

CROSS INVOLVED IN PARTY DISPUTE

Charges and Counter Charges Follow Spellacy's Story About National Committeeman McNeil.

Hartford, May 7.—A tangle of charges and counter charges becoming public late yesterday, concerning the status of Democratic National Committeeman and State Chairman Archibald McNeil, linking him with rum running accusations and involving Governor Cross, Thomas J. Spellacy of Hartford, Smith leader, and Mrs. Fannie Dixon Welch of Columbia, Roosevelt adherent, in questions of veracity, threw the affairs of the Democratic party in this state into a morass of confusion. Out of it, political observers are already predicting Governor Cross may emerge without the support of either faction in his ambition for re-election.

This crisis developed from the publication by Mr. Spellacy of what he declares to be facts transpiring at a luncheon which he and Governor Cross shared several weeks ago. According to the Hartford man's statement the Governor asked him if he had heard any rumors about Committeeman McNeil. The Governor then told him he had heard that McNeil had been dropped from the Bridgeport Police Commission because he had provided police protection for rum runners; that he, the Governor, had investigated and found the charges to be true in at least one instance, and that McNeil therefore should not be state chairman.

Cross Statement
Governor Cross, upon learning of the Spellacy statement, declared that the latter had done his party a "sorry service" and that Mr. Spellacy had revealed confidential conversation. The Governor declared that he had made no charges against McNeil and that what impudence he had expressed toward the Bridgeport press concerning an earlier political conference in Stamford, of which McNeil had been accused. The Governor did not categorically deny, however, that he had talked about the rum running charges.

In reply to this Mr. Spellacy has made second statement in which he flatly denies that he violated a confidence. He explicitly asked the governor, he says, whether the McNeil story was to be regarded as confidential and the Governor said "No." Cross, according to Spellacy, also repeated the same thing to David E. Fitzgerald and on a later occasion "heard me repeat his statement before at least twelve people in his office and did not deny the truth of it."

Told by Mrs. Welch
Mr. Spellacy in his second statement declared that Governor Cross told him he had received his first intimation of McNeil's alleged connection with rum running from Mrs. Welch.

Mr. McNeil has replied to Mr. Spellacy, saying: "Charges, rumors or intimations connecting me with

METHODISTS CUT RETIREMENT AGE

Bishops Now Must Quit On 70th Birthday Under New Rules.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 7.—(AP)—A reduction in the retirement age for bishops, approved by the episcopal committee of the Methodist Episcopal general conference provoked today a new wave of speculation on Episcopal transfers and left in doubt the generally expected assignment of Bishop Edwin H. Hughes of Chicago to Washington, D. C.

Under present Methodist discipline, bishops are retired at the general conference nearest their 70th birthdays. The new resolution makes retirement mandatory at the quadrennial nearest the bishop's 70th birthday.

The ruling, if accepted by the conference, is believed in authoritative quarters to be a serious obstacle to the appointment of Bishop Hughes to the Washington, D. C. episcopate, considered the most important in Methodism. It was pointed out that under the new ruling Bishop Hughes, now due for retirement in 1940, would have only four more years. It has been the custom of the conference to appoint men to the national post who have a number of years service ahead of them.

Flames Destroy Great Piers in New York

Behind these rolling clouds of smoke, raging flames were sweeping a $2,500,000 pier of the Cunard Line in New York when the picture was taken. More than 700 firemen, fifty pieces of land fire apparatus and a half-dozen fireboats fought to prevent the blaze from spreading to adjoining piers, and surgeons treated scores of persons affected by the smoke. The liner California was moved out into the Hudson river to escape the flames.

MRS. HOOVER ATTENDS NEW CANAAN WEDDING

First Lady To Remain In State Today — Bride Is Daughter of Former Associate of the President.

New Canaan, May 7.—(AP)—Mrs. Herbert Hoover came to New Canaan today to attend the wedding of Miss Marguerite Richard, daughter of a college friend and former business associate of the President, and Graham Hoyt, Yale art student.

The First Lady and her party arrived here by automobile from Elmira, N. Y., at 1:40 a. m. (E. D. T.) and spent the rest of the night at the home of Miss Richard's parents Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Rickard. She planned to remain here about twelve hours before returning to Washington.

Mrs. Hoover was expected in New Canaan late last night, but enroute from Elmira, where she was a guest yesterday at Elmira college, she decided to visit friends at West Point, New York.

The wedding was scheduled for 12:30 p. m., with Mrs. Reginald Dorsey Mohun of Stamford, her sister, as Miss Richard's only attendant and Sherman Hoyt, the bridegroom's brother, as best man.

The rift, first caused by the Massie assault case in September and the mistrial of the natives charged with the attack, spread steadily.

While the boycott movement still was beneath the surface, it was understood certain personnel at Pearl Harbor naval station had

300 FIREMEN HURT IN BIG PIER FIRE

Over Two Million Dollar Damage In Worst Blaze In Recent Years.

New York, May 7.—(AP)—The most stubborn fire in New York's recent history still burned today in the wreckage of a giant Cunard Line pier after doing more than $2,000,000 damage and causing the death of one man.

About 300 firemen suffered injuries from heat, smoke, fumes or minor mishaps. With all leaves cancelled and every fireman in the city on duty, exhausted fire fighters struggled in vain to quench the flames, which swept the great piers from underneath the concrete and steel structure.

The last section of the 1,000 foot pier collapsed last night, leaving only a hulking standing. The fire was apparently started in a boiler room underneath the pier about 7 a. m., yesterday and at first seemed easy to combat.

Choking clouds of smoke rolled over the Hudson river from the pier and alarm after alarm sounded. Apparatus from all over the island massed, while seven fireboats played streams on the structure.

Because the builders had striven to make the structure fireproof, the flames were hard to combat. Standing on scorching cement the firemen had to chop holes in the floor and descend into terrific heat to bring their hose lines into action on the pillars.

The liners California and De Graese were removed from piers nearby to save them from destruction. No liner was at the burning pier.

Chief John J. McElligott was among those who collapsed from smoke and exhaustion. His assistant, Thomas F. Dougherty announced this morning that the flames were under control.

The man killed was a bystander. A hose line broke, mangled and fractured his skull.

CURTIS TO START ON ANOTHER TRIP

Lindy Intermediary To Go Out To Sea To Continue Negotiations.

Norfolk, Va., May 7.—(AP)—Another week-end, the ninth since his negotiations were started, today found John Hughes Curtis prepared for still another cruise out to sea in an effort to bring about the return of the Lindbergh baby from kidnapers.

The yacht Marcon, left and returned yesterday on a trip through the Virginia capes, members of the party presumably followed their custom of remaining at the Navy base although Captain F. H. Lockmann, the skipper, came to Norfolk during the evening. The yacht was out at sea about four or five hours. The weather which has interfered with their work on other trips, was said to be good for sailing maneuvers yesterday.

Results of each cruise are kept closely guarded in secrecy by members of the party and by the other two intermediaries, Rear Admiral Guy H. Burrage, retired, and the Very Rev. H. Dobson-Peacock. The negotiators are believed to be pressing their work with renewed energy in the hope of completing their efforts in the next few days. Dean Dobson-Peacock admitted that a dead-line may have been set for the continuance of efforts to recover the child through negotiations, but stated that he did not know.

The Ledger-Dispatch said it learned that a final date had been set for Monday unless new developments come in the meanwhile.

PRESIDENT OF FRANCE SUCCUMBS TO WOUNDS

EXTEND CREDIT ON LIGHT BILLS THREE MONTHS

Electric Company Announces New Plan To Aid Needy; Must Make Application To Secure the Privilege.

Believing that conditions as they exist at the present time call for further service to the public, the Manchester Electric Company announced today that it will temporarily render electric service on credit to those of its domestic patrons who by reason of misfortune or temporary unemployment beyond their control are unable to meet their monthly bills. The offer of credit is restricted to the current bills rendered during June, July and August.

In a statement containing the announcement, Samuel Ferguson, president of the company, says: "The unemployment problem as affecting the ability of those out of work to pay for essential electric service has become so acute that the Manchester Electric Company proposes to try the very radical experiment of extending credit, to those who normally pay their bills regularly but are now temporarily unable to do so, for the June, July and August bills, until such time as they obtain employment again."

"The details of the plan are set out in a circular which is being sent out with the May bills. It is obvious that there are many complications, as it is essential that attention should be paid to all bills by our customers even if credit is extended; but on the other hand, the company wishes to do just as far as it can in justice to its other customers."

Must Apply
An application blank is being enclosed with each circular, giving all consumers an opportunity to take advantage of this offer. On receipt of the application blank, properly filled out, the company will send the applicant three credit certificates which will be accepted in lieu of payment of bills for the three month period, provided the consumer's past payment record has been good.

President Ferguson further states that "the action taken by the Company in issuing these credit certificates means that the Company

GENERAL CROWDER DIES IN CAPITAL

Originated Draft System For World War—Former Ambassador To Cuba.

Washington, May 7.—(AP)—Major General Enoch Crowder, former ambassador to Cuba, died today at Walter Reed hospital. He was 73 years old. A few weeks ago he became seriously ill in Cuba and was brought back to this country for treatment. He was taken to the hospital on a stretcher.

The cause of death was given as a general breakdown. He was considered one of the outstanding legal experts of the army and at one time served as judge advocate general.

Crowder originated the draft system under which 2,000,000 were drawn into the United States army in the World War.

Passes Away At Dawn, Victim of Assassin—Cabinet and Members of Family Present—Crowds Before Hospital All Through Night—Details of Tragedy Told By Witnesses—Messages of Sympathy Pour In From All Over the World—Body Now Lies In State In the Presidential Palace.

Paris, May 7.—(AP)—Paul Doumer, beloved venerable 75-year-old president of France, lay in state in the green room of the presidential palace today, the victim of an assassin's gun, while France, from end to end, was bowed in sadness.

After lingering throughout the night in a coma and delirium while a staff physician worked vainly, Doumer died at 4:37 a. m. just as dawn crept over the cold stone walls of Beaugrenier hospital, where he was taken after the shooting yesterday.

When the end came the entire French Cabinet was assembled in a room at the hospital next to that occupied by M. Doumer. At his bedside were his wife, his two daughters, Madame's Eymery and Fournier, and several physicians.

It was a pathetic death scene. M. Doumer lay on a simple bedstead in the huge room. Throughout the night the physicians worked over him. They gave him a number of blood transfusions and used oxygen to spur his heart.

For a time hope had been held for his recovery. Shortly before midnight, after oxygen had been used and a narcotic administered to soothe him, Dr. Louis Mourier, director of public health, said the president's condition was slightly improved.

At 12:45 a. m., however, Francois Pietri, minister of the budget, announced that the president was not doing as well as he had been. At 1:30 a. m. Premier Andre Tardieu arrived at the hospital and this was taken as an indication that M. Doumer's condition had taken a grave turn. A bulletin which the president issued a bulletin saying his condition was becoming more and more grave. "Cerebral symptoms are arising," the bulletin said, and the lesion at the base of the cranium is becoming more marked.

A short time later the procurator general, a number of police officers and Dr. Paul, official medical expert arrived at the hospital. This was considered by the waiting crowds to mean that the end was near.

A male nurse, leaving the room, said that some time before midnight M. Doumer had expressed astonishment at finding himself in a hospital bed and he was told:

"You have had an automobile accident."

At 3:45 a. m. Pierre Cathala, one of the Cabinet under-secretaries, announced that the president had lapsed into a coma and had suffered a period of delirium. His pulse had grown more feeble and his breathing was spasmodic. Hope was given up.

Cabinet Assembles
At 4:15 the Cabinet assembled in the room next to that in which M. Doumer lay. A few minutes later the president of the Senate and Chamber of Deputies arrived.

A few minutes before 4:37 a. m., Doumer came out of the coma and recognized his family. He made a pathetic effort to bid them farewell, but was unable to speak. A moment later he was dead.

The body was taken immediately to the Elysee Palace. It was placed in the green salon, where it was to lie in state and where the French people would have their last glimpse of the president. The white-bearded face of the man who was one of France's most democratic presidents and who rose from poverty, the son of a railway section boss, to become chief executive of the republic.

Tardieu Also Present
The first to leave the hospital was Mme. Doumer. She was supported by her two daughters and was wringing her hands in anguish. The members of the Cabinet were weeping openly.

NEWS PHOTOGRAPHER PROVES SELF A HERO

Paris, May 7.—(AP)—Louis Piston, gray-bearded dean of Paris news photographers, missed the picture of a lifetime yesterday, but he was being heaped with honor for it today.

The veteran cameraman, a personal friend of the late President Doumer, was right next to him when the assassin began shooting yesterday. He might have had a picture of the shooting itself, but instead he smashed the assassin with his camera and stunned the man, enabling others to overpower him.

Piston was on the job at the Elysee Palace today, taking pictures, but again and again he was interrupted by Cabinet ministers, high officials and others who stopped to congratulate him. President Doumer was a guest at Piston's wedding a number of years ago.

the emergency session would be postponed.

Albert Le Brun, president of the Senate was prominently mentioned as a possible successor to M. Doumer. He was suggested as a candidate for the presidency last year. He followed the usual custom of the Senate when Doumer was finally chosen president of the Republic. Taxicab chauffeurs driving about in the dawn this morning reverently doffed their caps when they learned of the president's death. Numerous newspapers went to press too early to carry accounts of the president's death. Printed editorials expressing an opinion that was heard frequently in popular discussions later. This opinion was that the time had come for France to be less liberal in opening her frontiers to "cranks" who come here to commit murders.

