

McKINLEY BANQUET IMPORTANT EVENT

State Republicans to Gather On Monday to Discuss Make Up of Ticket For the Fall Campaign.

New Haven, Feb. 13.—(AP)—On Monday the McKinley Club of Connecticut will observe its 28th birthday anniversary and as in years gone by, it will hold a banquet. This will be at Hotel Taft in this city.

It was here the first gathering was held in 1904 when a number of McKinley clubs in the State were brought together for a state organization. President William McKinley died on September 14, 1901. The following January 31 the New York Chamber of Commerce held a gathering in his memory. A year later two cities in the country had a similar observance. The date had taken the name of Carnation Day after the President's favorite flower.

At the first banquet here January 29, 1904 the four hundred Republicans each wore a carnation in his lapel. Governor Adiram Chamberlain of Meriden presided and the speakers were General Stewart L. Woodford, who had been minister to Spain, Frank E. Brandegee then Congressman Lewis T. Reynolds of Dayton, Ohio, president of the National League of the United States and others, each of whom had been personally acquainted with President McKinley. Mark Hanna of Ohio, sent a letter of congratulation.

The second banquet was in Foot Guard Armory, Hartford, and in succeeding years the club has been in various cities in rotation. In 1913 the gathering here was a tribute to former President William Howard Taft. In 1915 at Hartford the chief speaker was Congressman Nicholas Longworth of Ohio. In the years which have gone the club has endeavored to maintain of outstanding prominence in National and state politics. Men from the far west liked to come to Connecticut and members of Congress from Connecticut have come here with many of their colleagues who otherwise might never have visited the State. Between the McKinley Club and the Young Men's Republican Club of New Haven, which for more than 40 years has observed Lincoln Day, National politics and National affairs have been well talked over in this city by men who had a part in them.

Political Gatherings In recent years the gatherings have had a more defined political atmosphere. In presidential election years the political outlook has been scrutinized from both the National and the state viewpoint. In State election years the "trial balloons" have been flown to cast shadows before so an inkling of the makeup of the fall state ticket might be obtained. There will be no exception to this next Monday. Many will hazard a guess that State Treasurer Roy C. Wilcox may head the ticket and others that State Senator Fuller Barnes of Bristol may have top place. The latter is to be elected president of the club for 1932 and the former will be toastmaster.

Attendance at the banquets has usually been about 350, representative of the Republican Party in all sections. In recent years many women have enjoyed the political fellowship.

BIG ICE CARNIVAL HERE TOMORROW

Weather Seems Favorable So Committee Decides to Go Ahead With Program.

Clear and cold weather formed a combination early this morning that turned the surface of Center Springs pond into splendid condition for Manchester's fifth annual ice carnival at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Since it was begun five years ago the ice carnival has improved yearly and 1932 will not be an exception judging by the imposing array of figure and speed skating artists that have been obtained for the program.

Weather Seems Good Only a slender possibility exists that the carnival will be postponed until a later date, depending entirely on the weather. Extremely warm weather or a heavy rain or snow storm is liable to make postponement a necessity but such a move will not be resorted to until late tomorrow morning. Should inclement weather prevail at that time information on the carnival may be obtained by calling the skating shelter at the pond, telephone 4506.

The Skaters Heading the list of talented ice specialists who will appear tomorrow afternoon, are Miss Dorothy Sanders of New Haven, this state's leading figure skater, and Miss Miriam Davenport of Springfield, Mass., leading amateur figure skater of the Bay State. Both Miss Sanders and Miss Davenport have given exhibitions locally in the past, and so great was the reception accorded that the committee in charge hesitated in obtaining their services again.

Besides giving an exhibition of solo skating, Miss Davenport will appear in a double act with her father, Harold Davenport, also a specialist.

POLITICIANS OPEN EARNEST CAMPAIGN

Republicans Unite Behind Hoover and Many Democrats to Back Roosevelt.

Washington, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Fast accumulating events today brought in the open militant campaigning by supporters of leading contenders for the year's presidential prize.

Lincoln Day gathering of Republicans all over the country, resounded with night with predictions of the re-election of Herbert Hoover and were hailed as the opening move in aggressive efforts in his behalf.

The answer to the stop Roosevelt efforts of various party leaders came in a rally in Washington of supporters of Franklin D. Roosevelt, marking the start of a national campaign to break down opposition and make sure the place he held in the van of Democratic candidates.

Before Storm Broke Over Senate Hearing

Calm before the storm, Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley (standing, in center) and members of the Senate Committee on Territories and Insular Affairs are pictured here as they posed at the national capital. The peaceful scene was broken when Secretary Hurley and Senators Harry B. Hawes of Missouri and William H. King of Utah engaged in bitter controversy over the former's denunciation of bills providing for Philippine independence.

SUCCESS OF ARMS CUT DEPENDS ON FAR EAST

Chinese Leader Tells Delegates That Conference Will Fail If Sino-Japanese Trouble Is Not Settled.

Geneva, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Dr. W. Yen, Chinese delegate to the World Disarmament Conference this morning said that its success or failure depends on the outcome of the conflict between China and Japan in the Far East.

"If the Covenant of the League and the Kellogg Pact are permitted to crumble to pieces over the Sino-Japanese situation the conference will fail. The outcome of the present struggle to ward off external aggression in the most virulent form," he added, "must inevitably and largely determine the armament policy which the Chinese nation will pursue."

Yen dealt more with the Far Eastern situation in his address than with disarmament. "My country and my people," he said, "are not seeking pity or soliciting the armed help of other nations in our hour of trial, but we do demand that the nations that have affixed their signatures to these solemn instruments fulfill the obligations to which they have subscribed. We do appeal to you to rally round the Covenant and the Kellogg-Briand Pact, for only by so doing can you make the work of disarmament real and permanent."

"If," he said, "the Covenant and the Kellogg Pact prove to be bulwarks of peace and international justice on which law-abiding nations rely for safety during an armaments truce, the disarmament conference will mark a long step forward in the organization of peace."

"But if, by some unhappy mischance, he added, 'these bulwarks should crumble, the Chinese people and the Chinese government would be regretfully compelled to put above all other national tasks the parade of arms. The new triple play of the Republican Party," said Dunning in a statement, "Hoover and Mills to Macy to the Republican controlled Legislature." Ogden Mills, secretary of the treasury, is viewed as one of New York's Republican spokesmen at the White House; W. Kingsland Macy is the state chairman of the Republican organization.

MANCHESTER MAN HELD IN SHOOTING

Harry A. Miller, Cheney Mill Employee, Suspect In Hartford Case Today.

Hartford, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Harry Miller, 33, Manchester factory worker, was arrested early today in connection with the shooting of Patrolman Raymond J. Ahern and, although the officer has been unable to identify the man as his assailant, he is being held for investigation. Ahern is in the Hartford hospital with a bullet wound in his left thigh just above the knee. His condition is not serious. He was fortunate for a metal hook on a heavy leather belt deflected the bullet which was aimed at his back.

Miller was arrested by Patrolman Christopher Picking at 5:10 this morning as he emerged from an alley that leads to the rear of the South End Bank and Trust Company on Main street, only about four blocks from the scene of the shooting.

"I didn't pack that cop" were his first words. Picking said, but Miller admitted being near 33 Union street where the attack took place, according to the police although he denied he remarked, while in a restaurant a few minutes after the shooting, that "it's good that copper was shot," police officers say.

Patrolman Ahern, who is unmarried, has been a policeman for five years and lives at 73 Laurel street. He was shot in the back while walking along Union street last night.

The Manchester man arrested in the shooting mystery is Harry A. Miller of 32 Hemlock street, an employee of Cheney Brothers. His case was adjourned for two or three days when it came up in Hartford police court this morning and breach of the peace is the charge under which he is being held.

The detective bureau of the Hartford Police Department informed The Herald shortly before noon today that he "had nothing on Miller" and that he is not believed to have been in any way connected with the shooting. Miller merely happened to be in the vicinity a few hours afterward and was arrested as a suspect.

JAPAN'S INVASION IS CALLED UNJUST

Americans in China Do Not Believe Stories Put Out By the Japanese.

Shanghai, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Most Americans living in Shanghai look upon and condemn the Japanese military activities here as "an unwarranted and unjustified war of aggression." Rev. Emory Lubbock, American pastor of the Shanghai community church told the Associated Press today.

Rev. Mr. Lubbock's congregation is made up almost entirely of Americans. He voiced, he said, the majority of all sections of American opinion here.

"The American community here," he said, "is as far as I know, unanimous and indignant in its denunciation of the Japanese military activities which have characterized Japan's entire misnamed 'defense' of Shanghai."

CHINESE MASS TROOPS; EXPECT JAP ATTACK

JAPS HAVE 25,000 SOLDIERS IN LINE

Japanese Planes and Big Guns Keep Up Bombardment; Chinese Await Own Planes From Canton; Blinding Snowstorm Sweeps Battlefield; American Minister Johnson Says All Efforts At Procuring Peace Have Failed—More Jap Transports With Soldiers Arrive; Expect Big Attack Within Few Days.

Shanghai, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Japanese airplanes and big guns pounded the wrecks of Chapel and Woosung today in the heaviest bombardment since the fighting began two weeks ago and claimed they had stopped a Chinese counter-attack.

It was a prelude to the big Japanese drive which probably will begin early next week. As a blizzard swept across the Woosung sector, Lieutenant General Kenkichi Ueyeda, who will command the entire Japanese force, arrived at his headquarters and issued a statement to the effect that he had come only to protect Japanese life and property and that if possible he would avoid unnecessary hostilities.

Under cover of the storm the Chinese prepared their army of 25,000 men to withstand an assault by the Japanese force of about the same size.

No Peace Prospects Promising reports of peace negotiations, through the medium of the minister of the United States, Great Britain and France also were shot to pieces when Nelson T. Johnson, American minister who arrived here yesterday with the British and French diplomatic representatives, said he knew of no such peace prospects.

The voice of 100 American residents of Shanghai was raised in protest against the Japanese activities in a cablegram to United States Senator William E. Borah at Washington. Their protest was against what they called the violence of Japan's methods. They feared they said that if Japan were successful world reliance would again be placed on the disarmament conference which since the World War.

