ST. CRASH

Jury Twice Disagrees and Then Awards Total of $2,675 to Hartford Trio.

The jury late this afternoon brought in a verdict in favor of the defendants in the suit against the town following the Oak street culvert accident. Lavoie was granted $2,400. He had sued for $10,000. Stepnowski and Berube, the two other passengers in the car were allowed $150 and $125 respectively. The jury came out at 2:50.

The question of whether or not a gutter extending under a private driveway is a defect in a public highway is proving a baffling question for a jury to decide in Superior Court at Hartford in a case involving a triple suit brought against the Town of Manchester as the result of an automobile accident on Oak street here last spring. Twice the jury has come back to report itself unable to reach an agreement. The judge sent them back for another consultation at 2 o'clock this afternoon. They were given the case late yesterday.

GRAND JURY SITS ON LALONE'S CASE

He, Landry and Moulthrop Considered Before the Florida Grand Jury Today

Jacksonville, Fla., Jan. 29.—(AP)—A Grand Jury today sat to decide whether Leo Landry, Roland G. Lalone and Watson Moulthrop, escaped Connecticut convicts, will be tried for the murder of W. D. Smith, detective.

Smith was killed during a gun battle with the trio here ten days ago. Detective Willie Jones was seriously wounded and had not sufficiently recovered to appear before the grand jury.

Moulthrop and Lalone were captured in Pensacola last Friday as they were about to take a boat for Mobile, Ala. Landry was caught five days earlier. The men have admitted being involved in the shooting but have denied individual responsibility for Smith's death.

Call Witnesses.

Three eye witnesses to the shooting were called before the Grand Jury today. These were Lottie Huettle, Fred Peterson and George Jeffries. What they had to say was not disclosed.

Meanwhile Ion L. Farris, prominent local attorney announced he would defend Lalone and Moulthrop free if they are brought to trial. William Finley, another attorney said he would defend Landry. S. Gilchrist Stockton, newly appointed U. S. Minister to Austria, resigned as foreman of the jury just before that body was called together on the ground that he is now an official of the government and busy with plans to leave for Austria.

Treasury Balance

Washington, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Treasury receipts Jan. 27 were $7,900,444.87; expenditures $7,904,187.73; balance $103,113,918.59.

VETERAN TO QUIT OFFICE

Washington, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Congress is soon to lose its last Civil War Veteran, Rep. Charles Manly Stedman, ex-Confederate, representative from North Carolina since the Sixty-Second Congress who today celebrated his eighty-ninth birthday.

The announcement that he would not seek reelection was made today by Representative Doughton, Democrat, North Carolina, as the House was paying tribute to its oldest member.

Major Stedman feels and those nearest and dearest to him feel, Doughton said, "that he is entitled to a much needed rest."

INDICT OVER 400 UNDER THE DRY ACT

Many Public Officials in the West for Violating the Prohibition Law.

By Associated Press

Almost 400 persons, including many public officials, today were under Federal indictment for conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws in four gigantic, alleged liquor rings in Idaho, Wyoming, Oklahoma and Texas.

Trial of 102 persons accused of conspiracy was to be started today in Federal District Court in Oklahoma City, while trial of 23, including former State Law Enforcement Commissioner W. C. Irving was continued in Cheyenne, Wyoming. Gov. Frank C. Emerson appeared as a witness in Cheyenne yesterday and former Governor Johnson was subpoenaed to testify. A Federal Grand Jury in Galveston adjourned yesterday after indicting about 120 residents of South Texas in several liquor conspiracy cases. Its last act was indictment of a Galveston group which included a former Coast Guardsman and two policemen.

Held Officers.

Local governments of the city of Mullan and Shoshone county, Idaho, were disrupted by conviction recently of virtually all principal office holders on liquor conspiracy charges and the same fate faces Wallace, Idaho. Forty four of approximately 200 persons indicted in northern Idaho, including the mayor of Wallace, the Shoshone county sheriff and city councilmen and police, are to be tried in March.

Forty-two persons convicted in the last term of Federal Court at Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, which included the Mullan "Rebellion" conspirators, and 65 who pleaded guilty, were given fines totalling $18,800 and prison terms aggregating 29 years.

MANCHESTER MERCHANTS TO OFFER SPECIAL SALES ON SLOW MOVING ARTICLES.

The White Elephant held in sacred esteem by thousands of devotees throughout Siam for countless centuries comes into his own right here in Manchester tomorrow with the announcement of a White Elephant Sale to be held by the merchants of Manchester.

Buyers in every line at times find that they have bought articles of exceptionally fine quality and value that for some unknown reason did not find a ready retail market or that the popularity of good seller has waned and left a large stock of odds and ends sitting on the shelves occupying valuable display space.

To the merchants these White Elephants sitting on the shelves taking up room needed for new merchandise is "one pain in the neck." Hence the day of days for the buying public. A White Elephant Sale when all these odds and ends are grouped together and sold at such a low figure that the accrued profits from such sales would scarcely buy enough liniment to alleviate said pains developed from razing on said White Elephants during the time they have occupied space in the stores.

Things Not So Bad, Men, Only $10,000 For Clothes

Chicago, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Law-at-two morning coats; several pairs of striped trousers; two formal overcoats for day wear; one heavy winter ulster; one medium weight town coat of semi rough material, and one polo coat.

Clothes for spring, Heppner said, will be wide-shouldered, narrow-waisted and with fairly wide trousers.

"Tuxedos are no longer formal," he continued. "The formal dress for 1930 will be the full-dress coat in Oxford, very dark blue or black. The pique waistcoat and tie in white will be the thing."

STEAMER REFOLOATED

Havre, France, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The Brazilian steamer Alagrete, which ran ashore during a fog four miles from Havre last night, was pulled off the rocks today and was taken in tow for a dry-dock.

The vessel carried 36,000 bags of coffee. Officials said most of the cargo probably would not be damaged.

STRONG MAN DIES OF ODD AILMENT

Doctors at Hospital Find No Organic Trouble; Was 55 Years of Age.

New Haven, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Wilfred Masiocotte, one time strong man of Waterbury, held since December 19 in the county jail on a non-support charge died at St. Raphael's hospital this morning from general debility.

Masiocotte's health had been failing several days although medical examination did not reveal any definite physical trouble. For three or four days his actions had not been normal and since his physical condition appeared reasonably good for a man of 55, his ailments were attributed to some mental difficulty.

Sent To Hospital

On Monday as no relief had been found for Masiocotte's condition he was sent to the hospital for examination, but even detailed examination failed to reveal any organic trouble. His condition became steadily worse until yesterday his wife and two children were notified that death was near. They came here today to claim the body.

Masiocotte had formerly been well known in Waterbury for physical prowess but advancing years had dimmed his renown.

NOON STOCKS

New York, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The movement of stock prices was irregular in the forenoon trading today, but toward noon buying orders assumed substantial proportions after the list had demonstrated its ability to absorb early profit-taking sales.

ABOUT TOWN

Eight years old George Price, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. I. Price of 323 Adams street, was able to walk about the house with assistance yesterday for the first time since he suffered a fracture of the skull in a coasting accident a few weeks ago.

Marion Harsworth, 12 years old Glastonbury girl, recovering from a coasting accident in which she broke two bones in her left arm. She was treated by a local physician.

R. LaMotte Russell, president of the Manchester Trust Company, has gone to Florida for a two weeks vacation. Mr. Russell had not been feeling well of late having a little touch of the grip and felt that a few days in the balmy southern climate might prove highly restorative.

Jake Webber, coach of track and field athletics at Fordham University in Brooklyn, stopped in Manchester Sunday with Joseph McCuskey, local athlete enrolled at that institution, to visit with the latter's parents on Foster street. McCuskey is scheduled to run again next Wednesday in Newark and is also booked for a meet in Hartford next March.

The January Court of Honor of the Boy Scouts of America will be held at the School street Rec at 7:30 o'clock Friday evening.

Mrs. Sedrick J. Straughan of East Center street, who returned home from the Memorial hospital about two weeks ago, is gaining slowly but hopes to be able to welcome her friends in the near future.

The regular meeting of the Cosmopolitan club will be held Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the South Methodist church parlors. Mrs. W. C. Crawford will be the hostess. The general subject of the meeting will be "Legislation." Mrs. Ward T. Duffy of West Hartford, formerly of this town will give the address of the afternoon.

Betty Louise, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Erickson of Buckland, celebrated her second birthday Monday afternoon with a party for a number of her little friends.

St. Margaret's Circle, Daughters of Isabella, held a card social last evening in the K. of C. clubrooms, following a brief business meeting. Mrs. Alice Hunter won first prize; Mrs. Norem Cotter, second and Mrs. Charles Donahue, consolation. In straight whist the first prize was awarded to Mrs. Margaret Shea; second to Mrs. Margaret Miner and consolation to Mrs. Mary Kornse. The proceeds of the card party will be devoted to state charity. Home-made cake and coffee was served at the close of the games.

The flag at Depot Square was at half-mast today in respect to the memory of Frank F. Spencer, whose funeral occurred at his home on North Main street this afternoon. Mr. Spencer was one of the leading business men in that section of the town for many years, and well liked by people in all circles.

Mrs. John N. Blackwood of 119 Center street is spending the week with friends in Hartford.

COMMISSIONER EXPLAINS LAW ON SERVING MILK

Under the section of the public acts of 1927 relating to the inspection of dairies and the marketing of milk and cream, several inspections are made in town last week by a representative of the commission.

Particular attention was given to places about which complaints were made. All other places serving milk were visited by the inspector and those not fully complying with the law were warned. The manner in which milk used in milk shakes is handled is somewhat misunderstood. A milk shake at most soda fountains is not of such size that a quart of milk opened for use in the first serving takes up the whole quart.

In order to get a ruling on the matter one of the dispensers of soda water and milk shakes wrote to the commission and the following letter was received in reply: "The dispensing of milk in individual containers does not affect the sale at your fountain of milk shakes, but there is no question but that it should, and will when the next Legislature has had time to pass upon it."

"The survey we are making shows that in almost every case the last glass of milk from a quart bottle is skim milk, some as low as 1 per cent buttermilk. There is no way in which you can take a quart bottle of milk, without emptying or stirring in some way, either pouring back and forth, or in some other manner, whereby you can have an even butter-fat content in all glasses. It is impossible to shake the contents of a full bottle; therefore the first glass will probably contain 6 to 7 per cent of butter-fat and the last about 1 per cent."

"At the present time you will not be compelled to use individual bottles for your milk shakes, but you should make some effort to see that you are giving everyone a square deal. For your information will say that should we find that you are selling a milk shake made from skim milk, you would be just as liable for prosecution in the Courts as you would be for selling skim milk in the glass."