Men and women wept openly in the streets as the word passed around that the president had died. Various eye-witnesses of the shooting yesterday gave their accounts to press too early to carry accounts of the president's death. Printed editorials expressing an opinion that was heard frequently in popular discussions later. This opinion was that the time had come for France to be less liberal in opening her frontiers to "cranks" who come here to commit murders.

All the ministers were at the counters," said Phillip Giarardet, a writer, assisted by a number of beautiful women wearing the latest spring gowns. The tragedy fell like a bolt of lightning. President Doumer, exactly on time according to his habit, had hurriedly started the first salon when the series of shots rang out.

In Center of Crowd
"Dr. Gorgolov had shot the president right in the middle of the crowd, firing over and under the arms of the people who stood around him," said Gorgolov.

"The athletic Claude Farrere, noted author, tried to save the president and himself was struck by a bullet. The president had fallen to the floor, which was covered with blood."

"The assassin was captured and dragged outside. There was neither panic or tumult, only feminine shrieks."

"With tender precaution, as a soldier would be carried to a hospital, the president was taken away. M. Doumer, who gave four sons for France during the war, had sacrificed also his own blood. By a cruel fate he was struck down in the midst of the former soldiers, among whom, at least, he might have thought himself thoroughly safe."

Messages of sympathy from many governments, including one from President Hoover of the United States, poured in last night.

ELECTION TOMORROW

Paris, May 7.—(AP)—France will hold its run-off election to choose a new Parliament tomorrow in silence and in sorrow.

The death of President Paul Doumer has stirred all political differences, even though today was the eve of the critical second ballot of the general elections.

At the first word of the attack on the president—the political parties and the groups declared an unofficial truce. Meetings were abandoned and important speeches were merely handed in notes to the press. Today's papers contained little about the political campaign that has been waged in every department of France for weeks.

All French sentiment joined in detestation of the crime. The extreme Left, voiced by the Communist organ L'Humanite, called on the assassin's death.

Hunters Roamed Florida About 20,000 Years Ago

Winter Park, Fla., May 7.—(AP)—The finding of an arrow-head in the skull of a mammoth, an extinct elephant, dug up in Florida, was described today at Rollins college.

The arrow-head seemingly tells a story of great interest to scientists; a prehistoric human hunters roamed Florida about 20,000 years ago.

The skull and arrow were found near Flieger Beach a few months ago, not far below the surface, in a geological formation estimated as about 20,000 years old. Scientific studies seemingly verify the interpretation of its significance.

depth as bones of sabre-tooth tigers, dire-wolves and other extinct animals recently found in Florida by paleontologists.

The connection between arrow and mammoth is a guess based upon the position in which both lay. This guess is supported by other recent discoveries, particularly in the far west showing that man, mammoth and giant sloths all may have lived together in America long ago.

Scientists are fairly well agreed that either man inhabited America 20,000 years and more ago, or that in this country the prehistoric beasts survived until nearly modern times.

Father Hubbard to Study History of Early Indians

Seward, Alaska, May 7.—(AP)—the Aleutians, the three men, Father Hubbard, Kenneth Chisholm and Jack Norton, landed on one of the Unga islands and visited the scene of battles between the Aleutian and Kodiak Indians several hundred years ago.

The three successfully climbed a high, rocky promontory, which Father Hubbard said had served as a refuge for the Unga natives from the attacks of their enemies. It was possible to defend the position indefinitely, Anderson quoted him, describing it as a veritable Gibraltar.

The spot offered such historic possibilities, Father Hubbard decided to return later and make excavations.

PRESIDENT OF FRANCE DIES FROM INJURIES

that the French government was responsible for "protection" of White Russians in Paris, where there is a large colony of them.

Socialists' Opinion
"For our part," wrote Leon Blum, head of the important socialist party in his newspaper Populaire, "we French women in every degree of declarations of a madman to stir up public opinion against the White Russians in Paris, whose military organizations enjoy so strange a tolerance. For it is once more a question of one of those madmen without a straightjacket whose menace prowls around the heads of all states and surprises even police precautions."

What effect the assassination will have on the results of the second ballot tomorrow no one will know until the returns come in. Out of 615 seats in the Chamber, 361 are still to be filled. Yet in his death Paul Doumer may have done more to still party differences in a time of world crisis than he was able to do in his life.

Doumer's simple and unassuming ways endeared him to Frenchmen and French women in every degree. In the last Cabinet crisis, when Premier Tardieu succeeded Pierre Laval, he sought to secure for France a stable government which would end the moderate forces.

The nation will give him its highest honors. There will be a funeral in the Cathedral of Notre Dame to which the cortege will proceed from the Elysee Palace.

Flags already are at half staff, public buildings are draped in mourning, and all civil and military officials have been ordered to wear mourning for a month. Today and on Thursday the state theaters will be closed.

In the room of the palace where the president lay in state today a stream of dignitaries brought messages of the world's sympathy.

Premier Andre Tardieu issued a message to the people assuring that "with all calm and dignity we render to the chief of state the only homage he would have wished."

AMERICAN WITNESSES

Paris, May 7.—(AP)—Marjorie Hurley, of Cincinnati, O., and Nelson Gurter, of (13 Division street) Providence, R. I., students at the Sorbonne, told the Associated Press today of witnessing the assassination of President Doumer.

"We were standing on the platform where Claude Ferrere presided over a section of the veterans' book exhibit," said Miss Hurley, "but when the president approached we were asked to retire.

"We were moving away, our eyes on him. There were only two persons between us and the assassin when he raised his pistol and fired.

"We saw M. Doumer crumpled up at the first shot. At the second he fell to the floor. It was horrible to see him lying there helpless while the crowd overpowered the assassin. We stayed until the president was carried out."

Miss Hurley attended Villa Madonna college at Covington, Ky. Mr. Gurter was a student at Columbia University, New York.

CLERGYMEN ADVOCATE PROBE OF COAL MINES

New York, May 7.—(AP)—Four clergymen, representing a committee of 21 New York pastors who recently appealed to the United States senate to investigate conditions in the coal regions of southeastern Kentucky, returned today from a visit to the mining area where they confirmed their belief that a Senatorial investigation should be made.

The committee will submit a report to the 21 clergymen next Friday at a meeting in the Town Hall Club.

The clergymen who visited Bell County, Kentucky, were Rankin Barnes, executive secretary of the department of Christian social service of the Protestant-Episcopal Church; Reinhold Niebuhr, professor at the Union Theological Seminary; Cameron Hall, pastor of the Christ Presbyterian Church, and William E. Spofford, editor of the Witness, an Episcopal weekly.

"After our visit to Bell county we are still of the opinion that a Senatorial investigation should be made," members of the committee said upon its return.

"We are convinced that there have been widespread violations of civil liberties and that no adequate steps have been taken to bring the perpetrators thereof to justice.

"We are convinced that the Costigan-Cutting resolution providing for a Senatorial investigation should be passed and that such investigation would render an immeasurable service in restoring civil rights and preventing the abuse of official power."

ORGANIZE HOSPITAL CAMPAIGN MONDAY

Nearly 200 Workers Will Get Their Instructions At Dinner At The Temple.

The personnel of the organization that will have charge of the annual Memorial Hospital campaign. This year was nearly completed today, consisting of nearly 200 workers. The drive for $20,000 will open officially Monday evening with a dinner at the Masonic Temple at 6:15 o'clock.

During the dinner instructions will be given to the workers. After the dinner, each worker will select the names of not more than twenty persons to be canvassed from an alphabetically arranged list of 3,000 prospective contributors. Each worker will be provided with a card signed by General Chairman Jay E. Rand and Secretary E. J. McCabe, identifying him as an accredited solicitor.

OPENING STOCKS

New York, May 7.—(AP)—The Stock Market encountered profit taking on its abrupt rise of the previous session in the early dealings today.

Losses of a point or so appeared during the first half hour in such issues as American Telephone, American Can, Allied Chemical, Coca Cola, Eastman and Lehman Corporation, while Auburn sagged about 2. U. S. Steel Common lost a fraction, and a 1-point rise in Steel Preferred was partly lost. Trading was in light volume.

Washington continued to hold the center of market interest. Financial interests who were greatly encouraged by the action of the Senate yesterday in setting forth a completed revenue bill for study on the floor, and by the action of the House in scrapping the cash bonus bill, found further encouragement today. In particular, they appeared pleased with advice that the President's call for speed in balancing the budget had gained wide public support.

Some commentators also argued that for technical reasons a better market performance might be in order. They pointed to the sweeping drop in valuation of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange during April to support their argument. This valuation declined $4,191,000,000 to the lowest figure—$20,319,000,000—recorded since the exchange began its compilations on January 1, 1925.

The movement of international capital toward Europe, which had been arrested for a time yesterday, was again in evidence in early foreign exchange transactions today. Sterling cables were quoted at $3.67 1/4, up 1-8 cent, while French francs moved to 3.94 7-8 cents, up 3-16 point.

According to a survey by the municipal council of Paris, the city is valued at $2,320,000,000.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Esau Sells His Birthright

Text: Gen. 25:37-34.
The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for May 8.

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of The Congregationalist

In discussing a lesson like today's one must read of the psychology and environment of an ancient day. It is necessary to take into account the immense importance of the eldest son in a society founded upon the law of primogeniture, or the inheritance or continuance of a family line in the first born, such as we are for the most part unfamiliar with in this country.

In our American tradition the wise and sensible parent seeks to treat his children without favoritism and with equal consideration and kindness.

Jacob had the misfortune of being a younger son—a great misfortune to a man with an intense ambition to be first, fostered in this case and given a criminal direction of lying and deception by the favoritism of his mother.

On the other hand, Esau, who had the heritage and privileges of the eldest son, like many another who has been born favorably, set little value upon his place of preferment and responsibility. Probably he disregarded the preference because it did not involve responsibility, as is, almost invariably, the case under conditions where the eldest son inherits the family prestige and fortune.

Esau was easy-going; not altogether lazy, for he was a hunter, but he liked to pursue his own paths and fulfill his own desires without regard to any sense of duty.

The mere fact that he was hungry and that he wanted something to eat would hardly seem an adequate motive for selling his birthright, but this detail has little to do with the main import of the story.

The important thing is that Esau set a light value upon his birthright, and Jacob succeeded in betraying him out of it and receiving his father's blessing.

All around us in life today we see the two sorts of young men. One is the easy-going, likeable Esau and Jacob—the easy-going, likeable

OUR BIRTHRIGHT

BY GEORGE HENRY DOLE

International Sunday School Lesson Text, May 8th.
"Every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things."—1 Cor. 8:25.

What is your birthright? Have you sold it?
Esau came in from the field famished. He pleads with Jacob, "Feed me, I pray thee." Jacob replies, "Sell me this day thy birthright." Esau reasons, I am at the point of death. What profit to me is my birthright? So he sells it to Jacob. Pathetic the story! We repeat Jacob's perfidy. What means the story to us?
The birth right was the larger part of the paternal property, to be the head of the family or tribe, the supreme authority, to receive the first honors.

Each one of us has the Esau within, and has his birthright, though incomparably surpassing it in worth; for the Lord is our heavenly Father, and everyone of us is heir to the priceless riches in the character of Jesus, if we do not sell it out.

Tormenting difficulties arise; floods of despair come in unto the soul; God's love does not seem to satisfy when trials and temptations rend the heart. The lusts of the flesh, the glory of the material, the gratifications of the self seem to be the only things that can give life. Because the natural in us so cries out for its satisfaction, the Lord's life in us becomes faint. It arrives at the point of death. Then the Esau in us exclaims, "What profit is this birthright to me! The Lord seems far away. I do not see His loving providence, nor feel the promised joy and peace. I will sell my birthright to gratify the burning desires, which once I resolved to reject. I will sell my birthright for the Hebrew reads, 'pottage of lentils,' which means 'pottage.' Ah, the raging, devouring hunger of the self, the natural man! You know it. You read it many times on the first page of every newspaper.

But Esau, divinely led, sold out not to abandonment, but to Jacob.

ALCOBN FOR GOVERNOR

Connecticut has experimented recently with a dilettante governor, an amiable gentleman who, having completed his life work as a schoolmaster, took up political life as a novel diversion and the mingling with politicians as an amusing experience, much as a retired book-keeper might take up the study of bugs. Dean Cross has had a lot of fun out of his governor job. The boys who threw the stones at the frogs got a lot of fun out of that, too; but tradition has it that it was not so funny for the frogs.

This state cannot afford, particularly at a time like the present, to serve as sort of spiritual golf course upon which amiable amateurs may develop either their knowledge or their liabilities. This is a stern epoch and there is a need of stern, strong men in high places. Connecticut is no different in the face of this need, from any and every other state. She cannot risk her fate in the hands of comedians, nice-nellies, weaklings or political pinfish. She cannot even risk it to amused and amusing ex-professors.

Connecticut, this year, must pick of her best to fill the deeply responsible position of governor—and pick the best of the lot.

The next Legislature is substantially certain, in any conceivable event, to be Republican in political complexion. If we are to get anywhere and not experience again the bickering and cross-purposes that marked the last session, the governor, too, should be a Republican.

Not any Republican whatever, quite regardless, will fill the bill. His Republicanism, indeed, though an essential, is not the prime essential. He must be a strong and an honorable and a masterful man. He must be high above any taint of intrigue. He should be, by strong preference, as little of a politician by practice and as potent a politician by capacity as can be found among those measuring up to these lofty standards.

The Herald sees, among a great field of worthy and able Connecticut citizens, one commanding figure brought into high light by the record of his achievements and by the background of the state's impending needs. And it herewith proposes to the Republican party of Connecticut the name of Hugh M. Alcorn, state's attorney of Hartford county, as the party's candidate for governor next fall.

