TAFT STILL SAME

Washington, March 6.—(AP)—No change in the condition of William Howard Taft was noted today by his physicians.

The official bulletin issued by Drs. Francis R. Hagner and Thomas A. Clayton shortly before noon said: "There has been no change in the condition of the former chief justice since yesterday. He is comfortable and continues to take his nourishment."

The doctors were at the Taft home for only a short period today, curtailing by almost half the customary length of their morning visit. Attendants said Mr. Taft had spent a restful night and had lost none of the improvement which the doctors said he has made in the last few days.

He continues to recognize those about him and to murmur briefly to visitors in his room.

the very submarine warfare which afterward led the United States into the war and probably contributed greatly to Germany's eventual defeat. Wilhelm was for a less vigorous submarine offensive than von Tirpitz.

In his last years at a small villa on Starbeger Lake, Admiral von Tirpitz liked nothing better than the company of a few genial companions; his guests came from all the world. He was father of two sons and two daughters, born of his happy marriage with Marie Lipke.

At the peak of his career he is said to have known the name, history, and fighting capacity of every warship in the world. He was one of the best fencers and sharpshooters in the imperial service. In his latter days he was fond of hiking.

He was rather inclined to view Germany's future pessimistically and consequently preferred never to discuss his country's political development. When the stupendous progress of Germany within the last decade was pointed out to him, he would waive all further discussion with the remark:

"MISS FEARLESS & CO." FINELY PRESENTED

Able Cast of Women Gives Three Act Comedy Last Night in Cheney Hall.

"Miss Fearless and Company," the three-act comedy by Belle Marshall Locke, with an all-woman cast, entertained an audience that comfortably filled Cheney hall last evening for more than two hours.

The play was given by Center Church Women's Federation, under the direction of a committee of women. Mrs. Emma L. Nettleton was chairman of arrangements and coach for the cast. Every one of the players acted with credit to themselves and their director, and the smooth performance showed that intensive work has been put on memorizing and rehearsing during the few weeks of preparation.

In the first act the stage was set for an up-to-date living room furnished in good taste and in the other two acts, the living room was that of a summer cottage with hour glass chairs and furniture of a light character replacing the overfurnished pieces used in the interior scene of the first act.

POLAND CUTS HER DEBT TO LOWEST FIGURE IN WORLD

Warsaw.—(AP)—Poland's complicated financial accounts with other countries have finally been settled through direct agreements with individual countries and by the acceptance of the Young plan. As a result her indebtedness per capita is now the lowest in the world.

The complexity of the financial situation arose from the fact that Poland was given help by the allied powers during the war, and from the fact that reborn Poland includes provinces belonging in previous days to three countries, two of which fought against the allies.

The burden of more than a billion dollars resulting from stipulations in the treaties of Versailles and Trianon that Poland pay for such national assets as government buildings, railways, and telegraphs, has been erased by the Young plan.

The "liquidation treaty," signed between Germany and Poland last October, providing for mutual cancellation of all claims arising from the war and from the transfer of Pomerania, Silesia, and the Polish Corridor to Poland by Germany has cleared up liabilities in this field.

An agreement between Poland and Austria made at the recent Hague conference relieved Poland of financial responsibility in that direction, and provided that Poland give up all her claims in return for certain economic advantages.

The debts resulting from the relief work of England, France, Denmark, Holland, Norway, Sweden, and Switzerland, during Poland's rehabilitation, were founded in December, 1924.

DAILY LENTEN THOUGHT

BY W. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor-in-Chief of The Congregationalist

As the Lenten season has long represented for many people, and in recent years has come to represent for many more, a sort of holy hollies, or inner sanctuary, of the year, so the facts that it commemorates constitute for those who sincerely apprehend a holy of hollies in life itself.

Why should one time, or one experience, be holier than another? Is not all time, and all life, holy? Are not both alike the gift of God?

Life itself gives the answer. On no plane of experience is all on a dead level. Without its inspirational moments life would be void of inspiration at all. It is the enlightenment of the moment of vision that brightens the way of toil and drudgery. The Master's own life of goodness and of service among his fellowmen had its background and preparation in the experiences in the wilderness and in the night spent on the mountain in prayer.

None of life can be holy without its holy of hollies. The life that has no inner sanctuary is apt to have little outward power. It is possible to regard the holy events that the Lenten season commemorates with an observance that is largely formal, but if there be no real response of the soul to the commemoration of the Passion and death of Our Lord at the Eastertide, there is not likely to be any real response to the Master's sacrificial love at any other season of the year.

