

SMITH DELEGATES ARE IN CONTROL

Factions in State Reach Agreement—Two Neutral Delegates To Be Added.

Hartford, May 12.—(AP)—A compromise plan virtually conceding control of the Democratic state convention to supporters of Alfred E. Smith...

The plan, disclosed last night following a meeting of Smith supporters, provides for the election at the state gathering next week of 13 delegates at large favorable to Smith...

Neutral Delegates Governor Wilbur L. Cross and David A. Wilson, state chairman were agreed on as the neutral delegates at large.

Issue Statement In a statement summarizing the proceedings of the conference between the factional leaders and Wilson, the Smith group last night said:

The statement added that if the plan for the selection of delegates is carried out it would give to the Smith forces the desired objective of having the delegation instructed for Alfred E. Smith, so long as Mr. Smith desired to hold the delegation.

Before the meeting with Wilson, Roosevelt leaders had refused to concede control of the convention to the Smith faction even in the face of the large number of Smith-pledged delegates chosen at the Democratic primaries.

Party leaders are expected to concentrate their attention during the last few days before the convention on the one remaining threat to party harmony—the selection of the National committee.

MOORE GAVE OUT FIRST LINDY NEWS

In Brief Statement He Tells Reporters That the Baby Was Found Dead.

By Associated Press. "I have sad news for you. The Lindbergh baby has been found dead."

Governor A. Harry Moore of New Jersey thus gave an Associated Press reporter the first news of the tragic ending of the Lindbergh baby hunt.

An hour later the official police announcement was made at the Lindbergh estate by Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, head of the New Jersey state police.

Following are the official announcements: The first bulletin: "We have to announce apparently the body of the Lindbergh baby was found at 3:15 p. m. (Thursday)."

William Allen, a negro, was riding from Mount Rose, N. J., to Hopewell with Orville Wilson on a truckload of timber. They stopped the truck near a woods.

Gov. Harry Moore of New Jersey: "This is a great shock to the whole country."

Gov. Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania: "The Lindberghs have my deepest sympathy. The Pennsylvania state police will bend every effort to the end that the kidnapers—and from all appearances, the murderers—of the baby shall be captured and pay the penalty for this heinous crime."

Gov. Louis L. Emmerson of Illinois: "A paralyzing shock to the citizens of Illinois in behalf of the state I wish to extend to him and to his gallant wife our deepest sympathy."

Rewards totaling $1,100 were offered by two Chicagoans for the apprehension and conviction of the kidnapers and slayers. William Doyle, Master in Chancery in the Circuit Court, said he would pay $1,000 and C. A. Coey, a business man, $100.

CONTINENT IS SHOCKED BY NEWS FROM JERSEY

lief the kidnaping and slaying of the child was the work of a fiend, not of gangs. "Authorities must look for clues in the immediate vicinity of the scene of the crime," advised Loesch.

Party leaders are expected to concentrate their attention during the last few days before the convention on the one remaining threat to party harmony—the selection of the National committee.

The Smith group last night named a committee to consider any compromise proposed by the governor in the contest for this post between Archibald McNeil, the incumbent, and David E. Fitzgerald, former New Haven mayor. McNeil has indicated he will not be a party to any compromise plan which calls for his withdrawal from the race.

Support Mrs. Welch Support for Mrs. Fannie Dixon Welch, of Columbia, New Guard candidate to succeed Mrs. Lillian S. Abbott of Norwalk on the National committee, came today from a group of members of the executive board of the Connecticut Federation of Democratic Women's Clubs of which Mrs. Welch is president.

That organization, it stated, in the last two years has grown from 275 club members to 1,404, "one largely to Mrs. Welch's ability to draw influential women about her and to spread out and build up the different clubs."

Have Faith in Her "The faith the Democratic women have in her has been shown again and again," the statement reads, "as it was in the April federation convention when the committee insisted that Mrs. Welch take the chairmanship again and at least start us on the second ten years of the federation. Other women who have held positions merely upon appointment of a group of men could not be called leaders of women."

Under Mrs. Welch's leadership the women have aided materially in every election campaign by liberal money contributions. In the spring and fall of 1929 the federation sponsored state-wide meetings every week and since then one every month and the work done by the small towns of the state by the federation in that campaign is considered by all leaders from Governor Cross down to have been responsible to a large extent for the Democratic victory in 1930."

OBITUARY DEATHS

Mrs. Anna Durant, sister of Thomas Conran of this place, wife of the late 780 Main street, of the late Albert Durant, died at Torrington, last night, age 48. She was born in Torrington where she spent her entire life. A week ago today while shopping she was stricken on the street with a shock and was removed to her home remaining in a semi-coma until her death last night. Her late husband Albert Durant died a year ago, his death also being due to a shock.

Mrs. Angelina Andisio, wife of Evasio Andisio of Cottage street, died yesterday after a lingering illness. Shock preceded her death. She was 63 years old.

Mrs. leaves behind her husband three sons, Louis A. Camillo J., and John J., all of Manchester, one sister and two brothers in Italy, and four grandchildren. The funeral will be held from the home at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning and at St. James' church at 9:30. Burial will be in St. James' cemetery.

Special Characteristics: Unusually high and prominent forehead and cranium, apparently greater in circumference than would be found in a child of this age. First toe of the right foot completely overlaps the large toe and the second toe of the right foot partially overlaps the large toe.

There are eight upper and eight lower teeth. The upper incisors are well formed and rather prominent but do not protrude. The two lower canines tend to divert inward and the incisors are below the line of the adjacent teeth.

Height 33 1/2 inches. Light curly hair, about 3 inches in length and a section of skin on the right foot which had not become discolored indicated a child of the white race.

Autopsy finding: General decomposition of the muscles of the entire body and other soft tissues except the face, but marked discoloration and some disfigurement of this part of the body existed due to the softening of the eyeballs and a swollen condition of the lips and tongue.

Small Fractured "There was also a fracture of the skull extending from the fontanel down the left side of the skull to a point posterior to the left ear, where it bifurcated into two distinct fractures. There was also a perforated fracture of half an inch in diameter on the right side of the skull posterior to the ear."

There was evidence of a hemorrhage on the inner surface of the left side of the skull at the point of fracture but the scalp was so badly decomposed that it was impossible to find any contusions or hemorrhagic conditions external to the skull.

The fontanel was not closed, the opening in the skull at this point being about one inch in diameter. "Diagnosis of the cause of death is a fractured skull due to external violence."

DOMENIC SQUATRITO DEAD IN CAR CRASH

(Continued from Page One) more outstanding all-around athlete than Domenico Squatruto. He excelled in every sport in which he participated. He was outstanding in football, track and basketball and also a competent baseball player. During his career at Manchester High school, Squatruto gained state-wide recognition. He was to have enrolled at Fordham University, where Joseph P. McCuskey of Manchester is a student, next September.

Squatruto is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rosario Squatruto of 184 Oak street. There are eight other children in the family. Salvatore and Margaret, the latter a trained nurse, reached the scene of the accident about an hour afterward. Their dead brother lay in a pool of blood under a blanket on the highway but they were not told the grim news. They did not learn until they raced to the hospital.

Rain was falling at the time of the accident and the road was slippery. This may have had a part in the cause. A large crowd gathered at the scene as the news spread. Onlookers stood about in the drizzling rain. Among the crowd were many who had known Squatruto well during his high school career. There were tears in the eyes of Mantelli, close friend of Squatruto.

The body remained on the highway awaiting the medical examiner for state police to arrive. The Ford roadster, a complete wreck, stood heading the opposite way from which it had been traveling, a few yards from the body of the dead high school athlete. The truck was some hundred yards away at the side of the highway. King, its driver, appeared pale and nervous. When questioned by The Herald reporter, he declined to give any facts other than his name, age, address and direction he was driving.

Squatruto was only 18 years old. He would have graduated from Manchester High with the 1932 class in June. Squatruto said only a few days ago that he was planning to enroll at Fordham. It was timed in 9.9 for the hundred yard dash of a dual track meet between Manchester and Meriden high schools here. This is the best time ever reported by any high school athlete in the state.

Squatruto played guard on the school basketball team, first base in baseball, fullback in football and took part in the dashes, shot-put and javelin throw in track. Unbiased critics throughout the state had predicted a brilliant athletic future for Squatruto who had about every requisite of an outstanding athlete, including weight, size, determination to win and, above all, good sportsmanship.

Funeral arrangements remained indefinite. The body was removed to the W. P. Quinn funeral morgue. Some At Hospital A very touching scene was enacted at the hospital shortly after the accident. Principal Clarence P. Quimby, notified of the accident, was at the hospital and did his utmost to calm the two girls in the emergency room. On learning that the Lithwinski boy was in the ward, having been brought to the hospital first and treated for cuts about the head and chest, Mr. Quimby spoke to the young swimmer in a ward bed.

Shortly after he had returned from a second visit to the emergency room, Mr. and Mrs. Rosario Squatruto, parents of the dead athlete, arrived and entered the hospital to face the principal in the doorway. Mrs. Squatruto rushed into the corridor and said: "What about my boy?" Mr. Quimby took the boy's parents into the waiting room and gave them the sorrowful news. Shortly after, the parents had been notified, Mrs. Squatruto, a sister, arrived and together they assisted Mrs. Squatruto to the car.

LINDY BABY FOUND DEAD IN THICKET

(Continued from Page One) timbers to be used in a moving job stopped beside the road. Allen left the truck and went into the brush. Allen ran back to the road and called Orville Wilson. When Wilson viewed the body he said: "What are you going to do?" Allen said: "I am going to notify the state police."

The police found the shallow grave on a slight slope. The body had been well concealed with leaves, dirt and brush. The child's form lay face down and the depression in which it rested was so slight as to indicate that efforts to conceal it had been very hurried.

County Physician Charles Mitchell examined the body. "The baby was struck a fearful blow on the head," he said. "The skull was fractured clear across the top. There is a hole over the right ear. The lower left leg is missing."

State police took charge of the body and the Lindberghs were notified. The press announcement gave only briefest details. No word was forthcoming during the night from the Lindberghs.

Efforts to get the "intermediaries" to comment were without result. All have moved secretly throughout the investigation. $50,000 Ransom Paid It was this secrecy which made possible the $50,000 "Jafie" hoax by which that sum was paid to a man near a Bronx borough cemetery on the man's promise to return the child.

Authorities understood that at the moment the body was discovered the aviator was seeking to contact the kidnapers somewhere off Long Island. Mrs. McLean, the Washington woman, who, acting independently, put up $100,000 in an effort to return the child to his parents, and who now charges Gaston B. Means, her agent, appropriated the money to his own use, declined to be quoted. Her attorney said she was greatly shocked and grieved.

Efforts at definite identification were pursued even after the police, the nurse and the county physician had satisfied themselves that the skeleton was that of the Lindbergh baby. A physician who was present at the baby's birth was called in early today and added identification.

