

PRICES GO UP ON MARKET AS WAGE IS CUT

Steel and Rail Issues Soar From $2 to $4; Oil Stocks Stiffen as Standards Declare Regular Dividends.

New York, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The combination of the reduction in railway wages and warlike disturbances in the Far East gave bulls a fresh hold in the Stock Market today.

In expectation that the railroads would shortly place large orders for steel as result of the saving from lower wages. U. S. Steel was bid $3.62 to $4.1 a share, and Bethlehem gained $2.

Stocks of manufacturers of airplanes and explosives were again bid up substantially. United Aircraft was sent up more than $2 to above $16, and Dupont advanced as much, getting above $52. Douglas Aircraft was actively bought, rising more than $2. Curtis-Wright A gained $1.

Other aircraft stocks gained slightly. Atlas Power rose $1.50. Oil stocks stiffened, as Standards of New Jersey and Indiana ordered the regular quarterly dividends.

Standard of N. J. rose nearly $2, going above $37. In the rail, gains of $2 to $4 appeared in such issues as Union Pacific, Santa Fe, New York Central, New Haven, Southern Pacific, and Norfolk and Western, while gains of $1 or more were numerous.

American Telephone rose $4 to $116. American Chemical and Allied Chemicals gained about $3, and Eastman Kodak, $5.

FEAR BIG BATTLE AS MARINES LAND

30,000 Crack Chinese Troops At Nanking Which Is Being Shelled by Japs.

Shanghai, China, Tuesday, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Shanghai boiled with indignation today at reports that Japanese warships had shelled Nanking, landing Marines under the protection of gunfire from destroyers.

Thirty thousand of the finest troops in all China were there, and it appeared probable there would be a major engagement. Martial law was declared in the International Settlement here last night and the streets were swept clear of civilians.

United States Marines and other foreign troops threw up barbed wire entanglements ten feet high in the cross streets, planting machine guns at strategic points.

Machine gun bullets from a Japanese destroyer whipped through the American-owned Texaco oil plant on the Whangpo river and a Japanese Marine patrol in the Hongkew district ripped down the American flag over a school for Chinese boys.

File a Protest No one at the Texaco plant was hurt but company officials filed a protest with the American consul. They said it was only by good luck that the bullets had not set fire to the oil storage tanks.

One representative of the company said some Chinese ashore had set off a bunch of firecrackers and the Japanese destroyer probably thought it was being fired upon.

Dr. John Hawk director of property owned by the American Methodist Episcopal Church, South, reported that Japanese Marines had invaded the school for Chinese boys which the mission operates in the Hongkew district.

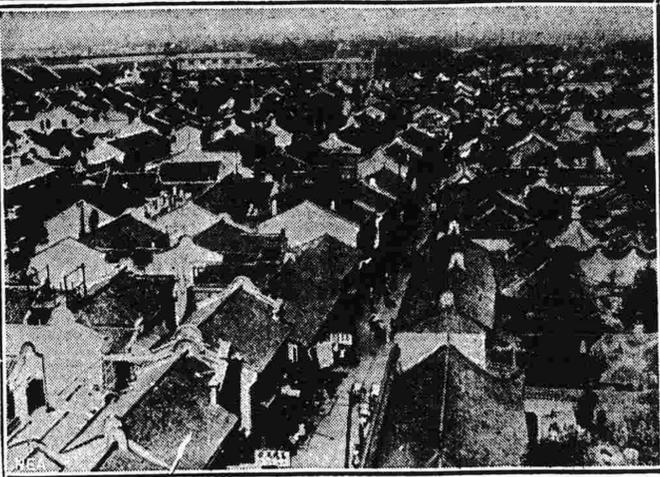

They ripped down the American flag, but did not molest any of the staff. It was their second visit, Dr. Hawk said. Last Friday they ransacked the place, charging that quantities of anti-Japanese literature had been issued from the property.

Wireless reports from Nanking said two Japanese cruisers and one destroyer were shelling the city while Marines were put ashore. The Japanese have seven ships there. There also are one American naval vessel and one British ship.

Yesterday morning a crack division of 30,000 Chinese National Guardsmen, the pick of China's fighting men, streamed into Nanking and took up positions on the city walls behind sandbag fortifications. They were equipped with German automatic rifles, and unlike many Chinese troops were well disciplined and well uniformed.

Originally these troops were intended for service here in Shanghai but with today's developments it appeared they probably would be needed to defend Nanking. As recently as Sunday night the mayor of Nanking was assured by the Japanese consul that the seven naval ships in Yangtze river would open no offensive against the city if

Scene of bitter warfare between invading Japanese and defending Chinese forces, the Chapel street of Shanghai is shown above in an aerial view. The picture gives an impression of the narrow streets and close-packed, flimsy houses through which fire raged in the wake of Japanese airplane bombs. FEDERAL AID IS NEEDED IN CITIES, SURVEY SHOWS

LaFollette Tells Committee 305 Municipalities Want Aid; 215 Cities Answer They Do Not Need Help.

Washington, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Senate debate on the bill to appropriate $875,000,000 for unemployment relief was opened today with the presentation of a survey by 310 cities, showing 305 of them want Federal help.

Results of the survey were presented by Chairman LaFollette, of the manufacturers committee, one of the authors of the bill.

They were based on answers received from mayors or other officials of the 310 cities to questionnaires sent out by LaFollette. The young Wisconsin Senator said 305 cities with a total population of 9,711,100 favored Federal appropriations and 215 with a population of 4,618,111 were opposed.

Inadequate Funds LaFollette presented a summary which said hundreds of cities had inadequate funds. In almost every city where there was no increase in appropriation, LaFollette said, there is an increase in the number of unemployed.

He cited Pensacola, Florida, with a population of 81,500 which was able to appropriate only $1,200; Fort Dodge, Iowa, with a population of 21,000 with no increase since 1919 and a jump in unemployed of almost 100 per cent.

Cohoes, New York, he said, reported it had a population of 23,000, and was bankrupt. IN BOTH HOUSES

Washington, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The admitted question of direct Federal relief to the unemployed was injected today into both Houses of Congress.

An appeal was put before a House committee by Representative Huddleston, (D., Ala.), for help to care for those out of work. He sought approval of his own bill to put $100,000,000 at the disposal of the President for relief work.

Other witnesses came to advocate the $875,000,000 LaFollette-Costigan bill which is before the Senate with the approval of one of its committees.

Huddleston told a labor subcommittee it would be impossible for him to "overstate the need for help among my people. At least 25,000 in the Birmingham area are being fed by charity and 25,000 more are without sufficient food," he said.

"A great many of those in need are white collar workers, some professional men who were prominent in the community. The Community Chest raised $700,000 or $800,000 over the quota, but that is not half what is needed. There is no local county relief."

"It is undoubtedly true that many men, women and children are gradually starving," Edward F. McGrady, legislative representative of the American Federation of Labor, said the situation "cannot be met except by receiving assistance from the Federal government."

"There are more than 24,000,000 people living in absolute poverty and 12,000,000 on charity," McGrady said. "Today, there are 8,800,000 without any work and 7,000,000 more with only one or two days' work a week."

"We have hoped the members of the Senate would realize their duty and take this matter up. But much

Switches Identity With His Brother Who Walks Back Into Cell.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—(AP)—By switching identities with his younger brother, Stanley, 28, sauntered into Albert Russell's cell, and it was not until he arrived there that the hoax was discovered.

The similarity in the appearance of the two men aided the plot. They look singularly alike except that Stanley has red hair. He overcame this obstacle by having it dyed brown to match his brother's.

Family Visits Him Russell's escape followed a visit from his wife and her three year old daughter. Mrs. Russell called at the jail and presented a letter signed by Frank A. Wright, assistant to Sheriff William D. Meyerling. As he walked into the room where the visit was made, Stanley threw his overcoat and hat on a chair. These Albert picked up and then he walked out, accompanied by his wife and child.

Officials said the escaped prisoner (Continued on Page Two)

GOV. RITCHIE ASKS FOR FEDERAL STUDY

To Determine What States Are Unable to Handle Their Relief Problems.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 1.—(AP)—A Federal survey to determine what states are unable to handle their own relief problems and what form of aid should be extended by the National government was urged today in an address before the Kentucky General Assembly by Governor Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland.

"Such a survey could be quickly made," he said, "any states where Federal aid is essential could be quickly disclosed, and when disclosed the form such Federal aid should take could be quickly determined."

The relief problem, he said, is present in all states. (Continued on Page 8.)

RAIL DISPUTE ENDS; UNIONS TAKE CUT

All Get 10 Per Cent Reduction For at Least a Year, To Hire More Workers.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Railway labor, from section hand to engineer takes a 10 per cent wage cut today, with the hope it will give work to its jobless and speed the return of better times.

The agreement which authorized the nation's railroads to take $215,000,000 out of the pay envelopes of the workers for: one year was signed last night by leaders of both sides. It was a voluntary concession on the part of labor at the request of the rails. Had the workers chosen they could have forced the carriers to take the reduction date before a board of arbitration with consequent months of delay. Their rate of pay is protected by contract. In return the workers received certain concessions to a compromise program they proposed, chief among them being the assurance the rails would do as much as conditions would justify the use the wage cut savings toward relieving the distress of 700,000 jobless and 600,000 only partly employed.

Before signing the pact the carriers promised to meet the conditions of labor, that they withdraw the notice of a 15 per cent wage cut they filed with the Interstate Commerce commission in December.

JAPANESE WARSHIPS BOMBARD NANKING, SITUATION IS GRAVE

U. S. Navy Just Equal To the Japanese Fleet

Washington, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Urging passage of his bill to authorize building the navy up to treaty strength, Chairman Hale of the Senate naval committee told the Senate today that compared to Japan "in actual combat strength we are very nearly on an even footing."

"As far as Japan is concerned in present available ships," Hale said, "we have a superiority of only two battleships."

"The American navy has larger tonnage, he said, but this was due to a large number of 'over-age' vessels."

"I firmly believe," he asserted, "that the passage of this bill, with its notification to the world that building on their part means inevitable building on our part, will do more to bring about a further reduction in naval armament than any other possible action that this Congress can take."

American delegates to the Geneva conference will find themselves at a "pitiful position," he said, if the naval construction measures does not become a law and no further building authorizations are enacted.

As a whole, Hale said, America has 373 warships with 203 over age; Japan 207 and only 23 over age. Contrasting ships by classes, he said the United States had three with a tonnage of 77,500 Japan three with a tonnage of 61,270.

American 8 inch gun cruisers, eight with a tonnage of 72,900 and the old Rochester; Japan, eight of 68,400 tons and two of the Rochester type.

American (six inch gun cruiser under), ten with a tonnage of 70,500; Japan 17 of 81,455 tons on under age vessels and three of 11,920 tons in over age vessels.

American destroyers, 69 of 81,450 tons in under age ships and 186 of 190,620 tons over age; Japan 79 under age of 68,885 tons and 18 over age of 16,100 tons.

American submarines, 65 under age of 68,220 tons and 16 over age of 8,030 tons; Japan 67 under age of 70,973 tons and none over age.

Hale said the American fleet was inferior to Great Britain's in capital ships, aircraft carriers and in both cruiser categories.

WORLD POWERS COMBINE TO PROTECT SETTLEMENT

Americans, British, French and Italians Take Steps to Protect Their Citizens; U. S. Warships at Shanghai.

Shanghai, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Four of the world's five great powers—Japan is the fifth—rattled the irons of war at Shanghai today and the riddled city had a comparatively quiet but anxious day after a bloody Sunday.

Four American destroyers steamed into the harbor during the forenoon and a fleet of six more U. S. warships were reported to have sailed from Manila. The British cruiser Berwick with 800 troops and one gun battery aboard left Hong Kong for Shanghai at 3 p. m.

French authorities mounted machine guns at important street intersections and closed many streets with barbed wire. A small force of Italian Marines was added to the forces patrolling the boundary lines of the International Settlement.

No Truce Declared Negotiations by the American and British consuls to bring about peace between the Japanese and Chinese broke down. The Japanese refused a truce had been agreed to, but the foreign authorities denied them and said the peace negotiations had not changed since the close of a parley Sunday afternoon at which no agreement was reached.

The arrival of the American destroyers was reported to have eased the tension in the foreign colony. The defense forces of the International Settlement increased their strength. Using the forces at their command the authorities began the construction of secondary lines within the settlement.

Chinese in West. The area under the command of the Chinese forces everything also was found to be quiet and no large bodies of Chinese soldiers were to be seen. The Chinese however were reported local toward the west. Japanese cotton mills, within the International Settlement and in the area patrolled by the United States Marines were barricaded today and machine guns appeared upon their roofs.

Most of the Chinese shops were closed. Foreign stores continued open. Chinese banks remained closed but Chinese bankers persuaded exchange shops to accept Chinese bank notes, thus relieving the financial situation considerably.

SHANGHAI IS QUIET AS SNIPING STOPS

Over 200 Citizens In Former Capital of China; American Destroyer on Duty There; U. S., Britain, France and Italy Join Forces to Defend International Settlement At Shanghai—Four American Warships Arrive From Manila, Six Others on Way—British Cruiser Now Also On Way to Scene of Present Trouble.

(By Associated Press) The Sino-Japanese conflict took a grave turn today when the United States Navy was informed that Japanese cruisers had opened fire on Nanking, until last week the capital of China. Nanking is the home of 300 American citizens.

The United States destroyer Simpson, on duty there, shifted its position to get out of the line of the Japanese fire.

At Shanghai military and naval forces of the United States, Great Britain, France and Italy joined to defend the embattled city against further sanguinary outbreaks. The high command in Tokyo decided to ask the Cabinet for permission to send a full army division to Shanghai.

Martial law went into effect in the Shanghai International Settlement. There was a lull in the fighting in the native sections of the city and the Settlement itself was, for the most part, quiet.

Nobody Hurt A Japanese destroyer disturbed this period of unfamiliar peace by raking the plant of the American Texaco Oil Company with bullets as it steamed down the Whangpo river. Nobody was hurt.

In Nanking 30,000 crack guardsmen went into defense positions behind sandbag fortifications on the city wall.

Four American destroyers arrived at Shanghai during the forenoon and a fleet of six more United States war craft sailed from Manila. These included the cruiser Houston, flagship of the American Asiatic fleet.

The British cruiser Berwick, with 800 men and a gun battery, left Hongkong for Shanghai during the afternoon. The British aircraft carrier Hermes embarked all her planes and stood ready to leave at a moment's notice while H. M. S. Cumberland, now in drydock at Hongkong, was ordered to prepare for service as speedily as possible.

Special Orders The orders for additional American reinforcements were issued at Washington at a special Sunday meeting of officials under the personal direction of President Hoover.

In northern Manchuria General Jiro Tamon's Japanese division battled its way to Harbin in the face of a statement from Moscow warning that Soviet Russia might be compelled to protest the entry of the Japanese troops into Harbin. At Tokyo the government stated that the troops would proceed regardless of a Soviet protest.

Officials of the Japanese government said the army will not take a stand in the situation at Shanghai unless the Navy finds it impossible to control it.

Delegates of all the nations to the world disarmament conference at Geneva, which opens tomorrow, dark themselves meeting under a fabled cloud of pessimism and one delegate observed that the speeches, which are not scheduled until next week, would be made "if any one can be found who wishes to talk about disarmament."

The League of Nations Council awaited a report from its commission at Shanghai. George C. Tsi, an executive of the Chinese National Party in Europe, said 3,000 Chinese Nationalist students there are ready to return to fight against Japan, refusing help from other countries.

GAVE NO WARNING. Washington, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The navy was advised today that Japanese warships at Nanking had opened fire without warning on Nanking, until last week the capital of the Chinese government.

The lone American destroyer there the Simpson, changed its position to be sure of safety. The Japanese have a strong force of warships in the river there. Some 200 American citizens are in the city.

The destroyer Simpson, commanded by Lieutenant Commander F. W. Rutledge, is the only United States warship at Nanking, which is 125 miles above Shanghai. It has six officers and 115 men.

American consular officers there requested additional destroyers Saturday when threats of Japanese-Chinese clashes became acute. One or more of the four destroyers which arrived at Shanghai yesterday will be dispatched up the Yangtze. The Simpson reported last night that the Chinese have a large concentration of land forces there. Hoover Notified. President Hoover was advised immediately of the critical development. Danger involved was far from minimized. It doubtless means that any strong measures necessary for protection of American citizens will be taken at once.

