

HOOVER URGES CONGRESS TO SPEED TARIFF

Is Extremely Anxious That Work Be Completed as Quickly as Possible; Lead- ers Breakfast With Him.

Washington, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Senate Republican leaders informed President Hoover today that the tariff bill probably would not be passed before March 10.

Called to the White House by the President, the Republican chiefs were urged to speed action on this long pending question. But they replied they were "at the mercy of the coalition."

Washington, Feb. 18.—(AP)—After a breakfast conference with Congressional leaders today, President Hoover was represented by those attending the White House gathering as being extremely anxious that work on the tariff bill, long pending in the Senate, be completed as quickly as possible.

Chairman Snell of the House rules committee, which guides legislation in that chamber, said Mr. Hoover had expressed a desire that the Senate be speeded along with the tariff bill and that the measure be passed in some form or another and gotten out of the way.

Those Attending.
Besides Snell, those attending the breakfast included Speaker Longworth, Representative Tilson of Connecticut, House Republican leader, Chairman Hawley of the House ways and means committee, Senator Watson of Indiana, Republican leader, Chairman Smoot of the Senate finance committee, and Chairman McNary of the Senate agriculture committee.

Walter Minton, Mr. Hoover's administrative assistant, also was present. Mr. Tilson said after the gathering that there was but little for him to add to his announcement of yesterday.

Losses Patience.
At that time, apparently frankly out of patience with the Senate, he warned that even after the Senate several weeks to reach any sort of agreement between the widely varying views of the Senate and House.

Snell said Senate leaders had promised Mr. Hoover to continue to do the best they could, but had emphasized that they were confronted with difficulties in not having been able to muster a majority of votes on many of the tariff amendments. The rules committee chairman said the House was practically unanimous in its legislative program and that he and other leaders were most anxious that the Senate get the

WATER DIVERSION CASE IS OPENED

Connecticut Contends Bay State Will Demand More Water in the Future.

Boston, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Connecticut today opened its case in opposition to the diversion by Massachusetts of flood waters of the Ware and Swift rivers to supplement the Metropolitan water supply before Charles W. Bunn of Minneapolis, Minn., as master.

The first in the series of hearings before a master was a result of proceedings brought before the United States Supreme Court by Connecticut, that state contending that the contemplated diversion will affect the navigability of the Connecticut river, of which the Ware and Swift rivers are tributaries.

Benedict M. Holden, assistant counsel for Connecticut, who opened arguments, asserted that the real contention of his state is that the proposed present takings of waters will be followed by additional demands in the future.

Will Take More.
"We do not believe that if Massachusetts is allowed to take these waters they will ever be returned, no matter how much conditions may change during the next century," he said, "and we do not believe that it represents all that Massachusetts will ever take. At best it represents but an additional supply for a few years and must be followed by a demand for more. When that time comes we do not feel too confident that it will be refused."

He referred to the Supreme Court proceedings as the only possible opportunity Connecticut had to present and try out its claim for protection in the future. He said that seeking a possible interstate compact with her sister state regarding the water diversions did not appear to be a policy of Massachusetts inasmuch as work already had been started on the project.

PICTURE SENT 20,000 MILES

Television Signal Received in Australia for First Time in History—Important Achievement.

Schenectady, N. Y., Feb. 18.—(AP)—For the first time in history, according to officials of the General Electric Company, here, a television signal was transmitted over a distance of 20,000 miles today.

The experiment was conducted by Dr. E. F. W. Alexanderson, staff scientist of the General Electric, who transmitted the signal from W2XAF, the company's experimental short wave station to VK2ME at Sydney, Australia. The signal was received in Australia and re-broadcast, being picked up again at Schenectady.

A rectangular pattern, about one foot square, was the figure transmitted. The original pattern had very sharp outlines but the image received after traveling 20,000 miles was said to be "fuzzy" in outline. Dr. Alexanderson declared, however, that reception of the image at all was significant in the intimating further possibilities in the transmission of pictures.

COOLIDGES ARRIVE ON PACIFIC COAST

Former President Says He Will Do Most Anything Except Make a Speech.

Los Angeles, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Southern California today played host to Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, who upon arrival here introduced themselves as tourists from New England.

The former President and First Lady arrived in Los Angeles yesterday, expressed surprise at the huge throng which greeted them at the station, admired California's sunshine and were whisked away to the Biltmore hotel where Mrs. Coolidge looked over the pretentious suite engaged for them and exclaimed: "Oh my, we had not counted on a place like this."

Will Not Talk.
Mr. Coolidge, whose "I do not choose to run" in 1928 caused Republican leaders to seek another standard bearer, let it be known at once that he does not choose to talk while in the Hollywood studios.

"While here I will do anything but make a speech," he said. "We are here simply on a visit, and want to see all of Southern California, particularly places of historic interest. Of course we will be interested in visiting the Hollywood studios to see how the pictures are made, and it is possible we will see something of Catalina island, but no speeches, please."

Expressing regret at the death of Alexander P. Moore, who died here yesterday, Mr. Coolidge said he had planned to call on him yesterday at the hospital.

Personal Friend.
"He was long a personal friend of mine," the former president said. "His constant solicitude for his friends and his abounding good nature endeared him to all those who came in contact with him."

Mr. Coolidge announced that today he would be the luncheon guest of George I. Cochrane, president and Les A. Phillips, executive vice president of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Tomorrow morning he will visit the Breakfast Club, and at noon he and Mrs. Coolidge will be luncheon guests of Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks and Joseph M. Schenck. During the afternoon they probably will visit several Hollywood moving picture plants.

The date of their departure, Mr. Coolidge said, had not been set.

EXPECT BENCH WARRANT FOR BRISTOL OFFICIAL

State Bank Commissioner Con- fers With State's Attorney Alcorn Following Bank Crash.

Hartford, Feb. 18.—(AP)—A bench warrant for the arrest of an official of the City Deposit and Discount Company of Bristol, private bank, which collapsed last week was expected to be issued soon as a result of a conference of Bank Commissioner Lester E. Shippee and State Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn today.

Another development came when it was learned that Dr. Biagio Reale, treasurer of the bank had resigned as Italian vice consul here. That criminal action was to be taken by the state was indicated by Commissioner Shippee who said he conferred with Mr. Alcorn this morning regarding the criminal aspects of the liquidation of the bank's failure. He said certain disclosures were made during his investigation of sufficient importance to bring about his conference with Mr. Alcorn.

TREASURY BALANCE

Washington, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Treasury receipts for February 15, were $5,292,363.74; expenditures $5,325,541.59; balance $20,319,983.51.

UTILITIES CRITICIZED BY A LOBBY WITNESS

Solicitor Russell Says He Was Directed to Tell Offi- cial "To Lay Off the Power Companies."

Washington, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Criticizing methods of utilities companies and F. E. Bonner, executive secretary of the Federal Power Commission, Charles A. Russell, commission solicitor, testified today before the Senate Interstate Commerce committee that he had been directed to tell Wm. V. King, commission accountant, to "lay off the power companies" at a meeting in which Bonner participated.

The committee solicitor said that utilities companies included "lobby fees" as actual construction cost in accounts presented to the commission.

Lobby Costs.
He added that such an item of $140,000 on the books of the Byllesby company in Minnesota and Wisconsin was included "in their estimate of investments. Russell also asserted that he knew of another application for a license in Pennsylvania that included an item of $700,000 in investment statements which that figure represented "lobby costs and I don't know what else."

Shortly after he went to work for the commission, Russell said Bonner summoned him and complained that

A. P. MOORE DEAD; ENVOY TO POLAND

Just Appointed to Post; Had Served in Spain and Peru for Years.

Los Angeles, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Alexander P. Moore, newspaperman and diplomat recently appointed by President Hoover to serve as America's first ambassador to Poland, died here yesterday, following a brief illness with bronchial pneumonia. He was 63 years old.

Stricken recently while resting at Palm Springs, Southern California desert resort with what appeared to be a severe cold, the former ambassador to Spain and later Peru, was removed to a Monrovia, Calif., sanitarium where an examination revealed an unsuspected lung infection which rapidly spread to the throat. He later was removed to a California hospital here where his condition grew worse.

Was Newspaper Man

Mr. Moore began his career as office boy for the Pittsburgh, Pa., Telegraph. He became a reporter and finally owner and publisher of the Pittsburgh Leader. His administration under President Harding, as ambassador to Spain from 1923 to 1925 was marked by the re-establishment of cordial relations between that country and the United States.

In March 1928 he was appointed by President Coolidge to the diplomatic post in Peru where he chiefly was responsible for restoring amicable relations between Chile and Peru.

ITALIANS' NOTE SOON EXPECTED AT CONFERENCE

Maintain Right to Possess Forces Equal With Any Other Continental Power; France's Subs a Problem.

London, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Held up in their negotiations with the French by the overthrow of the Tardieu government in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday, Prime Minister MacDonald, Secretary Stimson and Foreign Minister Grandi of Italy had a conference today regarding the Italian position.

It was understood the Italian foreign minister fully explained the contents of an Italian memorandum which will be issued shortly by Italy's delegation.

In that note Italy, it was indicated, will reaffirm her original viewpoint—a desire to see the conference limit naval armaments to the lowest possible degree, but with Italy maintaining the right to possess naval forces equal in tonnage with any other continental power.

Not Building Much.
The Note, it was understood, will set forth that as Italy desires to eliminate all armament competition, she has refrained, since the Washington conference, from entering into some French circles close to the disarmament conference speculation developed during the day that the other four powers might put through an agreement which as a fait accompli, would be presented to France when her delegation again appears at St. James's Palace. What inspired this speculation was not at all apparent and there was no limitation in any official circles that there was ground for any such fear.

Contents of Note.
Meanwhile interest was centered on the probable contents of the note to be issued by Italy. It was stated that the Italian delegation will submit figures to show that in surface ships outside of those limited by the Washington conference Italy possesses either on water or under construction roughly the same number as France. Unofficially, these figures were said to be as follows: Light auxiliary surface ships on the water or at present under construction: France 231,000 tons; Italy 227,000 tons. Submarines at present in service: France 32,000 tons, Italy 27,000 tons.

According to forecasts of the memorandum, however, it will state that while France is now building 50,000 tons of submarines Italy at the present time had laid down only 10,000 tons. Comparing French and British figures the memorandum will say that Great Britain at present has only 45,000 tons in submarines in service and is building but 14,000 tons.

RAID REDS' QUARTERS

Berlin, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Police and Communists had numerous small skirmishes this morning following a raid on Liebknecht House on Buelowplatz, headquarters of the Communist organ Rote Fahne.

The authorities made the search to find material on which to base prosecution for attempted high treason by dissemination of inflammatory pamphlets. The police searched the place for three hours and obtained enough revolutionary material to fill two motor trucks.

As the 250 police left the house, Communists filled the street, jeering at them. One officer's helmet was knocked off, whereupon he drew his revolver and fired shots into the air.

The search was ordered by the Supreme Court of Leipzig, which had information that the Communists were attempting to start so-called revolutionary cells within the police body. The raid apparently surprised the Communists, for they had taken no precautions to hide the revolutionary material.

Hartford, Feb. 18.—(AP)—A conflict between post office employees, with factions aligned against each other in both the Hartford and New Haven post offices, has been revealed following an investigation by postal inspectors into the activities of officers of the Connecticut Federation of Post Office Clerks relative to the solicitation of funds for the "Postal Clerk," annual publication of the federation. That merchants have been solicited for large sums of money in what Marshal A. Mott, general manager of the Hartford Better Business Bureau termed a "racket" today has been definitely established in affidavits now being forwarded to the postmaster general at Washington.

Liquor Sold.
Outstanding in the charges brought by Harry A. Norton, president of Local No. 147 of the National Federation of Post Office Clerks in his affidavit to inspectors were the declarations that liquor was sold by a clerk in the Hartford post office to guests at the convention held in this city last year. "I know that a member of the banquet committee sold whiskey, but how much I cannot say," he stated today.

"I do know" he said "that Ed-

American Naval Guards Fire On Chinese Pirates

Shanghai, Feb. 18.—(AP)—American Naval guards unlimbered their machine guns and silenced a group of bandits yesterday when the latter fired on two steamers belonging to the Standard Oil Company of New York. The encounter took place on the Yangtze River about 150 miles above Yehang.

News of the encounter, which reached here today, said the number of casualties, was not known. The bandits opened fire on the steamers and the naval guards who had been placed aboard the ships to protect them, then went into action.

Five Burned to Death In Quebec Hotel Fire

Maniwaki, Que., Feb. 18.—(AP)—Five persons were burned to death, and an unknown number injured today as a result of the Galarneau hotel and two adjacent buildings.

Efforts definitely to fix the number of casualties were rendered difficult by the fact that the injured were carried to scattered houses in the town as they were rescued from the burning hotel.

The fire broke out at 4:30 a. m. and soon had converted the hotel into a roaring inferno.

Maniwaki is a small lumber town, 85 miles northeast of Ottawa, at the end of the Gatineau line of the Canadian Pacific railway.

Among the five dead were Mrs. Narcisse Galarneau, 37, proprietor of the hotel; her two children, Raoul, 4, and Donat, 2, and her brother, John Mars, 32. Mrs. Galarneau's husband died two months ago.

The fifth victim was Nelson Bertrand, 25, of Gracefield, Que.

Among the known injured are: Glory Galarneau, 12, daughter of the proprietor.

