

WHITNEY DEFENDS STOCK EXCHANGES

Says Harmful Reports Have Been Circulated About Loaning Customers'
 Stocks Last 2 Or 3 Years.

Washington, April 12.—(AP)—
 Determined defense of the Stock Exchange was continued in testimony to the Senate banking committee today by its president, Richard Whitney.

He protested against "this hue and cry, perhaps helped by the gentlemen of the press in regard to loaning customers' stocks, that has been in vogue throughout the country for the last two or three years." Senator Couzens (R., Mich.), remarked that any man who signed the customers agreement which Whitney produced "must have been a goat."

In response to questions from Couzens, Whitney said "the minimum margin indicated as good business by the New York Stock Exchange is 25 per cent margin."
 "Do they ever go lower than 25 per cent?" asked Couzens.
 "Not if we know it, sir,"

"Absolutely?" Couzens inquired.
 "Yes sir," said Whitney.
 A motion by Couzens to postpone further investigation after today until Monday, in order to allow time to consider the Glass bank bill, was approved.

Whitney continued his testimony
 after the motion was carried.

Washington, April 12.—(AP)—
 The Senate banking committee today made public figures furnished by Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock Exchange, showing total stock holdings in United States Steel on April 6 were 361,698 shares.

The committee made public the short interest in all stocks from April 1 to April 6, showing the short holdings in United States Steel greater than in any other stock.

The short interest in steel on April 1 was 386,422 shares, showing it decreased as the price went down.
 Large short holdings in General Motors also were shown. They were 265,906 shares April 1 and 262,408 on April 6.

The short interest of Consolidated Oil and Gas jumped from nothing on April 1 to 35,768 shares on April 4.
 Short holdings in Sinclair Consolidated Oil dropped from 35,853 on April 1 to none on April 4.

Kreuger and Toll short holdings decreased from 181,410 shares on April 1 to 77,489 April 6.

The short interest in American Telephone and Telegraph jumped from 129,019 April 1 to 201,679 on April 4 and then dropped to 197-695 April 6.

The total short interest in the market on April 1 was 3,279,398; on April 4, 3,189,598; April 5, 3,059,658 and on April 6, 3,063,927.

The number of stocks in which there was a short interest for the four days respectively was: 590; 592; 602; 608.

FIVE STATES VOTE FOR PARTY ENVOYS

National Interest Centered
 Today On Illinois and Nebraska Races.

Washington, April 12.—(AP)—
 The political cross winds sweep today over five widely scattered states where primaries and party conventions select 96 Democratic and 101 Republican delegates to the presidential nominating conventions at Chicago.

National interest centered on the Illinois Republican and Nebraska Democratic races. Of the 61 Republican delegates being selected in Illinois, a group of 15 Chicagoans were running definitely opposed to renomination of President Hoover and on a prohibition repeal platform. Most of the down-state delegate candidates were believed to be pro-Hoover.

Three Candidates
 In Nebraska, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Speaker Garner and Governor Murray of Oklahoma fought it out for the preference vote. The State organization was back of Roosevelt.
 Sixteen delegates were being chosen.

Fifty-four district delegates were being named by the Illinois Democrats and were lined up for Senator J. Hamilton Lewis.

Nebraska Republicans also were selecting 17 delegates, probably for Hoover, although unpicked.
 Besides these two states, Kentucky Democrats in convention were choosing 26 delegates already promised Roosevelt and Florida and Missouri Republican conventions were naming 16 and 17 delegates respectively.

NATIVE WAS SLAIN IN FORTESCUE HOME

Officers Testify They Found Revolver On Table, Blood Stains and Photo of Victim

Honolulu, April 12.—(AP)— Efforts to picture what happened behind the drawn blinds of the home of Mrs. Granville Fortescue January 8, when Joseph Kahahawai, was allegedly lynched, were made by the prosecution today in the trial of the society woman and three Navy men for the killing.

John C. Kelley, public prosecutor, has produced witnesses who linked the defendants with the abduction of Kahahawai and with the motor car stopped by police while rushing toward Koko Head with his body, which apparently was to have been thrown to the sharks.

The prosecutor lined up today's witnesses in an attempt to show that the killing took place in the Fortescue home.

He did not reveal the names of those summoned to take the stand and, as far as is publicly known, he has no actual witnesses to the shooting which ended Kahahawai's life.

Outlines His Case
 In his opening statement Kelley told the racially mixed jury something of what he expected to prove concerning the home.

Two officers, he said, went to the place after the shooting and found windows closed and blinds drawn.
 They found a revolver, he said, and a bullet lying on a table.

A purse containing a photograph of Kahahawai, a cap which had been worn by the victim, blood stains, a rope identical with that used to bind Kahahawai's sheet enveloped body, and evidence indicating the floor had been recently mopped were found in the house, Kelley asserted.

Fake Summons
 Edward Uili, cousin of Kahahawai, testified it was Mrs. Fortescue, Massie and Lord who lured the victim into an automobile with a fake summons and whisked him away.
 When Uili pointed to Mrs. Fortescue

MUTINEERS LOSE ECUDORIAN NAVY

Not a Shot Fired In Engagement—Rebel Leader Hidden In Boiler Room.

Guayaquil, Ecuador, April 12.— (AP)—Ecuador got its navy back today when crews were put aboard the gunboats Cotopaxi and Tarqui which were recovered in the night from the mutineers who seized them in Guayaquil harbor last week.

The naval engagement, in which not a shot was fired, followed the recapture of the fort at Punta Fie-dras where another rebel group was installed. Marines in small boats surrounded the gunboats, scrambled aboard and overpowered the mutineers after a brief hand-to-hand fight.

General Hildebrando Mendoza, leader of the unsuccessful revolt, was found hidden in two of his lieutenants in the boiler room of the Cotopaxi.

The government announced that in yesterday's engagement at the fort the rebels lost four killed and sixteen wounded. There were no casualties among the Federal troops.

House Made Big Mistake In Rejecting Sales Taxes

Concord, N. H., April 12.—(AP)— U. S. Senator George H. Moses believes it the duty of Congress to remain in session until it passes a tax bill that will balance the budget.

"I feel," he said, "that the House made a mistake in rejecting the manufacturers sales tax. As proposed, food, clothing and medicines are exempt from the tax. Instead of levies greater than two and a half per cent. These would have been absorbed in competition and the general public scarcely would have been aware of the tax. Instead of the sales tax, the House gave us so-called excise taxes, running in some cases to 20 per cent, and some of those imposed upon the people nuisance taxes as bothersome as those collected during the war."

AFTER MYSTERY BLAST CLAIMED SIX LIVES

The force of the mysterious explosion which wrecked this three-story brick apartment building in Springfield, Mass., and claimed six lives, is graphically indicated in the above photograph, taken soon after the fatal blast. In addition to those killed, sixteen persons were injured when the explosion tore rooms apart on the second and third floors. Police investigated rumors that the structure was bombed.

PREPARE TO EVACUATE 80,000 ARGENTINIANS

Volcanoes Menace Wide Area With Dust and Gases; Ash Blanket Over a Foot Deep Already.

Buenos Aires, April 12.—(AP)— Government officials made tentative preparations today to evacuate the 80,000 inhabitants of Mendoza, Argentina's principal western city, as erupting Andean volcanoes continued to menace a wide area with dust and gases.

More than fourteen inches of ashes lay over some of the territory today. Westerly winds showered the fine dust down in a fan-like belt 800 miles across central South America, and Martin Gil, local meteorologist, expressed the opinion that the current eruptions might be the forerunner of a worldwide volcanic wave.

Officials here were considering requests for railway facilities to begin the evacuation of Mendoza and other afflicted areas should the situation grow worse. Half a dozen villages near Mendoza, which was shaken three times yesterday, awaited the arrival of government trucks with first aid supplies.

Volcanoes long considered extinct were becoming active. At Malague earth cracks appeared last night and the ash blanket was 13.5 inches deep before midnight.

From football towns the 800-mile fan of ash showers extended across South America at midnight, enveloping Buenos Aires, Montevideo, most of Uruguay and even the ships along the Atlantic seacoast in a grayish cloak.

The shower here was of an almost invisible powder, but it continued into its second day and left a thorough coating over streets and roofs, like snow.

Reports from San Rafael said breathing was difficult there. The rumblings continued, with bright flashes in the direction of the Andes. The ministry of interior was asked to rush drums of oxygen for treatment of cases of asphyxiation from the gases.

MANY EARTHQUAKES
 Santiago, Chile, April 12.—(AP)— Hundreds of hundreds of thousands of inhabitants of Central Chile were increased today, as earthquake shocks and ground settings grew more frequent and darkness covered a wide area showered by dust from more than a dozen Andean volcanoes in eruption.

The disturbed area extended from Talca to the south to several miles

ADVERSE WEATHER GREET'S BASEBALL

Snow, Rain and Cold Waves Postpone Two Games On Opening Day.

(By Associated Press.)

Plagued by snow, rain and cold weather baseball's major league campaigns faced an inauspicious start today.

Despite the poor weather at least 150,000 fans, who had the necessary tickets and overcoats, were expected to pass through the turnstiles in six major league parks to witness the general opening of another pen-tant race.

Only at Philadelphia, Cincinnati and St. Louis was there anything resembling "baseball weather," reports the Associated Press showed, and even in those cities hot coffee was more in order than soda pop.

Snow in Detroit
 Snow showered in the season in Detroit and caused postponement of the opener between the Tigers and the Cleveland Indians.

Rain washed out the game at Boston between the Red Sox and the Washington Senators, who yesterday opened the American League race at Washington, with the Senators winning 1-0 in a close ten-inning game.

As befitted the outstanding game in the two leagues, the meeting between Athletics and Yankees, the weather at Philadelphia was the most favorable of all the big league cities. It came clear with the thermometer standing at 48 degrees at 8 a. m., and mounting every minute.

The outstanding game in the National League also drew fair weather, the temperature being 42 at St.
 Louis at 8 a. m., for the opening game of the World Champion Cardinals against the Pittsburgh Pirates.

RIVER IS RISING AROUND HARTFORD

Expect It To Reach 18 Feet
 By Tomorrow, U. S.
 Weather Bureau Warns.

Hartford, April 12.—(AP)—A further rise of the already swollen Connecticut river, expected to bring with it inconvenience and some property damage to families in the East Hartford meadows region, is forecast in a flood warning issued this morning by the United States Weather Bureau.

The warning today is: "Recent heavy rainfall will cause a continued slow rise of the Connecticut river over the middle and lower valley during the next 24 to 36 hours, probably reaching 18 feet at Hartford on Wednesday."

Remains the Same
 From 2 p. m. yesterday up to this morning the river level remained stationary at 17.3 but the heavy rains are expected to lift the water and cover further lowland areas to an added depth of at least .7 of a foot by tomorrow.

For 24 hours flood waters have been lapping the yards of dozens of East Hartford homes located north of the Connecticut Boulevard, but so far no property damage has been reported from the annual freshet.
 Yachts were carried away from their winter cradles at East Hartford boat yards and had to be lashed to trees to keep from going downstream.

TREASURY BALANCE
 Washington, April 12.—(AP)— Treasury receipts for April 9 were $3,828,852.03; expenditures $21,698-416.56; balance $28,916,310.35. Customs duties for nine days of April were $4,768,300.22.

Three Nations Report Employment Increase

Washington, April 12.—(AP)— Better employment conditions in three countries today were reported by the Commerce Department.

France and Great Britain, in Europe, and Mexico were the nations reported to have improved the unemployment situation. Mexicans out of jobs in March were estimated at about 200,000 as compared with 220,704 in the last half of last year.

"Certain hopeful factors were noted in French business conditions during March," said the department, "such as somewhat lower unemployment, increased car loadings and firmer commodity prices."

"There was a decline in unemployment in Great Britain during March well distributed over the various lines of British industrial activity."

"Renewed public confidence in the banking situation and restored confidence of business in political stability have been apparent in Germany. Slow seasonal improvement has occurred in various German industries during the past fortnight as against slight recessions in coal and other heavy industries."

LINDBERGH RANSOM CASH OFFERED IN GREENWICH

Well Dressed Woman Hands
 One of the $20 Bills To Storekeeper — Escapes
 When Alarm Is Given.

Greenwich, April 12.—(AP)—A well dressed woman with a handful of bills hurriedly entered the bake shop of Mrs. Ella Decornille last night, tendered one which she said
 "may be phony" but seized it and fled when it was identified as one given as ransom for the Lindbergh baby. Mrs. Decornille today quoted the strange woman as saying she offered the bill: "This bill may be phony. I just got it down at a gasoline station just below here."

Mrs. Decornille today said the woman "resembled an actress" and about 5 feet six inches tall, attractive and dark complexioned. The bake shop proprietress noticed particularly she said, that the woman had colored half her fingernails black and half red.

In Expensive Car
 Six customers, Mrs. Decornille said today, were in the shop when the strange woman drove up in an expensive green town car with a liveried chauffeur, entered hurriedly with a handful of new bills in her hand and asked the use of a telephone. On being told no telephone had been connected, she pleaded being in a hurry and begged to be waited on ahead of the other customers, and asked for a half dozen cherry tarts. Giving the proprietress the $20 bill she turned toward the door to speak to her chauffeur.

