SEVEN MILLION INCREASE IN STATE BUDGET

Connecticut Will Require $83,214,261 To Carry On Its Business For Next Two Years Board Announces.

Hartford, Dec. 26.—(AP)— Connecticut will require $83,214,261 with which to carry on its business for the next biennium according to the budget prepared by the State Board of Finance and Control for submission to the incoming General Assembly. The budget represents an increase of $7,974,664 over the actual expenditures of 1929-30 and the estimated expenditures for 1930-31.

The budget includes an estimated expenditure of $44,356,651 for 1931-32 and $38,857,610 for 1932-33 as compared with actual expenditures of $35,090,736 in 1929-30 and estimated expenditures of $40,148,861 for 1930-31. The ordinary recurring expenses and fixed charges for 1931-32 are $24,565,809, while for 1932-33 they are estimated at $25,263,706, a total of $49,829,515, an increase of $5,384,811 over the 1929-31 biennium. So, too, the estimated capital outlays is increased over the two years ending next June, the total being $33,386,746, which is an increase of $2,589,853 over the $30,796,893 total for the current biennium.

General government which includes financial administration, judicial, legal and general government buildings, net decrease of $2,073,413.30; protection to person and property which includes police, regu- lative, militia and armories and fire protection net decrease $17,558.57; development and conservation of natural resources including agriculture, forestry, public supplies, water and game, net decrease $15,828.06; conservation of health and sanitation, net increase $17,844.86, this including state department of health and food regulation and inspection; construction and maintenance of highways shows a net increase of $1,758,003.59; charitable, hospitals and correction department of state agencies and institutions, net increase $2,927,572.20. Education, net increase $337,137.20. Public service enterprises, decrease $19,023.35; maintenance of public parks, his- torical sites and monuments net decrease $169,881.67. The total in- crease in capital outlays is thus shown as $2,589,852.

The new state armory at West Ha- ven includes a net increase of $1,500,000 for which $150,000 is recom- mended. For the Mystic oral school the board recommends $275,000 for new building and $46,754 for equipment, a total of $321,754.

The board points out that appro-

TEN MEN RESCUED FROM UPSET BOAT

Three Believed Drowned As Launch Capsizes — Ferry Boat Crew To the Rescue.

Sausalito, Calif., Dec. 26.—(AP)— Three men were believed to have drowned here late last night when a launch capsized, throwing its thirteen occupants into the cold waters of Richardson's Bay. Ten were rescued by a ferry's life boat. The party was on its way from Sausalito to yacht Janidore, owned by Isadore Zellerbach, San Fran- cisco capitalist. Sam Bowman a member of the Janidore's crew, was the host. All members of the party lived in Sausalito. Authorities said the launch was overcrowded.

Search was continued for missing, Ernest Rogers, a stevedore; A. Van Scoy, a cook and a man known only as "Bill." Bowman was among the rescued. Captain Charles J. Olson of the ferry Tamalpais said his craft was just entering the slip here when he heard cries for help. The life boats were put out quickly, but they had to cover more than half a mile to reach the overturned launch. A strong tide carried the thirteen men farther away from the ferry and they had to struggle hard to keep afloat until the rescuers ar- rived. With life belts and lines, rescu- ers pulled the ten out of the water, but were unable to find any trace of the other three. All those rescued were taken home after first aid treatment.

CALLS FOR POLICEMEN TO KILL A TINY MOUSE

Montclair, N. J., Dec. 26.—(AP)—When she arrived home last night Mrs. Benjamin A. Christian heard a noise in an up- stair room. She tip-toed to the telephone and whispered for help. Two husky officers hurried to the house. They tip-toed upstairs drew their guns and burst into a bedroom. The prisoner sur- rendered, not without resist- ance. It was a mouse trying to free its tail from a trap.

SHOT BY BANDIT, PAYMASTER DIES

Second Victim of West Haven Payroll Robbery Passes Away At the Hospital.

New Haven, Dec. 26.—(AP)— Charles A. Kern, Jr., 45, one of two men shot by a bandit Wednesday in a payroll robbery, at the Allington branch of the American Mills Com- pany in West Haven, died today. Kern was chief clerk at the fac- tory, was critically wounded short- ly after he and Joseph Ordazzo, 54, gate-tender at the mill, had arrived at the plant from a bank with the company's payroll of $4,931.23. Ordazzo was fatally wounded by the bandit and died enroute to a hospital.

Release Suspect West Haven police today released Edward Slattery of New Haven, who walked into police headquar- ters yesterday and said he had com- mitted the robbery. Police said a check up of his story had failed to connect him with the crime. Slattery, who police said, was in- toxicated when he walked into headquarters told officials he had thrown the bag containing the pay- roll over the wall of a cemetery in the vicinity of the factory. A search failed to disclose the bag or the money. An accomplice is believed to have aided the bandit's escape after the robbery.

TWENTY CLERGYMEN SWINDLE VICTIMS

Lost Over $150,000 In Al- leged Auto Invention That Was To Bring Big Returns.

New York, Dec. 26.—(AP)— Twenty clergymen were defrauded of $150,000, the United States dis- trict attorney's office charged to- day, by a company whose officers were indicted last week for mail fraud.

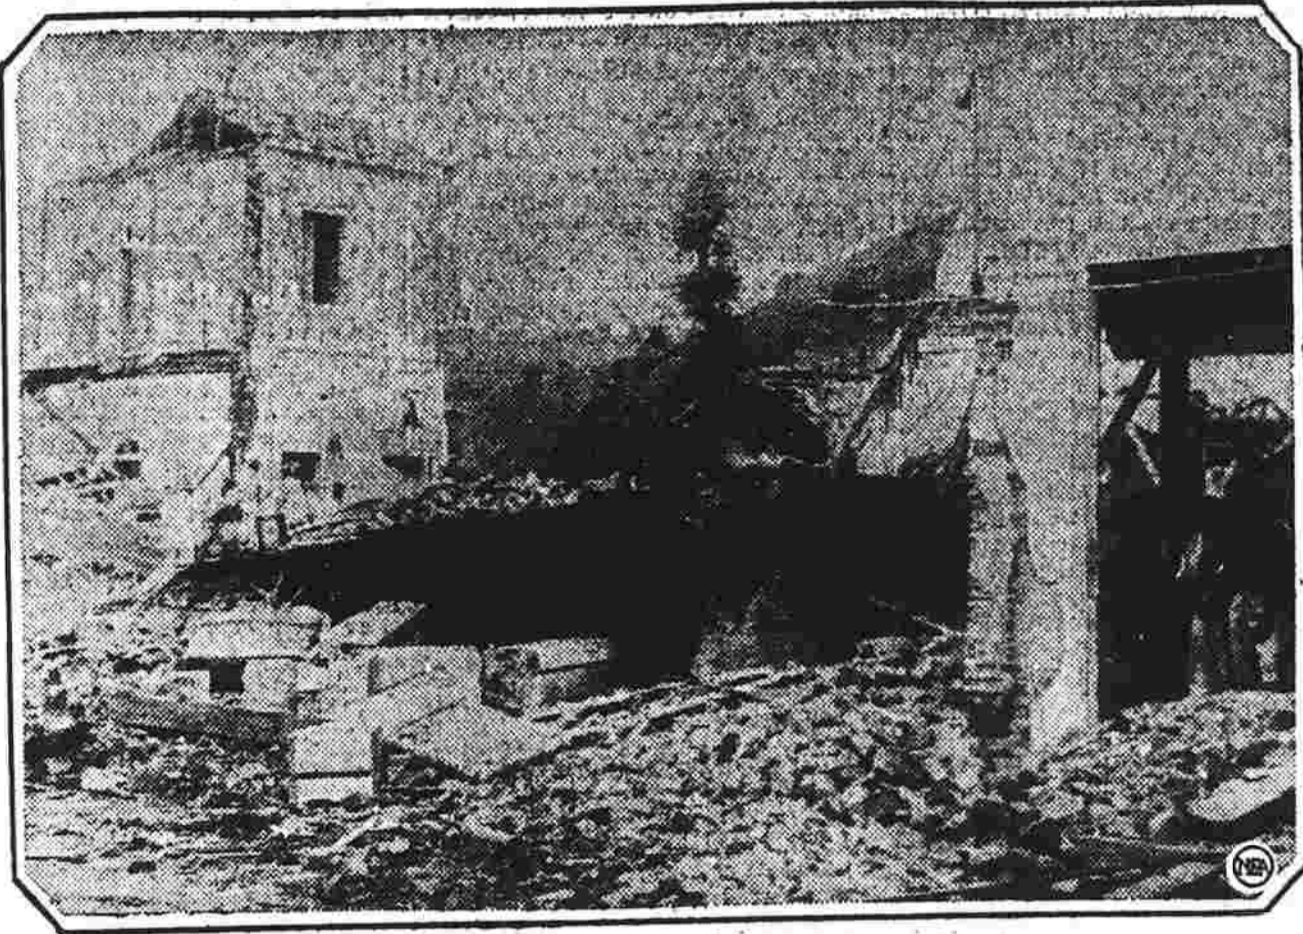

Among the clergymen listed were the Rev. Anthony Schaeffer, pastor of a Catholic church at Clay Cen- ter, Kans.; the Rev. E. Zapf, Lu- th- eran pastor of Chicago; and the Rev. M. F. Cowle of Darby, Pa. Clark W. Parker, 8, a trustee of the Church of the Strangers in New York and alleged head of the pro- motion scheme, was indicted with his son and fifteen others last week by a Federal Grand Jury in con- nection with the sale of stock in the Automotive Royalties Corporation. Assistant Federal Attorney Tompkins declared that the corporation dealt in an automobile invention de- scribed by the promoters as "mar- velous," and that in 1929 gross stock sales were $36,698,000.

Stock in the Automotive Royalties Corporation was placed on sale in 1926. Many of its purchasers, Tompkins said, were obtained through the efforts of the late Dr. Eugene Christian, vitamin food spe- cialist. Tompkins said the Rev. Mr. Schaeffer invested $17,000 in Par- ker's projects on representations of- fering that the investment might enable him to help his church. The Rev. Mr. Cowle was listed as owner of $33,000 worth of stock in the corporation, and the Rev. Mr. Zapf of $14,000 worth.

Over Two Hundred Deaths Marred Xmas Celebrations

By Associated Press. Two hundred or more deaths marred Christmas celebrations yester- day as accidents took a heavy toll from coast to coast. Fires, drownings, hunting tragedies and poisonous alcohol cost lives and automobiles, running in many sections on slippery roads, were the greatest agent of destruction, caus- ing more than two-thirds of the fatalities. In the middle west about sixty of the deaths were recorded. Flames trapped lodgers in a rooming house at Whiting, Ind., and seven men died. Gun fights claimed five lives in the south. One victim was a woman. Poison liquor claimed between five and ten lives in New York. In Cali- fornia three were believed to have drowned after a launch capsized. In Missouri two died when a bridge col- lapsed. Two children were fatally burned in Montgomery, Pa., when their father poured gasoline on the kitchen fire. A man froze to death in Indiana and another in Pennsylvania. Hundreds were injured in acci- dents.

Where 27 Died in Blast That Destroyed Town

The carelessness of a single workman is believed to have been responsible for the wreckage pictured here, part of the almost complete destruction of the town of Porto Nova da Cunha, Brazil. Twenty-seven lives were lost and a number of persons were injured when a huge store of explosives in one of the buildings was set off. Here you see soldiers and civilian rescue workers searching the ruined buildings for bodies of victims.

CHILD BURNED TO DEATH SIX OTHERS ARE RESCUED

Ex-Fireman From New York Makes Heroic Attempt To Save Three Year Old Boy At Norwalk Blaze.

Norwalk, Dec. 26.—(AP)— John Barnum, three year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy F. Barnum, is be- lieved to have perished in flames which destroyed his parents' home in West Cedar street at 10 o'clock to- day. Firemen are searching the ruins for his remains. In the same fire, Donald, a 16 year old son, was painfully burned and is in the Nor- walk hospital. Six other children besides the parents had narrow es- capes from being trapped in the fire and only saved themselves by smashing through a front window. Harold Werner, fireman attached to central fire headquarters was burned about the hands while searching the ruins for the body of the missing baby when over-balan- ced and fell against a redhot bed.

Heroic Attempt Outstanding efforts during the blaze was the heroic attempt of Wil- liam Brown, an ex-New York fire- man and Charles Davidson, both nearby neighbors of the Barnum family to enter the house in which the fire was raging like a furnace in an effort to rescue John. Taking their lives in their hands, they tried to crawl through the house, but were driven back time and time again by the flames.

Eight of the eleven children were asleep in the house with their parents when the fire broke out, appar- ently from an overheated furnace. Discoverer Fire Percy, 17, discovered the fire and aroused the other members of the household. Flames were then sweeping through the frame house. In the excitement of fleeing in their night clothes, the other members of the family gathered on the lawn that they discovered the absence of John. Efforts by neighbors to enter the blazing building failed.

Besides the parents, John, Donald and Percy, there were Nonabelle, 19, Kenneth, 11, Dorothy, 8, Helen, 10, and Martha, 6; asleep in the house at the time of the fire. Henry, 22; Norman, 15, and Clifford, 21, were at work. The father has been unemployed for sometime, but five other mem- bers of the family have been work- ing. After the Christmas celebration the family slept late. Handcapped by the lack of water and the fact that the house was a mass of flames when they arrived, the firemen were unable to save anything.

The body of the boy, John, was found in the ruins of the building this afternoon by searchers. The charred remains were burned be- yond recognition. Take Extra Floor For the debut, Mr. and Mrs. Doherty have taken over the entire first floor of the Mayflower hotel with its several large ball rooms. A small army of waiters, cooks, cater- ers, decorators, and furniture movers have been employed. A twenty-two piece jazz band was listed in an array of musical enter- tainers which included radio cele- brities. A dinner will precede the dancing. Miss Doherty has been a distinc- tive figure among the capital's debutantes since her return in the fall from several years of study of art and languages in Europe. She devotes much time to painting. Miss Doherty is the daughter by an earlier marriage of Mr. Doherty's wife. She was legally adopted by her millionaire step-father.

HURLEY OWNS A DOZEN HATS

Friends of Secretary of War Always Buy Him Headgear as Gifts—Hats of Every Type Worn.

Washington, Dec. 26.—(AP)— Sombros from Texas, Der- bies from London, Fedoras from Italy and silk hats from Fifth Avenue, hang side by side on the hatrack of the secretary of war. The favorite gifts to Sec- retary Hurley by his friends and admirers are hats. Each week he adds at least one new hat to his extensive collection, which includes sev- eral Indian bonnets. The war secretary chooses his headgear each morning from a row of nearly a dozen hats at the door of his home. On sev- eral occasions guests there have thought the row indicated a large number of other guests were present, only to find that each hat had the initials "P. J. H." in the band.

A THOUSAND GUESTS INVITED TO DETROIT

New York and Washington Society To Attend Affair For Doherty's Daughter.

Washington, Dec. 26.—(AP)— Washington of silk hats and ermine wraps, jewels, and diplomatic decorations prepared today for a night- after-Christmas event of rare pro- portions even in the cosmopolitan capital.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Doherty of New York, will present to society their daughter, Miss Helen Lee Eames Doherty, at a ball stupendous in its size and lavishness of ar- rangements. New York's 400, coming by special train, and Washington's highest officialdom, will join in the holiday festivity for Miss Doherty. Vice President Curtis, Mr. and Mrs. Ed- ward Everett Gann and the Secre- tary of War and Mrs. Hurley head a guest list numbering almost a thousand.

Small Institution The closing of the Chelsea Bank and Trust Company, a small insti- tution patronized largely by stage people, was blamed by Joseph A. Broderick, state banking superin- tendent, upon a run which gained in proportions until the doors were closed to safeguard the institution's assets.

Assistant Attorney General Wash- burn is seeking evidence that oper- ators selling the Chelsea bank stock were interested in depressing its value, and Assistant District At- torney Platsky has been assigned to run down rumors that a concert- ed Communist conspiracy has been under way to start bank runs.

HINT OF MURDER IN WOMAN'S DEATH

Body of Aged Woman Cut and Bruised — Her Sister Can Give No Information.

Potsdam, N. Y., Dec. 26.—(AP)— The death of Mrs. Margaret Reynolds, 82, a widow, whose body was found cut and bruised in her home at North Lawrence, where she lived with a partly crippled sister, Miss Rose Ann O'Donnell, 80, was being investigated today. The body was found by a nephew, Anthony O'Donnell, of Lawrence- ville, yesterday when he went to the house to extend Christmas greet- ings. He said he found Miss O'Donnell in a daze in the kitchen of the home.

The aged woman, he said, told him she believed Maggie was dead. Her body was found on a bed with the arms folded over the face in what might have been a defensive attitude. Dead Two Days Coroner S. H. Brown said the woman had been dead 24 hours and possibly for two days. A bruise ex- tended the length of her face, one eye was injured, the mouth cut and there were many bruises on the chest and abdomen. Miss O'Donnell said she was awakened during the night—she was uncertain whether it was Tuesday or Wednesday night—by the pres- sure of her body partly crippled and she frequently seemed dazed. She was in such a state when he called yesterday, he said. Investigators found Miss O'Donnell had a deep cut about eight inches long on her left forearm. She said she did not remember being cut but thought she must have fallen against the bed.

REDS ARE BLAMED FOR RUN ON BANK

Authorities Running Down Clues That Communists In New York Started Rumors

New York, Dec. 26.—(AP)— Communists and short-selling brok- ers of bank stock were equally sus- pected today in official attempts to trace to inspired sources the run which has resulted in the closing of the Chelsea Bank and Trust Com- pany Tuesday. Against neither, however, were those in authority prepared to make supported accusations, although it was intimated that the State Bank- ing Department had information tangible enough to warrant the at- tention of District Attorney Crain.

Small Institution The closing of the Chelsea Bank and Trust Company, a small insti- tution patronized largely by stage people, was blamed by Joseph A. LLOYD GEORGE AGAIN SCORES THE LABORITES

Liberal Leader Says Premier MacDonald Spent Too Much Time On Naval Confer- ence.

