

HALE'S STORE SALE NEARLY COMPLETE

C. E. House and Son To Take Over Control If This Afternoon's Conference Is Successful—F. H. Anderson To Resign.

A conference was being held late this afternoon between representatives of the J. W. Hale Company, C. E. House and Son, and the Manchester Trust Company which was expected to result in the sale of the Hale store to an outside concern. Rumors of an outside concern have been heard through the town the past week. C. E. House is president of the J. W. Hale Company and except for Frank H. Anderson, the Hale store general manager, is the largest stockholder. It is expected that the House would take over the controlling stock.

Anderson to Resign
Herbert E. House, secretary-treasurer of the House Company, is the prime mover in the acquisition of the Hale Company and under the completion of the deal will probably take over the management of the Hale store. Frank H. Anderson, present general manager of Hale's expects to resign his position if the deal is completed. He has, however, agreed to remain with the store until the new management is thoroughly familiar with its work.

Practically Complete
The transaction has been under consideration for several weeks. It was practically completed today but there were many details to be settled before the deal could be called transacted. This afternoon's conference was being held to iron out these details. Should the arrangements for settling these minor factors be not satisfactory to Mr. House it is possible that the transaction will not be closed this afternoon. However, all parties concerned were confident the final papers would be signed before the day closes.

60 Years in Business
The name of House has been associated with Manchester for over 60 years. Since Manchester has any stores to speak of, Charles E. House is the dean of local merchants and this past winter was given a testimonial dinner upon completing 60 years in business. It will be recalled that in 1872, when he was but a young boy, he was the principal factor in the store's progressive merchandising campaigns and has won wide recognition among his department store executives for his modern methods of conducting the present transaction to be completed which he is not yet ready to divulge.

MILLS IS AGAINST PUBLIC WORKS PLAN

"It Means Public Borrowing" He Says, "and the Budget Must Be Balanced."

Washington, May 27.—(AP)—On behalf of the administration, Secretary Mills last night pronounced absolute opposition to any big public works program and any new bond issues.

He made his statement in specific reply to an employment plan recently proposed by Alfred E. Smith, but by coincidence or otherwise, Mr. Speaker Cannon was making public his detailed plan for bond-financed construction of hundreds of Federal buildings, miles of roads and waterways.

Means Public Borrowing
"Public works," said Mills, "mean public borrowing, an unbalanced budget and a stock to public confidence, for the country has relied on the definite assurance of the administration and of the congressional leaders would be balanced."

"The only way to balance the budget and to get rid of borrowing, is to cut expenses and to move the Treasury Department cannot surrender on this fundamental principle."

"The greatest hindrance to the revival of business in private industry is that it is employment that must be revived."

Mills, however, complimented Smith for his courageous public utterances and "his valuable support by his complete declaration in favor of the plan of the President's program."

2 HOUSES HIT AS STORM FURY CENTERS HERE

Cummings Home Badly Damaged By Fire—Barn Burns In Bolton—Several Places Are Struck.

Two Manchester houses were struck by lightning and one was badly damaged by fire during the severe electrical storm which swept the town early last evening. Two barns, one in Bolton, the other in South Coventry, were destroyed by fire after being struck by lightning.

Home Damaged
The most serious damage in Manchester was at the home of Burnett W. Cummings, well known Manchester milk dealer who lives at 172 South Main street. Mrs. Cummings miraculously escaped death when a ball of fire struck the attic while she was closing the window. Firemen were forced to cut through the roof to get at the flames and the water damage was high. The house was fully covered by insurance, it was stated by Mr. Cummings who was not home at the time. A tremendous crowd gathered at the scene somewhat handicapping the firemen.

Other Home Hit
The home of Leroy A. Hall, 80 Boston street, was also struck by lightning at the same time but no damage was done. Four feet of water was tipped off at well situated in the street. Mrs. Hall, sister of Mrs. Cummings, was at home at the time. Her husband has been in the Memorial hospital since March 26 and she has been at his bedside.

LEN SMALL FAVORS DRY LAW'S REPEAL

Former Illinois Governor and Former Dry Comes Out On the Wet Side.

Springfield, Ill., May 27.—(AP)—Former Gov. Len Small, Republican nominee for governor, told the Republican state convention today he was for repeal of the 18th Amendment.

His declaration came soon after he had been elected temporary chairman, Frank L. Smith of Dwight, Ill., a personal "dry," urged the delegates to adopt a platform plank for re-submission of the liquor question to the states and blamed the Democrats for placing the 18th Amendment in the Federal Constitution.

The statements of both Small and Smith were interpreted by observers as indications that for the first time since prohibition came into effect in 1920, Republicans in Illinois would wage a campaign on a platform that included repeal of the 18th Amendment or possible prohibition repeal among its planks.

Formerly a Dry
In his address, former Gov. Small, who in former years had been supported by the Illinois Anti-Saloon League, a "dry," quoted the outcome of the Illinois referendum of 1890, which showed sentiment two to one against prohibition. He said: "It is plainly evident that the sentiment of the people of Illinois is now even more overwhelmingly against prohibition than in 1890. I declare for the repeal of the 18th Amendment. Pending such repeal, I declare for modification of the Volstead Act to permit the sale and manufacture of beer and light wines."

Would Create Jobs
"The speedy modification of the Volstead Act to permit the manufacture and sale of beer and light wines would furnish employment in the brewery industry alone for 500,000 persons, and many times that number in inter-related industries."

"Federal excise tax on a gallon of beer would yield approximately $500,000,000 annually, to say nothing of local licenses."

"Even more important, the re-opened brewery industry, figuring on the 1924 basis, would require 1,000,000,000 pounds of malted barley a year, including grain produced upon the farms of Illinois, with the resultant immediate increase in the price of farm products, due to this increased demand."

"However, the repeal of the present Federal excise laws, would create a surplus of 10,000,000 bushels of grain, which has been estimated by a roll call."

SHIPS CRASH IN SOUND; FOUR BELIEVED KILLED

One Steamer Sinks In Fog Off Block Island—Other Rescues 32 Men of Crew; Find Three Bodies.

New London, Conn., May 27.—(AP)—The steamer Grecian and Chattanooga collided in fog off Block Island today, the Grecian sinking with a loss of four lives.

The Chattanooga rescued the remaining 32 members of the Grecian's crew and during the morning the bodies of three of the four men lost were recovered by one of the Coast Guard cutter boats at the scene at first report of the accident.

The Chattanooga, which left New York for Boston last night, proceeded for Boston with the rescued survivors and the bodies of the four men lost were recovered by one of the Coast Guard cutter boats at the scene at first report of the accident.

SENATORS EXPLAIN NO QUORUM STORY

Say They Were Working Late Night Before and Were Late in Appearing.

Washington, May 27.—(AP)—The Senate spent 20 minutes today telling the country how hard it works and explaining why none of its members was on hand yesterday when Vice President Curtis rapped the gavel at 10 a. m.

Senator Fess, Republican whip, read to the Senate an Associated Press story of Curtis' calling an empty Senate chamber to order and said it did not convey the right impression, though he did not deny the facts.

"It conveys the impression," Fess said, "that will not be corrected by the press that that body is tardy, indifferent and uncollected, with no sufficient regard for the public interest to be present when the Senate convenes."

All Working Hard
Several other senators joined in to tell how hard they and their colleagues had been working. Senator Harrison (D., Miss.) said the Senate had sat the night before until 10:15 and Senator Watson (R., Ind.) said seven committees had been meeting yesterday morning.

As Fess continued, Chairman Stodol of the finance committee stood beside his chair, impatient to resume consideration of the tax-bill.

Finally, Senator Reed (R., Pa.) said: "There's no use complaining. Let's get back to work on the bill."

Fess insisted the story had contained an inference that was not justified and was "terribly damaging in its impression on the public."

The story to which he referred had said that the Senate had suspended a quorum at 10:15 a. m. after minutes had been consumed by a roll call.

WETS AND DRIES WORRY LEADERS

Republicans Try To Figure Out How To Please Both Factions In Party.

Washington, May 27.—(AP)—The campaign year worries of the Republicans overshadowed for so long by the more spectacular tribulations of the Democratic campaign, a front-seat game more in national politics.

Writing a prohibition plank acceptable alike to Republican wets and drys has proved harder than many expected. Campaign funds raised almost non-existent. A fully qualified campaign manager still is lacking. Senator Borah has decided not even to attend the June 14 Chicago convention.

NOTED SCIENTIST IS UNDER ARREST

Man Who Went With Peary To the Far North Is Charged With Assault.

Hickory, N. C., May 27.—(AP)—Dr. Clarence Christian Craft, 52, member of Commander Peary's expedition to the North Pole in 1908 and associated with many United States government geodetic surveys, was arrested and jailed today when he threatened a Federal narcotic inspector with a revolver.

He was charged with an assault with a deadly weapon. The charge was preferred by John Dickson, of Charlotte, Federal narcotic inspector for this district, with whom Craft quarreled yesterday.

The craft has long been connected with various works for the government and with the Carnegie Institution at Washington.

In 1908-09 he was a member of the U. S. Geodetic Survey and assisted in government work in sailing for Army and Navy cables from Cape Flattery to Sitka, Alaska, in 1903.

He was a member of various survey expeditions for the government and from July to October in 1908, he was magnetic observer in the Commander Peary's ship "Esmeralda," going as far north as Greenland on the commander's trip to the North Pole.

He is a member of the Society of American Bacteriologists and the American Public Health Association. He also is a member of the Explorers Club of New York.

TRASURY BALANCE
Washington, May 27.—(AP)—Treasury receipts for May 25 were: $22,723,110.68; expenditures $70,965,958.87; balance $48,637,047.30. Customs duties for 25 days of May were $14,928,619.98.

DEAD FOR 16 YEARS, WRITES TO MOTHER

German War Veteran, Deported to Africa as War Prisoner, Reaches Palermo, Italy.

Endingen, Baden, Germany, May 27.—(AP)—Oskar Daubmann, 36, German war veteran who for sixteen years has been believed dead and whose name is engraved on a monument to the World War dead here, has written aged parents here that he has arrived at Palermo, Italy, alive and well.

He said after sustaining serious wounds in the Battle of the Somme in 1916 he tried to escape from a French war prison, was caught and deported to Africa from whence he now has arrived at Palermo.

HERRICK MAKES OATH MAYOR BOUGHT BONDS

Lindy to be Witness At the Curtis Trial

Hopewell, N. J., May 27.—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh is ready to take a personal hand in the prosecution of John E. Curtis for the hoax to which Curtis has confessed.

He has expressed to Prosecutor Anthony Hauck, willingness to take the witness stand if the "intermediary in the Lindbergh baby kidnapping case is indicted."

Just what action has been taken by the Hunterdon county Grand Jury has not been officially announced. It is generally understood, however, that Curtis has been indicted for obstructing justice by giving false clues while the hunt for the Lindbergh baby, then believed to be alive, was on.

SIX PERSONS HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Truck and Sedan Collide In Bridgeport—Two Are Seriously Injured.

Bridgeport, May 27.—(AP)—Six persons were injured, two seriously, when a large motor truck, Westabound, and a sedan crashed at 9:30 a. m. today at Madison and North avenues.

Both the truck and sedan were seriously damaged, and 75 crates of strawberries, on the truck, were scattered in the street. The collision scattered scores of persons in the neighborhood.

COLLEGE CAPTAINS TO BE ACCLAIMED

Manchester To Honor Its Sons Who Lead Teams On College Field Or Floor.

The Manchester Chamber of Commerce and the Manchester Evening Herald are planning a testimonial dinner here within the next few weeks, the date to be set later, in honor of Manchester young men who are captains of athletic teams in college. The number is so large that it is an outstanding record for a community this size.

The dinner will also be an honorary dinner for Joe McCluskey who will leave June 18 for the Olympics at Los Angeles, Calif.

The Captains
The captains so far noted to be honored are Al Lupien, captain of basketball at Harvard; Geoffrey Hain, captain of basketball at Princeton; Francis Burr, captain of swimming at Wesleyan; George Stantivally, captain of basketball at Grove City and Joseph McCluskey, captain of track at Fordham and the first athlete ever to go from Manchester to an Olympics.

A committee to take charge of the affair was selected today as follows: Clarence P. Quimby, Charles L. Wingren, Wilfred J. Clarke, Thomas F. Kelley, Edward J. McCabe, Ronald H. Ferguson, Walls A. Strickland, Thomas J. Rogers, Philip Carney, J. Leo Fry and Thomas W. Stone, the last named being Herald sports editor.

Dinner At 8
A meeting will be held soon with the fathers of the captains to be honored in an attempt to arrange a date when all can be here. It is hoped to have the dinner in the gymnasium of the Recreation Center, the scene of most of the athletes earlier sport triumphs.

Seek Others
There are possibly a few other Manchester young men or women who are at present captains of college teams in athletics who have been overlooked. In such event the Chamber of Commerce or The

New York Park Commissioner Denies Statement Made By Walker That He Owned No Inter-State Trust Co. Securities—Seabury Says Absence of Mayor's Secretary Appears To Be "Some Evidence of Guilt."

New York, May 27.—(AP)—Park Commissioner Walter R. Herrick testified before the Hofstadter legislative committee today that in the fall of 1926 he bought 500 shares of inter-state trust company stock and paid for them with $50,000 which was sent to him from the City Hall by either Mayor James J. Walker or his secretary, Edward Stanton.

Mayor Walker walks on the stand yesterday and Wednesday and he has had owned "directly or indirectly," say Inter-State stock. The mayor testified a block of the stock had been laid aside for him when the company was organized, and that he told several of his friends, including Herrick, they might buy some of it, but that he had never bought any himself.

not been notified. The house was plunged into darkness by the bolt but there was no serious damage.

Bolton Fire
Out in Bolton a large barn owned by Sebastian Gambolati near the home of Charles Finney, was destroyed by fire after it had been hit by lightning. Adjoining buildings including the house were saved by a bucket brigade. In South Coventry a horse barn and wagon shed owned by Countess Susan Dimock Catalani was destroyed in a similar fashion. Both were insured.

Lightning Also Struck a Tree
North School street mapping the three lines which carry electric light power to Talcottville. This village was left in darkness for an hour and a half before the damage could be repaired. Four transformer fuses were thrown out of commission and there were at least five cases of "blown" fuses in homes about Manchester.

Fire Alarm Affected
The storm came in the wake of long drought and brought great relief to farmers and gardeners. Rain fell for the greater part of the night. It was most intense shortly before 7 o'clock. The bolt of lightning which struck the Cummings house also threw the South Manchester Fire Department electric call system temporarily out of order. Meanwhile separate alarms were turned in from Boxes 415 and 417 on South Main street. As soon as the circuit was restored at the department headquarters located at No. 1's house both alarms came in, one following the other.