The true significance of Lent for us is inseparable from all that the experience which it commemorates meant in the life of the Master.

DENIED PARADE PERMIT.

Stamford, March 5.—(AP)—A permit to hold a demonstration meeting on the Town hall steps here tomorrow noon was denied the Stamford Trade Union Unity League, local radical organization, by the Board of Selectmen, this morning. The permit was sought by Abe Epstein, a local tire dealer, as a friend of the cause and members of the committee which had been requested to seek the permit. Epstein said members of the committee which was supposed to seek the permit did not have the time to do so because they were working. One of the objects of the proposed meeting is to protest against unemployment conditions.

LEADS TO DEATH

New York, March 6.—(AP)—A woman registered as Christine Norman, a name police believe fictitious, jumped to her death early today from her 20th-floor room at the Hotel Warwick in midtown Manhattan.

Police who opened six letters she left in her room said they indicated she was the wife of a New York attorney, but declined to disclose his name. That the woman had planned suicide for some time was shown by a note to the hotel management dated Feb. 27 asking that Mrs. Frank Carstarphen, of West 67th Street, her attorney, Arthur Garfield Hays, and the Equitable Trust Company be notified.

"She was about 35 years old and had resided at the hotel since January. Police said correspondence and manuscripts found in the room indicated she was an actress or playwright."

BANK REDUCES RATES

London, March 6.—(AP)—The Bank of England reduced its discount rate today from 4 1/2 to 4 percent.

Principal reason for the reduction of the bank rate was found in the difference of 1 per cent between market discounts and the official minimum, which made the latter ineffective.

The recent inflow of gold, with more to come from Australia, gave the bank's gold position sufficient strength to enable the bank largely to ignore the continental demand.

TODAY IS THE ANNIVERSARY

SHERIDAN'S BIRTH

On March 6, 1831, Philip Sheridan, famous American soldier, was born at Albany, New York.

In 1862, nine years later he graduated from West Point. Sheridan was appointed colonel of the Second Michigan Cavalry. At the outbreak of the Civil War, he gained early recognition for his courage and daring.

Recognized by Grant as a stubborn fighter, Sheridan was appointed commander of the army at Shenandoah. While he won praise in this command for his brilliant defeat of General Early and the capture of 5000 of his men and several guns, Sheridan was widely censured for his ruthless destruction of Shenandoah valley.

After the war, Sheridan visited Europe to witness the Franco-Prussian War. On his return he was named to succeed Sherman as chief commander of the army. He died at Nonquitt, Mass., Aug. 5, 1888.

Now that February Furniture Sales are over

Where are you going to get the best Values in March, April, May, June and the other months of the year?

Garber Brothers did not hold a "sale" in February. This is simply because our prices are at a minimum every day of the year.

A "sale" is a reduction for a certain length of time and although our prices are always low, we cannot call them "sale" prices. They are not reduced one month and then raised the following month.

During February, with discounts offered everywhere, except at Garber Brothers . . . we had a greater opportunity than ever before to prove our claim that Garber Brothers' prices represent real economy.

Hundreds of people who compared Our prices with February "sale" prices decided to buy furniture at Garber Brothers. They found that quality for quality, and price for price . . . Garber Brothers offered them better values.

If all these people decided to buy at this store, in spite of the "sales" held elsewhere . . . Your money-saving opportunities are greater now at Garber Brothers than ever before . . . because "sale" prices everywhere are going up . . . and Garber Brothers' prices are still and will continue to be at the same low level.

Visit Garber Brothers at your earliest convenience . . . See the largest and most beautiful display of furniture in New England. This visit will prove interesting and educational . . . and it places you under no obligations.

Murder Backstairs

AUTHOR OF
"THE AVENGING PARROT"
"THE BLACK PIGEON," ETC.
©1930 by NEA SERVICE INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY.
When Dick Berkeley, his former classmate at Yale, invites Detective Bonnie Dundee to spend the weekend at the home of his millionaire parents, the detective accepts, because Seymour Crosby is also a house guest. And he tucks his detective badge into his suitcase.

