URGES BEER TAX TO EVEN BUDGET

Counsel For Manufacturers Thrusts Old Subject Back Into Tax Dispute—Would Raise Millions.

Washington, April 13.—(AP)—Beer as a source of revenue was thrust back into the tax dispute today before the Senate finance committee.

James A. Emery, counsel for the National Association of Manufacturers, called for amendment of the Volstead Act and the regulated manufacture of a cereal beverage which he said would produce $270,000,000 annually of revenue.

"We are concerned neither with the pros or cons of prohibition," he said. "The only issue is whether we shall have beer, with or without revenue."

"We urge the permissible manufacture of a palatable non-intoxicant, competing with an illicit beverage to produce revenue in a national emergency."

Emery appeared before Senator Harrison (D., Miss.), had accused Secretary Mills of not playing fair with the finance committee in referring it to the original treasury revenue plan rather than submitting new proposals.

The letter by Mills to the committee said he preferred either the original Treasury plan or the revenue bill as it was reported by the House ways and means committee to the measure passed by the House and now before the finance committee. He offered to go before the committee at any time to aid in changing the bill, however.

HARRISON'S CHARGE

Washington, April 13.—(AP)—A letter from Secretary Mills to the Senate finance committee referring the Senators to the treasury's original tax program rather than submitting a new one drew from Senator Harrison (D., Miss.) today the assertion that he "hasn't been fair to this committee."

Mills' letter was read as the committee resumed its tax hearings. It was in reply to a letter from Harrison when Mills testified last week.

Harrison promptly charged the secretary has "evaded the question" and "hasn't lived up to his promises to this committee."

"I can't agree," broke in Chairman Smoot, (R., Utah).

"I don't see," continued Harrison, emphatically, "how Mr. Mills objects to furnishing a specific program in view of what has happened."

Smoot denied any effort was being made by the administration to avoid responsibility.

Mills, in his letter, said that last Wednesday when he appeared before the finance committee he had submitted a summary of the Treasury recommendations, the ways and means committee proposals, and the House provisions.

"It seems to me, therefore, that the Treasury's position has been fully presented," he added. "If the committee desires us to recommend

DEMANDS A PROBE OF ROOSEVELT FUND

Senator Robinson States He Heard $50,000 Was Spent In Nebraska.

Washington, April 13.—(AP)—A demand in the Senate today by Senator Robinson (R., Ind.), for investigation of presidential campaign expenditures, particularly of those in behalf of Governor Roosevelt of New York, stirred a sharp debate.

The Indiana Republican read a newspaper story quoting Governor Murray of Oklahoma as charging that $50,000 was sent into Nebraska for yesterday's primary in behalf of the Roosevelt ticket.

"This is a very serious charge and unquestionably should be investigated," he said.

As he launched into a review of the recent court action filed in New York by a signer of a Democratic campaign fund note of 1928, Robinson was halted by a roar of Democratic voices.

Leader Interrupts

Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, finally obtained recognition and insisted that Senator Trammell (D., Fla.), who had yielded the floor to Robinson's Indiana, decline to permit "a political speech."

Trammell then insisted upon claiming recognition in his own right and Robinson of Indiana said he would speak later.

Sentinel Thomas (D., Okla.), broke in to state that Gov. Murray had denied the accuracy of the newspaper story quoted by Robinson in reference to the Nebraska Roosevelt campaign fund charge.

WOMAN BURNED TO DEATH; Brothers Blind and Deaf

Woodstock, Ill., April 13.—(AP)—There was a story of tragedy on the main box near the home of Lizette Furney, 65, yesterday.

Around the box was a pair of trousers and the rural mail carrier, making his regular rounds, knew it was a signal that something was wrong.

Hurrying to the house he found the woman had been burned to death.

Her two brothers, both blind and deaf, sensing that she was on fire, were helpless to aid her because they could neither see nor hear, and draped the mail box with the trousers to attract attention.

Investigators said it was apparently the woman's clothing had been ignited, when she tried to start a fire in a stove.

She had been taking care of her blind brothers for years, and had learned their sign language.

LEVITT LOSES LIGHT CASE IN HIGHEST COURT

Fails To Bring Action In Way To Get Review of Rates, Supreme Court Shows In Maltbie Opinion.

Hartford, April 13.—Prof. Albert Levitt of Redding, who has been conducting a fight in the courts to compel the Connecticut Light and Power Company to serve his home at Redding, 3,000 feet beyond the present end of its lines, without exacting any special rate, has lost his case in the Supreme Court of Errors.

The court has handed down an opinion, written by Chief Justice Maltbie, upholding the Public Utilities Commission in its refusal to order the lighting company to render such service.

In disposing of Mr. Levitt's claim that a public utility company is obliged to serve all within the territory it is chartered to serve without discrimination in rates provided it can do so without materially affecting its financial or rate structure, the court ruled as follows:

"The mere fact that one resides within a district which a public utility corporation has chartered authority to serve does not give him such an interest in the rate structure of the company as to permit him to challenge it before the commission or before the courts. He must be a district which is of one character, seeking to have its service extended to him under circumstances involving the reasonableness of that schedule; and if he is entitled to make such a challenge he must proceed before the commission."

RAILROADS MERGE; LARGEST IN YEARS

Southern Pacific Takes Over St. Louis Southwestern Railway Co.

New York, April 13.—(AP)—Barring a last minute hitch the Southern Pacific Company will take over the St. Louis Southwestern Railway Company tomorrow.

The date for the amalgamation was set by the Interstate Commerce Commission. The acquisition will add to the Southern Pacific System a railway having 1,900 miles of track and assets of about $150,000,000.

The transaction will be one of the largest railroad mergers in recent years. The consolidation will give Southern Pacific which already ranks as this country's largest system in point of total assets, a still stronger grasp on that title.

Increases Assets

Southern Pacific will increase its assets by the acquisition to $2,500,000,000. This compares with $2,166,000,000 for Pennsylvania in the east and $1,272,000,000 for Santa Fe in the west.

Southern Pacific will increase its miles of track to 25,700. In this respect it will still rank below the Pennsylvania System, operating 37,600 miles.

Before Southern Pacific takes title to the other road, known as the Cotton Belt, its executive committee will meet tomorrow to decide whether to guarantee an $18,000,000 Reconstruction Finance Corporation loan to the St. Louis Southwestern.

This condition has been set by the Interstate Commerce Commission before it will approve the $18,000,000 advance to the Cotton Belt.

Senators Hear New York Stock Exchange Head

CONDON IS IN CONTACT WITH LINDY KIDNAPERS

New York Educator Says He Is Still Meeting Them After Returning From Mysterious Night Journey.

Hopewell, N. J., April 13.—(AP)—Dr. John F. Condon indicated today he had renewed negotiations with the kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby, to whom he already had paid a $50,000 ransom, and police disclosed they had received a "mysterious message" telling where definite information of the baby's whereabouts might be obtained.

"I have definitely had contact with the kidnapers and I still have contact with them," Dr. Condon, who negotiated through a series of advertisements signed "Jafale," said after a mysterious night journey.

A few hours later Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of state police who is in general charge of the police investigation, announced his latest clue in a bulletin.

"A mysterious anonymous message was received," he said, advising him of definite information of the kidnapers and 'he whereabouts of the child would be available on a boat on or near the property of the A. A. C. and Company of Chrome, N. J."

A detail of troopers together with a detail of the carter police, searched all boats in and near the A. A. C. dock and found only six barges. Two barges had just unloaded coal and four empty barges were about to be filled with fertilizer. All other boats at neighboring docks were examined but nothing of any importance was discovered.

"This investigation is being continued," Col. Schwarzkopf also said Harry Fleischer, Detroit Purple gangster long sought for questioning about the kidnaping, was reported to be planning to sail to England from Nova Scotia.

"Reports were received last night," he said, "that Fleischer was seen during the past week in St. John's and is making his way to Halifax. Authorities at St. John's and Halifax have been requested to watch for him and a careful survey of passengers leaving Halifax has also been requested."

Col. Schwarzkopf did not answer a question sent to him before he issued his bulletin asking for "a clear statement on the true condition of Mrs. Lindbergh's health." An earlier police statement had said there was "no perceptible change" in her condition. Before that denial had been made of reports that the missing baby's mother had collapsed.

ONE DEAD, 6 HURT AS SHIPS COLLIDE

Fireman Falls Between Vessels and Crushed—Coast Guard Boat Damaged.

New York, April 13.—(AP)—One member of the crew of the Coast Guard cutter Manhattan was lost overboard and six customs men were injured today in a collision between the cutter and the Panama railroad steamship Guayaquil in the harbor midway between the Battery and the Statue of Liberty.

Third Class Fireman James C. Rilly, of Santa Barbara, Calif., was thrown from the bow of the cutter between the two vessels and was crushed and drowned.

A few hours later Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of state police who is in general charge of the police investigation, announced his latest clue in a bulletin.

RAILROAD PLANS A NOVEL SERVICE

B. & M. To Pick Up and Deliver Freight In Towns On Its Lines.

Boston, April 13.—(AP)—The Boston and Maine railroad, effective May 13, will establish pick-up and store-door delivery of less-than-carload freight between over 50 New England cities and towns located on its lines.

The move, announced today, is to meet highway motor truck competition and is the first such service to be established by any eastern railroad.

President E. S. French of the Boston and Maine in announcing the innovation, said it was greatly "the result of statements of many shippers and receivers now using outside trucking interests that 'what the railroads must give us, to regain and delivery services'."

Between most points the new pick-up and delivery service will be furnished, with no addition to the rail rate which now applies between the freight stations in the communities selected for starting the experiment.

Local Truckmen

The service will be performed by local truckmen in each city and

SAYS FEDERAL BOARD AGAINST VETS' BONUS

River at Hartford Above Flood Stage

Hartford, April 13.—(AP)—The city were covered with water swirling gray waters from the north today pushed the Connecticut River here to its highest level since the great November flood of 1927, while in East Hartford several families fled their homes and scores of others worked to get personal belongings to second stories as the foundations of houses became submerged.

Forty children stayed home from classes in the meadow school in Darwin street, in the East Hartford lowlands near Connecticut Boulevard, because their homes were cut off by water. Dozens of others, considering it a lark, went by rowboat.

Still rising at the rate of one-tenth of a foot an hour, the weather bureau's official 10 a. m. record taken today at the gauge of the Hartford Electric Light Company's Dutch Point plant was 18.7 feet, or nearly three feet above flood stage of 16 feet. L. A. Rapley, in charge of the local bureau predicted the flood would reach its crest tomorrow morning, near the 20 foot point.

HEAVIEST SINCE FLOOD

The volume of water going over the Winooski river dam at the "Gorge" where the Green Mountain Power Plant Corporation is located was reported to be the heaviest since the flood of 1927. At Middlesex near Montpelier, the water covered the highway to a depth of 16 inches.

At Concord, N. H., the Merrimack was more than five feet above the flashboards of the Garvin's Falls dam and was overflowing into the lowlands.

The Connecticut was rising in the vicinity of Springfield. Engineers at Turners Falls predicted a volume of 80,000 cubic feet per second. They consider seventy thousand feet flood water.

The Connecticut swept away 700 feet of flashboards at the Turners Falls dam. The flow today at the Vermont dam was about 50,000 cubic feet per second with reports from other up-country points that the waters were receding some.

IN OTHER STATES

Boston, April 13.—(AP)—New England's river bank communities prepared today to battle this section's rivers, brought to the freshest stage by rain-swelled streams.

The Connecticut river at Hartford rose with alarming speed during the night and shortly before midnight stood at 17.9 feet above sea level. Through the early morning the river continued to rise at the rate of 1.1 of an inch an hour. Meadows to the north and south of

OVER 200 DELEGATES NOW FOR ROOSEVELT

Hoover Has Already 336 For Renomination But Most of Others Are For Him, Leaders Declare.

Washington, April 13.—(AP)—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt's victory over Speaker Garner and Gov. William H. Murray in Nebraska and his winning of Kentucky's delegate lead for the Democratic presidential nomination today to 218 in pledged and claimed convention votes.

With Illinois' 60 Republican delegates in doubt, President Hoover, by gaining 33 instructed delegates from Missouri and 16 in Florida, and 17 from Nebraska by claim, jumped his total strength to 336 for renomination.

Each national convention has 1154 full delegate votes, with 770, or two-thirds, required to nominate at the Democratic meeting, and 578, or a majority, at the Republican.

All told, 92 Democratic delegates were named yesterday.—Kentucky 26, Nebraska 16 and Illinois 50—running the total to date to 430.

Lewis is Second.

Next to Roosevelt in delegate strength now is Senator J. Hamilton Lewis of Illinois with that state's 33 instructed delegates pledged to him and 8 at large still to be named in state convention.

Former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri is 36; Gov. Murray 23, Alfred E. Smith one, and 104 are in doubt.

The Republicans named 116 yesterday—Missouri 33 (full delegate votes) Florida 16, Illinois 50 and Nebraska 17—bringing the total to 408.

Most for Hoover.

Illinois' 50 remain to be divided as to preference, although most of them are regarded pro-Hoover. Eleven at large are yet to be named.

Former Senator France of Maryland was the only candidate for the

QUIGLEY WINNER IN NEW BRITAIN

Republican Mayor Re-elected By Record Plurality, Others Swept In With Him

New Britain, April 13.—(AP)—George A. Quigley was re-elected mayor of New Britain for a fifth term yesterday, defeating Councilman Frank L. Conlon, Democrat, by 2,759 votes, the largest plurality on record here.

The Republican candidates for the other four major offices were successful, and that party also won the majority of council posts at stake.

Bernadotte Loomis was re-elected tax collector; C. L. Sheldon, treasurer; W. H. Day, comptroller, and H. E. Scheuy, clerk.

The incoming council will be composed of 24 Republicans and six Democrats. Republican candidates for the common council were elected in the first, second, third, fourth and fifth wards, and for aldermen in the second and fourth wards.

But Two Posts

Democrats were successful only for the Common council in the Sixth ward and one aldermanic post.

