

HUSTON COMPLAINS OF UNJUST ATTACK

Quits Head of G. O. P. National Committee — Says His Successor Will Be Free From Opposition.

Washington, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Claudius H. Huston, of Tennessee, resigned today as chairman of the Republican National committee and in a formal statement asserted "no man in political life has ever been subjected to more unjust and unwarranted attacks."

Huston presented his resignation to a meeting of the party's executive committee and made public his statement before the meeting was over and his successor chosen.

He said his withdrawal would "give the organization an opportunity of selecting a leader free from the present factional opposition, and will permit me without embarrassing others, to pursue a course that will insure in the minds of the Republicans of the country my right to their continued esteem and confidence."

"As heretofore announced," Huston said, "I have determined to retire as chairman of the Republican national committee."

"For a life time I have been a member and an active worker in the Republican Party. I have never sought office or reward in any form. It was with a desire to promote its success and that of the administration that, upon the urging of party leaders, I agreed to accept the chairmanship. I realized that this course involved many sacrifices and in order to service more effectively, I withdrew from active business."

When I became chairman, I expected to bear philosophically the usual burden of criticism and abuse that has come to be recognized as the penalty attaching to high places in American politics. Almost immediately a persistent campaign of persecution was instituted for the purpose of injuring my effectiveness.

"The attack was directed generally against the Republican Party and the administration, but as chairman I became the main target of abuse and of a whispering campaign with its usual accompaniment of falsehoods. The subsequent evidence established the fact that there was no truth in these charges.

Charges Refuted

"Every accusation made by the Senate (lobby) committee was so completely refuted that its final report to the Senate charged no wrongdoing and the opposing party, since that time, has found no advantage in pursuing me further.

"I am conscious of my own integrity. I have never been accustomed to give ground under fire.

"Every personal imputation I have is to fight this thing to a finish, especially in view of the unfair tactics that have been employed, and it is on that account that I have delayed my present action until now.

"In the past it has been the policy of the party leaders to maintain a solid front when under the enemy fire, but as this has not been the policy in the present case, I have

BILLION LOSS DROUGHT'S TOLL; RELIEF AFAR

Farm Board to Extend Credit to Stricken Farmers; Railroads to Transport Cattle to New Feeding Places.

Washington, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Preparations to extend relief to the drought suffering nation went on apace today under the direction of President Hoover while reports pouring into government agencies indicated the possibility of damages approaching the billion dollar mark unless rains fall soon.

With nothing but local showers indicated by the Weather Bureau for the suffering sections in the immediate future, the Farm Board was studying a possibility of extending substantial credit to live stock and cotton farmers through emergency appropriation of the Federal marketing account.

Secretary Hyde, hastening back from the west, planned a conference with the President immediately upon his return today. Assurances reached the President that the railroads will co-operate with the government in seeking relief to the farmers, on suggestion being the free transportation of live stock to more favorable feeding grounds.

PLAN OUTLINED

Washington, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Carl Williams, Farm Board member representing cotton, outlined today a plan by which the board may be able to extend aid to drought-stricken farmers through the Grain Stabilization Corporation.

"If the existing seed distribution agencies or other business men and farmers in any stricken community, county, district or state," he

GOLD OUR ONLY WEIGHT IN COUNCILS ABOUT WAR

America's Wealth What Makes Other Nations Take Notice, Says Naval Expert at Conference.

Williamstown, Mass., Aug. 7.—(AP)—The United States will go to the next limitation of armament conference in 1935 with less influence than she ever had in such a gathering if she accedes to the movement now on foot to under-build tonnage permitted her by the London treaty, Rear Admiral Arthur P. Heppburn, said today.

Admiral Heppburn, chief of staff of the United States fleet and member of the American delegation at the London naval conference, addressed the limitation of armament conference at the Institute of Politics.

Asserting that the nations of the world do not "see eye to eye" with the United States being unable to understand her "abandonment of the infant League of Nations on the European doorstep," her failure to respond to the appeal for national security and her attitude on other world questions, Admiral Heppburn said:

"If we fail to take the party and other ratios for which we strove at London, they will not understand that. They will not credit it to our desire for peace and America will go to the next limitation conference in 1935 with less influence than she ever had in such a gathering."

Our Only Weight

America's only weight in world councils on questions of armament lies in her wealth and her ability to indulge herself in any degree of armament that appeals to her, he declared.

BIG LIQUOR CARGO ON GARBAGE SCOW

$100,000 Worth of Booze Discovered on City's Boat; Employes Discharged.

New York, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Two Department of Sanitation employes were dismissed, another was fined 30 days pay, and two more were exonerated at a department trial today growing out of discovery of $100,000 worth of liquor on a city garbage scow.

The men dismissed were Inspector Walter Lestrange, who was in charge of the garbage dump the night customs agents raided the scow there, and Joseph Miller, a sweeper at the dump.

The men fined 30 days' pay was Inspector Andrew W. Mulrain, who was in charge of the dump when the scow was brought in after dumping a load of garbage at sea. He admitted that he failed to inspect it on arrival.

The men exonerated were Philip Galanti and William Gillis, captain and mate of another city scow which was towed in about 800 feet behind the one later raided. They said the night was so dark they could not see what was going on aboard the scow ahead.

CAPE COD FIRES BREAK OUT ANEW

Thought Under Control, Blazes Start at Many Points—Villages in Paths.

Plymouth, Mass., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Forest and scrubland fires, which for several days have swept over many miles of Cape Cod, today bursted with renewed fury in widely separated places. Thousands of volunteers and municipal firetrucks, wearing by their efforts to save lives and property, reorganized their forces to fight the battle on new lines.

What appeared to be the most serious blaze today was reported from Carver. Breaking out about dawn this fire swept over a front a half-mile in width. The villages of South Carver and North Carver were not many miles from it.

Firefighters, who had fought incessantly all night to bring a dangerous situation near Long Pond, village Plymouth under control, were marshaled for more service at Carver. A band of 150 men was rushed to that section, 15 miles from Plymouth. The only properties outside the villages that were reported in danger were a few cranberry sheds and the large Jessup's Cranberry Bog.

THREE SISTERS DIE IN AUTO ACCIDENT

All School Teachers — Were Returning From Atlantic City Vacation.

Pleasantville, N. J., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Three sisters of Lilly, Pa., school teachers in Western Pennsylvania, were killed at English Creek crossing near here today when their automobile was struck by a Reading railroad train. They were:

Ursula B. Ryan, 26.
Agnes S. Ryan, 24.
Helen Catharine Ryan, 21.

The three sisters were on their way home from a vacation in Atlantic City.

HOOVER CHAUFFEUR A CAREFUL DRIVER

F. H. Robinson Has Had No Accidents Piloting Four Presidents.

Washington, Aug. 7.—(AP)—President Hoover can reasonably expect to complete his years in the White House without an automobile accident despite his extensive motor travel.

His chauffeur, Francis H. Robinson, has been driving presidents since the first automobile was bought for the White House in 1910 and has never had an accident. Unless the law of averages works against him, he says he never expects to have one.

Robinson came to the capital from Boston two decades ago when President Taft gave the city a shock by ordering a car powered by steam to supplant the historic horse and carriage always used by chief executives. As personal chauffeur to President Wilson, Harding Coolidge and Hoover since then he has driven thousands of miles, and admits being in many tight places, but has always brought his machine through unscathed.

President's Likes

President Taft and Wilson are recalled by Robinson as the two presidents who liked to drive fast at all times. The last two occupants of the White House have been fond of automobile travel, but both were more conservative in their tastes.

Mr. Hoover is the most enthusiastic motorist of all the presidents. Almost every week-end he takes the three hour drive to his lodge in Virginia and back without tiring. But he seldom permits Robinson to exceed the Virginia speed limit of 45 miles an hour, and when traveling about Washington has set a precedent of conforming to the traffic lights even when accompanied by a motorcycle escort. Only when he is on official missions, does he permit infringement of the traffic laws, and this, too, is rare.

BRITAIN KEEPS UP EMBARGO ON APPLES

Declines to Remove Ban on American Fruit — Fears An Insect Pest.

Washington, Aug. 7.—(AP)—The British government in a note to the American government has declined to modify its embargo on certain classes of American apples imposed because of infection with the apple fruit fly.

The British note was in reply to representatives by Secretary Stimson and it expressed regret that the embargo could not be modified as requested. "It was emphatically stated that Great Britain could not run the risk of a spread of the infection through the importation of grades now barred."

No Infection

The note contended the reason the Department of Agriculture had not found the infection of late was because inspections were made during winter months when it was not prevalent.

The higher grades of apples are admitted by the British, the government believing these classes are more carefully inspected.

The State Department also has made representations to the Argentine government against new regulations of that country respecting the type of container in which imported apples must be shipped.

The Argentine fly, does not involve the fruit fly, but merely the necessity for shippers to change from the present method of shipping in barrels to a new non-standard box. Shippers contend insufficient notice of the change was given.

CAP. HAWKS BREAKS EAST - WEST RECORD

With Five Stops He Reaches Pacific Coast in 14 Hours, 50 Minutes.

Los Angeles, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Frank Hawks, Los Angeles aviator, today held the record for the quickest east-west crossing of the United States.

Flying at an average speed of 179 miles per hour, Hawks yesterday drove his low-winged monoplane from Curtiss Field, N. Y., to Municipal Airport, Los Angeles in 14 hours, 50 minutes and 43 seconds. It was the first time a transcontinental flight had been made in full daylight. The Travelair plane touched the ground here at 4:50:43 p. m. (PST) after leaving New York 5 a. m. (EST).

Breaks Record

Hawks lowered by three hours and 52 minutes the recent east-west record set by Roscoe Turner. He made refueling stops at Columbus, Ohio, St. Louis, Wichita, Kas., Albuquerque, N. M., and Kingman, Ariz. Turner made but one stop on his flight.

Hawks encountered stormy weather during most of the 2,900 miles. He flew through heavy clouds between Pittsburgh, Pa., and Terre Haute, Ind., and severe storms from Albuquerque to the Arizona-California border.

Over Arizona, Hawks said, he was forced to fly high and off his course to avoid thunderstorms.

Subtracting the time taken for the five stops Hawks actually flew across the country in 13 hours, 35 minutes and 43 seconds.

SAILOR STRICKEN

Boston, Aug. 7.—(AP)—The Coast Guard patrol boat Harriet Lane today sped to the Boston owned fishing schooner Yankee on the fishing banks to take off a member of the crew who was stricken seriously, ill, probably with appendicitis. The man's name was not disclosed in a radio message picked up by the Coast Guard.

WAGE SCALE RATIFIED

Scranton, Pa., Aug. 7.—(AP)—The tri-district convention of the Miners Union today ratified the new anthracite wage contract.

Delegates to the convention voted immediately after President Lewis had finished a stirring talk in which he called upon the rank and file of the union to ratify the agreement. The contract is to run for five years and seven months, beginning September 1, 1930.

NEW CUSTOM RULE

Washington, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Once every thirty days a tourist returning from Canada may bring in articles valued at less than $100 for his personal or household use, duty free—but only once.

The ruling was made today by Commissioner Eble of the Customs Bureau on a question brought by the collector at St. Albans, Vermont.

An American tourist upon a visit to Canada acquired articles for personal and household use valued at $50 which were admitted free of duty. Three weeks later the same tourist visiting in Canada sought to bring in souvenirs or curios valued at $50 on the grounds that in both instances the value of the combined articles was less than the $100 exemption granted residents within a period of thirty days.

Eble ruled against him.

FEAR 25 LIVES LOST IN NOGALES FLOODS

Once Noted Athlete Jumps to His Death

New York, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Edwin J. Clapp, former financial writer and Olympic hurdler, more recently employed by William C. Durant, automobile manufacturer, committed suicide today by jumping from the 13th floor of a Fifth avenue apartment hotel where until recently he had been a tenant.

Clapp, who was 49 years old, left a note reading: "Good bye, Sue. I have killed myself. Nobody is to blame but me. I am crazy."

He was identified by a two months old police card found in his pocket. The note was left on a table in the apartment he had recently vacated.

Clapp was a Yale graduate and in 1915 was a member of the Olympic hurdling team. He was author of "The Port of Boston" and several books on economic and financial subjects. Until two years ago he was a financial writer on the New York American. Since then, an official of Durant Motors said, he had been employed by Durant and gave some of his time to William Randolph Hearst.

American and Mexican Cities of Same Name Swept by Torrential Rains—Streets Flooded to Depth of Eight Feet — Many Houses Swept Away—Forty Persons Reported Missing; Believe Death List Will Be Much Larger.

Nogales, Ariz., Aug. 7.—(AP)—A torrent of water that swept through the Mexican and American border cities of Nogales early today left four known dead, forty missing and a scene of confusion which led police to believe at least 25 persons had lost their lives. The bodies of three women were found on the Mexican side of the line and the body of a man was discovered near the banks bridge on the American side. None was identified.

"Many houses have been swept away," the Mexican police reported, "and forty persons are missing."

One hotel and sixteen Mexican homes on the Sonora side were reported by the police there to have been swept away. They did not know how many persons were in the hotel. A C. Villanor, chief of police, said his officers reported having seen several bodies floating down the street.

Screams of Women

Originating from a heavy rain in the Santa Rita mountains, the flood water rushed down the valley and inundated the lower portions of the international city, particularly the Mexican side, five to eight feet.

The screams of women arose above the roar of the flood as the water quickly surrounded the homes of sleeping residents. Eye witnesses said infants in their cribs were swept into the flood. Adobe structures crumbled as the flood determined them.

The twin cities, standing in the neck of a bottle-shaped valley, shared the flood's fury, but the Mexican section was believed the hardest hit. Flood water stood six to six feet deep in international streets, the thoroughfare of picturesque shops which divides the two cities.

The flood waters followed a stream bed, unusually dry, which runs between the towns, reaching many large buildings. The dry bed is covered with concrete, forming a tunnel incapable of carrying flood waters.

Forcing itself through the tunnel the water spouted high, splashing many large buildings. The flood ripped through adobe structures, stripping them of everything movable.

Still Raining

The water wall down upon the sleeping city ahead of a rain-storm when the storm struck, rain fell in sheets. At 7 a. m., it still was pouring down.

The deluge held the cities in its grip for more than three hours. At 7 o'clock international street and many side streets still were filled from curb to curb, and debris was piled high against the buildings.

Hundreds of Mexicans ventured to the higher side streets clad only in night clothes, their possessions swept from their shattered homes.

Shelter was given them in houses that escaped the flood.

More than fifty automobiles, left in the streets, were buried in debris. Some had been rolled and tumbled several blocks.

Early Bulletins

Nogales, Ariz., Aug. 7.—(AP)—A score of persons were reported dead and 25 missing after torrent of water swept through Nogales and its sister city, Nogales, Sonora, early today. The body of a Mexican woman, representing the first known death, was washed across the international line at the height of the flood.

Widespread Confusion

Confusion was so widespread at the climax of the flood that reports of missing persons could not be checked. The screams of women, caught in buildings of the lower areas, arose above the roar of the flood water. Both cities were dark as power lines went out of commission. Telephone service stopped.

At 3 a. m., the chief of police of Nogales, Sonora, made his way to the American side and said he had received reports of at least two dozen deaths but could not confirm them. He said 25 children had been reported missing in the Mexican city.

8 Feet of Water

From three to eight feet of water poured through the streets of the border cities apparently from a nearby cloudburst.

