

ITALY AGAINST ANGLO-FRENCH PARITY TALKS

Says That Problem is for the League of Nations; Other Delegates Astounded by Italians' Statement.

BULLETIN:

London, April 4.—(AP)—Signing of a three power pact by the United States, Great Britain and Japan and quick adjournment of the naval conference, was said in authoritative quarters late today, to be quite possible.

This would involve leaving the knotty questions of French security and Franco-Italian parity to be signed in other fields and would leave France and Italy in a position to sign as soon as these difficulties had been ironed out.

London, April 4.—(AP)—The Italian naval delegation astounded the London conference today by issuing through its official spokesman a statement which observers interpreted not only as a pointed reprimand to France but indicating that Italy is thoroughly dissatisfied with the present Anglo-French negotiations concerning French demands for security.

The Italian feeling has been known in conference circles several days, but today's broadcast was the first official recording of sentiment. The spokesman declared that Italy's claim to parity with France is unchanged, although France "wants us to accept inferiority in naval strength."

A League Matter
He further announced that Dino Grandi, chief of the Italian delegation, felt that the security pact which France demands as compensation for cutting naval figures is a matter for the League of Nations and should not be discussed at the London conference.

The Italian statement brought expressions of gloom from the French delegation this afternoon. The French were freely inquiring among themselves whether any useful purpose could be served by their remaining long in London.

Briand Silent
Foreign Minister Briand, leader of the French, has not yet given an opinion on the subject, however, and the final word must come from him.

Conference Details in General
Confidence circles in general are none too good but they recall that other international conferences have produced crises, and that some times statements which are issued in moments of stress appear worse on the surface than they ultimately prove to be.

But this much was evident in all conference quarters today: Everybody is eager for a showdown and for the termination of the long drawn out negotiations.

Security Formula
The British and French are still working for a security formula, and if they should obtain it the conference expects to turn its attention to the Franco-Italian parity question.

The impatience of all concerned has become accentuated since the Americans, British, and Japanese have reached an agreement which would permit a three-power treaty even if all else fails.

The Italians are particularly anxious that there be a plenary session as soon as possible so the cards of all the delegations can be put on the table.

There has been considerable talk in conference circles the last few days that the next plenary session may definitely indicate the time of termination of the conference—whether it is wise to keep at the questions of French security and Franco-Italian parity or whether these things shall be passed on to some other body for argument at a later date.

London, April 4.—(AP)—Prima Minister MacDonald, Foreign Secretary Henderson and Foreign Minister Briand of France had lunch together today to discuss proposals for security which the French demand, and it was understood final decision on the possibility of achieving a security agreement might be made at the lunch table.

For several days the British and French have been discussing a draft formula for security prepared by the British. This formula has now come back from Paris with French counter-suggestions and today's luncheon was to give the British a chance to reply.

DOG CATCHING A GENTLE ART

In Evanston, Ill., They Require, Oh, So Many Things, Before You Can Get the Job.

Evanston, Ill., April 4.—(AP)—Dog catching has ceased to be a snap in Evanston.

Those aspiring to this important post must first prove themselves gentlemen of charm and social presence, capable of combining tact with a firm hand.

The first applicant for the job appeared yesterday and was called upon to qualify himself, for the finely shaded work of corralling pups, by answering the following questions:

"What is your sense of public responsibilities and attitude toward public contacts so necessary in an A-No. 1 dog catcher?"
"Should an irritable dog be soothed or coerced into gentleness?"
"Could you be firm, yet gracious, in your association with dogs?"

Obviously confused, the applicant read no farther.
"I'll bite," said he. "What're the answers?"

DOUBLE KIDNAPING PLOT DISCOVERED

Woman Disappears, Then Airplane Pilot Is Beaten and Kept a Prisoner.

New York, April 4.—(AP)—A double kidnaping plot, growing out of the disappearance of Mrs. J. Morgan Corbett, wife of a wealthy Boston, Mass., real estate operator, was revealed here today by police with the arrest of three alleged kidnapers.

Police are holding Arthur Hamel, 29, of Haverhill, Mass., Edward Kendall, 29, North Reading, Mass., and Edward Klene, 30, of New York, who were charged with kidnaping James Quinn, 30, an airplane pilot, of Brooklyn.

Quinn charged that Corbett employed the three to kidnap him, believing that he was responsible for Mrs. Corbett's disappearance.

Police listed Corbett's address as 345 Commonwealth avenue, Boston. They said he has extensive real estate holdings throughout Boston, Cape May, N. J., and Provincetown, Mass.

Lured to Camp.
Quinn alleges that he was lured to Edgewater Camp, in the Bronx, upon a promise of work, but when he reached there was set upon and overpowered by Hamel, Hill and Kendall.

He was bound and gagged and beaten behind the head and face at intervals for about 48 hours, he said, while his captors questioned him regarding Mrs. Corbett's disappearance.

Quinn said that he denied knowing anything about the woman's disappearance and finally escaped from the camp. He is now confined to his bed under care of a physician. He suffered a fractured nose, lacerations of the scalp and two blackened eyes.

SWEDEN'S QUEEN DIES

Rome, April 4.—(AP)—Queen Victoria of Sweden, long an invalid, died here today.

The Queen who had been sinking for some time from a complication of pulmonary illnesses, took a sudden turn for the worse today and King Gustave, who had been visiting in Naples, returned to Rome to be at her bedside. The Queen was 68 years old.

World's Wettest Wedding Performed In California

Los Angeles, April 4.—(AP)—Katie Wilson 25, and J. F. Gutrick, 26, principals in the reputed world's wettest wedding, today were honeymooning on the rugged shores of San Catalina Island after their marriage here beneath the placid waters of the Ambassador hotel swimming pool.

WORLD'S BIGGEST PLANE TO DARE ATLANTIC

THINK LORENZ HEADED FOR CENTRAL AMERICA

Wrote Letter to Sweetheart Before He Left Hartford; Has An Uncle Living in Costa Rica.

Hartford, April 4.—(AP)—Denying his guilt in a letter to his sweetheart, the niece of the man he is believed to have murdered, which he mailed just before he disappeared last Wednesday morning, Heinrich Oswald Lorenz, suspected slayer of Nils Einar Anderson, is thought to be headed for Central America, it was learned today.

The letter, now in the hands of the police, contained the address of an uncle in Costa Rica, where mail would reach him, he instructed the pretty 18 year old high school senior whom he had been courting for the last two years. It was postmarked Hartford, dated Wednesday at 11 a. m., only a short time while after he had left the home of his sweetheart's parents, Mr. and Mrs. August J. Benson, 434 Park Road.

Believes Him Innocent
Elizabeth Benson, brave in the face of tragedy, told the story this morning of her friendship with the hunted man. She is still unable to believe that he could be guilty. In her letter, she said, he told her he would come back when he found the murderer. Her mother and father, too, had both thought him an exceptional young man, always sympathetic and considerate of other people.

Motive For Murder
Police are convinced that the loan of from $200 to $500 was the sole cause of the dispute which brought about the tragedy. The two years' friendship between Elizabeth Benson and Lorenz was only an element, in that it was the means of acquaintance between Anderson and Lorenz.

The two men, police have determined, were not close friends, and it has not yet been definitely learned just how Lorenz persuaded Anderson to make the loan. However, an insurance policy was found in Anderson's trunk by the police, on which he had effected a loan of $150, last March 20, and in the records of the insurance company, the name of Lorenz appears in Anderson's statement of the purpose of the loan.

The fact that the police suspected Lorenz of the Anderson murder was made public late yesterday. They had learned of the loan made by the victim to Lorenz and that Anderson had demanded repayment by April 1 so that he could turn the money over to Mr. and Mrs. August J. Benson, his brother-in-law and sister, to be used as a part payment on a mortgage on their home.

EX-CLERIC FILES SUIT FOR $30,000

Guy Willis Holmes Starts Action Against Three Ministers.

New London, April 4.—(AP)—Guy Willis Holmes, expelled minister of the Methodist Episcopal church, today brought a $30,000 libel suit against three members of the New England southern conference of the church convening in this city.

Holmes was unfringed at the conference at South Manchester three years ago for conduct unbecoming a minister, on a charge of misbehavior with a New Bedford waitress.

The defendants are H. H. Critchlow of Willimantic, Robert L. Roberts of Taunton and William I. Ward of North Carver, Mass. Papers served on the ministers by Deputy Sheriff Nelson C. L. Brown and are returnable to the Superior Court of this county the first Tuesday in May.

His Allegations
Mr. Holmes alleged that prior to March 26, 1926, he enjoyed a high reputation for morality and honesty and that on that day the defendants Mr. Roberts and Mr. Critchlow made a statement in a public gathering that was derogatory to his character, alleging an immoral act on his part with an Antoinette Fortin of New Bedford at a hotel in Boston.

The ministers republished the same statement at a gathering of ministers at South Manchester and Mr. Ward published the statement at New Haven. Holmes claims that the defendants meant by the statements that he (Holmes) was an immoral man and unfit to practice his profession.

He alleges that the publications are false. The publications were made in the presence of and were read by several of plaintiffs parishioners and many other ministers of the gospel, who would or might be in a position to assign the plaintiff to churches within the jurisdiction of the conference and which led other ministers to decline to enter into any engagements with the plaintiff which they otherwise would have entered into, thereby causing the plaintiff to suffer heavy pecuniary losses.

Was Made Ill
Because of these false and malicious publications Mr. Holmes was made ill, he held up to scorn and contempt in his community and in the circles of his church, and was deprived of his means of livelihood.

The writs were received by the defendants without comment and no noticeable disturbance because of them was marked at the conference session where the papers were served.

Mr. Holmes plans a subsequent action against the conference proper which will take the form of action in the United States District Courts.

Keith Appointed
At the laymen's meeting which was held at the Huntington street Baptist church, Herbert L. Chipman of Sandwich presided and Edward N. Wheeler of Providence, was secretary pro tem.

A nominating committee was appointed.

ALUMINUM CO. NOT MONOPOLY BOARD RULES

Suits Started in 1925 Finally Settled; Sec. Mellon Mentioned in Complaints Because He Was Stockholder

Washington, April 4.—(AP)—The Federal Trade Commission today dismissed anti-trust complaints brought against the Aluminum company of America.

The complaints, charging the Aluminum Company with violations of both the Clayton Anti-Trust Act and the Federal Trade Commission Act, were filed in 1925. Extensive hearings have been held by the commission in the intervening years.

The case was given additional prominence through the fact that Andrew Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, was a stockholder of the company.

In the complaint against the company it was charged that it produced 95 per cent of the virgin metal in this country, and either owned or had large interests in many aluminum manufacturing companies.

It was charged that the company had entered into contracts to lease competition and tended to create a monopoly by selling virgin sheet aluminum at lesser price to manufacturing foundries than to jobber foundries.

The complaint said also that the company had discriminated in the price of aluminum sold to certain manufacturers of automobile bodies and cooking utensils.

Sought Monopoly
The complaint further charged that the company employed a scheme the effect of which was to gain a monopoly of the aluminum sand-castings industry of the United States.

The Federal Trade Commission gave no reason for its dismissal of the complaints against the Aluminum Company.

The Aluminum Company a few months after the original complaint was lodged, filed an answer with the commission in which it denied specifically all the charges.