Very truly yours, THOMAS HOLT, Commissioner.

TOWN'S SOCIAL SERVICE COMMITTEE SEEKS FUNDS

General Appeal to Be Made by Letters—Need of Money Is Increasing.

The Social Service Committee of the Town of Manchester and the Manchester Memorial hospital held a meeting Monday afternoon at Watkins Auditorium. As in former years, the committee is planning to send letters of appeal to the residents of Manchester, within the next few days, asking for contributions to help carry on the social service work.

It is hoped that the response to these appeals will be even more generous than in previous years, as the committee finds that more demands are being made upon them at present, than ever before. This is due undoubtedly to the present unsettled conditions of employment.

Several bridges will be run by the Social Service Committee in the near future as another means of raising funds. Following is a report of the work accomplished by the committee during the past year: Moving expenses $20. Household supplies purchased $1. Groceries amounting to $80.00. Ambulance calls, 2. Surgical appliances, 4. X-ray pictures (2 patients). Miscellaneous bills, 16. The total amount expended during the year 1929—$793.15. The total amount expended to date since Jan. 1, 1930, $122.34.

Memorial Temple, Pythian Sisters, followed the business of its regular meeting in Odd Fellows hall last night with a social for the members. Miss Frances DeVarney played two piano solos and whist occupied the remainder of the time. Prize winners were Mrs. Sarah DeVarney, first; Mrs. Gladys Clark, second and Mrs. Myrtle Armstrong, consolation. Myron Peckham won the first prize among the men.

PYTHIAN SISTERS HOLD A SOCIAL

It is planned to have a large public whist party on Tuesday evening, February 11, followed by dancing, with an attendance prize and gold pieces for first prizes. The social committee for the first three months of 1930 will be in charge, as follows: Mrs. Carrie Samlow, chairman; Mrs. Sarah DeVarney, Mrs. Frances Chambers, Mrs. Gustave Ulrich, Mrs. Fred Sankey, Mrs. Robert McBride, Mrs. Hazel Hattin, Mrs. Mamie Dickinson, Mrs. Ellen Ferguson, Mrs. George Tomlinson. The social committee served last evening fruit salad made and donated by Mrs. Gustave Ulrich, hot rolls and coffee.

IN NEW YORK THEATERS

By DEMING SEYMOUR.

New York.—Maurice Moscovitch, an actor in New York's Jewish theaters 35 years ago, has come back as an English star to the city of his young manhood, and gave the stage of the Erlanger theater a notable performance of the title role in "Josef Suss."

"Josef Suss" is the play by Ashley Dukes, based upon Lion Feuchtwanger's novel "Power." It's hero is a Jewish money lender of the eighteenth century, who attaches himself to a young royalist destined to become the Duke of Wurtemberg.

In the duchy which Karl Alexander comes to rule, Josef Suss is the treasurer. He exacts taxes ruthlessly, and builds himself to a position of power with the motive of avenging his race for all the Jew-baiting that he and those of his faith have to endure.

In the course of his financial dictatorship he forces the duke's daughter to become the mistress of the duke. And the counselor, embittered, gets even by leading the duke one day to the cloister where Josef Suss has hidden from the world his golden-haired daughter Naemi.

The duke lures Josef away from the cloister, and himself returns to seek Naemi's favors. The child, frightened, leaps from the wall, and Josef returns to find her dead. Josef's avowal to avenge his race turns to a vow to avenge himself and his daughter. He maneuvers the overthrow of the duchy he has upheld. It means his own ruin, but he lets himself be led before the firing squad without protest, having evened his score with the duke.

A Robust Figure.

Feuchtwanger's "Power" was first written as a play, and its author later converted it into the novel which became so widely known. Dukes, English critic and playwright, took the English translation of the novel and made from it this play.

The Dukes play is more episodic than the novel, and sometimes its parts are not compactly joined. It is at its best in the third of its four acts, wherein the duke drives Josef's daughter to her death and the parent returns to mourn over her corpse and to swear his vengeance on the duke.

But its shortcomings as drama do not prevent Moscovitch from making of its principal character a monumental figure. His portrayal of the court Jew is one of the great characterizations of the season, often measuring up to the created.

Imported Production.

Not only has the company seen in support of Moscovitch been brought with him from England, where since 1919 the onetime Jewish star has been playing English-speaking roles. The sets are also English, designed by Aubrey Hammond, and they add notably to the vigorous tone of the play.

NEW WAY IS FOUND TO RECOVER COPPER

Pullman, Wash.—(AP)—Discovery of a new process for the recovery of practically pure copper from copper sulphide ores by means of a hydro-electric metallurgical process has been made.

The process was developed by the school of mines and geology at Washington State college from years of research. It will depend upon cheap hydro-electric power for its chief advantage over the old methods, said A. E. Drucker, dean of the college of mining.

"During the last 15 years certain electrolytic processes have been highly developed for zinc ore, so why not for copper?" he said. "We have at last solved the various problems and are able under the right conditions to get a very pure cathode copper."

"The small mine operator, with the proper conditions at hand, can treat his own ore in the mine from beginning to end, produce pure electrolytic copper, and eliminate the deductions in extractions and various penalties usually charged against the shipper when ore is sold outright to the smelter."

"We have conducted careful laboratory research to see whether anyone has worked along similar processes and can find only one case 15 or 18 years ago, where a little work had been done without success."

"I think it is safe to say we are the first to make such electrolytic investigations for such a process, and that this is the future metallurgy for copper sulphide ores."

This is Paris

AS THE WORLD GOES BY
By Hazel Reavis

Paris.—Afternoon in the Place de l'Opera of a fine winter day. Or spring or summer.

Sidewalk tables of the Cafe de la Paix are filled with contented consumers.

Across their multi-colored drinks, emerald creme de menthe, yellow suze cressone, ruby port they watch peripatetic Paris.

This is the favorite spot to watch the world go by.

The man from Capetown or Chilli-cothe or Cairo is glowingly happy as he sips his drink and watches the big green buses and garrulous taxis. He has waited a long time for this and at last here he is.

The Guide Booklet

Nothing like this town of Paris. Little old Paris. Pretty girl, that blond in the red hat. Nice black horse, too, bringing the mounted traffic officer with the shining brass hat. They sure know how to put on a show, these French. It's swell to be alive.

"Wanna guide, mister?"

It's a furtive man with a dirty collar who asks the question out of the side of his mouth.

Sometimes he asks "Quere usted un guia?" or "Wollen sie einen fuhrer?"

Uncle Sam's sons are not the only victims of the "wanna guide" boy.

He is an adept at guessing nationalities from the color of a victim's shoes, the cut of his hair or the dangle of his diamonds, if any.

In addition to unofficial guide service he does a clandestine trade in pornographic postcards, ticket scalping, date making and general slumming. His accomplishments may include anything from the ukulele to the rosary game.

The Paris police are always after him.

Each spring, at the beginning of the tourist season, an official roundup is made of the "wanna guide" gang. The known undesirables are taken as far as the gates of Paris and shown the way out. Having seen it, they immediately return and resume operations.

Have Their Beats

Their favorite pitches are bought and sold like newsboys' beats. The Place de l'Opera is their community center, but the sidewalks outside Cook's and the American Express, the church of the Madeleine and the cathedral of Notre Dame are almost as lucrative.

GILEAD

The theme for the sermon, delivered by Rev. J. W. Deter Sunday morning was "Fenticost."

Sunday evening Gilead members of the TriCounty Christian Endeavor Union attended the union meeting at Columbia, Rev. Mr. Wheelock of Willimantic was the speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Raymond and children of New Britain were recent visitors at Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Hodge's.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Post of East Hartford, spent Tuesday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred H. Post.

Ice on the local ponds is 11 inches thick and many farmers are filling their ice-houses this week.

The Hebrew Young Women's club will meet with Mrs. J. W. Deter Thursday afternoon. They will dress in costumes of the long ago and bring a dish, such as Grandma served.

Donald Gaylor, Tolland County Club agent and his 4-Hers were heard over Station WCAC, Storrs, Monday evening at 7 o'clock. Lovina Foote of this place and Ruth Kinney of Hebron 4-H club members were among the speakers during that period.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Foote entertained their son Arnold and family at dinner Sunday, in honor of his thirty-first birthday.

The real estate in the town has been re-assessed according to law. Notices are being sent to property owners in accordance with Sec. 1149 of the General Statutes Revision of 1918.

TALCOTTVILLE

Rev. F. P. Bachelor is confined to his home by illness.

The Golden Rule club will not meet this Friday as has been announced. The next meeting will be held on Friday, Feb. 7.

The many friends of Mrs. Arthur Shepherd of Hamden, will be glad to know that her son, who has been seriously ill, is considerably improved.

Miss Dorothy Wood of Willimantic spent the week-end at her home here.

A new Timken oil burner has been installed in the heating plant at the Talcott Bros. Co. office.

PLANES DROP FOOD FOR FLOOD VICTIMS

Evansville, Ind., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Ninety families reported in distress from lack of food and fuel in the flood-bound territory south of Crawleyville, Ind., were the immediate goal today of four National Guard airplanes engaged in relief work.

One hundred and twenty bags of food and clothing were ready for the aviators to drop at the homes of these families and others marooned more than a week ago when the waters of the Wabash and White rivers overflowed, spread over a large territory, and then froze.

The planes yesterday dropped packages of supplies to twenty persons isolated on cut-off island, and to others in the vicinity of Hawthorne island, Claypool hill and Crawleyville, in Gibson, Posey and Vanderburgh counties.

Serious Plight

The serious plight of persons in the flood territory was emphasized by the experience of the aviators yesterday. One pilot related how a bag dropped near a farm house broke through the ice, whereupon a man who had been watching the plane dived under the ice to retrieve the supplies. At another point, the pilot said, a man and boy pounced on the bag and tore it apart, as ravenous animals would, in search of food.

Mrs. Henry Williams, who reached high ground after a walk of several miles over the ice with her five small children, told how the lower part of her home was flooded and said the house shook on its foundations as the flood waters swirled about it.

So it's parrot fever! Well, we just had to have some nice epidemic this winter.

ROBINSONS TO HANDLE OAKLAND AND PONTIAC

A. C. Hine Company Announces Local Service Station Will Succeed Kemp Brothers.

Carl R. Lane, wholesale manager of The A. C. Hine company, state distributor of the Oakland and Pontiac announces the appointment of The Robinson Auto company as associate dealers in South Manchester succeeding Kemp Brothers who have removed to Hartford and will be associate dealers there.

