

BROKERS DESCRIBE WEIRD FINANCING

One Company Pays 23 Millions For Firm Worth a Million; Almost Bankrupt Company Stock Sold.

Washington, May 20.—(AP)—Walter E. Sachs, president of the Goldman Sachs Trading Corporation, detailed to the Senate banking committee today the payment of $23,500,000 in purchase of the General Foods Company, which had an investment of $1,700,000.

Testifying in the Stock Market inquiry, he said in 1929 his firm paid more than $12,000,000 and the Postum Company more than $10,000,000 because the General Foods Company owned valuable patents for freezing perishable foods.

Previously Goldman Sachs had paid $10,750,000 for 150,000 shares in the Postum Company, shares under questioning by W. A. Gray, counsel for the inquiry.

Gray went through a complicated description of the deal under which the Postum Company, though it paid less, got 51 per cent of the stock in the acquired company and Goldman Sachs got 49 per cent.

Sachs agreed that dividend preference also were given to Postum and the 150,000 shares bought by Goldman Sachs were excluded from the preference.

The Postum stock was sold by Goldman Sachs at a loss of $20,000, Gray said, and the remainder of this stock was written off at $1 in 1930.

Sachs said it was written off in the interests of conservatism, though it had potential value.

CALL MOVIE MAGNATE

Washington, May 20.—(AP)—The Senate Banking investigation, which has unfolded a tale of stupendous profits by pool operations on the New York Exchange, turned to new channels today with an order for H. B. Warner—motion picture magnate—to appear.

William A. Gray, counsel for the inquiry, said Warner had been subpoenaed for today's session on the long side of his own stock. Gray also wants to inquire into newspaper publicity which accompanied Warner's operations.

A. Newton Plummer, New York publicity man, has also been summoned.

Representative La Guardia (R., N. Y.) testified before the committee a few weeks ago that Plummer had paid $286,000 to certain financial writers to boost stocks in which brokers were "rigging the market."

The first witness this morning, Walter E. Sachs, president of the Goldman Sachs Trading Corporation, took the stand with only a few of the banking committee on hand. Spectators were comparatively few also.

Senator Brookhart (R., Iowa) presided in the absence of Chairman Norbeck.

Gray opened the session by telling the range of Kolster radio stock while George F. Breen was disposing.

BISHOPS' SALARIES MAY BE REDUCED

Methodists Propose Cut From $7,200 To $6,000 In Maximum Salary.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 20.—(AP)—Reductions of sixteen per cent in the salaries of the bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church were proposed today by the committee on episcopacy in a resolution presented to the general conference for action.

The proposed salary reductions, which have been under consideration since the start of the conference, were accompanied by recommendations for reductions in the amounts now allowed members of the episcopacy for pensions, episcopal residences and office expenses. Conference approval of the new scale is not expected for several days.

The committee's report provides: Reduction of the maximum salary of an effective bishop from $7,200 to $6,000.

Reduction of the maximum salary of a missionary bishop from $6,000 to $5,000.

Reduction of the maximum allowance for a retired bishop from $2,500 to $2,000.

Reduction of the maximum allowance for a retired missionary bishop from $2,500 to $2,000.

Reduction of allowance for episcopal office expenses from the present $2,500 rate to a scale ranging from $1,500 to $1,000.

Reduction of allowance for episcopal office expenses from $1,500 to $1,000.

The committee made no change in the allowance for the widow of a bishop, which is $1,500 a year.

STATE'S DEMOCRATS TO LISTEN TO BYRD

Brother of Explorer To Be Speaker At Dinner To Be Held In Waterbury.

Waterbury, Conn., May 20.—(AP)—Ex-Governor Harry Flood Byrd of Virginia, one of the candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination will be the chief speaker at a dinner at the Hotel Elton in Waterbury on Thursday, June 2. The affair will mark the official opening of the Democratic victory campaign in Connecticut. Waterbury having been chosen for this signal honor.

John H. Fabry, former president of the State Chamber of Commerce and executive chairman of the victory campaign, will also attend the dinner, as will a host of Democratic chieftains of the state headed by Governor Wilbur L. Cross and including all the party leaders.

Explorer's Brother
Gov. Byrd, who is the brother of Commander Richard E. Byrd, conqueror of both the North and South Poles, is one of the most prominent figures in the Democratic Party. A keen student of national affairs, his speech at the recent Democratic dinner in Washington was hailed with general acclaim. At that time he surprised his associates by recommending a referendum on prohibition.

He will be the guest in Waterbury of Mayor T. Frank Hayes, who will also be one of the principal speakers at the dinner.

Fabry is one of the best known figures in the political and business life of the nation, and his promises to be of intense interest.

The dinner will mark the official opening of the victory campaign.

GARNER DISCUSSES HIS RELIEF PLAN

Tells Reporters Federal Corporation Does Not Aid Great Middle Classes.

Washington, May 20.—(AP)—Restrictions on the Reconstruction Finance Corporation that prevent the board from helping what he termed the "great middle class of producers in the country," were criticized today by Speaker Garner in discussing his relief program with newspapermen.

The Democrat said the board had helped the big railroads and other interests to meet current bills and to pay off debts, but that it had done nothing to increase employment.

It also, he said, advanced money to tenant farmers, whom he described as the "poorest producers," but "it has done nothing to help the great middle class of producers, which are the most substantial and who constitute the backbone of American enterprise."

"What my program is designed to do is to furnish employment and to aid the middle class producer."

Lindy Made Paris Hop Five Years Ago Today

New York, May 20.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh—it was just "Slim" then, and no one paying much attention—stepped in on an airplane five years ago today with a pair of ham sandwiches, and flew to Paris.

May 20, 1927, at 6:52 o'clock in the morning; a date in the history books till the end of time.

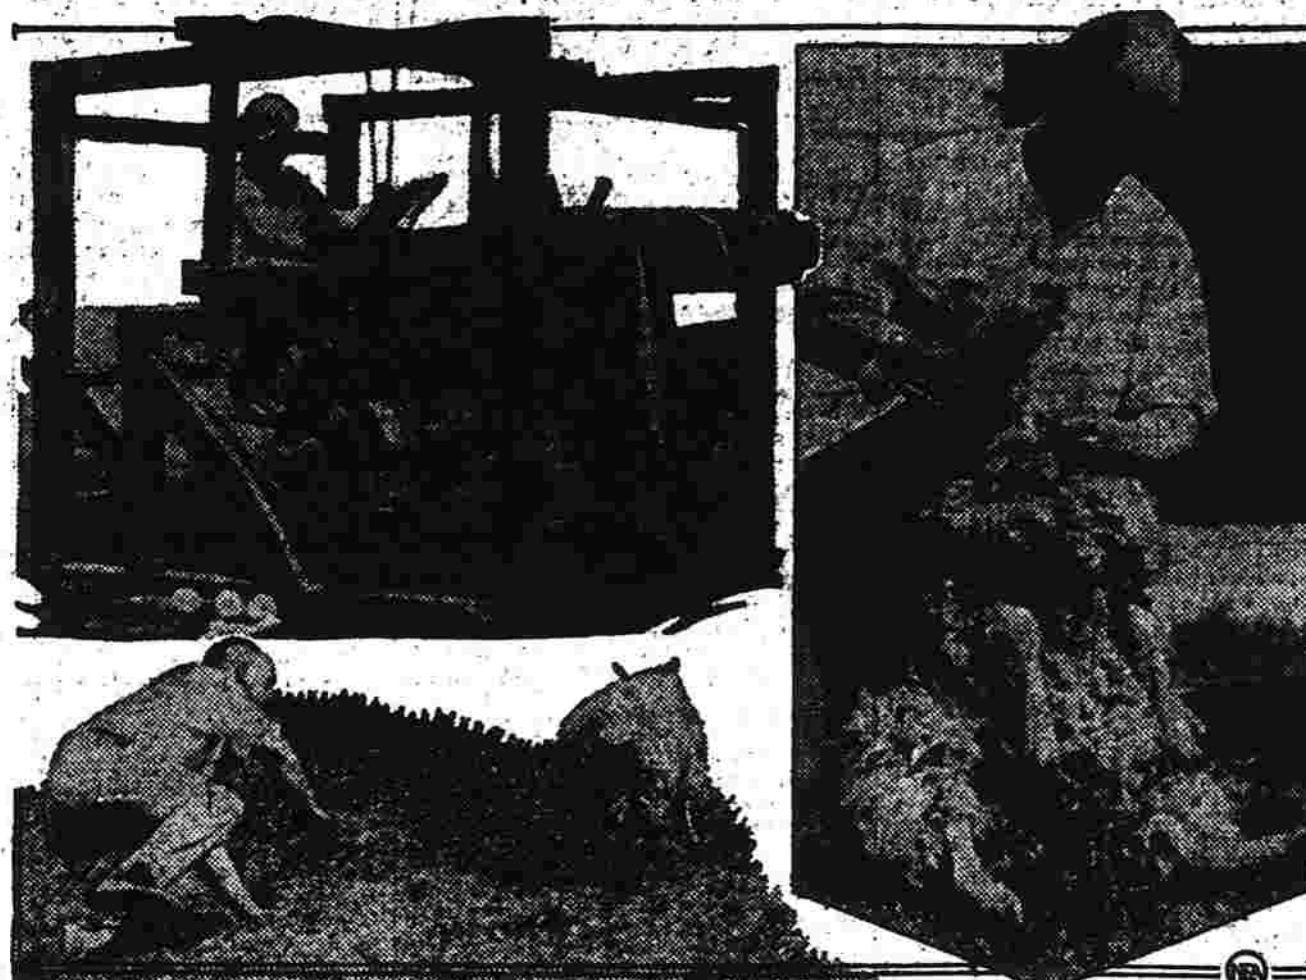

Just five years ago; but history, a slinger, sometimes writes with lightning.

It is "Slim" Lindbergh no longer. Gone are the days of flying the mail on the Chicago-St. Louis run, wrapping long legs around a lunch wagon on stool, washing down a nickel roll with this coffee, and rubbing his neck time after time in flying "crabs"; gone the days of leaps in the night from planes, and the "hop" of a parachute "catching hold" as he shot down like a stone through black night.

History wrote Lindbergh out of that when he set "the flight" of his "Lone" down at La Guardia. Paris today a hundred thousand frantic joyous, arm-waving, cheering throngs, and made him say, simply: "I am Charles Lindbergh."

"As though he had to tell them,

Maine Governor Raises Own Clothes for Shear Fun of It

With all wool and a wide yard in which to work, Governor William Tudor Gardner of Maine is going to suit himself this spring. As you see him at the right, he's taking shear joy in removing a sheep's overcoat at a fast clip on his farm at Phipps Point, Me. But the Governor must have felt a bit sheepish himself when, as shown lower left, he stumbled and fell before the camera because one sheep, being not a bit lamblike, exhibited his animal spirits by running away in a wild and woolly manner. When the shearing is ended, work looms for Mrs. Alice Davis, a sister of the Chief Executive, who is seen upper left on a 200-year-old loom. The resultant fabric will fashion Mr. Gardner's next suit—proving that while clothes ordinarily may make the man, a Governor makes the clothes.

FINANCIERS WILL ADOPT NEW RECOVERY PROGRAM

Move Made in New York To Put Millions of Idle Dollars Into Use; Plan To Finance Home Building.

New York, May 20.—(AP)—A new move to put hundreds of millions of idle dollars to work was started today by a powerful committee of bankers and industrialists under the chairmanship of Owen D. Young.

The group was called together by George L. Harrison, governor of the New York Federal Reserve bank, to make the Federal Reserve's policy of credit expansion effective and in answer to a demand in many quarters for more drastic means of stimulating a recovery in prices.

It was pointed out that in spite of the fact that the Federal Reserve system has purchased $725,000,000 of United States government securities, releasing funds capable of supporting $7,250,000,000 of bank credit, the deflation of bank loans and investments has been unchecked. Fear and uncertainty on the part of banks and the investing public alike have prevented the reserve's policy from taking its full effect.

By the formation of the new committee, financial authorities hope to find the means for bringing together the vast surplus of idle funds in the banks and the many worthy projects in need of credit that exist throughout the country.

Nothing Definite Yet
Members of the group said after their organization meeting yesterday that nothing sufficiently definite had been arranged for them to be able to comment upon their program. Financial leaders suggested, however, that one possible avenue of credit expansion lay in loans to building and loan societies by the large commercial banks, answering

GOOD NEWS HELPS PRICES ON MARKET

Leading Shares Rise $1 To $2 At Opening and Market Remains Firm Later On.

New York, May 20.—(AP)—The Stock Market, hungry for news it could call favorable found nourishment today in word that a committee had been named by the New York Federal Reserve bank to assist in getting employment for huge excess reserves being created by the central bank's credit expansion program.

Leading shares rose $1 to $2 or more at the opening in a fairly active market. Prices tapered off later, but trading tended to slacken on this setback and quotations maintained a firm undertone.

Wall street was uncertain what means the credit committee, headed by Owen D. Young and comprising eleven other industrialists and bankers

LETTERS MAY LEAD TO MAN'S IDENTITY

Body Found In New Haven Harbor—Man Had Been Gagged and Shot.

New Haven, Conn., May 20.—(AP)—Two letters, one signed "Tom D." and the other "T. D." were examined today by police in an attempt to establish the identity of a slain man, believed to have been gagged and shot, whose body was found yesterday in New Haven harbor.

Officials expressed the opinion the signatures on the letters found on the man's body might be those of Thomas Di Marco, 30, of Cambridge, Mass., who is wanted in Watertown, Mass., in connection with the slaying March 7 of Pellegrino Marullo, Di Marco's father-in-law.

One of the letters was addressed to Frank Genth of 23 Craft avenue, Waverly, Mass., and signed "your brother, T. D."

The other, addressed to a "Mr. Carpenter" of 57 Adam street, Malden, Mass., was signed "Tom D."

Had Been Shot
Officials also found the tip of an envelope on the body bearing the address 20 South Main street, Seymour.

An autopsy showed the man had been gagged, gagged and shot. A bullet had entered his chest, striking the heart, stomach and lungs.

Police advanced the theory the man was slain two or three weeks ago and his body thrown into the water. They believed he had been gagged and shot, and that the bullet had struck the heart, stomach and lungs.

REPORT LIBERIA IN POOR SHAPE

League of Nations To Provide a Manager To Straighten Out Tangles.

Geneva, Switzerland, May 20.—(AP)—A scheme for reorganizing the Liberian government, which would provide for an international commission to manage the country, was adopted today by the Council of the League of Nations.

The proposal has the full support of the United States, which has been represented at Geneva during discussion of the plan by Samuel Reber, Jr. Liberia was first set up as a refuge for American slaves.

The American Finance Corporation and the Firestone Plantation Company, which have extensive interests in Liberia, have promised to support the reorganization providing Liberia accepts it. The Liberian representative told the council he would present the proposal to his government.

The plan was adopted a few days after a report was submitted to the League declaring that "many men, women and children had been burned alive by the Liberian frontier military force."

Health and Finance
The Council's proposal, which includes reorganization of the administrative system and the department of health and finance, was based on the findings of an international inquiry conducted at the request of Liberia.

This investigation produced a report exposing labor conditions approximating slavery and acts of violence by government soldiers against the natives, especially the Kroom tribesmen.

"Liberia's financial situation is tragic," the report said. "She has no budget, no accounts and no money."

Economically and financially Liberia is in imminent danger.

The Council approved a recommendation that a representative be sent immediately to assist in pacifying the Kroom country, but trouble developed over the question of paying his expenses.

Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, May 20.—(AP)—Hopful of being the first woman to fly the Atlantic alone, Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam signed here today, eager to be away on her trans-oceanic adventure.

The woman flew said she hoped to start her solo flight on the 21st. She said she was ready to go at any time.

"I am confident of reaching my goal," she said. "I will get away before dawn."

Mrs. Putnam declined to reveal her destination, but she would not deny that she hoped to set her record by flying to London.

VALERA WINS IN BATTLE TO ABOLISH OATH

Dail Eireann Passes Bill By 77 To 69—Labor Backs President—Measure Now Goes To Free State Senate

Dublin, Irish Free State, May 20.—(AP)—The question whether the oath of allegiance to the British crown is to be abolished in the Irish Free State lay at the door of the Free State Senate today.

Eamon de Valera, tireless battler for a free Ireland, won his fight for the abolition of the oath in the Dail Eireann last night, carrying every vote, including the final passage of the bill, by majority of 77 to 69. The Republican and Labor coalition held firm, battling down the stubborn opposition of former President Cosgrave's Conservative opposition.

There were no fireworks. The debate was deliberate and even. De Valera spoke in a quiet, modulated voice.

Has Same Right
"Other nations in the British commonwealth can remove this oath if they wish," he said. "We have the same right and we are going to remove it. It is in our interest to do so. The people want it removed. We are doing it without any violation of the treaty."

The Senate will meet next Wednesday. De Valera's plan is already being assailed there and the opposition has organized for the attack.

Cannot Veto It
The Senate cannot exercise a final veto, however. It may refuse to pass the measure for 13 months, but if it does the Dail may again pass it and if the Senate fails a second time to approve the bill becomes a law after 60 days.

As it was passed, the bill contains three other constitutional changes besides abolition of the oath. One repeals the section of the Constitution providing that anything in it repugnant to the terms of the Anglo-Irish treaty shall be null and void. Another strikes out references to the terms of the treaty of 1921 and the third contains formal and informal titles for the oath abolition bill itself as a part of the Constitution.

Two Dead, One Man Wounded On Mountain and Now Flier Is Missing.

Chicago, May 20.—(AP)—New lines were written today on the drama of the ill-fated University of Chicago expedition to trap the mysterious cosmic ray on Mt. McKinley.

An American Airways pilot seeking to rescue a scientist marooned on ice was missing somewhere in the icy vastness and another who set out to find him was down 100 miles from Fairbanks, Alaska, the base for rescue operations.

