PRICE THREE CENTS

BURGLARS LOOT HOME OF POLICE COMMISSIONER

Residence of R. V. Treat De-spoiled of $500 in Silver-ware and Jewelry While Family Dines Out.

Silverware, jewelry and a small sum of money, to the total value of between $500 and $600, were stolen last night from the home of Police Commissioner Robert V. Treat of East Center street during the absence of Mr. Treat and members of the family. The house was entered between 6:30 and 10:20 o'clock, while the family was dining out with friends.

It was 6:30 when the members of the Treat family left home, all but Clifford, a son, spending the evening together at the home. They returned about 10:30, but Clifford reached home a few moments before the rest of the family. He unlocked the front door but was unable to enter because the stop-chain was in place. Going around to the rear of the house he tried the door there but found that that one, too, was blocked by the chain.

Figuring that the family had played some sort of joke on him Clifford gave a lusty shove on the door and the chain fastenings gave way and he walked in. Right away he saw that somebody had been there who had no business in the house. The kitchen had been ransacked. Alone he started going over the house, found that a lavatory window had been jimmied, the dining room rummaged over and the upstairs rooms visited, as was indicated by a window, opened by the thieves as a convenient getaway.

Just about this time Mr. Treat and the rest of the family came home. Clifford let them in.

After one glance into the dining room Commissioner Treat telephoned to the police. Sergeant John McGinn responded promptly but by that time Mr. Treat had learned that every room had been visited. Drawers had been pulled out and the contents pulled about. There were several articles missing. A close check-up was delayed by the desire of the police to preserve

Father, Six Children Are Burned to Death

Williamsport, Pa., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Clude Smith and six small children were burned to death when a farmhouse at Powys was destroyed today. The mother and two year-old child were saved but were badly burned.

The children ranged in age from 4 to 17 years.

The mother escaped, badly burned with a two months old infant, while another son, 9, also made his way to safety.

The fire was discovered by a railroad engineer who blew the engine whistle in an effort to arouse the family.

When the train reached Trout Run a short distance north, the train was stopped and the telegraph operator there was notified. Just as he reached the burning house, Mrs. Smith, with the infant in her arms, stumbled from the front door.

It is believed the father and the other children were trapped and overcome by smoke in the two bedrooms upstairs after the mother had groped her way down the smoke filled stairway.

MELLON OPPOSES PLAN TO PAY OFF VETERANS

Secretary of Treasury Says It Would Upset Nation's Financial Structure and Prolong Depression.

Washington, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Secretary Mellon appeared before the Senate finance committee today to warn that cash redemption of the soldier's bonus would upset the nation's financial structure and "greatly disturb world equilibrium."

The veteran secretary of the Treasury said the cashing of the adjusted service certificates, which has been urged as a relief measure, would "seriously retard a business recovery," and so prolong unemployment.

He testified the Treasury will close the fiscal year with a deficit, according to present indications, of not less than $375,000,000 and that cash payment of the face value of the certificates would cost about $3,400,000,000.

Could Not Sell Bonds

"I can say without qualification," he said, "that the Treasury Department could not sell $3,400,000,000 of bonds at the present time except on terms which it would be very hard to justify and without complete disorganization of the government and other security markets, with the most serious consequences not only to the public credit but to our entire economic structure."

Continuing, he said, "But serious as would be the direct consequences to the Treasury and to the public credit, the indirect consequences to the country would be even more serious." Among the "indirect consequences" he listed:

Immediate depreciation very materially of the price of all United States bonds. The effect of which would be "equivalent to a capital

LEAVES CHICAGO, ARRIVES AT 'CHI'

Tramp Rides All Night in Freight Yard and Thinks That He's in Cleveland.

Chicago, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Thomas Kelly, a wanderer, entered a police station and asked Desk Sergeant Thomas F. McLaughlin for a bed and a meal.

"Where are you from?" asked the sergeant.

"Chicago."

"Where are you now?"

"Cleveland, of course. Came in a box car last night."

The sergeant, developed that Kelly had fallen asleep after taking a drink and had mistaken the shunting of the car by switch engines for an overnight run to Cleveland.

PAYNE REFUSES TO ADMINISTER CONGRESS FUND

Head of Red Cross Says It Would Duplicate Efforts of Organization—Blames It For Failure of Campaign

Washington, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Chairman Payne of the National Red Cross said today the central committee of the organization, had adopted a resolution against accepting the administration of funds for general relief as provided in the Senate's $25,000,000 proposal.

In testimony before the House appropriations committee, Payne declared "it is our conclusion that the Red Cross cannot undertake to administer this bill."

"It is utterly impractical because it would mean the duplication of efforts of long standing organizations in urban centers," he added.

Caused Failure of Drive

Judge Payne blamed the Senate's $25,000,000 proposal for failure of his organization to raise $10,000,000 through private contributions in less than two weeks.

Administration of a $25,000,000 Federal fund, the chairman said, would mean the establishment of Red Cross agencies in 300 to 400 cities. Quoting William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, that there were more than 5,000,000 unemployed men, Payne declared it would mean the Red Cross would have to set up organizations in metropolitan cities to dole out $4 apiece to these men.

Representative Hastings, Democrat, Oklahoma, asked:

"Mr. Payne you could do more with $25,000,000 than without it couldn't you?"

"We could not do anything with it," the chairman replied.

CONGRESS WILL DO IT

Washington, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Responding to a statement by Chairman Payne of the Red Cross that his organization will not accept government relief funds, Democratic Leader Robinson today said Congress will set up its own agencies for distribution of relief funds.

The statement by Judge Payne was in testimony today before the House appropriations committee hearing on the Senate's $25,000,000 appropriation for the Red Cross.

The chairman revealed the central committee of the relief organization had voted unanimously against acceptance.

"If the Red Cross refuses to measure up to the standard in the emergency and refuses to respond to the ordinary impulses that move human hearts," Robinson said, "Congress will find its own way."

Prince Reaches Bermuda Today

Soon to be the western hemisphere's royal guests of honor, the Prince of Wales (right) and his brother, Prince George, are shown above as they arrived at famous Le Bourget Field, Paris, after an air trip from London. Shortly afterward they set sail for Bermuda, where they arrived today.

Steps Off Steamer For Brief Visit At Hamilton — To Play Golf and Appear At Reception—Cuba Next.

Hamilton, Bermuda, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The Prince of Wales, visiting this lovely British colony for the first time in ten years, stepped off the steamship Oropesa at the Tuckerstown dock today and was greeted by a smiling crowd which had been looking forward to his arrival for weeks.

The steamer hove to off the island in a crimson dawn and picked up the pilot for the short run past Coral Reefs to the anchorage off the Naval Dock Yard.

The prince and his brother, Prince George, who are on the way to Buenos Aires for the British trade exposition next March, were ashore early, watching from the deck as the boat moved slowly through the sunshine past Bermuda's beautiful coastline.

STEAMER ARRIVES

Hamilton, Bermuda, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The Prince of Wales and his brother, Prince George, reached here this morning aboard the steamship Oropesa, on the way to Buenos Aires where the heir will open the British Trade Exposition next March.

They were to come ashore for a brief visit and to resume their journey this afternoon with Havana, Cuba, as the next stop.

It was the first time since 1920 that Bermuda had seen the heir to the British throne.

This visit will be too short for all the honors the colony would pay him, and the day's schedule included only a golf match on the Tucker's town course with Eldon Tringham and a reception at Government House.

500 AT RECEPTION

The people who have been on edge for his arrival for weeks will see him only as he drives through the district by a military guard and is escorted about the golf course early and

WOULD PUT STATE ON THE RECORD AS AGAINST DRY ACT

KINGSTON KEPT FOUR MILLIONS AS HIS PROFIT

Public Invested Plenty With Hartford Brokers, Alcorn's Report Shows; Some of the Transactions.

Hartford, Jan. 28.—(AP)—A total of considerably more than $4,000,000 was secured from the investing public in all sections of southern New England through the financial activities of Frederic E. Kingston and his Hartford brokerage firm of F. E. Kingston & Company it is indicated in the lengthy charges filed against the former New Haven man and his associates by State's Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn yesterday.

This figure represents the money which Kingston kept as profit to his firm, through sale of stock in the several subsidiary corporations which he set up together with other sums made through sale of dubious securities to the corporations after they had been financed, at enormous

Democrats in Assembly Want To Tell Congress In Memorial That 18th Amendment Should Be Repealed—What Was Accomplished Today In the Senate and House In Hartford.

State Capitol, Hartford, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The Democratic point of view on how Connecticut should go to work to tell Congress what should be done with the 18th Amendment was expressed today in the form of two Memorials offered in the House.

One seeks repeal of the amendment and the other asks for a constitutional amendment.

Both measures had the approval of Governor Cross and are in line with his inaugural suggestions.

When the title of the resolution memorializing Congress was read, Mr. Citron requested a full reading. The request was opposed by Majority Leader Johnson, who said nothing could be gained by a full reading and moved to dispense with it. Mr. Johnson's motion was referred to a committee on Federal relations.

Wickersham Report

The text of the Memorial had a preamble referring to the report of the National commission on law observance (Wickersham) and the declarations therein made. Continuing, the Memorial said that as the General Assembly of this state never ratified the 18th Amendment, "adoption of the law of the land" referred to the consent of the people of the state.

"The Memorial also had a lengthy preamble and was an application of a constitutional convention. This law observance, said forth that the observance of prohibition is ineffective. It said that it is the belief of the General Assembly and of the state that observance of the amendment was still doing business as the F. E. Kingston Company, a corporation, as distinguished from the partnership he later formed under the title of F. E. Kingston & Company, the plan being, as of last December 15, had netted $1,168,208.35, while the outstanding capital stock of the corporation, as of that date, was but $808,970. This sum had been turned over to the corporation to be credited to it on the Kingston books. Thus, according to Mr. Alcorn's charges, the firm had retained, as profit in the manipulation of the Connecticut Utilities corporation stock, some sixty percent of the amount paid in for the stock by the public.

Other Transactions

Mr. Alcorn's charges do not state how much was garnered from the sale of 30,000 shares of common stock in the New Haven and Shore Line Railway company to the pub-

GANDHI ADVISES FURTHER BOYCOTT

Nationalist Leader Declares Congress Has Right To Continue With Plans.

Bombay, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Leaving behind him a message to India's Nationalists to continue with their fight for independence must go on, Mahatma Gandhi today proceeded by train toward Allahabad, central India city, where are gathered most of the Nationalist working committee.

At Allahaba, India, "City of God" located on the sacred Ganges, Gandhi, will visit the bedside of one of his dearest friends, the aged Pandit Motilal Nehru, father of Jawaharlal Nehru, president of the all-India National Congress and discuss with him Great Britain's offer of an eventual qualified dominion status for India.

He faces in Allahabad when he arrives there tonight, a welcome probably as frenzied as that which tens and hundreds of thousands gave him here yesterday at dawn on his arrival after having spent eight months in Yorgia prison. We can suspend judgment on Prime Minister MacDonald's statement to the round table conference at London, the Mahatma asserted before he started from Bombay but we cannot suspend the activities of the All-Indian organization.

To Continue Boycott

"Even if after our conference with the delegates coming home from the round table conference it is found that the prime minister's statement afford sufficient grounds for the Congress to suspend its non-cooperative movement, the party cannot abandon its right to picket liquor shops and drug shops, and those selling foreign cloth nor can the right of India's starving millions to make their own salt be given up."

Indian delegates to the round table conference, now on their way home, today sent Lord Irwin, the viceroy, a wireless message congratulating him upon his "statesmanlike decision to release Gandhi and the other Congress leaders."

The message expressed a hope that "this will restore normal conditions and that Nationalist leaders may now consider the scheme evolved at the round table conference in the spirit in which it was conceived."

Disturbances continued today, however, as a group of Mohammedans attacked a number of Congress party pickets marching in front of a Mohammedan-owned cloth shop. Thirteen of the pickets were injured.

BARRAGE OF PRUNES FOILS HIGHWAYMEN

New Britain Man Hurts Groceries At Bandits and They Flee.

New Britain, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Two would-be holdup men fled before a barrage of groceries hurled at them by Louis Nair of 26 Brighton street, last night.

Nair and his wife had been shopping. In their return home, Mrs. Nair preceded her husband into the house while he put his automobile in the garage. As he was walking from the garage to the house, two youths appeared out of the darkness and ordered him to "stick them up," emphasizing their command by pretending to have revolvers in their right hand pockets.

Before their order had been complied with, Nair hurled a jar of stewed prunes in their direction. The youths faltered and hesitated about advancing further. Noting their air of indecision, Nair caught them and threw them with other groceries he was carrying in his arms. The men fled.

Nair ruined part of his grocery purchase but saved $150 in cash which he had in a pocket.

AMERICA LEADING WORLD IN RADIO

Soon To Be Linked With Telegraph Systems To Help In Communication.

St. Louis, Jan. 28.—(AP)—America now leads all nations in radio development, taking the place occupied by Great Britain before the World War, General Harbord, chairman of the board of the Radio Corporation of America, said in an address prepared for delivery at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon here today.

Enterprise, resourcefulness and engineering genius, he said, brought to this country leadership in modern communication methods.

Radio, he said, has a vital place in modern life, "a destiny as yet only dimly disclosed."

Its Advantages

Advantages of international radio circuits already established are enjoyed chiefly by business men of New York and San Francisco, General Harbord stated and we have not yet found a way to extend our service to inland cities except through the telegraph service of competing companies.

Establishment of a separate radio telegraph network through inland America or a combination with an existing telegraph company are possibilities he presented for extending the world-wide communication service.

GOOD TIMES NEAR ABBOTT PREDICTS

Steel Institute Director Declares Present Depression Is Just a Breathing Spell.

New Orleans, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The present depression "is just a momentary pause for mental breath taking before we plunge into a greater era of progressiveness than the world ever has known," said Charles F. Abbott, director of the American Institute of Steel Construction, here today.

"During the next ten years we will witness the greatest period of industrial development in history," he predicted as he pictured the American city of the future. He was the guest of Louisiana steel interests.

"Windowless buildings will be in universal use before many years pass," he said. "Lights radiating the health giving ultra violet rays will be used to illuminate these structures while the air in the offices and apartments will be kept clean, fresh and at an even temperature by automatic ventilating systems."

"Overhead automobile driveways already are being constructed and they soon will be used in all our major cities. Greater and longer bridges are to be erected."

"These things are not dreams," he said in discussing the 3,500 foot Hudson River span project, and plans for a giant seadrome having an exposed surface of eight acres and equipped with modern hotel service.

The windowless skyscrapers will tower more than a hundred stories above the street, Mr. Abbott said.

FIVE ROBBERIES IN ONE EVENING

New Haven, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Local police today were seeking the men who last night robbed a filling station, a drug store and three trolley cars, netting a total loot of $105.

Two men walked into a filling station in West Haven, early in the evening, covered Edward Gross, the attendant, and escaped with $25 in an automobile they had left across the street. Three hours later two others, each carrying revolvers, invaded a drug store in the Dixwell avenue section, held up Nicholas Finney, the clerk, and Joseph Vukoski, a customer and ordered them into a rear room. They robbed Finney of a pen and pencil worth $10, took $5 from the cash register and escaped.

The street car robberies are believed to have been conducted by the same man, although he had three companions with him on the last occasion. Shortly after midnight Michael Glynn, was held up at the Lighthouse Point Loop and robbed of $13.75. A half hour later Motorman John Cosgrave was robbed of $20 in change, when a bandit stopped his car in State street, while the third robbery occurred at Whitney avenue and Cliff street where Motorman John Petrillo was robbed of about the same amount.

Police Report Attempt To Organize Big Alien and Narcotic Smuggling Ring.

Los Angeles, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The Times said today the activities of Chicago gangsters in southern California, believed to point to the organization of a monster system of alien and narcotic smuggling, had been disclosed by police.

The names of Al "Scarface" Capone, Frankie Foster, Ralph Sheldon and other asserted, racketeers were linked by police in the plans, the newspaper said.

RAINBOW COLORS FEATURE MEN'S SPORT CLOTHES NOW

Pittsburgh, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The rainbow reflected in what the well-dressed man will wear this year, according to leaders of the National Association of Merchant Tailors in convention here, because, they say:

First—Color is as essential today to the trend business man as recreation.

Second—It marks a further effort to please wives.

Color is to emphasize the male attire around the clock, the report just completed shows. It especially marks the wardrobe of the sportsman.

For instance:

For Golf—Wearing of white flannels on the course is to be discouraged. Knickers are proper at all times.

Yachting—Blue coat with black buttons bearing the club's designation, worn with white trousers, or a complete white outfit with gold buttons will be the thing.

The Hunt—Riding frock of pink or other designated club color, or if one does not ride in color, a black coat of the same type with a collar coat, white breeches, top silk hat or velvet hunting hat.

Formal Riding or the Horse Show—Black tail coat, white or light colored plain "fattersal waistcoat, dark blue trousers with attached strap under the shoes and top hat.

General Sports—Belted back coat, the use of odd waistcoats from different fabrics to harmonize with the jacket, flannel trousers with harmonizing bold stripes, and a tendency toward fluffiness in knickers.

DENTISTS ALLOWED LIQUOR LIKE M. D.'S

To Be Given Same Amount For Emergency As Physicians, Woodcock Reports.

Washington, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Prohibition Director Woodcock said today new regulations probably would be adopted soon permitting dentists to use the same amount of liquor now for emergency allowed physicians.

At the same time, Commissioner Doran, of the Industrial Alcohol Bureau, which administers the medicinal whiskey regulations, announced it had adopted a recommendation of the Wickersham law enforcement commission that physicians not be required to enter upon the stints of their prescription books the amount and the books containing the stints returned to prohibition authorities.

Doran said, however, physicians would be required to enter upon the stints of their prescription books the amount and the books containing the stints returned to prohibition authorities.

Before the new rules increasing the allowance of medicinal liquor to dentists can become effective they must be signed by Attorney General Mitchell and Secretary Mellon. Woodcock indicated they had been approved although not finally signed.

Under them the dentists will be allowed to draw in additional six quarts of medicinal liquor each year for emergency use. They already are allowed two gallons for office use each year.

H. B. HOUSE AGAIN MERCHANTS' HEAD

South End Division of Chamber Holds Annual Session At Hotel Sheridan.

The entire slate of officers as presented by the nominating committee was elected to serve for the coming year at the annual meeting of the South Merchants Division of the Chamber of Commerce, held at the Hotel Sheridan last night and attended by 29 members. Herbert

Herbert B. House

B. House was re-elected chairman and Lewis H. Sipe, treasurer. Robert Seaman, A. LeRoy Slocum, Frank Limbacher, George H. Williams and Elmer Wicks were elected to comprise the Executive committee.

Plans were discussed for the annual Spring Dollar Day and Spring Opening. The latter, which will be held in March, will be extended to a three-day affair this year instead of the usual one evening event it has been in the past. The store closing schedule for 1931 was adopted, being similar to that of last year.

Under new business a Merchants' Institute was organized. The institute will be provided a training course for the sale forces of local merchants. The suggestion met with considerable approval and it was voted to leave the matter to the chairman and executive committee to set up a definite proposal and estimate the cost, reporting at a later meeting of the division.

Secretary McCabe called the members to task for violating the Solicitations Approval Contract by which contracting merchants agree to withhold advertising from any newspapers or magazines not having a regular date of issue unless such publication has the approval of the Chamber. He urged that members live up to the contract strictly.

