

LEADERS DISCLAIM BALDWIN PETITION

Conservatives Whose Names Were Signed to Resignation Round Robin Say They Were Not At Meeting

London, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Conservative leaders, among them Sir Bolton Eyres Monsell, chief parliamentary whip, disclaimed today participation in a round robin demand upon Stanley Baldwin, former prime minister, that he resign leadership of the party.

Sir Bolton issued a statement that he had received strong protests from members whose names had appeared as signers of a letter yesterday sent to Baldwin calling upon him to quit.

Deny Signatures

Several members, whose names have been published, joined him independently with individual protest, declaring they neither had attended the meeting at which the call upon Baldwin was drafted nor signed the document.

The demand, in petition form, was handed to the whip last night and was party caucus today. It contained the signatures of 44 prominent Conservative members of Parliament.

Sir Bolton's statement to the press said: "I have received strong protests from some members of Parliament whose names appeared as signatories but who were not even present at the meeting."

FILE NEW MOTION IN LEVITT'S CASE

Attorney General's Office Seeks to Have Professor's Motion Ruled Out.

Hartford, Oct. 23.—(AP)—On the ground that under the statute now in force the lower court has no discretion in allowing appeal to the Supreme Court of Errors, the attorney general's office will seek to have Prof. Albert Levitt's motion against it ruled out, it was reported today.

The motion, filed with the clerk of the Superior Court here several days ago, requests Judge Alyn L. Brown to dismiss the attorney general's appeal to the Supreme Court. It would in all probability have been heard in short calendar Friday, but will likely be deferred to the following week because of the necessity for Deputy Attorney General Ernest L. Avery's presence in Bridgeport that day.

Brown's Decision

Judge Brown has decided in favor of Prof. Levitt on the latter's motion to dismiss the attorney general's appeal to the Supreme Court, and petition of the attorney general, who sought a court determination of whether the allegation as made by Prof. Levitt in the original petition alleging material neglect of duty on the part of the Public Utilities Commission, were manifestly untrue.

Repeated by Assembly

It now appears that Section 5820 of the General Statutes, providing for a appeal to the Supreme Court of Errors, was repealed by the General Assembly of 1929, and in its place was enacted Section 5689 as appearing in the revision of 1930. The change was made on recommendation of the judicial council, the new section retaining all the provisions of section 5820 of the 1918 revision, with the exception of the provision above cited.

From this it would appear that the motion of Prof. Levitt might not be entertained by the court because, under the later provision, the court is left with discretion in determining which if any appeals should be allowed. The judicial council at the time of its recommendation is understood to have held that the propriety of appeals constitute a question the Supreme Court itself should determine.

TWELVE ARE HURT IN BUS ACCIDENT

Driver Talking to a Girl Crashes Into Rear of a Loaded Truck in Norwalk.

Norwalk, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Twelve persons were injured here early today, when a Boston-New York bus crashed head-on into the rear of a loaded truck on the Boston Post road. The driver of the bus, who is blamed for the accident by passengers, who told the police that he was talking to a girl at the time, is among those most seriously injured and will be arrested on a charge of reckless driving.

The injured, all of whom were taken to the Norwalk hospital, are as follows: Stanley Calpas, 25, of 23 Kingsboro Park, Jamaica Plain, Mass., the driver, contusions and multiple lacerations of the hands and body.

Emma Brandon, of 258 West, 115th street, New York City, leg injuries, body bruises and lacerations of the head.

Laurence Brandon, same address, bruises and lacerations.

Rex W. Rorr, of 28 Central avenue, Hattytown, N. Y., cuts on the forehead.

Joseph Steine, U. S. Marine Corps, attached to the Navy Yard, Washington, D. C., cuts over the left eye and on the nose.

Wesley Robinson, of 80 Academy Hill, Southington, lacerated hands.

Wentworth F. Grant, of 45 Fifth avenue, New York City, cuts on the left cheek and upper lip.

Rose Daley, of 315 West, 54th street, New York City, abrasions of the face.

Louis Thompson of Pittsburgh, Pa., cuts on the lower lip.

William F. Grant, of Old Country road, Rockland, Me., lacerations of the forehead.

All but the driver, Mrs. Brandon and Mrs. Dejanian will be discharged from the hospital today.

Whitred Remillard, of 35 Lafayette street, New Britain, the driver, declared that he was traveling up an incline at a rate of five miles an hour, when the bus struck the truck about 107 feet and the seats were ripped clear of the floor in the bus.

Mr. Zero Offers "Men for Sale" at $1 a Week

Homeless, jobless men were being offered for sale again—at $1 a week—when this picture was taken at Urban Ledoux's "human auction" in the New York Bowery. Here you see Ledoux, known as Mr. Zero, as he "sold" one man to an apartment house janitor who wanted an assistant to sift ashes. Others are shown waiting their turn on the block as an employment campaign for hungry men was opened in Mr. Zero's Lame Duck club.

HEAD HUNTING SAVAGES KILL JAPS IN FORMOSA

Women and Children Among 89 Victims—150 Others Are Missing; Japan Sends Expedition Into Jungles.

Tokyo, Oct. 23.—(AP)—The fury of an uprising by head-hunting savages in central Formosa was attested today in a report received at the War Office saying the bodies of 86 Japanese slain by the rebelling aborigines had been found at Mushi after a Japanese punitive expedition had fought its way through the marauders.

The punitive expedition occupied the town after battling the insurgents at Bikel, or "Beautiful Valley," on the western edge of the Mushi district. Previous reports had indicated 240 Japanese were missing. The dispatch to the war office left in doubt the fate of nearly 150 others. Thirty-one refugees were said to have reached safety.

Women Victims

Included in the 86 dead were twenty-three women, seventeen girls, twenty-one boys, thirteen policemen and twelve male civilians all of whom were Japanese.

AS SHIP FOUNDERS

Six Survivors Picked Up From Lifeboat Along Coast and Brought to Port

New York, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Eight persons including the owner and his wife in the foundering of the steam yacht Barbadoes off the Delaware Capes Saturday. The S. S. Henry Mallory arrived in port today with six survivors which were picked up from a lifeboat yesterday.

E. G. Valverde, the owner, his wife and three members of the crew went down with the ship. Three more members of the crew died in the lifeboat and were buried at sea.

Captain W. L. Hough, among the six rescued, said the ship ran into a terrific storm Sunday. He attempted to run ashore to seek the lee of some islands. With the shore still many miles away Captain Hough said he found himself standing in water to his knees and he ordered the ship abandoned.

An effort already had been made to lower a lifeboat when suddenly the ship lurched to starboard and sank.

Jumps Overboard

Hough said he shouted to Valverde to jump overboard and himself leaped into the water, followed by several members of the crew. The others clung to the ship which quickly sank.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH CELEBRATES MASS

Solemn Ceremony at Catholic Congress—No Tendency to Join Roman Church.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 23.—(AP)—Elmwood Music Hall resounded today to the solemn tones of a high mass, celebrated as part of the fifth Catholic Congress of the Episcopal church.

Priests and laymen from Episcopal churches in all parts of the United States and Canada bowed their heads in the religious service. The mass was considered by the Congress leaders as one of the outstanding features of the three day session, the announced purpose of which is "to set forth the Church as the Body of Christ, the Sacraments as the extension of the incarnation and our privilege as his members to do his work."

The mass which opened today's services was celebrated by Rev. William B. Kinkard, assistant rector of Trinity church, New York. He was assisted by several other wardens and by a professional choir of more than 150 priests and lay attendants. The processional and subsequent celebration presented a vivid picture of the pageantry and solemnity of the Catholic faith.

Explains Ritual

The ritualism of the services of the Catholic Congress was explained last night in a statement by Rev. C. Clark Kennedy, of New Haven, Conn., executive secretary, as being intended as a means of bringing back the general use of Christianity, all the essentials, including the mass, with its offices; the hearing of confessions by priests and certain other customs.

Father Kennedy took exception to rumors that the ritualism of the Congress indicated a tendency toward union with the Roman Catholic Church. He said: "The matter will not even come up for discussion. It has not had a part in any congress. The English Catholic Church is satisfied as it is. We feel that our Church has all the essentials of Christianity, all of the sacraments, all of the necessary clerical orders, for a part of the English Church."

DISCOVER NO CLUE TO R-100 DISASTER

Probers Wonder Why No SOS Was Sent Out at Any Time During Flight.

London, Oct. 23.—(AP)—A broken cable controlling an aileron, or lifting fin, apparently did not contribute to the R-101 disaster, Sir William Jowitt, attorney-general, said at this afternoon's session of the public inquiry into the destruction of the British airship with a loss of 48 lives.

In the wreckage on the hillsides at Beauvais, France, where the ship crashed and burned Oct. 5, the parted metal cable was found.

Microscopic tests, Attorney-General Jowitt asserted, indicated that the cable had parted after the fire had occurred.

"Although it cannot be said with certainty," he added, "indications are that the cable broke after the flames had swept through the hull of the ship."

SINO-RUSSIAN PARLEY VERGES ON BREAKDOWN

Manchurian Officials Order Troops Sent to Border; Rumors of War Again Over Railway Problem.

Shanghai, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Chinese press reports from Harbin today said north Manchurian authorities had ordered troops to the international border near Manchuli because of a threatened breakdown of the conference in Moscow seeking to settle the Chinese Eastern Railway dispute between China and Russia.

Reports said two battalions of Manchurian infantry and one of artillery had been ordered to the Manchurian-Siberian border to patrol the boundary line "where for several days Soviet troops with bombing airplanes have been demonstrating and where new barracks are being erected in border towns."

The dispatches said the Chinese delegation in Moscow was preparing to depart "as a result of the Soviets demanding complete observance of the Khabarovsk protocol, which the Chinese are not able to grant. The resulting conference is doomed to a breakdown."

Chinese Comment

The Khabarovsk protocol was the agreement between China and Russia which put an end to hostilities over the Chinese Eastern Railway last fall. Since that time Chinese and Russians have been negotiating in Moscow for a treaty which would permanently settle the problem.

Commenting on Sino-Russian affairs the Shanghai Shinwanpo, outstanding vernacular newspaper, said: "Concerning the Moscow conference, the Chinese answer to Moscow's impossible demands should be an abrupt termination of negotiations instead of turning attention to military preparations against threatened Soviet incursions into Chinese territory along the northwest Manchurian frontier."

Built Jointly by Russia and China

In the twenty days, the Chinese Eastern Railway linking Vladivostok with the trans-Manchuria always has been operated by the Chinese and Russians together.

In July, 1928, Chinese forces summarily removed the Russian officials and employees of the railway, charging evidence had been found that the Russians had been using their positions to spread Soviet propaganda in China.

