

C. R. BURR NEW "COMMISH" ON POLICE BOARD

Selection When Democrats Fail to Unite Makes Body All G. O. P.—Murphy Did Not Seek Place.

Immediately following the annual town meeting last night the board of selectmen met for organization. The reason for the meeting last night was that Thomas J. Rogers, chairman of the board had planned to go to Boston today to attend the big convention of the American Legion. The only surprise of the appointments of the selectmen was that of C. R. Burr, for police commissioner, to serve for three years, to succeed Edward J. Murphy. It is the first time that all three members of the board of police commissioners have been of one political party. The other two members of the board are Willard E. Rogers and Robert V. Treat.

CHICAGO BANDITS ROB MAYOR'S WIFE

Mrs. Thompson Stripped of $20,000 in Jewels in Doorway of Own Home.

Chicago, Oct. 7.—(AP)—The crime wave reached brazen heights today with the robbery of the Mayor's wife, Mrs. William Hale Thompson in the very doorway of her Gold Coast home.

She was stripped of jewels valued at approximately $20,000. Her policeman-chauffeur was robbed of his star and his revolver and narrowly escaped death by a bullet.

Mrs. Thompson had attended the theater with her sister Mrs. William Burkhardt. Her chauffeur Peter J. O'Malley had picked them up after Mrs. Burkhardt had been dropped at her home. O'Malley drove up at the Barry avenue entrance of the apartment hotel in which the mayor and Mrs. Thompson make their home.

Stunned Chauffeur
A man stepped from the darkness and stunned him with a blow on the head, as he opened the door for Mrs. Thompson. This robber stood guard over O'Malley as two others ordered Mrs. Thompson to get into the car.

At pistol points they forced her to walk into the entrance of the building. They snatched her jewels, including a diamond ring for which she recently had paid $10,000, a diamond set bracelet and a diamond pin.

Meanwhile the robber who held a gun on O'Malley observed the officer's police bolster and his police star.

"Your copper" snarled the robber.
"No," said O'Malley. "I'm just a chauffeur, but I wear a police star."

Woman Faints
"You can't fool me" growled the man with the gun. "You're a cop and I ought to give you a bullet in the belly."

They sped away. Officer O'Malley started pursuit. As he whirled the limousine into the street with a roar, the mayor's wife fainted on the sidewalk.

Pedestrians carried her to her apartment. The mayor and Dr. Arnold Kegeles, health commissioner were called. The physician said her condition was temporarily serious and that she could not be questioned by police.

O'Malley said that on the ride home Mrs. Thompson had remarked that it was the first night in more than a year that she had been out of the house later than 6 o'clock in the evening.

CHINESE CROOKS FALL FOR BUNK INSURANCE

Shanghai, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Chinese bunco men have gone into the insurance business, selling to kidnapers, murderers and burglars policies guaranteed to protect even the most vicious from arrest.
Several culprits have been brought before district courts protesting that they had "insurance" only to find that the judges were not mentioned in the policies.

G. O. P. SIX TO ONE IN TOWN'S VOTING

Lightest Vote in Years Cast In Yesterday Election in Manchester.

Polling the lightest vote in many years, at a town election, the town voters yesterday elected a Republican board of selectmen, and an assessor, the only offices in which there was a contest. The total vote cast was 857, the Republican majority being 6 to 1 for nearly every office. The Democratic women's vote was low, reducing the averages throughout. Figures taken from the check list showed 235 women had voted and 622 men.

At noon yesterday only 165 votes had been cast indicating one of the lightest votes in years, and at 8 o'clock when the polls were officially closed by Moderator Thomas F. Conran, there were few voters in evidence due to the adjourned town meeting being held in the High School Hall.

The results of the town election follows, those marked x being elected.

CAHILL WILL HEAD M. K. & J. RAILROAD

Former Manager of B. & O. Succeeds Columbus Halle, Long Its Chief Director.

New York, Oct. 7.—(AP)—M. H. Cahill today was elected president of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Lines, succeeding Columbus Halle, who has retired.

Mr. Cahill is assuming the duties of president in addition to his present position as chairman of the board and chairman of the executive committee. Mr. Halle retained his post as a director.

Directors declared a dividend of $1 on the common stock, payable Dec. 31 to stock of record Dec. 5. Similar payments were made three and six months ago.

Halle, who has been in active railroad service for nearly half a century, retired from active railroad work after more than forty-five years spent with the M. K. T. He entered the service as a clerk, rising through various official positions until he became president in 1928.

Cahill has been chairman of the board of directors for two years, coming to the M. K. T. from the vice-presidency of the Seaboard Air Lines. Previous to that he was general manager of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

TREASURY BALANCE

Washington, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Treasury receipts for October 4 were $5,966,626.78; expenditures $8,185,789.00; balance $308,863,727.36.

Victims Removed from Fallen Air Liner as British Officials Seek Cause of Crash

The tangled, fire-blackened skeleton of the once proud dirigible R-101 is shown in the background of this unusual radio picture as French firemen removed bodies from the ruins of the great airship after its crash on a hillside near Beauvais, France. The above photo, wirelessly across the Atlantic to the New York Bureau of NEA Service and rushed by train to The Evening Herald, graphically portrays the scene of the disaster in which at least 47 persons perished and seven were injured. As rescue workers searched through the ruins for additional victims, a British board of inquiry opened an intensive investigation into the crash. The palatial air liner, largest in the world, lost altitude during a heavy rain storm and fell in a mass of flames when only seven hours out of Cardington, England, en route to Karachi, India.

PRESIDENT IN SOUTH SPEAKS BEFORE 60,000

North and South Carolina Observe Sesqui-Centennial of the Battle of King's Mountain Today.

Kings Mountain Battleground, S. C., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Upon the hill-sides of this famous battlefield the largest assemblage in the history of this section gathered today to hear an address from President Hoover.

The rocks that sheltered the patriots who defeated Colonel Patrick Ferguson's British army in 1780 today formed seats for the tens of thousands gathered to celebrate that victory. As the hour set for the President's arrival grew near the patriots who defeated Colonel Patrick Ferguson's British army in 1780 today formed seats for the tens of thousands gathered to celebrate that victory.

On the streets of the nearby town of Kings Mountain, North Carolina, where the President was to review troops of the North and South Carolina National Guard, other thousands milled. Officials in charge of the celebration estimated more than 60,000 persons were at the battle field and in the town.

Throughout a morning musical program the crowd at the battlefield here surged back and forth across the hill. Scouts, mounted police and National Guardsmen were everywhere, directing the crowds and handling traffic.

LABOR RAPS DRY LAW

Boston, Oct. 7.—(AP)—The annual convention of the American Federation of Labor during a brief session today received for its approval a number of resolutions, two of which urged repeal of the 18th Amendment and the Volstead Act, and then recessed for the day. The members disposed about the city to observe the gala sights attending the parade of the American Legion, also holding its National convention here.

The resolutions pertaining to the prohibition question which with various others, will be considered by the resolutions committee were submitted by Arthur J. Beauregard of the Rhode Island delegation and Robert Hesketh of Cincinnati. That submitted by Beauregard urged repeal of the Volstead Act on the ground that widespread corruption has resulted from the era of prohibition. Hesketh's resolution called for repeal of the 18th Amendment.

OLD SWINDLE AGAIN

Stamford, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Mrs. Nettie Hart, colored, of 9 Dryden street, Stamford, is out $2,000 today because of her trust in two smooth working young men of her own race, who made her the victim in the old pocketbook game. She saw one pick up an apparently well filled pocketbook and was joined by the second.

They demanded a share of the book and it was agreed to leave the wallet and its contents with her, on the chance the owner might be discovered. To prove her reliability, she agreed to put some of her own money in the wallet. She drew $2,000 from a local bank and gave it to one of the pair. She was given the apparently well filled wallet and took it home. Upon opening it several hours later, she found it filled with newspaper clippings.

70,000 WAR VETS PARADE IN BOSTON

Legionnaires March Over Historic Ground Today; Parade Lasts All Day.

Boston, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Seventy thousand marching men who trod the muddy roads of war a dozen years ago, marched in gay parade today through streets where once the cannon of another war roared.

Perhaps to the "boys" of the American Legion, as they swung into line today, their heads high, their faces gleaming with the memories of '18, there was little thought for the boys of '78. But, about them as they stepped briskly through the streets of historic old Boston, there was much to remind them of the men who fired the first shots for the liberty for which they fought nearly a century and a half later.

Fast old Boston Common, which echoed to the impassioned cries of Revolutionary orators, over Beacon Hill and down the hill beside the weathered walls of Kings Faneuil Hall, "Cradle of Liberty"; and trod the spot where British rifles cracked in the "Boston Massacre". The rampart uncorns of the old state house from whose balcony the Declaration of Independence was proclaimed to the populace, gazed down upon them as they passed, as they have gazed upon the marching men of every war in the country's history.

In unbroken array, eight abreast, the men of the Legion marched in what their officers said was the greatest parade of World War veterans—a greater array than gathered in one marching unit even during war-time days. From 7 o'clock, there was no let-up through the day and darkness was expected to fall as the last rank reached the end.

They were there from Alaska to Panama, from Maine to the Philippines, a scattering few from those distant points, a regiment or more from nearby states. A 9 o'clock this morning they began to form and the first to start had reached the end of the avenue route, before many of the delegations had gathered at their starting points.

At their head, as grand marshal, was Paul V. McNutt of Indiana, past National commander; Major General Clarence R. Edwards of Massachusetts, war-time commander of the 28th "Yankee" Division.

LONDON WAITS BODIES OF ITS CRASH VICTIMS

Market Prices Drop In New Sinking Spell

New York, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Quoted values resumed their sinking spell on the New York Stock Exchange today, after a brief rally in the first hour of trading. Advances ranging from $1 to $7 a share recorded soon after the opening gong were lost before midday, and several prominent stocks reached new low prices for the year, including American Telephone and General Electric.

Stock of public utility companies having extensive investments in Brazil were again under pressure, reflecting nervousness over revolutionary developments in that country. American and Foreign Power tumbled about $4 a share to new low ground, and on the Curb Exchange, Electric Bond and Share dropped $3, going below $60 a share for the first time this year. Brazilian Traction also was under pressure.

BRAZIL REVOLT SPREADS; ARMY RESERVES CALLED

All Foodstuffs Requisitioned and All Banks Closed in Capital City; Rebs Destroy Bridges and Railroads.

Rio De Janeiro, Oct. 7.—(AP)—The government, faced with a growing revolutionary movement in both the south and the north, announced today it would call out today the first and second classes of army reserves.

All foodstuffs have been requisitioned by the Federal government in the capital city. Authorities alleged that retail merchants were charging excessive prices for their wares, owing to communications with the state of Minas Geraes being interrupted.

Little News
Although official news was scant it was known today that the government is working feverishly to obtain the upper hand in the situation. Federal forces are marching slowly toward Minas Geraes, but their progress is delayed because of the many bridges and track which has been destroyed along the central railway.

The war ministry announced that Gen. Lavane Wanderley, commander of the seventh military region, died of wounds received while fighting the revolutionists in the state of Pernambuco.

Official Holdings

Probe Started to Find Out What Caused Disaster of R-101 in France—Mon- ster Memorial Service Ar- ranged At St. Paul's Ca- thedral; Warships Carry- ing Bodies Across Channel

London, Oct. 7.—(AP)—The government today took its first step toward a public investigation into the causes of the R-101 disaster and its toll of death by ordering a coroner's inquiry to open on Friday, conducted by Ingleby Oddie, the Westminster coroner.

Rebeginning of the inquest will follow closely upon England's official funeral memorial to the dirigible's dead at St. Paul's Cathedral, for which preparations went forward today.

The principal development in the memorial plans was announced today that the Prince of Wales would represent King George at the commemorative gathering. Other members of the royal family are expected to either attend in person or be represented.

To Receive Bodies
Busy scenes were enacted today at the mortuary attached to the Westminster coroner's court where arrangements were being made for reception of the bodies upon their arrival late tonight on the destroyers Tempest and Tribune and train from Dover. There will be just about enough room in the mortuary for accommodation of the bodies.

A special royal air force guard of honor will meet the warships at the channel port and another special guard from the same force will meet the funeral train at Victoria railway terminal in London.

Facilities will be afforded to relatives of any of the dead who may wish to attempt to establish the identity of any of the bodies.

The proposal was considered for burial of the victims in Cardington causeway, but it was decided today that this was only tentative. Such an arrangement would be considered fitting in the case of Lord Thomson, minister of air, and Sir Seton Branncker, director of civil aviation.

The air ministry today awaited replies from the families of the dead as to the form of burial desired.