In the chairman's report for the past year it was brought out that the division had sponsored twelve major projects, that the Executive committee had held 13 business meetings for a total of 18 hours, that the division held seven meetings for a total of 17 hours, and that besides this the chairman of the division attended all meetings of the Board of Control. The twelve projects were: Thrift Day, annual Spring Opening, National Better Home's Week, protection against solicitations and advertising schemes, Popularity Contest in cooperation with the State Theater, June Community Days, series of Tuesday special sales, campaign advertising Manchester, National Egg Week, Kodak Week, National Furniture Style Show, Fall Dollar Day. The division also organized and carried through a summer golf tournament that was very successful.

Mr. House presided at the meeting and was also the speaker of the evening. He reminisced on the growth of Main street during the past forty years and concluded by sounding out a challenge to the merchants to build as firm a structure in the coming forty years. The minutes of the last meeting were read and the report of Lewis Sipe, treasurer, was read and approved.

WOULD PLACE STATE AGAINST DRY LAW

able property on which the State had received no taxes. Senator Caplan will draw a bill which will provide that in event of dissolution of a charitable body its holding shall go to public charity of the state.

A banking bill in the House is aimed to permit banks and trust companies to establish branch banks if such have a combined capital of a million dollars and are located in a town of at least 100,000 population.

Another bill would make realty of public utilities tangible for taxation. The bill would compel the highway commissioner "to obey" the will of the Assembly when it has ordered a road built, would give the governor power to remove the commissioner if he did not "obey."

The bill for the state to acquire Rocky Neck in East Lyme for a park, carries an appropriation of $125,000.

The New Haven county Democratic caucus named Mr. Mahoney of Derby as its party candidate for auditor.

Parker-Smith Case. The recent Parker-Smith case at New Haven is understood to have occasioned the bill which provides for prosecution of any officer of a corporation, trustee or any other person who intentionally causes wrongful appropriation or conversion of funds of a corporation.

House Leader Johnson had a bill which would do away with necessity of car operators charged with minor violation of traffic laws appearing in court. Such could pay a fine to the clerk of the court within 48 hours.

Senator Lavery offered the Federation of Labor bill for amendment to the workmen's compensation law. This would lower the minimum of employees from 5 to 3, which number brings an employer under the law. There are also other changes in the bill.

ASSEMBLY RECEPTION. State Capitol, Hartford, Jan. 28.—(AP)—An invitation to members of the General Assembly to meet Governor Cross at the Memorial Hall of the State Library and Supreme Court building on Tuesday afternoon, February 10, was given by him today. These receptions have not been held since 1917, when members joined with the committees suspending their settings in order to attend.

The most industrious members of the Senate today seemed to be Senator Reed of the 18th District who offered more than twenty bills, each accompanied by brief explanatory notes. The larger number of these measures had to do with savings bank, investment companies and moneys to be held in hand as reserves against deposits.

A project to be taken up in New Britain for the right to annex portions of Newington, Berlin, Southington and Plainville. A long bill explaining the "growing pains" of the municipality.

Living Costs. The higher cost of living for governors possibly was recognized by Senator Connor of the first district who offered a bill to increase the governor's salary from $5,000 to $10,000. The draft provided for effectiveness upon passage but this was vetoed so if the salary goes up Governor Cross will not get it.

Senator Keeler offered an amendment to the Sunday observance which would permit basketball, authorizing Norwich to acquire public buildings with other corporate limits, and creating the office of comptroller and registrar of voters in Norwich. He offered the petition of Alfred M. Sloan to seek compensation for injuries sustained at Fitch's Home for Soldiers.

IN THE HOUSE. State Capitol, Hartford, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Bills flowed freely into the House, many of them dealing with fish and game laws and others calling for amendments to charters of towns, and of private corporations.

One bill carried an appropriation of $425,000 for the purchase of land for Black Rock, Devil's Hopyard, Indian Well and Fort Shantok state parks. Other bills were:

Work of creating finance board in Southington; repealing act creating board of public safety in Norwalk; changing the office of city auditor in Norwalk to office of comptroller; authorizing bankers trust company to move from Essex to Old Saybrook prior to 1933; changing the Fort Griswold and Groton Monument Commission; prohibiting hunting on Sunday; setting the number of game wardens as one for every two counties and requiring game wardens to clear brush along state highways when not occupied with other duties; authorizing Bethel to issue $60,000 in water bonds; authorizing Wallingford to issue school bonds of $400,000; designating New Milford-Torington highway as Lafayette Boulevard; consolidating schools of Manchester providing for board of education of nine members; permitting veterans' organization use of armories four days annually; recodifying law pertaining to department of domestic animals; creating a Guilford Soldiers' monument commission.

Judgeships resolutions were: William A. Evans and Charles E. Rathbun, Bloomfield; Charles A. Hallock and Samuel A. Davis, Danbury; Clement A. Fuller, Stamford; W. J. Hillard, Jr., Enfield; H. H. Hood, Winchester and Ralph M. Grant, South Windsor.

Jacob Levy of Westport asked for restoration of rights. Probate Judge W. J. Ayling of Norwich asked for $450 for fees in committing insane persons.

OBITUARY

DEATHS

Mrs. C. H. Tenney. Mrs. Calvin E. Tenney, mother of Herbert C. Tenney, died at the home of her son, 351 Woodbridge street, at 8:45 a. m., today, after an illness of several weeks. Mrs. Tenney who was 65 years old was a native of Vermont but for the past seven or eight years had been accustomed to spend the winter with her son's family here.

Mrs. Tenney leaves a sister, Mrs. Fred A. Sallee of Ludlow, Vermont. She also leaves another son, Henry M. Tenney of St. Louis, and four grandchildren. Mrs. Tenney was a member of the Methodist church in Orange, Mass., where the family lived for about 25 years.

Arrangements for the funeral services are as yet incomplete. Burial will be in the cemetery at Ludlow, Vermont.

VOTE AGAINST AUTO SHOW THIS WINTER

Automotive Division of Chamber Meets This Noon—Shearer Chairman.

Repeating a decision made last year, the Automotive Division of the Chamber of Commerce voted against an Automobile Show this year, at the annual meeting of the division at the Hotel Sheridan this noon. James Shearer was elected chairman of the division and Ernest Bantly, treasurer. The following were elected as an executive committee: Ernest Betts, Wilfred Messier, Ernest Roy, Alfred Schiebel, and Harding A. Stephens.

The new chairman plans to hold a meeting of the executive committee in the near future and a meeting of the division will be called for early in February. Election of the chairman and treasurer was done on nominations from the floor, after which the chairman appointed a nominating committee to draw up an executive committee. Fourteen members attended the meeting: Ernest Bantly, George Brown, W. A. Cole, A. E. Crawford, Ralph McCann, Wilfred Messier, Joseph Madigan, Raymond Montie, Frank Oakes, Ernest Roy, Henry Schaller, James Shearer, Harding A. Stephens, and E. J. McCabe.

2D CONGREGATIONAL TEACHERS MEETING

Approximately 30 of the officers, teachers and substitutes of the Second Congregational church school gathered in the vestry last night for the monthly supper and meeting, and to listen to a talk from Miss Love Brown of the Hartford Seminary on the "Art of Telling Stories."

Superintendent L. J. Tuttle was master of ceremonies. Mrs. Tuttle was chairman of the supper, assisted by Mrs. Alfred Hayes, Mrs. Charles Palmer. The meal consisted of roast, ham, cranberry sauce, mustard pickles, rolls, cookies, coffee and tapioca pudding with whipped cream. The tables were tastefully decorated in red and white.

APPOINT CONSERVATOR FOR MCCORMICK ESTATE

Chicago, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The Appellate Court today reversed the decision of two probate judges and had jurisdiction to appoint a conservator for the person of Stanley McCormick, incompetent millionaire of Santa Barbara, Cal.

Probate Judge Henry Horner, at a hearing in 1928, appointed a conservator of the person of Stanley McCormick, estimated at $50,000,000, but refused to appoint a conservator for his person on the grounds that as there had been no personal service in the case, jurisdiction in the matter was not in the court.

Probate Judge Michael Finberg later dismissed a petition of Mrs. Katherine Dexter McCormick in which she sought to be appointed as her husband's sole conservator. The court also ruled that he had no jurisdiction in the matter.

McCormick and his estate have been the objects of long litigation in Chicago between his wife and his brother, Harold F. McCormick, chairman of the board of directors of the International Harvester Company, and a sister, Mrs. Anita McCormick Blaine.

RAPS EXTRA SESSION

Washington, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The Kent county, Michigan, board of supervisors wants Congress to adjourn without a special session "so peace and harmony" once more may prevail.

Representative Mapes, Republican, Michigan, sought to put the resolution by the supervisors in the Congressional Record today, but Representative Underhill, Republican, Massachusetts said although he was in sympathy with the suggestion he "must object."

The resolution, said Congress should avoid an extra session so the members may "get back home at the earliest possible date with the hope that thereby the atmosphere may be once more made clear and people of the land be permitted to go about their daily activities with a reasonable amount of peace and harmony."

A CRIMELESS CITY. Waterbury, Conn., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Waterbury as a crimeless city was the picture persons got who went to police court today to look on. No police court session was held, they were told, because yesterday not a single arrest was made in this city.

DIVIDEND OMITTED. Meriden, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The directors of the International Silver Company at a meeting here today voted to omit the dividend on common stock due at this time. President C. R. Gardiner in a statement issued after the meeting said that the financial status of the corporation would not permit a dividend but due to a net loss in business during the year, 1930, and uncertainty as to the future the director believed it best to omit the usual dividend on the common stock.

LATEST STOCKS

New York, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The Share Market, already well depressed, declined to be particularly disturbed over U. S. Steel's quarterly report today, but back-tracked a few steps as mid-week business statistics indicated that it may have been discounting commercial improvement a little rapidly.

Prices yielded 1 to 5 points, but the generally sold-out condition of the market was again apparent in the moderate volume of offerings, bonds also eased, as government securities were sold in some volume. Sellers felt that this reality, the proposal to float a huge new government issue to redeem veterans insurance certificates, pointing to Secretary Mellon's statement that this would mean "exhaustion of the security market and creation of a serious impediment to business recovery."

The tobacco issues were strong, reflecting Liggett and Myers $1 extra dividend, and favorable earnings report. Liggett and Myers gained 2, and American Tobacco 1, near Central. Dupont, Westinghouse Electric, North American, Baltimore and Ohio, Public Service of N. J., and Air Reduction, Eastman, Case and Allied Chemical lost 4 to 5. Losses of a point or so embraced a wide variety of shares.

The weekly steel trade reviews indicated that improvement in that basic industry, had been all but halted, pending further improvement in general business. Both "Iron Age" and "Steel" placed in a gook outfit for the past week at 47 per cent of capacity, against 46 the preceding week. U. S. Steel's last quarter earnings of 70 cents a share, were exactly as estimated in advance of the report yesterday, but in larger proportion of that amount came from tax credit and special adjustments than expected. Only 27 cents a share came from actual operations.

Reports from large-scale merchandising organizations were relatively satisfactory, but these issued eased with the rest of the list. Westwood reported 1930 net of $5.6 a share, or only 10 cents less than for 1929, and its financial position was strengthened. Earnings at Sears Roebuck's sales for the first four weeks of the year are said to be about 10 per cent under 1930, against drops of more than twice that in the two preceding four-week periods. The 30 per cent drop scarcely retards the reduction. Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company increased its annual dividend rate from $5 to $6 a share.

Coppers were also under pressure, as there was further talk of offerings of metal under the established price of 10 cents a pound. Freight car loadings for the week ended January 17 showed a fair gain over the previous week, if anything slightly above the seasonal normal, but the aggregate level remained the lowest in years. GRANT-MINORITY REPRESENTATION

Selectmen Take Steps To appease Opposition To Schools Consolidation.

In order to appease the opposition to school district consolidation here the Board of Selectmen at five o'clock last night incorporated in the proposed act a section guaranteeing representation to a minority party. This was done despite the fact that the Connecticut General Statutes make minority representation on school boards a necessity. The reason for taking this double precaution was because the recognized leader of the minority here, Dr. Edward G. Dolan, had stated that his opposition to the consolidation proposal would be withdrawn if the minority were guaranteed representation. He did not consider the General Statutes a sufficient guarantee.

The section incorporating minority representation reads as follows: "Not more than six members of such committee (the Board of Education) shall be registered in the same political party at the time of their election or appointment." The Board of Education under this act will be comprised of nine persons, six Republicans and three Democrats, most probably. This is about the ratio of the vote the Democrats themselves consider the best they have ever polled here.

The Joint Board of School Appointments will be composed of nine persons under the new act. Five of these members will be from the Board of Education and four of them from the Board of Selectmen. It was at first suggested that the Board be in the ratio of six to three, the six members being furnished by the Board of Education. However, the majority of the Selectmen believe that five to four arrangement is a better one.

To Be Presented After Judge Hyde, the town counsel, has reviewed the changes proposed by the Selectmen the bill will be drafted and presented in the Legislature by Judge Raymond A. Johnson who is Republican floor leader, and the most influential member of the Lower House in the General Assembly. No opposition is expected from the General Assembly.

Tax Districts There was some discussion at yesterday evening's meeting about school districts after the present meeting on the voting machines in the fall. The new Board of Education would not be voted upon before 1932.

levy on the holders of all United States government securities." Destruction of capital values running into hundreds of millions of dollars.

Death of the bond market for any other kinds of securities. Destruction of the market for foreign securities, which, he said, "not only would interfere with the marketing of our surplus products—but would also greatly disturb world trade and world equilibrium."

Eventually a deeper depression than the one from which the world is suffering today. "There is no economic merit in the proposal," Secretary Mellon testified. "From the point of view of stimulating business, it is a plan for unlimited inflation, with the disastrous results of which the world is only too familiar."

"On the investment side it means the exhaustion of the security markets and the creation of a serious impediment to business recovery both here and abroad. "To the unemployed it spells further retardation of the day when normal employment will be available. "From the point of view of the United States Treasury it represents complete disorganization of an orderly program for the refunding and retirement of our war debt and a tremendous increase in interest charges. "The taxpayer it means the destruction of all hope of the lightening of the load of taxation for years to come and a probable increase in taxes in the very near future.

"How the veterans and their families, who after all are an inseparable part of the American people and whose prosperity and welfare are inextricably bound up with the prosperity and welfare of all, can hope to find relief and improvement in their condition from the universal and destructive consequences which these measures would entail is beyond comprehension."

Before Mellon started, Under Secretary Mills read correspondence between the Treasury secretary and Senator Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan, in which Mellon questioned the wisdom of cash conversion from the veterans' standpoint as well as for the country as a whole. Senator Couzens, Republican, Michigan, asked whether the Treasury or the veterans were best able to judge of what was best for them. "Each individual veteran is probably better to judge for himself, but the Treasury is probably in a better position to judge for the group as a whole," Mills replied.

"In other words," Couzens said, "the Treasury Department is better able to pass on what is best for the veterans than the veterans themselves. I think there is some question of good taste for the Treasury to assume to argue how it would affect the veterans."

Question Mellon Committeemen began questioning Mellon before he had read his statement, with Couzens, long one of his critics, leading the examination. Referring to Mellon's assertion it would "kill" the bond market for the government to float a large loan at this time, Senator Walsh, Demo-

CAPONE'S GUNMEN WORKING ON COAST

"Then there has been a great de- precipitation in the issuance of private securities?" Walsh asked.

"There was, but it has been improving." Marked Revival

"There has been a marked revival in the market since the first of the year," Mills interjected.

Responding to Senator Barkley, Democrat, Kentucky, Mr. Mills estimated that the public debt had been retired by $3,450,000,000 more in the last ten years than required by law.

Mills added that half of the sum of treasury surpluses which had been applied to the debt came from liquidation of war assets.

"To put it another way," added Mills, "we now propose to wipe out the benefits of sound financing by the Treasury over the last ten years."

ENSEMBLE SCHEME IS OUT OF STYLE

Contrasts In Coats and Dresses Are Now the Fashion, Paris Decrees.

Paris, Jan. 28. — (AP) — The matching ensemble idea which has been a favorite with the smart set for the last three seasons, was tossed into the discard by the Paris couturiers today when coats contrasting with dresses in both color and fabric were exhibited as the smartest traveling and street costumes for fashionable women.

The spring costumes displayed for Fifth avenue's Easter parade included coats and frocks combining two or three colors, one generally somber and the other bright. A dark brown rough wool coat to be worn over a brick red linen dress, a dark blue wool wrap lined with bright green silk to be accompanied by a bright green crepe dress, and a black and white pebbly weave wool coat, lined with scarlet crepe to be worn with an oyster white shantung gown were among the models displayed.

Little Fur Used

Coats generally were fitted models designed with a scant flare at the bottom and fairly tight sleeves having small cuffs and a standing roll collar. A few belts marked the models, most of which were of double breasted design buttoning on the left side. Almost no fur was used. Frocks were simple in design with gored or pleated skirts fitting the hips closely. Many square necklines were seen.

Gay colored scarfs were smaller and brighter than ever. These with colored leather belts and bright flower boutonnières worn close to the throat on high collared gowns were the outstanding color notes in the showing.

Elaborate Scarfs

Scarfs were made from every conceivable material from small patterned chiffon to wool lace. They were generally knotted closely about the throats showing above the collars of coats, some of which were buttoned high. Three piece suits worn under long coats were displayed as smart modes for traveling and sports and they showed an occasional tendency to match in color if not in shade.

Beige suits worn under brown coats, light green under dark green wraps and light blue under navy blue coats were the favorites. Many suits had cardigan jackets worn with blouses of men's white silk shirtings.

Washington Letter

BY RODNEY BUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

Washington, Jan. 28.—There was a report that three farmers were in Washington who had made money raising wheat and your correspondent rushed to the scene.

One found the three brothers Kopac—Emil, John and Ed. Big giantish fellows with massive jaws. They ranged in age from 44 to 56. Their parents emigrated to Nebraska from Bohemia.

The Kopac boys were thick, brown suits of what is called California flannel and the shirts were of the same material as the coat and pants. They were well informed as to public affairs and full of heavy rural wit.

Not Always Successful

They had driven from Nebraska to Florida, then to Washington and were about to leave for New York. And they were having a swell time. It turned out that there could be successful and unsuccessful wheat farmers, all in the same family. Emil and John operated about 1400 acres of wheat together around Oshkosh, Neb., last year and made a good profit despite low prices. Ed leased and operated 6000 acres near Hardin, Mont., and didn't make money.

Emil and John had a yield of more than 31 bushels an acre. Ed got only about six bushels an acre. The success of Emil and John and the non-success of Ed has been a regular thing since Ed left his brothers for Montana five years ago except that Ed had one good year.

Emil and John say Ed is trying to raise wheat in the wrong place.

Some Good Advice

"The first thing to do to raise wheat profitably is to get enough land at a good price," Emil explained. "You can't raise wheat successfully on land that's too high priced. I think our Nebraska panna-handle is the best wheat territory in the United States and we paid $80 an acre for it."

"Then get power machinery and use tractors for all the field work. We haven't an animal on our place except the cat. Then you have to give your machinery good care. Most farmers don't, and it costs them a lot of money."

"You can't get by without sticking right on the job and seeing that your help does the work, either. Lots of wheat farmers, warm on street corners. Of course you've got to have good crop weather, too."

Ed said he had had all the requisites named by Emil—except weather. The drought hit Ed pretty bad last year. One thing they all agreed was that "the government hadn't done anything for the farmers and that the McNary-Haugen bill should have been passed."