Overthrow of Tardieu Gov- ernment Leaves Naval Conference Hanging in Air; French Envoys Leave for Home—President Doumergue Moves to Form New Government Which May Be Accom- plished Tomorrow.

PARLEY SITUATION.

By Associated Press.

The overthrow of the Tardieu government in France has left the naval conference hanging in the air pending settlement of the French political problem at home.

Meanwhile the other delegations are going ahead with their own difficulties. Prime Minister MacDonald, Secretary Stimson and Foreign Minister Grandi holding a conference.

The Italian foreign minister explained the memorandum which Italy will issue shortly, calling for naval reduction to the lowest possible limit but insisting on parity with any Continental power.

Although the French minister of marine had planned to remain in London as an "observer," now that his government was out of office, he left suddenly for Paris this afternoon, leaving one alternate delegate in London.

Meanwhile President Doumergue went ahead with his political conferences in Paris, summoned to the Elysee palace, the president wishing his views on the situation created by defeat of Premier Tardieu and his government in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday.

Paul Doumer, president of the Senate, according to tradition, was the first to go; he was followed by Fernand Bouisson, president of the Chamber. After them came Senators Etienne Clementel and Victor Ecard and Deputies Louis Matry and Paul Boncour, presidents of the Senate's and Chamber's commissions of finances and foreign affairs.

Camille Chautemps, Radical Socialist leader, and others of the Left Wing opposition, who last night overthrew Premier Tardieu, also were included in the list of callers. In some quarters reception of the visitors was regarded as merely a perfunctory measure, expectations being that M. Tardieu would be asked to resign and a government, and would accept.

Briand Mentioned.
There was some mention of Aristide Briand, foreign minister in the last Cabinet, as a possible selection to head the next government, and as possibly being able to gather a stronger majority for the moment while there was conflict between M. Tardieu's Cabinet and the Chamber in matters of tax reduction.

It was generally expected that selection of M. Tardieu once more was almost necessary because of his familiarity with affairs at the London naval conference, where he is considered to have raised considerably the prestige of France. No one else is considered quite so equipped as he to finish that job.

For Trivial Cause.
Premier Tardieu's fall, since it came on a trivial cause in the budgetary legislation, obviously was a matter of internal politics. Hence it was necessary that the advice of the party leaders be given considerable weight in order that the government would be able to muster a substantial majority and prevent any further crisis interfering with the London conference or ratification of the Young plan.

It was regarded as certain, however, that France's naval policy would not be changed no matter who heads the new Cabinet. This naval policy is the result of months of consultation by Premier Tardieu with all political parties and is based on a gradually developed attitude since the Washington conference. Premier Tardieu's stand has gained remarkable popularity, and general espousal by all except Extremists.

M. Bouisson, who spent an hour with Tardieu before seeing President Doumergue, said after leaving the president that he doubted if the conferences with political advisers and the summoning of some one to form a government would be concluded until tomorrow night.

The Bourne took the ministerial crisis calmly. There was a slight drop at the opening in government bonds and the Bank of France while other banks and some industrialists showed improvement.

SAFETY IN PLANES MOST IMPORTANT

Experts at Exposition Say This Is What All Engineers Are Planning Now.

St. Louis, Feb. 18.—(AP) Aviation was put on the block today before the International Aircraft Exposition as having one appeal to the public, that of reliability.

"No compromise with safety will be tolerated," Roland Chilton, consulting engineer of the Wright Aeronautical Corporation said before a meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers, "because the airplane still suffers by being relatively new and the popular mind shies from the unusual, in risk as in other things."

He placed the "do or die" issue for aviation with the airplane motor and said: "The recent optimism as to the rate of increase in aircraft use will not be fulfilled unless developments in power plants result in increased reliability."

"Air travel is popularly regarded as 'hazardous' and until the landing characteristics of airplanes, now at about railroad train speed, are drastically changed, engine failures on transport machines are incompatible with public confidence."

The safety factor was pointed out by Robert Inley, vice president of the Continental Aircraft Engine Company, as being "probably more important to salesability than is the cost."

Both predicted partial solutions of safety in developing the use of low grade fuel. Inley stated that one of the greatest hazards of aircraft was fire, a problem that might be solved in the development of Diesel or explosion engines.

Using Crude Oil Chilton predicted that an easier method of burning crude oil would be found which would eliminate not only the fire hazard but also the difficulties of carburetion, which present themselves in current types of engines.

Aeronautics was painted before the National Conference on Aeronautical Education as "that becoming a part of the fibre of the nation's public school curricula," by Charles S. "Casey" Jones, famous flier.

He indicated the problem to solve was whether control in aviation catered to the play instinct of students or carried forward the broadening and cultural influences of education.

Three committees were appointed to study separate phases of aeronautical education, those applying to university and college training, education in public schools, and ground school education.

The committee heads were Bradley Jones, University of Chicago; E. G. Shackelford, St. Louis public schools, and Prof. W. Harold Taylor, University of Buffalo.

NEW TRAFFIC DEVICE Hartford, Feb. 18.—(AP) Joseph Cartella claims to have the latest thing in automatic traffic devices. His invention which he has described to the Hartford Board of Police Commissioners, will, he says, regulate vehicular and pedestrian traffic and photograph the license plates of any machine which passes its "stop signal."

Cartella will probably be invited to demonstrate his extraordinary device at the next meeting of the board.

BUSINESS DECREASES. Hartford, Feb. 18.—(AP) The Connecticut Chamber of Commerce today reported that its monthly survey showed that business as a whole during January continued below the level for the same month of 1929.

Building activity declined, 812 permits being issued last month, as compared with 1,045 a year ago. The value of the permits was $2,933,611 as compared with $5,214,093 in 1929.

The amount of gas and electricity consumed, savings banks deposits and the real estate market were at lower levels.

There was a gain in telephone installations and postoffice receipts.

TRIP TO PANAMA. New London, Feb. 18.—(AP) The battleship Texas will take Yale and Georgia Tech units of the reserve officers training corps to Cristal, Panama next June it was learned today.

The Texas will be anchored off the lower harbor June 11 to pick up the Yale unit from this city. The Georgia Tech unit will be taken aboard from a South-Carolina port. The Texas will arrive here on the return trip July 4.

Captain Adolphus Andrews, formerly in command of the submarine base is now in command of the Texas.

CITY IS SUED. Bristol, Feb. 18.—(AP) Deputy Sheriff Charles E. Lord of Hartford filed a suit for $25,000 damages against the city of Bristol brought by Henry Hoffman of New Britain.

Hoffman alleges that on July 7, 1929 he suffered a broken neck, and arms and legs were paralyzed while diving off a board in the Rockwell Park lagoon. The suit is returnable at the March term of Superior Court.

KILLED BY GAS. Waterbury, Conn., Feb. 18.—(AP) Pellegrino De Cicco, 67, a resident of this city for 20 years, was found dead in his bed last night, victim of carbon monoxide fumes emitted by a small gas heater. He had been dead for four days, it is believed. Relatives made the discovery of the man's death when they went to his home last night. Failure of the man to appear at his usual haunts the past few days had alarmed them. Death was pronounced accidental by Medical Examiner Kirschbaum. He is survived by four sons, two daughters, four brothers, and a sister.

FIRE DESTROYS HOME. Derby, Conn., Feb. 18.—(AP) The family of Michael Ptak was compelled to make a hurried exit about 4:30 o'clock this morning from their home at 24 Commerce street when fire threatened to destroy the place. A double alarm was sounded and for two hours the Derby fire department tried to subdue the blaze, which practically destroyed the large two-family house. The origin of the fire was traced to a short circuit in the electric wiring. The estimate of the loss will exceed $5,000.

FRENCH RENT LAW HITS AMERICANS

Resident of Paris Refuses to Leave House Which Belongs to an American.

Paris, Feb. 18.—(AP) The French Rent Court today held that Americans are not entitled to the same protection as the French under the rent laws.

The court made its decision in denying Paul Rockwell's suit to get possession of a house he bought six years ago. The tenant, whose lease had expired, refused to vacate, asserting that a Frenchman could not be ousted by a foreigner.

Rockwell and his famous brother, Kiffin Rockwell, who was killed in wartime when serving with the Lafayette Escadrille, were in the first group of Americans volunteering to fight for France in the Foreign Legion. Paul Rockwell also served as a bomber in the French campaign against the rifts.

Four Times in Court This was the fourth time the suit had been tried in six years, Rockwell losing each time, but renewing his plea that Americans were guaranteed equal treatment with the French under the Franco-American convention of 1833.

His latest suit, the first brought by an American before the newly instituted Rent Court, was filed after Premier Briand last July had issued a circular contending that the courts should recognize that and similar treaties with other countries.

Rockwell's case, which the American Embassy is watching, will be appealed. It was described as a test case by the opposition attorney, who said he feared that French judicial independence was endangered by the pressure of foreign embassies. He pictured Rockwell as a speculator who had taken advantage of the low value of the franc to buy a house at a price "too high for a Frenchman, but a mere straw for an American."

OBITUARY

DEATHS

Conrad Schuler. Conrad Schuler, age 77, of 118 Smith street, died at the Manchester Memorial hospital last night from complications. He is survived by his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Otto Kaebisch of Milwaukee, Wis., and Mrs. Benjamin Kwitkowski of 50 Hemlock street, town; one son, Arthur Schuler of 42 Wells street, Hartford; five grandchildren and three great grandchildren. Schuler retired several years ago from a position at the Carlyle-Johnson Company.

The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon from the home of his daughter on Hemlock street. A Rev. Heidenreich of Hartford will officiate. Burial will be in the East cemetery.

VALLUZZI ENTERTAINS HIS DISTRICT WORKERS

Frank Valluzzi, assistant district manager of the South Manchester office of a large insurance company, gave a roast beef supper at his home Saturday night after which several staff members were called upon for speeches. They spoke on the records made during the year of 1929 during which Manchester stood fifth in the country for detached offices.

Guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Malley and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wheeler of the Hartford office. Mr. Valluzzi's entire staff and their wives were present. The staff comprises Ernest C. Linders, Arthur W. Johnson, Rudolph Johnson of Manchester and Stanley Lemek of Rockville. John J. Whiteley and Thomas Rabbett of Windsor Locks, Thompsonville, Stafford Springs area, and Floyd Gallup of Willimantic and surrounding towns.

Entertainment was provided by Joseph Farr with piano solos. Joseph Durkin was the song leader. Mr. Valluzzi also favored with saxophone and clarinet selections.

FEDERAL DRY AGENTS VISIT BILL MARTIN'S

Federal prohibition officers this morning visited the home of William Martin in the east part of the town. The house where Mr. Martin lives is located in Manchester while his bars are just across the line in Bolton. The small building which faces the road to the east of his house is also across the stone dividing line of Manchester and Bolton.

According to Mr. Martin there were four in the party that descended upon his place and started a search. He claims that they took away two bottles from the place, but they did not contain an intoxicating beverage. The men, after visiting Mr. Martin's home and sheds went east towards Willimantic. No further raids were reported to any of the officials in Bolton. Mr. Martin was not taken into custody.

LEVITT RAPS J. HENRY

Bridgewater Feb. 18.—(AP) "Accept the challenge and oppose Mr. Roraback's political principles and their practical application," is the plea of Prof. Albert B. Levitt made to the Republican voters of Connecticut in a stirring attack on the chairman of the republican State Committee in the meeting of the Fairfield Luncheon Club in Southport today.

Close to 100 members and guests attended the meetings. The speaker likened Connecticut to Russia, saying: "The most striking contemporary illustration of what machine control means is found in Soviet Russia today. The similarity between the Soviet regime and the Roraback regime is striking."

"In Russia they call it Sovietism. In Connecticut I call it Rorabackism. In Russia they call it the dictatorship of the proletariat. In Connecticut I call it the dictatorship of the utilitarian. I am opposed to every form of dictatorship. I believe in the constitution of Connecticut."

SAY COAST GUARDS FIRE ON CITIZENS

Witnesses Tell of Narrow Escapes While Walking Along Beach on Sound.

Easthampton, N. Y., Feb. 18.—(AP)—James Hildreth, superintendent of marine fisheries of the State Conservation Department, was the first witness called today at the "John Doe" inquiry into charges that Coast Guardsmen have shown negligence in shooting near Long Island citizens.

The inquiry, conducted by Alexander G. Blue, district attorney of Suffolk county, was before Harry Leek, justice of the peace. Hildreth testified that early last Saturday, while driving along the Montauk road near the Napeague Coast Guard station, a light flashed ahead of his car and a volley of shots rang out as he came to a stop.

Surrounded Car Several men in coast guard uniforms surrounded the car, he said, and an officer who gave his name as Capt. Frank D. Parner, apologized for stopping the party, stating that "we are looking for trucks."

There were several cars behind him, Hildreth said, and these also were stopped. A. G. Garrow, a game warden, testified that on February 11, while walking along the beach at Oyster park, a revenue cutter pulled up off the shore and someone aboard shouted to him through a megaphone.

Garrow said he did not understand what was said and continued walking. He had only proceeded a few paces, he continued, until a machine gun from the cutter started spraying the beach ahead of him with bullets. Garrow testified that the shots narrowly missed his two dogs in front of him and he ducked for cover.

William Petty, another witness, said that on the same day he was walking along the beach near Montauk, he was surrounded by a Coast Guard cutter casting off from shore.

"One of the guardsmen told me I had better get away from there," Betty said, "because they were going to shoot the beach with machine gun bullets." I didn't stick around to see whether they did or not—" I got."

