Temporary Closing of Department in Silk Plant Said to Be Caused by Conditions in World Market.

Cheney Brothers announced at a meeting of the Works Council this morning that it will be necessary to suspend work in the Dressing Mill for an indefinite period, probably until Fall.

The Dressing Mill is facing a condition which exists in all similar mills in this country as well as abroad. The demand for spun silk yarns has been slowly falling off as a result of competition with the many cheap substitutes which are being put on the market, including Rayon, Tussah and the cheaper grades of Canton silks.

Reason for Decrease Several factors have combined to very materially reduce the immediate demands for spun silk yarns; the first of these has been the elimination of millinery velvet, which was made of spun silk yarns. The second is the very material drop in the prices for raw silks in the markets of the world, so that many of the cheaper silks, like Tussah and the poorer grades of Canton have now come in direct competition with spun silk.

It is believed that the elimination of spun silk velvets is a temporary matter and that already articles are being developed which may reproduce this output for spun silk yarns. The adjustment in the prices of raw silk may also be temporary, but until most of these factors have been seriously curtailed, it is hoped that by the first of October conditions will have materially improved.

Stock Sufficient The Company has now accumulated a supply of dressed spun silk sufficient to last until the Fall at the rate of present requirements, and it has been found inadvisable to stock up still further quantities in anticipation of demands that have not yet materialized. Work will gradually be suspended, as the material now in process is run through the several departments. This stock in process will be run out in a week or ten days. At the end of this period the Dressing Mill will be closed with the exception of the few employees necessary to maintain the plant in readiness for a start-up.

HARTFORD'S POLICE HUNTING SWINDLER

Meets Woman, Weds Her, Deserts Her and Takes Relatives' Money.

Hartford, July 2.—(AP)—A man known to the police as "Robert E. King" and described by the authorities here as "the most unprincipled scoundrel we have heard about" is the object of search today by the local department and the police of adjoining states. He is wanted for obtaining $1,700 under false pretenses, desertion of his wife whom he had met only a week before his unexpected and unexplained departure from Hartford, and theft of an automobile.

King arrived here June 23 and went on to 24 Irving street to whom he introduced his wife. "A Fast Worker" "Met some of your friends and relatives at the shore" said King. That day he was introduced to Mr. Silversman's sister-in-law, Jean Dvinsky. The following day he proposed marriage to Miss Dvinsky, and they were subsequently married in Millerton, N. Y.

In the meantime, King ran out of cash. He borrowed $500 from Mr. Silversman, receiving a check. Before leaving the city with his proposed marriage, King had additional from Mr. Silversman and other relatives. It was further reported that before deserting his bride he took $50 from her pocket-book.

JULY FOURTH? BAH, SEZ HE

Rum Runner brought Fire-cracker Report Was Hi-Jacker Gun and Falls Into Hands of Police.

Wheeling, W. Va., July 2.—(AP)—Eugene Crowder's guilty conscience and a boy's premature celebration of the Fourth had Crowder in jail today. Crowder was driving early through the streets here, a cargo, police said, of 30 gallons of liquor in his charge. A boy tossed a firecracker beneath the machine. Crowder, apparently thinking of guns, and hi-jackers or prohibition agents, leaped from the machine and fled with all the speed of his 28 years. The car rambled on, nosing finally into another parked at the curb.

FOE OF STALIN RECANTS VIEWS BEFORE LEADER

Soviet Right Wing Advocate Makes Apology for Opposing Communist Party; Admits Mistake.

Moscow, July 2.—(AP)—Nikolai Uglanov, the commissar of Labor who preached against the policies of Joseph Stalin, strong man of the Soviet, today before the Congress of Stalin's majority party humbly recanted his accusations and adjudged for the second time his Right-Wing views.

How completely and ignominiously the Right Wing opposition in the Communist Party had surrendered to Stalin and his central committee was summed up in Uglanov's abject humility. "I consider," pleaded the one-time power in the Communist ranks, that "one of my greatest mistakes" (Continued on Page Three.)

SENATE INCREASES VETERANS' RELIEF

By 55 to 11 Vote Approves Measure to Assist World War Participants.

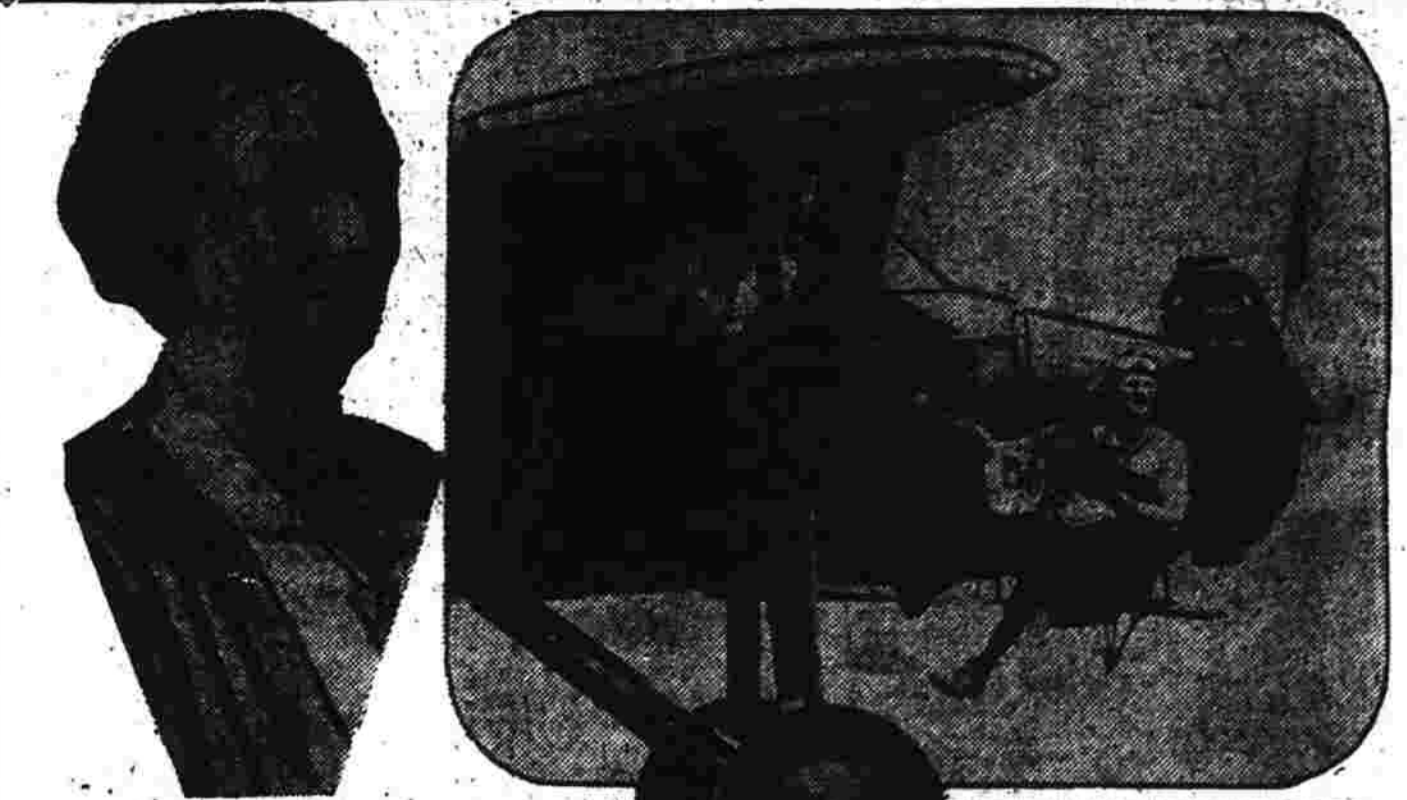

Washington, July 2.—The Senate by a vote of 55 to 11, passed yesterday another World War Veterans' relief bill. This one carries the same rates as those of the Spanish-American War Veterans' bill. It entails an expenditure of the first year of about double the cost of the Johnson substitute bill as passed by the House with the approval of the administration.

The test vote came on the adoption of the Walsh-Connelly amendment substituting the Spanish-American rates for the Johnson bill rates. The amendment was adopted by 37 to 26. The maximum rate in the rejected Johnson bill was $40 a month for total disability, while the maximum in the bill adopted by the Senate is $50 a month. The minimum rate for 25 per cent disability in the Johnson bill is $12 a month, while the Spanish War rate minimum for 10 per cent disability is $20 a month.

Ignore Objections President Hoover not only objected to the rates in the Spanish War bill, which was passed over his veto, but to a provision that granted a pension to those suffering from diseases caused by "willful misconduct." The Senate, over the protest of Senator Reed adopted Senator Walsh's amendment incorporating such a provision in the World War veterans' relief measure, by a vote of 58 to 27.

The greatest confusion prevailed after the Senate had overruled the administration forces. Some insurgents favored passing the bill without a roll call. In the midst of an uproar, when a roll call was asked, Vice President Curtis declared that not a sufficient number had raised their hands. Senators Borah, Reed and Johnson protested. Vice President Curtis remained obdurate and insisted that the "bill is passed." Finally Senator George obtained unanimous consent for a roll call, but it was not granted until a dozen or more Senators had protested against "rough-shod methods."

AFTER NEARLY THREE WEEKS IN THE SKY

Two thousand feet above a Chicago flying field, J. A. Neesenohn, staff cameraman for The Herald and NEA Service, leaned perilously over the side of a companion plane and took these remarkable aerial "shots" a few minutes after John and Kenneth Hunter, brothers, had broken the world record for endurance flying, and were continuing on after nearly three weeks in the air. In the upper picture, Kenneth is triumphantly displaying a sign reading "We Broke It." In the lower picture, he is shown on the catwalk, making an adjustment on the motor. The woman is Mrs. Ida Hunter, mother of the two flyers and their two brothers who compose the refueling crew.

NEW TARIFF LAW AIDS FARMER, HYDE ASSERTS

Secretary of Agriculture Says It Is Distinct Gain, Provides More Protection and Equalizes Matters.

Washington, July 2.—(AP)—The new tariff law was hailed by Secretary Hyde today as a "distinct gain" for agriculture, providing increased protection, actually and potentially, for American farmers. In an address over a network of radio stations, the secretary said it would serve to hold the home market for the American producer and would stimulate agriculture to balance its production against the market demand.

Many of its rates such as those on wool, eggs, long staple cotton and dairy products, he said, will be generally beneficial and others will help in border markets. "The new act reduces, even though it may not entirely eliminate, the disparity in tariff protection which has existed between agricultural and industrial products," he said. "On an equivalent ad valorem basis, the percentage of increase on agricultural products (Schedule 7) (Continued on Page Three.)

SCATTERED STORMS HIT NEW ENGLAND

Bolt Kills One Man; Another Missing; Buildings Ruined; Train Traffic Delayed.

Boston, July 2.—(AP)—Scattered electrical storms were accompanied by severe rain over New England late yesterday, with one man killed by a lightning bolt and another missing after an auto accident. Raymond D. Thompson, 17, who came to work on a Naahus, N. H., farm Monday from New York state, was struck while closing a door and killed. An automobile went into a stream after a bridge had been carried away near Austin Stream Junction, Me., and a house was burned at Hildford, Me.

Highways and several sections of Maine Central railroad track were washed out at Bangham. A long stretch of New York, New Haven and Hartford railway was washed away near Gayberville, Conn., and trains were routed around the area. Extensive damage to crops was done by the rain. HUNTERS PASS HOUR NO. 500 GOING STRONG

Chicago Fliers Now Over 80 Hours Ahead of Previous World Record; Expect to Win Prize of $10,000.

Chicago, July 2.—(AP)—John and Kenneth Hunter in the monoplane "City of Chicago" flew through their 500th continuous hour over Sky Harbor today at 11:40 a. m. (Central Standard Time). They were approximately 80 hours ahead of the previous world's record for endurance flying. Chicago, July 2.—(AP)—The old farm would look mighty sweet to Kenneth Hunter right now. Kenneth is tired. He wants to come down and end the maddening monotony of three weeks' ceaseless flying, flying too the changeless refrain of vibrant motor and whirling "prop."

Minutes ticked on into dollars. The 500 hour post came in view and in 20 more hours thereafter $10,000 from an oil company which pledged $100 for each hour beyond the record. Kenneth scribbled a note, dropped it to Walter and Albert, the Hunter brothers down at the Sky Harbor hangar. It was marked "person" and the refueling crew would not reveal its text, but they said Kenneth thought the flight should end today.

"But John will stay up there forever," said Walter. And at 8:40 a. m. (CST) the "City of Chicago" and its crew were staying up now 77 hours past the old endurance record of the "St. Louis Robin." Nearly Ended The flight almost ended for lack of fuel when the motor of the "Big Ben" warming up for the first morning contact, failed before the takeoff shortly after 7 a. m. When the fliers in the air waiting for gasoline, oil and breakfast, a quartet of mechanics hastily installed new spark plugs and returned the ship. The morning took at the airfield, displayed more senseless than the ground crew. There was manifest relief as the "Big Ben" finally nosed into the air and dropped its line aboard the endurance ship. Another wave of apprehension rippled through the crowd when someone thought he heard the motor of the "City of Chicago" missing, but the 19th contact was achieved without mishap.

Note To Sister John today dropped a note to be telegraphed to his sister, Miss Mabelle Hunter, who is ill in a hospital. It was an answer to her (Continued on Page Three.)

ZIONIST FACTIONS DROP DIFFERENCES

For First Time in Nine Years Harmony Prevails; Coalition Directors Now.

Cleveland, July 2.—(AP)—A factional quarrel that had existed within the Zionist organization of America for nine years was at an end today with the election of a coalition administration. At a tumultuous session closing the organization's 33rd annual convention here last night, an administrative committee of 18 members was chosen to represent both the administration that had been in power and the dissenting group headed by Supreme Court Justice Louis D. Brandeis and Federal Judge W. Mack of New York.

The committee will control the affairs of the organization in the future, assisted by an executive committee of 40 and a National advisory council of 100. The Brandeis-Mack group, however, gained the balance of power. They nominated 13 of the 18 administrative committee members, and half of the 40 members of the executive committee.

In Same Room The reorganization was voted in the same hotel room where the Brandeis-Mack group was thrown out of power in 1921. The session became a bedlam for a time when Jacob Flakman, editor of the Jewish Morning Journal, New York, proposed the inclusion of Dr. Stephen Wise and Abraham Tulin of New York among the nominees of the Brandeis-Mack state on the administrative committee. Dr. Wise on the eve of the convention issued a statement in New York warning that the Zionist organization "morally and politically bankrupt" for which he drew the charge of the convention. He was elected to the administrative committee after Louis Lipsky of New York, the original Zionist president, had resigned his position for the sake of the cause. The convention pledged $100,000 toward wiping out the deficit of $68,000.

ATLANTIC FLIERS OFF FOR CHICAGO

TILDEN DEFEATS JEAN BOROTRA

All-American Finals Assured in British Tennis Tournament; Moody, Ryan Win.

Wimbledon, Eng. July 2.—(AP)—All-American finals for the British tennis championships in both singles and doubles were assured today when the United States forces led by Bill Tilden and Mrs. Helen Wills Moody eliminated the last surviving representatives of other countries. This remarkable accomplishment was achieved when Tilden defeated his old rival, Jean Borotra of France, in five spectacular sets, 6-4, 6-8, 6-0, 7-5, after Mrs. Moody had beaten Madame Rene Mathieu of France, 6-3, 6-2, and Elizabeth Ryan, native Californian, now living in England, had advanced at the expense of Fraulein Cecilie Aussem of Germany.

Miss Ryan won from the Little German player after a desperate battle in which Fraulein Aussem suffered a sprained ankle at 4-1 in the critical third set and was forced to retire. Miss Ryan had won the first set 6-3 and Fraulein Aussem the second at 6-0. The second semi-final in the men's singles division was an All-American affair with Wilmer Allison, Austin, Texas, and John Doeg, Santa Monica, Calif., fighting it out. (Continued on Page Three.)

BOROTRA BEATEN Wimbledon, July 2.—(AP)—Bill Tilden beat his old rival Borotra of France in the semi-final round of the British tennis championship in a thrilling five set match this morning in dramatic fashion by scores of 6-8, 6-4, 6-0, 7-5. Tilden staged a dramatic rally after trailing at 2-4 in the final set, scored one of the most sensational victories in the long rivalry between the two players. Tilden and the League of Nations round of a tournament that he has not won in nine years. Big Bill's victory masked the elimination of the last of the French contenders who have monopolized this championship for the last six years as Henri Cochet was eliminated on Monday by the young Texan, Wilmer Allison. Borotra opened fast against Tilden. We won the first two games, he seemed at first that he had grabbed the next three for a 3-0 lead. The Frenchman was deadly at the net, and took the next game also for a love set. Tilden led at 3-2 in the second set at which point Borotra broke his service to draw level. Borotra's usual entertaining antics caused amusement and laughter. Tilden requested silence. Borotra also captured the seventh game but Tilden unloosed two terrific service aces and took the eighth for 4-4. The American continued his streak through the ninth game, leading 5-4, then finished off the tenth with another steaming service ace for the set-6. Borotra rolled off the next two games with loss of only one point in (Continued on Page Three.)

SLEUTHS UNEARTH BIG LIQUOR RING

Owned Fleets of Boats and Trucks; Operated Routes All Over Mid-West.

Cleveland, July 2.—(AP)—An alleged rum-running syndicate that operated an overland route from Florida, and a fleet of boats across Lake Erie to distribute liquor in middlewestern cities, stood revealed today with the release of secret indictments, naming 11 men on conspiracy charges. Principals of the ring, Federal investigators said, were Daniel F. Conahan of Pittsburgh and Cleveland; James Courtney, now in Canada; and John O'Boyle of Cleveland. The organization formerly was alleged to have been headed by "Boss" Larry Davidson, whose extensive rum-running activities have placed him in Atlantic penitentiary.

Owned Fleet of Trucks The syndicate, according to the indictment operated a fleet of trucks from Pennsylvania, Florida to Michigan. Pa. wine liquors were shipped to Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Chicago and Woodlawn, Pa. Its other arm reached across Lake Erie between Canadian ports and points along the Erie (Ohio) branch of the Pennsylvania and Erie railroad, with Cleveland directing the Canadian operations via long distance telephone. It was charged. (Continued on Page Three.)

FOUR MORE BODIES FOUND Soudbury, Ont., July 1.—(AP)—The bodies of a man and three children were taken from the flooded coaches of a Verulam passenger train, bringing to fifteen the number of victims of two railroad accidents near Soudbury last Thursday. Both wrecks were caused by wash outs in a severe storm which swept the district. The children had been reported missing, but the finding of the man's body occasioned surprise, as it was thought all three children had been accounted for. The man was identified as that of Sam Gibb of Lloydminster, Sask. Four children were killed or drowned in the wreck of the passenger train, which was derailed by a wash out, and ten persons were killed in a wreck of a freight train among them the engineer and fireman. The others were illiterate workmen, heading their way to the western coal fields.

RELIGION LOSING HOLD ON MASSES

Church Neglected, Says Clergyman at World Congregational Convention.