IN A PERFECT WORLD

Scientists tell us that if the big fish did not eat up the little ones the sea, within an ascertainable length of time, would become so filled with fish that ships could not sail and, no doubt, the level of the waters would be raised so that much of what is now dry land would be ocean bottom. That would be, for a while, mighty comforting to the little fish but not so good for us—and perhaps eventually the fish, little and big, would be out of luck too, even if somehow they learned to sustain themselves without the cannibalism. They might squeeze each other into anchovy paste.

As nearly as we can make out from perusal of some of the dry literature that comes to this desk, the Demon Rum is either directly or indirectly responsible for all the ills that human flesh is heir to. If there were no liquor there would be no murders, there would be no fatal accidents, there would be no starved children, no predisposition to tuberculosis, no inherited bad hearts, no cirrhosis of the liver, no diabetes, no cancer, no pneumonia, no Bright's, no fall fever, no corns, bunions or ingrown nails—not, at all events, after a few generations of freedom from the damnable poison of alcohol.

That would be nice. And yet would it? If all the children born—and it is reasonable to suppose that there would be more of them—were to grow up and live along indefinitely, say to the age of ninety at least; if there were to be no more disease and no more killings and no more neurosis and consequently no more automobile accidents and no more forgetfulness and so no more railroad accidents—the question is whether the time wouldn't arrive when we were more or less in the same boat with the fish after the reform of their cannibal traits.

Some day we propose to write to the editor of one of these little dry publications and ask him to explain these matters to us. We should like to know what to expect to happen to the human race in a perfect world. Because the world is sure to be perfect as soon as the last drop of booze is banished.

A VETERAN GOES

Something irreplaceable has gone out of Connecticut journalism with the passing of Norris Galpin Osborn, for almost half a century a constant commentator on, and for longer than that a deep student of, events and affairs in this land and, particularly, in this state. Colonel Osborn was a true son of Connecticut. In his person and in his writings he reflected that profound sense of responsibility characteristic of his generation and of his descent. His scholarship was wide and his convictions deep, and he well knew how to bring the one to the support of the other. Profoundly sympathetic with the underprivileged human he was an earnest advocate of prison reform; a convinced hater of the spoils system in politics he labored long in the cause of civil service reform. Given to the diligent pursuit of those purposes in which he most profoundly believed he was never at a loss to present them in new shadings and from new angles. Never was there an editor who took his work more seriously, none who commanded more respectful attention. He spent his whole life in New Haven but his field of observation was as wide as the world. It was a good life, well lived. The scholarly note he contributed to Connecticut newspaper opinion will be missed—it will not be precisely sounded again.

MASSIE "PARDON"

The touted intention of the four Massie case defendants to seek a full pardon at this time turns out to have no existence. That should help to mollify somewhat the indignation of the people of Honolulu over Governor Judd's unseemly haste in commuting to one hour their ten year sentences for the murder of an assailant of Mrs. Thalia Massie.

These people have been extremely fortunate in escaping a considerable term of imprisonment. Unquestionably this was no ordinary killing and there was much to be said in palliation of the crime. But crime it was, none the less, and while there are probably very few Americans who would want to see the young woman's husband, mother and their two aides suffer for years as penalty for it, the suggestion of a full pardon wits without justification. The perpetrators of the felony could not reasonably expect to be relieved of all the stigma and all the inconve-

 Let us have Hugh M. Alcorn.

MASSIE "PARDON"

The touted intention of the four Massie case defendants to seek a full pardon at this time turns out to have no existence. That should help to mollify somewhat the indignation of the people of Honolulu over Governor Judd's unseemly haste in commuting to one hour their ten year sentences for the murder of an assailant of Mrs. Thalia Massie.

These people have been extremely fortunate in escaping a considerable term of imprisonment. Unquestionably this was no ordinary killing and there was much to be said in palliation of the crime. But crime it was, none the less, and while there are probably very few Americans who would want to see the young woman's husband, mother and their two aides suffer for years as penalty for it, the suggestion of a full pardon wits without justification. The perpetrators of the felony could not reasonably expect to be relieved of all the stigma and all the inconve-once associated with their conviction. There remained sufficiently slight exaltation for such a serious defiance of the law, as it was.

In this connection there is a puzzling circumstance. Lieutenant Massie, the principal in the killing, is reported as having received a "new assignment" away from Hawaii. Is it possible that the Navy Department intends to shut its eyes to the fact that this man has lost his citizenship and all his citizen's rights—that it proposes to continue him in the naval service in spite of that fact?

If so we may expect within a day or two to hear something drop.

TWELVE LOST YEARS

That famous novel of two or three years ago, "The Case of Sergeant Grischka," told how the machinery of war can enmesh and destroy a human life with a fiendish thoroughness, even though all of the officials who are handling that machinery have the best of intentions. The other day the newspapers told of a strikingly similar real-life case when they described the plight of Paul Schwartz, the former German soldier who has just been released after serving more than 12 years in Devil's Island prison.

Schwartz was born in Corsica of German parents, and taken to Alsace-Lorraine as a baby. A young man when the war started, he joined the German army, serving until the armistice. Then the French seized him, claimed as a French citizen and sent him to Devil's Island as a traitor.

There he stayed, innocent of any crime, and utterly forgotten by officialdom, until some functionary happened to remember him the other day. His sentence was promptly commuted, very likely with suave Gallic apologies; but who is going to restore to him those lost 12 years?

IN NEW YORK

It's Encouraging
 New York, May 7.—In these days, when reveries become too-frequent visitors and blank walls echo one's vacant stares, it's pleasant to know that even the very great had their quicks and eccentricities and weaknesses.

Thus a book titled "Making the Most of Your Life" came drifting to my desk just in time to buoy me up a bit. Hastily running over sub-heads and index references, I have learned—among other things—that Edison frequently forgot his own name when under pressure; that Seltridge, the depressed storekeeper, had to force himself by rigid discipline to keep awake while reading; that Astor had to be ice-bathed before he learned the fur business, and that J. P. Morgan is often over-sensitive about personal afflictions.

But one reference which cheers me most is: "Wife teaches husband to remember." Mine had almost given up!

Skimming the Wolf
 Then there's the recent case of Richard Whitney, who although president of the Stock Exchange, had to admit to the Senate committee that he had been whalloped by the Wall Street crash along with the rest of the suckers. Which should entitle me at least to a trader's post on the floor.

And, what, oh, what, ever became of those half-a-million dollar seats they were buying on the Exchange? I must visit the antique shops more often!

I know several young men of the Broadway sector who lost heavily, who used their losses and experiences to "cash in" afterward.

Eddie Cantor was among the first. He immediately turned it into a couple of funny books on the subject and cleaned up on depression gags in vaudeville, music shows, radio and the movies. Loser to the extent of several millions, Cantor was among the first to appreciate some of the funnier aspects of our woes.

Cashing In
 Nat Dorfman, who spent years and years publicizing the plays written by other gents, was one of the heavy losers, with Cantor, in Goldmay Sachs. Whereupon he turned out a comedy, "Take My Tip," in which an entire neighborhood made money as long as things were on the up; crashing in the end, and, of course, biting their fingertips. A trick venture saves the day.

Of course, Nat should know by this time that play producing is a gamble in the same class with Wall Street. But since this is the first of the stock crash opuses, several concerns are reported bidding for it. If the right price is paid, Dorfman will have his gett back with interest.

While the Iron Is Hot
 This reminds me of the headaches they're having in the Broadway offices of the brothers Warner. They bought the farce, "Blessed Event," presumably for Jimmy Cagney. At any rate, Cagney and a director came east to study it. But Cagney didn't go back on schedule.

On the crest of the popularity wave, Cagney is demanding $3,000 instead of the $1,400 a week he now gets. Aware of the insecurity of stardom, he wants to cash in while the crowds are shouting. While the argument was on, Warners were said to have shifted the "Blessed Event" lead either to Jack Oakie or Lee Tracy.

Now Marian Marsh is shouting for the rewards of stardom and Joan Blondell demands that her $600 per be boosted to $1,800.

Poets' Rendezvous

NO PLACE OR TIME
 (From New Statesman and Nation)
 This curly childhood of the year,
 These days of dancing blood,
 Is spring the proper time for breath
 To be resigned for good?
 When summer's face is bright and clear,
 And all the trees are green—
 Shall I believe the time has come
 To creep away unseen?
 When autumn shuffles leaves of gold,
 And deals them in one heap—
 Must I agree that that's the hour
 For everlasting sleep?
 And when the world is white with snow,
 With winter in his prime—
 I'll still maintain that Death's a fool,
 That knows no place or time.
 W. H. Davies.

HILLSIDE ORCHARD
 (From The New Yorker)
 Orchard, green with light
 Under the misty air;
 The cherry, almost white,
 The plum colored pear;
 The rain washed, swinging wick
 That makes the violets shake;
 Close at the grass-roots pinned
 The cinquefoil's yellow flake;
 The bluet quivering;
 The cat-brier, pointing down;
 The small bird, poised to slug
 A note that is his own.
 These with no torment thrive
 And with no grief take leave
 Of that by which they live,
 Of that which they believe—
 Unless, perhaps, they too
 Are creatures of the love
 That has its life in you,
 Which you are mistress of.
 Raymond Holden.

TO THE OUTERMOST PLANET
 (From The London Mercury)
 Sister of Earth, that we at last
 Have found
 Roaming the outer dark so cold and far,
 To whom the sun is but a golden star,
 What welcome we would send you,
 If a sound
 Could cross the mighty night that rings us round,
 And all these empty distances, and
 the start,
 The stillness of the spaces where you are,
 The greatest traveler and the least renowned.
 No, it would all be waste! you would not care:
 You are so distant from the sun that
 Are warm with sympathies you could not share
 By the gray bleakness of that stellar sea
 Through which, unknown to us so long,
 Lonely and pale, on your three-centu-
 ried year,
 Dunsany.

ON A PASS BY SCHEWAN
 (From The Carillon)
 These were the men who opened many trails, and yet who were forgotten.
 They greatly dared unknown and alone—
 I thought of those who first had traced the labyrinth of the Himalayas
 The man who found the Karakoram pass,
 Desolate, bleak and battered by the winds,
 His sandy food run low, his strength
 deep hunger-bitten,
 Before him rampart mountains,
 winding glaciers,
 Behind a weary, barren way where milky snow-fed torrents Groomed as they rolled the boulders down their beds,
 Around all barren, not a tree or sprig of grass,
 No life of any sort, save the great eagles sailing over peaks.

considering President Hoover and Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, one of whom probably will be the next president.

Few men have taken more severe, sarcastic panings for vacillation and lack of courage than those two gents. The one consistent, constant criticism of Hoover has been that he lacked what for the sake of a dear Aunt Emma who reads these dispatches daily, may be called intestinal stamina. Today that's the thing you fear most about Roosevelt.

The occasions those two heroes select to get really "fighting mad" have become almost a standing joke. One refers not to their noble last ditch determination to battle for prosperity, the flag and the sanctity of the home, but to their clashes with actual live issues, groups or other personalities.

The President's Battles
 Prior to nomination and election, Mr. Hoover's favorite fight was with the Russian Bolsheviks. Standing behind the banquet tables, he used to wipe the floor with those fellows time and again.

As president, he has hurried the lightning of his powerful office at such obscure persons as William B. Shearer, William Howard Gardner and Congressman Louis T. McFadden. Shearer was the lobbyist for shipbuilding companies alleged to have broken up the Geneva conference. Gardner, head of the Navy League, had criticized the Hoover navy policy. With mighty roars, the president brought down his wrath upon them and held them up to national scorn.

And McFadden, severe critic of Hoover and his moral reform policy, felt the vast pressure of the administration when he was deprived of his patronage and assured by a presidential spokesman of political extinction.

Another Daring Fight
 Roosevelt's most daring onslaught to date is his recent attack on the two New York clergymen, Dr. John Haynes Holmes and Rabbi Stephen Wise, who urged him to fire a Tammany official accused of graft.

The governor reached new heights of moral indignation and dauntless fortitude as he belabored them for their impudence.

It looks as if most politicians this year would confine their stinging attacks to the iniquities of the Eskimos.

Like creatures of a weird and distant world,
 I thought of that great horde of men
 Who forced the jungle paths,
 Mired in the tropic rain and scorched beneath the blazing sun,
 Their every step tripped by the matted mass of trailing vines
 That meshed them like a forest octopus;
 The nights when insects drove them almost mad,
 The morning when the sickness seized their frames,
 Shaking their nervous and slack-jointed limbs;
 When all before their eyes had shifting "r-apes"
 Now near, now far, and always half unreal, like objects in a nightmare.
 These men and many thousand such as they
 Have opened up the world we know and use.
 To them, our highest honor and our reverence.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

By RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer

Washington.—Bravery in politics seems to become increasingly rare and occasional instances of it usually create a major sensation.

Few persons expect it any more, of course, but it's particularly so when it might be argued that a more than ordinary degree of courage is called for. In Washington, seems to be accentuating an unusual amount of caution or cowardice or whatever you want to call it.

You can find plenty of seeming or alleged examples of brave words and deeds, but close scrutiny usually proves them to be phony, in the sense that they are dictated by the common passion of all politicians for salvation of the epidemic.

Attack the Weak
 This gallant battle for federal economy, for instance, is a mere ploy. The Congress has been so thoroughly scared by a grim, national demand that it has grabbed an ax and started a career of slaughter—but slaughter only of the weak and the feeble. The government's expenditures as can't possibly fight back.

