

DELEGATES PICKED BY STATE'S G. O. P.

Although Uninstructed They Are Known To Be For Hoover—But Little Over Half Hour Taken To Complete Business.

Hartford, April 7.—(AP)—Nineteen uninstructed delegates to the National Republican convention known to be favorable to President Hoover's re-nomination were chosen today in a 33 minute session of the party's State meeting.

The only attempt to oppose any of the group was made by G. W. Hull of Burlington, sole delegate of the "Progressive Republican" faction, who sought to prevent the selection of Senator Hiram Bingham.

By a convention vote, Hull was ruled out of order because he had not presented another candidate. He said he opposed Bingham "as a matter of policy rather than personality."

J. Henry Roraback, National committeeman and state chairman, will head the delegation to the National Convention. Others in the group are Senators Bingham and F. C. Walcott and Representatives John Q. Tilson and Edward W. Goss.

Delegates Chosen
Nine delegates and alternates-at-large were nominated from the convention floor after Senator Bingham had been chosen permanent chairman. The five congressional districts then chose two delegates and two alternates each.

No resolutions to outline the delegates course of action were offered, in accordance with customs. Leaders previously have indicated, however, that the group will support Mr. Hoover.

Although some local delegations, such as Bridgeport, had been instructed to support any proposal for the repeal of the 18th Amendment, none was offered. A letter from the "Council of Twelve" of the allied prohibition organization asking support of the amendment was not read.

Senator Bingham, an avowed anti-prohibitionist, is expected to be the Connecticut member on the platform committee at the National meeting.

The new state committee at a meeting re-elected Mr. Roraback chairman, Miss Byrne vice chairman and Clarence G. Willard secretary.

The convention moved forward in rapid fashion, with Hull's endeavor to speak the only procedure outside the anticipated order of business.

RUMANIAN FLOODS CAUSE 50 DEATHS

40 Railway Lines Washed Out and Several Cities Are Reported In Ruins.

Bucharest, Rumania, April 7.—(AP)—Fifty persons are dead and many missing as a result of disastrous floods which have swept down the river valleys of Rumania since yesterday.

Railway traffic is crippled and forty railway lines washed out. Whole sections of several cities are in ruins.

The town of Soroca, on the Dniester river, near the Rumanian border, is reported practically destroyed. Schools and public buildings there collapsed under the pressure of the floods.

The dead include a score of women and children, and two engineers, three policemen and one army officer engaged in rescue work.

The people of several sections, frantic over delays in relief measures, blamed on authorities, have broken out into disorders. Enraged peasants stormed the village of Visul, near Maroszeitel, and drove out the notary public, the priest, the schoolmaster and their families. Gendarmes were attacked at several other places.

Officials in the flood areas said it probably would be some time before the total number of dead was known.

Everywhere there were reports of bodies floating amid the debris on the swollen streams.

The gipsy quarter of Bucharest was submerged and almost destroyed.

TOBACCO CROP LOST IN WAPPING BLAZE

Horse and Sheds On Kupchunos Farm Burn; Baled
Tobacco Total Loss.

Mrs. Annie Kupchunos of Ellington Road, Wapping, and her six children, only partly clad, stood by this morning for over an hour and watched their home, from which they had been driven, their large tobacco shed and a newly built sorting house burn to the ground. No aid of any kind in the way of fire fighting apparatus was available until at 2:40 the chemical truck of the Manchester fire department in charge of Chief Edward Coleman arrived and stood ready to prevent the spread of fire to the other buildings.

Hear Explosion
Shortly before 2 o'clock this morning, according to the story told by the oldest son, Benedict, and later by his mother, there was a sound like an explosion in the house. It awakened all, but was more noticeable in the front part of the house where Benedict was sleeping. His room was filled with smoke. Getting into such clothes as he could he ran from room to room and assisted in getting his mother, his sisters, Nellie and Margaret and his brothers, Walter, Paul and Henry on their way down the stairs fearing they would be caught in the upper part of the house. The explosion was followed by a stream of fire, he said, that shot out through the chimney and sent the sparks onto the large tobacco shed just south of the home.

The family was only out of the

BISHOP LEONARD DEFENDS HOOVER

Attacks Wet Press For Misrepresenting President;
Blames Liquor Interests.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., April 7.—(AP)—Formally launched the Troy conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, today attacked the business before it and listened to addresses by the Rev. Ralph Cushman of Rochester, Dr. M. E. Davis of Cincinnati, Dr. Henry E. Crane of Scranton, Pa., and Bishop C. L. Mead of Denver.

The conference was formally opened last night when Bishop A. W. Leonard of Buffalo, addressing the delegates, assailed what he called the "wet" press, declaring it "misrepresented" President Hoover. No executive since Abraham Lincoln has been so "misrepresented" as the Chief Executive, Bishop Leonard said. He traced it to prohibition foes.

Criticizes Japan
The Buffalo prelate criticized Japan for the course the nation was following in China. Bishop Leonard is a student of the Far East and he drew upon his background of the Orient and Oriental governments for his references to the Sino-Japanese utterances.

He said the League of Nations was the bulwark against Soviet Russia and the Russian menace which threatened China. A "world mind" will bring the League to a point where it can ease economic pressure to halt aggression by war-like nations.

The Troy conference is made up of churches in eastern New York, Massachusetts and Vermont. A mass meeting of laymen will be held tomorrow and the annual dinner will be Saturday night. The speaker for that occasion is Louis Hartman, editor of the Zion Herald. Pastoral changes will be announced next Monday, last day of the conference.

Child Labor Recognized as Economic Menace During Depression Times

Child labor was an almost forgotten social problem during the boom years. But now it has become an economic menace. In nearly every section of the country, thousands of minors under the age of 18 are holding down jobs that could be filled by adults.

In addition, there are amazing conditions under which American children still are allowed to work. From every standpoint—health, education, wages, compensation for injuries and hours of labor—surprisingly few advances have been made since child labor first was branded as "our national disgrace."

Just what are these conditions and what is this richest of countries going to do about them? You'll find the answers in a series of three articles beginning tomorrow in The Herald.

LEAGUE'S BID TO SHUT RECS VOTED DOWN

Petition Dismissed As Friends of Recreation In 9th District Overwhelm
"Taxpayers" Group.

After 40 minutes of heated discussion on the Taxpayers League resolution to close the Ninth District recreation buildings, a chorus of "ayes" settled the matter, for the present at least, sustaining Howell Cheney's motion to dismiss the petition. The Taxpayers League filed the petition containing the required 20 names ten days ago and the Ninth District School Board granted the hearing last night, although the board questioned the legality of the petition. The meeting was held in High School Hall.

W. C. Cheney, chairman of the Ninth District School Committee, opened the meeting at 8 o'clock and William C. Cheney was elected chairman. Mr. Cheney said that president over a school committee was "a little out of his line." He, however, "hoped those present would bear with him."

Clerk Charles R. Hathaway read the call and Howell B. Cheney moved for dismissal of the petition and it was immediately seconded. Jacob Lauffer, a member of the Taxpayers League and a member of the Executive committee, asked if the Recreation Committee had prepared an estimate of the cost of operation of the recreation buildings for the year. Edward F. Taylor, chairman of the Recreation Committee, read the prepared estimate of the cost of operation of the Ninth District recreation buildings, which is contained in this issue of The Herald.

Speaks For Rec
John E. Dwyer, a member of the Taxpayers League, spoke in favor of retaining the recreation buildings for their great benefits to the young men and women of the town.

He said that he had taken an active part in athletics in his town and that the recreation centers had been of great benefit to the various athletic teams using the buildings for changing clothes, showers and meeting places for participants.

The speaker said he hoped they would close the buildings and have these same teams "change their clothes in a barn."

Jacob Lauffer asked Mr. Dwyer through the chair how many times

REV. DR. MCGIVNEY ELEVATED BY POPE

Bridgeport Priest Is Made a
Monsignor and Becomes a Domestic Prelate.

Hartford, April 7.—(AP)—The Rev. John J. McGivney, L.L.D., pastor of St. Charles Borromeo's church, Bridgeport and National chaplain of the Knights of Columbus has been raised to the rank of domestic prelate by Pope Pius XI, it was announced this week in the Catholic Transcript. The honors carried with it the title of Right Rev. Monsignor. Dr. McGivney is widely known not only in Connecticut but throughout the country at large, his activities on behalf of the Knights of Columbus having brought him national distinction. He is the third member of the McGivney family to hold the national chaplaincy in the Knights of Columbus. Preceding him were his two brothers, the late Rev. Mgr. Patrick J. McGivney and the late Rev. Michael J. McGivney, founder of the organization.

Mr. McGivney is a native of Waterbury, being born there on October 25, 1870. After attending grammar and high school, he entered St. Charles College, Ellicott City, Md., to complete his course in the classics. He studied philosophy at St. John's Seminary, Brighton, Mass., and pursued theology at Our Lady of Angels seminary, Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Washington, April 7.—(AP)—A new sweeping denunciation of President Hoover's naval policy was issued today by the Navy League of the United States.

The President was charged with neglect of the Navy and with wrongly parading armaments as the "scapegoat" for the great increase in taxation during recent years. This charge was accompanied by an argument to show other expenditures have played the major part in building up the taxpayer's burden.

The League said Mr. Hoover had done "virtually nothing" to replace vessels which have passed or are reaching the limit of effective age and that while Europe armoulers and Asia is ablaze, the President insists we cannot afford even to start moderate measures for building up our fleet to treaty terms.

Menaced by Newfoundland Rioters

Assaulted by infuriated mobs that stormed parliament buildings in St. John's, Newfoundland, and wrecked government offices, Prime Minister Sir Richard A. Squires was reported to have resigned. Sir Richard is shown above in a recent photo with his wife. Though present in the legislative assembly when the rioters seized the building, Lady Squires was unharmed. The riot—described as "virtual revolution"—was attributed to the slowness of the government in dealing with public demands for unemployment relief.

U. S. MARINE IS KILLED IN WILDS OF NICARAGUA

Natives In Mutiny Shoot Also Second In Command; Airplanes Sent Out To Hunt
For the Mutineers.

Bluefields, Nicaragua, April 7.—(AP)—Sergeant Charles J. Levenski, U. S. Marine Corps, of New York, a lieutenant in the Guardia Nacional of Nicaragua, was killed yesterday in a mutiny led by discontented native sergeants at Kisolaya, a Guardia outpost at which he was in command.

His lieutenant, Carlos Reyes, a Nicaraguan, was wounded. The remoteness of the outpost is believed to have inspired the natives to start the mutiny. Kisolaya is located on the Wanks river. Twenty-five men were stationed there with two officers.

After the officers had been attacked, ten loyal guards joined the nearest garrison while fifteen armed men went up the river for Jinotepe.

Colonel Lloyd L. Leech, of Virginia, commander of the Atlantic coast, is sending every effort to the airplane reconnaissance and patrol squad work to capture the mutineers.

Levenski had been in Nicaragua for more than four years and had an excellent record for gallantry in the war with the Segovias.

He was considered popular with the native soldiers and was rated as one of the most efficient officers in the republic.

NO ACCORD IS REACHED BY DEMOCRATS ON TAX

Mutineers Take Over
Whole Ecuador Navy

Guayaquil, Ecuador, April 7.—(AP)—Mutineers took over the entire Ecuadorian navy, consisting of the gunboats Tarqui and Cotopaxi, today and, heaving up the anchors, steamed out of this port as the liner Bodegraven went in with former President Leonidas Plaza Gutierrez. Their departure took the port authorities by surprise and only subsequently was it learned the garrison at Fort Punta Piedra also had rebelled and taken over control. Apparently this whole movement was designed to prevent the landing of General Plaza, but the authorities here said they would get him ashore if they had to surround him with troops. The steamboat Guayaquil was loaded with Marines and started for Punta Piedra to put down the rebellion there. The authorities said Commander Diogenes Fernandez was the leader of the movement and that one of his lieutenants was Commander Ildefonso Mendoza.

CAPT. HAWKS INJURED AS PLANE HITS WALL

Speed King of the Air Seriously Hurt In Attempting

Worcester, April 7.—(AP)—Capt. Frank Hawks, speed king of the air and holder of several transcontinental records was seriously but not critically injured shortly after 10 o'clock this afternoon when he crashed into a stone wall while attempting to take off from the Worcester Airport. He was planning to go to Boston to gas his plane, then to New York.

A soft field forced Captain Hawks to attempt a takeoff from dirt road cutting across the airport but his proven unsatisfactory for the famous flier and he then took off across the field. Unable to gain the seventy miles an hour speed necessary to lift his ship from the field his plane plowed through underbrush, and then struck rocky ground, overturned completely while traveling at a 50 miles an hour clip.

JAIL SENTENCES FOR KATZ-FRENCH

Former Members of Hartford School Board Get Nine Months In County Jail

Hartford, April 7.—(AP)—Two former members of the Northwest District School district committee and six contractors faced jail sentences today as a result of convictions of unlawful dealings in school district contract awards.

Raymond H. French, former chairman of the committee and Abraham A. Katz, former member of the school committee each pleaded guilty to unlawful taking of fees and commissions in the award of contracts in Superior Court yesterday and were each sentenced to nine months in the county jail. The six contractors were given sentences ranging from four to seven months.

State Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn in granting the case said the two committee members had received between $20,000 and $35,000 in bribes from the six contractors over a period of 18 months. He severely criticized the district system of school administration.

Savants Watch Asteroid To Measure Sun's Distance

Pasadena, Cal., April 7.—(AP)—Astronomers at Mount Wilson Observatory and others in this country and Europe are keeping a close watch on Delport's "object," an asteroid or comet, discovered recently by an astronomer at the University of Brussels.

"Our observations of it have disclosed no tail and seemingly only reflected light," said Dr. Frederick H. Seares, indicating it is an asteroid and much closer to the earth than any yet found.

It was in Cicero that Rosetta Duncan, the musical comedy star, had her nose broken and charged a burly policeman did it.

It was in Cicero that William McGivney, young assistant state's attorney, fell under gangland bullets.

It was in Cicero that "Scarface Al" Capone, an unknown young hoodlum, got out for underworld supremacy beside Johnny Torrio, his "master." And there Capone's older brother, Frank, was slain by police.

REPORT ON HAWAII AROUSES GOV. JUDD

Says Richardson's Recommendations Would Destroy Self Government.

Washington, April 7.—(AP)—Governor Lawrence M. Judd of Hawaii, today communicated to Secretary Wilbur vigorous opposition to recommendations of Assistant Attorney General Richardson terminating them "a consecration by Congress of some of our most treasured right of self government."

Judd said that to transfer to Washington the appointment of the territorial attorney general and police head would result in divided authority between the governor and these officers with a resultant loss and not gain in efficiency and no centralized responsibility.

The Hawaiian governor quoted an editorial in the Honolulu Star Bulletin, published by former Governor Farrington, which said the Richardson report would have the United States treat Hawaii "as the British treat the people of India or Egypt."

