THREE MEN SOUGHT WHO ONCE PLANNED A LINDY KIDNAPING

Five in Original Plot But Two Are Now in Prisons On Other Charges — Lindbergh Agent Interviews One of Them in New York; Few New Developments In Case.

Hopewell, N. J., March 12.—(AP)—The eleventh day of the great Lindbergh kidnaping mystery found police trying to check their suspicions of five men and a plot.

They surmised, a trustworthy source disclosed, that the five laid a kidnap scheme as early as last November against the family and fortune of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh.

The plot was abandoned at the time it was developed, but whether it was picked up again and carried through was a question the greatest kidnaping investigation in the country's history was trying to answer.

One of the suspects, the source of the disclosure said, is in custody on a charge unrelated to the kidnaping. He was identified as the inmate of the Tombs Prison in New York who was brought here yesterday after Morris Rosner, expert fixer acting as Colonel Lindbergh's undercover agent interviewed him at the prison. His name was as closely guarded as his person.

Another in jail. Another of the five men is believed to be in prison elsewhere. Police want to find out where he is so they can determine whether the three who remained at Liberty picked up the abandoned plot and carried it through by stealing Charles Augustus Lindbergh Jr. from his nursery crib March 1.

A circular appealing to everybody—underworld and respectability alike—to give information about the kidnaping under pledge of strict

OHIO DELEGATES ARE FOR HOOVER

All But Three Pledged For Hoover — Three Candidates Among Democrats.

Columbus, O., March 12.—(AP)—Eight names headed by President Hoover and Governor George White were on Ohio's list today as candidates for the Presidential nominations.

The time for filing nominating petitions ended at 6:30 p. m. last night with all but three of the state's 55 Republican delegates to the Republican convention pledged to President Hoover.

One Republican delegate favors former Senator Joseph I. France of Maryland, and two pledged themselves to Mayor Jacob S. Coxey of Massillon, who led an army of jobless men to Washington 38 years ago.

Governor White, favorite son for the Democratic nomination, met greater opposition than the President. The governor will be opposed in five districts by delegates giving favor to former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker and Peter Witt, of Cleveland. Witt's delegates were expected to switch to Alfred E. Smith.

Despite the pledges to Baker he has repeatedly said he will not be a candidate.

Four Candidates. While bidding for delegates, neither President Hoover nor Governor White entered the presidential preference primary which holds only empty honors since its vote is not binding upon the delegates. There will be four candidates, however, who will vie for the state's popular choice.

Coxey and France, listed for the preference primary, and in addition the names of Olin J. Ross, Columbus attorney, a Republican, and of William H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray, Democratic governor of Oklahoma, were entered.

Prohibition was made an issue in the Senatorial nomination by the entry of L. J. Taber, master of the National Grange, and who is backed by the Ohio Anti-Saloon League. He filed on the Republican ticket to oppose Attorney General Gilbert Bettman, Mrs. Elizabeth C. T. Miller of Cleveland, and Charles A. Bracher of Dayton. The latter two did not divulge their position on prohibition, but Bettman and the unopposed Democratic candidate for re-election, Senator Robert J. Buckley, are known foes of present liquor conditions.

NATIONS JOIN IN RITES FOR BRIAND

Fifty-seven Represented At Funeral of Famous Statesman in Paris Today.

Paris, March 12.—(AP)—The people of France and representatives of 57 nations united today to pay a farewell tribute to the funeral of Aristide Briand, the man who launched a world-wide crusade for peace.

Premier Andre Tardieu, delivering the funeral oration called him "the prince of orators" through whom France's desires were voiced. The ceremony was one of imposing grandeur such as is rarely seen in Paris, an outward sign of the deep inward sorrow of the country over the death of a statesman who, while serving his country also strove to serve humanity.

Representatives of the church and the state joined in the offer of supreme homage. Cardinal Verdier of Paris gave the benediction of the Catholic church in the clock room, the foreign office at the Quai D'Orsay. Premier Tardieu spoke outside the tomb in the ministry to a crowd of thousands. His voice carried to the crowd by a battery of loud speakers before the casket was placed on a high catafalque.

From early morning until 11 a. m. a continuous file of people passed before the casket in the flower bedecked clock room.

Tardieu's Address. In his funeral speech M. Tardieu praised Briand as a medium through which the pacific sentiments of France were expressed and standing before the casket, he launched a plea to the world for "peace in things, after realizing peace first in our hearts and spirits."

The premier called the Briand pact for the renunciation of war and the plan of European union the greatest chapter in Briand's life and asked his countrymen who disagreed with his policies to reserve their opinions for at least ten years.

"The universal motion provoked by his sudden end," he said, "puts him in proper relief. This collective emotion honors, better than any other homage, the Frenchman who knew how to submerge his glory and, at his own risk, to bring a resonance to the notion of peace and to concentrate in this notion the aspiration of our times for a new order."

"His mission was forming for thirty years and his French history prepared him for European history."

ONE DEAD, 3 HURT AS HOUSE BURNS

Women Jump From Windows As Flames Rage Through Tenement.

New Haven, March 12.—(AP)—Fire which swept through a four-story Commerce street tenement resulted in one death and injuries to three persons. Fire Marshal Martin J. Fleming estimated the damage today as $25,000 but unofficial estimates placed the loss considerably higher.

John Gardner, 76, whose side had been paralyzed several years was suffocated by dense smoke. His body was found slumped against a wall near a window which he had apparently attempted to reach.

HOME LOAN BILL

Washington, March 12.—(AP)—Four leaders of the House banking committee today promised President Hoover speedy consideration of the administration's home loan bank bill, one of the few measures in the reconstruction program awaiting action.

Those attending an early morning conference in the President's office were Chairman Steagall and Representatives Brand (D., Ga.), Strong (R., Kan.), and Luce (R., Mass.). Steagall said any details of their conference would have to be announced by Mr. Hoover, but added they had informed him officially a sub-committee headed by Representative Reilly (D., Wis.), would begin consideration of the measure next Wednesday.

"We want to get started as soon as possible," Steagall said, "for it looks as though some time would be needed for consideration of this measure. The Senate already has spent considerable time upon it."

Modern Trains Pass Birthplace of Pioneer Inventor

If George Stephenson, inventor of the first railroad train, were alive today he would look with amazement on the scene pictured here. For at the left is the house where Stephenson was born 181 years ago, at Wylam, England, and at the right, dashing past at high speed, is a Diesel-electric railcoach, most modern of trains.

SEE HINDENBURG AS LEADER AGAIN

Election To Be Held Tomorrow and Observers Predict Defeat of Hitler and His Colleagues.

Berlin, March 12.—(AP)—Republican Germany stood at the crossroads today as nearly thirty million voters, the last din of a bitter election campaign sounding in their ears, pondered which road to take.

Down one road lay the way to Communism, akin to that of Soviet Russia. On another, to the right the sign pointed to Adolf Hitler's camp of Fascism. A third way, the road of the Nationalists, swerved backward toward the old monarchy.

On the fourth road stood the oldest of monarchies.

Mr. Murray spoke today before the institute on Near Eastern affairs at Brown University. He spoke particularly of the advances made in Turkey and Persia during the past decade and expressed the belief that the changes in the Near East had been greatly due to the passing, in Turkey and Persia, of the capitulations.

"The last decade," he said, "has seen the inchoate Ottoman Empire dissolved into the modern Turkish Republic, the decadent regime of the Kajars give way to the progressive and energetic Pahlavi rule in Persia, the establishment of a constitution and parliamentary government in Ethiopia and the beginnings of a parliamentary regime in Afghanistan."

Not Applicable.

"Persia, the only Moslem member of the League of Nations, is soon to be joined in that body by the newly created State of Iraq. And the expression 'The Unchanging East' would be inapplicable to the Near East today, if for no other reason than the establishment of the mandated states of Iraq, Syria, Palestine and Trans-Jordan, which constitute an entirely new experiment in international law."

He said he believed the changes which have occurred in Turkey during recent years have been the most remarkable and far-reaching of all. He found Turkey ready to sever the ties which bound her for centuries to the east and to embrace western civilization. Mr. Murray spoke of the reforms that took place in Turkey between 1922-28.

ROOSEVELT ENVOYS SEEK COMPROMISE

So Far No Agreement Can Be Reached With Smith Men In Bay State.

Boston, March 12.—(AP)—Leaders of the "Roosevelt for President" campaign in Massachusetts have set 5 o'clock today as the deadline for any compromise with political leaders backing the candidacy of Alfred E. Smith, for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Efforts at a compromise, engaged in by Louis C. Howe, personal secretary to Governor Roosevelt, and Governor Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts, leader of the Smith forces in this state, have come to naught.

The Roosevelt organization last night offered to make no contest for the presidential delegates in the Massachusetts primary if the Smith group would promise to pledge its delegation to throw its strength to Roosevelt.

SAVE LAST 100 OF 700 FISHERS TRAPPED ON ICE

Men and Horses Forced To Eat Raw Fish Since Tuesday—Tell Graphic Tales of Suffering.

Helsingfors, Finland, March 12.—(AP)—A hundred hardy fishermen, picked off the ice floes on which they had drifted helplessly for several days, came back today to spin a real yarn of the northland.

They were the last to be saved of 700 carried off on a huge floe which drifted along the coast for three days while rescuers were held off by heavy ice. They lived on cold raw fish and they fed it to the horses that had been carried away with them.

This thing happens every year but never before has so large a number of men been carried to sea at one time. These 700 were six miles out on the ice in the Gulf of Finland last Tuesday when a terrific storm broke off enormous floes on which the men and horses had been hauling nets.

The storm blew all day Wednesday with the temperature about 12 degrees above zero and the only

NEW YORK SOLONS RETURN TO HOMES

Legislature Adjourns After Shortest Session in History—To Aid Needy.

Albany, N. Y., March 12.—(AP)—The New York Legislature, done with the greatest financial problem in its history has adjourned and gone home.

The 155th session ended last night, the shortest regular meeting of the lawmakers in the memory of the oldest Legislator.

It was spotlighted by its attempt to balance a three hundred million dollar budget with a curtailed income and by its battles with Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, "candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination."

When the final gavel banged it had established a fiscal balance only by a series of special taxes and had left up to the voters and taxpayers the question of issuing $30,000,000 in bonds to continue the State's program of relief for million unemployed.

To Help Needy. The bond issue, if approved at a state-wide referendum next fall, will bring the total of state resources down into the fight to shelter and feed the worker out of a job to $55,000,000, the largest fund so far provided by any state.

To wipe out a deficit of $103,000,000 the lawmakers and the governor

BRILLIANT WOMAN SPY IS MURDERED

Former Cheka Worker Slain For Betraying Finland Fascists, It Is Believed.

Helsingfors, Finland, March 12.—(AP)—The body of Minna Kraucher, a brilliant woman described by police as an international spy, was discovered yesterday crumpled over a desk in her home. A soft nosed bullet was imbedded at the base of the brain.

The authorities said the woman apparently was killed last Tuesday, doubtless by an agent of some League (Fascist) organization with which she had been closely allied and some of whose secrets she had betrayed. A Fascist attempt to seize the government recently failed.

Mme. Kraucher was about forty years old and had served as an agent of the old Russian chieftain or secret police. Her activities here first were identified with the Lapua organizations, which are anti-Communist, and later with the government.

During the recent Lapua revolt she revealed to the government the names of contributors to the Fascist war chest.

Mystery Surrounds Death Of Girl, Wounding of Boy

Neuruppin, Germany, March 12.—(AP)—The body of Mathilde Dirschmann, 12-year-old school girl whose home was in New York, was found here today, disclosing a student tragedy.

Nearby Herbert Huelsen, 16, was found suffering from serious bullet wounds in the head. Police took the boy to a hospital where he told them, they said, that the girl shot herself in the head and then he attempted suicide.

The two met at school. The girl was living here with her uncle, a

VICTORY CAMPAIGN RAISES $555,000

Davis Reports Cash and Pledges Received For Democratic Fund.

New York, March 12.—(AP)—Chairman John W. Davis of the Democratic victory campaign announced today that a total of $555,000 in cash and pledges had been received or reported toward the work of the Democratic National committee up to yesterday.

The money represented gifts and contributions from 45,817 men and women.

Mr. Davis' announcement followed publication from Washington of the committee's financial report for the two months ending February 29.

Besides the $219,058 in actual cash receipts reported today, Davis said, the treasurer's statement filed

Joseph Curcino Also Shot In Head—Body Found By Neighbor In Garage In Rear of His Garage; Residents Thought Shot Was Sound of Auto Backfiring.

Hartford, March 12.—(AP)—Slugged, stabbed 13 times in the back and shot through the temple, Joseph Curcino, 27 known in the Hartford underworld as a hi-jacker and bootlegger, was found dead in the garage in back of his flat at 188 Campbell avenue, at 8 o'clock this morning.

The murder was reconstructed, with aid of neighbors who thought they heard "backfiring" in the three car garage at midnight last night, is believed by police to have been committed a few minutes after 12 o'clock.

No intimation of the crime committed within fifty feet of her bedroom came to Florence W. Curcino, wife of the slain man, and mother of their 7 year old daughter Nellie until after a noise this morning and it was discovered by a neighbor who went to get his car which had been put in the garage before midnight, alongside the space rented by Curcino.

LOST FOR FIVE DAYS, PATROL BOAT LOCATED

Coast Guard Vessel Found 400 Miles Off New York By British Steamer — Engines Are Disabled.

New York, March 12.—(AP)—The British steamer Dakotian took the crippled Coast Guard patrol boat 218 in tow about 400 miles off New York today and started with her toward Nantucket, the Radio Marine Corp., said.

A radio message picked up by the corporation said the seven men aboard the government boat were "All O. K." The 218, missing since Monday when she started to the aid of other storm battered shipping, sent out an appeal for aid a few hours earlier. She did not disclose the nature of her distress. It was the first word from her in more than five days.

The 218's radio was too weak to communicate with land but the message was relayed here by the Dakotian. The weakness of the radio was thought to be the result of the government craft's long silence.

Sent Two Messages. The 218 left her base at Cape May, N. J., after the storm broke over the Atlantic early in the week.