Bournemouth, Eng., July 2.—(AP)—A church neglected and a religion losing its hold on the masses was the picture presented by the Rev. J. B. Jones, of Bournemouth, as moderator, to the Fifteenth International Council of Congregational churches today. His commentary on modern immorality was contained in the opening address of today's session. To a large extent, he said, the very existence of God was being challenged and denied. The pastor declared "it is against the Christian conception of sexual morality that the attack of the moderns principally is directed. There is a moral revolt about which there is nothing shy or timid." This moral revolt, Dr. Jones asserted, is "bold, brazen and unashamed. It scoffs at old religions and decencies. It repudiates all old conventions and taboos and allows itself freedom in speech and conduct that shocks all who have been brought up in the old traditions."

Dr. Jones said many young people refused to consider themselves bound by the old laws. He asserted that it was a fact that sexual indulgences, freed from certain social consequences had led to an alarming increase of secret immorality. "This would be vile and heathen world if it ceased to believe in God," he said.

Artificial Sunlight In An Ordinary Bulb

By Howard W. Blakeslee, Ithaca, N. Y., July 2.—(AP)—Ultra violet light from ordinary incandescent electric bulbs is curing disease at Cornell University. This experiment made public today is the latest step in artificial sunlight, a practical forecast of return of the time when modern man may regain the constant ultra violet environment under which the human race developed. The experiment got its ultra violet out in the open. The Cornell report indicated his dependants may get it from ordinary incandescent electric lights. (Continued on Page Three.)

Southern Cross Crew on First Leg of Flight to Pacific Coast; Fog in Spots Makes Traveling Difficult; Expect to Reach Destination This Evening.

Cleveland, O., July 2.—(AP)—The Southern Cross on its way from New York to Chicago passed over the Cleveland airport at 12:33 p. m., Eastern Standard time today, flying about 500 feet high, air port officials announced. Youngstown, O., July 2.—(AP)—Ailed employes at Mercer, Pa., said that at 10:17 a. m. they received reports that the Southern Cross which left New York this morning was between New York and Buffalo, 200 miles from Mercer, experiencing treacherous flying conditions. Landing facilities were unable to pick up the plane's signals, reports said.

LEAVE NEW YORK New York, July 2.—(AP)—Roaring away into the murk morning, the Southern Cross headed westward from Roosevelt Field at a few minutes after 7 o'clock (EST) today on the first jump of a transcontinental flight to Oakland, Calif., which will end its journey around the world. Its crew expects to reach Chicago this evening. Foggy Weather An hour after the takeoff, it had not been reported, although it seemed to fly low. The overcast mist kept visibility low and even at 2,000 feet the plane apparently had not been distinguished as it soared over New York and Newark, N. J., and headed into the Alleghenies following the air mail route. Charles E. Kingford-Smith, who has been made a wing commander in tribute to his flying feats. He said he would follow the mail route, and pointed a suggestion that the ship go by way of Albany in order to avoid a troublesome but not perilous patch of fog above the Alleghenies.

HOUSE TO ASSIST HOOVER LAW BOARD

Votes 272 to 41 to Give It $250,000 for Continuation of Its Study.

Washington, July 2.—(AP)—The House voted $250,000 to the Hoover law enforcement commission today for continuation of its general study through another year. Before that sum is assured, however, differences with the Senate must be reconciled. The Senate voted only $60,000 and limited the commission to an inquiry into probation enforcement. The House first voted authorization for continuation of the study with the larger fund. That the amount was inserted in the second deficiency bill to replace the Senate provision. The House vote was 272 to 41.

Cheer Up, Here's News Four Hour Day Coming

Columbus, O., July 2.—(AP)—Editor of the National Education Association, advised American educators to prepare the public for the time when the average working day will be four hours long.

Here today to address a departmental meeting of the association's annual convention, Morgan said the rapid rate of replacement of men by machines makes it reasonable to believe that the working week gradually will be shortened.

By 1940 men and women probably will be working the equivalent of four hour days, he said.

The problem for the educator, he said, is to teach the public how to use all the leisure time it will have on its hands. It will mean either a great increase in culture and learning or a deterioration resulting from ill spent leisure.

The association hopes to reach every American with a plan of devoting his spare moments to study through the work of its committee on the enrichment of adult life, whose report was ready for submission today at the second business session of the representative assembly.

The committee on international relations also is to report today, has drawn up a recommendation that the Paris pact be taught in the schools to enlarge the pupil's viewpoint on the meaning of international relationships.

MAZZINI CLUB BUYS TRACT ON KEENEY ST.

Sons and Daughters of Italy Secure Three Acres as Site for Clubhouse and Outing.

Under the name of the Mazzini Club, which consists of the Sons and Daughters of Italy of Manchester, deeds were signed and the transaction completed for three acres of the original Keeneey property, near the schoolhouse on Keeneey street, near a hall will be erected on the property by the two Italian societies, who made the purchase because they deemed it a suitable location on which to hold their annual outing.

The club elects as officers, the following committee: Joseph Barto, chairman; Paul Correnti, treasurer and trustee; Remigio Ridofo, secretary; Giulio D'Ubbaldi, trustee; and Salvano Salvatore.

For many years the Sons and Daughters of Italy who hold a combined outing yearly, have experienced difficulty in discovering a spot suitable to handle the great crowd which always attends the affair. Over 400 persons attended the outing last year and soon after a committee was elected to look for a suitable permanent location for the outing. The committee decided on the Keeneey property and negotiations for the land were entered into immediately.

DISCOVER FOKKER HAS NO LICENSE

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., July 2.—(AP)—Anthony H. G. Fokker, airplane designer was taken into custody today for stunt flying and when Department of Commerce aviation inspectors questioned him he said he had no pilot's license.

Fokker came to the field to witness the takeoff for Chicago of the Southern Cross, which he designed. He was so elated at the way the heavily loaded ship behaved on the departure that he jumped into a small sport plane and took to the air himself with wings wagging.

He swooped low over the field giving vent to his enthusiasm by skimming close over hangars and directed the attention of the Department of Commerce men. They were waiting for him when he landed. Fokker was accompanied by his jaunt by Luba Phillips, western woman flier.

Fokker does a considerable amount of flying. He took the controls for a few minutes while accompanying the Southern Cross fliers to Washington two days ago in a 32 passenger transport of his design.

GERMANY INVESTIGATES GENERAL'S NATIONALITY

Berlin, July 2.—(AP)—The official attitude of the foreign office toward General Hans Kundt today had not been defined with any degree of finality. Kundt, German commander-in-chief of the Bolivian Army, participating in last week's revolution, is understood here to be a Bolivian citizen. (La Paz dispatches have said a General Kundt was a naturalized Bolivian.)

The official position here was that the German minister at La Paz was better able to judge to what extent he was justified in granting General Kundt refuge in the Legation.

The spokesman said it must not be forgotten in this connection that Kundt, although now understood to be a Bolivian citizen, was a German officer of high merit with a creditable past. The view taken was that there was no ground for believing the minister should not have acted as he did. Contrarily, it was assumed that he, as a gentleman, took the correct line of action under the circumstances.

The foreign office today was informed that all other German officers in Bolivia were safe and well.

WILLIAM NEUSOME DEAD

Boston, July 2.—(AP)—William Neusome, 62, senior vice-president of the United Fruit company, died of his home late yesterday after a long illness. He had been with the company since the founding in 1899.

Born in Boston, he became identified with foreign trade at an early age and later became an advocate of a large American Merchant Marine. He was created a Knight of St. Gregory by Pope Pius XI in 1926 and in 1929 was made Knight of the Order of St. Olaf. King Haakon VII of Norway.

The funeral will be held tomorrow at St. Aidan's church, Brookline. He is survived by his widow and a daughter, Mrs. Ethel Alexander.

ENGINEERS NEED RESEARCH WORK

New Haven, June 2.—(AP)—In accessibility of knowledge is the greatest cause of waste and one of the most deplorable of human handicaps, Dr. Alfred D. Flinn of New York, director of the Engineering Foundation said today in an address before the Summer School of Engineering Teachers of Yale University.

The pace of modern life in relation to the arts and professions is so rapid that the coordination of practice and research is becoming vital to progress in the engineering field, Dr. Flinn said.

His plan of putting existing knowledge quickly into the hand of the man on the job is one that must be solved by a wider distribution of scientific information.

So comprehensive is the practice of civil engineering that engineers of single great enterprises have to apply directly or indirectly a large portion of human knowledge," Dr. Flinn continued. "Research is constantly supplanting old data, and it is incorrect of no longer sufficiently precise.

Inaccurate data and wrong conceptions of the nature of substances and their performances under various conditions of stress, motion, temperature and moisture, lead to faulty practice eventuating in economic waste, failures and even disasters."

SEN. SMOOT MARRIED AT SALT LAKE CITY

Salt Lake City, July 2.—(AP)—Senator Reed Smoot of Utah and Mrs. Alice Taylor Sheets were married this morning in the Latter Day Saints temple here. Heber J. Grant, president of that church, performed the ceremony.

The veteran Utah Senator and his second bride emerged from the temple shortly before 10 o'clock, heavily loaded with presents, approximately two hours.

Mrs. Smoot wore a white crepe gown and coat, with accessories to match. She carried a corsage of roses and lilies of the valley. The Senator wore informal clothes.

The couple will leave here this afternoon for Provo, Utah, where Mr. Smoot has resided for several years. No wedding reception will be held. About the middle of July they will go to San Francisco to sail July 19 for a honeymoon in Honolulu.

The Senator's first wife died a year ago, while Mrs. Sheets has been a widow since 1913.

THOMPSONVILLE TURTLE ASSISTS CELEBRATION

Thompsonville, July 2.—(AP)—Now that the 250th anniversary celebration at Enfield is completed, Tertius, anniversary loving turtle, is reported racing across Connecticut hills in search of more anniversary parties to celebrate in others of his home towns.

Tertius couldn't possibly miss the Enfield celebration because it was in the woods near the town sixty-six years ago that he received the inscription on his shell reading: J. M. Bowen, 1864, Eighth Conn. Vol.

The marking was done by James Bowen, who at the time was recuperating in Connecticut from wounds suffered in the Civil War.

Since that day Tertius had not been seen around until he turned up on the old C. D. Bent farm, two miles from where he was left in 1864.

OFF ON LONG HOP

Laredo, Tex., July 2.—(AP)—Announced as a test of air corps mobility for sudden hostilities, Lt. Yantis H. Taylor, former Texas Ranger, hopped off at 1:05 a. m. today on a proposed one day flight to Portland, Maine.

The young officer, an instructor at Kelly Field, San Antonio, expressed confidence that he would be successful in reaching the Army's farthest north field by nightfall.

Early morning fog he said would be the greatest obstacle.

KILLED BY TRUCK

Malden, Conn., July 2.—(AP)—William Wilcox, 5, was fatally injured today when he was struck by a truck driven by Ralph Pateo. The boy, slightly from a trolley with his mother and sister and according to police darter behind the car into the path of the truck. He died soon after.

Pateo was held under $1,500 bond for the coroner.

The plane that made the record drop in our opinion is the one built last year for the Schneider cup races at a cost of $90,000 and put up for sale the other day for $1.

State Briefs

MAN DROWNED—Domicilio Marchetti, 30, of North Chester, N. J., drowned today in the Byram River of East Fort Chester in the town of Greenwich.

Marchetti who could not swim, was standing in the stern of a power boat being towed by John Laforte of Fort Chester in a row boat. Marchetti slipped overboard.

Police recovered the body after a half hour hunt.

PROBATE LOMAS WILL—New Haven, July 2.—(AP)—The will of the late John Lomas former president Lomas and Nettleton Co. filed for probate yesterday revealed an estate estimated at more than $300,000.

According to the terms of the will the entire estate is to be divided equally between Russell Lomas and Mrs. Beatrice Lomas Gould, his son and daughter. They are named also as joint administrators.

STUDENT MISSING—Ansonia, July 2.—(AP)—Edward A. Broad, 20, of Bayonne, N. J., one of a group of Fordham University students selling magazines in Ansonia, left the Y. M. C. A. dormitory at 9 o'clock yesterday to work on the streets but has not been heard from since. Police have been asked to institute a search for him.

HOLD FOUR SUSPECTS—Stamford, July 2.—(AP)—Four men are held by Stamford police on charges of carrying concealed weapons while their fingerprints are checked in New York to determine if they are wanted there. They were arrested here last night, as they drove through in a high power sedan. A fully loaded 25 calibre automatic was found wedged in the seat behind Felix Vitagliano, 30, of 1690 Broadway, New York, the driver of the car. The other three gave their names as Buster Albert, 28, of 511 Chelsea street, East Boston, Carmine Capone, 30, of 122 Auburn street, Medford, and Vincent Di Troia, 25, of 128 Shirley street, Roxbury.

NEW PROSECUTOR—Hartford, July 2.—(AP)—E. W. Moore, a fully qualified attorney, was appointed prosecuting attorney in Hartford yesterday to succeed Barclay Robinson, who took up his duties today. He was sworn in yesterday by Judge John L. Bone.

WHITILESEY APPOINTED—Hartford, July 2.—(AP)—James M. Whitilesey of Morris, former commissioner of domestic animals, Tuesday was appointed inspector in the Dairy and Food department by Commissioner C. A. Warner.

TAKES NEW POST—Hartford, July 2.—(AP)—The Rev. Dr. Robbins W. Barstow, who succeeded the Rev. Dr. William Douglas Maclean as president of the Hartford Seminary Foundation, assumed his new duties here Tuesday.

TRACK STAR TO WED—New Canaan, July 2.—(AP)—Harold C. Cutbill of Boston, track star, will marry Miss Beatrice G. Schmidt of New Canaan, it was announced today by Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schmidt, the girl's parents.

BROTHER SENTENCED—New Haven, July 2.—(AP)—Pasquale Farillo, 22, today pleaded guilty in Superior Court to a charge of manslaughter for the fatal shooting of his brother, Michael, 25, last April 12. He was sentenced to from 1 to 5 years in state prison.

Michael was struggling for possession of a pistol when it was discharged, the bullet lodging in his abdomen. The next day he died and the wound had been self-inflicted.

The gun could not be found however and police started an investigation which resulted in Pasquale's indictment on a charge of murder in the first degree. He was allowed to plead guilty to a reduced charge today.

BANK REPORTS—Bridgeport, July 2.—(AP)—The three savings banks in this city increased their deposits by $6,514,808 as shown by reports today. In a year the total deposits in the three banks amounted to $70,109,394 and now total $76,624,203.

FOURTH VICTIMS—Bridgeport, July 2.—(AP)—Two more victims were added to the growing list of casualties in premature Fourth of July celebration today bringing to 16 the number of injured since Sunday.

Alfred and Herbert Sokol aged 12 and 11 respectively suffered powder burns on their faces and hands from an exploding firecracker and were treated at a hospital.

PUBLIC SERVICE TAXES—Hartford, July 2.—(AP)—Public service corporations will pay to the State of Connecticut this year in taxes $4,116,156 according to a certification made today by State Tax Commissioner W. H. Hodge. To State Treasurer Samuel E. Spencer.

The tax is due July 2 and payable on or before July 15 with the exception of the tax on motor bus companies which is payable semi-annual on August 15 and February 15.

The tax to be collected from the public service companies this year represents an increase of $108,662.17 over that collected last year when the amount totaled $3,967,593.83.

NOT IDENTIFIED

New Haven, July 2.—(AP)—New York detectives today failed to identify Jake Berger, alleged gangster held here on a charge of stealing an auto as the man wanted in New York city for murder.

Local authorities were notified yesterday that Berger was a murder suspect and his bail was boosted from $5,000 to $16,000. He went on trial in Superior Court this morning for the theft of a car from a Bronx drive-in company.

ITALY INCREASES ITS DUTY ON CARS

Americans Greatly Excited; Rates Jump 110 to 120 Per Cent.

Rome, July 2.—(AP)—The Italian government today, without previous notice, increased the import duty of automobiles between 110 and 120 per cent. Notice of the increase was published in the official gazette.

Foreign motor car manufacturers here, particularly the Americans, were thrown into great excitement by the new schedules.

The rates were published on June 28 but passed unnoticed by the public until the new schedule had been in effect 36 hours.

The unprecedented heavy customs duties were considered by agents of American manufacturers here as a form of retaliation against the new American tariff schedules.

Hits Small Cars.—The new rates were applied particularly to small cars. The average duty on Ford cars was increased from 18 to 24 per cent. The duty on Buick cars was raised from 18 to 24 per cent. The percentage on higher-priced cars was somewhat less. The highest priced model of one line for example, was covered with a tariff increase of from 25,000 lire to 33,000 lire.

The new schedule was in the form of a royal decree signed by the King, the premier and other heads of the government.

HAD BEEN FORECAST.—Detroit, July 2.—(AP)—Leaders in the automobile industry here generally accepted the announcement of the increased Italian tariff of motor cars as fulfillment of forecasts made during the discussion of the Hawley-Smoot bill.

Alvin Macaulay, president of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, while declining to discuss the probable effect on the industry, said that Italy "is not one of the biggest markets by any means" but that the increased tariff might be an encouragement to other countries to follow.

"But we have been doing that very thing ourselves with tariff increases," he added, "and I don't see how any one in this country can protest." He recalled that the recent American tariff measure had been adopted in the face of foreign protests.

STANDARD OIL CO. TELLS OF ASSETS

New York, July 2.—(AP)—The Standard Oil Company of New York, which in 1929 controlled nine-tenths of the business in petroleum products in New York State, has had one-third of the business, it was testified in the government's suit to enjoin a merger between Standard Oil and Vacuum Oil.

Goldwithe B. Dorr, counsel for the defendant companies, brought the testimony from Lawrence J. Cleary, of Rochester, N. Y., branch manager of the Standard Oil Company, during cross-examination.

It was in 1929 that the government won a decree dissolving the parent Standard Oil of New York.

Sharp Competition—Cleary was one of a succession of filling station operators who testified today. Each said that competition in the gasoline and oil business is sharp. That the retail gasoline is uniformly four cents more than the wholesale price and that fluctuations in price affect invariably and simultaneously all the companies of major importance.

Witnesses included John W. McCall of Brockton, Mass., L. S. Hall, of Concord, N. H., Maurice Williams of Syracuse, N. Y., Austin D. Martin of Buffalo, David F. Daley of Worcester, Mass., and Raymond M. King of Syracuse.

An cross-examination Hall was asked a length by Dorr about the activities of Shell Eastern, a subsidiary of the Royal Dutch Shell Company, which the defendant's counsel called "perhaps the largest producer of crude oil in the world."

PRINCETON, KENT, HENLEY WINNERS

Henley, England, July 2.—(AP)—America's top standard-bearer in the Henley regatta, Princeton's lightweight crew, won the Thames challenge cup for eight oared crews won their opening heats today as the Royal Henley Regatta got under way on the picturesque Thames.

Princeton University's lightweight crew was hard-pressed to win by a scant length from the Twickenham Rowing Club but the Kent School crew of Kent, Conn., easily defeated Sidney Sussex College of Cambridge University by two minutes.

