INCENDIARY FIRES STIR MANCHESTER

Early Morning Blazes Within 15 Minutes of Each Other Threaten Business Area Today; Chief Foy Believes They Were Set—Rubinow Block Badly Guttured In Five Hour Fight.

Manchester's heaviest fire loss in several years resulted early this morning when a blaze of suspected incendiary origin completely gutted the Park Building located at 841-843 Main street at 2:35 a. m. Following closely on a first alarm rung in from Box 43, Main and School streets for a fire located in rear of the Puritan Meat Market, 1077 Main street, a second alarm from Box 441, Main and Park streets brought out South Manchester's entire fire fighting equipment for one of the worst blazes and one imminently endangering over a score of lives in recent years.

Five Hour Fight

The five hour fight by the South Manchester Fire Department starting at 2:15 and switching suddenly at 2:35 a. m. to the Park Building in response to an alarm from Box 441, was filled with more thrills than have been experienced here in a long time, and when the all-out was sounded at 7:50 a. m., the firemen had completed one of the best jobs in the town's history, packing a fire which had gained great headway in the partitions of one of the town's large buildings, containing nearly a score of residents, all of whom were freed to the street in scanty attire.

Oil Burner Blaze GIVES THIRD SCARE

Hoffman's Garage Mishap Brings Apparatus Out Again; Quickly Remedied.

Manchester had its third fire scare at 9:30 this morning, but unlike the previous two, the third was not serious. An oil burner heating system at the Hoffman Garage at the Center went out of commission and filled the building with smoke. An automatic sprinkler system extinguished the fire.

JOBLESS HOME OWNERS

One of the problems that are harassing administrators of unemployment relief in practically every municipality is whether or not aid should be extended to persons who own property but who, aside from such ownership, are without means to provide for their own support.

The class of property owners under consideration of course does not include such as may possess income producing holdings, for there should be, of course, no question of public aid to people of that group. The problem lies in the home owner whose income has stopped and who is, with the exception of the fact that he has no rent to pay, no better off than his neighbor who owns nothing. He and his family cannot eat the clabbers on his cottage; they cannot clothe themselves in shingles from the roof.

Yet there is, in some relief organizations, a disposition to make a hard and fast rule that no aid is to be extended to anyone who owns any realty. "Let him raise money on his holdings," is the position taken in many cases.

There may be some justice to such an attitude in certain instances—where, for example, a man or woman owns a home free of encumbrance and is in a position to negotiate a loan on reasonable terms. Such a person is in no very different position from the person who owns no real estate but has a savings bank account. He has no right to expect to be cared for so long as he has actual resources at his command.

But there are a great many property holders who are in no such position. Their property is already encumbered. The actual existence of an equity may be very questionable indeed. If they can raise money at all it is only at a ruinous rate of interest and on payment of appraisal fees which, in this economic situation, are sheer waste.

There must be something to be said for this class of persons when they become applicants for relief.

To our way of thinking, in dealing with these marginal folks a sharp line should be drawn between the applicant for supplies and the applicant for a job. In the case of the latter the fact that some little piece of property stands in his name has no business to debar him from a chance to work. If otherwise he is entitled to consideration by employment bodies then he should share on equal basis with any other applicant in whatever opportunities for jobs may exist. He should not be penalized for his home-acquiring proclivities. And he is not, in any event, asking for charity. One does not take charity when he takes a job and works at it. He renders full equivalent. Not being a charity seeker his owning a home, so far as we can see, cuts no figure at all in his status.

When it comes to the distribution of unearned financial aid a different situation exists. The community then becomes a donor and has a much fuller right to examine into the ability of the applicant to get along, at a pinch, without help. At the same time it is unfair to discriminate against the nominal property owner so as to compel him to first part with his fragment of possessions before admitting him to the benefit of public aid.

It seems to us that in such cases a solution might be arrived at which would compromise the arguments on both sides. Let such property owning applicants have assistance according to their proven needs—but let them in return sign a demand note in each instance for the amount of the relief extended, and let the town file such paper away for disposition at some future day. To be collected, perhaps, in better times; to be charged off, perhaps, should subsequent circumstances so shape themselves.

But the money or material relief advanced ought not to become a further encumbrance upon the beneficiary's property.

If there is no legal warrant for such proceeding the Legislature can always pass an enabling or healing act validating it.

WHEN IS WAR WAR?

This constant reference to steps "to prevent actual war" must be rather puzzling to such children and other persons given to direct and uninvolved thinking as concern themselves with the news from China. And when one of these inquires as to the difference between the proceedings in Manchuria and at Shanghai and those in an "actual war" it may be quite as puzzling for even the sophisticated to find an explanation that will not strike the inquirer as positively silly.

It is splitting a hair and then splitting the parts to differentiate between the existing conditions in China and a state of war. It is an entirely legalistic and perfectly nonsensical distinction. What is going on in Shanghai and what has been going on in Manchuria is war—bitter, cruel war in its ugliest possible form. The fact that there has been no stilled, formal declaration to that effect has no slightest effect upon the truth that desperate warfare has been carried on in Chinese territory by the Japanese army and navy for many weeks. In fact it would have been ridiculous to expect from Japan any warning notice of her intention to destroy her neighbor.

Japan does not declare war. She strikes out of the dark. She launched her war against China in 1894 without service of notice. She mined the sea off Port Arthur and then attacked the Russian squadron in that port before the Russ admiral knew that war was contemplated. And yet there are some simple souls in the world who cling to the notion that war is not war until it has been named.

We would do better to have done with talking about the prevention of war and China and speak—in courageous and definite terms—of ending it.

TO STOP HOARDING

President Hoover's latest call for a national conference—the one to be held on Saturday for the purpose of organizing an anti-hoarding campaign—is sure to arouse the keenest interest throughout the country. The President, in his suggestion of a national organization whose objective shall be the diversion of hidden money into the channels of economic life, must be animated by some new idea, and there will be the greatest of curiosity to learn what it is.

For two years and more every booster club, every retailer and every national advertiser has been doing his best, the whole lot working in tacit accord, to do precisely that thing—bring out the hidden money. Their success has been only partial. They, together with all business circles, will be everlastingly grateful to Mr. Hoover if he proves able to show them wherein they have failed of greater achievement. If he has evolved a method to make the hoarders loosen up he need only get it somehow into effect and he will be re-elected sure as shooting.

Perhaps the President's plan may take the direction of prevailing on the manufacturers of patent-protected and more or less monopolistic devices, the anthracite operators and certain other bosses of major industrial activities to drop trick bookkeeping and cut profits to the point where the hoarded money will be tempted out of its concealment.

Whatever it is, the whole country will wish him luck with this newest of the conferences. If the people who have stowed their money away in the sock can be prevailed on to fish it out and put it to work it will help tremendously. It is too bad that "it" is so big for its size.

THE PEOPLE'S MONEY

One hundred and sixty-three pages of the issue of the Congressional Record of February 2 are taken up by exhibits submitted by Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin in support of certain advocacies of his relating to unemployment. In large part they consist of answers to letters addressed by him to city and town officials.

It has been stated that the cost of producing a page of the Record is $40 in addition to fixed charges. Mr. LaFollette's contribution to the expense of this single day's issue is, on that basis, $6,520.

If this utterly unnecessary and nonsensical burden were heaped on the back of the taxpayers of the nation by some senator less ardently committed to the cause of the common people than the Wisconsin Progressive, it might occasion less remark. But for one who sheds so many tears over the woes of the man in the street as does "Young Bob" it seems a little surprising that he should be willing to squander so much of the fruits of brow-sweat in such a callously reckless manner.

MEET THE TEST

Called on to combat two simultaneous fires in the business area, either of which carried with it all the elements of great peril, the South Manchester Fire Department this morning acquitted itself with highest credit and again justified the faith that for many years has been reposed in it by the community. That there was extensive loss is in no possible way attributable to any lapse or failure on the part of the firemen; that the damage was not many times greater is due to the efficiency of their operations plus the excellence of their equipment.

Fortunate too was the community, in the case of the Rubnow building fire, that its streets were being patrolled by police officers as courageous as alert, for only quick-witted and nifty work on the part of the patrolmen, in all probability, prevented serious injuries and perhaps deaths.

The other side of the picture is not so gratifying for there is considerable suspicion that the two fires were of incendiary origin, and, if so, that they were the work of a pyromaniac. That is not a pleasing reflection. If there is such a person in the community and the police can catch him they will reap further laurels.

MELLON TO ST. JAMES'

The selection of Andrew W. Mellon to be ambassador to Great Britain, while one of the most surprising of appointments, is probably less significant of either foreign or domestic policies than of a sincere desire on President Hoover's part to do signal honor to a veteran cabinet member. Mr. Mellon's remaining period of public life cannot, at 77, be very long. Sooner or later a successor must have taken his place. In Under-Secretary Ogden Mills there was, at the moment, a particularly able expert available. Mr. Mellon's reputation in Britain is of the very highest. The succession is logical.

IN NEW YORK

New York, Feb. 4.—New York among other things, is a fur country. It always was and it probably will be unless the gulf stream keeps on driving winter elsewhere. It began with a few pelts and it's wound up with half-of sales on the "Avenue."

Tourists, wandering through the dizzy trail of the Wall Street zone, are reminded of this by a tablet attached to a lower Broadway building. To be sure, many of them are so busy breaking their necks trying to see the canyon tops that they miss the marker. But there it is—and it announces the location of the first building in the big town.

It seems that old Captain Adrian Block and his crew found themselves without roof or floor when their ship burned down and moved ashore, putting up a temporary lean-to. When he finally got home to dear old Holland he had to admit to the home folks that he hadn't seen any jewels lying about, but there were plenty of good fur-bearing animals, and it might be a good chance for the boys to get a raccoon coat.

