

PROHIBITION BILL BEFORE ASSEMBLY

Democrat Submits Measure To Repeal Present State Enforcement Act — Many Bills On Tax Introduced.

Hartford, Jan. 21.—(AP)—The first bill in the General Assembly bearing upon prohibition went into the House today. It was a bill by Mr. Meany, Democrat, of Bridgeport, to repeal Chapter 151 of the General Statutes, the present state enforcement act.

Another bill offered was that which would make damages $25,000 in place of the $10,000 which is now the law, as the maximum for recovery in actions arising out of death due to proved negligence.

Governor Cross did not send into the Senate today a nomination for state aviation commissioner. This probably will not go in until next week, the executive deeming no emergency exists.

Personal Taxes

Many bills offered dealt with the exemption from and payment of personal taxes, and many others would include various highways in the state highway system.

A bill to extend the term of the engraving clerk beyond the adjournment of the Assembly was adopted in both Houses with a bill fixing the salary at $4,000. The engraving clerk has been earning his labors with adjournment and after-session work was done by the secretary of state. Mr. Harney has been chosen as an engraving clerk.

One of the personal tax bills would exempt housewives and other women not engaged in gainful occupation while another would exempt widows. A third would increase the personal tax of aliens to $5 a year.

Two measures were offered dealing with retirement of state and county employees. One would retire co-employees at or after 20 years of service and after 20 years of age and up on the attainment of 70 years. The bill dealing with state employees would retire at full pay those who have had 50 years of service. (Frank D. Root, executive clerk has had more than that length of service.)

IN THE SENATE.

State Capitol, Hartford, Jan. 21.—(AP)—In recognition of the congested condition of the Senate today a bill relating to the Senate was introduced to increase the number of Supreme Court judges to 20. The present number is 18.

Governor Cross sent in his appointments as harbor commissioner those to the Senate, including Raymond A. D. Jones, former Yale football coach, and now in business on the waterfront, for the unexpired term ending July 1, 1934 and John A. Condon for the unexpired term ending July 1, 1933.

Local Judges

Judgeship resolutions included: Raymond A. Johnson, judge and Thomas Ferguson, deputy, at Manchester; M. H. Geisler, judge, and Archibald MacDonal, Jr., deputy, at Putnam.

New Haven city bills included those to authorize "airport bonds" not to exceed one million dollars; amending the sinking fund, and amending the charter concerning the teacher retirement fund.

Harold B. Mumhall, of Norwalk, asked for restoration of civil rights. A bill relating to the Board of Finance and Control would permit it to designate the time in a biennium in which appropriations for this bill if adopted, the state's building program to aid unemployment could be expedited.

OUTLINES CAUSES OF BUSINESS DROP

British Official Lists Stock Market Crash and Unwill- ingness To Make Loans.

London, Jan. 21.—(AP)—The world's economic troubles today were ascribed by Reginald McKenna, former chancellor of the Exchequer and now chairman of the Midland Bank, to three main causes. "First," he said, at a meeting of the bank directors, "we are suffering from maladministration of gold due to the relative inability or unwillingness of creditor nations to lend money to debtor nations."

"Second, the public has not yet recovered from the reaction of the American Stock Market collapse; and third, we in England are still feeling the effects of the long period of deflation."

"If monetary policy can do little in the present circumstances to stimulate recovery by positive action it can at any rate preserve conditions favorable to recovery by keeping money plentiful and cheap."

City and county jails at Mayfield and Paducah were searched by a crowd of men estimated to number between 100 and 150 last night. Officials in charge offered no resistance and permitted the search to assure members of the band the indicted man was not held in their institutions. VARIOUS OPINIONS ON BOARD'S REPORT

Comments Made By Promi- nent Men On Findings of Wickersham Commission.

(By Associated Press)
William Allen White, Emporia, Kas.—To Wickersham means to go around and around, honestly, earnestly and get nowhere.

Senator Sheppard, Democrat, Texas, author of the 18th Amendment.—I am delighted with the substantially dry recommendations coming from the commission.

Representative Black, Democrat, New York.—It is quite evident the White House, under guidance of the Anti-Saloon League directed the conclusions.

Representative La Guardia, Republican, New York.—The noble experiment still is a failure after 10 years.

McBride's Views
F. Scott McBride, National Supt. Anti-Saloon League.—It is a good report for us and what we had a right to expect.

Andrew J. Volstead, author of the Volstead Act.—Most of the recommendations made by the commission have my cordial approval.

Bishop Nicholson of the Methodist Episcopal church, president of the Anti-Saloon League of America, Detroit.—It emphasized the need of larger appropriations and more efficient forces of law enforcement. All that I steadfastly believe is wise.

Governor Morgan F. Larson of New Jersey.—As long as the prohibition law is the statute books I am in favor of it, but I agree with the Rev. James K. Shields, Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of New Jersey.—I do not think that the report as a whole is a very strong document. They appear to have taken a middle ground.

Nathan Straus, Jr., New York.—The election of 1932 will constitute National referendum on prohibition.

Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho.—Prohibitionist.—The report will soon take its place in the dust on the upper shelf and the great debate will go forward on repeal or no repeal.

Senator Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts.—Anti Prohibitionist.—Mr. Hoover takes his stand with the prohibition wing of his party and

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER CAPTIVES FOR 11 YEARS

Operatic Singer Sues Former Maharajah of Indore For $70,000 Damages; Tells Story of Imprisonment.

Bombay, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Two new faces in the gallery of women whose life courses have crossed with that of the former Maharajah of Indore were revealed in a suit for $70,000 damages filed here against the former Maharajah today.

Charges that she and her daughter were imprisoned for eleven years in the former Maharajah's palace at Indore are made by Mrs. Sowkarbai Pandarinarth Rajpurkar, widely known Indian operatic singer.

The singer charges that Sir Tukoji Paoholkar, who married the American girl Miss Nancy Miller of Seattle three years ago, and whose previous love affair with the beautiful Mumtaz Begum, Mohammedan dancer, cost him his throne, not only wrongfully restrained her and her daughter but seized her furniture, jewelry and other property in Bombay.

Brought to Indore.
Her petition relates that she and her daughter lived with Shrimam Tatyashob Holkar, a cousin of the former Maharajah in Bombay in 1916. In October of that year the Sir Tukoji sent an officer from Indore to inform them that their presence was required in Indore for participation in some festivities in connection with the birth of a child to the Maharajah, the ruler's wife.

At Indore the singer and her daughter again were made prisoner by the Maharajah. Thereafter the two women were kept in close confinement because, she alleges, they refused to accede to his proposals that both mother and daughter live with him as his mistresses.

After eleven years confinement she gained release upon a petition to the Viceroy of India.

Attorneys for the former Maharajah, who is now living with his American wife in France, contend that the acts against the client were really carried out by Indore state and that therefore the former Maharajah could not be held liable.

CROSS TO VISIT MERIDEN SCHOOL

If Things Are Not Run Right There, He Says, He Will Order New Probe.

Waterbury, Jan. 21.—(AP)—The Waterbury Republican today said that Governor Cross intends to make personal inspections of the State School for Boys, at Meriden, the Connecticut Reformatory, at Cheshire, and all other institutions on the basis of such inspections "he may order more thorough investigations."

The governor told the Republican that Robert J. Caldwell of New York had written to the effect that another investigation was needed and that James S. Peck, of Meriden, former head farmer at the school, also had written him that conditions in the school "were still bad."

Both asserted some of the directors and many of the employees responsible for conditions "previously disclosed" at last year's investigation, remain at the school. The governor said charges contained in the letters were too vague to warrant a complete investigation.

Governor Cross was quoted as saying: "If any citizen of the state will make specific charges in writing I will order an investigation. I intend to make a personal visit to the school within the near future and look things over for myself. If things are not right there I will appoint a commission to investigate it."

JOHN P. STUDLEY, EX-MAYOR, DIES

Was Republican Gubernatorial Candidate In 1912; Passes Away In the South.

New Haven, Jan. 21.—(AP)—A long career of public service was closed today with the death of John P. Studley, former mayor of this city and Republican gubernatorial candidate in 1912. Mr. Studley who was 85 years old, died last night at Memorial hospital in Winston-Salem, N. C., of pneumonia after an illness of two weeks. He went to North Carolina several weeks ago in the hope that milder climate would improve his somewhat impaired health.

Mrs. Charles S. Phelps of Meriden, a daughter, and her husband, of Meriden, were with him when he died.

Defeated by Baldwin
Mr. Studley, a native of Sharon and a direct descendant of an old Colonial family, served four terms as mayor of this city and in 1912 was defeated for governor by Simon E. Baldwin. During the Civil War he served in Company B of the 20th Regiment.

He was graduated from Phillips Academy in 1863, attended Yale for two years and later the Yale law school, from which he was graduated in 1875.

He served successfully on the common council as assistant judge and later judge of the New Haven City court and in 1887 was chosen judge of the Common Pleas court, holding this judgeship for 24 years. After his four terms of mayor, he also served as Judge of Probate in the New Haven District.

MAY LEASE ISLAND FOR HUB AIRPORT

Mayor Curley Tells Con- gressmen Site Will Be Best In the Entire World.

Washington, Jan. 21.—(AP)—A House military affairs sub-committee today approved the James W. Brewster bill to lease Boston's Island to the city of Boston for an airport.

Mayor Curley of Boston appeared before the committee and asked approval of the same bill so Boston could proceed with the development of the "most accessible air port to any large city in the world."

Mayor Curley testified $25,000,000 already had been spent by the city and private interests to develop the airport. With completion of a tunnel from the heart of the city to Porter street, he added, the airport would be within three to five minutes of the Boston financial center.

Not since the Civil War, Curley said, has Governors Island been of any use for offensive or defensive military purposes. He added, however, that the proposed lease by the War Department would contain a reversion clause by which the government could take over the island in war time.

Would Create Work
Contemplated construction, Mayor Curley testified, would provide work to "make possible the absorption of 1,000 men from six months to a year." Regardless of Congressional action on the lease, the mayor added, the city would continue its work on the $16,000,000 tunnel to Porter street for which bids are to be opened February 27. In addition, he testified, the city proposes to spend $500,000, for the widening of Porter street.

The Boston mayor enlarged on the possibilities of landing space and runways for airplanes, saying the Governors Island airport has "possibilities for handling the largest planes now in use or foreseen in the near future."

ELIHU ROOT ADVOCATES JOINING WORLD COURT

Eminent Statesman, Now 86 Years of Age, Gives Reasons Why United States Should Join In Movement.

Washington, Jan. 21.—(AP)—A group of women crowded the Senate foreign relations committee room today as the venerable American statesman, Elihu Root, urged American adherence to the World Court.

Chairman Borah, of the committee, warned at the outset of the hearing that there must be silence.

Mr. Root, who will be 86 years old next month, could barely be heard above the babble of voices and confusion outside the committee room as he related his part in drafting the modified proposal for American adherence.

Sitting at the end of a long table opposite Chairman Borah, an opponent of the court, Mr. Root was not interrupted as he went into the history of the tribunal and the details of America's first proposal to enter the court with reservations five years ago.

CONGRESS PLANS NIGHT SESSIONS

Other Matters Than the Pro- hibition Report Occupy Attention of Senate.