Don Phillips, an American aviator, who had been visiting on the Mexican side, managed to reach the American city and said he had seen several small children swept away when an adobe building collapsed.

Excited citizens flocked to the police station here and told of seeing persons, mostly children, being

William Schrader, 40, operator of the "Rolling Book" was arrested in his automobile as he was accepting bets.

A search was begun for a "bookie" radio station which police said the gamblers apparently had set up for traveling "bookies" since they have been forced to close down in the Calumet region.

SENATOR HEFLIN HURT IN CRASH

Auto Hits Pole to Avoid Truck — None in Party Seriously Injured.

Decatur, Ala., Aug. 7.—(AP)—United States Senator J. Thomas Hefflin of Alabama, suffered bruises and cuts and a sprained wrist near here today and three members of his party were cut and bruised as their automobile crashed into a telephone pole to avoid striking a heavily laden log truck that drove onto a highway from a side road.

Not Badly Hurt

Senator Hefflin and his party were brought to Decatur in a passing bus and three of them were transferred to ambulances and taken to a hospital. The Senator, however, went to a hotel where a physician attended him.

EX-CONGRESSMAN OPERATED STILL

Manuel Herrick Arrested Red Handed by Dry Agents in Maryland.

Washington, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Manuel Herrick, former representative from Oklahoma, was arrested yesterday by prohibition agents in St. Mary's county, Maryland, on a charge of operating a still.

Officers who made the raid in the early morning said Herrick was operating the still at the time of his arrest. He was taken to Baltimore and placed in jail pending a hearing.

Herrick, a farmer and cattle raiser from the "Cherokee Strip" in Oklahoma was elected to Congress from the Eighth Oklahoma District during the "Herring landslide" in 1920. He was defeated for re-election in 1922 but in his two years here his eccentricities kept him prominently before the public.

Comes to Capital

After his defeat he came back to Washington and recently has been living near California, Md., about 80 miles from the Capital.

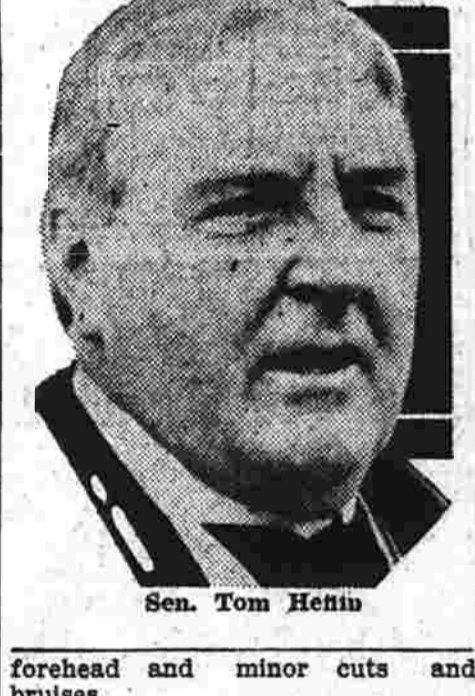

Officers who took the former Representative into custody said he was living alone in a one room shack near the still and had been working as a boiler tender and utility man at a nearby mill for $15 a week. Herrick is 54 years old.

Two men were arrested with Herrick and a third escaped, the agents reported.

After coming to Washington in 1921 Herrick attracted attention by unorthodox actions and statements but he attained something approximating notoriety after he was threatened with suits by entrants in a beauty contest.

He was sued by his stenographer, Miss Ethelyn Crane, of Oklahoma. She charged he made statements which reflected on her character. In turn, Herrick sued her for alleged breach of promise.

The litigation went against him. He then chartered an airplane and hurried back to Oklahoma to campaign for re-election. He announced as the subject of his opening address: "Two Years in Congress, or Through Hell and Back Again." The speech was made but the voters were not impressed. Herrick was a poor third, receiving only 168 votes.

CONTRACT APPROVED

Hartford, Aug. 7.—(AP)—The State Board of Finance and Control today approved the awarding of a contract by the trustees of the new state hospital at Newtown for the construction of service buildings for the hospital.

The general contract was awarded to C. Abbadessa and Brothers, Inc., of New Haven, whose base bid was $370,000; the plumbing contract was awarded to M. J. Daly and Sons of Waterbury for $81,267; heating, Libby and Blinn, Inc., Hartford, $158,770; electrical, Ames Engineering Company, N. L. C. ## DEATH ACCIDENTAL

Bridgeport, Aug. 7.—(AP)—A finding of accidental death, with no criminal responsibility, was returned today in the death of William Whaley, 9, of Darien, who was killed while riding on an automobile operated by his step-father, William De Long. The accident occurred on the Waterbury-New Fairfield road last Sunday.

Beautiful U. S. Embassies But No Wall Pictures

Washington, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Uncle Sam has become an owner of new homes abroad, but he was found today to have searched his cellars and garrets in vain for a forgotten item needed to make them homey.

When provisions were made for the furnishings of embassies and consulates the government is building to house its foreign missions, nothing was said about pictures for the walls.

One solution suggested is that the governmental appeal to museums in various parts of the country and through the co-operation of members of Congress secure the loan of suitable pictures which could be spared for display abroad.

Under present laws the walls must remain bare.

Somber and dull pictures of past Cabinet officers, buildings which formerly housed government departments and scenes of battles in which Americans participated now hang upon the walls of many government buildings. Many more are stored in cellars or under the eaves on top floors. A thorough search of all possible supplies thus far has disclosed few suitable for foreign display.

As a result the foreign buildings commission charged with the furnishing of the new buildings finds itself able to purchase the finest of almost everything, except pictures.

"The local organizations would arrange for the local distribution of the seed thus supplied and see to the collection of the farmers' notes when due. It would make no profit on its own services and would make proper arrangements for the payment of freight."

Has Plenty of Grain
Williams said the Grain Stabilization Corporation board agency, has plenty of grain and can buy more to replace that sold for feed.

"The plan is believed to be practical and workable," Williams said, "if local communities will do their part, no substantial farmer need lack for feed for his livestock and no stock need be sacrificed on present prices."

Secretary Hyde returned to Washington today for a conference with President Hoover on the drought situation. Weather Bureau reports said scattered rains had helped in a few localities only and that general rains were not in sight.

Although the league could not speak for the retailers, it said that when last May's decrease in wholesale prices was made the retailers decrease in wholesale prices was made the price to the consumer one cent a quart.

FOREST FIRE MENACE
Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 7.—(AP)—The State Department of Health reported today that water shortage conditions throughout the state have been relieved temporarily by the tapping of emergency supplies.

At Hanover, one of the areas most seriously affected, two million gallons of water were taken from a private lake to tide over the emergency.

Emergency supplies were tapped in at least a dozen communities, and that many other towns were surveying sources for securing additional water which will be needed soon.

The forest fire menace again revived. At Mt. Gretna, 1,000 National Guardsmen in camp there battled to check a fire that threatened the divisional headquarters of the encampment. Ten acres in the center of the reservation were burned.

FACING WATER FAMINE
Baltimore, Aug. 7.—(AP)—The prospect of a water famine must be faced at Annapolis, the state capital, in a few days, if the present drought continues, officials said today. There was no sign of a break in the drought today, as the mercury started its daily climb.

The fight on forest fires in western Maryland continued with more than 1,000 men at the front.

swept along by the raging rain waters.

The Nogales, Sonora, chief of police said the torrents of water, sweeping through his city, had cracked sidewalks, uprooted trees, and flattened adobe buildings.

Hotel Collapse
Nogales, Sonora, hotel of adobe construction, collapsed. It was not known how many persons were in the building. Mexican police said they feared similar occurrences and that many lives might be lost in collapsing buildings.

Physicians and nurses were mobilized on the American side and all space in hospitals here was made ready. Rescue work was made difficult because of darkness and the heavy rain. At four o'clock the skies still were pouring down sheets of water and there was no perceptible abatement of the flood.

Several persons from the residential section of the American city reported they had seen three babies crying floating down Morly avenue, but were unable to reach them. They said they heard the babies crying.

Police declared the flood waters had struck both cities before rain had fallen and that many inhabitants must have been trapped in their beds.

Situated in Valley
Situating in the neck of a great bottle-shaped valley, the twin cities felt the sweep of flood waters from three sides. The Mexican city, for the most part is on higher ground than the American sister but its buildings generally of poorer construction.

The population of the two towns is approximately 11,000 with the Mexican city slightly larger. Only a barbed wire fence separates the two.

Nogales, Sonora, frequently has been the center of Mexican revolutions and the object of opposing armies. Both cities depend upon border trade for their existence. Produce and cattle from the fertile west coast of Mexico is shipped through into the United States over the only railroad in western Mexico. Picturesque shops, catering to American visitors clutter the main thoroughfares of both streets, displaying the highly colored, beaded ropes, hand-tooled leather goods and other handicrafts of Mexican and Yaqui and Maya Indians.

Here's Hint for Hot Weather

NEA Cincinnati Bureau Any "tired business man" would really enjoy dictating letters to disinterested customers if his stenographer followed the example of Mary Belle Smith of Cincinnati, and donned a bathing suit when the mercury flitted around the 100-degree mark. Her sister, William Danziger, is shown catching up with a lot of correspondence and Mary Belle, of course, is trying to keep her notes in shape. And she says it's a good idea during hot weather.

The Herald Hears

That one of the rear wheels was stolen off a new Ford automobile in a Wells street garage during the night. The spare wheel was not taken because it was fastened.

That the temperature up Porter street was ranged anywhere from six to twelve degrees cooler than in many of the other sections of the town.

That flames from a bon fire made by several local young people having a hot dog roast down Fern street yesterday night leaped so high in the air, passersby must have thought the conflagration was due to a conflagration of the KKK burning one of their fiery crosses.

That the West Side baseball club may decide to meet tonight to discuss with the services of Sammy Massey and thus restore the possibility of a town series with the Green and Bon Ami.

That about the hottest place these days is out in the country picking huckleberries, especially in the sections where the bushes are short and shade at a premium.

How's She Hitting?

By ISRAEL KLEIN
Science Editor, NEA Service

It is one of the ironies of progress that those devices which would have helped us considerably in learning to drive our automobiles have not been introduced until now, when so many of us are supposedly expert motorists.

There's free-wheeling, for example, which has been introduced recently by one of the popular manufacturers in America, and which had been on the market for some time in Europe. What a help it would have been to us while we were learning to drive our first cars!

The free-wheeling principle, as introduced in this country, enables a driver to shift from second to high or back without touching the clutch pedal, and at any speed. Up hill or down, the car will go into its proper speed at the proper time, and without the slightest sound of clashing gears.

Into reverse, into first, and even from first to second, there is no need of the free-wheeling principle, for there is very little clashing of gears at these speed changes. It was only when a novice had to shift from second to high, and more particularly from high to second, that the terrible noise and costly consequences resulted.

Further to make driving easier for us, and just as belated—from the expert's viewpoint—as the free-wheeling device, is that silent gear arrangement known as "synchronism." That, too, would have been quite welcome when we were learning to drive. For by its aid we can shift from one gear to another, especially from second to high, without clashing gears.

There are other innovations that, in the same manner, seem to have come too late for us. But they'll be mighty handy conveniences when we make use of them nevertheless.

In the meantime, speaking of clashing gears, the transmission, the best advice is to pay close attention to the gears when changing. Even the best of us will clash gears at times, but this is done only when we seem to be in too much of a hurry to get away, or when we are distracted by something else.

Many a driver seems to have forgotten that there is a neutral position in between one gear and another, and that shifting through this neutral in the proper manner is an important consideration for a driver. A sudden jump from second to high will not only excruciatingly noisy but tough on the works in the transmission case. Careful shifting from second to neutral and then to high, just at the proper time when the gears are felt to lock properly, is the way to drive even in these days of finer improvements.

The operation takes slightly longer, but it's so much easier on the car, and on the nerves of the passengers.

Another operation many of us have almost taken for granted, but so neglected somewhat, is that of shifting the clutch properly. That is why free-wheeling comes in handy, not only for the poor drivers but even for those who consider themselves expert. There's no need of bothering about the clutch between second and third gear.

On learning to drive we were told to let in the clutch slowly until it caught. But this operation soon became a habit, we took it for granted and many of us now move our left foot as unconsciously as when walking. But in doing so, if we're in the least nervous, or impatient, or in a hurry, that clutch has to bear the brunt of our impudent. The result is poor drivability and an important part of the clutch and transmission, when driving.

JURY QUESTIONING CHURCH TRUSTEES
Asks New Britain Residents About Withdrawals of Church Wines.

New York, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Officers of the Czech-Slovak church of New Britain, Conn., were questioned today, at the trial of Bishop Charles Mrzema of the Czech-Slovak Church in America, about reported withdrawals of three thousand gallons of sacramental wine in a year for the use of the church.

Mrzema and eight others are charged with diversion of sacramental wine to illegal uses.

Nickifor Nastyn, president; John Ostrowski, secretary and Profrot Wajklyn, treasurer of the New Britain church said only small quantities of wine were used at sacramental services and that their purchases amounted only to five or ten gallons a year.

The Rev. Peter J. Pashlewsky, pastor of the church, under whose administration Bishop Mrzema and others are said to have made withdrawals for its account, was indicted for perjury by the Federal Grand Jury which indicted the bishop for liquor law violation.

SHIELDS DEFEATS

BIG BILL TILDEN

19 Year Old Schoolboy Sensation Upsets U. S. Ace 6-1, 2-6, 6-1 at Southampton.

Southampton, N. Y., Aug. 7.—(AP) Frank Shields, New York, sprang a sensational upset today by defeating Big Bill Tilden in the Meadow Club's invitation tennis tournament, 6-1, 2-6, 6-1.

Shields, 19-year-old schoolboy who ranks No. 12 on the national list to Tilden's No. 1, scored his surprising conquest in clean-cut fashion in the quarter-final round of the tournament.

Tilden, only two days off the boat from Europe, was made a belated court into the singles competition yesterday. He won his first two matches but was hard-pressed to beat J. Gilbert Hill in three sets.

Shields, who has a terrific service comparable to Tilden's cannonball delivery, got the jump on the American champion at the outset. The youngster dropped the second set but captured the third and deciding set as rapidly as he did the first.

Tilden's control was off and he missed the lines frequently by feet instead of inches.

Shields, a former junior titleholder, has been coming fast this season, recently he beat Fritz Messer, sixth ranking player, for the Delaware state singles championship.

The former schoolboy and junior champion set a terrific pace to win the first set, quickly running the court in games 10-9 before Tilden could break through and take the fourth at love. Shields put on steam, took the fifth game at love and ran out the next two to win the set 6-1.

Tilden fought gamely through the series of deuce games that marked the second set but was forced to battle bitterly for every point. After taking a lead of 3-0 in games, Tilden dropped the fourth and fifth games, but won the next three straight to capture the set 6-3.

Big Bill's rally carried off one game into the third and deciding set. He swept the first at love and then wilted before Shields' drive, dropping six straight games and the set 6-1.

Francis T. Hunter, of New Rochelle, N. Y., doubles partner of Big Bill, waged a strenuous struggle to down Edward Jacobs, youthful Baltimore player, 8-6, 8-6. Hunter, ranked next to Tilden, beat Jacobs with his great forward drives to enter the semifinal round.