Raymond and Ernest Robinson head the new organization which heretofore conducted a super service station in this town. It is announced that Ernest Robinson will continue to manage the super service station while the Oakland and Pontiac end of the business will be managed by Raymond Robinson.

Sales quarters have been secured on Main street. The new firm is prepared to handle all sales and service requirements for their territory.

The Robinson Brothers are much enthused over the new Oakland V eight and the new Pontiac six. They anticipate a good local demand for this line.

FIND LOVELAND'S BODY
Yuma, Ariz., Jan. 29.—(AP)—The mysterious death of W. Paul Loveland, wealthy Pasadena, Calif., architect and sportsman whose body was found in an unmarked grave beside the Mexican irrigation canal near Cuervo, Mexico, 24 miles south of the International line, was being investigated today by police authorities of Mexico and Arizona.

Loveland had been missing since shortly after Christmas. Mexicans said they found the body four days ago in an irrigation canal and buried it.

47 Years' Practice Taught Dr. Caldwell

Many things about Men and Women

DR. CALDWELL loved people. He studied the habits of his patients and tried to improve their ways of living. His observations over a long period of time convinced him many people were ruining their health by a careless choice of laxatives. Then he determined to write a prescription which would get at the cause of constipation and correct it quickly and safely.

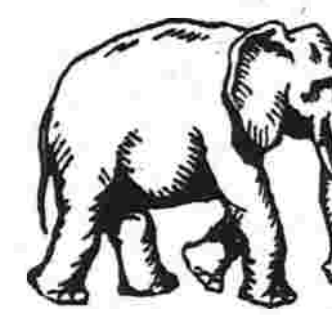

How successful his efforts were is best shown by the fact that the prescription he wrote back in 1885 has become the world's most popular laxative! He prescribed a mixture of herbs and other pure ingredients now known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, in thousands of cases where bad breath, coated tongue, gas, headaches, biliousness, and lack of appetite, or energy showed him that the bowels of men, women or children were sluggish. It proved successful in the most obstinate cases. So men liked it. Old folks liked it because it never gripes. Children liked its pleasant taste. And everybody is pleased with the gentle way it accomplishes its purpose.

By 1888, the demand for this laxative was so great that the doctor permitted it to be bottled and sold by druggists. Today you can obtain Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin from any druggist in the world.

HARTFORD DOG SHOW ON FEBRUARY 17-18

One of the biggest and best dog shows ever held in the East is to be staged at Foot Guard armory on High street, Hartford, Monday and Tuesday, February 17-18. This will be the sixth annual event of the kind under the auspices of the First company, Governor's Foot Guard athletic association. Hundreds of prize dogs from all parts of the country are being entered and more prizes will be awarded than ever before. Owing to numerous requests the time limit for entries has been extended to February 8 with permission of the American Kennel club. Entry blanks and information may be obtained from Dr. F. T. Maxon, chairman of the show committee, 9 Vernon street, Hartford.

GANG LEADER KILLED

New York, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The name of Charles (Red) Donnelly, 50, was added today to the long list of gang leaders who have been killed in the fight for control of the waterfront in the Red Hook district of Brooklyn.

He was ambushed and shot twice in the head by gunmen hidden behind a checker's shanty on the pier of the Columbian Line.

He was watching the ship loaders from whom he extracted tribute yesterday when a messenger approached him and said: "You are wanted down on the pier."

Donnelly strolled toward the pier. As he passed the checker's booth there were two shots. Loaders working nearby found him dead. The killers had disappeared.

Woman Invents Radio Tube With Renewable Filament

Cleveland, O.—(AP.)—A "darning needle that glows" has been placed in a radio tube by a woman.

The result is a tube of indefinite life. For should the needle, which really is the filament or heater, burn out, it can be replaced.

The woman who thus has removed from radio one of its greatest bugaboos, the burnt out tube, is Mrs. Clara E. Quinn, a mother who guided the footsteps of her son to healthy manhood while aiding progress by her work in the laboratory.

Three years of extensive experimenting was necessary before Mrs. Quinn, who is an electrical engineer, felt that her development was foolproof.

In the ordinary tube, the filament or heater is in the vacuum and cannot be changed without breaking the bulb. There are two types of filaments, one which emits electrons directly, and the other which heats the cathode or electronic emitter thermostatically.

Mrs. Quinn's tube is of the heater type, with the filament outside the vacuum. It is a high resistance wire, well insulated. The filament is fastened to a removable section of the tube's base held in place by a small screw. This section also contains the two filament prongs.

Built permanently in the tube are the grid, plate and cathode, which is a small hollow tube of special metal, opening at the bottom, into which the filament is inserted. This hollow tube is sealed in so that no air can get into the tube proper.

Such a filament burns in the open air. While it is actually outside the vacuum, it heats the cathode, which glows dull red like a hot poker, by thermostatic action. Life tests have shown the filament to last from 8,000 to 12,000 hours. So far three types—228, 227 and 171a—have been developed.

Mrs. Quinn has been associated with the electric light industry since 1899, having first started her career as a teacher of stenography and accounting. All of her spare time has been devoted to study and research.

Late in 1922 she entered electrical development work on her own account, establishing a laboratory and factory in Cleveland, from which she made numerous contributions to radio.

It was there three years ago she saw the possibilities of the "darning needle" tube.

DOUBLE FEATURE BILL ON STATE PROGRAM

Two excellent features, Dolores Costello in "Second Choice," and Robert Montgomery, Claude Allister and Beryl Metcalf in "Three Live Ghosts," head the program at the State today and Thursday.

"Second Choice" presents Miss Costello in a dramatic vehicle that does justice to the beautiful blonde star. It is really the first good story she has had in several months.

And in addition, she has been surrounded by a supporting cast of unusual merit, among whom are Chester Morris, Jack Mulhall, Edna Murphy, Edward Martindale and Henry Stockbridge.

The story revolves about a jilted girl and a jilted boy who marry to stop gossiping caused by the breaking off of their respective engagements.

Chester Morris, who jilted Dolores, tries unsuccessfully to win her back. There is a strong climax when he tries to force her to elope with him and then realizes the quest is futile.

"Three Live Ghosts" is the comedy-drama that rocked the theaters of the world with laughter. You will get laughs, then some more laughs—when you see the hilarious trio who returned home to find loved ones soon found they were quite alive, as did Scotland Yard, when they started turning London upside down.

You will have time of your life laughing at this laugh hit of the year.

LICENSES SUSPENDED

A list of operators whose licenses to drive automobiles in Connecticut have been suspended for one year for driving while under the influence of liquor was given out today at the State Motor Vehicle Department as a part of the effort to reduce this highway menace.

The department statement advised people to notify the department or the police in case they should see any of these drivers operating motor vehicles.

All those who attended the last Sunday evening service of song at the Federated Church, felt repaid for their effort, for the colored quart, who motored here from Norwich, were very fine singers. They sang many times and some selections by request.

There were two automobile accidents at Wapping Center on Sunday. The first one was about 10:30 a. m. when two cars came together in front of the Laid Memorial Library.

No one was hurt but the cars received torn off bumpers and bent fenders. In the evening about 6 o'clock Arthur J. Manley of Manchester and William Gillett of Springfield, Mass., were in a collision a little farther east, opposite the home of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Frink.

Mr. Manley's car was plunged down a steep bank into Harry W. Snow's lot, and the Gillett car went over the bank in Mr. Frink's lot, but was held by a small tree, and was not as badly damaged as the Manley car. Both cars crashed through the state highway fence.

Fortunately the occupants of the cars escaped with their lives, and were not seriously injured. Deputy Sheriff C. Vinton Benjamin, in answer to a telephone call, arrived and arrested Gillette, who was charged with violation of the rules of the road.

SORE THROATS AND COUGHS

Quickly Relieved by This Safe Prescription.

Here's a doctor's prescription that is really throat insurance. Sore or irritated throats are relieved and soothed almost instantly with the very first swallow. About 90 per cent of all coughs are caused by an irritated throat; consequently for most coughs too there is nothing better than this famous prescription—it goes direct to the internal cause. It is put up under the name Thoxine and is guaranteed to stop coughs and relieve sore throats in 15 minutes or your money will be refunded. Singers and speakers find Thoxine very valuable.

The remarkable thing about Thoxine is that while it relieves almost instantly, it contains nothing harmful, is pleasant tasting, and safe for the whole family. Ask for Thoxine 35c, 60c and $1.00 bottles. Sold by Murphy's Drug Store and all other good drug stores.—Adv.

Scanning New Books

BY RICHARD MASSOCK

New York—In the early part of the past century a poor, drunken bookbinder and tyro actor, who had made a sentimental marriage, saw his wife die in childbirth in a novel at Newburyport, Mass.

His first ambition was to buy enough opiate to put his weary, miserable body into a last, long sleep.

But the poison was never used. A kindly stranger recognized him in the street and invited him to "take the pledge." And that moment marked the beginning of John Bartholomew Gough's evangelism in behalf of the temperance movement, as narrated in "Tiger! Tiger!" a biography of Gough by Honore W. Morrow.

Gough was the son of an English soldier and in his childhood he read books aloud for aged residents of his home on the seacoast. Usually the book was "The Pilgrim's Progress."

Thus he developed the agile tongue that made him one of the fluent orators in a time when reformed drunkards were called upon to rescue the fallen.

His interest in books drew him to the binder's trade when he came to America as a lone boy of 12, in whose ears still rang the Biblical exhortations of his mother. Over here he soon developed an appetite for rum, and his whole life thereafter was a battle against it.

It was this "tiger," burning as in William Blake's poem from which the title is taken, that cut short Gough's career as an actor and finally brought him to the attention of Dr. Lyman Beecher, who prevailed upon him to become a temperance lecturer.

After that Gough had occasional lapses into his old craving, from which he always came back, remorseful and more eloquent than ever.

His association, first with the Washington Temperance society, then with the American Temperance union, drew upon him vilification and numerous hardships. But he prevailed against threats and lures, even escaping dramatically from abductors when he carried his fight against intemperance over to England.

For most of his career, his interest was merely in temperance and he opposed the idea of prohibition. But finally he was won over to advocacy of that extremity.

Mrs. Morrow's story of his life is a vivid picture of the days when "Ten Nights in a Barroom" was creating a sensation in the American theater and the American home.

Mind In Fact And Fiction The abnormalities that exist in almost every worthwhile personality are entertainingly defined, explained and described for the layman, with an outline of the various treatments, by Dr. Karl A. Menninger, Topeka, Kas., psychiatrist, in a forthcoming book, "The Human Mind."

