BLAMES POLITICIANS FOR BONUS DEMAND

New York Colonel Says Self Appointed Leaders Started Campaign—Hines To Testify Tomorrow.

Washington, April 20.—(AP)—Demands for payment of the two billion dollars outstanding on veterans bonus certificates were blamed today by Colonel Benjamin Castle of New York upon "a lot of self appointed political leaders."

Brigadier General Frank T. Hines will tell the committee tomorrow of the possible effects to be expected from the payment of Charles G. Dawes, head of the Reconstruction Corporation, will testify Friday in opposition to the payment.

HINES TO TESTIFY

Washington, April 20.—(AP)—Brigadier General Frank T. Hines, the man who has had more experience in dealing with veterans affairs than any other high official in the government service, went before the House ways and means committee today to present the administration's opposition to full payment of the bonus.

There are a great number of veterans in the United States who are not organized and if they could be heard they would say they don't favor the bonus.

SEEK TO REMOVE VETERANS' COUNSEL

Texas Congressman States He Has Been Robbing Government For Years.

Washington, April 20.—(AP)—The charge that William Wolff Smith, general counsel of the Veterans Bureau, was a "member of a clique" that has been robbing the government for a number of years was made today before the House military committee by Representative Blanton (D., Tex.).

Blanton is author of a bill to remove Smith as counsel of the Bureau. Smith collapsed under questioning by the committee last Saturday and a physician testified today that he was still unable to appear for further questioning.

DARROW TO END HIS SIDE TODAY

Mrs. Massie To Be Called To Tell Her Story of Attack By Natives.

Honolulu, April 20.—(AP)—Mrs. Thalia Massie, unwilling player in the drama of passion and homicide that has shaken Hawaii, politically and socially, was chosen to strike the final blow for the defense in the Joseph Kahahawai lynching trial today.

Clarence Darrow, promising to end his case today announced he probably will call the blonde 22-year-old assault victim to the stand in the effort to free her husband, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie and three other persons accused of the killing.

Expect Direct Story A direct story of the brutality suffered by the young woman in the assault of last September was expected as the defense sought to reinforce the testimony of Lieut. Massie, who admitted holding the pistol which killed the young native.

Despite the efforts of a belligerent prosecution Dr. J. Thomas Orison and Dr. Edward Huntington Dr. Orison termed Massie's insistence in their testimony that Massie was insane at the moment he faced Kahahawai with drawn pistol and heard the athlete allegedly confess attacking Mrs. Massie.

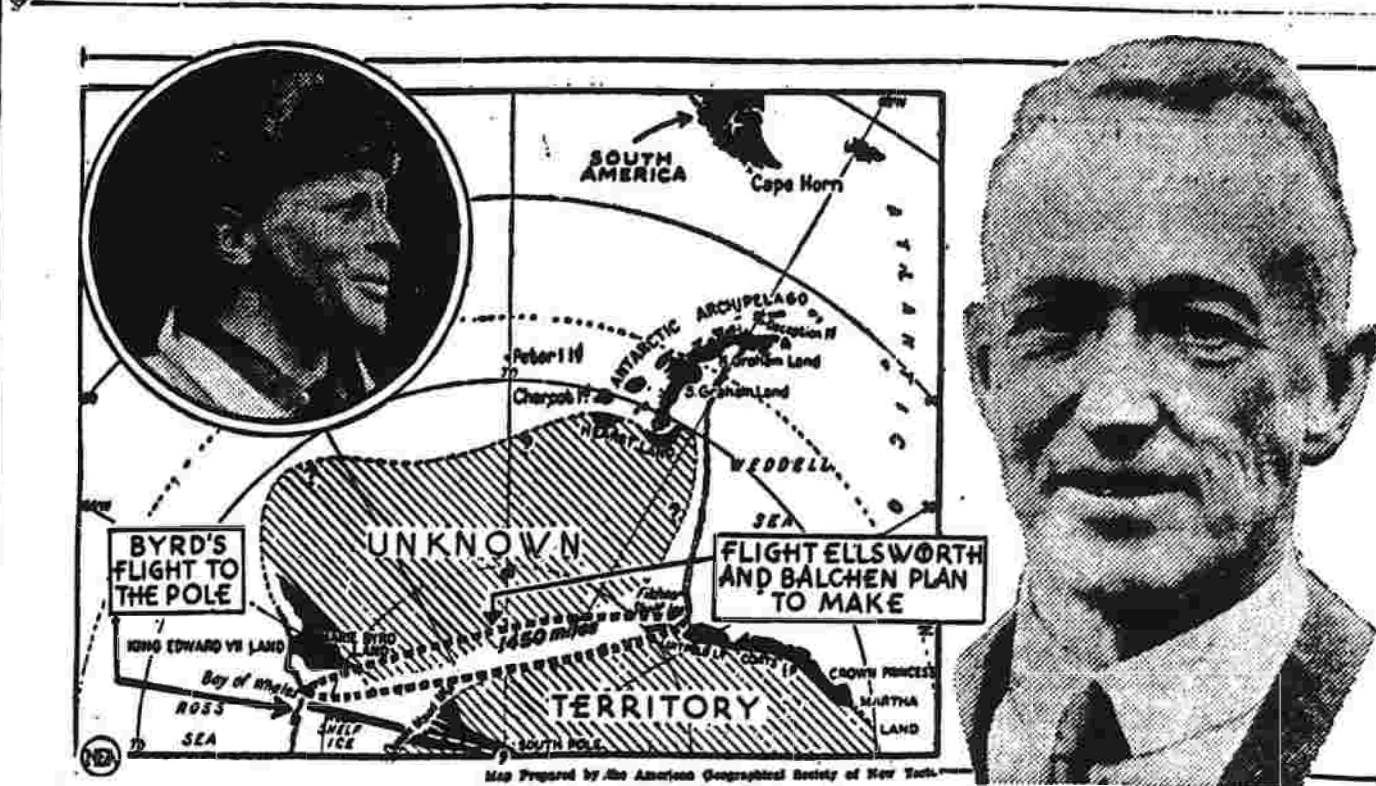

BLAME GOVERNMENT FOR LOSING MONEY

Minority Stockholders of U. S. Lines Were Opposed To Selling Ships.

Washington, April 20.—(AP)—Belief that the government should do something for minority stockholders in the old United States Lines, Inc., was expressed today before the House Merchant Marine Committee in its investigation of the Shipping Board.

John Stover, a New York attorney representing the minority stockholders committee, said that group "feels that as a result of the entire history of the United States Lines and the removal of the fleet from the United States government and its agencies are the cause of that wrong."

DRY LEADER DENOUNCES WHISKEY PRESCRIPTIONS

Declares Some Doctors Cannot Withstand Temptation of Accepting Bribes From the Bootleggers.

Washington, April 20.—(AP)—Vigorous opposition to any modification of the prohibition laws was expressed before a Senate judiciary subcommittee today by spokesmen for more than 150 prohibitionists, mostly women who crowded the big committee room.

Miss Vida Millholand, New York, member of the woman's committee for law enforcement, advocated withdrawing from the medical profession the privilege of prescribing liquor.

"The medical profession," she said, "is one of the most honorable in the world, but facts prove that some of its members are no more capable of withstanding the bootlegger's bribe than individuals of other professions."

RACKETEERS' GUNS CAME FROM COLT'S

Hartford Police Say Revolvers Were Stolen By Former Employee of Firm.

Hartford, Conn., April 20.—(AP)—New York racketeers weapons including those with which Jack "Legs" Diamond were slain have been traced to a former employee of the Colt Patent Firearms Manufacturing Company whose arrest is expected soon, police announced today.

HIT BY BASEBALL BETHEL BOY DIES

High School Student Collapses As He Reaches Home After Game.

Bethel, Conn., April 20.—(AP)—Clifford Spaulding, 17 year old member of the senior class in the Bethel High school, died at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Spaulding, last night from the effects of a blow upon the head from a thrown ball while playing baseball on Parloa Field here yesterday.

CONSOLIDATION WINS BY MAJORITY OF 105

Journey Found Guilty; To Hang on July 20

Bridgeport, April 20.—(AP)—Joseph Journey, Black Rock innkeeper, today was sentenced to death on the gallows July 20 at Wethersfield, for the murder March 10 at Easton of his friend, Frank Buda, West End handyman.

Voters, In Referendum On Legislative Act, Approve Measure 1,293 To 1,188

Bond Issue For Refunding Debts Endorsed At Evening Meeting—$100 Fee For Vendors Voted; Selectmen To Act Immediately On Effecting Actual District Merger.

Consolidation of the school districts of Manchester was effected yesterday when the voters approved of the merger by a majority of 105 votes. The total vote cast was 2,481. Yesterday's vote was a referendum on a special act approved by the Connecticut General Assembly last year.

Meeting Soon A special meeting of all the school governing agencies will be called by Thomas J. Rogers chairman of the Board of Selectman and ex-officio member of the Joint School Board, within a few days for the purpose of effecting an organization to bring about the actual consolidation of the school systems here.

Board of Selectman members and school authorities believe that yesterday's vote was taken at an opportune time. The approval was given before the annual school district meetings and it is possible that considerable economy can be made possible through a meeting of various school boards and through planning ahead for the year during which the real merger will take place.

Hard Work Yesterday's vote of nearly 2,500 was the result of hard work by both proponents and opponents of consolidation. The opponents of the measure faced the task of bringing in a good sized outlying district vote. The weather was ideal and the ants were favored to that extent.

Close By Machines The majority of 105, though not imposing was sufficiently large to elate those who worked hard to have the act approved. Not one of the six voting machines was counted was the question settled on the first machine read by Moderator Otto F. Nelson consolidation led by 41 votes. This lead increased to 47 on the second, dropped to 44 on the third, dropped still further to 34 on the fourth and when the fifth machine was read consolidation was ahead but 32 votes. The sixth and final machine gave consolidation a boost of 73 votes for a total majority of 105. Throughout the day even the keenest of voting list analysts could not successfully predict the outcome.

One of Five Manchester has been under the district system since it was incorporated as a town in 1823. It has been one of five towns and cities in the 169 in Connecticut remaining under this old form of school management. Only one other city, Middletown, has consolidated its districts in the past 20 years. Hartford is expected to vote soon on the question and leading citizens there see the vote here as being a big boost for the possibility of consolidating the city's districts.

Evening Meeting The town meeting called to vote on the $310,000 Municipal bond issue and the increase in the vendors' license fees convened at 8 o'clock last night and Frank Cheney Jr. was elected moderator. Chairman Thomas Rogers of the Board of Selectman read the call and

SYRACUSE MAYOR TESTS 9 CENTS A DAY MEALS

If He Approves the Poor of the City Will Be Served That Diet—Worked Out By Health Experts.

Syracuse, N. Y., April 20.—(AP)—Mayor Roland B. Marvin sat himself down this morning to a breakfast costing a couple of cents or so. Lunch and dinner ran his grocery bill for the day to exactly nine cents.

It's a humanitarian experiment. The mayor, informed that health authorities had worked out a dietary schedule for the city's poor costing nine cents per diem, said he'd try it out on himself.

There won't be eggs for breakfast every morning. There's only one egg on the list for the week. Evaporated milk takes the place of fresh milk and there's a butter substitute instead of butter, but there's coffee and cocoa to top the meals off with.

HOOPER'S REQUEST GRANTED BY HOUSE

President Given Authority To Reorganize Government To Cut Expenses.

Washington, April 20.—(AP)—A virtual agreement to give President Hoover power to reorganize certain phases of the government to effect savings was reached today by a majority of the House economy committee.

Representative Williamson (R., S. D.) was instructed by Chairman McDuffie to revamp his proposal to authorize the Chief Executive to effect the reorganization. It is to be inserted into the $200,000,000 re-employment omnibus bill.

President Hoover has requested Congress to give him this power. Williamson, ranking Republican on the expenditures committee and author of several consolidation bills that have been enacted, sponsored the legislation.

No Details Yet Although details of the proposal are yet to be worked out, the committee indicated it planned to direct the President to make certain changes in the government's set up subject to approval by Congress.

CABINET ATTENDS SENATOR'S FUNERAL

Notables Pay Tribute At Bier of Senator Harris At Services In Capitol.

Washington, April 20.—(AP)—President Hoover, government notables, congressional colleagues and friends today paid their farewell tribute to Senator William J. Harris of Georgia, who lay at rest amid a flower-banked bier in the Senate chamber where he had served 13 years.

While the S. v. Zebarny Phillips, chaplain of the Senate, pronounced the funeral sermon, the widow sat at the side of the casket with other members of the family and friends.

NEW DISTURBANCES AMONG STRIKERS

Explosion Shakes Village and Shots Are Fired During Night—No One Hurt.

Cadiz, O., April 20.—(AP)—Fresh disturbances broke out today in the eastern Ohio coal fields, where miners are on strike in protest to wage reductions.

A mysterious explosion shook the village of Jewett, 10 miles north of here, about 1 a. m., but apparently did no damage.

TRADERS CALLED IN SENATE PROBE

Subpoenas Issued For Score of Brokers Named By Stock Exchange Head.

Washington, April 20.—(AP)—Subpoenas for a score of traders and brokers whose names appear on the list of short sellers furnished by the Stock Exchange, were issued today by the Senate banking committee.

The names of those called were not made public, but they were selected from among the bigger traders on the list of shorts turned over to the committee by Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock Exchange.

Make Room For Guests!

Manchester store owners, salespeople and clerks are asked to cooperate with the "Manchester Day" committee by parking their automobiles elsewhere than on Main street tomorrow. Give the shopping guests the space for their cars.

TREASURY BALANCE

Washington, April 20.—(AP)—Treasury receipts for April 19 were $6,766,676.48; expenditures $45,244,978.71; balance $413,855,822.15. Customs duties for 18 days of April were $12,605,339.80.

MOTORCYCLE RIDER INJURED IN CRASH

Alexander Kompanik in Serious Condition After Fall To Pavement.

Alexander Kompanik, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Celestin Kompanik of 25 Starkweather street was critically injured at 7:30 last night, when a motorcycle which he was riding collided with another motorcycle driven by Howard Phillips of 37 Spruce street in front of McNamara's garage at Manchester Green.

Kompanik, with Phillips, Roy Phelps of 562 East Middle Turnpike and Arthur Ferrell of Pearl street had planned a ride together to Williamstown. The four boys met at the home of Ferrell and went to the Center. Ferrell and Phelps passed through the traffic at the Center and were about 400 yards in advance of the other two riders when they reached the Green.

Ferrell had made plans to stop at the McNamara garage for gasoline and turned in when he reached the station. Kompanik was last in line and when Phillips attempted to slow up on reaching the garage Kompanik became confused and failed to apply his brakes or throw out his clutch. His machine struck Phillips' throwing Kompanik to the concrete highway, fracturing his skull.

On arrival at the hospital he was placed on the critical list, and his condition has not improved today. His chance for recovery is not considered very good according to Dr. Chester Hogan, hospital interne.

Kompanik is a graduate of the State Trade School and has been employed in the Pratt and Whitney Aircraft plant as a draughtsman. The Phillips motorcycle was considerably damaged when struck by the cycle driven by Kompanik. Sergeant John McGilgan investigated.

STORM WRECKS TOWN

Sucupula, Honduras, April 20.—Word came in today from little town of Olanchito in the na country that a terrific hurricane had struck the district on Tuesday evening and wrecked the plantations, leaving nine-tenths of the people homeless.

The storm lasted for three hours or more. The corrugated iron roofs were lifted off the flimsy buildings and blown about like dead leaves, falling upon and injuring many of those who fled for shelter.

There was a storm off the coast yesterday also. The Honduran schooner Emma Grace, in the coastwise service, foundered off Colorado Bar. The cargo was lost but all the passengers and crew were saved.

CHURCH SOCIETY GIVES SURPRISE PROGRAM

Ladies' Aid Given Party By Pastor's Wife—Pleasing Entertainment.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Concordia Lutheran church enjoyed a surprise program under the direction of the wife of the pastor, Mrs. H. O. Weber, last evening, followed by a period of games and refreshments. Two short plays were given, one "The Corner Grocery Store" in which the players were Mrs. Sue Hampton as the storekeeper, Mrs. John Zimmerman, the cashier; Mrs. Lillian Suble, the agent, and the customers, Mrs. William Gess, Mrs. Frieda Morehouse, Mrs. Lillian Helm, Mrs. Reinhold Rautenberg, Miss Mildred Weber. In the other play, "The Girl from the Country," Mrs. Frieda Warner was the mother, Mrs. John Winsler the daughter and Mrs. Otto Schlack the girl from the country.

Miss Mildred Weber gave a monologue, "Mrs. O'Toole in the Shoe Shop." Vocal selections were given by several of the members and Pastor Weber made a short speech Mrs. Andrew Gerhardt and her committee served refreshments.

BARONET LOCATED

London, April 20.—(AP)—England's "missing baronet" for whom the authorities had been looking for eighteen years, reappeared today and it turned out that he had not been missing at all.

In January last year an appeal was broadcast to Sir Francis Laurence John Barrow, none of whose friends had seen him since 1913. His eldest son was seriously ill and the appeal asked the father to return. That did not bring him back but today notice of a forthcoming marriage was filed at the registry office. It showed the names, Francis Laurence John Barrow, 69, and Edith Townsend, 52, who gave a London hotel address. Barrow admitted his identity.

"I never was missing," he said, "I have been living in England all the time, but I renounced my title twenty years ago."

FIND STILL IN BRISTOL

Bristol, April 20.—(AP)—State police today began dismantling a distilling plant discovered in the two-story frame building of the Elco Beverage Company, after an explosion yesterday.

Three vats, two small boilers, two condensers and a number of 5-gallon containers were seized. Police said they believed the plant had been in operation only a short time. No arrests had been made today although police were seeking Frank Johns, associated with the company which leased the section.

Michaelangelo was essentially a sculptor and painted only occasionally.

POLICE COURT

The Joseph Charter assault case will be heard in court tomorrow morning it was stated today by Prosecuting Attorney Charles R. Hathaway.

PUBLIC RECORDS

Lease. John H. Hackett to the Gerah-Kaffenburgh Tobacco Company, 60 acres of shade growing tobacco land on the "Case" farm, so-called; 12 acres on the "Barrow lot" so-called and four acres on the "Home" lot so-called, together with one tractor, two trucks, six horses and equipment for planting and harvesting the crop on the leased land; also, shed room, 14th and poles as may be necessary to house the crop. The yearly rental is $6,000; to be paid as follows: $3,000 payable upon the execution of the lease and $3,000 payable April 1, 1933.

Warrantee Deed. Edith L. Cooke of Hartford to Aaron Cook, lot of land on East Middle Turnpike.

WOMAN SLEUTH KILLED

Cleveland, April 20.—(AP)—Mrs. Kathryn Jones, 28, a divorcee who worked as an investigator for private detective agencies, was beaten and kicked to death today in the hallway of an east side apartment. Three men running from the building were halted by patrolmen and later one of them was identified by two occupants of the apartment house as the man they saw kicking Mrs. Jones.

The woman acted as an informant for police in several liquor cases and once submitted evidence to Federal prohibition officers, one of her former employers said. She was reported to have been threatened several times and once was attacked on the street.

Federal officials, however, denied she was an "undercover" agent.

IN BANKRUPTCY

New Haven, April 20.—(AP)—An involuntary petition in bankruptcy against Shartenberg and Robinson, operators of department stores here and in Pawtucket, R. I., was dismissed yesterday by Federal Judge Carroll C. Hincks. The company is under state receivership in Rhode Island. Judge Hincks charged attorneys with laxness in the preparation of the petition and ordered the dismissal on grounds of lack of jurisdiction.

TO KEEP OUT JOBLESS

Ottawa, Ont., April 20.—(AP)—Immigration and customs officials of the Dominion government warn members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police are closely co-operating to prevent the unemployed of the United States from entering Canada, it was learned today.

Some months ago an order-in-council was passed aimed to prevent the entry of people who come to this country under a contract of employment or to negotiate for employment.

TWO SENTENCED

Westfield, Mass., April 20.—(AP)—Sentences of six months in jail were imposed today in District Court on Edward Coons, 23, and Walter Lamere, 20, both of Winsted, Conn., when they were found guilty of carrying a loaded revolver. Both entered appeals but they were unable to furnish $500. Coons is said to have a record of terms in Connecticut institutions. Charges of taking a car without permission were dropped but Winsted officers were present with Connecticut warrants on that charge.

OLD WOMAN INJURED

Jewett City, April 20.—(AP)—Mrs. Minnie Vanderburgh, 70, of Fall River, Mass., was injured and six other persons escaped unhurt last night when the automobile in which they were riding turned over and came to a stop with the wheels in the air.

Mrs. Vanderburgh was treated by a physician for internal injuries. Michael Kinane, Jr., of Fall River, driver, was arrested for driving without a license and reckless driving.

Motor Hints

Timely Suggestions on the Care of the Car by the Automobile Club of Hartford.

Look Inside For Noise. In spite of the fact that all the connections may be tight the rattling noises heard at the front of the car may still be due to the shock absorbers. Much can be wrong on the inside.

Carbon Not All Harmful. When the engine has seen a good deal of service and is in the shop for reconditioning there is much to be said for the plan of not cleaning out the cylinders too thoroughly. Some of the carbon should be left around the edges of the pistons in order to preserve a certain amount of oil seal.

Washes Engine Run Hotter. It is not generally known that if an anti-freeze with a low boiling point is used in the cooling system the motor will run hotter. This oversight is due to belief that because of the lower boiling point of the anti-freeze any appearance of overheating isn't as alarming as if the cooling system were filled with plain water.

Watch Rust In Storage. Wise is the motorist who appreciates that rusting is the chief enemy of the stored car.

Handy Test For Flywheel. Whether or not the flywheel is loose is a simple matter to determine if the car is running.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Mrs. Elizabeth Smith of Highland Park was admitted to the hospital yesterday.

Alexander Kompanik, 21, of 25 Starkweather street was admitted to the hospital last night following a motorcycle accident at Manchester Green. His name was placed on the critical list when examination disclosed a fracture at the base of the skull and hemorrhage of the brain.

A son was born at the hospital yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Quinn of 118 Main street.

Louise Wilson, 48 Spruce street and Mrs. Florence Brooks of 112 Woodland street were discharged yesterday.

George Evans of 94 High street and Miss Marion Eskin of 110 Walnut street were discharged today.

Mrs. Santa Raymond of 139 Birch street; Mrs. Celia Fallon of 81 Main street and Miss Margaret Fuller of Norwichtown were admitted today.

During the good weather yesterday and today, convalescent patients of the hospital enjoyed the warm weather on the hospital lawn and in the hospital garden.

LINDBERGH'S ENVOY GETS A MESSAGE

New York Daily News quoted him as saying he "got a message."

Red Blaine Mission. A large red plane from Kansas City landed at Princeton and he departed for the Lindbergh home. Later he returned and flew away, saying "If I'm lucky I'll be back."

Another Clue. New York, April 21.—(AP)—A special dispatch to the Brooklyn Eagle from St. Johns, New Brunswick, today said that the curly locks of a child which had been seen there have been sent to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh in Hopewell for possible identification.

A beauty parlor operator saved the locks several days ago when she cut the hair of the child.

The operator said a woman brought the child in, representing it as a girl, and said she was on her way to her sister's home in England from Western United States.

While the beauty operator cut the child's hair, the woman retired to a booth for a marble game. The beauty operator then discovered that the child was a boy.

When the woman was about to leave the beauty operator made known her discovery, whereupon, she said, the woman became flustered and fled with the child.

The operator said the child looked like the kidnaped Lindbergh baby.

The dispatch said also that Harry Fleischer, reputed Detroit gangster for whom New Jersey police have been searching, was reported seen in St. John.

YOUTH STEALS AUTO

Hartford, April 20.—(AP)—Arthur W. Johnson of Jamaica Plain, N. Y., was arrested last night at Barkhamsted on a charge of having stolen an automobile in New York. The lad, 17 years old, is claimed by the police to have admitted having taken the car yesterday.

AVERTED WAR ACT

Floyd Gibbons Tells President of Incident He Observed in Shanghai.

Washington, April 20.—(AP)—President Hoover today received in his office the largest group of visitors in recent months, among them several nationally prominent callers.

Fannie Hurst, writer, was among the first to enter, followed shortly by Dorothy Mackall, screen star, and her husband, Neil Miller, and a few minutes later by Floyd Gibbons, war correspondent.

Gibbons said he had told the President a story of an American lieutenant, Jesse Cook, Jr., of Cincinnati, who, he declared, did much to keep America from deeper involvement in the Sino-Japanese difficulties.

He related that Cook calmly called upon a detachment of Japanese soldiers to put down their arms when they suddenly appeared in his headquarters. In the International Settlement during the height of the Shanghai disturbance, after several minutes the arms were laid aside and the tensions removed, Gibbons said, adding:

MARATHON ARRESTED

Lowell, Mass., April 20.—(AP)—Charles E. Bradford, Jr., 30, sat in the court room today and heard the judge put him on probation with the understanding he pay his wife $5 weekly. Bradford sat because he was too sore to stand. He had participated in the Boston Marathon yesterday.

Mrs. Bradford said her husband had not supported her for two years and she had not known where he was until she saw the list of entries for the Marathon.

As Bradford plodded across the finish line yesterday a policeman greeted him and he was taken to Lowell. He told the court he knew no way of getting $5 weekly to pay his wife as his Marathon venture was carried out solely in the hope he might win and make some money.

One of the features will be a display of all spreads woven with colonial designs. The school will be in regular day session between the hours of 7 and 9 and all parents or other persons interested in Trade school activities and the educational advantages which they afford, are not only welcome, but urged to attend. There will be many exhibits in various departments. The school orchestra will furnish music for the occasion.

Forest Buckland opposed the issuance of bonds to reduce the town's outstanding indebtedness. Buckland said that with Cheney Brothers tearing down buildings, resulting in a continual decrease in the grand list, and tobacco land renting for $25 an acre, there was little likelihood of the bonds being taken and the chair was in doubt. On the second vote it was the opinion of the chair that the majority of those in the hall had voted against the measure. On motion of Jacob Lauer the question was put to a vote by ballot.

Reduce Interest
Selectman William Thornton asked the chair if the intention of the refunding plan was not to reduce the interest rate, and Mr. Cheney said that he understood that was the intention of the refunding plan.