FATHER HEARS THE NEWS Hopewell, N. J., May 12.—(AP)—When the body of the kidnaped Lindbergh baby was found yesterday Col. Charles A. Lindbergh was on a boat off the Jersey shore at Cape May preparing to make another effort to contact the kidnapers at sea.

Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of state police, announced today that as soon as the body was found immediate steps were taken to communicate with Col. Lindbergh, who started back here as soon as the news was transmitted to him.

Col. Schwarzkopf did not say who was accompanying Col. Lindbergh on his latest effort to effect return of the baby, but it was understood John Hughes Curtis, one of the Norfolk negotiators, was with him. Nor did Col. Schwarzkopf say where Col. Lindbergh had received the information a contact might be made with the kidnapers of the Jersey shore.

Condensed Questioned Statements were taken during the night from Curtis and Dr. John F. Condon, the "Jafie" man of the case, and from "A number of other people purported to have information," the police official said. "A considerable amount of information was obtained," he added, "and is being followed up at the present time."

Col. Schwarzkopf said officials of Mercer and Hunterdon counties were cooperating and pooling their knowledge in frequent conferences. The county line cuts through the

TO PROBE FURTHER KREUGER CHICANERY

Months Will Be Required To Determine Details of His Play With Millions.

By PAUL HARRISON
NEA Service Writer.

New York, May 13.—Riding between his Park Avenue penthouse and his conferences in Wall street, Ivar Kreuger used to pass an unpretentious building in lower Broadway where bankruptcy lawyers are held. The "match king," more familiar with palaces than courtrooms, probably never gave it a glance.

But today the twisting Kreuger trail ends at this seculchre of defeat. In one of its small, crowded and stifling, brusque strangers are pawing over the broken dreams of the dead genius.

Financial experts, who only a few short weeks ago regarded the mighty Swede with something like reverence, now are helping to bathe down the skeleton of his "industrial empire."

No eulogistic phrases come from the tight-lipped lawyers. Before the suicide of Kreuger they might have called him "greatest of internationalists"—"genius of business organization"—"most dazzling of financiers."

But today they are describing him, in terms of swindled millions, as nothing but an uncommon crook.

Truth Gradually Appears
The hearing represents an attempt to straighten out the tangled affairs of the bankrupt International Match Corporation and to trace its connections through the complicated, world-wide structure of the vast Kreuger interests.

The deeper they dig, the more dishonesty is uncovered. In comparison to Kreuger, Ponzi was a piker; beside Kreuger's schemes, the South Sea Bubble was a mere shell game. It is evident that not for several months more can there be gathered and correlated the full facts regarding his amazing activities. But here are a few established facts:

Ivar Kreuger forged, with his own hand, securities to the amount of $100,000,000. He sold, for hundreds of millions of dollars, stocks and bonds partially backed by non-existent companies with imaginary assets.

Through well-known banking houses he borrowed huge sums on match monopolies he never owned. To conceal some of the evidences of his swindling he juggled phantom fortunes between dummy corporations.

With many of his millions he subsidized the consciences of associates and officials of governments. And his side arms have been arrested for criminal liability. Altogether he followed his example in committing suicide.

In Sweden, as well as here in New York, America and elsewhere, scores of individuals and concerns whose names are yet to be brought under suspicion.

Network of Investigation
After the first news of Kreuger's suicide—a shock that set all activities to naught—there followed a stock exchange and cut short the holiday of the King—Sweden grimly set to work to ferret out the misdeeds which everyone was sure must be revealed by Kreuger's books. This, however, is being made difficult by the fact that the "match king" carried most of his cunning plans in his mind.

Immediately there was set up a special "Kreuger department of police," composed of lawyers and detectives. Soon it became evident that separate investigations also would have to be conducted in almost a score of other countries.

In addition, independent investigations have sprung up in these countries. Holders of Kreuger securities are anxiously trying to determine how much they can salvage from the wreck.

$800,000,000 Gumb
Not even an estimate can be made of total losses, for those concerned admit that still more sensational cases of juggling and forgery may yet be brought to light. In Kreuger stocks and bonds alone, which have tumbled almost to the vanishing point in price, the collapse is expected to wipe out $800,000,000.

Sweden is still staggering under the blow delivered by its dazzling industrialist. The government, which was forced of the gold standard by the loans it granted Kreuger, is striving desperately to bolster its credit. There is a prospect more idle factories and men. Some 250 of the most prominent families of Stockholm are reported to have lost their fortunes in the crash.

termyar, prominent corporation lawyer, and Bainbridge Colby, former U. S. Secretary of State. The committee believe that about $50,000,000 of American investors have lost $250,000,000 on Kreuger and Toll debentures alone.

Banks involved in the marketing of the debentures in the United States also have formed committees, avowedly to protect their investors. But now a court fight looms and Untermyer promises the airing of "a public scandal of grave magnitude," in connection with his attack on the bankers.

Since Kreuger is shown to have been guilty of draining about $24,000,000 from the collateral which was supposed to have stood behind one issue of bonds in this country, the quarrel at present centers mainly around the question of whether the bankers who were the fiscal agents and who lent in permitting him to do this.

Non-International Match Company was organized in 1923 when the Swedish match company, which is a subsidiary of the Kreuger and Toll holding company, International Match, is holding consolidation of Swedish match manufacturing and sales companies in North and South America.

It originally was capitalized for $78,000,000. Since 1924, $168,000,000 worth of its stocks and bonds have been sold to Americans. Additional financing, to the extent of $50,000,000 of debentures, was undertaken in January, 1931.

But some startling facts have been brought out concerning the condition of the company at that time. At the receivership hearing now under way in New York, investigators testified that they were able to find traces of only a few of the dozen foreign match monopolies which the company declared in advertisements that it possessed.

The suave Kreuger boldly listed all these foreign concessions among his assets. And one of the eight well-known banking houses handling the debentures took the trouble to check up on his statements.

Planned to Invade U. S.
The hearing also revealed that the largest single asset of International Match is a $78,000,000 debt owned by a hitherto concealed subsidiary called Continental Corporation A. G. But two bankers, who also are directors of International Match, testified that they were not acquainted with the subsidiary and consequently knew nothing of what has happened to the $78,000,000.

As the hunt goes on it seems certain that Kreuger, in defiance of our anti-trust laws, was planning to establish one of his match monopolies in the United States.

30 LUTHER LEAGUERS VISIT NEW BRITAIN

About thirty Luther Leaguers of the Swedish Lutheran church visited the New Britain League last night, making the trip by bus and private cars. A short sketch, "The Fatal Quest," was presented by Hilma Dahlman, Hildur Skoog, Alice Benson, Fridberg Thorer and Astrid Skoog. Rev. Ewald Lawson of White Plains, N. Y., who has been visiting in this vicinity, spoke briefly. Refreshments were served and a social hour was held.

WAPPING

A daughter was born last Tuesday evening to Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Peterson of Wapping Center at the Manchester Memorial hospital. Mrs. Peterson was before her marriage Miss Rose Stuberbach.

Herbert Watrous has built a new store just east of his own house, at Wapping Center.

At the last meeting of the Federated Sunday School Board the following committee were appointed to have charge of the program for Children's Day, June 12: Rev. and Mrs. David Carter, Miss Ellen J. Foster, Miss Faith M. Collins and Mrs. Lillian E. Grant.

Wapping Grange received an invitation to visit East Windsor Grange next Tuesday evening, May 17, as it is Neighbors Night. Wapping Grange will furnish a part of the program.

Next Sunday, May 15, is the annual Grange Sunday and all Grangers and their friends are invited to attend church at the Storrs church.

Cards received from Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Valentine of Pleasant Val. They are still touring in the South. They are expecting to visit Luray Caverns, Va., and the Warrenton High school and Saturday at the horse show of the North Males club at Spillman Place, Va., and the next will be at Mrs. Valentine's niece, Miss Mattie Bevier at Warrenton, Va., and Friday at Washington, D. C., with Mr. and Mrs. John Kirby. Mrs. Kirby is also a niece of Mrs. Valentine and they will be home again next Sunday evening.

There were few men at the Pro-Roosevelt rally in the Hotel Bond at Hartford Friday afternoon who have for as many years followed with such a keen and active interest all Democratic gatherings as Maurice Sullivan of Wapping, commonly called in this section "The Mayor of Wapping." Mr. Sullivan is approaching his sixty-fifth year and he proudly told some of the other old-timers who greeted him that he has been a successful candidate on the Democratic ticket in Wapping for the past eighteen years. He was also frank in saying that his personal leanings are towards the South for president but he added: "In Connecticut I prefer to play politics with the faction supporting Roosevelt." Despite his years, Mr. Sullivan still drives his own automobile and in fact he holds the contract to convey to the various schools the school buses, as an amateur teacher. Incidentally he is a member of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce and he has not missed a meeting, or the annual banquet of this organization in years.

DIGEST DENIES CHARGE THAT WET STATES GOT EXTRA BALLOT QUOTAS

All But Four States Voted in the Poll Within 1 Per Cent of Their 1928 Official Voting Strength; Over 22 Per Cent of the 20,000,000 Ballots Mailed Were Returned.

Forty-four States returned a ratio of ballots within one per cent of the official 1928 voting strength of the States in the recent Literary Digest National Prohibition Poll according to an analysis of the returns published in to-morrow's issue of the magazine.

In the four other States the variations between the percentage of the popular vote in the Hoover-Smith election and the percentage of ballots returned in the recent 1932 Prohibition referendum amounted to less than three per cent, it is stated.

Illinois, with 8.43 per cent of the country's popular vote, returned but 6.06 per cent of the total final returns of the Literary Digest poll and New York with 2.11 per cent of the nation's latest registered voting strength, returned but 10.79 per cent of the total ballots in the Poll, the analysis shows.

Ohio and Pennsylvania returned a greater proportion of their "quotas" in the Poll, it is stated than their respective popular voting strengths would warrant. Ohio, with 6.80 per cent of the 1928 Presidential vote, sent in 8.28 per cent of the Poll's ballots, Pennsylvania, with an 8.54 per cent popular vote, returned 11.50 per cent of the ballots.

The magazine states that it uses the latest national election figures rather than the populations of the States as a measuring stick because large sections of the country's population, especially in the South, do not go to the polls.

The Literary Digest presents this analysis as a refutation of the charge frequently made during the progress of the Prohibition Poll that more ballots were being sent to wet sections of the country, and cities, than to the politically dry and rural sections of the country.

It is announced that 20,706,382 ballots were mailed throughout the nation of which 4,668,537, or 22.55 per cent of the ballots mailed, were voted and returned which, it is said, is a high percentage of replies in a "straw" referendum.

"The close parallel between the 'Per Cent of the United States Popular Vote' and the 'Per Cent of Total Ballots Returned' the magazine will state editorially to-morrow is one of the most extraordinary statistical features of the Poll.

"That the ballots should have come back to The Literary Digest from the several States in quantities so closely in proportion to each State's popular vote at the last Presidential election seems almost miraculous.

