

MASSIE JURY OUT; PLEA BY DARROW

Jurors Resume Deliberations This Afternoon After Failing To Reach Accord; "Unwritten Law" Invoked.

Honolulu, April 28.—(AP)—A jury of 12 men of different racial origins, after four hours of deliberation had not reached a verdict today in the trial of Lt. Thomas H. Massie and three others charged with slaying Joseph Kahahawai for vengeance.

Judge Charles S. Davis ordered the jurors to retire for the night at 10 p. m. (8:30 a. m. S. T.) and to resume consideration of the evidence at 9 a. m. (2:30 p. m. E. S. T.). They received the case late yesterday afternoon.

Massie, an officer of the U. S. Navy; his mother-in-law Mrs. Granville Fortescue, society matron and Albert O. Jones and E. J. Lord, enlisted men, are charged with slaying a native who allegedly had confessed participation in a criminal attack on Mrs. Thalia Massie, wife of the officer.

The case went to the jury along with a somewhat complicated set of instructions from Judge Davis.

Court's Instructions The court rules the jury could find the defendants, with the exception of Massie, guilty of manslaughter, or not guilty. For Massie, Judge Davis said the jury might make any one of these findings, plus a possible verdict of not guilty by reason of insanity.

A separate verdict for each of the defendants was ordered. Judge Davis also ruled that evidence regarding the assault on the accused naval officer's wife could be considered only as it related Massie's mental state.

Relating to the defense contention Massie's mind went blank when he confronted the native with a pistol and heard him confess, Judge Davis instructed that if a plea of insanity had been introduced, the burden of proof was on the prosecution to show the naval officer sane.

Judge's Warning The jurist warned the 12 men that "no man may take the law into his own hands and the alleged act that the deceased ravished the wife of one of the defendants, cannot be considered."

Judge Davis said that if the jury decided Massie killed Kahahawai and was insane at the moment and had not planned the killing, then none of the defendants could be convicted unless the prosecution had proved a conspiracy to do things, the reasonable consequence of which would be Kahahawai's death.

Penalty for second degree murder, the charge upon which the four were brought to trial, is 20 years to life imprisonment. Manslaughter calls for a maximum penalty of ten years in prison.

Darrow's Plea An intense plea in support of the insanity defense of Lieut. Massie and in behalf of the unwritten law, made by Clarence Darrow, and a

GIGANTIC MERGERS IN STEEL RUMORED

Washington Newspaper States Billion Dollar Combine Is Under Way.

Cleveland, April 28.—(AP)—Prominent figures in the steel industry professed to be mystified today by reported negotiations for a billion-dollar merger involving five of the country's largest steel companies.

The negotiations were reported in the Washington Post as having been brought to the attention of the Department of Justice.

The Post said the merger was tentatively outlined by representatives of Cyrus S. Eaton of Cleveland, who defeated a proposed merger, two years ago, of Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company with the Bethlehem Steel Corporation.

Persons close to Eaton said last night, however, they knew nothing of any such plans. A similar statement was given by Henry G. Daiton, chairman of Sheet and Tube.

A merger, such as described by the Post, would create a steel concern with an ingot capacity of approximately 16,000,000 tons a year—second in size only to the United States Steel Corporation.

HANGAR, 10 PLANES, DESTROYED BY FIRE

Loss Estimated At Nearly $200,000—Two Persons Burned, One Seriously.

Roosevelt Field, L. I., N. Y., April 28.—(AP)—Fire destroyed one of seven hangars and the airplanes at this field today with a loss totaling $185,000. Two persons were burned, one seriously.

The hangar, formerly known as the John Hay Whitney hangar and later designated as Hangar "A," was consumed by flames in less than an hour after an explosion of undetermined cause at 9:10 a. m.

Carl Schneider, former German war pilot, was taken to a hospital at Mineola badly burned. He and John D. Egan, who also was burned, but not so badly, were the only persons in the hangar at the time of the explosion. Both are mechanics.

Fed By Gas The fire department from four nearby Long Island cities were of no avail against the flames fed by gas fumes from the burning planes. The hangars, supposedly fireproof with concrete walls, quickly crumbled.

Schneider was working at the time on the $50,000 amphibian plane owned by Whitney. It and another smaller plane owned by Whitney were destroyed. Also among the burned planes was one valued at $20,000 and owned by George Kent, Jr., of Jericho, N. Y.

The last fire at Roosevelt Field occurred slightly more than a year ago when flames, suspected of incendiary origin, swept through six hangars, destroying nine planes and causing damage estimated at $100,000.

Egan said he was pumping a landing gear on the Pegasus with his back toward the front of the plane. Schneider was in the cabin.

Egan heard a puff and looked around to see the front of the plane in flames.

Schneider came out of the cabin with his clothing afire, which he put out by rolling on the floor. Together they pulled two planes to safety.

ADVERTISING PAYS; HERE'S THE PROOF

Records For 17 Years of 120 Corporations Show Remarkable Results.

Schenectady, N. Y., April 28.—(AP)—Gilbert T. Hodges has facts and figures to prove that it pays to advertise even in times of economic distress.

Hodges is president of the Advertising Federation of America which has completed a study of the 17-year records of 120 corporations. Sixty of these corporations failed to maintain their advertising programs.

The other sixty corporations annually increased their advertising expenditures in spite of depression at an average rate of 16 per cent over the previous year.

Hodges first took up the cases of the 60 concerns which enlarged their advertising.

17 Year Period "Seventeen years ago many of these 60 companies were small. Today every one of them is numbered among the foremost business houses of America. They have multiplied their net assets to four times what they were 17 years ago.

"Last year their combined net profits were three times greater than in the comparatively good year of 1915. This dramatic testimony to the value of an unbroken advertising policy should bring confidence and inspiration to executives who want tangible proof that a courageous program, even in these difficult times, will pay.

Other Side "Now let us look at the other side of the picture—the dark side. Let us see what happened to the other sixty companies, the ones that pursued an erratic and uncharted course.

"When times were good they plunged heavily. When the going became difficult they tightened their purse strings.

MEYER OPPOSES SOLDIER BONUS; RAPS HOARDING

Head of Federal Reserve Board Believes Also That Banks Would Be Better Off Without State Control.

Washington, April 28.—(AP)—Eugene Meyer, governor of the Federal Reserve Board, told the House ways and means committee today that board had sufficient power under the law to increase the amount of currency and credit to meet business demands.

He voiced strenuous opposition to the Patman bill to inflate the currency by two billion dollars to pay the remainder outstanding on the soldiers' bonuses.

Meyer estimated a billion dollars were being hoarded and said the banking structure should be unified under one chartering, regulatory and supervisory power, eliminating state control.

BLOW TO BUSINESS Washington, April 28.—(AP)—Eugene Meyer, governor of the Federal Reserve Board, who believes "currency tinkering" would be a blow to business confidence, testified before the House ways and means committee again today in opposition to cashing the soldiers' bonus.

As yesterday, when Mrs. Ogden Mills came to hear her husband, the secretary of the Treasury, testify against the bonus, Meyer was present today to hear the head of the Reserve Board.

Representative McCormack (D. Mass.), asked Meyer about banking practices.

"I believe our banking structure should be unified under one chartering and regulatory and supervisory power," Meyer said.

"Would that eliminate state control?" asked McCormack.

"Yes."

Meyer recalled that in 1929, he told the House banking committee that "nothing could be more disastrous than a competition between state and National banking system based on a competition of laxity."

State's Rights "That is what has happened since," Meyer said.

"I am entirely in favor of maintaining states' rights to the extent that they can be maintained. But with the growth in financial and economic conditions you need flexibility of decentralization.

"This banking function is one of them. The use of checks today adds to this argument for federalization of banks.

"Speaking frankly, the bankers have not been much interested. They have favored maintenance of the dual system in order to play one against the other."

"Do you think the country could stand a reasonable inflation of the currency?" McCormack asked.

"I think currency is secondary to a credit expansion and that is now going on," Meyer said. "That is, the basis is being laid for an expansion of credit."

Meyer said currency "artificially inflated, would drive gold out of the country and offset the paper."

"Flood the country with undredebt currency and you tend to eliminate gold," he said.