London, Dec. 26.—(AP)—David Lloyd George, the Liberal leader, to- day turned his verbal artillery once more against the Labor government, charging that Ramsay MacDonald spent altogether too much time in the negotiations of the London naval conference which might well have been left to some other member of the ministry. His latest onslaught, which set political observers to asking them- selves how much longer the Lab- or-Liberal combination can last, was contained in a statement to the press in connection with a con- troversy between Lloyd George and Vernon Hartshorn, lord privy seal, some of whose statistics in con- nection with government unemploy- ment relief the liberal head has challenged.

Does Work Himself "The prime minister, said Lloyd George, spent the first half of his term of office negotiating the naval agreement which could well have been left, like its more far-reaching predecessor, the Washington naval agreement, to the foreign secretary or the first lord of the admiralty. "Neither the task nor its results have justified his practical abandon- ment for nine months of control of the principal item in the program upon which his party was elected."

This last was interpreted as a reference to the unemployment problem.

UNREST IS GROWING AT GAMING RESORT

Depression Hits Monte Carlo and Residents Fear They Will Have To Pay Taxes.

Monte Carlo, Monaco, Dec. 26.— (AP)— Prince Louis, ruler of his little country of Monaco, today is- sued a decree dissolving both the national and municipal councils elected last January and suspending some of the constitutional guaran- tees. New elections must take place within two months. When the prince returned from Paris recently 7,000 Monagasques rioted at the station in protest against his prolonged absence and against political developments which have caused widespread dissatis- faction among the people.

In last Monday's rioting during which the mob almost overpowered Monaco's 100 man army, more than a dozen persons were injured and 50 were arrested.

Monaco's political troubles, which began with a feud between the prince and Eugene Marquet, former president of the National Council, has been increasing for several months. The popular discontent was aggravated when a real estate firm headed by Marquet's brother went into bankruptcy.

The brother was imprisoned and Marquet himself still faces charges growing out of the failure. Prince Louis deposed him as president of the council until this matter is cleared up.

Last summer both legislative councils were dissolved by the prince and Monagasques generally have charged that the prince is neglecting the affairs of state. The world economic crisis has struck Monte Carlo a heavy blow adding to the general discontent. There are few wealthy gamblers this year and business at the casino is not what it once was. As a result of the happy-go-lucky life of the citi- zens has been radically altered and there is even the possibility that Monagasques may have to pay taxes, a thing which never happened in the good times when the visitors paid all the bills.

OUR LEGISLATURE BEGINS SESSIONS ON JANUARY 7th

HOLIDAY ACCIDENTS HERE FATAL TO ONE

William David Brown Killed When He Falls Into Pass- ing Auto—Six Crashes.

Snow and ice covered highways of Manchester were responsible for six motor vehicle accidents over the Christmas holidays, one of which resulted in the death of William David Brown of 128 Charter Oak street, another in a Police Court case, and the remaining four in varied dam- ages and injuries to automobiles and persons involved.

Killed Near Home Brown was instantly killed Christ- mas Eve when he was struck by a Ford sedan, driven by Clarence Vin- cent, age 18, of 801 Main street, and owned by Mrs. Olive Wilson of 113 Highland street, who with her daughter Miss Gertrude Wilson, was a passenger in the car at the time of the fatality. The accident oc- curred at 9:50 o'clock within a short distance of Brown's home and one- tenth of a mile east of the Rogers Paper Mill.

According to the police report Vincent saw a man walking towards him on the south side of the high- way about 20 feet ahead. Vincent pulled over to the left or middle of the road to avoid striking the figure. Simultaneously a car passed going in a westerly direction. Vincent was unable to bring his machine further to the left, and the man staggered into the path of the car and was knocked down.

Death Instant Vincent, who said he was going at a speed averaging between 25 and 30 miles an hour, traveled sixty feet further before stopping. He then returned, picked the man up, and brought him to the Memorial Hos- pital, picking up Officer Arthur Sey- (Continued On Page 12.)

LYLE A CANDIDATE AGAINST BIG BILL

Chicago Judge Promises He Will Break Up Alliance With the Gangsters.

Chicago, Dec. 26.—(AP)—A new candidate for the Republican major- ity nomination, Judge John H. Lyle, militant foe of gangsters, was in the race today with a platform in which he promised to break up what he termed alliances between "crime and politics." Judge Lyle, who as a jurist on the Municipal Court bench has gained widespread publicity by his treat- ment of gangsters, will oppose Mayor William Hale Thompson, Charles V. Sarrett, chairman of the county board of tax review, and any other candidates who may enter the contest before the February primary is held.

The announcement from Judge Lyle was made without awaiting the decision of various political fac- tions which have been seeking a candidate on whom they could unite in opposition to Mayor Thompson. Neither did his statement indicate whether he would seek the support of these groups. Referring to Chicago gangsters and their bands of followers, Judge Lyle said in his statement it was "ridiculous to assume that all these officers (Cook county) cannot sup- press and almost totally annihilate them."

TREASURY BALANCE Washington, Dec. 26.—(AP)— Treasury receipts for Dec. 22 were $13,195,368.98; expenditures, $17,195,381.88; balance, $327,797,579.21.

Kiddies Theater Party At State Tomorrow

Youngsters in town whose attendance at a good movie show has been cut down because of lack of funds in the family will have an opportunity to see a show tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in the State Theater as guests of Warner Brothers and The Herald. Herald newshoppers will also be guests at this show and those carriers who have not tickets should get them at The Herald office before the performance.

New Governor Will Face Pre- dominantly Republican Legislature Like His Pre- decessor — Expects To Run Its Full Session Until First Part of June — May Have To Handle About 2,000 Bills—Some of the Important Ones.

Hartford, Dec. 26.—(AP)—After the holiday season comes a new General Assembly and a new govern- or of the state. A week after New Year's Day, on January 7, Dean Emeritus Wilbur L. Cross, of Yale University, student editor, profes- sor and Democratic leader, will be inaugurated.

When Mr. Cross takes his oath of office from Chief Justice Malbone in the rostrum of the hall of the House, he will look into the faces of members of a Legislature which is predominantly Republican in both branches, a body which potentially may have the power to be at odds with him many times. Yet it may be a session in which the making and signing of law will proceed with greatest harmony.

The Democrat Mr. Cross will stand on that day in the same relative position as did a predecessor in the office, who like himself was a Democrat in poli- tics, Simeon E. Baldwin, who had become an emeritus justice of the Supreme Court of Errors; became governor for his first term twenty years ago.

The legislators, most of them fac- ing new duties will be filled with enthusiasm for the work ahead, keen to do the state's business and to provide ways and means by which the machinery of a state may be run.

The legislative session may be ex- pected to run its full limit to the Wednesday after the first Monday in June. McCook Case The decision of the Supreme Court of Errors last year in the McCook case precludes any likelihood of the incoming session reaching a quick windup of its business and an early adjournment. It may be ex- pected to run until its constitu- tional limitation the Wednesday after the first Monday in June.

It may be that the spectre of the McCook decision will hover over the session and this session reaching a quick windup of its business and an early adjournment. It may be ex- pected to run until its constitu- tional limitation the Wednesday after the first Monday in June. Expect Many Bills The usual flood of bills, running from 1,500 to 2,000 is expected to set in on this Legislature with a forecast that by reason of the Mc- Cook decision, the number will be greater than in many sessions. It will only be through self-restraint of members that the writing of bills will be held in check.

How many bills will arise out of the McCook decision in 1929 will not be determined until the closure for new business is put on about Janu- ary 29. A special session last year validated some 500 laws which might have been declared invalid in court under the McCook decision had their legality been tested. The point in each case was that the law was signed after the time limit, allowed by the constitution after the session had adjourned. Many of these laws may receive further legisla- tive attention.

Redistricting Plan Looking ahead to the session it may be difficult to single out the or- der in which major projects will rank. There will be many of them, and these are likely to receive state- wide attention, and many hours of consideration.

From the political angle, both major parties will have an interest in the redistricting of the state to provide another Congressman under the 1930 census, if this is to be done. There is a feeling in Republican circles that the office of Congress- man-at-large might be divided which would obviate touching the five existing districts. The plan sub- mitted by the late Senator Arthur E. Bowers of Manchester, based on the 1920 census and rejected ten years ago, may be used as a basis if redistriction is favored. Dry-Wet Battle Organizations which are fighting the 18th Amendment are on record as favoring an effort to repeal the state prohibition laws. Con- necticut's code of laws to control the sale and traffic in liquor in the days before the Volstead Act were built up through the efforts of (Continued On Page 2.)

provisions amounting to $120,000 for permanent improvements are available to the Seaside Sanitarium at Niantic, but owing to the difficulties experienced in trying to acquire additional much needed land, no major improvements have been undertaken.

The recommended appropriations include fireproof infirmary at Cedar-creek to cost $180,000, one hundred beds; fireproof infirmary at Seaside, cost $180,000, 100 beds; two fireproof infirmary buildings at Uncas-on-Thames, cost $130,000, two hundred beds. The increase in the capacity of the Sanitaria necessitates additions to the service facilities for which the following appropriations are recommended:

Cedar-creek nurses' home, $70,000; sewage system and filters, $60,000; major repairs and replacements, $33,000; equipment, $72,950. Uncas-on-Thames, nurses' home, $120,000. Cottages for assistant physicians, $30,000; kitchen and equipment, $50,000. Laurel Heights nurses' home, $158,000; physicians' cottage, $12,000. Undercliff, nurses' home and equipment, $80,000; physicians' cottage and equipment, $15,000; new road, $60,000.

THREE HURT BY BOMB

New Delhi, India, Dec. 26.—(AP)—One person was fatally injured and two others were wounded when a bomb exploded in the Delhi Central station today near the elevator between the station and the restaurant.

The baggage master was taking an unclaimed suitcase to his storeroom on a lower floor. As he was about to enter the elevator an object which looked like a cigarette case fell from the bag and struck the floor with a sharp explosion.

Both the elevator boy's arms were blown off and two baggage handlers were badly injured. Police detained a man found in the waiting room and placed a guard about the station.

MOTORCYCLE CRASH

New London, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Frank Crandall of Groton was confined to the Lawrence and Memorial Associated hospitals this morning for the second time within seven months suffering from injuries received in a motorcycle accident.

The accident occurred in Groton and resulted when the Crandall motorcycle was struck by an automobile recklessly operated by John Weir of Mystic when the former attempted to turn around in the road. Crandall's leg was badly crushed and at the hospital it was feared that amputation would be necessary.

In May Crandall received a broken leg and minor injuries when he was thrown from his motorcycle.

URGES SEN. NORRIS TO DESERT PARTY

Dr. Dewey Wants Nebraskan To Lead Third Party; Time Now Ripe For It.

New York, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Senator George W. Norris had an invitation today from John Dewey, chairman of the League for Independent Political Action, to lead the Republicans and lead a third party.

In a letter to the Senator from Nebraska, Dewey, formerly professor of philosophy at Columbia University told him he was not a true Republican, as charged by Robert H. Lucas, executive director of the Republican National committee and that the time was ripe for his leadership of a new political group.

"In light of your recent experience with leaders of the Republican Party," Dr. Dewey wrote "I urge that you sever forever your connections with that political machine and form with those of us in the league and other groups a new party to which you can give your full allegiance."

Both Parties Alike
The Republican Party stands for "rugged" individualism Dr. Dewey wrote, whereas Senator Norris favored social planning and social control.

Republicans and Democrats are all alike said the writer and millions of progressives are so disgusted with them that a new organization could elect a president by 1940.

Many outstanding people in this country from every walk of life, he wrote, recognize the need and will support such a party.

"State Senators, Federal judges, now working within the old parties have expressed their conviction to us that a new party must come."

The league was organized by Dewey and 100 other Liberals in September 1929.

NORRIS' COMMENT
Washington, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Senator Norris said today he did not "suppose anybody seriously thinks I will lead a third party movement."

The Nebraska Republican Independent, however, reserved until later in the day detailed comment on the letter he received from John Dewey, of the League for Independent Political Action, suggesting that he leave Republican ranks and form a third political party.

Dr. Dewey's proposal followed Norris' differences with Robert H. Lucas, executive director of the Republican National committee and the latter's efforts to read him out of the party.

GRAND JUROR'S TRIAL RESUMED IN WOLCOTT

Waterbury, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Trials of Grand Juror Oscar Todd and Constable John Fulgham on the charges of extorting $15 from Anthony Marino, convicted bootlegger and of Constable J. Cowles on charges of intoxication and breach of the peace, were resumed in the Wolcott Town Hall this morning before a large audience.

Graham Hitchcock of Cheshire who is sitting as a neutral justice ordered Anthony Marino removed to a distant corner of the court room because defense counsel charged he was coaching his sons on the witness stand.

Attorney Thomas F. McGrath, appearing for the accused, said he would summon former Deputy Sheriff Irving E. Andrews who has been accused in the testimony of the elder Marino of receiving "hush money." The trial is expected to last three more days.

Vincent Marino's testimony today corroborated that of his father given some days ago, which said he paid Todd and Fulgham $15 in marked bills for protection he was to have when he started to operate a still.

COLD IN SOUTH

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 26.—(AP)—A renewed attack of cold weather was moving on Dixie today, with frost on the gulf coast predicted for tonight.

Virginia already had felt the first effects of the lowering temperatures with the first sleet of the season making highway traffic in that state somewhat dangerous.

MOVIE MEN'S DEMANDS

Moving theater men want the tax on films removed, claiming it has been an unjust tax and has kept many houses dark. This tax was put through in 1925 by Senator Harry Durant and was upheld by a constitutional court. The producers of the law of 1929 on their product have the law thrown out as invalid by a constitutional court. A bill will come in again upon this subject, it is expected. It would lay down specifications as to the quality of film sold.

WOMEN WILL AGAIN ASK FOR RIGHT OF JURY SERVICE

The investigation into the conduct of the boys school at Meriden and the recent inquiry into the administration of the State Prison are likely to have repercussions in debates before the committee on humane institutions. Much welfare legislation will be proposed. The motor vehicle department will have some changes to propose for the operation of motor vehicles and one will be to raise the age minimum of a youthful operator from 16 to 18.

THE QUESTION OF A LAW TO PERMIT USE OF CONTRACEPTIVE WILL BE RAISED

The state budget which two years ago reached a grand total of over $5,000,000 will call for much more this time and will incorporate many items for outlay to meet new projects.

By just touching the big things ahead for the legislature and lumping the great mass of smaller things a forecast for the 1931 session is that its members will have their hands full at all times.

ABOUT TOWN

Rain started falling here early this afternoon making the highways more treacherous to travel, especially with the freezing weather expected during the night.

The Eagles football team will have a meeting tonight at 7 o'clock at 245 North Main street.

Group 4 of the Memorial Hospital linen auxiliary will meet to sew Monday afternoon at the School Street Recreation Center. The following Monday all four groups will meet for the annual session and election of officers.

The final rehearsal of the male chorus which will sing at the Christmas party of Manchester Lodge No. 1477, Royal Order of Moose, to be held Sunday afternoon, will be held at the Home Club on Brainard Place tonight. All preparations for the party are completed and the affair is expected to be the greatest ever held by the lodge. Members and their families have been invited to attend.

Rev. Harris B. Anthony of the Church of the Nazarene and Mrs. Anthony spent Christmas with friends in Beacon Falls, N. Y.

Frequent damp weather has made the taking down of about all of the tobacco in this section. The hail damaged the tobacco so badly in some places that far from the full crops were harvested. At present the different warehouses are sorting the product.

The late H. H. Spooner and E. L. G. Hohenthal, whose amiable relations at all times with the legislative representatives of the liquor interests enabled such laws to be discussed in moderation and enacted with a minimum of friction. The men and women groups of the Association opposed to the 18th Amendment and the state officers are expected to support the repeal fight against which already the prohibition interests are massing their strength.

In capital expenditures, with the new insane hospital at Newtown and the new state office building approaching completion, the chief projects will be the Merritt boulevard in southwestern Connecticut, and a new bridge over the Connecticut river below Hartford.

The highway department will be strong for the boulevard, and the highway commissioner, John A. MacDonald has been preparing for this item for a long time. Whatever delay has been experienced in providing the full layout for the boulevard has been due to difficulties in making a connecting link at Greenwich to take up traffic delivered by one of the new parkways which cross West Chester county.

The highway department has planned a new highway around Hartford. The new bridge over the Connecticut River by plans estimates ready to be submitted would cost about $5,000,000. The state will probably do something about a new place for War Veterans to replace Fitz's Home for Soldiers here at Noroton or somewhere else. Hospitalization of patients suffering from tuberculosis will be a matter pressed upon the legislature for Governor Cross lost no opportunity in his campaigning to point out that the state should provide a bed for every patient needing state treatment.

Old age pensions will be discussed again. Last session left the subject with the employers and labor in expectation that a form of compromise bill could be drawn for this session. The federation of labor already has a bill ready and the employers of the state have given the subject their consideration.

Movie Men's Demands
Moving theater men want the tax on films removed, claiming it has been an unjust tax and has kept many houses dark. This tax was put through in 1925 by Senator Harry Durant and was upheld by a constitutional court. The producers of the law of 1929 on their product have the law thrown out as invalid by a constitutional court. A bill will come in again upon this subject, it is expected. It would lay down specifications as to the quality of film sold.

Women Will Again Ask For Right of Jury Service
The investigation into the conduct of the boys school at Meriden and the recent inquiry into the administration of the State Prison are likely to have repercussions in debates before the committee on humane institutions. Much welfare legislation will be proposed. The motor vehicle department will have some changes to propose for the operation of motor vehicles and one will be to raise the age minimum of a youthful operator from 16 to 18.

OBITUARY

DEATHS

Mrs. Mary M. Bowen
Mrs. Mary Melissa (Parker) Bowen, widow of Francis H. Bowen, died at her home on 17 Lilley street late Wednesday afternoon following a shock which she suffered on Thanksgiving Day. Mrs. Bowen was one of the oldest inhabitants of Manchester and would have been 84 years old on March 2, 1931.