The Coast Guard radio station reported receiving two messages from the disabled boat. The first asked for immediate assistance and the second giving its position as Latitude 37.16, Longitude 67.00 stated that the S. S. Dakotian was standing by.

Neither of the messages said what difficulty the craft was having but the radio station said it was probable the 218's engine had broken down.

Five Coast Guard boats were in the vicinity of the disabled patrol boat, the station reported, and were holding radio conference at dawn to see which should speed to lend assistance.

The 218 under the command of Assistant Boatswain's Mate J. Williams, carried a limited supply of provisions, the radio station attendant said.

TREASURY BALANCE. Washington, March 12.—(AP)—Treasury receipts for March 10 were $3,428,203.73; expenditures, $17,221,837.48; balance, $286,618,443.20. Customs duties for 10 days of March were $7,803,076.37.

CRASH—LEG IS BROKEN!

Fort Worth, Tex., March 12.—Vernon James, 13, was watching a marble game. One of the marbles rolled into the street and the boy dashed after it.

As he ran, Earl Thompson, pedaling a bicycle, crashed into him, breaking his leg.

Lenore Reed picked up Vernon to take him to a hospital. Jack Adams, 14, volunteered to go along. On the way, Reed's car collided with another and was overturned.

In the resulting crash Jack's arm was broken—but the broken leg of Vernon was somehow set in the mixup.

MORE JAPS LAND IN SHANGHAI AREA

Skirmish With Chinese Reported—Diplomats Hope For Peace Soon.

Shanghai, March 12.—(AP)—Japanese headquarters said today a brisk skirmish of an hour between Chinese cavalry and Japanese troops took place on the front line five miles north of Kating early today.

The Chinese, it was added, apparently suffered numerous casualties but the Japanese forces lost no men.

Additional thousands of Japanese troops were landed in transports at Wusong and trudge off to take places on the thirty mile front around Shanghai. Japanese diplomats said they hoped for the best from peace discussions but the army went grimly about preparing for the worst.

3,000 New Troops. It was estimated 3,000 new troops landed today with full complements of planes and artillery.

The Japanese consulate said its investigation into the beating of Miss Rose Marlowe, American missionary teacher a week ago disclosed one Japanese civilian was responsible, and that he had been sentenced to fifteen days in jail. The Japanese consulate expressed regret over the incident.

A torrential rain storm, the first of the spring downpours on which the Chinese had banked as an ally, turned military roads into rivers of mud, and trenches and dugouts into catch basins.

The Japanese brought out a number of caterpillar tractors and substituted these for the trucks in hauling the heavy guns to the front.

ASKS FOR PRAYERS. New York, March 12.—(AP)—Answering the appeal of Joe Humphries, sports announcer, a fight audience prayed last night at Madison Square Garden for the safe return of the Lindbergh baby.

Five years ago, when Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was over the Atlantic, the same Joe Humphries stood up before the Shanley-Maloney fight and asked for prayer.

PROTESTANTS PLAN SERVICE CHANGES

Federal Council of Churches To Form Body To Work On Problem.

New York, March 12.—Revision of Protestant church services so as to place less emphasis on sermons and more on participation by congregations in prayers of confession and forms of religious worship such as responsive readings is expected to come out of the organization of a committee on worship being formed by the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, it became known yesterday.

The Rev. Dr. Wilbur P. Thirkield, former Bishop of the Chattanooga area of the Methodist Episcopal Church, has been appointed chairman of the committee on the recommendation of the administrative committee of the council. The end sought was said to be greater unity in matters of worship and the development of a common objective by non-liturgical communions. The committee will have about a year of activity upon which to base its recommendations to the next quadrennial convention of the council.

The Rev. Samuel McCrea Cavert, general secretary of the council, said officials of twenty-six denominations affiliated with the organization were asked to name representatives to the committee and about half that number had done so. Replies from the others are expected. Dr. Thirkield said yesterday that when all appointments had been announced the first meeting would be called. Plans were also announced to consider establishing the committee permanently if its initial efforts prove successful.

SEES BILL DEFEATED

Washington, March 12.—(AP)—Congressman Blanton of Texas believes that when the state liquor control plan is voted on Monday it will be killed "the first shot."

He made the prediction in debate yesterday as an aside to his comment that the proposal to tax 2 7/8 per cent beer was "just a plain silly idea."

"When snakes as big as my arm come through my state, do you think we take two shots to kill them? No, we kill them the first shot!" was the Lone Star statesman's illustration of his prediction. Defeat of this resolution to submit a new constitutional amendment for the States is a foregone conclusion but the House wet bloc is after a record of wet, dry and doubtful members.

C. N. G. ORDERS

Hartford, March 12.—(AP)—Special orders from the office of the state adjutant general announced today acceptance of the resignation of Lieut. C. T. Neal, service battery 192d Field Artillery and his honorable discharge from the National Guard.

Sergt. R. G. Walls, of headquarters battery 192d Field Artillery had been asked before an examining board to prove his fitness for promotion.

LATEST EQUIPMENT IN ICE CREAM PLANT

Michael Orfitelli Announces Factory On Warren St. Ready For Business.

Manchester now has a brand new ice cream plant right here in town conducted by local people and it will be known as "Royal" ice cream.

Mr. Orfitelli has built and equipped a real first class plant with all modern devices known to the ice cream business and is now prepared to turn out 500 gallons of cream a day.

Modern Refrigeration Inside the building is divided into four separate departments. The first as one enters is the shipping and receiving room where incoming cream and other products are received and out-going ice cream is packed and prepared for delivery.

Hardening Room Then one passes through another heavily insulated door into the hardening room itself where the temperature ranges from 2 degrees below zero to perhaps 2 degrees above.

Shipping Room The office of the business is located in a separate room near the receiving and shipping room. Mr. Orfitelli's plant has been inspected by the State Department of Health and it has been passed as an A-1 place of business and he has received a great deal of personal commendation from these men for the splick and span appearance of the plant.

Mr. Orfitelli will use a brand new system of delivery for his ice cream in the form of iceless containers. They are a brand new idea on the market and the ones that he now has in use were built by himself and he has them in four quart, eight quart and eighteen quart sizes.

Fighting around Shanghai might lead one to believe that all these Chinese civil wars have been rehearsals.

at Washington recorded pledges received at headquarters totaling $204,158, including Chairman John J. Raskob's condition pledge of $100,000 to the victory campaign, and a convention pledge of $75,000 to be paid in addition to the $125,000 listed as having already been contributed by the Chicago citizen's committee.

In the first 11 days of March, Davis said, 22,624 gifts and pledges totaling $46,455 have been reported by the state victory chairman or reported at headquarters these gifts, plus 116 totaling $68,667 contributed prior to January 1, bring the total number of contributions to 45,817.

ABOUT TOWN

Members of Manchester Lodge, No. 1477, Loyal Order of Moose, will leave the Home Club on Brainerd Place at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning in a bus for Danbury, to attend a Booster meeting there in connection with the annual convention and field day to be held in Manchester in June.

Howard Barlow, former Manchester man, has been promoted to the captaincy of the fingerprint bureau of the Los Angeles Police Department, according to word received here today.

The Washington Memorial committee will meet at the Green school at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon for furthering their plans. The public is welcome to join in the meeting.

The Young People's Federation of Manchester and vicinity will hold its annual Summer Service on Good Friday morning, March 25. Members will meet at the South Methodist church at 5 o'clock in the morning and hike to Sunset Hill, where a short service will be held, followed by breakfast cooked over a campfire.

The Ways and Means committee of the Buckland Parent-Teacher association will be in charge of the whist, setback and dance Monday evening at the school hall.

The cast from the Community Players presenting "Three Live Ghosts" Wednesday evening at the Hollister street school, for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. will rehearse tomorrow afternoon at the school.

A large crowd is expected at the Hospital auxiliary's card party Monday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. for the benefit of the hospital linen fund. Players will have choice of their favorite card game.

Swedish Benevolent Society Segar will hold an important meeting at Orange Hall at 8 o'clock tonight and all members are requested to be present.

Harry McCormick, accompanied by Charles Moulton of East Hartford, left this morning for Hopeville, N. H., to see the Lindbergh estate which has figured so prominently in the kidnaping story the past two weeks.

The North Main street churches will hold a service tomorrow evening at 7:45 at the Second Congregational church, when Helena Johnstone Sloane will give a dramatic interpretation of "Judas Iscariot" in seven scenes.

New interest was drawn to the copper industry by the announcement that the Lindbergh kidnaping, bears a picture of gold-hander Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr.

The west trade reviews had little new to offer, generally agreeing that business was poor save for the notable exception of the shoe industry, but again stressing the fact that business sentiment continues more cheerful than several weeks ago as a result of credit improvement. Easter buying was said to show a healthier glow of activity.

TO PLAY BADMINTON ON COURT AT THE REC

Badminton, an old sport but comparatively new to Manchester, will be introduced to the public here at the School Street Recreation Center next Tuesday evening in the main gymnasium at 8 o'clock. Two crack players from Hartford, Jack Perkins and his son, Young Jack, better known for their golf ability, will play a special exhibition match.

Last year, Ed Guinan, noted Hartford tennis player, came here to help introduce ping-pong, an indoor sport which increased in popularity here afterward. Now badminton is to receive a similar introduction to the Manchester public.

New York, March 12.—The past week was the most unfavorable for some time as regards dividend casualties. Unfavorable changes numbered 83, or about 30 more than in the preceding week, according to a compilation by the standard statistics. Favorable revisions numbered 11 against nine the week before.

Bank suspensions in the week just past ebbed nearer the absolute vanishing point, says the "American Banker". Only 11 small institutions closed their doors, or the same number as in the preceding week. The rate of closings since March 1 is the lowest since 1928, and also the lowest in ten years, according to this authority.

FORMER HERALD MAN DIES IN HARTFORD

A. Leland Ziglatzki, Advertising Solicitor Here, Suffers Relapse of Pneumonia.

A. Leland Ziglatzki, former classified advertising manager of The Herald, died last night at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Ziglatzki of 76 Bainbridge Road, West Hartford. Ziglatzki had an attack of pleural pneumonia about 18 months ago, lasting six weeks and death came as the result of a relapse suffered three weeks ago which affected his heart. He was thirty years old.

Besides his parents he leaves his wife, Wilma (Geiger) Ziglatzki, and a sister, Miss Irene Ziglatzki of New York City. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at 76 Bainbridge Road. The body will be taken to Springfield on Monday for cremation and the remains will be returned to Hartford for burial.

A. Leland Ziglatzki was classified advertising manager of The Herald for more than two years from July 1928 until the middle of 1930. During that time he formed a wide acquaintance with local business men and through his extremely likeable personality won many friendships. Ziglatzki was also a well-known collector of first editions, a hobby which he started early in life. His collection of books is said to be a large and valuable one.

After leaving The Herald, he spent some time as a free lance in the advertising field. During the past year and one-half he had been employed in the advertising department of the Meriden Record.

Born in Waterbury, Ziglatzki early moved to Hartford with his family. He graduated from the Hartford Public High school and studied at Columbia University. His first connection with advertising work was with Hartford newspapers, E. F. & A. M. and Omega Gamma Delta fraternity.

His home was at 168 Wetherfield Avenue, Hartford.

LATEST STOCKS

New York, March 12.—(AP)—Stocks showed good resistance to the selling pressure which started yesterday with a number of leading issues recording fractional gains toward the end of the first half hour of trading today.

U. S. Steel which lost a fraction at the opening recovered all of its loss and closed nearly half of its gain. United American Can, United Drug, Allied Chemical and Case Threshing advanced fractionally above their previous closing prices. A feature of trading was early activity in Kreuger & Toll, 35 1/2 shares appearing on the tape in the first 15 minutes of trading at a price 1/2 point below the previous closing level.

New interest was drawn to the copper industry by the announcement that the Lindbergh kidnaping, bears a picture of gold-hander Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr.

Further evidence of railroad ability to meet their financing needs was the information that Chesapeake and Ohio had been given authority to issue $28,000,000 new bonds as a result of their agreement with banks.

SEEK MURDERER

Easton, Conn., March 12.—(AP)—A man known as "Joe the Waiter," was sought today for questioning in the slaying of Frank Bude, 50, whose body, badly bruised was found in the ashes of a barn here.

Medical Examiner H. Le Baron Peters said last night an autopsy revealed he had been killed by gunshot wounds. A shotgun, found near the body with two barrels disassembled, was turned over to a ballistics expert to trace its ownership. Police were working a theory Bude had been slain and robbed.

QUEER TWISTS

Richmond, Va.: Consanguinity can be complicated. John W. Glas was married, thrice, to a woman who was married and his sister and daughter are sisters-in-law. But its simple: His mother's mother and father's father married when widowed, his father married four times and his daughter and sister married brothers. Simple? ! !

Sepulpa, Okla.: Mrs. Lizzie Devers, aged five score one, told county officials she would need a little help as rag-picking isn't so profitable as it used to be. Furthermore, she said, her marriage responsibilities have been large. She has been widowed by death or divorce nine times since the Civil War.

AT LEAST HE DIDN'T GAMBLE AT BRIDGE

Page Robert Ripley and his Believe It or Not column! Seems that a woman called a local merchant to obtain an inexpensive tie for a bridge prize, something retailing for about a half dollar. He picked one out and sent it to the woman's home. In the evening he attended the bridge party, and won first prize.

THREE MEN SOUGHT WHO ONCE PLANNED A LINDY KIDNAPING

secretary was announced by Colonel H. Norman Schwarzkopf, head of the New Jersey State police.

It was despatched to every department in the country. "It is our earnest desire to accomplish the recovery of the baby," said the police announcement "the police will welcome information of any kind leading to its return, regardless of the source."

The identity of all people disclosing information leading to the recovery of the baby, whether the information be valuable or not, will be treated with confidence.

An attorney for Salvy Spitalo and Irving Bitz, two men with underworld contacts who are trying to deal with the kidnapers on Colonel Lindbergh's behalf announced they "have a lead."

Works in West The attorney Abraham Kesselman would not tell the nature of the information. He said they would go to Detroit where the once potent "Purple gang" formerly gave police much trouble.

