

MRS. PUTNAM GETS A GREAT OVATION

American Flier Who Flew Across Atlantic Alone Cheered At Gathering; Praised By Speakers.

London, May 23.—(AP)—Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam, the first woman to fly the Atlantic solo, demonstrated today that she is exactly as efficient at the feminine business of shopping as she is at the harder pursuit of flying an airplane.

speed had no effect on her efficiency. On all sides she received congratulations on the excellent taste displayed in her emergency apparel—emergency because when she landed in Ireland Friday all she had with her were the flying clothes on her back.

ROOSEVELT WARNS OF SOCIAL REVOLT

Says Millions In Want Will Not Stand Silently Forever—Raps Leadership.

Atlanta, Ga., May 23.—(AP)—A warning that social revolt threatens unless "something" is done to equalize distribution of National income was flung forth here last night by Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York in a commencement address at Oglethorpe University.

Hear that at the leadership of those "having special interests in our economic order" and declared "we cannot allow our economic life to be controlled by that small group of men whose chief outlook upon the social welfare is dictated by the fact they can make huge profits from the lending of money and the marketing of securities—an outlook which deserves the adjectives 'selfish' and 'opportunist'."

The New York executive charged the Coolidge and Hoover administrations with part of the responsibility for the depression and struck at "Wall Street" as represented by investment bankers.

PRESIDENT AGAINST PUBLIC WORKS PLAN

Bond Issue Also Scored By Hoover — Credit Should Be Expanded.

Washington, May 23.—(AP)—The potency of a sharply worded White House letter has been thrown by President Hoover full against proposals to expand employment by extensive public works financed with bond issues.

Neither the bond issue plan of Speaker Garner nor that of the senate Democratic relief committee was mentioned by the Chief Executive.

Garner last week proposed a $1,000,000,000 bond issue for a governmental building program and on Friday the senate democratic committee recommended a $500,000,000 bond issue for public construction.

BORAH NOT TO AID IN NEXT CAMPAIGN

President and Idaho Senator Have Disagreed On Many Big Issues.

Washington, May 23.—(AP)—The powerful voice and influence of William E. Borah of Idaho, which played such a potent part in the 1928 campaign of Herbert Hoover, will be missing at next month's Republican convention for the renomination of the President.

Plan Weekly Ocean Hops, Rome to South America

Rome, May 23.—(AP)—A project to establish weekly two-way air service between Rome and Buenos Aires was presented by General Italo Balbo, Italian air minister, at the convention of trans-oceanic fliers of all nations today.

Under the plan the 7,185 miles from Rome to Buenos Aires would be covered in 3 1/2 days. Two routes were suggested: 1—Rome to Tripoli by hydroplane; Tripoli to Bolama, Portuguese Guinea across the desert by land plane; Bolama to Parahyba, Brazil, by hydroplane; and Parahyba to Buenos Aires, land plane.

General Balbo was elected president of the trans-oceanic fliers. Before the meeting, the 500-mile visit to the King of Omani, Palace and she chartered a coast-land plane and then to Parahyba, hydroplane, and then to Buenos Aires.

ROOSEVELT NOT "REGULAR" WET, SAYS PICKETT

Secretary of Methodist Board Says His Recent Speeches Are For Political Purposes Only; Wife a Dry

Washington, May 23.—(AP)—Deets Pickett, research secretary of the Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals, believes if Franklin D. Roosevelt is nominated and elected president, the dries "will have no reason to feel that prohibition has been repudiated."

"It is no particular compliment to a man to say that he has made a statement for political purposes only," Pickett writes in "The Voice," board organ, "and yet we cannot get away from the assumption that Mr. Roosevelt did just that when he threw a sop to the wets recently."

"When he was in Washington, we knew him as a dry. His wife, unless she has very recently changed her opinions, is a prohibitionist, and indeed has made prohibition speeches."

Gov. Roosevelt, Pickett continues, "can certainly not be the first choice of the dries in the party, but it would be a mistake to consider him to be what is ordinarily known as a 'soaking wet.'"

"Further, when the dries in his party were faced by the necessity of combating Roosevelt's atrocious proposal to put the National committee on record as wet, they defeated Roosevelt so decisively as to humiliate him, and it is putting the fact bluntly that the Government is not to be hounded in this regard."

"The conflict between Roosevelt and Smith at the present time is a real one, with deep feeling behind it. It has not served to alienate Governor Roosevelt from the dries in his party, who indeed constitute his chief support, inasmuch as Roosevelt's strength has been principally in the south and west."

"The selection of the dry Senator Barkley as temporary chairman of the Democratic convention is another triumph for Roosevelt's friends over Raskob, who wanted Jouett Shouse."

"Pickett says the administration has not been helped by the wet utterances of various Cabinet members."

PRISONERS ESCAPE; GET OUTSIDE AID

Noise of Motorcycle Heard About Time of Break At Middlesex Jail.

Haddam, May 23.—(AP)—Joseph Karowski, 20, of New Britain, Addison Carden, 28, of Roxbury, Conn., and Eugene Martin, 25, of Springfield, each serving a short sentence for a minor offense, escaped from the Middlesex county jail here last night.

"During the night all three made their way to a rear corridor, sawed off bars, opened a window and dropped ten feet to the ground. The jail officers heard the roar of a motorcycle and the noise of a car about that time. The escapees, however, were not known until 6 a. m. when the prisoners were aroused for breakfast."

Yesterday several men conversed with Karowski and they stayed around so long they had to be ordered away by officers.

SENATE DEADLOCK ON REVENUE BILL; NEW RELIEF PLAN

PEACOCK TALKED WITH RACKETEERS

Actually Met Gangsters In New York Who Said They Had Baby.

Ottawa, Canada, May 23.—(AP)—The statement that he himself was in contact with mysterious persons who asked for ransom for the Lindbergh baby is made by Dean T. Dobson Peacock of Norfolk, Va., in a copyright interview published today by the Southern newspapers of Canada.

Dean Peacock says he met "three tough-looking customers" at a New York hotel in response to mysterious telephone calls, and they demanded ransom, but he broke off the negotiations after he became convinced the men were "racketeers."

The interview, given to C. O. Smith, Washington correspondent of the Southern papers, says John Hughes Curtis' conduct throughout the whole negotiations was so convincing that "I would do the same thing again if a similar occasion arose tomorrow."

Curtis has confessed the whole thing was a hoax, and that none of the mysterious persons and places described by the Norfolk negotiators existed except in imagination.

Known in Canada. Dean Peacock, who formerly presided in Canada, said Curtis brought him into the case by relating how a man who "had been befriended by him in a bootlegging case" wanted an intermediary to get in touch with Colonel Lindbergh.

"Curtis declared he would not act alone, and asked me to cooperate with him," said Peacock.

Admiral Burrage having also been brought into the negotiations, the trio finally, on March 21, saw Lindbergh at Hopewell.

"Colonel Lindbergh remarked that he had no faith in the cue," said Peacock.

PARLEY FAILURE EINSTEIN STATES

Famous Scientist Says Public Opinion Demands Disarmament.

Geneva, May 23.—(AP)—Prof. Albert Einstein declared today the disarmament conference is proceeding along a barren futile road, and it is time the people look matters into their own hands by demanding total disarmament within five years.

"There is plenty of intelligence at the arms conference," the physicist told a gathering of newspapermen from all nations, "but little evidence of character."

Expressing sympathy for the Soviet proposal for complete and general disarmament, Prof. Einstein said the "qualitative" method of handling the problems was quite hopeless. This method would eradicate certain classes of weapons.

The eminent physicist, who was accompanied by Lord Arthur Ponsonby of Great Britain asserted it was imperative some big power assume leadership if disarmament were to be achieved.

President To Call Non-Partisan Conference of Newspaper Publishers To Discuss Economics—Meeting To Be Held On Wednesday.

Washington, May 23.—(AP)—The embroiled Congress returned haltingly to its task today, while President Hoover prepared for a non-partisan conference with newspaper publishers Wednesday night to rouse public support for quick and effective disposition of the economic controversies.

There was no sign of a break in the Senate deadlock over tariffs in the tax bill.

Administration plans on relief came to the fore in a bill by Senator Barbour (R., N. J.) for a $1,500,000,000 rearmament of the Construction Corporation for loans to construct self-liquidating projects.

The legislators studied the President's objections to proposals for bond issues to finance public works, as he detailed them yesterday in a letter to Herbert S. Crocker, president of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

At the White House, meanwhile, the Hoover views on this as well as the economic and legislative situations in general were marshalled for presentation to the publishers.

The appeal for non-partisan action on budget balancing, addressed by 31 nationally prominent men to the program, drew sharp rejoinders in the Senate from both Watson of Indiana and Robinson of Arkansas, the Republican and Democratic leaders.

Watson asserted the Democrats have submerged politics in the interest of a national welfare program and accused the petitioners of indulging in "propaganda" against Congress.

"If these men knew, and they should know," he declared, "instead of criticizing they would be praising us for the program we have made us for the non-partisan way in which we have met the problem."

Robinson's Views. Robinson put his reply to the appeal into the record.

"Since the non-partisan meeting at the White House last October from that moment to this, there has been as slight manifestation of partisanship as I've ever come in contact with," said Watson. He and Robinson cited the moratorium, the Reconstruction Corporation legislation, the Glass-Steagall bill and the Glass bank bill as examples of non-partisan handling of legislation.

On the House side, Speaker Garner told newspapermen—in response to queries about the Hoover letter of yesterday—that he was letter of the President had endorsed "my proposal to take the bridle off the Reconstruction Corporation" and to provide funds for projects to spur employment.

Garner has suggested a $1,000,000,000 bond issue for public works, and he said this was the only part of his program objected to by Mr. Hoover.

The Texan said his program would be incorporated "probably" into one bill this week and that hearings would be held before House ways and means committee before it would be brought up for action.

Senator Thomas (D., Okla.), suggested to Watson in the Senate that the writers be asked to submit a "bill of particulars" for balancing the budget.

"If these gentlemen formulated a plan," Watson replied, "it would be one we'd pay no attention to."

REPORTS ON INVENTORY Hartford, May 23.—(AP)—Charles S. Ross, consulting engineer of New York City, testified before the State public utilities commission today as to a detailed inventory of every item of the Connecticut Electric Light and Power Company's property, as of August 1, 1931. The testimony was given at a session of the inquiry which was held before the commission at Hartford. The commission has been authorized to recommend to the legislature the amount of public funds to be used to complete the undertaking.

TELLS KIWANIAN'S "WHAT'S IN NAME"

Directory Executive Is Guest of Club This Noon—Interesting Talk.