Noted the Number
 Mrs. Decornille and one of her customers glanced at the bill and noticed its number KB 0387539A.
 Both saw it was listed among the Lindbergh ransom bills. The proprietress called across the store to where the visitor was still standing in the door talking to her chauffeur.
 "Why this is one of the Lindbergh bills," she said.

Without comment and while the other amazed customers looked on quietly Mrs. Decornille said the woman walked quickly across the store, seized the bill from her hand and fled toward Stamford on the Boston Post Road. The other dazed customers discussed the matter 15 minutes before thinking to call the police.

NO WORD RECEIVED
 Hopewell, N. J., April 12.—(AP)—
 No word from the kidnappers since the swindle has been received by Colonel Lindbergh since Colonel H. Norman Schwarzkopf, head of the state police, after a conference in New York with Colonel Henry Breckinridge, legal adviser of Lindbergh.

ENTERED COLLEGE IN 1878 He's Still There Studying

Ithaca, N. Y., April 12.—(AP)— Seventy-five years of the vicissitudes of life have come and gone for Leslie A. Baker, one-time carpenter, and still he pursues his endless quest for
 "the pure learning."

He's an unregistered student at Cornell, where his life has become intertwined with university tradition.

As a carpenter in Olean, back in 1878, Baker heard of young Cornell University, and dreamed of what lay for him behind its walls. He put aside his hammers and saws and came here to enroll. In 1880 his funds ran out and he left.

But he came back in 1918 and is here yet. A bearded figure who looks like an old testament character, he haunts the library in Willard Straight hall, drinking in the knowledge denied him when he was young.

When he returned in 1918 death had taken from him those he loved and there was left only the passion for learning. He found a home in a cellar, earned food by the care of among the volumes of the library.
 Vacations came and the students flocked away from town, but not so Baker. When the students returned they found him there in the library, poring over old times.

"No, I have not graduated—not yet," he says.

Senator Thomas States Pat- man Plan Would Kill the Federal Reserve System; Father Coughlin Speaks For Ex-Soldiers; May Call Noted Bankers To the Conference.

Washington, April 12.—(AP)—A sharp difference of opinion over means to secure money for paying the $2,400,000,000 soldiers bonus developed between advocates of the legislation in today's hearing before the House ways and means committee.

Representative Patman (D., Tex.), who is directing the bonus campaign, has urged the issuance of United States currency on the Treasury.

Today, Senator Thomas (D., Okla.) another advocate of the bonus payment, testified the Pat-man plan would "kill the Federal Reserve system unless Congress appropriated directly for its support."

Thomas said the bonus certificates should be cashed in Federal Reserve bank notes based on two per cent government consols issued to the amount of $2,400,000,000.

Priest for Bonus
 Father Charles E. Coughlin, director of a Detroit radio program, appeared for the bonus payment.
 He said he did not represent the Catholic church but expressed the sentiments of more than 2,500,000 letters received in the last 27 weeks.

Acting Chairman Clegg of the ways and means committee announced that George L. Harrison, governor of the New York Federal Reserve bank and Charles E.
 Mitchell, chairman of the National City bank, will be requested to testify on the soldiers bonus issue.

Clegg said quotations from these bankers indicating they were favorable to credit expansion and believed it only fair that they should have an opportunity to state their exact position.

PRIEST ON STAND
 Washington, April 12.—(AP)—
 Against the united opposition of administration and Democratic leaders in Congress, advocates of a $2-400,000,000 cash payment on the soldiers' bonus today pressed their case before the House ways and means committee.

He said the Reconstruction Finance Corporation was hurried through both the House and Senate to make available $2,000,000,000 of

JOE LEITER DEAD; FINANCIAL WIZARD

Once Tried To Corner Wheat Market But Failed and Lost 12 Millions.

Chicago, April 12.—(AP)—The colorful Joseph Leiter is dead and the spheres of sports, business and finance have lost a leader.

Leiter, multi-millionaire turfman and capitalist, son of the late Levi Z. Leiter, the merchant prince and partner of the first Marshall Field, died yesterday at the age of 63.

Complications that set in with pneumonia after he was pronounced on the way to recovery from serious heart trouble caused his death.

Funeral services were set for this afternoon and the body will be sent to Washington for burial in the Leiter family plot there after last rites in St. John's Cathedral.

Noted turfman and force countenance, Leiter was a familiar figure at nearly every race track of the nation and equally well known in halls of business and finance.

His first spectacular venture in business came in 1898 and made him a national figure. He tried to corner the wheat market and failed. That failure cost his father $12,000,000.

Despite the fiasco, the elder Leiter at death had sufficient faith in the son's business acumen to make him custodian of his vast $30,000,000 estate.

In years that followed, Joseph Leiter's name blazed frequently in newspaper headlines. He caught public fancy and held it with his tireless activities as breeder of race horses and promoter of races; as big game hunter, grain trader and railroad and utility operator.

His income at death was estimated at $1,000,000 a year.

TWO WOMEN HONORED BY KING'S DAUGHTERS

Mrs. William Kean and Mrs. James C. Robinson Surprised By Members At Meeting.

Fifty of the members of Loyal circle of King's Daughters attended the monthly meeting and social at the Center Church House last night. After the business session the members puzzled for a time over a group of 40 pictures taken in childhood, each one bearing a number only. Mrs. Rollin Hitt guessed the greatest number correctly and Miss Mildred Hutchinson came out second. This and other games kept up the fun until it was time to descend to the banquet hall for salads, cake and coffee.

During the evening a drawing was held on the placed bedquilt, and the lucky number, 84, was held by Mrs. Florence Pitt of 29 Edgerton street. The Ways and Means committee, of which Mrs. William Kean is chairman, and members of the circle made up dozens of holders in attractive cretonne teapot-shaped containers, before Christmas. These useful gifts were mailed to friends all over the country. Each purchaser had the chance of winning the bedquilt, and a neat sum was netted for the circle's charitable work. Mrs. Kean and her committee have successfully managed rummage sales to swell the funds, and have sold birthday calendars.

Mrs. J. A. Hood, leader of Loyal circle, and in its behalf presented to Mrs. Kean in appreciation of her services, a sterling silver chain with pendant in the shape of a silver Maltese cross, the emblem of the order, and a bouquet of beautiful red roses. The recipient was completely taken by surprise but managed to voice her thanks to her friends for the lovely gifts.

Another surprise followed in the banquet hall. This time it was on Mrs. James C. Robinson of Greenhill street. The news leaked out that Mr. and Mrs. Robinson went to New York the past week-end, by way of celebrating their 25th anniversary. Her associates had a large cake made for last night's party, decorated with white and silver in recognition of the silver wedding.

CARD OF THANKS

A rising vote of thanks was given to the committee in charge of the club's exhibit at the National Flower and Garden show which closed at the State Armory in Hartford Sunday evening, which won honorable mention; also to the members who were on the general decorating committee and served as hostesses.

It was voted to spend at least $10 a year in the purchase of new books for the Garden club's library.

An especially fine lecture prepared by the American Rose society, illustrated by about 75 beautifully colored slides of municipal and private rose gardens all over the country followed. The descriptions were read by Mrs. R. K. Anderson and the machine was operated by Ralph Rockwell. The pictures included the wonderful rose gardens at Elizabeth Park, Hartford; Roger Williams Park, Providence; Franklin Park, Boston; Ipswich and Marblehead, Mass.; Greens Farms, Conn.; Mrs. Henry Ford's gardens in Dearborn, Michigan; and those in Ontario and the Pacific coast. The pictures proved that they can be successfully grown in Florida, contrary to general opinion.

BASKETBALL SERIES MONEY FINALLY SPLIT

Close To $1,200 Being Distributed Today To Team Members and Creditors.

The town basketball championship money, ripe after nearly a month in bank storage, finally underwent the carving knife last night thus putting the series receipts of close to $1,200 into circulation. The National Guard military organization, the Recreation Centers, Inc., members of both teams, and series creditors were given the biggest slices.

The money carving took place at the School street Recreation Center last night where Treasurer Walter J. Buckley, Manager James H. Newell, Jr. of the Guards and Manager James E. Gorman of the Rec, met to straighten out the financial end of the series which was won by the Guards, 38-37, 21-23 and 36-34 after one of the hottest fights in local basketball history.

The managers stamped their "okay" on the bills which were contracted during the series and today Treasurer Buckley was busy forwarding checks to meet the debts incurred in the three games. The exact amount of the receipts was not disclosed but close observers placed the figure at $350, subtracting this from the $1,195.07 series gross, leaves approximately $845 to be split between the two teams.

The series came to a conclusion March 18 but for nearly a month the money has been at The Manchester Trust Company awaiting the managers' share of the net receipts will be about $500 while the Recreation Centers benefit to the extent of $340. The winning basket of the series, tossed by Christopher McHale, Jr., meant a difference of about $150 to the two teams and was nicknamed "the $150 beauty."

Each team is contracted to turn over a certain percentage of the net receipts to the Recreation Centers, Inc., and Company G and the Howitzer Company of the 169th Infantry, C. N. G. The remainder will be divided evenly among the players. About ten persons will have a split on each team, and the money will be divided at present unemployed and for the past month they have anxiously awaited the distribution.

JUNE FLOWER SHOW COMMITTEES NAMED

Manchester Garden Club Has Monthly Meeting—Hear Lecture On Roses.

The April meeting of the Manchester Garden Club held last evening at the Center Church House was well attended and several important matters of business transacted. The following were appointed as general committee in charge of the June flower show: the president, Mrs. J. R. Lowe; treasurer, Mrs. Herbert B. House; Mrs. R. K. Anderson, C. W. Blankenburg and Walter C. Wirtalla. It was voted to award ribbons and prizes to exhibitors.

W. E. Buckley of the public relations committee reported that his committee had consulted with a landscape architect in regard to a contribution of shrubbery or a planting plan for the new Whiton library and Y. M. C. A. building on North Main street, and that the committee favored the purchase of a specially made planting plan. The Garden club voted to act accordingly and authorized Mr. Buckley to give the order after conferring with members of the building committee.

A rising vote of thanks was given to the committee in charge of the club's exhibit at the National Flower and Garden show which closed at the State Armory in Hartford Sunday evening, which won honorable mention; also to the members who were on the general decorating committee and served as hostesses.

GUNMEN IN FIGHT AT CHICAGO POLLS

Political Worker Caught In Cross Fire and Wounded; Other Man Slugged.

Chicago, April 12.—(AP)—A revolver battle between a political worker and gunmen cruising in an automobile past a south side polling place climaxed a morning of minor election disturbances.

Henry Hess, 65, a Republican precinct worker, was caught in the cross fire and taken to a hospital where he was immediately operated upon for a possible fatal wound.

Jack Kelly, a Democratic precinct captain, was taken into police custody although he asserted he was forced in self-defense to fire upon the automobile. The gunmen first alighted and one of them, a witness said, then got into their sedan again and fired as they drove away.

Police took 15 witnesses to the Woodlawn station.

Hess said he did not know whose bullet hit him, but that he was not the target.

The battle took place in the home ward of Michael Igoe, one of the Democratic candidates for the nomination for governor.

DEMOCRATIC WOMEN TO WORK FOR SMITH

Hartford, April 12.—(AP)—Democratic women leaders from all parts of the State who are interested in working for the presidential nomination of Alfred E. Smith will meet here at luncheon tomorrow to discuss plans for an active statewide organization.

The sponsor of the movement is Mrs. John L. Kavanaugh of this city who started the first Smith club here in 1928. Mrs. Kavanaugh said today that the group will meet at Hotel Bond and that if plans now under consideration materialize it is probable that every woman in Connecticut who believes Mr. Smith should be renominated will have a chance to work for his interests.

Among those who will attend the luncheon, Mrs. Kavanaugh said, are women members of the Democratic State Central committee who are Smith supporters. Mrs. Mabel M. Queney of Bridgeport, state vice chairman, was also invited. Mrs. Kavanaugh declared, but in view of her position in the party she declined to attend. It was expected that in the luncheon group will be members of the Connecticut Federation of Democratic women's clubs of which Mrs. Fannie Dixon Welch is president.

Mrs. Kavanaugh said the definite plans for the organization will not be decided upon until after tomorrow's discussion.

The crew of the Maskinonge, a 100-ton schooner, was charged with stealing 43 sacks of liquor from the boat's crew before the ship and its cargo were turned over to the United States customs service officials in Providence December 17, 1931.

COMPLETE MARBLE TOMB

Washington, April 12.—(AP)—The marble tomb beneath which sleeps America's Unknown Soldier was completed today at Arlington National cemetery.

After six years, a design commemorating "Peace, Liberty and Justice" was finished on the monument by Thomas Hudson Jones, New York sculptor.

The Unknown Soldier was buried at Arlington on Armistice Day, 1921, to symbolize forever the national preference for those who sacrificed their lives in the World War.

Five years later Congress authorized an appropriation for a simple sarcophagus of white marble eleven feet high and nine feet wide. It was set in place last December and, while a sentry paced his post beside the tomb, the sculptor completed his task.