Handled Promptly
The first was reported at 7 and the second at 7:04. Normally two companies would have turned out but the double alarm brought out all four units. Chief Albert Foy sent No. 2 back to its headquarters to be on the job in case of any additional fires. Both No. 4 and No. 3, answering telephone calls, started for the fire before the alarms sounded. The other two companies, responding to the second alarm, were considerably handicapped in reaching the scene by motorists who clogged the highway.

Personal Notices
CARD OF THANKS
We extend our heartfelt thanks to all our friends and neighbors for help and comfort in our recent bereavement in the death of our beloved uncle and boarder, Michael Thurner. Mrs. Annie Pfeiffer and Daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kenbell and Daughter.

operation by the public in general at fires is constantly proving a handicap to the fire department. "It makes it more dangerous for all concerned and may yet result in a tragedy," the chief declared. He added that motorists all rush madly for the scene of the fire and never think of pulling up to the side of the road until the fire apparatus has passed. He also admitted that had two companies not gone ahead of the alarm last night, the Cummings fire might have been far more serious. What bothered Chief Foy more than anything else was the realization that the offenders include many highly educated people who should know better.

New Detectives
The fire at the Cummings home was not immediately detected. The crash burst out the electric light fuse and plunged the house into darkness. Mrs. Cummings said she suffered no ill effects from the lightning which struck the top of the chimney and entered the attic where she was closing a window. "I didn't even feel any sensation," she said. Mrs. Cummings hurried downstairs to see if her daughter, Miss Ariene C. Cummings, and her son, Theodore, were all right. The other children were not home at the time. Mr. Cummings was at the Lenti farm on Gardner street where he buys his milk. It was the third fire that had struck the Cummings home and each time Mr. Cummings has happened to be away at the time. The other two fires were of a similar nature. Mrs. Minnie Tucker, mother of Mrs. Cummings, who lives in the house, was in Hartford at the time.

Search the House
Mrs. Cummings and Arlene searched in the cellar and other places to see if there had been any damage. It was not until a few minutes later that they realized the house was safe from Mrs. Sherwood E. Martin who lives next door. Mrs. Martin was cutting out a dress at the time and had a pair of shears in her hand. The electric shock momentarily dazed her throwing her against the dining room buffet. A little later she, too, started examining the house to see if there had been any damage. It was then that she noticed bricks lying on the lawn side of the Cummings house and then saw smoke pouring from the attic.

Cover Furniture
Neighbors assisted Mrs. Cummings and her children in removing clothing, valuables and bureau drawers from their burning home. When the firemen arrived, large canvas sheets were spread over the furniture on the first two floors and this prevented a much heavier loss later when water came through the ceiling and plaster fell in many places. Meanwhile the firemen were cutting their way through the gabled roof and pouring water and chemicals onto the flames which were difficult to reach. A very large crowd gathered to watch the fire. Mrs. Cummings and her daughter remained in the house throughout the fire assisting in moving current pictures and other articles to places of cover. They spent the night at the home of friends, J. R. Foster and James O. McCaw.

CRISP SETS DATE FOR RELIEF BILL

Committee To Hear Arguments For And Against Measure Early Next Week

Washington, May 27.—(AP)—Acting Chairman Crisp today set Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week for hearings before the House ways and means committee on Speaker Garner's $2,100,000,000 relief bill.

On Tuesday the committee will hear those favorable to the bill, on Wednesday those opposed and on Thursday administrative officials including Secretary Mills and Charles G. Dawes, head of the Reconstruction Corporation.

The bill goes into the hopper today. The committee will seek to complete consideration quickly. "By next Friday we can begin work on the final draft of the bill in executive session," Crisp said.

Other Stipulations
Down in Portland the home of Herbert E. Ellsworth on Homestead avenue was damaged to the extent of $300 when fire started after the kitchen had been hit by lightning. Firemen had to be called by messenger as the telephone and fire alarm mechanism had been put out of commission by the electrical storm. In Southington two barns owned by Stanley Ognowski of Newell street were destroyed after lightning struck two adjoining sheds. Damage was placed at $5,000. Firemen had to pump water from the Quimby river to save another barn after a three-hour fight.

Man Killed
Fant, the man killed while fishing at Beniam Lake was in a rowboat with John Kittle, also of Torrington. Kittle was stunned and when he regained consciousness he found his companion dead in the boat. There was a hole through a tobacco can in his pocket. Kittle rowed ashore. There were many other places throughout the state where lightning struck but no other serious damage or loss of life was reported from the violent thunder storm which brought the recent mid-summer heat wave to an abrupt termination.

About Town
W. B. A. Juniors will attend the Junior Rally in Sunshine hall, Hartford, tomorrow afternoon at 1:30. There will be a program of ritualistic work, entertainment and refreshments. Mrs. Richard Gutierrez is the local junior supervisor.

Miss Gertrude Gardner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Gardner of Spruce street, will dance at the recital to be held at the Women's Club in Hartford tonight. Although Miss Gardner is only nine years old she has quite definitely decided to be a professional dancer and judging from the public appearances she has already made, her friends are looking forward to a very successful career for her. At the recital Miss Gardner will do a waltz solo the "Gavotte."

HERICK IS CERTAIN MAYOR BOUGHT BONDS

paid for with $50,000 sent to him by the City and by either the mayor or his secretary, Edward Stanton.

He testified that 350 shares of the stock were issued in his, Herick's name, and that the endorsement on the certificate showed that 25 shares were to go to Clifton, and the rest were to be broken up into five units of 100 shares each, two of 50 shares each, and one of 25 shares.

Herick testified that all were put in his name, but that he actually got only 25 shares.

Herick testified that whether the $50,000 came to him from the mayor or Stanton, or from the mayor's secretary, these were the only persons who had any part in the purchase of the stock for Mayor Walker.

He said he had met Stanton recently and had talked about the matter with him, and that Stanton had said that he (Stanton) probably had handled the matter.

Bought For Mayor
"There is no question, however," Herick added, "that, if Stanton handled it, he handled it for the mayor."

While Mayor Walker was on the stand, Herick questioned him about the ownership of the Inter-State stock, part of which, according to testimony previously heard, was used by J. Allan Smith, New York agent of the Equitable Building Company, to take a $25,000 loan.

Chief Mayor Walker denied he ever owned any of the stock. Seabury intimated to him that Commissioner Herick had given contradictory testimony in a private examination and asked the mayor if he would make any further statement about the matter.

Walker repeated his denial and said he had nothing more to say on the subject.

Walker testified former Governor Shipper, while organizing the Inter-State Trust company, set aside for Stanton 350 shares of the stock, the privilege of buying them at $130 a share.

HITS BOY'S BICYCLE YOUNGSTER IS HURTY

Boy Was Pushing Vehicle Up Hill When Passing Auto Hits Handle Bars.

Stanley Kwiatkowski, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Kwiatkowski, of 43 Edwards street was struck and injured by a taxi owned and driven by James Foley, on Main street, west of the intersection of Lilley at 12:35 this afternoon. Foley was driving south on Main and when opposite the intersection of Main and Lilley streets a passing car crowded him over to the right. His car caught the handle-bar of the boy's wheel which was being pushed up the hill on the edge of the curb. A part of the boy's bicycle struck the boy a glancing blow on the top of his head, inflicting a wound on his scalp. The bicycle was badly damaged.

Foley took the boy to the Manchester Memorial Hospital where the wound was treated by the resident physician. The boy was later taken to his home.

SENATE TO WORK THROUGH HOLIDAY

Members Determined To Push Through Revenue Bill.

Washington, May 27.—(AP)—Doggiedly driving through the revenue bill, Senate leaders today determined to forego the usual Decoration Day holiday on Monday to speed the conclusion of the budget balancing legislation.

The sales tax—a general levy of 1.75 per cent on all sales—was formally laid before the way legislators by Senator Walsh (D., Mass.), at the outset of today's session, and a bitter contest impended.

Going ahead with the remaining rate schedules, the Senate restored a 10 per cent tax on furs, adding $15,000,000 to the measure which is still about $50,000,000 short of its budget-balancing goal.

By the overwhelming vote of 72 to 3, it also concurred in the finance committee's decision to strike from the House bill a provision allowing revaluation of estates for purposes of fixing the inheritance tax.

The House proposal would have permitted revaluation of those estates whose owners died just prior to the start of present economic conditions in order to permit an allowance for depreciated values.

Although advocates of the sales levy claimed a bare majority, this was sharply disputed by the opposition. A showdown is not expected before Monday.

Commissioner Herick testified he turned over 300 shares of the Inter-State stock to Stanton, with the understanding they were going to the mayor.

CAPITAL PREPARED FOR VEILS COMING

Over 1,000 Already There and More On Way To Plead For a Bonus.

Washington, May 27.—(AP)—Brigadier-General Paul H. Gosford, Washington chief of police today held the unique position of secretary-treasurer of the "Bonus Expeditionary Forces."

The police chief, who has been active in trying to prevent marchers from coming to the capital, was elected last night at a meeting of former soldiers in Judiciary Square to which he had gone to serve an order.

Accepting the unexpected position, Gosford called a meeting of his assistants to devise ways of caring for the 1,000 ex-servicemen now in the capital and the many others on route to demand immediate payment in full of the bonus.

The police chief told the veterans, who formed the "Bonus Expeditionary Forces" last night, that the burden of caring for them rests upon the residents of Washington, where there already are 19,000 unemployed.

NOW IN OHIO
Aurora, Ind., May 27.—(AP)—Ohio authorities took over transportation of the Oregon "bonus" here today.

The veterans, on their way to Washington to demand a cash settlement of their adjusted service certificates, unloaded from Indiana National Guard trucks here and climbed aboard a fleet of Ohio highway commission trucks. A few minutes later their journey continued as they were en route to the state capital.

GOODWIN TO RUN IN MASSACHUSETTS

Chairman of Finance Board To Be Candidate For Governor This Fall.

Boston, May 27.—(AP)—Frank A. Goodwin, chairman of the Boston Finance Commission and former registrar of motor vehicles, is a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

His platform is tax reform, abatement of compulsory automobile insurance rates, banking safeguards and tightening on prison pardons.

He said he would not resign from his position as chairman of the finance commission to make his campaign and Governor Joseph B. Ely made it known that he would not request Goodwin to quit his position.

The announcement came as a surprise yesterday when the finance chairman made public his intention to run against Lieutenant Governor William S. Youngman.

Goodwin declared his refusal to recognize "the custom and accepted belief that the nomination belongs by right to the lieutenant governor" in his announcement.

His candidacy, he said, was a protest against the burden of taxation carried by real estate and he promised to seek out the tax dodgers and force them to pay their rightful share.

Compulsory automobile insurance, banks, prohibition and the "jail delivery of murderers, bandits and thieves through the aid of political lawyers" were to be subjects dwelt on during his campaign.

"The Republican Party in Massachusetts is in a bad way," he said. "It has no real leadership and can have none, with any appeal to the rank and file, so long as it takes orders from the financial district of Boston."

Goodwin's attempt to be nominated in next fall's primary will be his second bid for gubernatorial honors. In 1928 he ran against former Governor Frank G. Allen and polled 171,167 votes.

The present lieutenant governor, Goodwin said, "was nominated with only 113,805 votes some 57,362 less than my vote."

The support given Goodwin in 1928 without organization or money, he contended is ample justification for his candidacy this year.

WHAT CHANCE AL SMITH?

1928 Nominee Again In Race for the Presidency; "Happy Warrior" Is Successful In Business

The famous brown derby of four years ago has given way to the suit hat for Al Smith is a big business man now. Smith is pictured here in a closeup, while the sketches show some of his activities that have kept him before the public since he was defeated for the presidency.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of two stories on Al Smith, the Democratic standard bearer of 1928 who is again a candidate for the presidential nomination. These sketches conclude a series on "The Big Three in the Democratic Race" in which Roosevelt and Garner already have been discussed.

By DEXTER TEED
NEA Service Writer

New York, May 25.—The Al Smith now opposing his former bosom friend, Franklin D. Roosevelt, for the Democratic presidential nomination is a different Al from the brown-derbyed, jovial "Happy Warrior" who was defeated by Hoover in 1928.

In the three and a half years that have passed since he finished the last of his four terms as governor of New York state, Smith has been battling to keep afloat in business and save himself from being sunk into the political oblivion that is usually the lot of defeated candidates.

It has involved breaks with his political pals, Roosevelt and James A. Farley, a mixup with Tammany Hall and Mayor Walker and the overcoming of a series of business breaks in a business world struggling with depression. That he has escaped unscathed is a matter of record.

But it has produced a new Al, a more serious Al, with gray hair and a renewed confidence in himself. This confidence is partly because of his successes in the face of obstacles, but it also is due to the popular swing toward principles he has advocated—return to the states of all power on the liquor question, federal relief for unemployed, lower tariffs and nationalism as opposed to extreme internationalism.

His supporters say the experiences he has had since 1928 have increased it, regardless of whether he can be nominated or merely play a role in dictating the nomination and party platform.

It was generally supposed after Hoover defeated him that Smith was through with public life. In that first year he dictated his biography and articles for newspapers and magazines. Many guessed it was a summing up at the end of a distinguished career.

Al refused to run for mayor of New York, although he did campaign for his assembly cronies, James J. Walker. His friendship with Roosevelt continued and he nominated Roosevelt for governor in the last state convention. The dry element in the Democratic party tried to oust him as leader but failed.

His break with Tammany Hall was never fully explained but there was a break after his defeat. As Hoover had carried New York state in 1928 it was generally reported that Tammany had double-crossed the famous product of the sidewalks of New York.

Al refused to take a part in the Seabury investigation into graft in New York City, although he is on record as declaring that "the unfaithful should be brought to justice." His break with Walker was not of a serious nature and was probably occasioned by the much publicized playboy activities of New York's mayor.

Smith has insisted that he agrees with the principle of Grover Cleveland that "a public office is a public trust."

With his political activities continuing at intervals, Al, meanwhile, had entered business in a big way. He was soon director of half a dozen corporations, chairman of the board of a trucking company and interested indirectly in other projects.

Entering business at the onset of the depression, he was in a "tough spot" almost at once. James J. Riordan, his friend and president of the County Trust Company, killed himself. Al, a member of the board of that company, had to act swiftly. He was elected chairman of the board. People had confidence in him and the bank was saved.

