REPUBLICANS GAIN CONTROL OF HOUSE

287,081 for Schall on the basis of returns from all but 45 of the state's 3,705 precincts, said the action would be started after the state canvassing board certified Senator Schall's election to Gov. Theodore Christman. The canvassing board will meet Nov. 13.

The Democratic candidate said he would seek an injunction to prevent the governor from signing a certificate of election pursuant to the canvassing board's report. He would not take the issue to the United States Senate, said Holdale, but would demand a recount.

VESTAL WINS

Muncie, Ind., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Congressman Albert H. Vestal, Republican, was re-elected to the National Congress from the Eighth Indiana District over Claude C. Ball, Democrat, by nine votes, a re-check of the vote disclosed today.

The change which brought victory to the Republican whip in Congress was made in the Thirty-first Precinct of Delaware county where Vestal gained one vote and Ball lost eleven. Until this change was made Ball led by three votes.

The total vote for the district, as tabulated from official reports from each county clerk, showed Vestal 44,202; Ball 44,188.

YATES SEEMS WINNER

Chicago, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Richard Yates, Republican, appeared to have won his nip-and-tuck contest for re-election as Congressman-at-large from Illinois today. His plurality over Walter Nesbit, Democrat, reached 9,878 with all but 89 of the state's 7,109 precincts reported.

Sixty of the remaining precincts were in downstate Illinois where Yates has been running strong while the other 29 were in Cook county where a Democratic landslide gave Nesbit his earlier lead.

NEW DANISH ENVOY

Copenhagen, Denmark, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Otto Wadsted, a prominent official of the ministry of foreign affairs, has been appointed Danish minister at Washington, succeeding Constantin Brun.

ABOUT TOWN

Judge Ernest C. Simpson granted a divorce in the Superior Court yesterday to Mrs. Helen E. Shea, from Frederick T. Shea of Denning street, a mission. The grounds for divorce were intolerable cruelty. The court ordered Shea to pay the sum of $18 a week for the support of his three children.

A news item in yesterday's Herald stated that an automobile which figured in a crash at Oak and Cottage streets was owned by Elizabeth Miner. The owner of the car was Miss Elizabeth Strange, of Myrtle street.

An electrical cooking luncheonette is to be opened tomorrow by the owners of the State Soda Shop, of which William Sperber is the manager. The space that is taken up in the store after the state canvassing board certified Senator Schall's election to Gov. Theodore Christman.

BOYNTON REACHES

KANSAS IN FLIGHT

Added Interest in Young Flier's Progress Here As He Was Taught by Local High School Instructor.

Kansas City, Kas., Nov. 7.—(AP)—Stanley Boynton, attempting to set a new west-east junior transcontinental flight record, arrived at Fairfax Airport here at 11:30 a. m. today from Wichita, where he took off at 10:16 a. m.

Manchester has reason to take added interest in the brilliant achievements of young Boynton, for it was learned here today that he received his ground school instruction in flying from a Manchester man, Chester L. Roberts, head of the science department at the local high school, when Mr. Robinson was instructing a class at Rockland, Me., during the past summer.

COLBERT SENTENCED

Middletown, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Judge Newell Jennings today sentenced James P. Colbert, 24, to seven to fifteen years in state prison on a charge of theft of car, and to an additional five years for robbery.

Colbert, with three companions is alleged to have stolen an expensive car in Middletown the night of October 29. In Marlborough, according to testimony they held up a gas station operator for gasoline and cigarettes. Finally the car was wrecked and abandoned on the road near Providence. The quartet was seized on their return to Middletown.

Joseph Rogers, one of the youths, was yesterday sentenced to a term in the reformatory at Cheshire. The other two, Herbert Larchinokoski and Theodore Sanoski were placed on probation.

$90,000 HARTFORD FIRE KILLS ONE, HURTS SIX

Brown-Thomson Department store across the street.

The South Manchester Fire Department received request to stand ready to go to Hartford's aid before 7 o'clock this morning and two companies had chemical trucks in readiness, but the occasion was not serious enough to warrant an emergency call from outside the city. Fire departments in various cities have an agreement to help one another in time of stress.