So it wasn't long before beaver muffs were as thick as Indians, and a storage place had been built just up the street. Which is why, if you don't happen to know it, that this little animal is on the state seal. In those days you could pay off the rent or the grocery bill with a couple of furs. Today you can get the company of a blond chorine.

The fur belt and the suit and cloak belt are now twin industries that have built a city within a city, from the fringe of Times Square outward. Warfare flares up quickly in this belt, due to an old feud over closed and open shops plus the congenial excitability of the humans who make this section the most raucous voiced and crowded in the city.

Bits about people: The new country place of Wallace Irwin, the scrivener, in old East Setauket, L. I., was once upon a time a drop-in spot known as Roe's Tavern. . . . A young fellow by the name of George Washington used to be seen there once in a while. . . . A diary of Washington's recently issued, made mention of the place, and a neat recommendation it was, to wit: "The house of Capt. Roe, a dect. place, kept by resp. people." . . . Almost worthy of Coolidge for brevity, no?

John Golden, who used to lay bricks, tossed one at the critics the other night in a broadcast. . . . The poor dears who have been great Golden fanatics are broken-hearted.

Rudolf Friml, the composer whose name is breaking into radio circles just now, came to America as an accompanist to Jan Kubelik, the fiddler. . . . Theodore Dreiser has been recovering lately from his handkerchief-twisting phobia. . . . For years he couldn't carry on a conversation without a marled hankie in his chest. . . . Sinclair Lewis used to tear up small bits of paper and crumple them in his hand when intent.

GILBERT SWAN.

But now that women are openly marrying for money, it has at last been proved that the American dollar goes farther than Cupid's dart.

Answer: You can overcome your trouble if you will take systematic breathing exercises and keep at it with regularity. Your trouble is a common one and due to your not being used to such a rapid intake of helpful oxygen and the exhaust of so much poisonous carbon dioxide gas.

(Sweating Head Sometimes Ricketts)

Question: Mrs. Karl E. writes: "My little baby's head sweats a great deal and the hair is all worn off where the head rests on a pillow. What could be the cause of this?"

Answer: A sweating head on a baby is sometimes an indication of ricketts or it might be simply that the baby is too warmly clothed. Your doctor should be able to tell you the trouble. If you will write to me stating his opinion, I will be pleased to advise you.

DEVELOPING THE DIAPHRAGM FOR ASTHMA

The asthmatic person should learn special methods of developing the strength of the diaphragm in addition to the use of hard calisthenic exercises and the right diet.

Almost everyone has heard that diaphragmatic breathing is superior to chest breathing, but, if asked to take a deep breath, one will invariably raise the chest and attempt to expand the ribs which fills the upper chest with air. This is the wrong kind of breathing for an asthmatic to use.

If you will watch an animal, such as the horse, you will see that the breathing is largely done by the abdomen and there is practically no movement in the chest. Try, when you inhale, to make your abdomen larger just below the ribs. Imagine that you are drawing the air into the upper abdomen, swelling it out, yet keeping the lower part of the protruding. The position of the ribs should change but slightly and no movement should be noticed in the upper chest. After you have inhaled, exhale slowly contracting the upper abdomen and holding the lower abdomen and the chest rigid. Keep on practicing until you can do your breathing with the part of the abdomen just below the sternum and ribs. In this way you will learn to develop the diaphragm, which is a powerful muscle dividing the chest and the abdomen, and this must be strong in order to completely overcome asthma.

If you will stand sideways before a mirror, you can watch your faulty breathing and practice how to correct it. Remove all of your clothing and stand so you can watch the entire torso, from the pelvis to the chin. When you inhale, you will probably notice that the chest gets larger in the upper part, the upper abdomen smaller, and lower down the belly will protrude. This gives you a sort of hour-glass appearance, which is all wrong.

After the asthmatic has properly trained the diaphragm, he will find that the practice of singing will be a pleasing way to keep the diaphragmatic muscle exercised. Any good singing teacher understands the necessity of learning to control the diaphragm and will give the pupil exercises for accomplishing this. A strong resonant voice can be developed in this way. The cure of asthma cannot be accomplished without the development of a normal diaphragm.

Long walks should be taken every day, and it is a good plan to run a few steps several times during the walk to induce deep breathing. Also breathe with a regular movement, inhaling deeply for three or four steps and then exhaling while taking the same number of steps. Do not hold the breath either at the end of inhalation or exhalation, but continue to rhythmically inhale and exhale as deeply as possible, slowly increasing the length of each breath until you can take eight or ten steps during each movement.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Cramp in Fingers)

Question: Mr. Paul C. writes: "Will you please explain the cause and cure of cramps in fingers in my left hand which frequently troubles me? This condition started after a severe attack of rheumatism in the left arm two years ago, which left a numbness from left elbow down. I am a middle-aged man."

Answer: Consult some physician who uses manipulative therapeutics. Your trouble is likely due to some pressure on the spinal nerves which go to your left arm.

MAY BAR CLIMBING

Twin Mountain, N. H., Feb. 4.—(AP)—Plans were underway today to seek legislation to close the Presidential Range to inexperienced hikers and mountain climbers, especially "youths from the cities."

Action was taken by former Representative Alfred Seymour and Selectman Leon Hunt after two young mountain climbers had died during a hike to the summit of Mount Washington and a third youth very nearly succumbed to exhaustion.

"Something will have to be done about these tragedies," Seymour said today.

"The ascent of these mountains, which are taking a steady toll of youthful lives, must not be undertaken by inexperienced climbers or youths from the cities, who think climbing a mountain is like going up and down Beacon Hill in Boston."

He said he would seek legislation shortly to prohibit climbing in the Presidential Range to the inexperienced.

RUM BOAT SEIZED

Boston, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Five members of the crew of the British power boat Pronto which was captured off Cape Cod yesterday with 1,200 sacks of liquor aboard, were held under bail here today on charges of violating the liquor laws.

The men were: Captain Arlington Conrad and his first officer, James G. Williams, both of Yarmouth, N. S., who were held in $5,000 bail each and Oscar Bennett, Mahon's Bay, N. S.; John McKay and Charles Farrington of Yarmouth who were held in $3,500 each.

Coast Guardsmen said the Pronto was captured nine miles off the coast. The patrol boat Jackson made the seizure.

TWO MILLION GIFT FOR N. Y. LIBRARY

New York, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Disposing of $5,127,000 in specific bequests and trust funds, which include $2,000,000 outright to the New York Public Library of which he was president, the will of Lewis Cass Ledyard was filed for probate today.

Ledyard, who died a week ago, had been personal counsel to the elder J. P. Morgan. Another outstanding public bequest was $250,000 to the Morgan Library (29 East 38th street) of which he was a trustee.

Lewis Cass Ledyard, Jr., the testator's son by his first marriage and himself a lawyer, receives the entire residuary estate after the payment of the specific cash legacies totaling $3,712,100 and the creation of trust funds aggregating $1,415,000.

To his widow, Isabel Morris Ledyard, Ledyard bequeathed $1,000,000 outright, a life estate in $500,000; his country place in Newport, R. I., known as Sunset Ridge; his rights in Bailey's Beach, Newport, and his stock in the Sprouting Rock Beach Association.

Mrs. Ledyard also receives her husband's interest in the bath houses "upon the beach adjacent to Castle Hill" in Newport and all stock in the Newport Casino, the Redwood library, and Athenaeum and the Newport Country Club.

The widow is to have a life interest in all the foregoing properties and upon her death, they go to "my dear stepdaughter," Jean Ferry, Mrs. Ledyard's daughter by a former marriage, who also gets the principal of her mother's trust funds.

For lack of money, some cities are paying their help in scrip. Trouble is, most people will not believe what they see in the paper.

Washington Letter

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer.

Washington.—This year's Federal deficit of two billion dollars has given the government plenty to worry about, but it has also brought forcibly to its attention the fact that American cities, including the very largest ones, have also been having serious financial troubles.

New York and Boston vainly appealed to Congress that municipalities be allowed to borrow from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, pleading inability to borrow on prospective tax collections. The plights of other cities, including Chicago, Philadelphia and Detroit, have been common knowledge.

Although the many charges of graft, mismanagement and overspending by municipal governments are often well-founded, the cities, except perhaps in the case of Chicago, are not now in bad straits merely on that account. In fact, poor management is not infrequently blamed for the fiscal troubles of the Federal government and for the failure of many banks and business corporations.

Nearly all cities and states have excellent records for paying their obligations on time and their taxing powers and taxable properties have always been regarded as top-grade securities. But now they are beset by many defaults on tax payments, deflated property values which make property owners shriek at boom time assessments and the prospects of tax increases and, finally, a slump in the market for municipal bonds and short term loans coupled with unwillingness of bankers to load up with the obligations at this time when liquid funds are considered so desirable.

Many cities which find themselves unable to borrow are really in good financial condition. It is a normal practice to borrow in anticipation of tax receipts, as Mayor Curley of Boston has pointed out. Suddenly deprived of the privilege, they become faced with possible breakdowns of city government.

Curley reported indications that many banks in New England would refuse to make such short-term loans. He declared that while the reconstruction corporation was designed to support banks, "the injurious effects of the closing of financial institutions in America can in nowise be compared with the tremendous injury that will result if provision is not made for safeguarding the municipalities of America." He warned against disastrous effects of any suspension of health, police, fire protection, welfare and educational activities.