Selectman H. A. Witkin and E. W. Johnson were re-elected on the Republican ticket. Four Republican constables and three Democratic ones were chosen.

The principal issue in the election was the use of script for unemployed relief. Mayor Quigley upholding the plan which he put into effect, and the Democrats demanding the payment of cash.

Quigley was first elected mayor in 1914. He was re-elected in 1916 and 1918 and then left politics until 1930.

Church of God Company Finally to Own Steamer

Los Angeles, April 13.—(AP)—Eleven years of adversity mean nothing to the Rev. James E. Lewis, self-styled Moses of his negro brethren, minister, ship-builder and promoter.

He announced today his Church of God—California's only steamship line without a ship—was soon to begin actual operations. The minister said negotiations are under way for purchase of a 4,000-ton steamer laid up at Vancouver, B. C. The ship would be the first vessel of a fleet to carry negroes in America back to Africa, he said. Returning, the ships would bring mahogany, palm oil and other products of tropical Africa.

It was in 1921 that the pastor completed construction of his Ark, a desert craft built on Terminal Island, San Pedro, from scraps of wood acquired during three years of labor.

The craft became waterlogged soon after it was launched. It finally was towed on the beach and burned as a public nuisance.

GETS 18 YEARS

Waterbury, April 15.—(AP)—Charles Mikulaitis of Waterbury, was given an 18 to 20 years term in the State Prison at Wethersfield this afternoon by Judge Newell Jennings of the Superior Criminal Court on a charge of robbery with violence. He was one of the bandits that held up the Sanditz and Taurig bank in Waterbury on April 15, 1931. He was convicted by a jury. Mikulaitis recently finished a term in the Federal Prison at Atlanta for counterfeiting.

Three other men are already in the State Prison for the robbery. William Nowasett and Aliso Clario received 15 to 20 years and Joseph Probulis was given 10 to 15 years last fall when they pleaded guilty. "The robbery of the local bank in which $3,400 was taken was staged after plans to rob the Collinsville Trust Company and the Southington National bank fell through. Members of the gang including Probulis admitted this was not their first job.

Waterbury Woman Drinks Poison As She Receives a Jail Sentence.

Waterbury, April 18.—(AP)—Mrs. Bruna Blekis of Ayers street, mother of two children, tried to end her life by drinking a bottle of poison in Superior Court this afternoon after she heard Judge Newell Jennings sentence her to the New Haven jail for one year for arson. The fourth straight victory for the state to wipe out the so-called arson ring was registered in the case. The large crowd in the court room was thrown into a panic with women and children screaming as Mrs. Blekis grabbed the bottle of poison from her pocket and before deputy sheriffs could stop her drank all the contents.

She sobbed and shrieked as she collapsed to the floor not 10 feet from Judge Jennings. Court attaches carried her to the clerk's office where first aid methods were resorted to before an ambulance arrived from St. Mary's hospital.

Mrs. Blekis had appeared unconcerned all morning as she sat in court holding one of her two small children in her lap while she quitted the older child who was seated between her and her husband.

WOMEN PLAN CAMPAIGN TO ASSIST AL SMITH

Hartford, April 13.—(AP)—About seventy-five Democratic women leaders from all parts of the State were present at a luncheon in the Hotel Bond today to lay plans for supporting the presidential nomination of Alfred E. Smith.

Mrs. John L. Kavanaugh of Hartford, sponsor of the movement, refused to give any information before the meeting to reveal the names of those present, or to allow any one not in the group invited to be present. She asserted that every one present was a staunch Smith supporter, but that what plans would be made would not be known until the meeting was over. Mrs. James S. Curry of Hartford, who is identified with the group aligned with Thomas J. Spellacy, assisted Mrs. Kavanaugh in greeting out of town women.

Though Mrs. Kavanaugh refused to comment, it was understood that plans for an active state-wide organization were to be discussed in the hope that every woman in the State who favors the renomination of Mr. Smith would have a chance to work for him.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

It is interesting to hear boys tell of their adventures as a tenderfoot seeking admission to the ranks of Manchester District troops. Their experiences are extremely interesting all the way along the trails of Scouting. Scouting occupies the thoughts as well as the leisure time of thousands of boys throughout the country.

Scouting as a supplemental program used by churches, organizations and institutions has been proven of great value not only as an educational value but as a crime preventive movement. Dr. Amos O.quire, consulting physician at Sing Sing Prison, in an article published in the "Rotarian," November, 1931, urges members of Rotary clubs to participate actively in promoting Scouting and similar activities.

"I have personally never known a Boy Scout in prison, although some may have gone there. But I do know that most boys and girls confide their problems to and take the advice of an older friend or counselor can they find such a sympathetic human being. Every boy and girl must have an outlet for their enthusiasm and no better outlets exist than Scouting and similar activities."

The object of the Boy Scout movement is to train boys for worth while citizenship by endeavoring to inculcate a sense of responsibility to their community through a wise program of ideals combined with action which supplies fun, recreation, adventure, and knowledge. In Manchester there are registered nearly two hundred and seventy-five Scouts. Cub and Sea Scouts in troops sponsored by churches, clubs and parent-teacher associations.

Many more boys would be registered if sponsors and leaders were supplied. It is the ideal of Manchester District to grow solidly and build carefully its troops. Manchester District Officials and Scoutmasters will be pleased to communicate with institutions interested and make known the opportunity offered through this program for boys throughout Manchester.

J. G. DEAN,
Field Executive.

Every Scoutmaster, Assistant Scoutmaster and Sea Scout Skipper is requested to be present at the Scoutmasters' meeting at the Center church, Thursday evening at 7:30 to organize the spring district activities. Please be present and bring along your assistant.

DEMOLAY DANCE SATURDAY NIGHT

Annual Semi-Formal Affair To Feature Ernie Rock's Music—At Temple.

The annual semi-formal dance of John Mather Chapter, Order of Demolay, which has been gaining in popularity with the younger set every year, will be held at the Masonic Temple, Saturday night. Present indications point to a large attendance as tickets for this social event are selling rapidly.

Ernie Rock's eight-piece orchestra, one of the best known musical aggregations in this vicinity, will furnish music for dancing and will choose its numbers from a repertoire that consists of nearly 200 of the latest popular melodies. Art Hinkley, saxophone player of the original Levithan orchestra, will play several solos, and Thomas McBride, widely known singer, will contribute novelty numbers.

The committee in charge, consisting of Ralph Maher, chairman; Wilbert Hadden, Reginald West and Walter Snow, stress the fact that evening dress is optional. The committee considers that semi-formal dress consists of a conservative business suit.

HITLER'S "NAZIS" CALLED ILLEGAL

Greener, minister of defense, and Herr Greener consulted the authorities of the federated states before the decree was issued.

The material confiscated in the raids on Hitler's meeting-places last month, together with evidence found in other states, particularly in Bavaria and Hesse, was said to have left no doubt in the minds of the authorities of the subversive character of the Nazi "troops."

The decree declaring the organization illegal, which is in effect an order for dissolution of the storm troops, was signed by President von Hindenburg.

HITLER'S "STORM TROOPS" ARE THE MILITANT NATIONAL SOCIALIST PARTY. THE AUTHORITIES HAVE CHARGED ON MORE THAN ONE OCCASION THAT THEY WERE THE NUCLEUS OF A NAZI ARMY WHICH EVENTUALLY MIGHT TRY TO SEIZE THE GOVERNMENT BY FORCE.

Hitler himself always has said that when he comes into power it will be by legal means. Between the two presidential elections, however, the police of Prussia raided the party meeting places seizing documents which they said outlined the details of an elaborate plan to plunge the country into civil war in an effort to overthrow the present regime and install Hitler at the head of the nation.

These papers, which the Nazi leaders said were mostly forgeries, disclosed mobilization plans for the storm troops and a communications system by which units from one end of the country to the other might keep in touch with each other.

There were details of mobilization stations where every able-bodied man was to report with full field equipment which is forbidden in post-war Germany.

DEMOCRATIC POLICIES OUTLINED BY ROBINSON

Describe Six Point Economic Relief Program At Jefferson Day Rally—Also Asks For Lower Tariffs.

Washington, April 13.—(AP)—A six-point economic relief program, including abandonment of "prohibitive" tariffs and sharp reduction in the cost of government was advanced today by Senator Robinson of Arkansas, at the Jefferson Day luncheon rally of the nation's leading Democrats.

Joining Representative Rainey of Illinois, the House majority leader; Representative Mary T. Norton of New Jersey, and Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, vice-chairman of the party's National committee, in a severe arraignment of Republican promises and policies, the Senate's Democratic chieftain also called for:

Rigid enforcement of the anti-trust laws, use of American capital at home, a policy of non-cancellation of foreign debts and no readjustment of debts except in the interest of America, and re-establishment of higher commodity prices through orderly disposition of existing surpluses, readjustments in domestic production and other processes.

All the other speakers let loose critical darts at the administration's tariff and relief measures, but only one—Representative Norton—took a fling at prohibition.

Urging abandonment of the Prohibition Bureau, she said the "noble experiment" has cost the American people $375,000,000 for enforcement, not counting the revenue "which could be had from a legalized tax on beer and wine; while the cost in murders, suicides, corruption, crime and prison and insane asylum upkeep cannot be estimated."

Have Closed Minds
"While all of this is developing," she added, "the leader of our country is not sufficiently interested to even attempt to discover the remedy. Men on Capitol Hill with closed minds refuse to read the evident handwriting on the wall."

Taking the "harmful" results of new economic "as his text, Senator Robinson termed the Hoover relief proposals as "palliatives, not cures," and said financial institutions had been slow to avail themselves of the privileges afforded by the "Glass-Steagall Act, a Democratic measure," due to "fear which seems to have paralyzed the brains of those who control the sources of credit."

After saying a "nation-wide propaganda (in 1928) built up with the myth that a letter mailed anywhere to the 'Miracle Man' would be promptly delivered to Mr. Hoover," the Arkansas Senator, vice-presidential nominee in that campaign, said every policy advanced by the President then "is now generally regarded as unsound, and by many regarded as a direct cause of the depression."

"Everything that Mr. Hoover said would happen failed to occur," he continued. "Everything that he promised would not occur has taken place."

President's Reply
"When the Democrats cried out that the Hoover plan to increase mass and automatic machine production threatened to create unmanageable surpluses and to diminish employment, the Republican presidential nominee replied at Newark: 'It is the road to abolition of poverty.'"

"The record of the last three years," he said, "establishes the conclusion that the economic policy of the United States as reflected in extravagant government expenditures, in loans to bankrupt foreign governments, and in the enactment of tariffs which have well-nigh destroyed our commerce, have been the controlling factors in producing depression in this country, and in causing it to extend to other spheres. The New Economics must be cast into the limbo of exploded heresies."

Taking up his six recommendations one by one, Robinson said:

"Loans to foreign governments, or to their nationals of which repayment is promised only on the theory that the United States will, in some mysterious way, build up the ability of the borrowers to pay, should not be sought or accepted. It is better to use American capital at home and escape the risks of loss and of political entanglements and complications which must result from such a stupid policy."

"Second, this government should announce a firm purpose not to cancel or readjust obligations due from foreign countries, except upon conditions manifestly to the interest of our own people."

Prohibitive Tariffs
"Third, it must be made to appear that the policy of isolation reflected in prohibitive tariffs is to be abandoned, and fair reciprocal tariff arrangements entered into with a view to breaking down and preventing retaliatory measures by other powers.

"Fourth, laws for the prevention and regulation of monopolies must be enforced. The administrations of Presidents Harding, Coolidge and Hoover have been marked by such feebleness in the enforcement of the anti-trust laws as to justify the belief that the statutes are regarded as obsolete and unnecessary."

"Fifth, reduction of the high cost of government is among the most difficult tasks which the Democratic Party will inherit when the administration of President Hoover dies on March 4, 1933. The current annual deficit is approximately $2,000,000,000. The marked divergence between revenues and expenditures threatens the national credit. That credit must be maintained!

"Two general processes suggest themselves as practical ways for balancing the budget. First, the abolition of departments, bureaus, boards, commissions and offices so as to discontinue duplications in service and activities which may be dispensed with.

"The Democratic House and Democratic Senators already are grappling with this problem and are making headway. The cooperation of all parties will be required to reduce the size and number of Federal agencies. Second, additional taxes must be levied. Increased taxation is no remedy for depression. It is the penalty which must be paid for extravagance during prosperous times.

Decline In Prices
"Sixth, the unparalleled decline in commodity prices, a process which is accelerated by the 'new economics' if it did not originate therein, is perhaps the most difficult obstacle to surmount in attempting to overcome depression.

"Readjustments must come in domestic production and in commerce before commodity prices will substantially advance. Instead of piling up additional surpluses, existing surpluses must be disposed of in accordance with orderly processes. That is, new domestic markets must be stimulated and foreign markets reached by receiving on more liberal terms those products of foreign countries which can not be economically produced in this country."

The Weather Bureau, however, said spring was "just around the corner" and predicted rising temperatures today and tomorrow.

Will Be Vetoes
"It probably will be vetoed by the President," he said, "but it is the only way by which we can now accomplish a lowering of world tariffs."

"The dangers which confront us are not imaginary," he continued. "They are real. No restoration of confidence can compensate for the world trade we have lost. We must get it back in some way. We must again bring back American capital to our shores and we must manufacture here in mass production and with trained American personnel again for world markets."

Mrs. Ross, former governor of Wyoming, said the "electorate will be alert to evidence that there is relief under a Democratic administration from the injustices of the Smoot-Hawley Act."

She also promised the Democratic Party would "attack with courage, honesty of purpose, and vigor, the farm problem."

In her assault on Republican "extravagance," Mrs. Norton said the Commerce Department expenditures had jumped from thirty to six-

ANOTHER TINY BABE

Crane, Mo., April 13.—(AP)—Charles Bernard St. John, Kansas City's one-pound baby, has little Billie Jean Henderson as a pacesetter in the race of life.

Billie Jean also weighed one pound at birth. That was March 7. Passing the age of one month, he now weighs two pounds.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Henderson, say he has normal characteristics and is heading rapidly toward manly vigor.

