RED SOLDIERS DIG TRENCHES IN MANCHURIA

Soviet Forces Increased Along Lines of Railway, Say Reports To Shanghai; Ignore Protests of Chinese

Shanghai, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Kuo Min Nationalist government news agency tonight published reports from the north west Manchurian country saying Russian troops near Manchuli in the last few days had "entered Chinese territory and arrested a few Chinese." The reports further said the Russians "ignored protests made by local Chinese authorities."

Dig Trench
Kuo Min also reported Manchurian advances as "The Russians have dug a trench ten miles long near Manchuli, within Manchuria. Soviet forces along the northern boundaries of Manchuria also are reported to have been increased."
Advices indicating China and Russia had again come to grips in the negotiations for settlement of Chinese eastern railway question came from the Manchurian frontier October 29 when Russian military activity was reported in that area. The railway, operated jointly by the two countries, has been an element of contention for more than a year.

DEATH SENTENCES FOR RED PLOTTERS

Five Have 72 Hours To Make Appeal — Three Others Get 10 Year Prison Terms

BULLETIN

London, Dec. 8.—(AP)—A Reuter's dispatch from Moscow said today that the Soviet Central executive committee had commuted the death sentences passed upon five engineers condemned for plotting to overthrow the Soviet Regime.
The dispatch said also that the committee had reduced to eight years the ten-year prison sentences imposed upon the three other defendants.

Moscow, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Hopeless in the face of the bitter hostility of an entire nation, the five men under sentence to die for plotting the overthrow of the Soviet government, today were believed to have abandoned whatever intentions they may have had of pleading for clemency to the Soviet central executive committee, the only body with the power to save their lives.

Three co-defendants, sentenced to spend the next ten years in prison, were not expected to appeal since the verdict in their case was believed to have been good fortune for them.
All the newspapers in Moscow came on the streets late today for they published the long verdict in full, and devoted what was left of their space to editorials denouncing these eight men as the tools of foreign capital.

"The proletarian court has punished the bitter enemies of the laboring class," said one newspaper, "but the danger of war is not over. The wreckers have been caught and punished, but the danger of counter-revolution has not been removed. The class enemy has not yet been exterminated."

May Appeal

The Soviet law gives the condemned men seventy-two hours to appeal if they intend to appeal.

Those condemned to death are: Loeld Ramsin, 43, former professor of the Moscow Technical Institute and director of the heat and power institute. Reputed leader of the movement.
Victor Larichev, 43, former head of the fuel department of the state planning commission, said to be next in command to Ramsin.

Nikolai Charnovski, 42, professor in various technical institutions and president of the technical council of the supreme economic council.
Ivan Kalinikov, 56, former official of the state planning commission and professor in the military aerial academy.

Alexander Fedtov, 67, oldest of the conspirators, professor in various technical institutions and chairman of the scientific research textile institute.

Those sentenced to ten years' imprisonment were:
Vladimir Ochkini, 30, youngest of the group, secretary to Ramsin in the heat and power institute and manager of the research section of the supreme economic council.
Sergei Kuprianov, 69, director of the technical section of the supreme economic council.
Xenophon Sitin, 52, engineer of the all union textile syndicate.

HARD WINTER COMING COON'S TAIL PREDICTS

Mount Morris, N. Y., Dec. 8.—There's an extra ring in the tail of the coon this year, in central New York, which, amateur weather prophets say, is a sure sign of a harsh winter to come. Usually they have six stripes on their tails. This fall, they have seven.
Other harbingers of severely cold weather are the deeper burrowing of woodchucks, snakes crawling into nearby holes and unusually heavy skunk and mink pelts.

LIGHT & POWER CO. REDUCES ITS RATE

Twenty Per Cent Reduction For Those Served By State Firm—Many Interested.

New Britain, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Reduction in electric light rates in Connecticut territory served by the Connecticut Light and Power Co., effective December 20, was announced today.

A statement issued by the Public Utility Commission today said that "the reduction extends to all sections of the state in which the Connecticut Light and Power Company operates and will mean a saving of approximately $500,000 per year to the 146,000 customers of the company."

Explaining the reduction, the statement said: "The residence customers who are now on the five cent energy rate are to receive a reduction of 20 per cent in the cost of all energy consumed in excess of 20 kilowatt hours a month. At the present time, all current is billed to this group at five cents per kilowatt hour while under the proposed rate, all current in excess of 20 kilowatt hours per month will be billed at four cents per kilowatt hour."
Customers Co-operated
A factor in the rate reduction, the corporation statement said, was "the co-operation of the company's customers in making greater use of"

XMAS PACKAGE A POWERFUL BOMB

Kills One Man and Mangles Boy Who Opens It; Police Working On Two Theories

Chicago, Dec. 8.—(AP)—An explosion of a powerful bomb, contained in an innocent looking package opened by a boy to satisfy his youthful curiosity, caused the death of a man today in Chicago, professional bondsmen and money lender, one time known as the "Millionaire Newsboy." Today was the 64th anniversary of May's birth and it was supposed he believed the package was a birthday present.

May died in a hospital to which his 15 year old son Eugene, who opened the package was also taken, severely injured by the blast which wrecked the May apartment. He suffered a score of wounds about his back and head.

Windows throughout the entire forty apartment building, situated in Lincoln avenue, were shattered.

Police Theories

Police were working on two theories. One was that May, an Italian immigrant who worked his way up from a newsboy's start, may have collected a loan and who was reported to have made threats. This man was being sought.

Although the package reached the May apartment last Thursday by messenger it was not opened until yesterday when the boy who lives with his mother in another home in the same building, urged his father to open it, thinking it contained Christmas presents. "Why don't you open it, Pop?" he asked. May however, absorbed in his work paid no attention as the lad removed the wrapper, revealing a wooden box a foot long.

As he pulled back the sliding cover smoke came from the opening. The youth dropped back and his father picked up the package just as the explosion occurred.
May suffered badly mangled arms and his left leg was virtually severed. The boy, blown through a door, was severely but less critically hurt.

A bomb planted in the rear of a garage on the north side last night damaged the Fleetwood Apartment hotel adjoining. Hundreds of guests were alarmed but none injured. Windows in the hotel were broken and slight damage done to the garage. The owner could not suggest a motive.

LAVAL ASKED TO FORM NEW RULING BODY

French President Puts Task of New Cabinet Up To Brilliant Member of Chamber of Deputies.

Paris, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Senator Pierre Laval, characterized by M. Clemenceau as one of the most brilliant members of the Chamber of Deputies of the Tiger's day, today was given a mandate by President Doumergue to form a new French government.

The selection of M. Laval to head a ministry was not made until Senator Louis Barthou, himself a man more of Polignac's type, gave up the task as hopeless when the Radical Socialists refused to participate in a government which included a representative of the strong Rightist, Louis Marin.

M. Laval told M. Doumergue that he would do his best and give him a definite answer tomorrow morning. He proceeded then to the traditional visits to political leaders such as the presidents of the Senate and Chamber, M. Tardieu, Briand and Poincaré.
The new premier-designate is an Independent Socialist who as minister of interior under M. Tardieu recently soared into public favor by cooperating with Louis Loucheur in getting through the social assurance law of pensions for working people and by settling the textile strikes in the north of France.

M. Laval is a lawyer, and after serving in the Chamber of Deputies was elected to the Senate in 1926 from the Department of the Seine. He is the mayor Aubervilliers, near Paris, and enjoys the friendship and confidence of both M. Tardieu and Briand. He is fifty-six years old, two years older than the premier-designate, M. Tardieu.

Senator Barthou's failure to organize a ministry of "wide republicanism" which would have included the Radical Left and Republican right, and center and right is regarded as evincing the supreme difficulties in fashioning a cabinet with the Chamber and Senate of their present consistency.

Religion in Schools.

The Radical Socialist party has long been committed to scrupulous adherence to a law inaugurated by Jules Ferry that the schools of the republic be devoid of any form of religious instruction. A section of the right group in the Chamber led by M. Marin has favored an amendment to the law and Barthou proposed to put a member of that group in the Cabinet.

Two other conditions laid down by the Radicals were that the new cabinet must adhere to Aristide Briand's Locarno peace policy and strive for "fiscal justice" the latter being an allusion to the Oustic bank scandal and recent irregularities in trading on the Bourse.

After a long meeting of the Radical group today its leaders issued a communique calculated to clear their skirts of any responsibility for the breakdown of the Barthou combination. The statement emphasized the loyalty of the Radicals to the Republic and insisted that Senator Barthou's failure should be ascribed to the demands formulated by other groups when the Tardieu Cabinet was overthrown.

This referred to M. Tardieu's declaration that he would be glad to co-operate with M. Barthou if members of his majority in the Chamber were recognized. Friends of M. Tardieu today charged that the Radicals were secretly fighting to keep him out of the Cabinet.

LINDSEY EJECTED FROM CATHEDRAL

Denver Judge Objects To Bishop Manning Calling His Book Immoral.