Washington, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Echoes of the Wickersham report sounded through capitol corridors today while the Senate and House worked on legislation far-removed from prohibition.

The Senate headed toward a night session to complete debate on the Interior Department supply bill, to which it has attached Democratic Leader Robinson's $25,000,000 resolution to aid the poverty stricken.

A calendar of miscellaneous public domain bills occupied the House chamber, but talk in the ante rooms was on that dozen conflicting reports turned out by the Law Enforcement Commissioners.

Senator Tydings, Democrat, Maryland, proposed a Senate investigation of how the commission's "conclusions" were reached, and Interior advice was received from outside sources.

In the House, another anti-prohibitionist, Representative La Guardia, presented resolutions to give Congress power to regulate liquor traffic and for a joint Congressional investigation of prohibition.

Government Agencies
The House received from its appropriations committee a bill asking $1,052,568,000 for independent government agencies during the next fiscal year, an increase of $246,790,000 over current expenses.

Another administration measure proposing a $100,000,000 increase in the government's public building program outside of the District of Columbia was approved by the House building committee.

Elihu Root, former secretary of state, appeared before the Senate foreign relations committee to advocate American adherence to the World Court through acceptance of the protocol which he helped revise by Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, calling for codification of all veterans' laws by Veterans Administrator Hines in order that a "clear and complete statement of all rights and privileges" of war veterans may be had.

Unemployment Report
Another resolution adopted was by Senator LaFollette, Republican, Wisconsin, to request the President's employment commission to DISPUTE CENTERS ON HOW FAR DID WICKERSHAM COMMISSION MEAN TO GO ON AMENDMENT REVISION AND WHAT WILL BE POLITICAL EFFECT OF PRESIDENT'S OPPOSITION TO SUCH A STEP? Many Opinions.

Washington, Jan. 21.—(AP)—The growing tumult of discussion, dispute and speculation over the Wickersham prohibition report centered today around two salient queries:

How far did the commission mean to go toward recommending revision of the Eighteenth Amendment? And what will be the political effect of President Hoover's opposition to such a step?

As it appeared the commission members over reported by President Hoover had intervened to forestall an unequivocal modification proposal that the following statement was issued by Chairman Wickersham:

"The statement this morning in the Washington Herald that the President persuaded this commission to abandon a tentative recommendation in favor of revision of the Eighteenth Amendment is absolutely untrue and without foundation."

Neither the chairman nor any member of the commission now in Washington, however, was willing to tell the full story of the weeks of discussion within the commission, or explain how or when the decision against an out and out revision proposal was reached.

As it appears in the combined commission reports signed by each of the members but one, the suggested draft of a new Eighteenth Amendment was preceded by an "if" and by a statement that opinion among members was divided.

Yet at least six of the eleven declared full story of the weeks of discussion within the commission, or explain how or when the decision against an out and out revision proposal was reached.

Own Conclusions
Until other members speak, the capital and the country apparently will be left to draw their own conclusions and place their own interpretation on a report which is being variously interpreted today as dry, wet, and straggled.

Dispute over the position taken by the President in sending the report to Congress.

With whatever effect on his fortunes in 1932, he said definitely that he not only agreed the amendment should not be repealed, but did not want to be understood even as favoring a revision of it.

Speaking as an individual, and not in his official role as chairman of the Republican National Committee, Senator Fess of Ohio indicated after White House action today that he expected Mr. Hoover's stand on the Wickersham report to be his stand in the presidential campaign of next year.

Not Discussed
The Ohio Senator was quick to add that he had not discussed the report with the president. For himself, he said he regarded the conclusions of the commission as "in the main, encouraging to the dry cause."

A Democratic senator opposing prohibition, William of Massachusetts, placed upon the president's message the interpretation that Mr. Hoover had definitely taken up the dry side, and would lead his party in 1932 against revision.

Another Democratic anti-prohibitionist, Representative Mary T. Norton, of New Jersey, described the president's stand as "amazing" in view of the revision leanings she saw in the report itself.

From a Republican opposed to the dry statutes, Representative Schaefer of Wisconsin, came this observation: "It may be necessary for Congress to conduct a survey to ascertain what conclusion was really reached."

Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah, joined the President in objecting to the proposal for replacing the Eighteenth Amendment to empower Congress to regulate traffic in liquor.

A resolution to that end, as well as for a Congressional investigation of enforcement was introduced by Representative La Guardia, Republican, New York.

Smoot said if enforcement were proved impossible under present methods, he would be willing to consider a plan for government control. As for the commission's conditionally-proposed plan, however, he said it would be "impracticable and unworkable because it would simply mean that every Congress

MACDONALD PARTY DEFEATED 282-249

But Prime Minister Says Government Will Not Be Obligated To Resign.

London, Jan. 21.—(AP)—The MacDonald government was defeated in the House of Commons today on an amendment to the education bill but Prime Minister MacDonald said no vital principle was involved. Thus the government will not be obliged to resign.

The defeat by 33 votes came unexpectedly.

The bill was moved by John Scurr, Roman Catholic Labor member, who previously had moved an amendment which would authorize the use of government funds to enable denominational schools to meet expenses incurred by the provision in the bill raising the school-leaving age from 14 to 15 years.

He said in making that motion, that this provision meant that the denominational schools would need $5,000,000 to enlarge their buildings.

STORE THEFT LOOKS LIKE AN INSIDE JOB

Cash Register At Polish Grocery Cleaned While Lone Clerk Is At Luncheon.

During the absence of the manager from the store of the Polish Corporation at 71 North street yesterday afternoon someone entered the store and removed from the cash register not only the receipts, but the money that had been left in the drawer to the amount of $115.71.

One thing that alone gives the police something to work on and that is the size of the window through which the exit was made. There was no broken glass of any kind and it appears evident that the work was done by someone who had concealed himself inside of the building awaiting the departure of the manager and during his absence entered the store from the cellarway and made off with the money without much trouble.

Because of the falling off in patronage of the store there is only one clerk now employed during the day, Benjamin Partyka. He opens the store in the morning and closes it when he goes to lunch at noon. Following this custom he worked in the store until 1:10 yesterday, he said this morning, leaving at that time to go to his home at 36 North street, which is directly west of the end of Golway street. It was an hour later when he returned.

On entering the store he noticed that the door leading to the cellar was open. This door is at the southwest corner, or near the front of the store.

Noticing this door open, Mr. Partyka said, he thought there might be something wrong and glanced towards the cash register. The letter "A" with the upper keys showing the amount 15 cents punched attracted his attention. His letter on the cash register is "B". An examination of the cash register showed that all the money in the register was gone with the exception of a few pennies which were in the back part of the register drawer.

He at once started a search and going into the cellar found that the door, with two sets of sliding locks had been left open. This leads into the room used for the serving of refreshments with stairs leading down from Turn hall above. The door to the hall was locked, but the door leading into the room where the pool and card tables are located, which was used as a clubroom until a month ago, was also open. Over in the southwest corner of this room is located the door that leads to the boiler room, also found open. In the east end of this room is a window, used for shooting coal into the boiler room. This window was open and the signs on the window outside indicated that it was by this window that the escape had been made.

After this hasty investigation Officer John Crockett was called. The window through which the person went out is 14 by 18 inches and would not allow for a large person to crawl through.

Using this as a possible method of a check up Officer Crockett questioned several who were in the store at the time the manager closed up and also went over the grounds, but there seemed to be little that would lead to the arrest of anyone concerned.

It is the opinion of those who have looked over the building that the act was committed by someone who knew the general layout well and had concealed himself inside, had waited until the manager left for home, as is his usual custom, and then entered the store, tapped the register and had gone out. It would not be possible to enter from the outside door leading to the cellar, which is located on the front part of the building, as there are several barrels containing salt fish and salt pork set against the door on the landing that could not be pushed away.

As the key to the cash register is not held by the manager it was not until 6 o'clock that the amount of money that had been in the register was learned. It was found that it totaled $115.71. A report of the burglary and the result of the investigation made was received by Chief S. G. Gordon from Officer Crockett at 5:45 last night.

ty days was ordered yesterday on the recommendation of a mental specialist called in by her mother and step-father who opposed the marriage. Previous developments in the differences with her parents had included a night in the Norwalk hospital, flight from the automobile of her parents after her release, and a night spent in jail after she had insisted on walking the streets all night rather than return to her home.

Has Another One. Waller, when asked if he intended to marry her on her release, replied: "Do I look like the marrying kind? Take it easy, Kid, I got another one waiting for me."

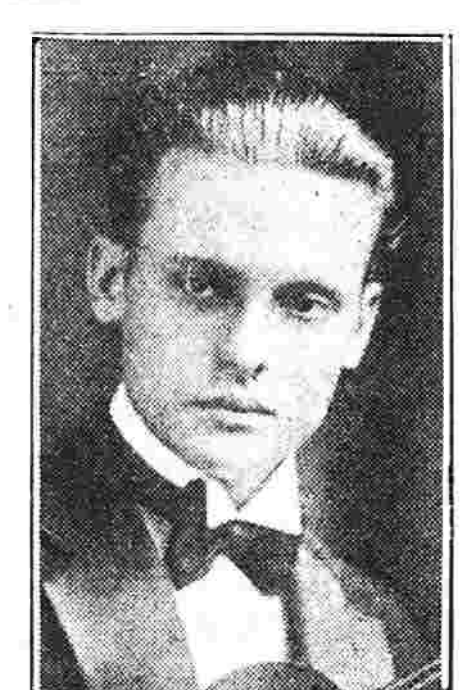

Miss Graesser's answer to all arguments was: "Love is stronger than money, and I won't give him up. We'll get along."

Her parents were divorced some time ago. Mrs. Graesser subsequently married Henry D. Carlton, formerly associated with Graesser in business. Miss Graesser met Waller when she moved with her mother and step-father to Darien two months ago.

DEVICE INCREASES OUTPUT OF NEEDLES

New Electric Furnace Installed For Lydall and Foulds By Electric Co.

The Manchester Electric Company has recently installed an electric hardening furnace of the most modern design at the Lydall and Foulds needle factory on North Main street replacing the gas furnace used for many years. The type installed at the North End plant is similar to many now in use for tempering metals at the Pratt and Whitney plant in East Hartford.

For several years past the company has been unable to maintain a uniform heat for tempering the various steel manufactures but since the installation of the new electric furnace the capacity of the heat tempering plant has been practically doubled. Under the old method of tempering, daily operations of the furnace was necessary. With the new furnace in operation for the past two weeks heat treatments for tempering purposes are only necessary every other day.

The new furnace has a heating capacity of 2,000 degrees, Fahrenheit, of which only 1,600 degrees are used in the processing of the stock used in making the knitting needles manufactured. All switches connected with the oven are automatic, and the board is equipped with red, white, and blue gauge lights to indicate any fluctuation in oven temperatures. When the switch is turned on a small red arrow travels along a visible indicator until it reaches a black arrow set at 1,600 degrees where it automatically shuts off the current. If the oven temperature exceeds by five degrees the required temperature a red light is lighted on the board. In like manner if the heat drops five degrees below standard a blue light flashes. When the temperature has attained the standard required a white light flashes and is maintained throughout the operation of heat treatment.

