STATE SURPLUS FOR SOLDIERS' RELIEF, PLAN

Republican Candidate Says Present Administration Proposes to Double Veter- ans' Fund in Two Years.

Bridgeport, Oct. 24.—Lieutenant-Governor Ernest E. Rogers, Republican nominee for governor, made the statement at a rally held at the Stratfield Hotel last night, that it is the plan of the Republican state administration to practically double the $2,500,000 Soldiers' Relief Fund by the transfer of the surplus which will exist in the state sinking fund in the next two years.

Lt. Gov. Ernest E. Rogers

"It will be my pleasure, if elected governor," he said, "to recommend such a course, and I am quite confident that the Republican legislature will carry out such a recommendation."

Many Aided
The Republican nominee pointed to the fact that, as a result of the creation of the Soldiers' Relief Fund in 1919, its $1,200,000 income had been distributed among needy veterans and their families in the last eleven years and that the original fund was still intact! While about $110,000 a year is available now for this relief work, he said that, with the increase in the fund by the method proposed, there will be more than $200,000 annually distributed by the state in this relief work.

His address in part follows:—"The act providing for payment to discharged soldiers, sailors, and marines, which was approved in May, 1919 is one of the most constructive pieces of legislation enacted by any state. It is another one of the pioneer policies of Connecticut. Since its enactment it has been copied in various forms by many other states. It was the creation of a Republican legislature and it has been constantly under the guidance of Republican administrations. It is the basis of my discussion this evening."

Bonuses
"A word as to the history of this act. In 1919 the question of a soldiers' bonus was under discussion here as in many other states throughout the country. Bonus bills in some cases had been passed elsewhere. The legislature of 1919, Re-

CONNECTICUT LABOR IS NON-PARTISAN

Sec. Egan Denies Rumor That Unions Are Working for Their Favorites.

Bridgeport, Oct. 24.—(AP)—John J. Egan, secretary of the Connecticut Federation of Labor today in an interview denied reports that the organization is either supporting or attacking a political candidate. "It has been reported that the organization has endorsed some candidates and marked others for defeat."

"We are non-partisan," he said. "We send the labor record of the candidates to our locals for their information but I want to say most emphatically that we do not endorse candidates. This policy has been in operation for many years. Upon receipt of information sent the locals from headquarters the members exercise their rights on election day by voting for those who in their judgment are entitled to receive their suffrage. I hope this will answer all inquiries and statements made that this one or that one has the endorsement of organized labor."

Egan said that President Green of the A. F. of L. had conferred with him by letter and a telegram this fall at the secretary's request.

PANKHURST'S DAUGHTER IS A TARGET FOR EGGS

New Castle, N. S. W., Oct. 24.—(AP)—Eggs were shied at Mrs. Tom Walsh, formerly Miss Adela Pankhurst, daughter of the suffragette leader, Mrs. Pankhurst, today during a political meeting, but all the missiles went wide of their target.

The meeting ended in disorder and Mrs. Walsh was given police protection. She has been campaigning on behalf of the Nationalists during the state election campaign.

ELABORATE PLOT TO KILL GUNMAN

Machine Guns Placed in Three Positions So That Gangster Had No Chance.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Gangsters guns, silent in Chicago for some time, opened up again last night and removed Joe Aiello, one of the few remaining rivals of Alphonse Capone, from the picture of Chicago's crime.

Aiello, reputed alcohol king, partner of George (Bugs) Moran, and with Moran listed by the Chicago Crime Commission as a "public enemy" was shot and killed by a gang of men, number unknown, as he left the apartment of Patsy Presto, an importer, in North Kolmar avenue. Seventeen or more bullets were fired into the gang leader from guns secreted in three different positions, as Aiello walked into what the police said was one of the most elaborate assassination plots in gangland history.

Use Machine Guns
As he stepped out of the Presto apartment presumably to enter a cab waiting to take him and Presto to his home, machine-gun fire opened from a third floor window of an apartment across the street. Aiello turned and fled back into the vestibule and attempted to arouse some one in the apartment. Finding this way blocked by locked doors he fled into the apartment courtyard only to meet the fire of machine guns coming from a window of a building to the north. Fleeing to the rear of the court in an attempt to escape over a back fence, he ran into a fusillade of shots coming from the basement of the building housing the Presto apartment.

A police sergeant and James Duane, a cab driver who had responded to a previous call from Mrs. Presto for a cab to take Aiello and her husband to Aiello's home, took the wounded man to a hospital but he died before his arrival.

ALL IN READINESS FOR ROYAL WEDDING

Kings and Commoners Gather for Ceremony at Assisi, Italy—Elaborate Plans.

Assisi, Italy, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Kings and commoners converged on this little city today in anticipation of its new brief period in the sun tomorrow forenoon, when Princess Giovanna, third daughter of the Italian monarchs, will marry Boris III, Czar of Bulgaria.

A royal train bearing the bride and groom, King Victor Emmanuel, Queen Elena and the royal entourage will arrive from Turin and San Rossore. A short time after the ceremony the train will depart, taking the royal figures by air to the Adriatic prior to a second ceremony at Sofia.

Get Dispensation
The Roman Catholic ceremony at the wedding is by special dispensation of the Pope, who has permitted Giovanna to marry Boris, of the Greek Orthodox faith, with the proviso that their children be brought up as Roman Catholics and that there be no succeeding Greek Orthodox marriage ceremony which might be construed as having been recognized by the Vatican. Because of these stipulations, it is regarded as probable that the Sofia ceremony, its details yet undivulged, will be little more than a ceremonial registration of the marriage here.

A last minute rearrangement has permitted the ceremony to be held in the so-called upper church of St. Francis, instead of the lower basilica on which it was superimposed. Princess Giovanna had hoped to be married in the lower church, which contains the remains of St. Francis of Assisi. There are about 5,000 troops and police here for the occasion including 2,800 Infantrymen and 600 cadet carabinieri, with an equal number of police cadets from the Caserta school. The remainder are Fascist militia, artillerymen and

"Job Director" at White House

"It's going to be a war on human misery," said Col. Arthur M. Woods, left, to eager Washington reporters who met him at the door of the White House following his conference with President Hoover on their campaign for the relief of unemployment. "We shall try to put into operation every factor for improvement." Colonel Woods, chosen by the Chief Executive as director of the national project, is a former New York City police commissioner and is experienced in employment campaigns.

SPEEDBOAT SUNK BY COAST GUARD

Vessel Believed Rum Runner Riddled by Gunfire Near Watch Hill, R. I.

New London, Oct. 24.—(AP)—The speedboat Helen, believed to be a rum-runner, was sunk by gun fire early today off Napatree Point, near Watch Hill, R. I., and the speedboat Pueblos was captured by Coast Guardsmen. Both craft are from Bridgeport.

Lieut. Jewell in command of the C. G. 134, one of two boats which participated in the engagement, said the crew of the Helen, a 35-footer was unharmed. The other patrol boat engaged in the affair was the C. G. 234.

No liquor was found aboard the Pueblos. This craft was being towed to the local Coast Guard base. The number of men aboard the two boats and their names were not revealed.

Has Same Name
A speed boat also bearing the name Helen, but listed as of New York was run aground and deserted by her crew under machine gun fire at Gardiner's Island Wednesday night. The boat sank today and the craft aground at Gardiner's Island was reported as not the same boat.

Lieut. Jewell declined to discuss the details of today's engagement but said he would make a report to Coast Guard officials here when he arrived with the Pueblos, which is 82 feet long. It is understood, however, that the Pueblos made for Stonington Harbor when sighted by service vessels in an attempt to divert attention from the Helen which was reported to have been carrying 1,000 cases of liquor.

Were Sister Ships
The Helen and the Pueblos were reported as sister ships of the Goose and Gander, which have frequently been involved in skirmishes with Coast Guardsmen. Both craft were built in Mystic within the past few years. It is understood, however, that the Pueblos made for Stonington Harbor when sighted by service vessels in an attempt to divert attention from the Helen which was reported to have been carrying 1,000 cases of liquor.

The gunfire which preceded the capture of the Pueblos and the sinking of the other ship awakened residents in Stonington. Dwellers along the waterfront reported that Fishers Island Sound was brightly illuminated by searchlights of the service vessels as they followed the flight of the two speed boats.

HUNDREDS KILLED BY MEXICAN FLOOD

Garrison Commander Says He Saw Four Villages Destroyed by Waters.

Mexico City, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Despatches to the newspaper Excelsior from Tampico today quoted the commander of the Federal garrison at Alamo, state of Vera Cruz, as saying that many persons, possibly hundreds, had died during floods there Tuesday.

Captain Alvarez Barrabo who managed to escape from the town with his troops as the waters flooded at their heels, said he had observed the disaster from high ground nearby and had seen "possibly hundreds" of persons caught in the sudden onrush of water and swept away by the river currents.

He added that the town was almost completely destroyed. An

GOVERNMENT IS OVERTHROWN IN BRAZIL; PRESIDENT RESIGNS

Navy Joins Rio As Rio Celebrates

Pernambuco, Oct. 24.—(AP)—A radio broadcast from Rio De Janeiro today said that the military school there had revolted, the cadets being led by several high Army officers. Shortly afterward it was announced that the Navy which has remained loyal to the government, has joined the revolutionary movement.

FALL OF LUIS PUTS END TO SUCCESSOR'S CAREER

Revolt Followed Election of Prestes — Many Federal Troops Aided Rebels; Winners Deny Influence.

Rio De Janeiro, Oct. 24.—(AP)—President Washington Luis, whose full name was Dr. Washington Luis Pereira de Souza, assumed office Nov. 15, 1926, and was to have served until Nov. 15 of this year when he would be succeeded by President-elect Julio Prestes, who recently completed a visit to the United States.

The revolution broke first in the state of Rio Grande do Sul, furthest south of the divisions which make up the Brazilian union. Troops formed there under the leadership of Dr. Getulio Vargas, president of the state and defeated candidate in the recent national presidential elections.

The states of Santa Catharina and Parana fell quickly into line and a large southern army was rushed to the Parana-Sao Paulo border, where battles have been in progress for more than two weeks, with conflicting reports of the results. The fighting has centered about Itarare, railroad point on the Sao Paulo border.

Charges of extravagance and misappropriation of public funds were made by the insurgents.

No Communism
The government charged that the revolution was inspired by Communist agitation and cited the red flags used by the insurgents. The insurgents answered that the red flag always had been the flag of the Liberal party, leaders in the movement. At Pernambuco the provisional government issued a public denial that there was a Communist tinge to the movement.

Throughout the government claimed that it had the movement under control. As late as Wednesday night dispatches from Sao Paulo and Rio de Janeiro that except for arrival of occasional batches of wounded the two cities were calm and normal.

From the start the central government was faced with mutiny of garrisons and defection of large bodies of troops. At one time the revolutionary headquarters announced that three-fifths of the regular army were fighting under their colors. The central government called out its reserves, but since only a few states remained loyal it was unable to raise nearly as large an army as it needed.

Large Great Britain and the United States sent warships to the country as a precautionary measure. The U. S. cruiser Pensacola arrived only yesterday at Pernambuco, thence proceeding to Bahia.

President Hoover on Wednesday declared an embargo on arms and ammunition to Brazil, indicating however that the Rio de Janeiro government, a recognized De Jure administration, might purchase such in the United States with permits from the secretary of state.

His Description
Communists numbering 20,000 entered Kian on the morning of October 5. Father De Jenlis said, capturing the city and taking control of everything.

During the ensuing ten days, the priest asserted, the Communists killed about 1,000 persons. He believes the number slain after his departure October 15 would make an additional 1,000 bringing the total killing to 2,000.

Father De Jenlis said the Reds did not seem particularly "blood-thirsty" except when resisted. He stated the normal population of Kian was about 60,000 but that the number had been swelled recently to 100,000 by the influx of persons in the surrounding areas who had fled from various scenes of disorder.

Agreed With Reds
The French priest asserted the number of killings had been held to a relatively low figure because

Coup Comes With Dramatic Swiftess in Rio When Police and Troops Surround Presidential Residence — President Refuses to Quit for Hours But Finally Obeys Demands of Military Leaders — Hoodlums Run Wild in City, Attack Loyal Newspaper Offices, Throw Out Furniture and Burn It in Street — Rebels Plead for Peace

BULLETIN!
Rio De Janeiro, Brazil, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Rioting which started around midday and later showed signs of subsiding, increased as afternoon wore on. The crowds have wrecked the plant of the newspaper Jornal Del Brasil, one of the most important newspapers in the country. There has been firing in the streets by both sides.

By Associated Press
The Federal administration of President Washington Luis of Brazil was overthrown today, the president ousted and a provisional government established.

Not only was Rio De Janeiro in the hands of a civil and military committee which called for the restoration of peace in the present insurrection, but the government stronghold at Sao Paulo also appeared overthrown.

Dispatches from Sao Paulo said that there was firing against the government palace there and that fifteen minutes later a white flag was run up.

President Washington Luis resigned and there were indications that Dr. Julio Prestes, president elect, against whom the insurrection had been principally directed, also would quit the field.

The military committee at Rio De Janeiro issued a proclamation calling upon all factions to get together and to reestablish peace.

Shortly after noon fires occurred in several places in the downtown area. When the rioters finished wrecking vengeance upon newspapers which had been supporting the administration of Washington Luis, lack of water pressure rendered the firemen all but helpless.

Several other blazes were set around a skyscraper on the waterfront housing the American consulate-general, Commercial attaché and several other consulates.

The activity which marked the overthrow of the government and the proclamation of General Barreto began in the early hours of the morning but it was not until after 10 a. m. that paraders began marching through the downtown streets, wrecking newspaper offices. The plants of five journals and one agency were attacked and burned.

Steal Firearms
There was some looting of firearms and jewelry. After traffic had been withdrawn from the streets the marauding crowd had full sway.

At about this time the red flags of the Liberal group began to make their appearance. The parades were unhindered by police or other agencies.

The whereabouts of Washington Luis at mid-afternoon had not been revealed but it was rumored that he had taken refuge in the Fortissimo Embassy. Efforts to confirm this were unavailing.

PRESIDENT RESIGNS
Rio De Janeiro, Oct. 24.—(AP)—The government of President Washington Luis, which for three weeks has been fighting a widespread revolutionary movement in Brazil, was overthrown today and the president resigned.

The blow which overthrew the administration was struck by a group of Army and Navy officers in Rio De Janeiro itself, a provisional headquarters being set up and a proclamation being issued to all Brazilians to end the civil warfare now in progress and to establish peace again.

The coup came with dramatic swiftness, shortly after midnight military police and some troops taking their positions around the presidential residence and cutting off traffic.

General Maana Barreto, head of the Rio De Janeiro garrison, acting in the name of a civil and military committee, went to the president and demanded his resignation, but for many hours the latter refused to step out of office.

Hoodlums Active
During the early hours of the day the city was quiet, but later gangs of hoodlums made their way through the main streets and attacked the offices of two newspapers which had been supporters of the government. Furniture was thrown out of upper floors and was burned.

News of the coup was sent out by

Quits Office

President Luis

radio through the military committee and the strict censorship was lifted in order that the latest developments might be sent out of the country.

Later the provisional headquarters of the military committee issued a proclamation denouncing the civil warfare of the past three weeks and calling for peace.

The Proclamation
The proclamation called upon all Brazilians, whether in favor of the government or of the revolutionaries to support the peace movement. It called upon the revolutionaries to suspend their offensive and the Federal troops to do likewise. In addition it asked that plenipotentiaries confer with the provisional government set up in Rio De Janeiro in order to bring about pacification of the country.

The proclamation named five forts as headquarters of the provisional government. It was signed by Lodo De Deus Menna Barreto, general of the division, and Colonel Bertholdo Klinger, as adjutant.

"Anxious for Peace"
The provisional general headquarters of officers of Army and Navy issued a proclamation published in Diario de Noticias at noon which said:

"The Brazilian nation is anxious for peace."
"The lack of comprehension of problems of government by its directors signifies that the nation needs a radical substitution in administration."
"As it was necessary to act by force, the nation's permanent armed force is acting to convey this will of the people."
"The president of the republic was asked in the name of free Brazilians to leave power—the little power which in fact remains to him—and to confide pacification of the country to the masters of the Army and Navy."

"The master idea of this movement is pure patriotism because it is absolutely necessary to halt the useless spilling of blood and the useless destruction of property which on either side would be Brazilian property."
Peaceful Forces
"The peaceful forces of army and navy have joined international protest against the fighting recently started and they count upon all their brothers in the armed camp, no matter on which side they may be."
They can best support this movement peacefully as follows:
"These troops which are still under so-called 'legal' orders must refuse to combat further with the revolutionaries; the revolutionaries

STATE OPERATIONS COST 7 MILLIONS

Buildings, Land, Repairs and Sewer Disposal Plants Listed in Report.

Hartford, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Appropriations requested by seventeen state departments for new building operations, alterations, repairs, purchase of land for buildings, construction of sewer disposal plants, etc., exceeded $7,000,000 according to figures compiled by the special budget committee of the state board of finance and control. The request cover the next biennial fiscal period, and while the requests have not had the approval of the budget committee and there is no indication as yet of what the recommendations will be, it gives a fair indication of what the several state departments believe is required in the way of additional building facilities.

The request from the commission for the new state hospital at Newtown has not yet been received, but this is expected to approximate $2,000,000 to $2,500,000, and will be the largest item on the list of appropriations asked for in the building program.

Schools For Boys The next largest item is that submitted by the trustees of Connecticut School for Boys at Meriden, which approximates $1,000,000. This includes $275,000 for a new school building, $200,000 for a shop building, $200,000 for a staff house, $130,000 for administration and reception building and hospital, $90,000 for a double cottage, $60,000 for three residences, $30,000 for grading work and $20,000 for garages.