Mrs. Bowen was born in South Willington in 1847 and came to Manchester when a young girl. She had been a member of the South Methodist Episcopal church for a period of 65 years, joining in 1865 when Rev. E. M. Bradford was the pastor. Mrs. Bowen was the second oldest member of the church, the oldest being Mrs. Sanford Benton. George M. Barber who died recently had been a member since 1869 and was next in seniority.

Mrs. Bowen had not been in good health this fall but was able to be about until the shock on Thanksgiving Day. She leaves one sister, Mrs. Anna F. Whitcomb of South Willington, many nieces and nephews. Mrs. Bowen's niece, Mrs. Miss Rose Renen Hall of South Willington, Mrs. R. T. Jones of Hartford, Mrs. Ralph Paige of Springfield, Mrs. George Stalter of Holyoke, Mrs. R. Charles of South Willington, Mrs. Nora Johnson of South Willington and Miss Eva Parker of Pawtucket. Her nephews are Dr. Alfred Taylor of New York, W. U. Parker of Hartford, Leon Parker of Pawtucket, Howard Parker of Pawtucket, and Frank Parker of Leeds, Mass. Mr. Bowen also had one niece, Mrs. Leron Smith of Waterville and three nephews, Frank and Walter Bowen of California and Arthur Bowen of Washington.

The funeral is to be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the home and at 2:30 at the South Methodist church with Rev. Robert A. Colpitts, pastor of that church, officiating. Burial will be in the East cemetery.

Mrs. Frances Alida Latham
Mrs. Frances Alida (Outhout) Latham, 85, of 140 Couper street, died at the Manchester Memorial hospital at 3:45 this morning following a week's illness. She was admitted to the hospital last Sunday.

Mrs. Latham was born in Summit, N. Y., March 29, 1842 and had lived here 16 years.

Although troubled some with a chronic heart illness, Mrs. Latham had been unusually active for a woman of her advanced age and she made many friends at the Acres Boarding house where she made her home with her sister, Miss Emma Outhout. She was a member of the First Congregational church in New London and attended the Center Congregational church here.

Mrs. Latham leaves one daughter, Mrs. Charles Wageck, three grandchildren and three great-grandchildren and a brother, John Outhout of Bethel, N. Y.

The funeral will be held from Watkins Brothers at 10:30 Monday morning with Rev. Watson Woodruff officiating and at the Beckwith Memorial in New London at 2:30 in the afternoon. Burial will be in the Cedar Grove cemetery in New London.

BISHOP ANSWERS CATHOLIC CHARGE

Says Protestants Do Not Plan To Absorb Mexico; Loyal To Government.

New York, Dec. 26.—(AP)—An answer to the Christmas message of Archbishop Pascual Diaz of Mexico, urging Catholics to check the advance of Protestantism in that country, was issued today by Bishop Frank W. Creighton of the Episcopal church in Mexico through the New York headquarters of the Protestant Episcopal church.

Bishop Creighton construed the archbishop's message as a charge that Americans had sought to impose Protestantism in Mexico "with a view to gradually absorbing that country."

He denied that "any of the so-called Protestant missions in Mexico concerned themselves with the internal affairs of the country," and said:

"It is not enough merely to state that the archbishop's charge is unfounded, nor to reiterate that Mexico Protestants have always been loyal to the government. Facts speak for themselves. When the provisions of the constitution of Mexico became effective the Protestants were obedient and cooperative, while the (Catholic) church in Mexico was in a state of active resistance. 'No responsible persons in the United States gives a serious thought to so childish an idea as absorbing Mexico. There is nothing in the United States but an universal desire to see Mexico a strong and prosperous neighbor, developing on her own lines under the inspiration of her own social and political philosophy.'"

DROWNED IN RIVER

New York, Dec. 26.—(AP)—John Morrison, 25, an orderly at Randall's island, seat of a city hospital for mental defectives, drowned today after he fell off a pier at 125th street into the East river. He was on his way to work. A tugboat captain recovered the body and a card asking that Mrs. A. Barry of Atlantic, Me., be notified in case of accident.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Per capita steel production the world over declined this year, but the United States retained its lead as the largest per capita producer, as well as the "iron trade Review." For each inhabitant of the United States 731 pounds of steel were consumed this year, compared with 999 pounds in 1929.

Second to the United States were Belgium and Luxembourg, combined which consumed 581 pounds per capita, against 937 pounds in 1929. Great Britain retains third position, with 356 pounds this year, against 581 last year.

November newspaper exports from Canada amounted to $9,748,870 against $11,445,421 in October and $13,294,287 in November last year. Exports of pulp and paper totaled $13,373,608, compared with $15,036,521 last month, and $17,952,008 in November of 1929.

William C. McDuffie, president of Pacific Western Oil Company, has been elected president of the Richmond Oil Company, succeeding C. M. Fuller, resigned.

The Federal Rubber Co., a subsidiary of the Fisk Rubber Co., expects to employ an additional 700 to 800 men shortly after the first of the year.

Arrangements have been made for the sale of a New York Stock Exchange membership at $200,000, unchanged from the previous sale.

LATEST STOCKS
New York, Dec. 26.—(AP)—The post-holiday stock market was anticlimactic and dreary affair today. Prices crept lower under unseasonably light offerings. The losses in pivotal shares were mostly small, but a few issues broke into new low ground. The market was indeed, an extreme contrast to the vigorous advance which followed the Christmas holiday a year ago.

Several of the merchandising issues were sold presumably on the theory that earnings from holiday trade would be disappointing because of reduced profit margins. Macy declined more than 5 points, and Sears Roebuck 2, to new low levels. Woolworth, Best & Co., and Associated Dry Goods eased moderately. Gillette dropped about 2 to a new minimum under 19, and Southern Pacific, Coca Cola, and Western Union declined as much. U. S. Steel, American Telephone, American Can, Liggett and Myers, New York Central, North American and Paramount sagged a point or more. The list firmed for a time in the morning, Eastman making a temporary gain of 5 points.

A declining stock market in the last week of the year has been rare in Stock Market history. Selling to establish losses for income tax purposes has usually been completed by that time, and traders have been inclined to accumulate stocks in expectation of a January brokerage demand. Furthermore, holding and investment companies have favored a firm market at the close of the year, to give a large market value to their holdings as reported in their Dec. 31 statements.

Today's Stock Market appeared to suffer from neglect as much as anything. There was little in the business news to encourage speculation for the rise, and many traders who left town for the next Monday, stayed away until noon. The opinion was expressed in brokerage circles that there was still a little belated tax selling in progress, and the feeble tone of the list discouraged bear selling.

Asaconda was an active and firm feature of the early trading. Declaration of the regular dividend was encouraging, as was that statement which accompanied the announcement, showing that the company, as a unit, was one of the lowest cost producers in the industry. Cost per pound, after all charges was placed at 8.63 cents.

Business reports reflected little but the year-end quiet normally apparent at this time. It was pointed out, however, that the year-end let-down started from an abnormally low level, producing such widespread slackness that such indications as to the New Year's activity, are often apparent at this time, were lacking.

Current rates were in the main stationary, but call money, officially at 2 per cent, was firm, reflecting the year-end and banking demand for funds.

SET FOR OCEAN HOP

Boloma, Portuguese Guinea, Dec. 26.—(AP)—A fleet of 14 Italian seaplanes poised in the calm Atlantic waters here today, ready for their great adventure, a flight across the Atlantic.

When weather conditions are right twelve of the planes will strike out across the ocean from Natal, Brazil, on the first trans-Atlantic flight of such a large air squadron. The distance of about 1,800 miles is to be destroyed by a number of Italian destroyers and other naval vessels.

KIDDIES' CHRISTMAS MOVIES TOMORROW

Warner Brothers and Herald To Give Free Show At State For the Local Kids.

All children who have not as yet obtained tickets for the free motion picture performance at the State Theater tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, sponsored by Warner Brothers and The Herald, may get passes at the business office of The Herald before the show starts.

TRI-COUNTY UNION TO SING "THE HOLY CHILD"

Fifty Voices To Be Heard In Cantata At Colchester Sunday Evening At 7:30.

"The Holy Child" will be sung at Colchester, Sunday evening at 7:30, by a united chorus of more than 50 voices. Singers will gather from Columbia, Gilead, Hebron, Marlborough, Litchfield and Colchester for the presentation of this elaborate Christmas cantata which will be conducted by George Curtis Munson, who produced "The Holy Child" in a distinctive manner in Hartford this winter.

The chorus has been faithful in its preparation and its members have gathered frequently from their widely separated communities for group rehearsals. They have perfected their work with increasing enthusiasm. Mr. Munson has brought to the assistance of the Tri-County Union several voices from the Hartford County Choral and Orchestral Society. Mrs. W. O. Seymour of Colchester is accompanist.

STRIBLING RATED BEST OF HEAVIES

Sharkey Second, Schmeling Third and Carnera Fourth On N. Y. Sun's Annual Poll.

New York, Dec. 26.—(AP)—The consensus of seventy of the leading boxing critics of the country, responding to the yearly poll of the New York Sun, is that young Stribling is the leading heavyweight boxer of the world for 1930.

Stribling was given 647 percentage points of a possible 700, with Jack Sharkey, the Boston sailor-man, a close second with 611. Following Sharkey, in the following order, were Max Schmeling, 548 points, Primo Carnera, 351, Tuffy Griffith, 272, George Godfrey, 206, Vittorio Campolo, 167, Tommy Loughran, 160, Max Baer, 145 and Johnny Risko, 94.

141 NEW MEMBERS IN CATERPILLAR CLUB

New York, Dec. 26.—(AP)—The most exclusive club in the air—the Caterpillars—which has neither officers nor dues, has gained 141 new members in the thirteen months since November, 1929.

Records compiled by the New York Sun from Army data list 326 fliers who took to their silken parachutes when danger threatened and floated safely to earth from unmanageable or fuelless airplanes. The Army and Navy lead the list, followed closely by the air mail pilots, who take the mail through—or try to—when other pilots would stay safely on the ground.

SEVEN SAILORS ADRIFT

Halifax, N. S., Dec. 26.—(AP)—The seas between Chubcoct Head and Sable Island were scanned today for signs of the derelict schooner Doren, cast adrift with seven men aboard last Tuesday when a towline parted.

The government steamer Lady Laurier was searching for the schooner and the steamer Stanley made ready to leave today to assist. The Doren, a steel schooner stripped of engines and most of her rigging, was being towed to Halifax from St. Pierre by the steamer Constance when the towline broke some sixteen miles from Halifax harbor. The last of the crew of the Constance saw the derelict Tuesday night indicated Captain Edward Kirk and his six seamen had managed to raise headsails aboard the Doren.

ABOUT TOWN

A son was born Christmas morning to Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Buckminster of 15 Summit street.

A daughter, Elinor Carolyn, was born Tuesday to Mr. and Mrs. Clifford M. Beebe of 82 Summer street, the home of Mrs. Beebe's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Stavinsky of 256 West Center street.

The finale for football in Manchester for this year is the notice to all players on the Majors team to turn in their uniforms and receive their checks for the season. A week from tomorrow the Majors Athletic and Social Club will hold a New Year's party in their club rooms in the Brown building.

All those who have been asked to participate in the distribution of the yearly dues boxes of the Swedish Lutheran church are requested to attend a meeting at the church, directly following the service Sunday morning. The distribution will begin Sunday afternoon.

This Christmas season has produced the largest crop of forgetful people of any in recent years. Large numbers of Christmas envelopes arrived at the South Manchester post-office without the necessary stamps. This omission on the part of an increasing number of people each year, causes extra work in the process of notifying the addressee of the arrival of the letter, card or package, besides slowing up the delivery.

Executive Secretary William H. Petherbridge of the Y. M. C. A., accompanied by a group of boys from the north end went to Hartford this morning and will be the guest for the day of the Hartford Y. M. C. A. Plans are also underway to have a group of boys from the north end accompany Mr. Petherbridge on a trip that will be made by automobiles to Woodstock on Saturday and Sunday, returning home early Sunday evening.

William Streeter of Lydall street is ill with pneumonia at his home.

Joseph Chizius of North Main street this morning received in his mail a letter from his former home in Lithuania telling him that his only sister, Statia, died on November 29, after an illness of two weeks, with pneumonia. She was twenty-five years of age and had been twenty years since Mr. Chizius had seen her.

LEGION'S CHRISTMAS PARTY ON MONDAY

Grand Door Prize To Be Awarded At Meeting At Armory.

A Christmas party arranged by the house committee of Dilworth-Cornell Post, American Legion will take place at the regular monthly meeting of the Post at the State Armory rooms of the service order next Monday night, December 29. Following the business meeting at 8:15 p. m. the comrades will gather around the Christmas tree to receive the usual gifts and the "grand prize" of $50. All the "buddies" are asked to be present to help spread the Christmas cheer and each one is requested to bring an inexpensive present.

The County meeting of the Legion will be held at the Casino, Simsbury, December 28, 1930 at 3 p. m. All members are invited to attend this meeting.

ARE IMPORTING ICE FROM TROPICS NOW

Washington, Dec. 26.—(AP)—And now they're importing ice from the tropics.

It is a product of carbon dioxide gas found in wells of the Tampico, Mexico, oil fields, flowing to the surface at a pressure of 1,000 pounds to the square inch. A New York concern has erected a factory which solidifies the gas into "sub-zero" ice. It has a capacity of 40,000 pounds a day. Vessels with insulated chambers of cork board a foot thick will bring the ice to the United States.

The bulletin of the Navy Department's Bureau of Engineering called attention to this new accomplishment of science and industry today.

MYSTERIOUS LIGHTS

Los Andes, Chile, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Inhabitants of the Andean foothills in this vicinity have been mystified for the past several nights by great spears of colored lights flashing across the sky and some fear has been expressed that there may have been a volcano eruption in the unexplored regions of the cordillera.

Meteorologists, however, said they believe the display was a phenomenon resulting from weather conditions.

TWO VIOLENT DEATHS

New Haven, Dec. 26.—(AP)—One violent death was recorded in the state on Christmas Day, while another occurred on Christmas eve. Several minor automobile accidents were reported but none were serious.

78 Years Old, He Gets Skates For Christmas

Boys Decide Gramp Should Have Pair of His Own When They Tire of His Constantly Borrowing Theirs.

Just as soon as this Christmas snow departs and Case's pond hardens up again there's going to be a new pair of shoe skates fitting around on it; and inside the shoe skates will be a pair of extremely nimble feet hitched onto a pair of wiry legs that can Dutch roll and grapevine with the best of them. The new shoe skates and the feet and the legs belong to Gramp, and for the first time Gramp and the two boys of the family of present skating age can go skating all at the same time. Gramp has been doing his skating when he could borrow the boys' shoe skates. The boys figured it out as a peach of an idea to give Gramp some shoe skates for Christmas.

Gramp is Myron Burr, whose home is Applecroft, West Center street. He is 78. The boys are sons of Louis St. Clair Burr. Mr. Burr is his father, who raises and sells extraordinary apples and can scot around a skating pond like a hand mirror flicker on a school room wall.

KNOW ANYONE IN TOWN TALLER THAN THIS BOY?

Gunnar Rosendahl of Hackmatack Street Stands 6 Feet 8 Inches Tall, Weighs 200 Pounds. There was a big crowd outside of the State theater this afternoon waiting for admittance to the matinee. Among them was a number of boys. Noticed standing in line was one particularly tall youth. He was Gunnar Rosendahl, of 17 Hackmatack street. He gave his age as 19 years, was born in Woodstock and has been a resident of Manchester for the past ten years. He is 6 feet 8 inches tall and weighs 200 pounds. Well proportioned he hardly thinks he is stopped growing. They may be young and old men taller than he in Manchester, but they are few and far between.

URGES SUPERVISION OF ALL SECURITIES

New York, Dec. 26.—(AP)—State supervision of investment trust and publicity concerning their holdings were urged today in a report by Assistant Attorney General Washburn to Attorney General Ward.

A survey by the State Bureau of Securities, which Washburn heads, showed that there are now 270 investment trusts with resources of more than $4,500,000,000; in 1927 there were only 102 with total resources under $600,000,000.

To safeguard stockholders and exert a "wholesome influence" on the trusts' management, he urged frequent publication of the portfolios held by the investment groups.

FALLS TO DEATH

New York, Dec. 26.—(AP)—A fall from a window of his ninth floor apartment on Riverside Drive killed Kenneth Day, reputedly wealthy commission merchant, today. Mrs. Day told police her husband had been ill. Day was president of Sgobel & Day, fruit commission merchants. He was 44 and the father of three children.

LEAVES TWO CANARIES

New York, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Budge and Snookie, canaries, were at the A.S.P.C.A. today waiting for somebody to adopt them. The comprised practically the entire estate of Mrs. Nellie A. Stout, 81, who died in an attempt to walk 20 blocks to see them. She was fatally injured by a bicycle. Mrs. Stout lived alone, apparently on the bounty of relatives or friends, and boarded her pets with a bird expert who was treating them for asthma.

classical music from Station W. T. I. C. at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. Mr. Neubauer has gained wide recognition as a pianist and is one of the outstanding musicians in Manchester. His program, which will be of 15 minute duration, will consist of the following numbers: "Nocturne," by Ravina; "Salut Apesht," by Kawalski; "Nola" by Felix Arnda; and an improvisation on Victor Herbert's gypsy love song. Mr. Neubauer is a veteran broadcast artist having appeared on programs over stations W. G. Y. and W. T. I. C. in the past.

DOGS KILL PHEASANTS

Elizabeth N. J., Dec. 26.—(AP)—Nine English ring-necked pheasants and twelve Japanese silkies are worth $105 to Senator Hamilton F. Keane of New Jersey, and he has started court proceedings to collect from Union township. He charges dogs broke down the wire fences of his Green Lane farm there and destroyed the birds. Last year the township paid a similar bill of $136.