Commander Christopher J. Sullivan, of the Long Island Coast Guard, attended the inquiry.

MRS. DOHERTY HELD IN SUPERIOR COURT

New Britain, Feb. 18.—(AP) Mrs. Rose Doherty, 22, of 213 Clark street, was bound over to the term of Superior Court in Police Court today on a charge of first degree murder, it being alleged that she had caused the death of her eight months old child, Eugene, Jr., on Feb. 9, by holding him in front of a gas stove with the jets turned on when she attempted to commit suicide.

Mrs. Doherty was placed under arrest at New Britain general hospital the day after the baby's death. She is said to have confessed to the police that she held the child in front of the stove until the fumes began to overcome her and then lay down on a bed expecting to die. Her husband, returning home, broke into the house when he found the doors locked. He discovered his wife and child unconscious on the bed and had them removed to the hospital but the child was found dead at the institution.

EXHIBITION BURNS. Dortmund, Prussia, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Fire today destroyed the anatomical-hygiene exhibition "Man" which had been shown in many German cities and in the spring was to have been shipped to the United States for exhibition.

EXPECT TO RECOVER EIELSON'S BODY NEXT

Nome, Alaska, Feb. 18.—(AP) Recovery of the body of Earl Borchard, mechanic, from the snow-covered wreckage of the plane in which he and Carl Ben Eielson plunged to death, near North Cape, Siberia, Nov. 9 last, has revived hope that the body of Eielson will be found soon.

Northerners to whom Eielson was a hero awaited further reports from the fur trading ship Nanuk, ice-locked near North Cape, and which is serving as a base for searching operations. They believe that either Joe Crosson or Harold Gilliam, fliers stationed at the Nanuk, will bring back word of the recovery of Eielson's body.

NEW VETS HOSPITAL

Hartford, Conn., Feb. 18.—(AP)—Material and spiritual aid for the patients who will be there in years to come was pledged by veterans' organizations and civil officials this noon at the ceremony of breaking ground for the new United States Veterans' hospital for southern New England, located in Newington.

Several hundred men and women attended, standing on the snow-covered site a mile from Newington Center, where the massed flags of veterans' organizations waved and the first shovel full was dug by Major Thomas J. Bannigan, regional manager of the United States Veterans' Bureau.

"Our responsibilities are not ended," declared Major Anson T. McCook, chairman of the American Legion hospital committee which was instrumental in securing a Connecticut site, the principal speaker. "In a few months this hospital will be a fact, and its cheerful wards will be giving new life and health to our comrades for whose sake we undertook this labor of love. There is much that we can do by way of personal visits, assistance in convalescence, information to relatives and in numberless ways.

to make their cures speedier, more certain, more permanent." Miss Katherine E. Meunier, vice commander of Jane Delano post, American Legion, was invited to cast a shovelful of earth, in addition to those scheduled for this ceremony, consisting of Major Bannigan, Major McCook, Captain W. B. Alexander, State Commander of the Legion; State Commander John E. O'Keefe of the Veterans of Foreign Wars; State Commander Thomas S. McLagan, of the disabled American veterans of the World War; Captain Kenneth F. Cramer, past department commander of the Legion, and Eugene Barnes.

GET AIR MINDED

Vote to Put Sign on Glenney Shed and Hear Aviation Expert Speak.

Definite decision was reached last night at an all members meeting of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce at the Sheridan Hotel, to place a guiding sign for aviators on the roof of the new W. G. Glenney lumber shed, located on North Main street near the railroad tracks.

Captain William E. Smith, chief flight surgeon of the Department of Aeronautics and Aviation, who was the speaker of the evening agreed that the location was the logical one as pilots follow the railroad tracks.

A passenger has never been killed in this state, said the speaker, and only one pilot has been killed.

The speaker said that Cheney Brothers were manufacturing silk for parachutes and he mentioned the possibilities of fabric and upholstery in planes of the future and what it would mean to the silk industry.

In speaking of the great time saving value of aviation the speaker cited an example of how he was one day called to Washington, D. C. He had breakfast in Hartford and left Brainerd Field at 6:30 o'clock.

An open discussion followed Captain Smith's talk in which he elaborated on the few accidents that take place on organized airway lines and the careful selection of pilots.

Following the turkey dinner, Secretary E. J. McCabe submitted reports on the Automotive Division and in the absence of R. K. Anderson, on the membership campaign.

GOVERNOR UNHURT IN GLIDER CRASH

Shaken and suffered few scratches on his legs and hand, Governor Trumbull refused medical attention after the mishap.

He was attending the opening of the new hanger of the American Airways Inc., formerly the Colonial Airways, of which he is an officer.

The glider was brought to the airport for exhibition as part of the celebration. After Heinrich Knott, a German glider pilot, connected with the American Motorless Aviation Corporation, had made two test rides, Gov. Trumbull volunteered to take the machine up.

He was strapped in the seat of the fragile aircraft and the towing car was started. The sudden jolt as he glider shot up to an elevation of 25 feet threw his feet from the rudder bar.

The plane crashed on to the frozen runway, a tangle of torn wing fabric and splintered framework.

Gov. Trumbull has been a licensed pilot since Dec. 1927, although his light career began in 1925 when he piloted a plane over his own capital.

He was slightly injured July 20, 1928 when a plane he was flying collided with another in a landing.

TOWN PLAYERS' NEXT

"THE CREAKING CHAIR"

Get Permission Today to Present Famous Mystery Here Next Month.

Coch Louis R. Smith announced today that permission had been obtained from the play brokers in New York for the presentation of "The Creaking Chair" by the Town Players next month.

In preparation for the enactment of the murder mystery drama, a special meeting has been called for 8 o'clock Friday night in Room 8 at the School Street Recreation Center.

The last production put on by the Town players was "Bill of Divorcement" last spring at the Circle. The date for the next play has not been definitely decided upon but it will be Wednesday, March 19 or 20.

"The Creaking Chair" has to do with strange mysteries in close proximity to the club room at the east end of the building for refreshments and games of a athletic nature.

TWO RECS COMBINE IN VALENTINE PARTY

West Side Members Guests at School Street Building; Games and Refreshments.

A most successful Valentine party was held by the women members of the swimming and gymnastic classes at the East Side Recreation Center last night with the West Side Rec members as guests.

A committee composed of Anne Scranton, Violet Capra and Marion Waddell served the refreshments which consisted of sandwiches of various kinds, a salad consisting of lettuce, pears, whipped cream and cherries, and frosted cupcakes.

The officer who will accompany the band here is Major Helen Purviance, one of the original Salvation Army doughnut girls of World War fame.

HAROLD BACH RETURNS HOME FROM HOSPITAL

Victim of Coasting Mishap Must Remain in Bed Three Months Longer.

Harold Bach, 11 years old son of Mr. and Mrs. Holger Bach of 324 Center street, will probably be confined to his bed for four months as a result of his recent coasting accident.

Harold now recognizes the members of his family and can take his meals naturally. The doctor has ordered that he be kept in bed three months longer, however, so he will not return to school until next fall.

While the officers and directors of Silica Del are expected to manage the new company, it is understood that the American Radiator and Standard Sanitary Corporation will acquire a substantial interest in it.

UTILITIES CRITICIZED BY A LOBBY WITNESS

The solicitor had been "listening to" King, the chief accountant, and now he, Bonner, wanted Russell to hear "the power company's side."

Called Into Conference Russell added that he was then called into conference with Bonner, Major Glen Edgerton, chief engineer of the commission, and M. O. Leighton.

Leighton, Russell said, "claims to be a consulting engineer" but in reality "is employed by the Electric Bond and Share Company."

In that conference Russell testified, he was directed to ask King, the accountant, to "lay off" the power companies.

Leighton's complaint, Russell said, was that King insisted upon being "too detailed" in accounts, such as reports from the companies on expenditures and assets, in connection with applications for licenses.

FIRE IN NEWPORT

CAUSES BIG LOSS

Newport, R. I., Feb. 18.—(AP)—

Three business buildings were destroyed by fire with an estimated loss of $200,000 and the center of the city was endangered in an early morning blaze today.

After four hours of fighting, during which aid was summoned from Fall River, Fort Adams, the Naval training station, Middletown and Portsmouth the fire was gotten under control about five a. m.

The fire apparently started on the top floor of the Odd Fellows block, a three story wooden building about midnight and worked through the structure before being discovered.

The fire burned through the roof and parts of the wall of the Aqueduct bank building despite the curtain of water, but the greatest damage was done by smoke and water.

Families Sheltered. The twelve families forced to leave their homes were quartered in the Army and Navy Y. M. C. A., a brick building across a small street from the bank, which was in the path of the flames for a time.

The fire was discovered by Patrolman Jeremiah Quinn about 1 o'clock when he saw the interior of the Odd Fellows block in flames.

The following stores, halls and offices were destroyed: Odd Fellows building, Kaulkman drug store, Shoreline bus station, Odd Fellows hall, and lodge rooms of three fraternal organizations.

Really building: Griffiths sporting goods store, Chase's kodak store, Toomey's spa, a barber shop, offices of City Solicitor Jeremiah A. Sullivan, Lawyer William Williams, and the dental parlors of Dr. Pardee, and Machinists' hall.

Builders and merchants' Melitkas barber shop, Millinery store of Miss K. N. Sullivan, Ritchie's florist shop and a large hall.

SALVATIONISTS PLAN A MUSICAL FESTIVAL

Saturday evening, March 8, is the date set for the big musical festival to be given at the Salvation Army Citadel on Main street by the Women's Cadet band of the Salvation Army training college in New York.

The long room was appropriately decorated for a Valentine party. Strings of red hearts were run from the corners and joined in the center.

The table was trimmed with red and white crepe paper and there were several souvenirs. Miss Pearl Burke and Mrs. Lillian Farr had charge of the decorations.

FORM NEW COMPANY

New York, Feb. 18.—(AP)—The Silica Gel Corporation has formed a new company to be known as Silica Gel Dehydration and Refrigeration, Inc., which will install cooling and refrigeration plants in homes and buildings, it was learned today.

While the officers and directors of Silica Del are expected to manage the new company, it is understood that the American Radiator and Standard Sanitary Corporation will acquire a substantial interest in it.

The officer who will accompany the band here is Major Helen Purviance, one of the original Salvation Army doughnut girls of World War fame.

The boy's band from the same training school was entertained here earlier in the winter, and much interest is manifested in the visit of the women's band, not only because of the two local girls who are members, but from the fact that the individual players are all thoroughly trained musicians with years of experience in their home corps, both in instrumental and vocal music.

Miss Helen M. Gould of Chestnut street returned home today from the Hartford hospital where she underwent an operation.

The Ways and Means committee of the Buckland Parent-Teacher association gave another successful whist last evening in the school assembly hall. The first prize of $2.50 in gold was won by Miss Mildred Miller and August Carlson.

LEGIONNAIRES, AS USUAL,

HAVE ROUSING BANQUET

Annual Affair, Held Last Night at Roxy's, Brings Out 125 War Veterans.

Manchester Legionnaires held their annual banquet, the sixth since their organization as Dillworth Cornell Post, at Roxy's Night club at Woodland, last night. It was the usual rousing success, 125 of the war veterans attending the affair. A roast turkey dinner was served by Foxy's dancing waiters under the guidance of Manchester's own Hugh McCaull.

Following the dinner Commander Walter Sheridan welcomed the comrades. The banquet and introduced Town Treasurer George H. Waddell as toastmaster. George was awarded the Legion victory medal for being the first toastmaster at a Legion banquet that was held beyond the speakers' table.

The town treasurer handled the speakers of the evening as though they were town funds—so carefully that he told the banqueteer, who each one was going to say and then limited the speaker to two minutes.

County Commander Elmer Dickinson spoke briefly urging the Legion men to attend more district sessions. State Commander Alexander spoke eloquently on the spirit of 1917 and 1918 as applied to duty to good government today. James Foley, known on the football field as "Shrimp" was introduced as the next manager of the Cubs for ball team here. He kept well within the time allotted to him simply urging support for the team next fall.

Several entertainers from a Hartford bureau rounded out the program.

tariff out of the way so it could turn to other work.

"We went over this general situation with the President," he said. "We promised him to do all we could to hurry the program. The primary thing to do is get a tariff bill."

The chief executive, it was understood, informed the Congressional leaders that the failure of the Senate to dispose of tariff legislation was disturbing to the country's business leaders.

The delay in the passage of the tariff bill, the Congressional leaders were told, was holding up other important legislation, including most of the proposals made by President Hoover in his annual message and the recommendations of the Wickersham law enforcement commission to reorganize prohibition enforcement.

BOULEVARD STOPS

There will be a good deal of interest in this region in the experiment of establishing the "boulevard-stop" system of vehicular traffic on Farmington Avenue, Hartford, from Broad Street to Prospect Avenue. This is the system whereby important main roads are recognized as arterial highways and the burden of responsibility for collisions at intersections is laid on the vehicle entering the highway, or crossing it, from side streets. In operation it requires that drivers on the cross streets or roads shall come to a full stop before entering the arterial boulevard and shall await proper opportunity to do so. Adequate signs are posted on the cross roads notifying drivers of the boulevard stop.

At first glance this system seems to be an eminently desirable one. One of the most prolific sources of accidents in Manchester, for example, seems to be the practice of drivers piling, full-tilt, into East Center street from cross streets. This would be legally impossible under the boulevard stop system. In practice, in the few states where it has been adopted, on high roads, particularly in Maine, the method seems to work well.