In the $377,500 request of Cedar sanitarium, Hartford is included $175,000 for an infirmary (100 beds); $85,000 for nurses home (35 rooms); $50,000 for administration building, and $50,000 for sewer system and filter beds.

MORRIS SULLIVAN HEADS NORTH END WHIST CLUB The first thing that was done at the organization of the north end Whist Club last night when they met with Miss Christine Mason at the Community club, was to elect Morris D. Sullivan as their chairman, a position which he has now held for four terms or since these whists have been started.

The meeting was attended by twelve teams and it is the desire of the members who represented the clubs yesterday to secure about six more, which will give an eighteen team league. Officers were elected by selecting Morris D. Sullivan as president, Henry Vantard of Hilliard street who is to take any other names of teams that wish to enter can be reached by calling telephone 4977 or Miss Christene at the Community club, Tel. 7206. James W. Foley was selected as assistant secretary, and Miss Mason as treasurer.

The first games will be played next Tuesday and will continue until forty-eight games have been played. By a new rule a person not following suit or renegeing will lose four points, but the opponent will not be given the points taken away. Each team will be represented by four men.

FELLOW WORKERS GIVE MR. ROBBSHAW SURPRISE

Machine Shop Group Presents Purse of Money to Steam-Fitter Long Ill.

William H. Robshaw of 16 Huntington street who has been employed in Cheney Brothers steam-fitting department for more than two decades, received a pleasant surprise last evening from his fellow workmen there and in the machine shop.

On answering his doorbell last evening he welcomed six of his associates whom he naturally supposed came for the purpose of seeing how he was progressing. When the men were about to leave, Robert Martin slipped an envelope into Mr. Robshaw's hand, making the remark that his friends wanted to make a little gift. Mr. Robshaw thought taken by surprise, voiced his thanks, but did not open the gift until urged to do so by Mrs. Robshaw.

The regular meeting of the Junior Mission Band will take place at the Swedish Lutheran church tomorrow at 2 o'clock.

Princess Giovanna is a tall, pretty black-haired brown-eyed girl who will not be 23 years old until November 13. She has known Boris for several years, their romance having been thwarted for a long time because of the religious complications involved.

Boris is 36 years old and has been on the throne of Bulgaria since the abdication of his father on October 3, 1918.

At the machine shop a so-called "Rest Room Committee" makes it a point when one of the workers is ill for more than six weeks, to make a collection of money, as in the present instance.

ALL IN READINESS FOR ROYAL WEDDING

Cuirassiers of the mounted escort and regular police.

Besides King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Elena, other royal figures present will include the former Queen Sophie of Greece and no less than 35 princes and princesses of the blood.

Boris' father, the former Czar Ferdinand, who is an exile from his own country will not be present but his brother, Prince Cyril, and his sister Princess Kuzdokia and a brilliant suite will be here.

Princess Giovanna is a tall, pretty black-haired brown-eyed girl who will not be 23 years old until November 13. She has known Boris for several years, their romance having been thwarted for a long time because of the religious complications involved.

Boris is 36 years old and has been on the throne of Bulgaria since the abdication of his father on October 3, 1918.

At the machine shop a so-called "Rest Room Committee" makes it a point when one of the workers is ill for more than six weeks, to make a collection of money, as in the present instance.

The regular meeting of the Junior Mission Band will take place at the Swedish Lutheran church tomorrow at 2 o'clock.

public throughout its making, was not satisfied with the bonus policy. The maximum amount which could be consistently and safely appropriated by the state was $2,500,000. There were more than 20,000 service men in the state eligible to participate. Simple division indicated that this would allow slightly more than $30.00 for each veteran and this was insignificant. The young men of independent resources who had fought side by side with their less fortunate comrades the boys who were wounded or sick and the boys who were physically robust the soldiers who returned to their jobs and the soldiers who had no employment to turn to, all these would participate equally in the sum of $30.00 each.

"The Connecticut legislature was not impressed with the prospect and a plan was thereupon devised whereby the sum of $2,500,000 was appropriated and set aside in a trust fund with the Board of Control as trustees. The income from this fund was distributed through an organization of the veterans of the World War to those soldiers, sailors and marines registered from Connecticut and was used for the purpose of furnishing food, wearing apparel, medical and surgical aid, etc. This aid was also extended to veterans' widows and children under sixteen years of age who might be in need of assistance.

Interest Grows
"The duties formerly performed by the State Board of Control have passed on to the present State Board of Finance and Control and this act therefore has been in operation continually since 1919. Interest averaging 4.37 per cent on the fund has been obtained by the state during the eleven year period it has been operating and between $106,000 and $110,000 has been made available each year for this relief work. About $1,200,000 has been distributed among veterans and their families during the last seven years.

"The administration has been good. There is nothing untried or experimental about the operation of the fund at the present time. A vast amount of real and necessary work has been done for the veterans and their families. They represent a class which should receive preferred attention from a grateful state. The permanent aspect of this fund is also something which is gratifying. If the bonus had been adopted, $2,500,000 would have been spent immediately. Instead of that today we have the original $2,500,000 intact and have distributed well over $1,000,000. I believe we all have felt as the years went by that the fund was upon a financial basis by which a maximum amount of good was being accomplished.

"If a method presented itself by which this work could be enlarged, I am sure the people of Connecticut would applaud the adoption of such a method. It would seem that this is about to become possible.

Sinking Fund
"In 1915 when a Republican administration succeeded the Democratic administration which had been in office for the preceding four years, a sinking fund was immediately established to offset the indebtedness left by that Democratic administration. Year after year this sinking fund was made larger by appropriations from the general income of the state. The maturity of the last of the bonds which make up this indebtedness comes in 1936. Some of the bonds come due and will be retired in 1934.

"The amount of money appropriated to the sinking fund and the accumulation in that fund has been such that the total of this reserve against the maturity of the bonds now indicate that there will be approximately $2,250,000 more in the sinking fund than will be required for the payment of the entire bonded debt. In other words, we have done a better job than we anticipated.

"It is the duty of the State Board of Finance and Control to make up the budget for the ensuing two years. I am very familiar with that work because during my term as state treasurer I was a member of this board. Members of the board informed me a few days ago that the next session of the General Assembly would be called upon to make provision for the use of the surplus in the sinking fund over and above what is required to pay the bonds of the state. The Board of Finance and Control will recommend to the General Assembly the transfer of this surplus from the sinking fund into the Soldiers' Relief Fund. This fund will thereby be made nearly double. This will bring the annual income in excess of $200,000 a year and will practically double the amount of relief work which the state can provide to its veterans.

Will Propose It
"It will be my pleasure if elected governor to recommend to the General Assembly that this proposed policy of the Board of Finance and Control be carried out and I am quite confident that the Republican legislature which will sit at the capital this winter will carry out such a recommendation. It is a natural, progressive step began by Republican legislatures which first created the sinking fund for the retirement of our indebtedness, and which created the fund for the aid of veterans and their families. This is a very tangible and concrete step. There is nothing indefinite about the source of the income and nothing indefinite about the merit of the expenditure, nothing indefinite about the method of its distribution.

"I am proud to have been a part of the administrations in the past which have made possible this program and to be a part, as I hope to be, of the coming administration which will enlarge upon it in this way. Such a program must appeal to every citizen of Connecticut."

ABOUT TOWN

A daughter was born on Tuesday to Mr. and Mrs. Merck Holmes of 28 Woodbridge street, at Mrs. Nellie L. Hollister's maternity home on Marble street.

Relatives of Miss Helen Chedell, who recently returned to her home in Auburn, R. I., after several months' absence, received news today that she underwent an operation for appendicitis yesterday at the Jane Brown hospital in Providence and is as well as can be expected.

Choate School students in Wallingford, among them Victor Davies of Manchester, had an unexpected chance to watch the Army football team drill today for the Yale game tomorrow at New Haven. The Cadets were scheduled to practice at the Yale Bowl but the field was covered with canvas as a protection against the steady drizzle of rain that fell during the day and the Choate field was used instead.

The fourth sitting in the Red Men's setback tournament will be held tonight following the regular meeting of Miantonomah Tribe. Turkeys and chickens will be the prizes. The setback is open to the public.

An item in yesterday's paper referring to the sale of old magazines at cut prices should have read "news stand" instead of "smoke shop."

Twice this morning it was demonstrated to the satisfaction of many people that the logical place for the cross town bus to load and unload passengers is at the Manchester depot. Contractor Henry Albert was laying new walks on the north side of Woodbridge street this morning and two buses went across the tracks and made the turn around the depot very successfully. It would be possible for a shelter to be provided if the buses were allowed to make the turn in Depot Square, something that will not be furnished under the present plans.

American aviator, E. Warren, flying over what he believed to be Alamo yesterday, said several buildings were left standing and that the locality was emerging from the receding waters. Warren saw a number of persons walking about. Other reports from the stricken district said that the nearby villages of San Isidro, Tumbadero, Ojite and San Miguel had totally disappeared beneath the water which in receding left many human bodies and carcasses of cattle. The Penn-Mex Fuel Company property at Alamo was badly damaged.

DEATHS

DIES SUDDENLY ON WAY HOME FROM DAY'S WORK

Frank C. Ingraham, of Foster Street, Drops Dead—Caused by Cerebral Hemorrhage.

Frank C. Ingraham, 59, of 91 Foster street, died suddenly late yesterday afternoon while on his way home from work. The cause of his death was a cerebral hemorrhage. First reports were to the effect that he dropped dead of heart attack but it was later discovered that Mr. Ingraham's neck was broken when he fell while crossing Foster street near East Center street.

Wilfred Spears of Foster street saw Mr. Ingraham collapse and hailed a passing automobile driven by William A. Laboc who drove to the Memorial hospital but Mr. Ingraham was dead upon arrival there.

Mr. Ingraham was born in Manchester and had lived here all of his life. He was a carpenter by trade and was working on Tanner street for Contractor George Forbes of Delmont street yesterday. He was apparently feeling all right when he left his work at 5 o'clock and started home.

Mr. Ingraham leaves his wife, formerly Miss Iva Wetherell, eight children, Mrs. Walter Henry of 49 Starkweather street, Mrs. James Crough of 437 Center street, Mrs. Alfred Blatter, Miss Doris, Edward, Ralph, Vincent and William, all of whom live at home, three grandchildren, and one sister, Mrs. Henrietta Buckland of Florida.

Mr. Ingraham was a member of the Odd Fellows, Grange and the Center Congregational church. The funeral service will be held at the undertaking rooms of Mark Holmes at 2:30 Sunday afternoon with Rev. Watson Woodruff officiating. Burial will be in the East Cemetery. The Holmes rooms will be open tonight for those who wish to view the remains.

FUNERALS

Mrs. Lawrence McNamara
Funeral services for Mrs. Lawrence McNamara who died at the Memorial Hospital, Wednesday, were held from her late home, 77 Ridge street, this morning at 8:30 and from St. James' church at 9 o'clock. Rev. P. J. Killen celebrated the requiem mass. As the body was borne into the auditorium the choir sang, "Thy Will Be Done." At the offertory Mrs. Margaret Sullivan sang, "O Salutaris, and as the body was borne from the church, she sang again Beautiful Land On High.

The bearers were Richard Bell, Lester McIntosh, Joseph Shea, Joseph Gilbert, Joseph Jardine and Peter DeCarli. Rev. Father Killen conducted the committal service at St. James' cemetery.

Mrs. Mary Chappell
The body of Mrs. Mary Chappell, widow of Orlando Chappell and a resident of Manchester some 25 years ago, was brought here from Dayton, Ohio, for burial in the East cemetery this afternoon. Rev. R. A. Colpitts of the South Methodist church conducted the committal service.

Mrs. Gustave Sadronzinsky of 77 Ridge street is a niece and the only relative living here.

TO ELIMINATE CROSSING
Hartford, Oct. 24.—(AP.)—The State Public Utilities Commission today ordered the New Haven railroad company and the State Highway Department to eliminate the alleged dangerous conditions at a point where a state aid road known as "Broadway" crosses the railroad tracks at grade, in the town of North Haven.

The order is directed to the highway commissioner and the railroad company, the elimination to be means of the construction of an overhead bridge which is estimated will cost $180,718. The commission will hold a hearing on November 17 for an appointment of the cost.

HIRE NEW BOSS DYER AT TALCOTT CO. PLANT

John R. MacGregor, of Gilbertville, Mass., Succeeds J. Edmund Bradley, Resigned.

John R. MacGregor, formerly with the Gilbert Manufacturing Company, Gilbertville, Mass., this week became boss dyer at Talcott Brothers Company's plant in Talcottville, succeeding J. Edmund Bradley, resigned. Mr. Bradley who has been with the Talcott concern over 20 years will retire from active work and make his home in Millers Falls, Mass. Mr. MacGregor comes to the Talcottville plant highly recommended.

"BUDDY," FOX TERRIER, IS ABANDONED HERE

"Buddy," a fox terrier, is without a home. Worse than that, the name of the owner as listed in the tax receipt book in the office of the Town Clerk cannot be found at the address given.

The license for the dog was taken out August 9 by Ina R. Stavro, 59 Knox street. Upon investigation no one was found living on Knox street by that name, the number on Knox street ending at Number 29. Delmont street yesterday. He was apparently feeling all right when he left his work at 5 o'clock and started home.

Mr. Stavro is living in town and she would like to see her pet terrier again she may obtain same by getting in touch with Warden Krahn.

BUT 2,000 KILLED BY CHINESE REDS

The populace had professed to accept Communist tenets, knowing that by doing this their lives would be saved.

The fourteen captured missionaries, he said, were being well treated when he and Bishop Magnani left, with the exception of one Chinese priest who was killed "because he was a Christian."

Another priest was taken into the country, Bishop Magnani and another French priest now held at Kian were bound and beaten, said Father De Jenlis, "because they were Imperialists."

Father De Jenlis said the principal interest of the Reds was in looting the city, which they did with great thoroughness.

EAST HARTFORD LEADING HIGH

Scores Touchdown in Second Quarter But Fails to Score the Extra Point.

East Hartford High, Central Connecticut Interscholastic League football champions of 1929, were leading Manchester High by a 6 to 0 score at half-time at the West Side this afternoon. The game was being played before an unusually large crowd and playing conditions were perfect.

East Hartford's score came in the second quarter when "Red" Sheridan, local quarterback, snared a punt only to drop the ball a moment later when tackled on the 9 yard line. From there East Hartford plunged its way to a touchdown, the score being made by Johnny Geel.

In the opening period East Hartford marched down to Manchester's seven yard line where the ball was lost on downs. The march followed a blocked punt by McGill, left tackle, who also recovered for East Hartford when Sheridan fumbled. After the score Manchester unleashed an aerial attack that netted three successive first downs and brought the ball to the 20 yard line where the whistle cut short the rally.

Both teams fought evenly throughout both periods, accounting for four first downs each.

That to the south of the State Armory there is the finest crop of hops in the state, ready to be plucked for anyone who desires to quaff the refreshing amber fluid next to the Yule log this year—the drawback being that very few people recognize hops in their natural state.

That for future reference, the Ockfords being scheduled to play the Cubs, November 2, it is announced that the correct Christian name of the Ockfords' star halfback is not George but is Francis, his full name being Francis L. Gadohis.

That a hilarious scene occurred on South Main street some days ago, near the Globe Hollow reservoir, described in this wise: two women were walking along the road with a dog frisking beside them. A man came along astride a bicycle and carrying a ladder on his shoulder. The dog playfully nipped the man's ankle, the man yelled, toppled from the bike with the ladder on top of him. Arising the man cursed the dog heartily and raising the ladder overhead threw it at the dog, while one of the women shouted "Have patience, have patience." Then unheeding her own admonition she rolled up a heavy magazine in her hand and took a healthy swipe at the bicyclist—and then our observer left for home.

That a local English teacher who severely criticized the structure of an About Town item in an issue of The Herald before one of her English classes, is all wet concerning said item, the only criticism applying to it, being that it would have been more lucid if written in two sentences instead of one.

TEN MILLION FUND FOR DRY EDUCATION

To Be Used for Newspaper and Other Advertising, Prohibition Leaders Say.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—(AP)—A national-wide program of education in behalf of prohibition was announced today by the American Business Men's Prohibition Foundation.

Charles R. Jones, chairman, said a budget of $10,000,000 would be raised for newspaper and other advertising.

More than 100 years of tireless education preceded the adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment, Jones said, but with the ratification of the amendment by 48 of the 48 states, practically all educational effort ceased.

"People forget quickly; they must be told over and over again. Moreover, during these past ten years following the advent of prohibition something like twelve or thirteen million young voters have come of age who were children when the amendment was enacted; this younger generation has been given very little serious instruction in the meaning and possibilities of the Eighteenth Amendment."

Not for Profit
Jones said the foundation was formed under a not for profit charter last January as a result of the growing realization of the need for education on prohibition. He said the organization first assembled statistics on the effects of prohibition and that it now was ready to pass the facts on to the people. He added that the plans had been approved by Amos W. Woodcock, director of the U. S. Bureau of Prohibition.

FRENCH PRESS PLAYS AMERICAN CRIME NEWS

Paris.—(AP)—Stories of organized crime in the United States are attracting considerable attention in France.

Many newspapers and magazines are giving much space to alleged American lawlessness.

President Hoover is the most often cited, especially his address of April 22, 1929, in which he is quoted as saying that: "Life and property are certainly more menaced in the United States than in any other civilized country."

Gang warfare and shooting on battle scales are unknown in France. The country has its port cities which have their black quarters but they are patrolled to an extent that crime is suppressed.

The Apache district is about the only underworld quarter Paris has, but outside of the so-called passion crimes, there is little lawlessness among these people with nomadic blood.

