

FACTIONS DISCUSS POLITICAL TRUCE

Leaders Meet In Hartford Today To See If Clashes At Convention May Be Averted.

By Associated Press
A truce on factional politics in the Democratic Party which developed out of the recent caucuses will be discussed today at a conference of Old Guard and New Guard leaders in Hartford, to avoid if possible clashes on the opening night of the state convention a week hence.

On both sides the opinion is held that if contests begin in Senatorial and Congressional district conventions to establish respective strengths of the groups the first session might last all night. These clashes would follow the keynote speech which will be given by J. J. Shouse, of the National committee, and in a recess to be declared by William C. Fox of New London, who was selected by the arrangement committee to serve as temporary chairman.

LEADERS, WORKERS IN HOSPITAL DRIVE

Canvassing Group Will Hop Off From Instruction Dinner Tonight.

At 6:15 o'clock tonight, the 1932 Memorial Hospital campaign to raise a quota of $20,000—the amount needed to meet an anticipated operating deficit for the forthcoming fiscal year—will open officially with a dinner at the Masonic Temple for the drive organization, consisting of nearly 200 volunteer workers. The drive will continue through Monday of next week and Jay E. Rand, general chairman, today expressed his confidence that workers would realize the goal.

The dinner tonight will be served by the Women's Auxiliary of the Hospital and will be paid for by the Board of Trustees personally. During the dinner full instructions will be given the workers and each will be provided with a blue identification card, signed by the general chairman and the secretary. Workers will be instructed that they must show this card when soliciting and the townspeople are requested not to make contributions unless such a card is shown by the solicitor.

Select Own Prospects

After the dinner, all workers will select the names of those whom they wish to canvass from the alphabetically typed lists, mounted on tables. The number of prospects solicited by each worker will not be more than twenty. The files will be in charge of fifteen Girl Scouts and fifteen girls from the High School. The Girl Scouts were obtained through Mrs. Charles Oliver, scout commissioner, and the High School girls through Principal C. P. Quimby.

The first report of the workers will be made Friday evening at 6:15 o'clock at another luncheon meeting at the Masonic Temple. The final report will be made next Monday evening. All workers are requested to be present at the meeting tonight. A table will be available for each division and a section reserved for each team.

The Organization

The drive organization is practically complete, with only a few exceptions, and is as follows:

Jay E. Rand, general chairman; Manchester, Co. treasurer; Charles W. Holman, E. Elmore Watkins, R. LaMotte Russell, Dr. D. C. Y. Moore, D. M. Caldwell and E. J. McCabe, executive secretary.

NEW HAVEN HOLDS HISTORICAL EVENT

Mayor Murphy Reenacts Incident of Our War For Independence.

New Haven, May 9.—(AP)—Mayor John W. Murphy was ready today to defy the stern demands of the commander of a scarlet-coated military detachment although knowing he would finally give in under the threat of force.

The occasion was the scheduled re-enactment of Benedict Arnold's demand for the keys to the powder house prior to marching on Boston on the receipt of news of the battle of Lexington. Today's ceremony was in commemoration of the 175th anniversary of that affair.

Mayor Murphy was to take the part of the selectman who twice refused the demand when Arnold sent his adjutant only to give in when the commander threatened to avail himself of the force behind him.

Major Charles E. Lockhart, commander of the second company, Governor's Foot Guard, was cast in the role of Arnold and Captain Carl G. Swanson, adjutant, took the part of Lt. Leavenworth, Arnold's messenger.

Instead of the departure of the force for Boston, however, today's program called for a peaceable parade of the company on the Green, and a return to the armory for the annual banquet. Senator Hiram Bingham was to be the principal speaker.

READY TO RELEASE FALL

These contrasting pictures show how the events of the past 10 years have left their mark on Albert B. Fall, President Harding's secretary of interior, who is due to be released today from the New Mexico state prison after serving slightly less than 10 months for accepting $100,000 bribe from E. L. Doherty, oil magnate, in 1921. The money, in cash, was delivered to Fall in the famous "little black bag" by Doherty's son and soon thereafter Doherty got exclusive drilling rights on the navy's vast Elk Hills oil reserve in California. After years of fighting in the courts, Fall was finally adjudged guilty and on July 20, 1931, entered the New Mexico prison under a sentence of a year and a day, a term since shortened by the customary time off for "good behavior." On Feb. 2 of this year, President Hoover refused to parole Fall, despite pleas that he was "a very sick man." He was taken to the prison in an ambulance and is reported to have been in very feeble health since that time.

TWO HUNDRED NUDISTS ARRESTED AFTER PARADE

Canadian Jail Thronged With Prisoners—Men, Women and Children Face Long Prison Terms.

Nelson, B. C., May 9.—(AP)—Nelson jail is crammed to the doors today following the biggest roundup of nude Doukhobors staged by police in years. The jail population was increased by 209 yesterday and this number, added to the 118 already under sentence following the parade a week ago yesterday, taxed the capacity of the jail to the limit.

Those arrested yesterday were found parading in the same orchard at Thrums where the clash between nudists and police occurred a week ago. Of the prisoners, 90 were men, 52 women and 67 children under 14 years of age. All will be charged with appearing in the nude in a public place.

Doukhobors submitted to arrest without protest. Police simply surrounded them in the orchard and sent for trucks to take them to Nelson. As they arrived the trucks the nudists scrambled aboard voluntarily and truck load after truck load set off for the jail.

Religious Ceremony

When the police encountered the nudists they were performing a religious ceremony and had a table laid under the trees with bread and water on it. The nude men lined up on one side of the table and the women on the other. They chanted and talked while the officers kept watch as they waited for the trucks.

Nearly all the offenders carried bundles of clothing. As they were unloaded from the trucks in the jail yard they were ordered to dress and go without objection.

When the police arrested 118 nude paraders they had to use force. The Doukhobors put up a stiff fight and the officers subdued them with lengths of rubber hose and itching powder which they sprinkled on the bare skins. The 118 were tried before a magistrate and sentenced to three years in penitentiary, under a recent amendment to the criminal code.

Those arrested yesterday face similar terms.

Conflicting action against disturbances in the Doukhobor communities was announced by the British Columbia and Saskatchewan governments and the co-operation of the dominion government has been enlisted. R. H. Pooley, attorney general of British Columbia, visited Nelson last week and addressed the Doukhobors warning them the law would be strictly enforced.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

Croydon, Eng., May 9.—(AP)—The Imperial Airways liner Horatia, bound through the rain for Paris with 137 passengers, was struck by lightning today over the town of Tonbridge, but the pilot turned around and landed here safely.

The bolt blew out the cockpit windows, disabled the wireless aerial and damaged two of the four propellers. The uninjured passengers were transferred to another plane and took off again immediately.

Chicago, May 9.—(AP)—Cook county officials are jealous of their jail.

"They won't have persons breaking in when they're not wanted. Consequently, First Assistant Warden George Gibson appealed to Chicago police last night for help when Claude Stewart appeared at the jail door.

"There's a man trying to break in the front door of our jail," he telephoned police.

"And what are you doing?" asked the desk sergeant.

WICKERSHAM IS FOR CHANGE IN THE "DRY" LAWS

Famous Lawyer Declares He Believes More Strongly Than Ever Now the Act Must Be Repealed.

Washington, May 9.—(AP)—George W. Wickersham believes more strongly than ever that a referendum on prohibition is needed. Sixteen months after winding up the work of the notable crime-study commission which bore his name, Wickersham expressed the conviction in an interview yesterday that a vote on altering the 18th amendment through state conventions would do much good by crystallizing what he termed the "sober, informed and deliberate opinion of the people."

He knew, he said, that several members of his commission held the same opinion.

Asked About Report

He was asked about the apparent discrepancy between the conclusions appended to the report and the views expressed by a majority of the members in their individual expressions. While the summary set forth that "the commission is opposed to repeal of the 18th amendment" the greater number of the commission argued the dry law should be changed in some way.

"Six of the members," replied Wickersham, "felt in varying degrees that prohibition was not a success in its form at that time. Four of us felt that it was not being enforced properly but that sufficiently opportunity had not been given to judge it a failure. One member (Newton D. Baker) felt that the whole question should be remitted at once to the states. All were opposed to a return of the saloon."

Conflicting Opinions

"The summary represented the best view we could obtain from the conflicting opinions," Wickersham said he felt the prohibition investigation and report had overshadowed unduly the great body of work done by the commission on other angles of law enforcement.

Newton D. Baker, said that the whole question should be remitted at once to the states. All were opposed to a return of the saloon.

FALL'S SENTENCE WILL END TODAY

Former Secretary of Interior Has Been Sick Since Sept. 20 Last.

S. to P. N. Mex., May 9.—(AP)—The time for Albert B. Fall's release from prison remained doubtful today when Warden Swope of the New Mexico state prison awaiting amended commitment papers from Washington.

The amended papers, sent by air mail Saturday and due to arrive today, apparently would overcome the warden's objection to the release. He had insisted that Fall's $100,000 fine be paid. Court action to cancel the fine failed.

Except for Warden Swope's insistence on obeying instructions the man found guilty of taking a bribe from Edward L. Doherty in the leasing of naval oil reserves during the Harding administration, would have been free yesterday. The sentence of a year and a day, with time off for good behavior, was completed here.

Family Present

Members of Fall's family, including his wife, awaited his release. It was expected the seventy-year-old ranchman would be taken to his El Paso, Texas, home but the family was to determine if the trip would be made by train or motor ambulance. Fall went to prison in an ambulance.

In the first information regarding his confinement made public since the publicity ban was established nearly ten months ago, it was learned Fall had not left his hospital bed since September 20. Fall, who was mounted and regained his fire and fighting spirit as the time neared for him to leave the prison hospital last July 20.

WORLD BANK REPORT

Basel, Switzerland, May 9.—(AP)—Directors of the Bank for International Settlements today authorized a three-month renewal of the bank's one-fourth share in the $90,000,000 credit extended to Germany in conjunction with the Banks of France and England and the American Federal Reserve. The credit would have expired on June 4.

A statement as of April 30 showed an increase in deposits from 608,000,000 Swiss francs to 620,000,000 in that month. At the end of 1931 the total deposits were 468,000,000 francs.

TAX BILL NEARING ITS ENACTMENT AS REPORT IS RECEIVED

SEVEN CANDIDATES FOR BISHOP POSTS

Election To Be Held By Methodists Within the Next Ten Days.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 9.—(AP)—Although the Episcopal election will not take place for another week or ten days, seven names are mentioned by delegates of the Methodist general conference as the outstanding possibilities for new bishops.

Opinion in well informed quarters is that the Episcopacy committee will recommend the election of three new bishops. Many delegates believe the three will be elected from the following list: Lewis O. Hartman, Boston; Joseph M. M. Gray, Detroit; Loren J. Edwards, Dayton; J. Ralph Magee, Seattle; William E. Shaw, Peoria, Ill.; Albert E. Day and Ralph B. Urmay, both of Pittsburgh.

The election of new bishops, always a matter of intense conference interest, is surrounded with more uncertainty than ever before. Several factors have ended to make the whole subject of new bishops and the assignment of elected bishops a matter wholly dependent on conference action on pending resolutions.

Eight May Retire

It is proposed to make a bishop's retirement mandatory at the general conference nearest his 70th birthday. If approved, this would mean the retirement of eight bishops in 1932. The conference has been agreed the election of a large number of bishops at one time and this year three new bishops will be consecrated at this time, so that only five will have to be elected at the next quadrennial. In opposition to this, there is a strong group which urged that as an economy measure no bishops be elected at this conference.

Chairman McDuffie

Chairman McDuffie, in making the announcement of the House economy committee meeting, said: "We are going to try to effect some other economies, if at all possible. We will welcome suggestions from President Hoover and anyone else." The Alabama Democrat said he hoped "that we might salvage a few millions more if we can get the cooperation of the executive department."