In Clark, Mich., Isaiah Leebow, New York lawyer who said he is counsel for Spitalo and Bitz, said he thought the case would "come to a head very soon."

Dorothy Thompson, another friend of Henry (Red) Johnson was questioned several hours at Newark yesterday. It was learned, but she was not detained. Johnson, sailor, who was friendly with the baby's nurse, Betty Gow, is held at Newark, facing a charge of entering the country illegally.

While the machinery of investigation clicked all about them, the kidnaping baby's parents dragged through another day of anxiety.

Mrs. Lindbergh, worn but still standing up to the blow, went by her household duties and took her meals on the second floor of the house with her mother Mrs. Dwight Morrow. The colonel, active as ever as seen about the place wearing his grey cap and suit.

POLICE CIRCULARS

Hopewell, N. J., March 12.—(AP)—The police circular being distributed throughout the United States, pledging confidential treatment of any information on the Lindbergh kidnaping, bears a picture of gold-hander Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr.

It is being printed in Washington, the state police announced, but it was not known whether some Federal agency prepared it.

The appeal for information, regardless of the source, was intercepted by newspapers as an effort to clear the way for overtures from the kidnapers. Col. Lindbergh has promised he would not try to harm anyone who entered negotiations, but no intimation of the police attitude has hitherto been given.

AUNT IS GUARDED

Denver, March 12.—(AP)—The Rocky Mountain News says three Federal investigators have kept the Denver home of Mrs. S. E. Land, aunt of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, under surveillance several days on the theory that the kidnapers of Lindbergh's son might try to communicate with him through Mrs. Land.

Mrs. Land might be utilized, says the News, as a medium through which ransom could be paid for the return of the child.

Both Mrs. Land and Rowland K. Goddard, head of the U. S. Secret Service here, declined to comment on the case.

SEARCH FOR GROCER

Hopewell, N. J., March 12.—(AP)—Police are searching for a former Brooklyn grocer, Dominick Peruo, who lives on the edge of the Lindbergh estate but has not been seen since the night before the kidnaping. A 16-year-old son told state troopers Peruo went away with a relative and he hadn't heard from him.

NEW HAVEN GROUP HEARS EVANGELIST

Rev. John Fleming Enters Second Week of Revivals At Nazarene Church Tomorrow

Rev. John Fleming enters his second week of revival services in the First Church of the Nazarene with services tomorrow morning at 10:45 a. m. Last night the Evangelist preached in his best vein to a large congregation which included a delegation of members of the New Haven Nazarene church who drove up for the meeting.

"It takes something to hold the middle of the line," declared the Evangelist last night. "If I preach too long they say I'm wearing them out; if I stop before the time is up they say I'm laying down on the job; if I wear good clothes they say I'm too prosperous and if I should live in a shanty they'd point their finger at me in scorn."

"What do I mean? I mean it's hard to suit all people. In the west they tell me 'Oh things are different where you came from.' In the north they are cold. Every section of the country has its particular reason to kick against the Gospel."

"I don't care what they think. I'm preaching from the book and that's all I want to know."

Rev. Fleming spoke last night of the fullness of the old dispensation to save souls. He lauded the patriarchs and prophets from Abraham to Malachi, and drew an unforgettable picture of the beginning of the new dispensation and the Gift of the Son.

Rev. Fleming will preach at both services tomorrow and each night next week at 7:30. The revival series closes next Sunday night, March 20.

INDIAN PLAY DRAWS LARGE GATHERING

Work of Mathias Spies and His Daughter, Madeline, Is Highly Praised.

One of the largest gatherings at the Hollister street school this season, enjoyed the entertainment given by Chapman Court, Order of Amaranth, last night. The attraction was the original Indian play, "The Love Story of Wummetunah," by Mathias Spies, well known local authority on Indian history. His daughter Miss Madeline Spies, art teacher at the West Hartford High school, directed the presentation and arranged the artistic stage settings. Miss Spies had transformed the stage into the semblance of a forest, with full-sized cedars upright in the foreground and evergreens of shorter growth in the background. Lighting effects completed the outdoor picture, and wigwams, a campfire and appropriate Indian costumes gave the proper atmosphere.

Thomas Maxwell and his mandolin club furnished orchestral music. Incidental solo work was capably handled, by Miss Ada Robinson in typical Indian. Owing to illness in the most part, from the children of Amaranth members, two youths who participated in a showing of the play at West Hartford recently, rendered able assistance, in Indian dances and the leading male role of "Peter Flanger," the Dutch sailor, who according to authentic information married the Indian girl Wummetunah, daughter of a chief, thus furnishing one of the earliest love stories in the history of New England. The scene of the story was the cave at Bolton Notch, later referred to as "Old Sa's Cave."

Puritan characters and costumes added considerable interest to the performance, and a very good idea of the regular observance of the Sabbath was the arena of comment to the "socks" of Peter for splitting kindling wood on Sunday.

Mr. Spies gave an educational talk on Indian tribes of New England, illustrated by colored stereoscopic pictures, following the play.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Jesus Comforts Disciples

Text: John 14:1-18. The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for March 13.

BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D. Editor of The Congregationalist. In the last lesson we saw the Master washing the disciples feet, teaching them through his act the lesson of humility, and rebuking the selfish ambitions that led them to quarrel about matters of place and preference.

A very different atmosphere surrounds this lesson. Here Jesus is the minister of comfort to those whose trouble and disappointment he foresees. The very lack of spiritual discernment on the part of the disciples was bound to make more perplexing and trying the experiences through which they were about to pass.

They had staked their faith upon the establishment of an earthly kingdom, in which they anticipated that they were going to have places of power and responsibility. The dream was about to find its crucial disappointment.

Whether or not Jesus in his earthly consciousness had known from the beginning what was to be the climax of his earthly ministry on Calvary, it seems evident that at this time the clear consciousness of his impending sacrifice was ever present with him.

Under these conditions Jesus gave all the power of his utterance to strengthening the disciples for the crisis. He did this, not through warning and appeal, but by seeking to create in them the sort of faith and the quality of vision that would sustain them in their hour of need.

He brings the ministry to the troubled into the atmosphere of the eternal and abiding. The one great reason why he may rise above our perplexities and our troubles is the assurance that, no matter what comes, God's love and God's care abide with us.

Jesus does not argue about this. He does not present facts and reasonings to uphold or prove it, he takes it rather as an assumption of spiritual reality. "If it were not so, I would have told you," he says. There are things, he suggests, that are at the very foundation of life and of goodness.

He is equally specific in defining the effect of this faith upon himself and upon his mission. He is going to prepare a place for the disciples, but he will not be separated from them. He is seeking to lead them in the way that he himself is going.

We must read these words in the light of the declaration of Jesus, "I am the Way, and the Truth, and the Life." He personifies in his personality and presence the divine realities which every reader of the Old Testament associated with the Eternal God.

Our lesson expresses the fact of the Incarnation as a practical, rather than a theoretical, doctrine. This relationship of the disciple to God, through the earthly Jesus, who is leading the way, is associated with the practical manifestations of religion in good works.

Faith and communion are expressed in prevailing prayer, and in the prevailing power of righteous living. If we live in close communion with Jesus we become the sharers of his holiness and his power.

LUMBERING OPERATION GOES ON RIGHT IN TOWN

Portable Mill Sawing Timber of North End Tract Near Hockanum Bridge.

It is a long time since a saw mill was operated in the town limits of Manchester, but at present such a mill is in operation on the Bidwell estate north of the Hockanum river on North Main street, from a point north of the Methodist church to another point beyond the bridge.

The mill, operated by Raymond Lathrop is sawing out about 60,000 board feet of oak and hemlock lumber and has been in operation about a month. Besides clearing the entire ridge of lumber much cord wood will be obtained when the lumber has been cut.

Clearing the roadside of wood and timber will enable motorists to get a clear view of North Main street east, from the top of the hill near the home of Mrs. C. A. Balch to the North Methodist church.

The lemon was introduced into the United States by Spanish adventurers.

THE LORD'S PEACE

BY GEORGE HENRY DOLE. International Sunday School Lesson Text, March 13. Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you; not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid.—John 14:27.

Keen sorrow comes when those we love are to be separated. Jesus was near the close of His visible presence upon the earth. He knew the grief soon to overwhelm His disciples. It was then that He gave those tender, consoling words, "Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you." His peace was not that of worldly satisfactions, nor of ease, or release from cares and anxieties that wealth alone affords. "Not as the world giveth, give I unto you." The peace that He gives is from the gift of powers that overcome the world, and triumph over the afflictions that must needs come for the enrichment of the soul through life's experiences. His peace comes not from without, but from within. How that peace comes Jesus revealed by a most impressive act. He said to His disciples, "Peace be unto you," and then He breathed upon them, and added, "Receive ye the Holy Spirit." Real peace, genuine peace, comes alone through the Lord breathing His life and peace into the soul. The storm abates, the winds cease, the waves subside, and the lake becomes a picture of peace, softly restful under the glory of the sun. When the Lord breathes His Spirit into the heart, fears, anxieties and turbulence pass away, and the soul finds peace from the light that comes from within. Peace is the harmony of the soul with the Lord and heaven. It is the sensation that the inflow of the Lord's life produces. It is the taste of the quietude, sweetness, sanctity and satisfactions in the life of the Lord when it touches the heart. Further, Jesus said, "Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid." Neither heat and cold, nor light and darkness can exist together. One expels the other, and likewise the Lord's peace repels trouble and fear. Rent with depression, cares, fears and anxiety, the world needs the peace that the Lord yearns to breathe upon it. He will give His peace as we have faith in Him, keep His word, and live in Him. "Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid."

For The Week Wednesday, 7 p. m.—Lenten service. The German choir will rehearse after the service. Friday, 4:45 p. m.—Willing Workers society. Friday, 7:30 p. m.—English choir. QUICKER

Nothing in the World is faster for cooking than the Little Sharp Blue GAS FLAME

This, ladies and gentlemen, is 1932, and modern living has outlawed unnecessary waiting and delay. That is just one of the many good reasons why the modern automatic gas range has caused thousands upon thousands of moderns to install modern automatic all-gas kitchens, and more particularly, modern automatic gas ranges.

Whether you want a hot oven in a hurry or whether it's a range top cooking job, (where 85% of all cooking is done) you'll find the little sharp blue flame has the job well under way while other devices are warming up. The modern automatic gas range wastes none of your precious moments. Life is too short for that sort of thing.

Modern Gas Ranges are fully Automatic

The modern automatic all-gas kitchen is the last word in modern convenience and economy. It is the most up-to-date ensemble that has yet been developed, embracing automatic hot water, automatic cooking, and silent refrigeration—three vital necessities that gas provides

LINES OF RETREAT

It is going to be interesting to watch the proceedings of boards of education throughout the country as, one after another, they are compelled by dire necessity to reduce expenditures—a movement in which direction is in process of development.

In Stratford, whose population is only two or three thousand less than Manchester's, the school board has gone about meeting a $51,000 cut in its budget ordered by the town council by eliminating the kindergartens and raising the age of admission to the schools from five to six years, in addition to imposing a ten per cent reduction in all teachers' salaries in the form of compulsory contributions to that extent to the relief fund of the town. The salary of the superintendent of schools, which has been $5,750 a year, is cut to $5,040.

At the same time the school board sticks to such special departments as cooking and manual training, after debating the subject of their elimination. One of the difficulties in the new situation is the absence of any considered program of economy in school management. For years the trend of thought in public school circles has been in an exactly opposite direction. Hundreds of pedagogical authorities have arisen, each with some new and perhaps excellent idea for the enlargement of public school education, but whether excellent or merely silly the idea has always been in the direction of greater expenditures. Local school boards have trailed happily along after such leaders, with the result that they have come to be, in the mass, much like a great army whose calculations have always been on the offensive and which has never given a moment's thought to its lines of retreat.

It is to be suspected that much of the resistance to the demands for economy that so many school boards are offering is due more to their unpreparedness for economy thought than to any deliberate intent to sacrifice the solvency of the communities to the self interest of the pedagogical class.

We have never yet heard of a convention of school authorities taking up for consideration the subject of retrenchment in any other way than in opposition to the whole idea of reducing school expenditures. It is not to be wondered at, then, that when school boards find themselves in the position of the one at Stratford they are bewildered and compelled to flounder around in the dark. They have had no help from the accredited experts. That school costs in this country have got to be reduced, and reduced not a little but a great deal, is fast becoming a realized certainty. It would contribute a great deal to the salvaging of all that is best in the school system if the pilots of the educational fraternity were to direct some of their efforts to charting the course of retrenchment instead of employing all their efforts in a futile attempt to fend off the inevitable strategic retreat.

THE PISTOL LAWS

The double tragedy in Hebron the other day, wherein a discouraged and morose foreign born farmer shot to death his wife and himself, leaving six young children to become the wards of the community, might or might not have transpired without material difference if the husband had had no pistol ready to his hand; but the chances are that if there had been no gun there would have been no killing. The tragedy apparently resulted from a flare of temper; it was not plotted; it was senseless and purposeless. Such crimes frequently hinge on slender metal. The gun may have been fully as responsible as the distracted and muddled man.

Now we have quite a lot of law in this state intended to prevent the unauthorized carrying of concealed or concealable weapons and even making their possession in the home somewhat difficult. The citizen who buys a pistol must, under our law, purchase it from a dealer properly licensed and must declare that it is intended for purposes of defense only. The dealer must notify the head of the local police and the commissioner of State Police of the sale. Then, before he can carry the weapon on his person or in his car he must obtain a permit and this can be withheld at the discretion of the local or state police authority. If one is found carrying a pistol without a permit he can, if you please, be sent to prison for a term of years. And it is a felony to sell a pistol to an alien.

Pretty stiff, all this. Yet so far as the sales law goes it doesn't amount to a row of peas. Anybody, citizen or alien, can buy a pistol if he has the price. He can send away to any mail order house outside the state and the gun will be shipped to him and delivered by United States mail at his residence and the police will know nothing about it.

