HAUSNER HOPS OFF ON POLAND FLIGHT

Newark, N. J., Flier Hopes To Make Warsaw In One Hop; Wife Follows Him For a Way In Other Plane.

New York, June 3.—(AP)—Stanislaus Hausner of Newark, N. J., took off for Warsaw, Poland, from Floyd Bennett field today at 8:46 a. m., Eastern Standard Time. He hoped to make the flight non-stop. It was Hausner's second start on the projected solo flight to the country where he was born. Last Saturday he took off but was forced back after several hours by unfavorable weather.

He was followed into the air today by another plane in which his pretty young wife rode as passenger. This plane merely intended to escort Hausner on the first few miles of his journey.

In the second plane was also Rev. Paul Knappely, a Newark priest. Hausner's plane is the old rebuilt Bellanca monoplane Santa Rosa Maria which was originally built for a Chicago syndicate which planned an ocean flight which never materialized.

May Stop at Paris Although Hausner's destination was Warsaw he said before leaving that if conditions necessitated he might make a stop at London or Paris. He planned to follow a course slightly to the south of the steamer lanes.

Hausner lifted his plane into the air after running 3,500 feet down the concrete runway, passing about 50 feet over a small crowd assembled to see him off. As he gained altitude he turned the plane around and headed eastward.

A Navy plane also accompanied him as an escort. He carried fifty letters, some of which he planned to drop over the Croydon Airport near London, and, if conditions were favorable he hoped to fly over Le Bourget, Paris, to drop others.

His plane carried 825 gallons of gasoline, and he took along a case of chicken sandwiches, a tin of coffee and a gallon of water.

Hausner appeared cool as he supervised the final tuning up of his plane. He took out his watch, kissed his wife goodbye and then calmly said: "Well, let's go."

He climbed into the plane and was off a moment later. The flier estimated he would fly approximately 4,375 miles to reach Warsaw. The plane, equipped with a whirwind motor similar to that used by Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and Clarence Chamberlin in their flights across the Atlantic, has a cruising speed of 100 miles. Hausner said he hoped to reach his destination in 44 hours.

Equipped With Flares The plane was equipped with six parachute flares for use in the event Hausner experiences trouble during his flight.

Among those who witnessed today's takeoff were Jane Elsie, who christened the plane yesterday, and Frederick Elsie. The Elsies are New Jersey friends of the Hausners.

Hausner left with word from the Weather Bureau that favorable conditions were expected.

THREAT TO KIDNAP DAUGHTER OF STAR

Police Guard Marlene Dietrich's Child After She Had Received a Letter.

Los Angeles, June 3.—(AP)—Bodyguards watched over Marlene Dietrich, screen star, and her young daughter today following threats to kidnap and harm the child. District Attorney Burton Fitts said a thorough investigation of the threats, which demanded $10,000, would be made. But he expressed the opinion that they were the work of "cheap chiselers" trying to collect "easy money" and who had no intention of harming the little girl, Maria.

Rudolf Sieber, husband of the German screen actress, appeared not to be alarmed over the situation. How Discovered The plot against the actress and child was revealed through a mixup in addresses on letters sent by the extortionists. The kidnapers are attempting their scheme at the same time as Mrs. Elton Miller, wife of a Hesen importer and her small son. Mrs. Miller received a letter intended for Miss Dietrich, while the actress received one intended for Mrs. Miller.

Joseph von Sternberg, director of the film productions in which Miss Dietrich has appeared since coming to this country from Germany, told authorities he likewise had received threatening letters which demanded $20,000 under penalty of death.

ARREST NINE HERE FOR FIRE VIOLATION

Speeding To Scene, Obstructing Traffic and Illegal Parking the Causes.

Nine persons appeared in court this morning for violations of the ordinance against obstructing traffic, failing to give the right of way to fire apparatus and for illegal parking at the scene of the fire at 1014 West Middle Turnpike last night. Of the nine appearing before Deputy Judge Thomas Ferguson this morning, three were members of the South Manchester Fire Department and one driver had taken Assistant Chief Daniel Haggerty to the scene of the fire.

Pleas Guilty George Edward Lawson 23, of 16 Francis street, East Hartford pleaded guilty to illegal parking and paid $2.00. H. J. Bolton, 37, of 34 West Center street told the court that he was on the way to get his wife in Hartford and started down West Center street before the alarm sounded. He said he cut over to Center street at McKee street and became involved in the traffic shortly after entering Center street. He was charged with failing to give the right of way to fire apparatus. He admitted he was attracted by the fire to go to Hartford by way of Center street.

He said he did everything possible to get out of the way of the fire apparatus but was prevented from so doing by a long line of cars which were going to the fire. Judgment was suspended in his case. John C. Hendricks, 40, of 30 Russell street said he was coming from work in Hartford and when passing the scene of the fire became involved in the traffic at that point. He was charged with obstructing traffic and failing to give the right of way to fire apparatus. He was fined $2.00.

Herold Saggert, 19, of 17 Dudley street, was charged with illegal parking. Thomas Milner, 50, of East Glastonbury charged with parking on the curve at McLean's Hill, near the scene of the fire was discharged when he told the court he took Assistant Chief Daniel Haggerty to the fire. His statement was verified by Haggerty. Joseph E. White, 26, of R. F. D.

NUDISTS ORGANIZE CAMP IN NEW YORK

Own 400 Acre Estate At Highlands; Expect To Accommodate 400 Guests.

Camp Olympia, N. Y., June 3.—(AP)—Nudists has come to the foothills of the Catskills where Rip Van Winkle had his peaceful 20-year siesta. Here, on a 400-acre estate nine miles west of the Hudson river at Highlands, N. Y., men, women and children are sunbathing, swimming, fishing and playing. The camp, operated by the Olympian League which heretofore has confined its activities to the dissemination of nudist propaganda, was opened a few days ago. It is the first in New York state and has been designed to accommodate 400 guests. The league expects more than 300 to spend vacations in it during July and August.

30-Acre Playground for the nudists is a thirty-acre, spring-fed lake which abounds in fish. The lake and the major portion of the estate is secluded and the nudists fear no trouble with the law since outsiders would be forced to trespass to enter the estate.

For the most part the guests have been professional people. During the past two weeks they included several lawyers from New York, an office manager from Albany, several writers, an accountant, a retired Baptist minister and his son and daughter. The latter teaches Sunday school in a New Jersey village.

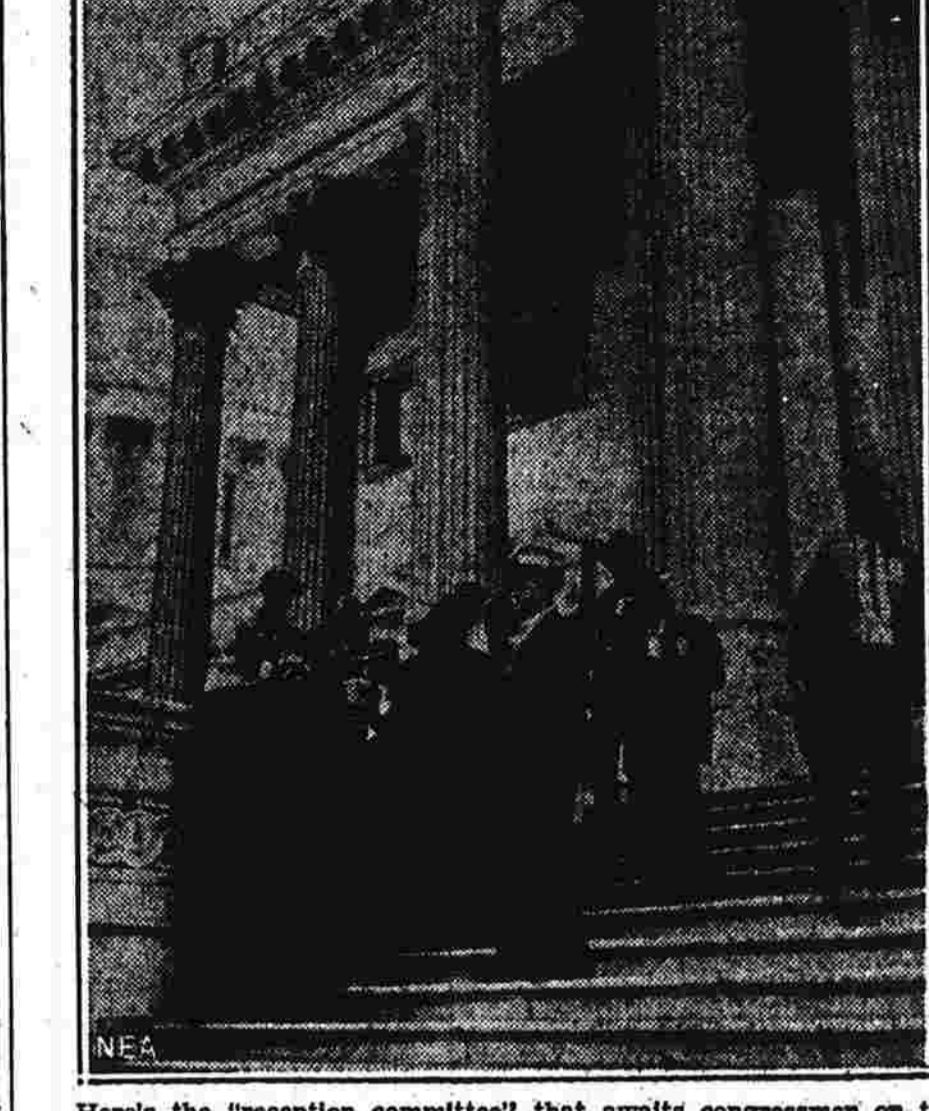

Two sisters, one a writer, the other a well known artist, are remodeling a barn into a studio in which they plan to spend the summer.

For a motto, the league quotes Columnist Heywood Brown, in its literature—a place where we poor frustrated mortals finally get a chance to do the things that have been so long denied us."

TREASURY BALANCE

Washington, June 3.—(AP)—Treasury receipts for June 1 were $105,150,720.42; expenditures $106,925,621.84; balance $380,103,833.82. Customs duties for one day of June were $678,909.03.

KILLS GIRL, LEAPS WITH BODY INTO A VOLCANO

Spurned By Sweetheart, Portuguese Youth Takes Unusual Path To End It All; Leaves Note of Confession

Hilo, Hawaii, June 3.—(AP)—Felo, dreared fire goddess of Hawaiians, has claimed a human sacrifice of love and despair in her traditional home—the lava filled fire pit of Halemauana.

Clasping in his arms the body of the girl who had spurned his love, William Nunes, 20-year-old Portuguese, leaped yesterday into the deep pit of the world's largest active volcano. He apparently had slain the girl, Margaret Enos, 16, before hurling himself into the lava-filled crater where some believe the ancient Hawaiians once offered Felo's wrath.

Their bodies lay today side by side shrouded in sulphurous fumes, 800 feet below the brink of the pit on the slopes of Kilauea.

Shoots Her Sister Two days ago the high school girl refused Nunes offer of marriage. Early yesterday morning the rejected suitor kidnaped Miss Enos

SPITALE ARRESTED IN RAID ON CLUB

One of the "Mystery Men" In Lindbergh Case Has Gun On Him When Caught.

New York, June 3.—(AP)—Salvatore Spitalo, one of the "mystery men" in the Lindbergh kidnaping case, was swept up in a police net swung into the Playtime Club in Broadway's bright light district early today.

The raid, in which liquor was seized, bore no apparent connection to the Lindbergh case. Police found a gun on Spitalo, but he produced a permit signed by Judge William E. Thorpe of Greene county. In spite of this he and six others taken into custody were questioned from 2 a. m. until almost 6 a. m. Then he was booked on a charge of violating the anti-firearms law.

Named By Lindbergh Spitalo was named by Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh as his emissary to the underworld in the search for the kidnaped baby. Appointed with him was Irving Bits, who appeared at the station this morning, looking agitated and consulting "Bitch" McCarthy, bondaman.

Spitalo, known to the underworld as a beer baron, was projected into the police investigation of the slaying last December of Jack (Legs) Diamond, but he was not arrested.

Abe Kettler, who said he was in the garage business; Julie Bahzman, recently acquitted of a speakeasy murder; Samuel Schpritzler, described by police as a prize fighter, with the ring name "Danny Lee"; Joseph Aaron, William Masari and Albert Fine were the others detained.

REVENUE BILL AGREED UPON BY CONFEREES

Raises Over Billion, the Goal Set By Administration; House May Be Ready To Take Action Tomorrow.

Washington, June 3.—(AP)—The revised revenue bill agreed upon by Congressional conferees in last night's record-breaking session provides approximately $1,115,000,000—the goal set by the administration.

Conferees worked furiously today in an attempt to get the compromise legislation in form to submit to the House, where leaders plan action by tomorrow.

Proceed to reach out for every available source of revenue to meet the new demands of the government the conferees accepted the higher individual and corporation income tax rates provided by the Senate.

All four import taxes—on lumber and copper as well as oil and coal—were kept in the bill.

The new income tax schedule is up to the 1921 level. Normal rates are four per cent on the first $4,000 and eight per cent on income over $4,000 with a surtax schedule graduating to a maximum of 55 per cent income in excess of $1,000,000.

The corporation tax voted by the Senate is 14 per cent.

Complete details of the new revenue bill were withheld pending preparation of the report to be submitted to the House.

Will Balance Budget Expected that the bill passed by the Senate raised $1,117,000,000 in new revenue. They reported that the compromise measure provides within a couple of millions of dollars the sum which the administration has declared will be a "se" the

TAMMANY IS ISSUE AMONG DEMOCRATS

What Will Roosevelt Do To Walker, Is the Question That Bothers Leaders.

Washington, June 3.—(AP)—Two familiar headlines of many a past campaign—Tammany and Prohibition—come very near to monopolizing political speculation as the two parties pack up their troubles and prepare to fight it out at Chicago.

For the Democrats, the big convention question is who will be the presidential nominee; and at the bottom of that, for the moment, at least, is of what Governor Roosevelt will do to Tammany and what Tammany will do to him.

