TREED BY BOARS IN SOUTHERN WILD

Returned Explorer Tells of Thrilling Episode in the Jungles of Venezuela.

New York, April 26.—(AP)—E. R. Blake, scientist, knows how it feels to be treed in the jungle by a herd of infuriated wild boars.

And he declared today the fact that the boars gnawed at the trunk of his refuge for three hours added nothing to his comfort during the experience.

Blake related his adventure on his arrival today on the liner Munitions from a one-man scientific expedition into the Venezuelan jungle for the Field Museum of Chicago. He is an instructor in biology at the University of Pittsburgh.

POLICE PAY CUT 15 P. C. BY VOTE OF THE BOARD

Commissioners Plan To Effect Another 5 Per Cent Reduction In Overhead, Slashing Budget 20 P. C.

The Board of Police Commissioners yesterday, most reluctantly personally, but recognizing the financial condition of the town, voted unanimously to reduce the town police budget 20 per cent, effective May 1. The reduction will include a 15 per cent cut in pay of officers and members of the department, and a 5 per cent cut in the "overhead" or cost of running the police department.

In making this decision the board felt that "better than half a loaf is better than no bread" or in other words 80 per cent now is better than no pay.

It was the opinion of the Commissioners that the town budget must be truly balanced, in order to establish the town's credit in banking circles with which business must be done.

Deferred Action Last fall the Selectmen asked the Commissioners to make a 10 per cent cut in the police budget, and the matter was held in abeyance, hoping that conditions would improve.

"There is no use chasing rainbows," said a member of the board today, "it is imperative that the department must cut costs."

The Commissioners expressed the feeling that the reductions in pay, that will be effective next week, will not work any hardship on the men, due to the reduced cost of living, which despite the fact that doctors' and dentists' fees and rents have been little effected is over 20 per cent. With the reduction in effect, all things being considered, the police will be 7 per cent better off than during the peak years, the Commissioners figure.

Restored Later It was stated by the Police Commissioners that when times improve they will act to restore salaries to the higher level. The five per cent "overhead" reduction will be effected through an adjustment and rearrangement of beats of officers.

Since last fall the officers and members of the police department have been contributing 4 1/2 per cent of their pay, weekly, to the unemployed. This contribution is to be discontinued May 1.

CHILDREN JOURNEY ALONE TO NORWAY

Mother Unable To Support Them They Are On Way To Europe—Oldest 8.

New York, April 26.—(AP)—Clifford Adams, 7, would give up his brand new knife if he could stay back in Sioux Falls, S. D. with his mother instead of going away to Norway.

And Margaret, who is "going to be eight on the boat," would give up her jumping rope, and Matthew, 5, his marbles.

To these three little children, who until today never had seen sky scraper, nor a boat, never had ridden on a subway and never had seen a movie nor even a circus, such simple pleasures as jumping rope, playing mumbly peg, or marbles savor of grandeur.

Their Hats Were Off to the Cameraman

Looks like they're getting ready to toss their hats in the political ring again, doesn't it? Actually, these chief executives of five states, who arrived in Richmond, Va., by special train to attend the annual governors' conference, were just waving their heads at the cameraman when their picture was taken.

HINES DECLARES VETS MISUNDERSTOOD BONUS

Federal Official States They Believed Sum Printed On Certificates Was Amount Due Them—Explains Law

Washington, April 26.—(AP)—The administration today sent its second opposition view, Veterans Administrator Frank T. Hines, before the House ways and means committee to oppose full cash payment of the soldiers' bonus.

Like Charles G. Dawes, head of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and first official opponent of the $2,000,000,000 new money plan to come before the committee, Hines saw service during the World War.

Hines littered a large table with papers and documents in preparation for the hearing.

"I want to start by saying that we are all sympathetic with the veteran and want to do what we can to help him," Hines said.

"I need only point, in this connection, to the fact that Veterans Bureau expenditures in the month of February were $70,000,000."

Hines distributed a table of estimates showing that the face value of all certificates issued was $3,641,000,000 of which $127,000,000 worth have matured, leaving $3,513,000,000 of certificates now in force.

Outstanding certificates had on March 31, a loan value of $1,704,000,000.

RELEASE PRISONER FROM DEVIL'S ISLE

Forgotten For 12 Years War Captive's Case Is Recalled and Man Is Freed.

Berlin, April 26.—(AP)—Paul Schwartz, who went to Devil's Island as a prisoner of war and was forgotten for twelve years, came back home today, a free man.

He was born in Corsica of German parents, and when he was still an infant the family moved to Alsace Lorraine. When the war came he joined the German army and fought on the western front until the end.

NEARLY $300,000 PAID TO BALLYHOO STOCKS

Would Slash Benefits To World War Vets

Washington, April 26.—(AP)—A terrific struggle over the provisions to scale down benefits to World War veterans in the $217,000,000 omnibus retrenchment bill was in prospect today as the special economy committee began preparations for the opening battle tomorrow in the House.

FORD TELLS PRESIDENT NEW ECONOMIC PROGRAM

Would Have Factory Workers Spend Part of Time Planting Gardens To Save $500 A Year On Food.

Washington, April 26.—(AP)—After a surprise call at the White House, Henry Ford said today he had advocated to President Hoover a plan of combining farming and industry under which factory workers could save $500 a year by raising part of their own foodstuffs.

The automobile manufacturer, surrounded by newspapermen in the White House lobby, said he had been working for three months to smooth out details of such a plan.

He indicated his idea would involve large factories distributing their workers over farm lands, or providing land within reach, on which, during a comparatively small part of the year, they could raise much of the foodstuffs needed for their family tables.

He said that Mrs. Ford, a garden enthusiast, was with him and that they intended to drive from Washington to the farm.

TEN DOLLAR WAGER COSTS MAN'S LIFE

Refuses To Ride In Auto; While Walking On Highway, Auto Kills Him.

Westport, April 26.—(AP)—An argument over a ten-dollar wager last night probably cost Edward Panichon, 38, of Highland Court, his life. He was killed by an automobile in the Boston Post road at 1 a. m., this morning.

Norman Penny Prudden, 16, of 1 Amherston Avenue, Yonkers, N. Y., the driver of the automobile which hit Panichon, is being held at police headquarters under a bond of $1,000 on a charge of manslaughter.

During a bowling match here last night an argument developed between Panichon and another man. The Norwalker waved a ten-dollar bill which one of his friends snatched from his hand and Panichon sought in vain for his money.

Prudden, the police said, he did not see Panichon in time to avoid striking him.

FACTIONS ARE SET FOR FIGHT TONIGHT

Smith and Roosevelt Forces To Battle In New Haven and Norwalk.

New Haven, April 26.—(AP)—Contests between David Fitzgerald, former mayor of New Haven and Smith proponent, and Archibald McNeil, Roosevelt supporter, for post of National committeeman, were issued today in two Democratic primary fights.

Both candidates had tickets filed in thirty of the 33 wards in the New Haven primaries. Proponents of the Fitzgerald ticket, supported by the City organization predicts a substantial victory.

In Norwalk a close battle was forecast in tonight's caucus although there to the town and city committee had come out in support of delegates favoring the re-nomination of the 1928 presidential standard bearer.

Other cities and towns of the state will hold their elections tomorrow or Thursday.

In New Haven supporters of both Fitzgerald and McNeil have expressed their choice of Smith as party's presidential nominee, in spite of the incumbent National committee's support of Roosevelt.

One of the principal issues is the fight between Paul R. Conroy "Old Guard" member and Dr. Robert M. Wolfe, for members of the central committee.

Senator Bingham (R. Conn.), protested the action, declaring it would be "a serious blow to our foreign trade."

The House had let the present exemption stand in passing the bill. "I think it is a serious blow at our foreign trade," Bingham said.

"The action was taken without a roll call vote and on suggestion of Senator Connolly (D. Tex.)."

Future Danish King To Visit U. S. As Trade Emissary For His Nation

Copenhagen.—(AP)—Prince Frederik, heir to the Danish throne, expects to cross the Atlantic sometime this year for a visit to the United States.

Two years ago he toured the orient to stimulate trade with Siam, China and Japan.

New Danish-American trade needs a stimulant. Denmark buys from the United States about 55 times the amount which American importers take from Denmark, and unless this is changed America may lose a profitable market.

Prince Frederik, who is 33 and a bachelor, is a fullblown captain in the Danish navy, and has gone through all the grades from cadet in the usual routine way.

Had he been born a commoner he probably would have chosen music for his career. He plays the violin well, is a composer of note and musicians deem him an able conductor.

Tall and somewhat shy, the prince is well liked by his naval comrades. There is, however, nothing democratic about him; he holds the view that democracy and royalty are opposite poles, and that a democratic prince of Denmark would be as nonsensical as a royal president of the United States.

Like his fellow bachelor the Prince of Wales, Frederik has heard his name coupled with those of various European princesses. There are, however, few young royal ladies eligible for his hand. Most European princesses who rank with him are married or betrothed already.

The Danish constitution prevents the prince from taking his bride from outside the pale of royalty. Should he choose her from among the nobility or the bourgeoisie he could do so only by resigning his rights to the Danish throne.

CONSOLIDATION MAY CALL FOR AN ELECTION

Selectmen To Discuss Problem of Early Naming of New Education Board.

At the special meeting of the Board of Selectmen to be held this evening, the advisability of calling a special town meeting to elect the school consolidation committee under the school consolidation act will be discussed. The meeting, called for a hearing on the building lines on East Center and Foster street, petitioned by Edward J. Hill, and an application for the re-opening of the filling station on Oakland street by Heritage and Loveland, will undoubtedly produce other and more important items for consideration by the Selectmen.

Since the last meeting of the Board, the school consolidation measure has been voted, and there are many things in connection with this development that will concern the Board of Selectmen.

HEFLIN PLEADS CASE

Washington, April 26.—(AP)—The oratorical prowess of J. Thomas Hefflin was displayed to packed galleries in the Senate today as the Alabama argued his right to a seat in the body in place of John H. Bankhead, who defeated him for re-election.

Wearing his customary long black coat and a white vest, Hefflin, whose resonant voice was heard frequently during the 11 years he served in the Senate, shouted that he was a victim of "political assassination."

Because he refused to support Alfred E. Smith for president in 1928, Hefflin was barred from the Alabama Democratic primary in 1930. He ran as an independent and was declared defeated by Bankhead, a Democrat. A Senate committee has upheld the right of the latter to his seat.

The Alabama was given two hours to present his case preparatory to a Senate vote on the contest. Permitting a non-member to address the Senate was an unusual procedure, but was accorded Hefflin by a vote of 53 to 31.

He maintained a calm demeanor in court this morning, but wept when he was returned to his cell.

Complaints resolved totalled 1,269, sixty-seven of which were for motor vehicle investigations and 1,172 were for criminal and other investigations.

STABBED BY FATHER

New York, April 26.—(AP)—Mortimer R. Herrman, 33, an accountant in the city comptroller's office, was stabbed with a 10-inch bread knife today when he interceded in a quarrel between his parents.

After he was taken to a Brooklyn hospital his father, George Herrman, 72, was arrested charged with felonious assault.

GILL SENTENCED; GETS 1-5 YEARS

Mrs. Hunter, Who Was Arrested With Him In Ohio, Is On Probation.

Hartford, April 26.—(AP)—On pleas of guilty to adultery, Virgil (Duke) Gill was sentenced to State Prison for from one to five years and Mrs. Mabel V. Hunter was given a suspended sentence of six months and placed on probation for one year by Judge Arthur F. Ellis in the Superior Court this morning. Following conviction and sentence of the two who are New Britain residents, the court granted a divorce to J. F. Hunter of 650 Main street, Middletown, who has been married to Mrs. Hunter for ten years. They have no children.

State's Attorney Hugh M. Alcorn, presenting Gill for sentence said he had been married, too, and had a bad criminal record which dated back to 1914.

Called Lady Killer
"Very much of a lady killer" was Mr. Alcorn's description of Gill, who, according to the prosecutor, met Mrs. Hunter at a dance. They became infatuated, Mrs. Hunter drew money from her husband's joint bank account and she drove with Gill to Cincinnati, Ohio, where a little more than a week ago they were located in a restaurant.

Mrs. Hunter has been a stenographer for a New Britain business concern and in that city has borne a fine reputation. Her minister, the Rev. T. A. Greene of the Center Congregational church of that city was in court to testify, if requested, to Mrs. Hunter's reputation.

original bonus plus 25 per cent plus $1,600,000,000.

Hines estimated present veteran unemployment at 600,000, or approximately the same number as when the bonus plan became law in 1924.

"I say this though the American Legion says its campaign has placed 610,000 veterans," he said. "There in addition, there are probably 500,000 to 700,000 veterans on part time employment."

Hines said that on March 31, total outstanding loans on certificates aggregated $1,388,828,000. This figure included 59¢ 384,000 loaned out of the certificate fund, $382,444,000 loaned the government's insurance fund and $80,000,000 of unredeemed bank loans.

London, April 26.—(AP)—So far as Great Britain's trade relations are concerned, Manchuria is still a part of China, Walter Runciman, president of the Board of Trade, intimated in the House of Commons today.

A member asked him what steps were being taken to enter into trade agreements with the new Manchurian government. "Existing treaties with China are applicable to Manchuria," he replied, "and in the circumstances the question of special trade relations need not be considered."

SPELLACY'S CROWD OUT TO BEAT DOLAN

Friends of Local Democratic Leader Prepare To Beat Attempt At Caucus Here.

Rumors of a movement to block Dr. Edward G. Dolan's election as a Manchester delegate to the Democratic state convention, came to the surface today as the date of the annual Manchester Democratic caucus draws near. The caucus is set for 8:30 Thursday night and will be held at the Manchester Fire Department house at Main and Hilliard streets.

While Democratic friends of Dr. Dolan do not view the situation with alarm because of the apparently unbeatable strength of the Dolan faction, they admit that public notice of a possible contest is likely to bring out a large crowd Thursday night. Dr. Dolan has long been prominent in politics and a defeat of him as a state leader and cause his withdrawal from politics. Hence, his supporters are expected to be out in large numbers Thursday to protect his interests.

The failure of the negotiations cannot be ascribed to any act of ours. The statement calls for "renewed vigor" from the supporters of Governor Roosevelt and continues: "The only hope his opponents have of preventing his nomination is by creating a 'bloc' consisting of a bare one-third of the convention which will stand out indefinitely against the will of the majority. What would happen to the Democratic Party in the process requires little imagination to realize."