The net result is uncertain, but most members have thus far seemed perfectly willing to fire thousands of poorly paid government employees, cut the salaries of the rest, or what in some instances runs as high as 25 or 30 per cent through pyramid economies, while ignoring possibilities of hundreds of millions to be spent on various forms of refined political graft, pork, veteran appropriations and huge military and naval expenses.

Constructive, educational, humanitarian activities of the government are those hardest hit.

Getting any intelligent, courageous, careful, humane economy programs through Congress would be out of the question.

Hoover and Roosevelt
 But the practice of picking fights only with little fellows who can't fight back is not confined to Congress. It is a confirmed presidential practice. Whether this is a personal weakness or an inescapable fault bred by the political system need not be discussed, but anyone will promptly get the point by

CHINA'S AIR SERVICE

Shanghai—Three air services are soon to operate in China, and peck at the vast unopened interior of the nation. An amphibian line operates on the Yangtze from Shanghai to Hankow and Chungking. A land plane service between Canton and Wuchow, abandoned some time ago, is expected to be revived soon. A new route expected to open soon is from Peiping through Tihsa and Russia to Europe.

PLANE PROGRAM CUT

Washington—Economy measures in Washington have delayed the completion of the Army five-year Air Corps construction program until the fiscal year 1934. The program, scheduled to be finished this year, called for 1800 planes. About 1700 planes have already been delivered.

AUSTRALIANS CONTINUE ADVANCE

On May 7, 1918, the advance of Australian and Canadian troops in the Somme area was continued, the Germans resisting stubbornly and holding their gains to minor points.

German heavy artillery was being rushed to the front. It was reported a division of reserves had been placed against the Australians to slow their offensive.

Great activity on the French sector was reported by Allied air observers and a new major German offensive was expected within a week.

More than 300,000 American soldiers were ready to be thrown into the battle in case of necessity, and this reserve added to the feeling in France that Germany's defeat is almost certain.

Critical official sources announced that at least 16 German divisions had been destroyed. German losses were reported as follows:

HEALTH-DIET ADVICE
Dr. Frank McCoy
and his "New Diet" to Health
 "ADVICE IN REGARD TO HEALTH AND DIET IS GIVEN FREE OF CHARGE IN ALL CASES."
 THE SLEEPING CURE

The normal activity of the body consumes its strength more rapidly than can be replaced by food, sunshine and air. Because of this, the body requires rest and, especially, sleep. Sleep gives the nervous system a chance to be rested in preparation for its next day's labor. By a lack of sleep, one can easily cripple this most important defense of the body.

It is up to the nervous system to stimulate the excretion of waste products, to exercise a selection and supervision of all food materials that enter the blood stream, and to give warning against the assaults of disease or injuries from accidents. When the nervous system has become overworked or exhausted by insufficient sleep, it is naturally unable to perform these functions properly.

Every part of the body needs periods of activity and rest. Even the apparently over-active heart has a resting period between each beat of approximately a half second. It actually rests about the same length of time as it works. The other muscles and organs of the body seem not to rest at such regular intervals but they, nevertheless, have periods of inactivity. It would be very awkward for the brain to have frequent alternate periods of activity and rest, so nature has arranged that the condition of being awake or being asleep occurs at greater intervals.

At our present stage of evolution, it seems necessary for us to spend plenty of good sound sleep during which time the body is able to rest and the nerve cells store up strength and nourishment. It is impossible to make a set rule of just how many hours one needs for sleep, but the usual requirement of an average adult depends largely upon the temperament of the individual. When the system is toxic, more sleep is required.

You have probably noticed that after you miss a night or two of sleep you are very susceptible to colds or other diseases. This is because your nervous system does not stimulate the organs of excretion, such as the kidneys, liver and intestines, to eliminate the body's waste rapidly as they are formed. Emersion is undoubtedly one of the principal causes of the lowering of the body's resistance to disease, and the only method of overcoming this condition is to obtain plenty of good sound sleep and to avoid over-excitement, worry, or other nerve-exhausting habits.

One of your dearest possessions is your vitality. If your sleep is disturbed, you will be handicapped

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Scarletina)
 Question: Miss Vida T. writes: "I enjoy reading your articles, and I would like for you to state the symptoms of scarletina—how long the rash stays, and how long before the skin starts to peel. Is it dangerous to be around a sick person?"

Answer: The early symptoms of scarletina are chills, high fever, sore throat, and vomiting. The disease takes from a few hours to a week to incubate. Small rash papules soon coalesce into a uniform scarlet inflammation, developing first on the head, face, wrists and abdomen and spreading quickly over the rest of the body. The eruptions will last from seven to ten days, and the disease from two to three weeks. The disease is highly contagious and remains so until the skin has stopped scaling. Some of the usual complications of scarlet fever are inflammation of the kidneys, inflammation of the ears, and rheumatism. The recovery is slow unless the right treatment is used. I believe the patient should not be given any food except citrus juices and water until the skin has stopped peeling. Patient should be kept in bed, with the room shaded, and if fever is too high, cold sponge baths may be used. The patient should also be given enemas several times daily.

HOUSE THROWS OUT CASH BONUS PLANS
Committee By Vote of 15 To 10 Rejects Program; May Kill Measure.

Washington, May 7.—(AP)—All plans for cashing the $2,000,000,000 soldiers' bonus were rejected today by the House ways and means committee on a 15 to 10 vote.

The committee further voted to report the new-money bills to the House adversely.

This action creates a parliamentary situation that will delay any effort to force a House vote through a discharge petition.

Acting Chairman Crisp announced the committee action but declined to give out the individual vote of members. All 25 members were recorded, some by proxies.

Vote June 13
Representative Patman (D., Tex.), chief bonus advocate, has opposed the committee action making an unfavorable report to the House. Under the rules, Patman says June 13 would be the first day on which a vote could be forced through a petition signed by 145 members.

Representative Rainey of Illinois, the Democratic leader, was designated by the committee to make the adverse report to the House.

The course now open to bonus advocates is the introduction of a special rule to give the bonus bills a preferred legislative status. Such a resolution would go to the rules committee and should this committee fail to consider seven days a discharge petition would be in order.

Rainey said that in view of the forthcoming adjournment of Congress in time for the National conventions, the committee action definitely killed any opportunity for a House vote on the bonus issue.

Howitzer Cannoneers
The Howitzer Company opened the month of May with instruction in physical training, hygiene and sanitation, military courtesy, fire control and close order drill.

After the drill the company's monthly meeting was held in the company parlour. Recent additions to the company fund have placed it in excellent condition. The meeting voted to reserve a certain sum to be kept for camp mess purposes. It was voted to have the radio inspected and repaired.

The matter of the Memorial Day parade was brought up, and the company voted to parade voluntarily without pay upon that day. This action will make the last regular drill of the quarter fall upon May 24th. Immediately following that date the payroll will be made up and submitted for payment. Early presentation of the roll aids very materially in securing prompt payment within the first part of the succeeding month.

After the meeting the men interested in formation of the company baseball team met with Corporal Ray Donahue who is organizing the team.

Terry Kadelski and Joseph Yanishevski, both of Rockville, enlisted in the company Monday night. Three men who applied for enlistment Tuesday evening were placed on the waiting list. These men will be enlisted as rapidly as vacancies occur; in the meantime they have joined the recruit school in order that they may complete the requisite amount of instruction for attendance in field training. Sergeants Finn and Phaneuf conducted the school this week.

Supply Sergeant Everett Walker is busy stenciling individual camp equipment. Each man will be equipped with property bearing his locker number; this will make it easier to identify.

Queer Twists
In Day's News

Wilmington, Del.—The party down at the old quarry developed into quite a blowout. Federal prohibition agents tossed many contraband bottles into a pit. Hardy souls clambered down the sides and salvaged several unbroken ones. The agents came back and set off 200 pounds of dynamite. The party was over.

New York—Francis Adams is rated a good advertising man. Failing to land a job by personal application, he once sent a portable gramophone to the boss of a big advertising agency with a record extolling the capabilities of one Adams. The interview was cancelled but Adams was hired.

Los Angeles—Plenty of knuckle bones and dog biscuits seem assured for Shaggy. When Lee A. McConnell, bank director, made his will he provided $20 a month to care for his fox terrier.

Hartford, Conn.—William G. Baxter was asked to see the trinkets and curios of the Connecticut Prison Association, of which he is secretary, put back in prison where they will be safe from thieves. At a public showing half a dozen items disappeared.

New York—What a break for truants! Dr. Charles Hendee Smith, head of the pediatric department at Bellevue hospital, says he would give the highest marks to the child who stayed away from school the most days when well. He thinks school children work harder than stock brokers.

Owing to the fact that the next regular meeting of the post falls on Memorial Day the date has been advanced to the 23rd. Notice, however, will be mailed to each member as business of an important nature will be discussed, so please reserve the date.

With the coming of good weather the activities of the Five, Drum & Bugle Corps are increasing. They voted at their meeting last night to turn out on April 15th in the interest of the Poppy Drive which will be conducted jointly by the Post and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Although no invitation has been received from the Permanent Memorial Day committee, the boys voted to turn out on Memorial Day. On June 11th they will journey to Mt. Vernon, N. Y., to take part in a field day sponsored by the post of Veterans of Foreign Wars of that city. Plans for a local field day are now in the works and a definite program will be released in the very near future. The new ornamental shoulder braid was issued to the members at the meeting as well as their brass helmets with a new addition of an eagle on the front.

The unemployment committee of the post will hold a meeting and get-together on Monday night at the Recreation Center. All those who have applied for a plot in the home gardens are requested to attend to receive their allotment of seed. Anyone interested in this project will be welcome.

We understand that Commander John Jenney has opened up an office over at the north end and is now a full fledged insurance agent. We all wish you well Jack.

Executive committeemen are reminded that the regular monthly session of that body will be held at the State Armory, on Monday, April 16th instead of the 23rd as originally planned.

American Legion Auxiliary
The Rehabilitation committee visited Newington hospital a week ago Tuesday, bringing smokes, matches and toilet articles to the men in Ward F. Earlier in the month a large collection of magazines was taken to the Soldiers' Home at Rocky Hill by the committee.

Mrs. Lillian Yerrington, past department president, visited on Monday night and took charge of the initiation of seven new members. We are always glad to have Mrs. Yerrington with us and especially enjoyed her fine talk Monday night. She spoke particularly on the poppies, explaining the significance of the great memorial flower and of the great comfort and peace of mind it brings to the disabled ex-servicemen in hospitals and soldiers' homes to be able to make these poppies, thereby earning a little money for themselves or their dependent families. Mrs. Yerrington told the members it was a great privilege for them to be able to take these poppies and offer them to the public to wear on Memorial Day in memory of the men who made the supreme sacrifice in "Flanders Field."

Our membership contest ended May with two contestants tied for the prize. It was decided to divide the cash prize and Mrs. Ethel Quish, chairman of trophies and awards, presented these awards to Mrs. Grace Pitkin and Miss Lillian Finnegan.

Our National president, Mrs. Louise Williams, will be the guest of the Department of Connecticut on June 4, when she will be entertained with a banquet at the Hotel Grand in Hartford. This banquet is open to Legion members as well as Auxiliary members, and it is hoped that a good crowd will be present to meet Mrs. Williams.

Members and their friends enjoyed a pleasant afternoon at the card party held at the Y. M. C. A., Tuesday afternoon. Several of the members brought cakes which were placed on sale and very quickly disposed of. The prizes which consisted of two beautiful hand-made scarves donated by Mrs. Barron and one donated by Mrs. Moss, were won as follows: First, Mrs. James Foley; second, Mrs. Robert La-throp; third, Mrs. John Glenney and consolation, Mrs. George Olds. In the absence of Mrs. Dannaher, Mrs. Hohenthal headed the committee, who served ice cream and cake.

Mrs. Mary Dannaher has the deepest sympathy of the Unit in the recent death of her uncle, Mr. Noble.

Senior members are reminded of the rehearsal for the pageant at the State Armory, Monday afternoon, after school. It is hoped all the girls taking part will be at the rehearsal.

The department National convention committee has issued information in regard to the coming convention in Portland. Price for one-half section is $250 and includes everything but meals in Portland. The trip offers 5,000 miles of travel to the wonders of North America, besides the National convent' n.

The drawing on the quilt will be held at the next meeting on May 16, and returns should be made to the committee before that date. Last Friday evening Mrs. Grace Pitkin, American Legion chairman, gave a bridge party at her home for the benefit of the Auxiliary. She was assisted by Mrs. Ethel Quish. Following the playing the hostesses served home-made cake and punch.

Following our meeting Monday night, carrying out our Fidan program with the Belgian group in charge, Mrs. Hohenthal sang the national anthem of Belgium and Mrs. Olive Chartier recited the poem "In Flanders Field." Mrs. Barron, chairman of hostesses and her committee served a delicious lunch of egg salad and crackers, pastry and coffee. The tables were prettily decorated in the colors of Belgium with the Belgian and American flags as a center-piece.

Following are some points brought out at the recent Department Rehabilitation conference: Any veteran of the World War, if he was honorably discharged, can get free hospitalization in a government hospital. Applications for hospitalization should be obtained from the Post of State service office.

Should a veteran of his own volition go to the Veterans Bureau for examination, the expense of the trip must be borne by the veteran. When summoned by the Veterans' Bureau, the government stands the expense of transportation to and from the hospital. The government will also pay the transportation and subsistence of an attendant if his condition is such that an attendant is needed.

The World War Veterans' Act as amended July 3, 1930, provides that a flag to drape the casket shall be furnished for the funerals of all veterans, honorably discharged, and that the flag shall thereafter be given to the next of kin of the deceased veteran. If not so delivered, they should be returned as they remain the property of the Federal government.

