

HINES ENDORSES HOUSE'S VET BILL

Veterans Bureau Director is In Favor of New Measure Up for Vote.

Washington, June 27 (AP)—The new House bill to aid World War veterans was endorsed before the Senate finance committee today by Director Frank T. Hines, of the Veterans Bureau.

Taking up the substitute for the measure vetoed by President Hoover, the Senate committee questioned Mr. Hines in executive session all morning.

A vote will be sought late today by Senator Watson, the acting chairman. Moves to change the House measure were in preparation.

Democrats were ready to seek higher rates than those provided by the House bill. They will have a $60 maximum, as allowed by Spanish War veterans, rather than the $40 maximum provided by the House.

Senator Eingham, Republican, Connecticut, gave notice he would seek to substitute the original program of the American Legion allowing for increased disability compensation awards rather than a straight out pension.

Before going to the committee session, Senator Watson called upon President Hoover. The President was understood to be firmly opposed to any increase in the payments allowed by the House.

With a contest on the veterans measure in sight, Senator McNary, Oregon, assistant Republican leader, predicted Congress would not adjourn before next Tuesday night.

WIFE OF ATTORNEY IS KILLED BY BOMB

Amarillo, Tex., June 27 (AP)—Iglams A. D. Payne, wife of a well known Amarillo attorney, was killed and her 14 year old son probably fatally injured today when the Payne automobile was destroyed by what police believe was an infernal machine.

The boy was hurled thirty feet into the yard. The chassis of the car was left intact and the gas tank was undamaged.

Bits of wiring and pieces of dry cell batteries were found by detectives in the wreckage, and they said they believed either dynamite or some other powerful explosive had been placed in the automobile.

Payne had been a candidate for district judge but recently withdrew. He had participated as an attorney in several sensational murder cases in the Texas Panhandle during the past year.

COLLUCCI REARRESTED

New Haven, June 27 (AP)—A few hours after he was released from Cheshire Reformatory today, John Collucci, 20, of Waterbury was arrested in City Court on a charge of robbery with violence in connection with a holdup committed about two years ago. He was granted a continuance until Monday.

He is alleged to have been one of the four youths who robbed Peter Cummings of more than $450 after beating him. He was arrested on another charge in Bridgeport a few days later and sentenced to the school.

Smiling caller upon President Hoover at the White House was Zella Childers, above, a Creek Indian girl of Broken Arrow, Okla. She was the only representative of her race at the annual outing in Washington of the 4-H Clubs, composed of more than 780,000 American farm children.

AFTERNOON DOWNPOUR CHOKES STORM SEWERS

Shower Starting at 2:15 Today Clears Air But Floods the Streets.

At 2:15 p. m., a heavy shower passed over Manchester induced by the sultriness of the morning and for ten minutes preceding the heavy downpour homes and offices were almost as dark as night.

The storm was accompanied by a high wind that whirled the sheets of water in every direction, much to the surprise of pedestrians who found they could not escape a wetting. Cars slowed up almost to a walk ploughing a sheet of water before them as they crossed street car tracks or overflowing gutters.

The dry brook filled rapidly and at 2:30 a party evidently headed for Globe Hollow sported in two feet of rushing, muddy water at the Bissell street culvert.

Catch basins in several sections became clogged and the big basin on Main street near the South Methodist church overflowed that section of the street a foot deep. At press time the storm was continuing, unabated. Little or no lightning and thunder accompanied the heavy shower.

PUBLISHERS RECALL WISTER BOOK ON T. R.

New York, June 27 (AP)—All advance copies of "Roosevelt—The Story of a Friendship" by Owen Wister, have been recalled from reviewers to enable the author to make some revisions before the volume is placed on the bookstand, officials of Macmillan & Co., publishers of the book, said today.

Nothing could be learned about the nature of the revisions Wister wishes to make. Officials of Macmillan's said that "many unfounded reports" were in circulation, but refused to affirm or deny that the revision in question concerned some purely social anecdote with no political bearing.

The book has generally been reviewed, but no copies are in the hands of dealers, the company said.

renown to the Empire as a whole and to Australia in particular.

PARENTS HAPPY

Nottingham, Eng., June 27 (AP)—There were tears of joy in the eyes of the parents of Radio Operator J. W. Stannage, of the Southern Cross, in the early hours of today as they sat in a small room of their Nottingham flat and who had assisted him in the flight to America.

Mr. and Mrs. Stannage heard the radio hero of the newest conquest of New York to the people of England and Australia over a short wave hook-up, as well as on the regular broadcast channels.

Pleasure glowed in their faces as they listened proudly and heard Stannage say, "the flight was simply wonderful."

TALK TO AUSTRALIA

New York, June 27 (AP)—The Southern Cross fliers will fly to Schenectady, N. Y., tomorrow so that Squadron Leader Kingsford-Smith may talk to his mother and fiancée in Australia by short wave radio.

This was the only definite plan the fliers had today for their immediate future. Invitations to other cities were being considered and the fliers were fitted into the busy schedule.

Kingsford-Smith wants to set his plane down at Oakland, Calif., completing the circuit begun two years ago with his flight from Oakland to Australia, and he is eager that the arrival in Oakland shall not be too long delayed.

Miss Lee embarked for Europe, where she will enter the international contest.

BYRD'S DOG LOST

Montclair, N. J., June 27 (AP)—Schnusk, a fox terrier whose Danish name means "Curious Person," and who travelled to the end of the earth as mascot an Admiral Byrd's ship City of New York, has disappeared.

Ralph Shropshire, hydrographer of the expedition and until last night the custodian of the exploring dog, attributed Schnusk's act to his acquired nomadic desires and inability to readjust himself again to a well-ordered existence in a private home.

Warm weather also may have played a part in Schnusk's disappearance. For many months he and Igloo, Admiral Byrd's pet terrier, romped together on icy shores.

ABOUT TOWN

Mrs. Jennie Sheridan of Main street is planning to leave on July 1 for Point O'Woods where she will spend the summer.

Mrs. Henry Chandler of 179 Main street left for Black Point today, in company with a party of Wapping friends. They will be guests at the Stoughton cottage.

DRIVER RESPONSIBLE

New Haven, June 27 (AP)—Ernest Bellante, 45, Union street, Meriden, today was held criminally responsible in a finding issued by Coroner James J. Corrigan for the death on June 5 of Mrs. Mary Stone, 31, also of Meriden.

The woman was a passenger in a machine driven by Earl Thompson which collided with a car operated by Bellante.

The coroner charged that at the time of the accident that Bellante was under the influence of liquor and was traveling at a high rate of speed.

L. Stamford, Hartford, Windsor, Windsor Locks and this town. The headquarters will be at the Highland Park clubhouse and grounds. Mrs. Mary Benson and her brother-in-law, H. R. Lewis, are in charge of arrangements. A program of entertainment will be given by members of the family, consisting of Scotch songs, sketches and recitations, as well as outdoor sports. Dinner will be served at 5 o'clock.

LATEST STOCKS

New York, June 27 (AP)—The latest glimmer of speculative optimism in Wall street was very nearly extinguished by still another bear drive in today's Stock Market. Prices sagged substantially, but trading was dull. The market had been permitted to close higher on two successive days for the first time this month, which, in the opinion of professional traders, was about the best that could be expected with speculative enthusiasm so close to the vanishing point.

The huge decrease of $371,000,000 in brokers loans failed to stimulate any considerable short covering. With brokerage loans at their present low levels, Wall street has been more interested in bank loans on securities and these loans have tended to increase. Security loans of New York member banks, showed a decrease of about $30,000,000, while their loans to brokers were cut $98,000,000, possibly indicating further shift of loans from brokerage accounts directly to the banks.

Since the American Tobacco extra and splitup announcement, stimulating business news has been scarce. Further railway net operating income reports for may were about the only items of interest to Stock Market circles, and reports by such roads as New York Central and Southern Pacific showing declines of about 40 per cent. from the like period of last year were not encouraging. The current slump in the textile industry was emphasized by the Department of Commerce's May statistics for wool consumption, showing only about 28,000,000 pounds used, against 32,000,000 in April, and 42,500,000 in May, 1929.

The market rallied a little in the opening transactions, but quickly weakened. Although commission houses report considerable investment buying, there is decidedly no inclination to reach for stocks on rallies. Many brokers feel that pessimism is being overdone, but can find no good reason as yet for putting stocks higher. One Stock Exchange house said in advices to its customers, that "no amount of talking can make a bull market until fundamental conditions are right."

Bears singled out Southern Railway and North American for their special attention. Southern was sent down more than 7 points to another new low, reflecting further uneasiness over the fact that earnings are running behind dividend requirements, although the road appears to have made provisions for this year's payments, at least. North American was sent down more than 6 points to a new 1930 low under 90. Shares losing 5 points or more included Allied Chemical, Northern Pacific, Goodyear and Eastman. U. S. Steel, Radio, General Motors, American Carb., General Electric, American Telephone, New Haven, Westinghouse, American Tobacco B, and DuPont lost 2 to 4 points, or more. Among the more volatile issues, Auburn and case tumbled more than 10.

The commodity markets were again inclined to sag.

BANK DIVIDEND

New Haven, June 27 (AP)—Directors of the Merchants National Bank today voted a semi-annual dividend of 4 per cent payable July 1.

TEXAS MOB FAILS TO LYNCH NEGRO

Surrounds City Hall But Police Rush Prisoner Out of the City.

Port Arthur, Texas, June 27 (AP)—About 200 persons failed in an attempt here today to lynch Rainey Williams, 38 year old negro who yesterday confessed to eight attempts on white women within the last 30 days.

While officers fought off the mob gathered around the City Hall where Williams had been held in jail, Chief of Police W. B. Word succeeded in sliding the negro down the pole in the fire station in the building. Williams was placed in the rumble seat of Fire Chief Enright's car. After several shots were fired into the air to drive the mob back, the car roared away headed for Beaumont where the officers planned to jail the negro for safekeeping.

Found After Search

Williams was arrested last night after a twenty-four hour man hunt for the attacker of a young white couple Wednesday night.

After he had confessed, an angry mob began milling about the City Hall this morning discussing methods of seizing Williams.

Police Chief Word and his officers barricaded themselves in the jail with shotguns and tear gas bombs before effecting the ruse by which the negro was rushed out of the city.

WEDNESDAY CLOSING SCHEDULE DISPUTED

Some Stores Decide to Remain Open All Day Because of July 4th Closing.

Although the Merchant's Division of the Chamber of Commerce has announced that stores will follow the summer closing schedule as usual next week despite the Fourth of July holiday, and close Wednesday afternoon as usual, it was learned late this afternoon that at least fifty percent of the members were opposed to this plan and will remain open Wednesday afternoon because of the all day closing Friday. A list of the stores which will remain open and those which will close will be published within the next few days.

NOON STOCKS

New York, June 27 (AP)—An early buying movement prompted by the large reduction in brokers loans and the cheapness of money was quickly spent on the Stock Market this forenoon as traders hastened to take the profit and professionals resumed selling.

Weakness in a few prominent shares, notably Southern Railway and North American, both of which went to new lows for the year, influenced the reactionary trend of the market. American Locomotive, American Car and Foundry, Marmon Motors and Celotex also went into new low ground.

Southern Railway broke below 93 and North American below 90. Allied Chemical, Eastman Kodak, Vanadium Steel, J. I. Case, Woudeston Oil, Worthington Pump and Auburn Oil lost 3 to 6 points net. U. S. Steel dropped from an early high of 157 1/2 to below 155. Atchison more than lost an early rise of 3 points.

Call money renewed at 2 per cent.

WOOL INSTITUTE CALLED A TRUST

Government Charges It Violates Sherman Law; Controls the Market.

New York, June 27.—(AP.)—The Federal government struck today to end what it charges is a wool monopoly maintained by the Wool Institute.

Federal Judge Grubb of Alabama, sitting in the New York jurisdiction, enjoined the Institute and its 138 members from continuing violations of the Sherman Anti-Trust law, on complaint of government counsel that participants in the wool monopoly reported to it before every sales season on the subject of prices and agreed to maintain schedules without deviation, thus eliminating all price competition.

Members of the Wool Institute control most of the nation's supply of woolen yarns and cloths, according to the complaint filed by the government.

The Institute consented to the degree, presented to the court by James Lawrence Fly, special assistant to the attorney general, and John Lord O'Brien, head of anti-trust enforcement.

The complaint averred that the Institute is a trade association with 138 member concerns or corporations, of whom 35 are spinners.

On December 12, 1929, the complaint sets forth, there was published an advertisement that "the Wool Institute is authorized to announce that the following member mills definitely maintain the established spring prices on all duplicates of new business for spring 1930."

Then followed a list of 105 men's wear million dollar concerns. A day later another advertisement listed seventy additional names and still later in various trade papers listed 182 mills.

Herald Editorial Calls Attention That Few Places Here Are Available for Over Night Guests.

"Tourists, Pass On," was the caption of an editorial which appeared in yesterday's Herald. Evidently it was widely read for since its publication The Herald has received a number of calls from local housewives, signifying their willingness to accommodate overnight tourists or visitors who desire to linger in the town.

The logical place for a tourist to apply for such information is the Chamber of Commerce. The Herald has therefore turned over to the Chamber headquarters at 789 Main street the list of homes referred to, and if there are others who prefer to give their names to the Chamber of Commerce rather than make use of the familiar signs, they should dial 7046.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH THE ROVING SOUTHERN CROSS

The romantic career of the monoplane Southern Cross and Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith, her daring pilot, is depicted in this set of pictures. The map shows the plane's voyages, the unbroken line representing the final link, now being completed, in what will eventually be a complete circling of the globe.

The pictures show:

2—The crowd that formed around the Southern Cross on its arrival at Suva, in the Fiji Islands.

3—Mr. and Mrs. Kingsford-Smith, the flier's parents, photographed as they watched his arrival at Sydney, Australia.

4—An aerial view showing the Southern Cross in the desolate Canberra section of Australia, where it was forced down in a wilderness and was missing for days following the daring Pacific flight.

5—Captain Kingsford-Smith addressing the thousands who gathered to greet him on his arrival at Sydney.