Destroys Government
"His report strikes at the very vitals to destroy American self government," it continued. "It is another wedge to make bureaucracy of Federal government triumphant. Its purpose is not to foster self government. Its purpose is to destroy self government."

In another quotation from the Star Bulletin Judd said there was "no more justification for the proposal for the President to name the territorial chief of police of Hawaii than there is for the president to name the attorney general of California or New Mexico or to name the chief of the state police of the sovereign state of Pennsylvania or New York."

Good Citizens
Judd asserted that self government should be fostered in Hawaii and not hindered, and maintained that "the findings do not justify the conclusion that our citizens of many racial ancestries have failed to perform their duties as well as those of the mainland."

"I respectfully urge," he said, "that Hawaii be accorded the confidence to which she is entitled and that we be permitted to solve our own problems in the usual American way."

Secretary Wilbur made Judd's telegram public without comment.

FACE LISTENED TO PROMISES OF PROPERTY BEING JUST AROUND THE CORNER, OR WHO, FROM PATRIOTIC MOTIVES, REFRAINED FROM AGGRAVATING AN ALREADY AGGRAVATED SITUATION IN THE SECURITY MARKET, ARE NOW CON- FRONTED ONLY WITH AN ADDITIONAL SHRINKAGE IN THEIR SECURITY VALUES BUT WITH A FURTHER LOSS OF THE IN- COME TAX DEDUCTION GIVEN TO OTHERS WHO DID SELL BEFORE 1932?

"What incentive would there be for a man to put his money into securities for profit when if he realizes such a profit, he will have to part with the major portion of it in Federal income taxes, plus perhaps a stiff rate income tax? However, should he sustain a loss, he will have the privilege of footing the bill 100 per cent."

Benjamin C. Marsh, speaking for the People's Lobby, urged the committee to boost income rates, but particularly on higher incomes. He

TREASURY BALANCE

Washington, April 7.—(AP)—Treasury receipts for April 5 were $5,466,151.22; expenditures, $16,894,192.41; balance, $582,290,767.25. Customs duties for five days of April were $3,510,948.94.

Say They Are Willing To Work On Measure On a Non Partisan Basis So As To Hasten Passage of Bill; New York Board of Trade Supports Secretary Mills' Views.

Washington, April 7.—(AP)—Senate Democrats sought unsuccessfully today to agree that new taxes on imports should be barred from the billion dollar revenue bill.

In a party conference held while the finance committee was hearing new objections to the stock and bond transfer levies and the high taxes on business, the Democrats expressed themselves in favor of prompt enactment of the measure to balance the budget and said they were willing to work on it on a non-partisan basis.

The conference did not discuss a general sales tax. Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the leader, said "apparently the action of the House on the subject is regarded as conclusive."

Demands were voiced in the meeting for a ban on all tariff duties in the revenue bill. Senator Robinson said that the tax on stock sales be reduced from one-fourth of one per cent to four cents a share.

Opposition also was expressed to levies on sporting goods.

BACKS SEC. MILLS
Washington, April 7.—(AP)—Support of the program of Secretary Mills for elimination of "punitive business taxes" from the House tax bill was given before the Senate finance committee today by M. L. Seidman, representing the New York Board of Trade.

He advocated elimination of the House levy on bond transfers; asked reduction of the stock transfer levy from one-fourth of one per cent to four per cent per share; and proposed a cut in the maximum inheritance tax from 45 per cent to 25 per cent.

"How would you raise the money?" demanded Chairman Smoot.

"Manufacturers sales tax as a last resort," replied Seidman. "Our board favors that form of taxation. We also believe government expenditures should be cut. Salaries have been cut from 10 to 40 per cent in industry."

"Well, they are not going to be cut here," replied proposed Senator Couzens (R-Mich.).

Democrats Meet
While Seidman was testifying before the finance committee, Senate Democrats convened in a party conference to outline a policy on the fiscal problem. The conference was called by Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader.

Seidman assailed particularly the House provision removing the allowance for deduction of security losses from taxable income.

"Should this proposal be adopted," he argued, "Congress will be taxing what is now the only consolation left to the poor security owner for the staggering losses and the dwindling of values in the market."

"Security losses are not equitable, does not impose a tax in accordance with ability to pay, and certainly gives an unfair advantage to those taxpayers who took such losses during 1930 and 1931."

Face Listened to Promises of property being just around the corner, or who, from patriotic motives, refrained from aggravating an already aggravated situation in the security market, are now confronted only with an additional shrinkage in their security values but with a further loss of the income tax deduction given to others who did sell before 1932?

"What incentive would there be for a man to put his money into securities for profit when if he realizes such a profit, he will have to part with the major portion of it in Federal income taxes, plus perhaps a stiff rate income tax? # HARTFORD FIREBUG GETS SEVEN YEARS Admits Setting Long Series of Fires in February and March; Revenge Is Motive

Hartford, April 7.—(AP)—Branded as a menace to life and property Angelo Balachino, 24, of 22 Russell street, jobless father of three children, was sentenced to four to seven years in State Prison by Judge Arthur F. Ellis in Superior Court this morning on a charge of arson.

Balachino pleaded guilty to setting a long series of fires here in February and March, in one of which an aged man escaped and another by being carried out to safety by a passerby. Assistant State Attorney Donald J. Gaffney asserted that Balachino was suspected of setting one fire that caused $80,000 damage.

The stumped, under-sized youth was examined last night by Dr. Edward N. Costello whose report to the court definitely classified Balachino as a pyromaniac who, as an outlet for emotions induced by fancied ill-treatment as a city ward, deliberately set the blazes.

Balachino who had been receiving city aid, offered as his only defense that the city was letting his wife and children starve and he started the fires in revenge.

ing Mr. Hoover with exhibiting "abysmal ignorance" on naval matters. That incident ended with the verdict of a special board, chosen by the President to investigate the charges, which upheld Mr. Hoover. Today's statement was issued over Gardner's signature in the form of a printed 17 page pamphlet entitled "The Treasury Deficit and a Treaty Navy."

League's Argument

Over the past 20 years the League said, Federal military expenditures have increased far less than three fold while expenditures for non-military purposes have allowed to increase eight fold and it also stated that under Mr. Hoover's management, non-military expenditures have gone up thirty percent while he had reduced expenditures for military purposes 2 percent.

The League blamed on the President's insistence the shelving by the House Naval committee this session of the Vinson bill for building the fleet up to treaty limits over a ten year period. It argued that this was "allegedly because of the financial situation of the treasury," contended the bill involved only $18,000,000 expenditure in the fiscal year for 1933 and contrasted this item with expenditures of hundreds of millions for various emergency purposes which it said were "approved by the President."

ABOUT TOWN

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Halgren and small daughter, formerly of Hartford, are now occupying one of Arthur Hutchinson's houses at 168 Henry street.

Scribes of all the various Girl Scout troops in Manchester, accompanied by their captains, will visit The trials, pines, Wednesday, April 18, at the close of school.

Mary C. Kenney Tent, Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, will meet this evening at 8 o'clock in the State Armory, for its regular business session.

Thomas Weldon, son of Dr. T. H. Weldon, who has been seriously ill and confined to his home, his life being considered in the balance for several days, had a change for the better yesterday. His condition is still critical and it will be three or four more days before the crisis is reached.

The Manchester Assembly, Order of Rainbow Girls, will attend the morning service at St. Mary's Episcopal church on Sunday, meeting at the church at 10:30 o'clock. Mother Advisor Mrs. Burt L. Knight requests that all members be present as this is one of the obligatory services of the year.

Scandia Lodge, No. 28, Order of Vasa, will hold its regular meeting at Orange Hall at 8 o'clock tonight.

The Beethoven Glee Club will rehearse at the Swedish Lutheran church at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

The chairman of the various committees in charge of the annual Conference Luther League, to be held at the Swedish Lutheran church here in June, will meet at the church at 9 o'clock tonight.

Victor Duke of Pearl street, World War veteran was admitted to the U. S. Veterans' Hospital, Newington, yesterday for an operation.

Division No. 1 A. O. H. will hold the regular meeting tonight in St. James's Hall at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Marion E. Rowe, Home Economic with the Manchester Electric Company conducted another successful home cooking demonstration this afternoon in the Warner Home Bank and Trust building. The following menu of foods cooked on the Universal range was served to more than 60 women guests: cream of tomato soup, fried potatoes, French fried potatoes, Harvard beets, refrigerator cookies, and coconut custard. Preparations are being made for the annual demonstration of electric refrigerators which will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week in the same location.

Hose company No. 3, S. M. F. D. was called out at 2:45 yesterday afternoon for a grass fire in the rear of Christopher Gienny's home at 74 Porter street.

Frank Wilson, of 96 1/2 Foster street, has been confined to his bed for the past four days on the advice of his doctor, suffering with a severe cold.

It takes longer to pass examinations for automobile drivers' licenses now than when the examinations were made by the state police. A representative of the motor vehicle department, in town today, had fifteen applications to pass upon and at 1:30 had not completed his work. In the past such a number would be disposed of before 11 o'clock in the morning.

Kings Herald and Home Guards will meet tomorrow afternoon at four o'clock at the South Methodist church. The children are requested to make returns of tickets sold for the concert to be given April 15 at 7:30, under the direction of Miss Doris Davis and Miss Jean Towle. The program will consist of a children's orchestra, vocal, piano and violin solos and readings.

George Schreck, of 170 Eldridge street, local contact officer, requests all members and former members of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, and disabled veterans who are eligible to membership, to meet at a meeting at the Kenna Post of Hartford at the Army and Navy club Monday evening at 8 o'clock. This meeting is of the utmost importance and all members from Manchester and Rockville are urged to attend. Refreshments will be served.

St. Margaret's Circle, Daughters of Isabella, will give a public bridge and whist Tuesday evening of next week in the K. of C. clubrooms. There will be prizes and refreshments. Mrs. Besse Lappen, chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. Nan Miner, Mrs. Catherine Williams, Mrs. Minnie Carrington, Mrs. Margaret Mahoney and Miss Mary Stannard. A meeting for members of the circle will be held at 7:30.

Upwards of 40 women attended the card party given yesterday afternoon by Manchester camp, No. 2849, Royal Neighbors, at north end fire headquarters. Mrs. Louise Gilman won first prize, Mrs. W. C. Scheldie, second, and Mrs. Julia Donze, third. Sandwiches and coffee were served by Mrs. Margaret Griffin, chairman, and assisting members.

Tomorrow night from 6 to 7 the Rec. volleyball team will meet a pick-up team from the league and next Tuesday night has a match at Storrs.

Frank Edmunds, of West Center street, is back home following a four week's confinement at the U. S. Veterans' hospital in Newington for ear trouble.

Jack Copeland, of the north end, will enter the U. S. Veterans' hospital at Newington tomorrow for treatment.

WASHINGTON Loyal Orange Lodge, No. 117, will hold its regular meeting tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock at Orange hall.

The regular meeting of the Manchester City club will be held at nine o'clock tonight. Luncheon will follow the business session.

SELECTMEN MAY ASK BOND ISSUE Expected To Call Special Town Meeting At Session Tomorrow Night.

A special town meeting will no doubt be called by the Board of Selectmen to take action on the several suggestions for meeting the present financial condition made at a recent gathering of civic leaders. The principal suggestion made was that Manchester float a bond issue sufficiently large to refund the town's floating indebtedness. No doubt the Selectmen will recommend that such an issue be floated.

The board will hold a special meeting tomorrow night to act upon the various suggestions offered during the recent conference. Most of the board members are known to favor the refunding plan and no doubt they will ask authorization for the bond issue at the special town meeting.

FIND HARTFORD MAN'S STOLEN CAR HERE TODAY Sedan Parked On Foster Street Proved To Be Property of David Rosenholz.

An Oakland sedan bearing plates ML156, model 1927 was found by the police this noon parked on Foster street in front of number 34. The car is registered in the name of David Rosenholz of 49 Westland street, Hartford, and an inquiry sent the Hartford police resulted in finding the car had been stolen from the above owner sometime yesterday. The owner was notified and he will arrive for his car this evening.

LATEST STOCKS

While selling pressure in today's Stock Market was less severe than yesterday's, important signs of conclusion of this latest phase of the decline were still lacking.

There was a little flurry of short covering in the first hour, which sent some leaders up 1 to 2 points momentarily, but the list quickly slipped back again, and by early afternoon, there were numerous losses of fractions to 2 point, sending much of the list further into new low ground.

Utilities continued to bear the brunt of selling. Losses of 1 to 2 points occurred in such issues as Consolidated Gas, Public Service of N. J., Detroit Edison, Columbia Gas, Stone and Webster, Common and Southern Preferred, and Southern California Edison. Among the declines was a weak feature, dropping 4 points. The decline was attributed largely to dividend uncertainties. American Can also encountered considerable pressure, sagging more than 2 to 3-year bottom. Becraft, C. I. Corp., Fructer and Gamble, and Union Pacific also sagged a point or more. U. S. Steel dipped fractionally to a new minimum. Ralls held up relatively better than recently.

This latest phase of the 2 1/2-year decline has now been in progress for five weeks. During that period the price average has shown a decline for every trading session save six. The fundamental factor in the slump has undoubtedly been the failure of business activity to show the expected spring quickening. It has been aggravated by such things as uncertainty over Federal taxation, the Kreuger debacle, and projected public utility reorganizations. But the decline has now worn on to a point where traders are expected to be awaiting some sign of a turn.

Conservative quarters in Wall street have had little hope of anything impressive in the way of a spring upturn in general trade, pointing to next autumn as a more logical time to expect real improvement. Among things which might bring a halt to the slump in the security markets, however, are mentioned a fair public response to the April sales campaign of the automobile manufacturers; final passage of a federal tax measure balancing the budget, which is not now expected for several weeks; and a satisfactory conclusion to the June conference on reparations at Lausanne. In the meantime the most gratifying aspect of the Stock Market remains the relatively light volume of selling.

Some quarters are hopeful that continuance of the Federal Reserve bank's policy of expanding credit through open market operations may begin to have a beneficial effect. Strength of U. S. Government securities, and an easy undertone in the money market, have brought some expectations of a further reduction in the New York rediscount rate.

TRUE BILL RETURNED

Hartford, April 7.—(AP)—After deliberating one hour and fifty minutes a Grand Jury in Superior Court this noon returned to Judge Arthur F. Ellis a true bill of indictment against Bolsh Makiatis, 28, Burlington farmer for the torch slaying of John Kaploun, 28, quarry worker who was hacked to death and burned in his lonely shack atop Avon mountain early on the morning of January 29. It is expected that a trial jury will be picked early next week and Makiatis put on trial for his life. First degree murder is execution by hanging in the state prison.

BEACON FALLS, Conn., April 7.—(AP)—Martin Connolly, a passenger in an automobile driven by Frank Henessey of this city, suffered such a severe injury to his right arm when the car struck a tree last night that amputation was necessary. Henessey, who is charged with reckless driving, and driving under the influence of alcohol, was treated in a Derby hospital.