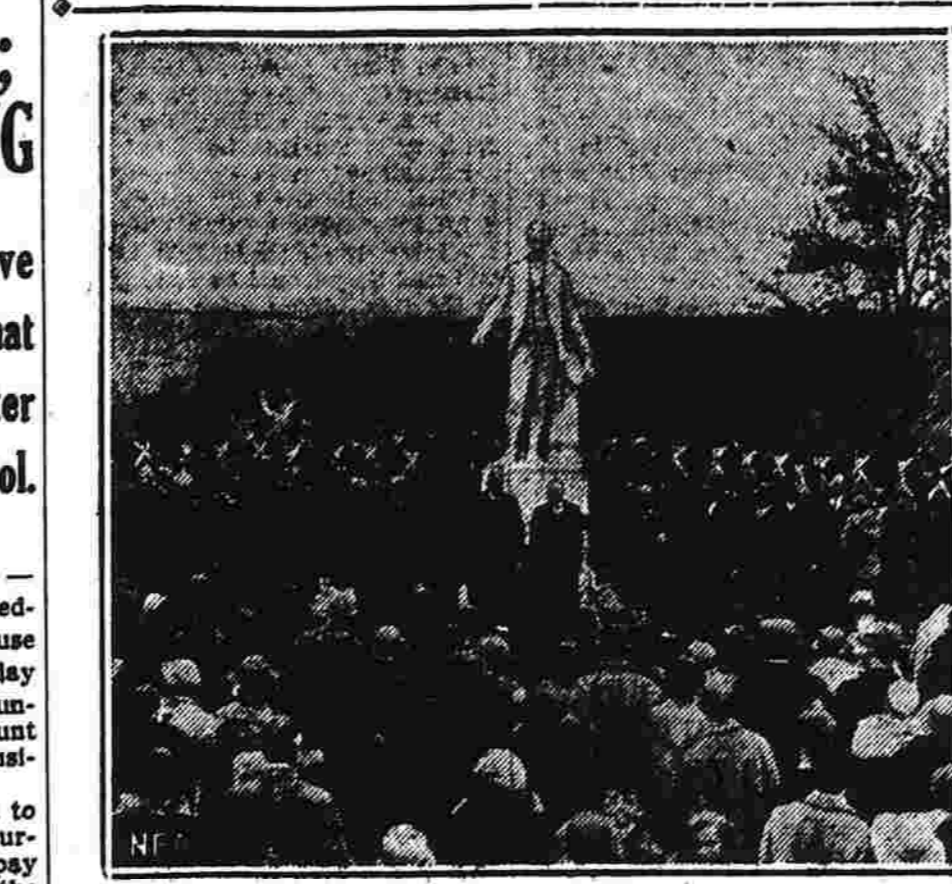

Meyer emphasized that the Federal Reserve Board is not a political body. (Continued on Page Two)

OLD GUARD, NEW GUARD, FIGHT IT OUT TONIGHT

Leaders of Both Factions Make Optimistic Statements Before Primaries; Much Interest Shown.

(By Associated Press) The New Guard and the Old Guard in the Democracy of Connecticut will come to grips in state-wide primaries tonight. The battle may predetermine if the state will be for Smith or for Roosevelt through its delegation of 16 to be sent to the National convention in June.

There is the possibility that final decision actually will rest in the state convention itself to be held in Hartford, May 16 and 17, as the faction leaders are wide apart in their forecasts of what the primaries will do.

It is many years since the Democracy has been brought to such a high pitch of interest in primary contests. Those Democrats who supported Governor F. D. Roosevelt for the presidential nomination began their work with outdoor rallies last September at Kent and Killingly. At the former Governor Roosevelt spoke with Governor W. L. Cross. The Old Guard standing solidly for former Governor Alfred E. Smith had to concentrate its work into the last few weeks after Smith himself had said by letter that he welcomed Connecticut's support.

New Guards' Claim The New Guard leaders today claimed the primaries would vindicate the selection of the convention. Archibald McNeil, Jr., specially said he expected to have a working majority in the gathering on all issues. This forecast control in a majority of Congressional district conventions which will make selection of ten district delegates to Chicago.

On the other hand Thomas J. Spelacy in a formal statement claimed control of the State convention for Smith by a working margin.

Archibald McNeil, Jr., National committeeman, said today: "The New Guard—Roosevelt forces—will control the coming state convention by a very substantial majority. In addition to Bridgeport, Norwalk, Stamford, Plainfield, New London, Willimantic and other cities there will be added to our forces almost unanimous support of the rural communities and we will outnumber the Old Guard forces that are concentrated in Waterbury, Meriden, New Haven and Hartford by more than two to one.

"In my opinion we will control the State convention."

IS FORCED TO WALK WHOLE NIGHT, DAY

Newark Takes Sleeping Potion and Had To Keep Awake To Live.

Newark, N. J., April 28.—(AP)—Howard Edwards, who swallowed a sleeping potion with the net result that he got no rest for 24 hours, cast a dirty look at a hollow-eyed orderly last night, and fell into a deep slumber.

"G'wan away, fellow," he said, just before his lids dropped. "I don't want to be called for a week."

If morpheus had caught up with him an hour sooner, it would have been the sleep that knows no waking—and that is why Edwards took the longest stroll a tired man ever took without getting anywhere.

It was Tuesday night when Edwards, a 30-year-old salesman, felt the need of something to induce repose. He took a dose of sleeping potion—in fact he miscalculated and by accident, took enough to put three men to sleep.

Mother Alarmed The stupor came on him so quickly that his mother became alarmed and he was removed to City hospital. Then his troubles began. Doctors said that if Edwards went to sleep of the cage toward the bank's vault his heart would succumb to the repressive action of the potion, and would cease to beat.

Two orderlies took him out into the street.

Seek Dozen Doctors In 5 Girls' Deaths

Oklahoma City, April 28.—(AP)—The disclosure that five girls have died here recently as the result of alleged criminal operations was made today by County Attorney Lewis R. Morris, investigating the deaths of two University of Oklahoma co-eds.

The co-eds, Mrs. Frank Lee, 17-year-old secret bride of a university athlete, and Virginia Lee Wyckoff, died here a few days ago.

Dr. Richard E. Thacker, physician and surgeon, charged with murder in the recent death of Miss Robbie Lou Thompson, 21-year-old telegraph company employe, has disappeared. Police throughout the country will be asked to search for him.

Another physician named by relatives of one of the dead co-eds, will be questioned.

HOOVER DELEGATES ARE ALL IN LINE

Has Enough To Renominate Him At Convention; Little Notice Taken of Fact.

Washington, April 28.—(AP)—Hardly noticed in the hurly attending developments in the Democratic race for the presidential nomination, President Hoover's list of delegates today had passed the number required for his renomination.

As certain as all that had been his selection as the choice of the Republican National convention six weeks hence, Kentucky's 25 votes did the trick when they were added yesterday to his previous pledged and claimed total of 575, which was just three less than required to nominate.

The status of Pennsylvania's Democratic delegation, chosen in Tuesday's primary, was still much in doubt and subject to counter-claims by supporters of both Franklin D. Roosevelt and Alfred E. Smith. There was no question that the Massachusetts trio to one vote against Roosevelt and to two votes for the group seeking to stop him, had and assured Smith of great influence in the Chicago convention.

Battle Line Shifts But without loss of time the battle line shifted.

TWO RAILROADERS SCALDED TO DEATH

One of Coaches Plunges From Tracks and Lands On House—Two Hurt.

South Bend, Ind., April 28.—(AP)—Engineer James Groves and Fireman Shubling, both of Battle Creek, Mich., were scalded to death and two other persons were injured when the 31st passenger train of the Grand Trunk railroad, en route from Montreal to Chicago, was derailed here today and one of its baggage cars plunged off a high elevation embankment on a house.

Apparently none of the train's passengers were injured and none of the coaches were overturned. Police and volunteer workers, however searched the ruins of the house for other possible victims. The two injured, neither seriously, were five-year-old Marshall Bradburn and his father, who were asleep in the house.

Boy Escapes Death The boy miraculously escaped death. He was in bed in the rear of the house while his parents slept in front. The heavy baggage car almost completely demolished the rear part and workers were compelled to fight their way through the wreckage to reach Marshall. Mrs. Bradburn was not injured.

The bodies of both the engineer and fireman were found in the cab of the locomotive. Both had been scalded to death by escaping steam. The cause of the derailment could not be immediately ascertained and railroad officials were investigating.

The train had slowed down in passing through the city and was nearing the Union station, where it was scheduled to stop, when the locomotive suddenly left the rails and turned over. The baggage car directly behind uncoupled and hung over the embankment at a precarious angle.

Hearings Start The proceeding was reopened March 3, 1930, after the Colonial Navigation Company, an independent, asked investigation of practices of the New Haven and its subsidiary. The Colonial complained restoration of passenger service by the company on its Providence line was illegal. That publication of "any classification" carried rates be tween Providence and New York defeated the Panama Canal Act; that rates of the New England Transportation Company, a truck line operated in connection with the steamship company, were illegal and also complained of the attitude of the New Haven toward the leasing by the Colonial of a steamer owned by the Baltimore Packet Company.

The commission found that the restoration of passenger service was legal, asserting that if the New England company were required to discontinue passenger service the Three Major Federations Submit Broad Program For Relief of Agriculture; Approve Thomas Bill To Regulate Domestic Prices and To Provide For Export of Surplus.

Washington, April 28.—(AP)—A broad program to relieve agriculture, containing the controversial equalization fee and export rebate plan, was put before the Senate agriculture committee today by three major farm organizations.

Chester Gray, of the American Farm Bureau Federation, submitted the plan on behalf of the Federation, the National Farmers Union and the National Grange.

The program also calls for an allotment plan to handle that portion of the crops needed for domestic consumption, as provided in the pending bill of Senator Thomas (D. Okla.).

This measure stipulates that the price the farmer receives for produce needed for domestic consumption shall be equal to the cost of production.

To Expert Crops The remainder of the crops would be withheld from the domestic market but could be exported for less than the price fixed for domestic sales.