6—Capt. Kingsford-Smith (right) and C. T. Ulm, his co-pilot on the flight from Australia to London.

RUBINOW'S DOWNSTAIRS THRIFT STORE OPENS

Cool, Light, Airy Basement Shopping Place Ready for Public Tomorrow.

Rubinow's announces the opening of their Downstairs Thrift Store tomorrow. The Downstairs Thrift Store is perfectly adapted to summer trading. Its location and numerous windows provide abundant light and ventilation, giving a cool, comfortable atmosphere to the store. On hot summer days the store furnishes an ideal place where one can escape the heat while engaging in some extremely pleasant and profitable shopping.

The store will feature extraordinary values in washable dresses and silk frocks. Every article bought is a guaranteed saving to the customer and is sold under a "money back if not satisfied" guarantee. This liberal policy is made possible by the fact that all buying for the store is made with the aim of securing absolute satisfaction and the greatest economy for the patrons of the store. The complete stock unmistakably bears the stamp of careful selection and its freshness and newness provide an added inducement for buying in addition to its high values. The new store will be operated under a strictly cash policy—merchandise will be bought at lowest cash prices and sold for cash only, with the economies resulting from this policy assuring the utmost in value.

DEFENDS OUR TARIFF

Paris, June 27.—(AP)—New American tariff schedules under the Hawley-Smoot measure were the subject of attack at the tenth anniversary dinner of the International Chamber of Commerce here last night.

There was a lone voice in their defense, that of Roland W. Boyden of Boston, who remarked in a humorous address: "After all the tariff is not my fault. x x x You must remember that it was made with no hostile intentions toward any country. The idea of the Americans was that it was in their best interests, and after all each country works for what it considers its best interests." Georges Theunis, president of the Chamber and former Belgian finance minister, referred to "the exclusiveness which seems to prevail with some of our friends." He said that the proposed economic reorganization of Europe although not aimed against anybody, "ought in the end to relieve the sufferings of Europe from the exclusiveness of other continents."

MEXICAN GOVERNOR AGAIN TAKES POST

El Paso, Tex., June 27.—(AP)—Supported by Gen. Augustin de la Mora, Federal chief of staff, Governor Francisco Almada occupied the governor's palace at Chihuahua City, Mexico, today, following his purported impeachment and flight to Juarez Wednesday.

Governor Almada returned to Chihuahua City by plane yesterday after C. Riva Palacios, secretary of the interior at Mexico City, telegraphed the governor assurance of "safety and justice."

He was preceded by half an hour by General Mora and immediately was reinstated in office as governor.

President Pascual Ortiz Rubio's chief of staff announced he would conduct an investigation into the shooting and riots Wednesday in the Chamber of Deputies, which resulted in the death of Gabriel Jimenez, chief of state police.

The encounter occurred while partisans of Manuel Prieto, candidate for governorship of the state of Chihuahua in the July 20 election, were reading impeachment charges against Governor Almada. The charges accused Governor Almada of misconduct in office. Manuel Jesus Estrada was named provisional governor by the Prieto faction.

Cheering crowds greeted Governor Almada upon his arrival at the Chihuahua City airfield but troops were held in readiness lest partisans of Estrada again attempt to seize the palace.

HOODLUMS DEFACE FIRE ALARM BOXES

Newly Painted. They Have Been Marked and Marred by Stones or Other Missiles.

False fire alarms are not alone arousing the ire of fire department officials for it was learned today that several of the fire alarm boxes have been defaced. Only recently all of the boxes in the South Manchester Fire department, numbering over 80, were given a fresh coating of red paint. When an inspector for the department made a tour of the circuit a few days ago to discover if the paint had in any way interfered with an easy opening of the doors, he found several boxes had been scarred or otherwise damaged. It was evident from the inspector's report that in some instances the fire alarm boxes had been used as targets by young hoodlums whose ammunition consisted chiefly of stones or bottles. In one or two cases the boxes had been scribbled upon with black chalk. In cases where stones had been hurled at the boxes, there were instances where the glass covering over the handles to the door had been shattered. "A lot of trouble has been caused by these mischief makers," said a department official this morning. "It's liable to go pretty hard with the guilty person or persons if caught in the act for such a crime

LINES TO NEW ELECTRIC STATION BEING STRUNG

Building on Hilliard Street to Be Ready Early in the Fall; Doubles Capacity.

Workers for the Manchester Electric Light Company are busy today stringing the new wires along the South Manchester Railroad toward the new Hilliard street sub station which, it is expected, will be ready for opening early in the fall. The three wires being run along the tracks on telephone poles are capable of carrying 11,000 volts. When the work is completed the New and Hilliard street sub stations will be connected.

At present the power is carried through wires which run through the woods where the Connecticut Company power house used to be located to the two outdoor sub-stations now in use, the main one being at Loomis and Electric streets.

The advantages of the new modern sub-station when completed with the change-over in wires, are that the capacity will be more than doubled in addition to a much better control of the system. It is planned to have a public opening of the new sub-station on Hilliard street when it is completed. Gustav Schmitt and Son, local contractors, built new station.

JAP COUPLE POPULAR

London, June 27.—(AP)—Londoners have taken the petite, smiling Princess Takamatsu to their hearts.

Citizens lined the streets in thousands today and cheered heartily as the Japanese Prince and Princess, with the Duke of Gloucester, drove from Buckingham palace to Mansion House with an escort of Life Guards.

The Lord Mayor received the visitors in the list of a company of dignitaries. Luncheon was served in the Egyptian Hall where the famous Mansion House gold plate was used.

Chicago Firm Says Illegal Pool Violates the Anti-Trust Laws.

Kansas City, June 27.—(AP)—In a suit for treble damages of $300,000,000 filed here today, the Grigsby-Grunow Company of Chicago, radio set manufacturers, alleges the existence of a vast illegal pool of patents created in violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Law.

The defendants named are the Radio Corporation of America, the General Electric Company, the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company and others.

The charges are that the defendant companies illegally created the patent pool and thus illegally compelled payment of royalties in the sum of almost $8,000,000 by the Grigsby-Grunow Company.

It is also declared that, because of the vast organization and resources of "said conspirators," they were able to terrorize many persons and corporations not able to withstand the threatened process of litigation wherefore they refused to deal with manufacturers not licensed to manufacture and sell upon the terms and conditions dictated.

The company avers it was compelled, in order to secure a market, to accept the unlawful dictation, to pay $160,000 for a license, $80,000 as damages for alleged infringements of patents and "an onerous, burdensome and confiscatory royalty."

PARNELL'S BIRTH

On June 27, 1846, Charles Parnell, noted Irish statesman and Parliamentary leader, conspicuous for promoting the cause of Home Rule for Ireland, was born at Avondale, Ireland, the son of an old Protestant family.

After his education at Cambridge and a period of travel in the United States, Parnell entered public life in 1875 as a member of Parliament for Meath. From the outset he showed remarkable ability and he showed remarkable ability in the method of land ownership.

Helen Keller, Blind Since Infancy, Reflects on Life At 50th Birthday

Has Neither Light Nor Hearing—Says Life Just Starting.

By PAUL HARRISON
NEA Service Writer

New York, June 27.—Helen Keller, at 50, is looking ahead. More than ever is she interested in the pleasant business of living, serene and confident that the total blindness and deafness, which have afflicted her since infancy, in the future are to be less of a handicap than ever before.

Helen Keller has work to do, and places to go and new friends to make. There are books to write, and people to help, and new experiences to encounter. The day of June 27 means that she has rounded out a half century of sightless, soundless existence. But life for Helen Keller is only just begun.

She never will forget the day when, as a young girl, she sat with Alexander Graham Bell, genius of the telephone, who also worked to aid the deaf. Touching her hand, he spelled out this advice: "Don't confine yourself to any particular medium of expression. Write, speak, study—do whatever you possibly can. Remember, Helen, the more you accomplish, the more you will help the deaf and blind everywhere."

And so, groping through an abyssal void of silence and darkness, Miss Keller accomplished these things: She became the only deaf-blind person in America able to speak distinctly; the most famous person in the world who was so afflicted. Admitted to college with reluctance, and without favor, she won a degree with honor in the same time her normal classmates required for graduation.

She has lectured in every state in the union, in many parts of Canada, and in Europe. She has acted in the movies, and in vaudeville. She has made addresses over the radio, and has ridden in an airplane.

Ten books of more or less literary distinction have been written by Helen Keller. Two of the best known were books of verse. She maintains wide and regular correspondence in English, French and German, and has herself informed through books and magazines in those languages.

She has taken an active and often a leading part in every major movement in behalf of the blind. She has been the subject of eulogies, scientific speculation, and philosophical speculation, from which she emerged almost as much of a puzzle as before.

After William James once made a psychological study of her, he said: "The sum of it is that you are a blessing, and I'll kill anyone who says you are not."

"If there were no life beyond this earth life, some people I have known would gain immortality by the nobility of our memories of them," said Helen Keller. "With every friend I loved who has been taken into the brown bosom of the earth, a part of me has been buried. But the happiness, strength and understanding remains to sustain me in an altered world."

That is how she borrowed courage from her friends, and been listed among the names of the great. Oliver Wendell Holmes, Whittier, Lawrence Hutton, Henry Drummond, John Burroughs, Dr. Bell was her oldest friend. Mark Twain one of her staunchest. Several times she later "commanded" her to visit his home, and she always went to spend several days with the old man. In the evenings she would "listen" through her fingers, as he talked, and by day would scribble for her the views and colors and sounds of nature.

"He often said to me," recalled Miss Keller, "that the ordinary human being never scratched the surface of his brain. 'Helen,' he would say, 'the world is full of unseeing eyes—vacant, staring soulless eyes.'"

But the dearest and truest friend she ever had was the woman who came to her on "the most important day of my life"—her teacher, Anne Mansfield Sullivan, who in 1905 became Mrs. John A. Macy. Miss Keller pays constant tribute to Mrs. Macy for her patience and sacrifices which have marked her long care of her protégée.

For 43 years the two have lived and worked and traveled together, with the older woman supplying the eyes and ears for both. Mrs. Macy herself is partially blind now, and her health is failing. During a recent illness it was Helen Keller who washed the dishes, made the beds and tidied up the house in Forest Hills, L. I. She even made out the laundry lists in braille.

Miss Keller's only dread of the future is the loss of her companion. "I think about it with a very heavy heart," she said. "For I should be blind and deaf in very truth if she should be taken away."

Helen Adams Keller was born in Tuscumbia, Ala., June 27, 1880, daughter of a newspaper editor and his much-younger second wife. The mother was related to Edward Everett Hale, who throughout his life was a close friend of the child.

They say that Helen was a strong, assertive youngster, quick, imaginative and precocious in learning to speak. At 19 months she was taken seriously ill, and when the fever left her she was discovered to be totally deaf and blind. The experience even blotted out her memory.

Specialists were powerless to aid her. After four years, at the age of 6, she was taken to Dr. Bell in Washington. All the inventor could suggest, however, was that a teacher be secured for her. Anne Mansfield Sullivan went to the Keller home in March, 1887, and assumed the charge that since has made her nearly as famous as Helen herself. The young woman, who had been nearly blind as a child, had graduated from Perkins Institute, in Boston, where she partially regained her sight.

Hearty and active, with a ready smile, Helen Adams Keller, at 50, offers little outward evidence of the dual afflictions—total blindness and deafness—under which she has become a celebrity.

Miss Sullivan had studied ordinary methods of teaching the blind, but her own great achievement was how to teach the spoken language to the deaf-blind. As soon as communication was established with the outer world by means of the manual language, Helen's intellectual improvement was rapid. She delighted in learning every new word or fact, and her teacher's descriptive powers began to take on a life of their own.

In 1890 Helen was told of a similarly afflicted girl in Norway who had learned to speak. She resolved to do it too. She took eleven lessons in the method of feeling the moving tongue and lips of a person speaking. "I never can forget," Miss Keller said, "the thrill and surprise of uttering my first connected sentence: 'It is warm.'"

At first she was very difficult to understand. Her voice still is not normal, but she has no serious difficulty in her lectures. No one here has three remaining senses, except that of smell, believed to be more highly developed than she seems to be to the rest of the world. She frequently gets completely lost in her own home.

Her religious education began at 12. When a distinguished bishop began carefully to explain to her the glory and power of a creator called God, she interrupted: "I have known Him all the time, but never knew His name."

In the next few years, Helen studied foreign languages, history and literature for Radcliffe College in 1899. Her life at the school was full of difficulties and disappointments. "I found," said Miss Keller, "that one goes to college only to learn—but not to think." She graduated, however, with honors, and went to Wrentham, Mass., where she and her teacher bought an old farmhouse.

Miss Keller then began to write and lecture. In 1906 she was named by the governor of Massachusetts to the State Commission for the Blind, and began to be identified with other similar projects. However worthy, they were unprofitable, and the country home had to be sold. A few years later they moved to Long Island.

A moving picture called "Deliverance" in which Miss Keller played the star part was a financial failure. A four-year vaudeville tour, which she says she really enjoyed, was really profitable, as were some of her books and later lectures.

She emerged from these experiences a well-educated, widely-traveled woman, interested not only in the problems of the deaf and blind, but in the working classes, modern women, socialism, religion and politics. "I don't pretend to know the solution to the world's problems," she declared, "but I am burdened with a puritanical sense of obligation to set the world to rights. I have never been willing to believe that human nature cannot be changed, but anyway I am sure it can be curbed and led into channels of usefulness."

"I believe that war is the inevitable fruit of our economic system, and I believe that life, not wealth, is the real aim of existence. I admit the prospect of the millennium is not so imminent as it once seemed. Our emancipation from old ideas is very slow. Yet I do believe we can live according to the teachings of Jesus, and that great happiness will come to the world when man obeys His command: 'Love ye one another.'"

"I believe in the immortality of the soul more strongly as I grow older, because I have within me immortal longings. I believe that in the life to come I shall have the senses I have not had here."

AIRMEN HONORED.

Paris, June 27.—(AP)—The French airmen, Jean Assolant, Rene LeFevre, and Armand Lott have been awarded the 1929 grand prize of the Academy of Sports for their flight across the Atlantic June 14 from Old Orchard, Me., to Santander, Spain.