Relieved of any likelihood of his possession of a gun, coming to the knowledge of the police, the purchaser can and frequently does tote the weapon habitually and is not found out until he either shoots somebody or for some entirely separate reason falls into the hands of the cops with the gun in his hip pocket.

Lacking federal law prohibiting interstate dealings in concealable firearms at retail, our state laws are utterly useless in the matter of procurement and not of much effect on gun totting so far as the criminal or near-criminal classes are concerned. The people they do affect are the law-abiding citizens, who could safely be entrusted with the carrying of defensive weapons, and the state's retail dealers who lose thousands of dollars in business to the mail order concerns.

It would probably make for better order and fewer homicides if guns could be kept out of the hands of people like this Hebron farmer. But how that is to be done we haven't, frankly, the remotest idea. Certainly the Connecticut statutes don't do it; they probably haven't kept the wrong kind of person from buying a gun in one single instance since they were adopted. They don't keep bandits and yeggs and stickup men from carrying their gats. They do make it difficult for decent citizens to put themselves in a state of defense against the criminal.

One may seriously ask whether we would not be better off, on the whole, to repeal our present weapon laws and supplant them with one directed at criminals alone—say, adding years to the penalty for any felon when the felon is shown to have been in possession of a weapon at the time of his commission.

SELF SEEKING

Syracuse has been pretty well blocked up with snow—which is a way Syracuse has. The Public Works Department, up to its neck in the job of shoveling the town out from under, received a telephone call. It was from a woman who told the department that her outlying street was so deep in snow that her household could get no coal and the family was in danger of freezing. Extraordinary measures were taken and part of a load of coal carted to the house. There it was discovered that there was plenty of coal in the cellar. "Well," the woman admitted, "I couldn't get our car out until the truck broke the road and I wanted to go to a bridge party."

That woman epitomizes the one great reason for doubt whether democracy will eventually triumph or forever be abandoned—the complete unwillingness of the individual to co-operate and his persistence in seeking personal advantage. When the pessimist declares that you can do nothing with people like that, and that such people are pretty much like the rest of the people save for the possession of a little more effrontery, it is hard to find an answer for him.

OLD ACTRESSES

Another old actress has died in poverty and alone in a wretched apartment in New York. This one had claimed to be the daughter of Junius Brutus Booth, Jr., brother of Edwin Booth the famous tragedian and of John Wilkes Booth, assassin of Lincoln.

Every once in a while this story repeats itself. The manner of the passing is almost as conventional as a stage exit. And infinitely more pathetic than any scene ever set behind the footlights. Usually it transpires that for years some actors' fund has paid the broker old actress' rent and supplied her with food. And one wonders why it is that they cling to the city when life could be so much brighter and better somewhere else.

In some little village the same amount of money that maintained the old lady in grinding poverty would have served to provide her with a decent home with friendly, interested neighbors, with something of living. Yet it so often happens that the last years are passed in utter seclusion and loneliness and when the end comes it is unrelieved by a single tear or the touch of a sympathetic human hand.

No one can die that way in a little town. No one can live out the last days before the dying in such complete desolation, in a little town. Why don't the kindly stage people who assume the financial burdens of these cases get their broken charges out of the slums and into the country?

Washington — Organized pressure and propaganda from billions of dollars in big business bears down upon the sweating small group of mere $10,000-a-year congressmen who are struggling with a tax program to raise $1,240,000,000 in new taxes necessary to balance the national budget.

From every congressional district comes a swarm of protesting telegrams, protests carefully organized and planned by the huge industries likely to be touched by the new imposts which must be made to meet the great, grim deficit in the treasury.

Acting Chairman Charlie Crisp of the House Ways and Means Committee, who has urged all members to "gird themselves with stamina and backbone" to meet the emergency regarding pressure and propaganda, has produced direct evidence to the House that the protests are not spontaneous from their districts but carefully planned and organized. Consumers will pay the taxes, but they are unusually silent.

Warned of "Perils" The American Petroleum Institute, he showed, had circulated the oil-gasoline trade, warning of the peril of a federal tax of one cent per gallon on gasoline and promising that on gasoline and promising that on a certain date "local agents of a telegraph company will call upon you and upon marketers and consumers in every state to receive telegrams addressed to those who represent you in Congress and opposing this federal tax on gasoline."

All marketers were urged to persuade salesmen, agents, dealers, customers, friends and business acquaintances to write Congress and to stir up state officials and various organizations to protest. Such tactics are often used when the interests of large industries are likely to be affected by legislation. They accompany personal lobbying here and use of such high priced, plausible corporation lawyers as opposed the current tax proposals before the Ways and Means Committee.

Agree on Budget, Fight Tax "Of 177 witnesses before us," Crisp says, "all but three or four agreed the budget must be balanced. But not one favored a tax in connection with his own field. They nearly all argued that it would put them out of business."

"In one day I received 135 telegrams protesting a tobacco tax, from all parts of the country. So many were identical in wording that I knew someone had sent out form messages ready to be signed and put on the wire."

"In such cases I answer those from my own state, explaining the problem and the proposition and saying that I will be glad to hear again from them after they read what I have to say."

"Few participating in this inspired propaganda know what it's all about. They merely follow instructions from headquarters of big special interests or trade associations in New York. Even most of the bankers who opposed parts of the Glass-Steagall bill didn't know anything about the bill."

Organize for Tax Battles "The automobile manufacturers have rigged up a mass protest against an automobile tax through their dealers. The big banks in New York have stirred up their correspondent banks everywhere against the stamp tax on bank checks."

HAIR DYES

In spite of the many different colors of the hair found among the races of mankind, it has been determined by science that there are only two kinds of hair pigment, a reddish-yellow and a sepia-brown. All of the variations of color are produced by the varying combinations of these two pigments. The density of the color may be modified by the thickness of the hair, the presence of air cells within the hair shaft, and the amount of oil present upon and within the hair cells.

There is no coal black hair pigment. When analyzed, black hair proves to be only a dense sepia-brown. Red hair consists in an abundance of the reddish-yellow pigment and brown hair of a moderate amount of the sepia-brown color. Light yellow hair has only a small amount of the reddish-yellow pigment to which some air cells may be present, giving a lighter color. Gray and white hair is produced by the presence of air in the hair shaft and the lack of the pigment color.

We often hear of hair becoming gray or white overnight. Many scientific attempts have been made to verify this belief, but to date authentic cases have not been recorded. It is possible for the hair to become white within a short time, however, and one would naturally be surprised at seeing a friend, after not seeing him for several months, appear with white hair.

Frequently receive inquiries as to the effect of dyes upon the system. Those dyes containing lead and, possibly, gallic acid, should be avoided, but most of the other dyes are non-injurious. The vegetable dyes are not always reliable in their tints and may lead to off colors. For this reason they should be tested upon a small strand of hair before the entire head of hair is dyed. In using the mineral and silver dyes, care must be taken to avoid contact with the skin. Usually vaseline or some such substance is first placed upon the scalp, skin of forehead and ears.

Hair which has been dyed or bleached is sometimes injured by the heating afterwards used in producing curls or waves. Water washing seems to be the advisable method in these cases. Where the hair is partly gray it is sometimes desirable to make it entirely white. Hair cannot be dyed a lighter color, but it may be bleached with ammonia or peroxide of hydrogen. When properly performed, this treatment is not injurious and may enhance the appearance.

The question of dying hair is largely a matter of individual preference and can undoubtedly be used to advantage in some cases. However, it should be remembered that the natural color of the hair can often be preserved throughout life if the proper care is taken to conserve the general health and vitality.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Gas Pressure) Question: G. L. Y. writes: "I have an almost constant pain in my right side where the gall bladder is. If I have a large amount of flatulence, this pain seems to disappear. Do you suppose that the gas could press upon the gall duct and relieve the tension there?"

Answer: The gall duct is so small and muscular that the amount of flatulence necessary to distend it would probably result in bursting the bowel, so I do not believe this

LINDY'S HOLD ON THE PEOPLE

By BRUCE CATTON

One of the most amazing things in recent history is the way the tragic events of the last few days have demonstrated anew the tremendous hold that Colonel Lindbergh has on the American people.

It is doubtful if any other American ever occupied a position quite like his. From being a human being, with ordinary frailties and imperfections, he has become—not exactly a demi-god who can do no wrong, but an institution which is established on an absolutely solid and permanent basis.

That flight to Paris is a long way in the past now. Other great flights have been made since then, other heroes have arisen to have their day in the limelight and then faded out of the picture; but the peak on which that amazing flight landed Lindbergh has grown higher with the passing years.

Probably no other conceivable event short of the nation's entrance into a great war could have stirred the American people, as deeply as could cause the phenomenon you tell about. It is possible to have some inflammation or adhesions causing the symptoms, and you should have a thorough X-ray examination to determine exactly the opening from the gall bladder is closed unless the bile is being ejected.

(Fattening Cereals) Question: Mrs. Vida F. asks: "Will you please tell me through this paper whether dry cereals such as Rice Crispies, Bran Flakes, Corn Flakes, etc., if eaten without sugar, are considered fattening foods?"

Answer: That would depend, of course, upon how much of these foods are used. As far as combinations are concerned, these foods should be used the same as any other toasted foods. They make a good substitute for toast at breakfast.

(Ache in Back of Neck) Question: Mrs. Arnold H. U. writes: "For about a year I have suffered with an ache in the back of my neck. It does not ache constantly, but at different times during the day. Can you tell me what is the cause of it?"

Answer: Such an ache in the back of the neck with a woman is nearly always indicative of some pelvic derangement or misplacement of the abdominal organs. The ache in the neck is a definite reflex from these organs which are located at exactly the other end of the spine.

(Phrenology) Question: Letitia D. asks: "Do you consider that the positions given in the phrenological charts are accurate with relation to the functions of the brain, and can one actually determine the character of this method?"

Answer: There is controversy concerning the efficacy of the phrenological chart, but modern science tends to refute this theory. The activity of the functions of the brain is not essentially related to the size externally. After the skull has hardened, the development of the brain seems to result in deeper grooves and more numerous convolutions in the gray matter.

(Fyrrhea) Question: Mr. Woodrow T. asks: "Is there any cure for pyrrhea without having the teeth extracted?"

Answer: It is possible to bring about a complete cure of pyrrhea at certain stages, but you must go

WHAT YOU NEVER HEARD OF GEORGE SPELVIN?

Singing for Peace New York, March 12.—From a ring-side seat at the big town show. . . Leave it to Tin Pan Alley! . . . Already a song on the Japan-China squabble. . . And a "peace song" for a change, with the title, "It's Nobody's Business But Their Own" . . . It contains a plea to the rest of us to stay out and is one of the first songs, I hear, to discourage war.

Cutting Off Our Nose That Congressional bill which would apply the Paris-London exclusion methods to the American theater, as a means of protecting our own performers, has drawn sudden attention to the unusual number of British stars now playing Broadway. . . Practically every matinee idol of the moment is an Englishman. . . Just to mention a few whose names appear in the bright lights: Chas. Laughton, Herbert Marshall and Edna Best, Basil Sydney, Phillip Merivale, Leslie Banks, Leslie Howard, Adrianna Allen (who soon goes to Hollywood, by the way)—and a half dozen others. . . Yet it is not likely that the theater fans and critics will take kindly to sending any of them home.

George Spelvin Marries! A theater bill indicates that George Spelvin has a wife. . . Her name is Georgette Spelvin, and this is an important theatrical wedding. For Spelvin has appeared more often in the theater than any other character. . . George Spelvin, to be exact, is a mythical figure. . . Whenever an actor appears in more than one role, the name is invariably credited to "George Spelvin."

Over a period of time, Spelvin has become to the folk-lore of the stage what Paul Bunyan was to the north woods. . . There have been several George Spelvin Jrs., but never before has a Mrs. Spelvin been encountered. . . In this instance Georgette Spelvin plays the role of a corpse in a murder mystery titled, "Riddle Me This!" . . . Old Man Spelvin has been blamed for 90 per cent of back stage troubles. . . If anything goes wrong, George Spelvin is to blame. . . If a gargantuan feat is to be performed, "George Spelvin could do it in a minute." . . Now, it seems, there's a Mrs. Spelvin ready to step into mythology. . . Russian Boy Makes Good "Richard Boleslavski, whose book, "Way of the Lancer," is the Literary Guild selection for the month, was directing "the Repertoire theater" just a few years back. . . Arriving from Russia, he instructed young thespians in the tricks of the Moscow Arts group. . . And although I cannot recall one of his young hopefuls who did much in the theater, he was commissioned to direct in Hollywood and is now quite a fellow out there. . . New Swank Spot Which reminds me that Hendrik Van Loon, the historian-biographer, maintains the most original suite in the old Holly Hotel, on Washington Square. . . It is decorated with his own quaint drawings. . . And since Charles "Buddy" Rogers left the films for the stage, he has learned a few things about the well-known artistic temperament. . . When he opened with the new Ziegfeld show in Pittsburgh, his argument over "star billing" almost reached the law courts. . . And the Pierrette in New York's latest "swank spot." . . It is located in the old Pierre's cafe. . . One of the ritziest in town. . . To date, the Mayfair had the Saturday night stage and screen trade, but there's been an under-current revolt on the part of some of the theater's upper-crust. . . Lawrence Tibbett with his new millionaire bride, Leslie Howard, Mary Nash and Basil Rathbone are among those on the Pierrette committee list. GILBERT SWAIN.

Poets' Rendezvous

RICH MAN (From The New York Herald Tribune)

When he was far from being brought And laid beneath the sod, All thoughts that he had ever thought Were thought anew by God.

But when an ague stirred his bones And dinner disagreed, Emperors tottered on their thrones And flowers failed to seed.

He slew a Caesar with no more Than a rheumatic thrust And was himself the only bore Who need not bite the dust.

For he was wealthy and a male, And all he had to know Was that his reason could not fail While what was so was so.

But pigs will gather, world without end Around a milky trough And relatives a man attend, If he but leave enough.

FOR C. C. (From Opportunity) Some ears are dulled by passion And some are dulled by pride, Each in his little fashion Would thrust your song aside. . .

Barred out by those who spurn you Because your skin is black, You give from fires that burn you 'Warmth for those that lack.