The measure provides that the Farm Board may bar imports where the flow affects the domestic market sufficiently to hamper sales at the cost of production price.

Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, urged the plan presented on behalf of the three farm groups.

O'Neal also advocated the Frazer bill and urged passage of the move by Senator Capper (R., Kas.), for an investigation of wheat and cotton exports.

He endorsed the resolution of Chairman McNary to give the Farm Board $100,000,000 for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to finance foreign sales of its wheat and cotton.

AIR MAIL PILOT TO BE HONORED

Washington, April 28.—(AP)—The first air mail pilot's medal for heroism will go to Mal E. Freeburg, who flies between Chicago and St. Paul. The presentation will be by President Hoover at a date to be selected later. On April 12, 1931, shortly after leaving Minneapolis, a motor of Freeburg's tri-motored plane shook loose and tangled with the landing gear. Freeburg kept the plane aloft with the two remaining motors, flew to the Mississippi river and by maneuvering shook the third motor into the river and then landed with eight passengers and mail. Later, while flying the night mail between Minneapolis and Chicago, Freeburg discovered a railroad bridge on fire and having passed a passenger train only a few miles back turned his plane and went back. By circling low over the engine and signaling with his landing lights, Freeburg caused the engineer to stop the train. Among the passengers on the train that night was Bobby Jones, who just a few hours before had won the National open golf championship.

LINCOLN MEMORIAL FOR CHICAGO FAIR

Chicago, April 28.—(AP)—Ground was broken today for a group of buildings that will depict the life of Abraham Lincoln.

With brief ceremonies participated in by historians, Grand Army of the Republic officers and heads of the World's Fair, work was started on the group of reproductions which is expected to be completed by June 1.

The group will include reproductions of the log cabin at Hodgenville, Ky., in which Lincoln was born; the boyhood home in what is now Lincoln City, Ind.; the grocery store at Salem, Ill., in which Lincoln clerked; and the famous "Wigwam," the Chicago Convention Hall in which Lincoln was nominated for the presidency in 1860.

A carload of red clay is being brought from Hodgenville and logs from a cabin in Jersey City, Ill., so that the birthplace models on the fair grounds will be as near like the original as possible.

THURSDAY, APRIL 23.

ed a straight news article wired by its Washington bureau, giving the La Guardia charges in detail.

By this device the newspaper was able to cast a certain degree of doubt on all information emanating from Plummer and greatly softened the shock to Tribune readers, without in the very least departing from the paths of stern rectitude or perverting the news in the slightest degree. No doubt it worked very well. Many Herald Tribune readers surely read that story under the preconception that La Guardia's "facts" were probably a mess of lies or exaggerations that could be satisfactorily explained.

It is a psychological truth that if you can discredit the source of any piece of information you infallibly thereby cast a greater or less degree of doubt on the information itself, even though there may be abundant proof of its verity. To some extent, then, the La Guardia revelations lose in their effect because they originated with one of the rascals in the case.

Unfortunately it is very rarely that gang conspiracies can ever be exposed without the aid of some of the gangsters themselves. If the police did not employ the stool pigeon system, repulsive as it is, they would get nowhere in the performance of their duty. Such exposures as this made by La Guardia could hardly ever be made if some unpleasant agency were not employed. You don't stir up muck with a shining silver rake.

There is no possible question about the newspapers having been "used" in the promotion of the crazy bull market; that a good many of them were betrayed by their own financial writers and that some of those writers were guilty of what can only be described as bribe taking. The papers might as well face the facts, take the lesson of their experience to heart and resolve never to be caught that way again. It serves but little to attempt to mitigate the seriousness of their errors by belittling the importance of the revelations.

to accomplish these things we must have the intelligent support of the people themselves, that selfish vested interests and vested habits do not, by their organized sectional and group oppositions or individual action, defeat these high purposes.

While the President was reiterating these unbeatable truths in Richmond the wildly personal and political House of Representatives at Washington, madly inaugurated in its members' scramble for the favor of voters and special interests, was proceeding to smash the economy program to flinders and in a few hours stripped away more than a fourth of the all-too-meager savings contemplated by the Economy Committee's bill.

There has never been an occasion when the contrast between earnest purpose in the White House and utterly reckless political trucking on Capitol Hill was more strikingly brought out.

SMITH'S PLAN
 County Commissioner John O'Donnell of Philadelphia, a Roosevelt booster, asserts that "a bag of boodle" was spent in the Quaker City to carry the Democratic primaries for Smith. Then he makes a declaration that is interesting. "This is in face of the fact that Smith will never be a candidate at the Chicago convention," he said. "He will withdraw as soon as he thinks he has eliminated Roosevelt."

The Pennsylvania politician puts into blunt words a suspicion that has been all along entertained by a good many observers of the Democratic situation.

It is one of the most difficult of things to imagine Al Smith as actually seeking the nomination for himself, for it must be obvious to him as it is to everybody else that the Democrats are going to have no chance—the unicorns of the party's majority in the House of Representatives have spoiled that—and that he himself could not possibly be elected. And if he does not hope to be elected it is quite certain that he will not make any half hearted attempt to get the nomination. There are a good many excellent reasons for believing that Mr. O'Donnell is right and that Smith has no idea of allowing his name to be presented as a candidate.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington
 BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington.—The Republican administration seems to have abandoned the basing of its hopes for reelection on a possible sharp upturn in business. There is no such upturn on the immediate horizon, whereas the election campaign is not merely around the corner, but in plain sight.

The party must go back, in a large degree, to the political arguments which it used in the congressional campaigns of 1930, with such a conspicuous lack of success. It will do no good from now on to predict the return of prosperity unless there are visible signs of it, and most politicians doubt whether there will be any economic revival of sufficient size this year to exert any noticeable political effect.

Nevertheless, in seeing that sad fact rather clearly the party leaders are by no means resigning themselves to the worst. Digging in for a hard siege, they are noticeably more hopeful than they were at the first of the year when the tendency to look for economic rainbows was still strong.

One of the differences in their attitude is seen in the fact that you can no longer get any of them to admit that business recovery is essential to party victory.

It becomes clearer day by day that the party's strategy is something better to grab hold of the chief pro-Hoover argument will be something like this:

"Don't change firemen while the fire is at its height."

And the gentle voters will have it dinned into their ears night after night that the mess the country is in would be far more horrible had not the brave, wise, vigorous Hoover been on the job to avert complete catastrophe.

The good effects of various administration measures will be enormously exaggerated and full credit taken for many things with which it has had no connection whatever. The Republican orators will use every ounce of force for the argument that if the Democrats ever capture the White House the botchery will be complete. And there will be many direct or indirect attempts to link the Democrats with Red Russia. For that's the way politics goes.

UNCLE SAM'S AIDS TO FLOWER GARDENERS
 BY DR. WM. A. TAYLOR
 Chief, Bureau of Plant Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture

Gardeners can gain from two weeks to a month or more in the blooming season of some annuals, and can look forward to larger and better developed plants of others, if plants are started indoors considerably in advance of the normal planting season.

This is more important, of course, in the north, where the season is short, than in the south, but even in the south the more tender plants are less likely to be killed or stunted by frost if planted indoors and allowed to grow in flats, boxes, pots or cans until danger of chilly weather has passed.

A good south window enjoying almost full sunlight, or a box window facing south, is much to be preferred.

Sifting Soil Pays
 Soil for starting plants indoors should be prepared carefully. A mixture composed of about half garden loam and half fine sand is suitable for sifting the seeds. It pays to sift this soil through a rather fine sieve or through a piece of wire screening tacked to a frame.

To prevent sprouting of weed seeds, bake the soil for an hour or more in what the housewife knows as a slow oven with a temperature of from 200 to 250 degrees.

Soil from two to three inches deep in flat boxes or pans makes a satisfactory germination bed. Good drainage is essential, as too much moisture is likely to cause "damping off," a fungus disease.

Soil for Transplants
 For the earliest germination, soil need not have much organic matter. But if plants are started early in the season it usually is wise to transplant them to other soil as soon as the first few true leaves develop.

For transplants, a soil with considerable organic matter is desirable—sphagnum, finely granulated peat, or leaf mold rubbed through a sieve and mixed with fine garden loam. In boxes the plants may be spaced an inch to an inch and a half apart; if in pots, singly or in pairs with the expectation of pinching out the less thrifty of the two plants.

Some of the plants most commonly started indoors are: ageratum, China aster, calceolias, castor bean, calendula, cosmos, cockscomb, chrysanthemum, godetia, lobelia, marigold, petunia, grass pink, scarlet sage, spider flower, and verbena.

TOMORROW: Moisture for plant growth.

Overnight Simon Mayer was famous as a goose chef. From an election bet, he became a restaurateur. His name became associated so intimately with goose cookery that friends playfully referred to him as "Goose" Mayer. Which is how the name Gansesmay came into being.

HEALTH-DIET ADVICE
 By Dr. Frank McCoy
Why The Fast Way To Health?

THE THUMB-SUCKING HABIT

Sucking is one of the first reflex acts of the newborn infant. In fact, the young baby tries to test every thing within grabbing distance with his mouth, and promptly carries anything placed in his hands to the mouth at the first opportunity. Some psychologists state that grownups who are always chewing gum, sucking on cigar stubs or smoking cigarettes are merely indulging in the same type of sucking pleasure which the infant enjoys.