Lott Loees Too
Sensation piled upon sensation when George Lott followed Tilden into defeat. The blond Chicago youth who shared the Davis Cup singles assignment with Big Bill against the French was beaten by the youthful Baltimore player, 6-4, 3-6, 9-7.

Wilmer Allister, a third Davis Cup player, won from Richard Murphy, Utica, N. Y., however, 7-5, 6-4.

COOLER IN MIDWEST
Chicago, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Rains and cooling winds brought seasonal temperatures today to most of the heat seared areas.

Southern Illinois still sweltered, however, in a withering wave that ranged upwards from 100 degrees. Wells, streams and reservoirs have been burned dry. Farmers are carting water from oases for their families and beasts.

Showers in the midwest brought a cool respite. The rain was general over northeast South Dakota and southern North Dakota. The precipitation pushed south into central and southern Nebraska.

Southwest Iowa was doused with a good downpour last night, leaving the southeastern counties the only part of the state still in need of a good rain.

Throughout the southwest the hottest part of the nation, two days ago, reasonable temperatures generally prevailed.

In New York City the heat wave lingers on with no relief in sight. Thousands have been sleeping at the beaches at night. The heat caused three deaths yesterday.

The prices are effective August 11.

The widespread drought, which has dried up the pastures and necessitated the feeding of grain and hay to the milk cows made necessary the increase, the announcement said. The increase brings the milk back to the level of last May, when prices were reduced.

NOVEL FLASHLIGHT
Cleveland, Aug. 7.—(AP)—The clouds of acrid smoke that curl to the ceiling when newspaper photographers' flashlights boom a greeting to celebrities will soon be a thing of the past.

A new photographic flash lamp, electrically operated without smoke, noise or odor has been developed by General Electric engineers. Because the new lamp confines the flash entirely within the bulb, almost no light is lost. It will make possible the taking of flashlight pictures in places heretofore practically impossible to shoot, such as in theaters, airships and under water.

The lamp consists of an oxygen filled bulb containing a specially coated filament which flashes the quantity of light from the regular lighting circuit or from dry or storage batteries. A new bulb is used for each flash.

Britain, discussing the question of abolishment of the blockade said that blockade is an accepted principle in time of war and has never been disputed among nations. "I discern the probability of strong dissent from this principle by the weaker powers, however," he said, "owing to the very great advantages such a course would confer on the stronger powers. Blockade can only be imposed by a power having a superiority at sea."

Professor Jesse Reeves, of the University of Michigan, addressing the round table "Pan-American Problems" of which he is leader, advocated negotiation of a treaty with each of the Caribbean countries setting forth the extent to which special interests are to be recognized. He pointed out that this step had already been taken in the case of Cuba through the Platt amendment and said that that amendment, despite the opposition of some Cuban politicians to it, had fully demonstrated the wisdom of the United States policy.

LATEST STOCKS

New York, Aug. 7.—(AP)—The Stock Market left to the bears today, while bulls made merry in the commodity markets. There was some liquidation of stocks by investors who feared the crop crisis may have postponed business recovery, but the major portion of selling orders originated with floor traders. Professionals were more aggressive on the short side than of late, however, and a long list of important stocks sold off from 1 to 7 points or more, as the volume of trading increased substantially. The day's quota of corporate and industrial news was not of a character to hamper the bears. Passing of the Goodrich dividend, payment of the National Family Stores dividend in stock instead of cash, and expectations of a reduction of the Warner Bros. cash payment late in the day, were not helpful to the cause of higher prices. A bright spot in the gloom was an expression of opinion by President Shumaker of the R.C.A.-Victor Co. that the working people of the country have substantial savings, and only need reinsurance as to employment to start spending normally again. "We are going to run our plant to capacity until it is proven that we are wrong," he said. In the Federal Reserve Board's August bulletin, the financial community found some comforting reading. Member banks were said to be indebted to the reserve system to only about one-twelfth their aggregate reserve balances, and to be entering the period when the demand for currency increased about $150,000,000 in an exceptionally easy position. Wall street bankers understand the New York Reserve Bank is prepared to purchase government securities to such extent as will offset recent and further losses of gold. Such stocks as U. S. Steel, Radio, General Electric and General Motors were well supported. The market was inclined to rally at times, for a period during the middle of the morning, and again in the early afternoon. As a group, the utilities were hardest hit, but the decline was broad. Eastman and Allied Chemical dropped about 7 points each, while Case and American Water Works lost 4 or more. Issues losing about 2 to 3 included North American, American Power and Light, Air Reduction, American Tobacco, B. Atchison, American Can, Consolidated Gas, Corn Products, International Flavors, Warner Bros, Allis Chalmers, Erie, Rock Island, Myers and Republic Steel.

CAPE COD FIRES BREAK OUT ANEW

(Continued from Page 1) cautions similar to those taken yesterday, when all were made ready for hasty removal, were taken today. Back fires were employed successfully yesterday in stopping a blaze when it approached to within a short distance of the hospital. In other sections, smaller fires were demanding the attention of the firemen. The situation at Wareham appeared well under control. In that town, as well as many others, forces of men were being held in readiness for new outbreaks. Officials of the Barnstable County fire department in their district, they did not believe the institution was in serious danger. Inmates were allowed to go about the grounds as usual. Reports to Maxwell C. Hutchins, state fire warden said the fire had been extinguished. The fire near the Wareham line in Plymouth county had burned over 2,000 acres. Twenty-five men with pumps were fighting it. State police reported all main roads in the area were open. They requested however that sightseeing motorists stay away until the fire menace ceased.

REVIEW OF MAINE TROOPS FEATURE

Howitzer Soldiers Get Guard Assignment Tonight, G Tomorrow Night.

By ARCHIE KILPATRICK
(Special to The Herald)

Camp Devens, Mass., Aug. 7.—Maine again today held the spotlight in this 25 acres of sweltering heat when the 103rd Infantry comprising the 86th Brigade together with the 172nd Infantry of Vermont passed in review for the first time before Major General Morris E. Payne, commander of the 43rd Division.

The Pine Tree boys under command of Brigadier General S. Albert Greenlaw of Augusta passed in review late this afternoon to the tune of the "stein song" played by the University of Maine's own 103rd band dressed in their striking white belts, leggings and barracks caps.

Food Shortage
Throughout camp today there was a note of serious application to duty, now that the division has settled down to intensive training. The only serious note of apprehension that has been felt is an apparent shortage in food in some of the companies. In some cases the companies have resorted to the company fund, borrowing certain commodities that they lack. It is expected that the situation will be cleared up at once.

The Howitzer company will go on guard in the 169th Regiment tomorrow afternoon. Formal guard mounting will be held in front of the regimental headquarters on Third Avenue at 4:30. G company will go on guard Friday although no official notice has been sent to the Company office.

Drill yesterday for G company consisted of extended order and disciplinary drill and instruction in scouting and patrolling with the company in attack with part of the battalion. There was no non-com school today.

For the third time, a runaway horse yesterday afternoon created considerable excitement in the 102nd regimental area. The animal was attached to a machine gun carriage and bolted between several barracks and was not captured. A guardsman who followed the animal to the stable to unhitch him forgot to move his foot and the nervous horse amputated several of the soldier's corns.

Another Battery A man, Private John Cook of Presque Isle, Me., who was kicked by a horse was taken to Fort Banks and is reported to be in no danger.

Private Maxine F. Corbeau of the Camp Supply Department is also at Fort Banks hospital as a result of an accident on the trip to Camp Devens when he suffered a crushed foot as a truck crowded his motorcycle off the road. Two stitches were taken in his foot at camp at the time but infection set in. His condition is reported as satisfactory.

Plane from New Haven
Yesterday afternoon at 3:50 a Standard plane from Hamden Field, New Haven, Conn., landed on the parade ground piloted by D. M. Alexander of New Haven. The trip from the latter place was made in one hour and fifteen minutes. With Pilot Alexander were Sergt. Cornelius Healey of the New Haven police department and Charles Turner also of New Haven. Mr. Turner is visiting his brother, Captain Turner, commanding one of the New Haven machine gun companies.

A report from division headquarters today gave the personnel of Camp Devens as of yesterday at 6,528 men.

Brigadier General William E. Cole, commander of the Coast Artillery first corps area made an informal call on Major General Morris E. Payne yesterday.

Everson Returns
Major General William G. Everson, chief of the Militia Bureau, who made an official inspection of the camp area and the 43rd Division Tuesday, left the Fitchburg airport by plane yesterday morning for Washington, D. C. He was piloted to the capital by Lieut. Charles Wright of the 115th Observation Squadron of the 43rd Division.

Governor William Tudor Gardiner of Maine will arrive at Camp Devens Sunday at 1 p. m., for an inspection of the Maine troops. James W. Hansen, Adjutant General of Maine will represent the Maine executive on Maine Day next Tuesday.

Hot Shots
Private Vennet is still counting the posts—hunting for the last one.

Private Ferrell spends most of his time under the showers.

Private Tanner found an old friend yesterday that he had not seen in years. The boy was in one of the Hartford outfits.

Private Clark is sporting his one stripe and is quite proud of it. He was made first class private just before leaving Manchester.

FALLING POLE HITS AUTO, NONE INJURED

Broken Fender Only Damage—Cars Come Together On Main Street Last Evening.

A pole that was no longer in use and which was in a weakened condition located on East Center street took the occasion to fall just as a truck driven by Louis P. Zabeln of Siles street, Ludlow, Mass., was passing. Two men were occupying the truck. As the pole started to fall they saw it. They tried as much as possible to avoid it and they had come almost to a stop as the pole hit the car. Both men were uninjured, but a front fender of the truck was broken. Otherwise the truck seemed to be undamaged. It was a mighty close call for all concerned.

Another accident with little damage resulting happened near the junction of Main and Maple streets at 6:50 last night, or just after Officer Cavagnaro arrived on duty. W. J. Robb of Bigelow street was driving into Maple street as an automobile driven by Peter Ormrod of No. 150 Franklin street, Hartford, came out of the street. The damage was slight. Both had a different story to tell and as there was doubt as to reckless driving there was no arrest made.

The yards surrounding the quarters is full of these picture men that usually frequent the fairs and carnivals. One of them got a fine bath yesterday. He got too close to the building and someone accidentally tipped over a pail of water. He yelled: "Look-a-dat now! You ruin it—a 15 dollar camera. Ow-w-w!"

The Howitzer entries in the coming sports are as follows: C. Messery, running; J. Zook, mile run; A. H. Bellamy, broad and high jump.

The 169th Infantry baseball team will play the 118th Medical Regiment at 2 p. m. Friday, August 8. The G boys are incensed because only two or three of the G team has been picked for the regimental team. Baseball, like boxing, is conducted on an elimination basis.

Blanket Sergeant Sprout is rapidly advancing in promotion. He is now Lieutenant Blanket Sergeant.

One of the boys was asked how he liked camp. "Oh, pretty well," he replied. "But I like my lawn more (mower)." There is hardly a green spear of grass to be seen in camp.

Col. Scarborough ordered the Howitzer sign down from the barracks. On the last visit to the barracks it was still up.

Judge Raymond A. Johnson and Building Inspector Edward Elliott, Jr., of Manchester paid a visit to camp yesterday. They paid their respects to Captain Hathway and Captain McVeigh, Major LaVerne Holmes and Lieut. Barry.

FINDINGS ARE SECRET IN COAST GUARD DEATH

Boston, Aug. 7.—(AP)—All of the evidence brought out yesterday before the Coast Guard board of inquiry at Salisbury Beach, investigating the killing of Chief Boatswain's Mate Louis A. Pratt by other Coast Guardsmen who mistook his craft for a run-runner will be in the hands of Capt. William H. Munter, commander of the eastern division today or tomorrow.

Capt. Munter said today after receipt of the evidence will be forwarded to headquarters in Washington at once with his recommendations. It was said it would probably be several weeks before findings in the case could be made and disciplinary action, if any, taken.

Captain Munter today received a letter from "The Crusaders, Inc.," an organization which represents itself as favoring temperance but opposed to prohibition, asking how much investigation was necessary before a boat was to be fired upon.

Capt. Munter did not reply to the letter signed by Malcolm W. Greenough, executive commander of the organization at Boston, but he arranged to meet Mr. Greenough or another representative of the society.

ABOUT TOWN

A double birthday party was given last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Kerr of North Fairfield street, in honor of their daughter, Miss Margaret Kerr and her cousin, Miss Hilda Skoog of 129 Cooper Hill street. The fifteenth birthday of both girls occurred yesterday and a joint celebration was planned and carried out by 18 of their young friends, for the most part their schoolmates at High school. The young people spent the evening with games, singing and dancing. A buffet luncheon was served. The cousins were remembered with many dainty gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Alfred Gustafson of 58 Hackmatack street are spending several weeks at Misquamicut.

Mrs. Everett R. Kennedy of 385 Cooper street is spending her vacation at Old Orchard Beach, Me.

The family of James O. McCaw of Benton street is vacationing at Misquamicut.

The last session of the board of registrars to enroll voters for the afternoon and will close at 10 o'clock, daylight saving time, tonight. They will be in session at the Municipal building until that hour. No applications were received at the first sitting, which seems to indicate little interest in politics in Manchester this year, although this is not an "off year."

Why SOCONY BANNER is a better gasoline—

BECAUSE it's made to start quickly—the proper amount of low boiling points in this new Socony Gasoline gives a new meaning to quick starting.

BECAUSE it's made for instant pick-up—the intermediate range of boiling points in this new Socony Gasoline gives you the fastest pick-up.

BECAUSE it's built for power—the proper percentage of power-producing boiling points in this new Socony Gasoline gives added power which you feel the moment you use Banner.

BECAUSE it gives maximum mileage and economy—the entire range of boiling points of Banner makes it burn clean with the minimum of carbon and dilution, which means more mileage at less cost.

BECAUSE it has high anti-knock value—comes by this high anti-knock rating naturally since it is made only from those crude oils in which this characteristic is inherent.

BECAUSE it is gum-free—the annoyance and expense resulting from gum-sticking valves and other parts are entirely absent.

These facts are based on actual road tests made in New London, Hartford, New Haven, Bridgeport and Waterbury, June 20th, July 1st, 2d, 3d and 28th.

MORRIS AGAIN?

When Phil Troup of New Haven trots out Charles G. Morris, Elm City ice cream man, as a proposed candidate for governor on the Democratic ticket, there is probably something to it. Mr. Morris doesn't appear to mind. He has, as a matter of fact, become accustomed to being the Democratic candidate for governor, having been defeated in 1926 and in 1928, so that the prospect of running second again in 1930 has no particular terrors for him.

To be sure, Mr. Morris, after his failure to carry the state in the "Al Smith" year, with several of the bigger cities going strongly Democratic, was privately declared to be forever after unavailable by many of the more important leaders of the party in Connecticut. But that was approaching two years ago. Those two years have failed to produce anybody resembling a Democratic Moses, and in Mr. Morris the party has at least a highly respectable gentleman of considerable means who is willing to take the nomination—and such a combination is not to be met with on every street corner in this state. The respectability is very necessary indeed, the item of means is not to be despised—and the willingness to run is as essential as it is scarce.

So that, despite the assertion of Democratic leaders after the 1928 election that Mr. Morris was all washed up, it would not be at all surprising if his familiar name were to grace the top of the Democratic state ticket again this year. To be sure, there is a good deal of doubt as to whether Mr. Morris knows what it is all about—this business of politics and of governing Connecticut—but that, of course, would not injure his chances with the active gentlemen who run his party and who have very definite ideas about office holding, at least. They would, no doubt, even if they hoped to win the election, be just as well pleased with an ingenuous, credulous and amiable figure head in the governor's chair as a hard-boiled politician who might have ideas of his own and a will to follow them.