BODIES SHIPPED
Beauvais, France, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Thirty thousand persons, from Beauvais and the nearby countryside, lined the streets of this little city today as a procession of caissons bearing the 47 bodies of victims of the R-101 crash were taken from the City Hall to the railroad station.

The bodies were placed on a special train bound for Boulogne-sur-Mer where they will be put on board the destroyers Tempest and Tribune for the trip across the channel to England where they will find an eternal resting place in a single grave.

Thirty French airplanes and a squadron of British planes hovered low over the procession as it wended its way to the railway station, sometimes swooping so low as to scatter the frightened crowds. Troops lined both sides of the streets through which the cortege passed.

Each caisson was covered with a British and French flag and bouquets of flowers, most of them wild flowers picked by the peasants of the Beauvais area.

No Church Service
After consultation with the British government it was decided to abandon the plan of a memorial service in the historic Cathedral Saint Pierre, since it was not known to what denomination the victims belonged.

Earlier in the morning a storm as must have been that in which the R-101 met its end Sunday morning broke over the town. Hail-stones as large as eggs beat at the mourning-bedecked city, and forced the thousands who had gathered to participate in the memorial ceremony to seek shelter indoors.

The artillery caissons, which rumbled along to the strains of "God Save the King," ranged from those of the famous French "seventy-fives" to the big siege guns of the type seen during the reign of King Louis XIV. By the time the cortege reached the railway station, where there was an imposing honorary guard, all the caissons were covered with flowers which peasants and others had brought up them.

Thirty caissons were used, some carrying two caskets others carrying just one. After a detachment of cavalry which rode at the head of the cortege, French and British walked, bareheaded. Behind him came Wedgwood Benn, and then a battalion of French infantry. Then the caissons, a company of aeronautes, representing lighter than air

MRS. BRUCE DOWN IN INDIA WILDS

Famous British Woman Flier Sends Out Distress Call; Was Lost Several Days.

Karachi, India, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Mrs. Victor Bruce, British woman aviator who has been engaged in a flight from England to Tokyo, crashed this morning on a range of hills called Kohimborak, about twenty miles north of Jask, and sent out a call for help.

A rescue party, including a doctor and an engineer, started on a sailing vessel from here shortly after the distress call was received. Jask is a small town on a promontory of southern Persia, about 515 miles from Karachi.

Mrs. Bruce had been missing since Sunday, when she was seen flying over Henjam, on the Persian gulf.

WOULD CIRCLE THE GLOBE
London, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Mrs. Victor Bruce, British sportswoman, reported wrecked on her flight to India, was said to be attempting a solo journey around the world with her Blackburn Blue Bird biplane. For the first phase of her flight she was attempting to beat Amy Johnson's time to Australia.

She was quoted before her departure as saying—
"I intend to embark on a solo flight which no woman has ever before attempted. One possibility is that I fly from here across Europe, Asia down to Australia then through China and Japan. In this event I should continue my journey by boat to the United States, flying across America and taking ship again to cross the Atlantic."

"This route would take me approximately 30,000 miles, but the actual course of my flight will be determined as the flight progresses."
Mrs. Bruce utilized one seat of the

LABORITES UNITED BEHIND MACDONALD

Premier Gets Great Ovation At Conference of Party in Wales; Avoid All Disputes.

Llwndudno, Wales, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald today took the stage at the Labor Party's National conference. He was cheered enthusiastically and it was evident that he had the close sympathy of the delegates.

Overnight reaction to Foreign Minister Arthur Henderson's statement of yesterday that King George would announce a bill to amend the Trades Disputes Act in his speech at the opening of Parliament has been most favorable in Laborite and Socialist circles.

This act, which greatly affects the trade unionists, became a law after the collapse of the general strike and is widely disliked in the trade union camps. It is felt in some labor circles that this is the one issue which would rally the entire Labor-Socialist movement to support the MacDonald government should the coming general election be forced upon this point.

A Clever Move
Some observers think the proposed bill an astute move on the premier's part to unite solidly the Labor movement in preparation for a possible election.

In a stirring speech Premier MacDonald today urged his followers not to allow their heads to be bowed or their hearts darkened by the unemployment situation.

The general workers' union moved a resolution mildly critical of the government but James Maxton's Independent Labor Party immediately moved an amendment of challenge and censure.

The premier interrupted with an appeal to them to remember that criticism of the Cabinet would be blazed abroad by labor's opponents when the struggle came to turn a minority into a majority.

Fires, Tornado and Floods Sweep Over the Country

By Associated Press.
Forest fires were sweeping parched areas in California and Virginia today, while in Texas a prolonged drought was broken by torrential rains followed by destructive floods and a tornado.

At least 20 persons were injured, numerous farm houses were demolished in Houston county, Texas, when a tornado cut a swath from 200 to 300 yards wide near Latexo.

The most serious flood damage was caused at Brady, Texas, where the business district was under 8 to 8 feet of water following the overflow of the Brady river. From 30 to 40 homes were carried away, leaving 200 to 300 persons homeless. Crops were badly damaged.

Meanwhile in California, heat of mid-summer intensity prevailed with a temperature of 92, virtually general throughout the state.

BOLTON, WAPPING STILLS LINKED UP Same Financial Interest Back Of Both Big Booze Plants, Authorities Learn.

It was the same financial interest that footed the bill for the installation of the big still discovered in the Bolton Hills on the farm of Tony Fiano and that was behind the still bigger still established in Wapping in the old creamery building leased from Annie Kuster and her husband Michael. This fact has been definitely established, and with much information concerning these operations in the hands of the state's attorney in this county and Detective Edward J. Hickey, there are due to be some interesting developments from today on.

OBITUARY

FUNERALS

Funeral services for Miss Lois Wilcox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Wilcox of Greenhill street were held at the Center Congregational church yesterday afternoon at 2:30. The auditorium was filled with friends of the girl whose untimely death occurred at the Hartford hospital Saturday morning following an operation.

"Our brave men were sacrificed to providence if not to improvisation," concludes the article, "who did it?" The Record, which is the mid-weekly edition of the Bedfordshire Times, says that first accounts of the disaster "confirm in cruel fashion the worst forebodings of many who watched with anxious interest the sad and too casual preparations afterward for her flight. Let there be no mistake about this. The one point which struck the casual and ignorant observer when the R-101 returned from its mad dash was the dip at the nose."

ONE CASE OF INFANTILE PARALYSIS IN TOWN

East Middle Turnpike Child Contracts Disease Frequent Elsewhere in State. Nancy Fike, 6 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton E. plane for an extra gasoline tank. She took with her an evening gown and the usual womanly accoutrements of powder puffs, as well as a small statuette of St. Christopher, patron of travelers.

Her plane was equipped with an automatic radio transmitter which sends out a signal during each hour the machine is in flight. Mrs. Bruce won fame as an automobile driver. She once drove a to a point 170 miles north of the Arctic Circle. In another spectacular feat she and her husband drove a motor car for 15,000 miles.

CHINESE FIRE ON GUNBOAT

Washington, Oct. 7—(AP)—The U. S. Gunboat Panay was fired on early today by Chinese on the right bank of the Yangtze river, two miles below Havoc Rocks Beacon.

A message to the Navy from Admiral Charles B. McVay, Jr., commander of the Asiatic fleet, said the craft silenced the fire with rounds from three inch guns and machine guns.

On August 26 the Panay was fired on at the same place. There were no casualties either time.

for that period, resulted in the capital being on almost a Sabbath basis today. The decree does not prohibit commercial activities and so the stores are open, but there was little business because of the closing of the banks.

The newspapers thus far have refrained from publishing anything except governmental decrees and acknowledgments of the revolutionary troubles in Minas Geraes and Rio Grande do Sul. The other states in which trouble is said to have occurred are not mentioned.

So far the government has made no official statements regarding success or otherwise of the revolutionary outbreak.

REVOLT SPREADING

San Juan, Porto Rico, Oct. 7—(AP)—Confirmation of reports that the Brazilian revolution had spread to the great state of Para was received today in a message sent the Pan-American Airways by its field manager in the city of Para, John C. Nash.

Nash told the company that he had been hospitalized in his hotel for 38 hours because of the revolution but said that all of the Pan-American staff were safe.

He added that he was unable to get to the hangar and report on the safety of the planes, and said that communications were disrupted.

Two regular Pan-American planes were dispatched southward from here today but ordered not to touch Para until all is quiet there.

WALES AS BEST MAN

Vienna, Oct. 7—(AP)—Reports from Sofia today said that the Prince of Wales would represent his father, King George, at the wedding of King Boris and Princess Giovanna of Italy, to take place soon, and would be best man for the groom.

It was expected that King Boris would leave Sofia for Rome for the official betrothal ceremony today. He will be accompanied by Premier Lisptcheff.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, Oct. 7—(AP)—Unfilled orders of slab zinc of all grades declined slightly during September to 27,108 tons, compared with 28,972 tons at the end of August, the American Zinc Institute reports. Unfilled orders at the end of September last year totaled 20,270 tons. Production last month showed a slight increase to an average of 1,349 tons daily, compared with 1,324 tons daily in August, but showed a decrease from average of 1,732 tons for September last year.

A special meeting of stockholders of the Abbott Laboratories, Inc., has been called for October 21 to vote on a proposal to increase the company's stock to 200,000 shares from 150,000 and to vote on a proposed increase in the directors to 11 members from 9.

It was reported in Wall street that an agreement has been reached for consolidation of Gillette Safety Razor Co. and Autostrop Safety Razor Co. and that the necessary financing to take the form of $20,000,000 10-year convertible 5 per cent notes and about $31,000,000 convertible into common for 5 years, will shortly be announced. The proceeds of the notes would be used for working capital and the $31,000,000 of preferred would be offered in exchange for the 310,000 shares of Autostrop stock, consisting of 87,500 shares of Autostrop "A" and 220,500 shares of "B."

Kroger Grocery & Baking Co. sales for the four weeks ended Sept. 7 totalled $19,950,175, a decrease of 6.98 per cent from $21,426,805 for the like period last year. The number of stores in operation Sept. 27 was 5,203, a decrease of 408 or 7.27 per cent from Sept. 27 last year and the company reports that a comparison of sales of stores in operation this year with the same units last year showed an increase of $11.80 per store, or 0.31 per cent.

Dow, Jones & Co. reports that steel ingot output in the Chicago district this week is averaging about 57 per cent of capacity, compared with close to 60 per cent last week. The reduction is due to the banking of a blast furnace at the south Chicago works of the U. S. Steel Corp.

NOON STOCKS

New York, Oct. 7—(AP)—Heavy selling which appeared after a period of moderate firmness swept through previous supporting levels in the earlier hours of today's Stock Market.

Reports that the exchange authorities had gone into the question of promiscuous short selling and had warned several large bear traders stiffened the market at the opening, although large buying orders for the leaders failed to stimulate much covering and the early gains were small. In the second hour selling became extremely active and scores of stocks dropped to new lows for the year or for the movement.

American Telephone, which had been 2 points higher, fell to 200, just under its previous low. U. S. Steel quickly lost a gain of 1 3-4 and touched 152 1-4, within a fraction of the June bottom. General Electric was also weak. American & Foreign Power lost nearly 4 points. There was considerable pressure against the rails. New York Central and Baltimore & Ohio sold into new low ground.

Call money renewed at 2 per cent.

GUNMAN MURDERED New York, Oct. 7—(AP)—Herbert T. Roberts, notorious gunman and racketeer who escaped in 1926 from the Virginia State Prison, was found dead early today on the seat of an abandoned automobile in a residential section of the Bronx. Police said he had been taken for a "ride."

Of 278 alarms answered in 1929 by the fire department of Hibbing, Minn., 105 were false.

KILLED MAN IN '83 BEING TRIED NOW

Jury Listens to Story of Fight That Happened Before They Were Born.

Guntherville, Ala., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Twelve Marshall county men considering a killing occurred before most of them were born, today deliberated upon the fate of James F. Neely, 70, accused of murder for the fatal beating in 1883 of Hiram Cooley in a fist fight.

Testimony and arguments in the trial were completed in half a day with the jury taking the case early last night and retiring before starting deliberations.

Two of the state's witnesses, one a brother of Hiram Cooley, were present at the fight in 1883. Neely was the only witness.

How's She Hitting?

By ISRAEL KLEIN Science Editor, NEA Service.

The clean and shiny appearance of the automobile gives a much satisfaction to the owner as does the purring motor. Therefore, since pleasure in driving is the essential, it is just as important to keep the car's body clean as it is to have the engine in good shape.

How to do this with the least effort and greatest assurance is explained by G. W. Sherin, an authority on duco and lacquer finishes. The rest of this article is given over to Mr. Sherin.

