TWENTY-NINE DIE IN AN EXPLOSION

But Nine Miners Escape Blast—Victims So Badly Burned and Mangled That Identification Is Difficult.

Linton, Ind., Jan. 29.—(AP)—The lives of 29 miners were snuffed out in an explosion at the Little Betty coal mine near here late yesterday. With the rescue of two men last night and seven more this morning all of the men in the mine had been accounted for.

WARNS CITY FOLKS TO REMAIN THERE

Will Go Broke Quicker In the Country These Days and Then It's Very Hard Work

Concord, N. H., Jan. 29.—(AP)—The "Back to the Farm" dream, increasingly cherished during these hard times by city workers who are sick of pavements and of pay cuts, is apt to prove a nightmare if subjected to the test of actual experiment.

This warning was sounded today by State Commissioner of Agriculture Andrew L. Felker of New Hampshire.

The commissioner gave the public the benefits of his observation in a series of comments on inquiries from urban residents of New Hampshire who think that farming would be helpful or profitable to them.

"Life on the soil is more complex than it is used to be," he said. "The unemployed factory or business worker, with his slender savings as his only financial backing, can go broke quicker in the country than in an environment with which he is more thoroughly familiar."

"Experienced agriculturists, with large and fertile acres and with farm organizations perfected by trial and error method, are just hanging on in this state and elsewhere in New England. The era of low prices for farm products is by no means over and the farmer who survives will be the one who develops a salable specialty or who has resources to take a tickle temporarily."

"Of all times, this is the poorest for the city dweller anxious to get away from it all to stampee countrywards."

Commissioner Felker said that there were few city workers who could stand the gaff of farm duties and "an agricultural employee in these hard times has got to know his job and he's got to be willing to tackle hard labor."

"No Need of Drivers
The kind of man that is needed on the farm," he said, "is the man that you can leave to take charge of things when you are away. I've had applicants for farm jobs come to me and explain that they can drive a truck and ought to be useful taking stuff to market. The country needs fewer auto drivers and more fellows with a scientific knowledge of applying fertilizer."

"Summed up the commissioner's advice to the man owning a farm, is 'hang on.'
His advice to the man who thinks he'd like to own a farm is, 'stay in town.'"

Dickens' Son, 82, Lives Quietly

In a comfortable English setting such as his father so well loved, Sir Henry Fielding Dickens, son of the late Charles Dickens, most famous of British novelists, is shown here in his latest picture, at his home in Chelsea, England. The frame of small pictures over the hearth bears snapshots of his father. Sir Henry, who is 82, has been "common sergeant" of the city of London since 1917.

ASSEMBLY PROCEEDINGS TAKE POLITICAL TINGE

Democrats May Ask Probe of State Institutions—Re- publicans Say Measure Will Not Be Passed.

State Capitol, Hartford, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Legislative proceedings under the golden dome today on a political tinge. Democratic leaders were here for conferences, probably to determine party action on certain measures which must be in the hands of legislative clerks tomorrow.

The limit on introduction of new business will be set tomorrow. There was every indication today that the volume of new business will go ahead of last session.

The Democratic conference of State Chairman P. B. O'Sullivan, National committeeman Archibald McNeil, Senator Connor, and Senator Bergin and Representative Citron, minority leaders, had chiefly to do with a proposal that state institutions be investigated by a commission to be named by the govern-

HOUSE IS AGAINST BIG RELIEF FUND

Committee Votes 18 To 11 Against It—Senate Wants Salvation Army To Do It.

Washington, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The House appropriations committee today voted to disapprove the Senate $25,000,000 Red Cross proposal for relief.

The vote was 18 to 11. Rep. Cramton, in charge of the bill, said the measure would be reported to the House, disagreeing with all of the Senate's amendments to the Interior Department supply bill.

Plans continued in the Senate, however, for some other relief agency to administer the fund that the Red Cross has refused.

Democratic Leader Robinson said he was considering proposals to ask the Salvation Army, the Public Health Service or some agency to administer it if the Red Cross stands by its refusal to accept the fund. "I expect to announce something definite in a day or two," Robinson said.

The controversy has brought one of the sharpest of the many issues between President Hoover and the Senate. House leaders who have upheld the President in past contests are still dubious of checking the $25,000,000 relief appropriation which was vetoed by the Senate over the objection of the President.

U. S. APOLOGIZES TO ITALY FOR GEN. BUTLER'S REMARKS

General Is Ordered To Arrest Himself

Washington, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Major General Smedley D. Butler as saying he had been told by a friend that the Italian premier's motor car struck a child and that the Duce drove on. Mussolini quickly informed his Embassy here that he had done no such thing. The specific charge against Butler was not made public, nor was his letter.

CHIEF OF MARINES IS ORDERED TRIED

Celebrated Soldier Made Speech Derogatory To Premier Mussolini, Charges Read—Butler Sends Explanatory Letter To Secretary Who After Reading It Orders a Court Martial and Apology Follows—Alleged Re- marks Were Made In Speech In Philadelphia On Jan. 19—Butler-Who Is Now Confined To His Quarters Re- fuses To Make Statement of Any Kind.

Washington, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The United States government apologized today to Premier Mussolini of Italy because of a recent speech in Philadelphia by Major General Smedley D. Butler, of the Marines, in which remarks derogatory to the premier figured.

Secretary Stimson, in a note handed Italian Ambassador De Martino, formally apologized to Signor Mussolini and the Italian people for the remarks made by Butler. Only a short time before, Secretary Adams had ordered a court martial for a celebrated Marine officer.

Reason for apology Butler had been reported publicly as saying he had been told by a friend that Signor Mussolini's automobile struck a child and that the premier drove on without stopping. Secretary Adams, while not divulging Butler's explanation of the incident, said today that on "strength" of the order for court martial it seemed fair to assume he had admitted the "substance" of his alleged Philadelphia remarks criticizing Mussolini.

Formal Statement A formal statement from Stimson said: "Having learned from the Navy Department that Major General Smedley D. Butler, United States Marine Corps, has admitted that the quotation of his remarks in the authorized speech of Major General Butler in Philadelphia on January 19, 1926, was substantially correct I have this morning handed a note to the Italian ambassador expressing to Signor Mussolini and to the Italian people the deep regret of this government at this unauthorized remark on the part of an officer on active duty."

Beal Liquidation When the market broke, he said, the public was unable to appreciate that real liquidation, particularly of bank loans, was taking place. "It demanded some more tangible cause for the drastic reduction in value," he said. "This attitude of mind facilitated the circulation of rumors about organized bear raids and concerted action in short sellers."

"The investigations have shown that a number of events which had all the appearance of bear raids were, in effect, the liquidation of long securities. For example, last fall the action of certain railroad stocks seemed to indicate they were the object of bear attacks. Large

SPACE PRETTY EMPTY— STARS ARE FAR APART

Mt. Wilson, Calif., Jan. 29.—How empty is space? Here is one answer:
The mean distance between nebulae, that is, universes of stars like that Milky Way, is estimated by Dr. Edwin Hubble, Mt. Wilson astronomer, at nearly 2,000,000 light-years. They are not distributed regularly, however, some being about one-tenth of this distance apart.

EXONERATES BEARS OF MARKET CRASH

Head of Stock Exchange Explains For First Time What Caused the Drop.

Boston, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock Exchange, disclosed today investigations of alleged bear raiding had resulted in the exoneration of the bears and the indictment of economists.

He addressed the Boston Chamber of Commerce and publicly discussed for the first time what Wall Street called the "bear hunt" during the declining markets of 1930. He said the Exchange failed to discover any facts to support allegations of bear raids, or concerted action to depress prices. Nor did it find a single person who deliberately spread rumors to break the market for his own benefit.

The Exchange president again defended the short sale as an essential in open market machinery. He urged the public to consider real values rather than rely on tips, rumors and hopes.

"The investigations have shown that a number of events which had all the appearance of bear raids were, in effect, the liquidation of long securities. For example, last fall the action of certain railroad stocks seemed to indicate they were the object of bear attacks. Large

ENRIGHT INDICTED ON FRAUD CHARGE

Ex-New York Police Com- missioner Named With the Ex-Governor of Oklahoma

Oklahoma City, Jan. 29.—(AP)—A pamphlet "Why Investors Lose in Oil" has led to the indictment of an ex-governor, a former New York police commissioner, an editor and a stock promoter on charges of using the mails to defraud.

J. C. "Jack" Walton, impeached as chief executive of Oklahoma; Richard E. Enright, the ex-commissioner of police; Henry Knight Miller, editor of "Psychology"; and S. E. J. Cox of Oklahoma City were among nineteen persons formally accused by a Federal Grand Jury here yesterday.

They face charges for the operation of the defunct Universal Oil and Gas Company, which went into receivership last year. The trials may be held at the May term of Federal court in Guthrie, Okla.

State's Charge Roy St. Lewis, district attorney, asserted the pamphlet, written by Walton, assisted in building up confidence through which the public was defrauded of $750,000.

Cox and eight others have been free on bond for months. Walton, Enright and Miller have not been arrested.

Enright previously had been questioned in connection with a letter published over his signature by the company. The letter, purporting to be the report of an investigation, said the company was "one of the most profitable in America."

JOHN BARRYMORE ILL
Los Angeles, Jan. 29.—(AP)—John Barrymore, film star, was in bed today under orders of his physician after an attack of laryngitis.

Work on a new film Barrymore is making will be held up until he recovers, probably a week or ten days, studio officials said.

TWELVE OVERCOME IN $45,000 BLAZE

Bridgeport Fire Forces Hotel Guests To Flee For Lives; Ten Firemen Hurt.

Bridgeport, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Although fire department officials will not make their formal investigation until late this afternoon, the origin of the $45,000 blaze which broke out in a shoe store under the Arcade Hotel on Main street last night, forcing 48 guests to flee their rooms, today is blamed unofficially to defective wiring.

Twelve men, ten of them firemen, were either overcome by illuminating gas following an explosion in the cellar of the F. W. Woolworth Company store or were otherwise injured in the blaze.

Started in Shop Believed to have started in the Walk-Over Boot Shop at 1005 Main street the blaze spread to the Woolworth store, to the Arcade Hotel upstairs, to the office of F. H. Beckwith, architect, located on the upper tier of the Arcade, and finally reached the G. W. Fairchild jewelry store before the fire fighters were able to check it.

BEANS FOR THE HUNGRY
Simla, Colo., Jan. 29.—(AP)—This town, in the heart of the Pinto bean region, has contributed a carload of beans for relief of the Arkansas drought sufferers. Beans valued at $1,200 will be shipped Saturday.

Bandit Holds Up Brokaws
In Their 5th Avenue Home

New York, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The invasion of an upper Fifth avenue mansion by an armed robber Tuesday night had the police on the alert today.

The holdup of Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Brokaw, socially prominent, as they sat in their library playing backgammon and the loss of $175 was not revealed by authorities until last night, presumably because of the wealth concentrated in that section.

A well dressed, mild mannered youth called at the Brokaw home that evening. Pointing a revolver at the butler, he said: "Keep quiet and you won't be harmed," the intruder said, "I want money and I want it bad."

TWO PERSONS DIE IN RHODY BLAZE

Five Others Badly Hurt In Woonsocket Fire; Mother Leaps With Her Baby.

Woonsocket, R. I., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Two persons died of burns, and 11 months old boy was fatally injured, and four persons were seriously injured during a general alarm fire in a business and residential block on Social street last night. Search of the ruins was continued through the night in the belief that others might have been trapped in the building.

The dead were William Gendron, 11 months old child, whose skull was fractured when his mother jumped with him from a third story window. Paul Gendron, 3, brother of William, and Isabelle Arsenault, the children's nurse. The latter two died of burns. The mother of the children, Blanche, was taken to the Woonsocket hospital in a critical condition from burns and possible internal injuries sustained when she leapt from the third story window with William in her arms.

Firemen Injured Mrs. Germaine Goyette suffered severe burns and was on the danger list at the hospital, and two firemen, William Gaucher and Eadras Desaulniers, were in serious condition. Gaucher slipped on a section of icy hose and received a concussion of the brain, and Desaulniers nearly drowned when he fell through the flooring into nine feet of water that had collected in the cellar of the building.

Leaps From Window Mrs. Gendron grasped William in her arms and rushed down a flight of flame-swept stairs at the first warning of the blaze. She was scorched as she ran and leapt from a third story window as she saw her escape down the lower stairways cut off. The baby struck its head on a second story roof as his mother fell.

The fire, which caused damage estimated at $100,000, started from an undetermined cause in the basement beneath an automobile salesroom. The entire building, four stories and of brick, was destroyed in less than two hours. The upper three floors housed 20 apartments.

KIDNAPS INFANT AS A LOVE MOVE

Man Tells Police He Hoped Ex-Sweetheart Would Then Marry Him.

New York, Jan. 29.—(AP)—A victim of unrequited love, John M. Weaver, an unemployed electrician, of 8 Newland street, Boston, was arrested early today on a charge of abducting the nine-month old baby of the girl who turned him down.

Weaver was apprehended in an elevated railroad station with the baby son of Helen Quinlan, 20, his former fiancee. He planned to take the child to Boston, today police said, in the hope that the girl would follow him and accept his suit.

While the Quinlan girl and her fiancee, John Kehoe, were out last night, Weaver went to her furnished room and took the child in spite of the protests of the landlady, Mrs. Marvin O'Brien. He intimidated her with a gun, she told police, and left hurriedly. He bought the child a new coat and hat in preparation for the trip.

To Marry Another Questioned later by the police, Miss Quinlan said she had been engaged to Weaver for a time but no longer cared for him. She announced her intention of marrying Kehoe today, admitting he was the baby's father. The girl is a native of Fall River, Mass., and formerly lived with her sister, Mrs. Gertrude Shea, at 190 Mystic avenue, Somerville, Mass.

Caused the Trouble

Gen. S. D. Butler

Trades and Labor Council wrote Gen. D. Wilson, then Navy secretary that the address was Anathematic and inflammatory. The secretary did nothing about it however.