Persons outside the party may wonder why it is that no Democrat every suggests the name of Archibald McNeill, Jr., as a gubernatorial candidate, even though he is now a national committeeman. Mr. McNeill is quite the most conspicuous figure in the party in this state, just now, is supposed to have a grip on the women's vote and possesses an attractive personality. Perhaps some small fear as to the extent to which he might be promptly knifed by certain elements in his party, were he to seek their ballots on election day, may have an unfavorable bearing on his availability. Then again, his recent speech on Hoover was somewhat disillusioning as to the real depth of his political acumen.

After all, perhaps the Democrats would do no worse with Mr. Morris as their candidate than with any other. And when all is said and done, what difference does it make?

A BIT OF HISTORY

As the time for the international yacht races draws nearer and the day approaches when Tom Lipton shall learn whether he is ever to recapture the America's cup, interest in the historic series of contests over that much valued trophy is bound to grow. And the world owes to Charles Edward Russell and his amazingly revealing book "Sandy Hook to 62 Degrees," published last year, knowledge of a fact which has never figured in those historical reviews of international yachting that have been printed whenever one of these great events impended in the past.

The America, winner of the trophy in 1851, was a New York pilot boat. That is, she was a New York pilot boat in model and build, having been designed by a genius named George Steers, in fulfillment of an order from some yachtmen for a craft to duplicate the performance of an actual pilot boat, the Mary Taylor, which he had produced shortly before and which had proved to be the fleetest thing in the world wearing sails.

The Mary Taylor was utterly revolutionary. Her design upset every conception of ship, modeling that had been held up to that moment. Steers had already earned a reputation for turning out fast boats and several of the famous New York pilot craft were from his designs. But the Taylor was totally different from any of them. Steers carried her greatest width far aft of the point universally accepted as correct, bringing it amidships. He cut away her forefoot, gave her a long, slim bow with a hollow entrance and a long keel that deepened aft. And when she was launched and rigged she out-footed and out-pointed and generally out-sailed everything on the sea.

So when these yachtmen wanted a boat for a certain purpose they figured that if Steers could build them another Mary Taylor, only a little bigger, they would have what they needed.

What they wanted was a yacht to send to England as a sort of exhibit in connection with the first world's fair, the Crystal Palace Exposition, to show the Britishers what the then world-famous New York pilot boats were like, and incidentally to give the British yachts a licking.

When the new yacht was launched the yachting syndicates that paid for her engaged Captain Dick Brown, New York pilot, to command her. She made the crossing in less than twenty days, bent on her racing rig at Havre, and the rest is more or less familiar history. But until Mr. Russell dug up the facts, not one person in ten thousand who has followed the American's cup races for a generation or more had the remotest idea that the famous trophy winner was, to every intent and purpose, a New York pilot boat.

PART OF THE GAME

Off Ipswich, Mass., a Coast Guard patrol boat fired on a Coast Guard surf boat, pouring machine gun bullets into it, and one of the crew of the smaller craft was killed. This is a highly regrettable business. On the surface of things it looks as though the people in the boat that did the shooting might have a very hard time indeed explaining why they started the machine gun going. Accidents of just this same sort are practically inseparable from any kind of warfare; and the Coast Guard is at war with the rum runners. It is all very well for critics to find fault with the Coastguardsmen for slugging slugs into respectable yachting parties and peaceable fishermen as well as into the smugglers, but as a matter of fact there has to be a lot of guesswork and hunch playing in an activity like that of the patrol boats, or else no action at all.

Rum runners keep on landing booze all over the coast all the time and everybody knows it. And if the Coast Guard doesn't make some sort of a showing in the way of an occasional capture it will be unmercifully roasted. Rum runners don't operate, as a rule, in the day time. They do their work in the night, most of it on dark nights; and the Coast Guard patrol that waited for an absolutely positive identification of its quarry before going into action wouldn't make many bags. Wherefore the rum-chasing business is a chancy one, at best. And the decent citizen's vessel, or even the Coast Guard boat, which gets itself mistaken for a rummy is out of luck.

We must admit that we know of no way in which you can carry on this work of hunting smugglers, to any effect, without imperiling the lives of considerable numbers of innocent persons. It is just another of the ways in which prohibition is in conflict with good order, decency and civilization.

Possibly the cry of the Midwest farmers for government relief from the effects of drought would arouse more acute interest in this part of the country if the people hereabouts were less well used to hearing cries for relief from the corn belt, the wheat belt and the cattle belt.

It is doubtless true that in some sections agriculture has been hit by a heavy blow by weeks of excessive heat and lack of rain. But as to whether the losses, actual and prospective, are sufficient to demand some sort of extraordinary rescue work on the part of the government, we shall likely know more next week, after President Hoover gets his report from the Department of Agriculture.

It is rather doubtful whether the corn raisers of Indiana, Illinois and Iowa, who appear to be the worst sufferers, have received any harder wallop than the tobacco and truck planters around Manchester met a year ago in the hallstom of August 1. Yet we can't recall any special measures of relief for those folks. Nor did the federal government greatly concern itself last summer over the Connecticut dairymen who had to pack water to their stock.

Somehow or other New England agriculture appears to be expected to look after itself, come good season, come bad; but let anything on earth happen that makes things uncomfortable for the West or the Midwest and instantly the aid of government is invoked. It is not to be wondered at, then, that up to yet New England seems to be taking the stories of impending ruin in the Midwest with a grain of salt—at least proposes to wait till it finds out just how bad conditions are before getting excited over government relief measures.

Incidentally we don't remember to have heard of any of those Western farmers, on the occasions when they have enjoyed rich returns for several years in succession, inviting the government to raise their income tax or otherwise share in their prosperity.

By RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer.

Washington. — Another election possibility has smitten Washington with both delight and consternation, the former emotion being that of the wets and the latter that of the dries.

The possibility is that in the next Congress the three congressional districts which surround the District of Columbia will each have a wet representative in the House.

Of course that would not be any body blow to prohibition, but it would not look very nice. The high prohibition enforcement officials of the nation and the chiefs of the big dry organizations here simply wouldn't be able to leave Washington without riding through or passing over wet territory, and the psychological effect of that might come to have an unfortunate influence.

The eighth Virginia district, one of the three, is the home congressional district of the late George Washington. The other two are the fifth and sixth Maryland.

Washington Interested. Washington is always interested in these nearby counties. They are the counties which surround the District of Columbia. Most other Washingtonians either have summer shacks in the three bordering congressional districts or spend their Sundays on motor jaunts over Maryland and Virginia roads and get to know the country as well as the streets of this city. Much of the food consumed here comes from farms in the same territory. To say nothing of the rye whiskey, which is distilled and shipped here from all three districts.

The fifth Maryland district, which includes Montgomery, St. Mary's, Prince Georges and Anne Arundel counties, will be represented by a wet in any event. That seems appropriate. St. Mary's county produces the famous product known as "St. Mary's rye" or "Southern Maryland rye," as you will. When a good citizen goes to jail in St. Mary's county he is allowed out during the day, but forced to come in at night. If he happens to be a newly-married man who is still in love with his wife he will give the notion of spending his days in jail and nights at home.

Anyway, that district is now represented by Congressman Stephen W. Gambrill, and his opponent for November, A. K. Lovell, a Republican leader of St. Mary's county—recently joined Gambrill in the wet ranks.

Congressman Frederick N. Zihlman of the sixth Maryland is a dry, and he will be opposed in November by former Congressman David J. Lewis, one-time member of the tariff commission, who used to be a dry, but lately announced his conviction that prohibition was a failure and must either be thoroughly revamped or abandoned.

Zihlman may Reconsider. One hears that Zihlman may reconsider his views on prohibition, too, but in any event Lewis will be giving him a strong contest in the fall campaign. His district includes Montgomery and Frederick counties.

In the eighth Virginia, bordering the capital on the south, with Arlington and Fairfax counties nearest, two dries and three wets are running for the Democratic nomination, which ordinarily is equivalent to election. The large supply of wet candidates is at least indicative of the fact that some persons see an increase of wet sentiment. They are all after the seat of Congressman R. Walton Moore, who is retiring voluntarily.

Judge Howard W. Smith and State Senator Frank L. Ball are the dry candidates. Thomas R. Keith, prominent Fairfax lawyer, and Crandall Mackey and E. H. DeJarnette are the wets.

Keith is the wettest of the lot and is said to be the strongest individual candidate. He proposes to turn prohibition back to the states, after the Dwight Morrow formula. Neither of his wet opponents looks very strong and he is conceded a fine chance of victory at this writing.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK MCCOY

COTTAGE CHEESE A GOOD PROTEIN

One of the easiest proteins to use during the summer season is cottage cheese, for it may be taken on a vacation trip and used to take the place of meat, as no cooking is required. It is quite wholesome and easily digested by most people and furnishes a very good form of protein.

Cottage cheese, schmierkaese and clabber cheese are different names for the curd, which has been separated from sour skimmed or whole milk. If it is too dry, it may be moistened by adding a little milk or cream just before serving. The cheese tastes best and is more wholesome fresh. It is not hard to make at home, is agreeably flavored and very nutritious.

A good cottage cheese has a soft grainy texture and a fresh, sour milk taste. It takes about a gallon of sour milk to make one and a half pound of cheese. As a general rule the skimmed milk cheese is just as wholesome as that made from whole milk, as the smaller the amount of fat contained in the cheese, the more easily it is digested.

Cottage cheese contains about 20 per cent casein (a form of protein), and about 4 per cent fat. It contains large quantities of mineral elements, principally calcium, phosphorus and chlorine.

The best way to prepare cottage cheese at home is to let a bottle of raw milk stand in the cooler or ice-box about ten days which allows it to sour slowly. This soured milk should then be put in a bowl and well beaten with an eggbeater to make the texture smooth. After beating, place in a cheesecloth and hang in the sun to dry. Cottage cheese should not be put on the stove and heated as it is usually prepared, as this makes it curd harder and more difficult to digest. The cottage cheese tastes better if the whole milk is used, but a more distinctly protein food is produced if the cream is first removed.

Cottage cheese may be used occasionally instead of meat. It should always be accompanied by green vegetables, as it is very concentrated and needs this kind of food to provide bulk. It should be remembered that like all concentrated foods, cottage cheese tends to produce constipation. However, if plenty of greens are eaten at the same time, they will counteract this tendency. Celery, spinach, lettuce, tomatoes and small grated carrots make excellent combinations with cottage cheese.

In serving cottage cheese use it as the meat part of a meal, serving with it plenty of cooked and raw green vegetables, but no starch, or other proteins. One egg for breakfast and four ounces of cottage cheese for dinner will give the body all of the protein it needs for one day and it is not necessary to use any other meat or meat substitute at the same time.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS (Regarding Hips and Ankles)

Question:—Mrs. L. G. writes: "I am inclined to have large hips and ankles. My bones are small and I believe there is a way to reduce this excess flesh. Can you suggest a remedy?" Answer:—Walking is the best exercise I know of for reducing the hips and ankles. You should start walking one mile a day and gradually increase the distance until you are able to walk five miles daily without fatigue.

(No Dessert with Starch) Question:—S. G. F. asks: "Are there no desserts of any kind which may be used in combination with a meal of one starch and several green vegetables?" Answer:—It is not advisable to use desserts with a meal containing starchy food. All desserts contain a considerable amount of sugar and sugar should not be used with starches either during the meal or in a dessert.

(Meales) Question:—A. L. asks: "Should a child that has had the measles be kept in a dark room to prevent injury to the eyes?" Answer:—It is best to keep the child in a dark room most of the time, but several times a day the eyes should be exposed to some kind of light for only a few seconds at a time. This will prevent a chronic contraction of the iris and helps to avoid future eye troubles caused by the forming of adhesions.

WATKINS BROTHERS, Inc. 55 YEARS AT SOUTH MANCHESTER

IN NEW YORK

New York, Aug. 7.—Now that everyone and his brother has decided to take to a desert island, along comes the question of what ten movies might be the most interesting under the same circumstances. Thus far, only one group of men has had a chance to try it out. It seems that before Commander Byrd sailed for his South Pole hazard, the National Board of Motion Picture Review presented the leader and his entourage with a library of films to be observed at leisure in the most out of the way movie theater conceivable.

Byrd, then, becomes somewhat of an authority on what a group of stranded men consider good film entertainment during long months of incarceration beyond barriers of snow and ice. And discussing this the other night, disappointing as it may be to the fans, there wasn't a single hot clinch nor a Clara Bowish come-hither in the lot. Such screen classics as "Chang," "Moana," "Grass" and "Nannook of the North" headed the list of pictures most in demand and most enjoyed in the "Little America Theater."

Charlie Chaplin had a large vogue and old Harry Langdon funnies were also popular. Felix the Cat had a considerable following. But being on exploring and adventure bent, the men were extremely interested in other explorers and their film records—such as Shackleton's last Antarctic expedition. Snow's "Big Game Hunting in Africa" and a dozen similar records of game hunts and exploits were frequently unrolled.

From down on the waterfront comes word via the Seamen's Institute that the men who go down to the sea in ships have been singularly inspired by the experience of John Macfield in capturing world honors. "Findings of this Institute," writes Miss Marjorie Cande, "and we're in daily contact with from eight to twelve thousand seamen, prove to us that each week there is an invasion of would-be poets, sculptors, novelists and the like. In the pocket of many a nautical jacket are shavings of verse and sketches created during the leisure hours at sea."

Well, it's nice to believe that in these days of ocean giants, there still clings a magic of ships and the sea!

Which reminds me that artists can get permits to sit on the Central Park grass if they guarantee to do some painting. Grass is so scarce in this town that they have to protect rigidly the few acres that remain.

And of all the strange sights beheld in this town in two years, the one attracting most attention was a man running for a street car. If you can't see anything funny about that it's because you don't understand how street cars generally crawl through the Manhattan traffic.

Since I travel very little on trains carrying traveling men hither and yon, I'm not acquainted with the type of smoking room stories heard thereon.

But each Monday morning, I find myself stogie to stogie with bankers, millionaires and such returning from a week-end at Southampton. And eight out of ten of these old-fashioned conversations concern their youngsters and what they are up to.