Other powers probably will do likewise. Coincidental with arrival of the starting report from the Simpson, the Italian government notified Washington it was joining with this country, Great Britain and France in protesting against the Japanese course at Shanghai.

Ambassador Demartino said Rome decided to ask the Cabinet for permission to send a full army division to Shanghai.

Commander Rutledge of the Simpson advised the Navy last night he had asked Chinese and Japanese officials at Nanking to give him sufficient notice so that Americans could be evacuated before hostilities opened. At that time both sides asserted hostilities were not contemplated.

Chinese Prepared. Consular officers at Nanking on Saturday warned Americans to be prepared to evacuate within two hours. The Chinese were reported at that time as throwing up barricades and sand bag embankments in preparation for attack.

The Chinese Legation said today reports from its government were the Japanese attacks at Shanghai were wanted and were conducted without regard to "any principles of international law."

The Legation said the Japanese attacks on Shanghai were after the Chinese authority virtually had agreed to all Japanese demands. More Warships. The telegram from the foreign office also said, the legation reported that Japan had sent additional war craft toward Nanking.

Word that Nanking was being fired upon reached here in 42 minutes, being relayed by the Simpson to a river gunboat and from the gunboat to other destroyers and the USS Washington.

Admiral M. Taylor, commanding the infantry and Marine reinforcements destined for Shanghai, can order detachments of these to Nanking if he considers it imperative.

Forces under him have been cautioned to take the necessary clearance in relations with the Japanese and Chinese. In that condition too, the State Department formally stated today.

With reference to the sending of American ships and troops to Shanghai it can be said that they are solely for the protection of American lives and property and the fulfilling of our responsibility to American citizens and their rights."

FORBES HAS A FREE HAND Washington, Feb. 1.—(AP)—President Hoover today gave his weather eye on the Orient today while at the same time granting Ambassador Forbes a free hand in Tokyo to cooperate with "plomats of the other powers to preserve the lives and property of foreigners in China.

Secretary Simpson carried the latest confidential reports to the White House early, seemingly in a happier frame of mind than in recent days. After more than an hour with the President, he emerged with a smiling comment "there is nothing to say today."

Apparently the government has decided for the present to let events run their course, confident that the reinforcements heading from Manila will be able to cope adequately with any situation now envisaged. Precaution was taken to give Ambassador Forbes plenty of attitude, however, to preclude any deals of important action that might be necessitated by communication with Washington.

Intent more than all else on protecting Americans at Shanghai, the United States declined to participate as a member of the League of Nations neutral commission for investigation of the chaotic situation at Shanghai.

This government agreed, however, to instruct its consular representatives at Shanghai to "cooperate" with the inquiry.

WOMEN IN RIOTS OVER HOUSE RENTS

Slap Faces of Furniture Movers and Fight Cops Who Help to Evict Them.

New York, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Women slapped the faces of furniture movers, men wearing their fists at policemen and children jeered from nearby roof tops as rent-striking tenants in the Bronx continued their battle against eviction.

Twenty-five patrolmen, six mounted police and 25 detectives were required to help the marshal, with an eviction order and a dozen husky laborers, remove the tenants' furniture from the five story building.

More than 1,000 spectators and sympathizers were attracted by today's battle. They stood about the doorway, blocked the stairs and mounted the roof tops.

The furniture finally was dumped on the sidewalk, but not until seven arrests had been made, four of them women.

HAIRCUTTING LICENSES.

Hartford, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Tests were held at the State Capitol today for 64 applicants for licenses to practice haircutting in Connecticut, and free service was given to "subjects" who had been brought to the Capitol for practice work.

PROF. HASTINGS DEAD

Greenwich, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Charles B. Hastings, 82, professor emeritus of Yale University, long head of the physics department in the Sheffield School, died at the home of his daughter Mrs. H. W. Chittenden, here yesterday. He had been ill eleven weeks.

Prof. Hastings, born in Clinton, N. Y., November 27, 1849, was graduated from Sheffield Scientific school in 1870. He was later an assistant professor of physics in Johns Hopkins University.

Prof. Hastings continued to live in New Haven after retirement until last October when he came to live with his daughter Katherine. She is the only immediate surviving relative. He was a member of the American Philosophical Society and the National Academy of Science.

PROF. BACON IS DEAD; WAS YALE INSTRUCTOR

New Haven, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Prof. Benjamin Wisner Bacon, who for more than thirty years was a member of the faculty of Yale Divinity School, died at his home early today in his 72nd year. He had been in failing health for some time.

Professor Bacon, a native of Litchfield was graduated from Yale College in 1881 and attained his Master of Arts degree in 1892. He was appointed to the Yale faculty as instructor in New Testament Greek in 1896 and became a full professor the next year. The Yale Corporation in retiring Prof. Bacon expressed its grateful appreciation for his 32 years of distinguished service.

Prof. Bacon had been the director of the American School of Archaeology in Jerusalem and twice gave the Earl lectures at the University of California. He had been managing editor of the Annual of the American School of Oriental Research, an editor of the Hibbert Journal, the Yale Review and the American Encyclopedia of Christianity. Honorary degrees had been conferred upon him by Harvard, Syracuse, Oxford and Western Reserve University, Lincoln College and University of Breslau. He was the author of many works on religious subjects.

Prof. Bacon leaves his widow, a son, Selden of New York City, a daughter, Mrs. Heathcote Colsey of Rye, N. Y., two brothers and four sisters.

JAP WARSHIPS BOMB NANKING; CRISIS NEAR

state department to be due to the fact that the commission would be sitting under Article 15 of the League, the American government could not sit as a member of the commission.

Admiral Montgomery M. Taylor, aboard his flagship, the cruiser Houston, radioed to the Navy the news of his departure and that of seven destroyers from Manila. He expects to arrive at Shanghai about 2 a. m., Wednesday, Eastern Standard Time. The Houston carries 331 marines.

The Navy Transport Chaumont, carrying 1,000 infantrymen and 70 additional Marines, is expected to leave February 2. Called Unreasonable. When news of Japanese guns hurling shells into Nanking reached Washington, the British ambassador was notifying Undersecretary Castle that his government had entered the latest developments at Shanghai to be "unreasonable."

Edwin S. Cunningham, American consul general at Shanghai, reported that intermittent fighting went on there. "Firing early this morning ceased with a lull," Cunningham said. "Both the Chinese and Japanese charged the other with breach of the 'truce'."

The present disturbances present new and different difficulties from previous ones," said Cunningham. "Practically every man is armed, and therefore sniping is evident and widespread. Firearms have replaced the propaganda circular. Sniping at present is directed particularly against the Japanese. The Japanese sector has been evacuated by the Chinese."

Representative Blanton, (D., Tex.) whipped out in the House this afternoon against the President's order to send military and naval reinforcements to Shanghai. "I call for the protection of a few Chinese merchants," he warned this country would become "involved in war if we don't watch our step."

Upton, Ambassador Debutch of Japan discussed the whole situation with Secretary Stimson—but it was not made clear whether they went over the petition of the Tokyo government for the American, British, French and Italian governments to cooperate with Japan in stopping the fighting in Shanghai.

No Neutral Zone. The attempt to establish a neutral zone there between the Japanese and Chinese forces seems to have broken down, the ambassador said, and he insisted the only alternative is for the Japanese forces to compel the Chinese to stop fighting. He contended the Japanese will stop firing as soon as the Chinese do.

Debutch had no knowledge of the shelling of Nanking. He expressed doubt that Japanese troops would be sent to Shanghai from Japan. Officials awaited reports from Nelson T. Johnson, minister to China, who left Peiping yesterday for Nanking taking the 32 members of the American Legation staff.

While concern for American lives in the Sino-Japanese conflict is foremost, investments there by citizens of this country are of such a tremendous amount as also to be getting attention. American Investments. American investments in China as a whole are estimated at the Commerce Department as between $250,000,000 and $280,000,000.

Direct investments of American firms in China are estimated at $129,768,000 and bonds and other portfolio investments at $48,000,000. Officials of the investment division said that in addition to the foregoing investments there was about $25,000,000 invested by American residents in China and between $50,000,000 and $80,100,000 of missionary property.

The disordered situation at Nanking gradually has come to be getting as much close study as that at Shanghai. Navy dispatches described the Japanese naval force at the former capital as consisting of three cruisers and four destroyers. Their armaments and man power were not known. The Chinese have two destroyers, six gunboats and four torpedo boats anchored in the Yangtze near that city.

Also nearby are two British ships, a fleet sloop and a gunboat.

ON SECRET JOURNEY

San Francisco, Feb. 1.—(AP)—A United States Army transport was bound for a secret rendezvous today with the United States fleet and, ostensibly, a game of mimic warfare in the Hawaiian Islands. The ship was many among the 800 sailors and officers of the Army aboard the transport. They felt their destination lay beyond the shores of the "Paradise of the Pacific."

"Who's coming or bust?" yelled one lonely buck private to a group of friends, who had gathered on the dock at Fort Mason here to bid him good-bye. "I'll write you all about the Chinese gals," shouted another. Officers were more cautious in their remarks. Brigadier General Robert McClave, commanding the Sixth Brigade, and the ranking officer on the transport, would make no comment. Neither would Colonel C. B. Stone, Jr., commanding the Thirtieth Infantry, which, with the Seventy-Sixth Field Artillery, comprised the expedition.

But Captain Carl A. Olsen, of the Army transport service, who has

DECLARE MARTIAL LAW

Shanghai, China, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Martial law went into effect in the International Settlement at ten o'clock and the thousands who had been jostling each other in the streets for company were herded back to their homes.

An unaccustomed silence fell on the city and, except for the occasional bursts of firing which have come to be regarded as normal, there was no sound of warfare. The artillery which was blazing last night and today over toward Chapei was still. Nobody knew why and nobody wanted to go over and find out.

American Marines and other foreign troops patrolled the Settlement working parties hurried the city and, except for the occasional bursts of firing which have come to be regarded as normal, there was no sound of warfare. The artillery which was blazing last night and today over toward Chapei was still. Nobody knew why and nobody wanted to go over and find out.

Most people were glad enough to stay inside. Anybody going out had to have a pass with his photograph pasted on it. Occasionally the bark of a sentry could be heard, hitting some passerby and demanding his pass. There were sand bag barricades and machine gun nests at half a hundred strategic points and, the Chinese in the morning, when the new restrictions permit civilians in the streets. This arrangement is to continue indefinitely.

FIGHTING NEAR HARBIN

Tokyo, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The Japanese army, which prosecuted the campaigns against the Chinese in Manchuria will not immediately take a hand in the Shanghai situation, which is to be left for the time being to the navy, officials of the government announced today. Officials said the full strength of the Manchuria power will be directed against Harbin, in spite of the fact Soviet Russia today indicated it might protect the entry of Japanese troops into that city.

Bussia To Protest. A Japanese division yesterday was fighting its way a short distance from Harbin. L. M. Karakhan, Soviet ambassador to Moscow, said, informed Koki Hirota, Japanese ambassador at Moscow that Russia might be compelled to protest the entry of Japanese troops into Harbin. In authoritative circles here however, it was stated the advance on Harbin will be continued.

Foreign Minister Yoshizawa called in the American, British and French ambassadors yesterday to solicit the support of their governments for measures to persuade the Chinese to abandon warlike operations at Shanghai. After the conference M. Yoshizawa said the force of Japanese blue-jackets now in Shanghai was in danger of annihilation because they faced 30,000 Chinese troops and the reports indicated Marshal Chiang was rushing four squadrons of airplanes into the area for a major offensive.

STUDENTS TO RETURN

Paris, Feb. 1.—(AP)—At least 5,000 Chinese Nationalist students in Europe are ready to return home to fight against Japan, Georges C. Tsu, an executive of the Nationalist party in Europe said today. "It will be China's sacred war we fight," he quoted the students as saying, "and we will fight it alone, refusing help from other countries."

It was officially announced last night that France has joined with the United States and Great Britain in representations to Japan that the International Settlement at Shanghai be respected. Several French naval units in Far Eastern waters, the announcement said, will sail soon for Shanghai to protect French residents there. These will include a French armored cruiser now at Saigon, French Indochina.

PRAYERS FOR PEACE

Washington, Feb. 1.—(AP)—A prayer for peace was heard in the Senate today as news report brought bulletins of new firing in the Far East. The Rev. Barney T. Phillips, chaplain of the Senate implored Divine Providence to bring an end to the war in the prayer opening today's session. He also uttered a plea for abatement of "distress and suffering" as the Senate prepared to take up the bill proposing $375,000,000 for relief of the unemployed.

NO WAR DECLARATION

London, Feb. 1.—(AP)—A dispatch to Reuters News Agency from Nanking today said the intention of the Chinese government when it decided upon war against Japan last Saturday intended war without a formal declaration. The Chinese character, the dispatch said, which "war" is a translation, may mean war with or without a declaration. The meeting at which the question of war with Japan was discussed, the dispatch added, was attended by such important Chinese leaders as Marshal Chiang Kai-shek, Wang Ching-wei, Go King-Ching, minister of war and Li Chai-Sun and Feng Yu-shiang.

AMERICANS IN DANGER

Shanghai, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Bullets cracked into the Shanghai plant of the American Telephone Company today when a Japanese destroyer steaming down the Whangpo river raked the shore with machine gun fire. Nobody was hurt but the company officials protested to the American consul who took it up with the Japanese authorities. Shortly after the firing the American destroyer Parrott tied up at the Texaco wharf. One of the company officials said

BRITISH WARSHIP STARTS

Shanghai, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The British cruiser Berwick with 800 troops and one mountain gun battery aboard left Hong Kong for Shanghai at 3 p. m. today. The aircraft carrier Hermes embarked all her planes and stood ready to proceed north at the shortest notice. H. M. S. Cumberland which is now in drydock at Hong Kong was ordered to prepare for service with all speed.

This led to the suggestion by some officials that gangsters engineered the escape to prevent him from talking.

OBITUARY

FUNERALS

Mrs. Catherine Murray. The funeral of Mrs. Catherine Murray, was held this morning from the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. C. O. Liebe, of 2 Strickland street, at 10 o'clock in St. Bridget's Church. Rev. C. T. McCann was celebrant. At the officiating Mrs. Margaret Smith sang "O Salutaris and at the end of the mass she sang "Thy Will Be Done." The bearers were Francis H. Gerard, Sullivan, Harry Clem, Thomas McCann, Francis Kelleher, and William Liebe.

The body was taken to Putnam, Conn., for burial in St. Mary's cemetery. Rev. X. U. Bellerose, of St. Mary's church, read the committal service.

Mrs. Christina C. Nyquist. The funeral of Mrs. Christina C. Nyquist was held at three o'clock yesterday afternoon at the Swedish Congregational church, Rev. S. E. Green officiating. The bearers were John Johnson, Samuel Nyman, John Nelson, Carl Johansson, Frank Johnson and August Johnson. Burial was in the East cemetery.

ARUTE ACCUSES ELY'S SECRETARY

Boston, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Rep. C. F. Nelson Pratt of Swansea, Mass. offered affidavits to the rules committee of the House charging that Dewitt C. DeWolf, secretary to Governor Joseph B. Ely, had sought to have contractors on state work take out insurance through a Springfield insurance firm. Pratt appeared to support his petition in investigation into the awarding of contracts. Urging favorable action on the petition for the legislative investigation, which would cover contracts by state departments and the metropolitan district commission, Representative Pratt said: "I submit to you affidavits and documents to show that Mr. Dewitt C. DeWolf, the governor's secretary made strenuous efforts to have contractors on State work place their insurance through Paul Ezekiel of Springfield."

One of the affidavits, from John Arute, New Britain contractor set forth that Ezekiel had informed him in connection with one large highway contract "the four members of the Legislative Council had been positively fixed and the remaining members would vote along with these as they didn't know what it was all about anyway."

The Arute affidavit also set forth that Arute, who although low bidder on the Swansea-Seabrook-Rehoboth road project did not receive the contract went to the state house when award of the contract was delayed. Arute said in the affidavit that Public Works Department employees said, Ezekiel had left word for him to see Dewitt. He said Dewitt told him Ezekiel had recommended the Arute firm highly, although at that time Arute was not acquainted with Ezekiel.