THE GENERAL'S SPEECH Philadelphia, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The speech, which resulted in a general court martial order for Major General Butler, was delivered by him before the Contemporary Club in Philadelphia, January 19, 1926. The general spoke on the possibilities of future wars and in the course of his talk is said to have related a story he said was told him by a friend. According to newspaper reports, the general said this friend told him of an automobile ride he took with Premier Mussolini. During the ride a small child was run over by the car. The friend screamed and Mussolini is alleged to have said "what is one life in the affairs of a state?"

Starts Inquiry The speech attracted no attention until the Italian ambassador at Washington made inquiry of the State Department.

General Butler, whose home is at West Chester, near Philadelphia, is a frequent visitor to this city and often addresses assemblies. He was here last night and spoke at the banquet of the American Wood Preservers' Association. He related some of his experiences in the Marine Corps and wound up by saying that he would like to tell more but that he has so much to answer for now. The general always speaks extemporaneously and mixes his remarks with much humor.

The general while here refused to talk about the speech he delivered on January 19.

JUDGE, JURY SPLIT $3.40 HEART BALM

Rockefeller, Raskob and Others Only Winners In Suit of Perkins vs. Nelson

Sam Nelson, defendant in the heart-balm suit of Jerusha Rugg Perkins, was acquitted by the jury that heard the celebrated case at High School Hall last night, but the verdict was that Sam should come across with the three-forty, but that the forty cents should go to Judge Raymond A. Johnson, who presided, while the three dollars went to the jury. Since the jury included "John D. Rockefeller" and "John A. Raskob" it surprised none of the three or four hundred spectators that big business influences got their work.

The mock-trial, staged by the Masonic Social Club and the Tall Cedars of Lebanon, proved to be extremely good entertainment. Nothing much like I had ever been undertaken in Manchester before, since it was a far more ambitious undertaking than any of the hastily prepared mock trials occasionally scratched together as features of amateur shows.

Jury Out of Luck

The stage was set in a court room, with the jury sitting on an extension into the auditorium—in which fact they were out of luck since they sat with their backs to a draft you could have blown a kite in and will have to spend the three dollars for sniffling remedies today. Judge Johnson was majestic on a bench like a pulpit. The parties to the suit, witnesses, clerk, court officer and attorneys looked real enough so that only a few spectators dared to keep their seats when the judge entered and the court officer commanded, "Everybody Up!"

The only thing lacking was a court stenographer, but that lack in fact makes it impossible to print the testimony in full. The record of the disposition of two or three cases preceding the trial of the breach of promise case. One local citizen pleaded guilty through counsel to a charge of over-exertion but his lawyer pleaded that he had never been known to do it before and could be depended on never to do it again. He got off with a sentence to the old ladies home.

Joshua Throws Switch

The defendant in the big suit was accused of having proposed to his boarding house landlady, "Mrs. Jerusha Rugg Perkins," a year ago and straightaway deserting her. His story was that his attentions had been directed not to Jerusha Rugg Perkins but to Miss Jerusha, Ray Perkins, her niece, and that his ardent love letters, introduced in evidence, were written to the latter. He admitted running fast and far when the Widow Perkins grabbed him and accepted the proposal intended for the niece.

The evidence, the examination and cross-examination of the witnesses the pleas of the attorneys and the charge of the judge were loaded with clever quips, gags and dead-center hits on well known Manchester people.

Hollywood Standards

The witnesses, who included Miss Ruth Helwig as the plaintiff and Miss Marion McLoughlin as the plaintiff's niece; Harlow Willis, Miss Martha Kissman, Mrs. R. P. Knapp and Postmaster Oliver Toop, could hardly have been better picked in Hollywood. They were much better rehearsed than witnesses are ever supposed to be and their examinations never let the laughter cease for more than a moment. Miss Helwig and Samuel Nelson, Jr., could not have been more convincing if they had been in a real court in a real suit as queer as they were supposed to be.

The big parts, aside from the parties to the action, were those of the plaintiff's attorney, E. V. Newton of Worcester, who staged the show, and Principal Clarence P. Quimby of the Manchester High School. They shone with equal sang-froid and what they didn't get away with wasn't much.

Cast Changes

Sickness disarranged the cast to a considerable extent, though the changes that had to be made did not materially affect the success of the affair. William Knoles acted as clerk in place of Thomas Ferguson, who is in Memorial hospital, and Dwight E. Perry, High School instructor, filled the roles of court officer and cleric. The jurors, who masqueraded under names more widely known if no better than their own, including a Coolidge and a Hoover, were: William J. Shea, foreman; James H. Johnson, Samuel J. Turkington, Lewis Sipe, W. W. Robertson, Herman M. Moutie, James O. McCaw, John H. Hyde, Leroy Slocum, E. J. Murphy, Thomas F. Conran and Harold Preston.

TWENTY-NINE DIE IN AN EXPLOSION

another ambulance was on its way to Linton where it was met at the morgue by another crowd of miners' relatives and friends.

"We cannot penetrate the damper far enough to get the boys' bodies," gasped a member of a rescues squad and the cage shot up to the surface. "We cannot touch them until ventilation has been restored."

A brown mongrel dog, his tail tucked beneath his legs, howled dully as it stalked near the mine.

"That's Bedwell's hound," someone remarked. "Followed him to work every day and waited for him to quit. Poor fellow, he'll have a long wait." (Earl Bedwell was rescued soon after the explosion but died in the hospital late last night.)

Inside the office of the mine, located several hundred feet from the shaft, white clad nurses moved about preparing hypodermic needles for use in easing the pain of those who might be brought to the surface alive. Others prepared bandages and other surgical properties. Linton will carry on. The Little Betty, unmindful of the havoc she has wrought, will continue to yield its black cargo. The spirit of the miner, the natives say, is not easily subdued. It might never happen again, they explain.

PEACE IN INDIA IS STILL FAR OFF

National Congress Announces It Is Opposed To Changes Planned.

Allahabad, United Provinces, India, Jan. 28.—(AP)—Members of the working committee of the All-India National Congress, sponsors for the campaign of civil disobedience, revealed at an informal meeting today that they were virtually opposed to British offers of a revised constitutional status for India.

This revised status was evolved substantially at the late London round table conference and was put into effect at the close by Prime Minister MacDonald, who offered India with eventual dominion status qualified with reservations to the British crown of authority in foreign relations, finances and defense.

The Mahatma, Gandhi, leader of the National forces who came here yesterday from Bombay, played a leading role in today's meeting of the working committee, not all of whom have arrived here yet. Their informal decision may postpone peace in India indefinitely.

Some of the more moderate members of the working committee favored the suspension of the present Congress activities, that is to say the civil disobedience campaign, so as to leave the way open for further negotiations with London, but the majority appeared to feel that the premier's offer should be rejected summarily.

Their opposition

These insist that the projected new legislature must control all military expenditures and the country's fiscal policy as respects currency and exchange and that unless an impartial tribunal adjudges a particular debt as necessary to meet the national needs such a debt should be repudiated.

Radical members, including Gandhi himself, argue that the legislature must have absolute control of recruiting employees for all branches of the Indian government service.

Pending the recovery of Motilal Nehru, who next to Gandhi is at the head of the organization, the working committee will not hold a full meeting until Sunday. These informal conversations, however, seem to make it increasingly clear that real peace in India is still a remote prospect.

CONFESS ROBBERIES

New Haven, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Two youths who police said confessed to a series of store robberies after their arrest in company with a third lad last night were ordered held for the Superior Court today when witnesses in city court implicated them in eight crimes.

They were Richard Greatsinger, 22, and Henry Braun, 23. Bonds were set at $25,000 each. The third Chester Thomson, 21, arrested with them when a pursuing police squad trapped them in a state street alleyway had denied participation in the crimes. He was ordered held in bonds of $10,000 and his case continued until Feb. 5, pending further investigation.

Police took revolvers from both Greatsinger and Braun when they were captured last night.

NORTH MERCHANTS RE-ELECT CONRAN

Annual Meeting of Square Business Men Held Last Evening.

Thomas F. Conran was re-elected chairman of the North Merchants' Division of the Chamber of Commerce at the annual meeting at the Community Club last night attended by fourteen members. Karl Keller was elected treasurer and E. D. Murphy, Albert Heller, Joseph Chizius, Mark Holmes, and Lawrence Converse were named to comprise the Executive Committee. The nominating committee consisted of Dante Pagani, Joseph Chizius, and Ernest Roy.

Although this division has only been organized about four months the chairman's report showed that seven projects have been worked upon for the benefit of business or the general improvement of the North End. These projects were: Dollar Day, band concerts, bus waiting station, Armistice Day closing, special tabloid "Call of the North," advertising preventive plan, and Christmas Sales promotion plan.

Under new business an offer of the Knights of Pythias to present a Style and Industrial show at the Hollister Street school. Several of the merchants present could see no possible advantage or profit in such a show but it was left to the Executive committee to learn if enough of the merchants would cooperate and if so, the offer will not be disapproved.

blocks began to appear for sale and the pressure was continuous.

Traced to Source

"When these sales were traced to their source it was found a large institution had determined to liquidate certain railroad stocks which it held as trustee. In order that all its trusts might be treated alike the stocks were pooled and offered for sale in blocks. Although this may have had an unfortunate effect on the market there is no doubt it was done in this manner only in order to preserve equality among the number of trusts for which the institution was acting."

The bull market of 1929 and the declines of 1930, Mr. Whitney asserted, were due largely to the unreasonable optimism of security owners in the prosperity period and to their panicky attitude when depression came. He called for the dissemination of "real information" to our investors so their judgment can be based on facts.

"The primary lessons of the last two years are that the United States is and will continue to be a great industrial country," he said. "Our industrial growth, however, must necessarily be slow and steady and if security prices discount this growth too far in advance there is bound to be a readjustment. On the other hand, it is clear our leading corporations are soundly managed and have been built to endure through bad times as well as good."

AUTO VICTIM DIES

New Britain, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Raymond Hamilton, 6, who was struck by an automobile yesterday near the camp school on Prospect Street, died of internal injuries today at New Britain General hospital. He was crossing the street near the school when he was run down by a machine owned by Louis R. Raphael, a local business man, and operated by Miss Ada Kellish, a domestic employed by Mr. Raphael's home.

The police have taken no action.

The boy was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Hamilton of 61 Chestnut Street.

House Bills

A House bill would create a commission for the construction of the Merrett Boulevard. Members proposed for the commission are: Albert Lavery, Fairfield; Anson Keeler, Norwalk; Miranda N. Pomeroy, Greenwich; Schuyler Merritt, Stamford; Fred Atwater, Bridgeport; John Cavanaugh, Norwalk; Mrs. S. L. Pirrepoint, Ridgefield, and Helen Lewis, Stratford.

Another bill would carry a $4,000,000 appropriation for this project.

Another bill would create a commission of five to survey jails in the state and report to the governor before the next General Assembly.

Norwalk would be permitted to discharge its present engineer of the sewer construction in plant under one bill, while another measure would prohibit the sale and use of fireworks.

The Selectmen of Woodbridge consider the present engineer of the sewer school district of their town be annexed to New Haven and transferred from the 9th to 14th Senatorial District.

Another bill would authorize the governor to name a commission to consider the advisability of making Sherwood Island a state park or resort. An appropriation of $250,000 for purchasing land for this park was included in a second measure.

Taxation Problem

Another commission proposed by Senator Bergin to investigate the taxation problem in the state. This would consist of five experts to be named after the passage of the bill with subpoena powers and to report to the 1933 session. The bill carries an appropriation of $25,000.

The proposal of New Britain to annex portions of adjoining towns offered yesterday in a blanket bill appeared today in separate bills.

Another proposition is to relieve the Foot Guard members to the personal tax after three years service.

A bill to license real estate brokers appeared, as did one to require registration of all stock and security salesmen.

Electricians would be placed under supervision of State Board of Engineers, in another bill and the minimum allowance for loans under the retirement law would be $500.

A petition came for annexation of a part of Woodbridge to New Haven and transfer of that section from the 14th to the 9th Senatorial District.

A commission of seven would be raised to plan for observance of the 30th anniversary of the settlement of Connecticut.

Several bills had to do with the tax on gasoline, one exempting the motor boat owners, and another extending the scope of the law so as to reach certain users of gasoline.

Some Senate Bills

In the Senate among many scores of bills were the following:

Amending the law changing the Greenwich government; to consolidate town and borough in Greenwich; creating a small claims court; to pay Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lucas, of Manchester, expenses of their son, Matthew, who died at Connecticut hospital in 1927.

Declaring contractors who divert funds obtained on a construction mortgage to other purposes guilty of larceny; requiring that all places where hospitalization for the sick shall have a license; establishing the presumption in law in actions to recover for death of a person that said person was in exercise of due care at the time he was killed and placing on the defendant the burden of proof that he was not; naming a board to pass upon academic degrees given by certain institutions; by Senator Hackett, that a city or town may arrange for group insurance of its employees.

W. NEWBERRY, SOUTH WINDSOR; H. ALLEN, BRATTLEBORO; WILLIAM S. HIRSCHBERG, GREENWICH.

Other House Bills were:

Prohibiting parking of automobiles on highways for more than 12 consecutive hours; making attempt to evade responsibility following automobile accident prime facie evidence of negligence; operation; appropriating $25,000 to encourage raising of timbers by farmers and other land owners; prohibiting use by anyone except state police of uniforms resembling those of state police; requiring courts and police of towns to turn over immediately to state treasurer all fees and fines; describing a great seal of the state; prohibiting state's and assistant state's attorney from appearing as counsel in civil cases in counties in which they serve; providing $2,000 for construction of bridges; allowing $5,000 to make Sherwood Island recreation resort; grant state aid to certain airports; providing a police pension fund for Ansonia; authorizing the board of pardons to grant pardons to any person convicted of crime (this would allow parole of life prisoners); changing the bad season to April 25 (or 20th) to June 10 (or 15th).

Miss Cheney's Bill

Miss Cheney, Manchester, offered this bill amending Section 6246 which prohibits the sale of alcohol to minors; "Provided that this section shall not apply to any person using such drug, medical article or instrument on prescription of a legally practicing physician."

Our Judiciary Resolutions were:

R. H. Ireland, C. C. Hegeman, Paul R. Conroy and John T. Dryer, all of Norwalk; William McGrath, Stratford; F. Raymond Rockford and Pierpont B. Foster, Hamden; and J. Gerald Hannan, Greenwich.