Erwin H. Forbush, manager and educational director of the Price & Lee Company of New Haven, provided the local Kiwanians with a most interesting thirty minutes this noon, when he discussed the history and origin of the names of the members present at the meeting at the Hotel Sheridan, in a talk entitled "What's in a Name." Price & Lee are publishers of the Manchester town directory and of directories of 150 other towns and cities in New England.

The speaker showed that he has made an exhaustive study of names and their meanings. In his talk he began with his own name and used the names of practically all the Kiwanians, tracing their origin from famous persons and mythical heroes of history, from brooks and seas, and trees and flowers. He told how in the beginning of the world, one name was sufficient to a person, but with increased population two names were found necessary. He pointed out that at one time man was known only by tribes or by the clothes they wore.

NOTICE!

Regarding Dogs

Owing to the fact that we have had an outbreak of rabies, it is hereby ordered, under the provisions of Sections 2407 and 2809 of the General Statutes, that all dogs within the Town of Waterbury be confined or kept on leashes for the next ninety (90) days from this date.

Anyone failing to comply with the above order is subject to a fine of not more than One Hundred Dollars ($100.00).

PLAN TO IMPOUND UNLEASHED DOGS

Those Found At Liberty Will Be Taken In Custody By the Local Warden.

After a "reasonable" time has expired, all dogs found at liberty in the town of Manchester will be taken by Raymond Robinson, town dog warden and impounded, it was decided after a conference between Dr. D. C. Y. Moore, chairman of the town Board of Health and the dog warden this morning in the Board of Health office. This is simply a measure of precaution in an effort to stamp out any further contacts with animals which may have been infected with rabies from the several dogs already definitely adjudged affected, and so reported by the State Board of Health laboratories.

Provision for the inoculation of dogs in town was made today. Owners may apply for this treatment of any veterinary who will give the customary anti-rabies treatment, after which the owner will be obliged to keep the animals under close confinement for a period of 21 days. After the three weeks period the veterinary issues a tag attesting to the treatment and the dog may run at large. The above treatment is recommended by the Commissioner of Domestic Animals and the local Board of Health.

It was reported this morning, that the third dog thought to have had the disease has died, and the head sent to the Board of Health laboratory for examination. A positive report was given and those in contact with the affected animal were added to the list of those already receiving Pasteur anti-rabies treatment. Another dog, shot by the warden last week, which showed the characteristic symptoms of rabies, was not examined but members of the family will be given treatments at once.

Call Warden. On the evening of this morning all persons in town having dogs that show any suspicious symptoms, should contact the dog warden at once by phone. This contact can be made by calling the police station 4848 and making a report.

POLISH YOUNG FOLKS

HERE PRESENT PLAY

The plays which had been in rehearsal several weeks by the young people of the Polish church were presented in the Polish Hall on North street yesterday before a large gathering. The story was one of a child long missing from her own people because she and her mother had both been kidnapped by a roving band of gypsies. After a lapse of 16 years the girl made her way back to her home and people, but was denied them when she fell in love with a young man. The appearance of the grandmother cleared the situation and resulted in a happy marriage. The play was presented with Polish costumes, songs and dances.

STATS' HEALTH

Hartford, May 28.—(AP)—There was but slight reduction in the number of new cases of measles reported to the State Department of Health for the week ended at noon today, the total of 299 being three less than for last week. The 106 new cases of scarlet fever were nine more than were reported last week. The 24 cases of whooping cough were 23 less than the previous week. There were three new cases of diphtheria, the same as last week.

TOMORROW'S CONCERT TO AID SCHOOL FUND

Money Taken In At Second Congregational Church Will Benefit Summer School.

An unusually interesting musical is in course of preparation for tomorrow evening at the auditorium of the Second Congregational church. The object is to start a fund for the sixth consecutive season of the church vacation school in that section of the town. Committees from this church, the North Methodist and the Polish National church on Golway street are co-operating to insure a large attendance.

Mrs. A. N. Merrillfield's Plectral orchestra will open the program with a group of selections, and appear again during the course of a list of about 15 numbers. Miss Geraldine Anthony will play a mandolin solo with Mrs. Merrifield at the piano, and in turn Mrs. Anthony will accompany Mrs. Merrifield who will perform on the mandolin.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

TWO MORE STUDENTS WIN W. C. T. U. PRIZES

Additional honors came to Manchester High School today with the announcement that the entries from M. H. S. in the W. C. T. U. essay contests won first prizes in both of their classes. The first prize of five dollars in gold for the best essay on the topic "Total Abstinence and Safety" written by a high school junior or senior in Hartford county was won by Sadie Copeland, a member of the junior class, teacher Miss Helen Bates. Miss Copeland is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Copeland, 149 Oak street, and has previously won prizes in the W. C. T. U. contests of former years.

First prize for the freshman sophomore division was also won by a Manchester girl, Betty Harvey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Harvey, 58 Cambridge street, Manchester. Miss Harvey won a prize for her essay on "The meaning of the word 'Liberty' as used in the Constitution of the United States." The title of her essay was "The meaning of the word 'Liberty' as used in the Constitution of the United States."

Prizes to these winners and to fourteen other local winners in the high school contest will be awarded at an assembly soon. The local W. C. T. U. offered prizes of one dollar each to the best essays from each English division on the subjects above mentioned and a large number of students submitted papers. These were judged by local judges and the best from each class were sent to the Hartford county contest, a decision on which was announced at the County Convention in Plainville on Friday.

CHILDREN OF MARY HERE CROWN VIRGIN'S STATUE

Twenty New Members Received Into Sodality — Impressive Ceremony Yesterday.

The ceremony and the reception of twenty new members into the Children of Mary Sodality took place yesterday afternoon in St. James' church. Miss Irene Nevus, in bridal attire, and carrying a bouquet of white roses and sweet peas, crowned the statue. She was assisted by Miss Gladys Washkewich, president of the Sodality and Miss Mary Terney vice president. Marie Fitzpatrick and Susanna Martin were, respectively, medal and crown bearer. The train bearers were Geraldine Beaupre and Shirley Cervin.

At the conclusion of the Crowning Ceremony, Miss Catherine Fraher, rendered very sweetly a "Hymn to Mary." An eloquent sermon was delivered by the Reverend Doctor Loughlin of St. Thomas Seminary, Hartford, on the "Catholic Ideal of Womanhood." Solemn benediction was given by the Reverend Father Reidy, assisted by the Reverend Father Ambrose, O. S. F. and the Reverend Father Killen.

BRITISH HERITAGE LAUDED IN SERVICE

Annual Good Will Meeting At South Church Here Yesterday morning.

At the South Methodist church, yesterday morning the annual British-American Good Will service was held and delegations were present from the various local British-American societies, those present occupying the entire half of the seating capacity in the main section of the auditorium. Rev. Robert S. Moore, of Providence, was the special preacher for the occasion, and his topic was "Inheritance and Obligation."

Born in the North of Ireland Dr. Moore was fully qualified to speak to those present as guests being kindred to them both by birth and ideals. In his opening remarks the speaker dealt with the fact that North of Ireland and this country had much in common because of the struggle that each of them had gone through to attain the ideals of civil and religious liberty that their forefathers had fought and died for.

In part he said: "Our ancestors were men of convictions that grappled with difficulties, sacrificed wealth, honors and life so as to bring about Freedom and Liberty. They dared all in the defense of their high ideals. It is fitting at times to stand by our ancestral urns and meditate on these heroic fathers that did so much for us, and who by their valor stored up for us so much wealth in glorious deeds for our ultimate benefits. Shame be on the man who does not glory in the Right of Freedom that was bought for them at such high cost."

The speaker mentioned that he was descendant of those valiant

Boots, who rather than give up their heritage of worshipping God in their own way suffered at the hands of their oppressors and went into exile and were hunted as wild beasts in the glens and on the hillsides of Scotland because of their love of Liberty. In this country Liberty was gained for the people also because of the gallant and heroic deeds of those who went before us. "What a glorious heritage we have fallen heir to, and in contemplating on this fact let us ask ourselves, how are we living up to that heritage. Liberty has never been defeated. It may have been repulsed for a time but it has always risen to a more glorious epoch and has won through to ultimate victory."

To those of us who had by choice accepted this country by adoption, and gained the privilege of being chosen as citizens he pointed out that this privilege required from them the same loyalty and love of its laws as they formerly were accustomed to give to the land of their birth, the honor they had now attained to was such as to be highly esteemed and regarded as something to be proud of. Therefore let each one so live that he would bring honor to all concerned.

In conclusion the speaker dealt with three essentials necessary to the duties required of those blessed with such a grand heritage as he had shown. "Insistence of a due regard for the observance of all law and of the constitution, persistence in well doing as without an adequate support of the church and all its mighty influence for good, the world would revert back to an age of barbarism, and lastly, insistence in obedience to the teachings of Christianity and a love of our fellow man, this being one of the obligations expected from true heirs of the liberty bequeathed to us from our Forefathers." The musical part of the service under the direction of George Huntington Byles, was well chosen for the occasion and included the choral number "He Watching Over Israel" (Kiljah) by Mendelssohn, and "Recessional", the words of which were written by Kipling, and the music composed by De Koven.

MISS MULHOLLAND WEDS IN PHOENIX, ARIZONA

Former Local Girl Bride of Carroll M. Sanborn, Native of California.

Announcements have been received by Manchester friends of the marriage of Miss Isabelle Mulholland, daughter of George W. Mulholland, 50 Cambridge avenue, Phoenix, Arizona, to Carroll M. Sanborn.

The bride spent the greater part of her life in Manchester and was educated in its public schools. Mr. and Mrs. Mulholland and family went out to Phoenix a number of years ago believing it would benefit Mrs. Mulholland's health. This hope was not realized. After her death the family continued to live in Phoenix and decided to make it their permanent home.

Mr. Sanborn is a native of California. He is employed by the Standard Oil Company at Phoenix and they plan to make their home there.

CATHOLIC SUMMER

SCHOOL IS OPEN

With college terms at a close, and the sessions of the grade and high schools drawing to a termination for the current school year, both students and instructors are giving their attention to the matter of summer courses, designed to advance their scholastic standing in the one case, and to satisfy the requirements for professional alertness and promotions in the other.

For the fifth year, Summer Extension Courses, conducted by the Jesuit Fathers of Fordham University at the Catholic Summer School of America, Cliff-Haven-on-Lake Champlain, will open on July 1 and continue for five weeks. A glance over the prospectus, which, by the way, will be mailed upon request to the Executive Secretary, 321 West 43d Street, New York, N. Y., indicates that the whole range of college subjects is covered—Economics, Education, English, History, Modern Languages, Latin, Mathematics, Music and Philosophy. The courses are designed for college students, for teachers and for others interested in both the intellectual content and the cultural nature of the courses offered.