Possibly there may come, in actual practice, developments tending to show that even the boulevard-stop system is not without faults. Faults will manifest themselves, quite certainly, if drivers on the boulevards let themselves fall into the habit of disregarding the rights of the cross-street driver altogether. Requirements that such a driver come to a stop do not carry with them any denial to him of a right to enter or cross an arterial highway. If, having waited for his opportunity, he finds that boulevard drivers continue to approach at high speed, he is bound, sooner or later, to take his chance against one of them. If the boulevard driver is a road hog, there is still opportunity for disaster.

It is probable that the boulevard-stop system will operate well and that it will reduce the risk of accidents—if the drivers on the main stems don't, as a result of it, acquire the notion that the cross driver is of no account.

Also, it will prove useless, if, as is the case in some cities we know of, the rule is ignored altogether unless there is a cop in sight.

MEREDITH'S MACHINE

The outburst of enthusiasm for Dr. Albert Barrett Meredith, resigned commissioner of education, which is taking sudden form, according to report, in efforts to "persuade" Dr. Meredith to remain at the head of the state's school system, is a manifestation of the workings of the Meredith machine.

For years Commissioner Meredith has been a very busy man in gratiating himself with teachers' organizations, women's clubs and all similar bodies throughout the state. He has visited every nook and corner of Connecticut many times. He has made himself charming to every group which would be likely to lend itself to his ambitions. He has popularized himself with grade teachers, principals, members of boards of education. He has been the most active, and in some ways the most effective, politician in this commonwealth.

It is entirely natural that either at Dr. Meredith's hint or otherwise—there should come this sudden volume of protest against his retirement. Because the backbone of the Meredith educational system is the advantage of the teaching class. He stands for small classes, many teachers, endless supervisory jobs, more pay and less work for the public school educators. He does not, never has he, risk the prophecy, never will stand for the genuine well being of the Connecticut schoolboy and school girl.

He stands for that centralization of school authority and for that attempted standardization of education which are even more dreaded by the thinking person than the bankruptcy of towns and cities which they threaten. He stands for the creation of an educators' caste as powerful as an ancient priesthood—and has flattered and cajoled hundreds of teachers and board members into seeing themselves as members of it.

The Meredith machine is evidently going into gear. Right now is the time to put the skids under it.

SAILING SHIPS

Charles H. Ingersoll, the dollar watch man, seems to be getting a rather small hand for his scheme of running a fleet of sailing ships for passengers between the United States and European ports. We don't understand why. It is a perfectly corking idea. We don't at all agree with those critics of the plan who believe it would be difficult to find people who would be willing to spend so much time at sea—the critics figuring that it would take a month, on the average, to make the voyage. In the first place, there are a lot worse things to contemplate than a month spent on a comfortable clipper ship; and in the next place it would probably take nowhere near a month to negotiate the distance.

A sailing ship once made the passage from New York to Queens-town in nine days and seventeen hours. That was a record and under exceptional wind conditions. But on the other hand if sailing vessels were to be seriously returned to the seas in this age they would be, very certainly, the best sailing vessels ever built and the fastest. There are many ways in which modern mechanical methods could be advantageously and cheaply applied to wind propelled vessels. The crack clipper of the revived sailing fleet would be likely to be a huge schooner, with six or seven masts and fore-and-aft rigged; because the necessary power for handling such huge sails could be produced by gasoline engines and hollow steel masts and spars would withstand strains that no pine sticks ever knew. Her speed should be equal to that of the fastest sailing yachts.

It is entirely practical to build and operate a really big sailing ship. In fact just before sails went out of fashion a few ships of nearly 4,000 tons were built—two or three times as big as the famous clippers of hallowed memory. And such ships could be made to develop high speed.

Our guess is that if Mr. Ingersoll's scheme ever goes through there will be heaps of patrons; and our other guess is that average trips could be made in considerably less than three weeks.

NO CAUSE FOR FEAR

The sudden crisis in French governmental affairs has caused loud cries of alarm to go up from the world-wide audience of watchers of the London naval conference. "Parley Imperiled by French Crisis" makes an automatic and sufficiently startling headline. Fortunately, there is probably no truth to it.

The Tardieu ministry resigned after a defeat by the Left. Even if the premier should not again bob up as head of the incoming government, the temporary ascendancy of the Socialists would be extremely unlikely to increase the nationalist tendencies of the French delegation at London.

In any event, the naval conference is a good deal like a game of baseball played in the presence of a European audience which has never seen the game, doesn't know the rules and has only the vaguest idea of the objectives. Such an audience could be depended on to wildly applaud a high fly batted with two out and three on bases, though a sophisticated American fan would know that when the ball started aloft it was all over with the batting side.

Not only the publics of the interested nations, but almost all the correspondents are unduly affected by circumstances that have very little likelihood of defeating or seriously affecting the purposes of the gathering. The nations are in London for the purpose of decreasing the burden and the hazard of great naval armaments. It is to the interest of every one of them that the conference shall succeed. Whether the Tardieu government or some other is in the saddle in France, France's interests in this business run in the same direction as the rest of the participants.

GOVERNOR'S ESCAPE

Through good luck Connecticut has the same governor today that she had yesterday. And because the people of the state have a strong affection for John H. Trumbull they are congratulating themselves on that fact. Whether their confidence in the governor's judgment—in purely personal matters, of course—is increased by his experience of yesterday at Newark, is another matter.

Everyone has a weak spot in his heart for the successful man of affairs who retains enough of his boyhood to want to get into every game of baseball or marbles that he sees, and the eagerness of Governor Trumbull to hop into a glider and prove that he could run it is perfectly understandable. But, really, the life of a governor of a state is not entirely his own property, nor yet that of his family, and some rather special care of it is due to the commonwealth.

We like the fine optimism which could express itself, after that crack-up, in the declaration that gliders are "safe even when they crash." But probably most Connecticut people will agree with our belief that the governor ought, really ought, to wait at least until he has retired from his high office before taking risks that only a very few individuals—and these possessing no large public responsibilities—are willing to run.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer

Washington, Feb. 18.—For the first time in 14 years Congress is formally considering proposals for old age pensions, thereby taking up an issue which has gained rapidly increasing importance in state legislatures.

In January, 1916, Congressman Meyer London, of the New York Socialist, obtained hearings before the House labor committee for his bill providing a commission to study problems of social insurance and old age. Subsequently the late Congressman Victor Berger of Milwaukee, another Socialist, undertook to keep the issue alive.

Both London and Berger are dead, but on February 20 and 21 the same committee will hold hearings on several old age bills, introduced by both Republicans and Democrats and all looking forward to federal co-operation in saving the aged and infirm from complete destitution and starvation.

Nine States in Line
Three years ago there was formed the American Association for Old Age Security, which included such men as Ethelbert Stewart, the U. S. commissioner of labor statistics; Bishop Francis J. McConnell of the Methodist church, and Father John A. Ryan, an originator of minimum wage laws. As a result of an effective campaign there are now old age pension laws in nine states, some effective and some not—as in cases where pensions and poorhouses are optional with counties—and counties prefer poorhouses.

The labor committee will consider a fairly wide range of bills. There's an act for federal-state pension bill introduced by Congressman Sirovich of New York and another by McKeown of Oklahoma, the Sirovich bill corresponding rather closely with that presented in the Senate by Dill of Washington. The latter is a bill of New York which a select committee of five congressmen "to inquire into old age pension systems and study the modern methods by which practically all of the advanced nations of the world afford constructive relief to the aged poor." Sirovich also has a resolution for an investigation of the extent of old age dependency and what is being done about it and of his numerous whereas says that the United States, China and India are the only large countries making no modern adequate provision. Another resolution by Senator Dill would have such an investigation made by the Senate judiciary committee.

The McKeown bill would appropriate an initial $4,000,000 a year for allotment on a population basis to states agreeing to spend a dollar of their own for every dollar of federal money granted, the states to administer the fund. Eligibility requirements for aid would include 15 years of U. S. citizenship and five years' residence in the state, age of 65 or more, inability to earn a living, absence of as much income as $365 a year and lack of any person both legally responsible and able to support the indigent individual. The maximum pension under the act would be $365 a year.

The Sirovich bill would create an Old Age Security Bureau in the Labor Department. The amount to be appropriated would be determined by Congress, but assistance would be limited to $1 a day. Twenty years of citizenship would be required and state law would determine necessary state residence. A person entitled to relief must be 60 or over, must not possess property valued at more than $5,000, or have any legally responsible person able to support him and must be of good moral character. Dill's bill, rather similar, would appropriate $10,000,000.

Cite Changed Conditions
The tendency of witnesses probably will be to dwell on the increasing difficulty experienced in getting a job by men past 45. The most common arguments for old age pensions are that the expectancy of life has increased while expectancy of prolonged employment has decreased, that mass production has brought about technological unemployment while illness and industrial accidents increase old age destitution, that two or three persons can be maintained in their own homes for the cost of supporting one inmate of an almshouse and that whereas 38 foreign governments have old age pension or insurance systems we are the only industrial nation making no adequate provision of the sort.

It is estimated that there are 2,000,000 persons, or one out of three of those over 65, who are penniless and totally dependent upon charity or relatives for support.

LEARN TO PLAY

The traits of fair play, honesty, temperance and the "pull-together" spirit are built by athletics, making them a valuable training for youths and even adults. These are character habits which long outlast the school period and when carried into life in the adult world make for as much success in the game of big business as they do in the success in the field.

I believe that everyone should learn to play. Exercising is usually a lonesome affair, and may or may not yield pleasure, while the game played with others implies entering into the spirit of play and the enjoyment of fun. Outdoor recreation should find a place on everyone's program. All games are specifically vitality chargers. They release new energies, and the joy of playing, of using the body in a smooth, flexible and swiftly co-ordinated manner, brings a certain satisfaction and a glow of healthful activity.

Athletics tune up the circulation of the blood and the circulation of the lymphatic system. They add to the vigor and power of mind, bring pep, and vitality flows into the body, making it easier to buckle down to work when work time comes.

Many people who are nervous and discouraged find that by taking up some game they gain a change of viewpoint which sends them back to their work refreshed and recharged. This is probably due to the release of the spirit of play which adds a spark of exhilaration to the day, making the sun seem brighter, and the shade seem cooler, the drink of water more priceless, and a good lunch more to be desired than rubies.

In many cases, people who are too thin find that by getting out and playing they obtain enough oxygen to aid in their assimilation so that they can begin to gain. They also gain weight from the growth of good healthy muscular tissue which is the only way one should gain.

All office workers who sit during the day will find it a great benefit to join a club or gymnasium where they can play at least three times a week. Most of these clubs have swimming pools so that a swim may finish off the games or exercises.

While the benefits of athletics far outweigh the danger, it must be remembered that any form of exercise which overtaxes or overstrains the muscles is bad. Moderation should be the keyword in athletic contests, and one should not enter too vigorously in competitive sports without the benefit of a gradual separation. There need be no ill effects if the athletics are begun in moderation and not over-indulged in. Playing too hard when out of practice may lead to over-heating, to nervous tension so that sleep is impossible, to soreness of the muscles, or to heart strain. These things can all be avoided if one is careful, and the benefits of muscular exercise, the ambition to excel, to compete, to conquer, to make the body stronger and more skillful, tends to stimulate a clear, quick-thinking mind.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Weeping Eczema)
Question—J. W. M. asks: "Will you please give me advice regarding what I diagnose as weeping eczema in a baby four months old, the condition appearing on the face only. The child is in perfect health in every respect, and is breast fed, with orange juice in the early morning feeding hours."
Answer—As the baby is breast fed, the trouble no doubt comes from some toxic condition of the mother. This may be difficult to remedy as long as the baby continues to live on the mother's milk. It would be far better for the mother to stop nursing the baby and put him on pure Holstein cow's milk, together with a small amount of orange juice before each feeding.

(Diabetes)
Question—Mrs. K. I. L. asks: "Would the advertised remedy be good for diabetes?"
Answer—I do not advise "remedies" either through this column or in my private practice. Proper food is the only remedy you need to bring about a cure of diabetes. If you will send me your name and address I will be glad to forward general instructions for the cure of diabetes.

(Tubercular Bowel)
Question—Mrs. H. P. asks: "Will you please tell me the best diet for tubercular bowel?"
Answer—The diet must be well balanced, but with a minimum of starches and sugars. The most effective treatment is to use two or three warm water enemas a day. At the same time, it is necessary to build up the general strength of the body in order to overcome any form of tuberculosis. Strength can come only from exercising, so you must take calisthenic exercises, and walk increased distances each day.

New York, Feb. 18.—A line in a play which particularly amused me is to be found in Donald Ogden Stewart's comedy, "Rebound." A young American, in Paris, comes bounding in with the information that he has had a particularly interesting romance. Asked to explain how it happened, he replies: "I dropped into Zelli's; I opened my purse—and there she was!"

I find it difficult to agree with the several hundred film-going critics who selected the ten best talkies of the year for Film Daily.

Their decision, whether I like it or not, was as follows: Disraeli, Broadway Melody, Madame X, Rio Rita, Gold Diggers of Broadway, Bulldog Drummond.

DEFINITELY ENGAGE NANETTE GUILFORD

Famous Operatic Soprano to Appear With Beethovens in Fifth Concert.

It has been definitely arranged to have Nanette Guilford, soprano of the New York Metropolitan Opera Company, as guest artist at the fifth annual concert of the Beethoven Glee Club in the High School Auditorium, Monday evening, April 21, assuring music enthusiasts of the pleasure of hearing one of the best soloists ever to come to Manchester.