Although many cities have borrowed heavily in prosperous times, the condition of few is to be compared with that of Chicago, whose finances went chaotic some time ago. Usually states and cities are not considered mainly responsible for recent declines in their bonds which make the obligations unprofitable for the bankers to handle. Nevertheless, municipal bankers have been demanding retrenchments and curtailments of expenses, notable examples having been observed in Detroit and New York.

Congress did not refuse the reconstruction finance bill for support of the bank, but it didn't dare take on the burden of municipal financing, either. Senator Reed of Pennsylvania pointed to an already "serious condition in federal bonds," asserting that bonds sold in September at par were now at 82.

Senator Couzens of Michigan, pointing to a widespread condition in which some tax delinquents won't pay and some can't, says it is notorious that tax collections are not being pushed diligently. He boasts that Detroit, after at first being refused loans by some banks and then putting her affairs in order, was able to borrow necessary money from her own automobile concerns and public utilities as well as $7,500,000 from a New York bank only last December. Detroit cut her budget $60,000,000, devised a plan for collection of delinquent taxes and adopted "a program of uncompromising economy to bring expenditures within income."

SCORES CHURCH COUNCIL FOR MISLEADING YOUTH

Washington, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Lieutenant Colonel Orvel Johnson, executive secretary of the Reserve Officers Training Corps Association, today told the Women's Patriotic Conference on National Defense "the greatest menace" to the reserve officers training corps "is the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America."

"This is only true because the good church people do not realize to what extent they have been misled and misrepresented by the few who have succeeded in controlling the small gatherings called 'church study conferences,' at which political subjects are acted upon," Johnson said.

"To just the extent the Federal Council of Churches succeeds in inducing our young men to refuse properly to prepare for and to perform the full obligation of citizenship, they have helped them on the road to Communism, the first step of which is Atheism," he said.

"How to protect the Protestant churches from the pacifist preachers is one of the greatest problems in America at this time."

ROOSEVELT GIVES STAND ON LEAGUE

New York Governor Switches Opinion; Says U. S. Should Stay Out Of It.

Albany, Feb. 4.—(AP)—The Nation knows today where Governor F. D. Roosevelt stands on the League of Nations, foreign debts and the tariff, three important questions for a presidential candidate.

He denounced the League of Nations last night at a meeting and said the United States should stay out. He said it was not the League conceived by Woodrow Wilson to insure peace, but a device to force the United States to take on the burden of the world which it does not wish to bear.

On the tariff he said "It is time for this nation to us a little horse sense." He proposed reciprocal agreements for the actual interchange of goods, since many nations had no gold.

When he went into the last campaign for the governorship, however, he came out flatly as a wet. He said then the 18th Amendment had not furthered the cause of temperance and proposed restoration to the states of liquor control.

He won a long fight for state control of its waterpower resources, has repeatedly demanded more stringent regulation of public utilities, and the state is now using his plan for unemployment relief which includes purchase with state funds of the necessities of life for the unemployed.

Only recently another of the leading possibilities for the Democratic nomination, Newton D. Baker, who also fought for the League as Wilson's supporter, said he would not take the Nation into the League if he could.

SEN. MOSES SPEAKS
Washington, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Democratic presidential candidate Senator Moses (R., N. H.) to add "to their renunciation of the League of Nations an equally emphatic renunciation of the League's pet baby—the so-called World Court."

Yesterday's disavowal of the League as a Democratic issue by Governor Roosevelt of New York, Newton D. Baker of Ohio, has stirred the Republican League foes to action.

Senator Moses issued the following statement: "The Reno-like celebrity with which Democratic leaders—and especially Democratic candidates—are seeking to divorce themselves from the League of Nations is interesting and amusing. It has apparently dawned upon their consciousness that the 7,000,000 majority by which the American people repudiated this issue in both 1920 and 1924 has a validity as applied to the election of 1932."

"Death bed conversions, however, smack of the theatrical and are generally as unreal as most theatrical performances. As further evidence of the genuineness of the Democratic views which are now coming so belatedly to light, I suggest there should be added to their renunciation of the League of Nations an equally emphatic renunciation of the League's pet baby—the so-called World Court."

Years ago women didn't offer to marry for money. They just married men for money, but now they've got to advertise to find out who's got it.

Girl Scout News
It is the belief of the Girl Scout that efficient planning for the proper expansion of recreation organization, to meet the growing need for leisure time programs, has never been so important as it is at this time. The fact that girls of today have so much more leisure time than their mothers had, and that the opportunities open to them are so much greater than ever before, creates a new responsibility for leaders, in the opinion of Girl Scout executives.

Miss Josephine Schain, national director of the Girl Scouts, declares that adolescent girls are being thrown on their own resources to fill in many idle hours. "It is our duty to see that their leisure time needs are met intelligently," she says. "If we are to help girls use their new opportunities to the best possible advantage, we must help them to build for their future. There is no greater assurance of healthy bodies and wholesome minds for men and women of tomorrow than to teach young people the proper use of their leisure time now."

Troop 1
Troop 1 held its weekly meeting Friday January 29, in the Lincoln school kindergarten. After patrol corners, a game was played, using the signaling code. The second class scouts worked on the compass while the first class girls worked on their designs and also sewing them on cloth for the handicraft badge. A good-night circle was formed in which we sang, "When the sun is sinking" and "Taps." Court of honor was held after the meeting.

Troop 5
Troop 5 held its meeting at the Hollister street school, February 1, 1932. Patrol 1 had charge of the opening exercises. We opened with the horseshoe formation, and each patrol acted out one of the laws. After patrol corners we formed a circle and Lieutenant Skinger had charge of singing. At the good-night circle Faith Galinat and Elinor Kirsche played "Irish Soldier" and "Taps." Scribe, Faith Galinat.

Troop 6
The meeting of February 1, 1932, was held at the Manchester Green school. We opened the meeting by singing songs. Clara Smith was invested with her tenderfoot pin. We then had patrol corners. Jeannette Brousseau passed cooking. Some of the girls took a test on First Aid, while others worked on signaling. We played games and in our good-night circle we sang "The Golden Sun" and "Taps." Scribe, Helen Adams.

Troop 7
The opening was in charge of Patrol 3. A circle was formed and the Girl Scout Promise was repeated. A bean-bag game followed. The bowline knot was practiced and a game played using that knot. Bernice Scouls had charge of signaling and a game in which it was used. Dora Cole passed thrift for the first class work, and Irene L. Chance passed the flag test. Scribe, Grace Donahue.

Troop 8
The regular meeting of Troop 8 was held Friday, January 29, at the Highland Park school. We started with a frog relay, which was won by the Eagle Patrol. Signaling and table setting were practiced. Patricia Dimock passed fire prevention and Betty Stevens, cooking. Jeannette Pitkin worked on her tenderfoot test. The meeting closed with singing songs and taps. Scribe, Helen Adams.

A LATE START
London—Although he's getting a late start, Alfred Arnold, 103, thinks he can make as great a success in the movie as "the young fellows." He's already had parts in films at Elstree, and hopes to be the featured actor in one soon. Although he claims to have been born in 1828, he does not look to be over 70.

BIG LEGAL SUIT

Boston, Feb. 4.—(AP)—John W. Davis, once Democratic presidential candidate and former United States ambassador to the Court of St. James, was scheduled to appear before the Massachusetts Supreme Court today to argue a $7,000,000 suit of the Universal Adjustment Corporation of Boston against the Midland Bank, Ltd., of London, England.

The plaintiff institution seeks to recover to the amount of $7,000,000 funds deposited with the bank at the time of the Russian revolution. Davis was retained to appear for the English bank to plead British jurisdiction in the case.

OFFERS FREE SCHOOLING

Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 4.—(AP)—The Massachusetts Institute of Technology announced today that it would offer free courses in engineering to engineers and architects who are now unemployed. Twelve courses will start next Tuesday and continue until May 25. Others will be added if sufficient applications are received. Members of the faculty of the institute will lecture in all the courses, which are offered with the hope that they may prove helpful professionally to those engineers and architects who wish to broaden their knowledge in anticipation of future opportunities.

GANGSTERS' REVOLVERS STOLEN FROM FACTORY

New York, Feb. 4.—(AP)—The murderous raid on the Vincent Coll residence in a Bronx apartment on Monday night was painstakingly planned with careful attention to every ruthless detail, police declared today.

Clues which police believed would lead to the capture of the gunmen who poured a fusillade of bullets into the apartment, killing three and wounding three others proved worthless today.

A check-up with the Colt factory in Hartford, Conn., disclosed that every one of the six revolvers found after the murder, four .38 caliber revolvers and two .45 caliber automatics, had been stolen from the factory.

Shortly before this it was found that the two automobiles abandoned after the murder also had been stolen. One of these, a sedan, had been carefully wiped and wiped clean of fingerprints, and was equipped with license plates stolen from Auburn prison where they are made.

WHAT A SWELL LOT OF SMOKES FOR A DIME!

30 or more TARGET CIGARETTES ... that look and taste like READY-MADES!

WHAT'S the sense of paying big money for a package of cigarettes when you can roll 30 or more cigarettes with Target for one dime? A lot of men asked themselves that question and here's the answer! This cigarette tobacco is a blend of fine Virginia, Burley, and Turkish. It is manufactured exactly the same as ready-mades up to the time it is rolled into the cigarette paper. And that's where you come in—you roll 'em and save the difference.

"Ask your tobacco dealer today for Target. Here is what you'll get: A big package of real cigarette tobacco wrapped in moistureproof Cellophane, and forty gummed cigarette papers. And if you like your 'fags' as perfect as factory-mades, buy a Target Roller (see below) and it'll pay for itself in two days! From then on, boy, you're rolling 'em on velvet! All this for one dime: 30 or more perfect cigarettes."