Russian troops occupied several towns in western Manchuria and in the ensuing fighting between Soviet and Chinese troops continued for about six months, ending with the signing of the Khabarovsk agreement.

Under this agreement the status quo of the railway as of the period prior to the removal of the Russians was restored, and while the Chinese were given representation on the board of management, control of the railway remained virtually with the Russians.

SHOT BY SWEETHEART

Millinocket, Maine, Oct. 23.—(AP)—A lovers quarrel today had placed Miss Jeanette Dickinson, 24, in a local hospital with a bullet wound in the abdomen and Milton Quinn, 26, in jail charged with assault with a dangerous weapon.

Hospital authorities said the girl was in critical condition. Police said Quinn told them the woman was shot when she attempted to wrest from him a revolver with which he had threatened to commit suicide.

The young couple's engagement had been broken by Miss Dickinson a short time ago.

WOMEN OF NATION ASKED TO ASSIST IN CREATING JOBS

MARRIES SAME WOMAN FOR THE THIRD TIME

Chicago, Oct. 23.—(AP)—A Chicago poet, E. Leslie Spaulding, was married today for the third time to the same woman. When they were divorced the second time they thought, perhaps, that it would be final, but Mrs. Spaulding chanced to go to St. Stephen's church, where, on the wall she saw one of her husband's portraits.

She liked it so well she fell in love all over again and so they were re-married last night at St. Stephen's by the Rev. Irwin St. John Tucker.

Urged to Have Repairs Made to Homes and Help Local Groups in Relieving Sufferings of the Destitute; Radio and Movies To Do Their Part—Other Projects Discussed at Capital.

Washington, Oct. 23.—(AP)—An appeal to the women of the country to aid the President's emergency committee on employment in its work to aid the jobless was made today by Dr. Lillian Gilbreth of Montclair, N. J., upon taking charge of the women's division.

Dr. Gilbreth urged the women to help by having repairs made to their homes and by working through their various groups to assist the destitute.

Relief Projects

Colonel Arthur Woods, chairman of the committee, said the National and Columbia broadcasting systems had offered their services to the committee as well as the motion picture industry through Will H. Hays.

Concrete examples of local efforts to aid the unemployed will be related over the radio, Colonel Woods said, in the hope that municipalities yet to adopt programs will follow the example of those which have relief plans in full swing.

Chamber's Plan

The United States Chamber of Commerce planned a meeting today to discuss plans of giving its assistance to the emergency group.

Another move to give assistance by Colonel Woods. He said an industrial loan corporation had made available a special fund of $100,000 to local welfare bodies in more than 200 cities to help as many families as possible.

He said, would be available to local welfare bodies and distributed in amounts of $10 to $50 per family to be paid back in small monthly payments without interest or other charges when the breadwinner of the family finds employment.

Later Colonel Woods went to the White House and discussed the situation with President Hoover. He told the Chief Executive he was very encouraged over the work thus far of the emergency committee, and particularly the response of industry, welfare organizations, state governments and private citizens to appeals to help.

Arch Coleman, assistant postmaster general, today sent a letter to 300 postmasters authorizing them to employ auxiliary rural carriers on the longer and more difficult routes during the winter months and part of the spring.

The letter instructed the postmasters to give careful consideration in the choice of such carriers "having in mind those who are capable and available, and who are in need of the assistance this position would afford." It was stated the person selected should be "one who is out of employment at the time, a married man preferably, or in any event one who has dependents."

HITS THE WRONG AUTO

Hartford, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Albert B. Parmalee, 33, of Westgrove, picked the wrong automobile with which to have a collision at the intersection of Albany Avenue and Scarborough Road this afternoon. He is charged with reckless driving.

Parmalee's machine struck another owned by Motor Vehicles Commissioner Robbins B. Stoeckel. It was being driven by Mr. Stoeckel's nephew, State Policeman James W. Dool, in charge of traffic survey for the department, with whom was another member of the department.

Though neither car was badly damaged in the accident, Mr. Parmalee was taken to the police station for examination on the question of whether or not he was under the influence of liquor. Police Surgeon George C. Finley pronounced it a "borderline case." He will appear in Police Court tomorrow.

PINE TREES NOW USED FOR NEWSPRINT PAPER

New Industry for the South Is Opened by Discovery of New York Chemist; Wood Thought Nearly Worthless

Atlanta, Oct. 23.—(AP)—A chemistry Aladdin laid before an Atlanta Chamber of Commerce luncheon today white newsprint paper made from a new source—slash pine.

He said it opens the prospect of a new and wholly American supply of newsprint and high grade book paper made from southern pine trees probably of all sorts.

The Aladdin was Dr. Charles H. Herty, of New York, former president of the American Chemical Society. He made his discovery public without reservations, and proposed that southern business men make use of the knowledge to enrich the south.

Made Yellow Paper

Southern pine long has been used to make paper of a yellow variety. Dr. Herty said, but not to compete with the high grade sulfite process newsprint and white book paper made from spruce.

His new paper was made of the one variety of southern pine suggested to be the least capable of producing regular newsprint. It was held to contain too much resin. Last spring Dr. Herty announced at a meeting here the discovery that resin in young slash pines is mostly myth, and today he quoted the Southern Paper Company's research laboratory in confirmation.

Furthermore, Dr. Herty said today, there is no more resin in any of the southern pines than in spruce. The resin forms in the heart wood of the southern pines after they are about 25 years old, when he said they usually are too large for pulpwood.

POLITICAL CHIEFS MAKE PREDICTIONS

Claims and Counter Claims Come From Leaders As Campaign Nears a Close.

Washington, Oct. 23.—(AP)—The seething period of claims and counter claims immediately preceding election day was well under way in the capital today as leaders continued on at least minor activities. The Republican leaders conceded they will suffer net losses in the Senate after the ballots are counted but they profess themselves much encouraged by recent developments and confident a safe party majority will be maintained.

From the Democratic party headquarters last night came an interpretation of Secretary Wilbur's recent campaign speech which urged the defeat of insurgent Republican Senators who have not cooperated with President Hoover.

Senator Jettett Shouse of the National executive committee who said he holds Wilbur's talk to be "really asking for the defeat of such Republicans as Senator Borah of Idaho, Senator Norris of Nebraska, Senator McKeator of South Dakota, Senator Fine of Oklahoma and numerous others whose attitude during the recent sessions of Congress allied Mr. Hoover with grief."

Texas Guinan's Guests Are Sleuths in Disguise

New York, Oct. 23.—(AP)—Texas Guinan had another embarrassing moment when she discovered she had again been entertaining cops unwares.

The blow-off came early this morning when about 200 guests were present.

Two men in proper evening clothes who had visited the place frequently enough recently to be classed as "regulars" approached the Mistress of Ceremonies and begged to see her weren't patrons at all, but just two detectives bent on doing their duty.

TOWN TO TRUCK FUEL FOR NEEDY

Charity Superintendent G. H. Waddell Arranges Transportation of Wood.

Charity Superintendent George H. Waddell today told The Herald that arrangements had been made to provide town trucks to transport firewood for needy families who have cut fuel at the Maneggie farm in Bolton. However, the wood must be brought to an accessible place so that it can be loaded on the trucks.

Transporting Problem

Yesterday Andrew Maneggie of Bolton, announced that he would allow needy families to cut wood on his property under the same conditions State Forester Hayes said the fuel could be obtained from state forests. One of the problems that face families desperately in need of fuel here is the transporting of the wood to town.

Woods, who returned last night from New York, had on his desk today four large folders containing plans and suggestions from all over the country looking toward alleviation of unemployment. He said each proposal was being studied by the committee. He was grateful for them. He noted, however, that appeals for specific aid would have to be taken care of through local agencies and that the President's committee was not organized to provide individuals with employment.

Chamber's Plan

The United States Chamber of Commerce planned a meeting today to discuss plans of giving its assistance to the emergency group.

Another move to give assistance by Colonel Woods. He said an industrial loan corporation had made available a special fund of $100,000 to local welfare bodies in more than 200 cities to help as many families as possible.

SCREAM FOOLS BANDIT

Middletown, Conn., Oct. 29.—(AP)—Posing as a delivery man, a bandit today gained admittance to the home of Mrs. Charles H. Bell of Portland, attempted to rob her of her diamond ring and fled when she screamed.

Mrs. Bell reported that the man wearing trousers and an orange plaid lumbermans shirt, called saying he was bringing an order of maple syrup had sent for. She denied placing the order. The man then followed her into the house and demanded to know if any men were present. Although she informed him that there was someone upstairs, he forced her into a closet and demanded two diamond rings she was wearing.

The appeal for funds to assist in promotion of Scouting is also being made this week.

HEAD HUNTING SAVAGES KILL JAPS IN FORMOSA

it was feared many others perished in the surrounding district.

When the expedition arrived at Musha the savages fled, and the few remaining hoisted flags of submission.

Six fighting planes prepared for action, and the mountain artillery were ordered to join the expedition, which is now over 1,000 strong.

Word of the revolt came early a fortnight after Formosa officials had announced the successful conclusion of Japan's 25 year fight to subdue the aborigines.

The Japanese authorities were unable to explain the motive for the uprising. Two infantry companies and a police detachment had been sent from opposite sides of Formosa to converge on the savages, and quell the uprising. It was the police detachment which finally reached the town.

Some Explanations Newspapers here, however, offered several explanations for the revolt. Among the reasons advanced was the electric power project at Lake Jitsugaitan.

The Japanese authorities were unable to explain the motive for the uprising. Two infantry companies and a police detachment had been sent from opposite sides of Formosa to converge on the savages, and quell the uprising.

Other alleged causes were given as oppressive supervision by Japanese police, and failure to pay the savages for labor done on public works. Details partially or wholly denied these explanations.

Some 1,500 savages took the war-path.

DEPOSIT WAS A LOAN

New York, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Debits of $1,500 to the account of Mrs. S. L. Crater a month after her husband, former Supreme Court Justice Joseph F. Crater, disappeared was explained today by District Attorney Crain as a loan to her from Judge Crater's former law partner.

Discovery of the account caused considerable speculation hinging on the possibility that Judge Crater might have sent it to his wife, but this was dispelled by Mr. Crain and by Henry J. Clarke, Mrs. Crater's brother.

Mr. Clarke said Mrs. Crater borrowed $1,900 from Simon H. Fifkino, her husband's former partner, early in September and deposited $1,500 of it in the bank. Judge Crater disappeared August 6.