S. E. Robbins took off from Fairbanks yesterday in the hope of lifting Percy T. Oltin, Jr., New York Engineer, off the glacial perch where E. F. Beckwith was rescued by plane last Tuesday. He was long overdue last night and nothing had been heard from him after the radioed of flying over the perch earlier in the day.

Second Pilot Starts
Another pilot famous for his Arctic exploits, Joe Croston, set out from Fairbanks to find Robbins. Offices of the American Airways here were informed by radiogram last night he was forced to land on a glacier. There was no mention of any damage to the plane and...

Minneapolis, May 20.—(AP)—A charge that current radio management is undermining education was voiced today by Joy Ester Morgan, chairman of the publications committee of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Conventional control of broadcasting under the American plan is being undermined, she said, by the local culture in favor of "big game and Hollywood."

Morgan said she would not deny that she hoped to set her record by flying to London.

BALANCE BUDGET, HOOVER'S ORDERS

Washington, May 20.—(AP)—In the midst of a worthy tariff dispute that held the tax bill motionless in the Senate, President Hoover emphasized today to Congressional leaders he expected Congress to consider no adjournment plans until the revenue bill is passed.

Opponents of the import taxes renewed their assault at today's session with a new threat for general tariff revisions involving months of work if the oil, coal, copper, and lumber import taxes are kept in the bill.

Tariff proponents, Democrats and Republicans, accepted the def and waited for a chance to vote, confidence of a margin of one or two in their favor.

No Early Vote
It was apparent as the third day of debate wore on that no early vote was in prospect and that each side was stubbornly entrenched for a finish fight. Each hopelessly waiting.

COPS ARE BLAMED FOR CRIME WAVES

Speaker Says Street Beatings and Shootings Enrage the Foreigners.

Philadelphia, May 20.—(AP)—A charge that "police lawlessness" is a contributing cause to present day crime and radicalism was made before the National Conference of Social Work today by a man who helped gather data for the Wickham Commission report.

Ernest J. Hopkins, field investigator for the commission and former worker for the California commission on immigration, assailed unjust street beatings and shootings by police, unlawful arrests and punishments, deprivations of liberty and third degree methods in an address on "our lawless police" at the meeting of the social work group studying the problems of the immigrant.

Sees Clubbing
He charged that police brutality is responsible for an increasing attitude of resentment and a cynical attitude toward the law on the part of immigrants and the first native born generation of immigrants. He attacked recent police clubbing of participants in communist parades.

Criticism of the manner in which the deportation laws are enforced was expressed by Dr. F. E. Williams of New York. From these studies, he said, great strides should be made toward bettering the mental health of individuals.

ALCOHOL STOPPED

NAMES MIXED UP

Federal Agents Here Today Said They Believed the Names of Three Philadelphia Men Were Mixed Up in the Question of Names and Aliases That John Hughes Curtis Made Part of His Imaginary Tale of Negotiations with the Lindbergh Kidnappers.

Philadelphia, May 20.—(AP)—Federal agents here today said they believed the names of three Philadelphia men were mixed up in the question of names and aliases that John Hughes Curtis made part of his imaginary tale of negotiations with the Lindbergh kidnapers.

One of the men, Samuel Verblin, was arrested yesterday as an alleged accomplice of the kidnapers. The others are being sought on Rhode Island charges. Agents gave their names as Samuel Goldstein, known as "Sammy the Gas Man," and Verblin's brother, Morris.

William Dunnington, chief special investigator of the Philadelphia department, said he believed the names of the three men were mixed up in Curtis's story.

The three men were believed to be Baltimore last year on a flight to Europe.

Norfolk Clergyman Says He Acts Under Legal Advice; Police Want Him To Face Curtis—Relatives of Ship-builder Are Trying To Raise Bail

Hopewell, N. J., May 20.—(AP)—Still anxious to confront John E. Curtis, jailed hoaxer of the Lindbergh kidnap case, with the Rev. E. Dobson Peacock, Curtis' associate in a fantastic hunt for the murdered baby, state police offered today to pay the Norfolk minister's expenses if he would come to New Jersey for questioning.

Ever since Curtis confessed three days ago that all his negotiations, which he made in association with Peacock and Rear Admiral Guy Burgess, were faked, Superintendent of State Police E. Norman Schwarskopf has been extremely anxious to have Dobson-Peacock come here.

The Virginia minister, however, has refused.

"We will be glad to reimburse Mr. Peacock for his expenses in coming to Hopewell," Schwarskopf announced in his morning news bulletin today.

Col. Schwarskopf also said in his bulletin that Dr. John P. Condon, English negotiator, had completed his inspection of the rogues' gallery in New York City and Westchester county, N. Y. He will be taken next to the large rogues' galleries in Newark, Jersey City and the State Identification Bureau and also to the New York State Prison. Condon was called on a witness before the Grand Jury investigating the $200,000 ransom paid for the return of the kidnapped baby.

Schwarskopf said he would like to see Curtis in the jail at Flemington, N. J., where he was placed in default of $10,000 bail after waiving examination on a charge of giving false information. He has come there, Schwarskopf said, to arrange to furnish bail.

Had Driver Called
When Dr. Condon is taken to the New Jersey rogues' galleries he will be accompanied by a taxi driver who brought him a note from the supposed kidnapers giving him instructions as to payment of the ransom.

Investigators from this point, Col. Schwarskopf's bulletin continued, "are getting all data possible on the recent attempted King kidnaping in an endeavor to determine whether the perpetrators could be linked with the kidnapers in this case."

A known gangster while passing through Maryland stated he had information on the Lindbergh kidnaping and just prior to the finding of the body stated that the child was dead. Investigators from this point are now endeavoring to locate this gangster.

Col. Schwarskopf closed his bulletin with the statement that there has been no change in the health condition of the Lindbergh family "so far as we can observe."

BEEBLE INFESTED ELMS HERE ORDERED SPRAYED

Harry S. Sweet Given Contract To Do the Job - Insects Lived in Church Belfry.
Harry S. Sweet, of 1 Franklin street was awarded the contract to spray 150 trees in the vicinity of the Second Congregational church at a meeting of the Park Board yesterday. A new infestation of trees in the vicinity of the church with the elm tree beetle, resulted in the decision of the Park Board to spray this area thoroughly in an effort to stamp out the pest in town.
Another section to be sprayed is the small park at the junction of Fairfield street and High street, known as Village Square. In this area trees are slightly infested with the beetle.
It is thought that the infestation around the Second Congregational church is caused from the insects wintering safely in the church belfry. Last year 1,600 trees of all kinds were sprayed in an effort to eradicate the pest, said to be one of the most destructive to the large New England elm known. The spray solution is arsenate of lead.
Approximately 100 trees will receive two heavy sprays of arsenate of lead, the first of which will come next week in an effort to poison the adult beetles. The second spraying will come early next month when the larvae are feeding. The cost per tree to the Park Department will be 60 cents.

She resigned her berth in the interests of party harmony in this state. She will not attend the National convention.

ENTERTAINMENT TO AID CHURCH SUMMER CLASS

Funds Insufficient To Carry On Work So Concert Will Be Given To Raise Money.
Rev. F. C. Allen of Second Congregational church who organized the first church vacation school in town announced that plans are well under way for a bigger and better school this next July. This will be the sixth consecutive season the school has been conducted by the two North Main street churches, although the attendance has not been confined to children from those churches only. This year, however, Rev. Peter Latas of the Polish National church on Golway street, and a committee from his church is co-operating.
The school heretofore has been maintained largely by subscription from members of both churches. The hard times have made it impossible for many to give this year who formerly were glad to support the school. To insure a nucleus to start with, a musical entertainment is to be given in the auditorium of the Second Congregational church, Thursday evening, May 24 at 8 o'clock. Persons from all three churches who are interested are already disposing of tickets, and the joint committee has received offers of talent by some of the best musicians in this town and Willimantic. Edge Pearson, organist of the Swedish Lutheran church and director of two young people's musical organizations, will present a ladies octet; Miss Eve Johnson, well known pianist will play. Chester Shields, boy cornetist, has volunteered his services and a male quartet composed of Corwin Grant, Rev. Theron French, Rev. F. C. Allen and William Spencer, will sing.
Mrs. A. N. Merrell, teacher of the piano and other fretted instruments, will present a group of her pupils from Willimantic and Manchester in a number of choice selections. Mrs. Merrifield's Plectra orchestra has appeared in town this spring, and her willingness to aid the cause, and other forms of assistance are fully appreciated.

With the coming of sufficiently warm weather, the pond will be filled and opened to the public.
The date is controlled by the weather. The pond has been opened as early as the first week in June and as late as the last week in some of the past seasons. Mrs. Putnam already has one trans-Atlantic aerial crossing to her credit, having accompanied the late Wilmer Stultz and Louis Gordon several years ago.

DO-X ALSO READY

Hollywood, N. F., May 20. (AP)—The giant airplane DO-X en route to Europe landed at Hollywood at 9:30 a. m. (E. S. T.) after flying from Dildo where it was forced to land yesterday.
The huge German flying boat found the weather conditions perfect on its 25-mile flight from Dildo. Crowds greeted its arrival as it alighted on the water off this little port.
The task of loading fuel and supplies was begun at once, in preparation for the next leg of the flight, the hop to Harbor Grace. Harbor Grace has been chosen as the point of departure for the DO-X on its voyage over the ocean to the Azores. The take-off from Harbor Grace was tentatively set for daylight tomorrow.
Gets Gasoline
Before the DO-X could leave Dildo this morning it was necessary to send the giant airplane to the gas station at Dildo where gasoline at first taken aboard proved unsuitable for the motors. An attempted take-off with the fuel at first obtainable at Dildo ended in failure.
Members of the crew assigned to the task of refueling the flying boat for its ocean flight immediately set to work amidst a swarm of visitors who made a mad rush to the big airplane in motor launches.
Captain Frederick Christiansen and his crew were busy when the take-off aboard the ship was completed. The weather here remained perfect during the day and they appear to be in a fine way for their plans that had been made, to have the ship take-off at daybreak tomorrow.

WALKER IN THE CASE

New York, May 20. (AP)—The New York Evening Post today states it has learned from a high authority that Mayor James J. Walker has received a letter promising information that the Westchester baby murder if guarantees of safety for the writer can be obtained.
The story also quotes the following public notice appearing in the New York Times this morning:
"Citizen—Guarantees absolute confidence 'Jimmy'."
The letter received by the mayor, it was said, impressed him and his advisers. Its precise nature was not revealed, nor would the mayor confirm the report he had received it.

KING'S DAUGHTERS GIFT SALE AND TEA

Ever Ready Circle of King's Daughters, held a most successful gift sale and tea yesterday afternoon at their headquarters in the Walton Memorial Building. The party was ideal and many took advantage of the opportunity to attend the social and inspect the beautiful room and kitchenette furnished by the circle, and the library building.
Mrs. D. J. King, Mrs. Scott Simon, presided at the head-table. Mrs. W. F. Stiles sold fancy articles. Mrs. Allen Cox supervised tea arrangements. Mrs. Stuart Segar and Mrs. W. E. Knobel, presided, both sitting in yellow chairs. Black, the color scheme, carried out in flowers and other appointments of the attractively arranged refreshment table.

NO BAIT MASS AT HOME

Cheney, Mass., May 20. (AP)—Because his mother is gravely ill and unable to leave her bed, the Rev. James Joyce will say his first mass tomorrow in her home instead of in a church as customary. Special arrangements were made for the service by Miss Thomas E. O'Leary, Springfield.

FAINTS WHILE DRIVING, ESCAPES BAD HURTS

East Hartford Minister Victim of Spell on Center Street—Wife Stops Machine.
Rev. Eugene O. Tourtellotte, 64 of 45 Otisstreet street, East Hartford, Methodist Episcopal minister, narrowly escaped serious injury last night on Center street when he had a fainting spell while nearly opposite the Edgewood House.
Rev. and Mrs. Tourtellotte were driving towards Manchester, and when the car had reached the Edgewood House, Rev. Tourtellotte, who was driving, fainted at the wheel and the car shot across the street to the north side, struck a utility pole and careened across again to the south side, striking the abutment of the South Manchester Railroad bridge over Center street.
Mrs. Tourtellotte grabbed the wheel and pulled the car across the street at right angle to the oncoming traffic, which was heavy in both directions at the time. She received several cuts on her head and her glasses were broken in the crash.
Fortunately, cars passing at the time did not become involved in the crash. Damage to the car was a broken radiator, and a bent mudguard springs and axle.
The driver told police that he had a fainting spell once before, this being his first at the wheel of the car.

DEMOCRATIC MEETING

Hartford, Conn., May 20. (AP)—An call for a meeting of the newly elected Democratic state convention has been issued by State Chairman David A. Wilson for Hotel Bond here next Monday at 11:30 p. m.
The committee will organize by election of officers. The expectation is that Mr. Wilson will be elected state chairman and J. Francis Smith of Waterbury, secretary.
Members do not expect there will be much business routine done. Several said it is early to talk plans for the fall campaign but the discussion will probably be on party matters in a general way. There will be a score of new members on the committee and the first gathering will be in a sense a "get-together."

OLD HOBBERY SOLVED

Norwalk, May 20. (AP)—With the confession of Mrs. Helen K. Edwards, 33 Duganman, N. Y., a former resident of Norwalk, the police believed they have solved a year old safe robbery, and a holdup which took place last September.
Charles Hauser, 38, and Robert Brown, 40, both of Norwalk. He said that the trio carried a safe out of the Connecticut Potato Chip Company's office in the Boston Post Road and broke the bottom in a nearby field. Eight hundred and fifty dollars in cash were taken from the safe.
Brown and Hauser are also charged with the holding of William Parson's office safe in the night of December 28.
One hundred and seventy-five dollars was taken from Parson's.

BROKERS DESCRIBE WEIRD FINANCING

ing of it for Rudolph Spreckels, chairman of the board of the company.
Sachs, identified by himself as a "free lance trader," was disclosed yesterday to have made — along with three associates — $1,551,000 in five weeks on an option to sell radio stocks, although they did not put a cent.
Brown testified he and his colleagues sold the stock for Spreckels. Sachs said he was also a partner in Goldman Sachs and Company, members of the exchange.
The witness talked in a low voice, scarcely audible across the committee table.
Senator Couzens (R., Mich.), fired several questions concerning the arrangement between the Goldman Sachs Company, Inc., and the Goldman Sachs Trading Corporation and the method of financing the latter in 1928.
Sachs replied that they were put in at what he regarded as a fair valuation in some cases below the market price.
"And what is that stock at now?" asked Couzens.
"It is now approximately 1 3/4," was the reply.
Under further questioning, Sachs said the corporation's capital is now $40,250,000.
"So the firm lost $40,000,000 at least of the money collected from the public," said Couzens.
Sachs conceded that "a large sum of money was lost by the stockholders."
Couzens then asked at what valuation assets of the company were put into the trading corporation at its organization.
Sachs replied that they were put in at what he regarded as a fair valuation in some cases below the market price.
"Then you were a self-sacrificing," remarked Couzens, "that you wanted 90 per cent of the stockholders to profit at the expense of 10 per cent."
Gray traced a complicated transaction of $22,000,000 of the funds through United Foods of Canada and later to J. P. Morgan and Company, saying his purpose was to find what the distribution was.
"I believe we may be able to show the tax question has something to do with it," he added.
Howard F. Hansell, Jr., who described himself as "an independent speculator," then took the stand.
He said in 1930 he purchased 40,000 shares of Indian motorcycle company which was made of the motorcycle company given $20,000 and a credit for the remainder.
The sale was arranged through Charles E. Mitchell, vice-president of the company, and later approved by Norman T. Bolten, president of the company. Hansell informed him it was bankrupt.
A large part of the stock was sold to Harry Contant, a broker, and a number of others were given options.
Later, Hansell went on, he bought 60,000 additional shares of the stock.
Content got an option on 25,000 shares of this stock through Lawrence R. Wilder, Hansell said.
He then told again a story previously brought out of negotiations in England for a Diesel engine.
Gray announced he had tried to locate Wilder, who made the negotiations for the Diesel engine, but had not been successful.
Paid Publicity Agent
The counsel asked Hansell if while he was marketing the stock he had employed A. Newton Plummer, publicity agent, to "publish false advertisements on the value of the stock."
"Certainly not," Hansell replied. "Well Plummer instituted a suit against you for services rendered."
"Did you settle it?"
"Yes."
Plummer was paid $26,880, Hansell said.
The witness explained Plummer brought Mitchell into his office originally and it was agreed to give him 35 per cent of the profits.
Hansell placed his total profit from the Indian motorcycle deal at $35,000.
The witness denied he had heard financial statements filed with the exchange by the motorcycle company were false.
Representative La Guardia previously has testified Plummer was employed to put out publicity boosting Indian motorcycle stock.
Bolten is Called
Polles was then called to the stand and told of the deal from his side.
He said he had told Hansell the company had made $1,500,000 the year previous but was then in "desperate financial straits."
"Then he knew you were in a bad financial condition when he took the stock and put it on the market?"
"Yes."
Bolten denied false financial statements had been made to the exchange.
Harry Contant, veteran broker and trader, next testified—saying he had no interest in the 40,000 shares of motorcycle stock bought by Hansell, but had an option for 25,000 shares of the 60,000 group for 7 1/2 shares.
The stocks were traded through a firm on orders from Hansell and Wilder.
Content said he didn't know anything about Plummer's connection with the case and paid him no money.
John J. Levinson, stock trader, testified he had managed an account that made $10,000 for Rudolph T. Curtis, financial writer for the New York Daily News.
Bolten is Present
Levinson said he had negotiated $2,125,000 in profits on transactions in eight stocks in 1928, through a Bureau-American, broker.
Curtis, who wrote a financial column in the News under the signature of "Charles B. Smith," was also a financial writer for the New York Daily News.
The witness made no mention of the case.