According to Superintendent Isaac Lydall it is possible to reach a maximum temperature at all times, producing more and better standardized stock than under the old system of heating.

VARIOUS OPINIONS ON BOARD'S REPORT

nails his own and party's banner to the dry masthead. Senator Tydings, Democrat, Maryland—Anti Prohibitionist—The significant thing is that after two years' study the majority finds that prohibition is unsatisfactory. Britain, As Usual. William Hale Thompson, Mayor, Chicago—More hokey, more delay—no action. Great Britain is getting rich selling the Americans rotten booze at three times its worth.

Senator Jones, Republican, Washington—Prohibitionist—I like the definite clear cut stand the President takes. There is no question about his position.

Chairman Simeon D. Fess, of the Republican National committee, prohibition advocate, Washington—The report in the main is sound and satisfactory. Governor J. B. Ely, Massachusetts—It would seem to me that Congress must now recognize the demands of the several states that this question be resubmitted to the people.

Clarence Darrow, lawyer and prohibition foe—The report doesn't mean a thing. We are just where we were before. Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Board of Temperance of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, Martin, Texas—The core of the report, that Federal appropriation should be substantially increased, is eminently sound.

Church attendance has decreased two per cent in Iowa rural communities during the last five years.

Many Press Comments On Dry Board's Report

(By Associated Press)

New York Times: The fact of outstanding interest in the entire report is that six of the eleven commissioners are of one mind as to the one form of modification that should be adopted, if any.

Spokane Spokesman Review: The big wet Association Against the Prohibition Amendment and its ally, the Modification League, Inc., will find no cheer in these declarations.

Los Angeles Times: While, in the main, the document is strongly dry, it has the appearance of an effort to compromise conflicting views which cannot, in fact, be compromised and, as such, will suit nobody.

Raleigh (N. C.) News and Observer: The conclusions and recommendations are in accord with the views of those who believe in the wisdom of National prohibition.

New York Daily News: President Hoover is identical in opinion with the crowd of intellectuals he picked to tell him and the country that prohibition is O. K.

Indianapolis Star: The opinions of the members (of the commission) are indicative of what might be expected from any group of intelligent and conscientious people selected at random. They are for law enforcement even if the law is not 100 per cent satisfactory.

"A Hung Jury": The spectacle of a hung jury, whose 11 members have submitted 12 verdicts. Chaos, confusion, and contradictions are everywhere in evidence throughout this 80,000 word fruit of 23 months of difficult labor.

Rochester, N. Y., Times Union: The commission's group opinion is that the country should stand by the 18th Amendment and seek to improve National prohibition enforcement under it.

Philadelphia Enquirer: While it advocates enforcement, it gives reasons why enforcement is next to impossible.

Baltimore Sun: Taking the report as a whole, the public is not very far from the starting place. The commission has told us facts that we already know.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch: To give Congress control over the liquor business would be to make it a cockpit and expunge from our public life every other consideration.

Denver Rocky Mountain News: The flood of Wickersham reports simply adds fuel to the raging prohibition fire.

Ponca City News: Those favoring strict enforcement will find considerable solace.

Wichita Beacon: The American people never will put the government in the liquor business.

"Decidedly Dry": Decidedly dry. Prohibitionists have room to be assured.

Duluth News-Tribune: A majority of the commission agrees, as a majority of the people will agree, that prohibition has failed.

San Francisco Chronicle: A perfect picture of the state of the public mind.

Nebraska State Journal, Lincoln: Little comfort for the wets. The findings are approved by public sentiment that exists in all parts of the country to a great degree and which is especially strong in the Midwest.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: Victory on Capitol Hill goes to the dries on points.

Cincinnati Times-Star: It is unlikely the report will materially change the prohibition situation.

Atlanta Journal: If the report does nothing else it at least should serve to remind fanatics in both camps that there are not the only opinions which can be held in high conscience and good faith.

Philadelphia Evening Public Ledger: Prohibition is where it was before.

Norfolk Virginian-Pilot: The most damaging blow against constitutional prohibition that has been delivered by any responsible body during the life of the Eighteenth Amendment.

"Settled Nothing": Kansas City Star: Settled nothing.

Birmingham Abe-Herald: If the superior intelligence and quality represented on the commission could find no key to the riddle, there must be something inherently elusive in this question.

New Orleans Item: The report will doubtless prove a source of political grief to Mr. Hoover.

Little Rock (Ark.) Democrat: Mr. Hoover appointed the commission as a political gesture and it has made a political report.

Atlanta Constitution: The mountain has labored and produced a mouse. The chief signers of the report is that its members are hopelessly divided.

Helena Record Herald: The fact complete harmony did not prevail in the submission of the final report leaves a strong doubt as to the value of the findings.

BREAKS OCEAN RECORD RICH WIDOW WEDS

New York, Jan. 21—(AP)—The liner Bremen has wrested from her sister ship Europa the trans-Atlantic speed record between Bremen, Germany and New York.

With Captain C. W. Hagemann, a relief commander, on the bridge she docked at her Brooklyn pier yesterday six days and three hours after leaving her home port—surpassing the Europa's speed record crossing by three hours. Friendly tides and fair weather made it possible.

The Europa still holds the blue ribbon for the fastest voyage across the Atlantic, however, once held by the Bremen. On March 25, 1930, she steamed from Cherbourg breakwater to Ambrose lightship in four days, seventeen hours and six minutes.

And as usual, O. G. ran away with the vote.

Take it from me... or leave it... so far, I haven't been able to make OLD GOLD lose.

TO CLASSIFY AUTO CRASHES BY MAKE

Stoeckel Announces New Plan To Ascertain Causes of Accidents On Road.

A detailed study of the performance of every kind of automobile used in Connecticut is to be made by the State Motor Vehicle Department to classify, if possible, the types of accidents to which the various makes are prone because of mechanical failures or lack of safety essentials.

Supplementing this announcement, Commissioner Stoeckel said today that information filed with the department or collected by department inspectors concerning accidents will be the basis for the study.

Car buying on a safety basis is not yet here, says the bulletin. "That is, it is not practiced to a degree proportionate with purchasing because of spectacular features."

"Suppose a few thousand citizens ask for, or even notice the safety equipment, is it not true that their demands will be met and that more highway safety will result?"

"Sometimes, but rarely, a prospective owner inquires in a cursory manner whether 'She will stay on the road' or 'trips the brakes' at the lights, or does something of a perfunctory nature."

"There are a number of pertinent questions the car buyer should have answered. How about the car as a fire risk? Is the wiring protected? Is the gas tank in the safest location? Has the car safety glass? The buyer should be certain the car fits him and that his view is not obstructed. He should inspect the bumpers, horn and windshield wiper."

CROSS APPROVES SWEDISH SYSTEM

Governor Makes Comment On Wickersham Report; Is For Repeal, He Says.

Hartford, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Governor W. L. Cross was today disinclined to comment at great length on the Wickersham report on the enforcement of National prohibition and the accompanying suggestions to President Hoover, but did think some of the suggestions made were worthy of careful consideration.

"My stand on the question of prohibition is well known," said Governor Cross. "It has been stated and restated. I am for repeal of the National prohibition amendment. I do think, however, that what Anderson has to say in the report is worthy of careful consideration. He refers to the Swedish system and it is possible that it might be applicable in this country."

"I am naturally pleased that Mr. Wickersham, even in a modified way, favors a constitutional convention for consideration of the prohibition question. I had frequently mentioned the possibility of a constitutional convention for consideration of the prohibition question."

"The idea that an individual is responsible for the purchase of his car, that he ought to see that he gets one in which he is safe, has perhaps not heretofore been expressed. The idea that he is responsible for his own operation, and that he will necessarily, as time goes on and conditions become more difficult, be held more and more sternly to this duty, has been often stated. The conclusion is inevitable that individual performance in purchasing, maintenance of the car's safety features and operation must be better. Performance which is below the average must be brought up to it. Personal circus performances which are above or below the average of operation and which amount to exercises of skill to the peril of others, either directly or indirectly, must be eliminated. The more nearly the general average of performance can be approached, the fewer accidents there will be. It is apparent that if every operator knows what to expect of every other operator, and if performance of each approximates the average, then the number of unforeseen situations and traffic difficulties which can occur will be decreased."

PROHIBITION BILL BEFORE ASSEMBLY

IN THE HOUSE

State Capitol, Hartford, Jan. 21.—(AP)—The business offered in the House was greater than yesterday and already is far ahead of the Senate volume. Judgeship resolutions came in freely. Among them were these:

George H. Torrey and Arthur C. Donais, Plainfield; Abraham Wofsey, and Justus J. Fennel, Stamford; Archibald Duffield, Derby; William A. Wilcox and Billings B. Fair, Stonington; Henry A. Adams and Louis J. Fontaine, Sprague; Albert S. Bill and Jacob Schwolsky, West Hartford; Frederick Schofield, Waterford.

Under one bill, all male prisoners in county jails would be used for repairing and construction of highways.

Highway System Highways which would be included in the state highway system are: The Brooklyn-Windham turnpike; a section of Hampton street in Hampton running to the Abington Four-Corners in Pomfret; a section of Hampton street in Hampton running toward Scotland to the junction of Plainfield and Windham roads; and a highway running between East Hampton and Haddam.

A number of bills relating to the calendar are: S. P. Mead, judge, and J. F. Fearhake, associate, at New Canaan; Daniel M. Cronin, judge, at New London; C. B. Dana, at Darien; C. B. Sturges, judge, and E. L. Reynolds, deputy, at East Haven.

A bridge bill would continue the recess committee, which will report on a new bridge across the Connecticut river, as the construction commission, with an appropriation of $5,000,000.

The present condition of financial affairs in Windham may be dealt with in several bills relating to refunding bonds and assessors in that town, and also in the city of Willimantic.

Others who own or lease land for agriculture purposes would be permitted to possess fire arms for the protection of their property under a bill.

Another would amend the Litchfield Electric Light and Power Company charter to permit it to operate in a section of Harwinton.

Other Bills Offered Among the other bills offered were:

Amending the charter of the Mechanics Savings Bank of Winsted; amending an act concerning warnings of town meetings; including the Warren-Kent highway, and Adam street from Seymour to Ansonia in the highway system; providing state aid to certain towns transporting children to elementary schools; amending an act concerning requirements for certification of registration to practice the healing arts; amending an act concerning the election of assessors in Seymour; and setting the fees of

Meaning of Term

"Second, there was ignorance on the part of the other powers of the council as to the meaning of the term intended in the reservation. There was ignorance as to the scope of the United States would give to the term 'interests.' It might mean legal interest; it might mean political interest and so forth."

Mr. Root, a former secretary of state, received instances of the application of such provisions in other treaties. He recalled the treaty of 1832 with Russia which he said was terminated.

"No difficulties arise any more over termination," he said. "So the Senate's reservation and its acceptance very much relieved the difficulty in making the agreement."

Root then took up the negotiations for meeting the Senate's objectionable reservation regarding advisory opinions. He met two years ago with other international jurists to solve the problem.

Reading the solution then worked out, as provided in the protocol now before the Senate, Root said "it does not in the slightest degree modify the Senate's reservation."

He said the United States was protected at all times by another Senate reservation already accepted by the other powers "which makes the agreement terminable at will."

