

RED REFUSES INFORMATION TO SENATORS

W. Z. Foster Will Not Name Leaders of American Communist Central Board; Refuses To Take the Oath.

Washington, Dec. 5.—(AP.)—William Z. Foster, Communist leader, refused today to give to the House committee investigating Communist activities in this country the names of members of the American Communist central committee.

Questioned at an open hearing, Foster said: "I'm not submitting any names to this committee, if you please."

Asked his reason, he replied that "such evidence could only be elicited for eventual use against us in Police Court."

The Communist said he was a member of the committee and said no one had priority over him. He declared the purpose of the House committee was to have the Communist organization outlawed.

CROSS APPOINTS TUNNEY AS AIDE ON HIS STAFF

New Haven, Dec. 5.—(AP.)—James J. (Gene) Tunney, retired champion heavyweight fighter of the world, once a fighting man with the Marines, will wear the gold leaf of a major as an aide on the staff of Dean Wilbur L. Cross, next governor of Connecticut. His appointment of the staff was announced today, although his commission will not be signed until Governor-elect Cross is inaugurated on January 1.

Tunney will be one of the four aides appointed from civil life under the law, although he holds a commission as lieutenant in the Marine Corps Reserves.

Retired Champion Made a Major By State's Next Governor; Brief Sketches of Others Named.

Four other aides de camp are detailed from the National Guard and other staff officers are drawn from the military and naval force.

Brigadier-General W. F. Ladd, the present adjutant-general will be chief of staff. He and Col. C. W. Conant, Jr., will be in charge of the only members of Dean Cross' military family who are on the staff of Governor J. H. Trumbull who is ending his sixth year in office.

Negroes Prosecuted

He charged "being oppressed and prosecuted" of the negroes by the capitalist classes. Referring to committee members he said, "While the supporters of Messrs. Bachman, Eslick and Hall are lynching the disfranchised negroes, the Communists are leading a fight for a complete equality and self-determination for the negroes."

Representative Bachman, Republican, West Virginia, asked for verification of the charges that negroes were suppressed and disfranchised in West Virginia. Foster replied, "is the most tyrannically ruled state in the United States."

He testified that white and negro workers alike were shot down mercilessly.

Bachman said he was "sorry you are not informed" of conditions in that state.

CITIES DISPUTE OVER GRANT HOAX

Block of Gypsum That Fooled United States In 1869 To Stay In Fort Dodge.

Syracuse, N. Y., Dec. 5.—(AP.)—The Cardiff Giant was a native of Fort Dodge, and in Fort Dodge he is going to stay.

M. W. Day of the Syracuse Chamber of Commerce announced today that efforts to bring back to Cardiff, N. Y., the gypsum statue once accepted as the fossilized carcass of a prehistoric giant have been abandoned.

Fort Dodge, where the giant was carved out of a big block of gypsum to fool the public, refuses to let him go.

In October, 1869, William C. Newell, a farmer near the village of Cardiff, 14 miles south of Syracuse, claimed to have discovered the giant while he was digging a well. Pretty soon people were coming from all over the east to see Mr. Newell's find. It was estimated that his income from admission charges was $26 an hour.

11 Feet Tall

They took the giant—nearly 11 feet tall, with a head 21 inches long and shoulders three feet across—touring. Lots of money was made.

And about the same time Professor O. C. Marsh of Yale proved that the Cardiff Giant was just a gypsum man and that, if he had remained long in the earth where he was found, he would have entirely disintegrated.

Finally from Fort Dodge came the information that the statue was cut out there under the direction of one George Hill of Birmingham and shipped east. The humbug was exploded and the giant went back to Fort Dodge, where they keep him in a park.

Syracuse would have liked to have him as a curiosity.

Escaped N. Y. Madmen Are Still At Liberty

New York, Dec. 5.—(AP.)—Search for seven maniac-hospital who fled from the state hospital for the criminally insane at Matteawan after overpowering guards was intensified today.

City police, state troopers and sheriff's posse were scouring New York and patrolling the sixty mile road way from Beacon, N. Y.

Special guards watched their former homes here, in Brooklyn, on Long Island and in Rochester, N. Y., and plain clothes men sought them in their known haunts.

Two of the fugitives were sentenced for slayings, one for arson, one for assault, two for burglary and one for violating a parole.

FARM BOARD MAKES ITS FIRST REPORT

Says Farmers Must Adjust Production To Consumption To Maintain Prices.

Washington, Dec. 5.—(AP.)—The Farm Board reported to Congress today that agriculture, to achieve a parity with industry, must adjust production to consumption and perfect a self-controlled economic system of distribution.

The first annual report of the board contained the views, along with a summary of the past year's studies, accomplishments and experiments.

Out of its own experience with wheat and cotton the board was able to tell the legislators that the backing of adjusted production, have a limited field. The board members pointed to the results of their own stabilization efforts as an indication of some of the "difficulties and hazards" involved.

Particularly they said, did the failure of wheat producers to curtail acreage substantially in 1930, lead to defeat of stabilization measures.

HUNTING TRAGEDY TAKES QUEER TURN

Man Believed Killed By a Deer, Was Murdered By Woman, Authorities Say.

Milford, Pa., Dec. 5.—(AP.)—A mysterious tragedy of the deer hunting grounds of Pike county, was under investigation by the authorities today. What was at first believed to have been a battle to the death between a wounded deer and Wellington De Groat, of Matamoras, N. Y., was viewed by police in the light of developments, as a possible murder.

The body of De Groat, a hunting knife in his hand and his gun at his side was found in the wilds about ten miles from here last Tuesday. A few feet away a big buck lay dead, shot through the breast. In reconstructing the supposed battle between hunter and deer, De Groat's companions said he had wounded the deer and apparently had been crushed against the frozen ground by its antlers as he ran forward to deliver the death blow with his knife.

BLAMES AMERICANS FOR ENGLAND'S WOE

Lloyd George Says Debt Settlement Caused the Trouble—Raps Baldwin.

London, Dec. 5.—(AP.)—The "wild horses of Wall street" have dragged a prostrate England over a rocky road of finance, David Lloyd George, British premier, said today to a council of his party.

The "mischief" of Stanley Baldwin's American debt settlement continues to spread, he said. "We are lassoed fast by American finance," he cried, "we are only beginning to realize what that terrible debt settlement means. That gold standard settlement was premature and ill thought out. We have been dragged down the course by the wild horses of Wall street."

The Liberal Party, which holds the balance of power in Parliament, has made no deal with the Laborites to keep Ramsay MacDonald in office, Lloyd-George said, but it has no desire to see Stanley Baldwin become prime minister.

Are In Accord
His outline of the political line-up came out of the Liberal "war council" and on the heels of reports that he and MacDonald had patched up a working agreement based upon the Labor premier's forthcoming electoral reform bill.

"It is said to say," he said, "that in the midst of our biggest prosperity, few American workers obtain anything like a satisfactory standard of living. Therefore, the

SEARLES TAKES STAND AS CASE NEARS THE END

Bridgeport Witnesses Tell of Gunman's Actions Prior To His Surrender After Attempt To Kill Policemen

Bridgeport, Dec. 5.—(AP.)—Carleton Searles, of West Haven, alleged gunman who shot three police officers, took the stand in Superior Court at 11:15 o'clock today, while sheriffs moved into strategic positions and Judge Alfred C. Baldwin ordered aides opened in the crowded court room and the outside corridors cleared of those who had no business in the building.

A rumor persists that Searles intends "to make a break" for freedom. He was stripped and searched in his cell during the noon recess yesterday, it was learned today. No weapons were found.

Searles admitted on the stand that he was one of the two men that Policemen Wilbur Simpson and Arnold Schulze found in a car in Danbury on the morning of September 19, at the beginning of his recital of his story of crime.

Searles may know his fate by night.

State Completes Case

The State finished its case at 11:15, after putting on seven witnesses, six policemen and one the owner of a store alleged robbed in Danbury by Searles and Harold Skirby.

Policeman Teufel, of Greenwich, limped to the witness stand at the opening of the second day's trial, and testified that he was shot while starting away from Searles in the east Port Chester woods while seeking the shelter of a tree. He was not in uniform at the time.

Searles was standing in the open when he first saw him, he said, and started firing. Searles shot him in the leg as he ran. Teufel said he who had taken refuge behind another tree. He said he was unable to continue with the pursuit of Searles because of his wounded leg.

German Chancellor Asks Opponents To Forget Differences To Support Nation.

Berlin, Dec. 5.—(AP.)—Chancellor Brüning's government weakened by resignation of Johannes Brecht, minister of justice, made a personal appeal to the Reichstag today not to revoke the emergency financial measures which President von Hindenburg Tuesday promulgated by decree.

On the whole the House listened respectfully to the government head there were derisive calls from the Radical benches when he praised the ministry's efforts to cope with the unemployment. He defended the emergency measures in all their aspects, including the provisions for agrarian relief.

Has Full Support
"It has been a source of great satisfaction to me to find that from all parts of the country evidence has been forthcoming that the government's emergency program including salary and price reductions had been accepted by the nation's full support," he said.

SUSPECT ACCUSES POLICE AT TRIAL

Mrs. O'Loughlin Says She Never Confessed That She Had Killed Stepdaughter.

Denver, Dec. 5.—(AP.)—A story of "relentless persecution" at the hands of police after her arrest, was presented today by Mrs. Pearl O'Loughlin in her trial for the alleged murder of her 10-year-old stepdaughter, Leona. The defendant had recovered from her collapse in court last night.

Threats and intimidations were exercised by police to convince her in order to get her to confess.

Throughout the police grilling, she said, she maintained her innocence, made no oral or written confession, and implicated no one.

The witness said Captain of Detectives J. J. Clark told her that "if you are in any way connected with this crime you are going to be punished as though you had done it yourself."

The jury was excluded from court room during the testimony, which was presented to the court in determining whether it would be allowed to be given the jury as evidence in the case.

TREASURY BALANCE

Washington, Dec. 5.—(AP.)—Treasury receipts for Dec. 3, were: 4,067,798.79; expenditures $4,862,873.11; balance 78,196,358.42.

Higher Wage, Fewer Hours Cure for Unemployment

Philadelphia, Dec. 5.—(AP.)—A first need of the nation is a higher standard of living for masses, not solely to provide sufficient employment but to advance social progress as a national policy.

Paul Blanshard, of the league for industrial democracy, New York, said that private industry had failed to give security of income, work or old-age to the majority of American workers.

"President Hoover and the administration at Washington are seeking to evade real responsibility for a thoroughgoing prevention of insecurity by almost-hour publicity and by appropriations for public works which should have been made years ago," Blanshard said.

Labor in Tribute to "Mother" Jones

With representatives of every national labor union gathered to honor the memory of "Mother" Jones, funeral services for the centenarian labor leader were held at St. Gabriel's Church in Washington. This picture shows the steel-gray coffin being taken from the church after requiem and high mass. William Dock, newly appointed as Secretary of Labor was among the 44 honorary pall-bearers. The body was sent to Mount Olive, Ill., for burial in a miners' cemetery.

DISCOVER WALLED CITY IN SOUTHERN TRIPOLI

Muruk, Tripoli.—(AP.)—The discovery of a walled city in the wild Germa district of the southern Tripoli desert has been announced by Langston Moffett, of Washington, D. C., on his arrival here. Moffett is a member of the Prorok-Rosell expedition.

"A vast paleolithic walled city in an almost perfect state of preservation," is the way he described it.

Count Byron Kuhn de Prorok is leader of the party.

TRY TO KIDNAP HARTFORD LAWYER

Drag Him To Auto But His Struggles Scare Off Men; No Motive for the Attack.

Hartford, Dec. 5.—(AP.)—Police were seeking today to determine the motive in what was believed to be an attempt to kidnap Louis H. Katz, local attorney, when he was about to enter his home last night.

Katz told police he had just alighted from a street car when he was brutally assaulted by two men and after a skirmish in the street he said they dragged him by the arms and legs to a waiting automobile. As he was about to be thrown into the machine Katz said he made a final struggle and his assailant jumped into the car and sped away leaving him in the street.

The men could not be recognized by Katz and he told police it was possibly a case of "mistaken identity."

The Builders Mortgage Corporation for which Katz is attorney received letters last August stating that the writer threatened to take the officers of the concern "for a ride."

Hartford police believe the attack last night on Attorney Louis H. Katz by two assailants and the frustrated effort to carry him from the front of his home in a machine is connected with an anonymous

ALKI POISONING CALLED DISGRACE

Congressman Says Men and Women Are Being Blinded Because of the Practice.

Washington, Dec. 5.—(AP.)—The wet block drive against poisoning of industrial alcohol was opened in the House today by Representative Shroyer, Democrat, New York.

"It is a disgrace to civilization to be using poison in industrial alcohol when there are other drugs for denaturing just as effective against beverage use," he declared, during debate on the Treasury-Postoffice supply bill which carries $4,844,420 for the Bureau of Industrial Alcohol.

"There are now over 100,000,000 gallons of industrial alcohol produced, 25 to 40 million of which are being diverted into bootleg channels. Men and women are being blinded; a teaspoonful of this stuff will cause total blindness."

PAUPERS IN STATE ARE ON INCREASE

DYING-HEALTH IN 48 HOURS

Patient Was at Death's Door When Doctors Try Experiment — It Worked Successfully.

Cold Spring Harbor, N. Y., Dec. 5.—(AP.)—Restoration of a man from death's door to apparently perfect health in 48 hours was revealed today at the biological laboratory.

The man saved, a patient at the Mayor clinic at Rochester, Minn., had Addison's disease.

At the clinic a purified hormone was injected directly into the veins of a farmer, 39 years old, by Dr. Leonard G. Rowntree and Dr. Carl H. Greene.

"Before its use," they said, "the patient was excessively weak, bedridden, depressed, nauseated, and showed evidence of failing circulation. Within 48 hours he had taken a new lease of life, his appetite was excellent, his strength was greatly improved and he appeared to be in perfect health."

ROBINSON DEMANDS MORE FOR FARMERS

Says If Only 25 Millions Are Raised the Effect of Measure Is Nullified.

Washington, Dec. 5.—(AP.)—An urgent plea for the appropriation of $80,000,000 instead of the Budget Bureau's recommendation of $25,000,000 for drought relief was made before the Senate agriculture committee today by Democratic Leader Robinson of Arkansas.

He said if Congress is going to deal with the situation at all, it should do so generously.

Several Senators, including Robinson, introduced bills proposing the appropriation of $60,000,000 for seed and feed loans to drought stricken farmers, but Representative Aswell, Democrat, Louisiana, proposed a like measure.

ONE DEAD, ONE HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Waterbury Man Dies of Injuries When Light Car Crashes Into Truck.

Waterbury, Dec. 5.—(AP.)—Thomas Higginson, 28, of Alder street, died in St. Mary's hospital at 8:50 this morning of injuries received early today when the automobile in which he was a passenger, operated by Louis Lucas of this city, crashed into a truck on the Meriden road. Higginson, another passenger is believed to be near death. He has not regained consciousness since admission to the hospital at 2 o'clock this morning.

Multiple fractures are suspected by hospital authorities, but no X-ray pictures are yet available. Higginson's injuries were several fractured ribs and a punctured lung, a compound fracture of the arm, head lacerations and possible injury to the brain.

Runs Into Truck
Higginson and Marcano were with two other young men returning from a visit to a cottage at Hitchcock's Lake when their roadster, owned by Marcano's brother, ran into a truck backed up on rounding the curve at the intersection of National avenue, the scene of another fatality some months ago.

The truck of 1 1/2-ton capacity, was driven by Nathan Rashin, 23, a farmer of Marion, Rankin told the police and deputy coroner that the Waterbury man was traveling at an excessive rate of speed. The impact threw the roadster and the truck off the road and demolished the lighter car.

The two injured men are said to have been thrown through the top of the roadster, their heads striking the cross-beam so that they suffered brain injuries.

PINCHOT'S EXPENSES

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 5.—(AP.)—Gifford Pinchot's election to the governorship of Pennsylvania for a second term cost the Pinchot family pocketbook $208,500.

Pinchot's personal expenses account, filed with the State Bureau of Elections, revealed a total expenditure of $54,900 in the general election campaign when he won the primary campaign in which he won the Republican nomination.

In addition Mrs. Pinchot contributed $48,500 to the general campaign fund and $10,000 in the primary.

The governor's salary is $18,000 a year.

YOUTHFUL ARTISTS IN FINE PROGRAM

Priscilla Pillsbury and Miss Charissa Wood Entertain Large Audience.

The Center church ladies' parlor was a perfect setting for the complimentary recital last evening arranged by Mrs. Hazel McComb and Mrs. Marion Seibert. Extra chairs had to be provided, so many attended.

Mrs. McComb who teaches dramatics here and in Hartford presented one of her younger pupils, Priscilla, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Pillsbury of Chestnut street, in an ambitious program for one so young and Mrs. Seibert's pupil was another young miss, Charissa Wood, who is in her early teens.

Every number by the youthful entertainers was greeted with enthusiastic applause. They did not respond to recalls and confined themselves to the programs distributed.

Both girls seemed perfectly at ease and their work reflected credit on their instructors and showed evidence of continual practice. Priscilla, who was attired in a simple black velvet dress with white blouse, seemed to put herself into the characters she impersonated and her swift changes from one portrayal to another were surprising in one of her years.