James Burke, who is listed among the casualties in the fire, is a former Manchester man. He was well known here 15 years ago and was for many years a familiar figure on Main street in Hartford selling flowers. He had lost both his legs and was unusually agile on his artificial limbs. He was better known to local people as "Lady" Burke. He has made his home in the Miller block for a great many years.

Known in Town Another Manchester angle to the Hartford fire is that Mrs. MacCallife, the woman who was badly injured when she missed a life net in a leap from the fourth floor, is related to a Manchester school teacher, Miss Madeline Brown, of New Britain, a teacher in the Nathan Hale school on Spruce street. Mrs. MacCallife is Miss Brown's aunt. The local school teacher received word of the accident from her mother by telephone this noon.

POLICE STATION GETS NEW INTERIOR DRESS

Aside from a few automobile violators and court and police officials, few have seen the changes that have taken place in Manchester police station. The ceiling has been given a new whitewashing, the walls have been rubbed down and a brand new coat of paint has been applied. The place is now shining like the proverbial heel. Part of the time while the changes were being made the police had to use the town court room, which has already been fixed and the brickwork being torn away downstairs dust came through the open fire places and it kept not only the janitors but police busy keeping things cleaned up.

PARKER-SMITH CASE

New Haven, Nov. 7.—Arguments to quash and dismiss the evidence in a retrial of the case against the three principals in the defunct Parker-Smith Company, were made in Superior Court before Judge Booth today. They were based on the contention that the conspiracy charges are invalid in that they led to no crime.

State Attorney Samuel E. Hoyt was to argue the state case this afternoon.

Metropolitan Ensemble To Give Concert Here

Famous New York Artists in program at High School

It was announced today that the Metropolitan Ensemble, a group of ten musicians, will give a concert in the High School Hall, on Saturday evening, November 15, at 8 o'clock. The concert is being arranged by Adjutant Joseph Heard, local officer in charge of the Salvation Army, and the admission is free. The Metropolitan Ensemble is coming to South Manchester, to take part in a big week-end program at the Salvation Army, and the special services commence, with the concert on Saturday evening.

The ensemble is composed of members of the New York Staff Band and are under the direction of Envoy Erik Leiden, who not only leads the ensemble, but composes considerable of the works played by the organization. The instrumentation consists of two cornets, one flugel horn, two alto horns, euphonium, baritone, trombone and tuba. The programs rendered by this splendid musical organization, are marvelous in view of the fact that they not only demonstrate the possibility of bringing richer harmony into simple tunes, but also with a restricted number of instruments, interpret more ambitious and really brilliant selections, with artistry and musical success.

Erik Leiden, conductor of the ensemble, is a graduate of the Conservatory of Music, at Stockholm, Sweden, and has had a wide experience, in conducting instrumental groups, including a massed band of seven hundred musicians, and is a noted authority on composition and arranging. Mr. Leiden, arranges considerable works for nationally known orchestras, in New York City, and has also contributed a large number of compositions to the Salvation Army Band Journal. The program to be announced in full later, will include various instrumental arrangements, together with solos, duets, and vocal numbers.

Most of the program will be presented by the Ensemble as a whole. Brigadier Alex. Ebbs of New York City, will be with the ensemble, and will have charge of the services during the week-end. The public is cordially invited to attend a concert which the ensemble will give, and a very large crowd is looked forward to, as many will remember the splendid concert put on here last May by the New York Staff Band, to which band the members of the ensemble belong.

NAVAL MEN RESCUE CREW OF SCHOONER

Two Women Aboard Also Saved When Explosion Sets Fire To Vessel.

Key West, Fla., Nov. 7.—(AP)—The four masted schooner Rose Mary, believed by naval station officials to be from Mobile, Ala., was set on fire by an explosion in the vessel here today. The crew and two women aboard were rescued by the U. S. S. Hannibal, a survey boat, which was near the Rose Mary, when the explosion occurred, according to officials of the naval station here.