MISTAKEN FOR THIEF HUSBAND KILLS WIFE

Wichita, April 26—(AP)—James R. Lyles, 42, shot and killed his wife, 30, at their home here early today. He said he mistook her for a burglar.

The husband said he awoke and heard someone in the kitchen. He grabbed a shotgun and saw a person standing near a window in the dark room. "Don't move or I'll shoot," Lyles said he ordered twice, but without response.

Then, he said he fired. As the form slumped to the floor, Mrs. Lyles cried, "James you've killed me." Police expressed the opinion the woman was "sleep walking." Coroner D. G. Heckman said he believed the killing was accidental.

Replying to inquiries whether he had talked over any phases of the economic situation with the Chief Executive, Ford said he had viewed views already familiar to the President.

EVERYMAN'S CLASS HAS SEASON'S LAST MEETING

Rev. J. S. Neill Lights With Humor Principal Talk At Supper At Y.

Sixty of the members of the Everyman's Bible class and friends gathered in the banquet hall of the Y. M. C. A. last night for the final get-together until the first Sunday morning in October. Joseph Wright, who has been president of the class since its organization two and a half months ago, was master of ceremonies and Alexander Hanna headed the committee in charge of the oyster supper which was served under the direction of Miss Christine Mason, hostess at the Y.

After a period of chorus singing, President Wright introduced the speaker of the evening, Rev. James Stuart Neill, of St. Mary's Episcopal church, excerpts from whose address follow:

"A word of congratulation to you upon the completion and use of this building. The wisdom of the donors is constantly evident. This structure stands a tribute to their memory and an opportunity to you to carry on their worthy aims. A second word of congratulation upon your Community Bible Class."

"One of the most encouraging signs in Religious life today is the increasing interest upon the part of men in the study of the Bible. And yet, with this expanding interest in the Bible there prevails an appalling ignorance of what was in times past taken as part of people's current conversation. At a young people's gathering a speaker recently referred in a jocular way to Ananias and Sapphira—he received only blank, ignorant looks. Now Ananias and Sapphira are among the classic liars not only of the Bible but of all time."

"This story of a liar perhaps you will understand. Some one asked Jim Smith if old man Perkins was a liar—with Yankee caution he replied: 'Well, I'd hardly say that, but at feedin' time he has to get some one else to call his hogs.'"

"Knowledge of the Bible is wholesome and healthful. I recall some years ago taking an examination on the English Bible. One question was: 'Give the two names of the father-in-law of Moses. One name was good enough, I thought. Jethro, I remembered but I'll venture to say few here could give the second name (Ruel). I asked the examiner, sparring for time—'Dr., just what do you mean?' To which he replied—'Young man, I am asking the questions, YOU are giving the answers!'"

"The relation then of question and answer form the basis of our study of the Bible, as indeed it does of all the problems of life. The more we can link up Bible answers to life, the safer and surer we are in our daily living. One young fellow, ignorant of letters, became the object of the minister's help. He taught him to read. A certain old lady met him one day and said: 'Well, George, I suppose you are now able to read the Bible fairly easily.' 'Yes, bless you, mum,' he replied, 'I was out of the Bible and into the prize fight news over a month ago.'"

"To take a few moments on question of scholarship relating to the Bible is a perilous journey. An airplane recently flew over the wilderness in 40 minutes. It took the children of Israel 40 years to cover the same route. But this airplane view might give you the high points.

"The Bible of the Jews was written in Hebrew. A few chapters of Ezra and Daniel, we are told, were written in their original in the Aramaic tongue, the vernacular of Syria, and probably the language which Jesus himself spoke. Many Jews were scattered throughout the Mediterranean world—which was largely a Greek speaking world. In Alexandria, Jewish scholars absorbed philosophy and culture. The Hebrew Bible became remote from their time and tongue. As a result, the Septuagint or a Greek translation of the Old Testament came into common use. It was supposed to have been translated by 70 Jewish-Greek scholars.

"This Bible came into general use in the early Christian church. In the Fifth Century, the Latin Church, desiring a translation closer to the original Hebrew, sent Jerome to Bethlehem. He lived there 13 years, absorbing the Hebrew tongue and thought. His translation of the Old Testament is generally accepted as a superior one. Upon it Luther based his later translation of the German Bible.

"The step from Jerome to Colonial New England is a long one but through the centuries there accumulated the reverence and respect for the Bible. The forefathers built a colony on the Bible.

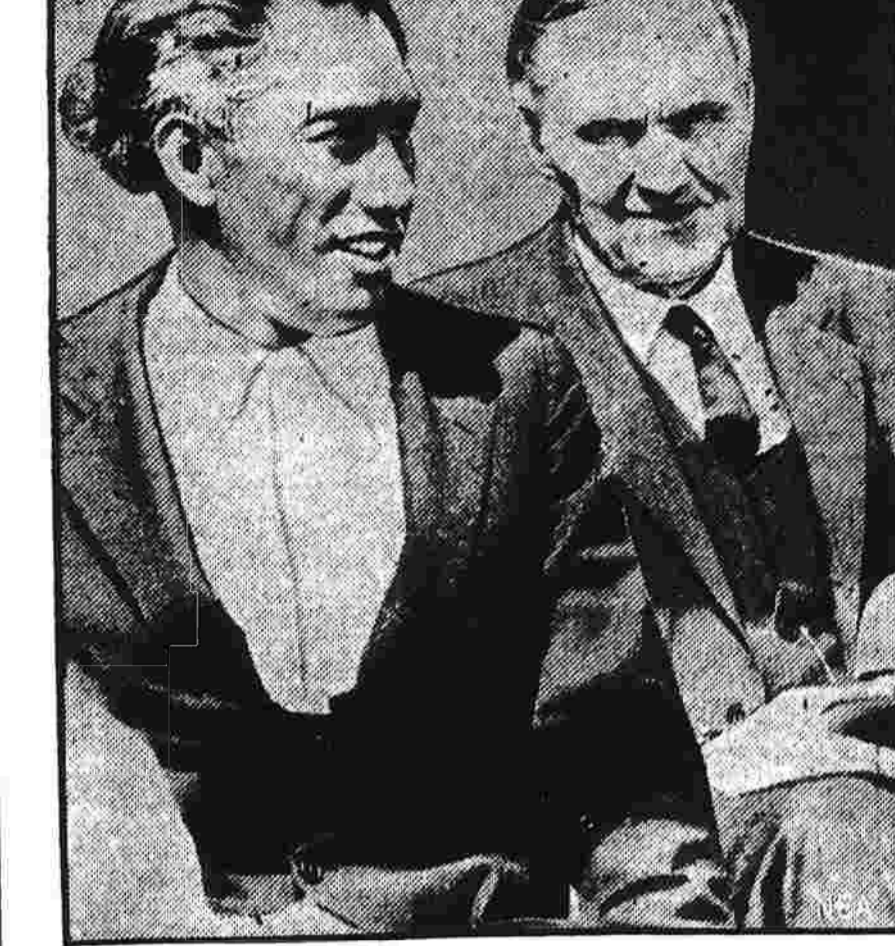

"At New Haven in 1639 it was voted: 'That the Word of God shall be the only rule to be attended unto

Duke and Darrow Chat

Between sessions of the Massee-Forstescu trial, in which he is chief of defense counsel, Clarence Darrow spends much of his time in Honolulu with Duke Kahanamoku, famous Hawaiian swimming champion of a decade ago. They are shown above after the duke had taken Darrow for his first surf ride in an outrigger canoe.

In ordering the affairs of government in this plantation—in fact, State and Church are not to be distinguished in this period of New England history.

"In the Old Testament every name expressed some action or purpose—Abraham—the friend of God; Elijah—God is father; Samuel—heard of God. The early settlers in Connecticut named many towns from Bible towns. We drive through these towns at 40 or 50 miles an hour, never thinking of the religious background of their names.

"Sharon, a beautiful village in the Litchfield hills, in the Old Testament just such a fertile hill village between Joppa and Caesarea. Beyond it, Goshen on the top of a noble hill overlooking the Housatonic River with scenery unequalled even in Switzerland. In the ancient days Jacob and his family lived in Goshen close to Egypt; from there the brethren went in time of famine to behold their brother Joseph in power in Egypt.

"Goshen, with its twin-lakes and rolling hills in the northwest corner of the state, reminds one of the town in the Bible, the ancient name of Palestine and where the people lived whom the children of Israel drove out but who in turn later corrupted the morals of the Hebrews and incurred the wrath of the prophets.

"Hebron, associated with Abraham and then with David in his escape from the wrath of Saul, Gilead, about which so little is known, Bozrah, Lebanon, Bethel, Salem, Bethany, Bethlehem and so on only go to show where the minds of these religious people dwelt. To them the Bible was newspaper, encyclopedia, and history.

"A teacher was telling the story of the Pilgrims to a group of small children. 'Now, Gertrude,' she began, 'when the Pilgrims had been here a year and had gathered in their good crops, what did they do?' Gertrude replied promptly, 'They bought a new car.'

"Their tastes were more simple. But they did know their Bibles and as we take it, that is your ambition. You are not like the inmate of an insane asylum, who imagined himself to be an artist. He daubed on an empty canvas with a dry brush. Some one asked: 'What are you painting?' He replied: 'A picture of the Israelites pursued through the Red Sea.'

"Where's the Sea?" "Why, it's rolled back to allow the Israelites to pass."

"And where are the Israelites?" "They've just gone by."

"Then where are the pursuers?" "Oh, they haven't come along yet."

"You have come along. This splendid gathering represents men who are interested in the real and vital things of life. You are seeking the fundamental foundation of all life—Religion."

"The step from Jerome to Colonial New England is a long one but through the centuries there accumulated the reverence and respect for the Bible. The forefathers built a colony on the Bible.

"At New Haven in 1639 it was voted: 'That the Word of God shall be the only rule to be attended unto

BIDS ASKED FOR FIRST MERRITT HIGHWAY JOB

Start of Big Undertaking To Be Across Stratford Swamps; Other Highway Contracts.

Highway Commissioner John A. Macdonald today announced seven new road building projects, included among which was the construction of the first section of the new Merritt Boulevard in Stratford, work upon which will start shortly after the award of the contract.

The seven jobs announced today will consist of the building of about ten and a half miles of pavement of various types, the construction of a concrete encased girder bridge and approaches over the Yantic river on Route No. 2 in Norwich and the erection of about seven-tenths of a mile of wire rope railing at various locations in New Canaan.

The major paving jobs included in this letting are in Stratford, where three and one half miles of reinforced concrete will be built on the south section of the Long Ridge Road, and in Weston, where three and one quarter miles of water-bound macadam will be laid over the present unimproved route between Weston center and Georgetown. The Stamford project will require more than 50,000 cubic yards of rock and earth excavation.

Although one of the other paving jobs, that in Portland will be only a little more than one and one half miles in length, it will require upwards of 30,000 cubic yards of excavation in order to improve the line and grade.

On the first section of the Merritt-Highway in Stratford, the paving will be slightly less than three-quarters of a mile in length and will consist of bituminous macadam, 2 1-2 inches thick on a broken stone base 6 1-2 inches in depth. Although the new auxiliary post road is to be of reinforced concrete, this particular section, running through the Stratford meadow between the end of Main street and a point just west of the Washington Bridge, is not fitted for concrete construction because of the swamp ground. This one section will require some 10,000 cubic yards of excavation and more than 7,000 cubic yards of fill for the foundation and grading.

Contractors' bids on all of the work will be received at the Highway Department's headquarters in the State Office Building, Hartford, up to 1:00 p. m., E. S. T., next Monday.

The projects announced by Commissioner Macdonald today are as follows: Town of Norwich: A concrete encased girder bridge and approaches over Yantic river on Route No. 2. Town of Portland: About $285 feet of waterbound macadam on Gospel Lane. Town of Stamford: About 18,217 feet of reinforced concrete pavement

SPEED

On top of Commissioner Stoekel's determination to put the brakes on motor speed in this state comes the news that the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles proposes to launch a campaign against speed advertising by the manufacturers of automobiles.

The commissioner is using his horse sense when he deduces that the rates of speed alluringly set forth by the automobile makers as potential in their cars have a psychological effect on the average driver. Of course they do. And of course they have been doing so for years. And of course the automobile manufacturers, by building faster and faster cars and dangling them before the eyes of the public as the more desirable whenever they are the faster, have been contributing for years to the wholesale slaughter for which high speed is accountable.

Just what Mr. Stoekel proposes to do about the advertising, however, we can't see. There is no way of stopping this talk about "fashion, effortless speed" of 70, 80 or 90 miles an hour unless the manufacturers, through moral suasion, can be induced to cut it out and center their arguments on comfort and safety. That really ought to be possible. It is perfectly obvious that the manufacturer who could give a positive guarantee against accidents for his car, were such a thing possible, even though it could not go faster than 40 miles, would have the best selling point in the automotive world. But in the meantime—

It might take five years to make the builders see the point—there is the matter of legislative action to stop the killings; and the speed.

Mr. Stoekel suggests that the state might classify cars by weight or other means and determine how fast each class might be safely driven by the average person; that registration might be refused to any persons who would not guarantee that his car would never be driven faster than its class speed—with, presumably, the penalty of cancellation for exceeding that speed. There is a good deal of sense to this, on the face of it, but there is a fatal objection. Its effect would inevitably be to set up a special privilege of high speed for the rich man or the make-believe rich man or bootlegger and his high priced machine while compelling the plain citizen of moderate means to toddle along conservatively and take the other fellows' dust. If you can think of a harder law to enforce than that would be we should like to hear about it.

It is unquestionably true that what is excessive and dangerous speed for one man's car would not be anywhere near so excessive or dangerous for some other man's car. And the trouble has been that a number of honest believers in high speed have insisted on thinking of the safe speed limit for the big, powerful car as the proper speed limit for general traffic. Mr. Stoekel now reaches the conclusion, we take it, that the situation has been all this time tail and to the smaller and cheaper car, which greatly preponderates, creates its own safe speed limit at a considerably lower point.

What the commissioner seems to be figuring out is some way of establishing a general traffic speed limit without requiring the superior car to conform to it. If he can do that he will be demonstrating genius in addition to his undoubted talent. We don't believe he can.

By and by it is going to be accepted—as the fact of hard times was finally accepted despite vigorous determination not to accept it—that automobile traffic has got to slow down or the death list keep up and grow bigger. When automobile manufacturers begin to realize that there are any number of cars resting in garages when they might otherwise be in use because their owners hesitate to drive or ride in them except under necessity, because of the insane speed encountered on the roads, perhaps they may begin to realize that it would be good business for them to help make motoring less hazardous. When they reach the point where they can see that the undertakers and not the automotive industry are benefiting by these "fashion" speeds, and that the way to boost automobile use is to make it safer, it is to be suspected that motor vehicles commissioners will find them easy to deal with, not only in the matter of speed advertising but possibly in the matter of mechanically governed speed.

