LAW ENFORCEMENT IS LAX IN HAWAII

But Federal Board Finds No Crime Wave In Islands; Opposes Any Change In Territorial Government.

Washington, April 4.—(AP)—“Extreme laxity” in law enforcement in Hawaii was reported to the Senate today by Assistant Attorney General Seth Richardson, but he found “no criminal racket” and an amount of crime that “seemed less than reported from many cities and localities of similar population on the mainland.”

Attorney General Mitchell sent to the Capitol a bulky report embracing testimony and data gathered by his subordinate as directed by the Senate. It embraced a frank, often trenchant analysis of conditions which after Mrs. Granville Fortescue and others were charged with killing a Hawaiian accused of attacking her daughter.

Specifically opposing change in the form of territorial government, Richardson recommended that the Federal government “assume greater responsibility” for law and order, and that local officials directly for inefficiency and for playing politics. He proposed presidential appointment of heads of prosecution and police, leading to an island constabulary.

No Crime Wave

While no evidence of a crime wave was found, Richardson said, an efficiency in the administration of justice that constitutes an invitation to crime was said to exist.

Army and Navy Conditions There

Were termed “normal” with a lack of racial resentment between the service units and the island population.

Public Reports

The document said that “public reports with respect to the alleged proclivity of members of the Hawaiian race in sexual crime” were not substantiated by the facts.

Movie Censorship

It suggested a censorship of moving pictures, taking the view that the present class of pictures being shown the youth “might be materially improved.”

Prohibition Enforcement

Was found to compare favorably with conditions on the mainland and there appeared to be “no organized liquor traffic.”

Existing “Prominent Cases”

Will have to be tried under agencies as they exist, it was said. The judges “seem competent.” The present prosecutor also seems competent and it is to be hoped that the function of the territory can function fearlessly and efficiently.

Racial Antagonism

On the last point Richardson commented: “We have some apprehension as to the effect upon racial antagonism in the territory, due to violent partisanship existing in the islands with respect to the pending rape and murder cases. What that situation may be eventually, no one may at this time, intelligently foresee.”

Police Administration

In Honolulu was called “neglectful and unintelligent” with its chief concern, political activity.

There also Richardson found

“an inexperienced and inefficient” county attorney, immersed in politics, his deputies largely appointed for political purposes, with insufficient funds at his disposal to provide suitable deputies.

YOUTHFUL CROOKS IN THE MAJORITY

Annual Report On Crime In New York City Notes Disturbing Fact.

New York, April 4.—(AP)—Commissioner Mulrooney's annual outline of outlawry, telling of multiplying murder and increasing crime—and of more effective prosecution and greater punishment—was presented today to Mayor Walker.

Murder and manslaughter increased 16.1 per cent in New York City during 1931, the commissioner reported. Holdups were 23 per cent greater in number than in 1930. These latter, in the commissioner's opinion, were due in large measure to unemployment.

The year had 272 homicidal shootings

—88 more than the year before. The total number of cases classified as murder and manslaughter was 489.

Holdups increased 23 per cent

There were decreases, however, in the number of cases of felonious assault, burglary and automobile thefts.

Youthful Criminals

The commissioner noted that 12,030 persons appeared in the police

HARMONY REQUEST IS NOT ACCEPTED

Spellacy Says He Will Open Campaign For Smith Because of the Refusal.

Hartford, April 4.—(AP)—The asserted failure of pro-Roosevelt leaders in this state to accept Governor Cross's request for a divided delegation to the National convention will result in an immediate campaign for delegates pledged to Alfred E. Smith, Thomas J. Spellacy, a leader of the Connecticut pro-Smith forces, declared today.

Mr. Spellacy said that a Smith-for-President organization will be started at once.

“Connecticut is a Smith state and every effort will be made to secure the election of delegates to the National convention pledged to the nomination of Governor Smith” he announced “and if that is impossible, to follow the lead of Governor Smith in the selection of the nominee.” Mr. Spellacy said that those who apparently speak for Governor Roosevelt in this state have openly stated that they are striving to obtain all 16 Connecticut votes for the New York governor despite Governor Cross's appeal for a divided delegation representing the interests of both Roosevelt and Smith.

“Under these circumstances, there is only one thing that can be done by the friends of Governor Smith in Connecticut and that is to attempt to secure the election of delegates to Chicago pledged to the nomination of Governor Smith” Mr. Spellacy declared.

One of the leaders representing

Governor Roosevelt in this state has publicly endorsed Governor Cross's harmony program.

Dr. Edward G. Dolan of Manchester, a Roosevelt supporter, has, in fact, notified Governor Cross that he could not comply with the harmony move and that he intended to continue to fight for delegates pledged to Roosevelt.

So far as could be learned today in only one section of the state, Hartford county, is there any disposition on the part of the new guard to compromise and split the district's two delegates.

2 DEAD, MANY HURT AS MEXICO VOTES

Factions Battle With Clubs and Stones Instead of Guns This Year.

Mexico City, April 4.—(AP)—Mexico's first nation-wide primary election, held like an old fashioned spelling bee, passed into history today with two dead and more than two score injured as its toll.

At the stroke of noon, under the eyes of sixty thousand regular army troops, the voters lined up on the streets in 3,000 voting districts throughout the country and were counted off by officials. It was all over in an hour.

Serious violence occurred only in three places. One man was killed and six were wounded at Villa Juarez, Tamaulipas state, where supporters of one gubernatorial candidate loaded several buses with stones and attacked the partisans of another.

In this contest just across the Texas border, Emilio Fortescue, former provisional president of Mexico, was defeated by Dr. Rafael Villarreal, native of the little fishing hamlet of Soto La Marina. Senator Portes Gil, recently returned from Paris where he was Mexican ambassador to be a candidate for governor.

22 Are Injured

The other death occurred in a fight at Pueblo. Twenty-two were injured there and as many more in the federal district, in which Mexico City is located.

Most of the battles yesterday were fought with stones, which replaced the pistols used in previous elections.

In the 3,000 subdistricts the voters gathered and supporters of various candidates lined up on opposite street corners, where delegates from the party central committee counted them off.

Thousands of soldiers patrolled the streets, voters and other civilians were dispersed and the country was under strict prohibition for the sale or drinking of intoxicants for 36 hours.

In addition to the 168 congressional or deputy posts to be filled, eight were nominated and state officials, including governors, were nominated in several states.

TO DISCUSS WAR DEBTS AT LONDON CONFERENCE

British Premier Announces Four Power Parley Will Talk Over the Whole of Difficulties in Europe.

London, April 4.—(AP)—It was definitely settled today that the four-power conference which meets here Wednesday will discuss not only means of extending financial aid to the nations of the Danube, but the whole of Europe's difficulties, including reparations, disarmament and war debts.

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald

made the announcement late last night after a preliminary conversation with Premier Andre Tardieu of France, who came here yesterday and remained for further discussions today.

The conference, at which representatives of France, Germany, Italy and Great Britain will sit in, originally was intended to go into the finances of Austria, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and Rumania. After the two statesmen had talked for an hour and a quarter yesterday, however, the prime minister announced that the disarmament situation at Geneva and the Lausanne conference on reparations would also be discussed.

U. S. Relations

The two ministers sat together in the study at 10 Downing street, Premier Tardieu, with Pierre Laniel.

CABINET RESIGNS IN JUGO-SLAVIA

Second Governmental Crisis In Recent Months — People Ask Greater Freedom.

Belgrade, Jugo-Slavia, April 4.—(AP)—The Cabinet of Premier General Peter Zivkovich resigned today and immediately a new ministry was formed by Vojislav Marinkovic, who had been serving as foreign minister.

It was the second governmental crisis in recent months. On Jan. 4 the Zivkovich Cabinet resigned following the elections, but the premier was immediately commissioned to form a new ministry, which he did the next day.

Reformers have been going the rounds for many weeks that elements favoring greater Parliamentary freedom have been disassembled with the way King Alexander has been handling affairs.

It had been predicted that there would be serious trouble if the King failed to make a conciliatory move on behalf of these elements, and there have been recurrent unverified reports that he was contemplating such a step.

But whether the Cabinet reorganization will be such as to satisfy these elements, remains to be seen. Some of the King's opponents even have gone so far as to demand that Jugo-Slavians resort to violence if their protests were not heeded.

Whiskey at $6.50 a Quart Prevents Rush in Finland

Helsingfors, Finland, April 4.—(AP)—Whiskey at $6.50 a bottle and cognac at $9.25 dampened somewhat the widespread celebrations planned for tomorrow, when Finland's twelve-year-old prohibition law goes into the discard, following last December's referendum.

Some restaurants declared they would refuse to handle the newly-legalized “hard” liquor because of the high price fixed by the government, which has sole control over the trade under the new law.

Another rift between the government and a number of restaurateurs developed over the margin of profit demanded by the government. The liquor monopoly decreased that it would take 60 per cent of the profits on all sales.

The legislation which followed the referendum was signed by the president on February 9, ten days after

HOOVER MAKES PLEA FOR ECONOMY PLAN

Kin Of Noted Pastor Kills Self, Children In Surprise Message President Calls For Appointment of Delegates From Both Houses To Frame National Plan — Asserts Various Agencies Now Working On Problem Are Lacking In Unity of Action.

Washington, April 4.—(AP)—In a surprise special message to Congress, President Hoover today called for the appointment of delegates from both the Senate and the House to work with him in framing “a complete national program of economy.”

The President declared further reduction of Federal expenditures for the next year to be an absolute necessity.

He asserted, however, that various agencies in Congress working toward this end lacked the necessary unity of action.

“Therefore,” he continued, “I recommend to the Congress that in order to secure this unity of effort and prompt action, and thus insure the relief of the taxpayer and a balanced budget, at the same time protecting vital service of the government, that representatives be delegated by the two Houses, who, together with representatives of the executive, should be authorized to frame for action by the present Congress a complete national program of economy and to recommend the legislation necessary to make it possible and effective.”

“Such a course would expedite rather than delay the passage of appropriations bills.”

The President asserted he was convinced that “only by such unified, non-partisan effort” and by a willingness “to share the difficulties and the responsibility of the Federal expenditures” be properly curtailed.

Mr. Hoover said the “limit of executive authority to bring about economies has been reached,” and that only by an amendment of existing laws, eliminating less necessary functions, and consolidating governmental bureaus could the end be attained.

Text of Message

The text of the special message follows: “To the Senate and House of Representatives: “I have in various messages to the Congress over the past three years referred to the necessity of an organized effort to effect far-reaching reduction of governmental expenditures.

“To balance the budget for the year beginning July 1st next, the revenue bill passed by the House of Representatives on April 1st necessitates that there shall be a further reduction of expenditures for the next year of about $200,000,000 in addition to the reduction of $889,000,000 in expenditures already made in the budget recommendations which I transmitted to the Congress on December 9th.

“It is essential in the interest of the taxpayer and the country that it should be done.

Further Economy

“It is my belief that still more drastic economy than this additional $200,000,000 can be accomplished by law.