Officials at the naval station said the crew of the Hannibal sighted the Rose Mary about ten miles off Key West as a puff of smoke came from the schooner. An explosion followed. The Hannibal rescued the crew of eight men and the women, who had put off from the burning vessel in a small boat.

The crew was brought to Key West and turned over to immigration authorities. Captain George A. Eden, commanding the Rose Mary, could not be located at the naval station or at immigration offices.

America's Greatest War Ace

The Thrilling Story Behind President Hoover's Decoration of Eddie Rickenbacker

© 1930 BY NEA SERVICE INC.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of three stories on the thrilling career of Eddie Rickenbacker, America's greatest World War ace, who brought down 26 enemy aircraft. Yesterday's story told of Rickenbacker's single-handed attack on a squadron of seven German planes, shooting down two of them, for which feat he has just been decorated by President Hoover with a belated award of the Congressional Medal of Honor.

By ROBERT TALLEY
NEA Service Writer

Washington, Nov. 7.—Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, who won fame as America's "Ace of Aces" by shooting down 26 enemy aircraft in the World War, began life as a tombstone maker and was once under surveillance by Scotland Yard as a suspected German spy.

In a cemetery at Columbus, Ohio, the city where he was born, there stands a tombstone over his father's grave that was carved by his own hand. One of the most cherished possessions that his mother kept beside her during the days when her son was fighting in France was a small piece of marble chiseled in the shape of a book and bearing the inscription "Holy Bible," another piece of his youthful handiwork.

Young Rickenbacker quit his $6-a-week job at the tombstone works when he was 15. Auto racing held a strange fascination for him and Barney Oldfield, the speed demon of a generation ago, was his idol. He turned from marble to motors, went to work in a garage and eventually became a race driver—and a great one, too.

Trained by Scotland Yard
As German Spy Suspect

So it came about that when the United States declared war he was in England, trying to promote a series of auto races. When the declaration came he returned to the United States immediately.

Scotland Yard agents were ready to suspect any man as a German spy in those nervous days—especially a man named Rickenbacker (he later changed the spelling to Rickenbacker to remove the Teutonic suggestion)—shadowed him back to this country. Of course, their suspicions proved groundless.

Rickenbacker arrived in New York when the war fever was at its height, burning with a great ambition. He wanted to be an air fighter. He wanted to enlist the star automobile racers in this country into an all-star unit of fighting pilots, "belonging to the eminently qualified by their racing experience. But official enthusiasm for his plan could not be aroused in Washington and the movement died.

Then, a little later, General Pershing needed a chauffeur to drive his car in France. The army wanted the best auto driver in America, and naturally the job was offered to Rickenbacker. He jumped at the chance, enlisted in the infantry and sailed the following day with the first American contingent on the ship with General Pershing and his party. They landed in France on June 9, 1917.

Quits As Pershing's Chauffeur
To Join Air Service

Rickenbacker drove Pershing's auto at the front, but still with his desire to become an aviator. Finally, his chance came.

On shell-torn French road near Toul one day the auto of General William Mitchell, chief of the army air service, stopped suddenly, blocking a line of staff cars. Mitchell's chauffeur got out, lifted the hood and tried to start the motor but failed. Then Rickenbacker, who happened to be driving Major Townsend F. Dodd, aeronautical officer, came up. He dived into the old twin-six Packard engine, found the trouble and got the car started in a jiffy.

"From that time on," says General Mitchell, "this man interested me greatly. He was never late and always well turned out, neat in his personal appearance, punctilious and gentlemanly. We gave him many missions to execute which required judgment and discretion, and always he kept doing better and better."

Some days later Rickenbacker, having first obtained permission, applied to General Mitchell for a place in the air service. He said he felt sure his familiarity with automobiles and motors and his experience as a racing driver would help him as a pilot.

Rickenbacker was transferred to the air service, but to a ground outfit in charge of motors. Frequent pleas for permission to learn to fly were met with the reply that he was too valuable a man on engines.

