

QUIZ THREE IN JEWELRY SHOP WINDOW BREAK

Police Scoop in Nine Out- laters When Glass Is Cut and a Number of Watches Are Taken.

Nine young men were taken to the police station last night in connection with a robbery at the jewelry store of Matthew Wior, 999 Main street, next door to the South Manchester Post Office, and three were still being detained at Police Headquarters this afternoon. Chief of Police Samuel G. Gordon was directing a rigid investigation into the matter with the possibility that at least one of the trio may be formally charged with burglary. The three men maintain they are innocent.

The value of the jewelry which was taken from the display window of the little store, is not believed to be high. The owner of the shop said this morning that he had not yet been able to fix the exact amount of his loss but that it would not be heavy. The stock is insured for burglary. The entire contents of the window were valued at between two and three hundred dollars and only a small part of this was stolen. A few wrist watches were picked out of their cases. Splinters of glass were showered onto the jewelry by the break.

Quiz Continues

Late this afternoon police were still questioning the three men. The members of the group claimed that they were in a nearby restaurant at the time the window was broken and that, hearing the noise, they rushed outdoors and gave chase to the man who had broken into the store. Their story is that the man fled down an alleyway next to the store and disappeared in the darkness.

When the police arrived shortly afterward, they did not take the story told by the men seriously and ordered them all to get into automobiles and took them to Police Headquarters. Six of the party were later allowed to go to their homes but the other three were detained as suspects.

One of the three men detained had an injured hand and the police were working on the hand that he might have cut the hand on the window. The man said he had been drinking and had hurt his hand and knees in a fall.

The break took place between two and three o'clock this morning, said Mr. Wior did not leave it until he came from his home in Hartford at 9 o'clock this morning.

A circular hole, large enough for a person to easily put his arm through, was made in the middle of the store window. Cracks spread from the center toward the corners of the window. One-half of the circular cut was smooth and the other somewhat jagged, giving the appearance of being first partly cut

WILLS HER EARS TO SCIENTISTS

Wealthy and Deaf Woman To Allow Doctors to Study Cause of Her Lack of Hearing.

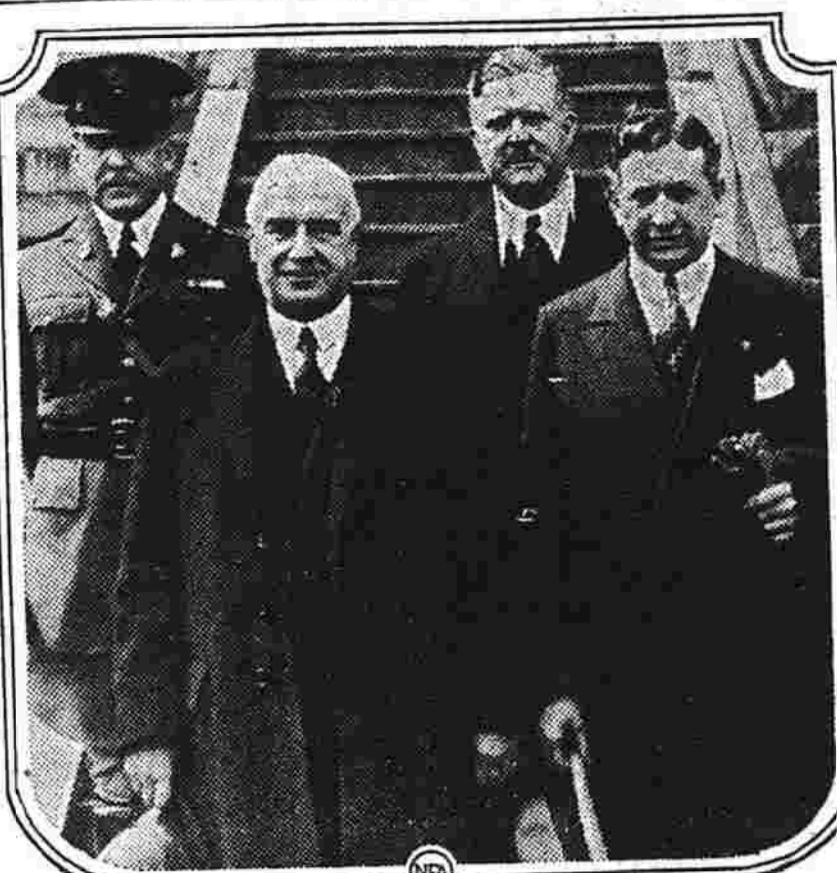

Chicago, March 27.—(AP.)—Science will get the ears of Miss Abby Hosmer—seventy, wealthy and deaf.

At her death, by the provisions of the odd bequest she signed yesterday, Miss Hosmer's ears will go to the Chicago Laryngological and Otolological Society.

Dr. Austin A. Hayden, a prominent member of the society, praised the bequest of Miss Hosmer, who has been deaf since she was seven years old.

"Until medical science can have the opportunity to make microscopic studies of the ears of deaf persons after their death, we shall remain in the dark as to why one out of every ten persons today suffers from this malady," he said.

TO REORGANIZE STATE SCHOOL; BOYD RESIGNS

Trustees, However, Back the Superintendent — Governor's Board Makes Public Its Recommendations.

Meriden, March 27.—(AP.)—Inhuman treatment by supervisory officers inflicted upon inmates of Connecticut School for Boys was a charge upheld by the governor's commission which recently made an inquiry into administration conditions at the institution. Its report was made to Governor Trumbull Tuesday while the school trustees, who themselves held a separate inquiry, found that most of the charges which James S. Peck, farm superintendent, now deposed, had made to the State Board of Public Welfare were unsupported.

The outstanding incident in connection with the publicity given both reports was the formal resignation of Supt. Edward J. Boyd, referred to by the trustees as a "Christian gentleman of the old school."

SEA ENVOYS TO DRAFT A NEW SECURITY PACT

Doctors Badly Burned In X-Ray Film Blast

Canton, Ohio, March 27.—(AP.)—Two physicians were burned seriously and a baby of whom an X-ray picture was being taken, was blown across the operating room at the Molly Stark tuberculosis hospital, northeast of here today by an explosion of the film.

Ambulances and sergeons from Canton were rushed to the hospital. Hospital officials were reluctant to discuss the accident claiming it was not serious. They admitted however, that an X-ray tube blew up while the machine was in operation.

Dr. H. O. Black, who resigned as president of the hospital several days ago, was called to the hospital shortly after the explosion.

Police said that the two physicians were badly burned but this hospital authorities refused to comment.

Several employees of the Ohio Power Company rushed to the hospital with an inhalator.

To Hold Plenary Session a Week from Tomorrow; Briand in Good Humor at Today's Session; Americans Most Optimistic Over Conference Prospects.

London, March 27.—(AP.)—The chief delegates to the naval conference meeting at St. James' Palace this afternoon, decided to hold a plenary session a week from tomorrow.

It was expected that the question of some sort of a security pact for the benefit of the French would come up at that time.

In the meantime, important negotiations are understood to be proceeding among the British, French and Belgian and Italians regarding a security pact.

Setting of the date for the long-awaited plenary session was the only decision reported from today's meeting.

said to have told the other delegation chiefs he had discussed the Japanese situation with Reijiro Wakatsuki and that while they considered the Japanese government was taking considerable time to decide regarding the agreement with the United States and Great Britain, both were hopeful of final adjustment.

Foreign Minister Briand, upon whom so much depends if a five-power agreement is to be reached, was in good humor and joked with MacDonald during the meeting.

The Americans indicated at headquarters that they felt more optimistic today over conference prospects than for some time.

The plenary session will be to discuss the progress made thus far in the conference, the idea being that all angles to the situation should be brought out into the open and authoritative decisions made. As one "somebody will have to do some talking."

CHICAGO DIGGING OUT OF DEEPEST SNOW FALL

Nineteen Inches on the Level; Traffic Blocked; Ten Deaths and Property Damage Cannot Be Estimated.

Chicago, March 27.—(AP.)—The snow had ceased falling today, but the slush and drifts lingered on.

The snow stopped last night as suddenly and as unexpectedly as it started Tuesday morning, leaving Chicago and its suburbs shrouded in the heaviest continuous fall in the city's history—19.1 inches.

Along the lake front and in other places where the wind was given a chance at the snow, drifts were piled high and held hundreds of automobiles fast. In the more congested districts the snow had turned into slush.

SENATOR'S OPINION

Washington, March 27.—(AP.)—Senator George of Georgia, a Democratic member of the Senate foreign relations committee, expressed the opinion today that a consultative pact, now mentioned in connection with the London naval conference, would meet with stubborn opposition in the Senate.

Such a pact, the senator said, would not be well received by either Republicans or Democrats in the Senate. Also, he added, he thought there was a definite feeling in the Senate at this time that even a consultative pact might be construed as involving military obligations and that it might be misinterpreted.

He added he thought such a pact not only would meet with stubborn opposition in the Senate but would be regarded by Senators generally "as an unwarranted step."

U. S. PUBLISHERS LAUD MCCORMICK

Is Waging Fight to Preserve Freedom of Press in Min- nesota Case.

New York, March 27.—(AP.)—Colonel Robert R. McCormick, president of the Chicago Tribune, and chairman of the American Newspaper Publishers Association's committee on the freedom of the press, was complimented today by Edward H. Butler, president of the association, on the "excellent work being accomplished by Colonel McCormick in his active defense of the fundamental principles of a free press."

The occasion of Colonel McCormick's most recent endeavors had been a fight against an effort being made in Minnesota to throttle the press through a law, adopted by the Minnesota Legislature in 1926, providing that judges of the District Court may suppress as a nuisance any publication declared to be a "malicious, scandalous and defamatory newspaper, magazine, or other periodical."

The mayor said he intended to complete the two years term to which he was elected last November and he will not attempt to make political capital out of the Superior Court action of Tuesday which resulted in his being removed from office. He was not required to tell of whom he purchased liquor.

CLERGYMAN PROTESTS

Hartford, March 27.—(AP.)—Rev. Dr. Edwin Knox Mitchell, organizer of the committee for law enforcement, and president of the Hartford Council of Churches, today said that "the logical step would be for some citizen interested in the stability of government to ask for removal of Mayor Batterson through impeachment from office."

Mr. Mitchell said that he was of the opinion the mayor had violated his oath of office when he bought liquor through a bootlegger.

DR. EINSTEIN ANNOUNCES HIS LATEST DISCOVERY

Gives First Practical Proof Of a Connection Between Gravitation and Electric- ity—Professor Explains.

The Associated Press here, with presents Einstein's latest discovery, his first practical proof of a connection between gravitation and electricity.