Judged by white skins and faces And minds that reckon wrong, In the combat of the races Your weapon is a song. . .

O fragile dream-like spear! O faltering advance! Assail the white man's ear With your airy lance. . . Idella Furnell.

A PAINTED SCROLL OF SUMMER (From Poetry) Between the sunburnt fields of grain The feathered pear-trees step in rows, And bluer than its jeweled name The sand-pent sapphire water flows.

Along a ridge the angled pines Repeat their inkly angled lines. Here is a birch-tree like a bird; There a white heron like a tree Stands in the shallows quietly.

But when a sudden voice is heard The heron curves its wings to fly And blossoms on the sunny sky. Bertha Ten Eyck-James.

ORDER IS EASY (From Prairie Schooner) Order is easy, but audacity comes hard. The two youngest signers of the Declaration of Independence were Edward Rutledge and Thomas Lynch both 27, and both were Being natural to angels and the like, Be slow, be warned, retaliate, retard, With a thimbleful of energy, strike. But do not imagine you are as the angels. Those unleashed minds Plunging like comets into the changeful And unpredictable winds; Do not imagine you are removed From belly-traveling serpents: a man Is complete, upstanding, approved Only when more than man— When he sees the manner of his death, and will try it, If honor and his hope be undestroyed.

When he steps forth quiet Upon the foreshore void. Virginia Moore. LIFE HISTORY (From Poetry) She had lived a long time Like a very small and old, Like a dried-up little nut, And afraid of the cold. But that was just her body— Her eyes were hot as fire; One smelted rose burning On a funeral pyre. Louise Morey Bowman.

THE OLD HOUSE REBORN (From The N. Y. Times) Old Silas could not hear each lonely wall Yearning for sound of human friendliness. The sheath of his dried heart had felt no stress Of any longing—having starved them all Before their inchoate voice was strong to call. So suns dared not to offer a caress To rooms ashier in their loneliness, Or waken windows shrouded in a pall. But now the house is sold. Each sun-starved room Revels in Day's intrusion warm and rude. And hinges hoarsely chant their gratitude: Floors welcome footfalls and brisk On touch of broom. While human greetings glad the wall's gray mood And windows hold enrapt a garden's bloom. Lewis Colwell.

COUNTRY MARKET (From The London Observer) There is a traffic here of souls That coiled are in wholesome fruit. And there is chastity in bowls Of curdled cream; and every root Bows to a ritual of earth. As distant as creation's birth. Here is a quiet faith in laws Not understood, but still believed; And sturdy reverence of a cause Dimly but steadfastly perceived. This is the temple of the Lord. Who made a plow-share of His sword. Innes Ross.

Legion Notes
Progress of legislation in Washington on Naval Pay, the bill in which the post was interested, S51 (The Hale Bill) was favorably reported out of the Senate Committee on Naval Affairs on February 24th. This Bill approves construction of our Navy up to Treaty strength but does not appropriate the necessary funds. However, it is the first step towards reasonable Naval preparedness. The corresponding House Bill (HR 6661) introduced by Senator Wilson also receives a most favorable report sent by the Post to Senators Bingham and Walcott and Congressman Lonergan asking their support of these measures. The Rehabilitation chairman, Mrs. Daniels, reported a very generous donation of cigarettes and matches received from the Post. These will be taken to Newtonington hospital on the Auxiliary's regular visiting day. Mrs. Chartier, Fidac Chairman was commissioned to dress a doll for the National Fidac Doll Contest. Dolls dressed by Connecticut Units will be sent to the State Convention in Waterbury next August and the best three will be sent to the National Convention in Portland, Oregon in September and the prize winning doll will be given by the next Fidac Congress which will be held in Portugal this year. The meeting of the Welfare Sewing Circle was postponed from Friday of this week until next Friday, March 18th, when it will meet with Mrs. Sarah Pentland, 30 Foster street.

GLOWING REPORTS ON FINDING JOBS Drive On To Create Work For Million Men-California Puts Many To Work.

New York, March 12. - (AP) - Organizations co-operating in a campaign to lessen unemployment by 1,000,000 jobs reported today that state highway maintenance work in California has utilized the services of 3,250 men. This employment, it was said, was the result of activities of the American Legion in California. Opening of the New England regional office in the Hotel Statler, Boston, Mass., was announced at National headquarters. The office will be in charge of Irvin J. Loucraft, Colonel Ebon Drap is chairman of the Massachusetts state campaign. Elizabeth N. J., all town organizations paraded today to signify participation of civic organizations in the local drive affiliated with the national movement," the statement said. "The parade marshalled all organized forces of the Jersey city. Money Pledges "Reports of money pledges for labor wages came to National headquarters from three towns in different parts of the country. Wheeling, W. Va., pledged $275,559, $20,000 from Brattleboro, Vt., and $3,500 in Norwood, Pa. "The Ford Motor Company's Cleveland branch hired 500 additional workers. The Pacific Portland Cement Company has put 138 men permanently at Redwood City, Cal. permanent positions were also found in Tuscaloosa, Ala., and Dedham, Mass. Mayors Assist "Two more mayors gave active co-operation to the re-employment movement. Mayor Arthur W. Cep, king of Rutland, Vt., pledged $500 to pay the wages of labor in improving residential property, and issued a proclamation asking for the aid of all elements in the town in this drive. Mayor George Turner of Kimball, Va., gave a job to one of the unemployed. "Community gardens have been established in Frederick, Okla., and Henritte, Okla. C. an City, N. J., has started a town wood-pile."

FACTORY IS BURNED
Torrington, March 12.-(AP) - The factory building south of Thomaston formerly occupied by the Thomaston Knife Company, was completely destroyed by fire today. A considerable quantity of machinery owned by a glass product company was destroyed. None of it was saved. The Thomaston Fire Department sent a call for assistance to Terryville after one of its own pumps failed to work. The building was a big three story brick and frame structure about 200 feet from the main road between Thomaston and Waterbury and a heavy wind blew the flames across the road blocking traffic for an hour or more. The fire was started by a spark from the chimney falling on the roof. It was discovered by a passing automobile.

ness meeting. It was voted at this meeting to hold a membership contest among the members. The dates of the contest will be from March 7th to May 1st, the member bringing in the most new members in that time to receive an award of $2.50. Mrs. Curran, membership chairman, will be glad to supply application blanks and any information desired.

The president and the chairman of the Child Welfare Committee will be sent to Hartford as delegates to the two days conference of Area A, to be held at the Hotel Bond. Any of the members wishing to attend any of the sessions will be welcome. Meetings will be held Friday morning and afternoon, there will be a banquet Friday evening and sessions will be resumed Saturday morning.

The Rehabilitation chairman, Mrs. Daniels, reported a very generous donation of cigarettes and matches received from the Post. These will be taken to Newtonington hospital on the Auxiliary's regular visiting day. Mrs. Chartier, Fidac Chairman was commissioned to dress a doll for the National Fidac Doll Contest. Dolls dressed by Connecticut Units will be sent to the State Convention in Waterbury next August and the best three will be sent to the National Convention in Portland, Oregon in September and the prize winning doll will be given by the next Fidac Congress which will be held in Portugal this year.

The regular meeting of the Auxiliary will be held at the State Armory next Friday evening at 8 o'clock. "Don't forget the Barn Dances the post is running at the Lone Oak Saturdays. As there will only be three more of these dances everyone should take them in. Good times are reported-and its for a good cause. At the meeting of the Auxiliary last Friday evening the social committee served home made pie, ice cream and punch. Needless to say it went very well with the ladies. Mrs. Edith Mahoney was very much pleased with the results of the raffle and the two five dollar gold pieces and wishes to thank every member of the Auxiliary who helped to sell tickets, also her committee. Our social committee will have a meeting in the near future to make plans with the post committee for the 23rd. This will be a big night for both the post and auxiliary. Let everyone help who can. Mrs. Margaret Brown will open her home next Wednesday afternoon for a card party. There will be three prizes. Any lady whether a member of the Auxiliary or not may attend. If they do not have transportation, if they will notify Mrs. Brown she will be glad to send for them. Next Wednesday evening the regular card party will be held at the M. F. D. Hose House. The change was made from Monday to Wednesday this week due to the hall being in use by the Manchester Fire Department. Mrs. Richard Gutzmer who acted as chairman of the rummage sale

Thursday reported very good success. Florence Peterson was initiated into the Auxiliary last Friday evening. There is a membership campaign on now in cooperation with National. Several applications are now on file for future initiation. British War Veterans The members of the Mons-Ypres Post will meet at the home of Comrade Fred Baker at 78 North Elm street, next Saturday evening at 7:30 p. m. to celebrate St. Patrick's Day. The members will celebrate with a clam chowder supper and entertainment, and with the latest report from the entertainment committee a big time is in store for every member who attends. By the way, the committee wishes me to state through this bulletin that they will be disappointed if every member of the Post is not on hand for this big time, as everything is in readiness for a very enjoyable evening. A business session will be held prior to the entertainment so we request all members of the Post to be present. Don't forget the date, Saturday, March 19, at 7:30 p. m., sharp. The secretary of the Mons-Ypres post wishes to state through this column that the medal ribbons he has for sale are for the following medals: The 1914-15 star; the general service medal and the Victory medal. Members desiring to purchase medal ribbon, bar ribbon or any other military decorations can do so by getting in touch with the secretary, J. A. Pratt, West street, of this town. The Manchester Herald should be complimented on that very fine little item which appears nightly in their paper and which is intitled: "Today is the World War Anniversary." This little item is eagerly sought by ex-service men as it reminds them of many thrilling experiences they had in the World War. We trust the Herald will keep printing this item just as long as they possibly can and the Mons-Ypres Post takes this opportunity of thanking them.

YOU cannot imagine what Floating Power does to Chrysler performance. Only a ride tells the story—the story of the smoothest and most effortless performance ever achieved in a motor car. The engines of the new Chryslers are mounted in an entirely new way—a patented new way, called Floating Power—and the results are almost too marvelous to believe. Besides Floating Power there are many other great advantages: a new Automatic Clutch, a Silent Gear Selector and an entirely separate Free Wheeling unit. You don't have to touch the clutch pedal and you cannot clash the gear. New patented Oilite Squeak-Proof Springs in the Hights are another great advance. They never squeak, never need lubrication. Great engineering—great results—great cars. There are four new lines of Chryslers—19 body models—$885 to $3595—a model meeting every need and desire. A new Chrysler Six, 4 body models, $885 to $925 (Automatic Clutch and Oilite Squeak-Proof Springs on all Sixes at slight extra cost); a new Chrysler Eight, 4 body models, $1195 to $1695; a new Chrysler Imperial Eight, 4 body models, $1995 to $3595; a new Chrysler Imperial Custom Eight, 6 body models, $2495 to $3595. RESORT BOATS BANNED UNDER NEW SENATE BILL

If Law Is Passed Barges Selling Liquor Cannot Operate Off the Coasts.
Washington, March 12.—(AP) — The Senate today passed a bill to prevent boats from carrying passengers to ships outside the three mile limit engaged in practices forbidden by this country's laws. The measure is aimed at resort ships reported to operate off the coast in different sections of the country. The bill now goes to the House. The Bureau of Navigation, in recommending the bill, said the legislation was necessary to break up the practice. "As early as 1926," the bureau said, "it was reported to anchor barges off the coast near San Francisco, such barges to be used for fishing, recreation and pleasure." "Passengers were carried to and from these anchored barges in small motor vessels. Similar conditions later developed at Los Angeles and off the Florida coast. The reports in the Bureau of Navigation show that gambling and other practices are extensively indulged in on these vessels." The bureau said that as the barge are permanently anchored they do not come within the provisions of the navigation laws and it is claimed that the small vessels carrying the passengers back and forth do so without compensation and so also escape regulation. The bill passed by the Senate would make it impossible for a vessel to carry passengers from the shore of this country to a vessel on the high seas without a permit, and authorizes the secretary of commerce to refuse such a permit if he finds that the boats are operated to carry passengers to or from a stationary anchored vessel "engaged in any business or occupation prohibited by law at the place of landing by such small vessels."

ISSUE BENCH WARRANT

New York, March 12.—(AP) — A bench warrant was issued today by the justices of Special Sessions Court for Mrs. Lottie Kriesberger Coll, widow of Vincent Call, slain gunman, when she failed to appear for sentence on a charge of violating the anti-firearms law. Justices Charles P. Caldwell, William A. Walling and John V. Flood ignored a doctor's certificate reporting she was too ill to appear, forfeited her bail of $1,000 and ordered her arrest. The certificate was presented by Mrs. Florence Reddon, sister-in-law of Mr. Coll.

PARIS IS BOMBED

On March 12, 1918, German planes bombed Paris, killing 34 persons and injuring 79 others. Sixty-six more were suffocated in a subway stampede. Four German planes were brought down during the raid by French anti-aircraft guns. German troops entered the outskirts of Odesa, principal Russian port on the Black sea and third city in size in Russia proper, before the outbreak of the World War. The Russian Black sea fleet was reported preparing to leave Odesa. Numerous German raids characterized the activities on the western front. Many of the attacks were made in force and were preceded by heavy artillery bombardments.

Woman's Work...
Woman's work is never done—certainly not if she lives on a farm! From early till late she cooks, cleans, and mends. In her "spare time" she is expected to take care of the chickens and the garden. Rarely has she even a few precious moments of leisure. And if she sweeps and washes by main strength she is wearing herself out for three cents an hour. For that slight cost, electricity will run a vacuum cleaner, a washing machine, or a refrigerator or fan. For a little more it will operate electric cooking and heating devices. Save her time and strength with electric servants. If you are located on or near an electric power line, ask your power company for complete information concerning the possible uses of electricity on your farm.

WETS HOLD 3 TO 1 LEAD AS 38 STATES RETURN VOTES IN DIGEST POLL

Kansas Only State Voting Dry As Over Two Million Ballots Are Tabulated; South Voting Wet In Fourth Weekly Tally.

The wets continue to poll more than three to one over the dries with initial returns from 14 more States swelling the total vote to over two million in The Literary Digest's national Prohibition Poll this week, according to figures tabulated in today's issue of the magazine.

