Van Lear Black, Millionaire Globe Trotting Flier, Thought to Have Fallen Overboard From Yacht.

BULLETIN:

New York, Aug. 20.—(AP.)—Search by planes for the body of Van Lear Black, who vanished from his yacht Sabalo off the New Jersey Coast on Monday evening, was abandoned today.

Three planes which pressed the hunt for the Baltimore publisher for three hours this morning reported that there was such a strong tide out to sea and that ocean currents were moving away from shore in such volume that little hope remained for the present that the body would be found near the coastline.

New York, Aug. 20.—(AP.)—Ships and aircraft were called upon today in an intensive search for Van Lear Black, Baltimore publisher, financier and globe trotting aviation enthusiast, who is believed to have fallen from the rail of his yacht and drowned off the New Jersey coast Monday night.

The Navy dirigible Los Angeles; Black's yacht, the Sabalo; Coast Guard vessels and four amphibian planes were assigned to the task.

Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, a friend of Mr. Black, requested that everything possible be done to promote the quest for the only person listed in the fact that he was a good swimmer and may have kept himself afloat until picked up by some small ship.

When Last Seen
Mr. Black was last seen shortly after 9 o'clock Monday night, eight miles south of Ambrose Channel, sitting on the stern rail of the yacht, his legs entwined around the guard rails and one hand grasping a stanchion. He was smoking a cigarette. That day he had flown to Newport to see his twin grandchildren just born to his daughter, wife of Lieut. Albert J. Bolton. He had boarded the yacht at the wharf of the New York Yacht club, foot of 26th street, about 6 o'clock, apparently delighted.

Found Missing
Shortly after 10 o'clock his valet went on deck to consult him. Mr. Black could not be found. Alarmed, the valet informed the captain, John W. Kelley. Kelley ordered the yacht stopped and played searchlights on the water.
"The only thing we found was Mr. Black's handkerchief near the rail of the aft deck. That told me what probably happened," Kelley said.
The captain said he had warned Mr. Black many times that his habit of sitting on the rail was dangerous.

DEMAND UNIFORMS FOR FEDERAL MEN

Auto Club Officials Want to Distinguish Them From Bandits on Dark Roads.

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 20.—(AP.)—Maryland Automobile Club officials went to Washington today for a conference with Amos W. Woodcock, director of prohibition. They announced they expected he would announce details of a plan they said he had devised to enable motorists to distinguish prohibition agents on highways at night.
The conference is the second called as a result of charges of Edward G. Duncan, a state roads engineer, and wife, that they were fired on by two prohibition officers. Later the officers were fined. Duncan said he refused to obey an order to halt as he feared the men were highwaymen.

At a previous conference it was said by H. M. Lucius, secretary of the automobile club, Woodcock explained a plan he had in mind but pledged those present not to reveal its details.
Hints were given that the prohibition director favors some kind of insignia, and that he does not favor a uniform.

Those who want to Washington today besides Mr. Lucius included Harry N. Abercrombie, president of the automobile club, who is also United States commissioner here, and Allan A. Sauerweide, counsel for the Automobile Trade Dealers' Association.

NEW AIRPLANE HAS NO WINGS

Closely Guarded Machine Is to Be Operated on the Rotor Principle—Backed by Rich Men.

New York, Aug. 20.—(AP.)—The secrets of a new mysterious aircraft, without wings and operated on the rotor principle, today were being jealously guarded by three inventors who have developed the craft on a barge on Long Island Sound.

Walter P. Chrysler and Harold Elstner Talbot, Jr., are capitalists said to be backing the venture. Nothing could be learned concerning the matter at their offices, however.

The machine is based on the principle used in the celebrated Flettner rotor ship. It resembles a seaplane without wings. A single motor in the nose supplies the traction through a three-bladed propeller. An air cooled auxiliary motor provides power to rotate the cylinders which take the place of wings. Two rotors are on each side of the craft. An outrigger rudder is forward, behind is a small pair of tandem cockpits.

FRENCH COURT ADMITS ERROR AT SPY TRIAL

Man Condemned to Death is American Who Was Not Out of California in the Last Fifty Years.

Paris, Aug. 20.—(AP.)—A Paris military tribunal today solemnly absolved Charles Leopold Hartmann, of Hollister, Calif., from all stigma of having been a German agent during the World War, and recalling the death sentence passed upon him in 1919.

The court, in rescinding the death sentence, transferred it to "an unknown person who usurped Hartmann's identity."
Hartmann is an American citizen, 75 years old. He was arrested on charges of being a German spy when he made a visit to his birthplace in Alsace.

A net of circumstantial evidence had been woven around Hartmann by the activities of the person who had assumed his name, and the

THREE PERSONS DIE IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Newly Wed Couple Among Victims — Machine Going Fast, Fails to Round Curve

North Andover, Mass., Aug. 20.—(AP.)—Three persons were fatally injured here this morning when their automobile failed to round a curve at Farnham's Corners and was demolished as it crashed into a tree. They were Edwin G. Nash, 28 Shepard street, Cambridge, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Plummer of 330 West Emerson street, Melrose, who had been married only a few weeks.

Mrs. Plummer was found dead amidst the wreckage. Plummer was pronounced dead upon arrival at the Lawrence General hospital, while Nash, who identified himself as an instructor at Harvard University, died at the hospital an hour and a half after the accident.

The machine was registered in the name of Plummer's mother, Mrs. Gula G. Plummer, of Melrose. Married Recently
The victims were northbound but their destination was not learned.

Plummer, 27, and a graduate of Dartmouth college, was manager of a sugar plantation in Santo Domingo. He returned home a few weeks ago and shortly afterward married Miss Leone Shepherd of Minnesota. Later they stayed at Plummer's mother's summer home at New London, N. H., but had since returned to Melrose.

Nash, who was an instructor of English, and long a friend of the family, had passed the night with the Plummers.
The Plummer family is wealthy and widely known in Melrose.
Medical Examiner Victor A. Reed of Lawrence took charge of the investigation into the accident. Police said Plummer's car must have been traveling at high speed when the crash occurred.

Washington, Aug. 20.—(AP.)—Treasury receipts for Aug. 18 were $7,787,886.08; expenditures $10,036,836.88; balance $99,481,829.36.

175 Passengers Rescued From Sinking Ship

The British lined Tahiti, above, sank in Mid-Pacific after 175 passengers had been transferred to the steamer Ventura which had reached 700 miles against an impending storm to aid the stricken vessel. The ship was en route from New Zealand to San Francisco when it lost a propeller. Water flooded the engine room and holds and only heroic work at the pumps kept the ship afloat until the SOS calls were answered.

ACADIANS' DESCENDANTS BACK IN NOVA SCOTIA

Party of Forty From Louisiana Return to Observe 175th Anniversary of De- portation of Forbears.

Grand Pre, N. S., Aug. 20.—(AP.)—The ancient willows of Grand Pre, which already were full grown trees when the French Acadians of this historic village were torn from their homes and scattered abroad in 1755, offered shade again to the Norman-capped and kirtled maids as in the days made immortal in Longfellow's poem "Evangeline."

A party of forty direct descendants of the Acadians of Grand Pre, most of them from Louisiana, came here today to celebrate the 175th anniversary of the deportation of their forbears from the land of Evangeline.

Colorful Tour
The tour of the visitors, from the time of their arrival in Nova Scotia at Yarmouth yesterday, has been one of color and enthusiasm. In the vicinity of Yarmouth they were greeted by descendants of those Acadians who, after the expulsion, found their way back to Nova Scotia but did not reach the scene of their original habitations.

All along the Bay of Fundy-shore, from Yarmouth to Annapolis, the visitors were given constant reminders that they were among their own kinsfolk. Church Point, Digby, Major's Point and Annapolis Royal, all alive with memories of the French pioneers, were stopping places, and thousands of people lined the way to greet them. At Major's Point they visited the shrine over the graves of the first Acadians to return after the expulsion.

Today the party came to Grand Pre, an Acadian village turned for a day into a beautiful park, willows, Evangeline's well and the memorial church—all these are here.
The visitors are headed by Dudley J. Leblanc of Lafayette, Louisiana, president of the Louisiana Acadian Association.

LAWYERS DIVIDED ON DRY QUESTION

Referendum Sent to 30,000 Members Starts Big De- bate at Convention.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—(AP.)—Prohibition has tossed a bombshell into the annual meeting of the American Bar Association.

The executive committee's action in refusing to withdraw a membership referendum on the wet-dry question portended serious debate as Henry Upson Sims, the president, formally opened the 53d convention today.

Leaders of the opposition, organized yesterday, were prepared to take their fight on the referendum on the convention floor. Their argument, it was disclosed, was that prohibition is now a question of national policy and not a legal matter that should come before the Bar Association.

Two Questions
The referendum, authorized by the executive committee last January, consisted of two questions, went to the 30,000 members through the mails. They were: "Do you favor a referendum on the repeal of the 18th Amendment?"
"Should the American Bar Association go on record as favoring the repeal of the 18th Amendment?"
The convention was opened by

Zuta Given $150,000 in Stolen Gems to Hide; Place Where They Were Placed is Disclosed.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—(AP.)—Uncut diamonds, reported to be valued at $150,000, were hunted today in the fifty treasure trove of Jack Zuta, slain gang chief whose recently discovered record had already brought to light multiple transactions between gangsters and public officials.

Stolen from Salesmen
Existence of the cache was set out in the Zuta papers seized by investigators late yesterday.

The gems were reported to have been taken in a series of holdups of jewelry salesmen on Chicago streets and given to Zuta for safe-keeping. A salesman from an eastern jewelry firm who refused to reveal his identity appeared at the investigation headquarters today and conferred with Pat Roche, chief investigator for the state's attorney's office and Charles F. Rathbun, special assistant state attorney.

Efforts were made immediately to obtain a search warrant from Municipal Judge John H. Lyle, avowed nemesis of "mobsters" preparatory to obtaining the hidden treasure chest.

Roche declined to divulge his plans but informed the press that he "would have something for them later."

Worth $150,000
Before entering the conference the jewelry salesman told reporters he was on the trail of the stolen diamonds in the belief they were the property of his company, and admitted their value would approximate $150,000. He would not say at what time the jewels fell into the hands of outlaws.

Investigators suppressed the nature of their findings in Zuta's safety deposit box opened yesterday but indicated the impounded records dated eight years back and included a check from Zuta to Dion O'Banion, whose slaying in 1925 plungered gangland into an internecine war.

CALLS GREAT BRITAIN SOCIALIST GOVERNMENT

Winston Churchill Says Pres- ent Rules Are Mixing Up Things in General in All the Empire's Possessions.

Minster, Kent, England, Aug. 20.—(AP.)—A plea for unification of the Conservative Party in an effort to arouse the party's supporters and oust what he called "this wretched Socialist government," was made by Winston Churchill today.

His speech seemed likely to be taken as the opening gun of a Labor regime.

Personal and sectional aims should be put aside "to avert the decline and fall of the British Empire" the fortunes of which he former chancellor of the exchequer declared he never would have believed could decline so rapidly as they have done of late.

Rape MacDonald
Mr. Churchill devoted much of his ammunition to an attack upon the way the MacDonald government has been handling the Indian situation, particularly the way in which the Pothan tribesmen had come down out of the mountains and were "molesting and insulting a famous city" with a large garrison of British and Indian troops.

"Such a lamentable spectacle would have been impossible in former times," he exclaimed. "It would almost seem that the same spirit of defeatism in high places which is so rapidly throwing India into chaos has paralyzed military action at Peshawar."

The former chancellor, who referred to Mahatma Gandhi as "this malevolent fanatic" declared that no proposal of dominion status for India would pass even the present House of Commons. While saying this he reaffirmed the "inflexible resolve of Great Britain to aid the Indian people to fit themselves increasingly for the duties of self-government."