DELTA CHAPTER NAMES JOHN PICKLES HEAD

Annual Meeting Held In Temple Last Night—Chapter Has Had a Fine Year.

Delta Chapter, No. 57, Royal Arch Masons, held its annual meeting and election of officers in the Masonic Temple last night. John Pickles was named High Priest, succeeding Peter Wind. The other elective officers are as follows: Leo K. Stiles, Excellent King; William H. Stiles, Excelsior; Scribner Strickland, Captain of Host; Elmore Packard, treasurer; Ernest Benson, Principal Sojourner; James Richmond, Secretary; Robert McLaughlin, Royal Arch Captain; George Strait, trustee for three years.

Today Mr. Pickles announced his appointive officers as follows: Hayden Griswold, Master of 3d Vest; Fred Ackerman, Master of Second Vest; Louis Vanderbrook, Master of First Vest; Leonard Richman, Chaplain; William Bray, Sentinel; Sydney MacAlpine, organist.

Today Mr. Pickles has been an exceptionally good one in the history of the local Chapter. Several new members have been taken in and the interest of the membership has been kept throughout the year. On April 20 the officers named above will be installed and the ceremony will be held at the Connecticut Club, where all Masons and their friends or members of their families are invited to attend. James Richmond will be the installing officer and Raymond Goslee will be his marshal.

GLADYS DYKE SENTENCED

Hartford, April 7.—(AP)—While the denizens of the city's underworld were today affectionately referring to pretty 21 year old Gladys Dyke as a "great little trowper who wouldn't squeal and was taking the rap herself" Judge William M. Harnely, in Police Court this morning labeled her a "fall guy" when he sent her to jail for thirty days and fined the young woman $200 and costs. She was convicted of keeping a baseball lottery which the Hartford police declared was a million dollar racket and a gigantic swindle.

TO LOSE ARM

Beacon Falls, Conn., April 7.—(AP)—An automobile driven by Frank Henessey of this city suffered such a severe injury to his right arm when the car struck a tree last night that amputation was necessary. Henessey, who is charged with reckless driving, and driving under the influence of alcohol, was treated in a Derby hospital.

The accident occurred late last night between Beacon Falls and Seymour.

TUNNEY DISCOVERS OLD WAR TIME PAL

Ex-Champion Boxer Meets Friend In Rochester Who Names Baby After Him.

Rochester, N. Y., April 7.—(AP)—Gene Tunney knows today that at least one baby has been named for him. It's a girl Gene Haley.

And "Kid" Haley, stubby little truck driver, knows what he has always suspected—that the former Marine and heavyweight champion of the world isn't really "high hat."

It started last night, when Tunney addressed a Knights of Columbus meeting here. After his remarks, he invited his audience to ask questions.

"Do you remember the chap who went A.O.W.L. with you in Brest?" someone bawled out.

"I certainly do," replied Tunney, his face lighting up. "It was 'Kid' Haley."

In the Audience

"Well, I'm here," replied the "Kid."

"Bring that man right up here," cried Tunney.

They stood on the speaker's platform Tunney looking like a fashion-plate in his tuxedo, Haley in his truck driver's clothes. Tunney grabbed the "Kid's" hand before the latter could rub it off on his spotty trousers. Then other admirers swarmed about the former champion and the renewal of friendship with Haley was broken up.

Reporters had a hard time finding Haley again, but they cornered him today as he was taking his truck into an express company's shed.

"I didn't want to tell Tunney at first that we named our baby after him," said the "Kid," suddenly becoming shy. "I had hopes it would be a boy."

ELDERLY COUPLE "DUMPED" HERE

Create Disturbance When Woman They Call Employer Leaves Them On Street

Main street in front of the Warnock hotel late this afternoon was the scene of a commotion that left onlookers guessing. An automobile containing two women and a man, all elderly, stopped on the west side of the street. The woman driver, youngest of the three, walked across the street with the other couple and then suddenly turned and left them, running to her automobile and driving up Main street.

Attract Attention

The shouts of all three attracted considerable attention, the street being fairly well crowded at the time. The elderly couple, left stranded on the sidewalk, shook their fists at the woman driving away and swore vengeance.

The man wore only one shoe. His left foot was swathed in bandages with crutches. Both women were in a very excited mood. They inquired the location of the police station and started running up Main street. The man carried a satchel heavily loaded.

Asked as to the cause of the trouble, the couple said that they had been working for the woman, a Mrs. Boy of South Killingly and that she had brought them here on the pretense of an errand and "dumped them in the street" with but little of their clothing.

Other Woman Disappears

The couple made an odd sight as they hurried toward the police station where they hoped to have the woman arrested. Asked on what charge, they were too excited to state. The man stopped the several times to fix the bandages which kept coming off of his foot. The woman "an ahead. In the meantime the woman who had been driving the car disappeared, apparently on her way back home. One person said she overheard her remark, "I'll burn every stitch of your clothing."

At the police station the couple was questioned by Police Lieutenant William Barron. The man said his name was Blanchard and the woman gave hers as Skinner. He is a broker by profession. The Skinner woman said that they came here to show specimens of sand to the Manchester Construction Company. They were referred to the police to provide for their transportation back to South Killingly. The Skinner woman said that they might get the rest of their clothing and obtain another job. The woman apologized to the police for creating a disturbance here. They said they were from the Trout Brook farm in South Killingly. They were referred to George H. Waddell, local Charity Commissioner.

New York, April 7.—(AP)—Representatives of Captain Frank M. Hawks, who was injured in a take-off crash at Worcester, Mass., today, said the famous flier was on his way to New York when the accident occurred. He flew to Worcester from St. Louis yesterday to fill a speaking engagement. He planned to fly to Porto Rico next week.

TALKED WITH JUDGE ARNOTT SATURDAY

G. H. Allen Arrives Here To Learn of Local Man's Death In Florida Shortly After He Left.

George H. Allen of East Center street, who for several years past has been spending his winters in St. Petersburg, Florida, arrived in Manchester Tuesday night. As he drove along East Center Street he stopped in at the telephone company's office to give an order to have his telephone again connected. In coming out of the office he met a friend who mentioned the death of Judge Alexander Arnett. Mr. Allen was taken completely by surprise and was at first not inclined to believe the story as on Saturday morning before leaving Florida he had stopped to bid Judge and Mrs. Arnett good bye before he came North and at that time there was nothing to indicate that Judge Arnett was ill. It was during Saturday afternoon that the judge took ill and entered the hospital, where he died Monday evening.

Captain Hawks

Hawks, who was injured in a take-off crash at Worcester, Mass., today, said the famous flier was on his way to New York when the accident occurred. He flew to Worcester from St. Louis yesterday to fill a speaking engagement. He planned to fly to Porto Rico next week.

Hawks became nationally famous in February, 1928, when he flew from Los Angeles to New York, non-stop, in 18 hours, 21 minutes and 59 seconds.

From that time on he has been America's leader in the development of speed for aircraft. His Los Angeles to New York record was quickly broken, but he regained it in June of 1927, when he flew from New York to Los Angeles, non-stop, in 19 hours, 10 minutes, and returned non-stop the next day in 17 hours, 36 minutes. This coast to coast and return in 36 hours and 44 minutes gave him both the east and west records as well as laurels for the round trip.

Hawks had hoped to be the first man to make a non-stop flight from New York to Paris. It was when this feat was performed by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh that Hawks turned his attention to speed.

As fast as competitors wrestled records from him he concentrated on regaining them and few were the aviators who could parallel his pace.

When other fliers bested the transcontinental records by making refusing stops on the way, Hawks supervised the construction of a low-winged monoplane and in August, 1930, flew from New York to Los Angeles in 14 hours, 30 minutes and 43 seconds, making five stops enroute.

NAVY BILL Tabled

Washington, April 7.—(AP)—The House expenditures committee today tabled the Democratic sponsored bill to consolidate the War and Navy Departments.

Chairman Cochran said the vote was 12 to 8, with seven Democrats and one Republican for the measure.

The bill had been sponsored by House Democratic leaders—including Chairman Byrns of the appropriations committee, its author—as something that would save $100,000,000 a year.

Reports were that since the expenditures committee had defeated the bill, the special House economy committee might take it up.

Cochran, however, who is a member of the economy committee, said he would not press it before that group.

THREATEN REPRISALS

Danbury, April 7.—(AP)—Milk producers and farm interests in sections of New York State adjacent to Connecticut threaten reprisals if the order by the Connecticut authorities prohibiting the bringing of milk from New York state into Connecticut after May 31 is permitted to go into effect.

At a largely attended meeting of milk producers held in South Salem, N. Y., a few miles across the state line from Ridgefield yesterday it was stated that while 43,000 quarts of milk are sent from New York into Connecticut daily, Connecticut producers sell 103,000 quarts in New York. Expressing the view that the action taken by Connecticut is unconstitutional and in violation of state rights, a speaker at the meeting proposed that steps be taken to bar Connecticut milk from New York State. Threats also have been made to attempt to divert trade in other lines of business now coming to cities and towns along the New York-Connecticut border.

THE BABY IS WELL CHEERS LINDBERGH

That Is Message From Norfolk-Man Who Was In Contact With Kidnapers.

Hopewell, N. J., April 7.—(AP)—The village of Hopewell, tingling for days with a vague feeling that Charles A. Lindbergh Jr., would be home long before this, had to savor its disappointment today with a message out of the void: "The baby is well."

John H. Curtis, gone since Saturday from his Norfolk, Va., home to keep rendezvous with a person he looks on as an agent for the kidnapers, relayed the words of cheer.

He made his announcement on his return yesterday, adding that during his four day absence he met Colonel Lindbergh.

This for the first time gave definite indication that a communication between the Norfolk boat builder's mysterious movements and two flights the flying colonel recently made to Martha's Vineyard and other islands off the Massachusetts coast.

Had Made Contact

Curtis cryptically said he had made a "contact" and that information he gave the baby's father relieved the latter "greatly."

Rear Admiral Guy H. Burrage, another of the three Norfolk intermediaries declined to say whether ransom payments had been arranged or whether the infant would be back soon. Colonel H. Norman Schwarzkopf head of the State police declared there was no significance in the fact that lights have been burning in the nursery from which the baby was taken March 1.

Police finally abandoned any hope Henry "Red" Johnson, suitor of Betty Gow, the baby's nurse, could give them any clue. They announced they would turn him over to immigration officials Monday to face an accusation of entering the country illegally.

From the Massachusetts shore came reports of a vain hunt for a man and a woman. Fishermen said they came ashore from a small boat at Waquoit, trundling a baby carriage.

Coast Guardsmen from New London were searching for a "certain white yacht" they said—but they would say nothing more.

proposed a maximum rate of 75 per cent on inheritances above $10,000. He also proposed to tax all securities, removing the privilege of tax exempt bonds.

J. R. Elliot, of Kansas City, president of the National Sporting Goods Distributors Association, protested against the proposed ten per cent levy on sporting goods.

He called it a "tax on the development of physical welfare and on the youth of America," and asked for elimination of footwear, baseball, football, playground and volley ball equipment from the levy.

The hearing was recessed until Monday.

After the Democratic meeting, Senator Robinson said "the general opinion seems to be that the revenue bill should be acted upon as promptly as may be consistent with fair deliberation."

"It is not contemplated that partisan action shall be taken, the design being to give the finance committee the benefit of the thought of the members of the Democratic conference and to secure for the conference full information as action in the committee progresses," he said.

Senator Connally (D., Tex.) announced to the conference, he intended to propose a scaling up of the surtax brackets on higher incomes but no specific figures were mentioned.

THURSDAY, APRIL 7

"DOLLAR-A-DAY"

For many years that element among the veterans of the World War which is most vocal in its demands for bonuses and other legislation has brought into its arguments over and over again the great discrepancy between the pay received by the soldier in the trenches and that drawn down by the shipyard or munitions worker. "While we were fighting in the mud for a dollar a day these people were getting ten or twenty times as much," is the burden of their assertion.

Aside from the fact that the Adjusted Compensation act of 1924 was made a law with a profoundly considered purpose to recompense the soldiers for their lost opportunities while away at war, the assumption that all the stay-at-homes were infinitely better off financially than the men in the service can be seriously questioned. Civilian wages did go up during the war and they went up a long way but they did not, on an average, rise to any such heights as those of the often cited shipyard workers and some special groups engaged in operations of supply. After all, the total number of the shipyard hands and other especially favored camp followers of the war represented a mere handful out of the whole civilian population; and there were countless thousands whose increase in income or earnings did no more than match the soaring rise in the price of living—and a great many whose purchasing power was much less during the war than before it.

On the other hand the soldier's dollar a day was in addition to the best living ever provided for fighting men in the history of the world. The soldier was more lavishly provided for in the matter of food, clothing, housing, medical care and even entertainment than any number of civilians who had to provide for themselves, let alone the latter's hopeless task of retaining a net dollar a day above all expenses.

The bonus advocates remember the shipyard workers but they forget the vast army of salaried employes and workers whose wages were only slightly increased—an army much larger than that under arms—who went without every luxury and many comforts, and who at the end of the war were no whit better off than they were when it started. They forget about the numberless elderly people, widows and others, who had been living on a small fixed income and whose purchasing power was sadly reduced by the war prices and to whom the war meant something very little short of destitution.

It was not all beer and skittles for the folks back home while the war was going on. The profiteers were few and the sacrifices were many. There were literally millions who, if there were no consideration but their personal well being, would have liked to swap places, so far as provision for their living was concerned, with the private soldier to say nothing of the officer.

Another thing that the bonus agitators forget is that that problem is entirely apart from magnificent provision made for the injured and the broken in health. It is a problem only of the able bodied man, the one who came out of the war unscathed; who may or may not have been in action; who may even have benefited immeasurably in health and experience by his service. To a great many of the veterans participation in the military activities of the times turned out to be a privilege. It widened their horizon, brought them human contacts they might never have enjoyed and bestowed upon them that inestimable thing, a major episode about which memories and a thousand satisfactions could be built.

On the whole, this dollar-a-day talk is a little unworthy, more than a little unjust. The less any veteran indulges in it the greater will be his eventual self respect and the greater the respect of his fellow citizens for him.

PUNCHING BAG

The Ninth District meeting called on petition of members of the Taxpayers League for the purpose of eliminating certain recreational activities at the Recreation Centers now conducted at district expense turned out to be another instance of the Taxpayers League's proclivity for risking battle on an open field against greatly superior numbers. It might have been anticipated, after the League's experience in the recent Republican caucus, that its leaders would realize that no matter how zealous and excited one may be over the virtues of his cause, he can seldom put it over by stacking up one favorable vote against a hundred unfavorable ones, or even a dozen. In other words you've got to have something besides enthusiasm or indignation on your side before it is wise to risk the gauge of battle.