New York, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Ejected from the Episcopal Cathedral of St. John the Divine and arrested after he interrupted Bishop William T. Manning, during prayer, Ben E. Lindsey had to appear in court today.

While Bishop Manning was delivering the scripture yesterday at the close of a sermon in which he denounced Lindsey's stand on companionate marriage, Lindsey hopped to the reporters' table in front of the pulpit and demanded a chance to be heard.
"Bishop Manning," he cried, "You have falsely represented me. If this is not a house of justice it is not a house of God and in justice I ask for five minutes to answer your unfair attack."

Excitement reigned. The congregation was thrown into turmoil. Two ushers pulled Lindsey from the table. Scores of parishioners rushed forward through

GIRL, 11, WANTED LIVE DOLL— SO SHE KIDNAPED BABY!

"I wanted a live baby instead of dolls," 11-year-old Mary Fleder sobbed to detectives after she was found with Evelyn Gaffney, 2, whose mysterious kidnaping had terrorized neighboring families in Newark, N. J. The girl kidnaper is shown, at the left, after her arrest, with police and the stolen baby. She was held for Children's court. She is alleged to have confessed to authorities that she entered through a window of the Gaffney home, lifted the infant from her crib, and escaped unnoticed.

EARTHQUAKE IN JAPAN KILLS FOUR PERSONS

Over 250 Houses Collapse On Island of Formosa; Few Details In Early Bulletins Received Today.

Tokyo, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Rengo News Agency reports from Tainan said a severe earthquake shook that southwestern Formosan region today, killing four persons and causing 253 houses to collapse. The quake began at 3:50 p. m., and lasted thirteen minutes.

The island of Taiwan, or Formosa, is the southernmost large island of the Japanese group. It is separated from China by the Strait of Formosa, and is about opposite the Chinese city of Amoy.
Tainan is its largest city. The city of Taihakou at the northern end of the island is almost equal in size. The city of Kagi, to the south of which most of the destruction occurred, is closer to the western coast of the island.

On Nov. 26 an earthquake of major proportions struck the Luzon peninsula on the island of Honshu, far to the north of Formosa. Nearly 300 persons were killed, many were injured and thousands of families were made homeless in that disaster.

BLAST SINKS SALVAGE SHIP; FOURTEEN DIE

Was Trying To Recover Five Million In Gold From Sunk- en Steamer When Explo- sion Occurs; 7 Injured.

Lorient, France, Dec. 8.—(AP)—The Italian salvage vessel Artiglio, which was trying to recover $5,000,000 in gold bullion from the sunken liner Egypt exploded and sank off the island of Houat with the loss of fourteen men, port officials here announced today.

The explosion occurred yesterday but first word of it reached here today through a signal station on Hoedic island, not far from Houat. Two of the men who were killed were found in full diving equipment among the wreckage of the vessel. Several others who were injured were taken to a hospital at Belle Isle.
The signal man on Hoedic island, said he heard a violent explosion about five miles to the southwest of his station, and at the same time saw water spout a thousand feet into the air.

Then there was a great billow of smoke and he saw chunks of wreckage dropping into the sea.
Seven Rescued
Another Italian salvage ship, the Rostro, which was in the vicinity, hurried over to the spot where the Artiglio had been and picked up the seven members of the crew who were injured.

Full details of the disaster were not available but the Artiglio was known to have been heavily loaded with powder and ammunition.
The Artiglio had temporarily abandoned work on the wreck of the Egypt, which had been shifted by ocean currents after the first salvage operations.
At the time of the explosion she was sending divers down to examine the hulks of two munition ships sunk during the war. It was thought possible that she had shoved her nose into the wreckage of one of these, the La Florance, and in some way touched off her own cargo of explosives.

Delinquents Condemned

The two delinquents had been condemned as menaces to navigation, and the Artiglio and the Rostro had been ordered out to break them up. A warship had taken a group of French marine ministry officials out to the vicinity while the operations were under way.

While divers from the Artiglio had not succeeded in recovering the fortunes in bullion under the Egypt's hatches, they did bring up a key to the bullion room. They had planned to go back and open the rusted locks when adverse ocean currents interrupted the work.
Some of the first objects recovered from the wreck was a sack of diplomatic mail from the British foreign office. This was in a safe in the purser's office which was recovered.

Many lives were lost when the Egypt steaming through a heavy fog, ran on the rocks and went down in May, 1922.

PEACHES BROWNING SUED FOR $15,000

Former Manager of Her Vaudeville Act Wants One Fourth of Her Salary.

New York, Dec. 8.—(AP)—A suit for $15,000 against Mrs. Frances "Peaches" Hennes Browning, brought by Edgar Allen as her former manager, went to trial today in State Supreme Court.

The first twelve talesmen were accepted as jurors and Allen became the first witness. "Peaches" was in court. Allen seeks a fourth of her stage earnings from June, 1928, to April, 1929, the period during which he was her representative.

Among letters read into the record by Allen to prove he acted as manager for "Peaches" was one addressed to him by Louis E. Walters of the National Booking Office, 306 Stewart street, Boston, and dated January 15, 1929, saying Mrs. Browning's vaudeville act had been banned in Boston under orders of Mayor Nichols.

"I went to see Mr. Casey at the mayor's office," the letter read, "and he told me he had received orders not to let your act play here." The letter went on to say Walters did not want to "go over Casey's head" and suggested Allen write to Mr. Nichols.

Another letter said the manager of a vaudeville theater at Lancaster, N. J., did not want Mrs. Browning's act.

The letters were read in to the record without comment.

NAVY CONSTRUCTION REPORTED TO HOUSE

INSANE CONVICTS ARE RECAPTURED

Over $134,000,000 To Be Spent On First Year Under New Treaty Signed At London.

Four of Seven Men Who Broke From Matteawan Are Found In Brooklyn.

New York, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Four of the seven convicts who fled from the Matteawan State Hospital for the criminally insane last Thursday were back in their cells today after a one man capture of them.

William H. Nelson, who broke into the prison to free his six mates after he had previously escaped, Harry Gordon, the "mad butcher" of from which the ywere driven last and John Biggins were subdued yesterday in a Brooklyn apartment by Detective George E. Wobber and returned last night.

Frank Vanderkuylen, Anthony A. Alroy and Joseph Kayler still are at large.
The four men were recaptured by tracing Mrs. Mary Ockenfels, a friend of Biggins. The four entered her apartment early yesterday and found Detective Wobber waiting for them. Nelson drew a pistol but the detective disarmed him and held the four at bay until reinforcements arrived.

Two loaded pistols, a machinist's hammer, pliers, automobile tools and a two-foot length of a car axle were found. Ockenfels, in default of $5,000 bail was locked up on a charge of harboring criminals.
The men said they escaped on account of "starvation and brutality" at the hospital.

SALES TALK FALSE, AUCTIONEER IS FINED

Boston Man Must Pay $25 and Costs For Statement Made About Cigar Lighter.

Found guilty of knowingly making a false statement for the purpose of obtaining a bid on an Evans cigar lighter, Jacob Bornstein, a Boston auctioneer who has been selling goods at public auction at the May Jewelry store on Main street for several weeks past, was fined $25 and costs in Manchester Police Court this morning. Bornstein was arrested Saturday afternoon by State Policeman Carroll Sh. Borne.

Many lives were lost when the Egypt steaming through a heavy fog, ran on the rocks and went down in May, 1922.

Article Appraised

The lighter was purchased by Clarence H. Anderson of 19 Locust street, well known local insurance agent, for the sum of one dollar. To satisfy himself of the lighter's value, Anderson went to Dewey-Richman's to have the article appraised and found that he could buy a similar one for $1.50 with the addition of $1.00 for the cost of a new model which the one he obtained at auction was not.

State Police on Case
Anderson's account of the circumstances surrounding the purchase and subsequent finding of false representation was corroborated by Lieutenant Wallace J. McElroy and Officer Shaw of the State Police.

Old Model

Leonard Hennes testified that any number of Evans lighters could be had for $1.50 each and that his firm had carried the line for several years. He further testified to the fact that Anderson's lighter was an old model.

Greenwald on Stand

George Greenwald of 92 Asylum street, Hartford, owner of May's Jewelry Store and of a store in Hartford, appeared on the witness stand and testified that the Evans lighter has been sold by him for many years and that during the past year it has sold for $7.50. He said that he had authorized the sale of the lighter on Saturday at that price. He admitted, however, that he knew a cut had been made in the price of the article but did not know just when, and that he had not seen the latest Evans catalogue.

Three Witnesses

The prosecuting attorney explained the statute pertaining to the case and said the State had produced three witnesses to prove the guilt of the defendant and that the latter

TREASURY BALANCE

Washington, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Treasury receipts for December 5 were $5,048,117.13; expenditures, $15,938,438.48; balance, $58,224,008.68.