The answer said the company "denies that any or all the averments set forth in the complaint or any violation of the law that would justify the making and issuing of any decree by the commission against the respondent."

Final arguments in the case were made last Tuesday, the company being represented by its chief counsel, William Watson Smith of Pittsburgh.

HUNDREDS KILLED IN FIERCE BATTLE

Thousands Engaged in Abyssinian Conflict; Armies Fight Nearly All Day.

Addis Ababa, Abyssinia, April 4.—(AP)—The Standard News Agency today made public reports of a fierce battle between Abyssinian government troops under Negus Tafari, great nephew of the Emperor Menelik II and 10,000 riflemen under Ras Gugsu Olie, former husband of the Empress Zauditu who died on Wednesday.

Ras Gugsu was killed together with hundreds of others and many hundreds were wounded.

News of the battle was believed to have caused the sudden death of the empress.

Waranoke Building Scene of Threatening Fire at Noon; Confined to Cellar; Smoke Damage Big.

Two persons were overcome with smoke and considerable damage was caused by fire which started in the basement of the Waranoke Hotel building and for a time threatened the heart of Manchester's business section shortly before noon today.

Quick and efficient work by the firemen confined the blaze to the basement and the chief damage was caused by smoke. Employees of the Home Bank & Trust Company pluckily stuck to their posts and succeeded in removing the records and most of the money into the building before being driven from the building by the dense smoke.

The exact loss cannot be determined until a careful examination is made but it will probably amount to at least $2,000. Most of this is covered by insurance according to Harry C. Jensen, hotel proprietor, who had taken personal care of the steam furnace in the basement of the building which was attached yesterday because of financial conditions.

Teller Discovers Fire
The fire was discovered by Louis Genovesi of 163 North Main street, a teller in the Home Bank and Trust Company. The odor of smoke had been strong for sometime before the fire was actually discovered, but this was attributed to furnace trouble. Finally, Genovesi went down into the basement to learn the reason for the excess smoke and saw the flames eating into the wooden ceiling.

Worried partygoers, told the bank workers to get the money and records into the vault immediately; that the building was on fire. Then he dashed across the street to the fire box No. 441, at Main and Park streets brought out all east side apparatus.

Genovesi's discovery of the fire came in the nick of time and undoubtedly saved a much greater loss, as the flames were meeting rapid headway at the time they were discovered. Genovesi returned to the bank directly after turning in the alarm but the smoke had already filled the place. Bank workers were forced to leave without getting their coats and hats. They hurried to the vault to store all of the records and most of the money in the vault before being forced to leave the building.

Those Overcome
The two men overcome by the smoke were John F. Shea, assistant treasurer of the Home Bank and Trust Company, and Fred Lellerstadt, head-waiter, in the hotel restaurant. Shea collapsed after carrying many of the bank records into the vault. Lellerstadt was asleep in his room in the hotel and was awakened by the smoke which seeped into the room. Firemen gave him first aid on the piazza in the rear.

Shea collapsed near the door of the vault and was carried to the street by Frank C. Busch, Recreational instructor in life-saving and boxing, who gave first aid treatment until Dr. M. M. Moriarty arrived. In a short time Shea was fully recovered from the effects of the smoke and told how he had collapsed while trying to close the heavy door of the steel vault. Fearing that the fire might eat its way into the bank and thus get into the safe through the unlocked door, the attempt was made to reach the vault from the front door of the bank but the smoke was too thick.

Use Gas Masks
Gas masks were supplied and after one unsuccessful attempt to get to the vault Genovesi, the bank teller who discovered the fire, volunteered to make the try. Officials in charge refused to let him enter the building without a rope being first tied around his waist. Then he got down on his hands and knees and crawled behind the teller's booths and after a winding course, finally reached the vault.

Lewis H. Sipe, secretary and treasurer of the bank, stood at the bank entrance holding onto the rope by which Genovesi was allowed to crawl into the building. Several times Mr. Sipe called to Genovesi to inquire as to his right and each time the answer came back plainly that he was. After some two or three minutes which seemed like hours, Genovesi called to inform those outside that he was coming out. Eager hands grasped the rope and one of the firemen started to go to his assistance, but the plucky teller came out walking instead of crawling.

Place Was Attached
Although the fire broke simultaneously in the basement and in the second floor, the fire in the basement was the cause of the fire in the second floor.

Says No One Can Commit Party on Liquor Question Except the National Convention—Personally He is Against Prohibition, He Asserts, and Contributed $64,000 to Have 18th Amendment Modified.

Washington, April 4.—(AP)—Smiling calmly while Senate lobby committee members engaged in heated quarrels among themselves, John J. Raskob today denied that his activities as a director of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment were mixed with his work as chairman of the Democratic National committee.

Raskob testified that he had contributed $64,000 to the association over a period of five years but added that he was careful not to mix his personal beliefs on prohibition in the affairs of the Democratic National committee. He asserted that "no one can commit the Democratic Party on the liquor question except the National convention."

Room Crowded
The committee room was packed as Raskob began his testimony with three members of the committee, Robinson of Indiana, Republican, Chairman Caraway, and Walsh of Montana, Democrats, present. Scott McElrath, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League was standing in the back of the room as first Walsh and then Robinson questioned the Democratic leader.

From the beginning the Democrats and Republicans tilted over questions that Robinson put to Raskob, and finally all three joined in warm exchanges after the Indiana Senator asked Raskob if he intended to resign the Democratic chairmanship for his membership in a suggestion made by Joseph Daniels in his North Carolina newspaper.

Attacked by Daniels
Daniels, Navy secretary in the Wilson Cabinet, had situated Raskob for his membership in the association against the Prohibition Amendment while holding the post of Democratic chairman.

The question went unanswered after Caraway and Walsh vehemently protested that it was irrelevant. Robinson insisted that the same question had been asked Claudius Huston, chairman of the Republican National committee, before the lobby committee. Disputing this, Senator Walsh shouted "It makes no difference—we are not going to transform this hearing into a show."

The crowded committee room frequently resounded with laughter as Raskob, always smiling, snatched back "yes" or "no" answers to Senator Robinson.

After the committee session, newspaper men asked Raskob if he had any objection to answering the Robinson question. He replied that he had none.

He asserted he had no intention of resigning.

Asked by Caraway if he had hopes of repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, Raskob replied he had some hopes "of modification at least."

Raskob testified that the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment was a bi-partisan organization and named its members W. W. Atterbury, Republican National and Charles H. Sabin, husband of the Republican National committee-woman for New York.

RASKOB ON STAND
Washington, April 4.—(AP)—John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic national committee today took the stand before the Senate lobby committee to undergo an examination concerning contributions he has made to the association against the Prohibition Amendment.

As Raskob, an outspoken wet, took the witness stand, recently occupied by Chairman Huston of the Republican National committee, he was faced by three members of the committee—Robinson, of Indiana, Republican, Caraway of Arkansas, and Walsh of Montana, Democrats. All are dry.

Every seat in the committee room was filled by persons eager to witness the examination of the Democratic chieftain.

Before beginning his testimony, Raskob posed for photographers.

Raskob told the committee today he had contributed $68,000 or $69,000 to the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment of which he is a director.

Chairman Caraway asked the pertinent opening questions, inquiring as to Raskob's occupation. "The witness replied 'executive.' " "Of what?" Chairman Caraway continued.

Raskob said of the Dupont Company. "I don't know the full name of it," the Arkansas Senator added. Raskob said he was a director of Nationwide Celebration of Ward Week to Be Fittingly Observed Here; Three Carloads of Merchandise.

Manchester's share in the nationwide celebration of Ward Week, seven days of unprecedented value-giving and special price reductions throughout the entire system of 550 stores, will be observed in Manchester's big store in a fitting manner. Already three carloads of seasonable merchandise has been stocked by the large Main street store especially for this sale, an event expected to be the largest in the history of the organization.

With all the benefits of 58 years of direct contact with a satisfied buying public from coast to coast, and the added advantage of the tremendous buying power, the Montgomery Ward store, here, will inaugurate today, at the beginning of the spring buying season, a sale of far-reaching magnitude in all departments. The local store has many local Montgomery Ward customers and has stocked the big store from the basement to the roof with the best of the season's merchandise. In addition to the special low prices quoted for this sale of quality merchandise, purchasers during the week will be given free transportation within a radius of twenty miles.

Manager Stearns Edward O. Stearns, in his short reign of six months as manager of the South Manchester store has made hundreds of friends through his untiring effort to give Manchester a store not only attractive in its window and interior displays, but has selected a personnel from the local residents that delight in rendering their services to the many patrons coming to the store.

As a member of the executive board of the Manchester Merchants Division, Mr. Stearns aspires to assist in moulding a spirit of cooperation that will tend to benefit the business of Manchester in general. A combined advertising program of all merchants to attract a greater influx of out of town business, is Mr. Stearns' ambition and the initial step in this respect is already in progress that will definitely convince everyone coming to Manchester for Ward Week that they and their fellow merchants have facilities of buying that would do justice to a big city.

Assistant Manager
William Myers the assistant manager, is widely known throughout Connecticut as "The man with original ideas" for arrangement of homes, such as interior decorating, is a former buyer of fashions and the textile goods and furniture, and because of these facts you may see as you pass through the various departments of the store, merchandise such as you have always wished for at the prices will permit you to have them in your name.

Listed below are many of the Ward Week features arranged for old and new patrons of the local Montgomery Ward store by Manager Edward Stearns.

Specials in every department with new low prices, representing the greatest opportunity for buyers in the history of the organization.

The shoe department, conveniently located on the first floor, rear, with new large stocks of spring and summer models of shoes, is equipped for the most exacting shoe patron.

Clothing Department
William Whalen, manager of the Clothing department has stocked the newest styles in men's clothing and has reduced, according to the week's value — giving schedule, many two-pant suits comparable to those selling for $40.00 and $50.00, to the specially low sale prices of $24.50. These suits are all new spring stocks in a wide range of fabrics, colors and designs. Mr. Whalen who was at one time employed by the Herald is now in charge of advertising at Ward's Store.

Mrs. Mae Tucker has assembled the season's best in dress and yard goods with an exceptional display of handkerchiefs, lawns, silk crepes, taffetas, voiles, piques especially for the sale. The proven values of Ward

The season's initiation of the new fashion department on the second floor, in charge of Mrs. Margaret Shea with a wide range of specially priced spring and summer dresses, coats and millinery will come during Ward Week and will be a mecca for the quality seeking buyer. An exceptionally complete line of ladies, Misses, children's and infant's clothing will be shown by the capable sales force.

General Invitation
Mr. Stearns, manager and Mr. Myers, assistant manager, cordially invite the people of Manchester and surrounding towns to inspect their store during Ward Week.

At the request of Manager Stearns a policeman will be stationed at the Birch street crossing to enable customers to cross the street at this point in safety, as well as at Park street.

POSTOFFICE GETS 9 TONS OF BON AMI AT ONCE

Annual Sample Mailing of Orford Co. Calls for 400 Sacks and Extra Cars.

What the Manchester Postoffice force know as "Little Christmas" started last night. It is the annual shipment of "Bon Ami" samples by the Orford Soap Company through the North End office. Last night nine tons of the samples were carted to the post office. The piled up packages left but narrow aisles of floor space in which the postoffice force had to do their work.