McDuffie said he hoped the Senate would approve the House bill giving President Hoover broad authority to reorganize the government departments in order that some reductions in government costs could be made in 1933.

TARDIEU DEFEATED, PLANS TO RESIGN

Premier Requests That His Successor Be Chosen At Once—Herriot Mentioned

Paris, May 9.—(AP)—Defeated by a decisive margin yesterday in preliminary elections, Premier Andre Tardieu will resign tomorrow night with a request that his successor be chosen immediately.

An official announcement after a Cabinet meeting this morning said that the resignation will be presented as soon as the Parliament has elected a new president to succeed Paul Doumer, and that it will be accompanied by a request that the present government not be asked to continue in office until the new Chamber of Deputies just elected convenes in June.

Herriot Is Chosen

Eduard Herriot who was premier in 1924, is the most likely choice to succeed M. Tardieu. With returns practically complete from yesterday's voting, his party is left with a slight majority in the Chamber, giving the left groups substantial control.

The Cabinet communique said its course of action had been decided upon "in view of the situation created by the coincidence of a presidential election coming so closely after a general election which changed the chamber majority."

When the decision was made known, many members of the chamber considered it as implying that M. Tardieu would not continue to take part in the disarmament conference at Geneva or in other impending international meetings.

Creation of a joint commission to draft a bill to cut $500,000,000 off Federal expenditures, was proposed as the Senate considered a resolution to abandon its ten per cent appropriations reduction plan. Senator Stephen D. Dill, of California, offered a resolution to create a joint commission to draft a new economy program. It would be composed of the President or his representatives, two Senators and two members of the House and would be authorized to report back within ten days.

Refuses To Reopen Rate Section of Measure To Speed Up Work—President Is Working On a Compromise Tax Proposition.

Washington, May 9.—(AP)—The big boy tax bill was put on the mark for a sprint toward enactment today, while party chieftains determined anew to supplement its dwarfed running mate—the economy bill.

After refusing 12 to 6 to reopen the rate section of the $1,010,000,000 revenue measure, the Senate finance committee reported it and bi-partisan determination to press it through is evident.

Meanwhile, the Senate appropriations committee went to work on the vital supply and economy bills, determined to bring about savings of more than $200,000,000 which are necessary to make the new tax bill balance the 1933 budget.

Money Saving Plan

And far up Pennsylvania avenue, President Hoover worked steadily in a continued effort to rally support in the Republican-controlled Senate jointly for the compromise tax bill and a $287,000,000 money-saving program.

The White House showed little sign of activity, following the conferences of Saturday and last night, but presidential secretaries confirmed that Mr. Hoover was maintaining contact with the Senate.

He intends to concentrate upon Senate affairs principally in coming days, since it now holds not only the tax and economy bills but also a majority of the appropriation measures. He is not planning to call in immediately any additional sizeable group of Senate leaders. The possibility remained, nevertheless, that Democratic chieftains might be summoned singly or in force.

Permanent Economies

"President Hoover said if given the authority he could make many consolidations within 30 days that would effect economies," he said, "I am in favor of that. In addition, he could make many permanent economies that will help the taxpayers in years to come."

The economy bill authorized President Hoover to reorganize government activities not created by statute subject to congressional approval. McDuffie added that he did not believe Congress would veto any reorganization of the government that will effect savings, without impairing the efficiency of the federal structure.

President Hoover has been assured a move will be made to hold the Senate in day and night sessions on the tax bill.

With the exception of its tariff provisions, which he generally opposes, the President is hopeful a non-partisan force can be created which will sweep the bill through that branch in one week's time, or less.

The Senate appropriations committee, in beginning work on the billion dollar independent offices supply measure, carrying funds for the Veterans Bureau, determined definitely to make the ten per cent reduction voted in other appropriations acted upon.

The ten per cent reduction is below the reduced appropriation voted by the House, and the slash was made all along the line.

Chairman Jones of the committee, who attended last night's White House conference, said "we are going ahead in regular order."

Joint Commission

Creation of a joint commission to draft a bill to cut $500,000,000 off Federal expenditures, was proposed as the Senate considered a resolution to abandon its ten per cent appropriations reduction plan. Senator Stephen D. Dill, of California, offered a resolution to create a joint commission to draft a new economy program. It would be composed of the President or his representatives, two Senators and two members of the House and would be authorized to report back within ten days.

WHITEHEAD SCORES DUTY ON RUBBER

Head of Norwalk Firm Declares That Small Dealers Will Be Hard Hit.

Stamford, May 9.—(AP)—John W. Whitehead, president of the Norwalk Tire and Rubber Company, who was a visitor in this city today, bitterly assailed the proposed duty of five cents a pound on crude rubber, stating that it is discriminatory against the small rubber manufacturer, and would swell the ranks of the unemployed by thousands, as well as drive the majority of small manufacturers out of business.

"A sales tax," declared Mr. Whitehead, "would not be a discrimination against the small manufacturer and would bring the government positive revenue that could be fixed on approximate sale of manufactured rubber goods amounting to $600,000,000 per year, whereas the amount of revenue to be derived from an import duty this year would be very small, because the large manufacturers have stored here more than a year's supply of crude rubber purchased because of the low price prevailing.

Hits Small Dealers

"The small manufacturer because of the depression and keen competition is forced to purchase his supply from month to month and could not hope to compete with his big brother, when he is forced to purchase his crude material at a cost of 150 per cent more than the manufacturer who has his stock in his warehouse.

"Should manufacturers of this country become compelled to pay such a tax they could only successfully compete with manufacturers in foreign countries by putting plants in foreign countries."

"The proposed tax is a discrimination against the small manufacturer, the rubber workers, and protects no one but a pound of rubber is produced in America."

TREASURY BALANCE

Washington, May 9.—(AP)—Treasury receipts for May 6 were $4,466,920.51; expenditures $23,125,910.66; balance $663,126,534.58. Customs duties for six days of May were $3,421,895.71.

COLUMBIA LAKE BOUGHT BY TOWN

Special Meeting Votes To Pay $25,000 For Property; Owners Organize.

Columbia, May 9.—What is said to be the largest attended town meeting ever held here took place Saturday afternoon to vote on the question of purchasing Columbia lake from the American Thread Company.

The meeting was called to order at 2:10 by Town Clerk H. P. Collins, and William Wolf was chosen moderator by vote of those present.

"Whereas, the Selectmen of the Town of Columbia have secured from the American Thread Co. a ninety-day option for the purchase of their property in Columbia known as the Columbia lake property, for the sum of $25,000 payable $10,000 upon date of purchase and the balance of $15,000 over a period of five years, therefore be it resolved, that we, the legal voters of the town of Columbia, do hereby authorize and direct said Selectmen to purchase said property according to the terms of said option, and to obtain a good and sufficient deed thereof, on or before the expiration of such option."

"And be it further resolved, that to provide funds for said purchase, the Selectmen are hereby authorized to borrow such sum of money as may be necessary, and to execute the town's note therefor."

The motion was made and seconded to accept the resolution, and remarks called for. Town Clerk H. P. Collins made a few remarks giving some figures in regard to lake property. Thirty year ago a certain farm property on the lake was sold for $1,200. Lots were sold and cottages erected, and the same area represented is now worth $54,000.

The question was called for and the vote was unanimous in favor of buying the lake. The second motion was made and seconded to choose a board of control to act with the Selectmen was passed over. The meeting then adjourned after a 25 minute session.

G. H. Waddell of Manchester, who owns a cottage at the lake, asked the lake owners to remain for a few minutes, stating that it was probably the first time they had ever been together, and it was a good time to talk over things of interest to all. They decided to form an association for their mutual protection and interest, and the following committee was chosen: Mr. Webster, Mrs. Welch, Mrs. Beck, Mr. Miller and Mrs. Lockwood.

SENIORS DESCRIBE WASHINGTON TRIP

15 From High School Here Make Pilgrimage With Rockville Group.

The fifteen Manchester High seniors who went with the Rockville High seniors on their annual Washington tour arrived home Saturday evening after a week of most interesting travel. The Anderson twins, Irma of Eldridge street, and Ida, of West street were kind enough to tell The Herald representative a lot about their trip which started last week Monday morning at 5:30 (E. T.) from the Manchester station. There are 112 in the party which was under the personal direction of Principal Philip Howe of Rockville and chaperoned by two women teachers and one man teacher from the Rockville faculty.

The group had perfect weather throughout the week, no rain, plenty of sunshine, and cool nights on the boat and in Washington. They found the streets and sidewalks plenty hot enough and for the most part were in the shade. They wrapped all the time they were away. The high lights of the trip were the receptions given them by Vice President Curtis and Senator Hiram Bingham respectively. They all shook hands with these dignitaries and went through the private offices of the White House and the Senate office building. Returning home they saw the big Cunard liner docks burning in New York harbor as they came over on the ferry boat from Jersey City.

On arrival in Washington they were hustled into buses Monday afternoon and taken on a sight-seeing trip over the residential part of the capital city, including the diplomatic circle, the Zoological park in Rock Creek reservation, the government building, the Lincoln Memorial, Fort Meyer and the Lincoln Memorial. They made a short stop at the new National Cathedral which is to be dedicated and officially opened this month. Here they saw the grave of Admiral Dewey and Woodrow Wilson.

Go to Mount Vernon.
On Tuesday and Wednesday they visited the various buildings in the city where all matters of government are handled. They spent two hours in the capitol building, visiting both the House and Senate. On Tuesday they went to Mount Vernon which is proving especially attractive as a shrine to tourists this year on account of the Washington bicentennial program. This trip to Mount Vernon they made by steamer down the Potomac, giving them the fine view of the Masonic monument which is about ready for dedication at Alexandria in honor of George Washington.

Thursday they visited the national monument from Annapolis, giving them the fine view of the Masonic monument which is about ready for dedication at Alexandria in honor of George Washington.

WALTER GORMAN'S SHOE REPAIR SHOP

Walter Gorman, proprietor of the Pinestraw grocery, last night put in telephone call to his brother, Clifford, in San Francisco, Calif. The call was completed in three minutes. Clifford Gorman recently broke his leg when the automobile he was driving out of the garage ran over him. He is rapidly recovering he told his brother last night.

A payroll of $2475.96 was distributed this afternoon by the Manchester Emergency Employment Association, Inc., to persons employed during the Spanish American War and the Philippine Insurrection and the Boxer uprising.

Declaring "our first obligation" to veterans who served under enlistments in the Army or Navy, the President said:

"I cannot concur in a proposal to single out one class of civilian employees who served during certain periods of hostilities and confer upon them a right to the benefit of hospitalization and demerit care provided by law for veterans of our wars."

Three families residing on one street in the North End will sail next Thursday from New York to live again in Poland. The families are as follows: The John Kosak of 94 North street, the Mary Kowalski of 86 North street and the Stanley Wrobel of 77 North street.

"Hard times" is the reason given for this wholesale migration. Although not certain that times will be better in the "old country" the families have received favorable letters from friends and relatives there and they are reasonably certain they will be able to subsist when they arrive in Poland.

The Kosak family is comprised as follows: Mr. and Mrs. John Kosak and son, Stephen, age 8. The Kowalski family is made up of the mother, Mrs. Mary Wrobel, and Stella, age 18; Stacia, age 17; Helen, age 10; and Edward, age 7. The father is already living in Poland. The Wrobel family is as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wrobel and Catherine, age 10; Helen, age 7; Catherine, age 5 and Walter, age 1.

All three families have provided themselves with passports for the return trip and also have put aside funds to pay for the return trip if they do not find conditions satisfactory in Poland. They will remain there several years, at least, and all believe they will reside permanently in the "old country."