Scout Troop Three

After preliminary games the troop lined up and repeated the Scout Oath. The troop was divided into the various groups under the officers of the troop. Gould and Irwin chose and practiced with the obstacle, antipede and slay the snake races. Philip Linnell, troop committeeman extraordinary, gave a good informative talk and drill on map making to an interested class. Mr. Linnell intends to take the group "into the field" to make their map for First Class. Some good games were then run off by the Scoutmaster, after which the troop sat in the form of a council ring and Dave McComb told a thrilling ghost story.

According to the Court of Honor figures, troop three took all the honors for the year 1930, with the awarding of three Life Scouts and three Eagle Scouts' awards. Stuart Joslin of No. 3 took highest honors for the year with 18 merit badges and awards of Star, Life and Eagle badges. Ray Mozer, second with 16 merit badges and Life badge and Ernie Irwin of troop three third with 15 merit badges and Eagle award.

The plans for the Father and Son banquet are well underway. It is planned to have it during the 21st Anniversary Week about Feb. 12 or 13.

IN THE HOUSE

State Capitol, Hartford, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The House today concurred on the deficiency appropriation bill of $1,513,085.81 for the fiscal period ending June 30. The bill was sent to the engrossing clerk. Some minor opposition preceded passage with some dissenting votes from the Democratic side when a viva voice vote was taken on it.

The chief item was $668,349.70 for state agencies and institutions, of which about $500,000 is allocated for payments to towns for state paupers.

Mr. Osborne of Redding, House chairman of the appropriations committee, in response to request made by the Democratic member for an explanation of the paupers' appropriation, said the increase of the number of paupers from 5,000 to 9,000 had resulted in the deficiency. Mr. Jewell (D) of Hampton spoke against the bill and said all the items on it should be investigated.

Other major items were about $200,000 for the Superior and Common Pleas courts; $128,012 for Underhill Sanatorium; $60,000 for the tuberculosis commission; $48,875 for the Connecticut School for Boys; and $83,300 for the board of children in county homes.

THIS WOMAN IN 4 WEEKS LOST 17 POUNDS OF FAT

Here's a letter written October 21, 1929, by Mrs. Fred Barringer of Lewistown, Montana, that ought to be read by every overweight woman in America.

Gentlemen: I started taking Kruschen every morning as directed as I was very much overweight and wanted to reduce.

I had tried going on a diet but would get so hungry that my diet would not last long, so I decided to give "Kruschen Salts" a fair trial. The day I started to take them I weighed 156 lbs. and at present, which has been just four weeks, I weigh 139 lbs. And I must say, I feel better in every way, besides looking much better.

May all large people, both men and women, who want to reduce, in an early way, give Kruschen Salts a trial. I am sure it will convince anyone.

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts four weeks costs but 85c at North End Pharmacy; South Manchester Agents, 1st, Paokard's Pharmacy or any drugstore in America. Take one half teaspoon in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning. To help reduce swiftly cut out pastry and fatty meats and go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar.

Service To Last From Tomorrow Night At 10:30 Until Saturday At 5 A. M.

Services will be held in the Salvation Army Citadel tomorrow night beginning at 10:30 o'clock and lasting until 5 a. m. These meetings are part of the Salvation Army program for the entire territory in keeping with the Pentecost campaign. Adjutant Heard of the Salvation Army invites all denominations to join the Army in the night of prayer.

ALBANIA SHAKEN BY EARTHQUAKES

Many Villages in Ruins; Four Dead and Many Injured

Say First Reports.

Koritza, Albania, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Earthquakes beginning at dawn yesterday and continuing throughout the day, caused considerable destruction in Koritza and vicinity. Four persons at least are dead and many injured.

Seven hundred fifty houses have been destroyed, damaged, or made uninhabitable, and their occupants forced into the open. They have suffered intensely as a consequence of the bitter weather.

The government is organizing airplane provisioning facilities for isolated villages which suffered in the quake.

King To Return

King Zog, seeking medical treatment at Vienna for an inflamed throat, today prepared to return in post haste to Albania to superintend relief for earthquake sufferers which began immediately following the tremors. Troops and civil authorities united to take aid to stricken villagers. Two airplanes were sent from here to survey the stricken area and determine the villages hardest hit.

Villages Ruined

The highly mountainous country south of Lake Preska on the Albanian-Greek frontier was badly damaged. Many villages are inhabited by shepherds and almost without roads. Koritza has a population of 8,000. Nearby towns are Emporia, Pilassa and Merkapoli.

The quakes occurred about the same time as tremors which shook Himmaburg Province in Upper Silesia.

A pensionate for young girls, the museum and new Rumanian church here were completely destroyed by the quake. The electric light plant was badly damaged and "nere were no lights last night. This added to the panic of the populace. Villages hereabout also were without lights.

ST. MARY'S BALL TO TOP RECORDS

Crowd Expected Will Be Greatest In 35 Years, Says Committee.

The 35th annual Masquerade Ball of the St. Mary's Young Men's Club will, in all probability, attract the largest crowd in all its history, due to the fact that the ball this year offers the perfect combination of a spacious floor and a famous orchestra; the former the State Army and the latter Jack Morey's ten piece singing orchestra. And the date is Wednesday evening, February 11.

Last year the ball drew over 700 dancers to Cheney Hall and the limited space of the dance floor made dancing somewhat of a difficulty. No such condition will exist this year and it is expected that close to one thousand dance lovers will gather at the Armory for the 35th renewal of this outstanding social event.

Interest, of course, centers on the race for honors for the most comical men's costume, an event that a certain Harold C. Clenson has won for the past five years. Last year, however he was run a close race and there is much speculation at present as to whether or not Clenson will be able to emerge the winner this year, speculation which time alone will put at rest.

The chairman of the ball is James Dickson and he is surrounded by a committee of sub-chairmen who are working their hardest to put the affair in the "never-to-be-forgotten" class.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks pink, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason your downcast feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blotches. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, acting when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute.

WORK FOR JOBLESS

Hartford, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Close to one million dollars will be expended under contracts for highway projects awarded by State Highway Commissioner Macdonald in the past few days. The bridges are on the list. Work will be expected to begin without delay.

A considerable portion of the contracts call for grading and resurfacing highway. New concrete pavement is also a large item.

RACE IS ARRANGED WITH JOSEPHINE K

Court Wants To Know If Rum Runner Could Have Been Overhauled.

New York, Jan. 29.—(AP.)—The Josephine K., Canadian rum-runner captured after her master had been mortally wounded by a Coast Guard shell, steamed down the bay today to race with the C. G. 145, the ship which sheeled and seized her.

The purpose of the race, which was arranged by the Coast Guard board of inquiry investigating the shelling, was to determine whether the cutter had speed enough to overhaul the rum ship without resorting to direct fire.

This question was injected into the investigation by Gerald Campbell, British consul general in New York, who is participating at the request of the Canadian government.

Commander J. J. Bryan, presiding officer at the inquiry, announced at the opening of today's session that the race would be held.

Fastest Ships The two vessels, one known as one of the fleetest craft in the rum service, the other designed to cope with just such speedsters, were to cover the same two-mile course they raced over Saturday night.

The Josephine K., the board of inquiry was informed, had been put in shape for today's race. Her steering gear was damaged by one of the direct hits scored by Boatwain Karl Schmidt in Saturday's battle.

The board heard testimony before the race from C. G. Birkett, executive officer of the Coast Guard cutter Sebago, who drew up alongside the Josephine K., a few hours after the shelling. He had been summoned by a radio message from the 145.

Birkett testified he checked the position of the rum ship by gyro compass and by radio compass, and determined that she was 11.7 miles offshore.

Gerald Shepherd, representing the British cause, requested that the British side be established that the Josephine K. had been towed back within the twelve mile limit before he reached the scene. The Coast Guard officer did not think she had.

Birkett told the investigators that shortly after the shelling the rum ship he talked with Alfred Cluett, whose brother, Captain William P. Cluett, was killed. The officer said he inspected Alfred Cluett's bank book and was surprised to see a balance of only $50.

"I told him he must be a newcomer to this business," Birkett testified, "and he said, 'this is my first and last trip.'"

ANNOUNCE HIGHWAY CONTRACT AWARDS

Stretch Between This Town and Rockville To Be Built By Providence, R. I. Firm. Highway Commissioner John A. Macdonald today announced the award to successful bidders of eleven of the thirteen highway projects upon which early in the month the highway department received the largest number of bids in its history.

The contracts, which include approximately one million dollars worth of work, cover the first of the projects which Commissioner Macdonald has pushed several months ahead of their scheduled time in order to relieve the unemployment situation. Two bridges are covered in this letting.

In announcing the contract awards, Commissioner Macdonald stated that work on all of the projects will be started immediately under the contract specifications which require the successful bidders to inaugurate operations within ten days of notification. Notification to proceed was given simultaneously with the contract awards.

Employment on all of the projects will be handled directly by the contractors and not through the highway department. Application for work should therefore be made to the contractors and not to department officials. Contractors will be required to employ as far as possible, men living in the sections of the state where the work is being carried on.

The awards were as follows: Town of Chaplin an Eastford: About 30,885 feet of reinforced concrete on Route 101, Willimantic-Putnam via Eastford, to L. Suzio Construction Company, Meriden.

Town of East Windsor: About 7,490 feet of bituminous macadam on Route 507 to D. Massili, Bloomfield.

Town of Litchfield: A reinforced concrete bridge and approaches over the Bantam river on the Torrington-Litchfield road to John DeMichele and Eric Torrington.

Towns of Rockville and Manchester: About 6,835 feet of reinforced concrete pavement on the Manchester-Rockville road, Route 108 to M. A. Gammon Construction Company, Providence, R. I.

Town of Milford: About 14,505 feet of grading and drainage on the Milford Cut-off to Arbrore Road Construction Company, Hartford.

Towns of New Milford and Washington: About 31,600 feet of reinforced concrete pavement on Litchfield road, Route 128 to Osborn-Barnes Company, Danbury.

Town of Sharon: About 1,200 feet of traprock waterproof macadam at the Schley corner on the Sharon-Amenia Union road to Chas. Smith, Derby.

Town of Stamford: About 17,795 feet of reinforced concrete pavement on the High Ridge road to Paul Bacco, Stamford.

Town of Thompson: A concrete encased plate girder bridge and approaches over the Quinnebaug river on the North Woodstock-Quinnebaug road to Joseph McCormick, East Providence, R. I.

Town of Washington: About 9,362 feet of grading and native gravel surface on the Litchfield road, Route 128 to Arbrore Road Construction Company, Hartford.

STATE'S UNPAID TAXES

Hartford, Jan. 29.—(AP.)—Unpaid taxes due to the state of Connecticut aggregate $18,000,000, State Tax Commissioner W. H. Blodgett told a gathering here yesterday. He said that delinquents are not all poor and experience was that many property owners who pay taxes are themselves overly prosperous but regard payment of taxes as a first obligation. He also said that apparently many persons who are delinquent in paying taxes are also delinquent in paying their personal obligations.

THREE BOUND OVER IN DEATH OF GIRL

Two Rockville Men and One Hartford Youth Held For Superior Court Trial.

(Special to the Herald) Rockville, Jan. 29.—Dr. Edward A. Brace of Ellington, Druggist Arthur G. Vincent of Rockville and Joseph Drohan of Hartford, were bound over to the March term of the Tolland County superior court here today by Judge E. Flak who found probable cause on the abortion charge which each faces as an outgrowth of the death of Miss Constance M. Vincent, popular Rockville girl who died last Saturday night on the way to St. Francis hospital in Hartford following peritonitis which developed after an illegal operation.

All three men entered pleas of not guilty through their counsel. Dr. Brace was represented by Attorney Robert Flak of Stafford, the girl's father by Attorney William S. Hyde of Manchester and Drohan the young man who worked with Miss Vincent in the Hartford Steam Boiler and Inspection Company, and who is alleged to have furnished the money for the operation, was represented by Attorney Max Rosenfeld of Hartford. Assistant Prosecuting Attorney John B. Thomas officiated against the three men.

No testimony was heard. The session was brief. After the charge had been read and the pleas entered, Judge Flak wasted little time in executing the formality of binding the defendants over to the next term of superior court. The bonds were allowed to stand at $2,000 for Dr. Brace and $1,500 for each of the other two men. The court room was crowded with spectators to hear the session this morning and to see the principals in the case.

LEGIONNAIRES TO GREET NATIONAL COMMANDER

Auxiliary Members Also Plan To Attend Big Banquet In Hartford February 10.

National Commander Ralph O'Neil of the American Legion, and the national president of the auxiliary, Mrs. Wilma Hoyal, both of Kansas, will be guests of the department of Connecticut all day Tuesday, February 10. At 12 noon the American Legion Post of New Britain will give a luncheon in their honor at the Hotel Burrill, New Britain. An interesting program is planned for the afternoon by the post, district and department officers.

In the evening of February 10 a banquet will be given at the Hartford club at 7:30. Members of the American Legion auxiliary who desire to make reservations for either the luncheon or banquet at the Hartford club, at $3.00 per person, should get in touch with Mrs. T. E. Broeman before the first of February. Legionnaires themselves should get in touch with Commander Frank E. Bray by Saturday.

MACCABEES ESTABLISH HARTFORD QUARTERS

Great Commander Walter K. Blewett of the Knights of the Maccabees, announces that the order has established state headquarters in Hartford at Room 224, the Capitol Bank building, 410 Asylum street. Mr. Blewett who resides on Oxford street this town, will have with him at the Hartford headquarters, Assistant Great Commander John S. Griffin, who gives his full time to the work in Connecticut and makes his home in Hartford.

The home office of the organization is still in Detroit, and while in September of 1929 there were only 11 great camp states, the Maccabees have now designated all states as in that category, the aim having been to establish headquarters for state representatives in the capital of each state or some other centrally located city.

BUCKLAND SETBACK

The final sitting of the Buckland Setback Tournament will be held this evening and it is conceded that the All Stars will carry off the honors. They are unfortunate in the fact that they are not to receive the full award of the tournament. Last year the team now known as the All Stars were known as Hackett's No. 2 and as they wished to play this year the No. 1 team "put them in," which means that they allowed them to enter. As a result of this the Hackett team, according to Manager Gustavo Magnuson, is to receive twenty-five per cent of the gross before the expenses are deducted and the remaining seventy-five per cent is to go to the winners. From these figures it would indicate that the second team in the tournament is to receive a greater amount of prize money than the real winners.