Want to Bet Emil?

Emil said he would make a bet with anybody that only 10 per cent of all farmers had made any money last year and that although in many cases it was the farmers' own fault something ought to be done to make farming profitable for the mass.

Ed said wheat farming became unprofitable when wheat fell below 75 cents a bushel and the reason Emil and John could make things go when it hit 60 cents was because of their remarkably good yield.

The Kopac boys understood the alleged bad effects of higher tariffs on the farmer and were interested in the power issue, which gets so much attention from the four Nebraska and Montana senators. "I could have had 15,000 bushels out of that 6,000 acres if there hadn't been any drought," Ed said. "But I only got 28,000."

Emil's Success Explained

"You ought to tell the people that Emil is a bachelor and hasn't got any high-falutin' younger generation to think up ways to spend money."

"Well," said Emil, "if I had and they were too high-falutin', they could just walk right on down the road."

John Kopac, the eldest, cackled his approval. Old John didn't take much part in the interview, but every time your correspondent looked at him he winked.

Once, in 1922, the black rust hit the Kopac wheat and there was really no crop at all. Before 1920 they had been in the garage business, they said. "And there's been more profit in wheat farming in these past years than in the garage business in its best years," Emil said proudly.

John winked his approval, but Ed just grunted.

Miss Miriam Davenport, of Boston, To Be On Big Ice Carnival Program.

One of the youngest and most talented performers at the coming Ice Carnival is pretty Miriam Davenport of Boston, the 18-year-old daughter of Harold Davenport, former amateur tennis champion of Springfield and himself a figure skater of note. Miss Davenport has delighted devotees of the annual ice event for the past three years and has made plans to come to Manchester some night this week to get acquainted with this year's crop of Center Springs ice.

Miss Davenport, a student in a Boston Art School, skated in National competition last year, receiving a high ranking in figure skating and a first place in exhibition or free style skating, consisting of a series of original ice events. The former Springfield "Queen of the Ice" has skated in competition with the best ice performers of New York, Boston, Providence and Springfield as well as many Winter Carnivals in northern New England.

In addition to Miss Davenport, who is considered one of the best figure skaters in New England, Helen Coker of Hartford, woman's New England speed skating champion for 1931 and Alfred Bastiere of Pittsfield, Mass., men's New England skating champion for this year will be seen at Center Springs, Sunday, Feb. 1.

KING ZOG, OF ALBANIA, CONSULTS SPECIALIST

Vienna, Jan. 28.—(AP)—King Zog of Albania reached here this morning from Tirana for a consultation with Vienna specialists who will attempt to diagnose his illness.

Railway officials, announcing his arrival, said that he was traveling strictly incognito.

It was understood he traveled on an Italian gunboat as far as Venice where he boarded a special train for the remainder of the journey.

Albanian government officials declared that his visit was solely for purposes of recreation and recuperation, but that reports of a breakdown in his health were incorrect. His digestion has been weakened and he has a sore throat from smoking 150 cigarettes a day, but beyond that he only requires a holiday.

Upon his arrival he went to the Imperial hotel where he was visited immediately by Professor Julius Richard Bauer, a specialist in internal diseases.

According to a Norwegian scientist, wireless waves travel more than a million miles from the surface of the earth and are then reflected back by a layer of electrons.

MUSCLE SHOALS ARGUMENT DIMS CHANCE OF LAW

Washington.—(AP)—Disagreement of Senate and House conferees on leasing the nitrate plants minimizes possibility of a law by this Congress which would put to work the government's property at Muscle Shoals, Alabama.

The nearest it ever came to turning a wheel since the Armistice cease of its original purpose was when Congress passed a bill for Federal operation, but President Coolidge stopped that with a "pocket" veto.

Since then Congress has fought over the distribution of the hydro-electric power to be developed there—whether it shall be done at cost, by the government, or for profit by a private interest.

Senator Hugo Black of Alabama charges that in its power wrangle Congress has forgotten what its terms the real purpose in utilizing the property, namely, low-cost production of fertilizer. Regardless of the form legislation takes, Black says he will introduce an amendment to lease the machinery to a co-operative organization of farmers which would produce and sell fertilizer at cost.

"Operation of the plants," he says, "would provide employment for thousands, and if we manufacture nitrate we will do something to give the farmer relief. The nitrate plants were intended for the aid of agriculture through the production of fertilizer."

"Last year, in Alabama, about one-fourth of the return from every pound of cotton produced had to be paid out for fertilizer. The same was true in most other cotton states."

Commercial sources estimate that there will be a probable reduction in fertilizer consumption this year ranging seasonally from 10 to 25 per cent, due to inability of many farmers to obtain credit.

OPEN FORUM

CENTER SPRINGS PARK

Editor, The Herald: May I through the columns of your esteemed newspaper, express my appreciation of the good work now being done by Manchester's "army of unemployed" at Center Springs Park. It does not require a skilled mind and the developed taste of a landscape gardener to enable one to judge between the good work now being done which will bring permanent results and the waste of time and money during past years, which brought only a few years of desirable underbrush, for example has been cut down to the ground during the past, only to grow up thicker than before. Now this unsightly wild growth has been permanently removed.

Though we are in the cold grip of winter, again would I invite all to visit Center Springs Park, the haunts of the "Gipsy Soul" whose tawdry feathered friends have been called to warmer lands by their Maker.

To the average mind, the flowery families lie dead and buried beneath the snow, the trees are stripped of their verdure, fragrance no longer floats in the air and nature is divested of all her beautiful robes—but not so to the lovers of nature.

A free soul sees only beauty and to it the Creation is not in distress, not even during winter.

To such a soul the very rocks are books of revelations, the birds and wild creatures are its companions, the mighty oak and other sturdy sons of the forest are as near kinsmen. Truly does Job speak in the Good Book, to the "Gipsy Soul": "At destruction and famine thou shalt laugh, neither shalt thou be afraid of the beasts of the earth. For thou shalt be in league with the stones of the field, and the beasts of the field shall be at peace with thee. Thou shalt come to thy grave in a full age like as a shock of corn cometh in, in his season." (Job V, 22-26).

To the soul that sits in darkness, the present industrial gloom is but confusion and the future impenetrable night. To it there is no awakening springtime. The enlightened soul understands the alterations of all things in nature. Lost beauties and quenched glories in the thronged theater of the universe are not lost but have only changed.

What at times seems to be a calamity turns into beauty, glory and unbounded blessings.

Harken to the voice of the "Gipsy Soul" and visit Center Springs Park. Come when the white fleecy blanket the Creator has spread over all. When hedges and shrubs are richly fringed with immaculate trimmings designed by no mortal.

The stream is arrested in its career and the lake transformed into solid crystal. Here we see youth at its best, gliding swiftly over the icy pavement while sweet harmonies vibrate of music furnished by the modern miracle of the radio, gladdens and warms every soul. In observing this beauty spot, one is forced to ask:

Is this the same world that was yesterday? Here is no diversity of color, but all is white. The trees coated with alabaster and marble-like veneer surpass the grandeur of artificial columns that once adorned the temples of the gods.

I challenge the captive soul to bring on the proverbial lily and it will look tarnished in this crystal palace of nature.

Many thanks to you Mr. Editor and my sincere appreciation to the men who so faithfully worked to beautify Manchester's Garden of Eden—Center Springs Park. Respectfully yours, Minnie Hutton.

Assessors' Work Ended

The assessors of the Town of Vernon, James A. Elliot, William V. Smith and J. Brown, completed their work this week. While many people expected a large decrease in the grand list, the decrease is less than $10,000. The total for 1930 is $10,450,960. The 1929 recapitulation based on the board of relief figures, was $10,490,178. The falling off is exactly $39,218.

During the year there has been an increase of 18 dwelling houses, Barns, sheds, garages, etc., show a gain of 38. There have been 31 additional houses and building lots, while there has been a decrease of two in commercial buildings, and a loss of one in mills, water power and machinery. There has been a decrease in taxable land of 64 acres. The decrease in autos over last year is 85, while horses and mules number 12 less than last year. There are 178 in the entire town of Vernon. Cattle show a gain of 32 over last year.

Fifty taxpayers failed to file their lists within the time required. The largest, individual taxpayer is William Maxwell. Of the manufacturing plants the Springfield Company is the largest taxpayer. Allen K. Beckendorf, owner of the former Wendish property at the center, is the largest individual non-resident taxpayer. He is in the 1930 grand list for $120,400. The United States Envelope Company is the largest non-resident company or corporation paying taxes. It is listed for $258,360.

K. of C. Open Meeting An open meeting and smoker was held in Knights of Columbus hall last evening by Rockville Council, K. of C. District Deputy Lewis H. Chapman presided and delivered a short address.

Frank Madden of Hartford, lecturer of Hartford Council, was the principal speaker of the evening. The meeting was open to all men over seventeen years from St. Bernard's and St. Joseph's parishes.

There were musical numbers by Francis Cratty of this city and by Arthur O'Connor, James Shea, Dominic Mirisari and Joseph O'Rourke all of Hartford. The latter is a clever impersonator.

Other numbers on the program were songs by William Connor, Edward Lynsky and Francis Ferguson of Windsor Locks, with Robert O'Brien as accompanist, banjo and vocal numbers by Henry Murphy and piano selections by Ernie Rock.

Rev. Francis Hinchey, assistant pastor of St. Bernard's church, accepted the cup given by the Tennessean-Brendel company to the St. Bernard's team for winning the Interchurch League Championship last summer. Members of the team were also presented with gold charms, the gift of the Rockville Leader.

Refreshments were served, followed by a social hour and smoker.

Lighting Improvements The Rockville-Willimantic Light Company will expend $205,000 for improvements and addition to its plants and equipment during the year 1931, according to a survey of its present estimates. The improvements will be made up of general construction and betterment all over the entire lines and in the plants at Willimantic, Rockville and Stafford Springs.

Going to Manchester A large number from this city plans to attend the Knights of Pythias district meeting to be held in Orange hall, South Manchester, this evening. The local lodge will meet at 7:30 and after a short business session will leave immediately for Manchester.

Annual Reception The annual reception and Roll Call of Union church will be held in the chapel on Thursday evening. The feature will be a report by the historian, Mrs. Walter Skinner. There will be musical numbers. Rev. George S. Brookes, pastor, will give an address.

Ladies Aid Officers At the annual meeting of the Ladies Aid Society of the Episcopate church, the following officers were elected for the year: President, Mrs. Eugene Edwards; first vice-president, Mrs. Rachael Gyngell; second vice-president, Mrs. Frank Busher; secretary, Mrs. Reginald Kent; treasurer, Mrs. Earl Elliott; chairman of approval committee, Mrs. Eugene Dickinson; chairman of fancy work, Miss Gertrude Dunn. An informal tea will be held on Wednesday afternoon, February 18.

Public Supper The Sunday school of Union Congregational church, which is self-supporting, will have a public supper in the church social rooms on Saturday evening. The first tables will be served at 6 o'clock.

Mrs. Fahey Injured Mrs. James Fahey, Jr., of this city, was cleaning out a work basket when a large needle entered her knee and broke off. She was taken to the Rockville City hospital, where it was found necessary to make two incisions to remove the needle.

Legion Auxiliary The committee of the American Legion Auxiliaries in charge of the social hour to follow the regular meeting tonight is: Mrs. Rose Backhaus, Miss Anna Martley, Mrs. Nettie Weber, Mrs. Ethel Taylor, Mrs. Anna Trapp, Mrs. Helen Rothe, Mrs. Rose March, Mrs. Minnie Badstueber, Mrs. Emma Baer, Mrs. Nellie Bliss, Mrs. Emma Brendel, Mrs. Catherine Dalley, Mrs. Rose Grumback, Mrs. Lillian Morris and Mrs. Rose McKenna.

Notes Mrs. Nellie Jackson, Great Wenden of the Degree of Pochonias at Mr. and Mrs. Charles Champagne of this city, attended the official visitation of Great Chiefs in Branford last evening.

Miss Eleanor Dunn, daughter of Clarence Dunn of Snipic street, has returned from the Hartford hospital, where she was a patient.

Clyde Davis, a patient at the Rutland Heights Veterans hospital for some time, has been discharged and has returned home.

Clarence Griffin has returned to his home in this city from the Veterans hospital at Washington.

James Fahey, Sr., of Grove street is confined to his home by illness. Ernest Meyers is ill at his home on Grove street.

GOVERNMENT SPECIALIST FINDS MISSING ELEMENT

Washington, Jan. 28.—(AP)—

Confirmatory evidence of the existence and identity of "Rhenium," one of the missing elements scientifically suspected rather than known to be harbored in the universe, has been discovered and checked at the Bureau of Standards.

Dr. W. F. Meggers, a government specialist in optical work, has brought out proof of the presence of the substance by application of the X-Ray and the analysis of the spectral light it reflects.

The substance, provisionally set down as "Rhenium 75" on the list of 90 or more basic elements making up the universe, is one of those whose existence has been hitherto predicted rather than discovered by science. In arranging the known elements by the character of their atoms, scientists found several gaps, and it was declared that further search of the globe or the stars would find new elements which belonged in the gaps, but had been overlooked by men. This expectation has been now almost completely met. Rhenium was first tentatively isolated by German chemists in 1925, but was still classified as "existence doubtful."

At present, rhenium is rarer than radium in the earth's stock of commodities, and is too young to have any known usefulness. However, like many another of the elements purposefully sought since the structural plan was laid down indicating their existence, rhenium may attain value and be put into service after science has more fully established its character.

IS NOW A MONTHLY New York, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The Christian Herald, hitherto a weekly, became a monthly with the February issue, which has just come from the presses. For the first time the publication is to be sold on news stands.

Dr. Daniel A. Poling, prominent dry, its editor-in-chief, and Stanley High, editor, announced the change was made "in order to give religious interests a journalistic presentation equal to the best now given secular interests."

ENVOY FLEES FLAMES

Tokyo, Jan. 28.—(AP)—

U. S. Ambassador W. Cameron Forbes had a rather rude awakening today. A group of Japanese firemen broke into the ambassador's house shouting "Hyaku! Hyaku!" meaning "quick" and warning Mr. Forbes his next door neighbor's house was in flames.

The firemen began systematically to move the ambassador's furniture into the garden. Mr. Forbes slipped a fur coat over his pajamas and assisted.

Firemen climbed to the roof of the ambassador's house, saving it from any danger.

The adjoining residence which burned to the ground was occupied by Mrs. Alice St. John, directress of the nurses training school of St. Luke's hospital. The hospital was not damaged although preparations were made to remove the patients.

A resident of an Ohio town says radio programs are coming in from his stove. It is true some programs lately sound like blazes.

David Cole, Herald composing room employe who is also entirely deaf. Also Mr. Smithin made it known that his line of bread-winning is going on the Fritz, so to speak. There are too many fakors, said Mr. Smithin, who go about the country now making gestures, pretending to be deaf and dumb and likewise selling alphabet cards. "Just go up behind one of those birds," Mr. Smithin fingered, "and ask him to have a shot of hooch!"

James Smithin, 33, of Bellevue, Idaho, dropped into town yesterday. Mr. Smithin is suffering from the effects of the business depression. Also he has a physical affliction that was not so much of an affliction while the going was good. At the age of four, though he had been a normal child therefore, he lost the power of speech and hearing. As a deaf mute he attended school, grew up, married and became the father of two boys, 13 and 11. He is helping a brother through college. He was able to do all these things because there was much more than chicken-feed in traveling about the country, making motions and selling cards with the one-hand and two-hand deaf-mute alphabets on them. COW EATS BANKROLL Bridgton, N. J., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Gloom as thick as pea soup hung over the farm of Bill who was out $350 in cash, plus Bossy's value on the hoof.

This is the story as neighboring farmers got it from Bill himself: He had drawn $420 from the bank to purchase supplies and for a day or two, had carried the money in a canvas bag in his hip pocket. Then after feeding his stock the bag was missing. His search was without success until he focussed "Bossy" chewing her cud.

He saw a part of what had been a $20 bill protruding from Bossy's mouth and sent a hurry call for a veterinarian. In a little while Bossy's spirit was on its way to the happy hunting grounds for cows and the veterinarian had operated. In one of Bossy's stomachs they found all that remained of Bill's bankroll—a badly mutilated $50 bill, a $20 bill and a tattered canvas bag.

RUM SMUGGLER SAID HE'D KILL SLAYER OF KIN

Coast Guard Said Skipper's Brother Made Threat After Josephine K Was Captured.

New York, Jan. 28.—(AP)—A board of inquiry investigating the shelling of the Canadian rum-runner Josephine K by the Coast Guard Saturday night was informed today that one member of the crew threatened vengeance for the killing of the master, Captain William P. Cluett, who was slain by a Coast Guard shell.

The threat, the board was told, came from Alfred Cluett, cook aboard the Josephine K and brother of the captain.

The testimony came from Bennett Walker, cook of the Coast Guard Cutter 161, which arrived at the scene of the shelling in the wake of Cutter 145, the boat which made the capture.

Tells of Threat
Walker told the board the threat was made while Captain Cluett was being taken to a hospital on Staten Island and while the crew of the Josephine K was herded in the forecastle.

"If our captain dies, your skipper will die too," he quoted the brother of the mortally wounded captain.

Walker was the first Coast Guardsman aboard the Josephine K. He was assigned to guard the members of the crew. He was equipped with a revolver, he said, and so far as he could tell there were no firearms aboard the rum-runner.

Schmidt Was Sober
He added to evidence given at yesterday's session seeking to establish that Karl Schmidt, boatswain in command of Cutter 145 and the man who fired the shot that killed Captain Cluett, was sober. Walker said he saw Schmidt a few minutes after the shelling, and he was sure the boatswain had not been tipping.

The members of the board asked Captain Cecil M. Gabbett, commander of Base 2, Staten Island, where the inquiry is being held, to run off a speed test of the Josephine K as soon as possible. They requested that an effort be made to hold the test today. The speed of the rum runner is an important point in the proceedings because General Campbell, British consul general in New York, has asked whether it would not have been possible for the cutter to capture the rum ship without resorting to shelling.

Coast Guard records produced as evidence showed the Josephine K had been under suspicion as a rum-runner since 1928. She was trailed by patrols twenty times and twice, the records said, was seen by Guardsmen in the act of transferring liquor. Both times she got away.

WITHIN 12 MILES
New York, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Testimony that the Canadian rum-runner Josephine K, was within the territorial waters of the United States when she was captured by Coast Guardsmen Saturday night was before the two governments today.

Captain William P. Cluett, master of the vessel, was wounded fatally by a one-pound shot and liquor valued at $10,000 was seized from his and two other craft.

Carl Schmidt, commander of Cutter No. 145, told an official board of inquiry yesterday that the Josephine K was 11.7 miles off shore when she was overhauled in the lower bay. She was sighted two and a half miles southeast of Ambrose Lightship, he said, and boarded four and a half miles from the light.

Not Intoxicated
In denial of a statement by Wesley Anderson, first mate of the rum-runner, Schmidt said he was not intoxicated at the time of the chase. He was supported in this by members of his crew, the skipper of another patrol and his superior officers.

Answering a question by Consul-General Gerald Campbell of Great Britain, who attended the hearing at the request of the Dominion government, Schmidt testified it would have been impossible to catch the auxiliary schooner without shelling her. She was drawing away at a 14-knot clip, he said, while the cutter could make only 12 knots.

The significance of the speed launch that escaped as the cutter bore down on the cluster of boats was revealed by Schmidt. He said Captain Mario Landi of the barge Brooklyn told him the craft held hijackers who were in the process of transferring his cargo when the cutter arrived.