The greatly added expense of bringing such a prominent artist here is inspiring the Beethoven members to increased activity in signing associate members and it is hoped before the drive closes to have 400 names on the program to double the number obtained last year.

Miss Guilford in spite of her youth is a veteran opera and concert artist, and possesses a rarely beautiful voice which she uses with consummate ease. The Morning Telegraph commenting on her performance as Nedda in "Pagliacci" at the "Met" during the past season, said: "Nanette Guilford is blessed with unusual beauty. She is slender, she is graceful. She has much appeal. With all these endowments Nanette has a splendid voice, and what more could any audience ask of an artist? Miss Guilford has prepared a specially interesting program for her appearance here, which will include several of the arias in which she has been applauded at the Metropolitan, including Marguerite in "Faust," Nedda in "Pagliacci," Aelfreda in "The King's Benchman," the title role in "Madama Imperia," and Genevra in "La Cenerentola."

DAMAGE OF $125,000 IN LEOMINSTER BLAZE

Leominster, Mass., Feb. 18.—(AP)—Damage estimated at more than $125,000 was done to the Nickerson block, a three story brick business structure, by a fire which was discovered shortly after 1 a. m. today and only was brought under control four hours later.

The blaze apparently started near a heater in the basement and was first detected by the night telephone operator in a nearby exchange when burned telephone wires registered on the switchboard. A hot air explosion blew windows out of the basement shortly after the firemen arrived and the flames quickly bursted through the first and second floors.

Aid was summoned from Fitchburg to assist the local fire department. The entire interior of the building was destroyed. The Nickerson Dry Goods Company occupied part of the first floor. The other store space was unoccupied. Offices of City Solicitor James H. P. Dwyer, Lawrence F. Marshall, insurance agent, Woodberry and Lincoln, dentists, Ned C. Gilman, chiropractor, and the Red Cross and the Christian Science Society were located on the second floor and an Odd Fellows hall was on the third floor.

The block was owned by Martin C. Hillery heirs of Hartford, Conn., five years ago fire damaged the building to the extent of $75,000. The structure was built 40 years ago.

ROCKVILLE

"Miami Nights" Wednesday "Miami Nights," a three-act musical comedy to be presented by "The Wheel," a local organization of older boys and young men, is sure to bring out a capacity house at the Sykes Auditorium on Wednesday evening of this week. Rehearsals have been underway for several weeks, under the direction of Leo J. Roy of Hartford, who has coached previous productions in this city.

The plot of this musical comedy is set in Miami, Florida. A confident man sells a parcel of land to the manager of a hotel and the land proves worthless. In the third act the plot is revealed and the Duchess finds out that the manager of the hotel is her son and not "Dopey" whom she first thought was her son. This play has been written especially for "The Wheel" and it contains all the latest numbers from the musical comedy revues, with special costumes and scenery, secured by Director Leroy J. Roy. Each scene will represent some well-known musical comedy star, sings a song sung by these stars.

Director Leroy J. Roy, will feature his famous "Spanish Cavalry." Miss Evelyn McCarthy, Rockville's premier dancing instructor, who is training and coaching the dancers, will have a special dance number of her own. Miss Tillie Goldfield, who has an important role in the musical comedy, will have a special song number. The soloists will be: Osmar Graupner, Harold Melvin, William Smith, Elmer Hartenstein, Miss Tillie Goldfield, Edmund Smith, Wilfred St. Louis, Mary Byrnes and Alice Schadle. There is also an excellent cast of characters and chorus groups.

Reserve seat tickets went on sale this afternoon and can be secured at the box office at the Sykes Auditorium tonight between 7 and 8 o'clock; tomorrow afternoon from 2:30 to 5 o'clock and Wednesday evening.

Card Party and Dance Card and dance lovers will be delighted to know that the Knights of Columbus of St. Bernard's Church are giving a benefit, bridge, whist and dance on Friday, February twenty-first in the Knights of Columbus and Girl Club rooms (across from the High School). Dancing will be greatly enjoyed in the Girl Club rooms. Old-fashioned, novelty and modern dances will be had to give spice and variety to the program. Ernie Rock's orchestra will furnish the music.

Bridge and whist will be played in the Knights of Columbus rooms. Handsome prizes are to be awarded for both, including men's and ladies first, second and consolation. Many of the young people are planning to make up tables of bridge. Tables for bridge can be reserved by calling up Mary Loehr's Millinery Shop.

A short entertainment will be given after the bridge and whist with St. Bernard's School orchestra featuring.

The following are acting on the various committees: Misses Helen Regan, Anna Martley, Rita Eckels, Mary Loehr, Betty Gessay, Corinne Lee, Rose Ertel, Alice Moore, Mary Sulkan, Helen Seifert, Beatrice Burns, Louise Loehr, Elizabeth Loehr, Mary McCarthy and Flora Edmondso.

Joint Celebration Friday On Friday evening Alden Skinner Camp, Sons of Union Veterans and its auxiliary, will hold a joint celebration in G. A. R. Hall, in honor of the birthdays of Washington and Lincoln. An oyster supper will be served at 8 o'clock, followed by a Valentine social, and each one bringing is requested to bring a Valentine.

The committee in charge of the supper follows: Alden Usher, Francis LaCrosse, Mrs. Mattie Degenkobe and Mrs. Alden Usher. The entertainment is in charge of Miss Lillian Greenwood, Mrs. Alden Usher, and Mrs. Flora Stamps. Members of the Grand Army have been invited to attend the celebration.

Pastor May Return The Southern New England Conference of Methodist churches will be held in New London in April at this time the pastors are re-appointed to their present church or receive their new appointment. Mr. Osborne has been invited to remain in Rockville for another year, according to a report received following the district conference held at the church last week.

Mothers' Club Program There promises to be a goodly number of members out to the regular meeting of the Mothers' Club of Union Congregational Church which will be held in the South parlor of the church on Wednesday evening, Mrs. George Purfey, president of the club will preside.

Mrs. Martha Weedon, Superintendent of the Tolland County Temporary Home at Vernon Center, will answer questions regarding her work there, which will prove very interesting. Members interested should have their questions ready if possible.

Mrs. Weedon will leave with her some of the children from the home, who will furnish the entertainment for the evening. There will be selections by a quartet of girls, and Miss Bernice White will give the two musical readings, with Miss Marrietta Fitch as her accompanist. Raymond Cahoon will also recite. These children have exceptional talent and it is hoped there will be a large number out to hear their program and benefit by questions answered by the efficient superintendent of Tolland County Home.

Whist Thursday Night The third sitting in the whist series being conducted under the auspices of the Rockville Lodge, Loyalty Order of Moose, will be held in the Home Club rooms on Thursday evening, February 20, and the public is cordially invited to attend. Handsome prizes will be awarded and a social hour will follow. Winners at the last whist were Mrs. John Gawtry, Mrs. Emma Mead, Mrs. Nellie Jackson, Harry Leber-shesky, J. Brennan and P. Fagan.

Funeral of Eugene Neff The funeral of Eugene Neff, who died suddenly at his home at Crystal Lake on Friday morning was held from the Crystal Lake Methodist Church on Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. During the service Mrs. Arthur Moseley sang "Face to Face" and Miss Gladys Commins of Stafford Springs rendered most touching "Safe in the Arms of Jesus." Rev. Arthur Moseley of the Stafford Methodist Church officiated and paid beautiful tribute to the life of the deceased, who was loved by all who knew him.

Interment was in the family plot at Crystal Lake cemetery. The bearers were: George Ellithorpe, John Conklin, Kyle Busher, George Brigham, Michael Mantak and George Neff.

Friendly Class Supper The Friendly Class of Union Congregational Church has planned several ways to make money for the class treasury during the year and the first money-making event will take place on Saturday evening, when a public supper will be held in the church dining rooms. Many tickets have been sold and it is sure to be a complete success. Committees have been appointed as follows: Mrs. Mary Gregus, general chairman; kitchen, Mrs. Emma Mead, Mrs. Eliza Davis, Mrs. Anna Bilson, Mrs. Hattie Kingston, Mrs. Henry Schaeffer, Mrs. Annie Einsiedel, Mrs. Richard Blankenburg, Mrs. Elizabeth Gerich; dining room, Miss Margaret Schmogro, Mrs. Herbert Cockayne, Mrs. Rose O'Brien, Mrs. Robert Thompson, Mrs. William Tyler, Mrs. Nolan Wherley, Mrs. Bernard Woodley, Mrs. George Herzog, Mrs. Ella Gunther; tickets, Mrs. Otto Preusse, Miss Flora Snyder, Mrs. Gertrude Kingston; publicity, Rev. and Mrs. C. P. Redfield.

To Exchange Pulpits Rev. George S. Brooks, pastor of Union Congregational church and Rev. E. Osborne, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church will exchange pulpits. Each pastor will have a special message and it is expected there will be large congregations out to hear them.

Taken To Hospital Thomas O'Hara, son of Mrs. Julia O'Hara of Brooklyn street, was taken to the Rockville City Hospital on Monday morning. Mr. O'Hara, who was employed by the city was working on Market street, when he took a spill and fell to the ground, striking his head.

Lodgers At Police Station Due to the cold weather on Saturday and Sunday, there were six men accommodated at the local police lockup over the week-end, where there is fire and bunks for such men. The men were from Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut.

Emblem Club Social The local Emblem Club social will be held at the Elk's Home on Prospect street, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. Fannie Lavitt is chairman of the committee in charge and she will be assisted by Mrs. Rebecca Lavitt, Mrs. Sadie Lavitt, Mrs. Mason Leonard, Mrs. Fred Lippman, Mrs. Fannie Mann and Mrs. Emily Metcalf.

Notes Mrs. Pauline Weber has returned to her home on Strong avenue from several weeks' visit with relatives in Philadelphia and Atlantic City.

Mrs. Kerwin Elliott, with young daughter, has returned to her home on Talcott avenue from the Rockville City hospital.

Rev. J. F. Bauchman of Linwood, N. J., was a Rockville visitor on Monday. He was former pastor of the First Evangelical Lutheran church in this city and was cordially greeted by his many friends.

Hope Chapter, Eastern Star, will hold its regular meeting in Masonic Hall this evening at 8 o'clock. After the meeting there will be a members whist, followed by a social hour and refreshments.

The G. E. Society of Union Church will hold a moving picture benefit at the chapel of the church this evening. "Yankee Doodle," Jr., and comedies will be shown. The public is invited to attend.

The fire chiefs and commissioners played the Hook & Ladder Co. of the Rockville Fire Department last night at the Prospect street alleys.

The latter team won the three games. Walter Draycott was high man for the commissioners, A. E. Waite for the council.

FERGUSON WINS PLACE ON COLLEGE NEWSPAPER

Word has just been received that William F. Ferguson of 401 Center street, has been elected sporting editor of the Tower, the student publication of the Catholic University of Washington, D. C. This position carries with it a position on the managing board of the paper.

According to the Tower "Ferguson's fine work in the sports department under Cecil McCaffrey, retiring sports editor, made him the unanimous choice for the position. Whether it was a boxing bout, football or basketball game, Mr. Ferguson gave an unprejudiced and masterful account of the fray and never failed to accomplish a satisfactory result in all his assignments."

11 KILLED IN RIOTS

Rio Janeiro, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Eleven persons have been killed and 34 wounded in shootings at political meetings in Brazil during the last few days. The presidential campaign is nearing its climax and further disorders are expected between now and March 1, election date.

Principally the disorders have occurred at meetings of candidates in opposition to the government program. The casualty list published by the press shows one killed in Rio Grande Do Sul, one killed in the Federal district of Rio Janeiro, five killed and fourteen wounded in Montes Claros, State of Minas Geraes, and four killed and twenty wounded at Nata.

Clashes heretofore have not been of revolutionary character, being merely fights between government and opposition politicians and supporters. Feeling is said to be most intense at Minas Geraes, where it is said the opposition head, President Antonio Carlos, is fortifying the executive mansion with sandbags.

CHICAGO PAYING OFF. Chicago, Feb. 18.—(AP)—The county went ahead with its plans to pay off some of the 4,000 employees with scrip.

Protests to this plan poured in from heads of State street department stores, the Chicago and Cook county bankers' association and Silas H. Strawn, head of the Citizens Relief Committee.

The contention is that the issuance of scrip would damage Chicago's municipal credit.

ROCKVILLE

"Miami Nights" Wednesday "Miami Nights," a three-act musical comedy to be presented by "The Wheel," a local organization of older boys and young men, is sure to bring out a capacity house at the Sykes Auditorium on Wednesday evening of this week. Rehearsals have been underway for several weeks, under the direction of Leo J. Roy of Hartford, who has coached previous productions in this city.

The plot of this musical comedy is set in Miami, Florida. A confident man sells a parcel of land to the manager of a hotel and the land proves worthless. In the third act the plot is revealed and the Duchess finds out that the manager of the hotel is her son and not "Dopey" whom she first thought was her son. This play has been written especially for "The Wheel" and it contains all the latest numbers from the musical comedy revues, with special costumes and scenery, secured by Director Leroy J. Roy. Each scene will represent some well-known musical comedy star, sings a song sung by these stars.

Director Leroy J. Roy, will feature his famous "Spanish Cavalry." Miss Evelyn McCarthy, Rockville's premier dancing instructor, who is training and coaching the dancers, will have a special dance number of her own. Miss Tillie Goldfield, who has an important role in the musical comedy, will have a special song number. The soloists will be: Osmar Graupner, Harold Melvin, William Smith, Elmer Hartenstein, Miss Tillie Goldfield, Edmund Smith, Wilfred St. Louis, Mary Byrnes and Alice Schadle. There is also an excellent cast of characters and chorus groups.