Solita Salgado was given the grand prize for feminine athletics for swimming achievements. She is winner of two championships and is the holder of five French records.

IF YOU HAVE BAD FEET

Read What This Grateful English Woman Writes About Radox.

"Fifteen years ago I began to suffer with bad feet and corns, and as time went on they got from bad to worse, thus making life a misery. I was recommended to try Radox (after spending a small fortune in one 'cure' or another). I found very great relief in a very short time. I am pleased to say that my corns, also the hard skin from the soles of my feet have disappeared, and walking, which was a torture, is now a pleasure. I can assure you that I recommended Radox to all my friends." 23rd September, 1929. Mrs. L. P. W., Peterborough, England.

When you put your feet into a footbath containing Radox, the salts soften the hard outer layers of the corn, and the oxygen which Radox liberates enters the pores, opens them and penetrates further and further, carrying the corn-softening salts right into the root of the corn, which is thus loosened so that it can be lifted out bodily. Get a generous box of Radox at North End Pharmacy, So. Manchester. Agents—Packard's Pharmacy, Magnell Drug Co., or any drugstore in America—a 15 minute bath three or four successive nights will rid you of corns and callouses.—Adv.

CHICAGO REPORTER BORROWED MONEY

City Officials Admit Transactions Show Lingle in Touch With Gangsters.

Chicago, June 27.—(AP)—The law looked today to the lawless for help in solving Jake Lingle's murder.

Into the inquiry of the Tribune reporter's murder had come information of large loans made to Lingle by gambling house keepers. The borrowings of Lingle, the investigators said, also included sums from Major Carlos Ames president of the city civil commission and Republican nominee for sheriff: Alderman Bert Cronson, nephew of Corporation Consul Samuel Ettleson, and from Ettleson himself. There was also the matter of a cancelled check for $500 written by Lingle and cashed by Police Captain Dan Gilbert, in charge of the central police detail.

Moran's Enemy.
The rumored coolness existing between Lingle and George (Bugs) Moran, rival to Al Capone for Chicago gang leadership was recalled to investigators by one development yesterday involving the Sheridan Wave Club, a gambling place in which Moran was said to have been interested. The investigators heard that on the night of June 9—the day of Lingle's murder—Joey Josephs and Julian (Potatoes) Kaufman had announced the Sheridan Wave Club was to be reopened. The club had been shut down following the Moran gang massacre of February 14, 1929.

The investigators also heard that loans, rumored to run as much as $50,000, were made to Lingle by Sammy Hare, owner of the Dells Winter Club and of The Dells, a roadhouse.

Newspaper Report.
The Herald and Examiner, said today that authorities had learned that: "Three days before Lingle was killed, police of the state attorney's office raided and closed the Bitmore Athletic Club, a gambling resort that State Attorney Swanson had personally raided a year ago. The next day Lingle called upon an official of the state attorney's office and complained that the raid had embarrassed him 'because I had them to go ahead and run.'" An investigator, according to the Herald and Examiner was told that Lingle demanded a fee of $15,000 to permit the Sheridan Wave Club to reopen. When this was refused the investigator was told that Lingle said: "If you open you'll see more police squad cars than you ever saw before."

Corporation Counsel Ettleson denied having made a $5,000 loan to Lingle. Major Ames however, recalled lending $2,500 at a time Lingle said he was in need of such a sum. Alderman Cronson also recalled making the reporter the loan, but did not remember for how much.

SUSPECT ARRESTED

Hartford, June 27.—(AP)—William Solomoni, 27, said to be of Elizabeth, N. J., was arrested here early today as the result of a teletype message broadcast by Waterbury police. He is wanted in Naugatuck for alleged gambling operations. Detectives found several hundred dollars in his possession and nearly fifty sets of dice in the room he had rented here.

BUFFALO IS SWEPT BY SEVERE STORM

Trees Fall, Houses Unroofed, Big Oil Tank Set on Fire by Lightning Bolt.

Buffalo, N. Y., June 21.—(AP)—Buffalo and vicinity was drying out today following one of the most severe wind and rain storms yesterday afternoon in several years. The weather Bureau reported that during the storm, which was of comparatively brief duration, nearly an inch of rain fell.

Trees were felled, several buildings were unroofed including a local police station, and cellars and first floors flooded. In some sections of the city cesspools were unable to meet the burden and water backed up in the streets to a depth that stalled traffic and in some instances covered the hoods of automobiles.

Two Drowned.
Two men were drowned in Buffalo harbor when the sixty-mile gale overturned their boat. Frank Wojtasik, 41, went to the rescue of a small boy who had been felled by a falling live wire. He suffered a shock from which he was revived only with difficulty and still is in a hospital, not expected to live. Numerous other accidents, principally less serious in nature were directly attributable to the fury of the elements. In western New York territory along Lake Erie, many orchards were leveled and considerable damage was done to crops.

Oil Tank Afire.
At Clean, where a 35,000-gallon Vacuum Oil Company tank was struck by lightning, the oil still was flaming early today, but fear of the fire spreading had been allayed as the result of banks thrown up about the tank by laborers. The top of the tank collapsed and the oil boiled over last night, but the spread of the burning liquid was prevented by the huge ditches. The fire still was being fought by the plant's individual department and firemen from Olean and Allegany.

At Tonawanda lightning struck a cable of the Niagara Falls high speed trolley line, disrupting service. The heavy rain was accompanied by hail.

The word "villain" originally meant "villager."

NEW HARTFORD BRIDGE
 The Bridgeport Post, in a rather impatient sort of way, demands to know why the state of Connecticut should pay for a bridge at Hartford when it wouldn't contribute a cent toward a Bridgeport bridge that carries a state highway.

Of course there isn't much of a parallel between the proposed new bridge over the Connecticut at Hartford and the one at Bridgeport which is wholly within the city and is almost entirely a facility of local convenience.

Just the same there are aspects of this bridge question which need to be looked into.

For example, the proposed Hartford bridge cannot, by any stretch of imagination, be looked upon as exclusively a Hartford responsibility. In the first place it would connect two entirely separate municipalities. In the second place it would carry a tremendous amount of through traffic of no direct concern whatever to either Hartford or East Hartford. It would constitute a very badly needed link between two great divisions of the state. It is only secondarily a local matter.

So far, that is, as relates to the erection of a commodious, serviceable and enduring bridge structure.

In the cost of such a structure it seems to us to be perfectly clear that neither Hartford alone, nor Hartford and East Hartford, nor yet Hartford county alone should bear the burden. Manifestly it is, in considerable part at least, the business of the state.

But the estimates of the cost of the bridge—they are talking about five million dollars—bring up a quite different phase of the problem. What sort of a bridge is it that is to be used that great sum of money? Would a railroad company, for instance, contemplate the expenditure of five million dollars for a bridge at Hartford capable of carrying greater loads than can be imposed on a highway bridge and intended to stand there for a century? We doubt it. We doubt if a railroad company or any other intensely practical business concern would find it necessary to spend half that sum in order to insure safe and permanent transit of the river.

A railroad company would build a practicable but unornate bridge—probably an ugly one; a stark fabrication of steel possessing no appeal to the esthetic sense and in no way contributing to the civic pride of the communities at either end. But it would carry the traffic and supply the needed economic facilities.

Now the question is, if the state has any responsibility in this matter of a new bridge at Hartford. Goes that responsibility extend one cent's worth beyond the provision of a practical utility and into the realm of Hartford's beautification and civic pride? And there will be a great many taxpayers in this state who will declare very emphatically that it does not.

It is our idea that this bridge question should resolve itself first into one of the barest practical utility, and that whatever determination shall be arrived at concerning the state's rightful share of the cost it shall be predicated on the presumption that the bridge to be erected is an absolutely utilitarian project. Having arrived at this determination, if the city of Hartford or the city of Hartford and the town of East Hartford together are sufficiently interested in their own beautification to supply the additional funds for converting the bridge into a work of art, let them do so as far as they please—strictly at their own expense.

And we will hazard the guess that, under any such division of the costs, the bridge to be built will cost a whole lot less than five million dollars.

MODESTUS

For a long time we have been ruminating over the modesty of that modest hero Lindbergh. And for some time a persistently intruding indefiniteness has been, "We wonder."
 Whenever the late Empress of China, Tsz'e Hsi, took it into her imperial head to remove temporarily from her palace in Peking to a country place eighteen or twenty miles away from the city the majestic caravan of her entourage passed along roads flanked at frequent intervals by farm houses and villages but from which no vestige of human life could be observed by the lynxlike eyes of the imperial body guard. For one of the inhabitants to have gazed upon even the vehicle in which the empress rode, let alone the daughter of heaven herself, would have been to court the instant loss of his head.

From which it might be gathered that Tsz'e Hsi was a shrinking violet who disliked publicity and who had a thumb-in-mouth bashfulness about being stared at. Unfortunately for the deduction, Tsz'e Hsi was one of the most soaringly ambitious human beings who ever lived. No living creature ever possessed a more magnificent opinion of his or her own importance. Her vanity and her ruthlessness were alike illimitable. How long a newspaper reporter would have lasted, after trying to snap a shot of her, nevertheless, may be easily guessed.

And at the end of this departure into the fields of imperial biography we find ourselves still wondering about the modest Mr. Lindbergh.

AUTHORITATIVE

In the first five months of 1930 the net profits of the American Tobacco Company, a $265,000,000 corporation, increased more than 100 per cent over those of the same period in the previous year. And the president of the company, George W. Hill, frankly attributes the exceptional prosperity of the great concern, in a period when high prosperity is none too common among the big corporations, very largely to newspaper advertising. Read his words:

Second only in importance to the quality of the product, in our opinion, is the question of its exploitation by advertising. Our policy of advertising, editorial in nature, is crammed full as we can make it of timely and appealing human interest, approximates the policies laid down by successful editors. We firmly believe that our copy not only competes for public attention with other advertising, but with the news articles of the day, and we attribute in no small measure the prosperity of our company in recent years to the proper use of newspaper publicity.

SKIN BANKRUPTS

If nothing is ever to be done by way of reforming the bankruptcy laws, at least some new procedure, and some new name applied to it, should be set up for the benefit of bona fide victims of business difficulties who, unable to meet their obligations, seek the aid of the courts in liquidating their assets honestly for the benefit of their creditors. Such persons, when they have encountered misfortune and their enterprises have failed, do not deserve to be compelled to classify themselves with the swarms of cheats and dead beats who nowadays clutter up the bankruptcy courts with their petitions to be relieved of debts which no decent person would want to dodge.

When, as is so often the case, we find an individual who confesses to no assets whatever asking to have expunged a mass of debts contracted purely in a personal capacity, we find a deliberate and intentional swindler in nine cases out of ten. And there are so many of this kind of bankrupts, under the pernicious present system, that a stigma attaches to legitimate business distress proceedings which is wretchedly unfair to the honest debtor.

JUST AS WELL

Somebody writing in the New York Tribune on the subject of the peculiar governmental status of the District of Columbia digs up the circumstance that in 1783 Congress, then sitting in Philadelphia, had the daylight scared out of it when it was surrounded and its session broken up by a throng of unpaid Continental soldiers who leveled their muskets through the windows, booted the delegates and threatened their lives. Which resulted in the capital being eventually located in a district where Congress would have power to protect itself and not depend on the protection of any state government.

There has been more than one period in the last few years when the wisdom of this precaution has been manifest, for the temptation to repeat the performance of 1783 has been strong upon many more modern—and probably soberer—folks than those Continental troops.

SHOWER BATHS BEST

The best kind of bath for daily bathing is the shower. A good method is to first spray the body with warm water, soaping afterwards if desired, and washing again with cold water. It is always a good plan to take some physical culture exercises just prior to the shower, as this will increase the circulation and open the pores so that they will be better cleansed with running water.

A short bath is usually more beneficial than a prolonged one. After the bath the skin should be dried vigorously with a coarse towel. I am convinced that the ordinary tub bath in which one sits for a long time in hot water is weakening and devitalizing and should not be used except as a therapeutic application for some special reason. The body does not seem to be weakened by bathing done in cool or running water. Showers also have the advantage of being more sanitary than tub baths, as the soiled water runs off the body and a fresh stream of water descends on the skin. It is almost impossible to take too many shower baths.

During the warm weather it is very refreshing to take a cool shower in the middle of the day. If you like to use warm water it is best to take the warm shower just before going to bed, when it acts as a sedative, relaxing the nervous system.

If you do not have a shower bath built into your home, you may secure an attachment at any drugstore for about a dollar. This may be attached to any hydrant and serve the purpose as well as a more expensive built-in arrangement.

A few years ago bathing was no doubt too infrequent, and even yet doctors will occasionally come across patients who believe it injurious to health to take a bath every day, but the common practice among our best citizens is to take one or two baths daily. Occasionally I come across a patient with a bathing mania for taking too many hot tub baths and who is consequently weakened from the use of too much hot water which makes the tissues flabby, and decreases the circulation on account of the relaxing effect of the heat upon the blood vessels.

It is a good plan to take a shower bath at least once a day to cleanse the pores of the sweat which they are constantly exuding even in cold weather. Then there are the outer cells of the skin which are constantly scaling off and being replaced. By cleansing the skin regularly you can improve its texture.

A good skin is a social asset. It is an indication of civilization. We favorably judge people with clear skins. The personal cleanliness from frequent bathing is a social necessity. The only danger from taking too many baths is if you use hot tub baths, but it is almost impossible to take too many shower baths if you finish off with cold water.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Spondylitis)
 Question: Mrs. W. asks: "Will you please publish in your medical column the causes of spondylitis? What are its symptoms, and does it leave a body helpless?"

Answer: In the first place, this is not a medical column, but a health column for the giving of health advice so that readers may learn to live so as to avoid medicines. Spondylitis means an inflammation of the spinal column. It may be caused by an injury, or be due to the accumulation of toxins which gather at some irritated part of the spine. The symptoms are various due to the fact that the irritation may be found at any place in the cord. If scar tissue forms, or if part of the cord is destroyed, it may produce a permanent paralysis in any part of the body which formerly received its nerve supply from that part of the cord which has been destroyed or scarred.

(Raw Potatoes)

Question: J. L. writes: "I seem to have a craving for raw potatoes and would like to know if they are harmful?"