CLASSY PRISONER

Waterbury, Oct. 29.—(AP)—New Haven county jail received its classiest guest this morning when Carl Erasmus, 22, of Stamford, wearing his bow tie and Colonel James Geddes' haven of rest and restitution attire in a dark blue beret, black and white sports shoes, trousers with a razor edge crease, a neat year's model top coat and leather gloves, carefully turned down over the wearer's hands in becoming manner.

Mr. Erasmus' certain had "it" but the judge learned he had not the wherewithal to pay $10 and costs. Carl had been found sleeping in an automobile at the city's outskirts. Police objected not to his slumbers but to the fact that his traveling bag was not properly registered. Officer Fred Hickey of the vice squad who escorted Carl to jail remarked that he had not had such a treat since he witnessed the last raid of Earl Carroll's Vanities.

That a Main street merchant is superstitious to the point where he will not sign documents of any kind on Tuesday.

That according to Professor E. L. Getchell who conducts the current literature at the High school every Monday, Edith Wharton is the greatest writer in the world today.

That Earl Carroll, who was present at the opening of his Sketch Book at Parson's last night, told two Manchester men that he was as proud of this production as any of his famed "Vanities."

That at least one Boy Scout in Manchester will shy at taking part in a watermelon hunt on a pitch dark night hereafter, so happened that Troop 8 of Manchester Green had a watermelon hunt at the last meeting and one of the members crept along in the dark and made a grab at what he supposed was a watermelon. He hurried away as he very soon found out.

CAMPBELL NEVER KNEW DEAD GIRL, HE ASSERTS

Washington, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Harbert M. Campbell, charged with the murder of Mary Baker testified in the District of Columbia Supreme Court today as to his movements on April 11, the day Miss Baker was killed.

Campbell, who followed his wife on the stand said he had an engaging conversation with her in the afternoon of April 11 with Mrs. Gwendolyn Parsons. He said he met her shortly after 2 o'clock and drove his automobile back to Virginia, and parked for a time on a road near Arlington National cemetery.

The defendant said he took Mrs. Parsons back to Washington between 4:30 and 5 o'clock and left immediately for his home in Virginia. He said he was not sure which route he took on his return and added "if Miss Baker's automobile was parked at 17th and B streets, I possibly might have passed it."

The prosecution contends the attack on Miss Baker began at 17th and B.

Campbell was asked if he had ever known Mary Baker.

"No," he answered. "I never knew her, never saw her and most certainly never killed her."

MESSENGER IS SHOT; SATCHEL IS STOLEN

Philadelphia, Oct. 29.—(AP)—John Miller, a messenger for the Excelsior branch of the Pennsylvania Company for Insurances on Lives and Granting Annuities, was shot and seriously wounded today by two robbers who escaped with a satchel Miller was carrying.

The satchel, police said, contained about $2,100. Miller was returning to the branch bank at Lehigh and Germantown avenues when he was accosted by the two men, who opened fire and grabbed the satchel.

An eye witness said the robbers escaped in a sedan bearing a New Jersey license. As the car started with one of its rear doors open, the driver rushed the truck and the doors closed.

The police are having examined for finger prints.

Miller was shot three times, one of the bullets entering his left temple.

boat and they set out on their long journey which ended yesterday afternoon when the Mallory sighted them. They were without water except that which they lickered off the sides of the boat and within 12 hours three of the men were dead—Walters the mess boy, George Carl Erasmus and George Watts, the cook. Late Sunday night with a rough sea, Captain Hough said he ordered the bodies put overboard to lighten the craft.

Two Injured Captain Hough and three of his men were able to go to their homes when the Mallory docked. A Lynch, one of the firemen, who was injured in an explosion that came just before the ship sank, and Alexander Allembly, one of the seamen were taken to the Marine hospital. All were from New York.

Because she carried no radio, word of the Barbadoe's plight was not received until the Mallory rescued the survivors. Six more hours in that lifeboat, Capt. Hough said, and there would have been no survivors.

DECISION RESERVED

Superior Court Judge Believes Couple Should "Try to Make a Go of It."

Decision was reserved by Judge Ernest C. Simpson in Superior Court yesterday in the divorce case of Mrs. Helen Hayes Shea of South Manchester and Frederick T. Shea of Manchester. Mrs. Shea petitioned for divorce on grounds of intolerable cruelty. Shea who lives on Bering street was separated from his wife last April 17. Commenting on the case Judge Simpson said: "It is unfortunate they could not make a go of it. If there is any way they can get along they should do it."

"Since their marriage in 1926, when Mrs. Shea was 25 and her husband 21, Mrs. Shea has had three children. Her nerves, she said, had been shaken by her husband's treatment, this being corroborated by two doctors. Her husband's promises to treat her more kindly had been broken three times she said."

"It was admitted by Shea on the stand that he had struck his wife but only on few occasions and that up to two weeks ago they were on friendly terms. He had visited her at her home in Windsor, had given her money, and a few days ago she had visited him here, assisting him in picking apples. Shea said he wanted his wife and the children to return to him. Mrs. Shea asked for $20 a week support for herself and the three children. She was represented by Judge William S. Hyde. James J. O'Connor appeared for Mr. Shea.

CONFESSES FIRING SHOT THAT KILLED PAYMASTER

Philadelphia, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Peter Georgiano, 20, of Bridgeton, N. J., was arrested in South Philadelphia today and was said by police to have confessed firing the shot that killed William J. MacCauley, paymaster of the Salem Glass Works, at Salem, N. J., in an attempted payroll robbery last Friday.

Georgiano was held without bail to await extradition to New Jersey. A squad of Philadelphia and New Jersey police arrested him after they said he attempted to escape from a house.

Georgiano was implicated in the holdup and slaying by Charles Ardis, 19, of Bridgeton, who surrendered in Millville last night, as a result of information given by Ardis to other suspects, Charles Fithian and Henry Green, both of Salem, also were sought.

Georgiano said the trio scooped up $500 from the sidewalk after MacCauley fell. He told police he showed a pistol against MacCauley's side and before he knew what happened it discharged. He declared he did not mean to shoot the paymaster.

Ardis denied that he knew of the shooting.

GANGSTER MURDERED

Kansas City, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Solly Weissman, 35, described by police as a gambler and gangster, died early today, from a bullet wound in the neck, suffered yesterday five hours after Federal liquidation charges against him had been dismissed.

Charles A. Haughton, 64, South-west manager for the General News Bureau, surrendered late yesterday when informed he was sought in connection with the shooting. Police said he admitted firing the fatal shot.

Haughton was quoted by police as saying Weissman, who weighed 300 pounds, sought to renew an old quarrel over racing news furnished his booking agency by Haughton. "When he reached in his pocket," police quoted Haughton as saying, "I, knowing his reputation, fired upon him."

Weissman, fatally wounded, was found in a track folic's rendezvous. He declined to name his assailant.

ROUSE H. S. SPIRIT FOR FRIDAY'S GAME

Entire Student Body Pointing to West Hartford Battle—Pep Meetings Today.

In an effort to increase the football spirit at Manchester High school, the student council yesterday voted to assess every student twenty-five cents and to also make every possible endeavor to induce all the students to attend the West Hartford game here Friday afternoon.

Every year Manchester has an objective game in football and this year it is the West Hartford game. That is why the whole-hearted support of the school is being solicited both for their financial and personal support. Ticket sellers have long had difficulty collecting from those who witness games in any sport at the open West Side field and the student council felt that the school should set the example. Hence the small tax which has been assessed each student in the hope of creating the realization among the students and outsiders as well that they should pay to see the games.

ARMORERS' HAMMERS STILL CLANG IN LONDON

London.—(AP)—Americans now take almost the entire output of London armorers, those expert smiths who still use methods of their fathers to hammer out breastplates, greaves and other pieces that go to make up an iron suit.

Samuel Rex, proprietor of one of the few remaining shops, keeps busy designing special orders for wealthy Americans who desire the outfits of mail, helmet, swords and shields for decorating spacious mansions.

They used great steel in those days," he said as he took down a breastplate dented years ago probably by a harquebus. Several lusty blows of his sledge failed to take the dent out of the armor.

He could make them as fine as this," he said, "only who would pay such a high price for my time?"

A. A. U. SANCTIONS CROSS COUNTRY

Annual Thanksgiving Day Race Gets Official O. K. Arrange for Prizes.

Tentative arrangements for obtaining prizes for the annual five-mile cross country run Thanksgiving Day morning were discussed this morning at a special meeting held in the Chamber of Commerce.

The affair will again be sponsored by its originators, the Recreation Centers, or, to be more specific, Lewis Lloyd, director of the organization.

For the first time in four years, it is expected that the cross country run this year will be sanctioned by the National Amateur Athletic Association. Past races have been so highly satisfactory from all points, that the O. K. by the A. A. U. authorities is regarded as only adding to the prestige of the race.

Miss Ruth Benedict, an Eighth District school teacher, who was injured recently while driving to her home in Vermont, is back teaching this week after being confined to her apartment for two weeks.

The next progressive bridge party for men and women in the banquet hall of the Masonic Temple, will be held on Tuesday night Nov. 4. A new added feature, without exciting the old members, will be in charge, for this one occasion will be a few selections of string music and probably a few dance numbers.

Mrs. Elton A. Johnson, of 28 Marble street, entertained a few of her friends at a Halloween bridge party last evening at her home.

First prize winner was Miss Doris Robshaw and second prize went to Miss Mary Taylor. Refreshments were served. Guests present were Miss Doris Robshaw, Miss Mary Taylor, Miss Hulda Butler, Mrs. Olga Enrich, Miss Laura Sherman, Miss Bernice Weiant, and Mrs. Stuart Segar.

Tomorrow night the Jack-O-Lantern Dance Palace at Bolton will hold its annual Masquerade Dance. Prizes in gold will be given to the fairest and best dressed lady and the most attractive gentleman.

Prompter Harold Gates of Cromwell will prompt for the old-fashioned string and square dances which are so popular with the Thursday night patrons of the dance hall. Bill White's orchestra will furnish the music.

The Massachusetts man's car knocked down and ruined a "bobby" sign across the street, a distance of fifty feet, almost with the speed of a bullet and crashed through a plate glass window of the Schulte-United store.

Charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, Joseph Sullivan, 34, of Boston, was sentenced to jail for 45 days on recommendation of Prosecuting Attorney Joseph E. Griffin.

Evelyn Underwood, 22, negro, of Springfield, was charged with assault with a dangerous weapon, was fined $100 and costs.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Peckham of Hoosick, N. Y., came to town to attend the funeral today of Mrs. Christian Erickson, Mrs. and Mrs. Peckham who formerly lived in Bolton will visit with Mrs. Peckham's relatives in Glastonbury before returning to their home.