Among the Republicans, the only great uncertainty is over the platform, and nine-tenths of that uncertainty is clustered under the single heading of what today about the dry laws.

Tammany Opposition Both of these subjects have been provided during the present week. No one questions Tammany's support of Mayor Walker, nor doubts that his removal by Roosevelt would increase the probability of unrelenting Tammany opposition to Roosevelt's nomination. No one disputes that in a large section of the country Tammany is of some importance.

The declaration of the United States that they will stand by their guns has made its impression. The half proposal to invite Senator Borah to head an independent dry party has not appreciable progress. Only one or two of the assembled dry leaders conferred with the Senator, and the results appear to have been nebulous.

PROBERS SAY RASKOB SOLD MARKET SHORT

World War Veterans Pour Into Capital Democratic Leader Admits He Did On Two Occasions For Technical Reasons; Publicity Man Says He Made Half Million Without Putting Up Any Money.

Washington, June 3.—(AP)—A critical situation shaped up today as hundreds of more bonus seeking war veterans poured into the city and had to be quartered abjectly in open fields for lack of billeting space.

To the six hundred who have been quartered in vacant buildings for the past few days, and the 1,000 or so reported being cared for individually by local charities, were added two new delegations last night with more expected by freight train and truck during the day.

Brig-General Glassford, superintendent of police, had sought tents from the War Department but met with flat refusal from Secretary Hurley. A crew of carpenters was organized from among the jobless veterans today to build wall-less, lumber shelters in open fields in Anacostia.

Rations for feeding the men were low and local authorities were desperate. The objective of the bonus seekers was still distant. By this morning only 113 members of the House had signed the petition—requiring 145 names—through which it is sought to compel a vote on legislation to pay the $2,000,000,000 of bonus principal outstanding.

Hundreds of pounds of beef and vegetables were sent to the campers by police this morning. Police watched closely today for any signs of Communistic activity among the veterans. Leaders of the veterans have vehemently asserted they have no connection with Communism.

Plans are being laid, however, by a Communistic affiliation, the Workers Ex-Service Men's League for a mass demonstration in behalf of the bonus June 8.

NOW UP TO SEABURY TO MAKE HIS CHARGE

Governor Roosevelt Says Probers Need Not Wait Until Next Legislature To Make Their Report. AS GIANTS' HEAD

Albany, N. Y., June 3.—(AP)—Governor Roosevelt said today it was the duty of the legislative committee and Samuel Seabury to make charges against Mayor Walker, "if they believe they have sufficient cause" without waiting to make formal report to the next Legislature.

The governor's statement was an answer to published reports that Seabury, the committee's counsel, intended to hold up formal charges against the mayor of New York to give time for Governor Roosevelt to act on his own initiative.

The statement by Governor Roosevelt follows: "The only information before the governor is in the form of very incomplete newspaper stories. It is not even clear from Judge Seabury's statement to Chairman Hofstadter whether he has fully completed the investigation. I act in each case definitely, positively and with due promptness."

Get the Law Straight "Get the law straight. It is the duty of the legislative committee and its counsel, if they believe they have sufficient cause, to present evidence to the proper authorities without waiting to make formal report to next year's legislature. You cannot get away from that obvious public duty."

In the case of Sheriff Farley, Judge Seabury asked the legislative committee to present the evidence to the governor, the committee

WORLD WAR HERO COMMITS SUICIDE

One of Only Two Doctors To Hold Congressional Medal, Kills Himself.

Philadelphia, June 3.—(AP)—Dr. Orlando H. Petty, 58 one of the only two doctors who hold Congressional medals of honor was dead today from a pistol shot which detectives were convinced was self-inflicted.

With Dr. Joel T. Boone, White House physician, he held the Congressional award and in addition had numerous other decorations including the Distinguished Service Cross, the French Croix de Guerre with palm and the Italian war cross.

Miss Rose Cullen, his secretary, said she heard a pistol shot last night and ran to Dr. Petty's bedroom and found him lying fatally wounded. Beside him, she said was a pistol, a treasured trophy obtained from a German officer Petty captured during the World War.

The deed which won him the Congressional medal was performed by Dr. Petty in June 11, 1918. Under heavy shell fire, he worked in his dressing station until it fell in flames about him. He escaped to a place of safety with a wounded officer on his back.

FLOODS THREATEN OKLAHOMA CITY

At Least Two Drowned and Several Reported Missing; Troops Are Called Out.

Oklahoma City, June 3.—(AP)—At least two persons were believed drowned and several were reported missing as torrential rains early today sent streams over many outlying sections of Oklahoma. The flooded area included the community camp, peopled by hundreds of unemployed.

The Canadian river and several creeks left their banks after an all night downpour which measured six inches.

John L. Kennedy told police his wife had drowned and that he had saved his infant child.

Others Missing The body of another woman was reported on a trellis, which could not be reached because of high water.

Four of a family of five were reported missing, the father, marooned in a tree, shouting he did not know what had become of the others.

Those in the community camp fled their tents and rescue work. Families living outside the camp were homeless.

At one time water stood two feet deep at Main and Broadway, in the heart of the business district.

National Guard troops were called out for police and rescue work. One house floating downstream was roped by police and a family of five rescued.

Reports said water was even deeper near 29th street and South Holliston avenue and that houses below were clinging to rocks. A Panama truck was on duty at daylight in the business section and merchants were there earlier, trying to save basement stocks and

ROCKVILLE

Superior Court
 There will be a session of the Tolland County Superior Court on Tuesday morning in the Superior Court Room, Municipal Building. Judge Carl Foster will be on the bench. Willis Read, clerk of the court, did not have the full list of cases ready until late today.

Due to the illness of State Attorney Thomas F. Noone, someone else will be appointed to present the criminal cases, which it is expected, will be disposed of at the opening of the court. Cases not disposed of at that time will be assigned for trial.

Among some of the criminal cases to be presented are: Charles Dauphin, 28, of Mountain street and Gus Wycikowsky, 23, of High street, both of this city, will be before the court on charges of breaking and entering the Harold Hanson cottage at Shiloh Lake three months ago. Stuart Knok Rodman, 27, of New Britain, will be before the court on charges of abandoning his wife and children and cohabitation. He was bound over from the Mansfield Justice Court, after pleading guilty to the charges against him. Fred Bidwell, 20, and E. Vernon Hayden, 21, both of Ellington, will be before the court on charges of carnal abuse of a female child.

Another case to come before the court is that of Thomas Costello of Providence, R. I., on charges of fraudulent use of check, and also selling an automobile without title on a conditional bill of sale. This case is from the Mansfield Court.

He was picked up by officers Dowgiewicz and Merrill Cedar. Later in the day he was taken back to Norwich.

Cahill had been arrested several times on charges of intoxication and breach of the peace previous to being committed to Norwich.

Graduation Dates Set
 Robert C. Demming of the State Board of Education will be the speaker at the High School graduation this year, which is to be held in the Sykes Auditorium on June 22. The grammar school exercises will be held on Tuesday night, June 21, at the Sykes Auditorium and will be in the form of a Washington bicentennial program. There will be music in keeping with the program and there will be the awarding of diplomas and pictures of the life of George Washington. There will be no speaker. The St. Bernard's school exercises will be held on Sunday, June 19 at St. Bernard's church. Other schools are as follows: Ellington, Monday, June 20; Somers, Tuesday, June 21; Tolland, Friday, June 17. All of the above named schools will close on June 22.

Slight Accident
 There was a slight accident on the Tolland Road, near Leonard's Corner on Thursday morning when an automobile driven by Everett Robinson of Willington, formerly of this city had the misfortune of having a tire blow out and the car turned over landing on top of a fence. The windshield and fence were broken, and carpenter's tools were strewn about the road. Mr. Robinson received slight cuts. After having the tire repaired he was able to drive the car on its own power.

Hospital Report
 Following is a report of the work done at the Rockville City Hospital for the month of May, 1932: Number of patients in hospital, May 1, 1932, 14; number admitted during the month, 35; out patients, 9; total cases, 68; discharged, 40; deaths, 2; X-rays, 22; accidents, 9; operations, 12; largest number treated, 7; smallest number treated, 1; daily average, patients, 12. The report was submitted by the superintendent, Annie Hathaway Smith.

Otto E. Usher, 60, died at his home at 70 East street on Wednesday afternoon, death being due to complications. He had been in ill health for the past two years. Mr. Usher was born in Tolland, and resided there and in Stafford Springs for a number of years, but had made his home in Rockville for the past 20 years.

He was a carpenter by trade and was widely known in this vicinity. Mr. Usher leaves his wife, Mrs. Annie (Jacobson) Usher; three daughters, Mrs. Thomas Corcoran of Virginia, formerly of Clinton, Mass.; Mrs. Elizabeth Fisher of Chester; Mrs. Henry Theurer of Rockville; a son, Clarence Usher of Hartford; seven brothers, Alden Usher of Vernon; Alvin of this city; Joseph and Arthur of Stafford; Elmer of Tolland; Albert of Centerbrook and Seldon Usher of Washington, D. C.; four sisters, Mrs. Hattie Griswold, Mrs. Howard Peck, both of Ellington; Mrs. Michael Ryan of this city and Miss Ada Usher of Tolland.

The funeral will be held from the Usher home on Saturday afternoon at 2:30. Rev. H. B. Olmstead, pastor of St. John's Episcopal church, of which the deceased was a member, will officiate. Burial will be in Grove Hill cemetery.

Going on Full Time
 The Peerless Silk Textile Corporation is planning to have all its regular force of employees working next week with two shifts running full time. The mill had been running almost full time until a few weeks ago when the work slackened. More orders have been secured and there will be two shifts running full time.

At Circus Thursday
 The children of the Tolland County Temporary Home at Vernon Center were guests of the circus management at the circus held at the Rockville Fair Grounds on Thursday. The American Legion members here furnished the transportation and refreshments as in previous years.

GERMANS CHECKED
 On June 3, 1918, the German advance was finally checked by American troops in the Veuilly Woods. According to reports from the front, enemy losses were very severe due to advantageous positions held by American troops and the withering fire of machine guns and "89's."

On the French front, Germans were making slight gains west of Nouvron and Fontenoy, but French troops started an advance of their own and retook Faverolles, north of the Ourcq.

German submarine warfare against United States shipping off the eastern coast accounted for 12 ships up to June 3, it was announced. In addition to this activity, the subs sank mines off the Delaware Capes and accounted for the sinking of the tanker, Herbert L. Pratt.

The Belgian foreign minister, Charles de Broqueville, resigned and was replaced by M. Coorman, former president of the House of Representatives.

AUTO ENDURANCE RUN

TO END THIS EVENING

Marberry To Complete His 100 Hours Test On Stage of the State Theater.

John Marberry, known as the State-Plymouth "Rocket" was on the verge of collapsing at noon today. Marberry has driven 96 hours thus far, with only 4 more hours to go to complete his 100-hour endurance run, chained to the wheel of the famous Plymouth endurance car.

Marberry started his endurance drive at 5:15 p. m. last Monday from directly in front of the State theater and tonight at 9:15 p. m. he will drive his car onto the stage of the State theater where the drive will end. He will then be carried to Kemp's furniture store where he may be seen asleep until Saturday night. Prize awards will be made from the stage directly following the finish of the endurance drive to persons which guess nearest to the correct number of miles the endurance car traveled.

The Schaller Motor Sales, sponsors of this endurance run reported that at eleven this morning the endurance car was given a minute inspection and was reported to be in excellent shape despite the grueling test it has undergone.

GAS AS A WAR WEAPON
DEFENDED BY GENERAL
 Kansas City, June 3 — (AP) — Gas is championed as a humane weapon of war by Maj. Gen. Amos A. Fries, who was chief of chemical warfare for the United States during the World War.

Predictions that entire cities will be destroyed by gas in the next war were termed "poppycock" by the retired officer who is here attending the convention of the National Sojourners, a Masonic organization.

General Fries said the humane-ness of gas lies in the fact that, while it disables an enemy temporarily, it makes possible a high percentage of recoveries.

"During the World War, one out of every four Americans sent to hospitals for shell wounds died," he said.

"The ratio in soldiers sent to the hospital for gas wounds was only one out of 50. The after effects were even better. Those disabled by gas still had their eyes. The trouble is that honest pacifists in this country are fooled by the Communists. Gas isn't so terrible and it will remain a part of all major operations. Shanghai wasn't wiped out by it."

Queer Twists In Day's News

Chicago—How to manufacture gold on the back stoop is explained by Professor William D. Harjans of the University of Chicago. To the mercury in the back door thermometer, add a pinch of electrons. In theory it's fine, but alas there's a catch in it. In practice, the electrons refuse to merge with mercury. New York—What's this? Elbow grease in a workhouse? After visiting one and finding the occupants wringing thumbs, Magistrate Jonah Goldstein decided on a policy of "no work, no eat." So Charles Monsolito, cabinet maker, who failed to fork over the stated sum to his wife, must make cabinets while in duration to support her. Washington—It's crowded civilization, not drafts, that causes colds, new evidence indicates. Dr. Wilson C. Smilie of Harvard told about the folks in Spitzberg up beyond the Arctic Circle. Coal miners there don't have colds in the winter although they walk from hot barracks across a glacier. The first ship to arrive in the spring brings an epidemic of colds. Buffalo, N. Y.—The price of kisses went up. Daniel Petrelli said, and that's what started the rumpus. Arraigned on an assault charge, he said he visited his estranged wife once a week and gave her $1 for a kiss. When she boosted the price to $5 there was a row. Raymond, Wash.—Up here, where big oysters grow, they have pictures of them on money. When the bank closed the Chamber of Commerce put out cardboard cash called "Raymond's oyster money." Hollywood, Cal.—The wolf is at the door of the $500,000 mansion of Charles Christie, pioneer film producer, he told a judge in explaining why he can't pay a $14,000 judgment. He said a friend stalked him to gas for his $20,000 automobile, his home is mortgaged to the limit and his servants must go. "I haven't got a dime," he said. Riverton, Wyo.—Uncle Sam may find it hard to believe, but it's so. Learning that Congress was considering building a $70,000 post office here, the Lions Club advised him to keep the money. "Our citizens want to see the budget balanced," the club said.