Four hundred extra mail sacks had been shipped to the North End office to take care of the great mass of parcels post matter. A large part of the shipment was sent out in this morning's mails and another large part will go tonight.

An extra mail car will be sent to Manchester each day to take care of this great bulk of extra business while the rush is on.

Don't Go To Extremes To End Constipation

When bad breath, or a coated tongue, biliousness or headaches warn you of constipation, don't take violent purgatives. There's no use when a candy Cascarets will stop the trouble in a jiffy; will cleanse your system pleasantly, and completely.

The relief you get so promptly from Cascarets is lasting. Cascarets are made from cascara, a substance which medical authorities agree actually strengthens the bowel muscles.

So Cascarets are a blessing to old folks with weakened bowels; to children; to anyone in need of establishing regular bowel habits. Ten cents a box—all drug stores.—Adv.

SIX GO TO HOSPITAL AFTER ROAD CRASH

5 East Hartford, One Local Person, Hurt in Upset at Foot of Nigger Hill.

Six persons, five from West Hartford and one from Manchester, were taken to Memorial hospital shortly after 1 o'clock for treatment for injuries suffered in an automobile accident on Nigger Hill near the Bolton-Manchester town line, but only one was injured seriously enough to remain at the hospital. She is Mrs. Frank Krar, 30, of 21 Naubuc avenue, East Hartford, who has a cut over her left eye and cuts and bruises on both hands and knees.

The accident occurred when the touring car in which they were riding turned over twice when the driver mistook the highway sign at the foot of the hill and struck a patch of sand. The party was on its way home from a dance at the Rainbow Inn in Bolton. The top of the car was crushed flat and how all six escaped serious injury is a mystery. Charles Strickland of Galloway street, Manchester, was one of the passengers. The others were George Joseph and Martin Krar and Miss Edna Clark all of East Hartford.

Misses the Road.
George Krar was driving. Instead of following the direction sign at the foot of the hill he continued on and ran into sand at a speed that caused the car to capsize when it skidded. In the seat with him were his sister-in-law, Mrs. Frank Krar, and his brother, Joseph. In the back seat were another brother, Martin, Miss Edna Clark and Strickland. As the car turned over Mrs. Krar was thrown against the windshield and received a long and deep gash over her left eye. George Krar escaped with a cut on the wrist and small injuries about the face, though the steering wheel was driven back and broken into pieces. Miss Clark suffered a cut on the forehead. The others were somewhat bruised. Passing motorists took the party to the office of Dr. LeVerne Holmes, who, after preliminary treatment, had the whole party taken to the hospital. After they had been patched up there they all left for their homes save Mrs. Krar, whose injuries demanded further treatment.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Mrs. Grace Krar of East Hartford was admitted to Memorial hospital early this morning, after an automobile accident. Other admissions were Anthony Vinock of Kerry street and Adam Brozowski of 81 North street. A daughter was born last night to Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Moske of 50 North street.

HOLMES CASE AGAIN BEFORE MINISTERS

Unfrosted Pastor to Sue Conference Now in Session at New London.

New London, April 4.—It has been noised abroad among Conference authorities that Guy Willis Holmes is in the city with counsel. Last year in Brockton, this man who was tried in both Manchester and Fall River, and expelled from the Conference after proof of moral delinquency, succeeded in bringing in a suit whereby some $3,000 of the conference benevolent funds are tied up. It is a fact that should be tried to bring another suit on other grounds, as has been intimated, the previous suit would be quashed, as he cannot bring a suit on the Conference as the men of the Conference are not worrying over the matter, nor as a body, paying any attention to any communication.

Lenten Service.
At a Lenten service, held under the auspices of the New London Federation of Churches, Bishop Leete gave a stirring sermon on "The Christian Commission," based on John 17:18. "As Thou hast sent me into the world, even so have I also sent them into the world." God has a universal law in both the material and spiritual world. If a man walks off a precipice, no matter what his condition or character, he will be hurt. If a man refuses to yield to God's grace, he falls away from manhood and is injured in soul. God wants us to get rid of rum, and war, and divorce. One of the greatest miracles concerning prohibition is that we ever got it. How rapidly the majority of the 48 states ratified it! No other amendment was ever so strongly and decisively approved by the American people. A pleasing feature of the service was the singing of anthems by a white-robed choir of 30 young girls.

Personal Pentecost.
Bishop Leete is giving a series of three noonday talks on "Pentecost." His first one was on "The Day of Pentecost." There is a gospel of the Holy Spirit. It has not received due emphasis. How many have heard one sermon on the subject the past year?

"We have unlearned the Holy Ghost. It took more than the life, death and resurrection of Christ to fire the disciples. Pentecost did it, and at once they became the leaders of our Christian civilization. Men today need this inner motive, their personal Pentecost."

In his second and final inspirational address, Prof. Knudson, Dean of Boston University Theological School took for his theme, "Why Should We Believe in Christ?" He asserted it was because He preached the gospel to the poor. Today Russia is saying that the proletariat are not capable of receiving Christ. Jesus went especially to the lowly, to sinners. Heroic sacrifice is Jesus' idea of true manhood.

NOTED LAWYER DIES
Dedham, Mass., April 4.—(AP.)—Winslow Warren, 92, prominent lawyer and for 23 years president-general of the Society of Cincinnati, was dead here today. He was a great grandson of General James Warren, first president of the Provincial Congress of Massachusetts. The end came at his home yesterday. His son, Charles Warren, an assistant attorney-general at Washington, and two daughters, Miss Margaret Warren of Dedham and Mrs. Alfred Rodman Hussey, survive. The funeral will be held at the Unitarian church tomorrow.

After graduation from the Harvard law school in 1860 he practised law many years, serving as counsel for the Boston and Providence railroad and later acting as auditor and referee and in advisory corporation matters. He was a United States commissioner from 1861 to 1894 and was collector of the Port of Boston from 1894 to 1898.

GAS EXPLOSIONS RUIN TELEPHONES

New York, April 4.—(AP.)—Thousands of business firms were without telephone service today because of a series of manhole explosions in Broadway between Twenty-ninth and Thirtieth streets.

Repair crews of the New York Telephone Company toiled throughout the night repairing burned out cables but expectations were that service would not be restored to all subscribers before tonight. Repair men said approximately 120,000 trunk, subscriber and leased lines were out.

Gas the Cause
A leaking gas main was believed by the police to have caused the series of explosions which yesterday sent four manhole covers into the air, tore up large sections of paving, injured six persons and routed 5,000 persons from the huge office buildings that line that section.

Business along Broadway between Twenty-seventh and Thirty-second streets was suspended for three hours while crews fought the fire that followed the blasts and sought to locate the gas leak. More than 100 patrolmen patrolled the district while the repairs were being made. None of the injured was seriously hurt, mostly suffering minor bruises from flying debris.

In addition to telephone lines being put out of order, telegraph, gas service, the city fire alarm and traffic control systems were temporarily out of service.

LUTHER TAKES OFFICE
Berlin, April 4.—(AP.)—Dr. Hans Luther today formally took over the functions of Dr. Hjalmar Schacht as president of the Reichsbank.

Dr. Schacht resigned as president of the Reichsbank some time ago asserting that he could not assume responsibility for German finances under the Young plan as amended by the political conference at the Hague.

SOVIETS TO REWARD OBEDIENT CITIZENS

Moscow, April 4.—(AP.)—The government today announced a number of sweeping concessions to peasants who remain loyal to the collective farm movement or return to the collective farms following the recent exodus which resulted from the new policy to appease them.

The privileges, which are intended to save the government's monumental agricultural collectivization scheme from any possibility of failure, include:

TEN DIE, 30 INJURED IN FIREWORKS BLAST

Philadelphia, April 4.—(AP.)—The site of the Pennsylvania Fireworks Display Co. Inc., at Devon, Pa., where a series of explosions yesterday killed ten persons and injured more than 30 others, today presented a scene reminiscent of the western battlefield after a concentrated bombardment.

Ten blacken holes in the ground marked the spots where had stood the ten small frame buildings comprising the plant; three on the seven acre tract of land were shorn of limbs and the tract was covered with debris. Every building on the site was blown to bits.

Hi-test TYDOL

THE GREAT GREEN GAS

WHEN Hi-test TYDOL was born, a little over a year ago, even the thriftiest motorist had been gladly paying more for gasolines that gave instant starting, roaring acceleration, and super-power.

Then came Tide Water's triumph... Hi-test (Green) TYDOL... rolling all these extra qualities together in a single unit... at no increase in price.

Extra power! Lightning liveliness! Silence! at no extra cost.

No wonder public demand multiplied Hi-test TYDOL pumps like crocuses in spring-time. No wonder Hi-test TYDOL became the most amazing success in gasoline history.

Hi-test TYDOL will make your car hum with sixteen cylinder smoothness. And it will save you... in its eliminated extra cost... enough to pay for a new spare tube, a new spotlight, or your license plates.

"Go on the green." And how! There is no extra charge.

SCIENTISTS AID POLICE TO SOLVE BIG MYSTERY

Chicago, April 4.—(AP)—A modern scientific crime laboratory threw its resources into the search for the ribbon slayer of Mrs. Mildred Helmsing today after police had almost abandoned hope of solving the mystery through the usual methods. None of the clues found by police seemed to be any aid toward finding the person who strangled the young wife with a satin ribbon Tuesday evening. Even the black ribbon, found around her neck and at first considered a valuable clue, gave no hint of the slayer. Many other pieces, exactly like the death ribbon, were found in the apartment. The recently organized criminal detection laboratory of Northwestern University was called into the case and today made an unusual microscopic study involving the suspects police have rounded up as well as the slain woman's husband, Reuben Helmsing. Dr. Clarence Meuhberger of the Northwestern laboratory took scrapings from beneath the fingernails of the dead woman and those of her husband and the suspects; he also scraped bits of skin from each person. In the struggle between the woman and her slayer, Dr. Meuhberger believes each must have scraped off skin of the other and that if his microscope shows two like specimens, the killer will be found. George Riley, negro janitor in the apartment house in which the Helmsings lived, was still in custody today. He continued his denial of any knowledge of the crime. "I have never known a husband," says Peggy Joyce, "to wear longer than six months." Wear what?

APPROVE WHITE BILL

Washington, April 4.—(AP)—The White bill to establish preference in ocean mail contracts for companies or individuals who previously purchased United States Lines, was approved today with two amendments, by the Senate commerce committee. It was passed recently by the House. One amendment, sponsored by Senator Jones, Republican, Washington, would provide that no new contract for mail service be let on any route where a company purchased from the Shipping Board and operated under a government contract is adequately serving the route. The other amendment, proposed by Postmaster General Brown, would provide that should the purchaser of a line established by the Shipping Board make application for a mail contract the postmaster general might award a contract without advertisement of bids.

TAX ON LUXURIES.

Canberra, Australia, April 4.—(AP)—Premier Scullin today announced imposition of a fifty per cent super-tax on luxury imports. Imports of some luxuries are absolutely forbidden under the new restriction; of others it is limited. The luxury lines on which the super-tax is to be imposed include all spirits, beverages, matches and piece goods under the heading of textiles, felts, manufactures thereof, and attire other than piece goods in knitted tubular form of cotton silk or containing silk and artificial silks, or being an admixture of wool and other fibers.