Felgins Illness to Get
His Chance as Flier

Determined, Rickenbacker hit on

a bold plan. With the connivance of a young medical officer he got himself reported sick and sent to a hospital for two weeks, though there was nothing wrong with him. When he returned, he insisted that his absence had proved that he was not indispensable, that the man who replaced him could tend to the motors just as well as he.

Rickenbacker won his point—and became a flier.

"He learned to fly," says General Mitchell, "in three weeks. He worked at it constantly and distinguished himself particularly in the upkeep of his engine, airplane and armament."

The ancient crates of those war-time days were far less safe than the modern all-metal military airplanes of today. They were frail frames of spruce covered with a thin fabric which, likely as not, would crumple or rip into shreds the first time one went into a fast dive. Moreover, the cloth was coated with an oil preparation to make it waterproof; it was proof against water, but not against fire. Proof against an incendiary bullet, as many a "flaming coffin" falling from the skies attested.

Daring Stunts Often Saved
Fighters' Lives

Rickenbacker, like his fellow students, learned all the stunts then known. They had to know them for the dangerous business for which they were preparing. A "barrel roll" (rolling the airplane over and over in the air, like a barrel) might be the means of getting a German Fokker "off your tail" and saving your life. A "chandelle" (a quick, upward, corkscREW climb) might get you out of a tight hole when you most needed it; a "reversement" (sudden reversal of direction of flight) might enable you to turn the tables on your enemy by getting him "off your tail" and quickly putting you on his.

And so with "the vulture" (a tailspin in which the plane falls with a rotating motion like a match in a whirlpool), "the pique" (a vertical dive with the engine either open or closed), "the sidelp" (which may fan out the flames of your burning plane and save your life), and all the rest. They were the tricks of the trade—a grim, dangerous trade.

It was no longer like it had been. Back in 1914, when the British and the Germans first sent out airplane observers to make maps and take photographs, the pilots often waved at each other in friendly greeting. Then somebody got the idea that since men were fighting on the ground those in the air should fight, too. The first weapon is said to have been a shotgun, with which one rival pilot blazed away at the other.

Synchronized Guns Fire Through Whirling Propellers

Then machine guns were mounted, firing over the side of the cockpit. Improvements increased and finally the machine guns were mounted so the pilot could shoot straight ahead, aiming his plane instead of his gun. These weapons were synchronized with the motor so the bullets would pass between the whirling propeller blades and thus not cut them off. Finally came guns that could spout a stream of flaming tracer bullets at the rate of 260 a minute, which the pilot could direct like a man directs the stream from a garden hose.

These tracer bullets left a streaky visible line of fire in their wake so the gunner could see where his stream of fire was going and direct it accordingly.

Veritable armadas of the sky had come. So it was when Lieutenant Rickenbacker, after days of hard schooling and nights of eager anticipation, arrived at the front for action in the air.

He had not long to wait. Two days after he had joined America's famous "Hat-in-the-Ring" squadron on March 6, 1918, he was in the air over the German lines.

TOMORROW: How Rickenbacker shot down 26 enemy aircraft and rose from lieutenant to commander of his squadron.

STORMS SWEEP ITALY

Palermo, Italy, Nov. 7.—(AP)—A violent storm in the Tyrrhenian sea has sunk the sailing vessel Santa Anna II with the loss of three sailors; driven the English freighter, Seven Seas Trader, and the Italian freighter, Nuova Felice aground, and delayed the regular passenger services.

SEES BUSINESS REVIVAL

Istanbul, Turkey, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce for the United States, looks for an American business revival beginning next month. He told the American Chamber of Commerce at a dinner in his honor here today.

"If the law of averages works," he said, "the business crisis should show signs of disappearing next month. The average duration of crisis since 1890 was 12 months. Another cause for optimism is that business men throughout the world are better informed as a result of the radio and other improved means of communication.

"The present crisis, however, is not confined to America, but is world-wide. Only world-wide curative measures can be effective."

STARTS LONG FLIGHT

Bridgeport, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Capt. Vincent Melloy, U. S. Army flier, took off from here today in a Sikorsky amphibian plane on the first leg of a flight to Porto Rico.