Dinner that Friday night is not a pleasant affair. George Berkeley is brooding angrily over his daughter's engagement to Crosby; Clorinda herself is obviously not in love with her fiancé. Mrs. Berkeley flares out at her social secretary, Mrs. Letitia Lambert, former society leader of New York and a friend of Crosby's; Gigi, the 15-year-old daughter, frankly criticizes her family; Dick and his mother drink champagne and toast the houseguest, though Dundee feels much drawn to frank, vivacious Gigi.

In an interval between dancing after dinner Seymour Crosby presents Mrs. Berkeley with a large crystal flask of expensive perfume, which she gratefully accepts with cries of delight. Gigi, after a strange exclamation of horror, snatches the perfume from her mother and dashes madly from the room to guest, sprinkling them all. At this waste, Mrs. Berkeley is so incensed that she slaps Gigi's face. George Berkeley reproves his wife sternly. Gigi stumbles from the room, and Dick lurches drunkenly after her.

Dundee, sickened, remembers that he wants to telephone police headquarters about Seymour Crosby.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER IV.
The wide front hall of the Berkeley mansion extended beyond the immense circular staircase of white marble, which wound upward to the third floor, with a broad landing on the second. A few feet behind the staircase the hall ended in a wall, with an ornate doorway opening into what Dundee found to be the mysterious regions of "backstairs," devoted to the butler's pantry, back hall, servants' sitting and dining rooms and kitchen.

Now that door stood slightly ajar. And from it came sounds which caused Dundee to abandon temporarily his search for the library and its telephone.

"Please, Mr. Dick! Let me go! If your mother saw us—No, no! I shan't dance with you!"

It was a girl's voice, high, sweet, flurried, unmistakably British. And the only answer to that frantic plea was a tipsy, exultant laugh.

"Oh, Lord! Dick up his old tricks!" Dundee cursed disgustedly, and, on impulse, jerked open the door and plunged into the narrower backstairs hall.

The detective's first impression of the girl was that she was fairly small and slight and blond. Pale-gold hair curled about her delicate face, and was knotted in a shining bun on the nape of her slender neck. Her dark-blue eyes were wide with genuine fear as her black-clad body strained to release itself from the embrace of the drunken son of her mistress.

But Dick, his reddish-brown hair falling in dank wisps across his sweat-beaded forehead, matched the girl closer and forced her to following his shambling dance steps. The languorous notes of "The Pagan Love Song" from the radio penetrated sufficiently to animate his groggy legs.

"Say you'll meet me when that hearse crew in there's gone to bed, and I'll let you go."

"Hello, Dick!" Dundee pulled out from the threshold, as she hanged the door to "Sorry to intrude, but will you tell me where I can find a telephone?"

"Sure! Butler's pantry. First door on your left," Dick Berkeley answered, his feet halting but his arms holding the straining girl more closely against his breast. "Just a minute, old man! Wan you to meet pretties' girl in Hamilton—Miss Doris Matthews, ladies' maid to Abbie and Clorinda. 'At's funny, ain't it? Ladies' maid."

"You're drunk, Dick, and you'd better go to bed," Dundee interrupted quietly. "If you'll let Miss Matthews show me where the telephone is—"

"Not on your life! I'm on to your game! Wants date up to your sweetie yourself, don't you? Listen, Doris! Don't you fall for my old pal, Dundee. He's a heart-breaker—at's what he is—"

"Please let me go, Mr. Dick!" Doris pleaded, her little hands pressing frantically against his breast. "If you'll promise to meet me when and where I said, Dick bargained with tipsy solemnity.

"Very well!" the girl capitulated suddenly, but the blue eyes shot a glance at Dundee, which told him that she had no intention of keeping the promise. "Oh!" she called softly, as young Berkeley released her. "Look! You've quite spoiled my apron." And she tried ineffectually to smooth the wrinkles from the crushed scrap of lace and lawn.

"The telephone's right in here—Oh! Mr. Wickett!" she gasped, the lovely little face going almost as white as the crumpled apron, before she turned and fled up the backstairs.

"Listening in, Wickett? Good show, wasn't it? But listen, Stone-Face, you'd better mind your own business—see?" said Dick Berkeley hurled toward the butler who stood in the door of his pantry.

"Yes, sir," Wickett answered, but his eyes spoke so black a hate that a shudder rippled along Dundee's nerves. "You already overheard me, Mr. Dundee? I'll show you to the library, sir."

"Thank you, Wickett," and the detective rather sheepishly followed the butler from the backstairs hall to the library, a fair-sized room overlooking the west lawn and directly opposite the wide arched doorway leading into the drawing room.