FORD PLANES TO USE OIL BURNING ENGINES

Detroit, April 4.—(AP)—The new Diesel airplane engine has demonstrated its adaptability on transport planes. The successful demonstration was held at the Ford airport yesterday by Leroy Manning and Captain L. M. Woolson, who made a test flight in a Ford tri-motored plane powered by the new type of oil burning engines. The three engines afforded the transport ship 660 horsepower as compared with the 900 furnished by light fuel engines customarily used in the ship. Following the test, it was announced that Diesel engines will be optional equipment on all Ford 4-AT transport planes in the future. Captain Woolson, who is the designer of the oil burning motor, recently made a round trip flight to Miami, Fla., in a plane powered by one of his motors. The flight demonstrated the economy of fuel in operating the new motors.

FREIGHTER IN DISTRESS

London, April 4.—(AP)—Lloyd's reported today that the tugs Roode Zee and Zwartee Zee were proceeding to the assistance of the Dutch freighter Binnenijk and expected to reach her shortly. The Binnenijk was reported in distress in mid-Atlantic Monday. She had lost her rudder-post and rudder position and was drifting southward in a northerly gale. The ship, a vessel of 4,240 tons owned by the Holland-America line, left Rotterdam March 22 for Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Norfolk.

A water tank, says a news item, burst and splashed the singers on the stage of the Opera House at Paris. But then, they must all have been divas.

PLANS COPS' COLLEGE

Washington, April 4.—(AP.)—A policeman's college to be run by the government is proposed in a bill introduced by Representative Romjue, Democrat, Missouri.

The school, a co-educational institution with free tuition, would be established in the District of Columbia. The pupils after graduation would assist the states and municipalities in curbing crime.

A board consisting of the district superintendent of schools, the attorney general and a presidential appointee would direct the college, which would be given its first endowment $50,000 in Federal funds.

(1) Vionnet's Wrap-around Coat

Vionnet has done much to make this coat so popular. It is becoming to almost every type, and it can be wrapped as closely or as loosely as you wish. Worn with or without a belt—more youthful of course with a belt. In black wool crepe with off-the-shoulder collar of Jap Fox. $59.50

(2) The Cape Coat with Fur Trim

The cape is smart when it fits snugly across the shoulders—half length for the youthful figure; elbow length for the mature woman. The coat illustrated has a half length cape trimmed with galapin. In imported tweed. $79.50

(3) The Coat with Irregular Hem

This youthful model is also an adaptation of Vionnet's wrap around coat. It is trimmed with jap fox collar and fastens at the side to accent the flared uneven hem. In tan basketweave. $49.50

FRIDAY, APRIL 4, 1930

BLOOD KIN

The fact that the homicide rate in thirty-one cities of record in the United States has almost exactly doubled since 1900 shocks a number of newspapers that we know of and which, it seems to us, have no great reason to be shocked at all.

Any increase in the frequency of murder, at any period and in any country, is less truly attributable to an increase in passions, avarice or general unmorality than it is to a lessening in the value placed on human life by society at large.

In the last ten years killings in America have become commonplace—thanks to the automobile and the stubborn determination of the people to rival, on the roads, the speed of the locomotive on its rails.

A bloody dead man or woman or child has become a mere commonplace; sudden and violent destruction of human life no longer shocks. We have descended nearer to the level of the lower animals which casually step over the carcasses of their newly slain fellows to continue their feeding.

It is to be wondered at, then, that the list of homicides is growing as if by black magic? That in a period when the price of a careless killing is a fine or a reprimand the undisciplined and the criminally inclined regard the taking of human life in such a casual light?

We may pull long faces, we may prate and cluck our tongues over the never-ending but always increasing number of intentional killings, but we shall continue to pay this price for our own indifference to human life so long as we are so ready to condone those killings which, while not quite intentional, come from a recklessness and an indifference so closely akin to malice that they are twin sisters in evil.

The excellent citizen or the public official who drives his car at fifty miles an hour past a "School-house—Drive Slowly" sign in Connecticut would be indignant if you told him he was partner in a machine gun massacre in Chicago; but he is.

CHEAPER TAXIS

Taxi riding is, in New York, a frequent, every-day experience of a great many people. The relative proportion of taxi riders, as compared with the number of passengers using the subways, elevated and surface transportation lines, is a very considerable one.

The standard taxi fare in New York is fifteen cents for the first quarter of a mile and five cents for each additional quarter of a mile.

A corporation plans to operate small taxis at a lower rate—ten cents for the first third of a mile and five cents for each subsequent third; or a saving to the passenger of ten cents on the first mile and five cents a mile thereafter.

This is the type of taxi to which Police Commissioner Whalen refused to issue licenses on the ground that the establishment of a low priced service would be likely to result in a taxi war, with probable violence. This appeared to most outsiders to be about the poorest reason ever given for such an action. Apparently Justice Ford of the New York state Supreme Court takes the same view of it, for he has granted mandamus compelling the issue of the licenses to the little cabs.

Since there must be a couple of hundred thousand New Yorkers who use taxis every day and some of them many times a day, and since most of them are voters, it would seem to be improbable that the political intelligence of the Walker administration will sanction any attempt on the part of the police department to carry up an appeal from this decision.

MUSCLE SHOALS

Those who so glibly forecast the defeat of the Norris Muscle Shoals bill or as an alternative its veto by President Hoover perhaps overlook the effect on the situation of the circumstance that Claudius Huston, chairman of the Republican National Committee, has been shown to have been more or less active in promoting private interests in connection with the Shoals properties.

Mr. Huston's unwisdom in this matter are of the boomerang type. He has made opposition to the Norris government operation bill an extremely delicate business, either for a member of Congress or for the administration. It is probable that more than one or two senators will now vote for the Norris resolution who, if it had not been for the Huston complication, would have voted against it.

The position of President Hoover, if the measure does pass, will also be a difficult one. It is generally accepted that Mr. Hoover is somewhat opposed, on principle, to government operation of the Shoals plants, though certain advantages to be derived from such operation make the question not altogether a one-sided one.

And in such a case, where the margin of choice must be more or less narrow in any event, it is reasonable to believe that the President would be reluctant to veto the measure against which private interests have been shown to be lobbying and especially when a person in Huston's position has, to any extent whatever, aided that lobbying.

THAT RADIO QUERY

We have not yet been questioned by the census enumerator but are anxiously awaiting his arrival. We have a question which, when he has finished quizzing us, we wish to put to him. It is: How many people have asked you to explain that inquiry about whether they own radios or not—and what do you tell them?

The longer the radio query dwells in the mind the more bizarre it appears. The more familiar we become with it the less are we impressed with its fittingness. It would be interesting to know just how many hundreds of thousands of dollars it is costing the government to find out how many radio sets are owned in the United States—and still more interesting to know what difference it makes.

When it is considered that it would hardly be permissible for the Census Bureau to list all the families in the country who have no radios and hand the names over to the radio industry as those of prospects, and also that the possession of a radio signifies not a thing in the world but the possession of a radio—the puzzle of the query becomes more and more dense.

Sometimes we wonder why the census questionnaire did not carry, instead of this radio thing, the question, "Do you own a buff cochon pullet with cast in its left eye?" It might add something to the zest of life to learn, four or five years hence, that on April 1, 1930 there were ninety-seven buff cochon pullets with casts in their left eyes in the territorial limits of the United States, but who is going to get any kick out of the precise number of radios? Who cares whether there are a hundred billion or a hundred trillion mosquitoes in the state of New Jersey?

HAYS "REFORM"

The New London Day is distressed because it fears the revised code of ethics for the movies, announced the other day by Will Hays, will tend to detract from the already too scanty artistry of the talkies and make for pious hokum and smug triteness. We suspect our neighbor is making unnecessary woe for itself. So far as we can see there is not a single assurance, in the latest Hays program, that has not been repeated over and over again, in actual effect, by the same nimble tongue in the past; nor a single promise made that cannot be dodged, even by a fairly stupid producer, with the utmost ease.

The Hays bill of ethics is, in other words, exactly the same old mess of applesauce that has been handed out to the pietists ever since Will began to draw a salary for kidding those folks along. There will be not the slightest change, in the direction of puritanism, in the products of the movie studios. The cinema will not be hog tied and hobbled in any honest effort to present the real drama of life. Regrettably, it will not even, through any movement instituted by Mr. Hays, eliminate the gratuitous, senseless and disgusting smut that disfigures too many of its vaudeville features—which ever since the institution of the sound films have been the aspect of the cinema most in need of soap and water.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Writer

Washington—If widespread unemployment is to be met promptly by large building and construction programs such programs must be planned ahead and held in reserve. That fact has been demonstrated in the few months since President Hoover called his business conferences.

The depression had then set in and it was too late to ameliorate conditions bound to prevail in January and February and even in March. The most beneficial effects of the construction programs announced after the Hoover conferences are only now about to be felt.

Long Range Planning. Expert opinion for years has been that long range planning by federal, state and municipal governments in their construction programs would be one of the best available means of meeting unemployment crises. Under advance planning systems, towns, cities and states would look ahead a few years and be able to do two years of scheduled public work in one year whenever an unusual amount of unemployment develops. Adequate financial reserves would be maintained to be available for bad times when money might be hard to borrow. Such reserves would be a strong stabilization factor.

Railroads and public utilities customarily plan years in advance. Responding to the call from Hoover, they were able to let 12 per cent more in construction contracts for the first quarter of 1930 than that of 1929 and to announce an increase of 8.5 per cent in construction for the year. Public works contracts let for February are announced to have shown a 54 per cent increase over those of February, 1929.

Cities Help Each Other. The direct benefit of public works to the immediate community is not important as compared with the general effect on the nation if hundreds of other communities have similar programs. These programs give some direct employment to building workers and construction men, but their main effect is to give purchasing power to the people who make and transport materials.

These makers and transporters may be located in every section of the country. The purchasing power they receive results in demand for commodities, some of which are made and sold in the town where construction takes place. No city can relieve its own unemployment without the help of hundreds of others. Federal post offices built in Maine and Oregon will help relieve unemployment in New Orleans. The workers who receive the wages for making the materials for buildings, no matter where located, will spend the wages for commodities made elsewhere, the increased production of which means work and wages for other workers.

Boosting Purchasing Power. It has been estimated that a fair-sized school building frequently has material in it from 40 states—perhaps locks from Connecticut, windows from Michigan, floors from Washington or the Carolinas, pipe from Ohio, steel from Pennsylvania, and so on.

Increase of factory production with no increase in the buyer's purchasing power is disastrous. But construction programs are helpful because they do not create commodities which must be bought by consumers. The wages released by construction create a demand for toys, hats, furniture and whatnot.

That is the theory that was behind Hoover's conferences and the big mobilization of public utilities and other constructing agencies. The idea was to promote immediate purchasing power. One can only guess at the extent to which unemployment might have been relieved had a huge private and public construction program been ready to start at the first emergency signal from the White House. Winter, when unemployment hits hardest, is not generally the best time for building and highway construction, but in recent years more and more outdoor work has been done regardless of season.

The new division of public construction in the Department of Commerce is making a study of the possibilities of advance planning for everything any bureau of the federal government constructs. It is also gathering information from the cities and towns which have found their present effort to expand construction thwarted by the absence of advance planning.