He was accompanied by George Wheat, vice-president of the United Aircraft Corporation.

The first stop will be Bolling Field, Wash., where Major John G. Everison will be taken on board. Several other stops will be made en route from Washington to San Juan.

A Pennsylvania house painter had some of his paintings accepted for an international art exhibit. Proving house painters can show lucky streaks.

TODAY IS THE ANNIVERSARY

LEWIS-CLARK EXPEDITION

On Nov. 7, 1804, the expedition of Captains William Clark, which had been sent by President Jefferson to explore the Missouri to its source and to push forward to the coast, reached the Pacific ocean.

The expedition started in three boats from St. Louis in May, 1804. By the following summer they had passed the wild gorge of the Missouri known as the "Gates of the Rocky Mountains," and soon afterwards reached the site of what is now the capital of Montana.

In August, Lewis and Clark stood on the "Crown of the Continent," in the midst of a colossal knot of ridges and peaks from which rise the Columbia, the Colorado and the Missouri. Early in October they embarked in log canoes on a tributary of the Columbia. In November they reached the Pacific—"that ocean," says Lewis, which was "the object of all our labors, the reward of all our anxieties."

The work of Lewis and Clark was of great value. They had found practically passes through the Rocky Mountains, confirmed our claim to the Oregon Country, and opened the way to the valley of the Columbia and the Pacific slope.

St. Louis, Mo., is an independent city not in any county, but St. Louis County includes the environs of the City of St. Louis.

KENTUCKY RETURNS TO THE OLD LINEUP

Democrats Elect Nine of Eleven Members in Congress; Mrs. Langley Loses

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 7.—(AP)—For the first time in a quarter of a century, Kentucky Democrats have elected nine of the eleven Representatives from this state. Returns from Tuesday's election show the Democrats elected a United States Senator for Kentucky for both the long and short term, and in addition, gained six seats in the House.

HEBRON

With the exception of one candidate, Claude W. Jones, democrat, for representative to the general assembly, the entire republican ticket was elected here on Tuesday, but the vote was much closer than has been usual in recent years. There are 347 names on the voting list and 313 votes were cast, representing about 90 per cent of the voters.

Condition of State Roads

CROSS TO RESIDE IN CAPITAL CITY

New Governor To Devote All of His Time To His Job,
He Tells Reporters.

Hartford, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—Connecticut will have a full-time governor in Wilbur L. Cross who will consider all other activities, including his editorship of the Yale Review, as incidental to his task of running the state. This will mean, the governor-elect said today in a statement to the Hartford Times, that he will probably make Hartford his temporary residence during his term of office although he has no intention of giving up his home in New Haven.

"Being governor is a full-time job requiring full-time attention," the dean emeritus of Yale said. "I intend to be at my office in the Capitol regularly and give every bit of my time necessary to carry out the duties of the office."

At Hartford Club
While Dr. Cross has not decided where he will live here, it is considered probable that the Hartford Club will adhere to its tradition of inviting each governor to become a member of the club. If this invitation is extended to the dean, it is probable that he will make the club his residence.

Professor Cross will accept Governor Trumbull's invitation to visit him at the Capitol and confer on the problems of the state.
The dean is known to have intended to form a cabinet-like that of former Governor Alfred B. Smith in New York state if a full Democratic ticket had been elected, but until the attitude of Republican office-holders toward him is made clear, the dean hesitates to make any definite plans in regard to their place in his deliberations.

26 VOTE LEAD

Topeka, Kas., Nov. 7.—(AP.)— Election boards in 108 Kansas counties today were engaged in canvassing the regular votes cast in the state general election with little hope of determining the outcome of the most spirited gubernatorial race in years.

The fate of the two candidates,
Harry Woodring, Democrat, and Frank ("Chief") Thauke, apparently rested with the absentee ballots which will not be counted until next week.