Germans in Berlin recently hounded the memory of the founder of the postcard. The guess is they wished he were there.

ELECTIONS IN SPAIN MAY CAUSE TROUBLE

Barcelona, Spain, Jan. 28.—(AP)—With Socialists and Republicans due to decide shortly whether they will participate in the forthcoming Parliamentary elections, Minister of the Interior Leopoldo Matos declared today that the elections would be held March 1, with or without candidates from those parties.

He said that the government planned to raise the state of siege still effective in Madrid and Saragossa prior to the elections to leave the two cities completely free for the campaign. The state of siege, which was recently terminated in other parts of Spain, was proclaimed during the January revolutionary attempts.

As the campaign progresses, Monarchists and anti-Monarchists have found a common adversary in the Catalonian Nationalists whose avowed object is complete independence for their province. They are bidding strongly for electoral support.

Catalonia, one of the richest provinces in Spain, has long vied with government authorities. It has its language, which is still widely spoken despite a decree of the late dictator, Primo de Rivera, forbidding its teaching in the elementary schools.

Many leaders of the Catalonian Nationalists are in exile abroad for plots against the government.

AIRPORT FOR BOSTON

Washington, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The House military committee today approved the James bill directing the Secretary of War to lease Governors Island, Mass., to the City of Boston for an airport.

The measure, which has the approval of the War Department, is to permit Boston to extend its municipal airport so as to include the island and the underwater land of the United States pertaining to the island.

Governors Island proper includes about 73 acres and the underwater land included in the bill amounts to about 200 acres.

"The City of Boston reports it is prepared to expend a large sum of money on this project, which expenditure will tend to relieve the unemployment situation in that vicinity," Secretary Hurley reported.

Reservoirs have been hollowed out of the Rock of Gibraltar, into which each inch of rainfall will store nearly a million gallons of water for future use.

Two Film Stars Wage Lonely Fight for Life

Lila Lee and Renee Adoree, Health Ruined by Overwork, Live in Mountain Retreat.

BY DAN THOMAS
NEA Service Writer

Prescott, Ariz., Jan. 22.—High in the mountains not far from here, two girls, whose names are familiar wherever motion pictures are shown, are waging the greatest battle of their careers—the fight for life.

Secluded in a small sanitarium away from the inquisitive eyes of the world Lila Lee and Renee Adoree, two of Hollywood's most popular film stars, are fighting valiantly to regain their health so that they will again be able to parade across the silver screen.

Nor are they alone in their battle. Although neither of them knows it, all Hollywood as well as thousands of film fans throughout the country is heart and soul with these girls who suffered breakdowns as a result of their strenuous work in giving the world some amusement in the form of motion pictures.

Nobody except a few intimate friends of the pair knows of their whereabouts—which is the reason they can't be informed of the good wishes that are with them. And the physician attending them is insistent that they be kept in perfect quiet, fearing that any kind of excitement would be very detrimental to the condition of each.

That is the reason we are not revealing the "hideout" where the actresses are staying. Too many persons would try to visit them, and such visits today might cause each to have serious setbacks. We visited the sanitarium to learn how Lila and Renee are getting along, and with the secret hope that we might be able to see them for a few moments. But luck was against us.

"I am sorry, but I can't allow anyone to see them," the physician declared. "I even am advising their families not to come up here. Both girls are getting along very nicely, but excitement of any kind, such as seeing friends or relatives, might retard their recovery."

Although the physician would not make any definite statement, we learned from other sources that Lila probably will be well enough to come home within the next month or six weeks. She is looking fine and has recovered much of the healthful color that was missing when she was forced to leave Hollywood last summer because of poor health.

Renee, however, has been up

Lila Lee, above, and Renee Adoree. There only a few months and it is almost certain that she won't be able to return home before next summer, if she is well enough by then. Her condition is said to be quite serious.

WAPPING

The Parent-Teachers' Association will give a public whist party this Wednesday evening at the Wapping Center School hall. Prizes will be given and refreshments served after which dancing will be enjoyed by all.

Mr. and Mrs. John Schlund and his mother, Mrs. Kissman, left recently for Florida where they will spend the rest of the winter. Mrs. Schlund, was before her marriage, Miss Eunice Dean of this village.

The Evergreen lodge of Masons, A. F. and A. M., No. 114, held their regular meeting at their temple at East Windsor Hill, last Monday evening.

Mrs. Ernest Hack is ill at her home at Pleasant Valley. The Wapping Grange entertainment committee met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan West last Sunday afternoon.

Charles Strant of Manchester, whose death occurred last Monday morning, was formerly a Wapping boy, having lived on Deming street for several years.

Mrs. H. V. Parker of South Windsor has been ill with bronchitis recently, but is able to be out again now.

Mrs. Samuel Ludlum and Miss Dorothy Ludlum spent the week-end recently with Mrs. Louise Ludlum in Brooklyn, New York.

Jean Shepard, Jr., is confined to his home in South Windsor with scarlatina, with a nurse in attendance.

BAPTIST CONVENTION

Meriden, Jan. 28.—(AP)—About 150 delegates are attending the mid-year meeting of the New Haven association of the Northern Baptist convention being held today at the First Baptist church. Mrs. Arthur G. Jarvis, of New Haven, presided at the morning session and submitted a report of the women's district meeting. The Rev. Charles H. Helmsath of Bridgeport was the speaker.

Rev. G. H. Gardner was moderator at the afternoon session. The devotional service was conducted by the Rev. E. J. Settle, Jr., of West

TO HEAR FALL'S APPEAL

Washington, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The appeal of Albert B. Fall, former secretary of interior, from his conviction in connection with the naval oil reserve lease scandals, is to be heard next Monday by the District of Columbia Court of Appeals.

Fall was sentenced to one year in jail to pay a $100,000 fine for accepting a bribe from Henry L. Doherty, California oil magnate, who was acquitted of bribery.

Fall's appeal has been held up pending confirmation of an additional judge for the court.

Frank J. Hogan, Washington attorney who defended Fall, is to argue the appeal. The government will be represented by Atlee Pomerehne, special counsel.

FLU IS SPREADING

Washington, Jan. 28.—(AP)—A rapid spread of influenza was reported by the Public Health Service today, with a total of 7,275 cases now as compared with 3,867 a week ago.

The Public Health Service estimates the disease is about five times as prevalent as shown in the report, since several states do not require influenza reporting and others have only the statistics furnished by physicians.

Among states showing heavy increases were: Massachusetts, 114 cases now as compared with 17 a week ago, and Connecticut 140 now and 82 a week ago.

Manila, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Dispatches to the Executive Bureau said a strike of 2,500 longshoremen at Iloilo, Panay island, ended this morning when the dock workers returned to their jobs.

Simultaneously, negotiations were begun to end a strike of 600 longshoremen among the sugar centrals of Occidental Negros province, Negros island.

Labor troubles in the central Philippine islands have been going on for several days. The longshoremen were understood to have demanded better wages and other recognition.

RUSSIA'S PRODUCTS MAY BE KEPT OUT

Labor and Farm Federations
Ask Congress To Bar
Forced Labor Goods.

Washington, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Labor and Farm Federation representatives today urged barring of Russian forced labor products before the House ways and means committee.

The hearing was on proposals specifically to bar all Russian products or to exclude them as forced labor products.

Chester Gray, of the American Farm Bureau Federation, urged passage of a bill which would tighten provisions against forced labor products.

Edward F. McGrady, of the American Federation of Labor, advocated exclusion of all "Russian forced labor" products. Asked if direct exclusion of Russian products would not be better, Gray said that certain products from some other countries should be kept out. F. mentioned Liberia, France, Morocco and Czechoslovakia.

All Forced Labor
Chairman Hawley of the committee said he had been informed virtually all labor in Russia was forced.

"I have information," said Hawley, "that if the worker in Russia refuses to do the work assigned to him, he can't get a meal ticket, and he is regarded as an enemy of the revolution."

Representative Nelson, of Maine, member of the fish committee which investigated Communism urged exclusion of Russian timber, but not all Russian products.

He said there was no doubt that Russian lumber and pulpwood was produced by "political prisoners working under the most horrible conditions."

Nelson said he believed Russian dumping in foreign markets was dictated by necessity, because of her lack of foreign credit.

"When the necessity ceases, dumping will cease," he added.

YOUNG DENIES AIDING

MEYER TO OBTAIN JOB

Washington, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Emphatic denials were entered today before the Senate banking committee to assertions by Chairman McFadden, of the House banking committee, that the way was cleared deliberately for the appointment of Eugene Meyer, Jr., of New York, as governor of the Federal Reserve Board.

Roy Young, who resigned as governor last August to become governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, said he never discussed his resignation with Meyer. He reiterated that he resigned because he wanted to make more money.

George F. Fraud, president of the Marine Midland Corporation, of Buffalo, told the committee he initiated the negotiations which led to the employment of Edmund Platt, former vice-governor of the board, by his organization.

McFadden asked inquiry into the steps leading up to the retirement of Young and Platt last fall at the time Meyer was nominated as governor. He was the first witness before the Senate committee at the hearing on Mr. Meyer's nomination. Young in concluding his testimony told the committee he believed Meyer was "the best man in America for the governorship of the Federal Reserve Board."

AMHERST PLAYER IN BIG LEAGUES

New York, Jan. 28.—(AP)—A glance over the list of new players coming up for trial in the National League this spring reveals a liberal sprinkling of college men, a large majority of them from the south.

At least 13 colleges will be represented by rookies in the training camps of the eight league clubs.

Most of these rookies have had a glance over a considerable span of years before they reach their college careers but at least two of them, Howard Crossbloss of Amherst and Dick Montague of Michigan, will hit the major leagues directly from the college campus.

USE STEAM SHOVEL

Little progress was made excavating by hand for the club house to be erected on the south side of Golway street for the Co-Operative Lithuanian Association and as the members are anxious to have the building completed early in the spring, a steam shovel was put to work yesterday. Today the work was so far advanced that the owner of the shovel expected to have the job completed before night. The gravel removed will be used in laying up the 11-foot concrete wall. Sand is also being uncovered that will be usable in mixing the rough plaster for the walls.

EPIDEMIC OF COLDS

Waterbury, Jan. 28.—(AP)—A survey of Waterbury city departments, schools, and business houses indicated more than 10,000 residents of this city of 100,000 are suffering from contagious colds of sufficient severity to keep them from business. Over 2,300 school children are ill. The epidemic is of such mild form, however, that few of the patients are ill for more than a few days. Health officials declare the worst is past noting a decline in the number of cases during the past few days.

SENTENCE WOULD RUIN
BOOTLEGGERS' BUSINESS

San Francisco, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Convicted of liquor possession Alfred Dees yesterday was given his choice of paying a $500 fine or spending 200 days in jail. "I can't pay the fine," he told the police judge. "Then you'll have to go to jail." "I can't do that," Dees objected. "It would ruin my business." "Just what is your business?" "Bootlegging." The judge gave him 48 hours to raise the fine money.

TRY TO HOLD UP BOARD'S SALARIES

Attempt Fails In House By 102-37 Vote — Dispute
Over Members Continues.

Washington, Jan. 28.—(AP)—An effort to prevent payment of salaries to Federal power commissioners until the dispute between the Senate and President Hoover over three appointees is settled, failed today in the House. The vote was 102 to 37.

Representative LaGuardia, Republican, New York, proposed an amendment withholding the salaries from the power commission's appropriation of $255,695.

He defended the Senate action in rescinding confirmation of Chairman Smith and Commissioners Draper and Garsaud of the commission.

Representative Summers, Republican, Washington, and Representative Graham, Republican, Pennsylvania, opposed LaGuardia's amendment. They expressed the opinion that the House had no concern with the controversy.

Tilson Joins Debate

Representative Ramseyer, Republican, Iowa, said the House should not hold up the salary of a commissioner because he happened to have a view different from the Senate.

Republican floor leader Tilson joined the debate, asserting if we make it possible for the Senate to recall any official it "would put them under its control."

Representative Parks, Democrat, Arkansas said that amendment should be adopted.

Representative Hoch, Republican, Kansas, opposing the amendment said: "We seriously propose that whenever any one initiates ouster proceedings — no matter how — the salary should be withheld."

Representative Blanton, Democrat, Texas, predicted the Senate would "hold the bill over until something freezes in the summer-time, before they'll pay these salaries."

Representative Cochran, Democrat, Missouri, also defended the Senate's position.

The House after rejecting the amendment, approved the appropriation of $255,695 for the commission including $50,000 in salaries for the five commissioners, at $10,000 each.

COLUMBIA

The Young Married Women's Club met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Wolf.

A subscription paper containing an appeal for funds from the National Red Cross for the benefit of the drought sufferers in the farm regions of the west and southwest has been hung on the Bulletin Board in the Post Office.

The oratorio "The Holy City" was sung by the Hartford County Choral Club under the direction of George Curtis Munson Sunday evening in the Columbia church, under the auspices of the Tri-County Christian Endeavor Union. The soloists were Mrs. Ruth Goodrich Horton, Soprano, Mrs. Alice Evans Wagner, Contralto, Maurice Wallen, Tenor, and Edgar Brown, Bass. The pianist was Henry Bonander. An audience of over 300 enjoyed the fine work of the soloists and chorus. Previous to the concert sandwiches and cocoa were served to the singers in the Hall by the Columbia ladies, and after the concert doughnuts and coffee were served to both singers and audience, as is the custom at each Tri-County meeting.

Mrs. Lucy Clarke observed the 83rd anniversary of her birth Monday at the home of her son, William Clarke of New Haven. "Aunt Lucy" has spent most of her life in Columbia, and is the oldest resident of the town. She still occupies her home in Columbia several months in the year, spending her winters with one of her children. She is in excellent health, with the exception of lameness.

There will be an all day meeting of the Ladies Aid Society on Thursday at the hall, with lunch served at noon, to work for the coming fair next summer. Everyone is asked to bring thimble and thread, and any material or ideas they may have to donate to the cause.

PAPER GARDEN

Now is the time to 'take paper and pencil in hand, study your garden catalogues, your possible acreage for gardens and to plot it all out, while you have time to consider everything.

NEW COLOR

There is a new brown out this spring, a brown with a lot of green in it, and you can wear a green blouse or accessories with it, perfectly.

Tests of more than 700 school children at Columbia University have shown that a tutterer is the intellectual equal of a normal child, that his vocabulary is as good and usually that he is physically superior.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 28.

TREE REPLACEMENT

We are heart and soul for the bill sponsored by Representative Joseph P. Lawrence of Stamford requiring the planting of a compensating sapling for every tree destroyed by road construction or widening operations except in strictly commercial sections. At least we are for this bill in its principle, though it possibly might be open to amendment without nullifying its laudable purpose.

"When a fine tree is taken from the landscape, so much of beauty and real benefit is taken from our lives," says the author of the bill. "The loss is irreparable for many of us who live today, but why deny to the yet unborn the beauty, the comfort and the health-imparting benefit of the tree?"

No people in the world with one exception have been so indifferent to the importance of tree preservation as Americans. The other nation which long suffered from the same indifference is the Chinese. Deforestation of great areas of that country has been paid for in the devastating floods which for generations have taken toll of thousands of lives annually and rendered great tracts of fertile lands practically desert.

Many people in this country, to be sure, have awakened to the value and importance not only of the forests but of the individual trees which provide so great a part of the charm of any New England countryside and of so many towns, villages and even cities. But no amount of tree appreciation on the part of others can save a tree when a saw starts to mow it down.

Our State Highway Department would probably deny with much indignation that it was not fully appreciative of tree values. Has it not already planted thousands of trees along its trunk lines? Is not tree planting inseparable from its set policy? Even so. Yet that department, when it comes to a question between a dozen glorious elm trees and a single degree in the desired arc of a curve, the engineer's curve will win and the trees will come down, every time. We should almost like to see highway trees so protected by law that before one could be cut down the cutter would have to get an order from a judge and the tree would have its day in court.

However, the Highway Department is far from being the worst offender in this business. Town and city officials are afflicted all too frequently with a peculiar tree-blindness and slash and destroy with a ruthlessness sincerely barbaric. And they seldom plant anything. It is they, even more than the State Highway Department, who would be reached by such a law as Mr. Lawrence proposes—and ought to be.

But while he is tackling that subject, what has the Stamford man to offer with relation to the worst offender of all—the public service corporations who string electric wires in the air and hack and maim every tree that comes in the range of their lines?

Scores of thousands of beautiful trees have been ruined as to symmetry and wounded to their death by these corporations, and yet authority hasn't lifted a finger to prevent. Perhaps Mr. Lawrence would gain rather than lose friends for his replacement bill if he were to amplify it so that the trees could have some protection against the vandal hand of the electric lineman.

MR. CHENEY'S REPORT

In his recommendations to the State Emergency Unemployment Commission Howell Cheney ventured into no field of revolutionary economics, held out no promise of universal prosperity conditioned on subscription to some pet theory. He dealt with the obvious and attempted only alleviation, not a cure.

To that extent his contribution to the councils of the leaders of industry ought to be valuable—and that extent is about the limit of practicality where immediate activities are concerned.

We fully concur in Mr. Cheney's proposition that manufacturers, not only in Connecticut but throughout the country, will have to cut their expectations of profits to the smallest amount compatible with the protection of capital investment. Refusal to do so, insistence on the retention of prices at pre-smash levels is to do on a big scale what some unemployed we have just heard about are doing on a smaller one.

A concern cutting ice in a neighboring town had several contract jobs on hand at once. It has its own men working but could have used considerably more help. Every day for several days large numbers of men showed up asking for employment. They were told they could go to work at 45 cents an hour on the ice or 55 cents an hour in the ice houses. Almost with one accord they rejected the offer. The pay was too small. Finally the head of the concern gave orders that all applicants were to be shooed off the job without being offered anything. Forty or fifty men in that town are penniless and jobless still—and the ice is going in.

Nobody is buying commodities in these days—and nobody is going to—in quantities large enough to keep factories busy except at rock bottom prices. It is not only essential that costs shall be gotten down to hardpan but sales prices must accompany them. Factories producing articles with a spread of two or three hundred per cent between production costs and consumers' prices must get on a different basis. Such figures do not obtain in many lines but it happens that they are lines which have been consuming a very large part of the public's purchasing power of late and have become almost basic. Until their leaders realize that there is no substantial market at those old boom prices they will continue to be a good deal in the position of the laborers who didn't realize that in ice cutting there was no longer a demand for labor at a dollar an hour.

Rock bottom prices will start business, and business will create business in turn.

On this single item of Mr. Cheney's recommendation we lay particular stress because we are firmly convinced that it is the most important of all the obvious steps that can be taken by American business men.

His suggestion that jobs be allotted so that each family may have a bread winner if possible is perhaps less easy of adoption in large industrial communities than in relatively small ones. A city with 500 factories, some big and many small, would not be anything like as open a field for this kind of selection as one like Manchester where a single industry under one head provides a major part of the employment. But wherever it would work it would help.

VETERANS' PAY-OFF

We know of nobody who has a better right to be heard in this matter of the possible cashing of the veterans' adjusted compensation certificates than the service men themselves, and no organization quite so well qualified to speak for the soldiers of the Great War as the American Legion. Therefore, when the executive committee of the Legion supersedes the action of the Boston convention in refusing to endorse the proposal by declaring that Congress should proceed to provide at once for the cashing of the certificates, it behoves the country as a whole to pay respectful attention to the demand.