BOY PUNCTURES LUNG IN COASTING CRASH

John Furphy Taken To Hospital In Hartford After Sled Crashes Into Automobile.

A serious coasting accident occurred on Saturday evening when a sled carrying two youths shot across Vernon Avenue just as an automobile driven by Claude Noad came to the intersection. The boys, John Furphy, 14 of 17 Prospect street and Clarence Milnes, 9 of 115 Prospect street were both injured. Young Furphy who was removed to the Rockville City hospital and later to the Hartford hospital is in a critical condition, with a punctured lung, fractured collar bone and injured wind pipe. His condition is serious. It is understood that John Furphy was attempting to save his companion, Milnes, who is also his nephew.

Fight in Diner

Charles Neth and John Doherty of this city and Rudolph Richard of Hartford were arrested on Wednesday night by Officer Dowgievick when they started a fight in front of the Rockville Diner. They were before Judge Fisk in court yesterday morning, and Neth and Doherty were fined $6.00. Richard was discharged. The men were severely reprimanded by Judge Fisk, who told them that if it were not Christmas morning, he would have found it necessary to deal much less leniently with them.

Silver Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. John Bonan of Talcott avenue celebrated the 25th anniversary of their married life today with a nuptial high mass at St. Bernard's church at 8 a. m., and received their many friends during the day. Mr. Bonan is the well known "John" of Lunch Wagon fame, and while in this city has made himself numerous friends who wish him well. Mrs. Bonan, too, is well known, having been in business with her husband at the Restaurant and also at the Club. Mr. Bonan has a host of friends as well. Mr. and Mrs. Bonan will entertain their friends this evening at an informal anniversary party.

Mrs. Ludwig Dies

Mrs. Bridget Ludwig, 90, widow of Edward Ludwig, Mountain street passed away on Wednesday morning at her home, after having been in failing health for some time. Mrs. Ludwig is survived by one sister, Mrs. A. McDonald of Jersey City, New Jersey, and several nieces and nephews. The funeral will be held on Saturday morning at 8:30 from Burkes Funeral home and at 9 a. m. from St. Bernard's Church.

The newly formed Welfare Organization has been functioning during the Christmas holidays quite successfully and as a result about 350 local families have received aid. The unemployment situation in the smaller towns has been felt keenly, and several families who heretofore have been independent have found it necessary to be tied over a difficult place. The Rockville Visiting Nurse Association has been checking up upon the work done, and report that the organization has done some very fine work.

Mrs. Waite Re-Engaged

Mrs. Dorothea Abbey Waite, wife of Mayor A. E. Waite of this city, has been re-engaged as contralto soloist at the Union Congregational church, and will take up her duties after the first of the New Year. The music committee, after trying several temporary singers, finally prevailed upon Mrs. Waite to resume her engagement, and was successful in obtaining her services. This will be good news to Mrs. Waite's many admirers.

Mrs. Forrest's Funeral

The funeral of Mrs. Rose Forrest of 135 Union street was held this morning at 9 a. m. from St. Bernard's church. Rev. Francis T. Finney officiated at the requiem high mass, and while the body was being carried into the church, Mrs. Solemn Thought. At the close of the service for the dead, Mrs. Flunder sang "When Evening Comes." The church was well filled with people who called to pay final tribute to one who will be sadly missed from a wide circle of neighbors and friends. Mrs. Forrest is survived by one sister, Miss Bridget Egan, who has the sympathy of the community in her bereavement.

Notes

Mrs. Florence Thompson of East street who has been quite ill for the past few weeks, is somewhat improved, which will be pleasing news to her many friends.

TOO MANY KISSES

Los Angeles.—Probably it was affection on her husband's part, but his constant kissing got boreome to Dorothy Canfield and she went to court, entered a complaint—and got a divorce. She said that her husband "used to kiss me all the time. Every evening I'd have to sit on his lap and kiss him, hour after hour. He wouldn't let friends come to see me because he couldn't spare the time from kissing."

Find Mummified Tree 15 Million Years Old

Ottawa, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Mummies could be counted clearly when the deposit was uncovered, engineers reported. Even tiny insects which fed on the leaves and shoots of the growing trees were preserved and the leaves themselves were uncovered in fair condition. The wood could be whittled with an ordinary jack-knife.
The largest tree section unearthed in the preliminary excavation last summer was 40 feet long with a diameter of 14 inches.
The find was described as the only known deposit of Jurassic period vegetation preserved in its original state. Geologists regard it as of much greater importance than the petrified trees of southwestern United States, and declare it may alter if not revolutionize some modern theories of prehistoric vegetation.
Plans are under way for further field study at Fort McMurray next summer and geologists from several Canadian and United States universities are to be invited to participate.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

DEFECTS CAUSE BACKWARD CHILDREN

Fortunately, child labor is no longer popular, although in the not very distant past it was not uncommon for children six and eight years of age to labor in ill-lighted and badly ventilated factories from ten to twelve hours a day. These long hours resulted in crippled bodies and dwarfed intellects. Even though a great deal of improvement has taken place in most civilized communities, there is much progress that could be made. There are still quite a few states and countries where the fourteen year age limit is not regulated by law, and in others, children of very youthful years may be permitted to work if needed by dependent parents.

The human body does not usually develop its full strength until the age of twenty-five. If during the growing period the muscles are held in a cramped position, or used for eight or ten hours a day, it is found to produce a lopsided condition. Often diseases arise in immature working children which can be directly traced to the occupation. For the body to develop properly it is necessary to have a great variation of exercise during the day. Even school work, with the child sitting for several hours a day in the preserved tree trunk of a certain physical handicap, such as crooked spines or one shoulder higher than the other. The chest is often cramped, making the child susceptible to tuberculosis. This tendency must be overcome by definite periods of regular exercise, which fortunately is now compulsory in most schools. When for some reason it is necessary that a child work, care and watchfulness should be used to see that the child is not strained, and there should be sufficient change in occupation and recreation to balance the task. Once the body has become deformed, it is practically impossible to overcome the defect.

Parents have a great responsibility in rearing children, for health is the best endowment they may give to a child. The aim should be a good mind in a sound body. If you observe any effects in your child, such as stooped or slouching positions, flat chest or limping, you should by all means see that the condition is corrected before it is too late. Usually an osteopathic or chiropractic doctor or a physical culture director will be able to tell you just what exercises the child should take. It should not be forgotten also that the diet plays an important role in the formation of a child, and you should see to it that your child is properly and adequately nourished. The eyes should also receive attention. There are thousands of children handicapped by poor eyesight unknown to parents and even to the children themselves. Many children who are considered backward in school merely are suffering from some defect of the eyes or ears. We are just beginning to realize how important the teeth are to the health. Many children are unable to properly digest food because of bad teeth. Others are poisoned by abscessed teeth, and may be nervous because of the teeth growing in improperly. Every child should be taken to the dentist once or twice a year for an examination of the teeth.

Defects in children should be corrected as soon as they are noticed, and any neglect to do this may irretrievably injure the child's health and chances for future happiness. No parent would do this intentionally, but unfortunately the best intention in the world are valueless if vigilance is not constantly exercised.

Questions and Answers (Torticollis)
Question: B. D. writes: "I would like to know if there is any remedy for torticollis."
Answer: Torticollis is a condition of the neck muscles which causes the head to tilt to one side. It is usually caused by a spasm of the muscles, and may be due to a variety of causes, including congenital defects, injury, or infection. Treatment usually involves physical therapy, such as massage and stretching, and in some cases, surgery may be required.

Buttermilk. Question: A. G. asks: "Would buttermilk be good in the case of inflammation of the gall bladder?"
Answer: All exclusive diet of buttermilk is sometimes effective in gall bladder disorders. About three quarts a day should be taken.

(The Cardon). Question: Mrs. B. asks: "What kind of a vegetable is a cardon? Are there any special methods of growing or preparing it?"
Answer: The cardon is a plant closely related to the French artichoke, and is a plant closely related to the cardon. It is considered by many authorities to be the same plant slightly changed through the process of selection and cultivation. The plant is first blanched either in the field or under glass-covered pots. The midrib of the leaf is the part used. They may be cooked and served like any ordinary vegetable or used in salads. It has an agreeable flavor. The most valuable of these plants are those with the thickest midribs.

(Prunes). Question: H. D. asks: "Do prunes contain acid?"
Answer: Dried prunes do contain a small amount of acid, but not as much as the fresh prune plum.

KILLED BY NATIVES

Rangoon, Burma, Dec. 26.—(AP)—British soldiers with machine guns have been sent into the Tharawaddy district, 65 miles north of here, where more than a score have been killed in tax resistance rioting during the past two days. Considerable feeling has been aroused throughout Burma by reports of the killing of H. V. M. Fields Clark, a forest ranger in the government service. He had returned from an inspection tour to his lonely bungalow in the village of Weya, the reports said when native rebels closed in and killed him. Four police have been killed and several wounded in encounters with the rebels who thus far have eluded capture by taking advantage of the wild character of the country.

STALIN APPOINTS SELF TO STILL ANOTHER POST

Moscow, Dec. 26.—(AP).—Joseph Stalin, whose last office in the Soviet government was membership in the old commissariat of nationalities seven years ago, holds another office—ordinary membership in the council of labor and defense. Chairmanship of this important body is vested in Viacheslav Molotov, who is president of the political bureau and also of the council of commissars. Andrei Andrieff, who is president of the central control committee and of the peasants and workers' inspection commissariat, is deputy chairman. Stalin continues as head of the Communist Party and the newspaper makes no comment upon his motives in accepting this new government post. The council of labor and defense is one of the three interlocking groups which govern Russia. The others are the state planning committee and the central executive committee of the Communist Party. The Council of Peoples Commissioners, in announcing the new personnel of the labor and defense council, announced also the creation of a new body to be known as the "commission of performance," composed of members of other commissions and delegates to the duty of "verifying actual execution of government directions for Socialistic construction, and with perfecting the work of government machinery." Molotov is chairman of this council and Andrei is deputy chairman.

WOULD PAY VETERANS

Washington, Dec. 26.—(AP).—The Democratic leader, Representative Garner of Texas, today was championing legislation for payment to veterans of the present value of their compensation certificates. He advocated a plan giving the veteran option to turn in his certificates now and receive the original settlement value plus four per cent interest, or to hold it to maturity. It would cost about a billion dollars, Garner contended, which he said the treasury could obtain by borrowing at between 1 and 3/4 per cent. Other plans for paying of the veterans certificates have been proposed by Secretary Mellon, partly on the contention that the relief offered would be of a temporary nature.

IN NEW YORK

New York, Dec. 26.—Perhaps this is something of an obituary; perhaps it's just an episode in the endless conflict of dramas which is New York. At any rate—by this time a considerable portion of the nation may or may not have heard that Wesley Hill, a negro actor, is dead; that he was struck by a taxicab up in Harlem and fatally injured. Two years ago such an accident would have drawn but a word or two of the thousands that have appeared in the Manhattan press. Then, it would have been the story of a colored man who signed up with a kikkapoo Indian show, who trouped here and who trouped there, who went to vaudeville and to minstrels and who wound up in "Porgy," drama of the waterfront negroes of Charleston. But it so happened that Wesley Hill became the Angel Gabriel in "Green Pastures," which is fast breaking all records for success. Here Gabriel was pictured as a sort of valed-secretary to the Lord Jehovah, wearing golden wings and shouting, "Gangway for de Lohd." For this was a concept of heaven and the Bible such as had come from a vision to a colored camp meeting. It was a heaven of fish fries and a Bible in which a distressed Lord walked the earth, baffled at the problems created by creation. And in this play, which has had an amazingly spirituating effect upon its audience, Gabriel was one of the blackest and best of the characters. He would reply to the Lord's commands with an "Okay, Lord." And so he became one of the theatergoer's most popular and admired players.

So much for the preface! Now in the play there hangs upon the walls of the Lord Jehovah's office, the famous horn of Gabriel. Gabriel would appear in the morning and, "ast it off, preparatory to the one which would announce the Day of Judgment. A dozen times he thought to settle all arguments and troubles by taking it down and blowing a blast. But the Lord would admonish him that the time had not come, and Gabriel would wait for that moment of moments when he could trumpet the news that the doors of the Promised Land had at last opened.

Now when the play was being readied for production, the property man set about trying to find a horn that would look like a horn of Gabriel. He might look, if capable of visualization. It would have to be larger than most in size, particularly intricate in design and generally impressive. The various sources were searched, but no such instrument could be found. At last one was discovered—an asset from the possession of an old-time parade band—just the sort of horn that makes a grand impression in a circus or minstrel assemblage!

The back-stage folk will tell you that "Gabe" had figured on playing a tune for the kids in the show this Christmas season. There are at least a dozen pickaninnies who play cherubim. And when the funeral eulogies were being said, it was discovered that Gabriel all but held up the show a couple of times because he fell to playing with the youngsters and forgot his cue. They'll tell you, too, of one of his first jobs, which was with an "Ivory" troupe. It was a poverty-stricken company and couldn't afford bloodhounds. Hill was hired to double as the baying of the hounds, having a small part in the show as well. But he felt so sorry for "Miss Eva" that he had to fire him.

Well, the Gabriel of the play never got to play his horn. He had a sort of superstition about it. Funny, that master of religion's most symbolic trumpet, he didn't hear the honk of an automobile horn! At any rate, Harlem has had its most impressive and emotional funeral ceremony since the death of Florence Mills. A new Gabriel carries the property trumpet now. And Wesley Hill, negro from the medicine shows, becomes another figure around which to weave strange legends of the theater. GILBERT SWAN.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS (Urteraria) Question: Mrs. J. C. B. asks: "What is the cause of an itch that comes in a red blotch on my eyelids from the front of my neck? Have had this frequently within the last three months. Worse in the morning, as my eyelids are then terribly swollen. I consulted a doctor, but he did not tell me the cause, so I am at a loss to know what to do. A urinalysis showed normal, with the exception of the "specific gravity" being low. What does this term mean?" Answer: You are probably suffering from a form of urticaria and are not eliminating enough poisons from your body. The urinalysis shows this. Leave starches and sugars out of your diet and increase intestinal elimination through taking one or two enemata daily.

Leg Troubles Question: Mrs. M. K. writes: "I wish you would tell me what causes my left leg to shake and tremble so, from my ankle up through the leg, into my spine. When I walk around just to do a little housework, it makes me tremble all over." Answer: Have an examination made of your lower spine to see whether or not you have a faulty position of the vertebrae. Any osteopath or chiropractor would be qualified, by his training, to make such an examination and give you his opinion. (Throbbing in Head) Question: S. L. writes: "When walking hurriedly I have a violent throbbing in the back of my head. Would this indicate that I might be due for a ruptured blood vessel someday?" Answer: You may be suffering from high blood pressure, but this can only be ascertained through an examination by a physician. The ache in the back of your head may be caused by prolapsed organs which are still further crowded into the pelvis when you are walking fast or running.

COAST GUARD SHELLS BRITISH RUM RUNNER

New London, Dec. 26.—(AP).—With three shell holes in her stern and 2,800 sacks of liquor in her hold, the British auxiliary schooner Audrey B. was towed to New York today by a Coast Guard patrol boat. The schooner was captured yesterday at Fort Pond Bay off Montauk Point. The searchlight of the Coast Guard patrol boat 209 revealed the Audrey B. standing in toward Fort Pond Bay, where a fleet of motor trucks and a gang of men had been seen. When Boatswain Alexander C. Cornell and the crew of the patrol boat hailed the schooner with a Christmas greeting the British craft swung about and headed away from Fort Pond Bay, disregarding signals to halt. After the third shell crashed through her stern, the rum ship stopped. Her crew of nine was taken aboard the patrol boat under arrest. Boatswain Cornell was exonerated a year ago in the shooting of the entire crew of the rum runner Black Duck, which was fired on when the craft attempted to escape December 29, 1929.

KIN HUBBARD DIES

Indianapolis, Dec. 26.—(AP).—Kin Hubbard, humorist and creator of the character "Abe Martin," died suddenly early today. Death was attributed to a heart attack. Mr. Hubbard was born in Bellefonte, Ohio. When a young man he entered newspaper work here. In 1904 he created the character of "Abe Martin," a mythical personage whose habitat was the hills of Brown county, Indiana. "Abe" was a regular feature of the Indianapolis News and in recent years he had appeared in a number of other newspapers throughout the country.

SUFFOCATED IN VAN

New York, Dec. 26.—(AP).—Entombed four days in what is advertised as the largest motor van in the world, the bodies of four negroes who apparently died from suffocation were found at a parking place last night. Reconstructing the tragedy, police said the men shut themselves in the truck to sleep after a trip from Philadelphia last Sunday and lit three oil lamps. These exhausted the oxygen from the interior, they said, and killed the men in their sleep. The bodies were discovered as the result of a general alarm sent out by the owners of the van in Philadelphia.

SECOND MAN DIES

New Haven, Dec. 26.—(AP).—Charles A. Kern, Jr., 45, chief clerk at the American Mills Company who was shot and seriously wounded Wednesday morning by a lone bandit who escaped with the company's $4,931.23 payroll died early today at the New Haven hospital. Joseph Ordazzo, 54, gate tender at the plant who was also shot by the bandit, died enroute to the hospital.

COUNTY Y. M. C. A. BOYS ON HARTFORD TRIP

The annual Christmas holiday trip to Hartford for County YMCA boys is being held today, with a visit to the Bushnell Memorial as the special feature. An interesting program has been planned, in which the City Association boys will join, which includes games at the YMCA, with a swim in the pool, special moving pictures, and an entertainment by a Hartford magician. The complete program for the day is as follows: 10:30—Assemble in Boys' Lobby, YMCA. 11:00—Swim in the Pool, YMCA. 12:30—Lunch. 1:30—Movie Program. "A Day with the Sun"; "Around Old Heidelberg"; and Our Gang in "The Big Show." 2:30—Entertainment by Ernest Scheidegger, at YMCA. 3:15—Visit by Horace Bushnell Memorial, with organ recital by Walter Dawley. 4:30—Return home.