Rather to his surprise, Dundee found the library remarkably well stocked with books of all kinds, most of which looked as if they had been read. Which of the Berkeleys was a bookworm, he wondered. Gigi? Probably. But the shabbiest books were not the sort to appeal to a 15-year-old girl. George Berkeley? Most likely. Rather curiously Dundee selected a novel by Henry James, and found pasted on its fly-leaf an impression from a wood-block bookplate—"Ex libris George Berkeley"—and below it, in faded ink, a date of 10 years before. And the book had been read not once but many times.

"I knew I liked George Berkeley," he grinned to himself, as he lifted the receiver from the hook of the telephone on the broad desk in the middle of the room.

Girl Scout News

Council.
The Manchester Girl Scout Council will meet at Girl Scout headquarters, 327 Main street, Room 12, South Manchester, Tuesday afternoon at 2:30. Mrs. Nelson Smith and Mrs. Fred Norton will act as hostesses.

Troop 1.
The meeting of February 26 opened with the horseshoe formation. The laws and promise were repeated. Tests were worked on. The meeting adjourned with the good-night circle while three girls played taps on their bugles. Monday morning we had a hike. Four girls left early and laid a trail which ended at Highland Park. Esther Pickles, scribe.

Troop 2.
The meeting of March 3 began with instruction. The following tests were passed: First Aid, Estelle Crough, Dorothy Baldwin, Lucy Taggart, Ruth Crough, Frances Packard, Martha Marnice, Louise Butler, signaling; Lucy Taggart, second class knots; Ruth Crough, Lucy Taggart, Martha Marnice, Louise Butler, Dorothy Baldwin; training tenderfoot, service, and thrift; Estelle Crough and Margaret Crough; one section of 125 tent foot work; Gertrude Smith, Marion Macri, Helen Macri, Helen Tysk. Troop 5.
This troop is selling candy to make some money. Eunice and Lucille Brown sold 100 bars last Friday.

A SIMPLE CLASSIC TAILLEUR

Achieves Lengthened Silhouette Through Wrapped Skirt Treatment

By ANNETTE

A diagonal weave woolen in soft green coloring that so ideally interprets the chic tailored sports mode. It stresses the moulded silhouette, nipped-in higher waistline and lingerie note in white pique surplice vestee.

The most interesting thing about this practical dress is the wrapped treatment. The bodice is crossed and buttoned at the left side-front in a line with the edge of the circular front section, which gives the figure lengthened line.

You'll be amazed at how simple it is to make. It is one-piece! The circular skirt section is attached to the right front.

Style No. 494 is designed in sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust and taking 3 1/2 yards of 40-inch material with 1/2 yard of 40-inch contrasting in the medium size. It makes up lovely in printed crepe silk with vestee of plain harmonizing crepe.

Navy blue silk crepe with white crepe and violet-blue wool jersey in lacy weave with pique vestee ever so smart and wearable. Orange shantung with white vest, white stripes, and printed pique in red and white geometric pattern are advanced ideas for summer.

Hints On How To Keep Well by World-Famous Authorities
PARESIAS MUST BE TACKLED EARLY IF IT IS TO BE CONQUERED
BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Editorial Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine
The condition that used to be known as softening of the brain and later general paralysis and paresis is caused by the organism that causes syphilis. During the last quarter of a century scientific medicine has determined this fact and since the fact was determined has been making special efforts to get at some control of the condition, at least to the extent that the early manifestations of syphilis are controlled by proper treatment.

When salvarsan or arsenamine was discovered it began to be used promptly as mercury and iodides have long been used in the treatment of various manifestations of this disease. All sorts of methods were attempted to get the medicine into the body so that it would overcome the ravages of the organism. Later modified preparations of arsenamine were discovered by investigators in the University of Wisconsin, and these have been used in the treatment of such cases for seven years.

Moreover, the German investigator, Wagner von Jauregg, discovered that the production of fever by inoculation with malaria or by other methods also had an important effect in arresting the progress of the disease, and this method is frequently followed in modern medical practice.

As may well be imagined, all of these methods of treatment are radical and if not properly used may have harmful complications. On the other hand, the disease itself is so definitely progressive and fatal and its manifestations so serious that any method of treatment that will yield results is worthy of a trial.

The evidence now coming from various institutions for the care of the insane indicates that both the tryparamide treatment and the malarial treatment yield good results in a considerable percentage of cases. Sometimes the disease is arrested for long periods of time. In the majority of cases there is a remission of some of the symptoms and many of the sick recover sufficiently to return to work.