AND GET THIS! The United States Government tax on 20 cigarettes amounts to 6¢. On 20 cigarettes you roll from Target Tobacco the tax is just about 1¢. No wonder you get such value for a dime!

MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE! Buy a package of TARGET right now. Roll 15 or 20 cigarettes. If you don't say they're the best smokes you ever rolled, return the half-empty package to your dealer and he will return your dime!

ROLL 'EM BETTER THAN THE GOOD OLD WAY!

Shake a little Target tobacco on a Target cigarette paper. Target's long cut. It rolls even the full length of the cigarette. Tuck in the paper and roll with both thumbs toward gummed edge.

ROLL 'EM BETTER THAN READY-MADES!

Your dealer will demonstrate this TARGET Jr. Roller—only 25¢. See how simply it works—the most practical device for rolling perfect cigarettes, and guaranteed by the makers to work to your satisfaction. Roll your whole day's supply at home—carry them in the neat little Target case that comes FREE with the Roller—you'll save the cost of the machine in two days, and thereafter the savings go into your pocket!

thems of the foreign lands, a crowd of 5,000 in the open air stands cheered lustily. The competitors, in the alphabetical order of nations, flags flying at the head, proudly marched around the 400 meter ice surface of the skating track.

Then in order marched the athletes of Belgium, slightly out of line, Czechoslovakia, Finland, France, Germany, England, Italy, Japan, Hungary, Norway, Poland, Roumania, Sweden, Switzerland, and finally the German team.

The small crowd stood and cheered each squad, saving the loudest applause, however, for the courageous German squad and what is left of the bob sledging contingent after two severe crashes on the treacherous Mt. Van Hovenberg slide that sent six of them to the local hospital.

The Japanese likewise were cheered lustily and Poland, passing with the rest past the reviewing stand of Governor Roosevelt and his party, burst forth in hearty native response.

Meat Packers Explain Price Differences—
Local Man Discusses Jobless Aid.

LAMB PRICES

Editor, The Herald:
Our attention has been directed to a story which appeared in the issue of your paper for January 20. This reported that a Colorado producer sold seven lambs at the Denver Stockyards, for which was paid $3.30 and for which he eventually received 75 cents. The story further stated that the meat from the seven animals was later sold to consumers for a total of $83.70.

May we be permitted to give you the facts in the case?
The shipment to the Denver Stockyards consisted of two cull lambs and five old ewes of poor quality. The ewes in the shipment were combined with another lot of three ewes and two wethers and sold to a packing company which is a member of this organization. The lambs were sold to someone else. The packing company which purchased the five ewes as part of a lot of ten animals reported that six of the lot were declared by government inspectors to be unfit for food and were rendered into inedible product. The other four were of such poor quality as to produce only 122 pounds of meat, which, selling at 3 1/2 cents a pound, brought a total of $4.27. This sum was substantially less than the sum paid for the live animals.

The story also stated that investigators of the United States Department of Agriculture in Washington, "taking up the trail, traced the lambs to retail markets and discovered that the meat from them was sold to consumers for a total of $83.70." This is a misstatement. So far as we have been able to ascertain, no investigation ever was made. The only thing approaching an investigation was the testimony of Mr. John Simpson, president of the National Farmers' Union, before the Senate Committee on Agriculture was a computation made on the back of the sales bill of the ewes by a government employee at the packing plant which bought the sheep. This computation, made without investigation, indicated that the meat might be sold to consumers for $83.70.

As a matter of further fact, on the day that these inferior, aged ewes were sold to the packing company at fifty cents a cwt., good to choice young lambs were sold on that same market for 75 per hundred pound. It is apparent on the face of it that the computation, if made by a government employee, must have been based on the price of good to choice live lambs. It would not be possible to sell the meat from inferior aged ewes as choice lamb.

For your further information, the government employees attached to the packing plant referred to are highly trained and competent veterinarians of the Bureau of Animal Industry but are not qualified as experts on retail lamb and sheep prices.

The story also states that Mr. Simpson, president of the National Farmers' Union, on his way to Washington paid 85 cents for two lamb chops on a diner, and compares this with the 75 cents which the man who sold the seven sheep would receive for the same chops. Such a comparison is unfair and meaningless. It is well known that lamb chops represent only a small percentage of the total dressed weight and that they bring higher prices than the other cuts because of the greater demand for them. The lard and other agencies of the live stock and meat industry have made a real effort during past years to educate the public to utilize more profitably the so-called less-demanded cuts and thereby to bring about a more reasonable average price for the entire meat animal. It also should be borne in mind that prices charged on a diner or in a hotel or restaurant necessarily are considerably higher than the price which the producer receives.

Because of the facts stated in this letter, we respectfully request that you publish our comments in order that the readers of your paper may have the complete information regarding the situation. Such action, as well as a personal reply, will be appreciated.

Very truly yours,
DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC RELATIONS AND TRADE
By R. W. THOMPSON.

OBJECTS TO SOUP KITCHENS

Editor, The Herald:
For generations past philosophers and scientists have dreamed and worked for a day when civilization would provide the genius and machinery capable of producing the necessities of sustenance for the world in comfort and happiness, with a minimum of exertion. It is now admitted in every responsible quarter that such a time has arrived. The production of the soil has been so increased that we now find it necessary to destroy its fruits in order that we may save civilization. This while we teach our children to say "Our Father which art in Heaven give us This day our daily bread," machinery combined with the skill of the worker is capable of producing food, clothing, chemicals, steel, automobiles, steamships, electricity, and all the other commodities essential to a full and decent life. It would seem on the basis of these facts that want and uncertainty would be history. Or as President Hoover remarked in 1923, "We in America are nearer to the final triumph over poverty than ever before in the history of any land. The poor house is vanishing from among us. We have not reached the goal, but given a chance to go forward with the policies of the past eight years we shall soon with the help of God be in sight of the day when poverty will be banished from this nation. There is no guarantee against poverty equal to a job for every man. That is the primary purpose of the policies we advocate." So far so good for 1923, but let us return to 1932 and listen to some more words. This time from the editorial columns of our local newspaper. After admitting "That it will probably be a long time before there is a full time job for everybody or anywhere near everybody," we are reminded of our obligations that we shall not permit any man, woman, or child to starve or freeze. I ask you, Editorial Writer, is that obligation being kept and do you think it necessary that a person have to depart this life, before we admit of starvation, or do you think that your proposed soup kitchens will prevent it? So there nothing better than the usual platitudes which you please to call platitudes. The beasts of the field demand a full stomach and a barn to shelter them, which might be the housing you suggest providing you cannot induce the landlord to reduce his rent by half and pay his interest and taxes in full.

Possibly you have heard of Governor Winchott's proposal to house the unemployed in tents and deem this worthy of our obligation to the unemployed. Editorial Writer, did it ever occur to you (as) the unemployed if they would accept these conditions which you foresee as a possibility? The apparent apathy and docility of the American people which history has shown to be slow to turn may yet rise to wealth and vigilance, and history also teaches us that that which has a way of being appealed. Note a quotation from the "Memoirs of Thomas Jefferson," written one hundred and twenty-five years ago. "The spirit of our times may alter, will alter. Our rules will become corrupt, our people careless. It will not then be necessary to escort every moment to the people for support. They will then be forgotten, their rights disregarded. They will forget themselves but in the sole faculty of money making and will never think of uniting to effect a due respect for their rights. The shackles will remain on, will be made heavier and heavier, till their rights shall revive and expire in a single day. Admitting the statement that municipalities are finding it difficult to finance farther relief schemes there might possibly be other sources of revenue to be touched if taxation be the only remedy for unemployment before resorting to soup kitchens. As for instance an article carried in the "Manchester Evening Herald," showed a statement by the Senate Finance Committee, that J. P. Morgan and Company made gross profits of $10,833,626, from the sale of foreign bonds in the United States from 1919 to 1932. There is still enough income in the United States to avoid any necessity of living on bread and water, and the fairest way to share the burden is through progressive taxation, not by a mass method of door to door collections, nor by adding to the burden of the small home owner who already carries more than his share.

—T. Flavel.

C. ALSO INDIGNANT

To the Editor of The Herald:
It was considered of you to forewarn unemployed and indigent townpeople that their prospects are for continuing indefinitely to live a normal family life. Your description in last night's editorial "Look Ahead" sounds dangerously like the tales we have heard about living conditions imposed on the people in Soviet Russia. You intimate, of course, that such conditions be imposed on our people, they will be temporary conditions such as are meted out to victims of natural disasters.

Soviet Russia too claims that the hard living conditions imposed on her people are temporary measures. She assures her people the measures adopted are part of a program intended eventually to benefit all.

But we in America are not committed to a program of sacrifice for the state so that all may eventually be raised to a higher level of life. We have had a taste of that higher level of life and it has tasted good.

We are not even called to console ourselves with the thought that we are under the whip of sacrifice because God has wreaked natural disaster upon us. Rather, God has dealt us infinite bounty.

We are committed to a program of sacrifice for the citizenry of high finance so that it may shortly be the supreme despot of the universe. We are the victims of business tactics which kept feverishly in mind the profits only of competition. Natural resource, ambition, and labor have swollen the wealth of the nation. Natural resource has lavishly yielded its fruits; ambition has flashed its pride; where is now labor's glory?

Shall it be in mumbing, grumbling masses, herded in barracks and fed like live stock, or refugees, as you term them? Shall this be so in our own United States, where not seventy years ago our immortal Lincoln rededicated us to a new birth of freedom?