Rev. Emory Lubbock, American pastor of the Shanghai community church, told the Associated Press he knew it was "unanimous and indignant in condemning Japan's entirely misnamed 'defense' of Shanghai." He said her punitive measures taken a "saner and more civilized course," he added, she would have received considerable support from Americans.

The belief now prevailed, he said, that the Chinese attitude toward foreigners in general, would suffer and the future status of the international Settlement would be endangered.

Jap Planes Out The Japanese planes were out a few minutes after eight this morning to resume attack on Chapel. Sixteen Japanese bombers, which were followed up by a bombardment begun by Japanese howitzers in the fog and mist.

The bombardment awoke the three foreign ministers who hastily sought telephones to learn what it was all about. About 6:30 the six planes wheeled to the north toward the Woosung forts and disappeared. Meanwhile the Chinese waited impatiently for the arrival of four squadrons of their own planes from Canton. New units of Chinese infantry were being thrown into the line to resist and expected big push by the Japanese.

MELLON IS MADE U. S. AMBASSADOR

Sworn In At Capital—Mills Also Takes New Office; Dawes Acts As Witness.

Washington, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Andrew W. Mellon solemnly pronounced the words "I do," and a moment later they were echoed by Ogden Mills.

"That isn't a marriage ceremony. It's a divorce," observed Mellon, as he leaned over and signed his name, amid a burst of laughter.

The ceremony made Mellon ambassador to England and Mills secretary of the treasury. It was held yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Treasury under three presidents finished signing his last letters from that office, and cleared the desk for his successor.

General Dawes, who left the London diplomatic post to run the Reconstruction Corporation; Governor Eugene Meyer of the Federal Reserve Board; and Lawrence Richey, representing President Hoover, were witnesses.

Arthur A. Ballantine became undersecretary of the Treasury at the same time, taking the oath that permitted him to advance to the place vacated by Mills. The two men who now will run the Treasury together, started in life side by side. They took their A. B. degree at Harvard simultaneously in 1904, and law degrees together three years later.

GIBSON HAS "FLU"

Geneva, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Ambassador Hugh Gibson, acting chief of the United States delegation to the disarmament conference and many other delegates, were absent this morning and missing from their seats in today's session of the conference.

The "rise" a windy blast that rushes down from the mountains and across Lake Geneva into the funnel at the narrow end of the lake where the city is situated has been ascribed as the cause of the influenza attacks.

MADDERN IS CAUGHT NEAR N. Y. HOME

Notorious Gangster Charged With Violating Parole; His Pal Also Arrested.

New York, Feb. 13.—Owney Madden, the man who has been called the master mind of New York's racket interests, was summoned to the police line-up today as he has been frequently before.

Madden, charged with violating his parole from Sing Sing prison, was arrested last night at the front door of his apartment on the lower West Side. The warrant for his arrest was obtained by the State Parole Board.

OPERETTA SHOWS FINE H. S. TALENT "Pirates of Penzance" Discloses Several Able Singers and Performers.

A fair sized audience went away from High school hall last evening saying complimentary things about the production of the Gilbert and Sullivan opera, "The Pirates of Penzance."

Many compliments were heard for the chorus singing which included not only pirates, policemen and the pretty daughters of the General, but also an auxiliary chorus of girls from the glee club who on an elevated platform perched at the right side of the stage.

Soloists Good To give individual praise would mean to refer to everyone in the cast as being equally deserving.

Perhaps the work of Winifred Lee as Ruth "the practical maid-of-all-work" stood out because of her unusually strong voice.

ANTIQUES EXHIBITION PLANNED AT WATKINS

Hope to Have Showing of Pieces Owned by Local People; Many Valuable Articles Here.

C. Elmore Watkins of Watkins Brothers is arranging for an exhibition of antiques to be held in Watkins Brothers store either the latter part of February or early in March.

Mr. Watkins says there are many persons in Manchester who possess valuable furniture that if assembled and shown at one time and in one place would assure a gathering from many parts of the state to view them and would also give an opportunity to those in Manchester to see just what others have in this line.

Many compliments were heard for the chorus singing which included not only pirates, policemen and the pretty daughters of the General, but also an auxiliary chorus of girls from the glee club who on an elevated platform perched at the right side of the stage.

Mr. Fred Frederickson of Bridgeport, formerly of Manchester, is convalescing at her home following serious injuries from an automobile accident.

Friscille, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodor Conran of Vine street celebrated her thirteenth birthday at her home yesterday afternoon with a party for 18 of her boy and girl friends.

All local merchants have been invited to attend a meeting at the Hotel Sheridan at 6:15 o'clock Monday evening.

Mr. Albert Pearson, local bass soloist, will broadcast from Station WVIC at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon in a fifteen minute program.

The Sons of Italy will hold their regular meeting at Tinker Hall at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Swedish Benevolent Society Segar will meet at Orange Hall at 7:30 o'clock tonight instead of 8 o'clock because of the anniversary celebration of Linne Lodge at the latter hour.

The post office committee of the Chamber of Commerce will meet at the Hotel Sheridan Monday noon, at which time they will discuss the plans and specifications of the proposed post office at the Center, which were recently received from Washington.

Although plans are being discussed for the celebration of the 35th anniversary of the South Manchester Fire Department in April, a check of the records show that the celebration will have to be postponed until April of 1933 as the department was not organized until 1898.

The Manchester League of Women Voters will meet Tuesday night at 8:30 in the Center Church House to hear Daniel Howard, superintendent of the schools in Windsor speak on "Mexico."

Bill Tasello's College Inn Night Club is featuring an Old Timers' dance tonight. A special bid is being made to attract patrons of the Old Timers game at the Army to-night.

At a meeting of the new industries committee of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon, a special committee was appointed to conduct an industrial survey of Manchester for the purpose of bringing out the advantages of the town to prospective manufacturers.

OBITUARY DEATHS

ARTHUR J. STRAW DIES; PAPER MANUFACTURER

One of Original Incorporators of Lydall and Foulds Company Passes in Pneumonia.

Arthur Joseph Straw died yesterday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock after a brief illness of pneumonia. He was born in Scitico, near Hazardville, 77 years ago, and when a child moved with his family to Manchester Green where he attended school.

In March of 1881 the late Henry Lydall, William Foulds, Sr., and Mr. Straw organized the Lydall and Foulds Paper Company, which was incorporated in 1889, and in 1914 he succeeded the late William Hamlin Childs of Manchester and Brooklyn, who organized the Water company, and became secretary and treasurer of the latter company, a position he retained until his death.

Mr. Straw was also elected vice-president of the Manchester Water Company which was incorporated in February of 1919, and in 1914 he succeeded the late William Hamlin Childs of Manchester and Brooklyn, who organized the Water company, and became secretary and treasurer of the latter company, a position he retained until his death.

Funeral services for Mr. Straw will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at his late home, 74 Woodbridge street. Rev. F. C. Allen, pastor of the Second Congregational church, which he attended while health permitted, will officiate. Burial will be in the East cemetery.

Mr. Mary Wind Mrs. Mary Wind of 46 Foster street, widow of John Wind for many years a well known local tailor, died at the Manchester Memorial hospital at 1:25 this morning following a lingering illness.

The funeral will be held Monday afternoon at three o'clock at 46 Foster street. Rev. J. Stunt Newell will officiate and burial will be in the East cemetery.

Miss Nellie Carney The funeral of Miss Nellie Carney, who died Thursday in Cambridge, Mass., was held this morning in that city. A solemn requiem high mass was celebrated and burial was in Cambridge.

While the carnival is in progress, the crowd will be kept off the ice and there will be no public skating afterward. A force of five policemen will handle the crowd and enforce this ruling.

Striking workers on the Holmes school who drove non-union men from the job Thursday with sticks and stones will return to work Monday.

Two non-union men will be permitted to cart material and dig ditches.

The workers left the job Wednesday protesting they were ordered to return $2 out of the $8 daily pay to the company.

One policeman and two score women gathered at the entrance of the Textile Store this morning awaiting the opening of the smoke and water sale.

It was pointed out at the meeting that the duty of the committee was two-fold, namely to assist the smaller industries now established in Manchester to obtain a firm foothold, and to obtain new industries. Charles Ray is chairman of the new industries committee.

ON TOMORROW'S PROGRAM

Miss Miriam Davenport of Springfield, Mass., pictured above, will make her fifth appearance on the program of the annual ice carnival at Center Springs pond tomorrow.

Another outstanding part of the program will feature Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Meyers of Chicopee, Mass., in a double figure skating act that never fails to evoke much applause from the spectators.

Leo LeBell of Hartford will provide thrills galore in an exhibition of barrel jumping and speed skating that has made him known throughout New England.

Competitions in three divisions will be held at the school, junior and senior speed contests for the championship of Manchester.

While the carnival is in progress, the crowd will be kept off the ice and there will be no public skating afterward.

Two non-union men will be permitted to cart material and dig ditches.

TOMORROW FIRST SUNDAY IN LENT

Special Services in Some Churches—Missionary Bishop at St. Mary's.

Tomorrow being the first Sunday in Lent, a large number of the local churches will hold special services tomorrow morning and evening and also during the coming week. Easter will be observed early this year, coming on March 27, and during the next six weeks Lenten services will have a prominent part in church programs.

At St. Mary's Episcopal church, Rt. Rev. Frederick B. Howden, D.D., missionary bishop of New Mexico, will preach at the evening service at 7 o'clock.

Other local churches will have special sermons by the pastor and special music by the choir.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Jesus and the Man Born Blind

Text: John 9:11, 30-38. The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Feb. 14.

BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D. Editor of The Congregationalist

As we have seen in the miraculous feeding of the multitude a symbol of the spiritual food which never falls but increases the more it is shared, so in the miracle of this lesson, the restoration of sight to a man blind from his birth, there is a symbolism of the spiritual fact of Jesus Christ as the bringer and giver of light.

As Jesus passed he saw a blind man.

The disciples were interested in the blind man not from the standpoint of sympathy, but from the standpoint of the possible help that they could give him, but from the standpoint of speculation as to what part sin had to do with his blindness.

ever, whether the disciples had reference to any such physical cause. Their minds were full of the idea that misfortune was somehow associated with sin.