Hubbard Squash: Cut a squash in quarters and remove seeds. Bake in a moderately hot oven until tender. Scrape from the rinds into a saucepan, add a large lump of butter and two tablespoonfuls of cream. Mash until all the lumps are gone, then heat until light with a silver fork. Put into a deep vegetable dish, dot with butter, and keep very hot until ready to serve. If cars is taken in cutting the squash in uniform size, the squash may be piled on shells in individual portions. The squash baked in the shell has a very delicious flavor.

Then take a glass of milk every half hour during the day, which will give you about six quarts daily. If you can drink this much you are bound to gain weight, but it might not be good weight, and may leave you after you have stopped taking the milk as fast as you put it on during the milk diet.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS (Dry Hands)

Question: Miss S. asks: "Will you please tell me what causes my hands to be exceedingly dry—so dry they often wrinkle in the palms? This is mostly at night. Also, I have a craving for fresh fruit and cool tart drinks—anything cold and juicy. I have been this way for several years."

Answer: Satisfy your craving for fresh fruit by eating nothing else for a few days. This treatment will help to correct the dryness of your skin. For temporary relief, rub cocoa-butter on the skin. Use a small amount over the entire body each night before you retire.

(Poppy Seed Oil)

Question: L. K. asks: "Is there an oil from poppy seed that may be used as a salad oil, and is it a good food?"

Answer: Poppy seed oil is popular in parts of Europe as a table oil. It is of a pale yellow color, practically odorless, and has a very pleasing flavor. The inferior grades are used in soap-making and like products. As far as its food value is concerned, it has no special merit.

(Gaining Weight)

Question: M. D. J. writes: "I have been drinking milk to gain weight, a pint for breakfast, a pint at ten o'clock, at three o'clock, and before retiring. Have been drinking it this way for two months but do not seem to gain much. Do I drink enough, and at the right hours?"

Answer: If you take your milk

GERMANTOWN

On Oct. 24, 1883, a party of Germans, the first German settlers in the United States, laid out Germantown, a suburb of Philadelphia, Pa. Four of this party had the distinction five years later of making the first formal protest ever made in America against slave-holding.

Germantown today is a picturesque site, having a quaint architecture, beautiful gardens and large public libraries. One section of the town is occupied by manufacturing establishments and another is conspicuous for its fine villas.

The first paper mill in America was erected in Germantown in 1800, and here, also, in 1743 the first American edition of the Bible in any language was printed.

Germantown is chiefly noted in history, however, for the battle which was fought there between the Americans under Washington and the British and Hessians under Howe. This was the battle in which the Americans attacked their own men by mistake in the fog, but which they finally won. The Americans lost 673 and the British 876 men.

ORIGIN OF LIFE MATTER OF RAYS

Professor Gives Scientific Conception of How Life Started On This Planet.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—(AP)—A scientific conception of the origin of life—that protoplasm was activated into life by ultra-violet light rays of a power now unknown, was explained today by Dr. Irving S. Cutter, dean of the Northwestern University Medical School.

In a lecture on contemporary thought before the Medill School of Journalism, Dr. Cutter said that life arose amid conditions which have disappeared from earth, never to return.

"It seems certain that ultra-violet light from a sun far hotter than it is today played a predominant part in bringing about complex chemical combination. We can visualize the stupendous forces, radio-chemical in character, acting upon new-born chemical groups. Just such forces—radio-activity of high degree and powerful ultra-violet rays of the sun—can explain chemical combination now denied the hand of man," he said.

Suggestive Facts

"We are forced, not by weight of evidence, but by the direction of suggestive facts, to conclude that the conclusion that protoplasm, in its turn protoplasm, was built up by forces physical-chemical in character, which forces probably do not now effect the earth, at least in the same degree. It is only a step to the further conception that protoplasm, chemically ripe, as it were, was activated into life by light rays ultra-violet in character and of a power now unknown.

"As the earth cooled and radio-activity lessened, so ultra-violet light from the sun decreased and living matter then took unto itself its own continuance—metabolism and reproduction."

IN NEW YORK

New York, Oct. 24.—Notes from a handy cuff—

My favorite wise remark of the week was uttered by Dudley Field Malone, the lawyer, at a testimonial dinner for Harry Hershfeld, the cartoonist. It went something like this: "When a man falls in love with himself, it's the beginning of the life-long romance."

Or George Jessel's comment on the same occasion—"Those were the days when knighthood was in flower and Goldman and Sachs were in Russia."

And my cuff tells me that the wags of the theater have been particularly avid at leaping upon jokes having to do with the disappearance of Judge Crater, the selling of Manhattan judgeships and Austins cars in particular.

Thus Willie Howard, the well-known clown, is pictured in "Girl Crazy" as winning $5000. Asked what he intends to do with this money, Howard replies: "Well, I've always wanted to be a judge."

And the New York crowd lets out a loud guffaw.

Just the other night, Eddie Cantor was called upon for an ad lib speech. Taking a fictitious telegram from his pocket he proceeded to comment:

"I have a wire here for Judge Crater. Is he in the house?"

Whereupon the house roared. That's one pleasant thing about New Yorkers; they always seem to appreciate a joke on themselves. But, after all, this picking on the sore spots of local affairs has long been a sure-fire stunt with scores of comedians. Some of the most successful vaudeville monologues get—by the way, what's become of most of them?—used to read the home town newspapers in the hotel lobby while waiting for dinner and have topical gags prepared by curtain time.

The Austin car jokes appear to be in much the same position as the Ford gags were a dozen years ago. In fact many of them sound strangely familiar to old ears. A dozen performers seem merely to have changed cars in stream, as it were, and brought back the dear old Ford stuff.

For instance, there's the one—stop me if you've heard it—about Paul Whitman buying an Austin for his watch fob. And the one about the fellow who carries rubber bands for spare tires.

And there's the one about the Singers Midgets who bought a fleet of them for a Tom Thumb taxi line.

So it goes.

And where do we go from there—well, the cuff notes remind me that Rudy Vallee, having sold a few hundred thousand copies of his last tome, is about to bring out another, "Headaches of a Crooner," which will have a lot to do with the many involvements that follow a national celebrity.

And Clara Bow has come to New York to make a picture. And, great heavens, the electric news ribbon around the Times building is reported to have had linotype disease and came out with a SHED!

They're trying to get Lee Tracy, who was made by "Broadway," back to the street for which the play was named. He's been doing very well in Hollywood, thank you. . . . And Ethel Merman, who was merely a night club singer a few months back, is Broadway's latest "torch." Overnight she's become a stage hit, and her song is "Sam and Delilah," one of George Gershwin's better numbers.

Having mentioned that Clara Bow is back in town, it might be well to inform her—and you, too—that he's to be seen in company with Lina Esquitta, the music show favorite.

HEBRON

Among out of town visitors who have registered at St. Peter's Episcopal Church during the past week are the Rev. John Wade of the Church of the Evangelist, New York City, Alberta Slocum of White Plains, N. Y., the Misses Addie M. Wickwire and Florence Dawley of Colchester, Miss Josephine Barber of Warehouse Point, Conn., Miss Margaret Enright of the same place, and W. Gordon Potter of Brookline, Mass. One hundred fifteen different names have been registered in the visitors' book since September 7 when it was first placed in the vestibule for the purpose of registering names. Nearly all the names have been those of out of town visitors who have dropped to look at the interior of the church during the week.

Mr. and Mrs. James Morrell of Farmington spent the week-end at the home of Mrs. Morrell's aunt, Mrs. Paul Jones.

The Messrs. Joseph Danforth and John Danforth of East Orange, N. J., and several friends spent a few days recently at the Standby Club house.

Mrs. George T. Loomis of Westchester and Mrs. Nellie Jones Skinner of North Manchester visited the old home of the Jones family known as the Bradford House, on Sunday, taking their dinner there, in memory of the birthday anniversary of their mother, Mrs. Melissa Jones. Mrs. Jones for many years had served a family dinner in the old home on her birthdays.

A half day's session was held in the schools of the town on Monday. In the afternoon a teachers' meeting took place at the Center school, attended by the teachers of Hebron and Colchester. About twenty-two were present and Supervisor Martin B. Robertson presided. The teachers were divided into two groups, one of which met in the primary room, and the other in the upper grade room. Mrs. Dorothy Porter, primary teacher, gave a report on reading in the primary grades, a discussion following. Miss Florence Battle, assistant primary supervisor, had charge. In the elementary group "Reading and its uses" was the topic for discussion, after which the two divisions of teachers joined and Mr. Robertson distributed literature for use in the school rooms. Miss Teresa Vincent, school nurse, gave suggestions on supervision of children in the case of "sight" diseases. Miss Cronin of Colchester gave a report on a visiting day recently made by her. There will be no school on Friday as the teachers will attend a convention on that day.

Mrs. Josephine Martin has been kept in for the past few days from the effects of a severe cold.

Mrs. Anne C. Gilbert and the Misses Pendleton entertained the women's bridge club Tuesday evening. Three tables were in play and there was one visitor, Mrs. Wilbur N. Ellis, who was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Mary E. Mitchell. Mrs. Marietta Horton was winner of the highest score, Mrs. Gertrude Hough second.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Brewer and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brewer of Hookanum were guests at the home of Mrs. Brewer's aunt, Mrs. Helen H. White on Sunday.

Among those who attended services at the Marlborough Congregational Church on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin J. Banks Jones and Miss Daisy White. The occasion was Old Home Day, and many former residents of the town returned for the day.

Mrs. Anne C. Gilbert and the Misses Pendleton were visitors at a meeting of the Nathan Hale Memorial Chapter, D.A.R., East Haddam, held at the Riverside Hotel on Monday. Miss Jennie Williams who has attended several of the D.A.R. meetings of Colonel Henry Champion Chapter, of which Mrs. Gilbert is regent, was one of the hostesses. The program was furnished by Dr. McGowan, president of the American International College, Springfield, Mass., and three students of that institution. Dr. McGowan made a very interesting address on the subject of the school and its mission to the world. The three young women students gave a charming musical program including Lithuanian folk music, Russian music, etc., both instrumental and vocal. Miss Alice Wright, one of the three gave a delightful reading. Tea and coffee was served with sandwiches, cakes, nuts, etc. About eighty were present. Mrs. Gilbert assisted in pouring tea.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McKee of Albany, N. Y., were visitors here on Wednesday. Mr. McKee is a descendant of the Peters family of Hebron. His grandmother, who married John Graves, was a sister of Governor John Peters. His mother was Elizabeth Adelaide Graves, and his father was Addison McKee of Hartford. Mr. McKee is 81 years of age and had never visited the home of his ancestry until Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. McKee visited the Governor's mansion, St. Peter's Church and cemetery, and the John Graves place where Mr. McKee's mother was born and where she was married. He has in his possession a very handsome gold chased watch more than 200 years old, which used to belong to his grandmother Peters. A spring in the winding key reveals a small picture of his mother. The watch keeps perfect time and he uses it daily. He also owns a banjo, which was the property of the governor. This came from Bombay, and when an ivory knob is pulled a three sided disk is revealed. This is ornamented with Japanese dragon designs.

AMERICAN PRIESTS FLEE BEFORE REDS

Italian Clergyman Writes Telling Fate of Others Who Are Now in China.

Shanghai, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Several American priests were forced to flee for their lives when Communists carried their bloody war against foreign and Chinese Christians to the Lazarist Mission at Jaochow, Kiangsi province, last week. Chinese press dispatches said today.

Details of the raid, which took place October 14, were sent by Father Verdini, Italian priest, who escaped from Jaochow.

He said Bishop Sheehan of Street-er, Ill., director of the Jaochow Mission, fled to Funchow, 100 miles south, where last Tuesday Verdini believed the bishop was safe.

Stationed at Jaochow assisting Bishop Sheehan were three American priests—Leo Moore of Perryville, Mo.; Father Altenburg, Milwaukee, Wis., and Father L. C. Coyne of Lincoln, Neb.

Father Verdini believed Father Altenburg had fled eastward from Fuchow Tuesday, possibly taking refuge in Wuysan.

Father Coyne, says Verdini, escaped toward Nanchang, while Moore, Verdini and Father Meyer, a Dutch priest attached to the Jaochow mission, fled aboard a Chinese junk on Poyang lake.

It was not known what happened to the priests since Verdini wrote October 14. The Americans were members of the American Vincen-

"BIG BILL" THOMPSON GIVES HIS VERSION

Says He Will Oppose Mrs. Ruth McCormick at Election—To Help Lewis.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—(AP)—A statement by Mayor William Hale Thompson brought into the open today his defection from the supporters of Congresswoman Ruth Hanna McCormick.

Acknowledging responsibility for distribution of circulars attacking Mrs. McCormick, Republican Senatorial nominee and urging support for her Democratic rival, James Hamilton Lewis, Mayor Thompson last night said: "As long as I am permitted to live, I will never betray the people of Chicago by voting for any member of the McCormick family for anything."

The mayor said Mrs. McCormick had broken faith with him at the Republican convention at Kansas

City and added that "it is possible that Mrs. McCormick does not want the support of the mayor." He said with the wet vote going to Lewis and the dry vote to Mrs. Latta, the man O'Neill, Independent Senatorial candidate, I think I can see the handwriting on the wall.

The O'Neill-McCormick meeting called yesterday deflated to hold to the "straight" Republican ticket by noting the mayor's withdrawal from Mrs. McCormick.

Havana.—(AP)—Santa Clara fortress has been razed to make way for a hotel, and the famous old battery with which the Spanish hoped to repel the American fleet in 1898 has been carried out to Camp Columbia, awaiting the time when park architects will find places for the old guns.

Motor Hints

Timely Suggestions on the Care of the Car by the Automobile Club of Hartford.

Suggestions by the Automobile Club of Hartford.

TOWING TO FREE STARTER
Occasionally starter gears become so tightly jammed that the ordinary process of putting the car in gear and rocking it back and forth fails of purpose. The disabled car has to be towed, and several points must be taken into consideration.

It will speed up the process and save both cars, for instance, the spark plugs are removed from the engine so that as the car is being towed in gear, and the driver engages the clutch, there will be less resistance. The lessened shock will also save the clutch.

In some cases it has been necessary to tow cars for several blocks before the starter disengages. Under such conditions everything that spares the cars' labor and shock is valuable. If the engine is equipped with petcocks these may be opened and the plugs left undisturbed.

WHEN TIMING GEARS KNOCK
Most motorists who have a "knock in the motor"—and a surprising number have—think of the trouble as being in or around the pistons or bearings. A section of the engine least suspected is the timing gear chain.

The whining of timing gears and chains is not the only noise that can originate from the front end. Rather common is a distinct knock that makes itself obnoxious when the engine speed is subject to many variations, as in traffic.

This noise is due to a loose camshaft sprocket. Whenever the speed of the engine changes the sprocket changes position with respect to its shaft. A knock follows.

In addition the loose camshaft itself is then free to move slightly out of time during these changes in engine speed. The result is a series of variable tappet noises.

AFTER THE WORK'S OVER
Whenever the car has been to a repair shop it is well to check over it carefully to make sure that no accidental damage has been done. In working on the motor one mechanic accidentally struck the radiator overflow pipe, pinching it, but forgot to straighten it out before delivering the car.

Parts that have been removed are apt to pick up dirt from the workbench. A little carbon clogged in one of the vents will cause some very perplexing trouble.

It is not uncommon for mechanics to leave tools in the engine. This, of course, will result in serious trouble. In one case a large wrench jammed in such a way that the accelerator could not be pressed all the way down when the driver needed power.

A small wrench left to rattle around the top of the battery can cause a short circuit accompanied by stalling at some moment when power may be badly needed.

CHECKING FRONT END NOISES
Few motorists ever consider the front end when looking for elusive knocks in the engine, yet this part of the engine not only is likely to be at fault but is one of the most willing to give up its secret.

About the best way to check front end noises is to listen with a metal rod. This may be solid or tubular. By listening with one end at one end and the other end at the timing gear cover the noise is quickly detected.

Various types of chain and gear noises can be checked by this method. While "listening in" have someone run the engine at various speeds so as to obtain a variety of conditions. The speeds of the engine also should be varied abruptly so as to cause any looseness in the sprockets to show up. A loose sprocket on the camshaft, for instance, will produce a sharp knock whenever the engine speed is abruptly changed.

PROVES BATTERY WEAKNESS
When headlights are unsatisfactory, yet seem to test out well enough when removed from the car, the battery may be suspected. This is particularly true if the lights are bright enough when the car is running around 30 miles an hour.

The dimming at lower speeds is due to the fact that the generator rate is dropping and the battery is being called upon to make up the difference in current. Naturally if the battery is weak the generator carries all the load even when it is not running fast enough to charge at its maximum.

If a considerable amount of night driving must be done and there is no opportunity to recharge the battery, or obtain a rental battery, the wise motorist will see that the cells are filled with water and then increase the generator charging rate by changing the position of the third brush.

OTHER CAUSES OF KNOCKS
Among the numerous varieties of engine knocks perhaps none is more puzzling than the one that isn't due to any moving mechanism. This also is the most costly as a general rule because the motorist spends his good money having much unnecessary repair work done before he realizes that he is on a wild goose chase.

One of the most common of these special knocks is the type due to a loose cylinder head. Experience demonstrates that it is quite possible for this part of the engine to be loose enough to knock without causing leakage of compression or water.

ROCKVILLE

Prisoner Fights Extradition

Clifford Cobb, 31, of East Hartford, who was sentenced to six months in Tolland County Jail at the April session of the Tolland County Superior Court and whose term expired on Tuesday, was not released at that time but was informed that he was wanted in New Hampshire for a series of chicken thefts there. He refused to go from one state to another and was then put under arrest as a fugitive from justice.