HEBRON

The usual sermon was omitted at the morning service at St. Peter's church on Sunday last, owing to the fact that the reader in charge, Allen L. Cary, was suffering a partial loss of voice from the effects of a severe attack of grip, which kept him in nearly a week. In the evening a short candle lighting service was carried out in a pleasing way by the junior choir. A feature of this ceremony was the presenting of a lighted candle to each person in the congregation by the choir members. At the close of the service those present carried the lighted taper through the streets to their homes. Not all succeeded in reaching their destination with the candles still alight, but there were some who did. Afterwards the candles were placed in the windows of the homes.

Many local people availed themselves of the privilege of hearing Gault's "Holy City", repeated at the Columbia Congregational church Sunday evening. The Christmas endeavor services at Hebron Center and at Gilead were omitted on that account. Quite a number of local singers took part in the singing of the oratorio, which was directed by Arthur R. Gillette who has been confined to his home for the past week with a severe attack of grip.

The Hopevale Seventh Day Advent service was omitted on Saturday, those of the members who were able to do so attending a Sabbath convention in New London at that time.

There will be a service of Holy Communion at St. Peter's church on Sunday next, Feb. 1, a clergyman from Christ church, Cathedral officiating. Mr. Carr, the reader in charge, has instituted the Sunday evening services again, after the lapse of quite a number of years, except on occasional instances. The services are held in the church, at 7:30 p. m., with a short address and music by the junior choir, assisted by the regular choir members.

Bearers at the funeral service for the late Mrs. Frank R. Post, which occurred on Sunday at St. Peter's Episcopal church at 2 p. m., were her nephews, Edmund Horton of Hebron, Daniel G. Horton of New Haven, her step-son, F. Elton Post of Hebron, Clifford R. Perry, also of Hebron, her great nephew, Edmund Holcomb of Simsbury, and Mr. Al Lewis of Hebron. Mrs. Post was organist. Hymns sung were "Abide With Me" and "Jerusalem the Golden." Interment was in the family lot in St. Peter's cemetery. The Rev. Frederick Williams, rector of St. Paul's church, Willimantic, officiated. Mrs. Post was greatly loved and respected by her many friends here and elsewhere, and is sincerely mourned by them. The floral tributes were many and beautiful.

The annual meeting of the Hebron Library Association was held at the library building Tuesday evening. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Charles J. Douglas, who was unable to be present, the vice-president, Edward G. Hilding, secretary Mrs. Josephine Martin, treasurer, directors to serve two years, Mrs. Marietta Horton, Miss C. E. Kellogg, Edward A. Smith, Mrs. Edmunda H. Horton, Miss Susan B. Pendleton. The various reports were read and accepted. The librarians report showed that for the year 1930 was a banner year for gifts. Hilding Brothers placed posts and wire fence between the library and school house without charge. The women's bridge club gave a sign for the library, and paid for its being placed. The Colchester Library gave a set of Encyclopedia Britannica which had been discarded as that library has purchased a new set. This is practically as good as new for almost any purpose, and is much appreciated. A number of magazines have also been given to the library. These include The National Geographical Magazine, by Miss Victoria Hilding, "Asia", by Mrs. Marietta Horton, Ladies Home Journal, by Mrs. Howard O. Thompson, and "Horticulture", by Mrs. Mary E. Mitchell. The boxes of selected books have been sent to the schools of the town as usual. The circulation of books was 5,216 which is an increase over the previous year. The number of books in the library is 4,071, 83 having been added during the past year. There are 440 borrowers. The largest number of books taken out in any month of the past year was in January, when 232 were in circulation. The smallest number was in August, with 203 taken out. The treasurer's report showed that actual money spent

READING LAMPS NEXT FROM THE NEON LIGHT

New York, Jan. 28.—(AP.)—The Neons of the display street signs are coming indoors as reading lamps. An invention making this possible was announced today by Leroy P. Sawyer, vice-president of Claude Neon Lights.

Neon lights are produced by passing an electrical current, without use of filaments, through gas filling an air-tight bulb or tube. The color comes directly from the glowing gas, and changes according to the gas used. Neon is always red, but all other colors are available in other gases.

For the indoor neons Mr. Sawyer said white light will be used in addition to colors. Hitherto high voltages have been required to electrify the gas to the point of glowing. The invention is a device for lighting the neon gas chambers with ordinary house current. Mr. Sawyer said four years have been spent perfecting the low voltage apparatus.

Reduced glare is claimed. "It is possible," Sawyer said, "to look directly into the exposed tube for several minutes and turn immediately to read fine print without undue eye strain."

Mr. Sawyer said there is also a reduction in heat of about 40 per cent, and considerably less power required to produce colored light, as the colors come directly from the gas without glass filters cutting down any of the illumination.

CHENEY MEN TO HEAR ABOUT TYPEWRITERS

Executive of Underwood Company To Address Next Get-Together Club Session February 17.

Cheney employees will hear some of the problems and achievements of a neighborhood industry at the next Get Together Club meeting Feb. 17. G. W. Campbell of the Underwood Elliott Fisher Co. of Hartford will describe the making and selling of the famous typewriters. He will tell about the kinds of finished products the company puts on the market, the approximate volume under normal conditions, the amounts and kinds of raw material consumed, and the extent to which the products are exported to foreign countries.

The difficulties which modern business encounters in the problem of quick delivery and the effect of hand-to-mouth buying on stability of employment—problems in which Cheney employees are also interested—will be touched upon. He will bring to light many interesting facts about one of Connecticut's leading industries.

An entertainment will also be given and a roast turkey dinner will be served at 6. The Auxiliary Division, which has plenty of talent in its ranks, is in charge. This will be the first meeting under the regime of the new officers with Karl Johnson conducting the meeting in its capacity of president. It is expected that this meeting will attract a turnout rivaling that of last month when 220 men visited the Bon Ami factory.

STALIN MAKES APPEAL

Moscow, U. S. S. R., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Seriousness of the Soviet Union's railway problem was emphasized today with an appeal of Joseph Stalin to the Communist Party and trade unions to help work out the dilemma, and a government order to effect reorganization of the railways not later than February 20.

M. Stalin's appeal is addressed to the party and all economic trade unions and calls upon them for complete co-operation in solving the problem.

The appeal calls for raising of the wages of railway men, better food and clothing and other necessities for them and for the construction during the present fiscal year of 1,028 locomotives against 612 in 1929 and 60,000 freight cars against 17,000 in 1929.

It is suggested that in the reorganization of the railway management that the supply of engineers and skilled workers be increased, and that efforts be made toward better discipline, better work, and a general increase in efficiency of workers.

DAILY RADIO PROGRAM

Thursday, January 29.

A dramatic sketch based on the first railroad train in New York State—the DeWitt Clinton—will be presented as an early evening W.E.A.F. network feature Thursday at 7:30. Appropriate to the occasion of the musical number on the program have been selected because they were either written, or at the height of their popularity, in 1821. The W.E.A.F. chain highlights will be broadcast at 9:30. "Robbie" Burns, famous Scotch poet, will be dramatized in radio reincarnation, while compositions of Mozart, the German composer, will be utilized in the musical part of the program. A famous operatic quartet, the International Singers, will broadcast at 9:30 through the W.E.A.F. group of stations and will sing "Old Man River" and selections from "Pirates of Penzance." Hits from "Blossom Time," "The Desert Song," "The New Moon," and "Maytime," all musical shows written by Sigmund Romberg—will be featured by Don Voorhees' orchestra and Frank Parker, tenor, in WJZ's best bet of the evening at 9:30. The Columbia chain offers a brief program by the Piano Twins and Rich's orchestra at 8:15 and a detective story thriller at 9:30 as their outstanding broadcast.

Wave lengths in meters on left of station title, kilocycles on the right. Times are all Eastern Standard. Black face type indicates best features.

QUARTER MILLION TO SING ON AIR

Operatic Star Signs Up For That Sum Twice a Week For a Year.

New York, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The amount of money involved in some of the contracts signed by broadcast artists apparently is to have no limit.

Such sums as $100,000 for a 26 weeks period by Maurice Chevalier, $5,000 per broadcast by Will Rogers and even the $15,000 Jascha Heifetz was reported to have received for a single broadcast seems to have been topped.

It's the amount involved in the contract by Mme. Frances Alda, former operatic soprano to appear once a week on a W.E.A.F. group and once a week on WJZ and stations for a total of 104 fifteen-minute periods.

A statement issued today said: "The quarter of a million dollars exclusive contract under which Frances Alda broadcasts twice a week over a period of 52 weeks was made by her with the Hudson Radio Program Corporation, division of the Columbia Concerts Corporation, and signed January 8."

This series began last week.

LOOKING UP AT NIAGARA'S NEW FACE

This picture shows how Niagara Falls' changed contour line looks from below—the view that tourists who take the "Maid of the Mist" trip next summer will get. Film Magnates Enter Stage Field To Develop Play Hits And Actors

By Gene Cohn
 NEA Service Writer

New York, Jan. 29.—For a couple of years, the talking picture magnates have put on false mustaches when they got to Broadway and feigned ignorance of an alliance with the legitimate stage.

They would tell you with serious faces that they were willing to bid on any good play, but that they were not tossing their millions into experiments in the show business.

All of which was what they call "hoop hereabouts." The fact is that half a dozen musical shows were staged by cinema coin and when the musical revue vogue ceased in pictures, several were left "holding the sack."

Three Million Persons Come To Work Daily To Manhattan Alone.

By Deming Seymour

New York, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Two islands, part of another and a smoot of mainland—that's New York city, home in 1930 of 6,530,446 people.

Thrust the point of a compass into City Hall park and draw a circle with a thirty-mile radius helping yourself to a segment of New Jersey and scraping a corner of Connecticut. That is the "Metropolitan Area"—from which three million persons come to work daily on the island of Manhattan.

Within that circle in New Jersey alone are such stalwart cities as Newark with half a million inhabitants, Jersey City with 550,000, Paterson with 150,000.

STOCK TROLLEY TRUCK CRASH AS WARNING

Stockless Uses Fatal Accident Here As Example of Uncommon Type That Makes Hazard.

STOCK TROLLEY TRUCK CRASH AS WARNING

"Once in so often some type of motor vehicle accident, in which uncommon elements appear, attracts attention and directs thought to a mistake which may recur often enough to make a hazard," said Commissioner of Motor Vehicle Robert B. Stoekel in a bulletin, prepared in the interests of highway safety, today. "Such an accident was one which occurred recently in Manchester when two large trucks, one behind the other, stopped temporarily to adjust some faulty mechanism on the first vehicle. The accompanying truck parked improperly over trolley tracks. A trolley car came along, ran into the truck, and pushed it into the one ahead which ran over one of the men and killed him. Another man was also injured.

RAID NIGHT CLUBS

New York, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Initiating a new onslaught on night life, detectives raided two midtown night clubs last night and arrested the proprietors of each on liquor charges.

Watch Your Diet, Avoid Fatigue If You Would Dodge Flu

Editor's note: This is the second of three articles written especially for the Herald and NEA Service by Dr. Morris Fishbein, noted authority on how to avoid influenza and its greatest contributory cause, the common cold. The series is especially timely in view of influenza epidemics reported in various cities.

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

DON'T venture out unless properly protected against weather.

The winter months are the season of coughs and colds. These represent today the most common complaints from which human beings suffer and lead the cause of absence from work in most industrial plants.

In giving advice as to how colds may be prevented, modern hygienists demand first of all that human beings be kept in the best possible condition. This means good hygiene, including proper food, adequate rest and sleep, a sufficient amount of water and exercise. It is probably equally important that the human being be not exposed to undue chilling or moisture.

It is doubtful that there is any specific drug, vaccine, serum, medicine or physical apparatus that is of particular benefit in preventing a cold. Various vaccines are used by many physicians because they are convinced that they help to build up resistance, but the majority of physicians are not yet convinced of the value of this measure.

Vitamins Are Needed
The general impression is that the human being needs both vitamins A and D to help resist colds. Vitamin A can be had through egg yolk, butter and the leafy vegetables and vitamin D is found richly in cod liver oil.

It is, of course, realized that the average human being in the temperate zone does not get enough sunlight during the winter months, and cold. If he coughs, he will add to the diagnosis laryngitis and bronchitis. If his nose runs profusely, he will say he has a cold in the head or coryza.

How Epidemic Arises
If the whole attack is very severe, he says he has the grip, and when everybody in the community suffers at the same time, the condition is known as epidemic influenza.

Dr. Harry Beckman feels that chilling of the body and excessive fatigue probably are associated with the tendency to colds. Quite certainly the crowding together of large numbers of people helps to spread the disease, but it seems unlikely that the spread of the disease could be controlled merely through shutting up large places of entertainment, study or work.

It has been suggested that gauze masks be worn in times of epidemic, but again the opportunity for contact is so great that it is questionable as to whether the gauze mask used on a community scale really controls the spread of the condition. This applies also to the use of antiseptic nasal sprays.

The best advice that physicians can give is to get to bed as soon as possible and to stay in bed as long as the symptoms are acute. TOMORROW: How to dress in winter to avoid colds and influenza.

There will be a social hour and refreshments.

Friendly Class.
The Friendly Class of Union church will meet in the social rooms of the church next Wednesday evening. There will be a social hour and refreshments.

Notes.
Hathaway-Miller Post, American Legion, of Ellington, will hold a dance on Saturday evening.

John Smith, for many years employed as caretaker on the farm of William Bowler at Crystal Lake, was taken to the New Haven hospital on Tuesday in a serious condition.

Miss Cella Kellnoise, a nurse at the Hartford Municipal hospital, is ill of pneumonia.

The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church will meet Friday at the home of Mrs. Walter Plummer.

LYNCH SLAYER OF SIX

Shafer, N. D., Jan. 29 -- (AP) -- Charles Bannon, 22, confessed slayer of six members of the A. E. Havel family, was lynched by a mob here early today.

Overpowering a deputy sheriff, the mob broke into the Schafer jail, took Bannon to a bridge two miles east of here and hanged him. James F. Bannon, father of Charles, also held in connection with the slaying, was not harmed.