Town Treasurer George H. Waddell then explained the refunding plan in detail. He said that last October when an additional tax levy should have been laid, the accumulated indebtedness of the town resulting from unpaid taxes had reached a total of $213,000 and that loans on temporary short-term notes to carry on the town's business from May 1 to October 1 this year had brought the total up to approximately $310,000.

Might Increase Tax
In a conference with the officials of the First National Bank of Boston, Mr. Waddell said that he and Mr. Rogers presented the town's financial statement and was advised that the tax rate should have been raised to cover the accumulated debt that was then being retired through the issuance of short term notes.

It was then decided that a bond issue of 5 per cent, 10 year bonds for $310,000 be recommended to cover the existing indebtedness, as the town was having difficulty in securing loans on notes of short duration to clear up the floating debt. The issuance of the bonds were recommended so as not to increase the mill rate on next year's taxes, which otherwise would soar to an additional five mills. The bond issue was not intended to increase the town debt in any way, said Mr. Waddell.

Willard B. Rogers asked if the bond issue was defeated whether or not the tax rate would increase and Mr. Waddell said that it would, and should have been so increased last year.

Bowers For It
Selectman Sherwood G. Bowers spoke in favor of the bond issue and urged its acceptance by the voters present. The moderator, appointed Willard B. Rogers, Joseph Tedford, Walter Gorman and Joseph Hutton, tellers and the vote was taken. Of a total of 216 votes cast, 151 were "Yes" and 62 "No" with three blanks. On motion of the Town Treasurer the vote was made unanimous.

Vendors' Fees
With the refunding plan out of the way, the attention of the meeting was directed to the petition of certain business men to increase the fees for non-resident vendors. Jacob Lauer objected, saying that he thought resident vendors of ties or homemade articles should not be taxed, and Judge William S. Hyde informed the objector that exemptions covered that particular class of vendor.

The vote on the vendor's amendment was unanimous. The measure provides payment of $1.00 a week or $5.00 a year for local business men and $5.00 a day or $100 a year for out-of-town vendors. The license must be taken out April 1 each year for the full year and will expire March 31 of each year.

The new amendment is in force within ten days of passage and supercedes the ordinance calling for a license fee of $10 a year. So many exemptions were written in the final draft of the bill, necessary to conform to State laws, that the original intent of the act was lost. The meeting adjourned at 8:50 p. m.

PICK UP ALIENS
Stamford, April 20.—(AP)—Eight men and a woman, two from Darien, one from Cos Cob and the rest from Stamford were picked up during the night by immigration inspectors on charges of entering this country illegally. The woman, wife of Steve Nagy of Darien, was released on her own recognizance pending a hearing and the rest, including her husband were taken to Hartford by bus early this morning. Two are Hungarians, two Italians and five Portuguese. The latter were all picked up in Stamford.

BLAMES POLITICS FOR BONUS DEMAND

are "badly led by a lot of self-appointed political leaders" in seeking a bonus payment. He added that he regarded war service as the inherent obligation of every able bodied citizen. "If we are tending toward making the veterans a special class," he continued.

"I think all the money the government can afford for veterans should be spent on disabled veterans, appear also as a tax payer. When I see 26 percent of the national budget going to veterans relief, I want to know why it is necessary."

Are Badly Led
Castle said "we believe the veterans are badly led."

"I don't mean within their organization," he added. "I think the American people are willing to pay for the care of disabled veterans, but if history is any criteria, payment of the bonus now is only the beginning of a juggernaut that will lead to hysteria."

Dr. William C. Durham, another independent veteran who accompanied Castle, said "if Congress had intended making a cash payment before 1945, it would have written the law differently."

Castle favored eliminating interest on veteran certificate loans. Durham suggested the interest might be reduced to what the loan money cost the government.

Both Castle and Durham formerly were identified with the Ex-Services Men's Anti-Bonus League. Durham said the league had been disbanded after the Detroit Legion convention as no longer necessary.

Supported by Mellon.
After the hearing Representative Patman (D., Tex.) leading bonus sponsor, issued a statement in which he said this league had been supported principally by donations from Andrew W. Mellon, then secretary of the Treasury.

Patman added: "The Mellon connection has made the name offensive. The name has been changed to Veterans Committee to Reduce the Cost of Peace. Patriotic hands but Mellon's voice."

"Col. Castle admitted the interest payments should be eliminated on veterans' loans. This can only be defended on the ground that the maturity value of a certificate is due now. Otherwise, interest payments should continue. He admits full payment is due but is against making the payment."

New York, April 20.—Declines in heavy melting steel at Pittsburgh and Chicago have forced the "Iron Age" scrap composite price to $8.04 a ton, a new all time low. The composite prices for pig iron and finished steel are unchanged at $1 gross ton and 2.087 cents a pound respectively.

Thomas H. McInerney, president of the National Dairy Products Corp., and Alexander B. Royce of Chadbourn, Stanchfield and Levy, have been elected directors of Gimbel Brothers, Inc.

Attorneys for the creditors protective committee of Palmer & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange, which was suspended for insolvency in December today announced a plan of settlement with creditors. The plan estimates that liquid assets should realize approximately 35 cents on the dollar after which certificates of participation payable in three years in a liquidating corporation will be issued to the creditors.

LEAPS TO DEATH

New York, April 20.—(AP)—James M. Fairbanks, 40, who was to have been sentenced for grand larceny in General Sessions Court today, jumped to his death from the window of his room on the 20th floor of the Hotel Dixie (262 West 43rd street) this morning.

Fairbanks killed himself just a few minutes before his attorney, George Mars, telephoned to the hotel in response to a note from Fairbanks. The note merely asked the lawyer to call the hotel if Fairbanks did not appear in court when his case was called.

Several tenants of the hotel saw him stand for a moment on the sill of his window in the court, and jump. The body landed on a three-story extension. Cards found in his room gave two addresses for Fairbanks, one at West Acton, Mass., and one at 649 Edgar road, Westfield, N. J. No notes were found in the room.

MONEY BLOWS AWAY

Milford, April 20.—(AP)—Percy Rogers, Devon fruit dealer, watched, amused, when a group of men leaped from a passing car and started pursuing a number of bills blowing in the wind.

A little later when a customer asked to have a bill changed, he found the $23 in his own pocket lost. Remembering he had gotten out of his own car where he saw the strangers pursuing the money a few minutes earlier, he ran out. A policeman gave him a $5 bill which he had found nearby.

Bridgeport police were asked to stop a car answering the description of the one in which the money chasers had departed.

LT. O'BRIEN DEAD
Winthrop, Mass., April 20.—(AP)—Lieutenant Robert L. O'Brien, 35, state supervisor of aviation, died today at his home after a long illness.

O'Brien was a native of Boston and a graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He entered the U. S. Army Flying Service during the World War, serving at Dallas, Texas, and Memphis, Tenn., flying fields. He leaves a widow and one son.

BUYS BUCKLAND SITE FOR PARK

State Acquires Old Tavern Property To Improve It As Beauty Spot.

The old Buckland Tavern property, one of the early landmarks of Manchester, a spot that was known to old time travelers as the way of Toland Turnpike from Boston to New York, was yesterday sold by Mary Callahan, who has owned the property for over thirty-five years, to the State of Connecticut. The sale was made through James W. Foley. The property is at the corner of North Main street and Buckland street.

The purchase of the property by the state is intended to remove from the site the rather dilapidated building, which was never fully repaired after being damaged by fire over ten years ago. The site is to be converted into a highway system parklet.

The building was erected before Manchester was incorporated and at one time housed one of the two post offices in Manchester. Manchester Green having the first office and Oakland the second, the latter being transferred to Buckland.

It has had many owners and came to the Callahan family through members of the Pickles family, who were active in the paper business in Buckland at one time.

expected to get this confession unless his reason was unbalanced. "Did you approach this case intending to learn if the witness were telling the truth?" demanded Ulrich.

"I certainly did. An insane man will lie to you and you know he's lying, but you know he's insane." As an after thought Dr. Orblison added:

"And money couldn't buy my belief. And I haven't received a cent." "You mean you don't expect to receive any compensation?"

To Get Something
"I don't mean that at all. I do expect to receive something. When I arrived I was told this was not a charity case, but they had taken up a collection and, although they didn't believe it was one tenth of what I probably expected to receive, it was all they could pay."

Dr. Williams said his observation was that Massie had fallen into mental tension. In an aside to the jury he said:

"You hear in a joking way about monkey glands. It isn't a joke, it is so important that six weeks ago the American Medical Association said that endocrine glands were the basis of all future medicine."

"If I could have tested Lieut. Massie's blood at the time this thing happened, it would have shown the gland secretions were deficient. This man carried about him a bomb. He was in an automatic condition. I am convinced he is telling the truth."

Natives Resentful
Honolulu, April 20.—(AP)—A serpent has come into this Eden of the Pacific and tranquility, for a time, is gone.

A prominent American who has spent his life in the islands said today resentment will remain regardless of the verdict in the trial of Lieut. Thomas H. Massie and three others for the slaying of a Hawaiian accused of attacking Mrs. Massie.

In that he agreed with Seth W. Richardson, assistant attorney general, who reported as much to Congress.

The American, who asked that his name be withheld, said he voiced this belief of the white population generally.

The Hawaiian people have not been so stirred since the kingdom of Hawaii was overthrown by revolution.

The natives avidly follow the trail of Massie; Mrs. Granville Fortescue, his socially prominent mother-in-law; Albert O. Jones and E. J. Lord, Navy enlisted men, for the lynching of Joseph Kahahawai.

Is Not Believed
Excitement gripped them when Massie testified he held the gun that killed Kahahawai. The Hawaiians, the American pointed out, generally do not believe Kahahawai was one of the five attackers.

Kahahawai knelt before a priest and swore he was innocent. When Massie testified he held the pistol against Kahahawai's chest and heard him say "Yes, we done it," a Hawaiian remarked "of course he admitted it. Anybody would if he was threatened with death."

In contrast, the American said, the whites here generally feel that after hearing "yes, we done it," Massie was justified in killing Kahahawai.

Massie's conviction of Kahahawai's guilt is not considered by the Hawaiians a sufficient reason for the killing.

ABOUT TOWN

Salvatore Angelo of Pine street is home from the Newport Training School for 14 days' leave of absence. His company is given four extra days for having the neatest company at the school.

About fifty members of Campbell Council, Knights of Columbus, including the members of the committee for this year, held a dinner at Osano's cottage on Bolton Lake last night. The dinner is usually an annual affair held by the ball committee.

The Women of the Moose will hold a public setback party tomorrow evening at the Home clubhouse on Brainard place. There will be six prizes, all donated by members and refreshments. Playing will begin at 8:15. Mrs. Joseph Colicchio heads the committee of arrangements.

Mrs. Edward Madsen of Eldridge street entertained the Ladies Aid society of the Quarryville Methodist church this afternoon.

Juniors who took part in the program in Odd Fellows hall last night preceding the regular meeting of the Women's Benefit Association, were Dorothy Tedford and Herbert Gilman who played piano solos, Vivian Stoehr and Walter Gutzmer who sang, Elton and Donald Cowles appeared in a short comedy skit, and the Quinlan group of three Irish songs, Eleanor Vincek and Vivian Stoehr recited. The program closed with the singing of two songs by the children's chorus, after which refreshments were served.

Mrs. W. H. Varney of Scarborough Road is making an extended visit with relatives in different sections of Maine.

Rev. O. E. Tourtelotte of East Hartford, who preaches Sunday mornings at the Quarryville Methodist church and has just been returned for the fourth year, with Mrs. Tourtelotte was given a reception by the members of the Ladies Aid society. The church was tastefully decorated for the occasion and guests were present from this and nearby towns. A pleasing musical and literary program was given and a buffet lunch served.

The new oil spreader of the Connecticut State Highway Department is spreading a coating of oil on East Street today. The machine spreads the sand much more evenly than under the old method of hand spreading, and the work is being done much faster with less interruption to traffic.

Everything is set for the Kiddies Spring Frolic and parade starting from the Center this afternoon at 4:30. The event is sponsored by the Manchester Merchants cooperating in the "Manchester Day" tomorrow and eight prizes will be awarded to the winners of the best decorated bicycles, velocipedes, tricycles and baby carriages. The prizes will be awarded at the Chamber of Commerce office Saturday.

Frank Cervini of 216 Oak street has returned home from the Veterans' Hospital at Newington, where he underwent an operation, and is now making rapid progress towards recovery.

resented the defendants contended that the calculations showing the position of the Coast Guard boat at the time of the capture might not be accurate.

Assistant U. S. District Attorney George H. Cohen prosecuted the case for the government and contended that the boat was about ten miles off Nantucket Island when seized.

Judge Thomas asked the counsel to file briefs of their arguments.

SHAKE DOWN COP

Chicago, April 20.—(AP)—Policeman Edward Hartig of suburban Maywood had to make a decision last night and it cost him a dime.

He was on his way to report for duty at the station when he met four boys, each about nine years old.

"We want ten cents to buy candy," said one of the youngsters.

"And why?" asked the officer, "should I give you boys ten cents?"

"Well," replied the spokesman for the four, "if I was a nice policeman and had on a new uniform like you have and four boys might pay me with rotten eggs," would you?"

Policeman Hartig found this a convincing argument and paid.

TO WITHDRAW TROOPS

Nanking, April 20.—(AP)—China has decided to accept the draft resolution on withdrawal of troops from the Shanghai area prepared by the League of Nations committee of nineteen, foreign office spokesman announced today.

Dr. W. W. Yen, China's representative on the League Council, has been instructed accordingly.

The League of Nations committee of nineteen, representing that many member governments, adopted a resolution yesterday asking Japan to complete evacuation of the Shanghai area "in the near future." The resolution gave full authority to the mixed commission which has been negotiating for an armistice at Shanghai to determine when evacuation can reasonably be effected.

PLAN TO BUILD SKI-BOATS HERE

Dexter Brothers Constructing Light, Fast Craft of Own Design.

Something comparatively new and novel in the way of a water pleasure craft is the 39-pound skiboat being made here exclusively by the Dexter Brothers Boat Company. This craft is lighter, faster, sturdier and less expensive than a canoe. It is 16 feet in length and 28 inches wide.

The framework is made of Sitka spruce, the same as is used in construction of airplanes. It is covered with ten-ounce canvas protected and tautened with airplane dope. Silver is the standard color. Four separate watercraft compartments are another feature of the skiboat which can easily be picked up with one hand.

The skiboat has been very popular in Germany since the war and has been used extensively there. The type of construction of the Dexter Brothers boat differs considerably, principally in the dope fabric. The craft is primarily for lake or pond use but also affords opportunity for plenty of sport at the seashore. It may also be used for duck hunting or river fishing because of being so easy to transport.

Both of the Dexter brothers, Franklin C. and Robert G., are well known in Manchester, having lived here for many years.

HOMESTEAD BURNS

New Canaan, April 20.—(AP)—The home known as the Lemant homestead, owned by John C. Minor of New York, was destroyed by fire yesterday with damage estimated at $35,000. Lack of pressure in fire hydrants hindered firemen.

PARCELS POST RATES DROP NEXT OCTOBER

Average Decrease in Postage Is 7 and 8 Per Cent — Size Limit the Same.

Postmaster Frank B. Crocker of the South Manchester post office today announced that a modification of the postage rates on fourth class matter (parcels post) will become effective on the first day of next October. There is no charge for local delivery of packages up to the limit of 70 pounds.

For packages up to the limit of 70 pounds, for delivery within the first three zones, (up to 300 miles), the rates are higher by an average of about 6 per cent. For packages up to the limit of 70 pounds, for delivery within the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth zones, (all over 300 miles), the rates are lower by an average of about 9 per cent.

The average change for all eight zones is therefore a decrease of between 7 per cent and 8 per cent. The limit of size remains unchanged at 100 inches in length and girth combined.

DAUGHTERS OF ISABELLA TO CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY

St. Margaret's Circle, Daughters of Isabella, will celebrate its seventh anniversary Monday evening, April 25, at St. James's school hall. The dinner will be served at 6:30 by the Coffee shop. The meeting and initiation of candidates will follow.

Mrs. Margaret Hannon of New Britain, who organized the circle, will be present, also the state regent, Miss E. Shea of Waterbury.

The committee in charge includes Mrs. Lillian Carney, chairman; Mrs. Margaret Charrier, Mrs. Stella Simpson, Mrs. Inez Batson, Mrs. Bessie Birnie, Miss Nellie Heffron.

A rehearsal for the officers, and a meeting of Mrs. Carney's committee is called for Friday evening of this week at 7:30 in St. James's school.

John McConville, the nurseryman, of 21 Windmere street sponsored and successfully conducted a public dance last Saturday evening in the gym of the Recreation Center.

There was no cost involved, the orchestra, printing, hall, refreshments all were contributed through his efforts. About 100 people attended, enjoying both old and modern dancing. The proceeds amounting to $36.05 have been turned over to the Manchester Emergency Employment Association, Inc.

TONY'S BANKROLL ROLLS UP WOES

Half Dozen Charges Against Him Now and Many More To Follow.

Newark, N. J., April 20.—(AP)—Like a paper wad from a rubber band, Tony Misiak's $32,917 bankroll shot back today to smack him—wham!

Mrs. Misiak showed up; Mrs. Misiak who for a quarter of a century worked in laundries to pay the bills so that Tony could save his money.

Preceding and accompanying Mrs. Misiak to the jail house where Tony is held for mendacity and liquor toting, were numerous legal papers, all boding no good to Tony.

Mrs. Misiak, confronting her husband, said: "Aha! I betcha you'll be sorry, huh?"

Tony was taking no wagers. His funds were in escrow. The term was strange to him, but the import was apparent. It simmered down to the fact that the $32,917 he had had in his pockets when arrested Monday for begging, was no longer in his pockets.

Tony made no secret of the vexation the legal papers caused him. One set announced bluntly that he was on the receiving end of a suit for separate maintenance and alimony. In connection with this, his cash was automatically tied up.

This circumstance was especially unfortunate. It prevented his posting $5,000 bond to guarantee his remaining in the country while the legal actions are pending.

Personal Tax

At the same time the Essex county tax board (just like a tax board) indicated it would have a look at the Misiak situation. A personal tax on the Misiak money would return the Treasury a pretty penny. Police thought it quite likely that the Federal government, too, would arch an eyebrow at Tony's assembled assets.

Mrs. Misiak had something to say: "He is a good man for working and saving money—but for me he is no good."

Wife Supported Him

She said that throughout their married life she had supported the two of them to permit Tony to save his money, with the understanding it was to be "their" money, not his. She even gave him 25 cents a day for spending money. Tony therefore was able to bar his $10 a week salary as porter, plus whatever sums he might acquire as a now-and-then mendicant.

The situation, as Tony faced it today, was:

Suit for separation and alimony. A charge of liquor toting (a bottle having been found in his pocket).

An investigation by the tax board.

An order that he post bond against leaving the country.

An order putting his money in escrow.

There were some other possibilities, police said; but Tony thought he would cross those bridges when he got to them, there being too many bridges already as far as he was concerned. "You put me out of the house," Mrs. Misiak said to him, with accompanying gestures. "Now the court has your money. Pretty soon the lawyers will get it. I betcha you'll be sorry."

Tony sighed and declined to wager. From where he sat it looked like Mrs. Misiak had a cinch bet.

Dial Twisters

By W. J. DALTON

The melody which introduces Amos and Andy is called "The Perfect Song" and was written, originally, as the theme song for the motion picture, "The Birth of a Nation." The song was played for the boys, at first, by a trio but has been augmented from time to time until now we hear it rendered by six musicians. A phonograph record has never been used on their program.

We shall miss the pleasant, southern drawl of Jack Brinkley; his pay check no longer comes from WTIC. This station, like many others, is backed by a company with an international reputation and its announcers must think half a dozen times before uttering a word which has not been censored. Too bad Mr. Brinkley isn't as famous as George Bernard Shaw. If he were he could cash-in on his personal opinions.

Speaking of cashing-in, Kate Smith has earned $270,000 during the past year while Morton Downey has had to work 16 months for $285,000. Eddie Cantor has only a little over $50,000 to show for six months' labor on the air. In the past year Amos and Andy has received a million each for their ideas of entertainment.

So long as we are 'way up in war-debt figures we might tell you that the Columbia Broadcasting System, with its 89 stations, charges $18,950 for an hour's use of its network. WEAf and its chain of 61 stations command $12,880 for an hour on the air and WJZ with a tall of 54 other stations has a price tag of $11,740.

Still on the subject of figures—Julia Sanderson is 45 years old, Elsie Janis is 42 and Edna Wallace Hopper is 58. By the way, how old is Tony Wons?

Jessica Dragonette was born in Calcutta, India.

Alice Joy has a three year old daughter.

Floyd Gibbons is on his way back to the United States after covering the Jiro-Japanese dispute. He is being showered with contracts by those who recognize his popularity.

The radio is being used as a medium to explain the Japanese side of the recent unofficial war. Japan, recognizing the value of American good-will, naturally wishes to appear in a favorable light.

The vaudeville team of Van and Schenck of course is no more, due to the death of Joe Schenck. Van will be heard over the air, hereafter, sponsored by a collar concern.

Walter Howell says that Ben Bernie is muscle-bound from looking around those corners for prosperity. Which leads us to wonder why Mr. Winchell worries about the corners with his four thousand or so each weekly payday. Winchell is off the air temporarily due to a nervous breakdown.

FIND COUPLE MURDERED

Garden City, N. Y., April 20.—(AP)—The body of a man who had been stabbed to death and a woman whose head had been crushed were found today in an open field in Garden City Park, Long Island.

The victims of what police described "must have been a terrific struggle" were discovered by K. L. Hulbert, of Rockville Center a top soil salesman. Police said the assailants did not leave any clues.

The man was identified as E. B. Brinker, Jr., of Jackson Heights, and the woman was believed to be Rose Welk, of Flushing. Both were about 35 years old.

The woman's mouth was covered with adhesive tape. There were numerous stab wounds in the man's throat and chest.

CLUBWOMEN OF STATE TO MEET NEXT WEEK

Convention of Connecticut Federation To Be Held At Hotel Bond Starting Tuesday.

Mrs. James A. Irvine. Retiring president of the Cosmopolitan Club will be in charge of platform arrangements at the coming convention of the Connecticut State Federation of Women's Clubs, to be held at the Hotel Bond, Hartford, next week Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Hartford County club women will be hostesses under the leadership of Mrs. George W. Perry and Mrs. George H. Stoughton, both of Hartford. Delegates from the Cosmopolitan Club are Mrs. Irvine and the incoming president, Mrs. Raymond Burnham.

Delegates and members are urged to be present at the opening session Tuesday at 10:30 a. m. which will feature addresses of welcome, reports of officers and committees, with luncheon at 12:15 followed by addresses by Howard J. Leahy of Massachusetts state prison on "Social Hazards and Criminal Careers" and "Our County Jails" by Chief Justice William J. Malby of Connecticut. Tuesday afternoon the speakers will be Hon. Emma Fall Schofield of Massachusetts whose topic will be "World Affairs," and Dr. Henry D. Deninger, who will speak on "Individualism in American Education." Tuesday at 6 the dinner speaker will be Professor A. Tighman Merritt of Trinity college who will discuss "Music Appreciation."

Tuesday evening the delegates and members will attend a concert at Bushnell Memorial by the Hartford Oratorio Society and Boston Symphony orchestra.

Wednesday morning A. Everett Austin, director of the Morgan Memorial, will speak on "Art in the Community." Thomas H. Desmond, Sibley landscape architect will lecture on "Planting the Garden." Mrs. Ellis F. Thurber will speak on "Our Foreign Born." Kirby Page, editor of World Tomorrow will speak on "How International Peace May Be Enforced."

Luncheon Wednesday will be at 12:30, when Walter J. Couper, state deputy commissioner of labor will speak on "State Problems on Industry." In the afternoon on Wednesday, Polish folk songs in costume will be presented by a Polish Girls' club, sponsored by the Suffolk members. The address will be delivered by Dr. James Gordon Gilkey of Springfield on "The American of Tomorrow," and Rabbi Feldman of Hartford will speak on "Who is the Good Citizen?" At 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon the club women will visit the Morgan Memorial, in the evening at 7 a reception will be held in honor of the national

150 PLAY CARDS AT LEGION PARTY

Third and Final Affair Proves Big Success—Welfare Fund Increased By $100.

The third and final card party under the auspices of Dilworth-Cornell Post No. 102, American Legion and its Auxiliary was held last evening in the Masonic Temple adjoining the Dilworth-Cornell Post. There is a possibility that these affairs will be continued in the fall for their conduct has added $100 to the Welfare Fund which is used for the relief of the veterans and their families here in Manchester.

Miss Julia Sheridan captured first prize in whist, Mrs. M. L. Wright second, and low went to Mrs. J. H. Hewitt. The following were winners at set-back: Robert Curran first, Mrs. Peter Fry second, Mrs. Frank Bray consolation. Progressive bridge brought out the largest number of players first prize being awarded to Mrs. Fred Bantley, second to Mrs. Mary Scranton while low fell to the lot of Mrs. William Munie. Mrs. May Pater won the honors in pivot bridge, Mrs. Mary Walworth was a close second and Mrs. D. W. Kelsey won the low prize.

Dilworth-Cornell Post wishes to publicly thank all those whose attendance at these card parties has contributed to such a worthy cause. Chairman Michael McDonnell and his Ways and Means committee have worked hard to make the gatherings enjoyable and their efforts have been well rewarded.

MISS MORGAN DECORATED

New York, April 20.—(AP)—Miss Anne Morgan, sister of J. P. Morgan, has been given the rank of commander in the French Legion of Honor, it was announced today.

Only one other woman, the Countess de Noailles of France, is a commander in the Legion, and Miss Morgan is the first American woman to have received that rank.

The award was made in recognition of the restoration by Miss Morgan and a group of her friends, including Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, of the Chateau de Blerancourt. The chateau, built in the seventeenth century, was headquarters during the war of Miss Morgan and her assistants in the committee for devaluing France. It is now a Franco-American museum.

SEABURY RECEIVES HIS FIRST CHECK

Gets $50,000 Payment For One Year's Work Probing Tammany Hall.

Albany, N. Y., April 20.—(AP)—A check for $50,000 was mailed today to Samuel Seabury, counsel to the Hofstadter legislative investigating committee by the New York state comptroller.

This is the first money paid Seabury for his work as chief investigator of Tammany's administration of New York City. The legislative investigation began a year ago.

The Seabury check was drawn on the "contingent fund" of the Legislature into which the $750,000 appropriation by the legislature for the New York City inquiry was paid.