Charles F. must wait a week before the trip to the scales which will show that twelve meals a day—one tablespoonful of milk for each—have done for him since his birth, April 4.

The doctor told his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William St. John, he could not stand the exposure and handling just now.

Both fathers are 18 years old. Both mothers are 17.

FALLS TO DEATH

New York, April 13.—(AP)—John J. Mobley, of Houston, Texas, general counsel for the Missouri Pacific railroad, was killed early today when he fell or jumped from a ninth floor window of the Hotel Pennsylvania.

Mobley was about 55. He registered at the hotel at 6:50 o'clock last night with a friend, John H. Shary, of Mission, Texas, who took an adjoining room. The two men, Shary said, visited a local club last night returning to the hotel early today.

Both retired to their rooms and Shary was in bed when informed of Mobley's death. He said his friend had seemed in good spirits.

Police did not list the case as a suicide, the record reading "fell or jumped."

COLD IN WEST

Cleveland, April 13.—(AP)—The weather man substituted a near-blizzard for April showers today.

Temperatures were at freezing levels and a strong wind off Lake Erie drove a steady snowfall before it. Streets were glazed with ice and minor traffic accidents were numerous. The snowstorm extended as far west as Toledo.

The Weather Bureau, however, said spring was "just around the corner" and predicted rising temperatures today and tomorrow.

UNWARRANTED STOCK CUTS FATAL, SAYS RAY

Manchester Manufacturer Says Industry Has Lost Head In Trying To Meet Unusual Situations—Sees Pendulum Near Limit of Its Swing From Normal.

Charles Ray

Charles Ray, president of the Rogers Paper Manufacturing Company who has rapidly earned a reputation for being a progressive and alert manufacturer in Connecticut, has struck a keynote in analyzing manufacturing and for that matter, business conditions in general. He also has a number of suggestions for the betterment of business which are well worth considering. Mr. Ray has given considerable thought and attention to the whole matter and believing that he has drawn some valuable conclusions, he has been prevailed upon to make them public.

There is no question but what big business, little business, manufacturers and for that matter, everyone, have been driven by fear to the abandonment of reasonable plans. The public has been asked to stop hoarding and put their money in circulation again and likewise it is time to ask business to stop the same methods to help put merchandise in circulation again. We most certainly need a restoration of common sense and reasonable conditions. As matters now stand, the manufacturers big and small and business houses are carrying on without reasonable programs. They are jumping helter-skelter from one idea to another. They are so gripped by fear that they are trying to see into the future six months in advance before attempting to give a decision on a present day project that only needs good judgment.

"Let me go into detail in just one instance in manufacturing. I know for a fact that the industries in this country are running with a stock that is just one jump ahead of zero. What is the result? They get a small order and they immediately beset all the allied industries who may have a hand in turning out some part with rush orders, asking for delivery in a length of time which if they were to give some consideration to the matter, they would know was absolutely impossible. This same lack of reasoning is followed all through the whole matter, there is an interchange of telegrams and telephone calls that all go to add to the cost of production and avail nothing except to upset the personnel of the various organizations involved.

Face the Facts
For his and many other reasons industry and business need courageous reason to face the present situation as it is and make the most of it. It is time to forget the years of prosperity that have recently passed and face the facts as they are, and from this chaos build up a stable and firm foundation; check unemployment if possible and prepare the way for some future increase in employment. No one knows how long it will take to get out of this hole, but it is certain that business and industry must adopt a sane, common sense program that will mean, for example, that manufacturers can operate with more certainty in producing standard and needed merchandise. Likewise by this same token, industry and business can 'restock their shelves' in a reasonable ratio with present rate of production with staple merchandise and in doing this it will go a long way towards stabilizing the whole economic situation."

At this point we wish to quote from a letter which Mr. Ray sent to Julius Klein, Secretary, Department of Commerce:
"I believe everything which has been said to the man in the street who withdrew his money from circulation should have been said and that it was wise to give first emphasis to the need that this money be returned to circulation.

Need of Progress
"Now that this movement has been launched, however, and has been attended by a substantial measure of success, I am of the opinion that it would be wise to properly and strongly present to banks and industrial companies their obligation, opportunity and responsibility to take some forward steps which would really help to make effective the promises which have been made regarding benefits to be gained by returning hoarded money to circulation.
"On the whole, those of us who have the responsibility of leading in industry have not shown more courage than the hoarder who withdrew his money from circulation for, while we have not withdrawn funds from circulation, we have indulged in hoarding to the limit in practically every other way open to us.

No Profit
"In most manufacturing industries, including our own, it is impossible today to sell at a profit because the necessary volume is lacking but the situation is made much worse because of failure to carry reasonable stocks on hand. This means that not only are we buying at prices that are lower than reasonable but, at the same time, specifying delivery in small quantities and by methods which further increase the expense of the seller. Quick turnover of capital is wise and low inventories are to be desired, but the practices followed today are utterly unreasonable and will be changed with any return toward normal. The point I wish to make is that influence should be ex-such extremes in delaying orders that they are penalizing themselves through extra telephone, telegraph or delivery charges, in order to get supplies when needed. Production schedules are upset because required materials are not available and substitute materials must sometimes be used to disadvantage and with resulting increased cost.

Change of view
"The pendulum in this matter has swung so far that changes for the better are bound to be made. The present seems an opportune time for a national movement under the right auspices and, in fairness to the small depositor and the worker, something should be done in this line.
"My attitude is not that my own company is right and everyone else wrong. We are guilty of the same unreasonable extremes with our suppliers as our customers practice with us; therefore, the need and opportunity seems to be for leadership and direction from sources high enough to encourage all of us to change."
The Department of Commerce in answering Mr. Ray's letter says:
"You are absolutely correct in stating the manufacturers and dealers are reducing stocks to an unreasonable low level and that if they would find it possible to even carry stocks at a reasonable ratio to the present rate of production, this would result in a considerable revival of business."
Talks to Senator
Mr. Ray has also been in communication with Senator Hiram Bingham of Connecticut and here-with is given the proposals which Mr. Ray personally handed to Senator Bingham at the time the Senator attended the Chamber of Commerce banquet.

"I propose a national campaign under leadership of the President involving cooperation of our national business leaders to restore carrying stocks at a reasonable ratio to the present rate of production. Such a campaign at this time appears to be necessary and opportune."
"1. Because it is a logical step in following up work of the organization at present headed by Colonel Knox. It is a fact that manufacturers and dealers have reduced stocks to an unreasonable low level, and restoration to a reasonable ratio would increase employment as promised by the leaders of the anti-hoarding campaign.
"2. The present practice in ordering materials and control of inventories is uneconomical for all concerned.
"3. Prices have been reduced to such an extent that practically no risk in this respect would be taken by restoring more normal procedure.
"4. Present unreasonable practices apparently represent the extreme swing of the pendulum and exist largely because of determination and pressure to see how far we could go in a given direction. Fear and unreason have been large factors in bringing about the present situation.
Restore Common Sense
"5. If we are to do business wisely even on the present low level, we must restore reasonable and economical practice. Carrying stocks at a reasonable ratio to the present rate of production would be an important step in restoring confidence. We must find ourselves and begin to do business in reasonable ways as if the present conditions were to continue before we can expect improvement.

"6. Improvement does not appear to be immediately ahead of us and such a campaign as I propose may have great value as an offset to increase in unemployment."

C. L. Eyanson, assistant to the President of the Manufacturers Association of Connecticut, assures Mr. Ray that E. Kent Hubbard, President of the Association, has also become very interested in Mr. Ray's proposals and is going to talk the matter over with Secretary Klein of the Department of Commerce and also with Senator Bingham. Mr. Eyanson has already talked the matter over with Senator Bingham.

POSTOFFICE NAME

If the matter involved the expenditure of an extra nickel by the federal government we should hesitate long before we entered a word of protest against the Postoffice Department's decision—perhaps only a tentative one—to designate the new postal headquarters in this town as the "South Manchester Postoffice."

There is no such geographical or political division as South Manchester. There is, by general acceptance, a region to which that designation has been applied in a vague sort of way for many years; but no man can name its boundaries and none can quote an authority other than custom for the employment of the term.

The new office will serve the whole town with the exception of what the department regards as the rural districts. Its service will extend from the northern to the southern limits of the township. The people of Union Village and upper Oakland street will be just as much within its area of service as those of Park street.

It is entirely possible that the Postoffice Department is without exact information as to this situation. It may not realize that there is no geographical South Manchester and that it is planning to designate its office according to a condition which served well enough in the case of the present South Manchester office but which will have ceased to exist when the two offices are combined.

MAJOR ERUPTIONS Nature never puts on such a stupendous show as when she pulls the trigger on a major volcanic eruption. And the current series of disturbances in the Andes gives indications of being the biggest manifestation of the kind since the famous explosion of Krakatoe in 1883, a reflex of which in the form of the celebrated yellow days occurring some weeks later many old timers hereabouts can well remember. It may be that the present Andean phenomenon will prove to be as tremendous as that one, possibly even greater.

Krakatoe was a volcanic island in Sunda straits between Java and Sumatra. Its highest point rose 1,400 feet above the sea. In August, 1883, Krakatoe began to fume and erupt. Nobody lived on the island and there was nothing about the demonstration to excite unusual attention. But beginning on the 16th and lasting for three days the lonely island volcano staged a performance that the world has been talking about, now and then, ever since. The 27th was the big day of all. Four incredibly violent explosions occurred. They blew practically the whole island into the air. They were heard—and that was a long time before radio was even thought of—as far away as the Philippine islands, 1,460 miles; at points in Ceylon over 2,000 miles distant; in Australian regions varying from 1,300 to 2,200 miles away, and even at Rodriguez, 3,000 miles off in the Indian Ocean.

Instead of the island there was left a hole in the bottom of the sea a thousand feet deep. So much of its structure material was hurled through the air that forests of adjacent islands were completely buried and new islets were built up in the straits. A column of stones, dust and ashes rose to a height of 17 miles. And so enormous was the volume of volcanic dust and so small were the particles resulting from the violence of the explosions that it spread practically all over the earth. It took some six weeks for the dust clouds to diffuse themselves throughout the earth's atmosphere but they did a thorough job.

So far as the books tell us there was no particular ill effect upon populations from the Krakatoe emissions of dust and gases, and the latter must have been at least as voluminous as in the present Andean eruptions. So there probably is no reason to apprehend, even if the prediction should hold good that we are in for a vast series of volcanic outbreaks, that the earth's atmosphere will be poisoned and the race subjected to epidemics and what not.

Just the same those of us who live a long way from the volcano chain will probably feel for a while that we are plenty near enough to it.

CONSOLIDATION

The question to be determined by the voters of Manchester at the polls next Tuesday is the simple one of school consolidation. There is no other topic to complicate it. No proposal to consolidate fire districts or to merge control of other public services now in the hands of chartered districts. There will be but one key to tilt on the voting machines, the "Yes" or the "No."

The decision will have to do with schools and schools alone. It will be as to whether Manchester is to conduct its schools as one town or as eight different towns acting under a confused and confusing combination where each little town exercises certain authorities and a central authority exercises others.

The equalization statutes of the state of Connecticut constitute a positive guarantee that the interests of each present district will be completely safeguarded in the event of consolidation. It is impossible for any district to be "stung." And there can hardly be a question about the consolidated system being more economical than the district system.

NEW BRITAIN STRAW The smashing victory gained by Mayor George A. Quigley of New Britain, who yesterday received the largest majority that he—four times mayor already—or any other mayorally candidate ever received in that city, is something to knock the breath out of the theory that this is necessarily a "bad year for Republicans." Not only Mr. Quigley but the whole Republican city ticket received big pluralities and that party gained two seats in the Common Council.

lon, a veteran in public service, had expected to profit greatly from the traditional reaction against the party in national power in hard times. In fact, it is suspected that they had looked to the New Britain election for much of inspiration in their efforts to carry the state next fall. They will have to seek that inspiration elsewhere.

Mayor Quigley had convinced the people of his city, through his official deeds, that he was diligent and highly intelligent in furthering their interests. He had exercised a wise and earnest leadership in municipal economy and in unemployment relief. He had satisfied his community that he was sincere and dependable and that he would do for them all that any mayor could possibly do. He had, in spite of the extraordinary expenditures for the jobs, actually reduced the tax rate a little. The voters knew better than to blame him for the unhappy fact that business was bad and work scarce. So, instead of foolishly taking their hard luck out on the city administration, they very shrewdly voted it into continued authority.

If the people of so large a city as New Britain react in this way to honest efforts to do the best that can be done under the circumstances, what reason is there, after all, for expecting that the people of the state and of the country will react very differently next fall?

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington

$4000 OF NEW TAX WILL BE SPENT FOR WATER BY RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Writer

Washington. — The money raised by the taxes now being increased so heavily will buy, among other things, about $4,000 worth of sparkling mineral water for senatorial stomachs.

In 1931 the Senate ordered and consumed, at public expense, about 415 cases of White Rock, Appollonia, Poland water and the like at a cost of $394.69. At least, that's the way I add it up from the records, counting in the credits for return of empty bottles, some of which were lost.

Also in the last fiscal year there was a charge of $2.50 for "nickel-plating five bottle openers for cloak rooms at 50 cents each." Most of the fizz-water is consumed in cloak rooms.

18 New Mugs! And in the Senate barber shop, where hair cuts, shaves and other beautifications are free. Changing name on one shaving mug—75 cents. Eighteen new mugs—$27. Three blackhead removers—45 cents. (Grand chance for someone to demand fewer blackhead removers and more block head removers.)

The report on expenses from the Senate's contingent fund doesn't specify which senators use the mugs or which the blackhead removers. There are also such items as $179.70 and $205.95 for supplies from the Union Beauty and Barber Supply, Inc.

$12,500 for Folding Speeches Other little Senate expense items include: Seventy-two chair pads for Senate at 78 cents each. Replacing hot water urn, senators' lavatory—$10. Replacing several mirrors, especially in the office of the secretary of the Senate, at from $75 to $100 apiece.