Charissa who was dressed in red, played entirely from memory, and her second number played with such ease that she drew forth much applause. The whole program was most enjoyable and of much merit.

THOUGHT CAR STOLEN, BORROWED BY ERROR

Glastonbury Man Reports Loss To Police Only To Find It Had Been Taken By Mistake.

The second best way to find anything that has been lost, strayed or stolen—yes, even borrowed, is to report it to the police. Of course, the best remedy usually is to advertise in The Herald.

George Hillman of Glastonbury parked his Oldsmobile on Main street last night and left it not only closed but locked as well. When he came back, another car was in its place. The Oldsmobile had been driven away and another car had taken the parking stall.

Hillman told Manchester Police and Captain Herman Schendel notified all of his patrolmen on duty through the red light system. Within a half an hour the missing car was discovered. It appears that there is another car similar to the one Hillman had and that it is owned by Samuel Harrison of this town.

No Harrison didn't make a mistake and take Hillman's car. On the contrary, Howard Murphy took it believing it was Harrison's. In fact Harrison had given him his keys so that he might borrow the machine. The keys fit both cars. Murphy was naturally very much surprised when he discovered his error.

Arrived: New York, Dec. 5, from Marselles; Deutschland, New York, Dec. 5, from Hamburg; Sinaia, Marselles, Dec. 2, from New York; Bergensfjord, Oslo, Dec. 5, from New York; Sailed: Pulaski, Copenhagen, Dec. 4, for New York; Dresden, Bremen, Dec. 4, for New York; Western World, Buenos Aires, Dec. 5, for New York; Northern Prince, Buenos Aires, Dec. 1, for New York.

SETS HEARING DATE

Hartford, Dec. 5.—(AP)—The Public Utilities Commission today set December 12 at 2 p. m. for a hearing on the petition of the Connecticut Light and Power Company, for approval of the location of poles on Cole street in the city of Torrington.

DRIVER EXONERATED

Middletown, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Coroner L. A. Smith today exonerated from criminal blame Harold Edman, of Higginnum, whose car ran over a car of Ercole Iarusso of Meriden, the latter dying from his hurts.

The mishap was on November 20, on the Middlesex turnpike.

If We Only Had!

"If we only had the money" What a multitude of unfulfilled hopes; what a wealth of lost opportunities; what a world of despair and tragedy are comprehended in that phrase.

Every day the doctor, the nurse, the tuberculosis secretary says "If we only had the money, we would do this, that or the other thing. We could build a preventorium, we could employ those extra nurses, we could examine and X-ray the school children, we could provide rehabilitation facilities for discharged tuberculosis patients, we could carry on these much needed studies of our problem—what couldn't we do, if we only had the money."

This is not, however, the wall of a despairing soul, nor the last gasp of a lost cause. It is rather a challenge to newer and greater opportunities, to carry on more vigorously than ever before.

The Christmas seal gives all of us at this holiday season a chance to meet this challenge. Buy Christmas seals and bring hope to those who are looking for your support of the tuberculosis campaign. Answer the call, "If We Only Had" by buying more seals this needy year than ever before.

Mrs. Marion C. Irvine who is receiving the returns from the Christmas Seal letters of appeal, is very gratified at the response made up to date. Some days hundreds of letters are in the mails, then again there are very few. The checks and sums in currency received already have ranged all the way from ten cents to $25.00. The Educational Club who is sponsoring the sale again this year is hopeful that the returns will equal if not exceed those of last year. Certainly the need is greater than ever.

COMMITTED SUICIDE

Norwalk, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Funeral services for Aaron Root, or Ruskdy, 39 year old business man of this city, who was found dead last night in his apartment, will be held here this afternoon. Financial troubles, arising from Stock Market transactions, led Root to suicide. He drank poison.

Root came to Norwalk from Scranton, Pa., four years ago and was prominent in local Jewish circles.

The pastors of the three churches are looking forward to a town-wide support of these joint services.

SCANDIA LODGE NAMES WOMAN OUTER GUARD

First Time In Order's History Woman Has Filled Position—Election Last Night.

For the first time in the history of Scandia Lodge, No. 23, Order of Vasa, now entered upon its thirty-first year, a woman occupies the office of outer guard with the election to that post of Mrs. Ellen Carlson of Maple street, at a meeting held in Orange Hall last night. Mrs. Carlson has been prominently identified with the lodge for many years and was president of Scandia at the time of the gain celebration of the 30th anniversary. She has just completed a term as past president.

Mrs. Carl J. E. Anderson was elected president; Eric Gustafson, vice president; Henning A. Johnson, secretary; Algot Johnson, assistant secretary; Emil Brandt, financial secretary; Arvid Gustafson, assistant secretary; Amandus Johnson, treasurer; Florence Johnson, chaplain; Edna Gustafson, master of ceremonies; John Polson, assistant master of ceremonies; Oscar Dahlquist, inner guard; Mrs. Carlson, outer guard; Friedberg Thoren, pianist; John Benson, trustee for three years; Albert Swanson, for three degrees masters; Amandus Johnson and Carl Thoren, representative to Hall Association Svea for three years; Arvid Gustafson; auditor to Hall Association, Amandus Johnson.

Installation of these officers will be held Thursday evening at Orange Hall, January 1, 1931.

UNION SERVICES BEGIN SUNDAY

First of Protestant Church Series To Be Held at South Methodist Church.

Winter Union services of the Manchester Protestant churches will begin Sunday evening at 7 o'clock, at the South Methodist church, with Rev. J. Stuart Neill of St. Mary's Episcopal church as the preacher. It is proposed to hold two additional Sunday evening union services, the first Sundays in January and February. In January the service will be at St. Mary's church and Rev. Watson Woodruff of Center Congregational church will be the guest preacher. The February union meeting will take place at Center church and Rev. A. Colpitts of the South Methodist church will preach.

The ministers have planned for a certain continuity to these union services which will be on the general theme of "Ancient Messages for Modern Manchester." They will base their remarks on texts from the Old Testament prophets, Job, Jonah and Amos. Mr. Neill's subject at the first Sunday evening meeting will be "God and Human Suffering; Job," Mr. Woodruff's of the World Outlook," Jonah, and Mr. Colpitts, "God and Human Relations," Amos. Mrs. R. K. Anderson will be organist Sunday evening.

The pastors of the three churches are looking forward to a town-wide support of these joint services.

OBITUARY

DEATHS

MRS. J. H. QUINN DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Woman of Well Known Druggist Passes Away When Heart Disease Follows Pneumonia.

Mrs. Mary A. Weidon Quinn, wife of James H. Quinn, of Park street, died this afternoon at 2:20 at her home after an illness of pneumonia. The immediate cause of death was edema of the heart which developed last night.

She leaves besides her husband, who is the well known Main street druggist, five children and two grandchildren. They are Mrs. Mary Higgins, wife of Dr. B. C. Higgins, of East Center street, Mrs. Eleanor O'Brien, Miss Margaret and Miss Elizabeth Quinn, and one son, Walter Quinn. The grandchildren are the children of Doctor and Mrs. Higgins.

Mrs. Quinn was a woman of many estimable traits of character and well beloved by all who knew her. She was brought up from early childhood in the family of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Weidon of Toland Turnpike, her own name being Daily. When very young her parents died leaving her brother now dead and herself as orphan. Since her marriage to Mr. Quinn she has lived on Park street. Funeral arrangements are not complete.

Mrs. Sarah Symington

Word came received here of the death today in Astoria, Long Island, N. Y., of Mrs. Sarah Symington, formerly a resident of Manchester. She leaves no near relatives here.

The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Quill's Funeral Home, at Main and Hollister streets. Burial will be in the East Cemetery.

Mrs. Alexander Leggett

Mrs. Carrie Sanford Leggett, widow of Alexander Leggett died last night at 10 o'clock at the Manchester Memorial hospital from a short illness with pneumonia. Mrs. Leggett was admitted at the Manchester Memorial hospital on Monday, August 21 last. They were former residents of Woodbridge street. Mrs. Leggett leaves no near relatives. She was 68 years old, and attended the South Methodist church. Her funeral will take place Saturday at 3 o'clock at the funeral parlors of Thomas Dougan, Rev. R. A. Colpitts of the South Methodist church will officiate and burial will be in the East cemetery.

FUNERALS

G. M. BARBER FUNERAL HELD THIS AFTERNOON

Simple Service Attended By Five Civil War Veterans—Eulogy By Rev. Colpitts.

George M. Barber, one of Manchester's few remaining Civil War veterans, was laid to rest this afternoon in the East cemetery. The funeral service, in accord with Mr. Barber's wishes, was simple, but in its simplicity it was impressive.

Mr. Barber's home on 160 Gardner street was the scene of the service which was largely attended at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Among those present were five other veterans of the Civil War, Comrade Lucius Pinney who is commander of Drake Post No. 4, G. A. R. of which Mr. Barber was member. Comrade Albert B. Pierce of Manchester and Comrade Rev. Charles E. Baker of Stafford, also members of the same post, Elmer Hotchkiss, another Manchester Civil War veteran who is not connected with the post and Corodon Beebe of East Hartford who was formerly a member of Drake Post No. 4 and then transferred to East Hartford.

Floral tributes were both numerous and beautiful as they stood about the flag-draped casket in which the grand old man rested in final sleep.

Rev. R. A. Colpitts, pastor of the South Methodist Episcopal church, of which the deceased was a member, was the officiating clergyman. During his eulogy, Rev. Colpitts, spoke, in part, as follows:

"The total product of every man's life and character is determined with mathematical precision by two sets of forces. The first set of these forces is one for which he himself is in no way responsible. These are the physical, and the mental, and the moral qualities which are bequeathed by his ancestors. These are the involuntary forces.

"But there is a second set of forces which mould his life, and these are wholly voluntary. They are the standards and the ideals by which he determines to build his life and the goals which he sets before himself. So far as the first set of forces goes, then, he is not the master of his fate, but so far as the second set is concerned, he is the master of his fate and the captain of his soul.

"Mr. Barber was particularly fortunate by inheritance of these involuntary forces which lead back 310 years to the iron-hearted hundred who landed at Plymouth. But in the second place, he was equally fortunate in the standards and the goals and the ideals which he set before himself. It seems impossible for any other type of a man to have been produced than the noble citizen whose passing we mourn today.

Among the floral tributes numbering well over fifty pieces in all, were tributes from the trustees of the Masonic lodge, the Past Ma-of an aide to present training camp activities because such an appointment was optional. An amendment to the military law gave Governor Trumbull the opportunity to appoint John Coolidge, son of the former President Calvin Coolidge, now his son-in-law as an aide. This amendment was the first legislative act of the 1929 General Assembly and Major Coolidge's first staff duty was at the inaugural ball in attendance on Gov. Trumbull and as an escort to his fiancée, Miss Florence Trumbull.

CROSS APPOINTS TUNNEY AS AIDE ON HIS STAFF

Tunney, a student of Shakespeare and friend of Prof. William L. Phelps Lamson, professor of English literature, met Dean Cross while visiting at Yale. He was eligible for staff appointment as he lives in Stamford.

Proceeding requires that staff officers attend upon the governor-elect at the inauguration in the Capitol and they escort the retiring and incoming executives of the latter government to the executive offices of the House where the oath of office is administered by the chief justice to the elected officers.

Other Appointments

James A. Shanley, made an aide with the rank of major, ran for Congress against Colonel John Q. Nilson in the Third District. He is a lawyer, instructor of mathematics in New Haven high school and is adjutant of the First Battalion of the 102nd Infantry. He was graduated from Yale in 1920 and the law school in 1923. He served in the field artillery in the War.

Anthony Sunderland was candidate for comptroller on his party's ticket. As assistant adjutant-general he will have an office which pays $3,600. He is mayor of Danbury.

Prof. Herbert L. Seward, naval aide, is a professor of mechanical engineering at Mason Laboratory in Sheffield school and holds the rank of lieutenant-commander in the Connecticut Naval Reserve. During the war he taught navigation at Hoboken.

Taylor's Record

Edward Taylor, an aide, is industrial commander for the New Haven road. He was graduated from Yale in 1901 and had been an instructor here and at the University of Kansas. In the war he was a first lieutenant in the engineer corps, served in France and later passed into the Reserve.

Captain John J. McGarry, who is an aide, commands headquarters company of the 43rd Division at Putnam. He is a former member of the Democratic state central committee and was twice mayor of his home city and vice-president of the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Lieutenant-Colonel Robert F. Gadd, detailed as an aide ranking as colonel, has been a staff officer in the ordnance department of the Guard since 1923.

Major Michael A. Connor, who becomes quartermaster general with the rank of colonel, was formerly in the adjutant-general's department after a long service in the National Guard.

GROcery COMMENT

Hartford, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Governor-elect Wilbur L. Cross today joined the long list of admirers of James J. Tunney, of Stamford, retired heavyweight champion of the world, who has entered Connecticut's official list as appointee to the governor-elect's staff with the rank of major.

"A fine, splendid fellow who went into boxing or whatever you call it, to make money and after getting it took a course in life he wanted to follow," the governor-elect said of Tunney in a statement to the Hartford Times in which he explained why he appointed "Gene" on his staff.

"Tunney is a Democrat and is interested in good government more than is generally known," the incoming governor said. "He is a friend of my friend, Prof. William Lyon Phelps, and of Thornton Wilder, the novelist. He has been to Yale where he talked to the boys with whom he is very popular. He is also a member of the Fundit Club."

GROcery SHOWER TO AID THE NEEDY

Last Night's Affair Gets Generous Response From Emblem Club Membership.

The Emblem Club's "Big Sister" grocery shower held last evening at the home of Mrs. George H. Williams of Oxford street for charitable purposes was a great success. Thirty-two of the members responded with donations. Bushels of fruit and vegetables were donated and dozens of cans of soups and vegetables as well as home canned fruit. Later the club will give a card party at the home of Mrs. Helen De Hope to provide meats and other items for Christmas baskets for the needy.

The Big Sister committee will work with Miss Jessie Reynolds, social service worker for the town, so that their efforts will not be duplicated. The date of December 19 has been set for the bridge and whist for this object.

The ladies voted the shower the most enjoyable evening spent in some time. Various amusements had been arranged by Mrs. Williams. The promise that the prizes to be awarded were once the property of millionaires was kept for they were bought at Woolworth's. The winners were Mrs. Helen Shea, Mrs. Mary Graziano, Mrs. Nellie Barrett. The hostess served a luncheon.

suicide" one of the policemen suggested, Teufel said.

Teufel said he went forward to capture Searles and that Searles took the gun from his hand and fired at him, wounding him. It was at this time he ran for the shelter of a tree.

He was followed on the stand by Policeman John Burke, of Greenwich, to whom Searles surrendered after his stand in the woods on November 22. Burke wounded Searles before he surrendered, it came out.

Burke's Story

"I heard shots," said Burke on the stand, "and I ran in the direction of the shooting. I saw a man behind a stone wall and challenged him. He fired and I fired. I saw him throw up his arm across his face and then disappear behind the stone wall from view."

"Did you go forward then?" asked Public Defender Harry Silverstone, who is representing Searles.

"No, I laid on the ground for five or ten minutes and then Searles came out and surrendered."

Burke identified a cartridge belt he took from Searles and an automatic pistol that Searles had. Burke had scratched the gun in order to identify it, it developed.

Burke said that Searles told him he could have shot him.

"Did you ask him why he did not shoot you?" Attorney Silverstone asked.

"Yes, he told me he had not wanted to shoot me in the head," Burke replied.

Searles told him he had seen him in clear view on the hill and that he was a perfect target.

Policeman William Pyne, of Greenwich, was recalled to the stand today to identify a photograph of a car that was introduced as that in which Searles was riding at the time he shot the policeman.

Pyne testified Searles had shot at him "with his left hand over his right shoulder." The bullet it developed did not leave the car, it ploughed its way into the cushions in the rear seat.

Pyne left the stand and Searles moved briskly to the stand, after having furnished most of the material with which his counsel cross-examined the witnesses.

However, he had bitter criticism for the MacDonald Cabinet.

"The government," he said, "is an acknowledged failure. Unemployment is not merely a disaster, it is an opportunity. During such times an able government can put to rights things that cannot be remedied in periods of prosperity."

TO EXAMINE APPOINTEES SEE END OF STRIKE

Washington, Dec. 5.—(AP)—The Senate Interstate Commerce Committee today decided to call the five members nominated by President Hoover for the new power commission for hearings here next Thursday.

The committee approved the nominations of Frank McManamy, of the District of Columbia, for reappointment to the Interstate Commerce Commission, and of Samuel E. Winslow of Massachusetts, for reappointment to the Board of Mediation.

However, it decided to call Charles D. Mahaffie of the district for a hearing on his nomination for reappointment to the Interstate Commerce Commission. Some objections over the "spreadover" working schedule which is at the bottom of the trouble both in Scotland and South Wales.

The Glasgow truce, the report said, would be based on a three month agreement with mine owners under the old terms of an eight-hour working day with no wage cut. The only uncertain point remained adjudication of differences over the "spreadover" working schedule which is at the bottom of the trouble both in Scotland and South Wales.