5 VIOLENT DEATHS REPORTED IN STATE

wounds in the head and the body was partly burned when found. Makitis denied he set fire to the structure. Burglar Shot. A burglar was shot and killed by Patrolman Edward J. O'Connor, in Bristol Saturday night when attacked by a burglar. O'Connor was arrested for entering a clothing store was tentatively identified as George L. Hunt, 30, of Newark, N. J. O'Connor found the man in the Robert W. Harris store after noticing a broken window. As he was being taken to prison a moment later the burglar broke away. O'Connor fired six times and the burglar fell over a retaining wall into the Paganubuck River. He died as the patrolman was bringing him ashore. O'Connor two years ago killed a bandit in a drug store hold-up.

Killed by Auto. An unidentified woman about 50 years old, was killed by a hit-run automobile in Union City last night. Sophie Kaplan, 55 of New Haven was fatally injured in that city Sunday night when struck by a motor automobile driven by William Allan, 22, of 125 Clifton street, Bridgeport. She died enroute to New Haven hospital. Allen was arrested on a charge of reckless driving. Miss Kaplan, 25, of Thomaston was killed Saturday when she picked up a fallen Connecticut Power Company wire carrying 22,000 volts. Death was pronounced accidental.

Hemlock represents about 14 per cent of the softwoods exported from the United States, about twice the amount shipped to other countries eight years ago.

LATEST STOCKS

New York, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The Stock Market made extensive progress in moderate trading today. The announcement of the 10 per cent railway wage reduction and ordering of the regular extra dividend of 25 cents by Standard Oil of N. J., were tangible bullish developments and speculators continued to bid up Aircraft and chemical stocks on the basis of developments in the Far East.

Advances of 3 to 5 points appeared in such issues as U. S. Steel, Union Pacific, Santa Fe, American Can, American Telephone, Allied Chemical, Coco Cola and Eastman. Speculative efforts to discount vague "war boom" gossip brought 2 point advances in such issues as United Aircraft, Douglas Aircraft, Atlas Powder and Dupont. Other shares making similar gains included Southern Pacific, New York Central, Standard of N. J., Bethlehem Steel, McKeesport, Case and Liggett and Myers B. Issues up a point or more included General Motors, General Electric, American Smelting, Care De Pasco, Curtis-Wright A. and others.

In leading banking quarters, talk of a war boom was regarded with incredulity for it was pointed out that the financial position of the Far Eastern countries could scarcely be regarded as favorable to prolonged, large scale hostilities. Some observers felt, however, that as far as the aircraft issues and steel issues were concerned the Far Eastern developments might impair the movement for disarmament.

If a war boom were developing it was explained that weakness in non-ferrous metal prices was indeed paradoxical. Both copper and zinc prices were lower. Copper was quoted at 6 3/4 cents, off 1/4 cent, and both foreign and domestic buying was at a low ebb. The railway wage announcement was regarded in several quarters as news of outstandingly bullish implications. Usually well informed quarters in Wall Street looked for early steel price declines. Estimates as to the amount of orders likely to be placed in the next fortnight varied widely, but around 250,000 tons was regarded as probable.

In the change of runs on the trolley and buses of the Connecticut Company which were increased today a former resident of Manchester, Daniel Fraher has a day run on the South Manchester line. Mr. Fraher left Manchester nearly 30 years ago and during most of that period has been employed by the Connecticut Company on lines in Hartford and in the present changes comes back to Manchester lines for the first time.

Colin Davies, of 1230 Main street, who recently underwent an appendicitis operation in a Hartford hospital, returned to his work as designer at Cheney Brothers today. Sunset Council, Degree of Pochontas, will hold its regular business meeting at the church hall tomorrow evening at 7:30. A social will follow, featuring candy-pulling and corn-popping.

Mystic Review, Woman's Benefit association, will hold its regular business meeting in the Odd Fellows hall tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. A short program will be presented by the standing entertainment committee, Mrs. Thora Stoehrer, chairman; Mrs. Irene Vinck, Mrs. Emma Hussey and Mrs. Pauline Berrett.

The Ladies Aid society of the Concordia Lutheran church will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2:30. Mrs. Joseph Wright and a committee from the Women's League of the Second Congregational church served luncheon today to the ministers attending, the Hartford East association meeting at the church today.

St. Mary's Men's Bible class will have a supper and meeting at 7:30 this evening at the expense of the losing team in the membership contest. E. P. Walton and W. E. Buckley, Manchester men who teach at the Hartford High school, and Samuel M. Alvord of Bolton, returned to their duties today after the two weeks' midyear recess.

GREEN'S MINSTRELS PROVES FINE SHOW

Assembly Hall of School Filled For Entertainment Last Saturday Night. Griswold Chappell and his committee have been receiving congratulations on the success of the minstrel put on Saturday evening by the Manchester Green Community club and enjoyed by an audience that filled the assembly hall of the school. President John Jensen of the club welcomed the guests and expressed appreciation for the time and effort put into rehearsals by men of the Green.

Through the courtesy of E. H. Spencer, colorful minstrel uniforms were provided for the chorus, and green, purple and red for the principals. The chorus and solo work gave evidence of careful rehearsing, and every number was well received. The opening song was "Selling Down Chesapeake Bay" and the closing number, "Good Night Sweetheart," a Griswold Chappell's solo. Armstrong, as intercomer came fully up to expectations. The jokes and local hits went over well.

Among the high spots was a trio composed of Cecil England, Aaron Cook and Louis Moore, entitled "Polish Facto." The boys sang the verses and the entire company came in on the chorus. Another song that amused was "Who is Your Little Wholesaler?" Bert Inman sang "The Fraescher and the Bear" and was obliged to respond to an encore. Griswold Chappell's solo was "The Lunatics," and in response to a recall he sang "Born Down in Kentucky." Ben Spencer sang "No, Absolutely No" and his encore number was "Can You Tame Wild Women?" John Watson danced a jig to the accompaniment of a harmonica.

The only thing that marred the evening for the committee in charge was that the ice cream man delivered two gallons less than the order called for and the error was not discovered until too late. Old fashioned and modern dancing rounded out a full evening. Burke's three piece orchestra furnished music.

EMERGENCY PAYROLL FOR 230 TOTALS $2,779

A payroll of $2,779.92 was distributed today to nearly 230 persons by the Manchester Emergency Employment Association, Inc., bringing the total amount paid for labor during fourteen weeks of activity to $35,417.17. The payroll included a sum of $139.25 for the Broad Street extension project and this amount will be paid by the town from the $10,000 appropriation voted for the project.

A total of $2,471.37 has been expended on the Broad Street project to date. About 110 men were employed there last week and it is expected that this force will be increased to 125 within the next few days. Otherwise the number of persons employed remains about the same. The registration bureau announced today that it had the names of 935 persons on file as unemployed. The school teachers, principals and janitors of School Districts 1-8 today turned in their 5 1/2 per cent average payment to the fund. It amounted to $270 and is the second of the five installments paid by this group.

ALLEN ON TRIAL FOR MURDER TODAY

was ordered to leave and that he be replied by striking Eddie Allen in the face. With that the younger Allen rushed from the room. He returned with a shotgun and met Donaldson in the foyer. There was a shot fired and Donaldson fell mortally wounded. Subpoenaed as a prosecution witness, Miss Allen has said her testimony will be neutral. She has retained an attorney to give her advice when she is called to testify. The courtroom was filled when Allen arrived and was removed as the young man took his seat. Miss Allen sat in a small room in the district attorney's office until the court opened.

When the list of prospective jurors was read Judge Knight indicated he expected it may take two days to fill the jury box. Allen pleaded not guilty after the indictment had been read.

BUILD SERVICE ROAD AT CENTER SPRINGS

Town Constructing Way for Its Trucks to Get Back and Fourth Through Park.

Manchester is soon to have a highway nearly a half mile long that is unique in many respects. The road will be of gravel base, 3,000 feet long and eight and one-half feet wide throughout. The gravel surface will be eight inches in depth and only one motor vehicle—the town truck used in making the road—will ever speed on it.

The town's unusual road is in Center Park and construction has been in process since the first of December. The road is to be called a "Service Road" according to the landscape architect Thomas Desmond. From three to 15 employees of the town and park department have scraped the loam from the long roadway and trucks have brought coarse gravel from the Cheney Brothers pit.

The new park road system starts at the foot of Trotter street and follows the line south of the park to the new playground in the east end of the park, skirts the east end of the playground and bears north to intersect with the old roadway that followed the ravine westward.

The new road follows the old path westward, veering south and up over the hill as it nears the east end of the pond. The road comes out into Valley street between Knox and Newman.

Center Springs park is 2,750 feet long and the much-curved new road is exactly 200 feet longer than the entire length of the park system. Other roads of the same type called for in the area are planned on the north side of the park which will be constructed when conditions warrant.

To date a fine parking space has been constructed off the west end of Hemlock street in the park system and the new playground and park service road and the skating shelter will make a decided improvement in Center Springs Park this year.

Last fall hundreds of laurel shrubs were planted throughout the park and they are expected to blossom this year.

PLAYMATES IN ATHLONE, MEET, WED IN HARTFORD

Patrick Dully of This Town and Kathleen O'Brien to Sail For Home as Wedding Tour.

"Back Home" in Athlone, Ireland, Patrick J. Dully played with and went to school with Kathleen O'Brien. Together they listened to the stories told of the marvelous career of the singer John McCormack, native of the same town and parish, told by his father. They were boy and girl friends and neighbors.

Seven years ago Patrick came to this country and has made his home with his aunt, Mrs. Catherine Sheehan of 256 North Main street. Two years later Kathleen O'Brien also sailed for the United States, came to Hartford to live with her aunt, Mrs. Mary O'Brien of Saragat street.

Quite by chance the two former playmates met. This morning in St. Thomas Church, Hartford, they were married, the ceremony being performed by Rev. John Callaghan, pastor. The bride was attended by her cousin Miss Mary O'Brien as bridesmaid and Michael Sheehan of North Main street, cousin of the bridegroom, was groomsmen.

A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's aunt and at 11:40 the groom and bride left for New York. There they will visit with an aunt of Mr. Dully until Thursday when at 2:30 they are to sail from New York, back to their old home in Athlone to live.

The bride wore a dress of blue silk, trimmed with Irish point lace, given to her by her mother when she left Ireland and the bridesmaid's dress was of emerald green, with Irish lace trimmings. Both wore hats to match.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Sons were born Sunday at the hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Beebe of 9 Strickland street and Mr. and Mrs. David Thomas of 81 Foster street.

Mrs. William T. Smith of 153 Center street, Mrs. H. A. Stevens of 8 Green Hill road were admitted to the hospital yesterday.

William Cingano of 88 Maple street underwent an emergency operation for appendicitis last night. His condition is satisfactory today.

Mrs. Raymond Jones of 68 High street was discharged yesterday. John Belcher of Rockville was admitted today.

The condition of Mrs. Clara Ljancola was said today to be considerably improved. At present time the condition of Patrolman John Crockett was unchanged.

The condition of Miss Teresa Gribbon of 36 Union street was said today to be considerably improved. Miss Gribbon has been a patient for several weeks.

OTHER FELLOW'S INFLUENCE CITED

Rev. R. L. Winters Tells Kiwanians He Changed Entire Mode of Living.

Speaking on the subject of "The Other Fellow," Rev. Roy L. Winters, assistant pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church during the past two years, told the Kiwanis Club at its weekly meeting at the Hotel Sheridan this noon that four things must be done to improve the economic situation. "We must," he said, "provide better equalization of distribution of profits of industry. We must adopt unemployment insurance. We must provide a disinvestment fund for those unemployed through old age or modern machinery and we must better prepare to meet the problems of the future."

Clarence P. Quimby announced that the annual Kiwanis Minstrel show would be held at the High School auditorium, April 11 and 12. Arrangements will be started immediately and rehearsals will get underway in the near future. Rev. William P. Reddy won the attendance prize, two tickets to the special carnival at the United States Eastern Championship Ski Tournament at Shelburne Mt., Greenfield, Mass., Sunday, February 14.

Rev. Winters was introduced by Helge E. Pearson, who secured his services. The speaker told how the advent of "Friday" changed the entire mode of living of Robinson Crusoe, because he was forced to show regard for the other fellow. Rev. Winters gave several illustrations along a similar vein to better bring out his subject.

In the olden days, he said, Greece was the community of will and Rome was the community of obedience. By incorporating both of these traits in the constitution, the United States became a successful nation. Rev. Winters paid tribute to George Washington as the father of the country.

He also brought out that between 1922 and 1927, the United States made more headway in the invention of improved machinery and industrial methods than in any forty years previous.

marly a problem for local communities and states. If these agencies have found their efforts are insufficient to care for those in need, "then we have a National emergency and the Federal government must act."

"The Federal government cannot permit its people to go hungry or unsheltered," he declared. "It must feed them and clothe them and shelter them, if all other agencies fail and there is no other way."

Speaking of prohibition, Governor Ritchie said "our real progress in teaching temperance came when we were leaving the question of prohibition to the states, where it ought to be, and before we put it in the Constitution, where, as a matter of social government, it ought not to be."

FINE DECORATIONS FOR MASONIC BALL

Armory to Be More Attractive Than Ever Before; L. N. Heebner in Charge.

The contract to decorate the State Armory for the twenty-first annual Masonic Ball has been awarded to the George O. Simons, Inc., of Hartford, by Lewis N. Heebner, chairman of the decorating committee. It was announced today. The Ball will be held exactly one week from tonight, on February 3.

The Armory will be decorated more attractively than ever, with a color scheme of light blue, gold and white. Three centers of bunting streamers will be made in the ceiling and will run to different sections on the walls. In two of the centers, glories of blue and white or gold will be hung. The walls will be covered in entirety, from the trusses close down to the floor. Colors are to be draped under the balcony and also on the front face of the balcony. In the upper balcony large butterflies in colors will be hung. The front of the orchestra platform will be draped and decorations will be hung in the outside lobby.

The electric decorations will consist of one large new electrical centerpiece with large candles having lights in both ends. From this centerpiece will run six streams of colored lights to different parts of the armory. An extension cord with lights will be dropped from all lights on the girders, to be covered with eighteen inch pink silk shade. Electric wires and the centerpiece will be covered with southern almix.

A sidewalk canopy with streamers of lights underneath will be erected on the outside walk, from the doorway to the curb. The Simons company had the contract for the decorations last year.

Bill Dehey's eleven piece orchestra will furnish music for dancing and indications are a larger crowd than ever before will be present at this social event.

the Chinese troops refrained from hostile action. Civilians Moved Before the shelling began civilians moved away from the waterfront. Last night some Japanese landing parties had been put on the docks, but there were no open hostilities then.

Some of the refugees fleeing what appeared to be certain trouble had gone down to Nanking from Shanghai to escape danger here. With the increasing menace at Nanking many of them piled into British steamers on the way back to Shanghai.

Up here there was unaccustomed calm except for the sniping which still goes on and is so common now that it is considered a normal state of affairs.

Much Sniping Yesterday there was shooting from somewhere near the Central postoffice in the International Settlement. Crowds of pedestrians ducked for safety and Japanese Marines hurried up with machine guns but were unable to locate the source of the shots. They said Chinese snipers were at work. The Settlement authorities put a guard into the postoffice.

The Chinese postal employees fed the building in terror and the whole postal service was paralyzed. In the night the Japanese Marines threw up barricades all around the building.

Under martial law which went into effect at 10 o'clock last night and will continue indefinitely, no civilian was permitted in the streets of the International Settlement between 10 p. m. and 4 a. m. At all other times of the day or night everyone must have a passport bearing his photograph.

PATROLMAN CROCKETT'S CONDITION UNCHANGED

The condition of Patrolman John Crockett, III at the Manchester Memorial hospital with lobar pneumonia, was reported this afternoon to be unchanged. He passed a fairly comfortable night.

REMOVING FIXTURES FROM ATTACHED STORE

Owners of Building Believe They Can Secure Tenant If Defunct Stock Is Removed.

A month has passed since the South Manchester Candy Kitchen was closed by attachment and nobody has since put in appearance to claim the stock and fixtures. The owners of the building, E. G. Seaman and Christopher Giemey, decided today that they could put the store to better advantage.

As a result of this decision men started to work this day on dismantling the fixtures and when this work is completed they will have them moved out in the care of Deputy Sheriff James H. Johnston, who made the attachment. The store is one of the largest in town and is considered in a good business section and for that reason, Mr. Seaman said this morning, he and his partner, wished to have it cleared up so another tenant might be secured.

RELIEF CAMPAIGN CLOSES TONIGHT

Hope to See Fund Well Over $20,000 Although $40,000 Is the Goal.