The gardener at Newington hospital would appreciate seeds for planting, plants or slips if any of the members care to send anything of this sort to Newington they should communicate with Mrs. Elsie Daniels and she will take them on her next visit to the hospital.

British War Veterans
The regular monthly meeting of the Mons-Ypres Post will be held in the Army and Navy Club on Wednesday, May 11, at 8 p. m. All members are urged to be present at a meeting of this nature which will be of a very important nature.

Plans will be prepared at the meeting for the Memorial Day parade and exercises in which the Mons-Ypres Post will take part and which we trust the Post will make a good showing. Another important item to be discussed at the meeting will be the decorating of the graves of British ex-service men who have passed away. Three are about six graves in Manchester and one in Rockville to be decorated and these will be taken care of by the Post on Memorial Day morning.

The committee in charge of the drawing of prizes which takes place at the monthly meeting are very anxious to have every member present who have to make their returns. So we request every member of the Post to be present with his money and stubs for the drawing.

The members of the Mons-Ypres Post who attended the Rally which was held in the South Methodist church last Sunday, report having a very fine and instructive evening and enjoyed the program very much. This affair was sponsored by the local Salvation Army.

Comrade Victor Duke and Jimmy Findlay, who have been confined in the U. S. Veterans hospital at Newington are progressing rapidly and we hope to have them home with us in the near future. We would also like to add that our American Comrade "Jack" Copeland is also getting along fine. We send the boys our greetings and wish them the best of luck.

The Post will appoint another group of members at the monthly meeting to again visit the hospital and bring a little cheer to the Manchester boys confined there.

The two sons of our recording secretary, "Sandy" Pratt, who underwent operations for the removal of their tonsils a few days ago, are home again with their parents. Both boys are fully recovered and are romping around as usual.

"Poppy Day," a day set aside each year by our American Comrades for the sale of poppies. The money received from this sale is used only to help the sick and needy which is indeed a very worthy cause. The members of Mons-Ypres Post are requested to assist in this fine work. You can do so by buying some of these Poppies. The sale of these poppies will be in charge of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars, so let's help.

Anderson-Shea Post, V. F. W. Notes
The V. F. W. committee on the town Permanent Memorial Day Committee reports that Comrade James Hynes has accepted the call for Memorial Day Marshal. "Jim" is the one man in the post to handle this assignment. His record at Williamsport last year when he whipped the 76 vets into line in the short space of an hour.

"Jim" is a stickler for military proficiency and we know this year's parade will be "according to the book." By the way, Jim, "Andy" has something up his sleeve in re the Convention parade regalia, and when he springs it on you, you'll get a laugh. With our outfit and first position in the parade, we ought to "cop" again this year. Every member of the post is urged to plan to participate in the Convention parade and a full attendance at the next meeting of the post May 17-is desired to make arrangements.

Department Commander, Captain Mortimer D. O'Hara of Waterbury will make his official visit and inspection of the post Tuesday evening, May 17 at 8 o'clock. Let's try and make as near 100 per cent attendance as possible.

The Hartford District Council will meet next Sunday in the lodge rooms in the Balch and Brown block, Depot Square. Under the leadership of Commander Ray Frost the Council is making good progress and is getting "acquainted" with the councils in other Counties. Every member who can attend the meeting Sunday should do so. Refreshments will be served following the business session.

V. F. W. Auxiliary
The Auxiliary Council meeting of the Council will be held Sunday afternoon in the Balch and Brown block at 3:30. Coffee, sandwiches and doughnuts will be served. Every member of the Auxiliary is asked to be present to entertain the County guests.

Gertrude Buchanan will visit the Newington hospital Sunday (Mothers' Day), Eleanor Freolve and Florence Sullivan will distribute flowers and smokes assisted by Comrade Andrew Holtzheimer. The Sunday visitation will be in charge of Mrs. Mae Chrystal, Dept. Hospital chairman.

A meeting of the concert committee of the joint "Poppy Committee will be held Wednesday evening at 7:30 at the armory. The present check on tickets shows a good return.

Eddythe Massey and Beatrice Bellucci were initiated as members of Anderson-Shea Auxiliary at the meeting held in the armory last night.

TOUR THROUGH HOSPITAL HERE IS A REVELATION

Manchester Institution Is Equipped As Well As Those In Largest Cities; Opportunity To See It To Be Given Hospital Day, May 12.

Mrs. Jane J. Aldrich

Justifying its existence more and more as the years go by, Manchester's Memorial hospital, during the past season when a near-epidemic of influenza and pneumonia swept the town and its suburbs, rendered a great, humanitarian service. Manchester and its near neighbors are to be congratulated on having an accredited hospital, with a staff of physicians, surgeons and nurses as skilled as in any of the largest city institutions.

The tour started at the emergency room which has a grade entrance. Here accident cases are received and given first attention. The remaining space in the basement is used for kitchen and staff dining rooms. Modern refrigeration, steam tables, modern metal sinks and other up-to-date cooking and kitchen equipment enables the dietitian and those under her direction to serve appetizing and well cooked meals.

Library to be dedicated next week and turned over to the town; Dr. Sharpe and Dr. Joseph Higgins, all of whom enjoyed an extensive practice and whose loss was mourned by thousands.

X-ray and Surgical Room Superintendent Aldrich called Miss Mollie O'Brien, the efficient supervisor in the operating room to explain to the women the use of the expensive and up-to-date apparatus in that department, which is ready for instant use day or night.

Fracture Bed and Equipment This most interesting piece of mechanism was not in use at the time Mrs. Aldrich extolled its advantages. It has been found with its weight in gold of long-time fractured bone cases.

Laundry The laundry is a marvel of efficiency. It is a separate brick building in the rear of the hospital. On the second story is a suite occupied by the resident physician. The work of a hospital laundry is continuous, every hour of the day and every day except Sunday.

Garden and Grounds The garden to the northeast of the plant is one of the finest in town and has been made possible by gifts from local nurseries, the Manchester Garden Club and individuals.

BRITAIN WILL PAY ALL HER WAR DEBT

Atlantic City, N. J., May 7. (AP)—Two Englishmen bearing fraternal greetings from the British Wesleyan church, today told the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, that England would stand by her war debt obligations, even though she believed they should be revised.

Both speakers praised American prohibition. They were the Rev. Wilbert F. Howard, of Birmingham, England, and the Hon. Parkinson Tomlinson, of Poulton-le-Fylde, a former member of Parliament. Dr. Howard and Tomlinson said that Britain would stand by her international obligations, "even if it means selling the coat from her back, and the taking down of the last picture from her museum and the last first edition from her shelves."

KING'S DAUGHTERS FOUNDED LIBRARY

Ever Ready Circle, North End Church Group, Started Institution In 1895 — Have Beautiful Rooms In Building.

Ever Ready Circle of King's Daughters has an almost proprietary interest in the new Whiton Memorial library on North Main street, the doors of which will open for public inspection tomorrow afternoon from 10 to 5, and which will be formally turned over to the Town of Manchester at the dedication exercises Tuesday afternoon, May 10 at 2:30.

Origin of Idea.
The new building is the realization of hopes and aspirations of a little band of young girls from the two North Main street churches, organized through the efforts of Mrs. William C. Brown, now of Hartford, into a branch of the King's Daughters. They chose the name of "Ever Ready," signifying their readiness at all times to assist in community charitable work and to lend a hand wherever there was need. In 1931 the circle celebrated 40 years of existence.

Forty years ago there were no motion picture shows, no radio, trolleys, or automobiles; no other means of quick transportation to the neighboring city of Hartford but the train service, which if it suited at one hour in the evening did not another. Social events were confined to the churches, the homes or the opera house. A library was one of the most important of all public buildings according to these young girls, for the only means of borrowing books was at the libraries of the Sunday schools. There was a fine library of course at the south end of the town, but that was too far away in those days.

Grew Gradually.
The circle grew in numbers and prepared many entertainments and suppers were given and the patronage allowed the purchase of flowers and fruit for the sick and shut-ins, helping the few that were needy in those days and lending something besides that dreamed of King's Daughters Chapter house or library. Though building prices were low, it was realized that a building of which the circle might be proud would take many years of work and planning before anything resembling a permanent building could be made, and the library project was enthusiastically undertaken and a modest beginning made in the year 1895.

Credit is therefore due to Ever Ready Circle of King's Daughters for the first public library at the north end of the town. In the little building directly east of the residence of Mrs. Frank Spencer the first public library with its few hundred books was located. For many years Mrs. Gertrude Boynton, now of Hartford was librarian. When the new school on North school street, now known as the Robertson school, was built a main floor room was set apart for the library which by this time had become an indispensable feature of child and adult life in that part of the town. It was always the opinion of the late Judge Bowers that a library and a schoolhouse should be housed in the same building wherever practical.

Nearly Organized.
At times the library directors, Mrs. Lillian S. Bowers, Mrs. C. J. Strickland and others feared the need of additional school space would crowd the library out, but fortunately it has been possible to avoid the trouble of moving the full-grown library until this present week when it has been established in the fine new building on North Main street.

Dr. Francis H. Whiton, who for many years was the family physician of people in the Eighth district and for miles around, knew of the ministrations of the circle of young girls among the sick he visited, and became very much interested in their work as well as in the library project. He frequently contributed to their financial schemes, paid dues regularly, and was looked upon as an honorary member. It was not surprising to those who knew of his absorbing interest in the circle and their library plans, to find that in his will he bequeathed such a substantial sum for the erection of a memorial library.

Room of Their Own.
All these years the little fund for the Chapter House has been drawing interest and compound interest in the Savings Bank of Manchester. When the plans for the spacious library began to take shape, and the King's Daughters of Ever Ready Circle learned that they might have a room for their own use in the new building, they unanimously voted last year to furnish that room with the fund originally intended for a Chapter House which amounted to nine hundred and odd dollars. A committee of five of the older members was appointed to have entire charge of the decorations and furnishings. It consists of Miss Harriet White, Mrs. Jesse Sweet, Mrs. E. E. Segar, the present president of the circle; Mrs. C. B. Loomis and Mrs. C. J. Strickland. The time and the greatest color scheme is ivory, green and Spanish tile. Dominating one place with brass andirons. Draperies at the windows of art cretomes carry out the color combination. Rush seat chairs, a wing chair at the fireplace, one davenport in green and the other in a rust color, other easy chairs, in harmonizing tones testify to the good taste of the committee. Other furnishings include a lowboy, a secretary desk, a butterfly table, a handsome console table and occasional tables, all in mahogany, together with a number of handsome lamps in addition to the attractive general lighting arrangements. Another important item of the furnishings is the piano, made possible by a gift from Sunny-side Junior Circle of King's Daughters, affiliated with the seniors. Near the kitchenette is a tea wagon for convenience in serving refreshments.

Kitchenette.
The kitchenette would delight any young housekeeper with its appointments. The colors here are the popular green and ivory combination, with electric range from the Manhattan Electric company, up-to-date sink and built in kitchen cabinets, and dumb waiter; green and ivory tables with drop leaves and other conveniences, purchased at Watkins Brothers, who furnished practically everything for the attractive meeting place. The committee has also purchased dozens of reception plates and cups in colors of ivory, green and rose, and glasses in amber hues, together with a quantity of silver in the Dearborn pattern.

Ever Ready Circle of King's Daughters will experience a realization of those youthful ambitions of years ago when they held their first regular meeting in the new dedicated building Tuesday evening of next week.

RACING INTERESTS NEW YORK SOCIETY

Long Island Again the Center of Metropolitan Social Activity.
New York, May 7.—(AP)—Long Island will once again become the center of Metropolitan social activity with the opening of the Belmont Park racing season next week.

Reservations already are being received for luncheons and tea and gala parties at estates nearby are being planned for before and after the races which continue until June 9.

Mrs. Graham Fair Vanderbilt, Mrs. F. Whitney and Mrs. Richard T. Wilson are among the regular boxholders who plan to do considerable entertaining this season. Others include Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, Charles E. F. McCann, Mrs. Dodge Sloane, F. Ambrose Clark, Joseph E. Widener and Robert L. Gerry.

According to Long Island historians, horse racing had its beginnings there near the Belmont Park section as early as 1665 under the patronage of Governor Matthias Nicholl of the Colonial Colony of New York.

Further interest is attached to early horse racing on Long Island, which is New York's summer residential section, in that the oldest piece of marked silver in America, a silver porringer in the Mabel Brady Garvan collection at Yale University, was a trophy won in a horse race in 1668.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay O'Brien have taken possession of their newly leased lower apartment at the Waldorf-Astoria.