"Everybody knows" says Sherin, "that an automobile finish gradually loses its luster and beauty if it is not polished at regular intervals. Two things take place. First, a thin film of dirt accumulates on the finish and becomes baked there by the sun and engine heat. Second, the finish itself becomes weathered through frequent exposure to the sun, rain, heat and cold.

"Duco and lacquer are much more durable than the old paint and varnish finishes. But they don't last forever. They slowly wear out through microscopic erosion of the surface, releasing tiny pigment particles which were originally put into the finish to color it.

"When polish is rubbed on a car finish and the cloth becomes stained with the color of the car, there are small particles of chalked pigment which are no longer a part of the finish and which should be removed anyway.

Spain's Machinery Swings Into Action; Support For Monarchy Foreseen

Madrid.—(AP)—Spain is culling up its rusty election machinery. Registrations of voters is underway throughout the nation in readiness for the parliamentary elections which Premier Berenguer has said may be called the latter part of this year.

A new cortes, or parliament, the first in eight years, will be assembled, if this plan is carried out. Political organizations are lining up their local forces in every district, town and city, and prospective candidates for the congress of deputies, or lower house, are getting ready for the race.

Groups supporting the monarchy are organizing with especial thoroughness. Republican forces, while less cohesive and handicapped by legal facilities for organization because they oppose the established government, are trying to get their supporters into politically efficient groups.

Impartial observers think at present that the prospects indicate monarchists will control the new cortes, with republicans having a minority, perhaps small, in the chamber and little or no strength at all in the senate.

No Drought Loans To Farmers Unless They're Good Risk

Washington.—(AP)—The administration has officially eliminated all "charity patients" in its plan of drought relief.

Analysts of the scheme to place "succor" on a business basis" place the credit corporations which are to act as intermediaries between drought-stricken farmers and the federal intermediate credit banks, will not underwrite loans to farmers considered a "poor risk."

The conferees out of which the national drought relief program emanated took cognizance of the fact that many farmers had exhausted their credit and would become "charity patients."

Since government funds going through intermediate credit bank channels cannot be used for charity, the farmer who has no collateral must look to the Red Cross or some local charitable organization for assistance.

There are expected to be a number of extenuating circumstances, however. It is predicted that a farmer who has potential assets and a reputation for integrity and industry will be given every possible measure of assistance by the credit corporation nearest him.

In the main farmers may expect to pay 6 1/2 per cent interest on livestock loans and 6 per cent on loans for other agricultural purposes.

C. R. BURR IS NEW POLICE "COMMISH"

did not care to be a candidate for re-appointment. He has served on the board for six years and during all that time had been secretary. Mr. Murphy notified Chairman Rogers to this effect both by telephone and in letters. This morning Mr. Murphy made it very plain that he was glad to be relieved of the job. He said he regarded the appointment of Mr. Burr as an excellent one as Mr. Burr is an outstanding citizen of the town and a successful business man. Mr. Burr, he said, had been considered for the position at the time of the retirement of Albert Dewey, but because he had then planned a trip to Europe, he was unable to accept the position. However, Mr. Murphy deplored the fact that because of the appointment of a Republican, the Democrats lose a representative on the board. He pointed out that this was the only board of any consequence on which there was minority representation.

Too Many Aspirants. When the selection came to the appointment last night they went into executive session and consequently the reporters had to retire. It was later learned that there were seven candidates for the position of police commissioner. Of these seven six were Democrats. It is known that if the Democrats could have agreed on one man he would have received the appointment. But they were divided among themselves with the result that Mr. Burr presented a happy solution of the problem.

C. R. Burr has been in Manchester since 1891 when he started his nursery business. He has never held public office. He is a native of Madison, Conn. He is only recently in business and today is one of the largest nursery concerns in New England. Mr. Burr has been a member of the Manchester Hospital board and was largely responsible for the re-organization of conditions at the hospital. He was only recently named as a director of the Manchester Trust Company.

Organization. The board organized by re-electing Thomas Rogers as chairman and Wells A. Strickland as secretary. George H. Waddell was named as clerk. The sub-division of the Board of Selectmen was made and the naming of other appointments followed. These are the sub-committees and appointees. The chairman of the board is ex-officio member of all committees: Highway Committee, Wells A. Strickland, Albert T. Jackson. Public Safety Committee, W. W. Robertson, Jarle E. Johnson. Charity Committee, George E. Keith, Arvid Gustafson. Joint School Board, George E. Keith, W. W. Robertson. Agent town deposit fund, William S. Hyde; Personal tax collector, George H. New York, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Support appeared in the opening transactions of today's Stock Market, and yesterday's headlong decline was checked. Several shares made substantial recovery, but selling continued in spots and the movement was irregular. American Cigarette Works, American Can, Eastman and Westinghouse gained 1 to 1-1/2 points, and U. S. Steel opened with a block of 10,000 shares, up 1-4, later extending its rise to 3-4. American Telephone also gained 3-4. Woolworth, however, lost 3-4, and General Electric, 1-4.

SKIFF GOES TO JAIL

Danbury, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Harold Skiff of West Haven, wounded in a gun battle with two local policemen on the morning of September 19, when he and Carlton Zearles were surprised while burglarizing a sporting goods store, was transferred from the Danbury prison to the county jail at Bridgeport, yesterday. Chief of Police George J. Schoen today made known the fact of the wounded gunman's removal. A bench warrant will be lodged at the jail until Skiff has recovered sufficiently to permit him to be taken into court. Meanwhile he will be confined in the hospital ward of the county institution; Zearles, who escaped the police and fled the city in an automobile he stole here, is still at liberty.

WORABACK'S VIEWS

CONN. FIRST IN T. B. AID, SAYS ROGERS

Leads Union in Providing for the Tuberculous — Ranks Third in All Charities.

Waterbury, Oct. 7.—The statement that Connecticut ranks first among all the states of the Union in liberal provision for care of tuberculosis and other communicable diseases was made Sunday night by Lt. Governor Ernest E. Rogers, Republican candidate for governor, in an address before the United Italian American Republican Club here.

He also declared that in the per capita expense of states for charities, hospitals and corrections, Connecticut stands third, being outranked only by Massachusetts and Nevada.

"Fifteen years ago the Republican party in Connecticut began its administration of state affairs, an administration which has been interrupted up to the present day," said Mr. Rogers. The previous Democratic administration created a tremendous state debt and no provision for its payment. They had left a very substantial deficit at the close of each year.

"Over 420,000 people have been added to the Connecticut population since 1915. The normal increase during that time has meant more people in our institutions, more scientific care of institutional inmates, many additional laws on sanitation, health, agriculture, industry, and education, development of state parks and forests, construction of modern highways and a countless number of other affairs.

There has been an increase of inmates in our state institutions of over 50 percent. This has meant the expenditure during the past year in Connecticut of almost four million dollars in capital, outlay, the largest portion of which was expended on our institutions. We are constantly making additions to present institutions.

JOHN McCORMACK HERE IN FILM TOMORROW

Famous Lyric Tenor Sings "Song O' My Heart" at State Theater—His First Picture.

"Song O' My Heart," starring the renowned lyric tenor, John McCormack, is to be the feature attraction at the State Wednesday and Thursday. It is McCormack's first appearance in a motion picture, and for the first time the golden voice that has thrilled millions is now brought home to you.

The story itself is a delightful one of Ireland and America. Its characters are humanely and convincingly portrayed by a superb cast. McCormack's characterization of a saddened lover is so humanly enacted that one almost feels that he is living the role with the famous tenor. But credit must be given to Maureen O'Sullivan for her engaging role as Eileen, daughter of his former sweetheart, which role is brilliantly handled by lovely Alice Joyce. John Garrick, J. M. Kerrigan, J. Farrell McDonald and little Tommy Clifford also deliver performances beyond criticism.

"Song O' My Heart" is a picture you will never forget. The tender romance, the beautiful backgrounds against which the action of the story moves and the marvelous rendition of lovable ballads by the great tenor conspire to make it so. The surrounding bill includes a laughable and entertaining comedy and two selected Vitaphone acts. Paul Whiteman in the "King of Jazz" heads the bill for Friday and Saturday, and the management also announces the showing of Eddie Cantor in "Whoopie" for three days starting Sunday evening.

Bowling Tonight Tonight will mark the first game in the first round of the bowling league at the Fire Department alleys on Prospect street, which will be played between the Fitch Hose company and the Ellington Fire Department. On Wednesday evening, the Fitch company and Stafford Department teams will play. On Thursday night there promises to be an exciting game between the Hockanum company and the fire chiefs. The Hook and Ladder company will bowl the Tolland Fire Department team on Friday night.

There are eight teams in the league. A pretty wedding took place on Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, when Miss Ella Trinks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Trinks of Grand street, was united in marriage to William Shaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Shaw of Stuyville, Maine. The ceremony was performed in the parlors of the Trinks home by Rev. George S. Brookes, pastor of Union Congregational church.

The bridesmaid was Miss Emma Trinks, sister of the bride and John Stimpson, a friend of the groom, acted as best man. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. After a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Shaw will live in Hartford.

HOW TO PLAY Today's BACKGAMMON

CHOUETTE IS NEW FEATURE OF GAME

EDITOR'S NOTE: Here is the twelfth of a series of articles on "Today's Backgammon" which are appearing in THE HERALD. They were written for NEA Service and this newspaper by Elizabeth Clark Boyden, author of "The New Backgammon" and co-author of "Contract Bridge for 1929" and "Contract Bridge for 1931."

By ELIZABETH CLARK BOYDEN Written for NEA Service The second new feature which has helped to bring about the present vogue for backgammon is called chouette (one against two or more).

When more than two people wish to play a game of backgammon today, each player throws one die. The player who throws the high die plays alone against all the remaining players. He is said to "sit in the box". This is merely a name and the player, although preference should be given to the side of the table which allows the opponents to group themselves conveniently opposite.

Notes Mr. and Mrs. John Burns of Talcott avenue left this morning on the excursion train to Boston to witness the Legion parade. The Catholic Ladies of Columbus will hold the third what in a series of Wednesday evenings at 8:15 in their rooms in the Prescott block. The L. C. B. A. will meet tonight in the new meeting rooms in the Prescott block.

WINDHAM INTERESTED IN ITS TOWN REPORT

Windham, Conn., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Every citizen who went to the Town meeting today was interested in the financial condition of the town in view of the audit being made on the books of Town Treasurer Frank P. Fenton. The selectmen distributed their annual report and submitted the budget for the next fiscal year. The board gave an opinion that the budget called for a year ago, and which totaled $402,700, the largest in the town's history, will be met, or nearly so, by the tax of eight mills voted March 10, and the 4-1-2 addition tax laid later.

The amount collectable under the 12-1-2 mill tax was shown by the annual report to be $297,562.41 by direct payments and about $100,000 from indirect sources. The selectmen expected to pare down some items to bring the budget total within the collectable amount.

TO LEARN CONN. CO.'S POSITION ON TERMINAL

Chamber of Commerce Group to Meet Supt. Scott on Proposed Improvement. Representatives of the Manchester Board of Selectmen, the Park Superintendent, Police commission, a local real estate dealer and the Manchester Chamber of Commerce will meet with District Superintendent N. J. Scott of the Connecticut Company to consider the proposed changes in the bus terminal at Woodbridge street and Main street in Manchester.

The Chamber of Commerce, North Division, at its first regular meeting, asked for better conditions at the North End terminal. Plans submitted by Town Engineer J. Frank Bowen and approved by the Chamber call for the paving of Woodbridge street, the construction of a concrete turning platform on the west of the Morris Co.'s beef box, the laying of a sidewalk and curb for 60 feet on the North side of Woodbridge street, and on Main street as far as the railroad tracks, and the erection of a waiting room.

POLICE RECOVER STOLEN SILVER

Warwick, R. I., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Less than 24 hours after an eight thousand dollar load of silver bullion had been stolen from a truck in a holdup at South Killingly, Conn., Warwick police recovered half of the loot early today in a summer cottage at Shawomet Beach and arrested three suspects.

Ferriselli was arrested in Providence, Oct. 2, 1929, after jewelry store robberies involving $380 worth of rings and necklaces. Bills of lading and labels on boxes of silver recovered identified the loot as part of the shipment from Handy and Harmon company which was taken by five men who held up a truck early yesterday morning. The driver, Cornelius A. Wines, of Waterbury was gagged and bound with his truck by the hold-up men, he said.

DIAMOND SMUGGLING IS ON DECREASE

Washington, Oct. 7.—(AP)—The diamond squad of the United States Customs Service, alert watchers of the New York water front made the National treasury richer by $664,564 in the 1930 fiscal year.