"Our analysts table shows very clearly the immense disproportion which population bears to popular vote in certain States—and it happens that they are mostly in the politically dry belt.

"This condition indicating massive sections of the population which do not go to the polls, is well understood in the South. It is pointed out by The Literary Digest that the ballot apportionment on popular vote rather than population.

"A return of 4,668,537 ballots out of the 20,706,382 mailed out is a splendid return in any poll.

"It is the highest return ever scored by a Literary Digest poll with one exception. And the difference is very slight.

TO PRESENT OPERA ON GIGANTIC SCALE

Over 500 Singers in Cast; Elephants, Camels and Horses Also To Be Used.

Cleveland, May 13.—(AP)—The most spectacular scenic effects ever obtained in Grand Opera were promised today to be one of the attractions of the second outdoor opera season in Cleveland, from June 29 to July 6.

In "Die Walkure," the Valkyries will actually appear to fly heavenward, bearing the souls of departed warriors, while more than 500 singers in the cast will enact their roles around a circle of fire, 90 feet in diameter.

A 30-foot waterfall will be one of the spectacles of "Tom-Tom," a negro opera, the presentation of which will be its world premiere.

Elephants, camels and horses will swell the pageantry of "Tom-Tom," "Die Walkure" and "Aida," and the horses also will add to the realism of "Carmen."

Pageantry impossible with the limited size of an indoor stage, will be presented easily in the large open field of the Cleveland Municipal Stadium, where more than 80,000 persons attended the outdoor opera season a year ago.

Prominent stars of the Metropolitan, Chicago and Philadelphia opera companies, and from London and Italy, will be brought here for the principal roles in the presentations. They will be aided by hundreds of other experienced singers and a large orchestra.

Last year's outdoor opera here was an outstanding success, and it is the hope of the sponsors to make this year's performances even finer, but despite the magnitude of the program, the admissions will be from $2.50 down to only 25 cents, with the average price $1.

Between 10,000 and 20,000 persons are expected to attend each of the programs.

MARATHON CRAZY? BUT—THEY CAN'T STAY AWAY

"Difference of opinion" as Mark Twain once observed, "makes horse racing." It has nothing to do with dancing marathons. Opinion on heaven and hell, on making one's own tax reports and on the proper hours to feed a baby may be sharply divided. But on dancing marathons there is an unalterably fixed consensus of opinion.

Dancing marathons are admittedly crazy. They are only exceeded in foolishness by those persons who watch them.

The contestants take food on the plan that the endurance flight planes takes on gas and oil. They are fed on a table in the center of the floor and must keep moving while eating. Some of the dance teams, according to the management, are featured dancers and each couple will be required to put on their act for the entertainment of each evening.

Phil Murphy, Master of Ceremonies has presided at numerous marathons and is himself a talented radio and night club entertainer. Phil is known from coast to coast, as the original Marathon Master of Ceremonies.

MONTGOMERY WARD & CO

AKRON IS NOW MOORED AT ITS PACIFIC BASE

Sunnyvale, Calif., May 13.—(AP)—The Navy dirigible Akron was to moor at its Pacific coast base today after a transcontinental flight that extended two days longer than estimated and cost two lives.

Here, at the southern tip of San Francisco bay, a red light on a 77-foot temporary mooring mast marked the goal for which it set out from Lakehurst, N. J., May 8.

After a 15-hour flight from San Diego, where the world's largest airship stopped to replenish a fuel supply depleted in battling storms over southwest Texas, the Akron arrived at San Francisco shortly after midnight (P. S. T.).

As the craft passed over San Francisco her lights were hardly visible through a low curtain of fog. Two tiny scout planes, released over the Pacific landed here late last night. Two officers and 24 members of the crew arrived early by airplane from Camp Kearney, San Diego. They were ordered here to lead their companions from the ground in the mooring operation.

Watches were set for the mooring, and a large quantity of ether was on hand.

OPEN HOSPITAL FOR PUBLIC VIEW

Many Take Advantage of "Day" and See Institution From Top To Bottom.

Setting a precedent for years to come, the Manchester Memorial hospital yesterday conducted the first "open house" in honor of National Hospital Day, augmented by a well-arranged program of activities in which children of all ages took part. The weather was ideal for participation by the children in the several contests and the trustees and Mrs. Jane J. Aldrich were enthusiastic over the prospects for future demonstrations of like nature.

Open in Morning
The hospital force has been preparing for the event for the past month, and everything was spick and span at 10:00 o'clock yesterday morning, the opening hour of the day-long program. Few people, however, took advantage of the morning hours to visit the wards and various departments. In the early afternoon and until 5:30 p. m. over 150 people were conducted through the institution.

Every department of the hospital was shown and described in detail to the visitors. Mrs. Jane J. Aldrich and the capable staff of nurses and attendants did everything possible to acquaint the people of Manchester with hospitalization as it is known on Hayer street, and the expectations of interest and gratification by the large number of people, many of whom witnessed the hospital in operation for the first time, was ample pay for the time and energy expended in making the first public Hospital Day a success.

Show Diets
Early yesterday morning Miss Claire Gordon, dietitian of the hospital prepared a fine display of the several hospital diets for patients on a table on the front lawn. The meals were placed on the large hospital trays and covered with cellophane, showing to advantage the varied diet requirements as prepared and served to patients. Among the meals on display were the following: Low fat (salt free); high caloric; liquid; normal balanced and diabetic meals. The demonstration of hospital food and method of service was one of the interesting exhibits of the afternoon, and was of special interest to the children who crowded around the table during the afternoon program. The diet table was prepared by Miss Claire Gordon, hospital dietitian.

Youth's Exhibit
Another table that proved of interest to the visitors yesterday was the Hygiene exhibit, including Hygiene and Anatomy, prepared by the upper grade pupils of the Barnard School. Doctors and nurses especially were surprised at the technique and ingenuity of the boys in fashioning skeletons, bone structures, teeth, diagrams of wood and white soap and the detailed charts of the anatomy of the human body. At 8 o'clock the outdoor activities began with a doll parade of 15 kiddies with their gaily decorated doll carriages in review around the hospital drive. After the attractively decorated kiddies and their dolls had passed in review twice before the judges, Nancy Conlee of 45 Church street, a pupil in the Lincoln school was awarded first prize, a large doll, and Lillian Reuther of 156 Eldridge street, of the Nathan Hale School placed second. It was a difficult task to pick the winner in this event as all the little girls did well in decorating their dolls and carriages with multi-colored crepe paper. The winning miss was dressed in a pale green dress. Her carriage was decorated with green and lavender crepe paper.

Baby Parade
Next on the program was the baby parade with nine entries contesting. First prize in this event went to Adela Mikolins of 11 Ford street with Carol Bobyl of 73 Benton street as her little charge and second prize was awarded to Marjorie Perrett of 16 Flower street, with William Crozier of 40 Church street in his carriage. Doll prizes were awarded the winners. One of the most interesting demonstrations on the program was the bed-making contest given by girls of the upper grades of the Barnard School. Three girls to each group, with and without patients in the bed. In the first section Gladys Cross placed first and was awarded the bedspread and Edith Chapin received a pair of pajamas for placing second to her classmate.

In the same contest with the patient in bed, Leone Hand won first prize and June Clingman, second. The "patients" for the latter contests were Dorothy McKinney, Marion Montie and Florence McNeil.

Scout Exhibit
One of the finest exhibitions of the day was the demonstration put on by Troop 3 Boy Scouts of the Center church under the direction of assistant Scoutmaster Charles Lynn. The demonstration was conducted by Richard Carpenter, David Muldoon, Norman Pitt and Lawrence Dillon of the first aid group of Troop 3 and showed what is being taught the Scouts for emergency treatment of a patient who had fallen from a tree and fractured a leg and had sustained a bad cut on his head. An emergency bandage was made and the leg of the "patient" placed in splints.

The first aid group gave a very interesting and instructive demonstration of stretcher carrying following the emergency bandaging. The winners of the Hygiene exhibit, all boys of the Barnard school, were as follows: First, Richard Hultman; second, Gerald Demsey; third, Raymond Dellaferri; honorable mention, Manuel Cetrinsky. Anatomy Group: First, Frank Gado; second, Everett Carlson; third, Charles Foggitt; honorable mention, Bruno Giordano. Foster Contest
Interest in the poster contest was very marked with over 30 fine entries displayed on the hospital walls. A special prize in this event was awarded to Dorothy McKinney for a drawing of the Manchester Memorial hospital which was true in almost every detail. First prize in the Junior High group fell to Evelyn Getswisch of the Foster street school. Other winners in this group were: second prize, Barbara Joseph Lialaus, Barnard school; third, Joseph Lialaus, Barnard school; honorable mention, Gertrude Frye, Dorothy McKinney and William Sinnamon, all of the Barnard school.

VALUE OF TRADE SCHOOL STRESSED

Last Night's Public Exhibition Shows Hundreds School's Advantages.

The numerous advantages of a vocational education were emphasized impressively last night at the Manchester State Trade School where "Open Night" was observed by the largest throng of visitors ever to flock to the school street institution. Director John G. Ehmalian and the fourteen other faculty members were immensely pleased with the unexpectedly large public response.

All in Operation
Although the two-hour period of open shop was from 7 until 9 o'clock, many came before the opening hour and as many remained afterward. All departments in the school were in full operation giving the visitors a first hand glimpse of the various kinds of work which are carried on in Trade schools. Among the visitors were noted many prominent Manchester citizens. Adults were as numerous as boys and girls of the boys who went through the school were prospective students and many of the adults were their parents who came to study the advantages of sending their sons to the Trade school next September. Members of the faculty answered many questions during the course of the evening and explained various phases of the work to visitors who were not wholly familiar with them.

Town Foreman
U. J. Lupien, formerly an executive at Cheney Brothers, said, "The people of Manchester don't fully realize the wonderful advantages which an institution like the Trade school affords its young men. Many towns of equal size and even cities are not nearly as fortunate." Director Ehmalian estimated that close to 2,000 persons passed through the building during the evening. He said it was the largest attendance in "Open Night" history. The visitors wandered at will through the various departments where building draftsmen, machine draftsmen, electricians and silk testers were busy at work. On the bulletin board near the main office, many stopped to read a terse Associated Press bulletin from the Manchester Evening Herald telling that Gov. Moore had announced the discovery of the murdered body of the famous Lindbergh baby.

Orchestra Heard
The Trade school orchestra under the able leadership of William Hanna furnished a concert in the school assembly hall which was appreciated by the guests. The assembly room also contained a large and unusually interesting exhibit of work which has been done by the Trade school students in the various departments. Of especial interest were the hand-made early American Colonial weaves which formed a background for the exhibit.

ARREST DOUKHOBOES
Grank Forks, B. C., May 13. — (AP)—The number of adult Doukhorobes in jail under sentence or awaiting trial was increased to 200 today. In addition there are a score or more of children. The increase resulted from a nude parade of members of the sect last night. In protest against the imprisonment of fellow Doukhorobes, 31 nude men and women attempted to march along the highway from their settlement at Graham ranch to Nelson. They were promptly rounded up, loaded into three school buses and brought here, where they were imprisoned in a culling rink.