Its significance is explained by Dr. M. S. Valarta, Massachusetts Institute of Technology physicist.

Berlin, March 27.—(AP.)—Professor Albert Einstein has presented to the Prussian Academy of Sciences a new paper he has written with Dr. W. Mayer on two strictly static solutions of the field equations of his uniform field theory. It connects gravitation and electricity.

These solutions were described as follows: These field equations can be rigorously solved in two cases. The first case is that of a spherically symmetrical field in space, for example, the external field of an electrically charged sphere of fixed mass. The other case is that of the static field of any number of uncharged mass particles at rest with respect to one another.

REMAINS AT HOME OVER HALF CENTURY

East Hampton Woman Sees Electric Light for First Time in Life.

East Hampton, Conn., March 27.—(AP.)—Startled and confused by her first venture into the everyday world after 57 years of seclusion, her father's farm, Miss Lillie Wilson, 80, was today back in her home in Middle Haddam where for over a half century an electric light was unknown and newspapers and strangers banned.

Newspapermen and photographers invaded the farm today, but Miss Wilson, displaying the reticence and mistrust of strangers taught her by an eccentric father, took refuge behind the barred doors of her home to ponder over the strangeness which her first trip off the farm in 57 years had revealed.

CONVICTS LEAVE FOR CONNECTICUT

Jacksonville, Fla., March 27.—(AP.)—Within half an hour after they heard themselves sentenced to life imprisonment at Florida's state prison farm at Raiford today, Roland Lalone and Watson Moulthrop, escaped Connecticut convicts, were on their way to Connecticut to complete their sentences there.

They appeared before Circuit Judge Daniel A. Simmons this morning and were sentenced to life imprisonment for killing Detective W. D. Smith here last January.

The judge ordered the pair placed in custody of Sheriff W. I. Cahoon. Immediately Edward J. Hickey, Hartford, Conn., detective served extradition papers on the sheriff who surrendered the pair.

Landry Goes Along

Hickey took Moulthrop and Lalone to the county jail where he secured Leo Landry, a third Connecticut convict and left immediately in an automobile for "somewhere in Georgia" aboard a train.

Moulthrop and Lalone had planned a legal fight against their extradition. Landry is under indictment here for first degree murder in connection with the killing of Smith. He turned state's evidence in the trial of his former pals, and was to have been tried later himself.

LABORER FINDS JUG FILLED WITH GOLD

Marshall, Mich., March 27.—(AP.)—William Caffery, laborer, called a taxi to take him home with his jug of $20 gold pieces.

Caffery was hired to do some cleaning on a farm near here, owned by Charles Budlong. He found the jug containing $2,000 in gold in an old building he was tearing down. The coins are dated 1800 to 1890. Prior to 1892 the farm was owned by a man named Lee who was reputed to be wealthy, but whose money was not found when he died.

The money belongs to Caffery unless heirs of Lee show up and prove their right to the property.

FARM BOARD AIDS NEW ENGLAND TOO

Bangor, Me., March 27.—(AP.)—Asserting that upon the basis of a study of New England agriculture now being made it was expected to "achieve for New England agriculture the same beneficial results as are planned for agriculture in other sections of the country," United States Secretary of Agriculture Arthur W. Hyde today outlined to the Republican state convention the working of the Farm Marketing Act and discussed agriculture as an industry.

He declared there is no industry in America which is more highly competitive than agriculture and stressed in particular Maine's chief agricultural crop, potatoes. He said it was inseparably linked with the national potato market situation.

"There seems to exist a feeling among the farmers of the New England states," he said, "that the Agricultural Marketing Act of the Mississippi valley, but do not concern New England."

"The board cannot do otherwise," he continued, saying that "although the growing of potatoes may be

RISE ON EXCHANGE CHECKED BY NOON

New York, March 27.—(AP.)—A violent bullish demonstration centering in the utility shares in the early trading in today's Stock Market was checked by heavy profit taking in the industrials, and by midday price trends were highly irregular.

The volume of trading was so large that the ticker fell more than half an hour behind trading, which caused considerable confusion and prompted nervous traders to sell.

By midday, early gains running from $1 to $4 a share in an assortment of utilities and specialties were largely cancelled, and several shares showed net losses of $2 to more than $3 a share, including Westinghouse Electric, Gillette, Johns-Manville, Radio, Columbia Gas, United Air, and Vanadium. Studebaker sank 62 cents to a new low for 1930 at $40.50.

All dealers are requested to be there at two o'clock and the first to arrive will be given first position, everyone lining up in the order of their appearance. The line of march will be from the Center to the Terminus, then counter march to the Center. From there to the North End, counter marching to the Center, then going to Manchester Green and return to Schaller's Garage and return to the Center where an hour's concert will be given by the band, from a truck on the west side of Main street, opposite the park. All who bring their automobiles will be allowed to park on the west side of the street during the concert, which is scheduled to take place at three o'clock.

Following the concert the parade will again go to the Terminus, and then over North, returning to the Center to disband. At a meeting of the committee in charge in the Chamber rooms this morning final plans were formed and it was decided to allow each dealer to decorate his car with ribbons from the radiator cap to the windshield. The Eddy Awning Company this morning began the decoration of the various show rooms with bunting and flags. During the coming week visitors will be more than welcome to any and all of the showrooms, which will display the latest 1930 models of their respective show rooms. In reality this Spring showing, which takes the place of the combined Automobile Show abandoned this year, is an individual Automobile showing by each agency.

George L. Betts, president of the Automotive Division is chairman of the committee in charge; Harding L. Stephens, is treasurer, and James Shearer, is marshal of the parade. E. J. McCabe, chamber secretary, is secretary.

SPRING OPENING SAM KAPLAN'S BAND AT FLOWER SHOP

New Britain Orchestra Featured at Park Hill Flower Shop for Spring Opening.

Although one of the smaller stores cooperating in the Spring Opening of local merchants last night the Park Hill Flower Shop attracted one of the biggest crowds in proportion to the size of the floor space available for visitors. The attraction was Sammy Kaplan and his Strand Theater, New Britain, orchestra. Harry Miner, son of one of the owners of the Flower Shop is a cornetist in this band and Sammy Kaplan was formerly at the State theater here. The shop's stock of potted plants, cut flowers and shrubs was handsomely arranged for the occasion.

The doors had been left unlocked and no forced entry was made. The only articles missed were a watch chain and a girl's ring. Captain Herman O. Schendel and Sergeant John Crockett made an investigation last night soon after receiving the complaint. No clues were found.

Stobbs bill to modify the Jones law to define minor offenses of the dry law and to fix the maximum penalty for them at six months and a fine of $500. The committee, however, adjourned until next Thursday without taking action. There are three other measures recommended by the Wickersham commission before the committee.

Chairman Graham announced that the group appears "disposed to work with the administration and will do the best it can with the bills." He said he saw no reason why measures could not be acted upon by Congress at this session.

WASLEY TELLS RECORD OF MUTUAL COMPANY

Great strides forward are being made by the Lumberman's Mutual Casualty Company, represented exclusively in Manchester by Stuart J. Wasley, local insurance agent, according to the financial statement of the company for the year ending December 31, 1929, showing the cash assets, net cash surplus, and premium income and which Mr. Wasley is issuing to customers.

The cash assets amount to $11,638,980.54, the next cash surplus to $1,827,884.22, the premium income to $12,162,720.59. The net cash surplus is exclusive of voluntary reserves in the amount of $1,250,000. These figures compared to those shown in the statement of a year ago, show a most satisfactory advancement, and the company in writing to Mr. Wasley expressed appreciation for the part which he has played in bringing this about.

Under the auspices of Walter Joyner and the band of youthful musicians, Center church Troubadours, of which he is leader, a concert of a high order will be given this evening at High school hall by the Musical Arts String Quartet of New York. Felix Fox, eminent pianist, will assist and a program that will appeal to all will be presented.

SPRING OPENING

Ensemble Featured At Hale's Opening

Styles co-ordination and color harmony to make up the ensemble costume featured the Hale's fashion show in connection with Spring Opening last night. Miss Florence M. Dinnen, a styles expert with the American Department Stores Corporation, who was in charge of the show called attention to the various novelties in design and color harmonization.

It is estimated that nearly 1,500 people witnessed the two fashion shows at Hale's. The larger space for spectators was available. The displays were given at seven o'clock and at eight o'clock and capacity crowds attended both showings. A promenade had been erected at the rear of the store so that the spectators gathered in the area taken up by women's wear.

At the seven o'clock showing Charles J. McCann acting manager of the J. W. Hale Company introduced Miss Dinnen to the large group already assembled. Mr. McCann spoke as follows: "Friends and Patrons of The J. W. Hale Co.:

"In the absence of Mr. Anderson who is now spending part of his time in New York and found it impossible to be here I consider it a pleasure and a privilege to welcome you to our store tonight. I am sure that if the founder Mr. Justice W. Hale were living he would take great pride in welcoming you who have made the store possible that bears his name.

"We hope that our 1930 fashion promenade will be of interest to you and meet with your approval. While we have called it fashion around the clock, it might well be called 'Best Selling fashions at best selling prices.'

"An added feature to the showing tonight will be a brief fashion outline by Miss Dinnen, an able fashionist who is in charge of the fashion work of the American Dept. stores group. The showing will take about 40 minutes and will be repeated again at 8 o'clock.

"I take great pleasure in introducing Miss Dinnen.

Miss Dinnen told the audience that she believed the styles this Spring were more attractive, actually more feminine than they had been in many a season. She stressed the fact that the costume must follow the ensemble idea to be proper. Colors of accessories should harmonize and all clothing should be coordinated. She emphasized the fact that this type of costuming can be done reasonably priced because of complete outfit in the end costs less than various items purchased individually.

The fashion show items and the models who wore them were displayed in the following order:

Active Sportswear. Nelly Don striped silk sport dress, tennis racket, Marion Crawshaw; brown and orange Costeca suit, tan felt hat, golf club, Agnes Howard; green wool crepe frock, Virginia Lowell; green sport suit, Ursula Segerdahl; brother and sister suits, sweater and skirt, Donald Barrett and Nancy Bantly; striped executives have, through courageous alteration of policies and operations, built up conspicuously successful records. "It has long been a custom to disparage New England agriculture, but, as a matter of fact, agriculture now holds a more important place and provides a greater real income to New England than it did 50 years ago. We see here a triumph of selection, increased efficiency and specialization. This region still possesses substantial wealth in its forests, its stone industries and its fisheries.