There are a great many bills before Congress, all with some sort of a cashing-in provision. The Legion has declared for no one bill of the lot. Which was wise. It has simply put the business squarely up to the government—whether it will permit veterans who are broke to continue in that condition or whether it will pay off the certificates of those who need the money now, many of them desperately.

Whether the effect on the soldiers themselves would be, on the whole, ultimately advantageous or not is a matter for guessing. Those who don't want to see them get this money guess that it would be ruinous to their morale. This seems to us to be nonsensical and our guess is that it would do infinitely more good than harm to permit the veteran who desires to cash in his certificate to do so. Under just what conditions and for what part of its face value is a matter for Congress to determine.

There is one set of arguments, now being vigorously employed, that is worthy of no notice. That is the assertions that the payment of the claims by means of a three billion dollar bond issue would demoralize the finances of the country, unbalance prices and make times worse than ever. That is rubbish. It possibly might not turn out as well for the soldiers as they expect but nobody would be ruined or even seriously hurt.

CONSOLIDATION

At the mass meeting held some time ago for interchange of opinions on school consolidation, Dr. E. G. Dolan, Democratic leader, declared on the floor that if the consolidation act were made to provide for adequate minority representation on the Board of Education he would withdraw his opposition to the project.

The consolidation act approved by the Board of Selectmen and to be passed on by the Legislature and subsequently by the voters of Manchester at the polls, made public today, provides that of the nine members of the Board of Education not more than six shall be registered in the same political party. In other words, the Democrats would be entitled to at least three members, with opportunity to elect three more by nominating candidates of great ability and popular appeal.

Since Dr. Dolan is admittedly very influential in his party and probably possesses the power to squelch the major part of the opposition to consolidation, it becomes a question of keen interest whether or not he considers the above provision of the consolidation act as setting up minority representation.

From the side lines it looks as though half as many Democrats as Republicans, on any Manchester board, constituted a rather liberal kind of minority representation in view of the comparative number of votes cast by the two parties at municipal elections, whether we consider the figures over a long period of years or only in the last election.

Those who have opposed school consolidation on the grounds of one-party rule must either admit now that their condition has been met or must make it clear what they mean by minority representation.

IN NEW YORK

New York, Jan. 28.—Hollywood may be able to dish out large daily portions of gossip about the cinema stars, but Broadway is the street where they count the profits and dole out the expenditure.

Wandering about the Hollywood lots, the impression may exist that coin is tossed about like chicken feed—but back here in little Old New York is where they sweat over it. More and more the Wall Street boys keep an eye on the transient currency, and only a few months ago one of the larger money houses sent out for the first time a statistical sleuth to check up on all this talk about lavish waste.

Not many smile when the year 1930 is mentioned in connection with movie profits. However, the screen domos are far from discouraged. It might interest you to take a look at what the movies intend to spend.

All right from the office of Adolph Zukor comes word that 60 pictures will be made in Hollywood and 17 in the Long Island studios. The sum involved will be $25,000,000.

M-G-M, through Louis B. Mayer, has large plans for making films in foreign tongues and has 52 pictures to be made in English and then in French, German and Spanish. The cost will be somewhere around $20,000,000 or more. Universals has $15,000,000 to spend. United Artists will toss out a similar sum. Warner Brothers isn't quite sure what its 72 features will cost, but it will be at least $25,000,000. Tiffany and Columbia have about $10,000,000 each.

R-K-O already has tossed the fairly shirt into Richard Dix's "Cimarron" and has 34 features in preparation. It will all add up better than $100,000,000—which is quite a lot of money.

And speaking of movies, now that everyone and his brother have named the 10 best of last year, I find a note from a film trade magazine asking me to send in mine. For no particular reason, therefore, I pass them on—for no other reason, that is, unless to start an argument: "The Blue Angel," "All Quiet on the Western Front," "The Byrd Polar Expedition," "Laughter," "Tom Sawyer," "Abraham Lincoln," "Street of Chance," "Men Without Women," "The Royal Family," and "Playboy of Paris."

Of the films that trickle in from abroad, and which did not get general distribution through the country, I thought "Storm Over Asia," to be something of a Russian epic. And there was a gay little German musical novelty called "Love in Three-Four Time," which drifted into one of the city's little theaters and packed the house for a record run. I doubt if this got very far from New York.

And were this list not limited to 10, I would have to add: "Seven Days Leave," "For the Defense," "The Man From Blankley's," "Journey's End," "Morocco," "The Devil and Daniel Webster," "Old English" and "The Dawn Patrol." If "Hell's Angels" does not appear, it is because that very expensive and frequently amazing special carried so clumsily a story against which to project its fine aerial shots.

As for the performances, I liked particularly John Barrymore as the suave impostor from "Blankley's" and Marlene Dietrich in "Morocco" and "Blue Angel"; Emil Jennings in the latter; Fredric March in "Laughter" and "The Royal Family"; Wally Beery in "The Big House"; Ronald Colman in everything he did; Marie Dressler, almost in everything; George Arliss, ditto, and the youngsters of Tom Sawyer.

SOME DIFFERENT TYPES OF RHEUMATISM

Still's Disease is the name for a form of rheumatism which affects children from three to six years of age. It seldom appears in nursing babies. The joints become swollen, sore to the touch, and have a very limited movement. The lymphatic glands all over the body become enlarged and there is excessive sweating accompanied by a moderate temperature. This may become very dangerous unless great care is taken to avoid adhesions and fixation of the joints. Once the disease has subsided it is sometimes possible to loosen the adhesions by manipulative treatment.

Acute rheumatic fever is most common between the ages of seven and twenty-five. The younger the child the more the heart is apt to be affected. The more mature the patient, the more likely that the joints will be attacked. This disease never appears before the age of two, and this should furnish some clue as to the cause of the trouble. It can be seen that this type of disorder occurs at the ages when the eating habits are being formulated. If the tonsils are removed, there is a lessened tendency to complication of the heart and joints, but not a lessened tendency toward chokes.

Arthritis is probably caused by the same toxins as other forms of rheumatism. This trouble is often brought on my an injury of the bone or a sprain when the toxins are already present in the system. The acute type of arthritis occurs most often between the ages of twenty to forty, and in women more often than men. This is because women are more apt to suffer from intestinal poisoning than men because as a class they use less exercise. In arthritis, the joints are swollen and painful to the touch. The least movement causes excruciating pain. In this type of disorder the joints of the extremities are most often affected, including the hands, feet, ankles, wrists and knees. The temperature ranges about 103 degrees Fahrenheit. If the disease progresses it may result in wasted and contracted muscles and fixed joints.

The chronic form of arthritis appears most often between the ages of forty to sixty. The onset is slower than in the acute form, and affects the larger joints, such as the hips, knees and vertebrae. New bony processes form around the inflamed ends of the bones, and may cause them to grow together in a fixed position. Sometimes so many joints become affected that the patient is absolutely helpless.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Antrum Trouble)
 Question: Mrs. W. L. McCoy asks: "Is buttermilk mucus-forming, and is it harmful to one suffering with antrum trouble?"
 Answer: Real buttermilk, with the fat removed, and the milk sugar turned into lactic acid, cannot be considered a mucus-forming food. It is, however, better for the one with antrum trouble to live on a diet of non-starchy vegetables with such proteins as meat, fish and eggs.

(Toast and Constipation)
 Question: J. R. asks: "Will you please explain in the paper if white bread toasted as Kelba toast is good for constipation?"
 Answer: All toasted foods tend to produce constipation and not to cure it. This is probably due to the fact that dextrinized foods use up a large amount of the intestinal fluids and there is not enough fluid lubrication left.

(Albuminuria)
 Question: Mrs. J. T. asks: "What is albuminuria? Is it dangerous? What is good for it?"
 Answer: Albuminuria simply means that some albumin has been found in the urine. This sometimes comes from the kidneys, but may not mean any specific kidney disease, for it may come entirely from processed form around the inflamed ends of the bones, and may cause them to grow together in a fixed position. Sometimes so many joints become affected that the patient is absolutely helpless.

TODAY IS THE ANNIVERSARY

GORDON'S BIRTH

On Jan. 28, 1833, Charles Gordon, an English soldier, familiarly known as "Chinese Gordon" and "Gordon Pasha," was born in Woolwich, the son of an army officer. Graduating from the Royal Military Academy at Woolwich at the age of 15, Gordon was commissioned a lieutenant four years later. He served in the Crimean War with distinction, being wounded at Sebastopol. Later, he entered the Chinese service and assisted in suppressing the Taiping rebellion, whence his sobriquet of "Chinese Gordon." In 1874, Gordon took command of the forces to follow Baker's African explorations, during which time he totally suppressed the slave traffic on the Red Sea. Just 10 years later he went to the Sudan, in lower Egypt, as an emissary of England, to quiet the insurgent tribes. His memorable journey to Khartoum, with one or two attendants and the Indians which his presence exercised over the tribes of the desert, form one of the most thrilling episodes in his career. He was killed when a tribe leader, tured Khartoum.

MILLIONS NEEDED TO FREE FORESTS OF BLISTER RUST

Spokane, Wash. (AP.)—To control a parasite more deadly to northwest forests than fires, an expenditure of more than $7,500,000 within ten years will be necessary.

This is the estimate of forestry experts of the federal government and northwest states meeting here to plan a concerted defense against the blister rust that reached the Pacific coast from Europe eight years ago.

The forest industries in Washington, Idaho, Oregon and Montana—some 3,000,000 acres—produce an annual revenue approximating $40,000,000. More than a million and a half acres of this timber is controlled by the United States, the largest "owner."

The blister rust, less spectacular than the fires, is potentially more disastrous. E. K. McHarg, inspector of the federal forest service, said the fight against it has been organized, and damage has been confined to thousands of dollars rather than millions.

The rust grows quietly like a fungus on gooseberry and current bushes, is warded to pines, girdles and kills them and then drifts back to the bushes for another cycle.

Eradication work consists of killing bushes by uprooting or damaging them with chemicals.

"The United States is the only country to achieve control of blister rust, as European nations have given up growing white pines because of it," said Col. Evan W. Kelley, regional forester.

By spending approximately $750,000 each year for 10 years, the pine timber of the coast can be freed of the menace, experts estimate.

Federal and state foresters only recently discovered vast areas of infection in Idaho, and immediate preventive work was urged.

CHINESE DISCOVER IT'S EASY TO SAVE WITH $8 MONTHLY

Shanghai. (AP.)—Some Chinese workers can maintain savings accounts and support a family on an income of $8 a month.

This has been revealed in a survey conducted by the bureau of industrial and commercial information of the Chinese government.

The figures came out after inquiry had been made of 85 postmen and 100 prisoners, two of the best-paid occupations in the country.

Half the postmen averaged pay of less than $12 a month; the other half made about $14. The printers averaged around $8 a month, and it was among some of them that the savings accounts were found.

The postmen's families averaged five members each. Yet they appeared fairly content, were living in standard Chinese houses and had enough to eat.

In contrast is the condition of thousands upon thousands of unskilled workers, ricksha runners, wheelbarrow men, farm hands and a hundred other types.

They live in huts that are cold and damp in winter and roasting hot in summer. But the coolie who carries a few silver pieces at the end of the day is satisfied, since he need not worry about the next 24 hours, at least.

RUSSIAN COSSACKS SEEK NEW HOMES IN SOUTHERN CHILE

Santiago, Chile. (AP.)—With other South American countries clamping the lid on immigration, Chile plans for the colonization of some 10,000 Russian Cossack families in the central and southern regions.

Some Cossack leaders were engaged in a colonization plan in Peru during the Leguia regime, but that venture failed.

They have made a distinct impression on the government and people here by their vigorous physiques, their horsemanship, and their energy.

They are anti-bolshevists, a fact which makes them welcome. No reds are admitted to Chile.

LEGISLATORS TELL OF PROPOSED BILLS

Senator Smith, Judge Johnson and Miss Cheney Speak To Women Voters.

The Manchester League of Women voters listened to Manchester's three delegates to the Connecticut Assembly at a meeting of that body held last night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Hood, 114 Chestnut street. Senator Robert J. Smith, Judge Raymond A. Johnson and Miss Marjorie Cheney, the delegates to the Connecticut Assembly and discussed bills of interest to Manchester citizens.

The New Bridge
Judge Johnson, the first speaker, outlined the organizing program of the Assembly and the procedure of the Legislature to date. As chairman of the Connecticut Bridge Commission, Judge Johnson spoke of the proposed Connecticut River bridge, describing the plans in detail and the advantages to be derived by Manchester people by direct-line entry into Hartford. He also spoke of the various welfare measures that will come before the Legislature which will be discussed in connection with unemployment relief measures. Judge Johnson said that it had been ten years since welfare bills have been studied by a commission appointed by the Assembly and that a similar commission might be appointed at a later date to standardize and study relief measures in the State.

Senator Smith, chairman of the appropriations committee described the many bills now being considered to supply money for new State institutions, hospitals, and the like. Paupers
He said that in making a study to try and discover the reason for the rapid increase of paupers in the State, he had come to the conclusion that a large percentage of families may have come from other States attracted by the better conditions and had become stranded. Families in need of aid have been increasing at a rapid rate, 1,600 being listed in one month and 50 a day, for a time.

Senator Smith described what he called the "Undertaker Bill" to the amusement of his listeners. The bill, he said, asked for power to sell burial certificates on a time-payment basis. The regular undertakers were objecting to the bill, he said. Senator Smith outlined the unemployment insurance bill as presented for hearing at this session of the assembly. The bill proposes the appointment of a commission consisting of five members to be appointed by the Governor at a total salary of $30,000 besides deputies and clerks which would have to be distributed at various points throughout the State. Under this bill all employers employing over five people would be forced to take out unemployment insurance. Farmers were excluded from the provisions of the bill.

Absentee Voting
Miss Marjorie Cheney described the work that is being done to obtain absentee voting privileges through an amendment to the Connecticut Constitution. Connecticut, Miss Cheney said, is one of the two remaining States in the Union that has no form of absentee voting. Miss Cheney offered as an opinion the need for a change in the voting laws, due to increasing mobility, resulting in citizens being absent from their legal voting place on election day. Miss Cheney said that very careful consideration must be given all proposed legislation this year due to the constantly increasing cost to the taxpayer, of whose shoulders the big burden always rests.

Miss Cheney outlined the proposed old-age pension bill for State employees and offered as her opinion that a bill of this sort must be thoroughly and carefully considered before acting upon it. Judge Johnson agreed with Miss Cheney that the present old-age pension bill before the Legislature would probably not be passed, but that a suitable pension legislation would be enacted in succeeding years.

The League of Women voters extended a vote of thanks to Senator Smith and Representatives Johnson and Cheney for their instructive and interesting talks in the midst of the busy legislative season.

BOLTON

The "Jolly Clowers" presented an entertainment Friday night at the Grange under the leadership of Mrs. Myron Lee, their club leader. The program was as follows: Recitation, Irene Dietrichson; sketch, "The Backward Child," by Gertrude Anderson and Ruth Lee; solo, Winifred Lee; play, "Mabel's Aunt," by Gertrude Anderson, Winifred and Ruth Lee, Eleanor and Dorothy Finney; "America," by all. Winifred Lee, in behalf of the club members, presented a sewing basket to Miss Annie Alvord. Miss Grover, the county leader, gave a talk on club work. She complimented Mrs. Lee, the leader, for her excellent work the past year. Miss Grover presented achievement certificates to the following members: Winifred and Ruth Lee, Eleanor and Dorothy Finney, Gertrude Anderson, Norma Pesce, Irene Dietrichson. There was a table of different articles of sewing on exhibition. Coffee and some made crullers were on sale. About $3.50 was realized. Norma Pesce gave the history of the club.

Miss Ella and Miss Jeanette Sumner of Hartford spent the week-end at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sumner.

Miss Mary Maybury spent the week-end at her home in Springfield.

Mrs. Andrew Paggioli and daughter, Rose, have returned from a visit in New York.

A Doctor Tells How to Guard Against the Flu!

Editor's Note: With influenza breaks sleepily reported in many cities and threatening others The Herald herewith begins a series of three articles by Dr. Morris Fishbein on how to avoid this deadly and its greatest contributory cause, the common cold. The articles were written by Dr. Fishbein especially for this newspaper and NEA Service.

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor of The Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

The most favorable temperature for health for the average man varies apparently with the climate in the temperate zone, we seem to do exceedingly well with fairly moderate temperatures, such as occur in spring and fall, but must adjust ourselves to the extreme conditions that develop in the summer and in the winter.

Winter requires more adjustment than summer. Professor Huntington of Yale believes that the weather is 900 deaths every year. The most severe months are apparently February, March and early April, the period in which pneumonia following colds is most prevalent.

Furthermore, the winter months seem to deprive the human being of many of the healthful factors available in other seasons.

The normal human being has a temperature of 98.6 and his body seems to function best in a temperature of from 65 to 70 degrees Fahrenheit. It is difficult to maintain this temperature in rooms during the winter months. Overheating dries out the body and puts the mucous membranes in a condition in which it is difficult for them to resist the onslaught of infection.

Unfortunately, few homes are properly regulated so far as concerns moisture. The average humidity in most homes during the winter months is about 25 per cent. That is to say, at 70 degrees the air contains only about 25 per cent of the water it could contain. In order to have the maximum of health and comfort, the air should contain about twice this amount.

Keep Air Moist
To get a relative humidity of 50 per cent, rooms heated to 70 degrees will require the daily evaporation of from five to 30 gallons of water. All sorts of methods have been devised for the air. The simplest method, of course, is the pan of water with a wick, which may be placed on the radiator. It is also possible to evaporate the water without the wick, but it does not evaporate so rapidly. Several humidifiers are manufactured which may be placed on the radiators and which contain cloth layers along the sides which serve the purpose of aiding the evaporation of the water.

In addition to having moisture outside the body, it is desirable to have sufficient moisture inside the body to respond to the dryness. If the human being will drink eight glasses of water each day,

8 RULES FOR AVOIDING FLU

Here are eight simple rules for winter health, written for readers of The Herald by Dr. M. Fishbein:

1—Avoid overheating your home and, if possible, regulate the temperature of your office or the place in which you do your work.

2—Try to keep the humidity indoors at its normal value, about 40 to 50 per cent. Then you and the furniture won't dry up and crack.

3—Get your share of outdoor sunshine. You won't hurt anything but yourself if you don't.

4—Eat a balanced diet; eat enough of it, but don't overeat. 5—Get your iron, lime and phosphorus but not through the medium of patent medicines. Nature has made ample provision in the things that are her handiwork.

6—Eat vitamins. They are to be found in the green vegetables, fresh fruits and fresh milk. It is fashionable now to eat the green leaf of the salad.

7—Exercise outdoors every day. If you haven't any chores, then make some. If you are unfortunately unable to do so, then walk and let the car rest its stiff joints in the garage.

8—Don't fuss and discuss the weather. You cannot do anything about the matter anyway; but, in large measure, you can meet in a sensible fashion the changed requirements and thus maintain efficiency and well-being.

he will have a sufficient amount of water to take care of the functions of the kidney and to provide for evaporation from the skin.

It is particularly important for the infant and the child to be surrounded with proper temperature and humidity during the winter months. During these months children suffer more with coughs, colds, pneumonia, bronchitis and other respiratory diseases than do adults.

In many cases the adult suffers from a cold in the head. A severe case of this is called the grip; if many people have it at the same time, the condition is known as epidemic influenza.