BORGEIOS IS DEAD; DREAM FULFILLED

Planned Famous Temple 20 Years Ago and Lives to See Foundation Started.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—(AP.)—Louis Jean Borgeios, architect and sculptor, died last night with fulfillment of his fondest dream not far away.

He had hoped to live long enough to see the framework started on the Bahai temple he started 20 years ago. Completion of the structure, which has been declared the first new idea in architecture since the 13th Century, was assured recently but actual work is not to start until September.

Borgeios himself a member of the sect, won an international contest for a design for a temple to be located in Chicago and selected a site at Wilmette, northern suburb.

The corner stone was laid by Abdul Baba, son of the founder of the religion. By 1922 the foundation and basement had been completed and then work was suspended until sufficient funds were on hand to continue on the $2,000,000 temple—the Bahais having the principles of no debts, no mortgages, no solicitations.

Engineers Engaged
Recently enough voluntary contributions were made to proceed a few steps, and an engineering firm of Washington, D. C., was engaged to go ahead with construction.

In his design, Borgeios has combined the essence of the architecture of the Egyptians, the Greek, the Roman, the Arabic, the Gothic, the Renaissance, and the modern.

REPEAL DRY LAW, LEWIS DEMANDS

Candidate for Senate in Speech Scores Volstead Act; Cause of Hard Times.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 20.—(AP.)—James Hamilton Lewis, candidate for U. S. Senator, delivering the keynote address before the Democratic state convention, today urged modification or repeal of the Volstead Act or the 18th Amendment "or any portion of either of these, which cannot run concurrently with right and privilege of the state."

In his first speech of any length since being nominated to run against Ruth Hanna McCormick for the Senate, Lewis blamed prohibition for official corruption, economic ill and despair of farmers. He said the farmer should again be permitted "to profit from the medical and mechanical uses of the juice of his grain."

Lewis, a former Senator, summoned the citizens to "bring back the government to its proper status and demanded a state 'free of theft and murder by National prohibition highwaymen.'"

Nearer Revolution
"For the immediate action of our countrymen," said Lewis, "we call to attention the fact that in the midst of the maladministration of the National prohibition law—the enriched bandits, who under the name of the law, infest the republic—have brought this United States nearer to open civil war and revolution, than our country has ever known since the rebellion, under the alien and sedition laws of President John Adams."

HURT IN PLANE CRASH
Greenwood, S. C., Aug. 20.—(AP.)—Mrs. Mae Hallist of St. Louis was injured seriously in a crash of her airplane eight miles east of Greenwood this morning.

Mrs. Hallist was flying from Atlanta to Washington. She apparently got off her course and attempted to make a landing in a cotton field. A wheel gave way in landing and the plane ground looped.

She was brought to a hospital here in an unconscious condition.

Miss Vera Down Walker of Los Angeles, flying another plane, made a safe landing near Mrs. Hallist's wrecked ship.

GUARDS TRUST EVEN IN DEATH

Watchman Lowers Gates at Crossing Before Life Leaves Him to Protect the Public.

Hammond, Ind., Aug. 20.—(AP.)—Even in death, Caleb Gibbard guarded the Oakley avenue crossing of the Michigan Central Railroad.

Automobiles piled up for a block or more on each side of the crossing last night, and waited and waited for the train to come. No trains were even in sight, the gates were down and finally the motorists grew impatient and started honking.

The clamor set up by dozens of auto horns attracted police who climbed to the watchman's tower. There they found Gibbard dead—he had lowered the gates so that the crossing was open to traffic, and some one came to take up his post.

GIRL NOT STOLEN POLICE DISCOVER

Fourteen Year Old Girl Wants to Marry Man 24 and Parents Object.

East Hampton, Conn., Aug. 20.—(AP.)—Charles Matson, 24, of Brooklyn, N. Y., charged with abduction, paid a fine of $2 and costs in Justice Court today on the lesser charge of breach of the peace because the offense alleged was not as serious as claimed by Percy Wells, also of Brooklyn, an angry parent.

Matson and Wells 14 year old daughter came from Brooklyn to visit relatives of the former, and the parent followed. A complaint alleging abduction was served by a deputy sheriff on Matson during the night.

Looks 20 Years Old
Evidence was that Matson and the girl, the latter looking fully 20 years old have been keeping company but Mr. and Mrs. Wells objected to marriage. They came to visit cousins of Matson and the father followed.

Today Matson said he would return to Brooklyn and ask the police to aid him in having the parents' objections overcome so he could marry his sweetheart.

Last night Miss Wells narrowly escaped drowning while bathing in the lake and was rescued by Nels Peterson, a cousin of Matson.

Chicago's Switched Babies Are Switched Once More

Chicago, Aug. 20.—(AP.)—The Watkins and Bamberger babies were in new homes today and three-fourths of the parents at least thought they were the right homes.

The central figures in the famous baby switching case were exchanged last night after Charles Bamberger and his wife had decided the Watkins were right in contending that the two families had the wrong babies.

Under the watchful eye of Dr. Arnold Kegel, city health commissioner, Mrs. Bamberger handed over the infant boy she has cared for for the last six weeks and Mrs. William Watkins in turn gave her the baby she had christened a Watkins.

FENN FOR REPEAL OF DRY AMENDMENT

Says He Will Vote That Way If Subject Is Brought Up In Congress.

Hartford, Aug. 20.—(AP.)—Congressman E. Hart Fenn is ready to vote for the repeal of the 18th Amendment if it is brought before Congress for submission to the States, the Crusaders of Hartford were assured in a reply from the Congressman in regard to a query concerning his stand on prohibition.

In view of Mr. Fenn's recent announcement of his candidacy for reelection, the Crusaders asked him to declare himself on the question of prohibition. The chairman of the Crusaders on Monday received Congressman Fenn's letter of reply in which he stated that his position was identical with a statement in the Hartford Times editorial on Aug. 15. The portion of the editorial referred to by Mr. Fenn stated:

"Connecticut's Senators and Representatives have been and are now ready to vote for the repeal, if and when it is brought before Congress for submission to the state."

Approves Editorial
"I am most heartily in concurrence with this statement made in the Times editorial," Congressman Fenn informed Mr. Robinson. In further explanation of his attitude Congressman Fenn said in a statement to the Times that Connecticut has never ratified the 18th Amendment and that he has always stood by the action of the state legislature in refusing to ratify the prohibition act.

Congressman E. Hart Fenn

Mr. Robinson in commenting on the letters from Congressman Fenn said today that the Crusaders wished to know whether or not he would work for repeal of the amendment. "The correspondence indicates that Mr. Fenn is 'wet' but how wet is another question," said Mr. Robinson. "It does seem that the question as to attitude toward repeal is still unanswered. The correspondence has not yet been presented to our directors but personally I think the question is not answered."

ROCKVILLE BUSES AWAIT NEW ROAD One Man Service on Trolleys to Continue Until the Highway is Finished.

One-man trolley service between Hartford and Rockville, instituted last Sunday, is but a temporary proposition, according to N. J. Scott, superintendent of the Hartford division of the Connecticut Company. New buses have been ordered to be run on the Rockville line but these will not be put into operation until the highway is completed.

ABOUT TOWN

Mr. and Mrs. George Swanson and small daughter are moving today from Putnam, Conn. to Starkweather street, this town. Mr. and Mrs. John McMenemy of Marble street and daughters are spending their vacation at Point O' Woods. Miss Alice Paradis of 140 Cooper street is spending her vacation at her former home in Lowell, Mass.

Advance Guards Thrusts and Counters Interest to Local Soldiers

The regular army instructor in marksmanship, Captain Charles R. Sargent, is expected to pay a visit to the army shortly in connection with the coming range practice for G Company. The West Hartford range, because of the large number of targets, will probably be used. It was found that certain conditions affecting week-end firing, eliminated the college range at Storrs.

G Company will hold another drill on Friday night to complete the required amount of drills for the quarter ending August 31. A very good attendance record has been compiled by the company during the last quarter and is unofficially set at 93 per cent, an advance of between 20 and 30 per cent over the average attendance for the past year.

One of the things the boys miss since they returned to Manchester is the cold, clear water which was obtained in the barracks wash room. Although Camp Devens was not altogether lovely as to location, it certainly sported good cold drinking water.

Visitors' Day at Camp Devens, August 10, revealed the fact that many of the boys at camp have good looking sisters. They are not often seen at the army but in this instance they took the 100-mile drive to visit their brothers, playing at war games, incidentally, they met many of the other lads in the companies.

One piece of news that broke during the week which caused the boys some little concern, was the probable promotion of Major Samuel A. Butler, Second Battalion commander of the 169th, to Lt.-Colonel, caused by Colonel Scarborough's elevation to assistant Adjutant General. The Manchester boys are strong for Major Butler, and at the big supper held on Thursday night before breaking camp, Sergeant McCavanaugh introduced the popular officer as "the best battalion commander in the regiment." We hate to lose you, Major, but we are pleased you are to get a deserving promotion.

After two weeks on straw mattresses, the boys lost no time getting into "civies" with clean white shirts and light shoes. Getting a good night's sleep at camp was no easy job for the boys were inclined to prostrate themselves on the slightest provocation. Under those conditions it is not surprising that the doughboys planted their heads on home pillows Saturday night with a strange sense of security from midnight upsets.

A number of non-commissioned officers in G Company are taking interest in topography, one of the studies required of a junior officer. It is probable that a class in map reading will be formed at the NCO school next Sunday morning.

A member of the Howitzer Company had an interesting experience en route to Manchester Saturday. The train was on the outskirts of Worcester and in the midst of the heavy cloudburst that visited that city near noon. One of the men loaned his raincoat to the brakeman who was forced to "back track" when the train stopped during the shower. When the train started up the engine and conductor forgot the brakeman with the Howitzer raincoat, and it was not until the next morning that the coat was delivered to the Manchester depot master.

Douglas Lynne of Pearl street enlisted in the Howitzer Company Monday night for a three-year bit. Friends of Corporal Hentschel are holding their hands back—of their ears listening for the announcement of his marriage.

The men's room of G Company is to be redecorated, chairs and furniture repaired and the pool table re-covered. Pool cues, ball and cue racks are to be purchased and as soon as the equipment is complete an effort will be made to conduct a pool tournament. The winners in

Lee Thrall returned yesterday from Middletown, Del., making the return trip from Philadelphia to Hartford by motor bus.

The Scoutmaster's Association of Manchester will meet tonight at the School Street Rec at 7:30 o'clock. Inasmuch as plans for Manchester's scouting activities for the coming season will be made it is expected that every troop will be well represented. There are at present nine active troops in the local district and officials are looking forward to a very successful year.

A surprise birthday party in honor of Mrs. Selma Erickson was held last night at her home at 77 Laurel street by a number of friends. The self invited guests brought a large quantity of refreshments with them which were served during the evening. Mrs. Erickson was presented with a wicker rocking chair. The evening was spent in playing cards.

Hallstones were found this morning in the henyard of Milton E. Fish on Lake street, remaining from the storm of Saturday night. The storm uprooted a poplar tree 20 inches in diameter on the property and smashed another tree four feet in diameter to pieces on a neighbor's place.

G Company will challenge those of the Howitzer Company.

Captain McVeigh of G Company is desirous of having all local boys who attended the C. M. T. C. camps report at the army Monday night, August 25, for the purpose of forming a rifle club among the members of that group. It is hoped that some good shots will be developed among the boys, and that competition between the local guardsmen will ensue.