TRUOBADORS' CONCERT TO BE HELD TONIGHT

Tonight at 8:30 o'clock the Musical Art Quartet of New York, assisted by Felix Fox, pianist, will present a concert program at the High school auditorium, under the auspices of the Center Congregational Church Troubadours. The quartet is comprised of Sascha Jacobsen, first violin, Paul Bernard, second violin, Louis Kaufman, viola, and Marie Roemaet-Rosanoff, cello.

STOCK PRICES SOAR

New York, March 27.—(AP)—A new bull market burst forth on the Stock Market in the early trading today. Stocks were taken in blocks of 5,000 to 25,000 shares, and sent up $1 to nearly $4 a share, many to record levels for the year. The ticker fell 15 minutes behind trading by the end of the first half hour.

MCNEIL IS SLATED TO BEAT PHILLIPS

Claims 38 of 70 Members of State Committee at Meeting of Democrats.

Hartford, March 27.—(AP)—Unless unforeseen developments arise at the meeting of the Democratic State Central committee in Hotel Bond this afternoon at which a successor to Thomas J. Spellacy, resigned National committeeman, is to be chosen, Archibald McNeil, Jr., Bridgeport will probably have clear sailing in his contest with Alfred N. Phillips, Jr., of Stamford for the place. Mr. McNeil's supporters claim thirty-eight members of the committee have promised to stand by him, not only with their votes but with their support if David E. Fitzgerald of New Haven carries out his stated intention of attempting to displace Mr. McNeil. The National committee notifies the state committee that Mr. Spellacy's resignation has been accepted. Since only a majority of those present is necessary to elect, Mr. McNeil's camp was optimistic this morning that he would win and with headquarters established in Hotel Bond last night, his group was busy today strengthening their lines.

The city's drinking water was so polluted by the lake storm that accompanied the snow that it carried a very noticeable sediment of mud through the pipes. The health commission, in order to offset this, ordered the chlorine proportion raised from three and a half to eight pounds to every million gallons of water.

The effect on crime was unusual. Not a single case was placed on the trial sheet in the Morals Court yesterday for the first time in a year. The court usually has 50 cases a day. Five men arraigned in Police Court went free because the complaining witnesses were storm-bound, and two deputy sheriffs, taking prisoners from Peoria, Ill., to the state penal farm at Vandalia had to borrow railroad fare from one of their prisoners when the storm forced them to abandon their car.

ABOUT TOWN

The Friendly Bridge club will meet tomorrow with Mrs. Ernest Newcomb of Somers. Mr. and Mrs. Newcomb moved from East Center street to Somers early in the year.

Herman Frink of Hartford paid a fine of $10 and costs for speeding, in the Manchester police court this morning. He was arrested by Patrolman Harold Heffron who claimed Frink was driving at from 50 to 55 miles an hour down McLean hill, and passing several cars on the wrong side of the road.

Ethel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Luetgens, of 193 Woodbridge street, celebrated her seventeenth birthday last evening with a party at her home for a party of her young men and women friends. First prizes were won by Miss Marjorie Pflin and David Williams. The young people thoroughly enjoyed themselves. They presented to Miss Luetgens a five dollar gold piece as well as other gifts.

TO RETURN STOCKS

Washington, March 27.—(AP)—Settlement of a suit with the British government whereby approximately $12,500,000 worth of stocks attached during the World War will be returned to German owners, was announced today by Howard Sutherland, alien property custodian. Under the agreement the United States paid today about $250,000 to cover the cost of litigation over the securities. In return Great Britain, through its trustees returned to title to $17,000,000 worth of stock to the alien property custodian who will restore about 80 per cent to the original owners in the near future.

SPRING OPENING "G CLEF" DRAWS CROWD TO HOUSES

Glee Club Presents Program for Spring Opening; Store Finely Decorated.

C. E. House & Son Inc. were not content with presenting such a crowd drawing attraction as the G Clef Glee club, a chorus of over 40 women's voices, but went so far as to please the eye as well as the ear of those drawn within their doors. Each of the pillars was beautifully decorated with a trelis on which hung blood red roses, adding a garden-like aspect to the scene.

Of the merchandise carried by this store little need be said. The name C. E. House & Son carries with it the guarantee of the finest to be had in suits, topcoats, shoes, hats, and all the haberdashery to turn out a gentleman of fashion. The G Clef, directed by Helge Pearson, with Miss Eva M. Johnson, accompanist, made a fine appearance in their ivory colored skirts and plum colored capes. Every number on the program, presented extemporaneously, was met with hearty applause. The club opened with "Salutation" by Gains, the program including "Greetings to Spring," by Strauss, "May Magic" by Macy, "Mill Stream," by Jensen, "Hickory, Dickory Dock," by Perkins, "Come Down Laughing Streamlet," by Spross, and "Serenade," by Tassell. Miss Elsie Berggren presented several solos, all which were well received.

SPRING OPENING WILROSE DRESS SHOP

The first store on Main street, to those approaching from the north, Wilrose was well prepared to receive the admiring comments of the Spring Opening crowd. The store, small, but neat and attractive, provided a fine background for the spring and summer fashion's displayed and many who entered were loath to go further down the street, content to stay at Wilrose's and admire.

Cooperative Marketing Recalling that the Farm Board in January appointed a group of seven potato growers representing Virginia, Colorado, Michigan, South Carolina and Maine, Mr. Hyde said the group had recommended a nationwide farmer-owned and controlled cooperative marketing system, founded basically on community locals grouped into district regional organizations and, through them, he said, into a national system that must come into being as the only marketing agency that has not interests that are antagonistic to either the producers' or consumers' needs.

"A system of production credit under the proper control and management of farmers' cooperatives and for the farmers' benefit should replace the present credit extended by the speculative potato interests," he said. "It is the opinion of the cooperatives represented that this is an essential means to secure and maintain cooperative membership."

Professional Models Feature of Display at Garment Center; Parade in Windows.

When bigger crowds come to the Spring Opening, they'll visit Rubinow's, might well be the slogan of this store recognized as one of the leaders in the field of women's fashions. This was attested last night by the seemingly endless throng that found its way into the store to enjoy the beautiful pageant of spring styles paraded before their eyes by two professional models and a local girl. They were Miss Astrid Johnson and Miss Mildred Lynch of New York, and Miss Dorothy Wirtalla, Manchester's queen of the dance.

Chairs were placed along the entire length of the store for visitors to sit at ease during the show. The models promenaded the aisle, much the same way as on the boardwalk at Atlantic City, and then stepped into the window to allow those who could not enter every chance to view the styles that will be all the rage this spring.

Miss Lynch was recognized immediately on her first appearance as the young lady who took part in a similar show at Rubinow's two years ago, and many were the ad-mirring comments as she presented sports wear, dress and tailored wear, evening gowns and wraps, dress and sport hats, climaxed with her appearance in a complete bridal outfit that fairly took one's breath away. Miss Lynch is widely known in New York as a model, having posed for John La Gatta, and Smithsonian

Broadhead for covers for Cosmopolitan and Red Book, and many other well known illustrators. She has also posed for Hamli, the celebrated portrait painter. An automatic photo furnished song and dance hits throughout the evening and the large crowd was so splendidly entertained the store did not close till long after nine o'clock.

Turn this package over and read the back

THE WORDS on the back of the package still mean what they say. No "extras," which do not contribute to the quality of the smoke, are included in the price of Camels. Just the utmost smoke-enjoyment that modern science can put into a cigarette.

That statement was on the first package of Camels manufactured and has been on every one of the billions of Camel packages sold from that day to this. When it was first written, other cigarette manufacturers were giving away flags, pictures of actresses, pictures of ball players—almost anything that would make the smoker think he was getting something extra for his money. The makers of Camels believed the smoker wanted a cigarette sold strictly on its merits, with all of its cost put into quality—a cigarette made of such excellent tobaccos—so perfectly blended—so mellow—so fragrant—that it would win its own way.

The vast popularity of Camels is a tribute to that four-square policy.

Don't look for premiums or coupons, as the cost of the tobaccos blended in CAMEL Cigarettes prohibits the use of them.

DAILY RADIO PROGRAM

Thursday, March 27.
 Lucretia Bori, soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company, is announced as the guest artist on the program to be broadcast by WEAF and associated stations at 10 o'clock Thursday night. During the hour she will be heard in the most famous aria from the opera "Loulou," the beautiful "Debut of the Year." Other numbers also selected include "Kiss and a Ride," "The Song of the Sea," and "The Song of the Sea." The orchestra part of the program is of unusual interest, since it offers the first performance of two new works. "Sweetheart" by J. Keiser and "The Riding Club" by Nathaniel Shilkret. How the thundering roar of racing motors on the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, May 30, 1912, might have sounded to radio listeners will be heard in the "Phillips Carlin" over the WJZ network at 8:30. In competition with Oldfield and Burman, the Dawson won the five hundred mile race and established a record speed, driving a Kauffman, and an orchestra will supply musical interludes to the story.

DISPUTE IN CABINET DELAYS JAP'S DECISION

Tokyo, March 27.—(AP)—Opposition by the naval general staff to the tentative naval tonnage formula for America and Japan as outlined at the London conference appeared today to have forestalled Japan's decision as to its acceptability.

An extraordinary session of the Cabinet, called for today to pass on the formula, which provided that Japan was to be allowed 60.6 per cent of the naval tonnage of the United States, was called off.

From authoritative sources it was learned that various difficulties had arisen in drafting instructions to the Japanese delegation at London.

The draft will not be ready for tomorrow's regular session of the Cabinet, it was stated, and it seemed likely that the instructions would not be dispatched before next week.

The naval general staff objection, it appeared, was so vigorous against acceptance and so well supported by Cabinet, it was stated, that ministers who were convinced of the wisdom of accepting the agreement became fearful of precipitating a crisis endangering the government's life unless they moved warily.

Officialdom, meanwhile, welcomed the other problems arising at London, the Mediterranean pact and the suggestion of a six months' suspension, as a diversion of world attention from Tokyo's prolonged and costly negotiations.

An official comment, which recently was inclined to support the agreement today featured strong opposition to the plan.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Portland, Me.—Mr. and Mrs. Les Morrison of New York are leaving Saturday in 18-foot outboard motor for Portland, Ore. The trip, 6,400 miles will be made for adventure and novelty.

CANADIAN AGAINST GOVERNMENT CONTROL

Washington, March 27.—(AP)—The assertion that in most of the Canadian provinces "we have not really even a pretense at government control" of liquor was made at the House judiciary committee prohibition hearings today by E. C. Drury, a former prime minister of Ontario Province, Canada.