2,063,111 ballots are reported received from 38 States and the District of Columbia, of which 488,335 or 23.66 per cent. favor continuance of the Eighteenth Amendment and 1,574,776, or 76.34 per cent., vote for repeal.

The dry vote records a third consecutive gain over the wet vote this week, from 22.61 per cent. to 23.66 per cent. of the total. In the first returns of this straw referendum the dries polled 15.85 per cent.

Every Southern State so far reported shows a wet majority.

Kansas is the only State voting dry in this current report with a percentage of 52.58 for Prohibition.

Fourteen States reporting first returns this week include Alabama, California, Colorado, Delaware, Florida, Kentucky, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Oregon, Texas, Washington, and Wisconsin, besides the District of Columbia.

Of this new contingent, Oklahoma is the driest State tabulated with a 45.40 per cent. sentiment for Prohibition and Wisconsin registers the wettest returns with 82.94 per cent. of its total vote for repeal.

Arkansas rises to second place in the dry column with a percentage of 48.67 in favor of the Eighteenth Amendment and Tennessee drops to third place with a dry vote of 47.31 per cent.

New York and New Jersey continue to lead as first and second in the wet column but show a slight gain in dry sentiment.

California has the largest wet vote of the Pacific Coast States with 77.52 per cent. for repeal, while Oregon votes 71.25 per cent. and Washington 65.95 per cent. against Prohibition.

A "check-up" city poll by the Wichita Beacon, a reputedly dry newspaper, practically parallels The Literary Digest returns in this Kansas city, it is announced.

Using the same questions, The Wichita Beacon's returns were announced as 42.79 per cent. for Prohibition and 57.21 per cent. for repeal while the incomplete Literary Digest returns for the same city are given as 42.10 per cent. for continuance and 57.90 for repeal.

The Literary Digest notes that ballots are yet to be reported from ten more States and that millions more of votes are anticipated.

"Never has a Literary Digest poll been more bitterly and ingeniously assailed than this one," the magazine states editorially. "Never has a Digest poll been more strikingly vindicated.

"We are indebted to the Wichita Beacon itself for a telegraphed account of its test of The Literary Digest's accuracy. While loyally dry, The Beacon has the frankness that goes with good journalism. It writes: "Wichita Beacon Prohibition Poll conducted simultaneously but not in connection with that of Literary Digest, gives complete, 8,680 for repeal of Eighteenth Amendment and 7,289 for continued enforcement.

"At this writing, The Digest has tabulated 2,848 Wichita ballots, for continuance of the Eighteenth Amendment 1,199. For repeal, 1,649."

The fourth report of the 1930 Literary Digest Prohibition Poll asking three questions instead of two, showed a total tabulation of 2,000,340 votes, of which 553,337 were for enforcement, 598,252 for modification, and 848,751 for repeal.

ROCKVILLE

Fitch Company Champs
Bowling teams of the Fitch Company of the Rockville Fire Department and the Stafford Fire Department fought for the championship of the Firemen's Bowling League at the Prospect street alleys on Thursday night, the home team coming out winners. The first round was won by the Stafford boys and the second by Fitch, Thursday night's game deciding the championship.

This ends the Bowling League's schedule. A banquet on April third will wind up the season. The banquet will be held at the Prospect street house, with the Rockville Fire Department and teams from Stafford, Ellington and Tolland attending.

Glensong Grows Here
Glensong, celebrated medicinal plant of the Orient, is grown in this city. William Kellner of 113 Prospect street has a garden of it on Mountain street, covering nearly an acre.

Mr. Kellner finds market for all he can raise through the Chinese Laundry on Market street. He formerly dealt with Hartford, Conn.

American Glensong is marketed in China largely through Hongkong and Shanghai commission houses. It is said that a root resembling the form of a human being can be sold for as high a price as $300. Glensong is used as a medicine to cure all kinds of ill by the Chinese. Mr. Kellner markets his crop here for about $9 a pound, although prices vary.

DOUGAN DYE WORKS ANNOUNCES PRICE CUTS

Only Establishment Actually Doing Dyeing and Cleaning Right in Manchester.

Drastic price reductions in every line of cleaning and dyeing done by the Dougan Dye Works, Inc., are announced today by William Dougan, proprietor of the establishment, the only one of its kind with a plant located in Manchester. An itemized list of the reductions will be found in an advertisement in another part of today's issue of The Herald.

The new prices are effective today on men's and women's garments, household goods and miscellaneous articles. The reduction means no change in the high quality of work which has made this plant an outstanding one in its field, but were made to meet present economic conditions. Work is called for and delivered and twenty-four hour service is offered from the plant on Harrison street.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

ELLEN ROSSITER, beautiful 20-year-old, falls in love with LARRY HARROWGATE, young artist, whom she meets at Dreamland where she works as a dance hall hostess. Larry is engaged to ELIZABETH BOWEN, a debutante, but shows attentions to Ellen until his fiancée returns from Europe.

From a sense of gratitude Ellen agrees to marry STEVEN BARCLAY, a kind and wealthy man of 37 who has paid hospital expenses for her brother, MIKE, injured in a street accident. He also finds a job for BERT ARMSTEAD, engaged to Ellen's sister, MYRA.

Barclay has been married and divorced. Scandal accompanied his divorce from LENA GRAYSON, dancer, and fearing talk of the divorce may be revived he and Ellen agree to keep their marriage secret. Bert and Myra are to be married the same day as Barclay and Ellen.

Two days before the wedding Ellen goes to the office of SMYERS & PRENDERGAST, Barclay's attorneys, where her fiancé is to sign papers settling a fortune on her. However, they leave before the papers are signed. Ellen is unhappy because she cannot forget Larry.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXIV

At dawn Ellen awakened when her mother entered the room. Molly tiptoed to her daughter's bed, tucked in the covers and smoothed Ellen's fair hair away from her forehead.

"It's going to be a lovely day," Molly whispered.

She was trying hard to be casual but Ellen saw that Molly was frightened. Seeing that, Ellen became determined not to share her own fears.

"Myra is asleep," the mother whispered again. "I wanted to talk to you, darling—to tell you—"

"There's nothing to tell," said Ellen nervously, almost sharply. She drew the light spread closer.

"But honey," Molly went on wistfully as if she were sorry for something. "Do you really want to marry Steven? Do you understand—"

She had never seemed more helpless.

"Yes, I want to," Ellen insisted.

The girl's voice had risen slightly so that Myra stirred and woke. Bright sunshine came pouring through the window.

"Happy the bride the sun shines on," Myra cried out and sprang from bed.

The day was bright blue and perfect, a day cut from a picture postcard. Once Ellen was out of bed and had breakfast the terrors of the night and those strange fears of the dawn were gone. She was not afraid now. She seemed to feel nothing but the strangeness of the fact that this was her wedding day and that she should be excited and nervous but she was not.

She and Myra dressed while Molly, happy and reassured, flew about getting to their way and in her own. Mrs. Clancy came flying up from downstairs with a telephone message for Myra, who grabbed a negligee and streaked down after her. When Myra had returned and had begun to do her hair all over again Mrs. Clancy was back with a message from Steven. He would be there at 10 o'clock.

Through it all Ellen dressed calmly. A wispy, "I'll be there" she sewn with rosebuds, tiny white slippers. She had never noticed before how small her feet were. She eyed her legs critically, standing on tiptoe away from the mirror which tilted at the wrong angle. They were nice legs, a little too long perhaps but then—She spraved verbenas on her shoulders and sniffed the spicy smell. Her slip next, airy as a shadow. Long chiffon stockings and her garters—blue because Molly had insisted all brides wore "something blue."

The "something borrowed" was a fine, lace handkerchief which Molly had carried when she was a bride. In Myra's case it was a string of pearls that were Molly's, also. For the "something old" both girls wore little jeweled pins made from cuff links which had once adorned a blue-eyed, tawny-haired Charles Rossiter, page at the court of Queen Elizabeth. The "something new" was the dress, shimmering with opaque lights and recalling in its demure fullness and length a debutante of the 50's.

"Something old—something new—something borrowed—something blue."

Ellen stood away from the mirror and looked at the shimmering-eyed girl in the lovely dress. That beautiful, tawny-haired girl was Ellen Rossiter. This was her wedding day. Ellen wondered uncertainly if she should cry or laugh and knew that she did not want to do either. She thought she was composed and steady. She thought that now she was ready to meet anything but she did not seem to be herself. Nothing seemed real to her.

Deliberately she made a test that, in this strange mood, she did not fear. Deliberately she thought of Larry. But Larry was in his disordered bedroom with Myra and Molly running back and forth and chattering endlessly, only a half-remembered pain. He seemed to be a bright and shining creation of her imagination. She had dreamed him. Larry was not real.

Molly and Myra, wondering as they had wondered so often if it would not be better after all to wear street clothes in the car and chance finding a place to change in the small Connecticut town where the double wedding was to take place, did not seem real either.

"It's nearly 10 now," Ellen said. "There's no time to change our minds or clothes either."

"Well, I guess," hesitated Myra. "Ellen, aren't you so excited you could scream? So excited you can't sit down and you can't stand up and you can't keep still either?"

"No," Ellen said. After thought she added, "No."

"Liar," Myra commended affectionately. "You can't fool me. Your cheeks are simply blushing!"

"There's the bell now," Molly cried.

Ellen picked up her skirts and ran to the door. It was Steven.

"Oh, my dear," he said, regarding her. "You're too lovely to believe! I've never seen you look so lovely. No one has even been so beautiful before."

Ellen had never seen Steven look so well, either. He was handsome and distinguished, agreeable and charming. But he was a stranger to her. She did not know him. She sat down beside him and began to talk, clinging to any commonplace trifle that came to mind. All the time she was thinking how odd it was that she did not know the man who was to marry her.

Bert came in after a while. Myra danced in from the bedroom and then Molly. The chauffeur came for Ellen's bags and carried them away. Someone told her she must put on her hat. It was time to leave. Ellen walked slowly into the bedroom. She put on her hat and turned to go.

All at once she knew that she would never see this bedroom again. She and Steven were not returning to the apartment. It would be dismantled before she returned from Europe. This part of her life was over, ended.

She began to cry, slow tears at first that coursed her cheeks and dropped to her hands. Then the tears came faster and faster. She could not endure it. Honor and loyalty, decency and pride. What were they? Steven had not the right to take her dreams from her.

She flung herself across the bed in a very passion of tears. She remembered only that they must not hear her in the living room and forced her shaking body deeper and deeper into the pillows. Her heels ripped the sheets but she did not know that. She wanted to beat her head against the floor, to scream until she could not think, to do anything that would obliterate the desperation of her spirit.

When the first outbreak of violence had worn out she still lay sobbing quietly, conscious that she must rally the strength to go on. She heard the bedroom door open.

"Ellen—" it was Myra's shocked voice—"what have you been doing? We've waited and waited."

And then, "Oh my darling!" Ellen's tears were spent. She sat up.

"I can't go on with this. I can't be married," she said in a trembling voice.

Myra felt that she must be wise for both of them. "Are you frightened, too?" she asked. "I'm shaking all over. I was so terrified last night I couldn't sleep. I didn't want to be married. I almost jumped out the window."

"Myra! Did you? I thought—"

"All brides feel this way, foolish. Nervous and upset and frightened. You do like Steven, don't you? Like him a lot?"

"Why—yes," Ellen answered slowly, beginning to feel the vise that held her heart loosen ever so slightly.

"Then do something to your eyes. They look terrible! I'll wait for you."

Ellen did her best to repair the ravages of her grief and terror while her sister watched.

They were in the living room again and then on their way down the stairs. They stepped out into the glorious day. The mousings swept them out of the shabby neighborhood, out of New York and on to the smooth road that led to Haley, Connecticut. They had chosen this small town in the hills because Steven knew a clerk who would withhold reporting the ceremony until he and his bride were far away on the ocean.

No one spoke of Ellen's long absence in the bedroom. There had been no time. But as they swept down the tree-lined, shady streets of the village Ellen sensed that Steven meant to mention it. When they alighted from the car he drew her away from the others.

"I believe you were crying before we started," he said gently. "If you want to stop right here there's no reason for going on. Perhaps you would rather have more time to decide. Shall we wait until I return from Europe?"

— THIS CURIOUS WORLD —

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

Few women realize how much their necks need exercise. There is no part of the anatomy that gets used so little, really. It is even considered impolite to "rubber" this way and that. Yet if women rubbed more, there would be fewer sagging, unused looking necks.

One of the best neck exercises that will strengthen the muscles and start circulation where you need it, is the head rotation. This is the way to do it:

Drop your head back until it rests on your spine, if you can do that. Few can. But drop it back, nevertheless. Try to relax so that it merely flops back, when you decide to let it go.

Bounce your head up and down a few times while you are in this position, looking at the ceiling.

Now, try to swing your head in a quarter circle and let it lie upon your right shoulder. Chances are that it won't get near enough your shoulder to lie there! But make a stab at it anyway.

From the right shoulder, describe another quarter circle, bringing your chin right down onto your chest. From there, complete the circle by trying to rest your head first on your left shoulder and then back.

Do this rotary motion in one direction a few times, then change and make the other way the other way. This, in time, should help relax your tense, unused neck muscles and start circulation again.

A second neck exercise that is excellent, is to lie face downward on the floor. Keep your arms down at the sides. Then try to raise your head and shoulders up to the floor, and at the same time your feet and legs. If you could ever get so that you could throw your head up and backwards far enough to meet your feet as they come upwards, your neck certainly would be relaxed. Even if you don't, a few times at this exercise both morning and night will do a lot for your neck.

The Friendly Crusaders for Christ and the Church will present a program entitled "My Task" at the Congregational church, Sunday morning at 11. The Friendly Crusaders are a group of young and enthusiastic laymen who come from Rowley, Mass. Since their organization in 1927 they have been speaking and singing in many city and country churches throughout New England. During all this time their primary interest has been "Friendship" which they have sought to further its various aspects in human relationships.

Prominent upon the program will be Paul Thurston Dodge, who is a tenor soloist. He is the regular soloist of the Episcopal church in Peabody, Mass., and is a frequent singer in other churches and broadcasts over the radio.