"The time to prepare for a flood is before the flood takes place," says one of its officials. "The time to prepare for a flood of unemployment is during good times."

TEACHING TOTS

London—To bring up children correctly, it is necessary for them to find out things themselves, is the advice recently given at the Bedford College for Women. Don't give children unbreakable things, is one bit of advice. Give them things that break and when they break they'll be more careful in the future. All the instructions in the world are not half as valuable as experience, it is said.

The people of the Middle Ages believed that certain words possessed magical powers.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK MCCOY

PEAS, BEANS AND LENTILS

Beans have been regarded by some of the old schools of dieticians as one of the finest substitutes for meat because they contain a large amount of protein. When I first experimented with dietetics I soon discovered that while beans undoubtedly contain a large amount of protein, it is a form that is not readily digested and causes flatulence even when eaten by healthy people, and, of course, naturally a great deal more gas with one who has a disturbed digestion. This seems to be because of the large amount of starch contained throughout the bean, and because of a peculiar cellular construction which makes it difficult for the digestive ferments to penetrate into the protein of the bean.

There are a few exceptions to these general remarks about beans. The first is the string bean which, when taken young, before the beans have fully formed, makes an excellent non-starchy vegetable that can be used in combinations with any other food by sick people. Another exception is the soy bean which contains so little starch as to place it in the non-starchy group, and for this reason it has been used for a number of years in diabetic diets. It is extensively used as a food in China and Japan and undoubtedly furnishes the principal protein of these nations. It has not yet become popular in the United States or Canada. Its protein is a little more difficult to digest than meat, but because of its small starch content, it is quite a superior to the ordinary navy beans, and may be used in the same way that you would combine any other protein food. The soy bean has the advantage that one can grind it into a flour and use it for making biscuits, gravies and as a breakfast cereal for those who must remain on a non-starchy diet. Another good bean which is distinctly in the advance of the remaining legumes is the lima bean. This is because lima beans are exceedingly rich in alkaline elements, and consequently a very valuable addition to the menu in cases of acidosis. The lima bean is slightly gas forming unless one has strong digestion, but nearly as much as some of the other dry beans. Lima beans may also be ground into a flour and used in biscuits if one desires, although it must be remembered that they contain quite a large amount of starch. When eaten they should be soaked overnight and well cooked so that the particles of cellulose are thoroughly softened to permit the penetrating of the digestive fluids. Lima beans may also be used in the green state in which case they need not be soaked overnight, but used as a fresh, starchy vegetable at a non-protein meal. There are no other beans which I would recommend for the average diet.

Other legumes closely related to beans are peas, garbanzos and lentils. Peas are a wholesome food if used in the green state and are not as gas-forming as beans. They are a starchy food and when used should only be combined as you would starches. If you like, the green fresh pods may be cooked with the peas. Lentils are one of the most ancient of foods used by man, but they are somewhat like beans, difficult to digest unless they are finely ground or mashed. Garbanzos contain a large amount of protein and as much as 8 per cent of fat. They are the principal protein food in Spain and Northern Africa. They are like beans, difficult to digest and should not be used by those with weak digestions when other better forms of protein are available. They are, however, quite alkaline-forming.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS (Kil or Cure)

Question—J. A. Mc. writes:—"I would like your opinion on the following drink recommended by breaking the cigarette habit: 'Drink a quart, one glass upon rising, for four days, equal parts of pomegranate juice, fresh cider, orange and lemon juice. Be careful when you smoke, that you are somewhere where someone can look after you because you may become unconscious.' This seems sort of scary, doesn't it?"

Answer—Such a mixture of fruit juices with a variety of acids might be quite upsetting to some people but I do not see why anyone should become unconscious from adding a smoke to that mixture. A more sensible treatment to cure the smoking habit is to take a fast for a few days using only one kind of fruit, such as oranges or apples. After a day or two the desire for tobacco disappears.

Question—J. C. asks:—"Should rheumatism people eat prunes?"

Answer—The rheumatic patient always has a poor bowel elimination. Prunes help in overcoming constipation so should therefore be used in the diet of one who is trying to get over a rheumatic toxemia. I understand the theory you refer to about prunes being a cause of rheumatism because of their acid content. Such acid as the small amount found in prunes has no effect on the rheumatic patient, providing the rest of the diet is balanced properly.

Question—A. J. asks:—"Can the percentage of a child be determined by blood tests or any other method?"

Answer—The blood tests are not reliable for determining the percentage of a child, but this method will sometimes determine whether a person is not a parent of the child.

The energy output of an average workman, it is estimated, is about one-tenth of a horsepower in an eight-hour day.

New York, April 4.—The fast increasing interest displayed by the public in the personalities who address their "vast unseen audiences" from the air each evening has led to the first "broadcasting theater." It will seat more than 2000 radio fans when completed and will be located atop a new theater building which should be completed by next fall. The site will be the present location of the Columbia burlesque theater, an institution which Longacre Square should miss sadly, if for no other reason than because it has been the camping ground for generations of actors who leaned against its venerable front. When completed, the new playhouse will be property of Radio Pictures, which, through its tie-up with the Radio Corporation, has a merged interest in broadcasting affairs. The notion of presenting broadcasting acts to seat holders was tried out recently in the Broadway belt with excellent results. The old Ziegfeld "roof" was taken over and the broadcasting stage gilded in. No admission was charged, but spectators were admitted by invitation. Some of the most popular of the air entertainers are thus to be given their opportunity to be seen as well as heard. And while on the subject of tricky innovations in the radio world, Walter Fleishman writes me to state that at the Hotel Victoria you can turn on your favorite station there just as you turn on the heat. This hotel has installed an elaborate distributing station in the basement, connecting it up with the rooms even as radiators are connected. The dials and loud speakers are hidden in the walls. In appearance, the device is very much like the old hot air appliances that came before steam heat. "That's the best offer I've had this week, and so I might consider it." Al Crockett sends on the information that the Hotel St. Regis is the Gretna Green among the hostels. In the olden days, the Waldorf established quite a reputation for wedding breakfasts and such, since it was quite handy to the Little Church Around the Corner. But the Louis XIV in the Regis, it would seem, holds something of a record for "hotel weddings," since it has a chapel-like appearance and serves for transients who do not care to go down to the justice of the peace or to have a church wedding. —GILBERT SWAN.

MENUS
For Good Health

A Week's Supply Recommended by Dr. Frank B. McCoy

Dr. McCoy's menus suggested for the week beginning Monday, April 6th:

SUNDAY
Breakfast: 8-ounce glass of orange juice thirty minutes before breakfast, coddled eggs, Melba toast.
Lunch: Potato on the half shell, string beans, salad of lettuce with olive oil dressing.
Dinner: Tomato jelly served in cubes in bouillon cups, roast pork, spinach, escalloped celery, salad of tomatoes and parsley, baked apple.

MONDAY
Breakfast: Cottage cheese and sliced pineapple, Melba toast if desired.
Lunch: Buttered beets, squash, salad of chopped raw cabbage.
Dinner: Vegetable soup, broiled steak, cooked beet tops, eggplant, salad of stuffed beets, cup custard.

TUESDAY
Breakfast: French omelet, small piece of broiled ham, Melba toast, applesauce.
Lunch: 1 pint of buttermilk with 10 or 12 dates.
Dinner: Roast mutton, baked small turnips and carrots grated together without removing the peel, green peas (canned) salad of shredded lettuce, apricot whip.

WEDNESDAY
Breakfast: Waffles (brown and through) coddled eggs, stewed prunes.
Lunch: Stewed corn, cooked lettuce, ripe olives.
Dinner: Baked chicken, *stuffed cucumbers, string bean salad, Jello or Jell-well with whipped cream.

THURSDAY
Breakfast: Poached eggs on toast, Shredded Wheat Biscuit, pear sauce.
Lunch: Glass of grapejuice.
Dinner: Vegetable soup, Salisbury steak, cooked tomatoes, spinach, celery, pineapple snow.

FRIDAY
Breakfast: Wholewheat muffins, peanut butter, stewed prunes.
Lunch: Generous dish of junket, and 1 or 2 apples.
Dinner: Tomato and celery broth, baked white fish, cooked turnips with the tops, salad of small green peas and chopped celery molded in gelatin, raspberry whip.

SATURDAY
Breakfast: Baked eggs, Melba toast, stewed figs.
Lunch: Cornbread, spinach, raw celery.
Dinner: Broiled lamb chops, asparagus, baked ground beets, salad of head lettuce with peanut butter dressing, carrot and date pudding.

*Stuffed cucumbers: Select cucumbers of medium size, peel, and cut into halves lengthwise. Scrape out seeds and place shells in a pan with enough water to simmer for about five minutes. Drain, and fill the shells with a stuffing made of chopped mushrooms and tomatoes. Sprinkle with Melba toast crumbs, and bake until tender in a moderate oven—about 40 minutes. Serve hot with butter and chopped parsley.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Question:—Mrs. J. P. M. asks: "Will you please give me the symptoms of cancer of the breast and whether probable that one as young as 26 would have one, never having had any children?"

Answer: Some of the early symptoms are sharp pains through the breast and in the region of the armpits, also the formation of lumps or tumors. Cancers of different parts of the body may occur with even young children, frequently at your age, but, of course, more frequently after 40. In the early stages of cancer of the breast it is difficult to distinguish this serious trouble from mastitis, which means simply a lumpy breast. A careful diagnosis is important, but even in the case where the cancer is suspected the first treatment should be designed to relieve the breast congestion and every effort should be made to increase circulation through the parts affected. A fruit fast for a week or ten days will help in clearing up the diagnosis, as many cases with quite distressing symptoms will completely change in the first week of a fast, and a condition thought to be cancerous often proves to be only simple mastitis.

(Sighing)
Question:—Mrs. E. H. asks: "What is the cause of deep sighing? I am troubled with bronchitis and gassy stomach, and very short of breath. Would that be the reason or is it from a heart trouble?"

Answer: The one who sighs a great deal has a symptom which indicates that he has a limited breathing capacity and is not getting enough air into his lungs. If the stomach is over-distended with gas it will keep the diaphragm from working freely and this alone could cause one to sigh. The same patient with the flatulence may have heart trouble from the same cause.

The Jordan river has been accounted the most crooked stream in the world. But it cannot compare with the White River, Arkansas, which travels 1,000 miles in traversing a distance of 30 miles.

Murder Backstairs

by ANNE AUSTIN
AUTHOR OF
"THE AVENGING PARROT"
"THE BLACK PIGEON," ETC.
©1930 by NEA SERVICE INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

DORIS MATTHEWS, lady's maid, is murdered in a summerhouse on the Berkeley estate, by blow from heavy perfume flask, given Mrs. GEORGE BERKELEY by SEYMOUR CROSBY, engaged to CLORINDA BERKELEY, whose scarf binds the rock-weighted body when it is taken from the lake by DETECTIVE DUNDEE.