WAPPING

The Sudd Memorial Library of Wapping will be closed on Thursday night for a two weeks' vacation. He will return about January 4. Miss Marion J. Hills, who is attending the New Britain State Normal school, is spending her two weeks' vacation at her home here, the school closed last Friday. The Federated Sunday school will hold their annual Christmas tree and exercises on Friday evening at the Parish House. Mr. and Mrs. John Jones of South Windsor had as their guest recently, their son, Carl Jones, of Long Island. Rev. and Mrs. W. W. Evans and family moved on Tuesday to their new home in Brookfield, Mass. Miss Louise Ludlum, who is teaching in Long Island, will spend her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Ludlum, of South Windsor. Mrs. J. E. Wheeler is in Bloomfield, N. J., where she will spend the holidays as the guest of her son, J. K. Wheeler.

Wapping Grange held their regular meeting at the school hall last Tuesday evening with 42 members present. It was the annual Christmas party. There was a short program which included a Christmas reading by Mrs. Susie S. Waters a sketch by Mr. and Mrs. Ivan West. A vocal duet by Miss Miriam Welles, and a vocal duet by Miss Dorothy Frink and Miss Helen Frink, after which games were played, and refreshments were served. Dancing was enjoyed by young and old. All brought fruit etc. and baskets were filled and taken to the sick and shut-ins the next day. The annual Christmas tree and party was enjoyed by the Beginners department of the Federated Sunday School at their rooms on Tuesday afternoon. There were sixteen little folks present, also a number of their mothers. Santa gave them a call, which pleased the little tots greatly. After their gifts were distributed from the tree, it was refilled with gifts for little James and Charlie Callahan who have been ill with scarlet fever. Mrs. Elizabeth W. Smith who has been at her home here for about a week, left on Wednesday morning for Brooklyn, N. Y., where she will visit her mother and sister and other relations for several weeks. Harry P. Files, Sr. of Boston, Mass., will spend Christmas at his home here. The Officers of the newly founded Christian Endeavor Society of South Windsor are President Laura Lasbury, Vice President Henry Jorgensen, Secretary Marjorie Elmore, Treasurer, Mrs. Newberry, Assistant Treasurer Jean Shepard, Jr. The public schools of the town of South Windsor all closed Tuesday afternoon for the Christmas vacation.

OPEN FORUM

HIT THE NAIL

Editor of The Herald, Reading editorials has always been a habit of mine. Your article A B C Economics, which appeared in your issue of Dec. 17, was one of the best I have ever read. Usually editors scratch the surface, but the writer of A B C Economics dug down until he reached the adamant bottom. When he reached this rock, upon which rests the future of society, he brought up facts, shining crystals of truth which no one with a healthy mind dares to contradict. Your precious editorials can be summed up as follows: Under the present profit system a worker who produces a $10 unit of value receives about $5 in wages. It follows that the workers cannot buy back what they produce, therefore that part known as surplus value and which is between the cost of production and the selling price, must be disposed in foreign markets. If foreign markets are closed, and our Christian principles prevent us from shooting them open, then our mills and factories shut down, banks close the doors, the workers are laid off, soup houses are opened, the Salvation Army and other charitable institutions become active, the Democrats blame the Republicans and vice versa, the clergy preach charity etc., etc. If all would study your editorial, they soon would learn that charity will never abolish poverty and that the cause of poverty has its bitter roots in the present system. Economics may be defined as the scientific study of the ways in which people get their living; but more satisfactory, as the science of wealth, its production, exchange, distribution and consumption. You have pointed out clearly that commodities are interchangeable and that there is no difference between the value of $1,000 worth of gold, $1,000 worth of pig iron, $1,000 worth of silk or a $1,000 worth of salt pork; and that the workers who produced this amount of value cannot buy it back with the $500 which they received in form of wages. This alone spells doom for the profit system but when we consider modern machinery, installed to reduce the net amount of necessary labor, which puts willing hands out of jobs, but benefits the owner of the machinery, then we realize what Oliver Goldsmith meant when he said: "Ill fares the land, to hastening ills a prey. Where wealth accumulates and men decay. Yours truly—Mathias Spiess. 28 W. Center Street, South Manchester, Conn. December 23, 1930.

LONG MAN HUNT

Gunterville, Ala.—A man hunt which lasted 47 years recently came to an end here in the trial of James Neely, 70-year-old mountaineer of this city. He was sought for the killing of Hiram Cooley following trouble over a girl about half a century ago. Neely pleaded self-defense and the jury acquitted him.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 26.

GOOD SIGN

While a certain amount of allowance must be made in accepting the reports of retail trade during the Christmas holiday buying season, it would appear, after making such allowance, that the total volume of business was surprisingly large throughout the country. The flood of buying will inevitably serve two distinct purposes, first a heavy reduction in the already small inventories of goods in stock, which cannot fall to be followed by orders for replenishment; secondly a demonstration of the tremendous reserve purchasing power of the American people.

The Christmas trade is very largely cash business. It does not merely reflect a willingness on the part of the trading public to buy things regardless of its ability to pay for them. It is evidence of the capacity of the nation as a whole to dig down in its pocket and bring up the wherewithal.

Under the circumstances of economic uneasiness so generally prevalent and of a lack of employment perhaps reaching to 20 per cent of peak figures, it might have been expected that the holiday business would suffer heavily. On the contrary it has suffered very little, from all accounts.

If this shows anything at all it is that the sudden discovery last year that the country was producing commodities faster than it could sell them was not the disclosure of a fatal economic illness but merely the development of a digestive upset resulting from reckless habits. If the country were not organically healthy we should not have been able to eat this hearty Christmas dinner of retail purchasing.

There is really a very great deal of business going on all the time. The hard times sufferers are in a very small minority. Of course their plight is not the easier for them to bear because there are, relatively, only a few of them compared with the much larger number of busy people, but it is easier to be borne nationally. The job that confronts the country is not anything like that which has been faced by other nations on many occasions in history when their economic systems broke down altogether. It is not the job of getting everybody back to work, by a long chalk, but of getting a mere marginal group back to work. If we haven't the brains, the vision, the co-operative willingness and the unselfish public spirit to do that, then we don't deserve anything but hard luck.

LAWYERS

Forty lawyers are expected to face grand jury proceedings as a result of the scandalous revelations concerning the lower courts in New York city. This should occasion no great surprise considering the swarm of new lawyers created every year without the slightest consideration of the quality of the material from which they are made.

An attorney is an officer of the courts. Yet he is put in office with less regard being paid to his principles and character than any other public officer anywhere. Very often the authorities that admit him to practice know absolutely nothing about him beyond the fact that he has satisfactorily answered a set of questions in an examination and that he is vouched for by somebody of whom the authorities really know no more than they do of the candidate himself. Is it any wonder, then, that the profession is being loaded down with a grade of individuals not one whit higher morally than the crooks with whom they associate?

Somehow a complete reform will have to be brought about in the admission of young lawyers to practice. Perhaps it will eventually be necessary to have all law students placed under a mentorship of the bar associations at the time of their matriculation and kept there until they have completed their courses, so that the profession will have some means of knowing which aspirant is fit to practice law and which is fit only for the rockpile or the gallows.

SENIORITY

The claim of Senator Norris that he is answerable as a Republican to nobody in the world but the Republican party of Nebraska is vulnerable enough on the ground of seniority alone. Even if it were true, as Senator Norris would have the rest of the country understand, that Nebraska Republicans were unanimous in their support of him and his treason to the Presidential candidate in 1928, it would still be entirely competent for the national Republican party to read him out of its membership.

The Republican party, as a nationwide organization, dates from its nomination of John C. Fremont for the Presidency in 1856, though actual organization was effected earlier than that. The policies, the tacit constitution, of the Republican party were definitely established in the 1856 convention. Whatever groups thereafter came into the party did so under unescapable implications of subscription to the tenets and principles of the national body.

One of those groups was the Republican party of Nebraska. There were no Republicans in Nebraska in 1856, only Democrats, Free-soilers and Whigs. It was not until 1858 that a Republican party was organized in the territory. And not until 1860 that it participated in a national convention of the party—and not then as a state organization for Nebraska was not admitted to statehood until 1867.

Inasmuch, then, as the Nebraska Republicans obtained their party name by subscribing to the principles of a party already in existence, the tenure of their Republicanism must logically depend on their continuing to adhere to the creed of the national party. They cannot with any show to right abjure the creed and retain the name.

Mr. Norris forgets a number of things when he shouts that his Republicanism is a matter for Nebraskans alone to determine—including the history of his own state.

Murder At Bridge

by ANNE AUSTIN author of "THE BLACK PIGEON," "THE AVENGING PARROT" and "MURDER BACKSTAIRS"

BEGIN HERE TODAY
JUANITA SELIM is murdered at bridge. Suspicion rests on LYDIA CARR, the maid; FLORA MILES, in Nita's closet at the time of the murder, reading a note which she thinks is from her husband, but which is really from DEXTER SPRAGUE, probably Nita's lover and partner in blackmail, and on RALPH HAMMOND, engaged to Nita.

Lydia has been practically cleared, and gives an alibi for Sprague. Ralph's innocence also seems apparent. SPECIAL INVESTIGATOR DUNDEE wants now to know who paid Nita $10,000 in Hamilton, and why. At the inquest, special stress is laid on the theory that a New York gunman did the job.

Dundee learns from Lydia and PENNY CRANE, the district attorney's secretary, whose father once owned the Selim house, that there is probably some secret hiding place in the house. It is Dundee's opinion that the gun and Maxim silencer, belonging to JUDGE MARSHALL, Nita's landlord, are hidden in the building to the office of the district attorney, which Nita is to be cremated, and Penny poses for pictures in it.

Lydia says she doesn't know whom Nita feared, and tells of a bell Sprague contrived near Nita's bed which rings in Lydia's room. Others may have known of this. Lydia admits she knew Sprague returned to the house after the murder to take away his things, but says he could have done nothing else in the limited time. Dundee goes to look for the hiding place.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXI

After a solid hour of hard and fruitless work, Bonnie Dundee was forced to admit ruefully to himself that his parting words to the district attorney had sounded like a youthful boast. And so far it had proved to be a woefully empty boast.

For nowhere in the house Roger Crane had built and in which Nita Selim had been murdered could the detective find anything remotely resembling a concealed safe. The two plainclothesmen Straw had tailed to search the house and to continue the search for the missing gun and silencer looked on with unconcealed amusement as Dundee tapped walls, floors and ceilings in a house that seemed to be exceptionally free of architectural eccentricities.

Finally he grew tired of their mild comments and brusquely ordered them to make a new and exhaustive search of the unused portions of the basement—those dark, unroofed regions, with their networks of water and sewage pipes, heavily insulated cables of electric wires, sloping back rafters, sloping back empty fruit jars and liquor bottles—which contrasted sharply with the neatly tiled and cement-floored space devoted to furnace, laundry and maid's room. Dundee himself had given the search a cursory inspection with his flashlight, for it was highly probable that Nita Selim would have made use of a secret hiding place for her jewelry and valuable papers, if that hiding place were located in such dark, awesome surroundings.

No. The hiding place, if it really existed—and it must exist—had been within easy reach of Nita, dressing and bedecking herself for a party, or Lydia Carr could not have kept in complete ignorance of its location. With that conviction in mind, Dundee returned to Nita's bedroom, to which he had already devoted at least half an hour. Nothing in the big clothes closet, where Flora Miles had been hiding while Nita was being murdered. No secret drawers in desk or chest of drawers in boudoir chair, or chaise longue. He had even taken every book out of the four-shelf bookcase which stood against the west wall near the north corner of the room, and had satisfied himself that no book was a leafless fake.

His close inspection of the bathroom and back hall, upon which Nita's bedroom opened, had proved as fruitless, although he had removed every drawer from the big linen press which stood in the hall, and measured the length of a fraction of an inch. As for the walls, they were, except for the doors, unbroken expanses of tinted plaster. And yet—

He stepped into the clothes closet again, hammer in hand for a faint tapping of the cedar-board walls. Nothing there. . . . And then he tapped again, his ear against the end wall of the closet—the wall farthest from the side porch. . . . Yes! There was a faint hollow echo of the hammer strokes!

Excitement blazed high again. He took the tape measure with which he had provided himself on his way out, and calculated the length of the closet from end to end. Six feet. . . . Emerging from the closet he closed his eyes in an effort to recall in exact detail the architect's blueprint of the lower floor, which Coroner Price had submitted to his jury at the inquest that morning. Yes, that was right! The inner end wall of Nita's clothes closet was also the back of the guest closet in the little foyer that lay between Nita's bedroom and the main hall. Within 10 minutes, much laying-out of the tape measure had produced a startling result. Instead of having a wall in common, the guest closet and Nita's clothes closet were separated by exactly 21 inches! Why the waste space? The blueprint, bearing the imprint of the architects, Hammond & Hammond, showed no such walled-up cubbyhole!

Excitedly, Dundee again entered Nita's closet and went over every inch of the narrow, horizontal cedar boards, which formed the end wall. But he met with no reward. Not through this workmanlike, solidly constructed wall had an opening been made. . . .

But in the foyer closet he read a different story. Its back wall had an amateurish look. This closet was not cedar-lined as was Nita's. But it was painted throughout in soft ivory. But it was the back wall of the closet in which Dundee was interested. Unlike the other walls, which were of plaster, the back was constructed of six-inch-wide boards—the cheapness of the lumber not concealed by its coat of ivory paint. No self-respecting builder had put in that wall of board, horizontal boards. . . .

And then, directly beneath the shelf which was set regulation height, just above the pole on which swung a dozen coat hangers, Dundee found what he was looking for.

A short length of the board, cheap board, a queer scrap to have been used even in so shoddy a job as that wall was. . . . Eight inches long. And set square in the center of the wall, just below the shelf and pole. If he had not been looking for something odd, however, he would not have noticed it. Did anyone ever notice the back walls of closets? . . .

Surely, the result, he pressed with his finger tips upon the lower end of that short piece of board. And slowly it swung inward, the top part slanting outward.

He had found the secret hiding place. And Dundee silently agreed with Judge Marshall that it was the simplest and most ingenious arrangement you ever saw, for it was nothing more or less than a shelf set between the two closets, in those 11 inches of unaccounted for space!

"I take off my hat to Roger Crane!" Dundee reflected. "No burglar in the world would ever have thought of pressing upon a short piece of board in a foyer closet, in search of a safe. . . . But how did Judge Marshall know of its existence?"

The only answer Dundee could think of was that Crane, overseeing the building of his house, had suddenly conceived this brilliant and simple plan, and had tipped one of the carpenters to carry it out for him. Possibly, or probably, he had bragged to Clive or Ralph Hammond, his architects, of his ingenious idea. . . .

Yes! The pronged plug of the lamp cord lay slanting along the floor near the baseboard outlet! It was the double outlet of the baseboard behind the bookcase. . . . A slack cord!

Down on his hands and knees Dundee went to peer under the low bottom shelf of the bookcase. . . . Yes! The pronged plug of the lamp cord lay slanting along the floor near the baseboard outlet! It was the double outlet of the baseboard behind the bookcase. . . .

Anyone of half a dozen people! But—who!

In spite of his chagrin at not finding the gun, Dundee studied the simple mechanism which Roger Crane's ingenuity had conceived. From the outside, the eight-inch length of board fitted smoothly, giving no indication whatever that it was otherwise than what it seemed—a part of a cheaply built wall. But Dundee's flashlight played upon the beveled edges of both the short board and the two neighboring planks between which it was fitted. The pivoting arrangement was of the simplest, the small nickel-plated pieces being set into the short board and the other two planks with small screws which did not pierce their painted outside surface.

His curiosity satisfied, Dundee stepped out of the closet into the tiny foyer. He was about to leave when a terrific truth crashed through his mind and froze his feet to the floor.

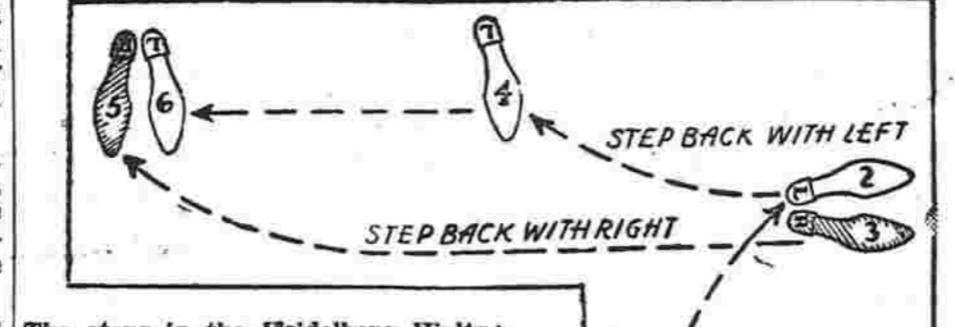

Of course, the gun and silencer were not there!

Excitement blazed high again. He took the tape measure with which he had provided himself on his way out, and calculated the length of the closet from end to end. Six feet. . . . Emerging from the closet he closed his eyes in an effort to recall in exact detail the architect's blueprint of the lower floor, which Coroner Price had submitted to his jury at the inquest that morning. Yes, that was right! The inner end wall of Nita's clothes closet was also the back of the guest closet in the little foyer that lay between Nita's bedroom and the main hall. NEW YEAR'S DANCES Waltz Takes a Collegiate Turn in "The Heidelberg"

By Arthur Murray

The steps in the Heidelberg Waltz are illustrated in the accompanying diagram.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Another popular waltz in the "New Year's Dances" is described today by Arthur Murray, noted dancing instructor, in the fourth article of the series which he has prepared for The Herald and NEA Service.

BY ARTHUR MURRAY
Written for NEA Service

The Heidelberg step is a little less firm than the Berlin Box Waltz step. Though a classic step it has that little something that collegiate things always have.

It is another step in which the man and the woman take the same steps, though on alternate feet. But a good waltzer can dance quite as well alone as with others and should learn the step alone.