Philip Gibbs also has entered this sphere in his newest novel "The Hidden City," that city being the sub-conscious mind. His protagonist is a young physician who treats mental cases such as Dr. Menninger writes about—the neurosthenic tossing sleepless in bed; his neighbor expecting momentarily to die, fearful of his heart; another who fears he is losing his reason.

The arm of the law engaged in prohibition enforcement can't be given a great big hand as yet.

Berlin's Automats Serve Everything

Mechanical Bartenders Serve Beer and Sandwiches.

Berlin—(AP)—Mechanical bartenders who dispense beer, both light and dark, and nickel plated waiters who yield caviar sandwiches and sausages, are among the many wonders that slot machines are now performing for German burghers and housewives.

There is practically no small item of food, drink or general usefulness that cannot be bought in Berlin by dropping a coin in a slot and turning a crank or pressing a button.

There are the usual gum and candy machines, of course, and the ticket-vending machines in the underground. These, however, are only detail of the great organization of mechanical salesmen constantly showing out merchandise to slot-machine shoppers.

A clean handkerchief always can be obtained from a slot-machine here after all the haberdashers are asleep. What is more, so can caviar sandwiches.

Perfume-vending slot-machines are legion; also the kind that hands outlipstick and powder puffs to the hurried flapper, newspapers come obediently out of a box at the call of climbing coin, and if one's literary appetite is not too exacting one can buy books that way, too.

Even medicine chest requisites ordinarily bought in a drugstore can be taken in comfort from sleek, metal clerks interested only in the soundness of the coins dropped into their cast-iron pockets.

Dropping a coin into a slot to get caviar is not an experience confined to quarters frequented by the wealthy. Caviar is just one of the many delights offered to bite-and-run lunchers in the numerous automatic lunchrooms of Berlin and other German cities.

In Berlin, incidentally, these mechanical food dispensers are even more numerous than cafeterias in Los Angeles. There seems to be one on every street. Not only do they serve ham, sausage, cheese and caviar sandwiches, but beer, light and dark and of various brands, wine, too, and even a limited range of liquors, including brandy, can be made to flow by tinkling a coin down the throat of nickel-plated bartenders.

What Berlin still needs, and exhaustive survey of the situation indicates, is a slot machine that will press trousers, and perhaps also one that will clean your watch while you wait. Otherwise the city seems fairly well equipped.

DIVER TRAPPED

Quebec, Jan. 29.—(AP)—With little hope that they would find Peter Trans, a diver, alive, rescuers today renewed their efforts to bring him from the depths of the St. Lawrence river where he has been trapped since Monday.

Trans went down to inspect the base of a cofferdam under construction at Riviere des Outardes, where soon after submerging he became caught on a spike projecting from the cribbing.

When efforts to bring him to the surface failed, a call was sent to Quebec for a rescue diver. Two divers started in an airplane but were delayed yesterday by snow storms. Air has been pumped to Trans continually but it was feared he had succumbed to the exposure in the cold water.

MCKINLEY DINNER TO BE HELD FEB. 6 Annual Republican Gathering in Waterbury This Year—Fort to Speak.

Waterbury, Jan. 29.—That the twenty-sixth annual dinner of the McKinley Association of Connecticut will be held at the Hotel Thurston in this city on the evening of Thursday, February 6, was officially announced here today by officers of the association following the completion of final arrangements for the affair.

The annual McKinley Dinner has become the outstanding Republican social event of the year and it will bring together at Waterbury men and women of prominence in the party organization from every section of the state.

Cong. Fort Guesf. In addition, the committee on arrangements announced that Hon. Franklin W. Fort, Republican Congressman from the ninth district of New Jersey and secretary of the Republican National Committee, had sent definite confirmation today of his acceptance of the invitation to speak at the dinner.

Other speakers will be Governor John H. Trumbull and Chairman J. Henry Roraback of the Republican State Central Committee. Senator Edward W. Goss of Waterbury will act as toastmaster and the invocation will be offered by Rev. Anthony T. Gesner of Waterbury.

Fort's Record. Representative Fort, who will deliver the principal address of the evening, is a speaker of wide reputation. He is a member of the House committees on Agriculture and Rules, and is now serving his third term in the House. He was re-elected in 1928 by a majority of 10,800 votes.

Officers of the McKinley Association this year are as follows: President, Edward W. Goss, Waterbury; treasurer, Roy C. Wilcox, Meriden; secretary, Clarence G. Willard, New Haven; executive committee, Hartford county, Raymond A. Johnson and Mrs. Herbert F. Fisher; New Haven county, William F. Healey and Mrs. Ernest L. Averill; Fairfield county, Charles P. Roraback and Miss Mary B. Weaver; Windham county, Raymond F. Gates and Miss Katherine Byrne; Middlesex county, Elwyn T. Clark and Mrs. Claudine O. Maitland; New London county, W. Ellery Allyn and Mrs. Ernest E. Rogers; Tolland county, Charles H. Allen and Mrs. F. O. Vinton.

LATEST STOCKS

New York, Jan. 29.—(AP)—A broadening demand for stocks was noted in today's Stock Market, with gains in the active issues running from 1 to nearly 10 points. A few soft spots cropped out from time to time, but there was a marked absence of the "bear" attacks which featured the sessions earlier in the year. Trading was moderately heavy in volume, with pools again active in a wide assortment of issues.

Except for the report of a further falling off in freight car loadings, the day's business news was rather cheerful in character. Fullerton of an excellent earnings report by the U. S. Steel Corporation after the close of yesterday's market was followed today by the Iron Age weekly summary which stated that the rapid recovery of the steel industry has been a surprise to consumers and producers alike. At Chicago the mills are reported to be operating at 80 per cent of capacity, with the industry generally around 75 per cent.

U. S. Steel common was marked up 4 points to a new high on the current recovery at 181, which is within 2 points of the high reached after the November break in prices, and 12 points above the price at which stock recently was offered to employees under the partial payment plan. Vanadium Steel also advanced 4 points with smaller gains for most of the other independents.

J. I. Case soared 10 points in response to reports of a brisk inquiry for farm implements. International Harvester advanced 4 points. Columbian Carbon was run up 1-4 points to 192 3/4 and Vulcan Detinning jumped 1-2 in anticipation of a resumption of dividends at today's meeting.

Resumption of dividends by Colorado Fuel after a lapse of nine years was followed by a moderate advance in that issue. Liggatt and Myers issues also responded to the declaration of extra dividends and the offering of stock subscription "rights."

Anchor Cap preferred, Brooklyn and Queens preferred, Brookwood Elliott Fisher, Colotex, American Tobacco "B", Wrthington Pump, Mullins Body, National Lead, Warren Brothers and Union Carbide sold 4 to 6 points higher.

GRIGGS IS NOMINATED IN SPRINGFIELD DIST. Springfield, Mass., Jan. 28.—(AP)—In a primary congressional election in which all five candidates had pledged themselves to vote for repeal of the 18th amendment, Frederick D. Griggs won the Republican nomination and W. J. Grandfield the Democratic.

MOOSE CHARITY BALL COMMITTEES NAMED

Tickets Now in Hands of Members—Proceeds to Go to Boys Village.

Tickets are now in the hands of members of Manchester Lodge, No. 1477, Loyal Order of Moose, for the gala Charity Ball to be held at the Masonic Temple, Friday evening, February 28, in conjunction with more than seventeen hundred similar affairs held throughout the United States to raise funds for the establishment of additional homes for children at Mooseheart.

The net proceeds of the ball will be sent to Mooseheart to build the homes that will be a part of the Boys' Village. The amount to be raised by the combined lodges totals $800,000.

The general chairman of the Ball is John Limerick, dictator of Manchester Lodge. He will be assisted by the following sub-committees: financial committee, James Stevenson, William Warnock, Francis J. Limerick, and Arthur Gardner; ball room and entertainment committee, Joseph Chicoine, Joseph LaShay, William Brunelle, Fred Wilpeter, Fred Behrend; patrons and patronesses committee, James E. Campbell, Joseph Siamond, James Holloran, Joseph W. Kaminsky, Curtis E. Skates; publicity and advertising committee, Joseph Barto, Mark Peterson, William Egan, Alfred Olson and W. J. Burke.

LOCAL FIRM TO BUILD NEW ROCKVILLE MILL

Manchester Construction Co. Gets Contract for Addition to American Mill. The Manchester Construction Company has been awarded the contract for the erection of a three story brick addition to the American Mill for the Hockanum Mills Company in Rockville and work will start Monday. The job is expected to take about four months. The work has been assigned to the supervision of Ernest Welti who lives in Rockville and is employed by the local concern. The addition will be of mill construction with common brick exterior walls, eyebeams for floor support, steel sash windows, standard slag and gravel roof.

RACKETEERS KIDNAP FEDERAL DRY AGENT

Seattle, Jan. 29.—(AP)—A Federal prohibition agent, D. Dunning, was abducted by a gang of alleged liquor racketeers, here early today and was found in the south end of the city an hour later, badly beaten and wandering about in a daze.

Dunning was reported to have had one eye gouged out but an examination of the organ later showed that it was not as badly hurt as was first believed.

R. Ginn, another undercover Federal agent, reported to police they had been working on a "deal" with bootlegger suspects.

Ginn said he and Dunning completed the deal and that Dunning, who had entered the racketeers car, flashed a pair of handcuffs and snapped them on the wrist of one of the men.

The bootleg suspect, Ginn said, swung his free hand, knocking him (Ginn) into the street. Ginn said the man then jumped out and kicked him several times, leaped back into the car and informing Dunning they were going to take him "for a ride" sped away.

All available police officers were called to hunt for the car, which police authorities said was registered to James Williams of Seattle.

BERENGUER'S CAREER. Madrid, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The new chief of the Spanish government, Lieutenant General Damaso Berenguer, was born in Cuba on August 4, 1873.

He entered the Spanish military academy at the age of 16 and left it later an officer of cavalry. He returned to Cuba in 1895 and served through the war of the rebellion, emerging a first lieutenant. In 1898, after the disastrous war with the United States, Berenguer was sent back to Spain, a captain, a rank he held until 1908 when he was promoted to lieutenant colonel. He served thereafter for a time in Morocco and in 1912 was promoted to colonel and then to brigadier general.

Six years later he became a general of division, and was named minister war, the first general of division to acquire that honor, which until then had gone to Lieutenant generals.

Afterward Berenguer became high commissioner in Morocco, where in 1919 he occupied for the first time in the name of Spain the city of Xauen, from which afterward he gained his title, Conde or Count of Xauen.