LIGHTNING DOES DAMAGE.
Mansfield, Conn., April 12.—(AP)—One bolt of lightning damaged four houses at Perkins Corner here today. It knocked the chimney off the home of John A. Osmerhouse, burned out all electrical wiring in the house, knocked most of the dishes off the kitchen shelves and burned brittle off a brush in the sink. Across the street the bolt broke four windows in the home of Forest A. Kiley, and damaged furniture. Next it knocked over a lamp which set fire to a bathrobe which Mrs. Arthur Becker, in a nearby house was wearing and gave Mrs. Becker a slight shock. Then the bolt knocked the light meter from the cellar wall in the home of Delmar Potter and tipped over other articles.

The body of Judge Arnett was sent north by train and arrived early yesterday morning. The funeral is to be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Arnett, 100 North Main street. The return journey started at 6 o'clock Saturday morning. Mrs. Arnett said, "One slight accident occurred just south of Raleigh, N. C., when the rear axle of the automobile broke. ## NEW BRITAIN MAN SWINDLED BY GYPSIES

New Britain, April 12.—(AP)—Ten days ago Victor Maffei, 45, of 28 Wilcox street, had a pain in his chest and $1,100 in the bank. Today he had the pain but the money had disappeared.

Maffei visited a band of Gypsies who had rented a store, and told the mob his pain which he said doctors could not cure.

A male member of the Gypsies persuaded him to give $100 from the bank. The money apparently was wrapped in a bundle and Maffei was told to place it on his chest and sleep on it. The following day he returned to the Gypsies and the same member of the band went into the bank and later announced that the "spirits" could not be appeased with a mere $100. The spirit world had not heard of the depression. Maffei and his wife went to the bank and drew out $1,000 they thought they saw it trapped in the bank. The $100 was taken home with instructions that the patient was to keep the package on his chest for ten days. The ten-day period expired yesterday. Maffei almost expired when he opened the package and found it contained only $2 and a roll of certificates given away with a popular brand of cigarettes. When the police were informed the Gypsies had fled.

DELEGATES LISTED

Hartford, April 12.—(AP)—J. Francis Smith of Waterbury, secretary of the Democratic State Central committee today completed his list of delegates to which each town is entitled and has forwarded his analysis to every town. The total, he said, was 968, this being the number of delegates to the convention which Roosevelt leaders may protest and carry into the convention for final decision. Mr. Smith based his allocation of delegations on the ruling that gives each town in the Legislature in addition to the number of representatives one for every 1,000 votes cast at the last presidential election, excluding the first 1,000. Some Roosevelt leaders claim the first 1,000 should be included, thereby adding forty delegates, most of them from Pro-Roosevelt sectors.

"So far as I am concerned," Mr. Smith said to The Times "my interpretation of the ruling is final and I have notified each town of the number of delegates to which they are entitled."

KIDNAPER ON TRIAL

Norfolk, Va., April 12.—(AP)—The case of Joseph Bullock, 24, arrested here as the author of letters threatening kidnapping of a child in an effort to extort $30,000, was sent to the Grand Jury after a hearing in Police Court today.

"I have nothing to testify," he said when asked if he had a statement. "It would do me no good."

Bullock was arrested at the post office when he called for a letter sent to a general delivery address by S. J. Jones, of Norfolk, in response to a letter threatening to kidnap Jones' six year old daughter.

Bullock told newspaper men he had planned the extortion for a month. He said he was inspired by the kidnapping of the Lindbergh baby.

OUT FOR GARNER

Los Angeles, April 12.—(AP)—Hopes for a 1932 Democratic victory in the presidential election rests with a candidate "divorced from Tammany Hall," William G. McAdoo, long a leader in the affairs of that party, declared in a radio address last night.

His talk opened the campaign in California for a delegation to the National Democratic convention pledged to John N. Garner, Speaker of the House of Representatives. "We must appeal to the country with a candidate divorced from Tammany Hall," McAdoo said. "From New York's feuds and animosities, and from the conflicting ambitions of its favorite sons—a candidate removed, also from Wall street, big business, big finance and Republican politics."

DOWN TO CASES ON AID

Months ago this newspaper, foreseeing that the time might very well arrive when the problem of unemployment relief had reached a stage where it was impossible to find the money to carry it on along existing lines, suggested that a rationing system might then become necessary. One of the loveliest trouncings we have received in a long time—and they have been many—was immediately handed to us by an outraged and indignant reader, who dwelt at length on the subject of the American standard of living and accused The Herald of many lacks and lesions in proposing such a thing. We had said, if we recall rightly, something too about a barracks system of housing as one of the possible eventualities if the depression should last too long. We seem to remember that hanging would be a little too good for the fiend in human form who could suggest such a thing as that,
 according to our critic.

Well, it hasn't become necessary to ration the unemployed and their families as yet, nor to bundle them into barracks. But there is a good deal of speculation, nevertheless, as to where the money is to come from to carry on relief work according to present plans.

Out in Oklahoma, Tulsa county, they looked facts in the face last fall and went on a ration system.
 They had been providing for the needs of their dependents by the grocery store order system. There was then a good deal of sickness.
 Many children were not receiving the right kind of food. It used up the money pretty fast. So a central committee of five business men was formed, consulted with dietitians and physicians, created a central purchasing committee headed as a volunteer by the owners of a grocery chain, and started business.

Commodities are purchased in carload lots for spot cash and made up in advance into weekly rations for child, adolescent or adult. Here is what is supplied for a child: Two pounds of whole wheat, one-half pound of oatmeal, one pound of beans, two pounds of white potatoes, one and a quarter pounds of ground lean meat without bones, two-fifths of a pound each of sugar and a health compound, a pound of four fresh vegetables, half pound of bacon, half pound of turnip, more than a pound of powdered milk, quarter pound of cocoa, one or two teaspoons of cod liver oil.

The cost of this food is a little less than 44 cents a week, a trifle over 6 cents a day. The cost of an adolescent ration or that of an adult, greater in weight and differing somewhat in character, is in each instance less than 7 cents a day. So that a family of four or five is provided for, on an actual cost basis of the food, for about $2 a week.

It is claimed for the rations given that they exceed by one-third in nutritional value the standard actually necessary for the healthful preservation of human life. Anyhow the Medical Association O. K.'s the list each week.

About twenty persons do the actual work of handling these rations and they are all taken from the list of the unemployed. The management is by the volunteer committee.

After four months experience with the system the Tulsa authorities point out that a money saving of forty per cent over the order system has been effected and that much more than that has been saved in decreased sickness and prevention of low morale due to malnutrition.

We are not setting up this Tulsa county experience as a model to be immediately followed by Manchester. But merely to indicate that if bad should come to worse and the providing of food should become an acute problem, matters would have to be at a very dreadful point indeed before actual starvation threatened. With wisdom it would take very little money, relatively, to feed the dependent jobless.

And we can't see that it is either a very crazy or a very heartless thing to banish, if one can, the specter of hunger.

NEW LONDON WAY

Numerous incidents are arising in these troublous times which hold out a warning against the linking up of partial public support with privately endowed institutions. A case in point is one of the high schools at New London. That city is peculiarly situated in the matter of high schools. It really has none at all in its public school system, and yet it has three. One is a girls' school, one is a boys', one is partly technical and has both boys and girls in its student body. All are endowed, but all are supported to a considerable extent by the city and rate as high schools. They are controlled by boards of trustees.

The board of trustees of one of the schools has just calmly notified the city council that it not only doesn't propose to reduce teachers' salaries but is increasing a few and engaging one more teacher than last year.
 The contracts may be already signed.
 The city will please take notice and increase its appropriations to that school accordingly.

New London is one of the cities which is facing a financial cyclone.
 It went through the motions of balancing its budget by the peculiar process of twice increasing its estimates of income without increasing taxes or providing for more income in any way. When its budget wouldn't balance it revised it by boosting the income estimates; when it still wouldn't balance it boosted them again.

And now it is informed that one at least of its semi-endowed high schools proposes to spend more money than ever—and what are you going to do about it?

Let all good little communities pray to be delivered from these endowment entanglements. Better to have one little red school house and own it and boss it than to have to shell out for a college that some private group bosses.

RELIEF BOND ISSUES

If Mayor Buckingham of Bridgeport expects wide support for his conference of mayors to bring about an extraordinary relief session of the Legislature he will have to make it promise something besides municipal bond issues. It is generally believed that authorization of such issues is the purpose at which Mr.
 Buckingham is aiming.

The majority party in the Connecticut Legislature has been pretty well educated, in these last few years, in the pay-as-you-go policy—not only as an admirable theory but as a thoroughly practical device for keeping out of trouble. It is not likely to be stamped out by anything but the most extraordinary necessity; and it is not likely to be brought to regard such a policy as less valuable to the municipalities than to the state.

Those mayors and other officials of cities which are having difficulty with their unemployment relief because they have refused to balance their budgets with relief appropriations included are not likely to make the Legislature see the wisdom of increasing their debt limits for the purpose of meeting running expenses—and unemployment relief is not to be regarded in any other light than that of running expense.

There probably isn't a single large city in Connecticut which has made a sincere effort to reduce its other expenditures to any worth-while extent in order to make available funds for relief work. Until they have done so there would be very little use in coming to the Legislature with a plea to be allowed to make extraordinary bond issues.

AN UNUSED METHOD

When the dries take unto their souls the utter conviction that the proposal to submit the Eighteenth amendment to state convention is a devilish design of the forces of all evil they overlook one thing. That thing is the very sure fact that, if the movement for repeal were really controlled by unscrupulous persons, it would be very silly indeed for them to have the decision of the states determined by conventions instead of by legislatures. Because the first thing that an entirely unscrupulous group anxious to get rid of the Eighteenth amendment and having plenty of money would think of would be the purchase of legislation favoring repeal; and what can be done with money in the legislation of most of these ultra-dry small states history, if it be candid, will tell us.

The dryest of them all, Kansas, has a record of legislative corruption, particularly in the matter of the designation of county seats, that would be sure to command the attention of crooked politicians who wanted to get rid of prohibition.

On the whole the dries may be very thankful that the people who are fighting for prohibition reform are quite as decent as themselves.
 For if they were not, and resorted to bribery, it is to be suspected that some of the most amazing transformations in political history could probably be brought about in the backwoods dry strongholds by the use of a few, a very few, million dollars.

LISTED BILLS AND FISH

From the Greenwich story of a "Lindbergh" twenty dollar bill offered at a Greenwich bakery by a woman who, when the money was identified by its number as one of the listed bills, grabbed it and fled in a chauffeur driven car, we deduce
 the following:

That if you have just started a bakery or other small business and find trade disappointing it is a great scheme to call up the police and tell them that somebody has just offered one of the Lindbergh bills at your place and run away—with the bill—when you checked it up with the list. And if you happen to specialize in strawberry pies, don't forget to tell the police that a strawberry pie was one of the things ordered by the mysterious stranger.

However, any newspaper worker will understand that the perfect setting for such a story is not a bakery but a fish market.

IN NEW YORK

 SIDE, ALL AROUND—
 What's in a Name?

New York, April 12.—From a ringside seat at the big town show
 . . . Well, New York's laugh-of-the-week is on that weekly that goes in for gossip and "low-down" information . . . According to this medium, Howard Hughes, the millionaire kid film producer, is going "to marry Elizabeth Marbury, the New York debutante" . . . In order to understand how funny that is, you have to know that Elizabeth Marbury is one of the more famous old-timers of New York society; has maintained celebrated salons abroad and at home for more years than Hughes can claim as a lifetime, and is at least twice his age, if not more . . .
 Nor has she any intentions of quitting spinsterhood.

Hughes Whose in America?
 If you, by chance, happen to be interested in the immediate romance of the boyish Hollywood magnate, he's been down cruising off Florida
 . . . And one of the guests on the trip has been Elizabeth Marbury, who is a lovely young debutante . . .
 This romantic voyage to tropical waters is expected to end in an engagement or wedding . . . After all, the names Marbury and Marbury do sound something alike . . .

In film fan circles, this would seem to sound the knell of that feverish recent courtship of the charming screen star, Billie Dove . . . Billie was showered with gifts by the wealthy Mr. Hughes, was pursued to Europe when she went on a vacation and then, suddenly, something happened and Hughes was off the Florida coast in his luxurious yacht entertaining a party of Blue Book folk . . .

Hoover Receives a Dove Billie Dove, however, has been doing very well since she arrived for a personal appearance visit and vacation . . . She managed to get to visit President Hoover while in Washington . . . which isn't so bad for an ex-Pollies charmer! . . .
 Speaking of rich young men, reminds me that Walter Chrysler, Jr., son of the motor magnate, has made himself an important figure in artistic circles within the past year
 . . . He decided to go on his own, and while in college became interested in the publication of rare and beautiful books . . .

The other day, at a tea Chrysler gave for Ernest Lubitch, film director, hints were dropped that he might soon be taking an interest in the art department of finer films
 . . . His books are already valuable collector's items and several of them won prizes this year for binding and expert typography . . . Just a few weeks ago, he introduced a young Russian artist whose paintings are something of a sensation.