The Manchester Emergency Employment Association's drive for $40,000 will close this evening after a ten day canvass conducted through the organization of citizens known as "The Builders" for the past ten days. In the first five days of the campaign the sum of $7,720 was reported by less than 50 per cent of the organized staff of workers and it is expected that many large contributions will be reported by the 170 team workers at a dinner meeting to be held this evening in the Masonic Temple.

Due to the poor weather conditions workers have been handicapped in calling on prospects over the week end. The large amount of voluntary contributions left at the campaign headquarters has instilled hope in the leaders of the drive that the amount asked will be secured with southern almix.

Preliminary reports of the thirty team captains indicates that while the total amount of the drive may not be secured, a total of over $20,000 will be reported at tonight's meeting.

The meeting tonight in the Masonic Temple will convene at 6:15. All workers are expected to be present and file complete reports.

FEDERAL AID IS NEEDED IN CITIES, SURVEY SHOWS

of our surprise and great disappointment some leaders in the last 72 hours have suggested that the bill be returned to committee. Others have suggested that a program of public works be substituted while another group is against passing the bill but would permit Federal loans to the states.

Are in the Wrong "I want to state to those favoring recommitting the bill because no real need for relief yet has been demonstrated, that they are absolutely wrong.

When those Senate leaders say no direct proof of the need has been given either they are ignorant of the situation as it exists or they possibly feel they have rendered sufficient service and fulfilled their obligation by providing the bankers of the country a dose of $2,000,000,000 none of which will feed or put shoes on the feet of children."

McGrady said neither loans to state nor public works would be adequate. Rev. John R. O'Grady, of the Catholic National Charities, said Federal relief is required for every community in the country "even in the larger cities."

He assailed the Chamber of Commerce and Marie Thorpe, editor of Nation's Business for opposing relief and said they have no substitute remedy for what they call a dole. "We who have been in close contact with relief work have been amazed at the indifference of Congressional leaders," he said. "They have let two months go by without doing anything."

In Chicago Karl Borders, chairman of the Chicago workers committee on unemployment said fully 600,000 men, women and children with no means of support had been made public charges there through no fault of their own.

"On February 7," borders said, "all available funds for relief will be exhausted." He said a special session of the Illinois Legislature "specifically gave more attention to the peasant huns of that state than it did to human mothers."

POLICE WARN YOUTHS "BORROWING" GAS

Early this morning Officer Lucius Thrall brought to the police station two young men who had found loitering around a gasoline station trying to get some gasoline from the hose attached to the gas pumps. At the police station they explained that they were regular patrons of the station and while they had gas enough to get home with they had to make an early start for Hartford this morning and did not have sufficient gasoline.

FOUND ILL IN UNHEATED ROOM, VETERAN SERIOUS

Anthony Gobritus Taken to Veterans Hospital in Newington This Morning.

Anthony Gobritus, a veteran of the World War, was found seriously ill in an unheated room at 46 North Main street early this morning and an emergency call was put in to the police. Joseph J. Moriarty, Commander of Anderson-Shea Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars investigated the case and put in an emergency call for Dr. LeVerne Holmes.

Following the medical examination Gobritus was taken to the Veterans hospital in Newington in its hospital ambulance. Gobritus is suffering from a spinal ailment.

ICE-MAKING WEATHER TOO LATE FOR ANGLERS

Fresh water fishing is now illegal in this state. For two and a half months, from the first days of February till the 15th of April, both pond and lake fishing and stream angling are forbidden by law. On April 15 the trout season will open. Fishing through the ice falls into the same category with any other kind of fishing and became illegal today because all fresh water fishing enters upon a closed season. This winter there has been next to no ice and naturally next to no ice fishing. Ironically the first real ice-making weather we have had since very early in the winter arrives just as the law goes on and the devotees of the tip-up must forego their sport.

ROCKVILLE CONCERN GETS STATUE CONTRACT

Washington Memorial Will Cost $4,000—Base Will Be of Rainbow Granite.

The Washington memorial monument to be erected at Manchester Green in honor of the brief visit the country's first president made here during the Revolutionary war, will cost just under $4,000. This became definite yesterday at a meeting of representatives of various town fraternal and civic organizations at the Manchester Green school when the recommendations of a committee of five headed by John Jensen, were accepted.

The contract for purchase of material and the work involved, was awarded to the Rockville Monumental Works of Rockville, Conn., at a figure of $3,997. This includes the cost of the statue of Washington, the granite base and one bronze tablet.

The contract will be signed in the next few days and work is expected to start April 1 so that the monument may be ready for dedication on July 4. After considerable and thorough study of various types of granite from New England, the Middle West, South, Scotland and Sweden, the committee selected a type generally known as Rainbow or Red Oriental granite.

The rainbow granite was chosen because of its beauty, because of its strength and because of its minimum water absorption. The rainbow granite comes from Minnesota River valley. When thoroughly polished, this kind of granite is also practically immune from pit-marks.

Those present at the meeting voted to accept the committee's suggestion and empowered the committee to sign the contract. Meanwhile the campaign to raise the $4,000 is being carried on throughout the personnel of practically every fraternal and civic organization in Manchester.

SMALL BOAT ADRICT

New London, Feb. 1.—(AP)—A Coast Guard patrol boat went out from this port today to rescue a man reported adrift in a small skiff in Long Island Sound, two miles north of Race Rock Lighthouse. A strong wind was blowing and the seas were high. This station was informed of the man's plight by Fishers Island Station.

OPEN FORUM PRAISES THEATER

Editor of The Herald: In view of the recent discussion regarding the quality of shows provided theatergoers of Manchester at the State theater I thought it might be germane to remark that Broadway, New York, the most up-to-date entertainment mecca in the world, is now featuring among many other films, "Union Depot" and "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," and both at 85 cents a seat.

"Union Depot" opened at the State here Sunday evening and repeats today and Tuesday. "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" was at the State a week ago. In our cozy, clean, well heated and well ventilated theater these shows were shown at 40 cents for the better seats.

Times innumerable when I have been invited to see a movie in Hartford, at one of the leading theaters, I recall having seen the particular film at the State.

I still believe Manchester is the finest town in the world and I for one am proud of our theaters for when we lead Broadway we are hitting some stride.

4-H CLUBS HERE TO HOLD ACHIEVEMENT PROGRAM

Manchester's combined 4H clubs including the sewing, cooking and dairy clubs with a total membership of 25 will hold an "Achievement Night" tomorrow night in the City View dance hall on Keeney street. A one act play, "The Son's Wife" will be presented by the members and several sketches and recitations will also be on the program.

State Club Leader, H. A. Brundage and 4-H extension worker John T. Hale will speak to the members on 4-H activities. A picnic work quilt made by the girls which has been on exhibition in the Textile store on Main street will be raffled off tomorrow night. Members of the three clubs will give short talks on their various activities in club work.

MCCLUSKEY GUEST OF K. OF C. TONIGHT

Will Tell of His Experiences On Track; Brother John To Sing Several Numbers.

Joseph McCluskey, fresh from his victory in the two mile run of the eleventh annual Prout Memorial Games at Boston Saturday night, will speak to the members of Campbell Council, Knights of Columbus, tonight, following the special meeting of the Council in the clubrooms at the State Theater building at 8:30 o'clock. McCluskey will tell of his experiences in the numerous contests in which he participated since last fall.

His brother, John, who is a member of the Fordham Glee Club, will sing several numbers, Joe, who is a sophomore at Fordham, is rated as one of the brightest prospects in the country to capture the 3000 meter steeple chase at the Olympic games at Los Angeles this summer, through his many indoor and outdoor victories, both intercollegiate and national.

Unlike other members of the deer tribe, both sexes of the Barren Ground Caribou have horns, although the horns of the female are shorter than the males.

A Plan for Better "Control-of-Colds" Perfected by Vicks

Greensboro, N. C.—A Plan for better "Control-of-Colds" has been developed by the makers of Vicks VapoRub—the modern, external way of "treating" colds. The Plan is made possible by the new Vicks Nose and Throat Drops, based on a new idea for "preventing" colds. Get a bottle of Vicks Drops now and use with VapoRub as directed in the Vicks Plan—to lessen the number and severity of colds and reduce your family "Colds-Tax" this winter.—Adv.

THURSDAY FEB. 1, 1932

SCHOOL COSTS CUT

Hartford's Board of Finance having cut the Board of Education's appropriation by 80 per cent, or from $388,829 to $148,020, the superintendent of schools regrettably declares that the Board will be compelled to eliminate all new types of work undertaken during the last ten years and put the functions of the Board right back where they were a decade ago. Only those activities then regarded as absolutely essential can be carried on under the cut appropriation, he mourns.
 Of course this cut is by no means equivalent to a 80 per cent reduction in Hartford's school expenditures, for the bulk of these are assumed by the districts and are not affected by the Board of Finance action. But it means a saving of more than $200,000 of the taxpayers' money and it remains to be seen whether anything especially disastrous to Hartford results from the making of that saving. It is to be doubted whether there will be much carping worry, as to that, save among those salary takers who will have to lose their jobs or accept reductions in pay.
 We can imagine a lot of things that might happen to almost any community in Connecticut any of which would involve more suffering than a return to the scale of ten years ago in public school education. By such a return there would be forced to disappear quite a number of very modern decorations and trimmings, but, by and large, the framework and the backbone of the school system would, it is to be anticipated, remain and prove quite serviceable.
 "Every worthwhile development of the past ten years must be scrapped," sighs the Hartford superintendent. That means "vocational guidance and placement activities, adult education, special classes for crippled children," etc. Concerning which there is a considerable body of opinion that these are activities more properly belonging to Soviet Russia than to a country where the individual is expected to stand, to some small degree at least, on his own feet.
 Perhaps Hartford, after all, is going to demonstrate that the school systems of this state are spending a great deal of money which they cannot afford on activities which lean up very hard indeed on the worst side of socialism—and that the sooner we get rid of them the better not only for the public purse but for the quality of the citizenship being developed.

CHURCHILL

There are a good many persons in this country who can never think of Winston S. Churchill, British statesman, as anything but half Yankee and the grandson of sporting old Larry Jerome. To be sure he is as British as John Bull himself in his point of view and in his loyalties, but he is considerable of an American in his manner of expression, in the quality of his humor and in his ability to understand the point of view of his maternal cousins in the States. Also in the fact of his having a sense of actual relationship to the people of this country.
 For which reason it is wise to make considerable allowances for Mr. Churchill's enthusiastic advocacy of a working union between the United States and the British Commonwealth for leadership in world affairs. The celebrated Briton seems to have won his large Hartford audience yesterday by his pleasing formula for English-speaking domination of world affairs. As a matter of fact probably a good many of his hearers needed little winning. Yet after all he seems to us to have built his political and economic plan on a rather narrow base.
 The fuller the mutual understanding between American and the British nations—we use the plural form intentionally—the better, of course. At the same time a common language plus a common culture does not necessarily constitute a firm foundation for universal leadership. Especially when those who share in these things also share in a rather complete bewilderment as to the place to which we ought to lead.

 Not yet has Britain and not yet has America proven beyond reasonable doubt that it is qualified to point the direction in which civilization should trend. We may, between us, be the most worthwhile, most intelligent and most purely motivated peoples in the world. But we haven't demonstrated the fact in any degree sufficient to make its acceptance likely among the quite considerable sprinkling of non-English speaking peoples of the world.
 Let's wait a bit before we declare ourselves joint bosses of the universe, jointly responsible for its success.

MAD DOG!

How could there be serenity in a church if during the service a rabid dog were running up and down the aisles? How can there be peace in the world so long as there is one heavily armed nation whose purpose is to take advantage of general pacifism and carry the sword and the burning brand abroad?
 This Shanghai horror brings the conviction that there can be no peace save through some arrangement that will bring condign retribution automatically upon the head of any aggressor power that undertakes the abominable business of slaughter.
 It has been the fatal weakness of the League of Nations that it reposed confidence in the power of world opinion. It has reckoned without a complete lack of spirituality in certain types of barbarous peoples wearing the veneer of civilization. It has reckoned without the mocking cynicism of such races as the Japanese, whose concord with the civilized nations has been, from the beginning, shot through and through with secret reservations and dreams of "the day."
 We are witnessing, in this manifestation of barbaric cruelty and bloodthirst that marks the rape of Shanghai, the end of an era of illusion. We have come to the terminal point in our altruistic hope of international disarmament and of world wide abandonment of war.
 The world cannot exist half dedicated to peace and half dedicated to war because the warlike half would soon destroy the peaceful half.
 Before the good people in the church could proceed with their calm and happy worship of God they would have to kill the mad dog. Before the world can re-establish itself on a basis of no wars it will have to destroy the potentiality for destruction that is now being left, uninterfered with, in the hands of assassin nations.

FICTIONAL

"The question," says the vice-president of the United States, presiding over the Senate, "is on the engrossment and third reading of the bill." "The bill was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, read the third time and passed," explains the Congressional Record.
 Just like that!
 But let no little boy or girl imagine a gentleman with a steel pen painstakingly rewriting that measure to authorize the expenditure of a million dollars for a Chicago World Fair building, the while a respectful Senate waited; nor yet the same clerk or some other painstakingly reading aloud the text of that important measure before the taking of a vote. For these are strictly matters of fiction. The bill isn't engrossed at all and all of it that is read is its title.
 Just why it should be necessary for legislative bodies to adhere to the dried up skeletons of dead forms nobody knows. But if any of us plain folks back home had the money that it has cost in the last 20 years to print in the Congressional Record these mythical events, he could chuck up his job, dig worms and go fishing in happy security against the poor house.

RAILROAD WAGES

Nothing more significant has come to pass, in the taking of steps to meet the changed economic conditions in this country, than the voluntary acceptance by the railroad unions of a ten per cent wage reduction. While the unions have insisted on the face-saving stipulation that the cut is to continue for a year only, there can be no doubt that they know very well the old wage rate cannot and will not be restored unless there is some very marked and unexpected change in the situation within the next twelve months.
 The railroad workers have displayed extremely good sense in this determination. They have taken a course that will not only be of great assistance in helping to lift the railroad and rail securities out of the bog but will be of the utmost importance in leading the way to wage adjustments in many other lines, long known to be highly essential to a restoration of business.

 There are so many railroad workers, and they constitute, so distinctive a class and are so well organized, that the movement up or down of railroad wages has long been a sort of barometer of general wage trends. Acceptance of a substantial if by no means devastating reduction in remuneration by this great group, then, is an extremely important signal to workers throughout the country that the time has arrived to face facts.
 If the leadership in the building trades labor organizations would display anything like the good sense that has operated in the railroad unions and thereby make it possible for buildings to be erected for somewhere near their true value we would soon experience some tangible results in a definite stimulation of general business. Perhaps they will, now that the railroaders have shown the way.

OLVE THE DEFICIT

When Congress tackles in earnest the great problem of increased taxation to meet the enormous deficit in the national budget its members should be reminded, many times in every day, by letter and telegram from their constituents, that the whole business can be solved, without any new general taxes whatever, by the repeal of the Eighteenth amendment and the imposition of an excise tax on alcoholic liquors heavy enough to raise the needed hundreds of millions. The only people who would suffer from that would be the rum runners, the bootleggers and the racketeers.