Young babies often form the habit of sucking various objects such as corners of blankets, clothing, pacifiers, or their thumbs. Every mother should keep a watch to see that her baby does not go to extremes with this habit. Babies are born without habits as they are without teeth. It is the mother's task to train the child in the best habits possible and to prevent such undesirable habits as thumb-sucking.

HARMFUL RESULTS
 Once the thumb-sucking stunt is really started it takes a long time to stop it. The habit of placing miscellaneous objects in the mouth is unsanitary, much dirt and filth may be carried into the baby's mouth where a direct entrance into the delicate stomach, nasal passage and throat may follow. The habit may grow until the child wants to suck the thumb continually. Persistent sucking may deform the shape of the mouth and jaws and push the teeth out of line until they protrude. For this bad effect to occur, the child must suck the thumb until the years of age or over; however, many children keep up the habit until they are eight or nine.

While an occasional sucking of the thumb is to be expected in a young baby, the same thing in an older child causes an unpleasant situation in the home for all concerned. Moreover, when an older child finds himself chained to a baby habit like this, he is made fun of by other children and is liable to become shy.

A common cause of thumb-sucking seems to be that the child is not getting all the food elements to completely satisfy him. Something is lacking in his diet and to still the craving he keeps sucking on anything handy, usually the thumb. When the baby starts sucking his thumb, the best thing to do is to examine his diet to see if he is getting enough to completely satisfy his appetite. The next thing to do is to spend enough time each day to pull the thumb out of the mouth. To keep the hand busy, and to distract his attention, gently clasp the little fingers around a toy such as a rattle.

SOME REMEDIES
 Where this does not accomplish your end, or where the habit is strongly formed, the best plan is to loosely wrap a piece of cardboard around the elbow so that the baby will not be able to bend his arm sufficiently to put the hand to the mouth. I do not find painting the baby's thumb with ill-tasting fluids very successful. Sometimes tying the whole hand up in a loose bag of cotton material so that the baby cannot get at the thumb will be successful.

With older children breaking this habit takes much time and patience. Do not nag, scold, spank, or ridicule the youngster, but try generous amounts of praise when he is not sucking his thumb. Encouragement from someone the child looks up to, such as a favorite teacher, may often do more good than any method the parents can employ.

IN NEW YORK
 Time and Chance
 New York, April 23.—Time plays fantastic tricks on many of Manhattan's aristocratic old mansions. They become elegantly appointed speakeries, beauty parlors, rare old book shops, curio stores and such.

Passing No. 9 East 55th Street the other evening, I noticed large "For Rent" and "For Sale" signs in the windows. A few doors down the street, a couple of Uncle Sam's trucks were backed to the curb while the raiders carried out fixtures and evidence.

Which is amusing if you remember that No. 9 was once the residence of Richard Canfield, "gentleman gambler."

His historic gaming house was in 44th Street. But Canfield, having grown rich, moved up "among the swells." Blue-blooded Knickerbocker folk gaped at this effort. One family moved. Canfield stayed and used his residence for his art collection and personal friends. James McNeill Whistler was a frequent caller.

Shadows
 At No. 11, where the rich banker Henry Redmon dwelt, there is a millinery shop, some specialty stores and a telegraph office. The old Michany home, later a cafe, figured in a visit from the revenue lady. And the Canfield residence, it was told, was occupied by an Oriental rug merchant a couple of years ago.

For a time, a Wall Street broker had entertained important clients there. The broker maintained an office in the St. Regis Hotel. He kept open house during those good old boom years. And then moved on.

The colorful old Canfield place was turned back to the spiders and the gathering dust.

The Goose Man
 A few of the picturesque old spots do manage to survive time and change, however. One such is Gansesmay's, a cafe dedicated to the preparation of the goose.

You'll find none of the Gansesmay's there, but a son-in-law, "Dad" Goldman, was still spryly when last I visited. "Dad" is fast slipping into his eighties, but like the others he will run the famous

I have heard that you can feed chickens something that, when eaten by a hawk, kills it but never hurts the chickens. For several months I have become sick every time I ate chicken, and I am afraid to get something that is poison to me."

Answer: I do not know of any

LA GUARDIA EXPOSURES
 When Representative La Guardia sprang his "surprise" testimony on the Senate Banking and Currency Committee on Tuesday and gave out a list of names of financial writers for newspapers who, he charged, had received bribes for "boosting" certain securities during the bull market and since, he put some of the biggest and most reputable of the newspapers on the defensive.

The New York Herald Tribune, at least one of whose financial writers was mentioned as among those who had been paid for their favorable comments on manipulated stocks, took a very ingenious way of discounting the La Guardia revelations. Directly under the heading of its first page story the Herald Tribune presented a "box" with the caption, "Plummer Indicted in Forgeries Here." The subject matter dealt with the fact that one Plummer, a publicity promoter whom La Guardia had named as his authority for the accusations against the financial reporters, had been arrested and indicted along with seven other men for first degree forgery in a conspiracy to circulate $5,000,000 in counterfeit stock certificates of General Motors and several other well known corporations. Having supplied its readers with that caveat, the Herald Tribune "went on with the story" and printed

While the President was reiterating these unbeatable truths in Richmond the wildly personal and political House of Representatives at Washington, madly inaugurated in its members' scramble for the favor of voters and special interests, was proceeding to smash the economy program to flinders and in a few hours stripped away more than a fourth of the all-too-meager savings contemplated by the Economy Committee's bill.

There has never been an occasion when the contrast between earnest purpose in the White House and utterly reckless political trucking on Capitol Hill was more strikingly brought out.

SMITH'S PLAN
 County Commissioner John O'Donnell of Philadelphia, a Roosevelt booster, asserts that "a bag of boodle" was spent in the Quaker City to carry the Democratic primaries for Smith. Then he makes a declaration that is interesting. "This is in face of the fact that Smith will never be a candidate at the Chicago convention," he said. "He will withdraw as soon as he thinks he has eliminated Roosevelt."

The Pennsylvania politician puts into blunt words a suspicion that has been all along entertained by a good many observers of the Democratic situation.

It is one of the most difficult of things to imagine Al Smith as actually seeking the nomination for himself, for it must be obvious to him as it is to everybody else that the Democrats are going to have no chance—the unicorns of the party's majority in the House of Representatives have spoiled that—and that he himself could not possibly be elected. And if he does not hope to be elected it is quite certain that he will not make any half hearted attempt to get the nomination. There are a good many excellent reasons for believing that Mr. O'Donnell is right and that Smith has no idea of allowing his name to be presented as a candidate.

Why The Fast Way To Health?

THE THUMB-SUCKING HABIT

Sucking is one of the first reflex acts of the newborn infant. In fact, the young baby tries to test every thing within grabbing distance with his mouth, and promptly carries anything placed in his hands to the mouth at the first opportunity. Some psychologists state that grownups who are always chewing gum, sucking on cigar stubs or smoking cigarettes are merely indulging in the same type of sucking pleasure which the infant enjoys.

Young babies often form the habit of sucking various objects such as corners of blankets, clothing, pacifiers, or their thumbs. Every mother should keep a watch to see that her baby does not go to extremes with this habit. Babies are born without habits as they are without teeth. It is the mother's task to train the child in the best habits possible and to prevent such undesirable habits as thumb-sucking.

HARMFUL RESULTS
 Once the thumb-sucking stunt is really started it takes a long time to stop it. The habit of placing miscellaneous objects in the mouth is unsanitary, much dirt and filth may be carried into the baby's mouth where a direct entrance into the delicate stomach, nasal passage and throat may follow. The habit may grow until the child wants to suck the thumb continually. Persistent sucking may deform the shape of the mouth and jaws and push the teeth out of line until they protrude. For this bad effect to occur, the child must suck the thumb until the years of age or over; however, many children keep up the habit until they are eight or nine.

While an occasional sucking of the thumb is to be expected in a young baby, the same thing in an older child causes an unpleasant situation in the home for all concerned. Moreover, when an older child finds himself chained to a baby habit like this, he is made fun of by other children and is liable to become shy.

A common cause of thumb-sucking seems to be that the child is not getting all the food elements to completely satisfy him. Something is lacking in his diet and to still the craving he keeps sucking on anything handy, usually the thumb. When the baby starts sucking his thumb, the best thing to do is to examine his diet to see if he is getting enough to completely satisfy his appetite. The next thing to do is to spend enough time each day to pull the thumb out of the mouth. To keep the hand busy, and to distract his attention, gently clasp the little fingers around a toy such as a rattle.

SOME REMEDIES
 Where this does not accomplish your end, or where the habit is strongly formed, the best plan is to loosely wrap a piece of cardboard around the elbow so that the baby will not be able to bend his arm sufficiently to put the hand to the mouth. I do not find painting the baby's thumb with ill-tasting fluids very successful. Sometimes tying the whole hand up in a loose bag of cotton material so that the baby cannot get at the thumb will be successful.