The present value to preserve them for future years are expected to be devoted to building up farmer-owned and controlled marketing systems, done on a regional or national scale for nearly a score of communities. This major long-time undertaking was supplemented with the emergency loans and stabilization commitments, totaling a net of $242,659,476. During the year it received repayments of $43,195,328, which returned to the revolving fund for other loans. At the end of the fiscal year outstanding advances totaled $148,616,194. The stabilization operations up to the fiscal year end totaled $15,000,000 for cotton and $90,000,000 for wheat.

The board was authorized to receive, under the Farm Marketing Act creating it, a revolving fund of $500,000,000. Of this $150,000,000 was appropriated immediately and $100,000,000 last April.

Pay checks have been received at the Armory and the men of the National Guard units will receive them at next week's drill periods.

"Fight Like Hell Until You Go to Heaven!"

That Was Mother Jones' Cry That Spurred Miners In Great Colorado Coal Strike

Editor's Note: This is the last of three stories on the life of Mother Jones.

BY BRUCE CATTON
Staff Writer for NEA Service and The Herald

In 1913 Mother Jones was in Washington. She was getting on in her eighties; almost, one would say, to the age where a labor organizer might retire. But Mother Jones never was able to understand how anyone could stop fighting when there were still wrongs to be righted.

One morning she read of a new coal strike in southern Colorado—a strike against the great Rockefeller holdings there; and the story quoted the governor of Colorado as saying that Mother Jones would not be allowed to enter the strike zone on any pretext.

Mother Jones took the next train for Denver.

With the connivance of a friendly railroad conductor, who stopped his train outside the city limits to let her off, she got to Trinidad, center of the trouble. She was arrested at once. Then for nine weeks she was held in jail. Eventually she was taken to the office of the governor, who told her he was going to release her but warned her she must not go back to the strike zone.

She calmly informed him that that was exactly where she was going as soon as she left his office; and she made good her boast. Again she was arrested and put in jail—this time for 26 days in a dark cellar overrun with rats, which she used to fight off, at night, with an empty beer bottle. Finally she was released on a writ of habeas corpus; again she went back to the mine fields.

She got there just in time to witness the "Ludlow massacre," when armed mine guards shot up and set fire to a miners' tent colony. Under her eyes was written one of the blackest pages in American industrial history. Miners were killed in the fighting; a number of children lost their lives when the tent colony was burned. Strikers and their families who escaped that death found themselves dying of cold and starvation.

Eighty-four years old, white-haired and bent, Mother Jones swung into action. She solicited clothes for ragged children and desperate mothers. She helped lay out the bodies of dead miners, and shouted to their widows to "Fight like Hell until you go to Heaven!" She kept the strikers away from the saloons, did everything that she could to relieve suffering and to keep the strikers' spirits keyed up. The miners lost the strike.

Mother Jones... as she appeared toward the last of her active days.

Mother Jones went to New York to talk with John D. Rockefeller, Jr. At the time she was disappointed. She felt that he was incapable of understanding, unwilling to remedy the conditions she described. But there was a new deal in the Rockefeller mines; and a few years ago, when Mother Jones celebrated a birthday, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., sent her a warm, friendly telegram of congratulations—and Mother Jones sent him back a warm, friendly telegram in answer. She had lost that strike at the time; but in the end she had won it.

When Mother Jones was 90 there came one of her last calls to action—the great steel strike of 1919. She went at once to Homestead, Pa., and began addressing strikers in places where speeches were strictly forbidden. She was immediately arrested and taken before a police judge in Pittsburgh. The judge asked her if she had a permit to speak in the street. She replied that she had.

"Who issued it?" growled the judge.

"Patrick Henry, Thomas Jefferson and John Adams!" cried Mother Jones. The judge, failing to recognize these authorities, fined her heavily.

Up and down the steel district went Mother Jones. But there was dissension in the ranks of the strikers and at last the strike was lost. In 1923 another coal strike hit West Virginia. Down to West Virginia went Mother Jones again, to find the jail full of strikers. She at once went to Charleston and called on Governor Morgan. He received her courteously and asked her what he could do for her.

"Governor," asked Mother Jones, "do you hear anything?"

"No, Mother Jones, I do not," he replied.

"I do," said Mother Jones. "I hear women and little boys and girls sobbing at night. Their fathers are in jail. The wives and children are crying for food."

Governor Morgan promised to investigate. A few days later Mother Jones got a letter from him, telling her that all but three of the prisoners had been released. Later, in her autobiography, she remarked that "Governor Morgan is the only governor in the 23 years I was in West Virginia who refused to comply with the requests of the dominant money interests."

That was nearly the last of Mother Jones' active exploits in the cause of labor. As she went on into her nineties she retired to the home of friends near Washington, to watch the battle from afar. In the last few years she found much to encourage her. The long battle was being won. Conditions were infinitely better than when she began fighting. A few years ago, addressing a Farmer-Labor convention, she declared:

"The producers, not the meek, shall inherit the earth. Not today, perhaps, nor tomorrow, but over the rim of the years my old eyes can see the coming of another day."

There remains one anecdote to tell about Mother Jones. All of her life she hated policemen—naturally enough, all things considered. A few years ago she went to Chicago and stopped at a hotel. A lawyer, who had known her for years, called on her; to him Mother Jones confided that she would like a little whiskey. This lawyer went to a nearby hotel where the stuff was often sold, but could not find his bootlegger. However, he met in the lobby a policeman he knew, and told him what he wanted.

The policeman disappeared and soon came back with a bottle of whiskey. The lawyer asked him how much it would cost.

"You said it was for Mother Jones, didn't you?" asked the officer. The lawyer nodded. The policeman said:

"Then it won't cost anything. Just give it to her, with my compliments."

The lawyer did so. Mother Jones smiled and said:

"All right. After this I'll lay off policemen."

OLDER BOY CONFERENCE HELD THIS WEEK END

Several Delegates From Manchester Attend Sessions Opening In Bridgeport Today

Twenty-two boys and leaders will compose the Hartford County Y. M. C. A. delegation to the State Older Boys' Conference to be held this week-end at Bridgeport. The Conference will open with registration of delegates from 8 to 5 p. m. this afternoon, followed by election of officers and Conference sessions, and will adjourn Sunday afternoon at 4:30. Three topics will be considered: "Thinking Together About God," "Discovering and Practicing Christian Conduct," and "The Resources of Our God."

Hartford County delegates are as follows: Wesley Gwathkin, Ralph R. Carter, representing the Congregational Church of Berlin; Richard T. Wivagg, Edwin T. Ripley representing the Collinsville Y. M. C. A.; Wilder, representing the Collinsville Boy Scouts; W. H. Petherbridge, representing the Manchester Y. M. C. A.; Carl P. Cumberly, K. Albert Perret, representing the Manchester Hi-Y; Earl Ruddell and Lincoln Eristol, First Congregational Church; Frank Ellsworth, Robert Stoughton, and T. P. Ellsworth, representing the E. Windsor Congregational church; and Wilfred S. Crossen and Harry Anderson representing the So. Manchester Methodist Episcopal church.

The meeting was in charge of assistant Scoutmaster Benson. After the opening with the salute to the Flag each patrol held a short meeting. This was followed by games. Then came instruction period until 8:30 at which time we played some more games.

At 9 o'clock the meeting was closed with scout oath and prayer.

Don't forget to get in touch with your patrol leader so that he may get an idea as to what you are contributing to the Christmas dinner.

Let's give the scoutmaster a hand with the wreaths Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Let's have a record attendance Sunday afternoon on the hike. Be at the terminus at 1:30 in full uniform if possible as Roy Benson is going to take the first reel of the movie.

Cherbourg, France, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Dr. Washington Luis, deposed president of Brazil, and his wife and daughter today disembarked from the steamer Alcantara, which brought them from Rio de Janeiro. Dr. Luis said he would spend the winter in France, "a friendly country, where I am always happy to reside."

SUNDAY MOVIES BANNED

London, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Even London has its blue-law disciples. Now three high court judges have ruled out Sunday movies under an old law of 1781. The closing order becomes effective December 14.

The ancient blue law, unenforced for many years, provides heavy fines for violation. The movie men, are believed to be ready for a demand that Parliamentary aid be invoked to change the law.

London is the only city in England which shows movies on Sunday.

MINIATURE MARVEL

London.—Thousands of miniature models were displayed at the recent Model Engineering Exhibition held here, one of the most interesting being a tiny merry-go-round. The model was perfect in every respect, having tiny horses and carriages and a tiny organ that played six times in typical fair-ground style.

WANT $25,000?

Paris.—The Bureau de Repartition is offering a prize of $25,000 to anyone who can think out a new and profitable way of using the world's supply of mercury. Since the war, the demand for mercury has fallen off and a surplus of more than 100 tons is now on hand.

MUSICAL NUMBERS
HIT OF LIONS SHOW

Large Number of Singers and Dancers in "Aeroplane Girl" Production.

Because of the particularly large numbers of singers and dancers in the Lions club musical comedy "The Aeroplane Girl," the directors are staging many extra musical numbers for the presentations of the show at the State theater next Wednesday afternoon and evening. Outstanding melodies have been called from the latest Broadway stage successes and "The Aeroplane Girl" will bristle with interpolations from "Tip Toes," the Ziegfeld Follies, Earl Carroll's "Sketch Book" and others.

Of the leading fun makers, Leonard Johnson is quite to the fore in his part of Hiram A. Hicks, a rural inn keeper, custodian of the village lock-up and general all-round village factotum, and he gives a graphic recital of the tribulations of a backwoods sleuth in his original comedy song "They Ain't Got a Thing On Me."

The Misses Hazel Rogers and Elizabeth Litwin will lead a bevy of rollicking choristers through the dance evolutions of "My Scarecrow Girl," a barefoot specialty enlisting the services of the following grotesquely costumed dancers: Gertrude Bensche, Gertrude McVeigh, Sylvia Saccoccio, Bella Silverstein, Mary Miroglio, Doris Irving, Ida Anderson, Agnes Dziadus, Pauline Emons, Constance Karpuska, Edith Andruot, Ida Cole, Ruth Johnson, Dorothy Hanson, Margaret Bushnell, Edith Thresher, Helen Topping, Irma Anderson, Esther Tack, Jennie Kose, Evelyn Pesterson, Dorothy Wirtalla, Dorothy Gess, Arline McCabe, Anne Tivnan, Ruth Tivnan, Edith Brown, Beda Carlson, Maud Sullivan, Virginia Hart.

RECORD RINGER

London.—Francis Fraser claims the bell-ringing championship of England. At the Eilian church he has been official bell-ringer for sixty-two years, having held the job since he was 18. Every so often he gets a ring called the "Oxford Triple Bob Major." This requires constant pulling of the bells for two hours and forty minutes, with 5040 changes for different notes.

Remove from the oven, cover with meringue, and return to a slow oven until golden brown on top. Serve warm or cold with plain or whipped cream.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Whiskey In Lung Trouble)
Question: C. L. asks: "Will you please tell me if a combination of good whiskey and salt is healing to the lungs if taken as a medicine? Will anyone taking this show it in a blood test?"
Answer: There are no kinds of medicinal preparations which have any definite effect upon healing the lungs. If large amounts of either whiskey or salt are used it might be determined by a blood test, but such tests would have to be made of the patient's blood both on the days when he is taking the whiskey and salt, and on other days when he is not; then, some difference can be seen by comparison.

(Peanut Butter)

Question: F. G. asks: "Does peanut butter make a bad combination with some foods and what are they?"
Answer: Peanut butter may be used in combination with any other food providing the peanut butter is made from roasted peanuts, and not from the raw peanuts.

(Cracking Jaw)

Question: E. T. writes: "I wonder if you could tell me what is wrong with my jaw. For a while the joint on the right side was stiff and had a tendency to lock if I opened my mouth wide, and sometimes it would crack. Now, every time I chew there is a grating sound as if the bones were rubbing."
Answer: The trouble in your jaw may be caused from arthritis, or it may come from an injury which is sometimes experienced when dental work is being done.

WOULD REINSTATE STUDENTS

Washington, Dec. 5.—(AP.)—Reinstatement in the Naval Academy of two students expelled last June for escorting two girl friends to the academy mess hall was proposed in a bill today by Senator Walsh, of Massachusetts.

The students were Lawrence L. Myatt, of Quincy, Mass., and Miller S. Burgin, of Jacksonville, Fla.

Walsh said he and other Senators, including those from Florida, believed the punishment was too severe, since "it was generally agreed to be a harmless stunt."

RAILROADS LOBBYING TO KILL BUS BILL

Washington, Dec. 5.—(AP.)—A lobby by the railroads to kill the motor bus regulation bill because of a provision prohibiting mergers of railroads and bus lines, was charged in the Senate today by Senator Couzens, Republican, Michigan.

The couzens accusation followed a motion to recommit the legislation to committee for reconsideration.

"The railroads are lobbying here to kill this bill," declared Couzens, who is chairman of the Interstate Commerce Committee.

"Just as soon as the Senate defeated the amendment of Senator Glenn, of Illinois, to strike out the anti-merger provision, the railroads exercised their lobbying methods to defeat the bill."

Senator Glenn earlier today urged the Senate to recommit the bill but he said he did not want the legislation, already passed by the House, buried in committee.

swords, and now that the Duce very seriously needs a foreign loan there is every prospect that he isn't going to get it. The lack of confidence isn't with relation to the industry and capacity of the Italian people nor even to the resources of their country. It has to do with the warlike gestulations of the nation's head. Nobody can be sufficiently sure that he does not mean them.

This is extremely regrettable, for a really bad economic collapse in Italy right now would mean just one more dose of grief for the rest of the world. International trade is had enough now without having one of the chain of customers go bloomy.

On top of this uncomfortable result of his belligerency, Il Duce seems to be having considerable trouble at home. The Turin rioters are now said to have had a slogan of rather grim import—"We want bread or the head of Mussolini!" And the latest development is the arrest of 27 persons for participation in an anti-Fascist plot, one of them being a woman native of America but now an Italian subject. There is significance in this episode because the persons arrested are none of them well known politicians but residents of half a dozen Italian provinces who in their home towns are persons of some consequence.

Altogether it begins to look as though Signor Mussolini's life consisted of something besides beer and skittles. Plenty of business depression, international capitalists scared off by jingo talk, signs of rebellion at home. Perhaps it is not to be wondered at that the Duce has picked somebody to take over his job some day.

not have said "filled," because there is also room in those papers, very often, for some pitiful story of destitution in which it just casually transpires that a cop bought, out of his own pocket, the milk or the sandwiches or the bundle of groceries that at a crucial moment stood between the victims and starvation.

Nobody knows how many times the first aid in one of these heart-rending cases is provided by a policeman—but it is pretty often. By and large the New York cop is just like other folks. Generally he is square and honest, kindly and human. And it is undoubtedly true that the vast majority of policemen in any considerable city in the country are like that. The grafters, the oppressors, the crooks are few; the real men are the rule.

It would be mighty interesting to know just what proportion of the pay of the police force of New York or Chicago finds its way eventually into the tummies of poor folks "on the beat." It's something that no one is going to find out, of course. But it's our guess that it would be surprising if it could be known.

Washington Letter

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

Washington.—Mr. Jim Preston, who as superintendent of the Senate press gallery has been friend and assistant to Washington correspondents for more than 30 years, was originally destined to be a newspaperman himself.

His father was Herbert A. Preston, whose newspaper career here began in 1866 and who became chief of the Washington bureau of the New York Herald. The elder Preston, decreasing journalism for Jim's career, put him to work as an office boy for E. B. Wiggin of the Boston Journal and Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Jim scrubbed floors, washed windows and made fires in the office. But he learned how to typewrite and he was taking dictation from another correspondent at the time they called on him to take charge of the press gallery. Affairs in the gallery were all gummed up and Jim straightened out matters of mechanical routine and facilities.

Only One Phone

That was in the first year of the McKinley administration. Preston recalls that there was only one telephone in the gallery, not even enclosed in a booth. And only 151 correspondents were members of the gallery, whereas there are now 385. There weren't any typewriters, either, and before some were finally installed there was plenty of argument as to whether they wouldn't make too much noise.

Twenty years and more ago, Jim Preston recalls, the Washington journalism was often a stepping stone into government positions.

"Lots of the boys went into the consular service," he says. "Albert Halstead, son of the famous Murat Halstead, entered the army. Charlie Sessions of Topeka went back to Kansas and was elected secretary of state. He's now with the Capper publications.

"Senator Arthur Capper worked in the navy before my time. Medill McCormick was here for the Chicago Tribune and later was elected congressman-at-large and then senator from Illinois. Louis Ludlow, congressman from Indiana, is the only newspaperman ever elected to Congress while working in the gallery."

Senators weren't the least bit chummy with newspapermen in the old days, Jim Preston recalls. Legislators elected them and if they controlled the legislatures they were elected to worry about publicity. Some had journalistic favorites, but the present custom whereby correspondents call senators of the floor whenever they want to talk to them was undreamed of. Today, in marked contrast, nearly all Senate correspondents have personal contacts with the more distinguished members. The Senate, according to Jim, is now recognized as a bigger and better source of news than it used to be.