Jesus met their questioning plainly, in two ways. First, he assured them that sin had nothing to do with the matter; and second, displayed the power of grace by restoring eyesight to the blind man.

as interesting as the miracle itself, in its manifestation of religious bigotry and speculative interest in religion as distinguished from good works.

The aftermath of the miracle was and happiness. It ought to appeal as flaming letters across the sky. "I am the light of the world," said Jesus. He never strove to save Himself, or without methods. He did not resort to expedients.

It ought to be evident that higher prices cannot better conditions while millions have not the means to purchase at low prices. It is folly to suppose that farmers can be helped by taxing an already over-taxed and politically exploited people.

NEW Y. M. C. A. AWAITS TOWNFOLK INSPECTION

All Work Completed At Morton Memorial Building; Library to Be Opened to Public Later; Open House Monday Night.

Everything is in readiness for the official opening of Manchester's new Y. M. C. A. at the north end next Monday when "Open House" will be featured. Every person in Manchester as well as others being also invited to cordially invited to inspect the handsome building and its numerous and modern facilities.

The Y. M. C. A. places Manchester at least on a par with any town in the state for recreation facilities. It is even more modern than the Recreation Centers which have proved so popular to the men, women and children of Manchester. Expectations are that membership of the Y will swell rapidly soon after the opening takes place.

All Finished
Walter Schreiber of the firm of Gustave Schreiber and Sons, said yesterday that, except for a small painting job, all of his work at the Y. M. C. A. is completed. Nearly a score of sub-contractors had a part in the work. Work on the Whiton Memorial library has not been finished and this building will not be opened until later. The official dedication program of the Y takes place at 7:30 p. m. Monday night but the building will be used all next week with the pre-dedication program which will bring into use all of the many facilities which the building afforded.

William Harold Petherbridge is secretary of the Manchester Y. M. C. A. He is a graduate of Springfield College and has had considerable experience in Y. M. C. A. work having been on the staff of the Springfield Boys' Club for several years. He is a native of Haddonfield, N. J., where his family still resides. He was married last June to Miss Mary Colburn of Hallowell, Me. They reside at 53 Hudson street. He came to Manchester in September 1929 to become secretary of the Y. M. A secretary and study plans and programs for the new organization.

Women's Leaders
Miss Christine Mason of Princeton, Mass., is director of women's and girls' activities and is assisted by Mrs. W. D. Crockett, formerly Miss Mary McMenemy, popular north end young woman. Mrs. Crockett will be in charge of the girls' clubs and physical education for women and girls. Miss Mason was director of the Manchester Community Club succeeding J. Leo Fay and held that position until the building's facilities were absorbed by the present Y. M. C. A.

Assisting Secretary
In order to acquaint Manchester people with the splendid privileges both socially and recreationally which the Y affords, a complete description follows. The facilities for gymnastic work are located in the east end of the building which houses the spacious gymnasium, measuring 75 feet by 45 feet. For the younger members, especially the boys, this is the most inviting place in the YMCA because it affords them a place to engage in athletic competition.

Club Rooms
In addition to these principal features of the new Y. M. C. A. building there are six other rooms set apart for use by various clubs and groups connected with Y. M. C. A. work. Two are on the first floor, three on the second, the largest of all, measuring 30 feet by 30 feet, is in the southeast corner of the basement. One of these rooms has been definitely set aside as a craft workshop for boys and girls. This is in the rear of the old White House. This will be completely equipped with tools and work-benches for use in woodwork, metal, leather and other craft activities.

Philadelphia—Charles Chalmers, 51, brother of Hugh Chalmers, former president of the Chalmers Motor Co.

STEAMER LAUNCHED
Newport News, Va., Feb. 13.—Many prominent guests from the middle Atlantic and New England states and New Brunswick, Canada gathered here today to witness the launching of the Acadia, built for the Eastern Steamship Lines.

The craft is a sister ship to the St. John launched at the plant of the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Company last month. She will be delivered to her owners in June for service between Boston and St. John.

GENERAL BETTER
Paris, Feb. 13.—(AP)—The condition of General Maxime Weygand, French war hero who has been seriously ill for the last three days was so much improved this morning that it was announced no more bulletins would be issued.

Conveniently located to the north of the gymnasium are the locker and shower rooms made in peach-colored tile with black-tile flooring. There are seven showers in both the men's and women's quarters. Each of the shower bath rooms is lighted both by electricity and natural lights, the men's having three outside windows and forced ventilation while the women's has one window, skylight and forced ventilation.

There are 75 lockers in the men's locker room and 52 in the women's. Some of both are double tier and some are single. There are also 304 tote baskets to be used in auxiliary with the double-tier lockers. Stationary benches are located in each compartment. Each locker room also includes wash bowls and toilets. The tote-basket room is located between the main office and the locker rooms and thus easily accessible to both men and women.

Social Room
The first floor of the old White House has been made into one large social room with a fireplace and every modern comfort of home is included in its furnishings. The color scheme is in light green. Furnishings consist of large overstuffed chairs, reading tables, piano, colonial style light fixtures, table and floor lamps, mirrors and other accessories.

The room is to be used by all members at a social room. It is located just to the left of the main entrance to the lobby. Immediately above the social room on the first floor, is located another social room, this one to be used exclusively by women and girls. Although not including a fireplace, the women's social room is more cozy. Its furnishings are much similar to those of the first floor with the exception that a large handsome writing desk is an added feature. One of the points of special interest is the fact that all of the electric table lamps are of an old-fashioned design, all of them different.

Banquet Hall
The banquet hall and kitchen are both located on the second floor immediately above the main lobby on the first floor. The banquet hall has a seating capacity of 150 for a lecture or demonstration and at least a hundred can be accommodated for dinner. The kitchen is in the rear of the banquet hall and equipped with coffee urns, a six-burner gas stove with ovens and broiler, ample cupboard space, dish-washing facilities and cooking table. Another feature is the "dumb waiter" service running from the kitchen down to the first floor and also to the basement.

The "dumb waiter" service makes it possible to serve banquet in the banquet hall without inconvenience. The banquet hall has a series of three windows overlooking the gymnasium where it will be possible for members or guests to watch gymnastic programs without entering the gym floor or without being observed. The fire escape exit from the second floor leads out of the rear of the kitchen which is easily accessible from all parts of the second floor.

Basement
The principal feature of the basement is the bowling alley, billiard room and cafeteria combination which is the income producing unit of the building. There are four new bowling alleys with room for two more to be added later if necessary. The bowling alleys are of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Company construction, fully equipped with adequate spectator accommodations in the rear where bleachers have been installed which will seat about 50 persons.

The cafeteria is located immediately at the foot of the wide stairway leading to the basement and is set off from the bowling alleys by a partition with windows. The counter at the cafeteria is twenty feet in length. The billiard tables are being installed now in the large rooms on the south side of the basement adjoining the bowling alleys. There will be a billiard and one ping-pong tables.

Club Rooms
In addition to these principal features of the new Y. M. C. A. building there are six other rooms set apart for use by various clubs and groups connected with Y. M. C. A. work. Two are on the first floor, three on the second, the largest of all, measuring 30 feet by 30 feet, is in the southeast corner of the basement. ## GLIMPSES OF BEAUTY SPOTS IN NEW Y. M. C. A.

This is the main social room located on the first floor just to the left of the main entrance to the Y. M. C. A. Note its fireplace, stuffed chairs, reading table and draperies.

Here you see the cozy social room on the second floor which has been set aside for exclusive use of women members. The color scheme is cream and the various-styled old-fashioned lamps are a feature. Note the nearest one.

The bowling alleys in the basement look every bit as good as they do in this unusually attractive photograph. Note the room on the left and right where additional alleys can be constructed.

LEGION NOTES.
The regular monthly meeting of the Executive Committee will be held at the State Armory, Monday, February 15th at 7:30 p. m., a full attendance is requested.
The banquet committee will hold another meeting Monday evening at 7 o'clock at the State Armory, at which time the members of the committee will report on the number which will attend. Closing date on reservations is Saturday, February 20th so we urge all those who have not been contacted to make their reservations before that date.
Arrangements have been completed for a Post Commanders' Night at the next regular meeting on the 28th. Clarence E. Bissell of Providence, Rhode Island, the first commander will occupy the commander's chair with Dr. R. P. Knapp 1st Vice, Harry Maidment 2nd Vice, Walter Sheridan, Past, John Pentland, Sergeant at Arms, Francis E. Bray, Chaplain and Victor W. Bronke as adjutant. The above men are all past commanders of the Post. A speaker of some note is expected to address the boys.
Sergeant at Arms Oscar G. Anderson, who was operated on at the Veterans' Hospital, Newington, this week is making satisfactory progress toward recovery.
Auxiliary Notes.
On Tuesday afternoon, February 15th, Mrs. Fred Woodhouse of 13 Benton street, will entertain the Welfare Sewing Circle and it is hoped that a goodly number of the members armed with scissors, thimble, needle and thread will plan to attend.
A membership in the American Legion Auxiliary in 1932 is more significant than at any time in the history of the organization. Every woman who has participated in the accomplishments of the aims and purposes of the American Legion Auxiliary finds this year a new need for her active service.
It is significant this year that the plan adopted for the Legion and Auxiliary joint membership contest should be patterned after one of the great forward marches of American history. This year all members are asked to take part in a great membership march to increase our boundaries of services and plant our flag of devotion in the hearts of still more eligible women.