BANDIT STEALS $178

New Britain, May 28.—(AP)—A well dressed bandit held up and robbed a chain store at 270 South Main street this morning and made his escape with $178 after locking the manager and a clerk in the cellar.

Robert Stannard, 22, the manager, went to the rear of the store to get change for a $20 bill which a customer, who had made a small purchase, tendered in payment. When Stannard returned to the front of the store he discovered that the customer had the clerk, Harold Schneider, 20, covered with a blue-steel pistol. The bandit took possession of two bags of money which Schneider was about to place in a cash register, backed the manager and clerk into the cellar, locked the door and escaped.

Stannard and Schneider broke a window in the cellar, attracted the attention of a pedestrian and told him of their predicament. The pedestrian entered the store, unlocked the cellar door and freed the prisoners.

Man is now a servant to machines, Einstein said. Evidently Einstein has just tried to get past a red traffic light in rush hour.

AXEL SWAN MARRIES
MRS. CALABRIA IN N. Y.

Lyness Street Man Weds Dudley Street Woman — Mrs. Swan's Third Marriage.

Mrs. Augustina Calabria, 40, of 30 Dudley street and Axel Swan, 44, of 94 Lyness street, obtained a license to marry at the Municipal Building in New York City Saturday morning and were married in the City Chapel by Deputy City Clerk Thomas J. Barry.

Mr. Swan, the son of John and And Carlson Swan, was born in Sweden and is well-known in local Swedish fraternal circles. Mrs. Calabria was born in France, the daughter of Francois and Melanie Laine. This is her third, and Mr. Swan's first marriage. Her second husband died in 1928. She has two daughters by her first marriage, one married.

HUMAN INTEREST LURES CROWDS TO MARATHON

"What do you think of the marathon dance?" "Ask anyone in Hartford this question," said Phil Murphy, master of ceremonies, Sunday afternoon, "and they'll all tell you the same thing. Marathon dancing is crazy." Phil is a veteran of more than a dozen terpsichorean endurance contests. He has officiated at marathons from coast to coast. "Whether the contestants are crazy or not" he says, "is in the difference of opinion. If it were left to the opinion of the ringiders, the answers would undoubtedly be for the feeble-minded verdict. But go out to all the spectators and ask them what they are doing out there. They'll all answer alike. They're watching the marathon. It's just human interest."

"The real answer to the question," Murphy says, "is in the things behind the scenes. Many people do not stop to think, but there is usually an appeal in the eyes of every contestant that unconsciously draws the sympathy of the audience. Many things have happened since I have been connected with marathon dances. There are elements of human interest in every couple. The Hartford marathon is no exception. Many people who have returned to the marathon night after night don't know it but that's what brings them. One of the girls in a marathon in St. Paul, who was dancing with her brother, met and married a millionaire. He came to the dance every night, sat in the front row and finally gave her $1,600 the amount of the prize, to quit the contest."

There are 18 couples left at this writing.

22 ARE CONFIRMED IN CHURCHES HERE

Swedish Lutherans and Zion Lutherans Receive Classes Yesterday.

Two local churches held confirmation services yesterday morning, fifteen being confirmed at the Swedish Lutheran church and seven at the Zion Lutheran church. Both classes will participate in special Holy Communion services at their respective churches next Sunday morning.

The class at the Swedish Lutheran church was confirmed by Rev. Carl S. Franzen and consisted of seven girls and eight boys, all but two of whom were confirmed in the English language. These two were Eric Barn and Pearl Johnson, the others being Doris Anderson, Hazel Johnson, Birgit Friessell, Dorothy Anderson, Grace Swanson, Richard Berggren, Roy Johnson, Clifford Skoog, Einar Salomonson, George Peterson and Roy Olson.

The class at the Zion Lutheran church was confirmed by Rev. Hugo Stechols and consisted of four boys and three girls, Thomas H. Hagenow, Leonard C. Niese, Henry J. Schneck, Fred R. Schubert, Ellis M. Keish, Einar R. Pallat and Gladys V. Pallat.

MONDAY, MAY 28.

SOCIALIST PARTY

The nomination of Norman Thomas of New York as the Presidential candidate of the Socialist party, a foregone conclusion, is not likely to stir any great amount of excitement in political circles but it is entirely within the possibilities that it may mark the beginning of a real growth in organized radical thought and political activity in this country.

Up to the present and since the expiration of the Populist movement there has never been, in the United States, even an important nucleus of a party of protest. Conditions never favored any such growth, and such leadership as sought to promulgate radical ideas and principals has been so ugly in temper, so ignorant and so inspired by hate and intolerance as to repel instead of attracting the discontented.

Save for the sporadic development of local "socialistic" movements in a few isolated centers like Milwaukee and Schenectady—movements which were never much more than the crystallization of a mild liberalism—there has been no political stirring in the direction of a socialistic program. Even the appearance of such an intellectual leader as Mr. Thomas as a Presidential candidate four years ago failed to arouse more than the minutest interest. Outside of New York state the vote polled for him was negligible and even in his own state he received only 107,000 votes in a total of much more than five million, or about one in fifty.

We may look for something very different next fall. Nothing is less probable than that the Socialist party candidates will carry a state anywhere or capture a single electoral vote. But there are countless thousands of worried and rather desperate people in the country who almost certainly will turn to a radical leader like Thomas, who is known to be thoroughly respectable, in default of any substantial achievement by the old parties in providing relief from the depression.

It will be strange if the Socialists do not come out of the campaign reinforced by enough voting recruits to give them the standing of a political party big enough to be reckoned with.

FILIBUSTERERS

Friends of Senator Walcott will be considerably relieved by the fact that he did not wait for criticism of his vote on the oil and coal tariffs injected into the tax bill by the Senate on Friday before coming to the front with an explanation. The senator, who had been known to be opposed to the inclusion of any tariffs in the revenue bill, states that he voted for the coal and oil schedules in order to make it possible to pass any tax bill at all, since "proponents of the tariffs were determined to filibuster and keep the bill from passing unless the tariffs were included, so, in order to break the filibuster we voted for the import duties."

The course of the oil-coal-copper-lumber tariff boomers was, not to put a fine point on the business, scoundrelly. If Mr. Walcott and the other sane and decent senators who surrendered to them to prevent sheer disaster had, instead, taken them out behind the capitol and shot them, the disposition of the matter would have been much better, from the economic and national point of view, than the one arrived at. No doubt they felt sufficiently like doing it.

The time has not yet arrived for quite such drastic steps as that. But events are moving with considerable rapidity and straight toward very serious trouble for those members of Congress who, in a great national emergency, are still willing to sacrifice the safety of the nation to the slight greed of their constituents.

backers. History is full of the records of what happens to individuals in government who betray the people for a mess of pottage—and the people of the United States are not, after all, so different from other peoples, present and past, that they are either angels or tadpoles. They are human beings, capable of anger, and if and when they get angry in the mass, filibusters for special interests will do well to hunt hide-outs.

GOSS' BOOTS' ONE

Congressman Goss of Waterbury has a lot of labor union voters in his district. The other day he made a gesture. He offered an amendment to the bill appropriating nearly $33,000,000 for flood control operations on the Mississippi and its tributaries. The amendment would have extended to flood control, now exempt from them, the provisions of the Davis-Bacon wage bill which requires that contractors on federal construction work shall pay the rate of wages for laborers and mechanics prevailing on work of similar nature in the area. Where there is a dispute the Secretary of Labor is empowered to determine the prevailing wage rate.

Mr. Goss made a little speech in which he said he had been informed that flood control contractors were paying as little as 90 cents a day to laborers. He thought that was very wrong. He thought Congress should see to it that the Mississippi Valley laborers were paid a fair wage.

That would have made good reading for the labor union voters back home in the Waterbury district if it hadn't been for the chairman of the Labor Committee of the House, who found it necessary to open Mr. Goss' eyes. He said:

The Labor Committee has found through hearings that were that law applied to river and harbor work and to flood control work it would be necessary to fix a scale of wages below even the low scale now being paid. Those who come from the territory where this work is being done know that the prevailing scale of wages in those communities is the farm-labor wages, which are below even the scale being paid by some unfair contractors. If we apply the provisions of the Davis-Bacon bill to this work the only thing the Secretary of Labor could do would be to fix the farm-labor schedule.

Mr. Goss' amendment was rejected and the only thing left for the Waterbury gentleman now is to explain to his laborite constituents that he meant well even if he was inadvertently proposing to cut a 90 cent wage to 80 or whatever.

JOYOUS JIMMY

Not all of us can go to Europe on our vacations. Most of us, who can, manage it by going "tourist" class, after saving up the money for a long time. Not many of us can have a $10,000 travelers' letter of credit handed to us, to cover the expenses of a couple of months abroad, let alone having some one make good an overdraft of $3,000—just for doing a small favor.

Jimmy Walker could. And, according to the evidence before the Hester committee, Jimmy Walker did.

To be sure the favor was not so small from the point of view of the Equitable Coach Company, which is supposed to have put up the money for Jimmy's European trip in 1927, since it expected to make many, many times $10,000 every year on the bus franchise which Jimmy, oddly enough, signed the next day, just before his departure on his pleasant voyage; but it was a very easy one for Jimmy to grant—just to sign his name.

And if the State Transit Commission afterward butted in and prevented the bus concern from really getting possession of the street, was that Jimmy's fault? And should he worry? That left the franchise question still open—and who knows but what Jimmy might want to go to Europe again some day?

Still and all, if Jimmy were up for re-election again tomorrow, New Yorkers would doubtless go grinning to the polls to vote for him in such numbers that he would get a million majority.

What's to be done about a town like that, and about the Jimmy Walkers and the people who, chuckling at their "smartness," keep them in charge of the city's money—and its fate?

GERMANS AND ARMS

The Commission on Germ and Gas War of the Geneva Disarmament Conference has arrived at an agreement to put a ban on the highly civilized practice of turning biological masses loose on unprotected civilian populations, as it is strongly suspected was done during the World War. Probably the Geneva conference will go so far as to ratify that agreement and, perhaps, all the participating nations will ratify the ratification individually.

surprising. And if the agreement lasts more than two weeks after the next declaration of war that will be more surprising still. The basic trouble with any such compact is that any people or government that would descend to the unspeakable and devilish wickedness of inciting epidemics among enemy peoples is beyond the pale of civilization to start with and its pledge is of no value.

And right there is the crux of this whole disarmament problem. The nations are afraid to commit themselves to disarmament agreements which each fears the other will secretly violate. As it is impossible to reassure them on this point it is impossible to get them to commit themselves.