INSURANCE COMPANY POSTS BOND IN SUIT

Agent Accepts Service For John Manning, Owner of Truck That Hit Squatiro.
Constable James W. Foley who had the writs to serve on John Manning, of Lebanon, in which coverage was wanted in the amount of $10,000 in the suit brought yesterday by the administrator of the estate of Domenic Squatiro, did not find it necessary to make service on banks, attach real estate in the town of Lebanon or go to the extreme of trying up the automobiles owned by the defendant. On reaching Lebanon Constable Foley learned that there was insurance on the trucks and that the agent had already made provision to furnish a bond of $10,000 in the case for his company and accept service.
This provides a more tangible manner of securing the payment in case of a judgment being secured and for that reason all of the other details as to several other attachments were found unnecessary and were not placed. It was further stipulated to some that a constable of the town of Manchester could operate in New London County, but this is explained in this way: When a service can be made on any real or personal property in this town even to the value of $1 it then gives to the constable the right to continue service in any other town in the state.

era, was to employ in working toward its goal, for plans of the committee were still incomplete.
Will Remove Fear
So far, deflation of loans and investment by commercial banks has gone virtually unchecked, although New York city institutions have recently shown more inclination to increase their bond portfolios.
The wide business contacts of the group named, it is hoped, will facilitate the desired credit expansion and price improvement by helping to remove fear, which has been the chief obstacle to recovery.
In early trading of the New York Stock Exchange United States Steel common rose $1 to $39.62. American Telephone gained more than $1 to $27.75, American $2 to $38.87, Fiat $2 to $21.35 and Westinghouse $3 to $23.35. New York Central, Dupont and North American rose $1 to $1.50. Some of the gains were virtually halved when buying subsided.
United States bonds showed rallying tendencies.

Mindful of the firm stands of his own Republican leaders from the northwest for the lumber duty, President Hoover was keeping heads off in the bitter and dramatic tariff dispute.
He emphasized, however, that he expected Congress to stay here, through the political convention, if necessary, to get the budget balancing legislation into law before the start of the new fiscal year on July 1.
"We will stay here," said Senator Watson, of Indiana, the Republican leader.

PEPPE COMPANY'S
LET AUTO FLEET NOW
STATE'S LARGEST

Service Maintenance, Repairs and Installation Cared For By 574 Motor Cars and Trucks.

More Connecticut motor vehicles are today registered in the name of The Southern New England Telephone Company than any other business enterprise in the state, even including those which are engaged in the business of highway transportation, it was reported today by the State Department of Motor Vehicles.

At the present time, in order to meet with its manifold transportation requirements, The Southern New England Telephone Company is operating a fleet of 574 motor vehicles of various types and descriptions and upon these automobiles largely depend the establishment and maintenance of efficient telephone service. They are particularly important in installation and repair service, and in the construction and maintenance of outside cable and wire.

The type of car with the largest representation in the telephone squadron is the roadster equipped with a commercial body, there being about three hundred of these, used chiefly by installation men and "trouble shooters." There are more than one hundred roadsters without commercial bodies, these caring for the requirements of salesmen, engineers and others who do much traveling. The balance of the fleet consists of trucks ranging from one to five tons. These are used in conducting the repair work of line crews and on other jobs which require the carrying of much equipment.

All of the company's cars are kept in maintenance and repair by the company's own forces at repair centers located at New Haven, Hartford, Bridgeport, Waterbury and New London. Minor repair work is also done at Stamford and the company owns storage garages in Norwich and New Britain.

Periodic inspection of all cars is made by a group of six expert mechanics, each car receiving a thorough check from four to six times a year. Based upon their reports, cars in need of repair, part replacements and the like are scheduled for the work shops. The company stock rooms at the repair centers carry everything needed for repairs from a screw to an axle. By the constant care given this fleet of 574 cars, the safety both of company drivers and the public is well protected.

LAKE AMSTON STATE'S SCENIC BEAUTY SPOT

Lake Amston is probably one of the most scenic of Connecticut's lakes and is very well known to hundreds of Manchester people. It has always been a favorite fishing place for many of Manchester's sportsmen. With its development as a summer cottage resort it has become more popular than ever before. Many cottages have been built around its seven miles of shore front last year and many more are planned for this year. Lake Amston has proved to be one of the most popular of nearby resorts and it is predicted that this season will be one of greater activity than before.

Lake Amston offers excellent bathing in water that is as clear as crystal and always cool. The lake is not subject to being drawn down and is always full. The lake is 500 feet above level. Running water, electricity and telephone service are available at the property.

ACHING MUSCLES RESPOND WEARILY IN MARATHON

"Show me the way to go home" will soon be the team song of many of the contestants. There is a limit to all endurance and the limit to this marathon at Palais Royal is nearly here. Only through miracles can the youngsters go on, fighting against sleep, hot, burning, mental strain, and other difficulties that are ever present to upset the contestants. When a contestant reaches the end of resistance there is no going further. And that is just what is happening to some of the dancers. Several of the contestants were squirrely this morning and many laughs were derived from their antics.

He couldn't stand the gaff and had to step out. Harvey Forrey, one of the big boys and that goes to prove that size in a marathon does not mean a thing. Phil Murphy, general master of ceremonies has the crowning honor most of the time. Charles "Misogony" Hurley is the soul for most of Phil Murphy's jokes and this team works to perfection. People may be skeptical about what a marathon is like. There is never a dull moment and at times conditions are such that may perhaps border what might be termed serious.

PRISONERS MUST WORK

Chicago, May 20.—(AP)—Tough laws are ahead for some future members of the "Alimony Club." "Alimony Row" is too soft," Judge Joseph Sabath said yesterday.

"From now on," he added, "the I commit will support themselves and the county by working in the Lowell stone quarry."

The present ex-husbands went to jail for failing to pay alimony are permitted to "sit around and play cards," the judge said.

NORTH MAIN ST. JOB COMPLETED TONIGHT

Highway West of Hockanum River Bridge Has Been Widened To 30 Feet.

North Main street from the Hockanum River bridge to Buckland's four-corners will be re-opened to traffic tonight following repair work. The highway has been widened to 30 feet with the adoption of the space formerly used for the trolley line that was discontinued months ago. Oil and sand were spread on the stretch today and it was stated that by tonight the road should be ready for use.

URGES CHURCH MERGER

Columbus, O., May 20.—(AP)—Union of the Methodist Episcopal Churches, North and South, and the Methodist Protestant Church was urged at the 26th quadrennial conference of the latter denomination here last night.

Bishop Charles L. Mead of the Denver area of the M. E. Church, said a merger would strengthen the fight of the three denominations in behalf of prohibition and would simplify many of their mutual problems.

"I've been wondering," he said, "why in the world we are apart. We can't get along without each other, and we will go a long way together."

Similar views were expressed by Dr. Costen J. Harrell of Richmond, Va., representing the Southern Methodist denomination. Both men spoke as "maternal messengers" of the denominations.

Delegates from 28 states are attending the conference which ends May 28. The proposed union is one of the subjects expected to come up for action.

BAND CONTESTS

Marion, Ind., May 20.—(AP)—Some 500 young musicians from twenty-two states brought their instruments here today for the annual national intercollegiate band contest.

The events this year are limited to soloists and ensembles. The cost of transporting large groups caused postponement until next year of the annual band contest. Winners of state band contests this year will gather at the Chicago World's Fair in 1933 to compete for national honors.

Competition in the events here begins this afternoon and will be brought to a conclusion tomorrow night.

WAPPING

The Uncas baseball team won their first start of the season from Teletoville on the latter's diamond Wednesday night, the score being 15-6. Tiny Burger, former Grammar school pitcher, pitched four innings, and then gave way to Ralph Smith who did creditable work in the mound.

John Reardon has joined the Uncas coaching staff and Connie Nicholson is back with the boys. The Federated Workers will meet at the church on Friday afternoon when they will plant a tree on the church lawn in memory of George Washington, after which they will go to the home of Mrs. Edward F. Collins for the afternoon. Their subject is "Books".

Mrs. Michael Rukus is recovering from an attack of tonsillitis. She has been under the care of Dr. Higgins of Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Russell and son, who have been living on the Mitchell Place, moved yesterday to William Felt's house, "The Maples." Johnny Rukus son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Rukus of the Buckland Road who has been confined to the Manchester Memorial hospital since a week ago last Tuesday is reported to be a little better. He had his tonsils removed and other troubles developed.

Wapping Grange will hold a meeting next Tuesday evening and it is to be Children's Night. All the children of the patrons are invited to be present. The committee for the entertainment is Mrs. Ruth L. Dewey, Miss Gertrude Freytag, Mrs. Ethel T. Boody, Mrs. Julia Luddy, Mrs. Louise Burman and the refreshment committee are Miss Lillian E. Burger, Miss Mary Masco and Floyd Cotton.

Mrs. Ruth L. Dewey, Mrs. Josephine Wetherell, Miss Alta M. Loomis and Mrs. Lillian E. Grant motored to Wallingford last Wednesday evening and spent the evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Shاعر.

QUOTATIONS

If we join the world court, we will be in a better position to protect American interests than if we stand aloof.
—Senator Jos Robinson of Arkansas.

Politicians responsible for government seem blind to the real issues and concerned for the most part with superficialities. The basic issues are world issues—international debts, tariffs, disarmament, and we might add, no amount of tinkering with the internal machinery of any government will be of much avail.

I was selling my stocks in 1928. Now I am buying. The situation is no more new today than was the situation in 1928.

MORE TROOPS CALLED

Bombay, India, May 20.—(AP)—Governor Sykes today called out the fifth Bombay field brigade, the royal artillery auxiliary force and the Bombay light horse, made up of non-official Europeans, to supplement the regular forces in dealing with the Hindu-Muslim riots.

Although there was less rioting today and a measurable return of confidence, the governor thought it necessary to call out the additional units as a precautionary measure.

Fifteen deaths were added to the total of more than 100 killed thus far in the rioting. Most of today's casualties were the result of stabbing affrays.

The Hindus attempted to burn a Moslem mosque in the mill area early in the day, but police prevented it and arrested forty Hindus.

WREATHS CLOG SEWER, CAUSE MUCH TROUBLE

Whoever Threw Discarded Christmas Decorations in Manholes Caused Much Expense.

Dumping of Christmas wreaths into the main sewer trunk line from Middle Turnpike and Broad street has put the Eighth School and Utilities to considerable trouble and expense, as it has already required three days of work in clearing out the wreaths to prevent further clogging of the sewage system. And the end is not yet in sight.

The sewer is one of the new branches that were recently installed and its chief purpose is to carry off sewage from the Memorial hospital. Complaints have been received from time to time about the poor flow of the sewer but temporary work has relieved the trouble until Monday afternoon, when an overflow occurred through one of the large traps.

The trouble was such it could not be relieved by temporary measures and it was found necessary to uncover the pipe between manholes. It was not until this morning that the trouble was found, after the main line had been broken in three different places. Nearly fifty wreaths, twisted on wire, were removed from the pipe before the flow of the sewage became normal.

It will be necessary to open a large section of ground for a trench to lay new pipes and new manholes with self locking covers to be installed. Other Christmas wreaths were found in a rubbish pile near the manhole. As the manhole cover is much too heavy to be moved by children, it is believed the wreaths were thrown into the sewer by adults.

The repairs are being made by Charles Loomis, District official, and considered the work of the season nearly completed at small expense, but the present work will add considerable expense, and make a decided difference in the balance of funds on hand.

OLD HORSEMAN DIES

Memphis, Tenn., May 20.—(AP)—John W. Schott, noted horseman of 15 years ago, died today at the age of 80 without ever having realized his ambition of winning a Kentucky Derby.

Schott maintained a stable of thoroughbreds that figured in turf history until racing was outlawed in Tennessee in 1906. Even after that his horses burned up the cinders on many tracks.

His Lieber Karl won the Tennessee Derby at old Montgomery Park here in 1898, and the same year finished second to Plaudit in the Kentucky Derby. In 1913 he entered Leochares but the horse failed to finish in the money. His final attempt was made in 1915 when he started Ed Crump and Goldcrest Boy. Both finished out of the money in the race won by Regret.

In 1927, Schott's son, Johnny Schott, made an attempt with Jock, which finished third, Whiskery winning.

CONVICTION UPHOLD

New York, May 20.—(AP)—The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court today upheld the conviction of Bernard K. Marcus, president of the closed Bank of United States.

Saul Singer, executive vice president, and Singer's son, Herbert, an officer in some of the bank's activities, on charges of misapplying funds of the Municipal Safe Deposit Company, a subsidiary of the bank.

The conviction was upheld by a decision of four to one. Justice Francis Martin dissenting and voting for a reversal.

The three were convicted in June last year. Marcus and Saul Singer were sentenced to from three to six years in Sing Sing Prison, and Herbert Singer was sentenced to serve an indeterminate term in the penitentiary, which may be ended at the pleasure of the Parole Board but which may not exceed three years. All three have been at liberty under bail pending appeal.

Young People's Conference

About 150 older boys and girls of Tolland County are planning to attend the annual conference to be held at the Ellington Congregational church this evening and Saturday.

Rev. L. Theron French, associated with Rev. Marvin Stocking in the Methodist churches at Manchester, Vernon and Dobsonville, will be in charge of the worship period.

The annual conference banquet will be held this evening at 6:30, with Principal Philip E. Howe, chairman of the Tolland County Y. M. C. A., serving as toastmaster.

On Saturday morning the conference will assemble at 9:15 and will open with the installation of the new officers, followed by a period of worship.

SOCIALISTS PREPARE FOR NATIONAL PARLEY

Milwaukee, Wis., May 20.—(AP)—The National executive committee of the Socialist Party today was studying a plan to make America Socialistic through a twentieth amendment to the Constitution.

The suggestion was presented as the committee weighed a great volume of material for a platform for the party, which will hold its National convention here tomorrow, Sunday and Monday.

The Democratic party owes John J. Raskob. And there are those who say that regardless of what the amount is, it is small compared to what the Republicans owe him.

transportation systems and all public utilities. The committee reached no conclusion on the amendment proposal, deciding after lengthy debate yesterday to leave that decision and others concerning the platform to a platform committee to be named by the convention.

Hillquit was chosen temporary chairman and keynote speaker for the convention. Nomination of candidates for president and vice-president is scheduled for Sunday afternoon.

The candidates and other Socialist leaders will speak at a mass meeting in the afternoon.

FRIDAY, MAY 20.

SOCIAL WELFARE

On Wednesday, in the "Open Forum" of this newspaper, Mrs. Georgia L. Hale propounded in effect if not in form a question concerning Herald policy which was both fair and timely. She said:

I have never been able to understand why The Herald, which takes such a high stand on most public questions, should be so opposed to any kind of Social Welfare work. It seems to me that people who are trained for a job ought to be better, all things considered, than those who are not trained.

The capital letters in the above are our "correspondent's." They may have a good deal to do with the question. The Herald is infinitely distant from any opposition to social welfare activities, ideas or aspirations. How could it be otherwise? How could any decent newspaper or decent individual be opposed to such things? They are the great aim of civilization.

But Social Welfare work, capitalized in two senses; Social Welfare as an institution and as a profession, may be—and The Herald out of many years of experience and observation believes it is—a very different affair.

It is our experience that Social Welfare workers are divisible into two classes, one large, the other small. The large class is perfectly sincere, often self-sacrificing, usually industrious and almost always lacking in any background of personal or family experience qualifying it to pass judgment on human behavior outside the limits of arbitrary and narrow conventions. The other class is made up of open-eyed self-seekers. It exploits the former class and the public simultaneously. In instances its eyes are only partly open and it has succeeded in self-delusion, at least to the extent of drugged conscience.

Both of these classes are "trained." The "training" of Social Welfare workers has even managed to get itself recognized in the statutes of some states. This or that job must by law go to some one "trained in Social Welfare work."

A more preposterous assumption could not be made than that there is, anywhere in the world, any institution or individual capable of training another in sociology as the pupil might be taught to cane a chair or pack sardines in a can. Sociology is a vast problem—not a science, a trade, a knack or a mess of verbal patter. The best that anybody can do with it is to think about it—very hard; to observe and weigh and set off one fact against another; to theorize and to propose and defend his theories. He cannot "train" another in theories. And sociology is all theory. It possesses not one single provable fact—provable beyond chance of error.

What Social Welfare workers are trained in is a routine. How much of the routine is beneficial or useful nobody really knows; how much of it may be desperately injurious nobody knows either. Its formula is rooted in preconceptions, in narrow class traditions, in religious fixations and, always, in the unprovable assumption that the administrator is the intellectual and spiritual superior of the beneficiary. The more thoroughly the worker is trained in his routine the less of a human being he becomes and the more of a machine.

You can train a Social Welfare Worker with capital letters but you never in the world can train a social welfare worker without the capitals; for the moment you stop the human mind from groping for truth in the innumerable problems of human behavior and set it to tapping at some routine task of supposed amelioration you terminate its usefulness to its fellow creatures—and to their welfare.

Let it be understood that this for that not inconsiderable group of men and women who, in the cities and big towns of this country, have devoted their lives to the amelioration of poverty and suffering since long before there were Child Welfare Bureaus and politically organized intrusions into private life. Many of these are and have been "professionals." Almoners, charity workers, whatever, they have helped and are helping to make the world better to live in. We have known many of them. But they were in the work because they were endowed with a great love of humanity and because they had minds of their own and an abiding sympathy of their own—and above all experiences of their own. And knew a little, at least, of what it was all about.

When smugness and vanity and self interest seize on the great business and mystery of human amelioration and undertake to turn it into a mere trade and then erect the trade into an officeholding guild, this newspaper, because it hates sham and exploitation and arrogant assumptions of superiority, is everlastingly against it.

SECESSION

History has such a persistent habit of repeating itself that it is perhaps a little remarkable that, in view of the dry proposal to block prohibition repeal by concentrating on the strategy of holding in line thirteen small dry states, despite the will of even an overwhelming majority of the country's people, there has never been so much as a word of secession talk.