Washington, Dec. 8.—(AP)—The administration's first year program for construction under the London naval treaty was laid today before the House naval committee by Secretary Adams. It was estimated to cost $134,635,000.

It calls for the construction of one 7,500 ton six inch gun cruiser at a cost of $16,605,000; one six inch gun flying "deck cruiser" of 10,000 tons to cost $20,780,000; four submarines of 1100 tons each at $4,400,000 each or a total of $17,600,000; one plane carrier of 13,800 tons to cost $27,550,000; ten destroyers of 1500 tons each to cost $4,200,000 each and one destroyer leader of 1850 tons to cost $5,000,000.

Adams said the program was exclusive of the proposed modernization of the battleships Mississippi, Idaho and New Mexico at a cost of $30,000,000, approved today by the Senate.

Chairman Britten, of the committee, said Secretary Adams declared it essential that the $5,000,000 Naval dirigible base be built on the west coast to accommodate one of the two giant airships being constructed for the Navy. The hearing was in closed session.

Dirigible Base

Britten said Admiral Pratt, Assistant Secretary Ingalls, and Rear Admiral Parsons, unanimously favored the proposed site at Sunnyvale on San Francisco bay for the dirigible base.

The chairman said that during the London naval conference the United States had been granted the use of the dirigible base for military training purposes in connection with fleet operations.
Under the Treaty of Versailles, Britten said, the Los Angeles, which was given to this country by Germany at the end of World War, was restricted to non-military activities.

Britten will introduce a bill tomorrow to carry out Adams' recommendations. While the outlay toward construction would amount to about $15,000,000, during the next fiscal year, he said the administration would be expected to come forward at the next session of Congress for its second year program.

Britten said the Navy wanted to let the contractors for constructing the four new submarines, ten destroyers and the plane carrier on July 1, 1931.

It also desires to let the contracts for the October 1, 1931, for the flying deck cruiser, January 1, 1932, and the contract for the six inch gun cruiser of 7,500 tons on April 1, 1932.

Secretary Adams stressed the modernization of the three battleships as the most important now pending before Congress. He requested that funds be supplied at this session to undertake the modernization next year. About $20,000,000 would be needed and it would require about a year and a half to complete each ship.

Chairman Haugen reported to the House the agriculture committee's bill for $30,000,000 for drought loans, saying he would ask consideration of the construction bill had been passed.

Demands were made in the Senate for a Democratic program. Walsh urged an appropriation large enough to permit the Federal government to meet half the costs of relief work in the states. He proposed a five day week for government workers.

Senator Barkley, Democrat, Kentucky, advocated cash payments to World War veterans for the value of their bonus insurance certificates.

Senators Caraway, Arkansas, Dill, Washington and Copeland, New York, joined. All agreed for emergency legislation even at the cost of increased income taxes, but all insisted that the increase be levied against those of higher incomes. Senator Walsh proposed that the increase be started with income of $20,000.

MRS. LOEW DIVORCED

Reno, Nev., ec. 8.—Mildred Zukor Loew, daughter of Adolph Zukor, motion picture magnate, was granted a divorce here today from Arthur M. Loew, the theatrical man and son of the late Marcus Loew.

The decree was granted on grounds of mental cruelty. Papers in the case were sealed in order to conceal the terms of a property settlement. The couple married January 6, 1920, in New York, and have two children, custody of whom is given to Mrs. Loew.

The Loews separated seven years ago, but it was a friendly separation and even as recently as a month ago Loew came to Reno by airplane to be present for the birthday of one of his children.

Kansas City, Kas., Dec. 8.—(AP)—Dr. J. C. Dye, Army medical officer, testified in Federal court here today at the murder trial of Maj. Charles A. Shepard.

Called as a government witness, Major Dye, now stationed at Fort Warren, Wyo., said he had been summoned to attend Mrs. Shepard May 21, 1929, the day after she was seized with an illness that proved fatal at Fort Riley, Kas., in June 1929.

Examination of Mrs. Shepard's eyes showed the retina enlarged, and this condition, Major Dye testified, could have resulted from absorption of the slow-acting poison which the prosecution alleges Shepard, a medical officer, administered to his wife in order that he might be free to wed Miss Grace Brandon, pretty young stenographer of San Antonio, Tex.

On cross-examination, Major Dye stated that the use of alcohol could have affected Mrs. Shepard's eyes. This was brought out to lend support to the defense assertion that Mrs. Shepard drank excessively and was morose.

Major Dye also testified that some of the medicine prescribed for Mrs. Shepard contained calomel which is related in chemical composition to the poison from which the government alleges Mrs. Shepard died.

ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

Westerly, R. I., Dec. 8.—(AP)—Although X-ray pictures today revealed two bullets in his head, Hugh A. Dunning, former hardware merchant will recover from his self-inflicted wounds, hospital authorities said.

Dunning told police he shot himself while driving his automobile between New London and Stonington late Saturday night and continued on his trip to his summer home at Misquamicut, seven miles farther.

When found early Sunday morning Dunning was sitting on the floor of his garage with his back propped against the closed door, and the roof of his automobile running.

Financial difficulties were believed the cause of his suicide attempt.

BIRTH CONTROL BILL

Hartford, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Another attempt to legalize birth control will be made in the next session of the Legislature by Mrs. Thomas N. Heppburn, a leader of the birth control movement in Connecticut.

YOUTH ON PAROLE HELD FOR ASSAULT

Danbury, Conn., Dec. 8.—(AP)—Rocco De Gross of this city, on parole from the State reformatory, is being held here for return to the Chester reformatory on account of his assault on a Norwalk young woman in a rural section of this place last night.

De Gross and the young woman have been keeping company. Last night he and Angelo Bonocci of this city, who were arrested together with De Gross, returned to Danbury and in a sparsely settled section De Gross is accused of trying to assault one of the young women.

Unable to awaken anyone, she drove back to where her friend was but did not stop the car as she feared she also would be the subject of an attack.

Finally she drove back through this city to Norwalk, abandoning the car. The absence of the vehicle was reported to the police here.

Officers started for that section of the town and met De Gross, Bonocci and the other young woman, all of whom were arrested. From them the identity of the other girl was learned and she was located at her home.

Robb Benefactor. New Haven, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Joseph Lawlor of Providence, R. I., glowing with satisfaction that comes to one who has done a good deed, went to bed last night.

HOOVER REQUESTS FARM BOARD FUND

Asks For Additional $150,000,000 To Be Used At Once To Help Agriculture.

Washington, Dec. 8.—(AP)—President Hoover today requested Congress to appropriate an additional $150,000,000 for the Federal Farm Board.

The amount would be from the $500,000,000 total authorized for the Farm Board by the act which created it.

Should Congress approve this supplemental estimate submitted today, only $100,000,000 more would remain to be appropriated.

REMEMBER THOSE WHO SUFFER, PLEASE

Rev. J. S. Neill Cites Book of Job in Sermon At First Union Service.

The first Union Service of the Center Congregational church, St. Mary's Episcopal church, and the South Methodist church, was held at the latter church last night.

Rev. Neill's sermon follows, in part: The text is found in the third verse of the twelfth chapter of the Epistle to the Hebrews: "Remember them which suffer."

The problem of human suffering is as old as man and as wide as the world. The Book of Job shows God's relation to human suffering and the test to Job to keep his faith in God.

The world today demands an answer for its human suffering, the old traditions and strong faith are doubted, a new philosophy, which is as old as Job appears in clothes of a modern cut.

How often we hear the same accusing criticism of the Christian religion and the Christian God—He is too remote—He is not a relieving God as one recent writer aptly puts it.

To Job, in the abyss of his trouble, comes the valiant thought about God—"Though He slay me, yet will I trust Him."

tain grim humor, all unintentional in the addresses of his friends to Job and his answers to them. Comedy and tragedy are always a matter of the point of view, even in the same situation.

The bulk of the book is the debate back and forth of Job and his friends. Through it all, in a whirl of agony, Job speaks intermittently and at times in confusion of thought.

The book of Job is a man whose indomitable courage we must admire, whose spirit, like Prometheus bound, soared to union with God.

3—EPILOGUE—In some ways, the ending of the Book of Job is crude—again in the words of childhood fairy tales; "He was restored and lived happily ever after."