A WORTH-WHILE VOYAGE

Amelia Earhart Putnam, serving no purpose but the achievement of personal notoriety in her solo flight across the Atlantic, fills the eyes of the country momentarily. Meanwhile the big seaplane DO-X, carrying a load of passengers, negotiates the inter-continental route in safety in much less time than any steamship could possibly equal, taking another step in the development of a comparatively safe method of very rapid communication—and the exploit goes almost unnoticed in the glare of the women's harebrained "sporting" stunt.

What the DO-X performance leads toward is the future working out of a system of transoceanic passages by craft capable of traveling with a reasonable degree of safety either on the surface of the sea or in the air. The homeward voyage of the great plane is, quite possibly, the most important step yet taken in demonstrating the possibilities of air travel over great bodies of water as a regular institution. As compared with the useless and half-lunatic capers of individual sprinters from shore to shore or with the luck-governing and infinitely perilous wandering of the unwieldy giant dirigibles, such progressive endeavors are immeasurably valuable.

IN NEW YORK

Message Manners

New York, May 23.—Park Avenue has undertaken the task of transplanting its etiquette to a world of "doers" and "doers."

Thousands of messenger boys of the New York streets are "taking the courses in manners, deportment and grooming. Almost every morning Mrs. Katherine Bleeker Meigs, of the Social Register, hops in her limousine to address a class of assorted young Postulants who may or may not resemble the winged Mercury, in all save approach and appearance.

As an interested observer the other morning, I noted that the first lessons are "primitive but not without psychological effect. Each lad is first handed a nail file, a comb and a mirror. This is followed by a photo of Clark Gable or some other male movie star looking his slickest. It is explained that the particular film favorite gives great attention to his appearance.

Do the messenger boys want to be Clark Gable? And how!

After clean necks, hands and face have been achieved, the course becomes more involved. What to say to a lady of a Fifth Avenue address? How to tip your hat and make a bow? How to remain polite when admonished for being late? How to stop at a movie to see how Gable acts! Nor time out to watch ballplayers in an empty lot.

When it's all over, one is asked to believe, Horatio Alger's lads could do no more.

John Mulholland, editor of the Magician's Magazine and a conjurer of great ability, explains that in these times he does the disappearing bird cage trick with a dummy bird. "Because bird seed runs into 65 cents a month.

Mulholland, who recently turned out a few stunts the other day at a party Selection, "State Fair," says a reporter most of his life, was seemingly embarrassed by the rush of celebrities all about him.

"Apparently there's one trick I cannot do," observed Mulholland. "I cannot turn a newspaper man into a lion."

Magicians, I am told, are warring more bitterly than ever on unscrupulous fortune tellers who have been cropping up in large numbers of late. Worried people have been rushing to seers with their troubles. The American Society of Magicians believes in the black arts for amusement alone.

In New York, the fortune telling racket has reached the blackmail and badger stage.

A wife or husband, innocently visiting a racketeering prophet, is invited to come to the private rooms for a very personal reading. The victim betrays family or external involvements—perhaps "another woman" is mentioned or guessed at. The secretary behind a screen takes down the statements. Within a few days comes a letter demanding a certain sum of money—"or else!"

Motor Hints

Timely Suggestions on the Care of the Car by the Automobile Club of Hartford.

Keep Filter Bowl Tight

Difficulty in starting the modern motor may be due to the fuel pump. Where this is the case it usually happens that the owner has not been careful to tighten the retaining nut for the filter bowl.

Only by tightening this nut can air leaks be kept out of the filter part of the unit. The sediment trap must be tight against the pump body for satisfactory results from the pump, especially where fuel is being used by the engine at a maximum rate. Since the pump assembly is attached to the motor there is good possibility of this sediment trap loosening through vibration.

About the best way to remember to keep the trap tight is to form the habit of removing it at regular intervals in order to clean out any water that has collected. In doing this be sure to clean the wire strainer as well, and do the work near a garage or service station so that in event of breaking the bowl you won't be stranded.

Call One To Hard Start

Where everything else has been tried in an effort to determine the reason for difficulty in starting, a motor it is high time to check the coil. One of the quickest ways to catch coil trouble is to have someone observe the unit while the engine is being cranked. An externally shorted coil will show flashes of spark, especially when observed in the dark.

If a coil accumulates what might be called a streak of carbon formed from oil, grit and road dirt it will provide a path for shorting the coil. Usually this path of shorting will be found where the coil attaches to the dash or against any other part of the car where cleaning is difficult.

This sort of trouble should be suspected where cars are kept in a damp garage, since condensation and moisture will settle on the coil even where there is no path of dirt to make a special bid to attract it.

After Lining The Brakes

After the brakes have been relined there are certain points to be observed. It is foolish to assume that no readjustments will be needed, and equally unwise to become alarmed over conditions that should be recognized as temporary.

Starting out for a drive after relining one owner felt the brake drums and found them rather warm. He immediately assumed that the clearances were not sufficient, stopped at a roadside shop to have the brakes eased up and later regretted it. He did not know that it is entirely normal to show a slight drag with new lining.

BIG BUDGET-BALANCING ACT BRINGS OUT FILES OF STATISTICAL BUNK

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
 NEA Service Writer

Washington.—If you can follow the statistics that are being hurled about ad lib during the big budget-balancing act, you are doing better than many of us who are here on the ground.

You tuck a statistic away somewhere for safekeeping overnight and next morning you're as likely to find it a totally different statistic, swollen enormously or shrunken to a mere shadow of its former self.

About That Budget Out

The casual reader certainly must blink to read one day President Hoover's hot message to Congress implying that it isn't going to effect any economies at all and the very next day to read that by virtue of cuts already made the apparently about to be made there's a slash of $83,000,000 under the 1932 budget in sight. (Don't ask just how it's going to turn out.)

On a Tuesday night you find Congressman Arthur M. Free of California, that local-act federal expenditures of 13 billion dollars are eating up one-sixth of the national income which he sets at 78 billions and the next night Editor Phil Hanna of the Chicago Herald-Examiner, broadcasting for the American Taxpayers' League, has the national income considerably below 80 billions for 1932 and a 15-billion dollar tax bill eating 80 cents out of every income dollar. Both ask you to wire your congressman.

One refreshing set of figures, however, has come from the Budget Bureau. It shows exactly the activities for which federal expenses in the past decade have materially increased. It was compiled for Congressman Phil Swing of California, who wanted to answer a widely circulated letter from the du Pont de Nemours company in its vigorous campaign to bring pressure on Congress for expense reduction by cut-gun. Loose joints in these days of high speed cause the shaft to whip and may bring on front wheel shimmy as well.

If the joints have special castings to retain the lubricant be sure that these are on the job. A lot of grease splattered on the lower side of the floorboards are reason to be suspicious.

Even the greasing is apt to be incorrectly handled. Some joints have a special plug which must be opened in order that the air displaced by ingoing lubricant has a chance to escape. Unless this vent is opened it is impossible to add as much lubricant as the joint may need.

BLACKSMITHS BUSY

Chicago, May 23.—(AP)—The village blacksmith is staging a comeback.

Blacksmiths, who three years ago were ready to take up other lines of work, are doing a brisk business now in repairing farm machinery. It was said today by wholesalers of farm equipment.

The wholesalers, and officials of small order houses, said sales of new farm machinery had increased in the past few months of 1933 would likely exceed those of any period in recent years.

THE VALUE OF COOKING you think about this kind of treatment?

Even in the earliest historical and mythological records, we find cooking mentioned. Through the course of these many hundreds of generations the digestive system of man has undoubtedly accustomed itself to cooked foods. In fact, most civilized human beings, upon attempting to live entirely on raw foods, notice pronounced gastric disturbances because of the increased difficulty in digesting vegetable foods not previously softened or sterilized by heat. Some foods, such as string beans, peas, artichokes and brussels sprouts, may be eaten raw, but their flavor and digestibility are improved by cooking.

The purpose of cooking food is not only to increase its digestibility and improve its flavor, but to kill dangerous organisms, which can be destroyed even at as low a temperature as 150 degrees Fahr.—a temperature far below the boiling point.

It is unfortunate that the entire development of the art of cookery in the past has been more influenced by flavor than nutritional value. Many of the complicated modern dishes are indigestible abominations. Fortunately, many chefs are now making a study of dietetics, and a few dietitians are making a study of the art of cookery so that in restaurant food which is not only appetizing but wholesome as well.

An untrained cook can spoil perfectly wholesome food and render it either valueless or actually harmful by improper preparation, whereas a scientifically trained chef increases the nutritive elements of almost every food by breaking up the tougher particles with heat, and dissolving the cellular portions so that they are more readily acted upon by the chemicals within the digestive tract.

The evils of bad cooking are far-reaching and may lead to disease, a craving for drink and stimulants, indigestion, headaches, and melancholia which may so interfere with the life and personality of an individual as to result in financial failure and early death. It is not surprising then that the victims of poor cooking turn to substances such as alcohol, coffee, tobacco, and candy.

Undernourished people are often overfed, but are still starving for the right foods out of which they can secure the proper elements to build and repair their bodily tissues. Craving something else, their appetites try to secure satisfaction by the use of sweets. This is particularly true of the earnest student of dietetics who, in his experimental years may attempt to live on an exclusive uncooked diet. The craving for sweets seems to be always present and is never satisfied, and in place of deliberately choosing a good steak he will invariably fill up between meals on ice cream, candy and soda drinks.

To get the greatest value from food it is necessary to have an understanding of the effects produced by various means of cooking. In tomorrow's article I will tell you the value of boiling food so that the flavor and nourishing qualities are preserved to the greatest extent. Within the next few days we will take up other important methods of cooking, such as roasting, broiling, steaming, baking, stewing and frying.

POSTAL WORKERS STRIKE

Shanghai, May 23.—(AP)—American consular authorities moved tonight to establish independent postal facilities and thereby to insure the movement of American mails despite the strike of Chinese postal workers.

Edwin E. Cunningham, United States consul general, said that postal clerks from American trans-Pacific steamers had been ordered ashore preparatory to establishing a U. S. postoffice. American Navy vessels here may be called on to assist in handling the mails.

The American liner President Van Buren arrived today with a heavy load of mail which was dumped in custom sheds. The Empress of Canada arrives tomorrow. Mails from all parts of the world are rapidly reaching mountainous proportions.

Other nations were preparing to set to work on similar lines that are planned by the United States. Post office authorities said the strike deadlock continued unchanged.

NO AUTO CHASERS

New Haven, May 23.—(AP)—Connecticut highway police today drove from automobiles a number of chasers during the week-end.