In time of war the government promptly drafts man power to fight in the interest of vested financial power so that the latter may flourish.

Now in time of the people's war against widespread poverty, what fair reason is there why our government should not draft the interest of vested financial power so that man power may flourish?

OSUMI EXPLAINS JAPAN'S POSITION

Minister of Navy Says Chinese Attacked and Japs Had to Defend Selves.

The following explanation of Japan's position in the present Sino-Japanese conflict was written for the Associated Press by Admiral Mineo Osumi, minister of the Navy, who is in general charge over the activities of the blue jackets and warships at Shanghai.

By Admiral Mineo Osumi
Navy Minister of Japan

Tokyo, Feb. 4.—(AP)—We think we owe the world an explanation of our activities at Shanghai, in view of the misunderstandings and to avoid the result of misinformation concerning the present conditions there.

First and foremost, we have done nothing that was not justified by the strict need of protection for our nationals from the persecution of the Chinese soldiers. Our actions have been entirely defensive and passive. The trouble started January 28. A Chinese force suddenly attacked us while we were, in pursuance of the previous agreement of the foreign garrison commanders, proceeding to the stations allotted to us to guard.

But 2,000 Men
When the conflict began we had 2,000 men against 30,000 Chinese. We had every disadvantage to suffer and nothing to gain by starting hostilities.

We took the final action only because we were driven to the last extremity by the behavior of the Chinese soldiery.

The charge that Japan used the International Settlement as a basis for attack also is unfounded. Our force took up stations to protect Japanese residents according to the previous agreement with the military authorities of the other powers and the Chinese happened to launch their attack against this section. We were compelled to defend the point.

Criticism of the Japanese bombing has been unnecessarily harsh. They could only arise from ignorance of the actual situation. That was the only choice left for our small force, facing overwhelming odds.

TARIFF FREE LIST

London, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the Exchequer, in presenting the government's general tariff measures to the House of Commons today announced that the free list would include wheat in grain form, meat, fish of British taking, raw cotton, raw wool and tea.

Mr. Chamberlain said the government had decided to impose a 10 per cent ad valorem duty on all imports, subject to certain exceptions.

When there is an existing duty on an article, he said, that article will not be subject to the 10 per cent tariff.

Additional duties will be imposed by order of the Treasury after recommendation by an independent advisory committee which will give its whole time to the work and will consist of not less than two nor more than five members and a chairman.

ARMS CUT PARLEY HAS FIRST FIGHT

Spaniard Tries to Prevent Japanese From Being Elected As Vice President

Geneva, Switzerland, Feb. 4.—(AP)—The world disarmament conference experienced and settled its first fight today.

The clash developed over an effort of Dr. Salvador de Madriga, Spanish delegate, to prevent the Japanese from securing one of the fourteen vice-presidencies of the conference.

Apparently intent on punishing Japan for her hostile activities in China, Dr. de Madriga, former minister to Washington and noted writer and authority on international questions, had canvassed the delegates, urging the blackballing of Tanezo Matsudaira, Japanese ambassador to London, who was proposed for one of the vice-presidential posts.

Dr. de Madriga had hinted he had the support of the American delegation. Hugh Gibson, American ambassador to Belgium and member of the American delegation, made a public visit to Ambassador Matsudaira to assure him there was no effort by the American delegation to deprive him of his seat.

Vote Today
Meanwhile, the conference steering committee settled the matter by ruling that its nomination of fourteen vice-presidents must be accepted or rejected in its entirety, and that a vote would be taken this afternoon.

The Rumanian, M. Titulescu, seemed to have been agreed upon as the ranking vice-president to succeed Arthur Henderson in case he should retire for any reason.

The heads of the various delegations have been consulting each other for mutual information regarding their viewpoints before the conference gets down to work in earnest on Monday.

German Delegates
Chancellor Bruening of Germany will arrive on Sunday and will speak at Tuesday's meeting. Sir John Simon, the British foreign secretary, is coming on Monday, and Andre Tardieu, French minister of war, will be here at about the same time.

Last night the serenity of the conference was broken by the appearance over St. Peter's Cathedral of a red flag on which had been

BOB-CATS A MENACE TO GAME IN STATE

Chief Game Warden Williamson Says They Are Plentiful This Winter—Nine Killed So Far.

Bob-cats, ruthless destroyers of Connecticut's game, are reported to be fairly plentiful in the state this winter, according to Chief Game Warden A. Joseph Williamson of Wethersfield. Reports at the Hartford office of the State Board of Fisheries and Game show that a total of nine of these large predators have been killed by hunters since last fall.

Most of the animals have been found in Litchfield County where they were shot in the vicinity of Kent. Three cats have been killed near Hartford by 'coon hunters and two have been reported from near Voluntown, well down in the southeastern section of Connecticut. The presence of these cats in New London county, coupled with reports of large numbers of gray foxes, indicate a reason for the reported pheasant scarcity in that section last fall, according to Mr. Williamson.

"Few realize the amount of game destroyed by bob-cats and foxes in the course of a year," says the chief of Connecticut's warden force. "Hunting every day in the year, and observing no closed seasons, one cat or fox will kill more game than fifty hunters. Not only do bob-cats take small game, but they are a report from Toland County of a full-grown deer being killed and partially devoured by two of them."

Massachusetts has placed a bounty of five dollars on bob-cats and numbers of them have been killed. It is believed that a scarcity of game in the Bay State has driven the animals into Connecticut in search of food.

MACDONALD BETTER

London, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Premier Ramsay MacDonald who last night underwent a delicate, but not serious, operation on his left eye, was reported "quite comfortable this morning" in a medical bulletin.

The premier had a fairly restful night, and the condition of his eye was said to be satisfactory. He was able to sit up in bed this morning and eat a normal breakfast.

MacDonald's ailment, glaucoma, was described before the operation as involving a "gradual diminution in the vision of the left eye." He had been suffering from intermittent headaches for some time. Despite the present world crisis and many important problems demanding his attention at home, it was decided that an immediate operation was necessary.

He was expected to remain in a nursing home for a week or ten days.

FIND ABANDONED PLANE ON BEACH IN FLORIDA

West Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 4.—(AP)—An abandoned airplane, found upside down on the beach here today, was believed for a time to have been that in which Pilot Val Chick and four passengers disappeared between Miami and Miami, Bahamas, Monday, but an investigation by Sheriff R. C. Baker proved the contrary.

The plane is in good condition, except that glass in the cabin had been shattered. It is a black and gold Stinson land plane with the numbers NCB-787 on the wing and NC-270 on the tail.

Two women, who refused to divulge their names, saw the ship on the beach while en route by automobile from Miami to St. Augustine. Sheriff Baker, and he started an inquiry that disclosed the plane, seen flying southward, turned over in making a forced landing on the beach.

Residents told him they saw a man run from the plane shortly after it turned over. Baker said the doors had been forced open and the pilot's identification cards were missing.

E. E. Britton, pilot at the West Palm Beach Airport, identified the plane as one that had been there for the last two weeks.

Young women all over the country are offering to marry for money. And the more, the merrier!

FURTHER PRICE CUTS

New York, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Dr. Carl N. Schmalz, of the Graduate School of Business Administration of Harvard University, told the National Retail Dry Goods Association convention today that department store executives who wish to have their stores ready for the future should be prepared for a further and possibly substantial price decline.

Dr. Schmalz emphasized that he was not forecasting prices, but pointed out that for ten years department store earnings have been declining. He said that after the Civil War trend of prices was downward for 34 years. Periods of extremely high prices, he said, are periods of severe maladjustment of prices, which must be followed by long and painful readjustment.

"Eventually, through declines in wages, rentals and prices generally, the old balance may be restored," Dr. Schmalz said. "How long this will take we do not know, but meanwhile the expense rate will rise unless unit costs in dollars and cents can be reduced in proportion to the decline in prices, that is, in sales."

France raided the American dollar, and dry agents raided Al Capone's brewery. Strange business, this liquidation.

Steeplechase Is Joe McCluskey's Goal In Olympics

"BEAT BRISTOL" IS M. H. S. CRY

Students and Graduates Eager For Manchester Victory to Offset 57-14 Humiliation; Teams Clash At Armory Tomorrow

With the Renaissance game now a matter of history, Manchester basketball followers today turned their attention to the other big battle of the week—the Manchester-Bristol high school contest slated for the state armory here tomorrow night.

With nearly ten straight victories to its credit, the undefeated Bristol machine comes to town eager to repeat its overwhelming victory of a few weeks ago when Manchester was buried under an avalanche score which finally ended at 57 to 14—the biggest margin Bristol ever attained over Manchester in nearly twenty years of competition.

Quite naturally Manchester deeply resents the humiliation of this wallowing and tomorrow night it will move out onto the armory court determined to gain revenge if such is at all possible. Obviously, the task of the Silk City aggregation is a difficult assignment and it will be no surprise if Bristol scores another victory.

It will be a surprise—and a big one, too—if Bristol managed to again roll up such a decisive margin of victory. Although Manchester is apparently hoping out of the C. C. L. pennant race, this doesn't in the least reduce the desire of the Clarkmen to beat Bristol. Bristol's 57-14 victory will long be a sore spot in Manchester High basketball relations and the local school and its graduates will not be satisfied until Bristol has been made to pay heavily.

"Beat Bristol"—Slogan in order to gain that satisfaction Manchester High does not have to win by such a big score tomorrow night. A one-point triumph over the heavily favored team apparently much superior Bristol machine which Coach Tommy Monahan has developed, would bring intense delight for it might prevent Bristol from winning the league championship in view of Bristol's return game at Meriden which would then give the Silver City team a chance to deadlock the league standing.