SPEDY ENACTMENT OF BILL NEEDED

Chairman Smoot Says Nation Is Losing Millions Daily Because of Delay.

Washington, May 13.—(AP)—Spedy enactment of the billion dollar revenue raising bill on a non-partisan basis was asked of the Senate today by Chairman Smoot of the finance committee.

"It is a measure for the protection and reservation of your government and my government," he said in opening debate on the bill. "It is above party lines and distinctions. Let us take the all-important step toward economic recovery."

Delays Are Costly
"I cannot estimate," he concluded, "the unfortunate effects upon the country resulting from the delays and uncertainties accompanying enactment of the legislation now before you. Business activities have slackened; unemployment is increasing; the purchasing power of the dollar is being depreciated; commodity prices have continued to fall; values have depreciated; liquidation has not stopped; credits remain frozen and credit facilities refuse or fail to function; the recuperative powers of the many relief measures adopted have been diminished and in part nullified; fears at home and abroad have not been allayed. The postponed and uncertain enactment of an adequate revenue measure has been a definite factor."

OLD, BUT STILL GOING
Boston.—The Lynnfield fire department has an old antique fire truck which provokes jeers on appearing at a fire, but it turns into jeers into cheers when it goes into action. The truck, a relic of 1915, was recently called to a vintage forest fire in North Reading. It received the customary jeers when it appeared, but dispatched the fire in such short order that it was given a rousing cheer when it left.

QUICK ON BORDER

Tientsin, China, May 13.—(AP)—Activities of Japanese troops at Shashihwan on the border between Manchuria and China proper do not justify alarming predictions of possible trouble there, an independent source, usually reliable, said today.

The motive for the Japanese maneuvers, this source said, is chiefly to impress the Chinese authorities and to prevent the passage of Chinese volunteers through the Great Wall from China into Manchuria.

No Japanese advance on Shashihwan is likely as things now stand, it was said, but there is always the possibility that numbers of plain clothesmen might be used to create an "incident."

FRIDAY, MAY 13.

LINDBERGH CASE

In a few days, when the secrecy, the misrepresentations and the consequent confusion that have marked the heartbreaking Lindbergh baby case have had time to clear up it may be possible to theorize on the mystery with some slight degree of intelligence. This morning there was substantially nothing to go on in the forming of theories. Nothing but the terribly tragic fact of that little dead child, apparently slain with deliberate purpose immediately after his disappearance and apparently lying for many weeks close to a traveled road in a region which, the whole world had been led to believe, had been explored and explored again since the night of the disappearance. There could be no more unprofitable subject of speculation at the moment than to attempt to deduce, from the fragmentary and largely false information available, a reasonable explanation of the crime or to guess at the generic character of the perpetrators. That must await upon a more orderly arraying of the circumstances than has ever been possible hitherto.

There is however, an unavoidable conclusion. The setting aside, for the purposes of this particular case, of the entire system of police and legal protection which our governments endeavor to provide for the good of their citizens; the sacrificing of the most vital principles of law and order upon the altar of a single mother's and father's emotions; has done no good at all, in what is a questionable cause. That it has done infinite harm can scarcely be denied. There has been erected into something very like an institution a substitute principle of negotiation between criminal and victim. The underworld, as we know the term, may have had nothing whatever to do with the Lindbergh baby case except to take advantage of an accidental opportunity; but beyond question it has come out of the affair armed with a new weapon in the fact that it can expect the police to be called off, in the interest of private negotiation, any time the crooks can jockey a citizen into any position where private negotiation can be made to appear to its advantage.

This case has been something more, and a great deal more, than a mere criminal mystery; something more than an emotional disturbance verging on national hysteria; it has evolved into an erosive undermining of a basic rule of civilization—that the wellbeing of society at large must not, and without enormous danger cannot be, subordinated to the well being of the individual. It may take many, many years, to undo the injury that has been wrought by this wretchedly unhappy and terribly mishandled tragedy.

TRUE INVESTMENT

Commenting on the theory held by some public men that the best road to business revival lies in a great program of public works to provide employment and demand for material, Walter Lippmann presents the view that such undertakings should not involve the raising of money chargeable to any budget but should be self supporting, should not be destructively competitive with existing enterprises and should be constructed at low costs. By way of examples of this sort of undertaking he suggests the urgent need of a vehicular tunnel between Manhattan and Long Island, which would pay for itself in tolls.

This suggests the thought that America's greatest lack is, perhaps, in bridges. How many millions of miles of wanted travel is occasioned by the absence of bridges where bridges would be convenient if it is impossible to guess. It is hardly to be doubted that for every bridge now existing in the country the prople could find use for another, perhaps for two or three. And most of them, on a toll basis, would pay for their maintenance and amortize the cost of their building. The building of bridges and the construction of speedway turnpikes, to be paid for not by taxes, but by tolls, constitute a form of potential investment for which not the money but the endorsement of the United States government would alone be necessary.

Between the projection of government-sponsored enterprises of this sort, which need only the application of temporary credit and which are capable of paying their own way in full, and the final expenditure of public funds on construction that will never pay back anything in the way of cash, there is all the difference in the world. In the one case the credit of the nation is temporarily invested. In the other the money must be kissed good by since it is gone forever.

A SOLUTION

The result of the Ohio primaries, in which prohibition dictatorship was overwhelmingly defeated, should give the leaders of both great political parties courage to seek the one effectual way in which the liquor question can be removed from the coming Presidential campaign absolutely and the country freed to give its attention to questions of vital economic import.

That end could be infallibly attained if the recognized leaders of the Republican and Democratic parties would meet together, decide upon a policy with relation to relieving the prohibition situation and incorporate that policy, in a plank phrased in identical terms, word for word, in the platforms of both parties.

Neither party, in such event, could possibly gain the slightest advantage over the other through the liquor issue, for there could not possibly be such an issue. It would be impossible for Democratic drys to bolt to the Republicans or for Republican drys to bolt to the Democrats. There would be no political refuge for them except through the formation of a third party, and if there were such a third party neither major party could lose more to it than the other would lose. As a matter of fact neither would lose any important number of voters and it would be the finest political thing that could happen if the ultra drys of both parties could be persuaded to depart into a party of their own. Then we should be able to measure the size of this midget that has been roaring like a giant, in politics, for the last fifteen years.

There is nothing impracticable about this scheme. It could be done and it would be an extremely useful thing to do for the nation's good.

NOT G. O. P. DISH

It will be well for the administration to have the Democratic label attached firmly to the proposed federal relief plan. It is not going to do to forget that it was Senator Robinson, the Democratic floor leader, who proposed to President Hoover a $2,000,000 bond issue to provide funds for loans to the states for unemployment relief and to increase by a billion and a half the borrowing power of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation so that the corporation in turn may finance private and public construction.

It is only a few days since people all over the country were protesting against the payment of the soldiers' bonus on the ground that it would further depress the bond and securities market. It is difficult to see where a bond issue for a bonus and a similar bond issue for the proposed purpose are likely to differ greatly in their effect upon the securities market and upon prices.

The federal relief plan will strike a great many persons as being a rather desperate gamble—with the odds against the player. That its adoption would bring a flurry of improvement is likely. But if, by superposing a further weight of debt upon our narrow base of redemption money, we only succeed in knocking down prices and values still further, we may be very sorry that we embarked on the venture.

The responsibility for the adventure, if it is entered upon, should be very definitely understood to be shared by both parties. The origin of the federal relief financing measure ought to be charged up to the Democrats.

ROLAND FARLEY

The world lost one of its major personalities when Roland Farley, at 40, was cut off by an acute illness that had nothing to do with the affliction over which he had triumphed—blindness. Sightless from the age of five Farley was one of America's few really musicianly composers, worlds removed from the quacks of Tin Pan Alley. But it was not alone his art that distinguished Farley. It was his resolute determination to carry on as an individual and a human being, making his brain serve the purpose of eyes. He was not only artist but artisan—screened his own porches, built his own book cases, fashioned casement windows, cutting the glass and mortising the stripping—once built an entire studio shack without the slightest aid. He played chess, typed his own correspondence, waited on his guests—hog-tied and threw the fate that had left him blind.

There are countless thousands of fully endowed average men who could not decently perform any of the achievements of this man who lived and worked in the dark. It is a thousand pities that he could not have lived out the natural span of existence.

MEANS' SYSTEM

Taking as a criterion the course of the District of Columbia Supreme Court in the fixing of bail for Gaston E. Means it might be concluded—all moral considerations aside—that it would be a good, steady business to cheat bemused and wealthy ladies at the rate of $100,000 a rattle, put up half of the loot as a bail bond and gaily saunter away. The obvious profit on each such transaction would be the remaining half of the take—and not to be sneezed at.

Even if one had to turn over to the bondsman, in addition to cash to cover the $50,000 bond, a couple of thousand for his services, there would still remain a sum greater than the average citizen can expect to accumulate by a lifetime of hard work and frugal living—and all picked up in next to no time.

The thought might suggest itself, to be sure, that not all courts would be certain to accept a bail bond of less than the amount involved in the swindle and that it might be advisable to confine one's operations to the jurisdiction of the federal tribunals. That, by the way, seems to be the system of the experienced Mr. Means. Somehow he always seems to know what he is about—and he almost never stays in jail long enough to bother him.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington

DEMOCRATS BRING FORTH DEPRESSION PROGRAM AS ANSWER TO G. O. P. GIBBS BY RODNEY DUTCHER NEA Service Writer

Washington—Something begins to take form, perhaps rather belatedly, which looks like an actual Democratic program in Congress designed to meet various phases of the economic crisis. At least part of the program seems likely to die by presidential veto if it gets through both the House and the Senate, but it appears that the party leaders in the House think they will have something with which they can successfully challenge the Republicans who continue to taunt them for failing to bring out any constructive plans of their own.

Four Chief Proposals The four main proposals understood to be involved are: Stabilization of commodity prices at pre-depression levels, which would be incumbent on the Federal Reserve Board under the bill offered by Congressman Goldsborough of Maryland. A federal law guaranteeing bank deposits. An international tariff conference aimed at a general reduction of tariff barriers. A world conference for the rehabilitation of silver.

This combination of measures, all proposed in bills in various stages of development in Congress, has not been formally announced as a party program, but, with the possible exception of the silver conference, it is being promoted, piece by piece, by the Democratic leadership.

May Be Big Issue However radical such proposals may appear to a conservative administration, each one has a wide, strong appeal and even if the Democrats succeed only in carrying them to the point of defeat by a Republican Senate or a Republican president they may be able to establish them as political issues which will aid them in the campaign.