THE EXCUSES

Tucked away in an obscure position, a brief cable dispatch the other day told how a Japanese troop train was wrecked near Harbin, Manchuria, and added that Japanese officers on the spot believed that the wreck had been caused by Russian partisans.

Apparently this news item has drifted on down the stream of time and will be heard of no more; but some day a seemingly unimportant little story like that may land on the front page in black-face type, to acquaint us with the fact that Japan and Russia are to go to war.

For that is the kind of situation that now exists in the Far East; tense, strained, capable of bursting into flame at any moment from the smallest spark. This business of the wrecked troop train might have done it. If the world has had luck, some incident of no more intrinsic importance will.

Wars have a way of beginning over minor jars of that kind. It may seem absurd to think of Russia and Japan flying at one another because a railway train went into a ditch; but all the great nations of the earth went into a death grapple in 1914 because a half-baked student killed an Austrian prince, and the American Civil War got under way because the federal government tried to send supplies to a fort on the South Carolina coast.

The point to all of this is that wars never come suddenly. Through many years they build themselves up. Their causes are piled up like some tremendously powerful but relatively inert explosive, which can be set off by the concussion of a tiny fulminate of mercury detonator. A pistol shot or a train wreck can be that detonator.

Work for peace, then, if it is to do any good, must begin long before the crucial moment of accident arrives. It must begin when there seems to be no danger of war. If—to be plain about it—a terrible war in the Orient is to be averted, the great powers must at once work for peace a lot harder than they have yet shown any signs of doing.

THOSE HESSIANS

Sometime during the next few years some uncommonly interesting new histories of the Revolutionary War ought to be written.

The William L. Clements Library of the University of Michigan has just acquired a vast bundle of letters, diaries and other documents written by Hessian officers who served with the British troops in America during the Revolution. For a century and a half these papers rested in a trunk in a German castle, and no historian ever saw them. Now they are to be made available for presentation to the public.

The Hessians have always been the villains of the Revolutionary story. But even the most unimaginative student must have wondered about them occasionally. What did these hired soldiers think of the epoch-making struggle in which they had been paid to take part? What sort of a time did they have in America? How did they get along with their red-coated comrades in arms, and what were their opinions of the ragged continentals?

So far we have never been able to do anything but guess. There has been an indication or two, of course. It is known, for instance, that of 30,000 Hessian soldiers brought to America during the war, only 17,000 returned to Germany after peace had been signed. Many, of course, had been killed in action; but many more, sick of the war and attracted by the open new country, had deserted and had become pioneer settlers. How many old American families, one wonders, could trace their ancestry back to some disgruntled hireling of the Landgrave of Hesse-Cassel who went A. W. O. L. and forgot to return?

Now we are about to find out in considerable detail just what the Hessians felt about everything; and it ought to make mighty absorbing reading. As the quaint old tombstone in the Boston cemetery says, the Hessians came 3,000 miles and died "to keep the past upon its throne." They failed; and so far they have been mute actors in the drama. History will be the richer when their private thoughts are finally spread upon the record.

ANOTHER REFORM

Senator George W. Norris put through Congress two important and spectacular reforms this year—the lame duck amendment and the law reforming the use of injunction laws. Now he is pushing still another reform, which is greatly needed but which lacks the elements of popular appeal that the other two had.

The new one is a move to deprive the federal courts of jurisdiction over much litigation which arises when plaintiff and defendant in a civil action live in two different states.

That sounds excessively uninteresting, perhaps. But it is important. A great corporation, for instance, often incorporates in a state other than the one in which it does its business, so that it can throw litigation into the federal courts. Since federal court litigation is expensive this gives the corporation an immense advantage when the ordinary citizen brings a legal action against it. Senator Norris' bill deserves to pass.

Our handsome neighbor the Hartford Courant has won the big beauty prize of newspaperdom, the Francis Wayland Ayer cup annually awarded at the Exhibition of Newspaper Typography. That means that all of the newspapers printed in the United States as of the issue of March 4 last the Courant was the best looking in the opinion of the judges. Our private opinion is that the Courant could win the prize any day and every day. If The Herald ever gets to be as beautiful as the Courant it promises to set up a lognette and one of those What-you-call-em dogs.

TODAY IS THE WORLD WAR ANNIVERSARY

On April 26 1918, German troops finally succeeded in taking Mont Kemmel, one of the key positions on the Lys front, after three days of hand-to-hand fighting.

German official bulletins hailed the taking of this strong position as one of the major triumphs of their spring campaign.

From their new position it was possible for German observers to watch Allied troops' movements and concentrations in the entire region.

Meanwhile, the struggle for the channel ports continued along the entire 40-mile front with extreme violence.

Hard-pressed British divisions had been reinforced by reserves and by fresh French troops and the balance of power was gradually becoming nearer equal.

French troops recovered a part of Hangard by a fierce counter-attack and held it against repeated German assaults.

ASPARAGUS

Asparagus was cultivated by the Romans and was considered a delicacy on their tables. Only the young and tender shoots are used in most households, but some of the poorer peasants in Europe also use the seeds as a substitute for coffee and the berries as the basis for a drink.

Asparagus may be obtained fresh most of the year, although at certain times it is very expensive. The canned product may, however, be used during the months when you cannot obtain the fresh in your market.

Although asparagus does not contain much nutritional value, it is valuable in the diet because it serves as an appetizer and because it is rich in mineral elements, especially sodium, calcium, potassium and sulphur.

FOR KIDNEY ELIMINATION

Asparagus is especially good for those who are suffering from Bright's Disease, or Rheumatism, since the asparagus which it contains has a stimulating effect upon the kidneys. It will often be noticed that those who are suffering from heart palpitation or from a torpid bowels will have a gradual slowing of the pulse an hour or two after a meal containing asparagus. Asparagus contains vitamin B and for this reason is helpful in nerve troubles.

In preparing this vegetable, it should be washed carefully to remove the grit. Sometimes a small amount of dirt sticks under the larger scales, and they should be removed, as well as the toughest part of the fibrous end.

The best way to cook asparagus is to tie it in bunches which are set in a cooking vessel in boiling water which does not cover the tips so that the delicate tips do not boil to pieces. A good plan is to use a tall coffee or tobacco can and keep it for this purpose. Cook for fifteen to twenty minutes, but no longer.

When served with a tender and soft and they may be dipped in butter before being eaten.

GOOD BULKY FOOD

Asparagus may be used by those who want more bulk in the diet in form of a salad. It should be freely used by those who are reducing in weight and are looking for a food which may be eaten in large quantities to satisfy the appetite. It is usually relished by children.

Various sizes are canned and it is possible to buy the choicest tips in this way. In opening a can of asparagus it is best to open the bottom, as the tips are always at the top and, when the top is cut, the can opener may injure them. All of the canned asparagus is packed and vacuum sealed so that the product will come to the table with its fresh flavor and without being crushed too tightly in the can.

To those of you who feel that you should "take a tonic" in the spring I recommend asparagus, which tastes good and is good, for it contains both food and medicine in the same green spears.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Kelp As Food)
 Question: J. J. N. writes: "In reading one of your articles you mention kelp as a food. Is it a misprint or is it really a food, and, if so, how is it to be used? It is coming from a hollow bulb."
 Answer: Kelp is a seaweed which contains a large amount of mineral matter principally sodium, iodine, chlorine, and potassium. It contains, however, very little carbohydrate and protein. It is not a necessary addition to the diet, but may be used to advantage when other alkaline-forming vegetables are not readily obtainable. Both the streamers and the bulbs may be used. The small bulbs and streamers next to the leaves are the parts most commonly eaten. The plant may be used raw, dried, boiled or roasted. The plant has a rather pronounced

IN NEW YORK

Honey-Tonk Time
 New York, April 26.—The "clip" and "take" resorts, lowest spawn of metropolitan night life are reported secretly flourishing again. Yes, and increasing in number! Such change as has come upon them, say my informants, is merely that they play for lower stakes—times being what they are!

A year ago one of those sporadic police clean-ups revealed a hidden and treacherous little world of barred doors, knock-out drops, raised checks, blackmail, traffic in young girls, taxi steering and sidewalk recruiting. The unfortunate uninitiate who entered usually exited with his pockets inside out, a bashed head, or a Mickey Finn under the belt. Time and again his signature had been left behind on a blank check.

Unwary tourists, tipping about town, were the most frequent victims. Or natives who don't get around much in New York and "step out." These are "steered" by a certain type of "gypp" taxi driver, who gets a commission.

Officially such places were classified as "closed dance halls." In appearance they were miniature versions of public dance places or night clubs. Hostesses in evening clothes sat about waiting to be asked for a dance. Vile grog was to be had in most spots. And there was a charge for everything.

The size of the check, while causing quick gasps, was seldom long argued, since plug-ugly gents in waiter's uniform would soon begin to "close in." Many an unlucky fellow has been picked up from the sidewalk by a cop, unable to recall where he had been.

And if, by some betrayal of conversation, a married man could be trapped by the old "badger game"—well, the shake-down became thorough.

So the warning to visiting friends is as usual: Don't take the word of your taxi driver for anything except the address you have stated! Don't accept his recommendation as to hotels, whoopee parlors or cafes!

Other Little Warnings
 And don't let the gents who corner you in doorways, flash watches, rings and gems, whispering that these are "stolen property." No matter how generous the bargaining seems to become, the sidewalk gent will get the better of it. Half the time he's merely trying to find out where you keep your money.

The gent who tries to sell you "fur off the boat" has only rabbit skin.... that cable you got from a friend aboard a boat telling you to pay for a package when it is delivered will get you a few bottles of colored water at a high figure.... Never give a check in a strange place.... They know how to raise them.... Look out for gents seeming to try to start fights in public places.... May be just a couple of boys trying to "frisk" you in the scuffle.... Look out for out-of-the-way spots, particularly in Harlem, Greenwich Village, Chinatown or the Bowery!

But you know what I mean! And what I mean is that "green goods" men and confidence men get their funds as they were in the days of Uncle Josh and the godbrick.

Those Stage Flowers
 Rarely do the heaping flower baskets and bouquets presented to a stage star ever reach her residence. Only a few personally selected floral gifts are taken by actresses. Each theater and almost every star has a favored hospital, and arranges for distribution of the bouquets among poor patients.

Incidentally, real flowers are rarely tolerated in a stage set. They fade and dis-considered symptomatic of ill fortune to the play.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

By RODNEY DUTCHER
 NEA Service Writer

Washington.—Anybody can make pot likker, which Senator Huey Long of Louisiana insists must be on the Senate Restaurant menu. Throw a lot of turnip greens, a hunk of salt pork, a few turnips into a pot, season with salt and pepper, cover with water and boil for about an hour. That's Huey's greens.

You may then eat the greens and turnips, but that's not compulsory. The point is to drink the likker, dunking your corn bread in it. Huey says the stuff is good for oil, and the day the tax bill was voted on he asked the Almighty to "bring every member of this Congress into an experience of that knowledge, understanding and judgment hitherto unknown."

Why She's for Alfalfa's Bill
 One girl here says she doesn't know why she should have to work so hard when there are so many unemployed and that she hopes Alfalfa Bill Murray will be elected president so we will have three crops a year.

Some federal employes work very hard; others are able to loaf. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation was overtinging girl clerks into nervous collapse until newspaper publicity discouraged the practice.

But there's an old story about the tourist who was gazing admiringly at a big tall bureau building and asked an old man about to pass in: "How many people work in that building?" The old man grunted: "About half of 'em!"

Closed for Good?
 That speaks in a block adjacent to the White House reopened recently under new management, but not for long. The cops came and threatened to shoot tear gas in at the staff and customers if no allowed entry.

So the management regretfully "dumped" let the cops in and promised to move after "emphatic assurance that it could no longer operate.... Sol Bloom, the Washington Bicentennial director, asked to support the drive of the Junior Chamber of Commerce for 30,000, 000 votes next November as a "tribute" to George, said the idea didn't possess "one-millionth" of the importance of his own educational campaign and might "embarrass" it.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS TO GIVE DANCE IN BOLTON

Several persons, prominent in Democratic circles, both from Manchester and elsewhere, are expected to attend the first social function of the Young Peoples' Club which will be a dance at College Inn at Bolton tomorrow evening.

James McDuff, chairman of the committee in charge, says he expects a big attendance which has been obtained for the occasion.

Free transportation will be provided those planning to attend the automobiles playing between the Center and the College Inn between the hours of eight and ten tomorrow night.

GIRLS' FRIENDLY SOCIETY

Members and Associates of St. Mary's Girls' Friendly Society entertained the recently organized Girls' Friendly branch of St. Paul's church, Willimantic last evening.

A tableau "Bible Jewels," was a feature of the program with these taking part: Evelyn Carlson, Dorothy Wirtalla, Valette Turner, Lucille Kilpatrick, Margaret Ubbich, Mary McCaughey, Dorothy Powers, Ethel Madden, Dorothy McCaughey, Mary Law.

An interesting feature was an informal talk given by Miss Emily Learned, who told of her winter in Vienna. A short sketch entitled "The Stronger," by Alice Aitken and Dorothy Wirtalla, closed the program.

For the Annual Field Day to be held at Highland Park the following were appointed chairmen of committees: supper, Mrs. John Turner; transportation, Helen Crawford; invitations, Evelyn Kilpatrick; prizes, Gertrude Liddon; refreshments at park, Margaret Stratton; recreation, Irene Walter.

however, and conferred with Stimson and MacDonald all morning.

The results of the Diet elections in Germany Sunday have given cold chills to the leaders here who are seeking a solution of international problems especially on the eve of the French elections.

According to well informed sources Secretary Stimson and Prime Minister MacDonald agreed that the time had come to bring Dr. Breugnot and M. Tardieu face to face and to say to them, in effect: "Your relations and the European situation are rapidly approaching a catastrophic stage. Now what are you going to do about it?"

The disarmament conference suspended its activities today and the land, sea and air commissions went to work to try to designate which weapons of war might be considered as distinctly aggressive.

NEARLY $300,000 PAID TO BALLYHOO STOCKS

maintain complete control over their men."

"I say that statement is not true," said LaGuardia, "and Mr. Whitney knew it was not true when he made it."

He cited a case in which a court judgment was rendered against a Wall Street firm for fraud and said Whitney, when reminded of this, "said the court was wrong and the Exchange was right."