“Such a sum can only be obtained, however, by a definite national legislative program of economy which will authorize the consolidation of governmental bureaus and independent establishments; and beyond this, which will permit the removal of long established methods which lead to waste; the elimination of the less necessary functions, and the suspension of activities and commitments of the government not essential to the public interest in these times.

“These objects cannot be accomplished without far-reaching amendment to the laws.

“The executive is bound to recommend appropriations adequate to provide for the functions and activities of the government as now established by law.

“This is mandatory, and the opportunity for administrative savings is limited. The appropriations committees are likewise bound and can only act within restricted limits.

“Therefore, to lessen the burden upon the taxpayers in a substantial amount it is necessary to enter upon other fields by amending existing laws which place unnecessary obligations on the departments and independent establishments.”

“We need repeal of existing laws which require carrying on of functions not absolutely essential for the present.

“This means that we should understand definitely, separately and coordinated program of economy legislation which will enable the execu-

LINDBERGH TAKES PART IN SEARCH FOR BABY

For First Time Since Kidnaping Father Leaves Home On Long Plane Trip; Seen Later in Cuttyhunk, Mass.

New York, April 4.—(AP)—For the first time in the 34 days since kidnapers stole Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., from his crib at Hopewell, N. J., his famous father has made a personal excursion away from the home, the purpose being a closely guarded secret.

Two fishermen of Cuttyhunk,

Mass., said a large amphibian plane landed there yesterday looking for a yacht and that Colonel Lindbergh was the pilot. They identified him, they said, from pictures.

The Lindberghs evaded March 5

but wrecked the house badly before evacuating. Michael Zwick who at one time considered moving into the house, testified that Kanel told him if he (Zwick) were to move in the house would be left undamaged but otherwise he (Kanel) would “make a pig-pen of it.” Zwick decided to live elsewhere and the house was found even worse than Kanel had threatened.

The Condition

Attorney Foley defended the Kingbaum interests while Attorney William S. Hyde was counsel for the Kanelis. Attorney Foley, Chief of Police Samuel G. Gordon and Kingbaum all testified as to the condition of the property after the Kanelis had evacuated. The damage summed up briefly was as follows: Windows left open; keys removed from all doors and not returned to the owner; kitchen sink left flooded; water frozen on the floor; radiators disconnected; paper torn off walls; picture moulding ripped off; electric light fixtures removed; window cords slashed and other damage of a more minor nature.

This description was brought out by Attorney Foley and verified by Chief Gordon who said the condition of the house was even worse than Mr. Foley stated. He added that it was very apparent that the damage had been recent and deliberate.

Mrs. Fosdick had been very nervous, the police learned, and under the care of a physician.

Her husband, a lawyer and brother

The two children were Susanne,

HOME LOST, WRECKS IT TO SPITE OWNER

Foreclosure Displeases August Kanehl, He Damages House Before Leaving.

August Kanehl, formerly of 189 West Center street was fined $75 and costs amounting to $84.72 and given a 15 days suspended jail sentence when convicted by Judge Raymond A. Johnson in Manchester Police court this morning on a charge of injury to private property. He took no appeal.

Lived There for Years

Kanehl was arrested upon complaint of Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Kingbaum, of 14 Summer street, owners of the house on the northwest corner of McKee and West Center streets where the Kanehl family has lived for several years. When Kanehl failed to meet payments due Kingbaum the latter was finally forced to have an attachment served and this took place late last fall. A foreclosure followed early in March.

The Kanehlis evaded March 5

but wrecked the house badly before evacuating. Michael Zwick who at one time considered moving into the house, testified that Kanel told him if he (Zwick) were to move in the house would be left undamaged but otherwise he (Kanel) would “make a pig-pen of it.” Zwick decided to live elsewhere and the house was found even worse than Kanel had threatened.

FORTESCUE TRIAL ON IN HONOLULU

Most Sensational Criminal Case in History of Island, Starts Today.

Honolulu, April 4.—(AP)—With a police guard surrounding the judiciary building to keep away the curious, trial of the most sensational criminal case in the history of Honolulu opened in a little courtroom in that gray stone structure today.

It was from this building that

Joseph Kahahawai, young Hawaiian, was lured by a fake court summons January 8. His friends never again saw him alive.

Later the same day his body, shot through the chest was found in a motor car driven by Mrs. Granville Fortescue, society woman and wife of the soldier author. Also in the car were her son-in-law, Lieutenant Thomas H. Massie, U. S. N., and E. J. Lord, a naval enlisted man.

These three, with Albert O. Jones, another sailor who was found on guard at the Massie home, faced trial on charges of second degree murder.

Awaiting Retrial

The young Hawaiian was awaiting retrial, with four others on charges of assaulting Mrs. Thalia Massie, wife of the lieutenant.

The full first week of the trial, attorneys said, may be consumed by a selection of a jury from panels on which Orientals and Islanders may be expected to outnumber the whites.

The trial will be further prolonged by the ruling of Circuit Judge Davis limiting sessions to three hours daily in deference to Clarence Darrow, brilliant veteran of many court battles who heads the defense counsel. Judge Davis, presiding, said the trials would be from 9 a. m. to 12 noon (2:30 p. m. to 5:30 p. m., E. S. T.)

Pastors Return

The return of Rev. Colpitts and Rev. Stocking to their churches here was expected. Members of both church had extended unanimous invitations to their pastors to return and both desired to continue here. Rev. Colpitts was unable to attend this year's session because of illness. Rev. Elmer Thienes Says Group Action Is Big Asset To Community.

Rev. Elmer Thienes, one of the most enthusiastic members of the Kiwanis Club, spoke at the regular noon-day meeting of the club at the Hotel Sheridan today, telling the members what he thought of service clubs. The Kiwanians also rehearsed the Minstrel Show, to be given at the High School Auditorium Tuesday evening, April 12, and it is expected that the show will be the best ever presented.

Bugler Raymond French sounded assembly at 7:30 o'clock and Field Executive Joseph Dean led the Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts and Sea Scouts in the Salute to the Flag, followed by the Scout Oath and singing of the Star Spangled Banner. Troop 3 of the Center Congregational church then presented an impressive investiture ceremony, in which seven boys were made Tenderfoot Scouts. Scoutmaster David McCormack spoke on the value of the scouting program. District Commissioner Harry Malmgren presented the badges. Scout games were next on the program and proved interesting and enjoyable to everyone. Troop 2 of St. James' church gave a splendid exhibition of semaphore signaling, under Assistant Scoutmaster Arthur Krob, followed by a hilarious interlude of clowning and comedy by Troop 4 of St. Mary's church.

OBITUARY

Troop 2 gave a demonstration of stretcher bearing and first aid, after which Troop 9 performed a rescue race. The various Troops then participated in competitive Scout games, and Troop 3 of the Center Congregational church presented one of the outstanding events on the program—rope spinning. Six Scouts did all manner of stunts with twenty foot ropes and Scout Custer gave a fine demonstration of intricate feats with a fifty foot rope.

OBITUARY

During the intermission, the Salvation Army Scout band rendered several selections, after which the program was resumed with drill work by the Cub Pack of the Center church, under Charles Lynn. Deputy Commissioner Robert Houghton then presented the Bronze Palm to Charles Donahue of Troop 2, for carrying five merit badges over the Eagle Scout rank.

OBITUARY

The entire Armory floor was used for the next exhibition, in which several Troops participated in building towers, bridges, derricks and camps, this being part of the requirement for Pioneer merit badge. Fire by friction and fire by flint and steel was also demonstrated. As a finale to the program, Troop 3 sang songs about an imitation campfire. Bugler French sounded Taps and the echo floated from the hall of the Armory as the Scouts sang the words. The Scouts repeated the Scout prayer, bringing the program to an end.

HAWAIIAN REPORT IS SENT TO SENATE

No Organized Crime, No Rackets, But Carelessness In Enforcing Law, the Commission Declares.

Washington, April 4.—(AP)—Assistant Attorney General Seth W. Richardson summarized his report to the Senate today on law enforcement in the Hawaiian islands as follows:

General crime conditions. We found in Hawaii no organized crime, no important criminal class and no criminal racket. We did not find substantial evidence that a crime wave was in existence in Honolulu, either disproportionate with the increase in the population, or when viewed in comparison with crime records in cities of similar size on the mainland.

We found however, ample evidence of extreme laxity in the administration of law enforcement agencies.

We found a condition of inefficiency in the administration of justice which, in effect, constituted an invitation to the commission of crime, and which had largely destroyed the morale of the law enforcement agencies, with a resulting loss of public confidence.

Feeling of Fear. We found that such conditions had given rise to a feeling of personal insecurity among a substantial portion of the citizens.

We therefore believe that the unusual conditions of race, society and industry in the territory make a continuance of such laxity fraught with much social and political danger.

We found in the territory no present serious racial prejudices. The races seemed to be still carrying on together with exceedingly little friction.

We are quite cognizant of the suggestion that if the condition of affairs in the islands today seems fairly comparable with conditions on the mainland, the mainland ought not to ask of Hawaii more law observance than it, itself, presents.

We appreciate the force of the suggestion but the following reasons have persuaded us that steps should properly now be taken, when not only Congress, but the public, is interested in the subject, which will tend to improve things in the future:

Better Enforcement
(1) The territory, because of its small area, and great isolation, is reasonably capable of more consistent law enforcement than areas of similar size on the mainland.
(2) The territory's position as a military and naval post of great importance, requires a higher degree of the military and naval force.
(3) The conditions in the territory, unless changed and remedied, quite certainly prevent effective law enforcement in the territory in the not distant future.

(4) Moreover, Congress has no authority or control over crime administration in cities on the mainland, or in the various state governments. In Hawaii, however, the Congress has full control, and may therefore dress itself toward the establishment of such laws and prohibitions as, in its opinion, will create the best possible conditions in the territory. Congress may not do more than this, and it certainly should not do less.

(5) Finally, the character of the territorial population, with its territorial and polynesian background, presents such an extraordinary experiment in the development of American constitutional form of self government among such peoples providing proper conditions of law enforcement, and a suitable administration of justice for the people of the territory.

The Details
In detail: Police. We found the police administration in Honolulu impotent, undisciplined, neglectful, and unintelligent, with its chief concern, political activity.

with the government in time of national emergency, and would afford to the people of the territory efficient, independent, reliable and modern police protection.

Such a plan is similar in many respects to the plan originally adopted upon the formation of the territory of Hawaii, but which has been inoperative since the organization of county government in 1907.

Prosecuting Attorneys
We found the prosecutions of crime to be in the hands of various county attorneys throughout the territory.

In Honolulu, we found an inexperienced, inefficient county attorney, immersed in politics, his deputies appointed largely for political purposes, with insufficient funds at his disposal to provide suitable deputies.

As a result prosecutions had fallen into disrepute, and there was a lack of public confidence in the county attorney.

To remedy such conditions, Governor Judd and various citizens, while pressing the police bill, also pressed for passage by the legislature, early in 1931, a county and city prosecutor bill, and such bill finally passed in January, 1932.

The bill as proposed provided for appointment by the attorney general of the territory, with the approval of the governor, but before passage, the legislature changed the mode of appointment to appointment by the mayor, with the right of removal in the governor.