The only vehicle seized occurred in Trumbull where Virginia Luce, 14, was stopped Sunday by highway police. She was charged with a violation in the amount of $500 for driving on the highway without a license.

Her uncle, Clarence Luce, owner of the motor, was charged with driving on the highway without a license.

FR. WARD PREACHES FIRST SERMON HERE

Ordained Saturday Rev. Paul Ward Celebrates Mass At St. Bridget's.

"Gospel Matthew, 28, 18-20: And Jesus coming spoke to them, saying, all power is given to me in heaven and in earth. Going, therefore, teach ye all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost; teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you. And behold, I am with you all days, even to the consummation of the world."

This was the text yesterday—Trinity Sunday in the evening—when Father Paul B. Ward celebrated his first mass before a large gathering of friends and relatives, also bestowing his personal blessing on those who came forward and knelt at the altar rail. Father Ward, who was ordained to the priesthood Saturday, was the young man of St. Bridget's parish to devote his life to the priesthood, the other being Rev. Michael O'Connor.

Father Ward was assisted in celebrating the mass by Rev. Vincent McDonough as deacon, Rev. William P. Reidy as sub deacon, and Edward Dever, a student priest, as master of ceremonies. Fred Werner at the organ played the processional as the priests entered the altar circle, draped with white linen and cloth of gold. The entire congregation stood as the priests entered and Father Ward mounted the steps of the altar in preparation for the singing of his first mass, a solemn high mass.

The church choir was assisted in the musical program by Miss Arizyn Mortari, soprano, and Edward Dever, tenor, who with Walter Williams and Father C. T. McCann sang at the consecration. The voice of Father Ward was clear and distinct as he sang the mass and showed he was fully confident of himself throughout. The gospel for the day was read by Right Rev. Robert Skinner, following the consecration and preparation for reading of the last passages and the extending of the blessing.

PRESIDENT AGAINST PUBLIC WORKS PLAN

(Continued from Page One) a sub-committee of the Engineering Society suggesting that better times would follow a large issue of government bonds to finance public works. Among other things the President said governmental aid should be extended in this manner: Balance the budget; avoid issuing further government securities; continue work of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation; expand the credit through the Federal Reserve System; insure translation of these credits into actualities; soundly strengthen the foundation of agriculture; continue public works that do not place a strain on the taxpayer; continue national, community and individual efforts to relieve distress.

BUREAU FOR JOBLESS FUNCTIONS 29 WEEKS

200 Get Benefits of Payroll Today—Can Operate At Least Two More Weeks.

With the termination of twenty-nine weeks of activity among the local unemployed, the Manchester Association, Inc., today distributed a payroll of $2,782.17, bringing the total expended since its organization to $22,630.80. This week's payroll was paid out to about 200 persons employed on Association projects last week, including $665.96 to fifty men on the Broad street extension. To date, $15,748.10 has been spent on this project.

With the receipt of all pledges and with contributions on hand, it is expected that the Association will continue for at least two more weeks. The number of persons registered at the Association headquarters at the municipal building today was 1284.

With the work of the Emergency Employment Association nearly completed, the home garden project sponsored jointly by the Association, the American Legion and the Town of Manchester, is the only activity being conducted to assist the unemployed through the summer months. John L. Jenney, chairman of the Legion committee, said today that practically all the preliminary work in connection with the gardens has been finished. Gardens have been staked out in four sections of town, twenty-eight on Hartford Road, three at Manchester Green, eight at the North Elm and forty-five at Charter Oak street. All of the garden plots, which measure 100 feet by 60 feet, have not yet been staked out on Charter Oak street but will be finished this week. Including gardens which will be conducted at home, the Legion has arranged for about 150 gardens in all. Because of pressure of business, Mr. Jenney will be unable to devote as much time as necessary to the project, and Victor Bronke will assume charge. Persons wishing information about the gardens may reach him at telephone 3414. The Legion plans to have a special committee make periodical visits to the gardens and assist in any way possible.

NATIONAL GUARD RULE

New Haven, May 23.—(AP)—Enlistment of recruits for the National Guard just before the date of encampments is deprecated by the chief of the militia bureau of the War Department at Washington. In a communication to National Guard officers received in the state the chief said: "In studying records of enlistments, it develops a very large percentage of the year's total is coming just before the field training period. Such a large number is not good for the National Guard. x x x It is therefore requested that you do not take to camp any recruits of less than two months' service." The order does not apply to enlistments or enlistments of men who have had previous experience.

FRANK BUSCH VISITS SCHMELING IN CAMP

Manchester Boxer Says the Champ Is in Fine Condition—May Spar With Him.

Frank C. Busch, local boxing and swimming instructor, visited the training camp of Max Schmeling at Kingston, N. Y., yesterday. He returned impressed with the fine physical condition which Schmeling appears to have developed.

Schmeling who is to fight Jack Sharkey for the world's heavy-weight title in New York June 21, told Busch that he is confident of victory and said that he feels in fine shape. Schmeling chatted with Busch at length, both having met several times before. Busch was a sparring partner at Schmeling's camp when he prepared for his first fight with Sharkey. The Manchester man said that he may get a call to Schmeling's camp during the next month.

Among other things which Busch noticed was the absence of newspapermen and cameramen at Kingston. Owing to trouble which has developed between Promoter Jimmy Johnston and the newspapers, the press is conspicuous by its absence. The date of the fight, June 21, approaches without any of the customary publicity. A "break" in the show-down is expected soon, Busch declared.

FLOODS IN ENGLAND

London, May 23.—(AP)—Hundreds of square miles of country in central England were under water today following a series of cloudbursts and consequent overflow of rivers during the week end. Scores of towns and villages in nine counties were swept by floods, said to be the worst in 5 years. Farmers throughout the wide area were in a desperate plight.

NEW YALE BUILDING

New Haven, May 23.—(AP)—Yale University obtained a building permit today for the erection of Trumbull College on the site of the old Yale gymnasium. The three story building will cost $600,000.

ROOSEVELT NOT "REGULAR" WET, SAYS PICKETT

stated for permanent chairman of the convention, expressed the belief today that the Republican platform would contain a liberal plank on prohibition.

Making clear he did not know a group of Republicans reported to be preparing a draft of the proposed wet plank, Snell, who has voted as a dry, said he was "satisfied something liberal on prohibition will be in the platform adopted."

"What it will be I don't know," he added. "It is pretty hard to take a position that the people cannot express their sentiments on a vital important economic and social problem. What the liberal plank will be, I don't think anyone can tell."

Snell said the beer for revenue vote to be taken in the House today "is the most grotesque kind of a gesture as far as doing anything with prohibition is concerned."

"The wets and dries know the beer vote does not mean anything as far as handling the prohibition question is concerned," he said. "I do not believe in trying to fool the people, for everyone who thinks knows you cannot have three to four per cent beer under the present constitution. "Everyone who thinks, also knows that before there is any degree of liberalization, either the Eighteenth Amendment must be amended or repealed. I think an amendment to the 18th Amendment would be the most satisfactory."

NOT EVEN THE SPARROWS MISS THE HORSES NOW

Nature takes care of her own. With the gradual passing of the horses from the highways, the little sparrow, lost a host of good friends. The automobile was looked upon as an enemy of the little bird. But, lo, Mother Nature has shown the sparrow how to make use of the automobile. Radiator cores are usually filled with insects that are hit as the cars speed along. The sparrow has learned this fact and now the feathered ones alight on the machines and pick the bugs out of the radiator cores.

REFERENDUM ILLEGAL, METHODISTS DECLARE

will of the majority should be expressed in a legal and constitutional manner. No Other Way

The eighteenth amendment was put into the constitution by constitutional processes. It can be taken out in no other way. The referendum pronouncement of the committee, which states that "straw vote referendum" cannot determine the merits of prohibition, is regarded as a compromise measure for the resolution that would ask the conference to declare for a national referendum in an "off" year. This was lost in committee.

Members of the committee are working to bring their report before the conference for action. With a legislative jam threatening, there is considerable doubt whether they will be successful. In the first conference session today, delegates voting the proposed extension of the convention, reaffirmed the Wednesday noon adjournment date previously set. With this action, a sitting committee started work to weed out some of the secondary legislation which chokes the calendar.

FINDS FOR LOCAL MAN IN ACCIDENT SUIT

Judge Johnson Awards Walter Tedford $200—Local Civil Court Limited To That Amount.

A finding in favor of Walter Tedford, of 106 Russell street, in the civil suit brought by Tedford against Fred and Katherine Attenborough of East Hartford, was announced today by Judge Raymond A. Johnson. Tedford was awarded $200, the limit of damages in the jurisdiction of the local civil court.

Tedford brought suit for $250 for damages to his automobile as a result of an accident in Burnside, September 6, in which Louis Reiss of 32 Wetherell street was fatally injured. The suit was heard Saturday morning and evidence was presented which showed that Mrs. Attenborough's car struck the Tedford machine at the junction of Williams street and Burnside avenue. At that time Judge Johnson reserved decision.

The militarists must have had a good laugh when they read that peace envoys in Manchuria were escorted by a company of Japanese marines.

ST. JAMES'S CORPORATION DEMOLISHING HOUSE

Residence Between Convent and School On Park Street Being Torn Down Today.

The so-called Graham House located on Park street, which was purchased by St. James's Corporation when additional land was wanted for the playgrounds and the convent school, is being demolished today.

The house was an old one when purchased, but was allowed to stand between the school and the convent and was occupied until last month. The repairs that were necessary and the small income that was received from it did not warrant the further use of the house and as it is taxed rather high and has been vacant for about a month it was decided to tear the building down.

The grounds that will be made available will be used for playgrounds and other out of door activities which have been lacking since the erection of the school.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS TO MEET TOMORROW

State Convention Secretary To Be Principal Speaker At Session In Tinker Hall.

Vincent Dennis, assistant secretary of the recent state Democratic convention at Hartford, will be the principal speaker at the regular semi-monthly meeting of the Young People's Democratic Club at Tinker hall at 8:15 o'clock tomorrow night. The public is invited to attend.

Members of the club who are scheduled to speak are: Ben Radding, Mary B. Dielensneider and Herbert Johnson. President Harold Garrity will preside at the business session.

WOMAN MISSING

St. Johnsbury, Vt., May 28.—(AP)—The search for Mrs. Dixi Worthen, who disappeared February 12 while attending a parent-teacher meeting, today centered around two unknown men who were reported near the Worthen home that night.
Police said Walter Hunter, neighbor of Mrs. Worthen, saw two men standing on a pile of discarded auto bodies on the bank of the Passumpsic river back of the Worthen home on the night of her disappearance. Hunter told officers that the barking of his dog roused him and he saw the men as he looked from his bedroom window.