Payson Todd who is a speaker upon the program is an investment banker in Boston and the head of his own firm. He is a constant speaker before men's business groups and rotary clubs, upon financial subjects.

E. Arnold Hamilton, the chaplain of the Crusaders, is a business associate of Mr. Todd.

Lawrence C. Chase, who is a speaker, has served as captain of the Crusaders from the beginning. He is an architectural student.

They are presenting the same program Sunday evening in the Congregational church of Haddam before a Young People's Rally of the Six Church Union of the Connecticut Valley.

Perfect attendance for February for the West street school is as follows: Edward Church, Donald Robinson, Lucius Robinson, Samuel Topple, Catherine Klemark, Helen Klemark, Sophie Klemark, Celia Kresswitz.

Perfect attendance for Chestnut Hill school for February is Frances Resnick, Myron Berkowitz, Celia Berkowitz, Helen Zmutaki.

Friends in town have received word of the birth of a son on Feb. 22, to Rev. and Mrs. John Howell of Franklin, N. H. Glenn Williams Howell. Rev. Mr. Howell was a former pastor of the Columbia church.

The Ladies Aid Society held an all day work meeting at the hall Wednesday, twenty ladies being present. A lunch was served at noon.

Thirty-six young friends of Frederick Hunt gave him a surprise party Wednesday evening at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Jennie Hunt, with whom he has made his home for the past 12 years. He is to leave for Indiana in a few days to attend Tri-State College, and the party was in the nature of a farewell and send off. A handsome traveling case was presented to him by his friends. Sandwiches, cake and fruit punch were served.

The Young Married Women's club met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ruby Wolf.

A poultry meeting under the auspices of the Tolland County Farm Bureau was held in the hall Thursday evening.

Hints on How to Keep Well by World Famed Authority.

THAT TIRED FEELING Capacity of Body Limits Length of "Sprints" in Long Runs

Editor's Note: This is the third of a series of five articles by Dr. Fishbein on "That Tired Feeling: How You Get That Way and What to Do About It." Others will follow daily.

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

A man running a mile race cannot continue at top speed for the entire distance. Neither can a man doing manual labor work at the absolute maximum of his energies for a long period.

The reasons for this are obvious: The body wears down much more rapidly at maximum effort than it can be repaired. Thus, we "run in debt" until the unusual exertion is over.

In the case of the longer runs in a track meet, runners recognize this and develop their timing to the point that they know just how long to sprint, how long to run easily and how long to sprint again at the finish.

When the runner misjudges these distances, we usually have the spectacle of a man ending his sprint before he crosses the finish line and coming in at little more than a walk.

All races for more than 440 yards are done with a quick start, a slower "middle run" and a sprint at the end.

Physiologists have measured the maximum capacity of the body by testing the runner. A trained runner does not exhaust himself completely in any race up to 200 yards.

He begins to be exhausted at 300 yards and the 440-yard run, or a quarter-mile run, is enough to completely exhaust even a first-class sprinter. Obviously, the amount of work and the speed of the performance depend on the training and on the ability of the tissues to utilize oxygen and to get rid of waste products.

Furthermore, the fatigue in some part of the body may be reflected in other portions.

Continued use of the legs to the point of exhaustion in any type of work or play will interfere with accurate and speedy work by the arms and hands. If muscles are used to the point of fatigue, stiffness and soreness will develop and then follows swelling of the muscles and even breaking of the individual fibers with the appearance of what athletes call "charley horse."

The person who is trained in physical efforts knows how to use his tissues to the best advantage. He does this by keeping his

by Olive Roberts Barton BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

Shopping Trips Aren't For Junior Don't take small children on a shopping trip unless you have to. And don't take them to movies—unless you have to! Don't take them on street cars or into crowds or any place that tires them out and excites them, or in which they run any risk of sickness.

They are not fit for it, they cannot stand it, their nerves go, they get fretful and peevish, and to add to their misery, poor little souls, they get slapped, or jerked by the arm and told they are bad children.

We shall take a child on a shopping trip today. Pretend his name is Sammy and that he is four years old.

Busy Hours Ahead! Sammy's mother has promised to meet Cousin May and make a day of it. She has a list as long as a cucumber, of things she wants to price at least, including a dress, a hat and a pair of shoes. Of course Cousin May has a list too. Perhaps they can get through in time to go to a movie in the afternoon.

Sammy is dressed in his best bib and tucker and is all excited about the good time he's going to have. "Going to town and see all the pretty things," says his mother.

The ride on the street car promises to be thrilling. He gets up on his knees and looks out of the window at first. But the car fills up and a fat lady demands that he be removed so she can sit down. His mother takes him on her knee. A man in dirty clothes jams up against him and the fat lady pushes. Sammy is tired from the monotony and ugliness of the whole affair and by the time they reach the getting-off place he is cross too.

The streets are full of crowds and noise. All the people tower over him like giants, pushing, rushing, crowding, stepping on his small toes as though he were not there.

Cousin May is late. They wait inside a revolving door that frightens him dreadfully going through. There is a lot of talk about things he doesn't understand—"sizes" and "departments" and "patterns" and the mysterious word "reduced." Mother and Cousin May, it seems, have forgotten all about him. They are as happy as

HIGH SCHOOL OUTCLASSES TRADE QUINTET, 27 TO 11

Rolls Up 15 To 4 Lead In First Half Holding Trade To Single Field Goal; Mechanics Improve In Final Two Periods; O'Leary Proves Star.

Manchester High school experienced no serious difficulty in defeating the Trade school 27 to 11 in the preliminary basketball game at the state armory last night. The contest marked the renewal of relations between the two schools after a lapse of several years.

The Mechanics were badly outclassed in the first half but in the final two periods they gave the high school real opposition. The Clarkmen led 15 to 4 at half-time and out-pointed their rivals 12 to 7 the second half. The winners proved to be smarter and more experienced than O'Leary helps out.

The high school scored six field goals to one for the Trade school in the first half. Red Kovacs made the lone basket for the Mechanics. It was a one-hand shot in the first quarter. O'Leary made three of the five in his characteristic leaping fashion. Kerr made two and Lerch the other.

The Trade school team seemed nervous and was inclined to give too much attention to its defense. At times only one forward would go down the floor when the Trade gained possession of the ball. They often passed backward because they could not penetrate the defense of their rivals from the other side of Main street.

Trade Improves
The Trade started fast as the second half began and looked like an entirely new team. Eddie Jolly raced in fast to score a neat field goal but Kerr matched him a little later with a shot from the side-court. Jolly kept the Trade in the running with a shot from midfloor but O'Leary countered with one of his leaping tries and Kerr sank two for a total of seven. Scibek committed his third personal. Brown replaced Squatrito and Rossi went for 23 points. The third period ended 27-11, a sixteen point difference.

PLAYOFF CONTEST MAY BE NECESSARY

New York, March 12—(AP)—The Eastern Intercollegiate basketball league winds up its regular campaign tonight with all signs pointing to a post-season playoff game between the Princeton Tigers and Columbia Lions.

Now tied for the lead with seven victories and the Princeton and Columbia and Princeton both are favored to win their closing contests, the Lions against Cornell at New York and Princeton against Penn at Philadelphia.

BASKETBALL

Y. M. C. A. GAME

Five basketball teams, competing under the banner of the County Y. M. C. A., will play in various championship games this afternoon and evening in Manchester and Bristol. At 5 o'clock, New Britain South Church, representing the County Y. M. C. A., which last Saturday won a decisive victory over Litchfield County Y. M. C. A.'s team in the first round of the State Inter-County Y. Basketball Tournament. ### EXHIBITION BASEBALL

Los Angeles, March 12—(AP)—Bill Terry, New York Giant's first baseman seems to have put an effective end to Manager McGraw's complaints about his lateness in reporting for spring training. McGraw claimed Terry was far overweight and needed more time than most players to get into condition but in his first play he went back of first base and robbed English of a hit with a neat backward stop of a grounder.

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 12—(AP)—Things are looking brighter for the St. Louis Browns now that "Goose" Goslin and Fred Schatz, star outfielders are in spring training camp.

Following in the footsteps of Goslin who signed Thursday, Schatz signed his contract and was in uniform yesterday.

Bradenton, Fla., March 12—(AP)—Apparently unperturbed by the absence of Charles Gelbert who is a St. Louis Cardinal holdout along with Chick Hefey, Manager Gabby Street is paying a great deal of attention to the work of grooming Eddie Delker to take Gelbert's place at shortstop.

Paso Robles, Cal., March 12—(AP)—George Gibson, the new Pittsburgh pitcher, is convinced his team will be a powerful contender in the National League pennant race. He expressed himself as highly satisfied with the manner in which his players have cavorted in the training period completed today.

Fort Myers, Fla., March 12—(AP)—Roy Mahaffey is looking forward to a bigger and better season of twirling for the Philadelphia Athletics this year.

Roy had a sore pitching arm the first month of last season and in spite of this he hurled 15 winning games.

"My arm feels better now than at any time last year," he said, giving the boys reason to look for a string of at least 20 victories for the right-hander.

CARR AND VARRY TO MEET TUESDAY

Rockville and New Britain Amateur Boxers Re-matched By CDK Club.

The C. D. K. club of Rockville which has made it possible for Rockville to enjoy the distinction in sports circles of holding the state attendance card for amateur bouts having filled Town Hall in that city ten days ago with a near capacity crowd of over 800 boxing enthusiasts, has planned another all-star card for next Tuesday evening when Eddie Shapera is bringing his crack Rockville will be treated to an even better card than before. The first one was termed by State Boxing Commissioner Thomas A. Donahue as the finest amateur show he had ever attended.

The C. D. K. club have been fortunate in signing up the best boxing talent available in Connecticut and Massachusetts which has reflected in the capacity crowds that are delighted with the shows offered. Tuesday evening Manager Eddie Shapera is bringing his crack Worcester team of boxers to Rockville including Johnny Mack, Steve O'Rourke, Tommy Lynn, Jimmy Angelo, and George Parker while Manager LaForest will offer Kid Brouillard and Ray Landry from Danabson. For the final star bout, Steve Carr of this city and Jerry Varry of New Britain will meet again and those who witnessed the meeting between these two ten days ago when Carr won a close decision, will not want to miss the fireworks that will go off at this match.

Other boxers to be featured include Jimmy Martin, Young Leonard, Peter Burke, Mike Murphy and a dozen others equally clever.

MIDDLETOWN WOMAN LEADS GOLF TOURNEY

Pinehurst, N. C., March 12—(AP)—With Mrs. Richard D. Clemson, of Middletown, Conn., in the lead with 85 for the first 18 holes, the final 18 hole round of the Silver Fells tournament here began today.

Mrs. Clemson was only two strokes ahead of Miss Helen Waring of New York and Mrs. John D. Chapman of Greenwich, Conn., and Mrs. Ronald Barlow, Bryn Mawr, Pa., who was in fourth place with 92.

VOIGHT IN FINALS

Hamilton, Bermuda, March 12—(AP)—George Voight, New York and Nicol Thompson, Jr., of Toronto were matched in the 36 hole finals of the Bermuda Amateur golf championship today.

Voight, the favorite eliminated Dave Alvord, Greenwich, Conn., in the semi-finals yesterday 4 and 5 and Thompson upset Leonard Martin, New York, 4 and 2.

Bristol-Hillhouse In Finals at Yale

New Haven, March 12—(AP)—Quintets from Bristol and New Haven Hillhouse High schools faced each other today to fight for the state intercollegiate basketball championship.

Hillhouse reached the finals in the Yale tournament by virtue of two hard fought preliminary victories. Last night the New Haven quintet eliminated Naugatuck, champions the last two years 28 to 22 in a close battle in which the Valley team led most of the way.

Bristol, on the other hand, has been forced to extend its strength comparatively little to defeat two of the weaker teams entered. A 41 to 28 victory over Lyman Hall high school of Wallingford last night proved but a workout for the winners.

Tournament observers considered neither a favorite. On the strength of tournament play it was estimated the two teams were of approximately equal strength.

At Storrs, Tourtelotte and New Canaan High schools were lined up to settle the fourth and then championship. Tourtelotte best Simsbury 40-37 in one of last night's semi-finals while New Canaan won a place in the finals by defeating New Milford 26-19.

Hillhouse came from behind in the third period, battled on almost even until the fourth and then took a substantial lead. Eddie Bobinski, center for the New Haven team with 16 points to his credit was high scorer for the game.

The big Bristol team far outclassed Lyman Hall aggregation although it found safer competition than had been expected. The Wallingford team played a far superior game to that displayed Thursday night when they eliminated Meriden in a ragged contest.

BAT BATTERS RAN IN GARDEN FIGHT

Former Featherweight Is Impressive In Surprise Victory Over Hard Hitting Pole; Loser Near Kayo At End.

New York, March 12—(AP)—Christopher (Bat) Battalino, of Hartford, Conn., may turn out to be another Billy Petrolle—light enough to worry the lightweight and heavy enough to be dangerous to the welterweights. Battalino went after bigger game in Madison Square Garden last night and proceeded to give Eddie Ran, the Polish welterweight an artistic trouncing in 10 rounds.

Outweighed eight pounds, the former featherweight champion took four rounds to find out what made Ran tick and then waded into him and won the unanimous decision of the judges and the referee.

At 135 pounds Battalino looked to be in great shape. It should be no Herculean task to him to shove off three pounds and mix with the lightweight, nor difficult to build up to 140 when he has a welterweight to face.

The cagey Hartford battler never gave an opening for the Pole's vaunted right hand—the punch that has stretched Billy Townsend and other writers on the canvas. Battalino kept his chin well protected and he came in alone and then beat Ran's face and body with savage lefts and rights.

Through the last two rounds Battalino had Ran hanging on desperately to save himself from a knockout. Ran took the match with Bat on three days' notice when Billy Petrolle was forced to withdraw because of a stiff neck.

A Cochrane Or Wilson Would Make Boston a Pennant Contender.

New Haven, March 12—(AP)—There will be no excessive noise making at the state high school basketball tournament if Yale athletic association representatives can prevent it.

