

BIG CARNIVAL HELD DESPITE ICE CONDITION

Despite the severe handicap of soft and treacherous ice, Manchester's fifth annual Ice Carnival was held at Center Springs Pond yesterday afternoon and attracted a crowd estimated at 3,500 persons...

Postponed An Hour Although cold weather set in Saturday night and continued during Sunday morning to place the ice in perfect condition, a relentless sun that beat down upon the surface during the early afternoon hours, transformed the ice into a soggy mass that threatened to force postponement of the carnival until a later date.

The fact that the carnival was held at all is a credit to the Manchester Skating Club. As far as is known, it was the only outdoor carnival held in the southern part of New England this year...

The towering trees on the south bank of the pond protected the ice at that section somewhat, and when it was finally decided to start the carnival, the events were held on the south side.

FIGHT SEEMS NEAR AMONG DEMOCRATS

Roosevelt and Shouse Have Opposite Opinions Over Instructions to Delegates.

Washington, Feb. 15.—(AP)—A clear cut rift now exists between important elements of the Democratic Party and the prospect for harmony in the year of presidential election has faded to a shadow.

Definite statements of opposing positions over the instruction of delegates now stand between Franklin D. Roosevelt and his supporters on the one hand and that section of the party leadership which agrees with the views of Joseph Shouse, director of the Democratic National headquarters under Chairman John J. Raskob.