Like the police bill, we are inclined to the view that the prosecutor bill is an improvement over existing conditions. But the office is still in politics, and when the present public interest passes, it will be increasingly so.

Improvement in police administration requires a like improvement in prosecuting conditions. The two should go hand in hand.

An Attorney General
Hence, we recommend the appointment by the president, with the consent of the Senate, of an attorney general for the territory, shall have exclusive charge of prosecutions throughout the territory, superseding all other prosecutors.

Under such an appointment we think politics in the office would be minimized and prosecutions given serious and experienced attention.

Such a plan is similar also to the plan originally applicable to the territory, under the act, which also fell into disuse with the coming of county government in 1907.

With these two recommendations, the three great agencies in the administration of law enforcement, to-wit, the courts, the prosecutor, and the police, would be directly responsible to the national government, and, in view of the pressing problem of national defense, racial diversity and industrial development, together with the surpassing importance of the territory as a military and naval base, would tend to promulgate a feeling of security, and preparedness throughout the territory and the mainland.

The Courts
We found no serious criticism of the courts. There are now the United States District Court, and the Territorial Circuit Court, with separate jurisdiction, and a Territorial Supreme Court.

The appointment of the judges by the President, with the advice and consent of the Senate, has provided good judges and a minimum of political interference.

It is felt, however, that since both the Federal district judges and the territorial circuit judges are appointed by the President of the United States, and are paid by the United States, that a considerable saving of expense could be effected by abolishing the United States District Court and transferring its jurisdiction to the Circuit Courts, with an appeal to the Supreme Court of the territory, whose decisions are reviewable by the Supreme Court of the United States.

Such a proposal would involve abolishing the offices of United States attorney and marshal, and giving to the attorney general of the territory, under supervision of the attorney general of the United States, charge of criminal and civil litigation in which the United States is interested. The present United States district judges could be allowed, for the balance of their terms, to serve as circuit judges. It is recommended that Congress give consideration to this proposal.

Jury System
We found no serious complaint of the jury system. Objections were made on account of the racial makeup of the juries but the judges minimized such objections.

the entire administration of prison affairs was extraordinarily lax. Since July, 1931, however, a new prison board has been in existence, which has made a very careful review of the prison conditions, and on February 24, 1932, this board filed a voluminous report with the governor, pointing out the serious defects and conditions in the prison administration. Unfortunately the board had not been given authority to eliminate such defects or to appoint the warden of the prison.

A bill is now pending in the Territorial Legislature to cure this lack of power, and if such bill passes, the laws covering prison administration will be, in my opinion, sufficient.

The parole system we found to be exceedingly lax. No proper record was kept of paroles. No reports of parole prisoners were required, and only a single parole officer was provided, and his duties were largely "playing politics." There were several hundred paroled prisoners on the territory, concerning whom no report had been made for years.

The prison board included a report on the deficiency of the parole system in its report to the governor and steps are now being taken to remedy conditions. It is imperative that more parole officers be provided by the legislature, and that greater care be used in granting paroles.

Miscellaneous
We found much prostitution in the territory, due largely to the large number of single men and the large number of service men stationed within the territory.

The enforcement of the prohibition law compared favorably with conditions on the mainland. There seemed to be no organized liquor traffic, no large importations, and no criminal liquor rackets. With the active support of the local police force much improvement can be made in the enforcement of the prohibition law.

We were not impressed with the seriousness of alleged bad conditions on the public beaches. Undoubtedly objectionable incidents have taken place in that regard but we do not think they constitute a material element in crime conditions in the territory.

We are strongly inclined to think that a moving picture censorship ought to be enforced in the territory in order that the class of pictures that are being shown to the island youth, constituted, as it is, of a mixture of Polynesian and Oriental races, might be materially improved.

Few Sexual Crimes
We do not think the public reports with respect to alleged proclivity of members of the Hawaiian race in sexual crime is substantiated by the facts. The investigation which we made, and the crime tabulations which we prepared, do not show that the crime, including sexual crime, in the islands can properly be laid at the door of the Hawaiian. He has his place in the picture, of course, but there are other races in the territory which give more trouble in that regard.

After all, the amount of sex crime in the territory seemed less than reported from many cities and localities of similar population on the mainland.

We found army and naval conditions normal. We found no particular racial resentment between the service units and the island population, and while the service units undoubtedly contribute materially to the crime situation in the territory, we do not think such conditions are any different than exist on the mainland where an equal number of service men are stationed adjacent to an urban population.

Favor No Change
We found considerable demand for an appointive commission government for the islands. But the great majority of the citizens of the territory were opposed to such commission government, and, in view of the fact that the United States has extended to the territory a form of local self government, we are unwilling to agree that the general form of such government should now be changed.

But we think that the Federal government should assume a closer responsibility for the law enforcement agencies in the territory, as we have above indicated in our specific recommendations.

We see a very serious unemployment condition looming in the not distant future. The importation of foreign common labor into the territory, together with the education of island youth, which results in an unwillingness on the part of the youth to do common labor on the islands, with only two industries, to-wit, sugar and pineapples, makes the unemployment situation in the immediate future one of very serious portent.

Something must be done to stop the importation into the territory of any more common laborers. The territory must be required to furnish its own island labor on the island plantations. We have made some other recommendations which are referred to in our main report, and to which we do not now refer.

So far as existing cases of prominence, in which the public has shown much interest, are concerned, we have not occupied ourselves with an examination of those cases. These cases will have to be conducted under existing laws, by agencies for the administration of criminal justice, as they now exist. Judges who deal with these cases seem competent. The present prosecutor also seems competent, and it is to be hoped that the courts of the territory can function fearlessly and efficiently.

We have some apprehension as to the effect upon racial antagonisms in the territory, due to the violent partisanship existing in the islands with respect to the pending rape and murder cases. What that situation may eventually be no man may at this time intelligently foresee.

It has been therefore our hope that this report which we are making, and the recommendations attached thereto, may result, ultimately, in a better administration of justice and in improved conditions of law enforcement in the territory.

PRICE OF SEAT DECLINES
New York, April 4.—(AP)—The sale of a New York Stock Exchange seat was arranged today at $90,000, a decrease of $8,000 from the previous sale, arranged on Saturday, and the lowest price since 1924.

In the past month the value of seats has fallen steadily, and at an accelerated pace in the last week or so because of discouragement in brokerage circles over the impending heavy tax on stock and bond transactions.

BOYS' CLUB TO DINE AT THE REC TONIGHT

About 100 Youngsters Have Enjoyed Center's Advantages During Past Winter.

Tonight at the School street Recreation Center the Junior Boys' club will have its second annual supper. Upwards of 100 boys up to 14 years of age have enjoyed the privileges of the recreation building this past winter, meeting twice a week. A nominal fee was asked and far more boys applied during the season than could be adequately cared for.

Mrs. William Black, who catered for the annual banquet of the Junior Boys' club last year, will serve the meal tonight. The boys are requested to meet at 6 o'clock, bringing their membership tickets as far as possible. If any boy has lost his ticket, he is reminded to register at the office before the party.

CHAMBER DINNER TOMORROW NIGHT

Indications Are 175 Will Attend—Senator Bingham Speaker.

Rev. C. T. McCann of St. Bridge's Catholic church will deliver the invocation at the thirty-first annual banquet of the Chamber of Commerce at the Masonic Temple tomorrow night. Indications today were that nearly 175 persons will attend the affair, which will start promptly at 6:30 o'clock.

The matter of dress is optional but in former years the majority of those in attendance have been attired in evening dress, though a large number attended in ordinary dress. Cards have been mailed to those who have made reservations, giving the number of the table at which they will be seated. Those in doubt as to their proper place should call at the Chamber office.

The program is unusually attractive this year, headed as it is by U. S. Senator Hiram Bingham as the principal speaker, and Rev. Hugh Shields as the humorous speaker. A quartet under the direction of G. Albert Pearson will sing and Al Behrend's orchestra will furnish music for dinner and dancing.

BILL STILL IN RACE

Oklahoma City, April 4.—(AP)—Governor William H. (Alfalfa) Bill of the state which are yet to hold preferential primaries, the "Murray for President" headquarters announced here today.

Lack of funds, said George Henshaw, his campaign manager, will prevent filing in all states with primaries as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination. However, contests are contemplated in West Virginia, South Dakota, Oregon, Ohio, Nebraska, Florida, California and Alabama.

"Alfalfa Bill" begins a swing over the country tomorrow during which he will visit Nebraska, Oregon and Ohio and West Virginia in 25 days.

The consumption of beer in England has declined so far they're considering passing a prohibition act to bring a return to normalcy.

MAY DAY JUBILEE IS PLANNED HERE

Will Be Sponsored By Salvationists—To Be In So. M. E. Church.

The Manchester Salvation Army Corps, through the co-operation of the South Methodist Church, will sponsor, Sunday, May 1 in the latter church, a May Day Jubilee, featuring here for a return engagement the Swedish American Bell Orchestra of Chicago with Miss Marie Rasmussen, violin soloist.

Ensign George D. Williams of the local Salvation Corps through whose efforts the Inspirational Mass Meeting recently held in the High school hall was one of the outstanding musical events of the winter months, said today that the mass meeting planned for May 1 will be in the "interests" of Americanism and against radicalism that is a serious menace in this country today.

"In any manufacturing town," said Ensign Williams, today, "Red agitation and radicalism is present in a lesser or greater degree. While it is admittedly not evident here today, present industrial conditions may be a factor in rendering the town exposed to that sort of thing."

"We propose to counteract on May 1 any tendency towards radicalism present here with inspirational May Day Jubilee, we hope through the medium of music and song and speaking to foster on the day made famous by Communists, a "Red, White and Blue" demonstration, featuring a return engagement of the Swedish American Bell Orchestra of Chicago, and other musical and vocal numbers."

An effort is being made to have ex-Governor John H. Trumbull accept the chairmanship of the mass meeting and other speakers on Americanism from New York City and this state will be on the program according to the preliminary plans.

The Swedish American Bell Orchestra of Chicago packed the Salvation Army Citadel this winter in their initial appearance here, and efforts to secure a return engagement of this high class orchestra were successful. Following their appearance here, May 1 the orchestra will sail for a European tour on the North German Lloyd liner, "Bremen" May 5.

The personnel of the orchestra is as follows: C. E. Swanson, A. Spilling, Nels Lind, E. Ericson, E. Hein with Miss Marie Rasmussen, violin soloist.

The Salvation Army Band and the Male Quartet will give several appropriate numbers including Broughton's "March America" and the group of "American Melody Selections" by the same composer. The Male Quartet will give several folk songs of the early days in America and several negro spirituals.

The seating capacity of the South Methodist church, combined with the excellent acoustic properties, will assure the largest attendance at any Community gathering ever held in Manchester.