On the face of complete unofficial returns, not including absentee ballots, Woodring had a lead of 26 votes. It seemed unlikely that today's canvass would so greatly alter the totals as to eliminate as the determining factor approximately 3,500 cast by persons away from their home precincts.

The final official count will not be conducted until December 1.

HARD WINTER AHEAD

Waterbury, Nov. 7.—(AP.)—When the frost is on the pumpkin and Dean Cross' majority is on ice, Jim Tyler's thoughts turn to weather predictions, for winter, like prosperity, is just around the corner. Mr.
Tyler, who is Middlebury's most efficient and most handsome weather prophet, today went into a pumpkin pie trance during which he was heard to mumble that there will be 24 snow storms this winter with plenty of real cold weather. Jim said the great abundance of walnuts this year is nothing more than nature providing the squirrels with plenty of food for a long cold season.

STATE AIDS WIDOWS

Columbus, O., Nov. 7.—(AP.)—
The explosion at Millfield Wednesday in which 79 persons were kiled and 20 injured, will cost the state of Ohio between $500,000 and $750,- 000, the State Industrial Commission estimated today.
The commission started at once the payment of death awards.

Under the compensation law the state will pay the maximum death award of $6,500 to the families of each person killed. This will cost $513,500. In addition the cost of the funerals of each victim is paid from the state compensation fund.

LESS FARMS IN STATE BUT VALUES INCREASE

Washington, Nov. 7.—(AP)—The farm census of New Haven and Windham counties in Connecticut further reflects the urbanizing trend shown in the New London county census, namely a reduction in the number and size of farms, but a corresponding increase in their value.

The value of public by the Department of Commerce disclose that the number of farms in New Haven county dropped from 2,761 in 1925 to 2,150 in 1930, while the acreage declined from 195,280 acres five years ago to 149,842 acres this year.

The value of land and buildings on the farms increased from $24,949,085 in 1925 to $28,100,439, with an average value per farm of $13,070 as compared with $9,036 a half decade ago.

The survey showed the farms in New Haven are operated by two thousand owners, 48 managers and 102 tenants.

In Windham county the number of farms dropped off from 2,270 to 1,898 while the acreage declined from 209,993 to 188,262 acres.

The value of land and buildings rose from $10,765,327 to $11,453,925 with an average value per farm of $6,035 compared with $4,738 five years ago.

The number of farms operated by owners 1,749 with managers running 27 and tenants 122.

TWO WRITERS TIED FOR O. HENRY AWARD

New York, Nov. 7.—(AP)—W. P. Burnett and William M. John were announced today as joint winners of the O. Henry Memorial award for the best short story published in 1929 by an American author in an American magazine.

It is the first time in the twelve years that two authors have tied for the first prize of $500. The award to Burnett was made for his "Dressing Up," which appeared in Harper's for November 1929, and John for his "Neither Jew Nor Greek," published in the Century for August.

Second prize of $250 was won by Elizabeth Maddox Roberts for "The Sacrifice of the Maidens," which was printed in Letters, the quarterly magazine of the University of

CRUELTY TO TURTLES

Chicago, Nov. 7.—(AP)—It was cruel, in the opinion of George A. H. Scott, secretary of the Illinois Humane society to turn loose two thousand turtles and let them swarm over Michigan boulevard, blocking traffic.

"Could we apprehend the owners, we would be able to protest at the grounds of inhumane treatment of animals and disorderly conduct," Scott said, as plans went forward to give the orphans a home. Meanwhile the mystery of the ownership of the reptiles, which crawled across the boulevard the other day in the slowest march in Chicago history, remained unsolved.

STOP CONSTIPATION THIS PLEASANT WAY

ONCE PEOPLE thought pills and drugs were the only way to relieve constipation. But the modern, safer method is to include sufficient roughage in the diet.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, a delicious ready-to-eat cereal, gives you this bulk, and overcomes constipation naturally. Read this enthusiastic letter:

"Mine was an extreme case of constipation. I had almost given up hope of ever being relieved."

"One day I came across your advertisement, so I thought I would try ALL-BRAN. It relieved me almost immediately and I have had no trouble since, which was almost three months ago."