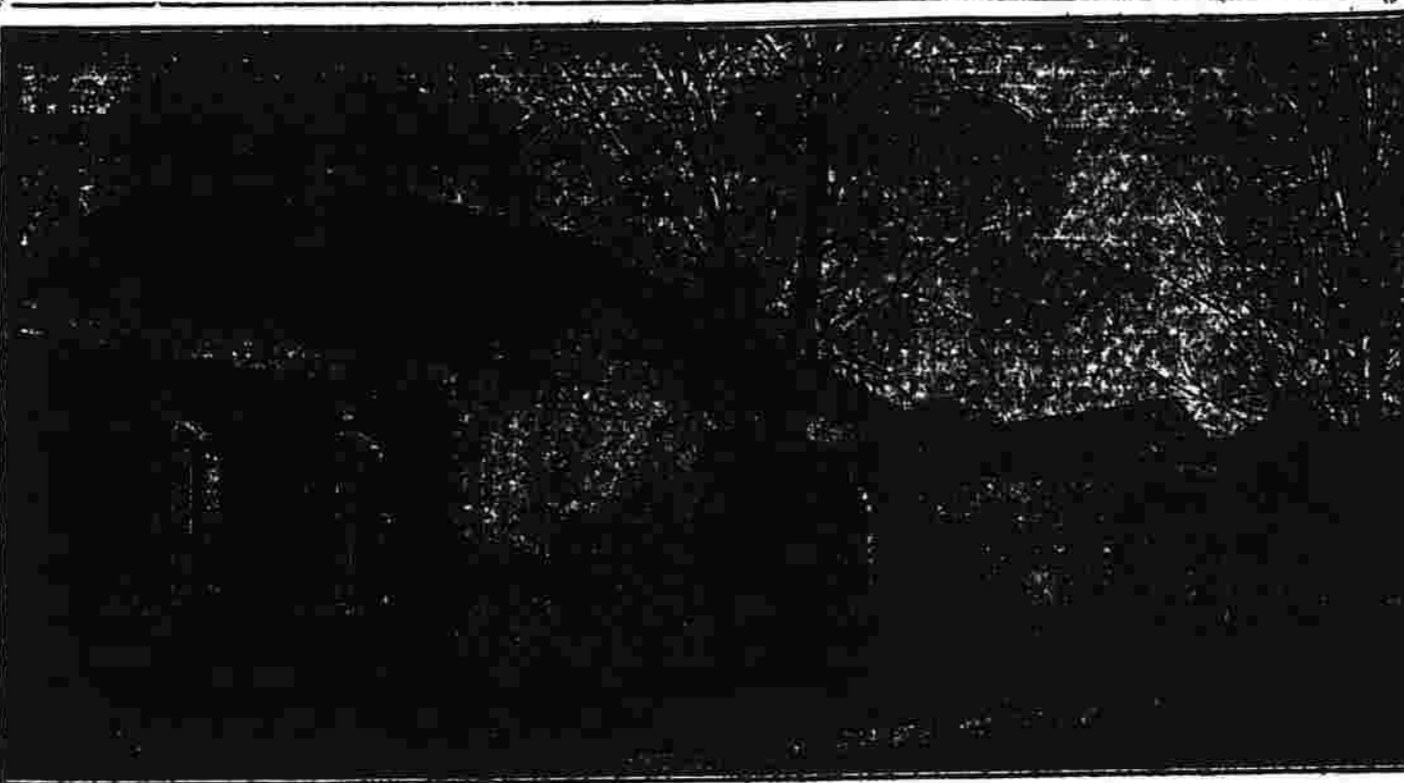

Mrs. J. Laurens van Alen is already at the Ochre Point villa at Newport, R. I. for the season. In August she will be joined by her sons, James H. and William L. van Alen, and their wives, and her daughter, Princess Alexis X. Midvian, the former Miss Louise van Alen, and Prince Midvian.

Mrs. Paul Fitz Simons will be honored at a luncheon of Republican women to be given May 12 at the La Forge at Newport.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Gonzalez Gordon of Havana, Cuba, are stopping for a few days at the Sherry-Netherlands.

BODY IDENTIFIED.
New London, May 7.—(AP)—A man whose body was found earlier in the week near the State Police Barracks at Alpine, N. J., has been identified from a photograph by relatives as Fred Morse, a painter who is charged with having absconded from New London two years ago with $700.

New Library Building Completes North End Group

The Whiton Memorial Library, open for inspection Sunday and is to be dedicated Tuesday completes the series of buildings that have as their nucleus the former White House or Manchester Community club. The library was made possible by the will of the late Dr. Francis H. Whiton and is called the Whiton Memorial Library.

HOW R. R. CREDIT CORP. FUNCTIONS

Head of Reconstruction Group Describes Operations of Relief Agency.

Functions and operations of the Railroad Credit Corporation, formed to take in funds accruing from the temporary freight rate increase and to advance loans to railroads to meet fixed interest charges, together with the results of the first few months of operation were explained today by E. B. Buckland, president of the corporation and chairman of the board of the New Haven Railroad, in the following statement:

"The first problem which confronted the Railroad Credit Corporation, Mr. Buckland said, "was how to administer relief before it had any money to administer. Fortunately, the requirements of the carriers for January had already been provided for. Those for February did not amount to a great deal. The large interest obligations were those of March 1."

Helping Needy Carriers.
The Credit Corporation had no right to borrow money except to meet its operating expenses. It had the right, however, to give assurances that if and when it was in possession of funds, it would take over any loan obtained from some other source which the Credit Corporation would have made had it been in funds. This did not authorize the Credit Corporation to create discountable bank paper, but the assurances authorized and given have been of vital importance in obtaining the assistance of banks interested in, and in a position to help, the carriers.

The greatest help was obtained from and is being currently rendered by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, which was created by Congress on January 22. "Pending the receipt of funds by the Railroad Credit Corporation, its assurance, together with collateral offered by applicant railroads, has enabled them to meet their March 1 interest obligations and created the hope of similar treatment of obligations maturing later in the year."

All Normal Programs.
"There are, however, these classes of obligations which must be considered: First, maturing bonds; second, maturing equipment trust obligations; third and largest of all, current bank loans; fourth, capital expenditures; and fifth, fixed interest obligations. The feeling is that if the government can give assurance that these four classes of obligations, other than capital expenditures, can be adequately cared for by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, and the banks which are carrying the bank loans, there will be a very decided incentive on the part of the railroads to resume to some extent an approach to their normal programs for maintenance of the equipment and maintenance of roadway and structures."

SHERIFF GATES DIES.
Williamantic, May 7.—(AP)—Charles A. Gates, 64, sheriff of Windham county for the last 23 years, died early today at his home. He had been ill one week.

ACCIDENT DRIVER FOUND NOT GUILTY

Charles M. Dean, Whose Car Struck Robert Reid, Released by Court Here Today.

Charles M. Dean, of New Britain, whose automobile struck and killed Robert Reid on Center street March 27, was found not guilty of driving an automobile with defective brakes in police court here this morning. A reckless driving charge was nolleed since Deputy Coroner Harrison D. Schofield had relieved Dean of criminal responsibility in his finding.

Dean testified that he had driven through Providence en route to Manchester and had not found the brakes bad. He said he realized they were not perfect but that he had no difficulty in operating the machine. Patrolman Walter Casbells testified Dean had gone 69 feet at 30 miles per hour after striking Reid. Walter Hoffman, local garage man, said the foot brakes were not good but the hand brake was perfect. Judge Johnson said that the element of doubt was too great to convict the driver and he found him not guilty.

Ernest Boero of Wilson, Conn., was before the court charged with driving an automobile under the influence of intoxicants. He was arrested on Main street last night by Patrolman Joseph Prentice. Boero desired the services of Judge William S. Hyde as his attorney but Judge Hyde was in court in Rockville today. Consequently Boero was granted a continuance until next Saturday. A $200 bond for his appearance at that time was posted by John Lentl.

"BACK TO THE FARM" MOVEMENT NOTED HERE

Many Trades of Homes For Farms Are Recorded—Farmers Ask Good Prices, However.
There is a noticeable "back to the farm" movement among Manchester people with the coming of warm weather and the lack of steady employment. There are many trades in the air with local owners of property calling for trades for small farms. According to present indications there are few farmers who desire to pass along what they have gained in the way of small fruit or vegetable farms in the immediate vicinity of town for village homes.

Yesterday Willis R. West of Parkers street purchased the Wohlbe farm of 26 acres, house, barn and sheds located in Ellington on the old Snipe Lake road. They will move to the farm Monday. Frank C. Mack of Rockville was the agent.

Germany will pay no more reparations, its foreign minister says. What does he mean by "more?"

NEW WHITON LIBRARY OPEN AT 3 SUNDAY

across the delivery desk is a doorway the upper portion of which forms a frame for the electric clock. Just beneath is a bronze plate with the inscription "Manchester Public Library. Founded by the Ever Ready Circle of the Kings Daughters in 1895."

The service desk is leather covered and especially constructed. The woodwork on the outside conforms to that elsewhere in the building, but the inside is a model of efficiency with its card cabinets, indexes, money drawers and other conveniences.

Reading Rooms.
On the southwest is the fiction room or adult reading room, and on the northeast is the children's room. The woodwork throughout is a handsome, hand-rubbed oak. In both the adults and children's room are fireplaces with brass andirons. The walls are finished in a soft combination of blue, green and gray. Harmonizing window drapes are in plain natural colored material.

The children's room has settees at right angles with the fireplace. Low reading benches for their books and chairs of graduated height. The shelves are illuminated in the evening by the narrow rectangular electric lamps that are used elsewhere in the library. Cork sheets are provided so that illustrations on varied subjects may be pinned up for their attention.

A fine, well lighted room on the southwest corner of the building is used for the reference room. Long reading tables, with handsome brass shaded reading lamps are placed at right angles with the windows. The original Kings Daughters library table has been re-finished and placed in this room. A spacious room on the Northeast is used as a stack room, and in the basement is additional space for this purpose.

Beautiful Trim.
Rubber tiling is used throughout the building and concealed heating units. Some very fine quartered oak is used in the woodwork trim and paneling in the library rooms and auditorium in the basement. The Library Bureau and Filing equipment company furnished the magazine, atlas and newspaper racks, and indexes. Workmen employed by this concern expressed the opinion that the Whiton library is one of the finest they have ever worked in.

The auditorium which has a grade entrance may be reached by stairs from the main floor. It is situated on the west side of the building and has a seating capacity of close to 300. A fine, roomy stage, finished in a soft blue, is equipped with disappearing footlights in different colors and overhead electric reflectors. On the right are two dressing rooms. The main hall is decorated in pale blue, corridors in light buff. The woodwork in the auditorium is in the same dull-finished oak used throughout the library. Ceiling controllers and wall brackets in the hall are in the newest style.

Over 7,000 Volumes.
Another surprise in store for the library patrons and visitors is the number of books on the shelves and in the stack rooms. Seven hundred new books have been added and 250 newly bound, so that the library at the present moment contains more than 7,000 books. Removal of the volumes from the old to the new library was accomplished by the aid of asparagus boxes which are shallow and have handles at either end. The work was systematically planned and supervised by the librarians, with some assistance for the re-cataloguing and other tasks.

The greater portion of the furniture, shades, and draperies were furnished by Watkins Brothers. The cabinet work, painting and other decorating was under the supervision of the contractors, Gustave Schreiber & Sons.

This beautiful library has not materialized without endless consultations by the directors and conferees with the builders. William Foulds, Sr., is the only member of the present board of directors who has seen continuous service. Dr. Whiton, the donor of the library, served from 1888 to 1922, or until his death. Mrs. Whiton, who died a few years ago, also left a legacy for the library.

Directors.
Former directors of the library are: William Foulds, Dr. Francis H. Whiton, Walter Lydall, Mrs. A. V. Pulsifer, R. G. Campbell, William W. Robertson, Arthur J. Straw and Miss Annie Starkweather.

The directors of Manchester Public Library, 1932 are: Edwin A. Lydall, chairman; Charles B. Loomis, treasurer; Mrs. Edith Strickland, secretary; William Foulds, Mrs. Calla Burr, Mrs. Lillian Bowers, Mrs. Inez Wolcott, librarian; Mrs. Florence Shearer, assistant librarian.

Building committee: Wells A. Strickland, chairman; Thomas J. Rogers, Scott H. Simon, William W. Robertson, Mrs. Edith Strickland, Mrs. Calla Burr and Mrs. Lillian Bowers.

Hutchins and French of Boston were the architects and Gustave Schreiber and Sons, Inc., the general contractor.

MINSTREL AND DANCE DRAWS CROWD OF 300

Second Congregational Church Society Offers Pleasing Entertainment Last Night.

The minstrel and dance at the Hollister street school last night under the auspices of the Married Couples' club of the Second Congregational church went over in a big way. It was the club's first public entertainment and more than 300 showed their appreciation of the efforts of the cast in no uncertain way. Proof that it pleased is borne out by the fact that they received two invitations to repeat the program before leaving the hall last evening.

Bill Dillon and Andy Anderson, the town's two best known comedians, were expected to make a lot of fun, and they did. Bill's solo, "Your Driving Me Crazy," and Andy's "Genevieve," brought hearty applause. They were attired in flaming red suits, black and white checked vests and flapping collars. Mert Stevenson as intercomer was in evening attire and his task was well handled. The other two end men, Walter Henry and Roger Winton, wore colorful rigs and were backed up, while the chorus singers wore blue trousers, orange sashes, plain white shirts and black bow ties.

Bill Brainard took the house by storm in his rendition of "River Stay Away From My Door." Corwin Grant sang with good effect, "Carolina's Calling Me." All the soloists pleased, the jokes were snappy and the whole program was well received. Buddy Bors's orchestra played for old-fashioned and modern dancing which lasted until midnight. Dan Miller prompted for the old-time numbers.

Senate office payrolls show that one way to be sure of having a job all the time is to be a relative of some senator.

Even if I told you my name you wouldn't know me. I am just the average American. There are millions like me.

Like most people, I'm not an automobile expert; couldn't take a car apart and put it together again for the life of me—but I know what a car has to have and has to do to make a hit with me. And I'm here to say that I am a dyed-in-the-wool Chrysler fan. I like the refinement and smoothness of a Chrysler. I like the map and dash, the smoothness and silence, the strength and safety of a Chrysler. There's something about a Chrysler that makes a fellow feel alive and up-to-date.

Believe me, when you get into a Chrysler—and feel the wonderful results of its patented Floating Power engine mounting—when you drive a few miles with Chrysler's automatic clutch—stop a few times with Chrysler's hydraulic brakes—you don't need anybody's testimony that Chrysler is the most satisfying car on wheels.