HUGH CHALMERS DIES; AUTOMOBILE PIONEER

Detroit, June 8.—(AP)—Death came yesterday to Hugh Chalmers, 58, one of the little group of men whose vision of mass production of automobiles turned a small group of "fad factories" into the giant motor industry of today. He died in a private hospital at Reason, N. Y., after being stricken ill suddenly while motoring in the east with Mrs. Chalmers. Pneumonia, complicated by heart disease, caused death. His career was that of the self-made American business man. He took business courses at night while attending public school, became an office boy for the National Cash Register Company at the age of 14 and before he was 30 was vice-president and general manager of the company. Coming to Detroit in 1907, Mr. Chalmers quickly became a leading figure in the automobile field. He was president of the Chalmers-Detroit Company and had interests in other concerns during the World War he was head of a company making anti-aircraft guns and was active in Liberty Loan and Red Cross campaigns. He retired from active business 10 years ago.

QUOTATIONS

I think that if you never let your career interfere with your marriage and do not marry your married life over into your work you can be successful in each. —Lilyan Tashman, movie actress. There is no time to talk; we must act before it is too late. We must purify our national life and build a new Japan. —General Seicho Araki, Japanese minister of war. It seems necessary for me to say that I believe nothing should be done with regard to revision of the bonus bill at this session of Congress. —Alfred E. Smith, Democratic nominee for the presidency in 1928. I am still optimistic. —Charles M. Schwab, steel magnate. If we, as a nation, continue our present outward and discredited policy of imposing higher tariff duties, it will mean that we must be satisfied with a market of 120,000,000 people. —Albert D. Hutzler of the National Retail Dr. Goods Association. In Florida the sun comes out every day, says a vacation ad. And the mosquitoes come out every night.

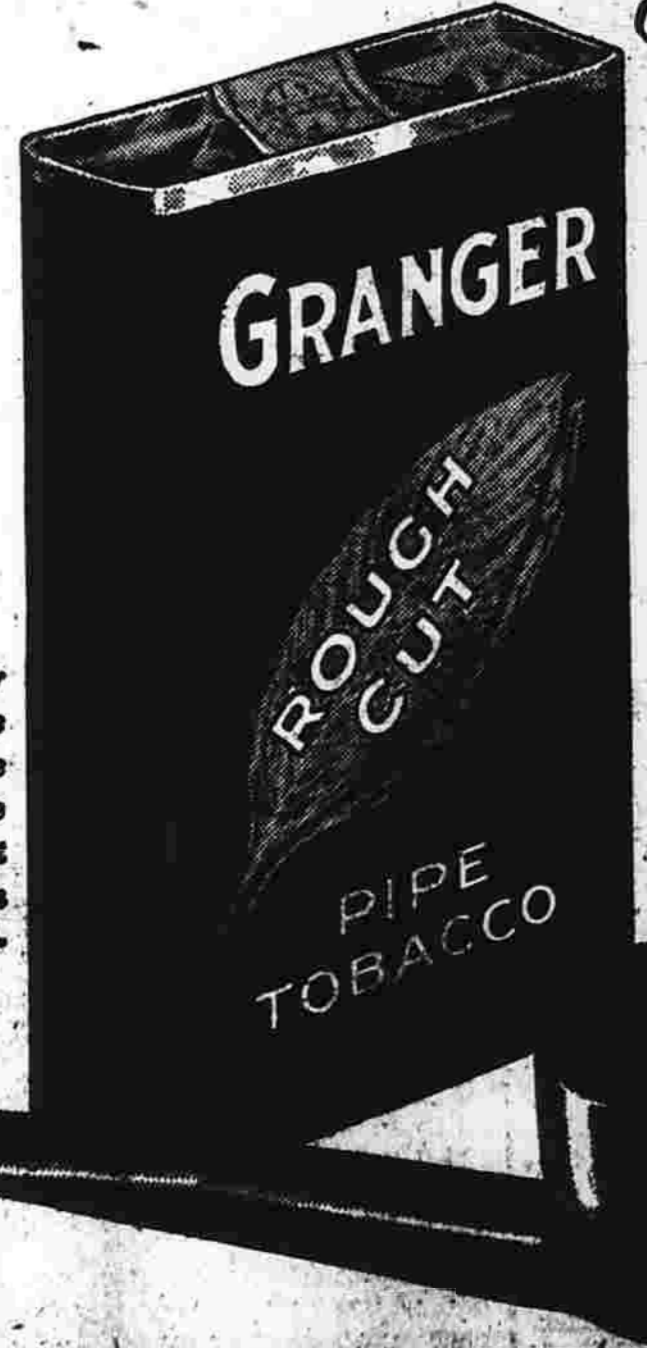

CAPT. HAWKES READY FOR FLYING AGAIN

New York, June 8.—(AP)—Capt. Frank M. Hawkes, still in a Boston hospital recovering from a crash in April, will soon be in the air again, and this time in even a faster plane than the one in which he established innumerable speed records. W. S. Rodgers, vice-president of the Texas Company, for which Hawkes is technical adviser, announced today that a new plane was being built for the injured aviator by the Northrop Corporation of Hawthorne, Cal. The new plane, which Capt. Hawkes will take delivery on in September, is of transport type and will be powered with a newly developed engine of 14 cylinders. It will have a cruising range of more than 2,500 miles at a speed of more than 200 miles an hour. With this ship Capt. Hawkes, who will be discharged from the Massachusetts General hospital within a few days, is expected to attempt to establish new records and regain some old ones lost to Major James H. Doolittle, his chief rival in the battle for speed. MAN'S BODY IN RIVER. Bridgeport, June 8.—(AP)—The body of Stephen J. Diugos, 58, missing since May 30, was found yesterday in the Housatonic river at Stratford. When last seen, Diugos told his family he was going to church. The cause of his death was undetermined.

Continued Dry Weather

Makes it imperative that you keep your lawn wet now if you hope to save it this season!

The long period of drought coming at this time of year with continued drying winds has taken the moisture out of the soil for nearly 10 inches in many places. An artificial supply of water is the only way you can save the grass roots and shrubs for that matter too.

HIGHWAY PLANS AID BI-CENTENNIAL

Honor Washington Through Beautifying Roadside and State Parklets.

Special assistance is being rendered by the Bureau of Roadside Development of the Connecticut Highway Department to various organizations and committees in conducting memorial programs in connection with the George Washington Bicentennial by beautification of the roadside and the planting of special shade trees along the highways in addition to its regular spring and fall planting. These trees, the planting of which was made possible by a subscription drive among the members of the association, are distinguished as George Washington memorial trees by stainless steel markers.

In the historic town of Lebanon, the bureau has been working with the Connecticut George Washington Bicentennial Commission and has carried out a definite plan of improvement in the vicinity of the town green upon which is located the old War Office, famous for the "Councils of Safety" of Governor Jonathan Trumbull. The War Office has been landscaped with a base planting of dwarf evergreens which add much to the beauty of the spot. More than one hundred mountain laurel plants, the official flower of Connecticut, have been grouped along a stone wall nearby. The old well sweep and bucket have been repaired and are ready for use again. A broken stone walk has been laid from the steps of the War Office to the roadway and a large elm tree has been transplanted to a suitable spot in front of the old colonial building where it adds considerable charm.

More than fifty nursery grown shade trees were planted on the green to replace those which have died in years gone by. On the northern edge of the green a grove of one hundred red pine trees has been planted in memory of Governor Jonathan Trumbull. Irrigation ditches have been dug on the green in the vicinity of the War Office to prevent recurrence of the annual swamp which has been so objectionable to residents and visitors in the past.

The original site of the old War Office on the Colchester road is to be marked by a "bronze plaque placed upon a suitable boulder and the old French oven, relic of the days when the Duke de Lausson's French troops were encamped on the green, is to be restored and landscaped in a suitable manner. These historical and beautification operations in Lebanon have been made possible by contributions from the Connecticut George Washington Bicentennial Commission; the American Revolution Society; the Society of the Cincinnati in the State of Connecticut; and the Connecticut Society of the Order of Founders and Patriots of America.

In the town of Woodbury at the intersection of Routes Nos. 14 and 6, the roadside development bureau has dedicated a large highway garden to the memory of George Washington. It contains a distinctive planting of dwarf evergreens, flowering shrubs and three large purple beech trees, all of which have served to convert the previously existing waste area into a spot of beauty and interest. In the garden, the Daughters of the Cincinnati have placed a boulder and table in commemoration of the planting of the purple beeches. These various activities have been conducted under the supervision of Luther M. Keith, director of the bureau, and A. Earl Wood, engineer. Mr. Keith states in connection with the George Washington Bicentennial operations that the bureau has already planted more than 8,000 nursery grown shade trees along the routes which Washington followed in his seven journeys through Connecticut and has rendered much service to various historical and committees in tracing these routes which have since been compiled in map form and submitted for the use of the Connecticut Bicentennial Commission. In addition, more than 150 colonial milestones have been repaired, reset and landscaped within the past year.

TROOPS MUST REMAIN

Tokyo, June 8—(AP)—Japanese troops must remain in Manchuria, Premier Makoto Saito told the members of parliament today in an address delivered in his capacity as foreign minister.

The new Manchurian government under Henry Pu-Yi, has not yet reached the stage where it could command the necessary resources for the restoration of order, he said, and it is beset with the activity of "soldiers, bandits and other lawless elements, often instigated from the outside" which are difficult to suppress.

He appealed to "the good sense and discernment of our people not to be misled" by rumors of a possible war with Soviet Russia.

MCCLOSKEY HOME, TO WORK OUT HERE

Expects To Train At West Side Track Previous To Going To Olympic Trials.

Joseph P. McCloskey, Manchester's brilliant Olympic games prospect, returned home from Fordham University last night after completing his junior year. He will return to New York June 15 and en-train for Los Angeles, four days later to compete in the annual intercollegiate after which come the Olympic trials.

McCloskey, who has ambitions for a political career after completing his education at Fordham next year, has just been elected vice-president of the senior class for next year. His brother, John, who also returned to his parents' home on Foster street last night, was chosen as treasurer of the junior class for next year.

To Train Here
Weather permitting, McCloskey said he plans to start training at the West Side track this afternoon and to continue his workouts daily during the balance of his last visit here before the Olympics. He will engage in two exhibition races while home. The first will be a mile run in Waterbury a week from today. The second and final will be a two mile farewell run at the West Side playground track on which he first stepped into the limelight while attending Manchester High school. This will be on the evening of June 14, an hour prior to the testimonial dinner which the Manchester Chamber of Commerce and Manchester Evening Herald are jointly sponsoring in honor of Manchester's six captains of present college athletic teams.

To Be Two Miles
The race had been tentatively planned for the 3,000 meter distance

but in view of the intercollegiate program keeping away from the metric system, McCloskey asked this morning that the distance be lengthened to two miles. Competing against him will be Al Lange, Sandy Burns and Billy Munch, present M. H. S. runners, who will form a relay team; each boy running three and a third laps.

McCloskey also took occasion to clear up a misunderstanding regarding his chances to qualify for the Olympics. He said that he must place first, second or third in the semi-final 3,000 meter steeplechase trials at Long Beach, July 6 or 9 and then must do likewise in the final tryouts to be held at San Francisco a week later. Failure to do so would eliminate him from representing United States in the Olympics, he said. Most of the contestants have to go through sectional tryouts prior to the semi-finals at Long Beach but McCloskey's winning record time of 8:28 at the Penn Relays automatically sent him to the California trials.

Passes Away Aged 66.
Dies In Hospital.

New York, June 8—(AP)—Oscar King Davis, secretary of the National Foreign Trade Council since 1917, died today in a hospital at Bronxville, N. Y. He was 66 years old.

Death followed recurrence of an old heart ailment. Mr. Davis being stricken during a recent trip to Honolulu where he attended a convention of the Trade Council.

He was widely known as "O. K." Davis and was engaged in newspaper work for the greater part of his life. He was a native of Baldwinville, N. Y.

He was special correspondent for the New York Sun and Harpers Weekly at Manila during the Spanish-American war, in the Philippine Insurrection and in China during the troubles of 1900. In 1904 he was special correspondent for the New York Herald with the Fourth Japanese Army.

He was Washington correspondent for the New York Times and the Philadelphia Public Ledger from 1907 to 1912, leaving that post to become secretary and publicity director for the Progressive National Committee.

He was again a special correspondent in China in 1915 for the Chicago Tribune and he represented the Times in Berlin during 1916 and 1917. In 1921 he was an American delegate to the first Pan-American Postal Congress.

He married Miss Jessie Bates Johnson of Binghamton, N. Y., on April 6, 1899. They had two children, Margaret and Oscar King, Jr.

Recent soundings have discovered a depth of 24,000 feet, or nearly five miles, in the Caribbean Sea.

LINDBERGH INSISTED ON PAYING RANSOM

Springfield, Mass., June 8—(AP)—The Springfield Union says Dr. John F. (Jafsie) Condon, aged Bronx educator, who handed over the $50,000 Lindbergh ransom money to the mysterious "John" did so against his better judgment and only upon the insistence of Colonel Lindbergh. This statement was contained in an article published today based on interviews at the Becket camp where Jafsie recently visited.

Condon is quoted as saying that he remonstrated with Lindbergh on the night when they kept the trypt, against the payment except on the basis of a cash-on-delivery bargain. But Lindbergh, according to Condon, feared to make the kidnaper angry and insisted that the money be paid to them provided they would assure that the baby would be produced.

"Much against my wishes regarding the payment I entered the Bronx cemetery that night and after 'John' had refused to produce the child I struck a bargain for $50,000, returning $20,000 to Colonel Lindbergh. I came away feeling that I had performed a duty of the highest type," said Dr. Condon.

FRIDAY, JUNE 3.