1. Place the right foot forward and at the same time turn the body one-quarter to the right, facing the east wall.

2. Place the left foot forward ALONGSIDE the right foot with the feet apart.

3. Bring the right foot up to the left, weight on the right foot. This completes a quarter turn.

4. Step directly backward with the left foot, at the same time turning one-quarter to the right, face south wall.

5. Place the right foot alongside the left, with the feet apart.

6. Draw the left foot up to the right.

You now have made another quarter turn. Go back to the beginning and do the complete set of six counts without any stops.

Practice 30 minutes alone, then with a partner. A good piece of music to practice by is "Dear, On a Night Like This."

TOMORROW: The Viennese Waltz.

More men have fallen in love with women because of their complexions than because of their beauty of character.

Powder and paint do not make the complexion. Of course you know that. But powder and rouge have a lot to do with enhancing the complexion. Look best in a creamy tone; older women, especially if they have sallowness, should have some pinky natural tones to give them life; the olive complexioned beauties, deep ochre.

Does Dewey's Birth does the same thing for certain brunettes.

If you do not mix your own powder, a general index to color for daytime runs something like this: Blondes take a creamy natural usually with a little flesh in it; brunettes require anything from rachel to one of the ochres, an in-between complexion looks best in a creamy tone; older women, especially if they have sallowness, should have some pinky natural tones to give them life; the olive complexioned beauties, deep ochre.

Generally speaking, the blonde and brunette category of powder is wrong, all wrong. A blonde may be devastating in a deep rachel powder—the sunset mode demonstrated that—and a brunette may be ravishing in a powder far blonder in tone than rachel.

For daytime wear, the best rule is to choose a powder that matches your skin exactly or is a trifle, only a trifle darker in tone. The best place to match up is your cheeks just under your ear. The inside of the arm used to be the best spot to match powder to but so many women have sun burned faces and bleached arms that it no longer is considered exact enough for face-powder-matching.

You will need a lighter powder for evening wear. A fairer-than-the-skin powder for wear under the electric lights adds a glamorous touch of delicacy to your skin. It is for evening wear that most of the new colored powders are designed. If you haven't tried the new colors, do. You may be surprised how pale blue powder, used with certain gowns and jewels, gives your face an aesthetic, aloof look. Mauve makes you pallid and delicate looking in the evening, especially if you happen to be a slender, willowy blonde. Mauve and natural mixed together in equal proportions

YOUR CHILDREN

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Every year the question comes up in the minds of mothers about Santa Claus. Shall we let the youngsters go on believing in him and even connive toward his coming with myriad inventions of our own? Should we tell them the truth or keep up the lively story about the dear old saint and his toy shop, his house at the North Pole, his sleigh, and his eight sturdy steeds?

A child will probably solve the question himself. As soon as he is old enough to observe and put two and two together, he won't be long in discovering the truth. When he is little he believes in Santa as he believes in other phenomenon, accepts him without question and without particular subterfuge on our part; and there isn't any earthly reason why we shouldn't let him do so. A very little child cannot easily discriminate between fact and fancy in anything, and as soon as he reaches the stage when he can tell the difference between the actions of fairies and those of men, he will find out himself that Santa belongs, to the fairies.

To a little child—a child up to five—Santa Claus is a material symbol; goodness incarnate. I have always believed vastly in the inspiring influence of a fleshly symbol of the virtues—that goes for older people too. Santa Claus personifies kindness, a good fairy who keeps out of sight but whose existence is undisputed. Circumstantial evidence is enough proof. The child accepts the fact.

Disillusionment is unkind. If there is nothing to shake his faith after he is five, I'd let well enough alone. He is so happy in his faith that disillusionment is both unnecessary and unkind, but as a rule when he is of this after-five age the matter is rather on the knees of the gods and he ceases to accept the belief without challenge. He is by this time a rational human being; his mind has reached that stage of development when he will make his own deductions whether we want him to or not. We might say that all children of this age come from Missouri. They've got to see to know, and they are quick to detect counterfeit.

Steam radiators and gas stoves have almost taken the place of the fireplace, and they certainly are unfairy-like. The glamor of the good old saint's costume itself isn't what it used to be with every tenth man on the street similarly dressed. Apartments are rather inaccessible. A child doesn't have to be a Hawk-shaw to realize that. Tree ornaments are ubiquitous for months ahead of the great day.

Johnny is going to know pretty soon but don't make him unhappy if he comes with questions. I think we can change the nature of his ideal with a little care and tact from the material to the spiritual, and not sacrifice his wonderful spirit of Christmas. It may leave him a little vague perhaps, but that won't hurt him. If he goes to six or seven or even eight without raising the question, let him alone by all means. It would be a wonderful world if we all could go on believing in fairies.

Evening Herald Pattern

By Annehelle Worthington

Of course you'll want a pastel crepe silk frock to brighten your Winter wardrobe. And this one is full of charm and practicality.

It poses a circular flounce around it just below the hips to give youthfulness, animation to its slender skirt, that bursts into graceful fullness at the hem.

It offers a charming variation of the capelet collar that ties in a bow at the front.

It's so versatile for afternoons or Sunday night dining and dancing. Style No. 2904 may be obtained in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust.

Chiffon, lace, wool crepe, satin crepe, canteen crepe and flat crepe lend themselves beautifully to this model.

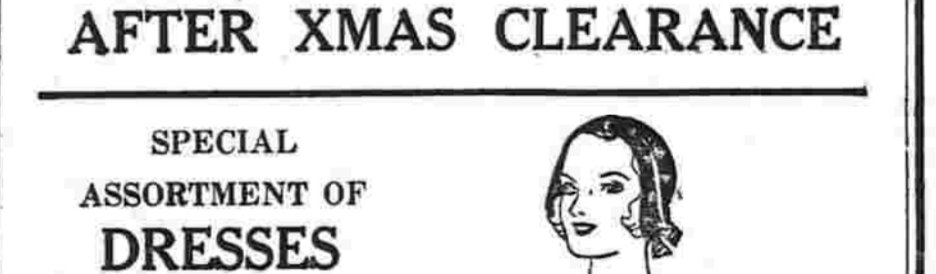

Size 15 requires 4 1/2 yards 39-inch. Our Large Fashion Magazine shows how to dress up to the minute at very little expense. It contains most attractive Paris designs for adults and children, embroidery, etc.

HEALTH

DIRTY OILS OFTEN CAUSE IRRITATION OF THE SKIN

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN
The wide use of various types of oils in industry has been responsible for many rashes on the skin which are difficult to diagnose.

Crude petroleum will cause itching and frequently eruptions associated with infection of the follicles of the skin by germs which are always present. Lubricating oils and cutting emulsions used over and over again without filtering or sterilizing accumulate fine metal fragments which will produce minute cuts in the skin.

The oil becomes contaminated furthermore by the germs that produce pus and the infection is passed in this way from one worker to another. When crude petroleum is refined, the products are likely to be less irritating than the crude oil itself.

Nevertheless, it is known that benzene, naphtha, and carbon disulphide will irritate the skin. Workers with paraffin and work-ers with shale oil also have these irritations.

It is now known that repeated irritation of the skin with coal tar and with oils may result in a sufficient irritation of the cells to set up an active growth which eventually becomes cancerous.

Exposure to creosote, asphalt and other products of tar is sometimes followed by the development of tumors. One of the most interesting forms is called "malignant" cancer. This occurs principally among workers in the cotton industry in England. Lowgrade oils used for the lubrication of the machine get on the skin. Neglect of personal cleanliness permits constant irritation and cancer follows. Tar and pitch are particularly irritating in this manner. Soot, lamp black and peat produce irritations of the skin which sometimes are followed by warty growths and cancer.

Fortunately knowledge has become widely disseminated and steps are being taken in all of the industries concerned to protect the workers against the possibilities that have been mentioned.

ALUMNI WILL TRY HARD TO BEAT H. S.

Ernie Dowd's Collection of Stars Promises To Give Schoolboys Real Fight At State Army Tonight In Pre-Bristol Battle.

PROBABLE LINEUPS

High School	Alumni
O'Leary, rf	Mantell
Tierney, lf	Holland
Turkington, c	Farr
Hedlund, rg	Dowd
Squarrito, lg	Nicola

For the first time in several years, there seems to be indication of a real determination on the part of the Alumni to do all within its power to defeat Manchester High school in basketball when the two teams clash this evening at the State Army on Main street.

For some unexplained reason, Alumni teams of the past half-dozen years have been under some sort of an impression to the effect that they would not try to beat the school quintet. Just why, nobody has been able to fathom. There can be no denying that a defeat is often much more beneficial than a victory.

This is especially so when such a defeat does not count on the official record of the school team. No one realizes this point better than Ernie Dowd who will lead the Alumni in tonight's fray.

He has banded together quite an array of talent to say the least. Of course, his outfit will be handicapped by lack of smoothness in its offense due to not having played together much.

But even so, the 1930 Alumni will be superior to many of the past. One practice game has been played with the Alumni functioning much better than one might anticipate.

So, there is a possibility that tonight will see the Alumni actually come through with a victory. Such an outcome would help make the annual skirmish with the graduates a far better basketball exhibition.

But there will be no criticism if the Alumni does its utmost to win and that utmost is insufficient. However, if the Alumni should show any reluctance to take it easy, there will be much dissatisfaction.

Manchester High is sailing along serenely with three victories in as many games played and admittedly expects to harvest another bumper crop this evening. Maybe they will and then again, maybe they won't.

The Clarkmen will make their last appearance tonight before taking the floor here against Bristol next Friday in the biggest and most important game of the entire season in Manchester. Maybe they will be anxious to have his machine clicking perfectly for the Monihan invasion and will turn every effort in that direction tonight. Bristol, too, you know, is undefeated.

The preliminary tussle tonight will also involve the High school and its Alumni, the graduates sprouting forth with a second team for the first time in years. The opening game will be at 7:30 and the second encounter at 8:30 with Alphonse Boggin officiating and dancing following.

H. S. TO HAVE HOCKEY SEXTET

Four Games Already Arranged, Two of Which Will Be At Center Springs Pond

Manchester High is to have a hockey team this season, it was announced today by Faculty Manager Dwight E. Perry, who reported that practice sessions have already been held at the Center Springs Park lake where home games will be played. Twenty-five candidates reported and some of them look quite impressive.

The present snow has temporarily called a halt to practice but it will be resumed as soon as the ice has been cleared. Four games have already been scheduled, subject to change at the last minute if inclement weather or ice prevail. The list follows:

- Kingswood School, there, January 8.
- Kingswood School, here, January 11.
- West Hartford High School, here, January 21.
- West Hartford High School, here, February 11.

SHOT TWO—GOT THREE

Cedar Rapids, Ia.—Ben T. Sorum went pheasant hunting recently and spent most of the day getting two birds. Disgusted with the way things turned out, Sorum climbed in his car and speeded for home. On the way something crashed into his windshield, falling into the car. It turned out to be a fine fat pheasant. Sorum got three birds with two shots.

BAN JOHNSON NOW ON RECOVERY ROAD

President of American League Now Expected To Live; Was On Danger List

St. Louis, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Ban Johnson, former president of the American League, apparently has won another victory—this time against old man disease. After 13 weeks in bed, the former czar of baseball was considered "out of the woods" in his fight against diabetes which aggravated a foot infection and threatened for a time to result in the loss of one leg.

Strong of voice and still vitally interested in baseball, Mr. Johnson was host to several friends yesterday in a hospital here where he is convalescing.

"I owe my life to Phil Ball," said Mr. Johnson, to the group which included Mr. Ball, head of the St. Louis Browns. He stepped in and took charge of my case and refused amputation of my leg. At one time I myself felt that nothing could pull me through."

Mr. Johnson then unloosed some of his opinions on present day baseball problems, among them the lively ball and night baseball. He said he had written George Reach, manufacturer of the official baseball that unless the amount of rubber in present day baseballs were reduced, the game in Johnson's league would be seriously impaired.

"I have satisfied myself by examination of baseballs in use" he related, "that the amount of rubber in them has been greatly increased from the time I was a kid. I found in other days when scores were low, home runs were fewer, and there was some skill and strategy required to win a baseball contest."

"Unless the runner is reduced" he said, "the ball will continue to be heavy and hurt both infield and outfield play."

He said he believed the reaction from the long hitting craze will result soon.

"Night baseball created a curiosity result for a time especially by the women folks, but in my opinion it is not an interest that is of an educational or permanent nature," he said. "Night baseball is not natural. It can't be permanent. It never will take hold of the major leagues and I do not believe it will long continue as a life-saver for the minor leagues."

Golf, he said, was one cause of the illness in the lower class minor league circles. Rich men who formerly were "angels" to the minor leagues, have dropped baseball for golf and country clubs.

FOOTBALL'S FINALE IS COMING SOON

San Francisco, Dec. 26.—(AP)—With seasoned passers and receivers lining up with the East and West, fans look forward to brilliant aerial attacks in the annual charity football game here tomorrow.

A half dozen backs with either squad can throw the pigskin. Bruder of Northwestern and Hart of Colgate for the east, and Kitzmiller of Oregon and Bausch of Kansas, are ace in this department.

On the catching end the east has such sure-fingered men as Frank Baker, (Northwestern), Gantenbein, (Wisconsin), Bates (Western Maryland), Whelan, (Michigan), Brockmeyer, (Minnesota) and Eray. Against these are the Western experts—Long (Texas), McKeil, (Oregon State), Ebding, and Boyle, (St. Mary's), Mills, (Oklahoma), and Clark, (Stanford).

With these forces draw from the northern team will be light of high powered aerial material at any stage of the game.

BATTLE OF ROSES

Pasadena, Cal., Dec. 26.—(AP)—After an afternoon and night of rest, the Rose tournament's football teams, Washington State and Alabama, prepared today for further training.

NEARLY 150 SEEK JUNIOR NET CROWN

New York, Dec. 26.—(AP)—With 144 young players listed on the draw sheet, play in the National Junior Indoor tennis championships was under way today in the Seventh Regiment Armory. The field was so large that the start of play has been advanced a day ahead of its usual time. Tournament is to continue through next week skipping only Sunday.

Just when it looked as though things were peaceful and under control, the Chicago Stadium broke loose with conversation about offering Max Schmeling $500,000—not pesos, yen or guilders, but dollars—for a title match with Young Master Stribling.

Of course, no one in the boxing business in 1931, least of all the Chicago Stadium, has the slightest idea of paying that much currency to Der Max or anybody else for fighting the whole crop of heavyweight contenders on the same night. It is not being done under existing box-office conditions.

Nevertheless, Chicago may take the main go of the new year's heavyweight program right out of the laps of New York fight weary unless a compromise program is agreed upon in the Big Town. There is no enthusiasm whatever for a return match between Schmeling and the erratic sailor, Jack Sharkey, however much Jack may be entitled to a chance to redeem himself. He already has missed too many of these chances to suit the cash customers.

Stribling, by his performances within the past year in beating Carpa, Von Fozz, Scott and Griffiths, has at least won his way to the semi-finals of any heavyweight contest. It seems likely the agile Georgian will have an opportunity to fight his way into the final.

The resignation of Noel Workman, former Ohio State backfield star, as Iowa State's head coach, followed one of the longest hard-luck campaigns on record. Iowa State dropped 16 consecutive games in two seasons, a record among major colleges. The team's last victory was in the opening game of the 1929 season and it hasn't had a "break" since.

Despite good material, including a real star this year in Capt. Maynard Spear at tackle, Iowa State failed to break its jinx. If it wasn't an injury, it was a long run that kept victory out of the team's grasp. Games were lost by the closest of margins but lost, anyway, and a shake-up became inevitable at the end of a season in which the boys failed to win a single engagement.

New York University's "Daily News" can't see any cause for an outcry against football. It regards the gridiron success as a symptom of the times, failure as the cause of criticism.

Rutgers, Lehigh, Yale and Princeton are among the Eastern colleges that have decried the Great Monster Football," says the student paper.

"Rutgers was defeated by almost every major opponent. Yale was defeated by Harvard and outplayed by Princeton. Lehigh won Princeton in one of its worst seasons. Princeton won only one game."

"The colleges are hypocritical. Princeton, Rutgers and Yale have had strong teams in the past. And they never bewailed the publicity they have received through the merits of their gridiron teams."

MIDGETS IN SCRAP FOR TITLE TONIGHT

Wolgast Favored Over Genaro In Flyweight Championship Contest At Garden.

New York, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Midget Wolgast of Philadelphia will have precedent on his side when he steps out tonight in an attempt to clinch his claim to the flyweight title with Frankie Genaro, in Madison Square Garden.

Wolgast, by reason of his defeats of all rivals in an elimination tournament last night, is the New York State Athletic Commission's nominee for the 112 pound crown. Genaro, a stubby Italian Veteran, is recognized almost everywhere except in New York state and Pennsylvania by the National Boxing Association as the flyweight champ of the world. Twice previously inter-commissioner rulings have met to decide a generally recognized champion and both times the New York State entry won the honors.

Genaro, busy in foreign and Canadian rings but idle here for the past three years because of his refusal to enter elimination tournaments to decide the flyweight champion, is a far more experienced batter than Wolgast. Over a period of ten years he has conquered some of the strongest of the little men and his record boasts a victory over the late Pancho Villa when the little Filipino was the sensation of the midgets.

Wolgast has punched his way to the top in the last two years. He whipped Black Bill, Cuban negro, in the final of the tournament last summer and has conquered most of the mediocre temporary flyweight crop with the exception of Genaro. Wolgast is a busy little fellow, very fast and clever, and strongest over the "crucible" title trail. He is an 8 to 5 favorite.

Knofla Brothers Claim Brothers' Bowling Title

The Knofla Brothers—Al, Bill, Fred, Art and Elmer—claim the five-man bowling championship of Manchester for one family and to show reason to their claim point with considerable pride and satisfaction to their Christmas Day accomplishment of defeating the Cervini brothers—Phil, Paul, Louis, Al and Frank—at Joe Farr's Charter Oak alleys.