IN NEW YORK

New York, Feb. 1.—Notes from a convenient cleft: Guardians of the J. Pierpont Morgan mansion on Murray Hill, I've noted, are among the big town's most watchful. . . . Any effort to lean against the fence or show signs of loafing is summarily discouraged. . . . I've never seen anyone resembling a watchman about the uptown Rockefeller residence.
 Whenever the boys and girls of the press want to be mean about Greta Garbo they refer to her feet. In the manish, unattractive brogans she affects, they seem to be somewhere around number seven. . . . Gloria Swanson, on the other hand—or foot, rather—has the smallest feet among entertainers.
 Heywood Brown, the columnist-critic-actor-producer, and his wife have adopted the Katherine Brush idea of separate penthouses. . . . Each has an individual roof-top lean-to, adjoining, but allowing individual freedom. . . . Each may decorate and operate his own menage according to independent tastes. . . . And there's no one to say that a fellow can't put his feet up on the table.
 Richard Halliburton's unsuccessful effort to fly over Mt. Everest brings from the old cleft a memo concerning the last time I saw this greatest of rovers boys. . . . A party had been staged for him at one of the swanky New York hotels. . . . It so happened that the press-agent who had Halliburton under his wing also handed publicity for Peggy Joyce. . . . Both had books coming out. . . . The p. a. thought it would be a good idea to get them together and drop hints of romance. . . . "But I," boasted Halliburton with serious face, "attempt to achieve only the unusual or impossible. . . ." The idea was canceled because Dick threatened to get stage fright.
 Because she had been away from her hubby so long, Lilyan Tashman usually appeared in the Manhattan night spots with two escorts. . . . People will talk, you know!
 Benn Levy, young British playwright whoseopus, "The Passes," is one of the immediate Broadway hits, had a love-at-first-sight attack when he met his leading lady, Diana Wynyard. . . . The only reason they're not married, it's said, has to do with straightening out family religious notions. . . . Benn is Jewish.
 St. Malachy's—generally referred to as "the actor's church"—uses the good old "pledge" system for those performers who find their cups too tempting.
 When the "pledge" has been taken, the reformed one is given a neat little card that can be handily carried in a pocket. Not only can this card be flashed boastfully, but if some of the boys suggest "just a little nip" it can be produced by way of explanation.
 Scores of stage personalities have been good tipplers and any number of them, having heard of the church's system which has been functioning for many years, have taken out their cards.
 Just a few blocks away, and within jumping distance of the "gay white way," there is a grammar school. When recess is declared or school is out, the youngsters play about in the theater district, quite unconscious, it would seem, of their playground's location. Visitors invariably rub their eyes at the spectacle of crowds of school children using theater lobbies for tag games.

 STARCHY SOUPS FOR WINTER LUNCHEON
 During the cold weather a warming delicious luncheon may be had by using a starchy soup combined with one or more cooked or raw non-starchy vegetables. No fruits or acids should be used with this combination. Here are a few starchy soup suggestions:
 Corn-Mock Oyster Soup
 Parboil, peel and slice saisty roots. Add an equal amount of canned corn and some finely chopped celery. Put in a pan with equal parts of milk and water. Add 2 tablespoonsful of butter. Simmer very slowly until the celery is tender.
 Lima Bean Soup
 Rub 2 cupsful of cooked lima beans through a colander. Add 3 cupsful of hot water, 1 cupful of condensed milk, 1-2 teaspoonful of salt, and 1-4 teaspoonful of celery salt. Mix in 1 tablespoonful of finely chopped parsley. Boil for about 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Serve with a lump of butter in each dish.
 Green Tea and Celery Soup
 Cook the celery until tender and combine with a can of green pea soup or cooked green peas which have been pressed through a colander.
 Split Pea and Turnip Soup
 Soak split peas overnight and in the morning boil over a slow fire until tender. Add the finely chopped tops and roots of several turnips. Boil until the latter are tender, season with salt and serve

DAILY WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer.

Washington.—What's all this talk about the "right to work" that you hear so much about?
 If people have any such right it appears that about 7,000,000 of them are being cheated—deprived, that is, of the right. And yet there appears to be an overwhelming preponderance of opinion that such human being is born with such a right.
 Diligent research fails to discover the recognition of any such right in the Constitution, in the acts of Congress or in the old common law. Federal Judge Wilkerson of Chicago 10 years ago laid down from the bench the dictum that "The right to work is not an absolute right," as he granted a labor injunction.
 That little crack of Wilkerson's, however, is one of the things that will be used against him when progressive members of the Senate try to prevent confirmation of his promotion to the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals. They contend that, although the law books do not mention it, there is an absolute moral right to work, no one dares dispute. Their theory is that every society denies a man the right to work—or a chance to work—it is, in effect, sentencing him to death by starvation or to a life of crime.
 But probably the first attempt to make a legal provision of "the right to work" is advanced by Congressman David John Lewis of Maryland, who was working in the coal mines at the age of nine and is now recognized as one of the most able members of the House. Lewis has introduced a bill for a national system based on the Gerard Swope plan for employment stabilization backed by results of the congressman's studies in this country and Europe. He points out that whereas the Swope program would confer such benefits as old age pensions, life and disability insurance and unemployment insurance on workers already employed, it is also necessary to provide for the unemployed.
 Lewis proposes a semi-compulsory equal division of employment.
 "The right to work is an indisputable right of property," Lewis says, "but it is ineffective because it has not yet been clothed with the same legal sanctions as property. So this right, the most primeval of rights, will not insure the worker a loaf of bread tomorrow, or his wife and children against eviction. The section of my bill undertaking to provide such legal sanctions says:
 "It is hereby declared as a principle of social justice that (a) the citizen possesses a right to work and is entitled to the protection of the laws in asserting such right and in demanding an equal share of the employment available in the trade; and (b) it is also declared to be the duty of the trade association concerned to provide him with an equal share of the employment available for which he is competent; and in default thereof to render him just compensation in lieu thereof."
 The Lewis bill embodies Swope's idea of national trade associations and supervision by the Federal Trade Commission, giving equal representation—three members to employers, three to employees and three to the consuming public—on the trade association managing boards. The boards, Lewis says, would determine monthly the hours of employment available in the coming month, then divide that by the employees having jobs plus the registered craftsmen out of work, arriving at a monthly employment quota per worker. The employer who worked anyone in excess would pay an excise tax equal to half the wages of the overtime involved, to go into the unemployment compensation fund. Disemployed workers would be able to sue the trade associations when they failed to obtain their quotas of employment.

with a lump of butter in each bowl, with Melba toast croutons.
 Potato, Celery, and Squash Soup
 1 cupful of squash, peeled and diced.
 2 potatoes (small), peeled and diced.
 2 tablespoonsful of celery, washed and chopped.
 Water.
 1 cupful of milk.
 Seasoning.
 Boil for 20 minutes. Add milk and season and serve. Enough for four.
 Rice Vegetable Soup
 Chop carrots, turnips, parsley, celery and cabbage, if desired. Add rice which has been washed and soaked overnight. Cook for at least one hour, then season with salt and butter or cream.
 Spaghetti and Pumpkin Soup
 Use 2 cupsful of chopped pumpkin pulp, 1-4 pound of spaghetti, and 6 cupsful of water. Cover these ingredients and boil slowly until the spaghetti is cooked, then add 1 cupful of hot milk and boil for one minute. Add 1 teaspoonful of chopped parsley, 2 tablespoonfuls of butter, and seasoning to taste. (This is a starchy soup and should not be used with acid fruits or a protein meal.)
 (Berries Not Fattening)
 Question: O. J. O. writes: "I would like to know if berries are fattening."
 Answer: The only thing that might be considered fattening about berries is the sugar they contain, which is in such a small quantity that it could not be considered fattening. Of course, if sugar or cream is added to the berries, this would add more calories than the berries themselves contain. If you eat the berries alone, you need have no fear of gaining too much weight.

INFANT PARALYSIS CASES INCREASED

Past Year Saw Record Number In This State—1,133 Reported—Not Severe.

During the year of 1931, there were 1,133 cases of poliomyelitis or infantile paralysis reported in the state of Connecticut, the largest number to occur in any one year although the outbreak from the viewpoint of the case rate and the fatality rate was not as severe as that of 1916, according to an article by Dr. Millard Knowlton, director of the Bureau of Preventable Diseases, appearing in the monthly bulletin of the State Department of Health.

In the article, Dr. Knowlton analyzes the 1931 outbreak of infantile paralysis in every detail, comparing it with previous outbreaks, utilizing statistical data and describing the methods used both to combat the spread of the disease and to effect the cure of those afflicted.

Began in July
The outbreak began in July with the reporting of 49 cases. The disease then followed its typical curve of incidence, reaching its peak in the first week of September with the reporting of 155 cases. The outbreak slowly declined until only eight cases were reported in December.

Despite the fact that the 1,133 cases were the largest number to develop in the state in any one year, the statistics prove that it was less severe than the epidemic of 1916 when 951 cases were reported. With the increase in population from 2,291,989 in 1916 to 2,335,497 in 1931, the case rate or the number of cases per 100,000 population for the latter year was 69.3 as compared with 73.6 for 1916. It would have required seventy more cases in 1931 for the case rate to equal that of 1916. The fatality rate, that is the percentage of cases which prove fatal, showed a marked improvement over the 1916 figure. In 1916, there were 277 deaths from poliomyelitis, a fatality rate of 29.7. For the first eleven months of 1931, there were only ninety deaths reported, meaning that the deaths in 1931 will be approximately one-third of the number for 1916 and that the fatality rate for 1931 will be about eight per cent. Hartford, New Haven and Waterbury were the cities most severely hit in the 1931 outbreak.

Warnings Heeded
Warning of the imminent epidemic was heeded by the health authorities as early as the latter part of July when increased incidence of poliomyelitis was observed in New York. Representative of the state department of health of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut met in conference that month and laid careful plans for handling the outbreak. Circular letters were prepared by the Connecticut department and sent to all directors of camps, superintendents of children's institutions, superintendents of hospitals, physicians and health officers, in order that they might have full information at hand concerning the disease. As a result, visitors at camps and children's institutions were discouraged or banned by quarantine. This move is believed to have had a definite effect in limiting the spread of the disease.

Blood was obtained from many who had formerly suffered from infantile paralysis and used to prepare poliomyelitis convalescent serum. This was made available for cases in the pre-paralytic stage, although the results of its use were not definite in many cases.

In confirming diagnosis in the pre-paralytic stage, examination of the spinal fluid is essential, so the State Department of Health made available for taking this test specially trained epidemiologists to assist the local health officers. Five physicians were kept on the move day and night making examinations during the outbreak. They examined 308 persons in all and traveled more than 10,000 miles in carrying out their duties.

Respirators Purchased
Every effort was made to have hospitals obtain mechanical respirators for those whose breathing apparatus had been affected. Four respirators were purchased by the State Department of Health and loaned to hospitals to supplement their equipment. Reports indicate that a number of lives were saved by the use of the mechanical "lungs."

Information concerning the treatment of convalescent patients left suffering from paralysis was compiled by the department and disseminated generally. The treatment of poliomyelitis requires exceptionally careful and well supervised exercise, so that the patient's muscles and nerves will not be permanently injured.

TILSON'S WARNING
Washington, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Administration disapproval of far reaching Congressional proposals to place the government behind reclamation and drainage bonds was forecast today by Representative Tilson, (R. Conn.).

The former Republican floor leader expressed the opinion that many of the proposals were justified. "Of all times, however, this is not the time to have the government plunge millions of dollars into these channels," Tilson said. He contended that they would be "no stopping place," and that the cost might run into the hundreds of millions or even a billion.

SLAYER HANGED

Winnipeg, Man., Feb. 1.—(AP)—James McGrath, convicted butcher-knife murderer of his 19-year-old wife at Souris, Man., was hanged at Headingly jail today.

The Girl Scouts of America, which recently celebrated its 19th birthday, has 250,000 members in 8,900 troops.

At White House Conference

Queer Twists In Day's News

Huntington, W. Va.—It may be concluded that white ants are opposed to education. They have just finished consuming two year supply of high school diplomas stored at the Department of Education.

San Jose, Calif.—R. A. Saxton's automobile plunged into a 200-foot canyon and Saxton lives to tell it. Rescuers found him seriously hurt, but alive. He had been plunged into the swollen waters of a creek.

Colfax, Wash.—Hugh McKuen who said he had "one most everything one should do" as far as his health was concerned, is dead at the age of 105.

Washington.—Americans smoked only 113,449,048,857 cigarettes in 1931. The revenue department says this was 6,200,000,000 less than in the previous year.

Pittsfield, N. J.—George Galano was shot in the overcoat pocket. A holdup man fired at him. The bullet spent its force against the heavy weave of his coat and came to rest harmlessly in the pocket.

New York.—The stork gave orders to the captain of a Providence-bound boat yesterday. Learning that the bird was hovering over the stateroom of Mrs. Gertrude Travers, the captain turned the boat around, docked, called a doctor, waited while an eight-pound daughter was born to Mrs. Travers, and then steamed on for Providence with the new passenger.

Y. M. C. A. Notes

The first of the women's cooking classes will be held in the Y. M. C. A. at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Tonight's basketball games at the Harding school pair up the Boy Scout Troop No. 8 with the Bon Ami Chicks, the Arrows with the North End Boys Club and the Y. M. C. A. Seconds with the Eagles while tomorrow night the Original Thirteen plays the Pirates and the Y. M. C. A. first team tackles Hazardville in a senior county Y. league game.

Commands 31st Infantry

Col. Lorenzo D. Gasser is commander of the 31st U. S. Infantry, totaling 1000 men, which has been ordered to proceed to Shanghai aboard the Army Transport Chaumont, for the protection of American citizens in the beleaguered Chinese port.

NEW DEVELOPMENTS IN POLITICAL RACE

New Jersey Republicans Wants to Know Hoover's Views on Prohibition.

Washington, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The incessant swing of political weather vane has brought new developments in the contest for the year's presidential prize.

The engrossing Smith-Roosevelt pincer in the Democratic fold developed a bit over the week-end, but most conspicuous of the new factors was one affecting the virtually unopposed Herbert Hoover.

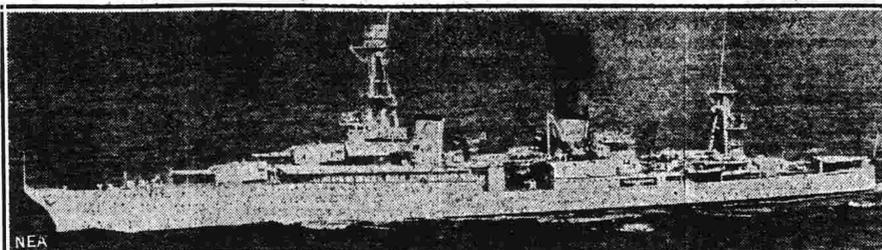

Anti-prohibition pressure on the President was the interpretation placed here on the New Jersey Republican committee's failure to come out at once for the renomination of Mr. Hoover. This state was one of the first to enroll under the Hoover banner in 1928 but now its party heads have put off deciding whether to send their delegation to the convention uncommitted, or to support the President.

Democratic News
Democracy's news was led by a Massachusetts declaration for Alfred E. Smith. Governor Ely and Senator Walsh, important in the party councils of the Bay State were the supporters of the enigmatically silent New Yorker.

Time is soon to bring a showdown on his intentions, however. Work for Governor Roosevelt's declared candidacy is being pushed in Massachusetts and many other sections. There is prediction that Smith's name will go formally into New Hampshire's March 8 primary. If he makes no move to stop it, this state and one or two others in the east will bring Smith into a head-on collision with his successor.

The week-end brought also a new call for a Third Party, uttered by John Dewey of Columbia University, head of the League for Independent Political Action. It was he who, a year ago, started a short-lived boom for the veteran George Norris of Nebraska. Dewey and his cohorts now name no candidate.

ASIATIC FLEET'S FLAGSHIP DISPATCHED TO WAR-TORN CITY

Sailing at the head of six destroyers, the U. S. Cruiser Houston (shown above), flagship of the Asiatic fleet, left Manila for war-stricken Shanghai to aid in protecting American citizens imperiled by Japanese-Chinese conflict. Rear Admiral Montgomery Taylor was aboard. The Houston carries 83 officers and 512 men, with nine eight-inch guns, four five-inch anti-aircraft guns, two triple torpedo tubes and four aircraft.

● Examine various cigarettes, and you'll find they are not all alike in size. Yet our scientists say their tests and research fix one definite size standard as the best. For a given length, our experts say, there is one right diameter . . . to make the draft right . . . to make the cigarette burn right.

Not only that, when the size is right, the cigarette lasts longer, and smokes cooler. And that "right" size is exactly the standard Chesterfield size.

A detail? Of course—but a mighty important one, figured in extra coolness and comfort. It's by constant attention to just such details that Chesterfield sets cigarette standards.

Notice how round and full each Chesterfield is—how firmly packed. There are two "electric detectives" on every packing machine, to check this detail also!

The right size . . . and the right quality. Chesterfield never changes either one. Measure them any way you want—with ruler, microscope, or test-tube.

Or measure them in the surest way of all—by milder and better taste. And you'll find—They Satisfy! Good, they've got to be good!

WEATHER SAMPLES FEATURE WEEK-END

Rain, Fog, Sunshine and Then Near Zero Temperature All Within 3 Days.

Manchester awoke to view a strange spectacle this morning.
Where last week brown lawns were sprouting green, buds on shrubs were starting to open and crocuses were reported in bloom in many places, near-zero weather sweeping out of the northwest yesterday drove the struggling robins and bluebirds back to the swamps with the advent of the first winter weather in a month.