In this disease, as in all other serious conditions, the factor of greatest importance is early diagnosis. When a disease is in its incipient stage it may be caught and treated effectively, whereas later after much organic change has occurred in the tissues little can be done.

SEEK EARLY U. S. MAN
Washington, D. C.—Dr. James W. Gidley of the vertebrate paleontology section of the National Museum has announced that he will visit Florida to attempt the discovery of a definite time when man began to live in the United States. He now says that the earliest man in the American continent was living from 100,000 to 1,000,000 years ago.

I NEVER SAW YOUR WASH LOOK SO SNOWY! AND OUT ON THE LINE SO EARLY, TOO

MY DAUGHTER TOLD ME ABOUT A WONDERFUL SOAP — RINSO. IT LOOSENS THE DIRT LIKE MAGIC

Whiter clothes now — from washer or tub

IT'S enough to make you sing for joy — to see the whiteness of clothes that are washed the safe Rinsol way. A gleaming, snowy, sweet-smelling whiteness!

And there's no hard rubbing at all with Rinsol! No boiling, either. In Rinsol's thick, creamy suds, dirt soaks out. How that saves the clothes — and spares your hands, too.

The makers of 38 leading washing machines recommend Rinsol. One cupful of this compact, granulated soap gives more suds than two cupfuls of lightweight, puffed-up soap. Get the BIG household package.

"Nest Habits"
That is what we call the results of oddling. It's a good name but hardly strong enough.

For nest habits of humans are different from those of birds. The minute bird parents decide that their babies are strong enough, smart enough, and quick enough to take care of themselves, out they go over the edge. A few days of coaching in the arts of flying and grubbing—and that's the end. Sometimes even not that.

The nest habits of human beings last longer than those of birds and the lower animals on account of the extraordinarily long time it takes children to mature. It is natural that the period of protection should linger.

What we have to do, then, we humans, is to adopt a policy of gradual elimination of these nest habits.

Independence Must Grow
Every year that a boy or girl lives he should be further away from parent independence than he was the year before, until by the time he reaches sixteen or eighteen years of age, if need be, he can be entirely independent.

I heard a lawyer say recently that practically all divorces now were a result of nest habits that had not been trained out of the children.

"These children have learned to depend body and soul on their mothers," he declared. "They never were taught to know the meaning of the word responsibility. Everything was done for them. New clothes bought when they were needed; washed and mended and kept in order; their meals provided and set before them three times a day for years without a worry about how they were cooked or paid for; spending-money, good schooling, super-anxiety over every little illness, amusement crowded into every empty hour—in other words, life handed to

Children CRY for it

It may be the little stomach; it may be the bowels are sluggish; no matter what coats a child's tongue, its a safe and sensible precaution to give a few drops of Castoria. This gentle regulation of the little system soon sets things to rights. A pure vegetable preparation that can't harm a wee infant, but brings quick comfort—even when it is colic, diarrhea, or similar disturbance.

And don't forsake Castoria as the child grows older. If you want to raise boys and girls with strong systems that will ward off constipation, stick to good old Castoria; and give nothing stronger when there's any irregularity except on the advice of a doctor. Castoria is sold in every drugstore, and the genuine always bears Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper.

FREIGHTER OFF ROCKS.

Block Island, R. I., March 5.—(AP)—The 8,000 ton steel freighter Edward Luckenbach, which went on the rocks near Southwest Point during a heavy fog on the morning of January 10, was pulled off this forenoon by the salvage tugs Resolute and Relief of the Scott-Merritt-Chapman Corporation. She will be towed to New London, Conn., for repairs. The Luckenbach was bound from New York to Boston. A heavy sea which was running at the time of the accident and for several days thereafter made it seem at first that the ship would have to be abandoned.