After the military disaster at Melilla, Berenguer was removed from active service and sentenced to serve a term in prison; the sentence was commuted however, and he instead later was promoted to lieutenant general, a post he held until assigned as chief of the military staff of King Alfonso in 1926. He held this place until yesterday, when designated by King Alfonso to head the new Spanish government succeeding Lieutenant General Primo de Rivera, with whom he had always been on inimical terms.

It was during a dinner in 1927 given in honor of the visit of the sovereigns to Morocco that Lieutenant General Primo de Rivera asked the King to confer on General Berenguer the title, Conde de Xauen, a petition granted immediately by King Alfonso.

General Berenguer has a considerable number of decorations, both Spanish and from other countries. He has published two books on military subjects, both concerning tactics employed by the Spaniards in the various Moroccan wars.

MOSCOWITZ CENSURED

Washington, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Grounds for impeachment of Grover M. Moscowitz, Federal judge of the eastern New York district, were found insufficient in a report accepted today by the House judiciary committee, but the judge was censured for his conduct in office.

The report, made by a judiciary sub-committee, said it found nothing corrupt in a business arrangement which Judge Moscowitz continued with his former partners or being appointed to the bench. It added, however, that "this procedure throws the court open to criticism and misunderstanding by the uninformed, as has happened in this case; and therefore, this committee cannot and does not endorse this practice."

STATE O. E. S. MEETS Hartford, Jan. 29.—(AP)—A year of extensive activity was reviewed by Grand Matron, Mrs. Abbie Y. Bergman of Hartford, in her address today at the opening of the fifty sixth annual session of the Grand Chapter of Connecticut Order of the Eastern Star, at Foot Guard Hall.

Grand Patron Arthur R. Downes of Hartford reported his activities for the year.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, Jan. 29.—The November net income of 98 telephone companies in this country amounted to $23,233,444, compared with $22,019,487 in the corresponding month a year ago. For the 11 months the net income aggregated $252,158,71 against $235,951,677 for the same period in 1928.

The Standard Oil Co. of New York will place in effect Feb. 1, a new price basis for gasoline at all points in its marketing territory in New York and New England. The new schedule is based on actual costs, plus freight rates and handling charges and the prices have been figured to a tenth of a cent.

Directors of Deere & Co. of Moline, Ill., farm implement manufacturers, have voted to submit to stockholders at the annual meeting in April, a proposal to split the common and preferred stocks five shares for one. The plan would reduce the present $100 par common stock to $20 par, and the present $100 par preferred to $20 par value.

Decision as to the installation in Manchester of Western Union clocks, controlled by United States Naval Observatory time at Washington, will be made within a day or two as an official of the Western Union is expected to arrive in town and interview the parties interested, according to word received by the Chamber of Commerce from A. J. Collier, district superintendent of the company.

Five parties have manifested their intention of installing one of the clocks. This is half the number required by the Western Union to justify the expense of installing a master clock by which the other clocks would be regulated hourly.

CLERGYMEN SCORE ANCIENT BLUE LAW

Say Only Poor and Ignorant Are Imprisoned for Violating Its Provisions.

Boston, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Three clergymen appeared before the joint judiciary committee today and urged repeal of the law prohibiting and punishing blasphemy.

Professor Clarence R. Skinner, of Tufts theological school, who sponsored the repeal resolution, told the committee that at the present time only a minority of the citizens of Massachusetts are members of organized churches. For that and other reasons, he said, the anti-blasphemy law is unfair and "fundamentally opposed to the Federal Constitution which guarantees the right of freedom of conscience."

He further claimed the law tends to unite the church and state. "There are a large number of people," he said, "who do not believe in a Deity, but the law doesn't permit people to express their opinions. Church membership in this state represents a minority."

Prevents Inquiry The present law, he said, prevents free inquiry and free speech and, on that ground also, comes in conflict with the Constitution. The churches are protected by law from disturbances, he continued, and it is not necessary to retain the anti-blasphemy measure.

Declaring the law was class legislation by law, he said, he never find the professions in jail for denying Deity. It is the poor and comparatively ignorant who are imprisoned.

Law Whittled Down Rev. Harold Robel of the Methodist-Episcopal church of West Medway, Mass., in supporting professor Skinner's bill, said the religious community is not eager to win converts by law. At first, he said, violation of the blasphemy law was punishable by death, but "it has now been whittled down so that Jews and Unitarians can deny the Divinity of Jesus Christ. He said the only reason use to which the law has been put was to punish men who it was desired to punish for other reasons. He referred to punishment of a Brockton Communist under the blasphemy law as an instance.

Technically, Buddhists and others who do not believe in our God could be prosecuted," he said.

Rev. Robert Jones of the First church, Boston, said even wider possibilities of prosecution under the blasphemy law. He said he believed Naturalists, Materialists, Atheists and every Unitarian minister might be prosecuted under its terms.

On January 29, 1843, William McKinley, 29th president of the United States, was born at Niles, Ohio.

As the seventh in a family of nine children, McKinley was obliged to enter at an early age the iron industry, the trade of his father. He studied at Allegheny College, but left it to teach school.

Deserting the classroom to enlist at the outbreak of the Civil War, McKinley served with such distinction with the Union army that he was mustered out a major.

After studying law, and passing the bar, he attracted considerable attention by campaigning for Rutherford Hayes, who was running for governor of Ohio. As a result, McKinley was elected to Congress and served seven consecutive terms in the lower house.

In 1891, he was elected governor of Ohio, and again his work attracted attention. When the Republicans convened at St. Louis to nominate a candidate for president, McKinley was easily the choice.

The outstanding events which marked McKinley's first administration as president were the Spanish War and the subsequent acquisition of Porto Rico, the Philippines and the Island of Guam.

The president was re-elected, but his second term was cut short by an assassin's bullet. His death plunged the nation in deep grief.

The naval conference keynote probably would have sounded better to some of those attending if it had been pitched in a minor instead of a major scale.

COVENTRY

An uproarious comedy entitled "Cyclone Sally" will be given on Friday evening, Jan. 31, in Grange Hall by the Masonic bodies of Southfield and under the auspices of Coventry Grange. The local committee in charge is Mrs. Walter S. Haven, Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Harold K. Hansen, Mrs. O. H. Hill, Franklin R. Orcutt, H. B. Pomeroy, Walter S. Haven.

A printed program has been prepared in which all the local merchants and other surrounding towns have given their co-operation.

The stage setting for this occasion will be furnished by G. E. Keith Furniture Co. of Manchester and the coffee to be served will be donated by Charles G. Lincoln Co. New attractive stage scenery has been built in which project the local church has co-operated.

Coventry Grange Hall was remodeled and enlarged early last fall and the work being done by H. H. West & Sons of Manchester, and the full amount of the bill was paid from the Grange treasury upon the completion of the work.

Beside standing for education the Grange does its bit of community work and contributes to the social life. In 1929 prizes were offered to children for gathering tent pillar egg masses, co-operation was given in launching of the Farm Bureau Membership campaign and the use of the hall given to the 4-H Club.

The public is annually invited when Children's Night is observed. A reception is given annually to the school officials of the town.

Coventry Grange boasts of having in its membership the first and second selectmen of the town, Superintendent of Roads, two physicians, ten members of the school board two members of the town council, an eight school teachers, personal tax collector, four ex-representatives, and the present representative, and the secretary of state, Dr. William L. Higgins.

The proceeds of the above mentioned program will be used to purchase chairs with which to furnish Grange hall. It is hoped that this affair may be the initiative of an annual program to be put on earlier in the season together with an indoor agricultural exhibit, reviving in a measure the annual Grange Fair which was successfully put on for nine consecutive years from 1915 to 1923 inclusive.

The cast of characters performing in "Cyclone Sally" will be entertained at dinner at 6 o'clock at The Pines, Friday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Haven, Mrs. Byron Hall and Mrs. John E. Kingsbury will assist.

Daniel Wright Newman passed away early Monday morning at the age of 83 years. Mr. Newman has been in very good health until a week ago when he had a slight shock from which he rallied and passed away very peacefully about 12 hours later. He leaves besides his wife Mrs. Sarah Newman, one son Lester, of Hartford, a sister, Mrs. Stella Smith of Hartford and two brothers Frank and Charles of Tolland. Mr. Newman was born in Providence, R. I., Nov. 24, 1847 and came to Coventry 39 years ago. He was a veteran of the Indian war. The funeral services will be held from the chapel Wednesday at 1 o'clock. Rev. J. N. Atwood officiating. Burial will be in the North cemetery.

S. N. Loomis was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, Willimantic, Sunday evening to receive treatments for his limb.

FILIPINOS' CLUBHOUSE IS WRECKED BY BOMB

Stockton, Calif., Jan. 28.—(AP)—A terrific explosion blew out the front of the Filipino Center, an old mansion used as a clubhouse here early today. Although dozens of Filipinos were sleeping in the structure no one was reported injured seriously.

The facade of the building, which is located in one of the poorer residential sections in the southern portion of the city, was hurled across the street by the blast. Powder experts said the explosion was probably from black powder set under the front porch.

Many of the Filipino occupants of the building were thrown from their beds by the blast, but a few bruises were the only injuries reported.

Police viewed the explosion as an aftermath of recent anti-Filipino rioting in Watsonville, San Jose and other Californian cities.

A few minutes after the explosion there were reports of rioting in the business district, but these proved to be fist fights between Filipinos and whites at widely separated points.

WORK BED FACTORY IS TRIED AS CURE

Laysan, Switzerland.—(AP)—A work-shop whose workers all will lie in bed while performing their jobs is nearing completion here.

Its working force will comprise men, women, girls and boys with "surgical tuberculosis," the kind that attacks joints, spine and limbs. It is a good-sized, four story building in which actual, wage-earning production will be used to assist in curing illness.

These patients will not merely lie in bed and work, they will lie in fixed positions, some of them almost motionless, in postures necessitated by the primary part of the cure, which is exposure of the naked body to sunlight falling directly upon the tubercular area.

Some lie on stomachs, others on backs or sides. A few can move only their fingers. Special beds, special tools and trick working-boards have been made to fit each type.

The sun cure treatment is operated by Dr. Auguste Rollier. He is building the workshop addition for those too poor to take the cure without worrying about finances.

Dr. Rollier says their ability to earn money if adult, or if young to learn trades while being cured, will hasten recovery, prevent making "devilets" and result "in deep happiness." He announces that Swiss manufacturers are cooperating.

CHICAGO BANDIT SHOT

Chicago, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Patrick Roche, a special investigator from the states attorney's office shot and probably fatally wounded a man who attempted to rob a Gold Coast apartment early today.