When John J. Raakob, the Democratic national chairman, and his associates started financing the projected Empire State building they conferred with Al. He was picked as president of Empire State,

Inc. This was his first real entry into big business, but he came in as a salaried employee, at $50,000 a year, not as a capitalist.

The achievement of building the highest man-made structure in the world is well-known. But there is another side which isn't so well known. Since the building has been completed Al has been in the thick of the fight to rent it, keep the observation tower tourist business profitable and spike the wild rumors about it. In a depression like this, with an initial investment of $51,000,000, that alone might have shaken a weaker man. But Al has survived and has found time to do many other things. He has found time to make addresses at many public gatherings and has attended many of the important national conferences of his party.

Smith isn't a millionaire but he is, as they say, well-fixed; and he has made what money he has in the years since he rose from the East Side slums to national prominence.

After a long absence, Smith appeared at the Victory dinner of Tammany last winter and on the surface, at least, differences between the hall and him were patched up. To the rank and file he is still the great hero of the Tiger, although—John F. Curry, head of Tammany, and he undoubtedly clash on several points.

The break with Roosevelt and Farley can be traced to the same source. They both reasoned Al was through as a presidential possibility. Roosevelt tactfully started a drive for the presidency and Farley went along with him as campaign manager. That irked Al. And when he leaped to his feet at the Democratic Jefferson Day rally recently in Washington and cried he would "take off his coat and fight" he soon proved that Roosevelt and Farley had made a mistake in counting him out. He isn't through. He's an aged-in-experience Al, a warrior who isn't wholly happy but a strong opponent for even Franklin Roosevelt with all his personal charms.

BELIEVE 40 DROWNED

Shanghai, May 27.—(AP)—Forty persons were believed to be missing today from the river steamer Ling, of the American Yangtze Rapids Steamship Company. A report to the company said the boat struck a rock 235 miles above Ichang Wednesday and sank.

J. Anderson of Brooklyn, N. Y., captain of the boat, made the report to the company. He was rescued and arrived today at Chungking, 115 miles above the scene of the wreck aboard a Chinese steamer. He telegraphed the office of the company here, saying the Ling sank in a dangerous spot in the river; within the Yangtze gorges, making salvage impossible. One hundred members of the crew and 40 passengers were aboard, he said, all believed to be Chinese. Chinese junks below the wreck rescued a number of the passengers and crew, he said, but 40 were missing and at least 10 were believed to have drowned.

YOUTH IS SUSPECTED

Pawtucket, R. I., May 27.—(AP)—An 18-year-old Pawtucket senior high school boy, was picked up by the Anderson of Brooklyn, N. Y., for questioning in connection with the killing of John Ruselovitch, 58-year-old Seekonk, Mass., farmhand. Ruselovitch's body was found recently behind a stone wall bordering a road in Seekonk. His head had been crushed and he had been stabbed.

The questioning of the boy today followed a long period of questioning yesterday of an older man, living on the same street as the boy. The police said the man probably would be questioned further today. After the Pawtucket police had examined the boy today, he was turned over to State Trooper William Smith of the Massachusetts state police and Policeman Victor Leach of Seekonk.

ENCOURAGE EXPERIMENTS IN PROPAGATING GROUSE

Permits Granted Breeders To Take Eggs For Experimental Purposes Under State Regulation.

The recent success of Dr. Arthur A. Allen, of Cornell University, in raising ruffed grouse after ten years of experimentation, has prompted the Connecticut State Board of Fisheries and Game to issue permits to a limited number of game breeders allowing them to take not more than one setting of wild grouse eggs each for scientific experiments along the same lines employed by Dr. Allen.

But few breeders in the state can comply with requirements of the State Board in securing permits. The methods that must be followed call for strict adherence to the Cornell scientist's procedure, including use of electrically heated incubators, brooders and elevated wire-floored rearing pens. While a number of game farmers attempting propagation of quail have equipment quite similar to that employed in raising of grouse, expense of purchasing recommended grouse equipment and the uncertain results that may be obtained have deterred breeders of average means from venturing into the new field of grouse production.

The scientifically inclined breeder of independent means is about the only one being encouraged by the State Board at the present time. Those depending upon game raising for a livelihood would incur considerable risk of financial loss should they be unsuccessful. Even Doctor Allen's success has been achieved only with considerable loss of birds. Of 349 eggs set last Spring, but 101 grouse reached maturity. However, this constitutes the largest number ever raised artificially in this country and it has brought cheer to lovers of America's finest game bird.

It is only within the past ten or fifteen years that sportsmen have really awakened to the fact that our grouse were disappearing at an altogether too rapid rate. Agitation reached its peak a few years ago when an entirely closed season was inaugurated. The cycle of grouse disease which periodically visits northern sections of the United States cut a wide swath in the grouse population on its last occurrence and little hope was held for survival of the bird in any great numbers.

Commissioner Charles F. Griffin stated today: "Just what success will attend efforts of breeders experimenting with grouse is problematical. There are a number in Connecticut who will unselfishly incur considerable expense just for the good of the game. Sportsmen of this type are usually turning up at the right time willing to help with no desire for financial gain. An instance of this may be cited in the case of the State Agricultural College seeking equipment for the contemplated game breeding course. Under the Six-Year Plan it is proposed to institute the course next Fall, but lack of suitable equipment and funds to secure it has deterred the trustees. Mr. Oliver G. Jennings, of Fairfield, has very kindly offered to supply the school with the Coleman type of quail rearing equipment and the project has been greatly aided by that contribution."

RADIO AMATEURS HERE SEND MESSAGES FREE

Members of League To Transmit To Any Amateur Station—Delivery Not Guaranteed.

Members of the American Radio Relay League have inaugurated a unique plan to relay messages free of charge to owners of amateur radio stations throughout the United States and Canada for the general public. League headquarters in Hartford has issued radio-gram blanks and at least one member of the league living in this town, Forrest Howell of 3 Edgerton Place, owner and operator of radio station WILKX, will transmit messages of not more than ten words to any point in the United States or Canada.

Foreign Service, Too. In addition to the above messages, radiograms will be sent to foreign countries where there are amateur stations. Acknowledgment of the messages will likewise gladly be handed without charge by the receiving station. All messages are handled by station owners solely for the pleasure of operating. Delivery will not be guaranteed absolutely, and neither the League nor its members accept responsibility for the non-delivery of messages. However, the likelihood of prompt service is very good in all countries where government regulations permit traffic handling by amateurs.

In addition to the pleasure of operating, a contest to see which member can complete the largest number of messages will be conducted by the league. Further information concerning the details of the plan can be secured by calling Forrest Howell, 3 Edgerton Place, phone 7390.

TO EXTRADITE EX-SPY

London, May 27.—(AP)—The home office has under consideration an application to extradite from New York a man listed by the police there as Captain Frederick Joubert Duquense and described as the "cleverest and most dangerous" agent of the Central power during the World War.

It was explained officially that, contrary to some reports, Duquense is not regarded as having been connected in any way with the loss of H. M. S. Hampshire, in which Lord Kitchener was drowned.

If extradition proceedings are started their purpose will be to bring the man back to face a charge of murder in connection with the death of three seamen in an explosion on the British freighter Terryon off the coast of Brazil more than fifteen years ago.

TOLLAND

Miss Alice E. Hall of the Seymour High school faculty spent Saturday at Connecticut Agricultural College at Storrs where she attended the annual spring meeting and luncheon of the Connecticut Home Economics Association.

Mrs. Rupert West spent Wednesday as guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ivad Wilcox at Merrow, Conn.

Mrs. Darius Bennett of Mansfield, Miss Lella Webster with friends from Hartford were Sunday afternoon guests at the summer home of Dr. and Mrs. Wright B. Bean at "Inspiration Point."

Charles C. Talcott with friends from Hartford are spending a few days in Canada.

Rev. William C. Darby and Mrs. Darby of Bristol, R. I., called on some of his former parishioners Wednesday.

Mrs. Ellen Colson of Holyoke, Mass., is a guest of her niece, Mrs. I. Tilden Jewett and Mr. Jewett.

Next Sunday will be observed as

Memorial Sunday at the Federated church. Representatives from patriotic societies from Rockville will be present. The Girls' Choir will render special music. Graves of soldiers in the three cemeteries will be decorated.

"Polly Wants a Cracker" will be presented at the Tolland Town Hall Saturday evening, June 4 by the Naugatuck Valley Players, under the auspices of the Tolland Truck company. Members of out-of-town fire companies are planning to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Lathrop of Hartford were guests of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Charter, Wednesday.

Miss Thelma Price, a teacher at the Kent High school, and Dr. Harris W. Price of West Newton, Mass., are week-end and holiday guests of their father, Lewis E. Price.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Essex of Willington Hill were callers at the home of Lewis E. Price Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Newman were Sunday guests of their daughter, Mrs. Gertrude Newman Geary and family of Hartford.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Miller and three children, L'arjorie, Louis and Richard have returned to East Hampton, L. I., after spending some time with Mrs. Miller's mother, Mrs. Laura Judson.

"DAWN DANCE" TO BE HELD AT RAU'S SUNDAY

One of the attractions at Rau's this week-end is a Dawn Dance on Sunday evening, May 29th, preceded by a concert from eleven o'clock till midnight. Gene Samaroo's Venetians from Hollywood, California, who are now touring the East, will furnish the music. The Venetians are known from coast to coast for their renditions of dance music over the air and in the leading hotels and ballrooms. On Saturday night, May 28th, Harry Brinkman and his Society Orchestra will play their first engagement this season. This band played its way into the plaudits of Crystal Lake dance fans last year and their first appearance this season is anxiously awaited by an increasing and faithful patronage.

Memorial evening, May 30th, Gene Samaroo and his Venetian Orchestra will again furnish the music. If you miss this band Sunday night, be sure and hear them.

MIXED DOUBLE MATCH

The Manchester A and B teams will bowl the Maple teams of Hartford represented by Mr. and Mrs. Friak and Mrs. Williams with Mike Bogino tonight. These teams are leading the league and the men are members of the Blue Ribbon team. This match will be at 8 o'clock at the Charter Oak alleys.

FRIDAY, MAY 27.

It is just. Possibly the one favoring reason might outweigh the hundred reasons against.

A man who bought a house in 1928 at a price of $15,000, paid
 $3,000 down and negotiated two mortgages of $7,500 and $2,500, is now sunk because his house wouldn't bring, in almost any case, a nickel above the face of the mortgages.

The equity has disappeared. If the bank forecloses or otherwise got back the $7,500 it loaned on mortgage it would be receiving at least the equivalent of a 1928 $10,000 in purchasing power. Same way with the holder of the second mortgage.

Should a court, in such a case, relieve the debtor of a third of each of his debts the debtor could settle on a basis that would return to the creditors the actual present value and leave the mortgagor his value-equity, represented by $3,533.33.

Everybody would then be as well off relatively as he was before the dollar suddenly gained so enormously in purchasing power.

In principle this is merely a modification of the bankruptcy law; the difference being that a bankrupt seeks forgiveness of all his debts; the applicant under the kind of law we are suggesting would ask relief from only such part of his debt as had grown up since the debt was contracted.

Maybe we will have to come to something like that some of these days if we definitely arrive at the conclusion that it is impossible to stabilize and rationalize money power by manipulation of the currency. It might be better than readjustment through universal bankruptcy.

MILK PRICES

The warning issued to Connecticut dairymen by Commissioner of Agriculture Buckingham against paying their good money into wildcat organizations which propose to force
 up the price of milk through restriction of the supply ought not to be necessary.

If the dairymen are finding it difficult to make both ends meet at the existing price of milk their plight is no different from that of any other agricultural group or individual and exactly the same as industrialists, business men and workers generally. What is proposed by the Farmers National, Inc., of Norwich, is really a strike organization.
 The plan is to get all dairymen to unite, establish a profitable price for milk and then refuse to sell below that established price. It is a very simple plan.

It would be the same thing precisely if the factory workers of the country were to unite, agree on a fair number of hours of employment
 each week and a fair rate of pay,
 and then refuse to accept any fewer hours or any lower pay schedule.
 The factories would close.

Aside from the impracticability of the scheme as pointed out by Commissioner Buckingham there is one very simple reason why it would not work. If the price went up the demand would diminish. If it went up high enough the demand would practically disappear. The people, with the exception of a negligible few, would get along without milk because they would have to get along without it. They would substitute evaporated milk for fresh and if the supply of evaporated should fall in this country it would be imported. The dairymen cannot get blood out of a stone. So far as any considerable increase in retail milk prices is concerned the nation is a stone.

RAISING "TOO MUCH"

Some Herald readers may have wondered a bit, from time to time, precisely what this newspaper means when it says, now and then,
 that it doesn't believe the educational system of this country is worth, in results, anything like what it costs in money and sacrifice.

Perhaps it will help a little in making our position clear if we make the assertion that we believe any educational system to be a failure that does not develop the understanding of any normal boy and girl so that, at the age of fourteen,
 he or she would be incapable of such a muddled belief as this, expressed by the New Haven Journal-Courier:

The simple cause of all the farmer's trouble is that he raises too much. He won't get relief until he raises less.

Raises too much with relation to what? With relation to human needs—when all over the world there are myriads of stomachs that have never once been full? With relation to their own fellow countrymen—when the bread lines are blocks long?

When was wheat ever carried over because there was no need of it anywhere? When were steers ever killed and buried because nobody wanted the meat? When was the world ever made poorer by the creation of new wealth?

LAST RESORT

Pretty much everything in the way of a solution of the plight of the debtor, caused by deflation of values, seems to have been suggested in one place or another except
 one. This is it:

First condition a proposed law of the retention of the gold standard.
 Next provide by that law that any debtor may apply to a court of record for an order adjudicating his debt according to the purchasing power of the dollar when the debt was contracted and its present purchasing power. Provide that such adjudication shall be final. Provide the technical machinery for determining the actual purchasing power of the dollar on every January 1 of this century up to the last one and for each subsequent year as it terminates.

There are only about a hundred good reasons why such a scheme would be impracticable. There is

IN NEW YORK

The Little Church
 New York, May 27.—The Little Church Around the Corner, now a pastoral parson in Spring hues against its hulking, leaden neighbors, remains a salmagundi of the nation's romantic disturbances.

And are there quakings and quiv-erings in the torrid heart zones?
 Superficial analysis of the charts would indicate that young men and maids, content to flirt with the dawn and dance away the night when times were more carefree, are beginning to relax into serious romance and matrimony.

There are further indications that Cupid Ltd., will be up about ten points by June.