The annual report of this group just received by Commissioner F. X. A. Eble of the Bureau of Customs, showed 118 non-commercial seizures, for which $453,397 was collected in fines, and $35,748 in merchandise not released. It showed 16 commercial seizures, netting merchandise valued at $115,559. An item of $61,860 was added for recoveries made in other districts on information furnished by John W. Roberts, Chief of the diamond squad, and his men. The previous year a total of $732,529 was collected from these sources.

Rising in the wake of the World War, syndicated diamond smuggling had assumed such proportions by 1923 that organized legitimate diamond dealers and American consul general at Antwerp, center of the industry, united in testifying to tariff committees that one diamond was smuggled into this country for every diamond that went through Customs. George W. Messersmith, the Antwerp syndicate was so firmly entrenched, and so sure of results, it furnished security for safe delivery equal to the value of the diamonds. Five of six smuggling brokerage offices operated openly in Antwerp, he said, and honest diamond dealers were "crowded to the wall."

"I HAVE SEEN"

Says IRVIN S. COBB Noted Author

"The old time watch-word—'Let the Buyer Beware' has given way to the modern slogan of confidence 'Buy in Safety', and this miracle was wrought by the honesty of manufacture which characterizes every fine American product. A notable example of the modern manufacturers' constant desire to give the public the best is your use of the Ultra Violet Ray in the 'Toasting' of LUCKY STRIKE tobaccos. Anyone can see this as I have seen it on my visit to your LUCKY STRIKE Plant. It's magnificent."

LUCKY STRIKE—the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—THEN—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so TOASTING removes harmful irritants that cause throat irritation and coughing. No wonder 20,679 physicians have stated LUCKIES to be less irritating! Everyone knows that sunshine mellows—that's why TOASTING includes the use of the Ultra Violet Ray.

"It's toasted" Your Throat Protection—against irritation—against cough Consistent with its policy of laying the facts before the public, The American Tobacco Company invited Mr. Irvin S. own than they are the ideas of one momentarily trying to be diplomatic.
 But the really incongruous thing was a President of the United States calling upon the American Legion to "support the Constitution and the laws of the land" while nineteen out of twenty of them were hoping against hope that he would say some word expressing their own sentiments toward that part of the Constitution that was slipped over on them while they were away fighting for the rest of it. But no such word came.
 On the whole the Boston address was a nice address. But it was just a nice address.

DRY BENEFIT
 We have discovered a benefit arising from prohibition. We submit our discovery as a free will offering to the drys. It is a better argument than any they are now offering for the retention of the eighteenth amendment, though we hardly dare claim for it the merit of being absolutely conclusive.
 It appears that there are about a hundred ships engaged in running liquor out of St. Pierre and Miquelon, much of the Canadian supply coming by that route. They are all vessels of special type and though Nova Scotia gets the business of building them, every boat in the lot is equipped with two gasoline turbine engines of American manufacture.
 Now since these rum runners are always being caught and confiscated—a circumstance which is all covered in the price of the booze in the United States—it is necessary for the big business smugglers to keep them coming along from the builders by way of replacements. And every ship seized calls for two more engines.

MEANEST THIEVES
 The Bridgeport Post, with admirable devotion to a thankless duty, lectures the far too numerous persons who, so the Post says, have an ineradicable idea that anything that grows upon a tree or bush must of necessity be free, and who, following out that idea, help themselves to fruit wherever they see it growing in the country. The Post says that such behavior is "participated in by people who would be shocked at the thought of stealing a penny or transgressing against the moral code in any other manner."
 Our belief is that the Post's charitableness has led it into error. We quite disagree with the proposition that the individual, of whatever age, sex or condition, who will steal fruit from its grower could be ever so slightly shocked at the thought of stealing either one penny or a good many pennies or doing any other mean and contemptible thing. What shocks such people is not the idea of the theft or the immorality but of getting caught at it. Nothing else.
 Out in the country, where there is no uniformed police force, a great many city bred people experience a feeling of freedom from the restraints of that law which ordinarily dictates the course of their actions. Having no conservator but their own innate honesty, if any, their customary good behavior breaks down. Being relieved of any fear of punishment their natural propensities take command. They steal apples or peaches or flowers because they are thieves at heart, not at all in spite of being moral persons. They decide that there is no risk—nobody could identify an apple or a peach or a rose or a spray of lilacs anyhow.
 They would as quickly steal a dollar or a will or a house and lot but the idea of doing so never enters their heads because the risk is obvious—and they have no stomach for risks.
 Wherefore we have considerable more regard and respect for the thief who raids a bank or picks a pocket or burgles, gambling his liberty or perhaps his life against the possible gains, than we have for the poor spirited filcher of other people's crops who is plumb sure that he isn't running a shadow of a chance of arrest and prosecution.
 Our idea of the way to stop this thing is to fool a few of these cheap meisters—give 'em the "shock" the Post talks about, by landing 'em in the coop.

MR. HOOVER AT BOSTON
 In Cleveland the other day President Hoover made a splendid speech. All in all it seemed to us at the time that it was the best one that has come from his lips since he entered the zone of the Presidency. It was thoughtful, courageous, highly important.
 It could be wished that his Boston address to the American Legion had the same spontaneous ring. It would be an exaggeration to say that it had.
 It is difficult to imagine any great advocate setting for himself a harder task than to combine a plea for international peace with a proud assertion of our position of impregnable defense—and make both ideas stick.
 A perfect position for military defense—that is all that was ever confessed to as the aim of the most militaristic nations the world has ever known. It was the theory upon which were built the Roman legions; it was the outward creed of Napoleon Bonaparte; it was the one string of the fiddle on which Wilhelm Hohenzollern played the world to ruin.
 It seems to us that there is a jarring note in this juxtaposition of irreconcilable ideas—which we suspect are really less Mr. Hoover's who now constitute most of his backing may lose some of their belligerency.

THE TOWN ELECTIONS
 The result of the "small town" elections throughout the state indicates, as was generally conceded in advance, that the November election will not be so one-sided as has been the case in the recent past. There was a very considerable proportionate Democratic gain in the total of votes cast.
 But there was, nevertheless, nothing to indicate a political upset next month. The proportionate gains made by the Democrats were not of sufficient volume to indicate any disposition on the part of the voters to shift parties in sufficient numbers to imperil the normal Republican majority in the state.
 At the same time the town elections may be accepted as pointing the necessity of sturdy work during the coming campaign unless the Republican party intends to be content with a substantially reduced preponderance in Connecticut.

IN NEW YORK
 New York, Oct. 6.—Eddie Cantor, the owl-eyed comic, is back from the Hollywoods with an endless parade of gags about his inhabitants.
 On the other hand, he has set up his home there and moved in his family. He is one of the few of the returning New York natives to leap to the defense of the town that makes pictures you see and hear. By the way—they call it "scene and herd" in these parts. He is seen and heard just to see how prolific these American pearl oysters can be made.
 Surveys Pearl Beds
 Dr. P. S. Galtsoff, pearl oyster expert of the bureau, has just finished a summer of survey and investigation in the Hawaiian Islands, returning to Honolulu with specimens for development. The navy presented in and about a western gaming hall and that the checks she presented had some family resemblance to a tennis ball. She defended herself by stating she had misunderstood the value of the chips, believing them to be of 50-cent denomination.
 "Clara says she didn't know the difference between 50 cents and a hundred dollars," gags Cantor. "Imagine anyone playing around with Harry Richman for six months and not knowing four bits from a century!"
 "When I played in 'Kid Boots,' I had the sweet job of kissing Clara and getting paid for it. Her kisses are just like her checks—they come bouncing back."
 "Hollywood gossip is priceless. You hear it everywhere. When I had been in town but one week, I was firmly convinced that Gloria Swanson was married to Ronald Colman secretly and that Wallace Beery was their child."
 "Another thing about Hollywood is the show they put on when a picture premiere is being staged. Arc lights and flood lights from the hills; sirens blow and mobs pack the streets. We got in the habit of going to all of them."
 "One night, from our hilltop, we saw a beacon flashing across the sky. We hopped in our car fearing we were missing an opening. We found nothing in Hollywood and raced into Los Angeles. There we again spotted the great light. Finally after chasing all over, we saw a crowd and heard a band and beheld a tremendous food of brilliant lights. As we approached, we could see wagons coming up with flowers."
 "My wife remarked that we had at last found the place. When we got there it was the opening of a new meat market."
 The afternoon papers bring tragic news. Jack Donahue is dead—dead at the age of 38, the greatest tap dancer of them all, a fellow who could, with infinite art and skill, manipulate the most rhythmic feet in the theater.
 Oddly enough, Jack had been haunted by an unconquerable fear of getting old. It amounted almost to the Freudian fixation or phobia. It wasn't age that bothered him so much as the idea that with the passing years his nimble feet would fail to respond to his bidding.

 He had been around the theater, and he had seen what the years will do. Whenever he was a bit weary and the mechanical perfection of his step missed by so much as a trifle, he would sigh and wonder if that day wasn't just around the corner. It was from all appearances, still a long way off.
 Donahue's mother had not wanted him to be a dancer. It was her wish that he become an architect. Once he dropped his dancing for several years to enter a draughtsman's office. But he couldn't make it stick.
 He came from Boston—"over by the yards and docks"—and started out with a medicine show. He was only a kid, and while still a youngster graduated to Broadway.
 When he died he was working on the music adaptation to a piece to be called "Pride and Charming."

SAYS WOMAN ROBBED HIM
 Providence, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Dorothy Clark, 21, was arrested today and taken to Millville, Mass., following complaint to the state police at Millville last night by Tracy M. E. Allen, of Townsend, Vt., that he had been robbed of $1,250. Allen said he was riding in a taxi cab from Blackstone, Mass., to Millville with the woman and that when she got out of the cab alongside the highway and did not come back, he missed his money. Allen said the money was the proceeds of a sale of cattle. Police traced the Clark girl here through a taxicab driver at Blackstone but no trace of the missing money was found.

WASHINGTON LETTER
 By ROONEY DUTCHER
 NEA Service Writer

Washington—Now the government is going to raise pearls and will be making life miserable for many oysters which never did anyone any harm and never will.
 Pearls are being planted in Pearl Harbor under supervision of the Bureau of Fisheries, following discovery in the Hawaiian Islands of the only colony of pearl oysters known to exist in American waters. The discovery was made in the lagoon of Pearl and northward of Honolulu and the idea of transplanting a few thousand bushels of pearl oysters to Pearl Harbor and raising them under tender care arose from the fact that it would be easier at the latter spot to tend and study them.
 Many oysters produce pearls voluntarily, but there is only one way to compel an oyster to produce a pearl and that is to irritate it. The method is to stick something into the animal's flesh which will so irritate it that it throws out the pearl substance until the foreign object is completely surrounded and becomes the center of the pearl.
 When a grain of sand gets into a pearl oyster it becomes the nucleus of a flat pearl because it is against the flat side of the shell and flat pearls aren't worth much. But there is a microscopic shell fish which imbeds itself in the oyster sometimes and becomes the foundation stone for a nice round pearl. And so Uncle Sam will be making those little shell fish into oysters out at Pearl Harbor just to see how prolific these American pearl oysters can be made.