According to figures in the comptroller's office the Hofstadter investigation has cost $590,592. There remains a balance of $159,407. The monthly average cost of the inquiry is $25,000.

Seabury's salary was the subject of bitter debate in the legislature last winter when the Republicans pushed through an additional appropriation of $250,000. Samuel Hofstadter, New York City Senator, parried Democratic inquiries as to what Seabury would receive, asserting payment would be "adequate" but not "extravagant." Hofstadter said he did not believe $100,000 would be too much.

Queer Twists In Day's News

New York—Anna Sten, who has come from Germany to act in the movies, says she knows only five American words. But they are important words—"Darling, Sweetheart, I love you."

Rome, N. Y.—Maybe Uncle Sam will faint from astonishment when he hears the news. The Rome Chamber of Commerce sent him word to postpone building a new postoffice for the city. It urged him to keep the money in the interests of economy.

Oklahoma City—Golf is hard on the eyes, opines R. Neiswander, who has filed a $21,608 damage suit against Ernest Blumenthal. He says that Blumenthal, after miffing a six-inch putt, swung his club angrily over his shoulder. The club, the plaintiff adds, hit him in the eye and destroyed the sight.

Salt Lake City—If Tommy could talk, he might say: "This is no way to celebrate 'Be Kind to Animals Week.'" Tommy, big black ape at the Zoo, had a toothache, so they hauled him to a dentist and yanked it. But it took six men and 1 1/2 cans of ether to overcome Tommy's dissent.

CHINESE JOAN OF ARC FIGHTS IN MANCHURIA

Harbin, Manchuria, April 20.—(AP)—A twenty-year-old Chinese girl, known among the natives hereabouts as a modern Joan of Arc, is playing a prominent part in the insurgency along the eastern section of the Chinese Eastern railway, say Chinese reports.

As leader of 1,000 Chinese volunteers opposing the Manchoukuo authority in northern Kirin province, which borders on Soviet Russian territory, she is said to have led her band against the detachment of Chinese provincial forces with such enthusiasm the Manchoukuo troops retreated in haste before the fiery attack.

UNCLE SAM'S AIDS TO FLOWER GARDENERS

PLANNING OF GARDEN ON PAPER HELPS ARRANGE FLOWERS IN BEST DISPLAY

This is the second of a series of articles on flower gardening written especially for NEA Service and The Herald.

By DR. WM. A. TAYLOR, Chief, Bureau of Plant Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture

Flower gardens ought to be planted at least twice—once, at least, on paper before planting in soil. The pencil precedes the spade for good effect.

Probably there are no living gardens that ever reach in June the perfection possible in January or February gardens, the raw materials of which are a pencil, seed catalogues, garden books and bulletins, and sheets of wrapping paper.

The garden on paper is not a fanciful, but rather a thoroughly practical—almost an essential—aid in reaching even measurably near to the perfect garden. On paper it is easy to detect and rectify errors, correct omissions, and check up color combinations and the relative heights of plants that are to be neighbors.

The paper garden combines something of the usefulness of the blueprint and specifications which the architect prepares for the builder, and the sketch which the artist makes before he starts painting an important canvas.

To start a paper garden takes only a few minutes. Pace off or measure the principal dimension walks, trees, buildings, bushes, of the area, and locate correctly and other established figures. A scale of one inch to the foot is convenient when plots are not too big. Next locate flowering plants now in the garden and make note of the colors, height, and so on. Then comes the planning of the garden-to-be.

Correct Mistakes on Paper Almost every gardener has favorites which he feels must appear in his garden. But where? Perhaps he recalls that last summer his lupines did not look so blue and his zinnias not so warm a red as some he saw in a neighbor's garden. Perhaps the only trouble was they were too close together and each killed the effect of the other, because the colors clashed and did not harmonize. Again, it is obviously foolish to plant a low-growing old-fashioned pink to the rear of a thick row of tall marigolds.

FORMER STEEL HEAD "CLEANS OUT" DESK

New York, April 20.—(AP)—James A. Farrell, retiring president of the United States Steel Corp., "cleaned out" his desk at the corporation's offices at 71 Broadway today and, as one of his last unofficial executive acts, gave an audience to a discharged clerk who had asked that he be accorded "justice."

William C. Thompson, of Homestead, Pa., was the lowly employe who arose at yesterday's annual meeting of steel stockholders at Hoboken, and announced he had been unjustly "fired" some time ago and had been unable to put his case before anyone in authority.

"Hearken to my voice, oh Brother Judge," Thompson came, was seen, but whether he conquered was not stated. At any rate, he explained to Farrell, he had been an employe of the McKeesport connecting railroad, a feeder for the National Tube Co. and a subsidiary of the steel corporation, for 22 years. He had an altercation with the foreman and was discharged. He wanted his job back because he felt he had been unjustly treated.

At Farrell's office it was explained that Thompson, after his interview with the ex-president, had gone back to Pittsburgh "perfectly satisfied." While it was not expected he would return to the railroad, it was understood he might be taken care of in some other of the corporation's plants.

CHARGED WITH ARSON

New London, April 20.—(AP)—Lieberman Sharaf, president and treasurer of the Sharaf Furniture Company went on trial in the police court today on a charge of arson, growing out of a $25,000 fire at the company's store in Main street on the morning of March 14.

His arrest resulted from an investigation by state police of the Groton Barracks and former State Police Commissioner Robert T. Hurley of New Hartford, chief Connecticut representative of the Fire Insurance Underwriters Exchange. There are many witnesses to be heard and it is expected the trial will continue throughout tomorrow.

Woman Goes Into Trance While in Court Room

London, April 20.—(AP)—A woman spiritualist medium interrupted her suit for libel against a newspaper today by going into a trance in the midst of the court's summation of the case.

She was Mrs. Meurig Morris, who charged that the newspaper printed on January 26 an article about her which was advertised as "a trance medium found out."

While Justice McCardie was summing up the case for the jury today, Mrs. Morris suddenly stood up with her eyes closed and said in a deep voice: "Hearken to my voice, oh Brother Judge."

The interrupted justice ordered her to be seated. Someone in the courtroom shouted, "Let her speak." Justice McCardie demurred and ordered her taken out of the courtroom, but when the usher went toward her, the deep voice boomed out again.

"Do not touch her until I have left her body." She was still in a trance several hours after she had been removed from the courtroom.

The justice in his summation said he disliked such cases.

"One wonders whether some witnesses are not in a world of illusion," he said, "whether they are not really living in a world of dreams."

The witnesses in the case included Lady Conan Doyle, Sir Oliver Lodge and other spiritualists, who testified that mediums did not reveal their own ideas when they went into trances, but rather spoke as a motivation from the spirit world.

HARRY THAW'S NEPHEW HURT IN PLANE CRASH

Westwood, Mass., April 20.—(AP)—Edward I. Thaw, Jr., 23-year-old nephew of Harry K. Thaw, today was on the danger list at the Norwood hospital, where he was taken after his plane crashed near the Westwood Airport. Two companions were less seriously injured.

Police said the trio had been stunt flying and that the engine apparently "went dead while the plane was in a dive."

Specialists were called to attend Thaw, who, it was feared, suffered a fracture of the skull. His companions, Henry Merriam of South Braintree and Clifford Townner of Boston, sustained broken jaws and a broken nose respectively.

A large crowd was at the airport when the crash occurred yesterday. The plane fell in rough terrain outside the flying field and immediately caught fire. Pilots and spectators extinguished the blaze and extricated the men.

Thaw was born at Zurich, Switzerland, and studied at Harvard. He quit college to enter a Boston banking firm and left business two years ago to take up commercial flying.

He then displayed the raiders' warrant, pointing out that by mistake it was dated March 27, 1932, which would make it valid some 17,300 years hence.

Judge McCarthy continued the hearing until May 4.

FEDERAL AGENTS MAKE 30 ARRESTS

Hundred Men Stage Raids On New York Speakeasies With Little Success.

New York, April 20.—(AP)—Federal prohibition officials today resumed a series of raids begun yesterday on speakeasies recently listed in a census made under direction of Amos W. W. Woodcock, National prohibition enforcement director.

Fifty teams of two prohibition agents each conducted the raids, which were confined mostly to small establishments in Manhattan.

Thirty defendants, 28 of them arrested in the course of raids and two as they were alleged to have been conveying five gallons of alcohol in an automobile, were arraigned before United States Commissioner Garrett W. Cotter up to 1 p. m. All were charged with possession, maintaining a nuisance or conveying liquor, and bail was set for hearings May 3.

Among the prohibition agents reporting to the Federal building today were many who had visited or attempted to visit suspected places and had failed to gain admittance.

A number of them obtained search warrants, but would not disclose any information in advance of execution of the warrants.

It became known today that Henry Bradford, deputy prohibition administrator who has played a leading part in midnight night club raids for the last year, has been shifted from those duties within the last day or two.

BUYS BIG ESTATE

New London, April 20.—(AP)—Philip Plant, New York millionaire announced today that he would purchase the Oswegatchie house, well known summer hotel on the Niantic river in Waterford for conversion into a summer home.

The hotel was founded by Plant's grandfather John Manwaring and after the latter's death was conducted for many years by the new purchaser's father, the late Selden E. Manwaring.

Involved in the sale in addition to the hotel are a pavilion, a large tract of land and a dozen cottages, most of which face on the river. Plant plans to convert the pavilion into a yacht station and the cottages will be moved elsewhere. The property, purchased by Mr. Plant, adjoins a large tract recently purchased by his mother, the present Mrs. Hayward, wife of Colonel William Hayward former U. S. district attorney for the southern district of New York.

 WEDNESDAY, APRIL 20.

120,000,000 population this means a per capita tax of 38 cents a day. For a family of five that is $1.90 a day. And let no citizen imagine that because he has no direct dealings with a tax collector to that extent he is not having to pay his part. His local taxes are in his rent, in the prices he must pay for necessities of life because the dealer has had to include his own business taxes therein, in the cigarettes he smokes—six cents to the government out of every fifteen cent purchase; in the gas for his car. At every turn he is paying taxes.

Taxes have risen because more and more people have taken to riding the back of the taxpayer. A few years ago one out of every 22 persons gainfully employed was on a public payroll. Now one out of every eleven is feeding at the public crib.

We have created scores of thousands of new government jobs, federal, state and local—and in every one of them is a tax eater. Since the automobile—dubious blessing—took possession of human intelligence we have had to enormously increase the number of public employees on highways, on police forces, local and state, in office buildings to keep track of what the other new employes are doing. We have multiplied and multiplied again our welfare and "cultural" activities—and the jobs that go with them. We have at least twice as many school teachers and officials in proportion to the number of children that once we had. We have gone on and on establishing bureaus and breeding bureaucrats until capable statisticians tell us that if we were to go on in the same way for twenty years more we would have one office holder on the payroll for every non-office holding tax payer. Every worker's family would have to support the family of one public cribster.

When the question of taxation is up let no individual imagine that it is something that affects him not at all or only a very little. It is a very tremendous affair and it tremendously affects every man, woman and child in the country.

The early Americans fought a great war over the business of taxation. They did not fight for a few pounds, shillings and pence but because they realized that taxation, out of hand, can smother the life of any nation and ruin any civilization no matter how virile.

And the people are actually beginning to think again about taxation—and the causes of taxation.

DON'T OWN THE SHIP
 A good deal of pretty specious argument has been presented by advocates of the payment of the soldiers' bonus in the course of the hearings before the House Ways and Means Committee.

"If you pay the bonus," said one witness on Monday, "you will do just in part what you did for the railroads and big corporations." Meaning the operation of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

If Congress had ever voted two billion dollars to be paid over to banks or railroads as subsidies there would be a sound element of fact in this argument. But Congress did nothing of the kind. It voted authority to a commission to make loans to banks and railroads, and the banks and railroads will be required in the course of time to pay back those loans.

Another witness said: "I heard you argue here about what effect this may have on securities. The veteran asks: 'Who owns the securities?' Not the veteran, the farmer, the unemployed."

That is very true. The veteran does ask that question. And the veteran, the farmer and the unemployed do not, as a rule, own many securities, or any securities at all.

But the financing of American industries and even American agriculture is based very largely on securities and if the value of the securities is depressed very much farther than at present there will be no financing and no industry and mighty little agriculture.

Evidently some of the witnesses favoring the bonus payment have a very sketchy idea of the way our civilization is organized. They seem to think it makes no difference to them if the whole fiscal structure of the country should go to smash. They are like the passenger who when the ship was reported sinking refused to worry because he didn't own it.

SHOWMANSHIP
 It might be an interesting speculation to guess whether the current drive against New York speakies following the fascinating Woodcock census has had anything to do with the fact that there was a disposition in some Senate quarters to make a deep cut into the prohibition enforcement appropriation and that action on the subject was just about due. At all events the "big drive" to dry up the metropolis started on the very day when the Senate was voting on its appropriations committee's action in reducing the House dry allotment from $11,869,000 to $10,250,000.

To be sure this extraordinary activity in New York didn't prevent the Senate from almost unanimously adopting the committee's report and clipping more than a million from the enforcement budget, but it just possibly may have exerted some influence in defeating attempts at still greater reductions. One of these, inaugurated by Senator Hiram Johnson of California, would have reduced the appropriation by exactly 50 per cent—a course for which both Connecticut senators had the courage to vote, though only half a dozen others, besides Johnson, did so.

"We all know that the kind of prohibition enforcement we get can be obtained in ample quantities for five million dollars," said the Californian, who seldom makes such a sensible remark—and the Connecticut senators evidently agreed with him.

But the House has still this million dollar reduction to accept and until the appropriation bills are finally disposed of perhaps we shall have a continuation of the showy if nonsensical pretense of stopping New York from getting its drinks.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
 NEA Service Writer.

Washington.—The Congressional Record costs us $58 a page, but that fact doesn't seem to make it any smaller, even in these days.

It would be a lot cheaper if members of Congress were content to let the Record go with a mere record of legislative transactions and transactions and speeches actually made on the floor, but instead of that they fill it up with reprints of documents, speeches made elsewhere by somebody, rotten poetry from constituents and long tabulations of statistics designed to prove something or other.

And a large additional saving might be made if each man who has the floor were always compelled to stick to his subject.

But if you go as far as that it would be only logical to insist that no member ever be permitted to talk simply because he loves the sound of his own voice, or for the mere benefit of his constituents. Fat chance!

Some Work, Others Talk
 It is quite true that many members work their heads off, but the Record shows that there are too many others who talk their heads off for purposes far less worthy.

The Senate, freer from rules control and hence usually a more valuable parliamentary body than the House, is the worst offender both from the standpoint of useless talk and filling up the Record with costly type.

House Is Stingy, but—
 Senators may talk as much as they like, in effect, and they allow each other leave to insert almost anything in the Record. The House is stingy about granting its members Record space.

Some representative is usually bound to object to the insertion of anything except an extension of remarks through which a comrade pretends to have made a speech so that he may frank it back to his district for re-election purposes. That's only common courtesy, of course, to let such stuff get by.

Nevertheless, Congressman Patman of Texas, the bonus man, took over 11 pages one day this session and 18 pages on another, what between actual speech and insertions. Kelly of Illinois got 16 pages similarly and Fear of Wisconsin required 45 pages (cost, $2,610) for two speeches (including insertions) on the same subject.

Just Pure Gabble
 But for pure gabble the most prolific members include even some of the august leaders of Congress. Senator Pat Harrison, recognized as the Democratic party's unofficial chief castigator of the Republican Party, and Senator Jim Watson of Indiana, majority floor leader, are not horrible examples, but:

One day recently Pat was burning up the G. O. P. for perpetrating the Hawley-Smoot tariff. He recalled how Watson had assured the country in June, 1930, that thanks to that tariff the country would regain the peak of its prosperity within a year. Quoting a later speech from Watson, he said:

"That is the kind of argument he uses in trying to fool the people and it is possible to fool some of them, and my friend is so proud that he can fool more than anyone else I know of."

Did Public Servant "Sunny Jim" Watson get sore at that? He merely said:

"I thank the senator."

That much of the exchange may have been slightly funny, but it went on ad nauseam. Each session sees hundreds of pages of far worse and more pointedly Congressional Record at $58 a page.

Health and Diet Advice
 By DR. FRANK MCCOY

CHILDREN'S LIST

If you could pull up a chair beside my desk and look over my shoulder while I read the letters from my readers, you would find that many of them begin like this: "I have always been sickly. As a child I was constipated, had sour stomach, caught all the children's ailments, had had tonsils and was underdressed and tired out. Now that I am grown I still have all my troubles, only worse."

The above is the beginning of a letter from a patient who realizes that poor health today is only the result of wrong feeding and incorrect hygiene of other days. Children who are sick during the growing years build up many conditions which will remain to harass them at later periods. In fact, most of the breakdowns of middle age began years ago in childhood and adolescence. For example, children with intestinal poisoning may build up such a rheumatic soil that they have "growing pains" or rheumatic fever. The rheumatic toxins are not cleared up during youth, they may remain in the body and cause crippling from arthritis in after years. Many cases of valvular leakage of the heart are due to poisons which were circulating in the system during youth. A child with rickets may grow up with some deformity of the bones, such as bow-legs, or pigeon breast. The child with frequent earaches is the one most likely to be the victim of catarrhal deafness at middle age.

I am sure that many of my readers who are now sick will agree with me that if we could prevent the first breaks in good health during childhood, we could also prevent many of the big breakdowns later on, which are the ones which do the most lasting damage.

It is much easier to get a child well than it is to get an adult well and respond quickly to the right treatment and improve rapidly under the right care. For one thing, the disorders of childhood are just beginning, they are yet in the first stages and have not advanced to the chronic or aggravated stage seen in adults. For another thing, children are still plastic and flexible and grow easily in the right direction.

The following articles on child health have been mimeographed for public distribution. I will be glad to send you any or all of the articles. QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Lump Over Navel)
 Question: Mr. Bruce T. asks: "What would cause a growth or lump just above my navel? It has been there for about three years, but hasn't bothered me until the last two or three months. Seems to pull or draw, and I can't bear for anything to touch it. Will you kindly tell me something about it? I am worried for fear it is cancerous." Answer: It would be difficult for me to advise you about the lump without having the opportunity of making personal examination. Get your doctor's opinion as to whether it is a benign or malignant growth. I will send you a copy of my report. I will be glad to give you my advice.

(Sallyburg Steak)
 Question: Mrs. T. G. writes: "I noticed that a number of your menus call for Sallyburg Steak. Just what is the common name for this and how is it prepared?" Answer: Any butcher should be able to prepare Sallyburg steak meat for you. Select a good piece of round steak. Have removed all of the fat and gristle and grind the red, lean part. This appears somewhat similar to hamburger steak, but is more palatable and more easily digested and has an entirely different flavor. There is usually about a quarter of a pound of waste to each half pound of lean meat so that it is advisable to purchase three-quarters of a pound of meat for each person to be served. To cook the meat it should be pressed into a flat ungreased pan similar to a cake tin, to a depth of about one inch and placed in a hot oven, after which the fire should be turned down and the meat cooked for about five minutes.

Manchester Leads the Way
 (Hartford Courant.)

The victory for school consolidation in Manchester points the way for action in Hartford. The old cumbersome and extravagant system has been relegated to the past where it belongs by one of the few cities or towns in the entire United States which has continued it up to the present. It fell by popular demand to keep down taxes in hard times. The same arguments which brought its defeat in Manchester are operative in Hartford. The system is riddled with petty politics there as well as here. The business methods are loose and inefficient there as here. The educational opportunity is unequal from district to district here, just as it is in Manchester. Fortunately the voters in Hartford are as capable of understanding the situation in the capital of the State as they are in the city across the river. They should not be influenced by false sentiment or by pressure from selfishly interested groups any more in one place than the other. A vote on consolidation in Hartford ought to be just as successful as it was in Manchester. The time for action has come.

IN NEW YORK

STAGE FOLK RULED BY SUPERSTITIONS
 But Don't Whistle
 New York, April 19.—Anyone nursing a suppressed desire to be thrown out of places can start training by whistling in a theatrical dressing room.

That this was a jinx of jinxes had slipped my mind. The other day I found myself back stage for a chat with several performers, and because of nervousness I whistled a mere whispereous variation of a topical tune.

"Hey, whad'ya tryin' to do—close the show or get me fired?" came the first barking interruption. "We're havin' tough enough going as it is!"

There was nothing to do but retreat in disgrace. I had, according to show legends, "brought bad luck."

"Superstitious as an actor" is more than a casual simile. There are enough taboos to make a modern doom's day book.

When, in "Broadway," Lee Tracy, playing a hooper, scraped his shoes in a certain fashion before "opening cold," he was working a "charm" known to all old trouper.

Other Don'ts
 Among other "curses" and traditions are these: No actor who wants his show to open will re-hear behind a drawn curtain; if a play has a "tag" or smart closing line it is never spoken until the first night of the performance; the actor who goes to the curtain peepholes brings ill fortune to play and players; a haircut while rehearsal is under way may lead to further misfortune; entire productions have had to be re-fashed because certain players consider certain colors "bad luck"; if able to afford it, a suit worn in rehearsal should be given or thrown away when the play opens.

A muffled line at the first matinee is ominous; and if you, as a mere ticket buyer, make a mistake in theaters and go to the wrong box office, the cashier may as well close up his window!

More Blessed To Give
 The tradition of generosity in show business is illustrated by a little chapter from the life of the late Rose Coghlan. Ill and old, she had reached that day when the stage no longer sought her services. A benefit was held and some $10,000 raised. Not so long afterward she appeared to be again in need of aid. Inquiry showed that Miss Coghlan had learned of cases more desperate than her own, and had given away more than half the money upon which she could have lived comfortably for some time.

The customary of Union Square and the historic Manhattan park rendezvous for soap boxes; an arena for Red riots; a camping ground for the jobless and the drifting population; a resting place for the mixed races that populate the vast East Side.

Old Luchow's restaurant alone recalls to old-timers the swank of yesteryear. Otherwise cheap stores, movies, shooting galleries, arsecky radio shops and the like occupy the space once gay with ritzy promenaders and capital of the city's "carriage trade."

Tiffany's had its gem shop close at hand; the hotels were ultra-exclusive. One of them was the old Union Square, recently shut down. Fashionable schools were in the neighborhood, and the Academy of Music; Hunsaker, Victor Herbert and their cronies were the Beau Brummels of the cafes.

APPEAL DENIED.
 Bridgeport, April 20.—(AP)—Much as Judge Frank P. McEvoy of the Superior Court would like to have granted the appeal by heirs of the late Rev. Charles Marks estate from the decision of the Probate Court of Norwalk, which declined to grant extension of three years for the liquidation of one half interest in a $125,000 mortgage, he finds that it is unable to do so, also convinced that it is to the best interests of the heirs.

Two of the executors and four of the heirs desire that the liquidation of the mortgage be extended three years from October, 1931, but Mrs. Lucy Morrison, an executrix objector, on the strength of the latter's objection the Probate Court refused to allow the extension.

New York, April 20.—(AP)—The Stock Market was unable to decide today whether to follow an upturn in the rails, or a moderate decline in a handful of industrials.

Liquidation showed further signs of drying up, but buying interest remained at low ebb.

In the first hour, advances of about 3 points were recorded by Santa Fe and Union Pacific.

The crew of the vessel fled from the craft when it was approached by the patrol boat and no prisoners were taken.

Some quarters have been hopeful that the Federal Reserve system's credit expansion program would halt the selling out of collateral loans by banks.

The midwest steel trade reviews showed the expected moderate gain in ingot output, which "Iron Age" now places at 22 1-2 per cent of capacity.

Some quarters took a more hopeful view toward Washington developments, now regarded as among the chief elements of uncertainty overhauling the financial community.

Progress of the Senate finance committee on the tax measure with completion of hearings slated for tomorrow, was regarded in banking quarters as gratifying.

Noted as gratifying. Stock market circles also were encouraged by Senator Walcott's statement that he did not anticipate any Federal regulation of short selling.

CONTRASTS IN PROGRAM OF SUNDAY MUSICAL

Works of Classic and Modern Masters To Be Presented At South Methodist Church.

Ranging from the classic "Sanctus" of Johann Sebastian Bach to the very modern works of Gretchen-inoff and Kopylov, the program of next Sunday night's musical by the choir of the South Methodist church offers much of contrast.

The crew was unloading a cargo of 600 pounds of fish when first sighted by the patrol boat and attempted to throw the Coast Guard boat off the trail by posing as a workaday crew.

Waterbury, April 20.—(AP)—Depositors of the Merchants Trust Company may receive 100 cents on the dollar if the receiver is able to dispose of the assets of the closed bank.

The prices set by the appraiser in the appraisal are as of December 23, the day on which the bank closed. At that time the total debts were approximately $6,025,000, while the assets have been valued at $5,725,000, which shows a shortage of some $300,000.

Since then, however, a slight improvement in the bond market with the income received from the securities held by the bank has decreased this shortage to $200,000 after the receivership costs have been cared for.

Further improvement in the security market may further decrease the shortage and increase the chances of depositors getting 100 cents on the dollar.

Washington, April 20.—(AP)—There are 17,628 pilots and 7,476 aircraft licensed in the United States.

Clarence M. Young, assistant secretary of commerce for aeronautics, said today there had been a slight decrease in these licenses since January 1.

There were 10,972 aircraft licensed and licensed on record April 1 as compared with 10,780 on January 1.

The licensed pilots included 612 women.

New York led the states in number of aircraft with 1,203; California was second with 1,183 and Illinois third with 719.

California, however, led in number of licensed aircraft with 968; New York was second with 951 and Illinois was third with 501.

RELIGIOUS RALLY HERE "MAY DAY"

Ex-Gov. Trumbull To Be Chairman—Sponsored By Salvation Army.

Plans are going forward for the observance of "Red, White and Blue Sunday," sponsored by the Salvation Army under the direction of Esigis George D. Williams in the South Methodist church, Sunday, May 1.

The feature attraction for the day will be the appearance here for the last time before sailing to Europe of the Swedish-American Bell Ringers of Chicago, hailed as America's Musical Sensation.

Former Governor John H. Trumbull is expected to be chairman and Commissioner John McMillan of New York, one of the outstanding leaders of the Salvation Army in America will give the May Day address.

The meeting will open in the South Methodist church at 3 o'clock, Daylight Saving Time.

A special organ prelude has been arranged by organist Archibald Sessions for a half hour preceding the meeting.