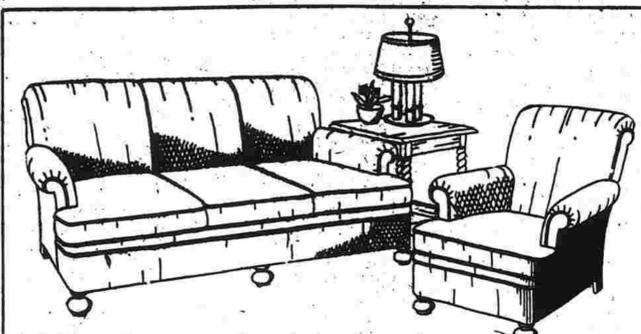

Measures thus far enacted with a view to curing economic ailments have had three things in common: 1. They have been sponsored by administration forces, if not proposed by President Hoover himself. 2. They have failed to keep the depression from deepening, despite a recent, sharp decrease in bank failures. 3. They have resulted in bitter arguments as to distribution of credit for them, since Democrats co-operated in their passage.

The set-up seems to be such that there is still a possibility of gaining public approbation if the Democrats can submit a distinctive program of their own. The large groups are likely to be effective. The Price Level Angle Re-establishment of price levels on a 1921-25 average is an aim which already has aroused wide support, although the Goldsborough bill is not favored by the administration's fiscal officials. It is proposed as a sure-fire stimulus to production and employment, which would restore confidence through price stabilization, expand bank loans, create resumption of buying and before long restore normal business activity. The Federal Reserve Board would be ordered to issue national credit certificates to be used in the same manner as the present money.

Other Measures

Proposals to guarantee bank deposits always are popular in periods when many bank failures have occurred and depositors are being banks are still swarming. The House Banking and Currency Committee found such strong support for that kind of a measure that Democratic leaders decided to bring a guarantee bill out on the floor. The Democratic tariff bill, urging an international conference along with the removal of protective tariff duties, passed both houses, although with virtual unanimity in the Senate. The bill, which would set up a tariff commission to study the tariff situation, has been introduced.

through the west, even producing proposals for a bimetallic standard on the old 16 to 1 plan on the theory that there isn't enough gold to handle the world's business. The House Coinage Committee has been considering the question in executive session.

LIFTING HIGHWAY DOZEN INCHES OR MORE SIMPLE JOB

Settled Concrete Pavements of Huge Weight Now Being Raised To New Levels By Half Dozen Men.

"Lift that highway about twelve inches."

These words may sound like the instructions for one of the twelve laborers of Hercules which in the absence of that muscular personage might require a collection of huge machinery and the assistance of a few hundred men.

The machinery lacked on this job is and rather inconspicuous and with it several hundred yards of pavement, despite its great weight, can be hoisted a foot or more in a few days by half a dozen men.

Since last fall, Highway Commissioner John A. Macdonald states, the department has performed the surface lifting process on 19,377 square yards of concrete pavement on thirteen different sections of Connecticut road in locations where the pavement either because of swampy ground underneath the foundation or for other reasons had settled to such a point that traffic might become endangered.

Today, a badly settled section of pavement can be lifted up to proper level with comparative ease and the agent that performs the job is not Hercules, but MUD! Nice, juicy mud, such as any child of four might delight to use in mimicking the culinary uses of its mother.

The first step in the process is to drill a series of holes two and one-half inches in diameter, through the pavement and into the subgrade. These holes must be properly spaced or else the highway is apt to suffer a "blowout" much after the manner of a bursting auto tire with the exception of the fact that instead of air the crew and is discape in general would be deluged with mud.

Probably the highway workers call it a "blowout" because the whole process is compared to the blowing in an auto tire. The muddy solution is forced through the holes in the pavement and underneath it under tremendous pressure.

When the concrete is forced under enough mud has been forced under the concrete there is only one course open for Mr. Highway. He must yield and move up to make room.

When it is necessary to lift a road more than five or six inches, it is necessary, too, to reconstruct the shoulder and to build them up to a height where a "blowout" of mud cannot occur on the sides.

The raising mixture is fed through the holes through a hose carrying a slightly tapering nozzle. Inch by inch, the pavement is raised by forcing the mud under pressure through the hoses. The cement in the mixture helps to dry it out and to make it firm and permanent.

Because of the amount of water contained in the mud, the road naturally begins to settle slightly again after evaporation or seepage takes place. For this reason, the fallen sections are raised an inch or two above the desired level.

Although the mud jack—that's its technical name—is an expensive proposition, its cost is not comparable with that of rebuilding the road. Furthermore, while the mud jacks are at work, traffic can continue to pass on the other side of the road, so that little inconvenience for the public is involved.

SIX MEN ARE KILLED BY PAPER PLANT BLAST Franklin, O., May 13.—(AP)—An instant explosion opened today into the explosion which late yesterday killed six men, injured eight others and destroyed the plant of the Cheney Pulp and Paper Company, here.

The cause of the explosion, which reduced a two-story brick building to ruins and shook houses for blocks around, was attributed to too much steam pressure in a rotary rag cooker, a boiled affair, in which rags were prepared for manufacture into paper pulp. It was equipped with a safety valve, and six weeks ago was inspected and pronounced safe.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Minneapolis—Because he feels inferior, A. K. Johnson would like to have $65,000, a considerable sum at any time. He sued Mrs. Vera L. Ferrin for that amount, alleging she was responsible for an auto mishap that left him with an inferiority complex.

Chicago—It looks like Chicago is going to enjoy opera next fall and winter, as usual. Herbert M. Johnson, vice-president in charge of the business end of the Chicago Civic Opera announced more than $350,000 of a guaranty fund had been raised and that only $150,000 more was needed.

Washington—The old Riggs Constitution is still a good ship. She staged an act for which she was not scheduled in the dedication of the memorial to George Washington in Alexandria yesterday by slipping, an anchor and going for a trip of a quarter of a mile down the Potomac with 50 visitors to the dedication aboard before a tender crew could bring her back.

New York—Well, anyway it can't be said some of Columbia University's students aren't honest about their "cheating." Forty-one per cent of the 391 who answered a questionnaire circulated by the Spectator, a campus newspaper, said they "cribbed" on examinations. Were the names published? They were not.

Joliet, Ill.—Maybe Tony Gonzales, convicted burglar, will be comfortable on his 1,500 mile trip to Huntsville, Tex. but there were those who had their doubts. W. R. Crane, a local agent from Huntsville, put him in a cage, five-by-five feet, loaded it onto a truck and started for home. The Texas authorities want him to serve a 10-year sentence.

Chicago—A fashion note: The Helen Willis bob seems to be going over with a bang. The bob the tenor star recently affected was among the hair coiffures displayed by models competing for "the most perfect summer bob for 1932," a contest being sponsored by Chicago and Illinois Hairdressers' Association.

East St. Louis, Ill.—Federal Judge Fred L. Wham has the idea that Federal prisoners sent to county jails should spend their time in jail "and not on the streets." He scored sheriffs who make trustees of special privileges.

Chicago—"Any rags, any bones, any bottles today," is going to be missing in Chicago. Some 1,800 junk peddlers voted to stop buying material under conditions are better, which means Old Dobbin is going to get a rest.

Boston—Albert Bradley Carter, Cambridge, appointed state commissioner of probation.

Boston—George P. Kineman, treasurer of defunct European Securities Corporation, sentenced to two months each on charges of larceny and operating a bucket shop.

Concord, Mass.—G. Mott Shaw mansion, valued at $60,000 and one of the show places of West Concord, is destroyed by fire.

Concord, N. H.—Tax commission reports a decrease of $1,800,000 in the valuation of property in Berlin for 1932.

Westfield, Mass.—Parents of Governor Ely observe 52nd anniversary of their marriage.

Bangor, Me.—Mrs. Robert Downes, 46, of Stetson, killed, and her daughter, Pearl, seriously injured in collision of their auto and train.

Hopewell, N. J.—Body of Lindbergh baby, with skull crushed, is found about four miles from Lindbergh home.

San Diego, Calif.—Drigible Akron departs from Sunnyvale, Calif.

JAFSIE CONNECTION WITH LINDY CASE

Dr. Condon Became Involved Eleven Days After the Infant Was Stolen.

New York, May 13.—(AP)—Dr. John F. Condon, who was questioned by police at Hopewell today, first appeared as an intermediary in the search for the Lindbergh baby eleven days after it was stolen from his crib.

On that day there appeared in several New York newspapers a classified advertisement which read: "Money is ready. Jafsie."

Three weeks later, Saturday night, April 2, Condon tossed over a hedge in a Bronx cemetery a package containing $50,000 of Colonel Lindbergh's money.

He received in return a note directing Colonel Lindbergh to go to Martha's Vineyard, where the baby would be found, alive and well, on a yacht named "Sally."

Colonel Lindbergh, waiting in a car parked in the darkness only a few feet away, immediately set out for the Massachusetts coast and, few in an airplane over nearby waters for hours, but never found the "Sally."

Thereafter for many days there appeared in the papers an ad which read: "What is wrong? Have you crossed me? Please better directions. Jafsie."

The connection of Condon, an elderly retired school principal, did not become known publicly until the Treasury Department in Washington sent out the serial numbers of the bills, in an effort to trace the $50,000, about a week after the money was paid.

Condon insisted he was still in touch with the kidnapers and kept his movements shrouded with secrecy, Colonel Henry Breckinridge, Condon's friend and attorney, was frequently with Condon, and it was learned that Colonel Lindbergh had several times visited the Condon home in the Bronx.

He had received a note from the kidnapers, he said, after he had that of a newspaper interview he would be willing to act as intermediary. There were several notes, and the Lindberghs became convinced they were authentic. At one time Condon said the handwriting was that of one of his former pupils.

Delivers the Money He started inserting the want-ads, he said, at the direction of the writer of the notes. On the night of April 2, while Colonel Lindbergh waited with him, a taxicab driver appeared at Condon's home with a note directing him to go to a greenhouse in the Bronx where under a stone he found another note directing him to the hedge where he delivered the money to someone unseen.

There was one report that several nights previously he had gone alone into the cemetery and had talked in the darkness with one of the kidnapers.

The "Jafsie" advertisements were received by one on March 8 which read: "Letter received at new address. Will follow your instructions. I also received letter mailed to me March 4, and was ready since then. Because the Senator is a busy man, please hurry on account of mother. Address me to the address you mention in your letter, Father."

Lindbergh's O. K. This advertisement, it was said, was Colonel Lindbergh's authorization for Condon to act as his representative.

Dr. Condon is 72 years old and has for many years advocated athletics as an aid to education. His most recent work in athletics was his training of the Sing Sing prison football squad last fall.

He is a stocky man of somewhat eccentric ways, seeming to take pleasure in making incomprehensible replies to questions. In "thinner" might have been better unmasked. He lives in the Bronx with a housekeeper and, since the beginning of his negotiations.

CONNECTICUT MEN HONORED AT YALE

Are Among 60 Juniors Who Were Elected To Societies On "Tap Day."

New Haven, May 13.—(AP)—Seven Connecticut men were included today in the list of sixty Yale juniors who received one of the most coveted university honors—election to a senior honorary society.