Manchester has improved immensely since the 23-9 and 57-14 drubbings it received from Meriden and Bristol at the start of the season. This was attested in the recent game at Meriden which went to Meriden 19 to 16 only after a hectic struggle in which the Silk Towers almost gained the edge. The armory will probably be crowded with more than a thousand fans as the two teams clash tomorrow. The cry of "Beat Bristol" has spread like fire through the high school and its big following of supporters.

GOLF TOURNEY

New York, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Entries for the national open golf championship must be filed by Tuesday, May 17, the U. S. Golf Association has decided and the deadline for national amateur championship entries is Tuesday, July 26.

Qualifying rounds for the open will be played June 6 and the tournament proper will take place at Salisbury Country Club, Long Island June 23, 24, 25. Regional qualifying rounds for the Amateur which will be played at the Baltimore Country Club, Sept. 12-17 will be held August 16.

SPORT PLANTS

Here are a few more "thrills in sport" as they have been noted by our experts along the highways and byways of the competitive campaigns:

"First football game between St. Joseph's Prep and Northeast High when J. Howard Berry, later famous Penn athlete, with the score 0-0, tackled St. Joe runner so sagely he dropped the ball in back of goal line. Berry recovered and ran out to midfield. With a few seconds to play, he kicked a 55 yard drop kick to win the game, 3-0. The feat for action in 30 seconds."—John J. Nolan, Philadelphia Bulletin.

"Charles 'Chuck' Carroll, University of Washington halfback, tackling Howard Maple, Oregon State College quarterback on Washington's 4-yard line after a 60-yard run, at Seattle in 1929. Carroll was twice knocked down in the chase, but finally managed to catch Maple from behind. It was the year Carroll made the All-American. O. S. C. won the ball game, 20 to 0.—George Varnell, Seattle Times.

Fyle's Gaudy Show

"Start of first Erie Runion Derby, March 4, 1928, and subsequent progress across California, Arizona, to New Mexico. Estimated half a million persons lined 20 mile stretch to watch start of 274 men and boys. Men running in rubber, leather boots, barefoot. Couple of entrants temporarily mentally deranged. Others lost in woods or mountains. Some took from 7 a. m. until midnight to cover 60 miles. One had two dogs for company and played a ukelele. Peter Gavuzd, British entrant, smoked cigars and drank wine tonic while running."—Russ Newland (AP), San Francisco.

"Field goal by Galloway in last minute of Weber-DePauw game in 1920, winning for DePauw, 3 to 0. Goal of 52 yards, regardless of records, first time he ever tried one, and kicked after halfback told him to cancel forward pass play and try for the goal. Being a member of DePauw team at time, probably added greatly to thrill."—Joseph T. Adams, Rochester (N. Y.) Democrat and Chronicle.

Dodging Death

"My biggest thrill," writes Myron Huff of the Philadelphia Public Ledger, "took place Labor Day, 1925, during the 250-mile auto race at Altoona, Pa., the day Howdie Wilcox met his death."

"Wilcox's death was spectacular in the extreme, his car turning over endwise three times, but added to that was the fact that one front wheel broke off, rolled to the top of the track, rolled down again, struck the fence, caromed off and fell, wobbling, in the center of the racing deck. Bennett Hill, next behind Wilcox when the accident took place, was forced, in the space of two seconds, to three times expertly juggle his car to avoid making it a double fatality."

"Added to that, Eddie Hearne, the ultimate winner, drove the prettiest race I ever have witnessed, riding the top of a line of all the way two hundred times around the mile-and-a-quarter bowl without a single pit stop, either for replacement of oil, gas or tires. And he was crowding forty years of age at the time."

BILLIARDS

COPULOS ELIMINATED

Chicago, Feb. 4.—(AP)—The race for the world three cushion billiard championship was a three-man struggle today with Otto Reisselt in front with his string of seven wins and one defeat. His closest rival for the crown and the gold which goes with it, was Augie Kleckhefer who had a record of six victories and two defeats. Close behind Kleckhefer and still a mathematical contender was Arthur Thurnblad, the defending champion. Thurnblad's hopes were soured, however, as he had three defeats recorded against him in eight starts.

Jack Shear, the world 18.2 balling champion who has been upsetting almost everyone in the long tournament, turned in another masterpiece last night by defeating Gus Copulos. The victory eliminated Copulos from any title chance.

YALE-HARVARD RACE JUNE 24

Annual Boat Race to Be Downstream This Year; To Start Hour Earlier.

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 4.—(AP)—The crews of Yale and Harvard will renew hostilities on the Thames river at New London, June 24 in the seventeenth annual regatta.

Athletic officials from the two universities announced the varsity race will be rowed downstream from Bartlett's Cove to the drawbridge at New London as in 1930. Last year all of the races were rowed upstream.

The freshman and junior varsity eight will again race upstream over the two miles of the course.

Because of canal conditions the varsity event has been set for 6:15 p. m. (Eastern Standard Time), almost an hour earlier than the time of the 1931 race. The Freshman race, set for 10 a. m., will start off the regatta and a half hour after this event is finished, the junior varsity race will follow.

The New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad will operate a 35-car train for the main race and a 12-car train for the morning events.

The Central Vermont railroad will run at 32-car train on the other side of the river for the varsity race and a ten-car train in the morning.

The Elis lost the varsity race last year after capturing both morning events.

BOWLING

READ 'EM AND WEEP

In the second leg of a home and home match between Morin and Kaiser of Rockville and Murphy and Kebart of Manchester at Murphy's alleys, the local bowlers gave the Rockville pair a sweet lacing, defeating them by a margin of 91 pins.

The local bowlers were in fine form last night and it was remarked that they would give any two bowlers in the state a battle. Murphy had high single with 149 and a pinfall of 930 which also gave him the high average of 182.6 for the night. Kebart was second with 125 average. Kaiser was the star for Rockville, hitting a single string of 146 and 124.1 for his average. Morin had a high single of 144 and 120.2 for an average. In an aftermatch Manchester also took the "Windy City" boys into camp.

Sleigh Bells Jingle As Olympics Begin

Gaily Bedecked Skiers Stroll Through Streets of Lake Placid as Athletes Make Ready For Action.

Lake Placid, N. Y., Feb. 4.—(AP)—Today is the opening day of the winter Olympics in this tiny winter lakes and frosty topped Adirondack Mountains, the biggest of all days in the lives of the 3,500 inhabitants.

To help them entertain 331 athletes of 17 nations who lined up for the formal march in alphabetical order to the opening ceremonies at 10 a. m. in the outdoor Olympic Stadium, was Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt and his staff, official guests of the village.

In addition, parading the flag-draped streets early scurrying through the snow which covers everything, were some ten thousand visitors, about half of them here for the duration of the games, the rest in town for the day from the surrounding countryside.

Two solid years of preparation and some $1,250,000 in cash have been expended to set the stage for the third Olympic winter games, the first ever held in the United States. And there was no begrudging either the time or the money for Lake Placid was bidding in a magnificent cooperative gesture, for the title of winter sports capital of the nation.

As sleigh bells jingled the gaily bedecked skiers went about the streets and trails heading for the opening ceremonies where a local boy, Jack Shea, waited to take the Olympic oath from Governor Roosevelt with all the athletes of all 17 nations standing in a semi-circle behind him in salute.

Shea was a favorite to win one of the three trials in the opening event. The 500 metres speed skating event and the final after the morning hockey game between Canada and the United States. In the afternoon the five thousand metres trials were scheduled, with the final following the hockey game between Germany and Poland.

Ivar Ballangrud of Norway, defending his Olympic championship was the five thousand metres favorite, although Irving Jaffe, United States star was expected to give him a tussle.

COUNTY Y BASKETBALL TOURNEY HERE FEB. 20

Annual Event to Be Held In New Building—Is For Junior Quintets Only.

Announcement has been made by A. L. Randall of Broad Brook, County Y commissioner for Junior Basketball, of the Junior Basketball Tournament to be held at the new Manchester YMCA, with the first round to be played on Saturday, Feb. 20th. This tournament, an annual event sponsored by the County YMCA, is for boys who are under sixteen years of age, and provides keen competition in that class. The second round of the tournament is slated to be played on Saturday, Feb. 27, with the third and final round played on Saturday, March 12. Teams entered last year included the Manchester High school Freshmen, Newington Junior High school, Hazardville Recreation Center, Williams Memorial Institute of Glastonbury, Broad Brook Grammar school, Glastonbury High school Juniors, New Britain First Baptist church, and New Britain So. church, and it is expected that many of these teams, as well as several new ones, will be matched up again this year.

NEW LONDON TEAM HERE FRIDAY NIGHT

The New London Bowling team, featuring the great Joswell will be the attraction for the bowling fans tomorrow night at Murphy's alleys. Boswell a year or so ago was considered one of the best bowlers in the state, and it will be a treat to watch his awkward position before he delivers the ball down the alleys. The match is scheduled for 8:30 o'clock.

Pay of football officials was reduced a third by the Southern conference at its winter meeting.

Mrs. Ruth Raymond of New Orleans, runner-up to Mrs. Marion Tupie Lake last year, will be a favorite to win the 1932 southern women's golf championship.

Chances To Qualify Seem To Be Bright For Fordham Youth

Manchester Athlete Seeks World's Record In Two-Mile Run Saturday; Has Very Busy Schedule For February; Olympic Prospects Discussed.

Joe McCluskey will attempt to set a new world's record for the two mile run when he competes in the Milrose A. A. program at Madison Square Garden Saturday night. The present record of 8 minutes, 58 3-5 seconds is held by Pavo Nurmi of Finland. McCluskey's best time is 9:12, a difference of less than 14 seconds.