Yet secession, during by far the greater part of the nation's history, was frequently agitated whenever any state or locality conceived the notion that it was being oppressed by the central power of the government.

There were many separate instances of secession agitation prior to the actual temporary split in the Union in 1861, and they were by no means confined to the Southern states. A majority of the thirteen original units at one time or another flirted with the idea of getting out of the Union, and many of the newer states also claimed the right to walk out on the show if not granted a square deal. Even in Connecticut did we not have a Hartford Convention in 1814-15, which was pretty well understood to be a threat to take New England out of the Union if something wasn't done about that unpopular war with England?

New York City, under Mayor Fernando Wood, went off on its muscle in 1861 to the extent that the city council adopted a resolution declaring for the secession of Manhattan, Long Island and Staten Island and their setting up in business as a free port under the name of Tri-Insula. There might even have been a big stir over that, only about then the Johnny Rebs made the mistake of firing on Fort Sumter and a wave of patriotism swept over the Bowery as well as Brooklyn and the secession movement was forgotten.

All of which merely reflects the fact that it is instinctive for political units, when they get to feeling that they are being unfairly licked in a partnership arrangement, to pick up their duds and go home, so to speak. And when it is suggested that Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, Michigan, Maryland and a dozen other populous states may have to dance to the piping of Utah, Idaho, Wyoming and a few other tracts of sagebrush and malaria swamps, it is more or less of a wonder that we haven't heard some whispering about secession—a new kind of secession in which the dog would secede from the tail and leave that appendage to dry up as dry as Pharaoh's mummy.

Any such performance it is, of course, rather nonsensical even to imagine. But not a whit more so than to imagine any such situation as that seriously held up by the dry extremists as a desirable one.

RASKOB ET AL.

Probably no great degree of surprise visited the people of the country when it was shown to the Senate Finance Committee that a select pool of Wall Street manipulators cleaned up almost five million dollars in a seven day pool in Radio stock in 1929 on an investment of between twelve and thirteen millions. Since the grand smash in the fall of that spectacular year the ordinary citizen, even if he hasn't learned all the details, has acquired a fairly clear idea of how the stock market looting machinery works and how the public was "taken" by the sure thing gamblers in the historic bubble market—that tin-horn game so successfully hallowed to the slogan "Don't sell America short!"

But if there is little surprise it is possible that there may be some embarrassment in the situation for that political party which sees its national chairman exhibited in the Senate revelations as a chief figure for the strident Smith faction when not only John J. Raskob, political foster father of the Brown Derby, but W. F. Kenney, closest and dearest of all Al Smith's political kin, is shown to have been tied up with the school of sharks that helped themselves to a fortune apiece out of the pockets of the suckers in one hectic week.

The "outrage" of Mr. Smith in protesting against "soak the rich" income tax legislation becomes, in the light of these revelations, perhaps just a trifle less remarkable. At all events that suggestion of ours that the sidewalks of New York City by a short and direct route from Chatham Square to Wall Street gets an unexpectedly early demonstration.

Next question is, can the Democratic party afford to carry on for the pre-convention period, or for a day, under even the nominal leadership of Mr. Raskob? That, of course, is strictly up to that party—its own affair. But any old outsider has the privilege of wondering:

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington

DARK HORSES GROOMED BY DEMS FOR HOT FIGHT AT CHICAGO IN JUNE

By RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer

Washington — The one thing which seems to have been assured by the recent Democratic presidential primaries is a hot time in Chicago at the end of June.

It looks more and more like a dog fight. It seems very unlikely that Governor Roosevelt of New York can win on the first ballot and not unlikely that he will be lost in the shuffle while the leaders get their heads together and decide which Democrat they want to oppose Hoover.

Uncertainties Dominate

Uncertainties now dominate the whole picture, but at the same time it is too early to assume that the New York governor is due to be licked simply because he ran more poorly than he was expected to in California, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania. Some of the uncertainties may be resolved in his favor.

There is no question, for instance, that Roosevelt will have a better chance of being nominated than Al Smith, who is expected to have the next largest number of delegates on the first ballot, or Speaker Jack Garner, who probably will run third.

Precedent May Be Broken

Roosevelt will have at least four times as many first ballot delegates as Garner, it now appears, and from two to three times as many as Smith. One cannot recall any political convention where the leading candidate entering so far ahead of his next nearest opponent failed to land the nomination.

Even with Roosevelt out of the picture, there would be little or no chance of Smith's nomination, and Garner's prospects wouldn't be much brighter.

The religious issue, which caused the party so much trouble in 1928, militates effectively against Smith, while Garner's victory in California has failed to vindicate the boom for him which was going strong before he lost control of the House in the tax fight.

Baker, Young, Ritchie

That means that the anti-Roosevelt leaders must build up another candidate who to date at least has accumulated no delegate strength which puts him in advance of the "favorite son" group.

"Those most often mentioned are Newton D. Baker of Ohio, governor Ritchie of Maryland, and Owen D. Young.

Unless something is done about it in the meantime, none of the trio will appear on the first convention ballot except Ritchie, who will have the 16 delegates from Maryland.

Fast Work Required

It would seem that some fast, smart and well-planned manipulation will be required in order to discount Roosevelt's big plurality of delegates.

The Roosevelt forces are only whistling to keep up their courage when they say it can't be done; but it may not be done and the old political adage that "you can't beat somebody with nobody" has not yet lost all its force in this fight.

The most important question now is the extent to which the non-Roosevelt votes at Chicago will turn out to be anti-Roosevelt votes. How many of them can be held in line by the anti-Roosevelt crowd, how many can be nabbed by the Roosevelt managers and how many "favorite son" delegates will stand in their track to the end?

A Roosevelt Problem

There's also the question how long and under what circumstances Roosevelt delegates can be held in line. But that again inspires the thought that the anti-Roosevelt leaders must dial up an attractive candidate for whom there would be something like a concerted leap.

A rough guess now is that Roosevelt will show up with more than 500 votes. His enemies hope they can swing on about 400 to be held out against him, leaving about 200 to be scrambled by the Roosevelt forces as a chief figure

SUMMARY OF GOOD COMBINATION RULES

We studied some of the different types of food combinations in the articles appearing on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. The menus given on Friday are always arranged according to the rules of good food combinations and today are going to summarize the rules for good food combinations, giving my views in a simplified form. I might have made these food combination rules a great deal more complicated if I had written them twenty years ago, but I have found that good food combinations can be understood with very simple rules and there are few exceptions.

Protein Combinations: Any one protein may be used with one or more of the cooked or raw non-starchy vegetables with the addition of one kind of fruit either cooked or raw if desired.

Here is a list of good protein foods: Leafy, nut, chicken, rabbit, turkey, sole, halibut, sea bass, pickerel, fresh cod, perch, black bass, tuna, eggs, cottage cheese, cream cheese, gelatin, frogs' legs, and turtle.

Combinations: Any one starch may be used with one or more of the cooked or raw non-starchy vegetables. No fruit should be used with this meal.

Here is a list of the good starchy foods: Potatoes, green corn, macaroni, spaghetti, vermicelli, noodles, Hubbard squash, rice, corn bread, corn meal, wheat flour biscuits, whole wheat flour, whole wheat, gluten bread, shredded wheat, barley, amaranth, water crackers, cauliflower, turnips, artichokes and beets.

Non-Starchy Combinations: One or more non-starchy vegetables either cooked or raw may be used with either one starch or one protein or with any other article of food, such as milk, toast or fruit.

Here is a list of the non-starchy vegetables: Celery, spinach, small string beans, asparagus, cucumbers, summer squash, eggplant, beet tops, turnip tops, small beets, small parsnips, small carrots, small turnips, pumpkin, lettuce, okra, choyotes, oyster plant, mallow, kale, zucchini, vegetable marrow.

Fruit Combinations: One kind of fruit either cooked or raw may be used with a protein meal or with milk or with any one of the non-starchy vegetables. Fruit should never be used at a meal containing a highly starchy food; this includes toast.

Toast Combinations: Thoroughly toasted food may be used with any other article of food or with any combination.

Milk Combinations

Milk may be used by itself or with any one kind of fruit or with one or more non-starchy vegetables. Never use raw milk at meals containing protein or starch.

Dessert Combinations: Desserts such as gelatin, stewed or raw fruit may be used in combination with one non-starchy vegetable or in addition to protein meal but never with a starchy meal.

Salad and Soup Combinations: All kinds of foods are used for salads but the same combination rules should be followed as with the preparation of any of the other dishes served at the meal. Good combinations should also be observed in the preparation of soups.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Radium and X-ray Treatments)

Question: Miss Hortense Q. writes: "I wish you would explain to me about radium treatments. Of what benefit are they? Also, what benefit is derived from an x-ray treatment where you lie on a couch with your clothing on?"

Answer: Radium and x-ray treatments are given in an attempt to cure abnormal growths, such as tumors and cancers. Such treatments have not been highly successful and, in fact, results have been very disappointing. The x-ray treatment can be given through the clothing but this is seldom done.

(Lemon Juice in the Morning)

Question: Miss Nanette says: "Will you explain in the health column the effect of lemon juice the first thing in the morning?"

Answer: Many people find it advantageous to take a small amount of lemon juice in a glass of water in the morning. Freshly squeezed lemon juice should be taken for at least a half hour. The lemon juice stimulates the digestive juices of the stomach and produces a better appetite for breakfast.

(Marking Unborn Child)

Question: Mrs. Elva R. asks: "Is there such a thing as marking a child? I am two months pregnant and saw something which frightened me very much and I am worried."

Answer: The consensus of opinion today is that such a marking is purely coincidence. Just forget about the incident and develop a happy attitude of mind. Keep yourself in every way up to the highest point of efficiency and your child will be healthier for it. Send for my special series of articles for an expectant mother, which is called "The Motherhood Series."

Spinach is perhaps our best greens

Spinach is perhaps our best greens the country over. It can be grown as an early spring crop, or as a fall crop. In the southern states spinach can be sown in the fall and will go through the winter and be ready to use at almost any time.

So, for a continuous supply make sowings every 3 or 4 weeks. In the north, two sowings early in the spring, and one sowing in late August or early September, will be about right. Bloomsdale Savoy is one of the leading varieties, but in sections where the spinach yellows give trouble, the Norfolk Savoy should be used for fall and winter planting.

The tops of ordinary garden beets make excellent greens. As a rule, you plant your beets too thick anyway, but this is no great loss for you can use the thinnings for greens.

In hot weather greens there is nothing that will beat the Swiss chard, especially the variety known as Lucullus.

Lamb quarter, dandelion, the young, tender shoots of poke weed, and other water-cress greens, and other plants are good when used as greens.

TO SEE ECLIPSE

Moon To Cut Off Sun On August 31—Will Be 95 P. C. Total Here.

Boston, May 20.—The occurrence of the total eclipse of the sun in New England on August 31 this year is turning the attention of the entire scientific world upon this section of the United States, and interesting thousands of laymen in the opportunity of a lifetime to view such a spectacle. Scores of inquiries for data on the eclipse have already been received by the New England Council here, Colonel William A. Barron, chairman of the Council's Recreational Development Committee, made known at Council headquarters today.

Ideal Time
While total solar eclipses occur fairly often, they seldom happen over densely populated regions, or when the sun is high in the sky, the New England Council points out. The next total eclipse in the United States will be visible in Idaho at sunrise on July 9, 1945, when the sun is too low for interest. The eclipse on August 31, 1932, occurs in mid-afternoon of a summer day. The path of totality is a belt of darkness 100 miles wide across the northeast corner of Vermont, most of New Hampshire, and southeastern Maine, taking in the North Shore of Massachusetts from Newburyport to Salem, and the tip of Cape Cod.

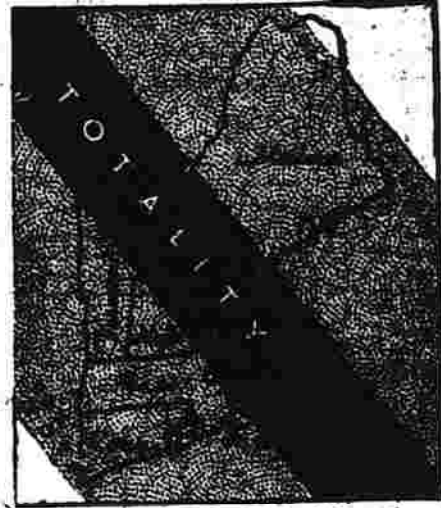

The rest of New England is in the area of 95 per cent totality, except for the northern tip of Aroostook County, Maine. The small portion of Maine which is outside the path of 95 per cent totality is itself in the path of approximately 90 per cent totality. The center of the totality path crosses the Canadian line a short distance west of Newport, Vermont, on Lake Memphremagog, and passes through Conway, New Hampshire, in the heart of the White Mountains, and Cape Porpoise, near Kennebunkport on the Maine coast. New England vacation-lands constitute ring-side seats for this most impressive astronomical phenomenon.

The eclipse reaches totality in New England at about 3:30 p. m. Eastern Standard Time. Time schedules of course vary for different points along the route of the shadow. The speed with which the shadow moves over the earth is estimated at about 2,000 feet per second, according to the official eclipse committee of the American Astronomical Society.

Begins at 2:20 P. M.
At about 2:20 p. m., E. S. T., the eclipse will begin, as the dark disc of the moon lifts the first piece out of the sun's bright circle. The moon's disc will creep gradually over the sun, until only a thin crescent is visible, which will also disappear, leaving a curved row of brilliant dots—made by the sun shining between the high mountains of the moon. Then the sun wholly disappears behind the moon, and the magnificent spectacle of the corona flashes into view.

The sun is enveloped in a halo or corona or such rarity that it is in-

THE COMING ECLIPSE
The map shows the path of the moon's shadow which will sweep the earth on August 31 this year, when a total eclipse of the sun will be visible in the United States only in New England. The shaded portion shows the area of 95 per cent totality.

visible in full sunshine, but when the direct sunlight is obscured by the moon in a total eclipse, the corona is visible, streaming in all directions around the sun, and shining with a pale greenish light, with a brightness about half that of a full moon. If the sky is clear, the brighter stars will appear, and the planet Jupiter will be visible near the sun.

Observers of the eclipse not using astronomical instruments are warned not to look at the sun with the naked eye except during totality. During the partial phases, smoked glass should be used. The approach of totality may be detected by facing northwest shortly before 3:30 p. m., E. S. T., to watch the approach of the shadow. The moon's shadow on the earth should be discernible as a blackness growing in apparent size as it sweeps toward the observer like a black squall traveling at a speed of about 2,000 miles an hour.

Astronomers Coming
Astronomers from all parts of the world are coming in expeditions and unofficially to study the spectacle. Sites have already been selected where instruments will be set up and observations taken. It is to be hoped that unscientific observers will take precautions not to hinder the observations in any way, such as the unnecessary buzzing of automobile lights.

Towns in the belt of totality are already engaged in preparations to attract astronomers and other visitors. New England resorts, hotels, summer camps plan to make the eclipse spectacle the culmination of their 1932 season. A map folder on the eclipse published by the New England Hotel Association may be obtained on request to the New England Council at Boston as well as the booklet "Your New England Vacation" published by the latter organization.

It is said that the gembok, a large South African antelope, never drinks water, the moisture which it requires being obtained from the succulent plants on which it feeds.

CLAY'S WORLD'S RECORD

San Francisco, May 20.—(AP)—Miss Susyanda Brasco, Rumanian, claims to have made a parachute jump of 24,000 feet for a world's record for women.

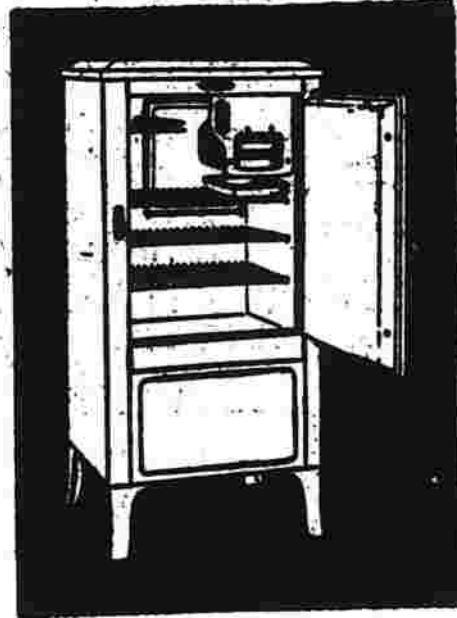

A sealed barograph used on the plane from which she leaped yesterday will be dispatched to the National Aeronautical Association in Washington, D. C., to verify her claim.

Miss Brasco's statement as to the height of the plane.

Miss Brasco claimed a previous jump of 23,000 feet at Miami, Fla.

FOREST FIRES SPREAD

Quebec, May 20.—(AP)—Forest fires beset citizens of three provinces today, with the worst situation prevailing in New Brunswick where the minister of lands and forests has appealed to the people to help prevent a province-wide conflagration.

The office of the New Brunswick Forest Service has reports of at least one fire in every county in the province. The worst blazes were beyond the control of hundreds of fire fighters in Restigouche, Madawaska, Gloucester and Victoria counties. Dry weather and high winds have added to the difficulties of the fire fighters.

At Cranberry Portage, Man., Indians, mounted police and forest rangers were fighting a fire that threatened for a time to destroy Guy School, a dominion Indian instruction, and the office of Surgeon Landing. In Quebec province a farmer was killed when a burning tree fell on him while fighting a fire.

REFUSED TO CUT EXPENSES

Geneva, Switzerland, May 20.—(AP)—The attempt of the British to cut down the expenses of the League of Nations bumped into additional hostility today.

Salvatore de Madariaga, Spain's representative, said the cost of the League was about the cost of cleaning the streets in New York City. He did not think the amount expended was excessive as he considered the league the best insurance of world peace.