A wealth of evidence involves Mrs. Berkeley, Clorinda, DICK BERKELEY; Doris's fiancé, EUGENE ARNOLD, chauffeur; and VIGOR BERKELEY, 15, who unaccountably sprinkled perfume from the murder flask, and JOHN MAXWELL, former suitor of Clorinda, who admits having been in the summerhouse after the murder. But an unfinished letter of Doris to her sister in England places an entirely new light on the case, and Seymour Crosby becomes startlingly involved. Dundee, novice detective, to observe Crosby, whose young wife, PHYLLIS CROSBY, died in England. In her letter, Doris, formerly Phyllis's maid, hints darkly of murder and her own plans to avenge her adored mistress, but does not name her suspect. Dundee cables Scotland Yard, then grills Crosby, who admits having seen Doris after 11 Friday night and having given her a pair of earrings, but violently protests entire innocence of his wife's death when she fled from room of apartment hotel in London. Further says he did not know Doris was at Berkeley home before she came, but Dundee reminds him that Mrs. Berkeley's secretary, MRS. LAMBERT, says she had so written him.

NOV GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXIX

"I'm sorry, Dundee," Seymour Crosby turned to the young detective, ignoring Captain Strawn's charge for the moment. "I told you an untruth, the first I have uttered since this questioning began. I did not receive a letter from Mrs. Lambert, mentioning the fact that Doris had come here to be Mrs. Berkeley's maid. I was surprised—startled, if you will—at the news. But the surprise was a pleasant one, tinged only with pain that I should have ever vivid a reminder of my wife's last moments. I had not seen or heard from Doris after the inquest, since my wife's death meant the breaking up of our home."

"It is true, Captain Strawn," Dundee conceded willingly, "that Mrs. Crosby added, immediately after Mrs. Lambert's news, that he would be delighted to see Doris."

"Thank!" Strawn snorted, skeptically. "Well, the point is, Crosby, that no time is being wasted in Doris Matthews, and—"

"Pardon me!" The meeting was entirely accidental, Crosby interrupted. "I happened to open the door of my room and saw Doris in the hall, walking toward the backstairs. I called to her, and she came to me, standing just outside the door. We talked—"

"Kathy, I've seen and talked with Mr. Crosby!" Strawn began to write exactly what he said and what I said, even to you, but he gave me— There Crosby, you have the last words of a murdered girl time to think up a nice, harmless explanation?"

Seymour Crosby's lean, handsome face flushed darkly. "My impulse is to refuse to answer, but I believe the truth will be less painful to Mrs. Berkeley than my construction. Here you are putting upon what Doris wrote. After we had exchanged the ordinary greetings and inquiries as to health, Doris said: 'It brings it all back to me, sir, meeting you. It seems only yesterday. Then she burst into tears, and—' room, Strawn taking time, however, to lock the door and pocket the key and descended to the second floor, which was being patrolled by a plainclothesman.

Seymour Crosby's room was a very large and very impressive chamber, with private bath and commodious dressing room.

"Did you have anything of value, Crosby?" Strawn asked, as the Berkeley's guest plunged into the dressing room.

"My money was in my wallet along with the earrings," Crosby replied. "This morning I transferred the wallet from my dinner clothes to the lounge suit I am wearing now. . . . Good Lord! My smallest bag is missing!" he ejaculated.

Within another five minutes he was enumerating his losses, while Dundee listed them on the almost exhausted pad of paper which had served him as a notebook since the investigation began.

"A pearl ring, which I had brought as a gift for Miss Berkeley; a necklace of seed pearls, intended for Gigi; a silver cigarette lighter, for my mother; a tooled leather bill-fold for Wickett, containing a new $50 gold certificate and a miniature of my wife, Phyllis, painted on ivory by a famous Parisian miniature-painter."

Crosby's voice broke on the last word, and Dundee believed that he would willingly have sacrificed far more than he had lost, if the miniature could have been returned.

"Is that all, Crosby?" Strawn snapped. "Then to Dundee: 'Come along! We'll see if Mrs. Berkeley's jewels have been stolen, too!'"

They left Seymour Crosby in his room, collapsed in a huge armchair, but whether from relief or weariness it was hard to say.

The detective who had been stationed in Mrs. Berkeley's foyer tried to report as his chief charge in, but Strawn brushed him aside and flung open the bedroom door without knocking.

"Well! I must say—!" Mrs. Berkeley, still reclining on her chaise longue, began indignantly. She was alone.

"Sorry, lady!" Strawn cut her short impatiently. "Got a safe in your rooms?"

"A safe? For my jewels, you mean? . . . Certainly! It's hidden behind that Watteau painting. I thought of that all by myself—"

"Yeah? Well, can you open it?" Strawn demanded curtly. "Do it, then."

"Why? Ooh! Do you think?" Mrs. Berkeley bounded clumsily from the chaise longue and scurried to where the painting hung. "I told you this morning I bet Doris had stolen my jewels, too, and you didn't pay the slightest attention to me—Oh! Oh! Oh, my God! George! George!" she shrieked.

Hair that sparkles!

No one can deny the importance of having the hair arranged in the style best suited to the individual type. Much of the effect is lost, however, unless the hair is kept soft, abundant, lustrous.

A million busy women and girls know the easiest way to keep the hair in perfect condition is with Danderine. The first application will show you how marvelously it removes excess oil from the hair; cleanses it; makes it sparkle with new life and lustre. It's so simple to use Danderine. All you do is put a little on your brush each time you arrange your hair! The consistent use of Danderine will dissolve the worst crust of dandruff; soothe, heal the scalp; stimulate the growth of long, silky abundant hair.

Danderine isn't sticky or oily; doesn't show. It makes the hair easy to manage; holds it in place for hours. "Set" your waves with it and see how much longer they stay in.

CEREALS GIVE ENERGY, THOUGH LACKING IN VITAMIN D

BY DR. MORRIS FISHEIN
Editor of Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

In her survey of modern diets, Dr. Lydia J. Roberts has given special consideration to recent studies on the place that cereals should occupy in human diets.

Cereals are primarily what many persons call energy foods, that is, they provide, in most instances, a high caloric intake. In the first place, cereals do not contain large amounts of vitamin D, which is exceedingly important for preventing rickets and for bone growth. In this country, the deficiency of cereals in this vitamin is being overcome by the irradiation of cereals. However, even this is unnecessary, provided a sufficient amount of sunshine, takes cod liver oil, or some other source of vitamin D.

The American diet is a varied diet, and thus it is likely to provide most of the essential substances. There are few complete or perfect foods. If a person eats cereals, meats, liver, cod liver oil and lettuce in addition, he will get most of what he needs for health and growth.

In China, the majority of the lower classes eat diets whose content of cereals is as high as 65 per cent. The problem of high cereal diet seems to be merely the provision of the supplementary substances that have been mentioned. While milk is especially important as a supplement to cereal diets, providing many of the lacking factors such as calcium and proper proteins, even milk need not be added if the other necessary substances are provided in other ways. The high value of liver, eggs and lettuce as the supplementary substances to cereals taken in connection with high cereal diets cannot be overemphasized.

Investigations made in Japan and in Hawaii show that Japanese infants do well, although the diets of Japanese and Filipino mothers do not contain milk. These mothers do eat, however, large amounts of meat, fish, eggs and vegetables. They nurse their babies for a long time, and the children are rarely given cow's milk.

After six months, the children begin to receive large amounts of cereal and their growth is not so good as that of children in our own country. Rickets is rare among these children and mild when it does occur, probably because the ultraviolet rays are extremely adequate in subtropical countries.

OLD-FASHIONED GARDENS FOR NEW-FASHIONED CHILDREN
Love for Flowers Can Be Taught by Growing Them.

Urge Youth to come into the garden this spring! Coax the children out of outfitting them properly, such as a bright, smock (left), proper tools and a cut crop apron (right) which can be made of either oilcloth or unbleached muslin, embroidered gaily.

By JULIA BLANSHARD
New York, March 31.—There are youth movements in literature, art and furniture. There are youth movements in education. I should like to agitate for a youth movement in the old-fashioned garden.

By that I mean, encourage the children to get out into the back yard and have entire charge of and responsibility for a little garden all their own. I suggest the old-fashioned garden because there is such a variety in it that if some plants fail, others are sure to blossom splendidly and youngsters should not be disappointed.

Perhaps a good way to interest them in the idea is to equip them with a Polar light takes its own costumes. So does a diving expedition. Gardening can be invested with some of the glamor and romance of adventure if the approach is right.

Costuming Young Gardeners
Overalls or colorful smocks and big brimmed hats, tools with gaily colored handles, purchasable in the Five and Ten, and above all a gaudy sprinkling can will add zest to the child stepping into the garden. The outfit is small. The inspiration derived is tremendous.

By all means let David or Peggy decide what they want in their garden. But you can suggest some things to them. You can put before them a seed catalog and go over with them what possibilities there are for their new-old garden.

Peggy may love blue. Remember violets, delphinium, cornflowers. David is sure to like red, since most boys do. He might have phlox, salvia, snapdragons, celosia. Since a garden should bring joy first and foremost, you might point out the cheer there is in yellow blooms. Do not overlook the sturdy marigold, nor calendula, and gailardia.

Fragrance in Flowers.
You might explain to them how not only the eye but the nose must know the garden is beautiful. There are many little flowers that bring subtle enjoyment in their fragrant

How often when we were little did we slam the old arithmetic down and declare that we were not going to learn any more tables because, well, what was the use of all the silly nonsense, anyway?

And now when we hear Johnny mumble like a magpie, 6 x 9 are 54, 7 x 8 are 56, for weeks on end, up and down the scale of abstract numbers, and in and out of the mazes of denominate ones, aren't we still inclined to think that such mental gymnastics have lost none of their foolishness through the intervening years?

Well, if we hold that opinion without qualification, we are wrong. Because there is a much greater principle involved in memorizing uninteresting statistics than appears merely on the surface, and a benefit greater than the mere possession of off-hand knowledge.

Minds are like muscles, or horses, or steamboats, or airplanes—unless they submit to control. It doesn't matter how fine a mind may be, it cannot do its greatest or best work unless it submits to discipline. We have to make it do our bidding if we want to get service.

Every family has occasional need of a laxative, but it should be a family laxative. One that can't form a habit, but can be taken as often as needed. When breath is bad or tongue coated. Or appetite fails. Only a doctor knows the right ingredients. Dr. Caldwell discovered the correct combination years ago. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin combines harmless herbs and pure senna. It starts muscular action and soon corrects constipation. Gently, but surely, it relieves a bilious or sluggish condition. It is mild. Delicious. Effective. SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By SISTER MARY
NEA Service Writer

One of the most appetizing ways to serve left-overs, whether they be fish, meat or vegetables, is "au gratin."

"Au gratin" is the French way of expressing a scalloped dish baked with a coating of bread crumbs. Although it is commonly understood to mean cooked with cheese, the real "au gratin" dish has a layer of bread or cracker crumbs mixed with melted butter and sometimes with grated cheese sprinkled over the top of the other ingredients.

These dishes are particularly attractive to serve for luncheon or supper, although many of them find a place on a company menu. They may often be prepared some time before the meal is to be served and baked when wanted.

While this is an excellent way to use cooked left-overs, uncooked material also can be used. If all the ingredients have been cooked it is only necessary to heat the mixture through and brown the crumbs. If uncooked material is used and a longer cooking period necessary, it usually is better not to add the crumbs until the food is almost "done." This prevents the crumbs from becoming too brown.

The construction of an au gratin dish is amazingly simple. The chief ingredient, vegetable, fish or meat, is mixed with a well seasoned white sauce. Hard cooked eggs, mushrooms or shredded green or red pepper can be added for flavor if wanted.