DEPARTING ORGANIST GETS FAREWELL PARTY

Archibald Sessions Given Party Saturday Night By Members of Choir.
Archibald Sessions, who is soon to leave for Europe, was given a farewell party and also gave the rehearsal of the choir of the South Methodist church where he is organist and choir director. Instead of leaving for their homes the members assembled in the social hall where tables were gleaming with silver, glassware and spring flowers. Mr. Sessions was invited to cut the first slice. Assorted cakes and fruit punch was served.

Mrs. Eunice Hohensthal, in behalf of the choir, expressed regret at his departure, and hopes for success in his new post in Paris where he has been engaged as organist for the summer. Wishing his bon voyage she handed him a purse of gold from the choir. Games and chorus singing followed.

Guests present included Rev. R. A. and Mrs. Colpitts, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Crowell and George Huntington Byles of Groton who will substitute for Mr. Sessions.

PRESIDENT VEToes VETERANS' MEASURE

Will Not Approve Hospitalization For Men From Quartermaster's Corps.
Washington, May 9.—(AP)—President Hoover today vetoed for the second time a bill to provide hospitalization and the privileges of soldiers' homes to the men who served in the Quartermaster Corps during the Spanish American War and the Philippine Insurrection and the Boxer uprising.

Declaring "our first obligation" to veterans who served under enlistments in the Army or Navy, the President said:

"I cannot concur in a proposal to single out one class of civilian employees who served during certain periods of hostilities and confer upon them a right to the benefit of hospitalization and demerit care provided by law for veterans of our wars."

The measure sent back to the House was proposed by Representative Welch (R., Calif.). He recently called upon President Hoover in an effort to alter his views upon the measure, declaring he believed not more than 20 men would come under the provision of the bill and that the cost would be small. The Chief Executive vetoed a similar measure in February 1931.

He said today "nothing has transpired since that date which would justify me in now approving this bill."

President's Fears
Mr. Hoover was fearful that such a measure, although limited, would open the door to other veterans legislation. Even the present measure, he said, "would ultimately involve the government in hundreds of millions of expenditures."

The veto was the fourth sent to Capitol Hill by the President during the present session. Two of them were on minor relief bills and the third was a pension measure.

The President's message to the House follows in full: "I am returning without approval H. R. 4724, entitled 'an act to confer to certain persons who served in the Quartermaster Corps or under the jurisdiction of the Quartermaster general during the war with Spain, the Philippine Insurrection, or the China Relief Expedition, the benefits of hospitalization and the privileges of the soldiers' homes.' This bill is identical with H. R. 6997, 71st Congress, third session, from which I withheld approval for the reasons set forth in my message to the House of Representatives of February 23, 1931, printed as House Document No. 778. Nothing has happened since that date which would sustain me to approve of the bill."

"I cannot concur in a proposal to single out one class of civilian employees who served during certain periods of hostilities and confer upon them a right to the benefit of hospitalization and demerit care provided by law for veterans or our wars."

Bad Precedent
"Such proposals would be establishing a precedent which, in all justice, would call for similar legislation in behalf of other civilians. It would ultimately involve the government in hundreds of millions of expenditures by the usual accretions of wider spread inclusions of new and borderland groups."

"I am not unmindful of the value of the service rendered by these civilian components, but I do not feel that they should be made beneficiaries of the laws which have been enacted to care for our veterans—those who served under enlistments, enrollments or commissions in the Army and Navy."

POLICE LAY-OFFS AID IN CUTTING EXPENSE

Patrolman Martin Took Vacation Without Pay Last Week, Fitzgerald This Week.
As a means of further cutting police expenses, a plan already in operation for one week, started the second week at midnight last night, when Policeman Michael Fitzgerald was laid off for one week without pay. Last week Patrolman William Martin, who was not assigned to any particular beat, was given one week's vacation without pay.

The list of beats posted May 3 showed that there was no provision made for the 6 a. m. beat, which has been covered since the death of Sergeant John Crockett by Patrolman Arthur Seymour. The reason given was that during the school vacation there was less need for a day man. Policeman Fitzgerald was instructed not to report at midnight and Policeman Martin went on duty in his place.

NERVOUSNESS MISTAKEN FOR DRUNK DRIVING

Hartford Man Gave Every Evidence of Being Intoxicated But Wasn't.
At 1:30 Sunday morning Patrolman Joseph Frantice brought to the police station a Hartford man who was driving through Center street on his return home. The actions of the men were such that the patrolman arrested him on the charge of driving while under the influence of liquor.

Captain Herman J. Hengel called in Dr. C. C. Y. Moore who after examining him declared the man was not under the influence of liquor but was in a highly nervous condition, which was aggravated by the accusation that he was intoxicated. After detention and examination at the police station which required three-quarters of an hour, Dr. Moore advised the man be allowed to re-up at his home.

The man was released on the condition that he was never suffering from liquor nor drugs.

LATEST STOCKS

New York, May 9.—(AP)—Securities market started the new week in a listless mood today. Week-end trade surveys failed to provide any fresh stimulus and speculative attention still was riveted on Washington. Despite the cautious attitude toward the market, there remained an undertone of better sentiment, carried over from the upturn of last Friday.

Prices of shares worked slightly higher in the first hour, eased off in the late morning, and stiffened again after midday, ruling slightly higher in the afternoon. There were some fractional recoveries by early afternoon. Eastman was a soft spot, off 3 at the lowest. U. S. Steel sold off a fraction, then recovered. General Motors was about steady.

Trading was in small volume. The outstanding item of corporate news for the day was General Motors' report of April sales, showing sales to consumers in the United States of 81,573 cars, as increased from 48,717 for March. This increase was due to the larger production of its new models. On the whole, however, current reports from motor circles remain mildly cheerful, with indications that this month's May will show the largest production for the industry as a whole in eight months. Nevertheless, the steel manufacturers are not getting the business expected from the automobile industry. Steel production is estimated at about 4,000,000 tons, unchanged from last week.

Banking and brokerage quarters continued to look for clues as to future trends in Washington developments. The unanimous approval by the Senate finance committee of the compromise tax measure at its meeting today was viewed favorably. In banking quarters, hopes were still expressed of a revival of a general non-discriminatory sales tax, but the need for prompt balancing of the budget and consequent removal of uncertainty was still stated above all else.

The morning selling of the rails may have reflected estimates that the weekly freight car loadings, to be published tomorrow, will show another decline, contrary to the usual seasonal trend at this time. An important item of news this morning was that of Union Pacific. This road ordered disbursement of its regular quarterly dividend of $2.50 in the previous quarter, but Wall street is not so confident that the rate will be retained.

The swing to the Left in yesterday's elections in France seemed to be otherwise. While little difference has been indicated in the foreign policies of the Right and Left parties in France, International Banking quarters were hopeful that a Herriot government might show a somewhat more conciliatory attitude at what more Lausanne conference next month.

TWO CANDIDATES FOR DOUMER POST

Painleve and Le Brun To Run For Office of President of France.
Paris, May 9.—(AP)—Two candidates to succeed President Paul Doumer, who was assassinated Friday were officially or unofficially in the running today.

The election is to be held at Versailles tomorrow. Paul Painleve, former premier, was being pressed by his friends to be a candidate. Albert Le Brun, president of the Senate, presented his candidacy formally yesterday.

The new president will be chosen by a joint session of the Chamber of Deputies and the Senate.

Thousands of Parisians filed by the Elysee palace to pay tribute to the dead president. After lying in state until Thursday morning, the body will be taken to Notre Dame Cathedral for funeral services.

Detectives of the Senate Generale said they believed important information on Paul Gorgulov, the assassin of M. Doumer, might be secured by questioning two men with whom they said he was closely associated here.

The Soviet government sent its sympathy through its ambassador, Valerian Dolgousky. The crime provoked "unanimous indignation" in Russia, it said.

SEVEN CANDIDATES FOR BISHOP POSTS

Zion's Herald is considered to have the strongest backing. The movement for his selection has been definite since the convention started.

Foreign vacancies, four in number, will be filled by the election of native bishops by the various foreign central conferences.

Chicago, Ill.: Bishop Charles L. Meade of Denver.
Boston, Mass.: Bishop Charles W. Burns of San Francisco.
New York: Bishop Francis J. McConnell, reappointed.
Pittsburgh: Bishop Herbert Welch, reappointed.
Indianapolis: Bishop Edgar Blake, reappointed.
New Orleans: Bishop Robert E. Jones, reappointed.
Omaha, Neb.: Bishop Frederick D. Leete, reappointed.
Portland, Oregon: Bishop Titus Low, reappointed.
Philadelphia: Bishop Ernest G. Richardson, reappointed.
St. Paul, Minn.: Bishop James C. Baker of Korea.
Cincinnati: Bishop Thomas S. Henderson of Chattanooga, Tenn.
Buffalo, N. Y.: Bishop A. D. N. Leonard, reappointed.
Kansas City, Mo.: Bishop Ernest L. Waldorf, reappointed.
Other episcopal vacancies, vacated by transfers of bishops are expected to be filled either by newly elected men, by American bishops of foreign areas whose episcopates are now filled by native bishops or by consolidation and elimination.

COUNCIL OF V. F. W. IN MEETING HERE

Two Past Department Commanders Guests Here Yesterday—Ask Cooperation

Anderson-Shea Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, entertained two Past Department Commanders, John Kelley of Bridgeport and Albert M. Simons at the meeting of Hartford District Council yesterday afternoon in the Balch & Brown block, Depot Square.

Commander James J. Lee of Villamantic was also present and received a supporting vote from the District delegates present for Department Commander at the annual convention of the V. F. W. in New Britain, in June.

Stresses Cooperation Past Department Commander Albert S. Simons gave a very interesting account of his work as Departmental commander.

Stresses Cooperation Past Department Commander John H. Kelley of Bridgeport, State Chairman of the Post, reminded delegates present to report back to their posts, asking for cooperation and cooperation with other ex-service organizations in the annual poppy sale.

Forecast of a lively contest for the office of junior vice-commander of the Department was in evidence when the Contact Committee reported that 47 candidates were in the field for Department offices from Hartford County this year.

The resignation of Council Chairman George C. Stanwood of Bristol was read and accepted with regrets and the election of his successor was tabled until the next meeting to be held June 12 in Middletown.

Refreshments were served by the entertainment committees of the post and auxiliary. The several district Council meetings was in charge of Council Commander Raymond C. Frost of New Britain and the Auxiliary meeting was in charge of Blanche C. Stanwood, junior vice president of the post.

margin for Roosevelt in the convention although the statement gave no figures, and at least 18 of the 35 Senatorial district conventions.

The election of a National committeewoman is expected to be governed by the outcome in the McNeil-Fitzgerald contest as being Mrs. Fannie Dixon Welch of the New Guard and Mrs. Lillian S. Abbott of Norwalk, incumbent, whose fortunes are linked with the Smith group.

William H. Comley of Fairfield county last night said he would take no action on the allegations which were a part of the episode of a rum running expedition at Bridgeport in the past, as related by Thomas J. Spellyacy at a Smith workers' dinner and which recital was allegedly based on a conversation between W. L. Cross had with Spellyacy and others.

On Saturday Governor Cross upon being asked if he would comment on a statement by Spellyacy on the night before said: "I have nothing more to say; I have said considerable already." McNeil who was informed in the Spellyacy statement that if he wished to take court action to determine the truth or falsity of the rum running story he would find property in Hartford under the Thomas J. Spellyacy name, said he was giving "careful consideration to the matter."

The conference today will be brought about by David A. Wilson, the state chairman, and its outcome may mean a neutral program for the opening night of the convention.

At the state headquarters in Waterbury where finishing touches are being put to the program for raising $50,000, one half to be for the victory fund of the party and the other half to finance the fair campaign, the returns have come in from the town caucuses. These lists of delegates must be in this week that the temporary roll of the convention may be made up for use of the state committee next Monday afternoon.