Sir Eric Drummond, secretary-general of the league, and the spokesman for Italy, France, Jugoslavia and China, lined up against the British, with only Germany supporting the economy drive.

the MAN HUNTERS

BY MABEL McELLIOTT

BEGIN HERE TODAY
 SUSAN CAREY, 20 and beautiful, is in love with BOB DUNBAR, son of a millionaire, although she is engaged to DENISE HEATH, her former employer. She believes Bob is engaged to DENISE ACKROYD, society girl. BEN LAMPMAN, former admiral of Susan's, shoots at Heath and wounds himself. After his recovery Heath urges an early wedding. He arranges for Susan's aunt who has been ill to go south. JACK WARRING advises Susan not to go through with the marriage, stressing the difference between her age and Heath's. At a masked ball Susan meets Bob and the old love for him flares up again. Denise intervenes. Bob finds Susan at her home. Heath overhears the conversation. He writes a letter asking her to release him from the engagement. Susan finds Bob just as he is about to board a train for New York.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XLV
 The elder Dunbar glared at his son. "What's that you're saying?" he demanded. "I can't seem to get what you're driving at."
 Deliberately Bob repeated, "I told you, sir, I expect to be married next week."
 "Hah!" The veins stood out alarmingly on the forehead of the man in the swivel chair. "You're trying to tell me—you have the face to announce that you're marrying a nobody. You know very well it's been understood you're to marry Denise."
 Bob shrugged his shoulders. "That's just it," he said. "His father rapped out, 'What's just it? You're talking rot this morning.'
 Bob smiled patiently to explain. "You talked me in to that engagement. You and mother—everybody."
 "I suppose you don't know your own mind, hey? I must say, young man, I think you're behaving in devilish bad fashion. First you give us to understand that you want to marry Denise. Then you come around with a cock and bull story about a girl nobody knows. Someone you picked up God knows where!"
 Bob gripped his hands against the back of the chair until the knuckles stood out. "I'll have to ask you to take that back," he said with deadly quiet. "I've told you all about her. There's nothing the matter with her family. She happens to be poor—that's all."
 The two men continued to stare at each other. The younger moved toward the door.
 "There is nothing more to say, I guess."
 His father detained him. "Where do you think you're going?"
 "Back to my desk of course."
 Mr. Dunbar stood up, emphasizing his words with a shaking forefinger. "You're to do nothing of the kind," he announced. "Until this affair is settled, you're persona non grata in this office. Do you understand?"
 It was a blow but the boy gave no sign other than the darkening of his eyes.
 "Very well, sir, if that's the way you feel about it." He turned again but his father's bellowing voice arrested him.
 "What do you think you're going to live on, you young idiot, if I turn you out?"
 The youth said grimly, "I suppose I can get a job."
 "You do! You're very optimistic."

There are hundreds of staved-out and truckmen walking the streets looking for work. They can't find it. What makes you think you can?"
 The boy did not answer for an instant. The he said quietly, "Whose fault is it if I'm useless? When I wanted to study agriculture, the only thing I cared about, who discouraged me?"
 "You were expelled from college. Don't forget that."
 "I was because I was bored stiff. But you had your way and that was all you cared about." Bob threw his young shoulders back and eyed his parent defiantly. "This is one time you're not going to have Susan no matter what happens."
 The older man gave a sharp, resentful laugh and spread his hands out. "Go ahead," he said, "but don't come whining to me when things go wrong!"
 "I won't," Bob promised grimly. The door slammed. The father continued to stare at the spot where his son had stood a moment ago. The mottled flush died in his cheeks and once he smiled abroad. "The boy wouldn't go far, he's colloquial. He would think it over and come to his senses. Most young men experienced these surges of emotion over a pretty face, but there was no sense in taking the thing seriously! The girl was undoubtedly a common little piece of hardware. What was it Bob had said she did? Worked in an office somewhere. Young fool!"
 And yet unwilling the father admired the boy for his defiance. "Didn't think he had it in him," he muttered. "He'll come round all right. He'll bring to talk turkey in a day or two."
 Nevertheless, Mr. Dunbar rang for his secretary and demanded the telephone directory. He had a good memory and there flashed into his mind the name Bob had dropped earlier in the conversation. The name was Carey. She lived with her aunt Jessie, Bob had said, on the west side. His spatulate thumb ran down the list of telephone subscribers. Sure enough, there was the name. In his small, neat, letter-plate script Dunbar wrote the street number in his pocket address book. It might be handy to have during the next few days.
 To his father's surprise and irritation, Bob did not come round. The servants reported that he had returned home around noon, had packed a bag and departed without leaving any word. Mrs. Dunbar was at Hot Springs. She was one of those fretful, chronic invalids. Her husband was relieved that there was no necessity of explaining the situation to her.
 After a day of waiting during which his digestion was annoyingly impaired the older man mapped out a course of action. Hard-shelled autocrat that he was, he loved his only son dearly. This open break with Robert disturbed him. Mr. Dunbar decided to see the girl and talk a little sense to her.
 He frowned with distaste as his taxi, bumping along the shabby side street, came to a stop. It was just as he had expected—a house in a row of brave, run-down dwellings badly needing paint.
 "Wait for me," he commanded the driver. Dunbar rang the bell with some trepidation. It was not a pleasant errand but it was one he must go through with whether or not he liked it.

 A lean, gray-haired woman in a spotless blue house dress answered the ring.
 "We don't want to buy anything," she began firmly. Then struck by something in her caller's bearing, she stopped, confused.
 "I want to see Miss Susan Carey," Dunbar said in his courteous manner. "Is she in?"
 "Oh, yes I'll call her." The gray-haired woman gave him an overly penetrating look and then invited him to enter. As the man waited in the small living room he glanced about with annoyance. It was not at all the sort of interior he had expected. The old rosewood furniture, carved and upholstered in the manner of the '80's, had a decadent self-respect about them. So had the ancient square piano. The whole place reminded him dimly of his mother's front parlor. It was uncompromisingly clean and the unimpeachable curtains showed no sign of the usual Chicago grime.
 There was a faint rustle in the hall and he stood up, feeling rather ill at ease. The girl who faced him was tall and slender. Her dress of black woolen stuff had a sun-like tinge of white at the throat. The man noticed that her skin had an extraordinary, translucent fairness and that she wore no makeup. Her eyes were enormous.
 As the girl advanced Dunbar began to speak quickly and glibly. If Susan was not the sort of person he had expected to see, he gave no sign. His method of attack was simple. He would play on her better feeling. He would make her see that marriage with a penniless boy would be quite different from marriage to the heir of millions.
 "I'm Bob Dunbar's father," he began. "Susan was not surprised. From Bob the night before she had heard the whole story. 'I don't want you to think,' the man pursued winningly, 'that I've come here in an antagonistic mood. On the contrary, I feel very friendly toward you and now that I've seen you I must applaud my son's taste.'
 He seated himself at her invitation. "I only want to make it quite clear that there were good reasons for my behaving as I did when my son told me his plans. Robert is, I'm afraid, very impulsive, and, here he shook his head sadly, "extremely fickle. Perhaps you do not know that he is virtually bound in another agreement." He paused to let the words sink in.
 Susan said, "I'm afraid I don't quite understand."
 Mr. Dunbar smiled. "Of course you don't, my dear young lady," he assured her. "The scamp would never tell you about himself."
 "If you mean Miss Ackroyd, I do know all about that," Susan said quietly.
 The man's jaw dropped. "Oh, you do! Then I know you're going to be sensible about it. If you're fond of my son you won't want to stand in his way. His mother and I feel deeply on the subject of his marrying Denise. In fact his whole future depends upon it. His grandfather's money is being held in trust for him. Robert will receive it when he is 25 on the condition that he marry with our approval. You see?" He smiled at her.
 "You mean, then," said Susan slowly, "that it would ruin Bob's life if he were to marry me?"

GIRLS OF ST. MARY'S ENTERTAIN MOTHERS

The Girls' Friendly Society of St. Mary's church held its annual Mother and Daughter banquet Wednesday evening in the parish house, at which they entertained over 150, including mothers and friends of the members and invited guests. The dinner was served promptly at 6:30 by a corps of efficient waitresses under the direction of Associate Gertrude Liddon. The meal consisted of fruit cup, roast lamb, mint sauce, mashed potato, rolls, peas and carrots, strawberry shortcake with whipped cream and coffee. The downstairs hall was prettily decorated in pink and green, and the favors were tiny candle-holders in pink and green. Miss Irene Walter and Associate Viola Trotter had charge of the decorations. The meal was prepared by Mr. and Mrs. George Briggs, Mrs. John Turner, Frank Miller and John Jensen.
 During the dinner the Rev. J. S. Neill spoke briefly and presented the speakers of the evening. Associate Evaline Pentland welcomed the mothers and friends on behalf of the society. Rev. Neill then introduced Miss Lucy Whitton, Mrs. Alfred Fletcher and Miss Lena Crosscup, who in turn addressed the gathering. A poem entitled, "Always Take Mother's Advice," was read by Young Members' representative, Alice Aitken. Group singing led by Violet Madden was followed by a repetition of the Rebekah play, "Mystery Island," a monologue by Miss Hazel Driggs and a dance, "The Minute" by Jean Clarke and Florence Johnson who wore appropriate period costumes and white wigs.
LINEMAN DIES
 New Britain, May 20—(AP)—Judson Lee Schmitt, 29, a lineman employed by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, died today at New Britain General hospital of injuries received on May 11 when a pole on which he was working on Farmington Avenue fell. His home was at 32 Sixth street, New York City.

TOLLAND

The funeral of Mrs. Apponia (Relake) Gross, widow of George Gross of Grant Hill, was held from her late home Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. EDITORS OF STATE MEET IN GREENWICH

Greenwich, May 20.—(AP)—Editors of the week at press and their desks cleared so far as newspaper editors can sweep away the litter on them, members of the Connecticut Editorial Association came here today for an outing which will extend through tomorrow.

Rarely has a more ambitious program faced the editors or a greater measure of hospitality been prepared for them.

In the course of the business session a secretary-treasurer will be elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Everett G. Hill of the Ansonia Sentinel who served for seven years.

This morning the party visited the Conde Nast plant and later went to lunch at Mill Brook Country Club. There were several speakers on topics of interest to the editors. In the late day the visitors were to be shown Greenwich and its suburbs.

from automobiles, winding up at the Mill Brook Country Club for the annual dinner tonight.

Tomorrow morning after a business session with a round table conference at the Y. M. C. A. the party will go for a sail on Long Island Sound.

The golf links at Mill Brook Country Club were available for those who desired to play both days, and the women of the party were entertained at the club house with cards and a luncheon.

The more you speak of yourself, the more you are likely to lie.—Zimmermann.

SANDINO REPORTS U. S. MARINE KILLED

Managua, May 20.—(AP)—A Lieutenant Hutchcroft, American Marine officer, and five members of his patrol were killed in a battle with troops of General Augustino Sandino, Nicaraguan insurgent leader, this week in Rio Grande province, on the eastern side of Nicaragua.

Dr. Pedro Jose Zepeda, Sandino's foreign representative announced here today.

He said 14 members of the Nicaraguan National Guard were wounded. Hutchcroft's command lost all its equipment and provisions to the Sandinistas, the report to Zepeda said. Two Sandinistas were reported wounded.

General Sandino said 70 persons were killed in 14 engagements with the National Guard and Marines during April and many others wounded. Sandino again declared he would carry on the fight "to the death" until the United States decided to give Nicaragua its freedom.

by withdrawing the Marines from the country.

He repeated his promise to lay down his arms when, and only when, the Marines retire from Nicaragua, Dr. Zepeda said.

Las Vegas, Nev., May 20.—(AP)—Swollen by melting snow in the Rockies, the Colorado river rapidly neared flood stage at Boulder City today and threatened to cause an interruption of work on Hoover Dam.

Guards were posted at the entrance of the tunnels being bored through the mountain side to sound an alarm if the water touched the level of the entrance. The tunnels parallel the river, and when completed will serve to divert the flow of the river while work is being done on the dam.

Crews of men also rushed work to strengthen Colorado river levees in Mexico. Yuma, Arizona, has been warned to prepare for a sharp rise within nine days.

THREE VIOLENT DEATHS

New Haven, Conn., May 20.—(AP)—Accidents on land and sea claimed three lives yesterday in Connecticut.

Edward Ekmowski, 3, was crushed from his Bristol home to the road tracks nearby and was killed by a passenger train bound for Waterbury.

An automobile accident in Guilford caused the death of Charles H. Holman, 51, Milford World War veteran. His companion, James Faller, 49, of Boston, was injured seriously when their machine collided with a truck.

Chester R. Ewary of Pawtucket, R. I., the truck driver was arrested. William Chamberlin, 35, of Hartford, drowned at Windsor while fishing in the Connecticut river with Charles Wittensteiner. The latter swam ashore.

The men were pulled into the water when their net became entangled in the outboard motor.

LAKE AMSTON

COMFORT
... THROUGH CASTORIA'S
GENTLE REGULATION
The best way to prevent colic, doctors say, is to avoid gas in stomach and bowels by keeping the entire intestinal tract open and free from waste. But remember this: a baby's tender little organs cannot stand harsh treatment. They must be gently urged. This is just the time Castoria can help most. Castoria, you know, is made especially for babies and children. It is a pure vegetable preparation, perfectly harmless. It contains no harsh drugs, no narcotics. For years it has helped mothers through trying times with colicky babies and children suffering with digestive upsets, colds and fever. Keep genuine Castoria on hand, with the name:

CASTORIA

In the Center of an Unspoiled Wilderness
High in Connecticut's Hills

Yes... we repeat... we challenge anyone to find a finer spot for their summer cottage than this beautiful lake. Go to any of the other lake properties and look them over... then come to Lake Amston and look around... we'll let you be your own judge... and we know beforehand what your decision will be... LAKE AMSTON! Come down Sunday... our opening day... and get acquainted with this beautiful property.

Lake Amston is a large lake... with seven miles of shore line... broken up by interesting little bays and inlets. Bathing is especially fine in waters that are cool, clear as crystal and never low. Boating and fishing enthusiasts will find Lake Amston a real paradise, and for those who like to commune with Nature—these are deep forest recesses, speckled with sunlight and shadow. The lake is 500 feet above sea level, and even on the hottest days cool breezes blow comfortably across the blue waters.

Running water, electricity and telephone service are available at the property, too, so that one can enjoy the modern comforts of the city while relaxing in the freedom of the wilderness.

Cottage sites are priced within YOUR means, and convenient terms of payment will be arranged. There are many choice lake-front lots in preferred locations. Practically every lot on the property commands a view of the lake.

DIRECTIONS

From Manchester go South on South Main Street, through East Glastonbury to the Hartford-New London turnpike to Marlboro, turning left at rotary traffic junction, proceeding to Hebron, then right on Amston road. Entrance to property at Amston village.

British Women Favored Over American Golfers

Joyce Wethered Comes Out of Retirement To Lead Great Britain Against American Forces Tomorrow.

Virginia Water, Surrey, Eng., May 20.—(AP)—Picked feminine ace of the two great golf-playing nations meet at Wentworth tomorrow in the first official Anglo-American women's team match in history.

The competition will consist of three foursomes, to be played in the morning, and six singles in the afternoon. All matches will be at 18 holes.

The only previous women's team match between the two countries, an unofficial competition at Sunningdale two years ago, was won by Great Britain in decisive fashion.

And, individually, no American ever has succeeded in winning the British Open women's title, the only major golfing title of the motherland which has escaped American hands.

But Miss Hollins' squad this time is a formidable array including, as it does, the American champion Helen Hicks, Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare, Maureen O'Connell, Mrs. O. S. Hill, Virginia Van Wie, Mrs. Leona Cheney and Mrs. Harley Hagle.

Joyce Wethered, regarded as the greatest player of all time in feminine golf, has emerged from partial retirement to lead champion Wanda Morgan, native English title-holder; Doris Park, Mrs. J. B. Watson, Molly Goursay, Elsie Corlett and Diana Fishwick.

Each team will be limited to six players with two alternates. Hollins and Mrs. Hagle originally were selected for alternates on the American side and the changes are they will play spectators' roles when the matches open tomorrow. Pairings however, will not be announced until tomorrow morning.

Great Britain, considering the fact that its representatives will be playing on familiar terrain, rules a favorite. An American victory seems to hinge upon triumph in two of the three morning foursomes for brilliant American play must be predicted to win more than one of the six afternoon singles or so strong a team as Britain is putting on the links.

National golfing prestige, but no actual trophy will be at stake, for the British ladies' golf union, ruling authorities of the game here, has declined to offer a policy to accept American women golfers, to donate a cup to be played for along the lines of the Walker Cup.

VENKZE PLACES THIRD IN RACE

New York, May 20.—(AP)—Gene Venkze, invisible during the winter season, already has found a conqueror outdoors. The Pottstown, Pa., schoolboy, who ran the mile in 4:10 this winter, finished third in a special 1,000-yard race at the New York Curb Exchange track and field meet in Lewisohn Stadium last night.

Bob Otto Rosner, former Princeton star, and George Bullwinkle of the New York A. C. led Venkze to the top. Rosner ran the distance in 2:12 2-5, only a fifth of a second off the American record set by Larry Brown in 1921.

FULLER METS BERG IN GARDEN BATTLE

New York, May 20.—(AP)—Sammy Fuller, dogged little battler from Boston, engages the British lightweight veteran, Jack (Kid) Berg, in a 12-round return bout in Madison Square Garden tonight.

Fuller rules a favorite at 7 to 5 although he got no better than a draw with Berg in their first meeting at 10 rounds, here recently.

The Boston lad apparently was headed straight for a title match with Champion Tony Canzoneri when his stock took something of a slight tumble after the draw with Berg. Previously he had decisively whipped Ray Miller and knocked out Billy Wallace.