He was brought before Justice John Kalas in the Tolland County Court on that charge and was placed under bonds of $2,500, which he could not furnish. It is thought that New Hampshire officials will ask for extradition papers asking the government of the state to turn him over so he can be taken to Newport, N. H., for trial.

Cobb was before the Tolland County Superior Court some time ago for chicken stealing. Two other men were sent to the reformatory at the time on similar charges.

Ananian Found Guilty
Coroner John H. Yeomans of Andover and Hartford, in his findings in the case of Jack Ananian of Hartford, who was the driver of the automobile which killed John McKone of Talcottville two weeks ago, finds Ananian responsible. In his findings Mr. Yeomans said: "I find that said death was caused by the ignorance, carelessness and negligence of said Jack Ananian in the operation of said automobile."

An inquest was held following the accident and witnesses heard.

Miss Batz Heads Auxiliary
Miss Emma Batz was elected as head of the American Legion Auxiliary at the regular meeting held in G. A. R. hall on Wednesday evening. Other officers elected were: Vice-president, Mrs. Alice Backofen; second vice-president, Mrs. Olive LeRoux; chaplain, Mrs. Rose Bockhaus; sergeant at arms, Mrs. Nettie Weber; treasurer, Mrs. Margaret Marley; secretary, Mrs. Mae Chapman; historian, Mrs. Anna Mae Pfunder; executive committee, Miss Jennie Batz, Mrs. Mary Sloan and Mrs. Adelphine Brigham.

At the meeting a committee was named to consider forming an "On To Detroit Club," to plan some way for the members to attend the convention there next year. Mrs. Mae Chapman and Mrs. Irene Brown are in charge of arrangements.

Announcement was made that the next district meeting will be held in Willimantic on November 2. Scotland will be the subject.

Previous to the meeting a masquerade social was held and prizes were awarded Miss Helen Turner and Mrs. Alice Backofen. Refreshments were served following the meeting.

Lions Club Meeting
The regular meeting of the Rockville Lions Club was held at the Rockville House on Wednesday night, Rev. George S. Brookes, the presiding. Supper was served at 6:15, followed by the regular routine of business. Elmer Thielen of the Hartford County Y. M. C. A. was the speaker and gave a splendid address on "Where Are We Going?" He commended the Lions on the work achieved in connection with "Business Confidence Week," and then went on to speak of the many difficulties involved in modern life as contrasted with those of other days. The speaker agrees with Roger Babson, who said that the present breakdown is not so much material as moral. "Our task," said Mr. Thielen, "is to restore moral poise." He said that he still believed in the fundamental good in human beings.

Announcement was made at the meeting that the next speaker, November 12, will be Clement Taylor, Deputy District Governor of Massachusetts and president of the Springfield Lions Club last year. This meeting will be the biggest of the year.

Manager of Cat Show
The annual winter show of the Laurel Cat Club will be held at Knight's of Columbus hall, Prospect street, Hartford, soon, and final plans have been made. All entries must be in by October 27 and Mrs. Luther A. White of this city is manager of the show and Mrs. Edna Jeffery of Burnside is secretary.

Plummer—Mills
Announcement has been made of the marriage on October 16 of Elwyn E. Plummer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Plummer, of Prospect street, this city, and Miss Leona Mills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Mills, of Buffalo, N. Y. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Gilpatrick, assisted by Rev. Roy Mills, brother of the bride.

The bridesmaid was Mrs. A. E. Thayer, a classmate of the bride. Fred Plummer of this city, a brother of the groom, was best man. A reception followed at the home of the bride. The couple will reside in Schenectady, N. Y.

Invited to Hartford
Ellen G. Berry Auxiliary, No. 8, United Spanish War Veterans, have been invited by Department President Ellen G. Gray, of Hartford, to attend a dinner and reception to be held in honor of the National President, Edith H. Bird, of Toledo, Ohio. The reception will be held at the Garde Hotel, Hartford, on Sunday, October 26, from 1 until 3:30 p. m. The tickets for the dinner are one dollar. All members who wish to attend the banquet can notify the president, Mrs. Mary Stiles, of Talcottville, at once.

Avery Suit Withdrawn
The $10,000 suit brought by Judge John E. Fisk, administrator of the estate of George Avery, late of this city, against John Kasady of the Ordegen Corner section, resulting from the fatal accident at West Stafford several months ago, when Avery was killed, has been withdrawn and settled out of court, satisfactory to both parties.

Notes
Fred and Edward Pitkin, of the U. S. S. Memphis, stationed at Boston, Mass., have returned to their duties after a few days' visit with their mother, Mrs. Augusta Pitkin, of Davis avenue. Mrs. Walter Plummer and son, Fred, have returned from several days' stay in Buffalo, N. Y. Albert Plummer, employed at the Tolland Insurance Company of Hartford, is enjoying his annual vacation.

Mrs. Patrick Fitzpatrick and Edward and Teresa Conrick, whose home was partly destroyed by fire on Tuesday, are occupying the temporary quarters at the corner of Hammond and High streets until repairs are made. Mr. Fitzpatrick is ill at the Rockville City hospital.

SUSPECTED BLACKMAILER NABBED BY DETECTIVES

New York, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Howard Larkin, 28 years old, who described himself as a contractor, was under arrest on a charge of blackmail today after receiving a marked $50 bill from Mrs. Frances Preston Thompson, wife of George W. Thompson, a retired wealthy broker of Casenovia, N. Y.

Mrs. Thompson, a former actress, known on the stage as Frances Stevens, told police she had received three letters demanding $2,000 under a threat to carry information concerning her to her husband or to the newspapers.

She said she complied with directions to communicate with the letter writer through persons in New York papers and was instructed to give a telephone number.

Last night she received a telephone call telling her to be at a certain place on seventh avenue with the money in an envelope. She went to the spot with a marked $50 bill and some waste paper. Two detectives were nearby.

Then Larkin accosted her and he was arrested. Mrs. Thompson said she had nothing to hide and had acted to rid society of such vicious blackmailers.

Larkin denied knowing anything about the blackmail scheme, saying he had arranged to get the letter for a friend.

JAPS O. K. ARRIVES
SOUTHAMPTON, France, Oct. 24.—(AP)—The Japanese instrument of ratification of the London naval treaty arrived in England today aboard the Leviathan, winning by three days a race with time to get it here for deposit of ratifications at the foreign office, Ten Downing street, Monday.

Pierre Deboal of the United States Department brought the document. A secretary from the American Embassy was assigned to meet the boat train this afternoon and, with Deboal, call upon Ambassador Matsudaira with the document, which airplanes carried across America from a west coast boat to the Leviathan.

Ambassador Matsudaira will represent Japan Monday, while Ambassador Dawes will deposit the American ratification.

About 5,845,000,000 pounds of air express were carried in the United States during the past three years.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Atlantic City, N. J.—Ice to match one's kitchen or drinks in color scheme will be available. The Eastern Ice Association in convention has been informed that a process is to be in operation for freezing water in any tint desired.

New York—There will be telephone service to the boys under beginning next Monday. The cost of a 14,000 mile call between New York and any Australian point will be $15 a minute.

Washington—The King of Siam is to telephone Monday from Bangkok to his minister here, 9,500 miles. Buffalo, N. Y.—In 5 1-2 years Ford-air lines have carried 10,000,000 pounds of freight. The figure was reached when an automobile came from Detroit in the 7,627th trip of a Ford plane.

New York—The little German boy who operates an elevator on the liner Europa likes Henry Ford. He's a nice man, said the boy. "He gave carried him I asked how he was and he always said: 'Fine, my boy, and how are you this morning?'"

Westbridge, N. Y.—There are anti-spooning vigilantes in this Long Island village. The secretary of a duly appointed committee has reported to the taxpayers Association that 27 parties were broken up in a month. If a vigilante sees an occupied car parked more than half an hour he telephones the police, and there is a summons.

New York—Mrs. Gertrude Hickman Thompson is chairman of the board of directors of a railroad. The widow of William Boyce Thompson heads the Magna Arizona Railroad Company, which operates 30 miles of track for the Magna Copper Company in Arizona.

Rome—Tomorrow's wedding of Princess Giovanna is to make a number of other brides happy in the future. More public doves will be created to mark the event. At the wedding of this prince last January the King provided for gifts of $26 each to 50 poor girls on the wedding anniversary. The gifts up to a maximum of 20, are made annually till the girl marries.

New York—Honey-mothers are exempt from absentee voter privileges. By ruling of the Board of Elections they must be home election day or not vote. Some voters who can't be home are allowed to mail ballots.

LONDON IS CENTER OF ENGLISH PROSPERITY BELT
London—(AP)—The southeastern part of England has constituted a "prosperity belt," the eleven counties nearest to London being in the happiest economic state in the country.

When official returns showed 2,072,000 people unemployed in Great Britain, the percentage of insured workers idle in the southeastern division was only 4.9 and in London 7.8. In South Wales and Lancashire 26 out of every 100 insured workers were idle.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 24.

A TELLING POINT

Quite possibly the most important contribution that has been made to the literature of the Connecticut state campaign is contained in the address of Lieutenant-Governor Rogers, Republican candidate for the governorship, at Bridgeport last night. Mr. Rogers' recital of the history of the Soldiers Relief fund, dovetailed with that of the state sinking fund, and the surprising information that the latter has been so well managed that two and a quarter millions of dollars have accumulated and can be safely and advantageously transferred to the Soldiers Relief fund, provide about as convincing an example as could be desired of the excellence of the administration of the state's business affairs by the Republican regime and of its humane and decent interest in the welfare of the people.

The story of how the state government resisted the ill-considered demand for a soldiers' bonus in 1919 because, at the utmost of its resources, the state could only have paid something like $30 to each returned veteran; of how, instead, a fund was created and invested out of the earnings of which $1,200,000 has been used in relieving the necessities of distressed veterans and their families, while the original fund remains intact, is in itself something to create great confidence in the good faith and wisdom of the controlling party in Connecticut. While the knowledge that it is the purpose of the Board of Finance and Control and of the Republican candidate for governor, to urge upon the Legislature the transfer of the sinking fund surplus to the Relief Fund, making it possible to practically double the expenditures for veterans' aid, cannot fail to impress the thinking voter with the fact that Connecticut affairs are being handled not only with extraordinary skill but with great faithfulness.

The longer this campaign proceeds the more startling is the contrast between the speeches of the Republican candidate for governor, packed as they are with accurate information, and the criticisms of his opponent, Dean Cross, which display such a hopeless degree of unfamiliarity with the subject of Connecticut's government.

SCRAP; NO P. O.

Norwalk resembles Manchester in the single point of having developed at opposite ends of a township and then grown together. As we have our North end and our South end, Norwalk has its Norwalk Proper or Upper Norwalk and its South Norwalk, though all Norwalk is one city, just as all Manchester is one town. And whereas we Manchester folks merely retain a fraction of the sectional feeling of former days, Upper Norwalk and South Norwalk are the Kilkenny Cats of Connecticut's family of municipalities.

Right now the two parts of Norwalk are up to their ears in the noise and fury of a battle over a post office site. South Norwalk wants the proposed building—a home for federal courts and other governmental agencies as well as the post office—to be located on a South Norwalk site convenient to the railroad station. Upper Norwalk wants the building to be located at a midway point between the two business sections. Neither kicking, biting nor gouging is barred. It's a lovely shindy.

But we would whisper a word of advice. Let Norwalk take lesson of what has happened to Manchester in the matter of a disputed post office site. Getting a post office building out of Uncle Sam is a stunt and a half even when all the people in the town or city do their rooting for it in one energetic and harmonious chorus. Fight among yourselves—and the old gentleman won't worry in the least about passing you up for ten years or twenty years or, from all indications, for a hundred and fifty years. Quit scrapping, brethren, or make up your minds to get along for another lifetime without any new building at all. We of Manchester know.

DEATHS FROM RUM

Perhaps some of the protagonists of prohibition can figure out a reason why a life insurance company should lend itself to a proceeding likely to shorten life. We cannot. From any angle of approach it is impossible to avoid the conclusion that such an organization must, on the contrary, be continually seeking to make the people more healthy and to extend the duration of their existence. If prohibition possessed the physiological merits claimed for it by its advocates, why should insurance companies permit their actuarial departments to give out figures liable to discourage supporters of the theory of federal control? It does not make sense. The companies would be guilty of deliberately fostering injury to their own business. No one has ever accused the insurance people of being that stupid.

Dr. Frederick L. Hoffman, consulting statistician of the Prudential Life Insurance Company, has just issued some extremely interesting figures bearing on the liquor question as relating to mortality rates.

They show a death rate from alcoholism in 1928 throughout the United States of 4 per 100,000 of population. This is exactly four times as large as the number of deaths per 100,000 of population in 1920. It is not as large a proportion as in several of the years before prohibition, but it is more than two-thirds as large as the largest death rate from this cause since 1909, which was 5.9 in 1913, and only 4-10 less than the rate for 1915, which had dropped to 4.4.

The first year of prohibition produced the lowest death rate from alcohol of any figuring in the statistics, 1 to the 100,000, but that was led down to by a rapidly decreasing rate in the two previous years, 2.7 in 1918 and 1.6 for 1919. The 1928 rate of alcoholic deaths, therefore, is not only four times that of the first year of the experiment but is very much greater than either of the two years next preceding Volsteadism.

The accuracy of these figures can hardly be called into question, as they are part of the meticulously gathered array of facts on which the life insurance business is based. They do not, it must be remembered, bring into the picture deaths from poison but have merely to do with cases where the victims have taken alcoholic drinks in fatal quantities.

The statistics show, if they show anything, that so far as the excessive use of alcohol is concerned the country is just about back where it started from. They also show that since 1920 the number of such deaths has been steadily increasing, whereas during several years before prohibition the rate was decreasing. As a means of preserving the health of the nation prohibition doesn't seem to have been the success that a great many persons anticipated. It would really seem as though there might be some better way to prevent people from drinking themselves to death.

OLD AGE PENSIONS

Many persons will be indisposed to lightly dismiss the subject of old age pensions, just now being agitated as one of the policies of the Democratic party in this state. It is likely to prove a serious mistake to pooch-pooch this proposition as though it were a childish fancy. Political candidates or leaders who adopt such a course must be prepared to face the resentment of many serious minded people. We take the liberty of suggesting to Republican speakers that to answer the proposal of the Democrats with the brusque query, "Where's the money to come from?" is no answer at all. This is a problem which in another couple of years may become, instead of a mere incident, a pretty live issue. There is no sense in handing it to the Democrats on a platter.

There is every reason to believe that some sort of an old age pension system in the future is inevitable. How imminent its arrival may be, or how remote, is something to guess about. But its inevitableness bulks large on the economic horizon. And the sooner the Republican party in Connecticut realizes that here is a subject which demands the best thought of its best brains, the better.

Not that the problem has been thought out by the Democrats, for the very point most emphasized by their standard bearer, Dean Cross, is proof of the superficiality of their conception of the problem. Over and over again he has stressed the feature that an old age pension system would be less expensive to the state than the institutional care of the indigent aged. Which is, of course, the sheerest rubbish.

Any pension system worthy of the name would cost more, and a very great deal more, than is now being spent in institutional provision for the poor. Nor would any pension system that one would dare contemplate displace the almshouses of the state. It evidences complete failure to grasp the significance of the problem when people talk, as Dean Cross does, about maintaining the aged poor in separate homes of their own at a less cost than they can be kept in the institutions. The Democrats, who profess to be devoted to the idea of old age pensions, show up even less favorably, as to their understanding of the question, than those Republicans who so loftily ignore it. The latter, at least haven't gotten off on the wrong foot.

This is a great and tremendously important economic proposition. It has been given adequate study by no one—certainly not by Dean Cross, whose conception of it is merely childish. If the Republican candidate for governor would do his party a particularly fine service let him promise the people that his administration will make a profound study of old age pensions. That, and not the head-over-heels passage of some half-baked, makeshift pension law by the next Legislature, copying inadequate measures which are already discredited in other states, is what the situation demands.

Washington — The difference between the real liberals in politics and those who claim to be liberals because they are wets was never more clearly accentuated than in the political campaigns now drawing to its close.

One thing the wets and the progressives have in common—they are both opposed to a status quo. The wets want repeal of the eighteenth amendment or modification of the Volstead act. The progressives think it is more important to relieve unemployment, curb the "power trust," fight labor injunctions, help the farmers, keep reactionary judges off the supreme court, and so on.

Most of the outstanding progressives seem to be quite dry—Senators Borah of Idaho, Norris of Nebraska and Walsh of Montana, for instance. Also such 1930 candidates as Gifford Pinchot, running for governor on the Republican ticket in Pennsylvania, and Edward P. Costigan, Democratic candidate for senator in Colorado.

Much dissatisfaction with the present situation seems to be a year of comparative dissatisfaction and both rebellious groups, wets and progressives, are trying to make the most of it. Thus there is an unusual amount of non-partisan campaigning. Members of both major parties are temporarily deserting to campaign and vote for the other party's candidate because he is dry or wet and progressives are likewise checking their party labels to support one or another of their brethren on the other party's ticket. There isn't enough of this sort of thing to justify predictions of a new era in politics, but there's a lot more of it than usual.

Strange bedfellows are piling in together in Pennsylvania, where Democrats are never supposed to win anything. John Hemphill, Pinchot's Democratic opponent, has the support of organized wets, conservative public utility and other corporations, many leaders of the notorious Vore Republican machine and a substantial group of labor leaders.

Pinchot, who always has been regarded as a flaming progressive and an unusually enthusiastic dry, may be hard pressed. He has the organized wets and Hemphill has the wets. Whereas Republican wets of prominence have deserted to Hemphill, Democratic dries such as Vance McCormick of Harrisburg and John A. McSparran, defeated for governor in 1932, have declared for Pinchot.