A special service will be held in the evening at the South Methodist church with special music by the church choir.

DRY LEADER DENOUNCES WHISKEY PRESCRIPTIONS

for which was generally known to dispense unlawful liquor, and from which evidence was taken to prove this belief.

This lack of co-operation to enforce liquor regulation would have been evidenced in this police court judge whether there were prohibition or not.

Mrs. Richard Aldrich, New York said "drinking brings divorce." She said she had never known of a divorce between two drunks.

There was applause as Mrs. Jesse W. Nicholson, president of the National Woman's Democratic Law Enforcement League, asserted: "This country is dry. Make no mistake about that. And if there is any doubt about it let one of the political parties again name a candidate for president in 1932, and candidates for congress and men and women of this country will give them such a licking as they never dreamed of, and 1928 won't be a circumstance."

Mrs. Nicholson said, "for Democracy to choose between America and the Constitution on the one side and nullification and the wets on the other. Let us give prohibition a chance, the wets have had their day and failed."

Lusk, standing in a corner at the front of the crowded room, smiled as Mrs. Nicholson said: "The head of the crusaders said here last week that all of the members of their organization were very young men. That is our contention, those that are joining these wet organizations were in most cases too young to know the evils of the saloon era."

"These selfish millionaires," she continued, "with their rich women allies who are demanding resubmission, repeal, or a referendum, know full well that if they should get what they are demanding it would bring chaos in our country, especially at a time when it is staggering under the greatest depression in our history."

"They say if we bring back liquor we will end the unemployment, and bring back prosperity. Why hasn't this been the case in Germany and England, where every seventh person is on a dole from the government?"

"It was indeed amusing," she said, "to hear the head of the head of the woman's prohibition reform organization tell of the rapid growth of their misnamed organization, before this committee last week. She did not tell how her organization had paid workers to go from state to state making house to house canvasses, getting innocent and unsuspecting signers, that they were working for reform, when as a matter of fact they were working for repeal."

Need Their Booze "These rich 'wet' society women, who are determined to have their booze, have the help of their allies, the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, and are backed by the brewers and distillers in their efforts to bring back liquor."

Mrs. D. Leigh Colvin, of New York, president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of New York state, said prohibition "has been a decided success, but politicians have failed. Wealthy men who have made money in the manufacture of liquor and those who expect to turn industrial alcohol plants into the manufacture of beverage alcohol by the repeal of prohibition—these have failed."

"Those who put appetite above loyalty to laws, the ones who finance bootleggers and criminals, government officials who wink at violations of law and share in the profits of illegal sales, men who preach violation of laws, they do not approve—these have failed."

"The city administrations which protect law violators and the politicians who become immensely wealthy through connivance with the underworld, state governments which have repealed laws against bootleggers and criminals and prohibit the state courts from punishing violators of the Constitution—these have failed."

"Repeat as advocated in the bills presented would mean the reopening of the breweries and distilleries. It would give the liquor traffic a legal foothold which it is now denied in every inch of United States territory."

New York State Woman's Committee for Law Enforcement said: "The assertion that drinking has increased among high school and college students is refuted by the testimony of prominent educators."

She quoted Joy Elmer Morgan, editor of the Journal of the National Education Association; Alfred E. Stearns, of Andover, Mass.; Dr. Susan Dorsey, former superintendent of Los Angeles city schools; and Stanley R. Yarnall, principal of Germantown Friends school, Philadelphia.

Mrs. Edward Thurman Smith, on behalf of the Missouri state organization of the National Woman's Democratic Law Enforcement League, said "the people of Missouri approve of the prohibition of the legalized liquor traffic both as a state and as a National policy."

"Experience has shown that there is no such thing as state rights where the liquor traffic is concerned," she said, adding: "We submit that the best way to overcome the evils of the liquor traffic is not to legalize the traffic and to give to the brewers and distillers the right to advertise and exploit their wares, but rather through the teaching in the home the true nature of alcoholic beverages, pointing out the benefits of total abstinence, and through education conducted by our schools and colleges with regard to its physical and psychological effect."

Mrs. Boole's Statement Mrs. Ida E. Wise Smith, vice-president at large of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union, read a statement by Mrs. Ella A. Boole, president, who was unable to attend. It said:

"Popular clamor from lawbreakers and manufacturers, some of them millionaires, some of whom hope for relief from income taxes, the activities of women backed by an alleged enrollment of either checked or double checked, does not justify the members of Congress in considering the submission of a repeal amendment as 'necessary'."

Mrs. Rushmore Patterson, Washington, D. C., chairman of Allied Women, said her organization is "primarily in the field to arouse public sentiment not only in support of the 18th Amendment, but against the hypocrisy that bemoans bootlegging at the same time that it orders bootleg liquor."

Mrs. Elizabeth Tilton, of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, read a statement by Miss Lillian D. Wald of the Henry Street Settlement, New York, urging retention of the 18th Amendment.

Mrs. Lon Hocker, of St. Louis, said the speakeasy "that has to be hunted down" is not to be compared to the "saloons that stood with open doors on all four corners" in prohibition days.

MERZ TEAM CAPTURES SETBACK CHAMPIONSHIP

The setback team representing Merz Barber Shop last night won the championship of the Industrial League which has been holding weekly sessions, 23 in all, the last of which have taken place at the Y. M. C. A. Second place honors went to Wapping No. 2 and third to Moriarty's Painters.

Ed Stein captured the victorious team and signed his same team for next season, Gus Magnuson, Matt Merz, Andrew Hiseley and himself. A setback party will be held in the basement of St. Bridget's church, May 3. A surprise reception in honor of M. D. Sullivan of Wapping, president of the league, was held last night and he was given a bouquet of snapdragons and a pair of slippers. He has been league president for five years and recently celebrated his 84th birthday.

The final team scores follow: Merz Barbers 3412, Moriarty's Painters 3385, Reid Auctioneers 3374, Hose Co. ROYAL ARCANUMS ELECT New Britain, April 20—(AP)—At the annual meeting of the grand council of the Royal Arcanum of Connecticut here today the following officers were elected: Past Grand Regent, Myles Standish, New Haven; Grand Regent, J. Herbert Anner, New Britain; Grand Vice Regent, L. C. Bauer, Bridgeport; Grand Secretary, L. Erwin Jacobs, New Haven; Grand Treasurer, C. P. McGinness, Stamford; Grand Orator, J. Howard McGinnis, Hartford; Grand Chaplain, Frank Goodchild, South Norwalk; Grand Guide, W. Simon, Meriden; Grand Warden, W. A. Turner, Bristol; Grand Sentry, R. J. Charman, New Haven.

At 6:30 a delicious roast beef dinner was served to the guests and members. Credit for the success of the dinner is due to the untiring efforts of Nora Keeney, chairman of the dinner committee. Her assistants were Irving Keeney, Evelyn Akrigg, Myra Fitzgerald, Florence Catana, Selma Gorman, Minnie Giglio, Josephine Emonds, Nettie Aceto and Gladys Schubert. The tables were very prettily decorated with pussywillows and favors of two shades of pink and green dressed lollypops. The menu consisted of roast beef, brown sauce, mashed potatoes, assorted appetizers, cabbage and olive salad, peas and carrots, pickles, relishes, milk, rolls and butter, apple pie and coffee.

The Sunset team under the direction of Gladys Schubert, exemplified the degree work on a class of candidates. Deputy Great Pocahontas Susan L. Kaestner of Hartford presented Great Pocahontas Nellie Jackson with a gift from Sunset Council, who in turn also presented the deputy with a gift from the council. Both expressed their thanks in a few well chosen words.

Others who made remarks were Great Pocahontas Nellie Jackson of Rockville, Great Wenona Henrietta Payne of New London, Great Minnah Josephine Barabough of Stamford, Past Great Pocahontas Edith Myers of Hartford, Past Great Pocahontas Mary Champagne of Rockville and Past Great Pocahontas Margaret Mankin of New London, who instituted Sunset Council nine years ago.

Jackie, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Coffell of East Glastonbury, formerly of this town, won the two and a half dollar gold piece drawn Monday evening. Mrs. Coffell was delighted to take it home to her baby.

Other prizes were won by Mrs. Saunders of Stamford, Edith Myers of Hartford and Mary Aceto of this town.

ACTOR STARTS SUIT London, Ontario, April 20—(AP)—Francis X. Bushman, the American movie actor, filed suit today for $10,000 against Albert E. Hamilton. The actor was injured last December in an automobile collision with Hamilton's car. The defendant has filed a counter-claim for $750 damages to his car.

Two Men Dead in Fight For Shack in Wilderness Quesnel, B. C., April 20—(AP)—Nowokowsky had returned and taken possession of the cabin. He left Barkerville and headed for the shack, saying: "One of us will likely be dead before this is settled."

Saturday word came that Kopok, a wound in his head, was lying dead near the cabin. Constables went to get Nowokowsky. They found him lying in the battered shack dead.

Constable Vickers said he believed Kopok slew Nowokowsky after a struggle and then shot himself.

SUGAR FOR PRESIDENT Washington, April 20—(AP)—Eleven youngsters from Colchester, Vt., presented to President Hoover today a gift of maple sugar and maple syrup drawn with their own hands. They reported afterward the President received it saying: "We will have it on our table many days."

The youngsters, all members of the United Church of Colchester, were headed by Rev. A. Ritchie Low, minister of the church. The boys made the trip to the capital in two small cars and are stopping at a tourist camp on the edge of the city.

DEGREE OF POCAHONTAS IN BIRTHDAY PARTY

Sunset Council, Degree of Pocahontas, held a most successful birthday party in Tinker hall Monday evening, at which time the council entertained the great chiefs of Connecticut, Great Pocahontas Nellie Jackson of Rockville and her staff. "here were about two hundred present. Councils from the following places were represented: Hartford, Rockville, New London, Wallingford, Stamford, Branford, Winsted, Waterbury, Naugatuck, West Haven, Norwich and Mineola Council of Maine.

At 6:30 a delicious roast beef dinner was served to the guests and members. Credit for the success of the dinner is due to the untiring efforts of Nora Keeney, chairman of the dinner committee. Her assistants were Irving Keeney, Evelyn Akrigg, Myra Fitzgerald, Florence Catana, Selma Gorman, Minnie Giglio, Josephine Emonds, Nettie Aceto and Gladys Schubert. The tables were very prettily decorated with pussywillows and favors of two shades of pink and green dressed lollypops. The menu consisted of roast beef, brown sauce, mashed potatoes, assorted appetizers, cabbage and olive salad, peas and carrots, pickles, relishes, milk, rolls and butter, apple pie and coffee.

The Sunset team under the direction of Gladys Schubert, exemplified the degree work on a class of candidates. Deputy Great Pocahontas Susan L. Kaestner of Hartford presented Great Pocahontas Nellie Jackson with a gift from Sunset Council, who in turn also presented the deputy with a gift from the council. Both expressed their thanks in a few well chosen words.

Past Great Pocahontas May Hall of East Hartford spoke on the work of the Degree of Pocahontas and the co-operation of brother Red Men. Others who made remarks were Great Pocahontas Nellie Jackson of Rockville, Great Wenona Henrietta Payne of New London, Great Minnah Josephine Barabough of Stamford, Past Great Pocahontas Edith Myers of Hartford, Past Great Pocahontas Mary Champagne of Rockville and Past Great Pocahontas Margaret Mankin of New London, who instituted Sunset Council nine years ago.

Jackie, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Coffell of East Glastonbury, formerly of this town, won the two and a half dollar gold piece drawn Monday evening. Mrs. Coffell was delighted to take it home to her baby.

Other prizes were won by Mrs. Saunders of Stamford, Edith Myers of Hartford and Mary Aceto of this town.

ACTOR STARTS SUIT London, Ontario, April 20—(AP)—Francis X. Bushman, the American movie actor, filed suit today for $10,000 against Albert E. Hamilton. The actor was injured last December in an automobile collision with Hamilton's car. The defendant has filed a counter-claim for $750 damages to his car.

Two Men Dead in Fight For Shack in Wilderness Quesnel, B. C., April 20—(AP)—Nowokowsky had returned and taken possession of the cabin. He left Barkerville and headed for the shack, saying: "One of us will likely be dead before this is settled."

Saturday word came that Kopok, a wound in his head, was lying dead near the cabin. Constables went to get Nowokowsky. They found him lying in the battered shack dead.

Constable Vickers said he believed Kopok slew Nowokowsky after a struggle and then shot himself.

SUGAR FOR PRESIDENT Washington, April 20—(AP)—Eleven youngsters from Colchester, Vt., presented to President Hoover today a gift of maple sugar and maple syrup drawn with their own hands. They reported afterward the President received it saying: "We will have it on our table many days."

The youngsters, all members of the United Church of Colchester, were headed by Rev. A. Ritchie Low, minister of the church. The boys made the trip to the capital in two small cars and are stopping at a tourist camp on the edge of the city.

the MAN HUNTERS

BEGIN HERE TODAY

SUSAN CAREY, 19, pretty and an orphan, lives with her AUNT IESIE in Chicago and takes a secretarial course at a downtown business school. There she meets BOB DUNBAR, heir to a fortune. She secures a position as secretary to ERNEST HEATH, architect. JACK WARING, Heath's assistant, tries to start a flirtation, but is rebuffed. MRS. HEATH snubs Susan. BEN LAMPMAN, a young musician, takes Susan to a studio party but she does not enjoy it. Dunbar takes her to lunch and tells her he is going abroad. Susan's aunt departs on a visit and ROSE MILTON stays with Susan. Lonely, the girl goes for a drive with Waring and RAY FLANNERY, employed in the next office. Waring kisses her and she resolves never to go with him again. Ben Lampman asks Susan to marry him and will not accept her refusal as final. Waring apologizes for his childish behavior. In a newspaper gossip column, Susan reads that Bob Dunbar is to be married. She works overtime at the office one night and Heath for the first time realizes her youth and beauty.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XIX

When Susan alighted from the train at the suburban station she looked about for Mr. Heath's man, Simon. His smiling, black face gave her a heartening sense of being at home in all this intimidating splendor. A battery of smart motors were drawn up in a circle and the high, shrill voices of young girls and matrons wearing perfect sport clothes pierced the Friday morning calm. "No wonder," thought Susan, "this particular section of the Lake Michigan shore is called the 'Gold Coast.'" Every one seemed fabulously rich. There was an air of luxury about the houses which they came to, and the cars which they drove. Susan turned off this road and carefully down a great avenue lined with beech trees at the end of which could be seen the shining blue of the lake. Susan was disappointed when Simon turned off this road and followed a country road by-path. She had hoped the Heath home would be on the very fringe of the lake. That would have been perfect. But presently she forgot her disappointment in the beauty of the road and followed a country road by-path. She had hoped the Heath home would be on the very fringe of the lake. beds. Ruth thought it was stuffy living there. She would have preferred a villa in the south of France. He rose.

"I'm sorry you haven't time to see it," he said formally. "Some other day, perhaps. He was amazed at the light that glowed in the girl's lambent eyes.

"Oh, I should love it," she said eagerly. "I've always loved flowers so much but we have such a tiny back yard and it's too shady for anything to grow except a few violets in the spring. Nothing," she finished softly, "could be more wonderful than to have a home like this and to be able to stay in it."

He stared at her. "You really feel that?" he said incredulously. Susan nodded.

"I envy you," she said with a simplicity which had the ring of truth. Simon came to the door of the library and announced the car was ready to take Miss Carey to the station. The sick man was suddenly galvanized into life.

"Tell Hannah to cut some flowers for Miss Carey directly," he ordered. "A heap of roses and some of the tall cosmos. Hurry!"

"Thank you, my train!" Susan inquired, delighted yet fearful.

"Not a bit of it," Heath was his old, crisp, didactic self. "Simon can cut corners with the best of them. Can't you, my lad? Hop out there and have the engine running so no time will be lost."

There was a great curtsy for a few minutes. The maid came rushing in with an armful of blossoms and Susan made her adieu in an informal whirl of good humor.

Heath went slowly back up the stairs. He sat at the window of his dressing room where he could glimpse the blue water of which Susan had dreamed. Below him the lawn sloped, a clipped, green miracle, to the vegetable garden and the tennis courts beyond. He rested his head on his hand and sighed.

Wonderful to be young like the girl who had just left, he reflected. How the color had come and gone in her cheeks when she spoke of the flowers! How her eyes had glowed. He tried to remember when, if ever, things had seemed as important to him as they seemed to this child. It was youth, he supposed, that enveloped everything with that incredibly rosy glamour. It never came again, once you lost it. Then he wondered if it were possible to recapture it in some measure through the eyes of another. That girl, for instance. For a moment, when she spoke of the garden, he had felt almost transfused.

Perhaps if he and Ruth had had a child things would have been different.

HEALTH

NEGLECT BLAMED FOR MANY HEAD INJURY DEATHS

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Occasionally some one picked up unconscious on the street is thrown into a cell with the diagnosis—"drunk and disorderly" on the police blotter. Later it is found that the individual had a fracture of the skull from which he died before he came to trial.

Physicians recognize that a person who suffers with an injury to his skull or to his spine needs immediate and well advised treatment to save his life.

A person who is found unconscious and in shock should be wrapped immediately in warm, woolen blankets, because the loss of body heat at this time may lead to death. A physician immediately examines the skull for the presence of any open wound or laceration of the scalp, with a view to finding out promptly whether or not the skull has been injured.

Of course, an X-ray picture should be taken as soon as the patient's condition permits.

The head of the unconscious person should always be kept lowered. If there happens to be any hemorrhage from the nose or ears, the patient should be put in a position where breathing will be as easy as possible. The physician who examines such a patient feels the pulse to know whether or not the circulation is going on correctly.

If there is interference in the brain due to blood, the pulse is likely to become exceedingly slow and the breathing likewise. By putting a needle into the spinal cord, the physician determines whether or not there is blood in the spinal fluid. The presence of blood in this fluid indicates injury to the brain.

Far too often a person who has had a head injury gets up promptly as soon as he begins to feel at all well and later relapses from a progressive condition.

It is at this time that special care must be taken to detect the first signs of headache, dizziness, general weakness or disturbance of vision and hearing, which not infrequently follow injuries to the brain or to the spine.

SOME REASONS FOR STAMMERING

I have been asked so often for a cure for stuttering that it seems timely to say something about it. There are specialists who have studied stuttering and effected certain cures. Whether or not they have cured chronic cases I cannot say. In many cases the small stammerer will get over his trouble anyway. Occasionally he does not.

One theory advanced about so-called incurable stammering is glaucoma, and I have heard that because the loss of body heat is perfect to give relief. Certainly I hope so, for it seems that something should be done about it.

But there is some comfort to be found in this thought. A great deal of speech impediment is a result of certain natural psychological transitions through which a child passes. And very frequently it does not last.

To discuss some of these periods may throw a light on the situation.

A little child may learn to pronounce his words without any hint of stumbling or repeating, and then suddenly without warning when he is three or four or even five years old he will begin to duplicate his syllables before he can get an entire word or sentence out. If his parents are patient he may get over it in a few months' time. I have seen this happen over and over again.

The explanation is very simple. At three or four the child begins the second step of life. He gets his first real reactions then from his contacts. He becomes very conscious of self, he establishes himself as a real person. This period is fraught with excitement, intense and sudden interest in new things, impulses crying to be tried out, a hurry to go from one thing to another and a rush to tell things that have happened. The world opens up with a bang so to speak, and very often a natural result is a trip in his words.

A child of any age may develop symptoms of stammering from other reasons. If a member of the family or a close friend or relative stutters a boy or girl often unconsciously picks up the habit from sheer imitation. The habit may become fixed and remain or it may yield to suggestion.

A child who is constantly inhibited, and not permitted to carry out any of his natural urges or desires who is superintended too much, "don't-ed" and "mustn't-ed" constantly, may become so tightened and upset inside as to develop a speech habit.

Also, if he is worried about something secretly, or has been teased or ridiculed, or is filled with a terrible fear, or has a constant terror of school and hard lessons, he may begin to fall in direct utterance.

Most children need more sleep that they get. High strung, nervous children cannot have too much, so I recommend this for the stutterer, too. Also happy interests and exercises.

Try to make these children very content and peacefully happy. Don't scold and don't remind them of their affliction or allow playmates to do so if you can help it. Suggest a slow speech. Listen kindly and tactfully as you can, but be very casual and do not allow the child to think he has become a "case." That does more harm than good.

At the beginning of the 19th century Great Britain had more than 200 crimes that were punishable by death.

Biography of Judge Seabury Tells Interesting Story of Famous Investigation

Two years ago Samuel Seabury, ex-judge of various New York courts and one-time candidate for governor of New York state, was utterly unknown in the country at large.

Today he is one of its best-known citizens, and there is not a city or town in the country where newspaper readers do not remember his gallant fight to expose and remove corrupt office-holders in New York City.

Obviously, the biography of such a man ought to be a highly interesting document; and Walter Chambers has provided, in "Samuel Seabury—a Challenge," a book that makes extremely good reading.

Mr. Chambers may occasionally give his recital something of the tone of an ultra-laudatory campaign document, but for the most part he simply tells a straight, unvarnished story. He uses approximately the first half of his book in telling of Judge Seabury's career before the current investigations made him famous.

Descended from early American stock, born in New York the year of the Tweed ring exposures, Judge

MARTYR TO SCIENCE

Fort Worth, Tex.—For thirty years Dr. I. C. Chase experimented with the X-ray and saved the lives of many. Today he is the martyr of his own research in this branch of medical science. When he first began his experiments, such things as lead shields to work behind to protect one from the rays were unheard of. Constant exposure to their energy caused his arm to become infected. The 63-year-old physician recently had to have the arm amputated.

Prof. H. F. Lutz, of the University of California, estimates that Alexander the Great took booty of $5,000,000 at the Battle of Issus, over $141,000,000 at Persepolis, and $212,000,000 at Echataans.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF
by Alicia Hart
BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

You should change your rouge this spring as you change your wardrobe. It is chic now really to be so adept at make-up that you have that natural look that only a real sophisticate can achieve.

You should just look healthy and full of pep—not rouged. The color you pick has a lot to do with this. If you are wearing blue, there are certain reds and rose pinks that are just grand with your whole get up. Don't use much this year. Put it on high. When you rouge too large an area and put it on too low it adds years to your face. Don't be silly and do that!

If you are wearing your hair so that your ears are in evidence, rouge them a little bit, especially for evening. It makes you look vivacious. Also, take a dab or two on the chin. Especially if you have not quite as much chin as you'd like to have, rouging it throws it into prominence. Of course if you have so much chin now that you look like a determined woman, don't dare to touch it up with rouge. Let it be. For evening, I know a woman who always rouges her ears, chin and the inside of each nostril. Not so much that it is distasteful or even noticeable. You merely feel that there is a vital woman, riding high and loving life.

Most well-groomed women change their rouge for evening, as well as change daytime ones for spring. You can stand more rouge and often a richer hue for evening. Brunettes sometimes are vivid when they use a much lighter and richer tone for evenings than they could possibly stand for daytime.

One more thing to remember about rouging. If you decide that your morning make-up is wanting, don't dab on more rouge right over what you have. Take a second lot, scrub off your face down to nakedness and start again. Then you'll look finished and clear-skinned and lovely, not just a little bit messy.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

FOOD THAT MEANS EXTRA POUNDS FOR THE UNDERWEIGHT

BY SISTER MARY

With waistslines and elbow sleeves taking their places in the fashions again, many a woman is longing for a suggestion of a curve or a dimple in her elbow. Of course she who has kept herself "sly-like" by means of rigid dieting will have little difficulty in adding her pounds as she will, but the girl who is just naturally too thin has a different problem to solve.

Underweight is seldom altogether a matter of diet, although the other causes usually go hand in hand with faulty food habits of some sort. The person who is too thin because of some obscure physical disorder, mental conflict or overwork faces a different problem than the one who is underweight on account of faulty food habits.

The underweight who has no appetite should select foods which will stimulate a desire for food. Lack of appetite and small consumption of food usually goes with small stomach capacity. As the appetite increases and the amount of food eaten each meal increases, the capacity of the stomach for food increases with the inevitable reaction of a natural desire for food.

Best May Be Needed
The person who is thin due to an inordinate amount of activity in proportion to his physical ability to hold sufficient food to maintain the activity and at the same time gain in weight must increase his sleep and rest periods.

Then there are the underweights who have the appetite and desire to gain but who do not eat the right foods. These are the persons who will find it easy to gain if they follow the rules.

The following suggestions are specific and will form a working basis for these underweights whom the dietician can help.

Fruits, succulent vegetables, yeast breads and meat broths stimulate the appetite. These foods make for perfect elimination which is essential for good health before a gaining diet can be considered.

Plenty of good wholesome food normally required by everybody must be supplied before adding the so-called "fattening" foods. The excessive use of weight-gaining foods alone would do more harm than good.

The United States has 15 battleships and 1,809 fighting planes.

Clerks Capture Rockville Basketball Championship

DEFEAT WHEEL 35 TO 29 IN FINAL CONTEST

Favored Combination Captures Title After Hot Skirmish; Lessig Plays Leading Role.

(Special to The Herald)
Rockville, April 20.—The Clerks A. C. defeated the Wheel Club 35 to 29 here last night to capture the city basketball championship. Lessig was outstanding for the winners.
The game was hard fought and close most of the way although the Clerks at one time held an 18 to 9 lead. At halftime this had been reduced to two points. The game was roughly played and Referee "Shorty" Mallin of Hartford twice prevented fistic outbreaks.
A crowd of about 300 persons watched the game in the gymnasium in Town Hall, scene of many a famous battle in years gone by. Previous to last night each team had won one game, the Clerks winning the first by a one-sided score and the Wheel capturing the second by a narrow margin.
The Clerks were the pre-selected favorites so their victory last night was in accord with the expected. The only surprise came when they failed to win in straight games. The Wheel fought hard and was not discredited in defeat. It was simply a case of the better team winning.

WEST SIDE LEAGUE MEETING TOMORROW

There will be a meeting at the West Side Rec tomorrow night at 7 o'clock for all those interested in playing in the West Side Baseball League. The committee in charge of the league has drawn up a set of rules by which the league will be governed. These will be read for the approval or disapproval of those planning on playing in the league. It is the plan of the committee to start the league about the second week in May and all applications must be in on or before May 1.