These Advance Copies

"They never used to give us advance copies of speeches," Preston says. "But in late years they have come to recognize that reports will be more widespread, extensive and accurate if they do. The first Senate speech ever distributed in advance for the press was that of Senator Jonathan T. Dooliver on the wool schedule in the tariff fight during the Taft days. Now we sometimes get them a week in advance, an advertisement to everybody. But some people, like Ben Hanford, still prepare them in advance. Ben often fits his words and their presentation to the atmosphere and the attitude of his audience. Pat Harrison is another who can't prepare speeches in advance."

For 20 years now, Preston has been working on material for a history of the press gallery. The press gallery has been Jim's grand passion, but historical research has been difficult because records are so few.

His main hobby is public links golf. He plays little golf himself, but gets all steamed up over the idea of improving and expanding municipal links so that American boys will be able to afford country clubs with the best in the game. He is a member of the public links committee of the U. S. Golf Association and handles promotion for the annual national public links tournaments. At the tournaments themselves, he takes charge of the scoreboards as well as the publicity.

MISSIONARIES SAFE

Peiping, China, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Mrs. L. D. Hayward, American missionary, and her nurse, Miss E. General, who were kidnaped by bandits and released after being held for a week, were said today to be in moderately good health despite the strain of their experience.

A dispatch to the British legation said a rescue party was escorting them from Paotowmen to Peiping tomorrow.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 5.

SPORTSMEN STAMENEN

The fall of the Tardieu ministry in France, the causes for which are not too clear to the ordinary American observer, may perhaps be easier to understand through a comparison of personalities, a clue to that of Premier Andre Tardieu being supplied by one French senator who, in the debate preceding the senate's refusal of a vote of confidence, charged the premier with not playing a governmental role that expressed his real capacities. "You are making a sport of government," he told Tardieu.

There is much about Andre Tardieu that suggests the late Theodore Roosevelt. Not that the French statesman is distinguished by any such distinctive set of mannerisms as contributed to the marked personality of the American President, but in the outlook of each upon the responsibilities of office there are points of peculiar resemblance. Not the most profound admirer of Roosevelt could ever feel that the patriotism of T. R. was of that quality which, in an occasional instance, completely absorbs the personality of its possessor. It was no more possible for Roosevelt to sink the Roosevelt identity in the office of the Presidency of the United States than it would have been for him to pour a gallon of water into a teacup. No glory that could come to his country through act of his, no transcendent benefit, no unmitigated disaster, could ever have been great enough to have submerged his self-consciousness—the glory, the benefit, the disaster would have been first of all his own. Tardieu, too, is like that.

The Presidency, government, national and personal existence, were to Roosevelt a game, an absorbing, magnificent sport—the finest sport of all. He was captain of a team, a great team, and he and the team performed in front of a huge mirror; his eye darting often to the glass he lost none of the spectacularity of the picture. Tardieu is like that, too.

Brilliant, intellectually alert, too proud to be anything but profoundly honorable, it is doubtful whether Theodore Roosevelt ever for a moment experienced that brooding love of his country and his fellow citizens which have dominated the lives of great statesmen, now and then, in every land—like our own Lincoln.

Similarly brilliant, intellectual and proudly honorable, Andre Tardieu, incorrigible individualist, has suffered from comparison with a recent figure of passionately absorbed patriotism in his country, that old tiger Clemenceau.

"You have made a sport of government." That is a charge that can be laid at the door of many a statesman who, while conscious of playing the game honorably and with all the strength that is in him, never in the world can be anything but a playboy and a sportsman.

It is to be strongly suspected that Andre Tardieu is something like that. At all events the elder statesman of France have deemed him so.

STEEL PRICES

A great many people will watch the course of events in the steel market with much the same interest as attaches to the movements of the Professor when he turns a silk handkerchief into a live rabbit. They will be keenly curious to see whether the thing that the steel men propose to do can be done, and if so by what process.

Since the steel men could not sell steel enough to keep their mills going anywhere near to capacity, at a certain set of prices, they have raised the schedule in expectation that customers will proceed to buy under the stimulation of price ascension.

We have heard of this sort of a stunt succeeding in the case of a building lot. In fact we know of a case where a man put a lot on the market at $1,200 and failed to sell it. After a couple of years he began to put up the price $100 every month and finally sold it at $1,800. But whether you can do that sort of thing with the steel market remains to be seen. It doesn't seem to make sense.

We don't believe, as a matter of fact, that it does make sense. When basic prices generally are going down—when it takes more wheat to buy the steel for a grain elevator than it ever did before, and more cotton to buy a cotton gin than it ever did before, and more natural products of all kinds to buy an automobile than ever before, if you can get any healing out of a boost in steel prices it looks to us like something the professor did to the silk handkerchief. And we don't believe the resulting rabbit will have any real inside.

Of course Senator Norris' explanation of the trick can't be right. He suspects the steel barons are boosting prices because the government is about to start a heavy building campaign and they, vulture like, smell the blood of profits from afar. It just cannot be that.

IN NEW YORK

New York, Dec. 5.—Noted in passing:

The most mimicked performer in the entertainment world at the moment is the French screen favorite, Chevalier. And this, of course, is the loudest praise the "profess" can bestow. In night clubs, music shows, vaudeville and private ballrooms, you're certain to find at least one person who believes he can give a swell impersonation of the former Paris music hall star. And few succeed.

The impersonation record, according to such statistics as come to hand, was once in the possession of Anna Held. From cheap burlesque to gold-plated vaudeville, each doll-like dame felt that she "jost couldn't make her eyes behave." Some competition could be supplied by George Cohan and the late Eddie Foy.

Remember the days when nine out of 10 dancers wound up their act with "I'm a Yankee Doodle Dandy"? And topped it off with Cohanesque steps? And that other army trying to photograph the U-shaped smile of Foy?

Ferhaps the best imitator Foy ever had is his own son, Eddie, Jr., who is headed for stardom as fast as his comedy will let him. The other night, appearing in a minor role of a current music show, young Foy suddenly drew up his mouth—perhaps unconsciously—in to that famous comic grin. And the resemblance was uncanny.

And, oh yes, those good old country hay rides is was peening about the other day have supplied the big town with another novelty. The other evening a new night resort opened in Greenwich Village. It is titled "The Barn." And hay-ride parties were driven from Times Square to the rendezvous, much to the amazement of wide-eyed natives.

It's an old story on Broadway by this time that almost every new sure-fire hit has gone about the most wearisome rounds before finally getting its chance. The latest instance is "The Vinegar Tree." This latest farce success was in the hands of Jed Harris way back in those days when that hit-picker was announcing his retirement from the theater. And Harris is the million-aire-kid who was supposed never to make a mistake. Well, he's been wrong at least once since then.

And Billy Rose held the script for a time and then passed it to Brady and Wiman. Then that combination split and had not Dwight Wiman taken the play with him, it might still be bouncing around. But imagine the state of mind of the poor author, meanwhile!

And it's also part of the Broadway legend that the performers of superior talent are discovered overnight by critics, producers, audiences et al. Yeah.....?

Well, it so happens that one of the most noted performances of the year is supplied by the very beautiful Eugenie Leontovich. You'll read and hear, at least in these regions, about her breath-taking talents and the incredible reality of her acting. Yet she has been around the theater shops ever since she decided to stay behind when one of the visiting Russian groups went home. After her first triumph, everyone had to go scratching around to find what she has been all these years. With the result that they found her name attached to at least three productions. She had even been sent out with a road show—actually allowed to drift from the big street. And no one had seemed to know the difference.

GILBERT SWAN.

UP TORONTO WAY

The man who is running the job of feeding the destitute unemployed men of Toronto has some ideas of his own. He seems to be a volunteer and to be spending plenty of his own money. "I know there are people who will want to help," he says. "I want no person to give $1 or $5 or $10, for people who do this cannot afford to give. If a man wants to give $100 or $200 and can afford to give $1,000 his check will go back to him. Nothing less than $50 will be accepted from any person."

Evidently this man—his name is A. M. Orpen—believes that the business of feeding the out-of-luck is a job for rich people; also he believes it to be a job for rich people to take seriously.

We have a shrewd suspicion that Toronto is a town where it will not be easy for a piker in relief work to get a reputation as a Santa Claus. Not this winter, at all events, with Mr. Orpen on the job. Also we think we can make a guess at his opinion of a community chest filled by enforced contributions sweated out of factory hands and office girls.

IL DUCE'S WOES

"Running a shoestring into a shoe factory" is a sporting world figure of speech synonymous with making a very great deal of money out of a very small stake. It is something like that which Mussolini has been trying to do with Italy. That country was a pretty badly frayed shoestring when he took hold of it. He did build it up into a shoe factory of a sort. But when he tried to paint the top story of the shoe factory to look like a machine gun pillbox and started playing soldier all over its roof, that wasn't so good.

Foreign capitalists have been prone to forget about the shoe factory business and to see only the danger to Italy in this waving of

SENATOR EXPELLED

Trenton, N. J., Dec. 5.—(AP)—The State Senate today expelled Ralph W. Chandlee of Bergen county by a vote of 20 to 0.

The vote was taken at 4 o'clock this morning after Chandlee had been found guilty of conduct unbecoming a legislator by a similar vote.

The charge against him couched in 11 counts was that he used his office for private gain by influencing the placing of $200,000 of state funds in the Little Ferry National Bank which used the money to purchase sewer bonds. It was charged that Chandlee received a fee of $10,000 from Lodi township sewer contractors.

Chandlee appeared at the trial for the first time last night, a few hours before the vote was taken.

GUARD YOUR KIDNEYS

Would you rather take your departure from life at the age of 58, which is when the average man does, just when your work is hardly done, or would you rather last until 68 or 75, which gives you plenty of time to make your fortune, take care of your family and settle down to do the things you have always wanted to do? If you would last a little longer than the ordinary, then one of the best things to do is to keep your kidneys healthy.

Take care of your kidneys early and your kidneys will take care of you later in life. The fact that more than half of the people over forty are said to suffer from some form of kidney or bladder trouble shows that most people do not know how to treat their kidneys correctly. Your kidneys are really life savers. They are constantly on the job guarding you against poisons which would otherwise accumulate in your blood stream. If they were to lose their functioning for only a very short time, you could not live.

Nature has tried to protect you by giving you two kidneys, either one of which would ordinarily be able to guard your health. However, even the extra kidney is usually sworn out by the wrong living habits of the average person.

Many people think of their kidneys when they have a backache, but the truth of the matter is that the kidneys may be seriously diseased before there is any warning pain in the back. Often there is none at all. Usually the first time one knows he has kidney trouble is when he takes an examination for life insurance and albumin is found in the urine. The only way for you to find out whether or not you have kidney trouble is to have the urine analyzed. If albumin in quantity is present along with the casts, you are one of those who has neglected to care for his kidneys.

When the delicate membranes lining the kidneys becomes inflamed the kidneys might be said to work backward, throwing out the albumin which is naturally kept in the body, and keeping in the water, salt and waste which are naturally excreted.

Many people think that drinking large quantities of water overworks the kidneys, but this is not true. These organs are especially adapted to handle very large quantities of water. The kidneys are not damaged by the water which passes through them but by the irritating substances which they secrete. Pure water assists in diluting these substances so that they are less irritating to the kidneys. If you do have a case of chronic Bright's Disease, the best plan would be for you to send for my free articles on the subject. If this disease has developed you should not delay in beginning the treatment. If you have not developed any kidney trouble, one of the best ways to prevent it is to be sure that you drink plenty of water every day.

(Hot Cakes and Sorghum)

Question: O. J. M. asks: "What do you think of sorghum with hot cakes or waffles? Has it any particular food value? Is it fattening? I have been using honey, but I have become tired of it."

Answer: Sorghum molasses is as good as any other kind of sugar to use with hot cakes or waffles. Only a small amount of any kind of sugar should be used and the hot cakes or waffles should be baked thoroughly so as to dextrinize them as much as possible.

NIZE POLICEMEN

Los Angeles, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Los Angeles has a school for young policemen, of which Miss E. Dunn is an instructor. She was talking on law and order yesterday.

"Law and order," she told the class, "are the basis of social life, and—"

"Spot! A paper ball hit the teacher on the ear."

Miss Dunn gave the class the third degree. No one confessed and Miss Dunn sent the officers in the portion of the room from which the missile had come into the hall to stand at attention.

(Hominy)

Question: R. H. J. writes: "Kindly give me your opinion of hominy. May it be combined with any food, and how may it be served?"

Answer: Hominy is a very wholesome starchy food, but should not

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Nightmares)

Question: Mrs. R. S. writes: "During the day I feel perfectly well, but at night, about thirty minutes after I have fallen asleep, I take some kind of spells, as I call them, when I wake up feeling as though I were dying—all out of breath, with my arms and legs 'asleep.' As soon as I raise into a sitting posture I am all right. The doctor says I am nervous, and tells me there is nothing wrong with my heart. Will you please advise me?"

Answer: If your heart is in good condition, and the doctor finds no other disturbance, the nightmares are probably caused by some digestive disturbance. The best policy would be to eat a very small evening meal and be sure that it is of the right combinations, as outlined in my weekly menus in this newspaper.

OUR FARM WOMEN MEET IN BOSTON

First Conference Opens As Preliminary To Gathering of National Farm Bureaus.

Boston, Dec. 5.—(AP)—The first National Farm Women's conference opened here today as a preliminary to the 12th annual convention of the American Farm Bureau convention. Snap shots of American country life were scheduled for the first sessions of the conference, which was opened by Mrs. Charles W. Sewell, of Otterbein, Ind., secretary of the National organization. Mrs. Leo Grouen, of Farmington, Conn., extended the welcome of New England farm women to the visiting delegates, and Mrs. Ellsworth Richardson, of Albion, Iowa, responded on behalf of the western visitors.

Dr. Louis Stanley, chief of the Bureau of Home Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture, planned to address the conference on her department's work in relation to farm women.

The work of the farm women of New York state was to be portrayed by Miss Elizabeth MacDonald, of Delhi, N. Y. Mrs. Otis Shriver, of Waldstown, West Virginia, home and community chairman of the New Hampshire Farm Bureau.

While the opening sessions of the women's conference were being held, Sam H. Thompson, of Quincy, Ill., president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, went into executive session with his resolutions committee. The convention of the Farm Bureau opens Monday here, after it several discussions of National importance.

It was expected that the Farm Bureau would discuss unemployment, aid to the western farmer hit by the drought of last summer, rural credits, and appropriations for operations of the Department of Agriculture and the extension service. It was expected also that the Farm Bureau's stand with reference to the future of the Federal Farm Board would be a subject of discussion.

"RED PLOTTERS" TRIAL IS NEARING AN END

Moscow, Dec. 5.—(AP)—A demand of the people's prosecutor, N. E. Krivenko, that they be given the death penalty for having plotted the overthrow of the Moscow government today rang in the ears of the eight Soviet engineers and former officials as their trial approached its close.

Pacing the floor of the grand hall of the South of Columns nervously, occasionally dragging at a cigarette, the prosecutor summed up the case against the men. Millions of Russians he shouted, have demanded the death penalty for them and he re-echoed that demand.

He also brought out a quotation from Nikolai Lenin, venerated as the father of the Soviets "If we are to avoid a clash with capitalistic nations, our tactics must be aimed to destroy the plans of those who would destroy us."

MRS. MILLER IN MIAMI
Miami, Fla., Dec. 5.—(AP)—Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, Australian fier, who reported she was blown far out of her course to barren Andros island on a projected Havana-Miami flight last Friday, was brought to Miami today in a chartered seaplane. With her were Captain W. N. Lancaster, her flying associate, and John Liggett III, of Pittsburgh. The plane arrived at 9:10 a. m.

Received Money Falsely

With the arrest of Henry J. Bordeaux, Jr., of Worcester, Mass., in Bristol on a charge of obtaining goods under false pretenses, it is thought the man who has been selling vibrators in this city, fleeing before the out of their money, has been caught.

Man arrested in Bristol has been going about in various places selling vibrators, receiving a sum with the order and the balance on delivery. After the vibrator has been paid for he finds something wrong and states he will send it to the manufacturer for repairs. The woman here and in Bristol never heard from him again.

Bordeaux was bound over to the Hartford County Superior Court Tuesday under bonds of $1,000. It is expected many other women will find they have parted with their money when hearing of the man's arrest.

School Committee Meeting

The regular meeting of the Vernon Town School Committee was held at the office of Superintendent of Schools Herbert H. Clough on Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock. Those present were Mrs. Thomas Garvan, F. W. Bradley, S. C. Cummings, J. H. Flaherty, Ernest Hensig, Francis Nettleton, John Talcott and Mr. Clough.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mr. Talcott, and these were approved together with the bills.

It was reported that the evening school was doing well and those attending show much interest. Repairs were proposed for the East District grammar school and a vote was taken to have the work done.

The report of the school nurse showed that many children had been examined and eyes of some of them were found to need attention.

Mr. Clough reported little sickness in the schools and the attendance of both teachers and pupils was very good.

The school committee voted to allow the Boys' Band to hold a rehearsal once a week at the old high school assembly hall under certain restrictions.

The meeting adjourned after minor matters were discussed.