As the Republican candidate, Pinchot himself naturally has considerable machine support and other strength from conservative or reactionary sources, as well as an official endorsement by the state Federation of Labor.

Walsh Still Fight
 In Montana John J. Raskob, the Anti-Saloon League and progressives generally are supporting Senator Walsh, dry progressive Democrat, whose re-election is seriously threatened by Judge Albert J. Galen, Republican wet. Raskob, who is both the Democratic national chairman and a leading wet, personally gave $5000 to the Walsh campaign.

In Colorado Costigan, former member of the tariff commission, is both red-hot progressive and red-hot conservative of both parties. He thinks he would be a great help in the Senate. His Republican opponent, George H. Shaw, is far less dry and far more conservative. Costigan, according to dispatches from the west, has a real chance to win.

Progressives everywhere are intensely interested in seeing Norris re-elected in Nebraska. Norris is the Senate's most important progressive; he is also quite dry. His Democratic opponent, former Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock, is no reactionary, but is much more conservative than Norris. He favors modification. There are many examples of the fact that it is possible to be dry and conservative or to be wet and progressive—that is, to be a "liberal" in both senses of the word or to be in the antithesis of each at the same time. But hundreds of thousands of voters are likely to be in a quandary when they have to choose between one type and the other.

WINTER WALKS

Now that the bad weather is approaching, the tendency will be for people to remain indoors, causing them to miss the benefits of outdoor walking and fresh air. No one should allow himself to fall into this slothful habit, for it is just as important to take exercise in the fresh air during cold or rainy weather as it is during the sunny days. It is, in fact, more important, for exercise is needed to keep up a good circulation to overcome the effects of cold, and the fresh, outdoor air is essential in counteracting the effect of lung congestion which usually results from hot, stuffy, closed rooms.

Everyone should try to go outdoors for a walk each day regardless of the weather. It is usually possible to wear a light raincoat and rubbers for protection when it is raining, and if one walks briskly, it is not necessary to wear heavy garments, even though it is quite cold out of doors. No matter what you are doing or accomplishing in life, you can make a better success if you will keep yourself in good training. Everyone should be in a toponath condition all of the time and I do not know of any better form of exercise for accomplishing this than plain old-fashioned outdoor walking. Even athletes, regardless of their specialty, always include a great deal of walking in their training exercise because they realize how important walking is for building up their endurance and improving their lung capacity.

When one walks, stands or sits in an improper position, some of the vertebrae grow into poor positions, making a gradual impingement upon the spinal nerves. This gives plenty of work for the Osteopath and Chiropractor to do, and these sciences have succeeded to a remarkable degree because of the good that they do with the treatments of the spine for correcting the faulty position of the vertebrae. I one learns to walk correctly, however, these misplacements can largely be prevented.

One of the most common mistakes made in walking is to walk with the toes pointed outward. It is a well known architectural fact that a structure is as weak as its foundation. Now, the habit of walking with your toes pointed out produces fallen arches. This, in turn, tilts the pelvis to such an extent that it is necessary for the spine to form an unnatural curve to preserve the body balance. If you wish to gain the greatest efficiency, try to walk with your toes pointed straight ahead. When walking, be sure that your shoes are built for comfort rather than for appearance.

At the start, one should begin walking a quarter of a mile a day, gradually increasing the distance by a quarter of a mile each succeeding day. It is much better to begin gradually and increase the distance than to try to walk different distances every day. During your walk remember that the fresh air is one of the most important reasons for your taking the walk. Practice breathing in during five steps, holding your breath two steps, then breathe out during five steps and hold the breath out during two steps. If you will do this, taking in a little gulp of air each time with each step and breathing out the same way, you will find that it is not long before you are able to accommodate twice as much air in your lungs with comfort as you are doing now.

Do not give up your walking during unpleasant weather simply because it requires a little more effort to exert yourself to go out of doors. Resolve to keep yourself in good condition the whole year round. Before you know it, you will find that you are enjoying what you now consider unpleasant weather and you will find that walking in the rain or walking in the cold is an exhilarating experience.

ever advisable, or would it be dangerous?"

(Tomatoes and Milk)
 Question: H. P. asks: "Is it all right to eat tomatoes and drink milk at the same meal?"
 Answer: Tomatoes or any other acid fruit combine well with milk. Make a meal of the tomatoes and milk, and do not use any other food at the same time.

(Infantile Paralysis)
 Question: Mrs. W. R. writes: "Three years ago my little girl had infantile paralysis which left her right arm quite useless. She can, with a struggle, move some of the fingers. A specialist wants to operate and graft muscle into the arm. I would like your advice about this."
 Answer: Your child's arm can be developed through proper treatments with electro-therapy. Certain currents can be applied to the arm muscles which will bring about a normal development. She has all of the muscle cells which are necessary to move the arm if they are only developed. This treatment is far superior to any surgical attempt to graft on another muscle.

GERMAN FLYING MEN
 PLAY MANY HUNCHES

Berlin—(AP)—Pet superstitions are numerous in German aviation circles.

Friedrich Christiansen, commander of the Do-X, former commander of the hydroplane squadron, and only naval flier who was decorated with the order "Pour Le Merite" is a striking example. Ernst Udet, war ace, is another.

The German ministry of transportation is the office which issues licenses and license-numbers to airplanes. It decided to give 1930 to Germany's latest construction, the Do-X.

But the ministry had not taken superstition into consideration. For when Christiansen was informed of the number selected, he found that the sum total of 1930 was 13.

The commander flatly refused to take the helm of the giant boat until the number was changed.

The ministry changed the license number of the Do-X to 1920.

Christiansen isn't the only superstitious pilot in Germany. Udet, with 48 enemy planes to his credit and one of Germany's best stunt fliers, will never enter his plane except from the left side. Moreover, on the back of the seat of any plane that Udet flies he inscribes the initials of his lady friend.

Other fliers are especially superstitious in regard to wearing apparel, and will never for instance, put on a new pair of gloves until, after another plane.

Talkies Library Of Noises Carefully Indexed Bedlam

Thousands of sounds recorded at their sources have been put in a "noise library" for use whenever a talkie needs one.

Hollywood—(AP)—Once an actor described as a "mere off-stage noise" could feel insulted, but that time is gone forever. In the early audible films studios spent effort and imagination to obtain realistic imitations of commonplace sounds. Then someone concluded that the real thing would be better than any imitations, and started on a "recording library" of thousands of different sounds, each available on short notice. The man with the idea was Bernard Brown. He also contrived the first artificial sound effect. About a year and a half ago

Brown began building his collection of sounds. He and his staff took microphones to railroad stations, beside babbling brooks, to barnyards, to roofs high above the city.

Now these stored sound effects save endless time and money in picture-making. Formerly a scene might have to be re-taken several times because the clicking of a door-latch would not record properly. Now Brown's men, with dozens of latch-clickings in stock, "dope in" the proper sound. The search for new sounds, Brown has found, is as fascinating as the newspaper's search for news, and very similar. The department's watchword, like the journalist's, is "What've you heard today?"

Hard Times Force Fakery To Sell Black Jacks Now

Pittsburgh, Oct. 23.—(AP)—It did strike Earl Duffey and Ralph Moore funny that with all this unemployment talk the city was having such a hard time getting detectives, but today there wasn't anything funny about it. A fellow with a big badge and a sad face ate in the restaurant where Ralph and Earl worked. He said he was sad because he couldn't get any help for "the force." Earl and Ralph never did think much of the restaurant business, they told police today, so when he offered to get them detective jobs "free" they jumped at the chance. Of course, when the "detective" mentioned the high cost of badges, black jacks, etc., they handed over $2.75. Then they quit work and the "detective" took them out and put them on their "beat." It seems there wasn't any crime to investigate yesterday, so they just ambled around. Late yesterday afternoon, they were resting at a shelter house in the Northside Park. A policeman came along. Earl and Ralph smiled fraternally. "Pretty quiet ain't it? Yeah, it's pretty quiet on our beat too," they chirped familiarly. "That was a bad crack. Five minutes later they were on their way to a police station."

Iowa Farmer Uses Plane In 400-Mile Hops To Market

Denison, Iowa.—(AP)—Ralph Weberg, farmer and stockman near here, hits the airplane as "an implement" in his business. He jumps in his plane and flies across two states to Chicago, for example, to sell cattle which he has shipped. He arrives in Chicago four and one half hours after he takes off from the private landing field on his farm. The trip requires 12 hours or more on a train. With the plane he can personally supervise the marketing of his cat-te and return home the same day, if necessary. His specialty for years has been prime beef cattle. Flying is more necessary for the farmer, he thinks, than it is for the city business man, because time often is more important, and distances, especially in the west, sometimes are long. Some day he expects to be able to take advantage of early market reports by radio, run a load of cattle or hogs into a large plane, fly to Chicago to catch that day's market and return home in the afternoon with his check.

Schwab Predicts Prosperity Near

Head of Steel Institute Warns Against Overproduction in Address Today.

New York, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Charles M. Schwab, chairman of Bethlehem Steel Corp., told the American Iron and Steel Institute today that because the past year had revealed no "basic structural failure" in the economic foundation, he believed business revival would bring to America "a larger measure of prosperity than the American people have ever known before."

In his address as president of the institute at its semi-annual meeting, Mr. Schwab said the steel industry would "lead the march to prosperity," although the task was one requiring staying power, vision and hard work. "We are not concerned with the cross currents of what I would call 'short-term pessimism,'" he asserted, "nor are we over-anxious about the exact date when orders will pile up on our door-steps. Ours is a business that deals in the fundamentals of material civilization and in the essentials of human advancement. And when I say that we are moving forward, I am not overlooking the fact that at the moment there are many at home and abroad who can see things only through spectacles darkened by immediate but transient gloom."

Mr. Schwab maintained there was a better tone to prices, that the markets for steel were expanding, both in familiar fields and in new uses, and that production had been stabilized. "But," he added, "I want to sound again the warning note which I have mentioned in the past: that if we plunge headlong into a program of unreasonable expansion only one thing will result—over-production."

BLOND PHIL COOK, SIX-FOOTER TAKES ANY ROLE IN OWN SHOW

PHIL COOK'S GANG

Phil Cook as "Buck," one of the dozen characters he brings to the microphone in his twice-a-day programs. Without the makeup he is a blond.

New York—(AP)—Six feet tall, and a good looking blond for a male—that is Phil Cook, radio's one-man show.

He sings, he plays, he philosophizes, he cracks jokes and he portrays a dozen characters, all in an effort to produce a pleasant 15 minutes around the loudspeaker.

He is just about everything necessary to put across radio entertainment, including his own sound effects such as turning his voice into a fery whistle. Two NBC-WJZ programs a day, that in the morning broadcast twice to fit two time zones, make up a busy 24 hours for the man who writes his own continuity and music. The programs, while basically similar, sidetrack duplication. Even the evening period, which goes coast to coast, does not sound at all like the one in the morning.

Call it about all of the broadcaster's tricks of trade, Phil must literally "step on the gas" to keep interest from lagging. He even calls upon the news of the day to furnish the lyrics for part of the musical entertainment.

His guitar, which is crossed with a ukelele, is his main standby. At the tip of his tongue are a dozen characters, from the negro philosopher "Buck" to a coy young miss. Many of these he puts together in a "comic strip" portrayal of the happenings in a small town summer resort hotel.

Coldwater, Mich., Furnished the site for the birthplace of this versatile artist, but East Orange, N. J., rates as his home town, for it was there that he was educated. Phil is married, and has been for 15 years. He met his wife while in grammar school. Their daughter is a little more than a year old. She is named Phyllis, because it had been planned to call the baby Phil, Jr., if it had been a boy.

Cook started out musically as a violinist, but his first salary check was that of a commercial artist. On the side he did some writing, including musical comedies, three of which hit Broadway.

He took on radio, he said, as a surprise for his family. It heard of him first as a ukelele player. Once he almost quit because he didn't think there was enough work to do. He has changed his mind since.

His wife is his cashier. He draws only enough from her to pay for lunches, carfare and cigarets. He is saving his money so that he can retire and paint pictures.

Going back to the program he writes himself by slow-motion typing with a finger or two, he has made the boast that he has never sung a song on the air that he did not compose himself.

Phil sits down when he broadcasts, and even grins at his own jokes.

Action Without Harm Whenever Constipated

Here's a way to be rid of constipation and its ills—a way that works quickly, effectively, but gently. A candy Cascaret at night—the next morning you're feeling fine. Breath is sweetened; tongue cleared; biliousness, headaches, dizziness, gas vanish. Repeat the treatment two or three nights to get the souring waste out of your system. See how appetite and energy return; how digestion improves.

The action of Cascarets is sure, complete, helpful to everyone. They are made from cascara, which doctors agree actually strengthens bowel muscles. All drug stores have the 10c boxes.—Adv't.

HALE'S TO SELL BREAD TOMORROW FOR 5 CENTS

Milk Bread, 20 Ounce Loaf, Again Offered—1,200 Loaves To Be On Sale.

Hale's Self Serve grocery will stock 1,200 loaves of milk bread for Saturday shoppers to be sold at the same special price as last week, five cents a loaf. Hale's sold 600 loaves of this high quality milk bread for a nickel a loaf last week and although this was only a special price, the popularity of this universal item was so great that the store has doubled the order for this week. Five cents a loaf will be the price with a limit of five loaves to a customer.

It has been a long time since a full-sized 20-ounce loaf of bread has been sold locally for a nickel and this week's sale at Hale's bids fair to double that of last week.

NEW INDOOR GOLF COURSE IS OPENED

A large crowd celebrated the formal opening of Manchester's first indoor 18-hole miniature golf course last night in that part of the Richard's building on Main street formerly occupied by Hale's Self Serve grocery store. The course is operated by Everett Breece of East Center street and can be played at an exceptionally nominal cost. The 18 holes is of the largest modern construction. The fairways are made of a base of cinders held intact with a layer of asphaltum, the playing surface being of dyed sea sand to resemble the greens of the regular golf course. The layout is tricky with sand traps, bunkers, water and novelty hazards. Another feature is the high slab sides around each hole, lending an artistic and harmonizing touch to the interior. Judging by the enthusiastic crowd at the opening of the course this spot will prove tremendously popular this week-end and during the winter months.

OPPOSE GAS EXPORT

Waterbury, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Major Pamer Jackson, president of the reserve officers association of the United States last night urged reserve officers to vigorously oppose the proposed exportation of helium gas to foreign countries, for airship inflation. One dirigible, inflated with helium would cause irreparable damage in time of war he said.

DIES OF CANCER

Waterbury, Oct. 24.—(AP)—John Morilla, 52, today lay dead of a disease long believed to be leprosy, although subsequent diagnoses proved his ailment to be cancerous trouble. Morilla contracted the disease on a visit to his native Italy about five years ago.

OLD FLOT DIES
Bridgeport, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Captain George Henry Rowland, 79, famous on the Sound as the "smartest" pilot between New York and Boston died at his home in Stratford last night. Captain Rowland had sailed Sound waters since he was 10 years old. The pressure in your auto cylinder when the gasoline burns is greater than the weight of a horse.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Adventure enters the life of Celia Mitchell, 17, when she learns the father she has supposed dead is alive and wealthy. She leaves her unpretentious home in Baltimore to live in New York with her father, John Mitchell, and her aristocratic grandmother.

Margaret Rogers, Celia's mother, is now a widow, having divorced Mitchell and later remarried. Barney Shields, young newspaper photographer, is in love with Celia and promises to be loyal to his love.

Mitchell asks Evelyn Parsons, beautiful widow, to introduce the girl to young people. Mrs. Parsons agrees, considering Celia a means to win Mitchell's affections though she is jealous and at once begins scheming to get rid of the girl.

She introduces Celia to Tod Jordan, fascinating but of dubious character, and does all she can to encourage the match. Lisi Duncan, socially prominent, becomes Celia's loyal friend.

Mitchell learns Jordan is paying his daughter attentions and forbids her to see him. Celia offends her grandmother and the elderly Mrs. Mitchell feigns illness and departs for a rest. The girl goes to Mrs. Parsons' Long Island home for a lengthy visit. There Jordan calls frequently.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXVII
The young man's back was certainly aching. It was the way he carried his broad shoulders which first caught Celia's attention. Her heart seemed to stop beating. She leaned forward, craning her neck to see more clearly.

He did not turn around. There was something about that gray tawed back that brought a quick rush of memories. If only he would turn his head! But no—of course, she must be mistaken. It was just some stranger who held his shoulders in the same alert way as Barney Shields.

"Look, Celia, look—there's that cute jockey! The one in red. See him?"

Lisi Duncan had grabbed Celia's arm and was pointing out a boyish youth in scarlet satin, boots and broad-visored cap who, with other jockeys, was crossing in front of the stands.

"Isn't he adorable?" Lisi chirped. "Why, Celia, you weren't looking at all!"

"Yes, I was Lisi. I saw him." It would be several minutes before there would be another race. The crowd all about them had begun moving. Tod Jordan, handsome in white linen suit and orange tie which set off his dark good looks, turned toward his good friend.

"Want to take a look at the horses?" he said. "I think I'll go down to the paddock and see if I can pick up a tip."

"I don't want tips," said Lisi glibly. "I've already picked my horse. It's the one that cuts jockey in red is going to ride. See, here's his name! And the horse is 'Family Row. There's a hunch for you. That horse ought to win me money!"

Celia shook her head. "You go on, Tod," she said. "Well wait for you."

"See you later!" Jordan disappeared in the milling crowd. Lisi was turning and twisting, trying to take in everything around her.

"If there isn't Jimmie Webster. Over there—see? And, my lord, it's Kate with him! Well, of all things!"

Celia followed Lisi's excited gesticulating to the seats a few rows above where Webster and Kate Duncan were sitting. Lisi whirled about sickly.