From Village Correspondent
 Edna St. Vincent Millay, poetess, suddenly reappraised the other day after "hiding out" for many months
 . . . With her wealthy husband she was about a romantic craft headed for Majorca in the Mediterranean
 . . . It was revealed Miss Mil-lay had been living in one of the old Greenwich Village picturesque spots from which she generated . . . Some years back when Greenwich Village was getting its Bohemian reputation, Miss Millay, Max Eastman, Floyd Dell, Cornelia Barnes, Bede Casseres, Boardman Robinson and a great many others were the "voices of the Village" . . . They put that quarter on the map . . .
 When Miss Millay returned to her old haunts, only a few intimate friends were aware of where she was . . . She had a private phone and her address was not easy to find . . .

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

"STOP ROOSEVELT" MOVEMENT NOW
 WEAKENING?

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
 NEA Service Writer

Washington—A fundamental factor in Democratic presidential politics, which explains the present trend and is likely to explain the result of the convention contest, is the contrast between the strength of Governor Roosevelt's position and the weakness of Al Smith.
 There is some question whether Smith's candidacy should be called a candidacy at all. But, whatever it is, it is supposed to be the backbone of the movement to "stop Roosevelt" movement will collapse along with it.

The apparent strength of the Roosevelt position as compared with the weakness of the Smith position seems all the more remarkable when you recall their respective positions four years ago. Smith was the fair-haired hero of Democracy and Roosevelt was the fellow who had the privilege of placing him in nomination at the convention.

How Times Have Changed
 But today—Roosevelt is so far in the lead as a candidate for nomination that,
 although he is not certain of victory, no one else is more than mentioned as a serious possibility. If he does not enter the convention with a majority of delegates or enough to put him over on the first ballot,

DOUBTS IF JAPAN
 CAN BE STOPPED

Writer Finds Nation Driving For Its Goal With Perfect Unity And Great Power.

The Japanese of today possess a driving force greater than that of any other nation. Absolutely homogeneous, perfectly unified, bound up by a sort of combination of patriotism and religion that sends them on to gain their goal without the slightest thought about the cost, they are unlike all other people, and it is perfectly possible that their nation may yet become emperor of all Asia.

This conclusion is drawn from
 "The Japanese," by Henry Albert Phillips, an intelligent discussion of modern Japan which is given especial interest by recent events in Manchuria and Shanghai.

Mr. Phillips tells us what he saw and heard during a rather extensive tour of Japan, and presents a pretty complete picture of life in the island kingdom. Above all else, he emphasizes the strange contrasts it offers.

Japan, he points out, still a thoroughly feudalized nation, has become westernized at an amazing rate. It is taking over all of the mechanical devices of America and Europe as fast as it possibly can, but it is retaining the magnificent unity and tradition of its own culture.
 In the end, Mr. Phillips suspects,

Health and Diet
Advice

By DR. FRANK MCDOY

ARTERIOSCLEROSIS

For many years doctors have kept patients with arterial hardening on a diet which was rigidly low in meat, but this practice is being discontinued by most up-to-date medical authorities. As I explained in yesterday's article, a hardening of the arteries with deposits of calcium is not due to eating an excess of the foods containing calcium, but the calcium is deposited because of the irritation produced by certain toxins in the blood stream. These toxins are usually caused by a fermentation in the stomach and intestines of excessive carbohydrates which leads to an auto-intoxication and acidosis. The blood, full of this acidosis, passing through the arteries, irritates the delicate lining and consequently the arteries throw out a protection in the form of an alkali to counteract the irritating acidosis. This fermentation continued from day to day sets up a vicious cycle and the walls of the arteries finally become calcified and thickened so that they interfere with the normal flow of blood.

The first step in dieting for hardening of the arteries is to reduce the fermentation in the intestines to the minimum and for this I have found nothing better than an acid fruit fast for about five days, using an eight-ounce glass of orange juice or tomato juice every two hours during the day. During the fast I advise two sponge baths daily and plenty of exercise, using plain warm water. The fast will make the patient feel better in every way as the circulating toxins are eliminated, and it is beneficial in lowering the blood pressure which is frequently too high where there is arterial hardening.

After the fast the patient must avoid the foods which might ferment in the intestinal tract, and for this reason I advise the discontinuance of all high carbohydrate foods for a time. The diet should consist of a moderate amount of protein such as meat and eggs together with a large quantity of non-starchy vegetables both cooked and raw. This diet will prevent the formation of the toxins which originally caused arterial hardening, and, if continued over a long enough time, will cause a gradual elimination of the calcium deposits of the arteries.

From three to five quarts of distilled water daily may be used to advantage in the diet following the fast. This distilled water has the power of absorbing a large quantity of inorganic mixed matter and also toxins, causing their elimination through the kidneys and skin.

In ordinary cases where the heart and kidneys are not affected and gangrene is not present, the patient will find it an advantage to begin to improve the circulation by exercise. All exercise should be taken slowly and carefully depending on the amount of calcification present. This should be carefully checked by the x-ray, and if deposits show in the x-ray, exercise should be avoided and the principal dependence placed upon the diet.
 The exercise may be used to bring about a more rapid recovery when the calcification is not too pronounced. Walking is one of the best exercises to use for this trouble. The patient must be satisfied with a gradual recovery and be willing to take the exercises slowly and persistently. Such a course of graduated activity along with a maintained correct diet tends to reduce and excess weight, encourages a better supply of oxygen in the lungs, and also serves to divert a sufficient quantity of blood to the muscles and skin. As is well known, exercise helps the patient to metabolize his food better and the toxemia due to imperfect meta-bolized food is thus reduced.

It is useless to expect a cure of this trouble from drugs as no drug has ever been found which will accomplish this. Patients who will follow these instructions will find

(Uric Acid)
 Question: Mrs. Wadena T. writes: "I am not supposed to eat beef because of the uric acid. Could I eat the soup made from the beef?" Answer: Almost any protein food forms uric acid, and you would probably get more of it from the soup made of the beef than from the beef itself. The trouble is not because the uric acid is formed by the food, but from the inability to eliminate it from the body because of a general condition of acidosis or some organic disease. This can sometimes be cured by the correct fasting and dieting regimen. If you will send me more information, especially the name of your disorder, with a large self-addressed stamped envelope, I will be glad to give you more detailed advice.

(Strained Muscles)
 Question: Miss Stella asks: "Can a muscle which has been strained or become over-tired ever be restored to its normal condition? One day about a month ago I did a very heavy day's housework and since then the muscles of my forearms have had no endurance—just a tired all the time. I am a pianist 42 years old, and this condition is a great handicap."
 Answer: The effects of the strained muscles will gradually be overcome within the course of time without treatment. Massage is sometimes helpful. You may, however, have developed a disease of the nervous system which could only be determined by a doctor's examination.

BATTLE OVER BUNNY

Portland, Ore.—A timid little rabbit was the cause of a ruckus between Fred Willis and his neighbor, Lennie Newcomb. Willis maintained that one of his rabbits had wand-

 he went after it, Newcomb ordered him out. Willis picked up a stick and hit Newcomb on the elbow. Po-

IN CONCERT HERE

Beethovens and Mendelssohns To Be Heard In Joint Sing Monday Night.

Those who love the resonant singing of male voices will undoubtedly respond to the appeal of one hundred male singers by attending the Seventh Annual Concert of the Beethoven Glee Club at the High School auditorium next Monday evening. Assisting the Beethovens in this concert will be the Mendelssohn Singers of Worcester, Mass., a male singing organization of twelve years standing. Most of the members of both clubs have been trained in choral music from seven to twenty years.

The Beethoven Glee Club and the Mendelssohn Singers were organized for a similar purpose, namely "To build up an intelligent and accurate conception of the finest works for male voices through investment of time and energy, thus ensuring the advancement of the art of Male Chorus singing."

Each club memorizes its music and the combined choruses have in their list of music, many songs in common, the best of which will be included on the program Monday evening.

Composers "The Sea," a wonderful composition for male voices, will be sung by this huge chorus and should give the audience a glimpse of the sea, with its descriptive and dramatic appeal.

The short and well written cantata of Dudley Buck, "The Nun of Nidaros," which will be sung under the direction of J. Fritz Hartz, leader of the Mendelssohns, is well worth hearing as it is a favorite of both clubs, which are holding over-time rehearsals for this concert.

The Beethoven Glee Club will hold three rehearsals this week to put the finishing touches on their part of the program. Each club will be heard separately as well as together. Although this concert is in no wise meant to be a competition, many music lovers will take the opportunity to make comparisons between these two choruses, which have made fine reputations in their respective localities.

The Mendelssohn Singers will bring two soloists on the program, John B. Cadieux, tenor, and Fridolf Anderson, baritone.

The directors of the Beethovens and Mendelssohns, Helge E. Pearson and J. Fritz Hartz respectively, have been close friends for fifteen years. They have both looked forward to this concert for many years as an opportunity to bring together two of the finest choral organizations in the east.

WANT EQUAL SHARE WITH F. W. VETERANS

Legion, Army Navy Club Ask Same Membership On Memorial Day Groups.

Neal A. Cheney, clerk of the Board of Assessors, was elected permanent secretary of the town Permanent Memorial Day committee last night, Vice Eldred J. McCabe, resigned. The former secretary's resignation was read and accepted with thanks.

The depression was felt in the ranks of the committee last night when it became known officially that only $272.50 was available this year for Memorial Day observance, due to payment of bills contracted last year after August 15, the end of the town's fiscal year. Bills totaling $226.25 were paid at that time and deducted from this year's reduced appropriation of $500, necessitating extreme economy in the observance of the 1932 holiday.

The committee voted to accept the invitation of Rev. Robert A. Colpitts, pastor of the South Methodist church to attend the annual Memorial service in the latter church, Sunday, May 29. The Memorial service were held last year in the Center Congregational church.

The following committee chairman were elected for this year's observance of Memorial Day: Flower committee, W. L. L. Loveland; speakers, Victor Bronke; school and flag, John Jensen; music, Arthur Keating; transportation, Joseph Moriarty; advertising and printing, Emil L. G. Hohenthal, Jr.

It was left with the delegates of the Veterans of Foreign Wars to select their candidate for the 1932 Memorial Day parade marshal, which recommendation will be made at the next meeting of the committee.

Contest Over Delegations
An attempt to exclude Dilworth-Cornell Post, American Legion and the Army and Navy Club, from the same membership, namely seven, that the Veterans of Foreign Wars has on the permanent committee, was made by Chairman Jensen.

On May 4 last year an application from the Dilworth-Cornell Post was acted on by the Permanent Memorial Day committee and the by-laws amended so as to give the V. F. W. representation on the committee to the number of seven. Due to an agreement made several years ago, the local Legion Post and the Army and Navy Club shared seven members, the Legion having four and the Club three. Since the V. F. W. has the full representation of seven members, it has been the contention of certain other ex-service delegates on the committee that each of the groups, the Legion and the Army and Navy Club should have the benefit of full membership.

Application was made by the Legion last year to place their full quota of members on the committee and the resolution was acted upon by a committee selected by the chairman, which turned down the Legion's application as unconstitutional. No notice was sent to the action of the committee in regard to the application.

A letter was read from the adjutant of Dilworth-Cornell Post, American Legion last night naming three additional delegates and one other delegate to take the place of Fred deceased, to the Permanent committee. Chairman Jensen then reported that at the last meeting of the committee held last June, the investigating committee decided that the Legion's application for full membership on the Permanent Memorial Day committee was unconstitutional. Chairman Jensen was asked to read the by-law concerned in the controversy and Adjutant Victor Bronke took issue with the chairman, saying that his interpretation of the by-law referred to "organizations" rather than to any particular group of "veterans" of any war.

To Change By-law
The chairman refused to entertain any motion to seat the Legion delegates and said that the by-laws must be amended before such action would be constitutional. Delegate Archie Kilpatrick of the V. F. W. submitted a proposed amendment to the by-laws to allow full representation to both the Army and Navy Club and the Legion, and Chairman Jensen questioned the latter's standing as a delegate, which was later proven. The proposed amendment was tabled until the next meeting when it will be acted upon by the committee. A two-thirds majority is required to pass the amendment.

STEAMER AGROUND

Tokyo, April 12.—(AP)—A dispatch to the Rengo News Agency from Hakodate, Japan, today said the steamer Taiselmuru, No. 3, carrying 950 Japanese men and women workers to the fisheries and cannery of the northern seas for the summer season was grounded on the rocks of Marakami bay, on Paramushiru Island in the northern Kuriles.

The ship also carries 31 men in its crew. An SOS call brought the Otaru and the Taiselmuru No. 1 to the scene but the high seas thus far have prevented a rescue. The rescue ships were standing by, the dispatches said, hoping to take off the passengers before night-fall.

O'Neill's New Home on Sea Island Is Secluded World All Its Own

Sea Island Beach, Ga.—(AP)—

Here among the moss-draped sanctuaries, restless waves and shifting sand dunes, Eugene O'Neill, the dramatist, is building a house.

It is not an ordinary home, for it reflects the tastes and moods of both the playwright and his wife, Carlotta Monterey O'Neill, the former actress. It will contain 22 rooms.