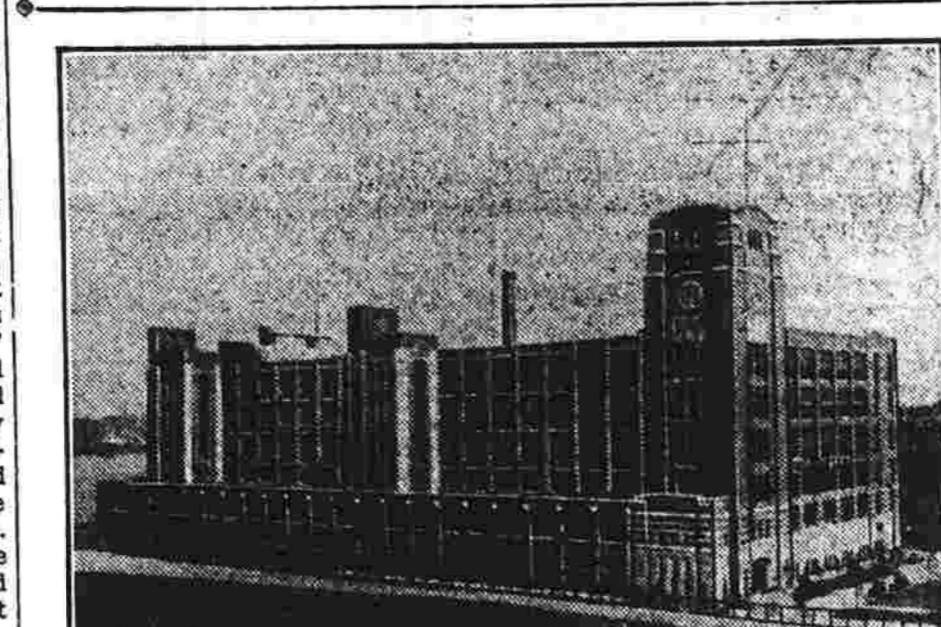

The Book of Job is a great lesson to us all; a heroic soul, personifying the suffering of a nation, of a race, of an age, of human kind in all times, finally the only answer to the great mystery of pain and heartache in the hope that God loves each and every human soul.

Coast Guard cutter could do nothing but out the topline and let her go. Now there is a singular thing about this. The Coast Guardsmen say they could see nothing of any of the crew after the boat left New London. They believed that the Negroes were all below decks. But apparently nobody can be quite certain that they were aboard at all. Probably they were—but perhaps they went overboard into the ship's boat a good while before. It was night when the Storm Petrel ended her sixty years of voyaging.

There is more than a little mystery about this case. How come this ancient vagabond of the seas to be bumming around this coast in such condition? How come the Coast Guard to undertake to tow her in the shape she was in? There is such a thing as a set of navigation laws and they apply to coastwise freighters as well as to other vessels. How come there was such flagrant violation of them? Was it solely and entirely because this was a Negro ship—and nothing that might happen to it made any difference?

On the face of it it looks as if six human lives had been needlessly sacrificed. On the other hand it looks a little as if six Negroes may have played a grim joke on the white man's world. It would be interesting to know if the Storm Petrel was insured and who held the policy—and several other things.

GREATEST SHOW
 Outside the epos of a great war it is difficult to recall any drama so effectually staged as that of the trial of the eight Soviet engineers for plotting with foreign powers for the overthrow of the Russian Soviet Union. The climax has now been reached in the sentencing of five of the accused to death.

There is little reason to doubt that, as a result of the expert manipulation of the circumstances in this affair, substantially the whole Russian nation now believes profoundly that only extraordinary vigilance on the part of the secret police prevented the carrying out of an international conspiracy to make war upon it. The device of having the so-called traitors make hours-long confessions, every word of which was broadcast over all Russia by radio, was a stroke of master showmanship without parallel. The Russ proletarian who now doubts that capitalistic Europe is in league to destroy the Soviets could be matched in this country only by a person who refused to believe that the Declaration of Independence was signed on July 4, 1776. It is impossible to conceive of any other "educational" measure so overwhelmingly successful as this trial. The Communist leaders in Russia have made the best pre-amendment efforts of the American prohibitionists look like the work of half-baked amateurs.

It will probably never be known—at least not during the present Russian regime—how the "confessions" were arranged; whether through an understanding that the inevitable "executions" would be merely pretended or whether, as has been suggested, the tales of the accused were the purchase price of immunity for their families or kin. No such gigantic hoax was ever before perpetrated in all history. But more than 150 million Russians are unshakably certain that they have been looking at and listening to the real thing—and that the real thing means that they must stand solidly together, under their rulers, against an evil and inimical world.

HELPING HAND
 It is to be hoped that the opposition expressed in Congress to the request of President Hoover for a free hand in the use of $150,000,000 for emergency construction is not a fair sample of the willing Worker aid that the Democrats promised to give the administration. There is very little sense to the objections—and no good spirit at all. The lump appropriation asked for is intended for application only to jobs already authorized by Congress and all that Mr. Hoover asks is to be permitted to go ahead with them as matters of administration without Congressional interference in details. That is, obviously, the only way in which a national construction program can be adequately hurried up.

And yet we have the spectacle of such counter proposals as that of Senator McKeller of Tennessee, who has actually offered a substitute measure providing that $250,000,000 be distributed equally between the 3,057 counties of the United States, equal to $80,000 per county. There are eighteen counties in Tennessee with less than 10,000 inhabitants each. Van Buren county has about 3,000 people. The biggest of all its 95 counties is Shelby, which contains the city of Memphis and the population of that county is only something like 200,000. The population of the entire state is but little more than that of New York county, in other words Manhattan Island.

In Texas there is one county, Cochran, which has less than a hundred inhabitants. There are a dozen with less than a thousand people each. Yet McKeller has actually had the temerity to suggest, as a cure for unemployment in the industrial centers, a government gift to the isolated residents of Cochran county of almost a thousand dollars each, while devoting a few cents to the relief of each jobless person in the great industrial communities. If the serious presentation of such fantastic proposals as this is the kind of help that the Democrats in Congress are going to give the administration in solving the problems of hard times we probably have a fine and glorious time ahead of us.

Washington, Dec. 8.—There has been a story told here recently about a man who was found wandering on the streets and was picked up by the police. He didn't know his name, he didn't know where he lived and he didn't even know which Hoover commission he was on.

IN NEW YORK
 New York, Dec. 8.—Our own Who's Who—and some who aren't. Meet Peter Arno, the lad who now rates the standing of the town's most sophisticated artist-cartoonist-pen satirist. Who started to draw what he draws out of a vast distaste for bunk and pose in any of its forms. And who seems to draw his salon folk in acid rather than ink. He is just 28. Quite a youthful age for a gent to acquire so cruelly penetrating a sense of observation. His satire is what one might call rakish—purple shirts, lavender ties and all the rest. He was urged to follow the career of a lawyer, for his father is a jurist of high standing—some other than Supreme Court Justice Curtis Peters. How, then, you ask, did he get his name? Very simple. His father's middle name is Arno. The son merely dropped the "ux" and there he was, with a perfectly good disguise. A more than passingly sensitive youth, he was hard hit in the sensitivities in the usual mixings of college years. Which may have caused the construction of a defensive bitterness, as the psychologists put it. New York was his native hearth—a rare incident in this town where most important folk come from somewhere else—and he went from a local high school to Yale. His wardrobe is particularly extensive, and is said to comprise some 40 suits of clothes. And almost as many changes of overcoats. He is proficient as a jazz pianist, can whang a banjo and was responsible for a syncopating band in college. When he left college behind, it was to return to New York—on his own—move into a Greenwich Village attic—and start to draw. His first efforts were the usual commercial folder covers and such. He even decorated lamp shades to get grub money. Then along came Gilda Grey, with a new set of shimmy wiggles and Peter found he could turn out wiggie music for the dancer—and did.

For strange are the round-about ways by which the Manhattan peaks are reached! Finally, some five years ago, the New Yorker appeared as a magazine.

At its head was a young man named Harold Ross—and that, in itself, is another New York "Who's Who." For Ross had gone west from Salt Lake, Denver and way points, winding up in San Francisco as a water-front reporter. There, upon idle evenings, as Ross—and myself and many others—waited for sunrise and an incoming ship, we would just at poker—a game for which he is now famous, if not notorious.

So much for Ross. His magazine gave Arno his big break. But Rea Irvin, the art editor-cartoonist, had more than a little to do with this, too. But that's still another story. The first click was a team named the Whoops Sisters. The big town adored them, even if they became little known elsewhere. Well, his drawings today are even collected and set within the covers of two volumes—"Arno's Parade" and "Arno's Hullabaloo." They are said to sell by the 10,000—and some of them are, well—just a bit naughty. At any rate, naughty or nice or impertinent, the Who's Who of Manhattan have adopted Peter Arno as the favorite of the sophisticates.

And, in case he happens to catch the national fancy, don't say I didn't tell you as much about him as I know. Well—not exactly everything. GILBERT SWAN.

POCKET BILLIARDS
 New York, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Headed by the defending titleholder, Reuben Greenleaf of New York, a field of eight begins a round robin tournament for the world pocket billiards championship at Dwyer's Broadway academy today. Greenleaf who has won the title nine times in the last 11 years again was favored but was sure to meet with considerable opposition from such cue wielders as Frank Taberski, of Schenectady; Erwin Rudolph, Chicago; Bennie Allen, Kansas City; Pasquale Valtelle, Baltimore; O. Lauri, New York; Thomas Bowman, Portland, Oregon; and Arthur Woods, New York.