"Government control is not the remedy," the Canadian said. "Effective control is indeed impossible. That stand for the indulgence into private affairs which would be necessary to establish any effective control."

"All we have is government sale—with consumption in the home or the hotel bedroom. No longer is drink a man's vice. Women and children are exposed to it. The home is the last place in the world where liquor should be consumed. Crime is increasing, drunkenness is increasing, motor accidents are increasing. Whatever the solution of the drink problem may be, it is not government control."

 Soldier, sailor and globe-trotter—H. F. Marendaz, whose travel talks are a Thursday afternoon feature of Station WTIC, looks back on a colorful career as a source of material for his stories of adventure in foreign lands. He was born in London and educated in a British military school. At the age of 17 he went to sea, arriving in Cape Town, on the tip of Africa, just in time to become involved in the Boer War. While there, he helped load a group of Boer prisoners shipped to Bermuda, because they would not pledge allegiance to the British Crown. A few years ago, he encountered several of these prisoners while visiting Bermuda. He served on the Steamship Silvertown, assisting in the laying of the cable from Dakar, Africa, to Rio de Janeiro in Brazil. Mr. Marendaz will relate some of his experiences and describe some of his voyages at 4:45 o'clock this afternoon from Station WTIC.

DAILY KENTEN THOUGHT

BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
 Editor of The Congregationalist.

How anxious people are to claim or establish kinship with the great; yet how neglectful of that greater kinship which Jesus made possible for all.

Not long ago an expert genealogist told me that he finally had traced the lineage of a certain American millionaire back to the Mayflower. Hitherto the assumption had been that this man of conspicuous business success had married into a family with a social prestige that he did not himself possess, and my genealogical friend suggested something of the satisfaction he was about to bring to this millionaire in making it clear that he had that distinction, greatest of all in American genealogy, of descent from the Mayflower company.

One may pardon the millionaire his interest in that fact. Human nature, despite its professed democracy, never becomes entirely scornful of such things.

But, how much greater is the privilege of kinship with Jesus of Nazareth! Even the Mayflower company had its glory only because of faith in him and in his religion. It is this high heritage of kinship with Jesus that he offers so simply to us all.

We recall his words when he was told that his mother and his brethren were standing outside. The record is that Jesus stretched forth his hands toward his disciples and said, "Behold, my mother and my brethren," adding, "For whosoever shall do the will of my Father, which is in heaven, the same is my brother, and sister, and mother."

FEAR SHOE COMPETITION

Boston, March 27.—(AP)—Foreign competition threatens to wipe out the shoe and leather industry. Representative Michael Zack of Lynn today told the joint rules committee in urging his bill providing that the Massachusetts industrial commission be authorized to investigate conditions in Massachusetts, unless the state intervenes and does something," he said. "The shoe and leather industry will be wiped out in five years."

He pointed out that in the past seven years the importation of shoes from Czechoslovakia alone increased from 50,000 pairs to more than 6,000,000 pairs. During that period, he said, the industry in Massachusetts shrank more than 50 per cent.

GAME LAW VIOLATORS SHOWN NO SYMPATHY

Courts Treat Breakers of Laws Relating to Fishing Harshly Chief Warden Finds.

Connecticut courts extended little sympathy to violators of the fish and game laws during 1929, according to a report on the activities of state game wardens submitted by Chief Warden A. J. Williamson to John W. Titcomb, superintendent of fisheries and game. Of 929 persons arrested for various offenses 907 were convicted and fined. Sixty-three regulations or laws were disobeyed by the violators, and the fines and court costs amounted to $14,075.79. The number of arrests was the largest for any year in the history of the state. Warden Williamson reports. A previous high record was established in 1928, when 775 persons were arrested. The increased activities last year covered all districts, and arrests were made in 147 of the 169 towns of the state. In Hartford county, 141 arrests were made in 27 out of 29 towns; in New Haven county, 361 arrests were made in 24 out of 27 towns; in New London county, 147 arrests were made in 19 out of 21 towns; in Fairfield county, 197 arrests were made in 22 out of 23 towns; in Windham county, 87 arrests were made in 15 towns; in Litchfield county, 112 arrests were made in 22 out of 26 towns; in Middlesex county, 16 arrests were made in 6 out of 15 towns and in Tolland county, 68 arrests were made in 12 out of 13 towns. Offenders against the fishing laws were most numerous, there being 463. The violators of hunting laws numbered 449, and seventeen persons were arrested for infractions of general regulations. The most frequent offense was angling without a license, this charge resulting in 170 arrests. Eighty-four persons were held for keeping fish shorter than the length allowed by law. Forty were found with unlawful hooks or lines. Thirty-six went fishing in waters restricted to domestic use. Thirty-six were in possession of short blue crabs. Sixteen were fishing out of season. Others were arrested for violating such laws as angling in closed waters; spearing and netting in trout streams; spearing species other than eels and suckers; operating unregistered or unlawful gear; selling egg bearing sponge crabs; stealing lobsters; and drawing seines in restricted waters. Failure to secure a license was also the most frequent offense against the hunting and trapping laws. Eighty-nine persons were arrested on this charge and eighty-seven of them were convicted. The use of unlawful traps resulted in forty-nine arrests, the hunting of ducks after sunset caused thirty-nine, and hunting out of season, thirty-eight. Other laws frequently violated are: killing deer, 32 arrests; aliens hunting or carrying arms, 34; failure to attend traps, 10; hunting non-game or song birds, 20; possessing hen pheasants, 11; Sunday hunting (also applies to carrying gun on Sunday), 13; trapping without landowner's consent, 43; unlawful use of motor vehicle lights, 11. Twenty other types of hunting violations are listed in the report, besides general violations, such as failure to carry license, loaning license or button, procuring license by false statement, and juvenile delinquency cases.

Warden Williamson reports that he does not believe the increase in arrests was caused by an increase in violations. It was due, more, he says, to the liberal allowance allotted for warden service, and a new policy of employing full-time wardens which has allowed better and more extensive patrols in all sections of the state. In addition to the enforcement of the game laws, the wardens assist in many other ways. They were instrumental in saving a large number of trout which were rescued from brooks during dry weather. They also rescued more than 5,000 yellow perch from a pond which was drained. They helped build retaining ponds for trout, repaired broken drains in ponds, made a complete survey of pheasant covers, charting those on topographic maps. A number of brush fires were put out by the wardens who also assisted in fighting forest fires. They located several stolen cars which had been abandoned in back roads. They were also able to locate loot which had been hidden by burglars and turned it over to the police. The cost of this service is about $82,000 per year.

"Our individual capacity for appreciation must be developed," he said, "making possible real friendship between ourselves and the people of other nationalities with whom we work here. SPRING OPENING MANDOLIN CLUB AT ELECTRIC CO.

Maxwell Organization Plays During Evening; Many Test Mrs. Rowe's Cooking.

The Manchester Electric Company added a distinct note of dreamy, far-away places in their presentation of the Maxwell Mandolin club playing during the opening hours. The members of local club played many selections, admirably adapted to the occasion.

The seemingly endless assortment of electrical aids adapted to the modern home were explained in detail by the large sales force and many tested the cakes and pastry cooked by Mrs. Marion Rowe, Home Economist, on the new electric range. The store was well lighted, and the spectacle of glittering silver and white and colored enamels against a background of black velvet was appealing to the eye.

The members of the Maxwell Mandolin club are as follows: Miss G. Carlisle; Miss V. Greenaway; Mrs. F. Walsh; Miss B. Filbig; Miss E. Filbig; Mrs. H. Tavoskiuk; Mr. H. Helm; Miss F. Benson; Mrs. Metcalf and Miss T. Maxwell. Thomas Maxwell of the Manchester Electric Co., is the club leader.

FRANCE IS WAITING DECISION OF PARLEY

Paris, March 27.—(AP)—The French government is waiting to see what sort of a pact the naval conference will offer with the hope expressed in official quarters that it would be an adequate inducement to reduce her tonnage.

The determination, however, was expressed in French official circles that only something worth while in French opinion would be accepted.

These circles frankly say they want "acts not words" meaning that the proposed pact must be something more than a polite agreement to meet and talk things over if war danger appears.

"Whether there is a pact or not," said one political authority, "there are always such conferences and what we must have is the assurance that the parties to the pact will do something."

France can conceive several forms of aid other than military, but of sufficient weight in case of a threat of war, to have tremendous effect such as economic measures and public denunciation of aggression.

Whether the United States would participate even in "a consultative" capacity appears to be considered doubtful in semi-official circles, but American adherence, however, neutral would be highly valued.

The other signatories to any pact, it was indicated, would have to produce something decidedly more tangible than words to convince France she must lower her naval figures below the 724,000 tons which she thinks her defense requires.

HOLD THEIR NOSES

There is a good deal of dry railing at the press for its preponderant attitude of opposition to federal prohibition. It is the newspapers, assert the dry leaders, that are keeping alive the agitation against the prohibitory laws; the newspapers encourage law breaking; the newspapers welcome the subject as material for continual sensationalism; the newspapers revel in exploitation of violations of the Eighteenth amendment and the supporting statutes; the newspapers have no morals, no patriotism, no sense of responsibility and they play up revolt against the law out of sheer self interest.

We are a bit bored by this sort of criticism in view of the fact that there is not a single newspaper in the United States, though now giving a great deal of news and editorial space to the subject of prohibition, which wouldn't be utterly delighted if the whole wearisome and disheartening subject could be swept out of existence for ever and a day.

Before there was ever such a thing as prohibition the newspapers were subjected to similar criticism, over and over again, with relation to the bloody business of war. There was a flood notion extant that a war was ambrosia and nectar to the press; that newspapers rejoiced with a fiendish delight at the first barking of the guns and the first flow of blood—for did not such news cause thousands to grab the extras from the boys and add vastly to circulations?

As a matter of fact war is hell for the newspapers as certainly as it was for the people of Georgia when Sherman marched to the sea. It adds enormously to the costs of production; the expense of news-gathering is multiplied; because the economic health of any nation is inevitably unfavorably affected by its engagement in war, general business suffers and the advertising income of the newspapers falls off; personae are disorganized and in such a highly specialized business this is a serious matter; editorial and news staffs are compelled to work under great strain; balance sheets go into the red. If the World War had lasted two years longer nine out of ten American newspapers would have been bankrupted—a single year more would have finished many.

Yet there was just as much truth and just as much sense to the foolish libel that the newspapers delighted in war as there is to the assertion that they revel in the sordid and revolting facts of prohibition. We don't believe there is a newspaper organization in this country, or a reporter or editor, who isn't sick and tired of the words "wet" and "dry," of the whole stupendous hoax and its never ending and hateful ramifications.