The men of both companies were saddened to learn of the death of former Private, 1st class, Herbert Kanehl while the men were en route from Camp Devens to Manchester, Saturday morning. Private Kanehl was a former member of both G Company and the Howitzer, having served his initial enlistment in G with a one-year re-enlistment in the Howitzer company and was discharged several years ago. At the funeral Tuesday afternoon, G Company furnished the firing squad and one bugler and the Howitzer Company the bearers and a bugler as carried in yesterday's paper.

OUR FARMERS NEED BETTER CREDIT PLAN

Ithaca, N. Y., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Careful study of the credit problems of farmers with the view of improving the service to the advantage of both the farmer and the financial institutions supplying the credit was recommended here today by Professor A. G. Black of Iowa State College speaking at the International Conference of Agricultural Economists at Cornell University.

He said that compared with the field of marketing, farm management and prices of farm products, credit problems of the farmer have been neglected. "In early days land was free and farm implements were cheap," Prof. Black said. "Farmers could get only small loans from local money lenders at big rates of interest and preferred to expand slowly and stay out of debt for this reason." He described the establishments of the Federal Farm Loan system in 1916, for the first time providing agriculture with a system of credit for its own needs. He said the low interest rates and long time loans met the immediate response, but that comparatively little has been done to improve short time credit.

DOYLE ACQUITTED

New York, Aug. 20.—(AP)—A Federal Court jury acquitted Dr. William F. Doyle today on two counts of perjury in connection with his income tax returns for 1927 and 1928 but failed to agree as to his guilt or innocence on a third count charging evasion in his 1929 return. The judge declared a mistrial on the evasion count, and U. S. Attorney Charles H. Tuttle said that Doyle would be brought to trial again on that count.

The jury took the case last night. This morning it reported it could not reach a verdict, but it was sent back to the jury room. An hour later the acquittal on two counts was announced. The jury had been out for nineteen hours and had spent almost eight hours in actual deliberation.

Doyle, a former veterinary for the city fire department, was charged with failing to report all of a large income derived from his appearances for applicants before the city board of standards and appeals.

MRS. FULLER'S FUNERAL. Norwalk, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Funeral services will be held Friday at Westbrook, Conn., for Mrs. Louise B. W. Fuller, wife of Robert Warren Fuller, chairman of the Board of Chemistry, Stuyvesant School, New York City, who died yesterday, following a heart attack. Mrs. Fuller formerly was the wife of Prof. W. H. Foster, headmaster of St. Paul's school at Concord, N. H., where she resided for many years.

ASKS MAN'S RETURN. Hartford, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Acting Governor Ernest E. Rogers today made requisition on Governor Roosevelt of New York for the return of Charles R. Youngs, who is held in New Rochelle, N. Y., and wanted in Bridgeport on a charge of embezzlement.

BIG STORM SPOILS DRINKING WATER

Think Conduits Will Have to be Constructed to Protect North Supply.

The new state highway in Bolton has diverted the flow of storm water to such extent that drinking water at the north end is upset badly after every downpour. State officials have been notified and the Manchester Water Company and E. C. Elliott Jr., who is acting health agent here, are investigating.

It is believed that it will be necessary to build conduits to carry the storm water away from the Wilson Brook before the drinking water can be protected from the dirt that accompanies a deluge of rain.

AUSTRALIA'S PLIGHT

Montreal, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Australia is deplored by William Faversham, the actor, as "the bad boy of the British Empire."

Returning last night from a tour of the antipodes, the veteran actor lamented that "a country which once had a fine theatrical tradition is losing complete interest in any form of theatrical entertainment, even movies."

FARMING DEMONSTRATION

New Haven, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Once a year the Connecticut agricultural experiment station staff has a field day, gathers in under a big tent on its Mt. Carmel demonstration farm the farmers and the families from far and near and makes a report of the year's research work.

Today was the 1930 field day and topping everything else as subjects of talk by experts were "pests" of all kinds, more particularly the two beetles, Japanese and Asiatic, and the European corn borer.

Of several demonstrations in the field the one followed by the men with keen attention was the plowing in of corn stalks to kill off the borer.

That political jobs in Manchester look big to many men here since steady work has been so long in coming. It is said that several offices that pay in the neighborhood of $500 yearly will be contested for.

That some aviator believed to be from one of the passenger plane hangars at Brainard Field, will be "grounded" for three weeks if he persists in stunting over Manchester. "Tis said he's practicing stunt flying and comes away out east from the airport so that officials there won't see him.

That there is a women's organization in town, consisting of ten members, which meets only on the birthday of one of its members.

That the proprietor of a local liquor rendezvous which nearly approaches speakeasy qualifications abides by the letter of the law so strictly that he puts everybody out of his house at eleven o'clock at night because the law says a saloon must close at that hour.

REIZER GETS JAIL FOR LIQUOR SALE

Appeals Sentence—Mrs. Al-sacovich Has Case Continued to Monday.

Two liquor sellers, Ignatz Reizer of School street and Mrs. Lena Al-sacovich of South Main street, were before Judge Raymond A. Johnson in the Manchester police court this morning. Neither Reizer nor Mrs. Al-sacovich are strangers to the court officials. Both have records. Police officers visited both places yesterday, and secured evidence of an actual sale at both places. Both were charged with keeping liquor with intent to sell and actual sale.

An actual purchase was made from Reizer by Superintendent Patrolman Lester E. Behrend who went into Reizer's house attired as an electrical repairman. The actual purchase at the Al-sacovich home was made by Motorcycle Patrolman Raymond Griffin.

In court this morning Reizer was represented by Attorney W. S. Hyde, and entered a plea of guilty to both charges. Reizer, his attorney said, had no money. Only yesterday Deputy Sheriff James H. Johnston had attached his property for $500 to satisfy a judgment against him secured some time ago.

Judge Johnson found Reizer guilty and imposed a fine of $100 for keeping, and 30 days in jail for actual sale. An appeal was taken to the September term of the Superior Court. This was done to allow Reizer a few days to raise the money and adjust his business. He will then go to jail for 30 days.

When Mrs. Al-sacovich's case was called she asked the judge to continue the hearing until she could secure counsel. Her request was granted and the hearing will take place next Monday. A real estate bond of $500 was given to insure her appearance at that time.

Charles Martini of East Hampton came to town yesterday, to do some trading and was arrested on Hartford road for indecent exposure. The complaint was made by two boys. A Hartford attorney appeared for Martini and pleaded for leniency. He told the judge that his client was a farmer and had a

NOT HAPPY COMPARISON

That the government and people of Great Britain face the devil and all of a predicament in the Indian situation is perfectly obvious. That anybody in these United States is wise enough to warrantably give advice to either Britain or the Indians is not so obvious.

One of the latest of Americans to offer advice, however, is former President Coolidge, who says: We realize from the historical development of our own institutions that self-government cannot be conferred by one person upon another people but must be acquired by long and painful experience.

It seems to us the comparison with our own attainment of freedom is not altogether happy. Would Mr. Coolidge contend that when the American colonies split with the mother country they were unified or that their people were, as a whole, either educated or by experience or knowledge equipped for self government?

Hardly. The colonies were so little unified that they had, one with the other, scarcely a thing in common. They did not even know one another. They had only one common bond—they were one and all good and mad at the treatment they had been getting and they shut their eyes and piled into a fight without even a definite purpose until they had been in it a year.

Afterward it took them a generation to get down to their bearings as a unit and more than another to iron out vital differences.

If we had waited until we were unified, educated and equipped for self government before grabbing our independence we should be a British colony still.

It is only of gradual growth through many intermediate grades, none of which can be omitted. When India is unified, educated and equipped for self government it will come with benefit to all concerned.

scale than New York. But there have been times where the great town went berserk—and the consequences have been stupendous.

If the police and the courts cannot or do not very promptly give the millions of New Yorkers complete relief from this most flagrant of all racketeers, there is little doubt that the people will take matters into their own hands. They would probably make a frightful mess of it and do a lot of dreadful injustices—but if they ever do get started they will make an end of that kind of racketeering forever and a day.

You can't maliciously pinch the belly of a vast city and get away with it.

GRADE SCHOOL COSTS

We know of no other community where the growth of the cost of public education has been more strikingly demonstrated than in New London. Down there the high school situation is so complicated by the existence of three separate schools of that grade they have just gotten rid of a fourth, and by partial endorsement of all three, that they are given to making their comparisons on the basis of the grade schools alone.

And for the maintenance of those schools the city is paying $374,174 a year whereas in 1910 the cost of the grade schools was $78,727. That is considerably more than four times as much as New London was paying for its grade school education twenty years ago.

Meanwhile New London has been doing most of its growing, so to speak, beyond its own very limited boundaries. The population of the city itself has not increased more than thirty or forty per cent. It is probable that the per-pupil cost of the schools is more than twice and a half what it was in 1910.

New London people are kicking up something of a fuss about it. Pretty soon the whole state of Connecticut will be following their example.

Someone once coined an adage, "plain as an old shoe." Well, my variation is, "restful as the sight of an old bamboo pole."

And with the pole resting on the running board of "Black Maria," as we call our motor-driven tub, we're off for the canal which runs in from Feconic Bay.

But even in a canal, with the snappers biting like mosquitoes, the incongruities of this section of the land pursue you. The canal is lined with the tempting panorama of a fishing belt: neat little craft tied to the shore line; two or three anglers perch upon the piles and cross boards of a makeshift wharf.

But down the cobalt-blue stretch of canal water, where the bay is framed in a semi-circle of blindingly white, the luxurious gilt yachts of the millionaires lie at anchor or cruise aimlessly about.

Just over the bridge is Canoe Place Inn, night rendezvous of the Blue Book folk.

Up to the hill, overlooking the entire countryside, is the summer mansion of Al Smith, Manhattan's most important political product.

Browsing around the bait store, it becomes evident the even with a bamboo pole, a cornucopia and a floppy straw bonnet, it's difficult to escape New York completely.

Three or four newspaper writers from the city are loafing on the water front, wishing they had time to go fishing. It seems that the forces of Democracy have come to Al's house for a summer conference.

Governor Roosevelt is there, and Raskob and "Judge" O'Connor, who has a mansion on the Southampton dunes, and a dozen others. They are working on a political checker board, the moves upon which will be evident to the public some time during the fall.

They banquet at the inn and they rest aboard the yacht of some wealthy politician and they congregate in the lonely house on the hilltop.

Well, let them. Our bare feet dangle over the sides of a square-bottomed old boat. Our hobbit is as busy as the stock ticker during the market crash. Broadway is comfortably tucked away for a couple of weeks somewhere beyond the skyline.

And the old bamboo, jerking and bending, is just as friendly and restful as it was when a barefoot boy carried one over a country road to an elm tree's shade by the old fishing hole.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

THE TREATMENT OF PERITONITIS

An attack of peritonitis begins with great pain over the abdomen with chills and rigor. The abdominal muscles are rigid. The patient avoids abdominal breathing and lies on the back with the knees drawn up. Vomiting occurs early and is violent. The pulse is fast, from 110 to 150. The temperature is high. The patient may show symptoms of collapse from general poisoning. As long as the cavity is able to enclose the toxins the collapse may not develop, but when they begin to seep into the lymphatics and are distributed over the body, a toxic poisoning results. The face is sharp and bony, the expression anxious, the eyes sunken, and the patient is mentally distressed. These conditions usually indicate a fatal case unless the disease is recognized and the right treatment used immediately.

Peritonitis is often fatal when it is caused by a perforating ulcer from the stomach, duodenum or appendix. The outlook is better when it is the result of an inflammation which spreads from the pelvic organs. The simple inflammation of other organs is not usually dangerous when ulcers do not develop. The body is often able to wall up the process and the patient improves, but if the infection spreads from the local area throughout the rest of the body, there is a relapse which may prove fatal. An increase in the pulse or biccoughs, and the reappearance of vomiting, are dangerous signs.