"Don't look!" she insisted. "Don't even let them know we saw them. Kate'll be sure to tattle."

The young man in gray down in front had turned. Celia caught a quick glimpse of sunburned cheek, eyes squinting against the sunshine—beyond a doubt Barney Shields!

"Listen, Celia, let's move over to the other side of the track and see us." Lisi had taken the other girl's arm.

"Oh, but we can't now. How'd we find Tod?" She had to make excuses quickly, keeping one eye on Barney. Celia's heart was pounding. Suppose Barney should leave before she could get to him.

Lisi was silent for a few moments. Then she said: "I'll tell you. You stay and wait for Tod and I'll go across and find some seats for us. When he comes back you two come over. Even if Kate does see you, it's all right. Oh, boy—I'd like to put something over on that old girl. The way she treated me last night!"

Celia agreed. She was only too eager to be alone. When Lisi was down out of sight she rose and walked down the aisle of seats. Barney had turned again and was facing the track.

but then you turned around. Barney, an old friend, was looking at her. "New as glad to see anybody in my life!" the young man said emphatically. He was still holding her hand.

"But how did you happen to be—she began. "Oh, it's a long story! I'll tell you all about it, kid. Right now all I can do is think how sweet you're looking! Say, you look like a million dollars, Celia!"

Blushes deepened her color. The girl did look attractive. Her all green frock and flattering white frills about the throat and brief sleeves. She wore white slippers and a broad white straw with drooping brim. Flattery, that most artful of cosmetics, had done its work. Celia's eyes were shining.

"Do you really think so?" she asked softly. "I'll say I do!" "But you didn't answer my letters."

"Letters? I only got one. Did you send any more?" "Thrive, dear, you see! I've had some good luck, Celia!"

"You look as though you had. Still, I don't see why you couldn't write to me. You said you would, Barney!"

"Yes, I know. But you won't care about it after you hear what's happened."

Men and women around them had begun returning to their seats. It was nearly time for the next race. Celia noticed that Barney had a camera at his side.

"Oh, are you making pictures?" she asked. "Yes, worse luck! I'll have to be moving in a minute. Listen, when am I going to have a chance to talk to you? I've got a lot of things I want to tell you. Celia. What are you doing tonight?"

"I couldn't see you tonight," she said. "Oh, dear, let's see—" "Can't I call you at your father's house?"

The girl shook her head. "I'm not staying there any more," she said. "I'm living out on Long Island with a friend of father's. Mrs. Parsons her name is. You'd better let me telephone you. Where can I reach you?"

"Apex Picture Service." He gave her the exchange number. "Barney! You mean you're working here! In New York?"

"Sure!" he said exultantly. "That's part of what I've got to tell you."

Celia stood in the aisle, half turned. She glanced up and saw Tod Jordan moving toward the place where she and Lisi had been sitting. A wave of apprehension passed over the girl. Barney must not see Tod. She had been so excited at finding him here she had forgotten about Jordan.

"Say," the young man beside her drawled, "you're not alone here, are you?"

"No, I guess I'd better be getting back to my friends. You have to go anyhow now, don't you? What's the best time to call, Barney?"

"About the same, I guess. All times equally bad. But they're careful about taking messages in the office. If I'm not there, leave word. I'll get it all right."

"I'll telephone in the morning. Oh, I'm so glad to have seen you!" "Believe me, I am, too. Well, so long!"

Celia gave him a quick smile and then mounted the steps. Her heart was singing. All the better thoughts that had come when Barney failed to write were banished. There must be an explanation. Anyhow, he certainly had seemed glad to see her. Sight of Shields had resurrected memories of some one.

"Oh, there you are! Wondered what had become of you. Where's Lisi?" Jordan greeted her. "She's over on the other side. Saw her sister up above and didn't want to see. Lisi's saving seats for us. Shall we go?"

"It's more comfortable here than it will be over there." "But she's waiting for us, Tod." "Oh, all right."

It was a struggle making their way through the crowded aisles. Celia caught sight of Lisi's blue handkerchief waving at them. Manfully she was guarding a seat on either side of her. At last Celia and Jordan reached her.

"I'm missing 'Family Row' straight," Lisi told them gaily. "Did you get any tips, Tod?" "Yes, a couple. Highest odds in the race are on your horse. Did you notice that?"

"I don't care. After seeing Kate here I know 'Family Row's' going to win!"

Jordan laughed. Invariably he found Lisi amusing. Of course she wasn't the sort of girl he personally admired, but he liked to hear her talk.

that were to arise with Barney's arrival. They stayed for two more races, but neither proved as exciting as the last. Jordan was in excellent spirits when he came away from cashing his winnings.

Lisi opened her purse and held up a single dollar bill. "They all got wings!" she murmured mournfully.

On the drive back to Larchwood Celia was quiet. The other girl's chatter kept this from being noticed. When they arrived Lisi changed into her own clothes and departed. Jordan remained to dine with Evelyn and Celia.

They spent the evening on the veranda just as they had often before. Celia was aware of a feeling of restraint when she was alone with Jordan, but she let him kiss her good night.

"I think I'll go to bed at once," she told Evelyn after he had gone. "Feeling sleepy." "Then you'd better go along. Good night."

Celia went to her room. She undressed, turned on the light and got into bed, but she could not sleep. An hour later Celia had reached a decision.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By SISTER MARY

There has been considerable research in the last few years regarding the value of oysters as food, and the results justify their liberal use in the dietary. They have been long recognized as an easily digested source of protein although their high water content make them an expensive source of energy. It is their mineral and vitamin content, however, that is of greatest importance.

Oysters are rich in vitamin B, contain vitamins A and C and contain some vitamin D. They stand fifth among the sea foods as sources of iodine and compare favorably with eggs as sources of iron. These properties give them a significant place among foods.

Oysters must be cooked as carefully as eggs. They contain an albuminous substance that must be cooked at a low temperature. Excessive heat and an over-long cooking period will make them tough and unpalatable and therefore hard to digest.

Raw oysters may be served to invalids and are an exceedingly nutritious food for persons in ill health. Steamed, baked or in a plain stew, they provide appetizing variety to invalids and children.

Aid to Digestion
Many dishes of oysters are not more difficult to digest because of added ingredients. The oysters themselves are practically steamed or baked in the extra material. For instance, oysters fried in deep fat are so protected by their coating of crumbs and egg that they are properly cooked and the oyster itself is easily digested.

Since oysters are generally liked and always have been classed with the "delicacies," they make admirable dishes for informal luncheons and Sunday night suppers. Wrapped in bacon and pan-broiled; creamed on toast; rolled in cracker crumbs, dipped in egg and fried in deep fat or dipped in fritter batter and fried in deep fat; on brochette with bacon and mushroom—the ways of serving them are numerous.

Oysters are always popular beginnings for winter dinners. Oyster salad can be prepared in several ways. A combination of grape fruit sections and shredded green pepper served with French dressing is delicious. Marinate the fruit and dish separately in French dressing for an hour before combining and serving. Cooked oysters are combined with celery and mayonnaise in another good salad.

The following cocktail sauce is enough to serve eight or ten persons. About 2 tablespoonsful of sauce is calculated for each person to be served.

Cocktail Sauce
Four tablespoons grated horseradish, 4 tablespoons tomato catsup, 1/2 teaspoon salt, few gratings nutmeg, 1 teaspoon Tabasco sauce, 1 tablespoon grated celery, 4 tablespoons vinegar, 1/4 cup lemon juice. Combine ingredients and chill thoroughly. When ready to serve add chilled oysters removed from the shell. Serve in cocktail glasses.

CAN YOU DO IT?
Berlin—Once a year the Burgomaster of Rothenburg, Bavaria, has a task which, although pleasant, is a mighty undertaking. He is required to consume three and a half quarts of beer at one draught and without taking a breath. The occasion for the drink is on commemorating the saving of the city by a Burgomaster 300 years ago who drank a like amount at the command of an invading general.

NOW! NOW!
Tyrona, Okla.—Nature's surely funny in some instances. But then maybe the speedometer of R. T. Linsey's friend wasn't working correctly when he timed the speed of a jackrabbit near here. The jack, according to Linsey, started up 100 feet in front of the car. Just to see how fast it could run, the car was stepped up to 63 miles an hour—and still the rabbit kept ahead!

WHAT New York WEARING

YOUTHFULLY SMART

The lightweight in dark green tones illustrated in Style No. 3292, is a charmingly practical dress for utility work. It is typically sports. It displays chic lingerie robe, so fashionable in daytime mode, in the white pique collar and deep flared cuffs that are hemstitched at the edge. A green grosgrain ribbon completes the neckline.

The circular flaring skirt favors the curved hipline that gives the figure lengthened line. It is stitched to the long-waisted bodice that nips the normal waistline with a green suede belt. The inset pockets placed at either side of the front below the belt, emphasizes the flat hipline.

It is so simple to make and takes but 3 1/4 yards of 39-inch material with 3/4 yard of 35-inch contrasting for the medium size. It may be had in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20 years.

Brown canton crepe is dainty and serviceable with the collar and cuffs of Vionnet pink sailor crepe. Make the belt of self-fabric.

Bordeau-red crepe patterned woolen, wool jersey in hunter's green and wine red crepe marocain are lovely ideas for this snappy sportive model.

BACK STAGE TO FAME

London—From call boy to the leading part, Edgar Wallace's melodrama "On the Spot," is the trail to fame taken by Bertie Hale. Until a few months ago he wasn't anybody. Today he is with the show on a continental tour from Paris to Czechoslovakia. Hale is only 21, and received his chance when a producer heard him imitating famous actors backstage.

Druggists at a recent convention favored excluding bathing suits and auto tires from their sales. George B. Burgess, like the rest of us, got angry when he couldn't get a number after repeated tries. So what did he do? He drew his trusty six-gun and filled the pesky instrument full of lead.

For TEETHING troubles

FUSSY, fretful . . . of course babies are uncomfortable at teething time! And mothers are worried because of the little upsets which come so suddenly then. But there's one sure way to comfort a restless, teething child. Castoria—made especially for babies and children! It's perfectly harmless, as the formula on the wrapper tells you. It's mild in taste and action. Yet it rights little upsets with a never-failing effectiveness.

That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given to tiny infants—as often as there is need. In cases of colic and similar disturbances, it is invaluable. But it has every-day uses all mothers should understand. A coated tongue calls for a few drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of bad breath. Whenever older children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little upset, a more liberal dose of this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed. Genuine Castoria has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. Doctors prescribe it.

QUOTATIONS

The plain truth is that the world is passing through a perfectly natural and normal reaction. Slowly but surely the forces that will bring about revival are at work.—Francis H. Sisson, New York bank executive.

The fur-bearing animals are disappearing with alarming rapidity as a result of trapping for the fur trade.—David Quinn, secretary of the emergency conservation committee.

In the great intangibles of human emotion, respect is inseparable from good will.—President Hoover.

One of the most interesting problems that science has yet to solve is concerned with the nature of vitamins.—Dr. E. V. McCollum, nutrition authority of Johns Hopkins University.

I am too long, I know I am too long.—King Christian of Denmark, who is six feet five inches tall.

Hints on How to Keep Well by World Famed Authority

EXPERT ADVICE NEEDED IN PICKING SANATORIUM

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine.

The person with tuberculosis may sooner or later be compelled to resort to a sanatorium in order that he may achieve proper scientific treatment for his condition.

Since the home itself with all of its personal relationships and with its relief from maintaining any kind of attitude is fundamental to healthful mental states, as is pointed out in the London Lancet, the worst sanatorium, in the belief of a patient, is usually the one in which he happens to be.

Sanatoriums vary greatly in their ability to provide the environment of home and in their ability to maintain in the mind of the patient a proper attitude toward his disease. Many persons do best in reasonable solitude; others demand an environment that provides for plenty of company and conversation.

Obviously the physician who is choosing the sanatorium has to take into account the cost, so that the patient will not constantly be worried by this question, and he must take into account also the psychologic factors that have been mentioned.

It has been argued that one of the principal values of a sanatorium, as also of health resorts, lies in the fact that the patient is taken away from his usual environment, and secures relaxation of the mind and freedom from care.

The person with tuberculosis requires, besides rest, a reasonable amount of fresh air and sunlight, a proper diet and good medical care. The patient in the exceedingly active stage of his disease requires rest much more than fresh air. Obviously, therefore, the provision of a suitable bedroom with good medical care is his chief requirement.

The person who has passed the active stage and who needs fresh air and sunlight will do much better where such climatologic advantages are available than in a sanatorium situated in the northern part of our country and in a smoky atmosphere. Thus Englishmen regularly go to Switzerland for their tuberculosis when they have reached this stage in their disease, whereas they are well cared for at home in the active stage.

Modern scientific medicine provides methods of treatment for tuberculosis, including surgical removal of the ribs and collapse of the lung, and including also the injection of air into the thorax so as to collapse the lung and rest it in this manner. These methods are obviously available only where there are competent men to perform the operations and to take care of the injections. The care of the patient with tuberculosis therefore requires not a routine treatment, but the best possible treatment of some one experienced in the study and treatment of this disease.

Beautiful hair!

Modern hair dressers arrange the hair so beautifully that it's bound to attract attention. That's why it's so important to guard its color and lustre; keep it in perfect condition. There is no surer, simpler way to do this than with Danderine. Each time you use your brush, just moisten it with this delicately fragrant liquid. Then as you draw it through your hair, it removes the excess oil; brings out the natural color; makes the hair fairly sparkle with new life and lustre.

How much easier it is to arrange the hair afterwards. How it stays in place. And try "setting" the waves with Danderine. They stay in so much longer.

Danderine quickly dissolves the crust of dandruff; puts the scalp in the pink of condition; helps the hair to grow long, silky and abundant!

YOUR CHILDREN

The temper tantrum in young children is not serious in itself. It is merely a demonstration of frustrated will and has no physical origin whatsoever, although it may appear to the alarmed mother that the congested face and the lack of breath of her baby must mean some type of convulsion.

This case is typical of most temper tantrums: A little girl of three wanted to go riding with her mother. She hopped off her bicycle ran over to the car and tried to climb in.

"Not this time, Patsy. Go in and get dressed—Letty's waiting. I'll be home in a few minutes."

Now Patsy had been having temper tantrums. Nobody had coddled her and she appeared to be getting over them. But instantly she threw herself down on the sidewalk and screamed and did the usual things, but the scene was a signal for everyone to leave the room. I was there and seldom have I been treated to such a deliberate exhibition of temper as that small person displayed.

Tried It Again
The last time it happened her mother told me she saw it coming and said quite pleasantly: "If you'd climb up on the sofa you'd have a much better time, dear."

Sarcasm is lost on a child, but Patsy, sensing ridicule, thought a minute and ran out of the room. So far she hasn't had another spell since.

The quickest cure is to let the child alone and above everything else not to give him what he is crying for. We cannot always use our hearts in child training. As a matter of fact these hearts of ours are too often the undoing of months of persistent effort. And the children certainly know it.

Notre Dame Will Beat Pitt, Steffens Asserts

Carnegie Tech Coach Believes Rockne Has An Even Better Team Than Last Year; Notes About Other Games.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Pitt's Panther may expect a beating from Notre Dame tomorrow. Authority for the pick is no less than Judge Walter P. Steffens, Carnegie Tech's football coach.

Not only that but Judge Steffens believes the 1936 Irish eleven to be stronger than the team which won through a nine game schedule without defeat last year. He bases his judgment on the Sikibos' defeat at South Bend last Saturday.

"In my opinion there is no question that Notre Dame has a stronger team than last year's," Steffens said last night. "Perhaps Notre Dame played over its head against us. May be it didn't, but we were so match for Notre Dame, especially in the second period. I expect Pitt to give them a good battle though. Pitt has a good defense but also has Notre Dame."

New Haven.—Yale and Army have evolved a logical sequel to a part of their preparations for Saturday's game. Their junior varsity teams clash today, the cadets using Eli plays and the Ells using Army plays just as they have done against their respective varsities all through the week.

New York.—A battle of the air is expected when Fordham meets N. Y. U. tomorrow. Both teams are working hard on their passes, each believing the other has too strong a line to yield much ground.

Providence.—A big shakeup in the Brown team is expected almost any time. The latest reports have it that Eddie Gilmartin will be the only regular back to start against Holy Cross and that several changes will be made in the line.

West Point.—The Army team got its first real send-off in a long time yesterday as it left to meet Yale. The "1200 mule team," otherwise known as the Cadet Corps, turned out as a whole to the music of the "Hell Cats" to watch the last practice and cheer the team away. When the team left for Harvard the boys were attending classes.

Cambridge.—It hardly looked like the same Harvard team that was out for yesterday's practice. Captain Ben Ticker returned to the lineup the full complement of Crimson regulars were in action for the first time since the start of the season.

Pittsburgh.—The Pitt cripples aren't in such a bad shape after all. Jim MacMurdoe, end, and Franklin Hood, fullback, are expected to be in condition to play against Notre Dame.

Hanover.—Gay Bromberg, star lineman, seems to have captured the Dartmouth record for good health. Wednesday it was reported he had contracted a heavy cold and probably would miss the Harvard game. Yesterday he was back in the lineup for practice apparently in good health.

THE UNKNOWN SOLDIERS

The man who carries the ball gets the headlines. There are glowing stories of his runs through broken fields. Sports writers call him "a snaky-hipped ghost of the gridiron." There are long stories of his prowess at crashing his way through the enemy line, or running the ends.

But the ball-carrier's best friend there is at least one blocker without whom there would be no ball-carriers at all. The blocker is the unknown soldier of the attack. He clears the way for the man with the ball. His task is more important than the ball-carrier's, because the operation he performs on the enemy comes first, and if he fails, the ball-carrier is going to run into trouble every time.