This business of prohibition news and prohibition discussion isn't the breath of life to the newspapers. They have ten thousand other interests to which they would gladly give their attention. There is, materially, nothing whatever in it for them. They are in a very different position indeed from those salaried agitators of the dry organizations who get their living out of the mess. They would thank their stars if the thing were over and done with and forgotten, like the black plague of the middle ages.

But to deal with prohibition is, nevertheless, their job, and to deal with it in, as nearly as possible, exact proportion to its relative importance to other interests. And the newspaper, through thick and thin, sticks to its job. Prohibition is the biggest and most vital continuing subject before the American people. So, despite the fact that they would infinitely prefer to be dealing with something else, the newspapers continue to deal proportionately with it—and hold their noses.

But the individual who deludes himself with the notion that they like it needs a commission in lunacy.

WELCOME REDS

Three out-and-out Russian Soviet communists arrived in America on the record breaking Europa. There was nothing secretive about their coming, no question about their redness. Yet up to the present moment we have seen nothing about any of the super-patriotic societies lodging a protest with the State Department over their being permitted to land. Those earnest souls who strove so bitterly, and for so long effectively, to keep the Karolyis out of the country have, apparently, failed to rally on the Old Flag and shout "They shall not pass!" concerning Ivan Kriwjenko, Nicolai Nimechkov and Michail Turchin.

Messieurs Kriwjenko, Nimechkov and Turchin have forty million dollars with them, all in approved bank credits, and they have come to spend it.

Ten million dollars of it is to be spent on refrigerating machinery for plants in Moscow. Thirty million dollars is to be used in purchasing machinery for a big group of factories in the Ukraine where it is planned to turn out many thousands of tractors a day.

Now it is perfectly obvious that this purchasing committee is engaged, in a manner far exceeding in importance anything that can be done by May day paraders or soap box orators, in endeavoring to prove the case of communism. If the undertaking of which they are an important part—that of making an economic success of the Bolshevik experiment—should by any chance result in bringing material prosperity to the entire Russian people, then indeed would communism become something to be reckoned with.

So that there is something many times more sinister in this group with its forty millions than in all the penniless ranting reds whose only weapons have been words and fingernails and who have been so relentlessly pursued by super-patriots for years. And yet from what quarter are we to expect any protest against the admission of these cash customers for refrigerating and tractor plants? From none, we'll say.

Forty millions is real money. One can imagine what would happen, at the hands of the machinery men, Chambers of Commerce and business persons generally, if the hundred per centers should cry out against permitting this Soviet trade to come into the United States. The hundred per centers would be sat upon by some hundreds of tons of sturdy industrial executives—some of them being the husbands and brothers and fathers of the most vocal of all the habitual red baiters.

Reluctantly perhaps, but inevitably, most of us will yield to the hypothesis that a red is a red when he brings us nothing but noise but a red is something else again when he brings business enough to keep a good many thousand American workmen employed for a number of months.

TWO PROBE RESULTS

How accurately this newspaper appraised the probable effect of the attempt to jail Mayor Batterson of Hartford for refusal to peach on a friend who helped him get some liquor is indicated by the launching of a Batterson-for-Congress boom in the Capitol City last night.

The Herald said on Tuesday, the day of Mayor Batterson's vindication by the Superior Court: "If ever an ambitious young politician got a break * * * it is Walter E. Batterson. Try and beat him, now, for any office within the people of his bailiwick! * * * Try, for instance, to beat him as a candidate, in due season, for Congress!"

And now, within 48 hours, coming on the heels of an intimation that Representative E. Hart Penn may not care to run again for Congressional honors, the Batterson boom is already an accomplished fact.

injured in Hartford upon the children themselves.

Our position is that neither society, the motorist, the law maker nor the statistician has any right to expect from young children any degree of caution whatever; that the fact that children will play in the streets and suddenly dash into the path of the motorist is inseparable from the condition of childhood; that it is unreasonable and uncivilized to demand of children that they protect their own lives by due precaution and care, on penalty of being outlawed if they fail to exercise these qualities—which they do not possess; that children are not, in this matter, any more than any other, responsible individuals; that the burden of their safeguarding lies not upon themselves but, in this connection, on the automobilist and the laws, controlling motor travel.

We contend that the unwarned presence of children in the streets is an inevitably recurrent condition of city and town traffic; that motor vehicle operation must be controlled with a view to the existence of this unpreventable condition; that the only way to eliminate the killing and injuring of children is to require motorists, who are and by law must be reasonable and responsible persons, to have their cars under such instant control that the appearance of children in their line of travel will not result in accidents.

That means, if it means anything, good brakes and less speed.

IN NEW YORK

New York, March 27.—Broadway's most important and most envied drama producer at the moment is one "Lawrence Rivers." And thereby dangles another of those highly ironic and amusing little tales of the "main stem." For there is no such person as Lawrence Rivers. Yet his name is to be seen in large letters over the firm which put on "The Green Pastures," the most fabulously successful and the most generally lauded attraction since I first leaned against the hitching post at Longacre Square.

Already the name of "masterpiece" has been attached to this drama. "Mr. Rivers" becomes a colossus of the theater. The play will run and run and run, like Tennyson's brook and Ann Nichols' "Abie's Irish Rose." It will make millions.

And Rowland Stebbins will be as obscure a personality as ever, unless paragraphs such as this continue to let the world know that Stebbins and Rivers are the same bird.

Stebbins was a gent from Wall Street—you know, that place where the market once cracked up. The eye and ear boys of Broadway have always flirted with Wall Street's cash, but held with extreme caution its pernicious effects on "the commercial theater." What did Wall Street know of art and the drama? It took theater men to know such things.

Yet, when Marc Connelly was peddling his "Green Pastures" in the highways and byways of the famous lane, all the wise producers were looking right out the window.

Jed Harris, having built the tallest of reputations for never missing a bet and being a hitmaker of tremendous importance, is said to have been first to get a crack at it. To his credit, let it be said, that Harris was inclined to do something about it, but didn't. Connelly to have a hand in the direction. Connelly, knowing the unusual nature of his drama, felt that he had to sit at the ringside. The deal was off. He went to Arthur Hopkins, to Crosby Gilgole, to the Theater Guild, to the Gaiety, where and he's taken lecture tours in the winter. When he was projected upon the stage, his English was so polished that for a time it appeared that he might not be able to master the negro dialect assigned to him. It was only after weeks of study, that he could get back to the accent of his people.

Health and Diet Advice
 By DR. FRANK McCOY
 THE HOME AS A HEALTH CENTER.

Although people may go to the sanitarium or hospital when they are sick, it is the home which they return to that puts the final polish on the state of rebuilding health. While they may stay at the hospital for a month, they are under the home influence for years. Thus, the home becomes the true center of any real health building. It is the spot where health must be built up and maintained, especially for children, and most of the health instructions should be concentrated on the home.

People who live in the sort of home in which food is abundant and wisely prepared and combined—in which there are proper sleeping and bathing facilities, and a constant stream of fresh air at night—where there is an adequate playground for children—are more likely to have a good chance for health because here in the home of the main factors for health are met and cared for. On the other hand, if we have the kind of home where the usual meal contains greasy food, or in which the food combinations are entirely incorrect, in which the air supply is poisoned or the bathroom unsanitary, we have a perfect breeding ground for disease.

Many people realize that it is important to have a pleasant place of employment, but they should remember that about twice as much is spent at home. In fact, the home should be so well kept and pleasant that one would desire to spend more time there than to gab about in the nerve-racking and often unsatisfactory search for excitement and entertainment.

The home life should be adapted to the needs of its members and everyone should have at least two good meals at home, perhaps breakfast and dinner. Then if a hurried luncheon is needed it can consist of light foods, such as salads and fruits. Every mother should make a thorough study of diet and home culture because a child can have no better start in life than the training he receives at home before he starts out to make his own way in the world where there are no so many opportunities for health building as he had under the loving family care.

It is in the home that the important crop of the country's manpower and child womanpower is produced. I believe that the mothers of America are to be congratulated for the intense interest that they are taking in the never discoveries of diet and health regime now offered for babies and young children. They have learned to a far greater extent how to feed their children so that teaching becomes normal, rickets unnecessary, and to avoid more serious complications of children's illnesses. With such a mother in charge of the home as a center of health, the old time fears of rearing children need no longer exist, and the large sums of money ordinarily required for a doctor's fees can be turned to some more useful advantage.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

(Rheumatism.) Question—Mrs. G. S. asks: "What is the difference between articular rheumatism and arthritis? Is arthritis of the spine considered more dangerous than any other points in the body?" Answer: All forms of rheumatism are caused by practically the same thing—intestinal poisoning. The name of the different types vary according to the region in which the rheumatism localizes. Arthritis of the spine is one of the most serious forms of rheumatism, and if the patient finally becomes unable to move about he therefore becomes weaker day by day, as every movement of the spine is painful and induces the patient to stay in one position to avoid the discomfort. It is sometimes necessary to keep the spine immovable for several months, in which event the irritated vertebrae join together.

(Lemon Juice.) Question—Mrs. A. asks: "Will lemon juice on the face every night tend to dry the skin?" Answer: Lemon juice added to the water in which the face is washed tends to prevent dryness of the skin because the acid of the lemon counteracts the alkali which is found in so much of the common hydrant water. It is often advisable to add a few drops of lemon juice to the water in which the hair is washed.

(Tomatoes.) Question—Mrs. C. A. asks: "Are tomatoes a fruit or a vegetable and may they be eaten with genuine wholewheat bread or biscuits, and may a little honey and cream be used as a dressing on lettuce and eaten with wholewheat products?" Answer: Tomatoes must be considered an acid fruit and should not be used with bread or biscuits. It is better not to use honey or other sweeteners with starchy food, but cream may be used with any kind of vegetables or with wholewheat products.

 55 YEARS AT SOUTH MANCHESTER

Washington, March 27.—That London naval arms conference has turned out to be a rather sad business and unless a near miracle happens the results may be a source of domestic embarrassment to our present government instead of adding to its prestige as was once expected.

Daily WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER
 NEA Service Writer

Washington, March 27.—That London naval arms conference has turned out to be a rather sad business and unless a near miracle happens the results may be a source of domestic embarrassment to our present government instead of adding to its prestige as was once expected.

When the American delegation comes home with a naval treaty, if any, it is likely to encounter a storm. Something important will have been accomplished if naval limitation is actually achieved, but it may be hard to sell that idea to a country which was promised reduction. Long ago it was obvious that the whole show had been over-bullyhooded by President Hoover and Secretary of State Stimson. When the fact sinks in that naval parity with Britain means a lot of extra cruiser building instead of reduction, the job of explanation may be very difficult. Officially, the hope for reduction has never been abandoned; actually, it was abandoned late last summer.