Fresh Air Needed
In addition to keeping the air at a proper temperature and moisture, it is desirable to get a certain amount of fresh air into the home regularly. Most people have become accustomed to sleeping with windows open widely during the summer months. It is not necessary, however, to open the windows so widely during the winter months, but a free circulation of a certain amount of fresh air is healthful.

It is well to remember that a person can stand a great deal of bad weather provided he is properly protected against it. Hence the covers should be definitely related to the amount of cold that is likely to be present before morning. One of the dangers is that a person will go to bed at night rather lightly covered because of the fact that the room is warm, and that as it gets colder toward morning the covers are not easily available. Then he will lie and shiver rather than get additional covers to supply suitable warmth.

DON'T lie abed and shiver; get up and get more covers.

Go to Bed at Once
The best advice that a physician can give when one gets a bad cold or influenza is to go to bed as soon as possible and stay in bed as long as the symptoms are acute. This certainly helps shorten and will sometimes ward off an attack. The physician can prescribe for a patient under these circumstances and make him much more comfortable by use of remedies which will make him feel warm, quiet the pains, control the fever and help the discomfort of the nose and throat.

The danger of a cold is not so much in the cold itself as in the complications which affect the bones, joints, lungs, ears and other parts of the body.

VETERAN FIREMAN DIES

Hartford, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Michael T. Ward, retired veteran fireman, died last night at the age of 78 years following a long illness. He was retired from the fire department with the rank of captain in 1919 after 35 years of service. At the time of his retirement he was the oldest member of the department in point of service.

LUTHER LEAGUE PLANS FOR ANNUAL BANQUET

Social and Finance Committees To Meet Friday Night At Home of Miss Anna Lindberg.

Plans are now in progress for the annual banquet of the Luther League of the Swedish Lutheran church, to be held Friday evening, February 20. The Social and Finance committees in charge of the banquet will meet Friday night at 8 o'clock at the home of Miss Anna Lindberg of Myrtle street to prepare invitations which will be mailed early next week. The following members of the committees are requested to attend this meeting: social, Anna Lindberg, chairman; Esther Johnson, Clarence O. Anderson, Norma Erickson, Lennart Johnson, Frank Larson; finance, Eva Freeburg, chairman; Fred Soderburg, Raymond Erickson, Esther Pearson, Rose Anderson, and Fred Lavey.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

In order to stimulate the sale of tickets for the Gilbert-Sullivan light opera, "The Mikado," which will be presented by the combined Glee clubs of the Manchester High school in the school auditorium on February 13, the following seven attractive contests have been opened to High school students:

A prize of $200 will be awarded to the student selling the greatest number of tickets.

One free general admission ticket will be awarded for each sale of ten tickets.

A reserve seat ticket will be awarded to the first student in each home room who reports the sale of ten tickets.

An extra prize of $1 will be awarded to the student in each class who sells the most tickets.

Money refunded and reserve seat ticket will be given to the student who regularly buys ticket and submits a list containing the most words made out of "Mickado." Contest closes February 10.

Money refunded and a reserve seat ticket awarded to the student who regularly buys ticket and submits the most practical plan for advertising the "Mikado." Contest closes February 2.

Money refunded and two reserve seat tickets to student who regularly buys ticket and submits the best essay on Gilbert-Sullivan.

Mr. Bailey of the main building is in charge of the distribution of tickets and the tickets may be secured from him.

"The Mikado" will be the first light opera to be produced by the local school. Regular rehearsals are being held daily.

Merchants Give Prizes
The committee in charge of the Senior bridge and whist, which will take place on Monday, February 2, announces that, instead of cash prizes, as previously announced, desirable articles contributed by local merchants will be awarded as prizes.

Many card clubs have already made arrangements to hold their meetings at the Senior card party next Monday. Any clubs wishing to engage tables may secure reservations by calling the High school.

Inter-Triangular Debate

At a recent meeting of the principals of the schools comprising the Central Connecticut Inter-Scholastic League, it was decided that this year the winners of the two triangular debating leagues made up of members of the C. C. I. L. will debate with each other on the evening following the regular triangular debates. They will discuss the same question used in the triangular debate: "Resolved that the chain stores are detrimental to the best interests of the American people."

The debating team is part of the triangular league known as "The three M's," Middletown, Meriden and Manchester, with the other triangular league consisting of East Hartford, West Hartford and Bristol. The local team belongs in competition for the H. Wales Lines Trophy which will become the permanent possession of the team which first wins it three times. At present Middletown has two legs of the contest, Manchester one and Meriden none. A trophy will also be awarded to the team which wins the C. C. I. L. inter-triangular debate.

It is planned that, in the triangular debates, the affirmative teams shall debate at home; that is, Manchester's affirmative team will debate the negative team from Middletown at Manchester, while Man-

Connecticut's Motor Vehicle

Commissioner To Address Motorists by Radio

Robbins E. Stoeckel, commissioner of motor vehicles of Connecticut and one of the nation's foremost experts of increased safety on the highways, will address automobilists of the eastern states from Station WTIC at 7:05 o'clock this evening. Commissioner Stoeckel's dissertation, coming on the heels of the announcement that 32,500 persons were killed and more than 960,000 injured in automobile accidents during 1930, will disclose his attitude toward the increased hazards of motorizing. It is interesting to learn that in spite of the fact that less miles were travelled by motorists last year and less gasoline was consumed, fatalities increased four per cent over the figure for the year previous.

Nationalistic Suites by Sibelius

And MacDowell, Contemporaries, in WTIC Concert

Two orchestral suites, written about the same time by men on either side of the Atlantic and both distinctly nationalistic in subject matter, will be offered by the "Concert Classics" orchestra of Station WTIC at 7:30 o'clock this evening. One was composed by Jean Sibelius, distinguished Finnish composer, in honor of King Christian the Second. The other, composed by Edward MacDowell, American composer, and entitled "Woodland Sketches," pays homage to such simple American institutions as the deserted farmhouse, the meadow brook and the quaint tales of old Uncle Remus. Both Sibelius and MacDowell were born in the 'sixties, and both enjoyed the fruits of their labors during their lifetime. MacDowell was honored by Princeton and Pennsylvania universities and served on the faculty of Columbia University. Sibelius' talents were also recognized by American academicians, for he was given an honorary degree by Yale University.

"No one who wears spats" says Lewis Gannett, the critic, "can get in America. Probably because so many watch his step."

FRANCE HURRIES

TO BAR DOOR AS JOBS DECREASE

Paris (AP)—France has been a year late in feeling the pinch of the world economic depression, but now discovers that she is not destined to escape it. With unemployment increasing at the rate of 1,500 a week, workmen and statesmen are equally concerned to find that their nation has an immigration problem on its hands. It is pointed out that 1,700,000 foreigners are among the 12,000,000 workmen drawing wages and salaries in France. That state of affairs did not seem so significant last October 31, when official figures showed that there were fewer than 2,000 workmen drawing doles from benefit funds. Since then the picture has changed. In November, the number of unemployed increased at the rate of about 1,000 a week, and December 1 found the official total close to 6,000. The next few weeks found unemployment increasing at the rate of 1,500 a week, and the turn of the year saw the total almost at the 12,000 mark. The Ministry of Labor has decreed that all demands for work permits emanating from foreigners desirous of entering France shall be handled by a special bureau created for that purpose. Each application is examined individually. Now instructions have been issued for a general census of all foreigners working in the country, to ascertain how many have entered fraudulently. Any culprits will be escorted to the frontier.

BOYS IN REFORMATORY

STAGE SERIOUS RIOTS

Annandale, N. J., Jan. 28.—(AP)—State police today sought eleven boys who escaped from the Annandale Reformatory during a free-for-all fight in which fifteen were injured. Between fifty and sixty boys ranging in age from 15 to 24 years engaged in the fight which occurred during the study hour last night in the gymnasium of the reformatory. The boys fought through the building, breaking doors and windows, throwing bricks and chairs. Four guards, who were unarmed, were helpless against the rioters and sent for state police. A score responded. After the fight the boys ran out of the cottage. All but eleven of them were rounded up by the state police. One of the injured suffered a fracture of the wrist and another a fracture of the ankle. The others were treated for cuts and bruises. Reformatory officials said racial antagonisms were behind the outbreaks. Many a bottleger thinks his credit good because of his liquid assets.

RUSSIA'S PROGRAM

London, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Walter Ruker, an American who has worked for months as chief consultant engineer for the Russian asbestos trust in the Ural, arrived here today on his way to New York for two months' vacation. The Soviet government engaged him to take charge of the entire mineral output in the Ural district and at present he is engaged in a $18,000,000 expansion program which would bring the Russian asbestos output to 250,000 tons a year, a total which almost equals the present production of the entire world. "This expansion," he said, "is not intended to glut world markets, for the Russians need their entire output for the manufacture of shingles, paper and other articles."

DEPRESSION MAKES ENEMIES FRIENDS

La Follette and Railroads Working Together To Give Jobs To the Idle.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 28.—(AP)—The business depression has brought about one of the strangest political paradoxes in the history of Wisconsin—a La Follette allied with railroad executives. A quarter century ago the large railroads were political enemies of the late Senator Robert M. La Follette. Today his 33 year old son, Philip, as governor of Wisconsin, is working in harmony with them.

Gov. La Follette has conferred with H. A. Scandrett, Chicago, executive of the Milwaukee road; C. T. Jaffrey, Minneapolis, Soo line; F. E. Williamson, Chicago, Burlington Route; S. B. Way, The Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light Company (Interurban); Fred W. Sargent, Chicago, president of the Northwestern railroad; L. F. Falon, Chicago, North Shore Electric road, and F. B. Seymour, Green Bay and Western.

The specter of unemployment united them. Under Governor La Follette's plan for the relief of the unemployed, the state in cooperation with railroads in Wisconsin will eliminate 90 grade crossings to provide jobs for 10,000 men as well as to remove a hazard to automobile traffic. The Year's Program The elimination of approximately 30 grade crossings is the average year's program. Railroads will pay 40 per cent of the cost, over a three-year period. In the early part of the century, the same railroad interests were fighting the governor's father regarding Railroad legislation was one of the major objectives in the late Senator La Follette's administration as governor. He exposed their powerful lobby and charged them with making huge profits, and excessive rates. In the end he had them under control of a railroad commission that fixed rates and set valuations. Even after he had left the governor's chair, the United States Senate, he was at odds with the railroads. Railroad regulation continued to be one of his goals.

GOVERNORS IN CONFERENCE ON UNEMPLOYMENT

WHERE TO THROW HUGE DAM'S DIRT PUZZLES BIDDERS

KIWANIS TO LOCALIZE SOCIAL OBJECTIVES

Help For Children, Citizenship Promotion Features of Program For 1931.

Las Vegas, Nev.—(AP)—Wanting some place to put 3,700,000 cubic yards of rock and dirt. Notify engineers for Hoover dam project. With waste land surrounding the dam site on every side, the engineers are still finding a baffling problem in planning removal of excavated material. Sheer cliffs tower hundreds of feet above the Colorado river bed, and loom as forbidding barriers to the removal of material to higher ground, where it will not interfere with future work, not hamper normal flow of water below the dam site. More than 75 prospective bidders have been in Las Vegas to study the conditions at the dam site, preparatory to making bids which will be opened in Denver, March 4. The ruggedness of surrounding territory and the confined area of the dam site, engineers say, presents enormous problems. Two offer dams must be built first. Otherwise some of the 1,800,000 cubic yards of dirt and rock to be gouged from the river bed and canyon walls could be utilized for the temporary barriers. Another 1,800,000 cubic yards must come out of the rock walls themselves for the four diversion tunnels, each 50 feet in diameter and approximately 4,000 feet long. Through these the turbulent waters of the Colorado will flow around the dam site while construction goes forward. Other physical disadvantages to be overcome are prospective bidders point out, are problems of transportation across the river, delivery of material on the canyon walls, and location of machinery and equipment in the rough terrain. While prospective bidders survey the situation, a 20-mile railroad spur from Boulder Junction to the government town site nears completion. A power line is being built from San Bernardino, Cal., to the dam site.

DROUGHT VICTIMS ON AIR PROGRAM

Will Rogers To Have Persons Living in Stricken Area To Tell Story.

New York, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Two broadcasts in behalf of the Red Cross drought relief fund, one presenting Will Rogers and the other General John J. Pershing are to be made this week-end by WABC and stations. The Rogers broadcast is planned for Saturday evening and will include five unnamed sufferers in the southwestern drought area who will give their own impressions of conditions. A farmer, a farmer's wife, a boy and a girl are to be among the speakers. The program will originate at Waco, Texas, starting at 10 o'clock, E. S. T. General Pershing will make an appeal for aid to the relief fund in a talk to be transmitted at 8:15 p. m.

Compulsory insurance to tide over the jobless in times of business recession was urged by economists who appeared before official representatives of several eastern states, pictured above, at an unemployment conference in Albany, N. Y.

Seated, left to right, are Governor Norman S. Case of Rhode Island; Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, who organized the conference; and Governor Morgan F. Larson of New Jersey. Standing, left to right: Lieutenant Governor Herbert H. Lehman of New York; Governor Wilbur L. Cross of Connecticut; Dr. Charles Reitel, head of the Greater Pennsylvania Unemployment Commission, representing Governor Gifford Pinchot of that state, and Governor Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts.

He. The stock, his information declares, was received as a bonus with the purchase of $400,000 of the company's bonds for which was paid $340,000.

The next transaction of any sizeable profit to the Kingston firm is recorded in a deal with the Groton and Stonington Traction company from which was obtained through the purchase of some $200,000 in bonds, a block of 4,167 shares of common stock. About a year later, a profit of $105,325 is recorded on the Kingston books from the sale of 4,221 shares of the traction company stock to the Connecticut Utilities Corporation.

Purchase of an interest in the Powell Corporation, a Connecticut corporation in August 1927 is the next enterprise detailed by the State's attorney. Here the Kingston firm bought $400,000 first mortgage bonds, for $320,000, receiving as a bonus 9,900 shares of the company's common stock. In January, 1929, he sold 6,000 shares of this block to the Utilities Corporation for $120,000, or $30 per share, and then in May, sold the corporation what was left of the block, 993 shares, at $75 a share, bringing the total profit to $194,475, from this series of transactions, all at the expense of the stockholders in the Utilities Corporation, according to Mr. Alcorn's charges.

along East Center street last night and one car more or less on the street would not be noticed. Nor would a car parked around the next street corner attract attention.

This afternoon police circulars are being printed to be sent to different police departments throughout the East with the hopes that the stolen articles may be picked up in pawn shops. There is nothing to lead the police to think that it was a local job. The thieves picked out 143 pieces of solid silverware, showing that they knew their business.

This makes the fourth burglary committed within the past ten days along the state road from Manchester Center to Andover. On Sunday morning the gasoline station of Frederick England at Manchester Green was broken into and a week before that a gasoline station in Bolton was robbed as was one also, the night after in Andover.

BORDER PATROL FUND

Washington, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Appropriation of $500,000 for an immediate increase of 250 men on the border patrol under the immigration bureau was voted today by the Senate appropriations committee.

The fund for the patrol service was added to the appropriation measure for the State, Justice, Labor and Commerce Departments, reported to the Senate today by the committee.

The Senate committee added $2,451,992 to this four-department measure as passed by the House.

The committee boosted the fund for next year's operation of the Prohibition Bureau by $147,180, allocating a total of $11,516,680 for this work.

Increases in the appropriations for prison construction and maintenance also were approved.

NEW HAVEN FIRE

New Haven, Jan. 28.—(AP)—A sensational two alarm fire early today sweeping through a box and barrel storehouse at Fair and Olive streets in a congested area did damage estimated at $1,500.

MOTORCYCLIST KILLED

Greenwich, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Alfio Riccardi, 30, was instantly killed today when his motorcycle left the road at Lake and Prospect avenues and plunged into a hole. Riccardi was employed on the estate of Henry J. Topping at Round Hill. Death was due to a fractured skull.

DENIES CHARGES

New Haven, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Charles J. Martin, counsel for Frederick E. and Harold Kingston, in a statement issued today denied charges of State Attorney H. M. Alcorn, that Frederick Kingston had contributed no money or securities to the capital of F. E. Kingston and Company, brokers, now in receivership.

"Frederick Kingston put vast sums of money into the company, both at the time it was started and during its operation," he said. "At the end he stripped himself of his substance, at the behest of the bank commissioner in a vain effort to avert the receivership."

"When the summation is made it will be found he put into the business a sum far in excess of that contributed by any other member of the partnership. Statements that Mr. Kingston put no money into the company cannot be too strongly refuted. Such statements are used to discredit Mr. Kingston."

finger-prints if any, so it was not until late this morning that a full list of missing articles was turned over to Chief-of-Police Gordon.

Entered by Window

Entrance had been made by the use of a jimmy on one of the rear windows and exit was probably by the same window. The window is on the north side of the house and ice there prevented the leaving of footprints. The work was not that of a novice, in the opinion of Chief-of-Police Gordon. The articles stolen, consisted of flat silver pieces, silver candle sticks, watches, rings, etc., were such as might be disposed of through a "fence." Money consisted only a small part of the total. Some silver pieces taken have a value to the family that could not be replaced with money.

GIRL SCOUT COUNCIL ENTERTAINS OFFICERS

At the home of Mrs. Lawrence Case of Highland Park last evening the Girl Scout Council gave a party for the captains and lieutenants of the Girl Scout troops. A buffet lunch was served on small tables attractively decorated in Valentine colors. After lunch the members explained what they were doing in Scouting, so that the council personnel would know each other and work in co-operation.

Mrs. J. Clarke Baker, chairman of the entertainment committee for the Council, was in charge of games, assisted by Mrs. Case and Mrs. Clarence Quimby. Prizes were won by Mrs. Robert Dewey, Mrs. Harold Agard, Miss Irene Buckland, Mrs. Russell Hathaway and Mrs. Frederick Snow. The affair was enjoyed by about 30 members.

SETBACK LEAGUE

An oyster supper featured the sitting of the Commercial Setback League, playing at the Community House on North Main street, last night.

For the second time, Harry Wilson, who is filling in and is not a regular member of a league team, carried off high honors, scoring 104 points. His partner last night was A. L. Brown, also a substitute. The low scores were made by Raymond Merz and James McCann of the Hilliard street team. There is no change in the positions of the four leaders only twenty-nine points separating the leaders from those in second place.

The standings: Hoss Co. No. 1, 1,911; Foley's Express, 1,833; Dark Horses, 1,798; Burr Nursery, 1,727; Merz Barbers, 1,689; Midways, 1,616; Keith's, 1,598; Wapping No. 2, 1,595; Wapping No. 1, 1,594; Hilliard Street, 1,593; Woodland Street, 1,585; Smith Market, 1,566; Hilliard Company, 1,560; Veterans, 1,543; Lettney's, 1,542; Reid's Auctioneers, 1,498; Palmer's, 1,471. agencies for distribution of such funds as it feels should be used in the emergency."

He said the action of the President and the Red Cross "implies that there shall be no general measure of relief for unemployment no matter how long it lasts or how great it becomes."

Appeals To Senators

He called on all Senators who have even an "ordinary" regard for the suffering to "repudiate the policy which implies a refusal on the part of those responsible to the people as a whole to take any action whatever to relieve the distress."

"We all know that $10,000,000 will not be adequate to meet the requirements," Robinson said.

Voicing the threat of an extra session if necessary, Robinson said, "more important than the general appropriations bills is that Congress should measure up to its size and do its duty."

Robinson said "Citizen Hoover" had once advocated taking $20,000,000 out of the Federal treasury for starving Russians.