THE TAX BILL

The extraordinary rapidity with which the House and Senate conferees rushed the tax bill to a conclusion last night serves to show that Congress has not lost its capacity for achievement and that it can get through with a tremendous amount of work in a very short time—when it has to. If it only always had to!

The tax bill as it emerges from conference and as it probably will become law is very far indeed from being an ideal measure. It does however provide revenue enough to give reasonable assurance that there will be no ruinous deficit, provided the closely related economy legislation is not wrecked.

Nevertheless this tax bill, and in fact all the budget balancing effort of the Seventy-second Congress is little more than practice—the first preliminary in a larger, better considered and more permanent fiscal program which almost certainly will command the attention of our national legislature for several years to come. It is hardly more than the calling of a halt in the expansion of indebtedness. The creation of a bearable and safe budgetary system lies ahead. The present has been the merest emergency legislation.

While senators and representatives express complete confidence that the budget has been balanced, actually they know better. What they are talking about is a theoretical balancing. All hands are figuring on something like a third of a billion of dollars in international debt payments which there is no likelihood that we shall ever receive.

The impressive and reassuring thing about the legislation is that it will demonstrate to the people that the government not only is not broke but that it is not breakable. Congress could, at a pinch, raise a great deal more money than it has provided for; and while nobody is anxious to contribute, there is a feeling of security in the knowledge. Nothing could be much more valuable, right now, than that kind of a feeling.

ONE SENATE SCRAP

Almost everybody loses patience with Congress about every so often. Almost everybody has been out of patience with it simultaneously during the last couple of weeks. Yet almost at the very last of the long and wearisome squabble over the tax bill in the Senate there was an episode that ought to convince a good many folks that the jangling and disputations are not always waste of time and mere noise.

It had been proposed in an amendment to the tax bill offered by Senator Howell of Nebraska that a tax of 3 per cent be imposed on the sale of electrical energy. For this proposal Senator Smoot in behalf of the Finance Committee offered a substitute proposing a tax of 5 per cent, to be collected by the vendors from domestic users only, leaving the big industrial consumers, commercial concerns, theaters and even illuminated sign companies exempt from any tax. The tax would have added from 15 cents to 35 or 40 cents a month to the electricity bill of the average household.

That is one of the items that the Senate fought over. Senators of both parties vigorously opposed the substitute and after a long and heated debate it was voted down.

But the other side wasn't licked. It was determined that the power companies should not bear any part of the electricity tax burden. Senator Reed came back with another substitute, making the tax collectible against both commercial and domestic users but again exempting the factories. That, too, was finally voted down after further discussion.

amendment was adopted, imposing the 3 per cent tax on all sales of electricity, collectible from the vendors. Whether the companies will be able to pass this tax along to the customer remains to be seen; it will depend on whether the public utilities commissions of the states permit them to. In Connecticut, unless all past tendencies are abandoned, it probably will. But in any event the domestic user, who was to have shouldered the whole burden of electric taxation, will only have to pay three-fifths as much, at most, as under the committee's plan. Possibly we will escape and the tax will come out of the power companies' profits.

It is submitted that that particular phase of Senate scrappiness did no harm to the average man and woman. And a great deal of the turbulence of the present session has been due to just such fights.

MEDIOCRITY

Discouraging on the problems of the great army of college graduates this year facing an unpromising future, a state contemporary says:

The worst temptation that comes to every young man and woman is to become mediocre. When faced with conditions as they exist the temptation to cease struggling, to retire into a world of one's own making, while the rest of society struggles, is, to say the least, alluring.

The editor has evidently absorbed the philosophy, always reminiscent of beer and liverwurst, that the life of the individual belongs not to himself but to a thing called, for want of a more explicit term, society. To "retire into a world of one's own," to live quietly and observantly and endeavor to discover objectively what it is all about, is to be mediocre and therefore contemptible. To be worthy of one's own intellect and education, one should, therefore get into the middle of the scrimmage and be sure to be top man in the heap, even if one has only the most fragmentary and utterly mistaken ideas as to where the ball is or where the goal posts are located.

Let us adopt the gospel of excellence—that one must strive to go faster and further and punch harder and oftener and get more immediately into the middle of the picture than the other fellow, on penalty of being mediocre and a disgrace to family and friends; even if we haven't so much as a glimmering of a notion as to the plot of the show or the objective of the race. All to improve society.

Let us struggle greatly and achieve splendidly—in what direction and to what end? Let us climb higher and higher—with the barren peak ahead and the sweet valley farther and farther behind. Let us justify our being by attracting attention and bidding for the plaudits of mankind—when there are the stars and the opening of a violet for them to ponder on.

To be mediocre is to be of the average. How would it answer, now and then, to do a little retired thinking about how to raise the level of mediocrity instead of trying to climb out of it by pushing on the shoulders of the crowd and jamming them a little deeper down?

For a third of a century American youth has been listening to this glib "inspirational" stuff about personal achievement and outstanding individual success—and where has it landed us?

Nine-tenths of the human race is mediocre, always will be mediocre, because mediocrity is implicit in swarming numbers either of ants, of servants or of angels. Conspicuousness is the alternative. The easiest way we know of to be conspicuous and non-mediocre is to be drunk and funny at a funeral.

BONUS "MARCHERS"

The greatly ramified movement of detachments of unemployed World War veterans upon Washington with vague intent to coerce Congress into passing a bonus payment bill is becoming a serious police problem. It helps very little in finding a solution to start the wailing cry of "Communists!" so ready to the lips of many whenever signs of discontent appear anywhere and which is now being sounded in connection with the "bonus march."

America's armed forces in the great war were not made up entirely of splendid young heroes eager to sacrifice their lives for their country. Being called from every walk of life and every social condition and having practically nothing to say about whether they should answer or not, they were, of course, exactly representative of the youth of the whole country, good, bad and indifferent. It is a matter of everlasting pride that the tests of discipline and service proved that the vast majority of the nation's young men were made of first class stuff and that no finer great army ever existed in all history. But it would be silly beyond words to pretend that it was entirely made up of wise, well disposed and self-controlled individuals. Inevitably there was, in the army and navy, a certain proportion of featherbrains, of stupid, of child mentalities; because everywhere in the world there is a proportion of these people. Inevitably, too, there was a certain proportion of loafers, malcontents, bad eggs and criminals. You can't grab three or four million young men out of any population without clutched a good many thousands of the less than admirable characters in the lot.

Why it should be necessary, then, to seek for some remote and mysterious impulse in the "bonus march" demonstration it is not easy to understand. It is perfectly logical that some hundreds or even some thousands of ex-service men, out of the millions, should engage in some such demonstration as the one now going on. There are enough foot-loose men of the World War service age, in almost any sizeable community, to make up a company, a regiment or a brigade. What wonder that a few of them, in their idleness and discontent, are turning to the excitement of a "march" on Washington? They need no ratty red agitators to spur them.

Just the same the contagion of such a movement of vague protest is dangerous. If the foregathering upon Washington is not stopped it may grow into a peril. Half the bad riots in history started more than half in fun. An illly led, disorganized mob with a grudge needs no real cause to turn it into a hydra-headed lunatic—all it needs is an incident.

Probably not one war veteran in a hundred throughout the country is in the slightest sympathy with the "bonus march." There is no agency in the country in such a good way to discourage the movement as the major veterans' organizations. They have opportunity to be of very great service by taking over the obvious duty of turning back the hobo delegations of their ill advised comrades now headed for the national capital. A work of usefulness and patriotism, and of real helpfulness to the "marchers," awaits them.

dividuals. Inevitably there was, in the army and navy, a certain proportion of featherbrains, of stupid, of child mentalities; because everywhere in the world there is a proportion of these people. Inevitably, too, there was a certain proportion of loafers, malcontents, bad eggs and criminals. QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Why Neck?)
 Question: Mr. Paul M. writes: "I wonder what can be done for chronic torticolis of long standing. I would greatly appreciate any suggestions on diet or treatment."
 Answer: The treatment I have found most satisfactory for this condition is the use of a short orange juice fast at intervals of about a month apart. Hot applications to the neck, or treatments with the deep therapy lamp or diathermy are also helpful. Osteopathic or chiropractic treatments along with the fasting and dieting regimen will also tend to hasten a cure.

(Suffers With Limbs)
 Question: Mrs. E. writes: "I am 53 years old and am suffering with what doctors call drying out of the cartilages, and gives me no hope to get better or even find relief. I get around only with the aid of a cane. Will you please tell me whether there is anything I can do?"
 Answer: "His drying," out of the cartilages, as your doctor supposes your trouble to be, is probably due to some chronic irritation from toxemia and there is no better method for eliminating this from the body than the fasting regimen, instructions for which I will be glad to send you. Hot applications over the affected joints would also be helpful.

(Sauce for Vegetables)
 Question: Mrs. Martha T. asks: "How can one prepare a palatable sauce for green peas without discarding the 'uce, and without making a 'wrong' combination?"
 Answer: A palatable sauce can be made by adding cream and butter to the desired amount of juice and thickening with little dextrinized or roasted flour.

REFUSED—RUN DOWN

Los Angeles.—An Mrs. Blanche Hurst, 29, walked along the street, an unknown motorist approached her, blew his horn and asked her to get in for a ride. When she refused he turned his car, drove into her, and sped away. She suffered a broken leg.

UNLUCKY BILL

Boston.—No $2 bills for the thief who broke into the Harvard Avenue garage. Apparently as superstitious as a lot of people regarding the bad luck such bills are supposed to bring, he spurned a lone bill of that denomination in the cash register of the garage and walked out mumbling to himself, Andrew Buckley, night man at the garage reports.

DIZZINESS

Dizziness is a very unpleasant symptom, but is not a disease. Some patients suffer several dizzy spells a day, others have them rarely, while others are dizzy only in special situations as while riding in an automobile, street car, train, airplane or ship, or while looking down from a height.

Dizziness results from a number of conditions, some of them more serious than others, and it is impossible to tell off-hand what may be causing it in any one particular case without examining the patient. I will, however, describe to you some of the common causes of dizziness or vertigo.

BILIOUSNESS MAIN CAUSE
 The most important cause is biliousness. An excess of poisonous wastes in the liver and intestines affects us and makes us dizzy somewhat as follows: These wastes are carried by the blood stream to the brain and other parts of the nervous system, and a partial brain poisoning occurs, leading to waves of dizziness. If you will remember your last bilious attack, you will recall how quickly you became dizzy from an excess of bile and how quickly the dizziness passed away as soon as your system had eliminated the extra poisons. Other frequent causes of dizziness are: Indigestion, gas, etc.

Patients on a fast often suffer slight dizziness the first day or two, as the toxic wastes in the body are stirred up and enter the blood, but this soon passes because the eliminative organs speed up their functioning during a fasting period.

Any disturbance in the circulation of the blood, whether due to low blood pressure, high blood pressure, or hardening of the arteries, may produce dizziness. Whenever the blood vessels serving the brain are affected in such a way as to obstruct the flow of blood, the patient is likely to have dizzy spells. The dizziness immediately preceding fainting is likewise due to lack of circulation of blood to the brain; the abdominal organs temporarily call for a greater blood supply, the brain is robbed of enough blood to make the patient feel dizzy. Placing the patient with the head down helps the blood to return to the brain and he regains consciousness.

OTHER CAUSES
 Where there is present any chronic disease of the ear, such as Meniere's disease, or catarrh of the inner ear, we commonly find dizziness present to a greater or less degree, sometimes markedly so.

Imbalance of the muscles of the eye, or other eye defects, will often cause dizziness. You can test yourself by trying to read on a moving train or car. If you become dizzy, then you need glasses or new lenses.

Anemia may also cause vertigo. Protrusion of the abdominal organs, in women, pelvic misplacements, will induce persistent dizziness as will also disease of the gall-bladder.

Those who are troubled with dizziness, should first of all try the treatment for an upset liver, as most dizzy spells arise from this cause. If this is true in your case, you will find that correct fasting and dieting regimen will overcome

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington

DUTCHER PICKS BAKER AND FITZGERALD AS BEST OF DARK HORSE BETS
 But That Applies 'If and When' Roosevelt Becomes a 'Lost Cause' at Chicago

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
 NEA Service Writer

Washington.—Since Governor Roosevelt took his lickings in California and Massachusetts plus a seeming standoff in Pennsylvania, politicians over the country have been taking another close look at the other possibilities in the contest for the Democratic presidential nomination.

They realize, with that deep parody common to all politicians, that if the Chicago convention gets itself deadlocked and it appears that Roosevelt won't be chosen, the party will simply have to nominate someone else.

An Uncharted Area
 Inasmuch as the candidates running closest—but not close—behind the governor are Al Smith and Speaker Garner, to whom few enlightened observers concede any very fat chance of success, one has to go diving off into a vague, foggy, uncharted area of what is called secondary strength.

The business of all political reporters and of at least nearly all politicians about what is going to happen at Chicago is, and when it becomes clear that Roosevelt is a lost cause has been clearly reflected by the fluctuation of their thoughts from week to week.

"Running" Viewpoints
 Their very best judgment gets all churned up by developments of the slightest significance and there have been few political seasons when one could observe so many rapid running broad jumps from one viewpoint to another.

Nevertheless, after trying to founder about a bit in that area of secondary strength your correspondent rises to the surface with little to report beyond what was true, at the beginning of this year, except for the recent action of Owen D. Young.

Ritchie and Baker
 Newton D. Baker of Ohio and Governor Ritchie of Maryland are the most likely possibilities after Roosevelt. Except for Smith and Garner, they are the only ones who have any support outside their home states worth mentioning.

Young's chances as a "dark horse" appeared good and he looked like a serious contender up to the time he announced flatly that he would not accept the nomination if offered. Young's strength appeared concentrated in the industrial states. It seemed that, in a showdown, Young might have the support of Al Smith, John J. Raskob, Frank Hague in New Jersey and the bosses of Massachusetts and Connecticut among others. His corporation background, however, was a definite handicap in the south and west. Where the Young support will go now is problematical.

Baker's secondary strength is most obvious in Ohio, but it is also to be found in such scattered sections as Pennsylvania, Indiana, Massachusetts and some parts of the south.