Whatever the status of legal tenderness: Last year, the Little Church linked more than 2000 couples. And no signs of depression
 at the moment.

In order to take care of the Hymenial rush, answer the thousands of questions and attend to requests of oldsters and newsters,
 a busy little marriage factory functions behind the serene and soothing exterior of the big town's far-famed church. Highly efficiencized methods have been adopted to meet the flood of demands for information, on fees, rituals and the like. A business-like pamphlet must substitute for more romantic literature.

It's a Business

And if you've wondered what a wedding at the Little Church might cost, here are a few figures from a folder:

The office fee is $3 . . . a voluntary offering to church and clergyman is expected to be not less than $10 . . . use of the chapel is $10 and the church itself costs $25 . . .
 where a party of 12 friends or more are asked, certain extras may be involved . . . special organ music, with wedding marches, etc., runs to $10 . . . When one desires all the trappings, including savings and candles, a blanket fee averages about $50 up.

Oh, yes, and if you forget to bring your own witness, or don't happen to know anyone in New York, it's possible to retain one for $25.

Naturally, one clergyman cannot attend to all the weddings. The Rev.
 Randolph Raf gets around to as many as possible, but requires no less than two assistants.

When 42 wedding records are being established, as they have been, ceremony speed up the shifts. A 30-minute turnover is often recorded.

So there you are! Pick your mate and come along—you'll find the Little Church, framed by flowering shrubs and trees, hemmed by a meticulously trimmed hedge, a crisis-crossed by a tiny crunchy path . . . And you'll have plenty of company!

We New Yorkers

In a novel I read recently, a country girl turns down the marriage offer of her New York sweetheart while sitting round talking to each other about the so-called smart things of the town. You'd see the new shows and hear about the who's-who and you'd get in the habit of trying to keep up with D-tag. Yes, you'd be surprised how many nobodies there are with her man's town. And, if by chance, you came upon a native New Yorker, chances are you'd find him a timid soul, timid as you could be and

QUAKE RECORDED

Sydney, Australia, May 27.—
 (AP)—The observatory at Riverview recorded a heavy earthquake shock at 2:16 a. m. today. The quake was centered about 1,000 miles east of Sydney.

more of its bounty than humanity could utilize if not denied access to it. There has never yet been too much production from the soil.
 There has never yet been quite enough. Millions of undernourished, incomplete human beings testify to that. Besides, if the farmers have been raising too much food,
 where is it—where is the surplus?
 A few paltry millions of bushels of wheat in storage—merest drop in the bucket—represents the bulk of the fictitious excess; and China could gobble it up in a week.

The food that the farmers of this country raise is eaten. The cotton and wool they raise are made into clothes and worn. What kind of a madhouse economic creed is it that demands they shall raise less—the effect that there will be less than is needed to feed and clothe the nation?

It contemplates the shocking pos-tulate that profit from scarcity is more important than human life.

As a matter of fact the cause of all the farmers' ills is not in the least in his raising too much but altogether in his inability to exchange his product for supplies, security and debt amortization. That is the consequence of a score of economic errors mostly far outside the responsibility of the agriculturalist and all of them quite apart from his husbandry. He is shut away from his markets. He is paying fixed charges on the basis of inflation with products sadly deflated.
 He is the victim of fiscal blundering, of weak laws that do not keep our economic house in order and of wrong laws that serve to oppress and ruin him. He has never produced too much and cannot produce too much—if we reorganize our machinery of distribution so that his product will not jam and back-flood him on its way to its natural destination.

 By DR. FRANK MOORE

SNUFFLES AND ADENOIDS

Adenoids are a common affection
 of children between the ages of five
 and ten years. At least ten percent
 of these children are estimated to
 have enlarged adenoids. Adenoids
 are really an overgrowth of the adenoid tissue in the pharynx. This is really lymphatic tissue similar to the tonsils. It is only when this tissue becomes enlarged that it may be considered dangerous to the child's health.

There is usually also an enlargement of other lymph glands and the tonsils. Adenoids may seriously affect the body growth, the metabolism and facial expression of a child.
 Almost all children having snuffles
 are really troubled with enlarged
 adenoids.

The most noticeable thing about
 adenoids is mouth breathing, which
 sometimes causes a deformed chest,
 stunted facial expression, stunting of
 growth, and even when sleep is greatly disturbed, usually accompanied by loud snoring breathing
 and nightmares.

Catarth Present

When adenoids are present, the child will generally be troubled with
 other disorders of catarrhal nature, more especially bronchitis.
 Often children are accused of being
 stupid or cross when they are simply troubled with adenoids.

The teeth are sometimes greatly
 misshapen because the bony framework does not form properly. Pigeon
 breast, barrel chest, or funnel
 breast are three types of deformity
 frequently affecting the chest of the mouth breather who has adenoids.

There are two ways in which the
 body may be injured when these growths occur. Either from poisonous toxins caused by their infection,
 or from mechanical interference of
 the air passage from the nose.

Children with adenoids are often
 unable to blow the nose. The voice
 becomes hoarse and muffled and
 there is often a loss of the sense of smell.

When the adenoids become infected, the inflammation may spread to
 the inner ear and cause deafness.
 The skin usually is pale and anemic.
 The adenoids cause a disfigurement
 by broadening the root of the nose
 and causing the teeth of the upper jaw to stick out. And the root of the mouth becomes narrow and highly arched. Often the teeth do not meet together properly.

De N. Delay

The treatment for adenoids should
 not be delayed until the discovery
 is made, as they do not only endanger the child's health but may
 lead to almost incurable malformations of the jaws, palate, nose and
 face. An examination for adenoids
 should be made whenever the child
 shows any symptoms, such as
 mouth breathing, deafness, stunted
 expression, disturbed sleep, muffled
 voice or frequent colds.

In most cases the large adenoids
 can be reduced to normal by short
 fruit fasts followed by a non-starchy
 diet, but if the adenoid tissue has become greatly enlarged, it may be sometimes advisable to use surgical measures. However, before an anesthetic is considered, the thymus
 gland should also be examined, for,
 if it is too large, death may occur
 during an anesthetic. An enlarged thymus is frequently found with
 adenoids.

During the treatment with the
 fast and diet to bring about a cure,
 the child should be trained to breath
 through its nose rather than its
 mouth and it is a good plan also to increase the breathing capacity by systematic exercise.

 (Orange Hind)

Question: A. M. asks: "Please tell me if there is any food value to the white part of the rind of oranges."
 Answer: The white part of the orange has no food value but it is of assistance in producing bulk for the bowels.

(Goltra)

Question: Mrs. J. H. writes: "I have been following a fasting and
 eating regime to overcome my goitre. I have lost considerable
 weight, and during the fasting
 period the goitre became much smaller, but since I have started to eat it seems to be getting large
 again. I am worried about my loss
 of weight, and I don't know how to answer on account of that. What is your advice?"
 Answer: You should not worry
 about losing weight as long as you
 are trying to overcome your trouble
 with goitre, and it will perhaps be necessary for you to take another
 short fast. Be sure to adhere strictly
 to the diet between the fasting
 periods. The goitre going down at first was due to the fasting regime.
 Its subsequent enlargement might
 have been caused by some dietetic
 indiscretion, uterine trouble or strain of the neck.

(Lettine)

Question: K. J. writes: "When I
 eat a large amount of lettuce it makes me sleepy. Why is this so?"
 Answer: Lettuce contains a certain hypnic agent called "hypno-
 tin" and when this vegetable is used in great quantities it does produce drowsiness to a certain degree
 which causes a slowing up of the digestive process. Those whose digestive powers are not strong should use lettuce in small quantities, as
 many ill effects are not at all pronounced if lettuce is used in only
 moderate amounts.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON
 WITH RODNEY DUTCHER

By RODNEY DUTCHER
 NRA Service Writer.

Washington.—As one who is asked daily whether or not President Hoover will be re-elected, my correspondent wishes he could answer with considerable more assurance than he has yet been able to muster.

It seems to be a question as to which, around here at least, there are two schools of vigorous belief and very few neutrals. Being neutral is never much fun, but neither does there seem to be much nourishment for a political correspondent in becoming firmly convinced one way or the other,
 assuming that the intent of the voters is not to freeze and that there is little likelihood of its being changed before November.

G. O. P. Opposition

The last five months have seen many realignments of opinion about it. The year started with nearly everybody believing everybody else that Hoover was sunk, barring an unlikely sharp pick-up
 in business.

Step by step the Republicans have recovered some of their vanished optimism, quite a few Democrats have begun to feel that they haven't a cure thing after all and many of us fellows on the sidelines have stopped taking sides.

There are few fathering waters
 in the argument.

Trade on Depression

The Democrats until recently have traded very largely on the depression and the vast unpopularity of Mr. Hoover. There are still many who believe that they need so much that that to guarantee them the election.

But now there has come a change in general Democratic policy. There are plenty of Democrats who have worried about the nomination from the standpoint of picking the man

SNUFFLES AND ADENOIDS

Adenoids are a common affection
 of children between the ages of five
 and ten years. At least ten percent
 of these children are estimated to
 have enlarged adenoids. Adenoids
 are really an overgrowth of the adenoid tissue in the pharynx. This is really lymphatic tissue similar to
 the tonsils. It is only when this tissue becomes enlarged that it may
 be considered dangerous to the
 child's health.

There is usually also an enlarge-
 ment of other lymph glands and the tonsils. Adenoids may seriously affect the body growth, the metabolism and facial expression of a child.
 Almost all children having snuffles
 are really troubled with enlarged
 adenoids.

The most noticeable thing about
 adenoids is mouth breathing, which
 sometimes causes a deformed chest,
 stunted facial expression, stunting of
 growth, and even when sleep is
 greatly disturbed, usually accompanied by loud snoring breathing
 and nightmares.

Catarth Present

When adenoids are present, the
 child will generally be troubled with
 other disorders of catarrhal nature, more especially bronchitis.
 Often children are accused of being
 stupid or cross when they are simply troubled with adenoids.

The teeth are sometimes greatly
 misshapen because the bony framework does not form properly. Pigeon
 breast, barrel chest, or funnel
 breast are three types of deformity
 frequently affecting the chest of the
 mouth breather who has adenoids.

There are two ways in which the
 body may be injured when these
 growths occur. Either from poisonous toxins caused by their infection,
 or from mechanical interference of
 the air passage from the nose.

Children with adenoids are often
 unable to blow the nose. The voice
 becomes hoarse and muffled and
 smell.

When the adenoids become infected, the inflammation may spread to
 the inner ear and cause deafness.
 The skin usually is pale and anemic.
 The adenoids cause a disfigurement
 by broadening the root of the nose
 and causing the teeth of the upper
 jaw to stick out. And the root of the mouth becomes narrow and highly
 arched. Often the teeth do not meet
 together properly.

De N. Delay

The treatment for adenoids should
 not be delayed until the discovery
 is made, as they do not only en-
 danger the child's health but may
 lead to almost incurable malforma-
 tions of the jaws, palate, nose and
 face. An examination for adenoids
 should be made whenever the child
 shows any symptoms, such as
 mouth breathing, deafness, stunted
 expression, disturbed sleep, muffled
 voice or frequent colds.

In most cases the large adenoids
 can be reduced to normal by short
 fruit fasts followed by a non-starchy
 diet, but if the adenoid tissue has
 become greatly enlarged, it may be
 sometimes advisable to use surgical
 measures. However, before an
 anesthetic is considered, the thymus
 gland should also be examined, for,
 if it is too large, death may occur
 during an anesthetic. An enlarged
 thymus is frequently found with
 adenoids.

During the treatment with the
 fast and diet to bring about a cure,
 the child should be trained to breath
 through its nose rather than its
 mouth and it is a good plan also to
 increase the breathing capacity by
 systematic exercise.

Question: Mrs. J. H. writes: "I have been following a fasting and
 eating regime to overcome my goitre. I have lost considerable
 weight, and during the fasting
 period the goitre became much
 smaller, but since I have started to
 eat it seems to be getting large
 again. I am worried about my loss
 of weight, and I don't know how to answer on account of that. What is
 your advice?"
 Answer: You should not worry
 about losing weight as long as you
 are trying to overcome your trouble
 with goitre, and it will perhaps be
 necessary for you to take another
 short fast. Be sure to adhere strictly
 to the diet between the fasting
 periods. The goitre going down at
 first was due to the fasting regime.
 Its subsequent enlargement might
 have been caused by some dietetic
 indiscretion, uterine trouble or
 strain of the neck.

Question: K. J. writes: "When I
 eat a large amount of lettuce it
 makes me sleepy. Why is this so?"
 Answer: Lettuce contains a certain hypnic agent called "hypno-
 tin" and when this vegetable is
 used in great quantities it does produce drowsiness to a certain degree
 which causes a slowing up of the digestive process. Those whose digestive powers are not strong should
 use lettuce in small quantities, as
 many ill effects are not at all pronounced if lettuce is used in only
 moderate amounts.

AGGREGATE STOCKS WORTH MORE NOW

Experts Figure That Value Is Higher Than During Market's Lowest Period.

New York, May 27.—(AP)—From the wreckage of the battered stock market, statisticians can still compile aggregate quoted values somewhat in excess of that of all shares listed on the New York Stock Exchange at the bottom of the previous severe slump.

This seems a rather paltry crumb of comfort when it is recognized that the number of issues listed has increased 68 per cent since the post war crash of 1921, but the current prices do not seem quite so bad if the increase in the number of shares outstanding is taken into consideration.

While listed issues less than doubled in the 11-year period, the number of shares represented has increased almost five times, and much of this increase resulted from merely spreading market value over a larger number of shares, through split-ups and stock dividends.

As of May 1, last, there were listed 1,267 issues, embracing a total of 1,324,594,185 shares of stock, in contrast with 736 issues totalling 231,390,108 shares on Jan. 1, 1921.

The Stock Exchanges tabulation placed the total quoted value of all list shares on the first of this month at $29,319,088,631. The slump of the last three weeks, as measured by price indices, has probably reduced the quoted value to about $18,000,000,000.

Value Much Lower

While the exchange was not keeping its monthly tabulation of the total quoted value of all listed shares as long ago as 1921, it is apparent from such figures as are available that the total quoted value at the bottom of that year's slump was substantially smaller than now.

J. Edward Meeker, economist to the Stock Exchange, has computed the total value of stock as of Oct. 12, 1921, at $18,464,305,000, and estimated a market value of about $220,000,000 for no par shares. If the shares with par value had all sold at par the total market valuation at that time would have been $19,384,300,000, or a little in excess of the current total market value, but the severe slump of that year carried average values far below par.