REICHTAG REOPENS

Berlin, May 9.—(AP)—Back to session after a ten weeks' recess, the Reichstag opened today to consider the budget.

Herrmann Dietrich, the finance minister, spoke for thirty minutes on the nation's finances, explaining the floating debt had been reduced in the past two years by 347,000,000 marks, and the funded debt by 300,000,000 marks.

The House was exceptionally well behaved while it was talking, but during this session which will last only four days, because of the White House holidays, the government will face the usual batch of no-confidence motions, demands for dissolution of the Reichstag and for cancellations of the series of emergency decrees.

JOBLESS INSURANCE ARGUED AT KIWANIS

H. S. Students Debate Subject At Weekly Luncheon Meeting

The High School Debating Team appeared at the regular weekly meeting of the Kiwanis Club at the Hotel Sheridan this noon and debated the subject of "Unemployment Insurance."

Stuart Jolin and James Toman, the District Council went on record as opposed to any reductions in pensions or compensation.

Four members of the club spoke on the Memorial Hospital campaign for $20,000, which opens tonight, and urged the whole-hearted support of the club.

Resolved: That the several states should pass compulsory unemployment insurance. Rubino said that compulsory unemployment insurance would solve the problem created by depression and that in prosperous times plans should be made to combat depressive economic periods.

his face. Then Mrs. Fortescue emerged, eyes blazing: "What do you mean by that?" she pleaded.

There was an angry exchange of words between Capt. Wortman and the policeman. Massie approached them, extending his hand to Mooklin.

"No hard feelings here," said Massie. "I know what your duty is." Captain Wortman then extended his hand to the policeman and they also made up. The Lieutenant then invited Lono McCallum and Arthur Stagar, detectives accompanying Mooklin into the station room.

"As the moment for sailing neared, Massie knocked at the station room door and Mrs. Massie appeared. Her eyes were wet with tears.

"You won't try to go in again?" Massie pleaded, turning to the policeman. They assured him they would not. Stagar extended his hand through the door to say goodbye to Mrs. Massie.

Not Served Darrow went to the station room and conferred with Mrs. Fortescue and the Massies. On emerging he said the subpoenas had not been served.

No member of the Fortescue-Massie party cast his lot into the harbor as the Malolo headed out for San Francisco. There is an old belief that if a departing visitor casts his lot into the waters he will come back.

KILLS SWEETHEART IN JEALOUS RAGE

Stamford, May 9.—(AP)—Mattie Shelton, 23, colored, a servant, was shot and instantly killed by her sweetheart, Cornelius Flemming, 31, colored, while they were sitting in his automobile here last night.

After the shooting he stopped a passing motorist and asked him to notify police. He was in his car when police arrived and gave himself up at the same time handing over the weapon, a .32 calibre revolver fully loaded. The exception of the bullet which brought death to his sweetheart, jealousy was the motive, police believe, but pending further investigation they do not know whether the woman was jealous of Flemming or him of her. A fully loaded .38 calibre revolver was found at her feet in the car, leading to the belief that she might have drawn it on Flemming and that he beat her to the draw. He disclaims ownership of the revolver found in the car. He is held on an open charge, pending further questioning by police.

Behrend of Walnut street, a junior at Jackson, was elected to the presidency of the All Around Club, and Miss Ruth P. Smith, daughter of Mrs. W. P. Smith of 33 Galloway street, a senior at Tufts, was given a certificate of recognition by a vote of Pen, Paint, and Pretzels, the honorary dramatic society of the senior class.

The presidency went to Miss Behrend only after three years of consistently fine work on that Board, which controls many of the leading social affairs at Jackson. Miss Behrend also received a "3" pin for her participation in athletics, notably among them, tennis. She is well known for her excellence on the tennis courts and has carried on the tradition at Tufts. Not only was Miss Behrend prominent at the award ceremony, but she has worked diligently on the Junior Day committee, which has made this past outstanding week and of the year so successful. She was one of three girls chosen from her class to assist Ivy, the Tufts honorary society, to run this important social week-end, which included the junior promenade, the ceremony, orations, spreads, dances, and the Junior Day ball.

Miss Smith had been leading part in the production of "Lady Windermere's Fan," and a large part in "Cock Robin." She was the manager of the varsity basketball team, and is a member of varsity tennis. Manchester Evening Herald PUBLISHED BY THE HERALD PRINTING COMPANY, INC. 15 BROADWAY, SOUTH MANCHESTER, CONN. THOMAS FERGUSON General Manager

MONDAY, MAY 9. STATE LIQUOR LAWS The prediction of Henry H. Curran, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, that every state in the Union before long will be occupied with the problem of organizing state liquor control...

In 1928 and again in 1930 this newspaper called attention to the very urgent need of close and intelligent study of the liquor situation by the law making powers of this state, with view to the ultimate and perhaps sudden voiding of the Eighteenth amendment.

In neither instance did The Herald's proposal receive seconding or support from the press of the state. Nor, either in 1928 or 1930, did it occur to the S. A. P. A. that the sort of preparation we were advocating was an essential to a successful campaign for repeal of the dry amendment.

It is not proposed, either by the S. A. P. A. or by this newspaper, to attempt any state legislation conflicting with federal law. What is proposed is the formulation of a liquor code by each state, the best conceivable by the state's own people for the state's own purposes, to become effective instantly when the end of federal prohibition shall come to pass.

This is a job for which much time should be allowed. We cannot afford to delay it until the Eighteenth amendment shall be repealed or by another means be eliminated from the constitution. In such event we would be sure to have hastily formulated any ill-considered laws, probably violently partisan laws, either wet or dry. What we want and will urgently need is the exact opposite of that result.

There are brains enough and righteousness enough in Connecticut to write a good liquor code. But it could not be done in a rush nor in the heat of passion. What we need is a long period of study and contemplation by a select commission made up of both wets and dries, all determined to give Connecticut an ideal set of liquor laws effective in the event of the collapse of the pretense of federal prohibition.

The next Legislature should regard the creation of such a commission as one of its primary duties. The people owe it to themselves to see that they select Legislators who will attend to its creation.

It seems to us that the S. A. P. A. overlooks a rather important point when it assumes that there would be time, in the respective states, for the preparation of liquor legislation during the period of ratification after a repeal amendment had been submitted by Congress. That might be so or it might not. But there are a good many thinking persons who believe that the end of federal prohibition is more or less likely to come about in another way—through a decision of the United States Supreme Court. The fact that the court has already dealt with that subject several times is far less final effect than is generally supposed. No more in the Supreme Court than anywhere else is any great principle settled until it is settled right. And if the Supreme Court should some day, in some new case in which the issue was presented in a new light, suddenly decide that the Eighteenth amendment vitiated the Constitution itself, then there would be no time at all for the creation of a machinery of state control.

We ought to be fully fortified, in this business, even against the unexpected but always possible. BRUENING STATEMENT Chancellor Bruening's formal announcement that Germany "cannot pay reparations" is, of course, not true. Germany could pay her reparations obligations, if she keenly desired to. She could not do so without a great deal of sacrifice nor without affecting the standard of living of her people nor without abandoning her everlasting determination to regain her position as a military and naval power; but she could do so, and could have done so all along, if she had been convinced that it was to her interest to do so. But she has not and never has had any such conviction.

The important point is that Bruening's announcement must be accepted as service of notice that Germany will not pay. This, so far as the creditors is concerned, amounts to the same thing as if she could not pay. There will be, of course, some pretense among the creditors of a state of indignation surprise. It will be all pretense. Nobody, for a long time, has expected that Germany ever would pay. Not even those members of the United States Congress and the American Administration who have been including European debt payments as income for the federal budget.

We are to get no such income. There will be no important payments of war debts based on German reparations. We might as well face that certainly now as later. Better, for it will deprive Congress of an excuse for expenditures to the extent of 240 millions a year. And for the ripping up of that bit of financial camouflage we owe our thanks to the blunt statement of Bruening. All you have to do with that statement is to substitute "will not" for "cannot" and you have the situation bare and bald.

Germany will not pay. Hence our European debtors will not pay. We hold the bag. Well, we had our hands on the same bag in 1918. We have always been holding it. It was absolutely inevitable, then, that the outcome would be as we now find it to be. There never was the remotest chance that we could collect. Our job then was to have arranged to get our money back, in a very long run, through international trade. We didn't do it. We fostered international ill will and jealousy and fear and we helped the world make a mess of things. We have lost our money and our international trade with its opportunities as well.

There is absolutely nothing new in the reparations and debt situation arising from the Bruening statement, save perhaps one thing—realization. That is a good thing. In our present job of budgeteering it may help a good deal to realize that a quarter of a billion a year, on which we have foolishly persisted in figuring, isn't going to arrive.

THE PRESIDENT AROUSED The eagerness with which the press and the people of the country welcomed a new note in President Hoover's message to the country late last week—a note of decision and determination not so conspicuous in his message to Congress—ought to convince him that what the nation most anxiously has awaited has been viable leadership.

This, says the President, "is an issue between the people and the locust swarm of lobbyists who haunt the halls of Congress seeking selfish privilege for special groups and sections of the country, misleading members as to the real views of the people by showers of propaganda."

"What is urgently required is immediate action upon and conclusion of these questions. This is a serious hour which demands that all elements of the country rise with stern courage above partisanship to meet the needs of our national life."

Mr. Hoover could not, even in this outspoken and clear minded declaration, quite get away from his habit of referring to "confidence" as the prime need of the hour. But the employment of that hackneyed and rather meaningless word does not seriously affect the driving force of his utterances later on. Let the President use what wish he will upon Congress; let him lash and harry it into adequate action by whatever device he may elect—and he will have the people behind him and make himself great. If he should take the law into his own hands and drive every lobbyist and propagandist out of the nation's capital he would hear nothing but applause from the myriad of disheartened Americans who, in these last months, have been losing their faith in government.

CLAIMS The Smith forces claim a minimum of 587 votes in the state convention for their candidate for the Presidential nomination and allow 377 as the Roosevelt maximum. The Roosevelt forces claim a "slight" majority. The Smith crowd declare that David E. Fitzgerald will have 549 votes for national committee-man and concede only 407 to Archibald McNeil, present committee-man. The Roosevelt faction insist that McNeil will have 554 and Fitzgerald a mere 314.

There may be some basis for the belief that Roosevelt can't win because of a tough combination of shrewd and possibly ruthless politicians working against him, but the facts are that all Democratic candidates but one who have had majorities have been nominated, and that dark horse winners have been the exceptions. Prospects now are that Roosevelt will have an early majority at Chicago.

Speaker Champ Clark reached a peak of 556 votes on the tenth roll call at the Baltimore convention of 1912, which was 12 more than a majority. He reached it because Tammany had suddenly given him New York's 90 delegates. That caused William Jennings Bryan to announce his famous switch from Clark to Wilson and Clark's strength declined until Wilson was nominated on the 46th ballot.

Fifteen on First Ballot The major parties have nominated 20 presidential candidates in the last 40 years. All but five were nominated on the first ballot and all but three were either in the leading or runner-up position on the first ballot. The only 100 per cent dark horse, who began on the balloting in worse than fourth place and with less than 100 delegates, was John W. Davis in 1924.

The Harder The Easier New York, May 9—It's somewhat idiotic as well as axiomatic that the harder money is to get, the more tricks are devised to get it easily. There's a theory that tough times make easy pickings for suckers with a few shekels left in their jeans.

Manhattan, for instance, is in a gambling mood. The I-can't-be-much-worse-off philosophy has spread. Two-bit slot machines and high stake backgammon sessions flood the town. Long shot horse race betting is at a new peak with $2 to $5 wagers in the majority.

Money Back Interest in the English Derby reached the point where countenances were turning out spurious tickets. The legitimate lottery slips sold to the extent of a couple of million.