Dr. P. S. Galtsoff, pearl oyster expert of the bureau, has just finished a summer of survey and investigation in the Hawaiian Islands, returning to Honolulu with specimens for development. SCHOOLS SHOULD TEACH HEALTH
 Our system of education has improved to a marvelous degree in the past quarter of a century, but there are still some vital changes to be made before educators can honestly feel they have fulfilled their duty in giving a coming generation real facts about life and preserving health.
 The public school system is undoubtedly improving in its effectiveness in teaching children to be more proficient in making a living. Manual training is available in every well organized school and students are carefully-trained to be more efficient in business and making a living, but I do not believe the children learn how to live. This subject seems so important that I believe that at least one-third of the hours of each day should be spent in studying such subjects as physiology and the science of food, the function of corrective physical culture, and sex instruction. In only a small percentage of schools is the study of physiology made compulsory, and the facts then given are so primary as not to be taken seriously. Many pages are given over to the evils of tobacco and alcohol, but almost no information is given on the important study of food science.
 It is amazing, how much the young folks know about literature, but how little they know about the function of their own bodies. Often, they pick up the most important facts of life in a distorted way, from coarse companions.
 The study of physiology is far more interesting and important than most of the stories of classical literature which are studied. I have never yet talked to parents who do not believe that what I am saying is true and still there is very little constructive effort made to improve the present system of education. The responsibility for putting such studies in the public schools must be laid upon the shoulders of the parents, for they are the tax payers who employ the teachers and select the Boards of Education.
 Your duty does not end when you send your child to the public schools, but if your health consciousness has been sufficiently aroused you will realize it is not only your duty but your God-given opportunity to see that your child is given the very best chance to learn the habits which make for healthful living.
 Children's diets do not differ materially from those of adults, and you can impress your advice by the priceless example of practicing good diet habits, yourself. If something is not good for your child it is not good for you. It is not good to say, "This is not good for little boys," and then eat the same indigestible food, yourself.
 No teaching you can give your child about the bad effects of certain foods will be worth anything if you continue to show such a bad example.
QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
 (Stomach Ulcer)
 Question: M. A. asks: "Will you kindly explain the most positive symptoms of stomach ulceration? Is there any dieting or medical cure for ulcer in the stomach, without surgical operation?"
 Answer: If the stomach ulcer has really developed, there will be intense pain in the upper gastric region which is located between the ribs and the navel. This pain is usually accompanied by vomiting of blood and even pus, and in this condition a patient is in danger of having the ulcer perforate through the walls of the stomach or intestines. An operation is sometimes advisable in order to save the patient's life, but if taken in time when the first symptoms develop, a short fast followed by the milk diet will so reduce the irritation that the ulcer can heal by itself without surgical interference.
 (Diet in Rheumatism)
 Question: J. D. asks: "Are fresh figs and peanut butter good foods for one who has rheumatism?"
 Answer: Figs, either fresh or dried, may be freely used by one suffering from this trouble, and while no especially harmful results will come from the use of thoroughly roasted peanuts or the butter made from roasted peanuts, one troubled with rheumatism does better on a diet regimen such as my Cleaning Diet Course which does not include nuts.
 (Turkish Baths)
 Question: Mrs. H. asks: "What is your opinion of Turkish baths for reducing? I find that I can always lose two or three pounds with each bath. Do you consider them harmful?"
 Answer: The Turkish bath causes a reduction by an elimination of water from the body, but one usually regains the weight again as soon as food or liquid is taken. They are useful in some disorders, however, because a large quantity of toxic material is usually discharged in the perspiration.
DR. YOUNG DIES
 Olean, N. Y., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Dr. John Claudius Young, 85, internationally known in the field of medicine and surgery, was dead at his home near here today. Physicians attributed his death to complications caused by his advanced age.
 Dr. Young was made a fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons in 1892 and was licensed by the Royal College of Physicians in Edinburgh in 1893.

STATE'S WATER CASE SOON TO BE ARGUED
 Washington, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Attorney General Warner of Massachusetts asked the Supreme Court today to set an early date for oral argument on the special master's report in the suit brought by Connecticut to prevent Massachusetts from diverting water from the Swift and Ware rivers and the headwaters of the Connecticut river for use in the metropolitan district at Boston.
 The special master's findings were against Connecticut, holding in substance that the diversion proposed by Massachusetts was legal. Connecticut today filed with the court sweeping objections to the report, objecting to every finding in favor of Massachusetts.
RAID OPIUM DEN
 Bridgeport, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Three Chinese today were awaiting trial as a result of a surprise raid early Sunday on what Bridgeport police described as an opium den here. Complete sets for cooking opium was found by Lieut. Michael Arnold, who led the police, raiders said. Leon Yen, 28, proprietor of the building, was caught on an upper story of the building hiding behind a packing case. The other two arrested, George Leon, 20, and Leon Dung, 28, were in an unconscious condition when police arrived.
 The raiders forced their way into the place by battering down two heavily barred doors.
 Yen denied running an opium den. He said he took care of lodgers and could not prevent their bringing opium into the place.
 He was released under $500 bonds and the other two men were at liberty under bonds of $200 each.

"BLUENOSE" ARRIVES
 Gloucester, Mass., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Bluenose, skippered by the veteran Captain Angus Walters, tied up at a Gloucester pier today to prepare for her coming tilt with the Gertrude L. Thebanut. Bluenose is Canada's entry in the series of races which will open off here Thursday with the Thebanut of Gloucester, skippered by Captain Ben Pipe, for the Sir Thomas Lipton international fisherman's challenge trophy.
 The Bluenose came from her native Nova Scotia in about 31 hours. Strong winds drove her down the coast and she arrived with her fore-gaff in splints, or "flashed" as the men of the banks described it. It was the first accident due to heavy weather to the Bluenose since she was launched nine years ago.

Merchants' Night At State Theater Every Wednesday Night

Many Enthralling Songs Figure in Tomorrow's Weekly Contribution of the Merchants to Manchester Entertainment—Gifts for the Lucky

Merchants' Night comes to the State theater again tomorrow night, co-featured with John McCormack in "Song O' My Heart." The picture will be shown Wednesday and Thursday but Merchants' Night with its large amount of valuable awards will be held only on the former date so plan to see the show Wednesday night.

The Story
Sean O'Carolan, played by John McCormack, is prevented from marrying the girl of his choice, Mary O'Brien, by the opposition of her aunt, who forces the girl into a rich but unhappy marriage. Later, her husband deserts her. With her two children, Eileen and Tad they must live with the unsympathetic aunt.

Sean, heartbroken, stays on in the village, encouraged by his singing teacher and admired by his neighbors.

Eileen falls in love with Fergus O'Donnell but again the aunt interferes and Fergus goes to Dublin to make his fortune.

Despite unbelief of a pair of Irish cronies, Sean's fame spreads and he goes to America on a concert tour, accompanied by his teacher. The whole town bids him goodbye. Mary feels that the last tie of their shattered romance is gone.

In America, Sean is a great success. On the eve of his most important appearance, he has a premonition of trouble. At that moment, Mary is dying in Ireland, her last act being to write a letter to Sean asking him to care for her children.

Sean cancels his engagements and returns in time to help Eileen and Fergus. Fergus fails to win his fortune, but Sean tells him he has great plans for him, so he and Eileen can marry. He promises to take young Tad to America.

ABOUT PRODUCTION
Theme
Romantic drama, with songs, in search of a girl of 17 to play the which a great singer guides a pair of young lovers in the path of love, preventing them from making the same mistake that blighted his own early romance. Out of his own sorrow, he brings happiness to others.

Where Filmed

You'll Enjoy
The voice of the world's greatest lyric tenor in eleven songs.
Delightful scene where McCormack sings to a group of children.
Beautiful rendition of Eugene

Field's "Little Boy Blue," and given a pictorial setting.

Drama, pathos, tenderness, charm he puts into "Rose of Tralee" for Effie Ellsler and Alice Joyce.

"Hear You Calling Me," sung as even John McCormack has never sung it before. A tribute to the clarity of Fox movietone.

Exchange of repartes and Irish wit that passes between J. M. Kerrigan and Farrell Macdonald.

The beautiful love scenes between John Garrick and Maureen O'Sullivan.

The many glimpses of beautiful Ireland.

Irrepressible Tommy Clifford, just eleven years of age. One of film-dom's greatest discoveries.

BOLTON DEMS PLAN TO GET AFTER WHITMANS

Win a Majority of Selectmen and Propose to Do Something About That Queer Voting.

Bolton went Democratic yesterday for the first time in years and one Republican as members of the Board of Selectmen. R. Kneeland Jones was named first selectman with 92 votes, Justice of the Peace Lewis D. Eaton second selectman, with 94 votes, and William R. French was renamed to the board with 84 votes. The first two are Democrats.

With the return of the Democrats to control, further action is expected in the case of Mr. and Mrs. John Whitman who were elected to vote yesterday although it is asserted they are not citizens. Judge Eaton challenged their right to vote but the moderator allowed them to cast their ballot. The previous board of selectmen had refused to act on the case but with the Democrats now in power action is expected. The Whitmans are classed as Republicans.

SLOW TEMPO DANCING THIS SEASON'S MODE

Wirtallas See Revival of Old Time Grace on Ball Room Floors; Start Classes Soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Wirtalla, teachers of dancing, will open their school at Orange hall next Saturday at 1:30, and on Friday afternoon of this week will begin their fifth season as instructors at the High school. Mr. Wirtalla is president of the Dancing Teachers' Club of Connecticut.

Mrs. Wirtalla is also a member of the state club. During the recent normal school at Hartford session five celebrated teachers from New York exemplified the newest in their special lines.

The Wirtallas say that everything is to be on the slow tempo this year and a revival of graceful dances of past years is anticipated.

BOOZE BOATS SEIZED

New London, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Coast Guard destroyer force headquarters here announced receipt of a report today from the Brenton Reef Coast Guard which it is charged unloaded liquor at Newport Beach the morning of September 30, were seized by Coast Guardsmen from the station. The place of seizure was reported to be Fall River. No detailed report was made but the seized craft were named as the Overland and the Alibi II.

Early Sept. 30 Coast Guardsmen from the Brenton Reef station seized 500 cases of assorted liquor as the contraband was being landed on Newport Beach. Two motor trucks and two power dories were also seized.

Coast Guardsmen in the detail which made the seizure of the liquor reported the speedboats landing the liquor had been identified and were instructed by the collector of customs at Providence to locate and seize the craft, according to information received at the destroyer force headquarters. The seizure of the Overland and the Alibi II resulted.

STORM LASHES TEXAS

Baumont, Tex. Oct. 7.—(AP)—Two houses were demolished and about twenty were unroofed and otherwise damaged by a windstorm that struck a small area here early today.

The wind came with a terrific roar and was accompanied by strange lights, those who lived in the affected section said.

One man said he saw a ball of fire resembling a comet come close to the ground and rebound into the sky.

Four inches of rain fell during the night. No casualties were reported. It was the third windstorm within twelve hours in a radius of only a few hundred miles.

Twenty persons were believed injured in Houston county near Crockett when a storm cut a path near there and strong wind in Houston blew a street car off the track and did slight damage to property.

RAPS FOOTBALL

New Haven, Oct. 7.—(AP)—The Yale News, undergraduate daily, today returned to its criticism of early football under the caption "Lambs led to the slaughter..." by commenting on the use by Yale Saturday of three teams against Maryland. It says the question at issue is "instinctive sportsmanship."

The News said it thought Harvard's way of playing a double-header as it did Saturday, was to be preferred as a means of toughening substitutes.

NEW RED PETITION

Hartford, Oct. 7.—(AP)—A second petition containing about 425 names urging that nominalness of the Communist Party be given a place on the ballots in the November elections, had been filed today with Town Clerk John A. Gleason. A previous petition with 900 names was withdrawn recently by its sponsors after inaccuracies had been noted. The new petition has been turned over to registrars of voters Andrew G. Nyström and William W. Cotter to determine if the signers are qualified voters in Hartford.

OPEN FORUM

JAIL SLOGAN CONTI'S, SAYS DR. E. G. DOLAN

Editor of The Herald, Dear Sir:

In your zealous desire to drive away the voters of the Democratic Party, you have made a misstatement of fact; namely, that Mr. Smith and not Mr. Ferraro coined the slogan: "Let's send Angelo to Jail."

Had you been at the convention that so enthusiastically nominated Mr. Paonessa, or had you carried the Associated Press story of the same, you would have found that the expression was first used by the Hon. Francis Conti of Hartford. He advanced this true expression, seconding the nomination of Mr. Paonessa. If either Mr. Ferraro or Mr. Smith have since been using it, they are only repeating, not only the desire of those of the same extraction nationally as Mr. Paonessa, but to a great demand on the part of the entire county.

Mr. Paonessa is wholly satisfied and quite happy with his place on the ticket. He will be here in Manchester the latter part of the month, to so state to the people of this town.

Now let us look on the other side of the picture. Was the same consideration accorded to Judge Francis Pallotti? In 1928 he was desirous to become the Republican candidate for lieutenant governor. He hardly needs restatement here in regard to the unfair treatment given to him by the Republican machine. His name was not on the Republican ticket in 1928 for any office, nor does his or any other person of his race appear on the Republican ballot this year.

Agent your editorial: "The Man For The Job." May the writer ask, if it is quite dignified for Judge Warren Burrows to retain his position on the United States Bench, while he is running for political office? If it is not illegal, is it not contrary to all of the traditions of the legal profession and the judiciary? Is it not a tremendous step down from the high office of United States District Judge to the Attorney Generalship of the State of Connecticut? Is Mr. Borahback, because Judge Burrows has not been highly acceptable as a member of that great court, also just letting him out? Is the Republican party just giving him the same ungenerous treatment they dealt out to Congressman Fenwick?

Very truly yours, EDWARD G. DOLAN.

LIONS MAKE PLANS FOR WILLIMANTIC MEETING

District Gathering Next Week Promises to Be Big Affair; Lions Learn About "High Power."

Plans for participation in the District Assembly get-together meeting of Lions clubs of Manchester, Rockville, Stafford Springs and Willimantic, to be held in the Hooker Hotel, Willimantic, next Tuesday evening, were made at the weekly dinner meeting of the Manchester Lions club held in the Hotel Sheridan last night.