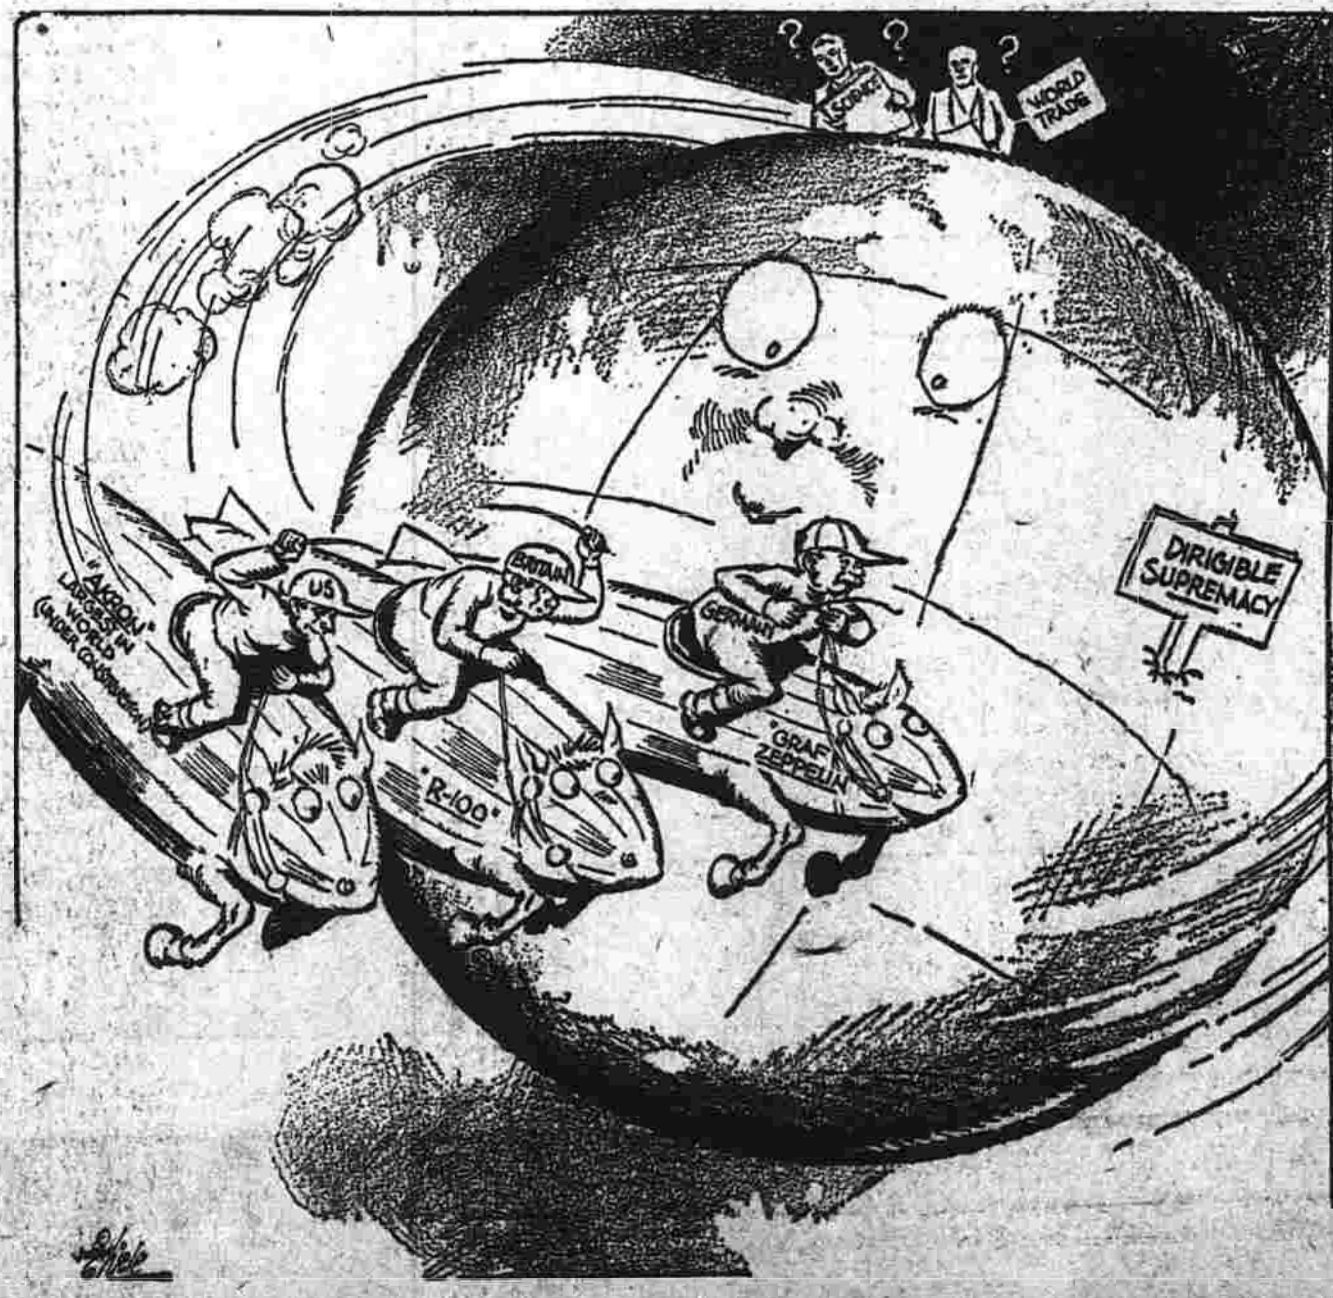

A THOUGHT

Therefore the prudent shall keep silence in that time; for it is an evil time.—Amos 5:13.

It is prudent that first forsakes the wrecked.—Ovid.

As far as Primo Carnera is concerned, that edict to rejoin the Italian army is just an ill draft that blows no good.

WET-DRY FIGHT STIRS WYOMING IN SENATE RACE

Cheyenne, Wyo.—(AP)—For the first time in Wyoming's political history, the question of prohibition will play a major role in the state's primary of August 19.

Two of the six senatorial candidates are advocating repeal of all liquor laws, two have pledged support to a referendum on the issue, and two have announced adherence to the laws as enacted.

W. L. Walls, Cheyenne attorney, seeking the republican nomination, and Fred W. Johnson of Rock Springs, a democratic aspirant, advocate repeal.

H. H. Schwartz of Casper, the other democratic candidate, and Robert D. Carey, former governor and one of four republican candidates, will support legislation for a referendum if elected.

W. C. Deming of Cheyenne and Charles E. Winter of Casper are dry republican candidates.

Nomination by the republican party normally is tantamount to election. It is the first time in almost 37 years there has been a contest for the republican senatorial nomination.

Legally there will be two senatorial nominations at the primary, as all candidates are running for both the short and long terms. The short one is the unexpired term of the late Sen. Francis E. Warren.

The democrats are expected to concentrate on the campaign for governor. Leslie A. Miller is that party's candidate. Gov. Frank C. Emerson and W. H. Edelman, state treasurer, seek the republican gubernatorial nomination.

JEW AND ASSYRIANS HAVE COMMON COMPLAINT

Bagdad, Iraq.—(AP)—Jews and Assyrians, in olden times foes, today have a grievance in common.

The British government in Palestine has restricted the return of Jews to their country, and the government of Iraq, under British mandate, has barred the gates of their old home in northern Mesopotamia to the Assyrians, because it fears that some foreign power may be promoting Assyrian settlement on political grounds.

At present there are some 70,000 Assyrians in Iraq. Some 200,000 others are scattered in adjoining countries. In the war they fought with the British against the Turks and after the conflict, fled from the Turkish into British mandated territory.

Even today they speak Aramaic which, at the time of Christ, was a current language throughout the Near East. In their churches they observe the oldest Christian rites, and most of them are Nestorians, the sect which carried the first tidings of Christianity to India.

BAN BILLBOARDS

Minnesota recently passed a law saying that rights of way of all highways may be kept free of billboards. Missouri has declared that no billboard or signboard is to be permitted within 500 feet of a turn in the highway or a railroad crossing.

RUBBER BUMPERS

Pneumatic rubber automobile bumpers are among the latest accessories for automobiles. The new bumper consists of a slightly curved steel bar to which is attached a cylindrical rubber casing containing an inner tube. The air pressure maintained is about that of the average balloon tire.

Tiniest French Islands Fight U. S. Prohibition

By MINOT SAUNDERS

Paris.—Saint Pierre and Miquelon, those happy little French islands off the coast of Newfoundland whose inhabitants have developed such a remarkable appetite for wines and liquors since the enactment of the Volstead Act in the United States, may find much comfort from the mother country in their predicament of being under the displeasure of the American prohibition agents.

The chief industry of the islands is codfish. One of the chief industries of France is wine making. A business common to both is shipping. In all these branches of human endeavor the mother country and the islands share sympathetic interests.

It has been unofficially reported that the French government will take steps to stop liquor smuggling through Saint Pierre and Miquelon, and Washington has been reported as pleased. The French Ministry of Colonies is said to be interested in the plight of the prohibition agents and to have asked the governor of the islands to look into the cargoes leaving his shores.

Would Be Change of Policy

This is perhaps a delicate official subject, but if the Quai d'Orsay does anything effective to the detriment of loyal colonies and home interests, there is certain to be sharp reaction from many sources. Also it would be a drastic change of policy with regard to Saint Pierre and Miquelon.

The reports regarding the wetness of the islands and possible action to dry them up, followed restriction of liquor clearances from Canada. They also followed, be it noted, the passage of the American tariff bill, which the French press and public officials have been unanimous in denouncing as a blow to French industry and commerce.

United States Treasury agents here have made strong pleas for French aid in stopping the flow of wines and liquors from Saint Pierre and Miquelon. They have asked for information on shipping traffic from the islands, but it is said that no statistics have yet been given.

In this connection, it is recalled that these treasury agents have been exceedingly unpopular here of late and a campaign for their removal has been waged in the press. The famous Dodge customs fine, with the information that French informants get 25 per cent of such fines, left a bad impression and started an investigation that is still in progress. The chief bookkeeper of the Maison Polret, which sold dresses to Mrs. Dodge which had not been declared committed suicide afterwards, it was revealed that a photograph of the receipted Polret bill was in the hands of the United States customs officials.

All these things may be sighted as ramifications of any change in French policy towards its island possessions.

Sentiment Favors Islands

As much as prohibition agents would like to see Saint Pierre and Miquelon as dry as their codfish, the wealthy wine growers and merchants of France would like to see American prohibition repealed. There is in France a strong organization, with almost unlimited funds, whose aim is to popularize wine drinking and fight prohibition. One of its stalwart spirits is Jean Hennessy, member of the old Hennessy brandy producing family, and a former Tardieu minister of agriculture whose name has been suggested as a possible candidate for the presidency of the republic next year.

It is no secret here, any more than in the United States, that a remarkable amount of champagne, wines and liquors are shipped to Saint Pierre and Miquelon. Recently published figures of the French

FAITH IN BUCKLEY STILL UNSHAKEN DESPITE CHARGES

BY BRUCE CATTON

Detroit.—Jerry Buckley, who was only a voice out of the shadows to hundreds of thousands of Detroiters, is accomplishing more by his death than he possibly could have accomplished alive.

Jerry Buckley, for one reason or another, fought Detroit's gangs and its malodorous politicians. The city paid a good deal of attention to him; and now that his voice is silent the city is listening to him as never before.

Jerry Buckley was killed at the close of the most heated election campaign Detroit ever knew; he was killed by three paid gunmen, who put eleven bullets into his body in the lobby of the La Salle Hotel. Because he was killed, Detroit today has a better chance of emerging from misrule, gang domination and civic corruption than it has had in many a year.

Public Is Aroused

It is a queer story, this story of Buckley. Buckley, you might say, has become the country's first "radio martyr." He fought for civic decency and law and order, and he was shot to death just as his fight closed; and it makes little difference that the commissioner of police says he holds an affidavit accusing Buckley of having had dealings with racketeers. The public, now that Jerry Buckley is dead, still regards him with the esteem that he enjoyed when he was alive. He still leads the fight to rid the city of its gangs.

Gerard E. Buckley was a radio announcer. For two years he had 30 minutes every evening, over station WMBE, to talk to the citizens of Detroit. He used to give brief news summaries and short talks on any question he felt like discussing. He built up an enormous following.

An "Aerial Newspaper"

He became one of the city's popular broadcasters. He was a sort of "radio newspaper." He would discuss unemployment, would try to get jobs for the jobless, would collect money to feed the hungry, would discuss local politics. And he would demand that the police clean up Detroit and wipe out the "blind pigs" and gambling joints.

His radio appeals for the unemployed won him his great following. Last winter he actually got jobs for more than 3,500 men. He collected huge sums for relief work. People swore by him, wrote letters to him, almost idolized him.

Then came the campaign which resulted in the recall of Mayor Charles Bowles. Buckley was a spirited opponent of the mayor, urging his hearers, every night, to vote for the recall. On election night he broadcast the returns from the city hall, announced at 11 o'clock that the recall had carried, and then went to the La Salle hotel.

Two hours later he was shot to death.

Indignation Runs High

Detroit at once leaped to the conclusion that Buckley had been killed because of his efforts to oust the mayor. The city almost exploded with indignation.

Buckley's body lay in state at his residence. People who used to listen to his broadcasts came to look at it. At one time they stood in a line four blocks long, five abreast, waiting to pass by the casket. In two days no fewer than 100,000 people paid this tribute.

No citizen of Detroit ever got that great a tribute before.

In the confusing maze of charges and counter charges it is hard to find out the real truth about the man. Police Commissioner Thomas Wilcox says that a certain man has given him an affidavit stating that

Buckley had induced him to become a bootlegger and then had "shaken him down" for $4000.

It is also claimed that Buckley had collected money from bootleggers and gambling house owners on threat of exposing them to his radio audiences. So far no evidence has been produced.

No one can say if any or all of these charges were correct. But, in reality, it does not make much difference now. Jerry Buckley dead, has more followers than any living Detroiters. It is useless to tell his followers that he did not have clean hands. They simply remark, "Then why didn't all this stuff about his being a crook come out before he was killed?"

PIONEER RADIO STATE LEAST IN AIR RIGHTS

Washington.—(AP)—Pennsylvania, birthplace of broadcasting in the United States, has less of its lawful share of radio facilities than any of the states.

The "unit system" adopted by the federal radio commission as a gauge of broadcast privileges shows the state where KDKA pioneered the ether in 8.98 units, or roughly, one cleared channel station and three regional stations, under quota.

Illinois, with 11.78 units over quota, leads in excess facilities while its neighbor Indiana is 3.59 units short of its equitable share under the equalization clause of the radio law. While Illinois population is about twice that of Indiana, the disparity in broadcasting power is ten-

Grace, Once Messenger Boy, Now Manages 'Katy' System

Dallas, (AP).—A faculty for remembering facts, figures and faces has played a part in the rise of Frank W. Grace from a passenger boy's job to the general management of the Missouri, Kansas, and Texas railroad.

And the new "Katy" executive, after 38 years with the road in a dozen different capacities, is optimistic about the future of railroads, and foresees improvement in business conditions.

Grace, now 50, started life on a Texas farm, but left high school to join the railroad as a messenger at 14. After five years he became a freight and passenger brakeman, and later a yard clerk.

Then his memory first attracted attention. In checking cars it was said he could pass a train of 80 or 40 cars, glance at the number and owner of each car and later write them accurately in consecutive order.

In 1908 Grace became a yardmaster, and in 1914 was advanced to a trainmaster's job. A terminal trainmaster's job later was followed by the superintendency of the Wichita Falls and Northwestern line, a part of the Katy system.

Seven years ago Grace was named superintendent of the McAlester division of the Katy, and in 1927 he became general superintendent of the entire system.

All along the Katy lines Grace is known as the man who knows more workers by their names and faces than does any other employee of the system.

Stations in the former state have a total of 172,000 watts while those in the latter aggregate only 15,700 watts.

Despite an excess in New York of 4.82 units the first zone is 5.81 units under quota, there being a small shortage in each of the New England states. The second zone which embraces Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Virginia, West Virginia and Kentucky is 11.67 units below quota.