Gridders in 1931 May Get Injunction Against "Irish"

BY CLAIRE BURCKY
NEA Service Sports Writer

There have been rumors of late that several colleges and universities in 1931 are to be provided with court injunctions as protection against a well-known gridiron group that has taken practically everything in the realm of football. The more conservative of the football gentry look upon this as dire action, indeed, but others declare that nothing else within the law will guard the ordinary citizen against an attack from the Notre Dame raiders.

Six times during the 1930 season the raiding horde left South Bend and each time they returned with the scalp of a hapless victim. Four different contingents invaded their Indiana stronghold but each came out bearing serious casualties.

One season of such activity might be passed off lightly, but when a group does it two consecutive years, the hue of the horse changes entirely for all save the sports writers who go for these winning orgies in a big way.

None but Knute Rockne will deny that the Notre Dame team of 1930 was the best the game ever produced. Knute admits it was a "fine bunch of boys," but in fairness to some other winning combinations he has tutored, he declines to tag it "great."

The season recently closed brought out several other ruthless grid machines, some of which might even have stood up under Notre Dame fire.

A giant-killer on the Pacific Coast College to be little Washington State College of Pullman, Wash., triumphed in a pretentious schedule that included three of the West's "Big Four." The Cougars won nine games without a loss.

Public opinion favored Army, Colgate and Fordham as the strongest teams of the populous eastern sector. However, each tasted defeat at the hands of an outsider, as did Pitts-burgh and Dartmouth, another triply for all save the sports writers who go for these winning orgies in a big way.

Choosers of honor teams again found it difficult to give due credit to the good "little shots" whose feats may or may not have overshadowed those of the "big shots." Public fancy centered on Cardozo, Metzger and Schwartz of Notre Dame, Ticknor of Harvard, Peeler of Ohio State, Pinkett of Southern California, Stinton of Alabama and Koch of Baylor.

Yes, Albie Booth played for Yale, but it mattered little to the good folks in Dallas, Tex. And Louis Weller starred for Haskell but no one in Worcester, Mass., worked up a fever over it. Likewise, Johnny Kitzmiller carried the Oregon eleven through all seasons, but the folks in Richmond, Ind., failed to get hot, or even slightly bothered about it.

THE WEATHER, ETC.

The New York Boxing Commission has demanded that Max Schmeling answer the challenge of a certain Boston sailor named Jack Sharkey. These two men, garbed in boxing togs, once gave Gus Public one of the most terrific facings dear old Gus ever suffered. Does the New York Boxing Commission want some more of the same for Gus? It may now a great deal this winter.

The Stribling Chorus

In all its dignity and power, the National Boxing Association deems Max Schmeling's refusal to answer in view of his failure to defend his title six months after winning it. The N. B. A. casts cals' eyes toward a certain Georgian named Young Stribling, most of whose fights have been entirely unsatisfactory. Excessive rains this time of year are quite unusual.

Walker

From the wilderness comes the cry of Dapper Jack Kearns, screaming for an embroglio on behalf of his gladiator, the dogboy, Mickey Walker. Mr. Kearns has numerous inducements, being ready to offer as a guarantee a couple of banks in North Dakota he doesn't remember the names of, an 80-acre squirrel farm atop Pike's Peak, a couple of shares in the Chicago River, several slightly used umbrellas and an old pair of dice. Isn't that wind biting?

The Mauler

Perennially the cry comes for some more of Dempsey. It is hard to forget the left hand that laid them low, and the right that killed. Faintly at first, then increasing in volume like a forest fire, comes the rumor that the original American 100 per cent Dempsey may return to meet Max, his German carbon copy. Did somebody say "counter-felt"? It may be cloudy here, but do not forget that somewhere the sun is always shining.

Tummy

In Connecticut, Deputy Sheriff Gene Tunney sits with his large dogs parked before a roaring fire, a good book in his hand and no thoughts of the ring in his mind. Does he reminisce? Of those slaughtering battles with Harry Greb—and the last bout between the pair, after which Greb dropped himself on a rubber's table and said, "I've had all I want of that guy"? Or, is he thinking of beautiful big words marching along in a rhythmic, musical procession? Cold winters have been in Connecticut.

Epilogue

A pack of stumbling heavy-weight bums, clamoring for the customers' money. The only difference between one bum and another is that this one is pigeoned and that one is bowlegged. Terribly foggy, isn't it?

Holland Gets 39 of Them As Rec Wins Both Games

Middletown Walloped 65-24 and Hartford K. of C. Is Trimmed 49 To 32 In Special Holiday Double-Header Attraction.

The Rec Five basketball squad accomplished a difficult task last night, winning both games of a double-header holiday bill to stretch its season's record to six victories and a lone defeat. A crowd of over 400 persons filled the School street Gym to see the Middletown National Guards swamped in the opener by a 65 to 24 score and the Knights of Columbus of Hartford trounced 49 to 32, in the final encounter. It was the Rec Five's second triumph over each team and in both cases the margin of victory was much greater than in the first games, when Middletown was beaten 25 to 16 and Hartford 27 to 25 the latter after an overtime period of five minutes.

The first game provided a somewhat crude exhibition of basketball and was a rough and tumble affair all the way. Referee Danny Ahern was given plenty of cause for whistle blowing and called 13 persons on the visitors and 17 on Manchester. The final outcome was never in doubt, the Rec quintet leading 13 to 5 at quarter time and 36 to 17 at half-time. At the end of the third period the Recs had amassed fifty points to 24 for the National Guards and in the final quarter the locals scored 15 more and held their opponents at a standstill besides.

The second game was a much more exciting contest and before many minutes had elapsed into a nip and tuck affair which continued until well into the third period when the Rec Five broke loose and won as it pleased.

Holland Invincible

It proved a great night for the Rec squad but it was a greater night for Walter "Ty" Holland. His shooting accuracy last night was astounding and his all-round floor work brought him applause which amounted to an ovation when he left the court. In the first game Holland scored eight baskets and made good on six out of seven tries from the foul line. In the second game he made seven double-doubles and three out of four foul tries for a grand total of 39 points for the evening. And

HOGS EAT WHEAT
CAFETERIA STYLE,
BRING PREMIUM

Beatrice, Neb.—(P)—A drove of "cafeteria fed" hogs raised near here offers proof that wheat may be turned into pork at a profit.
On a Beatrice farm, operated by C. J. Claassen, head of an Omaha company, 700 Hampshire hogs were fed a wheat ration which resulted in weight gains estimated to have made the wheat worth $1.15 a bushel as compared with an average Nebraska farm price of 63 to 67 cents.

When the hogs were sold the purchaser paid 2 cents above the Kansas City market price.

In feeding the hogs "cafeteria style," the largest of the self-feeders scattered over the lots contained coarsely cracked wheat; a smaller one contained cracked barley and a still smaller one contained shelled corn.

The end of the latter was partitioned for a protein tankage. As a result of the feeding method, Claassen says, the hogs ate principally wheat and only a very small proportion of barley, corn and tankage.

33 Are Killed, 70 Injured
As Quakes Hit Argentina

Salta, Argentina, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Thirty-three dead and more than 70 persons injured were counted today as the toll of earthquakes over the holidays which destroyed La Poma, small Andean village.
A relief expedition arrived in the little mountain town Christmas day after a 24-hour march and found the survivors of Wednesday's quakes terror-stricken by six new tremors, camped among the debris of their homes.

Two huge cracks in the earth's surface from which oozed hot water, were left by the quake. A number of persons were said to have fallen into the cracks and disappeared. Neighboring mountains emitted smoke during the tremors.

Living, brilliant hued bacteria have been found in coal that is millions of years old, and appear to have lived there ever since the coal was formed. Bacteria also have been found in specimens of pre-Cambrian rocks, usually estimated to have been formed 200,000,000 years ago.

WIFE OF PATROLMAN, JEALOUS, KILLS HIM

New York, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Weeks of jealous quarreling ended in tragedy today in the household of Patrolman Francis P. Kiernan, of Brooklyn.
After brooding on attentions she accused him of paying another woman, Mrs. Margaret Kiernan, 42, the policeman's wife, walked into the bathroom when he was shaving and emptied his revolver at him. One shot pierced his heart.

"Yes, I killed him," she told detectives. "He wanted to pay me $5 a week, and leave for another woman."
From other sources, police received information Kiernan had denied his wife's accusations.
AND WHAT HE GOT!
"A burglar broke into my house real late last night."
"Did he get anything?"
"Rather! You see, my wife thought it was me."—Answers.

BLAMES DRY LAWS FOR FILLING JAILS

Over 50,000 Prisoners At Present and 20,000 Dry Cases Pending In Courts.

Washington, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Upon the dry laws the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment today heaped the blame for all Federal Court congestion and the entire increase in the number of Federal prisoners since 1920.

A statistical pamphlet released by the association estimated the number of prohibition prisoners in Federal, state and county prisons at 50,000. It contended that a "Prohibition" case does not give a measure of the crime problem for "only a small proportion of those convicted are given felony sentences."

Called Misinformation It termed "an example of misinformation" an assertion made last year by President Hoover that only a small proportion of felony cases could be attributed to the 18th Amendment for, it added, "88 per cent of the prohibition violators sentenced in Federal courts are misdemeanants and not felons."

Plead Guilty "From ninety to ninety-five per cent of all criminal convictions secured in prohibition cases are on pleas of guilty," said the association, "from eight to ten thousand prohibition cases a year have been nolle prossed, yet in spite of this wholesale weeding out of inactive cases, pending cases still number between 18,000 and 21,000."

SKULL IS FRACTURED Middletown, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Clarence Bengston, 22 of Portland, was in a coma at the Middlesex hospital today suffering from a possible fractured skull received in an automobile accident last night.

KILLS WIFE AND SELF Gloversville, N. Y., Dec. 26.—(AP)—A man and his wife, parents of four small children, died today in a murder and suicide which terminated a series of family quarrels.

MURDERER FLEES JAIL Waycross, Ga., Dec. 26.—(AP)—Five prisoners, including J. H. Parker, awaiting execution for the murder of his small child, escaped from the Ware county jail here today by sawing bars in their cells and jumping from a second story window.

FOILED Newark, N. J.—Charles Curcio owes his life to a sneeze. Attempting to commit suicide here he had a revolver pressed to his head when he felt a sneeze coming on. Just as he pulled the trigger of the gun he sneezed, throwing his head out of the way of the bullet which plowed into a wall a few inches from an approaching cop.

GETS $250 DAMAGES

Waterbury, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Morris Spirt, local merchant, was today allowed damages of $250 in his $25,000 slander suit against Isaac Albert, another Waterbury merchant, in the report filed in the Superior Court by the board of arbitration to whom New Haven, in the $25,000 slander suit of Mr. Spirt against Mrs. Albert the board of arbitration found the issues for the defendant, but exercising its prerogative, rebuked Mrs. Albert for her part in the alleged slander. The statement upon which the suits were based were alleged to have been uttered at the Waterbury Hebrew Institute on October 14, 1929. The board of arbitration consisted of five Waterbury laymen selected by the court.

Middletown, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Pinned beneath a coupe in which she was riding with her husband late last night, Mrs. George E. Felougin, Fairfield was badly injured when the car skidded on the Durham highway and part of her clothing had been torn off to extricate her from the wreckage.

ROBERT DENNISON DIES

Waterbury, Dec. 26.—(AP)—A long business career was closed today with the death of Robert Denison, local insurance man. Mr. Denison who was 61 years old, died Wednesday. He was a former president of the Waterbury Real Estate board and had served on the board of public works.

SUES AUTO DEALER

New Britain, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Andrew Morawski, a prospective automobile purchaser, was invited for a demonstration on ride by John Timko, salesman for a local dealer, on September 8. He accepted. The car was in collision with another machine in Berlin. Morawski was thrown out and, according to his claim, was left unconscious by the roadside by Timko, who he says, ran away from the scene. Morawski received injuries to his spine. He brought suit today for $25,000 damages against the company employing Timko.

RUSH FOR AUTO PLATES

Hartford, Dec. 26.—(AP)—The first real rush for 1931 registration plates was experienced at the State Capitol today. A line extended from the west end of the building to the extreme east end. Those in line were mostly those who were not at business due to the holiday.

BEATEN WITH REVOLVER

Ansonia, Dec. 26.—(AP)—William J. Kirby, of 19 Wooster street, a negro, was arraigned in the City Court this morning charged with assault with intent to kill James Fountain, another negro, of Main street, with whom he was involved in a shooting affray Wednesday evening. Kirby's case was continued to January 9 and he was released on $3,000 bonds. Fountain is at the Griffin hospital with lacerations about head where Kirby is alleged to have beaten him with the butt of a gun. While Fountain claims to have been shot by Kirby, the injuries to his face show no bullet wounds, nor did X-ray pictures reveal any bullets in his skull.

McNINCH SURPRISED AT BOARD'S ACTION

Power Commission Knew Nothing About Dismissal of Russell and King.

Washington, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Frank R. McNinch, North Carolina member of the power commission, expressed surprise today in a telegram to friends in Washington at the dismissal of the commission's employees—Solicitor Charles A. Russell and Chief Engineer William V. King.

He said he had an understanding there would be no meeting of the commission before January. King and Russell were dismissed after a meeting of the commission attended by Chairman Smith and Commissioners Garsaud and Draper. In his telegram today, McNinch said he left Washington with the understanding the commission would not organize until after the first of the year. He expressed surprise that any move had been made to change the personnel of the commission's staff in his absence.

CHILD BORN ON TRAIN

New London, Dec. 26.—(AP)—After giving birth to a daughter in a coach of train No. 19 of the New Haven road, Mrs. LeRoy E. Lamb, wife of a New Haven railroad conductor of New Haven, was reported today to be doing fine at the Pettipaug Lodge hospital at Essex. The baby was born at 4:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, while the train was held up at the Saybrook station for 57 minutes.

FORMER EDITOR DIES

Bristol, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Charles Franklin Olin, advertising manager of the New Departure Manufacturing Co., of Bristol, and former newspaperman, died at his home here yesterday following a long illness. Mr. Olin, a native of Hartford, was 60 years old. He had served as an advertising manager for the New Departure company for 26 years and had at one time been editor and manager of the Bristol Press. He also served on other Connecticut newspapers in editorial capacities. His widow, four children, three grandchildren, two sisters and a brother survive.

mour at Main and Charter Oak streets. Brown, who was identified by a pay envelope of Case Brothers, Inc., which was in his pocket, was dead on arrival at the hospital and Dr. Sidney Alken of the hospital staff said there was no doubt but that death came instantly. Medical Examiner W. R. Tinker was called and after examination announced that Brown had been intoxicated. A pint bottle, two thirds empty, was found on his person. Brown's head was split open down across the forehead exposing the brains, a wound believed to have been sustained when his head hit the automobile door handle which was torn off. Mr. Brown was driving a Buick sedan on the fender and running board of the car had not been disturbed. Officer Seymour investigated and Vincent was not held.

Brown who was 45 years old leaves his wife, Annie P. Brown and two nephews, James Wilson and Harrison Wilson. He was born in Bannfoot, Ireland. The funeral, it is expected will be a military one as Brown was a veteran of the Canadian and United States forces in the World War. He was not a member of the American Legion, however. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the home, Rev. Watson Woodruff will officiate. Burial will be in East cemetery.

Police Court Case

After sideswiping two cars on McLean hill and crashing into the West Middle Turnpike bridge over the Hockanum river, west of Love Lane, at 8:15 o'clock Wednesday night, Anthony M. Tamostis, age 24, of 201 Eldridge street, was arrested for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor and for evading responsibility. In Police court Christmas morning his case was continued until Monday, December 29.

One person was injured in the mishap, John Tomostis, brother of the driver, being out about the face. The brothers both insisted that John was driving but witnesses from the other cars involved identified Anthony as the driver and he was held. Identify Driver Tamostis was driving east. On top of McLean Hill he struck a car driven by John Carlson of 22 Madison avenue, Hartford, who was going west. He then traveled across by Rosanio Lorchveque of 38 Bliss street, Burnside. Lorchveque had three men, two women and two one-year-old babies as passengers, and Carlson had another man as passenger. The five men all agreed that Anthony was the driver of the car.

After this bit of marksmanship Tamostis headed for the bridge, World into the iron abutment of the bridge and knocking down an electric light pole. The Dodge sedan was heavily damaged and held up trolley traffic from Rockville and Manchester for a half hour before it was removed to the Depot Square Garage. Officer John Crockett investigated and made the arrest. Christmas Day Mishaps
The four accidents yesterday were all of a slight nature. At 4:15 o'clock yesterday morning a Buick radiator, driven by Albert J. Tuttle of 144 Woodbridge street and owned by Lincoln Carter of 1229 Main street, skidded on the icy pavement and hit a pole on the left side of the street. Tuttle was going east on Center street near the Edgewood house. Damages were to the fender, running board, body and front wheel. Officer W. R. Cassells investigated but made no arrests.

A peculiar accident occurred on Trotter street at 12:30 o'clock yesterday noon. The snow in the road had been packed to an icy hardness by youngsters who used it for sliding. An Essex coach owned and driven by Urbane House of 92 Valley street could not hold the road and slid to the bottom of the hill and crashed into the tow garage, used by the town park department. The car went right through one of the garage doors and was but slightly damaged.

Corner Crash

Cars driven by L. H. Custer of 79 Foster street and William Sheekey of 120 Maple street collided at the corner of Main and Bissell streets at 7:50 o'clock last night with slight damage to each vehicle. Sheekey was traveling north on Main and Custer came out of Bissell street. Officer Lester Behrend investigated.

A car driven by Gustave Luther of 14 West Middle Turnpike, was considerably damaged at 10:45 o'clock last night when struck by an automobile driven by Charles Connelly of Hartford. Luther was going east on Center street near Newman when he was turned out into the middle of the road to pass two parked automobiles. His car skidded on the trolley

FRENCH TROOPS ADVANCE

Rabat, Morocco, Dec. 26.—(AP)—In a "peaceful advance for the protection of the Oued Albid front," French troops, supported by friendly tribesmen have occupied the Djebel Oghra range in the upper Atlas mountains of the Beni Mehal coun-try, establishing several permanent posts there. An official communique issued today said the operation had taken place on Dec. 24.