The usual Wednesday evening bridge, with set-back party will be held at 8 o'clock at St. James's school hall. Prizes will be awarded to each section and refreshments served.

A. Huet, who is employed by the Chance Vought company, East Hartford, has rented the home of Paul Downer at Center street, through the Clarence H. Anderson agency. Mr. Huet will move his family here from New York Saturday.

TURKEY CELEBRATES

Angora, Turkey, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Turkey's premier were here today for the celebration of the Turkish republic's eighth birthday.

They were Dr. Eleutherios Venizelos and Count Stefan Benellos, Greek and Hungarian respectively. With President Mustafa Kemal Pasha they reviewed a parade of Turkish soldiers, Boy and Girl Scouts and school children.

The streets were a medley of thousands of peasant women veiled and wearing colored baggy trousers and Parisian gowning wives of government officials.

HUSBAND WAS CRUEL

Chicago, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Mary Goldberg, who weighs 380, was granted a divorce yesterday from her husband, Samuel, weight 110, on the charge that he was cruel. Once, she testified, he knocked her down.

WOMAN'S AUXILIARY AT ST. MARY'S, PLAN

Meeting at Parish House Friday Afternoon—Mrs. Anna L. Riddle to Speak.

Mrs. Anna L. Riddle of Hartford will be the speaker at a meeting to be held on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the parish house of St. Mary's Episcopal church, called for the purpose of organizing a branch of St. Mary's of the Woman's Auxiliary of the National Council.

Riddle is the widow of Rev. Jacob Riddle, a former rector of the church, and she is the official organizer for the Hartford archdiocese. All members of the Woman's Auxiliary and all women of St. Mary's parish interested are urged to attend this meeting. The committee in charge includes Mrs. Charles Wade, chairman, Mrs. Charlotte M. Gotberg, Mrs. Elizabeth Caverly, Mrs. James Harrison, Mrs. Robert McKay. Tea will be served.

Wednesday, November 5, many from the local Episcopal church will attend the fiftieth anniversary of the establishment of the Woman's National Council of Connecticut, beginning at 9:15 a. m. with Holy Communion at Christ church cathedral, and at 2:30 in the afternoon a meeting at Bushnell Memorial. The guest speaker will be the Right Reverend James De Wolfe Perry of Providence, presiding bishop of the Episcopal church of the United States.

It is suggested that women from St. Mary's church who attend both morning and afternoon sessions provide their own basket lunches. Tea and coffee will be furnished at Christ church parish house.

The women are also reminded to bring their thank offerings to the regular Sunday service at St. Mary's church.

CHENEY SALESROOM OPENING TODAY

Cheney Brothers' salesroom moved across Elm street to its newer and more spacious quarters this afternoon. The formal opening was at 2 o'clock followed by a Style Show of fall fashions at 3 o'clock.

Robshaw and second prize went to Miss Mary Taylor. Refreshments were served. Guests present were Miss Doris Robshaw, Miss Mary Taylor, Miss Hulda Butler, Mrs. Olga Enrich, Miss Laura Sherman, Miss Bernice Weiant, and Mrs. Stuart Segar.

HE STEALS THE BUSINESS New Haven, Oct. 29.—(AP)—A stranger nonchalantly sauntered into the filling station tended by John Laudano today.

"Ho's business?" he asked. "Good," the manager said. The stranger unbuttoned his coat displaying a pistol.

"Give me the business," he ordered. He escaped with the $58 in the cash drawer.

The same filling station was robbed of $76 a few months ago.

EAST HAMPTON FIRE East Hampton, Oct. 29.—(AP)—An explosion and fire which swept through an unoccupied restaurant and broke the plate glass window in the front, early today is believed by police to have resulted from incendiary attempt to destroy the entire North store block in which the restaurant was located.

Firemen prevented the flames from spreading to the three other places of business and the apartments above which constitute the building. Damage was estimated at about $4,000.

UPSET NOT SERIOUS IF BOWELS GET THIS HELP

When you're out-of-sorts, head-achy, dizzy, bilious with coated tongue, bad breath, no appetite or energy—don't worry. It's probably constipation.

Take a candy Cascaret tonight and see how quickly your trouble clears up. No more head-achy, no gas on stomach or bowels. Appetite improves; digestion is encouraged. Take another tomorrow night and the next night. Get every bit of the souring waste out of your system. Then see how bowel action is regular and complete.

Cascarets are made from cascara, which doctors agree actually strengthens bowel muscles. Ten cents at all drug stores.—Advt.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 29.

A GREAT LEADER

A very distinguished American, an outstanding Republican and one of the most brilliant and intellectual as well as one of the most indefatigable foes of prohibition in the country, will be in this vicinity tonight in the person of James M. Beck of Philadelphia, who is to address a big Republican rally at Bushnell Memorial, Hartford.

Mr. Beck, whose patriotic fervor for public service took him into the national House of Representatives after he had earned high distinction as solicitor-general of the United States, is recognized as one of the great constitutional lawyers of the country. His entry into the Connecticut campaign as an advocate of the Republican nomination is of peculiar importance because his position with relation to prohibition so completely squares with the Republican platform. He is the most authoritative of that very considerable number of persons who, while they would be very glad indeed to see the Eighteenth amendment repealed, do not believe that there is no escape from prohibition except through such a course.

It is that attitude which is taken into consideration by the platform of the Connecticut Republicans and is not taken into consideration by the platform of the Democratic party in this state.

There is a very deep seated feeling among thinking people that the Eighteenth amendment lacks the true quality of constitutional law; that it is irreconcilable with the body of the Constitution and the Bill of Rights; that it carries with it implications of nullification of vital elements in the nation's basic principles; that sooner or later it will come to the consciousness of the people that we have created an impossible condition as if we had written into the Constitution, side by side, the declarations, "There shall be no king" and "There shall be a king."

Of the great legal lights who have taken the general position that such is the status of the Eighteenth amendment James M. Beck is perhaps the most outstanding. What he is likely to say at Hartford tonight in support of the broad opposition of the Connecticut Republican platform to federal prohibition should be of the most intense interest.

A GOOD TIME WAS HAD

Judging from the detailed stories of the occasion in Massachusetts newspapers this morning, Al Smith received a whale of a reception when he spoke in Boston last night. A huge crowd went wild over him and the "happy warrior" had a happy time indeed. None of the responsibilities of office, nothing to do but sweat the other fellow with his highly popular brand of witticisms. Apparently Al's visit did just what it was intended to do—stirred up a tremendous amount of enthusiasm among Bay State Democrats.

Yet the former New York governor didn't, after all, say a constructive word. He accused the Republican national administration of lacking in leadership. But beyond asserting that the Democratic idea of dealing with the tariff would be to appoint a high priced commission and take the tariff out of politics Al hadn't a word to say about how he himself, as leader, would go to work to cure unemployment or otherwise improve the economic situation of the country.

He didn't say a word as to whether or not he would give the nation the same kind of leadership "with guts" that New York City is now experiencing. He didn't say a word as to whether jobs on the proposed high priced tariff commission would be dispensed by Tammany chieftains transplanted to Washington as to much per job. He simply lambasted the Republican party and all its works, and the faithful howled in joy.

A DANIEL'S JUDGMENT

Judge Merritt of the Bridgeport Police Court has a theory of his own that percentages have something to do with gambling as well as with alcoholic drinks. A zealous state police officer who lives in the Park City observed much activity at a place near his home and learned that cards were played there and drinks sold. With another state trooper he got the help of local police and raided the establishment. In court it developed that some beer seized contained less than one-half of one per cent alcohol. Also that the stakes on the tables in front of seventeen players amounted to $2.85.

"The near-beer is legal," said the judge, "and as for the stakes in the games they weren't half as high as those commonly played for in any number of homes in this town. Discharged."

It is undoubtedly sinful to gamble and it is sinful to drink alcohol. But if it is legally innocent to drink alcohol in amounts of one-fourth of one per cent it is possible that there may be some logic in the judge's ruling that gambling for minute stakes is equally innocent.

Anyhow, we don't expect to hear of impeachment proceedings being brought against Judge Merritt on account of this decision.

A MISTAKEN VIEW

President Hoover has been mildly criticized of late by some of his more independent friends for a tendency to petteulence. He has unfortunately given some support to this criticism by jumping on the newspapers that printed the charges of Ralph S. Kelley alleging improper disposition of shale oil lands by the Department of the Interior, accusing them of questionable journalistic ethics; when as a matter of fact the newspapers which originally printed the Kelley accusations made it perfectly clear that they were printing them merely for what they were worth as the statements of a long-time official of the department.

The President thinks the newspapers should have "investigated" the charges. They should have and could have done nothing of the kind. That was a job for the Department of Justice. It has now been done.

Mr. Hoover's administration is completely vindicated. Would he have preferred to have whippers of a new oil scandal racing about through the entire country rather than have the accusations hauled into the light and their disproof thus made possible? Mr. Hoover would have shown a better sense of proportion if he had thanked the newspapers for the opportunity to squelch the slander.

GARRISON

Race track jockeys, like many actresses, have been in the public eye so long by the time they reach middle life that people of their own age are very apt to attribute to them burdens of years much beyond their deserts. Snapper Garrison, who died yesterday at 62, would have been placed at an offhand guess by many more or less elderly persons, at 70 or even a little more. It seems like a full lifetime ago since Garrison filled the eyes of the sporting world with his sensational victories in the stretch and when the phrase "a Garrison finish" was incorporated into the colloquial language as a synonym for an extraordinary and successful effort near the close of a contest of any sort.

But jockeys reach their fame earlier in life than almost any other class of persons. Boys of fifteen or sixteen have become international personages. Often, by the time they are thirty they have been long forgotten. When, years afterward, they appear again in the news, the impression is that some very old man has crawled out of his chimney corner.

Snapper Garrison, a memory of four decades ago, was younger at the day of his death than three presidents of the United States were on the day of their inauguration and only a year older than two others.

ONLY SAFE RULE

A most unusual tragedy was that in Milford where a citizen, going to the rescue of his airdike which had been attacked by two police dogs, struck at the fighting animals with the butt of his shotgun and was killed when the gun was discharged. The proceeding was in no way an unnatural one. It was a perfectly rational act for the man to grab his gun in a case where two big police dogs were involved. It was decent in him to refrain from shooting the assailant dogs. The butt of a gun forms a convenient club. Yet the Milford man ran a frightful risk, and lost. He had never had properly drilled into him the essential rule in handling firearms—never under any circumstances let the muzzle of a gun or pistol be pointed in the direction of yourself or any other person, even for half a second, unless you intend to kill.