However, the Taxpayers League for the second time in a very brief period walked bravely into the ring and took a trouncing. Perhaps it may some time reach a championship by that route but there is little precedent for such a happening. We can recall no champion fighter who arrived at that happy stage by first serving as an habitual punching bag.

Perhaps the reason why the League goes into its fights so short of voting strength is because its leaders say and do so many queer things. Mathias Spiess' reference, last night, to an "insult" offered to the citizens at the recent budget party is a case in point. Mr. Spiess suggested that it was an insult for Selectman W. W. Robertson to propose that the laying of the town tax and the making of appropriations could be more effectively and wisely carried on by a representative group of not more than a hundred citizens instead of by the antiquated town meeting. If Mr. Robertson insulted the people of Manchester by such a proposition then The Herald must plead guilty of the same offense—and it has never been conscious of any such intent. Mr. Robertson's suggestion was merely an adaptation of the idea heretofore advanced by The Herald on numerous occasions that an ideal town meeting arrangement would be through the periodic election of a board of electors representing every neighborhood in the town and delegated to do the town's business. The principle of the town meeting would be preserved, by such a process, much more exactly than it is today, when by no possibility can all the voters get into any town meeting—nor any half nor quarter of them.

It is doubtful if the Taxpayers League will ever provide itself with enough adherents to win contests if it is to devote itself to such fantastic notions as this about Mr. Robertson's "insult."

by reminiscent of the allegations of seven or eight years ago.

The difference between this time and that is that then Newfoundland was reasonably prosperous. Now she is suffering as profoundly as any other country from the world wide business depression and a great many of her people are destitute.

Unless the dubious politicians can get the people to quarreling between themselves over their religious differences, as so frequently has been the case in the past, there may be some pretty grave doings.

A STRANGE VIEW

One of the defense lawyers in the Northwest School District graft cases criticized the newspapers for the publicity given to that astonishing saga of loot, on the ground that the consequent notoriety had "destroyed the reputations" of the grafters. This is so naive a state of mind for an officer of a court to allow himself to get into that it might not be a bad idea if the Bar Association were to make an inquiry into that lawyer's fitness for the continued practice of law. The idea that it is public knowledge of guilt rather than guilt itself that signifies in a man's relations to society is a strange one indeed to be entertained in a profession which, to retain its standing and its usefulness, must be governed by the highest ethical code.

NEWFOUNDLAND

Whatever may be the upcome of the rioting in St. John's, Newfoundland, and whatever may be the political and economic situation of that near-by but little heard-from dominion of the British Commonwealth, we may be quite sure that if the Newfoundlanders once start to stir up serious trouble it will be very serious trouble indeed. As a whole they are a hardy people and many of them are pretty rough. There is nothing soft about the life led by either their fishermen or their farmers, their miners or their woodsmen—and upon agriculture, fishing, mining and lumbering Newfoundland depends very largely for its existence. Its people, on the whole, are a hardy lot who are afraid of nothing and who are experienced in hard knocks. Let that sort of a crowd get thoroughly angry or desperate and something is liable to happen which may not be at all pretty.

It is peculiarly unfortunate that religious factionalism cuts a big part in Newfoundland life, for it is to be suspected that for a long time an unscrupulous lot of politicians have played one of the factions off against the other and brought about determinations of elections on the religious issue while they have been running the country a good deal more in their own interests than in the interests of the people.

For many years the name of Sir Richard A. Squires (his title like most of the others in Newfoundland is political), the prime minister whom the St. John's mob threatened to throw in the harbor, has been associated with various accusations of official dishonesty. He was thrown out of the premiership and barely escaped indictment in 1924 or thereabouts but managed to get back into office a few years later. The charges made by the spokesmen of the St. John's mob are acute-

IN NEW YORK

TODAY WE GO LION HUNTING!

A Key to a Noted Pianist
 New York, April 7.—Ignace Paderewski, although sought as one of the two biggest "lions" now loose in America, prefers to seek out a bridge room for a few rounds of contract.

The second catch of the society lion hunters is Ottorino Respighi, Italian composer. Earlier in the winter there was A. A. Milne, the Pooh gentleman from London. Hauptmann did not go in for the Park and Fifth Avenue dogwaggers. Paderewski seems much older at a glance than at a distance when the floodlights throw their flattering beams on the concert hall stages. His favorite exercise in New York invariably has been brisk walks about Central Park. He is usually accompanied by two friends walking between them so that the arguments that rise can be answered to the right and left, without effort.

Love is his favorite distraction. The great pianist-composer picks out three or four neighborhood theaters and makes the rounds.

Practice Makes Perfect
 What musicians have often noted and commented upon is that, although rated by many as a genius among composers, he always gives Chopin the break. Rarely does he play Paderewski, leaving that to other pianists. His great musical love is the Chopin Polonaise.

I was once told that, despite the number of times he has played many selections, Paderewski continues to practice hour upon end, often distrustful of his own memory and execution. He believes in constantly keeping in form.

Likes Jun on His Bread
 The other day at a swanky tea attended by intellectuals, artists, bookish folk, and such, I encountered the fabulous Otto Kahn, the banker-art patron, at first hand over the tea-cups and sandwiches.

One hears that "the great Kahn," as he has been titled by the wags, may be found almost anywhere between those hours when he quits being banker and becomes a professional first-nighter at one of the Broadway show houses. Frequently he is the show's "angel," particularly if it happens to be staged by a little theater group or a musical organization.

At any rate, I can tip you off that this multi-millionaire financial figure piles jam on his bread more, he takes tepid after tepid, only to abandon each during the course of animated conversation.

He appears to find endless stimulation in the theater and the tea-party discussions. There is an invariable twinkle in his eye, though occasionally he is the symbol of staid decorum.

—And Subway Jams!
 A rosebud is invariably in his coat lapel. His white silk mufflers are part of the town's adornment. A valet, accustomed to his tastes, usually selects the boutonniere after considerable indecision. A certain florist seeks to send the almost-perfect bud specimens.

Kahn rides on the subway, while his valet gets taxis. His valet, museum-like residence is at Fifth Avenue and 91st Street. But he goes to William and Wall Streets by "the underground." He likes the contact of "the mob."

PLATINUM DISCOVERED

Seward, Alaska, April 7.—(AP)—Rumors prevailed here today that Jack McCord, a promoter, has discovered platinum bearing sands on Chirikof Island and was planning to start immediate development of a mine.

Chirikof Island is southwest of Kodiak Island in the North Pacific ocean. It is often called Ukamak, and is spelled diversely.

If conditions in Chicago get much worse, they might as well start looking around for another cow and another lantern.

BURBITIS

You may never have heard of a bursa although you have quite a number of them hidden about in various parts of your body. A bursa is a sac of tough fibrous tissue filled with fluid, and is found in parts of the body where there is apt to be extreme friction between the soft parts and bone. Because the connection tissue may form a bursa whenever there is a sufficient amount of persistent friction, bursa may form in unexpected places, but the majority are in the region of joints, such as the shoulder, wrist, elbow, knee, ankle and hip.

Since there may be as many as seventy bursa arranged about the knee, it is apparent that burbitis may be a frequent complication of any knee injury. The elbow does not have any bursa but it also has a joint which is frequently injured especially in games such as tennis or baseball.

A bursa usually becomes inflamed from a single or repeated injury. Frequent causes being blows and strains. There is no sharp distinction between acute and chronic burbitis and the terms as most commonly applied have to do with the duration of the inflammation. Acute burbitis usually lasts for a few days to a few weeks. In the chronic form there is a continuous inflammation. The fluid that may be absorbed leaving a dry inner surface, nodules may form inside, calcareous deposits may occur, etc. In some cases, even though the tumor formed, it may have no pain may be present. Other cases may be exceedingly painful without evidence of enlargement.

In the recent or acute form the correct time is to rest the part and apply cold applications. A wet towel wrapped around the knee, for example, and covered with two or three thicknesses of dry material makes an excellent compress. As an accumulation of toxins which might make the inflammation chronic.

TOXIC CAUSE INFLAMMATION

I am sure that a chronic inflammation of a bursa is brought on by a chronic poisoning due to a retention of toxic wastes. These wastes may be the cause of a toxic inflammation. As in the acute form a fruit fast is advisable, but it should be continued for at least eight to fifteen days and then a careful diet used for a month, then another short fast for about five days. It is important to take enemata at least once a day to assist in elimination. No exercising of the affected area should be used as long as inflammation is present, although other parts of the body may be exercised to advantage.

A good electrical treatment over an inflamed bursa is the use of diathermy since this form of treatment creates an internal heat and brings a greater supply of blood to the part to aid in the absorption of toxins. If the diathermy is not available, hot applications may be used although this heat is not as penetrating as the diathermy. Even after the burbitis has been entirely cured, it is necessary that a careful diet be used for some time. After

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

"OLD JOE" BYRNS HERO OF SALES TAX DEFEAT

By RODNEY DUTCHER
 NEA Service Writer

Washington, — Old Joe Byrns of Tennessee, who is a kindly old southern gentleman and whom I met when he gets mad and goes after someone on the floor of the House, was the hero of that memorable day when the sales tax went down to a crushing defeat.

A long, gaunt, bushy-browed product of the Red Clay hills, Old Joe filled that heroic role fit to warm the heart.

He's big, honest, simple but shrewd, able and energetic congressman who always seems to lack the stuff by which heroes are so often unmade in politics. He's one of just a few whom everyone around here both likes and respects.

They Needed Old Joe

On sales tax day there was need for Old Joe. Having thrown off the leadership of Speaker Garner, who had been the champion budget Chairman, the big Democratic insurgent majority members were restless. They could hardly answer jibes that they were led by LaGuardia of New York, a Republican who would strengthen that leadership. A taunting Republican had demanded, among other things, "Where is Joe Byrns?"

Well, Joe Byrns, who ranks as a Democratic general with Garner, Rainey and Crisp and now heads both the great appropriations committee and the special economy committee after many years of prying federal expenses, had been left plotting economies with his committee, day after day.

Old Joe had always opposed sales taxes, preferring high bracket income stiff estate and luxury taxes. Garner, Rainey and Crisp had been that way, too, only to switch to the sales tax recently as the best way to raise revenue. Byrns, presumably had gone along with them. Nobody expected him to split the beleaguered leadership with that spectacular speech of his. He hadn't said a word.

Old Joe Gets Mad

But suddenly, from a rear row, Old Joe arose, said he had just broken up a committee meeting and demanded to be heard. He was heard, too. He strode down the aisle and, with chin jutting out farther than ever, told the House that those other leaders had walked out on the traditions and principles of the Democratic party.

Infentially, he hurled scorn at Rainey, who had said the government was "bankrupt" in a sensational speech, and at Garner, who had said he was willing to "abandon every one of my economic principles" in order to balance a budget. "Mah party has always stood for taxing those who best kin pay," shouted Old Joe, spectacles in one hand, a gnarled fist flailing the air from a long, long arm, and bright tan shoes poking out from under a dark suit.

It was dramatic to see Old Joe, partly because every member knew that he was talking from belief and principle, not because he was scared or because he wanted to make a speech. Byrns is a progressive because he likes common people so much.

Some suggested later that Old Joe had turned the tide against the fore he spoke, although there was some doubt about it. But a large section of the 70-vote majority was undoubtedly swayed by Old Joe, who wouldn't stand for that tax.

And among Democratic party leaders here, he established himself as the most progressive of the lot.

Motor Hints
 Timely Suggestions on the Care of the Car by the Automobile Club of Hartford.

NO SPECIAL OIL NEEDED

Because the original type of free wheeling unit introduced in America required special lubricant for winter service, with a change to the heavier lubricant in warm weather, many motorists still assume they must give special consideration to the newer types of free wheeling units now on their newer cars.

No such changes are now necessary. One of the mechanical free-wheeling units operates at all temperatures with equal efficiency, regardless of the consistency of the gear lubricant. To switch to a very much lighter grade might actually result in inviting leakage.

When free wheeling is by means of automatic disengagement of the clutch the matter of lubrication does not figure at all, except in cases where a little auxiliary lubrication is required on friction surfaces of the actuating parts. The most important thing to lubricate in this clutch system is the accelerator hinge.

LOOSE PLATE IN MUFFLER

When plates come loose in the muffler the natural conclusion is that they probably let the gases expel more quickly, however noisily. The fact is, however, that the reverse action takes place.

An engine that would not run properly over a car speed of fifteen miles an hour was found to be handicapped by a defective muffler. The rear baffle plate had come loose in such a way that it blocked the passage of the gases.

Muffler blockage is rather clearly indicated by a galling action of the motor, much like a too advanced spark. Since it is easy to check the timing the elimination process quickly brings one to a consideration of the muffler. Sometimes where a plate has come loose from the shell of the muffler it is possible to tighten it again by denting the shell.

The more efficient plan is to replace the muffler since the use of a new, clean one will aid the engine in more ways than one.

CAUTION IN CAR CHANGES

A motorist who wanted to boost gas mileage was surprised when not advised to change the jets in the carburetor. He made no attempt to do so, but instead, obtained the higher mileage on a long trip but was surprised to find that on the average things were no better. He had failed to consider the fact that an engine requires so much fuel for so much performance.

With the smaller jet the motor can operate more economically on the open road, but will lack maximum acceleration and hill climbing ability, except when temperatures are low. More choking is required during the starting process, with the result that the wastage during this part of the job may offset savings on the open road.

This point always should be considered when changing the manufacturer's specifications. Invariably his own engineers have done considerable experimenting before going into production and have discarded most of the ideas the owner himself considers.

CHECK DAMAGE FROM WINTER

If your car was exposed to a good deal of cold weather this past winter it would be well to check over any possible damage, even though the radiator did not spring any apparent leak. Much that develops in the way of trouble when spring comes is a direct result of what happened during the cold season.

In forming, ice creates a pressure of 27,000 pounds to the square inch. Thus a very little ice that may have started to form in some part of the cooling system may have done some unseen damage. Small wonder that the delicate cores of the radiator become strainer and that they spring leaks when we add steam pressure through overheating.

The damage is especially likely to affect gaskets at points where thermostats are inserted. Hose connections also may be internally weakened.

OPEN WIDER FOR START

One of the most common causes of difficult starting is failure to open the throttle while cranking. The whole purpose in using the choke is to permit the pistons to suck up sufficient fuel to break up and atomize enough for a start, but if the throttle is kept closed to the idling position the process is interfered with.

Especially with some of the special carburetors it is necessary to have a wider throttle. Where multiple jets are used, and a progression to the opening of the side as the throttle is so that fuel can reach the combustion chambers in quantity. On one car it is important to open the throttle wide several times before using the starter. This is before opening the side as the throttle on the accelerator in a sort of pumping fashion.

Avoid overdoing the process, however. A wide open throttle during cranking will reduce the suction effect and delay the job.

CLEAN AIR FOR ENGINE

The fact that your engine consumes about seven million gallons of gasoline a year ought to be reason enough for giving some thought to the quality of air that you let it breathe.