An amusing complication grew out of the appearance of tickets for a $50 drawing in Liechtenstein, that fabulous little hereditary dependency in Austria where the walled-in natives sit back smoking pipes and drinking beer on the bounty of their somewhat-feudal lord.

New York received a quantity of the lottery papers for disposal. The other day, a friend who had bought several chances informed me his money had been returned.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

CONVENTIONS USUALLY NOMINATE ON OPENING VOTE, SURVEY SHOWS By RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Writer

Washington—Having won two one-dollar bets with a couple of politicians on questions of what happened at the last two Democratic national conventions, your correspondent is now qualified as an expert and will write about dark horses and the chances a majority candidate has of being nominated despite the Democratic two-thirds rule.

One winning bet was that neither Smith nor McAdoo had at any time a majority of delegates in 1924, and the other was that Smith was nominated on the first ballot in 1928. Contrary claims had followed contentions, often made nowadays, that Roosevelt can't win the Democratic nomination because he has too many delegates, because getting a majority doesn't mean anything since a Democratic nomination requires two-thirds and that dark horses usually come out on top.

The Clark Case There may be some basis for the belief that Roosevelt can't win because of a tough combination of shrewd and possibly ruthless politicians working against him, but the facts are that all Democratic candidates but one who have had majorities have been nominated, and that dark horse winners have been the exceptions. Prospects now are that Roosevelt will have an early majority at Chicago.

Harding a Dark Horse Harding was a poor fourth on the first Republican ballot at Chicago in 1920 and was distinctly a compromise candidate. He had small strength outside his own state of Ohio. James M. Cox was third on the first Democratic ballot, with more than half as much strength as his almost evenly matched rival, McAdoo and A. Mitchell Palmer. He climbed steadily, winning on the 44th.

In 1916 Wilson was automatically renominated by the Democrats. Hughes, the Republican favorite, was far ahead of the field on the first ballot and won on the third. In 1912 Wilson was far from a dark horse, although Clark was a favorite. Wilson had 324 delegates on the first ballot, as against Clark's 446. That same year President Taft was renominated promptly by the G. O. P. steam roller at Chicago.

Other First Ballot Men Alton B. Parker was given a two-thirds majority on the first ballot by Democrats in 1904 and there was no question about Roosevelt's nomination. In 1900 both McKinley and Bryan were renominated unanimously. Long before the Republican convention of 1896 it was obvious that McKinley would be nominated on the first roll call by an immense majority. Among the Democrats, Bryan was first ballot runner-up behind Richard P. Bland of Missouri, and the logical choice of the silver faction, which controlled the convention. He won on the fifth.

Both President Benjamin Harrison and Grover Cleveland were given first ballot nominations by their parties in 1892. "Economy" rapidly becomes one of the most fashionable words in the New York language. GILBERT SWAN

HEALTH-DIET ADVICE By Dr. Frank McCoy... works frequently as this is necessary in order to pass the accumulated toxins out of your system.

DR. MCCOY Stand Head INCREASING ELIMINATION There is an old Chinese saying that, "If you would walk a thousand miles, you must first take the first step." The same thing is true for one who wishes to build health. Today is the first day of the Spring Tonic Dietetic Course, so why not join in with the healthful regimen today. If you put it off until tomorrow or the next day, the chances are you will put it off indefinitely.

The first two days of this fruit diet may be the hardest because the toxins which have lain dormant in the body's tissues are dissolved and suddenly thrown into the blood stream before being eliminated and a coated tongue. However, your eliminative organs will pick up the toxins from the blood and they will be eliminated through the skin, the kidneys, the liver and even the lungs. If the peripartition becomes odorous, it may be advisable to use sponge or shower baths two or three times a day. Do not continue with laxatives which I suggested in yesterday's article, which were simply for the purpose of dialoging accumulations which may have been in the intestines, but begin tonight and use enemas, using a quart of warm water tonight and tomorrow morning. A slight headache should be endured without using any headache remedies or you will interfere with the elimination of toxins.

HUNDREDS INSPECT THE NEW LIBRARY

Whiton Memorial Viewed For First Time Yesterday; Public Impressed.

For two hours yesterday afternoon, between 3 and 5, the new Whiton Memorial Library at North Main street was open to inspection and several hundred people availed themselves of the opportunity of viewing the well-appointed and spacious structures. Many were noticed from Hartford and other towns.

Flowers as Decorations
Large vases of early flowering shrubs such as forsythia and Japanese quince were used for decorations throughout the building. Library directors were present on the main floor to explain the modern details of the new plant, which includes the most unique lighting fixtures, sound proof floors, adjustable book shelves, an unusually large delivery space in the central part of the main floor. Approximately 8,000 books are on the shelves in the new library.

Of especial interest to those who viewed the building yesterday were the rooms on the upper floor, one of which has been furnished in colonial style by Ever Ready Circle of King's Daughters. An adjoining kitchenette, also furnished by the circle serves the library committee as well as the King's Daughters' own room. Members of the circle, former and present were in attendance.

The Basement
In the basement is the modern oil-burning heating apparatus, additional stack rooms and the fine auditorium, which can be entered from the street. This hall will seat nearly 300 people and is expected to prove the most popular meeting place in the north and as it is centrally located and ample parking space is available for several hundred cars in rear of the group of buildings. The library is connected to the other buildings in the Community group by a walkway leading from the basement.

The official opening of the Whiton Memorial Library will be held tomorrow afternoon beginning at 2:30 p. m. Dr. E. W. Butterfield, State Commissioner of Education and Chairman of the Connecticut Public Library Committee will deliver the dedicatory address. Dr. Butterfield will speak on the subject, "The Library in a Democracy."

Edward A. Lydall, president of the Board of Directors will open the dedication exercises with an address of welcome.

TRAVERS SHOTS 80 IN GOLF COMEBACK

Ridgewood, N. J., May 9.—(AP)—His finest "business man golfer" has convinced Jerome D. Travers there's no reason why he shouldn't be playing as well as he ever did.

He shot no better than an 80 on a par 71 course yesterday in an exhibition foursome in which he and Bill Reekie of upper Montclair defeated Max Kaesche and Ernest F. Thomas of the Ridgewood Country club, 6 and 4, but the former National amateur and open champion was by no means discouraged.

"All that I need is rest and lots of practice," he said after the match. I feel that I still have the foundations of my game and with a great deal of practice and some training in a gymnasium I will shortly be able to play as well as in former days.

"I find that I tire easily and playing becomes a strain which often times is disastrous."

To cure that fault Travers plans some gymnasium work designed to increase his stamina and boost his weight from its present 130 pounds to about 145.

He was hitting well with his short irons and putting excellently yesterday, but his wood play lacked distance and direction at times and he was under-playing his long irons.

Next week he and Johnny Farrell are to team up in a 36-hole match against Gene Sarazen and Billy Burke. Sarazen and Farrell used to partner for him a score of years ago.

Travers, four times winner of the amateur championship and once holder of the open title, announced last month that he would abandon his amateur standing and seek to recoup his personal fortunes on the links.

POLICE COURT

Knute Anderson was before Judge Raymond A. Johnson in court here today charged with breach of the peace and intoxication. He was arrested by Patrolman John Cavagnaro last night after making a disturbance at the Silk City Diner. He was given 10 days in jail on each count and charged costs of the court amounting to $11.67. It was his sixth appearance in court.

Anthony Dworak of East Wind-Hill was before the court charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicants. Dworak was arrested at Main and Washington streets last night by Patrolman Joseph Prentice. The patrolman said Dworak was driving all over the road and Dr. LeVerne Holmes testified he had examined Dworak and he was not fit to drive a car. Dworak insisted he was not a drinking man and that he had taken but one glass of beer while visiting friends here. He was accompanied when arrested by his wife and four children.

The evidence of the patrolman and the doctor was sufficient to find cause Judge Johnson to find Dworak guilty. He fined him $100 and costs totaling $119.52. Dworak was seeking friends to pay the fine for him today.

DIES IN CRASH

Milford, Conn., May 9.—(AP)—Charles Murphy, 38, of Locust Valley, N. Y., was fatally hurt this morning when his car left the Milford turnpike, struck a section of state highway fence and overturned. His wife was hurt, but two children, Alexander, aged 5, and Beatrice, 3, were only shaken up.

The place at which Murphy was killed was the same where Peter W. Hanbury, of Bridgeport, chief clerk of the New Haven Bureau of the U. S. Steamboat Inspection Service, was fatally hurt yesterday morning. Murphy was dead when taken to Milford hospital.

Murphy's car ran off the shoulder of the road and struck the fence carrying down forty feet of it. Hanbury's car had carried away the fence also, but it had been replaced. Mrs. Murphy, who had been in the front seat, suffered head and body injuries. The children, who were in the rear seat, were thrown out. Owing to Mrs. Murphy's condition police were unable to obtain her story of the accident.

BOLEY RELEASED; COST A'S $100,000

Connie Mack Lets Former Shortstop Go Unconditionally With Hammond.

Philadelphia, May 9.—(AP)—John P. Bolensky, better known to the baseball world as "Joe" and "Jack" Boley, for six years short stop on the Philadelphia Athletics team, today was given his unconditional release.

Connie Mack also announced the unconditional release of Bert "Bucky" Hammond, former Villanova college star catcher.

Boley, who came to the Athletics from Baltimore in the spring of 1927 was replaced by Dibs Williams in mid-season last year and was released to the Cleveland club during the winter. Cleveland turned him back to the A's during the spring training season at Fort Myers, Fla. In the exhibition games Boley appeared to be a rejuvenated infielder, but three weeks ago he aggravated an old injury when he wrenched his shoulder and this brought about his release.

Hammond was a find of Mickey Cochrane, Athletics catcher, and came to the A's directly from the Villanova campus.

Although Boley is not a 10-year man in major league circles his release gives him an opportunity to become a minor league manager or sign with any team he chooses.

Learning his baseball on the bumpy, rock-strewn diamonds of the anthracite regions of Pennsylvania, Boley is reputed to have cost the A's $100,000 and along with Earnshaw was one of the last players to bring high prices.

During his term with the A's, he rated as a sure-fielding shortstop and a steady right-handed hitter in the pinches. His home is in Mahanoy City, Pa.

STOECKEL CITES CARDINAL RULES OF GOOD DRIVING

Discusses Highway and Mass Traffic Separately, Duty of Operator of Cars To Consider Other Drivers
Fundamental requisites for motor vehicle operation...

Commissioner Stoeckel stresses the necessity for maintaining reasonable sustained speed on the right-hand side of the highway, operation with a knowledge of the width of the road at '1' times, passing cars ahead at proper places only, exercise of care at curves, on hills and at "blind spots," and keeping equipment in good order at all times.

These two types of operation overlap considerably. Mr. Stoeckel says, "Rules for safety are not for one type alone but to be prescribed with a full understanding that their allotment is to the type where they are principally used. It is obvious that individual decision on a line of conduct is constantly called for in both types but in the second is constrained by the presence of so many other participants in the same problem of operation that to express it to a point beyond an average, creates danger."

STEAMER BURNED

New York, May 9.—(AP)—The excursion steamer, Albertina, and Sea Bird, veterans of many years' service in the run between Manhattan and Highlands, N. J., run, were badly damaged by fire early today at the Charles E. Gates Lumber Company pier at 122nd street and the East river.

The fire was discovered on the Albertina shortly after 6 a. m., by the engineer and caretaker, Johnathan J. Munson. Munson awoke to find flames leaping from the boiler and jumped through a window to the deck and gave the alarm.

An offshore wind fanned the flames and soon both steamers, tied up abreast, were burning briskly. Fireboats and fire fighters on land worked nearly an hour before the flames were checked. The superstructures of both steamers were badly damaged and the fire worked below decks in several places.