Princeton's 150-pound oarsmen took a slight lead at the start only to have Twickenham quickly draw level. The crews raced on even terms as far as Fawley, the halfway mark, after which Princeton slowly drew away. The official times showed a bare 2 seconds between the shells.

Princeton's time of 7 minutes, 47 seconds was 2 seconds faster than that made by the Kent schoolboys in winning their heat but their opposition was considerably stronger.

A stiff head wind made the times of all races slow compared with the course record of 7 minutes, 6 seconds and one-fifth, which Princeton slowly drew away. The official times showed a bare 2 seconds between the shells.

CARS CRASH HEAD-ON AT TROLLEY CROSSING

Good Brakes Prevent Bad Smashup at Intersection Near Schaller Garage.

Six persons escaped injury here today when a touring car and truck collided head-on. It was a case of an out-of-town motorist being unfamiliar with a somewhat deceiving section of highway where other accidents had happened in the past.

The touring car containing four persons besides the driver is owned by James D'Angelo of 819 Rocky Hill avenue, New Britain. The truck led the scene before the name of the driver, said to be a Manchester man, could be obtained.

The accident occurred at the road intersection near Schaller's Garage on Center street. The driver of the car coming from Hartford was not familiar with the road at this section and mistook the turn. Instead of crossing the trolley tracks, he shot across to the left in front of an approaching automobile and before he had time to realize his error was at the point of crashing head on with the truck which was going toward Hartford.

The quick braking of both machines prevented what might have been a much more serious accident. The truck was able to continue under its own power without any delay to speak of while all the automobile was in a state of confusion. The bumper on the touring car was broken off by the impact. Five men and a woman were riding in the eastbound machine but none in either car was injured.

BARNES WILL FILED; GIVE NO FIGURES

White Plains, N. Y., July 2.—(AP)—No evidence of the reputed fortune amassed by William Barnes, former Republican politician of New York, who died at his home at Armonk a week ago, was contained in his will, filed for probate today.

The testament said its maker possessed no real property, but that he left personal property worth $50,000, a sum which was to be divided among the youngest living son of Thurlow Weed Barnes, son of the decedent, reaches the age of 40.

Thurlow Weed Barnes, of 63 Winn street, Belmont, Mass., was left 20 per cent of the estate; his three sons—William, Thurlow Weed, Jr., and Charles G., grandsons of William Barnes—each were left 10 per cent; and 10 per cent each was left to Landon Barnes, Nantucket island, Mass., son of the decedent; Clifford B. Fiers, brother of the late Mrs. Barnes, now at a sanatorium in Switzerland; Harriet McClosky, of Upland, Cal., sister of the late Mrs. Barnes; and Emerson McClosky, her son, also of Upland.

FOSTER IS INDICTED

Chicago, July 2.—(AP)—An indictment charging Frankie Foster, Chicago gunman, with the murder of Alfred "Jake" Lingle, Tribune reporter, was returned today by the Grand jury.

Immediate steps were taken for the extradition of the fugitive gunman, whose indictment was the first definite action in the wake of the assassination three weeks ago.

The indictment was returned after Coroner H. N. Funderburk and Peter von Frantz, sporting goods dealer, testified before the Grand Jurors. Von Frantz admitted he sold the pistol found beside Lingle's body to Foster.

Chicago authorities at once communicated with Los Angeles authorities to arrange an extradition hearing.

While Foster had not been accused previously as the actual killer, he was believed to have important information in connection with the slaying.

HOUSE AUTHORIZES PROBE CONTINUANCE

Washington, July 2.—(AP)—The House today adopted a resolution authorizing the continuation of the investigations of the Hoover law enforcement commission.

This makes it possible for the House to approve an amendment to the second deficiency bill to provide $250,000 for the commission's expenses for another year.

Authorization for the commission to continue operating for the next year having been granted, Chairman Wood of the appropriations committee was prepared to ask the House to disagree to the Senate amendment allotting $50,000 for the commission and to increase the amount to $250,000, besides appropriating $88,000 of an unexpended balance.

Under the resolution adopted, the commission's scope of inquiry into law enforcement would be unlimited, while the Senate amendment would confine it to prohibition.

ABOUT TOWN

Mrs. Dorothea Campbell of 46 Fairfield street entered St. Francis hospital today for an operation for appendicitis.

The young people of the Zion Lutheran church on Cooper street will hold a strawberry festival at the church this evening.

Women of the Nazarene church will omit their Thursday afternoon prayer meeting tomorrow as so many are attending the Nazarene camp meeting at North Redding, Mass.

The Sunshine Sewing Club will meet this evening at 7:30 with Mrs. George Fouts of 11 1-2 Trotter street.

National Guard Notes

The drill period last Monday night for the G Company consisted of 30 minutes of close order drill after which the men were given time off from drill to clean their rifles. With camp in the setting, the most important part of the daily instruction is the proper care of the Springfield rifle. Men must necessarily know this first duty of a soldier and as in the case with National Guard companies too much time cannot be given to learn the parts and operation of the soldier's rifle.

Former Sergeant Arthur Jobert of G Company, now of New Britain, recently passed a successful examination for 2nd Lieutenant.

Captain McVeigh, Lieut. Hagedorn and a number of the other members of the company will spend Sunday at Camp Devens acquainting themselves with the layout of the coming summer tour of camp duty.

Sergeant Ray Finn, Corporal Eddie Coran, Private Joe Tatchler, Francis Bober and Johnny Anderson of the Howitzer Company spent Sunday afternoon on the Keeneey street pistol range getting in some practice in advance of the other members of the company.

While record firing will not take place until after camp, small groups will spend time on the range when convenient doing the necessary practice firing.

Private James Thompson of the Howitzer Company is still confined to his home with blood poisoning. His buddies in the company give him their best wishes for a speedy recovery.

A station detail of G Company will meet at the Armory Thursday night and complete their work begun last week.

Corporal William Crockett whose enlistment recently expired filed out his re-enlistment papers Monday night. The boys of G Company are glad to have him back with them.

The Howitzer Company Association met after the drill Tuesday night and held a lengthy discussion in regard to camp details. The mess fund was reported in good condition for camp by the treasurer, First Sergeant Gustafson.

Frank Smith of Troop B. S. A. located at the north end was elected company mascot and will go to camp with the outfit.

Private, first class, Michael M. Rupacha spent Monday and Tuesday afternoon in New York City on business. He made the trip and from the metropolis by airplane.

Corporal Crockett of G Co. has been recommended for promotion to sergeant. It is expected the advancement to the next rank will soon come through.

Now that the lockers of G Co. have been rearranged in the squad room, a coat of enamel will be applied. It is expected that the rearrangement will find favor with the men.

Sergeant Ray Finn of the Howitzer company gave an exhibition of pack rolling and inspection layout at last night's drill. The new men in the company were particularly interested as it was their first opportunity to witness such a demonstration.

Supply Sergeant Alfred V. Phaneuf of the Howitzer company completed a one-year enlistment on June 30 and signed up again for one year on July 1.

Privates Burton Hagenow and Fred Mincieu completed three-year enlistments in the Howitzer company on June 30 and were discharged.

BETTERS ON JONES NOT ALARMED YET

None Have Received Their Money But They Are Convinced It Will Be Here Soon.

Although friends of Manchester people who invested money in a betting pool on the chances of Bobby Jones to win the British Open golf championship, have been justifying themselves considerably of late because the money they won has not yet arrived, those in close contact with the situation are not alarmed.

One prominent Manchester citizen said today that he saw no cause yet for alarm and was confident the whole affair was on the level. He pointed to the fact that it takes several days and often longer in such cases to straighten out the bookkeeping accounts, not to mention the trip across the Atlantic ocean which requires nearly a week.

Another interested party pointed to the fact that Bobby Jones himself started home only a few days after the tournament was over and only arrived today. He said he would not be alarmed if the money did not come for another week but thought it was likely to arrive the latter part of this week.

The South Wales, Parli-Mutual company of 41 Charles street, Cardiff, South Wales, was established in 1902 and is backed by the National Provincial Bank Ltd., of the same city. In a booklet quoting odds on various players who entered in the tournament, the company guaranteed to stand pat on its prices for all bets deposited on or before June 14. Manchester's $360 was in on time and at the 10 to 1 ratio nets $5,500.

COLONIAL BAKERY TO OPEN TOMORROW

After a week of alterations the Colonial Bakery on Main street, better known as the Downey/Bake Doughnut Shop, will open again for business tomorrow. The interior and exterior of the bakery have been redecorated in gold and blue green and the bake shop has been remodeled and completely equipped.

The Colonial will carry a complete line of bakery goods, cakes, doughnuts, and pastries. All goods will be baked on the premises, fresh, twice daily. A specialty will be made of hot rolls.

AMERICAN MOTHER ILL

Paris, July 2.—(AP)—Mrs. Jennie Landgraf, of Salem, Oregon, a member of the "H" party of Gold Star mothers, today was confined to the hotel at Lille following a heart attack.

Mrs. Landgraf, second mother of the party to go on the sick list, was stricken last night. She had visited her son's grave in Flanders. Her condition was described as "most immediately serious."

Mrs. Edwin Lange, of Oshkosh, Wisconsin, whose illness last week necessitated a blood transfusion, today was reported as improving steadily. She probably will be able to leave the American hospital in time to return home with her party.

SUNGEON DIES

Providence, July 2.—(AP)—Dr. Andrew J. McLaughlin, a native of Norwich, Conn., and surgeon at St. Joseph's hospital here for thirty years since his graduation from Columbia, died today. He was a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons.

12,000 MILITARY READY FOR CAMP

Boston, July 2.—(AP)—More than 12,000 military men assembled in eight military training camps in the New England area, it was reported today at the Corps Area headquarters here.

The number represents half of the men which is to receive such training during the summer.

The present season includes the students of the Citizens Military Training camps at Camp Devens, which is to receive such training during the summer.

One prominent Manchester citizen said today that he saw no cause yet for alarm and was confident the whole affair was on the level. He pointed to the fact that it takes several days and often longer in such cases to straighten out the bookkeeping accounts, not to mention the trip across the Atlantic ocean which requires nearly a week.

Another interested party pointed to the fact that Bobby Jones himself started home only a few days after the tournament was over and only arrived today. He said he would not be alarmed if the money did not come for another week but thought it was likely to arrive the latter part of this week.

The 12th Connecticut Cavalry will assemble at Norwich, Conn., this week. Rye Beach, N. H., will be the site of 47 officers and 637 men of the 197th coast artillery. The 6th Air Service, C. N. G., will encamp at Groton, Conn.

At Fort H. G. Wright, through of the season today in the 5th training of the first Yankee-Chicago camp. Byrd was on second watch. Ruth connected with Dutch Henry's delivery and the homer gave the Yankees a 5 to 0 lead.

RUTH WALLOPS ANOTHER HOMER

OVERWHELMING LEAD FOR P. O. AT CENTER

Chamber Vote Shows 276 for Central Site and Only 10 Against the Proposal.

Nearly half of the 650 questionnaires mailed out in the Chamber of Commerce survey regarding the location of a centrally located post office at the center of the town, returned with 276 in favor of the plan and with ten against, by this morning's mail.

In a discussion of the plan for a post office, centrally located, west of the town, the speakers of the morning proclaimed themselves as decidedly in favor of it. The question, they felt, is a matter of more concern to the outside sections of the town than to the people living in the more thickly populated areas.

In the more thickly populated areas, there are three incoming and three outgoing mails each day if the letters are addressed to Buckland. If addressed to South Manchester they are also received on the same day by the R. F. D. carrier.

Should a business house of Manchester or elsewhere decide to send a letter to a person in Buckland and use the number of a house on Adams street, Manchester, it is likely to take four or five days before it arrives at its proper destination.

The condition existing at Manchester Green is one that could easily be overcome by having a truck carrying Manchester's Green mail, and in this way prevent long delays in getting mail to this section.

These troubles, the residents of the outlying districts claim, would be eliminated if there were a central post-office which would serve as a clearing house for mail in all sections of Manchester.

WAPPING

Mrs. Lillian Stone and daughters Vivian and Doris of South Manchester were recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Frink last Friday.

Robert Pobuda of 319 West Preston street, Hartford suffered a laceration of the scalp and other injuries late last Friday afternoon on the Ellington Road, near the Pleasant Valley Mill, when his car was struck by one driven by H. E. Worden of 387 Woodland street.

According to a report by State Policeman C. E. Shaw of the Hartford barracks who investigated, Worden's car skidded and turned around in making a curve, went across the other side of the road, and struck the Pobuda car, Worden was ordered to appear in the Superior Court Saturday to answer to charges of reckless driving.

Pobuda was taken to Dr. Andrew Taylor for treatment and then to his home in Hartford.

Mr. Howard, Mrs. Blanche Bierce, Mrs. Clifford Bloomer, and two young daughters, all of Salisbury Conn., called on their cousin, Mrs. Emily Howd while she was the guest of her cousin, Miss Kate M. Wilfong, Thursday.

Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Frink were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lawrence of West Hartford and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shedd of East Springfield, Mass.

Miss Etta Nevers of Hartford spent the week-end at the home of her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stead.

Mrs. Harold Scagel of Hartford spent the past two weeks at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Nevers. Mr. Scagel spent the week-end there also.

Last Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Frink entertained the following guests from Springfield, Mass., Charles Prescott, Mrs. Lida E. Huntley and daughter Myrtle and grandson Harold, also Mrs. Frink's father, Frederick C. Easton.

Mrs. Ralph Lasberry, Jr., and young son, Ralph Lasberry the Sr., returned to their bungalow on the Pleasant Valley Road, last week from the Hartford hospital.

TANAGER FOUND

Hamilton, Bermuda, July 2.—(AP)—R. M. Runyon's yacht Tanager arrived here this forenoon, four days overdue.

The Tanager, which left New London, Conn., June 22 with 41 other yachts, was the only entry in the 600 mile race to Bermuda that failed to finish.

The Tanager reached port at 11:46 o'clock this morning.

The craft is a 52 foot ship, Paul M. Runyon of Edgartown, Mass., is the owner. With him aboard were his cousin, Ralph C. Rankin of Port Washington, L. I., two friends and a seaman.

The Malabar was the winner of the class A division of the recent race to Bermuda with Taragran second. The Malay won in Class B with Darade second.

At the end of the race, when the last yacht had reported, no fears were felt for the Tanager. However, anxiety arose as the day went by. Navigation to Bermuda is considered a difficult feat as the islands are small and it requires exact shaping of a course to avoid missing the group.

ROAD WASHED OUT

Danbury, July 2.—(AP)—A heavy rainfall at Gaylordsville, 25 miles north of this city, caused a mudout in the roadbed of the New Haven road yesterday afternoon. A crew of workmen was sent from here to repair the damage.

HUNTERS PASS HOUR NO. 500 GOING STRONG

message delivered by radio through the medium of her mother yesterday, in which she expressed worry over their speech and health.

The note read: "What do you say 'Boy'? (Mabelle's nickname). Who don't know how to break a record? Well we have close to 500 hours and the motor's running fairly good yet. I don't know how much longer it will last. Beans, (Kenneth) is fretting and wants to come down at 5:20 hours but I want to stay up till Monday.

"It has been tough but nothing like the other flight. We are feeling fine, although Beans is getting pretty sleepy.

"We go out and work on that old motor as if it were on the ground. But I did go out on the motor this morning at 2 o'clock and put a new breaker in the magneto.

"Now don't go worrying about us because we are all right. We can still talk and to prove it we will all come down and make a big speech for you."

NEAR 500 MARK Chicago, July 2.—(AP)—Two Spartans—the Hunters from Sparta, Illinois—stood today at the Thermopole of the wild tide of time and mechanical facilities like Leonidas and his three hundred of old, Kenneth and John Hunter at 2:40 a. m. C.S.T., zoomed successfully past their 491st hour slot—nine hours away from the coveted half thousand.

The engine purred an indignant retort to reports that the flight of the "City of Chicago" would end shortly. Earlier, at a conference of the refueling ship "Big Ben" with others interested in the flight disclosed that three cylinders of the endurance planes motor which had not been getting oil for three days and had been fitted with new pipes and were now working smoothly.

Ship in Good Shape The refueling ship was also pronounced in good shape, but as a precautionary measure the Hunter brothers of the ground said a new plane had been ordered in readiness for the Stinson plant in case the "Big Ben" should go awry.

Among the messages received yesterday was one from Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh who said when he was "Slim" and an air mail pilot, barnstormed several times with the Hunter brothers.

The mark of 500 hours held no satisfaction for the brother pilots—now that they have surpassed by scores of hours the record of Dale Jackson and Forest O'Brien, set at 430 hours plus in the "St. Louis Robin."

The Spartans have repeatedly declared they would be aloft until the Fourth of July at least.

each. Tilden replied with a love game that made it 3-all. Again Borotra went ahead and Big Bill replied with a love game on service.

But the Frenchman would not be denied the set and won it at 6-4.

The Fourth Set Tilden had things all his own way in the fourth set. He quickly gained a 4-0 lead, Basia up on the speed of his service. Borotra lost the fifth and the sixth games, hitting almost every shot outside the lines and giving Tilden a love set.

Borotra began the fifth set fiercely winning his opening service from deuce.

Tilden won the second game of the final set during which one of his cannonball aces toppled a linesman off his stool. Borotra won the next game to lead at 2-1. He then crashed Tilden's service for a 3-1 lead.

The critical ninth game of the final set went to 30-all and Tilden finally took the game giving him a lead of 5-4. The Frenchman then squandered his lead and Big Bill made it 6-5, winning the eleventh from 15. On his own service Tilden stood 15-15, 15-30, 30-all, 40-30 and then made it game, set and match.

POLICE COURT

Frank Hays of Hartford, 22 years old, was before the Manchester Town Court this morning for driving without a license. After the police had investigated his case, prosecuting Attorney Hathaway asked for a continuance of the case until Saturday morning.

The registration that he carried did not tally with the engine number of his car. He could not give a satisfactory explanation of the discrepancy and the case was therefore continued to give the police a chance to investigate.

Evelyn McKay of 80 Garvin street, East Hartford paid a fine of $10 and costs for driving without a license. She was arrested by Patrolman John Cavanaugh.

AUTO DRIVERS FINED

Norwich, July 2.—(AP)—Two automobile drivers were fined from original liability for fatal accidents by Coroner McKay today.

W. C. Kendall of Norwich was found blameless for the death of Helen Nawrocki, six of Yantic which occurred on June 26. The same finding was returned in the case of Roscoe Doyle of Stonington who struck and killed George Gilchrist, a shoemaker of Stonington on June 14.

GUS WALTZ TO RETURN TO CROSS-TOWN LINE

Bids in for Bus Between Square and South End; Other Changes Are Due.

After an absence of little more than a year, during which he has piloted a trolley run between South Manchester and Hartford, Gus Waltz, dean of local trolley men, will return to his first and only love, the cross-town line, next Sunday, as most of the selections for runs have already been completed by trolley and bus employees of the Connecticut Company. However, one thing will be lacking to make the triumph of his return complete—the trolley.

For when Gus comes back, it will not be as a motorman, but as a bus driver, handling a run during the day.