A BAD ADVISOR

In addressing a communication to school authorities throughout the state urging resistance to demands for curtailment of school expenditures the State Board of Education is merely remaining consistent with its attitude of many years. Long before the hard times set in this newspaper, almost alone among the press of Connecticut, time and again pointed out the extent and the manner of exploitation of the people of the commonwealth by the State Board of Education for the aggrandizement of a small but increasingly powerful group; its utter disregard for economic or social limitations to school expenditures and the manner in which it was entrenching itself by promoting the adoption of mandatory laws the purpose of which was to deprive the people of the right to control their own school system.

Practically nobody listened. Business was booming, money appeared to be endlessly plentiful, every mother hoped to have the community educate her sons and daughters into some profitable and effortless way of life—and the State Board's propaganda and program of expansion went over with a bang.

Now, when the communities are in serious distress, when it is glaringly obvious that the limitless squandering of money on schools cannot go on, the State Board, instead of adjusting its ideas to the times and at least making an appearance of co-operation for the relief of taxation and the balancing of budgets, has the temerity to solicit local school authorities to fight such economies.

This is a circumstance that every voter ought to paste in his hat. Next fall the people of Connecticut will be electing a new Legislature. If they have their own interests in the least at heart they will see to it that they elect one which will proceed, as a major duty, to thoroughly clip the wings of the State Board of Education by a careful revision of the code of laws which has been systematically built up for the extension of the powers of that body.

It might even be worth while for the voters of the state to take under quite serious consideration the question of whether we need a State Board of Education at all—and if so, why. What, as a matter of fact, have the people of the state ever received from the State Board of Education but an education in the spending of money as if it were water?

THE HAWAII REPORT

The report of investigation of conditions in Hawaii is gratifying in that it disposes of the fear that that beautiful and formerly peaceful territory had degenerated into a den of racketeers and gangsters, that criminals were in control of the government and that it would take years of the most drastic scouring to restore the islands and especially Honolulu to a state of decency.

All such fears are dissipated by the report. It shows that the worst aspects of recent Hawaiian life are merely the result of slovenliness, ineptitude and laxity in the administration of the police function and of too much politics in the offices of the prosecuting authorities.

It is proposed to correct this situation by having a direct federal appointee at the head of the police and by substituting for the locally controlled departments a constabulary force comparable to our state police departments. Certain reforms in the court system are also recommended which could hardly fall to work advantageously. And a thorough revision of the wretched prison system is advised.

The commission finds that the talk about race conflict in the islands is just talk—that as a matter of fact the various racial components of the population get along together surprisingly well. Nor is the alleged failure of the jury system in the islands found to have any basis in truth.

What the report does not deal with at all—and there was some curiosity on that point—is the extent, if any, to which military arrogance toward the natives and civilian population may have been responsible for civic demoralization. It is rather regrettable that this subject is not treated.

FOUR-POWER PARLEY

Announcement that the four-power conference between Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy, originally proposed to untangle the affairs of the Danubian states, will include the whole range of the European crisis, including disarmament, debts and reparations, is highly significant. If it does not comprehend any such ambitious scheme as the late M. Briand's vision of a United States of Europe it is apparent that it at least contains the germ of a practical federation of European interests to which the United States would be a practical outsider. And it will be strange indeed, in the event that the participating states take a hard look at their own advantage, if the upcome of such a gathering together does not turn out to be a mutual forgiving of war debts and reparations as between the European factors and mass repudiation with relation to the United States.

There will be no such outcome all in a moment, of course. But it is extremely difficult to see European interests tending in any other direction eventually, and the one thing needed to crystallize sentiment on joint repudiation is an adequate nucleus. The four-power parley seems to provide just that.

IN NEW YORK

THE HOME THAT DEATH ESCHEWED

The "Lucky" House
 New York, April 4—Seven years ago a stricken troubador was rushed from a Michigan town to an address at 17 Sutton Place, Manhattan.

"If I can only get to that house—if I can only get within its walls, I'll recover," the man told his friends. "For me it's the lucky house. I am not inclined to be overly superstitious, but I do believe in mental and psychological influences."

So they rushed Chauncey Olcott from Ann Arbor to his New York home in a swanky neighborhood that borders on the East River. He lay long with death haunting his premises. But the famous Irish singer recovered. Talking with him at the time, he gave full credit to "the lucky house."

Once he ordered a shamrock carved over the door and decorated the interior with the well-known Irish emblem. Well, he was too far away to get back the last time that death came stalking. And so Olcott died. Monte Carlo. The "lucky house" will, probably, always carry the reputation of having some magic power of healing. Around the neighborhood, the tale is well known, and hundreds have gone out of their ways to view it.

The newest important radio voice belongs to a young man who could wear the title of vice-president in a nationally-important corporation if he cared to.

But Craig McConnell set out to make his own way in this world, and decided to depend on his voice rather than on business. Incidentally he is one of the first Social Register folk to broadcast as a seriously intended profession. McConnell comes from Akron, O., where his voice was first noted. His mother's line dates back to the mother's line of Quebec. His grandfather came to the United States and started a Buffalo hotel. Being successful, the Hotel Cleveland, in Cleveland, and the Portage in Akron became part of a chain organized later.

Craig was singing about the lobby one night, some years back, when a transient concert star heard him and urged him to study. In recent years his father, has sought to get him interested in business and voted Craig a vice presidency in a big power corporation. But Craig came to New York to study, and had been struggling along until a network opportunity opened. Oh, yes, he's a baritone—not a crooner!

Who stays up all night in New York? Well, since there is but one all night spot operating at the moment in Manhattan, the answer isn't so difficult.

They're people who spend most of their daylight hours in bed; movie and stage people, visitors who want the thrill of watching other "night lifers," society folk who seek to kill time, and casual spenders.

It's been about four years or more since New York had an open-

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS

During 1931 approximately a million and a half people died and were disabled in North America. This was not the result of a disease epidemic but the result of automobile accidents. If a new disease should occur and kill off 36,000 people in the United States and Canada in one year everyone would be seriously alarmed and much money would be spent to try to get the disease under control. The automobile is a comparatively new menace to life and yet this number of people were killed as the result of automobile accidents in 1931. In my practice I am constantly confronted with patients who have been crippled and severely injured because of carelessness. Many people recover completely from an automobile accident, but there are others who suffer throughout their lives as a result of somebody trying to get some place too quickly. Suggestions about how to avoid automobile accidents might not seem to come under the heading of diet and health advice unless you are able to imagine the results of these accidents upon health and the normal processes of the body as I have seen them.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Nightmares)
 Question: Sonia F. writes: "During the day I feel perfectly well, but at night, about thirty minutes after I have fallen asleep, I take some kind of spells, as I call them, when I wake up feeling as though I were dying—all out of breath, and my arms and legs 'asleep.' As soon as I am raised into a sitting posture, I am all right. The doctor says I am nervous and tells me there is nothing wrong with my heart. Will, you please advise me?"

Answer: If your heart is in good condition, and the doctor finds no other organic trouble, the nightmares are probably caused by some digestive disturbance. The best policy would be to eat a very small evening meal and be sure that it is of the right combinations as outlined in my weekly menus in this newspaper.

(Overcoming Constipation and Appendicitis)

Question: Ina writes: "I have been more or less constipated for the last twelve years. Lately I have had severe colicky pains all through the abdominal area, but sometimes I think they originate in the right side. My doctor says I have appendicitis and wants to remove my appendix. Will this operation overcome my constipation which seems to be the cause of my troubles?"

Answer: Adhesions and prolapsus are the most common cause of constipation. The removal of the appendix cannot be considered a cure of constipation. It is usually possible to overcome an inflamed appendix through the use of a liquid orange juice fast and physiotherapy treatments. If you wish more detailed advice, send me your name and address and a large, stamped envelope and I will be glad to send you an article outlining the methods I advise for constipation. Enclose an extra 2c stamp if you also wish the article on appendicitis.

Few people comprehend the terrific amount of driving force stored up in a moving automobile. It has been calculated that an automobile traveling at 30 m. p. h. hits a stationary object with the same force as if the automobile fell off a vertical embankment thirty feet high. An automobile hitting a brick wall going 55 m. p. h. (not an unusual speed) hits with the same force for damage as if the automobile had a vertical drop of 101.9 feet. An automobile going 60 m. p. h. has the same capacity for inflicting damage as if it were driven off the top of a ten-story building.

"HOW much does a smartly furnished room cost?" is answered in this Budget Bedroom. Here we have selected pieces for their distinctiveness, fine quality and low price. The bed, adapted from a typical Chippendale ladderback design is refreshingly unusual. The little chest-on-chest with its Ogee legs is a piece rarely reproduced. An extremely distinctive old kneehole lowboy was selected for our dressing table reproduction, while a Salem Chest, always a popular Colonial piece, fills out the room. The pieces can also be purchased separately: Bed, $45; dressing table, $35; chest-on-chest, $45; Salem chest, $45. Mahogany veneered. See this room when you visit our store.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON
 WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

SOAKING THE RICH ISN'T SO EASY AS IT SEEMS
 By RODNEY DUTCHER
 NEA Service Writer

Washington — There are more angles to this process of "soaking the rich" by taxation than meet the eye.

First, of course, you have a general desire in Congress to balance the budget by raising revenue. Then, as always, you find strength divided between those who would spread the necessary taxes indiscriminately and those who want to put as much of the burden as possible on the people who have the most money.

Very few millionaires are sympathetic with the theory that their wealth should be redistributed by taxation. Mr. Andrew W. Mellon himself has been one of the most emphatic among those denying that any social necessity exists for breaking up large fortunes.

And the manner in which Rockefeller and Ford have turned properties over to John D. Jr., and Edsel Ford has furnished a shining example for other multimillionaires with an aversion to leaving vast estates at death to the mercy of the tax collector.

But a concentration of wealth is constantly under heavier fire. Senator Borah says 4 per cent of people own 80 per cent of wealth and Senator Huey Long, that 1 per cent owns 59 per cent. Whether those figures be accurate or not, the richest 1 per cent of income taxpayers increased their share of income reported from 13 per cent in 1921 to 25 per cent in 1928 and million-dollar net incomes increased from only 21 to 511.

Gift Tax Coming
 Whatever the rates may be, this Congress will enact a gift tax to prevent evasions of estate taxes. There are various methods of evading "death taxes" and the higher the rates the more attempts are made to work them. But the loopholes grow fewer. Gifts made in contemplation of death were originally made taxable, but the government couldn't ever prove to a court that any gift was made in such "contemplation." So a law was enacted providing that any gift made within two years of death should be considered "contemplative." Federal courts held that unconstitutional, so now comes the outright gift tax.

If the maximum death tax rate of 65 per cent goes through, with the gift tax, however, there is the possibility of a rush of multimillionaires to unload their millions before the law takes effect, delaying the public benefit for years.

An Argument Against
 An insistent argument used against the high surtaxes on incomes is that they drive the wealthy to put their money into tax-exempt securities. Under a supreme court decision, the federal government can't tax state and municipal issues. The House once adopted a constitutional amendment to cover that, but it died in the Senate.

Now Congressman LaGuardia of New York, insurgent tax right leader, says a valid objection is involved because any rush for tax-exempt securities will give the states a better market for their bonds, lower their interest rates, increase their income tax collections and create employment through expansion of public works for which the bonds would be issued.