ROCKVILLE

District Meeting Here

The World Wide Guild of the Rockville Baptist church entertained members of the Guilds from Hartford and New Haven counties on Saturday. The group was given a most hearty welcome by the president, Miss Evelyn Mathewson. The Italian Guild of New Britain conducted the recreational program which preceded the banquet which was served at 6 o'clock by the Ladies Aid society of the church. Miss Helen Barham of Hartford, head of the Hartford District Guild Chapter, was toastmistress.

An address was given by Miss B. Bryan of Hartford, state secretary of the Foreign Missionary society of the Baptist Church. She commended the young women of their interest in missionary work and spoke briefly on the progress being made in various mission fields. Miss Edith Wing, state secretary of the organization, presided at the business session at which reports from various guilds were read and the various units reported increased memberships.

Elks To Attend Banquet

Several of the Past Exalted Rulers of the Rockville Lodge of the Past Exalted Rulers Association to be held at the Elks Home in New Britain, Sunday, June 5. The business meeting will be followed promptly at 1 p. m., to be followed by the customary banquet at 8 o'clock. Business of great importance will be transacted and the selection of a treasurer to succeed the late Louis Brock who passed away recently will be made. The selection of candidates for District Deputy, Connecticut, East and West, will also be named.

WARD'S SUMMER SALE OPENS WITH FINE DAY

Saturday's Crowds For Big Event Seem Enthusiastic About Bargains Offered.
Last Saturday which was the opening day of Ward's Nation-Wide Summer Sale, attracted thousands of eager buyers to Manchester's Ward store. The three floors of the store carried new merchandise purchased particularly for this event which was planned almost three months in advance, in order to procure the greatest values that the store has ever offered.

Seventeen extra clerks were put to work to assist the crowds that came from distances varying from two to forty miles, and from the volume of business which was handled, one would never know or believe that such a thing existed as a depression. Many merchants in Manchester benefited to a great extent by the crowds of shoppers that made their way to Manchester to buy at Ward's and do their other shopping of goods, etc.

The sale has just started and continues until the closing hour on Saturday of this week, and every day will be festured with special attractions. The buying force of Montgomery Ward and Company have outdone themselves in demanding of manufacturers the best obtainable to be sold at prices that are unbelievable and at this all because of the tremendous buying power of the

THOMAS FOR PRESIDENT

Milwaukee, Wis., May 28.—(AP)—Norman Mattson Thomas, the 47-year-old Socialist leader from New York and ex-United Presbyterian minister, again is the Socialist Party's candidate for president of the United States. He was nominated by acclamation by the National Socialist convention yesterday after Louis Waldman of New York presented him as a leader who would not "water to the extremes."

Thomas was the Socialist's standard bearer in the 1928 presidential election, losing 1,470,000 votes. He was a Socialist candidate for governor of New York in 1924 and for mayor of New York City in 1926.

James H. Maurer, gray-haired labor leader, from Haverhill, Pa., will be Thomas's running mate. The task of selecting his leader over the party turned today to build him a platform. It appeared likely a decision would be reached before the end of the day whether the prohibition question should be a subject for a plank.

THOMAS FOR PRESIDENT

Milwaukee, Wis., May 28.—(AP)—Norman Mattson Thomas, the 47-year-old Socialist leader from New York and ex-United Presbyterian minister, again is the Socialist Party's candidate for president of the United States. He was nominated by acclamation by the National Socialist convention yesterday after Louis Waldman of New York presented him as a leader who would not "water to the extremes."

Thomas was the Socialist's standard bearer in the 1928 presidential election, losing 1,470,000 votes. He was a Socialist candidate for governor of New York in 1924 and for mayor of New York City in 1926.

James H. Maurer, gray-haired labor leader, from Haverhill, Pa., will be Thomas's running mate. The task of selecting his leader over the party turned today to build him a platform. It appeared likely a decision would be reached before the end of the day whether the prohibition question should be a subject for a plank.

WARD'S SUMMER SALE OPENS WITH FINE DAY

Saturday's Crowds For Big Event Seem Enthusiastic About Bargains Offered.
Last Saturday which was the opening day of Ward's Nation-Wide Summer Sale, attracted thousands of eager buyers to Manchester's Ward store. The three floors of the store carried new merchandise purchased particularly for this event which was planned almost three months in advance, in order to procure the greatest values that the store has ever offered.

Seventeen extra clerks were put to work to assist the crowds that came from distances varying from two to forty miles, and from the volume of business which was handled, one would never know or believe that such a thing existed as a depression. Many merchants in Manchester benefited to a great extent by the crowds of shoppers that made their way to Manchester to buy at Ward's and do their other shopping of goods, etc.

The sale has just started and continues until the closing hour on Saturday of this week, and every day will be festured with special attractions. The buying force of Montgomery Ward and Company have outdone themselves in demanding of manufacturers the best obtainable to be sold at prices that are unbelievable and at this all because of the tremendous buying power of the

the MAN HUNTERS

BY MABEL McELLIOTT

BEGIN HERE TODAY

SUSAN CAREY, secretly in love with BOB DUNBAR but engaged to ERNEST HEATH, a much older man, suddenly finds herself free. Heath releases her chivalrously, realizing her heart is not his. She tells Bob the news and he urges an early marriage. Dunbar's father, a proud financier, interferes. He tells Susan such a marriage will ruin Bob's life. He wants his son to marry DENISE ACKROYD, society girl. Susan, perplexed, asks RAY FLANNERY, a friend, for advice. Ray tells her to follow the dictates of her heart.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XLVII

Bob's father left Susan's home confident of triumph. The girl had seemed quite malleable, humble in fact. He rubbed his hands together, smiling softly at the memory of his own eloquence. He had taken exactly the right tone, he felt. Calling the affair "puppy love" had been precise, and yet it had also the shadow of the jocular. The phrase had indicated that he, a man of the world, smiled understandingly at these exhibitions while deploring them.

Although he refused to recognize it, the suspicion began to grow in his mind that there had been something not quite noble in his own behavior. Mr. Dunbar liked to think himself noble above all things. But after the first glow of complacency had died down he began to remember the pallor of the girl's face and the look in her eyes. He shrugged impatiently. It was nonsense even to think of it for a moment. Who was she? A mere nobody. It was his son's future he must consider, not the feelings of an unknown girl.

In this mood he returned to his office. His secretary wondered what had happened to put him in such an irritable humor. It must be Mr. Bob, she decided, and thought for the thousandth time how strange it was that a man who was such a power in the world of affairs should be so helpless in the management of his own son.

Dunbar snarled and growled at everyone. Nothing suited him. Late in the afternoon he roared at the quiet, efficient creature who had endured his nagging for 15 years without complaint, ordering her to get Miss Ackroyd on the wire. This done, his mood lightened and the office staff gave thanks. He bustled about like a whirlwind, flinging orders right and left, announcing on the threshold that he was leaving for the day.

The boy would come round all right, the father reflected as he rode home. Lucky it was that he had found out about the affair in time to spike a hasty marriage. There would be no newspaper talk, no distressing business of annulment. All this was just a little flurry. Most young men went through the same thing.

At the station Dunbar dismissed his own chauffeur who was waiting. "Miss Ackroyd is driving me home," he explained, pointing at the silver gray roadster parked a little ahead of the Dunbar limousine.

Denise welcomed the captain of finance gaily and charmingly. She looked exotic in her fitted black cloth suit with a swirl of silver fox. The man approved of her. From the tips of her slender shoes to the crown of her Paris hat she was exactly what he would have chosen for a daughter-in-law. He stepped into the car and Denise started the engine.

"What's up, darling?" He smiled at her benignly. He liked her smooth impudence. No one else would have dared to call this old lion "darling." "It's settled," he told her with complacency. Denise pretended not to understand. "What is?" she wanted to know. "Everything we talked about last night." Denise widened her eyes with flatteringly amazed. "Who did it?" He preened himself. "Who do you suppose?"

She took one aim gloved hand from the wheel to lay it carelessly on his arm. "Marvelous!" she murmured. He pretended to growl at her. "Watch the road, young woman, or you'll be in the ditch." Denise looked at him. "You know better," pouted Denise. "I can drive in my sleep!" "That's true," he admitted. "You do everything well." She smiled at each other understandingly. Each admired the other's rubelessness. The affair "puppy love" had been with a quick, casual hand. Denise increased the roadster's speed.

"Well, that's that," she said with her tinkling laugh. "Where do we go from here?" "Dunbar knit his brows. "I thought we'd give him a few hours, maybe a day, to cool off," he said. "Then I'll call him up and tell him he'd better come home."

"Do you know where he is?" "Of course," the man shrugged. "I had my secretary call his club today. He's registered there." "Smart thing," breathed Denise. "After Bob comes back," pursued the father, "I think we'd better settle the matter between you and him for good. This nonsense has dragged on long enough. How about a small wedding and then a trip to South America? The boy's been talking about that for some time. He's been reading it in the papers."

"It suits me," Denise said. She turned the car into the drive and drew up neatly before the door. "You don't want me to drop him a line or anything?" she asked sweetly. The man considered this. "No, I think perhaps you'd better not," he said. "He's stubborn as a mule sometimes and we'll have to go about this very subtly. Bob will be sailing the high seas with you and will have forgotten he ever had any other plans."

"You clever thing," sighed the girl. "It'll do just as you say." In a narrow room furnished agreeably with old English oak a young man was packing a traveling bag. His expression was stern, his eyes intent. He laid out shirts and handkerchiefs with methodical care. On a luggage rack in one corner of the room lay a huge plain case inlaid in gold. Everything about the telephone rang and the young man answered. He frowned, putting his hand over the mouthpiece instinctively as he wished to gain time. He said very quietly, "Yes, of course. Any time you say. At one then."

The young man's face was quite expressionless as he hung up the receiver, but the message must have been a pleasant one because after a minute or two he began whistling. His task finished, he called the office of the club and asked the porter to come up for his bags. Bob rummaged in his pocket for some silver and gave a last fleeting look about the room as though to be certain he had forgotten nothing. Then he followed the man to the elevator.

When dinner was over Denise wandered from window to window, restless as a jaguar. She was not unlike a padding animal herself in her silky frock of buttercup yellow satin. It caught the light and its fluid movement followed the slouch of her lovely body. She lit one cigarette after another and crushed them out again. Now and then she would lift the heavy curtains to peer out into the night. It was raining steadily in an unrelenting spring downpour. The silence, unbroken save for the far dancing of raindrops on the hearth and the beating of raindrops against the window panes, appeared to increase her nervousness. At last she flung herself into a low chair by the side of the desk and picked up the telephone.