A STREET IN OLYMPIC VILLAGE, WHERE ATHLETES OF MANY NATIONS WILL LIVE

Here is an avenue of many nations, where athletes from all parts of the world will live this summer during the Olympic games at Los Angeles. For the first time since the athletes of ancient Greece pitched their tents on the plains of Elis 1900 years ago, participants in the Olympic games will be housed and fed in a single, complete community, built especially for the purpose on a 381-acre site in the Baldwin Hills, Los Angeles.

Major League Crowds Smaller This Season

New York, April 20.—(AP)—About 12,500 spectators per game revival of interest at Cincinnati and the great drawing power of the revamped Brooklyn Dodgers have conspired to keep National League attendance close to normal this season despite frigid weather and slim peepshows, but the American League, whatever the cause, has suffered serious losses.
The National League has averaged

DE BRUYN BARELY MISSES NEW MARK

German Is Only Half a Minute Behind Miles' 1929 Record.

Boston, April 20.—(AP)—Paul de Bruyn, 24-year-old German, wore the garland of the Boston A. A. marathon today after having trudged away from 220 competitors yesterday in the race that leads over the hilly terrain between Hopkinton and Boston.
Jimmy Henigan of Medford, who won last year, made a valiant bid for first place but finished second yesterday in the race that leads over the hilly terrain between Hopkinton and Boston.
De Bruyn, his legs driving him along with the precision of pistons, took the honors away from Henigan after they had covered the last five miles shoulder to shoulder. Clarence DeMar finished 18th.

Olympic Village Completed Today

Los Angeles, April 20.—(AP)—Like the ghost towns of the old gold rush days in California, there has grown in the Baldwin Hills near here, a cluster of 850 houses in less than three weeks.
It is the Olympic village, where some 2,000 of the world's picked athletes will live for a few weeks this summer.
The last of the houses was erected today. In a short time workmen will build a 600-foot administration building and several large kitchens and dining rooms in which food to the tastes of healthy manhood from 50 nations will be served.
From early July until the middle of August this town will bustle with activity. Then, almost overnight, it will be torn down to leave barren again the plot of more than 300 acres which once was a part of the Lucky Baldwin estate.
The portable nature of the buildings, with whole sides and ends prepared in advance, made speedy construction possible. Each will house four athletes.
Of the nations planning to send contestants here, Japan thus far heads the list with 203. Sweden announced yesterday she would enter 83 stars.

Local Sport Chatter

It is generally understood that Manchester will have no representative baseball teams such as the Green, Bon Ami or West Sides this season. None of the three is planning to organize, according to reports.

All of which may mean that the Savitt Gems of Hartford may be Manchester's adopted son. The Gems were booked to play Rockville here last Sunday but the weather wasn't suitable. Next Sunday the Gems are playing the crack Holy Name of Hartford at the West Side.

The Juniors defeated the Sophomores 1 to 0 in the first inter-class soccer game yesterday. Gene Enrico scored the lone goal. The winners used only nine players against eleven for the losers. The contest was played at the Charter Oak street field.

Manchester High opens its season here this afternoon against Rockville and this morning a clear blue sky indicated most favorable weather for the occasion. Middletown High plays here Friday. Manchester Trade is also booked at home with Glastonbury High.

Jack Stratton, popular Manchester baseball player, has been signed up by Manager "Nifty" St. John of the Savitt Gems, and will play in Sunday's game.

With no semi-pro teams planning to organize here this summer, it looks like a good year for twilight leagues to be successful.

Manchester High opens its track season here tomorrow afternoon when Hartford Public High comes to the West Side field.

A meeting will be held this evening at 8 o'clock at the County Y. M. C. A. headquarters, 93 Elm street, Hartford, of representatives of baseball teams throughout the county to plan County Y baseball activities for the coming season. Last year six baseball leagues with 25 teams played under the County Y banner and considerable interest in baseball was aroused. F. J. LaFleur, newly-appointed commissioner of baseball, will be present this evening.

BOWLING MIXED DOUBLES LEAGUE

Last night at the Morgan alleys in the Mixed Doubles League Mary Strong and Howard Murphy won four out of six games. May Sherman and Charlie Kebart also won four out of six games. May Sherman had to pull Charlie Kebart through last night hitting 709 for the six games and beating out Kebart by 27 pins. May hit a single string of 148 having a double strike and nine on the next ball.

The final games against the Morgan team will be bowled at Farr's alleys Friday night.

ENRICO'S GOAL DECIDES GAME

The Juniors defeated the Sophomores 1-0 at Charter Oak field yesterday in the first M. H. S. inter-class soccer game. Enrico scored the lone tally in the first 15 minutes of play. The Sophomores had better team work, but lacked the needed punch in front of the goal. The Freshmen and Seniors play tomorrow.

Tigers and Senators Up Front In American

Braves Subdue Giants As Terry Goes Wild; Phillies Tame Dodgers; Hoyt Knocked From Box Again.

After two lean years in which he experimented right and left and practically rebuilt from the ground up, Manager Bucky Harris appears at last to have hit on a pretty slick combination at Detroit.
Tied with Washington for the leadership of the American League after winning five of their first seven starts at home, the Tigers easily qualify as the sensations of the early going. So far the Tigers have enjoyed the finest pitching in either league and their hitting has been both hard and timely.
Charlie Gehringer, whose bat has been a potent factor in almost every game, drove three runs across with a double and triple yesterday as the Tigers made it three out of four from the Browns 8 to 0.

The Washington Senators continued their heavy onslaught to beat the Athletics 7 to 4 and square the series at Shibe Park. The Yanks and Red Sox divided their Patriot's Day doubleheader at Boston, the Sox scoring their initial victory of the year in the morning tilt, 6 to 5 and the Yanks lumbering their long range artillery to take the second encounter 6 to 3.
Willie Hudlin hurled Cleveland to a 4 to 2 win over the White Sox, allowing only five singles, while his mates jumped on Sad Sam Jones for all their runs in the last three frames.

Wally Berger's triple with two on in the 13th inning enabled the Boston Braves to nose out the Giants 8 to 7, and shove the McGrawmen

RUTH TAUGHT BYRD

HOW TO SNAP WRIST

New York, April 20.—(AP)—Credit Babe Ruth with an assist when you comment on the spectacular slugging spree being staged these days by Sammy Byrd of the New York Yanks.

For several years the baseball fraternity had wondered why Byrd, who hits a tremendously long ball in golf, couldn't get the same power in baseball.

Ruth took him in hand during the spring training season this year and had him use the same wrist snap with a bat that he did with a driver. Byrd has been hitting the ball far and often ever since.

HOOKS AND SLIDES

by WILLIAM BRAUCHER

Dear old Primo Carnera has been entertaining the London "journalists" with some wonderful little bedtime tales.

To quote from the London Evening News: "The man touched his pocket, in which, of course, there was a gun."

The Soft Answer

"Mr. See shrugged his shoulders and said quite quietly, 'Listen, my friends. I was in the war from beginning to end. I should have been killed about six times. (Such candor!) I wasn't. All right, then, every day I have lived since really does not belong to me. I should be dead. (Yes, yes, go on!) So you see I cannot lose. If I die today, I am still 14 years to the good. What do I care, therefore, when I die? Go away! You cannot frighten me."

"They went away. That sounds like romance, doesn't it? It is true."

Go on, Uncle Remus, tell us another one. Tell us the one about the time one of Leon Chevalier's seconds tossed a towel into the ring out in California when you were all but knocked clobbered by a third-rate heavyweight, Uncle Remus, you romantic old son of a gun.

Killed Nobody Ever

"Another time," dear old Carnera proceeded, "I had just finished fighting and I tried to clear the people out of my dressing room so that I could dress. All went except two. They told me they were detectives who had come to arrest me because someone was suing me for money."

"I had never been in the town before. I told them I had killed nobody ever (Carnera should have been a movie subtitle writer), so I refused to go to jail. I gave them permission to sleep outside my door at the hotel if they liked, but I would not go to jail and it would take more than those two to get me there. Eventually they agreed, and in the courts next day I was able to prove that I had never even dreamt of the man who was suing me."

"It is incredible—I like that word, incredible, good word."

Poor Thing!

What is incredible to me is that those British journalists have the gall to quote Carnera using a word he never heard of. But, to let Carnera get along:

"They even platted pretty girls in little vaudeville acts in which I played, so they could afterward sue me for breach of promise or something like that. They tried to maneuver things so that I was in a room with them for even half a minute, and then have some confederate come along and start the trouble."

"If Mr. See was not an old hand at the game (what game?), I should be dead. I should be dead."

Poor, dear Carnera! Like Alice in Wonderland, he just encountered one strange thing after another. One could almost weep for him, couldn't one?

From the way the government treats Russia, you might think it was prejudiced against doing business with a country which pays its bills.

STREET NOT WORRIED ABOUT HIS CARDINALS

St. Louis, April 20.—(AP)—Despite a left-footed start which saw his world champions lose four straight games in the first week of the season giving them undisputed possession of seventh place, Sergeant Gaby Street is convinced his team is "fundamentally sound."

"No one expects the teams that started in the first division of the National League to stay there," Street asserted as the Cards departed on their first road trip.

Yesterday's Stars

Earl Whitehill and Charlie Gehring, Tigers—Former blanked Browns with six hits, latter drove in three runs with double and triple.

Tony Lazzeri, Yankees—His seventh inning homer with two on base Red Sox in second game of double header.

Willis Hudlin, Indians—Stopped White Sox with five hits to win 4-2.

Joe Cronin, Senators—Assaulted Athletic pitching for homer and two singles, driving in three runs.

Ray Benge, Phila.—Held Dodgers to five hits.

Last Night's Fights

St. Paul—Frankie Battaglia, Winnipeg, Man., stopped My Sullivan, St. Paul, 2.

Akron—Babe Triscaro, Cleveland knocked out Jackie Light, Detroit 1.

Indianapolis—Tracy Cox, Indianapolis, stopped Mickey Cohen, Denver, 7.

Los Angeles—Baby Arizmendi, Mexico outpointed Young Tommy, Calif., 10.

NEW HOLMES TRIAL

Fall River, Mass., April 20.—(AP)—The troubles of Guy Willis Holmes, unrocked New Bedford minister, reached the Superior Court today as trial opened on three damage suits of $50,000 each, naming three ministers of the New England Southern Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church. The defendants were Rev. Harold H. Critchlow of Brockton, Rev. Robert L. Roberts of Fair Haven and Rev. Raymond W. Hibbard of Osterville.

Holmes accused the three ministers with falsely and conspiring to accuse him of improper conduct with Antoinette Fortin, a tea room employee.

The cases were heard before Judge John M. Gibbs and a jury.

THEATERS AT THE STATE

Ruth Chatterton Tonight
Ruth Chatterton in her latest and greatest screen production "Tomorrow and Tomorrow" is the feature attraction at the State today and Thursday.

In "Tomorrow and Tomorrow," you find Ruth Chatterton as you like her, charming, witty, gay, with a woman's problem to solve—and solve without sacrificing love. She wanted from marriage the things that every woman wants—companionship, love, motherhood—and when all she got was companionship, she decided upon a course that few women would attempt. She thought it could never happen to her. She thought she was immune from the one great danger of married life, that she wasn't. Circumstances brought her face to face with the old, yet modern, dilemma—loyalty to her husband or love for the other man. Miss Chatterton tackles this problem in a manner that will meet with the approval of nearly every audience. Paul Lukas is cast in the leading male role.

Others in the excellent supporting cast are Harold Minjar, Tal Alexander, Walter Walker and Margaret Hamilton. The surrounding "hit" includes Joe Penner in the comedy hit "The Toreador"; Rudy Vallee in the song reel, "Knowmore College"; the novelty reel, "Remember When"; and the latest news events.

Ronald Colman and Helen Hayes in Sinclair Lewis' "Arrowsmith," will be the feature attraction next Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Public Stenographer

SOMETHING TELLS ME:

That a beauty shop tries to begin where Nature leaves off.
 That a road-hog might be considered a ground hog.
 That there ought to be a pen for road hogs.
 That barbers do not tell stories to the patrons any more, but give sales talks on what they need for their hair.
 That an autogiro looks like an inverted electric fan.
 That perhaps the gangsters do not know the war is over.
 That it seems to be thumbs down on Tom Thumb golf.
 That the story that brings the baby has a big bill. The father who pays it can vouch for that.
 That every adult has a little wisdom even if it is confined to a back tooth.
 That it requires more push than pull to hold down a street-sweeper's job.

Golfer (to caddy)—Notice any improvement since last year?
 Caddy—Is your club shined up, haven't you?

Diner in Restaurant (looking at the dish the waiter has just brought)—What's that, waiter?
 Waiter (thinking he refers to the music)—It's a portion of 'The Merry Widow' sir.

Fashion Note: Girls bringing bustle back in fashion. (O. K. Now it's up to the men to bring it back in business!)

Pastor—Good morning, May I hear that God has seen fit to send you two little twin brothers?
 Little May—Yes sir, and He knows where the money's coming from, too. I heard daddy say so.

IN MY MODEST OPINION:
 When the top of the hill is in sight, are you pushing or just sitting tight?
 You can always tell how high a man can climb by how soon he gets dizzy.

The three s's in success stand for strive, study and stick.
 If you are up on your toes you won't be down in the mouth.
 A day of performance is worth a year of promises.
 You can be persistent without being a plague.

The following is from a woman's magazine advertisement:
 "To prepare delicious Chicken salad, dice two cups of tender pork, add chopped celery and a cup of X Y Z mayonnaise."
 That's old stuff. The drug stores have been doing that for years.

Foochow—So your wife made you install television in your office?
 Chowfoo—Yes, she used to be my stenographer.

The class in physiology was displaying itself before some distinguished visitors.
 One of The Visitors—Can any little girl tell me three foods required to keep the body in health?
 There was a silence until, one of the larger girls in the back row held up her hand and replied:
 Larger Girl—Yer breakfast, yer dinner and yer supper.

Boy Friend—S-s-s-h. You gave it to me last Christmas.
 Girl Friend—Oh, was that a tie? I thought it was a pennant.

The Spendthrift

Whatever may be the wealth of your life,
 Spend it every day.
 The more that is used while still you live,
 The less will be thrown away.
 You cannot conserve it anyhow,
 No matter how carefully
 You may look it up, for the spendthrift,
 Possesses the master key.

After an immense amount of trouble the vicar of a country parish succeeded in reconciling two old women who had been quarrelling for years. He even induced them to meet under the vicarage roof. In his drawing room they shook hands. After an embarrassed silence one of them said:
 Mrs. Snyder—Well, Mrs. Tyler, I wish you all you wishes me.
 Mrs. Tyler—An' who's saying nasty things now?

SHEEP LAWMOWERS

Berlin.—German airport managers are thankful for sheep. Near most every airport you will find a flock of sheep. These are released on the flying field when there are no planes in the air. They keep the grass closely clipped and do away with the expense of having an automatic mower do the work.

WELL CONNECTED

Chicago.—Chicago, because of its central location, is ever growing as the center of the nation's air commerce. At present it now has direct mail service to 150 cities in 42 states and indirectly, through connecting lines, to 194 cities.

ANCIENT AIRSHIP

Paris.—Andree Martin, Paris historian, says that there are records of an airship comparable to the modern glider being in existence in Egypt nearly ten centuries ago. Why the craft never was developed was not explained.

ABOUT TOWN

A pre-natal clinic will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at the Memorial hospital clinic building.

The Electa Eastern Star Bridge club will entertain the Star Bridge club tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Lundberg of East Center street.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Blush of Holl street have returned from Florida where they spent the major part of the winter.

Fourteen tables were filled with players at the setback conducted last night by the women members of the Highland Park Community Club. First prizes were won by Mrs. John Tedford and Elmer Packard; second by Mrs. John Mikoleit and Charles Nichols and third by Mrs. Julia Donze and Walter Borst. The hostesses Mrs. Robert Dougan and Mrs. Philip Taylor served coffee and home made cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald R. Risley of Strong street have sold their seven room single house which they built about four years ago to Mr. and Mrs. William H. Dunstone of Yonkers, N. Y. Mr. Dunstone who holds a position in the public schools in Yonkers, will not move to his new home until the summer vacation.

Mrs. Anne Tryon, royal matron of Chapman Court, Order of Amaranth, will fill the chair of conductor at the meeting of Charity Court of Windsor tomorrow evening. It will be visiting matrons and patrons' night and it is hoped all members of Chapman Court who can make it convenient to attend will do so.

The Epworth League of the North Methodist church will meet tomorrow evening at 7:30 in the social room, Miss Isabel Brown heads the committee in charge of the program to follow the routine business.

Tonight at 8:15 the Community Players will present their second play, "The Whole Town's Talking," which they have been diligently rehearsing the past few weeks under Mrs. Joseph Handley's direction. A play which ran an entire season in New York, with Grant Mitchell as its star, must be worth seeing. It is produced by amateurs only under a heavy royalty. The fame of the play, and the success of the first venture of the Community Players, will, it is anticipated, fill to overflowing the auditorium of the Hollister street school.

Inasmuch Circle of King's Daughters will meet this evening at 7 p. m. at the Center Church House.

Members of the Epworth League of the South Methodist church will hold their annual meeting and election of officers at the church tomorrow evening, beginning with a banquet at 6:30 in the social hall.

A fellowship meeting for Second Congregationalists will be held tomorrow evening at 7:30 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Walton of Strong street. Mrs. James Cummings will be the leader.

A Ford truck equipped for trailer bearing Massachusetts license, B 18,646 and bearing the name J. R. Foster on the doors was involved in an accident in Tolland yesterday. The truck was hauled to East Hartford late yesterday afternoon. The frame of the truck was badly smashed.

LT. N. B. GATCHELL RESIGNS FROM 'G'
Popular Junior Guard Officer Finds Other Duties Take His Time.

Lieutenant Nathan B. Gatchell of Company G, 169th Infantry of Manchester, for the past year junior officer of the local National Guard unit, will tender his resignation effective May 1, it was learned today. Lieut. Gatchell's duties in the high school where he is engaged as a teacher of English, has necessitated his withdrawal from the military company to allow more freedom in the conduct of his duties.

Lieutenant Gatchell was born in Buffalo, N. Y., but has resided in Andover since 1912. He attended school in Andover and Windham High school, Willimantic, graduating in 1925 and entered the Connecticut Agricultural College that fall.

His Training
He was active in military affairs during his entire college career, entering the basic R. O. T. C. course as a freshman in 1925 and took the advanced course in his junior year. He attended the six weeks' training course at Camp Devens in 1928 and while in camp with the R. O. T. C. was chosen editor-in-chief of the camp publication. Lieut. Gatchell was commissioned a second lieutenant of Infantry at Storrs, June 8, 1929 and was assigned to the 304th Infantry, 79th Division from that date.

While in college Lieut. Gatchell was active in dramatics and journalism as an undergraduate and was elected president of Theta Alpha Phi, the National dramatic fraternity in his junior year. During his undergraduate years Lieut. Gatchell was admitted to the board of the Connecticut Campus, the college publication, and was editor-in-chief during the second semester of his senior year. Lieut. Gatchell majored in English and graduated in 1929. He is a member of Phi Mu Delta fraternity.

Went to California
Following his graduation, Lieut. Gatchell enrolled as a graduate student in the University of California at Berkeley, studying for a Master's degree in English. While in that institution he acted as assistant drill instructor in the Infantry Regiment, R. O. T. C. Since his engagement as instructor in English in the Manchester High school Lieut. Gatchell has been prominent in dramatics. He is a musician and is organist in the Andover Congregational church. The officers and men of Company

G are sorry to lose their efficient junior officer who has so ably demonstrated his leadership, knowledge of the military, and good judgment in handling men. Lieut. Gatchell will continue his studies in the Yale University summer school pointing towards his Master's degree.

"MANCHESTER DAY" BIG BARGAIN EVENT

Stores Making Special Offers To Attract Crowds This Week Thursday — Read the Advertisements.

Manchester Day is on its way! The outstanding sales event in the history of this community — Manchester Day — will be held Thursday this week, April 21. It was announced today by R. K. Anderson, general chairman of the committees in charge. Nearly seventy local merchants and firms will participate in the event, and having spent three months of intensive preparation, will offer bargains never before quite equaled in quality and price.

Manchester Day will be a stupendous one-day anti-hoarding campaign. Having had three months in which to prepare for the event, the participating merchants and firms have taken advantage of the opportunity to purchase merchandise in special lots, and this merchandise will be placed on sale on Thursday at figures reaching new lows for this century.

Free Transportation
Manchester Day is expected to attract nearly 25,000 people from Manchester and vicinity. Through the co-operation of the Connecticut Company and the Silver Lane Bus Company, free transportation on all lines entering Manchester will be provided between the hours of 9:30 o'clock and 1 o'clock Thursday morning.

No one has been left untended to make this a sales event to exceed anything ever attempted in the 109 years of Manchester's history. Three months have been devoted to careful planning and preparation and many novel features have been arranged for this day of all days.

Children's Frolic
Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, a Children's Spring Frolic will be held as part of the program, consisting of a parade of bicycles, tricycles or any vehicle on wheels. The parade will start at the Center and will proceed to the High school, led by the High School band.

Eight prizes will be awarded, first and second prize for the best decorated bicycle, the best decorated vehicle other than bicycle, the most comical costume of an entrant and the best looking organized group of eight or more vehicles. The prizes, valued at $200, will be presented at the Chamber of Commerce office on Saturday. All children from the age of 5 to 17 are eligible to enter the contest.

Motor Caravan
Also on Wednesday afternoon, a motor caravan of nearly fifty automobiles will parade through Willimantic, Stafford Springs, Rocky Hill, East Hartford, Glastonbury and all towns within a radius of fifteen miles. Each car will carry banners and pennants advertising Manchester Day. The caravan will be headed by a State Police escort and the High School band, leaving Manchester at 1 o'clock.

Whistles and Gifts
Promptly at 9 o'clock Thursday morning factory whistles will be blown to announce that the great event has arrived. And as an added inducement to the thousand on thousand of shoppers that are expected to descend on the town, the merchants will give a coupon with each twenty-five cent purchase, and this coupon will be good for one chance on a list of merchandise valued at $1,000, that will be given away on Saturday. A list of the merchandise will be found on the first page of the special supplement of the Herald, 10,000 copies of which will be distributed out-of-town and which will also be included with the regular issue of The Herald on Wednesday. The supplement carries the names of the participating merchants and firms on the first page and the pages that follow will include detail the many bargains that will be available on Manchester Day.

Street Decorations
Main street will be decorated with huge banners, carrying a sketch of the new post office building at the Center and announcing the gala event. Arrows will be placed at convenient locations on the outskirts of the town, giving the direction to follow to Manchester. Announcements of Manchester Day will also be found on special placards distributed by local milk dealers on milk bottles.

Ideal Shopping Town
The Town of Manchester is an ideal community for such an event as Manchester Day. Its shopping district is confined almost entirely to two districts at the north and south end with every store within easy walking distance of each other. Its broad, spacious streets provide ample parking space for those who enter its limits by automobile and in addition local merchants provide free parking space to the rear of their stores.

The Manchester Day program has been entered into with enthusiasm and optimism by the largest number of merchants and firms ever to participate in a single sales event in local history. All are pledged to give their customers bargains that cannot be rivaled anywhere, as an antidote against hoarding. The Almighty Dollar will reign supreme on Manchester Day!

Committees
The committees in charge of the event are as follows: R. K. Anderson, general chairman; Leroy Slocomb, vice chairman; finance committee, Leroy Slocomb, chairman; Lewis H. Sipe, R. B. House, Leonard Richman and Karl Keller; advertising committee, Herbert Swanson, chairman; F. H. Anderson, Walter Gorman, E. J. Murphy and Leon Thorp; supplies and distribution committee, Everett Keith, chairman; Nathan Marlow, Arthur L. Hultman, Russell Potterton and Thomas Conran; prize and gifts committee, L. N. Keener, chairman; F. T. Ellah, Sr., Fred Fitchner, Ernest Benson and Ernest Basely; special stunts committee, Edward Stearns, chairman; Christopher Glensney, Julius Fradin, Francis Miner and Wilbrod Messier; transportation and meetings committee, Robert Seaman, chairman; Samuel Kemp, John I. Olson, F. Conary and William Rubinow.

Special Herald
Ten thousand copies of the special Manchester Day edition of The Herald, in addition to its regular circulation, will be distributed in thirty-four towns within a radius of twenty miles of Manchester, announcing the greatest sales event ever held locally. This special edition will be included with the Wednesday evening issue of The Herald. The edition will be distributed tomorrow and Wednesday in the following towns: Buckingham, Buckland, East Glastonbury, Glastonbury, Silver Lane, Hockanum, Wapping, East Windsor Hill, East Hartford, Burnside, Willimantic, Andover, Bolton, Bolton Notch, Columbia, Crystal Lake, Eagleville, East Willington, Ellington, Mansfield, Mansfield Depot, Mansfield Center,

HANDSET STYLE 'PHONE NEITHER NEW NOR FRENCH

First Used in America in 1878, Year That World's First Exchange Opened in Connecticut.

Add among the "Believe it or not" paragraphs the fact that the handset telephone, sometimes erroneously called the "French telephone," was used in the United States as early as 1878, two years after Alexander Graham Bell obtained the first patent on his invention and in the same year that the world's first commercial telephone exchange was opened in Connecticut. So it appears that the handset, which is becoming more popular each year, has neither an exactly modern style of design nor is it of French origin.

The first handsets were destined not to stay long, however. The telephone transmitter of those early days was a much too delicate instrument to stand the jarring which the use of the handset involved. A handset carrying a transmitter capable of withstanding the strain involved was not achieved until 1927 after the Bell laboratories and its forerunners had labored for many years in experimentation and research. The difficulties and problems which had to be overcome were many, but five years ago success was attained and a handset instrument was produced which offered as good quality of transmission as the desk type of telephone.

The idea that the handset type of telephone had its origin in France undoubtedly came from the moving pictures of the pre-war era when handsets were used to furnish a continental atmosphere. The handset, although not perfected, could then be used in France because long distance transmission was not required, there being few lines extending beyond city limits. The term "French telephone" to denote the discard, for those pre-war continental sets have long since been scrapped and replaced with telephones built on the same principles as those of the United States.

Alabama's Cotton Queen

While other southern states are pondering selection of their royal representatives, Alabama's Governor E. M. Miller named Miss Helen Stuart, Montgomery society belle, as Cotton Queen of the state. She will represent Alabama at the annual Southern Cotton Festival in Anderson, S. C., in May, where other cotton queens will be present.