The object of the meeting as outlined by George C. Bagley president of the Manchester Lions club, is to assist in promoting the extension of Lions clubs in each of the New England districts, through association of the various club members at stated periods.

A preliminary canvass indicated that a large delegation from the local club would be present at the Willimantic meeting, at which over 100 members from the four towns have signified their intention of attending. A fine dinner is planned by the Willimantic Lions club, to be followed by several good speakers.

Archie Kilpatrick of the Herald staff gave the Lions club a short talk on the methods employed by California real estate developers to sell land to the annual crop of tourists.

The attendance campaign, begun two weeks ago with two teams under the captaincy of Ernest Roy and Hugh Campbell, has created much interest, last night's attendance being the largest in several months.

Francisco Cambo, Spain's richest man, has lost his volca. But there is no evidence to show hush money had anything to do with it.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

October 11th has been designated as National Fire prevention week. It is expected that every Boy Scout of Manchester will do his duty effectively. It is suggested that every first class scout who has not passed his merit badge in firemanship should do his best to complete the test this week.

Every scout in Manchester District is requested to make a thorough search of his home and other buildings he goes to and note fire hazards and then speak to his parents and others responsible for same and suggest methods for correcting.

President Hoover wants Boy Scouts, scouters, school children as well as adults, to help save life and property by giving up dangerous ways of handling fires and by removing hazardous conditions from their homes. Probably some parents may not hear of fire prevention week unless Scouts tell them about it. The Manchester trucks are to collect rubbish this week and while you are cleaning out clean up the rags, papers, litter and junk and discard them. Paints, oils, volatile liquids should be tightly corked and placed in cool dry places safely. Chimney flues should be cleaned, defective pipes replaced and new ones installed.

Scouts are given wonderful aids in firemanship merit badge pamphlets. Chief Foy and Chief Coleman will give you full information on fire prevention as they so kindly have in the past years. About 10,000 people lose their lives annually in the U. S. A. from fire. Millions of dollars worth of property is destroyed. Scouts of Manchester are asked to take part in this week's campaign.

Scout News Every troop in Manchester attended the Yale-Maryland football game. Once a year the Yale Athletic Association extend to the children of Connecticut of Grammar School age this privilege. The scouts of Connecticut attend in very large number. Many thanks to the Committeemen and friends who supplied the cars for the transportation and the scouts will talk of this enjoyment for years to come.

Troop 8 Troop 8 met Monday evening at Manchester Green School with 17 scouts in attendance. The first part of the evening the patrols took up compass study under their leaders in preparation for a game called "Compass Swat." Those boys who swatted the wrong point had to run the gauntlet. Field Executive J. G. Dean gave a demonstration on knot tying, fuzz-stick whittling and fire by flint and steel. Each patrol tried the above to find its champion. Great interest was shown in the fire by flint and steel. This is made by striking a piece of flint with the blade of a jack-knife and catching the sparks on a fine wick; then blowing the wick up into a blaze taking about three seconds. The boys closed the evening with a game of "Paddie the fellow in front." Three new members were taken in. Committeeman Walter Buckley visited the troop. Three automobile loads of scouts from Troop 8 took in the Yale-Maryland Football game.

CLINTON HOUSE BURNS

Clinton, Conn., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Fire early yesterday swept the Clinton House, ancient hotel which has been a landmark here since Revolutionary days, caused damage estimated at $4,000.

A young couple stopping at the hotel discovered the fire and awakened other occupants. All escaped safely.

Moscow, U. S. S. R., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Seventeen persons were burned to death and 14 others badly burned during a cinema performance at the club at Astrakhan Monday night. Most of the casualties were children.

TO DECORATE CAPTAIN

New London, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Captain Alfred C. Cottrell, U. S. Marine Corps, commanding officer of the Marine Barracks here, will be presented a Nicaraguan medal of merit at the Submarine base Saturday.

The Major General Commandant of the Marine Corps has forwarded the medal to Captain Wilson Brown, commander of the base.

The medal has been conferred on Captain Cottrell by His Excellency J. M. Moncada the president of the Nicaragua in recognition of the exceptional service rendered by that officer to the republic of Nicaragua. Presentation of the medal will be by Captain Brown before the entire personnel of the base and Marine Barracks.

Heart Hungry

By LAURA LOU BROOKMAN
AUTHOR OF "RASH ROMANCE"

© 1930, by NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
Adventure enters the life of Celia Mitchell, 17, when she learns the father she has supposed dead is alive and wealthy. She leaves her unpretentious home in Baltimore for a home in New York with her father, John Mitchell, and her aristocratic grandmother.

Margaret Rogers, her mother, divorced Mitchell and remarried and is now a widow. Barney Shields, young newspaper photographer, is in love with the girl and before leaving Baltimore Celia promised to be loyal to his love.

She is lonely in her new home. Mitchell asks Evelyn Parsons, beautiful widow, to introduce the girl to young people. Mrs. Parsons considers Celia a means to win Mitchell's affection and agrees. She invites the girl to her Long Island home for a week-end. Tod Jordan, fascinating but with a dubious reputation, is attentive to Celia. Mitchell joins the house party on Sunday.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXII

Evelyn Parsons entered the room. She wore a fluttering turquoise negligee.

"Oh, my dear! I didn't think you were asleep—I wouldn't have wakened you."

Celia propped herself up on one rounded elbow and rubbed her eyes. She smiled carelessly.

"Guess I just dropped off the first thing. Has anything happened?"

"No, I only came in for a bedtime chat. Shut your eyes again! I'm going right away."

"Don't go! Look lovely in that shade of blue."

Mrs. Parsons wrapped the fragile garment about her and sat down on the opposite side of Celia's bed.

"Here's a good time this evening," she asked carelessly.

"Yes, I did. And I enjoyed the tennis this afternoon. Tod, Lis's wonderful tennis player, isn't she?"

"Lis's good at all sports," Mrs. Parsons agreed, "except the rather important one of attracting the men. I noticed that a certain little young lady had more dancing partners than she knew what to do with tonight."

"Oh, Mrs. Parsons—"

"No need to blush. I saw it all right. And why not? All men like to dance with such a pretty girl as you are, Celia. I must have you here often. You'll make all my parties successes."

It was the sort of talk to which a girl of Celia's age is susceptible. Mrs. Parsons casually brought Tod Jordan's name into the conversation.

"He was ever so popular on ship-board," Evelyn said. "My dear, there were women and girls who actually dogged his footsteps. He didn't pay the slightest attention to any of them. I guess that's why I couldn't help but notice how attentive he was from the minute he met you. Of course, he's that dark type that usually does attract."

"Oh, but you're mistaken," Mrs. Parsons. He was just being polite to me. And anyhow I only danced with him once."

Celia said these things because she wanted to hear Mrs. Parsons' opinion.

deny them. Perhaps if Evelyn thought Jordan had been impressed it might be true. She asked:

"Only once? Why, that's impossible. I know he came to me half a dozen times this evening asking where he could find you. Celia Mitchell, I do believe you've been coquetting!"

Celia laughed.

"I couldn't," she said. "I wouldn't know how to."

"Tell that to someone else, my dear! Someone who's younger than Evelyn Parsons. Well, I only hope you won't be hard on the amiable creature. Tell me—do you like these young men as well as the ones you knew in Baltimore?"

"Oh, there weren't any—I mean no young men in Baltimore? None, none. You know you can trust me, Celia. Who's the one lad in your heart?"

"There isn't—that is, we—"

"What's his name?"

Celia forgot her caution.

"There is someone," she said shyly. "I mean there's a boy I like awfully well. He's—well, he doesn't earn very much yet, but he's going to some day. He's a newspaper photographer, and he does the most exciting things. Of course we aren't really engaged, but he says some day he's going to marry me. You'd like him, too, Mrs. Parsons. I know you would! He's tall and slim, and he has the most wonderful eyes. They're gray. Barney's his name."

"Barney," Mrs. Parsons repeated. "Is that all?"

"Barney Shields. Don't you think it's a pretty name? I do. And he, Barney's always been terribly nice to me."

There was a far-away look in Celia Mitchell's eyes. She was thinking how tender and gentle Barney Shields' voice could be. She could see his gray eyes looking at her. Celia forgot about Mrs. Parsons. She did not see the hard, tightening lines about the older woman's mouth.

"Did you ever approve of this engagement?" Evelyn asked.

"But we really aren't engaged! We couldn't, be you see, Barney said it wouldn't be right because he hasn't enough money, and he didn't want me to give up coming to New York and everything. Of course mother likes him, but she doesn't know he said anything to me about getting married. I thought it would only worry her."

"But do you care for him a lot?"

Celia nodded her head. "It was coming to have someone to whom she could talk in this confidential way. Mrs. Parsons seemed so understanding."

"I suppose," you miss your mother a good deal?"

"The girl's face sobered.

"Lis," she agreed.

"Does she ever come to New York?"

"Oh, no. She couldn't do that. You see, mother works. She does sewing for Mrs. Parsons. It's a very nice place. She's worked there for years and years."

Mrs. Parsons' brows raised expectantly.

"Tonight," Celia went on impulsively, "father said something awfully nice. He said he reminded him of mother when she was a girl. Wasn't that sweet?"

she was really helping the flowers to grow.

Fred Parsons laughed. "If Ben is willing and will take you where you can dig and where not to, I guess you can garden to your heart's content," she said. Ben was the gray-haired gardener who had taken care of the grounds around Larchwood for 50 years. He was tactful when Celia found him clipping a hedge of spirea bushes. When Ben found she was a willing listener to his tales of prize roses and chrysanthemums which he had raised, the morning sped along and they became close friends. The gardener sent her back to the house bearing one of his choice black roses.

In the afternoon Celia wrote a letter to Barney Shields and another to her mother. She told both of them about the week-end visit, adding to her mother's note several paragraphs about her lovely new gown. In neither letter, however, did she write anything about Tod Jordan. She had begun to wonder if she could have been mistaken about seeing him with Mrs. Brooks.

They drove to the country club for dinner. Mrs. Parsons seemed to have a great many acquaintances, and she introduced Celia to everyone. After dinner there was dancing, and Celia found that apparently it made no difference with most of these young people that they had never seen her before. Evelyn played bridge and Celia had plenty of dancing partners. A large part of the evening she spent with a good-natured youth whose first name was "Red" and who seemed to have no other. They were dancing when Mrs. Parsons came to say it was time to go home.

"Oh, Mrs. Parsons," the girl said as the car sped over the winding road, "I'm so glad you asked me to stay! Today has been wonderful."

Evelyn acknowledged this with a smile. "We must plan more wonderful days," she said.

There was excitement from the minute Celia appeared at the breakfast table next morning.

"Surprise!" Mrs. Parsons greeted her. "List last telephone. She's giving a swimming party this afternoon, and you're invited. I've already accepted the invitation for you. Of course you want to go! Kate and Walter Carr are going to stop for you at two o'clock."

Yes, Celia wanted to go. She ran upstairs as soon as breakfast was finished and packed her swimming things. She had a neat green beach case large enough to hold her jersey suit and cap and the little Japanese clogs for her feet.

When she did a good deal of fidgeting until two o'clock arrived, and down the driveway she saw the brilliant blue roadster Walter Carr drove. Celia was waiting when the car stopped. Amid gay cries she climbed the rear seat and the roadster whisked away.

It was nearly an hour's drive to the beach. The place was a boat and swimming club, which seemed to be the favorite resort of the young people in Lis' Dutchman cove. There was a large white club house with broad verandas, boat houses and smaller buildings and, stretching as far as the eye could see to right and left, a beach clear, gleaming sand.

Beyond was Long Island Sound. The dark, rolling water plunged and splashed and broke in foam-topped waves.

Lis was waiting to greet them. "Hurray!" she cried. "Hurry up and get dressed! Everybody else is here!"

Celia followed Kate to the dressing rooms. There were a dozen girls there getting into bathing attire. Most of them were browned by sun. There was much joking and laughing.

In less than five minutes Celia had changed her one-piece suit and tied a gray orange bandanna about her head. Then she stepped into the clogs and ran after Kate Duncan out to the sand.

One thought of introductions. There were young men waiting down on the shore. Some of them were already in the water.

"Hello, there!"

She was facing Tod Jordan. Evidently he had just come from a dip. "How do you do?" said Celia. Then she turned and, with a running dive, plunged into the water. She began swimming rapidly with easy strokes.

Jordan swam away. He turned as a sharp cry cut the air.