With older children breaking this habit takes much time and patience. Do not nag, scold, spank, or ridicule the youngster, but try generous amounts of praise when he is not sucking his thumb. Encouragement from someone the child looks up to, such as a favorite teacher, may often do more good than any method the parents can employ.

EVERY WOMAN

"A detached point of view is a wonderful thing. For it doesn't detach one from others. The less I'm wrapped up in my personal life, the closer I get to my brothers."

Send your clothes to the New Model Laundry. It saves hours of time and hours of labor and every bit of your washing is efficiently and beautifully done. Phone 8072.

Do not have a hot oven for simple milk puddings, as the milk will curdle.

Does your skin get dry? Then try Ra-Lo, an excellent powder base which you may purchase at Hale's Drug Department for $1.00 a bottle.

Baked Stuffed Carrots. 8 large carrots, parboiled in salted water. 3 mushrooms, chopped fine. 2 medium sized onions, chopped fine.

2 tablespoons butter. Salt, pepper. Fine toasted bread crumbs. Saute slightly the mushrooms and onion in butter. Add salt and pepper.

Remove centers of carrots with apple corer. Stuff carrots with fried mixture. Paint outside with melted butter and roll in fine crumbs. Place in pan and bake for 30 minutes in oven at 350 degrees.

Sometimes the little knocks in your car which are at first only slightly annoying, develop into real serious trouble. Drive to the Depot Square Garage and have your car "tuned up" and purchase any of the necessary accessories.

A little prepared mustard or Worcestershire sauce added to French dressing gives it a piquant and distinctive flavor.

OPEN FORUM DESCRIBES CONVENTION OF D. A. R. AT CAPITAL

Miss Alice F. Dexter Reports On Doings in Washington—Compliments Local Page.

To the Editor of The Herald: The forty-first Continental Congress of the Daughters of the Revolution in session in Washington, D. C., reports a total registration of voters and alternates as 3,591, an increase of 195 over the 1931 Congress.

Delegates are present from every state in the Union and from Chapters in China, Cuba, England, Hawaii, France, Italy, Alaska, and the Philippine Islands.

From the beginning and through the whole week there has been no controversy or unpleasant contests. Hearty good-will is manifested everywhere.

Mrs. Russell William Magna and her ticket was elected without any other contestants in the field. Orford Parish Chapter of Manchester is represented by seven members, one being a page, and to those at home who could not be here I wish to say that we had one of the prettiest, widest-awake and busiest of pages, namely Miss Laura House, of whom we are very proud.

We have listened to some of the finest, stirring addresses ever given at the Congresses.

The social time came in too. On Tuesday, Mrs. Hiram Bingham gave a tea and received the Connecticut Daughters at her home from 4 to 6, and Mrs. Magna, at the Willard, received all the Daughters from 3 to 6.

Then in the evening the reception given by the President General and her staff was held in Constitution hall. This was a Colonial one and the ladies mostly were dressed in old Colonial costumes with white wigs in all kinds of styles, making a most colorful picture.

During the various committees telling of the work through the year that the Daughters have accomplished. The debts on the buildings have been greatly reduced.

The most outstanding work is the Patriotic Education and the sixteen schools sponsored by the Daughters. Two girls from Tamasee, Tenn., spoke from the platform Thursday afternoon, telling how they had been helped to a better way of living by that school fostered by the D. A. R. This school is among the Mountain Whites.

One evening, Mrs. Hobart appeared in a gown made entirely from the ribbons from the bouquets of flowers the Daughters gave. Her North and South had given her during the three years of her administration, also the bouquet she carried. The flowers were made of the bits of ribbon left. The weather this week has been perfect and warm. The cherry blossoms were in all their glory when we arrived for the Congress.

It has been a strenuous week but a very enjoyable one. Respectfully, ALICE F. DEXTER, Washington, D. C., April 22, 1932.

DE MOLAY SPONSOR RESIGNS POSITION

William Walsh Withdraws As "Dad" of Chapter; Morgan Successor.

William Walsh of 110 Center street, "Dad" of John Mather Chapter, Order of DeMolay, since it was organized in 1928, announced his resignation last night at the first roll call banquet of the chapter at the Hotel Sheridan.

Mr. Walsh introduced Master Councillor Charles T. Morgan of 83 Laurel street as his successor as "Dad."

"Dad" Walsh was one of the prime movers in the organization of John Mather Chapter and ever since has been one of its most enthusiastic backers.

His advice and cooperation has been of great aid to the Chapter in its activities and it was with regret that his resignation was accepted. The Chapter pledged its whole-hearted support to "Dad" Morgan.

The roll call banquet was attended by nearly 100 past and present members of the chapter. Following a chicken pie dinner, Master Councillor William Davis introduced George Nelson, charter master councillor of the chapter, as toastmaster.

Mr. Nelson introduced Worshipful Master Peter Wind of Manchester Lodge of Masons, Past Masters Herman Montle and William Thornton and Ensign George Williams of the Salvation Army.

The principal speaker was Henry J. Fischbeck, chief metallurgist of the Pratt & Whitney Aircraft company of East Hartford, who gave a most interesting illustrated address on the value and importance of various kinds of metals, including a brief resume of the development of metals since pre-historic days.

He also spoke of the importance of metal in airplane construction and showed photographs of many famous planes.

At the close of the banquet, Chaplain Austin Johnson delivered the interpolation.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION. Hartford, April 28.—(AP)—A meeting of the committee of arrangements for the Democratic state convention here next month has been called by State Chairman Davis A. Wilson for next Monday.

The convention will be in Bushnell Memorial and arrangements must be made for places in which district and county conventions may be held, and places assigned for any other gatherings, such as a session of the new state committee to organize.

As Jouett Shouse of the National committee will only serve as keynote and temporary chairman, it will be necessary to suggest the name of a member of the party to be permanent chairman to be passed upon by a convention committee.

Former State Senator W. C. Fox may be proposed for the place.

HOMEMAkers TO MEET. Washington, April 28.—(AP)—William John Cooper, commissioner of education, has called a conference on homemaking education for New England to be held at the Massachusetts State college at Amherst on May 2 and 3.

RADIOS FOR AUTOISTS. Hartford, April 28.—(AP)—Radio sets may be installed in motor vehicles if owners desire, Robins B. Stoekel, commissioner of motor vehicles said today.

There is no law forbidding use of sets in an automobile.

The commissioner said that radio reception might divert the attention of operators, that it would be interesting to know whether anybody really believes the use of a radio has caused an accident, and if any one knows of such an accident from that cause he should not hesitate to give information about it.

NOT TO RETIRE. London, April 28.—(AP)—Sir Henri Deterding said today he has no intention of retiring as director-general of the Royal Dutch Petroleum Company for another twenty years.

His statement was in answer to a report current on the continent that he was leaving his post. It has been necessary for him to issue frequent denials of similar reports in the past few months. At one time he asserted a "whispering campaign" was being waged against him.

SOLDIER KILLS SELF

Portland, Me., April 28.—(AP)—Floyd Larson, 21, a private in the 5th U. S. Infantry, at Fort Preble, and a former resident of Bridgeport, Conn., died yesterday, a suicide because he was jilted by a Portland girl.

Larson, who was on guard duty Tuesday night, sent a bullet from his service pistol through his head a short time after he received a telephone call. He was found in a little wharf house when he failed to meet his companion on guard. He died some hours later in the post hospital at Fort Williams.

Army officers discovered a letter in his pocket in which his sweetheart broke off their engagement and said they believed the telephone call was made by the girl. They did not reveal her name.

GOVERNORS ON TOUR TO NATION'S SHRINE

Place Wreath on Tomb of First President - White House Banquet Tonight.

Fredericksburg, Va., April 28.—(AP)—Colonial Fredericksburg today lured the host of states executives' homeward bent after attending the governors' conference in Richmond this week.

A trip to three historic shrines and a return visit to President Hoover who addressed them yesterday will bring to a close the twenty-fourth conference which has been attended by a number of the nation's foremost political figures.

In keeping with their observance of the Washington bicentennial anniversary, the governors deemed it appropriate to pay a visit to the home of Mary Washington, mother of the First President, and later to place a wreath on her grave.

The old state office of another President, James Monroe, containing the desk on which was written the celebrated Monroe Doctrine, was another reason for the visit to Fredericksburg.

After a luncheon at Kenmore home of Colonel T. J. Lewis, gunmaker of the revolution, and his wife, Betty Washington Lewis, only sister of the First President, the governors this afternoon will continue by automobile to Mount Vernon.

To Visit Tomb of George Washington the governors will pause to listen to a tribute from Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania after which Governor Harvey Parrell of Arkansas will place a wreath on the grave.

There will be a brief stay at Mount Vernon where the governors will visit Gadsby's Tavern, meeting place of soldiers and diplomats in the Revolutionary days, before continuing on to Washington.

At 8 o'clock they will attend a formal dinner at the White House and will be greeted by President Hoover who yesterday in Richmond urged a redistribution of taxation and reduction in Federal, state and local expenditures.

Seated at the table will be the President, outstanding candidate for the Republican nomination, and Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, foremost among the Democratic contenders.