Mrs. E. E. Leslie, 2194 Lyman St., Flint, Michigan.

Delicious when served with milk or cream. Cook into tasty bran muffins, breads, omelets, etc. ALL-BRAN also adds needed iron to the diet. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. The original ALL-BRAN.

EDITORS GATHER ON NOVEMBER 10 Spaper Publishers to old Parley at Sea Island Beach in Georgia.

Sea Island Beach, Ga., Nov. 7.—(AP)—In a section rich in the romance and history of the early life of America, the American Newspaper Publishers' Association will hold its fall convention November 10, 11 and 12.

It was in this community that the English and Spanish, struggling for possession of the area, wrote numerous chapters in the history of the country and gave Bloody Marsh its name.

In 1742 the English, through military strategy, defeated the Spanish on a nearby marsh. The Spanish commander in his report on the battle laid much of the blame for defeat on the presence near the fort of large quantities of prickly pear. Legend has it that the English, acting on the advice of Indians, covered the area with a thick layer of prickly pear which the barefooted Spaniards could not negotiate. The pears, a specie of cactus, has large fleshy leaves and is studded with stiff barbed thorns.

To Visit Marsh
The marsh will be one of the points of interest included in motor trips for the publishers. While the convention proper does not open until Monday, November 10, a special church service for the visitors has been arranged for Sunday November 9 at Christ's church, a historic spot on St. Simons Island. On the spot on which the church stands John and Charles Wesley first preached and organized one of the first Sunday schools in America. A touch of old plantation life in this section will be given the publishers Sunday evening when negro singers will entertain them at their hotel here.

In addition to business sessions on the three days of the convention there will be golf, tennis, trapshooting, sailing and bridge trips.

Another point of interest is the ruins of the House where Aaron Burr sought peace after he killed Alexander Hamilton in a duel. Remains of what once was the greatest British fortification in North America still stand here. The fort was built by General James Edward Oglethorpe and served as an entering wedge in the contest between the Spanish in Florida and the English in South Carolina for the area.

The Spanish were routed, marking the beginning of the end of Spanish conquest in America. Ruins of Spanish missions built nearly 400 years ago still stand in this vicinity.

PASSPORT RACKET VICTIMIZES MANY POOR PORTUGUESE

Liabon. (AP.)—The discovery of an organized gang of passport makers has caused a setback in the negotiations for the mutual abolition of passport formalities between Spain and Portugal.

Suspicious of the Spanish authorities were aroused by an unaccountable increase of Portuguese immigrants and inquiry revealed that the newcomers were supplied with forged passports and labor certificates.

The Spaniards got in touch with the Portuguese police and the frontier was combed on both sides. Several hundred gangsters were arrested.

It was said the plotters had reaped millions of escudos and ruined hundreds of once prosperous peasants. Their agents went from house to house and induced peasants to dispose of land and cattle and emigrate but many of the victims found the frontier barred and trapped back to their villages to start life over again.

Two of the head gangsters were government officials at Antas and Aveiro. One of them, Manuel Paulino, was about to retire as a rich man when the trick was exploded.

SLICED

Bond Bread has the same firm, close-knit texture as unsliced Bond Bread

HAVE YOU discovered how much better sliced Bond Bread is than ordinary sliced bread?

That's because Bond Bread, either sliced or not sliced, is a firm, substantial loaf. Whether you slice it yourself or buy it ready sliced, Bond Bread has no crumbling holes in it. The edges of the slices are not frayed. Such clean-cut slices result from using better materials and more careful baking.

When you have used sliced Bond Bread for a few days, you will notice something else. Bond Bread, sliced, like Bond Bread in the uncut loaf, keeps its flavor longer. This also is due to the firmer texture of Bond Bread. Being a substantial loaf, Bond resists evaporation. You will find the last slice just as fresh and creamy, and flavorful as it can be. You will agree that nobody can buy more delicious bread.

Increasing consumer preference proves that, sliced or unsliced, there is no bread like

SENSE AND NONSENSE

The truth would be all right if so many of the fellows did not insist on using their own brand.