It has been observed that certain kinds of fine dust falls at the rate of less than one inch an hour. Even on paved roads there may be considerable dust in suspension in the air. Much of this dust is capable of scratching the cylinder walls, since there is a considerable amount of quartz in it.

If the air cleaner isn't efficient, if it has been temporarily removed, or if the engine does not carry one, special care should be exercised when driving through excessive clouds of dust. Tiding the motor, allowing the car to coast through such clouds, is an effective saver. Many an air cleaner fails to protect the motor because it needs cleaning in gasoline and a re-oiling.

How's She Hitting?

By JAMES F. DONAHUE
 NEA Service Writer

While automobile drivers will take care of the adjustment of carburetor, ignition system and other mechanical details of a car, there is one adjustment that is grossly neglected—headlight alignment.

Improper adjustment of headlights is not only an inconvenience to the driver of the car, but it also places other drivers on the road under a handicap.

Modern lamps are designed to eliminate glare in the other fellow's eyes and, if they get out of line the least bit, they throw their dazzling light directly into the eyes of oncoming drivers, often causing accidents. In addition, they do not give proper illumination of the road at night and cause trouble for their owner.

The door of your garage can be used as a screen in testing your lights.

Drive your car to within about 25 feet from the door. Find the distance of the center of the headlights from the ground and then draw a line on the door at that height.

Place a normal load in your car and switch on the upper beams of the dual-beam lamps. The tops of the beams should fall just a bit below the horizontal line on the garage door.

If they don't, raise or lower the lamps until they do.

Each lamp should be tested separately. A bulb can be pulled from one while testing the other, or a piece of black cloth can be put over the one to block off the light, while the other is being tested.

A good material to clean off this caked material is a mixture of kerosene and alcohol. Apply this with a wet cloth and rub vigorously. Go over the glass with a dry rag afterward and it will leave lamps spick and span.

In the cleaning operation, do not neglect the metal reflector inside the lamp.

This curved holder is really the reason why you get so much light from such a small bulb. Today most of these reflectors are plated with nickel or chromium, and need little attention other than infrequent wiping and polishing.

It'll save you no little inconvenience and abuse at the hands of hard-boiled traffic cops if you carry a set of spare light bulbs with you. There's no telling when one of your lights will go out on a dark road at night.

PENALTY MUST FIT CRIME UNDER NEW FRENCH JURY LAW

Paris (AP)—To make the punishment fit the crime has become part of a French jurymen's duty under a new law.

After finding a verdict of guilty, the jury goes into session with the judges to decide upon the sentence. Secret ballots are taken, the jurors voting in an order determined by lot, and the presiding judge last of all.

If, after two ballots, the majority of votes has not been given in favor of a particular penalty, the most severe penalty proposed is excluded from the third ballot. This procedure is repeated until a penalty has been voted by a majority.

Leading lawyers welcome the reform. They are convinced there will be fewer acquittals and more humane sentences.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Rock Dust Harmful)

Question: Tad writes: "I am working in phosphate rock dust and inhale plenty of same. Does this dust hurt the lungs and stomach? Is twelve hours a day too long to work in this dust? Is there anything you would suggest to prevent any ill-effects?"

Answer: It is injurious to the lungs to breathe any kind of rock dust in quantities. The length of the time that you can work at this would vary considerably with the amount of dust. It is possible that the wearing of some type of muzzle filter would be helpful if it is very thick and you are unable to change your occupation. Many rock crushing plants have now installed safety devices for removing dust as soon as it is formed.

(Growing Taller)

Question: Mr. V. B. asks: "What is the most helpful exercise for a man who wishes to increase his height two or three inches?"

Answer: Any kind of exercise where the spine is twisted and bent in different directions has a tendency to increase the growth of the muscles, bones and cartilages of the spine. At the same time, osteopathic or chiropractic treatments also help to stimulate and increase the blood supply to these parts.

(Removing Mole)

Question: Florence S. asks: "Is there any way of removing moles without leaving scars? I have about a dozen black ones on my face."

Answer: Moles on the face are, as a rule, very easy to remove by a physician with the electric needle, and, if done properly, will leave absolutely no visible scar.

About the only thing one can prophesy safely about the 1932 presidential campaign is that Muscle Shoals will be one of the issues.

PRIVATE WATER SUPPLIES NEED CARE OF OWNER

Dept. of Health Director Warns Those Planning To Move For Summer To Inspect Source Carefully.

Warning to people who are planning to spend their summer in cottages at the seashore, at lakesides or in rural sections to make certain that their water supply is properly protected against contamination was given today by Friend Lee Mickle, Laboratory Director of the State Department of Health, in the department's weekly broadcast. Mr. Mickle used a dialogue between himself and Mrs. A. H. Post, owner of the latter, to explain how the purity of a water supply may be insured.

Wherever possible it is best to obtain water from a reliable public supply, since such supplies are inspected and tested periodically by the Health Department. Mr. Mickle stated that when water from a public supply is not available, it is necessary to use a well or spring and particular attention should be paid to the protection of these. They should be located near any possible harmful source of pollution, such as a sink-drain, privy, cesspool, barnyard or manure pile and they should be adequately protected against the entrance of surface contamination by being made absolutely watertight at the top with a tight cover and curbing.

When water is suspected of pollution, particularly where there is illness, a laboratory examination should be made. This can be done only through the local health officer, since the health departments in laboratories because of the time and expense involved in examinations cannot accept water samples for examination indiscriminately. Services of private laboratories may be engaged by anyone, however. Nevertheless, if the local health officer after being called to inspect the spring believes that a laboratory examination is necessary, he will take a sample of the water in a special container furnished by the department and send it to the Hartford Laboratory.

When the examination are returned by the department to the health officer and he in turn interprets the findings for the owner of the well or spring, showing him how the contaminated supply may be rectified.

Girl Scout News

"In the days when our pioneer ancestors left the settlements on the eastern borders of our continent and went far westward, often the most resourceful and hardy and experienced of the number went ahead to find the best way for the others to follow. They were called the scouts of the expedition. Their success meant the success of those who followed. They made the best trails through the land. Adventure was theirs and the joy of accomplishment and the satisfaction of great service to others.

The Girl Scouts of today, while they have no new lands to scout into, can scout in the new ways of life that our changing civilization has brought us. They find that there can be as much joy in learning the best ways of doing things in our new era as there was in our old and undiscovered country. The best ways to live, to play, to help others, to build a home may be filled with as much adventure in New York or San Francisco today as there was in crossing the Ohio or Mississippi a hundred years ago."

The Junior Division had a general review of first aid at the last meeting. After that our lieutenant read us a chapter from "Juliette Low and the Girl Scouts" closing the meeting with the good-night circle.

At our last meeting, we spent the greater part of the time, working on pillows that we are planning to make for the exhibit at the New London Conference.

After the formal opening and patrol corners, three groups were held in many-making, one in signaling, and the other in fire prevention. Dorothy Post passed her signaling test. We are going on a hike Saturday. We are to meet at the Hollister Street School at 10 o'clock.

For the opening of our last meeting, patrol 1 sang "The Girl Scouts of U. S. A.," patrol 2 repeated the motto, and patrol 3 repeated the Girl Scout Laws. A game with bean-bags was played. First and second class signaling was practiced. Lena Fromerth passed the test for second class signaling, which was given. In the spare moments of the meeting some of the girls worked on pocketbooks. Before the meeting was dismissed, each girl had to tie the sheet bend knot.

The meeting of April 1 was in the form of a party. We played several games. The winners were Evelyn Wilson in "Going to Jerusalem," Jeannette Pitkin in the bird staking game. Arlene Nelson in "Jumping the Rubber," and the Pine Tree Patrol in the frog game. Refreshments were served by the patrol leaders. Arlene Nelson has passed her signaling and bed-making and Barbara Calhoun her nature test. We were glad to welcome Alice Pitkin back to our meeting after her illness with scarlet fever. There will be no meeting at the school this week, but all those who are going swimming, should be at the Rec at 5 p. m.

The Girl Scouts met in the Tower Room and worked on tests. Constance Dickson finished her underfoot requirements and will be invested at the next meeting. The second class scouts worked on the judging test. After the patrol corners the girls sang "Taps" which was played by our bugler, Dorothy Lewis.

The work that the girls are doing for the Eastern States Exposition, has to be entered at the New London Conference by May 4 with all other exhibits throughout the state. There they are to be judged and the best articles are to be shown at the Exposition in September. We are hoping that there will be an exhibit chosen from Manchester. The choice of articles will probably be announced at the Conference in May.

The knots were reviewed at patrol corners, and later a game was played using them. A short play was given on scouting by Captain Tournaud. The girls who wish to pass signaling will come to the Y.M.C.A. Saturday afternoon at 3:30. The next meeting will be in charge of Lieutenant Freeman. Patrol 1 and 2 will take charge of the meeting on April 18th.

The schooner, apparently loaded with fish, was blown onto the rocks during a strong northeast wind. She was a two master, had an auxiliary engine and was about 85 feet long.

Danville, Pa., April 7 (AP) — Daniel Wood, a 38-year-old salesman of Williamsport, Pa., was killed near here last night when his automobile collided with a truck driven by Charles Shaffer, of Shelton, Conn.

Shaffer, employed by the Laube company of Baltimore, and his companion, Frank Urban, of Waterbury, Conn., were held pending an inquest.

The accident occurred as Wood drove from a side road onto the highway.

STATE-LEASED STREAMS READY FOR SEASON

More Fish Planted and Greater Mileage Under Lease Than Ever Before, Says Clark.

Over 185 miles of State-leased trout streams await Connecticut anglers when the trout fishing season opens on April 15, according to announcement at Hartford today by Superintendent Arthur L. Clark of the Connecticut State Board of Fisheries and Game.

Adult trout to the number of 200,000 have been raised for restocking the leased streams. Another 30,000 trout have been allocated for restocking streams which have not yet been leased but which are open to the public. At least fifty per cent of these will be in the streams before the season opens. The balance will be planted later in order to maintain good fishing during the entire season.

Streams under State control have been increased to 28, the largest number and the most extensive mileage ever acquired. Recent additions to Connecticut's system of public fishing waters are the Norwalk River, the Quinnipiac River, Ten Mile River, Farm River and Meadow Brook. Under a gratuitous lease from the Connecticut Light and Power Company areas along the banks of nine streams were added in March.

Of special interest to anglers this spring is the liberation of three large brown trout, one weighing seven pounds and two six pounds, from the catching of which Commissioner Thomas H. Beck has offered prizes. If caught on an artificial fly, $20 each will be paid and if on bait $10 each will be paid to the lucky anglers. These big trout have numbered tags attached to their tails and have been secretly released in three streams: Field Supervisor Eben Cobb. If I forget thee, O Jerusalem, let my right hand forget her cunning.—Psalms 137:5.

Earth produces nothing worse than an ungrateful man.—Aesopius.

ROCKVILLE

Ellington Fire
The Ellington Fire Department was called to the Silverberg plantation on Wednesday morning at 10:30, this being the second time in two days. The tobacco beds are being fertilized the past few days and on Tuesday the fire got beyond control, and the Ellington firemen were successful in checking it before it reached other buildings.

On Wednesday the fire again got beyond control and the roof of the house owned by Morris Silverberg on the plantation caught fire from flying sparks, doing considerable damage. Chief Clyde Cortisten and his men worked continuously for nearly two hours before they could leave the scene.

Grass Fire Wednesday
The "Rockanum truck of the Rockville Fire Department, with the chiefs, Driver Carl Conroy and several attendants, responded to a still alarm on Wednesday afternoon at 3:20 to a grass fire at the property of Paul Wroblewski at 89 High street. The fire got beyond control and it was feared by the owner that the burning of the vicinity might catch fire. The firemen soon had it extinguished, no damage resulting.

Two Automobiles Crash
Two men were before Judge John E. Fisk in a special session of the Rockville Police Court on Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock, following a collision between two automobiles. They were George E. Cooley of Mile Hill and Charles Anthony of Saco, Maine. Mr. Cooley was driving out from Mile Hill Road toward Rockville and Anthony was driving toward Rockville on the same road. The automobiles collided. State Police Officer Kenneth Stevens was called and he presented the men in court on charges of reckless driving.

Cooley was fined $5 and costs of $1.51, making a total of $6.51. Anthony was fined $50 and costs of $5.00, a total of $55. The two cars involved in the accident were somewhat damaged and were taken to Rockville for repairs.

Nurses Newington Post Here
Sixteen members of the Nurses Post, American Legion, were present at the meeting of Stanley Dobson Post on Wednesday evening at G. A. R. hall. Miss Hennecke, Commander of the Newington organization, and Betty Fetzman Hallgren, Legion department historian, gave the reports for the week. Mrs. T. J. Ford told of her work about the state and what duties she was required to perform. Guests were also present from Ellington and Somersville.

Commander Harry Lebeschevsky presided at the meeting. The local Post now has a membership of 243 and it is expected to make this number 275 before April 18. On the night of April 18, "Victory Night" will be observed with a National hook-up in the Town hall, at which time members of the local Legion Auxiliary will be guests.

Members of the Post, including painters, carpenters and others, have pledged themselves to co-operate in the work of helping to renovate the large barn at the Tolland County Home at Vernon Center into a gymnasium for the children. Dobson Post will again sponsor Junior Baseball here this year and boys interested are requested to notify Mr. A. S. Carterton, who will be glad to sign them up for one of the teams.

There was a discussion on the poppy sale and every member will assist the Auxiliary in disposing of 3,000 this year. It was announced that the meeting that was held from Rockville had made application to attend the Citizens Military Training Camp in July.

A turkey dinner was served following the meeting by a committee consisting of Hilmar Krause, Thomas T. Teabo, and several assistants.

To Install Officers
John J. Mack of Hartford Lodge, No. 19, will be present at the meeting of the Rockville Lodge of Elks on Thursday evening, April 7, at this time he will install the newly elected officers. He will be assisted by his staff including several well known Elks from the Hartford Lodge.

The new officers are: Exalted Ruler, Edward Newmark; Estate-aid Leading Knight, Lewis H. Chapman; Esteemed Loyal Knight, Clarence J. McCarthy; Esteemed Lecturing Knight, George H. Betts; Secretary, Mr. Cogrover; Treasurer, Raymond B. Hill; John F. Coleman; trustee for three years, Fred H. Lippman; Representative, John P. Cameron; Alternate, Herbert O. Clough. There will be a program and luncheon following the installation.

Junior Y. M. C. A. League
The Junior Y. M. C. A. Basketball League will play the final games in the second round on Saturday morning as follows: At 9 o'clock, the Commodores will play the Mohawks; 9:45, St. John's vs. St. Joseph's; 10:30, Ramblers vs. Jr. Foresters; 11:15, Landberghs vs. Ellington. An Ellington won the first round and as they are tied with the Mohawks for the second it looks as if an extra game between these two teams would have to be played to determine the championship.