There is no doubt that doctors often use the term, peritonitis, carelessly to cover up a number of different kinds of inflammation in the abdomen to which it is only secondarily. However, a good general regimen for any kind of inflammation in the abdomen, including peritonitis, is to immediately begin fasting, the patient, giving no food whatever.

This regimen should be continued until the inflammation and tenderness have subsided, after which fruit or fruit juices may be used until the patient entirely recovers.

Once the acute attack has passed, it is a good plan to use careful manipulative treatments to loosen the adhesions which may have formed. An x-ray study under the fluoroscope is of great value in determining the position of these adhesions. Treatments with the deep therapy lamp are also of value in conjunction with the manipulations, and it will be found that most of the adhesions can be readily removed in this way.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS (Dementia Praecox)

Question: Mrs. M. asks: "Will you tell me what dementia praecox is and if it can be cured? The doctor told my brother he had it."

Answer: The name "dementia praecox" is given to the commonest form of insanity. Many of these cases can be cured if the right treatments are used. These treatments consist first of all of those which will promote unusually good bowel elimination and then, in addition, treatment through psychoanalysis will often prove effective in making the patient normal after the intestinal poisons have been removed.

(Curving Fingernails)

Question: V. M. G. asks: "Will you kindly tell me the reason and cure for curved fingernails. As soon as my nails grow beyond the tips of my fingers they begin to curve backward. This is very uncomfortable and also necessitates my keeping them cut short, which is also unpleasant. They sometimes crack in a flaky line about half way down. I do the ordinary housework and eat plain food, so shall be obliged if you will advise me."

Answer: I would advise you to use more of the leafy green vegetables, principally the uncooked ones, so that your system will be supplied with the organic minerals necessary for the growth of your nails. Just eat all the raw food you can in proper combination.

(What Makes People Happy?)

Question: Besse writes: "There is something that sets me to thinking and I would like to know your opinion about this: What makes people happy? Is it health?"

Answer: Yes, health is one of the things that makes people happy. Other things are success, achievement, and love, but it is difficult to realize happiness through any of these unless one also enjoys good health.

The patient may show symptoms of collapse from general poisoning. As long as the cavity is able to enclose the toxins the collapse may not develop, but when they begin to seep into the lymphatics and are distributed over the body, a toxic poisoning results. The face is sharp and bony, the expression anxious, the eyes sunken, and the patient is mentally distressed. These conditions usually indicate a fatal case unless the disease is recognized and the right treatment used immediately.

Peritonitis is often fatal when it is caused by a perforating ulcer from the stomach, duodenum or appendix. The outlook is better when it is the result of an inflammation which spreads from the pelvic organs. The simple inflammation of other organs is not usually dangerous when ulcers do not develop. The body is often able to wall up the process and the patient improves, but if the infection spreads from the local area throughout the rest of the body, there is a relapse which may prove fatal. An increase in the pulse or biccoughs, and the reappearance of vomiting, are dangerous signs.

There is no doubt that doctors often use the term, peritonitis, carelessly to cover up a number of different kinds of inflammation in the abdomen to which it is only secondarily. However, a good general regimen for any kind of inflammation in the abdomen, including peritonitis, is to immediately begin fasting, the patient, giving no food whatever.

This regimen should be continued until the inflammation and tenderness have subsided, after which fruit or fruit juices may be used until the patient entirely recovers.

Once the acute attack has passed, it is a good plan to use careful manipulative treatments to loosen the adhesions which may have formed. An x-ray study under the fluoroscope is of great value in determining the position of these adhesions. Treatments with the deep therapy lamp are also of value in conjunction with the manipulations, and it will be found that most of the adhesions can be readily removed in this way.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS (Dementia Praecox)

Question: Mrs. M. asks: "Will you tell me what dementia praecox is and if it can be cured? The doctor told my brother he had it."

Answer: The name "dementia praecox" is given to the commonest form of insanity. Many of these cases can be cured if the right treatments are used. These treatments consist first of all of those which will promote unusually good bowel elimination and then, in addition, treatment through psychoanalysis will often prove effective in making the patient normal after the intestinal poisons have been removed.

(Curving Fingernails)

Question: V. M. G. asks: "Will you kindly tell me the reason and cure for curved fingernails. As soon as my nails grow beyond the tips of my fingers they begin to curve backward. This is very uncomfortable and also necessitates my keeping them cut short, which is also unpleasant. They sometimes crack in a flaky line about half way down. I do the ordinary housework and eat plain food, so shall be obliged if you will advise me."

Answer: I would advise you to use more of the leafy green vegetables, principally the uncooked ones, so that your system will be supplied with the organic minerals necessary for the growth of your nails. Just eat all the raw food you can in proper combination.

(What Makes People Happy?)

Question: Besse writes: "There is something that sets me to thinking and I would like to know your opinion about this: What makes people happy? Is it health?"

Answer: Yes, health is one of the things that makes people happy. Other things are success, achievement, and love, but it is difficult to realize happiness through any of these unless one also enjoys good health.

WASHINGTON LETTER BY RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer. Washington—At a time when veteran viewers-with-alarm are more vocal than usual about the menace of Communist propaganda, the republic of Chile speaks up and claims to have stopped such propaganda within its borders by the peaceful method of progressive legislation. One-tenth of all salaries paid in Chile goes into compulsory savings, under a law passed to protect public employees, which also covers all private workers whose work is more intellectual than physical. Five per cent of the "white-collar" worker's weekly earnings are deposited every month in the retirement fund by the employer, himself, and an equal amount is deposited by the employee. Employment is put on a basis of contract, and special courts operate to settle disputes arising from such contracts. Industrial and commercial establishments must set aside at least 20 per cent of each year's net profits for employees' bonuses. A legal eight-hour working day is established and employees are indemnified for dismissal without just cause. All employees between 18 and 50 years old must carry life insurance policies, with few exceptions. Illness does not make an employee lose his job. He receives full salary for the first month of disability, 75 per cent for the second, 50 per cent for the third and 25 per cent for the fourth. Women are allowed a month off with full pay before childbirth and another month after childbirth. Employees completing 50 years of service or reaching the age of 80 are entitled to withdraw their retirement savings. One per cent of the interest accruing to the bank which administers the retirement fund is applied to a medical aid fund, which now amounts to about $250,000. The bank at the end of 1929 had 77,000 members and funds of more than $12,000,000. "The effects of this law are incalculable," says the magazine Chile, which describes the workings of it in the current issue. "Socially, it tips in the bud all ideas associated with communistic propaganda; economically, it creates compulsory savings paid in the republic; ethically, it dignifies the employee who up until the date of its promulgation had been subject to the caprice of his employer; at the same time stabilizing the future of millions of Chileans through the creation of a life insurance and retirement fund." The law was vigorously combated. It is explained, but today its value is generally accepted. Chile says: "When discontent was rife a decade ago, strong but futile efforts were made to organize the middle classes into a political body. Then came extreme radical agitation and political upheavals. Finally, the present law, which coupled with better political and economic conditions, has performed what was expected of it. Its basic principles have proved sound. It has brought stabilization and has given the employee a sense of security he did not possess before."

U. S. NOT SINCERE IN THE CARIBBEAN

So Says Argentinian Diplomat—His Country to Quit the Pan-American Union

Williamstown, Mass., Aug. 20 (AP)—Argentinian will withdraw from the Pan-American Union...

Mr. Justo, son of former Minister of War, Augustin Justo, said he...

Before the war, he said, the people of Argentina were friendly toward the United States...

Opinion Change With the rise of the United States to this outstanding position in the world...

"We have no interest in what is called Pan-Americanism, and consequently I can assure you that...

Left The League "We left the League of Nations because we felt that it was an entirely new European institution...

Mr. Justo said that Argentinians admire the United States but believe that so long as the relations of the two nations "are not based on equality and sincerity the amity between the United States and Argentinians can never be true."

Miss Sarah Wambaugh, former member of the League of Nations secretariat and now in the Peruvian government in the Tacna-Arica controversy, declared insistence of the United States alone for arbitration of disputes in Central and South America "is in fact a liability."

"The Paris peace conference or the League of Nations, had either been allowed to function, might, however, have found a solution," she said, "which would have spared the cost both human and financial, to the parties in interest, and have saved the United States from diplomatic humiliation and reproaches of partisanship."

Queer Twists In Day's News

Santiago, Chile—Many students of the University of Chile are growing bored. They insist they will remain unshaved until some expelled classmates are reinstated.

New York—Wall street brokers are to burn the midnight oil in Central Park. Tickers and tape are to be among the decorations at a society dinner-dance in the Casino tomorrow night.

Plymouth, England—There's a difference between Lady Heather, a merchant over payment for dresses, and the merchant is trying to force her into bankruptcy.

New York—Edgar Allen, who once managed Peaches Browning in vaudeville, is suing her for the return of gifts. City marshals visited her on Sunday and because it is feared service was illegal an attempt will be made again in France.

New York—Sir Thomas Lipton's yacht Erin and Shamrock V flies a blue flag depicting the British crown in gold with a red bloody hand under it. It is the badge of the Royal Ulster Yacht Club.

The legend is that a sailor in days of yore cut off one hand and threw it into the sea, winning a race technically, since the condition was the winner should be determined by the first oarsman to reach shore.

West Point, N. Y.—The summer night of the cadets of the Military Academy will be illuminated next Saturday night following a custom set by Washington in 1781 when the post was lighted up in honor of the birth of the Dauphin of France.

Forli, Italy—This section has an enterprising representative in Parliament. He has induced the government to spend some $130,000 for a new postoffice here.

Shanghai—Patriotic Chinese who prefer soft drinks of their own country to the foreign variety are boosting a concoction made of the dried bloom of the honeysuckle. It comes from the mountains of Shanghai and tasters have to work hard to make ten cents a day.

Kathleen Cummings of New York has returned home after visiting with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Cummings.

J. Murphy of Fall River, chief of Station 13 of the Corn Borer station, has his family visiting here. They stayed with Mrs. Elliott Hills while here.

Grace and Marjory Hills spent Sunday at Savin Rock. Claire Bremer was a member of a weekend party at Coventry Lake.

Other members were: Ruth Dow, Arline Getto, Irene Gorman and Florence Mather. Mrs. David Kinghorn, chaperoned.

A lawn party will be held on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bantle tonight, for the benefit of the Lecturer of Hillstown Grange.

Munich, Bavaria, Aug. 20—(AP)—The Bavarian Cabinet resigned today after the defeat in the Landtag of a bill which proposed to levy a special tax on slaughtered livestock.

The Cabinet, constituted July 31, 1928, was headed by Dr. Held, as premier and minister of foreign affairs.

Cattle raising is one of the chief occupations of Bavaria, the census of 1928 showing 8,224,972 head. The tax proposed would have placed a duty on every head killed.

STILL MORE TALES OF SHIP'S RESCUE

Ventura's Dash of 700 Miles to Sinking Steamer is Longest on Record.

Pago Pago, Samoa, Aug. 20—(AP)—A trans-Pacific liner sank in a remote spot in the South Seas last Sunday and the net effect among her 317 passengers and crew members was the fainting of two women during the rescue operations.

Stories of the remarkable rescue echoed through Pago Pago today as the rescue ship Ventura sailed away to San Francisco and making a seven-hour stop here to facilitate handling the survivors of the British steamer Tahiti.

The Ventura, which made a 700 mile dash to the Tahiti and snatched her human cargo from threatening seas just before the doomed vessel went down, arrived here yesterday afternoon and departed last night amid the tumultuous cheering of all Pago Pago.

The air lanes were swamped with messages of thanks and congratulation for Captain W. R. Meyer and the crew of the Ventura. A banquet was given to hail the rescuers and the First Assistant Engineer Thompson of the Tahiti also was hailed as a hero.