Folding 12,500,000 copies of speeches at $1 a thousand—$12,500. Georgeanna Higgins, for "doing miscellaneous sewing for the U. S. Senate," many days at $3.50 a day.

Mirror, $265 Mirror for Naval Affairs Committee—$265. Shoe shine stand for senators' lavatory—$108. (Plus $3.25 for its rubber mat).

Other shoe shine packages of Copenhagen snuff for Senate floor—$1.16. For a senator's funeral: Telegrams to 87 honorary pallbearers—$47.75.

Seven pairs of gloves for bearers—$4. Use of 19 automobiles—$40. Use of three trucks for flowers—$15. Ten dozen boxes tan shoe paste—$13.50.

"For payment in full for repairs to auto of Whitney Leary damaged accidentally by collision with the Buick automobile of the secretary of the Senate—$191.29."

For reporting Senate debates—$60.340. A Bag for Curtis, $1450. Fixing up the vice president's room—Walt portieres for washstand alcove—$102.95. Two pairs velvet window draperies—$473. One easy velvet-covered chair—$119. One rayon rug, 18 by 15 feet—$1450.

For the marble room: Five Tenisk rug—$715. Guns for Capitol police at $21 apiece. Eighty-six uniform coats remodeled—$258. Refinishing and repairing 17 badges—$15.50. Refinishing president's limousine: Average of 161 gallons of gasoline a month at 24 cents, about $38.68 monthly for gas alone. New car $7195, with $2195 allowance for the old one. Chauffeur, $1920 a year; chauffeur's uniforms, $60 and $25, gloves, $4; oil, sponges, chamol, chesecloth, wiping cloths, brushes, soap, whisk broom, greasings, repairs, etc., at varying sums. Allowance for maintenance—$4000. Six female attendants, ladies' retiring room—each $1500 a year.

Business Bugged Down By Trench Complex, New Idea

Head of New York Concern Compares Inaction With Dug-in Period of the World War.

(From the house organ of the Charles E. Badaux Company of New York is reprinted the following article written by Douglas S. Keogh, president of the company. We believe its assaults on the "digging in" policy are justifiable. There is too much covering-up, too little of courage, not enough valorous willingness to try new ways when old ways have proven futile. Mr. Keogh's simile of the trenches is too good to lose.—Ed.)

OUT OF YOUR DUG-OUT,

American business seems to have maneuvered itself into a state of mind similar to that which marked the Allied and German high commands after about three years of the World War. They had struggled valiantly but vainly for a decisive victory. Then they became stalemated. Fearful that any attempt at a major advance would be turned into disastrous retreat, they adopted the strategy of the timid and ordered their armies to dig in and stay put. Except for occasional raids into no-man's-land to relieve the monotony, there they lay in the trenches, month after month, maintaining the idea fixe and the status quo. Meanwhile, in their bomb-proof headquarters far in the rear, the generals had dug themselves in, mentally, just as surely as their troops were dug in along the front lines. Their brains, their initiative, their will to accomplish were in trenches.

The combatants might have lain there to this day, for all I know, if one of the Allied generals had not broken the spell with the declaration that "the war will never be won in trenches." "We've got to make a break," he said. "We must get into the open and fight, not with hand grenades and mortars but with rifles and bayonets. That's what counts, and generals are for to fight!" The Allied generals accepted this view. They roused their brains, and their troops, from the trenches. The rest is history.

Has American business quit trying to break the third year of the World Depression, have we given up hope of breaking through? Arou't we in the trenches right now? Afraid to thrust forward for fear we'll be driven back? Hoarding our ammunition? Resting on our arms? Our big guns silent, except

HEALTH DIET ADVICE Dr. Frank Mc Coy says "The Best Way to Health" QUESTIONS IN REGARD TO HEALTH DIET WILL BE ANSWERED BY MAIL IF YOU CAN BE ASSISTED IN CASE OF THIS PAPER. (PLEASE FORWARD ANSWERS TO THE EDITOR)

MAKE CHILDREN HEALTHIER In important foods for some time and can easily make it up later by right eating, but if the child is stunted, he will thereafter show the lack in his bony structure. The repair of defective bones takes a long time and in many cases is never possible. The child is growing and foods for growth are vital.

Undoubtedly, the one most important factor in building the healthy child is food. You must first of all feed him right if you would have a child with rosy cheeks, sturdy lips, firm flesh, a child who stands as straight as a sapling, grows steadily and plays with zest. Other factors enter in but food comes first.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Stretched Knee Ligaments) Question: Mr. Arthur T. writes: "I hurt my knee by a fall three years ago. It twisted under me and has hurt several times since. The doctors told me to rest because it was sprained ligaments and, but when walking down the street and hurts so much I cannot walk. Tried electrical treatments and massage. I wear a bandage all the time. I am quite heavy on my feet. Kindly let me know what I should do." Answer: Your undoubtedly stretched the ligaments in your knee joint as the result of your first fall. This is the reason your knee ligaments continue to get out of place so readily. There is not much that can be done for this condition, except to rest and to strain the ligaments in any way so that the ligaments will not get out of place. If you can do this for two or three years, the ligaments will tend to go back to normal size. Each time you pull your knee out before getting the ligaments back to normal they are again stretched. For this reason I would advise you to wear an athletic knee support and avoid exercises which might injure the knee. You should also reduce your weight to slightly below normal so as to avoid additional weight. The use of 8 to 10 minutes, followed by cold showers for 5 minutes, will assist in toning up the tissues. This treatment may be taken daily.

CHILDREN UNDER-NOURISHED Yet our children, with all their advantages, are too often lacking in the health which might be theirs. For example, a million American school children are under-nourished. We see too many civilized children with black, rotten holes in teeth which should be like shining white marble; we see too many children who are thin and pale with growth arrested; we see too many children instead of being as they ought to be, filled with energy and liveliness as would be seen enough for ten. We see half a million children who present problems in misbehavior, children who form material for gangsters. We see too many children of white and pasty complexions, with flabby flesh, due to stuffing them on cheap carbohydrates, and starving them for meats, eggs, milk, fruit and green leafy vegetables. Children are somewhat like trees. Both leave records of their growth and have little or no laxative effect and you can tell from the rings in the trunk whether it had many bad years; so it is with children, but in the child the record is written in the bones. Lack of the needed bone builders such as found in the food of a child's bones and teeth, he digested and have little or no laxative effect. The use of a bone-building which should have gone on during the lack will show up stunted.

X-RAYS FOR DIAGNOSIS A doctor can take x-ray pictures of a child's bones and tell whether the child was fed so that his bones could grow right, or whether he was cheated out of bone-building foods. Lack of the right food and sun during the growing period will produce a deformity of the bone which is lasting. In this children differ from grown-ups. An adult can be stunted

BARGAIN NIGHTS IN MANHATTAN CABARETS! Cut-Rate Cut-Up New York, April 13.—Tip to visiting frenes who intend to make the night spot rounds while in New York: It's now possible to go bargain hunting for cabarets and floor-show dining places!

Empty tables are now listed on the cut-rate ticket board at Joe LeBlanc's, same as theater seats. One of the largest dancing, dining, and girl-ogling spots dropped recently from $2 per seat, plus food, to $1.25. About a dozen cafe-type places are listed on "rainy nights." And has this been a rainy season?

Characters in "The Great Day" Find They Can't Back Down On Bargains. The man who sells his soul never thinks that it's for keeps. He always figures that sooner or later, when he has made his pile, he'll be able to get his soul back again, wipe the mud off of it and live the kind of life that his self-respect requires.

John Chapman, newest of the New York column scribblers, tells me of one to be seen in a Third Avenue store. It seems that some petty thieves broke the store window and stole quite a supply of wares. Next day, a sign appeared: "Will the gentleman who was here last night please come back and get his extra pair of trousers?"

PARODIES ON LOCAL EVENTS HIT OF SHOW

Kiwanians Burlesque Town Politics, Chamber, Post Office Last Night.

Music and songs featured the sixth annual presentation of the Kiwanis Minstrels at the High School Auditorium last night and an audience of about 700 persons were treated to an hilarious two hour program that ran a gamut of burlesque and burlesque centered on local events and people.

Parodies Clever
Songs there were in great variety, popular songs, standard songs, parodies, negro spirituals, sacred songs, classical songs and what have you. The highlights of the show were clever parodies on the hits of the day, "Now's the Time to Fall in Love" and "Crosby, Columbo and Vallee," poking fun at the post office controversy, the Lord Mayor's visit to Manchester last October, the Chamber of Commerce ground breaking ceremonies at the post office site, taxes and the Reaction Centers petition. The "Crosby, Columbo and Vallee" number was parodied into "Ferguson, Hyde and Johnson," taking a dig at the Republican Party; "Williams, Spies and Bowers," a slam at the Tax-payers' League and "Murphy, McHale and Dolan," a parting shot at the Democratic element.

Burlesques
Another outstanding feature of the Minstrel was the clever take-off on the recent Republican caucus, a nonsensical burlesque that kept the audience roaring with laughter for fifteen minutes. Permission was asked to hold a meeting of the Liberal Party in the hall. This was granted and Harlowe Willis was elected moderator and Elmer Thiemes, clerk. Then followed parodies by Helge Pearson, who made a plea for fair play and left the hall in a huff; Arthur Knofia challenging the gentlemen from the south named "Levy" to contract bridge or pinocle; C. Elmore Watkins haranguing long and loud on economy, despite the protests of the moderator.

Minstrel Show
The end men did splendid work last night and proved efficient soloists. The Minstrel half of the show opened with the singing of the theme song, "Minstrel Days Are Here Again," by the entire Kiwanian chorus, garbed in tuxedos. The Minstrel got off to a fast start when a member of the chorus turned in a false alarm that brought the Dark Town Fire Brigade to the scene on a step ladder and hose were brought into play, before the false alarm was discovered. The firemen then settled down to a game of craps, despite the fact that a real fire had broken out in the meantime. Chief "Al Joy" arrived and took charge and with the assistance of Policeman E. J. McCabe, it was found that the smoke emanated from a cigar.

Many Songs
John I. Olson sang "Let's Have Another Cup of Coffee," followed by Harlowe Willis singing "Now's the Time to Fall in Love," with the already mentioned parodies. Elmer Thiemes contributed a negro spiritual "The Promised Land" and Helge E. Pearson sang "Crosby, Columbo and Vallee" with several parodies. Another spiritual "There's One More River to Cross," was dedicated to the Rec petition and the next one "I Couldn't Hear Nobody Pray," brought a flood of epithets on well known local people.

Much Applause
The Minstrel was interspersed with specialty acts, opening with a xylophone solo by Tony O'Bright. George Smith played a banjo solo and Baby Theresa Thrall, four year old tap dancer received an ovation in two dance numbers. Elmer Thiemes showed his versatility as an eccentric dancer and responded to an encore. The audience was in a most receptive mood last night and every offering was applauded to the utmost.

Quimby As Interlocutor
Clarence P. Quimby as interlocutor kept the show moving speedily at all times and jokes flew thick and fast between the antics of the end men and the specialty acts. The Kiwanian chorus ably assisted in putting over the various solos by the end men, coming in on the sections and choruses of each number. As a concluding number of the program, C. Elmore Watkins sang "Put That Sun Back in the Sky," in a unalike that brought an end to one of the most enjoyable and successful shows ever presented by the Kiwanis Club. Al Pearson's Serenaders furnished music for the show.

G Cief Concert
The show opened exactly on time at 8:15 o'clock with a concert by the G Cief Glee Club under the direction of Helge Pearson. The popularity of the club was attested to by the great volume of applause that greeted each number. G. Albert Pearson, widely known bass soloist, sang two numbers, "Captain Stratton's Fancy," and "Clorinda" which were roundly applauded. He also sang with the G Cief in its last number.

THAT POST OFFICE
Oh we want an Office
Yes we want an Office
What are we to do for Mail
Oh we have got signers
Yes plenty of signers
But all of this without avail
Will we have to take a run way over South
Just to put a little letter in the pouch
It may be some Cheaper
But we will be weaker
Walking that long Mile for Mail.

THE LORD MAYOR
Oh, Meet the Lord Mayor
Meet the great Lord Mayor
He's a friend of E. J. Holl's
He's sly and married
And always well Carried
His Head is very very Bald.
Hire yourself a nice big cutaway frock
Just get one by putting your best suit in hook
And meet the Lord Mayor
The one great Lord Mayor
All the way from Manchester.

PAY YOUR TAXES
Oh, Please pay your taxes!
Yes pay up your taxes!
Now's the time to pay your tax.
Oh Clarence and Georgie and even poor Sammie.
Are looking very very vexed,
Rush right up and take the check out of your pocket
It will help to beat this old depression racket;
So please pay your taxes,
Yes pay up your taxes!
Now's the time to pay your tax!

FERGUSON, HYDE AND JOHNSON
A party is run by many men,
But I know only three,
Ferguson, Hyde and Johnson.
They had a caucus in this hall
To pick a com-mit-tee,
Ferguson, Hyde and Johnson.
These politicians have votes right in their hands.
The Republicans will never sing their swan song.
Vote as you will
But this I know
The ones who will decide are
Ferguson, Hyde and Johnson.

MURPHY, McHALE AND DOLAN
The Democrats don't make much noise,

But there are three in view,
Murphy, McHale and Dolan.
They think Smith or Roosevelt
Will surely pull them through,
Murphy, McHale and Dolan.
Prescriptions, teeth or ears,
They'll fill 'em up, my dears,
And tell you that the country needs
a new hand,
No local stuff to bother them,
Their eyes on Washington,
Murphy, McHale and Dolan.

WILLIAMS, SPIESS AND BOWERS
Taxpayers' League has bosses too,
But I know only three,
Williams, Spiess and Bowers.
They argue and they canvass
But they never can agree,
Williams, Spiess and Bowers.
They say the electric light, will never treat us right,
So they will furnish gas to warm our houses.
So every time you turn the switch
Who are you thinking of?
Williams, Spiess and Bowers.