Big Profits

He added, however, Mr. Hoover failed to take in account the fact that thousands of Americans who did not serve in the war had made enormous profits from it and that conditions now were worse than at the time the Russian appropriation was made.

Pointing out that Mr. Hoover is president of the Red Cross as well as of the United States, Democratic Leader Robinson told the Senate Mr. Hoover's insistence that no funds be provided for relief by the government was "incomprehensible to his most intimate friends."

"Before he became President," he said, "Mr. Hoover was recognized as the leader of relief movements in this country as well as throughout the world."

Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, in joining the outburst of criticism, called upon the Senate to block all appropriation measures "until this relief is granted."

VOLUNTEERED TO DIG BUT HIRED BIG SHOVEL

When the members of the Lithuanian Co-operative Association decided to do the digging for the cellar of their new building on Golway street, they did not realize that digging is a "trade" by itself. They put in one day of hard labor, found the ground frozen the next day. They tackled the job with crowbars, made little progress, and one of the shovelers decided that it wasn't going to pay.

"I'll pay my share towards a steam shovel to dig this out instead of having a broken back," he remarked. The idea caught on and that's why a steam shovel was put to work there Monday. It left this forenoon, the job done. The cost of the shovel, $150, is to be paid by the volunteer shovelers.

Today the grading was started for the footings of the walls.

TINKHAM'S OPINION

Washington, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Representative Tinkham, Republican, Massachusetts, urged the House Judiciary committee today to approve his proposed constitutional amendment to base Congressional representation on the vote at the two preceding presidential elections.

"If we are going to have a change in the system of representation of the last 140 years," argued Tinkham, "instead of striking out a segment of the population here and there because they are aliens, let us base representation on the vote cast."

FOR GINGER'S SAKE

ETHEL HUESTON
© 1930 THE BOBBS-MERRILL CO.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Because life was so slow in the little town of Red Thrust, Iowa, Ginger Ella Tolliver conceived the idea of a Junior Country Club to save the younger set from utter boredom. It was to be exclusive—no parents allowed, no babies. Accordingly, she arranged for the purchase of the Mill Rush farm, a 10-acre tract with an old house on it, and proceeded, with the assistance of her friends, to overhaul and furnish it.

Ginger was the daughter of a minister and the stepdaughter of a very wealthy woman, the former Phil Van Doorn, who was a tolerant person and crazy about Ginger.

One day, while the rehabilitation of the club house was going on, an artist called at the kitchen of the Tolliver home and offered to do a portrait in exchange for a meal. After he had shaved off his beard Ginger found to her surprise that he was good looking. He had studied in Paris and his name was Bard Hollaway.

Ginger, who was never at a loss for ideas, thought it would be a good one if Bard remained for a while in Red Thrust, instead of wandering about the country like a hobo. He could pick up some money painting portraits for families who would be flattered—especially if the Tollivers sponsored him. And he could do the mural decorations in the new club house, for Ginger was bound it would be a success.

So Ginger gets her stepmother, Phil, to invite him to stay with the Tollivers. The artist demurs, but Phil makes him accept. Ginger explains to him about the club, and she takes him out to inspect it before he starts to work on it. The name of the club, it is decided, is to be "Joie de Vivre."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIII
But Ginger went first of all to a sign painter and arranged for an old, presumably worn-out signpost with a colonial lantern to swing below it, proclaiming to the world that Joie de Vivre had taken up residence at Mill Rush on Rabbit River.

Iry Ford was particularly interested in the selection of a name, because he wanted to have a couple of large "college flags" made up to inform the public that his taxi was the best if not the only means of transportation to that delectable resort.

Ginger printed out the name for him and he perused it frowningly. "I don't like that name," he said. "Looks funny to me. What's it mean, anyhow?"

"Oh, it means happiness—the fun of living—have a good time, and all that sort of thing," she explained.

"How do you pronounce it?"

"Zshwa da veev'v'," she enunciated slowly.

"I don't like it," he complained again. "Why not just say, 'Have a good time,' and be done with it, if that's what it means? Seems hollower somehow."

But Ginger was not to be dissuaded and on Saturday nights for a great many weeks thereafter Iry stood with his old cab at the northeast corner of the Square, his college flags flying in the wind, while his stentorian voice proclaimed to a delighted audience:

"Taxicab to the Jaw da Veever. Right this way, ladies and gents—bus to the Jaw da Veever. Only two bits to the Jaw da Veever."

From friendly lips to interested ears flew the news that Ginger Tolliver had a French painter drawing pictures on the walls at Mill Rush, and immediately upon their release from school that afternoon, ardent prospective junior clubbers took the road, and countless were the eager hands to carry up the furniture that Ginger and Patty had collected in advance.

"Gosh, you certainly get things done," said Bard, amazed and admiring.

"I do my best," was the modest answer.

The presence and the fascinating labors of Bard Hollaway incited the nearest approach to a rebellion among her followers that she had experienced. Her assistants were all too eager to lend a hand. There was plenty of paint and there were a dozen untouched panels.

Many of them frankly announced their unequalled excellence in doing turkeys on the blackboards for Thanksgiving, heads of George for the birthday of the Father of our Country, and United States flags at half-mast for Decoration Day.

The responsibility of keeping his supplies from depletion and his art from prostitution at the hands of her loyal cohorts was very great.

"I wish I had brought, Nicolò Calleno out with me," Bard said as they were driving back to town. "He wanted to come, but I didn't know where I was going nor when I'd be going back and I was afraid to run the risk. He'd create a sensation out here. Joie de vivre exudes from his every pore."

"Who is he?"

"He's a little Italian lad in Chicago, a sort of waiter, sort of musician—I don't really know what he is. Plays the piano, plays the violin, plays the banjo, and waltzes like a little Italian angel. He's pretty as a picture, looks more like a girl than a boy. Just a kid. He was playing in a beer garden orchestra and took on some outside work without reporting it and got in bad with the union. He was laid off for three months."

"He'd look great sauntering up and down among the tables in the ballroom, strumming his banjo and singing Italian love songs. He wears velvet trousers and a sash, and a velvet tam. Oh, he's a picture!"

"How much would it cost?"

"Why, I think he would come for his expenses until he is reinstated. I'm sure he would, because he is only marking time there. We could keep him for a week or two if we liked and then send him back. He'd get you off to a stunning start."

"The fare to Chicago is six-seventy-five. He could sleep in one of the gable rooms in the attic, heaven knows we'll never have any other use for them. And we could sort of feed him around from hand to mouth wherever we happen to be."

"He could cook his own meals. All Italians can cook."

"He wouldn't be very expensive, then. But are you sure he would come?"

"I think he would be crazy about it. He should be! He's not doing a thing there—except a little bank messenger bootlegging. You'd better include an extra five in the check if you can because one of his instruments is usually in hock."

"If we send him a letter tonight he could be here in three days. Just in time for the dance on Saturday."

And if I know little Nicolò, he'll be here. I did some sketching of him in Chicago. Really, he's picturesque."

"But be sure and make it very plain," cautioned Ginger anxiously, "that we can only give him a little spending money and his expenses. We can't pay him a regular salary."

"He'll eat it up—I know he will," said Bard.

Now the fame of the Joie de Vivre and its unique conception had spread like wildfire through the countryside, and letters were pouring in from couples and cliques of young people, 20 and 30 miles away, asking for reservations for the Saturday night opening dance. Ginger talked it over with Ben and Jenky Brooks—Patty and Bard were there, too, and were allowed an opinion, which in no way dissented from the others—and it was decided to let them come.

"And we'll raise the price of admission and refreshments, too," said Ginger. "If the food is cheap they'll eat us out of house and home. We don't know them—there's no reason why we shouldn't make money on them. Double rates for outsiders. Members of the club and their guests deserve a reduction."

"For we are purely a worldly organization," Ginger explained firmly to Bard, "and all uplifting is strictly taboo."

On Saturday morning—the morning of the Saturday which was to open the summer's series of informal dances at Joie de Vivre—a tired but happy Ginger sat at breakfast, her parents and her artist grouped about her. Her thoughts were pleasantly engaged with the sureness of success which her prophetic nature had promised for the evening. And as if from a great distance the voice of Iry Ford cut faintly through her sweet abstraction.

"Ginger! Hey, Ginger!"

"Did somebody call Ginger?" wondered Phil.

Hamill appeared at the door. "Excuse me," he said apologetically, "but Mr. Ford wishes to see Miss Ginger—Mr. Ford is—not alone, if I may say so."

"Oh, it must be Nicolò," said Bard. "May I go out with you, Ginger? Isn't it great he got here this morning?"

They ran down the hall to the front door, comfortably pleased that their brilliant plan had not miscarried. Now was the success of their opening doubly sure.

But at the end of the driveway, where the decrepit old taxi with its bright college flags was discreetly parked, restrained by sheer physical effort on the part of Iry from haking a concerted rush upon the house, they saw—not one, slim, pretty Italian as they had expected—but what appeared to be a large company of them, gesticulating excitedly, hot in noisy argument in their native tongue.

"Fascisti—upon us!" gasped Ginger Ella.

"Listen!" roared Iry Ford. "Wait, I tell you, wait for Ginger! You can't go in unless your sister, Miss Phil wouldn't like it!"

MAKE IT SCOTCH

Two Types of Plaid Costumes Lend Dash and Color to the New Mode.

BY JOAN SAVOY

There's more than a wee bit of bonny plaid stepping to the front ranks of style these days. In fact, anything with a dash of Scotch in it is right up Fashion's alley! There are two types of plaid frocks that are smart as creation and fill those in-between needs when you want to look smart, would like a little color and dash in your outfit and yet don't want to really dress up in your Sunday-go-to-meeting.

First, you can have the gay top worn with a dark skirt. This follows the mode for light blouses and the newer vogue for light-toned coats with dark skirts. But if you make this overblouse of plaid, then it's a 100 per cent but you will be glad of it.

Chic Via All-Plaid
The second type of plaid costume this late winter is the all-plaid frock. Sometimes it is of the loveliest and softest of Scotch plaid woolens, sometimes of silk. It may be the usual red, green, black, blue and yellow combination or it may be something quite bizarre such as emerald green and gold in varying stripes to make the plaid.

Two new plaid costumes that in a not-quite-Scotch manner, are lavish with their chic, include the plaid-topped frock and the whole plaid frock.

(Left) An extremely smart effect is created by topping a black wooly crepe skirt with a wrap-around and belted coat-bouise of black and white plaided wool.

The plaid is used on the slant to fashion the whole waist, thus giving it a dash that orderly plaid could never achieve. The scarf collar is printed in black and a black suede belt adds its suave touch.

Gayer of the gay is the plaid bolero frock (right) that has the traditional Scotch colors for its lively designs. There is a little pom-pom at each side of the front of the bolero which is suggestive of soft thistle, only one of these is the beige of the background of the plaid, the other the gayest green.

The shirt has stitched pleats that flare in front, on the sides and in the back. Otherwise it is a semi-fitted, plain little frock so far as its cut goes. But nothing could be more decorative, more cheering under the fur coat or without it.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

Everybody who has ever been sick in bed remembers the pleasure of those grand alcohol rubs the nurse gave her.

Why, I ask you, should you wait until you're sick to have them? The majority of women just cannot afford to hire a masseuse to give them a daily alcohol rub. But what is the matter with your own good right hand and left arms?

Of course some of the effect is lost if we give the alcohol rub to ourselves. For there is a sense of luxury in having some one else use her elbow grease. But, notwithstanding that, there is much to be gained psychologically, as well as physically, from a brisk alcohol rub after your hot baths.

Always have the room's temperature more than warm when you administer the rub. Pour a little alcohol into your cupped hand, slap it onto your chest and shoulders and alternately with your right and left hands pat the flesh briskly. Don't be content to merely pat the flesh. Rub it, make it feel lively, start the circulation or know why!

Administer the alcohol to small areas at one time. You can begin at the shoulders and work down or on the feet and work up. I advise the former, since the body tingles much more easily if you get the back of the neck and the arms massaged first.

Be meticulous about giving your feet their share of your strength of this alcohol rub. Take each toe in turn and give them a wriggle or two to loosen their muscles and relax their nerves as you rub.

When you have entirely finished, dust off with a good talcum powder. There are talcums and talcums. It is not enough for me that one is soft and fine enough not to scratch. It must smell good, too. I consider matching up your general favorite scent in talcum powder an actual saving in perfume purchase. If you have the right scent on from the skin out, you will have that general air of fine grooming which comes from constant scrubbing, rubbing and scenting.

BULB CHEER
Nothing is nicer in city apartments than to let the children raise bulbs. They are so cheery and fragrant and any growing life is interesting.

PRINCESS' CONDITION

London, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Physicians attending Princess Beatrice, 74 year old aunt of King George, who is suffering from a broken arm and acute bronchitis, regard her condition as "not without anxiety." Queen Victoria of Spain, her daughter, is hurrying to London to be at her bedside.

The physicians said the broken arm of the princess was making satisfactory progress, but that danger lay in the bronchitis.

The medical bulletin issued this morning said: "Her Royal Highness, the Princess Beatrice, has had a fairly restful night. Her general condition remains unchanged."

Evening Herald Pattern

No. 2626—A darling bolero frock that is the pampered fashion of all the French couturiers. It is youthful smart and practical in printed flat crepe silk. Designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. The 36-inch size requires 3 1/2 yards of 39-inch material for bolero and skirt and 1 1/2 yards of 39-inch material for sleeveless blouse. It's charmingly slender. The bodice cuts all in one until it joins the skirt flounce that gives smart animation to its circular cut. Designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. The 36-inch size requires 3 1/2 yards of 39-inch material with 1/2 yard of 32-inch contrasting.

No. 2899—There's something utterly charming for small daughter in this fascinating dress for parties or for graduation. It looks complicated. But it's perfectly simple to make it. The double circular peplum ruffles that top the circular flaring skirt give it smart individuality. Designed for sizes 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. The 8-year size requires 2 1/2 yards of 39-inch material.

HEALTH

THE COST OF ILLNESS
Doctors Receive Less Than One-Fourth of Annual $2,000,000,000 Sick Bill in United States.

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN, Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

People of the United States spend about $2,000,000,000 a year for sickness. Of this amount, the doctors receive less than one-fourth. The major portion of the money goes for drugs, including patent medicine, for hospital care, nursing service, and similar expenditures. Quacks get one-fourth as much as the medical profession.

The smallest percentage is spent on preventive medicine. If the money lost by illness were to be spent in securing physical fitness and on the prevention of diseases, the returns would be enormous in benefit to the people.

The attainment of physical fitness would involve first a careful physical examination for detection of such defects as inflamed adenoids, infected tonsils, infected teeth, bad posture and malnutrition. Incipient cases of tuberculosis can be diagnosed and children of a tuberculous type could be placed in preventori-ums so as to give them an opportunity to build themselves into a resistant state.

Whereas the man past middle life is in danger because of overweight, the adolescent, up to the age of 20, is in physical danger because of underweight. The greatest record of deaths from tuberculosis in recent years has been among the adolescent group.

Apparently what is required in order to secure the benefits of modern scientific medicine for the majority of the people is the development of health intelligence.

A proper program would require, first of all, the dissemination of knowledge to the people as to the importance of a regular physical examination; second, a recognition of the necessity for taking care of such physical defects as have been mentioned; third, the application of immunologic methods already well established, such as vaccination against smallpox and diphtheria; fourth, realization of the necessity for attention to good personal hygiene. Good personal hygiene involves, among other things, proper care of the teeth, the nose and throat, a sufficient amount of rest and exercise, and a sufficient knowledge of diet to maintain the body weight at the optimum for height.

YOUR CHILDREN

by Olive Roberts Barton
© 1931 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

Threatening is an enemy to obedience. At the very best it is foolish and only lays up further trouble for the parent who does it. For he has either to keep his promise of meeting out certain dire punishment that he has little intention of carrying out, or be known to the children as a windy weakling who dares not keep his word.

Threatening sometimes works for a time or two; then when the child "gets wise" to his parent and knows that it is all talk, things are usually much worse than they were before. For a child seldom respects the person who threatens and continues to do so without backing up his words by action. Even if any sort of punishment is given out it should not be talked about beforehand. A fair warning given earnestly is permissible on occasion but this cannot be classed as threat. A threat anticipates, thereby inviting a test.

Usually the person issuing a threat has occasion to keep it. It is considered bad discipline in any relationship between children and older people.

Just as poor a method is bribery. I believe it is dying out, thank goodness—that old chestnut, "I'll give you a nickel to be good, Tommy." As one man says, "Children are good fanatics, and don't think they won't raise their price very soon."

Bribes Won't Pay
It is too weak a form of discipline to be worth much discussion, but any child who has to be bribed by the promise of money, a banana, a show, an extra hour to stay up, will never know the first rudiments of obedience. It is off the track entirely.

Another cause of disobedience, and here I believe we reach the roots of the whole matter, is expecting the impossible of children and giving commands that nature has made it impossible for them to fulfill.

Don't we know that small bodies can "be quiet" for only very short periods at a time? Don't we know that the driving forces of inborn curiosity, impulse, and what we like to call "mischief" are as much a part of children as their heads and that our commands cannot discount these things?

Parents change their minds, too. This is another origin of disobedience. In time a child does not know what to expect.

Also a frequent occasion for trouble lies in the parent's never giving an order until he becomes angry. A child may obey as long as his parent is angry, only to feel that he is at liberty again as soon as his parent cools off.

So many things in this matter of obedience! The best way is to make friends of our children, to get them to trust us, and then not to violate that trust by giving unreasonable commands at unreasonable times.

To "Point-Up" Appetite

Just Stimulate Bowels

Whenever the end of the day finds you out-of-sorts; food doesn't tempt you and won't digest; breath is bad; tongue coated; just chew a candy tablet before bedtime. Tomorrow you'll be a new person!

A candy Cascaret clears up a bilious, gassy, headachy condition every time. Futs appetite on edge. Helps digestion. Activates bowels. Cascarets are made from cascara, which authorities say actually strengthens bowel muscles. So, take these delightful tablets as often as you please; or give them freely to children. A drug store sells Cascaret for a dime, but no dollar preparation could do better work.—Adv't.

ENDS MONTHS OF "INDIGESTION" IN SURPRISING WAY

There's good news for all stomach sufferers in the news being created by a simple discovery, due to the quick, easy way it relieves so-called "indigestion," and its effects, such as gas, bloating, belching, headaches, nausea, heartburn, etc.

"Pape's Diapepsin," as it is called, is eaten like candy—and is just as harmless. No narcotics or pain-killers in it. Nothing habit-forming. No sooner swallowed than pain stops; normal digestion is restored.

Thousands are so enthusiastic over the results they are securing that they simply have to tell their experiences to help others. Here's what attractive Mrs. Grace Hall, No. 1 Dean Way, So. Boston, Mass., says: "I suffered from nervous indigestion for many months until I couldn't sleep right and nothing agreed with me. I would have gas on my stomach, sour stomach, heartburn, and would bloat badly after every meal."

"I tried a lot of medicines but nothing helped until I heard about Pape's Diapepsin and got some. It ended my trouble in a surprising way."

All druggists sell Pape's Diapepsin; or write "Pape's Diapepsin," Wheeling, W. Va., for a FREE sample box.

Atlas Hands Rec First Defeat On Home Surface

New Haven Wins, 31-30 In A Thrilling Battle

Rubenstein's Long Shots Turn Tide Atlasward In Closing Minutes of Exciting Contest; No Discredit To Lose To a Team of Atlas' Caliber.