D. A. R. Meeting

Sabra Trumbull Chapter, D. A. R., met with Mrs. A. L. Martin at her home on Davis avenue on Wednesday afternoon. The speaker of the afternoon was Robert C. Demming of the State Board of Education and he had as his subject "Adult Education." He told about the aims of the board in carrying on this work and its close relationship to the economic adjustment in the present machine age. Mrs. Dorothy A. Shepley sang three solos, accompanied by Miss Minnie McLean.

Following the meeting tea was served by the hostesses, Mrs. A. LeRoy Martin, Mrs. John Whittlesey, Mrs. Walter S. Irwin, Mrs. John Steele, Mrs. J. Allen, Mrs. Francis T. Maxwell, Miss Fannie Thompson,

Miss Helen Hyde, Mrs. James Sykes and Mrs. Walter H. Robinson, Wheel Club Will Play

The Rockville Wheel Club notified the Clerks on Thursday that they will play the scheduled charity football game at the Rockville Fair Grounds on Sunday afternoon. Due to a misunderstanding the Wheel Club declined the first of the week to go on with the game, but now will go on and there is sure to be several thousand people out from Rockville and surrounding towns to witness the big game. Tickets are selling fast and the proceeds will go toward the city welfare charity fund.

Conference of Social Workers

At a meeting of the organization committee of the Tollard County Welfare League held this week, plans were made for a regional conference of social work to be held about January 15 at Rockville. Mebbus Bissell was appointed chairman of the committee arranging for the conference. Kenneth Messenger, Commissioner of Child's Health Bureau of Connecticut, was appointed chairman of the program committee and Mrs. Sikes of Hartford is chairman of publicity.

EINSTEIN HEARTY EATER

S. S. Belgenland, Dec. 5.—(AP)—The waiter laid the regulation portion of cod fish cakes before Prof. Albert Einstein today and the genius of relativity looked at it quizzically. "Auf Wiedersehen," he said to the puzzled waiter.

Frau Einstein laughed. "He means," she told the waiter, "that the portion is too small. He wants you to come again with another one. We Germans are used to bigger meals."

The scientist remained in seclusion today, granting an interview only to the representative of the Jewish Telegraphic Agency.

SPECIAL FEATURES AT SWEDISH CHURCH

Rev. R. L. Winters To Preach and Beethoven Glee Club Will Render Program.

Two special features will be offered to the congregation of the Swedish Lutheran church at the morning service at 10:45 o'clock Sunday. The sermon will be given by Rev. R. L. Winters, who has been acting as assistant pastor for several months, during which he has become popular with all with whom he has come in contact. Music will be furnished by the Beethoven Glee Club of fifty voices, in a program of sacred numbers.

The collection to be lifted will mark the final one in a series of four Thanksgiving offerings which have been taken on successive Sundays.

PREHISTORIC TOOTH

Lavelette, N. J.—A tooth of a giant monster thought to have lived thousands of years ago brought to light here in the drilling of an artesian well. At a depth of 1200 feet the drill encountered the tooth. It was brought to the surface and found to be 12 inches long and 5 inches in diameter.

HOW LOVING

Columbus, Ohio.—Mr. and Mrs. Starling Neal might have loved each other years ago, but it looks as if that's all off now. Mrs. Neal told police recently that her husband had pawned her prized shotgun. In retaliation, she cuts all the tires of his automobile. An argument started in which there was a great deal of glassware tossed about. Both were taken to a hospital for attention.

CHECKING PISA'S LEAN

Rome.—The celebrated Leaning Tower of Pisa is to stop its leaning. Engineers have found that it is increasing its inclination about a fourth of an inch every two years and plan to inject a hardening substance into the soil underneath it to arrest its top-tipping. In 1820 the over leaned about 15 1-2 feet out of perpendicular. In 1910 this had increased to 16 1-2 feet.

ADMITS STEALING $300,000

Huntington Park, Cal., Dec. 5.—(AP)—Thomas H. Casey, 75-year-old investment company head, has confessed, according to Assistant District Attorney V. L. Ferguson, to forging trust deeds which may total $300,000 in an effort to escape exposure as a former convict.

Ferguson said Casey admitted his defalcation explaining it was to satisfy demands of creditors of a Clinton, Mo. bank who demanded their money under threat of revealing that Casey served a prison term on charges resulting from the Missouri institution's failure.

CONE NOT GUILTY OF NON-SUPPORT

Superior Court Reverses Decision of Local Court—Says Case Was Not Presented Right.

Leon G. Cone of 156 Summit street was found not guilty of non-support by Judge Allyn L. Brown in the Hartford Superior Court yesterday. He was represented by Attorney William S. Hyde. Cone claimed his case was not presented correctly in the local court where he was found guilty and sentenced to pay his wife seven dollars a week or spend thirty days in jail. A Hartford lawyer represented him at the time of his hearing in the Manchester court. Frank L. Hollister of Hollister street furnished a bond of $300 when Cone took an appeal from the sentence passed here.

Cone's principal argument was that his wife refused to live with him in the home he offered to provide. His wife said he had not contributed a dollar to her support since they were separated.

2 BLAST VICTIMS DIE

Darling, Dec. 5.—(AP)—An explosion which yesterday destroyed the Colonial Fireworks plant today had resulted in two deaths. Two other persons injured in the blast were not expected to recover.

Gaetano Solomona, 22, and his brother Nicholas, 21, of Long Island City, N. Y., died last night at the Stamford hospital. Their uncle, Antonio Solomona, 42, and John Sforza, 55, part owner of the plant also of Long Island City were in a critical condition at the same hospital.

An inquiry into the explosion will be started at Stamford on December 9 by Coroner J. J. Phelan.

CROSS ANNOUNCES PERSONAL STAFF

With Exception of Brig. Gen. Ladd, As Chief, Members Are New Appointments.

Hartford, Dec. 5.—(AP)—The staff of Governor-Elect W. L. Cross was announced today and save the adjutant general, Brigadier-General William F. Ladd, who is chief of staff, its members are new appointments as had been expected with the incoming of a Democratic executive.

The staff will be: William F. Ladd, Hartford, adjutant general; Brigadier-General and chief of staff, Michael A. Connor, Hartford, quartermaster general and colonel; Charles W. Confort, Jr., New Haven, surgeon general and colonel; Anthony Sunderland, Danbury, assistant adjutant general and colonel.

Aides detailed from the National Guard: Robert F. Gadd, Hartford, colonel; Allen B. Lambdin, New London, colonel; John J. McGarry, Putnam, major; James A. Shanley, New Haven, major.

Aides de camp (civil): Thomas Hewes, Farmington, colonel and personal aide; Edward L. Taylor, New Haven, colonel; Harold B. Pinner, Stafford Springs, major; James J. Tunney, Stamford, major.

Naval aide, Herbert Steward, New Haven, Lt-commander.

CHINESE FIRE ON BRITISH GUNBOAT

Wuchang, China, Dec. 5.—(AP)—The British gunboat Aphis was gravely endangered yesterday by cannon fire in what was said to have been the sharpest engagement in many months between Red cannonaders infesting Yangtze river shores above this city, and foreign gunboats patrolling the river.

The Reds, it was said, instead of firing their usual scattered shots at the gunboat, kept up a continuous bombardment, dropping 25 shells from their muzzle-loading cannon.

The Aphis replied with 50 shots from her 6-inch guns but even these failed to silence the Red guns.

As far as is known, none aboard the Aphis was injured.

The British commercial steamer Wuhan, carrying Rear-Admiral C. K. McLean, commander of the British Yangtze patrol, was subjected to a similar attack shortly after the Aphis passed. The helpless vessel managed to escape unharmed because of the Red's poor aim.

WEALTHY SPORTSMAN DROPS DEAD IN HOME

New York, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Gifford A. Cochran, wealthy Social Registerite, sportsman and business executive, was found dead today apparently from a heart attack in the hallway of his Madison avenue apartment. The body was found by a milkman.

Mr. Cochran, noted for his extensive string of race horses, formerly was president of Alexander Smith and Sons, Yonkers carpet manufacturers and was an official of a number of other stables.

Cochran owned one of the most successful racing stables. Last season his colors, green and old gold, flashed to forty victories of the turf and came into the money 72 times.

Among the outstanding horses of his string were Coventry, Flying Ebony, Epithet and Flying Heels.

The sportsman's widow, formerly Mabel H. Taylor, obtained a divorce in Paris in 1927. They had three children, Jean, Gifford, Jr., and Drayton.

KNIGHTS IN DISPUTE

Rome, Dec. 5.—(AP)—A dispute between the Order of the Knights of Malta containing many noted American members, and the Equestrian Order of the Holy Sepulchre was carried today to the Pope.

Marquis Edward Persichetti-Ugolini, nephew of the pontiff and Italian representative of the Order of the Holy Sepulchre, replied through a newspaper advertisement to yesterday's advertisement by the Civil Tribunal at Rome on behalf of the Knights of Malta warning the public against the order's alleged infringement of the Maltese constitution.

The marquis declared that the charges of the Knights of Malta were unfounded and that they have no power to prevent the Holy Sepulchre order using what titles, names, ritual, etc., they wish.

He said that the Knights of Malta advertisement constituted a most grave offense of the "Order" of Malta, which glories in the protection of the Holy See, by attacking an order officially recognized as an order affiliated with the papal orders is lacking in reverence to its august protector and gives public proof of indiscipline."

WHAT IS IT?

Bombay.—One of the queerest animals in the world was found in New Guinea and brought here for shipment to Europe by Herr Kibler, German naturalist. It is two feet long, has a bird-like bill, spines like a porcupine, pouch like a kangaroo's, lives underground like a mole, lays eggs but suckles its young and adapts itself to temperature like a reptile.

The two southern gentlemen who spent three months playing a game of checkers by mail, probably carried out instructions to the letter.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Washington.—Three beautiful blonde princesses are bidding farewell to the capital. The wife and two daughters of the Belgian ambassador are to leave in a month. The prince has been transferred to Rome.

Madrid.—Princesses Maria and Beatrice have purchased a supply of American jazz records for dancing.

New York.—Sydelle Parker, show girl, has been carting around a $1,000 bill and then some. She produced the "grand" in Traffic Court to pay a $5 fine. There was insufficient change in the exchequer. Then she found a $100 bill in her purse.

Newark, N. J.—Romeo Daitz has a wound in the heart because of a scene from "Romeo and Juliet." Mrs. Elizabeth C. Lyons, bookkeeper, and Romeo, a welder, working overtime in a factory, were having coffee in the office. Romeo picked up a paper cutter and was thereupon reminded of the Shakespearean character and a dagger. "As Romeo dies, so shall Juliet," remarked Mrs. Lyons, picking up the office pistol. It went off accidentally. Romeo was wounded dangerously.

Washington.—Senator Vandenberg of Michigan would seem to be quite a diplomat. He spent an hour with President Hoover. One is not supposed to discuss such things. "What brought you?" the Senator was asked. The answer was prompt: "A second hand car."

Chicago.—Those who dislike them in others will be wary. Says the National Union Association: "The lack of moisture occasioned by the drought increased the potency of the odor of the onion."

New York.—It ought to be worth while to tune in on the WJZ chain at 9:30 Eastern time tonight. Irvin Cobb will be on the air.

Washington.—Saturdays and Sundays excepted, the Army, Navy and Marine bands, or another, is to radiocast daily. Some 200 concerts have been arranged by the National Broadcasting Company.

London.—One London tenant is thankful for John Bull's speedy mail. He wrote his landlord complaining of leaking gas. The landlord got the card within an hour, called and found the tenant unconscious. He recovered.

New York.—A rabbit's foot is included in equipment of an expedition which will seek lost Inca cities in the Andes. An uncle of George R. Johnson, a leader of the expedition, says it once saved him from a ferocious bull.

SOME STEPPER

London.—John Gass has probably climbed more steps than any man in England. He has been superintending engine and bridge master of the Tower Bridge for 39 years and has been climbing 86 steps a day to reach his job on top of the bridge for that time. He is 78 years of age, and still is able to climb the steps with rapidity.

So you haven't decided yet what you want to give Cousin Betty and Brother George for Christmas? Every day, the ads in this paper contain scores of excellent suggestions. Look them over; decide now; and avoid that last minute Christmas rush.

SEE NO OPPOSITION TO SEAT SEC. DOAK

Washington, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Barring unexpected developments, William N. Doak, may be able to take office as Secretary of Labor Monday or Tuesday of next week. His nomination gained the approval of the Senate Labor committee yesterday. The Senate did not act on it before recessing for the week end, because Senator Couzens, Republican, Michigan, insisted on the usual procedure under which reports must lie over for a day. But Couzens said he had no objection to the nomination of the Virginian and no other Senator indicated opposition. The American Federation of Labor withdrew its objection to Doak right after his name was sent to the Senate.

Confirmation Monday appeared probable.

The long week end recess was taken mainly to permit committees to work on the more than 200 nominations the President has submitted for approval. Couzens called an executive session of the Interstate Commerce Commission today to study the appointees for the new power commission, while Chairman Smoot of the finance commission called his group to meet tomorrow to consider the six members of the new tariff commission.

GOLDEN SANDS

Panama City, R. P.—There's gold in the thin sands on the barren islands lying off the coast of Panama. The gold is in the form of guano, a fertilizer. This valuable commodity is found in huge quantities on these islands, and it is estimated that 200,000 tons of it are on the islands of Roncador and Serrano. The guano deposits were discovered in 1899.

Howitzers

After drill Tuesday night all members of the Howitzer Company turned in their old style barracks caps. A shipment of the new style Fershing caps is expected the first part of next week in time for the men to fall in at the next drill wearing them.

Mess Sergeant Dave McCann has completed his one-year re-enlistment and has been honorably discharged. The committee on revision of the constitution and by-laws of the Howitzer Company Association has been called together for a meeting by First Lieutenant Helmar G. Anderson, the chairman. It is expected that the revised code will be ready for presentation at a special meeting which will be called during this month to consider the changes, so that the finished work may be presented to the annual meeting in January for acceptance.

A basketball team headed by Johnnie Anderson presented a challenge at the company meeting Tuesday night to any other group in the company. So far no team has come forward with an acceptance, but action is expected in the near future, possibly at the next drill.

A number of changes in the personnel are being made effective and an announcement covering them will be made shortly.

The new radio in the Howitzer Company room is still the center of attraction; every evening a group is gathered about it and Saturday afternoons find a bunch gathered around to get the red-hot dope about the football games.

The storm of Sunday night made a mess of Sergeant Joe Fatscher's garden fence on the south side of the armory. Joe has gathered up the pieces and has stored them away until next spring.

Members of the Howitzer Company have more than an ordinary interest in the town football series as a number of the players on both sides are former members of the "cannon company."

The annual Federal Inspection of the Manchester units, G and Howitzer, will be made upon the evening of Wednesday, February 4th. The name of the inspector, an officer of the Regular Army acting for the Militia Bureau, has not been divulged as yet, but announcement concerning it is expected shortly.

er. will be made upon the evening of Wednesday, February 4th. The name of the inspector, an officer of the Regular Army acting for the Militia Bureau, has not been divulged as yet, but announcement concerning it is expected shortly.

The monthly 'feed' and smoker will be held next Tuesday after drill. It is possible that the quarterly drill will be held during part of Tuesday night's drill. The Howitzer Company put on a practice guard mounting with Lt. Anderson as adjutant.

Lt. Murphey as commander of the guard, Sergeant Eddie Doran as sergeant major and Sergeant Ray Finn as sergeant of the guard. Another similar practice will be held on Tuesday, December 16th.

The following privates of Company G have been promoted to private 1st class: Ernest Dahlquist, Clarence Vennart, Joseph Kolkoski, Aime Jarvis, Emil Shultz and Francis Topping, Jr.

At the company meeting Monday night which followed the drill, it was voted to purchase a new radio. Private Sprout of the purchasing committee reported he would soon have one installed for the approval of the company.

Reports of the progress being made by those non-commissioned officers attending Regimental school on Wednesday nights has been received. The percentages attained speak well for the men and shows very clearly that they are getting returns from the time spent.

Considerable interest is being manifested in the probable successor to Lieut. Oliver who has recently resigned. The company to a man are hoping that Lieut. Hagedorn will "go up." Lieut. Hagedorn is a product of Company G, having served in the different grades and has advanced to his present rank through sheer ability and diligent attention to duty. "Ray" will certainly get the "hand" if he makes the grade.

FORTY-SEVEN FAMILIES ARE FACING EVICTION

Danville, Va., Dec. 5 — (AP) — Forty-seven notices of evictions from mill-owned homes were being served today against mill families by the management of the Riverside and Dan River cotton mills whose 4,000 union employees are on strike.

The notices of eviction, the first issued in large numbers since the strike began in September become effective during Christmas week.

Union leaders said today that numbers of strike leaders are included among those against whom the eviction notices were directed.

The first paragraph of the eviction notice read: "As you know these premises are used by us for employees of our company. As you are not an employee of this company and will not in the future occupy such a position with us, we desire that you should vacate the premises as promptly as possible."

The notice gives until December 13 for payment of rent now in arrears, and gives 15 days formal notice as provided by terms of "our lease that we desire to terminate said lease."

RECOVER WOMAN'S BODY

Ansonia, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Police were notified about midnight by Rev. Burner, pastor of the Ansonia Congregational church, that while passing over a bridge over the American Brass Company's canal, he had seen a woman struggling in the water and sinking below the surface.