When you read of touchdowns from kickoff, or of backfield men grabbing punts and dodging and twisting 70 yards down the field to the enemy goal, the ball-carrier usually is written in glowing terms. But whenever you read of these deeds, be sure that a number of unknown soldiers participated in that touchdown, and without these men it never could have happened.

FRIEDMAN'S SPEECH

Several recent happenings bring this strikingly to mind. Never before this season have there been, it seems, so many long runs with kickoffs and punts. Not only in minor games but in important contests between the big league teams of football. Another reminder was furnished in a recent speech by Benny Friedman, the former great Michigan quarterback.

Friedman spoke of Brown, the man who played center on the Michigan team in the years when Friedman made his reputation. Brown never was given much of a tumble by the writing people. Yet Friedman spoke of Brown as one of the greatest football players he ever saw. When the attack went over Brown's sector, he nearly always did his work, taking out the man in front of him, clearing the way for a halfback to dash through and make yards and a name. On the defense, Brown time after time broke through and nailed the man with the ball back of the line.

Not many people remember Brown. The name of Friedman is known from coast to coast. How many passes could Friedman have thrown had not Brown held him? How far could Friedman have run with the ball, if the man playing opposite Brown had broken through and nailed Benny behind the line before he could get started?

The country is full of "ordinary" linemen—tackles and guards—and ends who never achieve the notoriety of a Friedman. Most of their work is done unobtrusively, like stage hands who prepare a great scene. They are the unknown heroes, unmentioned doers of mighty deeds.

SAVOLDI CRAZY ABOUT FOOTBALL

Notre Dame's Star Dislikes Being Tackled Most of All; Studies Hard, Too.

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 24.—"Hods to pigskins," may sound like the inside of a general store here, it's merely the qualifications of one Gaillopin. Joe Savoldi, Notre Dame's star, is a student and a football player, and a touch-down specialist, from Three Oaks, Michigan.

Football he's crazy about, and least of all does he like to be tackled. Savoldi would rather have an arm twisted off in a close maul than be brought down from behind while he is galloping down the green-sward.

The huge shoulders, legs like tree stumps and steely snouts pumping his body up and down, were developed by shouldering heavy loads of bricks up the rungs of a ladder.

A little slow thinking, they say, and "We'll letter the plays for you next year, Joe, if you can't remember the numbers," Rock told him during a recent workout. Joe only smiled and went the rest of the afternoon without a hitch.

"Peachus, kegd, det was a guud wan!" Joe exclaims as one of his teammates knocks down an enemy team. A hearty and cheerful word for everyone makes Savoldi one of the best liked players on the team.

Not only on the gridiron but also in the classroom Joe has responded to his tasks with a vigor that would put the ordinary student to shame. A first class worker, his professors say, and they add that it's pretty hard for anyone to keep up in class work with a busy grid season starting in the fall.

WASHINGTON STATE HOPES FOR TITLE

Cougars Have Strong Line for First Time in Years and Coach Hollingberry is Cheerful.

By CLAIRE BURCKEY
NEA Service Sports Writer

The state of Washington may be famous for its salmon, but don't get the idea into your head that Washington State is fish for any football team this fall.

For four seasons, Orin E. (Babe) Hollingberry, coach of the Cougars, has had to sit back and watch Stanford, California and Southern California lick each other for the Pacific coast championship. Every year he has said, "Give me a line and I'll show 'em something."

Natives of Pullman, Wash., noted that Babe displayed a wide grin this fall when practice opened. When they asked him about it, his only answer was "Bring 'em on."

They brought 'em on—and then they took 'em back. The Golden Bear of California was smartly outed by the snarling Cougar. Southern California's Trojans were carried back to Los Angeles "on their shields." The rest of them—Montana, Oregon State, Idaho and Washington—will need more than just a good football team to take the Cougar.

Yes, Hollingberry has his line this fall not only that, Babe can summon more than a dozen husky replacements for his regular forwards. And the ball-carriers who scored against the invaders from California never have been better in the history of Washington State football.

A more versatile corps of ball-carriers than Hollingberry's can hardly be found in the country. All of them know how to kick, run and pass the ball. Tuffy Ellingsen and Porter Linnhart can do everything but swallow it.

Only a peg below them in point of ability are Mike Davis and Howie Moss, sophomore stars; Oscar Jones, pass receiver and off-tackle specialist; Elmer Schwartz, the 200-pound fullback, and Mentor Dalen, another first year man.

But remembering his problems of previous seasons, Hollingberry almost wept for joy when he saw how his line was working out this year. The fellows who had played steadily last year continued to put up their usual good game. The ones who had been erratic in previous encounters, straightened out and became star forwards.

Hollingberry will tell you that they don't make better centers anywhere than Mel Hein, his 196-pound veteran of two seasons. Without pressing him at all, Babe will give you the impression that Hein would be making the All-America for the straight year if he were playing for any of the California Big Three. And maybe he's right.

Flanking Hein at the guards are Fred Garrett, the only sophomore regular in the forward wall, and George Hurley, brother of "Long" John Hurley, a foot 3-inch veteran end. The tackle berths are well taken care of by Harold "Iron Man" Ahlskog and Glen Edwards, a mere 235-pounder. The other first team wingman is Homer Hein, Mel's younger brother, who weighs only 200.

Montana, Oregon State, Idaho and Washington all are showing strength this fall, but Hollingberry's prayer for a line has been answered. The Babe believes that six straight victories ought to break up the championship monopoly held by the Big Three.

Most of us will have to concur in Babe's opinion.

Majors Tell Cubs Terms For Series

Disturbed because their efforts to arrange terms for the annual town football series with the Cubs this week have failed, the Majors today submitted to The Herald their side of the argument for publication asking that the Cubs reply in tomorrow's issue of this publication.

The Majors wanted to meet to talk over the series this week but the Cubs wish to hold the confab next Monday night. The Majors' missive follows:

"The Majors have tried unsuccessfully during the past week to arrange a meeting with the Cubs to discuss the town football series arrangements. We have offered several times to hold a meeting at any hour of the day or night and at any place but to no avail. Now we are getting concerned for fear that snow will fly or Christmas shopping will interfere before we can have the meeting, much less play the series."

"We have another worry and that one is that we have three offers for out of town bookings during November that will net financially just a trifle short of what we estimate the series will pay this year."

"We, of course, prefer to play a town series, particularly for the fans who have so loyally supported us this and in other years."

Through the Press
"After all a meeting is not really necessary and we have decided that a better way to arrange a town series is through the columns of The Herald. This eliminates considerable discussion not pertaining to the subject under debate and gives those who are interested in football in Manchester an opportunity to sit in on the arrangement of their town series. Too, the fans get a chance to judge for themselves whether or not the offers made by each team are of a sporting nature."

"So we invite the Cubs to accept criticize or throw out entirely the following which is our idea as to the arrangements that should govern the series. We would also suggest that the Cubs disclose their acceptance or refusal or what ever it may be in The Herald of Saturday or before another game has been played."

"Following are our suggestions: "Date of series: November 9 and successive Sundays thereafter.

"Place of games: First at Mount Nebo. Second at Hickey's Grove and third, if necessary, on a neutral field, or one to be decided by a toss.

"Money division: $5 per cent to the winner. Cash to be sent to the loser after expenses have been deducted.

"Officials: Same as last year if possible. To be engaged by The Herald.

"List of expenses to be taken out before split: Officers' fees, water-bills, 'ticket' pellets, advertising, meals, fee for treasurer of series, ticket printing, police protection.

"Ruling on the games: Tie games not to count. Two wins to decide the series.

"Eligibility of players: Any player who has played with either team before Oct. 24, eligible to play only with the team he has previously played with.

Comments by Majors
"We are very insistent on the first game being November 9th to an far as possible insure the series being uninterrupted by snow. Officials: If the same officials can be obtained we are assured of good men whose work we have seen and know to be good.

"List of expenses: This is as complete as we can make it but is of course open to revision.

"We feel that a win and a tie deciding the series is an unsatisfactory ending to both the players and fans.

"Both the Cubs and the Majors have had equal and what should be sufficient time to develop their

RISKO IS LOSER ON FOUL IN 7TH

Minneapolis Heavyweight Sensation Floors Cleveland Baker Boy Twice at Boston.

Boston, Oct. 24.—(AP)—A new young heavyweight from out of the west has hurled that dangerous stumbling block to all fighters ambitious to reach the inner circle of championship contenders, Johnny Risko, of Cleveland.

Dick Daniels of Minneapolis knocked the Cleveland baker down for the count of nine in the second round of a ten-round match here last night, then withstood Johnny's terrific comeback and finally won on a foul in the seventh.

The Minneapolis battler who was outweighed almost 13 pounds as he entered the rings at 185½, first surprised the crowd and the bounding Risko about equally by scoring a brief knockdown in the first round. Risko seemed dazed as he started the second round and took a terrific right hook to the head. The referee reached nine in his count before Risko was on his feet again.

At the start of the third, however, Johnny gave Daniels a heavy beating with blows to the body and kept the barrage up until the end of the contest. Although Daniels rallied to win the fifth round and was exchanging punches on even terms when Risko landed a clear low blow after having previously been warned.

Risko forfeited his share of the gate receipts under the Massachusetts rules.

FOOTBALL CHALLENGE

The Pawnee A. C. of New Britain would like to arrange some road games with some of the teams in this section. They are out for the semi-pro championship of the state and have a good start this year by not losing a game or being scored on in four games played.

Would especially like to meet Majors, Rockville, and Cubs. For bookings write: Otto C. Bara, 59 Ellis Street, New Britain, Conn.

A CHALLENGE

Dear Sir: I will appreciate getting the enclosed item into your paper at an early date.

The South Willington basketball team will swing into its schedule on December 12. All home games will be played on Friday nights. We are ready to book games with the leading amateur teams throughout the state. Most of our games will be played at home. We have one of the best courts in the state. Though not the largest the playing surface is excellent, measuring 80 by 60. Any amateur team interested in playing our team are requested to get in touch with the manager, Gardner H. Hall, at South Willington.

Yours truly, G. H. HALL, South Willington, Conn. October 25, 1936.

Last Night's Fights

Boston—Dick Danielson, Minneapolis, beat Johnny Risko, Cleveland, foul, 6; Jack Dorval, Emporium, Pa., knocked out Krute Hansen, New York, 2.

Detroit—King Tut, Milwaukee, stopped Billy Townsend, Vancouver, B. C., 6.

Milwaukee—Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia, outpointed Dave Maier, Milwaukee, 10.

Paterson, N. J.—Herman Perlick, Kalamazoo, Mich., knocked out Jackie Shupack, Paterson, 10; Henry Perlick, Kalamazoo, stopped Pete Petrole, Schenectady, N. Y., 7.

The Sacramento ball park, where the Detroit Tigers will train next spring, is built on a bed of old tin cans. It should be soft on the squad, as Pacific coast players say the field is like a "cushion."

WHO KNOWS WHAT'S WHAT?

An instance of the complication of football rules was furnished in the recent game between Yale and Georgia in which an illegal touchdown was made. Neither fans nor players—and not even the officials—knew that Yale had been granted a touchdown when under the rules no touchdown had been made.

It happened like this: Yale kicked off to Kelly, a Georgia end, who returned the ball about 10 yards before being tackled. He was tackled then so hard that the ball popped off his chest like a cork from a toy gun. Barnes grabbed the ball before it touched the ground and ran across the line with it for what was called a touchdown. No protest was made. Players and fans accepted the decision without a howl.

Georgia 18, Yale 7

It was only in checking over the plays that the error was discovered. Yale, instead of losing to Georgia by a score of 18 to 14, really lost by a score of 18 to 7. But suppose Georgia had not made that last touchdown, and the score at the end of the game had stood 14 to 12? The ensuing ruling of Walter H. Jackson, commissioner of the Eastern Association for the Selection of Officials, to the effect that Yale had made that touchdown illegally, would have amounted to the same thing as a supreme court reversal of decision in the courts of law. Victory for Yale would have been turned to defeat.

The rule governing the matter states that "if the ball is recovered by a player of the receiving team before it is declared dead he may run with it, pass it backward or kick it; if the ball is recovered by a member of the kicking team, the ball is dead at the point of recovery."

Then, there is added to prevent controversy: "After a ball has been kicked off it is to be considered a 'kicked ball' until it is declared 'dead.'" Last September at the rules interpretation meeting, the rules committee passed this regulation:

"When a player of the kicking team recovers the ball under any circumstances, it is dead."

That seems plain enough. Yet the game has been altered so greatly in details of this sort during the last few years, that not one in 100 who sees a football game knows offhand just what the actual rules are on affairs such as this.

Can you imagine the umpire in a game of baseball getting away with any such decision as the official announced in New Haven? The fans would chase the erring arbiter clear back to the hotel.

Conquerors of Majors to Display Wares at Mt. Nebo Week From Sunday; Good Games Here This Sunday.

The New London Ockfords, conquerors of the Majors to the extent of 16 to 0, will come to Manchester a week from Sunday to meet the Cubs. It was announced by Manager Ben Cluse last night.

The Ockfords' triumph over the Majors was automatically established them as a banner attraction for Sunday game here and Manager Cluse was quick to see this point, booking them immediately.

The Cubs and the Ockfords played twice at Mt. Nebo year before last and lost one ending in tie scores, 0-0 and 0-0. The Ockfords had the same team almost to a man. Gadois and Grippo were their stars plus Williams, who is now with the Cubs.

This Sunday will find the Cubs pitted against the Middlesex, Ockfords who hold a convincing 6 to 0 verdict over the Wallingford Eagles, who played the Cubs to one of their numerous scoreless ties only last Sunday. Two former Cub players, Walter Harrison and Charlie Minucet will be with the visitors, as well as their big gun, Eddie Patrick.

Meanwhile the Majors will tackle the Brightwoods of Springfield, at Hickey's Grove. This team comes here highly advertised. The Ray Staters have won two games, tied one and lost one.

Several of the Majors' star players are on the injured list and will be given a rest this week. Captain Brung Moske's knees will be given another week in which to get back to normalcy.

The Brightwoods are coached by Howard Farnell, former St. Bonaventure player, who has developed a team that Springfield is proud to boast.

DROP COLLEGE GRID PLAYERS

Washington, Oct. 24.—(AP)—A day was minus six of its freshman football players who were left yesterday for demanding free room and board so the earnings from their jobs could be kept as spending money. Six more are under investigation.

The boys were dismissed from the squad by James W. Finkle, director of athletics.

The six are Frank Walsh, Dunlop Minn.; John Hofess, Mexico, Mo.; August Newcamp, Erie, Pa.; Charles Robinson, Newark, N. J.; Vance Jovick, Butte, Mont., and George Veneros, Pittsburgh. West Virginia Judge Makes Prohibition Pay

The home-made jail that Justice Harry Johnson built for $1500 and which is paying big dividends, is pictured above, with a closeup of the justice, himself. His usual costs and fines are $42.50 for drunkenness, $57.50 for possession of home brew and $132.50 for possession of liquor—and it doesn't include the jail lodging fee of $1 a night, plus 35 cents for each meal.

Charleston, W. Va.—The prohibition law and a home-made jail have combined to bring a neat gross income of around $1000 a month to Justice of the Peace Harry Johnson, who presides over the populous Cabin Creek district 30 miles from Charleston.

Justice Johnson, elected a year ago for a four-year term, took the prohibition law as he found it, but the jail was his own idea. He operates it like a hotel, charging each guest a jail fee of one dollar and assessing his lodgers 35 cents apiece for each meal. This, added to the court costs that are his legal perquisite in all liquor cases, makes his job one that pays extremely well.

There are a good many liquor law violations in Justice Johnson's district, which is a coal mining section with some 25,000 inhabitants. On some days, he says, he is kept busy from dawn until dusk trying such cases. Until recently there was no jail available—and if the arresting officers shipped an offender off to Charleston, the offender would usually be tried the next morning by a Charleston judge, who would get the fees.

Builds Own Jail
So the justice built his own jail. It is made of concrete, ribbed with small steel rails and about 150 feet from the justice's home. It is a low, one-story affair with one railed window in each side.

The door is of steel and bears two padlocks, one of them a huge affair eight inches long. One enters into a small corridor which runs across the front of the building. There are two cells; one, for women prisoners, has two bunks, while the other, for men, has four. Each cell contains a lavatory and a fresh-air vent in the roof. At one end of the corridor is a desk bearing the jail register.

There are eight state troopers in the district, one prohibition officer and one constable attached to the justice's office. When any of these officials brings in a prisoner he lodges him in the jail, writes his name, the charge and the hour of arrest in the book.

The next morning the justice inspects the book. When the officer brings his prisoner into court the justice—if he finds the prisoner guilty—adds the jail fee to the fine and court costs.

Fines Are Steep
Justice Johnson's court hears about 100 criminal cases a month of which 70 or more are for liquor law violations. In each of these cases the court costs are $7.50. A man arrested for drunkenness will be fined $42.50; possession of home brew costs $57.50, and possessing liquor costs $132.50. Included in each of these fines are a state enforcement fee of $25 and Justice Johnson's $7.50 court costs. Jail fees are in addition to these items.

Thus the regular collection of court costs is said to net Justice Johnson better than $525 a month, while his jail fees bring him $100 or more each month.

"We completed the jail July 10," says the justice. "We had more than 75 prisoners the first 25 days, and I expect I served 150 meals. The madam cooks the meals, and the prisoners eat the same food I do. It is good food."

So it is that this justice of the peace reaps a double-edged profit out of his liquor law convictions—one profit from the court costs and one from the jail fees. His another profit is a state where Prohibition Commissioner W. G. Brown says he has encountered "justices who could neither read nor write," where the Charleston Bar Association is investigating the justice courts for allegedly exorbitant fees; where the law department of West Virginia University is conducting a study of the justice of the peace system, with a view to bettering it.