Answer: Raw starches do not digest as readily as cooked starches, but otherwise they are quite wholesome and may be used as the starchy part of a meal, and may be combined with other vegetables of a non-starchy nature.

(Eggs and Kidney Trouble)

Question: Mrs. G. H. asks: "Are eggs harmful for a person suffering with diseased or weak kidneys?"

Answer:—Anyone suffering from kidney trouble of any kind should be able to handle a limited number of eggs, about one a day, properly prepared by codding or poaching.

Chances are that the cop who arrested the New York moway the other day for crying "Panle on Wall Street" during the market depression was a staunch Republican.

WATKINS BROTHERS, INC.

55 YEARS AT SOUTH MANCHESTER

WASHINGTON LETTER
 BY RODNEY DUTCHER.

Washington, June 2.—Ambassador Sackett told the World Power Conference at Berlin that the difference between the cost of production and the selling price of electricity was altogether too steep, and thereby created more of a sensation than he ever stirred up in the United States Senate.

The ironical phase of the incident was that Sackett's speech would not have attracted such international attention if Samuel Insull, the Chicago public utilities magnate, hadn't tried to persuade the ambassador not to make it.

Insull not only put over Sackett's speech for him in a big way; he also gave the Senate progressives some fine ammunition to use against the "power trust" which, according to Senator Norris of Nebraska, is now following Americans all over the world and attempting to muzzle them—even the highest diplomats.

Furthermore, he called attention all over again to what is known here as the power fight and the frequent charges that electric power companies are making exorbitant profits despite their status as public utilities.

Leaving aside the question of government ownership, it has been demonstrated that there are many in the power industry itself who agree with Sackett—a public utility veteran himself, by the way. The ambassador's speech was loudly applauded at the Berlin conference. At home here there are many who hold that if the utilities have to make so much money, they can do it just as well by lowering the cost per kilowatt-hour and profiting by the resultant increased volume of business.

The experience of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power System is most often used to demonstrate the eagerness with which domestic consumers of electricity increase their use as the cost goes down.

The last figures available showed that in 1914 there were 64,866 Ontario consumers, using 14,359,000 kilowatt hours for the year, at an average cost of 5.08 cents a kilowatt hour, with an average monthly bill of $1.06 and an average monthly consumption of 21 kilowatt hours.

In 1928 there were 408,000 domestic consumers who used 551,010,000 kilowatt hours at an average of 1.71 cents, with an average monthly bill of $1.97 for an average monthly consumption of 115.5 kilowatt hours.

Those figures applied to all municipalities, including smaller villages where higher overhead tended to keep the general average cost higher than in the larger municipalities.

As far as 1936, as was intended, Power has been brought in from other provinces and the commission has been especially careful in guarding against the actual possibility of not having enough power to go around.

"The other day I met a gentleman from Pennsylvania who has located here," Maguire remarked. "He uses only a small block of power. I asked what brought him here, and he said: 'In my line of business this is the only place where I could hope to build up with the aid of cheap power.'"

"Every day new industries are coming here because we are able to place the resources of our entire water power development at their service."

A year previously, Maguire said, the commission had thought that 80,000 horsepower would take care of the year's load increase. But the figures went up to 135,000.

Ambassador Sackett is not a government ownership advocate, but he knew what had been demonstrated in Ontario. Consequently, he was able to talk to the power men with the belief that no one would be able to controvert him.

East Hampton, N. Y., June 27.—"Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home..."

bit weather-beaten, tells you that this is the house in which "Home, Sweet Home" was composed. The old tune goes humming through your mind as you stand faltering at the gate. A sudden sense of peace and spiritual calm creeps in.

At one side the tall, venerable Dutch windmill creaks slightly then hangs limply against a windless day. The "old home" itself is no ordinary old home. It has a thatched picturesqueness; a definite flavor suggested by more than sentiment.

Funny, here you are, just a couple of hours out of New York... just a couple of hours from a place where the word "home" takes on quite a different meaning.

In New York you say... "going home..." but what you mean is that you're going to some two or three room apartment with a trick refrigerator and a kitchenette. When you get there, the house will be trembling—as in an earthquake—from the subways that rush underground and from the great trucks that rumble along the street.

As morning wears toward noon, you know that you're but a couple of hours away from Manhattan. "Home, Sweet Home" stands by a smoothly paved boulevard. The boulevard links Manhattan with the Hamptons. The Hamptons are a swanky beach resorts in the hot weather season.

Just down the road and around a curve, where truck gardens are green and duck farms are white with feathered wings, is Southampton, one of the summer capitals of swank. Southampton and Saratoga—these are names to jot down when considering the summer doings. There is a beach, where none but the bluebloods may gather and bathe; there is a beach club and a golf club.

But there's no place even slightly resembling home. There are mansions and clubs and smart hotels; there are debutantes and millionaires' sons and cowboys.

Their ritzy cars fly along the smooth pavement, headed for the beach resorts. They speed by without so much as slowing down. No one in the cars stops to glance at this symbol of "home."

During the night some revellers tossed an empty gin bottle from a passing car. Now it lies broken on the pavement.

"There is no place like home—there is no place like home..." The grayly dressed summer girdles are out walking in search of summer boy friends.

The youngsters of the town are out looking over the new arrivals. The streets are gay with brightly hued dresses and tennis sweaters. The young folk gather at the corner and "make dates."

"Going home," says a boy to a girl... "Naw, guess I'll go to the movies..."

The old house sleeps in its moss and its picturesque thatching. The quiet, time-beaten outer walls seem to be waiting... waiting. The time will come when all those who follow the gay chase will be weary and sigh for home... a real home and rest... And so it stands, an eternal symbol of that time.

The Three Women In The Life Of A King

HERALD TO PUBLISH ROMANTIC STORY OF CAROL II OF RUMANIA

His First Love

Zizi Lambrino... the pretty daughter of a commoner with whom he eloped to Russia and wed.

No European monarch since King Henry VIII, who married his wives in rapid succession, has had a more romantic career than young King Carol II who sits on the throne of Rumania today, the new ruling head of an incredible royal family.

Three women have played big roles in the colorful life of this new monarch who now rules Rumania's 17,000,000 subjects.

The first was his boyhood sweetheart, the pretty daughter of a commoner and said to be the only woman he ever really loved. His stern father, King Ferdinand, annulled their morganatic marriage and sent him on a trip around the world to forget.

The second was a princess of royal blood, Helen of Greece, to whom he was forced into a royal marriage for reasons of state, though, neither ever really loved the other.

His Royal Wife

Princess Helen... his royal bride, who became the mother of a 5-year-old king.

The third was a red-haired divorcee, Mme. Lupescu, reputed to be the daughter of a Rumanian junk dealer, for whose caresses Crown Prince Carol deserted his wife and child and fled with her to Paris that she might become his mistress.

Now this gay royal playboy has returned to Rumania to wrest from his nine-year-old son, the "Boy King" Michael, the crown that he once renounced for the love of his titian-haired charmer.

Minott Saunders, manager of the Paris bureau of NEA Service which serves this newspaper, tells the whole story of the flaming young monarch—against a colorful background of royal romance and intrigue—in a series of six daily stories that will appear locally EXCLUSIVELY in this newspaper.

His Mistress

Mme. Lupescu... for whose caresses he once renounced his crown.

WATCH FOR THE FIRST STORY MONDAY, JUNE 30

Wall Street Briefs

New York, June 27.—Fabricated steel plate orders in May totaled 28,678 tons, compared with 37,709 tons in April and 47,715 tons in May last year. Orders for the five months ended May 31 amounted to 182,246 tons, compared with 238,895 tons in the corresponding period last year.

A special meeting of stockholders of J. G. White & Co., has been called for July 21 to vote on a plan approved by directors to split the common stock on a five-for-one basis and increase the authorized common to 500,000 shares from 30,000. The new common would have a par value of $20, instead of $100 as at present.

Adolf Gobel, Inc., has called its outstanding 10-year 6 percent notes on July 7 at 104 and accrued interest.

Directors of the Diamond Match Co. have determined to proceed with the preparation of a plan for reincorporation and recapitalization of the company. President Fairburn announced. He said it is expected the plan, which the board is convinced will benefit stockholders, will be submitted to the stockholders during the latter part of the summer.

OPENING STOCKS

New York, June 27.—(AP)—Stocks moved substantially higher at the opening of today's market. American Telephone and Telegraph, National Dairy and American Tobacco B gained about 1 point, and Baltimore and Ohio, Bethlehem Steel and Worthington Pump, about 2. Diamond Match gained 2 3/4. Kennecott, however, slipped back 5-8.

The drop of $371,000,000 in brokers' loans evidently attracted considerable buying and short covering at the opening but renewed selling minutes and the early advance was lost. Trading however was in small volume.

While some commission houses are now expressing the belief that the market is completely sold out, sentiment remains confused, some still advocating the lightening of accounts on rallies. Various interpretations are even placed on the drop in loans. In some quarters the theory is held that the decline is less favorable than indicated, because of the transfer of loans from brokers to banks.

Bear selling soon became rather active and such issues as U. S. Steel, American Telephone, General Motors and Standard Gas showed losses of a point or so by the end of the first half hour. North American lost four points and Auburn and Case three. Atkinson gained three points, and Air Reduction two in the opening upturn but these advances were quickly lost.

Foreign exchanges opened steady, with sterling cables unchanged at $4.88 1-32.

DESERTS REBEL CHIEF

Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic, June 27.—(AP)—It was reported today that Arturo Mendez and fifteen soldiers had deserted General Cipriano Bencomse, who earlier in the month took refuge with a body of troops in the stronghold of Mt. Mogote, near Moca.

Mendez went over to the government authorities and thus Bencomse lost his first assistant.

Other reports said that General Bencomse, who represents the National Congress Opposition Party and thus is opposing President Elect Rafael Trujillo, now will come to terms with the government.

CONGRESSMAN PORTER DIES AT AGE OF 61

Pittsburgh, June 27.—(AP)—The brilliant career of S. G. Porter, one of the nation's foremost statesmen is ended.

Mr. Porter died at 2:40 a. m. E. D. T. today in Allegheny General hospital, while messages of condolence and sympathy poured in from all parts of the world. Members of the family were at his bedside when he died.

Mr. Porter became ill about two months ago. He was stricken while aboard ship enroute from London, June 11, he was brought to Pittsburgh from Walter Reed hospital in Washington. Death was due to cirrhosis of the liver.

He was 61 years old and prominent in Republican politics in Pennsylvania, and became a national figure at the close of the World War while Congress and nation sought solution to the gigantic problems growing out of that conflict.

Mr. Porter was born near Salem, Ohio. Mrs. Porter died in 1919. One daughter survives.

FIGHT ON MT. ARARAT

Istanbul, Turkey, June 27.—(AP)—A Turkish official statement today explained fighting which had been reported on Mount Ararat.

The note said nomad raiders from Persia had made an incursion into the eastern Turkish provinces of Van and Bayazit but that the strong Turkish forces regularly maintained there had easily driven them back with the exception of a few bandits who entrenched themselves on rocky, snow-capped Ararat, the highest and most impregnable mountain of Anatolia.

Turkish forces today were guarding the mountain so that the raiders could not descend, but their stronghold was said to be so secure that probably only a flood could dislodge them.

PRESTES IN PARIS

Cherbourg, France, June 27.—(AP)—Dr. Julio Prestes, president-elect of Brazil, was welcomed to France today by large groups of officials and friends who met him as he disembarked from the Olympic.

Dr. Prestes and his party were taken to Paris by special train, the president-elect himself occupying President Doumergue's private car.

DANCING JUDITH

BEGIN HERE TODAY
JUDITH GRANT, beautiful artist's model, shares her Greenwich Village apartment with CHUMMY MORLEY, a beautiful girl whose mind has been a blank ever since ALAN STEYNE, her lover, disappeared seven years ago. Steyne returns and she fails to recognize him. Meanwhile, he and Judith fall in love, and he tells Judith that he never loved Chummy and never knew Chummy loved him. Then, abruptly, Chummy's memory returns. Feeling obligated because of her years of suffering, Steyne asks her to marry him. Judith, meanwhile, has aroused the infatuation of BRUCE GIDEON, rich financier, who offers to star her in a musical show. She refuses, at first, but accepts when she feels that it will take her out of the way of Steyne and Chummy. She dances for GUARVENIUS, the famous teacher whom Gideon has selected as her instructor, and impresses him greatly with her latent talent.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XV

Briefly, Guarvenius told Judy that he would be delighted to train her. He spoke of money himself, and said that he would take no fee until she was ready and had made her debut. He was as kind as she could be. He said that she showed great promise, but of course she had everything to learn. She must be prepared to work very hard and to give up everything to the demands of her art.

She mentioned her livelihood as a model, and he answered that although he would have preferred her to do nothing, still it was as harmless an occupation as she could follow, provided she did not get over-tired. It would help to preserve the plasticity of her body. He quite understood her position. He hoped she would take every opportunity of watching fine dancing.

At the end he told her, with a little chuckle, that she could not always expect such music as she had danced to today. Perhaps she did not know that the young man was Gregor Gosstewitsch. Judy was deeply abashed as he pronounced the name of the greatest living pianist.

Altogether she was so over-wrought that when all the arrangements had been made for her first lesson, her little face puckered up like a child's, and she burst into a tempest of tears. Guarvenius, familiar with the artistic temperament, let her cry.

The famous teacher and the young musician took their leave shortly afterward. Gideon insisted on Judy drinking a cup of tea.

"You are worn out," he said. "You don't know it, but you were simply immense. You will be a divine dancer."

"I thought I was very bad," she faltered. "I was terribly frightened. I thought I had disgusted him."

"He never says such things to me. And, you see, he has taken you on. That is everything."

They sat in another beautiful room, dark, like the others, and with three or four priceless old masters on the walls. The dominant color was a strong blue. Judy drank three cups of tea, but she could eat nothing; and as soon as she had finished she rose to go.

Gideon accompanied her to the door. As he opened it, he was behind her. She felt him draw nearer, and the next moment he had taken her hand and was holding it to his lips.

"You little witch!" he murmured. She snatched her hand away as if his kiss had been a poisonous sting.