The teams' standing at present is: Ellington, 883; Mohawks, 833; Ramblers, 886; Foresters, 887; St. Joseph, 353; St. John, 282; Commodore, 195; Lindbergh, 86.

Miss Ellen Shaffer, a friend of the bride, acted as bridesmaid and Lawrence Denette, brother of the groom, was best man.

at the home of the bride's parents. Relatives and friends were present from Holyoke, Mass., Chicopee, Mass., Auburnville, and this city. The couple were left for their nuptial home at 10:15. The bride was attended at the Springfield Mill of the Hockanum Mills Company. The groom is a student at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology at Cambridge, Mass.

Cast Enjoy Party
The cast of "Rev. Dayton Up-to-date," which was presented at the Union Congregational church last Friday evening, enjoyed a party at the home of Luther Fuller on North Park street on Tuesday night. All those who took part in the play were present.

Mrs. Mary Gregg, chairperson of the committee, presided at the successful event and whose untiring efforts were greatly appreciated by the Friendly Class under whose auspices the play was held. There was a humorous poem, "The Gold-diggers," much to the delight of everyone present. There were piano selections by Miss Eleanor Neff and Earl Helmerding and singing by the entire group. Later in the evening refreshments were served. Miss Gertrude Fuller acted as hostess.

Recital by Lester Ludke
On next Sunday afternoon at 3:30, Lester Ludke will give a recital at the Union Congregational church, assisted by Miss Virginia MacCraeken, soprano, of Hartford. Patronesses are: Mrs. Arthur Ludke, the young man's mother; Mrs. Percy Alinsworth, Mrs. George S. Brooke, Mrs. Percy Alinsworth, Mrs. George S. Brooke, Mrs. Francis Nettleton, Miss Minnie McLean and Miss Sarah Hammond. U. S. NEEDS SOLDIERS
Washington, April 7 (AP)—It would be silly, Secretary Hurley believes to weaken the country's military forces any further at this time. He expressed this view in an Army Day radio address last night, coupling it with a statement that those who had believed the World War would usher lasting peace have now a bitterly disillusioned.

"The idealistic attitude of the American soldier," he said, "has not been shared by the people of the world generally."

MODERN GIRL'S VANITY IS PREVENTING CANCER

Boston, April 7 (AP)—Dr. Joseph C. Bloodgood of Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, believes that the vanity of modern woman will keep modern man from cancer. Dr. Bloodgood addressed several thousand doctors, dentists and interested laymen at the final session of a two-day cancer clinic in Symphony Hall last night.

"No beautiful woman suffers from cancer of the skin because she pays immediate attention to all skin blemishes," Dr. Bloodgood said. "Thank God women have learned to smoke because they can teach men to smoke without getting cancer. Women keep their teeth and mouth clean and thus do not get cancer of the mouth."

"The cure of cancer is not in operating, nor drugs, nor radium, nor serum. It is a problem in educating the public to early and periodic examination." Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, secretary of the interior, in a message to the cancer clinic, made an earnest plea for health education.

the MAN HUNTERS

BY MABEL McELLIOTT

BEGIN HERE TODAY
SUSAN CAREY, 19, finishes her course at a Chicago business school and secures her first job as secretary to ERNEST HEATH, prominent architect. She has had several discouraging experiences before this. Applying at one office, Susan was terrified by the advances of her would-be employer. At business school she had become friendly with ROBERT DUNBAR, good-looking millionaire's son, also a student. MRS. MILTON, a neighbor, rails at Susan for insisting on earning her own living and asks why she does not encourage the attentions of a moody suitor, BEN LAMPMAN. Susan meets RAY FLANNERY, stenographer in the office across the hall, and is amused by Mr. Waring's mistake in copying a letter and is in tears when a helpful stranger appears. "I'm Jack WARING," he says. Susan has no idea who he may be.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Susan folded the letter prayerfully and stamped it.

CHAPTER VIII
Dreadfully the girl regarded the stranger. "Jack Waring, where had she heard that name before? It meant nothing to Susan.

She tried to regain her composure. Waring seemed oddly at home. Having deposited his rakish Panama hat on the empty desk he straightened his lilac-tinted tie and demanded again, still more jovially, "What's up? Can I help? Come, tell Papa all about it!"

If the ruination of the freshly typed sheet of bond paper in the letter press had not already expressed the girl's mind she might have smiled at this. As it was she could only stare at him with dewy eyes which threatened at every instant to brim over again. "By jingo, the girl's a beauty," said Jack Waring, half to himself. Susan, confused, caught the ghost of a grin hovering on the thin lips of the observer, Pierson, who had emerged from the office vault.

Pierson, not unkindly, said: "Miss Carey, Mr. Waring. Don't believe you've met before."

Waring bowed royally. "Delighted, I'm sure. Quite an addition to our happy little family. And now can I help the little lady?"

Although Susan, stung by being called "little lady" above all things she could not deny that the purring softness of Mr. Waring's voice had a soothing quality. Besides, she was utterly overcome by the snaco of the copied letter. She had intended it to this man, saying quietly, "It's spoiled. Ruined. And I did it."

Her self-control threatened to desert her. Sheer tragedy it seemed to Susan that the beautifully neat and correct sheets, already signed by the exquisite flourish of the absent Mr. Heath, should be destroyed by her error. In youthful despair she was ready to resign, feeling herself disgraced. "Oh, that Waring's laugh somehow reassured her.

"Let me look at it." He took the limp sheets from her hand and gazed at them intently.

"Here," Susan's eyes followed him fascinated as he led the way to her desk.

"Only the first sheet is spoiled," he said rapidly. "Copy it over. Let me see the book."

She gave it to him and he smiled. "This darn thing is all right," he observed. "All you have to do is type the first sheet over. Quick—before the boss gets back! We'll pop 'em into an envelope and nobody will be the wiser."

Susan gasped. Waring's eyes twinkled at her. "It's as easy as that," he cried. "Hop to it. He's lurching at the club with old

AVOID UGLY PIMPLES

Does a pimply face embarrass you? Get a package of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights, if you are like thousands of others.

Help cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

Thousands who take Olive Tablets are never cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition, pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound; known by their olive color. Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c, 30c, 60c.

Evening Herald Pattern

Illustrated Dressmaking Lesson
Furnished with Every Pattern

Here's a dainty idea, all feminine, with slim straight lines, as Paris would have it.

Of course you will have spotted the smartly shaped collar that is given a military air, buttoned at the left shoulder.

A printed crepe silk in yellow and white made the original. The white crepe collar was edged with lace.

Another sportive scheme is white crinkle silk crepe with light navy blue crinkle crepe collar edged with vivid red bias bands. Choose a red leather belt.

Lacy cottons, wide wale pique, striped linen and many rayon novelties are delightful materials to use for this chic model.

Style No. 2808 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust.

Size 16 requires 3 3/4 yards 38-inch with 3/4 yard 35-inch contrasting.

out with me one day. How about it on Saturday? Driving out with some people. Like to show you to them, you pretty thing, you."

A flag flared in the girl's cheeks. Dangerous talk, this, for a man to pour into the ears of young-and-20. Susan didn't know what she had dreamed or love from the lips of a man jaded and disillusioned, but it was more tempting than she dared to admit.

And what, after all, had she to do on Saturday? Oh, she would have a saucer and plates to wash at her home. She would away wearily from a strap in the packed and crowded street car and spend the rest of the afternoon ironing or darning the stockings Aunt Jessie had saved for her.

Oh, she would have a saucer and plates to wash at her home. She would away wearily from a strap in the packed and crowded street car and spend the rest of the afternoon ironing or darning the stockings Aunt Jessie had saved for her.

She wondered even as she answered this man slowly and deliberately why she hesitated. There was something in her blood warring her against the temptation. She was young. She was alive and eager. It was little fun to spend her free time alone as she usually did or, worse still, listening to Aunt Jessie's complaints.

"Why don't you answer me, miss? Getting above herself she said, "Forget that I raised her?" Aunt Jessie's voice, raised to a whine, would drone on and on. Yes, Jack Waring's company would be a change from this time, she said. "Not that I'm busy Saturday."

Unacknowledged and in the back of her brain lay the admission that she would not dare to go for fear of what Mr. Ernest Heath might say. She thought of the distant hissing fine eyes would express if he heard she was "gadding round" with Jack Waring. It would seem to cheapen her, Susan felt. Other girls did it—yes. Somehow she could not.

But Waring was not finished with her yet. Impudently he put his shaven, mocking face so close to Susan's that she could smell the scent of the lilac lotion he used. "Watch out," he whispered. "We Waring usually get what we want."

Almost those audacious lips grazed the girl's flaming cheek. A voice broke in on the tableau. Ernest Heath's voice. Sarcastic and cold as ice it fell on Susan's horrified ears.

"Very charming, indeed! And now I should like to know what's going on here if you're not too busy to tell me!"

Scarlet, aghast, Susan leaped to her feet.

She was speechless. No words came to her defense. She twisted her hands, looking in her angry innocence the very picture of guilt.

Ernest Heath's thin lips drew together in a straight, forbidding line. He strode into the private office without another glance at the girl. Over his shoulder he threw these words:

"I'd like to see you at once, Waring. Alone."

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

—Kinds of Charm—

Long ago, in one of Barrie's plays, someone asked: "What is charm?" The answer is to the effect that charm is that thing that a woman sometimes has and if she has it she doesn't need anything else. But, if she hasn't charm, then no matter what she has, it doesn't suffice.

There are, of course, many different kinds of charm. In Vienna or Paris, for instance, a woman may charm men by the sheer brilliance of her intellect and wit. In China it may be the very soft womanliness of a delicate Chinese girl that makes her so charming.

In America, youth has charm for almost all men. That, perhaps, is why older women care so much for preserving the appearance of youth. They may be making a mistake to spend their lives pursuing beauty, thinking it is the only high road to charm. For in so doing, they become so self-centered that they may lose those qualities that make for beauty. Moreover, artificialities do not make for the appearance of youth.

There are, of course, many different kinds of charm. In Vienna or Paris, for instance, a woman may charm men by the sheer brilliance of her intellect and wit. In China it may be the very soft womanliness of a delicate Chinese girl that makes her so charming.

The chief practical point in all discussions is the fact that good dental care given early to spots of decay prevents their spread and prevents the growth of the individual cavity.

JAILED FOR ZEAL
Rochester, N. Y.—Roy McCormick, 24, walked into police headquarters and asked: "What's the bail for Nick?" Just a few minutes before Policeman Quetchenbach had locked up Nick Tascione, 24, for attempted robbery. He knew the news hadn't time to spread. "Nick who?" he asked. McCormick stammered around so much that Quetchenbach held him for questioning. He finally acknowledged he was an accomplice of Tascione.

DECAY OF TEETH STILL PUZZLE TO DOCTORS

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine.

So much work has been done in recent years on the causes of dental decay that physicians and dentists are beginning to have a real insight into the subject.

Dental decay is no respecter of persons; it affects the rich and the poor, the young and the old. It may be found in those who are otherwise healthy and those who are sufferers from chronic disease. Between 80 and 95 per cent of children between 10 and 20 years of age have dental caries.

In a survey of the subject, Dr. Martha Koehnne has reviewed the most prominent opinions of leading investigators. There is, of course, first of all the idea that good or bad teeth are inherited. However, marriages are not made from health points of view and though heredity may play some part, it is not possible to determine that part exactly.

A Clean Tooth Does Decay
For a while the slogan—"A clean tooth never decays"—was believed to express the truth, but serious students of dental disease have long since discarded this conception. People who keep their mouths scrupulously clean may have cavities, while others with visibly dirty mouths have none.

A survey of the subject made by a group of Wisconsin investigators indicated that mouth washes are not dependable protection against dental decay.

For a while it was thought that the chewing of hard food was a valuable measure, but today it is believed that such chewing is helpful only to the gum tissue and has little, if anything, to do with the permanence of the teeth.

There are many theories that concern the general chemistry of the body so far as acid or alkaline diets may be involved. Some of these theories place most of the emphasis on vitamins A, C and D, and other theories put most of the emphasis on the calcium and phosphorus in the diet in association with the vitamins.

Vitamins Puzzling
It is difficult to correlate the body chemistry as the basis of dental decay with the fact that certain teeth, for instance the molars, decay more frequently than the incisors. If the matter is one of blood supply and nutrition primarily, why are not all of the teeth equally susceptible?

There are parts of the world where rickets, due to a deficiency of vitamin D, does not occur, and yet many people in these areas suffer with the condition called caries or general dental decay.

There is also, of course, the infectious theory which would place the responsibility on certain germs in the mouth. Unfortunately no one has been able to isolate a germ which will produce dental decay in animals, and this theory is considered as yet unproved.

Finally, much blame has attached to the eating of sweets, yet there are vast numbers of people who eat large amounts of sweets without developing dental decay.

The chief practical point in all discussions is the fact that good dental care given early to spots of decay prevents their spread and prevents the growth of the individual cavity.

HOPE TO BALANCE LEDGER

Cosmetics, which include about everything from perfumes to tooth pastes; furs and jewelry are listed to pay a ten per cent tax, radios and refrigerators five per cent, autos three, and beverages varied rates.

If the guests stay for the week-end and play golf, tennis or croquet, take a spin in the host's new motor boat or go fishing up the creek, all the better for the United States treasury.

All sporting goods would pay a ten per cent tax, under the proposed new law, and motor boats would pay five. And if the party stays in town and goes to the theater tickets over 45 cents would be taxed one cent for every ten cents.

Candy, Gum Taxed
Even the lazy guests, content to sit on the veranda and eat candy or chew gum, would find themselves contributing a five per cent tax for the pleasure. And the camper, touching a match to his cooking fire or pipe, would pay four cents to Uncle Sam for every 1,000 of them he lights.

If the federal treasury will be the unseen winner at every football clash, every baseball classic, if the bill becomes a law. Regardless of whether Notre Dame beats Southern California or Connie Mack wins another championship, Uncle Sam would gather in a ten per cent levy on the helmets and chest protectors, balls and bats used by winners and losers alike.

YOUR CHILDREN

by Olive Roberts Barton
BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

Back to the Soil—If a child is taught never to put his hands to his face—let me accent this, by the way, very strongly—I think that mothers need not be afraid of a little dirt.

There stays in my mind the picture of a family I saw in the south. The father had a mule, plowing. The mother was carrying a bundle of sticks across the field toward the little cabin—for firewood, I suppose. And four little children, all under five or six, were sitting right out in the soft loam playing.

They had nothing on, I am sure, but the merest shreds of clothes, certainly no shoes or stockings. The sun was out hot and strong, their faces were dirty, and they were all laughing. It did my heart good to see them because some way it seemed to me that was where they belonged. Fat, dirty, healthy young animals getting vitamins straight from nature and not having it doled out in ounces by a trained nurse who said "naughty, naughty," whenever a spot appeared on a clean pinafore.