JOHNSON PROPOSES BRIDGE COMMITTEE

Recommends Names of Four Men To Legislature — Asks Five Millions Fund.

Another step towards the erection of the proposed new bridge to span the Connecticut River was taken yesterday when Judge Raymond Johnson, of this place, presented in the Legislature a bill appointing Edward N. Allen of Hartford, N. Howard Brewer of East Hartford, M. S. Tooker of Wethersfield and himself a member of the committee to have charge of the erection of the bridge together with two other members later to be appointed by the governor.

The resolution was referred to the committee on roads, bridges and rivers. The resolution also carries with it a recommendation for an appropriation of $5,000,000 to carry through the project.

The plan of the bridge and its location was made known first by Judge Johnson in a talk before the Chamber of Commerce of Manchester. Mr. Johnson, chairman of the bridge commission appointed at the session of the Legislature two years ago has been in close touch with the plans and as members of the committee he has named men from the section of Hartford county, Manchester, Hartford, East Hartford and Wethersfield, that are the most concerned with the building of the new bridge.

The president should console himself with the thought that if the Senate doesn't pay much attention to his words he can get plenty for them as a writer later on.

Garfield in Rome Rome, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Harry A. Garfield, president of Williams college, Massachusetts, was the guest of the University of Rome today at a reception in his honor held in the Academic Senate.

The reception was presided over by Professor Millsevich, rector of the university, and was attended by many distinguished guests, including Count Elio, who was Italy's representative at the Institute of Politics at Williamstown, in 1929; Professor Dionisi, of the Italian Royal Academy, and a number of Senators.

ITALIANS DISAPPOINTED Rome, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Italian wine growers and merchants with large vine stocks are disappointed at the dryness of the Wickersham report on prohibition. They had been hoping that by some magic the report would turn the country wet overnight.

There was no surprise in official quarters, however, and no comments on what is regarded as purely an internal matter in America. The Italian Embassy at Washington will remain wet as ever, it was said.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 21.

for the Wickersham commission except to get together and vote for it against, at the beginning, just as it did at the end.

Altogether this has been the most stunning example of wasted effort in the history of American government.

RED BLOOD AGAIN

Readers of The Herald who took note of the extracts from an Oklahoma City newspaper editorial, cheering the Arkansas food rioters, reprinted in these columns yesterday will be interested, perhaps, in the following.

It will be remembered that the Oklahoma City writer described the Arkansas rioters as splendid 100 per cent Americans who were willing to fight rather than let their families starve and who were animated by the spirit of Concord and Lexington, Valley Forge, Abraham Lincoln, etc.

Now comes the news that an Oklahoma City mob, not unnaturally following the advice of this red blooded journalist who so enthusiastically advocates going out on your muscle "with a gat on your hip and a fist for a crest" if you happen to be hard up, has raided a grocery store in its home town just like the heroes of England, Ark.

The Oklahoma City police, somehow or other, failed to get the same reaction to the situation as the editor in question. They used tear gas on the mob and arrested twenty-six of the most active rioters. Also the fighting spirit of the hungry ones seems to have been just a shade below the par established at Concord and Lexington, inasmuch as the butcher of the raided establishment, by flourishing a keen carving knife, kept 300 hot blooded sons of freedom away from the meat counter so that they had to be content with what groceries they could steal.

We are waiting with some impatience to see whether the unknown friend who sent us the earlier Oklahoma City newspaper clippings will supply us with the comments of our editorial brother on the performance of the hundred per centers right at home.

Somehow our guess is that what's cavilar in Arkansas may smell like stale fish eggs in Oklahoma.

DISTRICT COURTS

In support of the proposal to substitute 36 district courts, presided over by a flock of judges receiving salaries far in excess of the present average, for the 60 existing city, borough and town courts, it has been asserted that Connecticut now has more courts than England, Scotland and Wales. Then, of course, everybody laughs and the number of our courts does look foolishly large by comparison.

The trouble with this statement is that it isn't true. It makes no account of the British magistracies which are not, in the common speech or in legal phraseology, spoken of as courts but which are just as much courts as our town, borough and city tribunals. There are probably nearly as many minor courts in Britain, in proportion to the population, as there are in this country. The institution of the local justice of the peace, with jurisdiction over lesser misdemeanors, did not originate in America. We copied it from Britain, where it still obtains.

The only excuse for such a statement as the one above is that we call every court a court while on the other side they only apply that term to certain higher tribunals. They do not take a misdemeanor "to court" over there, they take him "before the magistrate."

We shrewdly suspect that most of the arguments in favor of the district court plan, upon examination, will turn out to be quite as fallacious as this one of a ridiculous multiplicity of courts.

The proposed system would supply a large number of rather magnificent jobs, to be sure, and this bait may attract some advocates. But in view of the fact that the average police court does not consume much over an hour a day of its judge's time—if that much—it is to be anticipated that the people of Connecticut will have something to say about paying $6,500 a year to each of about fifty lawyers to fill those positions.

THE PRESIDENT GOES DRY

In his attitude toward the Law Enforcement Commission's report President Hoover assumes an unqualified position of leadership. Unhappily his leadership becomes definitely that of the thick-and-thin prohibitionists. In order to assume it it has been necessary for him to repudiate the findings of his own commission. Only that part of the report which is opposed to outright repeal of the Eighteenth amendment at the present time meets his approval. With the qualification that revision of the amendment is likely to become necessary and wise in the future he will have nothing to do. And since that qualification colors and amends the commission's opposition to immediate repeal at every point it can be disregarded only through a determination to select and reject according to the preconceptions of the determining mind.

President Hoover, then, has chosen to identify himself as the head and front of uncompromising Eighteenth amendment federal prohibition advocacy.

In so doing he has deliberately elected to antagonize the millions of voters in his own party who believe with all the strength of their being that stiff, uncompromising adherence to constitutional prohibition is an enormous mistake. We stand in admiration of his courage, for he has apparently been willing to sacrifice himself to a principle. But he might have saved himself much of the unfavorable reaction certain to follow if he had not delayed until this late hour his open commitment to the cause of the bitter-ender dregs.

IN NEW YORK

New York, Jan. 21.—We who write of a kaleidoscopic New York—a New York of transient fads and fashions, of high life and low life, of play-boys and actors and singers and artists and writers, of fame that is born and dies overnight—

We have a way of forgetting the rivers that run to the sea just outside the island's rim; of forgetting that an island has to be surrounded by water, even as the geography taught us at a very early age.

And then the Manhattan that was Manhattan comes stepping out of the past, dressed in the architecture of another century. Hanover Square. . . . And what was once Coenties Slip. . . . Ancient slate roofs, appearing picturesquely between modern and unromantic square brick warehouses. . . . The site of Captain Kidd's one-time residence before he left his beautiful wife to venture forth on a London-made racket which wound him up in a noose.

And then, along the cobbled waterfront, where the shops are for all the world like the country stores of our youths. . . . Shops where you can get anything and everything from a collar button and gum drops. . . . And here you'll find the sailors of the world, hastily laying in supplies before taking to the sea again. . . . And so the Battery, which never wants for a crowd. . . . Always, ill weather or fair, tired city dwellers come as near the edge of the water as they may and look hungrily upon it.

All this occurred to me this cold night, when with pipe and muted radio I turned again to Melville and "Moby Dick" and began to read. "Go from Corlears Hook to Coenties Slip on a dreamy Sabbath afternoon, and from there to Whitehall northward. There now is your insular city of Manhattans, belted round by wharves as Indian Isles by coral reefs—commerce surrounds it with your surf. Right and left the streets take you to the waterfront. Its extreme downtown is the Battery, where that noble mole is washed by the waves, and cooled by breezes. . . . Look at the crowd of water gazers there.

"What do you see? Posted like silent sentinels all around the tower stand thousands upon thousands of mortal men fixed upon ocean reveries. Some leaning against the spiles; some seated upon the pier-heads; some looking over the bulwarks of ships from China, some high aloft in the rigging as though trying to get a still better seaward peep.

"But they are all landmen; of the week days pent up in lath and plaster—tied to counters, nailed to benches, clinched to desks." . . . And so it is to this day. Now they are penned in giants of steel and stone. The rigging is gone and now the giant prows of great liners become the objects of awe. The very people you are likely to meet a few hours later, stepping and shoving in subways, the very people you will shove off the curbstone later as you hurry through Broadway to a theater.

Yes, for a few moments every so often, most New Yorkers are reminded that, after all, they are islanders.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK MCCOY

Many attempts have been made to define perfect health. Today I will endeavor to describe those normal conditions which should be present with one who claims to be in perfect health.

Starting with the head, there should be a full head of lustrous, strong hair. The hearing and eyesight should be perfect. Because a faulty development of the eyeball it may be necessary to wear glasses, but the eyes should be clear and sparkling. There should be enough perfect teeth for purposes of thorough mastication.

One should be able to breathe freely through the nose both while awake and asleep. The respiration and breathing rate for adults should be 18 per minute, with a steady pulse of 72 per minute. Respiration in a young child should be 30, with a pulse of 120, gradually changing until the adult stage is reached at about twenty years of age. The pulse should always be approximately four times the breathing rate.

The skin should be pink, soft and warm in all parts of the body, with no blemishes. The body should have a beautiful contour, such as seen in the great masterpieces of painting and sculpture. The body should be free from pain, and one should be unconscious of its action of any of the internal organs.

There should be three bowel movements daily, the stool round, smooth and well formed. The urine should be clear and straw colored.

A good appetite should be always experienced in the morning and once or twice more daily. There should be a feeling of contentment after eating, but not drowsiness.

The sleep should be restful, with no dreams. One should awaken refreshed in the morning and eager for work.

Those who are well have a kindly feeling toward all of their associates, with a real interest in their friends' problems but complete tolerance to the views of everyone.

There should be no pain or discomfort in any part of the body and the mind should not be easily irritated.

If the above description fits any of you who are reading this article, you may be quite certain you are in perfect physical health. However, it is not a bad plan to have a complete physical examination made once or twice yearly, as your doctor may be able to discover deviations from the normal which have not shown as symptoms.

Tomorrow I will attempt to describe some of the symptoms of ill health.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Shingles)

Question: Mrs. O. H. asks: "What is the cause of shingles and are they curable? When shingles run around the body until both ends meet, does it cause death?"

Answer: Herpes Zoster, known by the common name of "shingles" is caused by an acidosis which affects only one side of the nervous system so that the irritated patches on the skin appear over the nerves of the trunk on one side, usually on the upper back. This disorder will not cause death but, of course, may be associated with some other trouble, either functional or organic, from which death may ensue.

(Stimulation)

Question: H. N. asks: "Why is it that I do not feel strengthened or energized after a meal which does not contain starchy food? I am much underweight."

Answer: All highly starchy or sugary foods tend to produce a quite rapid stimulation within a short time after they are eaten. We are uncertain as to whether this comes entirely from the food value contained in these foods or from some influence made upon the digestive organs—possibly the effect upon the secretion of digestive fluids. It is quite certain in any case that the stimulation does not indicate real strength and that there is no food which actually produces a better muscular tone in a short time after it is eaten. Real strength must come from muscular training and the use of foods containing the proteins and the organic minerals.