Tipped that a series of hotel apartment robberies was to be made Roche and three policemen were cruising about the Gold Coast neighborhood. They stopped at the apartment building hardly a moment after a man had entered to rob it.

The man was walking toward the hotel desk as Roche and his men pushed through the revolving door. Seeing the police the robber whirled, pistol in hand. The officers opened fire before the man could press the trigger and he fell wounded with a bullet in the body.

S. N. Loomis was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, Willimantic, Sunday evening to receive treatments for his limb.

HOLD UP ORDERS TO REPLACE FOX

New York, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Efforts of creditors and stockholders of the Fox Film Corporation and the Fox Theaters Corporation to unseat William Fox were in abeyance today while a group of bankers sought to work out a refinancing plan for the companies.

Federal Court Judge Coleman adjourned hearing on three petitions for equity receiverships until February 11 after obtaining promises from all parties concerned that the affairs of the company would remain unchanged until that time.

The banking group consisting of Dillon, Read and Company, the Bancamerica-Blair Company and Lehman Brothers said the refinancing plan they contemplated would provide $45,000,000 to $50,000,000 to liquidate the pressing debts of the Fox corporations.

Judge Coleman stipulated that the agreement to maintain the status quo should include executions of judgments against the Fox interests which fall due before the adjourned date. There are three such judgments, one for $392,808 in favor of the Corn Exchange bank, $298,226 in favor of the Bankers Trust Company and one in favor of the Midland Bank, Ltd., of London, involving $4,000,000 in connection with the purchase by Fox of the Gaumont chain of theaters in England.

THE DEADLY AIR

The death, on the lonely north coast of Siberia, of Ben Eielson, greatest of Arctic fliers, and his mechanic, Earl Borland, with the killing of a score of passengers in crashes of two planes in the states within a few days, constitute further evidence that the game of aviation is still full of hazards and not, as its enthusiastic promoters are perpetually trying to make out, as safe as any other means of transportation.

What probably is true is that travel by airplane is as safe as any other kind of travel over certain spaces and at certain speeds or attempted speeds. Likely enough ten men in ten airplanes could traverse a thousand miles each of Arctic or Antarctic regions with less risk than ten men could separately travel similar distances there on foot or by sledge; ten men could probably travel in ten planes over prescribed reaches of the Brazilian jungle with less loss of life than ten men separately could cover the same journey through the jungle itself. There is probably less risk in flying from New York to Chicago at a hundred and fifty miles an hour than there would be in trying to make the same trip by automobile at 65 miles an hour. The journey from New York to Boston in the air is likely enough safer than it would be in a railroad train if the New Haven road were to try to cut another hour and a half off its running time.

But people do not go wandering about the Arctic circle by ones and twos in the winter time either afoot or by dog sled, attempting journeys of hundreds of miles in uninhabited regions. Men do not set out to cross the Brazilian jungles afoot alone. They do not try to run railroad trains from New York to Boston in three hours. They do not try to average 65 miles an hour on the road—when they do they get killed.

Eielson was a master birdman, yet he crashed like a beginner, throttle open, full tilt. The passengers on the two big planes doubtless had no fears and laughed at those who did. But their confidence did them no good when their planes whirled down a flame.

Again and again we have said it and we'll say it once more—we have no quarrel with progress, no hide-bound conviction that the air will never be a safe thoroughfare, but we do insist that the misrepresentation of air travel as already safe and fit to be engaged in by mothers and fathers and others whose lives are valuable to dependents is wicked, murderous.

ACCIDENT FIGURES

In order to prevent confusion and a completely wrong impression concerning automobile accidents in this state a certain fact must be born in mind. That fact is that at the last session of the Legislature the law calling for reports of accidents was altered. Previously an accident involving ten dollars damage was required to be reported. During the last half of last year, as now, a ten dollar accident did not have to be reported, the damage limit being fixed instead at twenty-five dollars.

Naturally a much smaller number of accidents was reported in 1929 than in 1928, and for that reason there has been a general impression that drivers have been getting more careful. Perhaps they have, but not to an extent that shows itself in fewer accidents.

Using as a basis merely reportable accidents we find from a statement of the Motor Vehicle Department that there were 27,539 in 1928 and only 25,177 in 1929, apparently a substantial improvement. But when the accidents involving less than twenty-five dollars are eliminated from the record of the last half of 1928, as they were eliminated from the figures for the last six months of 1929, we find that the 1928 total is 25,303, and that, on the same basis of figuring, there was an increase instead of a decrease last year.

Next year's report will also have to be examined in order to avoid a somewhat similar false impression, because in 1930 no accidents under the twenty-five dollar class will appear in the figures, whereas in 1929 those occurring during the first half of the year are counted in the total.

What we want in this state is not a reduction in the number of accidents brought about by changing the definition of an accident, but a reduction in the number of deaths. There has been none. And you can't juggle figures to make it appear that there has.

ISAAC M. ULLMAN

In the passing of Isaac M. Ullman of New Haven Connecticut loses a figure whose importance and value to the political life of the state cannot very well be measured by the apparent extent of his successes. For a good many years his forthright battling against the Republican state organization exerted, on the policies and proceedings of the dominant party in the state, an influence which while disturbing in its immediate effects unquestionably served the wholesome purpose of keeping the control of the party closer to the voters than it otherwise might have been.

Colonel Ullman was a good deal of an idealist in politics as his many beneficent and efforts for the public welfare in his home city show him to have been in private life. It was perhaps unfortunate that his selection of political associates was not at all times governed by as keen an understanding of men as he possessed of abstract affairs. He was an able strategist but not so good a tactician.

Another thing that possibly contributed to Colonel Ullman's inability to quite reach his sought-for goal in Connecticut politics was the fact that he never was able to acquire, throughout the state, the same kind of acquaintance with the people that he enjoyed in his home city. If he had been known throughout Connecticut as he was in New Haven, and so had been evaluated at his true worth as he was there, his political influence might have become all that he desired. A certain sensitiveness of temperament, however, interfered with the forming of the ties he so needed outside the Elm City.

New Haven, however, and in a very real degree the state, have lost a splendid citizen, a gallant fighter and, in a great many ways, an excellent leader in Isaac Morris Ullman.

WALKS OUT

General Miguel Primo de Rivera, for six years dictator of Spain, at least enjoys today the distinction of being the only self created autocrat of an important nation in a long, long time to actually resign his job and go out of office peacefully instead of being thrown out or shot out or stabbed out or bombed out.

Primo has been an unusual sort of dictator, anyhow. Perhaps not a great statesman, perhaps not a Moses to the Spanish people, he at least has freed them from their endless and bloody and fruitless warring with the Morocco tribesmen, has gotten rid of a vast horde of parasite office holders, and has seemed to be trying to do something for Spain. Spain is, anyhow, better off than it was before he grabbed the reins.

What has probably helped Primo to get by is the fact that he was able to convince the people of Spain that he didn't propose to make the dictatorship a permanency. He has always held before him, in such a way as to make it appear probable, the ultimate restoration of constitutional government. If he has redeemed his promises just about one short jump ahead of a counter-coup—which appears likely enough—his move was made in time, and in such a case a miss is as good as a mile.

What is to happen in Spain now is another matter. The new premier's record is none too good. He made a magnificent mess of things in Morocco—or at least the mess was blamed upon him—and he is a friend of King Alfonso when to be a friend of that royal lounge lizard is no boast.

Perhaps the students who are shouting "Live the republic!" have something back of them, perhaps not. Anyhow Spain enters the news, and may be there frequently for some time.

THAT PRISON BREAK

How much information bearing on conditions in Wethersfield State Prison County Detective E. J. Hickey and Parole Officer G. H. Bradley obtained at Jacksonville from the three escaped convicts captured in Florida is a matter to guess at; but whatever they learned or did not learn in connection with the escape of Roland Lalons and his companions, it is the right of the people of the state to be told by the proper authorities after their report has been made and any necessary investigation concluded.

It is of course quite possible that the ends of justice would be best served by a temporary withholding of any or all discoveries made in Florida; but it is the general impression in this state, and a very firm one, that a full disclosure of all the details, in due course, is demanded by the situation.

The escape, the subsequent dense silence maintained by the Prison Board, the unexplained discharge of a prison attendant, the sudden dismissal of Deputy Warden Patterson, "as a matter of routine," the somewhat unsatisfactory later statement of Warden Reed concerning an attempted bribe—these things have stirred up an uneasy curiosity on the part of the public that isn't going to be dispelled until the whole story of this prison delivery is told. And it is an unhealthy condition to have the public get and remain nervous about the security of its prisons.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

DISORDERS OF THE SKIN

Dryness of the skin or astetosis is caused by too little oil being secreted by the glands. This may cause the skin to crack and scale, giving it a harsh appearance. First, cleanse the skin with warm water and soap, which should be rinsed off, after which a small amount of olive oil or almond oil should be rubbed in. Dry skin is benefited by the application of a good cold cream. An over-dry skin the circulation is not normal, and the cells are starving for fat or lubricating oil. Any exercise which tends to quicken the circulation of the skin, such as slapping, will tend to bring on the normal secretion of oil. A large quantity of oils and fats may be added to an otherwise balanced diet.

Pimples or Acne This is a very persistent trouble frequently occurring at adolescence. The best treatment for pimples is change of diet, using lots of oranges, apples, melons and other fruits, and plenty of vegetables for both luncheon and dinner, and using at least one large raw salad daily. All rich fatty foods must be avoided, including such foods as chocolate, nut cheese, ice cream, etc.

It is a good plan to use a daily warm shower followed by cold, and a brisk rubbing over the entire body with a rough towel, especially over the areas affected by acne. For the face, steam the skin gently, then open the whitehead of the pimples with a sterile needle, which has been sterilized by a flame and gently press out the pus with the pressure of the fingers upon a clean towel at each side of the pimple. Where there is a severe case of acne, it would be well to write in for detailed information about treatment.

Chapping Chapping of the skin often occurs with dry skins where there is lack of the normal lubricating oil. The skin may roughen and crack painfully, and small bleeding fissures may develop. During the warm weather the oil glands function more thoroughly than in cold, and this is why cold weather brings on chapped hands and lips. Some of the causes are exposure to cold biting wind, washing too often with harsh soaps, and not drying the skin thoroughly after washing. Use mild soap and warm water, and do not rub the skin too vigorously. After drying thoroughly, be sure to rub in a protective cold cream. Almond or olive oil may also be used.