I am a perfect fiend about children having ground to play on. My mud, if it's warm—and little puddles to wade in and only a few duds to bother them. One good bath a day and an occasional washing of hands and faces ought to keep them in fairly good order.

Vital Things Overlooked
We weary the life out of them with our own complexes about smudges and spots. Like a good many other things in life we go in for the superfluous, the extraneous and the artificial, and we have drained away the vital things.

I believe in sanitation and antiseptics because under our present condition of herding into cities with their lack of air and sunshine, they seem to be necessary, but they will never take the place of Mother Earth.

When I see an immaculate child walking primly along the concrete beside its mother or nurse, I want to grab it and whisk it out to a muddy field or a grassy plot somewhere and say, "Enjoy yourself—get dirty, roll around and kick and forget bottles and measuring cups and clocks—and being everlastingly clean." They will never take the place of the sun and the ground and pure fresh air.

Children today are robbed of something that used to be a natural heritage—the country. Boys need to climb trees and fences and go fishing; so do the girls. The boys need to roll around on the ground and dig.

Apartment children don't have half a chance. Children with no back yard (there's the garage) haven't either. We need more parks and playgrounds, but you young parents who are moving—we need more country.

Social Events To Help Balance Budget Through

Washington—(AP)—Uncle Sam will turn playboy if the new revenue bill becomes a law, for he'll be collecting taxes at almost every party and social event in the nation.

Rouge on the women's cheeks, oil on their escorts' hair, pearls, even if they're only imitation; radios in which the guests arrive, autos to which they dance, beverages served by the hostess and even the mechanical refrigerator in which they're cooled—all are scheduled to help balance the budget by being taxed.

Even the invitations will pay an extra cent of postage if the tax schedule substituted for the manufacture sales levies and rushed through the House passes the Senate and is approved by the President.

Dodgers Buy Kelly From Minneapolis

Former Giants' First Sacker Secured To Fill Gap Caused By Injury To Del Bissonette; Price Not Revealed.

New York, April 7.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers today announced the purchase of George Kelly, former first baseman of the Giants and Cincinnati, from Minneapolis of the American Association. Kelly will take the place of Del Bissonette, injured Dodger first sacker.

The Brooklyn club paid an unannounced sum of cash and a pitcher, to be delivered within the next two weeks, to Minneapolis for Kelly's release.

Kelly will report to the Brooklyn club Monday and will be on first base when the team opens the season against Boston Tuesday, said Dave Driscoll, business manager.

"Long George," former idol of the Polo Grounds "as being having contract difficulties with Minneapolis, tract difficult to the team. He has been working out on the Pacific coast, however, and is reported in excellent condition. He left for the east last night.

The purchase of Kelly ends a quest for a first baseman Brooklyn began several weeks ago when Bissonette injured his ankle, necessitating an operation on the achilles tendon. Bissonette is recuperating in a New York hospital but will not be available for several weeks.

The club was reported to have made an offer to Joe Judge, of the Washington Senators and to other teams without success.

Kelly is 33 years old and has been in organized baseball 18 years, breaking in with Victoria of the Northwest League in 1914. He came up with the Giants in 1915, went to Rochester in 1917 and returned to the Giants in 1919, where he remained until 1927 when he was traded to the Reds. They released him to the Chicago Cubs when Charles Grimm was injured near the close of the season.

Kelly played in four world series with the Giants, 1921-22-23 and 24. He has a lifetime batting average of .299. His best year was 1922, when he hit .328 for the Giants. He batted .320 with Minneapolis last year in 155 games.

Springfield, Mo., April 7.—(AP)—The fight talks the N. Y. Giants have been getting evidently have taken effect. The Giants showed plenty of scrap in yesterday's game with Detroit and finished up with a mass argument with umpire Jack Carroll which resulted in the banishment of Dave Bancroft from the field. The subject was a called third strike on Jackson.

Let's hope the temptations of spring do not result in our Olympic hopes of sweeping conquest this year being strewn along the cinder-paths of April, May, June and July, with little left for the grand finale at Los Angeles during the first week of August.

So far, and with the outdoor campaign just getting under way in the hamlet sections of the land, American youth has been putting on the most startling track and field show of all time.

To the feats of such real stars as Venzke, Spitz, Sexton, Toppino, Eastman and Wyckoff have been added exploits of the most amazing variety by boys whose names mean very little outside their own schools.

The pace is bound to be accelerated from now on, especially with the big relay carnivals at Pennsylvania, Drake and Fresno furnishing impetus, and with well to keep a careful rein on some of the youthful race horses now at large.

None appreciates this any better than the veteran Mike Sweeney, who has played a big part in developing Gene Venzke into the country's foremost miler.

Sweeney, realizing his charge must be properly handled to avoid the pitfalls of Tommie Connerf, who made a careful program of preparation. The temptation to accept too many invitations, social or athletic, will be avoided.

"We must sit tight by the Olympic tryouts at Boston June 11 and then on July 6 at Chicago before we have even a fighting chance to run at Los Angeles," Sweeney points out.

Venzke's career at middle distance record-busting has just begun, in Sweeney's opinion. He says: "Thirty-six years ago I witnessed the record-breaking performance of Tommie Connerf when he negotiated the 1,320 yards in 3 minutes 24.5 seconds."

"At that time, everyone agreed that record would stand for several decades, if not for all time, and I never thought I would live to see anyone even approach that great time. Gene, who missed the 1/4 mile mark by 2-5 of a second, has wonderful possibilities, and with an extra year of competition, it wouldn't startle me to see Venzke shatter this record of 36 years' standing."

Good Old Days
Speaking of holdouts, Burt Shotton, in a fanning bee at Winter Haven, recalled the case of George Stone, outfielder of the St. Louis Browns who batted his way to the American league championship in 1906 in a field that included such hitters as Cobb and Lajoie.

Stone, Shotton recalled, was offered a salary of $4,500 for the following year, refused to accept it, and quit baseball when the Browns stood equally firm on their proposal.

For about three times that much salary, Chick Hefsey of the St. Louis Cardinals, 1931 National league batting champion, has refused to report and remained at loggerheads with his employers.

FARMINGTON POLO TEAM IN ACTION

Competing On National Indoor Polo Championship Program.

New York, April 7.—(AP)—The "big" game of the intercollegiate polo championship and the one which probably will decide the title heads a program of five contests in the national indoor polo championships at Squadron A Armory today. Play is scheduled to start with a class D encounter between Yale's low goal team and Squadron A late in the afternoon and wind up at night when Yale's varsity clashes with Pennsylvania Military College.

The Yale-P. M. C. intercollegiate clash is only a semi-final game but the winner seems almost sure to take the title. The other contenders, Army and Harvard, are hardly in the same class as the two leaders, and Princeton already has fallen before P. M. C. Harvard and Army clash just before the final game.

Yale handicapped at 21 goals and a leading contender for the open and class A titles may have its hands full against the Cehster, Pa., cadets. Yale's line-up is "Chud" Baldwin, Mike Phipps and Jimmy Mills.

In the preliminaries the Yale-Squadron A game will decide the second class D finalist to meet the Ramapo Polo Club while the class C tournament will come down to the semi-finals with games between Squadron A and the Cleveland Riding Club and the 124th Field Artillery of Chicago and the Farmington Valley Club of Hartford, Conn. Princeton and Fort Hamilton already have reached the semi-finals in this division.

Pinehurst, N. C., April 7.—(AP)—Forbes Wilson, former Yale star who set the pace in the early holes of the qualifying round and who defeated W. J. Woodward of Southern Pines, 3 and 2, in the first round of match play, clashes with J. E. Ryerson, of Cooperstown, N. Y., today in the North and South golf tournament.

Ryerson won his right to meet the York Harbor, Maine, star with a 2 and 1 victory over J. D. Chapman, of Greenwich, Conn., national senior champion.

J. E. Parker, Jr., of Orange, N. J., another Yale star, sprang a surprise to beat Alan Smith, University of North Carolina ace, and was paired today with M. P. Warner, of Pine Orchard, Conn., a fellow member of the Yale team, who defeated Chandler J. of Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., captain of the Yale team, who downed J. R. Lenahan, of Providence, R. I., 2 and 1.

Halbert J. Blue, of Aberdeen, a near-favorite, beat R. E. Harlow, of Chicago, 1 up in the first round and will tee off today with S. W. Noyes, J. of Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., captain of the Yale team, who downed J. R. Lenahan, of Providence, R. I., 2 and 1.

A Modern Mercury
Ted Meredith's record in the quarter-mile endured for 15 years. Then the other day, smiling Ben Eastman, running in such easy form that an observer cracked "he could carry a cup of water on his head and never spill a drop," clipped a full second off Meredith's mark, the timers catching him in 48.2-5 seconds. Stanford's coaches say Blazing Ben has not reached the top of his speed.

It was during the indoor season that Gene Venzke, a young man from Pennsylvania, nursing a toothache, stepped a mile in 4 minutes 10 seconds, coming within 4-5 of a second of the fastest outdoor mile ever run, Jules Ladoumeque's 4 minutes 9.1-5 seconds. What Venzke can do when he sinks his spikes into cinders remains only a guess, and 4 minutes 9 seconds wouldn't be a bad prediction.

The Hoosier Horse
Henry Brocksmith, young Indiana University student, got good and warm the other night and smashed two Big Ten distance records before they could cool him off. He ran the indoor mile in 4 minutes 12.2 seconds, sat down for a few minutes and then went out and lowered the two-mile time to 9 minutes 18.2-5 seconds.

George Spitz, New York University lad with nervous feet, high-jumped 6 feet 8 inches in doors. Harold Osborn's all-time Olympic record, set in the Paris games in 1924, was "only" 6 feet 8 inches. And, away back in 1908, when H. F. Porter won the Olympic event for the United States, a high jump of 6 feet 3 inches was looked upon as nothing short of aviation.

Jack Keller, Ohio State hurdler, set a new A. A. U. record for the 50-yard high at Cleveland the other night in 6.2. The old time was 6.3, held by Lee Sentman of Illinois.

CHEMISTS SEEK POISON PROOF

Owners of Phar Lap Want To Be Positive Famous Horse Wasn't Murdered.

Menlo Park, Calif., April 7.—(AP)—Chemistry is to be employed to throw additional light upon the unexpected death of Phar Lap, sensational Australian race horse, here Tuesday.

D. J. Davis of San Francisco, part owner of the big red gelding, said, however, he had accepted the first findings of veterinarians that the death was due to colic.

He and Dr. William Nielsen, veterinarian who accompanied the racer from Australia, announced plans for a chemical examination of the horse's stomach following rumors of poisoning.

Investigation also was started of the plant life which the horse may have eaten. F. N. Chisholm, director of Food and Drug Administration of the United States Department of Agriculture, took samples of grasses, alfalfa, shrubs and even leaves of trees.

He said he was particularly interested in some leaves which appeared to have been sprayed with arsenate of lead. The chemical, he said, is used by orchardists and truck gardeners as pest spray.

Davis said the carcass of the famous thoroughbred will be mounted for return to Australia. The work will require 16 months.

If Rosa Fonselie really wants a husband, she should have enclosed a financial statement with her announcement to reporters.

LEAGUE'S BID TO SHUT RECS VOTED DOWN

he had used the recreation buildings and he replied that he had used them for the past 16 years.

Spies' Stand
Mathias Spies, president of the Taxpayer's League rose to explain that the intent of the petition was not to close the recreation buildings, or to deprive the children the use of them. Nicholas Angelo, a prominent athlete rose to say that the petition, as worded did not mean that the recreation buildings would not be closed.

David Warnock told the assembly the good he had received through participation in the activities of the rec, learning to swim under capable instructors after nearly drowning at Globe Hollow pool. He also said that his son had received instruction through the recreation activities that was responsible for his obtaining a good position as athletic instructor at Loomis Institute.

Mathias Spies gave a lengthy discourse on the intent of the Taxpayer's League in bringing the petition for closing the buildings. He said that he did not wish to deprive children of the Ninth District of the benefits to be obtained through participation in recreational activities, but the League was formed to cut down unnecessary expenses, and closing the recreation buildings was "one way to cut it down."

Calls it "Wreck"
He said that the Rec as run today was not in keeping with the intention of those who supported it and said that the spelling "Rec" should be changed to "Wreck." Mr. Spies suggested the combining of the Library with the recreation building, using the latter for library facilities and thus cutting down the expense of the existing library.

"It is an insult to the people of Manchester," concluded Mr. Spies, directing his remarks to Howell Cheney "for dismissing this petition." Chairman William C. Cheney offered that in his opinion he did not think any insult had been intended or committed through the motion of the chairman of the Ninth School District.

George Stavitsky denounced the Recreation Centers as a "hangout" where his son, George Stavitsky, the well-known basketball player, "stayed most of the time." He said that he was neither a member of the Taxpayer's League or the Chamber of Commerce but opposed the continuation of the burden of supporting the Recs throughout the year.

Combine With Library
Howell Cheney said that careful consideration should be given the matter, rather than hasty action and that the recreation committee should not be asked to break the contracts for recreation instructors involving $7,000 for this year. He said further, that although the Taxpayer's League did not know of it, Main Finance had already been towards combining the library and the East Side Rec, and also for the reduction, insofar as possible, in the expense of maintaining the building.

An amendment to Howell Cheney's motion for dismissal was offered by Mathias Spies, asking that six members from the district three from the Taxpayer's League and three from the district be included in the investigation. Chairman W. C. Cheney ruled the amendment out of order and illegal. The president of the Taxpayer's League took exception to the manner in which the destinies of the town were being conducted and referred to the motion of former Selectman W. W. Robertson, made at a meeting of the Board of Selectmen and citizens last Tuesday night in the Municipal building when he advocated the abolition of the "old-fashioned town meetings, as being out-of-date and suggesting turning over the affairs of the town to a committee of 100 citizens," as un-American, undemocratic and unwise.

During the latter part of the discussion the rear of the hall was lined with interested spectators and Mr. Spies said that he had been advised that at least 20 persons in the hall were school children.

"Ayes" Overwhelming
Following the discussion the vote was taken and the hall resounded with "ayes" supporting the dismissal of the petition for closing the buildings. The strength of the aye vote seemed to have a depressive effect on the advocates of the petition, as but few scattering "nays" were heard.

Bitter feeling was shown by members of the Taxpayer's League when leaders of the organization accented the Recreation committee and members of the Ninth School District following the meeting, charging them with unethical tactics in filling the hall with non-voters to swing the vote in their favor.