The Manchester athlete who seems destined to wear the colors of the United States in the coming Olympics at Los Angeles next August, improved 19 1-2 seconds in the two mile event last year and he is confident that he possesses the ability to travel fast enough to break the international mark now possessed by Nurmi.

Steeplechase His Goal McCluskey's goal in the Olympics, however, will not be the two mile stretch, but the 3,000 meter steeplechase in which he won the national outdoor steeplechase last year at Lincoln, Nebraska. The Fordham youth figure his chances better in the steeplechase because the nearest to the two mile on the Olympic program is the 5,000 meter run which is a little over three miles.

If McCluskey maintains his last year's form, it seems certain that he will make the Olympic grade. His most important meets affecting chances to qualify for the Olympics are the Indoor Nationals, Penn Relays and Outdoor Intercollegiate, the latter to be held at Los Angeles, July 9. This will be a semi-final to the Olympic tryout finals set for July 15 and 16.

FEBRUARY'S SCHEDULE

The month of February provides a very busy schedule for Manchester's native son. Fresh from his two mile victory at Boston last Saturday against a field which included Gus Moore of the Brooklyn Harriers, McCluskey's chief two-mile rival last season, the Fordham athlete engages in several meets before the indoor intercollegiate on March 5.

First comes the Milrose A. A. meet in the Garden Saturday in which McCluskey hopes to set a new world's record for two miles. Opposing him will be Harold Manning of Wichita, Kan., who won the event last year, Clarke Chamberlain, the Michigan State flier who has beaten McCluskey, Frank Ryan of Manhattan, who finished second at Boston last week, George Barker of N. Y. U., Paul Reekers of Penn State and Moore. McCluskey plans to run against a watch, rather than the field. He will carry a stop watch during the run.

On February 8, McCluskey is scheduled to take part in the K. of C. mile run at Newark and on Feb. 18 he may run in the 1,000 yards event on the N. Y. A. C. program. The Indoor Nationals come Feb. 22 at the Garden and the Manchester boy will enter the two mile steeplechase in which he finished second to Leo Lermond of Boston last year.

Indoor Intercollegiate On Feb. 27, McCluskey runs in the two mile feature of the New York K. of C. meet at the Garden. Last year he beat Moor, in this event with the time of 9:15. Then on March 5 comes the Indoor Intercollegiate to be held at the Kingsbridge Armory near Fordham University. This armory features a six-lap mile track as one of its many advantages. McCluskey also won this event last year setting a new record of 9:17 4-5 for the two mile run.

No more meets are scheduled until April when the Penn Relays, C. C. N. Y. and Columbia track and field games are scheduled. This leaves only the Outdoor Intercollegiate at Los Angeles July 9 to complete McCluskey's extensive schedule. During his brief visit with his parents over the past week end, McCluskey stated that he believed his schedule just the proper amount of competition to put him in the pink of condition for the Olympics.

To give Manchester sporting enthusiasts a better idea of the excellent chances of McCluskey to qualify for the United States Olympic team, a few additional facts concerning the international competition is added. For instance, the first three men to place in the steeplechase trials will automatically qualify for that event in the Olympic. All three will take part in the Olympic steeplechase event.

McCluskey Confident In 1928 the time o. the winner of first place in the steeplechase qualifying for the U. S. team did no better than 9:35. McCluskey has already bettered that time and even in the Penn Relays last year he won. McCluskey's time was only two seconds slower than the Olympic qualifying time of 1928. The Manchester boy feels certain that barring an accident of some sort, he will be able to easily eclipse this clocking when the trials at Los Angeles take place.

McCluskey said he would also like to compete in the 5,000 meter run on the Olympic program but added that the steeplechase and the 5,000 meter conflict on the program making double entrance impossible. Consequently, Joe chose the steeplechase as his goal. If he wins this event in the Olympics, his victory will bring 15 points for United States while second place would earn 10 points.

BOTH RUNNERS WIN WITH SAME SHOES

The same pair of running shoes brought victory to two competitors in the Froot Memorial games at Boston last Saturday night.

Joe McCluskey, dissatisfied with a new pair which he had just bought, borrowed the shoes of Gene Venzke, Pennsylvania miler. McCluskey won easily.

Then Venzke donned the brogans and romped to victory in the mile run setting a new track record in 4:15 1-4.

McCluskey also won this event last year setting a new record of 9:17 4-5 for the two mile run.

No more meets are scheduled until April when the Penn Relays, C. C. N. Y. and Columbia track and field games are scheduled. This leaves only the Outdoor Intercollegiate at Los Angeles July 9 to complete McCluskey's extensive schedule. During his brief visit with his parents over the past week end, McCluskey stated that he believed his schedule just the proper amount of competition to put him in the pink of condition for the Olympics.

Do You Remember?

One Year Ago Today—Raccoon beat Sidney Grant by a head in winning the $1,200 Tamiami Trail Handicap at Miami. Paul Bunyan, a 5-1 shot, beat Playtime by a length to win the $1,200 Sunny South purse at New Orleans fair grounds.

Five Years Ago Today—For being four pounds overweight Charley (Phil) Rosenberg was shorn of his world bantamweight championship, but the deposed champ came into the ring to pound out an easy decision in 15 rounds over challenger Bushy Graham of Utica.

Ten Years Ago Today—Bob MacDonald of Chicago's Bob o' Link club, carried 23 strokes on the Municipal course at San Antonio to win the Texas Open golf championship by one stroke from Cyril Walker. He was two strokes in front of Leo Diegel.

SPIDER IN AN EGG

Duncan, B. C.—The spider that frightened little Miss Muffitt had nothing on the one that gave M. Talbot of Trunk Road a surprise recently. He sat down to his breakfast and topped his egg with a knife. There, inside a small air sack between the shell and meat of the egg, he found a small black spider, he says.

HOOPER NAMES MELLON AS ENVOY TO BRITAIN

Ogden Mills has been a marked man in Washington since early in the Hoover administration. It was realized that here was the President's closest adviser on economic matters. He has shouldered the heaviest burden of treasury work the past two years, going to Mellon for approval of policies he himself worked out. The present administration program for National economic recovery bears his stamp at every point. He has long been in public life, beginning with the New York Legislature, serving three years in Congress and campaigning once for the New York governorship.

Mills became under-secretary in 1927, resigning from Congress to take the post.

LONDON PLEASER

London, Feb. 4.—(AP)—The editorial reaction of London newspapers this morning to the announcement of the appointment of Secretary of the Treasury Andrew Mellon as ambassador to Great Britain to succeed General Dawes was one of hearty welcome. They referred to him "as a great friend to Britain." It also was apparent his appointment raised hopes some steps would be taken toward a revision of war debts.

All the newspapers displayed prominently on their first pages the news that Secretary Mellon had been offered the post although the announcement he had accepted came too late for publication in morning papers. The display included his portrait and personal notes and his business and public career.

STOLE $50,000 LOAD

Boston, Feb. 4.—(AP)—F. G. Cotter, truck driver for a Boston Transportation Company reported to police today four men had held him up in Wayland and had stolen his load of razor blades valued at about $50,000.

Although the holdup occurred in Wayland last night the transfer of the blades from Cotter's truck to another took place in Watertown early today, Cotter said, after he had been driven around for several hours by the robbers. Cotter's truck was found in Waltham later by police.

MEMORIAL WINDOW

Hartford, Feb. 4.—(AP)—A memorial window in honor of Major General David Wooster who was killed during an engagement at Ridgefield between Patriots and British in April 1777 was authorized by the Masonic Grand Lodge yesterday. It probably will be placed in the grand lodge room.

James E. Brickerhoff of Stamford, was elected a grand trustee to fill a vacancy which came through the death of Fairchild Wheeler, Bridgeport. Albert S. Comstock of Norwich and Norman C. Stevens of Hartford, were re-elected grand trustees.

WATCHES WHICH HOLD A HIPSTICK

Watches which hold a hipstick are a fashion fad in Paris; when the hipstick is turned up or use the movement winds the watch.

LITTLE GIRL STRANGLER

New York, Feb. 4.—(AP)—A five-year-old Brooklyn girl, Florence McDonnell, was found strangled to death today in a Brooklyn cellar. She had been missing from her home since yesterday and every available Brooklyn policeman aided by flood lights, has searched cellars, alleys and housepots all night.

A widespread search for a maniac was immediately intensified. He was believed to have murdered another Brooklyn child last year, and attacked three others within the last two months.

The McDonnell child, a kindergarten student, was last seen at 2 p. m., yesterday two blocks from her home. A few hours later the frantic parents appealed to police, declaring they believed she had been kidnapped.

The cellar where the body was found was only 75 feet from the little girl's home. A police emergency squad searching the cellar with flashlights came upon it. She apparently had been strangled by a man's hands, police said.

FOUR HURT BY BLAST

Bridgeport, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Four girls were hurt, two of them seriously in an explosion which occurred shortly after 11 o'clock this morning in the timing plant of the United Metallic Cartridge Company.

The most seriously injured are Miss Marie O'Connor of 168 Fifth street and Mrs. Beatrice Vastus of 606 Lafayette street.

The girls less badly injured were Mary Povak of 503 Arctic street and Albina Zepka, of 1116 Ogden street. The latter two received lacerations of the face and arms.

The nature of their injuries have not been made public.

The explosion did little property damage.

START SCHOOL SURVEY

Hartford, Feb. 4.—(AP)—The Connecticut League of Women Voters is trying to find out whether or not there is a general discrimination against married teachers in the State. Its common education, Miss Emily H. Whitney of New Haven, chairman, is carrying through a survey.