IRISH CAMPAIGN NEARING AN END

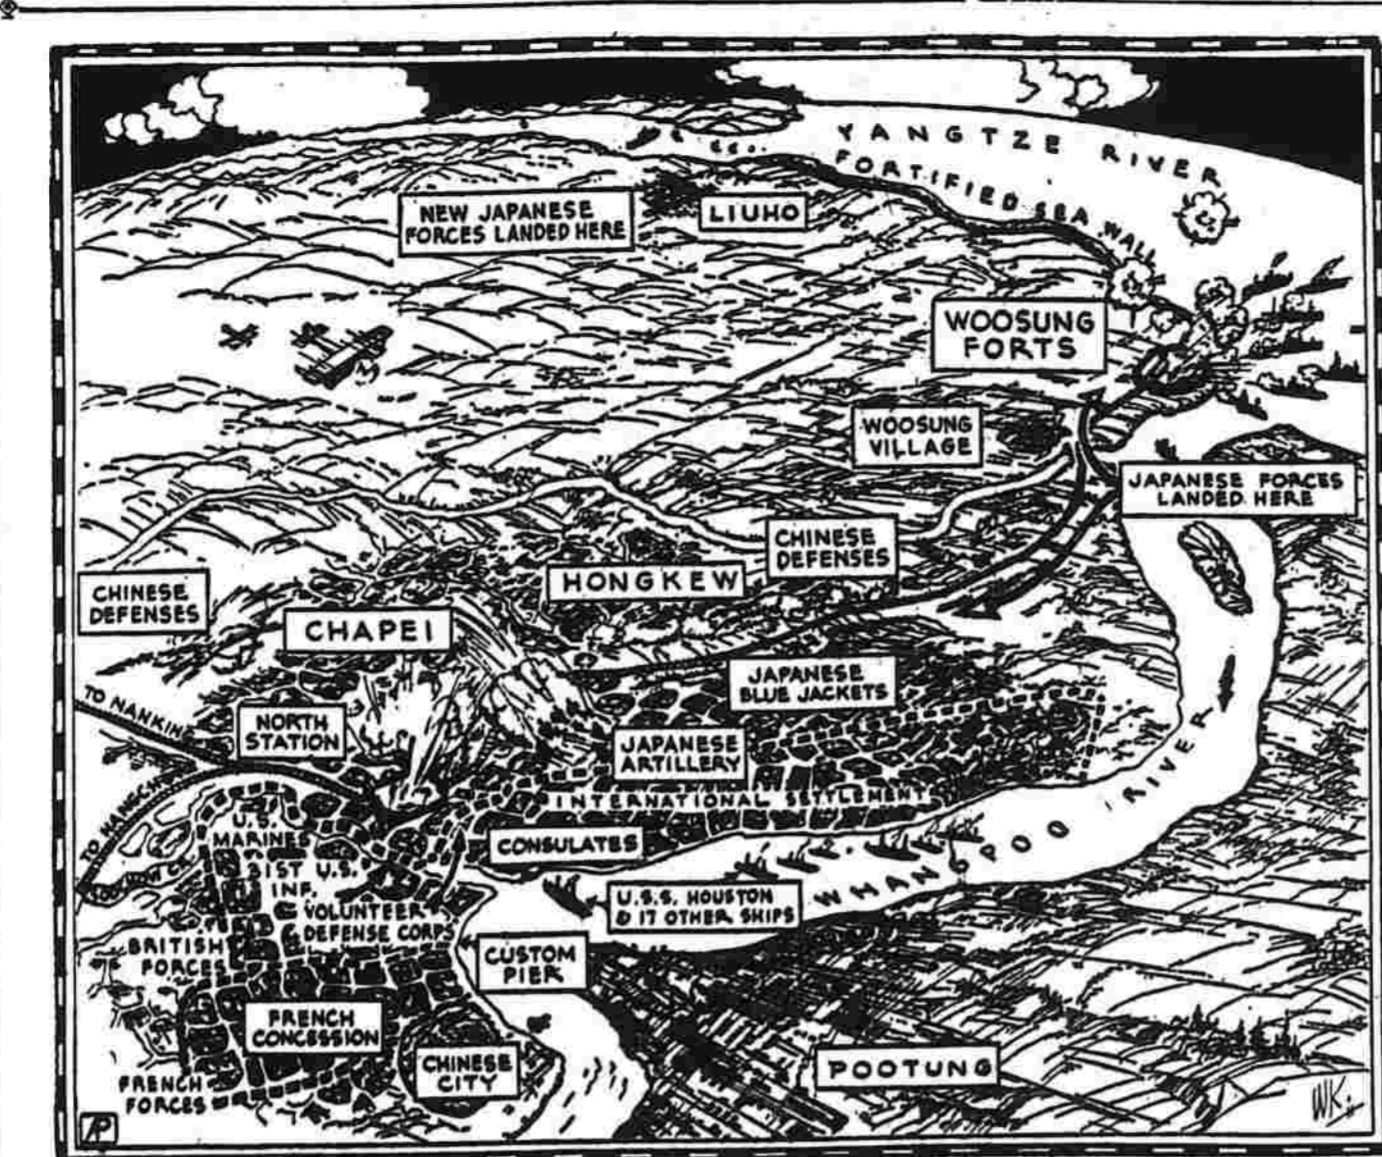

Two Men Killed In Election Fight; Cosgrave's Friends Predict His Re-election.

Dublin, Feb. 15.—(AP)—The Irish election campaign, one of the chief issues in which is the question of closer or more distant relations with Great Britain, entered its last day today, with the blood of two citizens, one of them a candidate, across its trail.

Patrick Reynolds, a member of the governing party in the Dail Eireann and candidate for re-election and a detective named McGeehan, were shot and killed while delivering political addresses at Foxhill County Leitrim.

Adherents of Mr. De Valera have promised abolition of the oath to the British King from the Free State constitution, modification of the present position of the governor general, continuance of payment of 3,000,000 pounds (about 150,000,000) in land annuities to England and through any but a moderate legislative program.

Japanese Plan Encircling Drive on Shanghai

The situation in war-torn Shanghai is shown in the map above as Japan pushes a concerted drive to get the Chinese away from the city and its environs. The campaign contemplates after reduction of the Woosung forts the establishment of a coastal zone from which fresh Japanese troops may operate in a great encircling movement designed to force the Chinese out of the territory northwest of the big city, pinching them away from Chapel and the environs to the west of the international and French settlements.

AUSTRIAN MYSTERY AGAIN DISCUSSED

Two Leading Characters Die Leaving Strange Messages About Shielding Someone.

Vienna, Feb. 15.—(AP)—One of the most famous mysteries of the Nineties—the death of Archduke Rudolph, heir to the Austrian throne, and his beautiful sweetheart, Baroness Marie Vetsera at Mayerling—has been brought sharply to the fore again with the death of two leading characters in the strange drama within a short time of each other.

Johann Loschek, 87-year-old former valet to the crown prince died Saturday. He resisted to the last the temptation to tell American journalists for allegedly enormous sums what happened in the archduke's hunting box on that cold foggy January 29, 1889.

Several shells dropped in the International Settlement area patrolled by United States Marines, but they did not explode. The Japanese command apologized for their gunners' bad aim and the range was corrected.

SCATTERED FIRING FROM BOTH SIDES

Officials Estimate 50,000 Chinese and 25,000 Japanese Ready For Action; Americans Warned to Come to Shanghai—Shells Dropped Near U. S. Marines But Do Not Explode—In Tokyo Foreign Envoys Told Why More Troops Are Being Sent to China—Another Protest Being Prepared in Washington.