NEW SCREEN GUILD TO BE ORGANIZED

Picture Company To Help New Authors and To Pay Royalties To Actors.

Hollywood, April 4.—(AP) — A motion picture company which will pay a royalty to stars, authors and directors soon will be in active operation in Hollywood.
Announcement of the Screen Guild and its plans was made yesterday by Mr. C. Levee, heretofore executive manager for the Paramount-Public Corporation, who is president of the new cooperative.
Operated on plans of the Theater Guild in New York, the guild will finance each production.
The actor of the story, the director, and the star of each film will participate in the profits after the Guild is repaid first for its cash outlay.
"The Screen Guild," said Levee, "will aim to create an opportunity for accomplishing screen entertainment in a measure what the Theater Guild has accomplished for the stage."
He said the Guild will be able to make films at as much as one-third less than other companies since it will have no players, writers or directors on salary except during production.
The Guild itself will be non-profit. Stock will be offered motion picture persons, from among whom will be elected a board of directors and advisory council.
Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks, Joseph M. Schenck, Cecil B. DeMille and others have paid tributes to the Guild plan. Its picture program will be released through United Artists, according to tentative arrangements.

Washington, — Airships 1,000,000 cubic feet larger than the dirigible "Akron," will compose a fleet making semi-weekly trips from the United States to Europe and the Orient within four years, according to J. He reports that such a line is feasible for, from figures gathered, it has been found that more than 25,000 persons in the United States are willing to spend $750 a year in making an ocean trip in half the time required by ship.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Philadelphia: People who are interested in such things can now see rock that bends. "Tacomulite," they call it, and it comes from Brazil.
Philadelphia: Maj. Gen. Smedley Butler swears (he confesses), but he also prays before every campaign address. "I ask the Lord please to help me say the right thing," he said, "and it's been a big help." If the Lord doesn't want me to do this, I won't do it.

Fishkill, N. Y.: William Craig's dog got smart just in time. Craig figured the hound was getting old, so he arranged to have him put to death. When he reached the dog pound they were all out of lethal gas, so the dog was taken home to await the gas' arrival. As if he knew what was up, the dog suddenly became unusually active and began chasing rats with his old time vigor. By the time the rat poison had been dispatched 20 rodents, Craig decided to let him live out his days.

Boston: Men are traditionally supposed to be sea cooks, but the freighter Kinikka has arrived with two maids in tow. The crew said it had been long since they had eaten such delicious chuk.
New York: Robert Noseworthy, 22, and unemployed, found a necklace. He thought it was a cheap thing, but he asked a jeweler to look at it. The jeweler said it was worth $10,000; whereupon Noseworthy turned it over to the police.

Several newspaper check-up polls on Prohibition show a close conformity in returns to those of The Literary Digest Poll according to a comparison of the balloting tabulations.
In a poll of Iowa by the Des Moines Register, one of the oldest papers in the States, 74,897 voters returned figures which 31,009 or 41.70 per cent. favored "maintaining the present Prohibition law," and 43,848 or 58.30 per cent. voted against the amendment.

The latest figures in The Literary Digest poll give a total of 66,966 voters from Iowa. Using the slightly different question of "continuing instead of 'maintaining,'" 24,141 Iowans, or 36.05 per cent voted dry in The Digest poll and 42,824, or 63.95 per cent, voted for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.

The Des Moines Register deduces from their poll of Iowa that the farms and the cities vote wet, while the small towns vote dry.
In South Bend and Mishawaka, Indiana, 35 representatives of the South Bend News Times are making a house to house canvass of both cities. One vote of yes or no on the Prohibition question is permitted in each household. The ballots are placed in a locked box which is opened in the presence of a committee of citizens.

In this South Bend News Times poll 8,383 votes have been tabulated so far of which 2,082, or 24.83 per cent are for continuing the Prohibition Amendment and 6,301 or 75.17 per cent favor repeal.
Incomplete returns of The Literary Digest poll of South Bend show a total tabulation of 4,345 votes of which 976, or 22.46 per cent, are dry and 3,369, or 77.54 per cent, are wet.

In Mishawaka, Indiana, adjacent to South Bend, the News Times poll gives returns of 1,950 ballots to date of which 553, or 28.35 per cent, vote for Prohibition and 1,397, or 71.65 per cent, are for repeal. Incomplete returns from the same community in The Literary Digest poll show a total of 815 ballots received of which 221, or 24.12 per cent, are dry and 594 votes, or 75.88 per cent, are wet.

Using the same questions as are on The Literary Digest ballots, the Richmond News Leader is conducting a straw referendum in which only qualified voters of Richmond, Virginia, may participate and they must sign their names to the ballot.
The News Leader poll shows early returns of 1,611 votes of which 108, or 6.70 per cent, are dry and 1,503, or 93.30 per cent, are wet. Literary Digest returns for Richmond, Virginia, nearly complete, show a total of 7,950 votes from the city of which 1,472, or 18.51 per cent, are dry and 6,478, or 81.49 per cent, are wet.

Several other newspaper polls to check-up The Literary Digest returns locally are now in progress according to Dr. William Seaver Woods, Editor-in-Chief of the magazine.

DEMOCRATS ISSUE CALL FOR FUNDS

Claim Certain Victory In 15 States and Conceding Defeat In None.

Washington, April 4.—(AP) — In a call for campaign funds, distributed to more than 100,000 Democrats, party leaders are claiming certain victory in 15 states and conceding certainty of defeat to none.
"Victory-grams," leaflets distributed by the Democratic National committee in the $1,500,000 fund-raising drive ask for contributions up to the giver's limit to insure success in November, and the reverse display a map indicating presidential prospects.

Besides the 15 claimed as a certainty, 18 states are "counted as 'excellent prospects,' 11 rate 'fair prospects' and the last four are put down as 'least probable but possible.'
The "least probable but possible" are California, Michigan, Pennsylvania and Vermont. The 15 definitely claimed are "the Solid South" states, Maryland, Oklahoma, New Mexico, and Arizona. Eight of these states went Republican in 1928.

The "excellent prospect" states are Colorado, Connecticut, Kentucky, Montana, Nebraska, New York, Ohio, West Virginia, Delaware, Indiana, Massachusetts, Missouri, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Nevada, Rhode Island, Washington, and Wyoming. President Hoover carried the first eight in 1928. These two groups combined have 353 electoral votes. To win the presidency only 265 are required.

ZEPPELIN IS DAMAGED AS IT STARTS FLIGHT

Friedrichshafen, Germany, April 4.—(AP)—The Graf Zeppelin, which has made several non-stop flights to Brazil, was forced to postpone a scheduled flight today when, in taking off, a great rent, 35 feet long, was torn in the hull.
The start was made at 5:05 a. m. Less than an hour later persons at the airbase were surprised to see the Graf returning. It circled for some time and landed at 6:32.
The Zeppelin Works issued a statement saying that because of the great difference in temperature the ship rose slowly, causing the hull to strike a radio tower.

An inspection by Dr. Hugo Eckener, the Graf's commander, and other officials showed that the gas bags were not damaged and the tear was not serious, but it was stated the flight would be postponed until 4:30 a. m. tomorrow. The damage was noticed as soon as the ship left the ground, it was said, but she hovered over the field until the ground crew, which had gone home for breakfast, returned.

VETERANS TO HEAR ABOUT BONUS BILL

Subject of Moment To Be Discussed At V. F. W. Banquet Tonight.

The soldiers' bonus bill which will come before Congress this week will be discussed this evening at the Anderson-Shea Post banquet in the Sub Alpine club by James E. Lee, senior vice commander of the Connecticut Department, Veterans of Foreign Wars, which organization has consistently advocated and worked for the passage of the measure.

It is expected also that Captain Albert M. Simons, state liaison officer at the V. F. W., just returned from Washington, will review his findings of a recent trip to Washington where he conferred with proponents of the proposed bill known as House Bill No. 1.

Two other important legislative bills to come before this session of Congress, namely, the Widows and Orphans Bill and the Emergency Officers Retirement Act, will also be discussed by Department Officers at tonight's banquet.

In view of the fact that Senator Hiram Bingham has notified officers of Anderson-Shea Post that he does not favor, nor will he support the bonus bill, it was learned by Captain Simons that three Connecticut Congressmen favor and four are opposed to the bonus bill.

Captain Simons also stated that President Hoover's published statement that he would veto the bonus bill, "has helped to make the passage of the bill more certain. The payment of fifty per cent of the adjusted compensation certificates a year ago was only made possible by passage over President Hoover's veto.

A canvass of veterans of Manchester conducted unofficially by Anderson-Shea Post revealed that many would be benefited by the immediate payment of the remainder of the bonus. Very few veterans entitled to the fifty per cent payment of a year ago failed to make application.

The appearance here tonight of Captain Simons, Lieutenant James E. Lee, and Past Department Commander James F. Daley is expected to bring out the largest gathering of V. F. W. Post members since the organization of the Post a year ago.

The present membership of the Post is 120 members. Major Thomas Bannigan, Superintendent of the Veterans' Hospital, Newington, will be the special guest of Anderson-Shea Post tonight, which will begin at 8:30.

ROCKVILLE

Cottage Burns The Cormier cottage on the East shore of Crystal Lake was totally destroyed by fire on Sunday morning about 2:30. The cottage which was formerly owned by the Jacobson family of Stafford Springs, a two-story structure and was estimated to be worth about three thousand dollars. It was one of the prettiest cottages on the east side of the lake.

Two other buildings, the Market cottage and another owned by Frank Baker of Stafford Springs, were threatened and the latter building at one time caught fire but was extinguished by several men who were attracted to the scene by the large blaze which could be seen for miles around.

The Ellington fire department was called and Chief Clyde Cordsten with his men arrived at the scene but were unable to do anything because of the location. All did excellent work however, in preventing the fire from spreading. The fire is of unknown origin.

It will be remembered that early last Sunday morning Crystal Lake was the scene of another fire when the home of Mrs. Paul Schmae, formerly known as the old Stacy place, was destroyed by fire of unknown origin. Mrs. Schmae was forced to flee to the home of a neighbor and her pet dog perished in the blaze.

The local police, it is said, were notified immediately, but no clue has been found as yet.

Bowling League Banquet The Fire Department Bowling League which consists of teams from the Rockville, Stafford, Ellington and Tolland fire departments, held their annual banquet at the Prospect street engine house on Saturday night. This celebration was held as the wind-up of the season. Members of the Fitch company team were guests of honor and received the silver loving cup, being the winners in the tournament.

The festivities opened at 8 o'clock with a chicken and roast beef dinner, followed by a social hour. The menu consisted of roast beef, or roast chicken, dressing, brown gravy, peas, relish, celery, mashed potatoes, rolls, coffee, apple pie and cheese.

An informal program was held and Chief George B. Milne acted as master of ceremonies, being introduced by Edward Badstuber, chairman of the Bowling League committee. There were remarks of the chief, Assistant Chief William Conrady, chiefs of the visiting teams, fire commissioners and representatives of the local press, Tom Reay, Jr. and Stephen VonEuw.