The voice of Bob Dunbar's father presently came crackling over the wire. "You talked to him, then?" Denise queried. "I don't know why but I've been a little nervous. I began to think he might leave the club before we reached him. That's fine!" When she put down the instrument she wore a look of felicitous satisfaction.

Denise arose and turned on a radio, cunningly secreted in an eighteenth century cabinet in one corner. To the barbaric strains of jazz music she executed a few dancing steps. Then she switched the dial until the music sounded in a lower key and returned to the telephone. She called a city number and sat drumming lightly on the table as she waited. "I want to speak to Mr. Robert Dunbar," she said. There was a brief pause while the speaker at the other end consulted someone. "He's registered there," cried Denise impatiently. "His father only just spoke to him." A male voice came back regretfully. "Sorry, madam, but he's checked out. He said," and here there was another brief wait as though the speaker were referring to some memorandum before him, "he said to tell anyone who called he was leaving to be married."

Denise tore her chiffon handkerchief into strips, her eyes blazing. "Dunbar's an old fool!" she muttered. "He's got away from us!" (To Be Continued)

U. S. TRANSPORT SUNK

On May 23, 1918, the American transport Moldavia was torpedoed and 53 lives were lost. An official Allied bulletin announced that 252 German planes had been brought down and destroyed during the previous week, and that more than 1000 had been brought down since the beginning of the German drive in March. General Semenov was reported to have quarreled with Admiral Kolchak and to have established an autonomous government in the Trans-Baikal region in Siberia. His forces were opposed to the Soviet government. British forces in Palestine continued their drive forward, defeated the rapidly dwindling Turkish troops again.

All of a Sudden

By HELEN WELSHIMER

I GATHERED defoliated blooms today.
I All I could find to pick,
I bought a pink frosted cake for tea,
And a tall green candlestick.

I HUMMED a song as a storm came up
I And rattled the window pane.
I Lighted the apple-wood fire you laid
After the last spring rain.

I POLISHED the amber cups you like,
I And halfway opened the door—
Then all of a sudden it came to me
That you won't be back any more.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

SUMMER HEALTH

Summer is a time to be magnificently healthy. I do not mean that now is the time just to be sure you have no aches and pains. I mean that sunny summertime should find you waking up with a desire to leap out of bed and turn handspindles, exultant with a mad joy just to run for sheer joy, the way you did when you were a child. Unfortunately, adults don't play tag. It is one of the best ways to get up circulation and keep the blood stream coursing through the veins. Unfortunately, too, most adults don't exercise enough really to sweat. And there's nothing like a good sweat to drive all impurities out of the body. Summer is the time when just to be alive should bring you sheer joy. You only really feel that way when you are disgustingly healthy! A great physician says that it isn't good that makes folks over 35 grow dull and sodden. It is their bowels and circulation. It certainly is worth while to get both in excellent condition to prove the point.

A BOOK A DAY

ROMANCE OF CLOCK CAUGHT WELL IN RUSSIAN'S BOOK

"What Time Is It?" Should Reassure Most Nervous Pullman Passengers. For the fatalistic—those quaking mortals who never crawl into a Pullman berth without the fear of a train wreck just outside of Albany or Troy—here is a book to be recommended. It is "What Time Is It?" by the young Russian engineer, M. Ilin. The writer, whose "New Russian Primer" was hailed last year, has covered the romance of the clock from the relatively important watch of the express train engineer back to Brother Augustin's unreliable Psaalter. The book's reassuring message surely would put the most popy-eyed passenger to sleep in serene confidence. What ineffable solace to know that Brother Augustin was not the train dispatcher! Brother Augustin told the time by his holy book of psalms. During the still watches of the night, good old Augustin read his Psaalter until he reached the words: "To the leader of the chorus of Idifumov, Psalm of Asaphs." Thereupon he would dash to the bellry and set up a din over his tome and the sun would be high in the sky ere the brothers awakened. It is just as well Augustin's persuasals do not govern the switch-throwing for one of the 18-hour New York-Chicago flyers. Isn't that joyous enough philosophy to lull the most pessimistic Pullman wakefulness? M. Ilin's book in which the story of Augustin is one of a hundred romantic little stories on time-telling, wrote his work for Russian youth, factory workers and peasants. But it is a book in which adults can find pleasant recreation. The book is published by J. E. Lippincott Co., and sells for $1.50. About 39 per cent of the tobacco and 44 per cent of the cotton grown in the United States is exported.

Hints on How to Keep Well by World-Famed Authority

IF YOU'RE FULL OF CHEESE YOU'RE FULL OF CALCIUM, TOO

BY DR. MORRIS FISHER

Medicine has been paying much more attention in recent years to calcium than it did formerly. It has been recognized that calcium forms the basis of the bones and the teeth and that it is essential to many of the reactions of the body, being concerned particularly with the prevention of various spasmodic disorders, such as tetany in the infant, and various convulsive disturbances in older people. Milk is particularly rich in calcium, and actually seems to surpass green vegetables as a source of this element in utilization by the body. Cheese, which is probably the oldest milk product, is a concentrated and valuable foodstuff and is therefore especially interesting as a source of calcium. Most cheese products consist of one-third water, one-third fat, and one-fourth protein. A pound of cheese represents the amount of protein and fat available in a gallon of milk. There used to be a time when most cheese was made by farmers out of the milk developed on the farm; today practically all of the cheese used in this country is made by factories. By the use of machinery and scientific study, the cheese produced today is far better cheese than was formerly available. Cheese was once considered to be a highly indigestible material. Today it has been proved by laboratory investigation to be easily digestible when properly prepared and may be used in liberal amounts. Of course, different cheese products vary in the amount of calcium that they contain, dependent on the milk from which they are produced and the methods of manufacture. American Cheddar cheese contains 0.71 per cent of calcium; Swiss cheese, 1.05 per cent, and cottage cheese 0.077 per cent. Recently nutrition experts at Purdue University made a test of cheese to find out whether the calcium in cheese could be utilized as easily as that in milk. Numerous studies in feeding indicate that calcium in American Cheddar cheese fed in this experiment was just as well taken up and used by the body as was calcium from whole milk.

YOUR CHILDREN

ON STEALING PINS

When I was little it was quite common for parents to say, "It's wicked to steal as much as a pin." It always puzzled me. Who on earth wanted to steal a pin anyway? I didn't. I didn't want to steal anything and neither did anyone else I knew. No one was told why. It was just wicked to steal a pin, that was all. But, hark! I often think of it. To this day I saw anyone drop a common pin I am quite sure I should pick it up and hand it back. The homely lesson I believe is the most valuable one in the world, even if it does not develop hair-trigger consciences. What we need are more just straight plain dictums and less haranguing. True, when children are old enough to reason it is well to talk to them, to explain the ways of discipline and behavior. Children must know why some things are so they will not develop resentment. Pages could be written on the wisdom of talking to children about privileges and rights and why some things just are not done. But they need straight plain little lessons too, like the ownership of even a pin. No explanation at all. Just the fact. Words That Are Taboo That word "wicked." We don't

HINTS FOR HOME GARDENERS

TENDER SALAD CROPS REQUIRE MUCH CARE

This is the eighth of a series of exclusive articles on vegetable gardening prepared for NEA Service and The Herald.

BY WM. F. BEATTIE
Bureau of Plant Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture

We can buy salad vegetables all winter, but salad crops take an additional flavor in the home garden. Take lettuce, for example; you can sow the seed in a small box in the house and when the weather warms up and the ground gets in shape, you can transplant the plants to the garden and have heads of lettuce ready to use in about six weeks.

Endive should be tied up so that hearts will bloom.

Water cross, pepper grass, and parsley are also used for salads. Water cross and parsley are only in water that is well filled with lime or on beds of well lined soil kept watered.

NEXT: Beans.

Murch Wins Mile Run In State High School Meet

Manchester High Places Fourth With 18 Points

Warren Harding of Bridgeport Wins With 26; Murch Sets New Record At 4:40 3-5; Wittmann Runs In Seven Dashes and Wins Third In Hundred; Exhausts Himself In Trials When He Sets New Record In 220; Tribute Paid Squatrito.

Fifteen-year-old Billy Murch, Manchester High school freshman who may develop into another Joe McCuskey, captured the mile run at the annual Connecticut Interscholastic Athletic Conference track and field meet at the Yale Field in New Haven Saturday afternoon and thereby helped Manchester gain fourth place. Warren Harding of Bridgeport won the 100-yard dash with 26 points. Wittmann, runner-up in the mile run at the New Haven Hillhouse, 18 for Manchester, 13 for New London Bulkeley, 10 for Fairfield, 9 for Bristol and 8 for West Hartford. Other schools were West Haven 7, Naugatuck 7, Greenwich 6, Groton 4 1/2, Middletown 4, Danbury 4, Westport 3, Stratford 2 and Meriden 1.

Squatrito Honored

A total of 242 athletes representing 22 high schools competed under ideal weather conditions save for a few showers which aided the dash men. The trials were held in the morning followed by the finals in the afternoon. Preceding the afternoon program, a splendid tribute was paid by all of the Connecticut athletes to the memory of Domenico Squatrito, Manchester's outstanding athlete who was killed in an automobile accident a week prior to the state meet. President Walter B. Spencer of the conference, called all of the high school teams and officers together in the front of the grandstand. He spoke as follows:

"Entry number 138 is absent from the lists today. We are gathered here to pay homage to the memory of Domenico Squatrito, a sterling athlete of Manchester High school. He will be remembered only in sportsmanship but character and he will be remembered not only in the hearts of his fellow students but all who knew him."

The contestants and spectators bowed their heads in silence. Then the record-shattering competition resumed. Before it was over every time or distance set in 1931 was surpassed except the time in the 880 yard run. There Jimmy Bryers of Bridgeport Central set a record of 2:06 at the time of the 2:06 dash. C. C. I. L. representatives scored an even 40 points.

Places in Six Events

Despite the loss of Squatrito who was figured a certain point scorer in the dashes, shot-put and possibly the discus, Manchester placed in six of the thirteen events. Only one other school gained points in as many events and that was Hartford. Manchester won places in the 100, 440, mile, discus, javelin and pole vault. Many larger schools did not even have the events. Last year Manchester finished second.

Murch ran a fine race in the mile, winning by some twenty paces over Ott of Hartford and Murty of Greenwich. His time was 4:40 3-5. This is a new conference record. Murch was easy to pick out of the field of 26 runners because he wore a red and white skull cap. At no time did he allow more than one runner to be ahead of him and then when the final lap started, Murch breezed into a commanding lead finishing with a good sprint. Then he collapsed with a "stitch" in his side which was revived a few minutes later. Al Lengel of Manchester finished fifth.