Several of the selections for runs are subject to change with the tearing up or discontinuation of the Rockville to Hartford line, in the future. Daniel Sweeney, one of the oldest of the conductors, will once again be able to sleep in Rockville, his home town, which he has been unable to do but rarely during his long service with the road. He takes one of the positions as collector on the cars leaving Hartford and coming as far as Main and Burnside avenue in East Hartford. His motor car, Al Gilman, who has been on the Rockville line, returns to a motorman's job on the South Manchester-Hartford line.

Only a few changes will take place on the South Manchester line. No change will be made on the Manchester Green runs during the day, McGorry still retaining that run. Charles Howard has the relief on the cross-town line and Manchester Green line at present. Henry Sladen, who in the last bid took the Manchester Green night run, remains on the same. The night man has not yet been announced. The new runs will go into effect next Sunday.

Members of Mary Bushnell Cheney auxiliary are reminded of the meeting this evening at the State Armory, which will be the last one for the season.

Mrs. Harry Fuller of Alton street who was taken ill with acute appendicitis while visiting her cousin yesterday at Manchester Green, was operated upon during the night and is as comfortable as can be expected.

Miss Hilda Nielson and Miss Florence Gee of the State Theater force, Miss Irene Gee and Miss Katie Todd are spending their two weeks' vacation at the "Griff-Inn," Point O' Woods beach.

Mrs. Thomas Peckenham entertained the Philadelphia club at her home on Elro street last evening. Mrs. Florence Treadwell won first honors. Mrs. John Donahue second and Mrs. Elizabeth Oida, consolation. Everybody enjoyed the evening, during the course of which a drawing took place on a pair of embroidered pillow cases donated to the club by Miss Margaret Donnell.

Mrs. James H. McVeigh drew the lucky number. Next week Tuesday evening the club is planning to conduct a large whist and set back for both men and women at the Highland Park Community club-house. Twelve prizes will be given and refreshments served, all at a nominal fee.

Jack and George May, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. John May of 60 Bigelow street, left today for a two weeks' vacation at the camp of the Y. M. C. A. camp in Woodstock.

All women interested will be welcome to attend the meeting of the Law Enforcement committee, to be held this evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. C. W. Holman, Robinson street, Hartford.

John Learned, who has been assistant to Austin Cheney, superintendent of the Production division of Cheney Brothers, will leave the middle of this month for a European trip. Upon his return Mr. Learned will be located at Cheney Brothers New York office in an executive capacity.

Francis G. Lee, who has been on the Manchester High school faculty since this morning for Portland, Me., and will return to Manchester late in August to move his household goods to his new location, Paterson, N. J.

There are more firework stands in a short distance on North Main street than in any other part of the town. Starting from a point in front of the house occupied by James Foley until North school street is reached fireworks can be bought at four different places.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hennequin of Division street, Mrs. Raymond Finnegan and daughter Joan of West street, and Mrs. George Armstrong and son George of Norman street are spending a few days at Crystal Lake, Mr. Finnegan and Mr. Armstrong will spend the holiday and week-end with their families.

Mrs. J. B. Carlson of 192 Woodbridge street who has been confined to her room for the past month, received a pleasant surprise yesterday afternoon when a party of her associates in the Ladies Aid society called on her at her home. They brought with them all the essentials for a dainty lunch and spent a pleasant time together.

Sunday school teachers of the Swedish-Lutheran church will hold an important meeting at 8 o'clock this evening at the church, when final plans will be made for the Sunday school year.

FOE OF STALIN RECANTS VIEWS BEFORE LEADER

was that in the struggle against the party line I attempted, in conversations with many party members, to represent Stalin as the person chiefly responsible for the situation created within the party.

"Comrade Stalin proved, during his management of the party, that he is deservedly the leader and a firm follower of Lenin. I declare solemnly, before the Sixteenth Congress, that I repudiate and decisively condemn all of my former mistakes and activities.

"Henceforth I will try, as a loyal Bolshevik, to correct these mistakes and take a most active part in the struggle against the activities and ideology of the Right Wing.

Ugarian admitted frankly that he formerly opposed the policy of the party on development of state and collective farms, believing the solution of the country's grain difficulties rested chiefly in development of individual farms and in preserving Kulak farms.

His Confession. "Therefore I struggled against the increased assault against the capitalist elements of village and towns. I did not believe in quick development of state and collective farms and opposed severe measures against the Kulak. I did not believe in the possibility of executing the rapid industrialization program prescribed by the party. I believed the tempo must be adapted to the level of development of individual farms. I fought against the party's policies but now admit these policies were right and led not to a weakening but to the consolidation of the Communist movement abroad."

Only a few changes will take place on the South Manchester line. No change will be made on the Manchester Green runs during the day, McGorry still retaining that run. Charles Howard has the relief on the cross-town line and Manchester Green line at present. Henry Sladen, who in the last bid took the Manchester Green night run, remains on the same. The night man has not yet been announced. The new runs will go into effect next Sunday.

Members of Mary Bushnell Cheney auxiliary are reminded of the meeting this evening at the State Armory, which will be the last one for the season.

Mrs. Harry Fuller of Alton street who was taken ill with acute appendicitis while visiting her cousin yesterday at Manchester Green, was operated upon during the night and is as comfortable as can be expected.

Miss Hilda Nielson and Miss Florence Gee of the State Theater force, Miss Irene Gee and Miss Katie Todd are spending their two weeks' vacation at the "Griff-Inn," Point O' Woods beach.

profits and within the last few years the French have adopted a construction of an act passed in 1927 which imposes an additional 10 per cent on the dividends declared by French corporations which are subsidiaries of foreign corporations. This made a total of 47 per cent tax on foreign corporations on the amount of business and dividends done in France.

At the meeting it was said Mr. Mills had gone to Europe on a two months vacation and that he would be in Paris probably only one day. He intended to visit Mr. Mills there and proceed to the Mediterranean where he has chartered a yacht for a cruise. It was suggested that Mr. Mills would even meet any of the higher officials.

Mr. Mills is aboard the Bremer liner, the Bremen, which is expected to arrive in New York next Sunday.

TO STOP FIGHTS ENDING IN FOULS

N. Y. Boxing Commission Legalizes Protection That Will Withstand Hard Blow

New York, July 2—(AP)—The N. Y. State Athletic Commission today adopted a ruling eliminating fouls as possible endings of future bouts in this state. Hereafter boxers will be permitted to devise their own protection with the approval of the commission, eliminating any right to claim foul.

The commission incorporated the following clause in their contracts: "The parties of the first and second part agree to equip themselves with an abdominal guard of their own selection, the type to be approved by the commission, which will obviate the necessity of any foul claim being made during the contest. It is expressly understood this contest is not to be terminated by a foul. As protectors selected by the boxers in their own opinion to be sufficient protection to withstand any so-called low or illegal blow which might temporarily incapacitate either or both parties."

NEW MEXICAN PLOT

Mexico City July 2—(AP)—The government announced that a plot similar to that by which Chihuahua was involved last week, has been frustrated in Guadalajara. After plans of the leaders became known, the investigators were arrested, the report said.

PASTOR IS SILENT ON BOOZE CHARGE

New Britain, July 2—(AP)—Rev. Peter J. Pashkiewicz, pastor of St. Mary's Ukrainian Church who was indicted for perjury by a New York Grand Jury yesterday in connection with the withdrawal of wine for sacramental use, was loath to make a statement concerning the case, he said here today. He declared however that if he was involved, many others were involved.

Tells of Church
The church of which he is pastor, he said, is independent of Bishop Charles Mreznik of the Czecho-Slovakian-Orthodox Catholic church in the United States, having broken away some time ago when it had difficulties with the bishop. Rev. Pashkiewicz denied that he had ever acted as the bishop's secretary, saying that he had merely translated several letters for the prelate. He has been pastor here for a year and a half.

St. Mary's Parish is numerically small. It operates a meat market and grocery store as a means of obtaining funds.

STATE'S WATER CASE

Hartford, July 2—(AP)—A tentative agreement has been made by counsel for the State of Connecticut and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts in the procedure to be followed in the steps to be taken in the water diversion case of Connecticut against Massachusetts.

Connecticut, if possible, will prepare by July 20 its exceptions to report of special master Charles W. Egan of St. Paul, Minn.

TO SUE FATHER

Los Angeles, July 2—(AP)—An affidavit by Mrs. Ruth Mix Gilmore setting forth alleged promises made by her father, Tom Mix, cowboy film star, was on file today in Mrs. Gilmore's suit to prevent Mix from discontinuing the payment of $250 a month for her support.

Troop 3 Banquet

Troop 3, Boy Scouts of the Center Congregational Church concluded a most successful year with a banquet at the Masonic Temple on Friday evening.

After the banquet there was a varied program, opening with colors, at which time the troop was presented with a new all-American flag, the gift of William C. Cheney, Scouts Gilman, Strong, Richmond and A. S. M. Lynn were presented with second class pins by I. L. Joslin of the Troop committee.

Fourteen merit badge scouts hold a total of more than 200 badges. Eagle Scout Gould heading the list with 48. During the year Stuart Joslin had the outstanding scoutcraft record, advancing from a First Class Scout to that of a Life Scout, earning 18 Merit badges.

Class rank. Scout Dimock, a tenderfoot in January advanced to First-Class with six Merit badges. Scout Carpenter joined the troop in November and advanced to First Class with eight Merit badges.

Following the business meeting Mrs. David McComb entertained with several humorous readings dealing with boys, and a group of scouts put on a stunt.

Elmer Thiens, Camp Woodstock director, spoke to the troop on the values and opportunities of camping, putting forth a real message to the boys.

A report of the Scoutmaster showed the troop to be in a very excellent condition. There is an enrollment of 29 active scouts which includes two Eagle Scouts, two Life Scouts and four Star Scouts, together with five First Class Scouts, nine Second Class and Seven Tenderfoot.

At a meeting of the Troop Committee J. R. Braithwaite resigned as chairman after three years service. Franklin Dexter was elected to succeed him as chairman and it is expected that under his supervision a more extensive hiking and camping program will be carried on.

Ticket agent murdered
Elizabeth, N. J., July 2—(AP)—J. F. Northrup, 50, ticket agent at the Elmora station of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, was slain early today as he stepped from the porch of his boarding house, a block from the station.

He was carrying a money bag containing an undetermined sum. It was found nearby containing a considerable amount of change, and apparently had not been opened.

is expected that many will attend camp. For those who do not go to camp, Mr. Dexter will conduct an overnight hike on the week-end of July 19. In August Mr. Wheaton will be in charge of another overnight week-end camp, the exact time and destination to the announced later.

HINDUS CONTINUE BOMBAY'S BOYCOTT

Bombay, July 2—(AP)—The second day of the "Boycott Week" against British goods resulted in noisy demonstrations today and again in the hartal, or cessation of work.

Bombay students led large demonstrations in Hornby road, where huge crowds collected and besieged English-owned stores tonight. Europeans returning home after office hours were insulted and jeered, and persons mistaken for members of the Criminal Investigations Department were mobbed.

A theater syndicate owning six motion picture places and one legitimate theater joined the hartal, cancelling today's shows. It was estimated that more than 50 per cent. of the cotton mills were idle, and the hartal spread to other activities. The government, meanwhile continued to war against civil disobedience leaders in other parts of India. At Allahabad Pandit Motilal Nehru, president of the All-India Congress working committee, and Dr. B. K. Mukherjee, the secretary, were sentenced to six months simple imprisonment each for their civil resistance activity.

Police at Delhi arrested six Nationalist volunteers and four farmers in a nearby village charging them under the unlawful instigation ordinance, which forbids instigation to non-payment of taxes. Martial law was lifted from Sholapur, where serious disturbances occurred recently, but the government prohibited display of Congress flags for two months.

THE NEW TEXACO MOTOR OIL LONGER-LASTING, "CRACK-PROOF"

THE Texas Company again demonstrates its leadership in the petroleum field with the introduction of a vastly superior, new product—a motor oil that lasts longer—that is crack-proof—a motor oil that meets exactly every requirement of the high speed automobile engine of today! This new oil revolutionizes lubrication values as completely as the new and better Texaco Gasoline, the original "dry" gas, revolutionized motor fuels in the Spring of 1926.

An Oil Without Precedent
There have been oils that gave remarkable mileage. There have been oils that flowed freely at zero. There have been oils that kept your engine completely free of wax and carbon troubles. But—never until now have all these advantages been combined in any one single lubricant. That motor oil is ready for you today. It is the new Texaco—longer-lasting and crack-proof. Road tests—laboratory tests have proved it.

Available in all our 48 States
Fill your crankcase with this new crack-proof motor oil today. It will more than pay you, not only in greater value for your lubrication dollar but for your car dollar as well. It is manufactured in five grades: C, D, E, F, and G, corresponding in body to Society of Automotive Engineers (S. A. E.) viscosity ratings. 30¢ a quart everywhere (35¢ for grade G).

THE TEXAS COMPANY
Refiners of a complete line of Texaco Petroleum Products including Gasoline, Motor Oil, Industrial Lubricants, Railroad and Marine Lubricants, Farm Lubricants, Road Asphalt and Asphalt Roofing.

Intrigue Centered About Vacant Throne Of Hungary Threatens Peace in Balkans

Prince Otto, Now 18, Reared to Believe He Will Be King, May Attempt to Duplicate Coup of King Carol.

By MILTON BRONNER.

London.—The easy-going opera success of the coup d'état whereby King Carol II came back to Rumania and became its king, has aroused the hopes of those who would see young Otto Hapsburg on the throne of Hungary. It has also given birth to a wild series of rumors in that gossip shop which is known as Budapest, and has set adrift the nerves of statesmen in Prague and Belgrade, and has had answering echoes in Rome, Paris and London.

For just as nature abhors a vacuum, so royalists hate a vacant throne. And that of Hungary has been empty for 12 years, with nobody but the Regent, Admiral Horthy, acting as chair-woman. The bosses of today's truncated Hungary, Horthy and Premier Bethlen, have said the question of a king is not at present a live one. But Budapest refuses to believe it.

Prince Otto, left, son of the last rulers of the Austro-Hungarian empire, will be of legal age next November to take over the vacant throne of Hungary. Archduke Albrecht, right, one-time claimant of the throne, has renounced his chances and sworn allegiance to Otto.

For living over in Castle Steersacker near Brussels, Belgium, and attending the University of Louvain, there is a young Hapsburg, Otto by name, who will be 18 next November. And when he attains the eighteenth year, by the law of the Hapsburg family, he will be of age. Furthermore, he is the son of the late Emperor Karl and Empress Zita, the last rulers of the old Austro-Hungarian empire, and he has been reared by his mother in the belief that some day he is to be King of Hungary.

Stranger things have happened than Mussolini winking his other eye, while the royalists of Hungary try to present Europe overnight with an accomplished fact. Otto at 18 next November might take a chance at it.

The powder barrels are stored once more all over the Balkan lot. Any spark might set them ablaze. Wherefore, next winter once again may be a critical period for the peace of the old world.

Enemies Favored Cousin.—Those who believe in kings for Hungary have always been divided into two camps—those who were for Otto and those who were against him. Until recently the anti-Otto crowd pinned all its hopes on the Archduke Albrecht, a cousin of Otto, and one of the wealthiest nobles in his part of the country. They paraded him all over the country last year and everywhere he received flattering receptions. But, alas for their plans, they counted without the human heart and human desires.

Albrecht was never keen on a doubtful kingship and he was very keen on the heart and hand of a Hungarian lady. He hopes to marry her when she gets a divorce. With him it will be a case of the world well lost for love and the quiet life. In the meantime, he thought he would take a trip to South America and get just as far away from Hungarian kings as possible. But before he could do so, he took a very radical step. He stopped off in Belgium, saw his young cousin and swore allegiance to him. So out went Albrecht and the anti-Otto crowd were left high and dry.

But, according to the Budapest gossip, they have a second string to their bow. It is nothing else than working for a dual kingdom to be composed of Rumania and Hungary. Under the treaty of Trianon huge slices of what was once territory governed by Hungary were given to Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and Rumania. In the great Transylvanian wheat plain, which was given to Rumania, there are hundreds of thousands of Hungarians who would like to be rejoined to their own land. A dual kingdom, with Carol as king of each country and with each country having its own parliament and its own laws, would solve the problem.

That alone is a beautiful dish of gossip, even for Budapest. But those who oppose this little scheme and hope to see Otto on their throne, have an equally nice little plan. It is to bring Austria and Hungary, which were once the dominant partners in the old Austro-Hungarian monarchy, together once again. According to them, the first step would be to unite the two countries commercially, by beating down the tariff walls between them and making them one commercial entity. Then they would seat Otto on the throne of Hungary.

The Fascist Heimwehr might overturn the Austrian republic and give Otto the Austrian throne as well. They say this would solve most of Austria's problems. At the same time, if the Allies would let her, but both France and Italy vetoed that. France did not want to see Germany gain in the east what she had lost in the west, when Alsace and Lorraine once more became French. Italy did not want to have Germany facing her on the Alpine frontiers.

The Budapest gossip says France and Italy would probably be content to have Austria join Hungary, as that would put out of question any dangers of Austria trying to join Germany. But they are counting without their Europe. The Allies, after the war, made it plain that they would not allow Hapsburg to mount any throne in eastern Europe. And even if France and Italy were willing, the succession states of Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia would not be Threat of War.

For them, a Hapsburg on the throne of Hungary would mean war. It would be doubly so if he had the double throne of Austria and Hungary. Nor would they see with any friendly eye any attempt to unite Hungary and Rumania under one monarch. It would mean a big dominant state in the Balkans. It would upset the balance of power. So the chances of Otto mounting a throne

HISTORIC LOST STATE'S CAPITAL WILL CELEBRATE PRIVATE WEALTH OF BRITAIN POURS INTO PUBLIC PURSE

Jonesboro, Tenn.—(AP)—Jonesboro, oldest town west of the Appalachian divide and capital of the lost state of Franklin, will share its glamorous memories at its sesquicentennial celebration July 4 and 5.

The 1,024 residents of the town are preparing for thousands of visitors. Here the state of Franklin was organized in 1784, only to return to its mother state of North Carolina in 1788.

Here lived John Sevier, the "Noll-chucky Jack" idolized by frontiersmen, and here Andrew Jackson was admitted to the bar and on a nearby hillside fought his bloodless duel with William Avery.

Not long before 1770 a roving hunter built a cabin on Little Limestone creek where Jonesboro nestles among the hills. Other frontiersmen followed and in 1777 the pioneers formed Washington county.

The group of cabins on Little Limestone was chosen as the county seat and a rude courthouse was built. It was called "Washington Court House" until 1779, when the North Carolina general assembly authorized the laying out of "Jonesborough."

Pioneers flocked to the new town. Nearby was the home of Sevier, who from Jonesboro led his riflemen in reprisal raids against the Cherokee Indians.

Sevier became governor of Franklin when it was organized. North Carolina had ceded its western territory to the federal government, but congress was slow to accept. The border country, thrown on its own resources, set up its own government and named it for Benjamin Franklin.

But the infant state, crippled by disension and harassed from without, crumbled. Finally in 1796 it was admitted to the union as Tennessee. Jonesboro's Sevier again was chosen governor.