The sixty students, prominent in athletic, scholastic and literary activities, were chosen by the four honorary societies yesterday during the traditional "tap day" exercises on the campus.

Robert E. Parker of Greenwich, football, hockey and baseball star, was the most prominent of the Connecticut men chosen. He was elected to Skull and Bones, oldest of the four societies. Another Greenwich resident, Fritz C. Hyde Jr., declined election to Elihu, and was not chosen by any other society.

John M. McLaughlin, of New York, wrestling champion and a self-supporting student received what is considered the highest honor for being tapped last for Skull and Bones. To this society were elected also John S. Wilbur of Cleveland, next year's football captain; and Alexander C. Fletcher of Newton, Mass., hockey captain.

Connecticut Men Besides Parker, the Connecticut men elected were: Skull and Bones: Walter B. Levering, Greenwich; Scroll and Key; Thomas B. Blagden, Greenwich; Wolf's Head, Albert H. Barclay, Jr., New Haven; David W. Yandell, Greenwich; Lawrence D. Cavanaugh, Norwich.

Criticism of the manner in which the elections are held was voiced editorially by the Yale Daily News, undergraduate publication. "One usually associates simple dignity with the conferring of an honor," it said.

"Tap day" seems to be a ceremony of another sort. It seems to smack of the Roman spectacle. It is too

LONG REPRIMANDED

Washington, May 13.—(AP)—A renewal, yesterday of Huey Long's harsh attack on Senator Robinson's Democratic leadership, brought the Louisiana his first touch of Senate discipline.

He was ordered to cease talking and take his seat by none other than Vice President Curtis because his remarks were held beyond all the bounds set for Senatorial propriety. His words carried the clear statement that Robinson's law firm represented "unlawful" interests and a broad implication that his votes were influenced by the wishes of client corporations.

Because the Senate is customarily free with its speech, a motion was made to allow him to resume "in order," or without further imputations of unworthy or unbecoming motives to the party leader. He started up again but soon switched his speech to other subjects.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

Golf Team Wins
The M. E. S. golf team is continuing the reputation which Manchester High has been making in the field of sports this spring by beating the Weaver High golf team yesterday at Keeney Park in Hartford by the good score of 15 1-2 to 2 1-2. The Vivello brothers were the high lights in the Manchester victory, Harold with a score of 80 and Dan with an 83. Elmore Hultine with 89 and Mike Reardon with 95 gave a good team average for the four man attack.
The Weaver scores were M. Stein 86, D. Katz 97, Rubenstein 102 and J. Davis 91. Civello and D. Civello were paired against M. Stein and D. Katz and won the whole 9 possible points in this match. Hultine and Reardon won from Rubenstein and Davis 5-2 to 2 1-2, Reardon picking up only 1-2 point in his struggle with J. Davis although Hultine made all 3 of his against Rubenstein and gained the team score.
The team will play Meriden tomorrow on the Manchester Country Club course, starting at an early hour to get ahead of the regular Saturday morning play of the club members.
Glee Clubs Lose
Middletown and West Hartford carried off the honors at the C. C. I. L. music festival held yesterday afternoon in the William Hall High School in West Hartford. Middletown boys had a commanding lead over all others in the opinion of the three judges as far as the boys' was concerned. They obtained a total of 138.5 points from the combined scores and reflected much credit on their coach William B. Davis who conducted them on the platform. The East Hartford club of over 40 boys made a fine impression with the audience and got the second choice with the judges with 128.5 points. This club was directed by Miss Doris Raynor, music supervisor.

The girls' contest was a much closer one and resulted in a tie score from the judges sheets, West Hartford and Middletown each receiving the same number of points, 137.4. However a rule had been adopted several years ago that the accompanist for all singing must be a student and Coach Davis of Middletown disregarded this by leaving the stage and playing the accompaniment himself for the girls' second number. It is understood that this will disqualify the Middletown club and that West Hartford will receive undisputed possession of the trophy for the coming year. Bristol, under the guidance of Miss Vera Prince, came a close second with 131 points, East Hartford, with 128 third; Manchester, directed by Miss E. Marion Dorward, fourth with 113 points; and Meriden with 105 points was fifth.
There were over a thousand people at the contest which ran for over two hours. Each boys' club sang "Finlandia" and another song of their own choice, while the required song for the girls was "Swing Low Sweet Chariot." After the contest the audience was entertained by the Middletown boys who sang a humorous number, the Manchester girls who sang "Little Orphan Annie," Art Stephens of West Hartford who played several piano numbers and a capable young accompanist from Bristol who was almost compelled to exhaust his repertoire so insistent was the audience for more. Following the presentation of the silver trophies to the winning clubs, the West Hartford school was host to the entering contest crowd, serving tea cream and cake in the cafeteria and offering a box picnic band for dancing in the large gymnasium. The Manchester delegation went in a special trolley car.

Track Team Goes to R. I.
Twenty boys with Coach Charles L. Wigren, Faculty Manager Dwight Ferry and Nathan E. Gatchell from the faculty, left at 2:35 this afternoon for Kingston, R. I. where they are to be the guests of various fraternities tonight and compete in the R. I. State College Invitation Interscholastic tomorrow. Inasmuch as the preliminaries come at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning, it seemed best to Coach Wigren to have his charges go down this afternoon and get the kinks out of their legs from the long ride before competing.
This is the first out of the state. This is the first out of the state meet which the local track team has ever attempted and they will find five other Connecticut high schools among their competitors tomorrow.
Following is the Manchester list of entries for tomorrow: 110 yard dash, F. Wittman; 220 yard dash, F. Wittman, G. Fraser; 440 yard dash, E. Mosser, N. Rowell, F. Leavitt; 880 yard run, F. Simon, S. Burns, J. Carey; Mile run, W. March, A. Lange; Pole Vault, R. McCormick, E. Fischer; 220 yard hurdles, R. Smith; High Jump, R. Lane, R. Smith; Shot Put, G. Kaselaukas, O. Garrone; Broad Jump, A. Smith, R. Smith, T. Johnson; Discus throw, O. Garrone, E. Lithwinski, G. Kaselaukas; F. Robinson; Javelin throw, A. Olson, L. Johnson; Hammer throw, R. McCormick, O. Garrone, C. Kaselaukas.

BETHOVEN TO SING IN CROWD
The Bethoven Singers in Crown Point, N. Y., will be the first appearance of the Bethoven Singers in Crown Point, N. Y., well and a large audience is expected to receive them. The club, under the direction of Helge E. Pearson, will be assisted by Miss Elise Berggren and Miss Helen Berggren as soloists and Miss Vera Johnson and L. Burdette Hawley as accompanists.
$100,000 FURNISHINGS STOLEN
New York, May 18.—(AP)—A strange story of systematic pilfering that in six years stripped the museum-like home of E. Francis Hyde, retired millionaire banker, of $100,000 in furnishings, was disclosed with the appearance of two men in the police lineup today. The furnishings consisted of silver, furniture, tapestries and rugs and their systematic disappearance over the period of years was accomplished without the owner being aware of it. The prisoners were Andrew Nygard, 52, who had been Hyde's valet for fifteen years, and John Janigan, 45, described as a well-to-do farmer who lives in Brooklyn. Nygard lives with his wife at Woodside, Queens.

HOSPITAL DRIVE REPORT TONIGHT

Workers To Meet At Masonic Temple At 6:15 — Hope To Have Half Sum.

At 6:15 o'clock tonight the 200 volunteer workers in the Memorial Hospital campaign for $20,000 will make their first report at a luncheon meeting at the Masonic Temple, and it is expected that a report will be made on at least seventy-five percent of the entire prospect list of more than 3,000 names.

What percentage of the quota has been obtained to date is problematical as only a few reports on large donors have been made at the campaign headquarters at the Chamber of Commerce, these including Cheney Brothers donation of $3,000. However, campaign leaders feel confident that between $10,000 and $12,000 will have been raised by tonight.

The final meeting, at which complete reports are expected to be made, will be held Monday evening at the Masonic Temple at 6:15 o'clock.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Spells During Night)
Question: K. M. asks: "What would cause a young man to have some kind of spells at night, when he chews his tongue and seems to be having sort of convulsions during his sleep. He has them every few months. After having had one, he wakes up in the morning with a headache and vomits. Twelve doctors have examined him—one said he chews his tongue and had them removed; another said trench mouth, and he had treatments until his mouth was pronounced all right. Still, they couldn't find the cause of these spells, which continue at intervals."
Answer: Judging from the symptoms described in your letter, the young man is probably suffering from nocturnal epilepsy. This can usually be corrected by using a fasting and dieting regime, instructions for which I will be glad to send you.

(Swollen Eyelids)
Question: Mr. Gregory T. asks: "What causes swelling of the eyelids?"
Answer: Swelling of the eyelids often accompanies such diseases as nephritis, anemia, diabetes, trichinosis, or angio-neurotic edema. Of course, some local condition, such as urticaria or erysipelas, might be responsible. You can see by this that a careful physical examination would be necessary.

(Lumbago and Constipation)
Question: Mrs. E. writes: "I am 60 years old, very stout, and look healthy, but am most miserable. I have lumbago, constipation, and suffer from a very bitter taste in my mouth which makes me sick to my stomach. Please advise me what to do."
Answer: Try the Spring Cleansing Diet Course which is now appearing in this column. I feel sure that you will notice an improvement.

PROBING VICE RING

Danbury, Conn., May 12 —(AP) —State police of the Ridgefield barracks made two more arrests last night in their investigation of an alleged vice ring concerned in the exploitation of two young Bridgeport girls in that city and also in various towns in Fairfield and Litchfield counties. The prisoners are Cornelius Stavola and Anthony Delnato, both of Danbury. Rocco de Gross, of this city, who has a criminal record, is in jail as one of the principals in the case and a warrant has been issued for Jerry La Pine, accused of having been his associate, the authorities say. The men are said to have repre-

mented themselves to the girls as theatrical agents in search of handsome girls for a stock company. The state police say that several other arrests are expected. After the Boston experience with Leo, they might change that old saying to read "You can't lead a lion to the mink, but you can't make him croon."

INDIAN TO RELATE CITIZENS HIS TRIALS

Isaac Greyearth's Attempts To Become Citizen To Be Told At Y Meeting.

An Indian's attempts to gain the rights and privileges of United States citizenship will be related to members and friends of the County Y. M. C. A. at the Association's annual convention and dinner this coming Monday evening at the Methodist church in Windsor, by Isaac Greyearth, who has been given citizenship papers four times and still does not exercise the rights of an American citizen. Being a full blooded Sioux Indian, Mr. Greyearth, who is now Y. M. C. A. secretary for the Indians of the northwest, claims descent from one of the oldest American families and Isaac Greyearth in his quest for full citizenship rights has complied with all the demands of the government.