It is expected that the fight for closing the recreation buildings will be continued at the annual meeting of June, this being indicated by those who were instrumental in bringing last night's petition before the committee. Chairman Edward Taylor of the recreation committee offered the following schedule of maintenance costs as estimated for the current year, ending June 30:

Maintenance Costs
The estimated cost of maintaining the Recreation Centers for adult recreation purposes for the year ending June 30, 1932 is as follows:
Salaries ..... $6,700
Janitors ..... 2,700
Power, heat, light and water 5,400
Office expense ..... 2,500
Maintenance and supplies ..... 1,000
Rent of building ..... 2,800
Total ..... $21,100

There are certain activities in the Recreation Centers which provide an income and this income should be deducted from the expense listed above in order to arrive at the net cost. The estimated receipts are:

Plunge ..... $ 500
Gym class ..... 150
Buffet ..... 250
Pool and billiards ..... 125
Bowling ..... 200
Room rentals ..... 1,800
Membership ..... 1,800
Total credits ..... $ 3,425

Net cost ..... $17,675

In case the Ninth School District should decide to discontinue its Recreation Centers, it is estimated that the following savings to the district would result:
Salaries ..... $6,500
Janitors ..... 2,700
Power, heat, light and water 4,922
Office expense ..... 2,500
Maintenance and supplies ..... 1,000
Building rentals ..... 2,800
Total ..... $20,422

From this amount should be deducted the income from the profitable activities mentioned above, $3,425.

Apparent net saving to the district, $16,997.

However, if the Ninth School District does not use the Recreation buildings for adult recreational purposes, there are certain expenses which will have to be assumed by the district and the town as a part of the regular school budget. These expenses are:
Janitors East Side building ..... 728
Light East Side building ..... 240
Water East Side building ..... 240
Power East Side building ..... 700
Heat both buildings ..... 2,400
Laboratory tests East Side ..... 90
Building rental East Side ..... 2,800
Total ..... $7,458

Net saving to taxpayers by discontinuing recreational activities, $9,539.

Of the $7,458 expense which will continue whether the buildings are used for adult recreation or not, the Ninth School District will have to assume one-third on account of its use of the School street building for regular school purposes. This will amount to approximately $2,470.

The apparent saving to the district as stated previously is $16,997. From this amount must be deducted the additional expense which will be incurred for school purposes, or $2,470.

Leaving a net saving to the district under present conditions of $14,527.

However, taxpayers of the town as a whole will have to assume the difference between $7,458, the total expense which will continue whether the buildings are closed or not and the amount to be paid by the Ninth District $2,470 or $4,988. As the residents of the Ninth District pay about one-half of the total town tax, they will have to assume 50 per cent or approximately $2,500 of the expense. So if we deduct the $2,500 from the apparent saving as shown above, the net saving to the Ninth School District under present conditions would be $12,027.

The Recreation committee has in mind that certain economies can be made in the recreational expenses for another year and under the present adverse business conditions. We feel that the present budget can be reduced by at least 20 per cent. If this be done the net cost to the Ninth School District of maintaining recreational facilities next year would be approximately $14,000.

Summary
The net cost to the district of maintaining the present recreational facilities is $17,675.

If the buildings are closed the saving to the district will be $12,027.
If the buildings are closed the saving to the taxpayers as a whole will be $9,539.
Under the proposed budget the cost to the Ninth District will be approximately $14,000.

BOY SCOUT NEWS
Troop 3 of the Center Congregational Church held its regular weekly meeting on Tuesday evening. About thirty scouts were present. The meeting opened with the repeating of the Scout's Oath. Scoutmaster McCobb made a number of important announcements concerning the new patrol contest just starting. Patrol meetings were then held and dues and attendance were taken.

Assistant Scoutmaster Charles Lynn introduced two new games which were enjoyed by everyone. At eight o'clock a test passing period was started. At this time also a number of scouts cleaned the two scout rooms in the building. The meeting closed at nine o'clock with the repeating of the Scout's Oath.

Notes
Any Scouts wishing to pass outdoor tests, meet at the Center Church at ten o'clock Saturday morning. Please bring all equipment that is necessary in the test.

Wall Street Briefs
New York, April 7.—The disappointing course of events in the steel industry in March has prepared Wall street for another decrease in the monthly unfilled tonnage figures of the U. S. Steel Corporation, to be released on Saturday. A decrease will be contrary to the March 31 showing for the past three years.

Cooperation on the part of holders of all series of the first preferred stock of the American Commonwealth Power Corp. is essential to a satisfactory reorganization of the company, Frederick Pierce, chairman of the protective committee, told the stockholders in a letter issued today.

Directors and stockholders of the American Gas & Power Co. acquired recently by A. E. Fitkin and associates, have voted to return to the Minneapolis Gas Light Co. certain suburban properties which the gas company has acquired from an American company in order to reduce a $2,583,000 debt of the American company to the local concern.

ONLY A QUARTER! DO YOU REALIZE THAT FOUR QUARTERS MAKE ONE DOLLAR! DO YOU KNOW HOW MUCH A DOLLAR YOU PUT IN THE BANK TODAY WILL BE WORTH IN TEN YEARS?

A DOLLAR AT SIX PER CENT INTEREST WILL EARN IN TEN YEARS... SEVENTY-ONE BUCKS AND TEN CENTS. IF WE WENT EVERY WEEK THAT'D BE... $1802.

AND IF WE STAYED HOME FROM THE MOVIES FOR FIVE YEARS IT'D AMOUNT TO $9,400. NOW... YOU CAN FIGURE IT LIKE THIS: IF WE GO TONIGHT IT'S LIABLE TO BECOME A HABIT AND GOODBYE $9,400. IS IT WORTH THE PRICE?

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)
"Well, who are you?" was Scouty cried. "Please tell us how you got inside the great big bubble that just broke. And, also, what's your name?"
"You are real friendly, I suppose. We'll be your friends, goodness knows. Regardless, sir, of whom you are, we're very glad you came."
"Well," said the man, "Suds is my name. I, too, am very glad I came. You see, for days I have been lost with a cake of soap."
"I had to wait till someone blew a bubble. So, much thanks to you. I don't mind telling all you lads that I had near lost hope."
"But, here I am! I feel just great. And, if you lads will kindly wait until I've stretched my joints a bit, I'll furnish heaps of fun."
"You've blown some bubbles, I am sure, but most of them are rather poor. I'll take a bubble pipe and show you how it should be done."
"Hurry!" cried Windy. "That suits me! In fact, I will be thrilled so see some pretty bubbles in the air. Please make them float up high."
"I'll bet that you can blow real strong and I just hope that might go wrong. Gee, try and make a bubble float away up in the sky."
It wasn't long until the man said, "Now I'll do the best I can. He took hold of a bubble pipe and dipped it in the soap."
And then he blew and blew and blew. One Tiny cried, "Hurry for you! I wish that it was possible to tie one to a rope."
"Now, look at this," the man cried out. And, shortly, floating all about were bubbles of most every shape that bubbles could be in. "Some look like doughnuts," Copy said. "And, see that big one overhead?"
"The man then blew some other shapes that made the Tinmites grin."
(Something happens to Old Man Suds in the next story.)

SENSE AND NONSENSE

WHAT OF IT?

Tired? Well, what of that? Didst fancy life was spent on beds of ease, Fluttering the rose leaves scattered by the breeze? Come, rouse thee! Work while it is called today! Coward, arise! Go forth upon thy way.

Dark? Well, what of that? Didst fondly dream the sun would never set? Dost fear to lose thy way? Take courage yet! Learn thou to walk by faith and not by sight; Thy steps will guided be, and guided right.

"I could make a lightning change," a girl told her boy friend who had, according to Brushville Betty, waited an hour and a half, "but I would look like thunder."

Anderson—I hear you're keeping a keg of beer in your room.
Perkinson—Yes, I'm taking it to gain strength.
Anderson—Any results?
Perkinson—Marvelous! When I first got the thing I couldn't even move it, and now I can roll it all over the floor.

Here's a good one from the lips of a well-known merchant: "The sale is never closed until the customer is so well satisfied that he tries to sell the product to some one else."

Daughter—Did you have many love affairs, daddy dear?
Soldier Daddy—No, child; I fell in the first engagement.

"Banquet is a good word in its place," according to Ambrose Bierce in his "Write It Right," "but its place is the dictionary."

Archibald—Won't you ever look with favor upon my suit?
Annabelle—I didn't want to appear rude, but it looks to me as if it needs cleaning and pressing.

A teacher was trying to develop the word "slight."
The Teacher—Now, Jimmie, what is it that comes along on runners.
Little Jimmie—Rum.

Pity the lot of woman. All she can do is marry you, sue you, divorce you, and then set you in the coop for not paying her a pension the rest of her life.

Hubby—I never could understand why you women wear furs in summer.

Wife—Good heartedness, dear—it's a time when the animals don't need them.

Jojan was hanging over the stern-rail. Very rough sea. Came the disgustingly healthy person to torture the less fortunate:

Healthy Person (booming with joy)—Not sick, are you, Jojan, old man?

Jojan (weakly but with spirit)—No, I'm not sick at all. I'm just looking over the back of the boat to see how the captain cranks it.

The best way for a young man who is without friends or influence to begin is: First, to get a position; Second, to keep his mouth shut;

Third, Observe; Fourth, be faithful; Fifth, make his employer feel he would be lost in a fog without him; Sixth, be polite.

John—Hell, Sam, I hear you've been sick.
Sam—Yeah, but when the doctor told me it wasn't asthma I breathed a lot easier.

Lady Harrison—You're the fifth beggar today that has asked me for something to eat. There are too many of you walking the streets these days.

Dusty Dan—I agree wid you, ma'am. Since we've had unemployment everyone thinks they can do our kind of work and dey joins our profession.

GOOD PROGRESS

"May I ask how old you are?" said the vacationist to the old villager.

"I be just a hundred."
"Really? Well, I doubt if you'll see another hundred."

"Well, I don't know so much about that. I be stronger now than when I started on the first hundred."—Ohio Motorist.

BAA! BAA! BAA!

"How did you come to cause all this disturbance?"

"Well, it was like this. John and I were sitting at the fire. John was reading his newspaper and I was thinking. Then I turned to him and said: 'John, sheep are awful stupid, aren't they?' And John said: 'Yes, my lamb.'—Tit-Bits.

GIVE NEWLYWEDS SURPRISE PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Neubauer are honored at Bride's Sister's Home in Forestville.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Neubauer of 29 Fairview street, were the guests of honor at a surprise party given last evening by Mrs. Arthur Ebb at her home in Forestville. Mrs. Neubauer before her marriage was Miss Esther Anderson, a sister of Mrs. Ebb.

When the young couple arrived at the Ebb home they were surprised to find a large number of the friends both from New Britain, Hartford, East and West Hartford and this town, had preceded them, also that the living and dining rooms were beautifully decorated in crepe paper in rainbow colors. Games were played, and Mr. Neubauer, who is widely known as a radio and concert pianist, rendered several selections. A buffet lunch was served by the hostess. The gifts included linen, pyrex, china, electric appliances and pottery.

Emergency Group Turns Down Plan After Legion Makes Test.

The Board of Directors of the Manchester Emergency Employment Association, Inc., last night voted against a canvass of the town to secure work for the unemployed, the action following a report by members of Dilworth-Cornell Post of the American Legion that a preliminary canvass of four selected districts was not successful. The Legion reported that of 120 cards distributed in the four districts only two small jobs were obtained and the directors felt that this result would not warrant a continuance of the plan.

Home Gardens
Upon disposal of this question, the home garden program was discussed at length and the Legion representatives decided to go through with its original plan. Members will be present at the Association office in the Municipal building Monday morning when employees of the Association are paid, and will discuss the plan with them. The home gardens will not be limited to unemployed but the Association's interest will naturally be centered on providing gardens for those on its payroll. The Association feels that those who have been given work should take advantage of this opportunity to raise garden produce for home consumption.

Hill Offers Land
E. J. Hill has offered the use of land in his development along McKee street on the West Side and also of land at the north end. Several other local property owners are expected to make similar offers. The Association plans to plow the land and an attempt may be made to provide fertilizer and seed also, especially in case of extreme need.

GLEE CLUB RECORD IS IMPRESSIVE ONE
Beethovens Have Given 110 Concerts In Six Year Period.

A list of interesting statistics have been compiled in the history of the Beethoven Glee Club since its organization on May 20, 1925, including the fact that the club has held a total of 248 regular rehearsals in six years and 95 extra rehearsals in addition to 12 extra rehearsals with the Glee Club. The Beethovens are now holding extensive rehearsals in preparation for its seventh annual concert at the High School Auditorium, Monday evening, April 18.

These statistics are for the six year period ending with 1931. Also of interest is the fact that the club has had an average membership of forty-six and a total membership of 116 in six years. The club has given 110 concerts in Manchester, Hartford, Bristol, Forestville, Meriden, New York, East Orange, N. J., Worcester, Quinsigamond and Brockton, Mass., and many other towns and cities in New England. Its local artists have included Miss Eva M. Johnson, Miss Helen Berggren, Miss Elsie Berggren, Miss Eleanor Willard, Jarle Johnson, L. Burdette Hawley and G. Albert Pearson.

In its six previous annual concerts the club has been assisted by many outstanding artists in the musical field, including Theodore Larson, tenor; the Copley String Quartet, the Gloria Trumpeters, Judson House, tenor; Irma Gies, soprano; Madama Maria Kuranko, soprano; and Martha Atwood, soprano. This year the club will be assisted by the Mendelssohn Singers of Worcester, Mass., a male chorus of more than fifty voices under the direction of J. Frits Hartz.

The Beethoven Club has appeared in three radio broadcasts, over Station WTIC in 1927 and 1931, and over Station WBZ in 1928.

The first president of the club was Clarence O. Anderson, followed by C. G. Birch, Herbert Johnson, Edwin Johnson, Evan Nyquist, Albert Robinson and Rudolph Swanson, the present incumbent.

The regular meeting of the Business Girls of the Center Congregational church will be held tomorrow evening at the home of Lois and Ruth Howe, 51 Hamlin street.

Dr. E. G. Dolan Organizes Group Last Night—Name Temporary Officers.

The Young People's Democratic Club of Manchester was formed last night by Dr. Edward G. Dolan, well known Manchester politician who is active in the movement to name Franklin D. Roosevelt as the Democratic candidate for president.

The meeting, attended by about 50 young people, was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Dolan on Plymouth Lane. Temporary officers were elected following the outlining of plans and purposes of the organization by Dr. Dolan.

Those named were as follows:

Raymond Shea, chairman; Miss Mary Dielenschneider, secretary; John Boyle, Jack Shea, Miss Lucille Grant, Felix Mosser and Miss Mary Stephens, organization committee; Fred Dielenschneider, Edward Coughlin, Harold Garrity and James McInduff, publicity committee; Brunig Moeke, William DeHann, Catherine Shea and William Cadieux, district committee.

The next meeting will be Monday, April 18.

A Depression Dance will be held at the School Street Recreation Center gym tomorrow night at which the charge will be only ten cents.

The junior boys' club orchestra of 10 pieces will furnish the music for dancing which will be from 8 until 11. The dance will be under the supervision of Recreation Center officials.

The regular meeting of the Business Girls of the Center Congregational church will be held tomorrow evening at the home of Lois and Ruth Howe, 51 Hamlin street.