It is not to be a social rendezvous but a workshop, livable, lovely and a world all its own with complete seclusion wrought on all but the seaward side by a wall of towering clematis.

There will be a full view of the sea through the loggia of the home and from the graduated terraces, with only a few scattering palm-trees to stay the sometimes brisk sea winds.

The O'Neills decided to build a home here, when they came to Sea Island Beach a few months ago, when the dramatist fled from the laudations that attended his production of "Mourning Becomes Electra." Mrs. O'Neill said this island seemed a sort of fulfillment of the "blessed islands" about which he spoke so often in the trilogy.

The new home is Spanish peasant style of architecture. It contains only one social room, a huge living room; tiny guest cabins with built-in "bunks," and two complete and cozy sleeping quarters.

O'Neill's own room is a tremendous one with an adjoining study, whose appointments will be suggestive of the sea, which leads to a sun deck which gives a far-reaching view for miles of land and sea.

A courtyard fringed with Christmas berry and lined with azaleas will form the inviting entrance while leading from the passage will be the terrace. Outlining the patio will be shrubs and flowers to lend color and fragrance and beauty.

The house will be ready for occupancy about June 1.

ELECTRIC EMPLOYEES
BURLESQUE WEDDING

Meeting Takes Form of Shower In Honor of Meter Reader Roy Warren Who Weds Saturday.

The Employees' Club of the Manchester Electric Company held its monthly meeting last night in Coventry Grange Hall. A baked ham supper was served by the ladies of Coventry Grange. Group singing was enjoyed during the banquet.

Following the dinner a mock wedding was staged in honor of Roy B. Warren and Miss Mary Wexok who are to be married Saturday.

The personnel of the cast was as follows: The Bride, "Chet" Wilson, dressed in white Denim crepe with bouquet of calliflowers and carrot tops to match; the Bridesmaid, "Art" Olson, blue crepe with hat and rose buds to match; the Groom, Florence Schilde; best man, Mildred Berggren; flower girl, James McCaw, Sr., knee-length gown of rose-blush crepe, hair ribbon to match, carrying a large basket of rose buds; ring bearer, Vera White and last but not least the Parson, Leon Holm.

Following the mock wedding the happy couple was presented with a Universal table-top electric range by the Employees' Club. The presentation was made by John Moore, club president. Modern and old fashioned dancing was enjoyed by the guests.

"Gris" Chappell prompted for the old numbers.

A feature of the evening's entertainment was the rendition by Robert Gordon of "All of Me."

Roy Warren is a meter reader employed by the Manchester Electric Company and is a member of the Employees Club.

ROBBED TEN TIMES

New York, April 12.—(AP)—Isaac Boonin, druggist, is a nervous wreck.

He said so yesterday when he appeared against Michael Fortescue, accused of robbing his drug store.

"I might just as well go out of business," he said. "Some one takes it away from me the first as I get it. I've been held up seven times in 13 months, not to mention two robberies when the store was locked up for the night and another holdup three years ago."

"One holdup was particularly distressing because they took my suit, a new one I had just worn to a funeral. It's not fair."

SPOKE TO DEAD SON

London, April 12.—(AP)—Sir Oliver Lodge, testifying today in a woman spiritualist's libel suit against a newspaper, told of having communicated with his son, Raymond, after the boy had been killed in the war.

He asked Raymond's spirit, he said: "You live in a world of illusion?" and the boy replied: "So do you, father."

Those who inhabit the "other world" Sir Oliver told the court, are "in space all around us." He said there are many grades of existence in the other world and that all who inhabit it are first in a state of illusion in which they can get whatever they want.

STOLE 9 CANARIES

New York, April 12.—(AP)—Singing pockets got Curt Kluge, bird expert, in Dutch. George Wohlstadt, pet shop owner, told a judge yesterday that Kluge visited his store, looked around and started out with a song issuing from his pockets.

Wohlstadt said he investigated and found nine of his canaries in Kluge's pockets.

Kluge, (who lives at 48 Jackson street, Gumburg, N. J.), was convicted of petty larceny and remanded for sentence Friday.

A 32-room residence that will be a workshop rather than a social rendezvous is being built by Eugene O'Neill at Sea Island Beach, Ga. Above is an architect's drawing of the home. Below are shown the dramatist and his wife, Carlotta Monterey O'Neill, former actress.

TRAVELING MAN
ENDORSES ALL-BRAN

Says It Brought Relief From Constipation

"I want to take this unsolicited means to tell you what ALL-BRAN has done for me.

"I am on the road all the time, and this has a tendency to constipate me, or any one who travels all the time. I used to suffer a great deal from constipation, until some one told me about Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Since I have been eating this cereal, I have been cured of constipation. I heartily endorse it to any one suffering as I did."

Constipation is caused by lack of two things in the diet: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines. Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract. Laboratory tests show ALL-BRAN provides both. At the same time, it supplies iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that of lettuce. Within the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes. Being a natural corrective ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming.

How much better than risking pills and drugs—so often harmful. Two tablespoons daily will overcome most types of constipation—serious cases, with every meal. If you have intestinal trouble not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Serve ALL-BRAN as a cereal with milk or cream, or use in cooking. At all grocers in the red-and-green packages. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

TWO NEW DIRECTORS
FOR BUILDING-LOAN

Charles Witcher, E. L. G. Hohenthal, Jr., Named At 41st Annual Meeting — Cheney Remains At Head.

Two new directors were named at the 41st annual meeting of the Manchester Building and Loan Association stockholders last evening. They are Charles Witcher and Emil L. G. Hohenthal, Jr., who succeed George W. Kuhney and Robert V. Treat. The other two directors, re-elected are Fred T. Blish Sr., and Walter Hobbs.

the MAN HUNTERS

BY MABEL McELLIOTT

BEGIN HERE TODAY

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XII

Every time the telephone rang during the next few days Susan's heart raced like a wild thing. But as the days passed hope died.

"Surely he'll call me just once again to say goodbye," she thought. Her moods varied from wild exhilaration to deepest gloom. At one moment she would be certain that she had been right about the kinship of feeling existing between herself and Bob Dunbar that day at the Blackstone. Again she would be as certain she had been completely wrong. The flushes and fevers and chills of first love possessed her. She moved like a person in a dream. Aunt Jessie's sharpest speeches fell on deaf ears these days.

"I declare I don't know what's got into you," her aunt would say, baffled. Susan scarcely heard her. She never went out on the street at lunch hours, never joined the home-going throng, without experiencing a sudden wild hope that she would see the face she sought or hear that deep, remembered voice. This was the thought that colored all her days. It made even the hot, tiresome journey back and forth on stifling street cars endurable.

Today—it might be today, she would think! He would telephone and finish what he had started to tell her a week ago. But at last her dream died. That was the morning Susan read in a newspaper gossip column, the name familiar to her from the printed page, that Bob Dunbar had sailed for Europe. She was shocked and still that morning she was writing to him, the stolid bookkeeper, glanced at her with something like alarm.

"Guess you ate something that disagreed with you," he remarked. Susan gave him a look in which still that morning she was writing to him, the stolid bookkeeper, glanced at her with something like alarm.

"The long day wore on. 'He's gone,' he's gone," ticked the clock. "He didn't even say goodbye to you." Her heart was a lump of solid ice. She went to lunch in a still daze. The men and women in the sandwich shop were shapes in a dream and everywhere, everywhere, boys and girls seemed to walk in pairs. In the busy mid-morning noonday only Susan Carey was alone.

It was two o'clock. After countless ages it was three. She typed steadily, thinking to dull by unceasing effort the pain that racked her head.

"Oh, I beg your pardon. Did you—did you speak to me before?" the woman standing outside the office gate was cool, poised, elegant. Her ash blond hair was folded back in wings under her smart black hat. Her expression was one of amused disdain.

"Only three or four times," the woman said, her tone suggesting that Susan was not only dull but inattentive.

"This typewriter is so noisy," the girl began to explain in confusion. Instantly she felt she had said the wrong thing. Her caller's expression of remote amusement deepened.

"It's of no consequence," she said crisply. "My Heath's not in, then?" Susan had risen. In her embarrassment she stammered as a child might. "No, he's not. Is there any message I can take?" For a moment she looked at the girl who opened the gate with accustomed fingers and said fretfully, "I'll wait. He's expecting me." Then, since the girl continued to look surprised, she exclaimed impatiently, "Mrs. Heath."

That was all but she had reduced Susan to the merest pulp. Her manner had been that of the princess who rebukes the loutish servant.

"I'm sorry, I didn't know," the girl said in a low voice. But Mrs. Heath had already ensconced herself in the most comfortable chair in her husband's office and did not trouble to reply.

Pierson came in, ducked his head in the direction of the private room in an obscure gesture of recognition, and disappeared into his favorite haven, the vault. Susan could hope for no assistance from that quarter. She worked on. Jack Waring slammed open the other door and bustled in, whistling a dance tune.

"How's every little—?" he began with customary exuberance. The words died on his lips as he caught sight of the still, aristocratic figure in black.

"Ah, Mrs. Heath!" His manner underwent a subtle change. The lady gave him a slow smile but her accents were sweet.

"Nice to see you. It's been ages."

Waring bowed over her hand. Susan could hear the ripple of light laughter. In the tall of her eye she could see the man light a cigarette held in the woman's long white fingers. An emerald, big as a roc's egg, gleamed on one of them.

"Cannes—just like every other place—St. Jean de Lux—home on the Berengaria—?" She could hear the cool, disdainful voice trailing on. She wondered what manner of woman this was. Waring's usual gay insouciance was dimmed. He was respectful rather than gay. Susan was ever so slightly amused at this. "She must be what Aunt Jessie calls a regular Tartar," to affect him in that way," observed the young girl to herself.

Presently Ernest Heath entered. Susan had a distinct sense of relief. Now her responsibility ended.

"My dear, I didn't expect you until tomorrow!"

The lady laughed again, not altogether agreeably. She gave the tips of her fingers to her husband and an oblique glance to the younger man.

"Ernest is so amusing. He always wants things to happen according to schedule." And, indeed, Heath seemed annoyed.

"I think you might have wired. I should certainly have met you." He seemed aggrieved. There was an undertone of real contention in their light talk. Susan tried not to listen.

"I always like to give you surprises!" There was an edge to Mrs. Heath's tone. "One never knows—!" Her voice trailed off and whether unwittingly or not he gazed strayed to the young girl typing furiously at her desk. Susan heard Heath say with some heat that he disliked surprises intensely.

She thought that altogether the meeting was rather odd for a husband and wife who had been separated for months.

After a tactful moment Waring slipped away and Susan was summoned to Pierson's cubbyhole to help him check some figures. She grew absorbed in the task and forgot to notice the hum of voices, now low and rather monotonous, in the private office.

In an interlude Pierson inquired with a jerk of his head, "How d'ye like her ladyship?"

Susan flushed. "She's very attractive."

Pierson drew down his left eyelid in a grotesque wink. "Some boss, she is! I feel sorry for the old man."

Abruptly he adjusted his expression and began monotonously to read figures aloud. Mrs. Heath was leaving.

Susan heard her name called. Her employer, looking mildly flustered, said, "You've not met Mrs. Heath, I believe, Miss Carey?"

Mrs. Heath looked into space a fraction of an instant over Susan's head at the travesty of a smile visited her then, beautifully molded lips. Then she was gone, leaving a drift of expensive, subtle scent behind her.

"Whew! Thank God that's over," muttered the bookkeeper as the door slammed. "We won't have another visitation for another six months."

Susan smiled, feeling a sense of kinship with the little man. "O'Connell knew how to handle her," Pierson rambled on, amiably inclined to gossip. "O'Connell had her number. Don't let her get away. You're not married to her like the boss is. Honestly, the poor guy has my sympathy."

Susan told herself that of course she didn't mind if Mrs. Heath treated her like the paper on the wall. Why should she? She didn't know what the rules of etiquette for employers' wives were, but she rather thought a more gracious mood was indicated. Oh, well, what did it matter? One snub more or less in a cold and unfeeling world!

"I'm leaving for the day," Heath said over her shoulder. His pale, ashen face seemed flushed and annoyed. "If MacWhig calls from New York tell the operator to get my house after four o'clock."

"Ritzed you, eh?" His keen eyes under his sandy thatch were smiling but sympathetic.

Susan shrugged. "I guess so. What does it matter?" But there was a line of bitterness about her young mouth.

"Child, don't you care!" She looked up, surprised, at the earnestness of Waring's usually bantering voice. She avoided him these days, fearing a recurrence of his flirtatious manner. But Waring seemed wholly in earnest. Almost fatherly.

"Thanks," Susan said soberly. She was struck by a new, not altogether unwelcome thought.

What if she should find a friend in this man?

W. C. T. U., Upholding "Bone Dry" Standards, Mobilizes For Political War On Women Wets

By DEXTER H. TEED

New York, April 9.—A background of 59 years of fighting for prohibition gives the nearly half million members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union a quiet confidence, in marked contrast to their uncompromising and aggressive principles.