While neither the Stock Exchange or leading statistical organizations have ever computed the total quoted value at the low levels reached in the summer of 1921, statisticians explain that prices show that the total market value at that time was nearer $10,000,000,000 than $19,000,000,000.

The character of the market has changed radically since the dark days of that summer. General Motors and General Electric are still leaders, but General Motors has 20 shares outstanding for one share of General Electric. The rails, then a dominant group, occupy a much less important position. Public utilities have forged ahead, since the electric power industry at that time was largely split up into small isolated units.

Such leaders of those days as American Woolen, American Sugar and Crucible Steel, have faded into the background. Oils were then more conspicuous than they were for a number of subsequent years, although quite recently they have been coming to the fore again.

"Mex Pete" Mexican Petroleum, since merged with Pan American, was one of the spectacular performers of a decade and more ago.

COVENTRY

Mr. and Mrs. William Scram of West Hartford have moved to the farm they purchased last summer from Mrs. May Skilton.

Mrs. Josephine Skilton has gone to the Manchester Memorial hospital for a major operation. She was given a blood transfusion Wednesday and responded very readily.

About 45 men and women helped at the Clean-Up Day Tuesday which was sponsored by the church Ladies' Fragment society and Village Improvement society. The ladies cleaned the chapel upstairs and down and served a baked bean dinner to all the hungry workers.

The entertainment committee of the Ladies' Fragment society will sponsor a one-act comedy entitled, "Everybody Happy?" on June 7.

Those taking part are Josephine Van Spurn, the bride-to-be, Gertrude Anderson, Florence George, the groom-to-be, George A. Kingsbury, Mrs. Martha Van Spurn, Josie's mother, Mrs. Everett Witt; John Van Spurn, Josie's father, Bryon W. Hall; Miss Henrietta Oliver (Aunt Het); Mrs. Van Spurn's sister, Mrs. John B. Kingsbury; Maryanne, the maid, Mrs. C. Irving Loomis; Alexander, the colored janitor, Thomas McKinney; Dr. Joe, (the mysterious), family physician and friend, George Vinton; bridesmaids, guests, and preacher. Time of play, about one hour. Music before and after performance.

The Ladies' Fragment Society, held a short business meeting Tuesday while they were all assembled for clean-up day, and voted to give the church $150 to help pay for the recent repairs. They also voted $15 to pay for the reprinting of the amendments to the constitution.

The ladies plan to hold a "Cut Price Festival" the middle of July. The committee in charge is Mrs. Everett Witt, Mrs. John E. Kingsbury and Mrs. Leon Austin. Extension plans are under way to make this one of the largest affairs the ladies have sponsored.

Several in the north parish attended the funeral services of the late De Witt Kingsbury of the south parish which was held at the Congregational church at 2 p. m. D. S. T., Rev. Johnson officiating. Mr. Kingsbury lived practically all his life in South Coventry and was well known for miles around doing a good deal of auctioneering until very recently. He also owned and ran a general store for a number of years, only selling to Ledoyt and Turner about two years ago.

Martin Parker, 15 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hilbard Parker of Mansfield, died at his late home Monday. Martin attended Hartford Trade school until he was taken ill with heart trouble about a year ago, being confined to his bed for the past year.

The 4-H Cooking Club, under the leadership of Mrs. Clarence Pliske invited all the members' mothers to her home Friday evening. A lovely dinner was served them by the girls who prepared, cooked and served. The color scheme was pink and green and the table looked lovely. The mothers think they'll make a vacation as soon as school is out and let the daughters continue to practice.

Special services are being planned for Sunday morning. The Coventry orchestra will play "The Star Spangled Banner" as the flag is brought in as a medley of patriotic songs for the postlude.

Yale Makes Drastic Change In Athletic Policy

Intramural Sports To Be Emphasized

Intercollegiate Activities To Be Lessened; Only Five Games On 1934 Football Schedule; Yale's Right About Face Shocks College World.

New Haven, May 27.—(AP)—Yale's athletic right about face caught the college sports world unawares today and left it astonished, and perhaps, mildly aghast as well.

Only scattering comment on old Eli's plan of sharp curtailment of intercollegiate competition in favor for intramural sports was available as most college heads preferred to take "time out" and study the report.

What comment there was, however, was distinctly favorable, although here and there a dissenting voice was heard.

The Yale plan, designed to go into effect, in part at least, in 1933 after the residential house plan is established, would cut the varsity football schedule to five games, all against major opponents, being about equivalent to fund to cover athletic expenses, and, at the same time, sharply cut those expenses; provide for free admission of undergraduates to all contests; and make all students, regardless of scholastic standing, eligible for house teams under amateur coaching.

Angel's Plans
There are many other provisions in the plan drawn up by a survey committee and approved by President James Rowland Angell but these were the most important.

Most interest attached, naturally, to the football phase of the plan. Yale's football schedule for 1933 calling for seven games already has been mapped out and so has the program for 1934. The five game season probably will go into effect in 1934.

Under this plan Yale would play only major and traditional rivalries, leaving no place for the intercollegiate contests that have played a large part in college football schedules the last few years.

Yale's program for 1934 thus probably will provide for games against Harvard, Princeton, Dartmouth, Army and Brown.

In line with the plan to reduce expenses the size of varsity squads would be sharply cut as would the number of junior varsity teams. The 17" pound football team, a recent development, would be eliminated entirely. Staves, instead, would be laid on sports for all students, through the house teams, with a little practice and as much competition as the students themselves desire.

For several years, colleges in various sections of the country have been seeking to de-emphasize sports but none of the plans put into practice thus far have been anywhere near as drastic as that proposed for Yale.

What Others Say
Dr. Robert Maynard Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago and himself a Yale alumnus termed the new policy "a step in the right direction in making athletics a student enterprise."

The Pennsylvania campus felt it was an important move toward lessening the emphasis on football and other college athletics. Thomas S. Gates, president of the university, sponsor of "the Gates plans" of athletic competition at Pennsylvania was not prepared to comment.

Howard Jones, another Yale alumnus and head football coach at the University of Southern California said he thought the alumni may react unfavorably to the plan. He made it plain he was speaking as an "alumnus and not in behalf of Southern California."

Steven Cunningham, graduate manager of the University of California at Los Angeles said "wise guidance rather than curtailment is what competitive athletics in colleges and universities need."

Harvard athletic association officials recalled that curtailment of the football schedule had been suggested several years ago but had been disapproved by the football squad and most of the undergraduates.

Major Changes In Yale Plan

New Haven, May 27.—(AP)—Major points in Yale's new athletic policy follow:
Reduction in number of football games to five and with major and traditional opponents only.
Free admission of undergraduates to all contests and reduced prices to alumni and public with endowment fund to cover athletic expenditures.
No organized practice in sports out of their normal season.
No scouting even if opponent continues to scout Yale.
Substantial cuts in varsity squads and number of junior varsity teams and elimination of class teams and 150 pound football team.
All students eligible for house teams regardless of scholastic standing; amateur coaches only for these teams.

His wife advanced to the finals yesterday by defeating the top seeded Miss Frances Leboutilliere, 6-2, 8-3 in a women's singles semi-final. Miss Clara Smith of Pine Orchard way to meet Miss Barbara Stoddard of New York today to decide the other finalist. Miss Stoddard defeated Mrs. Virginia Galliard 8-6, 6-2 yesterday while Miss Smith defeated Mrs. E. K. Nash of New Haven, 4-6, 6-1, 6-3.

SHIELDS VS. HOPMAN VINES VS. CRAWFORD IN DAVIS CUP PLAY

Philadelphia, May 27.—(AP)—First day's play in the Davis Cup finals in the North American zone here today brought together members of the Australian and United States teams in two singles matches.

The first match, starting at 1:30 p. m., E. S. T., found Francis X. Shields, hard-hitting New Yorker, opposed to Harry Hopman, Australia's No. 2 star.

Then was to come battle of the two ranking players of the contesting nations—Jack Crawford, hailed as a worthy successor to the great Norman Brookes, against Ellsworth Vines of California who last year won his first national title. The doubles will be played tomorrow with Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn, representing the United States and Crawford and Hopman the likely Australian players.

The last two singles matches will be played Monday with Shields opposing Crawford in the opener and Vines against Hopman in the closing battle. The winner of the tie will meet Brazil in the interzone final at Forest Hills during the second week in June.

SCHNEIDER TRAVELS 110.6 TO QUALIFY

Indianapolis, May 27.—(AP)—In the same car he drove to victory last year at the Indianapolis motor speedway, Louis Schneider qualified yesterday for the 1933 500-mile race, to be run Monday.

His speed over the ten-mile test was 110.581 miles per hour. The consistency of the former Indianapolis policeman's driving was shown by the times for the four laps he drove. His fastest circuit of the track was negotiated at 110.919 miles per hour, the slowest at 110.457.

Schneider was the thirtieth drive to qualify for a starting position. Shortly after he completed his run, rain halted activities for the day, leaving some twenty other pilots still to make their speed tests.

Hyde and Mrs. Chapin State Tennis Choices

New Haven, May 27.—(AP)—Yale in today's singles semi-finals, Bascom advanced yesterday at the expense of W. Smythe of Yale in a fourth round match, 6-2, 6-3. Alfred C. Chapin of Springfield, former Davis Cup player, who advanced to the semi-finals through two matches yesterday emerged as Hyde's strongest rival for the finals. Chapin defeated G. R. Preston, 6-2, 17-15, and then in a fourth round match easily eliminated E. Miles of Yale, 6-1, 6-2. He was to meet S. P. Hayes in today's semi-final.

His wife advanced to the finals yesterday by defeating the top seeded Miss Frances Leboutilliere, 6-2, 8-3 in a women's singles semi-final. Miss Clara Smith of Pine Orchard way to meet Miss Barbara Stoddard of New York today to decide the other finalist. Miss Stoddard defeated Mrs. Virginia Galliard 8-6, 6-2 yesterday while Miss Smith defeated Mrs. E. K. Nash of New Haven, 4-6, 6-1, 6-3.

Foul Blow Aids Walker Defeat Paulino Uzcudun

New York, May 27.—(AP)—If Mickey Walker fails to get that match with Ernie Schaaf as early in the outdoor season as he expected, he can blame it all on Paulino Uzcudun.

By the slimmest of margins and, partly at least, because of an illegal punch at the end of the eighth round Walker squeezed out a 10 round decision over Paulino in Madison Square Garden last night. But the boss of a crowd followed Walker as he left the ring, while Paulino drew the ovation usually reserved for the winner.

The punch that turned the sympathies of the crowd to the veteran Spaniard and the tide of battle toward Walker came after the bell had ended the eighth round. Paulino was partly at fault for planting a left hook to the body just after the bell. But he dropped his hands and stepped back, and as he did, Walker swung a right that split the Spaniard's left eyebrow wide open.

Walker, if he had won decisively, was to have been matched at once with Schaaf but he will probably have to give Paulino a return match before getting a shot at the blonde Boston boy. Paulino at 197 pounds outweighed Walker by 27 pounds.

There followed a swift left to the jaw and right to the chin. Wilson went down like a sack of sand.

Strange Interlude
But the count saved him. Gardner's toll seemed endless. Ringside newspapermen counted to 18 while Gardner was counting to eight. At eight Wilson stirred. At nine he had rolled over on one knee, still suffering from the paralyzing effect of the punch.

Downey, thinking the fight won, had gone to his corner. He was amazed when called back to fight. But he did fight. Again he drove Wilson into a corner and hammered him to the floor a second time. Again came that endless count—and at nine Wilson managed to drag himself half upright clinging to the ropes.

A Helping Hand
Marty Killilea, Wilson's manager, leaped to the platform and put his hands under his man to keep him from sliding to the canvas again. The act constituted a foul, which made three times in all that Downey had won the fight in that memorable seventh round.

Gehrig Hits Homer With Bases Full

Yanks Defeat Senators 5 To 0; Braves Trimmed By Cubs, 17 To 13.

By Associated Press

One bad pitch a game, a ball that gets away from the pitcher and goes down the batter's alley, can very easily cost a good team a pennant, said Walter Johnson recently in explaining his preference for moonmen with tight control.

As if to bear out his boss's contention, General Alvin Crowder of the Senators tossed one up that exactly suited Lou Gehrig of the Yankees in the sixth inning of yesterday's tilt between the American League pace-setters. Three Yankees were on base at the time.

So Gehrig, furthering out Johnson's theory, spranked the ball over the right field fence. The Yankees gathered another run in the ninth for a final score of five to nothing.

The victory perched the Yanks on top by four full games and left the Senators with only two games lead over the third place Detroit Tigers, who were beating Chicago 11 to 2 in the first half of scheduled doubleheader. The second game was rained out in the fifth with the count tied 1-1.

Jimmy Fox hit his 15th home run of the year going four ahead of Babe Ruth as the Athletics pounded out a 7 to 1 victory over Boston. Cleveland and St. Louis were rained out.

The Boston Braves dropped off the National League pinnacle, yielding to the idle Chicago Cubs, when they got the worst of a slugfest match with the Phillies 17 to 13. Brooklyn got its batting average mixed up and lost a run that would have bases in regulation time, but went on to beat the Giants anyway 3 to 2 in 12 innings. George Kelly and Frank O'Doul hit homers for the Dodgers. Pittsburgh made it three straight from Cincinnati 3 to 2, and went into sixth place.

Yesterday's Stars

Fields In Hospital For Eye Treatment

Impaired Vision, Not Appendicitis, Is Ailing World's Welterweight Champion; Ring Future May Be Doomed.

Chicago, May 27.—(AP)—Jackie Fields, 25 year old world's welterweight champion, is suffering from impaired vision that may endanger his ring career. This was exclusively learned by the Associated Press after reports had been circulated that Fields had been taken to Michael Reese hospital, Chicago, a suspected appendicitis case. Dr. Harry S. Gradle, an eye specialist, is in charge.

Fields' trouble is in his right eye. After boxing five rounds with a negro sparring mate last Tuesday the welterweight champion first complained of impaired vision and was sent to the hospital. His business representatives gave out reports that he was suffering from suspected appendicitis instead of failing sight.

Fields impending ring contests, including a title match with Young Corbett, Fresno, Calif., southpaw at San Francisco on June 25 are up in the air. His bout with Teddy Yaros in Pittsburgh next Tuesday night has been cancelled. The title match with Corbett, however, has not been definitely called off, but undoubtedly will be, as Dr. Gradle says Fields must be in the hospital for observation for at least ten days more.

Fields regained the world welterweight championship only last November, recapturing the title from Lou Brouillard.