Daily WASHINGTON LETTER

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington, Jan. 21.—The familiar old idea that something is going to be done for the American Indians always turns out to be the same old mirage.

The reformers who insist that the Indians are not getting decent treatment are only matched in their dogged persistence by the bureaucrats of the Indian Bureau who do not seem to change their policies.

At least, the friends of the 300,000 Indians under federal jurisdiction are again squawking to that effect. Possibly they deserve some attention, because when Mr. Hoover became president he eased out the commissioner and assistant commissioner of Indian affairs and installed a couple of noble citizens who were expected to bring about a great change.

Unfortunately, those critics who used to pan Commissioner Burke and his regime have begun to complain that Commissioner Rhoads and Assistant Commissioner Scattergood have made no improvements at all and that the poor Indians, long accustomed to neglect and abuse, are as badly off as ever.

Charges against superintendents of reservations and agencies included accusations of graft, neglect, cruelty and gross incompetence of all varieties. Such charges were so often proved that it was commonly supposed many of the Indian Bureau employees would be fired and a change of policy effected. The idea was that it would be a fine thing if the government could choose an occasional superintendent who would have some sympathy with the Indians. But instead of sending guilty superintendents to jail or discharging them—the Indian Bureau recently issued a public statement to the effect that more Indians ought to be in jail than in the United States.

Charges were made more easily subject to punishment under the white man's laws.

Congress won't do anything about the Indians this session, of course, which presumably means this year. Its members, who have always tried to help the Indians, can only protest as usual. The Senate Indian Affairs Committee, after years of struggle for an investigation, was authorized to inquire into conditions on the reservations and unearthed much shocking evidence. But it can

Aircraft Exports Show Slight Dip From 1929 Mark

Washington. —(AP)— American exports of aircraft products suffered but little from depression in 1930, the aeronautics trade division of the commerce department has found.

During the first ten months of the year exports were valued at $7,288,014 as compared to what was termed the "abnormal" trade in the same period of 1929 when the value was $7,761,977.

Decreased sales of complete aircraft to Latin-American countries alone were said to have prevented surpassing the record level reached in 1929.

Countries in the Far East expanded their trade 123 per cent in value, while gains of 27 per cent in value of aircraft engines and nearly 16 per cent in exports of spare parts and accessories to the area were recorded.

China and Peru were the best markets in value of sales and Germany continued to buy the largest quantity of American engines, though followed closely by Peru, Soviet Russia, and the Netherlands.

Chile Starts New Commerce Policy In French Treaty

Santiago, Chile.—(AP)—Negotiation of a reciprocal commercial treaty with France, soon to be consummated, is the first major step in the foreign trade policy of the government of President Carlos Ibanez.

Consideration is being given to the possibility of similar contracts with other European countries. An attempt to get such a pact with the United States came to an indefinite halt about a year and a half ago.

The French treaty is a short-term affair and does not contain the "most favored nation" clause Chile has virtually given up that clause as a matter of policy, deeming short-term treaties better because trade conditions change so quickly.

Under the new pact, each country agrees to reduce import duties on certain products of the other. France this means an outlet for some of her specialized manufactures for Chile in return for a favored market for nitrates and other natural products.

Looks Like We're Gonna Hear More Than One "Report!"

WROTE MUSICAL SUCCESS WITH ONE ARM IN SLING

First Woman Composer To Have Success On Broadway Was Victim of Accident While Writing.

By Charles Honce
New York, Jan. 21.—(AP)—When Kay Swift wrote "Fine and Dandy" she wasn't exactly feeling that way. The first woman composer ever to put a musical comedy success on Broadway was propped up in bed at the time with her right arm in bandages as the result of an accident.

But the left arm still was fine and dandy and it was this left hand that scored the hitting strains and ingratiating rhythms of some of the hits from the current Broadway show.

Kay Swift, or to be more precise, Mrs. James Paul Warburg, wife of the banker, who incidentally is collaborating in lyrics, has been living and writing music since she was a girl—and the theater always has fascinated her.

Well Trained
It was no graduation from tinny alley that elevated her into the musical comedy spotlight, but a background of intense musical training that included composition, orchestration and all the other essentials of a musician's equipment.

Before she wrote the hits that have packed "Fine and Dandy" for weeks and before that the show stopping numbers of the "Garrick Gaieties" and the first "Little Show" she turned out ballet music incidentally, music for shows and string quartets. And while turning out musical comedy numbers today she still leads a double life musically by working on more string quartets. Later there may be symphonies even an opera.

Has Three Daughters
Kay Swift, mother of three daughters, yet scarcely more than a slip of a girl herself, with smiling brown eyes that light up at the mention of music or the theater, composes swiftly. She has turned out an amazing amount of music and is prodigal of her talent.

With "Fine and Dandy" an outstanding success with at least three popular tunes, she still is not done with it. Last Monday a new number "Nobody's Breaking My Heart" went into it.

"I just love 'Fine and Dandy,'" she said when it was suggested this song could have been saved for her next production. It's my first show and I want to do everything I can for it."

Biography works tell you that James Paul Warburg is president of the International Manhattan Company and a director or officer in a number of other concerns here and abroad. Also it describes this 34 year old business man as the author or such tomes as "Wool and Wool Manufacture" and "Hides and Leather Manufacture."

What it does not tell, however, is that as Paul James he writes the lyrics for his wife's music and is a poet in his own right who has been writing verses since college days and will have a volume of it out presently.

When a poet and a musician marry what more natural than that they should collaborate? When Mr. Warburg returns from a business trip to Europe this collaboration will start again. There is no new musical comedy in sight yet but there are many requests for numbers for forthcoming revues.

"The music usually is written first and then my husband fits the words to it," said the composer. "But in the final revision we work together."

Belongs to Union
Three years ago when a Connecticut Yankee was in the making she played the piano accompaniment for the rehearsals. She was not in the pit, however, when the show opened, but at that time she took out a membership in the musicians' union so that she could go into the pit if necessary. And she still belongs to the union.

The touch of the theater in the "Connecticut Yankee" meant to her that some day she would turn out her own show. There was a start in this direction when she and her husband continued in the second edition of the "Garrick Gaieties" a pleasing diversion in the Gilbert and Sullivan-esque "Johnny Wanamaker." Their hit, "Can't We Be Friends," was introduced through the first little show, and then came the "Fine and Dandy" contract. Before that there had been the incidental music for Channing Pollock's play, "Mr. Moneybags," and other similar commissions.

Strangely enough, while Mrs. Warburg has composed many forms only the hits of her musical successes have been published. "I don't believe in publishing until work has been performed and the performance has created a demand for it."

"And I don't compose until the actual commission is in my hands. It's that that puts me to work."

UNEMPLOYMENT CURE

Miami, Fla., Jan. 21.—(AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor says he believes placing with the masses the power to buy what labor produces and balancing consumption with production will end unemployment in America.

He expressed his opinion at a banquet given leaders of organized labor by the city of Miami last night.

He said "when dividend money and extra bonus money is converted to the payment of real wages then will we stop these recurrences of depression, shocking the nation and bringing distress to the homes."

There should be a reduction of working hours corresponding with the increase in production, he said and there needs to come a readjustment so that the slack of unemployment be taken up.

MEXICO'S THIEVES' MART WILL BECOME A PARK

Mexico City, Jan. 21.—(AP)—The Thieves' Market is to become a public garden.

In five centuries the spot has been the site of an Aztec playground, the palace of the Aztec emperor, a notorious market place frequented by "fences" and thieves, and a squalid public market.

It is the spot where the unhappy Moctezuma (or Montezuma) held a prisoner by the Spaniards, addressed his infuriated people and begged them to submit to Cortes. A stone thrown by one of his subjects struck him and he died three days later.

Last night President Ortiz Rubio signed a decree transferring the location to the federal district government and ordering that it be made into a park.

Dorothy thinks that the railroad amalgamation in the east should serve to strengthen ties.

ACCUSED N. Y. LAWYER DEMANDS TO BE HEARD

New York, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Henry O. Kahan, Manhattan Assemblyman named yesterday by John C. Weston, former prosecutor in Women's Court, before the appellate investigation of Magistrates' Courts as one of 14 lawyers who paid bribes, issued a statement today asking that his side of the case be made public.

"As a member of the Legislature for ten years and a practicing attorney for sixteen years, the investigating committee owed it to me to withhold the publication of an accusation without first extending the courtesy of confronting the defamer of my character and reputation at the very time of such accusation," Kahan said.

"The committee undoubtedly knew the nature and substance of the testimony to be given by Weston and that my name was to be mentioned. The committee is in possession of my testimony under oath relative to the unfounded charge of a confessed felon. I demand that my testimony be published immediately."

"The testimony and the questions submitted to me will disclose that the charge against me is unsupported, untrue and unfounded. I again deny unequivocally that I ever directly or indirectly gave any money to Weston for any purpose whatsoever."

DENY ENGAGING COACH
New Haven, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Yale News, undergraduate daily today quoted officials of the Yale Athletic Association as saying that reports that Benny Friedman, former Michigan football star, had been engaged for next year's Eli coaching staff had no basis of fact.

The New Haven Register yesterday reported information from unofficial sources that both Friedman and Adam Walsh had been engaged as assistant to Coach Mal Stevens. Officials of the association said action in this direction could be taken until the next meeting of the board of control which will not be held until late this month.

GOVERNMENT AGENCIES NEED OVER A BILLION

Washington, Jan. 21.—(AP)—The vast sum of $1,052,568,000 for the activities of a score of government agencies was proposed today in the annual independent offices supply bill for the next fiscal year reported to the House by its appropriations committee.

The measure carried an increase of $246,790,000 over current expenses. Consolidated Veterans' activities under the veterans' administration drew $563,012,000, exceeding this year's outlay by $108,298,000. As its last installment of its $500,000,000 revolving loan fund, the Farm Board received $100,000,000. The Shipping Board was given $35,000,000 to be loaned under the Jones-White Merchant Marine Construction Act.

The executive office, including President Hoover's salary of $75,000, was awarded $532,380, a decrease of $289,000 attributable largely to the absence of an appropriation for the White House, which last year was given $250,000. The commission which has made its prohibition report, will not require additional funds for further study after July 1.

Among some of the unusual appropriations were $1,000,000 for the Porto Rican hurricane relief commission; $800,000 for the George Rogers Clark Sesqui-Centennial Commission at Vincennes, Indiana; $338,000 for the George Washington Bicentennial Commission; $304,000 for the American Battle Monuments Commission in France; and $2,750,000 for starting construction on the United States Supreme Court building in Washington.

EDISON SAYS REPORT IS "EQUAL TO NOTHING"

Jacksonville Fla., Jan. 21.—(AP)—Thomas A. Edison, who arrived in Florida today, said the report of the Wicksham commission on prohibition was "equal to nothing, but slightly in favor of the drys."

The inventor, enroute to his winter home in Fort Myers, did not elaborate his statement which was made in answer to a written question from newspapermen.

Mr. Edison answered only two questions and did not give his consent to do that until the train was ready to depart. The familiar stub pencil was missing, as he gave oral answers.

The second question asked Mr. Edison's advice for a young man leaving college during the present business depression.

"My advice to him is to get a job as quickly as possible after leaving school, or he will soon forget all he learned in college," he answered.