The naming of Portland, Oregon, as the convention city for 1932 brought the memory of the Oregon Trail before us. Portland was one of the objectives of that historic march. Last year the 100th anniversary of this event was celebrated. One hundred years ago the first boyed wagon to thread its way westward left the banks of the Missouri river. For five long months this first company faced the dangers of an unknown country and moved cheerfully onward toward the land of their hearts' desire—Oregon. So this year, with new membership records to make, we shall use the spirit of this great migration as our theme, and figuratively re-enact this pageant of adventure on a great membership trek to Portland.
The Rehabilitation Committee is planning their monthly visit to Newington hospital to visit Ward B and the Manchester men who are at the hospital. If any of the members have donations or gifts which they wish to send to the hospital they can be given to Mrs. Daniels, chairman of the committee at the meeting Monday night and she will be glad to see that they are taken to Newington.
Monday evening, February 15th, will be the next meeting of the Auxiliary. Mrs. Florence Erbe, past department president will be the guest speaker her subject, "National Defense." There will be a short program to honor Washington's and Lincoln's birthdays and Mrs. Edward Hess and her committee will serve refreshments. Discussion relative to chartering a bus to transport the members to the county meeting at New Britain will be held. All members who are planning to go to New Britain on the 28th, are requested to contact Mrs. Wignen.
V.F.W. Auxiliary
The Hartford County Council Auxiliary V. F. W. will be held in Unionville on Sunday, Feb. 14, in the Town Hall, Main street at 2 p. m.
The Unionville Auxiliary and Post are giving a Valentine dance in the Collinsville Town Hall on Saturday evening, Feb. 13. The Night Hawks orchestra of Hartford will be there and a fine time is in store for all who attend.

There will be a food sale at Watkins Brothers store Thursday afternoon Feb. 18. The ladies are planning on having a good supply of home made bread, pies, and cakes. Elizabeth Maher, chairman, assisted by Freda Moorehouse, Lillian Ubert, Margaret Brown, Anna Barron, Mrs. Gertrude Buchanan of 175 Woodland street, will open her house for the second of the series of card parties the Auxiliary are holding in the afternoon.
The regular bi-weekly card party of the Post and Auxiliary will be held in the Home house, Manchester, Monday evening.
The Post are running another Barn dance at the Lone Oak in Pleasant Valley Saturday evening and it is hoped that every member of the auxiliary possible will attend and help make it a success.
At this time there are three of the officers of the auxiliary sick, Mrs. Ruth Frazier, Guard is sick at her home on Edgerton street with pneumonia. Mrs. Gertrude McCullum, historian and Miss Joann Powers, chaplain are at the Manchester Memorial hospital. Both have been operated on.
The regular meeting will be held next Friday evening at eight at the State Armory.

ROCKVILLE

Reception and Roll Call
There were several hundred members present at the annual roll call and reception held in the chapel of Union Congregational church on Thursday evening. The chapel was attractively decorated for the occasion with National flags and flowers.
In the receiving line were Rev. and Mrs. George Brooks, Miss Constance Brooks, Luther H. Fuller and daughter, Miss Gertrude Fuller. As the members were congregating, Mrs. Mae Chapman Holt gave a splendid organ recital.
Luther H. Fuller acted as master of ceremonies and first welcomed the guests and then introduced Mrs. Walter H. Skinner, the church historian who gave a splendid outline of the year's activities. This was followed by a musical program by Norma Allen Haine, contralto soloist at the First Methodist church of Hartford, and Etta Barden Hilber, pianist. They were attractively gowned in colonial costume. Three groups of songs were presented in a most pleasing manner to the delight of the entire audience.
During the course of the evening, Mr. Fuller presented the account of the church, Miss Florence Schaeffer with a beautiful bouquet of roses.
Mrs. Mary Brigham, 97, who has not missed a reception for many years, was present and she was also remembered with a bouquet.
Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served by the young ladies of the church, following a brief address by the pastor, Rev. George S. Brooks.
Prominent Blacksmith Dies
John F. Daley, 72, died at his home at 125 Orchard street on Friday morning at 7:30, following a long illness. He had been confined to his home for six months, but had not been in the best of health for about a year.
John F. Daley was born in Tolland, February 28, 1859, the son of Michael and Bridget (McNary) Daley. He resided in Tolland and Rockville all his life. He was a blacksmith by trade and before going into business for himself thirty years ago was employed at the Henry Stephen blacksmith shop on East Main street and the Finley shop on Market street, later being foreman for many years at the Mine blacksmith shop on West Main street.
Mr. Daley was a man of sterling character and prominent in the community. He is survived by his wife, six sons, John, Charles, Francis, Thomas Daley of this city; Walter Daley of the U. S. Marines stationed at Paris Island, North Carolina, and James Daley of Manchester; two daughters, Mrs. James Mahr of Vernon and Mrs. Charles Carnes of Springfield, Mass.; a sister, Mrs. Charles Mahr of Westfield, Mass., and a brother, Michael Daley of Tolland.
The funeral will be held from St. Bernard's church, of which he was a member, on Monday morning at 9 o'clock. Burial will be in St. Bernard's cemetery.
Wed Fifty-five Years
Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Melh of 175 Union street observed the fifty-fifth wedding anniversary quietly at their home on Wednesday. There was no formal celebration, but they were kindly remembered with calls from several relatives and friends during the day.
Mr. and Mrs. Melh are in good health. They have five children, Mrs. C. F. Gubitz of East Hartford, Mrs. David Chambers of South Manchester, Mrs. William Young of Fairfield and A. J. Melh of this city.
Theodore Melh was married to Miss Elizabeth Winter in this city by Rev. Nicholas Sierge, pastor of the Trinity Lutheran church, February 10, 1877. Both are held in high esteem by all who know them and have many friends who wish them many more years of happy wedded life.
Miss Bernice Sternal
Miss Bernice Sternal, died at her home on Friday morning, following a long illness. She was born in Poland on June 6, 1869, and resided at 13 River street. She was a member of St. Joseph's Polish Catholic church and the Children of Mary, and was a graduate of St. Joseph's Parochial school.
She leaves her mother, Mrs. Helen Sternal, two brothers, Joseph and John Sternal of Rockville and two sisters, Mrs. Victoria Krupa and Miss Stella Sternal of this city.
The funeral will be held on Monday morning at 9 a. m., from St. Joseph's church. Rev. Sigmund Woronicki, pastor, will officiate. Burial will be in St. Bernard's cemetery.
Legion Banquet
Stanley Dobos Post, American Legion held its annual banquet at the Rockville House on Thursday evening. A turkey dinner with all the fixings was served and Lewis Chapman acted as toastmaster for the program which followed.
There were remarks by the various visitors, and Marie Terese Thrall entertained with dance numbers, also dance and musical numbers by several members of the Marley family.
Past Department Commander C. K. Kramer of Hartford, was the speaker of the evening. He had as his subject "George Washington."
The address was well received by the large gathering.
Stetson's orchestra furnished music and George Taylor acted as song leader.
Department Officers Coming
Burpee Women's Relief Corps will entertain the W. R. C. Department President Miss Elsie Hotchkiss of Meriden, and her staff, and Department Commander Henry Burrill of the G. A. R. of Hartford and his staff at G. A. R. Hall on Wednesday evening of next week.
The state officers will be greeted by a reception committee during the afternoon and at 6 p. m. a supper will be served. Refreshments of an entertainment program and social hour. Members are asked not to bring food for the supper unless solicited.
Notes
Mrs. Emma Lisk of Union street is ill at St. Francis hospital, Hartford, where she underwent an operation on one knee.

William Farr of Thompson street has accepted a position at Colt's factory, Hartford.
Miss Julia Spencer of Suffield is spending a vacation with her grandparents, M. and Mrs. David A. Sykes of Elm street.
Miss Marcella Powers of New York is the guest of Mrs. T. F. Garvah of Park street.

Advance Guards

Thursts and Counters of Interest to Local Soldiers
Howitzer Company
Members of the Howitzer Company voted to hold their final preparation for the Federal Inspection on February 22.
In addition to the regular non-com schools held each week a special school for recruits has been conducted for those men who have joined recently. Ten men have signed up during the past two months.
Sergeant Joe Fatscher is putting the final touches upon the property cages. The painting will be finished this week.
The final preliminary inspection will be made next week at the regular drill.
Regimental insignia were distributed to the new men after drill this week. A final preparation for replacement has been sent to the arsenal in order that all articles may be ready for distribution at drill next week.
Schools for non-coms and recruits will be held at 7:30 on Monday night.
Francis Bober, formerly a corporal in the Howitzer Company, who is now in the United States Navy, is stationed at the present time in the earthquake zone of the Caribbean where the navy has been engaged in relief work.

OPEN FORUM

ANSWERS "THE HERMIT"
Editor Manchester Herald:
I wonder if I may "tune-in" on this "Open Forum," in a brief reply to Hermit's letter of the 11th inst. At first said "Hermit" is a misnomer; someone writing under a non-de-plume." But on second thought I have decided it is some unhappy fellow who is camouflaging a condition much worse than being a "hermit." In my opinion a hermit is a quiet, meek, unassuming little man. But it has been a long time since I have read an article portraying such a perfect example of absolute egotism as this has. And one person whose talk is odious to the masses, is an egotist. I should like to discuss the "cold feet" problem with my friend (?), but I feel it is too "low down" a subject to be discussed in the open among persons of refinement.
But I would like to say, for the information of "Hermit," that it is not necessary for widows to chase men around, so the poor fellows have to live in barricaded houses. Men are too plentiful and too easily captured, as any woman can tell you who has been a widow for a period of two or three years. Letters (savoring of "Ready-Letter" Writer) come from all quarters. So speaking from experience, being a widow once upon a time, they meet a lot of these "Hermits" on their own premises. I think the widow has just cause to become the complainant, especially if her deceased husband carried a few thousand dollars of life insurance.
If said "Hermit" were afraid to venture out after dark it must have arisen from some inborn dread of his shadow or of a foe much more formidable than a defenseless female. Perhaps the tax collector or his landlady. More probably the latter, since he was forced to flee to that suburb of Havana "Barrio Cubano de las Yugosas," spoken of in the Evening Herald. From the well known he carries, he will be a candidate for mayor of said city in the next election. Now this proves one ex-widow, at least, to be a booster; not bent on "running folks down."
My mental picture of this Hermit following the tip given in his poem, (and whatever else he is he surely is not a poet), besides being "bowed-legged and knee-sprung," I find him about 5 feet 1 1/2 inches tall, weighing 110 pounds, avoirdupois (no man-sized male could possibly be such an egotist); parts his hair in the middle, and on some occasions wears a Charlie Chaplin moustache, wears tortoise-rimmed spectacles, carries a walking stick, and on damp days like these, iron-gay spats.
Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your space I sign myself,
EX-WIDOW.