Police ordered the dragging of the canal. About 11:45 o'clock this morning the search ended when Alton Goldson and Harold Stanton, negroes, located her body about a half mile down stream. The body was identified as that of Rose Dillon, nurse who resided on Johnson street. She was 69 years old. Dr. William H. O'Neil, identified the body. It had not been determined this morning whether death was due to accident or suicide.

Murder At Bridge

by ANNE AUSTIN author of "THE BLACK PIGEON"; "THE AVENGING PARROT" and "MURDER BACKSTAIRS" ©1930 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
SPECIAL INVESTIGATOR DUNDEE, at the house of JUANITA SELIM, killer at a bridge party, orders the guests to take the positions they held at the time of the "death hand" when Nita was killed.

Questioning CLIVE HAMMOND and his fiancée, POLLY BEALE, who were in the parlour, Dundee learns that Polly came to Nita's house before lunch, found RALPH HAMMOND, who was there to see about remodeling the attic of the house, called up Nita to break the luncheon engagement and had lunch with Clive and Ralph. Neither Clive nor Polly will admit that there is anything queer in their conduct, or that they know why Ralph did not turn up for cocktails. Nita does not believe that the actions have something to do with Ralph's acknowledged infatuation for Nita.

MILES, Dundee learns, drove straight to the house and came in. JUDGE MARSHALL was driven there by a friend, coming soon after the "death hand" began. He saw no one. JOHN DRAKE, walking from the Country Club, came in from the road, seeing no one. DEXTER SPRAGUE, the most nervous of the group, took the bus and walked from the street to the house. JANET RAYMOND, stationed on the front porch, came in with him. Angry at the questioning, Janet accuses Nita's maid, LYDIA, of the murder.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIV

"Where is the maid now, Captain Strawn?" Dundee asked. "I haven't seen her yet."

"Because she's in her room in the basement, Bonnie," Strawn answered. "Sort of forgot about her, didn't you?" and the chief of the homicide squad chuckled at the younger man's discomfort. But I know her story out to the very end. Nothing to it, though. One of my boys—Collins, it was—found her in that short, dark hall that runs between the Selim woman's bedroom and the kitchen. Sicker'n a pup she was. Said she'd—

"I'd better have her up and question her, if she's in a fit," Dundee interrupted, as tactfully as possible. "It seems that she had an abscessed tooth out today, with gas and a local anesthetic. . . . Now, Miss Raymond, you tell me exactly what you mean by saying that she must have been Lydia Carr who killed her mistress?"

"I certainly will!" the red-haired girl cried defiantly. "What I can't see is why Tracey and Lois and Dex—Mr. Sprague didn't think of it, too. It's as plain as—"

"Yes, as the nose on my face," Dundee cut in grimly, but with a glance at Strawn. "Just stick to the facts, however, Miss Raymond, and maybe we can all agree with you."

"Well, when Mr. Sprague and I went into the dining room, there were Lois and Tracey sitting up like a couple of children," Janet began, determined to take her time. "Tracey was trying to make Lois drink some outlandish concoction he'd mixed in a glass, and Lois was laughing and fighting him off. I saw we came in, and Lois said, 'Good Lord, Tracey! Get busy! Or your job as bartender will be taken away from you, and Tracey began to get awfully busy at the sideboard—"

"I guess I'd better tell it, Janet, for what it's worth. I got in impatiently. 'It's nothing more or less than that I had to ring twice for poor Lydia before she came,' she explained to Dundee. 'Tracey is full of original ideas about cocktails, and wanted some sort of biters. He was going to shout for Lydia, but I stepped on the button under the dining table, and the poor thing—in the basement, nursing her jaw, probably kidding. Janet says she had scarcely noticed how long Lydia was in coming. I rang again, and she came. . . . That's all!'"

"That isn't all!" Janet denied angrily. "It was there when Lydia came in, and she was looking white as a ghost—except for her swollen jaw. What's more, she acted so dumb Tracey had to tell her twice for her. . . . Come along in, I'll not keep you long."

"The woman's knees seemed about to fall her, but with a sudden effort she released the detective's grip on her wrist. Very tall, very bony, her black cotton dress. Pathetic, too, with her thin, iron-gray hair, and that apron concealing the left half of her face. It was odd, Dundee thought, that it was not the swollen jaw she chose to cover. Mrs. Dunlap sprang to her feet and hurried across the room to where Lydia Carr stood.

"Don't mind, Lydia, please. You must not be so sensitive," she said gently, and even more gently pulled down the concealing apron. . . . "Good God!" Dundee breathed, and Strawn nodded his understanding of the younger man's horror.

For the left half of Lydia's face was drawn and puckered and fixed almost out of human semblance. Even the eye was ruined—a bulging ball which the puckered, glassy eyelid could never cover.

Lois Dunlap exclaimed about the woman who was as ghastly as the dead.

used to it yet, but none of us mind—"

"You were burned recently, Lydia?" Dundee asked pityingly.

"That's my business!" the woman astounded him by retorting harshly.

"How did it happen, Lydia?" Dundee persisted, puzzled.

"I had an accident. It was my own fault."

Lois Dunlap's kind gray eyes, caught and held Dundee's firmly. "I think, if Nita could speak to you now, Mr. Dundee, that she would get you not to try to force Lydia's confidence on this subject. Nita was devoted to Lydia—was an all testify to that!—and one of the sweetest things about her was her constant effort to protect Lydia from questions and curious glances. I, for one, know that Nita often begged Lydia to submit to a skin-grafting operation, regardless of expense—"

When that kind voice choked on tears, Dundee abruptly abandoned his intention to press the matter further.

"Lydia, your mistress had been married, or was married, wasn't she?"

The woman's single, slate-gray eye stared into his expressionlessly. She had Mrs. in front of her name, to use when she felt like it. That's all I know. I never saw her husband—if she had one. I only worked for her about five years."

"You say she used her married name when she felt like it? What do you mean by that, Lydia?"

"I mean she was an actress, and used her stage name—Juanita Leigh—pronounced like it was spelled plain 'Lee,' but she was mostly called 'Nita Leigh.'"

"An actress, you say?" Dundee repeated thoughtfully. "I had heard of her only as director of the Forsythe School plays. . . . What shows was she in?"

"She was what they call a specialty dancer in musical comedy," Lydia answered. "Sometimes she had a real part and sometimes she only danced. She was a good hooper and a good trouper," she added, the Broadway terms falling strangely from those austere lips. "And when she wasn't in a show she sometimes got a job in the pictures. She never had a real chance in the movies, though, because they mostly wanted her to double for the star in long shots, when camera lights and picture, or in close-ups where they just show the legs, you know."

"I see," Dundee agreed gravely. "Where were you during the 15 minutes or so before your mistress was shot?"

"I was down in my room in the basement," the woman answered.

"Nita—I mean Miss Nita—was going to get Judge Marshall to build me a room on the top floor. She was in the basement, but I didn't mind."

"You were not required to be on duty for the party?"

"No," she answered in her harsh, flat voice. "I'd fixed the sandwiches and put out the liquors for the cocktails—set them all out on the dining room table and sideboard, and Miss Nita had told me to go and lie down as soon as I was through. So I did. I had an abscessed tooth pulled this morning, and was feeling stiff."

"Did you hear the kitchen bell at all?" Dundee went on.

"I dropped off to sleep—that food dentist had shot me full of dope—but I did hear the bell and I came up to answer it. Mrs. Dunlap said she'd rung twice, and I said I was sorry."

"Lydia, did you go into your mistress's bedroom before you answered that bell?" Dundee asked with sudden sharpness.

"I did not! I didn't even know she was in her bedroom, until I saw her sitting at her dressing table dead!" The harsh voice hesitated over the last word, but it did not break.

"And just when did you first see her—after she was dead?"

"I was sitting in the kitchen, thinking something else might be needed. My jaw had begun to ache something fierce, and I don't know just how long I set there. Then I heard a scream. It sounded like it came from Nita's—Miss Nita's room, and I ran along—the back hall that leads from the kitchen to her bedroom. I heard a lot of people running and yelling. 'Nobody paid any attention to me.'"

"You came into the room?"

"No, sir, I did not. I stopped in the doorway. I heard Mr. Sprague say she was dead. I was sick and dizzy anyway, and I couldn't move for a minute. I sort of slipped down to the floor, and I guess I must have passed out. And then I was sick to my stomach, and—I didn't seem to care if I ever moved again."

"Why, Lydia?" Dundee asked gently.

"Because she was the only friend I had in the world, and I couldn't have loved her better if she had been by own child," Lydia answered. And the stern voice had broken at last.

"I was still there in the back hall when a cop came and asked me a lot of questions and then the man—and she pointed to Captain Strawn—said I could go and lie down. He helped me down the basement stairs."

Dundee tapped his teeth with the long pencil which he had kept so busy that evening—tapped them long and thoughtfully. Then—

"Lydia, did you see anyone—anyone at all—from your basement room window before you answered Mrs. Dunlap's ring?"

Evening Herald Pattern

By Annebelle Worthington

Scalloped tabs centered with buttons of the circular flaring skirt, distinguishes a smart school frock of tete de negre brown wool crepe with beige pin dots. The belt of brown velvet passed beneath the tabs and tied in bow at the back is girlish.

A scalloped Peter Pan collar and flared cuffs of white pique add dainty note.

It's so easy to make and so attractive to wear.

Soft wools in tweed mixtures, jersey and challis prints can be used for this unusually attractive model. And with a little belt of contrasting ribbon, it is truly delightful. The belt may also be of self-fabric. Heavyweight cottons also suitable.

Style No. 2670 may be had in sizes 8, 10, 12 and 14 years.

Size 8 requires 2 yards of 39-inch material with 1/2 yard of 39-inch light and 3/4 yard of 35-inch dark contrasting.

Be sure to fill in the size of the pattern. Send stamps or coin (coin preferred).

TODAY IS THE ANNIVERSARY

VAN BUREN'S BIRTH

On Dec. 5, 1782, Martin Van Buren, eighth president of the United States, was born of Dutch ancestry at Kinderhook, N. Y.

After he had passed the bar at the age of 21, Van Buren satisfied an early ambition to enter politics by being elected to the New York State Senate as a Democrat. His succeeding offices were attorney general of the state, U. S. senator and governor of New York.

He resigned the governorship to become secretary of state in President Jackson's cabinet, and resigned this post to accept the post of minister to England. The Senate's refusal to confirm his nomination after he had sailed only served to heighten Van Buren's popularity.

In fact, helped win him the vice-presidency in 1832. Four years later he was elected president.

Van Buren's term was made notable by a widespread financial panic resulting partly from certain measures of President J. measure of Van Buren's administration was the establishment of the independent treasury system for the safekeeping and disbursement of the public moneys.

CAT ADOPTS SQUIRREL

Connersville, Ind.—The mothering instinct always prevails, even with members of different animal families. This was brought out here recently when a baby squirrel, found in the woods and brought to the farm of Elisha Cockfair, was adopted by a mother cat. She washed the squirrel regularly just as she would take care of a kitten.

SPIRIT WAS WILLING

Sugar Creek, Ohio.—But the fire engine was weak. Called out to a fire recently, the local company loaded into the antiquated fire engine and started out. On the way three tires blew out and the crew had to stop to fix them. When they arrived at the fire it had nearly burned itself out. Now citizens want a new fire truck.

BABY'S PLACE

Long before a baby can read his own name, if you put a little animal sign where he is supposed to hang up his towels, his clothes and his cap and coat, he will learn that that animal sign means him and his habits of neatness are begun.

HEALTH

MOTHER'S DIET SHOULD CONTAIN 1000 MORE CALORIES FOR BABY

(This is one of a series of articles by Dr. Fishbein on nutrition of the child.)

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN, Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

A woman who is eating a sufficient diet will not produce more milk by overeating, hence it is inadvisable to give a nursing mother vast quantities of milk, malted milk, or any other food substance. If, however, the mother is not taking an adequate diet, the amount of milk may be increased by giving her sufficient food. The amount of milk to meet the needs of the infant has a food value of from 500 to 1000 calories.

If the mother requires 2400 calories for her own needs, it will be necessary for her to take at least 3400 calories in order to take care of the additional needs of the infant. She will also require more fluid in order to carry the solid material. Onions and garlic may give a taste to the milk to which infants are given.

In order to get the necessary vitamins into the milk, the diet of the mother must contain milk, butter, eggs, two green vegetables, and fresh fruit, preferably orange. Butter contains the vitamins A

THEATERS

AT THE STATE

Two corking features go to make up the new program which will be shown at the State today and Saturday. Eddie Quillan, James Gleason and Robert Armstrong appear in "Big Money," and Reginald Denny and Kay Johnson are the leading players in Cecil B. De Mille's marvelous production, "Madam Satan."

"Big Money" is a delightful comedy drama of rapid fire-wise-cracking the underworld, with three of the screen's leading comedians showing the way. And they put a refreshing line of comedy like nobody's business. At the same time, the picture contains moments of gripping drama and poignant love, which combined with the comedy of the story, makes up one of the most delightful pictures of the year.

In presenting "Madam Satan," Cecil B. De Mille, through the sex and silks of society with the best derring of all talking pictures. His genius for spectacular effects, for excitement and beauty for dramatic contrasts is given full swing in this story of a wife who is too good for her own benefit. Miss Johnson and Reginald Denny are seen in the best roles of their long screen careers.

The regular Friday night vaudeville program, which will be presented as usual tonight, consists of four highly entertaining and amusing vaudeville acts. Jack Barry will act as master of ceremonies, and will also be heard in song numbers, as only Jack can render them. The Scott Brothers, acrobats of no mean ability, will be seen in a series of difficult acrobatic feats that have won them renown the world over. Harry Bolden, the colored comedian who appeared on a previous bill last August, will be brought back by special request, and will present a program that is guaranteed to keep any audience in stitches of laughter. At his last appearance in Manchester, Harry stopped the show and his original comedy and dancing ability made an instant hit. Many requests have been received to bring him back again, and the management is glad to be able to comply with this request at this time. He will present an entirely different routine Friday night from what he presented at his initial appearance.

YOUR CHILDREN

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

NICE UPON A TIME

Have you any room or corner of the house that the children can have for their very own?

Perhaps such a suggestion may have little appeal, but if parents knew the need of just such a place in the present day and age, I believe they would be more ready to lend an ear.

The great trend of all child guidance now is to combat the influence of the modern age.

Workers among children did not suggest it in 1910. They saw no special urge for the home corner or special playroom in 1920. Now it has come, and everywhere the great students of child conditions are voicing this cry. "Find interests for the children in the home. Give them a place. Make these home interests attractive enough so that they would rather be there than seeking excitement elsewhere."

Children Are Outsiders

Another reason for the appeal is that the good old-fashioned home has lost character. It is so specialized now, so contracted, so modern, so perfect, that too many children have no place to fit in. They are extra baggage and feel it. Out they go somewhere, anywhere, to get a little satisfaction from the housekeeper if they cannot express and find an outlet of suppressed activity—both mental and physical.

I am not talking of exercise and healthy outdoor sports. All children need that and as a rule do not get entertained somewhere away from home by both big and little children, everywhere. The movie urge is only a symptom of the great general disease. Besides, a certain amount of the right kind of movies is all right.

Playrooms Are Few

But the average home nowadays—well, I shall not say nowadays just frequent, has nice rugs, hangings, and furniture; it is precise, well ordered, and well kept, but the spirit of the house is adult. Parents plan for their evenings, guests for bridge, or for their own evenings out. They have social life and outside interests they did not have before, and the children have too little place in their affairs.

The children hang around the edge, they have no special place to play, they are not allowed to make a normal mess; there seems to be a too-ready cooperation to get them somewhere, anywhere so they won't be a nuisance.

Can't we all get back? Can't we make our children feel at home? Give them playrooms, racks for their own books, allow them to have their friends in and all that? Can't we make home so attractive they will want to come to it and not fly out to get away from it? It bears a healthy outdoor sports. All children

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

You can't have that spring of youth in your walk if you have flat feet.

Well-kept, flexible feet are a first requirement for a step that skims over the earth in a graceful manner.

If your arches bother you, consult a physician. Otherwise, it is your own fault if your feet seem unresponsive, stolid, characterless.

The chances are that they need exercise. Walking gives the whole foot some exercise, but there are many muscles that need more.

Each morning stand on your bare feet and limber up your feet, one foot at a time. Standing firmly on one foot, holding onto a chair if necessary, start wriggling your toes, one at a time until they are loosened up a little and then wobble your foot around on your ankle, prescribing an arc as you do it, with your big toe pointing the way.

Circle around to the right, making the arc bigger and bigger until you have stretched your foot all you can. Then reverse the motion, circling back the other way, making the arc larger and larger again.

When you have changed feet and stretched both, stand on one again and shake your leg from the knee, trying to let the foot hang limp. When you can do this it shows that you have exercised the muscles and they are softened, the circulation is good and your foot is perfectly relaxed. These exercises, done morning and night, are a wonderful preparation for cold feet.