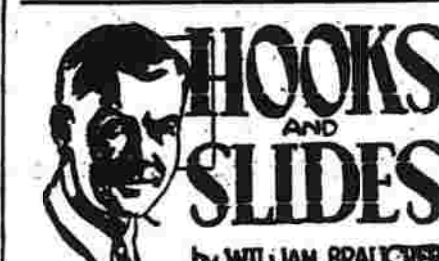

The match tonight is the first of an unofficial elimination tournament designed to bring about a challenger for Canzoneri in an outdoor bout this season. In addition to Berg and Fuller, Billy Petrolle, Christopher (Bat) Battalino and Kid Chocolate may figure in the eliminations.

U. S. GOLFERS SAIL
New York, May 20.—(AP)—Tommy Armour and Gene Sarazen sail on the Bremen at midnight tonight for England and the British Open Golf championship, to be played at Sandwich starting June 6.

SWAP PUNCHES IN CHICAGO TONIGHT

Squared off above are Billy Petrolle, the Fargo Express, and Bat Battalino, Hartford's leading boxer, who meet in a ten-round scrap in the Chicago stadium late tonight. Recently Petrolle used Bat for a punching bag but the Hartford lad promises an opposite turn of affairs in the return bout. Ring critics favor the Express.

The Olympic Games at Los Angeles are still weeks away, but the first protest has been aired. Charles Demis, secretary of the French Olympic committee, thinks it "most unpardonable" of the United States Olympic authorities to deny French athletes their daily liter of wine.

It may be only a coincidence, and certainly is not offered as an argument against prohibition, but the only track victory scored by the United States in the 1928 Olympic Games at Amsterdam was that of Ray Barbati, and Ray included wine in his daily diet.

Heavy Hogan
Whatever James Francis Hogan, catcher of the Giants, eats or drinks seems to turn quickly into pounds.

And Hack Wilson
My Wilson of the Brooklyn Boys also has been having some little annoyance with his waist line, not to mention his batting average. Hack Wilson potatoes and well buttered bread. It begins to appear that the young man will have trouble hitting the size of his belt.

"Frasner" Carnera
While on large topics it is hard to forget that the ponderous shadow of Primo Carnera will appear on the boxing horizon again this year. How about a match for the obesity championship between Hogan, Wilson and Carnera? By the way, did you know that Primo has a great way with a peanut or a banana?

35 Cents an Hour
If a colored boy flashes across the line winner in one of the Olympic sprint events this summer, do not be surprised. His name will be Ralph Metcalfe, who at the moment is working around the gymnasium at Marquette University, at a stipend of 35 cents an hour.

The Friendly Game
A recent publicity dispatch from Notre Dame helped to brighten the day. It was: "Coach Hearty Anderson today expressed satisfaction with the showing of his team and predicted a fair season next fall. Play was ragged in spots, but Anderson said this to the hot weather and the friendly nature of the game." Of course when the Irish start becoming unfriendly, you may be sure the football season is under way.

Discovery
Disturbing tidings are wafted from the coast where it seems there is a runner named Bob Kiesel of the University of California who does not like to run. Kiesel admits he went out for track because his parents and friends told him he ought to do something for the dear old school. He does not want to run in the Olympic games because he does not see much fun in running. Well, I guess you can't send a man to San Quentin for that.

These Falls
Have you noticed how hot those Falls have been this year? After taking the Athletics in the spring city series, they started burning up the National League. But then a team with a pitcher named Reginald Grabowski may be expected to accomplish almost anything at that, I guess.

All the baseball prognosticators are hating their rights under a bunch of these days with the hope well-remembered. Wouldn't it be uproarious if the world series of 1932 should be staged between Detroit and Cincinnati?

Over 1,000 Golfers Entered in "Open"

New York, May 20.—(AP)—The United States Golf Association has completed arrangements for the sectional qualifying rounds of both the National Open and Amateur Championships.

For the open, to be played at the Fresh Meadow Country Club, Flushing, Long Island, June 23, 24 and 25, sectional qualifying rounds will be conducted in 20 cities on June 6.

When the lists closed, a total of 1010 golfers, 181 fewer than a year ago, had entered the open. Of these 32 are exempt from the qualifying tests. These include the 30 low scorers of the 1931 open and two foreign stars, Jose Jurado of Argentina and Tomokichi Miyamoto of Japan. The other 978 entrants will battle for 118 places in the field in the sectional qualifying rounds.

PLAY TIE GAME
In what was one of the greatest hitting duels ever seen in Junior baseball, the Lucky Strikes and the Old Golds played nine full innings with no score last night at the Charter Oak street field.

The Lucky Strikes had three men on bases on the fourth and sixth innings but Kloman pulled himself out of the hole like a veteran. McClure and Kloman each had sixteen strikeouts to his credit. Both teams are deadlocked for first place in the league. The game will be replayed later in the season.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 20.—(AP)—Pittsburgh and Brooklyn baseball clubs meet on the verge of a trade involving the hottest pitcher in the game of Pittsburgh.

Negotiations have been under way for several days and nothing has been given that definite announcement would be made today.

Friday night at Murphy's Alley the Boston mixed double teams will bowl against Manchester. At present Mac Sherman and Charlie Roberts are leading in the season.

BAT, PETROLLE EAGER TO FIRE

Chicago, May 20.—(AP)—Episcopo Typo of Billy Petrolle's and Bat Battalino's blood and thunder fight show will be presented in the Chicago Stadium tonight.

The pair of rough Italian boys staged Episcopo One in Madison Square Garden last winter, Petrolle winning by a technical knockout in the seventh and last round. Tonight's showing is billed for ten rounds, and both have made the usual predictions that the bout will not go the limit.

Petrolle was a 7 to 5 and 3 to 5 choice.

The bout shapes up as another one of those "crucial" affairs, especially for Battalino. After a term as world featherweight champion, the Hartford youngster made a raid into the lightweight ranks to knock out Al Singer. He tried to take care of his featherweight foe, but was unable to make the weight for bouts with Lou Feldman and Freddie Miller, losing his title by official edicts of the National Boxing Association and the New York Athletic Commission.

Successes in heavier divisions followed until he met Petrolle. Petrolle almost knocked his nose off, and Bat is back to get even for that one, and prove that a championship contender.

Petrolle has been washed up two or three times, but always has come back just a little bit better each time. He never has held a title, but the big reason probably being the fact that he has not had a crack at a championship. In his latest comeback, he has won one and lost two with Jimmy McLarnie, and another with Billy Townsend, and Justo Suarez, and Eddie Ran, and stopped Battalino.

Both boxers are after a chance at the lightweight championship, held by another Italian Tony Canzoneri, and the stadium has promised the winning the opportunity.

Around 15,000 spectators were expected to sit in the stadium's red seats.

ANNOUNCE AMATEUR CARD FOR CRYSTAL
Announcement was received this morning that the C. D. K. club of Rockville has signed five state champions for its card to feature the opening of the new boxing arena at Sandy Beach, Crystal Lake, Rockville next Tuesday night when an all star card of twelve bouts will present one of the finest arrays of boxers ever brought together on any one card in the state.

Steve Carr will meet Milky Russell; Jimmy Brit has been matched with Paul Jones of Worcester; Frankie Vozolo will box George Parker of Worcester; Jack LaSalle will meet Jimmie Angelo of Worcester and Jackie Horner and Charlie Shimkus are matched in a return bout. In addition to these five feature bouts, there will be seven preliminary matches in which will appear Tommy Tucker, Jack Williams, Roy Winters, Peter Burke, Eddie Manning, Jerry Varry, Mike Murphy, Kid Leppard, Johnnie Mack, Johnnie Wilson, George Halliday and several other talented Connecticut fighters.

The Connecticut Company will run buses to the arena Tuesday night to accommodate sport fans who desire to attend and will also make return trips after the show, leaving the arena in time to make Hartford and Manchester bound busses at Rockville.

Johnson's Forces Rally To Stave Off Defeat In Each of Crucial Games

Washington Skipper Attributes New York's Downfall To Poor Pitching; Wahlberg Useless To Athletics.

New York, May 20.—(AP)—The victory locker room in the Yankee Stadium was full of steam from showerbaths, and howling, excited, naked savages. Only one man was in full, philosophical control of his senses as he sat, naked as the rest, squatting like Mahatma Gandhi, on the top of a baggage trunk.

He was talking about the New York Yankees, the current hysteria of the American League, who had just been made to look very bad indeed, losing both ends of a doubleheader to Johnson's Senators, 3-6 and 12-7.

The Yankees have been getting great pitching in their winning streak so they looked immense. Then the pitching goes bad, like it did there today. And they look like any other ball club, only worse.

But don't let it fool you. They'll look good again when they get the pitching, and just how much pitching they're going to get over a full season is what's going to determine how high they stay. They can't win unless some of their young pitchers come through. Brute strength won't get the Yankees by.

The great lighthander of another decade paused just long enough to see if any of his gleeful athletes had overlooked a vacant sweater. But no one had.

Fitching Important
"Of course we can't win without pitching, either," he continued, "and the Athletics are in the same boat. We all look good when the boys are turning the batters back for us. And we look terrible when they don't."

"I don't figure much on what's happening right now because it'll be pretty far behind by the time August comes around. I think we've got a better club than the A's. I know we're a better all-around team among these Yankees—better balanced, better defensively and equipped with better pitching for a season grind."

Walberg Useless
Connie Mack, able leader of the Athletics, appears to have lost hope that Ruben Walberg, the big lighthander who won twenty games for him last year, will recover his winning form and be of any material assistance in the current flag race.

Walberg has started five games, been knocked out of the box the same number of times and thus far is charged with four losses and no wins.

Mack, as a result, has about quit starting his former star and has fallen back on Grove, Earnshaw and Mahaffey to carry the burden. Only once in the last three weeks has Walberg been given a starting assignment, and that time he was crowned by Cleveland. The rookie, Merritt Cain, was regarded as a possible replacement for Walberg in rounding out the staff's "big four" but he failed when given a starting

Washington Skipper Attributes New York's Downfall To Poor Pitching; Wahlberg Useless To Athletics.

Forty-nine thousand fans suffered at Yankee Stadium as the Washington Senators won both ends of a doubleheader, 3-6 and 12-7, and went into a virtual tie with the Yanks for the league lead. The Senators lead by half a game in games won and lost but trail by four points in percentage. In both games the slogging Senators came from behind with a murderous attack in the late innings. Helme Manush's double, which stopped past Earle Combs and kept rolling, gave Washington the winning runs in the tenth inning of the first game. Babe Ruth hit his eighth homer in the nightcap.

Erleigh Grimes was hit hard but silenced Cincinnati's grand in the pines as the Chicago Cubs went 12 innings to win 4-3, and increase their lead in the National. Riggs Stephenson was the winner's batting hero, his double driving in the tying run and averting defeat in the tenth and his single putting Ribbourn across with the winning score in the 12th.

The Pittsburgh Pirates got to Joe Shaute and Jack Quinn for two runs in the last of the eighth, to edge out Brooklyn in their final game 3-2.

Half of the clubs in each league spent the day traveling.

THIS MAN ROOSEVELT

A Close-up of New York's Governor and Background of Race for Nomination

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT ATTENDED HIS WEDDING AND GAVE THE BRIDE IN MARRIAGE

SHIP MODELS ARE HIS HOBBY

PLACED AL SMITH'S NAME BEFORE THE CONVENTION AT NEW YORK IN 1924 AND AGAIN AT HOUSTON IN 1928

No longer playing the role of a John Alden, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, shown above, now asks the Democratic party to give him the presidential nomination which he has sought twice in the past for his former bosom friend, Al Smith. The sketches illustrate incidents in Governor Roosevelt's career and his hobby, which he has pursued since boyhood, which has given him the finest collection of ship models and private naval libraries in the world.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Herald herewith begins a series of six intimate stories on the three outstanding aspirants for the Democratic presidential nomination, written by staff writers for The Herald and NEA Service. Today and tomorrow, Robert Talley tells of Franklin D. Roosevelt; Monday and Tuesday, Rodger Ditcher will tell of Speaker Jack Garner and on Wednesday and Thursday Dexter Teed will discuss Al Smith.

(Copyright 1932, by NEA Service) Albany, N. Y., May 20.—Four years ago the state of New York offered to the nation as a presidential candidate a governor who had been born amid the poverty of Manhattan's East Side, grown up as a newsboy on the sidewalks of New York and worked at his first job in the smelly precincts of the Fulton fish market. That governor, of course, was Alfred E. Smith. Today the state of New York offers for the same high office another governor, who was born of one of the first families of the state, reared in the lap of luxury, educated by private tutors and at Harvard and whose wedding was attended by a president of the United States.

The new candidate of course, is Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, now serving his second two-year term at the state capitol here.

Such is the colorful contrast in the lives of the Empire State's two most recent governors and between whom—until they broke—just recently—a Damon-and-Pythias friendship had existed since they entered politics together in the New York legislature 20 years ago.

Fifty years old, tall, broad-shouldered, deep-chested and blessed with a winning smile, Governor Roosevelt is one of the busiest men in Albany.

His average day begins at 3 a. m. when he wakes, breakfasts in bed and the newspapers are brought to him to read there.

After going over his personal mail with a stenographer, he dons a dressing gown and rises to greet political associates.

At 10, he goes to the state house and his round of appointments begins. There is time out for lunch served at his desk—and then the series of conferences is resumed until 5 p. m.

He goes home, swims for 15 minutes in a private pool that has been built in one of the conservatories of the executive mansion, takes a short nap and then dresses for dinner. There are always dinner guests—from five to 25 in number.

After dinner, he reads the newspapers, works on speeches, messages and pardon applications and then piles into bed to read detective stories until midnight.

The story of the Roosevelts in New York—meaning the governor's ancestors—goes back to the year 1644 when Claes Martenszen van Roosevelt and his brothers came over from Holland and settled along the Hudson river.

From this line came President Theodore Roosevelt, a fifth cousin of the governor, and also the governor's wife, formerly Miss Anne Eleanor Roosevelt. She was a niece of the president and also Governor Roosevelt's sixth cousin.

So it happened that when Franklin D. Roosevelt and Anne Eleanor Roosevelt were married at his home in Hyde Park, N. Y., in 1905, they were sixth cousins.

Roosevelt attended the ceremony and gave away the bride. One of the bridesmaids was Alice Roosevelt, now Mrs. Nicholas Longworth.

"Well," said the famous "Teddy" as he beamed on his distant cousin and his young niece, "I'm glad you are keeping the name in the family, anyway!"

All the Roosevelts were Democrats except the president's line. "T. R.'s" own father left the party and joined the Republican ranks during the Civil War.

On the 500-acre Dutchess county estate of his father—who was vice president of the Delaware & Hudson railroad—Franklin Delano Roosevelt was born on Jan. 30, 1882.

Amid wealth and plenty, the boy grew to young manhood. He had French and German governesses and private tutors, spent his vacations at his father's summer home in Maine.

The governor's earliest recollection concerns a storm at sea while returning from a visit to Europe with his parents on the White Star liner Germanic.

As Franklin Roosevelt grew older, he spent several summers touring Europe on a bicycle with a private tutor.

Later, he went to Groton, a fashionable school for boys. In 1900, he entered Harvard at the age of 18. He played football on the freshman team, rowed with the freshman crew and became editor of the Crimson.

After he was graduated from Harvard in 1904 he was married the following March while attending Columbia University law school. At the close of the school year, he and his bride went to Europe on a belated honeymoon.

In 1910, Roosevelt gave up the practice of law to run the state legislature which held out for many weeks and finally defeated Sheehan. Roosevelt had hardly entered the Legislature when he began his famous fight against "Blue-eyed Billy" Sheehan, Buffalo Democratic boss, who was Tammany Hall's candidate for United States Senator. Roosevelt charged Sheehan was too close to "the interests."

Defying Tammany he organized a filibuster which held out for many weeks and finally defeated Sheehan. In the Legislature, Roosevelt met Al Smith, who had come up from New York as an assemblyman and the long friendship between them began.

In March, 1913, President Wilson appointed Roosevelt assistant secretary of the navy under Secretary Josephus Daniels.

He held this post throughout the World War, handling most of the navy's huge purchases of supplies. He is given credit for the idea that brought the North Sea mine barrage, a chain of mines 240 miles long, laid to stop German submarines.

In 1920, Roosevelt was nominated as the Democratic vice presidential candidate, made the campaign with Cox and went down to defeat in the Harding landslide.

Less than a year later—in August, 1921—Roosevelt suffered the great tragedy of his life. He was spending his vacation at his summer home in Campobello, N. Y., when he contracted polio.

ROOSEVELT'S LIFE IN BRIEF

1882—Born at Hyde Park, N. Y., on Jan. 30.
1904—Graduated from Harvard.
1905—Married Anna Eleanor Roosevelt, a niece of President Theodore Roosevelt, who, also, was Franklin Roosevelt's fifth cousin.
1907—Graduated from Columbia University Law School.
1910—Elected to state Senate of New York.
1913—Appointed assistant secretary of the navy by President Wilson.
1920—Ran for vice president on Democratic ticket and was defeated.
1921—Stricken with infantile paralysis.
1924—Placed Al Smith's name before New York convention as candidate for presidential nomination.
1928—Placed Smith's name before Houston convention as candidate for president.
1928—Elected governor of New York.
1930—Re-elected governor of New York.
1932—Candidate for presidential nomination.

and had gone for a swim. Returning he sat down in his wet bathing suit to read his mail.

That night he was taken ill. By morning, he was paralyzed from the hips down. Doctors pronounced it infantile paralysis. From that day to this he has been a cripple.

He spent weary months as an invalid before he regained even the partial use of his limbs. Gradually, however, improvement came. He began to walk with the aid of leg braces and crutches, then a pair of canes. Today, he uses only one cane.

Except for leaving him a cripple, the malady has not affected him. He is in excellent health today and as the result of a great deal of swimming—an exercise that the doctors prescribe—he has a chest expansion greater than that of Jack Dempsey. Two years ago, life insurance companies issued him $500,000 insurance at the regular rate.

In 1924, Roosevelt appeared on a platform at Madison Square Garden and made the speech that placed Al Smith's name in nomination as Democratic candidate for president.