THIRTY HURT IN RIOT
Zittau, Germany, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Thirty persons were injured here when police raided a mass meeting in which National Socialists were trying to make themselves heard above the shouted shouting of Communist opponents.
A bombardment of ash trays, coffee pots, mugs and chairs greeted the police as they burst into the meeting.

A meeting of the town school board was held at the town clerk's office Thursday evening. Chairman Robert E. Foote was in charge and Supervisor Martin B. Robertson was present. Mr. Robertson spoke of the crowded condition of the two Gilead schools, that at Gilead Hill and the one known as the White School, and plans were discussed for the relief of the situation. It was suggested that it might be the best plan to open another room at Hebron center for the pupils of the two highest grades from the various schools which are crowded, including Amston and Hebron center, pupils to be transferred by means of the busses which go to certain points of the town to gather up the high school pupils for transportation, left at the center, and high school pupils carried on as usual. This seems to be about the only sensible arrangement possible. No action, however, was taken, and the matter was left to be decided later on. There was also a discussion with regard to the teaching force for the coming year, adjustment of salaries, etc.
The women's bridge club met at the home of Mrs. Gertrude Hough Thursday evening, two tables only being in play. Miss Marlon Gott won highest honors. Miss Susan Pendleton second. Refreshments of punch and cookies were served.
A heavy fog prevailed nearly all day on Friday, making it difficult to see as far as across the street. Automobile driving was dangerous and there was very little traffic.
William Bolles and son Clayton of Marlborough were callers on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Francis G. Waldo.

The dime-a-dance

By Joan Clayton

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Beautiful ELLEN ROSSITER, a salesgirl in Barclay's Department Store, lives with her mother, MOLLY ROSSITER, her elder sister, MYRA, and her young brother, MIKE. Molly foolishly spends money saved to pay the rent STEVEN BARCLAY, a man of 57 and Ellen's employer, lends her an evening dress so she can secure a job dancing nights at DREAMLAND.

At the dance hall she meets handsome LARRY HARROWGATE, an artist, and accepts his invitation to tea next day. Barclay sends her roses. Distressed that the girl is not from Larry, Ellen confides in her mother and sister, who openly favor the wealthy Barclay. Myra shows her a newspaper announcement of LARRY'S engagement to ELIZABETH BOWEN, a debutante. From then on, Ellen breaks her tea date with him. She also returns the dress to Barclay and is disturbed to see that he has no intention of dropping their friendship.

Still heartsick over Larry she returns the next night to Dreamland.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER X

Ellen knocked at the door of Steven Barclay's office at five minutes past one. Under her arm, carefully wrapped in tissue paper, was the ivory tea set. Barclay had been in long enough, after all, for her to pick up the borrowed dress before going on to the store.

That morning in the basement had been no worse than any summer morning. But it had seemed never end, had seemed to her that before the slow hands of the clock dragged to 1 o'clock she would be dead of suffocation. The morning had ended; she was married, even though she felt that there was no particular reason for continuing to live. Life was tiresome and stupid and unfair.

She tried to convince herself that Larry had been only a casual infatuation but she could not forget how different the morning would have been if only she had not read a newspaper clipping, if only the day could have gone as she had dreamed it. Even the thought that she was calling on the "big boss," that he had sent her flowers, things which only the day before would have left her trembling with excitement, seemed dull and unimportant and completely colorless.

She knocked again. Barclay's secretary, Ruth Tevis, a plain girl whose plainness was heightened by heavy eye-glasses, opened the door. "Mr. Barclay has to go out in a minute," she said, peering over the tortoise shell frames of her spectacles. "He told me to ask you to wait if you will."

When Ellen was seated in the dim, cool office with the dress over her lap, the secretary began fussing unnecessarily and a trifle officiously with the flowers on the rosewood desk, rearranging them, plucking a leaf here and there and sliding the slender crystal vase a few inches nearer the center. She moved a pile of typed letters, awaiting Barclay's signature, to the left of the desk, then back to the right again.

"You were here yesterday, weren't you?" she asked casually.

"Yes," Ellen replied.

She wished the other girl wouldn't stare so. The steady, near-sighted regard of those pale eyes was making her uneasy and nervous, unsure of herself. Ruth Tevis cleared her throat and opened her mouth — to ask another question, Ellen was sure — just as Steven entered.

He said impersonally to Ellen, "I'm sorry I kept you waiting, Miss Rossiter."

And to the secretary, "I'll call you if I need you, Miss Tevis."

His words were a dismissal. With a dissatisfied glance at Ellen, Miss Tevis turned and went into her own office. As if by accident she managed to leave the adjoining door a trifle ajar but Barclay rose and closed it.

"Miss Tevis, I'm afraid," he remarked with a twinkle in his eye and an entire change of manner, "is beginning to be curious."

Ellen went directly to the point. She was, to tell the truth, vaguely disturbed. The secretary's attitude had in a small way served to confirm her mother's pleased insistence, her own secret fears of the morning. It was possible, she thought, that both of them were in league to defeat the secretary's curiosity.

She intended to avoid complications of that sort.

"I've brought back the dress," she began as she leaned forward and laid the box on his desk. "I can't tell you how much I appreciated using it. And the flowers were lovely. They've made our apartment into a florist shop. I've never seen lovelier ones."

"Did you like them?" Barclay exclaimed, deeply pleased and missing entirely her subtle, gracious air of withdrawal. "I hope they didn't wrinkle you when they arrived this morning. But I determined you should have them before you left for the store."

He was like a young boy, achingly, wistfully anxious for praise at his cleverness. Ellen did not stint her praise. It was absurd she thought, even as she thanked him, that she could give a man like Steven Barclay such pleasure.

He was looking down at the dress. "I'm sorry you've returned it so soon," he remarked with a shade of disappointment. "I'd hoped you'd keep it a long time."

"Mother bought me one yesterday afternoon," Ellen said casually. "Nothing like this beautiful as this but more suitable for Dreamland."

"I didn't think of that," he admitted. "But I do hope everything went all right."

Ellen felt an inextricable net closing around her. Yesterday she had, in that unfortunate burst of confidence, told him so much that today it seemed unfriendly to become remote and impersonal. It was impossible. So she painted Dreamland for him with very light strokes. She made it a place almost pleasant, determined above all that he should not be sorry for her. She did not tell him of her first unpleasant encounter nor did she, of course, mention Larry Harrowgate. She told an amusing, if underemphasized story of Jacob Salomon, of Top of course.

Barclay felt, she knew, a lack of spontaneity.

"I'm sorry you have to work so hard," he said slowly when her story was finished. "I wish it weren't for long. Now, of course," he said looking straight into her candid, youthful eyes, "now that everything's going so well you won't need to see me any more, will you?"

"Certainly, I will," Ellen said quickly, "if you want to see me."

She could not have him believing she was like that.

"Then come to lunch with me," he suggested, unable to conceal his pleased relief at her answer.

"I'm awfully sorry but I have some errands for Mother."

She really did have, too.

"But you will see me other time?"

"Of course."

It was impossible for a Rossiter to be tepid. Ellen saw with dismay that he had misinterpreted her instinctive graciousness. Worse than that, she was horrified by fear that he might think she was coquetting with him, refusing a first invitation so that he would more thoroughly appreciate her acceptance of a second. And she must accept the second one. She had promised. As she rose, feeling helpless and uncertain, he spoke again.

"I've thought a lot about that young brother, Mike. How is he?"

"Just as usual," Ellen smiled.

"He woke me this morning by dropping his letter on my face."

"I'd like to meet him sometime — and your mother."

"You must — sometime."

She left his office in a disturbed frame of mind. She was no calmer when she observed that Ruth Tevis opened the door of the adjoining office and stared after her as she hurried to the elevator. If only Steven Barclay were less kind, if only he were a different sort of man from the generous and natural person he was, how easily she could solve that particular problem. How could she snub a man from whom she had accepted favors, a man whom she was determined not to have less burning him was the only way out?

Ellen went to a movie that afternoon.

She sat through two presentations of the same ally, sentimental picture, but afterward she remembered nothing of the film except that the hero turned his head sometimes in a way reminding her of Larry Harrowgate. There was, unfortunately, for her peace of mind, an illuminated clock visible to the audience. She watched the clock instead of the picture.

As the hands came closer and closer to 4, the hour she was to have met Larry, she found that it took all her resolution to keep from walking out of the theater and hastening to the hotel where she had promised to meet him.

Fourteen. Larry would be wondering where she was, why she didn't come. Perhaps if she went, if she were very cold, it would be all right. Surely just to sit chatting with him for a short while would be all right. Perhaps he meant to tell her that the engagement was broken.

Someone tapped her on the shoulder.

"Listen," hissed a voice in the darkness. "Don't wiggle so, lady. I can't see the picture for your head."

Ellen sat rigid. Four twenty-five now. Perhaps he had gone. Should she saunter through the lobby to see?

The picture moved on toward a

Some Table Talk About Party Decorations

Table centerpieces go vegetarian in this original set-up arranged by House and Garden for informal entertaining at home. Homely garden vegetables are artistically arranged in one large and two small groups. The table settings are in orange, green and rust modernistic designs.

By JULIA BLANSHARD

New York, Feb. 9.—Since home-entertaining is much smarter this winter than taking guests outside to dine, table decorations assume important proportions in the plans of the hostess with a reputation for originality.

Presenting your refreshments dramatically, whether you are giving a bridge luncheon, a formal dinner, or a hunt breakfast, is a large part in making your party unique and memorable.

A current exhibit of 12 different table settings, all suggestive of various birthday celebrations that you might want to give, has some of the most imaginative table decorations seen anywhere.

There is, for instance, one table set for a February informal birthday dinner party. Since the birthstone of anyone born in February is amethyst, exquisite Venetian Camille glass, in amethyst tone, is used. The cloth itself is a handsome embroidered table cloth. Centering the table is a charming Spanish luster bowl filled with purple grapes, plums, pears and other beautiful fruit, and the English earthenware has a fruit design in color which was the inspiration for white, like the cloth, in amethyst glass candleholders.