I'm telling all my friends to drive Chrysler. It's the friendly thing to do.

FOUR GOLF STARS IN MATCH SUNDAY

Grant and Geoghegan To Oppose Booth and Schoner At East Hartford.

The first of several fine exhibition golf matches scheduled for the East Hartford Golf Club course on Long Hill Road in East Hartford, will take place tomorrow afternoon starting at 3 o'clock. Rain prevented this exhibition last Sunday. Bobby Grant and "Bud" Geoghegan are to meet Clarence Booth and Ted Schoner in 18 holes of match play competition. Grant is the young Wethersfield amateur who won state-wide fame with numerous victories last season and Geoghegan is the new pro at the East Hartford Club and also a very capable player of former amateur fame.

HOOKS AND SLIDES

The comeback vogue which Jack Dempsey seems to have started has spread afar. Now we have the spectacle of John Dundee trying to call bring back the lost years.

The Dough Goe Home Flyweight Babe Tirasco, former amateur champion and winner of 13 straight fights since becoming a professional, has to borrow two-bits from the oaks when he wants to go to a movie. But that's his own wish, as he doesn't handle any of the money he earns by fighting, but lets his manager, Ollie Downes, take it home to mama.

Carnera Loses Primo Carnera was busted on the nose by a blond showgirl's straight razor the other day, after which he took a right crock to the chin. That probably puts him out of consideration for a bout with Jack Dempsey this summer.

Can't Miss Free Show Jimmy Jennings, one of our New York operatives, sends along the information that the Schmeling-Sharkey fight scheduled for June 21 in New York, will be postponed because a great many political big shots will be attending the national conventions and would not be able to use their passes.

But He May Learn Tris Speaker offers the opinion that Stanley Hack, young third baseman of the Cubs, will be bunched out of the league unless he learns how to come in and get 'em with his throwing hand. It seems Mr. Hack likes to get both hands on the ball to be sure he has it before heaving to first, a delay that fast men in the National League would not be long in exploiting.

McGraw Changes Mind John McGraw contributes the opinion that the three teams that will fight it out for the National League pennant this year are New York, Chicago and Cincinnati. Previously, Mr. McGraw had named as contenders New York, Chicago and St. Louis, so you may infer that he has changed his mind.

Youth and Age Jerry Travers and Billy Howell will play "Bunny" and "Ducky" Corkran at Baltimore May 22 to help the Olympic fund along. Jerry won his first amateur golf championship six years before Billy Howell was born.

Not Enough Fish Jack Sharkey begins his training leading up to the Schmeling encounter by going fishing. He would have to fish a long while, however, to find enough to fill that stadium.

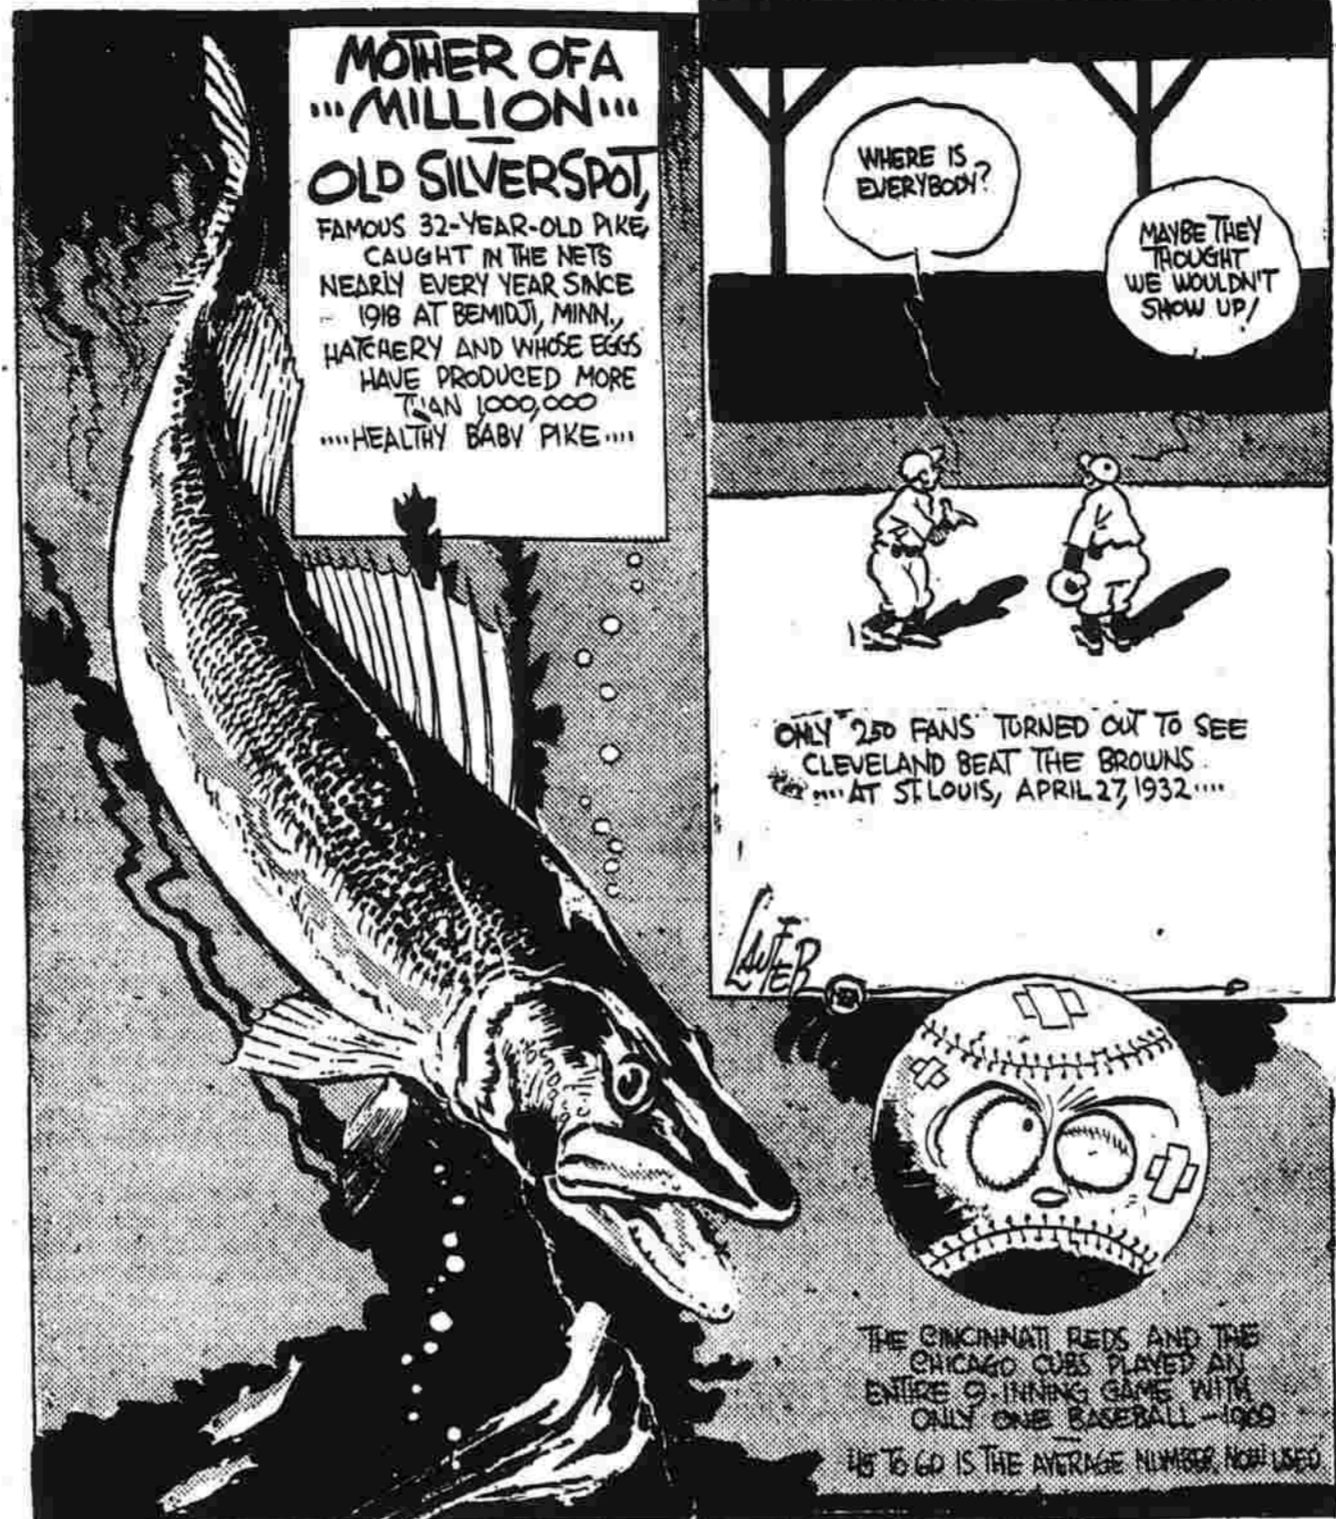

Frankie: Please Write Frankie Frisch hasn't broken in to print lately. He is the second baseman of the world champion (1931) Cardinals and predicted in March that Dizzy Dean would make the fans forget Burchleigh Grimes.

Faging Mr. Grimes Meanwhile Mr. Grimes, who has been down with flu, has been no help to the Cubs, but they have been winning without him. When Mr. Grimes gets going, Mr. McGraw might have something else to say about the pennant race, but it wouldn't be anything for print.

And Loudly, Too! Floyd "Babe" Herman is not a radio broadcaster, but every time he makes a base hit in Cincinnati, it echoes all over Brooklyn.

Grapplers Get It M. Jacques Curley, whose wrestlers are awarming all over the country, has been forced to move from his little office "into a suite in the Times building. Maybe the wrestlers will bring back prosperity. At least they have brought it in certain quarters.

New High School Mark Made As Locals Beat Meriden High, 63-27

Braves Trounced By Reds 14 to 1 Receive Second Straight Defeat in West; Yanks Second.

Chicago, May 7.—(AP)—Jimmy Foxx, one of Connie Mack's boys who refuses to ride the toboggan of an early season slump, smashed his way to the top of the American League batting race during its third week.

Unofficial averages, including games of Wednesday, gave the Philadelphia first baseman 25 hits in 61 attempts for the mark of .410. G. Walker of Detroit, leader of the second week with a .472, dropped to seventh with a .97 point fall. Carl Reynolds of Washington climbed to second place with a 30 point gain to .98 for the week.

The list of leaders was conspicuously by the absence of Babe Ruth whose average fell from .394 to .327 during the week. The other place setters were Appling, Chicago, .394; Dickey, New York, .389; Myatt, Cleveland, .385; Gehrig, New York, .377; G. Walker, Detroit, .375; Oliver, Boston, .371; Goslin, St. Louis, .362, and Cronin, Washington, .362.

Individual batting performance honors were well scattered although Johnson of Detroit led in two specialties with 29 hits for the largest number of safe blows and a leading total of nine doubles. Porter of Cleveland led in run getting with 20, Gehring of Detroit topped the field in hits for total bases with a record of 49 and was tied with Averill of Cleveland in batting in runs at 23. Chapman of the Yankees led in base stealing, as per custom, with five, while six others tied Foxx with three triples and Babe Ruth led the home run race with six circuit smashes Wednesday night.

The Yankees kept in front in team batting with a .295 percentage with Washington still first in fielding at .981. Detroit had 22 double plays on the right side of the record books.

Thirteen starting pitchers clung to the rapidly dwindling undefeated class with Wesley Ferrell of Cleveland topping the list with his five Senators had four victories and no straight victories. Weaver of the Reds in six starts. "Lefty" Grove of the Athletics was down the early list for a change with two triumphs and three defeats in six starts. Ferrell has since been defeated.

Yale is Choice in Today's Race Favored Over Columbia and Pennsylvania in Blackwell Cup Regatta.

Philadelphia, May 7.—(AP)—Pennsylvania's untried crew, with stroke yet failed to make contact with the freshmen eight last year, was the dark horse today opposing Columbia and Yale in the Blackwell Cup regatta which opens the rowing season on the Schuylkill river.

For the first time since 1884 the crews will race on the mile-and-a-half Flat Rock Dam course.

Yale ranks a heavy favorite to win the cup as little or nothing is known of the Quaker crew's ability and Navy took Columbia's measure without apparent trouble.

The first race, for freshmen, is scheduled for 2:30 p. m. E. S. T., and the others will follow at 45-minute intervals. In addition to the varsity and freshmen events there will be races for 150-pound varsity eight and junior varsity eight.

Syracuse vs. Navy in Boat Regatta Annapolis, Md., May 7.—(AP)—Navy's varsity crew, lightest in many years and made up of new material, was host today to Syracuse. Outweighed 13 pounds to the man the 'Middies were out to take revenge for the defeat handed them a year ago by the Orange crew.

Star All-Around Athlete Also Wins Shot Put and Javelin; Rowsell, Fraser in Lightweight; Rhode Island Meet Week From Today.

Meriden High proved unable to offer much opposition to Coach Charles L. Wigren's undefeated M. H. S. track and field team at the West Side playgrounds yesterday afternoon, Manchester winning 63 to 27. Meriden won only two first places in the ten events, those being in the discus and high jump.