The Democrats wouldn't have a very hard time taking him as their standard bearer. Thus far, Baker has refused to permit the use of his name—insisting that he is not a candidate—and hasn't a single convention vote.

Ohio's voters are pledged for Governor White.

A "Pleasant" Impression
 There is probably less actual opposition to the Ritchie idea than to the thought of Baker's nomination, a fact which is offset by the fact that Baker's home state is large and pivotal.

In the last decade, Ritchie has made a pleasant impression on Democrats everywhere and although there is no wild, headless rush in his direction there are many states where leaders consider him as a real possibility. Unlike Baker, Ritchie is an avowed candidate and he has been assured of Maryland's 16 votes from the outset.

But it must finally be mentioned that the most important figure in secondary strength is Roosevelt himself. If he can realize early on the claims of his majority for second choice delegates from favorite sons, unimpaired or other delegations from states like Arkansas, Missouri, Illinois, Louisiana, California, Virginia and Texas, he will be getting a certain convention majority and, in all probability, the nomination before anyone else in the secondary strength area can start chiseling on the Roosevelt delegates.

IN NEW YORK

Hail to a Horse!
 New York, June 3.—As Broadway's most experienced and oldest animal tumbler, Hannah is oddly ingenious and untemperamental. She will still accept mere cubes or greens from a gutter adjoining a stage entrance. Yet, as horses go, Hannah has every right to put on the dog.

Hannah's particular distinction lies in the fact that she has never been a performing or trick horse—she has been an acting horse! And for 18 years she has been going around the circuits. Whenever a show company has wanted a nag in that period of time, the phone request would usually be "What's Hannah doing?" Hannah has been dependable, never has missed a cue, never demagogued special billing and didn't care much whether or not her name was on the program.

And she has appeared with most of the great stars of the theater. Insofar as her biography has been assembled, she seems to have first bowed in as Paul Revere's horse in an old stage spectacle. Others say her premiere was in "Ben Hur." At any rate, admirers insist that she was the first stage horse of any consequence.

It was Vincent Lopez who had Hannah on tour most recently. Lopez was appearing in Chicago. And there it was that Hannah had her most embarrassing moment. Harry Keller, booking for Lopez, had tied Hannah to a fireplug in front of the theater while waiting her entrance time. When the stage hand went outside to get her, Hannah was wearing a tag. There was a summons for parking a horse.

Keller, realizing what arrest might do to Hannah's career, immediately checked the Chicago regulations and came upon a venerable hitching post ordinance. A horse was entitled to be hitched to a hitching post. And where, demanded Keller, could a hitching post be found?

There was no answer. And, seemingly, in all Chicago there was no hitching post. Then, argued Keller, since Hannah was entitled by law to a post and there was no post, she had done the best she could.

So Hannah returns to New York with reputation unblemished.

William Paley, young chieftain of WABC, figures now in romance of the heart, having written his page in business romance. Just the other day, you will recall, he married the former Mrs. John Hearst following her Reno divorce.

Recently they were spinning tales around the broadcast office and someone recalled that Paley was "showing the big boys his stuff" at the age of 18. Son of a big cigar manufacturer, Paley had been away at school. When he came home for a vacation it was to find that the cigar girls, who sat on the high stools turning out stogies, had gone on strike. The situation at the factory was acute.

A few days later, they might have been noticed marching back, two of the leaders arm-in-arming it with the 18-year-old college lad.

"How ever did you do it?" he was asked.

"Easy—I just took 'em out to lunch!"

No wonder his father made him a business partner a few years later!

LEAP YEAR BRIDE

by Laura Lou Brookman

BEGIN HERE TODAY

CHERRY JIXON, 19, and pretty, tells her mother she is going to a club meeting but instead meets DAN PHILLIPS, newspaper reporter with whom she is in love. Her wealthy parents do not know she is acquainted with Dan. Cherry goes with him to interview a bank robber's sweetheart. She blunders into underworld headquarters and a hotel strikes her arm. Dan takes her to a doctor's office and then home. He is trying to explain what has happened when MR. DIXON appears. Dixon is very angry and brandishes a newspaper containing Cherry's picture and an account of the shooting. He orders Dan out of the house.

Days pass and SARAH, Cherry's maid, discovers Dan has telephoned and been told the girl is out of town. Cherry steals out of the house, meets Dan and explains. He tells her he loves her. Dan takes Cherry to his home where he is waiting and accuses her of having met the reporter. Cherry defies her father and he orders her to apologize or leave. She says, "I'll go!" and runs out of the house. Later that evening she finds Dan and tells him what has happened. He tells her to take her to a friend's home but Cherry says, "Let's get married. Tonight!"

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER IX

They were married a little before 10:30 that night by a justice of the peace in a dingy room of the court house. Bill Pringle, who covered court house news and a man neither Cherry nor Dan had ever seen before, was the witness. Dan had taken her to Pringle to help locate the clerk of courts to issue the license.

It was a ceremony entirely without sentiment or any element of the sacred. A few words mumbled in a wheezing, half-audible monotone. Cherry, rather pale, still wearing the hat she had worn at the court house, sat in the official's chair. Dan, in a tuxedo, sat beside her. There was some joking that the bride scarcely heard. Then she and Dan were alone in the night. Bill Pringle stood beside them on the steps.

"Well," he said gaily, "now for the honeymoon—two weeks—where do you want to go?"

He held up two fingers, whistled shrilly and a cab that had been cruising down the opposite side of the street swerved to the curb.

Dan and Cherry got into the cab. Pringle waved and disappeared down the street.

"The Bismark hotel," Dan instructed the cab driver. He said to Cherry, "It's all right, isn't it? We'll find some place you'll like better in a day or two."

"It's all right, Dan. Of course."

The Bismark was less than a dozen blocks away. The streets seemed singularly quiet, for it was still early. In the darkness of the cab Cherry's face was barely visible. A misty blur of whiteness. Dan's arms gathered her close.

"You darling!" he whispered.

She raised her lips for the kiss but at that moment the glaring rays of a street lamp sheathed them with yellow electricity. The cab halted, for a traffic signal.

Happily the girl smiled up at him. "My husband!" She said the words as though they were litany.

Dan's arm tightened. "You're going to be happy!" he said almost sternly. "We're going to make a go of it, Cherry. I know I don't deserve anyone half so sweet and fine as you are but I'm going to make you happy! Oh, you're so wonderful!"

The ecstasy was interrupted abruptly as the cab jolted to a stop. Cherry, stepping to the sidewalk, could scarcely believe that she was the same girl who two hours earlier had left the hotel frightened and miserable. She glanced at Dan and thought how handsome and dependable he looked.

And he was her husband!

"Cap" Graham was still on duty at the hotel desk and Dan led Cherry forward.

"I'd like to introduce an old friend," he said. "This is Mr. Graham. Generally known as 'Cap.' Cap—I want you to know my wife."

"What? Say—I'm glad to meet you, Ma'am. But this is a surprise! Why—why, for mercy sake! Ain't you the one who was here a while ago? I mean—say—"

Phillips grinned. "Take it easy, Cap. And aren't you going to congratulate me. You're the first one to hear the news."

"You mean you've just been married? Well, say—! Is it really true?"

"Certainly it's true."

"Well, I declare! She's a pretty one, she is, though. And you've picked a good husband, too, Ma'am," the old man assured Cherry. "One of the finest I want to congratulate both of you. Yes, sir. Indeed I do!"

The outer door opened and Dan turned. At his half-smothered exclamation Cherry whirled about.

A dozen men and women, laughing and calling out gaily, crowded into the hall. They swarmed about Dan and Cherry. Bill Pringle appeared to be in the lead.

"Here they are!" the court house reporter cried. "Here's the bride and bridegroom. Look at 'em blushing, folks! Who's going to be first to kiss the bride!"

Dan stepped out, smiling.

"Just a minute," he protested. "Say, what is this anyhow?"

"We've come to help you celebrate," put in a small girl wearing a green hat. "We're all going out to Casey's and we're going to take you with us. For goodness sake, Dan, introduce us, can't you?"

Phillips turned to Cherry. "Half-wits," he said, grinning, "but they're harmless. My conferees of the well-known News."

"Well, gang," he faced the newcomers, "this is certainly a surprise."

"How about the surprise you pulled?" a bass voice called out. Others chorused, "Speech! Speech!"

"Nobody wants speeches," the girl in the green hat protested. "This is supposed to be a party."

Dan raised a hand. "Ladies and gentlemen," he began, "allow me to present the one and only Mrs. Daniel Phillips, who has so graciously consented to bear the name and share the ancestral fortune of the house of Phillips—$9,150! He pulled out a trouser pocket, turning it inside. "Give 'em a bow, Cherry. That's the girl!"

There were cheers and applause. In a few moments all of them were outside. Cherry found herself wedged into the rear seat of an automobile intended for five passengers and carrying eight. Dan was beside her and on the other side the girl in the green hat whose name was Dixie Shannon. The name sounded familiar and Cherry was sure she had seen it somewhere. She learned almost immediately that Dixie wrote motion picture reviews for the News.

Dixie was a friendly soul. "See a picture with me some time," she invited. "Any day you want. I'm always at the office around 10 o'clock. You can call me there."

Cherry, a trifle bewildered, agreed. All of these strangers who laughed and joked and said such odd things were Dan's friends. She was sure they were trying to be cordial but she felt timid. Some of the things they said she scarcely understood. When Dan joined in the joking it made him seem almost a stranger, too.

A half hour's ride brought them to a large apartment house. The Casseys lived on the second floor. By elevator and staircase the crowd of 14 arrived at the door almost at the same time.

Casey, so Dan informed Cherry, was telegraph editor of the News. A minute later she was being introduced to Mr. Casey himself.

She liked him instantly for his gray hair and crinkly blue eyes and the way that he smiled at her. She liked Mrs. Casey, too, when she appeared a moment later. Mrs. Casey was plump and very pretty. Apparently impromptu parties at the Casseys were no novelty.

"Trying to steal a march on us, were you?" Casey demanded of Dan. "Well, we couldn't let you get away with it. Lucky devil you are, though. Going to let me kiss the bride?"

He did and somehow Cherry didn't mind.

An angular youth in a dark suit had seated himself at a piano. Now he was crashing out the opening chords of the Lohengrin march.

Cherry looked about for Dan and could not find him. Bill Pringle came up, grinning. "Well," he asked, "did we surprise you?"

"Oh, you certainly did! I've never been more surprised in my life. I don't see how you managed it."

"Easy," Bill told her. "As soon as I got hold of Fredericks (the clerk who had issued the license), I telephoned Shannon and Casey. They got the rest together and met at the office. When I knew you'd gone back to the Bismark I gave them a call. Presto—that's all there was to it!"

The young man at the piano had been persuaded to abandon Lohengrin to provide accompaniment for a quartette. The singers' voices had more to recommend them in the way of volume than in tone. The quartette attempted "Oh, Promise Me," but gave it up abruptly for "Call Me Sweetheart." They liked this so well that they sang it twice.

There were four young women in the crowd besides Dixie Shannon. Two were the wives of reporters. A slim girl with red hair cut short and wearing a tailored tweed suit was introduced as Doris Ware. Someone told Cherry that Doris covered news assignments on an equal footing with the men and was considered one of the best feature writers in Wellington. Cherry thought Miss Ware rather reserved.

The fourth girl was Connie Randolph from the society department, a tall, slender brunette whose black satin frock outlined her figure frankly. She had barely shaken hands with Cherry and then drifted away.

Suddenly Cherry saw that rugs had been pulled back in the next room and that couples were dancing. She looked about again, rather anxiously, for Dan.

There he was sitting in the far corner beside Connie Randolph. They seemed to be in earnest conversation.

Dixie Shannon's gaze followed Cherry's. "Don't mind Connie," Dixie said in an undertone. "She's the office vamp but nobody takes her seriously. Connie was missing when they passed out the brains—and she's been missing ever since!"

Louder she said, "Bill, will you tell Dan we want him over here. Tell him to make it presto." The words were casual but Cherry thought that beneath this assumed air Dixie was displeased.

Casey appeared bearing a tray with glasses and a plate of sandwiches. There was an instant chorus of applause. Bill Pringle complied with Dixie's instructions and a moment later Dan reached Cherry's side.

"Getting acquainted?" he asked, smiling. "They're a great bunch, Cherry. You'll be crazy about them all. Would it be too much of a favor to ask my wife if she's have the next dance with me?"

Cherry flushed with pleasure as she arose. An orchestra half way across the continent was playing a melodic German waltz. The notes floated out sweet and clear from the radio. Dan and Cherry had never danced together before but their steps, matched perfectly.

Dan whispered, "The next time we pass that door slip through it. We're going to make a getaway. Mrs. Casey will help us."

Five minutes later they were hurrying down a rear stairway. Another five minutes and Dan was helping Cherry into a taxicab.

As the cab rolled along through the darkness Cherry thought, "This can't really be me! I can't believe so much could happen in 24 hours."

Fortunate for her that she could not foresee the next 24 hours.

AIN'T NO JUSTICE

Portland, Ore.—A youth arrested for stealing gasoline from automobiles was found to have been in possession of a car stolen from Lou Wagner, criminal attorney. And Wagner very nearly was named an accomplice of the lad! He was partly to blame for the lad's actions, the deputy district attorney claimed, because his car which was stolen was such a high-powered, multi-cylindered affair that the boy had to steal gasoline from a number of different cars to keep it running.

Everything is beginning to wear out and must be replaced, an economist says. We hope that includes the depression.

muchini, Green peas; Salad of sliced tomatoes; Ice cream (small portions).

Thursday
Breakfast—Waffles; small slice of broiled ham; Applesauce.
Lunch—Raw fruit as desired; Glass of milk.
Dinner—Roast pork; Cooked celery; Spinach; Salad of quarter cucumber (unpeeled); Apricot whip.

Friday
Breakfast—Baked stuffed apple with cream.
Lunch—Zucchini omelet; Celery; Dinner—Broiled fillet of sole; Cooked cucumbers; String beans; Salad of sliced tomatoes with parsley; No dessert.