Table Goes to Sea

Such yachting has become a much-talked-of pastime which has even had its effect on fashions, it is quite appropriate to plan a yacht dinner some time. The smart dinner table suggesting this used a damask cloth with a deep blue border, gold-rimmed plates with little blue yachts in the center, both of which seem to catch the color of the sea; and the blue glass candlesticks hold matching blue candles. An oblong mirror, unframed in modern manner, makes a sea for a centerpiece and on this stand quiet waters gleam with some blue glass storks. The cigarette stands have little silver boats and the silver nut dishes are lined with the blue of the sea.

For something very novel, one table shows appropriate decorations for a shore luncheon. The cloth is a modern French one, with colorful stripes just around the outside of the table, with opposite ends half of bright color, the rest white. Simple rimmed china is used but the centerpiece consists of a stunning crystal fish, standing upright on his tail, mouth open and facing him, two crystal fish bowls that are fish-shaped, each containing goldfish that are swimming merrily about.

"Hunting" for Originality

For another table, this one set for a hunt breakfast, trophy cups, crops and whips and some moss with a group of handsome red china foxes, make the centerpiece. The refectory table is set with novel linen squares, each a different scene from a hunt. The plates repeat hunting scenes, in gay color. Glasses of deep red glass add character and brilliance to the scene.

Most distinctive, in many ways, in the table setting that, instead of flowers, or fancy glass, or fruit for its centerpiece, take plain garden vegetables and makes a most original grouping of them.

This table uses a heavy linen cloth with novel broken stripes in rust, green and orange. The Italian pottery is equally colorful, bearing the same shades as the cloth, and green-handled cutlery adds its bit of color. So does the green crystal.

There is one large group of vegetables and two little ones, using cauliflower, onion, carrot, parsnip, summer squash, artichoke, cucumber, and some other vegetables. They are scrubbed until they gleam like silk and their colors mingle in a riotous and pleasing effect. This is a table that would cause exclamations of appreciation from any group any time of year.

MARVELOUS MANHATTAN

By WILLIAM GAINES

New York—You have no idea how accommodating some of the movie publicity strategists can be in making news for the benefit of fan readers.

Any question not embarrassing to their studio organization stands a good chance of getting a "yes" answer from these exploitation geniuses. Which may be very nice if the interrogator is not interested in developing facts.

Certainly the studio does not deserve anonymity in this incident I cite. And revealing names would have no effect upon the story. For let us consider the gentleman in the company's home office who placed in my hands the telegrams from the west coast studio.

He gave evidence that his collaborators had caused him a slight nuisance, and we wouldn't want to heap the indignation of his bosses upon his head, in case they thought he was revealing business secrets.

I had heard that a certain male star, in high favor at present, planned to simulate Garry Cooper. That is, that he was about to embark upon an adventurous journey which would take him away from work and his horde of feminine admirers for awhile.

Just a Horse Laugh

At my request the home office man telegraphed his studio brethren for some information. They answered:

"His newest activity is polo STOP Has a string of horses and creating quite a sensation STOP Also leaving Wednesday for Santa Cruz island to hunt wild boars STOP"

Em. Certainly interesting about wild boars on Santa Cruz, but to a fact bunting and somewhat skeptical reporter it was too vague. Well, well, I asked my friend to wire back for all the details of the dream.

It seems that when you ask for details you frustrate the ingenuity of such inventive minds. Here's answer No. 2:

"You wired asking us to give you something to tie up story on STOP We failed upon something STOP Now you wire us for all the details STOP Have a heart STOP — doesn't even own a horse and never heard of Santa Cruz STOP"

They must have meant it in the first message when they said "STOP."

Flicker Snicker

Another snicker was supplied by the New York chieftain of another film firm, who made most flattering remarks about a young star in his Hollywood studio.

He didn't want to be quoted by name, urging:

"Credit that statement to a 'high executive' of my company."

Asked why, he explained:

"If we ever had to go into court against her over a contract or anything the first thing her lawyer'd do would be to produce my words of praise, as head of the company. And he'd be asking the jury why I changed my mind when money was at stake."

"The 'what would I say?'"

Anyway, this mogul is frank in private. And you'll find very few publicity puffs for movie or stage personages that have any tie-up with the bosses' names.

Says Frederick G. Eberhard, mystery story writer: "I am an inveterate piano player and play the instrument in the black keys just to be meridian."

Scientists have established that as the seasons change there is a movement of ten billion tons of air from one hemisphere of the earth to the other each six months.

Yet, industrial leaders say business has scraped bottom and now is ready for a rise. Of course it may dig in a little.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

Every child needs a little world of his own — his own room, a shed, or a playhouse. Furthermore, the bigger the place he has to run in outdoors the better. He should have a yard to slide in, in which to build a snow man, or to play ball or build things. When I say "he" I mean girls too, for now that we are more intelligent about childhood we no longer turn thumbs down on the tomboy. Bless all the tomboys, say I. It doesn't interfere with this business of being a lady, and is conducive to health and above all to an open mind.

I like the open air for play, but now we must go back to the sanctuary of the playroom for the moment because there are too many days when weather does not permit outdoor fun.

Not long ago I was in a new kind of playroom — or playhouse rather. It was built of logs like a miniature cabin. Inside there was a "teacher's" desk and stool and four tiny doll beds in earnest for the pupils, two on each side of the center aisle. Around the walls were real blackboards. The three window blinds were white but otherwise unlike. On one were numbers up to 50, and on another, small letters, and on the third, capital letters.

The whole affair was not over ten feet long by eight in width, and I am perfectly sure cost much less than some toys we see today, for a carpenter had put even the simple furniture together.

A Shift of Scene

The furniture was, by the way, movable. Take out the desks and benches, go upstairs and get Belinda, and Lady Anne, and Dolores Celeste, their bureaus, beds, cooking stoves and trunks and presto — you have a doll house in earnest.

If your "girls" are boys, such a place would make a grand club house if the crowd could fit into an eight by ten sanctum. What a place for the thousand and two things that boys think up to do! Why is it that people build playhouses for girls and so seldom for boys?

Of course when we can scarcely dig up enough money these days to pay rent or taxes, it seems almost insane to talk about extra dwellings "just for the kids to play in."

And who knows where to get logs, anyway? And boards cost money!

Listen, sister. We used to keep chickens a long, long time ago when we were first married and lived in a country suburb. We knew as much about building as we did about South Africa. But we found old boards and nails and most instances to talk about extra dwellings there can be no real home, no children, or where both must work.

It is a big problem and he discusses it fully. I wish I could put it all down for you.

Times are hard. Parents are discouraged as it is. Even money for any kind of education is scarce without further arbitrary demands upon finances.

But I know many parents with money who do draw the deadline when a diploma has been secured. I know many young married people going on the rocks in spite of every effort to manage and make small incomes stretch while their parents look on and say, "The experience is good for them. If we help any more it is bad for their health."

A lot of mistakes have been made with those last four words as an excuse.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

No part of your body needs a spring tonic more than your hair. The close confinement of your head has had under tight hats, the drying atmosphere to which your hair has been submitted while in the house or office, the too hot temperature of many homes all have a bad effect on hair.

Why not devote the next month to reconditioning your hair? A month's concentrated effort will go a long way toward bringing back luster to it, stimulating the roots and putting new life and beauty into your crown of glory.

If your hair just seems a bit run-down, do it yourself. Apply a corrective tonic every night for a while, by parting the hair and patting the tonic on with a little wad of cotton, and then massage the whole scalp. Brush your hair away from the scalp both morning and night. Keep your brush clean and after you have brushed about five strokes, wipe your brush off on a Turkish towel. You will be surprised at how dirty the towel gets by the time you have finished brushing your hair and have wiped the brush off a dozen times or so.

This, incidentally, is a good way to clean your hair without washing it. The head that has its daily brushing with a clean brush often does not need a shampoo oftener than once a fortnight. If your hair seems run down, the more you give it tonic and brush it and the less you wash it for a while, the better. Try treatment for a while and see. A month's hard labor will make a showing on most heads.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Business is so scarce that if a man falls asleep in a barber's chair he's likely to wake up bankrupt.

An insurance executive says the best help for the unemployed is self-help. He would probably throw a drowning man a book on how to learn to swim.

Whiskey is said to be gaining popularity as a toothache cure. Which shows that dentists aren't pulling for prohibition.

Philadelphia may abolish movie censors. Despite high advertising rates, henceforth colorful shows will just have to weather their own fate.

A THOUGHT

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

The new discoveries of science are not always unmitigated benefits to the human race. Only a few years have passed since modern chemistry discovered an element called thallium. It was found to be related in its action to the action of lead and arsenic. Among the first uses to which the product was put was to mix it with various grains and other substances in the form of a paste which permitted its sale as a rat poison. Its special value as a poison was due to the fact that it would not warm a rat away by any special odor or taste. It would severely depress the heart and injure the nervous system and thus produce death.

The very factors which made it especially useful as a rat poison made it dangerous to human beings, and particularly to children. Some time after the product was first introduced as a rat poison, it was found to have the special virtue of causing the hair to fall out. Great numbers of people are sorrowful because they have hair on parts of their body which they do not want and because constant shaving and the application of various caustic substances are annoying.

Furthermore, there are diseases of the scalp, particularly in children, in which the first process in treatment is to cause all the hair to fall out so that the disease may be reached. Physicians, therefore, began to use the drug both internally and externally in the form of cream to produce falling of the hair.

Occasionally reports appeared of thallium poisoning in children who had received ointments. These numerous reports were received of serious poisoning, though not fatal, from the use of depilatory creams containing this substance. Now newspapers record the death in California of four Mexican children and serious poisoning of two other Mexican children and five adult Mexicans from eating grain which had been mixed with thallium chloride in order that it might be used as a rat poison. The starving Mexicans who were concerned in this serious incident had made tortillas of the grain.

There is unfortunately no certain antidote for thallium poisoning. The physician may administer sodium thiosulphate, which is found to be effective to some extent in poisoning by arsenic, and he may use all of the usual measures for supporting life while the body tries to overcome disease. Certainly thallium is sufficiently dangerous to demand a warning poison label on the product whenever it is sold.

Baskets By O'Leary and Lerch Decide Close Battle; Meriden Loses At Middletown 27 to 22; Bristol Wins 50 to 11.