At games last night assistants went through the audience taking bags of confetti, bells and horns from spectators. They did not want to "let things get out of hand," they said.

REDS NEAR TITLE

Boston, March 12—(AP)—The Providence Reds, with seven more games to play, today needed only three more points, a victory and a tie, to clinch first place in the Canadian-American Hockey League campaign.

The furious battle for runner-up honors, however, continued at fever heat. The Bronx Tigers and New Haven Eagles, each with four games unplayed, were only a game apart in the Boston Cubs, with five more games to play, were in fourth place, game behind the Eagles.

Philadelphia and Springfield, hopelessly out of the race for play-off berths, trailed in fifth and last place.

"Glazy" Hart, Providence forward, jumped into the scoring lead last night when he called two goals and registered an assist against the Springfield Indians on his home rink. That performance boosted his total to 33 points, two more than that of Lloyd Klein, Boston winger, who has topped the circuit most of the season.

Fettinger of the Bronx, stood third with 30 points and "Hago" Harrington, also of Providence, and Amundson of the Bronx, were tied for fourth with 28 points.

Joe Jerwa and Jack Pratt, rough Boston defencemen, topped the penalty carriers for another week. Jerwa has 34 minors, four majors and a match penalty called against him and his partner has a total of 52 minors and a major. Bill Regan of the Bronx, and "Duke" Dutkowski of New Haven, finished the week in a third-place tie, each with 43 minors and two majors.

Dial Twisters

By W. J. DALTON

These are times that try the mettle of radio manufacturers. Between 1924 and 1928 practically any piece of merchandise that would come some radio entertainment could be marketed. Those were the fortune-making years for the radio magnates. The inducements for investing capital were great when radios retailed for $200 and more. Large plants were erected, much money was spent in telling the public about it and huge outputs were readily sold. The returns for the capital invested were a source of satisfaction for the makers.

GIVES UP LIFE TO SAVE BROTHERS

Scranton, Pa., March 12.—(AP)—A little old lady, half blind and 80 years of age, gave up her life last night in an effort to rescue her four brothers, all over 70 years old, from a fire which destroyed their home near Springville.

WEALTHY YOUNG MEN ARE SAVED AT SEA

Norfolk, Va., March 12.—Richard Dupont, son of A. Felix Dupont of Wilmington, Del., and his five young men guests on the six-ton auxiliary sloop Nahma, for which craft airplanes searched yesterday over the Atlantic off the North Carolina coast, are safe but the fate of the yacht is not definitely known.

SENSE AND NONSENSE

Dusky Highwayman—Get yo' hands up!
Uncle Rastus—Kain't do it. Ah's got rheumatism in mah arms.
Dusky Highwayman—Nebber mind dat. Ah's got automatics in mine.
Uncle Rastus—Brudder, yo' wins!

Old Uncle Lorenzo from out near Yanceyville says: "Even in de times when wives were slaves, don't get er notion dat dere wasn't many a henpecked husband."

RASTUS—Sambo, ef de good Lawd had to take awa either the sunshine or the moonlight, which would yo' prefer?

SAMBO—Why de sunlight, of co'se, Nigger. De sun shines in de day time when its light enway; but de ol' moon she light up things when its dark.

Recently an old Negro who claimed to be "having symptoms," sought some medicine to make him feel better. The physician plied him with questions. Among other rather personal queries, he asked:

Physician—And how are your kidneys, Uncle Reuben?
Uncle Reuben—Well, Doc, dey is all grown up now an' som' ob 'em is married.

Mose (to ticket agent)—Ah wants a ticket fo' Virginia.
Ticket Agent—What part of Virginia?

Mose—Lawdy me, Boss. All ob her. Dat's her watchin' mah suitcase.

Old Uncle Rastus says: "Sum young people am mo' interested in de belle in de choir dan de bell in de church steeple."

REVISED DEFINITION: A college freshman is: young fellow who walks through doors marked "No Admittance."

FIRST NEGRO STREET CLEANER—So Rastus am dead. He sho' wuz a good street cleaner.
SECOND NEGRO STREET CLEANER—Dat's right, Sambo. Rastus wuz good, but don't yo' think he wuz a little weak 'round de lampposts.

Whatever else may happen, now that the country is dry, the sailor will have his port, the farmer have his rye, the cotton grower still has his gin, the seacoast has its bar and each of us will have a beer, no matter who we are.

The Better Vision
 "If we notice little pleasures
 As we notice little pains,
 If we quite forget our losses
 And remember all our gains,
 If we look for others' virtues,
 And their faults refuse to see—
 What a comfortable, happy,
 Cheerful place this world would be."

HOME BREW: Economy is the best thing to supply old age with an easy chair. . . . Next Election Day, they're going to have to show their stuff before we do ours. . . . Let us hope, that radio programs also reached their worst in 1931. . . . These days, when a man says he's been flying high, he may mean it literally. . . . Men who carry night keys, don't have to give a rap. . . . When a man finds he can't square himself with a kiss, he begins to believe that she's going to be "unreasonable." . . . Lots of men ask their stenographers to select a gift for their wives, says the wise man asks wifey to pick out the gift for his stenographer. . . . It is easier to trust to Luck, than to acquire Information. . . . There are plenty of good business openings, if you can only keep out of the hole. . . . Being happily married, is largely a matter of getting along amicably under the same floor lamp. . . . The main trouble with a finished slinger, is that he's never finished. . . . To a man, falling in love is like taking gas — he doesn't know anything is happening to him till its all over and he wakes up to hear the preacher saying "amen." . . . My job, is to increase the happiness in the lives of all the people with whom I come in contact.

First Twelve-Year-Old — Has your brother come home from college yet?
Second Ditt—Either that or the car has been stolen.

Many farmers in the middle west are sowing early oats, a news item says. Their sons have probably been at it all winter.

HIS GOOD TURN
 "It is the duty of everyone to make a person happy during the week," said the Sunday School teacher. "Have you done so, Freddy?"
"Yes," said Freddy, promptly. "I went to see my aunt and she was happy when I went home."—Melbourne Herald.

THESE TEACHERS!
 "Well, Bobby, what do you think of your new teacher?"
"Oh, he's all right, only first he says that two and two make four, and then he changes his mind and tells us that three and one make four."—Schweizer Illustrierte, Zofingen.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:
 Whatever else may happen, now that the country is dry, the sailor will have his port, the farmer have his rye, the cotton grower still has his gin, the seacoast has its bar and each of us will have a beer, no matter who we are.

Miss Jessie M. Reynolds is spending the week-end as the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Hammond of Hanover, Mass.

Town Clerk Samuel J. Turkington mailed the final report of the Manchester school enumeration to the Capitol. The official number of school children in Manchester between the ages of 4 and 16 for this year is 5,034 or 159 less than last year.

Spring is not far off. The seed salesmen are making their annual rounds of the stores. Store windows are taking on a springy look with shovels, flower pots, seeds and miscellaneous garden tools on display.

Alexander Jarvis, Jr., is piling up sand in his pit between Center street and Middle Turnpike, West, and while not delivering the sand is getting it sorted into different piles. The pit when first started was in the most part woodland and brush between the two roads, but the amount of sand that has been taken out of the place leaves so much of a clearing that it is now possible to get a view from one road to the other. In addition to selling sand to local contractors he has been using some during the past year in road building having formed a partnership with Henry Ahern.

The annual meeting of the British-American club will be held in the club rooms, 989 Main street Tuesday night at eight o'clock. The principal business will be election of officers.

Postmaster Ernest F. Brown of the Manchester postoffice this morning received from Washington a copy of the letter sent by the Treasury department to Pieretti Brothers officially notifying them of the acceptance of their bid. This information has already been printed, but the letter was sent to Postmaster Brown for his file on the question of the postoffice.

In the different buses owned by the Connecticut Company there is now a small license card that is issued by the motor vehicle department to the Connecticut Company known as a "Standing License." On this card there is given the number of passengers that may be carried on the bus plus those who are provided with seats. The number differs for the different types of bus and is granted to aid in enforcing the law of crowding.

Veterans of Foreign Wars and auxiliary have changed the date of their card party from Monday to Wednesday evening of next week at the North End fire headquarters.

A meeting of all Boy Scout troop committees here is called for Wednesday, March 16 at 7:30 at the Center church house.

The Men's Friendship club of the South Methodist church will have a brief business meeting Monday evening at 7:30. At 7:45 Chas. Chin Liang, a student at the Hartford Seminary Foundation will speak on the Chinese situation. Members and friends are urged to be present.

The Senior Club of St. Mary's Girls' Friendly society will meet Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the parish house.

WEDDING TODAY

Mr. and Mrs. James H.

Walker Celebrate Event

Quietly At Home.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Walker of 503 East Center street are quietly celebrating their golden wedding today. They have been receiving calls and messages by mail and telephone, felicitating with them on the event. This evening relatives and friends from Windsor, Coventry and this town will gather at the Walker home to observe the fiftieth anniversary. They have no children.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker were married in Coventry and came to Manchester to live in 1906 when Mr. Walker retired from active agricultural pursuits in which he had previously been engaged. After coming here Mrs. Walker identified herself with the South Methodist church and has been an active member of the Ladies' Aid society. She is also a member of Manchester Grange and East Central Pomona Grange, and an honorary member of the Friendly Bridge club. As one of her friends said of her today: "She is my ideal of the old-fashioned New England woman, interested in cooking, needlework, always ready to lend a helping hand when there is illness or need."

KILLED IN TOLLAND

Dies When Auto He Was

Driving Turned Turtle At

Leonard's Corner—Companion Unhurt.

Rockville, March 12.—William A. Love, Jr., aged 25, son of Dr. William A. Love of Hawaii, was instantly killed when the old Mercedes touring car he was driving turned over at Leonard's Corner in Tolland, some four miles from Rockville on Friday evening at 8:30 o'clock.

Miss Elizabeth Anderson, aged 30, also of Hawaii, who was riding with Love miraculously escaped injury. The couple were driving from Boston where Love is a junior in the School of Mechanical Engineering at Harvard University, to New York, preparatory to going to Poughkeepsie, N. Y., where Miss Anderson attends school.

In rounding the curve at Leonard's corner, which is a right angle, Love failed to make the turn because of his speed and unfamiliarity with the road. The Mercedes, which is a right hand drive, skidded across the road and completely turned over, landing right side up on the opposite side of the road.

Oscar A. Leonard, who lives at this point, heard the breaking of glass and went to the door where he heard the screams of Miss Anderson. A call was sent to the State Police Barracks at Stafford Springs. Lieutenant Russell I. Harmon and Officers Thomas Hunt and Donald I. Crossman responded.

Dr. Thomas F. O'Loughlin, medical examiner for the town of Tolland was also called. He ordered Love taken to the Rockville City hospital in White's ambulance. It was found that Love was dead upon his arrival at the hospital. A fracture was found at the base of the skull, the jaw fractured in three places and both ears badly cut, the right ear being nearly torn off. Fractures of the body bruises or lacerations were found.

Miss Anderson was examined at the Rockville City hospital by Dr. John E. Flaherty. She was shaken up but was uninjured, suffering only minor bruises.

Medical Examiner O'Loughlin later turned Love's body over to Luther A. White, Inc., and it was taken to their funeral home on Elm street.

An effort was made to get in touch with relatives of Love late last evening. Officials at Harvard University, where he is a student, were also notified.

The wrecked automobile was brought to Lanz's garage about midnight. The top of the car was totally wrecked but the chassis seemed undamaged.

The Waranoke Hotel and restaurant is again without a proprietor. Joseph Tremano and his wife who have been running the hotel for the past two months yesterday moved their personal effects and furniture from the hotel and surrendered the key. In the two months that they have been in the hotel they pleased the patrons of the place, but it was costing them money to do so and after dropping $200 or so each month in addition to their services they decided to vacate.

Party From This Town Go

By Bus To Attend Annual

New England Conference.

A delegation of more than thirty members of the Luther League of the Swedish Lutheran church will attend the annual Christian Conference of the New England Luther League, which will open at the Gloria Dei Church in Providence, R. I., at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon and will close with a session at the same hour tomorrow afternoon.

Members will leave the church here at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, making the trip by bus. The local delegates are Norman Johnson and Albin Johnson. It is expected that nearly 1,500 Leaguers will attend the conference from the 71 leagues throughout New England.

The local league is unusually interested in the conference, in that an announcement will be made at one of the three sessions in regard to the invitation extended to the 16th annual convention of the New England Luther League to convene here in June. Rev. Arthur O. Hjelm, president of the conference, has notified the league that there will be no question of the acceptance of the invitation, but first announce-

Has your heater too big an appetite?

If your heater overeats it's probably due to a poor diet. Feed it on coal that "stays with it"—and you'll feed it on less. Give it coal that is noted for its hardness and density—coal that delivers concentrated heat.

Old Company's Lehigh Anthracite is long-burning—requiring far less attention. Old Company's Lehigh burns evenly—giving you even heat. Heat that stays in the home—and doesn't go up the chimney. For Old Company's Lehigh burns thoroughly—burns evenly—burns longer.

Overeating and underheating are bad habits for any heater to acquire. We offer the prevention . . . and the cure. Call us!

But you may read it!

My dear Mr. ....:

Sometime ago I asked myself: "Could my wife run my business affairs? And if she couldn't do it now, is it fair to ask her to do it after I have gone?"

Or, for that matter, I reasoned, could many wives run their husband's businesses? Wouldn't the average woman, without much business training, have difficulty in investing a man's money properly?

It must, I say, make quite a difference to a woman—as to who settles her husband's estate. Suppose a man appointed as executor of his will, a friend, who might be absent, ill, or die, perhaps shortly after he tackled this settling-up job, or right in the middle of it. Wouldn't it be better for all concerned if this man named a corporate executor—a permanent organization that keeps on the job, through all sorts of "business cycles"?

Perhaps all this is no news to you. You may have made your will and named an institution like ours as executor and trustee. If so, fine! But I am writing you on the chance you haven't.

There is really a lot you ought to know about settling estates. Won't you drop in and go over this matter with us?

Sincerely yours,
Trust Officer