THE TINYMIES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE) The wind kept blowing fairly swift and made the Tinies' small plane drift. Of course no one was steering it. They all hung down below. Said Clowny, "Say! I'm all tired out from hanging here. I have no doubt that all the rest of you are, too. My, hear the old wind blow. "I only wish the train would stop before we take a sudden drop. The earth seems many miles from here. "I would be no thin to fall. Let's try our muscles all get sore. If our big rubber band should break, the engine's bound to stall. "Aw, there's no engine in our plane. I've looked and looked, but all in vain. I simply couldn't find one," answered Coppy. "I'll just bet the rubberband is all that makes the plane sail on. And, if that breaks we're doomed, but, if it doesn't, maybe we'll have good luck yet." Ten minutes passed. Then Scouty said: "Hurray! Hurray! Look over head. The big black clouds are breaking up. The storm is almost over. Let's try and swing the plane up right. The clouds will soon be out of sight. The big rain drops have ceased to fall. It's almost clear once more. Then Scouty grabbed the wheel and turned it round until the small plane squirmed and finally swung to right side up. The others loudly cheered. Then Clowny said, "I'm feeling gay. Once more we're on our merry way. If we can just skim on like this, there's nothing to be feared." On, on they traveled through the air. Soon Carpy shouted, "Well look there! We'll soon have heaps of company. Some ducks are flying near." The ducks flew close and quacked real loud. This brought a laugh from all the crowd. Said Scouty, "They are pretty and I'm mighty glad they're here." (The rubber band breaks in the next story.)

ABOUT TOWN

Miss Elizabeth Vennard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Vennard, 21 Elro street, South Manchester, has had her name put on the Study Exempt list. She is a student of Elmira College, Elmira, New York, and is a member of the class of 1931. This means that her marks for last semester work have been raised to 85 percent or over. This entitles her to extra privileges, such as extra cuts and week-end absences. It is considered quite an honor at Elmira College to have one's name on this list.

Past matrons of Temple Chapter, O. E. S. will meet tonight at 8 o'clock with Mrs. Fred C. Tilden, 40 Russell street.

The Ladies Sewing society of the Swedish Lutheran church will conduct a food sale tomorrow at 2 o'clock at the J. W. Hale company's store. They will have a variety of Swedish rye bread and coffee cakes, pies, cookies, doughnuts, and fancy cakes. Donors are reminded to have their food at the store soon after 1 o'clock.

A meeting of the vacation church school committee will be held with Rev. M. S. Stocking, 42 North Main street this evening at 7:30. Plans will be outlined at this time for the July vacation school which has been successfully conducted for several years past by the North Main street churches.

The young people's committee from the Manchester Green Community club report a greatly increased attendance at their dance last Saturday evening, when all modern numbers were on the program. Everybody had a good time and it is proposed to continue the all-modern dances at the Green school hall every Saturday evening until warm weather. Bill Waddell's orchestra will play there all during the season.

Rev. R. A. Colpitts, pastor of the South Methodist church, left this morning for Boston to attend a meeting of the World Service Commission at which Bishop Wm. F. Anderson will preside. Mr. Colpitts expects to return tomorrow.

Judge Raymond A. Johnson and Mrs. Johnson left this afternoon for New York and tomorrow they will sail on the "De France" for a month in Europe. They plan to return on the "Paris" which will arrive in New York on April 8.

Miss Christine Mason, director at the Manchester Community club announces a chicken supper for Wednesday evening, March 12 at the White house, and urges all who contemplate being present to make reservations at as early a date as possible to assist her in making plans.

The Manchester Green Community club will hold its regular business meeting at the Green school assembly hall tomorrow evening. Following the business there will be a demonstration illustrated with slides by a representative of a sewing machine company, under auspices of the home economics department of the school in charge of Miss Hannah Jensen. Fred Anderson will give a talk on sheep raising and the production of wool.

Chapman Court, Order of Amaranth, will hold its regular meeting tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock at the Masonic Temple, preceded by a supper at 6:30. Mrs. Jennie Armstrong and her assistants on the supper committee are planning on an attendance of 200 members, grand officers and other guests. Royal Matron Olive Chapman will supervise the table decorations. Grand Royal Matron Adele M. Bantly of this town, and her associate grand officers from all over the state will put on the initiatory work.

The Rec Girls basketball team will play the Tolland Girls in Rockville Saturday night in the preliminary to the Rec-Wheel Club encounter.

The observance of the first Friday in Lent—a world day of prayer for missions was made inter-denominational in 1890 and now it is world-wide in 34 countries. Tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the South Methodist church an inspiring ritual program entitled "That Jesus May Be Lifted Up" will be carried out. This is especially appropriate this year, the 1900th anniversary of Pentecost. The guest speaker will be Miss Faye H. Robinson, who is on furlough in this country after four years of service in Wuhu, China. Her subject will be "The Greatest Challenge on Earth." Miss Olive Nyman will sing with Mrs. Bertelme Lashinske at the piano. Tea will be served.