Members of the crowd removed the younger Bannon from his cell and spirited him away in automobiles.

Sheriff F. A. Thompson, aroused by the commotion also was seized and tied up.

The crowd indicated that the elder Bannon would not be harmed and he was not taken from the jail.

Hartford Furniture Store Establishes Lowest Price Level In History of Business

Present Market Conditions Throughout the Country Turned into Advantage for the Public.

This country has never experienced so many profitable buying opportunities as exist right now. Prices have dropped to their lowest level. While this may be a disadvantage to manufacturers, it is a distinct advantage to the public.

Garber Brothers' furniture store, 120 Morgan street, Hartford, in pursuing their policy of bringing to their customers the greatest value advantages, have accomplished a merchandising feat that may never again be equaled.

In the recent furniture markets, Mr. David Garber made special purchases of high grade furniture at considerably less than the cost of manufacture. These new purchases, comprising the latest furniture styles, have been added to the store's tremendous stock of fine furniture and are being offered in their entirety in the February Furniture Sale. Everything in the store has been drastically reduced. Every price tag tells a convincing story of the lowest price level at which good furniture has been sold in a great many years.

DAVID GARBER

Garber Brothers, being located at Morgan street, corner of Market, Hartford, out of the high rent district, naturally save a great many thousands of dollars each year in rental alone. This low overhead and other economic features of operating their business naturally has its effect in making Garber Brothers' prices considerably lower than they would have to charge were they located on the main thoroughfare. These economic conditions, combined with the new low price level, present to the buying public the value-opportunity of a generation... an opportunity to furnish beautiful new homes, to make their present homes more comfortable with furniture of guaranteed quality, and distinctive styles at real worthwhile savings.

It will pay you handsomely to visit Garber Brothers and see for yourself the new and greater buying power of your dollar. —ADV.

TOLD BY BUTLER

Western Man Heard Young Vanderbilt Describe the Mussolini Incident.

Portland, Ore., Jan. 29--(AP)—Clarence H. White, manager of a Portland lyceum booking concern, said today Premier Mussolini was accused as a hit-and-run driver by Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., before a small group in New York in November, 1930.

Commenting on the official attention given a speech of Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, referring to the incident, White related he heard Vanderbilt's story at the Vanderbilt hotel.

"The story told by General Butler about Mussolini's reckless driving and his actions after running over a little girl is true, to that description," White said.

"Vanderbilt was telling how he had made a wager that he could interview certain prominent Europeans."

Taken On Tour
"He was successful in approaching Mussolini and the premier invited him on a four days' tour of Italy. Mussolini preferred to drive his own machine."

"One day while driving at a high rate of speed, they came to a sharp turn in the road with a high wall facing them. Despite the speed, Mussolini made the turn and escaped the wall. Just as they were swinging around the turn, a little girl ran out into the road. The machine ran over her, Vanderbilt said, but Mussolini continued on."

"Vanderbilt said he protested and suggested they stop, but Mussolini passed it off with a gesture and remarked that they did not have time or something similar to that."

White said other persons present when Vanderbilt told the story included General Butler, Louis J. Albers, Cleveland, O., E. Stephenson, Chicago; M. C. Turner, Dallas, Texas; F. M. Nielsen, Pittsburgh, and E. A. Wicks, Boston.

ANDOVER

Mrs. Florence Platt, visited her sister, Mrs. Joseph Brunell in Burnside Sunday.

Lewis Phelps, state auditor, spent Monday at Storrs College.

Mrs. Ward Talbot spent Monday with relatives in Manchester.

The topic for the Christian Endeavor meeting Sunday evening is "The Young People's Society in the Program of the Church," Timothy: 2:1-15. (Young People's Day). Herbert Thompson, Sr., leader.

Mr. and Mrs. Tryon Smith of Hartford were recent callers on the former's mother, Mrs. Janet Smith. Muriel and Edna Shatz and Eleanor and Wynell Covell attended a birthday party Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Shatz of East Hartford.

Miss Evelyn Shatz spent the week end in Hartford.

ROCKVILLE

For Safe Skating.

The children of Rockville may have a safe place for skating. At the meeting of the Common Council on Tuesday night, Councilman William R. Dowling brought up the matter and the public works committee was authorized to provide such a skating place. The Burke lot on Windsor avenue and the Bradley lot at the upper end of the town were both suggested. The owners are said to be willing to cooperate in having the places flooded.

Alderman George Sheets, the new member of the council, brought up the matter of having a grandstand built at Henry Park for the benefit of the Rockville baseball teams. This proposition was also turned over to the public works committee for investigation.

Councilman Walter Draycott was the only absentee at the meeting. All bills were ordered paid and one petition was granted, that for a two story chicken coop at 65 High street, 12x46. The petition was sent in by Joseph Stepp.

Lions' Club Speaker.

Gaylord W. Douglas, New England secretary of the National Council for Prevention of War, was the speaker at the meeting of the Rockville Lions' club at the Rockville House last evening. For many years Mr. Douglas was an educational leader in New England, serving as teacher and headmaster in both public high schools and private college preparatory schools. He was headmaster of Wilbraham Academy from 1912 to 1920. Mr. Douglas has had European contacts which lead him to understand certain institutions like the League of Nations and the World Court, as well as the spirit and ideals of European clubs abroad. It was on this latter subject Mr. Douglas touched on last evening.

The meeting opened with a supper at 6:30, followed by routine business and the interesting talk by Mr. Douglas.

Play Date Changed.

The three act comedy "Corporal Eagen" will be staged at the Sykes Auditorium on Monday and Tuesday evenings, February 10 and 11, instead of February 9 and 10. Miss Ruth Hickok is busy selecting the cast for the play. Carl Goering is to play the role of "Red," or "Corporal Eagen." Red's Jewish buddy, Izzy Goldstein, will be played by Carlo Gesualdi. Miss Beatrice Cady will be "Sally," Red's sweetheart; Mrs. Alice Covey, as a war worker, loses her heart to many rookies. Other important roles will be taken by Peck Yost as "Izzie's" father, Speed Weber and Rev. William F. Tyler. Rehearsals are being held at Wesleyan hall nightly.

Picture at Church.

FOR GINGER'S SAKE
by ETHEL HUESTON
© 1930 THE BOBBS-MERRILL CO.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Life never dull with GINGER ELLA TOLLIVER around. When she was a child of three she got a new idea. Thus she suggested a Junior Country Club to the younger set of Red Thrush, Iowa, from utter boredom. It was to be exclusive—no parents, no babies. Accordingly GINGER, whose father was a minister but whose stepmother, the former PHIL VAN DOORN, was both wealthy and indulgent, purchased the Mill Rush farm, a 10-acre tract with an old house on it, which she proceeded with the assistance of the friends, to overhaul and furnish.

Red Thrush seized the idea with enthusiasm. The younger set would point Iowa nights a deep rose red. One day, while the rehabilitation of the club house was going on, an artist called at the Tolliver kitchen and offered to do a portrait of GINGER in exchange for a meal. For he had shayed off his beard, GINGER found to her amazement that he was both young and good looking. And he had talent. He had studied in Paris, and his name was BARD HOLLOWAY.

GINGER, never at a loss for ideas, thought it would be a good one if Bard remained a will in Red Thrush. She would see that he got enough commissions for portraits, which would be better than hobnobbing through the country, and he could do the mural decorations at the new club house. So, very cleverly, she got her stepmother to prevail on Bard to accept an invitation to stay at the Tollivers', and with this accomplished she took him to Mill Rush and got him started on the decorations.

Bard thought "Jole de Vivre" would be a good name for the club. It was adopted. And he thought it would be splendid if they could import NICOLO CALLENO from Chicago. For Nicolo was handsome and he could cook and sing and play a guitar. He would make a picturesque addition to the club. He would be a knockout on the opening night, for which a dinner dance was planned. So he sent for Nicolo. But on the morning of the dance he had arrived at the Tollivers' not an Lat-in youth, but what seemed to be an army of them.

CHAPTER XIV
The strangers did not listen. They had a letter to come to Red Thrush, they had taken the cab at the station and instructed and it had brought them to this house. Before them they perceived an open door, which was symbolic of the welcome they had anticipated.

They urged noisily forward. Iry, now re-entranced by Hamill, drove them back.
But when GINGER and Bard ran bravely down the flagstone path the defense yielded and a wave of laughing, gesticulating, joyous Italian engulfed them. Bard planted himself between the onrush and the astonished GINGER.

"See here," he demanded. "What does this mean? Where did you come from? Where is Nicolo?"
They shouted loud explanations in cheerful Italian, proffering a letter, the very letter which had brought them hither, and which had explained to GINGER that Nicolo was Bard's own letter to Nicolo and explained nothing.

When he protested his unwillingness to accept it as a card of admission, it appeared they knew a little English, but Italian and they drew a come by the letter, and ended with a triplicate of the telling Mediterranean shrug which says so much.

Bard was implacable. "You can't speak English? Then we don't want you. Back in the car with you—take them to the train. Iry—ship them right off to Chicago!" he ordered hotly. "We don't understand Italian."
Thus driven into a corner, it developed that they knew a little English, could perhaps succeed in making themselves faintly understood. And in a few surprisingly well-worded and grammatical sentences they explained that Nicolo could not come, that he had a job, a very good job, in a speakeasy which the union did not control.

Not being able to accept the invitation himself, he had generously passed it on to them, his particular chosen and bosom friends and boon companions.

"But why three of you?" ejaculated the badgered artist. "We only wanted one."
No matter! He could have three for the price of one. Wer, not six hands better than two? They were boon companions, they could not be separated, and as proof they embraced one another.
They wished to see the country, they had never before heard of Iowa, they needed a change from Chicago. They would sleep three in one bed and work all for the price of one. There was plenty of room in the attic. GINGER, eager to relieve Bard of the terrific responsibility thus thrust upon him.
At the sound of her small voice, with the usual Latin partiality of her sex, especially a pretty one, they surrounded her in a large, perspiring, laughing flood.

They bowed, they beamed, they kissed her hand. They swore they would serve her for nothing, they would work as men and for practically nothing but her smile, with the exception of a little food, a place to sleep and perhaps a piece of change now and then.
Little Angelo, there, was a musician. He could play the piano so it would stir your heart-strings like the harps in heaven. Also he could play the violin, but alas, he had no violin. Also he would wait on the table, and was very handy about the grounds.
Pietro was a cook. He could cook dishes for the palates of the gods and Italians, than which there is no better taste. He required almost nothing in the way of ingredients, and he was sanitary and so hygienic as to put the average Board of Health to shame.

Benito—it was Benito who did almost all the talking—Benito, in a great smite that engulfed his immense features like a tidal wave, announced that he was a singer.
"Do you suppose we really can sing?" whispered GINGER.
Benito heard her. The tide of smiles receded from his face.
With a large wave of his moist hand he swept his colleagues away from him, drew back a step or two to allow for the proper expansion of his perfect lungs, and suddenly, like a great torrent, he deluged them with the strains of O Sole Mio, rising into greater and gladder creations that brought Phil and her husband, and at a distance, Gooby, rushing to the door.
GINGER covered her ears with her hands. "Stop him!" she called to Bard but Bard was powerless.

"Stop him," she cried to Iry Ford, who was doubling up on the running-board, helpless with laughter.
She appealed to his fellow countrymen. But they were standing back rapidly, heads lifted heavenward, softly beating time with one hand on the other.
"O sole mio," exulted the great voice, and died away at last, like the reverberations of summer thunder, into a pleased laugh of self-satisfaction. "Could he sing?"
Amazedly, Phil and Mr. Tolliver approached the strange group.
"GINGER, my poor child," began Phil, but stopped as the three newcomers surged forward to kiss her hand.
"Phil," cried the harassed girl, half weeping, "I meant it for a surprise, and it hasn't turned out all right."
"Surprises so often don't," said her father gravely.
"We only wanted one," explained Bard nervously. "A small, pretty chap I knew in Chicago. He plays and sings, just a youngster. We never anticipated an invasion like this. We—we are terribly disappointed."
"So are we," agreed Phil, with difficulty restraining his laughter. "Tell me, dear," she said to her husband, "does the paragon also share its bed and board with black shirts?"
"Oh, Phil, darling," protested GINGER, "we don't expect them to stay here. We'll send them out to the Jole-de-Vivre for a few days and then hustle them back to Chicago. They can't stay here."
And she tried to meet one little Italian boy and take him right out, but when the Roman Army descended upon him he thought he'd better come and ask me about it."
"Quite wisely," approved her father.
Ginger though shocked, rallied quickly. "As long as they make use of them. They say that Pietro can cook. Let him. We'll order a barrel of macaroni and specialize on Italian dishes."
"We'll dress Angelo up like a baby Mussolini in masquerade and let him wait on table. And I think if we take this Grand Opera across the river his singing will make a pleasant music for us in the interludes of dancing."
"We can't waste them, now they're here. Take them out, Iry, and tell Jenky to put them right to work. Turn the attic over to them."
And she returned wearily to the dining room table to ask for much, much stronger coffee.
GINGER ELLA did not usually bother herself greatly on the subject of clothes. She was far more interested in what she should eat than where-withal she should be clothed.
In the earlier and more stringent paragon days she had been bound by certain rigid regulations as to Sunday and every-day dresses and shoes, but in her new sartorial affluence the days of the week were as one to her. So, also were dresses. Such preference as she had was all for the thing that could be got into, and out of, with the least exertion of time and effort.
A sudden scrupulous attentiveness to details of dress is the unflinching weather-vane of a young girl's fancy.
On the occasion of the formal dance at Jole de Vivre, all of a sudden the color, cut and character of clothes took on significance to GINGER.