Washington, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Costs of living in representative cities of the United States in December were estimated by the Labor Department today to have been 6.2 per cent lower than they were during the same month last year.

The average cost of living in the city in December was set at an index figure of 160.7, based on index costs during 1913 as 100.

How Hollywood Gets Its Bright Lights

Dazzling Multicolored Rays of Huge Searchlights Build Million Dollar Business for Electrical Expert Who Rents Them for Film Openings.

Hollywood, Jan. 21.—This city has become known as the land of dazzling movie premieres. When a new picture opens at one of the leading cinema palaces, dozens of huge arc lamps throw their rays upward into the black skies and inform the entire city of the event. Likewise, when a new chlii parlor or barber shop, flower stand or gas station, meat market or what-not opens, several lights are always in evidence to inform the natives that there is a new store in town to be visited. An opening without lights would be a violation of one of the sacred customs of Hollywood. And it's all due to the foresight of a man named Otto K. Olesen, who is firmly entrenched in the hearts of the picture stars of the movie town. It is due to his efforts to create spectacular lighting displays that they have a chance to blossom forth amid the myriad of multi-colored lights and bask in full view of their admirers and other spectators who swarm to the openings and bright lights as June bugs do to a street lamp in mid-summer. Olesen is the genius behind everything—in other words, he owns the lights. Olesen started his career as lighting expert for the movie folk about 11 years ago when he was operating a small electrical plant in Hollywood. The plant was manufacturing lighting equipment for the studios. Olesen conceived the idea of renting a searchlight out to various stores as an advertising medium to attract business. The idea was a wov and Olesen soon was making more from his light rentals than he was from the sale of equipment to studios. As time went along, business increased and so did the number of lights that Olesen maintained. At the present time he boasts around 250 lights and 16 power plants for generating the current to supply them. His largest lamps, of which he has quite a few, cost $7,000 apiece and throw a beam of light of 25,000,000 candle power. His generators cost $20,000 apiece. Adding the cost of miles and miles of cable and other minor equipment, the total investment is worth around a million dollars. Olesen does a business of around $250,000 a year on his rentals, so the investment is a paying one. In other words, Otto K. Olesen is synonymous with bright lights in Hollywood.

Although an comparatively young man, Beaudine is an old-timer in this business from a standpoint of service. He has a number of outstanding successes, both silent and talking, to his credit, thereby making him a good man for the difficult job confronting him.

Bill is the type of man whose greatest dislike is being idle. Contracts mean nothing to him unless he can keep busy. An example of this was seen a few months ago with the closing of the First National studio where he is under contract. Instead of going on a vacation or sitting around home for three months waiting for the studio to reopen, Bill carried his megaphone over to the Mack Sennett lot and directed several two-reelers for the famous comedy producer. And although he graduated from the two-reelers a good many years ago, he claimed that he learned quite a lot from making these Sennett films and had a good time as well.

From Sennett's the director moved over to Liberty Productions to make the picture upon which he now is engaged. And as soon as he finishes this he will go back to First National again.

ENGLAND GAPES AT FORD PLANT ON THAMES BANK

Dagenham, England.—(AP)—Before a wide-eyed congregation of conservative British industry, Henry Ford's engineers are rearing here a brain-child of concrete, glass and steel in a huge automobile factory.

In this structure, which takes advantage of every stray beam of English sunlight, workmen will have "no more privacy than goldfish" as they assemble 1,000 automobiles daily when the production peak is reached.

Bill Burke was formerly a "spoil bank" on the Thames, the large section of waste land. Even as the Chicago packers are heralded as using all the hog save the squeal, so will the new factory take advantage of the surroundings. According to officials it is planned of the old waste, extracting by a magnetic conveyor every sizeable particle of iron or steel scrap.

This would be used as part of the flux for the giant furnaces, while the residue of oil, dried, would be fed into fires which generate steam for the manufacture of electricity. The electrical equipment of this new factory will have a capacity to requirements of a city of 250,000. Production is forecast for the fall of 1931.

Driving approximately 13,500 piles 50, 60, 70 and even 80 feet into the ground, no two areas of the 500 acres reclaimed presented the same problem to engineers.

In some cases bedrock in small quantities was reached within 20 feet of the surface. In other places, some of the longer piles were still "floating" after their tops had been shot below ground.

He had wanted to be an actor and headed straight for New York. But one doesn't always get there overnight. So March had to be content with the job of fourth assistant stage manager, or something like that, with David Belasco's "Dubu-

Upholds McNinch The junior senator from North Carolina made his debut in the battle over confirmation of Frank R. McNinch as a member of the federal power commission. McNinch and Morrison are close personal friends. They live directly across the street from each other. McNinch is an elder in Morrison's church. In the last presidential campaign the two were on opposite sides of the political fence. McNinch opposed Smith, while Morrison supported the Democratic nominee.

"I fought him all over North Carolina," said Morrison, "until our sweet personal and neighborhood relations were well-nigh broken." But all that is forgotten now. Morrison so praised his friend and neighbor to the Senate that Carter Glass was moved to describe his remarks as "personal panegyrics to the elder of my church and my neighbor."

But that didn't daunt the new senator. He referred to Walsh as "the great tribune of the people" and proceeded to tell him what he had omitted in his argument against McNinch that would, in his opinion, have made it a very great speech.

NEW MATINEE IDOLS REIGN ON BROADWAY

Billie Burke who has returned to the stage in "The Truth Game."

By GILBERT SWAN NEA Service Writer

New York, Jan. 21.—Following the example of the various book clubs, there came into existence in New York "The Playhouse," which undertook to tell its members what shows they should see. And to arrange, of course, the matter of getting them good seats without benefit of scalpers.

From a small group of theatergoers, who were willing to leave their amusement fates in the hands of certain judges, this has grown to proportions which must make the average producer take heed. At last count there were some 5,000 members, and more to come—and almost any Broadway theater owner could use that many ticket sales just now. If the club continues to grow at its present rate, it may live to exert an important influence on future productions.

In the meantime, the choice for the current month is "The Truth Game," a new comedy by the visiting English actor, Ivor Novello, and it brings Billie Burke back to the stage.

Whatever the merits of this particular play, it is just what the matinee-goer has been looking for. It is written out of an excellent old formula, which gives the handsome hero plenty of romantic possibilities. Novello, who arrived here some months ago in another piece, is quite a favorite in dear old London, although his first effort failed to impress the Broadwayites. This second work is almost certain to get the matinee girls back in line and lure the dear ladies into the theater for a smile and a sigh. This romantic trifle concerns a most rakish but sentimental gent, who cannot completely melt the heart of a lovely widow because her husband's will says that if she marries again she loses the dear old fortune. Her tempestuous suit-or is entirely too familiar with star dust to have a close acquaintance with gold dust. Thus it goes through star-lit evening and warm words and kisses on sidewalks and misunderstandings and threats; it goes through scenes reminiscent of Doug Fairbanks' dramas in which the hero climbs to balconies and leaps from fire escapes and otherwise makes himself so active that one wonders why he doesn't become obnoxious to the lady fair.

However, she seems to like it, and the ladies in the audience seem to wish that some handsome hero would leap through their windows, but if one actually did they would be first to call a cop. To this hardened old theatergoer, the appearance in America of Miss Viola Tree was far and away the most important thing about this production. Not that Billie Burke does not do a very good job of a lady racketeer of sorts; but this Miss Tree is a fine and interesting character player. She appears as one of those gawky, ratty English girls, given to awkward movements and self-consciousness—a really beautiful job.

North Carolina who honor McNinch and believe he is fit and worthy." Just two days before he was sworn in Morrison created something of a stir when, before a banding down the aisle to the vice president's dais, he waved to his wife and friends sitting in the gallery.

FREDRIC MARCH CLICKS AGAIN

Performance in "The Royal Family of Broadway" Places Him Near Top Among Movie Juveniles.

BY GENE COHN NEA Service Writer

New York, Jan. 21.—The folks back in Racine, Wis., are herewith warned to keep their hat tossers and street dancers in readiness. For their home town boy, Freddie March—his Fredric now—is about to take his place pretty close to the top of the cinema juvenile character list. After his performance in "Laughter," there was every reason to begin holding a few adjectives in readiness.

But in "The Royal Family of Broadway," any doubt considering this newcomer appears dispelled. Nor am I inclined to pull my punches concerning the picture in which he appears with Ina Claire as co-star. I think it's swell.

Acted in Stage Show Interestingly enough, it was while playing in the stage version of this picture—then known as "The Royal Family"—that young March first attracted the attention of the cinematographers. He had been attached to a road company playing Los Angeles, when asked to appear in one of the earlier and noisier talkies, "The Dummy."

When Edna Ferber's play first came to Broadway, no great pains were taken to disguise the possibility that it had been written around the theatrically historic Barrymore generation of extraordinary actors. The role he created was assumed to have been a burlesqued and highly dramatized version of the illustrious John. All the characters, for that part, were accepted somewhat as patterns rather than portraits.

Fredric March

Be this as it may, the young man from Racine graduated from the stage role into the screen role. Headed for Banking All of which might not have happened had not there been a change of bank presidents back in Wisconsin.

While attending the University of Wisconsin, it began to look as though young March would wind up in the banking business. And in these days that is no comedy role. At any rate, he secured a scholarship such as the National City Bank under Frank Vanderlip, was accustomed to hand out for the training of students for foreign banking service. He graduated in 1920 and joined the active staff of the bank and after March had worked there a year, the bank came under the direction of James Stillman. Whereupon, not certain how his scholarship plans might turn out, March secured a leave of absence.

He had wanted to be an actor and headed straight for New York. But one doesn't always get there overnight. So March had to be content with the job of fourth assistant stage manager, or something like that, with David Belasco's "Dubuheavy romance running through it. "Women Like Men" is the picture about which we are speaking and William Beaudine is the courageous director who is making it. "I am very enthusiastic about the story, but at the same time I also am somewhat worried," Beaudine told me. "I realize that there can be no half-way about this film. It can't possibly be just an average picture. It will have to be either exceptionally good or equally terrible. And there is no way of telling which it will be until it's all finished."

"Women Like Men" is the story of Red Cross canteen workers in France during the war. The romance is brought in entirely through dialogue and letters received by some of the girls. And while a man's face never will be seen on the screen, the presence of men surrounding these women will be felt quite strongly. Although selection of the cast has not been completed, among those already chosen are Evelyn Brent, Marceline Day, the Keating twins, Louise Fazenda, Liliyan Tashman and June Clyde.

REC FIVE NOSES OUT KNIGHTS 28 TO 27

Brilliant Hartford Rally Almost Beats Manchester

Rec Five Leads 16 To 4 At Halftime Holding Visitors Without Single Field Goal; K. of L. Then Ties Score Before Manchester Can Get Another Point — Lead Changes Several Times Until Waterman Cages Winning Point From Foul Line; Long Shots By McCann and Holland Save Rec From Defeat; Waterman and Shimkus In Fist Fight.

A spectacular pair of mid-floor field goals tossed from hands of Ty Holland and Hank McCann plus a foul shot by Waterman enabled the Recreation Center basketball team to eke out a 28 to 27 winner over the Hartford Knights of Lithuania here last night in the closing minutes of the most exciting Rec game of the current season.