The cold wave was borne to the New England section in the van of winds of gale proportions which whipped the harbor viciously all day yesterday, raising clouds of January, just and October leaves.
No better example of the vagaries of New England weather has been furnished this winter than was shown here in the past 72 hours, with rain, fog and freezing weather overlapping in rapid succession.

Reports of a frigid wave to near zero were received this morning, the wind helping to keep the mercury from rising below the zero mark.
No cases of distress were reported to the town charity department as freezing weather had been anticipated and the needs of families had been taken care of by the charity department.

Last night's freeze-up was the third of the season which has been favorable for the execution of local unemployment projects at Mt. Nebo, Porter street school and in other sections of the town.

Although cold weather is expected this month,
the days are lengthening and days of sunshine will soon warm down the remaining winter months.
Yesterday afternoon's and last night's cold wind brought business to the different gasoline stations where alcohol for radiators was purchased, but it also caused considerable damage to awnings and overhead signs. The sign that extends over the Waverlake Hotel building in a two sided V shape was blown to pieces and this morning the only trace of it is the twisted frame with the electric light sockets showing where the sign once hung.

Nathan Marlow was out of town yesterday and had left his awnings down to protect the goods in the windows from the sun. He did not return in time to get them rolled up and at 8 o'clock last night the wind got under them and before it was over two of his large awnings were lifted to four or five sections and left to fall to the ground. The awning was later partly fixed up and rolled into place by one of the store keepers along the street and later on, when Mr. Marlow arrived home, he was notified by the police of the trouble.

WAPPING

George W. Skinner who has been ill at his home with pneumonia and under the care of Dr. Higgins of Manchester, is reported to be much better today.

Mrs. Edith S. House is ill at her home and threatened with pneumonia.

The annual community supper, which was given by the Federated church last Friday evening, at the Wapping school hall, was well attended in spite of the bad weather, there being over two hundred present. A fine supper was enjoyed 125 sitting down to the first tables.
After the supper, there was a fine program enjoyed by all. There was chorus singing which was led by Rev. David Carter, music by Mr. and Mrs. Joyner of Manchester, and a sketch by two young men from Hazardville, instrumental music by Mr. Carter and Mr. Phelps of Hartford entertained the crowd by telling stories and the program was closed by chorus singing.

David Collins, son of Mr. and Mrs.
Asher A. Collins, entertained his school mates of the primary room,
at his home, last Friday afternoon.
The occasion was in honor of his sixth birthday. There were about twenty-five children present.

Rev. Harry S. Martin and Deacon
John S. Clapp, of the South Windsor
First congregation, will be delegates to the Ordination services of the Rev. Dudley Snowman at the Hockanum church, Wednesday, February 17.

Miss Charlotte Clapp of East Windsor Hill spent the week-end as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. F.
Barber and family of East Windsor.
The Federated Workers will hold their next meeting on Friday afternoon, February 5, at the home of Mrs. David Burnham, of Pleasant Valley. Mrs. Gertrude Simpson will assist Mrs. Burnham as hostess.

PATENT EXHIBITION

Philadelphia, Feb. 1.—(AP)—An airplane which never has left the ground but whose inventor claims for it a speed of 1,500 miles an hour and a bathroom lampshade which dries razors and toothbrushes, are ranged side by side at the Third International Patent Exposition which opened at the Convention Hall today.

In addition there is a chin rest for barber shop wash bowls designed to keep the soap out of the customer's mouths, a rod holder for lazy fishermen, an orange peeler, a pie pan with gutters to keep the stove clean, an "amphibious" sled with wheels to be let down on bare ground and soap that hangs on a hook.

Inventors from all parts of the country and from abroad have placed their contrivances on display in the hope of finding buyers or back-ers. They come from all walks of life, and their brain-children are no indication of their personalities.

ROCKVILLE

James Loney Arrested
James Loney, of Manchester was before Judge John E. Fisk in the Rockville Police Court on Saturday morning at 9 o'clock and was fined $22.88, including costs and given ten days in Toland County Jail. Loney was charged with assault and battery and intoxication, and was arrested early Saturday morning on Village street where he caused a disturbance following a dance. The arrest was made by Supernumerary Policeman James Doherty.

Speaker at Anniversary
Rev. Mott Thornberg of Boston, Mass., Grand Prelate of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts, will be the speaker at the sixty-eighth anniversary of Damon Lodge to be held at Union Congregational church on Sunday evening, February 21. Rev.
George S. Brookes, pastor of the church is Grand Prelate of the Connecticut Grand Lodge. Samuel C.
Kone of Hartford, Grand Chancellor of the K. of P. of Connecticut will also be present.

It has also been announced that the double male quartet of the Independent Order, Grand Templars of Worcester, Mass., will sing.
Walter Kemple, district Deputy Grand Chancellor of this city is chairman of arrangements.

Heating Comfortably
An x-ray picture taken by Dr.
John E. Flaherty at the Rockville City Hospital on Saturday revealed that Harry Gibson, 62, of 72 Village street had a fractured hip cap. He was injured by an automobile driven by Harry Bourdeau of Spring street at the intersection of Crocker and Village streets on Friday night.
It is claimed by Bourdeau that Gibson stepped off the curb into the fender of the car as he was turning the corner. The police are investigating.

50th Wedding Anniversary
Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Johnson of Cedar street celebrated the 50th anniversary of their wedding in Red Men's Hall, national bank building on Saturday afternoon and evening. The hall was gayly decorated for the occasion. At 6 o'clock a delicious chicken dinner was served. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, both of this city, entering. There were assisted in serving of Miss Helen Ertel, Hazel and Emma Johnson and Miss Myrtle Oelzowski.

In the receiving line with Mr.
and Mrs. Johnson standing the guests present were their eight children.
A program of vocal solo and musical numbers featured following the dinner hour and dancing was also enjoyed. Cakes, Brothertons and George Heer furnished the music.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson received many beautiful gifts of silver, among which was a silver set from their children. They also received flowers and cards extending congratulations for many more years of happy wedded life.
Guests were present from Rockville, Manchester, Hartford and Haydenville, Mass. The couple were married in the latter place.

Held Open House
Mr. and Mrs. Alden Usher of the Ogden Corner section held open house on Sunday from 1 to 6 p. m. in honor of their 25th wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Usher have twelve called during the afternoon to congratulate the couple. They received many beautiful and costly gifts. The home was most attractively decorated for the occasion with cut flowers, many being the gifts of friends.
A luncheon was served and a musical program featured.

Usher was married to Miss Nellie Boucher at St. Bernard's church on Jan. 20, 1907. They have lived here since and long before their marriage, they were both residents of Rockville. The couple have three daughters, Mrs. Mildred St. Louis, Miss Ellen Usher and Miss Alice
Usher, also three granddaughters.

Personal Tax Collector Kerwin A. Elliott has announced there are yet about 300 of the 3772 men and women on the personal tax lists who have failed to pay their personal taxes for the year 1931. The tax bills will be mailed out this week. Some of those who have not already paid their taxes have notified the collector that they are unemployed and unable to pay the required sum until they can get work.
This is the first year that so many have been late in paying up, and this is due to the fact that so many are out of work at the present time.

Hearing Saturday
A hearing was held Saturday morning at the police headquarters on the accident that occurred at Talcottville last Sunday morning when a automobile driven by Arthur Stryby, of 158 West Main street, this city, and Daniel Howe, of 1454 Boulevard, West Hartford, was swiped. The accident occurred during a heavy fog so no court action was taken.

The Rockville Fire Department will hold its regular monthly meeting this week. On Tuesday night the Hook and Ladder company
meets at the Prospect house; Wednesday night the Fitch boys meet at the Center house. On Thursday evening the Hockanum Company meets at the West Main street house. The latter company will elect its officers for the ensuing year.

There will be a joint meeting of the entire department this evening in the Fitch house in the center of the city. Plans for the annual fair will be completed.

Lewis L. Carter, of Simers, who was employed in the mine laying service during the World War, will tell of his experiences at the meeting of the Rockville Lions club to be held at the Rockville House on Wednesday. Francis Prichard will preside. Luncheon will be served.

Notes
The flowers on the communion
table at Sunday morning at Union Congregational church were brought in loving memory of Charles Eli-worth Nettleton by the family;
those on the piano were in fond remembrance of Miss Mary Wickes, for many years librarian at the M. W.
well Free Reading rooms, located in the church.

Hartford, director of the Rockville Boys' band, spent Sunday with friends in Rockville.

ATHLETE IN COURT

New York, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The wife of Homer Baker, former Olympic and middle distance champion, brought a black eye into Magistrate's Court today, and charged the runner with assault in the third degree. With permission of the court she withdrew the complaint, and Baker promised not to hit her again.
Baker told the court he had no intention of striking his wife, but that "she flew at me while I was lying down and I struck her."
Magistrate David Malbran told him to wear boxing gloves whenever he lay down hereafter.

C. OF C. OPPOSED

Washington, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The Chamber of Commerce of the United States announced flat opposition today to proposals for increasing the individual limit on postal savings accounts from $2,500 to $5,000 or $10,000.

In a letter to Representative Mead (D., N. Y.), chairman of the House committee handling postal legislation, Silas H. Strawn, president of the organization, said the legislation would hurt banks by causing depositors to switch their funds and would increase the government's competition with private business.

BIG AMERICAN FLEET
STARTS FOR HONOLULU

Naval Base, San Pedro, Calif.,
Feb. 1.—(AP)—The United States battle fleet weighed anchor today and slipped out into the Pacific, westward bound, fully equipped for any emergency.

Decks are cleared for action, battle orders in the hands of all units, radios silenced and the 65 ships and their crews ready, together with an army expeditionary force conveyed by the fleet, to "recapture the Hawaiian Islands."

Nine super-dreadnaughts, two giant aircraft carriers with some 200 military airplanes, six fleet submarines, thirty odd destroyers, four scout cruisers, two transports and all the necessary army supply, hospital and repair ships, as well as mine sweepers, comprise the force which left the naval base of San Pedro, San Diego and San Francisco.

Thus began the 1932 joint Army-Navy maneuvers. Admiral Richard H. Leigh, battle force commander, is in command of the great "Blue" fighting force. His mission is to recapture the Hawaiian Islands, which theoretically for the purpose of these exercises, are in the hands of the "Black" force.

Down in the Hawaiian Islands
Major General Brian H. Wells, Army commander, with Rear Admiral George T. Pettengill, naval commander, have the mission of holding the islands against this attack.

BELIEVE EIGHT DIED
WHEN PLANE CRASHED

Los Angeles, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The storm-swept Tehachapi mountain range today concealed the fate of five men and three women who left Bakers Field last Friday aboard a Century Pacific air liner and vanished.

Mountaineers, airplane pilots, state highway police and sheriff's deputies, awaited a break in the weather before plunging into the snowbound wilderness to resume their search for the eight, now believed dead.

Mountain residents have told searchers of a plane, apparently in trouble, which appeared over that section Friday afternoon.

Those aboard the plane were Frank Dewar, 48, chief criminal deputy sheriff of Los Angeles county; Miss Marie Combs, 18, of Hollywood; Spencer Swan, 71, retired contractor of Long Island, N. Y., living at Pomona, Calif.; Miss Nita McGrath, 22, of Berkeley, Calif.;
Mrs. Margaret Fickelsen, 55, and W.
H. Smith, 40, San Francisco business men and the pilot, J. V. Sand-blom of Los Angeles, 42.

HEARST ASKS QUESTION

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 1.—(AP)— Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, was confronted today with the question, "What is your attitude toward the League of Nations?"

In a letter published yesterday
William Randolph Hearst antagonist of the League, demanded that Mr.
Roosevelt publicly declare in this respect.

The attitude of presidential aspirants toward the League was brought to the fore last week by Newton D.
Baker, also considered presidential timber. Always in the past an advocate of United States entrance into the League, Mr. Baker said in effect this was no time to make an issue of the problem.

Mr. Roosevelt's League announcement—if he decides to take formal cognizance of the question—is awaited with interest since he and Mr. Baker may be found on opposing fronts at the Democratic convention in Chicago next June.

BRITISH ACTOR DIES

London, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The death of Herbert Waring, 74, noted British actor was announced today. He made several tours of the United States. His first appearance on the stage took place 55 years ago at the Adelphi Theater in London.

STATE ALTERS BLANKS
FOR VITAL STATISTICS

New standard forms for the registration of births and deaths by physicians, registrars, hospital superintendents, undertakers, embalmers and midwives have been adopted by the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Department of Health and have been put in use, it was announced today. The new form of blanks are the final outgrowth of many recommendations made to the Bureau of Census in Washington and are used by the majority of the states. Their use will greatly aid the compiling of comparable statistics by the federal government. In making the change, the Connecticut department retained the size of its former blanks which are considerably larger than the government forms, so that no change will be necessary in the filing and binding of the certificates.

CATHOLIC CHURCH BURNS

Attleboro, Mass., Feb. 1.—(AP)—
In a four-alarm fire early today St.
John's Roman Catholic church on North Main street, the oldest Catholic church in the city, was destroyed by fire, a barn on the estate of Clarence Watson directly back of the church was destroyed and several dwellings were in flames at one time, but were saved from destruction by efforts of the local firemen and aid summoned from North Attleboro. The fire was believed to be under control with a loss estimated at $100,000.

THREE KINDS OF LOVE

BY KAY CLEAVER STRAHAN

BEGIN HERE TODAY.
ANN and CECILY FENWICK have for years supported themselves, their younger sister, MARY-FRANCES, and their grandparents, known as "ROSALIE" and "GRAND." Because of this financial responsibility, Ann, who is 28, is unable to marry PHIL ECROYD, young lawyer to whom she has been engaged for eight years. Cecily, 22, loves BARRY MCKEEL, an engineer, but when he proposes she refuses to name their wedding date for the same reason.

Mary-Frances, 15, and still in school, believes herself in love with EARL DE ARMOUNT, vaudeville actor whom she has met without the knowledge of her sisters. He urges her to leave home and become his stage partner.

Ann and Phil quarrel when she hears LETTY KING, who works in Phil's office building, address him with endearments. Ann tries to forget Phil by going about with KENNETH SMITH, rich and attentive, but when Smith asks her to marry him she refuses.

Mary-Frances agrees to go away with De Armount. They set out in his car. The same day Cecily quarrels with her grandfather. She comes home with news that she and Barry are to be married that evening. Ann discovers Mary-Frances is missing, learns she has eloped with De Armount. Immediately a search is begun. Phil Ecroyd comes to help. Ann is nearly frantic until Mary-Frances returns home, explaining she became hungry and De Armount refused to buy her a meal.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XLVII
After the parlor door had slid back, Cecily had clicked the lights on, and all the fat little cherubs on the ceiling, twining blue ribbons and red roses about through soap-sudsy clouds, smirked; and Barry loosed the dark, dusty folds of curtain, and they fell again into straight lines behind Cecily and him.

"Well," she said, "last act. Curtain drops. Here we are taking our call—but there isn't any applause."
"Don't make fun, Cecily, please." "I'm not making fun."
"I know."
"Barry—you do understand? Leaving Ann was impossible enough before—especially after this with Mary-Frances. But now that Phil has come back—I can't do it. They have waited eight years. It was so good today. So happy and unselfish. If Ann could manage without me and allow me to marry, then I must manage without her. It isn't self-sacrifice. It is simply being decent. You understand?"

"I am afraid I have to."
"But, perhaps," Barry said, after several silent minutes, "we are making tragedy where there isn't any—or out of a comedy. After all, simply because things have gone wrong this once is no reason for this finally—the despair. I think it is merely the let-down for us after our fright about Mary-Frances."
"Perhaps."
"Darling—let's be sensible. We're just the same persons that we were this afternoon, up in the hills. We love the same way. We aren't quitters—just because our plans didn't work out this one evening. Are we?"

"No."
"What is it, dear? We've been frightened—horribly. Well, that's over with. Just now we are both sort of unmanly with disappointment. But that will pass, too; and be over with."
"No."
"Surely it will. And then we can begin making other plans."
"No."
"Darling—you're getting into a habit. Can't you say, 'Yes, once or twice, for change?'"
"Yes. We could begin to plan and to wait. We could. But you haven't lived here and watched Ann and Phil as I have for years. I wouldn't do that to you, Barry. And I wouldn't allow you to do it to me. And there is your writing. I remember what you said about that today—how the uncertainty affected it."