Rep. John Q. Tilson of Connecticut, majority leader in the house, will be the principal speaker at the celebration. He is a native of this county.

GAIN REPRESENTATIVES

Washington, July 2—(AP)—California and Michigan, fulfilling Census Bureau predictions that they would be the greatest gainers in the 1930 enumeration, are in a position to estimate on an increased representation in the House.

In reapportionment bill hearings, California was tentatively scheduled for six additional representatives; Michigan for four.

This was on a hypothetical 1930 population of 4,794,000 for the west coast state; 4,788,000 for the commonwealth divided by the great lakes.

Actual returns, however, showed California out-climbing the early Census Bureau estimates, by a greater total than Michigan.

Reporting a population of 5,842,282, a 64.4 per cent gain, California exceeded her predicated 1930 population by 848,282.

Michigan, totalling 4,816,371, a 31.8 per cent increase, exceeded the estimate by 22,371.

The estimated 1930 ratio of population per representative was 280,780.

From Roof To Cellar

Roofs of homes are too often neglected—out of sight, out of mind, is certainly true. And then some day the rain beats through, ruining costly decorations, walls, etc. But then a roof in poor condition mars the entire appearance of a home. Modern roofing is smart, colorful, good to look upon. In the Clean-Up, Paint-Up and Fix-Up effort, do not overlook the roof of your home, as you start overhauling from "top to bottom."

NATIONAL AIR LAWS

Twenty-five years ago when those who drove automobiles were subjected to the cry, "Get a horse" and frequently were compelled to accept that advice—we were unable to foresee the congestion that is ours today.

We are now entering the same problem of unpreparedness with the airplane. We laughed when the Wrights were experimenting back in 1903.

We are now entering the same problem of unpreparedness with the airplane. We laughed when the Wrights were experimenting back in 1903.

is that they are "local" or "state," not national. That's the trouble with our automobile regulations—they are municipal, local, state, not national. We ought to do better with the air laws.

NO IMPROVEMENT

They have changed prohibition heads in New York city. The new one announces that he expects cooperation by the city police. He will not get it. So that's that. From Iowa City comes the announcement by Frank J. Loesch of Chicago, a member of the President's Law Enforcement Commission, that "if transfer of the Prohibition enforcement to the Department of Justice does not improve conditions some modification of the 18th amendment must be considered."

There will be no perceptible difference in Iowa City, New York, Manchester, or any other spot in this broad country of ours. Officials will continue to be corrupted. Others will become disgusted and resign in order to retain some semblance of self respect. Here and there a place will be padlocked but the seven others nearby will continue to dispense had intoxicants. Rum runners will keep right on running 'til. Hi-jackers will continue to kill. The control of the booze racket will remain with the crooks and the bootleggers and not with the Department of Justice any more than it has been in the past with the Treasury Department. It is an impossible situation, one that the transfer of responsibility from one government department to another has not and will not solve.

Mr. Loesch, who was addressing the Commonwealth Conference at the University of Iowa, when he made the above quoted statement, continued to make very clear that he, himself, sees no hope for the proper enforcement of the Volstead amendment. "Wagons loaded to capacity with barrels of beer and cases of liquor could not pass from one state to another without being seen if it were not for the blinding effect of bribery on corrupted officials. If the states will not aid the Federal government in enforcing the Eighteenth amendment and laws passed to enforce it, I know no way to compel them to do so."

Mr. Loesch, it is pointed out by other members of the National Commission on Law Observance and Enforcement, is speaking for himself and not for the Commission. He is also speaking for others who are not totally blinded by fanaticism.

NO MORE FOULS

The Pennsylvania Boxing Commission has come right out with a sure cure for fouling in prize fights. It is an unnecessary gesture due to a desire for publicity. The suckers will continue to patronize properly hallyhooped prize fights, fous and all. The fight fan is a glutton for punishment, which distinguishes him from those in the ring. But the Pennsylvania Boxing Commission advances the proposition that: "In case of a foul where the injured party cannot continue that fight there will be a return bout where each patron with a foul check can see the next contest upon the payment of $1 or $1.50, to cover the extra expenses incurred, and the lighter guilty of the foul will have to pay 25 per cent of his purse to the recipient of the foul."

Admittedly this is a step in the right direction. But it has its weak points. The date of the return bout should be advertised at the same time the date for the fouling bout is made public. Lots of fight fans might have other engagements for the second night if that should be left indefinite. A fight fan might object to giving up a date for a poker party, where he would stand a chance for his wife alley, for the second session of a park fight. All promoters should be compelled to advertise something like this: "Preliminary foul fight between Bellowing Bill and Bulling Bum, 10 rounds, July 10. One foul allowed. Second meeting, no fouls, July 14. Save both dates. Seats for first take $22.50. For second only $15.00."

That would help. But our own solution is the only one. It guarantees the whole job in one night and no fouls. In place of the traditional flag about the loins each fighter will wear an aluminum plate studded with spikes. The sucker that will not then be obliged to save two nights for one junk fight and the fighters will be forced to dig up some new excuse for lying down. Besides it will save promoters the cost of printing foul checks.

WHAT OF THE FUTURE?

It has taken a man who was blind for thirty years and suddenly and miraculously recovers his sight to make plans to use the progress that has been made in that comparatively short period of time. He has a tremendous story to tell and a tremendous story to tell.

that happened here. But the agency that served them, Ed and his bride owned a "big boy" built for two. He looks in vain for one. In its stead he sees young people racing along in runabouts. He is unable to adjust his understanding to the motor trucks and limousines. The Wrights had not begun their flying experiments when he lost the power of vision. Imagine his feelings as he watched forty army planes flying in formation. Nineteen stories was the highest building he had ever seen until a few days ago. He is still unable to adjust himself to women's changing fashions which is nothing surprising considering the effect on those whose eyesight has been good for that period of time.

He has been transported into a new realm created by the genius and magic of those of his own day and generation but which until a few days ago he had not been privileged to see. To us it has been gradual, the natural progress of events, each new development requiring merely a momentary comparison. To him it has come in a bunch. No wonder that he is staggered. One wonders what our reaction would be thirty years hence were we to be unfortunate enough to undergo his misfortune for thirty years and then be blessed with a return to our full complement of senses. Perhaps his experience would be a minor one compared to what we would face. We believe it would be.

ONE OF THOSE THINGS

We are not just sure whether the Democrats can attribute the withdrawal of the Hartford and Pittsfield clubs from the Eastern League to Hoover's policies or not. But we are certain that it was because fully as many Democrats as Republicans failed to support the team. Men who will travel a hundred miles to watch a big league baseball game will not go a block to witness a game between minor league teams. It is just as true today as it was when Worcester tried several times to support a team. Some small places will turn out 1,200 people several times a week to watch semi-pro teams play in local twilight leagues after dismal failures by the same towns to support teams in minor leagues. It's just one of those things that doesn't yield to explanation. They do or they don't. There's no rhyme or reason to it.

PRINCE PREDICTS ROCKET AIRPLANES

Madrid—(AP)—Prince Alfonso of Spain, cousin to the King and veteran aviator—he has flown longer and more than any members of a royal family—predicted to the Associated Press in an exclusive interview before very many years, jet-propelled rockets and rockets will be used across the Atlantic in three hours.

Prince Alfonso, whose Spanish title is Infante of Orleans and Bourbon, was a passenger on the Zeppelin recent flight to South and North America. The first of his rank to cross the Atlantic by air. "The dirigible has added much to man's conquest of the skies," he said, "and for the next few years it would seem that lighter than air craft have an advantage over planes for long hops."

"But I believe the time will come, and perhaps not so far distant, when rocket flights will be made between Europe and America in three hours."

First Prince to Fly

The infants was the first European prince to fly. He began learning to fly in 1910 in France, and since 1910 has almost daily been in the air. He was one of the organizers of the Spanish Army Air Service, in which he carries the grade of director of training.

Slightly more than forty, tall, slim, blond, in appearance more a northern European than a Latin, English-schooled, widely traveled, and facile in half a dozen modern languages as in his own Spanish, he is foiled in the Spanish Army air force, not because he is a prince, but because he has flown more and knows more about flying than most men in it.

Is Air-Minded

He is as air-minded as Lindbergh himself. His library at reception room of his Madrid palace are cluttered with the periodicals and books of aviation from all over the world. He has three sons, the oldest twenty and the youngest seventeen, all flyers. Every morning he is off to the Cuatro Vientos Army air base near Madrid and up in the air. He does not play on the ground and direct his flight through the Spanish wars in Morocco, as a bomber, with distinction.

Dr. Hugo Eckener's skill in assembling weather reports while flying, and whether his course accordingly, was to him the most impressive aspect of the Graf Zeppelin's flight to the Americas.

"Doctor Eckener can read wind," he exclaimed admiringly. "His weather intuition is uncanny. But the slight could not have been made without the remarkably efficient system of weather reports received on the steadily by wire from the constant plotting of weather maps by planes from these reports, and the checking and comparing of the reports, and that is what is most impressive about this."

HEALTHY DEVALE

CHERRIES AND MILK

During the cherry season it is often a good plan to take a few days' fruit fast, using nothing else but fresh ripe cherries. This is a "cherry cure" somewhat similar to the anemia, in which the iron in the body is low, it is especially desirable to use the fresh cherries which contain more iron than many of the other desirable fruits.

Cherries contain more food building properties than any other fruit which can be found on the market. Like all other acid fruits, they should be eaten by themselves or with sweet milk.

Cherries and milk together make a perfect food combination. But cherries, milk and bread probably form the worst combination that could be put together.

Of course, if bread or any other starch is added, fermentation is set up quickly as the acid of the cherries, which is malic acid, is very strong and no kind of starch should at any time be mixed with this fruit, whether the cherries be in the raw, canned, or cooked state.

IN NEW YORK

New York, July 2.—Around the radio studios: Way back, when Michigan was Michigan and our own home state and granddaddy perched a tiny bonnet upon her gray hair and took us down to the little white church at the crossroads, I remember that my favorite hymn became—

"When the Roll Call Comes, I'll Be There." Such recollections as I have, cause me to believe that I favored this hymn particularly because a deep voiced bass singer in the choir had a trick way of booming out a couple of extra "rolled away's."

What's this got to do with a radio station, you ask? Well the other night, making my rounds of the big stations, I stopped in at NBC to cool off and tip-toed my way into one of the broadcasting rooms. And it was as though time had stood still—for here, in the heart of New York, I was hearing a voice—"When the mists have rolled away . . . rolled away . . ."

Maybe I've heard it somewhere, sometime in the intervening years—but I can't remember when or where. The singer, if you please, was none other than Ira Sankey, who swept the crowds in granddaddy's day. For he was the gospel singer in the famed evangelist Dwight Moody in that far-away day of great revivals. He had been a government employe, it seems, when Moody came through back in 1870 and heard his voice, inducing Sankey to "join up."

Here, sixty years later—an old man, with a fine, resonant voice still—sending the old songs of the revival circuits out to the strangely changed children of today.

James Wallington, the 22-year-old announcer and one of NBC's youngest, came to radio direct from the golf links. He was a professional at the Hillcrest Club in Rochester, N. Y. His average was 36 holes a day and tired business men to the contrary, even golf can get on your nerves after a time.

WASHINGTON LETTER

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Question—Mrs. G. Y. writes: "I have a friend who has multiple sclerosis and he has always had chronic constipation. I am anxious to see him try a buttermilk diet. How much, and how often, should he take it? He also has catarrh, and in that case would buttermilk be harmful to him. Like sweet milk?"

Answer: The fundamental cause of multiple sclerosis is the presence of toxic materials in the spinal cord resulting from a faulty diet. The patient you write of will get quickest results by taking a fruit fast for a week or ten days followed by a well balanced diet. Treatments, such as massage, electrotherapy and electrotherapy will be helpful in restoring the circulation to the affected parts. I do not advise the use of milk or buttermilk for anyone who has catarrhal trouble.

(Gaining Weight) Question—K. A. asks: "If starch, sugar and fat should be restricted, how can one gain in weight without taking a milk diet?"

Answer: The best way to gain good weight is to get yourself in good health after which your weight will gradually adjust itself to the normal. I do not approve of any plan of stuffing to gain weight, as such diet treatment usually results in bad consequences.

(Walking) Question—Mrs. A. V. writes: "I am following your instructions as nearly as I can in regard to diet and exercise, but because of my work, I cannot get the time to walk as I should. Then, too, when my day is done, I am tired. How about this walking a mile to five, when one is so tired? I am forty-eight years old and weigh 155 pounds, five feet, four inches tall. Am I too heavy?"

Answer—You may be able to walk that far, but you, and as your general health improves I believe you will be able to gradually increase the distance.

Washington, July 2.—The next time three or four million persons become unemployed through no fault of their own a larger percentage of them will receive wages to cover the period immediately after they lose their jobs.

Payment of a dismissal wage to workers discharged because of lack of work is increasing among employers, although the practice is still extremely limited in application, according to a recent study by the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics. The bureau found that there was a slowly growing recognition among some employers that they were responsible in large measure for workers who were dismissed because of curtailed production, changes in production methods and other reasons over which workers have no control.

"While the dismissal wage does not contribute materially to the final solution of the unemployment problem," it is pointed out, "it is of very real assistance in giving the dismissed worker the opportunity to conduct a wider search for a new job or to adjust his standard of living to a reduced income. It may also have effect of reducing unemployment in the individual plant in which it is in effect, by causing any tendency on the part of the employer to discharge employees for insufficient reasons."

The Delaware & Hudson railroad arranged a group insurance plan which provided for all dismissed workers as early as 1922. Employees are eligible to three forms of contributing insurance and if they carry two of these and have worked for the road 24 months, the company insures them so that in case of discharge they are paid so much a week for not more than six weeks.

Some concerns give reduced pensions to employes laid off after a certain period of service, and pension plans, mostly contributory, sometimes benefit employes who must be discharged for one reason or another before retirement age. Frequently employes are warned of the probability of production curtailment bound to result in dismissal and beneficiaries are notified in advance by notices from employers and labor unions, although in countless instances workers have been fired without warning.

Specific instances of American employers who have agreed to such notices are given in the following: The Fibreboard Paper Company pays a dismissal wage of two weeks pay to help the dismissed worker find another job. EXCESS WINE FLOODS PORTUGUESE INDUSTRY. Lisbon—(AP)—Portugal—one of the world's "big three" among wine producing countries, is in danger of drowning in its own juice. After the United States was closed to Portugal, France became the best customer for Portuguese vineyards, especially those of low alcohol content. But now France herself has a surplus of wine and a smaller market for it. Also the new French tariff deal, Portugal's vineyard is a hardheaded man. The only remaining part of the market is the United States. The United States has been closed to Portugal.

HOLD 5 SUSPECTS IN LINGLE DEATH

Los Angeles, July 2—(AP)—Five alleged Chicago gangsters, three of whom were wanted in connection with the slaying of Edward (Gabe) Lingle, Chicago newspaper reporter, were in jail here today, pending extradition proceedings.

Frankie Foster, alias Frost, alias Foreman, former right hand man and "arsenal keeper" for the Bugs Moran gang, was among the quintet. He allegedly owned the pistol used in the Lingle slaying. His bodyguard George Davis, arrested Monday with him, and Frankie Fisher, known gangster, are the other suspects in the Lingle case.

Marvin Apter and Herman Walters, the others arrested, presumably came here with Foster. They said Foster planned to enter the beer racket on a large scale. Walters described himself as an industrial engineer.

"You have got nothing on me," he told police, "Chicago don't want me. I came here to install and operate brewing machinery for Foster."

Mrs. Frank Foster, wife of the leader, was booked for investigation, but police said she was not wanted in Chicago.

Edgar Dudley, Chicago police detective who aided in the roundup here, said:

"We know Foster gave the gun to Lingle's slayer, and he is known to have been in the subway ten minutes before the reporter was shot. He took care of the guns for Bugs Moran."

LOST YOUTH FOUND
North Dartmouth, Mass., July 2—(AP)—John E. Perry, 20-year-old freshman last year at William and Mary College, Williamsburg, Va., was back at his New Bedford home today after being missing for a week.

He was found wandering in the woods here yesterday by Clifford Wordell, a farmer, after having been believed to be suffering from a breakdown. One night he spent in Boston sleeping on the Common, he said. A $500 reward was offered for finding him.

LEE'S RESOLUTION

On July 2, 1776, the Continental Congress adopted the resolution of Richard Henry Lee of Virginia declaring the United States free and independent.

Lee introduced his measure on June 20, 1776, and supported it by a speech of the most brilliant eloquence. He moved, in part, that "these united colonies are and of right ought to be free and independent states, that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and that all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain is and ought to be totally dissolved."

This resolution, which, of course, was the Declaration of Independence, was not only passed July 2, but also signed on that day. The custom of celebrating the Fourth of July in commemoration of this event, John Adams prophesied wrongly when he wrote his wife, "The second day of July, 1776, will be the most memorable epoch in the history of America. I am apt to believe it will be celebrated by succeeding generations as the great anniversary festival."

Another fact not generally known in connection with the signing of the Declaration is that John Hancock and Charles Thomson, president and secretary respectively of the Continental Congress, were the only men to sign the real Declaration. Other signers affixed their signatures to a copy of the original document.

INJUNCTION REFUSED IN DETROIT BEAR

Detroit, July 2—(AP)—Circuit Judge Arthur Webster today refused Mayor Charles Bowen and his supporters an injunction restraining the city clerk from acting on petitions demanding the mayor's recall.

In his decision Judge Webster stated that he had no right to interfere with the election because "it involves questions wholly of a political nature."

The judge also stated that "it is of vital importance that the questions involved in this litigation should be speedily disposed of and through the cooperation of counsel on both sides the case is now in a position where it can be quickly brought before the Supreme Court."

It was announced that the case would be taken to the Supreme Court immediately.

LYNCHINGS INCREASE

Tuskegee Institute, Ala., July 2—(AP)—Statisticians in the office of Dr. Robert R. Moton, principal of Tuskegee Normal and Industrial Institute, announced today that the lynchings were reported in the United States during the first six months of 1936, as compared with five for the same period of 1935.

Texas led all other states with three. South Carolina had two, and Florida, Georgia, Mississippi and Oklahoma had one each.

Eight of the persons lynched were negroes and one was white. Five of the victims were charged with assault, two with slaying, one with bombing a house and one with attempted assault.

The figure is higher than any since the first six months in 1927 when nine persons were lynched, the reporter recalled.

However, it is six less than the number lynched during the same period in 1923, 21 less than the same period in 1922 and 27 less than in the first six months in 1921.

GOVERNMENT SURPLUS

Washington, July 2—(AP)—Secretary Mellon announced today that the government had concluded the 1935 fiscal year with a surplus of $184,000,000.

The Treasury had noted however, that included in the amount was $76,000,000 paid by foreign governments as their June installments on war debts, which he said was abnormal.

The total ordinary receipts of the government, amounted to $4,178,000,000 as compared with $4,033,000 in 1934.

The aggregate of customs and Internal Revenue receipts was $3,628,000,000 which was $36,000,000 greater than the receipts from these sources in 1934 and $11,000,000 below the treasury aggregate estimate after allowance for the one percent tax reduction.