They met yesterday after the President's speech, and the New York governor congratulated the man whose job he hopes to take next March. "Very good speech, Mr. President," he said as he came forward to greet Mr. Hoover.

Last night, however, during a speech in which he said that "agriculture is of primary importance" in the nation's welfare, Governor Roosevelt asserted:

"What a pity that recent national leadership has neglected, recent national thought has so little heeded that precept."

At patrol corners we decided to go on a hike Thursday, May 4. Patrol I made plans as to how our next meeting is to be governed.

Mr. Agard, our new Field Director, and Mrs. French of our patrol committee, presented Mrs. French directed us in singing ballads, also Scout and National songs. She also accompanied us in the game "Good-night, Ladies" and in our good-night circle.

The last meeting was opened with the Girl Scout Promise and Laws. At patrol corners the treasurer checked up on attendance plus Helen Copeland passed signally. A hike to Camp Nellie Norton is planned for next Tuesday, meeting at the Hollister street school at 10 a. m. If rainy, it will be held the next day.

Scribe, Faith Gallant. Troop 6 The last meeting was opened with songs and closed with songs. Marion Hisey, Jeannette Brousseau, and Helen Adams passed the "History of the Flag." Other girls worked on compass with Captain Johnson. Some of the girls are going to Captain Johnson's home to finish the article that the troop is making for the exhibit at the State Convention at New London next week. Thursday some of the girls are going to Lieutenant Durkee's home for map-making and luncheon.

"In the economies which are being effected to meet the present situation, I trust that none will be carried so far as to disrupt the organization of the Girl Scouts." There has been for some time a constantly increasing necessity—just now there is a greatly accentuated necessity—for occupying to good purpose and in an effective way, the out of school time of our girls and young women. I do not know of any organization that makes better provision for this than Girl Scouts. Its organization can be used by any religious group and as a school man its results are excellent and far-reaching. Because of all this I always count it a privilege, when I am asked, to have even a small part in advancing the cause. Believe me at the service of the Girl Scout.

Over 100 attended the card party given by the Girl Scout Council and Officer Association at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon. Attractive little plants of Dahlias were given to the winner at each table, and the attendance prize was drawn by Mrs. Raymond St. Laurent. Sandwiches and coffee were served. The money will be used to carry on the work of our local camp, and those in charge greatly appreciate the support given them and the Girl Scout work.

The Junior Division went on a supper hike last Friday at 5:30. We built a fire and roasted frankfurts and marshmallows. Captain Davis showed us how to make roly-poly and we all agreed that Katherine Fogarty made the best. The girls passed their fire-lighting test. They had such a good time that they wanted another hike this week, but the regular meeting will be held at the Lincoln school, as usual. Scribe—Catherine Wilson.

THEATERS

AT THE STATE "Lady With a Fan" Constance Bennett in "Lady With a Fan" will conclude a two day engagement at the State today. Miss Bennett was never so radiantly beautiful, nor did she ever have a role more suited to her than in her current picture. Instead of the proud beauty, always sure of her every move, as is her usual role, she is seen as a shy young girl, unable to get man. Ben Lyon and David Manners are seen in the principal supporting roles.

Charles Gerard, the popular radio star, now appearing in person at the State, won the hearts of all who heard him Wednesday afternoon and evening. His singing of popular songs won instant approval, and his piano solos were a revelation. Mr. Gerard has but one arm and the manner in which he handles the piano is nothing short of marvelous. A large group of local radio amateurs appeared at both of yesterday's performances and they were all well received by the audience.

The new bill Friday and Saturday consists of James Cagney and Joan Blondell in "The Crowd Roars," and Joan Bennett and Spencer Tracy in "She Wanted a Millionaire."

"The Crowd Roars" is the greatest of all thrillers to reach the screen. It is a story that revolves around the most dangerous of all sports—automobile racing. It is a mile-a-minute drama, with autos plunging and thundering down the stretch, crashing through fences and over the wall, while the great crowd of spectators with a lust for action and blood, Cagney was never better, and Miss Blondell runs him a close second. If you are looking for thrills—do not dare miss "The Crowd Roars."

"She Wanted a Millionaire" presents Joan Bennett in the absorbing story of a girl who wore a price tag that her sweetheart couldn't afford—but that a millionaire paid—and it proved a tragic bargain.

FRANK WEBB TO HEAD FARMER-LABOR PARTY

Omaha, Neb., April 28.—(AP)—For the second straight campaign, Frank Eldridge Webb of San Francisco, will carry the presidential banner of the Farmer-Labor Party. His running mate this year will be Mayor Jacob S. Coxey of Massillon, Ohio. Webb headed the party ticket in 1928.

Webb was given the nomination last night by the party's convention. Others proposed for the nomination were Mayor Coxey; Thomas Mooney, labor leader, now serving a prison sentence in California on a bombing charge, and Harrop.

The convention adopted a national platform blaming the gold standard for present economic conditions and calling for the placing of the banking and currency system in the hands of the Federal, state and local governments instead of under private ownership.

A guaranteed profit to farmers, unemployment insurance, establishment of the Federal Farm Board and issuance of enough legal tender to pay the veterans' bonus in full were other favored points in the platform.

SEES BAD PRESS WORK AT GENEVA

Rev. Mr. Wadsworth Says Reports Do Not Reflect the Friendliness There.

HAPPENINGS IN GENEVA By Rev. Julian Wadsworth

Geneva, April 17—These have come so fast, this last week that they have been like the changes of an April day. One minute we have had a breath from the blue skies of Italy then a cold breeze from France reminding us of winter's reluctance in letting go its grip. Hopes and fears have chased each other as we have attended the various conferences. One must always know that behind the clouds in the sun still shining. The blue skies of our hopes are waiting the coming of the spring. Monumental Rome couldn't be built in a day, neither can this which is slowly building in Geneva and which is vastly greater than Rome and more far reaching in world influence, be achieved in a moment. It takes time for this world movement to arrive at its conclusion.

The opening of the conference Monday after the Easter vacation was marked with the usual gladness in getting back to work after a holiday. On every side were greetings showing that these statements from remote parts of the world had become acquainted and friendships had been made which in one definite gain from the time spent in the first stage of the conference.

Mr. Henderson opened briefly with a resume of the agreements made already in the general discussion of the whole subject of Disarmaments. It now remains to enter upon the second stage and discuss the kinds and number of arms which can be agreed upon for limitation.

Barring of Weapons Hugh Gibson was introduced as the first speaker. We were glad for the honor given to the United States in being asked to open the discussion. Closest attention was given to his very word in that crowded hall. With a simple, easy natural and typically American way he spoke, coming at once to the subject of immediate disarmament, striking at the very heart of the whole trouble, viz that of security, which has been so often stressed by France. He admitted that a fear of sudden attack is natural, but that if this fear can be removed by reason in making the attack a long step toward peace would have been gained. He then mentioned these weapons which are used only for making aggressive warfare and which might easily and at once be abolished by all nations who would have security. Heavy artillery for bombing, tanks, and poisonous gases were mentioned. He intimated that the United States would be willing to go farther and would discuss other armaments later. He made it seem natural and logical and direct that we should begin at least with these three very expensive arms. It seemed certain that only a nation that contemplated the use of any one of these weapons for aggressive attack would object to the proposition. The sky of our hopes was bright. The conference would certainly gain at least this much of disarmament.

I remembered those battered old relics of the war which I had brought in from the devastated fields near Chateau-Thierry and had placed in the court of the Methodist Memorial. A huge German cannon, two great trench mortars, parts of the Big Bertha which had thrown its bombs 70 miles on Paris. The city had offered to give me a mammoth tank which was still lying near by, but I would not give it room in my court and it was scrapped for old iron. How I rejoiced with the thought that at least these weapons would no more be manufactured for warfare if the Conference will only gain this much of disarmament. Many times I have said to visitors that those horrible relics would be only interesting in long future years, as standing a barbarous age in which such inhuman weapons were used for wholesale destruction of human life.

No "Smitty from Tardieu" Mr. Gibson finished his simple logical and eminently practical proposal from the government of the United States amid prolonged applause. On all sides hands were extended to him as he left the Tribune. I saw his meeting with M. Tardieu (France), whose seat is next to his at the Conference table. Apparently there was the utmost good feeling though the papers in France would have it believed that Mr. Tardieu was bitterly stricken and that Mr. Gibson was greatly offended because Mr. Gibson had not taken him into his confidence, though Mr. Gibson says that he knew exactly as much as did any of the other nations who he had to propose. Evidently by its directness and simplicity aimed at it was against the "Security" for which Mr. Tardieu had contended. In his suggestion for increased arms to be placed in the hands of the League of Nations, Mr. Tardieu was taken by surprise. His remark to Mr. Gibson in French, was—"Of all jokes this has been the jolkiest," which was repeated to me. Immediately Mr. Motta (president of the Swiss Republic), was on his feet to approve the American proposition.

I was glad that he spoke first. Though he speaks for one of the small states, no one speaks with a finer judgment. He said that while Switzerland had little to disarm, he was speaking not for Switzerland but for humanity. Sir John Simon was next to give the heartiest approval of his government to the American proposal saying that it would accomplish three important points—1. An important general disarmament would at once be secured.

cured. 2. It would be a substantial limitation on an expensive outlay on weapons of war. 3. One of the most potent causes of insecurity would be removed.