Each ship is about 150 feet long and can carry between 400 and 600 passengers. The Sea Bird was built in 1856 and the Albertina in 1882.

Ogle produced a birth certificate showing the child was his.

TODAY IS THE WORLD WAR ANNIVERSARY

On May 9, 1918, a successful attempt was made by the British to block the harbor of Ostend.

A previous attempt had failed, and British concentration on a large force for the second effort.

A smoke screen was laid down over the entrance to the harbor by small craft. The battered old warship, Vindictive was maneuvered into position by a crew and officers, and sunk the channel with her inside full of concrete.

Heavy gunfire from defending positions accounted for several casualties among the attacking party.

Only a few officers and men were left on board the Vindictive to sink her. A motor launch containing several of these men was hit several times and nearly sank before it reached the admiral's vessel, the destroyer Warwick.

QUOTATIONS

Women do not usually know a lot about national politics. But when women see men hungry everywhere . . . then they know something is wrong.

However regrettable it may be, the fact is that in mankind there is a well-established instinct to settle national discord by force.

Roosevelt has betrayed a willingness to play upon the irritations, suspicions and unhappiness of these troubled and unhappy times.

The purpose of the Senate investigation is to see whether the American buyer and seller has a fair market or whether it is rigged up against him, and whether or not there is a general movement on the part of bear raiders to destroy property values through the stock exchange.

All who attended were very much enthused and are looking forward to more gatherings of this nature.

MOTHER WITH CHILD FIGHTS OFF POLICE

Hanover, Mass., May 9.—(AP)—Mrs. Flora Pinkham, 40, mother of four children, was committed to an insane hospital today after fighting state and town police who had come to her home to serve commitment papers on her.

She barricaded herself in an upper floor when police arrived yesterday and for two and a half hours fought officers, firing five shots before being overpowered.

One shot went through the sleeve of Police Chief Thomas Hayes, who sent to the Norwalk state police barracks for aid when his own force was unable to dislodge Mrs. Pinkham. They succeeded in breaking down the door.

Police found Mrs. Pinkham holding her youngest son, Walter Jr., 14-month-old, in one arm while she pointed an empty pistol.

Police said the woman had had no chance to reload her revolver although fifty cartridges were on the floor.

Mrs. Pinkham had been committed to the hospital once before, police said, and her youngest child was born there. She was released about a year ago but recently was examined and ordered recommitted.

PROBE WOMAN'S DEATH

San Francisco, May 9.—(AP)—Frank J. Egan, San Francisco public defender, had an appointment today to tell the press about his asserted four-day disappearance last week.

The police continued their investigation of the death of Mrs. Jessie Hughes, about which they declared they wish to question Egan.

Deputy District Attorney J. M. Golden said he had told Vincent W. Hallinan, attorney for Egan, authorities desired an interview with Egan but had received no reply. Hallinan said he had been in the city without authority to question Egan. Egan spent last night in the sanatorium where he was located Friday.

Golden said the police theory was an automobile was deliberately driven over Mrs. Hughes' body after she was killed, or lay unobserved in an attempt to mislead authorities into the belief she was the victim of a hit-and-run driver.

ERNEST HEATH, Susan's employer, happens to be passing when Susan and Bob quarrel and takes her home. His wife threatens to sue for alienation of her affections but changes her mind when JACK WARING, Heath's assistant, produces an incriminating letter. RAY FLANNERY, stenographer in the next office, confides to Susan her distress on hearing that "SKY" WEBB has married another girl. Ben and Susan quarrel in Christmas eve over some flowers Heath sent her. Waring, meeting Denise, learns of her interference in Susan's affairs. Heath and Susan to be his wife when his divorce decree becomes final. She hesitates. Her aunt undergoes a serious operation and Susan decides to marry him for the sake of security. Ben follows Susan and Heath and shoots at the latter, wounding him slightly. Then Ben turns the gun on himself.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXX

When Jack Waring took Denise Ackroyd away from the Gledings party on New Year's eve he had formulated no exact plan. He was by nature a meddler and his quick, prying mind followed Susan and her drama as something entertaining. He could see the triangle: Susan, the poor working girl; Denise, the spoiled child of fortune; and young Robert Dunbar, whom each hoped to win.

The visit to Tony's proved rather dull. There had been too much noise and the overheated place had made them both ill-tempered without quite knowing why. He had learned little more of the story. He was determined, however, to know the rest. Driving back in the cold air he said lazily to the girl, "When shall I see you again?"

The pale, petulant face stared straight ahead. The childish, fretful voice answered "spily." "Don't know. Never, probably," she said. "That champagne Laura fed us must have been poison. I feel wretched."

"That," countered Jack Waring easily, "was the lobster you insisted on having at Tony's? And the ice cream?"

"It was the champagne," Denise insisted solemnly. "That's my story and I'll stick to it."

"You're a little mule, aren't you?" asked the man, laughing.

Denise drew her wrap around her regally. "We Ackroyds have wits of our own," she said so pompously that Waring could scarcely manage to maintain his gravity. More than ever now he was certain she had been reading Michael Arlen.

"And do you always get what you want?" He was very grave.

"Yes, we do." She eyed him suspiciously. "Why do you want to know?"

"Oh, I was just wondering." He steered the talk into other channels.

It was a week later that he met Bob Dunbar in the drawing room of the Ackroyds' apartment in town. High above the outer drive it was with great windows overlooking the lake. Denise was entertaining. The room was filled with beautifully dressed girls and bored looking young men.

"You know Bobby, don't you?" Denise said.

"Yes, of course." The two men shook hands. Waring thought the boy looked thinner and older than when he had last seen him.

Denise said, "I'm warning you! Don't climb into a corner and talk business, because I won't have it. You've got to circulate. We have too many 'smales.' She drifted on to another group, a slim, exotic figure in a black frock that molded every line of her figure.

"She looks lovely today, doesn't she?" Waring asked.

"Who? Oh, yes, Denise." The boy roused himself from some abstraction to reply.

Waring appraised him shrewdly. That he was not in love with this girl was plain to the dullest on-looker.

"It's my job to find out just how the land lies," Waring observed to himself. Skillfully he led the talk around to the office. The house at Half-Day was working out interestingly, wasn't it? He had some new plans sketched for the stables. He would like Bob to stop by the office some day and see them.

Kennedy he watched the boy's eyes. Some new emotion darkened them for the instant.

Yes, Bob said. He'd do that. Waring was shrewdly silent.

"By the way," Bob said, "I don't suppose Miss Carey is still with you. She was married, wasn't she?"

Waring did not need to assume astonishment. "Married? No, of course not. What put that into your head?"

"It was given to understand," Bob said slowly. "Wait a minute—let me think this out. I was certainly told she was going to be married to that orchestra fellow and go to California."

Waring shrugged. "I've heard nothing about it," he said, "and I don't believe there's a word of truth in it since she's not the sort of girl to leave without giving notice. Who told you?" he pursued again.

"Honestly, I don't know," Bob said, but involuntarily his gaze strayed to the little group of which Denise was the center. She was being very gay this afternoon. She was in her element. A party-faced youth who had earlier advertised some vague connection with the house was telling a story and Denise's shrill laughter was the noisiest of all.

"Let's clear out of this," Bob muttered. "We'll never be missed and I know a way we can slip out without being caught." Waring agreed, smiling to himself over the success of his first shot.

They swung along Michigan avenue side by side. The winter wind seemed good after the scented, hot-house atmosphere they had just left. Bob squared his shoulders and Waring, glancing sidewise at the fine profile, applauded his taste.

"Do you mind if I stop in tomorrow morning to look at those things?" Bob asked him at parting.

"Not at all. That will be splendid," Waring told him heartily. As he went back to the hotel where he lived he felt a glow of conscious righteousness.

"I was a Boy Scout before," he reflected. "Now it looks as though I am going to be a blooming Cupid."

But Bob Dunbar did not come to the office the next day. He telephoned to say that the doctor had diagnosed his sore throat as quinsy and he would not be allowed to go out for several days at least. Did Waring have Miss Carey's home address? Waring said that he did and supplied it. The young man seemed grateful.

Waring did not mention the fact that Susan was no longer at the office. He had learned it himself only that morning. Heath had explained rather stiffly that Miss Carey's aunt was ill and she would not return for some time, if at all.

"The old man's keeping something back," Waring said to himself. After he had given Susan's address to Dunbar he felt better. The boy would go to see her and everything would be made right.

"I've spikied that young lady's guns all right," he muttered, thinking of Denise. He looked with distaste at the girl who had come from some agency to fill Susan's place. She was tall and thin with a pink nose and pale blue eyes which looked as if she might have been crying.

"I'll miss that kid," Waring told Pierson confidentially a few minutes later.

Bob Dunbar, at home, raged and tossed about like a caged lion. Of course he could telephone Susan or write her a letter but he did not want to do either of these things. There had been misunderstandings enough between them. Bob felt he must see her face to face. What an idiot he had been all along! He must see Susan face to face and then there would be no more of this nonsense.

When Denise telephoned Bob told the Chinese boy to say he was too ill to speak. She must rattle come over because the sore throat was highly contagious. Bob knew that would stop Denise; she hated any sort of illness.

"We Ackroyds have marvelous health," she was fond of saying, throwing back her bright, little head arrogantly. Bob's lips curled at the memory. What a fraud she was! Why hadn't he seen through her before?

After several days that had seemed endless the doctor said the young man might go out. Feeling excited and shaken, Bob climbed into a taxi and gave the driver Susan's address. The house, which he reached it, was quite dark. There was no sign of anyone at it. Hopelessly, he rang the bell once or twice. Then, falling to raise anyone, he slipped his card with a scrawled message on it into the mail box. Would Susan let him know when it would be convenient for him to come and see her?

He came the next night, and the next, and the next, but always darkness and silence rewarded his effort. He began to be genuinely alarmed. Telephoning the office, he next secretary, that Miss Carey was not there and would not be any more. Some sickness in the family, she thought. That night Dunbar was no answer rang the bell of the next neighbor. A thin man in carpet slippers answered the ring.

"They're gone away and I don't know when they'll be back," the man said sourly. Since he did not know when they'd be back, he told that Susan came over from the Miltons every day to see the lake. He could not give Bob that ray of hope.

When Susan arrived the next day accompanied by Mrs. Milton, the older woman said idly, "Don't you want to look in the letter box, honey?"

Susan pointed to the heap of mail which was revealed as she pushed open the front door.

"The postman never uses it," she explained. If she had only known what lay behind that small iron flap.

MAKE-UP ENHANCES BLACK'S SMARTESS—

Any woman can wear black or white, if she knows how to make up.

Black, taken alone, can drain all the color out of your face and bring to the surface every bit of sallowness that you have. It can make you look older than any other color, unless it is purple. And it can make you look sadder.

But, given the right make-up, and a chic black dress and nothing on earth can make you so smart. If you are sallow, wear lingerie touches of off-white, pale pink, soft blue.

Be careful of your rouge with a black dress. Its shade depends on your own coloring. You can wear a rouge that actually matches the color your lips and cheeks would be if, for instance, you lived in England. Get a rich, blood shade. If you do that, then use a powder that has as light a tone as you can stand, without looking chalky. Never use white powder. Few women can stand pinkish powder. Mix a little nature in with it, if you do attempt pink powder.

Your eyes are important for the black dress. Make them up with the tone that is best with your eyes. Brown for brown or black eyes, blue for light brown, hazel and blue eyes. Try green if you have a doubt in your own mind, mix some green with your blue. Or even try purple eye shadow. Use mascara sparingly. Black shows up every bit of make-up.

In white, you can be a nut brown maiden and be stunning. White makes a woman look younger and nicer than any color can.

But just remember that white needs careful make-up too. You should pick a vivid lipstick and rouge for it. And you can try, for evening, all those enchanting lavender and green and blue powders that you've been gazing at but never dared try.