Four years later, leaning heavily on two canes, he did the same thing for his old friend at Houston.

In 1920, he had seconded Smith and Smith had seconded him for the vice presidential nomination at San Francisco.

In 1928, when Smith was running for the presidency, he drafted Roosevelt to run for governor of New York. After hesitating because of his physical condition, Roosevelt finally consented.

He won and two years later he was elected for his second term, which will expire Jan. 1, 1933.

So ends the story of the strange friendship of 20 years standing between the governor who came up from the sidewalks of New York via the Fulton fish market, and the governor who was born of one of the state's first families and came up through Harvard.

Damon and Pythias were never any closer than these two sons of wealth and poverty until they parted friendship during the present campaign which finds both of them seeking the presidency.

NEXT: Where Roosevelt stands on issues of the 1932 presidential campaign and what he has seen during his two terms as governor of New York... an intimate close-up of today's leading contender for the Democratic nomination.

(Note: These two stories on Roosevelt will be followed by similar stories on Speaker Jack Garner and Al Smith.)

A penny saved used to be a penny made. It is now a penny earned.

DISCOVER DOPE RING

Boston, May 20.—(AP)—Undercover authorities believe that the arrest here last night of three Chinese, one a woman, may result in the smashing of a drug ring operating in Boston and New York.

The trio pleaded guilty to charges of violation of the narcotics law.

A fourth Chinese was found guilty by a Federal Court jury, sitting in night session, and two others, both Chinese, who entered no pleas were put on probation for two years by Judge James M. Morton, Jr., subject to immediate deportation should they break the terms of their probation.

The success of the roundup was attributed by U. S. attorneys to Arnold C. Lachman, 37-year-old narcotics officer, who roamed the Chinese quarters of Boston, New York and Providence, R. I., seeking evidence.

His first major clue was obtained through a letter written in Chinese which the agent got from a prisoner at Deer Island. The letter led to the Boston arrests.

Queer Twists In Day's News

Detroit—Some 95 bargain-hunting movie fans are out a nickel a piece and a lot of patience. A long-closed theater was all lighted up, freshly painted signs said "seats five cents" and a smiling young cashier was at the ticket window. Another youth took tickets and a third unshaven man to seats. After they sat there an hour a policeman explained how three boys had broken into the theater, switched on the lights, collected the nickels and decamped.

Washington—Those who cannot see it will be let off with a recitation of the words, but Representative Fulmer wants all government employees to know The Star Spangled Banner. He has introduced a resolution to that effect.

Los Angeles—Free fried fish for famished folks. Also fauetts free from finny flavor. Water works officials say fish in the city reservoir are becoming so numerous that there is danger of pollution. It is planned to seize them out and distribute them among the hungry.

San Diego, Calif.—A sea-going fox has met the fate of all pirates. Captain George Stevens saw a stow-away reynard trying to steal a chicken out of the cargo of the motorship Molokai. He called all hands. The fox lunged forward and aft until the thief was brought to book in the galley.

Chicago—Dean W. W. Whitehouse of Albion college believes couples should become acquainted before they marry. To that end he has proposed a "Know-Your-Own-Mate" week during which data on health, family background, education, earning ability, sense of humor, taste and temperament should be traded up.

Boston—Judge Elijah Allen placed a gag on a probation for obscenity teacher and suggested if he wanted to set down in public, he try the Common. "You deprive a lot of others of their living by sitting up there," the court said, "while they cringe their necks wondering why you roost up there on high, a peepcock goes through their pockets."

New York—Dr. Thomas W. F. Cann, British explorer, is back from Guatemala with a talk about some "Uncle Sam" Indians. He calls them that because they wear red and white striped trousers and dark frock coats with tails. But there the resemblance seems to end for the Indians are hostile to strangers, practice black magic and worship snakes.

Victoria, B. C.—A hunger strike has been broken. When officials of the British Columbia Protestant orphanage took their ten-year-old girl leader away, at other children of the Sons of Freedom fell to their rations with a will.

U. S. BANK RESTRICTIONS

The principal institutions which will be the National City Bank of New York, which was a branch here, and the Bank of Montreal and the Canadian Bank of Commerce, which have banks in Mexico City and numerous branches throughout the country.

The law provides that foreign banks and credit institutions which receive deposits on thirty days or more or less must be associated with the Bank of Mexico by the purchase of its shares.

It also provides that foreign banks or branches of foreign banks shall not receive savings deposits or act as trust institutions, issue mortgage or cash bonds, obligations, certificates of deposit or pledged bonds.

All deposits in Mexican currency, except those deposited in the Bank of Mexico or other credit institutions in Mexico, must be invested within the country, under the new law, in the same type of currency.

NO PREMIER YET

Tokyo, May 20.—(AP)—Pressure by influential military elements, backed by strong non-political forces, delayed today the approval of a coalition Cabinet for Japan.

The opposition, developing unexpectedly after a compromise had been arranged between Riisuro Sasaki, Sanyukai Party leader, and General Sadao Araki, minister of war, made it necessary for Prince Satomi, Japan's veteran elder statesman, to extend his conference another day.

It was announced he would make no recommendation of the choice of a new premier to Emperor Hirohito until tomorrow.

SUMMER COURSES AT TRADE SCHOOL

Intensive Training Planned For High and Grade Graduate Students.

An intensive short unit summer course will be offered by the Manchester Trade school from June 27 to August 19 inclusive for high school and eighth grade graduate students. It was announced today by Director J. G. Echmalian. The course will include study in architectural and mechanical drawing, silk textiles, general textiles, machine shop, tool making, carpentry and electrical operations.

All courses are free and are designed to meet specific needs, they are broad enough to provide for future development along any line the individual may follow. Mr. Echmalian stated, adding that they are of especial benefit to high school graduates who are temporarily unable to find employment. The courses being prepared feature a quoting from Abraham Lincoln, "I will study and prepare myself and some day my chance will come." Certificates will be granted those completing the course.

A. S. Boynton, director of vocational education in Connecticut, may be the principal speaker at the annual graduation exercises of the Trade School set for 8 o'clock the evening of June 23. More than 30 students are expected to receive diplomas. Class officers will be elected next Monday. The enrollment of the graduating class is slightly larger than a year ago but with the steady increase in the lower classes the graduation number will be much larger in a few years.

The State Trade school faculty is in a happy mood over its recent victory over the High school faculty in a golf match at the Manchester Country Club. Led by Director Echmalian who shot an 89, going out in the creditable total of 41, much to the chagrin of T. F. Kelley, high school captain, the Trade school scored a decisive victory. Taking part besides Echmalian and Kelley were Frank Crowley vs Phil Emery, Alex McBride vs C. L. Robinson and Frank Bush vs Chester Robinson. It is understood that the H. S. may file a feeble protest over the use of Bush on the Trade team claiming that the boxing and swimming instructor is not a bona fide member of either team, but Echmalian says his team could have won with only three men for all the opposition they received. Some of the losing players say the Trade captain resorted to preferred lies in the rough as well as on the fairway.

GREEN COMUNITY CLUB ENTERTAINS TONIGHT

Full Program Planned—Vaudeville To Follow Club's Annual Meeting.

The Manchester Green Community club has a full program for this evening at the Green school assembly hall. At 7:30 the annual meeting with election of officers will take place. At 8:15 a vaudeville entertainment will be given, featuring the original play, "Schooldays" by a cast of 11, two other five-minute sketches, directed by Miss Gladys Spencer, also recitations and music.

Another novelty in an evening program will be a lengthy recitation by Shirley Glemson, four-year-old niece of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Spencer. Marjorie Inman will recite "What William Henry Did" and follow it with "Kerchoo." Marjorie Wallace will appear in modern songs and dances. One of her selections will be an imitation of Maurice Chevalier.

Principal Mabel Lemphear of the Green school will present the school chorus in a group of favorites, such as "Way Down Upon the Swanes River," "My Old Kentucky Home," and others.

Miss Margaret Spring, one of the teachers, will take part in the farce, "While You Wait," with Hans Jensen and Miss Gladys Spencer; the other sketch, "Big Business" will be presented by Miss Spencer, Louis Moore and Hans Jensen.

Mrs. Daniel Gleason and John Jensen, president of the Community club will see to the refreshments. General dancing will follow to music by such well known musicians as Fred Werner, pianist, and William Munroe, violinist. This will probably be the last dance of the season under auspices of the Manchester Green Community club.

CONGRESSMAN HUET

Washington, May 20.—(AP)—Representative Francis Seiberling, (R., Ohio), was painfully but not seriously injured today when his automobile was struck by another machine.

His collar bone was broken and his forehead and a knee were injured. He was taken to emergency hospital for treatment. He is 62 years old.

Police arrested Frank L. Cope of Clarendon, Va., who operated the other car, and charged him with reckless driving.

LUTHER LEAGUE CHANGES ITS MEETINGS SCHEDULE

Revision Made Necessary Because of New England Conference Here On June 25 and 26.

The schedule of June meetings of the Luther League of the Swedish Lutheran church was revised at the regular semi-monthly meeting of the League last night, because of the fact that the 16th annual convention of the New England Conference Luther League will be held here on June 25 and 26. It was voted to hold the next meeting, an outing to the Boy Scout camp in Glastonbury, on Friday, June 10, and a pre-convention meeting on Friday, June 17.

The one hundred per cent night and reception to the new confirmation class, scheduled for June 3, will be combined with the lawn social to be held on July 15. The next meeting will be in charge of Erik Modan and his athletic committee, and the June 17 meeting will be in charge of Miss Esther M. Johnson and her publicity committee. Word was received from Rev. Arthur O. Hjelm of Worcester, Mass., that he would be unable to visit here next month to speak on the convention.

The business session last night was in charge of Ivar Scott, vice president of the League, and was followed by one of the best programs presented at a meeting this year.

The program, arranged by Herman Johnson's camp and mission committee, opened with a vocal duet by Miss Emma Lou and Miss Joyce Kehler, who gave two selections, "The Little Tin Soldier" and "Dolls from France," encoored with a dialogue "Let's Pretend." The girls were attractively attired in military costume and were warmly applauded.

John Hutt played two violin solos, "The Racy March" and "Spring's Awakening," accompanied by Miss Lillian Hutt, and in his second group played selections from William Tell. Slides of life at the Luther League camp at Lake Winesaukee in New Hampshire were shown and it was announced that this year's camp would be held from July 3 to 17. The League is conducting a popularity contest, the winner of which will be awarded a week's stay at the camp. Miss Ruth Johnson is leading the contest with 155 votes and Miss Ida Anderson is second with 85 votes. The contest will close June 17.

David Hutchinson, bass soloist, rendered three numbers which were well received, "The Lost Chord," "Captain Moe" and "Mother O' Mine." He was accompanied by Miss Hutt. Following the program refreshments were served and a social hour was held.

FIND CADET'S BODY

West Point, N. Y., May 20.—(AP)—The body of Cadet Leo Adolph Skrein was found floating in the Hudson river late yesterday by fishermen, officials of the U. S. Military Academy announced today.

Cadet Skrein and Allen Jackson Light, both qualified swimmers, obtained permission on April 30 to go canoeing. They did not return, and that night a search was started, under direction of the Academy.

The canoe used by the cadets was found the next day filled with water. Apparently it had swamped and the cadets had tried to swim to shore. The body of Cadet Skrein was found off Cornwall landing.

Cadet Skrein's mother, Mrs. Russell Needham of Cass Lake, Minn., was notified last night.

HIGHEST AWARDS FOR SCOUTS HERE

Record Breaking Number To Be Given At Honor Court Session Monday.

The largest number of high scouting awards in the history of Manchester District, Boy Scouts of America, will be made at the monthly session of the Court of Honor, to be held at the Second Congregational church at the north end on Monday evening, May 23, at 7:30 o'clock. At that time, Kingsley French of Troop 3 of the Center Congregational church will be examined for the Eagle Scout badge and other awards will include a bronze Eagle Palm, three Life Scout badges and five Star Scout badges.

The Palm, awarded to five merit scouts, will be presented to Richard Smith of Troop 1, the Life Scout badge to William Barrett of Troop 2 and Cutler Hale and Ray Olson, both of Troop 3, and Stephen School, Troop 5, of the First Congregational church. The Court of Honor will be presided over by the Scoutmaster, John Johnson and Raymond Johnson, all of Troop 3. The fifty merit badges will be awarded for proficiency in seventeen different subjects.

The Court of Honor will be guests of Troop 1, and following the meeting, the troop, under Scoutmaster Elyden Garwood, will present a motion picture program of interest to all Scouts and their friends.

RESCUE STILL THRAPPED

Tipton, Ohio, May 20.—(AP)—Workmen delayed nearly 24 hours by bitter cold weather and heavy rains, continued today their frantic efforts to reach fifty men buried in the Lee's Races tunnel by a landslide.

Rescue operations were halted late yesterday by mud, rain and water clogged machinery and a riot broke out as onlookers, many of them frenzied relatives of the entombed men, crashed through the guard lines and surged up to the blocked tunnel entrance.

A force of Carabeneers put down the disorder. Leaders of the rescue crew said it probably would be late today before they succeeded in reaching the men.

STYLES IN FURNITURE NOT CHINESE PUZZLE

So Says C. Elmore Watkins In Commenting On New Government Booklet.

The matter of style in furniture is not a Chinese puzzle, as many persons imagine, but is relatively simple according to C. Elmore Watkins of this town, member of the National Committee on Wood Utilization of the Department of Commerce, and furniture authority.

"Plain common sense is the principal requisite for choosing furniture of good design, and the same attribute is needed for harmonious arrangement," Mr. Watkins pointed out. "Very few persons with rooms interpreted entirely in the styles of only one of the old masters among the furniture designers of history, a room is likely to be more interesting if it combines styles which are harmonious yet possess subtle differences. The contour of the pieces, the delicacy of the proportions, and the matching or contrasting shades of color employed are the factors to seek in an attractively furnished room."

"Furthermore, every room should be useful, rather than a display place or museum. Cabinets must contain sufficient storage space to justify their existence. All furniture should be placed where it will not impede the usual 'traffic lanes' for nothing is so annoying as to be compelled continually to dodge either and you to avoid collisions with obstructing pieces."

TO PRESENT POLISH PLAY SUNDAY NIGHT

"Kathryn's Wedding", is the title of the play that will be given Sunday evening at 7:30 in the Polish Hall on North street.

The story of the play is that of an orphan girl whose mother was captured by a band of gypsies. Shortly afterwards her mother died and sixteen years later the girl made her escape. Making her way back to her own people she meets and falls in love with a youth. There is objection to their marriage because she is considered below him, but the appearance of the grandmother who vouches for the truth of the girl's birth clears the way and the marriage is held with much rejoicing.

Miss Marion Tinker Has Unusual Experience On Return Trip To Philadelphia From Here.

Miss Marion Tinker, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Tinker of Park street, tells in a letter that she wrote from Philadelphia of the unusual experience she had while returning to Philadelphia from a week end visit with her parents in Manchester.

Her car had been caused by a fire blowing out and that the occupants of the car were pinned under the car. She started in to give assistance and found that a boy, who was a passenger in the car had been injured and had two broken arms. Being a nurse she gave first aid. Miss Tinker, after putting two injured persons into her car, arranged for help for the others and took the two to a hospital and then continued on to Philadelphia.

PRESCRIPTION RACKET

Hartford, May 20.—(AP)—Arrest warrants were issued by the Hartford Police and the Federal authorities started an independent investigation when Prosecuting Attorney Wilson C. Jaines learned today that Manuel Swaye, 31, of 98 Oakland Terrace, in a formal statement to detectives, had told about having been able to obtain seventy two liquor prescriptions from local doctors in a short space of time.

ABOUT TOWN

A barred owl captured by Alex Duncan, caretaker of the East cemetery and placed on exhibition in the window of the F. T. Blush Hardware Company, failed to survive the effects of captivity. Few owls survive captivity as they will not eat while under restraint.

The Young People's Society of the German Concordia Lutheran church will be hosts to the New Britain and Terryville societies tonight at the local church. All members are urged to attend.

The chairman of the benefit concert sponsored by the joint poppy sale committee is desirous that all returns on tickets sold be made as soon as possible.

About 80 boys, members of the various Y. M. C. A. high school clubs, attended the final meeting of the group last evening at the Y and listened to an interesting talk on China by Frank B. Lenz of the national council of the Y. M. C. A. Articles from China were exhibited.

The Center Church Women's Federation has set the date of May 25 for an outing at Mrs. Clifford Cheney's bungalow on Mountain Road, Glastonbury. Mrs. J. C. Robinson will have charge of transportation, the plan being to arrive at the bungalow at 2:30, and at 6 o'clock the teachers of Center church school will picnic at the same place. The women will provide their own basket lunches and coffee will be served. The committee for the teachers' outing includes Mr. and Mrs. R. A. St. Laurent, Mrs. Sedrick Straughan, Miss Minnie Church, Miss Esther Sutherland, Miss Glenna Denton and Miss Jean Williams.

The final spring meeting of the Leaders Club will be held at the Y Monday evening after the league baseball game. All planning to attend are asked to notify Andrew Fiedler or W. H. Fetherbridge.

The condition of Mrs. Mary A. Irons of 81 Hazel street, who has been sick for the past three weeks with pneumonia is still serious. Mrs. Irons is attended by night and day nurses.

$5 Gold Piece Door Prize.

Comparatively few changes are anticipated in teaching personnel of Manchester's outlying districts. From the general impression gained by school officials, practically all of the teachers will return signed contracts. Marriage is responsible for whatever changes are made in the staff.

A committee consisting of John Hardington, Mrs. Francis Handley, William Griffin, George Kelley, Mrs. John Gleason, Miss Mary McGuire, Mrs. Margaret Charlier and Matthew Mers have been named to arrange for a whist to be given in the basement of St. Bridget's church on Monday evening. It is proposed to have representation of all the different societies in the church to make it one of the largest card parties yet held in the church.