During the program several presentations were made by Major A. E. Waite. The silver loving cup was awarded the Fitch company. Julius Genovece of the Fitch company received first prize as high score man and second prize went to Charles Feistel, high man for the Hook and Ladder company. Among others who received gifts were "Mike" Leonard, Herbert Wormstead and Captain Lester Bartlett, these latter being given by individual members.

There were about 85 members and guests present. Bowling and cards followed the dinner program. The Ordinance Revision Postponed It is not probable that Rockville will have a new set of city ordinances at the present time, as it would cost considerable money. The need of modernizing these ordinances is generally recognized in the community. The ordinance committee of the city council consisting of Alderman Roger J. Murphy, Councilman Robert Davies and William Rogalus, has been making a preliminary study of the ordinances. Many have been found useless and obsolete by changed conditions in the life of the city.

The present ordinances allows blocks park at railroad station so that trains can be met. It has been twenty years since hacks have been used and many years since trains have arrived in Rockville. Other such laws appear in the ordinances. To prepare an up-to-date set of ordinances would require the time of an attorney for several weeks as each of the old ones would have to be looked over carefully. The city charter, if rewritten, would also have to appear as a legal notice in local newspapers and also be printed in pamphlet form, resulting in the total cost of about $1,000.

Dr. Eddy Speaker Dr. Brewer Eddy, one of the leading Congregational religious leaders was the speaker at the morning service at Union Congregational church on Sunday morning at 10:30. He gave a most interesting talk on the present conditions in Japan and China, stressing the need of keeping up the missionary work in such fields. He told of the many Christian schools and colleges being conducted through the generosity of the Congregational churches throughout the world. He made an appeal to Union church members to give their contributions to this work, as many of the missionaries have had to be called home due to insufficient funds to carry on. This is due to financial conditions and depression at the present time. Dr. Eddy predicted that soon things were going to get a lot better, and asked the people to keep up faith and courage.

Hirth-Kuramal Miss Grace Kuramal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Kuramal of Tolland, and Harold O. Hirth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hirth of Orchard street, this city, were married on Saturday afternoon at the Tolland Federated church. Rev. James A. Davidson, officiating.

Miss Alice Meacham of Tolland was maid of honor and Miss Alice Hirth of Rockville was bridesmaid. Clarence Hirth, brother of the groom was best man and the ushers were Stephen Vincent, Edward Hirth and James Meacham. Miss Dorothy Kuramal was ring bearer.

The bride wore a gown of white satin and veil of white chiffon and Spanish lace. She carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses and lilies of the valley. The bride's attendants wore gowns of blue satin and carried bouquets of yellow roses.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bridegroom's parents in Rockville. The couple left later for a motor trip through the southern states and will return on High street upon their return.

Mrs. Hirth is a graduate of the Rockville High school, a member of the Girls' Choir of the Tolland Federated church and the N. C. C. Club of Tolland. The bridegroom is a member of the Wheel Club and is active in athletic affairs.

In Court Saturday James M. Jackson, Jr., 21, of Cambridge, Mass., was before Judge John E. Fiek of the Rockville police court on Saturday afternoon. He was fined $22.05 including costs. He was found guilty of speeding. Jackson was arrested by State Policeman Kenneth Stevens of the Stafford Springs barracks and was given an immediate hearing.

Funeral of Sarah Chapel The funeral of Mrs. Sarah Sadie (Scott) Chapel, of Longview who died at the Rockville City Hospital on Thursday, was held from Union Congregational church on Sunday afternoon at 2:30. There was a large number of relatives and sorrowing friends present. Rev. George Brookes, pastor, paid beautiful tribute to the memory of the deceased. The meeting of the town school committee was held a week ahead of the usual time, Thursday evening, at the town clerk's office. It seemed necessary to take action on the matter of teachers' salaries as the supervisor longer to close contracts as early as possible. In spite of the severe storm the meeting was well attended, most of the members being present. Supervisor Martin B. Robertson and Miss Florence Battle, assistant supervisor, motored over from Willimantic to attend. The meeting was conducted by chairman Robert E. Foote. A long discussion was held as to whether the teachers' salaries should not be lowered somewhat, in view of the present depression which has affected local people, especially dairy farmers. The chairman pointed out that the income from dairy farming has fallen more than forty per cent, and if the proposed lowering of milk prices is effected would be even greater. That greatly curtailing ability of taxpayers to meet expenses sufficient to carry on town business. As dairy farming is the principal business of the town the situation is becoming more and more critical. He insisted that the matter of teachers' salaries in the matter of teachers' salaries than some of the adjoining towns, Columbia, Lebanon, and others, although it is about at the bottom of the list of the 169 towns of the state in wealth based on each pupil. The supervisor reminded the members of special state aid which will probably be available this year, and it was finally voted to let the teachers' salaries remain the same as last year. In case the town receives this special aid the matter of closing the Gull school and the Jagger school was discussed, also the bringing of 7th and 8th grades from rural schools to the center, using the town hall as a school room, but no action was taken.

The stock tax distribution received from the state this year amounted to $106.08. This is $497.47 less than that received last year.

Tax payments are reported as coming in well at the town clerk's office. The tax collector paid for their work up to the first of March, as well as other town employees, such as those transporting school children. It is hoped that the straitened money situation will be overcome soon.

Complaints are coming in about the condition of the rural roads in various parts of the town. The road over which the town clerk has to drive to go to her office at Hebron Porter Hill, towards Exeter is reported also as being very deep in mud. Automobiles are said to be sinking as far as to the hubs in mud and water. One dairy farmer had to employ a tractor to drag his milk truck to the depot. The tractor went too slowly to admit of his getting to the depot on time for the train, so the milk had to be kept over to the next day. Fortunately it was still in good shape. The Hopevale road is always very bad at this time of the year.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Eismann of Elmhurst, L. I., arrived at their Hebron home on Thursday, remaining for the week-end, and returning to the city Sunday afternoon. The children had a school vacation.

Editor, The Herald, Dear Sir:

If there's a hole in a' your coats I rede's ye tent it. A chiel's amang ye takin notes And, faith he'll prent it.

After reading the Governor's Arbor and Bird Day Proclamation, I had a feeling that he had done a good job with a somewhat sentimental subject in this too practical age. On your editorial page I was amazed to find a cynical and sarcastic criticism of his effort, especially as the writer, by ascribing the Governor's quotation to Keats instead of to Shakespeare, showed he is, to say the least of it, rather incompetent to criticize.

"How are the mighty fallen." Heretofore, I have had an exalted opinion of the "erald's" editorials, but it looks as if "a little learning is a dangerous thing" and that the author is one of those "with just enough of learning to misquote." So, under the circumstances, I hope that I may still be allowed to think that the proclamation of the Governor is much better than his critic could have done.

The editor's effort reminds me of the individual who, on hearing the Governor's quotation of— "Tongues in trees, books in the running brooks Sermons in stones and good in everything," remarked: "Oh, you're away off. You mean, 'Sermons in books and stones in the running brooks.'" Yours truly, SCOT.

"Scot" perhaps did not notice the quotation marks around "green robed senators of mighty woods" in the principal paragraph of the governor's proclamation; the governor quoted twice, not once, as "Scot" appears to believe. We profess very little genius for memorizing other people's words, but we said "Keats" and we still say "Keats."—Ed. Manchester, Conn., April 4, 1932.

DEFENDS REC CENTERS Editor, The Herald: Dear Sir: I am hereby submitting an article which I trust will be inserted in your paper.

The next problem which now confronts the voters of our town is what disposition is to be made with the Recreation Centers. Owing to the depression, the taxpayers have, naturally, turned their attention more seriously toward the institutions which depend for their support on the money raised through taxes.

Will Rogers in his latest fun festival, "Business and Pleasure" will head the new bill Wednesday and Thursday. Hank Keene and his Connecticut Hill Billies will be presented as an extra added attraction also Wednesday and Thursday. This extremely popular radio organization will be seen and heard at the Wednesday and Thursday matinee as well as at the evening performance. For the past two years, Hank Keene and his Connecticut Hill Billies have been one of the most popular radio features. Their rendition of the old time songs and music has built one of the greatest followings of any of the regular radio features. The manager who takes pride in being fortunate enough to present Hank and his merry outfit in order that the many thousands of local folks who have heard them on the air may have an opportunity to see them in person. In addition to the regular performance, Hank Keene is offering local performers an opportunity to appear on the stage with him, and also the privilege to appear on the air with him during one of his regular broadcasts from Station WTRC. Anyone who can sing, dance, or play a musical instrument is invited to take part. A special audition will be held at the State on Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock, and anyone wishing to audition, Hank Keene and his Connecticut Hill Billies will appear in addition to the regular and complete program at no increase in admission prices.

PARSONS', HARTFORD Janet Beecher Although "Olivia Bows to Mrs. Grundy," the new comedy featuring Janet Beecher, at Parsons' Theater, April 7th, 8th and 9th, is the first work by Roland Bottomley to reach Broadway. It is not to be assumed that this is Mr. Bottomley's first attempt at playwriting. On the contrary, he is the author of several plays, including "Our Husband," "Wives Are Like That," "The Princess Intervenes" and "Pre-arranged Day Courting" any one of which are apt to be put into the production in the near future.

POLICE CHIEF DIES Keene, N. H., April 4.—(AP)—Harry F. Bunker, chief of police since March 28, 1929, died this morning from shock.

Bunker was stricken Friday night, after having been on duty during the day. He had been a member of the department 38 years. He was a member of the Masonic order and of the New Hampshire Police Chiefs Association.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Madrienne Winters of Lunenburg, Mass.

AMERICAN SHOOTS SELF April, April 4.—(AP)—George Hamman, of Troy, Ohio, was in serious condition in the American hospital today with a bullet wound in his chest.

Police said they had discovered the man had shot himself in the office of the United States Postmaster. They said they had learned that he had taken poison six weeks ago when he was demoted in the line's organization.

SHAW IS BACK HOME FROM SOUTH AFRICA

Southampton, Eng., April 4.—(AP)—George Bernard Shaw arrived today from his winter sojourn in Cape Colony, South Africa, with something to say about South Africa in particular and Ireland in general.

Here's what he told the reporters who met him at the gangplank: "South Africa does not know the war is over—the Boer war. The British and Dutch are still conducting a lively feud.

"The Dutch are a remarkable people mentally and physically, but religiously they live in the Seventeenth Century and believe in a brimstone hell. The Empire ought to send a few missionaries to them. I have done all I can.

"There is a terrible native question in South Africa and no place for poor white people. The only thing for poor whites is the lethal chamber.

"Ireland is like South Africa—the Irish don't know the war is over. The Irish Republican army still thinks Ireland is enslaved and must go on being 'agin' the government."

Some would object to bringing in subjects of a religious nature on the grounds that it is a non-sectarian newspaper. Very true, but there is a common spiritual level upon which all may unite which will not in any way interfere in the individual's own religious faith.