HERE'S ROMANCE WITH THE USUAL BOOBY OMITTED

"I, James Lewis" is Novel of High Adventure Written From A Modern Viewpoint

This disillusioned age seems utterly unable to take its romance straight. It can't consider the gay old days of bright adventure without reflecting that men probably had their rackets then just as they do now; it can't ponder on the Argonauts without remarking that most of them were probably low characters led by most unworthy motives.

This has knocked the over-sleek patina off of the romantic novel—and has resulted in a vast improvement in that kind of literature.

"I, James Lewis," by Gilbert Gabriel, is a case in point.

The theme of this novel is the great expedition to the northwest coast sent out by John Jacob Astor in 1811—the expedition that helped to win Oregon and Washington for the American Union, and that sent hard-bitten French-Canadian voyageurs and Scottish overseers deep into the wilderness for the deeper glory of the stars and stripes—and Mr. Astor's purse.

It is an unspeakable colorful and romantic theme. But Mr. Gabriel looks at it from a strictly modern viewpoint.

His central character, James Lewis, is a clerk on this expedition, and finds himself woefully out of place. An ex-schoolmaster, fond of Mozart and given to reading Voltaire, he discovers that empire builders are hard-boiled and rapacious.

Mozart and Voltaire aren't of much use when you're out to do the noble red man and thwart the British king. James Lewis has to make himself over; he has, in fact, to sell his soul to make a go of things, and when at last, in the best romantic tradition, he

By HELEN WELSHIMER

I was so dark along my little street— Day's end had come without a lighted lamp, And I was lost as Israel's children were When they had toiled dim years in Egypt's camp.

I TOO, it seemed, had made bricks all the day That other hands might build a monument; My vessel held no oil to break the dusk Of alien fields where I had pitched my tent.

THEN suddenly I prayed—and there was light That left me warm and strangely unafraid When I am frightened now I always thank! Once it was dark and light came when I prayed.

Hints on How to Keep Well by World Famed Authority

NUMEROUS DEFECTS IN "WELL" CHILDREN SHOW NEED FOR EXAMINATIONS

Minor Ailments May Often Develop Into Major Handicaps in Later Life

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth of a series of six articles by Dr. Fishbein.

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN, Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

In one of the leading private schools of Chicago 432 children attended. All of these children were considered by their parents healthful, and actually what we mean when we say "well." We think of a sick child as one with a fever, nausea, fatigue and weakness. Sometimes it has a cough and an eruption on the skin. A sick child does not want to play.

We think of a well child as one who is active, alert and with a good humor. The well child wants to play, is interested in its daily life, and has a good appetite.

However, careful examination of children in school indicates that there are all degrees of illness, from the child just above the point of being sick to the one with super-health. Of the 432 children examined, 27 per cent, or 117, were found to be in a state of poor nutrition, indicated by pallor, flabbiness, underweight or overweight, and a general lack of desire to work and play.

Fifteen per cent, or 65 of these children, had defects of the eyes which had not been given proper attention. In 169 of the 432 children, or 37 per cent, the tonsils and the throat were found to be the subject of chronic infection sufficiently severe to demand prompt consultation of the family doctor.

Because Chicago is in the gutter area, 56 of these children, or 13 per cent, were found to have beginning enlargements of the thyroid gland. Eighty-six children, or 20 per cent, were found with defects of hearing, sufficiently serious to interfere with their full appreciation of what teachers were saying.

Nine children, or 2 per cent, were found to have abnormal conditions of the heart, demanding special rules regarding exercise. Finally, 272 of these children, or 63 per cent, were found with dental decay or other defects of the mouth or teeth that should have had good dental care.

It is in mind that these were children in a private school, which means that their parents had sufficient funds to give them proper medical attention and proper dental care as soon as the situation was brought to the attention of the parents.

In addition to the physical defects that have been mentioned, 82 of these children, or 19 per cent, were reported by their mothers as having nervous or emotional disturbances, all the way from nail biting and thumb sucking to displays of irritability, excitability, sleeplessness and crying without cause.

Ninety-five children were reported to have frequent headaches, 56 intermittent wetting of the bed and 91 had to have drugs regularly to control constipation.

The record reads like the listing of the inhabitants of a hospital or dispensary, yet all of these children were presumed to be well children and actively engaged each day in their record work.

Such a record as this indicates the importance of having each child examined at least once each year to determine the state of its health, such an examination will provide the parents with a list of preventable diseases and curable conditions. The parents owe it to the child to give it the same opportunity that the most healthful children have in the competition for a place in life.

YOUR CHILDREN

PREJUDICE MAY IMPERIL CHILD'S HEALTH

About two years ago a doctor told a friend of mine that his little boy of four needed to have his tonsils out.

Dickie was as thin as a poker, not eating, crossed as a little bear and a perfect pea green color all over.

His father, not his mother, became oratorical. He didn't believe in this and that. He knew what was wrong with the child and shouted his opinion to everyone who would listen.

Time went on. Dickie did not improve. His mother built him up with cod-liver oil and egg-yolks and sent him out more, and some days he seemed quite fine.

Another doctor called in for another medical opinion and made him open his mouth. He, too, advised the operation at once.

More rhetoric!

Illness followed.

Dickie took scarlet fever, pneumonia. The bad tonsils were gone. He barely lived and convalescence was a long struggling affair.

He was supposed to be all well a year or so later, except that he just couldn't gain strength or weight. The doctor again said operation.

No!

One night he got an earache. The next day they operated for mastoid disease at the hospital. Later another operation was necessary. He spent two months in the hospital because several serious complications had set in. He was six months walking and was just a little shell of a boy now.

He wouldn't eat and didn't get strong. By this time the family was ready to do anything, the father too. The specialist said one day: "These tonsils will have to come out. They started this entire trouble."

And they came out and Dickie got well. He is a fine strong boy now.

This story clears up a point I should like to make about a certain prejudice that some parents entertain for any "special" operation or treatment.

Head Doctor's Advice

Many ill children, such as enlarged adenoid cells in the nasal passage, infected tonsils or malformed teeth are likely to affect general health. Diseased tissue is not likely to yield to medicine. And if the family doctor tells us plainly that this mouth or this throat needs instant attention and correction it is better to weigh the matter carefully before jumping to the conclusion that the doctor is wrong.

One reason that I hesitate to go into the subject today is the money question. So many parents cannot even feed their children or clothe them. Yet once the question is decided, there is usually a way. I have heard of parents in this something they did not need for such emergencies. Or to arrange for small payments if they were able to pay that way.

In all large cities and in many smaller ones there are free clinics and dispensaries. Sometimes work is undertaken upon seasonal periods under the auspices of some welfare society. The Board of Health or your doctor may be able to suggest the best place for you to go to seek aid. Most clinics suffer today from lack of funds, so often only the most urgent cases can be assisted, but if you had an ailing child I should leave no stone unturned to get help for him, or at least a good examination.

MARVELOUS MANHATTAN

By WILLIAM GAINES

New York—About the best place for movie writers to look for good story ideas today is in the newspapers, says Walter Wanger, motion picture executive.

There is to be found the adventure and romance that fire the imagination and the "dry rot" of the old plot makers.

I had a chat with the energetic Mr. Wanger a day or two before he went out west. He wants the company of which he now is vice-president to mirror "the timely news and progress of the world" in its pictures.

Wanger told me he thought the producers have not kept up with their audiences. "The public has become too well educated to hold phony illusions about 'actuality.' It demands that the things it knows about should be treated with realism. On the other hand, its imagination is so stirred by a fast moving age that it welcomes flights into the purely fanciful."

Thus he accounts for the popularity of a "Frankenstein" or a "Tarzan" in a period when audiences will scold at efforts to bathe harsh, familiar facts in sweetness and light.

As for realism, while the public is excited about a great news story, Wanger believes the producers should profit by pictures with recognizable elements of the story. That is, so long as good taste does not rule out the subject matter. But if there happens to be war and high adventuring in the Orient, give the public all the benefits of timeliness in film productions.

Simultaneous distribution of negatives to many places over the world will afford the pictures a showing while the news is "hot," he says.

Post-War World

"Editorials, cartoons, sophisticated magazines—all of these have played their part in debunking the masses," said Wanger. "The news reels have shown the people the difference between fact and fallacy about the world they live in. Their minds are better trained along technical lines.

"This is a post-war world. People don't want pre-war entertainment any more than they want pre-war government."

He noted that some fiction and some stage plays have been influenced by this changed public taste, so that they offer an immediate appeal as movie adaptations. He said he had seized upon some such stories, but is counting a great deal upon stories written directly for the screen.

Wanger got his start in the world of the theater with Granville Barker, back in 1914. He was for some country and England before becoming a movie production executive. He was born in San Francisco, and his wife is Justine Johnston, once widely known as a stage beauty.

When Wanger uses a big word, he knows what it means.

Manchester is now tied with Bristol for the league leadership. Neither team has a game scheduled for Saturday. Weakens At Finish
Singles by Rautenberg, Neubauer, Kerr and C. Smith added a run to Manchester's total to start the ninth but with a 4 to 1 lead, Neubauer weakened badly. Karamark doubled. Nedza filed to second, W. McGuinness singled and M. McGuinness tripped. McGuinness filed to right and then Padock singled to center sending Mastriano to third. With the tying and winning runs on base, Neubauer took La Pointe's grounder and tossed to first for the final out.

Rautenberg drove two singles, all smashing drives. Smith's homer was his second of the season. The batting and all-around play of the McGuinness brothers together with the work of "Mickey" Katsveck also were outstanding. Mastriano found Neubauer for two doubles, including the Rockville game, Manchester has now won four straight contests this season without meeting a single defeat.

GEOGHEGAN-GRANT DEFEATED ONE UP

A gallery of close to 500 persons followed the exhibition foursome golf match at the East Hartford Country Club yesterday afternoon and was treated to some very good play. Clarence Booth and Ted Shorer, Wethersfield, amateur-pro combination teamed together to beat "Bud" Geoghegan and Bobby Grant one up in an 18-hole match. Booth's par four at the home hole for a half prevented the match from going extra holes. Shorer and Grant each carded a 74 while Booth and Geoghegan, the longest hitters of the foursome, registered two strokes higher.

SOFT SCHEDULE FACED BY YALE

Eli Has Played Its Toughest Baseball Games; Four Left.

New York, May 9.—(AP)—Championship contenders in the Eastern Intercollegiate Baseball League must make hasty attempts this week and next to repair the damage done them in the uprising of the underdog teams through the last seven days. The first of these wounded favorites to swing into action will be Columbia. Pennsylvania must wait some ten days for any revenge or improvement of fortune.

Reduced to a percentage of .500 by Walter Serey's surprising victory for Cornell last Wednesday, Columbia invades Princeton tomorrow in an attempt to start back up the ladder, but will meet a tiger nine fired by the hope of fighting Yale for the championship. On Friday the Lions will carry their battle to Hanover against the improved and ambitious Dartmouth nine. Columbia now must win all four of its remaining league games to gain even a tie with the probable final record of Yale.

Hopeful of sweeping its double-header against Dartmouth at Hanover last Saturday, but not unduly injured by the loss of one game, Yale now faces what should be the softer part of its schedule. Four games remain, two with Cornell and two with Princeton, so spry that Johnny Brocca can pitch all of them. Three victories almost certainly would give the Elis at least a tie, but in view of Cornell's improvement and Princeton's traditionally strong showing against Yale, even three triumphs may be difficult to obtain. The blue nevertheless remains a strong championship favorite.

Forced into idleness and into a technical tie with Yale for the lead by the postponement of the Princeton-Cornell game at Ithaca last Saturday, Coach Harry Hooper's men today were a courageous fight this week if they are to retain their high estate. Both Columbia and Dartmouth must be met between now and Friday, and then follows the annual series with Pennsylvania.