Gideon's pale eyes were ugly just for a second as he looked into Judy's red, furious face, and the thin, bad-tempered line of his mouth was vicious.

"How dare you do that? I hate you. I'll never speak to you again!" She rubbed her hand violently where his lips had touched it. His face cleared, and he smiled at her in a humbly deprecatory way.

positively crowded with beautiful, rare, precious things.

"One day," said Gideon in what she called his "trying-to-be-friendly" voice, "I hope you will come and see my house on the Grand Canal in Venice."

The words arrested her attention. Venice was in Italy. She had an idea.

"I wish you'd believe that I am ashamed of myself," he went on before she could speak.

"Right-o!" she said, with a sudden flashing smile. "Will you do something to prove it?"

"Anything in the world," he replied.

She could have roared with laughter at the light that came into his eyes, because he thought she was going to ask something for herself. She knew men, did little Judy Grant!

She told him the story of Dan, the waiter at the Cafe Turin, and his mother's death.

"Will you give him the money to go over to Italy and fetch her back?" she asked. "I suppose it would be a flea bite for you."

"Much pleasanter," he retorted. He could be very frank and companionable when he chose. "I shall be delighted. I remember Dan, and his voice. Will you wait a minute while I go and fetch the money?"

She negated the idea.

"I'll send Dan to you here. When can you see him? I'll have nothing to do with it; but I shall tell him—again she gave him a half-mocking smile—"how kind and generous you are."

"You're a good friend, Miss Judy," Gideon said. "Send him here at any time tonight. I'm dining at home with some friends. I wish I could persuade you to come."

"No, thanks. I've had enough for today. Dan will come alone. It will be late, after the cafe closes. Dan works harder than anybody I know, but not harder than I'm going to."

She was at the front door, which Gideon opened for her. Perhaps she felt a little ungrateful, for she turned to him and said simply:

"I ought to thank you. I owe it to you. If you hadn't put the idea into my head and got Mr. What's-his-name here, I could never have done it."

Mal Hallett as an orchestra director is rated with the first five of the country's finest and by many his dance band is conceded to be the most entertaining of the hundreds of dance orchestras before the public today.

Three holiday dances will feature next week's program at Sandy Beach with attractions Thursday, Friday and Saturday the 3rd, 4th and 5th.

NEW HAVEN MOTHER HAPPY BECAUSE HER DAUGHTER IS WELL

Mrs. Mary Bellard, Jr., of No. 127 Greene St., New Haven, Conn., Proves by Her Experience That ERBJUS (Herb Juice) Is Beneficial to the Younger People.

ERBJUS (Herb Juice) is the juices of Nature's herbs combined with glycerin and there is nothing harmful in it. Take for instance the testimony from Mrs. Bellard which shows that children respond nicely to this remedy. Mrs. Bellard says:

"My little daughter did not have any appetite and no matter what I would fix for her, she would not eat it. I could give her nothing but milk and she needed a mixed diet. A friend of mine told me to try ERBJUS (Herb Juice) and I started giving it to her. Her appetite seemed to respond at once and each day I could see the difference. I have given her a little over a bottle and she eats heartily and seems to enjoy it. I can also see a general picking up in her health and it is with pleasure that I endorse this medicine to the Public."—Adv.

YOUR CHILDREN

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON
 © 1930 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

Many failures in this world are due to bad finishing. People are fine beginners as a rule, but to finish, it takes character, work, dogged perseverance and ability to survive hard knocks and discouragement.

We say, "Well begun is half done." But that is not true. For every dozen people who start things, only one or two are likely to finish.

"No one but Mr. B. could have done such a thing," we exclaim. "He has so much executive ability." Yes; but what is executive ability? Analyzed, it consists of a great many things. One of the chief ingredients, however, is the stick-to-it-iveness that sees things through to a finish. That is what gets results.

These successes that make men rich and women famous. When did they begin to accomplish things? At fifteen? At twenty? At twenty-five? Not at all. When they were little. If their mothers gave them tasks to do, and not seeing any immediate end in sight, she abandoned the shapeliness, discouraging mess and goes off to play at something else.

What her mother should do is to call her back, or put her at it again mediate end in sight, she abandons the shapeliness, discouraging mess and goes off to play at something else.

Suppose a little girl is dressing a doll. Her mother has given her a needle and thread and some patches and cut out a simple pattern. She puts in a few laborious stitches upon one seam, and then, tired of it, and not seeing any immediate end in sight, she abandons the shapeliness, discouraging mess and goes off to play at something else.

What a great thing is gained! She will see that dresses are not made by magic—that it takes work, and patience, and effort to produce a dress, even a doll dress. But greater still is the confidence in herself. She has achieved something. She wants to start something else at once. There is no pride equal to that of something done. If done well—all the better.

Boys should be taught the art of finishing. Make them carry every task, no matter how awkward or small, to a finish. It should be started very early. I should say at four or five years.

Many people cannot see the use of kindergartens. I think they will be surprised to know that this is one of the things which is the seemingly meaningless little cut-outs and pastings that the children carry home so proudly to show their parents.

One thing that is important about this kindergarten activity is the age of the children. Four is without doubt the most plastic of all the early years, the time when a child ceases viewing the world around him as something outside himself, and establishes himself as a direct part of it. What he learns to do then he will likely do later. The value of finishing things that he starts at this time can easily be seen.

Concentration, not too much interrupted, and a conclusion. That is to be remembered. The thing he makes should be his own.

NAME DRY OFFICIALS

Washington, June 27.—(AP)—The Department of Justice today announced the names of the deputy prohibition administrators who will be in charge of the enforcement districts of the nation after the enforcement takes over the enforcement of prohibition on July 1.

The districts and deputies include: Maine, Seth May, Auburn. New Hampshire, Harold W. Eager, Concord. Vermont, Bert S. Hyland, Rutland.

Rhode Island, John W. Morrill, Providence. Connecticut, Robert L. Sengie, Hartford.

New York, Northern, Lowell Smith (acting) Albany. New York, Southern, Martin O. Hanson, New York.

New York, Western, Walter E. Brown (acting), Buffalo. New Jersey, Alexander McPhee (acting), Newark.

Pennsylvania, Eastern, A. G. McDuffie (acting), Philadelphia. Pennsylvania, Middle, J. O. Loos, Lewisburg.

Pennsylvania, Western, Harold O. Wilson, Pittsburgh. New administrators for the district of Massachusetts has not yet been announced.

Members of the Reichstag have been ordered not to remove their coats during summer sessions. During heated debates it would be more to the point to remind them to keep their shirts on.

Common house flies have been known to migrate as far as six miles in one day.

It thus becomes obvious that man cannot subsist on any food alone, but that it is necessary for him to eat varying quantities of all of the important foods.

In our great cities the poor try to live on bread and coffee, or on bread, milk and coffee, and find that their diets are deficient. An exclusive meat diet is consistent with life, but an exclusive muscle meat diet is inconsistent with health. Animals prefer the blood, the heart, the lungs and the viscera when they capture and kill for food, and eat muscle meat only when the viscera are not available. The glandular organs provide vitamins and the chewing of the bones supplements the calcium deficiency.

In her investigations, Doctor Roberts found that foreign races of high physical quality not infrequently deteriorate when they come to this country, because they try to change their diets to the American pattern. At home they eat freely of bread, milk, eggs and vegetables, and combine to this country they change their diet to bread, meat, coffee and sugar, and their health suffers.

More and more as we begin to realize the nature of man and the materials from which he is built and maintains himself, the question arises whether or not it is possible to prepare some single food which will serve every dietary purpose.

In a recent consideration of the subject, Dr. Lydia J. Roberts points out that the average man, weighing about 70 kilograms or about 150 pounds, must have 3,000 calories a day, of which 75 grams must be protein, 0.67 gram must be calcium, 1.32 grams phosphorus, 0.015 gram of iron, and which must contain liberal quantities of vitamins, and enough bulk and similar materials to permit the intestines to function properly.

Sugar will not serve the purpose, because it will require four cups of sugar to make the 3,000 calories necessary. The necessary factors will be deficient. Sugar, lard and fats generally are essentially energy foods and have little value for body building or health maintenance. Perhaps the best of the fats are butter and cod liver oil, but if one wishes to live by butter alone, he would have to have two cups of butter a day and this would give only four grams of protein and hundreds of grams of fat instead of the quantities needed of the mineral salts. Butter is rich in vitamin A, but quite deficient in vitamins B and C.

In order to live by cabbage or spinach alone, one would have to have 60 cups per day; of oranges, 40; of bread alone, 30 large slices; but again the vitamins would be deficient; of oatmeal, 20 cups of cooked oatmeal, and the vitamins would be deficient. If one were to live on eggs alone, he would require 40 eggs per day and some of the vitamins would be deficient, and the protein would be too much in amount, and the salts would be beyond the body's need.

It thus becomes obvious that man cannot subsist on any food alone, but that it is necessary for him to eat varying quantities of all of the important foods.

Hints On How To Keep Well by World Famed Authority

TESTS SHOW MAN CAN'T LIVE ON ANY SINGLE KIND OF FOOD

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN

HAVE YOU HEARD?

A new broom sweeps clean, especially if it is the latest aid to a pretty yard—a lawn broom like that shown above.

These contraptions really are rakes, but so much gentler on the lawn! Made of long, pliable prongs, attached to a handle, just like a broom, they gather up the grass in a modern, efficient manner. Operated in a sweeping motion, this lawn broom rakes up all the new-mown grass without digging into the lawn once. It also is extremely useful in sweeping up clippings and refuse.

Because it is a broom, the same care should be taken to keep it off the floor when not in use that you give your household brooms. Either attach a hook to hang it up by, or else set it upside down, resting on its handle when not in use.

Paris is eating less bread, the decrease being nearly 5,000,000 loaves a year. French farmers are blaming the reducing craze among women for this.

OFFICERS CARING FOR WAR MOTHERS

U. S. Army Men Pay Special Attention to Gold Star Groups in France.

St. Quentin, France, (AP)—American Army officers are tenderly caring for the American Gold Star mothers and wives who are now visiting the tombs of their World War dead and the Gold Star mothers are "mothering these young officers, whom they call "their boys."

This ever thoughtful attitude of the American officer has also made a deep impression upon the French people of the district visited. "They are indeed gallant gentlemen," said an aged French mother as she saw the uniformed officers gently leading the women through the streets of her village.

Special Attention The officers take special delight in going from table to table at meal time to see that every Gold Star mother gets just what she wants to eat. The mothers return the compliment and inquire whether their officer guides are quite comfortable. French cooking pleases the Gold Star Mothers, but their praise for French cooking does not extend to French coffee.

French Give Flowers When one party is down to eat at St. Quentin there was a bouquet of flowers beside each plate. It developed that the donor was a French peasant who had lost three sons in the war. She could not bear to meet the American mothers but had slipped quietly into the dining room at the gravesides of their sons and placed a bouquet of flowers at each plate.

They look so lonely, those black crosses of the German soldiers, almost like unwanted dead," said one. "But they, too, had mothers."

COLUMBIA

Mrs. George Woodward, Mrs. C. V. Wood, and Miss Mary Lennox of West Brookfield, and Springfield, Mass., called on friends in Columbia Tuesday, and visited the cemetery, where Mr. Woodward is buried.

Mrs. Dwight A. Lyman and Miss Lillian Lyman are spending a few days in Manchester at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stollenfeldt. Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Lyman and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Isham attended the annual banquet of the New London County Mutual Insurance Co. agents, held at the Norwich Inn Wednesday.

Miss Esther Owen of Hartford has opened her summer cottage at the lake "The Outside Inn." Miss Lila Seeley of Chestnut Hill, who has been teaching for the past two years in roton, will sail Saturday on the S. S. Rotterdam with a party of friends from Croton and Fall River. They will be gone six weeks, and during that time will visit France, Switzerland, Germany, Holland, Belgium and England.

Mrs. George Kay of Hartford has rented lake cottage for the season to Dunbar K. Adams of West Hartford. Miss Edith Little of Springfield called Wednesday afternoon on her grandmother, Mrs. Lucy Clarke. Mr. McKinley, a noted organist of Hartford, with his family is coming Friday to the Deckleman cottage at the lake for the summer.

Three young ladies from Waterbury are staying at the cottage owned by Miss Florence Welles. Much curiosity has been aroused recently by signs along the road leading to the lake from Andover pointing to "Rolling Green Hills." It is understood that Rolling Green Hills is a new development, about 250 acres of land including the place known as the Orland place, in the Hop River District, which is to be laid out for bungalows and camping sites.

Mrs. Welles of Hartford visited the McCorkell place Wednesday. Friends of Miss Marion McCorkell will be very sorry to learn that she is still in the hospital, suffering from the effects of a fall down stairs two months ago, and that in all probability she will be unable to open her Columbia home this summer. Mr. Knoha of South Manchester has opened his cottage at the lake for the summer. Russell Taylor of Willimantic is visiting his aunt, Mrs. Bessie Trythall. Mrs. Mary Williams went to Brimfield, Mass. Thursday to attend the graduation exercises of the Brimfield High School, her niece, Miss Olive Bagley being one of the graduates. Mr. and Mrs. Berkman of Hartford have arrived at Columbia for the summer. Mrs. Berkman is Irene Kahn, the celebrated pianist of Hartford.

American tourists spend about $300,000,000 a year in Europe, France taking the biggest share.

MENUS For Good Health

A Week's Supply Recommended By Dr. Frank B. McCoy

Dr. McCoy's menus suggested for the week beginning Sunday, June 29th:

Sunday: Breakfast—Coddled eggs, small piece of ham, Melba toast, sliced pineapple. Lunch—One kind of fresh fruit, with glass of sweet milk. Dinner—Baked chicken, Melba toast dressing, asparagus, celery and ripe olives, ice cream (small portions).

Monday: Breakfast—Cottage cheese, baked apple. Lunch—Clear tomato soup, combination salad, celery, tomatoes, lettuce. Dinner—Minced chicken in tomato jelly, small green peas, Escaloppe celeri, baked pears.

Tuesday: Breakfast—Wholewheat muffins, crisp bacon, stewed prunes. Lunch—Ice cream, with berries. Dinner—Leg of mutton, string beans, salad of grated raw carrots on lettuce, pineapple whip.