Mr. Nadolny (Germany), Grandi (Italy), Madariaga (Spain) and others followed. Nearly all with the exception of M. Tardieu (France) were in accord with Mr. Gibson's proposal. France would still support the proposition made at the opening of the Conference by Mr. Tardieu, giving to the League of Nations these very arms with still others as a powerful military force for its defense. Very few are following Tardieu's lead in this excepting Japan and Poland.

Question of Integrity Mr. Tardieu asserted the difficulty in holding a nation to its pledge not to use arms which are now abolished. M. Grandi replied that if we begin now to question the integrity of a nation in the keeping of its covenants, we might as well give up all thought of moral progress in international relations.

The coming of Mr. Simson, secretary of state from the United States is welcomed by a gracious editorial in the Journal de Geneve this morning, in which William Martin says that he is twice welcomed both for himself as well as his constant friendship for the League of Nations and as secretary of state for the United States. He does not speak of the coming into the League, but says "The League can wait. It is not in a hurry. If there is a feeling that any one will suffer from the present situation, he feels it will not be the League and will always be ready to welcome the American people when they will feel it to be to their advantage. They must at present, consider themselves as guests in the house which should have been their own."

Unfair Reports This Journal seems to be very fair in all its reports of Geneva's happenings, which cannot be said of all of the journals represented here. It almost takes my breath to read some things published in Paris or London the very next day after the happening. I have heard the speech and already have received the verbatim official report and it utterly fails to read even between the lines a fair report of what I have heard and seen.

I remember that there is an "editor's license" and that sometimes the "story" must be made even if the material is not just at hand. The same has happened once in Chateau-Thierry. We were not alarmed. I went to Paris that day and hardly looked out of the car windows at the flooded fields. Several weeks later we had letters and clippings in great alarm for our sufferings. One journal had it pictured with us in boats being rowed from the railroad station to different parts of Chateau-Thierry. One simply can't believe all that he reads in certain newspapers.

Can it be possible that "interests" connected with munitions have any interest in circulating stories that can hinder the success of this Conference which is trying hard to bring about that which is of greatest need in the world just now. Through all the mists of these April showers we know that the sunshine and blue skies are waiting us with the spring time.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Salmes, Mass.: Miss Alice Judge, 18, laughed so heartily at a screen comedy that it caused her death. A heart attack followed the laughter.

Towanda, Pa.: Congressman L. T. McPadden, Hoover critic, is pretty sure of re-election in November, no matter which way the country goes. Besides being renominated as a Republican, he also won the Democratic nomination.

Oakland, Calif.: A Sourdough has sentenced Robert J. Bell, Alaskan, who died at the age of 73, willed his $35,000 estate to Mrs. Mary Jane McNeil of Middleboro, Mass. She was his childhood sweetheart.

Los Angeles: A can of herring exploded, and Alan Kopelson wants damages. His suit asking $1,475 from a grocery store sets forth that while he was in the store to buy bread the herring exploded, the can cracking him in the head, "splattering him with shreds of herring from head to foot."

Muskogee, Okla.: Lucinda Pittman, an Indian, wanted an automobile in tints of orchid and wistaria to match some cloth she had. The motorcar company made it the way she wanted it (with a laugh up their sleeve) and now have found the color combination so attractive that they are making other cars in the same color scheme.

Scranton, Pa.: The remains were not those of Ivan Tiffany, after all. Right in the midst of the funeral he walked into the room. His wife fainted and the children screamed. He explained he hadn't burned to death in the barn, and that the bones in the coffin must have belonged to a sheep. After the fire he wandered in the woods, dazed, he said.

DEATHS LAST NIGHT Los Angeles—Benjamin B. Foster, wealthy Philadelphia cereal magnate. Chicago—Henry Spencer Robbins, 79, attorney for the Chicago Board of Trade. Williamsport, Pa.—Benjamin F. Hadley, 60, president and secretary of the Equitable Life Insurance Company of Iowa and donor of Hadley Flying Field to the government. St. Louis—William Kerr Kavanaugh, 72, leader in the Great Lakes-to-Gulf project. Los Angeles—Samuel D. MacDougal, 58, publisher, poet and movie actor.

ROCKVILLE

May Reduce Bonds.

Alderman Roger J. Murphy presided at the meeting of the City Council held in the Council Chamber, Memorial building on Tuesday evening in the absence of Mayor A. E. Waite. The matter of reducing the bond of the City Treasurer, Treasurer of Sinking Fund and Tax Collector was discussed at length, but nothing will be done and will be further discussed at the next meeting of the City Council. The city pays the premium on the bonds and it is thought by reducing the bond there will be a smaller premium to pay.

The lighting committee reported it had taken up the matter of the new gas and electric rates with the officials of the Rockville-Willimantic Lighting Company and that no report had been received as yet. At the last meeting of the council citizens in the section of White street petitioned for a hydrant and this was referred to the fire committee. The committee reported that at this time it would be unwise to place a hydrant there but the matter would be taken up at a later date.

Robert Tenstead was granted a permit to build a house on Center street. Permits were granted Steve Nagy to build a house on White street; First Evangelical Lutheran church to build veranda on parsonage on Ward street; Charles Underwood to repair veranda at house on Village street; William Feiber to build tool house on Crown street. Petitions referred to the Public Works committee were by Vincent Barrows who asked for permit to build house on Reed street and Stanley Bielecki to build chicken coop on Stone street.

Confer Master Mason Degree. More than 200 members of Fayette Lodge, A. F. & A. M., and lodges from surrounding towns were present at the meeting held in Masonic hall on Union street on Tuesday evening. The Masonic Club of the Travelers Insurance Company exemplified the Master Mason degree on a candidate, who is employed at the Travelers, but resides in Rockville.

The work of the Masonic Club was put on in a most creditable manner and was most impressive. The Temple Quartet of Hartford sang songs appropriate to the work. Many grand officers were present among whom were Most Worshipful Grand Master Mr. Raymond, of the State lodge, Past Grand Masters Howard Middletown of Broad Brook and Edward Fuller of Tolland. There were most eloquent speeches by the grand lodge officers.

Refreshments of strawberry short cake and coffee served by the committee in charge proved most appetizing and was enjoyed by the large number present. It was one of the largest attended Masonic meetings held here for many years.

County Y. M. C. A. Active Season. About 80 boys from the local Y. M. C. A. groups gathered in the social rooms of St. John's Episcopal church on Monday night for the annual banquet bringing to a close the indoor athletic season. The Tolland County Y. M. C. A. has been successful this year in winning a fair share of honors in the state contests. They won the State Inter-County Class A basketball championship and the State Inter-County swimming meet.

The principal interest of the boys centered around the closing of the basketball season. Two rounds have been played off in a junior city league in which eight teams have completed their schedule without one team missing or postponing a game. Mr. Tyler made special mention of the service of Warren Reynolds as scorekeeper and Francis Leonard as referee for these games throughout the season. Much of the fine spirit prevailed throughout the season has been due to the voluntary service of these two men. As a token of appreciation both were awarded Y. M. C. A. pins. The following members of the winning team were presented with gold basketballs: Anthony Phillips David Cor, Sam Fuhr, Frank Tuttle, Joe Roman, John Perzanowski and Louis Sadiak. The three high scorers of the season are John Perzanowski, Ellington, Norman Thompson of the Lindbergs and Raymond Pitney of St. John's.

Announcements were made in regard to the county track meet to be held at the fair grounds in this city on May 7th. There will be no entry fee and no individual awards but a banner will be presented to the club whose members win the largest number of points, and the winners of first and second prizes will form the team to represent Tolland County at the State meet to be held on May 14th. The classes and events are as follows: Intermediate Class: 100 yard dash, 8 lb. shot put, running broad jump, 440 yard relay, 220 yard dash, 880 yard run, running high jump. Cadet class, 90 lbs. and under: 50 yard dash, baseball throw, running broad jump, 220 yard relay, running high jump. Junior class, individuals 110 lbs. and under: 75 yard dash, baseball throw, running broad jump, 220 yard relay, running high jump. Senior class, unlimited weight and age: 100 yard dash, 220 yard dash, 440 yard dash, 880 yard run, one mile run, 12 lb. shot put, running broad jump, 880 yard relay.

Mr. Herman Runkis of Detroit writes: "A few lines of thanks from a rheumatism sufferer—my first bottle of Kruschen Salts took all the aches and swellings out of my joints with my first bottle I went on a diet and lost 22 pounds and now I feel like a new man." To lose fat SAFELY and quickly take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast. For your health's sake ask for and get Kruschen—the cost for a bottle that lasts 4 weeks is but a trifle at any drugstore in the world and if after the first bottle you are not joyfully satisfied with results—money back. WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rinari' to Go If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine. For there's a lot to it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, best taste and your breath is foul. Skin often breaks out in blotches. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned. It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Remedy a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

Burnsides Beat Dixies In Final Quarter, 30 to 24

Hurley and Ed Thayer Lead Team to Victory

About 100 Spectators Watch Hartford Quintets in Titular Battle; Briggs Stars For Losers.