Nothing is original but original sin.

Abc Martin: Iona, the little daughter of Mrs. Leghorn Tharp, president of the Colonial Bridge Club, wax seriously crushed today when a stack of unwashed dishes toppled over on her.

Man—At the circus there was a girl who rode beneath the horse, on the horse's neck, and almost on its tail.

His Neighbor—That's nothing. I did all that the first time I ever got on one.

Amos Tash says: You can lead a calf to the milk bucket, but it requires diplomacy to teach it to drink.

Weekending has become one of the people's most expensive luxuries.

Neighbor—Does your wife know anything about cooking?

Groom—Well, I heard her telephoning her mother, inquiring if she had to use soft water for soft boiled eggs.

A Poor Joke Isn't Improved By Repetition.

Amos Tash—Where are you going?

Hi, Brown—I'm going to Pea Ridge to mail a letter. The postmaster at Brushville won't buy my eggs so I won't mail my letters in his box.

We, the people, don't want to get rid of our prejudices.

First Burglar—Let's get out of this. We've broken into the house of the heavyweight champion.

Second Burglar—He never fights for less than a million dollars.

That's jake, said the man who learned his worst enemy had become paralyzed.

Our test of greatness is the ability to take criticism and profit by it. Other's interest in your ailments is always zero.

Magistrate—You are accused of having broken into a bank and stolen $200,000.

Prisoner—I'm sorry to say I'm not guilty.

Mr. Thomas A. Edison has announced that he is very fond of babies. Mr. Edison, by the way, is very deaf.

Uncle—My boy, think of the future.

Youth—I can't. It's my girl's birthday and I must think of the present.

Wonderful times we are living in! First a few to do the brain work. And the rest of us to operate fool-proof machinery.

A small boy was walking home from a music lesson with his violin under his arm when a thief crept up behind him, snatched the instrument and immediately disappeared. It sounds like a dream come true.

Stickler Solution

The miller ground one bushel and one-ninth, or ten-ninths, of the full amount of flour, nine-tenths, or one bushel, was left. His one-tenth of the full amount was thus equal to one-ninth of the bushel.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS

A man may select a solitaire by himself, but a girl always has a finger in it.

Millions of small boys like to imagine such a theft while practicing on the piano at home, but it almost never happens.

Manager—I'm afraid you're ignoring our efficiency system, Smith.

Smith—Perhaps so, sir, but somebody has got to get the work done.

One thing about a kleptomaniac is that he takes things so easily.

Customer—Gimme a marcelling iron and a bottle of carbolic acid.

Clerk—What do you want that for?

Customer—Gonna curl up and die.

Alcohol is just as bad for the arteries of traffic as it is for the arteries of a human.

Prospective Tourist—Where are some good places to stop on this trip?

Clerk (in touring bureau)—At all railroad crossings.

Now that they have awnings on open cars the next thing to do is to fill the rumble seats with dirt and plant shade trees in them.

ONCE UPON A TIME

Arthur D. Little, noted chemist, started his career when a boy by buying a glass tube and sulphuric acid for 10 cents and making hydrogen gas. The apparatus blew up. Intrigued, Little went in for chemical research with a bang.

THE TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The train went sailing on through space. Each Tinymite sat in his place and watched the pretty scenery that seemed to whizz right by. The fields looked pretty as could be, as far as all the bunch could see. They glistened in the sun that shone so brightly from the sky. Said Scouty, "How far is Seville?" And Coppy snapped, "Oh, wait until we get there. Then and miles from here. I'm sure we'll ride half of the day. There's a heap of time to pass away. Just sit back in your seat and rest. There's not a thing to fear." "That is a good idea, son," replied the Travel Man. "We've done a lot of walking 'round' today. Some rest will do you good. The loss of sleep is foolish, quite. It never lets you feel just right." And so the Tinymites cuddled up and snoozed as best they could. All of a sudden came a shriek and ere a Tinymite could speak,

(The Tinymites find a queer well in the next story.)