Cold Sores and Fever Blisters The cold sore probably got its name from the fact that it is often found with people who have colds. It is a blister generally occurring near the mouth. Although it may develop on the eyelids, it appears watery and is tender, although without great pain. Sometimes the sore dries up and a scab may form over like a crust. After the crust falls off, a reddish spot is left. Itching, as well as a cold, may cause these. Children have them more frequently than adults, and women more frequently than men. A cold, brisk wind may bring them out. Cold sores are a digestive warning. It is a good plan to keep the sore clean and use nothing but acid fruits for several meals. Put pure borated vaseline over the blister.

QUESTION AND ANSWERS (Peritonitis)

Question—W. A. D. asks: "What is the cause of peritonitis, and how long can a patient have same before death takes place?" Answer: Peritonitis means inflammation of the peritoneum which is the smooth covering inside of the abdominal wall. All of the abdominal organs, such as the intestines, bladder, uterus, etc., come directly in contact with the peritoneum, and so an inflammation of any of these organs may extend to this abdominal lining. Most people have peritonitis in at least a mild form many times during their lives. The most serious form comes from abdominal operation, when septicemia takes place around the site of the incision. This is not necessarily fatal, and the prognosis of any case of peritonitis varies of course with the severity of the inflammation.

WHITE ELEPHANT SALE! When is a white elephant not an elephant? at Watkins Brothers, tomorrow. THE White Elephant Sale at Watkins Brothers has nothing to do with elephants. It is a sale of fine, heirloom furniture! Every piece of Watkins furniture, every carpet or drapery design in our stock has been selected by our own buyers after careful analysis. Each piece is chosen only after its style and decorative correctness is unquestionable. . . . after it has been carefully compared with every similar piece in regard to style, construction and value. In other words, every piece is selected because we know it to be of good design, because it is beautiful, and because it is what our customers want! . . . Occasionally we find a few of these things which we have so painstakingly selected and treasured remaining after their companions have found permanent places in our customers homes. These remaining pieces are the very things we are terming "White Elephants" tomorrow. They're all fine things. . . . but they simply haven't as yet found their rightful owners. Tomorrow, in conjunction with our Semi-Annual Sale, these pieces will be marked ridiculously low . . . because they must make way for other things. Perhaps you are the logical owner for some of them, and tomorrow offers the opportunity to make your selection at savings you will always remember! Come early!

for an adult if other foods are used to take the place of milk. When milk is taken it should be used by itself or in combination with fruit or with some of the non-starchy vegetables. It is not as easily digested if mixed with proteins or starches, and seems to interfere also with their digestion. (Losing Voice) Question—Mrs. K. asks: "What could cause one to gradually lose the voice? For the past two years mine has been failing, and is now almost gone. I am very nervous." Answer: Your loss of voice may be due to some nervous trouble, or it may be due to tuberculosis of the throat. Any good diagnostician should be able to tell you the cause of your trouble. Knowing the cause then suggests the methods which might effect a cure.

SEA ENVOYS DISCUSS SUBMARINE WARFARE London, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Drafting of a humanitarian code for the conduct of submarine warfare with particular reference to submarine war under consideration today as one of the possible tasks of the naval conference. As the various conversations between the national delegations proceeded in preparation for tomorrow's preliminary session, it was disclosed there was a strong disposition in some quarters to include discussion of humanizing naval warfare in the conference agenda. The reference of Col. Henry L. Stimson, the American delegation head, in his radio address last night to the United States on this subject attracted wide attention. Col. Stimson said that if abolition of the submarine was impossible the United States hoped to restrict its use. It was understood the French would like to go even farther and draft a code covering other types of warships. There was no expectation in informed circles that the abolition of submarines would be possible or that any code of sea conduct broad enough to deal comprehensively with the old question of "freedom of the seas" could be adopted.

BIRTHS IN CANADA during May, 1929, numbered 20,202 as compared with 21,046 in May, 1928.

FEWER FOREST FIRES. Hartford, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Despite the protracted dry period during the summer of 1929, there were but 591 forest fires reported to State Forester Austin F. Hayes during the year, seven less than in 1928, and, according to the records in the forestry department, considerably below the average of 780 of the last twenty years. In the figures for 1929 just compiled by the Forester it is shown that New Haven county, with 116 forest fires, led the other counties of the state, Litchfield county being second with 98, Fairfield 90; New London 71; Hartford 68; Windham 55; Middlesex 36 and Tolland 26. WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

Washington, Jan. 29.—Dr. Glenn Frank, the president of the University of Wisconsin, has made one of those drastic proposals for governmental reform which might be good, had it not been for its effect, but which Congress will not approve for an indefinite number of decades.

His suggestion is for a third house of Congress which would provide the country with "expert, unbiased advice" upon all legislative proposals. This suggestion was made long before Dr. Frank made it and there are several ideas about the possible functions of a third house. These ideas always are advanced whenever there is wide public discussion of revelations about the lobbyists, known as the "Third House" since way back into the last century.

Would Replace Lobbyists
The new third house would be designed to represent officially the groups which are now represented by lobbyists. That is what Dr. Frank appears to have in mind, though he speaks of a "House of Technology," and "unbiased advice" and election of members because of wide and accurate knowledge.

Some students of politics have proposed a purely advisory third house with no more than the power to propose legislation, while others believe it should have voting powers similar to those of the Senate and House whose members are elected on the theory of popular representation.

Whatever the new chamber there would seem to be frightful difficulties in determining who was to be represented in it, and how much. The problem of relative proportions of representation to be granted industry, agriculture and labor would be one which no disinterested man in his right mind would care to tackle. A thousand and more organizations of every description would clamor for seats and some might well demand scores of seats.

Off-hand one can't think of any yardstick by which their claims could be satisfactorily adjudicated. The country would not stand for it if invested wealth were made the basis of representation and invested wealth would wreck the project if representation were awarded to organizations on the size of their memberships. The American Railway Association, the Farm Bureau Federation, the A. F. of L., the American Legion, the Anti-Slavery League and the American Cigarette Association can easily decide how much representation it should have, but who would possibly decide between them? And what about the existing national organizations of hoboes, pedestrians and circus fans—and the Anti-Cigarette League?

It does not seem as if many of us would live to see this proposed third house; and yet the theory of it is plausible enough. Representation in Congress is actually chaotic. The senator or the congressman theoretically represents all the people in his district. Actually he may be elected by and responsible to industrial interests, farmers, the Ku Klux Klan, a strong labor constituency, the W.C.T.U. or any other organized group. He votes for the cause of those who can force him to listen.

Voters do not organize as such to give collective expression to their individual ideas and aspirations. If a voter has a strong economic or moral interest to further or protect he joins a society or national association favoring that interest. To the extent that they represent groups of citizens with interest in politics and legislation they become a representative agency toward the government. One of them may represent more citizens than can be found in a dozen congressional districts.

An Out-of-Date Division
Men live their lives not as citizens of a given state or congressional district, but as members of business, social, fraternal, and economic units. Their interests lie not in wards or precincts, but in those units. This means, Dr. Frank points out, that we have an old-fashioned political order along with a new one. The old order, with the two of them maladjusted. The voter cannot possibly keep well-informed on many national issues, but he can be informed on those matters of interest to his own class or group.

The All-Russian Congress in the Soviet Union is made up of representatives of the various types of workers, farmers and professional men with more regard for the class than for territorial division. Germany has a National Economic Council containing spokesmen for nine groups of industries, business, professions and occupations which has power to initiate bills and give official opinions on bills relative to social and economic problems. Elsewhere in Europe organized groups are being given more part in government. Over here we have the lobbyists and lately we have been learning how they work.

PRAIRIE FOOTBALL

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Football may have its faults, but Dana X. Elbie, head coach at the University of Nebraska believes the game today is lily white as compared to what it used to be. In a speech last night he set forth a general answer to the promulgators of the widely discussed Bulletin 23 of the Carnegie Foundation and to other critics of college football. "Faults probably still exist, but none can have any doubt about the active efforts to administer additional remedies. Perhaps Bulletin 23 and all this other criticism we hear are beneficial in calling attention to minor deficiencies.

It is estimated that half the farmers in America have no telephones.

IN NEW YORK

New York, Jan. 29.—Little tales of this funny town—

In Forty-seventh street, several blocks west of the street of a million bulbs and twice that many boobs, there is one of those "whisper" clubs frequented by people of the theater.
This particular all-night thirteenth parlor is particularly dedicated to the better known performers of the burlesque wheels and the cheaper vaudeville circuits. Even in a town filled with odd resorts, it is more than passingly unique.
One of its features, for instance, is the presence of some 20 assorted types of musical instruments, ranging from zithers and guitars to saxophones and pianos. If a performer cares to do a little free entertainment and show off before his friends, he needs but reach behind the piano or walk into a little side room and find his favorite instrument of torture.
Thus, when a considerable number of people are no longer able to see by the dawn's early light, you'll hear song-and-dance boys trying out their new tunes or running over their old ones.
The walls of the large room are fairly plastered with autographed photographs of theatrical folk, circus folk and burlesque folk—in costume.
If you'll see the "alley-oop brothers" all ready for their handstand, the five Swinging Ginzbergs, the three Yonkers wily walkers, and all the rest in an endless pastime of faces. It's all very colorful. But that isn't my story. It's merely an atmospheric prologue, as they say at the movie palaces.

When Heinie—as we will call the proprietor—peeps out and decides to open the door and decides to meet you. He'll bark a welcome and chew your shoe-strings; he'll run off with your rubbers and then he'll go through his routine of tricks. And his routine is "some" and routine.

For Fritz was a stage dog. His ancestry is vague, and his appearance implies several assorted mothers and fathers. In other words he's a mongrel, with the wire hair of a terrier and the lines of a pooch. But he's a clever and lovable little cuss. He'll play dead and jump through your hands and stand on his hind legs and jump over tables and fetch you things from odd corners.
The other night Heinie told the story of Fritz.
"We haven't had him very long, and we mayn't keep him," admits Heinie. "You see, Fritz is sort of in hock. In sort of holding him in hock. Or something. He belonged to a vaudeville dog act. And that kind of act hasn't been doing so well. The woman who ran the act was out of work for a long while. She lived a couple of streets up, in a dump over by the river. And with her lived all the trained pups.
"Well, she got kinda discouraged and started coming up here with theater friends. And to forget it all, she'd take a drink once in a while. But someone always took her check. Then she started coming in alone and we let her run up a big bill. One night I had to ask her when she would pay. She said she didn't know.
"She happened to have this pup with her, and she says suddenly would I take the dog and keep it until she got a job again and could pay up. Sure, I says—and so we got Fritz.
"The funny part of it is, that this dog's become the main attraction around here. People come up night after night just to play with him and any number have tried to adopt him. But I don't dare give him away for fear she'll show up. I think he ought to have a better home than his, don't you?"
Well, that's just about all there is to the yarn. But it's one of those funny off-Broadway things: a cunning trick dog in hock upstairs in a "whisper low," held for his owner's bar bill!
GILBERT SWAN.