DOOMED SHIP FLOATS

Shull, Mass., July 2—(AP)—Fast into the night the burning steamer Scortis, doomed by its owners to a fiery death and watery grave, rode the seas 15 miles off shore, a flaming derelict.

The ship, a former United States

Shipping board ship and was run down by a lumber schooner with 100 tons of coal and set on fire. The ship was seen yesterday four miles off shore. It was believed because it was so close to the shore that it would be seen. Hundreds of calls came to Coast Guard, police and life saving stations from persons miles away, the shore fearing a catastrophe.

BOOZE POSSESSION ARGUED IN COURT
May Lawfully Buy But It's Unlawful to Have the Liquor.

New York, July 2—(AP)—The contention that possession of liquor is in itself not unlawful was argued before a United States commissioner here on behalf of a patron arrested in a night club raid.

Frederick R. Coudert, Sr., prominent attorney, appearing for Raymond Ackerman who was arrested in a prohibition raid on the Holly-wood restaurant last April, pointed out that the United States Supreme Court recently held that the purchase of intoxicating liquor is not unlawful and contended that the possession without the intention to sell, manufacture or transport could not therefore be unlawful.

The Argument
"To tell a man that he may lawfully purchase liquor, but that once having obtained the possession of it he is committing a crime by such possession," he said, "is to turn the law into one of those ridiculous farces which would have been so admirably exploited by Gilbert and Sullivan and to which Will Rogers makes such pertinent allusions."

"If it were true that the mere possession of liquor, without evidence that it was a step in the transportation, manufacture or sale, were unlawful, then the Volstead Act has transcended the limits of the constitution and is pro tanto unconstitutional."

Commissioner O'Neill ruled that other authorities had held possession of liquor to be prima facie evidence of intent to sell and had Ackerman in $500 bail for trial. Coudert said he was prepared to carry his argument to the United States Supreme Court if necessary.

I. C. C. MEETING

Paris, July 1—(AP)—The next Congress of the International Chamber of Commerce was definitely fixed today for May 4 to 9 at Washington, D. C., by the Council of the Chamber. It was announced that this action was taken after adoption of resolutions at a Friday meeting regarding solution of the present world crisis.

The council urged that all governments take all possible measures to encourage international exchange of products, and urged the Bank of International Settlements and Bank of Issue to do everything possible to avoid excessive accumulations of gold and to facilitate cheap money and free movement of capital. The world crisis was attributed to overproduction and reduced consumption.

BRANDEIS TO ACT AS A PEACE-MAKER

Cleveland, July 2—(AP)—Hope for unification of forces within the Zionist organization of America was increased today with the assurance of Supreme Court Justice Louis D. Brandeis that he stands ready to cooperate with leaders of the movement after nine years of differences with the administration.

The Brandeis administration was overturned in 1921 and since then he and Federal Judge Julian W. Mack of New York had headed forces dissenting with the present administration.

Brandeis' offer to return to the organization in an advisory capacity was enthusiastically accepted as the "means of bringing about in our ranks that good will and faith needed to unite all forces in American Israel in the rebuilding of Eretz Israel" in a resolution unanimously adopted at the 33rd annual convention here last night.

Meanwhile, negotiations were continued in an effort to reconcile opposing leaders.

DANCING JUDITH

BY CORALIE STANTON and HEATH HOSKEN
COPYRIGHT 1936 BY CHELSEA HOUSE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Judith Grant, beautiful, brilliant, shares her Greenwich Village apartment with Chummy. She is lovely girl whose mind has been blank since Alan Steyne, her lover, disappeared seven years ago. Steyne returns, Chummy fails to recognize him, and he and Judith fall in love. He tells Judith that he never loved Chummy and never knew Chummy loved him; but when Chummy's memory suddenly returns and she recognizes him, he feels bound by a tie of honor to ask her to marry him. Judith accepts the offer of Bruce Gideon, wealthy lawyer, to star her turn in a musical play. Steyne objects, doubting Gideon's intentions, but Judith refuses to listen to him. The four meet one another at a theater party, and Steyne insists that Judith leave Gideon and go home with Chummy and himself.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIX

Judith turned her head slightly and smiled at Gideon, who reached for her, his smile companion. A crowd as he saw her companion.

"Miss Grant is coming with us," said Steyne, quietly belligerent. "We have arranged a little gathering for her."

Judith laughed nervously, and almost against her will, walked behind Gideon. Gideon followed, his bull neck and large ears very red, his face livid with rage.

"I am under the impression that Miss Grant is coming with us," said Steyne, "but not, as I understand it, with me," Alan replied.

"She has reached Chummy and Alan Steyne, who looked at them in surprise. Chummy, a moment later shrank back as she became aware of the passionless loss. That first original quarrel of manhood hurt the quarrel of two men about a woman. Of course, she did not understand it. She simply saw that Alan was put out, and that Gideon had an ugly look on his face.

Judith, always apt to lose her head under excitement, was laughing uncontrollably.

"Oh, what a fuss!" she managed to say between two almost hysterical attacks.

"Come, Clarissa," said Alan sternly.

His face indicated what he expected her to do. Still at sea, she linked her arm in her friend's.

"Come along, Judy dear! We're going to the cafe."

"No, really," laughed Judy. "Oh, you do make such a fuss about things! I'm going out to supper with Mr. Gideon. He asked me long ago."

"Perhaps Miss Grant might be allowed to decide for herself," suggested Gideon with elephantine sarcasm.

"I'm going with Mr. Gideon," Judy said.

She was near to tears now—tears of furious indignation at being treated "like a kid," as she would have said.

"You are coming with us," Steyne said.

He also was beside himself, but white as a ghost and quiet as a deep stream. Judy stamped her foot.

"I'm not, then I'm not!"

"SHE" finished it. The two men measured glances, and the younger knew himself beaten.

Judith and Gideon went out to his waiting car. Clarissa, crimson with shame, hurried into the lobby. Clara Jenks secretly highly amused, waddled after her.

Clara was in wonderful spirits that night. She had just secured her first really promising engagement on the stage, to play in a diologue with the famous comedian at an unknown theater. Her part was that of a drunken but good-hearted landlady, and she was going to revel in it.

Personally quick as lightning in her powers of observation, Clara had taken in a good deal more of the meaning of the little scene than had Chummy. She sided with Judy, and thought Mr. Steyne had been quite ridiculously overbearing. As if she didn't know her way about in a comfortable motor car, who was to blame her?

Chummy and Alan were just a few feet ahead.

"Oh, Alan, was it necessary to be quite so cross with poor Judy?" the girl asked.

"You thought I was wrong, Clarissa?"

"It made me feel uncomfortable. After all, Judy can take care of herself, and Mr. Gideon had asked her first."

"He's not a fit man for her to be with," said Alan curtly. "I don't want to talk to you about it, but it is a fact. I wish you would do everything you can to prevent her going about with him."

His tone was so earnest that Clara's heart leaped in revolt at the hint of any unpleasantness coming near little Judy.

"I will, of course," she said; "but I don't think you need be afraid."

"That," because, like all girls, you think this man must be all right if he's rich!"

Alan spoke with almost vicious irritation. Chummy was so taken back that she said nothing, but looked behind and stopped a moment for Clara Jenks to catch up with them.

"All three boarded a bus and made their way to the Cafe Turc.

Dan's light, gray voice was not heard that night, singing the favorite Italian songs. The General himself served his guests, with the assistance of a small boy he had borrowed from a neighboring establishment.

Dan had gone to Italy, he informed his customers, to bring back the body of his mother. Where he got the necessary amount of money

PLANE EXPRESSIONS!

Some Glass Stops Light; Better Windows On Way

Ann Arbor, Mich.—(AP)—Some of the clearest vision window glass cuts down to an unbelievable degree the daylight entering the window.

This is found in a study of obtaining more daylight with better windows and shades by Prof. H. H. Higbie, of the electrical engineering department at the University of Michigan.

One of the most transparent glasses lowered the minimum illumination at the rear of a test room by 42 per cent.

"This result is hardly expectable in the degree found," says Prof. Higbie, "and probably is due to a considerable reflection back outdoors of the light striking this glass at very sharp angles."

He found that glass with one side smooth and the other rough gives 10 to 100 per cent. better illumination when the smooth side faces outdoors than when it faces indoors. He says this disagrees with hitherto published findings.

"It has long been known," says Prof. Higbie, "that excess of illumination close to the window is due mostly to light coming through the lower part of the window, and that the upper part affects the illumination at the rear of the room farthest from the windows."

"Such a view to convention we are, that for the sake of uniformity we thoughtlessly destroy most of the value of the windows for which we pay dearly, by covering the most important parts of them with light-absorbing hangings."

"It is entirely reasonable to expect that as a result of scientific investigation a window shade fabric may be so woven or treated or used that all the desired objects listed here will be accomplished."

Hints On How To Keep Well by World Famous Authority

DAMPNESS AND CHILLS SEEM TIED UP WITH RHEUMATIC DISORDERS

BY DR. MORRIS FISHERMAN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

The impression has existed among men since they were able to take notice of their surroundings that all of the factors associated with climate have some influence on the health of man.

Noah Webster, who wrote the dictionary, kept careful records for many years of changes in the weather and of associated epidemics. Included in the general subject of climate are such questions as barometric pressure, humidity, temperature, sunlight and rainfall as well as prevailing winds.

Enough has already been said in many places, and particularly in these columns, to indicate that sunlight has a definite effect on body growth and health, and everyone must have a considerable amount of sunlight if he is to maintain his body in the best condition.

For years the belief has been prevalent that dampness and drafts are associated with catching colds and with the incidence of pneumonia. Expert epidemiologists insist that damp places are associated with rheumatic infections, and scientific investigations in various places have established the fact that persons who are chronic sufferers with rheumatism can predict changes in the weather by changes of sensations in their joints. People with asthma and hay-fever feel better in dry climates which are somewhat warm and sufferers with chronic diseases report the same conclusion.

It occurred to a British investigator to study the relationship of rheumatic diseases to the occupation of mining. These workers spend at least one-third of their lives underground excluded from sunlight in a more or less uniformly warm atmosphere with a high degree of humidity. When they leave the mine at night they seldom change to dry clothing and increase the risk of chill and rheumatism.

Of course, a similar factor occurs in workers in other occupations. A study of the available statistics indicated that miners were likely to suffer particularly with a high incidence of one type of rheumatism, but they suffered less with acute rheumatic fever and infections of the joints than workers in other occupations. The type of rheumatic condition from which they suffer is called rheumatic fibrositis, including chronic pains and inflammations which are not directly related to infections involving the heart.

It seems quite likely that changes in the temperature, the humidity and the sunlight cannot be regarded as the cause of rheumatic disease, but that undesirable combinations of these factors may lower the resistance of the person so that variations may result in a greater likelihood of involvement of the tissue by rheumatic fibrositis, and by such conditions as pneumonia.

As should be quite clear to everyone, human beings differ one from the other and their response to various outside factors varies. It becomes quite possible, however, to generalize concerning the effects of these factors on a large scale and experience over a period of years seems to have established definitely the relationship of dampness and chilling to rheumatic disorders and infections in the nose and throat.

YOUR CHILD

by OLIVE ROBERTS DA...

The big cry of the college seems to be: "They don't know how to study. They've never been taught to concentrate."

Ask any high school principal what he considers the greatest drawback to success in education and I think he will say that lack of application is the bane of the whole affair.

"How many times do parents say, 'George is a smart boy, but he won't study. He doesn't apply himself.'"

Everybody agrees, it seems, but no one seems to know just what causes it. This matter of application, it is acknowledged, is a vital thing, and in some vague way it's something to blame on somebody else. The college blames it on the high school or preparatory school, they blame it on the grade schools, the grade schools on the parents, and the parents on the teachers.

There you have it, and in the meantime George slips through and, sometime later, comes out of the educational mill, sometimes successfully. In the latter case, appropinquity for getting lessons in the child? Yes, but who is going to make him see that application in everything is the only key to success?

The old simile of leading the horse to water fits the case exactly. You can't lead a horse to water and that's a fact. But who is to make him thirsty?

The school is the fountain. We can send a child there daily, but if he isn't thirsty, you absolutely can't make him drink. You can't beat him, nor drive him, nor scold him to it. If he doesn't like to study, there are a thousand ways for him to get out of it, and he will.

Interest is one of the secrets of application. But it is only half. The other half is lack of fear and perhaps it should be put first. Not fear of teachers, exactly, but a peculiar fear about study.

Children's minds too often are in a state of confusion because of this "fear" about their lessons. They're afraid of "something." If they don't get them, this tightening, inhibition, or "fear," paralyzes a thinking. They're afraid someone is going to be cross if they can't get it just right. Defeated before they begin.

Isn't it obvious, then, that in early school years results or marks are less important than habit, and habit of application must be learned while children are still little and in an atmosphere of pleasantness—not

HAVE YOU HEARD?

Wash sunde or other washable gloves keep their pristine beauty and shape much longer if washed off the hands as illustrated.

Use tepid water, not hot water, and white soap. Wholly immerse the gloves and squeeze thoroughly, with special attention to soaping and squeezing the finger tips. Put gloves through at least two sud washings thoroughly.

Rinse in two waters of the same tepid temperature. Never wring them, but press until the water runs out. Then fold them between bath towels and press out all the moisture you can. Blow them up, straighten out the fingers and hang up the cuffs in a shady place. When almost dry, soften them by holding in one hand and smoothing down with the other.

REDS IN CHINA CAUSING TROUBLE

Shanghai.—(AP)—The endless reports of bandit outrages in interior China indicate that the outbreaks of these so-called "Reds" form as serious a menace to the central government as the warfare of the rebel northern Coalition.

They are called Communists, but they are nothing more than bandits operating under the Red flag and their allegiance to Moscow appears to be scanty if any.

Reports unmistakably point out the seriousness of the situation and the Nationalists, with their military forces occupied trying to bring an end to the careers of General Yan Hai-Shaw and Marshal Feng Yuh-Hsiang, the Northerners, as the country's worst trouble-makers, are forced to let the Reds do much as they please for the time being.

Just where it will all end is something that not even the best informed care to speculate upon. China is the mysterious east and the political situation changes with surprising, nothing is ever new or surprising, nothing is ever old. The Red menace is just another of the desperate forces intent on overthrowing the existing government and those same forces would probably exist were General Yen and Marshal Feng in power.

While accurate figures of red troops in the country are not available, it is generally scattered in the provinces of Hupeh, Kiangsi, Kwangtung, Honan, Fukien and Anhwei totalling approximately 45,000 men.

Of these armies only three or four may be said to be well equipped while the rest could be easily dispersed if attacked by well trained troops. But they are increasing in numbers and strength.

Some of these armies are commanded by well known military men such as the gang operated by Generals Chu Teh and Mao Chieh-Tung. Chu Teh was once a student in Germany where he studied Socialism and Communism before joining the Chinese Communist Party. He is also a capable military leader and his band is the best equipped Red unit in China.

Mao Chieh-Tung also is a military man and a keen student of Communism.

At present the two are holding sway in Fukien province, where they already have hoisted the red flag. Several Chinese military academy graduates are in command of the other Red aggregations, while a few are merely college students who have found themselves able to control bandits by telling them that under the laws of Communism plundering is no crime.

New Sports Frock Achieves Smart

Flared Fullness Through Gores

BY ANNETTE

The moulded silhouette with the lining fitted through gores that extend into a flaring hemline, is probably one of the smartest becoming ideas Paris sent us this season.

A narrow belt marks the fashionable higher waistline of the simple bodice. A bow tie creates a sunburst effect at end of deep V-opening, that is completed with a veste. The bow-tied sleeves are youthfully smart.

Feach-pink shantung print was medium chosen for this fascinating frock. The bows are plain shantung that match the background. The tiny veste is ecru embroidered batiste.

Style No. 771 may be had in sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust.

It makes up beautifully for sports in cotton pique in shell-pink with trim of self-fabric and worn with a matching leather belt.

Printed batiste, sports or sheer linen, pastel flat washable crepe silk and men's silk shirting fabric are lovely ideas for its development.

Chicago, July 2.—(AP)—A woman whose business world is baseball, today was determined to fight alone, if necessary, even against an old warrior like Kenesaw Mountain Landis.

She was Miss Ruth Killie, president of the Milwaukee club of the American Association who has defied the high commissioner by filing suit in federal court against his transfer order on one of her out-fielders, Fred Bennett.

The Bennett case has been postponed until Commissioner Landis makes his reply.

ALL-VOCATIONAL BIG LEAGUES

BOSTON RED SOX STRONG ON MOUND

Gaston Is Probably Hardest Worker on Hub Club; St. Louis Drubs Robins, 15 to 7.

By HUGH S. FULLERTON.

Regardless of their humble position in the American League standing as the baseball season nears its halfway mark the Boston Red Sox can put in a claim for the honor of having the best pitching in the major leagues. The only difficulty with the Boston American League team they can't hit well enough to take advantage of their hurling.

Milt Gaston is perhaps their hardest worker and most effective pitcher. The star righthander pitched again yesterday and held Cleveland to three hits in his sixth complete game in succession and his 13th of the season. The Red Sox collected 11 blows off Harder to win 3 to 1.

Bob Grove, Philadelphia's speedball ace, did about as well as Gaston.

He allowed Detroit just one hit in five innings. The teams started out to play a double header, but the storm which stopped the games in New York and Washington cut them out on a contest of the minimum of five innings. Williams produced most of Philadelphia's counters by driving out a homer when he was sent in as a pinch hitter with two on in the second inning.

The National League was saved a lot of complications when the Brooklyn Robins blew off the bad baseball of weeks in one inning against the Cards. Watson Clark proved ineffective in the second frame and Dudley and Elliott were not much better. They gave nine hits and the Robins fielders committed three errors. The result was 11 to 1.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

George Watkins, Cards—Clouted two doubles and a pair of singles as Cards whipped Robins.
Fred Pittsimmons, Giants—Held Cubs to eight hits and beat them 7 to 5.

DR. MOORE FORCES CHENEY TO FINAL HOLE IN MATCH

Favorite Pressed Hard in First Round of President's Cup Match Play Handicap Golf Tourney.

Dr. D. C. Y. Moore played a fine game against Young Jack Cheney in their first round match in the President's Cup match play handicap golf tournament, forcing the favorite to play the entire 18 holes before losing two up. Dr. Moore, however, was benefited by a 13 stroke handicap, but nevertheless played good golf.

Charlie Johnson, another favorite, fell by the wayside before the masterful work of H. C. Alvord who won three and one in another very close match. John Hyde scored a 4 and 3 victory over Harry Benson in another big match.