Don't read this if you have already done your Christmas shopping. But if you haven't, here's a tip: There never was a better time than today. That last-minute rush hasn't begun. There are lots of bargains. You can take your time. Put it off—and you'll regret it.

Washington Letter
 BY RODNEY DUTCHER
 NEA Service Writer

Washington, Dec. 8.—There has been a story told here recently about a man who was found wandering on the streets and was picked up by the police. He didn't know his name, he didn't know where he lived and he didn't even know which Hoover commission he was on.

About 30 of those commissions are functioning and even though many members do not reside steadily in Washington it is almost impossible to go anywhere and not meet someone in some capacity, subordinate or otherwise.

It seems that we Americans are getting back at Soviet Russia by doing a little "dumping" ourselves. Great furors were created when former Vice President Delgass of the Amtorg Trading Company told the House of Representatives an example along with various prize farm animals, Mr. Coolidge being the only human eater of wheat anywhere mentioned. Mr. Coolidge eats two parts of wheat and one of rye, cooked whole for perhaps four or five hours, as a cereal, according to Mr. McKelvie, whereas the best mixture for horses is half wheat and half oats.

One of Al Smith's friends, down from New York, says the badly defeated 123rd presidential candidate always carries a lucky piece in one of his pants pockets. On one side of the token there appears a bust of Herbert Hoover and the words "Hoover for President." On the other side the inscription is "Four More Years of Prosperity."

A legend is being built up to the effect that Mr. Hoover in a brown suit is another person than the Mr. Hoover in a blue suit. Time was when Mr. Hoover wore nothing but blue suits. Recently he appeared at a press conference in a brown suit and began to speak boldly about things, as his friends have been wanting him to speak.

The president told state and municipalities that they ought to take care of their own racketeers and not depend on the Justice Department. He gave frankly his views on the white immigration issue and announced that he would submit the World Court to the Senate.

Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, who is perhaps the most distinguished looking woman in Washington, threw a large supper party one night recently for Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana. There was a birthday cake with 16 candles representing Tom's 16 years in the Senate and one big candle which was supposed to represent his future years here, which will be at least six according to the November election. There used to be a lot of talk here about these two folks "going together" and maybe being engaged, which talk doubtless will be revived for the winter season.

 NOTED ASTRONOMER ILL.
 San Jose, Cal., Dec. 8.—(AP)—Father Jerome S. Ricard, head of the astronomical department of the University of Santa Clara, suffered a relapse of his condition and his condition was so critical the last rites of the church were administered. Father Ricard was confined at a sanitarium here from January to September with a falling fever. He recovered sufficiently to return to the university, although his condition preventing him from resuming his duties there. He was one of the foremost exponents of the sunspot theory of weather forecasting.

MYSTERIOUS
 Perhaps we shall hear some more about the sinking of the schooner Storm Petrel while under tow from New London to Nantucket, with the loss of six lives. Perhaps not. All the people who went down with the leaky old hooker were Negroes—the captain, his wife and son and three seamen.

The schooner, sixty years old, came into the news about ten days ago when she went ashore off Saybrook and after grounding again was towed into New London by a Coast Guard vessel. She had been trying to get to Nantucket with a little cargo of 250 tons of coal taken on at New York.

At New London the old ship was sadly in need of repairs. She was leaking and her sails were tattered. But her captain—who apparently was her owner, too—couldn't raise the money needed to put her in shape. So the crew tinkered at her as best they could. There wasn't any money for a tow to Nantucket and the old boat was too lame to make her own way, so the Coast Guard undertook to tow her, gratis. Six hours out, in not very bad weather, the Storm Petrel concluded to quit and with very little warning she went down. The crew of the Answer: One with low blood pressure should live on a well balanced diet. No special foods are required, but simply good combinations, such as I suggest in my weekly menus. Increasing your physical exercise each day will do more than anything else to bring up your blood pressure.

SECOND LEGION DANCE IN TEMPLE TONIGHT
 This evening the Dilworth-Cornell Post of the American Legion will conduct its second dance of the season in the Masonic Temple. Dancing will start at 8 o'clock under the direction of Al Behrend and his well known Melody Boys. Harold Gates of Cromwell, the celebrated prompter, will call the turns for the old-fashioned numbers on the evening's program. Modern dancing will also be "on tap" for those who prefer it. The Legionnaires invite one and all to enjoy with them this evening's fun.

THOSE ALKALINE LIMA BEANS
 Those who are doing heavy work usually come home wishing for a heavy nourishing meal, and the tendency is to eat too many of the heavy acid-forming foods. One of the recent important discoveries in the food line is that lima beans are very alkaline-forming. If you serve lima beans occasionally you may be sure that you are serving an alkaline food which will tend to balance the acid-forming foods in your diet and so build for better health. Dried lima beans are also rich in vitamin B which prevents pellagra or polyneuritis. They are a good winter food, being heat and energy producers. The dried lima beans are especially valuable in those places where it is hard to get fresh vegetables during the winter. When cooked, these beans have a rich, nut-like flavor. They are not expensive, and when using them the housewife cuts down the cost of the meal because they swell up by absorbing water. When you buy two cups of dried lima beans you have six cups when they are cooked. Lima beans are more wholesome than the ordinary dried beans and they do not have as much of a tendency to form gas. Dried lima beans are a good source of protein, containing 18 per cent. However, the protein is not a complete one, and

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
 (To Keep Voice Clear)
 Question: Singer writes: "I am to sing at a concert and would like to know what is best to soothe the throat. While at home my voice is very clear, but as soon as I face an audience it gets clogged. This might be due to a little nervousness, but please advise me what will keep it in order for the occasion."
 Answer: There is no special remedy to take which will soothe the throat, as the substances swallowed do not remain on the vocal cords. A small amount of menthol mixed with honey sometimes gives a temporary relief. It is also a good policy not to use cold water, ice cream or any other cold substance before singing and it is also wise to not eat a very large meal before your appearance. If you have a tendency to catch you should attempt to overcome this by following a correct fasting and dieting regimen.

(Value of Greens)
 Question: G. H. writes: "I would like to know the value of spinach, Swiss chard, and Brussels sprouts from a medicinal standpoint."
 Answer: Neither spinach, Swiss chard, nor Brussels sprouts have any medicinal value in the sense of curing disease. However, they are all alkaline-forming foods and should be used freely, with the possible excep-

ENGLAND IN FEAR OF POISON FOG

Cattle Die In Yorkshire and Farmers Fear It Is From Same Cause As In Belgium

London, Dec. 8.—(AP.)—England today feared the appearance here of the mysterious epidemic which last week spread through the Meuse Valley in Belgium under the cloak of a heavy fog and took 67 lives of humans and killed cattle and livestock.

Near Grosmont, Yorkshire, ten cattle died Sunday on one farm of a mysterious malady the symptoms of which, veterinarians said, were much like those of victims of the Belgian death fog.

The Daily Mail today quoted an unnamed authority as saying that "the fog may have killed 60 persons in Belgium but it almost certainly killed 6,000 persons in London."

QUEEN IN DISTRICT Brussels, Dec. 8.—(AP.)—Heartened by their Queen's visit to the danger area, residents of the Meuse Valley today returned to the homes from which they were driven last week by an impenetrable fog which shut down on them and brought death to 67 persons and sent many others to hospitals with a peculiar and mysterious illness.

FLAMES THREATEN TWO LOCAL HOMES

Most Damage Done to Clinton Street House Saturday; Cellar Blaze Yesterday.

Two alarms were rung in for fires over the week-end. The first alarm from Box 63 at 7:14 Saturday night called Hose Companies 2, 3, and 4, S. M. F. D., to the double-tenement house on Clinton street owned by Raffaele Luppcchino, where a lively blaze was found eating its way through the roof in the Luppcchino side of the house.

Tardy Alarm The fire gained considerable headway owing to the fact that neighbors of the Luppcchinos, who were not at home at the time, watched the fire eating through the roof, wondering why an alarm was not being sent in.

Father Unemployed On learning the facts, Miss Jessie Reynolds, town welfare nurse supervisor of the Luppcchino children, the clothing and dry cleaning. Mr. Luppcchino, a Cheney employee, has been out of work for several months and has been patiently enduring under the added handicap of sickness.

Murder At Bridge

by ANNE AUSTIN author of "THE BLACK PIGEON," "THE AVENGING PARROT" and "MURDER BACKSTAIRS"

BEGIN HERE TODAY Investigating the murder of JUNIATA SELIM at a bridge party, BONNIE DUNDEE orders the replaying of the "death hand." PENNY CRAIN, KAREN MARSHALL and CAROLYN DRAKE play the hand. Nita having been "dummy," JUDGE MARSHALL and JOHN DRAKE, coming separately, saw no one outside the house. SPRAGUE, coming from the bus, came in the dining room with JANET RAYMOND, who was on the front porch. Janet accuses LYDIA, the maid, of the murder, because LOIS DUNLAP, in the writing room, had taken FLORENCE MILES, had to ring twice for her. Lydia says she was asleep from the effects of an anesthetic, and that she did not go into Nita's room. Dundee thinks she is lying when she says she saw witnesses Sprague who knew Nita at the Altamont Studios in New York, and that she suggested he get the contract for a Hamilton movie, planned by the Chamber of Commerce.