By Associated Press These were the day's developments in the Far East: At nightfall on Monday the artillery duel across Chapel was resumed, but the engagement was brief and early Tuesday morning there was only scattered firing.

Official estimates said the Chinese had fifty thousand men ready for action in the Shanghai area and the Japanese 25,000. The Japanese government was considering sending additional reinforcements.

In Tokyo the American, British and French ambassadors were acquainted with the government's reasons for sending heavy detachments of troops to Shanghai and at Geneva the League of Nations Council deferred consideration of China's demand for a meeting of the League Assembly.

At Washington it was announced that another joint protest had been filed by the United States and Great Britain against Japan's use of the Shanghai International Settlement as a military base.

FIRING BEGINS

Shanghai, China, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Heavy gunfire crashed in the Chapel sector soon after dark tonight, ending a day of comparative quiet, and observers in the International Settlement thought it might be the beginning of the big push which 25,000 Japanese will be thrown against a Chinese army twice as big.

CHINESE DIG IN

The Chinese meanwhile continued to dig into their positions and said they would die before they would give in. The Chinese made no attempt to be about equal to that of the Japanese but their equipment, observers said, was far inferior.

JAPANESE EXPLANATION

Tokyo, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Ambassador W. Cameron Forbes of the United States and Ambassador W. H. Murray of Great Britain and France called at the foreign office late this afternoon on invitation of Foreign Minister Kenji Yoshizawa and it was understood the foreign minister explained to the ambassadors a number of places within 100 miles of Shanghai, including Soochow, where 100 Americans live. It was also sent to Wushu, Changchow, Kiangyin and Changchou. About 65 Americans live in the latter group of towns.

The Chinese armies also seemed preparing to resume an offensive and dogged retreat if they should find it necessary to fall back before the power of the Japanese advance. Most of their new troops have been assigned to the Kiangwan sector in which there has been considerable action during the past week.

The belief was expressed by Chinese military authorities that the Japanese plan much of their offensive action for this vicinity. A number of Japanese shells fell into the sectors patrolled by United States Marines and a number of English members of the Shanghai volunteer corps during a bombardment today.

Volunteers Endangered The volunteer corps withdrew from its sector for safety's sake as soon as the shells began falling within it, but they emerged again after the shelling was over and began hastily to strengthen their defenses against what may come when the big battle gets under way. About a dozen shells, most of them dud, fell within the American area. No one was injured. The bombardment was directed against Chinese positions. Throughout the day Jap soldiers streamed ashore from transports in the river to swell the thousands now awaiting the great promised general battle. With their tanks and hospital units, with first aid equipment on their backs, machine gun units and eight heavy field guns, each drawn by six horses. Reliable estimates placed the number of Japanese troops here now, with today's addition, at 25,000. Thousands of Chinese who lined the streets were silent as the troops passed. Japanese sentries posted everywhere throughout the district watched the Chinese crowds ready to pounce upon the first false move. Overshooting In the shelling of the Marine sector, Marine headquarters telephoned the Japanese headquarters advising officials there of the error the gunners appeared to be making. The gunners apparently corrected their range and ended the intermittent shelling of the American section. The gunners, Marine headquarters said, were badly over-shooting their marks. The coming of bloodshed on a large scale appeared all the more certain as efforts of the three neutral ministers to stop the fighting some time ago seemed certain to fail. After having been up until long after midnight last night, Nelson T. Johnson, United States minister, was at his office again at 8 o'clock this morning. Across the street in the garden of a British church, Chinese workmen were hammering and sawing away, building great lengths of barbed wire entanglements. Chinese Dig In The Chinese meanwhile continued to dig into their positions and said they would die before they would give in. The Chinese made no attempt to be about equal to that of the Japanese but their equipment, observers said, was far inferior. With the arrival of a detachment of French troops, expected momentarily, the foreign military and naval forces in the International Settlement will be brought to about 12,000 men. The British with 8,400 men, have the largest force. There are 3,100 Americans, 3,000 French and 300 Italians. Establishment of curfew regulations which forbid persons being on the streets between 10 p. m. and 4 a. m. have not entirely shut out Shanghai's night life. Many cabarets were getting around the curfew regulation went into effect and leave after it had been removed again the next morning.

A pre-school dental clinic will be held at the Memorial hospital annex tomorrow afternoon.

The ambulance owned by Mm. F. Quish attracted considerable attention Saturday night when it was left parked in front of the armory with a sign, "For the use of the Old Timers in case of any emergency."