Local Sport Chatter

The Aces will practice at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning at the West Side field and all members are expected to report.

Billy Neubauer is slated to pitch for Manchester against Meriden here this afternoon in an important high school baseball game. Meriden's tennis team also is due here today.

Tomorrow morning the M. H. S. track team engages West Hartford at the West Side playgrounds. Billy Murch will compete in the mile. He was given a rest Tuesday at Bristol.

The American School for the Deaf plays the Trade school nine at Highland Park this afternoon, weather permitting.

Al Lupien, Harvard captain, went hitless against Brown day before yesterday but got a sacrifice hit and walked once. He was only at bat twice.

"Hobey" Hyde's work in the state tennis tournament at New Haven is being followed closely here because Hyde is the only man to defeat Manchester's champion, "Ty" Holland, in the past five years. Hyde performed the trick in an exhibition match here a couple of years ago.

MAUREEN ORCUTT SHOOTS FINE 73

Saunton, Devonshire, England, May 27.—(AP)—Maureen Orcutt, Englewood, N. J., star, posted a fine 73 for the first 18 holes of the 36-hole qualifying round in the British Women's golf championship today.

Playing steadily all the way, Miss Orcutt was out in 38 and home in 35 to finish her round only two over par of 71. Her putting was deadly most of the way. She holed a 30-footer at the seventeenth and a ten-footer at the eighteenth.

With a dozen players finished, hers was the first score under 90. Mme. Rene Lacoste, wife of the famous French tennis player came in later and posted a 75. Mme. Lacoste, as Mme. Simone Thion De La Chaume, won the British title in 1927.

PAUL WINS TITLE DEFEATING PENNA

Detroit, May 27.—(AP)—Tommy Paul, game little warrior from Buffalo, N. Y., today wears the National Boxing Association's belt, emblematic of the featherweight championship.

Paul won it handily last night by outfighting Johnny Pena, rugged New Yorker, throughout most of the 15-round final bout of a tournament to fill the vacancy left when Sgt. Battalino outgrew the division.

Referee Slim McClelland's score card gave Paul every round but the seventh.

In his dressing room after the fight, the new champion said he would defend his title here in September against Fidel La Barba. Pena eliminated La Barba several weeks ago in the tournament semi-finals on a decision which fight fans protest to this day.

SHAMROCKS WIN

The Shamrock Juniors defeated the Manchester Green All-Stars Wednesday at the West Side Field 16-15 when "Vernie" Callis got mixed up with the ball letting Edgar round the bases for a home run. Ray Jarvis allowed sixteen hits and Louis Farr gave eighteen. Shamrock A. C. (16)

Bryan Downey returned to the ring the other night in Cleveland. With a left to the body and a right to the chin, he floored one Gregory Eminian, sprawled upon the fallen wrestler and pinned his shoulders to the mat.

It was the same old Bryan Downey, and though he is wrestling now instead of boxing, it was a typical Downey knockout.

The old Downey right, seeming to retain much of its old power, recalled memories 11 years old, of a July night in Cleveland when he Champion Johnny Wilson to sleep among the stars—but failed to win the title.

That swishing punch was mind-blowing also of another night, 15 years ago, when Bryan Downey knocked out Welterweight Champion Jack Briton at Canton, O.—but failed to win the title then, too, because of a referee's slow count.

How far Bryan Downey will go among the wrestlers is a question. Unless his luck has changed, his destination is nowhere.

Brings Neighbor Along
Champion Johnny Wilson brought his own referee, Jimmy Gardner, a Massachusetts neighbor of the Italian southpaw. The city boxing commission, which had appointed Tommy McGinty to referee the fight, had to announce to the crowd after the preliminaries that unless Wilson could have his own referee he would not fight.

There was a great deal of excitement, but finally it was agreed that Gardner should referee. A score of police finally cleared the platform, and newspapermen asked Gardner the grounds for his decision.

"I gave the decision to Wilson," he said, "because Downey hit him when he was down."
You have to hand it to Jimmy Gardner, at that. He "went all the way" for a pal.

She and Dan lunch together and she about to start for a drive in Cherry's roadster when another reporter tells Dan the city editor has been trying to find him. DUKE SMITH, a bank robber, has escaped jail and the city editor wants Dan to find INEZ MALLEOY, Smith's sweetheart, and get an interview. Dan and Cherry drive to the apartment where Inez is staying. He enters, promising to return in 10 minutes. When he does not come Cherry grows nervous and goes into the apartment to find him.

HOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER III

Some of the names above the mail boxes tilted tipsily so that they were difficult to read. Others lacked identification of any sort. Cherry searched the list but nowhere could she find the name "Baker." It must be there, though. "Baker" was what Dan had said. Unless he had found the place he'd have come back.

But there was no such name on the list of tenants of the apartment.

The girl turned uncertainly. The exterior of the building had proven deceptive. The small square entrance way in which she stood was walled and down-at-heel. Brown walls with hideous panels of scenic wall paper on either side. Finger marks smudging the woodwork. The simulated tile floor in need of soap and water.

"What should she do?"

Cherry's fears were rising. It was that instant that a grimy urchin, dressless and wearing a sweater too large for him, appeared on the other side of the outer door and stared at the girl through the glass panel.

"She drew back the door. 'Do you know if some people named Baker live here?' she asked.

The urchin nodded. Traces of sticky stuff showed on his cheeks. The blue stare of impassive eyes regarded her, but the child did not speak.

"Can you tell me where to find them?"

The urchin pointed a sticky finger to the door at the left. Through the glass portion of the door a short flight of stairs was revealed. Evidently it led to a hall.

Somewhat the child reassured Cherry. It couldn't be such a dreadful place if there were children about. Timidly she put a hand on the door. It opened.

She went up the steps gingerly and found herself in a long passage. There was a dim yellow light half way down the hall. Its meager rays showed doors on either side—probably a dozen of them. Gray daylight filtered through a window on the landing where the stairs turned.

The thing to do now would be to knock at one of these doors and ask where the Bakers lived.

Cherry took two steps forward—and drew back in dismay. There were voices, men's voices, raised and angry, behind the nearest door on the right.

"The voices continued. One of them grew louder than the others. Oh, there was no doubt that the men were angry. Suddenly Cherry heard the clatter of a key turning in a lock. They were coming!

In panic, blindly, the girl ran up the stairs and turned at the landing. She heard the door open below and the men came out. Breathless, she flattened herself against the wall.

Now they were gone but she

dared not go down. Stealthily Cherry crept up the stairs to the second floor. She must find someone to help her. She must find Dan!

Marshalling all her courage, Cherry stepped forward. She raised a hand and knocked at the door before her.

She could never remember the rest. The deafening roar of a gun's report, the sharp, stinging sensation in her arm, her own shriek—they seemed all to have happened at once.

Out of the darkness she was able, vaguely, to hear voices. One that was familiar. A pleasant voice. Whose was it? Cherry opened her eyes.

"That's the girl, Cherry! Feeling better how?"

Why, it was Dan who was bending over her! He seemed to have his arm about her.

"Dan—what happened?"

"Never mind about that now. Here, see if you can drink this."

He held a glass to her lips. It was sharp, biting stuff that stung her throat but she drank it. Dan's face looked worried. What was the matter?

Suddenly Cherry began to remember things. That drive down strange streets—Inez Somebody whom Dan must find—waiting outside in the car—

Cherry felt a knife-like twinge of pain in her left arm. A little moan escaped her lips. Then she saw that the arm was bandaged and there were blotches of red on the white cloth. Fright widened her eyes.

"Dan—?" she began but was interrupted.

"Listen, honey, do you think you can stand up? If I put my arm around you? We want to get you to a doctor. Here let's see if you can make it!"

She was lying on a davenport in a room she had never seen before. Strange faces were peering at her. Several women, a half-grown girl, the grimy urchin. She had seen downstairs and two men. It was not an attractive room and they were not attractive faces. Her arm ached.

"Try it, Cherry," Dan prompted. "I'll help you."

Obediently she tried to rise. The throbbing pain made her stagger. Phillips lifted her, carefully and gently. When she was on her feet she leaned against him.

"I—I can make it!" she said. The girl's voice was almost a whisper. She took a step unsteadily.

"Wait—here's your coat."

They managed to get it around her, one arm in its sleeve and the other hanging loose. One of the women helped Dan. Then, slowly and painfully, they made for the door.

It had been one of the rooms on the second floor in which Cherry had found herself. They reached the hall. There Phillips picked the girl up and carried her in his arms down the stairs. Not until they had reached the entrance way did he set her down.

"Arm hurt much now?" he asked.

"It's pretty sore," she admitted.

"Was it a gun that went off?"

Phillips nodded. "Might have been a look-out or just some crazy drunk. Whoever did it was gone when I got there. The main thing, child, is to get you to a doctor's office."

They left the building. Suddenly Phillips brushed around the girl and said, "Stay close to me!" he murmured. "And let me do the talking!"

Not six yards away, coming toward them, was a blue-coated officer and a youth.

"No."

"Then what have you been doing there?"

"Why, officer, we're looking for an apartment. Stopped to see if there were any for rent but we didn't like the looks of the place."

"Oh, you didn't? Hear any commotion while you were in there?"

"No sir."

"Sure of that?"

"Why, yes. I'm sure we didn't hear anything. Is something wrong? Has anything happened?"

Phillips' tone was convincing. With a completely noncommittal exclamation the policeman dismissed them and entered the building, followed by his companion. Neither Cherry nor Phillips gave the younger man a second glance.

They hurried across the street to the roadster. As Dan was starting the engine the girl said, "Oh, Dan—my purse!"

"Can't go back now," he told her. "Not with that flat-foot there! After I get you in a doctor's office I'll come back for it."

Cherry's arm burned painfully. Two great tear drops, unbidden, shrank along her cheek. Firmly she gripped her teeth, resolving not to cry out.

Twice Dan's eyes left the road to catch side-long glimpses of the girl's white face. Each time he increased the roadster's speed. Ten minutes later he was ushering her into a physician's office.

"It's her left arm," he told the doctor. "Gun went off accidentally. We tried to stop the bleeding with a tourniquet."

For another 10 minutes there was activity—tense and efficient—in the small office. Cherry's courage forsake her as the wound was probed and cleansed. The bullet had torn the flesh of her upper arm, in an ugly, jagged line but had not lodged there.

Weak from fright and from loss of blood, Cherry clung to Dan's hand while the doctor sutured the torn skin in place.

"A quarter of an inch deeper and this would have been serious," the physician told them. His name was Dr. Ryland and, according to the framed diploma from medical school which hung on the wall, he had been practicing for 15 years.

Evening Herald Pattern

A sheer crepe print in flag blue and white, strikes a distinctive note in its moulded bodice and hipline that emphasizes the youthful figure.

The cape collar shoulders the responsibility of the sleeveless bodice. And hasn't the skirt a graceful swing?

Another scheme is tomato-red voile with white dots. It is just darning in this model with plain red grosgrain ribbon belt and bows. Think of how inexpensive it would be to make it.

Style No. 2919 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 22 and 24 inches bust.

Size 16 requires 4 1/2 yards of 30-inch material with 3/4 yards of 2-inch ribbon.

HINTS for HOME GARDENERS

This is the eleventh of a series of exclusive articles on vegetable gardening prepared for NEA Service and The Herald.

BY WM. R. BEATTIE
 Bureau of Plant Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture

Ever since a disobedient little girl ate the "Love Apples" and didn't die of poisoning, tomatoes have increased in favor with inhabitants of the western hemisphere. Now they are one of the most cherished of our garden crops.

Most of us are so eager to have ripe tomatoes from our gardens as early as possible, that we go to all kinds of trouble to start the plants in the house, to nurse them along in hotbeds or coldframes, and finally cover the plants with papers on cold nights after they are set in the garden.

It takes about as much tomato seed as you can hold between your

Trailing tomato vines should be tied up to prevent rotting of fruit that comes in contact with the ground.

thumb and finger to give you all the early plants you will need for your garden. That small pinch of seed planted in a cigar box filled with good, clean, mellow soil will provide at least one hundred plants for your garden.

Transplant After First Leaf

As soon as the plant, air up, and have formed their first true leaf, in addition to the seed leaves, they should be transplanted to a larger box of good soil and spaced at least two inches in each direction.

Remember that tomato plants are easily injured by frost, so do not plant them out too early.

Southern gardeners can have ripe tomatoes from their gardens as early as the latter part of May, or the first of June, those living in the central sections can have them about the 4th of July, and further north in the middle of July.

Time To Seed

The main seeding of tomatoes for the summer crop and for canning should be made about the time that seed can be sown out of doors. In the extreme north, where the growing season is very short, the main seeding should be in a coldframe, or in much time as possible so that the fruit will ripen before frost in the early fall.

Bonny Best, John Baer, and Greater Baltimore are among the older standard garden varieties with Stone for a late or canning tomato. Very recently three new varieties of great merit have been developed. These are the Marglobe, Break O'Day and Pritchard. The Pritchard has just been released, and only a few seedmen are offering seed this year. The Marglobe is pronounced to be the best general purpose and canning tomato, yet introduced, but the Break O'Day is a little earlier.

MOTORCYCLIST LOSES

Lowell, Mass., May 27.—(AP)—A motorist who is suing a motorcyclist for personal injuries arising from a collision of auto and motorcycle today won a $2,470 verdict against the cycle rider.

The plaintiff was Joseph Dimes of Torrington, Conn., who said he was injured when the car in which he was riding was struck by Charles H. Martindale's motorcycle. Martindale, who lives in Billerica, filed a cross suit after the accident which occurred November 10, 1930, but lost it. The case was decided by a jury in Superior Court.

ACTRESS SEES DIVORCE

Reno, Nev., May 27.—(AP)—Mrs. Anne Goldborough, young New York actress known on the stage as Anne Freshman, filed suit here today to divorce Frederick E. Goldborough, who is said to be a member of a wealthy eastern family. Mrs. Goldborough charged cruelty. They married at Lovell, Maine, Sept. 7, 1930.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

—DEWY EYES—

You all know those liquid eyes with their limpid look of beauty. Well, ordinary eyes can get a bit of that allure if you see to it that they are treated right.

Don't ever start out with dry-looking eyes. They should be delicately moist. Not gooey. But just looking as they are, dew-kissed!

The way you do this, of course, is to oil them. A touch of eye shadow, of the cream variety, may do the trick for you.

Better still, during your beautifying, after you have powdered, brush your lids with just a bit of facial oil. Just a drop will do.

Nights you should use muscle oil on any eyes over 30. It is even just as well to begin helping your eyes stay young by starting eye beauty treatments much younger.