LEONIDAS MINUS

Professor Albert Levitt having served notice on Republican Chairman J. Henry Roraback that he is holding to Dean Cross, the Connecticut G. O. P. must now put its best foot forward to compensate for the defection. Mr. Roraback in his speech at New Haven on Monday made only the modest claim of a thirty thousand majority for the Republican party on election day, whereas Mr. Levitt controls nine votes in Redding, his home town, at least one in Bristol, one in Newington, one in Ashford and possibly two or three others around the state. It is doubtful if any of the former Levitt votes in Waterbury, stronghold of the late professorial insurgency, can be listed with the bolters, since William J. Pape, former political partner of Levitt, announced yesterday that he would not follow the Levitt lead in going over to the Cross camp. Therefore the professor is liable to master at least a dozen, perhaps twenty votes, which he will lead out of the Republican camp, banners flying, to offset Mr. Roraback's conservatively calculated thirty thousand.

Even Leonidas, at Thermopylae, had a bigger gang than that. So that if the professor with his fourteen or sixteen warriors succeeds in knocking off J. Henry's thirty thousand majority he will make the Spartan hero look like a piker.

CAPTAIN FRIED'S HOME PAID FOR BY HIMSELF

Yonkers, N. Y., Oct. 29.—(AP).—The general impression that was broadcast a year ago when Captain George Fried, noted sea hero, came to Yonkers that his residence on Colonial Drive had been presented to him by subscription of a citizens committee was dispelled today after the captain appeared before the local Board of Tax Review and asked a reduction in the 1931 assessed valuation levied on his residence.

The captain's home is assessed at $17,800 and he asks that that valuation be reduced to $15,000. He told the Tax Review Board that the purchase price, while originally fixed at $21,000, had recently been reduced by the sellers to $17,500, which sum he himself had paid. He indicated that the committee "donating the house had paid little, if anything, towards its purchase price."

The announcement some 18 months ago that Captain Fried, perhaps the best known officer of the American Merchant Marine, was coming to live in Yonkers was hailed as a civic honor of the first importance. This announcement was made shortly after the captain had successfully completed his thrilling rescue of the passengers and crew of the S. S. Florida, an exploit that was preceded by the equally thrilling rescue of the S. S. Antinoe.

RECONSTRUCTING ANIMAL OF PREHISTORIC TIMES

New York, Oct. 29.—(AP).—From bits of fossilized bone, many as small as a pencil point and none larger than the first joint of a human finger, scientists at the American Museum of Natural History are piecing together the best of a grand-daddy of the gigantic dinosaur and phyosaurs of 200,000 years ago.

Digging last November in fossil material along the Little Colorado river, east of the Grand Canyon and near Cameron, Ariz., the first remains of the little beast of long ago were found by Barnum Brown, the museum's curator of vertebrate paleontology. He went back this past summer and found enough additional fragments to permit the start of reconstruction, which is now under way.

The patched together pieces of bone comprise a good part of the skull, the neck, ribs and limbs, and though the column is not complete there is enough to indicate that this little forerunner of the enormous beasts of the prehistoric triassic period was approximately three feet long. It had the skull of a dinosaur and the body of a phyosaur.

Brown said the discovery was important in that it did away with the common belief that central Asia was the cradle of life, for its presence in this continent shows that the great animals of earliest known life existed both in Asia and America.

WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

Washington—The best comfort that can be held out to persons with no overcoats and no place to keep warm is the fact that we are likely to experience a mild winter, although it may be the coldest and severest in history.

Considering how many folks there are who confidently predict long, hard winters or short, easy winters, the complete ignorance of the U. S. Weather Bureau here seems astounding. There are men at the bureau who have spent decades trying to find a method of forecasting a whole season and they all had to give it up in black despair.

Sometimes it seems as if hot summers are more likely than not to be followed by warm winters and the winters of the last 10 years or so have shown a tendency toward mildness.

"But it is utterly impossible to predict whether a season will be warmer or colder than the average," says Dr. William J. Humphreys, the Weather Bureau's erudite and world-famous meteorologist. "No two seasons are alike and they often differ widely."

"Studies have been made in all parts of the world with the idea of learning how to forecast the next season's weather, but hardly any really all show negative results. We must hit it right three-fourths of the time in any long range forecasting system that justifies itself and there isn't any such system."

"Signs" Are Hokus
Don't go paying any attention to the amount of fur on animals or the thickness of corn husks or the amount of honey the bees have stored up. The fur depends on the animal's physical condition, husks on the degree of ripeness and likely to sting you if you go nosing around in their hives. And don't you be saying such complete nonsense as:

"Onion skin very thin
Mild winter coming in.
Opion skin thick and tough
Coming winter cold and rough."

The average winter temperature for the area including Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, most of New Jersey, Michigan, northern Ohio, northern Illinois, northern Indiana, southern Iowa, northern Missouri, Nebraska and northern Kansas runs from 20 to 30 degrees Fahrenheit. Virginia, New Jersey, Maryland and southern portions of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois as well as the border states average between 30 and 40.

Minnesota and North Dakota, taken as a whole, appear to be the coldest states in winter. On the thermometer went to 65 degrees below zero at a point in eastern Montana and the records bear evidence that even such places as Tennessee, Arkansas and Oklahoma have seen the thermometer go to 20 below.

Studied Old Records
Dr. Oliver, Lanard Fassig, the climatologist, who has been associated with the Weather Bureau for 47 years, once studied weather records of Maryland for more than 100 years back, hoping to establish some kind of a periodicity. He failed to do that, but in case you have a weakness for the law of averages, here's what he found, considering any season "cool" when it averaged two degrees below average and "warm" when it averaged two degrees above.

In 87 years there were 23 cold winters, 22 warm winters and 42 more or less average winters and 40 average summers. The 22 warm winters—remember that 1930 had a warm summer—were followed by four cold autumns, six average autumns and 12 warm autumns. They were followed by five cold winters.

IN NEW YORK

New York, Oct. 29.—The last of the perfect "first-fighters" is dead, the perfect George Meyer, a quiet, unobtrusive, gentlemanly individual from the cloak and suit belt, who bore the amazing distinction of all ways paying for his seats. He had never been known to ask for passes. He had made his fortune, I believe, in corsets, or something like that.

And although he had witnessed more plays than any two or three of the younger critics combined, Meyer never tried to force his opinions down anyone's throat. He never crabbled at a play, however terrible. And he had never been known to walk out on a show.

Every manager in town had, out of custom, automatically reserved him seats A-1 and 2. For he always sat in the first row aisle. The seat No. 2 was for his mother, who, until a year or so ago, was his companion. Though 80 years of age, she was quite as enthusiastic a theater fan as was Meyer. She died suddenly, and Meyer began to appear at the first night performances alone. But he always bought the second seat, which was never occupied.

From the standpoint of the theater manager, Meyer was the perfect theater-goer. For some 20 years or more, so they said on Broadway, he had never missed an important premiere, nor had he ever changed the location of his seats.

When two or more openings were scheduled for a certain night, he would make his selection on the basis of favoritism in performers and his fondness for certain theaters. He never read the critical reviews, preferring to arrive at a theater without prejudice or advance information.

Truly Meyer was a paragon among play-goers in Manhattan.

When first nighters are spoken of, the old-timers invariably refer to the dilettante Barry Wall, whose arrival was always associated with sartorial splendor. Wall was a so-

HUNTER IS REWARDED

Wintona, Oct. 29.—(AP).—Peter Mellis, hunter who last week discovered the body of two-year old Kenneth Swanson in a woods near Colebrook, is today richer by $500, the amount of the reward offered by the Wintona citizen for information regarding the boy's whereabouts.

The reward was offered at the time the boy disappeared late in August.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Neuritis)
Question: A. H. G. writes: "Kindly advise if there is a cure for neuritis of about five years standing, where patient's limbs are disabled on account of cartilage having hardened in the joints. If there is no absolute cure, would a strict fast and diet relieve the awful suffering? Would a warm climate be of benefit in preference to cold winters in Minnesota?"
Answer: The patient you ask about is probably suffering from arthritis. I have never seen a case that cannot be cured as far as relieving the pain is concerned, even though the extra deposit of calcium in the joints cannot be entirely removed. Warm climate encourages a greater amount of skin elimination, but there is no reason why arthritis or any other type of rheumatism cannot be cured in a cold climate, providing the patient uses the proper amount of skin washing and an-

(Cigarette Smoking)

Question: Puzzled asks: "When the impurities from a cigarette smoke are deposited in the lungs by inhaling, do they remain there, or are they eventually carried away by the blood?"
Answer: The tarry deposits from the trailing of cigarette smoke are gradually carried away through the lymphatic circulation but, of course, may have remained for a long enough time to have done harm.

(Causes of Gas)

Question: E. R. asks: "What causes gas on an empty stomach?"
Answer: The large amount of gas which forms in the stomach and intestines comes from the mixture of the acid digestive juices with those which are alkaline. For instance, the gastric juice has an acid reaction and the bile of the intestines an alkaline one. If the bile overflows back into the stomach, the mixture of the bile and gastric juice will produce gas just the same as when baking soda is put into vinegar.

CELERY—CLEANSER AND TONIC

Celery is one of the very best non-starchy vegetables for cooking and salads, and there is no disorder where it cannot be freely used if any fibrous food is allowable.

During the fall and winter months when other vegetables are scarce, celery is plentiful and when used abundantly will be found to be a valuable blood cleanser and tonic. Those who are ill usually have a lowered blood alkalinity and celery helps to overcome this condition because of its richness in the alkaline-forming elements: potassium, sodium, calcium, phosphorus and cellulose which it contains yields a non-irritating bulk and is therefore helpful in preventing constipation.

The celery which we now use is a great improvement over the wild plant. It is now longer, steeper, better flavored, less stringy and whiter than the original celery. The Greeks valued the plant, but since it was partially wild, it had too strong a flavor to use for food, but was used as a garnish as we now use parsley. It began to be used as a food as early as 1873 when the monastery of St. Gall used it as such.

The practice of bleaching celery began in England. A nephew of John Milton describes it, "Seller, it is an herb which is usually whitened for an excellent winter salad."

Contrary to popular opinion, the best celery is that which has been bleached out white, as the bleaching removes certain volatile oils which are slightly irritating to the body.

If you are puzzled over a good health food for your family's dinner today, go right now and get a pencil and write "Celery" on your market list. Here are some methods of preparing celery:

Stewed Celery
First wash each stalk well, scrubbing with a brush to remove the poisonous spray which may have been used on it to kill insects. Then cut each stalk into short pieces and boil for two hours. This long cooking develops a new and delicious flavor unlike the flavor of any other vegetable. This stew can be made into an appetizing soup if cream or milk is added, with butter after the soup has boiled.