Great Welcome Every signal station in the harbor spelled out "Well Done" in international code flags as the Ventura approached. Every available whistle and other noise maker in Pago Pago was brought into play to greet the ship.

The cool headedness of Captain A. H. Dutton of the Tahiti and his crew came in for large measures of praise. For three days fear held sway on the stricken liner and twice it appeared she was about to go down with all hands, but there was no disturbance. The Ventura effected the rescue less than three hours before the Tahiti disappeared beneath the waves.

The 700 mile dash of the Ventura was believed to have been the longest of its kind on record. She turned about, raced through virtually uncharted seas, making 16 knots under forced draft through rough waters and arrived alongside the sinking ship in forty-seven hours.

All hands, passengers, luggage, mail and a consignment of gold were taken aboard. Everyone escaped without a scratch. The two women who fainted were treated by ship's physician.

LICENSES SUSPENDED A list of operators whose licenses to drive automobiles in Connecticut have been suspended for one year for driving while under the influence of liquor was given out today at the State Motor Vehicle Department as a part of the effort to reduce this highway menace.

The department statement advised people to notify the department or the police in case they should see any of these drivers operating motor vehicles.

AUSTRIA PROTESTS SALE OF OLD BIBLE

Congressional Library May Not Get Famous Book, Valued at $300,000.

Washington, Aug. 20—(AP)—Surprise was felt in the capital today at news from Austria that the Austrian government had interposed objections to the sale of a Gutenberg Bible destined for the Library of Congress.

At the last session, Congress appropriated $1,500,000 for the purchase from Dr. Otto Vollpahr of a large collection of rare examples of early printing. The Gutenberg Bible was considered the gem of the group.

When the proposal was advanced it was understood the Bible was the property of Dr. Vollpahr, who was said to have purchased it for $300,000. The monks at Saint Blasius monastery, so Congress was old, were holding it for safe-keeping. Other Books Here The remainder of the collection was brought to Washington soon after the appropriation became available and was turned over to the library. Dr. Vollpahr then announced he was going to Austria personally to bring back the Bible, represented as one of the three best remaining examples of the work of Johannes Gutenberg, inventor of the printing press.

Klagenfurt dispatches indicated the book collector had an option on the Bible but had not purchased it at the time it was offered to Congress. Semi-official circles were reported as voicing governmental objection to the sale and demanding an export permit be applied for since the book was destined for the Congressional Library. Whether the book's transfer to the United States would be permitted, however, was not made clear.

STRESS TRAFFIC CONTROL HERE Police Will Enforce Highway Regulations Rigidly in Campaign.

Perfect performance in traffic on all highways of the state is now being required by all city and state police in accordance with the plans for the final two weeks of the Save-A-Life Campaign which is being conducted by Connecticut in cooperation with other New England states.

Enforcement will be continuous and, according to Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbin E. Stoeckel, the procedure during the last two weeks of August will point the way to practice which will be lasting.

Every safety rule set up for the protection and convenience of traffic participants will be enforced. On the open highways, motorists will be required to refrain from cutting in and out on hills and at curves and other dangerous places.

In city traffic, enforcement will require obedience by motorists to lights, signs, systems and ordinances. Federalists will also be required to observe the regulations in force for their safety.

There will be no special direction for enforcement against non-residents," says Commissioner Stoeckel, "except as they come under Connecticut laws, either now or at any time in the future, but when offenses occur it will not deter Connecticut enforcement officers if the offenders are from another state."

In discussing traffic on state highways, he said that better judgment will be demanded in all cases of passing from the rear. Any operator who goes on to the left side of the highway to pass another car assumes a responsibility because he is in the right of way of vehicles coming from the other direction.

ROCKVILLE

Fined For Speeding Arthur Goldberg of Brooklyn, N. Y., driver on the Boston-New York run for the Eastern State Bus Line, was before Judge John E. Flak in the Rockville Police Court on Tuesday morning on charges of speeding and operating an overloaded jitney.

Goldberg, who was arrested on Saturday afternoon at 2:45 by State Policeman Stevens, pleaded guilty to both charges. He stated he was delayed over an hour by the terrific storm in Worcester and that he was attempting to gain time in order to get his passengers to New York as near scheduled as possible.

In attempting to still make up time after he left Rockville, he was arrested in Berlin an hour later and two hours later he was arrested on the same count at Greenwich.

State Police Checking Up The State Police from the Stafford Barracks were in the center of the city most of the day Tuesday, checking up on automobile drivers. Brakes were tested and other defects noted.

Brings Home Trophy Captain Al Ralph Morin, commanding officer of the 118th Medical Regiment, has returned from Camp Devens, after two weeks. His company brought home the Charles C. Purdum Trophy for excellence in military bearing, discipline and drill.

This is the first year the trophy has been awarded. It was presented by Colonel Comfort, Surgeon General of the 118th Medical Regiment, in memory of Major Charles C. Purdum, and will be awarded each year to the winning company. Dr. Morin hopes to continue to keep it in his possession for some years to come.

Captain Morin's company also had the honor of acting as guard of honor to the Lieutenant Governor on August 10, and received the best commendations from Major General Payne of the 3rd Division and of Lieutenant Governor Rogers.

AIMEE NOT BLIND DOCTOR DECLARES

Conflicting Reports About Condition of Evangelist; Mother Has Broken Nose.

The new program at the State for today and Thursday, brings the first lady of the screen, Ruth Chatterton in "The Lady of Scandal," an adaptation of the famous play "The High Road."

Miss Chatterton well deserves the title of "the first lady of the screen." She was one of the first of the legitimate stage stars who foresaw the tremendous possibilities of the talking screen and brought with her all of the years of experience she had acquired on the talking stage.

Almost over night, she was accepted by motion picture audiences, and today, the mere mention that Ruth Chatterton in a picture, is an absolute guarantee that the production will be far and away above the average picture.

The story has to do with a popular English actress who consents to marry a young nobleman. The latter takes her to meet his family, who are up in arms over his intentions. They resort to every means to break off the young man's infatuation, even going to the extent of piling insults of a scandalous nature about the young lady. How the affair works out provides a full evening of real entertainment.

Ruth Chatterton in a picture, is an absolute guarantee that the production will be far and away above the average picture.

Conflicting Reports. Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of the evangelist, undergoing treatment for a broken nose, which she says her daughter gave her, issued a demand that Mrs. McPherson return to her pulpit at Angulus Temple and show her congregation "the effects of the face lifting operation" she says the noted pastor underwent recently.

Late last night an official at the temple announced Mrs. McPherson "was resting easy." Earlier she had been reported in a serious condition from a nervous breakdown and the board of directors of Angulus Temple asserted "it is true, another splendid collection of gifts has been assembled and will be presented to the holders of lucky numbers. These Merchants' Nights are presented each Wednesday night through the co-operation of ten of the city's leading merchants."

"THE LADY OF SCANDAL" AT THE STATE TODAY

Ruth Chatterton the Leading Player in Adaptation of Famous Stage Drama.

The new program at the State for today and Thursday, brings the first lady of the screen, Ruth Chatterton in "The Lady of Scandal," an adaptation of the famous play "The High Road."

Miss Chatterton well deserves the title of "the first lady of the screen." She was one of the first of the legitimate stage stars who foresaw the tremendous possibilities of the talking screen and brought with her all of the years of experience she had acquired on the talking stage.

Almost over night, she was accepted by motion picture audiences, and today, the mere mention that Ruth Chatterton in a picture, is an absolute guarantee that the production will be far and away above the average picture.

The story has to do with a popular English actress who consents to marry a young nobleman. The latter takes her to meet his family, who are up in arms over his intentions. They resort to every means to break off the young man's infatuation, even going to the extent of piling insults of a scandalous nature about the young lady. How the affair works out provides a full evening of real entertainment.

Conflicting Reports. Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of the evangelist, undergoing treatment for a broken nose, which she says her daughter gave her, issued a demand that Mrs. McPherson return to her pulpit at Angulus Temple and show her congregation "the effects of the face lifting operation" she says the noted pastor underwent recently.

Late last night an official at the temple announced Mrs. McPherson "was resting easy." Earlier she had been reported in a serious condition from a nervous breakdown and the board of directors of Angulus Temple asserted "it is true, another splendid collection of gifts has been assembled and will be presented to the holders of lucky numbers. UNEARTH NEW CLUE IN VERMONT CASE

Police Believe Woman Buried as Mrs. Packard Was a Lynn Nurse.

Springfield, Vt., Aug. 20.—(AP)—Vermont state detectives were working today on the latest, and State's Attorney L. W. Edgerton says, "the best" clue yet revealed, to the identity of the woman buried in a Potter's Field at Chester. Belief that the unknown woman might be Ruby Chickering Green, missing since 1928, led officers to Lynn, Mass., and Hardwick.

The new clue came to Mr. Edgerton in the form of a letter from Mrs. Belle Chickering of 281 Essex street, Lynn, Mass., formerly of Hardwick, who said that the description of the buried woman tallied with that of her daughter, Ruby Chickering Green. Authorities were facing a stone wall when the letter arrived yesterday.

The identity of the dead woman, who was at first believed to be Mrs. Catherine R. Packard, has been shrouded in mystery since Mrs. Packard's sudden reappearance last week after a year's absence from home.

Was Graduate Nurse Mrs. Chickering said that her daughter was a graduate nurse and that she last heard from her November 23, 1928, when she was attached to the Marney hospital at Utica, N. Y.

MORE NEW TESTIMONY IN THE MOONEY CASE

San Francisco, Aug. 20.—(AP)—New testimony threatened today to prolong the hearing of Warren K. Billings' application for pardon.

As the defense neared the end of its long list of witnesses, justices of the Supreme Court indicated new material to be produced by the state would prevent concluding the case this week.

The extent of the attack expected from state attorneys was indicated in the attention the judges paid to an anonymous letter yesterday and the revelation that Police Captain Goff, one of those who helped convict Billings and Thomas J. Mooney of the Preparedness Day bombing here in 1916, was making a new investigation.

Developments as a result of his inquiry, Goff said, may show "the Preparedness Day outrage was the most disbosical and sinister plot ever planned in this country."

The anonymous letter attempted to show a purported "frame-up" to free Mooney and Billings had been developing for the last 14 years.

Ralph Jones, Sacramento automobile dealer, a surprising witness of the defense, told the justices no suitcase was at the scene of the bombing five to seven minutes before the explosion. He said he was standing within ten feet of the corner and no one had deposited a suitcase at the spot as testified by state witnesses at the original trial.

LEGION ANTI-CHRIST, CLERGYMAN ASSERTS

Iron Ridge, Wis., Aug. 20.—(AP)—The Rev. John Henning's refusal to admit several members of the American Legion to communion service in the Evangelical-Lutheran church resulted in a conference with directors of the church that lasted until early this morning. The directors would not reveal the outcome of the meeting. The pastor said the Legion was considered "anti-Christ" and consequently was a heretical group. The rejection of Legionnaires, he said, was not absolute but that he had excluded only Legion members from communion who had asked his advice.

The board was reported to have asked the pastor either to resign or to admit all Legion members to communion. Newspapers were banned from the meeting last night. Evangelical Lutherans of the Wisconsin and Missouri synods are to consider refusing church memberships to Legionnaires at a meeting to be held in Milwaukee next month. The basis of the move was stated by church members who said that the foundation of religious services was Christ. The Legion they said was non-sectarian and hence necessarily ignored Christ in its religious services and the ignoring of Christ was heresy.

The Hollywood Story

BEGIN HERE TODAY
DAN RORIMER, temperamental young man of Hollywood, can't get along with a studio executive at Continental Pictures and tears up his contract as scenario writer and asks to be fired. But he isn't. Dan is interested in ANNE WINTER, a girl from Tulsa, Okla., who has shown enough ability to warrant a screen test and a decent part in a picture.