Dundee tells the group that since no one heard a shot, a gun with a Maxim silencer was used. The effect of these words is astonishing. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XVI

As Dexter Sprague had glibly and plausibly explained away every sinister aspect of the note he had written to Nita Selim that day the note which Flora Miles admitted having stolen and read in her hostess' clothes closet just before the murder was committed—Special Investigator Dundee was silent, with a vacant stare, as he listened to the explanation.

"What!" Dundee exclaimed incredulously. He was conscious that behind him, Captain Strawn was getting to his feet. . . . "You have some information you believe may be valuable, Judge?"

"I do not believe it will be at all valuable, sir. On the contrary," the judge replied indignantly. "But to suppress the fact at this juncture might lead to grave misunderstandings later, when it inevitably came to light. So, sir, it is my duty to inform you that I myself own a Maxim silencer, 32, as well as a Maxim silencer."

his hearing Karen Marshall's childish voice, tremulous with fear: "No, no, Hugo. Don't do it!" He whirled from Sprague in time to see Judge Marshall disengaging his arm from his young wife's clinging fingers, to note, with profound astonishment, that John C. Drake, banker, was stepping hastily aside, so that not even his coat sleeve might be brushed by the advancing figure of the elderly, retired judge. And before Judge Marshall had time to speak, Dundee saw that a light had touched, at last, the solid friendship of the women; that they did not look at each other with that air of standing together whatever happened, but that their eyes, not meeting, were turned to the ceiling, calculating, afraid.

"Sir!" Judge Marshall began pompously, when he had planted himself squarely before the young detective. "I shall never be said to permit my private life to be touched in the slightest way, to hamper his course of justice."

"I am sure of that, Judge Marshall," Dundee replied courteously, but his pulses were hammering. "What, in God's name, did this long and pompous old fool have to tell him? "You have some information you believe may be valuable, Judge?"

"I do not believe it will be at all valuable, sir. On the contrary," the judge replied indignantly. "But to suppress the fact at this juncture might lead to grave misunderstandings later, when it inevitably came to light. YOUR CHILDREN

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON Why is it to be done? I have a letter from the mother of a 16-year-old boy who asks for help in her distress. He is one of several sons all of whom it appears are smart unassuming fellows who walk in the way that should be done. They should go according to their parents' idea.

This young black sheep is different, however. He spends his time playing chess with older minds and experts at the game. He beats them all at it. He has, it seems, lost interest in just about everything else. Chess has spirited him bodily and mentally away from all the family ideas of rectitude as well as the school's desire to keep him at the head of the honor list.

But chess is no disgrace, and it is clear to be seen that this boy has a chess mind, a remarkable memory and ability to campaign; also he must have strategy and analysis. Such brains are born, not made, and it is one of the greatest crimes of our school system that such a mind has to seek its outlet in nothing about kings, queens, bishops and pawns instead of figuring out the real game of life.

Probably Latin, English, and history bored him silly. He should have been taken at twelve or fourteen and given an intensive training in mathematics, civil, electrical or mechanical engineering.

Or he may have had a vital interest in something else that he could have gotten his teeth into and to which he would have given his life's interest. The chess is merely a tangent, his powerful mind seeking release from the humdrum and getting its exercise in paths away from the prescribed route.

I am sorry for his mother, sorry that she is unhappy, for she is a good mother and an anxious one. But there is one lesson that most mothers have to learn sooner or later. Up to adolescence we take the children with us. After that they take us with them and we can either go as excess baggage or fit into their lives as a real factor of helpfulness and friendship. We should like to change that but we cannot. It is life. It is the truth.

We cannot keep them from following their natural tendencies any more than we can top Niagara. Our work must be done long before that. That is why I am so anxious to have parents and education cross that Norman's Land of indifference and try to do something about the misfits in our blanket curricula of studies, and the other half entirely unfit for life and the special things they can do and do well.

Is not this the answer? Five College Graduates Inspect the South Seas. Five young Yale graduates bought a 60-foot schooner, hired a cook and a retired naval officer to accompany them on their trip. They set out to see the world. Their voyages led them to Bermuda, down through the Caribbean to Panama and thence to the South Seas, with Australia as the last horizon; they had a gay and glorious time.

An Excellent Book on Washington's "George Washington's Country" is a delightful book by Marietta Minnerode. HEALTH

FLUSHED CHEEKS AND BLUE LIPS MAY DENOTE DISEASED HEART. (This is the third of four articles by Dr. Fishbein on health requirements in insurance examinations).

In cases involving large policies, insurance examiners are likely to study carefully the general appearance of the applicant. It is generally known that overweight after middle age adds to the danger of early death, and figures have been recorded showing that heart disease is more than twice as common as the cause of death in overweight men than in those of normal weight.

A man with high blood pressure may have flushed cheeks, and a thick neck. In cases of heart disease, the cheeks may be flushed with brick red color and the lips appear slightly blue. The fingers may be clubbed at the tips. Rapidity of the heart is not necessarily a danger sign, because extremely nervous people or those who have suffered a shock may have a heart rate as high as 100 per minute, the rate slowing down and appearing perfectly normal after the person has gotten over his nervousness.

By the use of the stethoscope, the physician listens carefully to the beat of the heart to detect any abnormalities in its sounds and particularly the presence of murmurs, indicating an insufficiency of the valves. By the use of thumping he may detect the size of the heart, outlining its borders and determining whether or not it has become enlarged due to overstrain.

The healthy person when sitting should have a pulse rate between 65 and 85, which becomes somewhat slower when he lies on his back. A rapid pulse may occur in heart disease, fever, neurasthenia, and following excessive indulgence in alcohol and tobacco. Any time the pulse is over 180 a minute or under 55 a minute, special studies must be given to the condition of the heart.

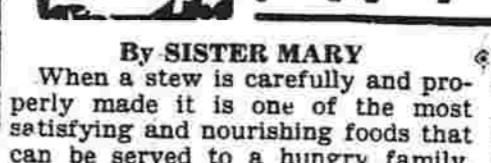

If the pulse is regular, the examiner is pleased with the possibility of the risk, but an irregular pulse may be a manifestation of anyone of several forms of disturbance of the heart action.

The examiner will not base his judgment on the condition of the walls of the arteries as he feels them with his finger. The walls of the blood vessels may be thickened due to an increase in its muscular layers. It may be straight, or curled. If the wall of the artery is thickened with lime salts or curled by contractions of its fibrous tissues, special studies have to be made to make certain that there is no con-

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

When a stew is carefully and properly made it is one of the most satisfying and nourishing foods that can be served to a hungry family. Cheap cuts of meat can be used to great advantage and the finished dish is both economical and appetizing.

The success of a stew depends on the careful seasoning and cooking of the meat and vegetables. Greater skill and cleverness are required to prepare a delicious stew than to broil an expensive steak. The steak might be dubbed "fool-proof," for only the most villainous cooking could ruin it, while stewing meat must be treated with discrimination to make it popular.

Meats Are Varied Nowadays all sorts of meats are used for stews. Beef, veal, lamb, mutton, pork, ham, fresh and salted bring infinite variety to the one-time plebeian stew. Unusual flavoring and seasoning, colorful garnishing and inviting serving will make any stew attractive enough to please the most fastidious taste.

Dumplings add interest to all stews, but especially to veal. Lamb stew gains much from canned peas. A stew made from remnants of cold roasts is made savory by a combination of onions, canned tomatoes and macaroni. Carrots provide color when other means of garnishing are not at hand.

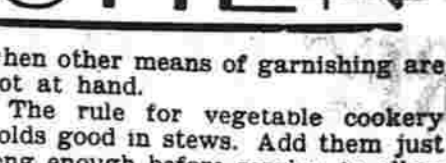

The rule for vegetable cookery holds good in stews. Add them just long enough before serving to allow them to cook tender. Since the vegetables are cooked with the meat there is no waste of valuable mineral salts. The liquid in which both the meat and vegetables are cooked is served with the stew.

Beef, veal or lamb make delicious stews suitable for all members of a family. The liquid with sifted vegetables can be given to even the youngest person at the table. The stew proper, in all its glory of meat and vegetables, will satisfy the hungry hunter or football player.

A brown stew is assured if the meat is cut in cubes, rolled in flour and quickly browned in melted fat before simmering. Gentle simmering for two hours or longer insures perfect tenderness in the meat. Careful trimming of excess fat and gristle is essential. If bone is included in the cut it should be removed before serving.

The liquid can be thickened or not as preferred. If thickened, the vegetable should be skimmed out to prevent crushing while the thickening is being stirred into the liquid. One tablespoon flour stirred to a smooth paste with a little cold water will thicken two cups of liquid.