Justice Johnson says that it cost him $1500 to build the jail, but that it will have paid for itself in a year and a half.

"It's a convenience to the officers," he says. "They don't have to take their prisoners to Charleston, and this jail is as good as any you'll find."

Hollywood Sights—Sounds
By ROBBIN COONS

Hollywood.—Movieland frequently dismisses good fortune in the movies as "just a lucky break" and lets it go at that.

Here is an extra girl suddenly come into prominence. Within a year she is plucked from the ranks and elevated to an enviable position on the stardom climb. She is "Hollywood's newest Cinderella," another example of the "lucky break." She herself calls it "luck."

But there was something else. Frances Dee, born in Los Angeles about 20 years ago, had completed two years at the University of Chicago and had come back to Los Angeles with her mother for a vacation. That was last summer.

Ten a Day
Frances' ambition was for the stage. Tiring of vacation pleasures, she sought work in a Hollywood theater but was rejected. Then someone told her college girls were wanted by a movie studio for atmosphere in a college picture, "Words and Music." The prospect of getting $10 a day for work that was fun appealed to her, she applied, and was accepted. More extra bits followed, and she pleaded with her mother to be allowed to remain in pictures. Mrs. Dee gave Frances a year to try it.

The girl's only experience was playing the lead in her high school's senior play. But she had charge, intelligence, beauty and poise.

Preparation
She studied. She brought plays to read on the sets. When work was lacking, she took part in playlets at the Pasadena "workshop," training school for the Pasadena community playhouse stage. She sought constantly to "improve herself."

PRELIMINARY WORK ON NEW ROAD STARTS

Rockville Highway to Pass in Rear of Talcott Brothers Mills, It Is Decided.

The Talcott Brothers Co. of Talcottville this week decided to the state of Connecticut for highway purposes, a strip of land west of the company's mills over which the reconstructed Manchester-Rockville road is to run. This disposes of any doubt as to the layout of the road through Talcottville and of unfounded rumors that the Highway Department was having difficulty in obtaining the needed right of way.

The new road will run over the flats and behind the Talcott Brothers Company's mills, entirely eliminating the narrow bridge over which the present road crosses the Hockanum river, as well as the complicated S curve of which the bridge forms the center. The river will be crossed over a straightaway bridge at a different point and the S curve will disappear from its immediate vicinity have been the scenes of several bad accidents.

Preliminary work on the new road will begin next week, though it is not expected that surfacing operations will be undertaken before spring. A tool house has already been built and a steam shovel is on its way from Providence in preparation for the extensive grading work.

The general scheme of the Manchester-Rockville road provides for an 80 foot right of way and the state is establishing rights up to 100 feet on the dangerous curves and at Burke's bridge, where it is proposed to greatly widen the underpass.

Irene Rich Is Equally Successful As Mother and Screen Actress

By DAN THOMAS

Hollywood—Can a woman be a successful screen actress and an equally successful mother at the same time?

Many women would give a negative reply to this question. Mothers will tell you that it requires all of their time to bring up their children properly. And actresses will tell you that if one is to succeed in the celluloid profession she must give up her whole life to acting and nothing else.

When I asked Irene Rich this question she merely smiled and replied, "I'll let you be the judge of that—it would sound too egotistical for me to boast of my achievements either as an actress or a mother."

Daughters Adore Her
After asking the question, I suddenly realized that it was rather a foolish one to put to Miss Rich. Her accomplishments in themselves were an affirmative answer. There can be no doubt about her success on the screen. She was a "big shot" for years in the old silent films and she is equally as big now that the talkies are in power. As for her success as a mother—one look at her two children, Frances, 17, and Jane, 15, tells the tale. It would be difficult to find two girls with more good sense, poise and general attractiveness than these two possess. And it is easy to see that they regard their mother as the most wonderful person in the world.

As we were talking Frances came in completely tired out from a hard day's work before the cameras. She is ambitious to follow in her mother's footsteps and is starting out by working as an extra during this summer vacation.

"I never will attempt to mold the lives of either of my daughters," Miss Rich remarked after Frances had made her exit. "I have brought them up to the best of my ability and have the utmost confidence in both of them. Frances will finish school next spring and then I would like to have her go to Europe to study for a year or two but if she prefers to stay here and pursue a film career I will do everything in my power to help her. "That is why I have encouraged her to find work as an extra this summer. She is learning what the business is like now and by the time she finishes school she should know if it is the career she really wants.

Must Have Ability
"In addition, she is learning a great deal about human nature as one meets all kinds of people on a motion picture set. She also has come to the realization that if she ever gets anywhere it will have to be through her own ability and not through any influence I might have. I worked hard for what success I have had, as has every one else who has attained much. It is the only way to do."

Miss Rich was considered "through" by a great many persons when the talkies came along. In fact, Warner Brothers even released her from her contract because they didn't think she could make the grade. Then Fox signed her to play opposite Will Rogers in "They Had to See Paris" and she was so good that she has been kept hopping from one studio to another ever since. At present her make-up box is parked on the RKO lot, where she is appearing in the Amos 'n' Andy picture, "Check and Double Check."

WAPPING

Cards have been received from Mrs. Alice Grant Smith, who is on an automobile trip through Maine and Canada, with Mrs. Charles Later of Buckland and Mrs. MacMillan of West Hartford. They will visit at the home of Mrs. Later's father, in Maine.

Miss Rhoda Fairbanks and Miss Frances E. Mather of East Hartford have returned from Malba, L. I., where they were the guests of Mrs. William Coe Bill the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Parker of South Windsor and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hudson of East Windsor, spent the week-end in Troy, N. Y., as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Page.

The Barber Hill Men's Club will give an oyster supper this evening at their club house.

Farnum Lane and Miss Jessie Lane enjoyed a motor trip over the Mohawk Trail last Sunday and called on friends in Williamsburg.

Twelve members of Wapping Grange motored to Manchester Grange last Wednesday evening and attended their meeting where they initiated a class in the third and fourth degrees.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond W. Belcher and daughter, Miss Blanche Belcher, returned to their home here after spending a few days in New York.

Frank S. Stoughton of Delaware and his son Sidney F. Stoughton of Alden, Pr., came last Sunday to the home of Miss Etta I. Stoughton. They returned to their homes last Tuesday afternoon.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Dwyer is ill at the Hartford hospital.

KIWANIS TO OMIT MONDAY MEETING

Manchester Kiwanians will omit their usual Monday meeting on Monday in favor of the ladies' night program at the Country Club in the evening. Large delegations from the Hartford, Meriden, New Britain and Winsted clubs are expected, and every member of the local club is urged to be on hand to greet them and to bring along their wives or lady friends for a jolly evening.

The dinner at 6:30 will be by Osano, which speaks for itself. Music for dancing will be furnished by the "Elmers." The after-dinner speaker will be International Trustee Ernest R. McGregor of Norwalk. He is sure to have something to say that everybody will enjoy.

The members will put on a comic sketch entitled "The Kiwanis Finishing School." Selectman Wells A. Strickland will furnish the attendance prize.

3,000 TEACHERS MEET

Hartford, Oct. 24.—(AP)—The Connecticut State Teachers' Association opened its 84th annual fall meeting in this section of the state this morning when 3,000 teachers heard the noted historian Dr.

Charles A. Beard of New Milford make a stirring appeal in behalf of the "New frontier," namely science and education. The writer defended the pioneering exploits of New Englanders in the west and the far east against the charges of the western frontier irrespective of New England blood. Due to the present business depression, the National Educational Association appealed to the teachers of Connecticut schools and organizations for co-operation and support, through communications read today.

THIRD VICTIM DIES

Staubenville, O., Oct. 24.—(AP)—Fatalities in the collapse of a tunnel near here which buried a freight train yesterday reached three today with the death of the sole survivor, Louis Romano, 32, brakeman.

caboose, shattered in the avalanche of stones and dirt. Two other trainmen, who with Romano, composed the crew of the caboose, died yesterday. They were Jerry O'Sells, 40, conductor and E. E. Duda, 35, brakeman. All of the victims lived in Dillonville. Investigation of the crash was started today.

Hurley, secretary of war who tonight will be the guest of President Angell of the university. That he may show no bias, secretary Hurley will divide his time between the two sides of the field. The game starts at 2 p. m.

SEC. HURLEY AS GUEST

New Haven, Oct. 24.—(AP)—The Yale-West Point game in the bowl tomorrow will be seen by Patrick J.

STOLEN WATCH RETURNED

New Haven, Oct. 24.—(AP)—A watch picked up in a pawnshop recently and which was pledged for $5 in 1902 had been sent to its owner Mrs. Emma Webb McLean, now living in Pasadena.

POLICE COURT

Augustine Fontaine, truck driver for the Byrolley Transportation company, pleaded guilty this morning in the Manchester Police Court to the charge of reckless driving. A fine of $25 and costs was imposed.

STOP CONSTIPATION THIS PLEASANT WAY

ONCE PEOPLE thought pills and drugs were the only way to relieve constipation. But the modern, safer method is to include sufficient roughage in the diet. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, a delicious ready-to-eat cereal, gives you this bulk, and overcomes constipation naturally. Read this enthusiastic letter:

"Mine was an extreme case of constipation. I had almost given up hope of ever being relieved.

"One day I came across your advertisement, so I thought I would try ALL-BRAN. It relieved me almost immediately and I have had no trouble since, which was almost three months ago."

Mrs. F. E. Leslie, 2104 Lyman St., Flint, Michigan.

Delicious when served with milk or cream. Cook into tasty bran muffins, breads, omelets, etc. ALL-BRAN also adds needed iron to the diet. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. The original All Bran.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN
Improved in Texture and Taste

According to the testimony of Eolicman Joseph Prestige, Fontaine came down the new concrete highway from Bolton to Manchester, driving a four-ton truck loaded to capacity at the rate of 50 to 60 miles an hour. In fact the patrolman said he never saw a truck go that fast in his life. Fontaine admitted having overslept and was trying to make time.

Men from the office of the Byrolley company in Waterbury came to Manchester this morning and paid the fine and costs.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Joseph G. McAllister of Church street successfully underwent an operation for acute appendicitis at the Memorial hospital last night.

Walter, three year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Thuck of 59 Wethersell street was admitted.

TEACHERS GATHER

New London, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Approximately 500 teachers are attending the 84th annual fall meeting of the Connecticut State Teachers Association in this city.

The sessions are being held at Bulkeley High school, Williams Memorial Institute and the Charles B. Jennings Grammar school.

T. W. Burgess, author and naturalist spoke on nature study with boys and girls at the nature study section meeting which was held at Bulkeley school.

AT THE STATE Buster Keaton in "Dough Boys," and H. B. Warner and Irene Rich in "On Your Back" make up the program at the State today and Saturday.

There is one long laugh in "Dough Boys." Keaton is presented as a blundering dough boy who almost wins the war single-handed. Cliff Edwards of ukelele fame, proves an able foil for Keaton.

"On Your Back" is in strong contrast to "Dough Boys." It is the powerfully dramatic story of a devoted mother who tries to plan her son's life only to find out that she has not reckoned with destiny. Raymond Lockett and Marion Shilling have strong supporting roles.

The usual Friday night added attraction in the nature of a Cabaret Night, brings a meritorious four-act vaudeville bill. Hal and Mal will present a roller skating and dancing act full of comedy and thrills. Martin and Lundberg, two boys who can make accordions talk will be on for ten minutes. Tom Stang, black face comedian, is scheduled for a laugh riot. Patsy and Helyn, a dancing and singing team close the bill.

THEATERS THE CIRCLE The Circle has at last joined the ranks of theaters that have gone "talkie." Many changes have taken place in the Circle since it closed for the summer. The machine room has been entirely re-built to accommodate the sound apparatus. The walls have been treated in order to render the house "sound perfect." A new and one of the latest types of sound screens has been installed. The Circle has been made over so as to compare favorably with any theater presenting talking pictures.

The opening program for tomorrow and Sunday is headed by a talking version of Jack London's famous story, "The Sea Wolf." The famous character of "Wolf" Larsen, portrayed by Milton Sills, is one of fiction's greatest. Of iron will, cruel when the needs be, but courageous to the nth degree, is "Wolf" Larsen. Captain of the worst hell-ship that ever sailed the seas, he bulldozed his crew until they could no longer stand his tyranny. The Circle's fire-works begin. There is a love story with tender and sweet. To miss "The Sea Wolf" is to miss one of the most powerful stories ever done for the talking screen.

The program includes the latest Pathe sound news, a comedy entitled "Killing the Killer," and other short subjects. On account of the extra expense of talking pictures the admission prices have been slightly increased at the Circle. The new scale is: Matinee, children 10c, adults 20c. Evening, children 15c, adults 30c.

SHOT, HOLDS GUNMAN Halifax, N. S., Oct. 24.-AP- A man giving the name of John Kelley and an address at Watertown, Mass., was held today on charges of attempted murder in connection with the shooting last night of William Moriarty.

Moriarty was wounded slightly in the leg by a bullet fired at him by Kelley, who attempted to hold him up. Moriarty said that Kelley fired on him while the two were grasping on the steps of his home. He had answered the doorbell and found Kelley on the steps. Kelley ordered him to "put them up," but Moriarty grabbed his assailant. He held on, despite his wounded leg, until police arrived.

OPENING STOCKS New York, Oct. 24.-AP-Industrial shares were buoyant at the opening of today's Stock Market and the general list was strong. Although some of the merchandising issues, rails and coppers passed. U. S. Steel rose 1 1/2 points, American Can, Union Carbide and Vanadium 1, Westinghouse and Studebaker 3/4 and Case 2 points. Montgomery Ward and S. F. W. rose 1/2, each extra expense of talking pictures the admission prices have been slightly increased at the Circle. The new scale is: Matinee, children 10c, adults 20c. Evening, children 15c, adults 30c.

STICKLERS THIS skater has marked, on the ice, sixty-four points and he proposes to start from his present position and cross every one of the points in fourteen straight lines. There is no objection to his passing over any point more than once, but his last stroke must bring him back to his original starting point.

WITHOUT FAIL

"My husband is particularly liable to seasickness, captain," said the woman. The skipper nodded. "I've heard of the complain before, ma'am," he said.

"Could you tell him what to do in case of an attack?" asked the woman. "Tain't necessary," replied the skipper.—Montreal Star.

ONCE UPON A TIME.

The first word that Helen Keller, deaf and blind genius, learned was "doll." Her instructor gave her a doll and then taught her the name of the object by means of the manual method of communication.

Stickler Solution

In this case we go beyond the boundary line of the square. It will be seen that the skater strikes out all the points in one continuous journey of fourteen straight lines, returning to the point from which he started.

THE TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE) The man up by the cork tree said, "Well, sonny, you go right ahead and do a little stripping. It is fun when you know how. It will not take you long to learn to give the bark the proper turn and take it right off of the tree. I'll let you try it now." So Clowdy did as he was told. Of bits of bark he grabbed a hold and pulled as hard as he could pull. The others stood nearby and watched him at his new found task. Soon Clowdy heard wee Scouty ask, "If you're as strong as you contend, what makes you puff and sigh?" "Aw, anyone gets tired out. You don't know what it's all about," snapped Clowdy. "If you think that you can do it, come ahead." This made brave Scouty laugh and he replied, "Oh, no sir, not for me! I know that I can do it, but I'll just watch you, instead." "Of what good

SKIPPY

I TOLD YOU JACKTEERS A LITTLE WHILE AGO TO PUT THIS SKIPPY BY THE SPOT. IT AIN'T BEEN DONE AN' NOW SEE WHAT HAPPENS. THE LITTLE GEE HAS GOVE AROUND AN' BROUGHT BOTH SIDES OF THE STREET TOGETHER. HE'S GOT THE DIFFERENT SUNDAY SCHOOLS SPEAKIN' AN' THEY'RE GOIN' TOGETHER ARM IN ARM. IF THEY AINT BUSTED UP, WE'RE LICKED. BESIDES THAT, HE'S GOT THE FALL STREET CROWD IN BACK OF HIM, WITH THE SUNDAY SCHOOLS ALL TOGETHER AN' THE FALL STREET INTERESTS. THERE'S NOT MUCH ROOM TO THROW ANY MORE BOTTLES, AN' WHAT DOES THAT DO-- IT TAKES AWAY OUR PROTECTION MONEY; HERE WE'VE BEEN GETTIN' PROTECTION FROM THE DELIVERY BOYS, GETTIN' PROTECTION FROM THE KIDS SWIPIN' POTATOES FROM HOME AN' SELLIN' THEM BACK AGAIN, AN' IT'S ALL BEIN' CUT OFF BY THIS SKIPPY. YOU KIDS HAVE GOT TO GO TO WORK IF YOU WANT MONEY NOW, IF HE WINS, WE HAD THEM SCATTERED BEFORE AN' WE HAD OUR OWN WAY SO WE COULD DO AS WE WANTED. ALL WE HAD TO DO WAS SAY, "YOU'RE ON THE SPOT" AN' THEY'D RUN INTO THE HOUSES, BUT WHEN THEY'RE ALL TOGETHER, IT AINT SO EASY. THERE'S ONLY ONE THING THAT WILL WIN OUR GAME AN' THAT IS TO GET RID OF THIS GUY, SKIPPY. HE'S A BAD ACTOR. I NEVER LIKED HIM THE MINUTE I PUT EYES ON HIM. WE'VE GOT TO PUT THIS GUY ON THE SPOT AN' TAKE HIM FOR A RIDE. THEM'S MY ORDERS AN' IF IT AINT DONE, THERE'S A COUPLE OF THIS GANG THAT ARE GOIN' TO BE PUT ON THE SPOT.