LICENSES SUSPENDED
A list of operators whose licenses to drive automobiles in Connecticut have been suspended for one year because of a conviction for driving while under the influence of liquor was given out today at the State Motor Vehicle Department as a part of the effort to reduce this highway menace. The department statement advised people to notify the department of the police in case they should see any of these drivers operating motor vehicles.

EX-PREMIER CAILLAUX FAVORS SILVER PARLEY

Washington, April 13 — (AP) — Joseph Caillaux, former premier of France, in a letter received today by Chairman Somers, expressed himself as in "complete agreement" with the House coinage committee's advocacy of an international monetary conference. He said he was in complete agreement with the "initiative which you have taken in demanding the calling of a conference which would fully study the monetary question. "Without desiring to sit in judgment on the different systems suggested to improve the instrument of exchanges—which is a controversial matter—I admit, and without suggesting a solution, I maintain that it is urgent to examine the problem from its every angle, because it dominates the prices from which the world is suffering." Caillaux, a former finance minister also, added. After receiving Caillaux's letter, the committee continued its study of silver and monetary metals, hearing John Hanney, chairman of the executive committee of the American Society of Practical Economists.

DRIVES DRUNK, HITS CROSS TOWN BUS

Tobacco Worker In Sorry Plight After Spree; Other Cases Today.

Alfred J. LaChance, tobacco worker, of Windsor street, was before the Manchester town court this morning charged with driving an automobile truck under the influence of intoxicants and with operating an automobile with defective brakes.

LaChance reached court today via the accident route. He was driving out of Hilliard street into Main street at seven o'clock last night.

Upon investigation, however, Patrolman Joseph Prentice found that LaChance was intoxicated to a considerable degree. He further investigated and found the brakes on the truck were useless.

Despite LaChance's plight the court could show no leniency to him because of the condition in which he drove the truck. Baranovsky was shown no sympathy since he has been employed by the town.

Frank J. Edgar, who was arrested yesterday morning for making a disturbance at his home at Spruce and School streets, was given a suspended jail sentence of 10 days.

In court today Edgar agreed to leave his folks' home and not create a disturbance there any more.

Judge Johnson took into consideration the fact that Edgar is receiving government aid and might lose it if sent to jail so consequently placed him on probation instead.

William F. Dettenborn, of 63 Freeman street, Hartford, again asked for a continuance of his case, charged with speeding, saying his attorney could not come to court today.

Public Defender W. W. Gager, for Mahoney said he was victim of circumstances. On the day of the holdup, he said the Waterbury police had a tip that a man named Becket wanted in another part of the state for a shooting was in hiding on North Elm street.

A detective asked Mahoney to go up there and look around. He did so and reported no signs of the wanted man but was sent back to hang around. He did so, and started to drink and then Attorney Gager said the robbery plans were made.

HOME BUILDERS HEAR CECILIAN CLUB MUSIC

The Home Builders of the South Methodist church met in the Ladies' Parlor last evening and enjoyed a rare treat. The Cecilian club led by Thomas Waxwell, sang three selections with fine effect during the evening.

Giles Vickerman gave an interesting talk on the British Isles, illustrated by 200 beautiful colored slides. He has crossed the Atlantic nine times and he began by showing a view of the South Methodist church from which place he started when he made his last tour.

Pictures were shown of prominent buildings in these countries. Especially picturesque were the views of rural England, with its thatched cottages, lovely flower gardens and sheep and cattle forming a part of the picture.

At the close of the address, Miss Lillian Black sang a solo, "In the Garden of Tomorrow," accompanied by Miss Theodora Maxwell on the piano.

URGES BEER TAX TO EVEN BUDGET

A complete plan as an entire substitute for the House bill, I must refer you to the program submitted to the ways and means committee or to the ways and means committee bill, which I declared to be acceptable to this department. Either of these plans is preferable to the measure now before you.

If, however, the Senate finance committee decides to deal with the problem by taking the House bill as the basis of the revenue which it will recommend to the Senate, and I am not to be understood as opposed to such a course, then I shall, of course, be only too glad to cooperate with the committee in any way I can in attempting to perfect this measure, and shall hold myself in readiness to appear before you at any time you may call upon me.

M. D. Moeschler, executive chairman of the Associated Dress Industries and the United Women's Wear League, opposed a sales tax.

"Added burdens on the manufacturers' shoulders will certainly prevent a revival of business," he said. Norman Thomas, of New York, former Socialist candidate for president, urged the committee to provide for unemployment relief in balancing the budget.

New York Helpless. Local governments, he added, cannot take care of the unemployment situation. He cited New York as an example, saying it did not have a dollar for relief.

Thomas urged that the revenue total of the House bill should be increased. James A. Emery, counsel for the National Association of Manufacturers, proposed that beer be legalized and taxed to produce $270,000,000 annually.

The National Dry Goods Association, through Harold R. Young, its Washington representative, expressed opposition "to every form of sales tax."

DEMANDS A PROBE OF ROOSEVELT FUND

Robinson of Indiana asked Senator Dickinson (R., Iowa), before the Democrats broke up the speech whether he hoped for early action on his resolution directing a Senate investigation of presidential and Senatorial campaign funds.

Dickinson said the resolution was before the elections committee and had been delayed because of the Hefflin-Bankhead Senatorial election contest before the committee. He added he hoped for early authorization of the inquiry.

Robinson, of Indiana, had just begun a recital of the court action filed by P. F. Kenny in New York alleging that notes aggregating $70,000 were signed by him in 1928 upon the assurance of Democratic Chairman Rankin that the signers would never be held responsible, when the Democrats broke in.

RAILROAD PLANS A NOVEL SERVICE

(Continued from Page One) town. In this manner, the railroad announcement stated, the Boston and Maine seeks to regain its own less-than-carload freight traffic, and at the same time assist each community by helping local truckmen who also are being hard pressed by outside highway competition.

The communities selected for the start of the experiment are larger places along the Boston and Maine lines in New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Maine. If there is a demand for extension to other places, the railroad's plan is to extend from time to time.

Details of Service. In offering this new type of railroad freight service in the east, the Boston and Maine will pick-up and deliver less-than-carload freight at the customer's doorway or platform. The railroad's agent in each community will handle pick-up requests. Service will be overnight between practically all the communities selected to start it.

The cities and towns included in the start of the experiment are: Massachusetts: Amesbury, Arlington, Athol, Belmont, Beverly, Boston, Cambridge, Chelsea, Chicopee, Clinton, Danvers, Easthampton, Everett, Fitchburg, Gardner, Gloucester, Greenfield, Haverhill, Holyoke, Lawrence, Lowell, Lynn, Malden, Marlboro, Medford, Melrose, Methuen, Newburyport, North Adams, Northampton, Peabody, Revere, Salem, Saugus, Somerville, Springfield, Stoneham, Wakefield, Waltham, Watertown, Waverly, Winchester, Woburn, and Worcester.

New Hampshire: Berlin, Claremont, Concord, Dover, Keene, Lebanon, Manchester, Nashua, Portsmouth, and Rochester. Maine: Biddeford, Portland and Springvale.

OPEN FORUM

SOUTH (?) MANCHESTER Editor Herald:

I was much surprised, even somewhat shocked, to read in the Herald, that the fine Federal Building about to be erected for a postoffice for Manchester, Conn., was to be called South Manchester.

Are the residents of Manchester so ashamed of the name of their town that they wish to tack a prefix on to it?

As there never was, and never will be a town of South Manchester why change the name now? South Manchester is merely one of five different postoffices in various parts of Manchester.

A part of the town of Bolton is sometimes called South Bolton. Perhaps it would be a good plan for Bolton to follow the example of a large and much more enlightened town, and petition the authorities at Washington to name their postoffice South Bolton. E. W. ATWOOD.

The Wapping Parent-Teachers' association held their regular meeting last Monday afternoon with nineteen present. After the regular business meeting, Miss Eida Matchelot exhibited quite a display of her art work. She is a graduate of the Hartford Art school. This was followed by a very interesting and instructive talk on the low cost of the food budget by Miss Beatrice Hall of the Connecticut Food and Dairy Council, who illustrated her talk by pictures. Quite a number are planning to attend the Hartford county field meeting which will be held at the Wetherfield High school under the auspices of the Wetherfield Parent-Teachers' association next Wednesday, April 13.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Snow and daughter, Marion L. Snow, motored to Andover last Sunday to the home of Mrs. Snow's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bishop.

"Henry's Wedding" is now ready for presentation. This show is to be staged April 14 in Wapping Grange hall and on April 15 in South Windsor Town hall by a cast of 125 local people. Henry (George Bush) has bought the marriage license and he and his bride (Mrs. Raymond Belcher) are anxiously awaiting the arrival of Rev. Turnpseed (John Curtin) to tie the matrimonial knot. Jack (Luther Burnham), Ted (John Reardon), and Has

(Henry Hartnett), together with three girls (Rhoda Fairbanks, Ethel Sayet and Louise Burnham), are also greatly excited. Susan (Mrs. H. Miller), and Lawyer Brains (Alfred Stone) are trying to decide what to do about the whole affair, and Eliza (Mrs. Nathan Miller) and her lazy husband (Howard Burger), are baking and sweeping for the great event. O'Flarity (Nathan Miller) and his assistant, Migs (Truman Hills), are on the track of the two Chicago bandits (Floyd Cotton and Emil Maslak), and a great deal of excitement is anticipated when they are captured. This production is an uproaring farce comedy.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene W. Platt and two children motored to Andover last Sunday where they spent the day with Mrs. Platt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Frink.

Electric Refrigerator Show Thursday, Friday and Saturday

ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR SHOW OPENS TOMORROW

Latest Models To Be Displayed At Former Home Bank Site Tomorrow, Friday and Saturday—12 Dealers Cooperating.

The Manchester Electric Company will conduct the annual electric refrigerator spring demonstration Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week in cooperation with 12 of Manchester's refrigerator dealers. The show will be held from 10 o'clock to 9 p. m., daily, in the former Home Bank and Trust Company on Main street.

Better Features
New models and new and better features in the large line of electric refrigerators, will be shown by the attendants during the three day event. Economy in operation, quick freezing, gleaming white porcelain, automatic lighting and automatic operation are some of the outstanding features to be shown prospective purchasers.

Montgomery Ward & Company will feature the Trukold refrigerator with the new reciprocating horizontal type unit, extremely quiet and with no belts, gears or fly-wheels to bother. The Trukold has but three moving parts, triple cushion mounted, and runs in a continual bath of oil. This box does not create radio interference.

Door Unique
The George E. Keith Company with the new Leonard electric refrigerator will add an extreme touch of modernness to the show with several distinctive features.

Outstanding among which is the Leona-door, a new door-opening feature, built-in at the base of the box. Other features in this new box are the vegetable crisper, ultra modern chromium plated hardware and an unique egg basket.

Other Models
Alfred Grezel will show the Mayflower, the new period-styling refrigerator with extra-thick insulation and colonial hardware.

Kemp's and Hillery will demonstrate the Frigidaire, presenting unusual features in lustrous, durable Moraine finish, acid-resisting inner porcelain and new self-sealing tray fronts.

Mason Wetherell offers for the season just opening, the Kelvinator with the world's fastest freezing record of 80 minutes, and the automatic 4-zone cold temperatures. Kelvinator has been in the refrigerating field 18 years, and built the first successful domestic electric refrigerator.

Potterton & Krah and Paul Lanz offer the Copeland refrigerator, using exclusively Frezcol (Isobutane) the most efficient refrigerant for domestic use. The use of Frezcol allows the use of a single-cylinder compressor, running at slow speed, for extra long life.

15 Features
Williams Ice-o-Matic refrigerator will be displayed by Johnson & Little. Ice-o-Matic has 15 great features, prominent among which is the possibility of placing the refrigerating unit either on top or below the cabinet.

Easler will display the economical Servel Hermetic refrigerator, requiring no attention. The simplified mechanism has been protected and sealed.

The General Electric all-steel refrigerator with the famous monitor top, easy-sliding shelves, acid-resisting interior and the three-year guarantee will be demonstrated by Benson & Welch.

John F. Barstow will present the new Majestic refrigerator, with the new rotary compressor capable of producing 70 pounds of ice melting effect in 24 hours. The Majestic comes in four new models in Elasto or porcelain enamel.

Demonstrations

Selections will be made by the National committee on arrangements at Chicago Saturday.

DOG EAT DOG
Los Angeles, Calif.—Mrs. Edna Dennis asked $18.50 of C. W. Woodward, owner of a dog which she asserted, bit her pet, Duke. Mrs. Dennis wanted the sum to pay for a beauty operation upon the nose of her shepherd dog. Judge Robert W. Kenny asserted that since the state's "one-bite" dog law was considered to apply to a human only, Woodward would not have to pay.

LEVITT LOSES LIGHTING CASE IN HIGH COURT

in such a way as fairly to appraise it of his claim, and upon an appeal from its order raise the issue before the court by proper pleading. The plaintiff is not a customer of the Connecticut Light & Power Company and regarded as a prospective customer he did not bring before the commission or the trial court the reasonableness of the general rate schedule of the company in such a way as to require it to be considered.

The decision of the Supreme Court sustains Judge Alfred C. Baldwin of Superior Court, who heard the appeal from the commission in Hartford and dismissed it.

The Connecticut Light & Power Company serves a considerable number of country towns and has established rates for its customers in them, with special provisions governing service where extension lines more than 600 feet in length are required. Under the latter provisions customers are served at the regular rates if they will agree to use a certain amount of electricity for each 100 feet of the extension or, if the customer does not wish to use that amount at an increase over the regular rate based upon the length of the extension beyond 600 feet; or, if the customer prefers, he may pay the company the cost of the extension in excess of 600 feet; and provision is then made for an adjustment of the charges if others are then or later served by the extension or street lights are installed on it.

Estimates of Cost
Mr. Levitt's home is upon a little used country road. The nearest service line of the company is 3000 feet away and between the line and the house are no other buildings which might require service. The next house beyond Mr. Levitt's is about 3000 feet away from it with no other possible users of electricity between. Construction of an extension line to the Levitt home would cost more than an ordinary line because it would have to run through woods and over rocky soil. The estimated cost is $1332.71, with $119.40 being the gross annual revenue at the regular rates charged by the company and the estimated annual expense of providing the service $151.21.