Reserve seat tickets went on sale this afternoon and can be secured at the box office at the Sykes Auditorium tonight between 7 and 8 o'clock; tomorrow afternoon from 2:30 to 5 o'clock and Wednesday evening.

Card Party and Dance Card and dance lovers will be delighted to know that the Knights of Columbus of St. Bernard's Church are giving a benefit, bridge, whist and dance on Friday, February twenty-first in the Knights of Columbus and Girl Club rooms (across from the High School). Dancing will be greatly enjoyed in the Girl Club rooms. Old-fashioned, novelty and modern dances will be had to give spice and variety to the program. Ernie Rock's orchestra will furnish the music.

Bridge and whist will be played in the Knights of Columbus rooms. Handsome prizes are to be awarded for both, including men's and ladies first, second and consolation. Many of the young people are planning to make up tables of bridge. Tables for bridge can be reserved by calling up Mary Loehr's Millinery Shop.

A short entertainment will be given after the bridge and whist with St. Bernard's School orchestra featuring.

The following are acting on the various committees: Misses Helen Regan, Anna Martley, Rita Eckels, Mary Loehr, Betty Gessay, Corinne Lee, Rose Ertel, Alice Moore, Mary Sulkan, Helen Seifert, Beatrice Burns, Louise Loehr, Elizabeth Loehr, Mary McCarthy and Flora Edmondso.

Joint Celebration Friday On Friday evening Alden Skinner Camp, Sons of Union Veterans and its auxiliary, will hold a joint celebration in G. A. R. Hall, in honor of the birthdays of Washington and Lincoln. An oyster supper will be served at 8 o'clock, followed by a Valentine social, and each one bringing is requested to bring a Valentine.

The committee in charge of the supper follows: Alden Usher, Francis LaCrosse, Mrs. Mattie Degenkobe and Mrs. Alden Usher. The entertainment is in charge of Miss Lillian Greenwood, Mrs. Alden Usher, and Mrs. Flora Stamps. Members of the Grand Army have been invited to attend the celebration.

Pastor May Return The Southern New England Conference of Methodist churches will be held in New London in April at this time the pastors are re-appointed to their present church or receive their new appointment. Mr. Osborne has been invited to remain in Rockville for another year, according to a report received following the district conference held at the church last week.

Mothers' Club Program There promises to be a goodly number of members out to the regular meeting of the Mothers' Club of Union Congregational Church which will be held in the South parlor of the church on Wednesday evening, Mrs. George Purfey, president of the club will preside.

Mrs. Martha Weedon, Superintendent of the Tolland County Temporary Home at Vernon Center, will answer questions regarding her work there, which will prove very interesting. Members interested should have their questions ready if possible.

Mrs. Weedon will leave with her some of the children from the home, who will furnish the entertainment for the evening. There will be selections by a quartet of girls, and Miss Bernice White will give the two musical readings, with Miss Marrietta Fitch as her accompanist. Raymond Cahoon will also recite. These children have exceptional talent and it is hoped there will be a large number out to hear their program and benefit by questions answered by the efficient superintendent of Tolland County Home.

Whist Thursday Night The third sitting in the whist series being conducted under the auspices of the Rockville Lodge, Loyalty Order of Moose, will be held in the Home Club rooms on Thursday evening, February 20, and the public is cordially invited to attend. Handsome prizes will be awarded and a social hour will follow. Winners at the last whist were Mrs. John Gawtry, Mrs. Emma Mead, Mrs. Nellie Jackson, Harry Leber-shesky, J. Brennan and P. Fagan.

Funeral of Eugene Neff The funeral of Eugene Neff, who died suddenly at his home at Crystal Lake on Friday morning was held from the Crystal Lake Methodist Church on Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. During the service Mrs. Arthur Moseley sang "Face to Face" and Miss Gladys Commins of Stafford Springs rendered most touching "Safe in the Arms of Jesus." Rev. Arthur Moseley of the Stafford Methodist Church officiated and paid beautiful tribute to the life of the deceased, who was loved by all who knew him.

Interment was in the family plot at Crystal Lake cemetery. The bearers were: George Ellithorpe, John Conklin, Kyle Busher, George Brigham, Michael Mantak and George Neff.

Friendly Class Supper The Friendly Class of Union Congregational Church has planned several ways to make money for the class treasury during the year and the first money-making event will take place on Saturday evening, when a

DRYS DISMANTLE BROOKLYN CLUB

New York, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Deputed by a raid of its elaborate furnishings, the Bedford Nget, a popular Brooklyn cafe, was guarded by Federal prohibition agents today while its owners face confiscation of their property for failure to pay liquor tax.

Major Maurice Campbell, prohibition administrator for the New York district and United States Attorney Amel of Brooklyn, led 18 agents, brought in from Manhattan, in a raid on the cafe yesterday.

A provision of the internal revenue laws, which permits raids without search warrants and authorizes the confiscation of property including the land where intoxicants are stored or dispensed without payment of liquor tax, was invoked against the place.

Plumbers and electricians who accompanied the raiders disconnected fittings and wiring. Photographs of the place and the proceedings were backed up to the door and the furnishings, including a 50-foot bar, leather-upholstered lounges and other equipment were carted away to a government warehouse.

Three men were arrested on charges of selling and possessing liquor. Several weeks ago two waiters were arrested in the place on similar charges.

JAPS FLOCKING TO BRAZIL NOW

Hundreds Reach Rio Each Month—Few Bachelors Among the Immigrants.

Rio De Janeiro.—(AP)—With hundreds of Japanese reaching Brazil each month, their influence on the future of Brazilian race is interesting immigration and other authorities.

This is because in the past, Brazil has been a real melting pot where there are white and Indian, white and negro, and negro and Indian crosses in the 40,000,000 population, and because the Japanese do not intermarry to any extent with other races.

The steamship lines run direct from Japan and each of these vessels has accommodation for from 600 to more than 1,000 steerage passengers. Recently there arrived here the Buenos Aires Maru, the newest motorship of one of the Japanese companies, whose steerage accommodations of 1,000 have been booked for several voyages.

In the past the majority of the Japanese have been settling in the state of Sao Paulo, but at present there are two Japanese colonization projects in the Amazon valley, one in the state of Para and the other on the Tapajós near the Ford concession.

GREAT BRITAIN'S JAILS ARE DISAPPEARING FAST

London, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Britain's criminals are one class which seems to be traveling on the road which leads to gradual extinction.

While the criminal "dole," as the prison appropriation might be termed is decreasing the government today finds itself embarrassed by too many prisons and military barracks.

Midstone jail, which is to be closed shortly, is the twenty-seventh institution of its kind to disappear since 1914. Since that year—the prison population of the United Kingdom has declined by 70 per cent.

The surplus of military arises partly from reduction of the military forces and partly because the plan of army organization today calls for the concentration of troops in definite training areas rather than their housing in different parts of the country.

The great Sheffield barracks will ever be occupied again, that is, unless there should arise emergency conditions. The suggestion has been made in Parliament that London's two principal prisons—Wandsworth and Pentonville—should be razed and housing areas for the working class substituted.

Washington, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Fifteen persons, among them prominent labor leaders, were arrested here over the week end and sent under heavy guard to Mexico City in connection with the shooting of President Ortiz Rubio on his inauguration day.

Queer Twists In Day's News

New York—The National Automobile Chamber of Commerce announces that manufacturers plan to spend $15,000,000 this year to junk 440,000 old cars.

Ottawa—It should be known as the Kingdom of Canada, in the opinion of John S. Ewart, K. C., a constitutional authority. Canada is an independent sovereign state, he told the University Club, "Empire" and "Commonwealth of Nations" as applied to the aggregate British peoples he regards as inaccurate.

Uncle Sam's Planting Pointers

SPRING SPRAYING Bureau of Entomology, U. S. Department of Agriculture. Spraying for certain insects during the dormant period of plants is particularly successful.

One reason is that stronger spray materials can be used at this time with a minimum of injury to the plant. Another is that in the case of deciduous trees and shrubs (those which lose their leaves in the fall) a better, more thorough application of the spray material can be obtained.

This we find early spring spraying of great value against scale insects and also quite effective against some aphids or plant lice and some spider mites. Scale insects are small, sucking insects that adhere closely to the bark and sometimes to the leaves. Frequently they are covered with a small protective shield or scale.

Aphids are small, pear-shaped to globular soft-bodied sucking insects that cluster on the new growth and leaves of plants. They are usually easily killed during the active season with contact sprays, but trees are hard to spray all over when in full leaf.

Spider mites are minute spider-like animals that feed by sucking juices from the softer parts of plants—usually the leaves. Infestation by spider mites is almost always accompanied by paling or pale speckling of the foliage and frequently by web-making.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JUDITH CAMERON, New York typist, marries ARTHUR KNIGHT, executive of the publishing house in which she is employed. Knight is a widower with a daughter, TONY, 18 and a son JUNIOR, 16. When Junior returns from Paris she denounces Judith as a gold digger. Her father makes her apologize. When Junior comes home for Christmas holidays he is equally unfriendly.

ANDY CRAIG, a young man whom Knight has aided, takes a position with the publishing house. He is in love with Tony and calls on her frequently. Tony tries to convince her father that Judith and Andy are carrying on an affair. She tricks the pair into a compromising situation.

Tony is carrying on a flirtation with MICKIE MORTIMER, wealthy and married. This is revealed when they are arrested at 3 a. m. for reckless driving. Tony and her father quarrel over this but finally the girl is forgiven. Knight contracts pneumonia and is dangerously ill for a long while. Junior comes home and before he leaves he admits to Judith he has misjudged her.

A letter for Judith arrives at the house and Tony takes it. Later she follows Judith on a trip into the city and sees her meet a young man. Tony reaches home before Judith.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXVIII

There came the sound of a car in the driveway.

Arthur Knight, Tony and Judith were all in the living room—Arthur and Tony sitting on the davenport, with the motor glowing in the lamp shooting highlights into the girl's dark curls. Judith, at the coffee table, was pouring the fragrant beverage into three fragile cups.

She set down the silver coffee pot. "Who's coming?" she asked. "I didn't know anyone was expected. I hate to be seen this way—"

Judith was still in the simple black frock she had worn during the afternoon. There had been no time to change before dinner. She had not even glanced into a mirror since entering the house. The contrast between her somber costume and Tony's frivolous chiffon was all in the younger girl's favor.

Arthur Knight frowned. "I wasn't expecting anyone to-night," he said.

Tony had jumped to her feet. "I'll find out who it is!" she said. "Maybe Mr. Hunter's come again." The senior member of the firm of Hunter Brothers and several other of Knight's business associates had paid him brief visits. Arthur Knight was weak still. The slightest unexpected happening disturbed him. As Tony bounded out of the room his eyes followed her anxiously. Judith said nothing but looked troubled.

"Why—it's Bert!" shrieked Tony from the hall window. "He's driving around to the garage."

"Bert?" Judith and Arthur joined in the exclamation, but Judith's cry was faint and startled while her husband's was stern.

"I don't understand why he's had the car out," Arthur asked. "Did you send him anywhere, Judith?"

She shook her head negatively. Under the long-fringed lashes it was difficult to read the expression in the girl's eyes. Judith had continued pouring the coffee. Now she took a cup to Knight and waited for him to add the sugar.

Tony was back in the room. She helped herself to coffee and bore the cup to the davenport. Once more she curled up beside her father.

"You ought not to allow Bert to drive around just wherever he pleases," she told Knight in a voice that was coolly sweet. "You're spoiling him darling."

"What I want to know is where he's been."

Arthur Knight's tone showed impatience. He would have continued but at that moment Harriet appeared.

"Bert's in the kitchen, ma'am," she said, addressing Judith. "He'd like to know if he could speak to you for a minute."

"Certainly," Judith said, arising. "I'll come out at once."

Arthur stopped her. "Send Bert in here," he said to the maid. "I want to hear this!"

"But, dear—do you think it's best? You know Dr. Shephard said you're not to be disturbed."

"Tell Bert to come in," Knight insisted.

A minute later the chauffeur entered the room. He was still holding his cap and looked embarrassed.

"Good evening, ma'am. Good evening, Mr. Knight. I'm sorry but I had a little trouble this evening."

"Where've you been?"

"Why, in the city. I drove Mr. Knight and Miss Tony in at four o'clock—"

"You mean you're just getting back from that trip now?" Knight's voice was incredulous.

"Yes sir. I was just getting out of the city, driving slow, when two young fellows in a roadster smashed right into the front wheel. They were coming around the corner, doing about 40 miles an hour. It gave the fender a pretty bad bend. Wheels locked and it was nearly half an hour before we got the roadster off. There were witnesses and it was plain the boys were to blame but I had to drive to the police station. They tried to make out it was my fault. I'm to go in again Tuesday. Those boys should be made to pay for what they've done to the car."

"But—see here! What're you talking about? Mrs. Knight's been home more than an hour. Didn't she come with you?"

Now it was the chauffeur who seemed surprised.

"No, sir. I left Mrs. Knight at Times Square."

"I see. Very well. Come in again in the morning, Bert. We'll see then what has to be done about the car."

"Yes, sir. There are two witnesses

I know I'll swear it was all the boys' fault."