"Perhaps I was trying to bluff you, sweet."
"No, you weren't."
"No, I wasn't. But if we were engaged, I wasn't. Let's put romancing aside and be practically and conventionally engaged, for a short time at least, and—"
"And then what?"
"What do you mean, 'And then what?'"
"After we've been engaged for a short time, properly and conventionally, then what shall we do? We won't be able to be properly and conventionally married, you know."
"Of course we shall. We'll plan. We'll shape circumstances instead of allowing them to shape us. Cecily, for the love of Pete—think of it! You don't expect me to go out of that front door of yours tonight and never see you again? You don't expect that you don't want it. You can't! I'm emerging from the fog we were both in a while ago. What was the matter with us, anyway? We love each other like the devil and all, just because we missed a date with a minister tonight, are we linked? We are not."
"I feel as if we were."
"We aren't. You're tired—bless your heart—you're tired to death. You need to go to bed, and I'm going to leave and give you a chance to sleep and rest. I'll have to buzz to Albany tomorrow. But I'll drive down Saturday night and stay Saturday evening and Sunday together. I'll get my plotting mind to work, and I'll have a dozen or so on hand for your approval—plans, ways to work this thing out."
"Today you said you wouldn't—couldn't I mean, wait for me."
"My plans aren't going to have a lot to do with waiting. Here's one I've just evolved. If Ann marries—or even if she doesn't, though undoubtedly she will—why couldn't we marry and live on here and look after the old people and Mary-Frances together? Fool finances—all that. It wouldn't be ideal; but it would be better than a separation, better than waiting forever. Surely that's room enough. I could keep out from under foot—least every one's foot—feet, but yours. We'd sneak away a lot and be alone together. I could build the fires in the mornings, get the wood up—save you in all sorts of ways. Sounds to me like a pretty grand, damfine plan."
"No," said Cecily. This great cold, draughty house for Barry in the winter time. No sun—no fresh air unless one froze while getting it. He was not strong, though he thought that he was. The work, the thousand petty annoyances, and Barry's uncertain—well, temperamental ways. The financial burden. Suppose she lost her job? Dump the whole thing on Barry to keep up?"

"If you won't go with me, dear: if you persist in objecting to anything I may propose, it does get hopeless, doesn't it? I won't wait, year in and out. I can't. But there is nothing I won't do, aside from waiting, in order to marry you. I'll pocket my pride; come here and live; allow you to keep on working."
"People," said Cecily, and went to stand alone near the fireplace, "can't be married feeling that way. You never like anything you pay too much for. You—me, I mean, of course, always feels sort of spiteful about it."
"Cecily, if you deliberately misinterpret everything I say—"
Grand, looking grimmer than usual, followed by Rosalie, more fluttery than usual, came into the room. Cecily, who had put a hand on the mantel and was resting her head on it, did not trouble to lift her head; she merely rolled it to one side and looked at them. It was a relief, just the same, when midway of the room and after Grand had said, "Good evening, sir," to Barry, Ann came out from behind Rosalie.

"May I ask," Grand went on, "why you are here at my home, at this hour, with my granddaughter Cecily?"
Barry did not do nearly so well as Phil had done. He did not slich Grand's manner. He blushed. "We came in rather late, Mr. Fenwick. Cecily has suggested that I leave."

Cecily said, "You are only just coming in yourselves. Why shouldn't Barry be here? It is my home, too."
Grand, Rosalie, and Ann all began, at the same instant, to say something. Rosalie went, "Of course, dear, it is your home," she said, "and has been for many, many happy years. A nest for our three—our little girls. But we thought, dear, that perhaps Barry—I may call you 'Barry,' mayn't I?—was hoping to persuade you to build a cozy nest for two—you two—elsewhere?"
"As to that," Barry spoke right up, "I want very much to marry Cecily, I—"
"You love her?" This right over again from Grand. "You can support her?"
"Naturally, I love her. And she loves me. We can live, for a time, on what I am making now. I hope to do better."
Cecily took Barry's arm. "Come," she said, and began to walk with him toward the door.

Grand said, "Cecily, one moment, if you please."
Cecily pretended she had not heard; but, at the portieres, Barry paused, in spite of her tugging, and said, "Good night," politely, if not cheerily, to everyone.

"And to you, my boy," Grand said, "good night."
Ann had almost reached the portieres, sort of snaking away, before Grand's words halted her. "Ann, it is my desire that you inform Cecily that I wish to speak to her, and you, here and now."
"She is tired this evening, Grand, and—"
"That I regret. I do indeed. Though I see no reason for this up-winded weariness since she has chosen to entertain a young gentleman until this hour."
"She is very sorry about this evening, Grand. She will tell you so this morning, I am sure."
There is, however, a certain matter which I have decided now to go into and without further delay. I myself am weary. And with cause. With cause. I may not be able to arise in time to speak with you both in the mornings. Also, in my experience, neither of you has much leisure in the morning. No. Do not say tomorrow evening. I am not blaming you. I am not blaming Cecily. But I must remind you that days have elapsed in this house when I have not been granted so much as a glance at either of you. It is my desire to speak with you both. Not tomorrow. Not the next day, nor the following week. Here and now. Do not force me, Ann, to frame my request as a command."
Cecily was standing alone in the hall, looking at the squares of colored glass in the panels of the closed front doors. Ann said, "Cissy, honey, I'm sorry, but I'm afraid we'll have to go back into the parlor. Something seems to be up. Goodness knows what. Grand is still furious, apparently. I am afraid we're in for a bed few minutes."
"No. I'm going straight to bed. I'll lock my door."
"Ann!"

"Ann! Are you going to march back in there and put up with more of that?"
"I'll have to, for a minute. I'll cut it as short as I can."
"Of course, then, I'll have to come too. It isn't right of you, Ann. It isn't fair. You force me into things of this sort. You don't seem to realize what I've been through today. I won't—"
Grumbling, scolding, threatening, she went with Ann into the parlor.

Hints on How to Keep Well by World Famed Authority.

SKILLED TRADESMEN ARE MOST SUBJECT TO ILLS, HURTS
By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Evidence is available to indicate that certain occupations carry with them a greater likelihood of illness and injury than do others. A survey made by the United States Public Health Service showed that the highest rate of physical impairment were found among workers in the following trades: metal workers and carpenters, a group in which noise is a definite factor. For carious teeth and pyorrhea painters have the highest rates, perhaps associated with their constant contact with lead. Constipation is found most frequently among workers in sedentary occupations. Varicose veins are seen most frequently among workers who are constantly on their feet, and backache was seen most frequently among miners who are usually working in a stooping position. Flat-feet are found exclusively among waiters, domestic help, barbers and butchers—again a group compelled to be much on the feet.

Persons classified as in the skilled trades show the unusually high rates of impairment in the form of uncorrected defective vision, defective hearing, bad teeth, slightly infected gums, insufficient dentistry, habitual colds and bronchitis, disturbances of the heart and blood vessels, constipation, backache and pneumonia. Moreover, the skilled worker showed a higher rate in the use of patent medicines and the habitual use of laxatives and in various kidney diseases.

A recent survey by the United States Public Health Service attempts to find out whether or not the occupation bears any direct relationship to the fact that workers in the skilled trades should have great impairment than those in their occupations. For instance, it is found that uncorrected defective vision was seen more frequently among garment workers and tailors, a group whose eyesight is constantly strained. Defective hearing is found most frequently among blacksmiths, foundry workers, metal workers and carpenters, a group in which noise is a definite factor. For carious teeth and pyorrhea painters have the highest rates, perhaps associated with their constant contact with lead. Constipation is found most frequently among workers in sedentary occupations. Varicose veins are seen most frequently among workers who are constantly on their feet, and backache was seen most frequently among miners who are usually working in a stooping position. Flat-feet are found exclusively among waiters, domestic help, barbers and butchers—again a group compelled to be much on the feet.

Thus the higher rates for skilled workers are explained in some instances by the occupation. In most instances, however, they seem to be the result of several factors, including social, educational, and economic causes and, of course, any type of injury may occur in any class of worker. The survey emphasizes particularly the necessity of a thorough study of every case in order to eliminate not only the direct causes but also the indirect causes of disease.

Two standard 150-watt electric lamps in the top and bottom of a new stove gives heat enough to cook an entire meal in three hours, insulated walls retaining the heat.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

In Europe there's a quaint phrase for an especially well-trained and ingratiating waiter, "He puts his back into it!"

Well, if you want to take a few pounds off your frame and if you want to limber up to present a lithe figure to set off spring clothes, "Put your back into it!"

You have to limber up that stiff old spine of yours. If you emulate your pet cat in the way she can ripple her back, it would be great. Most folks aren't even conscious of having separate vertebrae!

Mornings and evenings you must give some time to this spine. When you get out of bed, the first thing you should do is to stretch your spine as much as possible so that the little cushions between vertebrae will lift to separate each part of your spine.

Clasp your hands above your head. Then swing them to one side. Reach them as far toward the ceiling as you can, forcing them to the other side and reach for the ceiling again. You will sigh involuntarily. That's great. That lets out all used air and your lungs just fill up automatically with fresh air (provided you have your windows open as you should!)

When you swing your hands (still held together) way over to one side, you should feel the pull in the opposite side, along in the area by the ribs. Just let it pull and pull. That's where you need to stretch. Get a bit muscle conscious about that area and you'll find you are holding yourself up much better, your walk will be lighter and you'll feel better.

This same exercise is grand in the middle of the day or during that let-down-after-lunch period. It wakes you up. It starts circulation and stretches that back of yours. What more could you ask?

YOUR CHILDREN

by Olive Roberts Barton
BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

It is odd how we think of colds as inevitable. I know of no other way in which we are so careless. We are not only careless ourselves, but we absolutely neglect giving children instructions about themselves.

In the first place, when one good cold gets into the house it is a bad actor. Before that cold is ended it goes right through the family generally. Some throw it off; others, a little below par, or tired, or more susceptible, may go through a long stage of complications from a small beginning.

So it seems to me to be not only sensible but a duty to put the intruder disease behind bars, or better still, not let him in at all. First, you can't put the same clothes on children in zero weather that you do in summer when the thermometer is up to 80. Yet houses and schoolrooms often get up to that. Seventy should be the temperature, but quite often it is over that.

But even seventy! And zero into one and sneezes into "Ts handkerchiefs, or cloths, should be boiled or put into a disinfectant. Each child should always have his own towel and wash rag, but now it is absolutely urgent. An his toothbrush should hang by itself.

If he has a temperature a doctor should be called, the child should not go out, and even his dishes should be kept apart or disinfected. We call them "colds," but there is a great variety of low-grade germs that go by the name too. We should ask our doctor about medication and not go guessing.

The oldest national flag in the world is that of Denmark; it has been used since 1319.

cause of the way they are dressed but in spite of it.

At night I believe in fresh air. But here it is again. Are the dressed for a room down to outside temperature? Are their heads covered? Are their night clothes warm? Do they sleep with the wind whistling in to get at uncovered bodies and chests exposed to danger? Are there screens to break the draft? Have they a warm place to pop into to dress?

Don't let children go out without breakfast—something warm, too.

Don't let them go out without overcoats or galoshes when it is damp. Doctors know what they are talking about when they warn against wet or cold feet. Bundle them up well for the street. Let them shed when inside.

By Annabelle Worthington
Little daughter will be delighted with a frock of this type. It's the new smart coat-like styling in double-breasted effect.

She'll probably like one of the smart purple woollens, so modish this season. It's fetching in brown shade with Spanish tile trim. Match the belt buckle and tulle to the trim.

If you feel like making real buttons holes for fastening the dress gains in charm. Though of course sham buttons and snap fasteners can be used.

Washed novelty rayons, wool crepe and tweed-like textures are suitable. Style No. 8463 is designed for sizes 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 8 requires 2 yards of 39-inch material with 1/4 yard of 39-inch contrasting.

WINDHAM BEATEN 32-14 BY M. H. S.

Defense of Clarkemen Permits But One Field Goal Second Half; Enrico Stars As Seconds Win In Second Overtime Period; Freshmen Also Victorious.

Manchester High school basketball teams scored a sweeping triumph in their three skirmishes with Windham High of Willimantic here Saturday evening. The Silk City teams won the varsity, junior varsity and freshman battles: all of which were played at the state armory.

Manchester captured the varsity game easily when Windham folded up in the second half to be defeated 32 to 14 after trailing only two points at intermission. Windham made only one field goal in the entire second half, that a long heave by Lombardo late in the final chukker.

The Manchester scoring was very evenly divided, no local boy annexing less than two baskets from scrimmage. Tommy Johnson, fast-improving center, led the attack with four hoops and held his two opponents without a single point. Captain Lerch played his usual steady game, Squatrito was a star on the defense and Kerri and O'Leary teamed together nicely at the forward berths.

Coach Clarke used only five players for the first time in many years. Referee George Hayes of Hartford called only ten personal fouls during the game. The highlight of the evening, however, came in the junior varsity game which went two overtime periods before Manchester won 26 to 24.

A basket from mid-floor by Captain Lupien gave Manchester a tie just before the end of regulation time. In the first overtime period, Garrone and McSweeney sank field goals for their respective teams, the Manchester basket again coming last to tie the score.

Referee Hayes then announced at the start of the second overtime period that if neither team won, the game would be called off. Play was exceedingly fast and the crowd was in an uproar. Eugen: Enrico, whose great shooting had been largely responsible for Manchester's success during the game, again stepped into the picture.

Dribbling down the sidewalk, Enrico flipped a one-hand, overhead shot from some 20 feet away and the ball glanced off the backboard into the basket to settle the issue and a moment later two very tired teams went to a deserved shower bath.

Manchester's freshman team had no trouble at all in disposing of Windham's Yearlings, winning 49 to 12. Neubaue led the attack with eight baskets. The local freshmen are undefeated but they lose Neubaue, Brozowsky and Edmonson with mid-year graduations today. Other stars, however, come in from the eighth grade.

HERALD NEWSBOYS WIN, SCORE 43-14

The Herald Newsboys Five defeated a team from Mr. Kelley's room, reported to be the Home Room Champions of the Franklin Building, 45-12 at the Franklin gym Saturday afternoon. The excellent teamwork of other members of the team made it possible for Brown to lead the scoring with 24 points. The playing of Kesh and Byckowski features for the losers.

TRADE ONLY TEAM WITH GOOD RECORD

Mechanics Have Won Nine of Ten Games But Rec, M. H. S. and Guards Lost Many.

Outside of the Trade school, all of Manchester's leading basketball teams have absorbed plenty of defeats this season, so many, in fact, that they are having a tough time keeping the win column ahead of the loss side of the ledger.

The Mechanics have won nine of their ten games but the Guards, Rec and High school have lost five or more games. The Trade and Guards are idle this week but the Rec and High school have single home appearances.

The Rec plays the Renaissance here tomorrow night and the High school battles Bristol here Friday. The standing of the local teams follows:

Team	W	L
Trade School	9	1
National Guards	7	6
Recreation Center	7	7
High School	3	5

TUCKER VS. CARR IN STAR FIGHT

A record crowd of boxing sport fans is expected to witness the splendid card of eleven bouts that has been arranged by the C. D. K. club at Town Hall Rockville tomorrow evening and the advance sale of ringside seats indicates a complete sell-out.

Boxing enthusiasts from several sections of the state have arranged to attend the show at Rockville being especially fine program, featuring Tommy Tucker and Steve Bullard of Danlison, brother of the ex-waterweight champion of the world, will be seen in the semi-final and a sizzling heavyweight bout featuring two 190 pound sluggers will make up the third star bout of the evening.

Other fighters who will be seen in action include such colorful boxers as Jimmy Martin, of Windsor Locks, Garibaldi and Lesnick of Willimantic, six boxers from Danlison, Kid Leonard and Ponchara of Stafford Springs, Nelson Charter, Connecticut's most colorful boxer of Collinsville and teams from Hartford, New Britain and Rockville. In addition to the regular 10 bouts, the sponsors have arranged an exhibition bout featuring George American, one of the smallest boxers in the game today.

Manager Stearns of Montgomery Ward & Co. of South Manchester has donated a fine pair of boxing gloves to be awarded to the boxer who makes the best showing Tuesday evening.

YALE VS. DARTMOUTH ON SATURDAY NIGHT

New York, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Dartmouth's Indians look ahead this week to their fourth straight eastern intercollegiate basketball league victory and the Columbia Lions, less confidently, to their second in three starts.