The electric company is in good financial condition and the construction of the extension and service to Mr. Levitt at the regular rates would not materially affect its financial structure or require a change in its present rate structure.

An examination of the numerous authorities cited by M. A. Levitt in his claim that the company was under a duty to build the extension and furnish him with service without expense to him or any additional charge beyond its regular rates is not substantiated by these authorities, the Supreme Court opinion says.

"A moment's consideration shows that the application of such a principle, at least as applied to a company with charter authority to serve a large rural area, would be impracticable. If the company were under a duty to build extensions so long as its financial or general rate structure was not affected, it could very likely for a time build extensions as they were requested. But a situation would inevitably be reached where the construction of further extensions would affect its financial and general rate structure. When that situation arose if its financial or general rate structure is not to be affected, two courses would be open, either to permit the company to refuse any further extension where service upon it considered by itself would entail a loss to the company or at that time to apply the very principle followed by the commission in this case, to require of the company thereafter to make only reasonable extensions.

Measurement of Duty
"The first alternative," says the court, "would be to discriminate between those desiring extensions solely upon the basis of the relative order in time at which their requests were made and the second, would, on the one hand, to a considerable extent make the same discrimination and, on the other, would merely postpone the application of the test of the reasonableness of requiring the particular extension. It is generally recognized that in determining whether or not a public service company is to be required to build an extension to serve a customer or customers the question is whether, in view of all the circumstances of the case, it is reasonable to compel it to do so. The question of a public service corporation's duty is not one which is determinable by the application of any such simple test as 'will the proposed new service be immediately self-supporting or remunerative?' Its duty is measured by what it ought reasonably to be called upon to do. The test sets up reasonableness as the standard, and in its application here as elsewhere it takes into account all relevant circumstances and his no definite or precise measure. It is clear, however, that in a case like the one before us, prospective future returns from the new undertaking is a factor not to be overlooked or passed over slightly."

The court did not rule on the reasonableness of the rates and conditions which the company had established for extensions to persons situated as Mr. Levitt is, holding that the question is not before the court and that the Superior Court was correct in restricting the issues to those which the commission found to have been presented to it.

"At the hearing before the commission the plaintiff sought to challenge the general rate structure of the company and renewed that effort before the trial court upon the appeal," the decision says. "Had the plaintiff been entitled to the extension he sought upon the basis of the regular rates established by the company, the reasonableness of those rates would only have been of moment as they might be involved in a determination of the reasonableness of the special rates established by the company for extensions beyond 600 feet from its service lines. But, as we have said, the question was not considered by the commission and was not before the trial court."

Mr. Levitt appeared for himself in the case, and William E. Thoms and Edward M. Day for the Connecticut Light & Power Company. Attorney General Warren E. Burrows, Deputy Attorney General Ernest L. Averill and Assistant Attorney General H. Roger Jones filed a brief but did not argue, for the Public Utilities Commission.

Hartford, April 13.—(AP)—Charles Louis Daublin of Rockville was arrested by State Policeman Thomas Abbott of the Stafford barracks on the charge of breaking and entering.

In default of bail he was taken to the Tolland County jail.

UNCOVER CAUSES OF RADIO NOISE

Investigations Show 93 P. C. of Trouble Is Beyond Public Utilities Control.

Investigation of complaints of radio interference by Connecticut power and light utilities over a period of nearly two years has revealed that 93 per cent of all of the interference suffered by radio enthusiasts in this state results from electrical and mechanical equipment not owned by the electric company and from other causes completely beyond its control.

The investigations have shown that faulty wiring, household electrical appliances, neighboring machinery, doorbells, oil burners and even the ordinary switching on and off of electric lights in one's own home or in those of his neighbors are potential sources of radio noise. The more sensitive receiving sets are even affected by the static electricity generated by passing automobiles. Exactly 46 per cent of the radio interference was found to result from causes in the above class. Ordinary static and broadcasting station power failures cause more than one quarter of the radio interference, while about one-fifth of the noisy troubles of the radio fans are due to defects in their own sets.

Only seven per cent of all of the complaints received and investigated by the companies have been found to be the result of power and light equipment. A large number of the complaints were based upon what the radio owner believed to be a "leaky" transformer in his neighborhood. It so happens, however, that transformers do not "leak," and in nearly all cases the trouble reported in these complaints was due to some cause beyond the control of the utility. The "leaky transformer" although mythical, has undoubtedly been blamed for more radio trouble than any actual source of noise.

HOLD THREE SUSPECTS

Milford, April 13.—(AP)—Picked up on the street there on a charge of idleness, John White, Homer Cobb and Ralph Schuffert, all of Bridgeport, have been held under $5,000 bonds each on the charge of breaking into the Wayside Furniture shops on the Milford turnpike here.

The Bridgeport police have informed the Milford authorities that the men had confessed to the break and to several other safe breaking jobs in Bridgeport. White had a cut on his right hand. Blood stains were found on a window in the shops through which the men who opened the safe had made their exit by breaking out four panes of glass Monday night.

Peace in China now seems assured. The only obstacles left to be overcome are the Japanese army and navy.

BY MABEL McELLIOTT

BEGIN HERE TODAY

SUSAN CAREY, stenographer in the office of ERNEST HEATH, architect, lives with her AUNT JESSIE, on Chicago's West Side. BEN LAMPMAN, moody young musician, admires her and introduces her to a Bohemian crowd which finds rather tiresome. JACK WARING, employed in the same office as Susan, tries to flirt with her but she discourages him. She finds she is beginning to care deeply for BOB DUNBAR, young millionaire whom she met at business school. At lunch one day Bob is interrupted in a declaration of his feeling for her by the arrival of DENISE ACES ROYD, also wealthy. Susan is terribly disappointed. Bob does not telephone, departs for Europe. MRS. HEATH, wife of Susan's employer, calls at the office and snubs the girl.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIII

Aunt Jessie was going away. It was astonishing but true. Her sister who lived in a little town in southern Illinois had undergone a rather serious operation and was convalescing. She wanted Aunt Jessie to come.

"I declare, it doesn't seem right!" Aunt Jessie kept saying over and over. "It seems as if you couldn't go and stay with the Miltons instead of having Rose come over here. But what with those cousins of theirs visiting from Des Moines I suppose we can't help it." She sighed again, frowning, folded her best Philippine nightgown and wrapped her bedroom slippers in tissue paper.

"I don't see why you make such a fuss," Susan said capably, trying to help and not succeeding very well. "You always say yourself that Rose is so sensible, and after all you won't be gone more than two weeks."

Aunt Jessie kept grumbling that it didn't seem right and she declared she was at her wits' end. But she went nevertheless. This was on a Sunday morning. After Susan had seen her aunt off at the dismal old station she came back to a house strangely empty and quiet. She walked through the prim, familiar rooms with the sensation of seeing them for the first time and when Rose came over to join her at a lazy, two o'clock dinner the kitchen rang with the sudden, foolish, irresistible laughter of two young things left free.

They used the best embroidered tablecloth and the thin cups which Susan's great-grandmother had brought out with her from "York State." Aunt Jessie would have been scandalized at the idea of this casual employment of her dearest treasures. The tablecloth and china were generally reserved for weddings and funerals but since Susan saw no chance of the one and hoped there might be none for the other she made the most of this golden moment.

It was fun even to wash dishes with Rose. Susan hung, weak with laughter, over a kitchen chair as her friend described with embellishments the peculiarities of the head of her department.

"Stop! Please don't tell me any more!" Susan begged, wiping her eyes. Naturally Rose, delighted at this tribute to her powers as a mimic, continued the performance. As Susan rinsed out the last clean dish towel she glanced with astonishment at the clock.

"It can't be half past three!" she said, appalled. They discussed the relative merits of a walk to the park or a trolley ride to one of the beaches, but somehow reached no decision. They dawdled out to the back porch, where, in a delicious confusion of Sunday newspapers, cracking taffy wrappers and the shouts of the children next door, they idled away the afternoon.

That was the beginning of Susan's real holiday. Of course she would have no actual vacation this year since she had only started to work, but it was enough for her at the moment to feel the exquisite importance of being mistress of her own domain.

There came, however, the inevitable day when Rose, always popular and in demand, telephoned that she could not get home for dinner. "I see. Of course you must go. Have a good time and don't be too late. No, I won't leave the door open. You ring twice and I'll hear you." Susan's tone sounded cheerful but she hung up the receiver with a sense of dismay. The long summer evening stretched out empty before her.

She stood up to find Jack Waring twinkling at her. "What's the matter? Somebody stand up?" he bantered. Susan shook her head.

"The girl who's staying with me while my aunt is away has a date," she explained, hoping her voice didn't sound as forlorn as she felt. The man smiled.

"Come along with me," he said casually. "Some friends of mine are driving out to a place on the Willwaukee Road where they have you and get you home early."

Susan hesitated. There was no denying it, the prospect was alluring. In addition, the man's tone and manner were so quietly reassuring, so nearly paternal that she felt rather silly as she demurred.

"Nonsense," Waring said briskly. "You just say 'no' as a matter of form without thinking. I can see that."

His conjecture was so close to the truth that Susan flushed. After all, wasn't it foolish of her to go home alone, eat an uninteresting and solitary supper and moon about waiting for Rose to return, when friendship, gaiety, music and laughter were hers for the stretching out of her hand? Irrationally she wondered if this had been the way Eve felt about the serpent. Then she smiled and shrugged because the metaphor was so far-fetched. Jack Waring in his conservative dark suit, perfectly groomed and agreeably friendly, was as little like a serpent as anyone could possibly imagine. She was seized with an uncontrollable impulse. "I'll go," she said. "I'd love to."

As she was businesslike about it all, putting her address down in his small notebook, that Susan banished as idiotic the suspicion that for an instant there had been a flash of triumph in his eyes. He was to call for her at seven. Much as she disliked the idea of the neighbors peering at his long, blue roadster with its shattering horn she insisted on this. For one thing she remembered Aunt Jessie's dictum, "If a man can't call for a girl at her own home then I say there's something wrong. These fly-by-nights who meet boys on street corners will come to no good." It was curious that Susan should think of this and be so insistent about it, because she had heard Aunt Jessie say it so many times and it had always irritated her.

She rushed homeward, impatient of the many delays. The west-bound trolley seemed unusually slow and jerky. The conductor dropped the token she handed him, passinggers fumbled their transfers, and at every cross town line there were maddening waits.

Why she was so excited at the prospect of an evening with Waring Susan could not have exactly said. Perhaps it was his reputation as a lady's man, gleaned from hints dropped by Pierson. Perhaps it was the memory of the dozen and one daily telephone calls which he received. Most of the voices were provocatively feminine. Susan could not help hearing Waring's part in some of these conversations. He called all of them "darling." She knew that and was a little contemptuous of it, believing in her young arrogance (and who shall say not rightly?) that the charming English term of endearment should be reserved for the chosen one instead of scattered to the crowd. But ever since the day when the man had shown such sympathetic understanding of her position—the day Mrs. Heath had so unmercifully snubbed her—Susan had come to take a more charitable view of him. After all, she argued, men couldn't all be alike. She began to feel that she had misunderstood Waring. Pierson said Jack's wife had given him "a dirty deal. Maybe that was true."

It was at this stage in her reflections that the car, jerking, wheezing, and groaning, reached her corner and she was glad to alight, finding the air under the locust trees of her own block much more agreeable than that of the trolley.

In her own room, she wriggled out of her clothes and ran the tub almost to the brim. She was glad Rose had given her those geranium scented bath crystals for her birthday. It was her favorite scent. If everything had irked her on the homeward ride now everything seemed suddenly right. How lucky it was that her favored chiton, her only "party" dress worthy of the name, had been returned from the cleaners the day before! How lucky, it was she had washed her hair Monday night! How lucky she was to have a natural wave, intensified by the summer heat so that all she had to do was press her fingers into the little ridges to make her hair a dark, shining, cap of unulation!

She was ready long before seven o'clock. While she waited she began to feel the agitation of a diver about to take the great plunge. Her mind revolved in busy whirls. What if Aunt Jessie should happen in without warning? What if Mrs. McLeod who always watched the goings and comings of the neighborhood from behind her starched curtains should spread the rumor that Susan Carey was becoming "fast"? Susan shuddered. To be "fast" in the little community where she lived was to be quite beyond the pale. Although Chicago is a metropolis, in its neighborhood groups there exists much of the spirit of the average small town.

Susan's reverie was interrupted by the sharp peal of the door bell. She caught up her gloves in a flurry and for the hundredth time wished she had a proper summer evening shawl instead of the wretched old black coat from last season. She opened the door with fingers that shook a little.

There he stood, seeming taller than usual, and, as always, perfectly turned out.

Susan closed the door of the cottage primly behind her. Aunt Jessie had always told her that a lady never receives a gentleman at home alone. Waring smiled suddenly as if he caught the reason for her abrupt gesture.

"I won't bite, you know," he said with mild raillery and Susan went scarlet. It was annoying to be so transparent.

As she ran down the steps with her escort she forgot everything in her sudden surprise. "There, jauntily perched in the rumble seat, a jaded looking young man at her side, sat Ray Flannery.

"Hello," chirped Ray. "I'm starving. Let's step on it!"

TRAINING THE BABY

Proper Habits Often May Be Developed Within First Six Months.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of two articles on "Training the Baby," by Dr. Fishbein. The second will be printed tomorrow.

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBELN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine.

If there is one point more than any other which gives the new mother concern, it is the training of the child in proper habits so far as concerns the excretions of the human body. One of the supervisors for the Infant Welfare Society of Chicago has recently developed a series of directions for this purpose which are practical and sound.

Most babies can learn such control within the first two years of life. Many will learn within six months. If the baby fails to learn by the end of the third year or, if the baby once trained, relapses to infantile habits, it requires special medical study and perhaps psychological examination to find out just what is wrong.

The directions for the control of the bowels follow:

Observe the time at which the baby usually soils his diaper. At that hour the next day place a small vessel in the lap and hold the baby on this, letting him lie against the left arm.