Since an au gratin dish always is served in the dish in which it is baked, it saves dish washing and simplifies serving.

Cheese can be added to the sauce in many combinations of vegetables. This increases the food value of the dish and makes it a nourishing main dish.

Buttered crumbs are made by rubbing stale bread in a coarse grater and mixing them with melted butter. Allow four tablespoons melted butter to a cup of crumbs and stir and toss with a fork until thoroughly and evenly coated.

White Sauce: 1 tablespoon paprika, 1 cup milk. Melt butter and stir in flour. When perfectly smooth and bubbling, slowly add milk, stirring constantly. Season with salt and pepper and bring to the boiling point, stirring constantly. Cook five minutes and combine with material at hand.

Outdoor Girls Win Applause

All the smartest frocks this season adopt the sleeveless mode. They differ from last year's sleeveless frocks. They are much more becoming, with their drooped shoulders. The model sketched is a favorite Paris-Riviera frock, interpreted in men's silk shirting in pale blue and white ground. This new blue shade leads the mode, and is very flattering. No wonder for its success. The jumper is distinguished by its one-sided scalloped closing, with corresponding scalloped treatment of armholes. It is belted at the normal waistline.

The skirt affects a wrap-around through grouped side plaits. It is attached to a camisole bodice with shoulder straps.

Style No. 555 comes in sizes 14, 16, 18 and 20 years.

In the 16-year size, 3 yards of 36-inch material with 1 yard of 36-inch for camisole is sufficient.

There are many ways to make it. The jumper of nautical blue flat silk with skirt of white flannel is very chic.

Navy blue linen with oyster-white skirt, lime green wool jersey, printed silk crepe in Lanvin green tones and peach-pink shantung are attractive combinations.

Manchester Bowler Breaks Three Town Records

"Sparky" Saidella Rolls New High Single of 199

Average 145.2 for Five Games Hitting 727 Total and New Three String of 452.

BATTALINO MATCHED WITH BUSHY GRAHAM

Hartford, April 4.—(AP)—Matchmaker Ed. Hurley today announced that he has signed Bushy Graham of Utica, N. Y., to meet Eat Battalino, world's featherweight champion in a ten round non-title bout here April 25.

Jack Saidella, well known local bowler, killed three birds with one stone, so to speak, last night at Gamba's alleys when he broke three town records of long standing. Foremost of all was his brilliant high single score of 199 made possible through four strikes, five spares and liberal fillings. Other records were 452 for a three string and 145.2 for a five game average. The scores were made in a match against another local bowler with a gallery of about 50 persons as witnesses. Saidella, who is manager of the bowling alleys upon which the records were made, rolled these five scores: 166, 109, 122, 199 and 131 for a total of 727. The former high single record was held by Ernie Wilkie with a score of 191 made with the regulation four and three-quarters inch ball some five or six years ago in the Cheney Mill League.

Without any intention of detracting from Saidella's praiseworthy feat, it must be stated, with justice to Wilkie, that his score of 191 was a much better piece of work than Saidella's 199 made with balls which are an inch larger in diameter. Saidella's 199 is one of the best scores ever made in the state since the bigger-sized ball came into popularity. Fido O'Brien of Hartford is said to hold the state record with a score of 206.

The former town three string record was held by "Lefty" Curtis with a score of 441. To impress one further as to the fine scores which Saidella rolled, compare his 727 five string total to the team singles made by the best teams in the Herald League. No combination has bettered 700.

Saidella opened his amazing 199 string with two spares, getting nine on the first and a strike on the second. Then came three strikes in rapid succession with respective fillings of 30, 29 and 20 pins. Three more spares followed with nine, eight and five fillings, to make a string of eight successive marks. He took a ten box in the ninth to make his total 180.

With eleven pins needed to establish a new town record, the crowd began to cheer him on with

"Just one more mark, Sparky." A spare would do the trick with a filling of only two pins, but Saidella's first ball was so perfect that all the pins toppled for a strike. His first ball netted seven and his second two for the new town record score of 199. Here is the score by boxes:

1st.—Spare	9	19
2nd.—Spare	10	30
3rd.—Strike	30	69
4th.—Strike	29	98
5th.—Strike	20	118
6th.—Spare	9	137
7th.—Spare	8	155
8th.—Spare	5	170
9th.—	0	180
10th.—Strike	9	199

ALL-AMERICAN NINE PICKED BY WAGNER

Ruth, Cobb on Team Named In Article in Collier's Weekly; McGraw Manager

Honus Wagner of Pittsburgh, one of baseball's colossals, has named an all-time all-American baseball nine, including manager and umpires, in an article in the current issue of Collier's Weekly. Wagner's selections follow: Pitcher—Christy Mathewson. Catcher—Pohmy Fling. First Base—Hal Chase. Second Base—Larry Lajoie. Shortstop—Joe Tinker. Third Base—Jimmy Collins. Left Field—Fred Clarke. Center Field—Ty Cobb. Right Field—Babe Ruth. In the article, Wagner says: "For manager of that team I nominate John McGraw—a hard man but a fast man, who always protected his players. And the ideal umpire for the all-American team would be Bob Emslie and Bill Klem." "A modern may disagree with Honus Wagner's selections," Collier's notes, "not because he omits mention of a great shortstop like Mike Frisch, but because in modesty he leaves out Honus Wagner. What immortal nine of baseball would ever be accepted without Honus?"

Fully Clothed Spectator Saves Star Swimmer's Life

Chicago, April 4.—(AP)—John Rae, New York swimming star, narrowly escaped drowning last night in a pool filled with some of the nation's best swimmers and lined with 300 spectators. Rae was seized with a violent attack of cramps and went down once without attracting attention. Then he went down again. This time he was seen by a spectator, Lawrence M. Barr. Unable to attract the attention of the other ten swimmers Barr jumped to the pool fully clothed, pulled Rae to the edge and held him until he was taken on from the water.

FANS GET FLEETING GLIMPSE OF KAUFMAN IN HIS RETURN

Pinkey Kayoes Clarke, Portney Substitute, In Less Than One Round.

By T. W. STOWE.

Hartford's glimpse of Pinkey Kaufman, its native son who went West to make a reputation was "short and sweet" last night at Foot Guard Hall in Hartford. He took less than a full round to dispose of Clinkey Clarke of Holyoke, who substituted for Jack Portney, Kid Kaplan's conqueror, when the latter suffered an attack of grip which made it impossible for him to go through with the Kaufman bout.

Only one of the five fights on the program went the route, two ending on knockouts of a technical nature in two rounds and the other lasting but one more. In all, the fans saw less than 14 rounds of boxing out of the 30 or more scheduled. None of the five scraps were very impressive, least of all the main go featuring Kaufman and Clarke. Hartford's red-tatched gladiator tore into his taller opponent and beat him into submission with a withering two-fisted attack.

Three times Clarke was dropped to the canvas and blood flowed freely from the Paper City battler's mouth when Referee Henry Garrity

Two Georgia Quintets Reach Quarter-Finals

School With Only 25 Boys from Town of 150 Population Tops Kentucky Five, 29-26.

Chicago, April 4.—(AP)—Georgia placed two teams in the quarter-finals of the national prep basketball championship tournament last night. Braselton, defeating Lawrenceburg, Ky., 29 to 26, in an overtime battle, and Savannah eliminating Morgan Park High, Chicago, 35 to 27.

Other victors in today's fights for quarter final positions were Wheatland, Wyo., and St. John's Military Academy of Delafield, Wis. The latter upset the powerful Denton, Tex. Hornets, 22 to 21. New Brunswick, N. J., conquered Ely, Nevada, 33 to 11.

St. John's Military five delivered a stunning upset by eliminating the favored Texas team and earning the right to meet Braselton, Ga., in the quarter-finals. The Broncos, champions of Texas, were heavy favorites in the tournament.

Wheatland defeated Durham, N. C., 18 to 13, in a great defensive battle. Durand of the Wyoming champions showed the Wyoming four field goals in addition to playing one of the best floor games in the classic.

Braselton in winning was the first team to capture an overtime game of the championship round. The tall Georgians, who represent a crossroads village of but 150 population, trailed 8 to 19 at half time, and trailed 9 to 22 at the end of the third period. Grady Thrasher, their beanpole forward found his shooting eye in the final period and tied the game at 26-all just as the gun sounded. In the overtime, Thrasher bagged a free throw and Rice, 205-pound Braselton forward, made a field goal to provide the winning punch. Only 25 boys attend the Braselton school.

In a consolation game, Waterloo, N. Y., lost to South High of Minneapolis, 39 to 16.

Jena, La., crowded into the quarter-final bracket by crushing Lakeland, Fla., 41 to 15. Ernie Dughity, Jena forward, established a high record for scoring in the present tournament by bagging 18 points.

The results: Third Round. Braselton, Ga., 29; Kavanaugh, Lawrenceburg, Ky., 26 (overtime). St. John's Military Academy, Delafield, Wis., 22; Denton, Texas, 21. Wheatland, Wyo., 18; Durham, N. C., 13. Jena, La., 41; Lakeland, Fla., 15. Savannah, Ga., 35; Morgan Park, Chicago, 27.

HARTFORD UNITED PLAYING SUNDAY

The Hartford United will clash with the German Sport Club Sunday afternoon, at Bridgeport, in a Conn. State Soccer League contest. The kick-off is set for 2:45 sharp. Bob Jones, of Bridgeport will referee. The following players are to report—S. Pratt, J. Kelly, Dickson, Ferguson, Devlin, Maxvay, Cassidy, Campbell, McElroy, Miller, Keefe, Marshall, Manson, to meet at the corner of Park and South Whitney street. The United will also be assisted by the two Holyoke players. This is the last away game and the United desires to score a win as it has still a chance to climb to the top. The players meet at 10:30. The United took the Scandia into camp by the score of 3 goals to 1 last Sunday at Charter Oak Park. The opening period was fairly even, Scandia opening the scoring through Corral, and Kelly scored for the United before the interval. The United had all the better of the second half and McElroy headed one and booted another in the Scandia net. Pratt having little to do in the last half of the game. Marshall played a great game at left half.

CANADIENS BEAT BOSTON BRUINS FOR TITLE, 4 TO 3

Stunning Upset at Hub Is Repeated in Montreal and Championship Passes.

Montreal, April 4.—(AP)—The Stanley Cup, for 37 years Canada's most coveted sports trophy and the present emblem of the world's hockey supremacy, has come back to the Dominion through the amazing efforts of Les Canadiens of Montreal. The flying Frenchmen recaptured the trophy which had been captured by the Boston Bruins in two successive games of the playoff series between the survivors of the National League hockey competition. The Canadiens defeated the Bruins, odds-on favorites to retain the championship 3 to 0 in the first game and 4 to 3 in last night's deciding encounter.

Montreal celebrated the triumph wildly. Thousands of hockey fans swarmed down onto the playing surface at the conclusion of the bitter battle and carried Howie Morenz and his gallant teammates on their shoulders around the ice. It probably was the greatest night at hockey that the city ever has experienced.

The Canadiens, underdogs at the start of the play-offs and considered second to the Maroons, suddenly rose to supreme height of play, beating the Chicago Black Hawks in the first series, eliminating the New York Rangers in the semi-finals and then sweeping on to an entirely unexpected triumph over the much heralded Bruins.