Saturday
Breakfast—Eight ounce glass of orange juice 30 minutes before breakfast.
Lunch—Ice cream, with a raw acid fruit.
Dinner—Broiled lamb chops; Steamed carrots with parsley; Celery and nut salad, (nuts to be toasted); Raspberry whip.

*Zucchini or Italian Squash Omelet: Zucchini are the little Italian squashes found at most vegetable stands, and of very delicate flavor. Without scraping of any of the bright outer skin, boil in a small amount of water until tender. Cut in slices and add to the desired number of beaten eggs—about six to a pound of zucchini. Turn into a well oiled omelet pan or skillet, folding over when lightly browned on the underside. Serve on a hot platter, seasoned with butter and chopped parsley.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
(Migraine)
Question: Miss Yvette asks: "What is the cause of migraines and what can one do to prevent it?"
Answer: Migraine is the name given to periodic headaches which occur only on one side of the head at a time. It is due to various disturbances of the nervous system and from the common cause of toxemia which is usually present with all headaches except those resulting from an accident. Colitis, constipation, and extreme prolasus of the abdominal organs are also contributing causes.

(Tubercular Gland)
Question: C. T. asks: "What treatment do you recommend for MODERN WOMEN Need Not Suffer monthly pain and delay due to colds, nervous strain, exposure or similar causes. bovine tubercular gland of the neck?"
Answer: The treatment consists first in creating a healthier condition of all the glands of the body through a proper dietetic treatment; then, along with this, certain local treatments can be used over the affected gland. These are given with hot compresses and the application of certain electrical treatments.

(Are Acorns Food?)
Question: G. G. writes: "I was wondering if acorns can be used for food. I have read that the Indians ate them, but I have tried some and found them too bitter."
Answer: There are both sweet and bitter acorns. The former are still widely used in the southern part of Europe and are roasted in the same manner as chestnuts. The bitter acorns are not much used as food at the present time. However, they are quite nutritious once the tannic acid has been removed. They may be treated in a manner similar to olives. The bitterness can also be removed by grinding them and mixing with water and allowing the mixture to ferment.

East Is Well Prepared For the Intercollegiates

McCluskey To Defend His Two-Mile Crown

Five Milers Have Battered 4:20 and Five Two-Milers Have Been Clocked Under 9:40 Since Last Intercollegiate Track and Field Meet.

New York, June 8.—(AP)—An inventory of dual meet performances among eastern college athletes who have been nominated for the intercollegiate championships at Berkeley, Calif., July 1 and 2 shows seven intercollegiate meet marks of 1931 either bettered or tied.

Eastern athletes have improved on meet records or equalled them in the two dashes, half mile, mile, two-mile, 220-yard low hurdles, shot put and hammer throw. Considering that they won only five of the 15 titles in last year's championship meet, the record book indicates a stronger eastern delegation this year.

Western athletes also have surpassed several of last year's records. Ben Eastman of Stanford having bettered world marks for the quarter and half mile.

Eastern athletes have turned in especially impressive performances in the distance races. Five-milers have registered marks under 4:20 and five two-milers under 9:40.

The leading eastern performers to date with the record of last year's winner: 100-yard dash—Fraser, West Virginia, 9.8; Hardy, Cornell, 9.7; Lacey, Colgate, 9.8, Wykoft, 1931, 9.6.

220-yard dash—Harris, Pittsburgh, and Derby, Princeton, 21 seconds. Eddie Tolan, Michigan, 1931, 21.1.

440-yard dash—Carr, Pennsylvania, 48.4; Derby, Princeton; Warner, Yale, and Healey, Pennsylvania, 48.6. Vic Williams, Southern California, 1931, 47.4.

550-yard run—Hallowell, Harvard, 1:22.5; Tunaway, Penn State, 1:24.4. Eastman, 1931, 1:24.4.

LUCKY STRIKES LOSE FIRST IN LEGION LEAGUE

Ten Run Rally in Fifth By Camels Settles Outcome Beyond All Doubt; Score 15-8.

A rally in the fifth inning which netted ten runs spelled defeat for the Lucky Strikes, who until last night were occupying first place, and are now tied for second with the Old Golds in the American Legion League.

Their conquerors, the Camels, still are in the cellar position. Both teams played a fine brand of ball. The Camels were very slow in starting and until the fifth inning they were three runs behind.

Antonio, who laced out two doubles, excelled for the winners. Leone and Brozowski were best for the losers. Tonight the Lucky Strikes will take on the Chesterfields at Charter Oak field. This is to play off a game which was called off on account of rain at an earlier date.

VENZKE, SPITZ NURSE INJURIES

New York, June 8.—(AP)—Injuries have taken two featured performers out of the New York A. C.'s spring games at Travers Island Saturday.

Gene Venzke, who ran a 4:10 mile indoors, and George Spitz, who cleared 6 feet 3 1/2 inches in the high jump during the winter, both have withdrawn from the meet. Venzke is suffering from a slight hip injury and Spitz twisted an ankle in practice.

Brown and Betts, Two Braves Aces, Yet To Lose Game

By Associated Press.
Bobby Brown and Huck Betts of the bouncing Boston Braves, a youngster of 20 and a veteran of 33, are putting on one of the greatest pitching acts in recent years.

A club that can pick up one winning rookie in this day of keen competition is doing pretty well, but here Manager Bill McKechnie has found a pair who look like world beaters. Each has contributed five victories to the Braves pennant fight and neither has met defeat.

What makes their work even more impressive is the fact they have burst on the scene with little or no fanfare. Brown has been particularly poisonous to Brooklyn, beating the Dodgers in the four games he has faced them. Twice he limited them to four hits and once to five. His second four hitter was achieved yesterday when he clipped the Dodgers 5 to 1 in the second game of a doubleheader after Brooklyn had beaten Sock Selbold 6 to 1 in the first.

Washington strengthened its hold on second place in the American with a double win over the founclering Boston Sox 6 to 4 and 8 to 1. Monte Weaver won his eighth victory in the opener.

The St. Louis Browns by heavy hitting and a base on balls beat the Chicago White Sox 4 to 2. Cleveland's doubleheader at Detroit was rained out.

very sharp edge over the Dutchman in that department. Wagner was a more valuable man to his team than Cobb was, by reason of influence among the players. Cobb, like Tuck, was a bad post actor, and very often made trouble among his colleagues. Wagner's workmanlike, stable performance under all conditions helped to steady the rest of the club, aiding it to work better as a unit.

Wagner didn't make as many hits as Cobb, but how he made them! None but LaJoie could punish a ball like Honus.

Do I Win?
It is agreed that Cobb had an edge over Wagner in hitting frequency, a slight advantage as to bases stolen and was a more spectacular individual performer than the Dutchman. Against that, Wagner was a more valuable team-worker, was far better as a defensive player, always fought the opposition rather than his teammates, and played a more important position and played it better than Cobb ever played his outfield.

JACK DWYER LEADS LOCAL GOLF TEAM

Manchester golfers who play at the East Hartford Golf Club are forming a golf team of twenty or more players under Captain Jack Dwyer to line up in battle formation against teams representing Rockville and East Hartford in the triangle team match to be held at the East Hartford Golf Club Wednesday afternoon, June 15th.

Joe Lavitt is the Rockville captain and Tony Spotsand is the East Hartford captain. The event will be run on a handicap basis and all those planning to participate are requested to turn in two score cards so that fair handicaps may be arranged. The play will be in three-somes on a match-play basis and with the Nassau scoring system in use. Bud Geoghegan, East Hartford professional has donated several prizes. A smoker and social will be held after the match is concluded. Team plays will have the privileges of the course at reduced rates.

Herb Wright, who has won many glories on the gridiron, also made a name for himself on the diamond last night when he held the Pilots to a lone hit and his mates banged out a 6 to 1 victory in the West Side League. Ed Werner was the only one who was able to solve Wright's delivery being credited for the lone single.

The Crescents got after "Cue" Moriarty in the first inning when Falkowski singled, Boyce was out, third to first. Ernie Dowd singled to left and Billy Dowd doubled to right scoring Falkowski and Dowd. Johnny Ambrose put another one in the same place for two bases scoring Dowd.

In the second, Falkowski was safe on Wogman's error. Boyce singled to left and Billy Dowd singled to right after E. Dowd had walked and Boyce and Falkowski scored. The Crescents grabbed another one in the third and then Jack Hewitt went on the slab for the Pilots and held the Crescents well in check for the remainder of the game. The Pilots' lone tally came in the third inning when Sam Hewitt was safe on an error by Ernie Dowd and scored later on a pass ball. Wright fanned twelve and passed five.

Illwood English, Cubs — Found Pirate pitching easy and collected four hits, including pair of doubles. Vernon Gomez, Yankees — Beat Athletics for ninth victory of sea, son, six in row.

Dick Coffman, Browns — His effective pitching with men on base beat White Sox.

Wagner didn't make as many hits as Cobb, but how he made them! None but LaJoie could punish a ball like Honus.

PATROLMAN FIGHTS FIRE IN BUCKLAND ALONE

Officer Prentice Finds Tobacco Netting Ablaze When Making Rounds This Morning.

Automobile Policeman Joseph Prentice was a one-man fire department for a short time this morning, when about three acres of tobacco cloth, wire and poles were destroyed on land near the underpass on Adams street in Buckland, with an estimated loss of $2,000.

Prentice was making a trip through Buckland at 2:30 o'clock when he discovered flames eating away the cloth over shade grown tobacco. He fought the fire for a time then decided to summon aid. Thinking that John Hackett of North Main street was the owner of the land, he hurried to his home, awakened Mr. Hackett, then dashed to the police box at North Main street, telephoning the information to police headquarters. Captain Herman Schendel in turn called Chief Edward Coleman who sent Hose Company No. 1 of the Manchester department to the scene. It was later determined that the land was owned by Louis Grant and is leased this year to the newly organized Hartman Tobacco company. Tobacco has not yet been planted and the poles and cloth were erected yesterday. Prentice and Hackett succeeded in extinguishing the fire before the arrival of the fire department. It is believed that the blaze started near the road, possibly from a discarded cigarette.

WARNED, H. S. STUDENTS STOP TORN SHIRT FAD

Principal Quimby Tells Boys That Violations of His Order Will Be Severely Handled.

Comparatively few cases of shirt-ripping occurred among the boys at Manchester High school today due to the effort of school officials to wipe out what Principal Clarence F. Quimby frankly terms "a disgusting and out of date custom." This form of rowdiness has been in vogue on Boys Day at the local school for several years. Speaking before the entire school student body at assembly yesterday afternoon, Principal Quimby asked for the co-operation of the students in refraining from this senseless act. He warned them of the consequences in case they disobeyed and today school officials stood on guard around the school during recess periods. Last year scores of shirts were torn but so far as could be observed today the practice is losing its appeal. Principal Quimby stated that any custom which is injurious to people or property must be abolished because neither the students nor their parents can afford the loss. He urged the senior class to consider means of establishing a Boys' Day comparable to the Hair-Ribbon Day observed by the girls. Tonight the senior class will meet with President James O'Leary to seek other means of diversion for this special day.

DRIVER MEANT WELL, BUT TIP WASN'T NEEDED

Here is a story that Motorcycle Policeman Moske tells: "While riding along Center street Wednesday morning a driver of an automobile carrying Massachusetts markers called me. I stopped and he called my attention that from the time that he had struck the town line on the east and through East Center and Center street he noticed the street lights were burning. They must have forgotten to turn them out at the power station, remarked the stranger." Officer Moske thanked him for the tip, but did not tell him that it was the custom of the electric company to leave the lights burning the greater part of the day on the first of the month for the monthly inspection.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

Assembly

The assemblies yesterday afternoon were in the hands of the Senior Girls Music Appreciation class and were directed by Miss Marian E. Dorward. The program was made up of Revolutionary songs, sung by the Glee club in order to celebrate the 200th anniversary of George Washington. The manner in which the program was worked out was partly original.

The scene opened in a modern home of an American girl and Ida Reichenbach was seen sitting on the stage evidently struggling to get through her homework assignment which had to do with music. Four of her friends entered and helped her along somewhat but she was too tired to finish and dropped asleep gazing dreamily at the picture of George and Martha Washington which hung on the wall.

George and Martha (the parts were taken by Edward Fischer and Ruth Wickham respectively) stepped from the picture and the audience from then on enjoyed many humorous incidents which were the results of the discoveries of Washington and his wife of many of the modern inventions which the house was filled with. The electric light, the television, the radio, the strange horns from the automobiles and numerous other inventions started the couple beyond words. It was the radio which fascinated them most and the Glee Club at this point sang many of the old war songs, a few of which were "The Sword of Lexington," "Yankee Doodle," "Battle of Lexington," "The Boston Tea Party," sung by Winifred Lee, and "Drink Me Only With Thine Eyes," sung by Gladys Wilson.

It was yesterday that the girls in the senior class were given their chance to appear in school as "infants" once more. "Hair Ribbon Day" which has long been a custom of the school not only affords much pleasure but is rather a pretty custom held toward the end of each school year. Lollypops and teddy-

MUST BRING BACK FULLER FOR TRIAL

Bench Warrant Issued For Ex-Banker Who Figured In State Swindles.

New York, June 3.—(AP)—A bench warrant was forwarded today to the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., notifying the warden of the indictment of Percy Jay Fuller, a former broker of New York City who is serving a term of four years for mail fraud.

Fuller was sentenced in Federal Court June 26, 1928 and his term expires June 14. A detective will go to Atlanta to bring him back to New York.

An indictment charging Fuller with perjury was filed by the Grand Jury with Judge Max S. Levine yesterday. It was alleged that April 10, 1921 the late Mrs. Millie D. Shonts, widow of Theodore Shonts, who was president of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, entrusted to Fuller $97,000 in bonds and $28,000 in cash for safe keeping. He had about $15,000 of this amount and about a year before she died Fuller was served with a summons and complaint in a civil action brought by Mrs. Shonts, in which she obtained a default judgment for $149,855.35. It was charged that in a move to reopen the case Fuller swore that he had not been served with the summons and complaint.