$286,000 For Publicity The New York Representative said A. Newton Plummer, a publicity counsel, had paid out $286,000 to financial writers for publicity.

LaGuardia said he had checks to show where $171,000 was paid, but that Plummer would not reveal the others because some are dead and others are out of a job.

"Not only do brokers rig the market," LaGuardia said, "but they speculate in stocks in which their members are directors."

"I shall deliver proof that when the stocks are selected to be rigged, high pressure publicity men are hired to write the stuff."

The representative then named several financial writers who he said were given checks for writing stories portraying Savage Arms stock in a favorable light.

This LaGuardia described as "part of the ballyhoo."

He held up before the committee a series of checks bearing 1924 dates and signed, he said, by Plummer.

Two for $50 each, he said, were made out to J. E. Lawther who, he asserted was "then on the New York Herald-Tribune."

Another for $140.02 he said, was made out to W. J. Jomper, then on the Financial American.

Shows Other Checks Numerous other checks, he said were "given to the pay off men who stated he paid them to other financial writers who were ticklish about taking checks."

He told the committee he did not wish to disclose the name of the payoff man at this time.

Describing what he referred to as ballyhoo, LaGuardia said 605 stories calculated to induce the public to buy stocks were circulated in 208 newspapers, with 11,000,000 circulation in 157 cities with population of 32,000,000.

LaGuardia also presented a check for $268 which he said was endorsed by Richard Edmondson, then with the Wall Street Journal, as part of a second ballyhoo on Savage Arms.

He offered a check of $184 made out on December 5, 1924 and described as endorsed by Charles F. Murphy of the New York Evening Mail.

A check of $209 to Jomper and a $200 check endorsed by W. F. Wamsley, then of the New York Times, then were described by LaGuardia.

DECEIVED EDITORS

"I am sure he deceived his own editors," LaGuardia said.

The Representative then told of a ballyhoo in "Pure Oil" stock, the name of which drew a laugh from the committee.

He told of three checks for $400, $600 and $800 drawn in January, 1925, for this stock and given to the pay-off man.

Other checks presented were $468 endorsed by Edmondson, checks of $100 and $184 to J. W. Walker, of the Herald Tribune, $275 to William White of the Evening Post and $284 to Jomper.

LaGuardia read a letter to Plummer from Oscar L. Gubelman, of 61 Broadway, in 1925 offering him a 30-day option on 500 shares of Pure Oil at 25.

"If the price went up he collected?" asked Senator Barkley (D., Ky.).

"He couldn't lose. I understand all these deals were profitable," said LaGuardia.

Gets $1,000 Check LaGuardia then presented a $1,000 check issued to George F. Breen, publicity man for Simms Petroleum.

The brokerage house that employed Plummer in the Savage Arms case was Jackson Brothers, LaGuardia said.

The Chase Securities Corporation employed him for the Pure Oil stock, the witness said.

LaGuardia said Maxwell Motors Corporation paid $600 each to nine writers.

"While the publicity was going out boosting up the stock," he explained, taking off his glasses to address the committee, "the corporation was sending out letters to its stockholders advising them to hold the stock. So there was no dumping of stock on the market and the boom went on."

He said the Chase Securities Corporation handled the stock and the Maxwell publicity reached 17,000,000 readers in 295 cities.

Senator Glass, (D., Va.), asked if "all this has been changed" since Richard Whitney became president of the New York Stock Exchange.

"He was president when we brought to his attention the Hayden-Stone case," LaGuardia replied.

"He has been president of the business conduct committee for 12 years," Glass remarked.

"The business conduct committee passes on each other's misconduct," LaGuardia retorted.

LaGuardia took up the history of Indian Motorcycles.

He said the company decided in December, 1929, to issue 40,000 additional shares. On November 30, 1929, the stock sold at 5 and 500 shares were traded. On January 4, 1930, 3700 shares were traded at 4.

"Then the publicity started," he said. "This first shot was a story on the success of the company in the local paper, the Springfield Union, Springfield, Mass. Later the publicity was started up through the Boston News Bureau telling of the improved conditions of the company. On January 16, 1930, the same story was reproduced in the Wall Street Journal. All these stories were distributed as circulars with cards enclosed offering customers a chance to buy."

No Real Market "There was no real market for motorcycles," LaGuardia said.

"So they contrived Ostales, a British motor manufacturer, and purchased the American rights for an air motor which was in the blue-print stage, in return for 50,000 shares.

"On this basis the shares were dumped on the American market and the motor has never been developed, so far as I know."

LaGuardia said the stock jumped from 5 1-2 to 17 while the shares were being sold and then dropped back to 5 1-2.

The brokers in the Indian motor stock, LaGuardia said, were Harry Curley, and H. H. Russell, Jr., of Boston, a leading trader and promoter, and has been subpoenaed by the committee.

Similar Stories "I believe," continued LaGuardia, "that the same sordid story could be told of almost every pool stock. I believe the same thing took place with the Kreuger stocks; 138,000 American investors bought Kreuger bonds and more than 300,000 bought Kreuger stocks.

"Then stories are sent out that if it were not for Congress stocks wouldn't go down."

Senator Glass asked if the same kind of publicity was used in the Anaconda Copper pool, in which Chairman Raskob of the Democratic National committee participated.

LaGuardia said the publicity man in that had not "contracted" with him yet.

LaGuardia said the bankers had not thought up an "original idea or a single truth" during the depression.

Challenging the Whitney statement that stocks went up because of the feverish buying of the American public, LaGuardia shouted, "the American public was deceived."

"Lee Higginson and Company was selling the Kreuger stock," he continued.

"Why, Senators, if Whitney had been president of a grocery exchange and Higginson was selling canned beans and conspired to misrepresent as they have in their present occupation, both would be under indictment at this time."

With that LaGuardia concluded and the committee went into executive session.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, April 26.—There are many in Wall Street who believe that the chances are in favor of declaration of the regular dividend on Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey when directors meet on May 2. The company, it is pointed out, has large reserves which were built up over a period of years when earnings were largely in excess of the dividends paid. At the end of 1930 the company's surplus, as reported in the balance sheet, was $549,252,775.

The independent preferred stockholders committee of Isaac Silver & Brothers, Inc., in a letter issued today states that creditors of the company at a recent meeting voted in favor of the committee's proposal to eliminate ancillary receiverships for the company at the earliest possible date. The independent committee is composed of John G. Rolph, Morris Voss and Arthur Judell.

The Illinois Central Railroad Co. is understood to have covered its interest charges in March, beginning the first month this year to do so. VACATIONS CANCELLED

New Britain, April 26.—(AP)—Mayor George A. Quigley today cancelled vacations this summer for police, firemen and all other city employees, explaining that the move was made in the interest of economy.

The mayor also suggested to Chairman P. F. King of the school board that no contracts be entered into with school teachers for the school year which begins in September, explaining that it may be necessary to effect retrenchments in the department of education.

All city employees including teachers, began the new fiscal year this month with a ten percent reduction in pay.

LATEST STOCKS

New York, April 26.—(AP)—The Stock Market worked uncertainly higher during the earlier hours of trading today, but went into the day steady with a softening tendency.

Trading remained extremely sluggish. The list apparently was helped a little by a sharp increase shown in the weekly report of freight car loadings, and the weekly condition statement of reporting member banks, showing a gain of $61,000,000 in loans and investments. But buying power was scarcely impressive.

Recessions of from fractions to a point appeared after a number of shares had moved up 1 to more than 2 points, including U. S. Steel, American Water Works, Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Woolworth, Lambert, Allied Chemical, Standard of N. J. National Biscuit, American Can, Woolworth, Auburn, National Biscuit, and others. Norfolk and West-Union had one of its wide movements, advancing 7 points. Alaska Juneau, which has been rather soft since the pool in this issue has been brought out in the Washington investigation, declined about 1 1-2 points.

The weekly report of the revenue freight movement, appearing on Tuesday rather than Wednesday starting today, showed an increase over the previous week of 21,923 cars, making the 566,729, which was 192,765 under the like week of 1931.

The subsidence of pressure against Standard Oil of N. J. was accompanied by a report in brokerage quarters that a large bid had been placed for the issue at 21, or just under the market, this could not be confirmed, but recalled the report in the autumn of 1929 that Rockefeller interests had placed a bid for 1,000,000 shares, which checked the decline at that time.

The entire group of members banks in 101 leading cities showed a further shrinkage of loans on securities, amounting to $17,000,000, but "all other" loans, including commercial loans, increased $16,000,000, which while moderate, was a welcome change after the prolonged shrinkage of loans for commercial purposes.

The U. S. Steel director's meeting after the close, as a factor tending to make for hesitancy in the market, although Wall street was inclined to believe that omission of the 50-cent quarterly dividend, and report of a deficit for the first quarter, had been so widely expected as to have been largely discounted.

TROUBLED ALL LIFE WITH CONSTIPATION

But Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brought Real Relief

If you are subject to headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness and other effects that so often result from constipation, read Mrs. Turner's voluntary letter.

"For the past six months I have been eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, and cannot praise it too highly. "Am fifty years of age. All my life have been troubled with constipation. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has not only helped me, but has cured me. "I thought I couldn't like the taste of bran, but Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is delicious."—Mrs. C. J. Turner, 507 Hanover Street, Fall River, Mass.

Tests show ALL-BRAN contains two things which overcome constipation: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines and "Fiber" to help tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes. Because this is more natural than taking pills and drugs—so often harmful. ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming. Two tablespoons daily will correct most types of constipation. If you have intestinal trouble not relieved this way, see your doctor.

FIRST PRESIDENT ENCOURAGED ARTS

Governors Hear How Washington Made Bequests in Will To Aid Colleges.

Williamsburg, Va., April 26.—(AP)—Citing Washington's own words, "that to promote literature in this rising empire and to encourage the arts have ever been amongst the warmest wishes of my heart," Dr. Francis P. Gaines, president of Washington and Lee University, today lauded the memory of the country's first President.

Addressing the annual conference of governors visiting the college of William and Mary today, Dr. Gaines said that Washington in his will made three notable bequests to education. They were the gift of a thousand pounds to the Alexandria Academy for the purpose of educating orphan children, a gift for the establishment of a National university in Washington, and the gift of 100 shares of James River Canal Company stock to Liberty Hall Academy, now Washington and Lee University.

ROCKVILLE

Forest Fires

Men in the Ellington section have been fighting forest fires for the past two days. On Sunday afternoon District Fire Warden E. G. Berr and about thirty men fought a bad blaze in the woodland owned by the Burr Nursery, William Pinney and Mr. Brache. They got it under control, but not until ten acres had been burned.

The second serious fire occurred Monday afternoon at 2:31 when a forest fire was raging through the heavy timberland and underbrush in the southwest slope of Job's Hill. The fire was driven by a brisk wind and after two hours of hard fighting was under control, after it had burned into the dense woods in that locality.

District Fire Warden Berr and his deputies with a force of thirty-five men were assisted by Fire Chiefs Clyde Cordstein and Carl Goubling, who responded with the newly built reserve water tank proving valuable in replenishing the forest fire pump used by the fire fighters.

District Fire Warden E. G. Berr has received a notice from State Forest Fire Warden Austin F. Hayes to issue no more fire permits and to cancel all permits issued until sufficient rain has fallen to eliminate the danger. Mr. Berr has instructed his deputies to this effect. The general public is requested to report all fires to the warden as early as possible so as they can be placed under control.

SIDE GLANCES AT WASHINGTON

SECRET ORDERS AMONG CHINESE BOYCOTT JAPAN

Peiping.—(AP)—Secret patriotic organizations, called into existence throughout China by the Japanese policy in Manchuria and the fighting at Shanghai, are giving officials some puzzling moments.

As the propaganda, and rites of some of these are kept strictly under cover, the authorities are finding it almost impossible to suppress them.

Weep For China's Woes

In Tientsin the Japanese representatives have expressed concern over the "Kneel and Cry Corps." Members of this society recently paraded in the business section dressed in white mourning gowns. They moved from shop to shop, kneeling in a body before each and calling upon the proprietor to take an oath not to handle Japanese goods.

Expect New Emperor

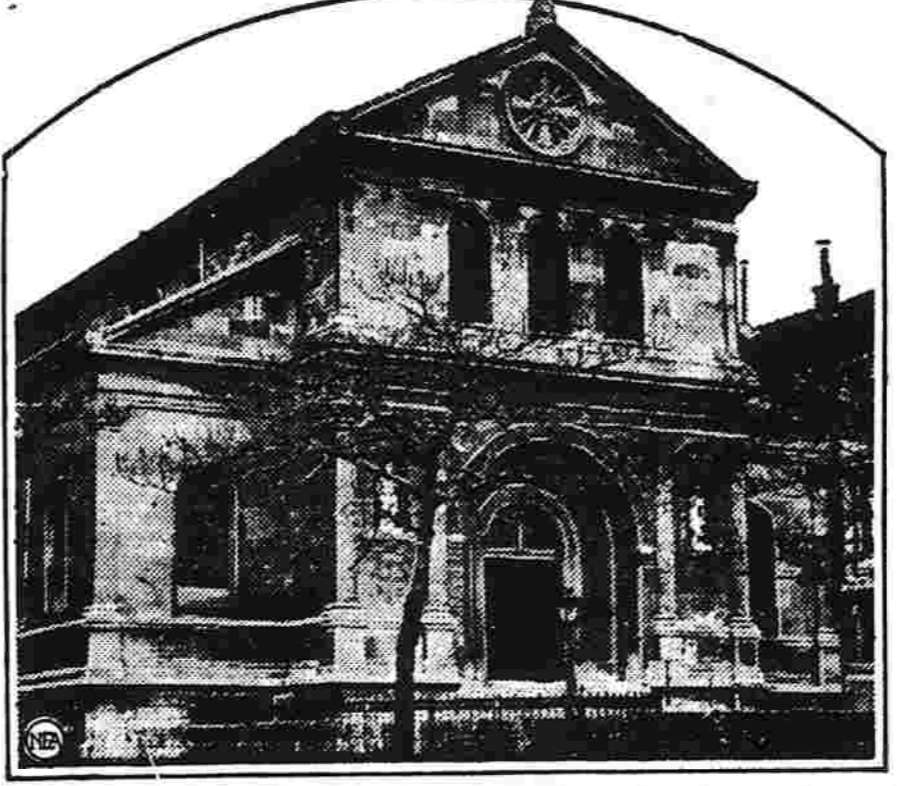

Members are known as "Brethren of the Long-haired Doctrine." They let their beards and hair grow and teach that troublous times must continue in China until a new monarch arises to bring peace and prosperity.