Manchester and East Hartford—the two schoolboy teams which came the nearest to upsetting the undefeated Bristol combination—clashed at East Hartford last night in a C. C. I. L. game and Manchester won by a 31 to 28 score.

The biggest news in the league's three games last night came at Middletown where Meriden was defeated 27 to 22. Meriden had been only one game behind Bristol but now with two defeats, its chances of even tying Bristol for the title are remote. Bristol trounced West Hartford 50 to 11 to score its 11th consecutive victory.

Manchester had to step to beat East Hartford. Coach Johnny McGrath's outfit led most of the first half and began the final two periods with a four point advantage. The score was deadlocked with three and a half minutes to play. Baskets by O'Leary and Lerch settled the issue.

East Hartford won 16 to 14 in the third period. O'Leary put Manchester back into the lead when fouled by Ballard and a little later Captain Johnny Lerch scored on a neat pass from Kerr. O'Leary hurt his ankle with a minute to play but finished the game.

Stars of Bygone Days Rally to Charity's Aid At the Armory Tonight

Schofield, Curry, Dudock, Miller, Johnson, Larson, Dwyer, Martin, Ferris, Carney and Rogers Only a Few of Many To Participate; Every Cent to Go For Charity; Crack Preliminary and Splendid Entertainment On Program.

Shades of basketball as it was played in the gay nineties and the following ten or fifteen years, will be re-enacted here tonight when the Old Timers of Manchester and New Britain step back into the limelight to do their bit for relief of the unemployed in the present business depression.

About thirty-five players are expected to take part in the exhibition which seems certain to attract one of the largest crowds ever to watch a basketball attraction in Manchester. There will be a preliminary tussle between two teams representing the youths of today—the National Guards and South Willington starting at 8 o'clock with the Oldtimers starting their festivities at 9:30.

Prominent officials J. Leo Fay and J. Bennett Clune are the organizers and promoters of the charity affair which has been heartily endorsed by the Manchester Emergency Employment Association through its committee on approval of charity entertainments which is headed by John L. Jenney. Mayor George A. Quigley of New Britain is to be a guest of honor.

Manchester Heights and the Center Church played a game of basketball in the County "Y" League last night. The Heights pulled out a last minute victory after trailing the Center Church team through three quarters.

There was plenty of action all the way but when Captain "Wal" Snow went out on personals in the last quarter the Center Church team seemed to lose heart. They were not able to meet the added pressure the Heights applied and lost out by three points.

For the winners Rossi with nine points was second, while "Wal" Snow made 11 points for the defeated team. This was the final game in the League for the Center Church team. The Heights have four postponed games to play.

Two teams from the Center Church also played after the League game last night and produced a one sided score, the "C" Squad beating the "B" Squad 23 to 8. This is the material that is coming along for future Center Church teams.

MANCHESTER SECONDS HANDED THIRD DEFEAT

Drop Exciting Game at East Hartford 20-18, Finishing Strong After Poor Start.

Manchester High's Jayvee basketball team, minus the services of two regulars through illness, met its third defeat of the season last night at East Hartford, losing a 20 to 18 struggle.

Manchester trailed throughout the game and at one time was behind 17 to 7. Then the locals came back strong and almost captured the verdict. Had the game lasted a few minutes longer, they probably would have.

WASHINGTON HIS LIFE STORY IN PICTURES, COMMEMORATING THE 200TH ANNIVERSARY OF HIS BIRTH

In 1753, he was sent to warn the French to desist from encroachment in the Ohio valley.

He enjoyed fox hunting and rode to hounds with the gusto of an English squire.

He often played billiards and cards, hunted, fished, and was fond of picnics.

He devoted much time to social life at Mount Vernon.

CLAIMS PRESIDENT SUGGESTED PROBE

The presidency. Republicans charge Roosevelt with using his quarrels with the Legislature as a vehicle to get him the nomination; Democrats cite Republican opposition to the governor in the Legislature as a move to block Roosevelt.

“Of course,” said Dunningan of the investigation, “orders from Washington must be obeyed. Mr. Hoover unquestionably realizes that he must have New York state behind him if he wishes to occupy the White House for another four years. Mr. Hoover also further realizes that he will be unable to defeat Governor Roosevelt if the governor is his opponent.”

Mr. Hoover's supporters in the Legislature, Dunningan said, therefore intended to “trip up” in ruthless manner” every state department in an attempt to “get something on Roosevelt.”

Emanating yesterday from a hotel room meeting of Tammany Hall and a few upstate New York leaders came a report of the formation of a unit of 50 votes to compose a bloc at the Democratic National convention. The reported combine represents to the Roosevelt nomination workers an unknown factor. The Tammany Hall group is described as watching the governor's action on a demand for the removal of Sheriff Thomas M. Farley of New York, a figure high in the Hall's circles.

Republicans and Democrats not directly involved in the question believe that should the governor remove Farley, Tammany and the combine would throw its 50 votes against Mr. Roosevelt in the convention.

Enthusiasm Over Financial Aid Bill Forces Prices Up From $1 to $10.

New York, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Buying reminiscent of a bull market in full bloom swept into the New York Exchange today boosting share quotations $1 to $10.

Speculative enthusiasm stimulated by the Glass-Steagall bill appeared to have gained great momentum over the Lincoln's Birthday holiday and this morning's opening was the liveliest in months. Sales in the first half hour, when the ticker was running behind transactions on the floor, approximated 700,000 shares, a larger volume than was done during the same interval on Thursday.

Blooms of 1,000 to 6,000 shares appeared while the rush was at its height. Moderate reactions appeared when traders accepted their substantial profits, but the market was in a decidedly bullish mood and quickly absorbed the slack provided by these setbacks.

U. S. Steel Common raced up more than $3 to a price above $47. American Telephone, which did not open until the session was a quarter of an hour old, climbed more than $5, crossing $123. Western Union had a similar gain. American Can jumped $3 to $65.50, while Union Pacific Railroad sold $6 higher at $82.50. Santa Fe's gain was $4 and there were advances nearly as large

CANNON TO ISSUE ANSWER TO CHARGE

Churchman Will Make No Comment On Court Decision.

Washington, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., successful in having indictments against him dismissed in court, intends shortly to issue a full defense against charges of corrupt practices violation brought against him.

He announced this intention last night, at the same time pointing out he would make no immediate comment on the court case in view of the possibility of an appeal. The district attorney's office said an appeal would be filed Monday.