Wednesday: Breakfast—Poached egg on Melba toast, stewed apricots. Lunch—Pint of buttermilk, 10 or 12 dates. Dinner—Roast pork, spinach, buttered beets, celery, applesauce.

Thursday: Breakfast—Stuffed baked apple, with cream. Lunch—Corn muffins with butter, dish of cooked carrots and peas, lettuce. Dinner—Boiled fresh tongue, vegetables en casserole, salad of shredded lettuce, Jello of Jell-well with cream.

Friday: Breakfast—French omelet, Melba toast, stewed raisins. Lunch—One kind of fresh fruit, as much as desired. Dinner—Baked sea bass, cooked string beans, eggplant, salad of sliced tomatoes, no dessert.

Saturday: Breakfast, Toasted breakfast food with cream, no sugar, stewed figs. Lunch—Dish of buttered spinach, salad of head lettuce, with peanut butter dressing. Dinner—Stuffed beef rolls, asparagus, pear salad, plain Jello or Jell-well.

*Minced chicken in tomato-jelly: Drain two cups of juice from fresh or canned tomatoes. Pour into a saucepan and bring to boiling point. Have ready one envelope of plain flax seed which has been softened in a little cold water. Dip up some of the hot tomato juice and stir into the gelatin until thoroughly dissolved, then mix all together and set in a cool place until the mixture begins to thicken. Now mix in one cupful of minced chicken, one-third cup each of chopped celery, parsley and ripe olives. Pour into molds and place in the refrigerator until mealtime. Serve on crisp lettuce, other left-over meats may be used in this way and found very appetizing.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Epilepsy) Question: P. G. writes: "I am going to start the fasting and diet regime for epilepsy, and I would like to know just how the treatment will affect me at the start of what change or other indications of a cure will take place. I have tried so many things without result that I wish to know all these things at the start in order that I will understand all symptoms and not become discouraged, for I believe your method is the right one." Answer: The first thing to do is to take a fast, followed by a careful diet in which you use a large amount of leafy green vegetables to assist in producing free bowel elimination. At the start of the fast there will sometimes be a greater number of spells and sometimes they are more severe than formerly, but this effect soon disappears as the accumulated poisons which produce the disease are sufficiently eliminated.

It is sometimes necessary to take several short fasts, using a cleansing diet of non-starchy vegetables between the fasts. If the spells do not disappear during the first week of the fast they will at least from that time on cut down in severity and occurrence until they finally disappear.

(Dead Teeth) Question: L. K. L. asks: "When is a tooth considered dead, and should it in that instance always be removed?" Answer: A tooth is considered dead when the nerve has been removed or died. A tooth should be removed only when there is evidence of an abscess at the end of the root. If a dead tooth is properly filled it may last for years without causing any trouble and be generally more useful than an artificial one.

Queer Twists In Day's News

New York—Miss Mary Powell's pet name for her fiancé, Major Charles E. Kingsford-Smith, transatlantic aviator, is Chilly. The Atlantic aviator, a "cheerful, darling" message, sent from his plane to her in Melbourne.

Ann Arbor, Mich.—Evidently the young lady knew, Admiral Byrd in introductory remarks at banquet has said that he is like Larry Gould, his second in command, in writing to his sweetheart; he doesn't know what he is going to say and when he has finished doesn't know what he has said. Professor Lawrence M. Gould of the University of Michigan has applied for a license to marry Miss Margaret Rice, who was graduated from the university last year.

Baltimore—A millionaire is a newspaper woman's scoop. The engagement is announced of Miss Anne Seddon Kinsolving of Baltimore and John Nicholas Brown of Providence. R. I. Miss Kinsolving, daughter of an Episcopal rector, has worked as reporter and publicity agent. Mr. Brown, who inherited millions, received much attention in the past as the richest baby in the world.

Istanbul, Turkey—Roukic Hanim, one of the Mustapha Kemal's five adopted daughters, is a bride. She was married to Lieutenant Husni in the Doma Bagche palace, where sultans and caliphs once lived. Mustapha Kemal and routine are going on the honeymoon with the newlyweds to open the summer season at Yalova, where Byzantine emperors sought the fountain of youth.

Sydney, Australia—Fifteen minutes after Miss Elvina Bralley of Akron, O., landed at Sydney she became Mrs. Paul Sealords. Her husband, who came from Akron, represents Akron business interests here.

New York—Miss Alicia P. Simpson has passed examination for a transport license, the highest grade of an aviator. She is the eighteenth woman to do so.

Hamburg, Germany—Albert Schramm and two accomplices must pay a total of $1,200,000 for bootlegging. They were caught smuggling 150,000 tons of spirits into the country.

Vatican City—(AP)—The missionary who ventures into far-off fields to convert pagans to Christianity sacrifices from 14 to 16 years of his life, say figures of the Congregation for Propagation of the Faith.

This Congregation, which directs Roman Catholic missionary activities, is studying scientific means of lengthening the missionary's active career. The statistics show that the average span of life of the missionary is 73 per cent of that of the general average span. For missionaries in Africa this percentage is even lower, being only 75 per cent of the life of missionaries in other lands. In order to better this condition the Congregation is considering means of instructing missionaries in medical subjects. It is also considering establishment of a corps of medical-missionaries.

BYRD DESCRIBES EXPEDITION DOGS

Built Tunnels for Them at South Pole to Keep Out the Cold.

New York, June 27.—(AP)—A dog's life in the Antarctic was described today by Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, in accepting a medal from the American Humane Association for "marked humane treatment accorded to the dogs in his Polar expeditions." The presentation was made by Minnie Madden Fiske, the actress, a director of the association. Byrd, thanked the donor and chatted about the 80 Newfoundland huskies which made the trip to the South Pole with him.

Passing the tropics was hard on them, he said, but all but two survived the voyage. "We fed them on whale and seal meat, and found that seal meat was best for them. "They hauled more than 700 tons of material from the bay ice to Little America, a hard eight-mile trek. "Cold was our chief problem in caring for them. When winter set in we dug them tunnels in the snow, because 70 degrees below is too cold even for huskies. Once we took them out when it was 65 below and they froze their noses. But no matter how cold it was on the surface, it never was 40 below in the tunnels, and they got along very well. "A number of pups were born on the trip and in spite of the cold they were the healthiest pups I ever saw. We brought them all back with us."

rooted trees, and leveled telegraph poles today marked the passage of a severe electrical and wind storm in Pennsylvania. At Bridgeport, near Norristown, the roofs of 19 buildings were torn off, the gale cutting a swath of about a quarter of a mile through the town. Damage was estimated at $100,000. Among the buildings unroofed was the Broadway theater. About 100 persons were in the place at the time but no one was injured. Other places unroofed were the plant of the Smith woolen mill, a roundhouse of the Philadelphia and Reading railway and sheds of the Lawler Coal Co. In Philadelphia telegraph and electric power poles were blown down and cellars of homes were flooded. Lightning bolt struck the Municipal Court building causing slight damage. The storm came at the end of a day of torrid heat and brought a temperature drop of 22 degrees in less than two hours.

BATTLE OVER BEER Capetown, South Africa, June 27 (AP)—Because the father of the bride was not offered beer by her fiancé's family, according to a native custom, when he called to make final arrangements for her marriage, a tribal battle occurred in the Valley of a Thousand Hills, near Natal, in which a thousand natives participated. Two were killed by assegais and many were wounded. The bride, of the Mapepeteni tribe, was marrying a man of the Myuswa. The bride's trousseau apparently was not ready and the wedding was postponed. Her father finally visited the bridegroom's home where the oversight occurred. He took their failure as a great insult and left in anger. He started a war dance with his own tribe and the battle followed. Wallpaper is said to date back to the year 1481.

Cornell Crew in Smashing Triumph at Poughkeepsie

19-Year-Old Sophomore Strokes Red to Victory

Thicans Near Clean Sweep Taking Second in Frosh and First in Junior Varsity; Syracuse Second, M. I. T. Third in Varsity; Favorites Trail.

By ALAN J. GOULD

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 27.—(AP) Cornell, mightiest name in rowing a generation ago, awoke today to find that it was not a dream after all, and that the big red banner once more waves supreme over the intercollegiate season. Cornell rowed about waited 15 years to pick up the thread of victory cut short by the end of Pop Courtney's regime, waited and been buffeted about while Washington, Columbia, and the Navy came along to dominate the waters.

Yesterday, with an heroic 19 year old sophomore, Robert M. Wilson of Montclair, N. J., stepping in as a substitute to play a Frank Merrill well role as stroke, Cornell rowed to a smashing victory in one of the biggest upsets in the history of the regatta. Syracuse turned up with almost equal unexpectedness as their only serious challenger while the highly touted and highly favored crew of Columbia, the 1929 champions, Washington and the Navy, each three time winners struggled far behind through the choppy water, made chopper out stream by the wash from a coast guard patrol boat, over enthusiastic about staying up with the leaders.

Cornell whipped Syracuse by a good three lengths as these two old rivals fought it out alone in the last mile, and outwore and outclassed possibly the greatest of all Poughkeepsie feats in a fashion that amazed the critics. Scarcely less surprising was the performance of Massachusetts Tech which set a sensational pace for nearly two miles to finish a good third. M. I. T. was five lengths behind Syracuse, but in front of all the pre-race favorites as California, Columbia, Washington, Penna and Wisconsin finished in that order. Tradition, the spirit of Old Man Courtney, the skillful coaching of the new mentor of Cornell rowing, Jim Wray, and the inspiration of a brilliant pace setter in the 19 year old Wilson, all contributed to Cornell's astonishing triumph. Wilson who became an oarsman by accident, with little previous experience was the third man to stroke Cornell's varsity in three races this season. A third strug sub, he gained the pivotal seat in the big boat a fortnight before the regatta because of the illness of his commodore Bud Shoemaker. Yet this youngster, stroking his first big race, rowed with steady confidence, rising to the boatload in which he paced the old year P. J. McManus at No. 5 contributed conspicuous support.

This crew supplied the crowning touch to a great day for Cornell, perhaps the greatest athletically since before the war when the big red teams were conspicuous on most every field of collegiate battle.

The Other Races
The Thicans capture the junior varsity three mile in smashing style, beating the favored Washington crew by five and a half lengths. They were prevented from making a clean sweep by Syracuse which beat Cornell's freshman boat by two lengths in the mile race that opened the regatta.

The summaries of the races follow: Freshman race, two miles—Won by Syracuse, 11:18 1-4; second, Cornell, 11:25 4-15; third, Columbia, 11:29 2-5; fourth, Pennsylvania, 11:46 2-5; fifth, Washington, 11:47 3-5; sixth, California, 11:52 1-5; seventh, Navy, 11:59 3-5; eighth, M. I. T., 12:00.

Junior varsity, three miles—Won by Cornell, 16:39; second, Washington, 17:01; third, Columbia, 17:11; fourth, Syracuse, 17:25 4-5; fifth, Pennsylvania, 17:30; sixth, Navy, 17:30 3-5.

Cornell, 21:42; Syracuse, 21:54 4-5; Mass. Tech, 22:19; California, 22:24 4-5; Columbia, 22:33 2-5; Washington, 22:41; Pennsylvania, 22:59; Wisconsin, 22:59 1-5 and the Navy sank 100 yards from the finish line.

BROOKLYN, YANKS BOTH ARE WINNERS

Plenty of Hitting in American Loop as Yanks, A's and Senators Win Easily.

Bob Shawkey's New York Yanks have found themselves in about as tough a spot as any club could hope to avoid at the present stage of the American League pennant race.

They got through to another close victory yesterday after a terrible struggle with the Cleveland Indians. The final count was 13 to 11 and the Clevelanders' run came in the last four innings after the Yanks had piled up an 11 to 2 lead.

New York, Philadelphia and Washington were victors by big scores in a day which produced 11 hits by the eight American League clubs and 67 runs. The Athletics made 13 hits, eight of them for extra bases off Sam Gray and beat the St. Louis Browns, 8 to 3.

Washington scoring seven runs in the first inning to threaten the mark they set the day before by tallying 11 times in one frame, trounced Detroit, 12 to 4.

Even the humble Boston Red Sox did some heavy hitting, beating the White Sox, 9 to 7 for the sixth time in succession.

Although the rest of the National rather fell behind in slugging, the N. Y. Giants out-did anything the American League could offer by piling up 20 hits to beat the St. Louis Cards, 12 to 4.

A slip by Phil Collins, until yesterday the league's leading pitcher, gave Pittsburgh the first game in 1 to 0 over Philadelphia. He wound up while Bricky was on third and let the ball slip from his grasp. Before he could recover the game was in and he lost the game although he gave but four hits. Every Pirate clouted the ball at least once in the second game to win an 11 to 5 decision.

The highly heralded struggle of the Titans between Brooklyn and Chicago turned into a demonstration in honor of Dazzy Vance.

Legion Defeats Alumni; New Britain on Saturday

Scores Eight Runs in Third Inning to Put Game on Ice Despite Closing Rallies by "Graduates."

Last evening the Legion proved beyond any question of doubt that it has the Indian sign on the Alumni by taking them into camp at the West Side playground by a score of 11-7.

Eight runs tallied in eight timely innings in the third inning spelled victory for the Legion team. In this frame Smith led off with a double along the left field foul line, Rautenberg, O'Leary and Dey followed in rapid succession with singles producing Frachia gave Squatrito a lift and sent Dey over the pan. Fraser singled and Sullivan's roller went through Vince, Squatrito centing the last run. At this point, Jolly reentered. At this point, the mound and moved himself from the mound and was succeeded by Hedlund. Lovett fled out to center but a single off Mahoney's bat scored Fraser and Sullivan. On his second appearance of the inning Smith singled with lifting Mahoney. Smith was caught stealing, Rautenberg walked and O'Leary's foul fly was gathered in by Sendrowski ending the inning. Oh, what an inning.

The Alumni pecked away at this big handicap but it was too great. They out hit the Legion but could not connect when needed to produce runs.

Saturday afternoon at 3 p. m., the Legion meets the Alumni team from New Britain. This will be the final game in the Hartford County District competition and a victory would be very sweet to the locals. William Brennan will handle the game.