Celery and Green Pea Soup
Cook the celery until tender and combine with a can of green pea soup or cooked green peas which have been pressed through a colander.

Celery Stew
Boil together equal parts of chopped celery, green peas and potatoes.

Stuffed Celery
The hollow of the stalks may be filled with soft cheese, or a mixture of tomato pulp and peanut butter blended together.

Celery Toast
Clean the celery well, cut in short pieces and cook until soft. Add milk or cream and serve over Melba toast with a lump of butter on top.

Celery and Chicken Salad
This is a good way to use scraps of leftover chicken. Chop the chicken fine and combine with equal amounts of chopped celery. Serve in tomato shells on lettuce.

INSURED HER BOARDERS; FED THEM BAD LIQUOR

New York, Oct. 29.—(AP).—The district attorney's office in Brooklyn today was investigating charges by a husband that his wife had collected insurance on the lives of three boarders by feeding them bad liquor.

As an argument against paying temporary alimony to his wife, Teale, Walter Kamaraukas protested his wife had plenty of money collected on the deaths of the three boarders.

In a petition supported by affidavits, Kamaraukas charged his wife not only had collected insurance aggregating $4,268 on three lives but now is giving bad liquor to a fourth boarder to bring about his death.

He also charged Mrs. Kamaraukas had offered two other men money to put ground glass in whiskey to be given to the boarders.

The wife is seeking $30 a week temporary alimony in a separation suit.

Sugar cane as tall as a bungalow is growing in Florida, where a new type with stalks 25 to 30 feet high is being given its first try-out in America.

STATE'S WELFARE G. O. P. PROGRAM

Work Will Continue Without Deviation Candidate Rogers Asserts.

Middletown, Oct. 29.—In an address here last night, Lieutenant-Governor Ernest E. Rogers, Republican nominee for governor, said that the Republican party's proposal to appropriate substantial sums at the next legislative session...

"Interest payments were running to high figures, and even the chief Democratic newspaper of the state warned its readers that a halt was imperative. Connecticut has increased its bonded indebtedness to an amount where the interest becomes a burden on the taxpayers..."

"The second period was from 1915 to 1921, when Connecticut's energies were devoted to the war activities in which she took such a prominent part. The extraordinary expenses of this period temporarily halted the process of building up a sound financial system for the state..."

Hartford, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Kenneth L. Messenger, state commissioner of child welfare and as such, chief juvenile court probation officer of Connecticut, today commended with 537 justices of the peace of the state, who may act as judges of juvenile courts, offering the co-operation of his department in providing satisfactory probation service for this type of juvenile court.

Queer Twists In Day's News

New York.—Maybe blondes are less popular, or she is joking. Anyhow Anita Loos, who made money by telling about gentlemen's preferences, says she is broke. She has returned from Europe ready to sue some any royalties that may accrue from a play written in collaboration with her husband, John Emerson, and featuring Vilma Banky and Rod La Rocque.

Paterson, N. J.—Arguments against women in politics remain heard in girlhood. "Before I went to college," she said in a speech at the Y. M. C. A., "I heard people tell my father that if I went to college I would not marry, for college women never did, and that if I did marry I would not make a good housewife, and that I would bring up my children properly. I am married and I want to say that I have had a most happy life."

New York.—Reputed to have made $1,000,000 or so by selling society women's silver, jewelry, and other things for 10 per cent commission, Mrs. Annie Irving Linke is dead at 67. She came from Ireland an orphan at the age of 17. Eventually she had an extensive business in selling automobiles, jewelry, silverware, and whatever else clients would get rid of.

Princeton, N. J.—From Princeton, estranged from Harvard, an athlete, comes three cheers for Harvard and down with Yale, so to speak. The Princeton Alumni Weekly heartily approves the refusal of Harvard to permit Rudy Vallee, who went to Yale, to crown "Fair Harvard" over the radio or to permit Buddy Rogers to lead the Harvard band for the movies.

New York.—A fellow in Los Angeles holds the record for long-distance telephoning, 17,000 miles. For six minutes he chatted about business with somebody in Sydney. The words crossed the United States by land and air and thence by radio to London with a relay to Australia. His name is undisclosed.

WAPPING

Mason F. Wetherell and his mother Mrs. Joseph Wetherell, Mrs. Mary R. Thompson and Mrs. George P. Thompson of East Hartford, sailed to the Naval hospital at Rhode Island last Sunday to visit Mrs. Thompson's son, Warren R. Thompson, who is confined there. They also visited the old ship Constellation out in harbor, near the hospital.

Ralph Pulford who lives with his grandmother, Mrs. Emma West, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sweeney of Glastonbury.

Mrs. Ida M. Hart, widow of Thomas Hart of Hartford, who was Miss Ida May Skinner of Wapping before her marriage, was married to Albert O. Pfau of Mountain street, Rockville. The wedding took place at the home of Rev. William C. Drach, on Ward street, pastor of the First Evangelical Lutheran church, last Saturday afternoon at three o'clock.

Mrs. Luella Nevers and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Billings motored to New Haven last Sunday where they visited relatives and friends.

Armistice Day Plans

Plans are being completed for an Armistice observance in this city on November 11. A committee from the City Council and Stanley Dobosz, Post American Legion, have met to celebrate during the day, but in the evening there will be a concert and some sort of detailed program. The committee in charge of Armistice Day includes Thomas Ryan, Charles Weber and Thomas Shea from the Legion and Thomas Larkin, LeRoy Mark and Walter Draycott from the City Council.

Thomas Shea, the new commander-elect of Stanley Dobosz Post, American Legion, is planning a successful Armistice Day celebration at the home of Rev. William C. Drach, on Ward street, pastor of the First Evangelical Lutheran church, last Saturday afternoon at three o'clock. The couple were attended by Miss Edith Mead and Walter Draycott from the City Council.

TRIES TO COLLECT BACK WAGES WITH SHOT GUN

Employee of Richardson and Fillmore on Haddam Neck Job Uses Unusual Method.

Wilson Richardson, of this place and his partner, Charles Fillmore, who are building a new road for the state at Haddam Neck, were rather worked up yesterday when John Williams walked up to them with a loaded shot-gun and demanded back pay he claimed was due him. He claimed that the wages were six weeks overdue. Richardson and Fillmore admitted that they owed the money and would not press charges against the collector. However, Williams was fined $5 on the charge of carrying a gun without a license.

WET CONGRESSMEN

Washington, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Of the Congressional candidates who took the trouble to answer questionnaires sent out by the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, the majority is overwhelmingly wet.

The association sent out 823 requests for office seekers' views on the dry laws. It received 371 replies, 99 of them against repeal of the 18th Amendment and 265 calling for abolition of the prohibition clause in the constitution. Henry H. Curran, president of the association concluded the wet-dry issue would appear in Congressional races in 34 states, among them Iowa, Arkansas, Texas, Oregon, Utah, West Virginia and Vermont which he singled out as hitherto dry commonwealths.

SOCIETY ATTENDS
OPENING OF OPERA

New York's Four Hundred Flock to Metropolitan to Hear "Aida" Sung.

By Adelaide Kerr
New York, Oct. 29.—(AP)— Wrapped in Luxurious furs and veils, shimmering with jewels and decked with flowers, New York's four hundred gathered in the historic old Metropolitan Opera House
Monday night to pay tribute to the opening of Grand Opera and the social season.

And as Verdi's opera "Aida" began to unfold with Maria Mueller singing the title role of the Ethiopian slave and Giovanni Martinelli appearing as Radames, they settled themselves in their boxes to see and to be seen.

Many an interesting fashion note was gleaned from the golden horsehoose where jewels and furs and beauty mingled in a colorful panorama. White was the outstanding color; jewels were worn in greater profusion than last year, and shoulder bouquets proved their return to vogue.

Heart Hungry

BEGIN HERE TODAY
CELIA MITCHELL, 17, leaves Baltimore where she has lived with her seamstress mother, MARGARET ROGERS, to join her wealthy father, JOHN MITCHELL, in New York. The parents are divorced and Mrs. Rogers is a widow following a second marriage.

BARNEY SHIELDS, young newspaper photographer, is in love with the girl. Mitchell asks EVELYN PARSONS, beautiful widow, to introduce his daughter to other young people. Mrs. Parsons agrees, considering Celia a means to win Mitchell's affections. She soon becomes jealous of the girl and schemes to get rid of her by encouraging a romance between Celia and TOD JORDAN, fascinating but of dubious character.

Although the daughter forbids Celia to see Jordan she goes about with the young man frequently. LISI DUNCAN, a girl of Celia's age, becomes her loyal friend. Shields comes to New York to work on a photographic agency and meets Celia. She tells him she has lost her heart to Jordan. Celia is a guest at Mrs. Parsons' uptown apartment. She meets Shields in the street one afternoon and is with him when Jordan appears. They enter a shop, thus avoiding an encounter.

Lisi, Celia and Mrs. Parsons are together that evening when they hear a radio report of a disastrous fire in a building where Shields is working.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XII The other girl arm. "Where are you going?" she cried.

Celia had caught up a sport coat, the first wrap in sight. She threw it around her.

"Don't stop me!" she pleaded, half sobbing. "You hear? I'm in the building that's on fire. I've got to get there. Let me go!"

Freeing herself, she rushed from the apartment. Lisi turned, bewildered, toward Mrs. Parsons. "Go after Lisi!" the woman said, rising. "See if you can stop her!" Without a coat Lisi started into the corridor. She caught up with Celia as the girl was ringing for the elevator.

"Don't cry, honey!" she begged. "Maybe it isn't so bad. Please don't cry!"

A door slammed and Evelyn Parsons came bustling down the hall to join them. She reached the girls just as they were stepping into the descending car. At once Evelyn took charge.

"Celia," she said, "you must tell me where you're going! What's the meaning of this?"

Lisi was the one who answered. "We're going to the fire!" she exclaimed. "Celia knows someone who's there. Isn't it impossible?" Evelyn protested. "It was in vain. They had reached the ground floor and the two girls hurried toward the entrance. Mrs. Parsons hesitated, pulled her cloak more closely about her and, with a dismayed gaze upward, followed.

"My car's at the right," Lisi pointed in another minute all three were squeezed into the close quarters of the coupe and the motor was throbbing.

Lisi swerved the car into the stream of traffic.

"This is madness," Evelyn Parsons stormed. "You can't mean you're really going to this fire!"

If Celia heard her she gave no sign of it. Her face was white and drawn. She pressed her hands together.