With the campaigns to nominate presidential candidates under way, they are clinging to old beliefs, planning for the fall fight at the polls and organizing new shock troops to fight the women wets. The spirit of that raging dry crusader, Carrie Nation, still survives in them.

Congress Wets Assailed

Mrs. Ella Boole, national president, condemns prohibition argument in Congress:

"The wets delay plans for unemployment relief and relief of the financial depression by introducing hundreds of wet bills that can never pass."

Mrs. D. Leigh Colvin, eastern leader, considered the most militant woman in the organization, is untouched by the compromising plea for beer.

"We would have Communism in two weeks if beer were brought back," she challenges directly, then goes on to explain that the reason we haven't had bloody riots, strikes and uncontrolled mob scenes in the United States is because of the prohibition.

These dry women haven't been away in the least by claims of lack of enforcement, statistics on drinking and drunkenness nor increasing numbers of speakeasies. They stand pat.

As they face the fall election fight they are demanding dry candidates, dry platforms and issuing the warning that the W. C. T. U. control 2,500,000 votes.

That is why state and local organizations from Maine to California, from Louisiana to Canada—all over the country—at the moment are being organized with the efficiency that has come from more than half a century of experience.

President Hoover has been warned. Charging that members of his official family are working for a wet plank in the Republican party platform, they declare that such a plank will mean a bolt by the W. C. T. U. If that happens a new dry presidential candidate, running on a ticket backed by the Prohibition party nationally and the Law Preservation party in New York state, will fight for dry votes.

Leaders admit they are preparing the already-created machinery to operate if that emergency arises.

A crisis looms in the east. Their belief is that a wet-controlled Republican party in this section will alienate west and border states and thus elect a wet Democrat for President. The warning of a bolt lies in this statement again.

Unlike the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, leading group of women wets, the W. C. T. U. will not hold a national convention until both parties have nominated candidates. The women dry plan watchful waiting and a vigorous organizing campaign now. Then at Seattle, Wash., in August they will hold their convention and issue their ultimatums.

Mrs. D. Leigh Colvin... "we would have Communism if beer were brought back."

As organizers and lecturers, like Mrs. Josephine E. Sizer, former president of the W. C. T. U. in Minnesota, go from state to state preaching the unaltered doctrine of absolute prohibition, these arguments are being used.

Even the wets admit that under prohibition the consumption of alcohol has been decreased one-third. Edwin Sanford, official government investigator, declares the reduction is 35 per cent.

The wets are forcing prohibition to an issue when we should be considering more important things. The wets are more fanatical than the dries... "You can't herd the dries."

If beer were made legal more men would be out of employment. Less than 100,000 men would be used in its manufacture. If a million dollars were raised the beer bill would have to be $10,000,000 a year. Then that money couldn't be spent for other things and many would lose their jobs because of decreased spending.

The argument that racketeers, gangsters and crooked politicians have developed under prohibition is null and void. The same thing happened before prohibition but it wasn't publicized because the saloon was legal. Prohibition has brought it all out into the open.

Confident of Victory

Thus the women dry fight on—confidently. Mrs. Nellie C. Burger, the state president of Missouri, is actively waging a campaign in the middle west, and Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith is carrying on in dry Iowa.

Mrs. Eva Wheeler in California, Mrs. Marian Williams in Georgia, Mrs. Nell Daves in Montana, Mrs. Elizabeth Preston Anderson in North Dakota, Mrs. Elizabeth House in Oklahoma and others are organizing their respective sections.

The W. C. T. U. has practically given up the Democratic party nationally, unless Garner, the Texas dry, is nominated. But Hoover, "elected by dry votes," must watch his presidential desires. If he doesn't the efficient W. C. T. U. organization will do what it warns. These women dries are going to fight it out on the bone dry side if it takes the rest of the century. Their minds are made up.

YOUR CHILDREN

by Olive Roberts Barton
BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

A Too "Perfect" Upbringing—

I know a little fellow who is supposed to be having the perfect upbringing. He has an imported nurse and what this girl, or woman rather, doesn't know about children isn't supposed to be known by anybody.

He gets up on the dot every morning at six o'clock sharp, not one minute to nor one minute after, but six. At a certain minute he has his bath, his morning exercises, and his breakfast. His breakfast is at 6:30, not one minute before nor one minute after, and woe betide the cook who hasn't his oatmeal ready on the dot.

No one is allowed to speak to him or enter the nursery when he is eating any of his three meals, all set out meticulously on the dotted minute. His walks are in airy secluded spots, he is always immaculately clean, he is never allowed to pat a dog or speak to ordinary children or have a lollipop or handle a toy that has not first been scrubbed.

His room is clean, bright and sterilized.

Nurse Is Jealous Guardian

He has perfect manners and is as handsome as can be. Older people love to fuss over him but he is soon withdrawn from any excitement by his zealous (or jealous) nurse who is a silent person herself and always speaks to her young charge in a foreign tongue. Every one thinks it is wonderful the way Marcus can rattle off these phrases so easily, but he seldom gets a chance to say anything to anybody. His nurse who is a born clock watcher always seems to be saying it is time for something.

He goes to bed at six o'clock sharp and his parents come up to see him off. But his nurse is there as watchful as ever and alert that nothing goes on which she does not approve. His mother and father feel when they leave, I am sure, that they have broken some rule or other from the disapproving glances that follow them through the door.

But they submit "because Marcus is having such wonderful, wonderful care. Anna is a real jewel."

Now I shall tell you what I think of young Marcus, and the rarified air he lives in.

I wrote a day or so ago about four little children I saw recently sitting in the middle of a field their father was plowing with one old mule. They were dirty, fat, happy, and healthy. All of them were under five.

If I had my choice of leaving my child to be brought up like Marcus or to have him a happy healthy young animal herded with those jolly kids rolling around down there on the bosom of Mother Earth, I should choose the latter place for him.

It is necessary, if you have a nurse, to have a good one and a careful one, but do pick one who is human. Marcus is being robbed of almost every contact necessary to make him a happy, normal child. Little children need other children, they need freedom and an opportunity to get away from stifling supervision. A machine of love, household plants and household children may be beautiful to others, but have they the toughness and vitality to survive?

HEALTH

GET NEW FACTS ON OLD SKIN TROUBLES

Editor, Journal of American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Some years ago when mah-jongg was the most popular form of amusement cases were reported by physicians of eruptions on the skin, which became known finally as lacquer dermatitis. It was finally determined that some ingredient of the lacquer placed on the mah-jongg boxes, and sometimes on the tiles in Japan, was the source which aroused these reactions in people who were especially sensitive to the lacquer.

Recently a group of workers in a cabinet-making plant, employing about 100 men, began to break out with eruptions on their hands, their forearms, and in some cases also on the entire face and neck. Indeed, a few of the men developed such swelling about the face that the eyes were swollen shut.

It was found that all of the cases occurred while the men were working on an order which called for the use of Brazilian walnut. Out of 100 men in the plant, 11 developed the symptoms. These men were those who came in contact with the sawdust of those who sandpapered the wood.

An inquiry revealed the fact that there were some who did not break out with eruptions on the skin, but who did develop sneezing and running noses while working in the room where the wood was being used. A few of the men recovered while they continued work, but some men were unable to continue work.

The importer from whom the wood was purchased, turned out a list of firms to whom the wood had been sold. According to Dr. Louis Schwartz of the United States Public Health Service, letters were written to all of these firms, and it was found that workers in nine of the 10 firms who had purchased the wood had developed similar reactions.

A special study was made in order to find out the nature of this sensitivity. Samples of the wood, of the sawdust, of the resin, and also of the leaves of the tree, were subjected to careful investigation.

In the study a piece of gauze about a half inch square was moistened with water and its surface completely covered with sawdust, then this was placed on a piece of rubber sheeting, which, in turn, was placed on a piece of filtrate. This was then applied to the skin of the back and kept in place by being covered with adhesive plaster. In each case involving a worker who had developed an eruption there was a positive reaction under the patch.

The incident is only one of the many ways in which modern industry is beginning to find out about sensitivity with its significance for workers. The scientific term for such sensitivity is allergy. It is the same condition that causes hay-fever, asthma, food poisoning and many other symptoms.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

—TITIAN BEAUTY—

New spring colors seem designed for the Titian-haired woman.

Certainly nothing in the world could be lovelier than a fair-skinned, Titian-haired girl wearing some of the new greens and blues in the delicate tones they now come in.

She must be careful of her makeup, though.

The true Titian beauty has delicate, fair skin. Many women now have a redish gleam to their hair, by synthetic process, who do not have the coloring to go with it rightly.

If you are a real Titian blonde, you should wear both rouge and lipstick sparingly. You need a warm-toned powder, but not a rusty one. For your eye shadow, try the new green one or mix it with a little blue and try it. Of course it depends on your eyes, somewhat, and there are some few Titian-haired women who look much better with a touch of lavender in their eye shadow. But, if in doubt, try the green and see!

Should your lovely red hair be straight, try wearing it that way without a permanent this spring. There is a lovely new coiffure that draws the hair back easily yet straight, front and both sides, and then has the entire back of the head a mass of tiny curls. They show from the front and from the sides. This is a charming way to wear Titian colored hair, for usually delicate features go with it and this coiffure emphasizes such delicacy.

But your hair must be in excellent condition.

So, too, must your skin and teeth, if you are going in for emphasizing your delicacy.

Nothing but the daily beauty routine for both of these. Morning and evening treatment is the only true basis for that well-groomed, delicate look you want. And don't think there are any short cuts! To always look well you must always take care.

A LITTLE PREMATURE

Hamilton, O.—Premature agents raided a brewery here and found a vat containing 2,000 gallons of a per cent beer. John Klesling, in charge of the brewery, claimed that the beer was a new experiment to determine how long it would take to prepare, and age beer in the event the 18th amendment was modified.

GOT HIS WISH

Los Angeles—Wanting to commit suicide, Walter Bitters rented a room and turned on the gas jet. Tired of waiting for the gas to overcome him, he lit a cigarette. A terrific blast followed which hurtled him through the wall and on to the roof of an adjoining building. He died two hours later.

STOMACH UPSET

Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets help rouse the liver to a soothing healthy ray. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, people rarely suffer from indigestion and stomach troubles. Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Try Olive tablets, the substitute for calomel. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound. Known by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. All druggists, 15c, 30c and 60c. Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like.

STOP THAT COLD

DISTRESSING cold in chest or throat—that so often leads to something serious—generally responds to good old Muxterole with the first application. Should be more effective if used once every hour for five hours.

This famous blend of oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other helpful ingredients brings relief naturally. Muxterole gets action because it is a scientific "counter-irritant"—not just a salve—it penetrates and stimulates blood circulation, helps to draw out infection and pain. Used by millions for 20 years. Recommended by doctors and nurses.

To Mothers—Muxterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Muxterole.

THESE are the things men seek at dusk:
Firelight across a room;
Green splashing against dim roofs,
Gardens where flowers bloom.

LAMPLIGHTED gold of a windowpane, L'trees with tall stars above,
Women who watch a darkening street
For somebody whom they love.

FAITH of a small child's rhyming prayer, Candlelight, tables spread
With a blossom or two in a gay blue bowl, Fragrance of crushed bread.

FOR men may dream of a clipper ship,
A wharf, or a gipsy camp,
But their footstep pattern a homing way
To a woman, a child, a lamp.

Sidney Lenz, President of American Association, Discusses Approaching Tournament; Explains Amateurism.

New York, April 12.—(AP)—Sidney Lenz, to whom grand slams are as much a part of his life as a ping pong bat today and gesticulated on the alliterative subject of ping-pong professionalism.

While in no wise burning his bridge behind him, Mr. Lenz figured that as president of the American Ping-Pong Association some word was expected from him on that subject.

"The problem of professionalism has arisen in ping-pong," said Mr. Lenz. After the seriousness of this statement had sunk into the consciousness of his listeners, he fired another bombshell.

"All players who have accepted money for their proficiency with the little bats," he said, "are barred from all official tournaments."

While the statement was calculated to cause professional ping-pong players to gnash their teeth, Mr. Lenz had some other words to say that were more sugary.

He announced that the American Ping-Pong Association would not involve the professionalism rule against professionals in other sports.

For instance, Gene Tunney, erstwhile professional pugilist, is eligible to compete as an amateur ping-pong player, should he get the urge.

Mr. Lenz, however, expressed no fear that these personages in other fields would amount to much in the punishing pastime of ping-pong.

"The professionals in other sports," said Mr. Lenz, deprecatingly, "for the most part play ping-pong with little more than average skill."

This was construed as meaning that Mr. Lenz feels that the real ping-pong people—those who play the game scientifically and with proper zest—have nothing to worry about.

Mr. Lenz, in issuing the statement, made no effort to conceal the fact that the American Amateur Ping Pong Tournament will be held in New York April 15 and 16. Play will be for the Parker Trophy which, he explained, is to ping pong what the Davis Cup is to tennis.

Mr. Lenz, besides being president of the American Ping-Pong Association, also plays contract.

Memories of Miller

Babe Ruth stood with bare head a few days ago beside a grave in Spring Grove cemetery in Cincinnati. A few of the other Yankees were there. They placed a wreath on the modest stone that bore the carved name of Miller Huggins.