HEALTH
WATER IS THE BEST OF DRINKS, PROVIDING IT'S BEEN PURIFIED
BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine
The old poem which began, "Pure water is the best of drinks," puts into rhyme one of the truest statements known to expert physiologists and hygienists.
Today this fundamental fact of sanitation is so definitely recognized that every community does everything possible to secure a supply of pure water and to keep it pure. In order to have the water hygienically safe, clear, tasteless, odorless, and without a sufficient amount of dissolved salts to corrode pipes through which it passes, it is necessary to study carefully all of the sources of water supply.
Unfortunately, not every community can be near enough to a perfect source of water supply to be sure that it will have one. Under the circumstances it is necessary to do the best that can be done with the supply that is available.
From the hygienic standpoint, freedom from germs and poisonous materials is of the utmost importance. This is accomplished by avoiding contamination of the water supply from human sewage, and by making sure that the tanks and pipes through which the water passes are not possible sources of lead contamination.
In order to keep water clear, it sometimes has to be filtered because visible dirt is unappetizing and even dangerous, since it will cover signs of bacterial growth. Because of the fact that most of the water used in the middle west is derived from surface water, it is likely to be turbid and dirty and therefore require some filtration.
Good clear water has neither taste nor odor whereas turbid and cloudy water is likely to have both taste and odor because of the substances that contaminate it.
In a review of the subject recently made by Dr. John F. Morton in Hygeia, he points out that private wells need protection against pollution, whereas driven wells in sandy soils are almost invariably safe. However, the surest and best method of safeguarding the quality of a public water supply is by artificial purification.
The shortage of the water in the reservoir or basin aids purification by permitting settling of the water and the use of the material from

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN
BY SISTER MARY
In the early spring there's nothing quite like the taste of maple syrup fresh from the "sugar bush." Served plain with warm biscuits, pancakes or waffles, it's delicious. Desserts sweetened with real maple syrup have a taste that can't be imitated.
Maple syrup is one of the new food products that is completely seasonal and cannot be produced in a hot-house. Its season is short and its production limited to certain sections of the country. Fresh maple syrup can be available on the market only after the warmth of the sun starts the "sap" to circulating from the roots of the tree up through the trunk and branches to finally reach the leaf buds.
The "first run" is considered the finest and indeed it does make a delicately flavored and light colored syrup. It usually commands a higher market price than the syrup made a bit later but syrup made before the buds begin to grow on the maple trees is desirable and well flavored.
The following rule for sponge cake sweetened with maple syrup is unusual and amazingly good.
Maple Sponge Cake
One and one-fourth cups maple syrup, 6 eggs, 1 cup pastry flour, ¾ teaspoon cream of tartar, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon vanilla.
Separate whites from yolks of eggs. Beat whites until stiff, using a wire whisk. While beating the whites, cook syrup until a firm ball is formed when a few drops are tried in cold water. Slowly add the cooked syrup to beaten whites, beating constantly. Beat yolks of eggs until thick and lemon colored, using a wheel beater. Beat yolks into whites, using the whisk. Add vanilla. Mix and sift flour, salt and cream of tartar six times. Fold carefully into mixture. Turn into a tube cake pan and bake one hour in a slow oven. Invert pan to cool.
Shredded fresh pineapple or a pineapple ice or sherbet is delectable to serve with this cake.
The following rule for maple mousse can be used in an endless refrigerator or packed in salt and ice and frozen without stirring.
Maple Mousse
One and one-fourth cups maple syrup, 2 eggs (whites), 2 cups whipped cream, few grains salt.
Beat whites of eggs until stiff. Cook syrup while beating eggs and add gradually to whites, cooking syrup while beating in each addition of syrup. Fold in cream whipped until firm with a few grains of salt. Turn into mold and freeze. Pack in a mixture of eight parts ice to one part ice cream salt. As the mixture freezes scrape it down from the sides of the mold with a stout spatula.
Many delicious candies are made with maple syrup. Creams, taffy, nougats and caramels are a few of the confections that gain new appeal by the use of this distinctive sweet.

HILLSTOWN
Mrs. Fred Gello of Forbes street was taken to the Hartford hospital Monday morning and operated on. The report is she is resting comfortably.
Raymond Buckland of East Hartford was a visitor with Mrs. Palmer Brewer on Sunday.
Mr. and Mrs. James Brancroft attended the victory dinner and dance given at the Haywood Grill on Monday evening.
Mrs. Martin McGrath of East Windsor Hill is sick at her home with two nurses in attendance.
Hillstown Grange will sponsor an old-fashioned and modern dance at its hall Saturday night, January 31.
A play was given in Hillstown Grange hall Tuesday evening by the Manchester Grange. The parts were all taken by Manchester people with one exception. That was taken by George Ruff, master of Hillstown Grange. The title role of "Deacon Dubbs" was taken by Irving Wickham, master of Manchester Grange. As an amateur actor he was very worthy of the praise that was heaped upon him. All the roles were well played. The comedy of the play was taken by Miss Ruth Wickham and she put a lot of pep into it. George Ruff as Amos Coleman, also did justice to his part. All the members deserve great praise.

YOUR CHILDREN
by Olive Roberts Barton
© 1931 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

Should little children be sent to Sunday School, or as we say now, to a Church School? For all creeds do not have religious instruction on Sunday.
I can in all honesty give only one answer to this—yes!

And yet there are people of deep religious faith who advocate waiting until a child is older before setting before him the profound principles of religion, arguing that a small child cannot grasp ideas of faith, God, and an ever-present invisible power.
Well, perhaps that is so. It may be that, when his intelligence matures, his interpretation of these things will be different from his first babyish pictures. Our ideas of all things change, according to our own capacity to understand. Age never sees with the same eyes as youth.
But we may as well say that we should wait for all things until maturity takes place, that any principle of life and living is futile until we can understand.
And after all, do we ever understand? Don't we have to trust and have faith and remove from the boundaries of intelligence to a certain extent those higher attributes and the spiritual forces within ourselves without which we would be poor indeed?

Practically all authorities on children now agree that every child "should be instructed in the religion of his forefathers." This ultimatum has behind it the recommendation of child specialists the world over.
Experiences Change Ideas
It makes, however, no prediction for a child may, as I have said, change his ideas according to his own experience later on. He may even change his denomination, he may even change his creed, but there has been planted in his heart at the right time the reverence for a Spirit, infinitely high and good, and a relationship between himself and that Spirit that will never change.

If children do not get this training, and a certain conception of all it implies when they are young it is going to be a serious question about their getting it later on. It does happen but it is the exception—not the rule.
I often think that the lines of "The Man Without a Country" could have been written in another vein. The man without a faith, without any uplook, without a deep-seated reverence for a Great Power he does not profess to understand, has lost his birthright indeed.
And I think it is the greatest birthright we can give a child—religious instruction; for it is the cornerstone of character. Even if he seemingly gets away from it later on his own responsibility, he can never quite lose the fluency of his early impressions. A man may deny his faith, yet deep inside him somewhere, hidden away unsuspected, are the things he learned in his church, when he was young.
There is only one question that I would make to all such instructors of small children and that is to try to bring little lessons to them simply so that they can understand. They cannot understand everything, but sometimes I think influence is lost in a superstructure of words that go over their heads.
Sincerity and simplicity is best.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

High school girls who use mascara, eye-shadow, heavy face packs, should be spanked—no less. Don't you youngsters know that your faces unadorned, have a charm right now that older women never will know again?
A famous person once said, "A woman should be pretty until she is 30, smart until she is 50, and sweet until she dies."
The beauty accessories that youth, and I mean youth in its teens, needs are soap and water, a fine powder to take off the shine, cleansing creams, a preparation to prevent perspiration odor, tooth paste and hair shampoo.
If you get sleep enough, eat the right kind of food, and plenty of it, exercise in the open air, you will have that glowing complexion that is a beauty personality; your lips will be red with health, your eyes sparkling with the love and promise of life, your hair glossy and lovely.
It may seem unnecessary, in this sanitary age in which we live, to mention bathing. But I should like to say that the girl in her teens should be scrupulously clean and neat. They are her characteristics of beauty. They have an indefinable charm.
If you want to seem awfully grown-up for a party, use a little lipstick, but if you are as healthy as you have a right to be during these glorious teens, you can use a colorless French lipstick and your own red lips will gleam through the fragrance of it.
These are days when you should be laying the foundation of beauty-health for later life. Brush your hair from your head and let it fall down again. Good care given your hair now will repay you later on when you wish you could recapture the soft gleam you see now in the mirror.

And as for manures, there is something positively decadent and distasteful to me about a young high-school girl having her nails dripping red. Do be sensible, you young beauties. Trust nature. She is lovely enough for you. Manure your nails, by all means, and carefully. But have your nails the same tone of delicate pink that nature has made them. They are so much more compatible with your general picture of beauty.

TODAY IS THE ANNIVERSARY

On Jan. 29, 1862, the Monitor, the first successful iron-clad vessel in the history of the United States Navy, was launched at Greenpoint, N. Y.
Ridiculed at first as impractical, because of its odd pilbox shape, the Monitor proved its worth a few months later when it met the strong Confederate craft Merrimack and forced it to retreat in a disabled condition.
Two months after this victory the Monitor, with other Federal vessels, made an unsuccessful attempt to capture Richmond. The famous ship ended its career on Dec. 31, 1862, when it foundered in a storm off Hatteras and sank with four officers and 14 men.

I caught a bad cough, I saw my evening of evenings ruined! Mother came to the rescue with Smith Brothers Cough Syrup. It worked wonders. My cough got better after the first spoonful. By night I had lost it completely. Lucille Gerrity, 32 West 53rd Street, N. Y. C.

WANT TO LOOK YOUNG?
The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They help bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 50c, 90c.

Trade School Quintet Wins Ninth Game In a Row

East Side Club Beats Terryville Five, 56-34

Visitors Take Lead At Start But Are Outclassed Thereafter; Sturgeon and Opizzi Feature.

The East Side Crescents had no trouble trouncing Terryville last night at the school street rec gym. 56 to 34.

Terryville took the lead at the outset of the game but once the Crescents began to click, Terryville fell in the rear and never threatened the Crescents lead. This makes the sixth successive win for the East Side combine. "Bingo" Sturgeon and "Hop" Opizzi excelled for the Crescents scoring 30 points between them. "Oley" Johnson's floor play was also instrumental.

"Tug" Zetarski's all-around play featured for the visitors. The former Bristol High star scored fourteen points, most of them long shots. Bordeaux ran "Tug" a close second scoring five baskets.

The East Sides beat a strong defense since every team they played over half the points scored against them had been long shots.

The Fellowship of Hartford will be the next opponent for East Sides. Ken Smith requests all men to report for practice Saturday afternoon since Coach Tommy Faulkner hopes to brush up on the team's playing in preparation for the series against the West Sides. Faulkner picks his team to trim the West Sides by at least 10 points.

MANN TO ADDRESS Y. M. C. A.'S ANNUAL

The annual meeting of the Hartford County YMCA Athletic Association will be held this evening, beginning with supper at 6:45 in the cafeteria of the Hartford YMCA. The business meeting will follow at 7:30, with reports of athletic events for the past season and announcement of schedules for the months ahead, election of officers, and other business. At 8:00 an open meeting addressed by Leslie Mann, former World Series baseball star, now with the National Baseball Commission, will be held in the lobby of the Boys' Division of the YMCA. Motion pictures will be shown by Mr. Mann on the World Series, and on the scientific fundamentals of baseball. President Harry N. Anderson will preside at the meeting. Other officers and commissioners of the association are as follows: Vice-president, Louis Mann, Sr., of South Windsor; vice-president, W. A. Bailey, Plainville; secretary, Kermet Parker, New Britain; commissioner of intermediate basketball, C. W. Laughton of New Britain; commissioner of tennis, George Backman, Southington; and Rockwell Bridge of Eastville; commissioner of outdoor track, Lionel M. Depot, New Britain; commissioner of aquatics, S. J. Magill, Thompsonville; commissioner of baseball, J. E. Rand, Manchester; commissioner of junior basketball, A. L. Randall, Eastbrook; commissioner of senior basketball, Philip Gagger, Bristol; commissioner of indoor basketball, Kermet Parker; commissioner of indoor track, Louis Mann, and George Beer, Highland Park, commissioner-at-large.

EAST-WEST SERIES THUNDER IS HEARD

Rival Teams To Battle Soon For Town Junior Basketball Championship.

Not all the basketball interest in Manchester centers on the doings of the Recreation, High school and Trade school teams. The forthcoming series between the West Sides and East Sides is causing many an argument as the two teams make ready to battle for the town junior championship.

Nothing definite has taken place in the way of making arrangements for the series which is expected to be a five game affair, that is, the best three out of five victories. Both teams claim that only three contests will be necessary. Time alone will tell that story.

Introducing Managers

George Hunt of the West Sides and Ken Smith of the East Sides are the rival managers and they are to get together next week in an effort to arrange the series. All games will undoubtedly be played at the school street rec gym because the West Side rec court is much too small for real basketball.

Keen rivalry exists between the two clubs and if the players show anywhere near as much action on the court as they are verbally at present the series ought to be well worth viewing. On paper the East Sides appear to have much the better team having won all of their six games while the West Sides have won five and dropped six.

The West Sides, however, contend that the East Sides have yet to back a good team, merely having turned back one setup after another to date while they have been playing the best teams available in their class. "They look good on paper," Manager Hunt says in speaking of the East Sides, "but they won't look so good when they stack up against us."

McCann, Faulkner coaches in connection with the series is that both teams are coached by members of the Recreation Center team. "Hank" McCann handles the destinies of the West Sides while Tommy Faulkner is coaching the East Side Crescents, which is their full name, so to speak. With McCann and Faulkner matching their wits, the series should take an added interest.

There is some question as to whether or not the games will be played as preliminary contests to Recreation games although it goes without saying that the public would welcome such a basketball card. It is understood that the two teams may ask for a guarantee from Manager Benny Clune, otherwise play their games on their own hook and charge a small admission fee. However, nothing definite has been settled along this line. The matter will not be officially discussed until next week. Maybe the details will all come out in Monday's wash.

Northampton Defeats Favorite Knits, 46-44

Clevelanders Lose Out In Thrilling High Scoring Contest; Madden, Cahill, Arnt Star For Ohio Team.

Northampton, Jan. 29.—"Muggins" Barnes, former Northampton High school ace, wrecked havoc in the ranks of the Cleveland Favorite Knits here tonight at the Northampton P. N. A.'s won a hotly contested game, 46 to 44. Barnes dropped 10 field goals and three free tries for a total of 23 points. He was opposed by Shortly Gill, 7-foot 4 inch center of the visiting team, but that player was replaced by Madden, who scored 13 points. Moran scored 16 points for the winners. Summary:

MIDGET GOLFERS ASK JONES HOW TO PUTT RIGHT

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Bobby Jones has been deluged with letters from midget golf addicts asking that he include in his weekly radio talk advice on how to putt through barrels, chip over goldfish ponds and approach through crooked hollow logs.