The Russian government has prohibited the possession of Christmas trees. Maybe if that was done over here, the day would be more popular.

There'll come a time, of course, when the only place you'll see short-skirted ladies will be in the family album.

This is the time of year when you give a nice letter from some niece or nephew you had almost forgotten.

FOLEY'S TEAM LEADS SETBACK TOURNEY

Foley's Express team won first honors in the setback tournament in which the industrial teams from various parts of the town have been contesting for several weeks past, meeting every Tuesday evening at the Manchester Community clubhouse. Their score for the entire twelve games was 1719. Buckland came out second with a score of 1703. The standing of the other teams at the close of the series was as follows: Bon Ami, 1675; Business Men No. 2, 1653; Carlyle-Johnson, 1617; Business Men No. 1, 1603; King of Clubs, 1580; Burr Nursery, 1546; Young Men's Community Club, 1540; Manchester Green, 1533; Depot Square, 1519; Wapping, 1475.

Business Men No. 2 won first place last night and Buckland second. The winners were Frank Spencer and Robert Reid. The men missed their genial pal, Frank Spencer last night and fourteen of them went down the street to his home to pay their last respects. Mr. Spencer died suddenly Saturday evening.
Morris Sullivan will continue as president of the group and Alexander Hanna, vice president. Henry Valland will assist with the arrangements. It is hoped to begin the new series next Tuesday evening with 16 teams, and any who wish to join should get in touch with either of the men mentioned, or Miss Christine Mason, director at the Manchester Community club.

POLICE COURT

John Quish and Lloyd Basesy were picked up by Sergeant John Crockett just before midnight last night on North School street for creating a disturbance. Quish was charged with intoxication and breach of the peace and Basesy was charged with breach of peace. When the case came up this morning both men wanted a continuance so that they could secure counsel. Accordingly both cases were over until Saturday morning. Quish under a bond of $200 and Basesy under a bond of $100.

George H. Adams of Bloomfield paid a fine of $10 and costs for driving an automobile with defective brakes. He was arrested at the Center yesterday noon by Traffic Officer John J. McGinn. The officer gave him the signal to stop and when Adams attempted to use his brakes they wouldn't work. McGinn gave the brakes a test and found that the hand brake was absolutely useless.

BOXER GETS DECISION 11 DAYS AFTER SCRAP

Chicago, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The "eleven day decision" has joined the now famous "fourteen count" as Chicago's notorious count" as Chicago's contributions to the oddities of the prize ring. Last night, eleven days after Leo Lomski, the "Aberdeen Assassin" had exchanged roundhouse rights and lefts for ten rounds with James Braddock, the rugged light heavyweight from Jersey City, the Illinois State Athletic Commission revealed that an error had been made by the referee and that Lomski was entitled to the decision instead of a draw.

Undue excitement and poor arithmetic on the part of the referee Dave Miller was blamed for the mixup by the commission.

MEN STILL DIGGING FOR BODY OF FLIER

Nome, Alaska, Jan. 29.—(AP)—In a bleak arctic lagoon 90 miles southeast of North Cape, Siberia, searchers today still were digging into the ice-like snow in an effort to find the bodies of Pilot Carl Ben Eielson and his mechanic, Earl G. Ford, whose plane crashed in a storm November 9 while flying to the fur trading ship Nanuk, icebound at North Cape.

The plane, badly wrecked and nearly buried in a snowdrift, was found by Pilots Joe Crosson and Harold Gilliam last Saturday while on an aerial scouting trip from the Nanuk.

Some of those searching for the bodies of the missing men were taken to the scene by Crosson and Young on later trips, while others arrived by dog team from the Nanuk. As the plane evidently struck the earth while flying at high speed, it was believed its two occupants were thrown clear of the wreckage and buried in the snow.

To Bring Body Here
Internment of Eielson's body in Arlington National cemetery when it was recovered, providing relatives consent, was proposed yesterday by Alfred J. Lomen, manager of rescue operations, in a message to Graham B. Grosvenor, of New York, president of the Aviation Corporation.

Lomen, as well as Governor George A. Parks, of Alaska, characterized Eielson as the "Father of Aviation in Alaska", and declared he belonged to the nation because of his exploits in the north and also because of his services in the World War.

Ole Eielson, father of the aviator, was reported enroute to Fairbanks, Alaska, from Iatton, N. D., to claim the body of his son when it is recovered. He said he intended to return the body to North Dakota for interment in the family plot beside another son, Erwin, and their mother.

Belated Honeymoon.
New Britain, Jan. 29.—(AP)—A honeymoon interrupted three months ago by immigration laws was resumed in this city yesterday with the arrival from Poland of Mrs. Joseph Kita.

Kita went to Poland last summer and took a bride. When he attempted to obtain passports for both of them to come to the United States he was informed that he could make the trip but that his wife would be forced to stay in Poland until he reached this country and made arrangements for her passport. So he sailed alone. After becoming ensnared in red tape, he finally obtained the passport and sent it to his wife. The ship bringing her to the United States docked in New York yesterday and the reunion followed.

YALE COLLEGE THIEF IS HELD IN HARTFORD
Hartford, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Howard Abbey, 25, of this city is reported by police to have confessed being the "college" thief who has stolen clothing and fur coats valued at $1,500 from Yale dormitories and dining halls during the last few weeks. Abbey was located in the county jail here serving ten days for breach of the peace, after New Haven authorities had requested his apprehension.

Meanwhile Peter Regan, 29, Morris Marshak, and Donald Montano, of New Haven have been charged with idleness pending investigation by police of suspicion that the trio received stolen goods. Coats valued at $1,000 have been recovered by detectives in New Haven.

Abbey is alleged to have admitted selling fur coats in New Haven speakshops, pawning but one in Bridgeport. Whether this is true, police are not certain, for Abbey was unable to pay a fine of $10 imposed after an altercation with a policeman here recently. He is alleged to be a notorious sneak thief with a long record, and it is believed he posed as a Yale student to gain access to rooms and dining halls.

New prices for SOCONY

Standard Oil Company of New York announces new price basis

... figured to one tenth of a cent

THE Standard Oil Company of New York will apply to the gasoline business the same principle which has worked so satisfactorily in the automobile business.

When you buy an automobile, you pay a factory price plus a fixed handling charge plus actual freight cost to your community.

Effective February 1st, you will buy Socony the same way. All prices will be based on the prevailing bulk price at seaboard. The retail price will be determined by adding to the bulk price a fixed charge to cover handling and profit, plus the actual rail cost to each community figured to a tenth of a cent. The new price signs on all Socony pumps will show the price in tenths of a cent a gallon.

Since August, when Ethyl was added to the already famous Socony Special Gasoline, sales of Socony Special plus Ethyl have jumped 40 per cent. It makes a difference when Ethyl is added to a premium gasoline. The public has recognized the difference.

SENSE and NONSENSE

THE ART OF CONVERSATION.

When women's tongues start wagging, And keep it up unflagging, What is it they find to talk about the while? Doesn't gab without cessation Leave them short on conversation? Not as long as we still have this thing called style.

The subject they first tackle In their never-ending cackle. May be anything from cleaning house to galle; But not for long this drifting, Soon you'll find the topic shifting To this all-important female hobby-style.

When men folks get together They talk of crops or weather, Of politics, or sports, or girls the while; But as long as tongues can gabble You will hear the female rabble Talking, talking, talking nothing else but style.

All in Pronunciation.

Old Lady (to druggist): "I want a box of canine pills." Manchester Druggist: "What's the matter with your dog?" Old Lady (indignantly): "I want you to know, sir, that my husband is a gentleman." The druggist accepted the rebuke in silence, and without further words, put up some quinine pills.

A Manchester teacher was trying to show a small boy how to read with expression. "Where-are-you-going?" read Johnny, in a laborious monotone with no expression or accent whatever.

"Try that again," said the teacher. "Read as if you were talking. Don't you see that mark at the end?"

Johnny studied the interrogation point. Suddenly an idea dawned on him. Then he read triumphantly: "Where-are-you-going, little button hook?"

THE GREEN IN PLANTS

IS EVIDENCE OF WORK

Cambridge, Mass.—(AP)—Green may be a restful color to the eye, but to a plant it is the sign of hard work.

This is shown in a discovery about the green coloring matter of plants reported to the American Association for the Advancement of Science by Dr. Robert Emerson of Harvard University.

The green in plants is chlorophyll, which long has been known as the chemical substance that enables plants to transform the sun's energy into the things which make food and fuel for man.

The secret of this natural process is unknown, and if scientists ever unravel it completely they will have something more valuable to man than all the gold in the world.

Dr. Emerson's discovery is one small bit of new evidence about the workings of chlorophyll. It is that the rate at which this green chemical works is nearly proportional to its amount. The more green chlorophyll, the more work does the plant do.

He reports that he believes this the first quantitative evidence that chlorophyll is the photosensitizer for carbon dioxide assimilation.

THE TINYNITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The bee sailed onward through the air and not a Tiny seemed to care what happened on this wondrous flight. It was a heap of fun. The bee kept buzzing constantly because it was a bumble bee. Its body shone out beautifully beneath the brilliant sun. Said Carry, as he waved his cap, "Oh, listen to the big wings flap. I wonder what would happen if they'd both refuse to go. The thought of it gives me a scare. They are what keeps us in the air. The moment that they ceased to flap, we'd all drop down below." "Oh, don't you worry," said the bee. "These wondrous wings belong to me and I can keep them working till I'm willing that they stop. I'll keep us all up in the breeze and do it with apparent ease. There isn't any danger, lads, that we will take a flop." And then it said, "I wonder, boys, if you could stand the buzzing noise of lots and lots of bumble bees. I know where there's a hive. I'll take you there. I have a hunch that you would like to meet the bunch. You'll find there's plenty doing and the hive is much alive." "Oh, my," snapped Clowny. "You are kind, but won't you kindly change your mind? Some of the bees might sting us. We would rather stay away." All right," replied the friendly bee. "You do not have to go with me. It's true they might be careless and just sting you all for play." "Just then they lit upon a flower. "Well rest here for a half an hour," exclaimed the bee. "And then I'll sip some honey nice and sweet." But, when the wind began to blow, the bee cried out, "Oh, I must go!" And then it flew and left the Tinies standing on their feet. (The Tinynites meet a big crowd in the next story.)