Did Babe remember the day he reported to the Yankees from Boston? And the Miller sent him to play right field, with Ping Bodie in center? And how he, Babe Ruth, shoved Bodie over to rightfield and announced that he was going to play center himself?

Hug signaled to the Babe to move over to right. Babe's response was a gloved hand, wagged in the well known old derisive gesture before his nose. And the Babe couldn't be moved, that day. But the climax of the battle between the Mighty Mile and the Mastodon of Maul came a short time later in St. Louis, where Ruth again openly defied the Miller.

The Showdown White with anger, Huggins walked up to where Ruth was dressing in the clubhouse. His words were quiet but hard.

"You're out of the game, Ruth! And you're fined five thousand dollars!"

The Babe laughed, "Try and get it!"

Miller came closer. Under the Great Man's very nose he stood and hurled the words.

"Take off that uniform! You're suspended. Get out of here. And remember—that fine will stick as long as I am manager of the Yankees!"

Ruth Repentant Ruth might have punched the Miller then. He did come pretty close to it as it was. His face was purple as he stormed away.

The fine stuck. And out of it grew a warm friendship between the Babe and the Miller. Ruth changed for the better after that day in St. Louis. He began saving his money part of it anyway, and in this venture he was assisted materially by Huggins, who knew finances as well as he knew ball players.

Huggins somehow always managed to win to his side men who opposed him. He was good and tactful. If he had a difference with a ball player, he took him aside and spoke calmly. Men who fought his appointment as manager finally became his friends.

Even Colonel Huston, who resisted bitterly when Ruppert insisted that Huggins, and not Wilbert Robinson, should manage the Yankees, finally capitulated with little Miller. Huston was "set in his ways," however, and even thought he admitted Huggins' superiority and great managerial qualities, he resented Ruppert's irrevocable choice of him that finally he made the proposition to Colonel Jake, "buy or sell." Ruppert bought.

Some Baseball Color There are many stories about Huggins, enough stories to color his life. One of the most colorful is that he built and ruled, to form a book that might be called "Baseball's Golden Era."

In this picture of the little wizard, there ought to be something about Hug, perfectly aware of Huston's enmity, saying, "Aw, Cap's all right," something about the time Babe and Lou snatched him from his berth after the Yankees had knocked off the Cardinals the fourth straight game, and threatened to throw him from the rear platform of an observation car.

Something about the way Ban Johnson battled for a place in baseball world for Miller, a paragraph about Miller pulling Bill Dook out of the box because there had been a great deal of gambling on a certain ball game.

His calm assurance that Milljus would lose control with the bases loaded in the deciding game of the 1927 series, a belief substantiated when Milljus loosed a wild pitch that sent the winning run across, and something of his deathbed, with only an hour or so to go, Hug turning to his sister and asking for the score.

His sister inventing a figure she thought would please him, and being told brusquely by the old boy, "You're forgetting. Today happens to be a double-header. I want the scores of both games."

MAJOR LEAGUERS TOE THE LINE FOR 1932 PENNANT RACE

The time honored cry "Play Ball!" will be heard on all fronts today when 16 major league clubs swing into action, barring sour weather. Washington and the Boston Red Sox got the jump on the field in a game marked by traditional ceremonies a day earlier at the capital. Photos above show outstanding member of each club.

8 TEAMS DESIRE TO JOIN LEAGUE

Two May Have To Be Dropped Unless North End Has Enough Talent.

Eight teams were represented at the meeting of managers of the proposed Y.M.C.A. Twilight Baseball League last evening at the Y and six of these teams are from the north end. It is felt in some quarters that this number of teams would more than exhaust the supply of talent in the north end and that two teams may have to be dropped.

However, no such action has been taken yet. The managers have been asked to bring in their player lists at a meeting next Monday night and a decision will be made at that time as to what action is necessary. All games will be played at the north end playgrounds unless the managers agree on some other field. The teams represented last night were the Pirates, West Sides, Eagles, Shamrocks, Bon Ami, Coughlin's Tire and Battery Shop, Community Club and Yankees.

While no nights have been selected, it is expected that all games will be on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings. Fifteen names will be limit for each team. The managers and captains were named as a finance committee last night. They will report at the next meeting.

STATE LEAGUE

In the State League last night Mae Sherman and Chas. Kebert won two out of three games which gave them five out of six games. Next Tuesday the teams bowl at New Britain.

Grandmothers Galore "Die" to Aid Baseball

New York, April 12.—The slaying of more than 100,000 grandmothers was well under way this morning, and it was expected that toward mid-afternoon there wouldn't be an old lady left in eight of this country's larger cities.

The movement, launched by office boys at Washington, D. C., yesterday, where, incidentally, a ball game was scheduled between the Boston Red Sox and the Senators, is part of an annual program.

Thousands of tired business men also were reported out for the day, many having been called away suddenly on urgent transactions. This sudden rush of out-of-town conferences, important deals and other happenings that unexpectedly summoned executives from their desks was somewhat surprising.

For, prior to today, business affairs in the cities of Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia, Detroit, New York, Cincinnati, Brooklyn and St. Louis, had been so slow that the office help had been more or less marking time, and indulging in occasional arguments on this and that, including baseball, which officially opens today.

Of course, today's absences had nothing to do with the fact that the bosses had picked the Yankees to win, declaring "Al Simmons' ankles wouldn't hold out another year, and that without Simmons, the A's couldn't win the American League flag."

The hegira also probably had nothing to do with the fact that scores of the Chicago office boys whose grandmothers quietly expired last night, had been heard to declare that the White Sox, under their new manager, Lew Fonseca, were going to go places and do things.

This unprecedented demise of grandmothers could have no bearing, of course, on the fact that several thousand office boys in St. Louis had openly voiced the opinion that the Cardinals would have a tough time winning without Grimes, and a tougher time than that beating him in a Cub uniform.

The unlooked for rush of business-outside-the-office which called thousands of "big shots" in Brooklyn away from their desks could have had nothing to do with the argument that has been raging over the merits of Brooklyn's new manager, Max Carey, as compared to Wilbert Robinson.

Police in the eight cities, most of whom were found on duty in the vicinity of the ball parks, were asked for some solution of the mysterious volume of business and funerals. The bluecoats were reported to have given virtually the same reply, "Well, what are you going to do about it?"

rough game, Ottawa Senators beat the Boston Bruins 3 to 1 in the fourth and final game of the Stanley Cup hockey series to win the trophy and the world championship.

Ten Years Ago Today—National League Umpires Klem and Sentelle named 14 players from the Chicago Cubs' bench for protesting a decision in the first inning, but the Cubs beat the Reds 5-1, though they had only 11 players on the field.

Crowder and Manush, Senators, former held Red Sox to seven hits and fanned seven; latter doubled in 10th to drive in only run of the game.

Five Years Ago Today—In a fast, Louisville, Ky., April 12.—(AP)—The death in Chicago yesterday of Joseph Letter cast a pall of mourning over his large racing stable at Churchill Downs here. About twenty of Letter's horses are in training here in charge of N. K. Beal. Among them is Prince Hotspur, Kentucky Derby candidate.

WEST SIDES WIN FINAL GAME 45-21

Defeat Community Club; Falkowski, Chapman, Bissell, Spillane Star.

The West Sides rang down the curtain on their basketball season last night when they defeated the Community Club 45-21. The boys from the West Side experienced very little trouble in turning in this victory. The Community Club fought hard to stop the sharp shooting West Side boys but with no avail. Manager Bert McConkey's cohorts started the game in a true West Side fashion and ran up a score of 13 to 2 in the first quarter. Jimmy Spillane was the star for the North End boys. The work of Falkowski, Chapman and Bissell stood out for the South End gang. Ray Donahue was also a big factor in the West Side victory.

Leonard Easily Wins Over Brown

New York, April 12.—(AP)—Benny Leonard is far from being the fighter he was ten years ago but he's still good enough to whip the second raters handily.

Making still another step forward in his comeback campaign, Benny outpointed Buster Brown, Baltimore welterweight, without trouble in a ten-round bout at the St. Nicholas Arena here last night.

Leonard weighed 151 pounds; Brown 145 1-2. Leonard still showed a distressing tendency to trip over his own feet but he had no trouble at all outpointing Brown by a wide margin.

After a shaky first round, Benny took eight of the last nine rounds, Brown succeeding in holding the veteran even in the fourth.

Leonard started slowly and Brown piled into him with a body attack that drove Benny around the ring. But Leonard took command of the situation in the second round, backed the Baltimore boy to the ropes and belabored him with both hands to the body and staggered him with a right uppercut to the jaw later in the round.

Brown resumed his body attack early in the third round but the former lightweight champion easily outboxed him. Midway through this round, Leonard, trying to evade one of Brown's rushes, tripped and fell to the canvas.

The fourth round was evenly fought as they traded body punches without much damage either way. Leonard had Brown in bad shape with lefts and rights to the body and head in the fifth and earned the round by a wide margin although he again stumbled and slipped to the floor.

Brown took considerable punishment through the next five rounds but Leonard could not floor him. The Baltimore welterweight was staggered by healthy rights that clipped him on the jaw in the seventh and eighth but Benny could not finish him.

Weather Permitting 16 Teams Will Play

Cincinnati Reds Have Added Hafey, Herman, Douthit, High, Gilbert and Lombardi During Idle Months; Cards Still Favorites.

New York, April 12.—(AP)—Eight National League baseball clubs have been winning league games on paper for two months or more. Today with a little cooperation from the weatherman, they'll see if it's just as easy to win them on the ball field.

Some 120,000 persons were expected at the four opening games in New York, Brooklyn, Cincinnati and St. Louis. The opening schedule was:

Pittsburgh at St. Louis. Chicago at Cincinnati. Boston at Brooklyn.

Philadelphia at New York. Whatever the final result of the pennant drive which ends September 25, the league looks forward now to one of the most interesting races in its long history. By trade and purchase, all eight clubs have strengthened weak spots in defense or offense until it appears not one can be used as a convenient stepping stone for such outstanding pennant contenders as the world champion Cards, the Giants or Cubs.

Perhaps the Cardinals deserve to be rated as heavy favorites to win their third straight pennant, but some observers believe the champions will feel the loss of Burleigh Grimes, veteran righthanded pitcher and outfielder Chick Hafey, league batting champion in 1931.

The Phillies principal addition is outfielder George Davis, while the Braves count on Art Shires at first base and Fritz Knebo on third. The Pirates will present an unchanged lineup although their second baseman Tony Flet played only a few games last season.

Brooklyn has added Jack Wilson to the outfield. Tony Cuccinello, Joe Stripp and George Kelly to the infield. Clyde Sukeforth to the backstopping department and Waite Hoyt to the pitching staff.

Cincinnati, which rounded out its infield by trading senny Frey and Harry Hancock to the Cards for Hafey yesterday, will have such other new comers as Babe Herman, Taylor Douthit, Andy High, Wally Gilbert and Ernest Lombardi.

A lively pitching duel was in prospect at each battle ground topped by that between Vernon (Lefty) Gomez, the 22 year old Yank southpaw and big George Earnshaw of the Athletics.

Manager Walter Johnson planned to send another veteran righthander, Fred Marberry, against the Red Sox who countered with Ed Durham, a righthander.

A pitching duel between two rivals of high school days in North Carolina, Wesley Ferrell and Victor Sorrell, added punch to the Detroit-Cleveland inaugural.

Manager Lew Fonseca of the White Sox decided upon as an opener the veteran "Sad Sam" Jones and his right arm, Earl Brown. Browns expected to start Walter Stewart.

Finland Gold Mine

When Paavo Nurmi came to the United States for the first time in 1925, the winter after his greatest Olympic triumph, American promoters trampled on one another in their eagerness to book the Phantom Finn for foot races.

This situation was like a subway rush the day after Nurmi's debut in the old Madison Square Garden. More than 5,000 persons had been turned away and influential citizens of this and other countries willingly paid as high as $200 for a single ticket of admission.

All the fuss was somewhat annoying to Nurmi himself. His requirements as to living accommodations were simple. He shied away from these impulsive Americans who talked a very fantastic language. Paavo was willing to run as long as he felt all right. That was the only language he knew—foot-racing—and he knew it better than any other runner of his time.

I do not know how much, if anything, Nurmi profited from his American tour. He was cleared of anything damaging to his amateur standing when the A. A. U. lifted rumors about him. Certainly the promoters, in the long run, did not give Paavo any of the best of whatever bargains he may have made. And subsequently the Finn gave no manifestations of enjoying sudden or even moderate wealth. He merely went back to work in Finland.

Yankee-Athletic Game Features Opening Day's Contests In American League; Gomez To Oppose Earnshaw; Senators Win 1-0.

Chicago, April 12.—(AP)—The American League pennant chase, a struggle dominated for six straight years by Philadelphia and New York broke into the open again today with the same two formidable rivals pitted against each other, in the grand inaugural feature at Shibe Park.

Washington's Senators, off to a flying start with an old fashioned 1 to 0 victory over Boston in their ten inning opener yesterday, moved over to the Red Sox camp for their second engagement. Cleveland invaded it's Lake Shore rival, Detroit, while the St. Louis Browns braved the chilly blasts of Lake Michigan at the home field of Chicago's White Sox.