Repeat this regularly each day at the same time. The first week it may be necessary to use a glycerin suppository to start the movement and to direct the baby's attention to the reason for being placed on the vessel.

By the second week, the bowel movement should be started by the feeling of the vessel alone. Hold the baby on the vessel five or 10 minutes before using a suppository. Never continue using a suppository regularly for more than two weeks as the baby may learn to depend upon it.

When the baby is old enough to sit alone, place him on a nursery chair. It may be necessary to use the suppository again for a few days until he is used to the changed position.

TOMORROW: Developing control.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

MAKE UP, AND PERK UP

The first conscious effort you should make to get back to normalcy, after the influenza or other spring sickness, is to make up.

It may be pleasant to lengthen the period of convalescence. You actually may enjoy being babied. But, you owe it to your own self-respect and to your family's concern over your condition to be valiant. The first minute you begin to use make-up, that very minute you begin to get well, psychologically.

I suggest that you use the oldest make-up materials you can get, for a time after the fever has left you. Your skin needs help in getting back to a normal illness.

You can use some of those pleasing cleansing creams that are translucent, smell nice and melt at the touch. Next, use a regular cold cream, even one of the pasteurized type, to give your skin a little massage before you make up.

In addition to this, you can use liquid powder, if your skin still looks flaky. Wipe off all the excess, when it dries. Try a brighter rouge than you have been using. Touch up with a brighter lipstick.

You will feel perked up the minute you see yourself. This making up during convalescence is a gesture worth trying!

YOUR CHILDREN

by Olive Roberts Barton
BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

Sun and Air for the Son and Heir

Have your children a place to play or does your garage take up nine-tenths of the back yard? I hope not the latter, because cars can be stored any place and children can't, or shouldn't be. Every child in the world needs sun to play in—sun, and sun, and more sun, and preferably not in the street.

I am perfectly frank in saying that apartments are no place for children—unless they are equipped with a real honest-to-goodness playground, or there is one within easy and safe walking distance. Tiny children who cannot reach public parks or playgrounds and who have no one to take them should have a yard, a clean healthy one too, not a place filled with ash cans and garbage cans and odd boards. A young couple with children or who expect to have them should consider this matter first when house hunting.

Do not allow me to discourage you if you live in cramped quarters where the children "cannot get out enough. I know how this very question worries many parents. Victims of circumstances they just cannot make the change and it is certainly too bad. Some day things may be different.

I am urging all those who are undecided or who are in a position to have a yard to put the children first. If you are considering two houses and one has a first class garage and no yard and the other a first class yard and no garage, make up your mind, I entreat you, to use shank's mare for a block twice a day for the automobile and give the garage space to the youngsters.

Children need to run, to slide, to play ball, fly kites, play tag, marbles, and all sorts of games. They need to get in touch with Mother Earth and let Father Sun shine all over them.

And speaking of playgrounds why not get busy while the inspiration of spring lasts and do a little home carpentering? It only takes a smooth board and a box to make a seawall and another to make a slide. If your ground is damp a few boards or a piece of oilcloth anchored down will make a fine dump for sand. You can buy all these tricks at the store and they are away down in price too, but even so, who has any money? Don't do without them, though, just for that. Turn inventor and let the children help and see what a Coney Island you can have at home.

Garden sets? Well now, there's a real idea! You can get them at the five and ten, or at other places for very little. And seeds are cheap. But don't have a hybrid, invite-your-friends-for-tea garden that the children aren't allowed to profane—not unless you have room for both. I love beautiful gardens but I love children better. Their own gardens should not take too much of the play space either, by the way.

Spring, sun, children! Get them together—and out on the street. Streets are no place for play any more—this year speeders are worse than ever! City councils are trying to reduce expenses, but never mind, when times get better I shall start my old hammering again for "neighborhood park" in every other block! That is what cities will have to spend money on before long.

GERMAN ATTACKS FAIL

On April 13, 1918, British troops recaptured a portion of Neuve Eglise after fierce fighting with the advance German detachments who had seized the town during the previous night's advance.

German attacks on the entire Lys front were beaten off with great loss by British and Australian troops. Several new divisions of Germans were reported participating in the offensive.

American troops in the Toul sector engaged in an all day battle with strong German patrols, and foiled several enemy efforts to capture sections of the American trenches.

German planes raided Paris. Bombs killed 26 persons and wounded 72 others. More than 2,000,000 Americans were under arms in the United States and in France. Several divisions in France were rapidly being prepared for front line duty.

Filling Dessert Regulation fudge, either melted until it is hot again, or used while still hot from the making, converts any stale cake into the most delicious dessert. Pecans help, too.

Sunday Supper It is an excellent idea to let the children get Sunday supper. Scots eight years old can learn to scramble eggs, make toast and cocoa. The simpler the dish you plan, the better it is.

Cheese Sandwiches Grated American cheese, spread over toasted English muffins and put under the grill until it is melted and browned, makes a tasty tidbit for luncheon, tea or supper.

DASH STAR PILOTS M. H. S. TRACK TEAM

Franz Wittmann To Captain Schoolboy Outfit With Wigren Starting Tenth Year As Coach.

Despite the loss of seven veterans from last year's track and field team, Manchester High is hopeful of another successful season's campaign under the expert guidance of Coach Charles L. Wigren, its very modest and competent mentor.

Manchester High has turned out some very excellent track teams since Coach Wigren took over the work ten years ago. His outstanding achievement, of course, was the discovery and development of Joe Savoldi who is now at Fordham enroute to possible Olympic glory.

Rhode Island Trip Manchester has eight meets on schedule and three of them are league affairs. Most important of all is the state meet at Yale in which Manchester finished second to New Haven Hillhouse last year, losing by eight points.

Wittmann Captain Manchester High's track team this season is captained by Franz Wittmann, dash star who holds the local school record in the 220 and 440 yard sprints.

Other Stars Back In addition to Captain Wittmann, other varsity lettermen back this year are Domenick Squatrito in the dashes, Frank Simon and Ed Burns in the mile, Jimmy O'Leary in the broad and high jumps, Al Smith in the broad, Dick McCormick and Ed Fisher in the pole vault, Squatrito and Fisher in the javelin.

HOOKS AND SLIDES

Well now, take this fellow Joe Savoldi, wrestler. Did it ever occur to you that the hairy, much-muscled Joe would make a pretty fair Tarzan? Anyways, just that has occurred to Joe. And Joe says it occurred to the movie people, too.

"They offered me the role of Tarzan," Joe confided the other day, "but I couldn't agree with them on money. Johnny Weissmuller underbid me." There must be pretty good dough in the wrestling racket.

A Southpaw Custom Lefty Gomez, the cunning Castilian, has some of the same left-handed traits that made Babe Ruth the subject of song and story. Thus, Lefty the other day revealed that one of his dearest desires was to don a suit of armor and ride a bicycle from the bullpen to the pitching mound. He said he thought it would create quite a sensation. Maybe it would.

Going Away Back Phar Lap is dead, but some of his blood will be represented in the Kentucky Derby of 1932. It's like this: Phar Lap's ancestry goes back five generations to the great British horse, Carbine. Carbine's line goes back to Australian, War Plane, a son of American Flag, by Man of War, by Fair Play, can be traced back to Hastings, and the Hastings line goes back to Australian, too.

Big Brothers Top Flight has a couple of step-brothers who may go to the post this year on Derby Day. Miss Top Flight is a daughter of Dis Donofriat, Indian Runner and I Say, two gentlemen runners, also call Dis Dono pappy. Indian Runner's mother was Indian Maiden, and I Say's mamma was Aloft.

Rich Relatives If any of the horses entered in the Derby start talking about money, R. M. Eastman's Cathop, a bay colt by Supreme-Clonakilly, can hold up his head and speak right out. His mother, Clonakilly, also was the mother of Mike Hall, a great stake horse that won $213,220 in his racing years.

Do You Remember? One Year Ago Today—More than 250,000 spectators in eight cities saw the opening of the 1931 big league baseball season. At Yankee Stadium, 70,000 saw Babe Ruth hit his first home run of the season, to aid the Yankees in a 6 to 3 triumph over Boston.

Five Years Ago Today—George Lot of Chicago trounced Francis T. Hunter, 6-1, 6-0, 8-6, to enter the championship match against Bill Tilden in the United North and South tennis tournament.

Long Bike Ride Sure Flu Cure

Newark, N. J., April 5.—"What do I do when I'm sick? Oh, I get out the bike and go for a little ride—maybe 20 or 30 miles. That always fixes me up."

That's the prescription by which Reggie McNamara keeps healthy for those six-day bike races, a grind that physicians call the hardest on the human machinery.

It was his destiny. His father, Timothy, "had a little farm of 5000 acres near Dubbo, New South Wales. There were five other boys and five girls in the family. All rode bicycles.

"Yeah," explains Reggie. "Could ride a bicycle about as soon as I could walk. Was so young I can't remember when it was."

He won his first race in 1906, then came to America. The first time he was on a bicycle here he crashed and was so badly injured he went to a hospital for three weeks. There he met the nurse who later became his wife.

He entered his first six-day race in 1913 and finished third. Since then he has ridden in 73 six-day races, each race about 2500 miles.

PHILLIES TURN GIANT-KILLERS The Phillies were already on their way to a first-inning, opening-game triumph over the Giants when this action picture was snapped at New York's famous Polo Grounds. Fir at bat is Edouard Hurst of Philadelphia had to stop at second base after the slide you see him making here, but two of his team-mates, Davis and Klein, had been batted home. These runs contributed to the Philadelphia's 13-to-5 victory.

ART KELLEY WINS ROCKVILLE FIGHT

Manchester Boxer Stops Wilmanitic Youth In Amateur Bout; Pagani Loses.

The C. D. K. club of Rockville presented another of their well balanced amateur boxing cards in Rockville last night and in doing so gave the spectators an opportunity to see about everything that is likely to happen in a ring from kayoes to faint hearts, slow moving picture effects and brain over brawn.

Arthur Kelley of Manchester, a student in the many art under the teaching of Frank Busch made his maiden appearance in the roped ring and showed that he packs a punch in both hands by shooting jabs and throwing uppercuts with such telling effect that he sent Sonny Boy Madaou of Willmanitic to the floor for a count of six in a few seconds of fighting and then came back driving his opponent into a neutral corner and back against the ropes, where an uppercut put him down on his knees for the good night.

Tommy Tucker was counted out in the first round of his intended three-round battle with Larry Hoyt of New Britain. They were boxing in the center of the ring when Tucker was clipped on the left jaw. He dropped, rolled over and got onto his knee waiting for the count of nine to get up, but he struck on his head in falling and missed the ten count and came to just as the arm of his opponent was being raised as the winner.

Steve Carr, 158, Rockville, showed that he has greatly improved in all departments of the fistic game when he lost little time in applying the sleep potion to Young Stribery, 180, of New Britain, in the first stanza.

Bill Bruno, 176, Windsor Locks, and Pete Snyder, 180, Hartford, furnished the slow motion picture act. Both tried hard in the two chapters, but they were so slowed up in the third that it might have gone to either one of them had they been able to carry on, but their motions were slow and they seemed to be enacting a slow moving picture. Bruno got the decision.

Ray Pagani, 115, Manchester, managed to stay through the third round with the help of the referee until aim at the close when it was so evident that Pagani might be hurt if he continued and Jimmie Eritt, Rockville, 110, was given the gold watch.

Other results were: Peter King, 178, Hartford, won over Young Morris, Rockville; Jackie Horner, 165, put Jim Fracon down in the first round to win a decision; John Trzetzko, 172, New Britain, won over Sally Miano, 170, Windsor Locks, by a decision; Jack Alexander, 128, New Britain, won over Des Messano, 128, Windsor Locks, by a decision; Young Al Stryby, 134, Rockville, lost to Young Grifo, 130, East Hartford.

Sandy Beach Arena The C. D. K. club has decided to continue the boxing shows out of doors and will build an up to date arena at Sandy Beach, Crystal Lake. The four members of the club, Lewis H. Chapman, John N. Keeney, George Bokis and Harry C. Downing, visited West Springfield, Mass., with a local contractor this afternoon to inspect the sports area built by the Springfield Legion and successfully operated by them during the past three years.

The Rockville promoters were very favorably impressed with the Springfield plant and have decided to build a similar arena at Sandy Beach which will be opened the latter part of May and will feature at regular intervals professional and amateur boxing and wrestling.

A splendid location has been selected at Sandy Beach and work of getting the ground ready for the carpenters will be started next week. In the meantime the C. D. K. club will hold at least two more of the series up to 12 shows instead of ten as originally planned.

Many of the classic boxers in New England will be brought to Rockville for the summer and the shows will appear on the outdoor programs at the lake later.

Rout Athletics 12-6; Cards Trounce Pirates

Olympic HOPES by CLAIRE BURCKY

CONNERS

Blarney or not, the hammer throwing championships of past Olympic games have had distinctly an Irish flavor. And as far as the United States and Frank S. Conner (could it have been O'Conner at one time?) are concerned, the favor can stay through the 1932 games at Los Angeles.

To start it off, there was J. J. Flanagan, who won the ball-and-wire toss for Uncle Sam in 1900, 1904 and 1908. Burly Matt McGrath, New York policeman, stepped in at Stockholm in 1912 and flung the weight 179 feet 8.4 inches, setting an Olympic record and running the United States' consecutive hammer triumph to four. F. Paddy Ryan, sure the same Paddy who set a world record of 189 feet 6 1/2 inches in 1913, made it five in a row in 1920, and Fred Tooteil, the Bowdoin collegian, made it six straight at Paris in 1924. Then came the break: Dr. Patrick O'Callaghan, one of Erin's "finest," wrestled the title in 1928 with a heave of 51.39 meters, approximately 168 feet 6 inches.

Frank Conner has beaten that. The Yale strong boy tossed the weight 187 feet 2 1/2 inches last summer, his second in two years. Earlier, he made 162 feet 8 1/2 inches to win at the Penn relays.