Past records show that the Recreation Center has been a boon to the physical well-being of many of our people. It affords a good clean sport. It affords a good opportunity for the young men and women of our community to avail themselves of a wholesome social center and by enlarging its scope would benefit the individual along the lines of a fuller life.

To build good roads, good bridges, or any other good works of a material nature is a good thing for the general welfare, but to build human life is far better. Very much more could be said in favor of continuing the Rec but its worth is evident to most of our people.

Let us not only hold the Rec as it is but work for its improvement so that it will fill even a larger place in our community.

A DIURETIC FOR THE KIDNEYS

the MAN HUNTERS

BY MABEL McELLIOTT

BEGIN HERE TODAY.
SUSAN CAREY, 19 and very pretty is learning stenography at a Chicago business school. Here she meets ROBERT DUNBAR, son of a millionaire, who is studying shorthand, because of a whim of his father's. Dunbar takes Susan to lunch and she likes him. BEN LAMPMAN, a dark, intense youth Susan has met at a party, takes her to a motion picture. On the way home they quarrel. Susan decides not to see him again. The girl makes her home with AUNT JESSIE, middle-aged and very strict.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER V
 The weeks wore on and soon it was June. A suddenly hot and breathless summer brooded over the city. The lake burned under a summer sun and girls began to wear their thinnest frocks and shadiest hats even in the downtown district.

To Susan, young and radiantly healthy, it was a pleasant enough time. She looked her best in the summer heat, her hair curled in little ringlets around her delicately flushed face. She had a new suit of blue knitted stuff and felt very much the young business woman wearing it.

Still there seemed no chance of her securing a job. Calls came in, dribbled into the office, where a superior young woman in white linen received them and passed them along to the super stenographers of Mr. Claude Block's upper class. Susan waited in vain to be called. At last there arrived a day when Mr. Block himself came in the doorway and beckoned to her.

"You—Miss Carey. Will you come here, please?"
 Trembling with pleasurable excitement, she complied. Mr. Block fingered a penciled slip on his desk. "With deep-set black eyes he looked her over, head to foot, and seemed to find the results satisfactory."

He said, "We've a call for a secretary at the Melo Iron Manufacturing Company. West Lake street. Go up there and get your darning." Susan accepted the slip from his fingers. He rapped out, after her, as she turned to leave, "Remember all I've been telling you these months. Chin up, walk like a soldier, smile."

Susan gave a very feeble imitation of the military manner as she took leave of the school martinet but her knees were shaking under her. She was not sure the atrocious Mr. Block of the super-super business methods would approve of her just then so she did not wait to find out. Jostling through the State street crowds, through hordes of women shoppers on the trail of juicy bargains, the girl felt suddenly uplifted. Mr. Block's lectures, listened to so wearily for so many days, in a muddled fashion. One thing was certain, she must not seem timid. She must appear sure of herself at all costs.

The facade of the building housing the Melo company was anything but appealing. Huddled under the elevated tracks, smoke stained and weather worn, it seemed to the job seeker to have a slightly sinister air. Susan consulted the slip again. Yes, it was the right number. Mentally girding herself for battle, she swung the heavy, dirty glass door inward.

A red-headed office boy, chewing gum, sat behind an ancient partition near the door. Behind him loomed stoves of all sizes and quality. Susan shuddered. After the heat of the street the place had a fetid coolness that reminded her of an unused cellar.

She advanced and said to the red-haired boy in what she hoped were the proper tones, "I wish to see Mr. Petterman. I am from Block's Institute."

Susan consulted the slip. Yes, it was the right number.

and picked her way fastidiously over the unbelievably dirty floor to the desk where the man sat. She heard an oily voice say ingratiatingly, "Sit down, young lady."

Shuddering inwardly, Susan slipped into the armchair beside him. The man called Petterman had a long sharp nose and hollow skin. His dark suit was crumpled and spotted. He wore a high starched collar that should have gone to the laundry several days ago. His pale blue eyes watered under sandy brows, repelling the shrinking girl. She reminded herself sternly of her obligation to Aunt Jessie, of Mr. Block's probably disappointment if she failed, and only by the exercise of will power was she enabled to endure another moment of the man's company.

"Experience?" barked the man, suddenly harsh-voiced after the oiliness of his approach. Susan shook her head. "I haven't any. I'm a beginner."

The man smiled and his smile was, curiously enough, uglier than his frown. He said unctuously, "Well, well, we can't all be experienced. We'll teach you. You'll learn. You won't," here he smirked horribly again, "and me a hard taskmaster."

Susan shrank into the farthest corner of the oaken chair. "Experience?" barked the man, suddenly harsh-voiced after the oiliness of his approach. Susan shook her head. "I haven't any. I'm a beginner."

YOUR CHILDREN

JUNIOR NEEDS TO BE PRAISED

Suggestion is the most potent influence in human life and this is particularly true of children.

More can be done by kindly suggestion in a minute, especially with a little child, than can be accomplished in a day of scolding. I wonder how many mothers realize this. What a young child needs is not correcting but skillful guiding in the right direction.

But the wrong kind of suggestion does much harm. For instance, if Billy's mother tells him every few minutes that he is naughty, he will take her literally, as all little people do, and his mind fixes itself on one fact. He is a bad boy. "What's the matter? You look as though you'd had bad news."

Susan's forced calm threatened to desert her. Her under lip trembled. To the young man she appeared like a pitiful child.

"Here, now!" A firm arm steered her into the doorway of a sweet-scented room. "What's the matter? You look as though you'd had bad news."

Susan's forced calm threatened to desert her. Her under lip trembled. To the young man she appeared like a pitiful child.

FAR-SIGHTED BABIES

New York—Every new-born child is far-sighted, Dr. P. Julian, director of the Better Vision Institute, reports. "The reason babies are naturally far-sighted is that focusing is a muscular effort and the visual muscles have not yet had a chance to develop," he explains. "Perhaps it indicates that man was not intended for the world of minute objects he has made for himself."

To take testimony in a mine disaster at Johannesburg, South Africa, a police court session was held on the 27th level of a gold mine, more than 7,000 feet underground.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

BEAUTY BATHS
 If it's true that "beauty is only skin deep," then it's mighty important that you take care of that skin!

And nothing, of course, will start it on the highway to beauty more surely than the bath.

A bath may be all things to all women—a stimulant, a rest, a relaxation. And though you may take it to induce a sense of well-being and health, don't forget that it is equally efficacious as a beauty treatment.

And as the best beauty treatment of all, I recommend the cold shower. Now, I know that a few years back cold showers were so much the vogue that a person almost was ashamed to admit even stepping into water that was the least bit tepid, and since then has been a reaction to cold showers on the part of those who adhere to them to be too severe for the average system. Well, your doctor is the best judge of whether icy waters "agree" with you. If he approves, use the cold shower as a boon to beauty.

Step out of bed, take a little exercise to stir the sleep-suggish circulation, and then—duck between the shower-curtains. If you have no shower, fill the tub with cold water the night before and then—courage!—step into it early in the morning.

The brisk feeling that cold water will give you cannot be attained in the best beauty emporium on the globe.

However, don't mistake the cold shower for a bath that has cleanliness as its goal. Don't forego the warm water that is kind to the soap. First, take a hot tub the night before. Second, have a hot shower with soap and brush before turning on the cold shower in the morning.

Again, if it's a tub bath and not a shower that you take, let cold water follow hot water "into your tub and enjoy the benefits of a cold rinse."

Clear eyes, snap and verve, a lift to your step, a new animation about the whole of you—these are the beautiful things that the bath will do for you.

Wind vs. Beauty
 Windy spring is just naturally hard on beauty. You must take more precautions than usual to keep your skin lovely, your eyes and hair bright and shining.

In the first place, remember that no wind in cities is clean and pure. All kinds of tiny particles of dirt fly about and often your face and your eyes seem magnets to draw them all.

This is the time of year to carry a small tube of cleansing cream or a tiny bottle of face cleanser in your purse. Also keep an eye cup in your office desk. There is nothing like an eye cup to get out a speck before it becomes deeply lodged in your eye.

Changing to silk things, from woolen, carries a certain chance for catching cold, even in fairly mild weather. Now is the time, therefore, to begin taking salt baths to harden your skin or at least take a cold shower every morning before stepping out.

High coat collars also have the disadvantage of becoming soiled much more easily than low ones and in turn soiling your spotted neck. Don't forget to wipe off your collars quite often with cleansing fluid. And don't forget to wipe off your neck, either. That is what the cleansing cream and fluid is in your purse for!

Spring is the time to begin taking care that you are meticulously groomed. Whether you need it or not, use a good deodorant and anti-perspirant. As a matter of fact, most individuals do need this type of care, whether they know it or not. It pays to be very careful about personal grooming and especially when warm weather approaches.

Last, but not least, be sure your teeth are in good order. A bad tooth can offend folks talking to you long before it begins to ache. And bad breath is one thing you shouldn't ask your business associates or friends to bear. When you wash your teeth night and morning, use an antiseptic mouth wash and play safe.

AVERAGE DOCTOR LIVES TO 64, DESPITE HIS UNUSUAL HAZARDS

By DR. MORRIS FISHER
 Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

Each year about 3,000 doctors die in the United States. The doctor's life brings him unusual hazards from which other people do not suffer.

The average age at death of the doctors was about 64 years, although many doctors live longer. For instance, two doctors lived to be 99 years old and 30 lived to be over 90.

On the other hand, 23 doctors died under the age of 30, and 51 died between 30 and 35. As with others, many doctors died from automobile accidents. Seventy-one thus terminated their existence in 1931, as compared with 66 in 1930.

Doctors also died from falls, from drowning, from airplane accidents, from gunshot wounds, from illuminating gas, and from overdoses of medicine.

Sixty-four doctors committed suicide in 1931, which was two less than in 1930. The economic depression might have been expected to cause more deaths, since doctors suffer especially at such periods because people delay paying doctor bills more than any other type of bills they owe.

As is also the case with the majority of the public, heart disease produced more deaths than any other cause. One reason heart disease is an increasing cause of death is that people are living longer than they used to.

The physician is constantly in contact with infection and he is in a way even a menace to the children in his own family through the infection that he may bring in. Physicians employed in institutions for the insane and in prisons are frequently subject to attack by their patients.

The demands on the eyesight of the physician lead frequently to visual disturbances. The X-ray worker is sometimes a martyr to his occupation.

Above all, physicians are exposed to severe weather and in many instances pneumonia, rheumatic infection, and similar diseases result from the combination of infection and exposure. The path of the doctors does not always lead in pleasant places.

A BOOK A DAY

BY BRUCE CATTON
 SHOW HOW LOVE CAN BE A CURSE

Romances in "The Rats of Norway" Bring Tragedy Instead of Happiness.

Novelists ordinarily treat love as something romantic and delightful—a pleasing emotion that projects two people into one another's arms and sets them marveling at what a fine place the world can be.

Now and then, though, a writer more hard-boiled than most will describe a different kind of love; a mad flame that is more curse than blessing, that wrecks lives instead of perfecting them, that brings a mixture of ecstasy and utter misery.

You'll find that kind of love story in "The Rats of Norway," by J. Keith Winter.