Whether Bobby has ever played on the midget courses is not known, and some of those who have written him indicate their belief he would not be so successful on the pint size affairs where he has won so many championships.

GATE RECEIPTS OKAY IF HANDLED RIGHT

New York, Jan. 29.—(AP)—That gate receipts large or small are quite all right for college football so long as they are properly administered is the opinion of President James Rowland Angell of Yale. Yale does not expect to ask her alumni to endow athletics, President Angell told representatives attending the annual meeting of the Yale Alumni here last night.

Intercollegiate games, he said, should be carried on within the bounds of such reasonable expenditures as can be provided by the participants or by special gifts or by sales of tickets to witness the contests. Despite abuses athletics have grown up at some institutions as the result of the huge gate receipts for football, these abuses are being rapidly corrected, and the money is now generally used for proper purposes, such as the development of intramurat sports.

HOKEY ROUGH? ASK CLEGHORN

Sprague Cleghorn estimates that he sustained 84 injuries during his lengthy career as a professional hockey player.

Elevated and Subway Basketball

This imposing array of basketball players are making a three week's tour of New England, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York and next Tuesday another prey, none other than the Recreation Center team Manager Benny Clune of the Rec Five is said to be considering raising the baskets a couple of feet and also buying stilts for his players so that they may have at least a sporting chance of competing against "Shorty" Gill and his outfit.

WEST SIDES PLAY WHEEL CLUB FIVE

Game To Be Staged In Rockville Town Hall Tonight Starting At 8:15 Sharp.

Tonight the West Side club treks to Rockville to take on the Wheel club of that city in a basketball contest at Town hall. The game starts at 8:30.

The Wheel club is coming along fast and although it recently lost to the Stafford Olympics, 26-23, promises to give the West Sides all they can handle. On the other hand the Manchester boys are anxious to win another game prior to appearing on the Rec floor next Tuesday night against the Col's team of Hartford.

The West Sides will have Maloney, Falkowski, Mattson, Bissell, Wiley, Anderson and Dowd. The boys will leave the West Side Rec at 7:15 p. m.—even if they have to break right into the middle of a pinocchio game.

By the way, that is something else they play rather well over at the West Side and furthermore, if it's marbles the East Side teams want to play, there are also some pretty nifty smoky shooters among the kids over west.

King of Sweden In Net Tourney

Stockholm, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Sweden's seventy two year old monarch will take active part in the tennis tournaments on the French Riviera next month. King Gustave who probably will leave Stockholm on February 4, has entered as a contestant in the Beaulieu tennis matches on February 18.

The king will compete as usual under the modest title of Mr. G. His fame as a tennis player is international. In spite of his advanced age he plays a fast and skillful game and asks no handicaps, although his opponents often are half his age.

Aside from playing tennis, the monarch delights in hunting, fishing and horseback riding.

Chicago Doesn't Want To Aid N. Y. Charity

New York, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Chicago is all in favor of holding next summer's heavyweight championship battle between Max Schmeling and W. L. (Young) Stripling according to George Getz, a member of the Illinois Athletic Commission, but not if the Milk Fund or any New York charity is to share in the proceeds. Addressing his remarks to an informal gathering that included Schmeling, his manager Joe Jacobs, and Bill Carey, president of the Madison Square Garden Corporation, Getz added this complication to the fight plan, yesterday. He explained that "charity begins at home and Chicago needs all the charity it can get." The Milk Fund has been carrying on negotiations for the fight.

COLLEGE BOXING RULES REVISED

Referee To Make Decisions Hereafter — No Extra Rounds To Be Allowed.

Philadelphia, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Important changes in boxing rules governing intercollegiate competition have been effected, Dr. Francis C. Grant, secretary of the Intercollegiate Boxing Association announced today.

In the new rules referees alone will decide the bouts. Judges will not be employed as heretofore, and extra rounds will not be permitted in dual meet contests. In the case of a draw in dual meets bouts each team will be awarded a point or a half point.

Entries for the annual intercollegiate championships are to be limited to boxers considered championship possibilities and inexperienced men will not be permitted to compete in any class.

The new rules also call for only semi-final and final matches, eliminating the preliminary rounds that formerly forced the victor to box twice on the final day. This will mean two matches in each class the first night and a final match the second night and is one of the results of the restricted entry list.

A committee will meet on March 15 to decide on the men to be entered from each college in the championships to be held at Penn State College March 20 and 21. Each college in the intercollegiate association, Penn State, University of Pennsylvania, Western Maryland, Syracuse, Navy and Massachusetts Institute of Technology, will be represented at the meeting.

BRUINS AND RANGERS MEET AGAIN TONIGHT

National League Hockey Rivals Clash In New York; Rangers Haven't Beat Bruins In Two Years.

New York, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The fifth clash of the year between the N. Y. Rangers and the Boston Bruins tonight in Madison Square here stands out heels and shoulders above the other match in the National League.

In the mind of many fans, there is lurking a suspicion that the time is also ripe for the Rangers to beat Boston, a feat they have not accomplished in more than two years. This year they have carried the Bruins to two hard ties and have lost twice.

The Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs should have little trouble holding their places in the Canadian division race. The Canadiens entertain the Philadelphia Quakers Toronto takes the road in its attempt to recover second place now held in a tie with the Montreal Maroons but does not expect anything more than a hard battle from the Tottawa Senator.

VIOT CELEBRATES RETURN TO LINEUP BY SCORING SIX BASKETS IN SECOND HALF TO HELP PUT SCHOBERITES AHEAD.

Manchester State Trade school's basketball team won its ninth straight contest of the current season yesterday afternoon up in Putnam where it lopped the colors of Putnam Trade after a stubbornly fought contest which ended 32 to 17.

But for a defeat from Glastonbury high in the first game of the season played at Glastonbury, Manchester would have a perfect record. The Glastonbury defeat has been properly avenged. Seven more games remain on the mechanics' schedule and the next will be played with Meriden Trade here tomorrow afternoon.

Manchester was forced to come from behind to beat Putnam. The locals trailed at the end of each of the first two periods and weren't up much at the end of the third. In the final period, however, Coach Walter Schober's outfit swarmed all over the Putnamites and scored almost at will.

Ernie Viot celebrated his return to the lineup by scoring six times from the floor in the two periods he played. Ernie went in at the start of the second half when it began to look as though Putnam might break Manchester's long string of consecutive victories.

PHILIP HUNT TO DEFEND JUNIOR SKATING TITLE ON SUNDAY

Philadelphia, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Important changes in boxing rules governing intercollegiate competition have been effected, Dr. Francis C. Grant, secretary of the Intercollegiate Boxing Association announced today.

PHILIP HUNT

Philip Hunt, 15 year old junior speed skating champion of Manchester will defend his title at the annual Ice Carnival to be held Sunday afternoon on Center Springs Pond. A new crop of speed skating chasers and aspirants will be on hand to test Philip's ability this year but the champion has been practicing nearly every day and expects to cop the title again this year.

Young Hunt is a lover of all kinds of outdoor sports and likes football, baseball and swimming but above all he favors skating. Philip can do some figure skating stunts but leaves that part of the sport to his sister, Eva, while he specializes on speed skating. He is in the eighth grade of the Barnard school.

Over 25 juniors have tried out for the finals of the junior events, the winners of which will be pitted against Hunt for the championship of Manchester. The finals of the schoolboy, junior and senior events will be run off at 2 o'clock next Sunday afternoon.

Don't Be Timid

The Carnival management has been unable as yet to induce any local game-fishermen to try and bring Norway Lippin "to graff" with rod and reel, but it is possible that the Carnival committee may locate an out-of-state sportsman who dares to pit his arm-strength against the leg-strength of the noted New York speed king.

"Al" Basiliari of Pittsfield, Mass., the New England senior speed skating champion, will team up with Leo LaBelle in a comedy act entitled, "Hank, Hanna and Son" the son, by the way, being a local youngster said to be a natural comedian.

ARMY-NAVY TEAM IS DEFEATED, 4-3

The West Sides defeated the Army and Navy club in a third and deciding horseshoe pitching match at the clubhouse of the ex-service men last night before an excited group of onlookers who were treated to a splendid exhibition of shoe tossing in which ringers were plentiful.

The West Sides won by the narrow margin of four matches to three and largely through the individual efforts of the "two kids," George Adams and Billy Neubauer, who won the seventh and deciding game by virtue of a strong comeback when threatened with defeat. Giorgetti and Lamprecht were leading 43 to 26 when the two youthful West Siders slapped on a pair of ringers apiece.

In the opening match, Thomson and Lamprecht had defeated young Adams and Neubauer, 52 to 49, a match which included 46 ringers. The other results follow: Thomson and Lamprecht defeated W. Gess and J. Neubauer, 51 to 46; Giorgetti and McCaughey won from W. Gess and J. Neubauer, 50 to 47, and G. Adams and W. Neubauer trounced Thomson and Lamprecht, 50 to 11. The youthful Adams-Neubauer combination won the deciding game from Giorgetti and Lamprecht, 50 to 43.

NAVY PRIZEFIGHTERS SEEK CORBETT TROPHY

Washington, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Thirty seven years ago a youngster from Illinois by the name of Fred Britten won a silver statuette of James J. Corbett from the Boston Athletic Club for his prowess as a lightweight boxer.

Yesterday the same Fred Britton—now a representative from Illinois and chairman of the House Naval Committee—presented the statuette to the one-time heavyweight champion to Assistant Secretary Jahncke of the Navy. It will be used as an annual trophy for heavyweights in the Navy, the first fights to be held next August during fleet operations at Montauk, Long Island.

TYPICAL KANSAS CAGE SCORE

In 32 years of basketball play, Kansas teams have averaged 29.3 points per game to 23 points for the opponents, according to Kansas news bureau figures. The figures include 532 games, with total scores favoring Kansas 15,870 to 12,259.

McCLUSKEY TO RUN IN PROUT MEMORIAL

Newark, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Ray Conger of the Illinois A. C., stepped out and won the first international race of the indoor season by defeating Dr. Paul Martin of Switzerland in the 1,000 yard race.

The international race was the feature of the opening games of the "major league" track season which saw C. Moore, smooth striding negro star of the Brooklyn Harriers administer a crushing defeat to Leo Lermond of the Boston A. A. in a two mile handicap affair and Ira Singer, New York U. freshman runner away with the sprint series.

Bernie McCauley, Holy Cross speedster, led Eddie Roll of Newark to the tape in the special 800.

All the times were slow, Conger's 2:17 8-10 being one of the best in the evening considering the unbanked turns.

The track stars now move on to Boston for the Prout Memorial games. Joe McCluskey of Fordham, did not compete in the two mile last night but will run at Boston Saturday.

STILL TALK FOOTBALL

Atlanta, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The trouble with football is a vicious system of management in the opinion of Dr. Thornwell Jacobs president of the Ogeethropia University. The fault lies in the vicious system of allowing alumni, students and "outside businessmen" to operate and control the athletic programs. Consequently lack of interest in and authority over athletics by the college faculties is at the bottom of all called evils of the game, Jacobs said.

Dr. Jacobs said there is no such thing as over emphasis in football.

800-YEAR-OLD GHOST PUTS SIGN ON ENGLISH HOUNDS

Cockfosters, England, (AP)—An 800-year-old ghost is putting the Indian sign on Major Smith-Bosquet's hounds, it seems.

For the third time one of the fox-hounds has shed near the same spot when out with the pack. The spot is where local legends locate the well in which the Earl of Essex convicted of high treason, is reputed to have been drowned in 1144.

Elsewhere the dog is one of the keenest in the chase.

Other dogs in previous years have shown a similar disposition to hunt at that spot.

How's She Hitting?

BY ISRAEL KLEIN
 Science Editor, NEA Service

One of the most difficult driving situations comes up about this time when a soft snow falls and covers an icy pavement. Slippery as the street is from the last cold spell and snowstorm, conditions become much worse for the unwary driver when he is placed in a position of ignorance as to the actual condition of the pavement beneath.

Motorists should beware of such situations and of demanding too much of the motor in order to overcome the difficulties presented by such weather.

The little matter of getting out of a slippery rut is an example of the trouble that might be encountered. As the clutch is let in and the wheels begin to spin with the engine, the wheels only dig themselves in.

The mistake most drivers make, in such cases, is to jam down the throttle quickly, with the idea that this might cause the wheels to grab and jerk out of the rut. On the contrary they merely spin faster and dig in deeper.

Worse yet, such action endangers the wheel and engine bearings. And it burns up the tires. It's costly and of little avail.

More effective is, first, to apply the throttle slowly and easily, so that the wheels may have a better chance to grab some rough spots in the ruts and pull out. Turning fast, the tires will pass up such rough spots and the car will come down to make climbing over more difficult.

If this doesn't work the snow and ice may be shoveled out of the way, or chains may be applied. An old rag may be tied around each wheel and the throttle again applied gradually, in order that the cloth may help the wheels to grasp the ground and pull out.

Sometimes a plank placed lengthwise under each wheel will afford enough traction.

At any rate, it doesn't help to step on the gas in trying to get out of a rut. Neither does this help when trying to get started on a slippery pavement. In this case it is good practice to put the gears in second and apply the gas gradually and smoothly.

The brakes in this kind of weather may also cause some alarm. They may be in perfect condition, yet when applied on slippery pavement the car will slide under the wheels within a reasonable distance.

What happens is this: The brakes grip the wheels when applied, but the stopping action fails to go beyond that. The wheels may be locked by the brakes, but they will slide smoothly along under the momentum of the car.

Braking action implies both application of the brakes on the wheels and friction of the tires on the pavement. If there is no friction they will be unable to stop, no matter how well the brakes hold the wheels, they will have little effect in stopping the car.

It is essential, therefore, that the motorist does not rely entirely on the brakes in such weather when attempting to stop his car. He must use judgment and greater care, slowing down gradually and applying the brakes intermittently with the clutch always engaged so that the engine, too, will act as brake.

Sometimes, when the car must be stopped while going down a slippery grade, it is advisable to shift from high to second at the proper slow speed and let the engine, through second gear, slow down the car almost to a complete stop before the clutch is disengaged.