The tulips and lilacs surrounding the Municipal building are in full bloom this week. Special attention has been given the lawns and shrubbery this spring and the front entrance of the building is one of the best sights in town.

The Solicitations Approval Committee of the Chamber of Commerce has approved two advertising programs this week, including the program to be issued in connection with the state convention and field day of the Loyal Order of Moose, to be held here on June 24 and 25. The magazine printed by the Wapping grammar school at graduation each year was the other program approved.

a demand for credit for financing of small homes. Another possibility suggested was the extension of credit to farm loan banks in order that these institutions might more freely grant accommodation to the agricultural districts.

The membership of the committee, as announced by Mr. Harrison, follows:
Owen D. Young, chairman, General Electric Company, chairman.
Mortimer N. Buckner, chairman, New York Trust Company.
Floyd L. Carlisle, chairman, Consolidated Gas Company.
Walter C. Teagle, president, American Telephone and Telegraph Company.
Charles E. Mitchell, chairman, National City Bank.
William C. Potter, president, Guaranty Trust Company.
Jackson E. Reynolds, president, First National Bank.
Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president, General Motors Corporation.
Walter C. Teagle, president, Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.
A. T. Tinsley, chairman, Bankers Trust Company.
Albert H. Wiggin, chairman of governing board, Chase National Bank.
Clarence M. Woolley, chairman, American Radiator and Standard Sanitary Corporation.

Banking authorities say one of the chief difficulties in the way of the rapid and successful operation of the Federal Reserve's credit expansion has been the concentration of funds in New York, principally because bankers in other parts of the country either are unwilling or are unable to make use of their funds.

Mostly in New York. As the Federal Reserve has purchased "government" securities put into the market have tended to concentrate in New York, even though much of the securities purchased by the board have been sold by banks in other parts of the country. Many interior banks wishing to dispose of some of their "government" will sell them through New York, it was said, and then leave the funds on deposit rather than recall them.

In the face of this piling up of idle money here, New York bankers have had great difficulty in finding employment for money. It was suggested the new financial committee, providing leadership of the strongest character, will be able to devise some means to make this huge surplus available where it is most needed, by recommending to banks worthy outlets for the money, by supplying the leadership needed to oppose unsound legislative plans and by putting forward sound ones.

URGE RESERVATIONS FOR CHAMBER DINNER

Coming in Slowly and None Will Be Accepted After Next Week Tuesday.

Reservations are coming in slowly for the final all-membership meeting of the Chamber of Commerce until September, to be held next Wednesday evening at the State Trade School. Members are requested to make their reservations as soon as possible and none will be received later than Tuesday. The speaker at this meeting will be Herman S. Hall, state supervisor of industrial and vocational guidance. Dinner will be served by the Trade School faculty and student body, and will include old-fashioned roast beef and strawberry short cake. A tour of inspection of the school will also be made.

GIVE SCHOOL TEACHER SURPRISE SHOWER PARTY

Miss Doris Appleby, Soon To Be Married, Receives Many Gifts From Her Friends.

Miss Doris Appleby, a teacher in the Nathan Hale school and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Appleby of 220 Center street, was last night given a surprise kitchen shower at the home of Mrs. Irving Keough of 105 Wadsworth street extension. Mrs. Keough had arranged for a gathering of the friends of Miss Appleby to be at her home early last evening and Mrs. Appleby, on invitation of Mrs. Keough, was invited to spend the evening. She was unaware of the arrangements, and on entering the home of Mrs. Keough found the gathering of friends. The presents which were all for kitchen use were opened and presented and which followed which in turn was followed by refreshments. Miss Appleby leaves her position as a teacher in the Nathan Hale school this afternoon and on Saturday, June 4, is to be married to Ralph H. Clarke of Pittsfield, Mass.

Dr. McCoy's menus suggested for the week beginning Sunday, May 22.

Sunday
Breakfast—Eggs poached in milk, served on Melba toast, stewed figs.
Lunch—Escalloped potatoes, asparagus, salad of head lettuce.
Dinner—Baked chicken, Shredded Wheat Biscuit dressing, Buttered beans, Spinach, Salad of raw celery, Pineapple sponge.

Monday
Breakfast—Crisp waffle, with a little maple syrup, One coddled egg.
Lunch—Fruit of buttermilk, 10 or 12 dates.
Dinner—Minced chicken in tomato jelly (chicken left from Sunday), Fresh green peas, Cooked greens, Salad of grated carrots, Cup custard.

Tuesday
Breakfast—Whole wheat muffins, with peanut butter, Stewed prunes.
Lunch—Stewed tomatoes, Baked egg plant, Salad of raw spinach.
Dinner—Vegetable soup, Roast beef, string beans, mashed turnips, Salad of grated raw carrots on lettuce, Peach whip.

Wednesday
Breakfast—French omelet, Melba toast, Stewed prunes.
Lunch—Oranges as desired, Milk.
Dinner—Broiled fillet of sole, green peas, McCoy salad (tomatoes, cucumbers and lettuce) No dessert.

Thursday
Breakfast—Berries (canned and drained of all sugary juice) Glass of milk.
Lunch—Baked potato, cooked lettuce, ripe olives.
Dinner—Roast mutton, baked ground beef and carrots, Vegetable salad molded in gelatin, Ice cream.

Friday
Breakfast—Baked eggs, Re-toasted Shredded Wheat Biscuit; Pear sauce.
Lunch—Raw apples as desired, with handful of pecans.
Dinner—Baked fish (except salmon); Asparagus; salad of sliced tomatoes; Plain Jello or Jell-well, no cream.

Saturday
Breakfast—Cottage cheese; Pineapple; Re-toasted Biscuit.
Lunch—Spaghetti, boiled in plain water and seasoned only with butter. String beans, Salad of raw celery.
Dinner—Roast pork; Cooked spinach; Steamed carrots; Salad of natural fruit sugar, and apples prepared in this manner are much superior in flavor and food value to those which are hurriedly boiled on top of the stove, and to which sugar and water are added.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
(Appendicitis Operation)
Question: Miss Neva D. writes: "I recently had an operation for appendicitis and prolepsus of the internal organs, but don't seem to gain strength as I should. Also, have a constant fear that someone is going to harm me, although I really don't believe I have a real enemy. For hours at night I lie awake, almost afraid to turn in bed, and sometimes I walk all night from room to room, looking out first one door and another, watching for something, I don't know what. I am miserable. Can you help me?"

Answer: Your organs are probably prolepsed as badly as before and you have all the neuritic symptoms which go with a pressure of the prolepsed organs upon the uterus and ovaries. You certainly could be helped with the right treatment, but such treatment cannot be given through the columns of a newspaper. You need manipulative treatment of the abdomen, and exercising of the abdominal muscles to make these muscles strong so that they will hold the abdominal organs in place.

(Ptiomaine Poisoning)
Question: J. D. K. inquires: "Will you please tell me the principal source of ptiomaine poisoning?"
Answer: Ptiomaine poisoning is caused principally from using protein foods which have undergone a certain degree of putrefaction. This would include all the meats, also the dairy products and fish.

(Normal Blood Pressure)
Question: O. asks: "What is the normal blood pressure for a man of 70?"
Answer: For the adult, the normal blood pressure should be from 120 to 140 systolic. This should not increase much in those of advanced age, and should never go higher than 180.

Here is great news for sufferers from constipation. Read Mrs. Kennedy's voluntary letter:
"For about forty years I had been praying for a lasting remedy for constipation and its attending evils. To make it short, I ate nothing but ALL-BRAN and a little broth. Since that time (about ten years ago) I have not taken any medicine. Have been well and entirely free from constipation."
—Mrs. I. H. Kendig, R. F. D. No. 2, Lancaster, Penna.

SUFFERED FOR FORTY YEARS

Then One Lucky Day She Used Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in lettuce. Within the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears out the wastes. Isn't it much pleasanter to enjoy ALL-BRAN than to risk taking pills and drugs—so often harmful?
Two tablespoonsful daily will overcome most types of constipation. If you have intestinal trouble not relieved this way, see your doctor.
Serve as a cereal, or use in cooking. It is not habit-forming. Recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Constipation is caused by lack of two things in the diet: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines. Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract. Laboratory tests show ALL-BRAN furnishes both. ALL-BRAN also furnishes iron for the blood.

THEATERS

AT THE STATE
"The Amateur Daddy"
and
"Are You Listening?"
Continuing its new policy of presenting two features on every change of program, the attractions at the State tonight and Saturday are, Warner Baxter and Marian

Nixon in "The Amateur Daddy," and William Haines in "Are You Listening?"
"Amateur Daddy" is an adaptation of Mildred Cram's novel, "Scott Valley," and again presents Warner Baxter as a kindly bachelor who finds happiness through deeds of kindness to orphan waifs as he did in "Daddy Long Legs." It is absolutely the best family picture since the memorable "Daddy Long Legs." It is the delightful story of a shy and stamuch bachelor, who upon the death of a pal, takes it upon himself to mother his family. The family consists of four waifs, the oldest a girl of about eighteen, the next played by Marian Nixon. Soon the kindly bachelor finds himself in love with the beautiful Marian, and about the same time, discovers that he has been befriending the wrong family, the mistake being brought about by a similarity in names. Father, beautiful romance and clean wholesome humor make it an excellent attraction for every member of the family.

"Are You Listening?" proves that a broadcasting station is as good a locale for intense drama as any. This unusual radio story has been made into a picture that leaves little to be desired in the way of fast action, an alluring romance and plenty of diverting comedy episodes. William Haines is seen in a role that permits him to bring into play all of the ability that made him one of the screen's most popular players in the old silent days. He is supported by a cast which includes Madge Evans, Anita Page, Karan

Monty, Sam Houston, Juan Moore, Neil Hamilton and John Quinn. The program for Sunday, Monday and Tuesday will be headed by Edward G. Robinson in his very latest picture, "Two Seconds." The co-feature is Joan Bennett in "Careless Lady."
It took Maryland 200 years to make it lawful for a man to take his wife on Sunday. Now the day will give an hour so to how long it will take the world to change the Constitution.

SENSE AND NONSENSE

A DEPRESSION IS LIKE A BAD COUGH. WHEN YOU GET TIRED OF CROAKING AND FORGET IT, IT WALKS OFF.

A confirmed drinker awakened one morning to find a ferocious animal sitting at the foot of the bed, gnawing his arm. The scold, at first paralyzed with fear, finally regained his composure and said to the visitor: "You'd better do some thinking before you pitch into me. If you start getting rough, I'm going to take a couple of aspirins and sober up. Then where in hell will you be?"

NEVERTHELESS, A COW MAKES THE SAME NOISE AS A MICROPHONE AND GIVES MILK REBIDES.

The return of four per cent beer continues to be doubtful, but the dear people can cheer up on a two per cent sales tax.

It was a rare happening for the Beaulieu fire brigade to be called out, and when Amos Task's barn caught fire the brigade superintendent felt his position keenly.

Superintendent's Second in Command—Shall we turn on the hose? Superintendent—Not just yet, I think. Better let it turn up a little—then we shall see what we are doing.

WHEN AND WHERE YOU WERE BORN IS NOT NEARLY SO IMPORTANT AS WHAT YOU ARE GOING TO DO ABOUT IT.

A good many divorces are due to the fact that a man with no sense will insist on marrying a woman with no sense of humor.

A first grade teacher told her class to draw a hen with five little chicks. One of her pupils, Tommy, drew only the hen and one chick.

Teacher—Tommy, I told you to draw five chicks. You have only one. Where are the other four? Tommy—Why that's easy. Can't you even guess that? They're under the hen.

FEW KNOW HOW TO HANDLE DELICATE BRIC-A-BRAC, DYNAMITE AND PROSPERITY.

She-sez—I have no sympathy for a man who gets drunk every night. He-sez—A man who gets drunk every night doesn't need sympathy.

The height of some people's ambition seems to be to become the head of their lodge.

Judge—What weapon did you use to inflict these injuries? Patrick (proudly)—None, your honor. It was all hand work.

One place the English language is aptly expressive is in the use of the term "running into debt." We run into debt, but we dig out.

BLESSED IS THE MAN WHO APPRECIATES HIS OWN TIME TOO HIGHLY TO WASTE THE TIME OF SOMEONE ELSE.

Judge—Don't you think you and your husband could live together without fighting? Mrs. O'Reilly—No, your honor, not happily.

The real proof of a man's love is his willingness to refrain from flirting with another woman over your head, while you are in his arms.

A POLITICIAN NEVER LETS HIS PERSONAL CONVICTIONS STAND IN THE WAY OF POLITICAL EXPEDIENCY.

Teacher—Give me the past, present and future tense of the verb lay. Harold—Past lay, present set, future hatch.

A lady doctor says that a child should be made to face reality. But it would be very annoying for mother if she had to remove her make-up every time she kissed the little one goodnight.

TODAY IS THE WORLD WAR ANNIVERSARY

NEW DRAFT BILL

On May 20, 1918, a new selective draft bill was signed by President Wilson. The bill was designed to bring 744,866 additional men by June 15.

The bill provided that all young men who had reached the age of 21 since June 5, 1917, should register for draft.

France was highly successful on a two-mile front near Mont Kemmel. Massing a strong army, troops advanced on the German lines and took 400 prisoners before the Germans retreated.

Vengeance was the motive for this fierce French attack. Early in the morning and late the previous night German planes had massed four squadrons over French and British lines, and over a British hospital, and hundreds were killed and wounded.

ABOUT TOWN

Mrs. Ruth Crampton, principal of the Lincoln school, is in Madison today attending the funeral of her mother. Several other local teachers accompanied Miss Crampton.

A chimney fire at the home of Mrs. Mars J. Lynch, 109 Hill street, brought out Hose Company No. 2, S. M. F. D., at 11 o'clock yesterday morning.

All members of Washington Loyal Orange Lodge, No. 117, are asked to meet at Orange hall at 10:15 Sunday morning in order to march to the South Methodist church to attend the British-American Good Will service.

Boy Scouts of Troop 3, who with the other eight troops in town are making an effort in various ways to raise their quota within the next two weeks have reason to feel gratified that a group of 15 of the mothers, under the direction of Mrs. Franklin Dexter, have agreed to assist them by giving small card parties at their homes for the benefit of the troop. Already several have been held, and there are others to report to Mrs. Dexter, so that when the final results are in the Scouts will have practically sufficient for their payment to the Hartford Council an other necessary dues. David McComb is scoutmaster of this troop.

ORIGIN OF NAMES TO BE DISCUSSED

Kiwians To Have a Somewhat Different Program At Monday Meeting.

A different program is assured the members of the Kiwanis club at the regular Monday noon meeting at the Hotel Sheridan. The speaker will be Edwin H. Forbush, manager and educational director of the Price and Lee Company, publishers of Manchester's directory and that of numerous other towns and cities, which combines in the one book a classified directory of business, professional and social names, a street directory with the names of householders on a given street, the alphabetical directory which is indispensable to all having dealings with the general public, as well as a government list of town, county, state and federal officials. The company also maintains a directory library in New Haven, covering almost every community in America.

Mr. Forbush will take for his theme, "What's In a Name." He will also discuss the history and origin of the names of the Kiwanis present, and it behooves everybody to be on hand. Edward J. Hill will furnish the attendance prize.

LEAGUE'S FINANCE COMMITTEES TO MEET

Women Voters Group To Hold Annual Spring Field Day Wednesday At Cheshire.

The finance department of the Connecticut League of Women Voters will hold its annual spring field day on Wednesday, May 26, on the grounds of the State Reformatory at Cheshire. Mrs. George E. King, wife of the superintendent of the Reformatory, and the Cheshire League will be the hostesses. The meeting, which is called for eleven o'clock by Mrs. Otto G. Wiedman of Hartford, acting vice-president in charge of finance, is for the purpose of making the semi-annual check-up of the League's financial condition. Presidents, treasurers and finance chairmen of the fifty-seven local Leagues in the state are eligible to attend the meeting which will continue into the afternoon following a basket lunch. "In times like these," Mrs. Wiedman said in the call to the meeting, "when the attention of the country is turned to relief measures, we cannot afford to have the preventive work for good government, which is the particular work of the League, eclipsed."

YOUNG PEOPLE HONOR CHURCH DIRECTOR

Miss Doris M. Davis Who Concludes Services At Church Here Soon In Guest.

Miss Doris M. Davis, who is terminating her services as director of work among the young people of the South Methodist church in June, was the guest of honor at a surprise party given last evening at the home of Miss Gladys Harrison on Center street, by the young women who have been closely associated with her since coming here. Games and a buffet luncheon, and the unwrapping of personal gifts spent the time pleasantly.

Miss Davis will be graduated from the Hartford Seminary Foundation on Wednesday of next week. Since coming here she has made a host of friends in church circles and throughout the town. She has been active also in Girl Scout work and

GRADE PUPILS HOLD ANNUAL CONTESTS

Competition Between Schools Keen—Each School Room Allowed Two Representatives.

The annual grade contests among the schools of Districts 1-6 were held at the Hollister street school yesterday afternoon. The subjects of the contests were oral and silent reading for grade three, oral and written spelling for grade four, oral and written language for grade five and mental and written arithmetic for grade six. Each school room or group was allowed two representatives.

The competition was very keen and the work more uniformly good than in past years. All the prizes will be books suited to the ages of the winners. The winners were as follows: Oral Reading, first, Eleanor Vin-

BASKET LUNCH BRIDGE AT THE COUNTRY CLUB

Proven Popular Form of Entertainment—Another In Series Next Wednesday Evening.

The basket lunch and bridge party at the Manchester Country Club Wednesday evening was a big success. It was run with Mr. and Mrs. Warren I. Keith in charge. First prize went to Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Varney and second to Mrs. Wallace Dexter and her son, Robert.

Next week Wednesday the contract bridge session, one of a series so popular, will be in charge of Frank H. Anderson and Morgan A. Wood. Refreshments will be served after the bridge. The past two weeks have been basket lunch affairs.