After you have massaged your face, dip the second fingers on each hand into this muscle oil for your eye lids and gently massage from the nose across above the eye ball to the outer corner of the eye. Lift your fingers and repeat about 10 times. Then begin at the nose and gently massage under the eyes, from the nose out. See that these gentle strokes end up somewhere in the region of your temples.

Last, but not least, since it affects eye muscles—quite as much, massage the portion just over your eye brows. Begin on the bridge of your nose and arch out to the temple. Press gently just at the sides of the eye arch, right under your eyebrows where they near the nose. These are very delicate nerves. Easy, quiet massage does much to relieve eye strain.

Leave a little of this muscle oil on. Don't wipe any off, as a matter of fact. Sleep with it on your eyes all the skin of your eye lids will be much smoother and softer in the morning.

YOUR CHILDREN

by Olive Roberts Bartley
 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

CHILDREN ARE NATURAL ACTORS

Friday afternoon, and the children were coming home from school.

Three dirty little urchins—they were very dirty indeed, so I suppose they were urchins—were a sight to behold.

Over their ragged clothes hung tissue-paper strips of rainbow colors. On their tousled heads were caps of canary, pink and blue. One had something fastened to his shoulders that may have been meant for wings. The wings did not go so well with the Zulu skirt effect below his waist but I rather suspected that some one else had been punched in the eye and despoiled of his finery.

What a wise teacher they had! She had evidently taken time out from "Finger Green" has been to the bin" and all the worrisome vowel sounds, and decided to stage some kind of a show where the children could dress up.

Whether they were fairies, angels or musketeers it would be hard to say, but whatever they were they had been any one but themselves for a few happy minutes.

Children love to be somebody else. They love to play, pretend, act, borrow honors from every realm outside their own workaday world. They instantly become birds, rabbits, gnomes, Mother Goose or the Sandman the moment you hand them a feather, a pair of ears, a tall hat, or broom.

They are not like grown-ups—

they actually become the characters they play. That is why we say that children are naturally actors.

They Play Allike

It is this side of small people that I think we neglect—particularly with boys. Little girls do have dress-up parties occasionally, but little boys don't. Mothers for the most part take it for granted they would rather be out grubbing for worms or playing ball in the lot.

It has been discovered that we have been all wrong about boys. It's one kind of play and girls another.

Almost every kind of play we know now is interchangeable. Air's have had dolls thrust at them. Boys skates and engines. That they eventually have preferences is due to the fact that older people have conditioned them that way. Nature makes no dividing line between them.

And little boys do like a dress-up party.

A few cents' worth of tissue paper—a few cookies and lemonade make a first class blow-out. It is much better than shooting them off everlastingly to the movies when they begin to moon around and say they have nothing to do. There should be a reason for the character they are to represent, but a few minutes' quick planning will solve that. Scissors and a glue pot will do the rest. It will keep you from grieving over the depression, too. A little real fun is what we all need, the children, too.

HEALTH

STRAIGHTENING OF CROOKED TEETH

BY DR. MORRIS FISHER, Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat, and the Health Magazine.

Within recent years a new specialty has arisen in dentistry and in medicine called orthodontia. The word means "straight teeth."

As explained by Dr. Frank A. Delabarre, it means literally to arrange crooked teeth in a more harmonious and symmetrical curve so that they will function better and improve the facial appearance.

It is, of course, necessary to realize that back of all health is proper nutrition and growth. Unless the sufficient amount of calcium, phosphorus, vitamins A, C and D particularly, it is not likely to have good teeth.

Unless the baby teeth have been suitably controlled, and well taken care of, the teeth that come in thereafter will not be properly developed and distributed.

Dentists are convinced that there are a considerable number of bad habits that are associated with development of malocclusion, which means improper closing of the teeth and jaws.

Exercising through the mouth, sucking the thumb, and similar bad habits may be associated with bad formation of the teeth, the bones of the jaw and the muscles which control them.

The twenty baby teeth of infancy begin to disappear around the age of six, at which time also the four big six year molars appear. Unless there is a full number of healthy teeth in the mouth at each age, they will not be properly arranged nor will they close properly.

Each tooth depends on the one next to it for support. If any groups of teeth are pushed out of position, the whole set becomes irregular.

The orthodontist is a specialist in producing regularity of the teeth. Through gradual changes exercised at certain points the teeth are brought into proper position.

This is done by the use of wire and of gold, and must be done slowly and carefully so as not to destroy the teeth in the process. It is a specialty within dentistry which concerns the ordinary care of the teeth.

It is no longer necessary for any girl to appear in public after she has grown to mature age with teeth crossing over one another or with the producing "smaggle teeth" that gave so many women a comical appearance in the past. Science in this way does much for human happiness.

On May 27, 1918, the third great German offensive began with terrific force in a perfectly timed assault on a 40-mile front in the Chemin des Dames sector.

German storm divisions cut their way through the French lines and crossed the Aisne river after the ground had been prepared for the attack by a tremendous bombardment.

German official bulletins hailed a "great victory" and Berlin newspapers claimed that "the French are beaten."

No accidents have been reported from the Italian mainland.

Denmark has notified all foreign jazz bands to leave the country.

James Toman received word today that he was the winner of the George Memorial prize or the State of Connecticut. He had previously received a bronze medal, submitting the best essay from the high school. The essay is the result of a national contest. Toman's essay will now compete with forty-eight others, one from each state.

The subject of the essay had to do with the treatment for mosquitoes for the prevention of diseases. The essay is 1,500 words in length and is entirely original, written as a result of his science training in the high school and submitted to competition under the direction of Chester L. Robinson, head of the science department.

A survey of the honors that Toman has won since entering high school indicates his unusual ability along the art and literary lines. He won first prize in the recent Vanco Poster Contest and last year won a national scholastic prize for an original poem. He is assistant-editor of the debating and track teams. He is also an honor student.

HEAVY STORMS END 2 MONTHS DROUGHT

Although Lightning Does Damage Accompanying Rain Welcomed.

A two months drought was suddenly broken last night by a series of thunder-showers which bombarded Manchester and vicinity from 5:30 until nearly 11 o'clock, causing one fire in the home of Burnett W. Cummings, 172 South Main street, at 7 o'clock, calling out the entire South Manchester Fire Department, and striking another house on Benton street.

The first shower broke shortly after 5:30 but lasted but a few minutes. This was followed by a second which passed slightly to the north of the town but a third shower which followed shortly afterward passed directly over town. The last shower, lasting about twenty minutes, did the damage and filled the streets with torrents of water and the lightning struck in several places about town, causing considerable damage.

Besides the Cummings fire, the big dairy barn owned by Sebastian Gambolati of Bolton was struck by lightning at 8:30 p. m., while the owner and two hired men were milking. The haymows were ignited immediately and the men hurried the 25 head of stock out into the fields. All were saved, including two horses and some farm machinery stored in the barn. The Gambolatis carry insurance on the barn and home. The home situated 200 feet from the barn was saved by a bucket brigade.

The rain which accompanied the storms last night was welcomed by local farmers as planting has been delayed due to the arid ground. Lawns and newly planted gardens were in need of moisture and the downpour of last night thoroughly moistened the cultivated areas and saved lawns from the 60 day drought.

Several trees in the vicinity of Manchester were struck by lightning. A small pine tree on the Ocott estate across Main street from the C. E. House store was damaged.

TWO SUSPECTS HELD IN BLACKMAIL CASE

Norwalk, May 27.—(AP)—Charged with attempting to extort $3,000 from Mrs. Joseph Cohen of New York City, widow of a so-called "poultry king," who was murdered some time ago, Anthony Masucio, 22, and Richard Hauser, 25, both of Westport, are being held without bonds by the local police today.

According to the police the pair mailed a letter to Mrs. Cohen telling her to meet them in a local hotel and bring $3,000 with her, or she would "join the angels" with her husband. The woman turned the letter over to the New York police, who communicated with the local authorities. Masucio and Hauser were arrested in the hotel last night as they were inquiring for Mrs. Cohen.

When confronted by the police the two said that they were merely acting as messengers for a stranger. Two local detectives waited with the pair for an hour at an alleged meeting place and when the "stranger" did not show up the Westport men were placed under arrest. The writing in the letter, resembles the handwriting of one of the men in custody, the police say. Mrs. Cohen did not come to the hotel last night.

AKRON COMING HOME
Lakewood, N. J., May 27.—(AP)—Lieut. Commander Charles E. Rosendahl, commander of the naval dirigible Akron, in a message to the naval air station today indicated that the Akron would be ready to start on her homeward journey from the Pacific coast on June 3 or 4.

The message said the Akron will participate in exercises with the scouting force between May 31 and June 5.

Several officers were also mentioned in the message.

MENUS For Good Health

A Week's Supply Recommended By Dr. Frank B. McCoy

Dr. McCoy's menus suggested for the week beginning Sunday, May 29th:

Sunday
Breakfast—Coddled eggs; crisp bacon; Waffle (browned through); Stewed prunes.
Lunch—Combination salad of tomatoes, celery and cucumbers; Glass of sweet milk.
Dinner—Roast veal or rabbit; whole wheat dressing; Asparagus; Stuffed beet salad; Raspberry ice cream.

Monday
Breakfast—Dish of whole wheat mush with butter or cream; Stewed raisins.
Lunch—One kind of acid fruit, as much as desired; Glass of milk.
Dinner—Salisbury steak; Green peas; Cooked celery; Artichoke salad; Baked pear.

Tuesday
Breakfast—Poached eggs on toasted cereal biscuit; Applesauce.
Lunch—Glass of buttermilk; 10 or 12 dates.
Dinner—Roast mutton; Carrots roasted with meat; Salad of lettuce and tomatoes; Jello or Jell-well, whipped cream if desired.

Wednesday
Breakfast—Cottage cheese; sliced pineapple (fresh or canned).
Lunch—Dish of cooked string beans; Turkey salad.
Dinner—Broiled steak; Spinach; Celery and ripe olives; Cup custard.

Thursday
Breakfast—French omelet; Toasted cereal biscuit; Stewed prunes.
Lunch—Fresh fruit, except bananas, with milk.
Dinner—Roast pork; Baked ground beefs and carrots; McCoy salad (lettuce, tomatoes and cucumbers); Apple whip.

Friday
Breakfast—Baked eggs; Melba toast; Stewed raisins.
Lunch—Oranges as desired; Glass of milk.
Dinner—Broiled white fish; Stewed tomatoes; Vegetable salad molded in gelatin, consisting of chopped celery, string beans and minced tomatoes; No dessert.

Saturday
Breakfast—Dish of berries and milk or cream (no sugar).
Lunch—Steamed carrots, sprinkled with chopped celery; Cooked spinach; Shredded lettuce.
Dinner—Sliced cheese; Asparagus; Cooked cucumbers; Salad of grated raw carrots on lettuce; Pineapple whip.

TURNIP SALAD: Toss together with two forks equal parts of diced cooked turnips, carrots and potatoes, one tablespoonful of chopped parsley, and a sprinkling of celery seed. Blend all together with a little olive oil, and serve on crisp nip tops, a few of which may be finely shredded and added to the salad if desired.

(Sleepy, Hungry and Fat)
Question: Mrs. W. writes: "I am 35 years old and weigh 204 pounds. I am always sleepy and hungry. I attempted the orange fast, but by afternoon was weak and famished. My knees and hip joints pop and squeak and have been stiff for a couple of years. How may I reduce quickly to normal? I am embarrassed to go among people—I feel they are saying, 'Look at that horrible fat woman.'"
Answer: Did you take the Spring Cleansing Diet which I wrote about this month? If not, I will be glad to send you the entire Cleansing Diet Course which ran over a period of a week. I am sure it is exactly what you need. Next time you write be sure to give your name and address.

(Sneezing Each Morning)
Question: Miss Dine asks: "Please tell me through your column what causes sneezing and a cold every morning, regardless of season whether summer or winter?"
Answer: You must be suffering from a chronic state of catarrh which makes the irritating discharge in your nose and makes you sneeze each morning. If you will send me your full name and address, I will be glad to send you some special articles on the cause and cure of catarrhal disorders.

(Oysters)
Question: Mr. Pete I. asks: "Should one chew oysters, or is there any harm in swallowing them whole, as so many do?"
Answer: It is not necessary to chew oysters or any other kind of protein food, as the stomach juices digest proteins that have not been well masticated, and still such foods will no doubt be more quickly digested if they are partially broken up by chewing.

"PERCENTAGE" CONSTABLES
Bridgeport, May 27.—(AP)—Selectmen of Westport today had a caustic letter from N. Harold Nelson, a public official of Harrington Park, N. J., protesting bitterly against what he termed persecution of motorists arrested by "percentage" constables working on a commission basis for passing what he said were obscure red lights.

He apologized sarcastically for his failure to appear in the Town Court, thereby forfeiting his bond, and declared the reason he didn't appear was because he realized he had no chance of benefitting himself by appearing.

Mr. Nelson declared the constable had refused to indicate the red light which the motorist was charged with having passed.

BANKER IS SENTENCED
Waterbury, May 27.—(AP)—Alfonso Russo, 51, erstwhile Waterbury private banker, was today given a two to six year term in the State Prison at Wethersfield by Judge Newell Jennings of the Superior Criminal Court when he pleaded guilty to three charges of embezzlement by agent Russo was extradited from England on a warrant signed by President Hoover. He was the head of the Alfonso Russo and Sons, money forwarding agency, at 387 Bank street but also engaged in a private banking business. His depositors lost about $30,000 when the agency closed in March of last year.

Anti-Roosevelt men claim to have enough votes to deadlock the Democratic convention. That's great news for Chicago hotel men.

BOSTON HARD HIT BY FIERCE STORM

Two Killed and Heavy Damage—Houses Struck By Lightning—Fires.

Boston, May 27.—(AP)—A man and a boy were killed, another person was injured and heavy damage was caused last night by a storm that ripped across this section in terrific bursts of wind, rain and lightning.

David J. Doyle, 27, Robert Mann, 16, and Walter Baker, 10, ran into Lawrence's shipyard when the rain drove down. They were scooped up beneath a crane and slid when a gust of wind lifted the roof from an adjacent building. Huge timbers, hurled into the air like splinters, crashed through the shed and leveled Doyle and the Mann boy. They died before they could be taken to a hospital where they escaped. Maurice Egan, who was working on a boat near the water's edge was injured but a man who was about to enter the building escaped. Boats housed in the shed were wrecked and the total damage was estimated at $50,000.