Connecticut Complaints Complaints of two residents of Portland, Conn., James J. Sullivan and Charles Larsen, figured in Fuller's trial and conviction on a charge of having used the mails to defraud.

Sullivan testified he was made president of the New England Tobacco Company by Fuller, but lost his farm, and Larsen said Fuller sold him $2,000 of worthless stock on a promise of a 40 per cent return on the investment.

Fuller was charged with having made $233,000 through fraudulent promotion via the mails of the New England Tobacco Co., The Cuban Tobacco Co., the U. S. Power Syndicate, and the French Franc Pool.

It was charged that one of his companies promised to make gold out of vegetables and cheap gasoline out of garbage, and that several women, including a Metropolitan opera star, whose name was never brought out, were defrauded.

Back in 1925 Fuller attracted public attention by announcing he was the head of a movement to restore the Russian monarchy and make Grand Duke Cyril Czar.

RUM VESSEL SINKS NEAR BLOCK ISLAND

New London, June 3.—(AP)—The speed boat Ball of Bridgeport, seized Tuesday as a rum-runner by the Coast Guard today was at the bottom of Block Island Sound, in 20 feet of water, off a beach on the south side of Fishers Island. The vessel sank when pulled free from a rock by Coast Guards engaged in salvage operations.

The Ball, which was previously fined here on a navigation law violation charge, was found partially sunk Tuesday morning by the Coast Guard shore patrol and was seized as a rum-runner at the direction of Section Base 4 here when sacks of liquor rolled up on the beach from a point near the speed boat.

The Coast Guard said that the liquor had obviously been thrown from the speed boat, which evidently struck a rock while being operated Monday night or early Tuesday morning. The craft's crew of three and 100 sacks of liquor salvaged from the waters near the boat were taken to New York for surrender.

The Ball in the second speed boat seized by the Coast Guard to sink this week. The Margaret of New York with liquor aboard went down Monday afternoon while being towed to New York.

CUMMINGS' PREDICTION

Stamford, June 3.—(AP)—Homer S. Cummings issued a statement today in which he claims that Franklin D. Roosevelt will have 669 ball votes on the first ballot at the Democratic National convention and adds that he has enough "second choice" states to insure his nomination before the second roll call is completed. Mr. Cummings backed his statement with a tabulated list of delegates. He declared the demand for Roosevelt's nomination is "country-wide."

The Stamford man expects to depart for Chicago about June 20. He will have quarters at the Drake Hotel. He has not yet named his alternates.

HAS NARROW ESCAPE

Brooklands, Eng., June 3.—(AP)—Sir Malcolm Campbell, competing in a 1,000 mile automobile race, had a narrow escape today.

He was rolling along at about a 100 miles an hour when a rear tire burst and was set afire by the friction. Campbell regained control and came into the pits. "That was a jolly close shave" he said. "I almost turned over."

A short time before that Henry Leason, driving a midge car in the same race, skidded, struck a parapet and was killed.

EYEBROWS ON VEIL

Nice.—False eyebrows to be worn on veils are the latest fad of fashion to be seen here. A well-known French actress has appeared with the "eyebrow veil" which is made by embroidering two long thin lines of natural hair on a veil.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, June 3.—In some quarters in Wall Street, it is felt the action of the Pacific Telephone Telegraph Co. in declaring the regular quarterly dividend of $1.75 on the common stock may be taken as an indication that the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., which controls it, has no present intention of changing its own annual dividend rate of $2. Pacific is one of the largest of the American Tel. & Tel. subsidiaries and A. T. & T. owns more than 83 per cent of its common stock. The Pacific company in the first quarter earned $1.49 a share.

Vacancies on the directorate of the Associated Gas & Electric Co., caused by the resignation of C. W. Beall, W. E. McGregor and George D. Woods of the Chase Harris Forbes Corp., were not filled at the annual meeting of stockholders. The company, in a statement issued last week, said its financing program was such as to warrant less representation on its board by the Chase Harris Forbes Corp., its bankers. The company announced that plans are under consideration for financing the maturity on June 15 of $7,600,000 States Island Edison Corp. one-year three per cent notes. This company is a subsidiary.

Formation of a protective committee for holders of first and refunding mortgage 5 per cent bonds of Consolidation Coal Co., which went into receivership yesterday, was announced today. Interest due

WALKER SILENT ON HIS RETURN

Makes No Comment On Seabury's Statement But Defends His Brother.

New York, June 3.—(AP)—James J. Walker returned today from the Mayors' conference in Detroit without comment on his charging of Samuel Seabury that he is an earnest, plugging sort who would be entirely lost in that kind of a situation.

"If there had been someone there to advise him and to handle him, he'd have made a different showing."

Walker did comment, however, on the subsequent questioning of his brother, Dr. William E. Walker, by Seabury before the Hofstadter legislative committee Wednesday.

Walker said, "to understand that he is an earnest, plugging sort who would be entirely lost in that kind of a situation."

KILLED BY AUTO

Hartford, June 3.—(AP)—Joseph Dube of 30 Bank street, New Milford, is held by the state police in bonds of $2,500 for appearance in court on June 20 on a charge of operating a motor vehicle so as to cause death, and Helen Daniska of Ridgefield is held on a charge of parking without lights.

The arrests is a result of an accident at 9:15 last night on the Weston-Danbury road when Thomas Daniska, 57, of Ridgefield was struck by a car operated by Dube, and so seriously injured he died.

One of Daniska's legs was almost torn off. Helen Daniska was operating the car because the license of her father had been suspended for driving while under the influence of liquor. He was a passenger in the car and had alighted to change a tire. The girl stopped the car by the side of the road but neglected to turn on the lights, the police claim.

NAZARENE CHURCH CEREMONY SUNDAY

To Dedicate Edifice Which Was Recently Built In Special Services.

Dr. J. B. Chapman of Atchison, Kansas, one of the four General Superintendents of the Nazarene Church in America, will be the speaker at the dedication exercises to be held in the First Church of the Nazarene, 486 Main street, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The corner-stone will be set in place at that time and appropriate exercises will be held to dedicate the new building erected last fall.

Dr. Chapman will deliver the sermon at the morning service at 10:45 with musical selections. Dr. Chapman will deliver the dedication address in the church at 3 o'clock followed by the laying of the corner-stone. Special musical numbers will be given at the afternoon service.

Work was begun on the new church construction in July 1931 and was completed late in October. David Chambers was the contractor in charge of the work, which cost in excess of $10,000. The new addition doubles the seating capacity of the church with the addition of a new balcony and extension of the basement school rooms. The outer construction is brick veneer.

A new heating plant, electric fixtures, a new roof over the old structure, and many other improvements and additions has changed the appearance of the entire church, especially the front part of the building.

DIES IN 96TH YEAR

Colchester, June 3.—(AP)—Mrs. Mary Adeline Baker, oldest woman in this section and well known through 77 years of residence in town, died today in her 96th year. She was born January 6, 1836.

Mrs. Baker had been in good health until ten years ago when a fall downstairs crippled her. Three weeks ago she had a stroke of paralysis.

Two sisters survive her, Mrs. A. R. Worthington of Springfield, Mass., and Mrs. Ida M. Draper of this town.

CHAMBER OUTING COMMITTEE PICKED

Fred Blish, Sr., To Head Group That Will Be In Charge of Affair.

William B. Halsted, president of the Chamber of Commerce, today announced the personnel of the committee that will have charge of arrangements for the annual outing of the Chamber. The committee is headed by Fred Blish, Sr., as chairman and consists of Ernest Bantley, Lewis Lloyd, Frank Busch, Arthur Hultman, Jay E. Rand, Edward J. Murphy, Joseph Trueman, George H. Waddell, Harlowe Willis and Dr. Austin Savage.

It is expected that the outing will be held on a Wednesday afternoon in August at a nearby lake or shore resort. At the last all-membership meeting of the Chamber it was voted to hold a half-day outing instead of the usual all-day outing of previous years.

CONNECTICUT NEWS FROM CONVENTION

Associated Press To Send Special Writer To Cover Home News For Herald.

(By W. J. G. Myers)
 What part will Connecticut play in the national conventions at Chicago this month?
 It may be a part which looms outstandingly in the proceedings of each out of proportion possibly to the small vote this state will cast in each convention.

Take the Republican convention for example. In the Connecticut delegation will be United States Senator Hiram Bingham who has been talking against prohibition and for beer in the Senate for months; Senator Frederic C. Wolcott who has been very close to President Hoover at times in the latter's dealings with the Senate; and Congressman John Q. Tilson recent majority floor leader in the National House of Representatives who four years ago was the subject of a well developed boom for the vice presidency. Each may take part in the proceedings, especially Senator Bingham who is a member of the committee which will draw up the party platform. He may give the delegates his views on the party's attitude towards prohibition.

The news possibilities which rest in the state delegation are unbounded. This news, the convention as a whole and of the Connecticut delegation will be told by The Associated Press in descriptive text and in pictures from the time the delegates begin to arrive in the convention city, gathering from every part of the Union, until they depart for their homes with their work done.

The Herald is a member of the Associated Press. To it will come as a part of the daily story an account of the part the Connecticut delegates take each day.

The Home News
 There will be times when the convention spot lights, roving as they do over the great throngs of people, will rest on the Connecticut delegation. The why and wherefore will be what the folks at home, readers of this paper, will want to know.

As, four years ago when the experiment was undertaken by the Associated Press, each state delegation will have with it a regional bureau chief to send back to his state this detail, intimate story of a segment in the great gathering. The Republican convention will begin June 14th. The delegation will arrive on the afternoon of the 15th. The Democratic convention will begin on the 27th. The state will have 19 votes in the former, while it has 16 in the latter out of a delegation of 34.

The Democratic delegation is bound to vote for Alfred E. Smith so long as he is a candidate. Then what if the bond is relaxed? Many votes will go for Roosevelt. There will be a news story in this.

In the coverage of the convention as a whole there would be little opportunity to give intimate details of a state group. But through this regional coverage the Associated Press will be able to serve its members.

In the Democratic convention the delegation will be headed by Governor Wilbur L. Cross, and one good guess is that every Yale alumnus in Chicago during the convention week will have him in mind and will want to see him, if possible. Here is a story in itself of keen interest to the home state. Who would have ventured the prediction four years ago that a Yale professor would be governor of Connecticut this year and a delegate to a convention in which his own name by some chance turn of the political wheel might be offered for the vice presidency. The delegation is ready should an Easterner be desired for a place on the national ticket to offer Governor Cross's name. Here will be a fine story for our Connecticut papers.

Democrats' Troubles
 The delegation itself may have another outcropping of differences of opinion. After the presidential nomination is made Governor Cross will have to suggest, under vote of the state convention, his selections for national committee members.

Many things, too, may happen outside the convention in which Connecticut delegates have a part. Some of the members will have committee work. William E. Thoms of Waterbury is on the resolutions committee. David E. Fitzgerald of New Haven was on this committee four years ago at Houston. Convention news will top everything during the early summer. The Associated Press has made unparalleled preparations for covering this completely and rapidly. Its reportorial, feature and picture organization will be the largest assembled for an event of this kind. It will represent more than thirteen hundred newspapers to give them a general story, in bulletins and descriptive, with picturization, of the conventions, the people in it, the figures which tower above all, and the scenes which are enacted. It will be an entrancing story.

State writers from all parts of the country will be there, these men and women fully experienced in handling the news of political groups and meetings, and the background of party candidate.

From nearly every state an Associated Press Bureau Chief familiar with regional political affairs will be joined to the General Staff to provide stories of his own particular delegation. The chief will be the link in a new way between the magazine and the newspaper.

The Connecticut delegation to both conventions will have with it William J. G. Myers, for twenty-five years chief of the Connecticut Bureau at New Haven. He served at Kansas City and Houston four years ago in a like capacity. Mr. Myers as a part of his experience has covered every political convention of the major parties in the state since 1908 and twenty years was a legislative reporter. He is familiar with politics in the state, the men and women who figure in them are known to him, and he has a wide acquaintanceship otherwise. He will be in Chicago for the period of the conventions to send back to member papers the story of what is going on.

THEATERS AT THE STATE

"Two Features"
 Jack Holt in "Behind The Mask" a sensational detective story revolving around the activities of a vicious dope ring, with Boris Karloff and Dorothy Cummings, and Spencer Tracy, Doris Kenyon and Tommy Conlon in "Young America", a picture that delivers a vital message to every man, woman and child, are the feature attractions at the State Saturday.

The sensational 10 hour endurance drive which started in front of the State last Monday at 5 p. m., will finish on the stage of the State at 9 p. m. tonight. At that hour, the driver will have completed 100 hours of continuous driving, shackled with chains and handcuffs to the steering wheel. The chains and handcuffs will be removed and Marberry, the driver, will be taken from the car in full view of the audience and removed to one of Henry's Inc. show windows, where he will sleep for the next 24 hours. Immediately after the driver has been released, the prizes donated by cooperating merchants, and on display in the State lobby all week, will be awarded to the persons guessing nearest to the number of miles traveled by the car during the drive. The speedometer was sealed at the start of the drive and no one will know the correct number of miles covered until the seal is removed on the stage tonight. Coupons containing guesses as to the number of miles traveled, may be deposited in the box in the State lobby up until eight o'clock this evening.

Joe E. Brown in his latest opus of fun, "The Tenderfoot" and Joan Bennett in a picturization of the sensational radio mystery story, "The Trial of Vivienne Ware," make up the program that will be shown Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

85 POUNDS OF ORIENTS
 Atwater, Minn., June 2—(AP)—George Swenson, 15, a farmer's son, was pretty tired when he brought his savings to the bank for deposit. There was 85 pounds of money in the sack he lugged in on his back—12,000 pennies he had been saving for many years.

It took a clerk several hours to count and wrap them.

FIVE MEN RESCUED
 Calgary, Alberta, June 2—(AP)—Five men, three of whom had been rescued for 24 hours, were rescued from islands in the wild running flood waters of Sheep Creek last night, but the flood waters from Two Rivers and a dozen creeks continued to spread damage throughout this area today.