Four-Cornered Problem

In the first place, everyone knows that France, grown cocky with increased national wealth, has insisted on a large building program of 750,000 tons and that Italy has to a lesser extent complicated the situation by insisting on naval parity with France. England is forced to maintain equality with the French and Italian fleets combined and unless someone gives in, the United States must meet the raise if it wants parity with England.

The question then arises as to why everything wasn't smoothed out with France long before the conference. That's the way such things are ordinarily done. A startling exception was the Geneva conference which was principally a British-American conference on the conference. Instead of a preliminary understanding before the Geneva conference there was a preliminary understanding; at least our State Department officials always gave us newspaper boys to understand that virtual agreement had been reached between the two countries in advance and that the conference blew up when the British reneged. But if that were so, why weren't extraordinary precautions taken to see that there wasn't any repetition at London?

Well, the unofficial explanation as now given indicates either that someone was extraordinarily dumb or that someone has been double-crossing again. It is insisted that Premier Ramsay MacDonald, when he came here to see Hoover, gave the president complete assurances that there was no need to worry about France. He is said to have told Hoover that France could be depended upon not to insist on any program which would disturb the parity figures which president and premier agreed upon at Rapaid; "when the time came" she would abandon any advance demands which she might at first make for bargaining purposes. After the delegates to London were appointed Hoover and Stimson explained this to them.

Suspicious France

Apparently MacDonald sincerely believed what he told Hoover. That leads back to the question of how the French and who gave it. By that time, for lack of information, one is out in the fog.

At any rate, it finally developed that France was putting a price on her renunciation of the 750,000-ton program. She would reduce her demands if we and Britain would agree to a security measure under which we would consent with Kellogg pact signatories in case France were threatened with war. President Hoover's attitude was that the Senate wouldn't stand for anything like that and so far Britain and America have refused to have anything to do with it. One section of American opinion thinks it is a small thing to quibble over. France, always suspicious and worried, always stresses "security." She sees Germany coming back, she faces Mussolini and Italy in the Mediterranean, her little Entente alliances may get her in a jam some day with Russia and her relations with the British labor government have been so somewhat strained.

There are many other complications apparent at London, but the one described has been regarded as the most important.

WARSHIPS FOR COLOMBIA

PLANE INDUSTRY IN STATE GROWS

Bridgeport Leads in Manufacturing; Eleven Flying Fields Now Operating.

Hartford, March 27.—The amazing growth in the aviation industry in Connecticut is depicted in a survey just completed by the Connecticut chamber of commerce in conjunction with local chambers of commerce showing that the number of concerns in the state manufacturing airplanes, airplane engines, airplane parts and equipment, and machines used in the construction of airplanes or parts, increased 663 percent in 1929 over 1927. There were 19 concerns in the state in 1927 engaged in the aeronautical industry, according to the survey at that time. At the end of 1929, this number had increased to 145. The gain in the number of concerns from 1927 to 1929 was 478 per cent, or an increase from 19 to 110.

Bridgeport showed the greatest increase, having reported six manufacturers of planes and 42 makers of parts and equipment in 1929 compared with four manufacturers of airplanes and 20 manufacturers of airplane parts and equipment in 1927, and but one maker of parts in 1927.

Waterbury ranked second in the number of concerns added to the aeronautical industry. In 1929, there were 19 manufacturers of parts and accessories for airplanes in the city, 19 in 1928 and none in 1927. The survey indicates that in 1929 Hartford had 21 makers of airplane parts. New Britain gained 15 concerns in the industry from 1927 to 1929, according to the survey.

Aviation service in Connecticut showed a relative increase over the same period. The 1929 survey revealed 12 concerns and individuals engaged in such activities as taxi, sightseeing, delivery, aerial advertising, flying and ground instruction, cross-country hops, aerial photography, servicing and repair of planes and selling of airplanes. In 1929, there were 20 concerns and individuals so engaged.

According to the current survey, there are at present 11 flying fields and seaplane bases in the state and nine in the process of development. Of these, two are state fields, five municipal and 13 private.

Manchester's only connection is through Cheney Brothers who make silk for parachutes.

OPENING STOCKS

New York, March 27.—(AP)—The Stock Market opened today with another outburst of bullish enthusiasm as blocks of 5,000 to 25,000 were sold off.

Commonwealth & Southern, American Telephone, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Superior Steel and Engineers Public Service all moved into new high ground in initial sales. Vanadium Steel opened 1-1/4 points higher.

Stone & Webster, Chrysler, Studebaker and Montgomery-Ward opened fractionally lower.

Public utilities showed revival of bullish enthusiasm in which was largely responsible for the first 5,000,000 share session of the year yesterday, continued in the forefront of the advance. American Telephone was quickly marked up more than 5 points and accompanied into new high ground by American Water works, Consolidated Gas of New York, Stone & Webster and several others.

Rails assumed increasing prominence under the leadership of the Chicago Great Western issues, the preferred stock moving into new high ground. This is one of the few railroads to date whose 1930 earnings have made favorable comparisons with the corresponding period of last year.

Prospects of higher mid-continent crude prices and merger rumors, the latest involving the Barnsdall and Sinclair companies, stimulated the demand for the oil shares. Houston, with a gain of 2 points, was the early leader in that group. Standard Oil of New Jersey and Texas Corporation also reached new high ground.

American Can, American Tobacco, Allied Chemical, J. I. Case, Checker, Cab and Dupont also were in brisk demand in the early trading.

Foreign exchanges opened firm, with sterling cables quoted a shade higher at $4.86 11-16.

ENGINEER KILLED AT POST.

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 27.—(AP)—When the engineer dead in his cab, the victim of a loosened brakelock as the train roared down grade at high speed between Jackson, Mich., and Ann Arbor, the fireman of a Michigan Central-Detroit limited brought the train safely to a stop and then with the aid of a brakeman piloted it into the station here at midnight last night.

The engineer, Floyd Finch of Jackson, was killed when the brake shoe became loose and was hurled upward through the cab, crushing his head.

The fireman, R. H. Van Order, noting Finch slumped in his seat, stopped the train and found the engineer dead.

FOUR MEN DROWNED

Prince Rupert, B. C., March 27.—Word reached here today that four employees of the Northern British Columbia Power Company, had lost their lives in the Falls river near the Port Essington, 26 miles east of Prince Rupert.

The men were members of a party of six whose boats capsized and were swept over a nearby falls. The other two were saved.

SPRING OPENING LOCAL GIRLS DISPLAY VOGUE AT FRADIN'S

Five Models Parade Before Big Crowds Showing Sports and Afternoon Wear.

Nearly everyone who paraded Main street last night found their way to Fradin's sooner or later and judging by the crowd that packed the space before the store many must have made this popular women's clothing store their headquarters. Fradin's models were all young and decidedly easy to look upon, girls, mostly local, who stepped into the show window wearing the latest styles in sport and dress wear, which this year feature the complete ensemble.

The models were Lillian Murdock, Madeline Woodhouse, Florence Johnson, of Burnside, and Lillian Klinkhammer and Doris Gibson, the last two named exhibiting children's fashions. Music was provided by a phonograph with all the song hits of recent shows and revues.

SPRING OPENING BLISH HARDWARE CO. WINDOW ATTRACTIVE

The F. T. Blish Hardware Company window display was especially attractive. In the right side window was a display of sport goods, including fishing, tennis, baseball and golf. The one on the left featured Devoe Artlac, a new paint product. It was the center window, however, which captured the honors. On a large strip of artificial grass stood a miniature house. Garden tools lay upon the grass and on one side of the house stood a large fountain, on the other a big crystal chandelier, which produced colorful reflections. Inside the store, garden and farm implements were conspicuously displayed, as was garden seed.

SPRING OPENING WARD STORE WORKERS MODEL NEWEST STYLES

Company Gives Party After Opening to Employees Who Aided in the Work.

Montgomery Ward and Co. in their spacious store presented a style show on the second floor in the fashion department. Music coming through the powerful radio sets in the radio department of the store aided as models presenting a complete and authentic line in women's spring and summer wearing apparel. The models were Kathleen Mahler, Mildred Larson, Betty Keane, and Mrs. Bertha Burgess. Children's wear models were Katherine Cornelius, Jane Myers, and Florence Howarth. Following the closing of the store the company gave a party for the employees who had assisted in the Spring Opening.

WOULD LOCK FLOORS OF HUB ELKS HOTEL

Boston, March 27.—(AP)—An application to padlock two floors of the Elks Hotel was made to Federal Court here today by Elihu D. Stone, assistant United States district attorney, as a sequel to a raid on the premises and six alleged speakeasies of liquor several weeks ago. The writ is returnable on April 7.

The government's petition asks that the fifth floor and a mezzanine floor between the fifth and sixth floors be closed for a year. The floors specified allegedly contained the club and connecting bar room where the agents alleged the drinking took place.

The defendants in the proceedings are the Boston Lodge, No. 10, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, the Boston Elks Hotel Company and Jacob Gordon, Edward O. Beazley and John Decourcy. The three men were alleged to have prohibited agents to have been actively operating the liquor business.

WOMEN'S PETITION

London, March 27.—(AP)—Women of fourteen countries today added petitions to the fast growing pile on the naval conference desk urging the delegates to hasten the work of naval disarmament.

"We are anxiously watching your labors," reads a memorial signed by the women's societies affiliated with the International Alliance of Women for Suffrage and Equal Citizenship in fourteen countries. "We beg you to show courage and vision in recommending a decisive cut in armaments so as to give an effective lead to disarmament work at Geneva."

The participating countries are the United States, Germany, Austria, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Greece, Holland, Hungary, Norway, Sweden, Iceland, Ireland, Switzerland and Lithuania.

BIG HOTEL BURNS

Long Beach, N. Y., March 27.—Fire early today destroyed the $1,000,000 Hotel Lafayette here, which was to have been opened for the summer within a few days. It was unoccupied. The origin of the fire was not determined. When the blaze was discovered it had spread to all four floors of the frame and concrete structure of 200 rooms.

COUPLE DEAD IN AUTO PARKED IN CEMETERY

Jonesville, Mich., March 27.—(AP)—Lowell Durfee and Cecile Nye, 17 year old Jonesville High school students who had been missing since Monday night, were found dead this morning in Durfee's sedan, parked in a cemetery near here.

The two students had left the Jonesville High school Monday night, following a football banquet. Durfee said he was going to drive Miss Nye home.