"Hurry, Lisi," she begged. "Oh, I was afraid something would happen if Barney's hurt I'll never forgive myself! Can't we go faster?"

"Barney?" Evelyn caught the word and eyed Celia shrewdly. "Do you mean—is it the young man you know in Baltimore?" The girl nodded mechanically. "He isn't in Baltimore any more," she said. "He's here. I saw him this afternoon and he said he was going to this meeting to make pictures. Somehow I felt, then, it would be dangerous if he laughed at me."

Lisi asked about the address. She was driving with her customary abandon, darting between other vehicles with a recklessness only matched by certain taxi drivers. When she was forced to stop for traffic lights she jammed on the brakes abruptly.

Mrs. Parsons was white-faced, too, now. Each time the coupe veered precariously she looked in deadly terror. Each time it jolted to a stop she held her breath. She had never driven with Lisi before. "Do be careful!" Evelyn Parsons implored. "Look—you barely missed that roadster!"

Then suddenly the green lights flashed and the car shot forward. "We're nearly there," Lisi said, keeping her eyes straight ahead.

Celia uttered a low cry. "Smoke! See it—over there?"

"Lisi, you'll never be able to get to this place!" Mrs. Parsons declared. "Let's go back!"

"We're going to make it!" Lisi answered determinedly. "Smoke—I should think—there was! Can't you smell it?"

They were hemmed in now by motor cars, trucks and other vehicles. The horns were honking and drivers complaining loudly. The coupe could barely move.

Lisi ducked her head forward.

"Look at it!" she cried. "Did you ever see anything like this? They're still some distance from the fire building. High overhead the thick black smoke curled upward. Now and then it colored with a dingy redness, brightened and then grew dark. The air was heavy with the odor of smoke."

On the sidewalks men and women were running. The din was terrific.

Celia had begun to weep hysterically.

"Let's get out and walk," she begged. "We'll never get to the other way. Oh, Barney, how will I ever find him? How am I to know if he's safe?"

Lisi tried to move the car forward. The effort was useless.

"Fire's still burning," she said. "You can tell from the sky. Lord, what a blaze that must have been!" Mrs. Parsons interrupted shrilly: "This is dangerous! We've got to get away. Lisi, I tell you we've got to! I won't stay!"

The girl looked at her and shrugged one shoulder. "How're you going to leave?" she asked. "Look behind you!"

Evelyn turned. As far as she could see the street was filled with other vehicles. Motor cars of all kinds and sizes. Messenger boys on bicycles. Delivery trucks. She gasped and sank back against the seat.

Celia had begun to fumble with the fastener on the door.

"What are you doing?" Lisi demanded.

"I'm going to get out," Celia said. "I can't stand it. I've got to know if Barney's safe."

There was a brief argument. It

The baby's emotions develop just as his senses do, and with the same likeness to that of other babies. The emotions with which the baby is probably born are fear and rage, and possibly love. During the first six months he shows fear by: 1 to 6 weeks: a convulsive reaction to loud sounds. 10 to 16 weeks: signs of fear on seeing strangers. He shows rage by: 1 to 6 weeks: struggling and crying if held so that he cannot move as he wants to. 12 to 16 weeks: crying and growing stiff if he is made to lie down when he wants to sit up. He is not born with obedience this little tyrant of ours.

Signs of a development of love are: 1 to 6 weeks: smiling and showing signs of contentment when touched on the hips. 7 weeks: smiling in response to the voice and cooing.

to the hospital what's that for?" Lisi knew and went a little pale at the time. "I guess maybe they hadn't all gone," she said. Working their way back through the crowd of inquisitive humans was as difficult as pressing forward had been. Neither of the girls noticed how their frocks had been twisted and torn.

They reached the place where walking was comparatively easy, they were breathless. Instead of resting, Celia broke into a run.

"Where's the car?" she cried, "we've got to find Evelyn."

"We can't," Lisi complained. "I'm sure she's gone. Oh, look!"

She had spied the coupe.

"You hoo!" Lisi shrieked like an urchin, and dashed ahead. Mrs. Parsons greeted them, horrified.

"What sights!" she wailed. "Never in my life have I seen such a looking pair. Lisi, Duncan, if I live through this night I'll be surprised!"

If Lisi had been in a normal mood she would have laughed. Instead she said soberly: "Celia, I've been thinking. Wouldn't it be better to go to the office where your friend works and try to find out about him there? I know a little about hospitals, and they keep you waiting hours. Don't you think it would be quicker?"

Evelyn burst in angrily: "You're going no place but to take me home!"

"You're wrong," Lisi answered, meeting her gaze evenly. "Can't you see how Celia's suffering? We started out to find this Barney person, and we're going to find him."

There was no disputing Lisi Duncan when she spoke in that tone. There was delay in locating the address of the Apex Picture Service, but eventually they reached there.

Celia and Lisi burst into that office, starting a group of men gathered about a desk.

"Have you heard from Barney Shields?" Celia cried.

MAKE IT YOURSELF.

8 weeks and following: showing signs of pleasure in looking at new objects. 12 to 16 weeks: laughing aloud when played with (trumped or tossed gently). 21 weeks: laughing aloud at sudden motion.

During the second six months his emotions become a little more complex: 7 1/2 months: the child shows signs of great joy at the sight of his carriage or hat. At 8 months he may hang his head and show signs of embarrassment if his attempts to make sounds are limited. He often refuses to continue.

At 8 1/2 months he shows unwillingness to be picked up by strangers. This is probably fear. At this age he also cries to go to his mother at the sound of her voice, and cries if he cannot have her entire attention. By 8 1/2 months he will cry repeatedly if laughed at.

UNIFORM WARMTH IMPORTANT IN PROPER CLOTHING FOR INFANTS
TESTS INDICATE WATERPROOF DIAPERS DO NOT IRRITATE AS IT IS GENERALLY BELIEVED

(This is the first of two articles by Dr. Fishbein on the proper clothing for infants.)

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEGIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

At the last meeting of specialists in diseases of children of the United States, one period, was devoted to study of the proper clothing for infants.

Dr. Charles Hendee Smith, who led the discussion, pointed out that proper clothing for infants should provide uniform warmth without overheating, ease of dressing and undressing, certainty of covering, freedom for exercise, and proper care of the diaper.

Since the diaper is the most important article of infant clothing, it demands special consideration. Nowadays diapers are offered in triangular form, in square form, and with tapes. The triangular diaper is more easily applied than the square one and requires fewer pins. The square diaper covers a good deal of the abdomen and is more likely to be wet over a larger area than is the triangular one.

In general, physicians have urged the avoidance of rubber or oiled cloth over the diaper, but mothers insist on using them. The chief objection is that there is a tendency to irritation of the skin when rubber coverings are used.

Dr. Smith believes that irritation is just as frequent without the waterproof covering as with it and that it is due to some irritating substance in the excretions rather than the waterproof covering.

A recent test was made in a hospital ward in which six babies wore diapers covered with oiled muslin and six wore diapers not so covered. At the end of the week the babies without covering had used more than four hundred additional pieces of laundry than those with the coverings. Moreover there was extra time required on the part of the nurses for changing the entire bed and the children with the waterproof coverings were no more irritated than those without.

New College Teams Make Eastern Bow

Kansas, North Dakota and Mississippi Meet Penn, Army and Colgate in Inter-sectional Battles.

New York, Oct. 29.—(AP.)—A small but select group of newcomers will be introduced to eastern football this week in some of the leading inter-sectional battles which will vie with all eastern classics that date back into the eighties.

Kansas makes its debut against Penn; North Dakota makes its bow at West Point against Army and Mississippi College comes north to play Colgate. Kansas is the only one of this trio which is expected to put up a battle against the east.

In contrast to these newcomers are the games between Yale and Dartmouth which have been going on since 1864 when they were first evenly matched in their weakness this year.

Pittsburgh and Nebraska have a few fine battles behind them and Boston College and Marquette are ready to make a real fight of it again. Carnegie Tech and N. Y. it resume their close rivalry which was left off last year.

New Haven—Now the Yale fans can join Albie Booth in ceasing to worry about his injury. It has been definitely decided that Albie will be able to play again.

Yale—The first team through a Saturday, the first team through a two-hour drill yesterday.

Hanover—Dartmouth had a lot of trouble in stopping Yale plays as interpreted by the scrubs yesterday but that isn't worrying Coach Jack Cannel as much as the possibility of staleness. Cannel believes that is one big reason why the Green never has beaten Yale.

Annapolis—Bill Ingram, Navy coach is satisfied the team that beat Princeton is the best combination of the Navy squad can produce.

New York—Columbia already is working hard for the Cornell game and expects to be working hard for Florida lights to make longer practice possible are to be ready for tonight.

Pittsburgh—Pitt hardly has had time to work out the kinks after the Notre Dame game before the Panthers start west game before the Blue. Today's practice was to be the second and last before the team's departure.

Worcester—It looks as if there wouldn't be many Holy Cross regulars left for the Rutgers game. Only three remained yesterday as injuries forced three men out and five were demoted.

NOW THEY SAY

BOOTH TO PLAY

New Haven, Oct. 29.—(AP.)—Albie Booth is in good physical condition and he is going to play against Dartmouth.

That was the latest word coming from Yale's board of football strategy last night and its probably correct.

RANDOM REMARKS ABOUT FOOTBALL COACHES

Say what you will about football coaches, the fact remains that in the upbuilding of football to the state it now enjoys, coaches and their personalities have played a major part.

Deception and generalship have supplanted the old style of football. When we speak of the old style, we mean the bruising, inch-by-inch, line-running game of the days of Heston and Ekersall. Forward passes, shifts, trick formations, speed and finesse have changed the game gradually during the last twenty years.

The changes in the game have resulted from the efforts of coaches to deceive one another. However, I do not think that football today is one bit less rough than in the days when Big Bill Edwards was in there bustling people around. Sagacity and cleverness have been added.

Playing and Teaching Stars of the gridiron often have proved fops as coaches. This is because the coach first of all, must be a teacher.

I have been interested in watching how Al Marten comes out in his coaching at Boston University, and Chris Cagle at Mississippi A. & M. If they fail they will be doing no more than scores of stars before them have done.

Some of the great coaches never played. Robert Zuppke of Illinois is one of these. On the other hand, men like Mahan, Thorpe, Oliphant and others who could be named, were great football players, but never made the grade as coaches.

Indiana plays Purdue annually for possession of the old Captain Euckett. This year that's about all they'll be playing for, too.

The Nut Cracker

Charges of proselyting have involved Big Jim Bausch of Kansas and other Big Six football stars. O'Goorty says it's all bausch.