On the basis of early returns there appears to be no chance for Yale to stop Dartmouth's march at Hanover on Saturday. Dartmouth nosed out Yale by a single point in their first meeting at New Haven. Since the game with Dartmouth, Yale has lost two league games out of three.

Columbia will attempt to get back into the fight with a victory over Penn at Philadelphia on Saturday. Penn, showing remarkable improvement, has won its last three games turning back Army and Penn State in non-league games and then handing Yale a 19-16 beating last week.

Princeton and Cornell, idle so far as the league is concerned this week will get back into action next week in the course of a three game schedule. Yale will tackle Princeton, Feb. 9 and Princeton will face Cornell, Feb. 13, the third game of the week sending Penn against Columbia at New York, Feb. 12.

BURR ON WESLEYAN SWIMMING OUTFIT

Francis K. Burr, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Burr, of 102 West Center street is a member of the varsity swimming team of Wesleyan University. Burr swims in the 440 yard race. He is a junior at Wesleyan and a member of Sigma Chi. Burr prepared for Wesleyan at South Manchester High school and is an honor student.

Charter Oak Girls Claim State Title

The Charter Oak Girls defeated the Genio's of Waterbury team at Farr's alleys by 32 pins Saturday, winning the home and home match by 72 pins.

Margaret Hassell was high in the match with 338 and high in the mixed double match with 351 having an average for the 6 games of 115.

Mary Strong brought the crowd to the feet by making for a spare the 6-7-8-10 pins. Manchester has a right to claim the state championship by winning from such good teams as Maple Girls, Woodster Annex, Morgan, Bristol, Wallingford, Waterbury, Middletown, Mendon, Willimantic, Charter Oaks (of Hartford). They challenge any team in the state. Leo Sarazen is manager.

McCLUSKEY BEATS MOORE IN BOSTON

Manchester Boy Captures Two Mile Run by Half Lap In 9:23 2-5; Runs Moore "Into Ground," Finishes Strong.

Boston, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Joe McCluskey, Fordham's crack distance runner, displayed a great "lift" on the last few laps to win the Leo Larriev special two miles run, one of the Prout games features, Saturday night on the Boston Garden track. He ran the favorite, Gus Moore of the Brooklyn Harriers, into the ground.

John Ryan of Manhattan college, a dark horse, pressed the Fordham star during the early laps of the second mile, when he ran shoulder-to-shoulder with McCluskey. The latter, however, pulled away from the Manhattan boy without great difficulty when he started on his last quarter and finished almost a half length to the good in the impressive time of 9 minutes, 23 2-5 seconds.

McCluskey's next race will be Saturday when he competes against Harold Manning of Wichita, Kansas, in the two-mile event in the 25th anniversary program of the Milrose A. A. at Madison Square Garden in New York. His schedule for February is a very extensive one.

MILROSE MEET New York, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Striking the keynote of the Olympic year the Milrose Athletic Club inaugurated its annual indoor track and field competition for 1932 in its annual indoor meet at Madison Square Garden Saturday night.

Ladislav Barsi of Hungary, holder of national titles at 800 and 1500 meters and ranked as one of Europe's outstanding middle distance runners, is slated to provide most of the international competition although Alex Wilson, Canadian holder of the British Empire quarter mile championship and a Canadian girl's team also are entered.

Barsi is slated to face Russell Chapman, 800-meter champion last year, Dale Letts of Chicago and Otto Rosner of New York in a half mile event.

With 28 events on the program, the Milrose meet has drawn one of the greatest entry lists in its history. With the Olympics as their goal, 18 National A. A. U. indoor and outdoor champions, three Canadian title holders and a flock of college champions have placed their names on the lists.

A pair of notable entries are Chapman, who finished last in a fair 1000 field at Boston Saturday night and Ray Conger, star mid western mile and outdoor champion, three eastern stars this winter.

George Bullwinkle, who beat Chapman in the "Cheverus 1000" Saturday, Gene Venzke, who set a new record for the Boston track in winning the mile in 4:16 1-5, and Joe McCluskey of Fordham, are among the stars. Twelve college relay events have drawn entries from 29 schools.

TONY LAZZERI MAY BE SOLD BY YANKEES

New York, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Major league club owners and other dignitaries of the National pastime were gathered here today for the final get-together before opening of the 1932 campaign.

The occasion was the annual mid-winter schedule meetings, the American League today and the National tomorrow. Commissioner K. M. Landis is to preside.

There is very little business to be transacted in either league except to approve the playing schedules. The confabs having provided a fine opportunity for trading and to permit club managers to get acquainted with the new players.

Tony Lazzari veteran Yankee infielder was understood to be on the auction block and it wouldn't be surprising to see him change owners before the delegates scatter tomorrow night. The Chicago White Sox admitted they are interested in acquiring Tony.

One of the big attractions of the last night's banquet was Hack Wilson, pride and joy of the Brooklyn Robins who motored in from his mountain fastness at Martinsburg, W. Va., to greet his new employers. Hack obviously was pleased to meet the people who wanted him $50,000 worth.

Wilson was scheduled to visit Ebbets Field today and sign his new contract, said to call for $15,000 and a bonus clause, less than half what he received from the Cubs last season.

Rec's Stellar Attraction Sure To Attract Capacity Crowd; Jenkins Is Shining Light of Renaissance Ag- gregation.

Chicago, Feb. 1.—(AP)—With fifty of the sixty-six games completed, Otto Reisel, the Philadelphia veteran holds a full game lead over the field in the world champion three cushion billiard tourney.

Although idle since last Friday night, Reisel received some help last night when two favorites were turned back. Reisel has won six games and lost one and has four left, all against former title foes.

Augie Kleckhefer of Chicago had a chance to tie Reisel last night but he was defeated by the veteran Frank Scoville of Buffalo 50 to 38 in 56 innings.

This defeat dropped Kleckhefer into tie with Art Thurblad, the defending titleholder with 5 won and 2 lost.

Gus Coplous of Eugene, Ore., was beaten by Len Kenney of Chicago, 50 to 32 in 47 innings.

The Renaissance is known from coast to coast for their spectacular brand of basketball. This team is in constant demand from all parts of the country and Manager Douglas is besieged with requests to appear in other cities.

The Renaissance outfit travels almost every night in the week, but plays before thousands at Renaissance Hall, 138th Street and 7th Avenue, New York City, every Sunday night where its games are broadcast. Here they have humiliated the strongest teams in the country, including the world-famous New York Celtics whom the Renaissance has often defeated.

CANDLES START FIRE

Danbury, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Thomas Courty, of Harkin street, on the outskirts of this city, discontinued the use of electricity in his home recently as a measure of economy and substituted candles. This morning some clothing upon a line in the Courty kitchen came into contact with the flame of a candle. Mr. Courty, who had just come from the cellar with a container filled with fuel oil attempted to put out the fire and in his excitement dropped the oil upon the floor. The blazing clothing fell into the oil.

The fire spread so quickly that Mr. and Mrs. Nasib Joudy and their six children had to flee from an adjoining apartment in their night clothing. The two families lost most of their possessions and the house was damaged to the extent of $8,000 before the flames were checked. The building is owned by the Rev. John B. Hakim, formerly pastor of the Syrian church here.

URGE JAP BOYCOTT

Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 1.—(AP)—A petition demanding President Hoover set up a commercial boycott of Japan has been signed here by 20 Harvard University professors.

The petition reads: "In view of the aggression of the Japanese forces at Shanghai, we, the undersigned believe that the United States should prohibit the export to Japan of arms and ammunition and other commodities which might be used for military purposes, and that if it should appear to you that the Japanese action has violated the nine power treaty and the Kellogg Pact, all commercial relations between the United States and Japan should cease."

Heading the petitioners appeared the name of Arthur N. Halcombe, professor of government and the second was the signature of Francis B. Sayre, professor of law, who married a daughter of the late Woodrow Wilson, America's war president.

COLD THROUGHOUT STATE

New Haven, Feb. 1.—(AP)—Temperature in this city, which two weeks ago was experiencing almost mid-summer weather dropped today to 17 degrees, the lowest this winter.

A high wind which added to suffering from low temperatures yesterday had died down today. The sky was clear, but the bright sun did little to alleviate the cold.

The weather bureau said the clear, cold weather would continue, with the temperature possibly dropping somewhat lower tomorrow, but that a slight rise could be expected thereafter. Temperatures in other sections of the state were five to six degrees lower than here, it was reported.

Two weeks ago New Haven with other sections of the state, was experiencing the highest temperature for January on record.

GARRISON REVOLTS

Guayaquil, Ecuador, Feb. 1.—(AP)—The military garrison at Tulcan, just across the border from Colombia, was reported today to have proclaimed a revolution.

There have been rebellions in Ecuador over the past several months. The most recent was last November when a revolt flamed in the Province of El Oro. Celartio Paz, alleged leader of that uprising, was imprisoned.

The government at present is headed by Alfredo Moreno, who has been active in politics for a quarter of a century and who served as Chief Executive once before.

ABOUT TOWN

Tomorrow is "Ground Hog Day," and if the day is sunny and the ground hog sees his shadow it presages six more weeks of winter. Should the day be cloudy the end of winter is at hand, according to the ground hog.

Rev. W. D. Woodward, of Hollis-street, occupied the pulpit of the Glastonbury Congregational church yesterday morning in the absence of the pastor, Rev. Stuart Campbell Haskins.

Members of the G Cief Glee Club are requested to meet at the Salvation Army Citadel tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock to rehearse for the inspirational mass meeting on Sunday.

Mrs. Selma Erickson of Haynes street spent the past week visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Erickson of New Britain.

Herman Johnson of Fairfield street returned today from Somerville, Mass., where he attended the Boston District Luther League convention over the week-end.

William Petherbridge, Y. M. C. A. secretary, spoke to the combined Bible Classes of the Swedish Lutheran church yesterday morning. He took for his subject "The Challenge to Leadership," from the Sermon on the Mount.

The Bethoven Glee Club gave two concerts out of town yesterday, the first at the Newington Home for Crippled Children and the second at the Berlin Congregational church.

Miss Jane Fawcett of Bristol was the guest of Miss Ebbia Gustafson of 168 Autumn street over the week-end.

A dental clinic for pre-school children will be held tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock in the clinic building of the Memorial hospital.

The young men of the Seventh district will be in charge of the setback and dance to be given by the Buckland Parent Teacher association this evening. The usual number of cash prizes will be given, refreshments served and an orchestra will play for dancing.

"The Company Dinner" is the subject of the lecture-demonstration to be given tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the banquet hall of the new Y. M. C. A. building on North Main street by Mrs. Arra Sutton Mixer, of the home economics department of the Hartford Gas company. It is planned to run a series of these popular lessons, which are open to all women interested.

The Monthly meeting of the Home Builders of the South Methodist church will be held Friday evening of this week. The program will include a one-act play entitled "The Trysting Place" by a cast from the society. There will also be a surprise number, and all members are urged to reserve the date.

Tonight's Masonic club bridge tournament in the Temple will be under a different plan. Heretofore each player has kept individual scores and tonight play will be on the partner plan, which should bring out a much larger attendance. All Masons are eligible to play. The committee, Holger Boch and David Nelson, have given these parties their best attention and now think that the partner plan should be tried.

The Manchester ship sign at the Glastonbury line on South Main street was broken off at its base yesterday afternoon by the terrific windstorm.

Hose Companies No. 1, 2 and 3, S. M. F. D., were called to extinguish a chimney fire at the home of Thomas J. Smith at 348 East Middle Turnpike at noon yesterday. The alarm was turned in from Box 75.

At the regular setback card party held Saturday night in the Masonic club room, 13 tables were set and the first prize winner was John H. Hyde. Second prize was won by C. J. Keeney and consolation by C. H. Bunsell. The door prize was won by James Baker. Coffee, apple cake and fruit cake were served. The next regular sitting will be February 6th.

The Center Church Woman's Federation will have an evening meeting Wednesday at 8 o'clock in the parlors. The committee of hostesses appointed for that date will be unable to act, and the following will serve instead: Mrs. George S. Smith, Mrs. Allan Dexter, Mrs. J. Ward Taylor, Mrs. J. C. Carey and Mrs. H. L. Preston. Entertainment numbers will be by the young people, and will consist of readings and music.

ADVERTISEMENTS The Walden Beauty Parlor Offer a Facial, Shampoo and Wave ($2) the first four days of the week during February.

Past Chiefs of Memorial Temple Pythian Sisters held their monthly meeting Saturday evening with Mrs. Frances Chambers. Following the business the members employed their time on gauze work for the Memorial hospital. A social time followed.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Anderson of 27 Lilley street are in Woodstock, Conn., this week, called there by the death Saturday night of Mr. Anderson's mother, Mrs. Charles Anderson. The funeral will take place Wednesday afternoon.

BRITISH-AMERICAN CLUB CELEBRATES

Holds 10th Anniversary Banquet Saturday Night; Fine Program Presented.

Members of the British-American club with their wives or lady friends observed the club's 10th anniversary Saturday night at Orange Hall. The gathering, which numbered over 200, taxed the hall's capacity and it was necessary to seat some of the diners in the main hall. It was the most successful social affair conducted by the club in 10 years.

The members and their guests began to arrive at the hall at six o'clock. They were met by a reception committee composed of three charter members of the club, and Messrs. Joshua Fleming, Fred Baker, Ellis Callis, James McCullough, and Hamilton Metcalf, Jr. Gathering in the main hall upon arrival, the guests then marched to the dining hall. A roast turkey dinner was served with Chef Osano catering. Souvenirs distributed at the table. Samples of Bon Ami powder were given through the courtesy of W. W. Robertson and shaving supplies were contributed by the J. B. Williams Company of Glastonbury. Later noisemakers were given by the Manchester Dairy Ice Cream Company through the courtesy of P. J. O'Leary.

Honor Miss Reynolds After the dinner the president of the club, James McCullough, welcomed the guests and thanked the committees that had worked so hard to make the affair a success. He introduced Miss Jessie M. Reynolds, local welfare nurse, who was instrumental in organizing the club. He did not ask for speeches from any of those present saying that a long entertainment program awaited the gathering in the upper hall.

The entertainment program was in the capable hands of George Dunn as master of ceremonies. Dunn, himself, a fine singer opened the program with familiar songs. The rest of the program which lasted nearly two hours included Scotch songs and stories by Tommy Hynds. Songs and dances by the Delmar Sisters, a clever exhibition of baton swinging by eight-year-old Buster Harvey, Scotch, English and Irish dances by Miss Eleanor Brown, classical dances by Mrs. Emma La Vasseur and acrobatic and cabaret dances and songs by Miss Peggy Larkin. The entertainment, furnished through a Hartford agency, was very good and roundly applauded.

Own Talent But the gathering was not content with hearing imported entertainment alone. They called for numbers from among their own. Paddy Madden was called upon for a step dance and he showed the big crowd that he still could make his feet do intricate stunts. Harry Flavell, chairman of the entertainment committee, found himself called upon to sing "Hail, Caledonia" which he did in fine style, the guests joining in for the second chorus. The club's twins, Sam Herron and Jimmy McCullough, were then summoned to the stage to sing a comic duet and Jimmy McCullough followed with his famous rendition of "Ten Days Leave."

Dancing, both square and round numbers, followed until midnight with Professor Beebe prompting the square sets and Bill Waddell's orchestra furnishing the music. William Brennan and Harry Flavell of the entertainment committee got the guests out on the floor for the square sets and kept things going at a rapid pace. During the dancing ice cream and soda water were served.

Those attending were: Miss Jessie M. Reynolds, guest of honor. Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Aitken, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Allison, Raymond Allison and Miss Margaret Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baker, Joseph Boyce and Mrs. Charles Donnelly, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brennan, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. ITALIAN BAZAAR A BIG SUCCESS

Large Crowds Attend Saturday Night and Sunday Afternoon—Many Out-of-Towners Here.

The two night bazaar given by the Italian colony at the Sub Alpine Club on Eldridge street, Saturday and Sunday afternoon, proved to be a success, as there were large crowds on both Saturday night and again on Sunday afternoon and evening. The gathering was not confined to the Italian people of Manchester alone, but also from Bolton, Glastonbury and Wapping, who hold membership in the different lodges in Manchester, together with many of Manchester's residents who are not Italians.

The expenses were small because of the donation of many prizes and foodstuff. Just what the net return will be will not be known before Wednesday. There is to be a general check up and a complete report will be turned over to the Manchester Emergency Employment Association at that time.