No indications as to what caused the death of the two were found by those who discovered the bodies. State police and Hillsdale county officers started a search for the two Tuesday morning.

Williams proved to be a stopping place for the fastidious dresser. This store had a crowd coming in and out through the entire of the displays of good cause. Several hundred of the special light focused on them, making them doubly attractive to the eye. The table displays were laid out with pleasing effect and the physical aspect of the store harmonized well with the clothing.

SPRING OPENING KEITH'S FEATURES EARLY FURNITURE

Modern Adaptations of Colonial Styles Make Up Interesting Displays.

The G. E. Keith Furniture Company located at Main and School streets, featured maple bedroom furniture of the early American style. The center window was made over into a bed room suite showing the modern adaptation of the colonial style. One of the colorful wool floor rugs was on the floor and much charm was added by the quaint Cape Cod chair group which included a rocker chair with wool tapestry, a colonial book shelf and an oil lamp. The entire setting was very effective and caused much favorable comment.

The left, or off window as it is called in the store vernacular, was made over into a picturesque colonial dining room, the setting of which worked out in complete detail. This very interesting group consisted of a large butterfly table, quaint ladder-back chairs, a colonial sideboard over which hung one of the favorite Chippendale mirrors. The Chippendale chairs were two Chippendale scatter rugs with attractive hooked patterns. Other accessories included a colonial wall rack with clock, candle stand and magazine basket. The setting was complete with odd pieces of pewter, a realistic spring atmosphere.

The south window was devoted to a seasonal display of Hayward-Wakefield baby carriages. This setting also was most attractive. On a bed of prepared grass were two stylish new perambulators representing the last word in babies' comfort. Directly in the center background rested a large easel on which was placed a picture of a baby's head brought out in vivid colors, directly in front of which rested the artist's stool, palette and brush, giving the impression that the picture had just been completed. The setting was completed with realistic yellow daisies growing here and there and scattered about the wall.

Attractive cards in each of the three windows brought passersby to realization that here indeed was a store which seemed to sense the true spirit of spring. Inside of the store, the center section was devoted to an attractive display of early American bedroom furniture. The Keith store was crowded during the evening and it was quite evident that those who visited it went away impressed with what they had seen.

SENATE WILL PROBE BOTH ORGANIZATIONS

Washington, March 27.—(AP)—

Investigation of wet and dry organizations is planned by the Senate lobby committee.

Chairman Caraway of the committee said today the inquiry probably would begin as soon as the investigation into persons and organizations interested in Muscle Shoals was completed.

The Muscle Shoals investigation is expected to be finished next Tuesday with testimony by W. B. Bell, president of the American Cyanamid Company, which now has an offer pending in Congress to lease the government power and nitrate plant.

Caraway said the first witness in the prohibition inquiry probably would be Representative Tinkham, Republican, Massachusetts, who has asked to be heard by the lobby committee.

After that, the chairman said, representatives of some wet and dry organizations probably would be heard.

Definite plans have not been completed, Caraway said the inquiry in all probability would embrace the Anti-Saloon League and the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.

YOUNG PLAN WINS CONFIDENCE VOTE

Premier Tardieu Wins His First Skirmish in Chamber By Vote of 319 to 262.

Paris, March 27.—(AP)—Premier Tardieu won his first skirmishes on the bill for ratification of the Young plan in the Chamber of Deputies today.

He twice opposed a question of confidence and twice was sustained first by raised hands and second by a vote of 319 against 262.

The preliminary skirmish came after Louis Marin, Nationalist leader, denounced the plan and then moved the previous question which would call for an immediate vote.

The premier responded briefly and asked for the Chamber's support if wasn't necessary even to count the hands raised for him on this question.

Another Majority.—The premier again put the question of confidence against a Radical Socialist motion to defer debate until the return of Foreign Minister Briand from London. This motion provoked a number of, lively incidents, the Radical charging Tardieu, knowing they and the Socialists had decided to vote for the plan at all hazards, and ignoring their susceptibilities. At one time the recriminations were so violent that the few ministers present left the benches as a protest.

The vote, however, gave the premier a 37 majority.

SPRING OPENING PLUMBING, SUPPLY CO. DISPLAYS FARM TOOLS

The Manchester Plumbing and Supply Company also had an attractive display of sport supplies in one of its display windows, showing baseball, tennis, fishing and golf supplies.

BANKER IS GO TODAY

Brunswick, Ga., March 27.—(AP) George Fisher Baker, lone survivor of a powerful group of financiers who commanded money and industry at the beginning of the 20th century, today observed his 90th birthday at the Jekyll Island Retreat where he once was wont to confer with J. P. Morgan, James J. Hill, Theodore N. Vail and James Stillman. Still active in the conduct of a wide variety of enterprises, his silence has become a legend, had planned a quiet day marked only by a family dinner.

SPRING OPENING GLENNEY'S OPENING FEATURES ORCHESTRA

Advance Showing of Men's and Youths' Wear for Spring and Summer Attracts.

Glenney's part in the Spring Opening was in giving the many customers of this popular store an advance showing of men's and boys' wear to the accompaniment of seductive music furnished by Bill Waddell's orchestra. Young America, especially, free for the evening, made this store their rendezvous, and young men whose names are familiar to the lovers of the diamond, football field and basketball court were on hand to view the latest in sport and business wear of which there was plenty in orderly and attractive show cases and in the large and well-trimmed windows.

An expression of regret was forthcoming, however, from the courteous clerks of this centrally located haberdashery. It was to the effect that salesmanship on the morrow would lose much of its appeal without the accompanying strains of inspirational music.

An occasional couple viewed the many Glenney offerings in a secluded part of the store, apart from the music loving mass at the far end. These were the coming brides and grooms of three months hence in search of the advance styles for the 1930 nuptials. It need not be questioned that Glenney's was well prepared for these latter investigators. All in all Glenney's was well satisfied with the evening's interest.

RHODE ISLAND'S BISHOP HEADS THE P. E. CHURCH

Chicago, March 27.—(AP)—The Rt. Rev. James De Wolf Perry, bishop of Rhode Island since 1911, is the new primate of the Protestant Episcopal church in America.

Elected by the House of Bishops yesterday, the primate succeeds Charles P. Anderson, bishop of Chicago, who died Jan. 25.

Bishop Perry was named on the seventh ballot, receiving 69 votes—one more than was necessary for election. Seventeen bishops were nominated for the primacy—an honor equal in the distinction in the United States to the archbishop of Canterbury in England.

The descendant of an old New England family, Bishop Perry was born Oct. 13, 1871, in Germantown, Pa., where his father, the late Rev. James De Wolf Perry, was rector of Calvary Episcopal church.

SCHOOL IN MERIDEN TO BE REORGANIZED

Governor Issues Statement As to Situation at State Institution for Boys.

Hartford, March 27.—(AP)—Regarding the Meriden school situation, Governor Trumbull today issued the following statement: "I met with the trustees Wednesday afternoon and presented to each a copy of the report of the commission appointed by me to investigate the conditions at the Meriden School, which was held by them, I think it, and upon my return we discussed it briefly. I then demanded that the trustees proceed immediately with a complete reorganization of the personnel of the Meriden school, commencing with the superintendent. I said I would be satisfied with nothing less, and gave them an opportunity to proceed with this reorganization. I expect to give them a reasonable time in which to do it."

Governor Trumbull also stated that the trustees of the Connecticut School for Boys are not appointed by the governor as are trustees of other state institutions, but are appointed by the State Senate.

TRUSTEES' POSITION Meriden, March 27.—(AP)—The board of trustees of the Connecticut School for Boys will meet in special session next Tuesday morning to consider the resignation of Superintendent Edward S. Boyd and the twelve recommendations for changes in management and policy suggested by Governor John H. Trumbull's special investigating committee.

Motor Hints Timely Suggestions on the Care of the Car by the Automobile Club of Hartford.

Reverse Gear Is Best If the car is parked downhill in the forward direction does it make any difference whether the gears are left in reverse?

Many owners or reverse? Reverse is the lowest gear of the car and thus permits the engine to power. You will argue, however, that when the car is facing downhill and the gear is in reverse, the weight of the car, should the emergency brake fail, would force the engine to reverse its ordinary direction of rotation. You may ask if an engine has compression in reverse direction? It is difficult to visualize an engine running backwards but it should be easy to recall that the power stroke of any piston when the engine runs normally becomes a compression stroke when its direction is reversed.

Pressure Lowers With Age As the car grows old and the oil pressure gauge commences to show a lower average reading there is a natural temptation to increase the pressure with the idea of improving matters. If you follow this first impulse, however, the chances are the engine will be overlubricated.

Tip On Adding Water Even though the care of cars is a matter which often should be run according to good judgment rather than by fixed rules there are a few points which apply to all cases. One of these is the caution against filling the battery cells with water in cold weather unless the car is used directly afterwards.

Why Battery Cells Vary Why battery cells often do not need additional distilled water in equal quantities puzzles many motorists, especially if they are unable to locate a battery leak. Another "mystery" is the difference in water consumption of batteries in different cars even though the generator charging rate and the consumption of current are the same.

Troubles From Driving Habits When a motorist has trouble with his car he may be justified in assuming that it results from some defect in the design or materials of the machine itself, but when he experiences the same trouble with two different makes of cars it is time to suspect there is something wrong with his driving.

Cranking Often Too Brief While it never pays to keep your foot on the starter button for any length of time in trying to set a stubborn engine into operation it is even more risky to touch the button for too brief a period. If the engine is given only a quarter or half turn it is apt to backfire. Not only is this dangerous from the fire standpoint but if the driver happens to touch the starter button again before the engine comes to rest a tooth or two may be chipped off the starter or flywheel gears.

FORMER PASTOR NOW POWER IN STEEL BATTLE

Cleveland.—(AP)—Among the towering figures of finance who are moving about the field of steel, hurling $100,000,000 fiscal thunderbolts in an effort to bring about the latest merger of giants, there stand out the figure of Cyrus S. Eaton who not so long ago was a Baptist minister.

Aside from his business dealings, however, he is a mystery. Few people in Cleveland know much about him. His own father did not know until rather recently that his son had become a very rich man.

you were in the summerhouse." Miss Clorinda. They tell me that "These little shoes tell me a secret."

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Doris Matthews, lady's maid, is murdered Friday night in a summerhouse on the Berkeley estate, by a blow with a heavy perfume flask, presented to Mrs. George Berkeley by Seymour Crosby. The body, rocky and weighed and tied with Clorinda Berkeley's scarf, is taken from the lake Saturday morning by Detective Dundee, who summons Captain Strawn.