Honor Stavnitsky

The Original Dixies found the All-Burnsides a bit too powerful and were defeated 30 to 24 in the Rec gym here last night in a contest which was advertised to settle the greater Hartford championship. It was a rough and tumble affair—one of those bitterly fought battles in which players made life miserable for a referee. Sher Bissell, Manchester young man, officiated and did a good job. The game was close until the last quarter when the Dixies were snowed under by an avalanche of baskets.

Bevo Hurley and Ed Thayer led the sharpshooting Burnsides quintet while Paul Briggs, former Rec Five center, was high scorer for the Dixies. Waterman and Mantell, two other members of the Rec Five, were limited to four and three points respectively.

A crowd of about 100 paid admissions watched the two teams in the preliminary of the Manchester High School All-Stars defeated the West Sides, 27 to 24. Kerr and Squatrito led the schoolboy attack with four baskets each. All members of the losing team figured in the scoring.

FINAL CALL FOR BALL PLAYERS

West Side League Applications Close Saturday; Four Teams To Play.

All ball players who intend to play in the West Side Baseball League this coming summer who have not submitted their names to the officials of the league, are requested to do so not later than Saturday.

Any application received after this date will receive little or no consideration. There is also a fifty cent fee due with the application. This fee is to be used for the sole purpose of buying balls and bats for the use of the players. It was definitely decided by the committee to limit the league to four teams and quite a number of applications have already been received but there is room for a few more. The following men are on the committee: John Falkowski, Fritz Wilkinson, Nick Angelo, Al Ford, Swick Gustafson, Earl Bissell, and Bert McConeky.

KEBERT-CONRAN TAKE FIRST HALF

Last night at Murphy's alleys, Tommy Conran and Charlie Kebert defeated Howard Murphy and Pete LaCarta by 44 pins for the first leg of a ten game home and home match. Murphy and LaCarta won but two of the five games last night. Kebert was the whole noise, going wild and hitting 688 for the five games and also having the high single with 143.

Tonight they will bowl the final game at Conran's alleys.

Yesterday's Stars

Bump Hadley, White Sox — Relieved Sam Jones in last of ninth and struck out last two Detroit batters with bases loaded.

Wes Ferrell, Indians — Held Browns to five hits and hung up his fourth straight win.

Pat Malone, Cubs — Gave up only one hit after wobbly first inning and hit a home run in beating Pirates 8 to 4.

OLYMPIC HOPES

JOE McCLUSKEY—keep the name in mind when it comes time for the athletes to parade to the post in the Olympic 3,000 meter steeplechase.

Joe is a slender young Connecticut Irishman—a fighting Irishman, in fact—transplanted to Fordham University in New York's Bronx. He is captain of the Fordham track team this year.

In the outdoor intercollegiate two-mile race a year ago, the Ram leader was shouldered by a rival and spilled in the chuders on the first turn. The pack raced by. Joe got up 50 yards behind and look after 'em. The roar of the crowd was in his ears when he finally breasted the tape winner in 9:17.8, record time. What he might have done without the spill is problematical; it is certain he would have been at least five seconds faster.

The Olympic record for the 3,000 meter steeplechase, set by Toivo A. Loukola of Finland in 1923, is 9 minutes 21 4-5 seconds. McCluskey has done 9:37 in competition. He made that time in the 1931 Penn Relays, chopping more than 20 seconds from the old record.

ACES REORGANIZE BASEBALL OUTFIT

Bronkie Again Named Manager With Carroll As Coach; Practice Sunday.

At a practice called Tuesday night to reorganize the old Ace A. C., one of the best younger semi-pro teams in town, there was a very good turnout. Most all of the old members and quite a few new men were present. This team is organizing with all local players and it is its intention to give the baseball fans of Manchester a good brand of baseball without going out of town to secure players.

Another practice will be held Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock at the West Side field. The following players and any new ones are requested to report: C. Dowd, Garrity, Fiske, Jolly, Klecha, Foley, Wiley, Hadden, Cole, Angelo, Varrick, Holland, Dahlquist, D. McConkey, E. Dowd, Wogman and McPherson. Bronkie was elected manager and Carroll coach at a meeting held after practice Tuesday night. A committee was appointed to plan a dance for Wednesday, May 11.

Hornsby's Cubs Lead In National League

Despite Temporary Absence of Cuyler, English and Grimes, Chicago Has Been Winning Consistently.

For a team shot with injury and illness the Chicago Cubs have managed thus far to get around surprisingly well in the National League.

They stood at the head of the class today, a half game ahead of the Boston Braves and they have made their upward surge despite the fact that three of their greatest stars, Hazen Cuyler, Elwood English and Burleigh Grimes have been out of the lineup.

Even with Grimes, world series hero, too ill to start in the opening weeks, the Cubs have received the steadiest pitching in the league. Eight of twelve pitchers have gone the route.

Lance Richbourg, obtained from Boston, has been filling Cuyler's outfield spot in fine style and Bill Jurgas has done so well as shortstop, English will have a hard time jarring him loose. Each knocked across two runs yesterday as the Hornsbyman rang up their fifth straight win at Pittsburgh's expense 8 to 4. As the Boston Braves were held indoors by cold weather the victory put the Cubs in front.

The one other National League tilt saw the Cincinnati Reds battling to keep away from their old basement berth, slug out a 6 to 4 win over the Cards.

The American League leadership also changed hands, the Yanks squeaking ahead by the process of remaining idle while the Detroit Tigers dropped a 4 to 3 decision to Chicago.

Wes Ferrell limited St. Louis to five hits in registering his fourth straight victory 7 to 1. Earl Averill led the Cleveland assault on Stewart with a home run and a double.

The cold wave that has curtailed held on at New York and Philadelphia. Walter Johnson, between snow flurries at New York predicted his Washington Senators would win the flag.

SNOWSTORM HALTS TRADE SCHOOL GAME

The baseball game between Manchester Trade and Stafford High School at Stafford yesterday was called off in the third inning owing to the heavy and continued snow flurries. Stafford was leading 4 to 2 at the time.

East Hampton to Play Gems Here on Sunday

Winners of Tri-County League Last Season To Stack Against Hartford Team Which Boasts Five Manchester Players.

Another good attraction is booked by the Savitt Gems for Sunday when they will meet the East Hampton Baseball Club here. East Hampton were the winners of the Tri-County league last season, defeating the strong Manchester Green team for first place in a ten-inning game at East Hampton, 1-0. Included in their lineup are several well known baseball stars.

Heading the list are the Bransfield brothers who hold down four positions on this team. Other players are Flynn, who is expected to pitch and Barber, who will do the back-stopping. He had a tryout with the New Haven team in the Eastern League.

The Gems displayed, last Sunday, a fine caliber of baseball in defeating the strong Holy Name club of Hartford, 9-5. The same team will take the field and will include again in its lineup five local players and others will be added in order to give Manchester a representative team.

Bill Savitt, owner of the Gems, has donated a valuable prize to be given away this Sunday to the winner of the lucky number shown on

YOUTH CONFESSES EIGHT HOLD-UPS

His Bride of Three Weeks Says She Helped Him in Six of Them.

New York, April 28.—(AP)—A young farm boy from Wisconsin and the dance-hall girl he married three weeks ago, just before both lost their jobs, were held in $25,000 bail each today by Magistrate Anthony F. Burje in West Side Court, charged with eight holdups.

The prisoners are Ward Summerfield, 24, whose father, Amos, is a farmer of Rio, near Milwaukee, Wis., and his bride, who was Elvira Davis, of New York. In court their attorney asked for an adjournment to May 2, which was granted. When a detective told the court that the couple had committed nine chain grocery store holdups, Summerfield interrupted to say: "He's mistaken, Your Honor. It was eight holdups and my wife had no connection with them."

"No, I'm equally to blame," his bride said, "I helped him with six of the robberies as soon as I knew how he was getting the money for our room and meals. I wasn't going to let him run that risk all alone. He would go in and I'd come and bolt the door behind him. I'm just as much to blame as he is."

They were arrested last night, when the clerk rushed into the street. Summerfield fled and was captured by police after he had run past his wife, whom police said he had persuaded to wait outside.

CLOSE TEACHERS HALL DURING SUMMER MONTHS

When Teachers Leave At End of Present School Year Only Few Residents Remain.

Teachers' Hall boarding house at 1180 Main street will be closed during the summer months of July and August.

Rumors that Teachers' Hall may not be re-opened in the fall were put to rest by Mr. Cheney who stated, "We do not anticipate closing the building permanently."

Cheney Brothers feel that it would be both more economical for the firm and convenient for the remaining residents of the hall if they transferred to Chestnut Lodge, another of Cheney Brothers' boarding houses located on Chestnut street.

There are at present about 40 persons living in Teachers' Hall, most of them teachers employed in Manchester public schools.

With the closing of school the only residents of the hall left will be Miss Ruth Watson, Miss Louise Williams, James G. Craig, Thomas W. Stowe, Sidney A. Brown, Thomas Hawley, Miss Ella Stanley and Ernest Lytle.