The third zone, comprising southern states, is 9.9 over quota, Texas and Tennessee having a surplus of 7.05 and 5.77 units respectively. The fourth zone, or middle west, has the largest excess, 19.61 units, and the surplus in the fifth zone or far west is 12.73 units.

The commission says there will be a "gradual improvement" of this condition.

SHE DID HER SPANISH PART A WEE BIT TOO WELL

BY DAN THOMAS

Hollywood, Calif. — It doesn't pay to be too good an actress.

That statement might be disputed by some girls who are vainly striving to reach the top of the acting profession. However, the statement was authorized by Carmelita Geraghty, one of our most promising screen actresses.

Carmelita learned from experience, long recognized as the best of teachers.

A few months ago Carmelita was cast in the role of a Spanish girl and the young Irish actress played the part so well both from a standpoint of appearance and speech, that people now believe she really is Spanish. And now she is having quite a difficult time trying to establish the fact that she doesn't talk with an accent all the time.

It really is a pleasure to sit on the cool veranda of the Chateau Elysee Apartments, home of many film notables, and talk to Carmelita. First of all she talks interestingly. Secondly, being the daughter of Tom Geraghty, now a successful scenario writer, but once one of New York's best newspaper men, she seems to know exactly what is story material and what isn't.

"Somehow or other I have a feeling that I am just on the verge of doing something of which I will be really proud," the actress remarked.

"I have been in pictures for quite a few years and I don't think I have any jock coming on my progress. But as yet I haven't done anything that makes me want to stand up and shout to the world.

"I present I am trying to create a new type of character, a sort of naughty but nice girl, something on the order of characters Constance Talmadge used to portray. I believe that is what the public wants now.

The heavy vamp is out, as is the ga-ga girl who used to be so popular here. She believed some experience behind the footlights comes on top of her several years in pictures was just what she needed to put her over the top. And apparently she was right, as she recently completed "What Men Want" at Universal and now has signed contracts for three more pictures at different studios.

Carmelita Geraghty . . . . . has no accent

lar. And I want to work a little light comedy into my characterizations. I don't mean I want comedy roles as I did enough of those when I was at Mack Sennett's. But I do think it is a good idea to bring some comedy into serious parts.

Mrs. Geraghty called a halt to her screen work some months ago in order to appear in two stage shows here. She believed some experience behind the footlights comes on top of her several years in pictures was just what she needed to put her over the top. And apparently she was right, as she recently completed "What Men Want" at Universal and now has signed contracts for three more pictures at different studios.

Reo Motor Car Company has added 600 men to its payroll and plans to add 500 additional men within ten days.

A special meeting of stockholders of Indian Motorcycle Company has been called for August 12 to vote on a proposal to authorize $800,000 of new debentures, due in 1937, of which $300,000 would be sold to Francis L. DuPont, vice-president, and associates. Stockholders also will be asked to approve the sale of 40,000 shares of unissued common to E. Paul DuPont, president, in consideration of surrender for cancellation of $500,000 in promissory notes.

Amoy, China, Aug. 7. (AP) — British consular authorities today instructed shipping companies transporting coolies to the Straits Settlements to reduce the emigration by 80 per cent, or 100,000 annually.

The low price of rubber and tin caused Straits Settlements authorities to seek restriction of the flow of Chinese labor. A severe unemployment problem is likely to result here.

Since Amoy and surrounding districts supply the settlements with most of their coals labor the restriction may greatly affect prosperity here.

Home, Aug. 7. (AP) — The minister of public works today reported to Premier Mussolini that all first aid service had been withdrawn from the zone of the recent earthquake in southern Italy.

The report said government rationing had ceased and that 5,000 workmen were engaged in the new housing undertakings.

Santa Barbara, Cal., Aug. 7. (AP) — Franklin Price Knott, 76, world traveler and artist, died here last night after a heart attack Monday.

Queer Twists In Day's News

New York — Six heirs to $189,784 face the prospect of paying an inheritance tax of $746 each and receiving no legacy. The residuary estate of Arthur De Cordova, pronounced in Wall street, was wiped out in the Stock Market crash.

London — Reverberations of the Stock Market collapse have reached the Scottish moors. The smallest American representation in years has resulted in many of the moors and forests remaining unlet for the opening of the grouse shooting season.

Beaumont, Texas — While on a visit in Mississippi 24 years ago, Mrs. Addie Kingston did "chores" around the house for Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hendrix, of Richburg. Informed she had been willed 1,000 acres of land and $9,000 for her kindness, she has refused to accept it, declaring she did nothing to deserve it. Meanwhile, she is continuing her job in a mattress factory.

New York — Has a motorist the right to talk back to a traffic officer? That is the much mooted question two former justices will attempt to settle in fighting the arrest of one of them. The policeman had objected to the former justice permitting his two children to ride on the running board of his automobile.

Battle Creek, Mich. — This drought is getting so severe that an army of 30 rattlesnakes driven from a swamp invaded a farm near Bellefontaine and attacked a flock of turkeys. Farm hands ended the fray by killing the snakes.

New York — Add embarrassing moments. Arrival here of the Southwestern Limited from St. Louis found a dozen or so of the men and women in a state of perturbation. The reason: The club car in which the valet had their carefully pressed trousseaus, became attached to another train at Buffalo. All was well again after two hours when the errand car was returned.

Boston — Anyway it was a way to obtain relief from the heat. Six-year-old Harry Hamparsum jumped into a barrel of tar, and because of the 90 degree temperature the tar clung so tightly to Harry's curls that he could not get him out. Police called the fire department. The fire ladders turned a hose on the tar. The cold water hardened it and then they chopped Harry out.

Buffalo, N. Y. — Modest heroines are Jane Danahy, 15, and Dorothy Dietrich, 13. With the aid of their cat they saved three men from drowning in Lake Erie in three days and never said a word about it to their parents.

Vineyard Haven, Mass., Aug. 7. (AP) — Captain J. M. Allen and five men of the crew of the coal-laden schooner Mary Bradford Pierce, Newport News, Va., to Calais, Me., put in here shortly after midnight in the ship's yawl.

Five hours later the schooner, with the mate and a seaman aboard, was towed into harbor by a Coast Guard cutter. She was taking water but apparently otherwise undamaged.

Last Monday, Captain Allen said, thick weather forced him to anchor eight miles off Great Point, Nantuxet. On Tuesday, the ship swung around and grounded on a sand shoal. The next day she began to pound badly and all hands abandoned her and proceeded in the ship's power boat to the Coecata Coast Guard station near the east end of the island.

The station's communication the schooner's plight to headquarters, but in the meantime weather conditions had so much improved that the mate and a seaman were put aboard the ship by the Coast Guardmen. She was later taken in tow.

REDUCING SALARIES

New York, Aug. 7. (AP) — Executives of A. Schulte and Company, operating the second largest chain of tobacco stores in the United States, have voluntarily accepted large cuts in salary, following the example of the president, David A. Schulte, who will forego compensation for his services, it was learned today.

An executive of the company said that the reductions in the salaries of executives which average about 33-1/2 per cent and a 10 per cent cut of other general office employees will become effective September 1, which will continue until business conditions warrant an advance. Store clerks are not affected, it was said. Schulte said that while sales have increased enormously since prices were cut last year, the profits have diminished.

Tennessee, being bounded by eight other states, is touched by more than any other state in the Union.

THIS WOMAN IN 4 WEEKS LOST 19 POUNDS OF FAT

Here's a letter written October 21, 1935, by Mrs. Fred Barringer of Lewiston, Montana, that ought to be read by every overweight woman in America:

"Gentlemen: I first saw your advertisement in a Billings, Montana, paper and decided to try Kruschen Salts.

"I started taking them every morning as directed as I was very much overweight and wanted to reduce.

"I had tried going on a diet but would get so hungry that my diet would not last long, so I decided to give 'Kruschen Salts' a fair trial. The day I started to take them I weighed 188 lbs. and at present, which has been just four weeks, I weigh 169 lbs. And I must say I feel better in every way, besides looking much better. Kruschen Salts had a decided effect upon the quantity of food I took and stimulated my desire to do greater activity.

"I have recommended Kruschen Salts to many of my friends. In fact, have a number of them taking Kruschen Salts.

"May all large people, both men and women, who want to reduce in an easy way, give Kruschen Salts a fair trial. I am sure it will convince any one."

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts four weeks costs but 85c at North End Pharmacy, 50 Manchester Agents, Packard's Pharmacy, Magnell Drug Co. — or any drug store in America. — Adv.

POOR SCRIPT DETRACTS FROM ENTERTAINMENT OF BEBE'S LATEST

BY DAN THOMAS

Hollywood, Calif. — Executives at the RKO studio, it seems to me, made one big mistake just before starting production on "Dixiana," Bebe Daniels' big special which has just had its world premier here.

They should have buried the script for the film so deep that it never could be found again.

"Dixiana" has one thing in its favor — a beautiful "southern" setting, most of which was built on the huge RKO stages. Everything else seemed to be wrong, and we were not alone in that opinion.

For one thing, Bebe Daniels never should have been cast as the New Orleans circus entertainer. It was quite a letdown from the colorful character she portrayed so ably in "Rio Rita." Bebe has a fiery, vivacious personality and should be given roles that do not necessitate the submerging of these qualities.

Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey have proven that they can be funny on the screen. But they couldn't be funny in "Dixiana" because there was no real place in the month last year. Sales for the first seven months this year were $26,462, compared with $25,023,267.

Reports in Wall Street state that closing theaters throughout the country from five to twelve weeks ago, which would automatically reduce present Hollywood schedules from 10 to 15 per cent and effect a lower scale in film rentals during oppressive months, are part of a nation-wide economy plan being started in the motion picture industry. The reports said the plan would be launched next summer.

HINDU LEADER JAILED

Bombay, Aug. 7. (AP) — Vallabhai Patel, Congress leader, arrested Saturday, was sentenced today to three months' simple imprisonment for his part in the civil disobedience campaign of Mahatma Gandhi.

Before sentence was passed, Patel named as his successor as president of the All-Indian Congress, Mulana Abdul Kalam Azad.

Four women, fined at the same time, refused to pay, declaring they preferred imprisonment. Pandit Malaviya, another leader of the volunteers, was fined 100 rupees (about $36) with the alternative of fifteen days' simple imprisonment. A number of other prisoners received three months' terms.

DURANT MOTORS PLAN A EUROPEAN ALLIANCE

Lansing, Mich., Aug. 7. (AP) — Complete reorganization of Durant Motors, Inc., and its alliance with unidentified European automotive interests were announced today by William C. Durant, founder of the company.

Three executives, who formerly were prominently identified with Dodge Brothers in the automobile field, will retire. They are A. I. Philip, chairman of the board of directors, F. E. Hayward, president of the board and J. A. Nichols, Jr., vice-president.

Another announcement detailing further reorganization changes and the expansion move of the company is expected from Mr. Durant next week, when he returns here to perfect plans.

Mr. Durant declined to divulge which European interests Durant will be identified. He was known to have been in conference recently with executives of a French type midjet automobile.

The retiring executive personnel of the company came to Durant Motors two years ago.

FOREST FIRES CHECKED

Plymouth, Mass., Aug. 7. (AP) — Sleepless Cape Codders patrolled the outskirts of a 35-mile fire blackened woodland today on watch for the first flicker of flame that might mean the renewed start of the forest fires that have swept both banks of the Cape Cod canal.

Thousands of citizens, firewardens and state patrolmen had the flames pretty well under control at dawn today but the fierce wind which for the past two days has helped check flames and as readily swept the flames forward was still to be reckoned with. Fire officials said that only heavy rains would bring the flames to an absolute standstill.

TRIBESMEN IN REVOLT

Peshawar, Northwest Frontier Province, India, Aug. 7. (AP) — This frontier city, important in the defense of northwestern British India, was threatened today by advancing force of hostile tribesmen.

The tribesmen numbering 5,000, were said to be concentrating west of Khajuri plain, and troops have been moved out against it. Six squadrons of royal airforce are actively engaged in bombing operations.

These machines yesterday worked effectively but today weather conditions were unfavorable.

GENERAL WOOD'S DEATH

On August 7, 1927, Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, governor-general of the Philippines, and veteran of the Spanish-American and World Wars, died at a Boston hospital following a brain operation.

Wood entered the army as a surgeon after graduating from Harvard medical school. When McKinley became president, Wood went to the White House as his personal physician. At the outbreak of the Spanish-American War in 1898, Wood helped his close friend Theodore Roosevelt raise and lead the famous regiment of "Rough Riders."

For his conduct in the war he was elevated to major general.

Following his service after the war as governor of Cuba, where he made many great improvements in education and sanitation, Wood was appointed governor in the Philippines. Here he stamped out polygamy and tamed the Sulu chieftains.

When he returned to the United States in 1908 he was made chief of staff.

Wood was given inferior commands during the World War because he was thought to have given rise to certain views on preparedness which were unfavorable to the administration.

In 1919 he announced himself a candidate for the Republican nomination for president, and made considerable headway until the steel strike in Indiana, in which he felt it his duty to participate, spoiled his chances. Two years later he was appointed governor-general of the Philippines.

NOTED FLIER BETTER

Veere, Holland, Aug. 7. (AP) — Wing Commander Charles Kingsford-Smith who had an operation for appendicitis on Monday, had progressed toward recovery so rapidly that his physician today permitted him to smoke a cigarette.

When he leaves the hospital the Australian, who recently flew from Ireland to America again will be the guest of Henrik William van Loon, Dutch-American author, at whose home he had just arrived for a visit when he was stricken.

GEN. WANG HEADS REDS IN CHINA

Rebel Chieftain Working With Communists, Nationalist Officials Say.

Nanking, China, Aug. 7. (AP) — The Nationalist government has issued a lengthy communication giving two Russian wireless messages from General Wang Ching Wei to substantiate charges that Wang is working with Chinese Communists.

The messages urged closer co-operation with the Communists, who are ravaging south China. One message was sent to General Liu Sung Jen, July 31, urging him to co-operate with the Communists and make trouble in Hunan and the southwest and thereby assist in dealing a death blow to General Chiang Kai-Shek's forces.

The Hollywood Story

BY NEA SERVICE INC. BY ERNEST LYNN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Through a letter that he receives from a friend in New York, DAN RORIMER, Hollywood scenario writer and former New York newspaper man, meets ANNE WINTER, who has come from Tulsa, Okla., to try to get extra work in the movies.

Dan finds her charming and takes a deep interest in her. She learns from him that he works at Continental Pictures. She has worked only one day as an extra herself, having been there but a short time, but a few days after their meeting she gets extra work at Grand United.

Her first day there she meets a girl named MONA MORRISON, and immediately likes her. Mona is living with EVA HARLEY, and Anne lives alone, and Mona suggests that the three occupy a bungalow that she and Eva have seen.

They do this. When Dan calls on Anne there one evening he learns from Mona that GARRY SLOAN, the famous director, actually has noticed Anne, and she may be given a "hit." Dan, not liking Sloan, although he has never actually met him, is a bit apprehensive.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IX

There flashed through Rorimer's mind the picture of Garry Sloan and Sylvia Patterson seated at a restaurant table; and Johnny Riddle saying: "Sylvia's a swell girl; but Sylvia's ambitious—and she can be diplomatic."

And Dan wondered if Sylvia Patterson would be starring with Grand United if she had chosen not to be diplomatic to Sloan. Perhaps she would not be exactly fair to Sylvia, though; the girl had an undeniable talent, and a rare, orchid-like beauty, and her fan mail, Riddle had said, was among the largest in Hollywood.