The biggest upset was the victory T. G. Hawley scored over R. R. Bowers, four and two. W. S. Clarke has played and won his second round match from Ross Shiner four and three and C. T. E. Willett has done similarly at the expense of J. C. Cary, two and one. The second round matches are scheduled to be completed this week. Here are the first round results complete:

W. C. Clarke defeated C. C. Greer, Jr., one up; Ross Shiner won from F. G. Way by default; J. Turkington beat Herbert B. House two up; Halsey S. Stevens beat Dr. Boyd by default after 13 holes; J. C. Cary defeated R. C. Chapin by default; C. E. Willett won from Dr. Edwin C. Higgins two and one; Fred J. Benda defeated Ben Cheney by default; C. Read Richardson won from Milton Harris six and four; F. G. Brown beat Thomas K. Clarke by default; Thomas G. Hawley won from R. R. Bowers four and two; John G. Echmalin beat C. C. Vaney four and three; John P. Cheney, Jr., defeated Dr. D. C. Y. Moore two up; John H. Hyde won from Harry Benson four and three; Joseph Hapley defeated Dr. David M. Caldwell six and five; Harold C. Alvord won from Charles H. Johnson three and one and tonight Earl Balleisep and W. F. Price are understood to be scheduled to play their first round match thus completing the first round.

A'S VS. YANKS IN W. S. LOOP TONIGHT

The Athletics and Yankees will battle tonight in a West Side League baseball game at the Four Acres with Bill Brennan in the usual role of umpire.

Tommy Faulkner will pitch for the league-leading A's while Herb Frazer is scheduled to work for the cellar resting Yanks. There will be no game Friday in the league because of the holiday but the West Side Club may play in the morning.

NO MORE FOULS

New York, July 2.—(AP)—In the future there will be no more foul punches in New York rings.

Under a new regulation adopted by the N. Y. State Athletic Commission, boxers will derive their own implements of protection, subject to approval by the commission, and then waive all right to claim a foul whenever a blow may land.

Miss Ryan Enters Finals As Opponent Collapses

Score Tied at 4 All in Third Set When German Star Sprains Ankle and Defaults Tennis Match.

Wimbledon, Eng., July 2.—(AP)—Frustrated Cecile Aussem, popular little German tennis star, suffered a badly sprained ankle in the third set of a match with Elizabeth Ryan, American, in the semi-finals of the British tennis championships today and had to be carried from the court on a stretcher.

Miss Ryan automatically entered the finals by default. Frustrated Aussem collapsed on the court at a dramatic moment in a hard-fought match with the games standing at 4 all in the final set. She fell in attempting a difficult shot, recovered and attempted to serve, then collapsed and stretched at full length on the court while players, officials, nurses and ambulance attendants rushed to her assistance.

Mrs. Helen Wills Moody entered the final round in defense of her singles title by defeating Madame Rene Mathieu of France, 6-3, 6-2. She will oppose Miss Ryan.

BOBBY IS HOME

New York, July 2.—(AP)—Citizens of the metropolis turned today from admiring the harvest of the air to vie with his homefolks from Atlanta in paying homage to Bobby Jones, returning in triumph from his conquests of British golf links.

A trip from quarantine on the city boat Macom, a parade up Broadway and a reception by Mayor Walker at City Hall were features of the program, which was to be broadcast over radio chains.

RISKO VS. GRIFFITH

Chicago, July 2.—(AP)—Johnny Risko, despoiler of a ring ambitions and hopes, packs his rugged fighting fists in leather again tonight in a determined attempt to wreck the comeback plans of Gerald Ambrose Griffith, the tough heavyweight from Sioux City, Iowa.

The two meet in a main ten round event at the Chicago Stadium's boxing card. Fifteen thousand fight fans, assured of a rematch at bargain prices in case of a foul are expected to watch the duel.

No broadcasting of the fights tonight will be permitted, stadium officials said.

The Nut Cracker

One of these days a heavyweight boxer is going to be interviewed and he will say he doesn't know whether he could whip Max Schmeling or not. That will be page one news.

Am me! those sadly crippled Cubs! They can make only 34 hits in a ball game. It's terrible!

Stribling and Scott are going to fight in London. Well, give something to be thankful for, anyway.

As a result of the battles in Britain, the first four favorites for the National Open at Interlachen July 10 are young fellows named—Yank.

Ralston Hensley, Pirates—Drove in two runs with double and triple, scored two others himself as Pirates beat Braves.

LIGHT RAIN SPOILS

CHURCH LAWN FETE

Second Congregational Church
Affair to Be Run Again Tonight, It Is Decided.

Light rain, not enough to lay the dust, coming at the wrong time, was enough to spoil the lawn fete last night at the Second Congregational church parsonage grounds. The committee in charge will run it again this evening in the hope for better weather and a big turnout of the people of the church and all who have enjoyed the motion pictures the past season. The project was planned to make up the deficit on the picture apparatus and Chairman Ralph Brown and his willing corps of workers have hopes that tonight's lawn festival will do it.

The grounds on the lawn fete Spencer place on North Main street are ideal for such affairs and many have been held there in previous years. They have been illuminated by electric lamps and Japanese lanterns for the present fete and several booths erected for the sale of refreshments and other articles. Mrs. Myrtle Williams and her assistants on the home-made food booth sold out but expect fresh supply of cakes, pies and other goods for tonight. There was also a good demand for "alk-hots", ice cream and soda, as well as home-made candy. Miss Florence Shaw and Mrs. Ralph Rockwell in charge of the flower booth, sold a number of corsage bouquets to the women and boutonnières to the men, as well as picnic napkins and paper goods for the Fourth of July picnics. A "white elephant" booth was another source of interest.

ZUTA ESCAPES DEATH

Chicago, July 2.—(AP)—Gangsters stood in the glare of the bright lights of South State street last night and made an unsuccessful attempt to assassinate Jack Zuta, gangster.

A man was killed. Another was wounded. In the excitement Zuta and his three companions disappeared. The gunmen escaped behind a smoke screen emitted from the exhaust of their car. A police officer emptied his revolver at the gunmen who, however, apparently escaped unhurt.

The man killed was Elbert Lussader, 38 years old, motorman on a street car. A bullet from the pistol of one of the attackers penetrated his neck.

Zuta had been arrested for questioning in connection with the slaying of Jake Lingle, Tribune reporter.

DISCUSS WAGE SCALES

New York, July 1.—(AP)—Representatives of anthracite coal operators and miners resumed their deliberations today in an effort to formulate a new wage and working agreement to take the place of the one expiring August 31.

John L. Lewis, international union president, still was detained in Springfield, Ill., by an injury to his wife.

Subjects up for discussion today were not announced. Yesterday the miners presented their demands, as outlined by the May tri-district convention at Hazelton, Pa., which were discussed informally and the general economic situation was reviewed.

The conference is being conducted informally and without a chairman. C. J. Golden, secretary of the conciliation board, was named permanent secretary of the conference and empowered to put any motion that is necessary.

SEIZE AMERICANS AS BEING ALIENS

Held Overnight Until They Prove They Came from Newark, N. J.

New York, July 2.—(AP)—Thirty-two men who said they were all respected Newark, N. J., business men and many of them members of the Newark Athletic Club were released from the detention pen at Ellis Island today after proving their American citizenship. They were picked up last night on a small cargo launch off Rockaway by the Coast Guard.

The Newark men were taken into custody on suspicion of being aliens having themselves smuggled into the country under cover of darkness. They loudly protested on being released today that they could easily have proved their citizenship at once if given an opportunity.

The launch, the "Anona," a 37-footer owned by Joseph Kelsey of 31 Carpenter street, Providence, R. I., was first sighted by Boatwain patrol boat 168 about 6:15 o'clock last night. At that time it had only two men aboard, Peter Hyer of Newark, who was in charge, and William McGouler of East Newark.

Lytinen said the launch looked suspicious to him then and that he sent a man aboard to investigate, but that when no liquor or other contraband was found the Anona was allowed to proceed. Three hours later he sighted the launch again, this time loaded with passengers. For a second time Lytinen sent a man aboard and when he said Hyer was unable to account satisfactorily for his sudden acquisition of passengers he became convinced that the boat was running in aliens.

Taking all the launch's passengers and crew into custody he stopped at the Coast Guard base at Staten Island to report his capture and then proceeded to Ellis Island where he asked that the men be locked up as aliens. The men were questioned for more than an hour this morning by immigration officials and Gregory O'Keefe, special agent of the Treasury Department, and were released after explaining their presence on the Anona.

SENDS MESSENGER-BOY TO ANSWER IN COURT

New York, July 2.—(AP)—Things were moving along methodically in Yorkville Court this morning when the clerk called the name of Barbara Adams, summoned for letting her terrace run unleased on the lawn of Central Park.

Up stepped a messenger boy, neatly uniformed and beaming with the mien of one who was doing his duty.

"But—Miss Adams?" Magistrate Stern inquired.

"Oh, she had something else to do today," the messenger explained, "so she hired me to come up and plead guilty for her."

"Suppose I were to permit that, and tell you from her $3 to $10. Have you the money?"

"No," the boy faltered, "she only gave me a dollar."

"It doesn't matter," said the magistrate. "Tell Miss Adams to come to court herself—and suggest that she would do well to have $10 in her purse—and careful home."

AMERICAN AIRMAIL TO RIO EQUALS EUROPEAN

Rio Janeiro. (AP)—American exporters to South America's east coast will be on an equal footing with European rivals in the matter of airmail service for some time to come, in the opinion of experts here.

This notwithstanding the flight of Jean Mermoz from San Luis, Senegal, to Natal, Brazil, which brought mail to Rio Janeiro in less than three days from Paris.

The time from New York is seven days, but this is sure while the Africa-Brazil hop can be made only under favorable conditions.

This was brought out when Mermoz tried his return from Natal to Dakar the second week in June. For three days he failed to get in to the air from the Potogny river at Natal. There was no wind, and the plane could not lift its three occupants, 3,600 liters of gasoline and 800 pounds of mail. Outside in the open sea the water was too rough for a takeoff.

The proposed dirigible line from Seville to Pernambuco, may make faster time than the present airmail operated by the American NYRBA line along the east coast of South America to New York, but experts here are inclined to doubt it. They point out that the recent Graf Zeppelin flight was under good weather conditions but that a ship of that size could not be used economically as a mail and fast freight carrier.

Furthermore, the Graf came to Brazil while it was winter south of the Equator and even then was short of water, so what they ask would happen on flights when the sun is south of the line?

FORGOTTEN STATE LAW SUDDENLY REMEMBERED

Every Motorboat Owner Must Register Craft But Few Have Done So in Last Five Years.

New Haven, July 2.—(AP)—Connecticut's state law requiring motorboat owners to register their craft might have passed quietly into the limbo of forgotten laws if Albert E. Wilcox yesterday had not strolled into the town clerk's office yesterday with 50 cents and a desire to register his boat—Anna.

Then it was discovered that while the law had been on the statute books since 1918 it had been disregarded generally for the last five years and totally ignored since 1927 when the last motorboat was registered. According to the law every motorboat should be registered with the town clerk before October 1 and a fifty cent fee paid. An enforcement clause in the law provided for a fine of from $10 to $100 for failure to comply.

Search through the records to determine whether the law every motorboat should be registered with the town clerk before October 1 and a fifty cent fee paid. An enforcement clause in the law provided for a fine of from $10 to $100 for failure to comply.

DELAY WAGE PARLEY

New York, July 2.—(AP)—The wage and working agreement conference among representatives of anthracite miners and operators opened an hour late today with indications that a recess would be taken until Monday.

The conference is endeavoring to frame a new agreement to take effect September 1, replacing the one signed February 12, 1926 to end the great coal strike of that winter.

Thomas Kennedy, secretary-treasurer of the International Union, said the miners representatives were agreeable to a recess, as that would allow John L. Lewis, international president who was detained at his home in Springfield, Ill., time to arrive and join in the conference. Mr. Lewis sent word that he expected to reach New York late this week.

After yesterday's conference a formal statement was issued saying that although there were natural differences of opinion over the provisions of the new agreement, the conference was proceeding amicably and progress had been made.

DIES IN ITALY

Florence, Italy, July 2.—(AP)—John Kerr Branch, 65, of Richmond, Va., died last night at his residence here.

Richmond, Va., July 2.—(AP)—John Kerr Branch, of Richmond, who died last night in Florence, Italy, was one of the wealthiest men in Virginia for many years, and was prominently identified with business and civic enterprises of the state.

He was head of Thomas Branch and Company, local brokerage house, member of the New York Stock Exchange.

He is survived by his widow, who was Miss Beulah Frances Gould, of New York; one son, and two daughters. Mr. Branch's objects of art are considered among the most notable ever collected by an American.

CONVICT ATTIC LOVER

Los Angeles, July 2.—(AP)—Otto Sanhuber lies huddled in his cell today, convicted of manslaughter for the alleged slaying of Fred Oesterreich, Milwaukee manufacturer, in whose attic he dwelt 11 years to be near Mrs. Oesterreich, his sweetheart.

The timid attic lover paled and slumped into his chair when he heard the verdict last night which will send him to prison for one to ten years. Apparently dejected and speechless, he was led to a cell to await pronouncement of sentence tomorrow. Karl Wakeman, defense attorney said he would seek to have the verdict set aside on the ground that statute of limitations had outlawed a manslaughter verdict.

KILLS EX-WIFE, SELF

Fall River, Mass., July 2.—(AP)—Max Repsky, 29, a mill hand, shot and fatally wounded his divorced wife, Josephine Slusak, 29, on Brady street in a tenement district here this morning as she stood talking with three men. Repsky then turned the revolver upon himself and fired twice. Both the man and the woman died shortly afterward at a hospital.

The men with whom Miss Slusak had been talking were interrogated by police but not held as witnesses. They described themselves as Walter Dydol, John Stewasz and Mitro Andreks.

MARINES SENTENCED

Toms River, N. J., July 2.—(AP)—Claude Carmichael and Madison Chappel, Marines at the Lakehurst naval air station, pleaded guilty today to second degree murder in the killing of Robert Evans, and were sentenced to 25 years and 10 years respectively in state prison.

Lester Underwood, another marine, and Mrs. Evans, are under death sentences as the major participants in the crime. Evans and Albert Duffy were shot and beaten to death in the Evans home on May 15.

CABLE STOCKS WEAK ON LONDON EXCHANGE

London, July 2.—(AP)—Cable and wireless stocks were weak features on the Stock Exchange this morning following announcement of the passing of dividends on A and B stock of "Cables and Wireless Limited" the £52,000,000 merger of British Cable and Wireless interests formed in 1926.

The A stock fell 8 points to 28 pounds ten shillings, B stock 3 1-2 points to twelve pounds and preference shares nine points to 78 pounds.

Dealings were small as there was an absence of buyers and dealers were quoting rather wide prices.

The Cables and Wireless company announced yesterday that while the preference dividend for the period ended December 31 had been paid, the A and B stock would pay no dividends.

The directors of the company predicted that profits would be reduced by nearly half in 1930 unless conditions improved. They criticized the British government for its alleged refusal to cooperate with the British government for its alleged refusal to cooperate with the company which, it was said, was thus placed at a disadvantage in its struggle with American competitors.

RAIDS CONTINUE

New York, July 2.—(AP)—Continuing the raids which marked the first day in office of Andrew McCampbell, new prohibition administrator in New York, agents today seized a beer truck from New Jersey and raided a speakeasy on East 46th street.

The truck was trailed from West street ferry to the speakeasy. Twelve half barrels of beer were seized on the truck and five half barrels of beer and several bottles of hard liquor in the speakeasy.

The driver and helper on the truck and the speakeasy bartenders were arrested.

The PRODIGAL KING

by Minott Saunders © 1930 by NEA SERVICE INC.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third of six stories on the life and loves of young King Carol II of Rumania. Yesterday's story told of Carol's youthful morganatic marriage to the beautiful Zizi Lambri, a commoner. Today's story tells of his royal wife, Princess Helen, the second of the three women who have played such a big part in his life.

By MINOTT SAUNDERS
NEA Service Writer

Paris, July 2—In the fairy stories, the gallant young prince married the beautiful princess and they lived happily ever after.

But that was in the fairy books. It wasn't in Rumania.

Helen, former princess of Greece, is queen of Rumania today by virtue of the fact that her husband, the errant Prince Carol, recently returned and proclaimed himself King Carol II. But she is queen in name only, for all the secret sorrows that a disillusioned wife knows are hers.

"The saddest princess in Europe" they used to call her . . . and now "the saddest queen." And for reason enough.

She and her royal husband never loved each other, having been forced into marriage by crafty diplomats for political reasons. In the early days of their married life the memories of his ill-starred love affairs with Zizi Lambri still lingered with Carol and it is reported that he continued to visit Zizi at frequent intervals. In the later days his affections turned to Madame Lupescu, a red-headed divorcee, and culminated with his elopement with her to France to live in amorous exile in a villa near Paris.

Deserted, Helen sued for a divorce and got it.

But this divorce was wiped out, however, when Carol returned unexpectedly to Rumania and proclaimed himself king the other day. He declared all acts committed during his absence to be invalid, including his wife's divorce and the ascension of their little son, Michael, to the throne.

So nine-year-old Michael, who

had been made king of 17,000,000 Rumanians before he was six years old — on the death of old King Ferdinand, his grandfather — went back to his toys and his mother again became the wife of a husband she never loved.

There doubtless was little else for her to do. A stranger in a strange land, she was alone, probably without a single close friend at the Rumanian court. Her relatives had been dethroned in Greece and, financially as well as otherwise, the family fortunes had suffered greatly.

Tragedy stalked Helen long before she became unhappy queen. Her life has been a succession of sorrows. At 17, when she was a girl in Greece, her grandfather, the late King George I, was assassinated by a bomb thrower. A few years later she witnessed the death, through accident, of her favorite brother, King Alexander. Subsequently, she saw the dethronement, death and exile of her father, King Constantine.

After her marriage to Carol she witnessed the banishment from the Greek throne of her elder brother, King George. Next, the death of her beloved grandmother, Queen Mother Olga. And, too, her uncle, Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany, had lost his crown.

Helen and Prince Carol were married in March, 1921. They had met only slightly, for a time in Switzerland. It was not a love match; it was in the hope of cementing a political alliance between Greece and Rumania.

It is rumored throughout Europe and perhaps truthfully so — that Helen was really in love with a handsome Greek officer and that on the morning of the wedding she threw herself on her knees before her father and implored him to save her from a marriage that was repugnant to her. But Constantine was a king, then a father — so the marriage went ahead.

She went to the altar with tears in her eyes.

There is no evidence that either ever did learn to love the other. The crown prince and his wife continued to live under the same roof, but at two ends of Cotroceni palace which had been assigned to them as a residence. They saw each other rarely.

Meanwhile there were rumors that Carol was continuing his affair, in a clandestine way, with Zizi Lambri, his morganatic first wife whom both church and state had conveniently divorced so he could marry a royal princess. He probably still loved Zizi then, but in time this affair faded and the love of Zizi — like that of any woman scorned — turned to hate.

Once, it is related, the newly-married royal couple were attending a grand review when, in the presence of thousands, a woman wheeled a baby carriage before them. "Da da!" cried the two-year-old infant therein, with arms outstretched toward the young prince. The woman, pleased with the embarrassment she had caused, smiled bitterly. She was Zizi, her former love transformed into a desire for revenge. The baby was Mircea, Carol's child.

Before the end of Carol and Helen's first year of married life, their son, Michael, was born. Helen, though she had never loved her father, dearly loved the boy. Certainly Europe has never known a better mother.