A rescue party, led by Inspector E. W. Davis, of the Royal Mounted Police, went down to rescue the stranded men. They were Albert Thomas and Charles Sanderson, brothers and Constables Sumner and Dick, of the mounted police. The two constables were tossed into the cold water, and drowned, when their boat capsized as they attempted to rescue the brothers.

WALL ST. WATCHES DIVIDEND PAYMENTS

New York, June 8.—(AP)—June is one of Wall street's important dividend months, ranking second in importance to the season when so-called "Christmas" dividend meetings are held.

No less than 53 leading corporations will act on dividend payments this month. There also will be meetings by directors of many small companies, whose stocks are not listed on the two principal New York exchanges.

One investment statistician forecasts that eleven corporations this month will pay their regular rates, fourteen companies will omit their dividend payments while twenty companies are expected to reduce their schedules. Of the remaining seven companies, their probable action in the category of "uncertain."

Among the principal dividend meetings scheduled this month are Standard Gas and Electric, Western Union, Air Reduction, National Steel, Westinghouse Electric, American Gas and Electric, New Haven P. & O. Elevator, Pacific Gas and Electric, Sears Roebuck, Electric Power and Light, Northern Pacific, Corn Products, Allied Chemicals and American Can.

Auburn Auto directors decided tomorrow on dividend payments. They were voted last quarter on the basis of $1 cash and a per cent in stock on the outstanding common.

New England Council Says Situation is Still Critical—Urge More Co-operation

Boston, June 8.—Declaring that the milk situation in New England is still critical, the Agricultural Committee of the New England Council at a meeting here today issued a strong plea to producers, dealers, and New England communities to support the attempts now being made by the New England Governors Dairy Advisory and Arbitration Board to stabilize the New England milk market.

This announcement was made by Harry R. Lewis, of Providence, R. I., chairman of the committee.

Leading the whole weight of his opinion to the program of the Governor's Board, the committee passed the following resolution: "The Agricultural Committee of the New England Council believes that while great progress has been made by the Governor's Committee in meeting the emergency in the dairy industry, the crisis has not been passed. It believes that the interests of producers, dealers and New England communities demand that producers and dealers support wholeheartedly the program which the Governor's Committee after careful consideration is so vigorously making them to carry through.

Besides, Chairman Lewis, other members of the New England Council's Agricultural Committee are: Frank P. Washburn, Maine Commissioner of Agriculture, Augusta, Me.; Philip C. Heald, Clover Hill Orchards Company, Milton, N. H.; Edward H. Jones, Commissioner of Agriculture of Vermont, Montpelier, Vermont; Quentin Reynolds, Springfield, Mass.; S. McLean Buckingham, Connecticut Commissioner of Agriculture, Hartford, Conn.

QUAKE RECORDED

Buffalo, N. Y., June 8.—(AP)—One of the most severe earthquakes ever recorded on the Canisius college seismograph here was registered this morning. Rev. John Delaney, director of the Seismographic Observatory, announced.

The first tremor of the seismic surface, Father Delaney said, began at 5:43:08 a. m. Eastern Standard Time, while the secondary tremor began at 5:49:13 a. m. The quake reached its maximum vibration at 5:55 a. m. The amplitude of the vibration was so great the seismograph was unable to record it fully.

Father Delaney said his early computations indicated a violent quake at a distance of about 3,000 miles from Buffalo.

OLD MANNION BURNS
 Salem, Mass., June 3 — (AP) —
 The old Peabody mansion on the Karnwood Country Club grounds was destroyed by fire early today and the home of John Shea, golf pro at the club, was threatened. The old mansion was used to house members of the club and their families who visited during the summer. Aid was called to help fight the flames from Peabody and Danvers.

ISLANDS OF ICE
 According to Dr. W. J. Humphreys of the U. S. Weather Bureau, there are about 4,000,000 cubic miles of ice on Greenland, the Antarctic continent, and Iceland.

AIR PATHS of GLORY

BY DEXTER TEED
NEA Service Writer

"This plane," says Nelson, "will do 180 miles an hour. It's an airworthy craft, reliable and strong. For such a ship the price is low."

"This plane," says Smith, "needs the struts tightened. Otherwise it's okay. Good craft, I'd say, and ready for the air."

Reach back in the cubbyholes of memory and see if you can find something about Lieuts. Erik H. Nelson and Lowell H. Smith. No? Well, they were the first to make a round-the-world flight in airplanes.

Sell Planes Now
Four army planes started from Seattle in 1924, two finished. Smith and Nelson were in them.

A little grayer, his bald spot larger, his smile as broad, Nelson is now sales manager for an aircraft company in Seattle, Wash. He is enthusiastic about flying now as he was when he set the record. In 1926 he resigned from the army to take a job with the aircraft company. He has a Distinguished Flying Cross.

Looking ahead, he believes the best class of passengers will travel in planes, almost exclusively.

Inspects Government Planes
Back in 1928 he flew the length of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado and obtained the first fine aerial photographs of that awe-inspiring scene. He still flies, whenever he can, and you could see him almost any day taking off in a big plane, plotting it with as much nonchalance as you would drive a car.

His pal, Smith, is still connected with aviation. He is a captain in the Army Air Corps, stationed at Bristol, Pa., where he is an inspector of aircraft for the government. He is out of the limelight completely, and last summer when he returned to say that he thought the Lindberghs would be successful on their flight to the Orient, many had to think twice to recall the name.

Smith and Nelson were successful in the world flight because they planned wisely and fought their way out of predicaments with rare judgment.

That April morning when the four army planes scooted off the runways at Seattle, Major F. E. Martin was flight commander. His plane went down in Alaska and Smith was put in charge of the three remaining ships.

An Air Epic
They hopped over the northern Pacific, battling fog and bad weather. Near bleak islands they landed, continued onward. They reached Tokyo. There were irritating delays, for airplanes were not so reliable then. But they didn't give up. They flew on over Asia to Europe and on to London, stopping frequently. They reached London on the hazardous Atlantic flight. Lt. Leigh Wade's plane, "Boston" went down but nobody was killed. All were saved. Smith flew on in the "Chicago"; Nelson flew on in the "New Orleans." The northern Atlantic fogs and rain and winds couldn't block them. Landing at Iceland, Greenland, Labrador and Nova Scotia, they finally reached America. Lt. Wade's another plane, joined them in the flight on to the starting point. They had circumnavigated the globe in 175 days.

But how many now would remember them? Unlike the elephant, the public soon forgets.

WAPPING

Six members of Wapping Grange motored to Stafford Grange No. 55, last Wednesday and attended East Central Pomona Grange No. 3. There were about one hundred and twenty-five members present. A business session opened at half-past ten o'clock (standard time) with a dinner at noon which was served by the members of Stafford Grange. In the afternoon there was a class of six candidates initiated in the fifth degree, after which a fine program was enjoyed. There were three short sketches, a talk by Brother Spaulding on Flowers and music.

Mrs. Harry P. Files and son, Judson G. Files returned from their camp at Bonney Eagle Lake, at West Buxton, Maine, where they spent the week end and Memorial Day. They came home Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter N. Battey have returned from a visit over the week end and Memorial Day with relatives in West Englewood, New Jersey. Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Battey of New Britain accompanied them on the trip.

The South Windsor Garden Club held its meeting at the home of Mrs. Harry S. Martin, Wednesday afternoon. There was a comparison and discussion on "Spring Bulbs."

TRUCK KILLS MAN

Ansonia, June 3.—(AP)—John Brady, 45, of Central street this city was instantly killed this morning about 8:15 o'clock when his skull was crushed by a truck operated on Wakelee avenue by Joseph Zarella, 21, of 28 Colley street, Waterbury. Sergeant William F. Ready and Policeman Frederick Shortell were at police box No. 3 near Brown's gas station on Wakelee avenue when they heard a crash up the road.

Halting the truck the policeman asked Zarella what he had hit and he replied that he perhaps had bumped over a stone. He went back with the officers and they found Brady lying in the roadway, his head dashed in. The man was dead. Zarella was near collapse when he saw that the truck had killed a man. Zarella was arrested on a charge of reckless driving and held without bond for appearance in City Court this morning.

The truck driven by Zarella was owned by Massate, Berman and Steinberg of 17 Commercial street, Waterbury.

BRODER PETITION

Waterbury, June 3.—(AP)—A petition asking the Superior Court to reinstate Edward W. Broder, disbarred Hartford lawyer, in the practice of law, was circulated in Waterbury today. Attorney John H. Cassidy, former president of the Waterbury Bar Association, circulated the paper which was signed by more than 75 lawyers this morning.

That veterans' bureau lawyer who gets $9,000 a year salary and $2,250 a year disability allowance ought to be an expert in giving advice.

GAS BUGGIES—Blame It on Glen

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Tines eyed the rocket man. Then up to him went Duncy near. "Say, are you fooling?" he exclaimed. "Will that big rocket fly?" "Gee, if it will, I'd like a ride inside of it. Has it been tried? It's hard to realize that it will sail up in the sky."

The old man laughed and then replied, "Of course this rocket has been tried. Why, I would ride in it myself, but I'm too big for it."

"When I go on a trip for fun, I want to be real comfy, son. You lads are very little. There is room for all to sit."

Then Scouty said, "Where would we go? That's one thing that we ought to know. The rocket might go up all right, but how would it come down?"

"You see it, really, would be rash for us to go, if we would crash. Perhaps, though, it might take us to some interesting town."

"Ah! Now you're talking common sense. I really want to much expense to build this rocket," said the man. "It's safe as it can be."

"Come on, climb in and try your luck. I promise that you won't get stuck. When you are way up in the air, think of the sights you'll see. Big birds will circle 'round you all, but they won't hurt you. Not at all! The rocket has strong windows and it's very safe inside."

"Now then you told you all I know. Who's really game enough to go?" "I am!" exclaimed brave Winny.

"And so are we," the others said. The man replied, "I'll go ahead and get the rocket ready." Then he placed it on a stump.

"You're bound for places you've never been," the old man shouted. "Climb right in. And, please remember, when you whiz away, don't try to jump."

(The Tines whiz up into the sky in the next story.)

SENSE AND NONSENSE

You Won't Find Many Lazy Students Taking Graduation Exercises.

There's one nice thing about June—it helps to solve the problem of what to do with old shoes. . . . And speaking of shoes—white shoes are signs of summer. Almost white shoes are signs of last summer. . . . The average girl p-efers being a June bride to a May Queen.

The Unkindest Cut of All We were seated in a hammock on a balmy night in June. When the world was hushed in slumber 'neath the guidance of the moon.

I asked one little question. And my heart was filled with hope. But her answer never reached me. For her brother cut the rope.

ELM LEAF BEETLE APPEARING AGAIN

Hartford County Farm Bureau Says Trees Should Be Sprayed At Once To Kill Pest.

The elm leaf beetle has made its appearance in Hartford County and all elm trees should be sprayed at once with arsenate of lead according to Chas. D. Lewis, county agricultural agent for the Hartford County Farm Bureau. The larva or worm stage of the beetle is about one-half inch long, dull yellow in color with two black stripes running along the back. The head and legs are also black. The worm feeds on the under side of the leaves eating away all except the leaf veins and upper epidermis and in order to poison them, the poison must be applied to the under side of the leaf.

A suitable poison is made by adding from five to eight pounds of dry powdered lead arsenate to 100 gallons of water, thoroughly mixing it and spraying it on the under side of the leaf with pressure enough to break the liquid into minute particles. Dr. W. E. Britton, entomologist for the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station warns that elm trees attacked by this insect in 1932 will in all probability be brown by the middle of July and he has prepared a bulletin regarding the life history and control methods to be used in combating this worm. Anyone desiring a copy of this bulletin may have it without charge by writing the Hartford County Farm Bureau and asking for experiment station circular No. 84.

FIRE RUINS BARN AT LAUREL PARK

Long Run Made By Firemen As Scene Is Nearly Out of District's Area.

Fire of unknown origin destroyed a small barn on the farm of Domenico Massaro, 1014 Tolland Turnpike, near station 45 shortly after 9 o'clock last night. An alarm was rung in at 9:10 from Box No. 7 near the Laurel Park switch and a telephone call was also sent in from the home of Arthur C. Woodruff, directly across the street.
See Blaze In Roof
The Massaro family had been out working in the fields and had just come in for supper when looking out of the window a blaze was seen breaking through the roof of the barn, about 100 feet east from the house.
The owner and his sons grabbed pails of water and tried to put the fire out, but hay had become ignited

SCANDIA LODGE NAMES ITS NEW OFFICERS

WARD EMPLOYEES WIN SALE CONTEST

Beat Promotion and Sale of Washing Machines.

A welcome surprise came in the morning mail from Montgomery Ward & Co.'s main office in Chicago, when the employees of the local store were informed they won first prize of $100 in a Washing Machine Contest in which over 500 stores took an active part.
The complete personnel of the local store will stage a party at the Osano cottage in Bolton on Tuesday evening, June 7. An excellent program has been arranged including several features that will be a genuine surprise to all attending.
In the month of March 49 washing machines were sold at the local store during this contest and the surprising part of this performance was, that not in one case was a home canassed, but each housewife that purchased recommended the Windsor washer because of its outstanding value.
The prize of $100 will be used for store party in which 28 salespeople will take part.
One of the odd features of the sales performance in this contest was that of the 49 Windsor Washers sold, 27 of them were purchased for cash while the remainder took advantage of the convenient "Budget Plan."
Every washing machine sold was demonstrated in the home of the prospective purchaser. The tremendous buying power of the Montgomery Ward organization has resulted in the selling of exactly 987 washing machines from the local store since the original opening in October, 1928, or an approximate average of 22 washers a month.

The North Methodist "Larger Parish" will be hosts to the all-day meeting of the Norwich District Ministers' association to be held on Tuesday, June 14. Monday afternoon at 1:30 the committee on entertainment will meet with the chairman, Mrs. C. G. Tyler, at the church in Vernon.