1928 HORSE KING HAS $30,000 SUITE

Hertz Family Repays Reigh Count for Winnings; Won Kentucky Derby.

BY CLAIRE BURCKY

Mr. Reigh Count, a sporting gentleman of leisure since he returned to this country following an extensive tour in England a year or so back, has moved into his new $30,000 apartment at Leona Farms near the little country town of Cary, Ill.

Most of us can recall a rainy afternoon at Churchill Downs in 1928 when the count splashed down the sloppy track and poked his sleek red nose under the wire far ahead of the field in the Kentucky Derby. That, perhaps, was Reigh Count's first big achievement. Later triumphs that season won for him the title of king of the three-year-olds.

In his bow to society abroad, Reigh Count matched strides with a number of English horses but found the racing on grass with lightly shod feet not to his liking. He also experienced some difficulty in obtaining a competent rider. To top it all off, however, the count showed them how to run in the Coronation and his gallant uphill struggle for second place in the Ascot Cup race convinced Britons that he was dead game and a thoroughbred sportsman.

Although Reigh Count's new home is luxuriantly and tastefully furnished, it cost Mr. and Mrs. John D. Hertz of Chicago, his owners, only a small part of the $175,000 he collected in rich stake races on American and English tracks. In his retirement to the stud at Leona Farms, the count expects to run his earnings to well over $200,000 before his days are over.

From the front door of his palatial quarters he can look out over 800 acres of rolling pasture land. Almost any time he steps to the front windows he can neigh a greeting to several mares who will bear him many fine sons and daughters next February. He is taken for a two-hour walk every day.

The exterior of the count's new apartment is of stone pillars, brown tile walls, with a red tile roof over the upper portion of wood and stucco. He shares a section of the building with Frank Owens and his family, the groom who is in constant watch over the famous young man.

Inside, the count's home is finished in yellow tile. The lower portion of his boudoir is heavily padded to protect the legs that carried him to numerous victories. Skylights and windows of the design that permit the ultra-violet rays of the sun to shine in light his abode.

"It's quite a nifty little home and I'm perfectly content here," the count told his groom, "I really am indebted to Mr. and Mrs. Hertz, don't you think?"

SPEAKER RESIGNS AS NEWARK PILOT

Newark, N. J., June 27.—(AP)—Discouraged over his failure to develop a contender, Tris Speaker, one of baseball's greatest figures has resigned as manager of the Newark club of the International League.

Speaker's resignation was announced yesterday and Jack Onslow, coach, was immediately made acting-manager. Speaker came to Newark as manager in 1929.

Landis Sees Night Game; Gives O. K. To Lighting

Judge K. M. Landis, baseball's high commissioner, saw his first night game at Indianapolis, commenting that the play seemed smooth despite the artificial light. Gov. Harry G. Leslie of Indiana and Mrs. James Barton of Indianapolis accompanied him to the game.

Indianapolis, (AP)—Kenesaw Mountain Landis, high baseball commissioner, saw his first night game here, at the official inauguration of night baseball in the American association. Whether attracted by curiosity or giving proof to the contention that the day time is too crowded for the sport, the turnstiles have been clicking at a faster tempo here at night than they have for years.

The experiment cost Norman Perry, owner of the local franchise, $35,000, but he should not mind that now.

Fans say they can follow the ball by artificial light more easily than during the day. Besides, they find the park cooler at night.

A Hint to the June Bride

NORTHERN REBELS VICTORS IN CHINA

Shanghai, June 27.—(AP)—Northern rebel claims of sweeping victories over Nationalist forces in Shantung and Honan provinces and virtual silence in government circles featured the news from China's civil war front today.

had inflicted further losses upon the Nationalists in Shantung and Honan, necessitating further withdrawal by government forces.

The armies of Yen Hsi-Shan, rebel leader, were said to be moving quickly to consolidate their advances and had gone southward along the Tientsin-Pukow railway as far as Tainan, 50 miles south of Tsinan Fu, capital of Shantung.

Nationalists who attempted to concentrate at Chowtsun, 75 miles east of Tsinanfu, were reported by

Northerners to be retreating southward under difficulties and making desperate efforts to reach Suchow, Kiangsu, to reestablish connections with the main government forces.

Northern Claims.

Northerners also claimed the advantage in the critical struggle along the Haichow-Tungkwan railway. The rebels said the battle was turning in their favor because they had learned before hand what the Nationalist's strategy would be. Rebels said this enabled them to place 70,000 troops in a strategic position from which they had inflicted telling losses upon government forces.

Rebels claimed they had cut into Nationalist columns, forcing the government to withdraw to defensive positions.

Nationalist officials both here and at Nanking declined to comment on the situation but remained in an optimistic mood.

Ten thousand Northerners occupied Tsinanfu to maintain order and civil life continued almost undisturbed.

Many foreigners who left the city were returning. Rebel forces announced they had formed a civil government for Shantung at Tsinanfu.

LABORITE WINS.

Glasgow, Scotland, June 27.—(AP)—A bye election in the Shetland division to fill a vacancy caused for the Labor candidate, E. McGovern who polled 10,699 votes against his Conservative opponent, W. P. Templeton's 10,303.

JOSEPH MADDEN PLANS TRIP TO MONTANA

Will Visit His Sister in Dillon; Will Drive Part of the Way Out.

Joseph Madden, of Madden Brothers, local Nash automobile agency, leaves tomorrow afternoon for Dillon, Montana, where he will spend a month visiting his sister, Mrs. William P. Carroll. Mr. Madden will go by train to the Nash factory in Racine, Wisconsin and will drive a car from there to his destination by way of Yellowstone National Park.

On his return journey Mr. Madden will stop for a few days in Cheyenne, Wyoming, where a gala frontier celebration will be held between July 22 and 26. He will return to Manchester about the 29th, traveling by train.

MANGIN ELIMINATES AUSTIN, BRITISH STAR

Wimbledon, Eng., June 27.—(AP)—Gregory Mangin, New Jersey flash, today defeated Great Britain's ranking singles player, Bunny Austin, 9-7, 10-8, 6-0, in a match which lasted nearly two hours.

Young Mangin, in his first singles appearance on a center court, rudely shocked British tennis aspirations. The King and Queen arrived just in time to see the closing phase of the match.

The Newark lad had Austin at a draw, 8 games all, in the second set, the American having won the first, when their Majesties reached the scene, affording them a brief moment's breathing spell while the crowds paid homage to the British rulers.

Helen Jacobs, California star, advanced another round in the women's singles championship defeating Mrs. W. D. List of Great Britain in straight sets, 6-0, 6-1.

In the mixed doubles Elizabeth Ryan and J. Crawford defeated O. G. N. Turnbull and Mrs. J. E. Hill, 6-3, 6-3.

Wilmer Allison, of Fort Worth, Tex., defeated G. P. Hughes, of England, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2, 6-3.

Mrs. J. L. Colgate and Miss C. Tyrrell defeated Cilly Aussem and Miss M. Palfrey in the women's doubles 6-8, 6-3, 7-5.

JOHN ELLSWORTH LOMAS DIES IN NEW HAVEN

New Haven, June 27.—(AP)—John Ellsworth Lomas, president of the Lomas and Nettleton Co., investment brokers, died last night at his home, at the age of 67 years. He had been ill for many months with a heart ailment.

Born in Bridgeport on December 19, 1862 he received his early education in the West Haven public schools and for a short time attended New Haven high school. After several business ventures in this city and a short residence in Cleveland, he established with his boyhood friend, Edward L. Nettleton a private banking business.

In 1917 the firm was incorporated as the Lomas and Nettleton Co., and the private banking business discontinued.

Mr. Lomas was also president of the Lenox Realty Company. For many years he was active in the management of the Edwin Bancroft Foote Boys Club.

MONSTER STEEL MERGER IS ANNOUNCED TODAY

Columbus, O., June 27.—(AP)—Merger of the Republic Iron and Steel Company of Youngstown and the Berger Manufacturing Company of Canton into the Republic Steel Corporation was announced here today with the filing of merger papers with secretary of state. The merger papers provided for a revision of the capital stock of the company. Preferred stock was increased from $25,000,000 to $50,000,000 and no par value common shares were increased from 1,000,000 shares to 5,000,000 shares. In the application the companies said their properties in Ohio had a total valuation of $171,186,595 and that the properties owned and operated by the merged organizations outside the state were worth $540,433,979. Republic Iron and Steel Company has been one of the leading steel producing companies of the country.

Absorption of Berger Manufacturing Company by Republic Steel Corporation is merely a formal legal step in consummation of the merger which formed Republic from a half dozen other steel companies, chief of which was the old Republic Iron and Steel Company.

LA PAZ ISOLATED

New York, June 27.—(AP)—Fears that La Paz, capital of Bolivia, is cut off from the rest of the country and the outside world were expressed today at the office here of the consul general of Bolivia.

The consulate said that it had no direct news from La Paz in connection with reports that revolutionary outbreaks have taken place there, and that former President Siles has taken refuge in the United States legation.

MISS DICKSON HOLDS LEAD IN CONTEST

Opponents in Popularity Race Cut Down Her Lead, However—Miss Jackson Climbs Fast.

A bitter overnight attack on first place failed to dislodge Miss Gladys Dickson of Hamlin street from her position as leader of the State Beauty contest for the title of Manchester's Most Popular Girl, although the assault of nearly 10,000 additional votes caused several changes in the standing of the runner-up.

Miss Dickson polled 1,059 votes for a total of 8,748 and Miss Pearl Robinson of Summit street crept up slightly with 437 ballots to total 7,511. The heaviest balloting last night was in favor of Miss Estelle Jackson of Pleasant street, who gathered 2,775 votes, sending her into third place with a total of 7,117 votes. Miss Sophie Fykoski of Hilliard street was second highest and went into fourth place, adding 2,574 to her previous total of 3,933 for a grand total of 6,507. As a result Miss Inez Rossi is again running fifth, last night polling 80 votes for a total of 5,102.

The remaining votes cast were for entries who are considered "dark horses". Miss Elaine Schultz of Cooper street polled 940 ballots for a new high of 2,965 votes but still trails Miss Fanny Hewitt of West Center street, who remains in sixth position with 2,191.

Miss Camilla Monica of Bissell street reached a total of 443 votes and Miss Laura West advanced to 182.

Other entries who remain below 1000 votes are: Margaret Davis, Nan Stevenson, Diminica Salvatore, Sue Kelley, Mary Vinco, Florence Beeman, Laura West, Fanny Arvanetakis, Gertrude Powers, Frosso Dadamos, Helen Gaskel, Helen Schnell, and Edith Baldwin.

USED FAKED NAMES New York, June 27.—(AP)—The telephone company has routed from the pages of its Manhattan directory the bogus last names invented by ingenious subscribers so they might be listed last in the phone book.

An epidemic of Zzyzyvas, Zyzns and Zzyx-es caused the company to look carefully into the authenticity of any which began with ZZ. All the Zz's were found to be invented names, and were tossed out.

The last name in the new book is Bywolkarta—and it's on the level.

She's Flyer's Bride-to-Be

"The happiest girl in all Australia" was Mary Powell, above, pretty fiancée of Maj. Charles Kingsford-Smith, when news of his successful trans-Atlantic flight reached her home in Melbourne. But he "mustn't consider" any more air adventures, she says, after their marriage in September. She has won the darling birdman's promise that his Ireland-to-America flight will be his last trans-oceanic air voyage.

PARENTS TO VISIT BOY SCOUT CAMP

Tomorrow will be Parents' Day at Troop 5's Boy Scout camp in Glastonbury. The program will start at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and will include a Scouting demonstration by members of the Troop. Refreshments will be on sale. Parents and friends are cordially invited to attend.

The affair is in charge of the Troop Committee, consisting of Algot Johnson, Otto Johnson, Eric Nelson, Emil Brandt, Gustave Benson, Edward Berggren, and Helge Pearson.

YOUTHS HOLD PARLEY

Toronto, June 27.—(AP)—Two thousand young people, none more than three years into their twenties, assembled here today for their own conference on religious education.

Tomorrow they will join the International Conference on Religious Education, in session here, to unveil a statue of Robert Raikes, founder of the Sunday school movement.

Gordon Lapp of Toronto, elected president of the Youth Conference at Birmingham, Ala., in 1926, heads the group, in which the United States, Canada and Mexico are represented. Dr. T. Z. Koo of China and the Rev. Mordecai Johnson, negro president of Howard University in Washington, D. C., will address the conference.

For Congress

Miss Stella B. Haines of Augusta, Kan., now a member of the state legislature, hopes to be the next woman to win a seat in Congress, having become a candidate in the eighth Kansas district. She opposes Congressman William A. Ayres, who has held the seat 10 years.

There were 1,941 marriages performed in Wyoming in 1929, as compared with 1,808 in 1928, according to the U. S. Department of Commerce.

RAINS TOOK NITROGEN FROM TOBACCO FIELDS

Scientist Fears Crop May Be Undernourished; Advises Growers to Apply More in Available Form.

New Haven, June 27.—Heavy rains in late May and mid-June washed out of Connecticut tobacco fields more than half of the nitrogen that growers apply to give a quick, healthy growth to seedling plants. M. F. Morgan, head of the soils department of the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station, said today. Consequently, the valuable crop is in danger of under-nourishment.

This condition is disclosed in the reading of the lysimeter at the tobacco station in Windsor for the first month that followed setting out the plants. The apparatus collects water passing through the soil and chemists analyze the liquid to determine the plant food that is thus carried away from the roots.

"In case of another heavy rain, growers should 'top-dress' their tobacco with nitrogen that the plants can take up quickly," Mr. Morgan said. "The seedlings lost much of what they should have got because of the leaching when they were first placed in the field."

"By now, the forms of nitrogen that are slower to be taken up by the plant, such as cottonseed meal and castor pomace, have become soluble and they too are liable to be washed out of the soil in a driving rain. To give the tobacco its full chance, the fields should have this second application of nitrate of soda or some other available form."

More leaching occurred this summer in the first 30 days after the tobacco was set out, than took place in the first four months last summer. In 1929, which was unusually dry, the plants lost none of the quickly available nitrogen. This year they immediately lost the greater part of it.