His range, about 140 miles southeast of Casablanca, has been the center of dissident tribes since the French occupied Morocco. It was in that region two years ago that the nephew of Theodore Steeg, then resident-general and now premier of France, was kidnapped with a friend and two young women and held for heavy ransom.

RAID RED QUARTERS

Mexico City, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Continuing a vigorous campaign against Communists, the police here raided Communist headquarters last night, arresting six men said to be Red leaders and one woman. A quantity of Communist pamphlets was seized.

BIG FOX HUNT IS ON TODAY

Pau, France, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Led by Frederick H. Prince of Boston, a group of sport loving men and women are continuing here in the foothills of the Pyrenees the tradition of fox hunting inaugurated by the late Gordon Bennett early in the present century.

No less enthusiastic is Mrs. Prince, who also has participated in the hunts for many years. With Mr. Prince riding as master of the fox hounds, an honor he has held since 1910. The hunts at Pau have become reputed throughout all Europe. Two reasons have been advanced for the immense success of the fox hunting in this section, first, because of the topography of the region and, second, because of the spirit of the foxes of Pau which have remarkable endurance and are the fastest to be found.

HAGEDORN IS MADE FIRST LIEUTENANT

Popular Officer in Company G Given Promotion Today; His Fine Record.

Raymond E. Hagedorn of Company G, 169th Infantry, Connecticut National Guard, has been commissioned First Lieutenant of the Company according to orders issued from Regimental Headquarters today. Lieut. Hagedorn took the examination for the next higher commissioned grade late last week, under the handicap of a bad sore throat which had kept him in bed for a day or so previous to the notice of the examination.

Lieutenant Hagedorn is a native of Manchester where he attended grammar and high schools. He enlisted in Company G as a private April 4, 1922 and was appointed corporal October 1, 1923 and Sergeant March 10, 1925. He was commissioned a second lieutenant, June 29, 1929 and has served continuously as an enlisted man and officer in G Company for 10 years. Lieutenant Hagedorn has served under Captain Herbert Bissell, Captain Philip Hawley and Captain James H. McVeigh the present commanding officer of G Company. He has always taken a deep interest in military affairs and is very popular with the men of the company, several of whom he served with as a private and a non-commissioned officer throughout his years of service. He is popular with the regimental officers, and due to his thorough knowledge of the military gained in the ranks and as a commissioned officer, passed his examination with excellent markings. Lieut. Hagedorn is associated with W. R. Palmer, local electrical contractor and is regarded as an excellent workman. Lieutenant Hagedorn will be assigned to administrative duties in the company in lieu of the duties of supply officer.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Troop Three
Instead of having a regular weekly meeting, Troop Three held a Christmas party at the Center church, Tuesday evening. Clarence Quimby operated the movie machine, two reels of Felix the Cat being shown.

The Rover patrol, consisting of the officers of the troop, put on a radio program of songs, readings and music. Horace Burr made a transmitting set over which the program was broadcasted. Philip Linnell, committeeman, then acted as Santa Claus, giving out presents ranging from dolls to baby rattles. Refreshments were then served, after which the troop lined up. The meeting closed with the repeating of the Scout Oath.

Notes
We sincerely thank Mr. Quimby for using the movie projector in the showing of the movies.

Troop Three is rapidly progressing in the Scoutcraft program. What about some of the other Scouts in the Troop?

CHRISTMAS BABY

Bridgeport, Dec. 26.—(AP)—The stork visited the Bridgeport hospital early Christmas Day and presented Mrs. Florence Schaefer, of 342 Nichols avenue, Stratford with a son. This was the only birth on December 25 here. On Christmas day 1929 seven births were recorded in Bridgeport hospitals.

OPEN FORUM

STICKLERS

Editor Evening Herald, South Manchester, Conn.
Dear Sir:
I wish to call your attention to the "Sticklers" solution printed in your issue of Tuesday, Dec. 23, which is decidedly wrong.
To the question of how a window four feet square could be half boarded up and still have a window four feet square anyone could answer immediately, impossible!
In the supposed solution printed in your paper which I enclose, you will note that the four foot dotted lines are the diagonals of the square so that the square is not a four foot square.
I hope to see correction of this error made in the Herald.
Very truly yours,
W. W. Harris.

65 Scarborough Road, South Manchester, Conn., Dec. 24, 1930.

Editor's Note: The solution is not incorrect. The area of the window has been cut in half but the opening still remains four feet high and four feet wide.

McCLUSKEY RUNS ON JANUARY 3RD

New York, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Junius Gilbert, New England two-mile and steeplechase champion, running in the colors of the Boston A. A. has set in his entry for the two-mile chase at the Columbus Council, K. of C. games, in Brooklyn, Jan. 3.

Gilbert will match strides with such well-known runners as Joe McCluskey, of Ferham, Joe Hagen, formerly of Columbia now of the Millrose A. A. and possibly Leo Lermond, one of America's leading milers who formerly competed at the longer distances. Lermond has indicated he may run.

TO REFLOAT FREIGHTER

Stuart, Fla., Dec. 26.—(AP)—The Coast Guard cutter Yamacraw from Savannah arrived at St. Lucie Inlet today to attempt to float the British freighter Jameson, aground off Gilbert's bar since Tuesday night. The ocean was calm and they hoped to float the freighter at high tide this afternoon.

Berlin, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Mrs. Sinclair Lewis today underwent a successful operation for appendicitis. This afternoon she was reported resting comfortably. Prof. Heubener, who operated, said she will have recovered completely within a fortnight.

RECORD MAIL DELUGES P. O.'s BEFORE XMAS

About 220,000 Pieces of Mail Matter Handled At North and South Stations.

Manchester's outgoing mail during the Christmas holiday period was at least four times the daily average amount. Postmaster Oliver F. Toop estimated that the South Manchester postoffice handled somewhere in the neighborhood of 175,000 pieces of mail during the five day stretch preceding Christmas and Postmaster Ernest F. Brown set 45,000 as the north end office figure for the same period.
A total of 151,298 pieces of mail

CROSBY WILL QUIT P. O. SUB-STATION

Center Street Office To Be Discontinued At Drug Store After January 1.

Howard L. Crosby of Crosby's Pharmacy at 446 Center street has notified Postmaster Oliver F. Toop of the South Manchester Office that he has decided not to operate the contract sub-station in conjunction with his drug store after January 1. Stamps are sold, money orders issued and mail posted, at this sub-station.
If time is money, can you blame the Scotchman who hasn't a minute to spare?

passed through the cancelling machine at the south office. This includes only letters and post cards of normal size. No check is kept on the number of larger pieces of mail cancelled by hand but Mr. Toop said the figure would probably be close to 10,000. The average outgoing mail, both letters and packages, averages less than 10,000 per day.

The cancelling machine showed the following figures prior to Christmas at the South End office:
December 19..... 15,100
December 20..... 27,700
December 21..... 27,700
December 22..... 37,000
December 23..... 38,800
December 24..... 32,998
Total..... 151,298

British Flagship Will Bring Assurances Of Friendship to American Maneuvers

Although larger and more powerful than any fighting ship the United States possesses, the Nelson, flagship of Great Britain's Atlantic fleet, will be a welcome visitor to the American fleet maneuvers off Colon. The giant craft here

By MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Writer

London—When next February the best ships in the Atlantic squadron of the American navy are engaged in their annual spring exercises off Colon, the Atlantic entrance to the Panama Canal, there will be present a great, gray, grim-looking battleship, the Nelson, bigger and more powerful than anything Uncle Sam possesses. It will be there not in anger, not to spy, but in friendship. In fact, at the express invitation of the American government, the British ship will be present to return a courtesy call paid to Scotland last summer by the American battleships Utah, Florida and Arkansas.

The thing came about in this way: The British Admiralty recently decided to send a squadron of its newest ships from its Atlantic forces to show the flag in West Indian waters. Therefore, it was decided that the Nelson, Rodney, Hawkins, York, Dorsetshire, Norfolk and Adventure, under Admiral Sir Michael Hodges, commander-in-chief of the Atlantic Fleet, should visit Jamaica, Barbadoes, Trinidad and Demerara. They are to sail on January 8.

As soon as the American government heard of this it extended a formal invitation to Admiral Hodges to visit the American fleet in his flagship, the Nelson. And this invitation was promptly accepted. His host will be Admiral J. V. Chase, in charge of the American fleet off Colon.

Most powerful ship The Nelson will be of tremendous interest to the American officers, because it is a far newer and more powerful vessel than anything in the U. S. Navy. It was completed in 1927, whereas the West Virginia was finished in 1923. The Nelson is 33,500 tons; the West Virginia 32,600. The Nelson carries nine 16-inch guns and twelve 6-inch guns. The West Virginia has eight 16-inch guns and twelve 5-inch guns. The Nelson carries 28 smaller guns. The West Virginia 9.

But aside from the professional interest in the big British ship, there will be big doings in the way of dinner parties aboard the various vessels, concerts, luncheons for the crews, and, possibly, a regatta. For the fact is that there is a better feeling between the American and British fleets than ever existed between those of any other two nations.

This dates back to the famous episode during the Spanish-American war when Admiral Dewey entered the harbor of Manila. A German squadron, more powerful than Dewey's little ships, got into a position that seemed to menace Dewey and hamper his action. Without any fuss or feathers, the British commander of a ship, more powerful than anything that the Germans had, got between them and Dewey's fleet. It was a sort of notice: "Blood is thicker than water."

Scaled a Lasting Friendship The Kaiser's men understood. Dewey had no further trouble, but from that time on the navies of the two great democracies understood each other. The friendship thus begun was fully sealed during the great war. Admiral W. S. Sims, who was sent to Europe to superintend the operations of American men of war in European waters, got on like a house afire with the British. American destroyers hunted German submarines in company with British destroyers. Admiral Strauss laid the great mine barrage across the North Sea, preventing German submarines and privateers from getting out into the Atlantic.

The American battleship squadron, under Admiral Hugh Rodman, joined the British grand fleet at Scapa Flow. How well the Yanks got on with the British was humorously exemplified in one unpremeditated incident. One day, when the commander-in-chief of the British grand fleet was absent, Rodman was asked to take charge. It was probably the first time in history that a foreigner had thus been honored and that his flag thus flew. It was Rodman, too, who entertained King George when he visited the American ships. Rodman remembered that the King had once been a naval officer and had once taken a turn at firing a furnace. He reminded the King of this incident and the monarch laughingly went below and heaved a few shovels full of coal into the furnace of one of the big American battleships.

Another very human incident is connected with Admiral Sir Lewis Bayly, who during the war commanded the First British Battle Squadron. Some of the American ships were joined to his squadron. One day some of the younger American officers were on shore and met Bayly walking in the other direction. Saluting, one of them said in his breezy American way: "Good morning, Ad!"

That to one of the most rigid disciplinarians in the British navy: There was thunder and guns. But the young officers came to love and admire the old man. And years afterwards they had a chance to show it. Admiral Bayly had retired from the navy and with his daughter had made a trip around the world. He was known to be landing at a California port after crossing the Pacific in a passenger vessel. The American Pacific fleet happened to be there. Many of its officers had served under the stern old admiral. When his ship came into harbor he was astonished to see the whole American fleet dressed in gala form, flags flying. They gave the old man a royal welcome which moved him to tears.

GOLD FOR MARBLES Hollister, Mo., Dec. 26—(AP)—School boys near here have been playing marbles with gold nuggets, which authorities believe were found near the home of Jake Fleagle, western bandit, who was shot to death at Brandon, Mo., several months ago. The boys refused to divulge the location of the cache. At the time Fleagle was killed by officers, there was much speculation here as to a cache in which it was believed he had hidden loot taken in a number of robberies.

STAGE TO RANCH

London—Thirty years ago Joseph Tapley was the matinee idol of London. Today he is a successful rancher in Ontario, Canada. After his stage career, Tapley left England and started out in Canada as a timberman. Then he took to cattle and for the past twenty-five years has been engaged in building up one of the richest ranches in the Dominion. He recently visited here with his daughter.

Thrusts and Counters Interest to Local Soldiers

The Howitzer basketball team chalked up another victory Tuesday night by defeating the "Kacy" team.

Chester A. Sendrowski, Trade School basketball star, recently enlisted for three years' service in the Howitzer Company. His work in the last two games played by the company team has been invaluable and has given the team considerable additional strength.

Next Tuesday night the Howitzer Company will have its monthly inspection. Men will wear Melton uniforms, with white shirts, collars and black ties. Due to the approaching Federal inspection, the uniforms about will receive a rigid inspection to determine their fitness. All pistol belts will be re-dyed and all holsters will be treated with saddle soap early in January.

Private Raymond J. Carey, now a student of Tufts College, who is a reservist attached to the Howitzer Company, witnessed the Company drill Tuesday night.

Corporal Harry Bellamy, former Company clerk and now a reservist attached to the Company, who is home from Worcester Polytechnic Institute for the holidays was a visitor at the Armory on Monday night.

The Howitzer Company members voted Tuesday night to devote fifteen minutes of overtime at each drill in January for the purpose of perfecting the Company in close order drill. This involuntary action on the part of the men is much appreciated by the Company officers and indicates an excellent spirit de corps.

The two local Companies have given the local High school whole-hearted co-operation in making it possible for the High school basketball games to be played on the Armory floor during the winter. It is hoped that past and present High school men will develop interest in Armory affairs, and that some will find it possible to take their places in the ranks of the Companies.

The sergeants of Company G are being examined for their examination for elevation to the grade of 2nd lieutenant of the Company. It has been the custom in the past to get officers of the lowest commissioned grade from the ranks whenever possible. An effort is being made to find out if any of the sergeants are qualified for this grade.

The Regimental non-commissioned officers' schools have completed their course of instruction. The results were more than satisfactory, and it is expected that the school will be resumed next year. The men of Company G who attended recently were high marks in their examination and in their work on the floor during drill periods shows a great improvement.

Private Alme Jarvis has been given the job of painting the lockers of G Company. Private Jarvis did such a good job painting the floor of the locker-room that he was prevailed upon to accept the new assignment. He will start the work right away. There will be no drill for Company G next Monday night on account of all drills for the last six-months period being completed.

Captain McVeigh has procured one of the new blue uniforms. The men have shown much interest in the new "blues" and the sample suit has been purchased by Sergeant Fatscher of the Howitzer Company.

POLICE COURT

Joseph Steiner, 22 years old, of 629 Center street, pleaded guilty this morning in the Manchester police court before Judge Raymond A. Johnson, to intoxication and assault on his wife. A fine of $15 and costs was imposed for intoxication, and $25 and a jail sentence of 10 days for assault. The jail sentence was suspended. The young man did not have any money and consequently had to go to jail.

Mrs. Steiner, 20 years old, told the judge that she had a child three years old and that she supported herself by working on tobacco. Her husband had worked but very little during the past month. She was at her father's home on Edmund street last night and her husband came after her. He had been drinking and on the way home he assaulted her by striking her on the nose. The blow sent her to the ground but she managed to get away from him and ran back to her father's house. He followed her and kept making a fuss about the house until Officer James Horton appeared and placed him under arrest. Mrs. Steiner stated that she could take care of herself and child without her husband as well as she could with him.

Fred Broms of New Britain who was in Hartford celebrating Christmas last night and her husband came after her. He had been drinking and last night found himself in South Manchester. Officer Arthur Seymour found the man intoxicated and wandering around the streets. He could speak but little English. He was taken to the police station. This morning Judge Johnson found him guilty and imposed a fine of $10 and costs. The judge, however, placed him in charge of Probation Officer Edward C. Elliott, Jr., and allowed him three weeks to pay.

SENSE AND NONSENSE

Radio Christmas Carol
Oh, hark the herald angels sing
From Station XYZ,
But peace on earth they do not bring
On Christmas Eve to me.
From 5 to 6 they loudly praise
Eureka home-baked beans;
From 6 to 7 sing their lays
For Rosen's Rustless Screens.
Till 8 o'clock they bo-o-dooop
For dial-twisting fans
The merits of mock-turtle soup
In sanitary cans.
They sing till 9 for Fineberg's fine
Installation Plan Apparel,
And then for Cougher's Anodyne
The herald angels carol.
The hymns they render after ten
Are not played on an organ—
They're more the kind that gentlemen
Prefer from Helen Morgan.
Our hats to herald angels doff
And praise them for their worth.
The while we pray that they'll sign off
So we'll have peace on earth.

THE TINYMIES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The happy Tinies' Christmas day was one of rest and fun and play.
They all were pleased with candy that the Travel Man had bought.
Said Clowny, "Gee, I wish 'twould snow. An' I wish I would like to go or in a great big snow storm it would be fun to be caught."
"Ha, ha," the Travel Man laughed long. And then he said, "I would be all wrong for it to snow away out here. This country's much too hot.
Don't wish for things that cannot be.
That's very good advice from me. If it should snow real hard, you'd wish for sunshine, like as not."
They sat around an hour or so and then decided they must go upon another journey. "What town's nearest here?" said one. Let's drive there ere the day is gone, unless the journey is too long. We might sleep on the desert in the open air. What fun!"
"All right," replied the Travel
Man. Then to his great big truck he ran. "Hop on and we will take a trip around this queer town first.

I've heard that Zinder's queer to see and that fact quite appeals to me.
But, first of all, let's get a drink. I have an awful thirst."
Now far away they found a well.
Of course the water tasted swell.
Then Scouty shouted, "Oh, look there. What is it that I see? Great heaps of woven grass and clay are perched upon high poles to stay.
Oh, Mister Travel Man, won't you explain this all to me?"
The Travel Man replied, "Why, sure! In those big places natives cure their grain. They call them granaries. Climb up and look around." The Tinies all took turns at this. Such openings they seldom miss. When they had seen all they could, they hopped back to the ground.
(The Tinies arrive at Api in the next story.)