What we've been wondering is this: if the college hatless styles become universal, what will the politicians talk through?

City of Paris is Landlord For 90 of Its Churches

The church of St. Jacques-St. Christoph in Paris, shown above, is one of the 90 maintained there by the city. An appropriation of more than 1,000,000 francs for repairing it has been voted.

BY MINOTT SAUNDERS NEA Service Writer

Paris.—In the strange position of being landlord of 90 churches, the Municipality of Paris is now busy looking after its property and the interests of its tenants by making the repairs and improvements that any house owner might be called upon to do at this time of year.

SOVIET POWERS TO TRIPLE PAY OF PARTY MEN

Moscow.—(AP)—Joseph Stalin and other high officials of both the government and communist party will be in line for a 200 per cent raise in salary if the political bureau, the party's all-powerful governing body, adopts a proposal it is considering.

If the increase is adopted, it is probable that they will not be announced publicly, only those affected being notified. The communist party numbers more than 3,000,000 in the total population of 160,000,000.

The increase would apply to every member of the party, although only a few would benefit by the top figure, just as only a few today draw the maximum of 300 roubles.

Under the present system all party members, whether officials or plain wage earners, are limited to the 300 rouble maximum for their regular jobs. Even if they happen to be in a position to earn more they could not get it.

Expediency Unsets Ideals Because of the present high level of prices this has resulted in many sacrifices and sometimes in actual want on the part of those whose responsibility is greatest in the soviet state.

Many communists have found it necessary to increase their regular earnings by writing and lecturing, a practice which the party permits provided the recipient donates to the party half of the money he gets on the side.

A more serious consideration is that many well equipped party members have refused to accept important posts because as assistants they commanded just as much pay as their chiefs without having to shoulder the responsibility, much feared here, which goes with very high position.

Stalin Gives Cue Above all these reasons, however, and giving the political bureau the highest sanction to consider the matter was the edict of Stalin, last June, that the system of equal pay for all should be abolished in the soviet state. That rapidly is being accomplished in all forms of industry and agriculture.

This compromise of communistic principle with capitalist practice expediently for Stalin realized that maximum production could not be had in the present state of development without distinguishing between the ability of skilled and unskilled workers by monetary standards.

Hollister, Ohio.—(AP)—With poverty and misery stalking through the Hocking-Perry county coal fields, where 1,000 coal diggers have been on strike since February 1, a 71-year-old woman is bearing the burden of leadership.

She is Mrs. Mollie Robinson Crain, known throughout the Hocking valley as "the second Mother Jones" and as "commander-in-chief of the miners."

Mollie Crain has been active in union councils for 40 years, because, she says, "if men needed a woman to keep them on level."

When she hears of a case of destitution and no other help is in sight, she will hasten to the home, with a basket of food and medicines gathered from her own meager store and pocketbook.

the MAN HUNTERS BY MABEL McELLIOTT

BEGIN HERE TODAY SUSAN CAREY, 19 and an orphan, works in the office of ERNEST HEATH, Chicago architect. One of her admirers is BEN LAMP-MAN, a moody young musician who asks her to marry him. She refuses. JACK WARING, who works in the same office, asks Susan to go driving one night. Waring kisses her and Susan resolves never to go with him again. She falls in love with BOB DUNBAR, young millionaire whom she met at business school. She believes he is engaged to DENISE ACKROYD, pretty debutante. Health feels a paternal interest in Susan but his wife dislikes her. Denise Ackroyd asks her to attend a week-end party and ROSE MILTON, Susan's best friend, lends her a suitable wardrobe. On the way Ben informs her they have been invited because Denise thinks "the matter with you," she said coolly. "Buck up and show you have a little fight."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXIV

"Whistling in the dark, I'm only whistling in the dark." Susan slipped through the French door and stood shivering in the darkness. A wind from the west blew across the prairies and the stars shone with uncanny brightness over her head. It was quiet here. She could almost shut out completely that hateful tune, the swish-swish of feet, and the babble of voices. She felt a misery too deep for words. That was why the vastness of the night comforted her.

The events of the day marched before her eyes like the unrolling of a film. There was the dinner. The oval table with its lace and ruby glass, the exquisite food, the deft servants gliding in and out. Susan had scarcely tasted anything. From the moment when she had come down stairs wearing her frock of white lace to find Denise in Bob Dunbar's arms she had been miserable.

"This is what she asked me for," Susan told herself bitterly. "He's hers and she wants me to know it!" Why such a course should give the girl any satisfaction Susan could not understand. The tall, fair young man had been her friend, nothing more, and that only briefly. If Susan had imagined that she would have a flash of understanding had passed between the two, she had been wrong. She must get over it; other girls did. If her heart felt like a stone in her breast that was her affair and no other's. This interminable night would be over. There would be tomorrow, when she could return home and resolutely forget all her foolish dreams.

The worst of it was that Denise was bad for him. With laughter and encouragement she had had Bob's glass filled again and again at the table. What had sent her out into the night was the fact that Bob Dunbar, now quite drunk, had danced with her. It had been hideous! Through the crowd Susan had caught a glimpse of Denise's bright, malicious face as she watched them. Bob would be sober, she was sure. "Didn't know you belonged in this atrium crowd. Surprised to see you."

She was too sick at heart to answer him clearly, to explain that really she did not belong with them. As soon as she could she had slipped away from him and come out here to think things out. But she could not stay much longer. She was shuddering with cold now. Her only evening wrap, the beautiful rose shawl that one of the Careys had brought to his wife back in the 50's, was in the dressing room.

The girl's instinct was for flight. She could find her way back to the house she thought. She could pack her things and leave a note and walk to the station. It would be childish, she knew, and perhaps cowardly but she longed terribly to be away from all this. "You'll catch your death of cold," she heard a voice saying. Susan wheeled. The young man who had sat at her left at dinner, the one they called Dum-Dum, was standing just below her on the gravel, lighting a cigarette. She forced herself to speak. "I suppose I shall."

He cleared the low rattling and took her arm. "Come along inside," he said agreeably. "They're sending out a search party for you. Denise wants to go on to the Blue Mouse. It's too stuffy here."

Susan allowed herself to be led back indoors. Some of the dancers looked at her curiously as she threaded her way past them, the tall, pale young girl, with the cloud of dark hair. A small, argumentative group was gathered in the hall of the club. Sonia, a preposterous yellow frock sliding away from her shoulders, had her hand on Ben's arm. She looked up guiltily as Susan advanced.

"Oh, here she is," she said with animation. "I told you she was around some place." Ben looked black as a thunder cloud. He growled, "And yet you were all willing to go off without her!" Susan's eyes searched for the face she longed yet dreaded to see. The youth, Dum-Dum murmured, "Bobby's nearly out. Some one took him to walk around the grounds. He'll be o. k. in a few minutes." He seemed to be a very knowing young man but considerate. Susan's eyes thanked him as she went to get her wrap. The face that looked back at her from the dressing room mirror was startling in its pallor. There were great rings under her eyes. Sonia had followed and stood staring at Susan with frank curiosity. "Don't take it so hard," she advised.

"Anger flared up in Susan. 'I don't know what you mean.' 'Yes, you do.' Sonia adjusted her extraordinary earrings and patted her oily hair with satisfaction. 'A child could see what's the matter with you,' she said coolly. 'Buck up and show you have a little fight.' Susan squared her shoulders. 'You're talking riddles.' 'Oh, well, Sonia shrugged. 'Don't mind me. I only meant to give you a friendly tip.'"

The warm color had come back into Susan's face and her eyes had darkened. So that was it! They were all feeling sorry for her. They knew what this was about. Well, she'd show them. She threw the shawl about her shoulders, liking the picture she made. "Come along," she said crisply. "I'm ready."

She took Dum-Dum's arm. She looked gay, even gallant. Denise, rushing in a moment later with Bob Dunbar at her heels, stared at the transfiguration. They made a great clamor in the hall. Three or four older couples, sedately waiting to the strains of an old-fashioned tune, turned to glance at them disapprovingly. Susan's laugh rang out at something Dum-Dum had said. Ben growled.

"Hurry up, everybody," shrilled Denise. "We want to get away before the air of this tomb gets us." She linked her fingers in Bob's. Susan managed to avoid his glance. With desperate intentness she answered Dum-Dum's sallies. So they thought she hadn't any fight in her, did they? She'd show them!

Deliberately, Bob Dunbar detached himself from Denise's grasp and walked over to Susan. He held something out and the girl saw it was a flask, incredibly long and flat. "Have one?" he challenged. "You need it." She put out her hand but before she could touch the flask Ben's long arm shot out and seized it. Ben said, loudly and forbiddingly, "She doesn't want it—you fool, you!"

What followed was all a sort of nightmare. There was a tussle in the corner of which the flask clattered to the floor. Someone said sharply, "Get 'em outside." Denise screamed and the boy, Dum-Dum, pulled the wrestlers apart. A club attendant rushed up, with a scared white face and closed the doors on the dancers.

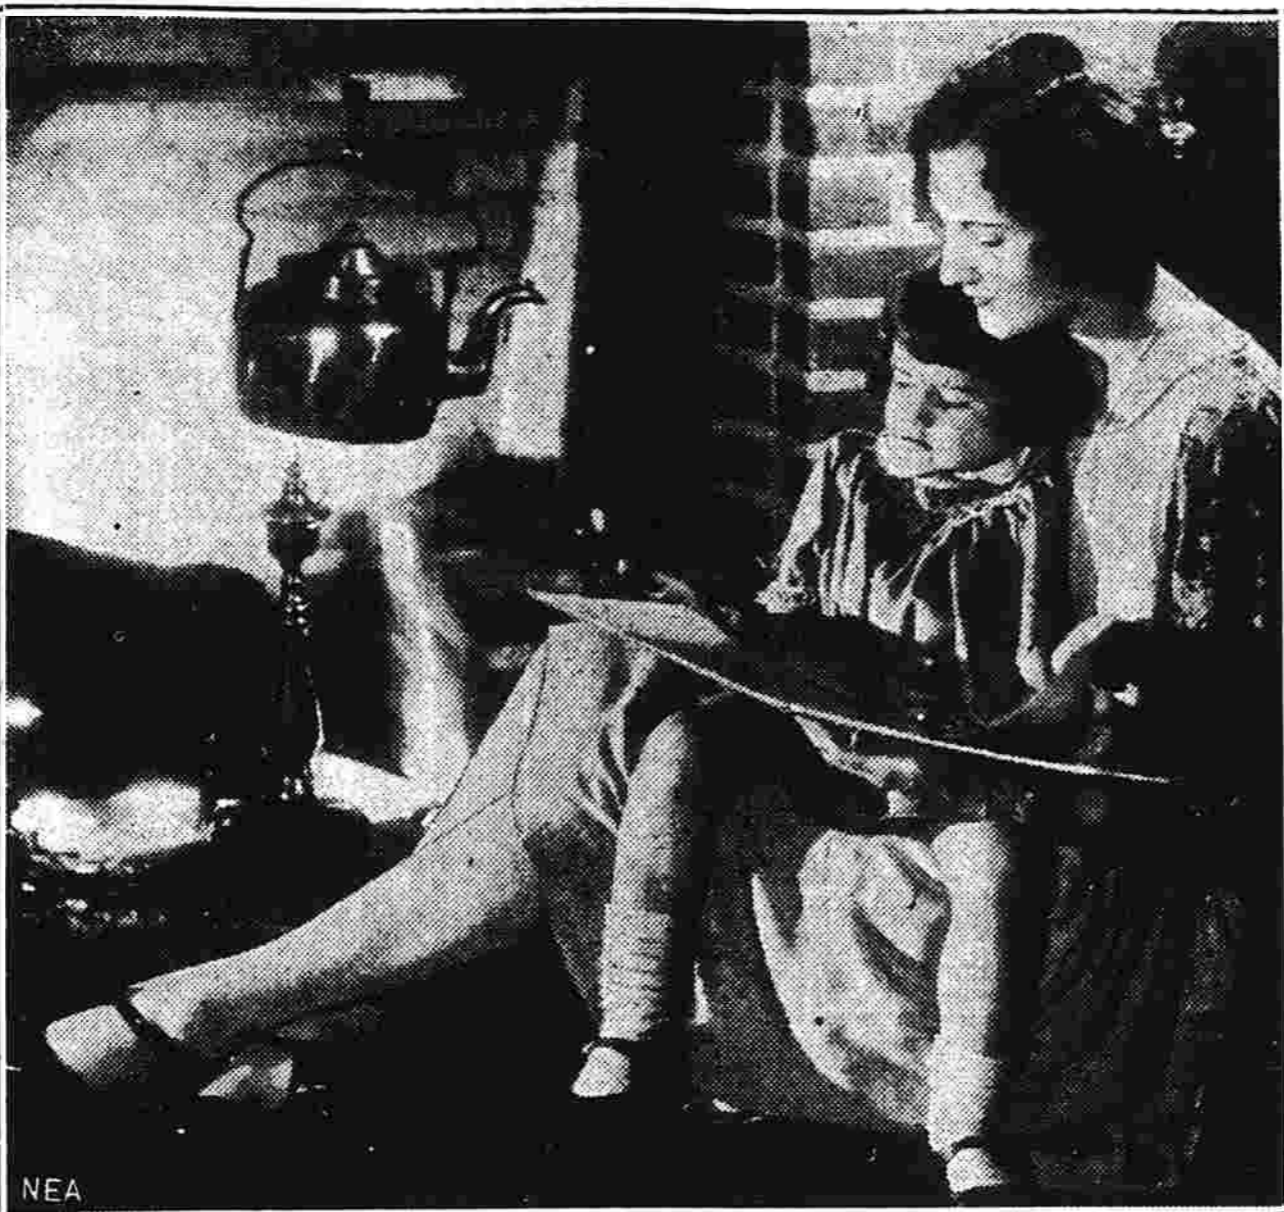

Then suddenly they were all out beneath the stars, Susan shaking more with emotion than with cold and Ben holding his jaw and looking murderous. "Take Bob away," Denise ordered. "He'll kill that fool." She glared at Ben. "If Daddy hears about this I'll be wrecked. I won't have a prayer."

"Just a minute." That was Bob, oddly sober now. "I'm sorry, my error." He put out his hand to his adversary but his look was directed at Susan. Ben, after an instant's hesitation, took the hand. The crowd melted together again, moved by a common impulse of relief. Denise was issuing voluble directions. Arnold and Sonia and Dum-Dum in that car. She would drive with Bob. She looked around. Dunbar had melted into the shadows. And where was Susan?