The scene is an English school for boys, and there are two characters of lovers; an instructor who falls in love with the headmaster's wife, and another instructor who becomes entangled with the young lady music teacher.

The first two are completely destroyed by their love. They cannot make one another happy, and they know it—but they can't leave one another alone, either, and they wind up in a catastrophe that smashes their little world entirely.

The other instructor takes love more lightly—only to discover that the music teacher doesn't. Not deeply moved himself, he learns when it is too late that he has ruined the girl's whole life; and the mere fact that his intentions and conduct are both irreproachable doesn't help matters a bit.

Mr. Winter can write exceedingly well. Proof of it lies in the fact that he can make an essentially unimportant tale seem, while you are reading it, deeply significant. It doesn't amount to much, but it holds your interest.

This book is published by Doubleday, Doran and Co., at $2.50.

PRETTY PARTICULAR

Jacksonville, Fla.—Police arrested the most particular beggar they ever encountered. He was reported to have approached several housewives and begged for money. When they gave him food instead, he threw the food away and walked off. He was given 30 days in jail, where he can't be too particular about his food.

PREFERS HIS DRINK

Houston—Dry agents caught Prince Garrett, negro, on a liquor charge. "Which would you rather have, a $100 fine suspended five years and not be able to take a drink, or a $50 fine payable in 10 days and be able to take a drink?" Judge Kennerly asked him. "Judge," Garrett replied, "Ah ain't got so much money, but ah believes ah'll take de $50 fine and pay it outright, cause ah gits er misery in mah stomach and it ain't nothin' but lik-

CRABBE U. S. ACE FOR THE OLYMPICS

Captures 1,500, 300 and 500 Yard Swims In National A. A. U. Meet In New Haven; Kalili Wins 100 and 200 Free Styles.

New Haven, April 4.—(AP)—The committee charged with selecting the American Olympic swimming team has something to cheer about as a result of the record-breaking performances in the National Senior A. A. U. championships. Officially the four-day meet in the Yale pool last week had connection with the Olympics but its results is expected to have considerable bearing on the selection of the American team.

The meet, attended by members of the Olympic committee, produced five new world records and a new American record of 19 minutes, 45.3 seconds in the 1,500 meter swim, an event added because of the Olympic program.

Clarence (Buster) Crabbe of the Los Angeles A. C., who piled up 15 points to win individual honors, posted the new mark in the 1,500 yard race. He also set a new world time of 3:36 2-5 in winning the 300-yard medley swim and capped this achievement by annexing the 500-yard free style crown.

The east coast was represented in the list of record-breakers by the New York A. C. which set new records in the 400-yard relay and the 300-yard medley relay. Two of its members, Leonard Spence and George Kojac, also made successful assaults on world records. The former swam the 220-yard breast stroke even in 2:44, while his teammate made a new time of 1:37 2-5 for the 150-yard backstroke.

Six of the 11 championships went to the Los Angeles A. C., four to the New York club and the other to Dick Degener of Michigan, who dethroned Mickey Riley of the West Coast Club as the highboard diving champion. The latter however retained his low board diving crown.

Malia Kalili joined his teammate, Crabbe, as the only individual winner of more than one title. He took the 100-yard and 200-yard free style crowns.

Philadelphia, April 4.—(AP)—

Humbles in by the Phillies in the city series opener Saturday, the Athletics heartened themselves for a renewal of the rivalry today by traveling to Newark to defeat Al Mamoux's Bears, 4 to 2 in a Sunday game.

The Phils didn't need any heartening but they went to Baltimore anyway and trounced the Orioles 5 to 4.

The five-game series for the championship of Philadelphia will be interrupted again tomorrow when the A's go to Princeton to play the Tigers.

New Orleans, La., April 4.—(AP)—Dazzy Vance of the Brooklyn Dodgers stopped the Cleveland Indians dead for four innings yesterday but his successor, Babe Phelps, 3 to 2. Vance got seven strikeouts.

Louisville, Ky., April 4.—(AP)—The New York Yanks have just about given up the job of trying to figure out what his fellow Lynn Lary will do next.

Lyn was hopefully stationed at third base at the start of the training season, and instead of taking the usual time to get acquainted with his position, he immediately began to look like a star at the hot corner. Then his hitting began to slump, and he was dropped to the eighth place in the batting order and he replied to that change yesterday by slugging out two doubles and a triple in the Yanks slugfest against Memphis, scoring four runs and batting in two more.

San Francisco, April 4.—(AP)—The New York Giants were on the way back east today. Their next stop is Kansas City where they are to meet the Detroit Tigers Wednesday.

Kansas City, April 4.—(AP)—Larceny of bases, the Detroit Tigers have discovered is rife in the American Association. Yesterday they watched the Kansas City Blues steal three bases in the eighth inning of an exhibition game which the Blues won 6 to 5. It was their second straight victory over the major leaguers.

St. Petersburg, Fla., April 4.—(AP)—The 27 players who comprise the personnel of the 1932 Boston Braves hit the trail Northward tonight on the first game of the trip is scheduled for tomorrow at Richmond where they meet the Richmond club of the Eastern League.

Alameda, Cal., April 4.—(AP)—The infant son of Johnny Vergez, third baseman of the New York Giants died here yesterday after a month's illness. The child, John Louis Vergez, Jr., was three months old.

CAGLE IN CRASH

Cagle was on the way to New Britain with a basketball team he manages. The team continued in another automobile after the speedy trial and played the game. No one was hurt.

Cagle's automobile turned over twice after hitting an automobile driven by Mrs. Freda Benson of Beacon Falls.

The Herald Newsboys defeated Gus's Hicks 24-8 at the Franklin gym Saturday afternoon. The deciding game of the series will be played the latter part of this week.

Featherweight Tourney Will Start on Friday

New York, April 4.—(AP)—The National Boxing Association makes its first move toward finding a successor for Christopher (Bak) Battalino as featherweight champion at Detroit Friday night when four leading contenders for the vacant 126 pound throne will clash in the opening bouts of an elimination tourney.

In 10 rounds—Tommy Paul of Buffalo will meet the Utica, N. Y., veteran, Bushy Graham. In the other Freddy Miller of Cincinnati will take on Frankie Wallace of Cleveland.

The week's fast program will open at New York tonight when the veteran Spanish heavyweight Paulino Uzcudun meets Jack Gagnon of Boston in the ten round feature bout at the St. Nicholas Arena.
On Friday at the Boston Garden, Lou Brouillard, Danieison, Conn., youngster who recently lost the welterweight title to Jackie Fields, will take on Johnny Indrisano of Boston.

Nurmi, Ladoumegue, Foreign Track Stars, Under Suspension

Finnish Star's Case Being Investigated But Chances of Either Competing in Olympics Believed To Be Slim.

New York, April 4.—(AP)—Within a month, charges of professionalism have been leveled at two of Europe's greatest runners, Paavo Nurmi of Finland and Jules Ladoumegue of France and in all probability, neither will be eligible to compete in the Olympics at Los Angeles this summer.

Ladoumegue's name was stricken from the immaculate ranks March 4 and yesterday at Berlin the International A. A. F. suspended Nurmi from all international competition pending investigation of his amateur status by the Finnish Athletic Association at the behest of the I. A. A. F.

Details of the charges against Nurmi never have been divulged, but would Edstrom of Sweden, president of the I. A. A. F., throw any light on them at Berlin yesterday.

The charge against Ladoumegue was that he received payment, in disguised form, for competitive appearances.

OLYMPIC TRYOUTS

New York, April 4.—(AP)—The American Olympic track and field committee has come through with a new plan to save Olympic team aspirants some money.

Under the new plan any community to conduct a preliminary tryout on making application to the committee. Athletes placing first, second or third in these tryouts and equalling or bettering certain arbitrary standards fixed by the committee for each event, qualify automatically for the semi-finals at Chicago and Long Beach, Calif., July 8 and 9 and will not have to run in one of the 11 sectional tryouts already recommended to the general Olympic committee.

One exception was made, however. All athletes in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Eastern Pennsylvania, Maryland, District of Columbia and Porto Rico, will be required to compete in the eastern sectional tryouts at Cambridge, Mass., June 16-17.

WEED OUT BOXERS

Boston, April 4.—(AP)—Trials in the junior national boxing championship tourney to appraise prospective members of the United States Olympic team will take place tonight with 70 amateurs from all sections of the country except the far west competing. The semi-final and championship events will take place tomorrow night.

A. A. U. officials will not make any final selections during the tournament but the competition is expected to weed out the poorer scrappers.

Six winners in the recent New York Golden Glove tournament and the United States boxing team that toured Europe last fall will compete.

OPEN FORUM

CRUSADERS VS. W. C. T. U.

Editor of the Herald: In the Herald's story of the wet woman's rally on Monday night, Mrs. Cates is reported as comparing the membership of her organization with that of the W. C. T. U. These two classes of membership are hardly comparable. To be a member of the Woman's Reform organization (as I understand it) one signs a card to the effect that they are disgusted with prohibition and wish to join the organization and their membership holds from year to year. To be a member of the W. C. T. U. you must not only declare your interest in their objectives but also pay a yearly dollar due and help to raise other funds to carry on their many lines of work. A member who does not pay her dues during the current year is dropped from the roll so no deadwood is ever carried in the organization. You cannot compare memberships on such different basis.

It is gratifying to note in the editorial on this rally that the Herald feels we should all work toward destroying the monstrous liquor traffic. That is indeed a "consummation devoutly to be wished." We dry do not deny to anyone the right to work for the repeal of the 18th Amendment as provided in the Constitution, but that is a process which will require time and in the meantime, why do not these reform women turn their hands toward educating the youth of the land to avoid alcoholic liquors? Why not add their organized strength and their personal example to that of the National Educational Association and the Parent-Teachers Association and other great organizations that are instructing and warning our youth of the effect of alcohol on their bodies and minds and its menace to the safety of others?

MYSTERIOUS FIRE IN GORDON MARKET

Police Investigate Blaze At North End Early This Morning.

Fire of a mysterious origin damaged the Gordon Market on North School street at 12:30 this morning. Police questioned Herman Gordon, owner of the store which has been closed for about a month, and also took Mrs. Kate Bartlett, who claims to have discovered the fire, to police headquarters for investigation.

The fire started apparently in a pile of about fifty pounds of coal on which a box of paper had been placed. Fire Chief Edward R. Coleman found the binding wire after the fire had been extinguished and it resembled that on nearby boxes. Gordon denied any knowledge as to how the fire started and so far no arrest has been made.

GAS BUGGIES-A Threat or Promise

SENSE AND NONSENSE

Depression Philosophy

A depression is no respecter of persons.

We coast into a depression, we climb out.

A depression is essential to a real education.

A depression is never over until the people think so.

This depression is the link between yesterday and tomorrow.

Many people won't believe it long after the depression is over.

Don't marry Miss Depression. She will up and leave you if you do.

The depression has provided strange bedfellows for the underfeeling.

A depression helps us differentiate between our wants and our needs.

The longer the depression lasts the more quickly will be the recovery.