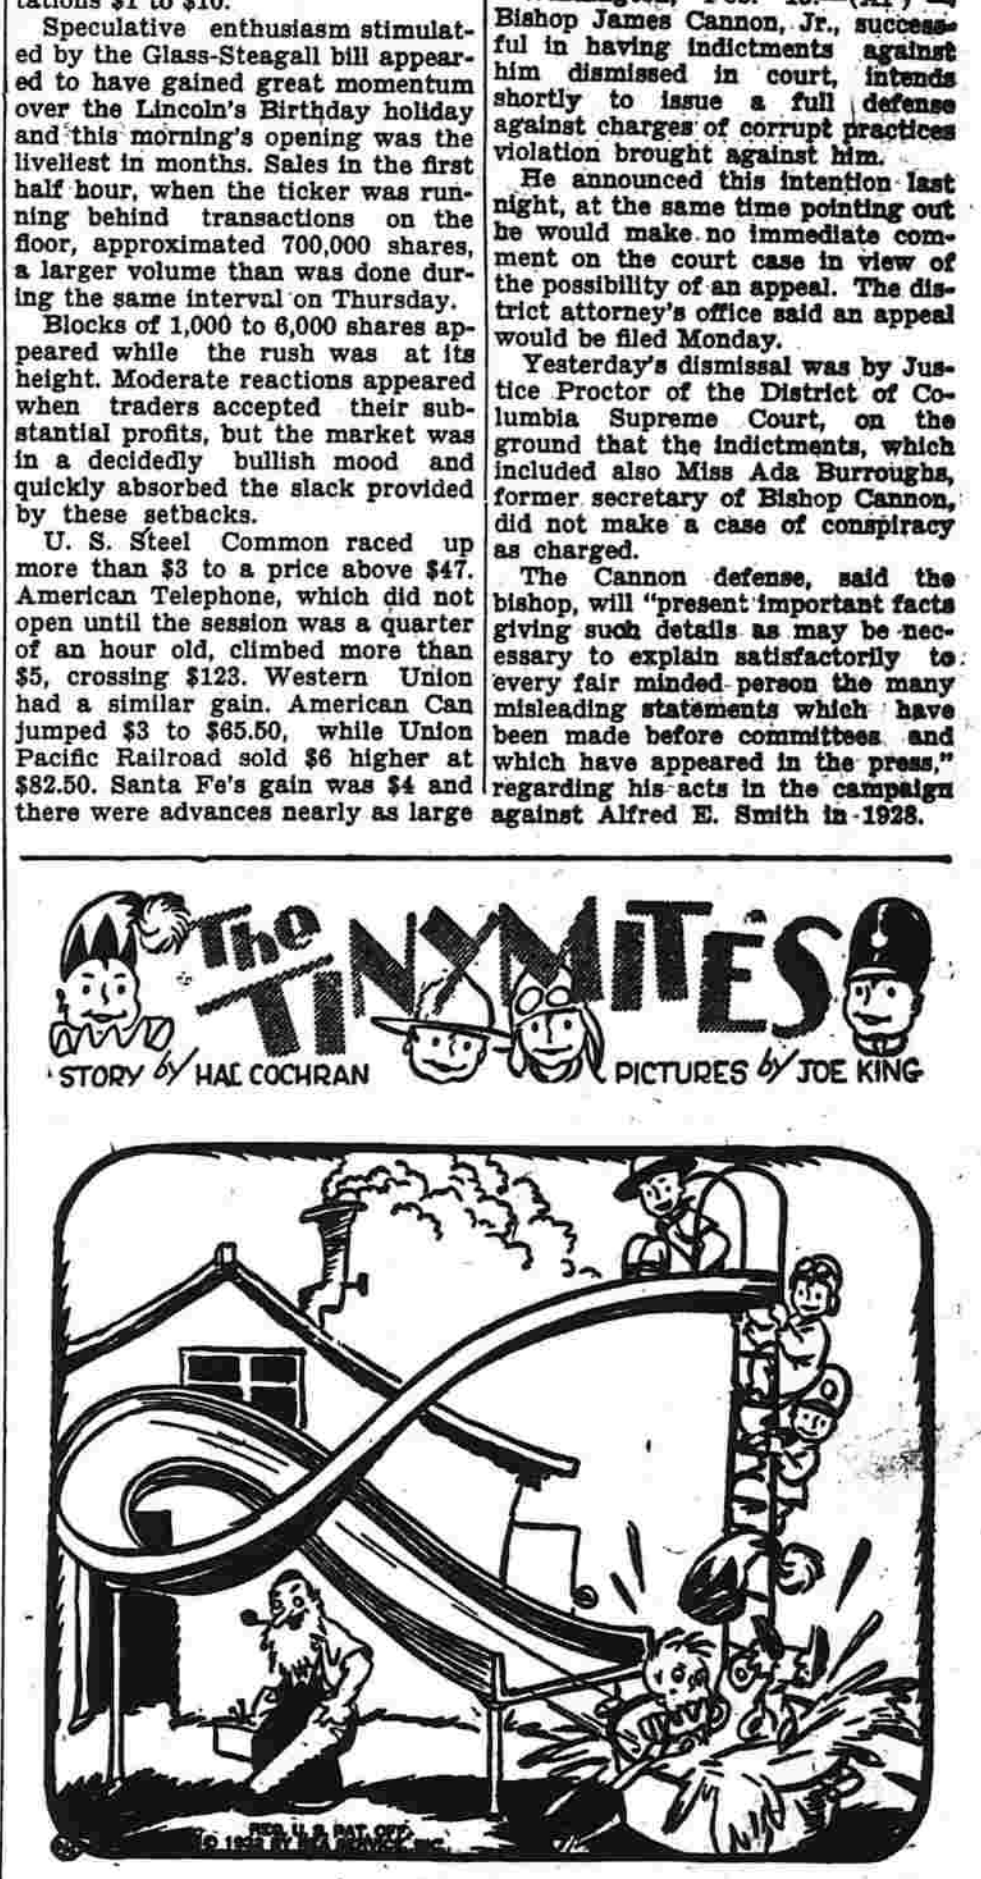

Yesterday's dismissal was by Justice Proctor of the District of Columbia Supreme Court, on the ground that the indictments, which included also Miss Ada Burroughs, former secretary of Bishop Cannon, did not make a case of conspiracy as charged.

The Cannon defense, said the bishop, will “present important facts giving such details as may be necessary to explain satisfactorily to every fair minded person the many misleading statements which have been made before committees and which have appeared in the press,” regarding his acts in the campaign against Alfred E. Smith in 1928.

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN PICTURES BY JOE KING

“Well, goodness me!” was Scouty cried. “With one wee I’ve already spied a lot of things that tickle me. Gee, can we play around? Now I know where you got your horse. You built the thing yourself, of course. You sure were smart to make it so ’twould rock along the ground.”

The man replied, “Oh, that’s not much. I’ve shoot-the-chutes and slides and such. You Tinymites can do whatever you want to while you’re here. My little workmen are at work, all building things. They never shirk! Walk right up, lads, and watch them. There is not a thing to fear.

“You see, they build fine things galore and when they’re gone, we build some more. Amusement parks can thank me for the wondrous things they show. Big scenic railways are one thing that I can reassure will bring a lot of fun to little folks. On them they like to go.

“I have one here. Come on, lads, try it out. You’ll rise up to the sky and then come shooting downward. It will take your breath away. But, you will all be safe and sound. I’ll meet you back here on the ground.” The Tinies raced toward it with a very loud “Hurrah!”

“When they had had a ride or two poor Duncy shouted, “I am through with that long trip. I’ve had enough, though ’twas a dandy ride. If you don’t mind I’ll try my luck on something else. I’ve lots of pluck!” And then he turned and ran toward a dandy winding slide.

He climbed up to the top and then said, “Here I come right down again!” Away he whizzed and “Cappin’ cried, “Fie! That but is risk.” When Duncy reached the bottom he was as surprised as he could be. He landed in a tub of water with a great big splash.

(The Tinies meet a mechanical man in the next story.)

In a New Orleans court a man was charged with abusing his team and using loud and profane language. One of the witnesses was an old Negro.

ATTORNEY—Did the defendant use improper language white he was beating his horses?

OLD NEGRO—Wal, he talked mighty loud, sah.

ATTORNEY—Did he indulge in profanity?

The old negro witness seemed puzzled, so the lawyer put the question in another form.

ATTORNEY—What I mean, Uncle Sam, is, did he use words that would be proper for a minister to use in a sermon?

OLD NEGRO—Oh, yes, sah boss, but dey'd have to be 'ranged in different order.

Mrs. Clifford Cheney entertained at bridge yesterday afternoon at her home on Hartford Road for the benefit of the Memorial Hospital Lines Auxiliary. Mrs. Robert Knapp won first in contract bridge and Mrs. Frank Wolcott at auction bridge.

Fourteen tables were filled with players at the Manchester Green Community club's setback party last night. Winners of first prize were Miss Lillian E. Berger and Charles Oderman; second, Violet Tedford and W. W. Henry; third, Miss Edith Walker and Walter Senkbeil. The door prize was won by John W. Phelps. Cup cakes and coffee were served at the close of the games. The third setback in the present series will take place Friday evening of next week.

At 8 o'clock tonight, Linne Lodge, No. 72, Knights of Pythias, will celebrate its twenty-fifth anniversary at Orange Hall. The program will include speeches by grand officers, songs by members of the Beethoven Glee Club and dancing to music by Bill Waddell's orchestra. A "smorgasbord" will be served following the program.

Anderson-Shea Post, V. F. W. and auxiliary will give the tenth card party in the present series Monday evening at the hose house, corner Main and Hilliard streets. There will be six prizes and refreshments served. Clarence Wetherell heads the committee of arrangements. All players will be welcome.

Public Inspection Monday Night Followed In Week By Many Varied Events.

The Manchester Y. M. C. A. makes its official public debut Monday night when "Open House" will be the prevailing feature. The entire public is invited to come and inspect the building. The week's program is covered in the following paragraphs:

Monday, February 15—This evening an "Open House" program will include tours of inspection of the new building. Dramatics in charge of Mrs. Joseph Handley, special music and refreshments. Mrs. James L. Shearer, a member of the board of directors of the Manchester YMCA, is in charge.

Tuesday, February 16—Tuesday marks the beginning of the actual program of the YMCA. There will be men's gymnasium classes from twelve to two and from five to six-thirty. The cooking demonstrations which have been a part of the program of the Manchester Community club, will be given in the banquet hall during the afternoon. In the evening the Community setback tournament, of twenty-two teams in which ninety men are actively interested, will hold its fourteenth sitting. This club has been active for a number of years and the competition is keen. A special Boys' Night Program will be staged in the gymnasium at seven o'clock, open to all boys of grammar school age, with the Leaders' Club in charge. Program will include, games, moving pictures, and group singing.

Wednesday, February 17—The women's gymnasium class will meet in the morning, and the girls' clubs in the afternoon. The evening will be a Mens' Night with teams competing in bowling, pool, billiards, and volley-ball. These teams will represent, Burr Nursery, C. E. Wilson Nursery, Bon Ami, North End Business Men, Everyman's Bible Class, and will be followed by an informal gathering in the social room.

Thursday, February 18—The Girls' Dancing Class will be held in the afternoon. These classes have been very popular in past years, and a large group of younger girls have participated in this program. In the evening the Girls' Craft Clubs will meet, followed by a young couples' social, which will include, cards, games and dancing.

Friday, February 19—Mens' gymnasium classes from twelve to two and from five to six-thirty. High School boys' gym class at four o'clock. The evening will feature a basketball game. The Young Men's Community Club comprises a group of young men whose primary interest is athletic. They have been organized for four years.

Saturday, February 20—The Hartford County YMCA Junior Basketball Tournament will be held in the gymnasium, the Original Thirteen and Pirates Club of the Manchester YMCA competing.

Sunday, February 21—Reception at three o'clock with the Manchester High School Orchestra playing. Dedication program at four, with Albert R. Roberts speaking.

Mrs. Amanda Larson of 15 Laurel Place is in the Hartford Hospital where she was operated on Wednesday. She is getting along very well.

T. J. ROGERS TO SECURE SPEAKERS FOR BANQUET
Chairman of Board of Selectmen Heads Committee in Charge of Speaking Program
Thomas J. Rogers, chairman of the Board of Selectmen, has been appointed chairman of the speakers and entertainment committee for the thirty-first annual banquet of the Chamber of Commerce, it was announced today by E. J. Murphy, general chairman. This is one of the most important committees in charge of the banquet and Mr. Rogers acceptance of the appointment is assurance that this part of the program will be handled successfully. The duty of the committee will be to obtain the speakers, usually two in number, and also the entertainment. It is expected that one of the speakers will be on a serious subject and the other in a humorous vein. The banquet will be held at the Masonic Temple, Wednesday evening, April 6. All committee chairmen have now been appointed and are empowered to select their own committees, so that arrangements may be started immediately.

A Switch to the RIGHT TRACK

But first hear the story of the wrong track:

A father in the railroad equipment business. Merged with another concern, a profitable cash deal for him: Turned over at once to two grown sons the lion's share of his fortune which they would otherwise have inherited under his will.

Two sons caught the well-known 1929 speculative fever. When the market went down, they went down—and out. Out on the street, one glad to drive a taxicab, the other to ring doorbells as a house-to-house salesman.

The old father, blissfully unconscious, lives modestly in a distant city. He still thinks of his sons as well-off as he had once made them.

Now let us switch to the RIGHT TRACK:

A wiser father in the same situation will place money for his children in a Living Trust. He will appoint us—a permanent organization—as Trustee.

No worry for the children. No hard luck story to conceal from father.

We recommend a Living Trust as a preventive of financial heartaches. Let us tell you how this modern form of protection for self and for family will work out in your case.