The youth, Dum-Dum, lifted his eyebrows and put a hand under Denise's elbow. "Where are those two?" Denise demanded icily, regal and clutching her white fur wrap around her slim figure. The boy shrugged. Denise stamped her foot and someone in the big car sounded a horn sharply in the night stillness. "Let's move," Dum-Dum said easily. "I hear Bob's engine down the hill. They'll be trailing us." There seemed nothing else to do. Denise, her head high, stepped in and raced the engine. They roared away.

Meanwhile Susan sat still and cold in the roadster's front seat. The man at her side cupped his hand over a cigarette. In the match's flare she could see his stern young profile. "How did I get here?" she asked. "I feel as if—as if a hurricane had picked me up."

"I was it," Bob Dunbar supplied easily. He seemed quite sober now and there was a steely glint in his eye. "I kidnaped you. Now we're going to drive around a bit while I find out what this is all about."

Susan felt unaccountably happy. "I don't know what you mean," she told him. "Yes, you do." His voice was grim. "I want to know if it is true—that you're engaged to this lad who just wallowed me."

"Who told you that?" "I give you one guess," said Bob Dunbar. (To Be Continued)

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Hoover offers to work for $1 a year, but from the experience we had with dollar-a-year men during the war, we would say that is too much.

Golf fees are being reduced drastically. The cost of living has gone down so much until it has affected the cost of loafing.

Syd Franklin, Brooklyn's famous bull fighter, had to go to Mexico to put on a demonstration. He was outclassed in New York.

A bunch of Los Angeles doctors think "No" is the most important word in the English language. They must have forgotten the thousands who hold their jobs simply by saying "Yes" at the right time and place.

Hoover had no opposition for the job of tossing out that first ball in Washington this year, but several Democrats are in training for the contest in 1933.

The temperature on Neptune is estimated to be about 400 degrees below zero.

Flint-tipped arrowheads more than 30,000 years old have been uncovered by archaeologists.

There are on my desk various accounts of the National Child Health Day activities of many big organizations of the land interested in children. These organizations have long and important names and they do a tremendous amount of work to promote the welfare of our children. From the "White House Conference on Child Health and Protection," "The American Child Health Association" and "The Children's Bureau" these brochures have come pouring in.

But there is one that I do not see represented. It is silent, inarticulate, and unsung, a society with no name. Yet it is the greatest organization of them all, the one upon which the entire health and future of the country depends, and the health and happiness of today's children. It is the "Mothers of America." It does not make known their plans for May Day. Theirs is a year round task and one day is as good as another.

However silent they may be they are none the less interested. And many will devote this time to taking stock of their children, to stop and consider if home conditions are right for them, and to get new inspirations to carry on.

Many mothers consider food the main issue to health and accent that in building up strength and health. It is a grand idea, but there are other things to consider as well. Regularity of living, sanitation, plenty of sleep, prevention and treatment of sickness, sun, exercise and content of mind.

If it were possible to have all these things right in every home there would be no need of the great societies who are trying to further the interests of children. They could put up the "utters and go home. For after all they are merely trying to help. In the very best sense

HOTBEDS AND COLDFRAMES HELP START PLANTS AHEAD OF REGULAR SEASON.

Preparing the bed of a sash-covered coldframe for starting early plants.

This is the seventh of a series of articles on flowering gardening written especially for NEA Service and The Herald.

BY DR. WM. A. TAYLOR Chief, Bureau of Plant Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Hotbeds and coldframes are variations of a method by which gardeners can get the jump on the weather and bring some of the annual flowering plants into bloom two weeks or more ahead of plants seeded in the open.

The hotbed ordinarily is a device for heating the soil by the heat developed in the fermentation and decay of animal manures. The heat evolved in the manure warms the soil and a frame of wood and glass helps retain this heat so that the plants develop in temperatures considerably warmer than in open ground.

The coldframe is a device for catching the heat of the sun and retaining it to moderate the night-time temperatures within the frame. Either may be of any size. As a practical matter either should be six feet from front to back and some multiple of three feet in length, because standard method sashes are six feet long and three feet wide.

Water and Electric Heat A few gardeners have experimented with heating beds with coils attached to hot-water heating systems, and there has been some experimental work with electrical heating.

A permanent hotbed is a pit lined with timber or brickwork, facing south with the rear wall six inches higher than the front wall and a sloping glass top. How deep to make the pit depends on how much heat is required to counteract the expected coldness of the weather on the temperatures at which the plants thrive and on how early you plan to plant. From a foot to two feet or more of manure well tramped in is usual in the central and northern states, and less in the south.

Hotbed Plants Flowering plants for which hotbed culture has particular advantages are ageratum, China aster, callopsis, castor bean, calendula, cosmos, cockscomb, chrysanthemum, godetia, lobelia, marigolds, petunias, pinks or dianthus, scarlet sage, spider flower and verbena.

The advantages are real and important, but there are a good many tricks of hotbed management. There are a few general principles: Do not plant immediately after piling the manure and setting up the hotbed. Put a thermometer in the soil and wait until it registers a maximum heat and then declines for a few days. When it reaches 90 degrees, or less on the down grade, it is safe to plant. Seeds need not be planted so deep as outdoors. Firm the earth with a float before planting. Watch ventilation on warm days. Do not water the plants late in the day or the first thing in the morning. Open the sashes a little even on cool days, and leave them well open for several hours as the weather grows warmer.

Coldframes are often managed similarly, but with planting two or three weeks later for the same types of plants.

TOMORROW: Porch and window boxes.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF by Alicia Hart BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

PUTTING YOUR BEST FEET FORWARD

Spring may be in your heart, but if your feet aren't comfortable you just can't wear the smile you should.

Warm weather brings out the flowers and the birds, to be sure, but it brings havoc to feet that aren't fitted right and have not received good care.

Being good to your feet is a lot like casting your bread upon the water. It is yourself who benefits!

If your feet perspire, give them the benefit of salt baths, cold rinses and massage. Give them the following treatment:

1. Go barefooted whenever you can—on the sands, around your room, in the garden, if you really have courage.

2. Wiggle your toes whenever you think of it—sitting in the car, sitting, reading, working at your desk. This wiggling is exercise. Exercise stimulates circulation. It is bad circulation that has a lot to do with sweating.

3. Change your stockings every single day—a direction most of you won't need at all but one every woman should pin her faith to. (It's easier on your stockings as well as your feet to be washed after one wearing, even if it's only for an hour.)

4. Change your shoes every day. If you haven't two pairs that you can alternate for work, at least change your shoes the minute you get home in the evening, even if you only have bedroom slippers to put on. Take off your stockings and go barefooted evenings, if you can manage it at home. Parties are another thing again. This is for quiet home wear.

5. Give your feet some sunshine. Lamps are fine for those who never see the real article. Even giving your feet a Sunday bath of sunshine helps.

These are little things. But the littlest ache in your feet etches little lines in your face. For beauty's sake, as well as comfort's, give your feet the break.

Hints on How to Keep Well by World Famous Authority

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEN

The diamond back Texas rattlesnake may discharge from nine to forty times the venom necessary to cause death at one bite. Following a bite of this snake the patient suffers with shock and swelling.

In a consideration of the subject, Dr. M. L. Crimmins has recommended that after being bitten by a rattlesnake, a tourniquet be put on immediately to prevent circulation of the venom throughout the body, and that the tourniquet be kept on for four hours.

Mechanical suction is applied to get the venom out of the body, and the antivenine, which opposes snake venom, is injected all around the spot at which the bite occurred. It is believed that a large dose of the antivenine is necessary to counteract the snake bite. With prompt treatment, people who have been bitten may in this manner be saved.

It is, of course, necessary at the same time to take care of the shock by giving suitable remedies for stimulating the heart. It is sometimes necessary to give a blood transfusion or to inject large amounts of glucose into the veins.

The bite of the Indian cobra is particularly dangerous. When this snake strikes, the injection of its poison is followed by a tingling and numbness of the body, paralysis, loss of the ability of the blood to clot and the other symptoms that have been mentioned, including shock.

One of the most interesting phenomena is the effect that the snake venom has on the blood. Apparently it destroys the fibrinogen in the blood and thereby prevents clotting. Later the poison acts on the cells of the liver and interferes with the formation of this substance. Of course failure of the blood to clot may result in death.

It is important to realize that the earlier the treatment is given the greater the probability of saving life. People who live in regions where dangerous snakes are numerous should always have antivenine available. It should be remembered also that large doses of this substance injected directly around the snake bite are

Dixies and Burnside Play Here Tomorrow

Settle Greater Hartford Basketball Title At Rec Gym; Many Well Known Stars To Be In Action.

Although the curtain went down on the 1931-32 basketball season here several weeks ago, it will be run up again tomorrow evening for an encore. The Dixies of Hartford and All-Burnside quintets are to play for the championship of Greater Hartford in the Recreation Center gym.

Organizing late in the season these two quintets polished off all of the leading semi-pro teams in Hartford much to the surprise of everyone. Then they struck a snag in each other, each winning one game. The Dixies lost the first 44 to 48 and captured the second 34 to 18. Tomorrow night's battle decides the supremacy.

The Dixies were rated as the best team in Connecticut several years ago and have come out of retirement to polish off the stars of today, namely, St. Mary's and Kevin Barry. All-Burnside also defeated these two teams among others. The Dixies make up in smartness what they have lost in court speed.

The Dixies will present Tommy Murphy, Abe Silverman and Elmo Mantell as forwards. "Baby" Hurley and "Dutch" Leonard center, "Wardy" Waterman, Ted Torrant and Harold Ogden guards. "Fat" Hafner, the other old standby, has been definitely claimed by "Father Time." Hurley was star center at Fordham a year ago and now plays with the Brooklyn Visitation club in New York City.

The All-Burnside quintet will present Ed Thayer and "Bevo" Hurley forwards, Jim Cotter or "Moon" Ballard center and Bill Thayer, Hickey and Fagan guards. The Thayer brothers come close to being the most sensational basket tossers in Hartford. Ed Thayer is to this double-threat and the Burnside power becomes very dangerous.

Manchester Trade School baseball team played its first home game of the season with Glastonbury High school at Highland Park grounds, yesterday, and won by a score of 7 to 1 in seven innings. The game was rather close and interesting up to the fifth inning with the score standing 2 to 1 in favor of Manchester.

In that round the locals opened up on Gardella's offerings filling the sacks and scored twice on timely bingles by Adams and Selbek. Krul then replaced Gardella on the slab but fared little better. Glastonbury displayed a nice brand of ball on the field but could not use the willow in the pinches. Ross, making his debut as a moundman for the mechanics allowed only five hits. He shows promise. Captain Borello and Magnuson led the batting attack. Borello contributing a double and a brace of singles and Magnuson two out of three.

BAT STILL BANNED BY CINCY COMMISH

Petrolle Fight Up In Air As Result of Yesterday's Decision; Lewis Hopeful.

Chicago, April 26—(AP)—The proposed ten round return bout between Bat Battalino and Billy Petrolle at the Chicago Stadium May 20 was up in the air today because of the failure of the Cincinnati Boxing Commission to reinstate Battalino.

Until the ban is lifted, the former world featherweight champion will be unable to appear in the gates under control of the N. B. A. Nate Lewis, matchmaker for the stadium had hopes today Battalino would be restored to good standing at the next meeting of the Cincinnati commission but the commission, at its session yesterday, gave no indications when the impost will be lifted.

Big Dais "C" Alexander is one of the outstanding examples of declining servitude. A few days before the present season opened, the Ox seemed to have everything his own way. He had been playing first base for the Tigers for three years and hitting an average of .332. Then, on the eve of opening day, Detroit purchased young Harry Davis from Toronto.

Big Alex spent his 27th birthday sitting on the bench, waiting for his chance to go in there and pinch hit.

"Davis looks like a swell fielder," says the Ox. "And I'm satisfied, if he can do better around the base than can any other player, it hasn't proved that he can hit in his league. And it's a long summer."

The age-old bench philosophy is expressed in that last line. "It's a long summer." To have made a perfect statement, Alex had only to add, "And you never see an all-star."

The Yankees offer another case in point—Tony Lasserre. Throughout the training camp season the swabpinner practically dominated the Yankees' bench. He was the only regular, other than Joe Sewell, whose work at third during the latter part of the 1931 season, kept pace with the thunder of the Yankees' drive in the home stretch. The other is Earl Combs, center fielder of the old roving pennant-winning dynasty. Lynn Lary performs at third, and Earl's job has been taken care of, for the time being, by Sam Rice, a young man who is just beginning to find his baseball legs.

Couple of Managers In Chicago, two managers to whom the hurry-burly of baseball competition is life itself are sitting and waiting to see what their young men will turn out to be. The one, Rogers Hornsby of the Cubs, is giving Bill Herman, from the Association, a thorough tryout at second. Manassa, a young man who is suffering some of his younger men to perform while in the dugout. Jolley, Anderson and Watson have the home care of the outfield assignments where Lew would love to roam.

ALL-STAR AMATEUR CARD THIS EVENING

Boxing sport fans have literally stormed the ticket office of the C. D. K. club at Rockville for ringside seats to the all-star boxing card in that city tonight, when the pick of Massachusetts and Connecticut boxers are brought together in what of boxing experts state is the finest card ever assembled in the state and a capacity crowd have purchased tickets for the show.

Work has already started on the new outdoor boxing arena at Sandy Beach, Crystal Lake, that is being erected for the C. D. K. club and his contractors are agreed to complete the big bowl by May 24 for the opening outdoor show on that date. The new fight arena is to be 60x80 feet and will seat between 1,800 and 2,000 persons in addition to press and officials. Ticket office and seating rooms will be built under the structure which will be located in full view of the lake. There will be two entrances and six exits, with a modern system of flood lights. Season seat reservations are already being made by a number of boxing fans and the new arena promises to be even more popular than the indoor shows that hung up a state attendance record that will surely be smashed tonight as the card is by far the finest of the series the club has offered.

This Game of GOLF by O.B. KEELER

Dr. Alistair Mackenzie, still deeply engrossed with the great course he has designed and is building for the Augusta National Golf Club.

One of his best deals with Judge W. O. Henderson, a distinguished jurist who spends much of the winter in Augusta and plays golf.

He has twice played the Hill Course at the Augusta Country club in 85, this season," declared Dr. Mackenzie.

Par for the Hill Course is a stiff 72, and the course record is 69. It is regarded as one of the best layouts in America.

Other Candidates. Out in Southern California a year ago they were telling me of some chap who had done a 67 at the age of 64; it seems he also has a chance.