Pilgrims From Far and Near Visit Old Shrine at Chimayo

Nestled against the foothills of the Sangre de Cristo mountains in New Mexico, surrounded by the quaint village of Chimayo, 25 miles north of Santa Fe, is the Sanctuario (sanctuary), a church built about 1816 upon what is considered sacred ground by natives.

The Sanctuario was not a mission church built for the Christianizing of the Indians, but was erected as a monument of appreciation for temporal prosperity and good health by a pious man of Chimayo, Don Bernardo Abeyta. A modest little church, 60 feet long and 25 feet wide, with walls of adobe three feet thick, it is probably more widely known among Spanish people throughout the southwest than any other church or cathedral.

Whispers went out that the church and the earth beneath it were miracles of healing, and the church has become a shrine. Pilgrims come from far and near to pray at the altar, and to carry back home a few grains of the precious soil that is supposed to cure all manner of illness. It is no unusual sight to see

"Enoch Arden" of Sing Sing

Twenty-two years ago Walter Brannigan, above, escaped from famous Sing Sing prison. Since then he has lived a respectable life, working hard and even during his bit in the war, and has been known to his neighbors as "John Casey," a painting contractor. But the other day, troubled by conscience, he gave himself up and was returned to prison. Warden Lewis E. Lawes has announced that he will seek clemency for the penitentiary "Enoch Arden."

BRIGHT BOY
"I say, Jiggs, I saw five women standing under an umbrella down the road and not one of them got wet."
"H'm! That's funny."
"Not at all. It wasn't raining."

ONLY MAN TO HOLD HIGH U. S. AWARDS

Col. Johnson Has Congressional Medal, D. S. C. Cross and "Purple Heart."

Washington — When Col. Gordon Johnson recently was awarded the decoration of the "Purple Heart" for heroism, another even greater distinction was being conferred upon him.

For on that occasion he became the only living man to hold the four highest awards which the United States Army confers. These in addition to his most recent decoration, are the Congressional Medal, the Distinguished Service Medal, and the Distinguished Service Cross.

The Purple Heart — which is awarded only to those who are "authorized to wear wound chevrons" — and the Congressional Medal were awarded to Col. Johnson's bravery in leading a charge against the Moros during the Philippine Insurrection.

He received the Distinguished Service Cross for heroism in action at Pion, P. I. For his "masterful leadership" in various capacities during the World War, he was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal. In addition, he has won three silver star citations for gallantry at La Paz, Datu Alio Cotta and Dagami during the insurrection.

Colonel Johnson now is stationed at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga. He is a native of Charlotte, N. C.

PEDESTRIAN PARADISE
Isleboro, Me. — Pedestrians of this town needn't fear the danger of automobiles for another year. Voters have refused to permit the raising of the ban on automobiles, an ordinance that has been in effect for 20 years. The permit was voted down by a count of 128 to 78.

HITLER, DEFEATED, IS STILL A POWER

Has Dreams of Coming Back To Public Attention and Next Election.

Berlin.—Though beaten for Germany's highest office by President Paul von Hindenburg's amazing reelection plurality of nearly 6,000,000 votes, Adolf Hitler still has dreams of becoming a power in Germany in the Prussian Parliament elections of April 24.

Failure may wreck his Fascist machine. Prussia comprises approximately two-thirds of the area and population of Germany and the man who rules Prussia has a lot to say about what happens in the country. And Hitler, the former house painter who has become the czar of Germany's Nazis, hopes to wrest this control from Otto Braun, Hindenburg's minister-president of Prussia. The Prussian Landtag—or Parliament—is the Prussian legislative body and if Hitler can swing a few votes here and there, he may get control of it. If he fails in this, his plans for ruling Germany by legal means, at least—will be over for the time being.

As an aftermath of his defeat for the presidency and in the light of recent raids on offices of the German Fascist organization, with a view of pressing charges of treason, the election of April 24 becomes a vital test of Hitler's power.

If the election of April 24 follows the line indicated in the national elections, Hitler's party will get 137 of the 498 seats in the Landtag. That number looks unimpressive until you remember that Hitler will have the backing of the Nazis, who figure to get 37 seats, and may be able to swing the Communists to his side.

The Communists figure to get 74 seats, and if they can be persuaded to join hands with Hitler against the common enemy—the various parties which supported Hindenburg—the former housepainter figures to have 248 votes to Braun's 210.

Of course, Hitler will make a desperate attempt to get a clear majority of Nazis and Nationalists, but his best chance lies in the possibility of joining with the Communists whom he hates.

First Prize to This Child Study

Opposed to Hitler is Otto Braun, termed the Red Czar by his political foes, much to his own amusement.

Braun, though almost unknown in the United States, is generally regarded as one of the shrewdest, cleverest and most courageous leaders the new Germany has developed.

As minister-president of the state of Prussia he has been one of the big guns back of the German republic since it was formed. He was one of Hindenburg's staunchest supporters in the recent elections.

His career is almost as romantic as that of Fritz Ebert, the little saddle-maker who became Germany's first president.

There were no silver spoons about when Otto Braun was born. His parents were working people and his ancestors were peasants on the great estates of the East Prussia nobles.

After a common school education, Braun became a printer and a member of the Socialist party. One of his first and most bitter fights came when he had the unheard-of temerity to suggest unionization of the peasants in East Prussia. The junker landowners often set their dogs upon him as he came to speak to their workers.

But in 1913 Braun got his chance to tell the junkers what he thought of them. He was elected to the Prussian Landtag. When the republic was founded after the war, he found himself one of its leaders.

Since 1920, with one short break, he has been minister-president of Prussia, and he has put over laws which have given the privileged junkers a pain. Then they called him the "Red Czar," but he laughed and didn't mind.

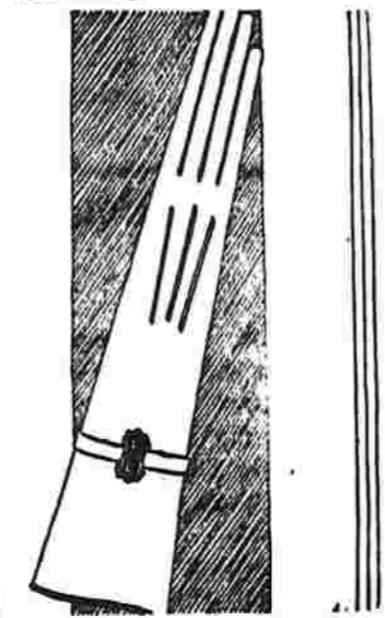

The East Prussian junkers almost had a fit a few years ago when they saw that Hindenburg and Braun had become fast friends. But Hindenburg knew a strong man when he saw one. And when Hindenburg ran for reelection, Braun called on all patriotic workmen to vote for the aged war hero.

And Prussia responded by helping to elect the man who had saved Germany from financial and political chaos.

So now the stage is set for April 24. Germany, after two national elections within a few weeks, is going to have another of almost equal importance.

It will be a battle royal between the tried statesman and the untried Nazi czar. If Hitler loses a third time, it will mean the beginning of the end of his movement. If he wins, he will come near his desire of being the boss of Germany.

DANCE HALL GIRL WEDS MILLIONAIRE

But Both Are Going To Work Until the Money Becomes Available.

New York.—Romaine Fleming, attractive "10-cents-a-dance" hostess, and Allan Carlisle, her shy, collegiate millionaire husband, have won the first sprit in the Young Love versus Life handicap.

Romaine, long accustomed to taking care of herself stepped out and found herself a job while the honeymoon was still in its first quarter. Her friend Peggy Fears, actress-producer, gave Romaine a bit in her show.

Allan also has gone to work. His decision required more time and consideration. His Harvard course still had a year to run when his persistent courtship resulted in a romantic alliance.

"I had not studied for any profession," he apologized boyishly. "But I had, now. I'd just taken a general course. I woke up to find that I could have used a better background for business."

So his first job is with a large insurance firm. He starts as a salesman. A few days of lining up prospects left him groping, but enthusiastic. Many of his college fellows look like "sure things" to him.

The Carlises are living and intending to live simply. Their apartment is a most modest one in Greenwich Village. The "misus" is well schooled in making and mending her own clothes, if necessary. A two-burner kitchennette gas plate is also a familiar item to her.

Young Carlisle, though expected to inherit some $3,000,000 one of these days, appears to be on a conservative college allowance. It is a matter he will not discuss.

His earliest upsets, concerns and handicaps grew out of Broadway's typical exploitation of a "Cinderella marriage." He found his name and that of his bride "four-sheeted" most prominently.

The Broadway rumors had it that members of his family were disturbed by the blatant balhoo and there had been councils of the clan.

The honeymoon routine has included repeated visits to the "Orpheum Dance Palace" from which Romaine graduated into matrimony. The ro-

Sylvia Bobs It

"Cinderella" usually appear overnight at the Ritz or at ringside seats in the swankiest spots.

But Romaine returns to her old haunts. Allan also meets his old pals there.

After all, the new Mrs. Carlisle had danced as a hostess for several years. Carlisle, with fellow collegians from Harvard and Princeton, would drop in for dancing diversion while week-ending in New York. He meets his college fellows and she dances about with old friends or chats with the other girls.

More Romances Due

in the throes of romances expected to end soon in wealthy marriages. One of them is a member of a trio with whom Romaine once shared quarters.

Still another, Miss Violet Fye, dark and slender colleen from Belfast, studies art and writing during the daytime. She has contributed to The Princetonian and The Princeton magazine. Until a few months ago she was a secretary in a Wall Street office.

The girls chatteringly remind you that Miss Romaine was wooed for about a year and a half before she agreed to marry. Allan had been ready for the wedding bells at least a year ago, they say, but she encouraged him to stay in school and talk things over with his parents.

As for Mrs. Carlisle, she would have you know that she married Allan and not his millions.

PARIS DESIGNS TRIM ENSEMBLE FOR EVENINGS

Paris.—(AP)—An evening tailor—as tailored and trim as a man's dinner jacket—is fashion's latest offering for the candlelit hours.

For the popular girl, the smart clubwoman and the chic business girl, who have no time to change between tea hour and dinner, designers have created an ensemble with very unnecessary frippery sheared away.

Its skirt is reasonably full and short—8 to 10 inches from the floor. Its sleeveless bodice is cut in an evening décolleté, and its wrap is a little matching hip-length jacket. Worn with the wrap it is suitable for any afternoon function; without it, it becomes a dinner frock.

Dark blue, black, pearly blue, green and carnation red are the favorite colors for these new evening tailors which often are worn with a little close fitting hat.

One of the smartest evening tailors—more formal than the short skirted model—is designed with a two-tone color scheme. Its skirt is a long, high-waisted, mouledé design of white peau d'ange, and its bodice is a brief vest of dark brown crepe trimmed with a double row of strass buttons.

The coat is a short brown crepe jacket fashioned with a brief shoulder cape.

100 Baby Brain Giants Apply for University's Childhood Genius Test

Evanson, Ill.—More than 100 students in high schools scattered throughout the United States believe themselves childhood geniuses who are likely to grow up into Mozarts, Byrons or even Napoleons.

President Walter Dill Scott of Northwestern University, who plans to admit a limited group of youthful prodigies between the ages of 13 and 15 as freshmen next fall, says that announcement of this unique educational experiment swamped him with applications.

Believing that precocious students need special treatment, Dr. Scott took by circular a "genius census" of American high schools. From the 100 or more candidates six girls and six boys will be selected.

These youthful marvels will take the regular studies with the other students, but they will live apart in special dormitory quarters. Thus, they will be kept mostly in an intellectual atmosphere of their own, designed to encourage their fullest development, instead of being thrown with other students who are much older in actual years but perhaps inferior in intelligence.

Crushed by Elders

"The average precocious child is often crushed under the handicap of being forced to live among other youths who are much larger and older than he, but not as brilliant," Dr. Scott says in explaining his plan.

"We have had satisfactory experience with precocious youngsters at Northwestern, but in the past such students have been so few in number that they have lacked the stimulus that comes from co-operation and competition with their equals. We hope to remedy this by forming a group where they can associate with others of the same age and intelligence."

Dr. Scott, famed as a psychologist as well as a university president, is proud of several prodigies he has developed at Northwestern under the old system.

His most conspicuous prodigy today is Harold M. Finley of McConneville, Ohio, who entered Northwestern as a 13-year-old freshman two years ago. He is studying for a business career. He also plays a clarinet in Northwestern's band.

Read Fluently

"When Harold was 18 months old," said Dr. Scott, "he had learned the alphabet. At 2 years, he could tell time. At 4, he was able to read fluently from first grade readers."

"He entered school at six and was placed in the fourth grade. In two months, he was promoted to the fifth grade; the following September he entered the seventh grade, skipping the sixth entirely."

"In his four years in high school his grade in all subjects never fell below E and were the highest ever given by his school."

When Harold was eight years old, the Stanford-Binet intelligence test credited him with the intelligence of a boy of 16.

This 16-year-old Northwestern junior of today looks about like any other boy of that age. He says he plans to enter Harvard business school when he is graduated from Northwestern at 17.

His chief hobby is collecting autographs, and his collection includes those of Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge, Rudyard Kipling and other notables. His dad is Judge Harry M. Finley of Morgan county, Ohio.

"We have had girl prodigies, too," said Dr. Scott. "One girl who entered Northwestern at 13 worked eight hours a day on the outside to support herself, but made a brilliant record in school."

Of course, some childhood prodigies soon burn themselves out—a famous boy who entered Harvard at 13 some years ago was last reported punching the keys of an adding machine as a clerk in a Wall Street brokerage office—but Dr. Scott says that most of them succeed in life.

Prodigies

"At Northwestern," he added, "we have had a number of prodigies, but

When Bromley Meets Bromley

Their names are the same, but they aren't related, even by marriage. In fact that's the complaint of Miss Eva Bromley, pretty manufacturer of Minneapolis, Minn., who has filed a breach of promise suit against Kenneth Bromley, publicity agent for a Hollywood film company. She asks $50,000 bail, alleging Kenneth promised to marry her two months ago but wed another girl five weeks later.

Dr. Scott turned to history to show that childhood prodigies do make good in life.

"Take Alexander Hamilton," he said. "He was a successful business executive at 15 and entered college at 16."

"Jeremy Bentham, the great jurist, wrote fragments of Latin and Greek at 5, prepared to enter Oxford at 10.

"Lord Byron began to write poetry at 10 and was distinguished at 15."

"Napoleon Bonaparte was known as 'the little mathematician' at 8; an organizer and leader at 14."

"Mozart, the musician, performed and composed constantly from the age of 5."

"Even George Washington was a professional surveyor at 15."

to launder that there is no excuse for not looking clean and fresh all the time.

THINGS WERE BOOMING

Vancouver, B. C.—Yeggs who broke into a second floor store here over-estimated the amount of explosive they used in opening a safe. The charge was so heavy that it blew the strong box through a window and completely across the street below, a distance of 84 feet. They escaped with $50.

DIET OF INFANT BEST CONTROL OF TEETH'S FUTURE

Enamel Structure Formed
Before Birth and In Early
tal Chief Asserts.

Proper diet in infancy and early childhood governs the general health of the teeth throughout life, Dr. C. R. Salmons, chief of the Division of Mouth Hygiene of the State Department of Health, declared today in the department's weekly broadcast. No system of brushing, polishing and filling can make good teeth out of those which were poorly formed and poorly developed in the beginning, Dr. Salmons stated. Although brushing and general care of the teeth is by no means to be neglected, the building of good teeth depends entirely upon the diet in infancy and even upon the phenetic diet of the expectant mother.

The enamel, which is the protective layer covering all of the exposed portion of the tooth, is fully formed and completed in the bones of the jaws long before the tooth comes into its place in the mouth. The tooth doesn't grow bigger after it comes into place, nor can lime salts or other elements be added in any appreciable quantities after nature's original development. It is a debatable question whether the enamel is not entirely inert and does not completely from any of the nourishing fluids of the body.

Naturally, if the enamel is weak in structure, decay will start more readily and progress with greater rapidity. In many cases, even the most scrupulous care and most modern reparative methods cannot keep pace with the destruction.

The dental profession has discovered that correct diet is the most important factor in building strong enamel. If any of the elements are lacking in the diet during the period when the teeth are being formed, it follows inevitably that they will also be lacking in the teeth and the enamel consequently will be of poor quality.

Dr. Salmons further emphasized the necessity for care of the child's first or temporary teeth. If they are neglected, all of the bones of the head and face suffer from underdevelopment, resulting in restrictions of the air passages and sinuses, and, therefore, mouth breathing, adenoids, diseased tonsils, lack of chest development and a generally unfavorable influence upon the complete physical development and well being of the child.

Care of these early teeth should include proper daily brushing from the earliest possible date; a diet not only of tooth building materials, but of tough fibrous foods which require vigorous chewing and frequent visits to the dentist. Sometimes, if baby teeth as well as in the permanent ones, decay starts almost as soon as the teeth come into place and frequently the damage at even three and one half to four years is irreparable. The child should be taken to the dentist at the age of two and one half years, at the latest, and thereafter at regular intervals.

of Torreón, state of Coahuila, who were so tickled when they discovered the identity of their prisoner that they made him pose with them for a Mexican news reel.

Mexico's "Raffles," who perpetrated 105 robberies during a sensational one-man crime wave, is Roberto Hernandez Alexander.

A polished trickster, he spent much of the time dressed as a dancing girl. His latest escapade was to carry a funeral bouquet to the home of a wealthy man. In his female attire, Alexander presented the bouquet to the widow, spent some time weeping with her and then looted the house while the funeral was going on.

He had been captured twice before. The first time he begged police to take him home for a moment. While they waited in front, he changed to his dancer's costume and escaped through the rear.

Recently he was picked up in Mexico City and sentenced to the Carcel de Belem, a great, grim stone building in the heart of Mexico City that was considered escape proof. Within a few weeks he made his getaway.

Alexander's specialty was robbing the homes of American residents. Often he posed as an American. Being a great mimic, he was able to speak Mexican with a "gringo" accent. He would convince Mexican maids that he was a friend of the owner, gain admittance and pillage the rooms.

He was a skillful dancer and sometimes entertained in cabarets. For a time he was on the stage.

Torreón police chanced to pick him up on suspicion. But at headquarters he was identified. Then they posed before the movie camera, to show him off. The Mexican newspaper Universal printed the news under the heading: "The Limit!"

MARY'S GROWN-UP NOW!

Returns to Old-Type Films, But Not in Juvenile Roles

Hollywood.—Mary Pickford's next picture will be strongly reminiscent of the oldtime vehicles which made her known as the screen's most popular actress—except that Mary will appear as a grownup instead of a child.

That fact was disclosed to me by Frances Marion, her scenario writer, just before she left for New York to join Miss Pickford. Miss Marion has been working for some time on this new story for "America's sweetheart" and now has it developed to such a point that she must confer with Mary before adding the final touches.

Mary went to New York on a combination business and shopping trip immediately after she gave Douglas Fairbanks a big send-off for his South Seas voyage. She will remain there until final plans for the production of her film have been completed, which probably will be sometime next month.

"While we have no title for the story as yet, it will be so homely in its structure and philosophy that it could be called 'Carrots' or something like that," Miss Marion declared.

GRAPEFRUIT AND ORANGE FAVORED IN NEW ENGLAND

Finding Larger Place in Yankee Diet—N. H. Road Freight Figures Indicate Apples Also Gain.

Whether it's the effect of the "eighteen day diet" fad or whether it's because New England is becoming more fruit "conscious" isn't known, but it's certainly true that depression or no depression New England, or at least that part of it served by the New Haven Railroad, is devouring more oranges, grapefruit and apples than it was a year ago this time.

The annual freight statistics of the railroad show that during the year of 1931 the railroad's traffic in oranges and grapefruit increased by 33,927 tons over the previous year, a gain of forty percent in one year's time. The freight cars bearing fresh apples had an increased load of twenty-four percent or 10,741 tons. Bananas and grapes, however, showed exactly the opposite trend, the former slumping by 4,563 tons and the latter dropping 36,591 tons. Fresh vegetables slightly increased in volume, although this is not an indication of greater use in New England, since the exports were probably close in volume to the imports. Corn, oats, wheat flour, ce-many classes of freight. Some classes, however, did enjoy gains. Wool, for instance, increased 13,330 tons. Coke gained 47,715 tons. Two other products of mines, asphalt and salt, also rose in volume. Manufactured products for the most part declined, but increases were recorded in newsprint paper and soap and washing compounds. There was also a gain in the miscellaneous products of agriculture, not separately listed.

Having Barrels of Fun

Macaroni Millions
Mrs. Frances Taucher, middle-aged Chicago divorcee, has gone to Italy to collect her third of $5,000,000 left by her uncle, Anton Clemens, the macaroni king.

In 74 instances out of 103, the country's largest city is also the capital.

Do You Remember?

One Year Ago Today—Ellsworth Vines of Passaic trounced Bruce Barnes, University of Texas star, 6-3, 6-4, 10-8, in the finals of the tennis singles championship of the River Oaks C. C. invitation event at Houston, Tex.

Five Years Ago Today—A record crowd of 72,000 persons saw the American League championship Yankees defeat the Athletics 8 to 3 in the opening of the baseball season. This attendance helped swell the opening day attendance in seven major league cities to 241,000.

Ten Years Ago Today—Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Chicago and St. Louis National League clubs and Washington, Philadelphia, Cleveland and St. Louis in the American League got away to successful starts as the 1922 major league baseball season was opened. The world champion Giants beat Brooklyn 4 to 3 behind fine pitching by Art Nehf.

GLENNEY'S

IS YOUR HAIR FOR SALE?

SO frequent is the inquiry: "How much are your permanent waves this year?" and to our reply "$8, $10, $12 and $15," we feel that we should explain to the discriminating women of Manchester, and to those who appreciate their hair and the importance of a correct and modish coiffure, our reasons for refusing to enter into a price-cutting orgy in the care of the hair.

FIRST—we use only an approved machine, approved solutions and pads. So termed "bootleg" supplies have never been used in the Weldon Beauty Salon.

SECOND—we refuse to slash our prices to the point where our service becomes a question of volume rather than scientific efficiency.

WE know many women who during the year spend large sums in the care of their hair. Then in a moment of thoughtlessness and seeming economy they phone to make an appointment for a cheap permanent. We use the word cheap advisedly here. A cheap permanent is a cheap permanent. But, cheap at first only. As with everything else, in truth more so in the care of the hair, cheap service is most costly in the end, and by many times the least satisfying.

WE are mindful of the times. We know there have been many reductions. But, the supplies we use and likewise the supplies used by leading Beauty Salons on Fifth Avenue, N. Y., and other quality centers have not been reduced. Neither has the time we take to give a permanent correctly been lessened. Therefore, it is economically impossible for us to give the kind of permanents we are proud of for the prices being broadcast by some places.

It has been suggested to us that we should give some "bootleg" materials and that we should divide by two the time we are taking to give a permanent correctly. These sacrifices we refuse to make for in the end we believe that Milady who values her coiffure will want to feel sure that not only will her permanent meet her every expectation, but, of even greater importance, that her hair shall not be injured.

WE have made substantial reductions in our rates from the so-called peak times, and we do not believe discriminating women want quantity production in such an important matter regardless of results.

TROLLEY RIDERS DECREASE 12.5 P. C. IN YEAR'S TIME

Conn. Company's Passengers, However, Still Reach Total of 400,000 Daily; 150,000 a Day Less Than 1924

During the year of 1931, the Connecticut Company on its street railway and bus lines carried a total of 119,764,820 passengers, statistics for the year show. This was 12.5 percent less than the 1930 total of 136,880,172 riders. Industrial shut-downs being considered by company officials as chiefly responsible for the decline, although the increased utilization of private automobiles for many years past has been constantly reducing the number of trolley and bus riders. Five years ago in 1927, the company's vehicles carried a total of 162,047,354 passengers, while in 1924 the figure was 167,914,615. Today's passenger total is 28.6 percent below the latter figure.

It was this continually darkening situation with respect to passengers that led to the program of general retrenchment that the company has been diligently carrying out during the past two years. The problem of maintaining transportation facilities for nearly 400,000 daily riders, almost one quarter of the total population of the state, while at the same time making over those facilities to meet the conditions developed over a period of eight years by a loss of 150,000 passengers each day, has been one of the most difficult in the company's history.

Its solution required and is still making necessary replacement of many formerly paying railway lines with bus service, the substitution of buses for trolleys being made almost entirely on those lines where passengers, and consequently the revenue, had dropped to such an extent as to make the maintenance of trolley equipment a financial impossibility. Most of the replacements, too, have been made on the interurban lines which, as the on-time riders, in order to maintain a unified system, the new bus service wherever possible has been coordinated with the trolley lines and schedules.

Tucked away in the box score summaries of the opening baseball festivities were a pair of lines involving more than passing interest: "Stolen base—Martin."

"Stolen base—Chapman." This means the speed boys are off on the most entertaining gallop since the days when players like Ty Cobb, Eddie Collins, Bob Bescher and Max Carey were tearing up the base paths and making the catcher's life miserable.

Pepper Martin stole only 21 bases last season but he didn't really get under way until the world's series, when he swiped five bags off Mickey Cochrane. Gabby Street has taken the wraps off his youthful outfield star this year and it would not be surprising to see Martin go beyond the 50 mark.

Ben Chapman led both leagues in 1931 by several city blocks in the spectacular art that has come back to usefulness and popularity. The rangy Yankee outfielder stole 61 bases. On this season's opening day against the Athletics he worked a double steal with Lou Gehrig.

Martin and Chapman both have developed rapidly as base-stealers, taking advantage of a situation where the backstops had more or less been lulled into a feeling of security and the pitchers had acquired habits of carelessness in keeping an eye on the runners.

SHU A Ways To Go It isn't likely that even the new emphasis on base-running will dislodge the modern records for this particular brand of larceny, much less the old marks made by Billy Hamilton and Harry Stovey with the old Philadelphia club.

Ty Cobb set the twentieth century mark when he stole 96 bases in 1915. The best National league record within the same period was made by Bob Bescher of Cincinnati who stole 80 in 1911.

Stovey ran wild in 1888 when he was credited with 156 stolen bases.

Beau Brummel Vest

THE VOGUE for wide belts was in the Beau Brummel vest for the tailored costume. This one is made of a brilliant blue satin, piped in white with pearl buttons.

CAMERAMAN PLAYS A PRANK ON YOU

but that was before the catching defense was perfected.

Hamilton, in 1891, under conditions more or less the same as today, stole 115 bases and this is generally recognized as the best-on-record.