A thrilling rally by the Knights that closed a 16 to 4 halftime advantage for Manchester before the locals could tally a single point, was the outstanding feature of a contest which even included a fist fight between Waterman and Stan Shimkus resulting in the latter suffering a possible fracture of the jaw. He was injured so badly that he did not finish the game.

The incident occurred early in the first quarter. Just what was the cause, no one seems to know. It was apparent they had been having some sort of personal contact which paved the way for an exchange of blows. The first thing some of the onlookers observed was Waterman taking a right hand shot at Shimkus' jaw. Stan retaliated and then on the floor and separated the would-be pugilists.

Others, including Waterman, insist Shimkus struck the first blow. It was evident there was bitter feeling between the two players as a result of the recent K. of C-K. of L. game in Hartford.

The mixup happened so suddenly and was so brief that few, if any, in the large crowd knew just what it was all about. The ball was at the other end of the floor at the time and Referee Willard Eddy of Windsor had just called a foul on another player when the fight broke out. Eddy tacked a personal on both Waterman and Shimkus.

Manager Benny Clune was much provoked over the affair and wasted no time sending in Ding Farr to take Waterman's place as soon as he had shot his foul goal. Shimkus, however, was injured so badly that he was unable to try his foul throw and Earle Bennett substituted. Waterman later returned to the game taking Billy's Dowd's place against "Shorty" Malin. The crowd which included many from Hartford, subjected Waterman to a loud razzing but it soon died down.

The Rec-K. of L. clash turned out just about as was expected. Every time in past years that the two teams have met, a hair-raising battle has resulted and last night certainly was no exception to the rule. Referee Eddy had a tough time as he sought to keep the boys from kicking over their traces. His efforts to be strict won him both praise and criticism.

Opinion of the crowd seemed divided after the game as to the caliber of his work. The former Connecticut Aggie star called a total of 37 personal fouls, five more on Manchester than on Hartford. He ejected four men on personal fouls, two on each team. They were Faulkner and Nye for Manchester and Malin and Eddie Shages for Hartford. Incidentally, it was the first time this year that Malin had been ousted in this manner.

One thing can be said in Eddy's favor. He called the fouls fearlessly. It did seem, at times however, that he took his eye off the ball a bit too much in trying to catch body-checking fouls among the players not handling the ball at the moment. Many of the fouls he called were such violations and there were times when players handling the ball were hacked without proper protection. Eddy tried to take care of the duties of an umpire as well as a referee.

It was a tough spot for any man to be placed. The Rec and Knights are rivals of long standing and it was a foregone conclusion that whoever got the assignment would be in for a hard and thankless night's work. To Eddy's credit it can be said that practically every foul he called was a foul—and that's more than some referees can boast. Had he been any more lenient, it is easy to visualize what the consequences might have been under the existing conditions. In most of the previous games here this season, personal fouls have been waived with the result that the players have gotten into the habit of doing about as they pleased. Naturally the change was drastic both to spectators and players alike.

time, the ball glanced down off the bankboard only to miss the rim or drop off if it came into contact. Meanwhile the Rec was functioning smoothly in striking contrast to Manchester's first half showing at Branford last Saturday night when only two field goals were scored. Holland, Nye, Dowd, Waterman and Farr each scored once from the floor, while the Knights were making good only four out of their fourteen free throw attempts. Coach Earle Bennett and Johnny Campion arrived late and went into the K. of L. lineup when Shimkus was hurt. They had been playing in an insurance league game in Hartford.

What a Comeback! Came at the start of second half with the Rec holding a 16 to 4 advantage. Malin broke free from Waterman for the first score and point by point, the Hartfordites steadily closed the gap despite Rec time-outs until finally Malin again scored from under the hoop deadlocking the count at 16 all. Holland immediately put the Rec back in front with a long shot and Waterman added a foul but Malin came through with another field goal at

WEST SIDE CLUB DEFEATED, 32-24

Leads 17-9 At Halftime But Crumples After Losing Bissell, Mattson and Dowd

Overcoming a 17 to 9 handicap at halftime, Glastonbury's red-jerbed basketballers outscored the West Side Club 32 to 24 in an exciting contest played as a preliminary to the Rec-K. of L. game here last night.

Glastonbury had defeated the locals 49 to 26 in Glastonbury Saturday but you couldn't prove such a fact from their first half showing when the West Sides were quite superior. Manchester looked the part of a sure winner at halftime. Like the K. of L., Glastonbury rallied at the start of the second half but unlike the Rec, the West Sides were powerless to check the attack. Gradually the margin between the teams was reduced and then the visitors shot out into the lead where they remained to the finish.

Kiebisch and Wisley were the outstanding performers for Glastonbury while Mattson and Chapman were best for Manchester. The strict officiating of Referee Willard Eddy resulted in three West Side players, Mattson, Dowd and Bissell, being sent to the showers and this largely explains the West Side Club's inability to check the second half attack of the invaders.

The West Side players and many of their supporters took no more liking to the work of Referee Eddy than they did when he handled the game in Glastonbury Saturday night. Excess long shooting, however, did much if not more than anything else, in bringing about the West Side's downfall in the second half. There was no resemblance of the fine passwork which featured Manchester's play the first half.

Tonight the West Side Club travels to Meriden to meet the St. Stanislaus Five and tomorrow evening will go to Hartford to clash with the Fellowcraft Club at the North-west gym.

MAJORS WIN DRAFT WAR WITH MINORS

Collapse Comes When International League Gives In To Demands of Majors.

New York, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Baseball's battle over the universal draft is ended and the spoils of war belong to the major leagues.

The minor league's defenses collapsed yesterday when the last class A.A. stronghold, the International League, voted to accept the majors' demands.

The International League was compelled to yield to superior force. Its four allies, the class A, American Association and Pacific Coast League, the class A Western League and the Class B Three-Eye League previously had capitulated.

Ending of warfare will bring about a renewal of business relations between the majors and the five leagues hitherto classified as non-draft minors.

Relations between the rival groups were severed December 1 when the American Association, Pacific Coast, International, Western and Three-Eye leagues declined to accept the draft which gives the majors the right to select at a fixed price and at a specified time one player from any minor league club.

Schmeling Sets Sail For New York Today

Leaves Bremen On Europa; To Go On Tour Before Stribling Title Fight In June.

Bremen, Germany, Jan. 21.—(AP)—Max Schmeling, German boxer, sailed aboard the Europa today with his trainer, Max Machon, for New York.

Schmeling said he intended to go into training immediately for a series of exhibition bouts in Baltimore and 48 other American southern and southwestern cities and Havana.

"No matter how my fight with Stribling turns out," he said, "I shall come back to Germany even if I have to go out again in September to meet Carners."

He kept his departure secret and only a few of his intimates saw him off at Berlin station. Even to them he talked little except to say that he would sign a contract prepared by Jacobs and would give a good account of himself.

"INSANITARY METHODS In Cigar Making Are Indecent"

Says
CARL T. POMEROY C. P. H.
Health Officer, Montclair, New Jersey

...one of 56 health officials from 56 different points approving Cremo's crusade against spit or spit-tipping.

Every smoker, every wife whose husband smokes cigars, should read Health Officer Pomeroy's letter.

"Who are the friends of 'Spit'?"

YOU MAY WELL ASK THIS QUESTION WHEN 56 IMPORTANT HEALTH OFFICIALS HAVE WRITTEN SO STRONGLY AGAINST THE EVILS OF SPIT OR SPIT-TIPPING.

Health Officer Pomeroy writes: "... your campaign to eliminate... the spit-tipping method of cigar making is commendable."

The war against spit is a crusade of decency. Join it... Smoke Certified Cremo—a really wonderful smoke—mild—mellow—nut-sweet! Every leaf entering the clean, sunny Cremo factories is scientifically treated by methods recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture.

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH
CARL T. POMEROY, C. P. H.
HEALTH OFFICER
June 10th, 1939

American Cigar Company,
111 Fifth Avenue,
New York City.

Bear Sirs:

As a public health officer, I cannot help but recognize the fact that your campaign to eliminate the evils resulting from promiscuous spitting and the spit-tipping method of cigar making is commendable and in line with the health work done by my own department.

I see that you call it a "Crusade of Decency". Certainly insanitary methods in cigar making are indecent. An advertising campaign like yours, which exposes such indecency and points the way to the cleansing of your industry, deserves the support of my department.

While I express no preference for your cigar over any other, I am pleased to inform you that I do endorse your campaign to show the public the advantages of avoiding insanitary practices. You are free to publish that fact or, if you wish, to publish this letter over my signature.

Very truly yours,
Carl T. Pomeroy.

In this period of cold weather and cracked lips, above all insist on a cigar—free of the spit germ.

TANSEER OUTPLAYS ALBIE BOOTH BUT YALE BEATS PENN

"Mighty Mite" Held Scoreless While Quaker Ace Scores Dozen Points; Score 37-24.

New York, Jan. 21.—(AP.)—A second victory over Pennsylvania has boosted the Yale Bull Dogs into undisputed possession of second place in the Eastern Intercollegiate basketball league. The Elis who whipped Penn January 3 at Philadelphia, trounced the Quakers at New Haven last night, 37-26, in the only league game scheduled this week. The Elis have won three games and lost one to hold second place behind the Columbia Lions, unbeaten in two starts.

Yale breezed into the lead early in the game, the Blue sharpshooters slipping regularly through the Pennsylvania defense to pile up a heavy margin and the New Haven quintet had a 20 to 12 lead at half time.

Pennsylvania did its best work early in the second half when they cut the Blue's margin to 25 to 23, but a sudden bombardment from the floor by the Yale team put the game "on ice."

Leonard Tanseer, Pennsylvania left guard, had a neat defensive holding Albie Booth scoreless from the floor. The "Mighty Atom" was not fully recovered from his recent illness and was not at top form.

PSYCHOLOGY BUNK BOBBY DODD SAYS

Knoxville, Tenn., Jan. 21.—(AP.)—Bobby Dodd, for two years Dixie's outstanding quarterback says mental stance paves the way for football victories.

"All this talk about smartness and psychology is good stuff, but it's the old frame of mind and poise that counts most," he says.

For three seasons Dodd has been the generalissimo of Tennessee's great football teams.

"Psychology will beat you in the long run. You can win with it sometimes, but in a tight place some other guy is going to 'cut psychologize you.' It doesn't pay to be too smart. You're riding for a fall when you get that way," Bobby says.

Bobby does not believe in any set rules, explaining, "I try to start out just like a boxer feeling out his opponent. I feint around with several plays, keeping close note on how certain plays go or fail to go. Then, when I'm in a scoring spot, I've got a pretty good idea of which of our pet touchdown plays will work."

"My advice to quarterbacks—and you know I'm going to start teaching that at Georgia Tech next fall—is to study possible situations revolving around your plays ahead of time and then save several solutions available for use when the time comes. Don't wait for the circumstances and then try to depend on your quick thinking to get you out of trouble."

CHICAGO TO FIGHT AGAINST NEW YORK IN BOXING MIXUP

Will Vigorously Oppose Garden Invading Its Territory Under Assumed Name.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—(AP.)—The Madison Square Garden interests will have to fight to stage the Max Schmeling-Yugoslav Strubling heavyweight championship in Chicago, Sidney Strotz, head of the Chicago Stadium Corporation promised today.