Dan lives with PAUL COLLIER, who writes a daily movie column for a string of newspapers. Anne lives with two extra girls, EVA HARLEY and MONA MORRISON.

A famous director named RY SLAAN has shown some interest in Anne, hardly enough, however, to warrant any high hopes. Dan does not like Slaan; he is, however, an admirer of MARTIN COLLINS, formerly of Continental, now of Amalgamated. Rorimer and Anne attend a house-warming at Collins's home.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

It was a noisy crowd, talkative and gay and light-heartedly cynical.

Hollywood is full of rumors. They fly about the studios, and they hover over luncheon tables and fit through hotel lobbies and along the boulevards. Such-and-such a star is getting a divorce; so-and-so is leaving this studio for the one; Amalgamated is going to do nothing but super-productions; a certain featured player is to be starred. Rare is the official announcement that is not preceded by a host of rumors. It was a rumor that Louise Watkins wanted to discuss with Dan Rorimer, and while Dan was surprised at its nature, he did not think it at all strange that Miss Watkins should have heard ahead of him, for news in Hollywood traveled in roundabout fashion. And, besides, Louise wrote for a group of gossip movie fan magazines, and she knew her Hollywood.

Continental Pictures, Louise Watkins said, was going to be sold. Lawson Brothers were going to buy Continental and merge it, or ally it, with their other studios.

She had dropped in early on Rorimer and Collier the Sunday before and had run into Johnny Riddle and informed him that Paul and Dan were having "open house," and had brought Johnny with her. "I thought you'd be interested," she told Dan.

"I should be," Dan admitted. "Is it straight?"

"It's not official, of course, but don't be surprised. Continental is close to the wall as it is. I imagine they'll be rather glad to be bought out instead of going under a sheriff's hammer."

Rorimer shrugged. "Well, it's all news to me. I suppose Mr. Rorimer will find himself scouting around for a new job pretty soon."

Paul Collier observed dryly: "You're lucky you haven't had to do your scouting before this," and at Louise's inquiring look Dan explained.

"I got sore at Adamson and tore up my contract, just like that," Paul commented.

"I think he's smart," Johnny Riddle said. "Be independent; that's my motto. They think a lot more of you if you tell them to go to the devil once in a while."

"What'll they do, Louise?" Dan asked.

Miss Watkins didn't know. "I suppose they'll continue to operate it under the name of Continental, and apply some of their own well-known efficiency."

"There's room for plenty of that," Dan observed. "I beg your pardon?"

"Or maybe they'll merge it completely. But that's not very likely; the name Continental still means something."

"Well, I'm for it—especially if it means that Adamson goes out on his back."

"And how about you?" Paul demanded.

Dan said, "My time was almost up anyway. Only a couple of months to go on the contract, and I know blamed well Adamson would never renew it. In fact, I'm expecting the air any day—in large and copious quantities."

He smiled. "I'd like to explain to Louise and Johnny," he explained about me. I'll give him gray hair yet."

Collier growled. He said that it took two to run an establishment such as this. "I'd like to maintain you in the comfort you're accustomed to, but I can't afford it."

Dan laughed and went to the kitchen, and Collier, turning to the others, said, "Independent, that's him all over."

"Quit picking on him," Johnny Riddle advised. "I like to see a man who can tell some of these high-powered executives where to get off and make them like it. . . . How's Dan's girl friend getting along?"

"Coming right along, Johnny. Better keep an eye on her; she'll make a good client for you."

"Johnny can't sign a new client without losing his heart to her," Louise Watkins said. "That might complicate matters, if she's a friend of Dan's. Who is she?"

Collier said he didn't think Louise knew her. "Anne Winter is her name. You met a friend of hers one day, over at Continental. Eva Harley. That blond girl, remember?"

Louise did.

Johnny Riddle, Collier observed in an envious tone, undoubtedly had the greatest racket in Hollywood. "It's all very well to have a legitimate publicity business and to make money at it."

"Lots of it, too," observed Louise Watkins, "although he does nothing but complain about business." She laughed and called to Dan, who had appeared in the doorway with a tray of glasses, to come in. "We're making Johnny Riddle feel bad, Dan."

"It can't be done," Dan said.

Jumper Frock With Snug Hips
 By ANNETTE

Navy blue wool crepe with tiny vivid red motifs was medium used for the original French model.

The Peter Pan collar was plain blue crepe and repeated in the cuff bands and patch pocket.

It is so effective, smart and practical. It is a dress that is especially nice for cool days in Autumn without a coat. It makes a very smart outfit worn with a navy blue coat.

The jumper bodice is given a fitted neckline with slight blousing above through hipband. The skirt with kitted plait at either side of the front is attached to an underwaist.

Style No. 622 comes in sizes 8, 10, 12, 14 and 16 years. The 8-year size requires 1 1/2 yards of 38-inch material with 1/4 yard of 35-inch contrasting and 1/4 yard of 35-inch lining.

The skirt may be made of navy blue wool jersey or tweed and worn with a sweater.

Lobster tail linen is very smart with white collar, cuffs, pocket and hipband.

Pique print, jersey, wool challis print and lightweight tweed appropriate.

SWEATER IS FOR GENERAL WEAR
 By William H. Baldwin

Sweaters have emerged from the exclusively sports class and are now considered as handy, ready-to-wear, general purpose garments. Aside from its style, the requisites of a good sweater are quality of material and workmanship, and the cut and fit. As to material, they may be broadly divided into the silk, all-wool and the wool-and-cotton mixtures. Of the wools, the kinds and grades in the order of preference are cashmere, camel's hair, alpaca, mohair and what is known simply as worsted.

The soft, long-fiber yarns are the best for these garments, but simply to say that a sweater is all-wool does not imply that the material should have this soft quality. The yarn in a garment may be of a coarse grade of wool and consequently be comparatively harsh to the touch. The softer grades are preferable because in addition to their finer texture they have a greater affinity for dyes; are richer in color and react better to proper handling in the process of manufacture.

Virtually all American-made sweaters are machine-knitted, while some of the foreign products are made by hand. The machine-made sweater will stand as much hard use and will wear as well as the hand-knitted garment.

Hints On How To Keep Well by World-Famed Authority

SICK PERSON SHOULD BE GIVEN PLENTY OF WATER EACH DAY

BY DR. MORRIS FISHER

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

Since water is of such importance to the sick person, Dr. J. S. McLester has provided an outline of the best method of making sure that the sick patient has a sufficient amount of fluid during his illness. He states:

"In the sick room explicit orders should be given as to the amount of fluid to be taken. This is of importance in all febrile (fever) diseases, and especially so in those cases where the patient is stuporous or delirious and therefore is unable to make known the demands of thirst. Large quantities of fluids at one time are not necessary. As a rule, a glass of water or other fluid every one or two hours while the patient is awake is sufficient. The total intake should be watched and at least 1500 to 2000 cc. (two quarts) should be provided; if there is fever, larger amounts may be given with advantage.

"If the patient is drowsy, he should be aroused at definite intervals to take water. The nurse or attendant should be instructed to record the exact amount of fluid taken, and orders for definite amounts of water or other fluids to be given at definite times should be written out for the nurse or attendant.

"Fruit juices furnish a very agreeable substitute for water. Orange juice, lemonade and grape juice may be given at frequent intervals, alternating with water. Fruits supply water in abundance. Tomatoes carry even more water than milk."

Since the great importance of water in illness has been so definitely established, many methods have been worked out for making certain that any sick patient receives a sufficient amount of fluid possible to inject water into the body by the use of a syringe. Various fluids resembling the strength of the blood in volume have been developed which may be injected directly into the blood stream. This is possible into the stomach with a tube or into the intestine from above or below with a tube. If the fluid is put in gradually, it is taken up by the blood from the intestines and used by the body.

If the person has a tendency to develop acid because of his disease, bicarbonate of soda may be given with the fluid, but in many instances the mere giving of the water alone may suffice to clear the difficulty.

YOUR CHILDREN

by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

The mother of a 15-year-old boy asked me what to do with him. "He is a fine boy," she said, "tall and good-looking. But he won't go out. He stays by himself and reads and his friends can't coax him to go places with them. He is very smart and ahead of his grade in high school which throws him with older boys. He has always associated with people older than himself but he gets less sociable. Can he have an inferiority complex? He is very quiet—wants to go away some place. I do all I can to make him happy at home but it doesn't work. What shall I do?"

If there is anyone in the world I am sorry for it is just such a boy. No, not his mother, particularly, although it is too bad she worries. The boy of 15 is a square peg in the round hole of life. Fortunately he won't stay so—it is something that time will cure, but time only. In the meantime he can be intelligently handled over this rough phase so that the going will be a bit easier.

Adolescent Seeks Solitude

Adolescence, the turn of life from childhood to manhood, causes a mixture of mental attitudes that puzzles not only his parents and friends but himself. The desire for solitude is natural. He is adjusting himself to man's estate—to a new outlook in life. This boy is tall, his mother says. Boys start to shoot up usually a year or two later than girls. That is why it is not unusual to see boys of 13 or 14 a head shorter than their girl cousins of the same age. Parents often despair and wonder if "George is going to be a midget." I always say, "Wait." And usually I am justified. For at 15 he begins that bean-pod stunt and grows so fast you can see him moving.

His bones grow faster than his muscles, however. Coordination is seriously hampered. He becomes awkward, sometimes lazy, and usually unhappy and self-conscious. He doesn't care much for society as a rule, pretends to or actually does detest girls, and not only among them but his oldest companions who have made the adjustment and whose interests and conversation are likely to be more adult. The boy of this age who does not have chums of a like stage of evolution and who can understand his moods and disposition is really out of luck. Misery loves company in its own way.

A Change Suggested

I suggested to his mother that she let her own son go away—perhaps to a farm or to relatives in the country where he could help with farm work or merely browse around in the woods if it might be an excellent thing.

I also suggested that she might be able to get him a job that he would like, in town—for to keep the body busy and thoughts off one's self and one's problems is the cure-all for everything. What he needs, of course, is an intense interest in something outside himself. Another solution was to send him, if she could afford it, to an organized camp with instructors who are chosen for their ability to understand and handle boys of all ages and varieties.

No nagging, no scolding, and to keep conversation at home away from that detested subject, "himself." It isn't inferiority—it's merely, well—it's merely "15."

About New York

By RICHARD MASSOCK

New York.—As the Gold Star mothers and widows passed through New York this summer on their pilgrimage to those rows of white crosses on the hillsides of France, little pathetic stories were heard and seen again and again.

Stories of mothers, mostly shy, small-town women in their sixties. Each gave a son and some of them more than one.

There were shabby mothers, who would not be so shabby if they had not made the sacrifice that now entitles them to this trip. Mothers carrying little boxes of earth and pressed flowers. Mothers who for 12 long years had hoped against hope that some day they might visit these graves in the faraway, shadowy land which they learned to call "over there."

Frustrated Bridal Plans

This however, is a story about a widow. And it is told second-hand and without identifying her, because, as she said, "it all happened so long ago and it's best forgotten."

She passed through recently on her way to the grave of her husband, yet of a husband of the spirit rather than of the flesh. For instead of the happiness of a honeymoon, she knew, as a bride, only the utter grief and despair of mourning.

They were engaged and had planned to be married before he left the camp near home. Suddenly he was ordered to another camp, near New York. She prepared to join him. One day she received a telegram: "Come at once."

She hurried to New York. It was a journey of several days. From the station she called the camp. She got no satisfaction. She went out there in a cab.

The placards of his regiment were still up when she arrived there, but the regiment had gone.

She had missed him by four hours.