The arrival of the child, however, did not tend to draw the young couple closer together. They drifted even further apart. The actions of Queen Marie, Helen's mother-in-law and the real head of the royal household, apparently failed to help matters.

And so it followed that when Michael was little more than a baby in her arms, Helen's princely husband deserted her and ran away with another woman.

It happened late in 1925 when Crown Prince Carol was sent to London as Rumania's regal representative at the funeral of Alexandra, the dowager queen of England. Instead of returning home, he eloped to Venice with Madame Lupescu, a Rumanian adventuress.

The resultant scandal shook Europe, but Carol and his charming paramour were unabashed. At Venice they registered together under their right names; proceeding to France, they took up residence in a chateau near Paris.

King Ferdinand stormed. Queen Marie pleaded . . . but the crown prince refused to return and eventually renounced his right to the throne. Thus it passed to his little son.

Ferdinand disowned Carol, explaining "he is guilty of repeated moral delinquencies."

Marie wept, saying, "My son prefers a pretty face to his country and his family; can you wonder that I bow my head?"

Helen probably wept, too . . . but she said nothing.

Helen continued to live for her baby, Carol, apparently happy in his French villa with his charming courtesan, seemed glad to forget his wife. He wrote no letters, but occasionally he did send games and other toys to his little son.

It is related that the disconsolate Helen yearned to leave the country, but that Queen Marie forbade it.

"I am wretchedly unhappy," Helen told her one day.

"All queens are unhappily married," replied her philosophical mother-in-law. "I am unhappy. I was far more miserable here during the first few years of my married life than you will ever be."

Doubtless Marie spoke the truth. You will remember that she was brought from England at 18, a radiant granddaughter of Queen Victoria, to become the bride of a 30-year-old Rumanian crown prince whom she had never seen.

Then, as the scenes shifted again in this royal drama, King Ferdinand died and, at the age of 5, little Michael was made king.

The boy king played with his toys. A regency ran the country.

Helen sought solace in promoting Red Cross work throughout Rumania, but she found time to sue her errant husband for divorce on the grounds of desertion. This was granted, in 1928.

"I hope that now he will begin a better life and find the happiness that he apparently failed to find with me," was Helen's comment when informed that the decree had been granted. "I can forgive, but never forget, the wrongs he did to me and my child."

Meanwhile, Prince Carol and his charming companion were enjoying life in their French villa and making occasional trips to the gay Riviera.

NEXT: Madame Lupescu . . . the woman captured the heart of a king.

Men Of Byrd Expedition Now Are Exploring For New Jobs

As Party is Demobilized, Rear Admiral Wants to See Members Launched Again in Civil Life; Few Positions Have Been Offered Polar Adventurers.

BY PAUL HARRISON

New York.—It's all over, including the shouting, for most of the men of the Byrd Antarctic expedition. Their only question now is: "What do we do—where do we go from here?"

They have sailed twice through tropical and polar seas, won their long battle with the ice and snow and gained of Little America, received the determined plaudits of welcoming committees, only to encounter the toughest job of all—making a living in civilization.

"A healthy man can't get along forever on the banquets they're givin' us," observed a weatherbeaten seaman who had shoveled snow and freighted supplies "down on the ice." "Nor does speeches put any wages in a man's pocket. We heard times was hard up here, an' we sure heard right."

Of course there are many whose future is assured—those specialists and leaders who figured prominently in the news of polar conquest. But of the 68 men who returned in triumph on the City of New York and the Eleanor Bolling, there are more who find they have achieved nothing but complete anonymity. Nobody ever heard of the coal passers and seamen, the oilers and the cooks, the engineers and firemen.

Some Are Broke.

Back in a strange world that is almost as impersonal and merciless as the Antarctic itself, they find themselves without jobs and almost without funds. For many went on the expedition as volunteers at nominal pay or none at all. Rear Admiral Byrd has appointed Capt. Ashley C. McKinley, adjutant of the expedition, as employment agent for the demobilized party.

"All these men were picked men," Captain McKinley said, "chosen from among thousands who wanted to go into the Antarctic. All of them gave up jobs to go on an expedition which they knew would give them great hardship."

"There was not a man in the lot who failed to measure up to all the tests that were put to them. Again and again they were called upon to show initiative, courage and loyalty, and they always came through perfectly. Many of them tackled jobs such as they never had known in civil life. But they learned, and became experts."

Some Jobs Offered.

Few positions, however, have been obtained for the job-seekers. A whaling company in the northwest west that it could use six or seven seamen—if they could get there. Two young New Zealanders, A. B. Robinson and Clarence W. Williams refused choice berths as second and third mates of a foreign steamer when they learned it would prohibit their coveted American citizenship. A few men who were detached from the army and navy for the expedition now can return to the service.

One of those seeking employment is Captain Gustav L. Brown, master mariner and skipper of the Eleanor Bolling. He wants to be a port captain or a marine superintendent. "There's talk," he said, "that I'm to be asked to go with Williams on his submarine cruise across the north pole. Would I accept? Sure! Try anything once."

But down at the Seamen's Church Institute, a partially charitable organization, there are fifteen former Byrd-men less fortunately situated. There is Charley Gould, ship's carpenter, George Tennant, the cook, and Sailmaker John Jacobson, who, in his 60's, was the patriarch on the expedition. Another guest of the institute is the seaman, who, when Byrd was seeking funds two years ago, drew out all his savings and presented them, with himself, for the explorer's service.

Tribute to Loyalty.

"We are proud of the men and their loyalty," said Captain McKinley, "and indebted to them for their contribution to the expedition's success. That's why we're so anxious to see them well launched again in civil life."

Association with famous flyers and technicians has put the aviation bug into most of the men's ambitions. Alfred B. Robinson, who was a seaman and harbor pilot, now wants any sort of work in aviation, with mercantile shipping as second choice. William Gribben, second cook on the base ship, wants to be a newspaper reporter or aviation writer. Percival Hart, fireman, Edward Royal, coal passer, W. H. Kelly, engineer, and William Gayman, seaman, all want jobs in the flying game. So does Jack Bussey, the dog driver, who was a ticket agent before going to the Antarctic.

L. K. Grenley, chief radio operator on the Eleanor Bolling, has been connected with aviation-radio since 1922, but now is looking for a job. He was a member of Byrd's north pole expedition. Another radio man, Carl Peterson, also wants a job in aviation or radio. He is married and has one child. John Harold Morrison, an engineer on the expedition, has been studying physics, chemistry and calculus for a college degree. A native New Zealander, he plans to take out his first American papers if he can find a job.

Bark on Exhibition.

Sverre Strom, second officer of the City of New York, and who, with

The City of New York, pictured above, base ship of the Byrd expedition, will be taken on an exhibition cruise within a few weeks. Sverre Strom, lower center, former second officer of the famous bark will be her next skipper. Capt. Ashley C. McKinley, lower left, adjutant of the expedition, is aiding in finding jobs for the men, among them Capt. Gustav L. Brown, lower right, master mariner and former skipper of the Eleanor Bolling.

Bendik Johannsen, the bos'n, first sailed her to this country from their native Norway, will be skipper of the bark when she is taken on her exhibition cruise. "After two years on an American ship," he pointed out, "I should be able to get my throw down the proposition himself first papers for being a citizen."

"It will be a few weeks before the ship will be out from dry dock. The plans are not yet finished, but I hear she is to sail down the Atlantic coast, round the gulf of Mexico and finally up the river to St. Louis. Yes, several of our old crew are to go along. That will give us jobs for awhile."

The expedition duties of the men usually were no indication of their civil professions. Scratch a grimy stoker, for instance, and you might find a Phi Beta Kappa.

Seaman Frank Paape and Stoker A. P. Berlin both are anxious to get back to banking jobs. Joseph DeGanahl, mate on the City of New York, is going back to newspaper work, having been a reporter after he graduated from Harvard in 1925. He also is a pilot in the naval air reserve, and just before joining Byrd had been taking a post-graduate technical course at Yale. Everybody shoveled. "No, there was nothing remarkable about my job," he said. "Titles didn't mean much. They called me a mate, but I was just a handy man like all the rest—and a good shoveler. Everybody shoveled coal and snow, snow and coal, from one end of the trip to the other."

Paul Siple, the strapping, 21-year-old Boy Scout, hasn't got a job, and isn't quite sure that he wants one. He says he may go back to school. Arthur C. Fitch, assistant cook on the expedition, has a wife and four children. "I've got to have work," he said, "and in a hurry. Any kind of work. Wages are the main consideration."

There are many others, of course, ranging from clerks to common seamen. Singly and in pairs, they drift into the expedition headquarters, read the bulletins about banquets and receptions, look for the mail that is seldom there, and drift out again into the hot city. "Many a man here," one of them said, "would like to be back on the ice."

FALLS WITH AIRPLANE STUDENT IS PUNISHED

Ann Arbor, Mich., July 2.—(AP)—University of Michigan officials have added discipline to injury for James D. Morton of Douglas, Wyo., who is the first student to be punished under the rule which prohibits operation of airplanes without permission.

Morton, a student flier failed to obtain permission to practice in his plane and the university first learned that he was flying when he fell into Devil's lake near Adrian, Mich., on May 31 and suffered fractures of several ribs and other injuries. He was suspended for the first semester of next year.

The anti-airplane rule is an extension of the regulation which forbids student operation of automobiles. Those seeking pilot's licenses, however, may obtain permission to fly.

NOTED ACTOR DIES

Philadelphia, July 2.—(AP)—Romaine Callender, 71 formerly a widely known actor, died yesterday at his home here. At the time of his death he was a director of a college of music.

Mr. Callender was given his first part with Robert Mantell in "Richard III," and subsequently appeared with Ethel Barrymore in "Mid-Chance" and "Our Mrs. McChesney" with William Gillette in "Sherlock Holmes" and "Secret Service," and also in "Blood and Sand," "Merton of the Movies," and the Tyler revival of "The School of Scandal." His last part here was that of Magister, the inventor devil, in "Mime," in January, 1928. He 48 survived by his widow.

STATE'S OLDEST MAN

Stamford, July 2.—(AP)—Stamford claims the oldest man in the United States in the person of Major Bond, colored, who lays claim to be a slave of the plantation of one Lea Bufford when the Civil War broke out. He says he remembers well the interest among his race in the south at the news of the founding of the Free States of Liberia, Africa, in 1820.

"Money," says Max Schmeling, "is not everything." And to those who paid to see him fight money, apparently, is nothing.

Navy's Red Tape Keeps Youth Out of Academy

Washington, July 2.—(AP)—Senator Carter Glass, of Virginia, was attempting today to take some of the teeth out of Navy regulations so a constituent of his, Bruce Old, 18 year old Norfolk boy, might enter the Naval Academy.

Old, described as a fine physical specimen, passed his entrance test with an exceptionally good mark, making 3.5 out of a possible four points. But he was rejected because he had not grown all of his second set of teeth. Doctors said while he had all of his teeth now, the second growth never would be complete and by 35 he might have dyspepsia.

Senator Glass took the matter up with Secretary Adams. The latter said he would see what could be done, but made no promises.

Denouncing what he termed the "idiotic regulations" Glass said today:

"Have things so changed in the navy that you now fight battles with your mouths? Do you expect to go out and bite the enemy?"

Old is a son of a captain in the Navy Medical Corps. His great-grandfather was an admiral.

Commissioner Locked Up Is Mistaken For A Crook

New York, July 2.—(AP)—Richard C. Paterson, Jr., city commissioner of correction, was making an inspection tour of eastside prison early today when he ran into a guard who did not recognize him. The guard, booking seven prisoners with whom the commissioner was standing, finally came to him.

"Name?" growled the guard.

"Paterson."

"First name?"

"Richard."

"Address?"

"Ten eighty-eight Park avenue." (The commissioner's correct address.)

"I live on Riverside Drive myself. That makes us both big shots," the guard said, as he wrote down "no home."

"Charge?"

"Frowning," said the commissioner, smiling.

"Burglar," wrote the guard.

The commissioner wearied of the confinement after an hour and identified himself to a shepherd staff will have charge of the ceremonies.

Marriage Announced.
Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schiener of Davis avenue, this-city announce the marriage of their daughter, Edwina Schiener, to French Mr. Sprunt, of Normand L. French, Mr. Sprunt is the popular Palace theater manager and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur French of Quaker Lane, W. C. Hartford.

Baseball July 4.
The Wheel Club will play the Clerk A. C. baseball team at the Henry diamond on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. This is the first game in a series of three. It is expected the game between these two rivals will be most exciting.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, July 2.—(AP)—Total contract awards for building and engineering construction during the first five months of this year were 18 per cent smaller than in the like period last year, Standard Statistics Co. says in a current survey. The decline may be attributed practically in its entirety to the slump in the housing division, the survey says, since the declines in commercial and industrial construction are about offset by expanded activities in public works and utilities and other fields of a semi-public nature.

A special meeting of Transcontinental Oil Co. stockholders has been called for August 14 to vote on a proposal to sell the company's assets to the Ohio Oil Co. in exchange for stock. If the sale is approved the stockholders will vote August 15 on a resolution to dissolve the company.

Officials of Proctor & Gamble Co. state that R. F. Deupree, vice president, is in Europe with Harvey C. Knowles, manufacturing superintendent, to inspect soap making plants in England, France and Germany with a view to purchase by the American company. It was stated no arrangements have been completed and will not be until Mr. Deupree returns.

U. S. BARS 60 PERSONS ON EXCURSION BOATS

Windsor, Ont., July 2 (AP)—Indignation was expressed in border cities today at United States prohibitionists who questioned 3600 local citizens, as they prepared to embark on two steamers yesterday for picnic grounds in the United States.

Between 60 and 60 persons were refused admission.

Protest against the actions of the American inspectors, who conduct their work at the Windsor government dock by government permission, have been filed with the Dominion government at Ottawa by Col. S. M. Robinson, member of Parliament, and with the United States Department of Immigration at Washington by C. F. Redman, general manager of the steamship line operating boats between here and Tashmoo park and Put-in-Bay, Mich.

Other protests will be filed by the Canadian Legion and the Sons of England Society, members of these organizations said. The questions, they declared, delayed by 96 minutes the start of their excursion trips.

OUTLINES SUMMER'S PLAYGROUND PROGRAM

The program arranged at the Community playground on North Main street, of which Miss I. M. Tibbets is in charge, will be the same each day through August 30, when the grounds will close.

The program:
9:30 to 10:30—Tennis for advanced class; volley ball for beginners.
10:30 to 11:30—Tennis for beginners; volley ball for advanced class.
1:30 to 2:30—Story hour.
2:30 to 3:30—Sewing and handwork for girls; croquet and quoits for boys.
3:30 to 4:30—Games for younger children; croquet and quoits for girls.

In addition to this regular program there will be sawdust piles for the little tots to amuse themselves with, baseball and volley ball will be played by both boys and girls and training for track events is to alternate between volley ball for both classes.

George H. Veltch, of Church street, will go to Block Island Friday for a three day vacation.

Dr. Arthur Rogers and family of Waterbury were guests yesterday at the Hotel Sheridan of Mrs. Ann Rogers, the doctor's mother.

The regular monthly business meeting of the Manchester City club will be held tomorrow night at nine o'clock in the club's rooms at 40 Oak street. Dinner will follow the business session.

Ernest McCormick, who is listed as living in Manchester, according to the town directory and also the telephone directory, was yesterday sworn in as prosecuting attorney of the Hartford police court. He assumes office at once and fills the unexpired term of his office associate, who resigned as prosecutor. Mr. McCormick now resides at the University Club, Hartford.

Rain has prevented the sale of fireworks in Manchester to a great extent. Stands were ready to do business yesterday in several different parts of the town. The weather was against out of door stands and they did little business. Those who had fireworks to sell were unable in most cases to get a place under cover to do business as owners of vacant buildings, which are few, do not care to rent their stores for the sale of fireworks because of the insurance clause which would effect their rates.

There will be a well children's conference at the Hospital annex tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. George W. Cheney of 21 Hartford Road is spending the month of July at Fenwick.

Dr. Thomas H. Weldon of Porter street who is spending the week at the family cottage at Crescent Beach is planning to return Monday morning.

Edgar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fayette B. Clarke of Porter street has left for a two weeks' stay at Camp Woodstock.

Miss Dorothy Noren will return to Chicago, Ill., tonight to resume training at the Augustana Hospital, after spending a month with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Noren of Cornell street.

MYSTIC REVIEW HOLDS MEMORIAL SERVICE

Mystic Review, Woman's Benefit association, held a largely attended meeting in Odd Fellows hall last evening. The business session though brief included the memorial service for departed members.

A program followed which consisted of a repeat performance of the display drill by 16 of the members in black and white uniforms. This was given with great success at the Rainbow pageant at Foot Guard hall last month. An interesting number was a piano trio by three small boys pupils of Mrs. Thora Stoeber, Frederick Lavey, Herbert Gilman and Woodrow Trotter. The boys did so well they received an enthusiastic recall and responded with another number. Mrs. Clara Lincoln played a harmonica solo, which was well received, as was a vocal solo by Mrs. Mildred Tedford, accompanied by Mrs. Stoeber.

Mrs. Mary Dougan, chairman of the Pioneer club, distributed pins signifying 25 years of membership to all who had not previously received them. Mrs. Dougan was chairman of the social last evening, and with her assistants served home made cake and fruit punch. Miss Ada Robinson played several piano selections, and for dancing.

WONT ACCEPT RECEIPTS FROM BENEFIT SUPPER

Lee Family in Bolton Doesn't Feel Grange's Offer of Funds Should Be Accepted.

The proceeds of a recent strawberry supper served by the Bolton Grange at the Bolton Center Community House intended as a gift to the Myron M. Lee family which on June 9 lost a four year old child through death, has been refused with thanks. Nearly $100 was taken in at the benefit supper.

Mrs. Lee said today that she greatly appreciated the kindness of her fellow members of the Grange but added that they did not need the money and could not accept it. Consequently the Grange treasury will be increased accordingly. Mrs. Lee added that she was very grateful to her friends but did not think it would be right for her to accept the gift.

The Lees have been members of the Bolton Grange for 19 years and during that long stretch of time have done much to help the organization in many ways. It was largely because of this fact, that the members got together, unknown to Mrs. Lee, and arranged for the benefit supper. They felt that in view of the fact that the Lees had never refused them anything, the Grange should stand behind them now in time of trouble. It was a case of good intentions on all sides.

Many from Manchester bought tickets for the supper, some of whom did not attend. They did it in some cases for what they regarded as a worthy cause and it was especially for such persons that Mrs. Lee offered her explanation and hoped that there would be no misunderstanding. The supper was held June 25. The Lee child, Barbara, died June 9.

MCCABES CELEBRATE 10TH ANNIVERSARY

Russell Street Couple Entertains Relatives in Honor of Wedding Anniversary.

A party in celebration of the tenth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. McCabe, was held Monday evening at their home on 115 Russell street. Twenty-five immediate relatives were present. The couple were presented with an electric coffee percolator and a table lamp, done in imitation of a candlestick, in honor of the event. The McCabe home was decorated with a profusion of roses that transferred it into a veritable rose garden. Refreshments consisting of ice cream and cake were served and the party broke up at a late hour.