"That's good. We'll talk it all over in the morning," said Bert. Judith was dismissed and left the room.

Reclining luxuriously among the cushions Tony Knight took in the scene. There was no pity in her eyes, as she watched her father face Judith accusingly.

"So you didn't come home with Bert?"

While the chauffeur had been speaking Judith's face had paled. Now her glance and her eyes were steady as she answered. "No, I didn't come home with him."

Knight's lips moved. He was about to speak but evidently changed his mind before the words came. He turned his head so that neither of them saw his face.

Tony saw Judith Knight's eyes close for one brief instant. When they opened again there was piteous appeal in their blue depths. Every trace of defiance was gone. "I dismissed Bert because I didn't know how long—my errands would take. It was silly, I guess."

She tried to laugh lightly but the attempt was not successful.

"Not at all! Of course if you'd mentioned the fact I shouldn't have had the embarrassment of questioning the chauffeur about my wife's affairs—"

"I'm sorry, Arthur."

"Quite all right. Don't mention it."

The fright and unsettled atmosphere continued through the evening. Judith, at the far side of the room devoted herself ostensibly to a book. Tony and her father played at cribbage.

At nine o'clock Judith said she was tired and sought her room. She heard the others on the stairs half an hour later but did not see either of them again that night.

Judith lay in bed for a long while in the darkness before slumber came. If she had guessed Tony Knight's plans for the next 24 hours she would not have slept at all.

At two o'clock next afternoon Kathryn Tupper arrived at Knight's suburban home bearing her leather brief case, stuffed with letters and legal documents. Judith, lingering about the door of her husband's home office, watched the pair set down for an afternoon of work. It was surprising how Arthur Knight's brow would clear and the worried, harassed lines disappear from his face as he tackled a really difficult business problem.

"Oh, there you are. I've been looking for you, Judith."

Tony's scarlet figure was framed by the doorway.

"I've got the roadster back," she went on gaily. "Works like perfect now. Come on, I'd like to take you for a spin!"

Judith shook her head.

"No," she said. "I don't think I should go, really. Thanks a lot—"

"But why not?"

"Well, there are several things I ought to do this afternoon."

"Both what you ought to do? Come on. You know perfectly well there isn't a thing about this house Mrs. Wheeler can't take care of. Please come and see what a sweet little car it is, now it's had its insides repaired!"

An attractive young thing like Tony Knight had not seen wheedling her way through life for 18 years without knowing exactly how to get her own way when she chose. Surprised, Judith found herself acquiescing.

"But I can't be gone long," she insisted as she stepped into the car. "Really I must be back in two hours. Really I must be back in three-quarters of an hour."

"Plenty of time!" Tony answered carelessly. "Plenty of time!"

Just where they drove Judith was not familiar enough with the territory around to know. Tony struck out for open country and within 15 minutes the buff roadster was purring along a paved road with bare fields on either side.

This was odd but it was more surprising still when Tony pressed one foot on the brake and the roadster obediently halted.

"Trouble?" asked Judith.

The other girl laughed shortly. She turned toward Judith and there was no gaiety about Tony Knight's expression now.

"Yes, trouble," she agreed grimly. "but not with the car! I thought it might be better for you and me to talk over a few matters before we took them up with father."

"I don't know what you mean!"

"No. I guess you don't—yet. It was too bad, wasn't it, that Bert had to spill the beans last night about bringing the car home late? I imagine father was rather upset about that. I wonder what he'd say if he knew the real truth?"

"But I don't understand—you haven't any right—"

"Oh, I haven't, haven't I? I've got something more important than rights. I've got the facts! Do you imagine I don't know how you've been sneaking into town these past few weeks and where you've been going? Think I couldn't name a certain address on West Twelfth and tell the young man who lives there? I know more than that!"

"Oh!" moaned Judith Knight.

"Please—oh, Tony!"

"Yes, I know more than that. A lot more! The younger girl went on mercilessly. I've known it all along, but this thing yesterday—well, that was just a little too raw!"

Judith Knight's face was very white. For a moment she stared at Tony, uncomprehending. Then a terrified, incoherent cry escaped her lips.

"You couldn't!" Judith meant.

"Oh, you wouldn't tell him. Promise you won't do that!"

With a sneering laugh Tony Knight interrupted.

"I wouldn't, wouldn't I? Well, I'd like to know why not. Of course I'm going to tell father every word of it. It's about time he knew the truth about you! Your game was clever, I'll admit, while it lasted but it's over now. You'd better go back to your Dan!"

Suddenly Judith's face raised and she eyed her taunting companion squarely.

"Tell me," she said tensely, "what you're going to tell your father about me."

"Wouldn't you like to know though?" jeered Tony. "But you won't find out. First I'll ask you to tell me what you're going to do about it."

"I'll do anything!"

"You mean if I don't tell?"

Judith nodded her head affirmatively.

"I promise," she whispered brokenly. "I promise that if you won't tell I'll do ANYTHING you say!"

Tony considered this.

"I won't tell him," she said firmly. "If you'll leave the house to-night."

NEED LESS SPECIALISTS

Chicago, Feb. 18. (AP)—Patients who diagnose their own ailments and then shop around for specialists are partly responsible for the unnecessarily high cost of medical care. Dr. W. C. Rappleye of New Haven said today in an address before the American Medical Society.

He said that studies show that approximately 85 percent of all illness can be treated by physicians without the assistance of specialists. Distribution of medical service to the entire population at a reasonable cost he said, is the greatest problem before the profession. He pointed out that the difficulty is that the present concentration of your graduates and specialists in cities. In time he said this will be solved by hospital centers and home nursing.

AFTERNOON FROCK FEATURES DIPPING HEM

The dipping hem is a new feature in the afternoon frock. It is a simple, yet effective, way of adding length and grace to the garment. The hem is dipped at the ends, creating a soft, flowing line that is both elegant and practical. This style is perfect for the sophisticated woman who values both fashion and comfort.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years, and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative safe and pleasant.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them. 15c, 30c, 60c.

COSMETIC TRADE RECALLS EARLY DAYS OF PATENT MEDICINES

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

From the dawn of history women have used cosmetics. When the archeologists excavated the tomb of Queen Shubad of Ur, who lived about six thousand years ago in Egypt, they found a number of receptacles which contained cosmetics. These had been buried with the queen that she might have her favorite preparations available in the hereafter.

From that time until the present the point of view of the public toward cosmetics has changed greatly. They began apparently with the highest, passed through a period when they were affected only by the demimonde and are today used by both high and low in every stratum of society.

In a survey of the subject H. Stanley Redgrove notes that the point of view has changed and that the chemistry of cosmetics has advanced greatly. Moreover there has been developing an art of cosmetic application. Far too frequently cosmetics are used to make the female countenance hideous rather than to bring out the finer beauties.

Among the earliest of cosmetics was cold cream, apparently discovered by Claudius Galen, who lived just after the beginning of the Christian era. Originally cold cream was made from almond oil, beeswax, spermaceti and rose water.

Today there are various formulas for cold cream, but in most of them borax or lanoline is used as the emulsifying agent and liquid paraffin has taken the place of the almond oil. The spermaceti is usually omitted and modern cold creams do not become rancid.

Furthermore, various perfumes are used to modify the cold cream. It is doubtful that cold cream can do much more than to make the skin flexible and to protect it against wind and weather.

One of the most remarkable aspects of the cosmetic industry is

YOUR CHILDREN

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

© 1930 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

There are two diametrically opposed doctrines in regard to child training.

I do not wonder that the modern mother holds up her hands and cries, "What am I to do? First I am told that 'habit is everything.' Habit means self-control, discipline, restriction. Next I am told that restriction and suppression are the worst things we can practice on the children. If we do that they will be abnormal in something or other later on; if we want them to develop fully and naturally, we will give them liberty now."

That states the case exactly. Specialists spend chapters telling us that children should be allowed to carry every impulse to a natural conclusion, then we turn a page to read that obedience should be taught from birth. That a baby an hour old is an hour behind time in his training schedule if the idea of obedience is not kept in the minds of his caretakers. Dear! Dear! What are we to do?

Words of Comfort

I heard one woman comfort another with this remark: "You're young yet. Don't worry. As you go along, these problems will smooth themselves out. Time takes care of everything."

Well—I hope her prediction comes true. I have not been so fortunate. For I have been training children for a good many years, my own and those of other people, and to this minute I have never been able to reconcile those two theories to my own satisfaction.

Like so many other mothers, I've come to the cross roads almost daily. Something happens, something in which I want to allow the children full liberty, and yet the still, small voice of either old-fashioned sense or common sense whispers, "Don't permit it. You know best. They can't judge for themselves as well as you can judge for them. Put your foot down this time; let them feel that your hand is still on the rein."

"Yes, but will they mature? Will they ever grow up?" another voice asks. "If you keep pulling in, will they ever learn self-restraint and decision? And besides, won't they be unhappy and develop slants or complexes?"

It's a Problem

What is to be done?

Probably, like so many things nowadays, the safe and sane middle way is best. Let the children know that they must be obedient and give them a very good idea of things you don't want them to do and then loosen the rein. Expert guidance quietly done can accomplish wonders. We don't need to pull up too often.

I never believed in unquestioning obedience, but I do think that the word "must" should be clear and understood in every family. Once understood, it largely takes care of itself.

Children will unconsciously fall into the habit of obedience, I think, and then loosen the rein. If they see reason in our laws, if they see reason in every family, once understood, it largely takes care of itself.

Children will unconsciously fall into the habit of obedience, I think, and then loosen the rein. If they see reason in our laws, if they see reason in every family, once understood, it largely takes care of itself.

THE WOMAN'S DAY

A man discussing the type of woman he wanted as a combination secretary and office manager. "I want a gracious person," he said. "Somehow, efficient women seem to lack that quality. They are so intent on weighty problems of their own, they give only part of their attention to people who make demands on them."

His business, he went on to explain, was one where contacts were most important, and his clients had to be handled with tact.

"I don't care whether she is a good stenographer or not," he said, magnificently, "because I can hire plenty of efficient typists. I don't care whether she knows so much about the intricacies of my business or not, because I can hire men to attend to those."

"I want a woman with social charm and ease, who will treat my clients like a thoughtful hostess. I want her to have poise to interest men, but not flirt with them. I want her well dressed, but not flashy. I want her to be intelligent on books, and current events. I want her to be sympathetic if people tell her their problems. I want her to be able to be diplomatic so that she can get along with all types of people. I think I am not asking so much, and yet I can't find anyone who fills the bill. Don't you think there are lots of such women wanting jobs?"

After I thought the matter over, I told him I did not think there were many such women looking for jobs—they wouldn't have to. And I told him I thought he was asking for a lot.

He doesn't require much technical training, but he asks the social and human qualities that centuries of breeding and cultivation have developed. I should think he might well pass up stenography, and book-keeping, too, if he could get all his other specifications included.

He did not say just what he was willing to pay his ideal secretary, but I think he would have considered $50 or $75 a week quite handsome.

I think he was right, however, in observing that the market is not overstocked with graciousness. Efficiency has banished it.

It isn't efficient to spend your time on others. In offices, you do see today remarkably capable looking women who have executive ability, who can do things thoroughly well. But you don't feel like wasting these women's time. You don't feel like telling them all your troubles. You don't feel like being your careless, inefficient self before them.

What he asks requires time. It takes time to be gracious, to be unselfish, to be conversant about the arts and to be well dressed. It takes not only time now, but a background of leisure.

The girl of today who has hustled through school, into business college, and pushed her way up, as she so often has, in the world, has not had the time to acquire these very desirable qualities. She has had to make her time count in a productive way.

In our scramble to get ahead, and to be practical at all costs, we have driven out graciousness. And rarity has given it a high value.

COLUMBIA

The 4-H Club held a Valentine party Friday evening at the hall, the Boy Scout Troop also being present as invited guests. Games were played and refreshments served. Mrs. Welch and Mrs. LaBonte were the Chaperones. The regular Boy Scout meeting, which was to have been held Thursday evening, was omitted on account of the heavy rain.

Miss Anne Dix entertained some of her friends Friday afternoon with a whist party, three tables being in play. First prize was won by Mrs. Ruth Jacobs, second by Mrs. W. H. Carpenter, and the Consolation Prize was won by Mrs. Percy Carver and Mrs. John Mitchell. Mrs. Mitchell finally drawing the prize. Ice cream and cake were served by the hostess, and a beautiful rose bud given to each lady on leaving.

There was a fruit growers meeting held in the upper hall Friday evening, under the auspices of the Tolland County Farm Bureau, with County Agent Tucker in charge. There were about 20 present.

Mrs. Emma Falor and little daughter of Montclair, N. J., are guests at the home of Mrs. Falor's sister, Miss Anne Dix.

A light snow Saturday night was followed by a howling wind and zero temperatures by morning, with the snow piled in drifts. The attendance at church was small on account of the weather, and the S S session omitted as small children were conspicuous by their absence. The opening exercises of the S S were to have been in charge of the Primary Class and weather permitting the programme will be carried out next week.

Mrs. Howard Rice has been suffering from a bad felon on her finger.

A number of local people are suffering from hard colds.

At the meeting of the local Grange next Wednesday evening, the first and second degrees will be conferred on a class of candidates.

Why Folks Stay Fat

Not always because of over-eating, but because a gland is weak. That gland largely controls nutrition. When it is weak one may nearly starve, yet stay fat.

Modern physicians the world over now combat this great cause of obesity. And excess fat in late years, has been disappearing fast.