MISS BULKLEY RESIGNS
Hartford, Oct. 7.—(AP)—The executive board of the Connecticut League of Women Voters has accepted the resignation of Miss Mary Bulkley of Hartford, as president of the organization, it was announced today. Miss Bulkley in her resignation said she had not sufficient time to serve as president and as director of the first region of the National League of Women Voters. Miss Bulkley first submitted her resignation last June but consented to continue in office temporarily. Nominations to fill her unexpired term will be made at a meeting of the executive board Wednesday in New Haven.

FALL GARDEN ACTIVITIES
By D. VICTOR LUMSDEN
Bureau of Plant Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture

When tops on peony plants have died down, cut the dead stalks to the ground level. Remove all dead material from the peony bed and burn it, for plant pests frequently live over winter on dead vegetation. If a manure mulch is to be used over the winter, do not pile it over the crowns of the plants, because it is very likely to cause serious decay in their roots. It is best applied after the ground is frozen hard.

Do not cut the tops from iris plants. Dead foliage may be removed, but many green leaves will survive the winter and will continue their growth next spring. A mulch of straw manure on iris after the ground has frozen tends to prevent the roots from heaving from the soil by action of the frost.

Remove All Dead Stalks
All the dead stalks of herbaceous perennials may be removed as soon as they die back. It is best in all cases to burn this refuse. The fertilizing value is slight and burning may check insects and diseases.

Go over your garden labels and replace or reletter any that are likely to be illegible next spring. If labels are attached with wire, make certain it does not cut tight enough to girdle the stem.

Store Away Good Soil
If you will need soil for potting plants or for starting early flower crops, it is better to store the winter or early spring, store some in the cellar or a garage where it will be protected from rain and snow. If it is sprinkled a day or two before it is to be used it will be in good condition.

Hardy chrysanthemums will flourish long after the first frosts if a fabric cover protects them during nights when frosts occur. Erect a wooden frame to hold the fabric so that it does not rest directly on the plants.

T. J. KELLEY DIES
Hartford, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Thomas J. Kelley, for the past 18 years manager of Hartford county, and secretary of the employers' association, died at his home in West Hartford this morning. He was 63 years old.

Formerly prominent in Hartford as a newspaper editor, Mr. Kelley gave up this work in 1912, when he was appointed manager of the Manufacturers' Association.

For a number of years he was a reporter on the old Hartford Post, and later was city editor. Following that, he was associate editor of the old Hartford Sunday Globe. For several years he was Associated Press correspondent for Hartford.

The newest necklace is the jeweled collar of beads or scintillating brilliants.

These are fashioned to fit the neckline perfectly and are cut just like demure round collars, many of them having little bows, jabots, tassels and other tailored touches, where they fasten in front.

Some of them have the beads worked out in checkered or flowered design. Others are just rows upon rows of gay little brilliants. They are exceptionally good on velvet or crepe afternoon frocks and of course, very, very good on the very young.

Hints On How To Keep Well by World Famous Authority

TYING BLOOD VESSEL FIRST STEP IN CONTROLLING HEMORRHAGE

ABSOLUTE REST AND WARMTH ALSO IMPORTANT

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBURN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Anemia is a term used to describe any condition in which the number of red cells in the blood or the amount of red coloring matter carried by the cells is greatly reduced.

Such a reduction may occur as the result of hemorrhage following a wound or following the rupture of an ulcer or some tissue within the body. Sometimes the blood is destroyed by the action of some poison circulating in the blood, such poisons being either chemical or bacterial.

The chemical poisons may be actual inorganic chemical substances found in industry or may be organic or protein substances resulting from tissue changes.

Sometimes the number of red cells or the amount of red coloring matter is reduced due to the fact that the organs concerned in the formation of such cells are not acting up to their proper capacity and an insufficient number of cells is formed.

There is evidence that the bone marrow is concerned in the formation of cells and there is also evidence that the spleen, the liver and the wall of the stomach are concerned in giving proper stimulus to the formation of the cells and in the entire biologic process.

Since the mechanism of cell formation is so complicated, it is not properly understood. More has been learned in the past 10 years than in the previous 10 centuries, but even now thousands of research workers in laboratories all over the world are concerning themselves with the details of this intricate process.

The details are vitally important, since a proper number of red blood cells and a proper amount of red coloring matter is absolutely essential to health and indeed to life itself.

When a person has a severe hemorrhage or extensive bleeding at any point in the body, the first step to be taken is to control the hemorrhage usually by tying off the blood vessel responsible. It might be impossible to reach the blood vessel because of its deposit in the tissue in such a case, a ligature or tourniquet is placed around the tissue containing the vessel and the application of pressure causes a discontinuation of the bleeding.

Such hemorrhages as result from nose bleed, hemorrhoids, cuts of the skin, the generative organs of women, and obstetrical conditions are usually easily controllable. There are, on the other hand, hemorrhages resulting from changes in the blood vessel, from infestation with intestinal worms, from rupture of dilated blood vessels, and similar conditions which may be uncontrollable by any easy method.

Hemorrhages from the nose may be stopped by packing the nose with gauze, which exerts pressure at the spot of hemorrhage. There are certain steps which should invariably be taken in the case of difficult hemorrhages. These include: absolute rest in bed, elevation of the foot of the bed, and keeping the patient warm by the use of hot water bottles, electric pad, or plenty of blankets.

A severe hemorrhage is usually associated with symptoms of fear and this must be controlled by quieting the patient through psychological measure or by the giving of sedative drugs.

YOUR CHILDREN

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Six used to be the age for breaking your youngest generation's home ties and leading them sacrificially to the altar of school.

Then kindergartens came along and bold pioneers sent their children adventuring at the age of four. A few years ago social welfare workers established a school for babies. They called it a "Nursery School," where babies of busy mothers who had business or professional interests outside their homes could be left in care of competent, trained nurses for a few hours each day.

Like most innovations it created a howl all over the country.

The mother's place was with her baby. With their babies coming to when a woman left her offspring with strangers just to fritter a few hours away at a hobby?

If these mothers had been going off to movies or bridge parties or even to dances in the evening, and left their babies with nannies, maids, the neighbors, or what have you said a word. But painting pictures, or writing, or teaching classes, or doing part-time work in an office was little short of criminal.

SWEETEN ACID STOMACH THIS PLEASANT WAY

When people experience distress two hours after eating—suffer from heart-burn, gas, indigestion—nine times out of ten it's excess acid that's causing their trouble.

The best way—the quickest way to correct this is with an alkali. And Phillips Milk of Magnesia is an alkali, in the harmless, most pleasant and palatable form. It's the form physicians prescribe, what hospitals use; which millions have come to depend upon in over 50 years of steadily increasing use.

A spoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia in a glass of water neutralizes many times its volume in excess acid; and does it at once. In five minutes, the symptoms of excess acid disappear. To know this perfect way is to be through with crude methods forever.

Be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. A less perfect product may not act the same. All drug stores have the generous 25c and 50c bottles. Full directions for its many uses are always in the package.—Adv.

Hartford Mother Solves Problem

MY little daughter, Thelma, caused me many anxious moments," says Mrs. C. A. Field, 83 Capitol Avenue, Hartford, Conn. "She was dizzy, didn't want to play and had very little appetite."

"She suffered from constipation until I decided to give her some California Fig Syrup. Fig Syrup built Thelma up remarkably. She is now strong and active; has a good appetite and digestion; and quite the picture of health as you can see."

For over 50 years, California Fig Syrup has been helping bilious, headache, weak, constipated babies and children. Doctors by thousands recommend this pure vegetable product. Children love its flavor. It acts gently to open the bowels in colds or children's diseases. It cleanses a child's system harmlessly and in a hurry. Bowels become regular with its use and remain so, because they are toned and strengthened by this wonderful combination of pure fig syrup and other of nature's gifts.

Look for the name California when buying. That marks the genuine.

ONE BAD PITCH FATAL TO GRIMES SAYS BRAUCHER

Shoulder-High Ball Is Just the Kind Foxx Likes Best; Smash Stunned Crowd.

BY WILLIAM BRAUCHER

St. Louis, Oct. 6.—One badly pitched baseball may be the factor that decides world series of 1930. Buriel Grimes pitched it, and it was a ball shoulder-high over the outside corner of the plate. At the time when Buriel pitched it, unfortunately Jimmy Foxx, the young Maryland mauler was standing in the region of the home plate with a bat in his hands. You can't throw baseballs shoulder-high on the outside corner of the plate under certain conditions. One of the conditions is that Jimmy Foxx must not be anywhere near the plate. If you do throw a baseball shoulder-high, when Jimmy Foxx is in a thrilling battle of pitchers and batters, you are taking your life into your hands. Buriel Grimes found that out. The baseball club that Connie Mack brought down to Missouri for a few delirious games has a nasty habit. Pitchers have been known to go along for eight innings, hurling

CARDINALS STILL CONFIDENT THEY WILL DEFEAT A'S

Street Says "We Won Two Straight Before and Can Do It Again."

BY BRIAN BELL

Enroute to Philadelphia from St. Louis, Oct. 7.—(AP)—The Athletics of Philadelphia and Cards of St. Louis today were well en route on their way back to Philadelphia to resume their world series battle on the American League grounds. Both teams had reason to be satisfied with their three day stay in National League territory. The Cards won two games to get them back in the series while the Athletics captured the final Missouri clash in a thrilling battle of pitchers and batters. The Cards won a game ahead and only one decision away from another world championship. Manager Mack today made no forecast of the ultimate end of the series except to say he had faith in his "boys."

"That was a great game closing our stay in St. Louis," said the veteran manager, "a game of superb pitching and certainly it must have been a very interesting one to watch, even though the result of course did not please our St. Louis friends."

Street confident. The "Gabby" general of the Cards, the weather-beaten Charles Street, "We can win two straight from the Athletics," he said, "this we will do. We have done it already in this series and we can do it again, of that I am positive."

The final game in St. Louis, won 2 to 0 by the Athletics in the ninth inning when Jimmy Foxx drove a homer high and far into the left field bleacher seats among a group of disgruntled customers, was a gripping struggle.

For seven innings the 37-year-old Buriel Grimes, a courageous cagey pitcher, and George Earnshaw, younger and bigger, but no cratier, battled on even scoreless terms. The day was dark with a low ceiling and rain threatening throughout, and all in all it was a pitcher's day for the sharpshooters on the mound.

In the eighth inning Earnshaw moved out of the picture to make way for a pinch hitter. The honors were even with his rival for each had allowed two hits in seven chukkers. The pinch hitter got on, but in spite of the partial success of the Mackian strategy, Grimes pitched himself out of this hole.

Great Old Game. Lefty Grove, the speedball king of the A's came in to succeed Earnshaw and as he held the Cards rudderless during the eighth and ninth innings and as the pitcher of record when Foxx hit for the circuit, he was credited the victory.

Not since the third game of the 1923 series between the N. Y. Giants and N. Y. Yankees when Arthur Neff blanked the Yanks 1 to 0 has a game been played in the classic with so little scoring. Oddly enough that game too was decided by a home run, a prodigious clout from the bat of Casey Stengel breaking it up.

In the sixth game of the series at Shibe Park tomorrow, "Wild Bill" Hallahan will pitch for the Cards and Earnshaw or Grove, or both, will do a turn for the house of Mack. Hallahan held the American League champs to seven hits and no runs at St. Louis Saturday and his mates counted on his sturdy left arm to draw them level again. Manager Mack gave no suggestion as usual of his pitching nomination, but no one thought it would be any other than one of the two aces, the left-handed Grove or the right-handed Earnshaw.

wonderful ball against them. Then, in the ninth, before you know it something happened. Some little mistake was made. The result usually was murder. It was murder here today, and Buriel Grimes, who pitched one of the games and brainiest games of his career, was the goat it was tough on Buriel, after pitching a game like that. For eight innings he had mowed down the Mackman one after another. Grimes great pitcher was working like a slot machine. It was mechanically perfect. The job was great. Buriel pitched himself out of holes when it seemed that surely he could not win. Only one more inning was left, many things can happen in one inning, however, as it turned out, just one thing occurred. It was the mistaken pitch. Grimes had his choice of two ways to go about this thing. He could have walked Foxx, after Mickey Cochrane had walked to start the fatal ninth inning, but he chose the brave way out. The ball that he threw to Foxx was characteristic of Buriel. He took a chance and the fates fooled him. It was a game that Grimes did not deserve to lose. He hurried one of the greatest performances ever seen in any world series, for eight innings. In the seventh the bases were full against him with one out. And Bishop and Dykes coming up. Buriel bent one across Bishop's chest and forced Haas, Bottomley to Wilson. Dykes forced Moore, Gelbert to Frisch, and that inning was all over.