Six of Lebanon College's stars suspended for drinking, gambling and swearing. Football players shouldn't try to be collegiate.

A Drexel College football player was barred because he had played in a professional game though he played for nothing.

Football players at George Washington University demanded a raise in pay. And what with times such as they are, too.

When the writers get around to picking the All-America team, O'Goorty says he is going to recommend Elcoewicz, Ficoulewicz and Wisniewski—all of Fordham.

A coach has it all his own way when he predicts his team will lose by two touchdowns. If he loses, he makes a sound prediction; if he wins, he's a psychologist.

New records are being established by the boxers these days. The records are being broken every day—for non-attendance.

A fighter just in from Cuba calls himself Kid Bon Bon. Another Cuban in our midst is Kid Chocolate. We asked O'Goorty for some kind of a wisecrack about that, and all he said was, "Oh, fudge!"

Chocolate and Bon Bon may be perfectly O. K. as far as they box. But too many of our recent fights have been in the bag.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Woodworth of Northwestern, a guard, doesn't use a headgear. Tom Lieb, former line coach at Notre Dame, says that's how Cannon won All-America honors last year. Woodworth says Cannon tackled about a dozen guys behind the line and still think we'd have seen him even if he had been wearing a headgear. Duke Slater, the famous old Iowa tackle, is playing with the Chicago Cardinals pro team this season and he has plenty of football left in his system, too. Victor Campolo, either spilled the beans or he was kidding when he arrived at his South American home the other day with the word that he was going to fight Stribling at Miami this winter. The rumor that Freddie Lindstrom may be traded by Montreal is more than just idle chatter.

Nebraska Primes for Pitt Battle; Hopes to Square Five-Game Series

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 29.—(AP.)—Nebraska's Cornhuskers are primed to give their all to beat the Panthers from Pittsburgh here next Saturday.

This year's contest will be the fifth since the teams met first in Pittsburgh in 1921. In that initial game the Huskers won 10 to 0. In 1927, also in Pittsburgh, Pitt triumphed 27 to 13.

The last two years the games have been in Lincoln, the 1928 tilt ending in a scoreless tie and last year Pitt winning 12 to 7.

"Pop" Warner, now at Stanford, coached the 1921 Pitt team. On the Nebraska victorious team that year were Harry Preston and Lewellen in the backfield, and Swanson, Peterson and Berquist in the line.

The 1927 Pitt victory included Gibby Welch's 88-yard return of the opening kickoff for a touchdown. In 1928 the field was slippery from two days' rain and a snow. Neither team could score.

Last year the 12 to 7 contest Pitt won from Nebraska was the closest game the Panthers had all year until the Rose Bowl debacle New Year's day.

The Pittsburgh eleven appears stronger than Nebraska for the game this season on the basis of the two years' records to date.

Cosch Dana X. Bible has built his attack around Robert "Red" Young, an elusive lightweight halfback.

Chris Mathis, quarterback, and Everett Kreizinger, halfback, are other stars of the offense. A pair of veteran ends, Steve Hakut and Frank Prucka, have shown well in the early games.

Despite the Cornhuskers' mediocre showing so far Pitt will have no pushover. Nebraska has potential power, and because of the inter-sectional aspects of the game Bible will shoot all of this power directly at the Panthers.

Two of the boys who carry some of Nebraska university's "potential" power, which Big Six followers hope will develop in the team's inter-sectional grid battle with the Pittsburgh Panthers, November 1 at Lincoln, are Steve Hokuf, end, and Everett Kreizinger, halfback.

CHICAGO CHANGES SOON TO BE MADE

Chicago, Oct. 29.—(AP.)—Long awaited developments and changes in the Cub baseball family are expected to start tomorrow when Manager Rogers Hornsby returns to establish his winter headquarters.

Another report is expected to affirm or deny rumors of wholesale changes in the team's personnel but from tomorrow on announcements of changes are expected to be numerous if not shocking to the baseball world.

The status of Captain Charlie Grimm, regular Cub first baseman for the past six seasons; is one of the big question marks. Rumor has it that Jim Bottomley of the St. Louis Cardinals will succeed him.

Another report involves Catcher "Gabby" Hartnett. It is known that Hornsby thinks well of Al Spohrer, backup for the Boston Braves, and that he wants him as a Cub.

The Cubs still want third baseman Whitney of the Philadelphia Athletics and are willing to pay considerable cash and part with a player or two for him.

Town Series Situation Most Unusual in Years; Some of Players Have Been on Both Teams; List of Outsiders.

The influx of football players from various parts of Connecticut and Rhode Island continues as the Cubs and Majors strive to beat one another in adding strength for their forthcoming series to decide the championship of Manchester, Providence, Hartford, Meriden, New London and all points east. At least 28 young men from out of town have tried local gridirons in Manchester uniforms this season. How many more may come in the few remaining weeks before the series, no one can tell.

Here's a list of the out of town players who have played with both teams to date:

- With the Majors: Keole, Providence; Tatro, Providence; Flannigan, Providence; Mickle, Willimantic; Conroy, Hartford; Scully, Hartford; Daddario, Burnside; Sheen, Hartford; Garrity, Providence; Brown, Providence; Flaxman, Hartford; Tasker, Meriden; Lazari, Providence; Driscoll, Storrs Springs; Bergen, Hartford.
- With the Cubs: Maguire, Hartford; Flannigan, Hartford; Underwood, Providence; Thacker, Providence; Protte, Hartford; Williams, New London; Schwartz, Hartford; Sargent, Broad Brook; Jones, Hartford; Pfeifer, East Hartford; Fogarty, Providence; Waterman, Hartford; Conroy, Hartford.

The Cubs and Majors both tackle opposition of first water Sunday, the New London Ockfords coming to meet the Cubs and the New Britain Pawnees facing the Majors.

This affords Manchester fans a real chance to compare the ability of the Cubs and Majors inasmuch as the Ockfords and Pawnees played a tie game only last week.

The Cubs will start their game at 2 o'clock instead of 2:30 this week and for the balance of the season so as to have the final quarter played in daylight.

The Cubs are dicker with the Bristol West Ends and Ludlow, Mass., for a game here Armistice Day in connection with the Legion and Army-Navy club celebration. The Legion band may turn out for the occasion.

FORDHAM WANTS TO MEET ROCKNE

New York, Oct. 29.—(AP.)—The Daily News says Major Frank Cavanaugh, football coach at Fordham College has issued a challenge to Notre Dame to play a post-season game, providing both teams win all their remaining games.

"Rockne may or may not have the best attack in the country," he said "But I feel sure I have the best defense plus a pretty fair attack and if Notre Dame wants to claim any title they'll have to beat us first."

STUDENTS CONTINUE RIOTS

Seville, Spain, Oct. 29.—(AP.)—Some fist fighting, much noise and window breaking marked a riot today in the University of Seville against continuation of the educational plan devised by the former Minister of Public Instruction Callejo during the primo dictatorship.

Medical students started the rumpus, forcing others to join and burning black-draped figures of Callejo. All classes were suspended.

MOHR EXONERATED IN ROCKVILLE CASE

Coroner John Yeomans Points Out Danger of Walking With Traffic—Pedestrian Killed.

The danger of walking along the side of a road with vehicular traffic is pointed out by Coroner John Yeomans of Tolland County today as grounds for exonerating Edgar W. Mohr of Lyndalville in connection with the death of October 15 of John Brila in Rockville. The coroner's finding was filed in the Superior Court at Rockville this morning. Mohr had been held pending the coroner's finding with a temporary charge of misconduct and negligence as the result of the accident. Brila was walking along the south side of Windsor avenue about 6 o'clock in the evening when Mohr's truck carrying mail from the Manchester depot struck him. Brila died five hours later from his injuries. Decisions of the Connecticut Supreme Court are to the effect that every traveler has an equal right with any other in the highway but he must have a just regard for the rights of other travelers. A pedestrian has a right to walk in any part of the highway, but the Supreme Court has found that persons walking in the highway without sidewalks or in that portion of the highway used by vehicles should use a greater degree of care.

BIRIAND STILL SICK

Paris, Oct. 29.—(AP.)—The condition of Foreign Minister Briand continues today to cause uneasiness, with the Chamber of Deputies beginning sessions in less than a week. At the foreign office, however, assurance was given that M. Briand was "quite all right" but remaining indoors to avoid exposure to the chill, wet weather. There was well-defined opinion, nevertheless, among members of Parliament that interpellations upon foreign policy may have to be postponed until after the Armistice celebration on Nov. 11, thus coming before the Chamber not earlier than Nov. 13. This would give the foreign minister further time to recover his strength. M. Briand now has been in doors since Oct. 2.

CHINESE MASSACRE

Shanghai, Oct. 29.—(AP.)—Verdant reports tonight said marauders within the last week had looted and burned six villages and killed 300 persons in the area 25 miles west of Kaifeng, Honan. This is the first recent indication of the spread of banditry into northern China, which but lately served as the battle ground in the Civil war between Nationalists and Northern Rebels. A few days ago banditry and looting were reported in southern Honan province, but this outburst for the most part has been along the Yangtze river and in the rich districts south of that stream.

A NUMBER is formed of five successive digits, not necessarily in regular order, so that the first two numbers multiplied by the third number will equal the last two numbers. For instance, using the number on the blackboard, 12 multiplied by 8 is 96, but unfortunately the numbers are not successive ones. Can you find a number that will work out?

Yes, Love is Blind, But It Doesn't Stay That Way Very Long After Marriage.

A lady advertised for a maid, and was showing an applicant for the place over the house. She had been very liberal in her promises of privileges—afternoon tea, evenings out and so on—and it looked as though the two had come to an agreement, when just as she was leaving, the house girl asked: Girl—Do you do your own stretching? Mistress (puzzled)—Do we do what? Girl—Stretchin'. Do you put all the food on the table at dinner and stretch for it, or must I pass it around?

THE TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE) The picnic people cried, "Hello!" And then one shouted, "Oh we got! They all waved to the Tinymites and drove right out of sight. "I'll bet that there will be real fun," wee Cloway said, "for everyone. What say we find a real nice place to sleep before it's dark." "A very good idea, lad," replied the Travel Man. "I'm glad that you are anxious for some sleep. I think I'll do you good. The more sleep that a youngster gets, the better off he is. It let's his system keep in real good shape, just like his system should." And so, not far away, they found a fine hotel. "That's where we're bound," cried Coppy. "We will get our rooms and then we'll eat a bite. I think we all should take a shower. We'll feel real good within an hour. As long as we are pepping up, let's do the task up right." Just as 'twas getting dark outside, a little restaurant was tried.

(Cloway makes the Tinymites laugh in the next story.)