Marmola prescription tablets contain the chief factors which they use. People have used them for 22 years—millions of boxes of them. And countless slender figures everywhere now show the amazing effects.

Go try this right method to reduce. Stop straining. Read the book in the box with the formula and reasons. Ask your druggist today for a $1 box of Marmola and watch the change.

YOU sometimes hear that some other loaf is "as good as Bond Bread." When people want to speak in the highest terms of anything, they say that "it is as good as gold." Of course, it is not as good as gold unless it is gold, and no bread can be as good as Bond Bread unless it is Bond Bread.

M. H. S. HOCKEY TEAM IS TROUNCED

Proves No Match for West Hartford Puck Chasers in Return Battle.

Yesterday wasn't Friday the 13th or anything like that but it nevertheless was an unlucky day for Manchester High's hockey team which took a 13 to 0 shellacking in a hockey match at West Hartford.

Bill Morrissey drove the puck into the cage six times for the winners and he was closely followed by Phelps who sent the rubber disk home four times.

The defeat was the third for the locals who had previously bowed to Meriden and West Hartford in hard fought struggles.

TAFFYS DEFEATED AGAIN, 27 TO 24

Phantoms Perform "The Impossible" This Time; Ramblers Win, 21-20.

The Taffys met their second straight defeat in the Rec Junior league Saturday night by a score of 27 to 24 at the hands of the Phantoms.

The Ramblers nosed out the Original Taffys 21 to 20 chiefly due to Jolly's fine work.

WHERE ARE YOU, GIRLS? Women's interest in the sports pages is likely to perk up shortly.

The reason is stepping Stella Walsh, the 19-year-old Cleveland girl to whom no day is quite complete that doesn't see a new world record in some sort of a sprint.

We are going to hear a great deal of this startling miss between now and the 1932 Olympic games in Los Angeles.

Like Lot's Wife. In the field at Philadelphia were Dallas Creamer, Canadian girl champion, and Olive Krueger of Chattanooga, the star of the south.

At the finish of Stella's record breaking 28.45 in the 220, Dallas Creamer broke into tears.

"It wasn't so bad that she beat us," said Miss Creamer. "But did you see her turn around half way down the track to see where we were?"

Stella fell prey to the same curiosity that undid Lot's girl friend. She clipped two full seconds off the world record even if she did turn around. Wonder what Stella would do if she could keep her mind on the race?

Aneut the Dolomites. In the scurry for names to hang upon the Carnera, the boys have evolved the monicker, "the Dolomites" for the Dolomites.

We asked the man who writes an occasional scientific article about these "Dolomites." He told us he thought it referred to a sea area off the coast of Africa where there were no winds.

As the last resort we conferred with Noah's bevy of words. Mr. Webster knew what the Dolomites were all right. They are mountains in the Tyrol. Mr. Carnera and a couple of other glaciars were raised there. Well, well!

CUBS PICK FOLEY FOR GRID MENTOR

Official Confirmation Lacking But Hartford Man Is Introduced as New Coach At Legion Banquet.

Apparently James "Shrimp" Foley, well known Hartford gridiron warrior, is to be the next coach of the town champion Cubs football aggregation.

Foley was introduced by Town Treasurer George H. Waddell as the new coach of the Cubs at the annual American Legion banquet held at Roxy's Inn at Woodland.

The popular ex-Hartford Public High and Syracuse University gridiron sensation who has also played considerable professional football with the Hartford Giants last year, made a plea for the support of the fans at the games. More than one hundred persons were present.

The announcement that Foley is to be the new coach of the Cubs succeeding Tom Kelley, local high school mentor who resigned at the completion of the 1929 season comes as somewhat of a surprise.

It has been known for some time, however, that the Cubs had under consideration Harry Herbert, Johnny Smith and other ex-college stars with the view in mind of obtaining a playing-coach.

Nevertheless, where there is smokefire also exists. It isn't the custom for a fellow to admit that he has been engaged as coach and get up and make a speech before such an organization unless there is something pretty binding.

Running the 5,000 metre for the first time and taking part in a long run for the second time in three days, Joe McCluskey, local athlete, was able to place no better than third last night in the big track and field meet at Madison Square Garden in New York.

Stenislav Petkiewicz, hard-running invader from Poland, beat two young American rivals, Paul Revers of Penn State College and Joe McCluskey, sensational Fordham freshman, with a great closing sprint in a 5,000 meter race.

CARNERA HAS KAYOED HALF DOZEN PALOOKAS

Puts Another Ham to Sleep Out in Chicago Last Night In Two Rounds.

Oklahoma City, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Primo Carnera, the biggest boxer of them all, crawled out of his sixth American boxing ring here last night with another two-round knockout victory dangling from his belt.

Behind him, wondering what it was all about, he left John O. "Mountain" Erickson, big Chicago Swede, a victim after one minute and 45 seconds of the second round, of what was to have been a ten-round bout had elapsed.

SIX IN A ROW New York, Feb. 18.—(AP)—All of Primo Carnera's hat dozen fights in this country have ended in knockouts, briefly this is the way the Italian giant has bowled them over:

BATTLE OF PALMS RECEIPTS ALREADY ASSURE A SUCCESS

Over $175,000 In Hand and $350,000 Expected; Same Old Setting But New Cast.

By ALAN GOULD. Miami, Fla., Feb. 18.—(AP)—It's the same old moon, the same old palms and the same arena, with improvements and a new location, but it is a different show, with new words and music for the second annual battle of Miami.

A good deal of the melodrama of 1929 is missing, Tex Rickard is just a memory now and so are most of his time-honored methods.

Individual figure is cutting the glamorous figure that Jack Dempsey did in putting over last year's winter heavyweight carnival. In short, the fantasy and novelty that preceded the Sharkey-Stribling fight is completely absent.

It is strictly a fight show and a business proposition this winter minus sentimental appeal. It is a bigger show, from the standpoint of actual tonnage displacement of the participants.

Whether it is a better show from a comparative angle remains to be determined by actual events in the ring. The promotion board of directors, headed by Frank J. Bruen, and William F. Cayo, thinks it will be, based on the idea that if Jack Sharkey and Phil Scott do not furnish any excitement in the main bout, Johnny Risko and Victor Compolo, the semi-final combatants will.

Financially the venture is already "off the nut" the experts say, translation of which is that sufficient "gate" already is in hand to assure a profit. The advance sale was around $175,000 today, not quite up to last year's mark with nine days to go before the ring fest February 27, but enough to warrant the prediction that the receipts will reach $350,000. Last winter the total was slightly in excess of $400,000.

The estimate is that the show will cost $150,000 to stage but this depends on the aggregate, inasmuch as Sharkey and Scott both are working on a percentage basis. The "Madison Square Garden Stadium" located on the outskirts of Miami, has been reconstructed with an increase in the seating capacity from 30,000 to 50,000.

NEW ORLEANS—Young Stribling, Mason, knocked out Joe Packo, Toledo, 8. Oklahoma City—Primo Carnera, Italy, knocked out John O. Erickson, Chicago, 2.

Newark—Herb Folins, Newark, won on foul from Ray Miller, Chicago, 8. New York—Don Volante, England, outpointed Harry Carleton, Jersey City, 10.

Art of Homemaking Growing In Interest

Mrs. Katherine Delaney, Herald Cooking School Instructor, Says It Has Now Become Field of Enterprise.

With science throwing its potent forces into the fields of food search and with industry speeding up production of time-saving utensils for the benefit of housewives, American women today are doing an about face back to the home movement, according to the nation's leading home economists.

Through a quiet but definite revolution in women's interests, the "little grey home in the west" and in the east is coming back into its own as the center of feminine endeavors.

Mrs. Anna Steese Richardson, veteran observer and writer of women's achievements, together with other nationally known experts, recently confirmed the fact that this new movement is a nationwide survey to prove this contention.

And now comes a prominent authority on home economics, Mrs. Katherine Delaney to add another important voice to the corps of leaders by asserting that the art of home-making is one which is constantly growing in interest.

Housekeeping, she declares, is expanding into the fields of adventure—some enterprise to the extent that the kitchen is rapidly becoming the laboratory of the nation.

Mrs. Delaney points out that it is no indication of the trend of the times so far as family status is concerned, that women are engaging in business enterprises in greater numbers than heretofore. It indicates, she believes, that women are more free because housework is daily being made less and less of a drudgery to those who are willing to learn in the various schools that are constantly being offered to the housewives of the nation.

The cooking and homemaking school which is about to open here is to be conducted along the same modern lines that the most advanced schools of the nation are so successfully pursuing. This is assured by Mrs. Delaney's record, the many schools she has organized throughout the states, together with the welcome with which her lectures have been received.

"The talk of some of the masculine effect that modern woman is no longer a home-loving person is certainly an unfounded opinion," declares Mrs. Delaney. "They think just because more women are voting, working in clubs, entering professions and industrial enterprises that they have lost touch with their firesides.

"How untrue these assertions are can be understood readily when it is considered that women no longer cook in fireplaces. They do not have to spend whole days carrying water back and forth to do a family washing, nor an entire hot day over a stove to do the family ironing. A modern housewife is just as likely to equip her home with oil lamps as a business man is likely to drive a pair of oxen to his office. And do not think this comparison is far-fetched for oxen are no more antiquated than the lamp. Both belong to a period before electric fans, vacuum cleaners and other modern devices which have been put at women's disposal.

"Most of the credit for this re-awakening of interest in home-life must be given to scientists in several fields of endeavor. The electrical engineer has been of material aid along with the doctor, chemist, and home economics research workers in our great universities. Even the architect and the housebuilder have contributed a large share in aiding the feminine side of the family by making her work rooms light and conveniently arranged.

"But it must not be overlooked that the greatest factor in this epoch-making movement back to the home is woman herself." Mrs. Delaney assuredly asserts. "It is when there are offered to them simpler new ways of cooking, washing dishes and planning meals. Woman is, after all, the burden bearer of the family's home responsibilities. So it is only natural that when she sees that through the adoption of modern methods and equipment in her home she may have an opportunity similar to her husband's of enlarging her activities and thus become a better mother and companion, that she seizes the opportunity."

As she discussed woman's re-

HID HIS ASSETS, IS FINED $1,500

Hartford, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Isadore Doff of New Haven charged on three counts with violation of the bankruptcy act was fined $1,500 by Judge E. Burrows in the United States District Court here today. In presenting the accused, assistant United States District Attorney George H. Cohen stated that Doff had twice concealed assets.

Anthony Scricca of Waterbury, who some weeks ago pleaded not guilty to a counterfeiting charge had his case continued until February 25. George Pandajis of New Haven, who entered a similar plea at the time his case set down for the same date. The case of William G. Ohlsen of Waterbury, implicated with the others on a like charge will be heard on February 25.

A motion to set aside the verdict of the court in the case of Russell R. Fitzmaurice of New Haven was denied by Judge Burrows. Fitzmaurice was fined $400 and given thirty days in jail on February 4 when he pleaded not guilty to the charge of maintaining a nuisance in the rear of a building at 103 Temple street. He was represented by Attorney Samuel M. Silver.

Upon the recommendation of Assistant United States District Attorney John A. Dana here for the government, the case of Nellie Green Talmadge, proprietor of the Talmadge Inn at Short Beach was continued for trial. Mrs. Talmadge is charged with maintaining a nuisance.

WOMAN DIES IN FIRE.

Springfield, Mass., Feb. 18.—(AP)—Mrs. James H. Teban is dead and her husband, a cripple, is in a serious condition as the result of being overcome in a fire which swept their home this morning. Other women tenants were carried down a ladder and a second was burned on her arms.

Several firemen also were overcome by smoke. Mrs. Teban, unconscious when taken down a ladder was dead when she reached a hospital. Her husband, carried to safety by firemen, is in a critical condition in Mercy hospital.

The fire is believed to have been caused by an overheated furnace.

Coast Swimming Coach

Is Painter, Sculptor

Los Angeles—(AP)—To the realm of sports, Fred Cady is only the coach of some of the world's foremost divers, but when he leaves his duties as swimming instructor of the Los Angeles Athletic club behind, he steps into the world of art as a painter and sculptor.

While Cady's bid to fame rests in the prowess of his three national champions, Georgia Coleman and the Riley brothers, Mickey and Johnny, critics who have visited his private studio say that his work with paint and brush has brought this avocation into a close second place.

Strangely, Cady attempts no paintings of aquatic stars, although he has made some of them the subject of his sculpturing. Seven of the eight national indoor and outdoor championships are in the possession of his pupils.

The Jolly Dozen Sewing Club will meet tonight at the home of Mrs. Gess, 104 West street.

The 18th annual meeting of the Hartford District of the New England Conference will open at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the Swedish Lutheran Church. The sessions will close tomorrow evening with a meeting at the same hour.

The Manchester Rod and Gun Club are planning a shoot Saturday afternoon, Washington's Birthday, at the Rainbow Inn traps. Members are asked to get in touch with the club's officers in anticipation of the coming event.

John McConville of Keeney street entertained with Irish songs and William Warnock played piano solos following the regular meeting of Manchester Lodge, No. 1477, Loyal Order of Moose at the Home Club on Brainard Place last night. Refreshments were served and such a good time was enjoyed it has been decided to hold similar social hours after every meeting.

Pedestrians on Center street this morning from Knox to Edgerton streets were treated to shower baths of snow, water and mud with plenty of force back of it. The double-tired trucks were the worst offenders, spraying the entire width of the sidewalk on the long coast. Somehow these trucks like to hug the curbs on days like this.