In the last inning, Mickey Cochrane loitering at the plate until he drew walk when a splitter failed to break. Grimes pitched to Simmons forcing the Athletics' head man to fly to Gelbert. He might have walked Foxx, and it might have proved to be smart baseball had he done so.

That is not the way Buriel Grimes pitches, however. He chose to walk nobody. He pitched to Foxx. The result was a tremendous home run over the left field barrier. As the ball sailed its way, you could have heard a whisper traveling all the way from the center field bleachers in to the press box. It brought defeat to Buriel Grimes. But he remains a great pitcher—except for that one mistake.

The one mistake may cost the Cardinals the series—for Wednesday in Philadelphia, the firm of Grove and Earnshaw is ready to do some more business at the old stand.

Wade Starts Last Year At 'Bama; Won Three Titles In Seven Years

Tuscaloosa, Ala.—(AP)—Walter Wade, who turns out fire-eating football teams and handsome heroes for the movies, starts his last season at Alabama. He possesses one of the best seven-year coaching records in the country, but only prospects for 1930. His move to Duke in 1931 takes from 'Bama one of the principal figures in Dixie's sensational gridiron advance during the last decade. Wade came to Alabama in 1923 from Vanderbilt, where he soaked up a lot of lore assisting Dan McGugin, and made good from the start. A defeat at the hands of Florida knocked him out of a Southern conference championship that year, but in 1924, 1925 and 1926 the Columbia, S. C.—(AP)—Edward "Bru" Boineau, one of Dixie's best halfbacks, is that instead of a cripple because he wanted to be like other boys—and threw his crutches away. To everybody's surprise it gained strength and he hobbled to school without crutches. In a few years he was as good as new. Boineau blossomed as a sophomore flash at South Carolina in 1928 and was a sensation of a weak eleven in 1929. He accomplished 85-yard dashes against Clemson and Maryland, scampered 50 yards for a touchdown against Citadel and ran 75 yards for a score against Presbyterian college. His punting saved the Gamecocks more than once.

THIS IS WHAT THE MAJORS FACE

Slipping down the field like pale, gleaming ghosts, football players of Drake and Oregon universities brought night football to its picturesque high-water mark in a game at Soldiers Field, Chicago, won by Oregon, 14 to 7. This photo, taken under dazzling floodlights twice as strong as any used previously, which illuminated every inch of the playing field in the world's largest stadium, shows Don Watts, Oregon halfback, making a good gain after snaring a lateral pass. This is how the game over at the Hurley Stadium between the Manchester Majors and Bristol Maple Ends will look tomorrow night.

Yost Says Football Rules Are Okay Now

Michigan Mentor Sees No Need for Further Alterations in Code for Several Years; Cites Improved Rulings.

BY FIELDING H. YOST

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 7.—(AP)—For 40 years changing the rules of football has fascinated coaches and officials. But after the game has been kneaded these four decades it now has assumed a shape in which the rules committee intimates it should remain for a number of years. I consider the game of today a better one to play and to watch than ever before in its history. It is one of "openness." The style makes necessary more boys of speed and alertness. The 100-pound lad has more chance than ever before "to make the team."

An "anti-fumble" rule has eliminated fumble touchdowns, encouraged double passing, known generally as lateral passing, triple passing; in short, there now is a greater reliance placed on plays where skill and speed bring added yardage.

The last process in the evolution that has resulted in this modern game came about through the codification of the 28 rules of previous years. They have been consolidated into 13 divisions, each presenting a distinct department of the game.

The new arrangement and wording have made learning the game and instructive teaching of football much easier. But the manifold things that can happen on a football field still leave a thorough knowledge of the game the reward of hard study only.

As long ago as 1905 I wrote a book that had some bearing on the important work of clarifying the football rules. I used little black corner headings to introduce each rule, and presented the penalty for violation immediately following. The system was used later in many rule books. I think it was a distinct aid to the study of the game's regulations.

Three-fourths of football rules are made for administration of the game. Consequently these are of little importance to the run of mine spectator. The thing that counts with him are the spirit and zest, the headlines of the autumn air, the running, passing, kicking, blocking, tackling. Then there is that intangible something present in any meeting of young men in games.

Here follow some of the changes from the old regulations in the new codified rules:

1. Permission to mark the field in some color other than white. The concession was made to allow for colors that offer better possibilities of contrast in night games.
2. A stop after a shift or huddle is made more certain. The referees are now instructed to time the stop interval, that is, after the shift and before the ball is snapped, by counting rapidly 1-2-3-4-5-6.
3. Possibility of field goals is increased by a stipulation that after a free kick on a fair catch the defense may not charge until the ball has been kicked. The former regulation permitted the charge when the ball touched the ground.
4. Emphasis is placed on former rules against ineligible interference to defenders against a forward pass. None of these changes, it is obvious, curtails the openness of the game. Nor do I favor any that might. But in the last analysis, the kind, type and spirit of play and of the game are in the hands of the coaches and players. The codified rules give both a better opportunity.

HOOKS AND SLIDES

HOOKS AND SLIDES

THE NEW ARMY GAME

The Red Wrath is gone. If any of the dozen or more cadets seeking backfield posts ever nursed the hope of filling the shoes that sped "Onward Christian" Cagle to football fame at West Point, that hope has been squelched by this time. "The individual star system never is stronger than the individual, who may be put out of action or boxed up effectively almost any time."

It is Major Ralph Sasse speaking—the Major Sasse who 12 years ago crashed the Hindenburg line with a flock of Uncle Sam's portable fortresses—the Major Sasse who is commander-in-chief of Uncle Sam's future generals who are more concerned at present with a game called football.

"I will be perfectly satisfied if no outstanding individual shows up on this team, and I will not be depressed if we do not place a man on anybody's All-America selections," continued the major.

The Team's the Thing

Army will put a team of eleven men on the field this fall. Among those eleven men, four will pass kick or carry the ball. The remaining seven will play shoulder to shoulder in the line, laying low their opponents much the same as a barrage to screen the tanks the major once commanded.

Army's new catch plays down the individual and builds up team play. He is stressing an elaborate system of attack far more polished than Bill Jones, his predecessor. Of course, it is possible that he would retain the Jones system if there were a Cagle. But the Red Wrath is gone.

Major Sasse's backs on the offensive will be numbered 1, 2, 3 and 4, with the quarterback as No. 4. They may play any place behind the line of scrimmage. Each is a threat to hit the line, slash off the tackles, skirt the ends or handle passes at the throwing or receiving end.

Backs Are Experienced

Chris Cagle is gone, but there is an abundance of pliable timber and the major is building something with it. All but two quarterbacks, Carver and Bowman, who won letters last year as reserves, are sophomores with intercollegiate experience. This fact may have caused criticism at some time or other, but it just happens that they were marking time at the other schools while awaiting the chance to make the grade at West Point.

Two of them, Fies and Frenzler, are former Illinois men. Neither won a football letter on Bob Zuppke's teams. Carnegie Tech gave Cy Letzler a football letter. Colgate did the same for Eddie Herb. With Bowman and Carver, they head the list of the major's ground-gainers.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The milkmaid said, "Well, boys, hello! Where do you think you're going to go? The hill ahead is very steep and you'll get all tired out if you should try to make the top. I'll bet before long you will stop." "Oh, no!" said Scouty. "We will find what it is all about.
"When we start out, all feeling fit, our motto is to never quit. We want to climb this mountain so's to get a pretty view of all the places far below. We'll make it, though we travel slow. It's always fun to seek spots where the things we see are new.
"well, I don't blame you," said the maid. "You all seem brave and unafraid, but maybe you can rest awhile and watch me milk my cow.
When I am done I know that you would like to drink a cup or two.
Just sit right down and watch me.
I will do my milking now."
The Tinymites were glad to rest.
Soon Clowny said, "Ges, you're the best at milking cows I've ever seen.
You make it seem like fun." "Oh, well, I do this every day. It is no job to milk this way," replied the friendly maid. And then her milking task was done.
The Tinsies drank a bit and then they started up the hill again. In 'bout an hour they reached the top. The view from there was great.
The fact that they could see for miles brought forth some "Ohs" and pleasant smiles. And then they all went down the hill at a much faster gait.
They reached Geneva where they found some militia men had gathered 'round. They all were getting excited and doing stunts alone. They all were husky as could be. The Travel Man exclaimed, "You see that makes them good, strong soldiers, which is what the training's for."
(The Tinymites meet a new friend in the next story).

ABOUT TOWN

David Simpson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alice Simpson, formerly of Manchester but now of Springfield, spent the week-end as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Busch of Bissell street.

The Professional Girls will meet at 8 o'clock this evening in the parlors of Center Church House. The subject will be "Vacation Experiences." New members will be welcomed.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Richardson were given a surprise housewarming last evening at their new home on Highland street by about 85 of their relatives and friends. The evening was spent with games and music, vocal and instrumental. Mrs. Stuart Corder gave an amusing recitation. Mrs. James Ford sang a solo and others who sang were Stuart Corder, David Addy, John McComb. Mr. Addy, who is a brother of Mrs. Richardson, in behalf of the gathering presented to Mr. and Mrs. Richardson a magazine rack and floor lamp for their new home. A variety of good things to eat were brought by the guests and were served during the evening.

The newly organized Women's Democratic Club will hold a meeting Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the president, Mrs. Richard G. Rich, 257 East Center street. All women interested in the Democratic party will be welcome.

EMERGENCY DOCTORS

Dr. Edwin C. Higgins and Dr. D. C. Y. Moore will be on duty tomorrow afternoon to answer emergency calls.

Temple Chapter, O. E. S., will begin its regular meeting tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock at the Masonic Temple because of the public entertainment at 8 o'clock for the benefit of the chapter and Sunset Rebekah lodge. Miss Edith Walsh is chairman of the committee and Mrs. Emma L. Nettleton is director of the play, "Twelve Old Maids," to be given by the Rebekahs. There will be special music and refreshments will be on sale.

The Buckland Parent-Teacher association held its first business meeting of the fall last night. The teachers were authorized to pay for transportation of all children in the district who they believe will be benefited by special instruction in the opportunity room at the Eighth District school. It was decided to have the first public whist of the season Monday evening, October 13. A card social followed and coffee and cake was served.

The Ladies' Aid society of the North Methodist church will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2:15 with Mrs. A. F. Lydall of 22 Hudson street. Mrs. T. J. Shaw and Mrs. Nellie Marks will assist the hostess. John A. Derrick is ill at his home in Buckland with pneumonia.

WARD DUFFY TO SPEAK

Ward Duffy, managing editor of the Hartford Times will speak before the Manchester Mothers' club at its October meeting on Friday evening at the South Methodist church. His subject will be "How Shall I Vote This Fall?" Mr. Duffy was formerly a resident of this town, and since moving to West Hartford both Mr. and Mrs. Duffy have frequently been invited to come here to discuss political subjects.

The list of hostesses follows: Mrs. Harry Rylander, Mrs. W. B. Horton, Mrs. T. E. Bronson, Mrs. Arthur Bamforth, Mrs. Louis Grant, Mrs. Theodore Brown, Mrs. John Reinartz, Mrs. Sidney French, Mrs. Arthur Burch, Mrs. Fred Harvey, Mrs. Francis McEvert, Mrs. Russell Post, Mrs. U. J. FIRST LECTURE GIVEN IN LITERATURE COURSE

Fifty Persons Attend Opening Session of Course—Many Teachers After Credits.

More than fifty persons, most of them Manchester school teachers, were present yesterday afternoon when Professor Getchell of Boston University opened a course of 15 lectures in current literature at the High school. About forty of this number are planning to continue with the course. For the most, they are teachers seeking the afforded two points toward a college degree.

Professor Getchell displayed a keen sense of humor and a sparkling wit. At the outset of his talk he told of the difficulty he had in getting out of Boston owing to the influx of thousands of Legionnaires from all parts of the country.

Professor Getchell said in outlining the course that a study would be made of only the best work that has been produced in recent current literature. Four types will be taken up. They are fiction, biography, poetry and miscellaneous—the latter to include essays, drama and other writings.

All members of the class are expected to read a book a week. Professor Getchell said, instead of joining the "Book a Month Club." They are to prepare written reviews in notebooks and the words of the various authors will be discussed in class. There will be no final examination. Whether or not a person has satisfactorily passed the course to obtain the two credit points will be decided by notebook excellence. Those who audit the course may either prepare reviews or not, as they see fit. They are not obligated to participate orally unless they wish.

Professor Getchell's course will be given for an hour and three-quarters each, Monday afternoon in room 23 at the high school starting at 4:15. The course is being operated without profit. During the first session yesterday afternoon, Professor Getchell provided a list of over a hundred books on fiction, biography and miscellaneous works from which the students are to make selections.