"I've one closer than that," Dr. Mackenzie said. "When I was in Australia some years ago there was a chap named Ross of the Royal Melbourne, a very stiff layout."

Stamford, April 26.—(AP)—Real estate and bank accounts of Mrs. Constance G. Towne, widow of the son of the founder of the Yale and Towne Mfg. Company were attached here today in an alienation suit.

Up The Scale. The most spectacular tale Dr. Mackenzie permitted himself, on the occasion of this last visit, was of a three-day battle at the excellent Doctor's own pet course, Cypress Point, on the Monterey Peninsula.

It seems Tommy Armour, Joe Kirkwood, Jack Neville and Roger Lapham played a series of matches there, the pros giving the amateurs a liberal allotment of strokes.

Towne was married twice, his first wife being Dorothy Ravin, daughter of a Russian immigrant, with whom he eloped at Toledo, Ohio in 1919 when he was 18 and she was 16.

RELIGIOUS DEBATE. Hartford, April 26.—(AP)—A three day debate by Episcopal clergy and laymen on current social and religious problems will open tonight with a discussion on church sanction of the remarriage of divorced persons.

Plans are complete for entertaining 500 persons from all parts of the country at the sessions, which form the annual congress of the denomination.

DIES FROM POISON. Danbury, April 26.—(AP)—Fredrick Goessle offered the wrong bottle when he gave his brother-in-law Ernest C. Marciocch a drink.

There are 100,000,000 sheep in Australia, statistics tell us. Maybe that's why insomnia is practically unknown there.

Poor Duncy sat and looked around. The horse was sprawled upon the ground and seemed to be quite satisfied to stay right where he was.

The Tinymites agreed that he was just as right as he could be. "We always are kind," Scoutly said. "That rest took me, no doubt."

SENSE AND NONSENSE

Dig In and Win!
My boy: Its a pretty good world, you'll find
If you look straight ahead and don't look behind.
The it shows sometimes,
And you think its flooded with woes sometimes,
Its a glad old world.
And a sad old world—
Or a bad old world—
When you make it so.
But just bear in mind, wherever you go,
That somewhere the grand old sun's aglow.
"Get up and git"
And a lot of grit
Are the things that label a man as "it."
There's a shadow here and a dark place there,
But you'll find the sunshine is everywhere
If you look for it. Cheer up! Elate!
Rub the word "Pessimist" off your slate
Meet the knocks with a grin,
But never give in.
And sooner or later, you're bound to win!

Force of Habit: And looking over the new spring and summer styles, we notice the optimistic designers of men's suits are still making them with pockets. . . . A tired business man said his favorite portion of scripture was the place where everyone loafs and fishes.

A little boy was walking in the garden when a neighbor called him and handed him over the fence a crisp cookie.
The Boy—Thank you, madam.
The Neighbor (delighted): How well brought up you are. I like to hear a little boy say "Thank you" to me.
The Boy—Then give me another cookie.

It is fortunate, that unlike some people's tongues, the radio can always be shut off. . . . We earnestly recommend as a starter that every third political job in the United States and this state be plowed under. . . . Many men are popular because they have got the knack of giving the kind of advice that conforms with the other fellow's own ideas. . . . Just because a girl spends most of her time in front of a mirror, is no reflection upon her. . . . "Don't give up the ship, boys," gasped the drowning Scotchman. . . . It is a wrong idea that when business is poor it is time to loaf. . . . Maybe germs were just suffocated in the old days when kids were sewed up in their underwear for the winter. . . . The success of every business rests finally on the integrity of the owners. . . . "It is necessary to increase taxes now and then," says a government expert. Perhaps so, but we would prefer less now and more then. . . . The old hen does not need a monument. She leaves an egg to mark the place where she laid. . . . Pretty Cashier—You might give me a few days off to recuperate. My looks are falling.

Cafe Manager—What makes you think so?
Pretty Cashier—The man are beginning to count their change.

Myra—Listen, big boy, I wouldn't marry you if you were the last man on earth!
Carl—Baby, if I were the last man on earth I wouldn't have to get married.

Egbert—Why do you call them clock stockings? I don't see any hands on 'em?
Judith—No, and there aren't supposed to be any hands on them either.

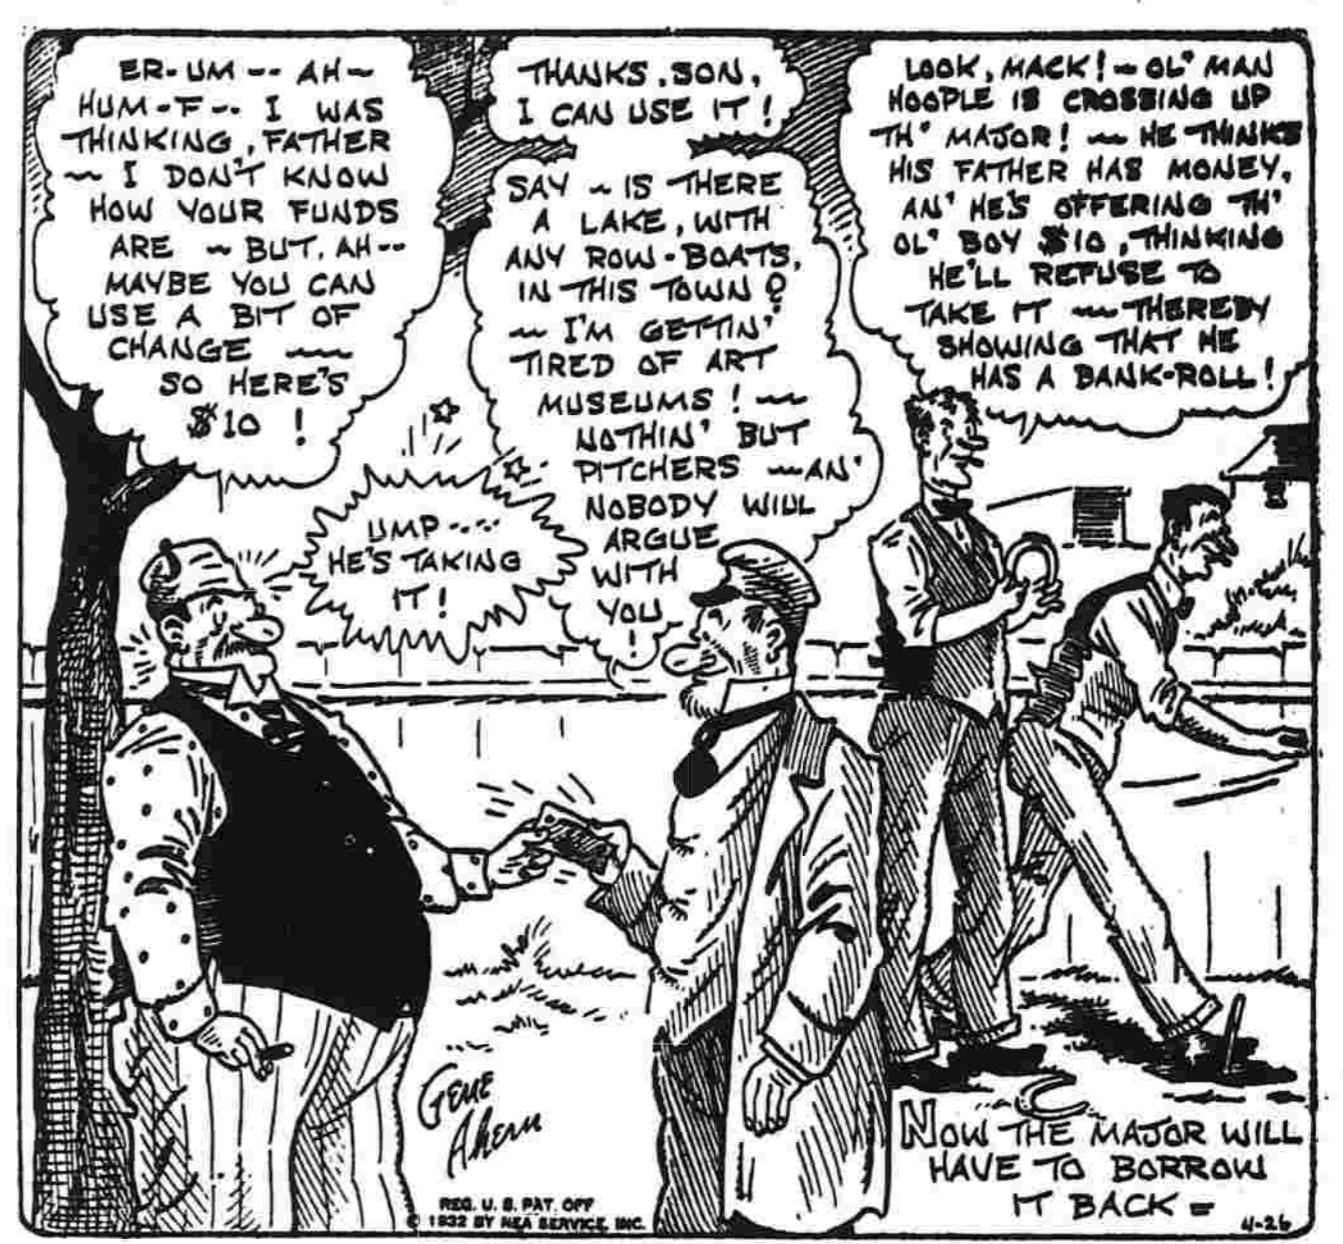

DID YOU KNOW THAT?
Ten years of excessive taxation have brought us to the brink of ruin, an economist says. And the politicians at Washington think 10 years more will bring us back!
Those advocating the veterans' bonus should remember that $2,000,000,000 is a lot of money. That's all the bankers and railroads got!

HUNDREDS WATCH ANNUAL REC SHOW

Dancing, Boys' Boxing, Gym Stunts, Calisthenics Provide Interesting Program.

A large audience last night watched the annual exhibition of the dancing, gymnastic and boxing classes of the Recreation Centers at the School Street Rec. More than four hundred persons were present. A feature of the program of twelve events was the promenade of its presentation. One event followed another in rapid succession. The exhibition was managed by the three instructors, Director Lewis Lloyd, Miss Gertrude E. Fenerty and Frank C. Busch. Members of the Recreation Center committee were present. The Recreation Center Junior Boys' Club orchestra furnished a concert for three quarters of an hour preceding the first event. The program included: 1, pyramid building and tumbling by the junior boys; 2, tap dance by junior girls; 3, boxing by first group of junior boys; 4, tap dance by intermediate girls; 5, boxing by second group of junior boys; 6, horizontal bar drill by senior men; 7, side horse stunts by senior men; 8, tap dance by advanced girls class; 9, parallel bars exhibition by senior men; 10, pyramid building by senior men; 11, gym drill by women's class; 12, dumbbell drill by senior men's class. Mrs. Dorothy Keeney and Hazel Driggs accompanied at the piano in some of the numbers.

The girls' tap, clog and folk dance exhibitions derived added effect from the pretty costumes the girls wore. Barbara Heas and Phyllis Dwire, dressed as white kittens with long tails, were conspicuous. Later in the evening they trotted across the floor with a handsome bouquet for Miss Fenerty, a gift from the girls' dancing class to their teacher. The dances were varied and instead of having the classes function as a unit, Miss Fenerty sent the dancers out in pairs.

The junior boxing class came out in several groups of ten each and the boys squared off for three brief rounds, five bouts being in progress at one time. The smallest and youngest of the groups were the most enthusiastic and there was one knockdown and one slightly bloody nose, but instructor Busch took care that no one was actually hurt.

The senior men, under the direction of Mr. Lloyd, took part in several numbers including exhibitions on the horizontal bar, side-horse, parallel bars, pyramid building and lastly, dumbbell drill. Their performance earned much applause. Many of the stunts attempted were difficult but none of the men reneged so there were a few unintended tumbles. The class showed real ability.

The program concluded with rhythmic exhibitions of gym and dumbbell drilling by the men's and women's senior classes, more than twenty participating. Directors Lloyd and Miss Fenerty were in charge and hard work was reflected in the clocklike precision of the various movements.

Following the athletics many viewed an exhibition of women's handiwork in the ladies room on the main floor. Many fine articles were on exhibition and they were studied intently by scores of persons following the conclusion of the main performance.

Junior boys who took part in the boxing bouts are: Peter Vendrillo, Tommy Wilkie, Willard Billings, Tommy Conran, John Turner, Langdon Judd, Randall Brown, Ray Chartier, Howard Mohr, Victor Tomm, Roger Cassanari, Donald Humphries, Fred Mohr, Pat Vendrillo, Gordon Gibson, Larry Metter, Bobby Hampson, Herman Schultz and George Berry.

The Mizpah group of the Wesleyan Circle will meet with Mrs. R. W. Wilson of 49 Arch street this evening at 7:30.

LEAGUE SEES FEE FOR LEVITT NEARLY RAISED

Taxpayers Group Told By Spies Recs Will Soon Be Closed - New Treasurer Urged.

Although $1,200 has been announced as the amount necessary to finance the prosecution of the case against the Manchester Electric Company for lower electric light rates, Sherwood G. Bowers, a member of the Board of Selectmen and a leading figure in the Taxpayers' League, said at a meeting of the organization last night at the High school that half of this amount had been raised and that it is expected that an additional $200 will be enough for attorney's fees.

Professor Albert Leavitt has been engaged as counsel for the League and the petition which he will present to the Public Utilities Commission was circulated at the meeting for signers. The paper charged "unreasonable discrimination" in the areas rate of large and small houses. Members were also asked to obtain electric light bills for the use of Professor Leavitt in presenting the case.

President Mathias Spies again brought up the question of the Recreation Centers closing. The Taxpayers' League made an unsuccessful attempt to close the East and West Side Recreation Centers as an economy measure at a recent meeting of the Ninth District. President Spies last night declared that the Recs will be closed soon, in spite of the result of the recent meeting, because no appropriation for their maintenance will be available from any source, now that school consolidation has been voted by the townspeople. Mr. Spies did not amplify this statement.

In presenting the petition for lower electric light rates, Selectman Bowers said that the Manchester Electric Company made a net profit of $138,000 last year, an amount larger than during any other year. The previous peak year, he said, was in 1929 when the net profit was $132,000. The electric company's profit must, he said, exceed a percentage of the fixed capital and, so, he asserted, the company had increased its fixed capital during the last year in preparation for the rate case. The fixed capital, he said, was increased $140,000, compared to an increase of $31,000 in the valuation of property for the Manchester grand list. The company will be asked to explain the difference, he said.