Hose Company No. 3, Spruce street, were called to extinguish a brush fire on Durant street, near Homestead Park at noon today.

The final meeting of the Nutmeg Trail, Midwinter Epworth League Institute, will be held in Rockville tomorrow night. Rev. Truman Woodward will lecture on "Theodore Roosevelt." Rev. Edwin T. Jones on "Heretics of Science and Their Religion," and Rev. George Brooks on "Memories of Scotland and England."

PAST HIGH PRIESTS OF DELTA GATHER
Annual Meeting of Local Chapter's Past Officers Is Held Last Night.

The annual Past High Priests night at Delta chapter, Royal Arch Masons was observed last night. The degree was worked by the Past High Priests association. The chairs were filled in the following order:

P. H. P., Thos. Graham, Worshipful Master.
P. H. P., James Richmond, Senior Warden.
P. H. P., Ward E. Green, Junior Warden.
P. H. P., Leonard Richman, Senior Deacon.
P. H. P., Raymond Goslee, Junior Deacon.
P. H. P., Herbert House, Master Overseer.
P. H. P., Willard Parks, Senior Overseer.
P. H. P., Fred C. Tilden, Junior Overseer.

A large gathering witnessed the work and when it was over adjourned to the banquet hall where some light refreshments and smokes were enjoyed.

The various Past High Priests and companions told stories and spoke of the excellent work done by High Priest Ernest L. Kjellson and his associate officers at their recent visitation to West Hartford chapter, when the degree of Mark Master had been put on.

It was regretted that more of the companions had not attended as this was said to have been one of the best exemplifications of the Mark degree ever run on by Delta Chapter.

At a late hour the party broke up and the second annual gathering with all present of the Past High Priest Association was brought to a close.

High Priest Kjellson's year is nearly at its close but his untiring efforts the past year in improving the degrees together with his associate officers and the social gatherings will long be remembered.

BOY SCOUT NEWS
Troop Six
Thirty-one boys attended the meeting of Troop Six on Tuesday, March 4. The meeting was opened with the repeating of the Scout Oath and Laws. The meeting was largely spent in playing games such as the Antelope race and other relay races. After the game period, the scouts assembled around a campfire in the scout room. Several scout songs including "Neath the Crust of the Old Apple Pie," "Sweet Ivory Soap," and "There's a Long, Long Nail a Grindin'." The scoutmaster then told us a mystery story "The Thought Monster". After the story lunch was served.

Notes
All boys wanting merit badge application blanks should get them from the scoutmaster next Tuesday night.

There will be a test passing period between seven and half past seven o'clock at the next meeting.

CITIZENSHIP SCHOOL ON JURY SERVICE
Women Voters League Plans Conference at Hartford Y. W. C. A. on March 20.

There will be a state-wide citizenship school on the subject of jury service for women under the auspices of the Connecticut League of Women Voters on March 20. The school will be held in the auditorium of the Ann Street Y. M. C. A. in Hartford from eleven until three o'clock.

The morning session will be devoted to a discussion of the arguments for and against women jurors. Mrs. Florence L. C. Kitchell of New Haven, Executive Secretary of the League of Nations Association, will lead the discussion which will be based on an "Ask Me Another on Jury Service" by Mrs. Ruth M. Dadourian.

In the afternoon Mrs. George L. Slocumb of Worcester, Mass., will speak on "Legislative Work for Jury Service". Mrs. Slocumb has recently been acting as chairman of the campaign for jury service for women waged in the Massachusetts Legislature by the League of Women Voters in that state.

The citizenship school is being arranged under the direction of Mrs. William F. Worrall of Meriden, state chairman of the League's committee on the Legal Status of Women. Its purpose is to assemble a group of women accurately trained in the laws and facts of jury service who will do active educational work during this year and the next toward bringing the subject before the women of the state.

PLAN UNUSUAL EFFECTS FOR KIWANIS MINSTRELS
William B. Halsted, in Charge of Production, Says Nearly 100 Will Take Part.

With Monday, May 12 set as the date for the annual Kiwanis Minstrel Show at the State theater, William B. Halsted in charge of the production, has already begun planning for unusual stage and electrical effects that will do justice to the entertainment, which will have nearly a hundred persons taking part. Rehearsal will get underway in the near future.