Paper Wedding

He was on a transport out in the bay and there the ship stayed all that night—their wedding night that was to have been. She could not get in touch with him. He was not permitted to leave the ship.

He talked to his captain about it. The captain had an idea.

When they arrived in France, the captain immediately sent back to Washington a letter describing the soldier's predicament and asking if there could be a contract marriage.

From Washington the girl, who had gone back home, received a letter containing the two contracts. She was to sign them and send them to her fiancé. Then he was to sign them and keep one, returning the other to her.

She signed the contracts. They reached him the day before his regiment went into action.

The next day he was killed.

Several weeks after she had been notified of his death there came back the contract, bearing the signature that made her a widow before she had been a wife.

FRESH FACED

On boiling days, if you keep a bottle of witch hazel and keep cotton within reach, you can keep feeling and looking fresh by wiping off your face with it every now and then. It is an astringent and helps your beauty, too.

COLORED BEVERAGES

You can use vegetable color to give your beverages the loveliest green, the color of mint, pink or any other shade you wish. When serving drinks all through an evening party, a trick is to have each bowl of punch a different color.

COMPETITION KEEN IN TENNIS SINGLES

Smith, Keith, Gatti, Markley, Bieber and Ruth Behrend Win; No Major Upsets.

Although hampered to a great extent by the usual preponderance of August vacations, the annual town tennis singles championship is moving swiftly towards the fourth round in both the men's and women's tourney. Up until last night 13 of the 41 entries in the former, and two of the eight entries in the latter had been eliminated, without a starting upset in either class.

Twenty matches remain to be played in the men's tournament before the field will narrow down to eight players. Played on schedule these matches will be run off this week but as many of the players are on vacations this will be unlikely. In the women's tournament only four matches remain before the quarter-finals.

Up until last night five more matches had been played and reported this week in the race for Ty Holland's crown. Principal among them was Bob Smith's three set victory over Robert Sturgeon at the High School, 6-0, 6-4, 5-3. Sturgeon, with a style similar to Holland's, is holding two hands on the racquet and sending over high lobs, put up a remarkable fight but fell victim to the brilliant placements of his opponent. This was Smith's second victory and brings him face to face with possible elimination at the hands of the winner of the Ty Holland-Fred Van Ness match.

Lincoln Keith eliminated Hank McCann Monday, after rain postponed the match Saturday with Keith leading 6-0, by scores of 4-6, and 9-7 in the other two sets. Keith will meet Tony Urbanetti next. In the other three matches victories were gained in straight sets with Aldo Gatti trouncing Jim Quish, 6-2, and 6-3; Edward Markley turning back Herman Yulky, 6-1 and 10-8; and Fred Bieber triumphing over Purcell DeHan, 7-5, 6-3.

Gatti will meet the winner of the Howard Turkington-Paul Jesanis match to be played today; Markley meets the vacationing Tom Stowe; and Bieber meets either Gatti or his opponent.

Ruth Behrend, the defending champion in the women's singles, began her march towards retaining her title, by winning in straight sets over Muriel Tomlinson at the West Side last night in a well played tussle which ended 7-5, 6-3. Miss Behrend will play Ethel Robb, who eliminated Alleen McHale.

Matches to be played this week include the following: Jim O'Leary against Tom Hawley at the Country Club, Friday night at 8 o'clock; Arthur Krob against David Samuelson at High School Saturday afternoon; and Marion Modin against Grace Giglio at the High School from 7 to 8 o'clock tonight.

FIRST PEE WEE GOLF TOURNAMENT STARTS TODAY

Manchester's first miniature golf course tournament, sponsored by Schaller Brothers, owners and operators of the Bon-Ton Golf Course on Main street near Hollister street, and the Manchester Miniature Golf Course at Center and Stone streets, starts today. All scores turned in from tonight until Sunday night will be listed at both courses and on Monday the five lowest averages at each—making ten in all—will be announced.

The lowest ten will begin the elimination immediately Monday evening on either of the two courses and from this number the six lowest scores will be chosen. Wednesday night the semi-finals will be played at the Bon-Ton course with the three players having the lowest scores entering the finals to be played on Friday night, August 29 at the Miniature Golf course on Stone street. The winner of the finals will be awarded a prize of five dollars and the runner-up will receive $2.50.

REC SENDS TEAM TO PLAY DOWD'S BERKSHIRE NINE

Goes To Canaan, N. Y., Tomorrow; Dodger Beaten Here Last Year, Seeks Revenge.

Tomorrow will be a red letter day for ten boys of Manchester, who have the good fortune to be selected members of the Recreation Centers baseball team, which will journey to Canaan, New York, to play a return game with Dodger Dowd's boys of the Berkshire Industrial School. Dodger, who is widely known in town for his athletic prowess, brought his team to Manchester last year and was sent back defeated. This year the local boys expect to administer the same medicine on their opponents' home grounds.

The team will consist of the following players, picked from the East and West Side playgrounds: Walter Ford, Jr.; George May, 2d; Charles Webb, 3d; Joseph Lovett, 3d; Andrew Roguski, Jr.; Holkey Gustafson, Jr.; Elmer Roguski, Jr.; James Metcalf, Jr.; James Frayser, Jr. and Norman Lashinski, Jr.

COACH MEETS CUBS FOOTBALL ELEVEN

Mulligan Stresses Importance of Conditioning; 1st Practice, September 3.

The 1930 football season, as far as the town champion Cubs are concerned, got underway this week when a meeting was held Monday evening at the School Street Rec to outline plans for the forthcoming campaign in defense of the title and to meet the Cubs new coach, Arthur Mulligan. Twenty-five members and prospective members of the team and officials were present.

Vice-president Herbert Bliss spoke a few words of welcome and asked for the co-operation of each and every member of the team. He then called on J. Bennett Clune, manager of the Cubs. The latter brought up the fact that Mr. Mulligan and himself were strangers to the team and would mean that everyone would have to pitch in and do his bit. Although it would be hard to satisfy everyone, said the manager, he would do his best to bring about a most successful season not only financially but from the spectators point of view as well.

GIANTS TAKE 2ND PLACE FROM ROBINS

National League Race Tightens As Minor Clubs Beat Leaders; Wilson Hits 43rd

By HUGH S. FULLETON, JR.

Due to the efforts of a pair of clubs which are not even making a pretense of getting into the super-heated National League pennant struggle, the three contenders for the flag found themselves in an even more uncertain position than ever before and with the prospect that the coming series between the Chicago Cubs and New York Giants may become the really "crucial" one of the season.

The Giants finally have taken second place in the standing and have placed themselves within striking distance of the league leader, Cubs, only three games behind. While the Giants were taking a close struggle from the St. Louis Cardinals, 4 to 2, Pittsburgh shoved Brooklyn's Robins into third place by a 9 to 8 count, despite the efforts of the humble Phillies brought the Cub activities to a dead halt and kept the league leaders from making any sort of a gain in a double-header.

The Phillies took the first game by a 9 to 8 count, despite the efforts of Hack Wilson, who clouted his 43d home run to tie the National League record set last year by Chuck Klein and of Hartnett and Blair who also hit homers.

Then as the teams attempted to play off Saturday's 11-inning tie, the tallenders battled the Cubs to a standstill in 16 innings of play which wound up in a 6-6 tie. The teams will make another attempt to settle the dispute today.

Fred Frankhouse turned in another nice job of hurling to give the Braves a 4 to 0 victory over Cincinnati. The Cleveland Indians got the benefit of Wes Ferrell's 21st winning game of the year and an equally good job of pitching by Roxie Lawson to win by scores of 7 to 2 and 7 to 3 from the Red Sox.

Barl Whitehill continued his case after Ferrell's league leading total of victories by running his string to 11 straight to give Detroit a 2 to 1 win over Washington. Ruffing of New York made another kind of a mark by pitching his third two-hit game since he joined the New York Yankees. His victims this time were the Chicago White Sox who succumbed by a 3 to 0 count.

CADDIES RIDE HOME ON COAL

Expected to Get Slice of $10,000 Prize Money, But Alas! Their Dreams Were Dissipated.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Four grimy youths were pulled from the top of a coal tender in an outlying railroad station last night. "Where to, boys?" the railroad detective asked. "We're almost home, thanks," answered one of them. "Where from?" "St. Paul.—The $10,000 open golf tournament, of the boys identified themselves as Herman Meyers, William Marks, Arthur and John Dugan, caddies for four Chicago professionals, Jack Hutchinson, Tom Kelly, Sonny Rouse and Al Espinosa.

"Ten thousand dollars is a lot of money," put in the detective. "but none of our guys won any of it." They were released. GAMES TODAY Eastern League Springfield at Allentown. Albany at Bridgeport. American League St. Louis at Washington. (Only games.) National League Boston at Pittsburgh. New York at St. Louis. Brooklyn at Cincinnati. (Only games.)

Suarez Kayoes Flowers In 6th

Third U. S. Victory for Argentine Sensation; Midget Wolgast Beaten.

New York, Aug. 20.—(AP)—With a third victory in the United States to his credit, Justo Suarez, Argentine lightweight, looked around today for more fighters to conquer. The South American puncher knocked out Bruce Flowers, New Rochelle negro, in the sixth round of a ten-round bout at the Queensboro Stadium last night with 14,000 spectators, the largest crowd in the stadium's history, looking on. Each weighed 136 1-2 pounds.

WOLGAST UPSET Los Angeles, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Midget Wolgast, recognized world flyweight champion in New York and Pennsylvania, took a severe beating at the hands of Newsboy Brown, Los Angeles veteran trial horse, in a ten-round non-title bout here last night. The referee gave six rounds to Brown, Wolgast two and called two even. The fight was fast throughout. The Philadelphia fliered Brown in the fifth and was staggered in the eighth by a terrific left to the body.

TWO IN ONE Chicago, Aug. 20.—(AP)—Andy Shanks, Grand Rapids, Mich., heavyweight, today figured he should be credited with two victories over Jack McAuliffe of Detroit, for one evening's work. Shanks knocked out McAuliffe from the ring in the first round of a ten-round at the Congress Arcade arena last night. The Detroit heavy finally got back into the enclosure but Referee Johnny Behr had counted him out. The crowd yelled for more fight and Shanks consented, after protest, to try it again.

Believe it or not... Rip's own success story is even more amazing than the astonishing facts he puts in his cartoons. Three years ago... unknown. Today... 20,000,000 readers look for his drawings. Ripley clipped all time records in his quick rise to overwhelming popularity... because he gave a new thrill. And that's OLD GOLD'S story too. When O.G. first said "Not a cough in a carload," the skeptics scoffed. But coughers and scoffers alike were converted. Like Ripley, OLD GOLD proved its facts. Better tobacco gave better taste. Mel-lower tobaccos gave throat-ease. Believe it or not... OLD GOLD will win you... just as Ripley did. BETTER TOBACCOES "NOT A COUGH IN A CARLOAD"

Boston, Aug. 20.—(AP.)—Page and Shaw, Inc., candy manufacturer, today filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in the Federal Court here. Otis E. Dunham, president of the firm, with 17 other persons, was indicted last May by a Middlesex county Grand Jury on charges growing out of alleged irregularities in the sale of stock in the company worth $2,000,000.

The bankruptcy petition showed the firm's liabilities would exceed $300,000 and that its assets totalled about $200,000. The action today was in accordance with a vote of stockholders yesterday. Voting in the meeting were Dunham and Henry J. Shaw, treasurer. Dunham held 2,000 shares and Shaw, 4,000 shares of capital stock, the only shares in the company with voting power. The directors of the company are Alice Dunham, Otis E. Dunham and Shaw.