The victory came only after the Bruins had staged a brilliant last period rally that threatened to take the lead away from the fast tiring Canadiens. Trailing 4 to 1 in the final chucker, the Hub team put on a desperate, last minute attack that netted two goals and turned the Forum into a madhouse.

PALFREY SISTERS IN SEMI-FINALS

Brookline, Mass., April 4.—(AP)—Sarah Palfrey, 17 year old member of the American Wightman Cup team, will meet Helen Jones of Swampscott in the semi-final round of the National Girls' indoors singles tourney today. Her 15-year old sister, Joanna, will oppose Helen Bidwell of Winchester in the other match. Sarah lost only four games in eliminating another seeded player, Helen Boehm of Malden, yesterday.

"LOVE LIKE OURS CAN NEVER DIE," MUTTERED MARMADUKE, THICKLY.

"You'd be surprised," replied the sprightly Sophia. "With a rasping voice like yours, love is likely to fly out of the window and land on the back of its neck. What our love needs is insurance."
"What insurance?" he wondered.
"The insurance of OLD GOLDS, boy friend. Throat-ease and tender tones caused by the mellow, mild, heart-leaf tobacco; vocal cords that act without a struggle; no tickle, scratch or scrape. OLD GOLD yourself, Marmie, and we shall be inseparable. There's not a bark in a billion."

DAILY LENTEN THOUGHT

By GEORGE A. CAMPBELL, D. D.
Pastor, Union Avenue Christian Church, St. Louis, Mo.

Rev. Campbell

"The man who cannot wonder, who does not habitually wonder (and worship)," says Carlyle. "... is but a pair of spectacles behind which there is no eye."

In these Lenten days we surely have enough to elicit the wonder of our souls. As we retrace the steps of Jesus as they led through Gethsemane, up to Calvary, and then out of the grave there is certainly cause for pause, wonder and worship. Our souls should arise and to worship?

Admiration and wonder spring out of much thoughtfulness. They cannot be caught on the run. Who stands in wonder before a rare orchid? Only he who has given much time to orchids. What does our age need more than to wonder and to worship?

We have been all too much absorbed by the discoveries in the physical world. In this Lenten season Christ calls us to the wonders of the spiritual. He calls the drab, indifferent church member to open his soul to wonder so that he may

NEW STAR APPEARS IN "NO, NO NANETTE"

In bringing the delightful musical comedy, "No, No Nanette" to the talking screen, First National has set a brilliant pace for the other Hollywood Studios to follow. This lavish spectacle, made partly in gorgeous technicolor, will head the program at the State today and Saturday.

The story is a comedy fable of a very sophisticated millionaire who imagined he could buy clothes for pretty girls just out of pure good nature and get away with it. "No, No Nanette" is mirthful, melodious and produced with great artistry. Alexander Gray, recently seen in "Sally," and Bernice Claire have the most important roles. Mr. Gray's previous work on the screen is well remembered by every picture fan. Miss Claire is a new personality from the stage, playing her first picture. She has the youth, beauty, sparkle and voice demanded for such roles. The comedy is upheld merrily by Louise Fazenda, Lucien Littlefield and Bert Roach. Others in the large cast are, Mildred Harris, Zasu Pitts, and Henry Stockbridge.

The program will also include the latest sound news and Harry Langdon in the all talking screen, "The Head Guy."

Ruth Chatterton in her latest triumph, "Sarah and Son" will be seen at the State for three days starting Sunday night.

A woman must be 30 years old to vote in England.

13 MINERS KILLED

Brussels, Belgium, April 4.—(AP)—Thirteen men were killed and eight injured in a fire-damp explosion in a coal mine at Elouges, near Mons, last night.

Two of the injured men were seriously hurt and were taken out by rescue crews who worked desperately throughout the night.

The explosion took place as an electrically controlled dynamite charge was detonated. The miner in charge of the operation declared that all precautions had been taken and that there was no trace of fire-damp before the accident.

King Albert has requested by telegraph a complete report and the causes and circumstances of the tragedy.

SUSPECT HUSBAND IN TRIPLE DEATHS

Sebring, Fla., April 4.—(AP)—William R. Carver, former Philadelphia real estate man was held in jail here for questioning today in the axe killings of his wife and two year old son, which coroner's jury had blamed on a negro yard boy, whom Carver shot to death.

Mrs. Carver and her boy were killed in the Carver home here Wednesday. The coroner's jury said the negro, Ben Whitehead, had killed them and that Whitehead's death at Carver's hands was justified.

Big Insurance Carver was arrested late yesterday after officers learned he was beneficiary in a $10,000 insurance policy of Mrs. Carver, taken out last December.

State Attorney Grady Burton ordered the arrest.

Sheriff Oscar Wolf said stains resembling blood had been found on a pair of Carver's golf trousers. He also said that an examination of the body of Whitehead failed to disclose any blood other than what appeared to have come from his own wounds.

COMPLETES FLIGHT ENGLAND TO TOKYO

Osaka, Japan, April 4—(AP)—Coming at last to the end of his long air trail from Croydon, England, to Japan, Van Lear Black, Baltimore publisher reached here at 2:54 p. m. from Seoul, Korea. He left Croydon February 9, traveling an estimated six thousand miles before setting his plane at the airdrome here.

Van Lear Black has traveled thousands of miles by air over Europe, Africa and Asia during the past few years. He is intensely interested in the commercial possibilities of aviation.

The publisher probably holds the world record for miles flown as a passenger, and his flights have been singularly free from trouble. He has had two crashes — one near Genoa in April last year and another at Calcutta—but no one was injured. At other times members of the crew have fallen ill and his planes have suffered minor mishaps, but his flights have followed schedule in remarkable fashion.

Veteran Flier

Mr. Black had flown thousands of miles over Europe before he started a flight from Holland to the Dutch East Indies in 1927. He left Amsterdam June 15 that year, flew to Weltevreden, Java, in a success-of jumps, and returned to Amsterdam July 23.

His next flight was to be from London to South Africa in 1928 but it was abandoned after the party reached Khartoum and the plane gave trouble.

In the spring of 1929 he again tried the South African trip, this time reaching Capetown and returning to London successfully.

A little later, in May, he started for Tokyo but was forced to abandon the project when his ship was wrecked in the fall at Calcutta.

This year he again set out for Tokyo—or the airdrome at nearby Osaka—leaving England, Feb. 9, and it is this flight that he has just completed.

PRESIDENT IS OFF ON FISHING TRIP

Washington, April 4—(AP)—Springtime's challenge of a fast singing reel and a week-end outdoors drew President Hoover from work today for his first trip of the season to his fishing camp in the Virginia Mountains.

The chief executive expected to reach the preserve on the headwaters of the Rapidan by dusk, in time to whip the stream for half an hour or so before dinner. The Virginia fishing season opened on Tuesday.

The expedition was to be a stag affair. In the chief executive's party were Secretary of Commerce Lamont, Secretary of the Interior Wilbur, Representative Fort of New Jersey, Lawrence Richey one of the President's secretaries and Dr. Joel T. Boone, the White House physician.

The highest suspension bridge in the world has recently been put into operation across the famous Royal Gorge of the Arkansas river. The floor of the bridge is 1053 feet above the stream.

NOVEL DIVORCE PLEA

Chicago, April 4—(AP)—This game of bridge may lead to cruelty and divorce by various routes. There are some who are beaten and get divorces because of bonehead plays. On the other hand there is Mrs. Juliet White.

She, too, was struck by her husband as the result of a bridge game, she told Judge Joseph Sabath.

"You trumped his ace?" the judge asked.

"I should say not," responded Mrs. White. "I was playing against him and I played too well. He didn't take a trick."

She got her decree and a cash settlement of $3,000.

TRY A SALT RUB!

A new and natural way to strengthen your resistance to colds . . .

Ivory Salt for cooking and table, of course, but did you ever try a salt rub?

A daily salt bath followed by a brisk salt rub . . . what a delightfully simple way of assuring a sturdy resistance to early spring colds!

Salt is nature's best antiseptic. A salt bath speeds up circulation, cleanses clogged pores and makes you less sensitive to changing weather conditions. Start the day right . . . with a salt bath. Add one carton of Ivory Salt to your regular bath . . . reserving just enough for a salt rub.

Get this enjoyable health habit. You will begin to feel and look better almost immediately.

For the many other kitchen and household uses of Ivory Salt see our booklet, "The Magic of Salt." Write for your free copy. Worcester Salt Co., Dept. 202, 71 Murray St., New York, N. Y.

When the Cook Book says

"A Pinch of Salt"

Choose that salt as carefully as you do the other ingredients.

Ivory Salt is truly the "salty" salt; which means that less does more. Remember, "It takes the Best to make the Best," so use Ivory Salt. Your grocer has it in the convenient orange carton with the easy-pouring spout.

WORLD'S BIGGEST PIANO FOR WHITEMAN TALKIE

Paul Whiteman and his orchestra, heard regularly each Tuesday night in the Old Gold Hour over the Columbia network, is to have the biggest piano ever built as part of the setting for the "Rhapsody in Blue" number in his forthcoming talkie premiere of Universal's "King of Jazz."

As the radio public is aware the "Rhapsody in Blue," written originally for Whiteman by George Gershwin and presented by him as the feature of his celebrated concert in Aeolian Hall in February, 1924, is the musical theme of the Old Gold Hour. The strains of the principal melody of the composition are played at intervals on the program and provide the signature of the broadcast.

The piano was built to contain the entire Whiteman orchestra. It is forty feet long, seven feet high and the keyboard extends thirty feet. Each of the keys on which a ballet will dance, is over a foot wide and five feet long.

Whiteman's musical career has been inseparably associated with the Gershwin work and it is appropriate that in his first talkie the director gives prominent place to the composition. Its production on the screen will retain the atmospheric suggestion of its presentation on the concert stage. Musically it will be the climax of the picture just as it was the climax of the Whiteman recital—the first concert jazz recital—in Aeolian Hall in 1924. Ferde Grofe, who originally scored the "Rhapsody" has orchestrated the work for the sound-track.

ZEP SERVICE SOON

Washington, April 4.—(AP)—Within two years Dr. Hugo Eckener expects to have his trans-Atlantic Zepplin service in operation, with fares approximately double the price of a steamship ticket.

This was revealed by Commander J. C. Hunsacker, one of Dr. Eckener's close advisors, and vice-president of the International Transport company, who has been assisting the commander of the Graf Zeppelin in the selection of an airport terminal for the service.

He also said that another Zepplin will be constructed in Germany and two in America and that eastward trips will be completed in two days and westward flights in three.

THE TINYMITES STORY by HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES by KING

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE) The Tines finished eating soon and noticed, by the clock, 'twas noon. "No wonder we were hungry," said wee Clowny, with a grin. "Now that we've finished with our meal I'll tell you frankly that I feel like going 'round and seeing things. Just when do we begin?" "Oh, my," replied the Travel Man. "We can go now. Of course we can, but why not sit and rest a while and watch the people pass. I guess I'm lazy as can be. Now, why promptly leave a place like this, when we have dined in class?" And so they sat an hour or so. The scenes about were quite a show. Both autos and queer buggies passed along the avenue. The Travel Man then, with a smile, said, "Well, I guess we'll ride a while.