"The Chicago Stadium wishes to serve notice on the New York Garden that if it attempts to promote Schmeling-Strubling fight here through a subsidiary organization incorporated in Illinois, it will have a lawsuit on its hand, Strotz said. Strotz and other stadium officials claim that the Madison Square Garden of Illinois is a subterfuge to evade the Illinois law requiring incorporators to be residents of the state.

George Getz, member of the Illinois commission who helped promote the Dempsey-Tunney championship match here in 1927, revealed that the Madison Square Garden Corporation of Illinois asked him to promote the Schmeling-Strubling fight and to obtain a lease on Soldier Field. He said he refused both requests.

FRADIN DESCRIBES NEW SPRING COATS

Skipper Blue and Black To Be Leading Colors—Scarfs and Belts Play Prominent Part.

J. Fradin of Fradin's Apparel shop has returned from New York and after looking the Spring coat line over, says he has the reports.

"The silhouette of the new spring coats is fitted and semi-fitted, trimmed with throws, scarfs and tricky half-shawls, the belt playing a prominent part. Narrow belts, wide belts, belts with large and small buckles, tie belts, sashes and even wide crushed belts are shown and they look well.

"The principal colors for Spring will be Skipper Blue and Black, some greens and tans are also shown and it will not be surprising if later in the season some of shade like rust, red or grey should pop up into the best seller class. Skipper Blue is light navy and Easter Blue is a light blue. In greens it is Avocado a darker shade and Mint for the lighter green. Tans are known as Roffia for the darker, Sand a medium and Egg for the lighter shade. Greying, however, and Rusticanna are self descriptive.

"Rough weaves are the thing in cloths. While they are rough in character they are nice and soft in texture, the finer the cloth the softer it is. The names the mills have adopted describe everything but the cloth for instance Tonda, Vio Crepe, Triscara, Chongella Compo Crepe and Ponja.

"When it comes to furs it looks like flat furs will be the best of fashion and last but not least comes the length of the coats. It is between 44 and 46 inches long for size 18. Quite long but new and smart."

BOTH SIDES RAP HOOVER'S BOARD

Wet and Dry Leaders in State Agree That Report Does Not Solve Problem.

New Britain, Jan. 21.—(AP.)—Extremists on the prohibition issue were in harmony today in criticizing the report of the Wickersham law enforcement commission.

Isaac D. Russell, local chairman of the Association Opposed to the Prohibition Amendment, said that the report will tend to confuse the issues to please the various factions. Mr. Russell, treasurer of the American Hardware Corporation, bolted the Republican Party last November and voted for Wilbur L. Cross for governor and Augustine L. Logan for Congressman because, he said at that time, they favored the repeal of the dry law.

Buell B. Bassetto, for years regarded as the leader of the element approving of the prohibition law, also expressed dissatisfaction with the report. "It looks like a school boy trick to beat around the bush and dodge the problem itself," he said in a formal statement. He charged that the commission "went far astray in reporting on what was not their assignment," and that the report for Congress in the public mind, but it will not stay the march of better enforcement for, on this point, the commission seems to be agreed."

HARTFORD'S RALLY ALMOST WINS OUT

Waterman's expense and a foul shot by Campion deadlocked the teams at 19 all.

Foulner and Nye went to the showers on an overdose of personalities, at this stage Shages tossed in a pair of fouls to put the K. of L. in front for the first time. McCann got a basket from the sidecourt but Waterman fouled Main and the stocky little sparkplug of the Knights made good. A moment later Shages put the field goal foul for the foul line and the Knights led 25-21.

Excitement Galore

Then Main went out on an overdose of personals and with his departure went Hartford's chances of victory though his mates fought hard to the end. Holland dropped a long shot from midfloor and Waterman and McCann got foul shots to deadlock the score once more, 25-25. Three and a half minutes remained to be played. Charlie Shimm broke free for his first score of the evening at McCann's expense putting the Knights out in front but McCann retaliated with a spectacular shot from mid-floor with only a minute to go, tying the score.

Time was called and during the brief intermission Referee Eddy announced that the score was 27 to 27 with one minute to play. The crowd rose in its seats to a person and the shouting was deafening. Both teams fought furiously for possession of the ball. Then came the break that won the game for Manchester. Referee Eddy detected Eddie Shages holding Waterman. It was one of those fouls apart from the point where the ball was in play. Goolly and with a manner of supreme self confidence, Waterman stepped to the foul line, carefully adjusted his right foot back of the line and then took aim. The ball dropped cleanly through the hoop with exactly 40 seconds remaining to be played. A moment later Eddy again called a foul on Shages but this time the try was missed.

Waterman's Record

Waterman's feat of contributing the winning point for Manchester was a continuation of his successful efforts against Hartford teams this season. First came his end work with the Bristol Endeavor against the Hartford Kacays. Then he scored the winning basket for Bristol against the Hartford Y. M. H. A. Then last night—well, you already have been told what happened.

FOUR ATHLETICS SIGN CONTRACTS

Philadelphia, Jan. 21.—(AP.)—Four of the big shots with the champion Philadelphia Athletics have confided to friends they have signed playing contracts for 1931. They are Lefty Grove, George Earnshaw, Gordon Cochrane and Jimmy Foss, a quartet that Connie Mack regards as the four roses of his baseball bouquet.

The status of Al Simmons, the remaining big shot of the ensemble, is different. Before leaving for Florida last week Mack said a contract would not be sent to Simmons but that he would meet his star sticker later and discuss salary. Simmons lead the American League in batting last year.

BASEBALL CONTRACTS

New York, Jan. 21.—(AP.)—Contracts to forty players have been mailed from headquarters of the New York Giants.

FINANCIER FORESEES END OF DEPRESSION

New York, Jan. 21.—(AP.)—Percy H. Johnston, president of the Chemical Bank and Trust Company, foresees "a return to sounder and more old fashioned principles where wealth is created by work and endeavor and not by the process of marking the stock market."

Mr. Johnston, who said he shared the opinion of "many thoughtful people who believe that the present depression has about run its course," told the bank's shareholders at the annual meeting today that the nation has had a costly and sad lesson but we are confident it will profit by past mistakes and in the end will emerge stronger and sounder than ever before.

"Fortunately," he commented, "great banks are in a sound and liquid position and are amply fortified to meet the new and expanding needs of business that will inevitably come."

The bank's statement as of December 31, 1930, shows assets of $478,335,356, and deposits of $360,689,016, an increase of $21,583,356 over the corresponding date in 1929.

WITNESS DISAPPEARS

Chicago, Jan. 21.—(AP.)—Acting Police Commissioner John Alcock Grand Jury's investigation of his department with the announcement by assistants to the state's attorney that he would be subpoenaed today.

Charles J. Mueller and Charles J. Lounsbury, who are collecting evidence against the alleged triple entente of police, politics and crime, said Alcock's summons was due to the disappearance of Mrs. Shirley Kub, his under-cover investigator and the chief witness on police methods. Several police captains also would be called, they added.

Mrs. Kub, employed for months to check the activities of Alcock's captains, made "startling disclosures" of general corruption before the jury Monday, officials said, but yesterday she failed to appear. Her arrest was ordered, without effect.

HARVARD-PRINCETON

Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 21.—(AP.)—The Harvard student council has unanimously passed a resolution favoring immediate resumption of athletic relations with Princeton. The council's action was taken last night. Similar action was taken by Princeton student officers Monday.

Yesterday the Harvard Crimson, undergraduate daily, editorially favored immediate resumption relations between the two colleges in all sports except football. Five Harvard sports captains also expressed themselves in favor of Harvard-Princeton athletic contests in the near future.

Waterbury, Jan. 21.—(AP.)—Matthew Bovino, 22, was given a three-month term in the New Haven county jail this morning by Judge Frederick M. Peasley of the Superior Criminal Court on a charge of breaking and entering a gasolin station in Wolcott on September 10. Bovino pleaded guilty to the charge. A charge of possession of burglar's tools against Bovino was nolleed as was similar charge against Samuel Cervero.

Bovino pleaded guilty to entering the Madison gasolin station near Southington on the night of September 10 and the taking of some candy, cigarettes, oil and a wrench.

There were seven shocks in all, all severe.

SENSE AND NONSENSE

It Might Have Been Worse (Barnesville, Ohio, Whetstone) While putting new shingles on the roof on his home on Linden Avenue, Clem Gorman fell to the ground and was fatally but not seriously injured.

The Fly in the Ointment A lawyer's lot's no easy one, Despite your stout denials, For after all is said and done, His life is filled with trials.

An Old Story I felt the beating of her heart, So close was hers to mine; We could not wrench ourselves apart; Her presence was like wine. But still the girl I could not win. So near and yet so far— For that's the way with strangers in A crowded trolley car.

A commercial traveler, traveling through Scotland, wrote to his company's sales manager: "In reply to your question why I failed to get any orders for canned goods in Aberdeen, the reason is that the tin cans cannot be eaten."

First Fly—Will you join our party in the jam preserves. Second Fly—No, thank you, the lady of our house has baked a cake with icing on it. We're going in for winter sports.

There was a young lady from Kent, Who said she knew what it meant When men asked her to dine, Gave her cocktails and wine— Yes, she knew what it meant—but, she went.

At the behest of his best friends and severest critics, Joe Callum, the big league umpire, agreed to have his eyesight tested by an optician. A delegation accompanied him to the latter's office for the vindication.

The Optician—Read those figures on the blackboard, Mr. Callum. Mr. Callum—Wot blackboard?

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

THE TINYMITES

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE) The native surely had the knack of paddling. As he pushed straight back the small canoe moved on with speed and hardly made a sound. "I'll keep in mid-stream, said he. "Then we're as safe as we can be. If we go too near to the shore, the boat might run aground." "Just take it easy. Don't be scared. Out in the open you'll be fired. Breathe deeply. It will make you grow and also make you strong. I'll do the work and you can rest. I know you lads all like that best. There's naught but fun ahead of us and nothing can go wrong." "That's fine," said Scouty, with a smile. "But I will paddle after a while if you begin to get tired out. I'd like to try my hand. I've rowed a boat, but paddling, I guess, is quite a different thing. However, if you'll show me how, I know I'll understand." "All right! We'll see," the native cried. "But, frankly, had this sort of ride will never tire me out a bit. I'm used to it, you see. And, anyway, when night arrives you'll have the time of your young lives. We'll stop at shore and put up camp. That's thrilling as can be." So, on they rode throughout the day. At meal time Clowny shouted, "Hey! Let's eat a bit. I'm nearly starved. And it is getting dark." So, up on shore they shortly went and 'bout a half an hour was spent in cooking up some supper. All the bunch thought this a lark. 'Twas such a clear and moonlit night the bunch agreed 'twould be all right to just sleep out on blankets and the Tiniess soon crawled in. The native, with a voice quite strong, sat up and sang a merry song. He then played on an instrument and made the Tiniess grin. (The Tiniesses cross a portion of the Indian Ocean in the next story.)

Only Routine Business Scheduled For This Week's Session—May Discuss Transportation.

The monthly meeting of the Manchester Town School Board will be held Friday morning at 9:30, the meeting having been postponed from a week ago.