Perhaps, Sloan or no Sloan, she would have gone far. And you're remembering how she had sat there smiling at him with eyes and lips, listening with flattering attentiveness as the brown director smoked and talked, Dan found it easy to think that perhaps Sylvia Patterson felt it was less her choice than to her interests to feed Garry Sloan's vanity.

And Dan resented him. Anne Winter said, "I may be doing a bit in this picture yet. It sounds almost too good to be true, I know; but Mr. Sloan himself talked to me today and they may give me a few lines."

"Atta girl," Dan said encouragingly. "Didn't I tell you you'd knock 'em dead if you got a chance?" Rather abruptly he asked, "What do you think of Sloan?"

"He's rather wonderful," Dan said. "I've got up from her chair and took a few nervous steps toward one of the front windows. There she stood, gazing into night and nothingness for a minute or two, and Dan perceived, when she turned her face toward him again, that she was highly agitated.

"How do you think it would feel, Eva, to have a steady job—for a month, even?"

He said, "I'm nothing but a clumsy idiot to be staying when you should be, resting. Tomorrow may mean a tremendous lot to you, and I'm keeping you from bed. You're a little nervous; you ought to have some hot milk and go right to sleep."

Anne said, "Oh, Dan, you talk as if I were a baby. I'm going to have sandwiches and coffee, and so are you. I'm just a little silly, I suppose. Only, it does mean a tremendous lot to me; you were right. And it shouldn't, of course; a bit is only a bit, after all—I'm only fooling myself if I think it means any more. A week from now I suppose I shall be looking for any kind of extra work and thinking myself lucky if I get it."

Rorimer smiled. "I wish Dick Charles could hear you talk, Anne. I'm sure he'd be surprised at your humility. He isn't used to it, and he says: 'Give an extra a bit, and he automatically wants to do extra work again.' And I suppose he knows as much about it as any casting director in Hollywood."

He went over to her and took her hand in his and patted it. "You're going to go on now, Anne; I know it. There's nothing can stop you, because you've got more ability right now than nine-tenths of them. Wait till they hear you sing. Have you sung for them yet, Anne?"

Anne said, "Of course not, silly," and she laughed. "Why, I'd be frightened to death to sing for Garry Sloan."

"You sang for me," Dan reminded her.

"I know, but I've such a tiny little voice, Dan."

He told her that she did not have to shout over the microphone. "Is there any chorus singing in the picture?" he asked.

Anne said there was not, and she proposed to tell him the story of the picture. Its working title, she informed him, was "Married in May."

Rorimer grinned. "Just too nice for words," he said.

Mona said, "That doesn't sound so hot," and Dan admitted that perhaps he was damning Atwood with faint praise.

"He's a good actor and a good fellow," he said, "but every time Atwood talks he sounds as though he has just had his voice manicured. He's that correct and precise." And police reporters, he went on to say, didn't talk like actors. "They talk like police reporters."

"I like that crack," Mona said, "about the manicured voice. . . . And what will you do after this picture is finished—write another one?"

Rorimer said he supposed so. "I've got a little more than five months to go before they can fire me," he said, and he laughed.

"That's a great break," said Mona. "How would you like to shop around for jobs by the day?"

"I'd like to have a steady job—for a month, even?" And to Dan she added: "We get our checks at the end of the day—when we're working. And if there's a job tomorrow you're in luck."

Eva Harley said, "And how?"

She said unsmilingly and, Rorimer thought, a little bitterly.

He made his excuses a few minutes later and departed; and when he got back to his hotel he felt strangely at war with himself; the evening, despite Mona's attempts to put him at his ease, had not contented him at his peace of mind. He tried to tell himself that Anne Winter's welcome had been as warm as usual, but he thought: "The girl wants to be left alone."

The prospect of bed was singularly unchering, so he sat a while in one of the lobby divans, his hat and coat in his lap, and watched the party-goers drift past him to the dancing room, the women, expensively wrapped and coiffed, chattering animatedly; the men following more quietly in dinner suits like uniforms.

One of the Roosevelt's "dress nights," Rorimer idly supposed, and brought his gaze to rest on the entrance to the Blossom Room, where young women in black, and in bright colors, and in pastels, waited for their escorts and smoked cigarettes and swayed their shoulders gently with the dance rhythm.

Rorimer thought he recognized one or two among them as movie actresses, but he was not certain. He thought: "But they're all like to be mistaken for movie actresses; remembering an old English race-track quotation, that 'On the turf, or under the turf, all men are equal,' he felt that there was something equally democratic and leveling about the scene before him.

He went upstairs presently, and took a book with him, and read himself to sleep. His bed-side lamp was burning and the book was beside him on the covers when martial strains from the Hollywood High School band, almost beneath his window, roused him in the morning.

In his bath he told himself determinedly that there would be no more visits to the bungalow without a direct invitation. To prove to Anne that he was interested in the outcome of the day at Grand United, and to satisfy his own curiosity, he called her up that evening, and learned that she had been given the greatly-coveted "hit." But he said nothing about seeing her.

Another 10 days passed, during which he heard nothing from her at all; and then one day, in the restaurant on the Continental lot, he ran into Eva Harley.

YOUR CHILDREN

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"My goodness, I wish summer was over," wailed a weary friend of mine yesterday.

One look at her was enough to fix their impression without any words on her part. She was a rag.

"What's happened now?" was my probably unsympathetic reply. But I knew. The day before, in all the heat, her three girls had had a party, not a simple little lawn affair with lemonade and sandwiches, but a regular pink tea, with all the trimmings. They had asked boys and all the rugs came up and they danced. It meant a week's work beforehand to get the house in order, for my friend is a meticulous housekeeper, and as far as the party itself was concerned, not a trick was missed.

She went over all the details of the affair and remarked again that she was dead tired.

The oldest girl away at preparatory school had made some rich friends who had invited her to visit. In fact, she had had three week-ends away and just came home long enough in between to get her clothes in order to tear off again. "Get" her clothes in order is right, for I knew that her mother had worked constantly on their reconstruction.

So Genius Could Bud—

The second daughter had had enough art in high school to demand a studio in an attic room where she could express herself. Well, her mother expressed herself by taking a week off in boiling weather to empty that room, see that it was cleaned, and put it into condition for the genius to be. She is, of course, convinced that Julia needs her chance and if a demand for a private studio to put in her own part of it she should have it. So her mother threw herself into the breach and an old dress and did it up right.

The youngest girl, twelve, is jealous of her two older sisters. Every time they hold out her hand, and receives the equivalent. She is forever having movie parties with ice-cream and cake afterward. Bought ice-cream and bought cake? No sir! These are particular children who miss the three friends were invited back for a house-party and the tea dance was one of many smaller things in their honor.

Why Mothers Get Gray

They say that a pedestrian is a man whose wife is home from college. Whoever wrote that joke forgot to mention the women.

This mother dragged over hot streets in the morning to do her marketing, while the girls had the car out with their guests at the club to swim or play tennis.

Well, I rather think I've drawn enough of the picture. There is more, much more, for the house guests were only the grand finale of the hectic season.

These selfish children with the idea that vacation is intended for the perpetual picnic!

Yet it isn't their fault exactly. Their mother's favorite expression is, "They are only young once. I want them to enjoy themselves."

Much as I like children and want them to have things, this makes me furious. She has twenty years perhaps to live, if she lives. Not only that but she is robbing them of a sense of responsibility and consideration.

She looks old and worn now. She had on an uninteresting dress and hat, listless and old! She was looking at a smart brown velvet suit. "Wouldn't this be lovely," she said, "for Julia?"

A GOOD TEST!

HEALTH

MICROSCOPE HELPS TO SHOW HOW BODILY HEALTH DEPENDS ON CONDITION OF THE BLOOD

By DR. MORRIS FISEBEN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Long ago it was recognized that the blood is one of the most important constituents of the human body, that it is the fluid which gives life to the tissues, that it takes from the tissues their waste products and conveys them to the organs of elimination, and that it is largely concerned with the ability of man to resist disease and to overcome damage to his body.

It was not, however, until the microscope was discovered that scientific medicine began to have any clear conception of the constituents of the blood. This fluid represents roughly from 1-13 to 1-30 of the body weight. It is far more than a fluid; it is a suspension containing dissolved elements which have an intimate bearing on life and health.

A famous Russian, Metchnikoff, conceived the idea that the white blood cells were important elements for attacking infectious disease and he gave to them the name "phagocytes," with the idea that they ate and digested. However, the white

THIS AND THAT IN FEMININE LORE

The auratum lilies are out in all their glory just now, and like everything else this season, they have rushed right along from the lowest to the topmost bud. When the morning dew is on them they are more fragrant than ever. For beauty and perfume they dominate their flower neighbors.

It is an excellent time to visit the commercial gardens now if one desires to add to their varieties of phlox, and right here in town we have several very excellent sources of supply, with prices as low or lower than elsewhere. Phlox is extremely showy in the border or bed but is not desirable for cutting as the flowerets drop so readily.

I know of no single flower more satisfactory for cutting in midsummer than the gladiolus. If the lower white blossoms are picked off every day and the stem cut correspondingly and water changed, they may be used to last blossom and then placed in a low flat bowl for a change.

Asters are past their height of blooming in some gardens, and I am wondering what will be left for the fall flower shows, more than six weeks away with everything in the garden so far advanced beyond its regular time.

For the past decade obvious makeup has been the thing but today makeup that flatters but is not apparent is the end to be achieved. Beauty experts advise spending at least 30 minutes a day on the face before starting for the shopping tour or the office, and again before leaving for any evening affair. If the time can be spared, this also means an outlay for a whole array of creams, powders, rouges and lipsticks, not to mention perfumes and sachets in your favorite scent and bath salts.

Children always delight in a picnic, and the package picnic is a desirable one for small children. All articles of food are wrapped separately in individual servings then packed in pastry boxes. When the time comes for the lunch, each child receives its package and there is no tiresome passing. They can be taught also to take care of left over scraps of food, paper and boxes and their share of the picking up.

The popularity of the all-white hat, no matter what the outfit continues, and the all-white costume is as smart as any, perhaps more chic with a touch of red or black.

3 tablespoons quick cooking tapioca

Add salt, pepper and paprika and tapoca to water and vinegar. Cook in double boiler 15 minutes, or until tapioca is clear, stirring frequently. Remove from fire, add butter and cool. Add mayonnaise, pickles and pimento to fish. Combine two mixtures. Cool. Make 2 cups filling.

HOW TO SHOP

CLOTH MAY BE "DOCTORED"

By William H. Baldwin

One thing for which the shopper should be watchful is the embossing of cloth to make it appear what it is not. Recently, a shopper bought a coat at a smart shop. She was delighted with her purchase because she thought she had a moire coat of excellent cut at a "bargain" price.

In due course she had it pressed and it came back to her as a coat of no particular weave or texture. What she really had bought was a common cloth which had been run through a machine that so stamped it as to give it the appearance of being a true moire weave. Instead of getting a distinguished looking commonplace one for which she paid a stiff price, and which, furthermore, had been weakened by the attempt to "doctor" it into a moire finish.

Similarly cotton fabrics are sometimes calendered and sold as satin tablecloths.

for ANY CHILD

WE can never be sure just what makes a child restless, but the remedy can always be the same. Good old Castoria. There's comfort in every drop of this pure vegetable preparation, and not the slightest harm in its frequent use. As often as your child has a fretful spell, is feverish, or cries and can't sleep, let Castoria soothe and quiet him. Some times it's a touch of colic. Sometimes constipation. Or diarrhea—a condition that should always be checked without delay. Just keep Castoria handy and give it promptly. Relief will follow very promptly; if it doesn't, you should call a physician.

Jabot Neckline and Sleeve Detail

Attract Attention

By ANNETTE

In the advanced Fall mode, the black canton crepe frock leads in popularity. It is usually enlivened with a fine, light crepe or embroidered batiste.

The model illustrated is especially suited to the larger woman.

The pointed treatment narrows the neckline. The jabot collar gives a slimming effect to the bodice, and the flounced sleeves are extremely modish.

Style No. 828 may be worn all through the Fall so will prove its economy. It is made at a very small outlay.

It is designed in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48 inches bust.

Georgette crepe, printed chiffon voile, printed batiste, printed sheer linen and pastel flat washable crepe are cool summery ideas for its development.

Size 38 requires 3 1/2 yards 39-inch with 1/4 yard 39-inch all-over lace.

GREEN BUDDIES NOSE OUT BOLTON

The Green Buddies nosed out the Bolton Juniors last night at the West Side club and won by a margin of 11 to 10. The winners scored one or more runs in every inning but the sixth. Bolton went on a scoring spree in the fourth and fifth to tie the score and the Green won out in the seventh. Gardner muffed Babe Ruth with a lousy pop that enabled him to circle the bases. The Green team challenges the West Side Buddies to another series.

WALTER HAGEN FAILS IN PRO QUALIFYING

New York, Aug. 7.—(AP)—For the first time in his long golf career, Walter Hagen will not be among those competing when the pro golfers tee off at Fresh Meadow Club, Flushing, in September, in quest of the pro championship. The five times holder of the title failed to qualify yesterday, when young Horton Smith, Hagen's protégé, led the field over the Cherry Valley Club course. Smith scored a 139 for the 36 holes but Hagen took 149, four strokes short of the mark.

The qualifiers included Johnny Farrell, Gene Sarazen, Bill Mehlhorn, Billy Burke, Jimmie Hines, John Golden, Pat Circelli, Whiffy Cox and Jack Forrester.

WHALE CAUSES TROUBLE

Ocean City, Md., Aug. 7.—(AP)—What to do with the carcass of a 52-foot whale, washed ashore near the North Beach Coast Guard station, was a problem facing city and county officials today. The last time a whale came ashore near here several years ago disposing of the carcass was a big job. Dynamite first was used but this method scattered the mammal over the roofs of houses and had to be abandoned. Finally the creature was cut into pieces which could be towed by sea-going motorboats and then were taken to sea and sunk.

New Davis Cup Blood Seen In Young Players

BY TED VOSBURGH (Associated Press Sports Writer.)
New York, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Out of the south and the far west, this summer have come three youngsters who may be destined to play a part eventually in recapturing the Davis Cup for the United States.

Ellsworth Vines of Pasadena, Calif., slim, lithe and well over the six-foot mark, upset in succession Frank Shields, No. 12 in the national ranking list, and the redoubtable Frank Hunter, No. 2, to win the Metropolitan turf court title. Bryan Grant, Jr. of the Atlanta atom, spilled Emmett Pare, the defending title holder; Fritz Mercer, No. 6 in the national ranking; Bruce Barnes, the Texas Star; and Wilbur Coen, ranking No. 8, on his way to a surprise victory in the National Clay court championships.

The south also won the National Intercollegiate title when Cliff Sutter of Tulane trimmed Millie Seligson, No. 14 in the national list, after battling his way through a strong field.

These achievements have made Vines, Grant and Sutter the sensations of the season in this country, practically assured them of places in the national ranking list for the first time, and given grounds for hope that such youngsters may yet succeed in beating the French.

The rise of this trio has been meteoric. Vines, until this year, was known only as a good young player. Ranked second in the national junior list, he was somewhat eclipsed by his fellow-Californian, Keith Glendhill.