Given any encouragement by the weather nearly 95,000 baseball faithful were expected to watch the big sendoffs. Lured by a midseason natural, 30,000 were expected at Philadelphia to view the first test between Babe Ruth and his Yanks and Connie Mack's forces, hand picked favorites to win the 1932

"The country was promised last fall when Congress met that the Democratic Party would formulate a constructive program of relief," the governor said. "That program has not materialized. Instead of coming forth with a program upon which the people might be able to base some hope for the future, the Democratic leaders have done nothing. They have criticized and blamed, but they have not brought forth one plan or idea, worthy to be called constructive. When they assembled in Congress and found themselves in control, they had no plan, they still have no plan, and they have done nothing so far but follow and put into effect the plans evolved and laid before them by the man whom they have reviled and mocked, our great president, Herbert Hoover."

"President Hoover has a program; an immense program of governmental action. One after another he has brought forth proposals to meet the economic ills that afflict the country."

Legislative events during the past several weeks, Mr. Hoover feels, have resulted in some business unrest. He is distinctly encouraged, however, by the declaration of Democratic leaders yesterday against the enactment of new bonus legislation at this time.

The bonus issue during the present session of Congress, he believes, now will be effectively shut aside.

President Hoover likewise is encouraged by the declaration issued by Democratic leaders of the Senate last night in favor of speedy enactment of the new tax program. He feels an attitude of real cooperation now exists upon this program.

Priceless Records Dating Back to 1607

Heritage of Old Mission on Rio Grande

By NEA Service.

Santa Fe, N. M., April 4.—Lacking the antiquity of many of the pueblo churches in New Mexico, yet interesting and beautiful, is the Church of Santo Domingo, situated in the Santo Domingo Indian village, 25 miles south of Santa Fe on the Rio Grande river.

Constructed of adobe and plastered with native stucco, flat-roofed, its rounded corners and sprawling walls in perfect harmony with the surrounding country, the church attracts much attention. To the west stretch rolling hills, against which background the dazzling whiteness of its wall stands out in bold relief.

Across the front of the church, over the entrance, is a "portal" or balcony, ornamented with a hand-made wooden railing. There is a single tower containing a bell, and surmounted with a wooden cross. Adjoining is a convento or priest's dwelling which, together with the church, is enclosed by a "tapia" or wall of adobe, glistening with whitewash.

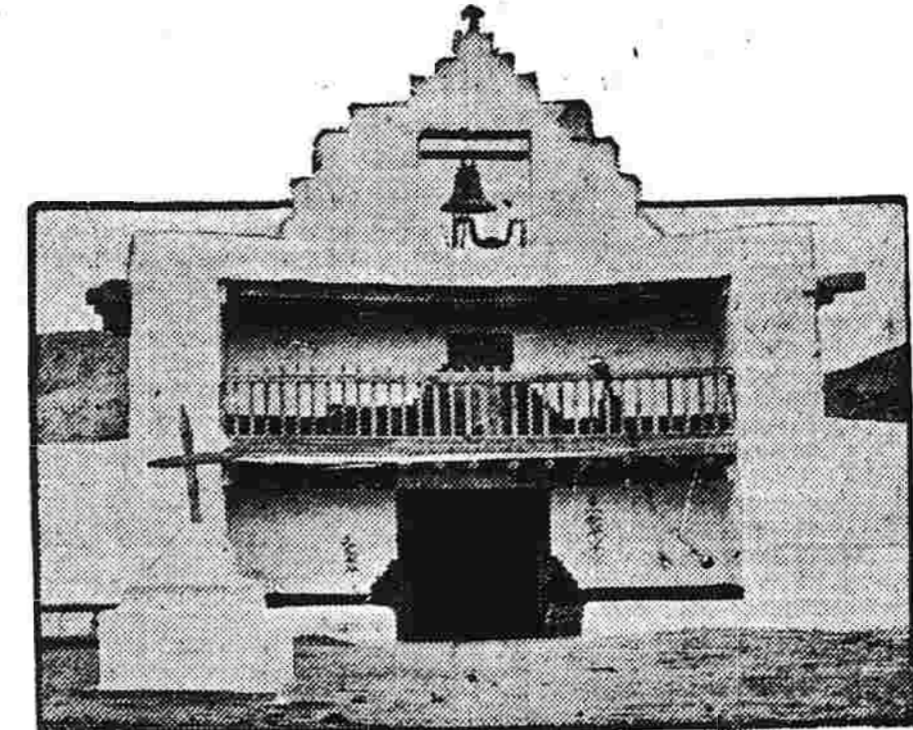

The church was erected to replace the historic old Mission Church of Santo Domingo, which was washed away by the swift waters of the Rio, on whose banks it had perched precariously several centuries.

The new church has as its precious heritage the old record books of the Mission Church, and many of its furnishings, all dating back to 1607 when the Mission was established by Father Juan de Escalco, the official head of the Franciscans in New Mexico.

The record books, their yellowed pages brittle with age, throw many interesting lights on the early life of the Indians, and prove that they were devout in their outward conformity to the ceremonies of their church, even if they did massacre three friars during the Pueblo Revolution of 1680, and bury their bodies in the adobe floor of the Mission Church chapel.

At the time of the massacre the records and furnishings were left intact, and were moved to El Paso for safe keeping until after the conquest, when they were again placed in the old Mission Church.

Centuries later, when the Indians saw the old church was doomed to destruction, they again removed the precious relics, and placed them in the new building which they erected soon after.

Old Santo Domingo Mission, above, stands in the little Indian village of the same name. Its history goes back to 1607.

Nila Cook Is 'First American Aryan'

By Initiation Into Mystic Hindu Sect

Mount Abu, India.—(AP)—Nila Cram Cook, the 21-year-old American who recently became a convert to Hinduism, has been forced to postpone her plan to enter Gandhi's colony at Ahmedabad by the imprisonment of the Mahatma.

In the interim Miss Cook has become a disciple and pupil of the famous Hindu teacher, Jaina Yogi, Shree Shanti Vilas Maharaja, at this retreat in the hills of romantic Rajputana.

Miss Cook has become known throughout India as the first "American Aryan." Her admission into the mysteries of the Brahmin community attracted even greater notice than the conversion a few years ago of Nancy Miller, of Seattle, who married the former Maharaja of Indore.

Ordinarily Hindu laws do not provide for the conversion of a foreigner, but Miss Cook was admitted into the Arya Samaj sect on the ground that, according to the priests, she had lived in India tens of thousands of years ago in another incarnation, and had only strayed temporarily from the spiritual realm.

While the priests were chanting Vedic hymns, Miss Cook was in the mood to spend an hour in meditation. When, after the hour, she opened her eyes, the entire Brahmin community had assembled.

Women strewed her path with flowers and garlanded her body, and Miss Cook then was conducted into the inner sanctuary of the temple, where ancient Sanskrit prayers were recited and she was given marigold petals and sacred water to sprinkle upon herself.

This rite is peculiar to the Hindus, who teach that before worshipping the Almighty a devotee must first worship the god in himself, Atma.

The higher, immortal self being considered the purest manifestation of God in the cosmos.

"May the return of our sister from Patala-Loka (America), the antipodes of ancient India be a sign to us all of the brotherhood of nations and of the oneness of religious devotion," said the officiating priest as he led the American girl from the inner sanctuary.

Pandit Daulat Ram, leader of the Shrinagar Brahmin community then announced that the Hindu name of Nila Nagini had been given Miss Cook as the first "American Aryan."

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

As Duncy sailed on through the air, wee Scouty said, "We've had a scare that's really turned out serious. What are we going to do?"

"The bubble that poor Duncy's in will take him where he's never been. I'll bet he's going to have a thrilling time before he's through."

"But we can't just sit here and wait. Say! Wouldn't it be simply great if Windy had an airplane?" He could rise right in the air.

"Then he'd find Duncy, sure enough, although the going might be rough. But Windy has no airplane and wee Duncy's still up there."

"Come, let's start running right away. The bubble may drift down our way. Then we could all grab Duncy, ere he plopped down on the ground."

"The monstrous bubble's still in sight. I hope its prisoner's all right, although he's likely dizzy 'cause he's turning 'round and 'round.'"

So o'er the hills the Tines went.

ONE MORE THING, WE'RE AWAY ON TRIPS A LOT. IF YOU'LL REBATE OUR RENT FOR THE NIGHTS WE DON'T USE THE GARAGE, I'LL TAKE IT.

OF course it was their good intent to try and help, as best they could, to bring poor Duncy back.

All at a sudden Windy said, "There's no use going on ahead. The bubble's out of sight now. It is in a cloud that's black."

And he was right. Away up high some clouds had gathered in the sky and Duncy, saved then, nervously as into them he sailed.

It wasn't very long until he ran into another thrill. Above the clouds some birds came near and Duncy's pink cheeks paled.

Here's where my bubble's nipped, thought he. And then it is goodby for me. No bird, however, pecked at it and Duncy had new hope.

The queer birds seemed to realize that they had best protect their eyes. They wouldn't peck the bubble 'cause they knew 'twas made of soap.

MAJOR PROJECTS LISTED FOR BID

State Highway Plans Announced By Macdonald; Cut-Offs Planned.

The so-called Milford cut-off, which will carry the Boston Post Road around the center of Milford, and the elimination of the railroad grade crossing on Main street in Thomaston, will be among this year's major highway construction jobs in Connecticut. Highway Commissioner John A. Macdonald announced today in putting both projects together with two others for contractors' bids.

The Milford cut-off, traveling from New Haven towards Bridgeport, will leave the present right of way of the Post Road a few hundred yards east of the point where it turns into Cherry street, Milford. It will swing northwest, circle the center of the town, pass over the railroad tracks and will rejoin the Post Road at the point on the Devon side of Milford where the present concrete concrete pavement begins. The cut-off will be about two and three-quarters miles in length and will be constructed of reinforced concrete pavement, four lanes wide.

First operations on the Milford project were started about one year ago with grading and drainage work and with the construction of the abutments of the bridge which will carry the highway over the railroad tracks and electric overhead equipment. The bridge will be similar in many respects to the famous Southport cut-off which carries the Post Road over the tracks in Fairfield, although not as large since the span can be built on a more direct line over the tracks.

Concrete and steel bridges will be used to carry U. S. Route No. 6 over the tracks at the Thomaston railroad station. Their construction involves difficult engineering problems due to the extraordinarily steep grade of Plymouth Hill which descends directly to the present grade crossing. Both the crossing and a large part of the grade will be eliminated by the project. The job will involve about a quarter of a mile of reinforced concrete and macadam pavement on the approaches to the bridges.

The Fairfield job calls for the improvement of surface drainage on the Post Road at Fairfield Center and includes the installing of 1,906 feet of reinforced concrete pipe, catch basins, manholes, etc. Another bridge project will take place in Middlebury with the construction of twelve-foot span, "T" beam bridge, with reinforced concrete slab over Swamp Brook on Route No. 3 about one mile west of the Waterbury town line.

Contractors' sealed bids on the Fairfield, Middlebury and Milford jobs will be received at the highway department's headquarters in the State Office Building, Hartford, until 2:00 p. m., Monday, April 18. Bids on the Thomaston crossing elimination will be received until 2:00 p. m., daylight saving time, on Monday, May 2.

MEN'S CLUB DINES, HEARS INSPIRATIONAL LECTURE

South Methodist Church Club Enjoys Supper and Then Hears Rev. L. Theron French

The Men's Friendship club of the South Methodist church held one of its most successful meetings of the season last night. It was preceded by a supper which included roast beef with gravy and mashed potatoes, peas, relishes, pickles, rolls, coffee, cake, pie and cheese. The tables were springlike with streamers of green paper, tulips and pussy willows.

The committee which made all this possible was made up of the following men and women of the church: Mr. and Mrs. George Beer, Mrs. Ellen Crossen, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Smith, Mr. Harold Richmond, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Gibson. After the meal there was chorus singing, with Otto Nelson as leader and Fred Rogers at the piano.

Rev. L. Theron French, assistant pastor of the North Methodist church, gave an inspiring talk on the subject of "Faith," and Selectman George E. Keith told some of the high-lights of a recent trip through the South which he took in company with Mrs. Keith. A short business meeting of the club followed in the ladies' parlor.

DAYLIGHT SAVING STARTS APRIL 24

Clocks Advanced One Hour For Five Months Period; Generally Observed.

Daylight Saving Time will become effective Sunday, April 24, and will end Sunday, September 25, and during this five months' period clocks will be advanced one hour. Although the Connecticut Legislature has passed a law making it an offense to show other than Eastern Standard Time on clocks publicly displayed, Daylight Saving Time was observed by all banks, offices, stores and factories in 33 cities and towns last year and all are expected to do so this year.

To conform with the Daylight Saving plan, passenger train schedules in general on the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad will be advanced one hour; other time table changes will also be made to meet public convenience. Passenger trains will continue to be operated on Eastern Standard Time but the schedules change to conform to the new time.

Teachers of the Concordia Lutheran church will meet this evening at 8 o'clock.