Heartened by its even break in four championship games last week, Dartmouth holds high hope of improving its standing this week at the expense of Princeton and Columbia. Pennsylvania will play no league game this week.

The standing and schedule:

Yale	W.	L.	P.C.
Princeton	4	2	.667
Columbia	3	3	.500
Dartmouth	3	3	.500
Pennsylvania	2	2	.500
Cornell	1	4	.200

FINAL INDOOR CARD TOMORROW EVENING

The final indoor boxing show of the season will be given by the C. D. K. club at Rockville tomorrow evening and for the grand finale before opening the new boxing arena at Sandy Beach Park, Crystal Lake, the club have planned an all star card of ten bouts that for thrills and action should surpass all previous efforts of the C. D. K. promoters. The 8th, 9th and 10th bouts on the card tomorrow night are especially attractive and include two rematches between Jerry Varry and Young Terry, Tommy Tucker and Larry Holt each of whom has won a bout and this match will decide the supremacy with honors about even.

In the final match will meet Jackie Horner, 150, matching his punches with "Bud" Dunn of Somerville. A delegation of 200 have reserved ringside seats and will come to Rockville from Broad Brook and Somersville to witness the match which should prove one of the fastest ever witnessed in Rockville. State Champion Jimmy Britt is scheduled to meet Johnny Frassetta and this will also prove equally good and is very likely to steal the show. Ray Winters is matched to fight Wally Bonola of New Britain.

West Sides Capture Volley Ball Title

The West Side Club won the town volleyball championship by virtue of a straight-game victory over the Recreation Centers at the West Side playgrounds Saturday afternoon. The scores were 15-7, 16-14 and 15-2.

The Rec won the first match at the East Side taking four of the five games played. The second match was played at the West Side Gym and after a vicious uphill battle, the West Sides came from behind to win and knot the series, thus necessitating a third match to decide the winner.

Managers Bill Russell and Frank Busch of the West Side and "Rec" respectively failed to agree on terms at where the deciding game would be played. After many heated discussions between the rival managers it was decided to toss a coin for the third game. Manager Russell won the toss and chose the outdoor court on the West Side playground.

The court was reconditioned and an apparatus crowd of 100 was on hand to witness the final match. This match consisted of the best out of five games. The West Sides went right into action and took the first game without much trouble, breezing under the wire with an eight point lead, score 15-7.

The second game proved to be a sixzler with the lead changing hands many times during the sets. Finally the West Sides broke through the "Rec" defenses and won the game 16-14. In the third game the "Rec" seemingly went to pieces and was unable to stop the terrible drives of Waddell, Bissell, and Hansen.

These drives coupled with superlative defensive work of Kerr, Wilkinson and Ty Holland was too much for the Rec and the West Sides threw in the clutch and coasted to a 15 to 2 victory. The work of George Gibbons, Bob Metcalf and Mordaskey was the best for the Rec team.

West Sides—F. Waddell, E. Bissell, W. Wilkinson, F. Hansen, D. Kerr, Ty Holland.

Rec Team—G. Gibbons, H. Lang, Mordaskey, F. Phaneuf, B. Shubert, Seimann, B. Metcalf, R. Holland, Official: S. Robinson, referee; T. Waddell, umpire; N. Angelo, scorer; W. Altken, linesman; P. Waddell, linesman.

Turns Back Cubs 12-5 After Weathering Hectic Opening Inning.

By Associated Press.
Burleigh Grimes, whose name is synonymous with baseball courage, is back in harness again and the Chicago Cubs, tough enough without him, are just that much more formidable.

An attack of influenza laid low the veteran right hander just as the 1932 campaign opened, but he came back yesterday in his first starting role to survive a three-run attack by the Brooklyn Dodgers in the first inning and finally beat them, 12-5.

Derby Winner to Run In Preakness Saturday

Burgoo King To Waste No Time Before Defending Thoroughbred Crown; Two New Records Set; Gross Is $62,875.

New York, May 9.—(AP)—Monarch of the three-year-olds today, Burgoo King will lose no time defending the thoroughbred crown won in a sensational victory in the Kentucky Derby.

The standing and schedule:

Yale	W.	L.	P.C.
Princeton	4	2	.667
Columbia	3	3	.500
Dartmouth	3	3	.500
Pennsylvania	2	2	.500
Cornell	1	4	.200

Two records were smashed and a third equaled by Burgoo King in his triumph in the 88th running of the derby, which carried a gross value of $62,875 and added $2,350 to the Bradley colic.

It marked Col. Bradley's third victory, thereby breaking the streak he shared with three other owners. Likewise it gave his trainer, H. J. (Dick) Thompson, the distinction of saddling a third winner, for another record. Bradley enters ran one-two in 1921 with Bay View, and again in 1925 with W. W. and sire of Alan-A-Dale, victor in 1927.

Having proved the best of the lot at Churchill Downs, Burgoo King will go to the post a favorite in the 1932 Preakness at Pimlico, Md., against the best of the eastern colts beaten so soundly Saturday by the son of Bubbling Over.

Thus the ride of three-year-old battle is reversed with a westerner champion coming east to seek fortune in the Preakness. In the past two years Gallant Fox and Twenty Grand moved victoriously from east to west and back again.

CORNELL'S CREW TO MAKE DEBUT

Latest of Jim Wray's Editions Rows Cayuga Waters Saturday.

New York, May 9.—(AP)—If the weather man proves kind at Ithaca on Saturday there will be left no more unknown quantities to disturb the peace of mind of eastern rowing critics.

So far eight of the east's nine college fleets have seen competitive action at least once. The ninth and perhaps one of the best, Cornell, is slated to face Syracuse on Lake Cayuga this week-end.

Jim Wray had a great crew last year and reports from Ithaca indicate another just as good. Wray has five veterans back from last year's crew and a half on the Severn. A fine f-shipman combination to fill the vacancies left by graduation. Syracuse, in view of its victory last week over a previously unbeaten Navy eight, seems adequately equipped to force Cornell to the limit.

The only other regatta this week will be a quadrangular affair at Annapolis involving Harvard, Navy, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts Tech. Of these Harvard alone is unbeaten. Navy trailed Syracuse by a length and plenty of matter Saturday; Penn trailed both Yale and Columbia in the Blackwell Cup regatta; and M. I. T. has been trounced by Yale, Harvard and Princeton in its first three dual engagements.

Yale, incidentally, is the leader of the rowing parade at this time. The Elis have on two races in as many starts. Syracuse, Harvard and California have won one each. Navy has won two and lost one. Princeton one and Penn and Washington have been beaten once each; Columbia twice and M. I. T. three times. Cornell and Wisconsin, the other two of the 12 major rowing colleges in the country, have not yet rowed competitively.

Thompson Makes Debut Playing at Second Base

Negro Looks Promising Despite Failure To Get a Safe Hit; Record Crowd Watches Teams Stage Fine Game.

An unusually large crowd of baseball fans, probably close to seven or eight hundred if not more, turned out to watch the Manchester Gems defeat East Hampton 5 to 2 at the West Side field here yesterday afternoon. They were rewarded with a well played game in which their was plenty of good baseball.

The unexpectedly large turnout was undoubtedly due in a large way to the return of Marsh Thompson, north end colored baseball player, to the ranks of local baseball after an absence of nearly twenty years. Thompson played at second and although he did not make any hits, he played a good all-around game, driving in one run, hitting the ball every time at bat, and handling four of his fielding chances.

Although years ago Thompson was a right-hand batter, he now swings from the opposite side of the plate, at least against right-hand pitching. He hit three infield grounders and a fly to left field. Twice he reached first base, once on a fielder's choice and once on an error by short. He was credited with three putouts, one assist and one error, the latter being a high fly in the eighth which did no damage. His nimbleness around second did not bear out his 38 years.

Each team used two pitchers, the Gems using Berg and Fisher; the visitors, Flynn and Ferrarie. Manchester scored in the second when George Dixon tripled to right and rode home on Walliet's double which broke an automobile windshield in front. Three more runs came in the fourth on hits by St. John and Berg, plus three errors. Hits by Sipples and Walliet coupled with an error accounted for the fifth run in the fifth.

Visitor's Score
East Hampton scored in the sixth and again in the seventh on good hitting against Fisher. The Gems will play Rockville here Wednesday night in the season's first twilight game and on Sunday will entertain

NATIVE CONFESSES MASSIE ASSAULT

Told Men Who Kidnaped Him Names of Those Involved in the Case.

San Francisco, May 9.—(AP)—The Chronicle, in a story vouchered for by Rear Admiral William C. Cole, commandant of the Twelfth Naval District, says Horace Ida confessed to a group of nine men who kidnaped him last December 12 that he was one of five natives who attacked Mrs. Thalia Massie in Honolulu.

Other than Kahahawai, Ida named Henry Chang, another of the five men who were tried for attacking and brutally beating Mrs. Massie. The trial ended in a jury disagreement.

The story reveals also it was planned to kidnap and separately upon the same night each of the five men charged with the assault.

"No, she was in back with Chang and Ka." "Ida suddenly realized the importance of his answer and immediately announced again he was not there and didn't know anything about the case.

"His nervousness was quite apparent, yet those present seemingly paid no attention to his significant remark and urged him to continue his story. Shortly before his recital was finished a questioner asked him if he was the first to attack Mrs. Massie, he replied:

"Ida was first and last." "Ida was so frightened, after making this statement that he almost collapsed.

"Ida's collapse, the time he had been held and the desire of his questioners to learn from the other groups what the other defendants had said, the Chronicle says, led the interrogators to return to Honolulu.

None of the four tried for Kahahawai's slaying was in the group. Ida's kidnaping stirred all Honolulu at the time and resulted in rioting and the calling of the military to aid police in preserving peace.

Yesterday's Stars

Norfolk, Va., May 9.—(AP)—Officials of the Norfolk Club in the Eastern League today were debating the advisability of playing Sunday games on a free will offering basis.

The game with the Richmond Colts was cancelled yesterday after the club management had been notified that Sunday baseball was in violation of the law.

The free will offering basis instead of the usual admission charge was being followed by semi-professional clubs for a number of years and this practice also has been resorted to by the Richmond and Norfolk clubs.

LOUGHRAN TO TRY COMEBACK AGAIN

Matched Against Steve Hammas Wednesday; Has Failed in Repeated Attempts.

New York, May 9.—(AP)—For the second time in three years, Tommy Loughran is about to hit the comeback trail he hopes will lead him once more into boxing's "big money."

The popular Philadelphia veteran, one of the greatest boxers in heavyweight history, tackled the deadly punching Steve Hammas of Passaic, N. J., in a ten-rounder at Philadelphia Wednesday night.

It was Hammas, incidentally, who sent Tommy into his most recent retirement. After Loughran had absorbed a terrific lacing from King Levinsky in Madison Square Garden in December, he was sent in against Hammas in the same ring in January.

After that setback, Loughran went into retirement and sought patiently to build up strength and stamina for another comeback. In 1929, after suffering a knockout at the hands of Jack Sharkey, Tommy took a long layoff and came back to the ring with better health than ever.

He ran afoul of Levinsky and Hammas the Philadelphia speedster appeared unbeatable. Heavyweights top the program in other fight centers this week. Ernie Schaaf, Boston contender, meets the Philadelphia southpaw, Jack Gross, in the Garden Friday night; Mickey Walker, Rumson, N. J., batter tactics old Johnny Finko of Cleveland in a 12-rounder at Cleveland Tuesday; and Charley Retzlaff of Duluth and Jimmy Braddock of Jersey City tangle at Boston Friday.

In the far west, Les Ramage of San Diego who recently stopped Hammas' sensational winning streak, meets Yale Okun of New York at Los Angeles Tuesday while Max Baer, Livemore heavyweight, faces Walter Cohen, former champion of Oakland, Calif., the following night.