He Stands And Waits What makes Max Bishop of the blood hair and foghorn voice so hard to pitch to?

Lately Gomez was asked this question after he had walked the Athletics' leadoff man four straight times in the opening game but he couldn't give a definite solution.

"I can't figure it out myself," responded Lefty. "This Bishop just stands there and takes 'em and the umpires call 'em balls. He doesn't look or act any tougher to pitch to than anybody else. Of course he must have a great sense of distance."

Some of the boys think Max has walked so often that he has the arbiters convinced he knows as much as they do about the difference between a ball and a strike. If Max lets 'em go by, they say, the umpires figure the chances are in favor of a ball.

But this, of course, is not to be taken seriously. Bishop simply combines a good eye with the ability to control that impulse to smack at balls on the border line.

Bishop twice has equalled the American league record of receiving five tickets to first base in a single game. After four straight walks in the opener Gomez finally forced Max to fly out to Chapman.

WELLS CATHEDRAL HAS OLD CHARM

By NEA Service Peter Lightfoot, a monk, finished the famous Glastonbury clock which now stands in Wells Cathedral, England, in 1325.

He brought it to the cathedral at the time of the Dissolution and there, to this day, it attracts curiosity seekers. It has a dial with a diameter of six feet six inches, marked for 24 hours. It tells the time of the day, the day of the year, and the phases of the moon.

On the platform above the dial are four tilting knights mounted on horses. They appear at each hour, dash around the tower, and each time around one knight is thrown. He rises, only to be upset again when he comes to the front.

But Wells Cathedral is vastly interesting in its own right. It is called the Cathedral church of St. Andrews, and is situated atop the green Mendip Hills of Somersetshire.

Reginald Bohun, a Norman bishop, started it about 1174. But two churches had preceded it, probably on the same site. The first was a Saxon church, built of wood, in the eighth century. The second was erected about 200 years later.

In later years Cardinal Wolsey was to serve at Wells and then to resign to accept the chair at Durham.

Wells Cathedral is the first important English church ever built in the Gothic style. Outside, it measures 415 feet in length. The entire church is covered with stone groings of its various ages.

It is not a large cathedral, but it has a distinct charm and its facade, one of the noblest in all England, is adorned with 300 statues.

Two towers reach toward the skies. The central one is 132 feet high. The east tower is 130 feet high.

The church is built in the form of a double cross. Its nave is 192 feet long and 67 feet high and is different in design from any other in England.

On the south side is the bishop's palace. It is surrounded by a moat and has an ancient flavor and construction fitting it picturesquely to the cathedral.

heel against the bell behind, tolling the passing of another hour in the history of the old church.

Hints on How to Keep Well by World Famed Authority.

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEN

Many persons now are required to wear plates containing false teeth in the place of those they have lost. If false teeth are used with proper care they last much longer and are used with much greater comfort than when they are handled carelessly or without proper instructions.

In a consideration of the proper use of substitute teeth, Dr. B. L. Hooper has offered some interesting suggestions. Just as soon as the teeth are secured, the person will do well to go into a private place and practice reading aloud in order to get used to the feel of the teeth and to their weaknesses. When the false teeth are first inserted, the facial expression may seem to be changed, but this is due to the effort of the muscles to take care of the plates. Just as soon as the false teeth become properly adjusted, the effort will disappear and the expression will become natural again. Naturally the hardest thing to do with the false teeth is to eat. The person who has the teeth thinks that he has to manipulate both the teeth and the food. He will, therefore, do well to begin with food that requires little chewing and to avoid steaks and chops for the first few days. ridges have become hardened, one Indeed, even after one becomes used to the false teeth, it is advisable to avoid attempts to chew chicken bones or other tests of strength to which the artificial dentures are not adapted. Small bits of food chewed slowly will easily be taken care of. Big masses of food may cause trouble. Until one learns to manipulate the teeth and until the gums and the need not expect to eat everything and anything that is offered. If there are spots in the gums and the ridges have become excessively sore, the dentist should be consulted immediately to make the necessary changes and to prescribe the necessary treatment.

PRIVATE SPRINGS AND WELLS NEED CONSTANT WATCH

"Ground Water" Unlike Public Supplies Where Periodic Examination Insures Freedom From Impurities.

While constant inspection and close supervision of public water supplies assure the majority of the population of Connecticut which is serviced by them of the purity and safety of their water, health authorities are emphasizing the dangers that may result from taking for granted the safety of the so-called "ground water" supplies, those taken from underground wells and springs. Concerning this, the State Department of Health has issued several statements warning those who use ground water of the necessity of guarding against contamination. . . Where there is any suspicion of pollution, especially where sickness is suspected to have been caused by a ground water source, the local health officer should be immediately called to make an inspection, the department advises. Contamination of private ground water supplies may result from any one or more of a number of causes against which the public reservoirs are guarded in their construction and care. The health officer can usually discover these causes without difficulty. When there is a question of doubt, however, the only way to make certain of the purity or impurity of a well or spring is a laboratory examination. . . The state undertakes the laboratory examination of water samples only upon the request of local health officers, since the time and expense involved is so great that it cannot promiscuously accept samples of private water supplies. Laboratory examination of the water in public reservoirs is compulsory at specified periods, however, since the general health of the public is involved. These enforced examinations thus protect the majority of the population. Those moving to new homes either as permanent or summer residences in localities where it is necessary to use ground water should take steps to protect themselves by having an expert inspect the supply.

AVERAGE HOME'S UTILIZATION OF GAS INCREASES

Use in Industry Likewise Shows Gain Per Establishment Despite Conditions of Past Year.

The unfavorable economic conditions which prevailed throughout the year of 1931 failed to restrict the growing utilization of gas heat in the average Connecticut home, the year's statistics reveal. Although the number of domestic customers of the gas companies in this state declined between one and two percent as compared with the previous year, the average use of gas per household customer increased approximately sixty cubic feet and brought the average yearly household consumption of gas close to 27,400 cubic feet. This is an increase of approximately 1,700 cubic feet in the average domestic use of gas since 1928. At the present time, there are close to 276,000 homes in Connecticut which are served with gas and in which there are one or more gas-fired appliances, such as ranges, water heaters, room heaters, fireplace logs and the like.

Use of manufactured gas by industrial and commercial establishments, the group in which a decline would naturally have been expected in view of industrial conditions, likewise showed gains both in bulk total and in the utilization of gas by the individual establishment. Gas for industrial and commercial use increased about one percent in Connecticut last year, despite the fact that the number of customers of this type dropped 5.5 percent. The average industrial and commercial gas customer in this state consumed about 168,000 cubic feet during 1931 as compared with an average use of 157,000 cubic feet during the previous year. The gas listed in this category was consumed in various heating and metal treating processes and in restaurant and hotel cooking appliances. In most industrial processes where gas is now used, it has supplanted other fuels only in recent years.

Net Queen In Great Form For Campaign In Europe, Playing Companions Find

San Francisco, April 14—(AP)—summed up her preparations with "there is always plenty to learn." Kinsey, recognized as one of the leading coaches now that he has forsaken heavy competition, is more convincing in his observations.

Called At Peak
"Mrs. Moody is at peak form. I have never seen her more polished. She has practiced faithfully on a chop stroke and the mastering of it has developed her overhead drives and her volley amazingly. "She hits the ball harder than at any time and she anticipates her opponent's shots much better. Her doubles game also has improved. I think she will win the French and English championships and will lose but very few sets, if any, during the season."

Promised Self To Go
The queen of tennis offers no predictions. But she is thrilled with going back abroad.

"I'm glad that I am able to enter the major tournaments this year," she said. "When I didn't go to Europe last year I promised myself to play every other year."

She will have two weeks to practice in France before entering the clay court championships at Autuill, in May. The Wightman cup matches will follow in June with the Wimbledon championships closing the foreign tour. She will return to defend her American championship.

POWER TRAVELS EIGHTEEN MILES 'GOING TO WORK'

Electricity Often Transmitted Over Much Longer Distances Before Reaching Conn. Meters.

A kilowatt hour travels eighteen miles on its way to work. Or in other words, electricity generated at Connecticut's steam and hydro power plants is carried over transmission and distribution lines that average distance before it passes through the meter and is utilized for light, heat or power. Since several of the state's generating plants are located in or near the cities which they chiefly serve, the average of eighteen miles furnishes an idea of the much longer distances over which electricity is often transmitted before it becomes available for use.

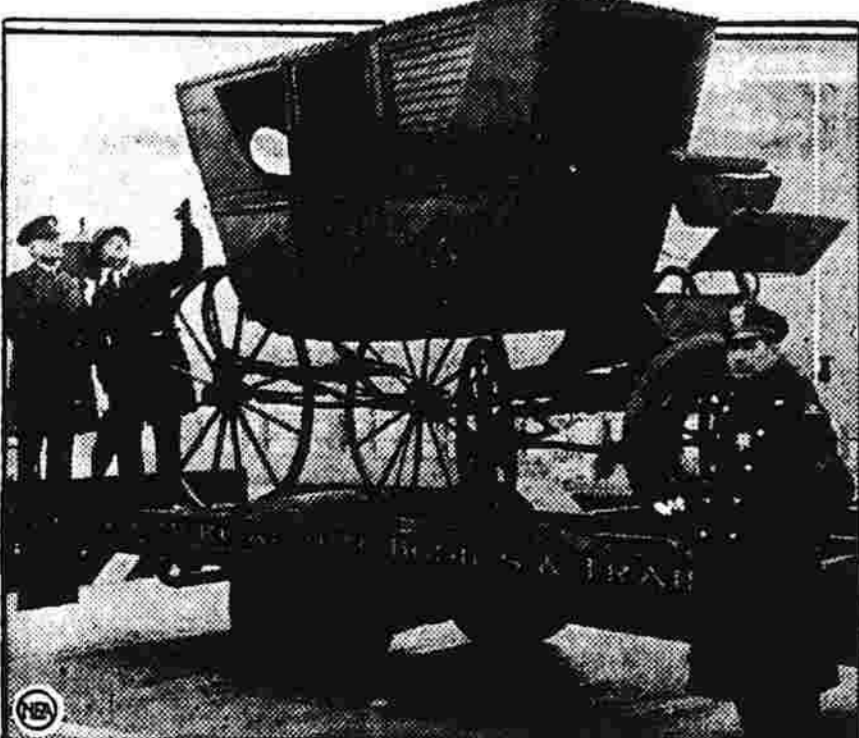

In fact, with the developments that have come in interconnection during the last decade in linking the major central generating stations of the state together in a large electrical network of cross country wires, it is possible to transmit power from the extreme end of the state to the other. Electricity generated at the Rocky River Hydro Development on the upper Housatonic River, for instance, may be transmitted across the state and utilized in New London, Norwich, Putnam or many other communities in the eastern sector. Transmission over long distances is not the general rule, however, since the large amount of electricity loss in transmission makes it more economical to utilize power at the nearest possible point to the generating station.

By far the largest cost entering into light and power service is the cost of transmitting electricity from the generator to the customer. Engineers estimate this cost at more than sixty percent of the entire cost of electrical service. The turbo-generators, their auxiliary equipment and the fuel and water used in generation are expensive, but not in comparison with the cost of transmission lines, transformers and the other essentials of the distribution system.

Joe Bowman, rookie hurler with the Philadelphia Athletics, has two brothers trying to follow him to the majors. They are Bud, with Omaha in the Western League, and Charles, Portland recruit, in the Pacific Coast league.

Washington's Coach to Parade Again

When the inauguration of George Washington is re-enacted in New York soon, an impersonator of the first President will ride in this same coach that carried the "father of his country" in the nation's first inaugural parade. Here the historic vehicle is shown as a motor truck brought it from Philadelphia and carried it over the new George Washington Memorial Bridge into New York. The coach has been insured for $100,000.

The Billion-Dollar Love Child!

FRENCH WATCH U. S. FOR CUES ON DEBT PARLEY

Paris.—(AP)—A scaling down of reparations and war debts is envisaged here as a possible outcome of the Lausanne conference in June, provided America agrees to cuts in war debt payments due her.

While both liberal and conservative elements in France are in general agreement with this view, the approach of the May 1 voting for a new chamber of deputies, and some seeming changes in international opinion, have retarded definition of the exact position the French will take at the parley.

Tardieu Tunes His Ear
A new cabinet will come into power after the May elections and it will have only a few weeks in which to select its delegation to Lausanne and fix its attitude.

But going on the assumption that he will remain as premier, Andre Tardieu is keeping his ear attuned to Washington's reactions to the various proposals. Like his predecessor, Pierre Laval, he has already announced willingness to lessen Germany's burden provided there is a similar scaling down in payments to the United States.

Significant in this connection is an item in the recently voted 1932 budget showing an income of 1,173,000,000 francs, roughly $46,980,000, from reparations about what France must pay to Great Britain and America.

U. S. Voting Figures
Some highly conservative elements are urging the government to make the Lausanne decision contingent upon American action or else merely renew the Hoover moratorium for another year, thus postponing permanent German relief until after the presidential election in the states.

Governmental quarters profess sight of a swing in Great Britain and Italy from a demand for total cancellation of both reparations and war debts, to one more agreeable to the French view of reduction and preservation of the principle of reparations.

The press claims that this evolution in British and Italian opinion has been caused overnight by publication here of figures showing the per capita public debts, if inter-governmental obligations were wiped out. These figures were compiled by Sir Walter Layton, British member of the Young plan advisory committee which sat in Basel last December.

Sees German Profit
His calculations gave a per capita public debt of $40 to Germany, while Great Britain would have $750, France $280 and the United States $135.

Numerous political writers deduce that these figures have convinced the abolitionists that Germany should continue to pay something.

'PERFECT' COPS
London.—There are policemen in Prague who never bawl out people, but who are always extremely courteous and helpful. You're right; they're not human. They are newly invented robots placed in public places. An official stands by each of them with a list of possible queries from the public. When someone wants to know of a good restaurant, dressmaker or provision merchant, he presses a button on the machine and a long list of the required dealers emerges.

What is said to be the world's only school for explorers has been opened at Harvard University.

STARS TAKE WAGE CUTS WITH SMILE

New Plan Devised In Hollywood Makes Them Part Owners of Films.

Hollywood.—At last a method has been devised for making high-salaried movie folk take salary cuts—and like it.

Oh yes, most of them have been taking their cuts—but they didn't like it. But now they are being shown how they have a possibility of doubling their incomes by taking the cuts. Doesn't sound right, does it? But wait, let's get into this matter a little more fully.

During the last few days there has been organized in Hollywood a Screen Guild. The purpose of this guild is to produce pictures in falling in line and working along the same plan.

M. C. Levee, who for some years has held down various executive positions in Hollywood and now is president of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, conceived the idea of the Screen Guild and is its president. And he is being given the support of practically the entire industry.

Studio heads have stated that the guild even could use their contract players when they were not busy. Of course, there are strings attached to these offers. For instance, if Garbo made a picture for the guild it would have to be released through Metro-Goldwyn-Myer. And so on.

"The Screen Guild will aim to create an opportunity for accomplishing for screen entertainment what the Theater Guild has done for the stage," Levee declares.

"I feel absolutely confident that this plan will result in greatly improved films because every person common end—the best possible a personal financial interest in it. And all will be working toward a common end—the best possible product," he said.

Jupiter rotates on its axis once in approximately nine hours and 50 minutes. A man weighing 150 pounds on earth would weigh about 435 pounds on Jupiter.

M. C. Levee

which everyone will share alike in the profits—if any.

Here's the way it works. The Screen Guild wants Jack Gilbert to star in a picture. Gilbert's salary is $10,000 a week. The Guild offers him $5,000 a week in cash and $5,000 in "participating certificates."

When the returns start coming in from the picture, the cost is deducted. Then if there are any profits they are divided proportionately among those holding such certificates—actors, authors, director and producer.

If the picture happens to be a big hit, Gilbert's salary might be boosted to $15,000 weekly. But if the public turns thumbs down on it—well, Gilbert has received $5,000 a week anyway.

If the guild's plan is successful, and I can see no reason why it shouldn't be, it is safe to predict that all of our major studios will be

BY ROBERT TALLEY

Fort Madison, Iowa.—The average man is still making money in these days of depression, but not as much as he used to.

He thinks business is improving—everything considered—and believes that we are merely going through a period of reconstruction which, in the end, will mean the return of prosperity, but on a different level.

He doesn't think Hoover can be re-elected this year, because he sees the people in the mood for a change at Washington.

He thinks the Democratic nominee—who will likely be our next president—will be some "dark horse" who has not yet been mentioned, preferably a man of the Theodore Roosevelt type.

Such are the present views of Roy L. Gray, proprietor of a Fort Madison clothing and furnishing store, who four years ago became nationally famous when he was chosen by a leading magazine as the United States' most typical "average man."

Out of all the 120,000,000 persons who make up this nation from New York to San Francisco, he was selected as the nearest human approach to that mythical figure whom politicians look for their votes, to whom business looks for customers and for whom editors plan their newspapers.

Seeking the answer to the question of what the average man in this country is thinking about today, I came to Fort Madison to interview Mr. Gray. I found him behind the counter of his clothing store on the town's main business street, getting ready for the day's trade.

"How's business?" I asked the average man.

"My business is good, considering this so-called depression," Mr. Gray replied. "I have never figured this period exactly a depression—as I see it, we are going through a period of reconstruction, getting back to finding a level where we will stay. But I don't believe this bunk about prosperity being right around the corner; I think improvement will be gradual. But it is coming now, gradually."

"What do you think of Hoover's chances for re-election?" I asked.

"Well," he replied, "I'm registered as a Republican, but I believe this election will see a change in party. I'm not criticizing Mr. Hoover, but when times are bad people just naturally will want a change. I think Mr. Hoover has done as much as any man could do under similar conditions, but conditions are against him."

"Who's going to be the Democratic nominee?" was the next question.

"I think the Democratic nominee will be some man who has not yet been mentioned," Mr. Gray replied. "I don't think it will be Franklin D. Roosevelt, 'Alfalfa Bill' Murray or anybody like that, but some 'dark horse' who will sweep the Chicago convention. He should be a type of man like Theodore Roosevelt; that's what this country needs today, a real leader."

"What do you think of the Japanese aggression in Shanghai?"

"I think the Japanese are going too far. They are trying to sell their goods to China with a bayonet. They are overdoing it. They will lose by it in the end."

"What about the proposal to cancel the war debts?"

"In my personal view, these debts should be paid, but there are other things that may enter into it. For instance, there is the question as to whether they can be collected. It is beyond my knowledge of conditions for me to attempt to answer just how things would work out if an attempt was made to force collection."

"To what extent does an average man read the newspapers?"

"I first read the headlines to find things I am interested in. Then when I find a story I am interested in, I read it all the way through," he replied. "On the average, though, I would say that of 20 stories I read only three or four, getting my information on the rest from the headlines."

Mr. Gray, the "average man."

NEW STEEL HEAD WALL ST. PUZZLE

Myron C. Taylor Called "Man Nobody Knows," Financiers Declare.

Behind the desk where the late Judge Elbert H. Gary presided over the affairs of the United States Steel Corporation now sits an enigma to Wall Street.

He is Myron C. Taylor, "the man nobody knows," and newly elected chairman of the board of the steel company.

Paradoxically, there is no mystery to the character of this man if one studies his eyes. They are keen and penetrating, hinting a formidable sternness to which his mouth, set like a steel trap, adds much.

Tall in stature, strongly built and athletic looking, this new steel czar gives the appearance of a football star yet he never played a game in his life.

To his friends, Taylor also is no mystery. To them he is a polished gentleman and somewhat of a social lion. This social standing began on the lower rung of the ladder and had much to do with the decision of J. Pierpont Morgan to select Taylor as the man who could wear the social pumps as well as the seven-league business boots of Judge Gary.

As an entertainer, Taylor is without equal. His town home, his country estate situated on the site of the home of a Colonial ancestor and his villa in Florence, Italy, are always the scenes of gatherings for leaders in the Park Avenue register.

But to business and the world in general, Taylor is noted for his aloofness. This characteristic has caused him to be dubbed another "mystery man of Wall Street." Yet his "mystery" is merely his desire to avoid personal publicity.

The loss of $300,000 worth of gems would cause any man to summon police aid, but Taylor, when his wife's jewelry was stolen, demurred when it came to calling New York police because he shunned publicity.

Any interviewer that is lucky enough to get an audience is faced with an ordeal. Those interviews are brief and replies to questions are laconic and terse. He thinks quickly and works fast and he sits behind a desk that is free from cluttered correspondence.

Taylor belongs to the most exclusive clubs of New York. He is fond of boating, swimming and golf—yet breaking fast is still his ambition. He is a patron of art and music.

He dresses with sartorial correctness. Even a directors' meeting requires a certain attire. And this has earned him a reputation for being among the best dressed of New York men.

But there must be more than this to the man that was able to emerge alone from the steel triumvirate of J. Pierpont Morgan, James A. Farrell and Taylor. Today, he rules where three formerly ruled.

Born of wealthy parents in 1874 in Lyons, N. Y., and descendant of Colonial stock, Taylor was enriched not only with the wealth of his ancestors but also with the mental and physical sturdiness of the Massachusetts pioneer.

He was graduated in 1894 from the law school of Cornell University, to which institution he has given $1,500,000 for a new law school building.

Following his graduation, Taylor moved to New York where he practiced law only later to turn his attention to the textile industry from which his family had amassed most of its wealth. He later turned to banking and those industries financed by the Morgan and Baker interests.

In 1906 he married Miss Annabel Stevens Mack. They have no children.

In 1927 Taylor was named chairman of the powerful finance committee of the United States Steel Corporation, immediately occupying the offices of the late Judge Gary, whom he later was to succeed.

New South Pole Flight Is Planned for Balchen

New York, April 18—(AP)—Two geographical features of the great snow continent—five million square miles of land only one-quarter of which ever has been seen by the eye of man. Ellsworth explained that the first requisite to scientific exploration is to determine the main outlines of the topography.

Balchen, who flew Admiral Byrd across the South Pole in 1929, will be at the controls during the flight. A special high speed plane will be used.

The adventurers, with a company of a dozen men, expect to leave New York in September, 1933, and make the flight as soon after establishment of their base at Farmheim as possible.

Olympic HOPES
by CLARE BURCKY

LEO SEXTON
A giant of a man will get the votes of the east to win for that section its first Olympic shot put championship in 20 years at the international games in Los Angeles this summer. He is Leo Joseph Sexton.

In the long line of shot putting greats, only two before Sexton have come from the Atlantic side. One was Pat McDonald, an Irish giant in the uniform of the New York police department. The other was Ralph Hills, intercollegiate champion from Princeton. Even they were completely overshadowed by Rose Mucka, Hartranft, Houser, Kuck, Rothert, Brix and others from the west and middle west. The 1928 Olympic shot put team was four westerners, all 51-footers.

Sexton is a Bay stater by birth, but has lived on Long Island since he was a year old. He was once recognized as a child prodigy. At nine he finished elementary school and four years later he was graduated from high school. Deciding then he was too young for college, he took prep school courses and finished an insurance course at New York U in a year. At 16 he entered Georgetown University.

Parental objection kept Sexton from college football, after a season with the freshmen. Turning to track and field sports, he began a career as an all-round performer. He was recovering from a broken arm sustained in pole vaulting when the 1928 Olympic team sailed for Amsterdam.

Sexton is 22 years old, two years out of college, and a recognized contender in any weight tossing event. He was the first to break the holds of McDonald and McGrath, those Gotham coppers, in the A. A. U. 55-pound weight throwing championships. Sexton developed his own style in this event, using a throw from the hips with one turn, instead of the overhead toss.

In one respect, Sexton is a world record holder, though unofficially, in the high jump. In 1929, when he weighed 212 pounds, he cleared 6 feet 4 3/4 inches. Even now he will bet he can clear six feet with a little preparation, and he weighs 240 pounds.

NORWOOD PENROSE
If only one man in the last 20 months of American track and field activities has run a faster mile than Norwood Penrose (Pen) Hallowell, that ought to mean the slender Harvard senior is a fair prospect for the Olympic 1,500 meters run at Los Angeles.

As a matter of fact, Hallowell is probably the greatest competitive miler Harvard has known, and practically a cinch to make the Olympic team. Although he has run but one record-breaking race, during the recent indoor season, he has the ability to outrun his competition, regardless of the pace.

But Hallowell had to be shown, as a sophomore at Harvard, that he held championship possibilities. Eddie Farrell, Crimson coach, gave him the proof in an unusual way.

Calling Hallowell and Dave Cobb, another sophomore miler, to one side, Farrell asked them to warm up well as he wanted them to run a quarter time trial. When they had warmed up, Farrell sent them off.

They ran stride for stride, and finished in a dead heat. The Crimson coach snapped his watch, then turned to Jaakko Mikkola, coach of Paavo Nurmi in the 1924 Olympics, who witnessed the trial.

"How fast could Nurmi run a quarter?" asked Farrell.