Under suspicion: Mr. and Mrs. George Berkeley, who have quarreled late Friday evening over Clorinda's engagement to Crosby, close friend of the social secretary, Mrs. Lambert; Gigi Berkeley, who sprinkled everyone Friday evening with perfume from murder flask; Dick Berkeley, who after having spent the night as he says, in the tower room, vainly awaiting Doris, turns up while his mother is accusing Eugene Arnold, chauffeur, engaged to Doris, of having murdered both Doris and Dick out of jealousy.

Mrs. Berkeley, after many lies, admits she slapped Doris about 7 o'clock Friday evening; that she later instructed Doris to wait up for her, but insists maid went to bed there when she heard of Doris's death. Rouge on Clorinda's mouth on bathroom mirror proves girl was there late in the evening and that a struggle took place.

Clorinda Berkeley, after lies, admits talking with Doris before 11; then stealing out of house for a walk. Insists she did not hear struggle or screams; cannot account for her scarf being used to bind up her. Says she was alone on the stairs, searching her room for slippers for Doris, of perfume from murder flask broken in summerhouse.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXII

"You see, Miss Clorinda, one can't think of everything—every little thing!" Captain Strawn sympathized, after he had sniffed the sole of each small golden slipper. "You remember, you tell me, these little shoes of yours, but your nose was so accustomed by that time to the odor of Fleur d'Amour—"

"Maybe you'd better translate it and call it 'Flower of Love'—your French is so bad," Gigi interrupted with hard flippancy, her eyes blazing like an angry cat's.

"—that you didn't smell it on the soles as you handled the shoes. Every criminal forgets something," Strawn went on, as if the child had not interrupted.

"I don't know what you're talking about," Clorinda told him tonelessly, but her face was very pale.

"These little shoes tell me a secret, Miss Clorinda. They tell me that you were in the summerhouse, that you stepped into the spilled perfume."

"I've told you already that Gigi splashed the stuff all over us last night," Clorinda countered wearily. "But she didn't sprinkle the floor! A pretty keen eyewitness has already described that scene to me, young lady!"

"Our charming guest, no doubt!" Clorinda shrugged, and Dundee colored painfully. "Nevertheless, I was not in the summerhouse last night!"

"Well, let's have a look at the dress and the cape," Strawn said cheerfully. He lifted the straw sifon evening dress of wine-red skirted velvet, and passed the front of it slowly through his hands, held close to his nose, sniffing so ludicrously that Gigi giggled hysterically.

He found what he was looking for three times, but the spots yielded nothing until the hem itself was passing under his nose.

"Well, I guess that settles it!" he grunted with satisfaction. "The hem of this skirt has been in the summerhouse, Miss, if you haven't. Now for the cape!"

His nose was unrewarded, however, and he was about to toss the gold metal cloth garment aside when Dundee sprang forward.

"I think you've overlooked something," pointing to a thin, dark-brown, horizontal line halfway down the back of the cape.

Strawn uttered a sharp exclamation, then scratched at the dark streak with a fingernail.

"Blood!" he announced triumphantly, his grey eyes boring in-

SUB-DEBS SMARTLY FAVOR SLEEVESLESS

By ANNETTE

This one is truly smart with box-plaits across the front of the skirt. A narrow belt gives the nipped-in effect to the fashionable higher waistline. The buttoned scalloped yoke and collarless round neckline are chic details.

It's very practical as sketched in printed pique in red and white with plain white pique trim. The bias piping is in matching red pique. Style No. 611 may be had in sizes 8, 10, 12 and 14 years.

Yellow sports weight linen with blue piping is very French with the yoke of blue sheer linen dotted in yellow.

Cotton broadcloth printed in French blue dots with blue piping and yoke is distinctive. Shantung in peach shade self-trimmed is exclusive idea. Gingham checks, dimity prints, printed lawn, wool jersey, tub silks and striped percale are attractive suggestions.

Pattern price 15 cents in stamps or coin (coin is preferred). Wrap coin carefully. It would be a good idea to send 10 cents additional when you order this pattern. Then I'll mail you a copy of the book.

Hints on How to Keep Well by World Famed Authority

IRON IN DIET IS IMPORTANT FOR CHECKING ANEMIC CONDITION
BY DR. MORRIS FISHBREIN, Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine.

The human body apparently uses very small amounts of many metallic substances in the control of various factors within it. For years it has been known that iron is of value in anemia.

As the newer knowledge has become established definitely the place of iron in the diet, it has become realized that there are two factors concerned; first, the iron; second, the mineral elements with which the iron may be associated.

In their most recent studies of anemia following hemorrhage, Drs. G. H. Whipple and F. S. Robschek-Robbins point out there is an optimum amount of iron which can be taken by mouth to control anemia. This amount is about 40 milligrams per day. There are 30 grams in 100 milligrams, or 30,000 milligrams in a pound.

Forty milligrams represents the amount of iron to be taken per day, which is about 1-800 of an ounce. The entire amount of iron in the circulation is about 220 milligrams. If 10 milligrams are wasted daily by means of used up red blood cells, the amount supplied in 40 milligrams is well beyond the complete wastage.

It must be remembered that the figure of 40 milligrams is in the case of a dog weighing 10 kilograms, and that an adult human being weighs about 70 kilograms. Thus for an adult human being, the amount would be 280 milligrams, which is about 1-100 of an ounce.

Iron seems to be the most potent metal substance in rebuilding blood after hemorrhage and apparently the excess amount of iron given over the amount lost has an effect on organs which build red blood cells.

In addition to iron, manganese and copper seem to affect the blood production. Zinc, aluminum, antimony, potassium, calcium phosphate and sodium iodide seem to have but little effect.

Of particular value in building blood after anemia produced by bleeding were liver sausage, blood sausage and to some extent large amounts of gelatin. Egg yolk and egg white seem to be of relatively less value. Obviously, there are factors beside iron which are important in blood regeneration.

When spinach and cabbage were added to the diet they had a stimulating effect, but not nearly so great as that of spinach and cabbage with extra iron, so that it has seemed to the investigators that probably the iron is not the only substances in the spinach that might be of value. Onions and orange juice were found to be of little value for the purpose.

It has not seemed to the investigators that the vitamins are in any way concerned with the building of fresh red coloring matter in blood cells after anemia.

OPALINE PINK
Paton's new opaline pink has swept the fashion world. Already lingerie touches on navy blue and black flat crepe frocks show it. Black hats have touches of black and pink ribbon and slippers, gloves and lingerie affect it.

YOUR CHILDREN by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

A mother said to me recently: "Have manners and politeness for your children gone out of style? A little girl comes to my house daily to play with my own little girl and if I ask her ever so nicely to help put away the toys afterwards, she won't do it. If I insist, she says, 'You aren't my boss.' What am I to do? Certainly she breeds defiance in my own child."

Of course, the trouble here is with the home training of the visitor. The mother of that little girl must realize that by failing to instill in her daughter an obligation to those whom she visits and that when she is in the house of another person she must submit to the rules of that house, she is preparing the way for trouble for that child all along the line for years to come.

It's Common Attitude
The episode of the toys and the little girl's refusal to help put them away, especially the remark about the "boss," is nearly symbolic of her attitude to all grown ups outside of her own home.

Her idea of authority is ended with her parents. The chances are it doesn't even begin there, for a child who talks that way usually acknowledges no authority whatsoever, even in her own house. When a child says to her teacher, "You can't boss me. I don't have to do anything but my mother." The odds are against much discipline of any sort in that house.

But grant that there really is order and discipline in the child's home and he goes out to defy society—to take all the advantages and accept its benefits without contributing either obedience or courtesy to those who have a right to expect it. I can't help believing that when such is the case, it is due to carelessness or oversight on the part of those caring for him. Children have to be told.

Our children go about, on our neighbor's property, in the houses, even riding in their cars. They go to stores, they go to movies, they go to school, to church, and to games. Parents should make it quite clear to them that no matter where they are, they must obey the rules of these places and respect the word of those in charge. On the street they must obey the laws of the city. A child visiting in another home is supposed to cooperate with the mother in that home and do as she says, unless it conflicts with principle. In that case, she should stay away.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By SISTER MARY

New discoveries and theories about foods are being presented to the housewife almost daily and sometimes, in her conscientious attempt to apply them to her own needs, she becomes puzzled and wonders how she can know what is scientifically proper and correct and what is taboo.

Research workers and investigators in foods and nutrition are constantly working to verify experiments and establish definite results. The doubt about some foods seems to be well cleared away and facts may be accepted.

Toast, that breakfast which is so popular nowadays from breakfast to midnight lunch, has come under the experimenter's eye. It has been acknowledged for some time that the heat of toasting acts on the starch in the bread, changing it to sugar and shortening the time required for body digestion. The question recently has been whether the effect of the toasting heat might not be so harmful to the protein content of the bread that the good effect on the starch might be counteracted.

Dry toast is more readily digested than soft toast because it requires more chewing and breaks into tiny particles. The process of digestion is started by the increased flow of saliva.

When bread is cut thick for toasting and is buttered and closely covered after toasting to keep it hot, all the points in favor of toast are lost. The thickness of the bread prevents the heat from penetrating and thoroughly effecting the change in the starch content. The steaming softens the toast and destroys its crispness.

Bread should be cut in thin slices and toasted not too fast if full benefit is to be had from its toasting.

Restless Children

Children will fret, often for no apparent reason. But there's always one sure way to comfort a restless, fretful child. Castoria! Harmless as the recipe on the wrapper; mild and bland as its tastes. But its gentle action soothes a youngster more surely than some powerful medicine that is meant for the stronger systems of adults.

That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given the tiniest infant—as often as there is any need. In cases of colic, diarrhea, or similar disturbance, it is invaluable. But it has everyday uses all mothers should understand. A coated tongue calls for a few drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of bad breath. Whenever children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little upset—this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed to set everything to rights. Genuine Castoria has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. Doctors prescribe it.

SPRING OPENING
TEXTILE STORE DISPLAYS
COLORFUL DRESS GOODS

The Textile store satisfied its many customers during the Spring Opening hours last night that the trend of dress goods materials and of home decorations are along the lines of new beauty for the coming season. Patrons of this well-stocked store found themselves surrounded with the largest display of textiles that has been stocked during the store's existence here.

Dress goods of the most colorful patterns and the widest assortment of materials were displayed for the town or rural needlewoman. The bride-to-be and the more mature housewife saw for the first time just how the newly decorated rooms will look attractively decorated with the popular Scranton curtains, advantageously shown for this purpose.

Yard goods in new patterns, prints, and colors were inspected by the many during the short two hours of the season's premier.