The bulletin, publication of the league says:

Those who believe that efficiency should be the test of employment are again arrayed against those who think that married women should not hold jobs when men and single women need employment."

NATIONAL SHRINE

Washington, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Senator Walsh (D., Mass.) was informed today by the secretary of war that funds would be asked for investigation into the feasibility of making a national shrine of the Concord, Mass., battlefield.

Walsh is urging the government to enshrine both the Lexington and Concord battle grounds of the Revolutionary war.

ISSUES REQUISITION

Hartford, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Governor Cross today issued a requisition on the Governor of New York for the return of Eugene D. Martin of Springfield, Mass., who is held in New York City and who is wanted in Higganum on a charge of breaking and entering and theft, alleged to have been committed on Jan. 12, 1930, when he took articles and cash to the value of $240.90 from the Middlesex Drug Company.

THROWN FROM AUTO

Wilmington, Del., Feb. 4.—(AP)—An unidentified girl about 18 years old was killed last night when thrown from the running board of a speeding automobile while a man to whom she had cried for help tried to catch the driver.

Harry Schmidt told police he saw the girl struggling with a man in a parked car near Silverbrook cemetery. As he approached she broke away and ran toward him shouting, "Save me. Please help me!" but jumped back on the running board when the driver of the parked car started up.

Schmidt said he gave chase while the girl on the running board appeared to be held by someone in the car. As the car made a turn at high speed she was thrown against the iron railing of a small bridge.

The girl was dressed in a brown tweed skirt, white shirtwaist, black shoes and stockings and brown fur coat and carried a handkerchief bearing the initials "M. P. R."

PRICE REASONABLE

Washington, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Assistant Secretary Heath, of the treasury, reported to Senator Walsh (D., Mass.) today that investigation of the amount paid for the Cambridge, Mass., postoffice site was considered reasonable.

Senator Walsh had referred to Heath complaints against the site and the purchase price. Heath said the original price asked for the Massachusetts avenue property was $425,000 and it had finally been purchased for $350,000.

STUDENT DROWNED

Two Day Bazaar Great Success—President Verplanck Expresses Gratitude.

A check in the amount of $402.77 was today turned over to the Manchester Emergency Employment Association, Inc., representing the receipts of the two-day bazaar held at the Sub-Alpine Club last week-end by the Italian Colony of the town.

The affair was a huge success in every way and attracted a capacity crowd both Saturday and Sunday, not only locally but from Bolton, Glastonbury and Wapping. A large number of prizes given away had been donated and also the foodstuffs, which kept the expenses down to a small figure.

President F. A. Verplanck of the Association today expressed his gratification at the success of the bazaar and appreciated the cooperation received from the Italian element in contributing to the relief of unemployment in Manchester.

FIRE IN SYNAGOGUE

Stamford, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Fire, believed to have started from defective wiring in an oil burner in the basement, gutted the Synagogue of the Congregation Agudas Sholem here early today.

The blaze was discovered at 8:44 a. m., and two alarms brought out all available fire fighting apparatus. Although the building stood in a thickly settled section of the city, firemen managed to prevent any serious damage to surrounding buildings.

Now that the cat had grown so big the giant said, "You'll dance a jig when I explain the plan I have in mind for all of you. You all desire to move along. Well, now I guess the cat is strong enough to pull you. Thus no walking will you have to do."

"Gee, we can't all ride on his back. We'd crush him down with one loud smack!" said Duncy. Then the giant smiled and said, "Now kindly wait till I've explained all of my plan. We'll build a fine cart, if we can. If you will all turn in and help, it ought to turn out great."

"Sure! We will benefit ourselves, so get your tools down off the shelves," said Cobby. "Then show us the wood. We'll gladly haul it out. What sort of cart would you suggest? Of course we'd like to have the best." The giant snapped, "A chariot. You'll all like that, no doubt."

SENSE AND NONSENSE

Take It Or Leave It: George Washington would never have had that terrible winter at Valley Forge if he had gone there in the summer time.

Contagious—Like Measles: Happiness is like measles; you cannot have it without giving it to someone else.

When Business Is Good: Advertise Some To Get More. When Business Is Slow, Advertise More To Get Some.

If you can smile before breakfast it is very likely that you can smile the rest of the day. Love at first sight has a great precedent; Adam's for Eve. Many a man has lost his right by stopping to pat himself on the back. Any wife knows that the ideal husband is one who can pay her compliments and her bills. A lot of the talkies are dumb. As soon as a husband is broken of one bad habit he acquires another. With airplanes and radios riding the air all the time it is no wonder the air bucks up occasionally. Putting your purse under your pillow does not necessarily mean that you have enough to retire on. Before leaving your present position for a new one, be sure the new one has more advantages than a mere advance in salary. Here's something for the girls to consider: When airplanes become common and take the place of autos, there will be no opportunity to get out and walk back home. He who laughs last laughs best, but he soon gets a reputation for being mighty dumb.

Brown—When you sleep, your forehead reminds me of a story.
Light Brown—What story?
Brown—"Sleeping Beauty?"
Light Brown—"Sleepy Hollow."

Z—Ouch!
Sam held her hand and she held his'n. And then they hugged and went to kiss'n. They did not know her dad had hid'n. Madder than hops and simply sis'n; And really 'tix'n right to his'n. But Sam got his'n and went out whiz'n.

Andy Mellon says the business outlook for the future is hopeful. Most any of us could feel that way if we had a hundred million dollars like Uncle Andy.

Trouble Averted In Either Case
A man who gives in when he is wrong is wise.
A man who gives in when he is right is married.

Alas, a man gets so little chance to exercise his imagination these days that it has become almost as useless as the appendix. Do not get the fool idea that you have a clinch on your job these days when plenty of good workmen are seeking employment.

Little George (after he had been introduced to the guests for dinner)—Daddy Dear, May I have a dime, please?
Daddy (with a smile)—Surely, son. Here it is.

Little George (anxiously)—This time you won't make me give it back after the visitors are gone, will you Daddy dear?
After all people change but little with the passing of years. At the age of five they think Santa Claus lives at the North Pole; at age fifty they think he lives in Washington.

Timid Customer—Do you keep fountain pens?

CHIEF JUSTICE HITS AT JAILS OF STATE

Asks For Arousing of Public Opinion Against "Connecticut's Weakest Spot."

In a letter to The Herald Chief Justice William M. Maithe of the Connecticut Supreme Court of Errors appeals for the awakening of interest in the subject of the jails of the state, which he describes as "the weakest spot" in the governmental machinery of the state.

"I was interested in the idea of trying to make some improvement in our jails before the commission to make a survey of them was appointed; I presume I did more than anyone else to get the Legislature to appoint it; and I have been closely in touch with it at all times since."

Untrained Officials "Secondly, the jails in Connecticut are the weakest spot in its governmental machinery. The men responsible have no training in dealing with criminals except such as comes from the experience they acquire, and are not selected with that in view."

"Just think of a jail like that at Hartford, where prisoners, sent there for perhaps nine months or a year, cannot get once into the open air but can only gather, when out of their cells, in a small enclosed court inside one of the cell blocks."

kept there all the time, absolutely without employment of any kind. "These are just instances of what I mean by treatment which falls short of a common humanity. Some of the conditions in jails do not even measure up to the standards of common decency."

No Sentimentalist "I am not a sentimentalist in my regard for criminals. As between the law-breaker and the law-abiding citizen, the latter is the one primarily to be considered. I believe in the deterrent force of punishment, and to have that effect I believe that punishment must be real. But I also believe that it is a short-sighted policy so to conduct our jails that those who go out from them are worse equipped to lead decent lives than when they go in; and no one can study the statistics without seeing clearly marked the pathway from jail, to reformatory, to prison, I am proud of Connecticut, its people and its government, but I am thoroughly satisfied that the weakest spot in its system is the county jail and that these institutions as a whole are a blot upon the state. I am ashamed, bitterly ashamed, of them."

"The jail commission is honestly endeavoring to do something to improve the situation. It has no axe to grind politically or otherwise—no ill will to anyone, and no desire to criticize anyone. But it can accomplish nothing by itself. The legislative archives are full of reports such as it will make, which have simply moldered away there. Nothing will be done unless the people are aroused to the need of it."

SUB-ALPINE CLUB CANTEN ROBBED

Merchandise Worth $100 Taken Sunday Night After Bazaar, Police Disclose.

Merchandise valued at close to $100 was stolen from the Sub-Alpine Club on Eldridge street sometime Sunday night, it became known today. Police are working on the case.

The break is believed to have been committed by someone who attended the Italian Colony dance and bazaar Saturday or Sunday, because the one who committed the crime had exact knowledge of the construction of the canteen in which the merchandise was locked.

A sliding door lifts upward to open the canteen and when closed it is locked with two bolts on each side. Whoever broke into the canteen knew exactly where the bolts were located for he bored holes through the door on each side so that he could put his hand through and slide the bolt back.

Cigars, cigarettes, candy and less than $10 in cash were taken from the canteen. Police found no evidence of a forced entrance into the building and it is believed that the thief secreted himself in the building during the dance and waited until the building was closed, then proceeded to his plans of burglary.

Club members who remained late Sunday night playing cards now recall that they heard some sort of a disturbance in the building but thought it was caused by the wind which was blowing hard at the time. It is understood that the dance and bazaar netted close to $400 for charity relief. It was staged by all of the Italian organizations working jointly.

Nils B. Johnson of Goodwin Place, East Hartford, who is well known to the Swedish element in town, has been commissioned a first lieutenant in the Infantry Reserve Corps, by the War Department.