But this year he has leaped ahead while Glendhill seems to have stood still. Vines, now 18, is the youngest of the three and possessed of the best physical equipment. Slender and tall, he has a powerful service that rolled up 11 aces against Hunter.

He is built for speed and comes in fast behind his serves and forcing shots for sharply angled volleys. Sutter plays a similar game, but Grant employs the tactics of Little Bill Johnston, whom he resembles in physique, and is at his best at a driving game. One advantage that these three newcomers to national fame have in their favor is that they never have been jinxed by being picked as future champions by Big Bill Tilden.

Robins Start Western Trip With A Victory

allowed three hits in the first game of a double-header but Red Faber got just as far with less effort in the second game, pitching Chicago to a 5 to 2 win.

The Boston Braves wound up a seven game series with the Phillies with a three run spurt in the ninth for a 5 to 4 victory.

The New York Giants and Cincinnati Reds were not scheduled.

Drub Pirates 7 to 4 As Cards Swat Cubs; Senators Defeat Athletics 5 to 1.

By EDWARD J. NEIL.
Rolling into the West where the National League pennant is waiting to be won, the Brooklyn Robins today have a most auspicious beginning of a crucial road trip to spur them on.

The Brooklyn, straining to establish a lead that can stand the strain of slumps and battle with chief contenders to come, has a happy augury in the first victory of the western jaunt, a 7 to 4 conquest of Pittsburgh in the opening of the Pirate series yesterday.

More important perhaps, the flying start had its material advantage for the St. Louis Cards rose to swat the Chicago Cubs.

George Watkins' pinch hit home run in the seventh with one on, gave the Cards a 4 to 3 win over the Cubs but four doubles, three triples and a homer by Comorosky couldn't save the Pirates from defeat.

The Washington Senators cut the lead of the Athletics to 1-2 games in the American League by downing Connie Mack's Champs, 5 to 1. Sam Jones held them to 6 hits while the Senators clubbed George Earnshaw in the pinches. The third place Yanks made hay with a close 4 to 2 win over the Boston Red Sox.

Colored Giants No Match for Locals; Hunt Features With Pair of Lusty Triples; Boyce Pitches, Bats Well.

The New England Colored Giants of Hartford were no match for the hard hitting Manchester Green diamonders last night up at Woodbridge Field, and returned to the Capital city amassing under the sting of a 13 to 3 defeat.

The Green slugged ten pairs of spikes across home plate in the hectic third inning and made its other three runs in the sixth. Tommy Hunt played the leading role with a brace of triples in as many official trips up.

Eddie Boyce pitched for the locals and allowed only six hits, all singles. He nipped Jones for two himself. Forgett, Dowd and Wright also hit into safe territory on two occasions. Here is the box score:

PAPAL ORGANIZATION TO FIGHT PROSELYTING

Vatican City, Aug. 7.—(AP)—The Pope, in a personal statement, published in the Osservatore Romano this evening, announced the formation of a "pontifical organization for preservation of the faith and for the provision of new churches in Rome," designed to combat Protestant proselyting in and around Rome.

The announcement in "motu proprio," "That is, a document made by the Pontiff himself, recalls his protest against Protestant activities in an allocation at a secret consistory held on June 30.

"The new 'defense organization' will have a cardinal for its president who will maintain continuous contact with Cardinal Pamolli, vicar general of the Diocese of Rome, to keep him informed and exchange useful ideas.

"The new organization will be divided into two sections, one for 'preservation of the faith, in addition to the organization now devoted to that work and bearing that name instituted by Pope Leo XIII, which will extend its operations."

NOON STOCKS

New York, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Offerings by tired holders together with pressure from bear sources, sent prices to appreciably lower levels in the early hours of trading in the Stock Market today.

Some effort was made to stem the decline by rendering support to U. S. Steel, General Electric, American Telephone, all of which rallied to fractions above the previous close, but the market was still in a state of depression.

High priced shares, as usual, were the chief sufferers in the selling movement. Allied Chemical and Eastman Kodak lost about 6 and J. I. Case, Atchison, Air Reduction, American Waterworks, and American Power and Light, 3 to 4 points.

Call money renewed unchanged at 2-1/2 per cent.

COAST GUARD'S FUNERAL

Kittery, Me., Aug. 7.—(AP)—The body of Chief Boatswain's Mate Louis A. Pratt, who was killed Monday night off Ipswich, Mass., when fellow Coast Guardsmen mistakingly fired upon his surfboat for a rum runner, fired upon it, today was borne to rest in a flag-draped casket carried by a squad of his mates in the service.

Twenty-four members of the Coast Guard from stations in the First District, including Plum Island and which station Pratt was attached, attended the services as an escort. Large crowds attended the church services. Pratt was married and the father of a five-year-old daughter.

SAILOR'S HAND CRUSHED

Boston, Aug. 7.—(AP)—The Coast Guard patrol boat Antietam today arrived in Boston with Paul Bonar, 28, of New London, whose hand was crushed in a winch aboard the trawler Tern on Georges Banks. A radio message called for aid for Bonar, and the Antietam, patrolling nearby, went to the Tern and took Bonar aboard and made a 200-mile dash to port. Inspection at the hospital revealed that two of the man's fingers may be saved.

OLD SAILORS' BEACON OUT OF COMMISSION

Washington, Aug. 7.—(AP)—A beacon that has guided sailors on storm tossed waters for 75 years will go out on August 15.

The Department of Commerce announced today that on that date Lightship No. 1 of the government lighthouse service would be withdrawn from service and broken up.

Built in 1855, it was the finest ship of its kind in the United States and she went to the important station of Nantucket Shoals light station, 20 1/2 miles east of New York and in the direct line of trans-Atlantic traffic.

Her wooden hull and sails are antiquated and most of her value now is because of the tradition that clusters about her.

She was 37 years old Nantucket when she was built, and was withdrawn from that exposed station in 1892 and replaced by a vessel equipped with a screw propeller.

Later service has been in milder southern waters and after she retires there will be no government lightship in service without propeller and power equipment.

BURST OF BUYING SENDS UP WHEAT

Chicago, Aug. 7.—(AP)—A fresh burst of buying lifted wheat and corn to new high levels for the season today, wheat jumping as much as 3 1/2 cents a bushel, at the opening, while corn advanced a maximum of 2 1/2 cents.

The wild bullish demonstration of yesterday apparently had attracted further public interest and there was general buying of all grains at the outset.

September wheat opened at 97 1/4 to 1-2 cents a bushel and gained another cent in subsequent trading, but March wheat moved up from 1 1/4 to 3 1/2 cents overnight, starting at $1.09 1/4 to $1.11. Corn was still overselling wheat, September corn at $1.01 1/4 to $1.02, December corn, after selling up to 99 1/2, reacted to 97 3/4 in a few minutes and then rallied again.

Fluctuations were extremely rapid.

GERMAN FLIER WINS

Berlin, Aug. 7.—(AP)—The German, Fritz Morzik, who won last year's around Europe reliability tour sponsored by the French Aero Club, today was declared the winner of a similar flight last month.

Morzik won on points, with a total of 423, although a British pilot, Captain Hubert S. Broad, was the first actually to complete the tour. He was given seventh place in the final scoring.

The German, Reinhold Poss, was second, the German Notz, third, and Miss Spooner of Great Britain was fourth.

NEW ATWATER-KENT DISPLAYED AT KEMP'S

The new 1930-31 Atwater Kent radio, the radio with the Golden Voice, is now on display at Kemp's, local dealers for Atwater Kent. Mr. Kemp and Mr. Pearl attended the first showing of the new models in New Haven on Tuesday evening, and are very enthusiastic about the splendid new Atwater Kent line for this season. The new models are all screen-grid and there are four models in all, one a table-type model. This new table-type model has a built in dynamic speaker, and sets on legs. It is quite a radical change from the old table models, yet an advancement over preceding models.

One of the biggest features of the new line is the cabinets. This is the first time that the Atwater Kent Company has made its own cabinets. They are very distinctive, well designed, well constructed and very attractive. Model 70 is the low boy, and sells for $139.20 complete with tubes; Model 74 is the table-type and is finished all around, the price being $145.20; complete with tubes; Model 75 is the highboy, having sliding doors; listing at $165.20 complete with tubes; the other model in the line is the combination radio and electrola, price of which is $215.20.

All of the dealers of whom there were over 200, were highly elated over the new style of cabinets which the Atwater Kent Company are using this year. They surpass anything that has ever been on the market, and all of the dealers were decided that the American Housewives would gladly welcome an Atwater Kent into their homes from a furniture point of view, as they had welcomed radio before.

The radio using the radio frequency circuit, employing screen-grid tubes, and as usual the standard of efficiency is particularly high, as Atwater Kent has always represented the very best in radio. The public of this country has long ago approved of Atwater Kent, and with the new improvements in cabinet construction and radio design, it is expected that this will be one of the best years for Atwater Kent dealers.

Of particular interest to Atwater Kent dealers, was the opening of the Golden Gate. During the radio show at Atlantic City in June, the new Atwater Kent radio was not displayed, but a beautiful Golden Gate, extremely large was on display, and the lock was on the door. A sign stated that the gate would be opened on August 5th, at which time a nation-wide broadcast would be made. When the dealers assembled throughout various cities of the country on Tuesday night, the Golden Gates were thrown open, and the new Golden Voiced Atwater Kent Radio was shown for the first time.

Having had an extremely large sale of Atwater Kent radios in 1929-30 winning many first prizes for sales, Kemp's Inc., look forward to one of the most successful radio seasons during 1930-31. Mr. Pearl who is in charge of the radio department, is confident that the new line of Atwater Kent radios will go over big here in Manchester, where this set has always had a large sale, as he feels the splendid new cabinets together with such fine radio at reasonable prices, are sure of instant favor with the public.

TRY TO BLOW UP SCHOOL

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 7.—(AP)—A special dispatch to the Albany Evening News from Middle Granville, Washington county, says that an attempt was made early today to blow up the three-story brick district school building in that village. About 25 pounds of black blasting powder was used in the attempt.

All the windows were broken, but otherwise little damage resulted. There has been considerable controversy in the village lately over a proposal to erect a new school building.

HUNT LOST PLANE

Stralsund, Germany, Aug. 7.—(AP)—German torpedo boats and Swedish airplanes today were searching the Baltic sea for traces of a night flying mail plane which hopped off at Stockholm at 11 p. m. but had not arrived here this forenoon.

The plane carried only a pilot and a mechanic. It was believed to have vanished at about the spot where a Luftwaffe plane was forced down and smashed to bits in July. In this accident five lives were lost including two Americans, Dr. John L. Burkholder and Miss Ruth Patricia Northrup, both of Pennsylvania.

OPENING STOCKS

New York, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Selling was resumed at the opening of today's Stock Market, and several issues recorded initial losses of 1 to 2 points. U. S. Steel and Pennsylvania opened steady, but Westinghouse Electric, North American, International Harvester, Warner Bros., Worthington Pump, and American Can sagged 1 to 1-2. Houston Oil and Case lost 2, American Tobacco 2 3/4 and the Class B stock 2 1/4.

Bearish operations grew increasingly aggressive during the early trading and several issues sold off 2 to 4 points, but a trace of a rally appeared by the end of the first half hour. The rather disappointing mid-week steel trade reviews, lack of relief from the drought, and passing of the Goodrich dividend gave the bears a basis for their attacks.

Selling orders, however, largely originated with floor traders. Public liquidation was negligible, and short covering soon caused several rallies of 1-4 to 1 point.

Shares sagging about 3 to 4 points included American Water Works, Case, Allied Chemical, Air Reduction, Atchison, Eastman, Corning Products, and Auburn Auto. International Harvester and Warner Bros. soon extended their losses to 2 points, and Continental Can lost as much.

Pivotal shares were well supported at moderate concessions. U. S. Steel lost about a point, then rebounded. Among other shares selling off were Radio Dupont, Foreign exchanges opened easy, with sterling cables off 3-32 at $4.87 5/32.

GRAND JURY PROBE

ALOSTRACE
Saves steps.

There are at least four mistakes in the above picture. They may pertain to grammar, history, etiquette, drawing or whatnot. See if you can find them. Then look at the scrambled word below—and unscramble it, by switching the letters around. Grade yourself 20 for each of the mistakes you find, and 20 for the word if you unscramble it.

CORRECTIONS

(1) Milk cows is the correct form, instead of milk cows. (2) Jerseys are fawn colored, instead of black and white. (3) Holsteins are black and white instead of red. (4) The two sides of the bit on the bridle of the girl's horse do not match. (5) The scrambled word is RECALATOR.

THE TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

One of the boatmen shouted loud and beckoned to the Tiny crowd. "What does he want with us?" said one. "I'll just bet that I know. He wants to take us for a ride. His boat will hold us, side by side. There's room enough for everyone. It would be fun to go."

"All right," replied the Travel man. "We have the time and so we can." The Tynies then ran to the boat and started climbing in. It was a scramble, very wild. Each Tiny acted like a child who had a big surprise in store. It made the boat man grin.

The Travel Man still stood on shore. "What are you waiting back there for?" exclaimed excited Clowny. "Come, there's room enough for you. To take us on this trip, you're kind. We dislike leaving you behind." The Travel Man said, "All right, boys, I'll take the boat trip, too."

As soon as everyone was set, one Tiny said, "Now, don't get wet." And then the boat man sat right down and paddled swift and strong. At first the boat moved very slow and then, oh my, how it did go. The paddle strokes he took were making it move right along.

Just then the boat rose in the air and gave the Tynies quite a scare. "Don't worry," cried the Travel Man, "we just rode on a swell."

FALSE ALARM CALLS NORTH END FIREMEN

Believe Today, However, There Was a Blaze and That Alarm Was Wrongly Given. The Manchester Fire Department was called out on a false alarm a few minutes before five last evening and the firemen are at a loss today to know whether there really was a fire in their territory or not.

The Manchester Fire Department was called out on a false alarm a few minutes before five last evening and the firemen are at a loss today to know whether there really was a fire in their territory or not. When the telephone call came in the operator informed the north end alarm man at the Orford Soap Company that there was a fire at Campbell's Filling Station.

Going to Campbell's the north end firemen were told there was no fire there. A check-up in the section disclosed no sign of a blaze. The telephone company tried to trace the call later but all that could be learned was that the name Campbell's Filling Station had been given.

Later it was reported that a small fire had occurred somewhere in the Green section and that a phone call had been sent to the South Manchester department as well. No trace of a fire in the Green section could be found, however, and the firemen are still wondering whether the person telephoning the alarm intended it to be false or whether there was a blaze that was extinguished without the aid of fire apparatus.

The judges chosen by Director Lloyd were Miss Teresa Scholl, a graduate nurse in charge of the second floor in the Memorial hospital, including the baby ward, who served as chairman; Miss Dorothy Sawyer, society editor of the Hartford Courant, and Mrs. Mary Taylor, home page editor of The Herald. The J.W. Hale Company DEPARTMENT STORE SO. MANCHESTER, CONN. For hot weather comfort wear The Mouldette by Carter it launders like lingerie $3.95 This new foundation garment by Carter has become quite the rage for hot weather wear as it is so light and cool—and, too, it launders so easily. It is fashioned of a soft, pliant fabric that gently moulds the figure, yet permits freedom of movement. This garment is self-reinforced with cleverly cut brassiere top—it will not stretch. Buy it and wash it like you would lingerie. Hale's Corsets—Main Floor, rear