SEVEN DROWNED AS BARGE SINKS

Watch Hill, R. I., Dec. 8.—(AP)—A "hoodooed" coal laden schooner and her crew of seven rested beneath the waters of Long Island Sound today, victims of a sudden whim of fate.

The schooner was the Storm Petrel. The seven drowned were her captain, named Dial, three other men, two women and a child. All were negroes. One of the women was the captain's wife who served as ship's cook. The names of the others were unknown.

The tragedy happened late Saturday while the schooner was in tow of the Coast Guard cutter Nemaha. The Nemaha's searchlight, focused on the schooner, was momentarily switched off while a larger light was being prepared. When the stronger beam was focused on where the schooner had been the craft had plunged to the bottom. Four destroyers and two patrol boats, out of New London, Conn., were unable to find any trace of the seven aboard the Storm Petrel. On Thanksgiving eve the Storm Petrel piled on Hen and Chicken Reef at the mouth of the Connecticut River and was towed to New London. She left there for Nantucket in tow of the Nemaha Saturday afternoon.

For the month of January, 1930, the U. S. government collected taxes on 40,208,231,773 cigarettes, a gain of $8,000,000 over the previous January.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

Wrinkles are perhaps the most psychologically devastating of all face blemishes. They are those little silent signals of approaching age. But if you could get in the habit of considering their signals that may be postponed, your face will keep its youthful smoothness many years longer.

The first wrinkles appear under the eyes. Then come the crow's-feet at the corners of the eyes. Then the wrinkles from the nose to the mouth. And then come those under the mouth to the chin. In between these stages, some women develop a couple of deep vertical wrinkles between the eyes.

Behold, then, a major scientist who comes out on the other side and admits that the wisest of men can do no more than see through a glass, darkly; a scientist who says, in effect, that the old mysteries are still mysteries, and that the existing creation, far from having a cumbersome body and no soul, looks much more as if it were all soul, encased in an insubstantial and somewhat unimportant material mold.

That, roughly, is the message of Sir James Jeans in "The Mysterious Universe," published by the Macmillan Co., at $2.25. Here, I believe, is one of the truly important books of the present generation; important not for literary style but for the sounding of a new note that may, in time, alter all of our philosophies and give us an entirely new outlook on life.

Sir James bluntly remarks that the concept of the universe as a vast mechanism has broken down. The world is not a machine, and it can never be understood from a mechanistic viewpoint. It is more near the truth to say that it is a creation of mind; a mind that works in accordance with mathematical laws, a mind with which our own minds are somehow in harmony.

The book is not easy reading for the layman, but it is abundantly worth any effort one may make to get through it. There is a great deal of meat in it.

Will Durant Presents India's Side of It. In "The Case for India," Will Durant revises the good old American sport of twisting the British lion's tail. To put it more accurately, he gives the tall a savage and violent yank. He begins by remarking that the British occupation of India is "the greatest crime in all history" and he goes on from there to give the British record in India one of the bitterest lambastings I have ever witnessed.

THE BOOK SURVEY

BY BRUCE CATTON NEA Service Writer. It has been a long time since the voice of the scientist has had any comfort for the hapless individual who likes to imagine that his poor self, with all its dreams and wishes and desires and timorous beliefs, is an integral part of the universe, planned for from the beginning and made the image of its creator. Science, for many years, has given us a different sort of picture, and it has given the poet, the philosopher and the mystic some very bad moments.

Behold, then, a major scientist who comes out on the other side and admits that the wisest of men can do no more than see through a glass, darkly; a scientist who says, in effect, that the old mysteries are still mysteries, and that the existing creation, far from having a cumbersome body and no soul, looks much more as if it were all soul, encased in an insubstantial and somewhat unimportant material mold.

REC FIVE MEETS ITS FIRST LOSS

Goes To Pieces In Second Half of Game With Visitation Club In Springfield Saturday Night and Is Defeated 34 To 27; Silverman Plays For Locals; Game Here Tomorrow.

After winning its first two games of the season, the Rec Five went down to a 37-24 defeat Saturday night in Springfield during a second half attack launched by the Visitation Club. Manchester led at halftime but was outclassed in the second half.

Only four of the regular eight members of the Rec Five made the Bay State trip. Those missing were McCann, Farr, Quish and Ballister. Only one player was drafted to fill this tremendous gap but he was an ace. Abe Silverman of Hartford was the addition and his flashy work more than helped keep Manchester in the running.

Just why so many members of the Rec Five failed to make the trip is unknown. All had different reasons why their presence was desired elsewhere. But they'll all be back for the home game tomorrow night with the Winsted Athletic Club.

The Visitation presented a high-class lineup and Manchester did well to keep the margin of victory respectable. The Rec Five even outplayed the home team by a slight margin during the first half and was never headed but once during the first two quarters and then only temporarily.

But in the second half it was a story of different facts. The Visitation struck its real form and hooped nine field goals against five for Manchester and a five to one advantage in fouls as well. Silverman and Gustafson scored all of Manchester's points in the second half.

The Visitation personnel included such well known basketball stars as Conway and Crowley. They and was never headed but once during the first two quarters and then only temporarily.

CHOCOLATE RULES 7 TO 5 FAVORITE

But Hartford Boxer Feels Confident of Defeating Cuban Flash Friday.

New York, Dec. 5.—(AP)—A featherweight championship bout in New York and a big heavyweight encounter at Chicago share honors on the national boxing schedule for this week.

Eat Battalino, Hartford, Conn., will carry his featherweight crown into the ring with him for a 15 round bout against Kid Chocolate at Madison Square Garden Friday night. Battalino signed for the Chocolate fight immediately after he had seen the Cuban negro take a 10-round beating by Fidel Lariba. He felt that if that was as good as Chocolate could do, there was no particular risk in giving the Cuban a shot at the title. However, Battalino's fight about it, the betting fraternity have established Chocolate in the favorite's role at odds of 7 to 5.

MAY LIFT BAN ON EARLY START

Montclair, N. J., Dec. 8.—(AP)—A definite move in the direction of a revision of the Yale-Harvard-Princeton agreement restricting fall football practice has been made by Yale alumni.

Gathering in Nick Roberts old barn here Saturday night, Yale football men advocated a change in the agreement because the brevity of practice allowed under its terms had not served to reduce overemphasis on football nor improved the ideals of sportsmanship as had been expected. Instead it was contended it had proven definitely harmful, sending players into early season games without enough preparation and thus subjecting them to risk of injury.

Brilliant Notre Dame Brings Home 27-0 Win

Los Angeles, Dec. 8.—(AP)—scoring the first touchdown when he took a pass from Schwartz and halfback walked eight yards to pay dirt.

O'Connor was the individual star. Three days before he had been a substitute halfback, although Rockne explained he spent six weeks in spring practice in the fullback berth. Saturday he was an amazing fullback. From his own 20 yard line in the first quarter he carried the ball, received from Marty Brill halfback, on a reverse, 80 yards for the second touchdown, pausing at the halfway mark to outdo Ernie Pinckert, the Trojan's star halfback. In the third quarter he scored again after receiving a lateral pass.

Schwartz contributed fifty yards toward the third touchdown with a long zig-zagging run.

Nicholas Lukats, a substitute back, whirled over 23 yards of Trojan-strewn turf for the final score.

Southern California never seriously threatened the Notre Dame goal. Four times the Trojans dug shallowly into Irish soil, but the advance was halted abruptly in each case.

SERIES NETS TEAMS LITTLE OVER $3,000

Majors Earn Nearly $2,000 and Cubs About $1,300; 7,728 Pay $3,865.

The gross receipts for the four games played between the Cubs and the Majors was $3,865, it was revealed today by Postmaster Ernest F. Brown, head of financial affairs.

The exact expenses have not been completed but the actual expenses not including any player salaries will be approximately $625, Mr. Brown estimated. This leaves a balance of $3,240 to split sixty-forty.

The Majors' winning share of this pot of gold will be about $1,945 and the Cubs' share in the neighborhood of $1,295. The attendance and intake at each of the four games followed by the average per game follows:

Majors Outplay Cubs And Win By 6-0 Score

Longest Football Struggle In Town's History Ends With Championship Going To North End Team For First Time In Five Years; Majors Clearly Show They Are Better Club; Advantage Largely Due To Reserve Strength; Only Real Touchdown of the Four Games Made Yesterday By Gifford Following Intercepted Pass By Meikle; Cubs Almost Score On Two Long Forward Passes—But Close Doesn't Count.

By THOMAS W. STOWE
Herald Sports Editor

Manchester's football championship was in the hands of the north end today for the first time in five years following the longest and one of the most bitterly fought gridiron struggles in the town's history.

Although one touchdown was again the margin of victory, the Majors proved themselves superior to the Cubs. No one can rightfully deny that the better team won, and in the same sense, no one can honestly dispute the fact that the Cubs went down to a glorious defeat.