In telling of his experience Mr. Greyearth said that in his boyhood he was told all graduates from the Indian schools were made citizens. So he went to Haskell Institute and upon his graduation was given his diploma and a certificate which said he was now a citizen of the United States. Upon his return to the Sisseton reservation, however, he found he still could not vote, the Indian agent managed all of his land and his financial affairs for him, and he paid no taxes as other citizens did. Then one day a government official came to the reservation with a new offer of citizenship for the Indians. Each Indian who would take the boy and arrow and shoot the shaft off into the air (signifying he gave up all Indian ways) and then take the plow and turn a furrow (showing he was following in the white man's ways) was given a certificate of citizenship. Greyearth complied and was given another certificate, but his status was not changed.

When the World War broke out, the Indians were told if they would join the army and fight they would be granted citizenship. So Greyearth joined the army and served for the duration of the war. Again he was given a certificate of citizenship, but the Indian agent still managed his land and he could not vote and did not pay taxes.

Recently a ruling from Washington granted citizenship and the franchise to the Indians and Greyearth now votes. But the Indian agent still manages his land and he does not pay taxes. In discussing the government's new policy of vocational training for the Indian youth, he said it will be a great thing for the boys and girls to fit them to take their places in the white man's world. With the coming of the government schools, however, there has been a breakdown in the old tribal methods of religious and normal instruction, he said, and the young Indians need this sort of education in addition to that given them in the government schools. It is this type of religious education which he is instituting on the reservations of the Dakotas and Montana.

Mr. Greyearth will also speak at the noon meeting of the Manchester Elwanis Club Monday, and has been scheduled for several addresses about the County Tuesday.

BUCKINGHAM RABBIT FIGHTS ROOSTER ON GLASTONBURY FARM

The event here recorded happened recently on the farm of James Prentice on Mountain street, Glastonbury. On this farm is a flock of hens. At the head of this flock is a rooster who has laid claim to supreme authority of his flock of hens and also has ruled all the rabbits about the place. There are about 20 rabbits and when the supreme authority came along, every rabbit moved right or left at top speed, or took the consequences—a hard jab from the rooster's spurs or bill. The old rooster had a surprise sprung on him when he jabbed his spurs into a large male rabbit and

BUCKINGHAM RABBIT FIGHTS ROOSTER ON GLASTONBURY FARM

The rabbit did not run away. The rabbit had changed into a fighting mood with plenty of iron for this year's annual war. The rabbit jumped for the rooster taking a mouthful of feathers from the bird's tail. The rooster gave a loud squawk and looked around to see the end of his tail gone—bit off and in the mouth of the rabbit who was lunging a hole in which to spit out the feathers. The rooster ran after the rabbit and for the next two hours the two fought back and forth in chasing and being chased. The rabbit chased the rooster into the hen-house, coming out quickly with the rooster in hot pursuit. The rabbit kept at his way of fighting taking a lot of tertiary feathers and tail feathers. At the end of two hours the owner had to shut up the rabbit to save the old rooster from losing all his feathers. As it was, nearly one-third of the bird's feathers was gone and only a question of time, to look at a rooster minus all his feathers. The rabbit had a peculiar way of digging holes to cover up each mouthful of feathers, if he had time but it was difficult to do a good job and avoid the wild charges of that furious old rooster.

CHURCH YOUNG PEOPLE COMBINE FOR PLAYS

Volunteer Choir, CYP and In-asmuch Circle To Give Entertainment May 27. Three of the organizations of your people of the Center Congregational church are combining forces on a notable program of entertainment, to be given in the parish hall of the church on Friday evening, May 27. They include the volunteer choir of young people, the CYP club and In-asmuch Circle of Kings Daughters. Two plays will be presented on that evening; one will be coached by Miss Nettie Miller, director of work among the young people of the church. It is entitled "Three Pills in a Bottle" and the cast will be eight of the members of the Cyp club. Special instrumental music and choral numbers will be given during the evening. The other play is "The Willow-Platter Play", founded on the old Chinese legend. POULTRY PINEHURST

For a good many years, here at PINEHURST, we have specialized on Fancy Poultry, and as a result have built up a fine sale on this item. In our meat department we have a special gas burner arrangement for singeing the poultry, and every Fowl, Chicken and Broiler is singed before being drawn or cut up. We also pull the sinews from the legs, and in cutting up Fowl are careful not to make any "bone splinters." In fact, from now on, unless a customer asks us to crack the breast bone, we will not touch the fowl with the cleaver, but merely joint them. This week-end we are featuring the highest grade poultry it is possible to purchase... each bird is plump broasted, free from pin feathers and milk-fed for tenderness. They are sold with Pinehurst guarantee of satisfaction, at prices no higher than you would pay for ordinary poultry.

Transparent velvet ribbons for summer dresses and hats have just arrived at Cheney Hall Salesroom. In two-inch and five-inch widths, they come in a beautiful line of colors.

Wash the tea kettle and coffee pot along with the other pots and pans after the meal and you will not be bothered with sediment collecting in them.

The New Model Laundry is as near as your telephone. With the modern equipment your clothes are safeguarded as much as they are at home—and the results are far more satisfactory. Phone 8072.

Salmon and Rice Souffle
1 can salmon, 2 (or 3) eggs, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons chopped celery, 1-4 teaspoon curry powder, 1 slice of onion, cut fine; 2 cups boiled rice (mashed potatoes may be used), 2 tablespoons butter or drippings, 1-2 cup drained tomato pulp (or 1 tablespoon lemon juice), dash of pepper.

Drain the fish and remove bones, then mash fine using a fork. Melt the fat and cook the onion and celery in it for three minutes. Add all ingredients together, the yolks of eggs last—beaten very light. Beat well for one minute. Fill in a greased baking dish. Bake slowly for one hour or until mixture is set in center and the top is lightly browned. The rice gives a very pretty, irregular surface, to the top, when browned. Where a thermometer is used, have oven at 350 degrees, Fahrenheit. Save remainder of celery and tomato for next day's menu.

Use a larger vase than necessary rather than a small one for the bouquet of flowers. When you crowd the stems into a small space you shut off their means of absorbing nourishment and your flowers will not last long.

If your hair has become dry and lifeless through inefficient permanent waving or for any other reason, I suggest a Breck treatment at the Mary Elizabeth Beauty Nook which will restore your hair and scalp and restore its natural life and lustre. The prices are reasonable.

DANCING AT RAU'S TOMORROW NIGHT

The first dance of the season will take place tomorrow night at Rau's Crystal Lake. Timmie Crowe's Colonials have been booked to furnish the music. The Colonials are an unusually talented group of musicians playing over forty instruments. They feature novelties composed of six trombones, six trumpets, eight violins, six banjos at six saxophones. The Colonials come from the Tea Garden at Peach Lake, N. Y., where they have been the attraction for two years.

On Saturday, May 21, Bill Dehey and his Merry Makers will be at Rau's. The Merry Makers have kept busy all through the winter at various ballrooms and playing once a week over Station WGY in Schenectady. The following week Harry Brinkman's Society Orchestra will play on Saturday night, Sunday night, starting at 11 p. m. Gene Samaroo and his Venetians will play a concert until twelve o'clock followed by dancing until a very late hour. Samaroo's Venetians are a vaudeville headliner that has delighted theater audiences all through the eastern states. On Monday night, Memorial Day, dance again with Gene Samaroo and the Venetians.

WRITERS CALLED REDS AT PROBE

Major of National Says Dreisers Group Had Communists Among Them.

Washington, May 13.—(AP)—Two members of the Dreiser group of writers that visited the Kentucky coal fields were described as "Communists" before a Senate committee today by George M. Chescheir, of Louisville.

Chescheir, a Kentucky National Guard major, testifying on the Cutting-Costigan resolution for a Senatorial investigation into conditions in the strike-ridden Kentucky coal fields, explained he accompanied the group of writers, headed by Theodore Dreiser, on its tour of Harlan and Boone counties.

Chescheir described as Communist Harry Gannis, editor of "The Worker," which he said was the official organ of the Communist Party in the United States.

George Mauder, representing the International Labor Delegates, Chescheir put into the record extracts from the report of a special House investigating committee that went into Communist activities in the United States two years ago.

From this report he read portions terming the National Miners Union one of the "revolutionary agencies" of the Communist Party.

It showed also, he said, that the American Civil Liberties Union was "closely affiliated" with the Communist organization, and that the Federal Press was a radical organization.

Chescheir explained that he was one of several officers sent into Harlan and Boone counties last fall to investigate the situation.

The Guard officers, he added, were sent by former Governor Sampson, but he explained they were not sent as guards.

Previous statements that such was the case, he said, were "a mistake."

"A guard was at no time necessary," Chescheir asserted, "as the Dreiser committee was in no danger."

NO ONE SUSPECTED AT PRESENT TIME

But There May Be Arrest "Any Time" in Lindy Case, Official Declares.

Trenton, N. J., May 13.—(AP)—District Attorney Erwin E. Marshall said after a conference at the State House today that no one was under suspicion for the slaying of the Lindbergh baby "at this time," but that there might be an arrest "any time."

"But there may not be any arrests for a few days," he added. "We are in a conference at the State House today that no one was under suspicion for the slaying of the Lindbergh baby 'at this time,' but that there might be an arrest 'any time.'"

Marshall, who is prosecutor of Mercer county and so has jurisdiction now because the body was found in the county in which the kidnapping occurred in Hunterdon county, said he was unprepared to advance any theories yet.

He said that Dr. John F. Condon, who paid the $50,000 ransom, and John Hughes Curtis, Norfolk negotiator for the baby's return, had come voluntarily to the Lindbergh home after the body was found.

They made formal statements last night and were subjected to lengthy questioning today. Marshall said they were not under arrest but would be examined minutely for every detail of their efforts in the case.

Until the baby's body was found jurisdiction in the case was held by Attorney General William A. Stevens, who is acting as prosecutor of Hunterdon county in the absence of a regular district attorney there. Marshall conferred today with Stevens and Assistant Attorney General Joseph Lannigan, who was active in the earlier phases of the investigation.

Marshall said today that with completion of the autopsy county officials were through with the body of the kidnapped child and it would be returned to the Lindberghs for burial as soon as they had made funeral arrangements.

DR. RONTREY DIES
 Greenwich, Conn., May 13.—(AP)—Dr. Pierre Rontrey, 47, a physician here for more than 20 years, died at his home in Cos Cob today. He had studied at Fordham University and Bellevue Hospital in New York. His widow and two children survive.

PRESIDENT FAVORS CUT IN ARMY FUND

Saves 24 Millions Could Be. Saved He Tells Congressman During Parley.

Washington, May 13.—(AP)—Representative Wood, (R., Ind.), told newspapermen today that President Hoover is strongly in favor of at least a $24,000,000 cut in Army appropriations. The bill now is before the House.

Standing in the White House lobby when Dreiser and company last fall were described as "Communists" before a Senate committee today by George M. Chescheir, of Louisville.

Chescheir explained that he was one of several officers sent into Harlan and Boone counties last fall to investigate the situation.