Soil Exerts Influence
The character of the soil is a powerful influence on the amount of plant nutrients that wash through with rain, it is shown in the first year's record of the lysimeter. The apparatus, which is built partly underground, with tubes that lead from tanks of soil treated with various fertilizer applications, was installed a year ago. It is one of a few in the United States and the only one in New England. Tests now in progress, deal with tobacco, since fertilizer coats on that plant are greater in Connecticut than for other crops, but these will be studied later.

Not only does the soil affect the leaching, but it influences the rate at which plant nutrients become soluble and thus are susceptible both to being absorbed by the plant and to being washed away. In the tobacco growing season, Enfield fine sandy loam lost less than half the nitrogen that three other soils lost, while Merrimac sandy loam and Merrimac coarse sand were drained quite heavily.

Need 23 Inches Rainfall
Mr. Morgan concludes that 23 inches of rainfall is removed by the tobacco plant or evaporates in a year's time, since the records of the first year show that amount remaining in a 20-inch depth of soil and subsoil. Only eight and three quarters-inches of the total rainfall passed into drainage tanks.

Of the four forms of nitrogen tested on the various soils, nitrate of soda was the only one to be completely leached out in one year. Potash losses were practically independent of nitrogen treatments and were chiefly affected by the type of soil. Phosphorus was not leached except in negligible quantities.

Manure was found slow to nourish the plant and some symptoms of nitrogen starvation were seen before the end of the season on plants raised on manure alone.

Heavy lime losses accompanied severe leaching of nitrogen. Such loss can be partially counteracted by the use of calcium nitrate rather than nitrate of soda.

BOLIVIA'S REVOLT

Lima, Peru, June 27.—(AP)—Spurred by the martyrdom of a young Bolivia girl who was killed by police as she urged the men of La Paz to strike in defense of their liberties, a mob in that city Sunday waged a vain and deadly battle with police.

The Genardes mounting machine guns on trucks repulsed wave after wave of enraged citizens until finally 40 or more lay dead on the streets of the mountain capital. More than 60 were wounded.

The demonstrators in withdrawing from the fray took with them the body of the girl and that of a boy student companion also killed by the police and exhibited them in every part of the city.

Public excitement grew and continues to prevail.

TRIED ALL KINDS OF LAXATIVES

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Gave Only Permanent Relief

As everybody knows, the market is flooded with cathartics, pills and patent compounds for the relief of constipation. At best, whatever results are obtained are temporary. Besides, there is the danger in certain drugs and the habit-forming menace.

Mr. P. M. Fisher, 517 Olive Street, Scranton, Pa., has something to say on this subject which will be interesting to all constipation sufferers. He says:

"For many years I suffered from constipation and used, for relief, all kinds of laxatives. After a few days' treatment, I would only find my condition the same as before and at times worse."

"Some time ago I started to use Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly, once a day as directed. Since doing this, I have found that I do not need any other medicine to procure the desired result, and it keeps me in a very healthful condition."

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is positively guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation or the purchase price will be refunded.

In addition, it adds needed iron to the diet. You will like its delicious flavor. There are many delightful ways to eat it. Your grocer has Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

DYE OUTLINES KIDNEYS TO ASSIST PHYSICIANS

Detroit, June 27.—(AP)—Discovery of a Dye which makes the kidneys opaque to the X-ray when injected into the veins was reported at a meeting of the radiology section of the American Medical Association convention here.

The new Dye, discovered by Dr. Arthur Bins of Berlin, was hailed as an aid to diagnosis of kidney infections, heretofore a painful process fraught with dangers of inaccuracy.

Announcement of the discovery of the dye known as uroselectan, was made by Leopold Jaches of New York. Dr. Bins described the history of his discovery following the announcement. By use of uroselectan, he said, kidneys now stand out as vividly as bone structure under the X-ray. Tests have proved, he said, that uroselectan can be injected without deleterious effects upon the patient.

Uroselectan, Dr. Bins said, is not yet in general use in American hospitals but soon will become available everywhere for clinical purposes.

The association was officially on record today as urging revision of Federal regulations of medicinal liquor and a more careful check by the Federal Radio Commission of "health" broadcasts.

Adoption of resolutions on those matters, election of Dr. Edward Starr Judd of University of Minnesota as president for 1931-32 and selection of Philadelphia as the convention city for 1931 were highlights of convention activities yesterday.

RAID BEACH RESORTS

New York, June 27.—(AP)—Two of this city's popular beach resorts, Long Beach and Far Rockaway, were raided last night by Federal Prohibition agents who arrested 51 persons and seized a quantity of liquor.

SUSPECT FOUR YOUTHS FOR MANY BURGLARIES

New Haven, June 27.—(AP)—Four youths arrested yesterday in Greenwich while riding in a stolen automobile today were being held under heavy bonds by police here pending investigation of several thefts and burglaries recently, believed to have been made by the quartette. They told police their names were Peter Smeriglio, 19; Riccardo Negro, 21; Peter Silkowitch, 20, and Ernest Ruggiero, 21, all of New Haven.

Two of the youths are thought to be wanted in Cheshire as escaping from the boys' school there. The four were arrested in Greenwich when the car in which they were riding was recognized as one reported stolen from M. L. Hungerford of Hamden Wednesday night.

At first, Greenwich police said the youths gave assumed names and said they were from Jamaica, L. I. They denied complicity in any of the robberies about New Haven of which they are suspected. They are being held or charges of stealing an automobile. Bonds have been set at $5,000 each.

MUST SELL ESTATE

London, June 27.—(AP)—The Duke of Montrose has offered his acres to the government, upon his death, in lieu of death duties upon his estate, one of the most ancient in Scotland.

Among the duke's possessions are the islands of Loch Lomond, Ben Lomond and Inversnaid, owned by the Duke's family more than 500 years and permeated with romance since the first arrival of Montrose was created in 1505. Like other large landowners he is facing the problem of disposing of his property at death. The government, believing there are too many difficulties, professes inability to accept the lands. The farmers who till them are too poor to buy.

The only way out, the Duke has come to believe, is to sell his properties abroad. The present Duke of Montrose, owns 115,000 acres for which he must find ultimate disposition.

British radio experts have succeeded in using a captive balloon as a transmitting tower with the advantage that its height can be easily changed.

There are at least four mistakes in the above picture. They may pertain to grammar, history, etiquette, drawing or whatnot. See if you can find them. Then look at the scrambled word below—and unscramble it, by switching the letters around. Grade yourself 20 for each of the mistakes you find, and 20 for the word if you unscramble it.

CORRECTIONS.
(1) "Robert Owens," in the man's conversation, should be Owen Roberts. (2) His correct title is associate justice, instead of judge. (3) There are eight associate justices, instead of nine. An associate justice is appointed for life instead of 12 years. (5) The scrambled word is BUCKET.

GAS BUGGIES—A Hasty Departure

SENSE and NONSENSE

Mother—Exodus! Wheah yo' goin' wid dat stove polish? Son—I'se de colored comedian in a show an' I desires it fo' mah make-up.

Boss—So your father knows the exact moment he will die, the exact year, month and day? Rastus—Yassuh, he ought to. De Judge done tole him.

Sambo: Yes, sah, when yo' sees a Ford dat don't rattle, it ain't us Ford.

A landowner down South once rented a small farm to an old colored chap for one-fourth of the corn and cotton crops.

At the end of the season the owner said: Owner—Mose, have you gathered your crops yet? Mose—Yes, sah, quite some time ago.

Owner—Well, where is the one-fourth that belongs to me for the rent of the farm?

Mose—Boss, dere wasn't no fourth. Dere was just three loads, an' dem belonged to me.

Rastus—Yo Honuh, we's been in better jalls than yours! Judge—Maybe—but not as long as you are going to be in this one.

Sambo—Gawd, I always guesses wrong! Here, I comes with a bullet proof vest on, when I should have worn a razor-proof collar.

Once an old darkey visited a doctor and was given definite instructions as to what he should do. Shaking his head he started to leave the office, when the doctor said: Doctor—Here, Rastus, you forgot to pay me.

Rastus—Pay yo' for what, boss? Doctor—For my advice. Rastus—Naw, suh, naw, suh, I ain't gwine to take it.

A negress, presenting herself for confirmation, was asked to repeat the Creed, the Lord's Prayer, and the Commandments.

She got through the first two fairly well, but when it came to the

You can't always tell a hick if he keeps still, but soon or late he will call a waiter or porter "George."

The anonymous author of a war diary tells this one. A dusky son of the southern mammy approached a field hospital doctor with a request that his head be examined.

The medic made a careful examination but without results. Doctor—What makes you think there's something wrong with your head, Jasper. I find nothing the matter with you.

Jasper—There must be something wrong with my head. Doc or I'd nevah be in this heah war.

Mandy—This letter from yo' boss says you is fired. What you mean you is going back to work Tuesday?

Sambo—On da envelope it says, Return in Five Days.

Sam—Doan' peticate me, doan' peticate if you all wants to see youah ma again.

Hen—Doan' rile me all up punkin' face less youah wants to go petrified like.

A little colored boy was sitting slumped down in a chair with his feet resting on the top of the table when his mammy came in the room and said: "Lordy, but you is lazy chile! You is exactly like yore pappy thank de Lord I didn't marry dat man!"

It can be proved without insurance statistics that careful drivers live longer.

The best men in any organization are the men who came up from the bottom and fought their way through thick and thin to get where they are.

If the flapper really wants to get married she should go to Juneau, Alaska, where there are nine men to every girl.

THE TINYMITES

When all the geese were out of sight, the Travel Man exclaimed, "All right, let's hop back into our machine and go right on our way. There's heaps of scenery to scan, so let's enjoy it while we can. When we arrive in Moscow, there'll be lots of time to play." So, on they went along the road, a very happy, laughing load. "Let's sing a song," cried Copsy. "Come on Clowzy, you and I. We'll harmonize with something sweet and I'll just bet 'twill be a treat. Don't anybody back out now. At least we all can try." And so they sang out in a roost. One song was finished. "Then came more. At last the Travel Man exclaimed, "Now I will sing alone. You Tynites sit and listen well. It may be classy. Who can tell? You all can clap, if I am good, and if I'm bad, just groan." "I know four little lads," sang he, "who are as noisy as can be,

They travel round the big wide world and see a lot of sights. Of course they dearly love to play. That's what they do the live long day. And now I'll tell you who they are—the four fat Tynmites! This made the Tynites laugh with glee. And Clowzy promptly shouted, "Ge, you sure know how to sing a song." "Oh, thanks!" the big man said. Then they rode on for miles and miles. Each Tynite's face was soon all smiles because the Travel Man exclaimed, "There's Moscow just ahead." They reached the city. My, twas big. Said Copsy, "I could dance a jig. Now, we're right here on the ground." They rode on in the nice fresh air and soon they reached the public square. They stopped to feed the pigeons that were flying all around. (The Tynmites see a camel and hay cart in the next story.)

ABOUT TOWN

Charles S. Pickett formerly with the Cole Motor Sales Co. is now connected with the Mackley Chevrolet Co. Inc. in a sales capacity.

Russell Cheney is among the artists who will have paintings in the summer exhibition to be held at Ogunquit, Me. The exhibition will be under the direction of Nunzio Vayana, a former resident of Hartford.

Coventry is to have as part of their celebration on July 4 a parade of "Horribles." This will recall the old time method of celebrating July 4 in Manchester many years ago when the parade would start at the old Cheney store on Main and Charter Oak streets with a program following at the dance platform on Cooper Hill street.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Viens and son Harry, of 17 Huntington street, will leave tomorrow for a week's vacation motoring through Vermont.

Mrs. Martha Glenn Meyer of 68 Bigelow street entertained her piano pupils last night at her home. The pupils played from memory, both alone and in duet. Refreshments were served and games played.

Miss Elizabeth A. Krapowicz of Brookfield street has left for Dennis, Mass., on Cape Cod, where she will spend the summer at the End-of-the-Road cottage.

Rev. M. S. Osborne of the Rockville Methodist church will be the preacher and soloist at the outdoor service Sunday evening on the grounds of the South Methodist church.

Mrs. Harry Trotter of Holl street, owing to a recent death in the family, has omitted the usual closing recital of her piano pupils and plans to give it early in the fall. Mrs. Trotter awarded gifts to Eleanor Behnke of Addison and Pearl Dreger of Andover, two out of the classes who spent the most time at the piano. Miss Behnke was also one of the four pupils who had a perfect attendance record during the season. The others were Winifred and George Lennor of Autumn street and Dorothy Lewis of Pearl street.

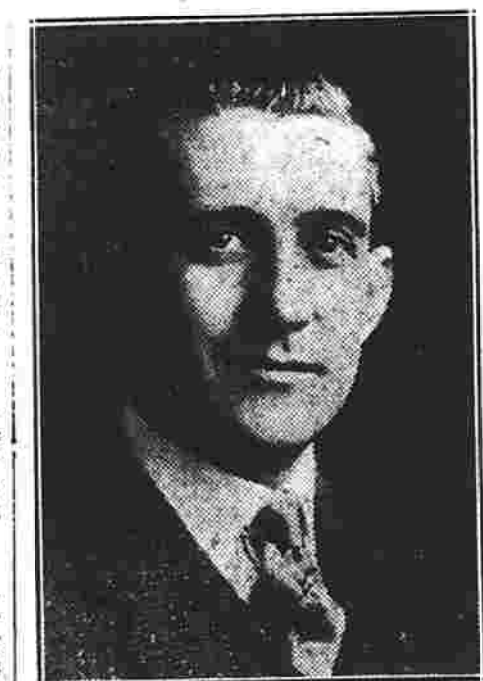

No new changes were made in the policy of the Connecticut Pharmaceutical Association which concluded its annual meeting yesterday at New London. Police Commissioner Edward J. Murphy, well known north end druggist, was among those in attendance. He returned last night in company with Mrs. Murphy who made the trip with him. The conference business was more or less of a routine nature, no new laws or changes in policy being even advocated.

Charles E. House of East Center street who had planned to attend the big Kiwanis meeting at Atlantic City next week, has given up plans for the trip on account of a severe cold.