Hugh D. Lennan, a lawyer, was appointed receiver for the firm by a state court last June after James R. Murdock, a minority stockholder of Raynham, brought an action to recover for the benefit of the corporation, $75,000 alleged to have been paid Raymond D. Holland as a bonus in the sale of Class A stock. Murdock also sought to recover for the firm, $975,000 alleged to have been paid as a bonus to Isaac Hart and Joseph Pollay, brokers, for stock sales promotion.

Among the 17 persons indicted with Dunham were Hart, Pollay and Holland. They are now at liberty in $25,000 bail each. Their arrests followed investigation of the sales by District Attorney Robert T. Bushnell of Middlesex county. Most of the stock involved was sold in Massachusetts and Connecticut.

PAPE IN ADDRESS SCORES RORABACK

Says He Controls Legislature Through His Party Connections—The Speech.

New Britain, Conn., Aug. 20.—(AP)—William J. Pape, publisher of Waterbury, candidate for controller on the Independent Republican ticket, carried his plea for support to the Kwanians here today, speaking at the luncheon. He said in part:

"The Constitution of Connecticut provides that every citizen may freely speak, write and publish his sentiments on all subjects, being responsible for the abuse of that liberty. It is in exercise of that constitutional right I speak to you about some aspects of state and party government in Connecticut.

"Free speech is a constitutional right. Citizens in Connecticut have not been exercising it. When a few of us start to do it, quite a few of the rest of you wonder what's the matter with us, anyway? Are we Socialists? Have we joined the Reds? Why can't we let things alone and devote our spare time to golf, bridge and set-back instead of arguing about the administration of the state government and the secret or open control of the Republican and Democratic parties?"

CITIZENS SILENT

"The reason is that the great majority of the citizens of Connecticut have paid no little attention to the details of their state government. It is being taken from them. They are being misrepresented and misgoverned and many of us don't know why. We pay our taxes and vote the straight ticket and that's that."

"Now it isn't exactly a crime to think about state and party government in Connecticut, but it is rapidly becoming so.

"Some of my friends in Waterbury profess themselves unable to understand why a man like me always professing to be a good Republican, should raise any awkward questions about the Republican Party. The other day some citizen of Waterbury who gave a fictitious name, called me by phone and expressed surprise that anybody of good standing in the community (he that) should oppose Mr. Roraback."

LEVITT DENOUNCED

"Prof. Levitt has been invited to speak by numerous reputable groups. At least twice he has been denounced publicly by defenders of the status quo who try to dismiss him as a trouble-maker. This is not a grievance with him or me. Personally, I think that what this man Levitt has had to say about the Roraback machine and state government calls for a better answer. In the United States the levitts cannot be suppressed. They must be answered."

"A beautiful example of the way not to squelch Prof. Levitt was given last year by the chairman of our public utilities commission, Prof. Ruby Chickering Green, missing since he was a private citizen interested in a tragic grade crossing accident which happened near his home. His wife is the daughter of the late Congressman Hill. Forty years ago Mr. Hill was in the General Assembly and helped to pass a law still on the statute books which requires the railroads to abolish one grade crossing annually for each fifty miles of track operated. Prof. Levitt went to Hartford to learn whether this law was being enforced. Word passed through the offices of the Public Utilities Commission that some crank who said his name was Levitt was asking questions about the grade crossing law. Whereupon the chairman of the commission apparently to have said: 'Send him to me. I know how to take care of him.'"

A PRIVATE CITIZEN

"According to Prof. Levitt's account of the interview (which I believe is substantially correct) the chairman asked what corporation or what railroad corporation he represented. Prof. Levitt said he represented no corporation, that he was a private citizen asking for information. Then the chairman refused to give him such information until he showed that he represented a corporation, especially a railroad corporation, and consequently had

GAS BUGGIES—More Truth Than Poetry

A THOUGHT

He that humbly himself shall be exalted.—St. Luke 14:11.

He that humbly himself shall exalt.—Benjamin Franklin.

ERRORGRAMS

FATE CHOSE WELL FOR YOU AMONG THE TEN ZODIACAL SIGNS, FOR YOU WERE BORN UNDER THE SIGN OF TAURUS, THE BULL. I ALSO FIND A STRONG INFLUENCE OF THE PLANET BETELGEUSE, IN THE CONSTELLATION OF THE GREAT BEAR. NOW LET US INTERPRET ALL THIS. YOU ARE LUCKY—

PROSOT Always in Step.

There are at least four mistakes in the above picture. They may pertain to grammar, story, etiquette, drawing or whatnot. See if you can find them. Then look at the scrambled word below—and unscramble it, by switching the letters around. Grade yourself 30 for each of the mistakes you find, and 20 for the word if you unscramble it.

CORRECTIONS
(1) There are 12, instead of 10, zodiacal signs. (2) Taurus is the sign of the bull, not the lion. (3) Betelgeuse is a star instead of a planet. (4) Interpret is spelled incorrectly. (5) The scrambled word is TROOPS.

SENSE AND NONSENSE

Try This View of Life

If you have a friend, worth loving, Love him. Yes, and let him know that you love him, are life's evening Tinge his brow with sunset glow. Why should good words be said of a friend until he's dead!

Scatter wide your seeds of kindness, All enriching as you go—Leave them. Trust the harvest-giver; He will make each seed to grow. So, until the happy end, Your life shall never lack a friend.

Old Man Over-Head Never Takes a Vacation.

Every man is suspicious of three things: His daughter's boy friends, a new noise in his automobile motor and hash.

There are many remedies for love but only one sure cure—matrimony.

The boys call Gladys Autumn because everything falls for her.

One thing a man doesn't get from his wife is the good opinion he has of himself.

After all, there is a difference between a college student and a miser. A college student isn't tight all the time.

Making a Fool Out of Yourself Isn't Such a Serious Mistake if You Realize Who Did It.

"There is no doubt about it," said the coffee in the Restaurant percolator. "Seven days makes one weak."

Neighbor—Did I bring your lawn mower back last month? Indignant Man—No you did not. Neighbor—Now, what'll I do. I wanted to borrow it again.

English law prohibits a man from marrying his mother-in-law. This is our idea of the ultra in useless legislation.

Now that the weather has gotten hot people who take a cold bath all the year round will start taking cold baths again.

A young woman was asked by a professor to write a brief description of her conception of a self-made man and wrote as follows: "A self-

Vacation days mean just one bang-up time after another.

made man is like a self-made cigarette—a lot of Bull wrapped in a transparent cover."

Whether an interest rate is high or low depends on whether you are paying it or getting it.

The talkies don't bother the average student. He already knows how to sleep while somebody talks.

Modern Girl's Admonishment: "I've Got to Toodle on Now. Don't Do Anything I Would."

If a Letter is Not Important Enough for The Writer of it to Sign it, Surely the Man to Whom it is Addressed Cannot Worry About It. So Man Should be Ashamed Of What He Writes if it Should be Written.

No Woman is An Old Maid Until She Admits It.

Our idea of acute torture would be a man with total paralysis and the seven year itch.

"Suppose," he murmured, "that I should steal another kiss?" "I defy you!" she replied. "And suppose," he persisted, "that I should steal two or three?" "I would never give up," she replied. "I would go on defying you."

THE REASON WHY

Smith and Jones received a letter: "We are very much surprised that the money we have demanded so often has not yet arrived. They replied short and to the point: "You need not wonder; we have not sent the money."—Lustige Glaetter, Berlin.

OBEYING ORDERS

Author (during rehearsal, to almost inaudible actor): Louder, louder! I can't hear a word. Actor (bellowing his next line at the top of his voice): Don't talk so loudly. They'll hear what we say.—Passing Show.

ENTIRELY DIFFERENT

"So you don't want to marry me, Doris?" "That's different! You said something about being yours forever."—Tit-Bits.

TIT FOR TAT

He (gnawing at wife's hard cake): It's a pity I'm not an ostrich. Wife: Yes, you're right; then I'd have a chance to get a decent feather for my hat once in a while.—Answers.

THE TINYMITES

(READ THE PICTURE, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE) "Where are you bound for?" "I must be moving on ahead," He Clowny said. "Right down the road, sir. Straight ahead," replied the little water boy. "I'm taking water home. The water we drink must be pure, so every morning, to be sure, I take this heavy jug and to a well known well I roam. "Perhaps you lads would like a drink. Well, I can spare a bit, think I have no cup, though. Fold your hands and form me of your own. Then you can drink the water quick. I'm sure the plan will work out slick." "Till do it first," cried Clowny, "if you'll all let me alone." And so he did, and had his fill. He shouted, "Gee, but it's a thrill to drink that way. The water's cool and takes away your thirst." The other Tines tried it, too. The water started seeping through we Carry's hands and he exclaimed, "I guess I am the worst." The little water boy then said,

ABOUT TOWN

Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Roche and family of Elmhurst, Long Island, are spending two weeks as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Kennedy of 23 Middle Turnpike West.

The entire plans for the American Legion outing at Osano's cottage at Bolton Lake, Sunday, Aug. 24, are now completed. The last opportunity to secure tickets will be Thursday, August 21 and those intending to go must procure them before then at the following places: Milkowski, the Florist, F. E. Bray, the Jeweler, and Harold Olds, at the F. T. Bilsh Hardware Co.

St. James' Sunday School and pupils of St. James' School today are spending their annual picnic at Elizabeth Park, Hartford. They left Manchester this morning in three large open trolley cars. The day is to be spent there and the return to this evening will be started about 5 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Jaycox are moving from Depot Square to 15 Ashworth street. Mr. Jaycox is the proprietor of Jay's Sign Shop on Oak street.

Mary C. Keeney Tent, Daughters of Union War Veterans, will hold its regular meeting at the State Armory tomorrow evening. A full attendance of the members is hoped for as special business will be transacted and a rehearsal of the drill work will take place.

Miss Elsie Daley of Foster street who is to become the bride of William Hentschel on Saturday, August 30, was honored with another miscellaneous gift showing last evening at the home of Miss Gladys Johnson of 61 Strickland street, by friends and former schoolmates. A mock marriage was one of the features of the evening. Miss Mildred England filled the role of minister, Miss Helen Whippert, the bride, Miss Edith Johnson the bridegroom and Mrs. Flora Merkel the ringbearer. A buffet lunch was served. Miss Daley received many lovely gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Waddell of St. Petersburg, Florida, who have been spending several weeks with relatives here, left today for Cleveland, Ohio, where they will visit with Mrs. Waddell's people before returning to their home in the Sunshine City.

SIMMONS-SULLIVAN

Miss Elizabeth Sullivan of 1069 Main street was married this morning to Otis B. Simmons of New Bedford, Mass. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. P. Reidy at the rectory of St. James's church. They were attended by Miss Julia V. Sullivan, sister of the bride, and Thomas Minor of East Center street. The bride wore a gown of blue and grey chiffon with accessories to match, and the bridesmaid's dress was of green and white chiffon. Mr. and Mrs. Simmons left later in the day on an unannounced wedding trip. The bridegroom is well known in Manchester and will make his home here, while continuing his business in New Bedford. He owns extensive dog kennels.

Enroll in the Connecticut Business College at the Center and be ready for a good office position when business picks up. You can enter next Monday or start with the new Term Sept. 2.—Advt.

Our idea of an August Fur Sale this year was to offer to our customers fur coats in accepted pelts and styles at one price—a price within their means. This we have been able to do with the cooperation of our New York fur specialist together with the help of New York's leading furriers. And we offer to you, tomorrow, for this sale a selection of fur coats of such style and quality that you would ordinarily expect to pay double the price. Prices on fur coats, with a few exceptions, are lower by 25% to 40% than they have been in years. In our honest opinion, there is almost positive assurance that you will pay less for your fur coat NOW than later in the season, because at this time commodity prices have dropped and no one can tell when they will rise again. So buy your fur coat during this three day selling!