The nomination of officers for election at the next meeting was left to the executive committee. President Spies was elected.

GETS FINE POSITION AS RESULT OF GRATIS WORK

Miss Gihlin, Unpaid Worker In Schools, Is Engaged By New York State Hospital.

Miss Katherine M. Gihlin, daughter of Mrs. Frank Gihlin of 29 Cottage street and a graduate of Manchester High school and Arnold College at New Haven, received notice yesterday that she had been appointed supervisor of physical educational work at the Gowanda State Homeopathic Hospital in Helmhuth, N. Y., about 15 miles outside of Buffalo. She got the job by being willing to work gratis.

For the past three months Miss Gihlin has been serving without pay as assistant director of physical education in the Ninth District schools under Miss Blanche F. Feder for the purpose of gaining valuable experience and a recommendation, having asked to be allowed to serve as unpaid assistant when she could find no salaried position.

Miss Gihlin will assume her new duties next Monday. She will be in charge of an occupational therapy department of the hospital. She is an unusually good tennis player, having won the Manchester town championship in 1927, M. H. S. title.

CORN BORER HUNT IS ON IN THIS COUNTY

European corn borer inspectors moved Monday to the northern half of the state. They are now at work in Hartford, Windham, Tolland and Litchfield counties, M. P. Zappe, in charge of the clean up, announced today. The inspectors travel by automobile over every road in each town and they look for cornstalks left standing or used as mulch, corn stubble, and weed patches. Statute requires that such material be disposed of for control of the corn borer, which lives over the winter in cornstalks and nearby weeds.

Backyard gardens should be cleaned up along with corn fields, Mr. Zappe said. These small garden patches have been known to harbor more corn borers to the plant than large fields nearby.

SILK SHIPMENTS GOING BY EXPRESS

Perrett and Glenney Not Attempting to Operate Trucks During Strike.

Outgoing shipments of finished merchandise from C. Fisher Brothers to New York are being handled by the Railway Express Agency and will continue to be until the strike of truck drivers has been settled, it was learned today.

Reports were in circulation around the Cheney mills this morning that two Perrett and Glenney trucks with goods for the mills loaded by the firm were being held at the Perrett and Glenney offices.

All of our trucks are in the garage. It was said at the Perrett and Glenney offices. This informant added that a checkup would reveal that the Railway Express Agency was transporting the Cheney mill shipments to New York.

Main arteries of travel through Manchester, which ordinarily run under the wheels of cars and passing trucks en route to the roping centers during the early morning hours, have been devoid of truck traffic since the strike started.

The major part of the evidence dealt with a history of the wedged truck in her complaint and the fact that she was driving a truck when she was struck by the defendant's truck. The plaintiff, leaving the defendant's claim that no affection existed between herself and Wells, declared she enjoyed a "happy normal" married life and kept her love for the defendant until she was struck by the defendant's truck.

$5,000 IS AWARDED FOR HEART BALM

Mrs. Wells No. 1 Wins Suit; Mrs. Wells No. 2 Files an Appeal.

Bridgeport, April 25.—(AP)—Mrs. Zetta Wells moved today to get her $5,000 award for heart balm. Her suit against the defendant leaving Wells' apartment, garnished in a clothing store, and that there was a woman in the apartment clad in a nightgown.

Wells charged that his wife first deserted him eight years after their marriage when he was ill in the hospital.

He accused her of using a whip on him on two separate occasions and he said she had made demands on him for money and talked about taking other men.

SUSPECT IS MURDERED; HAD FORFEITED BONDS

Did Not Appear for Trial—His Bond Found Along the Highway.

Richmond, Ky., April 25.—(AP)—The body of Emil Barnett, who disappeared shortly before his scheduled trial in Federal Court here yesterday on a mail robbery charge, was found lying in the highway between Fishmond and Winchester today, bloodstained and a bullet wound above the heart.

Postal inspectors were summoned here to investigate, and Coroner William Jenkins called an inquest.

Barnett's bond of $10,000 was ordered forfeited, and a bench warrant was issued for his arrest by Federal Judge H. Church Ford after Barnett failed to appear for trial.

John McConville will proceed with the inquest.

The committee expects a large attendance from locals in this and other towns.

PRICES ON MARKET KEEP UP SPURT

Silver Quotations Reach Levels Not Attained in Last 15 Years.

New York, April 25.—(AP)—The Stock Market continued to operate on the silver standard today, with the price of silver on the London market rising to levels not attained in the last 15 years.

Although mining equities pointed sharply upward in early trading, they lost some of their buoyancy later, however, as nimble traders decided to take a few profits.

Grains at Chicago rallied, partly under the silver surge and partly because of the recently overcast condition resulting from the failure of a trading member firm and the suspension of trading for a day. Silver currency exhibited strength in foreign exchange transactions and the gold currency moved against the dollar and silver returned to parity.

BETTS IS NAMED FOR ELKS RULER

Manchester Man Nominated for Exalted Ruler of Rockville Lodge.

George L. Betts, of 323 Woodbridge street, well known local automobile dealer, was last night nominated for the office of Exalted Ruler of Rockville lodge of Elks.

There were no other nominations, virtually assuring Mr. Betts of election on May 14. One other Manchester man, James M. Curley, was also nominated.

The governor, reviewing the committee of New England governors held yesterday at Hartford, Conn., on the proposed railroad consolidation in New England said that unless a report was made within three weeks by the commission appointed yesterday to consider the matter, he would have to get someone else.

Governor Curley also explained today that the committee to the committee was Edmund L. Dolan, city treasurer of Boston, when Curley was mayor.

GREEK ROYALISTS HAIL KING GEORGE

Meeting in Paris Revives Reports That He May Return to the Throne.

Paris, April 25.—(AP)—Former King George II of Greece was hailed by Royalists as he passed through Paris today on route to London, but declined to comment on a published report that he was seriously considering an invitation to return to his throne.

Thirty Royalist leaders gathered at the station when their former monarch, who had just returned from a tour of India, departed on the noon express in the company of his secretaries and a valet.

The Royalists said their meeting in Paris was the purpose of organizing plans for a restoration should Monarchism gain a majority in the Greek elections May 16.

Royalists and former government officials, said Arturo Cosmatos, leader of the group, met and talked over the political situation and laid plans to form a government such as England now has.

"The Venizelos revolution was a fortunate event for Greece since it showed the nation it would be happy under a monarch. We are just like any other political party and are now laying our plans. Naturally, but naturally he also made no comment."

John Kargas, of Windsor, Locke was nominated for Exalted Ruler of Rockville lodge of Elks.

Paper hats will appear on fashionable beaches this summer. Schiaparelli showed them in her collection, designed with that crown and wide floppy brims made of crepe paper, strips, light orange was a favorite color.

You will do well to buy your hat at a North's. All the popular styles can be purchased there for a pair and two for $1.15.

ABDUCTION VICTIM PLEADS FOR MCGEE

Miss McElroy Asks Governor to Spare the Life of Gang Leader.

Jefferson City, Mo., April 25.—(AP)—Miss Mary McElroy pleaded with Governor George E. Hart today to spare the life of Walter H. McGehee, leader of the gang that kidnaped her for $30,000 ransom nearly two years ago.

Virtually all legal avenues of securing the girl had been closed to McGehee when the 26-year old daughter of H. F. McElroy, city manager of Kansas City, visited the governor—in behalf, she said, of both kidnaper and victim.

"In pleading for my own peace of mind, I am pleading for the peace of mind of the girl who has been in my home for nearly two years."

Miss McElroy previously had expressed sympathy for the man convicted on her testimony and had disclosed the thought of sending McGehee to his doom was a "nightmare" preying on her mind.

She said that her husband had spent 22 minutes in his private office, Governor said.

"I did not indicate to them what course I would take. He asked me had 'no idea' when he would act on Miss McElroy's plea.

SEEKS HIS DAUGHTER MISSING FOR MONTHS

New York Man Asks Police to Search in Pennsylvania's 'Haunted House.'

New York, April 25.—(AP)—Charles Nedman said today that he had requested Pennsylvania state police to search the Mechanics Grove (Pa.) "Haunted House" for possible traces of his daughter, Ruth, who disappeared seven months ago in Philadelphia.

Nedman said that he had asked police aid in the belief that his daughter, 16-year-old high school girl, might have been abducted to the home of Dr. H. E. Zimnery, where earlier this week police found the bones of a young woman thought to be Ruth Zimnery.

Police said that Mrs. Chelya Lawson, who lives at 51 Bennett avenue, said that his daughter left their home for classes at West Philadelphia High school at 7:30 on the morning of September 7, 1934.

"No one has seen her since. No one has heard from her," he said. "My wife has been ill in bed with worry, and on Ruth's birthday we had to restrain her from suicide. She weeps constantly."

DUST STORM KEEPS UP IN PART OF OKLAHOMA

Shows Fall in Other Parts of State—No Rain in Sight for Other Stricken Areas.

Oklahoma City, April 25.—(AP)—Visibility of only one-fourth mile was reported at scattered Oklahoma points today because of dust, but State Forecaster Harry Washington predicted clearing weather by night.

Eastern Oklahoma received showers, among the cities reported as struck visibility was Ardmore, Guthrie, Wewoka, Fredrick and Blackwell.

But nowhere in the dust belt proper—Southeastern Colorado, southwestern Kansas, the Oklahoma Panhandle and part of the Texas Panhandle—was there any considerable rainfall or hope for immediate moisture for parched lands.

Light dust, kicked up overnight by westerly winds, settled in Kansas today as weather forecasters predicted generally clearing weather by night.

The remainder of the week forecasters predicted generally clearing weather by night.

WALL ST. BRIEFS

New York, April 25.—Wood goods markets were generally slow last period immediately during the week. The market for lumber was quiet, with the New York Wood Top Exchange in its weekly summary of trade conditions. Men's wear market was active on full market, and most wearing parlors are reported sold up for May and June.

Postal inspectors were summoned here to investigate, and Coroner William Jenkins called an inquest.

Barnett's bond of $10,000 was ordered forfeited, and a bench warrant was issued for his arrest by Federal Judge H. Church Ford after Barnett failed to appear for trial.

John McConville will proceed with the inquest.

ABDUCTION VICTIM PLEADS FOR MCGEE

Miss McElroy Asks Governor to Spare the Life of Gang Leader.

Jefferson City, Mo., April 25.—(AP)—Miss Mary McElroy pleaded with Governor George E. Hart today to spare the life of Walter H. McGehee, leader of the gang that kidnaped her for $30,000 ransom nearly two years ago.

Virtually all legal avenues of securing the girl had been closed to McGehee when the 26-year old daughter of H. F. McElroy, city manager of Kansas City, visited the governor—in behalf, she said, of both kidnaper and victim.

"In pleading for my own peace of mind, I am pleading for the peace of mind of the girl who has been in my home for nearly two years."

Miss McElroy previously had expressed sympathy for the man convicted on her testimony and had disclosed the thought of sending McGehee to his doom was a "nightmare" preying on her mind.

She said that her husband had spent 22 minutes in his private office, Governor said.

"I did not indicate to them what course I would take. He asked me had 'no idea' when he would act on Miss McElroy's

AGREE TO KEEP UP NEWS VIA RADIO

Newspaper Publishers to Continue Service for Another Year on Bulletins.

New York, April 25.—(AP)—A recommendation that the present arrangements for supplying radio stations with news be continued for another year was adopted without opposition yesterday by the 48th annual meeting of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

In the course of the discussion which preceded the adoption of the report of the radio committee, several speakers warned the 800 editors and publishers present that the newspapers of the country were going to have to face the prospect of competition in news-gathering and news dissemination from radio.

The convention adopted the following recommendations of the radio committee:

1. That the public interest requires the continuation of the present radio bureaus to insure that news broadcast by radio is authentic and reliable.
2. That the press-radio bureaus be authorized to adopt such rules as are in their opinion essential to a better service.
3. That newspapers affiliated with radio stations be allowed a more flexible use of news service wire reports, provided that proper credit is given.
4. That individual publishers do everything possible to prevent the improper broadcast of news by their committees, even to dropping the programs of offenders from their columns.

Already in Field

Roy Howard, chairman of the Scripps-Howard newspapers, pointed out the fact that his newspaper had already entered the field of gathering news in competition with newspapers. He warned of the possibility of competition with a new medium "which has not a century of journalistic ethics behind it" and closed his remarks with the question: "How is the situation to be met?"

In the course of the discussion J. H. Knowland of the Oakland (Cal.) Tribune, and a director of the Associated Press, pointed out that the latter organization cannot and will not sell news to anyone except newspapers.

The radio report, which was presented by E. H. Harris, of the Richmond (Ind.) Fallstaffer, recommended that the National Broadcasting system be already agreed to a continuation of the present arrangements for broadcasting news.

The convention also has approved the reports of the committee on printing, of the committee on mechanical, of the mechanical department, traffic and open shop.

TO DISCONTINUE GREEN PARTIES FOR SEASON

No Card Session to Be Held in Community Club Tomorrow Evening.

The women's committee of the Manchester Green Community Club which has been conducting the weekly bridge and setback parties since early November, has decided to discontinue for the season. There will therefore be no card party at the school hall tomorrow evening. The Community at the Green always provides milk for children at the school who need it, and also nodates a generous sum for the annual Christmas party for the children, two projects for which school funds naturally are not available. This year it was voted to do a little liver oil to build up little ones who were victims of the depression. The sum of $40 was contributed toward the Christmas party, and more than double that was spent for milk and oil, and the entire amount was raised by the same committee. Mrs. Louis Custer, chairman; Mrs. Fred Trumble, Mrs. Howard Dowd, Mrs. Frank Finney and Mrs. Harry Von Deck.

These socials have been very popular and always well attended. The prizes have been worth playing for and the refreshments also were more than the price of admission, due to the generosity of the hostesses in the Green section, who donated cake after cake, during the whole season.

WOMEN'S CLUBS AGREE TO AID FHA WORK

Large Number Plan to Attend Meeting at Chamber of Commerce Tomorrow.

All women's clubs and organizations in Manchester have been contacted by Mrs. Mary Danaher, chairman of the women's division of the Federal Housing program, and all have agreed to send representatives to the meeting in the Chamber of Commerce at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon.

Representatives have expressed keen enthusiasm over the idea behind the Federal Housing program, and agree that the advantage to be had in home improvements are manifold.

At the meeting tomorrow Mrs. Ruth Welles of Hartford will speak, and movies showing how repairs to houses can be made through loans made possible by the FHA will be thrown onto a screen. A large attendance is assured.