Every day certain other foot exercises should be done to strengthen the feet. First, each day walk around on your heels for a change, instead of your toes. This changes your balance and exercises certain muscles that may grow lazy. Second, try rising on your toes and sinking slowly, when you do your morning breathing exercises. This strengthens your arches. Third, stand on your bare feet, with the toes pointed in and make believe you are a child digging your toes into nice, clean, warm mud. This scrunching them this way and that is the very best exercise in the world for them. As you turn your toes in, you stretch those side-foot muscles which are apt to grow lazy. Last but not least, toe-in and walking about the room barefooted gives a fine stretch not only to foot muscles but to those in the outside of the leg.

Many women ask for exercises to correct thick ankles. So far as I know, there are none whatever that can correct this. But often a woman thinks she has thick ankles only because she is gazing upon those of a very slender woman or young girl and hers suffer by comparison. Ankles should be in proportion to your whole build, and that would seem thick on one woman are in perfect proportion on another. So have a little perspective in getting complexes over them.

WHAT KIND

Los Angeles—Whether or not Albert B. McNeely drank six bottles of whisky, beer or wine, or whether they were pints or quarts, is biologically, but there's what he told Judge Sproul he drank every day. It ruined his married life, he told the judge. The judge figured that in 25 months of married life McNeely had consumed about 22 barrels of liquor.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY

Extended investigations regarding cereals have led to light up some valuable information for the home-maker and mother.

Cereals, whole grained or refined, rolled, cracked, granulated, "puffed," "flaked," ready-to-serve and precooked are available in a wide variety. This wealth of grain products not only is perhaps the most economical food available but for the great majority of people the most nutritious.

Although certain definite food factors are lacking in cereals, they make an excellent food for growing children when they are supplemented by the proper foods which supply these deficiencies. Since milk contains most of those factors missing in cereals, it is the ideal supplement. The diet that must be scanty in fresh fruits and vegetables can be made well balanced if whole grained cereals and milk are generously used. The diet that is rich in fresh fruit and vegetables maintains its balance and wholesomeness without whole grains, and uses refined flours and cereals to advantage. Even in the carefully planned dietary, supplying goodly amounts of milk and vegetables, there often is a shortage of total calories which is most easily overcome by the use of cereal foods.

Nutrition Via Cereals

A breakfast of well-cooked cereal served with plenty of rich milk provides many calories of high nutritive value as well as some ash constituents and vitamins.

Comparative tables show that rolled oats give the best return for the money expended. The oat kernel contains almost one-third more protein than corn, rye or wheat, almost three times more protein than buckwheat and five times more protein than barley.

Study of dietary plans shows that cereal foods costing "only 17 per cent of the total expenditure for food furnished 45 per cent of the fuel value, 25 per cent of the phosphorus compounds."

The selection of the kind of cereal is in fact of relatively small importance. It is the choice of the supplements which make up for the deficiencies natural to all cereals that is most essential to an economical and adequate diet is maintained.

Whether the cereals used be of the ready-to-serve variety or cooked is a matter of personal preference and economy. Cooked cereals are less expensive and add variety to menus if used during the winter months.

The best of cooks occasionally makes mistakes, but her true art is shown by her ability to turn the failure into a success.

Any vegetable that has just started to burn can be placed—in its cooking pan—into a larger pan of cold water. The vegetable, then should be shaken out of the burned pan into a fresh pan or bowl, leaving any scorched material in the pan. If not cooked until tender, a little boiling water can be added and

East Hartford Is Guest Of Manchester's Quintet

Coach Clarke Starting 12th Season In Charge of Silk City Basketball Destines; Has Turned Out Some Very Creditable Aggregations.

STARTING LINEUPS

Manchester	East Hartford
O'Leary	Anderson
Therney	Mellor
Turkington	Hutt
Squatro	Warren
Hedlund	Trantolo

Referee: "Click" Hayes, Hartford. Time of main game: 8:30 p. m.

Manchester and East Hartford high schools will officially open the 1930-31 Central Connecticut interscholastic basketball league tonight when they oppose each other at the Recreation Center gymnasium.

Manchester will be playing a return contest at East Hartford on the same evening and Meriden and Middletown will also swing into action.

In view of its past performances, Bristol must, of course, be rated as the favorite to win the league title for the fourth year in a row under its great coach, Tommy Monahan.

Bristol means Terryville tonight in a sort of a get-organized affair that need not necessarily show the real strength of the Bell City combine.

Coach Clifford J. Clarke is back for the twelfth year at the helm of Manchester's basketball destinies and he readily admits that the prospects are the brightest they have seen in several years.

Coach Clarke has been stressing the importance of short passing game during the practice sessions which have been held since the boys have put the football mole skins away for a deserved winter hibernation.

During this dozen years in charge of high school basketball here, Coach Clarke has mounded together some mighty creditable combinations.

One of the best basketball teams Clarke ever turned out was Manchester High was his 1927-28 outfit featuring Ty Holland, Jimmy Gorman, Ding Farr, Billy Dowd and Elmo Mantell, which lost to Bristol 14 to 13 in a memorable battle at New Haven.

Middletown, conquerors of Manchester 24-22 in an overtime game in that city last season, will again have a strong team this season.

HE'S OPTIMISTIC

ROCKY MOUNTAIN MOSTLY UTAHITES

Armstrong's Charges Dominate All-Star Football Selections For Season.

By CLAIRE BURCHY

It's Pike's Peak in Colorado, but westward a few hundred miles in Utah they all have to look up among the clouds to get a peek at Ike's football team.

Blame Ike Armstrong, then, if the 1930 honor team of Rocky Mountain football seems too heavy with Utah stars. He's the coach who has taught them how to lose but two football games in 42 played since he became head man there in 1925.

Utah won eight games this past season. They probably would have won more had any been scheduled. Against seven conference foes, they scored 320 points, an average of 45 points per game.

It was Ike's sixth season at the Salt Lake City school. Twice his team finished in second place. The other four times they won the championship for the reason outlined above—no one could beat them.

With so much Utah talent on the first team, it seems that a school of some kind could be erected and inscribed with the names of Dastrup and Thorne, stalwart sons of Brigham Young, and Sawyer of University of Colorado.

Utah made the Rockies rock dizzy. It's true, but there were other good players in the district, even outside of Salt Lake City, Colorado had a trio of threats in Pleasant, fullback; Ealey, halfback; and Lovell, end. Denver had Specken, halfback and Brownlee, center.

SKONESKI MISSING FROM CUBS' LINEUP

Star Wingman Out of Town; Siamonds and Squatro To Take His Place Sunday.

There will be at least one change in the lineup of the Cubs when they take the field against the Majors Sunday at Mt. Nebo in the fourth game of their titular marathon.

Billy Skoneski, star left end for the defending champions, has gone to New Jersey in search of employment, and his position will undoubtedly be divided between Sully Squatro and Sully Siamonds, two high class wingmen.

Just how many more games would be necessary to decide the town championship, no one knows. It would seem, though, that there is to be some sort of a definite understanding before Sunday's game.

If the Majors win of course that will end matters anyway as it will automatically crown the Majors new town champions. If the Cubs win, it will make the series stand at one victory for each team.

But in case Sunday's battle ends in a tie, general opinion seems to be to the effect that there would be no demand for another game. Three successive tie games would be enough to disinterest almost any but the most rabid fans.

The scores of the three games to date: Majors 7, Cubs 0. Majors 0, Cubs 0. Majors 0, Cubs 0.

MAJOR-MINOR WAR NEAR END

Montreal, Dec. 5.—(AP)—A definite move toward peace between the major and minor leagues appeared eminent today as the annual convention of the National Association Baseball League entered its closing stages.

Close observers of the bitter fight over the draft question between the two groups in which the next chapter in the controversy will be at New York next week, said that a step in the direction of peace seemed clear enough here although no one was willing to say on what basis a possible compromise might be reached.

The first indication that the situation had been completed leaving the rival factions in a position to get together with a view toward permanent settlement, came when the three Class AA leagues, the International and Pacific Coast and American Association, announced the appointment of a standing committee of nine, three from each league, empowered to act at any time the National and American leagues should wish to discuss the draft. This action coming less than 24 hours after what appeared to be a wide open split between the two groups, was of particular significance.

Local Sport Chatter

East Hartford will be fighting grimly tonight in effort to prevent Manchester from lengthening East Hartford's string of 18 straight defeats suffered on the basketball floor last season.

The Rec Five journeys to Springfield tomorrow night to match skill with the Visitation Club.

Tomorrow afternoon will no doubt find hundreds of Manchesterites with ears glued to the loud speaker when the radio broadcast of the classic football struggle between Notre Dame and Southern California starts to come out of the ether waves from over the Rocky Mountains.

Manchester will listen in through WVIC at Hartford and will hear the voice of Bill Munday, whose southern accent has won him much praise. Bill will start talking at 4:45 Eastern Standard Time.

Of course you know you are invited to pay $1 for the privilege of hearing the broadcast. The money goes to New York for charity. No charge accounts are permissible and neither will there be any refund if your radio goes dead in the second half when Southern California gets down to Notre Dame's one foot line.

Maybe they'll be like the Cubs and not score anyway. Northwestern got inside Rockne's five yard line a couple of times, you know, for all the good it did them.

"Pop" Eagleson, star punter for the Cubs, will be back in harness again okay Sunday. He suffered a knee injury in the game last Sunday and for a time it was feared he might not be able to play.

Match Brains and Power On California Gridiron

Rockne Talks "Trick Stuff" During Long Journey To Los Angeles While Jones Drills On Importance of Sheer Strength.

Los Angeles, Dec. 5.—(AP)—As Notre Dame's rough tough team neared Los Angeles today, their Saturday opponents, the powerful University of Southern California eleven ran away. The Californians were in full flight but not from Notre Dame. They fled from the friends and well wishers.

Long before Coach Knute Rockne led his Indiana stalwarts out of Tucson, Ariz., on the last lap of their long trail, Coach Howard Jones slipped his Trojans from their stronghold and away to a hotel in an unidentified city. However the announcement that the final practice of the home team will be held on a Pasadena field gave a hint as to the city in which Jones and his men sought sanctuary from handshaking and backslappers.

Whether the Notre Dame wonder team could round out its second successive season without a defeat, reeled in the lap of the football gods, and the mighty men of Troy as the Notre Dame players sped toward the battleground their heads were filled with "trick stuff." Rockne's famous strategy. Southern California is not so crafty, but coach Jones believes in power with a capital "P." With the climax game a full day away the railbirds thought the struggle might develop into a battle of giants employing vastly different tactics.

Should the commenders from their conning towers on the bench elect to pit cunning against drawn, the resulting maneuvers may be as interesting as the 88,000 prospective customers expect.

Chicago, Dec. 5.—(AP)—As far as Chicago bookmakers are concerned Notre Dame was on the short end of ten to eight odds for its game with Southern California at Los Angeles Saturday.

OTHER GAMES
New York, Dec. 5.—(AP)—After four games tomorrow only the Navy-Army game a week later remains to end the 1930 football season.

Colgate and N. Y. U. meet in a benefit game; Carnegie Tech and Washington-Jeff play the game postponed from a week ago. Navy meets Penn at Philadelphia and Western Maryland, east's lone unbeaten team, tackles Maryland at Baltimore.

The element of doubt enters into each of these contests. Navy and Penn both have poor records and injuries are liable to hamper both teams.

The Colgate-N. Y. U. game has attracted enough interest for the Colgate students to cut their Christmas holidays short in order to make the trip to New York and see their great team get some vengeance for a 47-6 beating in 1925.

The records for the season leave little choice between Carnegie and W and J., although the Tartans have slightly stiffer opposition. There is little basis for a comparison of strength between the two Maryland rivals but the old liners look like the best prospect since Georgetown to stop Western Maryland's unbeaten string.

The Nut Cracker

George Earnshaw wants $30,000 to pitch for the Athletics next year. No wonder. Connie Mack picked Christy Mathewson as his all-star all-time pitcher in an article the other day.

But then George is probably figuring a service party on a mass production basis. He has to pitch three days in a row to get loosened up.

Jim London now claims the world heavyweight wrestling title. The first thing a wrestler learns to do is to take hold of the world championship.

The sports pages soon will be through with the word "grid" for a while. The headlines writers are brushing up on "loops," "cages" and "quintets."

Phil Scott reports he is coming back. O'Goofy wants to know just what he is coming back to, and where he ever was in the first place.

A horse named Garlic breezed in the other day at a price of 18 to 1, which might lead one to believe the boys are putting it on pretty strong.

The Brooklyn Robins will do their daily dozen at Clearwater, Fla., this year as usual.

McCOMB RE-ELECTED SCOUTMASTERS' HEAD

Annual Meeting of Association Held Last Night—Change Some Contest Rules.

David McComb, Scoutmaster of Troop 3, was re-elected president of the Scoutmasters' Association of Manchester Council, Boy Scouts of America, at the annual meeting held in Center church last night. Frank Crawshaw, Scoutmaster of Troop 4, was elected vice president, and Wilfred Crossen, assistant scoutmaster of Troop 6, was elected secretary-treasurer.

David McComb and Raymond Mercer were appointed examiners of the first class rank for the South End and Franklin Smith examiner for the North End. Contest events were discussed and complete rules were eliminated from the list because of the danger involved. First Aid was also crossed off as a contest event because it was thought that under the present contest system it was impracticable and without value. Instead, First Aid will become a contest in itself with each Troop represented by a five man team and several doctors acting as judges. The requirements of the First Aid contest have not been drawn up but may possibly include oral and written examination as well as actual demonstration.

Arthur Adams, assistant to Chief Executive Fred C. Hill of the Hartford office, was present at the meeting and during the Scoutmaster's course which will begin here Thursday evening, January 8, to run for a six week period. Joseph Dean, field executive, spoke on the Jamboree to be held at the State Armory at Hartford during Anniversary Week in February. This year's Jamboree will be the greatest ever held and plans are being made for a lay-out to cover the entire space of the Armory instead of half as last year. Fourteen Scout officials were present at the meeting.

DRYING UP MARYLAND

Washington, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Federal prohibition agents and Washington police reported their first successes today in a joint drive to dry up the production of liquor in Southern Maryland and its flow into the capital.

A blockade across six entrances to the city, kept every minute since Monday, resulted in capture of two liquor runners and 15 cases of contraband.

Meanwhile, word was received from the force of 60 Federal agents in southern Maryland that nine stills and 75 gallons of liquor had been seized. Six stills were scattered over 154 miles.

Prohibition Director Woodcock, expressing determination to dry up this section termed by him "one of the sore spots of the United States," said the drive would be the most systematic ever conducted.

OPENING STOCKS

New York, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Narrow declines were the rule at the opening of the Stock Market today. Westinghouse Electric, Texas Corp., Eastman, Allied Chemical and Lockwood dipped 3-4 of a point each, and shares sagging 1-4 to 1-2 included U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Radio Keith, Radio Corp., Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, American Can, Columbia Gas, Dupont, Woolworth, and Bethlehem. Standard of N. J., however, opened 3-8 higher.

The list persisted in its gentle downward drift during the early trading, but not many leading issues extended their losses beyond fractions. Firestone preferred was a soft spot, losing 5 points, in response to the annual report, showing a depletion of surplus by maintenance of dividends. Case, Air Reduction, Coca Cola, Republic Steel Preferred, and Frisco lost 2 to 3.

Shares losing a point or so included U. S. Steel, Consolidated Gas, North American, American Water Works, Bethlehem, Pullman, American and Foreign Power and Canada Dry. Radio was sold rather heavily, but sagged only fractionally.

The overnight news was again of neutral influence. The brokers' long figure, showing a further small reduction, was about in keeping with expectations. Meeting of prominent bankers at the Federal Reserve yesterday, after the recent conferences on the other side of the Atlantic, gave rise to hopes of constructive developments in the international banking situation.

PROTEST APPOINTMENT

Canberra, Australia, Dec. 5.—(AP)—The appointment of Sir Isaac Isaacs, first native-born governor general of Australia, was attacked in the House of Representatives today by the Nationalist-party opposition.

H. J. G. Latham, opposition leader, charged the new governor-general was the nominee of the Federal government, and not of His Majesty. He declared there was no constitutional warrant for the practice.

Mr. Latham expressed fears that the appointment of the chief justice of Australia would infringe the old established principle that judges had nothing to fear from any government. If the practice continued, he said, obviously judges could look to the government for advancement.

This, he held, was objectionable as it might create suspicion of their decisions on constitutional matters. Many a nation would be willing to play ball with the Soviets if only they'd quit their Stalin.

ABOUT TOWN

The Center Church Women's Federation has arranged with Mrs. Robert Richmond of South Main street to give a talk on her trip abroad the past summer. Members are urged to reserve the date of Wednesday, December 10 at 2:30, so that they may hear Mrs. Richmond tell of her visit to Oberammergau and other places of interest.

The November meeting of Ever Ready Circle of Kings Daughters is scheduled for Tuesday evening, December 9 at the home of Mrs. E. S. Segar, 110 Main street.

The annual Christmas sale and dance of the Buckland Parent-Teacher association will open at the school hall in the Seventh District tonight at 7 o'clock. Groceries, fruits and vegetables as well as some baked goods and confections, fancy and useful articles will be on sale. No admission will be asked and the dance will feature old-fashioned numbers.