The show last year was a tremendous success from all standpoints, but Mr. Halsted is working to surpass all previous efforts with the 1930 minstrel. All financial gain derived from the show will be used to maintain the Kiwanis Kiddies Camp at Hebron, open for a month each year to give the under-privileged children of the town a chance to enjoy a healthful vacation. Two weeks are devoted to boys and the other two weeks to girls. An efficient force of workers have charge of the camp.

MANCHESTER ARTISTS ON NEW BRITAIN PROGRAM
Two Manchester men will present a musical program in the First Baptist Church in New Britain at 8 o'clock tomorrow night. Howard E. Brewer of 17 Laurel street, organist of the church, will give an organ recital and G. Albert Pearson, bass soloist, will sing two groups of songs.

Included on the organist's program will be numbers by Tschai-cowsky, Bach, Rubinstein, Saint Saens and others. Mr. Pearson's selections will include "The Horn," "Yeoman's Wedding Song," and "Mor, Lilla Mor."

NATHAN HALE SCHOOL ASSEMBLY PROGRAM
Miss Terrill's class, grade 5, presented the following news program in the school assembly last Tuesday afternoon:

Exposition at St. Louis, Frank Iuliano; Submarine will not be abolished, Russell Aceto; Mayor Patterson of Hartford, Joseph Lupascino; Byrd Expedition Thru the Antarctic Ice Pack, Nettie Foglio; Hughes takes office, Eleanor Young; Just how large is Brazil, Bruno Enrico; Pirates seize ships, Edward Benche; Would honor great Americans, Mary Lombardo; Coroner Mix of New Haven, Frances Feleci; The Mount Rushmore history, Feliksa Pietrowski; Elihu Root, Florence Wilson; Miss Annabel Mathews, Clara Comollo; The Norsemen of 1930, John Scariato.

Miss Christenson's class also grade 3 presented the following book reports during library period Wednesday:

A Bad Boy, Lois Frey; Little Meadow Folks, May Griswold; An Earthquake, Ferdinando G.; A Hunted Place, Feliksa Pietrowski; A Hungry Polar Bear, Bruno Enrico; A Bold Outlaw, Clifford Frost; Anna Habern and Gertrude Smith gave a short sketch written by Gertrude Smith; How Smart is Blackie?, William Habern; Food for Valley Forge, Sam Kotch; The Feather Crop, Esther Yulies; The Animal Trainer's Story, Edmund H.; Something Unexpected Happens, Chester O.; How Pandora Finally Got Home, Doris F.; Dick Smiley's Birthday, Thomas Raymond.

R. A. M. OFFICERS DINE AT RICHMAN HOME
The officers and past high priests of Delta Chapter, R. A. M., entertained themselves at Leonard Richman's home Tuesday night. Chief M. H. Strickland served the "feast" consisting of steaks, baked potatoes, hearts of lettuce (with the now famous Benson Russian dressing), pie and smokes.

In the recreation room five tables of bridge were played. James Richmond won first, Willard Park, second and Ward E. Green, consolation. H. B. House had brought along his moving picture machine and an enjoyable hour was spent in viewing them.

This home makes a wonderful place to entertain a large crowd, with its complete and very up to date facilities.

After the chef and his assistants had washed up the dishes the party broke up, with the general comment all had spent a very pleasant evening and hope more of them would follow.

Doctor, Lawyer, Banker—
After an automobile accident you may need a doctor, a lawyer, and a banker.

A doctor to patch up the victim.

A lawyer to attend to his claims.

A banker to furnish you the money to pay the damages.

All these demand money—much more than we ask for a Travelers Automobile Policy, which pays these expenses for you.

How To Judge Coal
There are three ways to judge coal:
The way it burns, the kind of ash it leaves, and how much heat it produces. Upon the first two depends the third.
If it's good, clean Willis coal, it burns slowly down to a fine ash leaving no clinkers. Result:
More heat for less money.

And Don't Forget
We have the finest of fuel oils and a complete line of masons' supplies.

The Cape Suit Is Important This Spring

The suit with a cape is a conspicuous fashion for Spring 1930 as well as a flattering one. The cape fashion originated at the time of Napoleon. This is sometimes spoken of as the Napoleonic cape or some people call it the Empire cape. Today we present modified versions of this influence not only in the new suits but in coats and frocks as well.

(Left) A belted trottur suit with the Napoleonic cape featured in oxford gray covert cloth. The cream silk crepe blouse matches the coat lining. The skirt is gracefully flared. $59.50.