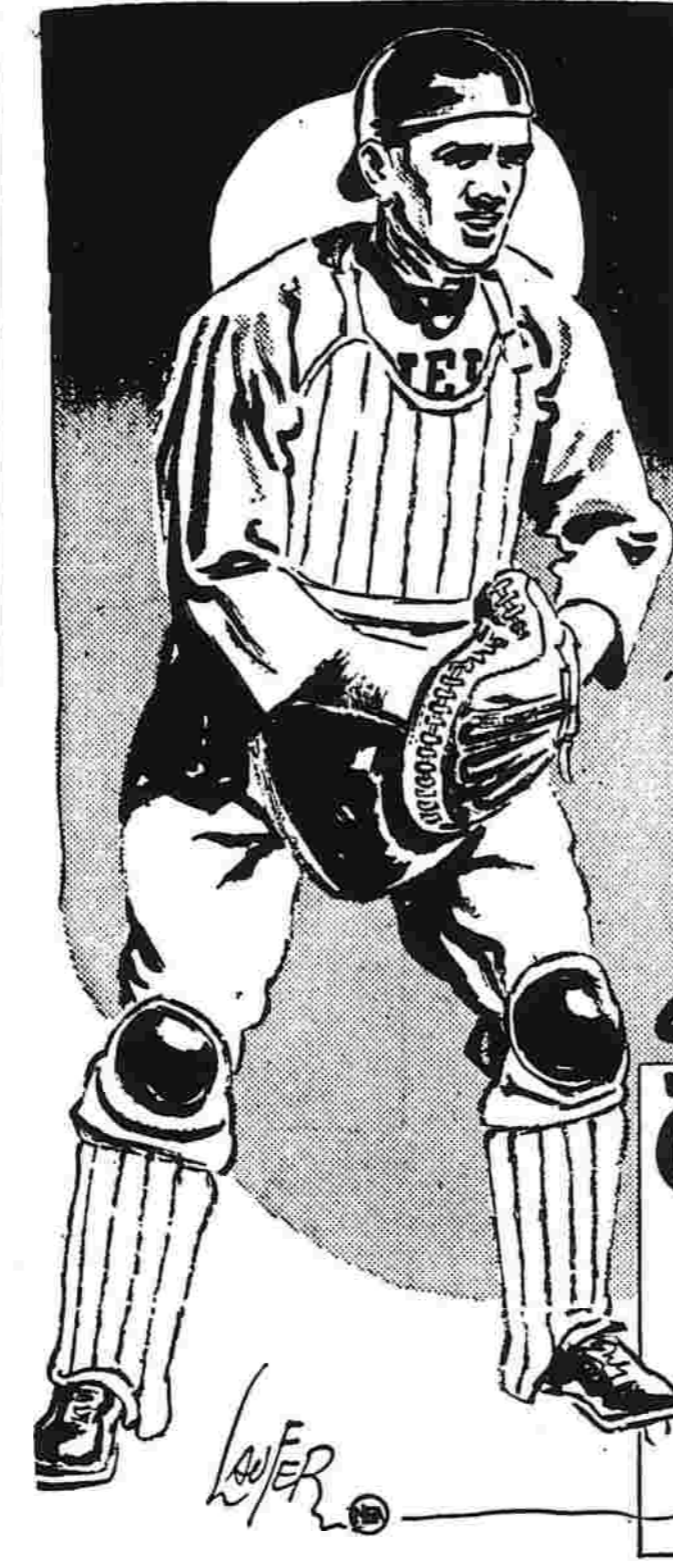

"He would have to break his neck to do 53 seconds," replied Mikkola. Farrell showed the watch to Hallowell and Cobb. It read 50 4-5 seconds.

Because of a knee operation during the winter months, Hallowell was unable to meet the Pennsylvania sensation, Carl Coan, in the indoor intercollegiate. However, they met outdoors and the Crimson youth triumphed. The time was only 4:18, but Coan, along with George Bullwinkle of City College of New York, was thoroughly beaten.

Hallowell climaxed his 1932 indoor campaign with a record-breaking triumph in the I. C. 4A games. He lowered the indoor standard to 4:12.4, shaving almost three seconds from the record, and bettered the outdoor mark by two seconds.

LA MOINE BOYLE
University of Pennsylvania and Coach Lawson Robertson, who have sent probably as many track and field athletes to Olympic fame as any similar combination, advance LaMoine Boyle as a candidate for the United States squad in the running broad jump. The Pennsylvania senior, on his good form of the past two seasons, will make the team with ease.

Boyle is one of Uncle Sam's rather scarce 25-foot broad jumpers. He has leaped that distance no less than six times in his two varsity campaigns at Pennsylvania. Assuming that Japan's Mikio Oda will un-cork another of his world record leaps of 26 feet or better, Boyle stands an excellent chance of finishing high among the runners-up.

Boyle, earning himself an enviable interscholastic reputation in athletics at Rockford, Ill., his home. He is now a senior in the Wharton school at Pennsylvania and, following his graduation and the international games at Los Angeles, he will enter the world of commerce and finance.

In two successive years Boyle was runner-up in the broad jump of the I. C. 4A outdoor championships.

At Harvard stadium in 1930, he was beaten by Arnold West, Stanford jumper, whose winning leap measured 24 feet 7 inches. Last year at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, Boyle bettered the intercollegiate record by one inch with a hop of 25 feet 1 1/2 inches in the qualifying trials. In the finals, Dick Barber of Southern California let loose a leap of 25 feet 3 1/2 inches, and once again Boyle had to accept second place. He gets his final chance at the intercollegiate championship at Berkeley in July.

PARKHURST FAVORS DRY LAW CHANGE

Noted Reformer At 90 Declares Prohibition Cannot Be Enforced.

Atlantic City, April 18.—Rev. Charles H. Parkhurst, D.D., retired New York City clergyman, who in the 90's of the last century led the great civic crusade that resulted in the Lexow investigation, the ousting of Tammany from power for three years and in permanent reform to some extent of the police department, declared here on his ninetieth birthday his opposition to prohibition.

"Prohibition," said Dr. Parkhurst, "is irrational. It cannot be enforced. Any law that cannot be enforced is no good. My idea would be to let the bars down slightly at first and continue the degree of modification until the public is entirely satisfied. We need not fear that the corner saloon will come back. The people will not stand for that. I do not favor government control such as is in force in Canada. No government can control liquor. The problem is one for the people themselves to solve."

BLAMES CARELESSNESS FOR ACCIDENT RECORD

Fatalities Increased in 1931 Motor Vehicle Department Reports But Number of Accidents Drops.

"Carelessness in doing those things which are particularly dangerous on modern highways was the underlying reason for the 1931 accident record in Connecticut with its 482 deaths, injuries to 12,903 persons and a total of 17,081 accidents," says the annual statistical bulletin of the Connecticut Department of Motor Vehicles which was ready for distribution today.

"Although the fatality record was the worst in the state's history, an increase over 1930 of 16 per cent, the statistics show there was a betterment otherwise in a decrease of 13 per cent, in all accidents and a reduction of 2 per cent, in the number of persons injured.

"Twelve per cent of all cars involved in accidents within Connecticut last year were owned and operated by residents of other states. This was an increase of about 2 per cent. Out-of-state drivers were the only ones to set up an increase in accidents. There were 3,822 out-of-state cars in accidents last year, as compared to 3,557 in 1930, while the number of Connecticut registered cars involved was reduced by 15 per cent.

decrease of 76 over the 1930 record and these accidents caused 255 deaths, 52 per cent, of all persons killed having been pedestrians, the figures in the bulletin show.

Women Compared
"There is contained also in this year's booklet a table comparing the records of men and women as operators, a new feature. There were 78,660 women and 883,997 men licensed to drive in 1931.

"Less than 4 per cent of those motor vehicle operators who were haled into court last year had their cases dismissed after trials. There were 411 persons sent to jail of the 25,274 before courts and 10,371 were fined. Jail terms ran to a total of 22,440 days, an increase of more than 12,000 days. Of those sent to jail 213 were those who had been found guilty of driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

"The results of accidents to children were more severe than in 1930," the bulletin says. "Seventy-one children were killed in 1931 as compared to 66 in the previous year. Inattention while participating in traffic was the major cause of the deaths of these children to whom responsibility for the accident might be attributed, while the general results were worse than in 1930, the principal causes were much the same—inattention, stopping from behind objects before looking, playing in the street, careless coasting and stealing rides.

Time of Accidents
"More than half of all accidents occurred at street intersections, more than half in daylight, and about three-fourths in clear weather. Saturdays and Sundays were the days and July and October the months when accidents were most numerous. The hour from 6 to 6 p. m., as in other years, continued to be that in which most accidents occurred.

"There was a decrease for nearly all of the various types of motor vehicles in the number involved in accidents. Contrary to experience in other years the percentage of decrease for passenger cars in accidents was greater than that for commercial motor vehicles.

"Passenger cars, buses and interstate buses were registered in increased numbers during 1931, while there were decreases in commercials, taxis and liveries, motorcycles and other types. The interstate bus was the only type of vehicle against which an increase in accidents was recorded.

"The operators in the age group 20-29 years provided the largest number involved in accidents of all kinds. There were 10,324 of this group involved, or 7.7 per cent of the 133,853 licensed to drive. The largest percentage in accidents was furnished by the 18 and 19 year old drivers, however, although only 1,761 of this group were involved. There were 8.3 per cent, in accidents of the total number licensed.

Approximately six per cent, of the 18 and 17 year old drivers were in accidents, or 732 out of 11,830. There were 7,860 out of 117,829 in the 30-39 year group; 4,692 out of 75,950 in the 40-49; 2,172 out of 37,380 in the 50-59; 753 out of 12,568 in the 60-69; and 161 out of 2,411 who were 70 years old or more.

91 Pedestrians Killed
"During the year, 91 pedestrians were killed while 'jay-walking,' that is, crossing streets carelessly at places other than those set aside for pedestrian use, nine while crossing streets when traffic signals were set against them; and 31 after stepping from behind parked cars without first giving attention to moving traffic. There is knowledge of 18 cases in each of which the intoxication of the pedestrian was a contributing cause of his death.

"Thirty-two of the 442 fatal accidents were multiple-victim accidents, that is, there were two or more persons killed in each accident. There was one accident with five victims, one with four, three with three and 27 with two.

"More than half of the fatal accidents occurred in the heavy traffic areas embracing the large cities and their connecting thorough traffic routes. There were 232 of the 442 fatal accidents in the towns and cities through which run the Boston Post Road, or Route U. S. 1, and Routes U. S. 6, and Route 3 from the Sound through Waterbury, while the majority of fatal accidents occurred in populous centers and on main routes, the highest death rates were, however, in the less congested areas. The percentage of fatal accidents to all accidents in Fairfield, New Haven and Hartford Counties, where the most accidents occurred, was lower than the average for the state, and below the percentage for Windham, Tolland, New London and Middlesex Counties.

Fatal Accidents
"Five hundred and forty-five operators were involved one way or another in fatal accidents. Ninety-one of these were operators from other states. Examination of driving records shows that 338 had never been involved in accidents of any kind prior to the fatal accidents, 188 had previous accident records while there was some doubt as to the records of 21 operators. Seventy-two of those who had accident records also had disciplinary records, that is, they had been in court or suspended by the department for some violation of the motor vehicle laws that had no connection with accidents. Seventy had disciplinary records because of action following previous accidents. Of the 188 with previous accident records 97 had been in one accident, 47 had been in two, 20 had been in three accidents, and 24 had been in

COLOMBIA IN HUNT FOR NEW REVENUE TO FINANCE DEBTS

Bogota.—(AP)—Colombia's financial circumstances are such that President Olaya Herrera probably will call a special session of congress in June.

The legislators will be asked to find methods of financing the foreign debts of the nation.

Commercial interests have already protested that present national taxation is too burdensome, so it is likely that President Olaya will have to suggest to congress some new sources of revenue.

The total Colombian foreign debt, including federal, provincial and municipal obligations, is approximately $212,000,000. Annual payments of principal and interest amounts to about $19,500,000, or more than half the 1932 national budget of $34,000,000, although deductions of provincial and municipal costs make the federal debt figures considerably less.

There has been much agitation for declaration of a moratorium, but President Olaya has consistently opposed that step. He argues that it would hurt Colombia's credit for many years to come.

The fact remains however, that provincial and municipal governments are not meeting their obligations to foreign creditors. Some of them are servicing the debts, but the payments are not leaving the country because of the federal embargo on gold exports.

$400 "EGG WEEK" PRIZES OFFERED

Slogan and Essay Contest on the Food Value of Eggs To Be Conducted in State.

Hartford, April 18.—Thousands of school children and adults in all parts of the state will today receive information as to how they may participate in and win the $400 cash prizes offered in the National Egg Week Slogan and Essay Contest. The State Department of Agriculture, Extension Service of the Connecticut College and other interested organizations are distributing more than 50,000 copies of the rules of the contest, which will last for the duration of Egg Week from May 1 to 7.

The slogan and essay contest on the subject of "The Food Value of Eggs" is open to any resident of Connecticut. The contest consists of an appropriate slogan of not over ten words setting forth the peculiar and wonderful food value of eggs and their place in the human diet. The slogan is to be accompanied by an essay of not more than 200 words, giving in detail the description, meaning and intent of the slogan.

All slogans and essays must be postmarked during the week of the contest from May 1 to 7 and mailed to Chairman, Egg Slogan Committee, Storrs, Connecticut. The Connecticut Slogan and Essay Committee and other egg interests have made it possible to offer prizes totaling $200 which are to be divided as follows: $50 for the first prize, $40 for second prize, $30 for third prize, $20 for fourth prize, $10 for fifth prize and $5 each for the next ten best.

The ten best Connecticut slogans and essays will be eligible for the $200 offered in national prizes divided the same as those for Connecticut residents. Those who have not received their instructions about the contest may secure complete information from their County Farm Bureau, Prof. Roy E. Jones of Storrs, or the Connecticut Department of Agriculture at Hartford.

FAMILY LOYALTY

What is the matter with the clans? What has happened to the old family spirit that made brothers and sisters stick together through thick and thin and even get out the old blunderbuss on occasion if any outsider dared to assail or affront or criticize?

A brother was a brother no matter how far he roamed, and sisters were sisters forever. They wrote and visited and had regular old George Elliott reunions every so often, and even the in-laws were drawn into the vortex.

Now things are different to the old-fashioned eye like my own, and blood appears to have little more thickness than water. Youngsters who by any miracle may be sitting still long enough to read this, very likely find this moment propitious for exclaiming, "Here's an old girl who still believes in that old brotherly and sisterly business! Where has she been living? Doesn't she know that people choose their own friends now and that this family stuff is gone with hoopskirts? Not one with any intelligence feels bound by an accident of birth these days. When we don't like the family or someone in it we're not hypocritical enough to pretend we do. We are more honest, that's all. And if the devil gave us some of our relations thank heaven we can and do pick our own friends."

Honesty, or—?

If the aforesaid young person has read on as far as this let me seize the opportunity to congratulate her, or him, without any doubt honesty is playing a big part in everything these days. But sometimes other things parade under the name of honesty too. Selfishness, indulgence, and independence are none the less unworthy because they are done openly and above board.

Talking with a modern young woman not long ago about this matter I was told in defense of her frankness about not being able to stand her sister, "Mother must have made us jealous of each other when we were little. I never remember caring much for Joan—we were always quarreling. And Bob left home early to go to school and never came back. We girls didn't miss him either. He's married and we've never seen his wife."

Did this girl put her finger on the trouble when she said, "Mother must have done something?"

No mother would deliberately estrange her children from each other, but it can be done unconsciously in a hundred ways, often negatively, too. I believe the greatest harm is done in infancy and early childhood if no real effort is made to have the children consider each other and to learn generosity and sympathy and love. Loyalty is a fine thing and family loyalty is the finest of all. Surely we are not going to let it go into limbo and be classed with the lost arts!

DOG SAVES BOY

Kansas City, April 22.—(AP)—Maggie Doodlebug, year-old Boston terrier, is a fire fighter.

She had been trained to put out burning cigarettes and paper, but was equal to a more severe test when her young master's clothes caught fire from a gas heater yesterday.

The boy, Lester Warrensburg, 10, threw his flaming coat into a corner containing the dog's bed.

By the time he extinguished the flames in his other garments, Maggie Doodlebug had tramped out the fire in the corner and perhaps averted an apartment fire.

Both were burned. The boy is confined to bed. The dog is up and around.

Warm wine is served free to Paris police at their station when there is a spell of cold weather.

St. Patrick's Still One of Finest Examples of Gothic Art in U. S.

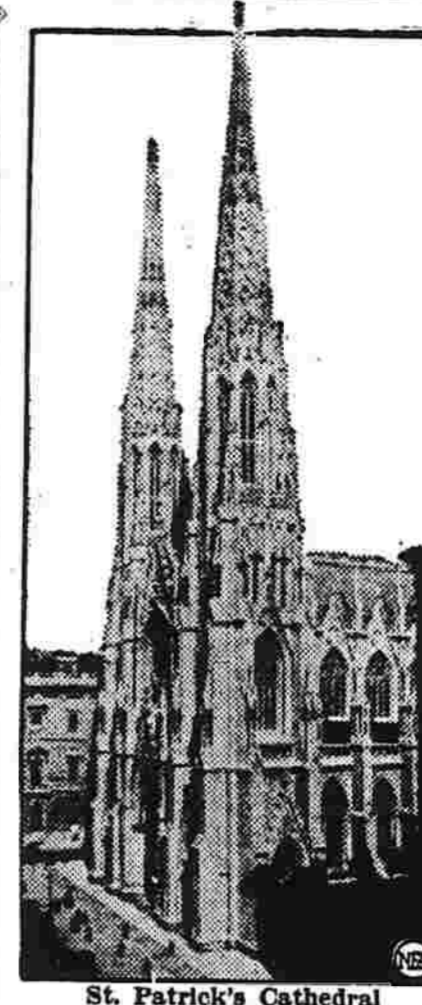

By DEXTER TEED
NEA Service Writer

New York, April 7.—Representative of the finest church architecture, St. Patrick's Cathedral, on Fifth avenue at 50th street in New York, has stood for more than half a century as a landmark which has not been eclipsed by Manhattan's skyscrapers.

Within its cloistered chapels eminent cardinals of the Roman Catholic church have chanted mass to millions since it was dedicated by Cardinal McCloskey in 1879, 21 years after the laying of the cornerstone. Residences of the archbishops and canons are on the Madison avenue side.

Its spires, rising 330 feet skyward, suggest its size; and its architecture, in the decorative and geometric order of Gothic, symbolizes the conservatism that is best in ecclesiastic structures. It embodies the ideas of the gifted architect, James Renwick, who designed the main cathedral. The Lady Chapel, with its two semi-octagonal side chapels, was added in 1901-6.

Aside from its importance to Catholics in the metropolitan area, its 70 windows tell a graphic story which cannot be duplicated anywhere in America. Forty-five are figured and 14 are of cathedral glass in geometric patterns. These

JAPAN SAYS REDS ARE MASSING MEN

Tokyo Reports 70,000 Troops Now Ready At the Manchurian Border.

Tokyo, April 18.—(AP)—Military preparations of Soviet Russia on the North Manchurian border are taken by Japanese military experts as a clear indication that Russia expects a clash with Japan, a spokesman for the foreign office said today.

"Our military experts estimate that the Soviet forces on the Manchurian frontier between Vladivostok and Manchuli now number nine divisions, a total of 70,000 men," the spokesman said, "with the strongest concentrations in the Paganichnaya and Manchuli districts where there are two divisions each."

"The experts assert the dispositions clearly indicate the Russians are expecting a clash with Japan. Although they are of a defensive nature, they are capable also of assuming the offensive."

Work of Reds
Reports from the Japanese consulate at Harbin, Manchuria, said it was indicated the wreck of a Japanese troop train there last week, causing the death of 14 men was "the work of Russian Communists" although positive proof was lacking.

"Now that the Russians have completed their troop concentrations in eastern Siberia we must expect such provocative incidents," the foreign office spokesman said in making public the Harbin consul's report.

He said Japan was taking a much less alarming view of the situation, however, than the Soviet government apparently did.

If provocative tactics like the wreck last week were repeated, however, they undoubtedly would have serious consequences. But we are confident that the Manchukuo government is taking steps effectively to prevent a repetition, he said.

Doing a Darrow, Monk Dons Leis

Following the example of the famous monkey-trial lawyer, Clarence Darrow, who was decorated with the traditional lei on his arrival in Honolulu for the Porteus murder trial, Miss Snookie, educated chimpanzee, donned a similar Hawaiian necklace just to show there were no hard feelings. This picture was taken when Miss Snookie arrived in Los Angeles from Hawaii. She was listed on the ship roster as of the "theatrical profession"—hula-hula and all.

DRY WOMEN URGE LAW ENFORCEMENT

Also Demand That Our Envoys In Other Lands Obey Dry Law.

Washington, April 17.—(AP)—Rigid enforcement of prohibition and ample appropriations to carry it out were demanded today by the Women's National committee for law enforcement meeting here.

These demands, expressed in resolutions adopted by the committee's executive body, were carried to Congress at noon by hundreds of women prohibition supporters, headed by Mrs. Henry W. Peabody of Massachusetts and Florida.

The resolutions declared "we deplore persistent attacks on the Constitution, the supreme law, by a minority in Congress, sworn to support and defend the law who are acting in the interest of the return of the outlawed liquor traffic."

Oppose Appeal
Opposition to repeal of the 18th Amendment, modification of any prescribed by a committee to Speaker Garner and Vice President Curtis. This afternoon Bishop James Cannon, Jr., was to outline his views on how the 18th Amendment might be amended.

The Women's National committee made the suggestion that ambassadors to foreign countries be instructed that they represent the interests and government of America and are under the protection of the American flag which "involves their respect for our constitutional law and their observance and defense of that law while they are in office," and also opposed any increase in physicians medicinal liquor prescriptions.

Another Proposal
The committee also declared that states refusing to help enforce the prohibition law should be deprived of all Federal aid in enforcement and that control of federal institutions within their borders should be taken away until they are prepared to adopt state enforcement laws.

Among the women in the committee which presented the resolutions were Mrs. Frank Porter of Connecticut, Mrs. Jesse Nicholson of Maryland, Mrs. Edward T. Smith, Missouri; Mrs. William H. Alexander, Ohio; Mrs. Helen Bruce, as represented by proxy, of Kentucky; Mrs. Clayton B. Eulette, of Illinois; Mrs. A. Haines Lippencott of New Jersey; Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith of Iowa; and Miss Hilda L. Olson of Massachusetts.

DRESSING FOR THE DANCE—1875-1932

LA GUARDIA RAPS MARKET OFFICIALS

Says They Were Careless In Allowing Listing of Kreuger Stock On Exchange.

Washington, April 18.—(AP)—The New York Stock Exchange was charged with either carelessness, indifference or connivance in the floating of $250,000,000 of the Kreuger bonds in this country—in a House speech today by Representative La Guardia (R., N. Y.).

Ivan Kreuger, Swedish match magnate, recently committed suicide in Paris and investigation of his affairs disclosed scandals. La Guardia referred to statements by "prominent stock brokers" and Exchange officials in reference to the stock transfer tax in the House revenue bill, and "their attack on any legislation respecting it."

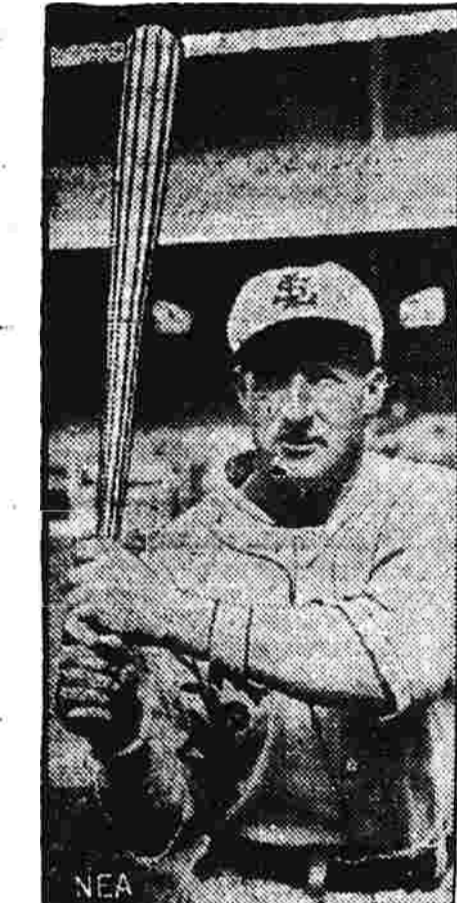

"One of the prominent firms that have joined in this chorus of attack on the law or any regulatory legislation is a firm which is responsible for having floated in this country the Kreuger bonds," he said.

"One billion dollars of Kreuger bonds were issued, of which $250,000,000 were floated in the United States. Under stock exchange rules a statement must be filed before they list any bonds. These bonds were recured not by real property, but by bonds."

Discloses Joker
"But there was a joker there which provided that these bonds securing the bonds issued in this country could be substituted by other bonds of equal par value—not of equal market value, but of equal par value, so that after the Kreuger bonds had been sold in the United States, in accordance with this provision in the agreement, not known to American investors, the good bonds were sold and no-good bonds of Austria and other countries that were selling for about five cents on the dollar were substituted.

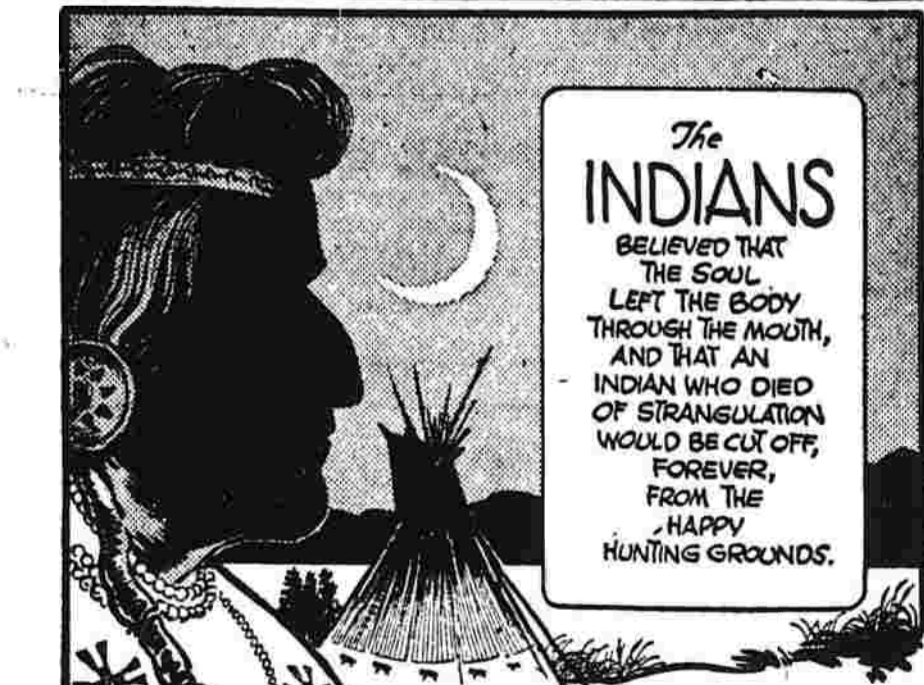

"So that the American investor, on the representation made by the New York Stock Exchange, thinking he was investing in something that was sound, now finds himself without bonds, the security and collateral for which have been entirely removed."
"Let Mr. Lee Higginson and Mr. Richard Whitney explain that, if they can."

Bat is Banned

That famous camouflaged bat designed by Willis Johnson, secretary of the St. Louis Browns, and used expertly by Goose Goslin in pre-season exhibition was banned in the opening series between the Browns and White Sox the other day. The Goose was stopped by Umpire Harry Geisel, who was backed by the American League president, William Harridge. However, Goslin poked three hits with a regulation club. Goslin and the disputed bat are shown above.