Conner hopes to make the U. S. Olympic squad this summer. He has just enough Irish in him to think that the hammer title ought to stay in this country.

Her Game's Ready Among the women who will play in America's international golf team against an English group in May will be Mrs. Harley Higbee, above, of Detroit, who has been sharpening her game this winter on the desert course at Palm Springs, Calif. Mrs. Higbee has been for several years a leader in golf from her own middle western section.

Earnshaw Blasted From Mound; Brandt, Jones and Rhem Turn In Best Pitching Performances.

For these many years Babe Ruth has been doing the unexpected, clouting home runs or striking out in his own inimitable fashion, but never before has he so completely dominated the major leagues "opening day" ceremonies.

There was excellent pitching by Ed Brandt of the Boston Braves, Sam Jones of the Chicago White Sox and Flint Rhem of the World Champion St. Louis Cardinals as the National and American Leagues opened the drive which leads to the 1932 pennants yesterday; there was rousing ninth-inning rally by the rebuilt Cincinnati Reds and a striking demonstration of batting power by the long suffering Phillies; but over and above all these feats was the Babe's spectacular season-al debut at Philadelphia.

Ruth's Three Homers The kingpin of the New York Yanks devastating attack totaled two home runs and a single against Big George Earnshaw and Jimmy Deshong of the Philadelphia Athletics and thus contributed 7 1/2 runs to the common cause.

A shivering crowd of 15,000 saw little to cheer about as the Yanks, with praise-worthy economy made 12 hits good for as many runs and beat the A's 12 to 2.

Ruth, who never before had hit two homers in an opening day game, needed some assistance and got it from Sammy Byrd and Lou Gehrig. Among them this trio collected nine hits and accounted for 11 runs. Byrd and Gehrig, the first two homers and single; Gehrig, co-champion with Ruth of last year's home run hitters, drove one ball out of the park and kicked in with a triple and single as well.

The only other American League game the weather man permitted was the Chicago White Sox pin a 9 to 2 beating on the St. Louis Browns. Sam Jones held the Browns to eight hits.

Over in the National League, the Champion Cards turned in an easy victory but the new chief rival, the New York Giants and Chicago Cubs were beaten. Flint Rhem held the Pittsburgh Pirates to seven hits and won 10 to 2.

The Giants fell victim to the effective pitching of "Flaggy Phil" Collins and a terrific hitting drive by the Phillies. Bert Shotton's men pounded Billy Walker out of the box with none out in the second inning and piled up a total of 17 hits before the game was over. Collins himself got four hits and Chuck Klein contributed three including a triple.

The Cubs led Cincinnati 4 to 1 going into the last half of the ninth but Charley Root weakened and allowed the bases to be loaded. Guy Bush came in to stop the attack but Red Lucias, a pinch batsman doubled to drive in two runs and Doubtless later singled to score two more and win the duel 5 to 4.

Brooklyn's revamped ball club looked good at field but the Dodgers' hitters folded up against the air-tight pitching of Ed Brandt and the Boston Braves won 8 to 3. Bad weather cut down the aggregate attendance for six games to about 117,000.

Edgar of Brookline, Mass., president of the Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston, who came here a week ago to recuperate after a slight illness, is at the Marlboro-Blenheim hotel suffering from pneumonia, which developed last Sunday. ### HARD TIMES AFFECT HEALTH IN FUTURE

Unless Children's Diet Is Well Balanced They Show It Later.

Health of future generations, to say nothing of the present younger generation, may be seriously affected by the current depression unless individual families take precaution to include in their diet the proper essentials, no matter how little may be the money available for food, the State Department of Health warned today in its weekly bulletin.

Less Rugged
This year's child is a trifle less rugged, a little more malnourished, more poorly clad than in other years, while his free and joyous spirit may be dampened by the grim specter of unemployment which has invaded his home. The problem to be most seriously confronted at this time is to safeguard his health so that his capacity for growth may not be permanently injured. The aftermath of war and famine, when food supplies have failed, is stunted growth, soft pliable bones, poorly developed teeth and lack of resistance to disease. If present conditions continue, the children of the present will be faced with similar results and the next generation will have to pay the penalty.

The burden is plainly upon the shoulders of the adult to make sacrifices so that young children may not suffer. Mothers must be taught to spend even their scant amount of food money wisely. Milk must be included, since it contains growth essentials and a rich source of calcium needed for bones and teeth. One-fifth or even one-fourth of the food money should be used for milk in order to safeguard health.

Since vegetables and fruits make such an important contribution to health, containing as they do valuable mineral elements and vitamins that promote and favor growth, these of which the cheaper varieties should be selected, potatoes, cabbage, carrots, onions. Fruits such as oranges and bananas should be purchased when possible since these can be eaten raw and so made to supply that important vitamin C which has such a profound effect on the structure and health of the teeth. As a substitute for these canned tomatoes will furnish an ample source of this vitamin and these should be used frequently during the week.

What to Purchase
One-fifth of the food money should be largely of the whole grain variety. With the purchase of whole milk, vegetables and fruits, breads and cereals first, other foods such as meats, fish, eggs and fats, which in normal times are considered essential to an adequate diet, may be reduced to the minimum or eliminated entirely if dire necessity demands it.

Another group in our community whose health must be safeguarded

GOVERNMENT'S DEFICIT IS OVER TWO BILLIONS

Washington, April 13.—(AP)—The government's deficit went above the two billion dollar mark on April 11 when it amounted to $2,017,858,745.

On that date the government had collected from all sources $1,829,961,527 and had spent $3,847,820,272. In the general fund the government had a deficit of $1,888,293,585 having collected $1,807,726,897 since last July 1 and spent $3,695,960,482. Income tax collections accounted for the major item of decrease, amounting to $869,623,350 compared with $1,511,704,272 in the same period last year.

Miscellaneous internal revenue declined $45,000,000 and customs duties were down $23,000,000. Expenditures amounted to $2,037,388,340 compared with $1,748,772,386 last year. The postal deficiency had piled up to $145,018,810, an increase of $41,000,000 over the same period a year ago.

Other items of increase included $222,243,740 spent by the treasury to subscribe to additional stock for the Federal land banks.

It wasn't long until each bird flew out of sight. Then Duncy heard a very funny rumbling sound. It frightened him a bit. He knew 'twas thunder, right nearby. A storm was brewing in the sky. Then he looked down and saw that he was floating over it. Thought he, "I am a lucky lad. I guess I really should be glad that seem filled up with rain. Perhaps this trip will end all right. I hope I land before it's night. And, too, I also hope that what I hope is not in vain!" The bubble slowly rose and fell and Duncy got a slumpy nod. It wasn't long till he dozed off and had some crazy dreams. In one dream he was falling fast and clouds and birds were whirling past. Then he woke up and looked around and thought, how strange this seemed.

Way down on earth the others knew that there was naught that they could do. They'd watched the bubble disappear. "It's too bad," Scouty said. "There's no use running any more. We don't know where we're running for. I only wish we knew what's going on, high overhead. If Duncy still is safe and sound, by other folks he may be found. Then he will start to look. We'll simply have to wait." Then Windy gave them all a scare by shouting, "Hey! Look way up there! An airplane's coming right this way at quite a speedy gait." The plane kept coming. Oh, how fast! It swooped and dived until, at last, the Tinymites could see a man. Said one, "He waved his hand."

And then, with one more swerve around, the plane came nearer to the ground. The Tinymites were very thrilled. They stood and watched it land.

(The Tinymites got acquainted with the Sky Cop in the next story.)

Here are a few ideas concerning aerials, the most important adjunct to modern receivers. Up to a year ago the manufacturers invariably recommended an aerial of not more than 60 to 80 feet in length. The main reason for this short pick-up contrivance was for selectivity or non-overlapping of stations. You must remember that the length of the aerial also includes the lead-in. In other words if your lead-in top wire is 80 feet long and the lead-in 50 feet the total length of the aerial is 130 feet. From this it can be seen that to keep the aerial length at 60 to 80 feet, the recommendation means a very short wire on the roof or to the pole.

Many of you folks have bought, during the past year, a super-heterodyne machine equipped with automatic volume control and without thinking or lack of experience attached to it your old or antiquated antenna. The results were that the new machine seemed to be noisy and lacked pep or power although more stations than ever before should be logged. This is because a short, low aerial does not allow the automatic volume control feature to function properly. If the automatic control were given half a chance the majority of the local interference and other disturbances would be minimized to a great extent.

The following recommendations for aerials goes for all radios. Put the antenna wire as far up into the air as is possible to get it; at least above all surrounding power or lighting wires. Insulate it properly and make sure that there are no bad connections. The lead-in should be well insulated and securely fastened so that there is no chance of its rubbing or breaking. The ground is just as important as the rest of the wiring—more so in some cases. It is paid to it. The water pipe on the street side of the meter is the best place to ground the radio if it is not too far from the machine. In this case a pipe, six or eight feet long, driven into the ground is the next best bet.

It so happens that I might add that there are many people who pay up to $200 or $300 for a good radio and then spoil their chances for good reception by connecting it to the wrong possible antenna system. A little thought, time and expense will pay good dividends in added enjoyment.

Before I forget it I might add that the length of the aerial for the various types of receivers can be put to 150 feet for best results in noisy localities.

The General Motors Radio Corporation experimented quite a bit in order to find the best type of pick-up system. The result was that a laborer was comparatively inexpensive, double aerial which has been quite a success in noisy neighborhoods. You men who don't mind a little work might try this aerial for your own machine.

O'BRIEN IS ELECTED TO SUCCEED GERARD

Washington, April 13.—(AP)—Arthur O'Brien, of Washington, D. C., was elected today as treasurer of the Democrats' "Victory Fund" organization.

He succeeds James W. Gerard, who resigned recently as treasurer of the Democratic National committee.

This was virtually the only change in the money raising organization during an executive session of the "Minute Men" in charge of the $1,500,000 drive.

Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic National executive committee, will continue to lead the drive.

The meeting was a part of ceremonies in connection with the gathering of Democrats at the Willard hotel for a Jefferson Day celebration. Shouse, Chairman Raskob of the National committee, and Alfred E. Smith attended the "Minute Men" gathering.

Smith was the center of a concerted rush after the meeting. Ruddy faced and smiling, he shook hands with the group about him, lit a cigar and turned to answer questions of newspapermen.

"We're going to win in November," he said in response to a query. When asked if he would take this stump this fall, he said it was a little too early to talk about that.

John W. Davis, like Smith, a former Democratic presidential nominee, came along about that time and Smith and Raskob went over for handshakes and a talk with him.

SENATOR BETTER

Washington, April 13.—(AP)—Senator Harris of Georgia was reported by his physician today to be "a good deal better" and to have "a good chance to get well."

Harris' temperature was normal and his pulse nearly normal, the doctor added.

SENSE AND NONSENSE

It is supposed to have happened when Peggy Joyce was having her appendix trouble at a private hospital.

A male patient across the hall was about to be discharged. He received a stiff bill.

Male Patient—Here, here, this is outrageous! It is too expensive.

Doctor—You have a check to complain about the price! Do you realize we placed you practically next door to Peggy Joyce?

Male Patient—Gosh! For that much money I should have been in the same room with her!

DIG UP THE CASH

Rip up that well worn mattress, Take out that roll of bills, They tell us we're contributing To Uncle Sam's worst ills.

Shake out the china teacup That hides your money board, Dig up your garden strongbox, Lift out that loose floor board.

And then—we blush to mention it—Should girls of every rank Should turn their backs and take the bills From their own First National Bank.

Mother—I don't think the man upstairs likes Johnnie to play on his drum.

Father—Why? Mother—Well, that afternoon he gave Johnnie a knife and asked him if he knew what was inside the drum.

Scared Husband—I can hear foot-steps, I think there's a m-man in the house.

Disgusted Wife—I don't. Gladys—What color bathing suit was Helen Warren wearing?

Ethel—I couldn't tell—her back was turned.

Housewife—So you have been married before, Mrs. Smith? New Servant—Yus, ma'am, three times; and if it pleases 'evan to take this one, I know where I can lay me 'ands on a fourth.

Actor—Why did you give up the stage after appearing in "that old Roman play?" Friend—The audience wanted me to be thrown to them instead of to the lions.

MacSponger—Come here, Billie! Don't you know who I am? Billie—Yes, I've heard daddy speak of you often. You're mother's cousin who stayed here two months one time and never offered to pay a cent for board.

Judge—Are you positive that the defendant was drunk? Officer (growling)—No doubt. Judge—Why are you so certain? Officer—Well, anyhow, I saw him put a penny in the patrol box on Fourth Street, then look up at the clock on the Presbyterian church and shout: 'Gawd! I've lost fourteen pounds weight!'

Correcting the pronunciation of a friend is probably the most dangerous experiment. To this will not be an entirely satisfactory world until every woman has a man's shoulder to weep on. It is predicted that the forthcoming spring-style ladies' dresses will fasten in the back. Another coast-to-coast hook-up to annoy us. A good name is of more value than a bank roll, but the crook prefers the money.

The enthusiastic young salesman was warming up to his work. Seizing his prospect by the lapel, he said earnestly:

"Yes, sir, these iron window sashes of ours will never wear out. Once in, they're there for eternity! And afterwards, if you have no further use for them, you can sell them for old iron!"

Jack—It is said that a very thin partition separates genius from lunacy.

Joe—Yes, a man who is learning to play the saxophone lives in the flat next to mine.

SAVED BY A HAND

Boston, Mass.—Harold Gruhn, 16, and his companion, William Hautz, were walking along Blanchard road recently when Gruhn was struck by a bullet. He had his hand on his head at the time, and the bullet passed through the hand and only grazed the forehead. Police investigating the case are of the opinion that someone was shooting in the woods nearby.

LITTLE BUT MY!

Tamoca, Wash.—Tiny Bernice James, 25, doesn't look any more like a deputy sheriff than Mary Pickford—yet this officer, said to be the smallest deputy in the county, makes some of the biggest "pinches" in town. Her latest was Mrs. Margaret Green, weight 170, who was found with three pints of liquor in her possession. Bernice is only four feet six inches and weighs but 82 pounds.