Once again Domenick Squatrito was the outstanding performer for the Wigren squad. He not only won three firsts, but also set what may be a Connecticut high school record in the century. Two timers, Frank Busch and Fran Hansen, both caught him at exactly 9.9. Starter Lewis Lloyd declared that none of the runners beat the gun. Measurement of the track after the conclusion of the meet failed to reveal any shortcomings.

Best Time Known. Squatrito's time in the hundred is a new Manchester High record, the former mark of 10.1-6 having been held jointly by Frank Wittmann, captain of the present team and Clifford Gustafson. The best C. C. I. L. record on record is 10.1-0 held by O'Connor of Bristol while the state meet record of 10 flat was made by Messaros of New Haven Hillhouse. So far as is known, no Connecticut high school runner has been timed under ten seconds in recent years at least. Squatrito's time is only four or five-tenths of a second under the world's record.

Squatrito also won the shot put with a heave of 46.8 and the javelin with a hurl of 135.5-1.2. He did not compete in the 220. Captain Wittmann remained out of the century and only competed in the 200 which he won with the same effort. Roy Fraser of Manchester placed second in both of the dashes and another sophomore athlete who did very well was Norman Rowsell who won the 440 with a fine closing sprint and also placed third in the century to give Manchester a clean sweep in that event.

Jimmy Leary, the young man who has just been awarded an Olin scholarship at Wesleyan, won the broad jump with a leap of 20.3 in his second attempt. Both of his other attempts resulted in faults. He also placed second in the running high jump which was won by the hammer thrower. Penn of Meriden won the discus by a scant two inches over Garrone of Manchester. The relay was not included in the program.

Rhode Island Meet Next week Saturday Manchester High will compete in its first out of the state meet in history when it journeys to Kingston, R. I. to participate in the Rhode Island State College meet. Manchester will be represented in the 100, 200, 440, 880, mile, low hurdles, high jump, broad jump, pole vault, shot put, discus, javelin and possibly the hammer throw. The low hurdles and hammer throw are new events for the local athletes. Ralph Smith will probably take in the first and Squatrito, McCormick and Garrone will have the hammer.

The summary of events yesterday follows: 100 yard dash: Squatrito, Manchester; Fraser, Manchester; Rowsell, Manchester; time, 9.9. 220 yard dash: Wittmann, Manchester; Fraser, Manchester; Martindale, Meriden; time, 24.5. 440 yard run: Rowsell, Manchester; Martindale, Meriden; Moszer, Manchester; time, 56.9. 800 yard run: Burns, Manchester; time, 2:15.4. EXTEND CREDIT ON LIGHT BILLS THREE MONTHS must borrow very considerable sums of money for its customers. The banks are willing to make the necessary loans only because of the fact that our earnings have held up well during this trying period, and in consequence thereof, our credit is good.

"If, as has been suggested, we should, instead, reduce our rates to a point where our earnings would suffer to a degree as in many other industries, our credit would then be impaired and we would be unable to take this desirable action."

Big Relief

"Moreover, the amount to be gained by each individual customer through such a reduction would be small even if we were to stop paying dividends altogether, since the total of annual dividends paid by the company represents an item of only a fraction of a cent per kilowatt-hour sold; a sum so small as to be a negligible individual family gain as compared with the relief afforded to the community by our present method of procedure."

The company's offer of credit is as follows: In the event that you or the principal wage earner of your family is out of work, or employed for irregular hours, or in need of other means of support, thus making it impossible for you to pay your household bills for electric service, or other necessities, we offer you the next "we months" service at your home, commencing with the June 1, 1932 billing, without obligation on your part to make payment until such time as your period of financial embarrassment has passed.

"You need not hesitate to take advantage of this offer as we believe it to be a sound business proposition for the following reasons: Help Their Credit

"In the majority of cases, the families who through misfortune are compelled to take advantage of these credit privileges will before very long get on their feet again financially and will then be able to pay for the current used in these months.

"In our experience the percentage of those who willfully try to avoid payment of service furnished is small, and, therefore, our loss will be slight.

"We anticipate that our present consideration in these trying times will react to increase our sales in the future although it is definitely understood that any one taking advantage of this offer does not place himself under any obligation whatsoever to make a greater use of our service in the future than in the past.

No Restrictions "There is absolutely no restriction placed on your use of current during the period for which this long have a credit privilege. This offer is also being made in Hartford and by all subsidiary companies of the Hartford Electric Light Company throughout the state.

RAID GAMBLING DEN

New York, May 7.—(AP)—Fashionably gowned women and their escorts, allegedly gambling with chips representing $100, $500 and $1,000, were surprised by police raiders in a richly furnished 21-room penthouse on Park avenue at 53rd street shortly after midnight.

Gambling equipment valued at $10,000 was seized and three men were arrested as "common gamblers." The 50 men and women patrons were permitted to go.

Police estimated the value of the furnishings of the penthouse at $40,000.

The names given by those arrested were Harold King, Harry Lewis and Harry Williams.

Woman's Place In The News

Seeks to Conserve Eyes. According to Miss Eleanor P. Brown, secretary of the Society for Prevention of Blindness, her organization and Columbia University are experimenting to see if there is such a thing as a saturation point for reading, beyond which eyes suffer no matter how ideal factors of lighting and sight may be.

"Among the things we hope these experiments will show are: How much time should a child with normal vision spend in reading? Which materials are best suited to children with eye defects? Ought children from five to six engage in close work? How long should lighting be best suited to the varying age levels of readers? What degree and intensity of lighting is best?"

Wandering Housewives

American passport statistics show that more housewives take trips abroad than women in any other occupation. In a list of 31 classified occupations, "housewives" received 13.06 per cent of all the passports issued in 1931.

Travel writers foot the list, with only 0.83 per cent of passports credited to them.

Congresswomen's Uniform

The eight women in the national legislative body have an unwritten agreement to wear only black and white when they appear on the floor of either the House or the Senate.

Ruth Pratt usually wears Paris frocks. Ruth Bryan Owen is equally chic.

The new $2,000,000 New York House of Detention for Women has abandoned drab uniforms for inmates.

The 289 women detained there now wear gay pink, green, blue or yellow dresses.

Mature Charm

Lynn Montagne, envied by practically every woman who sees her grace and beauty on the stage, is a living tribute to the charm maturity can have. She is listed in the World Almanac as being born in London, England, in 1882, making her 50 years old.

Cheaper Meals

According to the Y. W. C. A. even the cheapest meals girls are buying now are five cents per meal cheaper than they were in January. They credit this to the fact that through January and into February girls had been saving money by having their living budgets.

Women Reporters Aided

In Spain when women journalists get too old to work, they will now have a place to live, at government expense. Spain's Republican government has made one of the former king's palaces into a residence for aged and retired journalists, with provision for women as well as men.

written Pacific coast firms, suggesting they open branch stores at Honolulu. It also was understood it be known personnel making such requests could be declined by the Navy.

Watch for Retrial

The whole city was watching meanwhile developments in the scheduled retrial of four Hawaiians of mixed blood charged with assaulting Mrs. Massie. Retrial depends entirely on whether Mrs. Massie remains in the islands to testify.

John C. Kelley, public prosecutor, made public a statement calling on Mrs. Massie to remain as a witness. Mrs. Massie announced she planned to sail for the mainland and board the S. S. Metlo, Sunday.

Clarence Darrow, chief of the defense counsel for Mrs. Fortescue and her co-defendants, said Mrs. Massie had decided to remain.

It was learned on good authority that Mrs. Fortescue, to whom the prospect of her daughter "running away" from a retrial was distasteful, insisted on her remaining. Darrow vigorously opposed it.

FORD TO EXPAND HIS GARDEN IDEA

subistence during the present season," he said in a statement published today.

"It will be a great thing for the country if our people are able to approach next winter with a sense of personal and domestic security. With one foot on the land and the other on industry, the country and every family in it are soundly based. If one falls the other is there, and both can't fall together."

Ford's Suggestion

He conceives of large industries eventually broken up into many small units, distributed through rural areas so that factory workers can till the soil half the year, or when work in the factories becomes slack.

Ford said the only ones hostile to his plan probably will be "food monopolists who dread to see the American family become independent in this respect."

His plan, he said, "has no Santa Claus features," for, "we have grown too accustomed to expecting that the government or the employer or some fund will do things for us. We must all work together whether anyone employs us or not, and the always-open door to self-employment is the land."

With the planting season here, he said, owners of idle land would be glad to lend it for cultivation by groups of employed and unemployed, working together.

Illegal liquor traffic are baseless attempts to injure my private character and public standing."

Mrs. Welch flatly denies that she ever told Governor Cross the rum running story. She states that the Governor asked her if she had ever heard such rumors and that she had never heard such rumors and that she did not believe them. "Everything that Spelacy said concerning me is absolutely false," she says. "I'm for Mr. McNeil one thousand per cent."

MC NEIL'S DENIAL

Bridgeport, May 7.—(AP)—Archibald McNeil, of this city, Democratic National committeeman today denied and characterized as a "baseless attempt to injure my private character" the statement of Thomas Spelacy, leader of the Alfred E. Smith forces in the State, that Governor W. L. Cross had said he would not appoint Mr. McNeil as Democratic state chairman because his name was linked with alleged rum-running.

Mayor Edward T. Buckingham at the same time issued a statement today indicating that the alleged unloading of a rum ship here while Mr. McNeil was a police commissioner had nothing whatever to do with the fact that Mr. McNeil was not reappointed as police commissioner.

"There is no desire on my part to enter into a newspaper controversy over the matter" said the mayor. "In fairness to Mr. McNeil and to

BOTH CLAIM CONTROL

(By Associated Press)

With both the Smith and the Roosevelt group leaders in the state Democracy claiming control of the state convention in Hartford on May 16 and 17 and a canvass going on to end the how each pledged delegate stands, several tabulations of the delegate body as to preference have been made. There is lack of agreement in the "gures. Many unannounced and unpledged delegates for Iowa primaries have already made known their intention to vote with the Smith group, and at the meeting in New Haven on Wednesday night, over which Thomas J. Spelacy was chairman, the claim was made that the state convention, through the Senatorial district caucuses, would be organized by the Smith group, and a National convention delegation favoring former Governor Alfred E. Smith for the presidency would be elected.

The claim made at the meeting over the earlier in the Roosevelt group that it had control of the convention by having majority strength in eighteen district caucuses. The number of pledged delegates as reported, immediately after the primaries exceeded the total Smith delegates. The battle of the groups is insuring enough unpledged delegates to give a majority in the state convention. The Smith group claim to be within fifty votes of the needed majority which is 485 of the 968 seats in the body.

FEAR 60 DROWNED

Tokyo, May 7.—(AP)—A dispatch to the Rengo News Agency from Mokpo, Korea, today, said the small fishing boat Saitenmaru, carrying 60 Korean fishermen, was missing near Kookan Island, 100 miles southwest of Mokpo.

The weather was stormy, the dispatch said, and boats had put out to the rescue. Women laborers are chiefly used in the fishing industry on that coast.

GAS BUGGIES—From the Philosopher.

By FRANK BECK

"An Old Man Play ran through the trees, the Tinies trailed along at ease. "He seems a fine old fellow," whispered Duncy, with a grin.

"The water king, who sent us here, said there'd be nothing we need fear. He said that we'd find play. I wonder how soon 'twill begin!" "Oh, don't be too impatient, son," snapped Scouty. "We will have some fun, if we just do as we are told. I'm fond of Old Man Play."

"The way he jumps around makes me feel sure he's happy as can be. That's why I'm glad to follow him upon his merry way."

All of a sudden Old Man Play jumped to a stump and shouted, "Hey! Sit down a minute, in the grass. I want to talk o' you."

The Tinies promptly squatted down in a shady spot, upon the ground. The old man then continued, "I will tell you what I'll do. "Of course, you know, when summer's here, we tots are looking for good cheer. They love to spin their little tops and bounce their ball and

An' she said unto dem a second time: 'Fling down Jezebel,' an' de answer come back: 'We ain't gwine to fling down no Jezebel.' An' she cried unto dem yet a third time: 'Fling down Jezebel,' an' dey den changed deir minds, an' dey flung her down seventy times seven, an' she busted into pieces, which could not be numbered fer de multitude thereof; an' dere was a great weepin' an' wallin' an' snatchin' out uv teeth; an' dey picked up her fragments twelve basketful, five loaves an' two small fishes. TRADE SCHOOL GETS BROADCAST RIGHTS
 Will Go On the Air Thursday Night As Part of Inspection Program.

Preparations are going forward thoroughly for the annual "Open Night" at the Manchester State Trade school which will be observed from 7 until 9 o'clock Thursday night. As in the past, the public is cordially welcome to inspect the entire school.

Radio Demonstration
 One of the new features will be a demonstration of radio broadcasting to be demonstrated by the electrical department under the supervision of C. E. Gardner who has studied extensively in this type of work. The Federal Radio Commission at Washington has given permission for experimental broadcasting on a wave length of five meters.

The Trade school station is WEAZ and during the evening of the "Open Night" program, amplifiers will be located throughout the school so that visitors may hear the broadcast which will simultaneously be going out on the air to be picked up by other short wave sets. Not only code but the human voice can be sent and received at the Trade school's new station.

To Be in Operation
 Machinery in every department will be in operation giving the visitors an excellent opportunity to watching practical work in progress at the school. An added feature will be the more recent and up-to-date machinery which has been added to the various departments and is now in use by the apprentices at their trades.

An exhibition of finished work done by the students will be on display in the school assembly hall, among which will be the early American Colonial weaves developed by the textile department. These beautiful fabrics are being woven in the school's shops. The Trade school orchestra will furnish music.

The Junior Mission band of the Swedish Lutheran church will meet this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the church.