The brakes can then be applied to complete the stop, and there will be little or no danger of skidding. The car must be under constant control in all weather, but to this must be added more personal watchfulness when the weather is bad.

HOOKS AND SLIDES
 by WILLIAM BRADCHER

ROBBIE'S ROSTER

Uncle Wilber's list of diamond athletes who will put their feet under the table at the Gray Moss Inn, Clearwater, in a few more days, suggests that Uncle is going to face quite a problem in paring the roster down to playing and feeding size.

Fresno Thompson will be at second and Lefty O'Donell in left field, but the other seven places are holdovers.

The outfielders, aside from regulars who are scrambling for jobs, are Rubs Bressler, Murray Howell, Harvey Hendrick, Ike Boone and Al Cohen. Extra infielders are Jake Flowers, Eddie Moore, Neil Finn, Jackie Warner and Bobby Reils. Besides having a lot of extra catchers and pitchers he doesn't know what to do with, Robbie is well off. And did you ever see a ball team with so much trading material?

Jack Curley, whose wrestlers are proving more popular than the boxers now in New York City, has promoted everything from a grappling match to a flea circus. He gave Caruso $1,000 a night to sing in six cities and made money. He promoted Rudolf Valentino. He sent Annette Kellerman on tour and the famous diver enriched the promoter. He has promoted Hackenschmidt, Gotch, Jeffries, Willard, Carpenter, Barney Field and now he is promoting Bill Tilden. But Jack dropped a pile of change when he brought over the Vatican Choir for a series of concerts. The music was beautiful, says Jack, but it didn't draw the crowds.

Art Shires has left the big leagues, but his pattern of chatter will remain. One of the St. Louis Cardinal rookies is a young man yclept Dizzy Dean, who uses very bad words. Another is Gene Rye, Red Sox recruit from Waco, who can talk a wonderful ball game. Dizzy pitched a couple of pretty good efforts for the Cards toward the close of last season and furnished the praise for Red Egan, who is now on the roster. Dizzy looked over the roster sent to him with a contract by Bob Quinn, prexy of the Sox, he sat down and wrote Mr. Quinn a nice little note, explaining that so far as he could make out, the best batter on the Boston club this year was going to be a young man named Rye.

Mr. Quinn, however, has a nice way of putting a young man in his place and calling him when he speaks out of turn. So he wrote to Mr. Rye, in effect stating that "invariably when a young ball player suddenly acquires lofty ideas of his own worth, it is some friend who is doing the advising."

In reply, a letter was received from Rye which said: "Well, I guess you hit the nail on the head when you said someone told me what to write about and how to get around but I guess I would have been better off if I would have listened to myself. I sure would like to have a nice talk with you this spring. Sorry I caused you all the trouble but will come down next spring and show you I got the goods. Well, here's hoping we meet shortly and wishing you all the success in the world with your ball club, etc."

Rye, by the way, holds a record of having hit three home runs in one inning in a game played last August.

1931 BASEBALL IVORY CROP QUOTED AT MODERATE PRICES

By LAURE BURCKY
 NEA Service Sports Writer

New York, Jan. 29.—Modern currency may have gone miniature in step with the pee-wee golf fad but it doesn't take an expert in economics to reason that one dollar of this new dough accounts for just about twice as much in groceries or baseball players as the old.

Study of 1931 major league rosters reveals that there are no Lefty Groves or Bill Casells coming into the big show, hardened with the task of making good $10,000 or more which their bosses laid on the line for them. Most of the recruits this season happen to be moderately priced.

Whether the drop in ivory prices should be laid to business conditions or the draft rule recently adopted remains to be seen.

Following an old Spanish custom, the Pacific Coast League again grabbed most of the money for talent. Eight former coast players are among the more aristocratic rookies of 1931.

Strangely, Joe Kuhel and Myril Hois, two of the most costly youngsters, may find bench warming among their duties this year. The Senators paid Kansas City $55,000 and a pitcher for First Baseman Kuhel, who proved an able understudy for veteran Joe Judge last year. Hois cost Colonel Ruppert between $50,000 and $75,000 plus a sizable telegraph bill during the argument over an option the Yankees held.

Brooklyn's recent deal with Oakland for Catcher Ernie Lombardi and the Giants' transaction late last season, Hoag cost Colonel Ruppert between $50,000 and $75,000 plus a sizable telegraph bill during the argument over an option the Yankees held.

Charley Wilson, Rochester star, is expected to improve the Braves' infield without undue expense. He's a shortstop unless Rabbit Maranville continues his capers as if the season. In that event, Wilson must argue with Bus Chatham for third basing honors. The Braves also introduced a pair of hard hitting outfielders to take up residence in Boston to assist Wally Berger. They are Bob Worthington and Harry Sawyer, .378 for Rochester, and Wes Schulmerich, a .317 hitter for Los Angeles. Schulmerich happens to be the same young man whom Pop Warner once said was the greatest fullback on the coast, next to his own prize pupil, Ernie Nevers.

Even the Red Sox anticipate outfield improvement. The improvement is named Gene Rye, whose hitting broke down many Texas fences last season.

St. Louis has some fine ivory exhibits, purchased at moderate prices. Dizzy Dean, who pitched for the Cardinals, was the final game of the 1930 season, his only start, modestly admits that he will tame Earnshaw in the 1931 world series. Russ Young, a catcher who performed many years with Milwaukee, finally was accepted by the Browns, who dispatched four much-used players to the Brewers as payment.

Third Baseman Johnny Vergez may figure prominently in the McGraw pennant plans this year. Eventually, the young coast star will determine whether Fred Lindstrom will shift to the Giant outfield or remain on the hot corner. Lefty Jim Mooney, a young hurler McGraw scouted personally in the Sally League last summer, showed the Giant boss enough strikeout pitching to increase his blood pressure.

Pre-season dope indicates that Cleveland rookies Craghead and Thomas will be assigned regular mound turns this year. Neither cost the Indians more than $25,000.

Dan Howley allows that Mickey Heath will give the Reds the best first basing Cincinnati has seen in years. Heath is a left-hander. Howley knows the young man well for he managed him at Toronto some years ago.

Rogers Hornsby hopes Ed Baecht will pitch several victories for the Cubs this year. And since gum remains a nickel a package, Baecht couldn't have put William Wrigley very far into the red.

Donie Bush, master of White Sox ceremonies, believes Luke Appling will prove to be as good at shortstop as Donie himself used to be.

The Nut Cracker

Now that Jack Curley is promoting professional tennis, how about a match between a tennis player and a wrestler?

In such a bout the tennis player could be armed with his racket. The wrestler, of course, would bring his racket into play, too.

The wrestler probably would fool everybody, including Abe Attell, with a mixed doubles-cross.

A number of young college men are entering the wrestling game now. O'Goofy read in the paper last night. But you can't fool O'Goofy; he says he knows what the story meant to say was football players.

Curley, who has promoted everything from a flea circus to a bass yodeler, would be the very man to promote a bout between a wrestler and a boxer. He could sign Young Stribling for a shadow-boxing exhibition.

While on the subject of mixed matches, the idea suggests itself of a bout between Rudy Vallee and an ancient egg. Mr. Vallee recently had an experience with some hard-boiled eggs in Boston and wouldn't have to be gotten on.

RURAL ROADS

Now that the construction of main highways has been fairly well established, the importance of improving the secondary roads that lead farther into the farm areas is beginning to dawn upon highway and other state authorities.

The American Road Builders Association at St. Louis recently heard much on this subject when Norman M. Blaney, of the Farm-to-Market Roads Association, spoke to them.

Five million farmers in the United States, Blaney pointed out, face the problem of getting their crops to market over roads that today are hardly adequate to withstand the weight and stress of modern heavy truck traffic. The movement today is away from water and rail traffic, toward motor transportation. Yet, with roads muddy and slow and hard to traverse, it is discouraging for the farmer whose farm is set far back of a modern highway to combat this situation.

Of the 3,000,000 miles of highway in the United States, only 660,000 miles are surfaced, although the proportion of state highway mileage to the total road mileage in the country is only one-tenth.

Of course, most of the traffic goes over these main highways, but highway officials must not forget that there are 5,000,000 passenger cars and about a million trucks on our farms that have to struggle through a great deal of clay and muck, particularly at this time of year, to get to market.

These six million motor vehicles on our farms represent more than a fifth of the total motor vehicle registration in the United States. They should get proportionate consideration in planning further highway improvement.

SPORT PLANTS

By ALAN GOULD

One of the strangest reactions I have run across lately is the widespread conviction that William H. "Old John" Dempsey can put on the gloves after a four-year layoff and spread a species of ruin among the current heavyweights.

There has been no really convincing facts, whatever, beyond the conviction that Old John still packs the Old Soak in either hand. Yet my barber, Leo, tells me he feels sure Dempsey will fight again and that if he does he (Leo) will be among the first to purchase two moderately priced seats in the outlying sectors of the arena.

There has been no "heavyweight worth going to watch. Leo insists, says Dempsey retired. He reasons, therefore, that it is necessary for Old John to get into shape for another campaign to liven-up the proceedings again.

Even Artie McGovern, the "well known muscle moulder, is a victim of the Dempsey complex.

"Dempsey," remarks Artie, "didn't lose the championship and, hit the downgrade because he was getting old or weak or because of poor legs. He was beaten because his stomach went back on him. His poor stomach was the only thing wrong with him. This being so, he trained all wrong for both fights with Tunney."

"What was the result? In the first fight, Dempsey's system was so full of poisons generated by his poor digestion and poor training that he seemed doped." He "was" better the next year but still he wasn't handled properly.

"I think I could put Dempsey back into first class fighting condition now. Not the Dempsey of Toledo but a better fighting man than he was in 1927. Four years if a long time to lay off the game but I feel certain he could come back and give a good account of himself."

"Most trainers would have him do a lot of road work and probably ruin him. As a matter of fact all he would need to do is work out consistently, but moderately, and diet properly. He shouldn't do any road work at all."

The more Dempsey appears under the ring lights as a referee, the more apparent it is that as an arbitrator he is still a first class fighting man.

Old John hasn't the detached poise and quick-thinking apparatus to qualify as the third man in a ring. Too often, it seems he is unconsciously shifting and weaving, figuring what he would be doing with his right or left under the circumstances before him. A sudden emergency, as arose in the mistle comedy bout between Max Baer and Old Tom Heeney, left Dempsey befuddled.

It is curious the way Dempsey always has been mixed up in ring arguments. His title fight with Willard in 1919 was a "riotous affair. The Firpo battle brought about a new set of fistie rules in New York. The "long count" at Chicago cost Jack a possible knockout of Tunney. His first appearance as a referee in New York, in the lamentable Scott-Von Porat affair, was an unsatisfactory as the second.

The fact seems to be that Dempsey is still the fighting man at heart, no matter whether he's dressed up as a referee, "front man" or promoter. The old tiger can't change his stripes.

Lively Ball? Oh No!

Back in 1908 the major league boys collaborated in making 268 home runs during the entire season. The total had jumped to 1,550 for the two major circuits in 1930.

GAS BUGGIES—Welcome

WELL... I BECAME A BIT JADED WITH CITY LIFE AND DECIDED A VISIT IN THE COUNTRY WOULD BE MOST REFRESHING, AND INCIDENTALLY PROVIDE AN OPPORTUNITY TO SHOW MY APPRECIATION FOR RETURNING MY LOST WALLET.

OH... YES! IT HAPPENED SO LONG AGO WE HAD MOST FORGOTTEN THE INCIDENT.

IT'S NEVER TOO LATE TO MEND, AND RIGHT NOW I NEED A LITTLE... YOU BETTER LIE DOWN AND REST UP YOUR ROOM.

OH... ER... YOU LOOK A BIT TIRED, CAPTAIN. YOU'D BETTER LIE DOWN AND REST UP YOUR ROOM.

SUCH NERVE, DIGGING ME WITH YOUR ELBOW AND KNOCKING MY WIND OUT SO YOU COULD HOPE HOW THE CONVERSATION AND INVITE HIM TO STAY AS LONG AS HE PLEASES.

HE'S MY BUDDY. CAN'T YOU BE CIVIL TO HIM WHEN HE COMES HERE TO HAND ME A REWARD? MUST YOU GRAB IT OUT OF HIS HAND! USE THE BEAN! THINK WHAT THIS MEANS TO ME.

I'M SURE GLAD TO SEE YOU, CAPTAIN. SHAKE AGAIN.

IN THE MIDDLE OF HOUSECLEANING, HE ANSWERED A KNOCK AT THE DOOR, AND THERE STOOD CAPTAIN FOGG, THE MAN WHO PROMISED TO REWARD ME HANDSOMELY FOR FINDING HIS WALLET.

SOUTH METHODISTS KEEP REV. COLPITTS

Unanimously Approve of Board's Success In Retaining Their Popular Pastor.

A unanimous standing vote of approval of the pastoral relations committee's successful efforts in retaining the services of Rev. Robert A. Colpitts for the fifth year, an accepted recommendation of a decreased budget of $20,850, and an informal reception to District Superintendent Myron Genter and Mrs. Genter, marked the fourth quarterly conference and annual meeting of the South Methodist Episcopal church last night.

A supper was served in the basement to about one hundred members, at 6:30 o'clock. Harold Petherbridge led the singing with Fred Rogers at the piano. The business meeting was held upstairs in the church and opened with a prayer by Rev. Genter, who attended his last meeting at the church as district superintendent, his term of six years, expiring this year. The reports of the pastor, lay preacher, financial secretary, assistant financial secretary, treasurer, trustee's report and of the thirteen church societies were read and approved.

The budget recommended for the coming year by the finance committee, Thomas J. Rogers, chairman, showed a decrease of $300 over last year. It was voted to extend a written letter of thanks to The Herald for its co-operation during the past year.

Don't Curse The Furnace!
It isn't human we'll grant but as an important mechanical adjunct to the success of your house it can only produce results in accordance with what it has to work on. In other words when you burn good clean coal, full of thermal energy, your old furnace performs at its best for you and provides you with plenty of heat. In addition to that it doesn't get its "innards" all cluttered up with clinkers. Think it over the next time you buy coal and then give us your order.
All our coal is kept under cover, free from ice and snow so that it can be screened properly the year round.