Pursued all season long by a flinch which prevented the Cubs from scoring regardless of how close they were to the opposing team's goal line, the south end outfit never once gave up hope during the long drawn out series and threatened the Major goal in three of the four games played.

Only one legitimate touchdown was made during the four games and that came in the third quarter of yesterday's contest at Mt. Nebo being scored by "Hank" Gifford of Providence after Tommy Meikle had intercepted a Cub forward and raced from midfield half way to the Cub goal line. Several vicious thrusts at the right side of the Cub line made weak by a shortage of reserve strength.

Home Field Advantage! The first game of the series went to the Majors 7 to 0 by virtue of the most unique play ever seen on a Manchester football field and the next two battles were scoreless.

Then came the Majors' victory which served 6 to 0 triumph yesterday. It is odd to note that both victories scored by the Majors were on Cub soil while the ex-champs made their best showing at Hickey's Grove, home of the Majors.

Taking a composite slant at the four games, it appears that the Majors won through reserve strength and sheer superior man power. The new champions relied mainly on straight football while the Cubs were always in the running due to the deceptive style of football Coach Tom Kelley taught his cohorts after succeeding Art Mulligan midway in the season.

As weak and helpless as the Cubs were all season long when they were struck by an opposing goal line, and as admittedly superior as the Majors were, it took the new champions four weeks to prove they were entitled to the championship. The Cubs played a total of twelve games during the 1936 campaign and were held scoreless in eleven of them. Windsor Locks alone gained the distinction of permitting a Cub back to spike his goal line. Hence little wonder the Cubs were dubbed the "scoreless wonders."

Wasn't Lucky Either! There was nothing lucky about the touchdown the Majors scored yesterday. The six points were well deserved and it was only the excellent defensive work of the Cubs during the first half that prevented an additional tally or two.

The Cub goal was never threatened more constantly than it was yesterday. Time after time the Majors passed and ploughed their way deep into Cub territory only to meet either very stubborn defense or inopportune penalties.

Tommy Meikle, a former Cub player, was instrumental in bringing about the defeat of his former teammates. The Willmantic lad intercepted a Cub pass at midfield and raced to the 27 yard line where he chased offside. Three line smashes netted nine yards and on the next play Meikle dove through center for a first down on the 17 yard line.

A First By Inches The officials called for a measurement on the play and it was a first down by inches. Then Foole shot off left end for eight yards. The right side of the Cub line was proving very weak against the determined Major assault. Riscassi ripped his way nine yards further through the same section bringing the ball to the three yard line.

On the first play following this advance, Gifford ploughed through the center of the Cub line for a touchdown, just barely reaching the final stripe. Scully tried for the extra point on a dropkick but a soccer goal was the result. The Major fans along the north side of the field went wild with joy as the tide turned in their favor.

Oh So Different The difference between the ability of the two teams was so great yesterday that if anyone was watching the series for the first time, it would have been impossible to convince him of the previous pair of scoreless deadlocks which have resulted.

The Majors made almost twice as many first downs as the Cubs, 17 to 9 to be exact, and threatened much more often. The Cubs had but one real chance to score but that was an Touchdown: Gifford; point after, Scully's dropkick failed.

Penalties: Cub 13 times for 93 yards; Majors, 10 times for 85 yards. Fifteen yard penalties imposed on: Perrotti for holding, Farr for illegal use of hands, Underwood for holding, Moske for illegal use of hands, Meikle for communication, Foole for unnecessary roughness, Ambrose for clipping, Scully for holding.

Forward passes completed: Cubs nine out of seventeen; Majors six out of eleven.

Substitutions: Lippincott-Crockett, Siamonds-Flannigan, Happendy-Underwood, Welles-Happendy, Meikle-Fisher, Ambrose-Coseo, Mullin-Sheehan, Tumieny-Conroy, T. Conroy-Perrotti, St. John-Waterman, Foole-Moske, Riscassi-Tatro, Gifford-Brown, Lesner-Underwood, Coseo-Ambrose, Happendy-Spenace, Sheehan-Mullin, Daddario-Tumieny, St. John-Waterman.

Referee: Pat Meskell of New London; umpire, Clesson Parker of New Britain; head-linesman, Jay Merriman of West Hartford.

a couple of touchdowns on those long aerial flings of Squatrito and Siamonds.

The pass to Siamonds was easily one of the prettiest of the entire game. Scully shot far out on the left flank and sped way down the field past Brown to snag Farr's long and accurate header. Then he sidestepped Fisher prettily and sped on toward what appeared to be a certain touchdown with less than ten yards to cover. But Siamonds was practically exhausted. He had caught another long pass just a few minutes before and his legs just couldn't carry him forward any faster with the result that Brown and Gifford overtook him on the five-yard line.

Even then it seemed that the Cubs might score, but after Williams ran into Scully at center for no gain, Farr called for a forward pass. Instead of electing a short deceptive pass on a fake line back, he ran way across the field before passing. This gave the Major backs and line, too, time to come back and cover the lone Cub player eligible to receive the pass. Foole and Lazarek then put on their little act to give the Majors possession of the ball once more, Moske blocking and Lazarek recovering. It was the fourth time in the series that the Cubs almost had fizzled completely at the goal line. And with that failure went the last hope of a Cub victory.

Penalties Even The penalties called by the officials were very even. For 95 yardage is concerned, the Cubs were set back 93 yards against 95 for the Majors and the figures would have been exactly the same but for a Cub penalty that had to terminate a yard from the goal line. In this instance, Eagleston punted out safely to midfield.

The Majors used two full sets of backs. Brown, Moske, Fisher and Tatro were in the starting quartet while Meikle, Riscassi, Penrose and Gifford made up the other foursome. Meikle did not get into the game until the second half but he surely gave a nice exhibition of football while he was in there. There was none of the rough playing that marred his efforts the week previous.

OLD JACK JOHNSON TO TRAIN GRIFFITH

Chicago, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Gerald Ambrose "Tuffy" Griffiths, seeker of heavyweight boxing laurels, is taking boxing lessons in preparation for his match with Young "Stripping" at the City Club Saturday, Dec. 12—and from no less than Jack Johnson, former champion of the world.

Jack O'Keefe, Griffiths' manager, had obtained the 32 year old negro ex-titholder to teach the tough one the more intricate and defensive maneuvers which Johnson, at his best, was matchless.

policemen who don't want any money.

There are hog-calling and cow-calling contests. Why not have a contest among the old boys who 'called off' at the old time square dances? That was a real calling...
A few girls may have welcomed back the long skirts for the sake of modesty, but most of the dear things who hailed their return had two other very poor reasons.

Joe—Hello, Bill! Where have you been?
Bill—To the depot to see my wife off for a month's holiday.
Joe—But how black your hands are.

Bill—Yes, I patted the engine.

'I want to marry a rich girl so I can give her everything she wants.

that I'm a little too heavy to sit on your knees?
Mr. Longufferer—I thought so at come numb since then.

The will of a man who died recently, when opened, was found to contain the following provision:
'To my beloved wife I do hereby bequeath my pants, as a symbol of what she always wanted to wear during my lifetime, but did not.'

Old Gent—Now, can you give me a good reason why I should give you a nickel?
Small Boy—I sure can. If I was an old gentleman with a nice new derby hat on and there was lots of nice black mud handy, and a kid asked me for a nickel, I wouldn't start no argument.

Stickler Solution
A word puzzle with letters T, E, A and numbers 1, 2, 3.
By replacing the numbers 1, 2 and 3 with the letters T, E and A, as shown above, and then following the arrows and spelling in the order of 1, 2, 3—2, 3, 1
—and 1, 2, you make the three words,
TEA, EAT and ATE.

THE TINYMITES

Another speed boat whizzed right by and Beauty said, 'Oh, gee, let's try and have a race with that fine boat. I hope that we can win. Please hurry, Mister Travel Man and catch up to it, if you can.' The craft's exhaust was opened and it made an awful din. The other boat slowed down a bit and Beauty cried, 'I would make a hit with all of us if you will race. We'll have a heap of fun. We'll start together, right in line.' The other man yelled, 'Sure! That's fine. Pull up, now, right beside me, lads and then I'll shoot my gun.' The boats lined up and then 'Ber-bang!' A loud shot in the clear air rang off went the two fine speed boats, throwing water in the air. To all the bunch it was a thrill. 'Oh, gee, I hope that we don't spill,' cried Carpy. 'How these tiny boats, with full power on, can tear!' They had agreed to circle round a little buoy, which was found a-

MODERNITY AND THE BATHROOM

The bathroom is as much a part of the home as any other room. And so modern plumbers have devised innovations that should find their way into every house.

If your bathroom was new at the turn of the century and today beside looking out of date and being out of date is costing you constant repair bills to keep in working order why not replace the whole works with a modern system? You'll find it will pay in money saved and comfort to say nothing of appearance.