Wittmann's Efforts

Captain Franz Wittmann of the Manchester team who has been in the best luck of the meet. He set a new record in the 220 semi-final and was second in his heat of the century, only to weaken in the afternoon finals. He finished third in the hundred, last in the 220 and had the added misfortune to lose second place to his team in the relay when he was crowded onto the concrete edge of the track which calls for disqualification.

Smith failed to place in the broad or high jumps as did Simon and Burns in the 880 and Kasselaukas in the shot.

GEMS 11-3 VICTORS, WALLETT BIG STAR

Rockville Overcome By Strong Manchester Rally In Seventh and Ninth

The undefeated Manchester Gems defeated the Rockville A. A. yesterday afternoon, 11 to 3 at the Rockville Fair Grounds. Two big innings, the seventh and the ninth, in which the victors scored nine of their runs, turned back Rockville which led 3 to 2 up to the first rally. The Gem's C. Dixon and Wallett featured. Score: Gems 11, Rockville 3.

YALE BEATS CORNELL CREW BY THREE FEET

New York, May 23.—(AP)—The East's mythical sprint rowing fleet by almost common consent has been awarded to Ed Leader's crack Yale eight but Syracuse may be in a position to dissent by this time next week.

WEST SIDE CALL

The West Side baseball team will hold a practice session tonight at 6:15 and an important meeting will be held after practice. Coach "Hokey" Gustafson requests the following men to report: Johnny Tierney, Marcus Moriarty, Louis Farr, David McConkey, Eddie Werner, Red Hadden, Roy Fraser, Johnny Falkowski, Johnny Edwards, Joe Harvitt and Carl Sanderson.

Lacoste Is Playing In French Tourney

Autel, France, May 23.—(AP)—Lacoste, who has intended to remain on the sidelines for the big matches, acting as non-playing captain. La Costa, however, hastened to say that he intended to remain on the sidelines for the big matches, acting as non-playing captain. La Costa has not appeared in a championship match since he was forced by ill health to retire in 1929.

Burkhardt, Varrick Star, Aces Win 7-6

Tripled by Burkhardt and Varrick with men on bases had a good deal to do with the Aces' 7-6 victory over the New Britain Republicans here yesterday. New Britain was scheduled after Stafford had canceled their game with the local team. Varrick pitched for the locals, allowed only 10 hits, and struck out nine men. He also singled in the third with men on second and third, scoring the first two runs of the game. In the sixth, Burkhardt tripled with the bases loaded. Varrick, p. 2. 2nd Heat—Tie between Clough Hartford Public and Wittmann, Clough Hartford Public; Porter, Glastonbury. Time: 22.1.

Week End Sports

In the final match, that afternoon, Billy McWilliams of Rome, a University of Georgia player, on his home course (you might say) had Rainwater 3 down at the turn, and 8 down through the twelfth hole. It looked as if Destiny had miscued, right at the finish.

YALE NOW FACES ONLY PRINCETON

Eli Nime Has Great Chance To Win Eastern Collegiate Championship.

New York, May 23.—(AP)—The stretch run in the Eastern Intercollegiate Baseball League ends Yale clinging to margin of one game over Pennsylvania and Columbia, with a virtual tie for second place existing between the pursuers of the Blue. Despite the narrow space separating the three front teams, Yale remains the chief pennant favorite largely because Fenwick, the historic series against Princeton. The doubleheader against Pennsylvania completes the Columbia schedule but the Red and Blue must face in addition Princeton and Dartmouth in single games.

SENSE AND NONSENSE

Request
Please do not scatter roses upon my lonely life.
If in my life one single rose to me you never gave;
And do not sing a lovely song my senses cannot hear,
If while I lived you would not sing the songs I loved so dear.
Please do not utter praises of the life that I have lived,
If all my life my heart was starved for praise you did not give.
A few kind words, a cheery song, a flower, or a tear,
Will do ten thousand times more good while I'm alive to hear.

FIRST BANK PRESIDENT — So you let your old bookkeeper go. Couldn't he balance his accounts?
SECOND BANK PRESIDENT — Balance his accounts! He could juggle them.

A gentleman at the Symphony was annoyed by two women back of him who persisted in conversing continuously about their heart trouble, rheumatism and tonsils. Finally the exasperated gentleman broke forth:
"Pardon me ladies, I came to the Symphony, not an Organ recital."

SPRING SHORTS: Most of us try all the wrong ways before we submit to the right way of doing things. Business compels its practitioners to face realities. There's no report yet of a reduction in the wages of sin. . . . It seems to be quite apparent said the man as the family cat walked into the room leading twelve little kittens. . . . How the women do impose upon husbands who are "handy" around the house. . . . Try counting your blessings, instead of your money, for a change. You might be surprised. . . . We get ahead ourselves by helping other people forward. . . . The inheritance tax is going to be so high, one fears that all the rich men will be afraid to die. . . . One source of failure is inability to decide just what one wants. . . . A monologue is a conversation being carried on between a man and his wife. . . . This depression has turned many a lazy loafer into an "unfortunate victim."

Just An Arm's Length
Venus de Milo certainly was a girl who got the breaks!
A curious little boy was watching a car being loaded at the station, and later inquired: "Why do they call it a shipment when it goes in a car, and a cargo when it goes in a ship?"
Uncle—You boys of today want too much money. Do you know what I was when I married your aunt?
Nephew—Nope! And I'll bet you didn't either.
Most Wives Are Going To Find Heaven An Exceedingly Lonesome Place At First. They're So Used To Having Their Husbands Around.
Henderson—Did you set a steel trap on your front porch?
Harrell—Yeh, the wolf had better not come to my door.
Henderson—Well, you've caught a bill collector.

A certain local girl of our acquaintance is peeved, and, without straining the facts, we think she has grounds. She overheard her escort arranging to meet a bunch downtown.

"I'll be right along," he said. "It won't take me five minutes. I just have to take my girl home."

As Soon As A Fellow Shows Any Signs Of Ability To Bear Responsibility His Boss And Friends Begin To Load Him Up Like A Truck.

I would like to be a model And pose for pictures fair, But still I find that when I try It's more than I can bear.

SHRAPNEL: The tenor who can hold a note for three minutes has nothing on the banker who has to hold 'em for three months. . . . The only way to keep a shirt from shrinking is to buy one too large for you and to hope that it will. . . . And having high blood pressure at 30 isn't nearly as bad as having General Electric at 43. . . . The grocers might just as well forget the key on the sardin can for all the good it does. Leaders are men who come WITH a decision not FOR one.

Customer (In Brushville barber shop)—Your dog seems very fond of watching you cut hair.
Brushville Barber—It ain't that; some times I snip off a bit of a customer's ear.

A THOUGHT

For whosoever shall give you a cup of water to drink in my name, because ye belong to Christ, verily I say unto you, he shall not lose his reward.—St. Mary 9:37.

Resist as much as thou wilt; heaven's ways are heaven's ways.—Lessing.

ABOUT TOWN

Mrs. Byron Carrier and Miss Helen Carrier of Cambridge street have returned after spending a few days in New York City. They brought back with them Miss Gertrude Carrier, who has been spending the year in study at Teachers' College, Columbia University, and two of her friends, Miss Inez Parker and Miss Inez Knapp both of Buffalo, N. Y.

The Married Couples' Club of the Second Congregational church will have another Pot-luck supper Wednesday evening at 6:30. A brief address will follow by Dr. M. W. Norton of Hartford, and a period of games.

Miss Lillian G. Grant of Cambridge street will give an hour's program of readings and character sketches this evening at Hale House, Glastonbury, following the annual banquet of the Glastonbury Women's Club.

"Memorial Day" will be the subject of the D. A. R. broadcast tomorrow at 1:45 from WTIC. Hon. John L. Gilson, president of the New Haven Historical society and chairman for New Haven of the Washington Bicentennial committee will be the speaker.

The Epworth Circle of the South Methodist church will meet this evening at 7:45 with Miss Florence Lewis of 132 Pearl street.

Manchester Grange, P. of H. will take part in the lecturer's program of West Hartford Grange tomorrow evening. It will be "Neighbors' Night" with that Grange. The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock daylight saving time and local Grangers will be welcome to attend.

Miss Mary Hills who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. J. M. Preston of Grove street the past few weeks, has returned to her home in Northampton, Mass.

The Girls' Friendly society will meet this evening at Sunset Hill, weather permitting instead of at the parish hall.

Miss Mary J. Litter of 8 Cottage street was operated upon for appendicitis this morning at the Hartford hospital.

Union veterans of the Civil War and other military organizations will attend the morning service at the South Methodist church, Sunday, May 26.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Polito of 40 Irving street announce the engagement of their daughter Frances to Vincent Benvenuti, son of Mrs. Albert Benvenuti of Willimantic. A reception was held yesterday afternoon at the Polito home and about 50 guests were present. Many came from out of town.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Loveland of 33 Lewis street had as their weekend guests Mr. and Mrs. Robert Martin and son, Robert, Jr., and Mrs. Dorothy Vaillancourt of Waterbury.

Incoming and retiring officers of Manchester Assembly, Order of the Masonic Temple this evening at 6:45, in preparation for the semi-public installation at 8:15. Dancing will follow the ceremonial tonight.

Street Commissioner Nelson S. Kingsbury of Hartford will address the Manchester Retail Credit Association at its meeting tomorrow evening in the Hotel Sheridan.

Trinity Past Grands association will meet at Stafford Grange Wednesday afternoon, June 1 at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. Arthur J. Straw is now located at 414 East Center street. Since the death of Mr. Straw she has not lived at the large house on Woodbury street at Oakland which they occupied for many years.

The Democratic Women's club will meet Wednesday afternoon at 2:15, with the president, Mrs. Harry Rylander of 27 Govey street.

The monthly meeting of the Court of Honor of Manchester District, Boy Scouts of America, will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Second Congregational church. Motion pictures will be shown after the meeting and Scouts and their friends are invited to attend.

Because of the prolonged illness of Thomas Russell janitor at the Manchester police station it is not expected that he will be able to return to his duties there. Mr. Russell is well liked by the police and it will be difficult to find a janitor as accommodating as he has been.

A whist party arranged for by all of the different societies of St. Bridget's church, will be held in the basement of the church this evening. The committee has been active since its appointment and one of the largest gatherings that has yet been held in the church basement is being planned for.

REAL INSPIRATION

We find real inspiration in the fact that on Saturday last three most discriminating women, one from Hartford, one from New Haven and one from New York visited our Beauty Salon. Two of them were returning for permanents which they described as permanents in reality as well as in name. Upon request we shall be glad to furnish the names of these three women who place the value of their coiffure above quantity work.