Have your furnace cleaned at once by our Electric Furnace Cleaning Process. G. E. Willis & Son, Inc. Phone 3219—Adv.

Mrs. A. E. Crawford won first prize at the joint whist of Sunset Rebekah and King David lodges last evening at Odd Fellows hall, and David Haddon held the men's highest score. Second prizes were taken by Harry Trotter and Herbert Mitchell. Mrs. Robert Martin and Walter Walsh, consolation trophies. The committee served sandwiches, cake and coffee. Both old-fashioned and modern dancing followed to music furnished by Walter Joyner playing the violin and Irving Wickham, the piano. Griswold Chappell was the announcer. Another whist, the second in the present series, was announced for Thursday evening of next week.

Robert C. Glenney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Glenney of 74 Porter street has been elected one of the assistant business managers of the Williston 1931 "Log" the year book of the Academy.

The Sunnyside Circle of the Junior King's Daughters will meet at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Second Congregational church instead of today as had been planned.

At 5 o'clock this afternoon the General Emergency Employment Committee will meet in the Chamber of Commerce office. Letters have been sent to each of the 30 men comprising the committee to apprise them of the importance of attending this meeting.

PURCHASERS SHARE PROFITS IN NORTH MERCHANTS' PLAN

Holiday Campaign in Connection With Tabloid Advertising Creates Much Interest.

The North Merchants Profit Sharing Plan whereby with every purchase amounting to twenty-five cents a customer receives one chance on the merchandise that will be given away at a drawing to be held on the Square on Christmas Eve has met the instant approval of those who trade at that end of the town. Customer after customer has asked for tickets when making a purchase.

Practically every merchant in the north end has entered into this plan and is co-operating in every way to assure the success of the plan. Each store has placed in a prominent position in their places of business a box in which the stubs containing a duplicate number with that on the slips which they keep can be placed. These stubs will be drawn and the claimant to any prize must present the duplicate slip containing the same number in order to have their claim to the prize recognized. Customers are therefore asked to carefully save all of their slips as any one of them might prove to be a winning number.

Placarded
The stores participating in this Profit Sharing Plan can easily be recognized by a large placard prominently displayed either in their windows or in the store. The participating merchants hope to have the prizes offered in this novel Christmas Plan grouped together and displayed in some centrally located merchant's window some time this coming week.

The Prizes
The value of the prizes totals $212.00. The first prize will be a fully complete Bosch radio, valued at $137, second prize will be a cedar chest, valued at $25, third prize will be cash of $20, fourth prize a wagon valued at $10, fifth prize will be cash of $10, and sixth prize will be a doll carriage valued at $10.

Values
This Profit Sharing Plan combined with the tabloid for North merchant advertisers only represents the second united attempt of the businessmen of that end of the town to forcefully present to the townspeople the truly remarkable values to be obtained from merchants of that section. Lower overheads are one of the factors that make these values possible. The quality of the merchandise is of the best and in practically every instance they are nationally known makes or brands. The only difference in any way is in the price which is always just a bit lower than the same goods can be purchased elsewhere. Read the advertisements of these merchants in this week's tabloid. Visit their stores and find out for yourself just how much better you can do by trading with the stores in this North Merchants' Profit Sharing Plan.

Send in Stories
The merchants desire all to feel that this tabloid is essentially your paper and would appreciate any items of interest you might care to contribute either of historic or present day interest to the residents of the north end. Why not write-up some item you believe others would enjoy reading about and mail it to Editor of The North Merchants' Tabloid, care of the Manchester Evening Herald.

LONDON IN FOG

London, Dec. 5—(AP)—One of the thickest fogs in years covered the Thames estuary today, completely halting shipping. Among the boats at a standstill were the American Merchant, the Cunarder Aurania, the Orient liner Orvieto one of the advertising men for one Thames-Dunkirk service. Many persons bound for the continent were held up on account of the fog.

NEW AMBASSADOR

Brussels, Dec. 5—(AP)—The foreign office today officially announced that Prince de Ligne, has been relieved as ambassador to the United States and will be replaced by Paul May, now the government's representative at Rio de Janeiro.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRL WINS NAME PRIZE

Miss Lucille L. Dunn of Middletown Captures the $2.50 Award.

"The Call Of The North" was the prize winning name selected from a list of over a hundred entries after careful selection and consideration of all names submitted by the committee appointed to act as the judges.

The Judges
The committee represented two of the North Merchants, two members of the Manchester Herald and and passenger steamers of the of the larger business concerns. The titles that had been submitted had been listed by the Chamber of Commerce with merely numbers as means of identifying the contestant. The judges then by the process of elimination finally selected the name they judged the most appropriate. E. J. McCabe, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce then by means of the identifying number on the winning title looked up the original and announced the name of the winner. Much to the surprise of all concerned it was

CONRAN ALLEYS, LUNCH POPULAR

Much Activity In Bowling and Billiards — Good Food At Luncheonette.

Shortly after the war Thomas Conran returned to Manchester and installed bowling alleys in the old Cowles Hotel ballroom on North Main street. The following year he added a pocket billiard room. In 1927 a Soda and Sandwich Shop was added by Mr. Conran, who is a veteran in this particular line, having seen service behind the counter in the Alderman Drug Co., and the Goodwin Drug Co., in Hartford.

Popular
The latter innovation proved to be a decided stimulus to the alleys and billiard parlor. Special dinners were arranged under the direction of Mrs. Conran and many of the children of the Manchester school nearby took advantage of the light lunches at moderate cost, hot soups, malted milk drinks and the like.

Lots of Bowling
The bowling alleys have always been popular, not only with the men, but girls and women as well. Every week the school teachers exercise on the alleys, proving that bowling, if conducted in the way it should, is proper for all. Conran's Girls team has done some nice bowling and a large gallery is always on hand when the popular North End girls step on the alleys. The Girls' team is composed of Miss Strong, S. Kelley, F. Nelson, A. Shea and P. Summerville.

Team
The Conran's Men's team have proved so far this year that they are capable of taking on the best of them. The team is composed of the following men: C. Kebert, (present town bowling champ); R. Sad, star of the old Victor team; Kathavick and E. Rudinsky. Kathavick will make a bid for the town title this season.

DUNNED FOR DEBTS WIFE POISONS WELL

Mother of 16 Children Held On Serious Charge In Michigan—Deaths Prevented.

Saginaw, Mich., Dec. 5.—(AP)—A 55-year-old woman, mother of sixteen children, eight of whom are living, was in jail here today, held for questioning in connection with the poisoning of a grocer's family well.

The woman, Mrs. Catherine Krowczyk, was taken into custody after it was established that poison was found in the well of John Lugiewicz in the village of Carrollton. She protested that she is innocent, but Sheriff Leonard V. Schleich declared that three witnesses saw her near the well Tuesday morning, shortly before the poison was discovered.

No one drank the poisoned water because a son of Lugiewicz became suspicious of its appearance and odor, and notified the sheriff.

Officers said that the grocer obtained a judgment in court for $37 for a bill against Joe Krowczyk, husband of the accused woman, recently.

SUGAR CONFERENCE

Amsterdam, Holland, Dec. 5.—(AP)—World sugar producers whose negotiations looking to production control were interrupted last week by the illness of Thomas L. Chadbourne, resumed their conference today.

HERRING FLEET GETS BRAND NEW ADMIRAL

Manxmen Still Keep Old Traditions—Even Have a Prayer About Herring.

Douglas, Isle of Man.—(AP)—The Manx herring fleet is all ready for business, and with a new admiral.

Sir Claude Hill, governor of the Isle of Man, has just appointed Levi Greggor to be admiral of the fleet—an appointment made yearly since there were herring and Manxmen to catch them.

The admiral gets ten pounds a year and his chief duty is to lead the fleet to sea. If he is ill there is a vice-admiral, whose salary is five pounds a year.

Many other quaint customs still cling to the herring industry here.

For generations the herring has been staple food on the little island, and it holds an honored place in its official life.

When the deacons take the oaths, they swear to administer the law as rightly as "the backbone of the herring doth lie in the midst of the fish."

All good Manx people pray for the success of their fishermen. The most famous of Manx bishops, Thomas Wilson, drew up in the 17th century a special herring prayer which is still said in every church.

RIOT IN INDIA

Karachi, India, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Several persons were injured today as police charged a mob of 2,000 adherents to the Congress party who created a disturbance outside the judicial commission's court. Three men were arrested, including one for selling contraband salt.

COMMUNITY CLUB PROGRAM IS FULL

White House Teems With Activities During the Winter Season.

Over 2,000 people used the Manchester Community Club during the month of November. The fall program of the Manchester Community Club opened with an excellent open house program held at the Community Club on October 20. Special music, dancing and refreshments were the outstanding features contributing to the fine evening enjoyed by one hundred and fifty Manchester people. C. R. Burr headed the committee and was assisted in the music by Mark Holmes, reception committee, Mrs. M. M. Shearer, refreshment committee, Mrs. R. K. Anderson.

Activities

A Halloween party was conducted by Miss Mason, director of the Community club, which was attended by a large number of children. A parade was held through Depot Square, and prizes were awarded to the first and second best dressed boy and girl.

Seventeen teams are competing in our weekly set-back tournaments.

Dancing classes are held every Thursday afternoon under the very able leadership of Miss McCarthy. The three classes have an enrollment of fifty children.

Troop Nine, Boy Scouts of America, sponsored by the Community club and under the leadership of Scoutmaster Franklin Smith, meets every Tuesday evening.

The Seventh Grade Girls' club has been holding regular meetings with Mrs. Carrie M. Eells as their leader.

An attractive program of dancing and social activities has been enjoyed by the Older Girls' Group lead by Miss Elizabeth Barrett.

The Young Men's Community club are now working out a basketball schedule, using the Hollister street school for their practice periods on Wednesday evenings. A very successful Saturday evening dance was enjoyed by all and it is expected that more will be held.

Bridge Parties

Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Loomis, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Norton are arranging for the winter bridge parties to be held on alternate Monday evenings.

Mark Holmes is heading a committee on whist and a social evening in which will be held during the winter months on alternate Monday evenings.

The rooms have been used for meetings by the North End Merchants, Poultry Club, Rabbit Club, Canary Producers, Society of St. John the Baptist, the two Lithuanian Societies, the Eagles Club, for meetings and card parties, and the Ladies Aid Society of the North Congregational Church.

All of this is made possible by the successful drive for funds which ended at the open house on October 20. Approximately $2500, was raised, and although this was not the set goal, still, it is possible to continue the program on this amount. The people of Manchester demonstrated their confidence in the Community club by their support.

Food Sale

On Friday, November 21, a food sale was held at the Community club in conjunction with a sale of articles made by the blind in the State Institutions of Connecticut. The food sale committee comprised, Mrs. Carrie M. Eells, Mrs. Charles B. Loomis, Mrs. Stuart Segar and Mrs. C. R. Burr, chairman. Many found the sale an excellent opportunity to secure Thanksgiving foods and the number of people making purchases made it truly a success.

On Wednesday afternoons, a group of twelve women met with Miss Mason to hook rugs.

All of the above group activities will be continued this month, and all are cordially invited to participate in any or all of these activities.

A Christmas party is being planned for Wednesday, December 24, 1930, the children's party in the afternoon, and in the evening a party for adults.

Beginning the first of January, Mrs. Arra Sutton Mixer, of the Hartford Gas Co., and well known for her cooking demonstration work, will begin a series of cooking classes at the Community club. This activity which has found such favor with the women, will be held on Tuesday afternoons.

MESSAGE ON TREE MAY SAVE FLIERS

Search Finds Note Carved On Tree In Northern Wilderness Saying Men Need Food

Juneau, Alaska, Dec. 5.—(AP)—A distress message carved on a tree in the northern wilderness and the remains of a fresh-killed moose revived hope today for three air-men missing eight weeks.

Capt. E. J. A. Burke and two companions disappeared in British Columbia's rugged interior and eleven days ago their plane was sighted near the Laird river.

Returning to White Horse, Yukon, after trekking many snow-covered miles to the abandoned plane, Pilot E. L. Wasson said he found a note reading: "Oct. 17—leaving for Wolf Lake, need food badly." Wolf lake is 50 miles from where the plane was forced down.

From Portland Canal came news from a prospector that a cabin not far from the plane showed signs of recent use. Near it were the remains of the moose.

JAPS HONOR PUCCINI

Torre Del Lago, Italy, Dec. 5.—(AP)—The Japanese Prince Nobuhito and his bride, the Princess Kikuko, today laid a wreath on the tomb of the composer Puccini whose whose "Madame Butterfly" once caused considerable resentment in Japan. The royal visitors planned to leave for Rome tonight.

RESCUE SAILORS

Hong Kong, China, Dec. 5.—(AP)—The British cruiser Suffolk came in today with fourteen sailors it had taken off the German motor ship Hedwig, wrecked on Prazas reef between China and the Philippines.

MERCHANDISE BONUS PLANNED IN CHICAGO

Certificates Will Replace Cash So That Business Will Be Boomed, It Is Believed.

Chicago, Dec. 5.—(AP)—A plan whereby merchants will give employes merchandise certificates in lieu of cash bonuses, on the theory it will boom business, was made public today by Jacob M. Loeb, head of a committee of prominent Chicagoans sponsoring the idea. Individuals planning cash gifts for Christmas presents were urged by the committee to do likewise.

"We want people to start buying in earnest," Loeb said. "By buying for themselves they will be helping others and helping themselves at the same time."

"Y" OFFERS VARIED LIST OF ACTIVITIES

Many Manchester People Avail Themselves of Unusually Fine Program It Affords.

Many Manchester people have availed themselves of the unusual activities offered them by the Hartford County Young Men's Christian Association. Elmer Thienes the Executive Secretary announces that William H. Petherbridge, the YMCA Secretary in Manchester is willing and happy to be of any assistance to any organization or individual who would like to participate in any of the scheduled activities of the County Y.

Starting to-day is the Connecticut State Older Boys' Conference, to be held in Bridgeport, Conn., closing on Sunday afternoon. Murphy, Runnel, Perret, Cubberley, and Petherbridge are attending from Manchester. The questions that this thirty-first annual conference will discuss are:

1. How may we discover what is Christian in any area of life?
2. What is Christian in Athletic Relationships?
3. What is Christian in Boy and Girl Relationships?

Soap Sculpture
On Friday, December 12, will be held at the County Office, 93 Elm Street, Hartford, the second of a series of seven classes in Soap sculpture. The classes are from 4:30 to 5:30 and from 7:00 to 8:00 P. M. These classes are offered at no expense to those desiring to attend. It is a splendid opportunity for anyone who would like to pass on the information to groups or use the information for personal pleasure.

The Board of Trustees of YMCA Camp Woodstock will hold its annual meeting at the Nathan Hale Hotel in Willimantic on Monday evening, Dec. 8, at which time the budget for 1931 will be adopted and officers elected. Charles W. Holman is a member of this Board of Trustees.

A round-up of Pioneer Boys of the State of Connecticut will be held in New Haven at 10 A. M. on Saturday, December 20, to which all boys of this age are invited.

Annual Trip
The annual County YMCA Trip to Hartford will be held on Friday, December 26, and all groups are extended a hearty invitation to take part in this real full day of fun.

For the first time a mid-winter Camp will be run at Camp Woodstock on the days of December 27 and 28. Here is a fine opportunity for some real Winter Sports, in the Connecticut Hills. The cost is very low.

On next Tuesday evening, the model airplane group of Southington will give an instruction period in model airplane building, at Avon, to which all groups interested in this type of work are cordially invited.

Several groups from this district are competing in the Intermediate Basketball League this year. They are, Wapping YMCA, Addison YMCA, Wapping, Highland Park, and Hazardville are entered in the Senior League.

Convention
The Annual State Convention of the YMCA's of Connecticut will be held in Waterbury on January 17 and 18, this year. The principal speaker will be Francis Harmon, President of the National Council of the YMCA, of Hattiesburg, Mississippi.

The Junior Basketball Tournament is scheduled for January 31, 1931, and the County Indoor Athletic meet for the 24th of January.

The annual meeting of Hartford County YMCA Athletic Association will be held in Hartford on the 21st. Leslie Mann, famous former World Series Baseball player will be the speaker.

MANY JAPANESE IDLE

Tokyo, Dec. 5—(AP)—The number of unemployed persons in Japan was estimated officially at 400,000. Unofficially the number was put much higher. It was noted that 300,000 tons of Japanese shipping is at present tied up and that 5,000 seamen are idle. Despite the government's "no loan" policy the cabinet has approved a plan for flotation of 34 million yen (about $17,000,000) for construction of roads and other relief works.

KAYOES OPPONENT ARRESTED AS THIEF

Pugilist Nabbed As He Steps From Florida Ring On Charge of Stealing Ring.

Miami, Fla., Dec. 5—(AP)—Arrested immediately after he had scored a knockout, Jack Roper, heavyweight fighter was held today for Mineola, N. Y., authorities on a charge of grand larceny.

Police said he was wanted in connection with the alleged theft of $500 diamond ring.

Roper said the ring disappeared from a home in Mineola while he was attending a party there, but that he did not know he was suspected of the theft.

The arrest was made last night as Roper stepped from the ring where he had knocked out Jack McDonald of Louisville in the first two minutes of a ten-round bout.