The Guard officers, he added, were sent by former Governor Sampson, but he explained they were not sent as guards.

Previous statements that such was the case, he said, were "a mistake."

"A guard was at no time necessary," Chescheir asserted, "as the Dreiser committee was in no danger."

SENSE AND NONSENSE

Friday, May 13th. Did you know that this is the only Friday the thirteenth in 1932. There were three Friday the thirteenth's in 1931. Some people are so superstitious they won't go out of the house on Friday the thirteenth. . . . Wonder what the boss would say if we gave him that as an excuse for not being on the job? . . . But don't worry about Friday the thirteenth. . . . How's that? Thirteen original colonies started this nation, and there are thirteen stripes on the American flag. Francis Scott Key wrote the "Star Spangled Banner" on September 13, 1814. There are thirteen letters in our national motto: "E Pluribus Unum." The eagle that appears on our seal has thirteen feathers in each wing. The cornerstone of the White House was laid on October 13, 1792. The great American World War victory at St. Mihiel was won on Friday the thirteenth.

Efficiency experts only know about the fellow who breaks down from overwork. . . . The honeymoon is ever when you begin wishing company would drop in to spend the evening. . . . A good many of the girls who abandoned the boyish boys are now going through a hair-raising experience. . . . The average married man can make money by laying off and doing the carpentering and plumbing himself. . . . Remember, fair maiden, a man is the salt of the earth—and 'tis wise to take his promises with a grain of salt.

Once a caddy asked permission of his employer to take a young friend of his with them over the golf course. The golfer gave his permission—but he was sorry a little later that he had done so, when he made a perfectly terrible mess of a stroke, and the caddy turned to the other "kid" with:

Caddy—There, Bobby, ain't you glad you came with us instead of going to the circus?

Whistling, says Professor Shaw of New York, is an unmistakable sign of a moron. That's what we've always claimed even though we've never had the nerve to fall it to a traffic cop.

Lady—Before I engaged you, I should like to know what your religion is? Cook—Oh, madam, I always feel it my duty and privilege to be of the same religious faith as the family with which I serve.

One place you don't find an endurance sitting contest—the library on Saturday evening. . . . Why is it that no one can put a hat on your head and make it feel as though you had put it there yourself? . . . The Manchester Mothers club will hold its regular monthly meeting at the South Methodist church this evening. The guest speaker will be Dr. J. R. Miller of Hartford who will lecture on "Maternity Care, the National Problem." Mrs. Sidney French will furnish piano numbers and Mrs. Sherwood Goslee will be chairman of the hostesses.

Louis Radding, of Wadsworth street, failed to follow directions in using a small package of matches which advised, "Close Cover Before Striking Match." He was about to light a cigarette, holding the pack of matches in his left hand. He struck one match which resulted in the ignition of the entire package and Mr. Radding is carrying his hand in a wad of gauze as a result of the burns on the palm of his hand.

Archibald Sessions left early this morning for New York City. He will sail today on the S. S. Majestic of the White Star Line for Europe. Upon arrival he will take up his duties as organist at the American church, Paris. George Huntington Byles of Groton, acting organist during the absence of Mr. Sessions, will preside at the organ of the South Methodist church for the first time Sunday morning.

Isaac E. Greysarth of the National Y. M. C. for American Indians will tell of this work with his own people at the meeting of the Manchester Kiwanis club Monday noon at the Hotel Sheridan. Mr. Greysarth was born on the Sisseton Reservation in South Dakota and lived for ten years in a wigwam. He attended Mount Hermon school, the American Institute, Kansas, and the North Dakota Agricultural college. Since 1919 he has been special Indian Student Secretary, and religious director in two Indian schools in South Dakota and Minnesota. William B. Halsted will furnish the attendance prize.

Temple Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, will give the final military whist of the season, Wednesday evening, May 13 at the Masonic Temple. The social will be open to the general public at a small admission charge. Eight prizes will be awarded and refreshments served. Worthy Matron Mrs. E. A. Lettney will have charge of table reservations, and requests that as many as possible telephone her, 4431, at an early date to assist the committee with its plans. Miss Edith Walsh will be chairman of the refreshment committee. Former military whists given by the Eastern Star have been exceptionally well attended and a large crowd is expected at the coming affair.

Mrs. G. H. Wilcox and Mrs. Harold Edwall of Center Church Women's Federation will be co-chairmen of the committee furnishing the supper for the workers in the Memorial hospital campaign for funds, Monday evening at 6:30.

Anthony Trivigno, of 28 Hawthorne street, is at the Manchester Memorial hospital recovering from bruises and contusions sustained by falling from the roof of his home Saturday morning. Not being fully employed he had decided to paint his house and was on the top of a dormer window when he slipped, falling to the ground. The accident occurred shortly before noon, when he was taken to the Manchester Memorial hospital. X-ray pictures, which have been taken, do not disclose any broken bones but he is suffering much pain and will be confined to the hospital for a week or two more unless there are other complications which may develop.

Members of the Sons of Italy will meet at Nick DellaFera's tailor shop on Oak street at 8 o'clock tonight and will pay their respects to Mrs. Angelina Andiso of 9 Cottage street, who died yesterday.

There will be a special meeting of the High school boys' club, Falcons, North End Boys' Club, Deacons, and Bon Ami Chicks—at 8:30 next Thursday evening at the Y. M. C. A. at which time there will be an address by Frank B. Lenz of the National Council of Y. M. C. A's.

The speaker at this meeting will be Herman S. Hall, of New Britain, state supervisor of industrial and vocational guidance.

John Echmalian, director of the Trade School, is making arrangements with the faculty and student body to serve an old-fashioned roast beef dinner with strawberry short cake as dessert. Following Mr. Hall's address, there will be a tour of inspection of the various departments of the school, including an exhibit of materials and articles made by the students. This will be the final all-membership meeting of the Chamber until September and a brief business session will precede the address of the evening.

TO RELATE THE STORY OF METHODISM HERE

Boston Preacher To Give Illustrated Lecture At North Methodist Church Sunday.

Rev. John G. Rogers of Boston will be the speaker at the evening service at 7:30 Sunday evening at the North Methodist church, and will give an address of unusual interest, dealing with the story of Methodism. This is a new illustrated lecture prepared by Mr. Rogers recently, touching on the life of John and Charles Wesley, George Whitefield, Francis Asbury and Jesse Lee. Hymns of Charles Wesley will be thrown on the screen. The lecture will conclude with the more modern developments of Methodism.

RECALLS EARLY DAYS OF PUBLIC LIBRARY

Rev. Laurence L. Barber, of Arlington, Mass., Lectures In New Whitton Auditorium.

Rev. Laurence L. Barber of Arlington, Mass., delighted a large audience last evening at the Whitton Memorial Library auditorium not only by his splendid lecture, "Glimpsing Geysers and Glaciers," but by his reminiscences of boyhood days spent in Manchester, and particularly his early memories of the little public library in the McCormick store building founded by Ever Ready Circle of King's Daughters, who invited him to come to Manchester for the entertainment last evening.

He paid a beautiful tribute to his old friends, Dr. Francis H. and Mrs. Whitton, donors of the new library. He called attention to the fine picture of the late physician in the library proper, and referred to them as a "royal" couple—Dr. Whitton with his "kingly" bearing and Mrs. Whitton's grace and courtliness. His father, the late Rev. Clarence H. Barber, was chairman of the first board of directors of the King's Daughters Library, and many a time called for a penny, and the boyhood to substitute when the janitor was absent or had abruptly ended his services because of the meager compensation. He had acquired the habit of going frequently to Mr. McCormick's store, before the library was located there; it was the nearest to the parsonage which at that time was the third house west of the Second Congregational church, of which his father was long the pastor. Mr. McCormick sold the longest sticks of striped candy and twice for a penny, and his early associations there were "sweet" memories. Mrs. Gertrude Boynton, the librarian, was lenient when the fire went out and otherwise overlooked the shortcomings of the youthful janitor.

He recalled the time when another of his duties was to pump the organ in the church when Mrs. R. K. Anderson, then Miss Carrie Kaufman, was the organist. She occasionally had to chide him when his interest in a story book led him to forget his duties at the organ. Mrs. Anderson was chairman of last night's entertainment and played for the assisting musicians, Robert Gordon, baritone, and Leonard Eccellente, violinist. Both musicians were at their best and were obliged to respond to insistent recalls. They relieved Mr. Barber during his lecture with several fine selections. It was the consensus of those who heard Mr. Barber last night, that it was one of the finest illustrated travel talks they had ever heard. It represented the travels during five weeks last summer of Mr. and Mrs. Barber in the Yellowstone National Park, the Canadian Rockies and Pacific Coast. About a hundred slides were shown comprising geysers, glaciers, waterfalls,

Indian and bear pictures, all expertly colored by an artist under the personal supervision of Mr. Barber. No brief description could do them justice. Some of them showing mountain scenery reflected in the mountain lakes seemed as perfect turned one way as another, and the lecturer asked the operator to demonstrate this "magic" on slides. The Yellowknife and the other scenes, and shots of Mt. Washington every now and then, made this lecture one to stand out in the memory.

At its close he was given the heartiest applause, and many of their old friends, and former teachers, gathered around to greet Mr. Barber and his wife, for the latter was also a Manchester girl, the former Laura Blöwell.

STALLED ON R. TRACKS, CALLS OUT FIRE DEPT.

Manchester Woman's Automobile Gets Caught In Hartford and Takes Unusual Way Out.

Mrs. Lillian C. Choquette of 111 Hill street stalled her automobile on a railroad track in Hartford last night and turned in a fire alarm that brought five companies and two chiefs of the Hartford Fire Department to relieve her predicament. Mrs. Choquette drove her car over a railroad of the Valley Line tracks of the New Haven road, which tracks run parallel to Van Dyke Avenue. She tried time and again to back up over the rail, aided by advice from other occupants of the car, but to no avail. She could not restrain the highway as looked about for other methods of rescue.

Fire Box 37 was located nearby. Turning in an alarm, Mrs. Choquette summoned Companies 1, 3 and 6, two fire chiefs and Trucks 1 and 6 to the scene. Fireman Edward Reynolds took charge of the wheel and swiftly piloted the car back to the road. Mrs. Choquette explained to the fireman that she feared the arrival of a train.

BABY TRAGEDY STILL LEADS CONVERSATION

Interest in Manchester Last Night Was Great — Herald Posts Bulletins in Stores.

News of the finding of the Lindy baby dead was still the chief topic of conversation along the streets here today but the excitement was most intense early last night when scores gathered at various points along Main street to read brief Associated Press bulletins posted by the Manchester Evening Herald. The bulletins were the first official information which came from Governor Moore exclusively to the Associated Press and the Herald, by telegraph and through windows along Main street. Another was placed on the bulletin board at the State Trade school where a large crowd attending the "Open Night" observance, read it with extreme interest.

Another was placed on the bulletin board at the State Trade school where a large crowd attending the "Open Night" observance, read it with extreme interest.