Manchester's Recreation Center basketball team met its first defeat on its home floor here last night when the New Haven Atlas won a thrilling duel by a 31 to 30 score. It marked only the fourth defeat in sixteen games for Manchester.

The game, one of the best of the season, was witnessed by a comparatively small crowd. The Atlas came here with a fine reputation and proved that they were not over-rated. A cluster of long shots put players on both teams featured the exciting final quarter.

It was no discredit for the Rec to lose to a team of the Atlas' caliber. The Elm City was represented by a group of men who were smart basketball players as well as good shots. It was this experience that played an instrumental factor in their spectacular triumph.

No Allib to Offer Manchester can offer no alibi for the defeat. The game was efficiently handled by Clyde Waters of Bristol and the only fair thing to do under the circumstances is give credit where credit belongs—to the New Haven Atlas. The game was one of those "anybody" affairs as the teams battled furiously over the final five minute stretch and victory came to the team which was playing just a shade better basketball.

"Hank" McCann was missing from the Rec lineup because of his ankle injury but Billy Dowd was in uniform and played a good share of the game despite his foot injury which Manager Ben Clune had figured would keep him hours of good play for the evening. Bill Nye, Rec center, was a bit off color last night and twice Manager Clune inserted Ding Farr at his post.

Seek New Center After the game Manager Clune announced that he was searching about the state in the hopes of signing another star player to fill in at center in Nye's place, in which event, the former Trinity player may be given his release. Nye is considered by many to be the weakest link in the Rec chain. Manager Clune intimated that Briggs, former Torrington high school star, might be secured to take Nye's place.

Paul Briggs played center on Torrington's so-called Wonder Five which went to the national high school tournament at Chicago a few years ago. Carroll Barrett, former local player who knows the game personally, says that he is about the size of Nye, a good floorworker and a much more finished player.

He is employed at the Hartford office of the S. N. T. Co. in Hartford and has been playing with South Willington and scoring heavily. Briggs is about 6 feet, two in height. He was signed by Manager Clune late this morning and will play with the Rec next Tuesday night against the Favorite Knits of Cleveland who have a center 7 feet, four. All of which means one must expect too much of Briggs in his debut here.

While the Atlas displayed brilliant passwork at times it was the individual work of "Pookie" Alderman, former Yale center, and "Herky" Rubenstein, former Syracuse sensation, that turned the tide Atlasward. Rubenstein's long shots were especially telling in the final period when he accounted for three of his five hoops.

The Rec led by a point at the first quarter and by the same margin at halftime. Waterman did not start the third period and when he did return, the visitors were out in front by a few points. The quarter ended with New Haven up four points. Let's take up the basket by basket from that point.

Nye and Tuck Faulkner sunk a followup shot and Alderman and Waterman contributed foul flings. Then Dowd stuck in one of his favorite long shots to deadlock the count at 24. Rubenstein immediately put the Atlas back in the lead with a shot from mid-floor and then just to prove he wasn't lucky, dropped another to increase the Atlas lead to four points.

Faulkner scored from the foul line and then sent a sensational mid-floor caroming off the bank-board into the basket to bring the Rec up within one point of tying the score. Chady's and Nye's foul and Gustafson equalized with a foul to make the score 29 to 28. Then Rubenstein broke free for a neat basket following a short dribble and the Atlas led 31 to 28.

The crowd was in an uproar as the two teams fought bitterly for possession of the ball. Dowd finally got free under the New Haven hoop and made good bringing the score to one point difference again. The Atlas then succeeded in freezing the ball as the last half minute of precious seconds ticked into history.

The appearance here next Tuesday of the Favorite Knits of Cleveland, Ohio, should draw a record breaking crowd to the Rec Gym. The attendance last night was small in comparison and was discouraging to Rec officials especially in view of the fact that they had a high-class attraction here. The game was a real thriller too.

Local Sport Chatter

The New Haven Atlas were very much pleased with the deal which they received here. They went away singing much praise for Manchester going so far as to say that they never got a squarer deal anywhere in the entire state. Now, that's a pretty nice compliment for the town's sportsmanship coming, as it does, from such an organization as the New Haven Atlas.

One thing which pleased the visitors was the fact that the local scorekeeper was honest enough to report to the referee when Nye, local center, failed to report at the start of the second half. "Izzy" Wexler, former Manchester young man, was keeping score for New Haven and he had not observed the technical violation. Captain Zeke Chady's made good on the free throw awarded and had not New Haven won by one point, the matter might have been forgotten.

Incidentally, Wexler's many Manchester friends will no doubt be glad to learn that he has a fine position in New Haven at present, being supervisor of recreational work in the public schools. "Izzy" still admires Manchester holds a warm place in his heart, but naturally likes New Haven much better. He was in uniform last night but did not get into action. And this doesn't mean that he's not much of a basketball player, for he often gets into action and does more than his share.

Waterman said last night that there is no truth to the report that Stan Shimkus of the K. of L. is planning to bring legal suit for damages against him because of the fractured jaw he suffered from a brawl here recently.

Wardy Waterman and Dietz had quite an interesting little basketball battle last night with the local player having a bit of the edge through his two baskets. Dietz went scoreless. Incidentally Waterman played by far the cleanest game he has exhibited this season. Only one personal foul was called against him and he didn't do much fouling on the side.

EAST SIDE FIVE WINNER 29 TO 21

Trims Collecting Company and Tonight Meets Terryville In Game At Rec.

The East Side Crescents continue undefeated today as a result of their 29 to 21 victory over the Collecting Company, No. 152 team of Hartford in the preliminary at the Rec gym last night.

Hartford took the lead the first quarter but the home club took the lead in the second and held it to the finish although the margin was never very large. Johnson, Healy and Gorman were the high scorers for the winners while Durkin, Kwash and O'Brien were best for the Hartfordites.

Tonight the East Sides will swing into action against the East Side Rec when they tackle the strong Terryville town team which boasts several former Bristol High school stars in its lineup, including Zetarski.

Terryville will bring Zetarski, Bourdank, L. Norton, H. Norton, Kleps, Povechak, Garber and Zaleski. The game will start at eight o'clock. The admission will be only ten cents.

Windham's Hopes Dim In Manchester Clash

SETTING NEW RECORD VERY DIFFICULT STUNT

Windham High of Willimantic is far from confident of defeating Manchester High when the two schoolboy teams engage in first of a two game basketball series in the Willimantic State Armory Friday night.

Charlie Curran, sports editor of the Willimantic Chronicle, informed The Herald sports writer yesterday that he looked for an easy Manchester victory on the basis of what he termed a poor showing by Windham so far this season.

Windham has won only two out of six games, Curran said, beating its Alumni and Plainfield and took a 43 to 19 shellacking on its home floor from Bristol, a team Manchester beat 32 to 28. Curran attributes the poor work to the loss of several regulars from last year's team, including Melkie, Saba and Sroka.

The Manchester-Windham clash will be a triple header, the freshmen, junior varsity and varsity teams swinging into action at 7, 8, and 9 o'clock respectively. The referee had not been selected yesterday afternoon and neither had it been decided whether or not there would be any dancing, Curran said.

Last year Manchester and Windham broke even, Manchester winning the first game 34 to 21 and losing the second 33 to 20. These two teams are rivals, second here only to Manchester and Bristol. When they get together the score is usually very close. Windham would rather beat no team more than Manchester so the local players will do wise not to figure Curran's statement as deciding the game ahead of time.

SCHMELING SAYS SHARKEY GUILTY OF BEING IDLE

Boston Gob Loses Chance For Title Shot Because Stribling Proved Worth Fighting.

Daytona Beach, Fla., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Tire drills by mechanics promised to play a vital part in the success or failure of the attempt Captain Malcolm Campbell hopes to make here next week on the world's automobile speed record.

Under existing regulations, the veteran British race car driver must make one run with the wind and another against it at an average two way speed greater than 231 miles an hour to shatter the present mark. Both runs must be completed in a given 30 minute period.

In view of that requirement, every second consumed in changing tires, inspecting the car, replenishing the fuel supply and changing water in the radiator at the conclusion of the first run will be precious.

Back in 1929, when the late Sir Henry Seagrave of England established the present record his second run was completed 28 minutes after the start of the first just two minutes under the time allowed.

Officials of the American Automobile Association explained that the mandatory 30 minute rule, specified by the international race governing body in Paris, was invoked to prevent a driver from taking advantage of any change in the wind that might increase his average speed.

Quakers Hold Bruins To A Tie In Boston

Much Abused Philly Sextet Rises To Unexpected Height But Bostonians Still Cling To Leadership.

New York, Jan. 28.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Quakers who have been booted around by every National League hockey team, accomplished last night a feat that few of their rivals have been able to do. They held the all-powerful Boston Bruins to a tie on their home ice.

Only Chicago has beaten the Bruins at home this year and the New York Rangers have tied them twice but last night the Quakers made them fight an uphill battle to gain a 3 to 3 draw.

This game did not affect the league standing as did the other two contests last night. With the aid of a disputed goal, the Montreal Maroons climbed back into a tie with Toronto for second place in the Canadian division, beating Detroit 2 to 1 and Toronto lost a 3 to 2 decision to the N. Y. Americans.

National League Philadelphia Quakers 3, Boston Bruins 3 (tie). N. Y. Americans 3, Toronto 2. Montreal Maroons 2, Detroit Falcons 1.

wherein Sharkey, loser on a foul to Schmeling here last June is recognized in N. Y. State as the outstanding challenger while the N. E. A., controlling boxing in 27 states, believes that Stribling alone is entitled to a title shot.

"While Stribling knocks out Phil Scott and Otto Von Porat since last I am here," Schmeling argued, "What has Sharkey done? Nosing Stribling did. I cannot ignore Stribling's record. If I don't fight him N. E. A. suspends me. If I don't fight Sharkey, N. Y. suspends me. "Some day I will fight Sharkey again and I will whip him. I know that I would have beat him last June if he did not foul me in the fourth round. I am not entirely recovered from that punch until last October. In the third round I took all he has, and they could not even give me smelling salts after the bell. In the fourth I run out, Sharkey sees me coming. He is a changing man. I feel him weaken. He fouls me.

"Ach, what can I do. I know that if I had fought Sharkey instead of him fouling me I would not be given another chance at him." Schmeling said he had only seen Stribling fight once, back in 1928 when the Georgia slasher knocked out Johnny Squires with a half dozen punches in Madison Square Garden.

"He is very good," said Max seriously. "I have had fight ahead of me. But am sure I beat him." Schmeling starts Feb. 9 on a nationwide tour lasting until April 17.

"I Hope Your Example Will Compel The Adoption Of Sanitary Methods"

Says DR. THOS. J. McLAUGHLIN Chairman State Board of Health, State of Rhode Island

... one of 56 health officials from 56 different points approving Cremo's crusade against spit or spit-tipping.

Rhode Island Public Health Commission

THOMAS J. McLAUGHLIN, M. D.
CHAIRMAN, WOONSOCKET, May 21st, 1930.

The American Cigar Company,
1111 Fifth Avenue,
New York, N. Y.

Gentlemen—

Permit me to commend you for your crusade against the old-fashioned method of cigar making which involved the use of "spit" or "Saliva." There are many unsanitary processes still employed in industry which are very difficult to eliminate without the aid of industry itself.

Not only the public officer charged with the responsibility of improving conditions of health generally but every one immediately recognizes that the use of "spit" in the manufacture of cigars is not only unsanitary but has latent dangers to health of great magnitude. I feel it incumbent upon myself, therefore, as a public officer charged with protecting the public health to use this means of telling you that in campaigning against such a method of manufacture you are rendering a public service.

I sincerely hope that your example and your campaign will compel the abandonment of such methods of manufacture of cigars by the industry generally and the adoption by all of the manufacturers of sanitary methods in the manufacture of cigars.

You are at liberty to use this expression of my commendation in the furtherance of your laudable campaign for better sanitation.

Yours very truly,
Thos. J. McLaughlin, M.D.
Chairman State Board of Health,
State of Rhode Island.

SPORT PLANTS... ASSOCIATED PRESS SPORTS EDITOR

In no sports season that I can recall in the last decade has there been so urgent a call for outstanding figures as can be heard for the campaign of 1931.

In the last few years, boxing has lost Tex Rickard as its most active roles played by Dempsey and Tunney.

American tennis has lost Johnston and now Tilden, leaving the field up to the younger clan exclusively for the next few years.

The French Baseball Federation, having heard of John J. McGraw as the "Napoleon" of our national game, naturally turns to the gray-haired chieftain of the New York Giants in time of national crisis.

"Just a few words to let you know what the situation of the baseball is in France.

"Unfortunately, in our desire to acquire with and learn to love our beautiful national sport.

"It lies with Mr. McGraw. He is as 'Napoleon' for the American baseball and our American friends here say, will surely find, either money, through arranging a match for our benefit or the outfit itself, used gloves and balls and bats, would suit the French beginners and perhaps he will find both for our Association.

"Here is the letter written. Awaiting your kind reply."

An inventor has equipped players with a safety latch to prevent their opening and slipping off as object that has been grasped by their jaws.

This Game of GOLF By O.B. KEELER... Now it is my cue to offer apologies to George Von Elm, which I hereby do, with the best grace in the world.

Now, it just has occurred to me that George Von Elm, in these same tournaments, lost a very gallant shot at the top in the same way in which Bobby lost at Olympia Field and had to play off at Winged Foot.

And now George has come through the biggest money tournament in the world—the $25,000 Agua Caliente event—in a tie for the lead with stolid John Golden; the play-off next day gave Golden the diamond studded medal, but the jack already had been split, 50-50.

Reverting to the scores, and Von Elm's erstwhile predilection for easing himself out of the top position by one sour round, we find that in 1928, when he was playing exceptionally fine golf in the national open at Olympia Fields, he produced only one score above 74—his other marks were 74-72-74—and that 78 in the third round left him two strokes short of a tie with Johnny Farrell and Bobby Jones, who both ended at 25.

The next year, George started off at Winged Foot with a very blifflous 79 and at that stage was just 10 strokes back of the lead, Bobby having improved the occasion to do a 69 in the second round, playing in a driving rain. Von Elm turned in what, in my estimation, is the finest round of golf ever played in the national open championship, a 70; and at once was very much back in the running.

A 74 in the third round was met by Bobby Jones with a fine 71, so George once more was far in the rear, eight strokes behind. Then Bobby produced his ghastly 79, George came on with a very good 74, and the margin at the end was three strokes.

In both the 1928 and 1929 national open championships, George finished in fourth place, and one sloppy round did the trick.

Now, in the biggest money tournament at Agua Caliente, he declines to show himself to a big round; he goes 74-73-75-71-293.

NEW HAVEN, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Louis Kid Kaplan, Meriden lightweight has been matched to meet Jack Portney of Baltimore, Md., in a ten round feature bout here on Feb. 4, the Arena A. C. announced today.

LYNCHED IN MEXICO... Juchitan, Oaxaca, Mexico, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Jose Calderon, reformed Tehuantepec bandit, escaped a court of justice but could not escape the vengeance of friends of those he wronged.

Recently the bandit leader sought clemency from the government and settled down in Juchitan to live the rest of his days in quiet. Yesterday a band of men, taking their revenge for one of the victims Calderon is alleged to have put to death, surrounded his house and opened fire upon it.

The former bandit was slain and his mother and brother wounded. Troops arrived soon afterwards but the assailants had escaped.

HARVARD MAY BAN SPRING FOOTBALL... Cambridge, Mass., Jan. 28.—(AP)—Harvard University's committee on regulation of athletics will decide Monday whether spring football practice will be continued, with a strong possibility that the practice will be abandoned for this year, at least.

The committee consists of three members of the faculty, three undergraduates, three graduates and William J. Bingham, director of athletics. Bingham never has opposed spring practice but he has declared in the past that he was not enthusiastic about it.

In a recent interview, Captain-Elect Barry Wood went on record as being opposed to the custom.

EX-JUSTICE JAILED... Huntsville, Tex., Jan. 28.—(AP)—A former appeals court justice being serving a three year sentence for murder here today.

John W. Brady, 61, convicted of slaying Miss Lelia Highsmith, young Austin Texas stenographer, in a jealous rage in November 1929 was locked in a cell at sundown yesterday. He left a hotel to enter the prison on the arrival of commitment papers after a delay of 48 hours.

HOOKS AND SLIDES... BEAUTY CONTEST... Maybe what your Uncle Wubert Robinson is trying to run is a beauty contest. In the Brooklyn galaxy are such Adonises as Dazzy Vance, Adolfo Luque and Babe Herman, and now comes Ernest Lombardi from the Pacific Coast, with the most bountiful beak in baseball. But it's just possible Robbie wants his pitchers to throw more curve balls, and bought Lombardi so the Brooklyn pitchers could study his handsomely hooked breeder as a pattern.

Carnera-Maloney... If you find yourself toward the noble gladiators who now form the heavyweight picture when you con the tidings that Primo Carnera was to meet James Maloney again at Miami in February, you might have said that an appropriate place for such a shin-dig would be Joe's most bountiful beak in baseball. But because the thing is going to be a lot of horse-play anyway, but not knowing how you felt, we cannot measure your emotion.

The Short Count... The New York Boxing Commission, in its conclusion of the other day, decided the commission was not to blame because Tom Heeney was knocked out with a count of eight in his bout with Young Bugs Baer. Really, you know, it was nobody's fault. Heeney counted to "eight," Knokdown Timekeeper Art Donovan asserted Dempsey's "eight" should have been "ten," and what is there to be done about it? A knockdown timekeeper has to get his name in the paper somehow, doesn't he? Perhaps Mr. Donovan, tired of the corners of his seat, suddenly decided that he would seize time for the forelock, be different from the herd of ordinary knockdown timekeepers and make a reputation for himself. You can't blame a guy for that.

Joe Sewell's Ten Years... When Joe Sewell came to the Indians in 1920, he was a model young man. His ambition was a long career in the majors, so he didn't cut up with the rest of the boys down at the corners of his seat, suddenly decided that he would seize time for the forelock, be different from the herd of ordinary knockdown timekeepers and make a reputation for himself. You can't blame a guy for that.

Indianapolis-Tommy Cello, Chicago, outpointed Lou Bloom, Columbus, 10.

Pittsburgh-Johnny Datto, Cleveland, knocked out Harry Fiarro, Chicago, 7.

Jacksonville-Tony Cancello, California, knocked out Maxie Leppe, Portland, Ore., 1.

Sticker Solution

To make a circle one-half the area of another circle, follow the plan shown by the dotted lines above. Draw a square inside the large circle and then a circle inside the square. The second circle will contain half the material of the first circle. Then, to prove it, draw a square around the big circle and a smaller square, twice the size of the inner square—and the ratio of the circles is the same.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Mrs. Mary O'Connell of 486 East Middle Turnpike, Richard Ritchie of 98 Summit street and Arthur Custer, 6, of 79 Foster street have been admitted to the Memorial hospital. The Custer boy was struck by an automobile this morning and has a compound fracture of the left leg, also a possible fracture of the skull and concussion of the brain. He is conscious, but his condition is serious. Miss Mary Cappa, of East Glastonbury who was admitted to the hospital last Friday night was operated upon for appendicitis yesterday. She is making good progress. Thomas Ferguson who was operated upon last Friday night is recovering splendidly and will be able to see friends in a few days. Until 1871 commissions in the British Army could be obtained by purchase.

The pituitary gland, a little organ no larger than a pea located just below the skull, controls growth. It is over-active, giants are produced; if not active enough growth is stunted.