The storm came on the heels of a heat wave and with it the temperature dropped 18 degrees. Crowds that had flocked to beaches at Nantasket and Revere were caught in the rain and wind that smashed in plate glass windows and damaged trees. Veritable rivers flowed in the streets.

Several houses and church spires were struck by lightning. Resultant fire caused considerable damage in some cases. The chimney of the home of Dr. A. Lawrence Lowell, president of Harvard University, was damaged by a bolt.

MRS. HILL DIVORCED
Dedham, Mass., May 27.—(AP)—Mrs. Anna Hollis Hill, 21-year-old wife of Malcolm T. Hill, former Harvard tennis captain, today won an uncontested divorce after she told Judge Albert Davis that Hill didn't like the way she played tennis. She was granted $5,000 in cash, alimony and the right to resume the use of her maiden name.

MAY REDUCE TEAMS FOR THE OLYMPIAD

New York, May 27.—(AP)—Avery Brundage, president of the A. A. U., today notified twenty sports committees of the American Olympic committee that this country's team in the approaching games at Los Angeles will have to be cut down because of lack of funds.

The drastic action followed a meeting here last night of the Olympic finance committee, where Treasurer George W. Graves of Detroit reported that to date only $34,479 had been raised toward the committee's goal of $800,000. The entire sum raised, President Brundage said, will be used solely to defray the expenses of the team members to Los Angeles. All committee members and officials will be compelled to pay their own way. The sports governing bodies were notified today of the impossibility of obtaining sufficient funds to insure full American participation in the games and informed of grave danger that the American Olympic committee will be unable to finance all its teams.

It had been agreed at a previous meeting of the finance committee at Philadelphia that, in the event funds fell short, the more important branches of sport would be given preference, to the total exclusion, if necessary, of the others. Track and field was placed at the top of the list.

OFFICIALS RESIGN

Gulford, May 27.—(AP)—Seven of the nine members of the Gulford school board and superintendent W. C. Westhaver resigned last night as the climax of a prolonged fight over the ousting of two instructors. Before quitting, however, the board compiled with action of a special town meeting by offering contracts for next year to the two teachers and instructing the secretary to apply to the state board of education for state supervision of Gulford schools.

Westhaver's resignation was accepted with a resolution of regret. We can't help but agree with that New York professor who said that higher mathematics is a waste of time. With business like it is, it's almost useless to teach figures higher than $50.

Cast of Characters In Mayor Walker Case

New York, May 27.—(AP)—Here is a cast of characters in the Walker-Seabury litigation:

Mayor James J. Walker, who defended his record.

Samuel Seabury, counsel for a legislative committee of inquiry, who adduced testimony about happenings he called "exceedingly suspicious."

Russell T. Sherwood, missing accountant. Seabury said he handled $984,068 in five and a half years. Walker denied Sherwood was his fiscal agent.

Senator Samuel Hofstadter, Republican presiding officer, who spent much of his time banging a gavel to still the tumult.

Assemblyman Louis Cuvillier, Democratic minority member, who shouted that questioning of Walker was a "disgrace." Other Democratic members agreed.

J. Allan Smith, who bought a $10,000 letter of credit for Walker's trip to Europe. He represented promoters of the Equitable Coach Company, for which the mayor signed a franchise. Walker said the money came from him and his party, not from Smith.

Thomas E. Murphy, broker's drew $263,000 from a secret account the day before the mayor left for Europe in 1927.

Paul Block, newspaper publisher,

assistant to Seabury, who smiled at Walker's testimony and brought a warning: "Don't sneer at me."

Dr. William E. Walker, the mayor's brother. Seabury said he would be glad if the mayor would get in touch with him and tell him his testimony was wanted. The mayor said he hadn't seen him for five months, but promised to help.

John A. Hastings, state senator, close friend of the mayor. He was interested in the Equitable. The mayor, answering Seabury, said Hastings "knew better" than to request him to support the Equitable franchise.

Charles E. Mitchell, head of the National City Bank. Walker said he asked him to determine whether the Equitable was sound. Mitchell reported it was not.

Rodman Wanamaker, philanthropist, now dead. The mayor said he financed his 1927 trip to Europe to enable him to study parks and other matters.

PRINCE AS LECTURER

Yeovil, Somerset, England, May 27.—(AP)—The Prince of Wales, here to attend the county fair where he is exhibiting a Devon heifer, read a lecture on efficient production today to an audience of farmers.

A couple of cutlets for mother has replaced the great joints of beef that used to be eaten with relish by the family on the Sabbath, he said. "It seems to me we still are producing goods that were suitable in England 30 years ago—big cheese and big joints of meat."

VITAMIN B IN BRAN. RESEARCH REVEALS

Also Has "Bulk" to Further Assist Elimination, and Iron for Blood

One of the functions of Vitamin B is to help tone the intestinal tract, and promote elimination. Now laboratory experiments show Kelllogg's ALL-BRAN contains this valuable vitamin.

In addition, ALL-BRAN brings a plentiful supply of "bulk"—which provides the "ballast" needed to exercise the intestines.

This "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that of lettuce. Inside the body, it is different from the way you see it in the package. It absorbs moisture, and forms a soft mass which gently clears the intestines of wastes. Special cooking processes make ALL-BRAN finer, milder, more palatable.

Another healthful element brought by ALL-BRAN is iron. Tests show this cereal has twice as much usable iron as the same weight of beef liver.

Check common constipation—with its frequent headaches, loss of appetite and energy—by eating this delicious cereal. How much pleasanter than taking pills and drugs—so often habit-forming.

Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily—sufficient to overcome most types of constipation. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

In Connecticut and found out from them what equipment stood the acid test of service and gave the most satisfactory results.

The station today represents the fulfillment of his painstaking efforts. The largest automatic lift in Manchester Canada of handling a load of 50,000 pounds is only one of the many features. Proper lubrication for cars will be featured and the station is equipped with high and low pressure guns and special oils and greases to meet manufacturers' recommendations.

To introduce this station to the public of Manchester, Mr. Brunner is offering a coupon on Saturday, Sunday and Monday good for one gallon of 100 per cent Penn motor oil free with every purchase of five gallons of gasoline or more. In addition to this special value a tube will be given free with every Firestone tire purchase.

BRIDGE BOARD MEETS

Hartford, May 27.—(AP)—The commission appointed by the General Assembly for the planning and construction of a new bridge across the Connecticut River between Hartford and East Hartford, met at 2:30 this afternoon at the county building. More detailed plans of the proposed bridge on the approaches thereto in Hartford and East Hartford were considered by the commission.

AIR PATHS OF GLORY

BY DEKTER TED NEA Service Writer

The green and silver plane was ready. "On to Rome," said Yancey. "Let's go," said Williams.

It was dawn on July 9, 1929 at Old Orchard, Me. The Atlantic ocean sent in its mists to blur the sunrise. The chill of morning was with them. No crowd crept out at daybreak to cheer the flyers on their way.

Then the plane gathered speed, along the beach, and took to the air, sluggishly. Roger Q. Williams and Stewart A. Yancey, both men, were attempting a trans-Atlantic flight to a goal that had not been reached from there before—Rome.

That would be a brave flight. Head winds came with the sun. Unexpectably, unusually, the blast of air was from the east in an area of prevailing westerlies. That could not stop the Bellanca monoplane "Pathfinder" with Williams at the controls and Yancey the navigator. All day it soared along, superbly. Not a flutter of trouble, no hint of disaster, just a slowing of speed against the wind. Then came the fog, up out of the ocean, to make them fly blind. In the next day, with the adverse winds continuing it was evident their fuel supply would be exhausted before they reached Rome.

It was just past noon when they saw the European coast. That must be Spain. The gas tank was nearly empty. Williams noted the Bellanca down, circled and landed at Santander, Spain. It was an Atlantic crossing, and they made it a one-stop flight on to Rome anyway, as soon as they filled the gas tank. In that reception the Italian people gave them was all the exuberant, joyous greeting so characexpects to make an official record soon. He is living on the west coast. Marital troubles have beset Williams. Now he is suing his wife, Mrs. Carrie Williams, for a divorce. This is only a climax, for they have separated before. He was in New York's famous alimony jail because he didn't pay the $80 a week she was awarded. She claimed he had $18,000 a year income.... but he couldn't pay.

Since that day they saw the Atlantic, they haven't had all clear flying. There has been fog and blinding flying. But they accept it philosophically. It's all in an airman's life-time.

FIRES STILL RAGING

North Bay, Ont., May 27.—(AP)—A dense pall of smoke hung over northern Ontario today as fires steadily burned through the forests. The situation had improved somewhat, however, as a sudden change in the direction of the wind during the night aided the force of 80 men who have been fighting the flames. W. E. Greenwood, district forester, said the fire fighters have a good chance to check the flames if the wind remains as it is now.

A BOOK A DAY

BY BRUCE CATTON

SIREN SOUNDED FOR WORLD IN WESCOOT BOOK

Mr. Glenway Wescott, talented novelist, has been looking at the moon and has discovered that it has blood on it. There are about to be full deeds at the crossroads, and Mr. Wescott sounds the siren manfully in his newest book, "Fear and Trembling."

What he fears is nothing less than the collapse of European civilization. He sees the world drifting straight toward another war, and he is convinced that none of the things that civilization prizes most highly could survive such a catastrophe.

He also believes that democratic government has collapsed, and that a drift has begun which is very apt to result in Bolshevism—which, he believes, would be a calamity as great as that of a new World War.

All of this, of course, is what a great many very intelligent men have been saying lately. Mr. Wescott is not alone in his pessimism. His manner of presenting it, though, is unfortunate.

It seems that he and three friends talked all of this over on a motor trip across Europe, and his book somehow sounds like that. It has in it the odor of self-conscious high-browism, so that it is irritating rather than persuasive. When Mr. Wescott loftily explains that money does not bring happiness and that it is silly to believe in the possibility of eradicating poverty, he provokes in one a strong desire to toss his book into the handiest wastebasket.

"Fear and Trembling" is offered by Harpers, and can be had for $3.50.

BRICKS, HEALTHY SIGNS, SAYS SPEAKER GARNER

New Haven, May 27.—(AP)—Bricks may be a bother to some, but Speaker John N. Garner termed them today as a "healthy sign."

"The country is throwing a lot of bricks at us, but I don't mind that a bit," the speaker, one of the three leading candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination, said in an interview in the Yale Daily News.

"To you know I already have loved a good fight, and so all of the cartoons, editorials, letters and word of mouth attacks don't bother me. They rather please me. It's a healthy sign when people take so much interest in the affairs of the country."

There is one thing that does bother him, the speaker said, and that is the large amount of "personal" mail he receives.

"I know people write me in good faith and expect personal answers, but I can't write them. It isn't humanly possible."

Garner's advice to young men is "get the best possible education and then go in for work. They really like it."

"Do you know, a fellow who is trying to make a success of a job he doesn't like is just loping up-hill."

He said he was having "the time of his life" on his own job in Congress.

WHY RISK ALL

Fires come without much warning. Are you willing to risk your life and investment in your future? Your home? When a few cents each day will buy a good fire insurance policy. Remember we cannot insure your goods after the fire starts.

LEBRUN GUARDED

Paris, May 27.—(AP)—President Albert Lebrun, heavily guarded by detectives in view of Communist threats growing out of the Scottsboro, Ala., case, paid his first visit of courtesy to the American Ambassador, Walter E. Edge, today.

The president remained ten minutes at the embassy and during his stay sidewalks in the vicinity were cleared of pedestrians and additional police and detectives were on duty.

SENSE AND NONSENSE

Every good word that you say for Manchester means an additional good impression for Manchester.

Miss Cutie Funnyface from Brushville says that her idea of a thrill that hits only on one cylinder is the one a man gets when he is making his fifth trip to the altar.

There is still some charity left in the world. Prominent authors have held up Washington and Lincoln to scorn, but haven't said a harsh word about the Unknown Soldier.

A once wealthy citizen that came down with the depression, offers the best advice for everyone in general. Just three words which may help very much. "Don't kid yourself."

"Commencement" Exercises Bill—May I hold your hand? Edith—Well, I suppose we'll have to start with the preliminaries.

There may be some husbands who really need bullet proof vests, but what most of them need is sound proof ears.

Clara—We surely had a nice bridge game last night. Her Hubby—That so? Who won the argument?

A commercial traveler, traveling through Scotland, wrote to his manager: "In reply to your question as to the reason why I failed to get any orders for canned goods in Aberdeen, the reason is that the tins are not edible."

Kitty—Dick called up the house four times before I gave him a date. Janet—Whom did he ask for the first three times?

Many a girl thinks her boy friend's so crazy about her that when they get married, he'll do just as she says—and make a wonderful success. No wonder there are so many disillusioned wives.

Look Yourself Over One reason why so many folks are swelled in their top story is just because they fail to take a careful inventory.

Somehow, a woman can never make a man understand that a reason is not an explanation, and that an explanation is not always an excuse.

Real Estate Man—Sir, may I have your daughter? Real Estate Man—Yes, but you'll have to sign a five-year lease.

Dumb Dora of Brushville is so dumb she thinks "no kiddink" is a slogan for birth control.

Experience has the habit of teaching people a lot of things they would rather not know.

A doctor is a man who tells you the right temperature for your home is 68 and keeps his at 65.

A man is not necessarily in love when he tumbles for a girl—but when he falls so hard he can't stop going—that's the real test.

Remember the door-to-door salesman never expects to see you again and is quite different from the local storekeeper who knows when he sells you something that it must be satisfactory or you will never again patronize his store.

A Scotsman, upon entering a saddler's, asked for a single spur. Saddler—What use is one spur? Scotsman—Well, if I can get one side of the horse to go, the other side will have to come w' it.

Remember, fellow citizens, that public improvements promote progress in cities.

QUOTATIONS

I am firmly convinced that from the day all political debts are canceled the economic existence of everyone everywhere, whether employer or employe, will be improved. —Chancellor Brüning of Germany.

The decision to evacuate Shanghai is due to the Japanese government's desire to conform to world opinion and to prove that Japan had no ulterior or territorial motives in sending troops there. —Spokesman for the Japanese government, Tokyo.

It is inconceivable that the legislature intended the prohibition law to apply to the possession of a teaspoonful of whisky when that quantity could not in any manner affect the morals, health or well-being of any person. —From an opinion by the Alabama Court of Appeals.

The choice between sterling and gold was forced upon the government by the virtual break-down of gold and the rise of sterling as a managed currency, independent of gold. Sterling seems to be on the winning side, offering a better hope of escape from the evils of deflation. —Stanley Bruce, Australian leader.
